Newhouse News Service HUNTSVILLE, Ala. — An Army missile research team here is searching for a way to protect U.S. reconnaissance satellites from Soviet interceptors in space.

Target satellite, Davis said. Davis declined to discuss specifics of his team's efforts, but he said the team "has extended its search into space."

Five-year lull, Davis said. The time from launch in the Soviet Union to interception in space is about 30 minutes, or about the time it takes many satellites to orbit the Earth once.

Church ranked high as mate for Carter

By United Press International. Idaho Sen. Frank Church doesn't have an announced appointment with Jimmy Carter but he's a slim favorite as a running mate among some delegates to the Democratic national convention.

Their appointments with Carter in Harris, Ga., followed an interview with Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine on Monday and preceded Carter talks next week with Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington and Rep. Peter Rodino of New Jersey.

UPI's count has Ford with 1,664 delegates to Reagan's 992, with 1,130 needed for the nomination. A Reagan spokesman said "hundreds of calls" of support came in following a Tuesday night's network television TV address in which Reagan struck a new campaign theme aimed largely at attracting support from uncommitted delegates.

Official claims flood caused by 'piping'

BOISE (UPI) — Chairman Wallace L. Chadwick of a Blue-Ribbon Committee investigating failure of the Teton Dam said Wednesday that the evidence for the collapse was destroyed but it appeared it was caused by piping.

He said piping is a process "by which embankment material is eroded internally and transported by water flowing through some channel."

"Piping may be initiated by several detail causes, and unfortunately, most of the direct evidence appears to have been destroyed by the violence of the failure itself," Chadwick wrote Gov. Cecil D. Andrus and Secretary of Interior Thomas S. Kleppe.

The investigative panel was appointed by Andrus and Kleppe to determine the cause of the failure June 5, which caused flooding of the Upper Snake River Valley in eastern Idaho and resulted in 11 deaths and an estimated $1 billion in damages.

Chadwick wrote the two officials the committee already has held several meetings and toured the dam site and would be meeting again during the week of Aug. 2 to investigate the data, observations and information developed in the interim.

He said a preliminary report to Andrus and Kleppe was anticipated early in August.

In the interim, Chadwick said, the committee will include a public fact-finding meeting in Idaho Falls and establish a temporary office of the committee in Idaho Falls "at an early date."

Chadwick said the committee has presented the director of Design and Construction of the Bureau of Reclamation with a list of exploratory work which will be necessary for a potential investigation.

"In doing so the Panel wishes to release the Bureau of Reclamation from any further restriction on all-site-changing-physical-work which the Bureau considers necessary to reduce hazards to safety," he said.

Meanwhile, Chadwick said the committee plans to examine all available evidence in "detail" and has prepared a program of field explorations to "pinpoint, if possible, which of the following potential causes is responsible:

- "Massive seepage through the great curtain, impeding forcibly against the contact between the downstream part of the dam and the rock abutment.
- "Piping through the core at the core-to-rock contact at the right abutment.
- "Piping through the core at levels above the base of the keyway core-to-rock contact.
- "Piping through a transverse tension crack in the core in the right abutment area.
- "Massive seepage around the end of the great curtain, directed by the foundation joint system against the contact between the downstream part of the dam and the rock abutment."

Droughts create grave fire danger

BOISE (UPI) — Droughts and hot weather have created a serious fire danger in several western states, the Boise Inter-agency Fire Center said Wednesday.

Officials said the fire situation in California is critical with more than 2,000 fires reported statewide this year, compared with a previous yearly average of 800. The state is suffering from the worst drought in its history.

Eastern Utah and western Colorado are plagued with dry conditions, the agency said, and south-central Oregon shows a potential for fire problems.

The Boise Bureau of Land Management district has had one 150,000-acre fire and numerous smaller ones. The agency said the major area of concern is in the native ranges in Oregon, Idaho and Nevada.

Arizona and New Mexico should have diminishing problems, now, the agency said, since the rain season is approaching and no major fires have occurred.

The Boise Interagency Fire Center is the nation's fire support agency, providing assistance to state and federal fire management agencies across the United States.

Nampa employes' residency eyed

NAMPA, Idaho (UPI) — A residency ordinance proposed Tuesday night by the Nampa city council could jeopardize job promotions for more than 60 Nampa city employes if it is adopted.

The city council voted to authorize the drawing of an ordinance that will restrict hiring of any new employes to persons living within the city limits, and deny promotions to city employes living outside the limits. Approximately 37 per cent of the city's 165 employes now live outside the city limits and would be affected by the ordinance.

A favorable May Supreme Court ruling on a similar case in New Jersey was cited by city councilmen as precedent for the requirement in Nampa.

Councilman Frank Bevington said the "national trend now is to live in the city. I think if you're going to work for the city the new employes should enjoy the benefits of the city and also the taxing."

Police Chief-Buster Baker questioned the inclusion of the promotion clause in the ordinance. "I can see it going to department heads, but I think that's a little rough for non-department heads."

Fire Chief Bill Wallis agreed with the police chief's objections. "If I was a rookie fireman and they told me I had to move into the city for an extra $30 a month I'd tell them to go jump in the lake," he said.

Swine flu shots delayed

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's chief of preventive medicine says the swine flu immunization scheduled to begin in the state the latter part of this month has been delayed to September because of problems involved in administering the nationwide program.

Dr. John Mathew of the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare's Bureau of Preventive Medicine said Wednesday he has been advised there will be a delay because the issue of the drug manufacturers' liability "hasn't been resolved."

Mathew said federal health officials are working one way to solve the liability problem.

He said Idaho is in the final stages of preparing an immunization plan and "we hope to have the plan completed this week and then it will be presented to the coordinating committee of the seven health districts."

"If the medical profession recommends use of the vaccine, then the state will try to get the highest percentage possible of Idahoans inoculated," Mathew said.

Salt Lake City company buys Idaho mountain land

LOWMAN, Idaho (UPI) — Hermitage Corp. of Salt Lake City has purchased 70 acres of land in the Idaho mountains near Lowman for a scheduled education complex for doctors.

Corporation President Owen Christensen said the purchase was completed Wednesday and by 1978 doctors from throughout the nation will arrive to take courses in new medical applications and processes.

He said the courses will be taught primarily by professors from the University of California, Irvine and the University of Utah.

"We recognize the need for M.D.s to update their knowledge and re-certify their medical education," Christensen said. "At the same time, it was becoming apparent that the life-death stresses placed on doctors in day-to-day practice of medicine were causing problems unique to his profession. This is reflected in divorce, alcoholism and suicide rates, according to nationwide statistics in America today."

While not at class at the Lowman-area complex, the doctors can swim, play tennis or golf, work out in the resort spa, go horseback riding or any other outdoor activities associated with the high country.

Christensen said if the $4 million project is successful nine other complexes may be built by Hermitage in places such as Hawaii, Aspen, Colo., and others.

The Idaho land, located about 22 miles east of Lowman on the South Fork of the Payette River, was sold to Hermitage by Hangman Valley Ranch Corp.

First-time duster dies in plane crash

NAMPA, Idaho (UPI) — Jerry McClure, 49, Nampa, a former Marine pilot on his first crop-dusting job, died Wednesday evening in the crash of his single-engine plane which hit a ridge 10 miles southwest of Nampa.

Authorities said McClure, a partner in Agri-Flight, a Nampa crop-spraying firm that had been in business less than a year, had just flown over a 20-acre alfalfa field, lost altitude and hit the ridge.

The plane hit about 250 feet from the top of the 300-foot, 45-degree ridge opening out of the Snake River. The impact ripped open the cockpit and tore away the nose of the plane, which slipped several feet down the ridge.

Bruce Lovi, Nampa, crew chief for the operation, said McClure was dead when he was pulled from the cockpit of the aircraft.

Reagan seeks Dakota delegate support

FARGO, N.D. (UPI) — Ronald Reagan appealed to North Dakota Republicans today for GOP delegate support but rated the state a "loss up" with President Ford.

At the first stop in a three-day, three-state campaign, Reagan met privately Wednesday night and lobbied more than half of the 580 delegates to the state's GOP convention.

The former California governor was scheduled to address the full convention today before selection of 18 delegates to the August national convention.

"North Dakota," he always figured, was a toss-up that could probably go somewhere in a rough split," Reagan told reporters.

Reagan supporters said a 9-9 split in delegates would be a “victory.”

He planned to leave for Chicago later in the day for private meetings to court a handful of crucial uncommitted delegates here.

Before leaving Los Angeles, Reagan was asked about the upcoming Olympic games and said he believed the United States should not participate if Nationalist China is barred.

The Canadian government announced last week it would not grant the Taiwanese entry visas if they insisted on competing as the Republic of China.

“Very frankly, I think there has been too much of this. We’ve let politics get into the Olympics.”

He complained that Olympic standards are not uniform.

“I think it’s time the Olympics get back to sports and let politics stay out.”

Royal greeting

PRESIDENT Ford introduces his daughter Susan to Britain's Queen Elizabeth II in the receiving line prior to state dinner at the White House Wednesday evening. The queen and Prince Philip were guests of honor. (UPI)

Fords dance all night after dinner for queen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President and Mrs. Ford could have danced all night at the dazzling state dinner they gave in honor of Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip — and they did.

The President danced first with the Queen and Mrs. Ford, wearing mint green chiffon, was spun around the floor by the Prince.

Nearly an hour after Britain's royal couple danced, chatted and sipped champagne and bade adieu to their hosts, Betty Ford and Constance Bob Hope put on a four-show to the tune of "Hattanooga 'Twas Closer" in the State Dining Room.

From the standpoint of glitter and glamor, it was the Fords' most brilliant social evening in the White House, and they made the most of it as dancing checked to check until 1:40 a.m.

The Queen in her royal regalia was a cyprusore for the 200 guests in her lemon yellow sequin encrusted gown, a diamond-tiara, diamond necklace and dangling diamond earrings, with the blue sashed Order of the Garter across her chest.

Many of the women curtsied and the men, in white tie, gave the Queen low bows as signaled by the President's side, smiling and shaking hands.

A lobster and saddle of veal dinner was served in the Rose Garden under a white tent by candlelight.

The President did the honors later in introducing the entertainers. Hope and the prize-winning pop group "Captain and Tennille" gave a command performance. The British-born Hope appeared a bit nervous before the Queen but he had the Prince practically rolling in "Sweet 20" when he stepped that women are complaining that the king no longer comes to "confession" they go to the Washington Post.

"I've never seen an affair as glamorous as this dinner, the diamonds, the jewels, the women look good," he said.

Hope revealed that he was going to spend the night in the Lincoln Room and said that he found the room service at the White House "is wonderful" but he was a bit embarrassed because "I mean what do you do if you kiss me?"

Speaking of the Lincoln Room, Hope said, "How did I know that thing under the bed was a stove pipe?"

"I felt like a live five dollar bill," he joked.

Justice out 3 weeks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall, 67, will be hospitalized for two to three weeks while recovering from a heart attack, according to a Bethesda and Naval Medical Center spokesman.

Marshall apparently was stricken Saturday or Sunday. He was admitted to the Bethesda facility Sunday morning.

The hospital statement, issued Tuesday night, said a "confirmed diagnosis" showed the justice had "a myocardial infarction (heart attack)," and added that "his course of illness has been and is currently uncomplicated."

Marshall is being treated at Bethesda's coronary care unit, the spokesman said.

Impasse continues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Little progress is being made in the government's effort to resolve an insurance problem, which threatens to scuttle next winter's massive swine flu immunization program.

Lawyers representing the Justice Department rejected the latest proposal to settle the dispute Wednesday. Insurance companies are canceling or reducing manufacturers' coverage for the swine flu campaign because of "virtually unmeasurable" risks.

"We had some advice from Justice that one of the provisions we had in our original contract proposal, and that the vaccine manufacturers would have liked and we wanted, we didn't have authority to do," said William Taft IV, general counsel for the Department of Health Education and Welfare.

Taft said "nobody was very surprised" at the rejection of the attempt in contract language to try to cover some of the manufacturers' anticipated losses from lawsuits.

The government is trying to negotiate contracts with four flu vaccine makers that would protect the companies from legal claims unrelated to their own negligence.

The companies insist that since it is a government program, the government ought to assume some of the legal risks. Congress shied away last week from resolving the insurance problem with legislation.

Meanwhile, the Defense Department disclosed Wednesday that military swine flu immunizations are threatened by scientific problems.

Fire measure vetoed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford, in his third veto, rejected a bill that would have authorized money for the Federal Fire Prevention and Control Act of 1974.

Ford returned the bill to Congress Wednesday unsigned. In a message accompanying the measure, he said he rejected it "because it contains a provision that would seriously obstruct the exercise of the President's constitutional responsibilities over executive branch operations."

Ford was referring to a provision giving Congress the right to veto money for construction of a national academy for fire prevention and control and Ford said he will continue to oppose this cutting into presidential authority.

Carter, women confer

N.Y. Times Service

WASHINGTON — Jimmy Carter and a group of leading women Democrats will meet in New York City this weekend in an effort to reach a compromise on the last issue that threatens the perfect harmony of the forthcoming Democratic National Convention — the issue of the future role of women in the Democratic party.

Both sides expressed a degree of optimism that an agreement could be reached, which would eliminate the possibility of an open battle on the convention floor.

The floor fight, if it occurs, would be over the rules governing the selection of delegates to the 1980 convention specifically over whether the Democratic party would exempt itself from granting that the 1980 convention delegates will be women.

American 'raspberry right' worth preserving

WASHINGTON — So we pass at last, the time of the Bicentennial Fourth, marked by orators, fireworks and feasts.

The irony lies in the happy celebration of an idea that probably 99 per cent of our people find positively deplorable. The idea is revolution.

The idea leaves us dismayed, uncomfortable, ill at ease. In a word-association test, most persons probably would envision a revolutionary in terms of the swarthy brawny, bombalant, or the bearded Gads, cradling a sub-machine gun. Revolutionaries, we like to think, are not our sort. It is not so prickly to speak of Independence Day, or the Glorious Fourth, or the Birth of a Nation.

We ought to examine the idea of revolution more closely. This was precisely the idea that dominated men's thoughts 200 years ago this week. They had exhausted every hope for peaceful resolution of their grievances. Nothing further could be gained by mere petitions for redress. Now their purpose was to "throw off" the established government, to declare the British their "enemies-brain," and to assert no further allegiance to a tyrant "unfit to be the ruler of a free people." Toward these ends, they took up arms.

As a general proposition, every serious effort to overthrow established government begins in this fashion, by resort at last to arms, to violence and to bloodshed. If the effort succeeds, it is called revolution, and its leaders are called heroes, or patriots, or founding fathers; their portraits are hung on honored walls. If the effort fails, it is called rebellion, and its leaders are called insurrectionists, rebels, or traitors; they are likely to wind up in a hang.

Whether the effort winds up as a revolution or rebellion, the end is overthrow, and the means are both violent and unlawful. The established government, it goes to be emphasized, has every right to resist insurrection and to preserve its authority. It is the states' clear duty, indeed, to put rebellion down. But some important distinctions need to be made. In a free society, as distinguished from a totalitarian society, there is another duty also. That duty is to tolerate protest — the most impassioned, angry and bitter protest — in the very edge of insurrection. A society pledged to secure the inalienable right of human liberty must believe in that pledge, and it must keep that right secure.

Although it is to put in a word — perhaps an unpopular word — in behalf of those who manifest their dissent from conventional festivities by noisy demonstrations. So long as the demonstrators engage in no violence, and do not trample unreasonably upon the rights of others, their liberty must be respected. They may be boorish, rude, arrogant, inconsiderate, spite offensive, disruptive, but until they cross the edge of insurrection, let us be patient. Let us believe in the pledge.

As recent Senate hearings have made evident, some individuals and groups are prepared to cross the edge. They breathe dark threats of bloody violence. But I suspect their number is few, and I would deny them the title of either revolutionary or rebel. They are the crazies; they are more than criminals, and ought to be dealt with accordingly.

The far larger number of protesters and demonstrators, in my observation, have no serious thought of the actual overthrow of government. I was present in a Senate committee room a couple of weeks ago when some 50 or 60 young people assembled to give a hard time to Sen. James Eastland. He wasn't there, so they gave a hard time to Strom Thurmond instead. They whistled, shouted, played kazooz, waved placards, and sang Yankee Doodle, Happy Birthday, and the Battle Hymn of the Republic.

Well, it was disrespectful to the majesty of the Senate. It was badly disruptive; the hearings were delayed by ten whole minutes while the cops cleared the room. But these demonstrators were not true revolutionaries. They may have been show-offs, exhibitionists, smart-alecks and publicity hounds, but they were not out to kill the senior senator from South Carolina. They wanted only to thumb their noses in his direction.

That is an old American custom — 200 years old, at least. In a weekend devoted to commemorating our liberties, let us preserve the 'Raspberry Right.' It is as American as they say, as apple pie.

We'd rather be prosperous

Idaho seems to be especially blessed in its recent rapid economic recovery from the recession.

According to Business Week, personal income is rising rapidly across the nation, but even faster in Idaho.

Personal income in the United States — basically after-tax income — stood 11.5 percent above levels a year ago.

During the same April to April period in Idaho, however, personal income rose 14.6 per cent.

When comparing the first four months of 1976 with the same months last year, Idaho showed gains of 15 per cent while national gains were 11.9 per cent.

The new figures show that the rapid Idaho economic growth of the past three years is continuing.

There was a time in the bustling pioneer period before World War I when Idaho incomes were well above national averages.

Earm depression following World War I, the Great Depression of the 1930s and the continuing depression in farm prices which lasted through the 1960s held Idaho incomes well below national averages.

The comparative decline in Idaho's economic strength during that 50-year period had a number of unpleasant consequences, including a mass exodus of young people who were unable to obtain good jobs in their hometowns and low standards of living for those who chose to remain.

The current economic boom has all but eliminated those trends. There is strong evidence that the net outmigration, especially of youth, has been replaced by a rapid influx of newcomers from the coasts.

And income levels appear to be rising throughout the state. The new trends are encouraging. Idaho needs its youth and it needs reasonable income for everyone.

But the new prosperity also brings its problems — urban sprawl, overused public facilities, too-rapid cultural change, overpopulation and pollution.

Still, everything considered, we'd rather face the opportunities and problems of prosperity than deal with the debilitating effects of poverty.

New magazine answers queries

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Why don't Americans vote in elections? In what year in the past century were food prices the lowest? How many Americans were illiterate in 1967?

The answers are contained in a new monthly magazine called "States" that the Commerce Department published Friday. The monthly publication provides current data on major economic and social trends in the United States.

The July issue contained unemployment, wholesale prices, and other reports announced in June, birth and death statistics through March, and the first "issue" of "States" was purchased for $2.00 from the Census Bureau's subscriber services section, Washington, D.C. 20223.

The answers: Most American who don't vote blame apathy. Food prices were lowest in 1890. Sixty-six per cent of every 100 American was rated illiterate in 1967 compared with one in five a century ago.

Column produces comment

Editor, Times-News: Chris Peck's caption for his Sunday piece was "Talking About Heroin Addiction Not Easy." More basic is "Doing Something About Heroin Addiction Not Easy."

He talked at length, but only to criticize what is being done. "Twin Falls is a clean town, a uniformly moderate town." Correct, but we so far behind the trends that our only paper's editorials are rooted in the collegial, illogical in vogue in the 60s.

According to Peck, "Judge Cunningham didn't think extra fragments important." Peck has ignored the bulk, not the fragments. "The Joneses didn't acquire their addiction nor carry on their heroin pushing in prison. They did it as free agents. The assumption that serving their sentence means returning to addiction is unsound."

If these people wish to overcome their addiction they have that option in prison as well as on the outside. To charge society, the courts, the presiding judge, with the Joneses' guilt is the kind of reasoning that has led to our increase in crime.

The ultimate responsibility rests with the individual. The Joneses are the people who pushed heroin.

To refer to the couple as ex-addicts is truly naive. Statistics show that a heroin addict can not be considered cured in a year, even in cases where the attempt at cure was initiated by the addict himself. Says Peck, "The two addicts broke their habit in Twin Falls just after being arrested." Do they really deserve any credit for that?

In their current situation would they admit that they'd go back to addiction and pushing if given their freedom?

Criminals freely admit that they go along with rehabilitation programs to get probation or pardons without being serious in what they're supposedly learning.

Mr. Peck's concern for the rehabilitation of drug addicts is laudable. However, his talent as an adviser in that direction could be better used than just to set Judge Cunningham straight on how to handle his cases.

The 50 to 75 heroin addicts he knows of locally might listen to him. For a wider field, there are the opiate sniffers among us, and the hundreds of pot smokers who form the base of our drug culture.

We local yokels are aware that the Times-News is a small-town paper with limited resources, but don't we deserve something better than Peck's sophomore sallies for the editorial page and something more weighty for a front page spread than the financial difficulties of the author's high-priced newspaper? ELIZABETH ROWLAND, Twin Falls

Reader enjoys T-N contents

Editor, Times-News: Since leaving Twin Falls, I have continued to enjoy the sometime fact, and more often humorous articles which appear in the paper (Times-News).

Many of which remind me of instances which occurred when I was either directly or indirectly involved in the police scandal over the firing of Officer Green. By the way, recently I wrote to your police chief inquiring about the possibility of opening up a private investigative office, much needed in Twin Falls. So far no reply, guess he can't write.

Also, I recall Jim Boatnik, or whoever his name is, stating that "the never reads the Letters to the editor" because the authors are all NUTS!" That sort of like: the pot calling the kettle black.

His articles are so stimulating that I nauseate as I read them. But on this Bicentennial, let's not be critical; let's just be happy, and reflect only those "blunders" made by happy, or of prominence.

Name proposed

Editor, Times-News: My dad and I had an idea for an appropriate name for the new bridge.

We thought it would be right to name the bridge "The Centennial Bridge" because it will be finished in the bicentennial year of 1976.

Nader-in-lead

Editor, Times-News: The other afternoon I watched the intelligentsia of the United States expound their vast knowledge, among them were Ralph Nader, H. H. Humphrey and ex-governor Ronald Reagan.

A saying came to mind from which I have no idea if it went something like this: "He that knows and knows not that he knows is a fool, shun him; he that knows and knows not that he knows is asleep, awaken him; he that knows and knows that he knows is a leader, follow him."

In my humble opinion I would designate Ralph Nader as far out in the lead of the knows not that he knows not new breed of politicians. Hagenrim

'Production' regrettable

Editor, Times-News: I regret that we make a production of the Teton River Dam failure. I have always admired our Bureau of Engineers in this respect.

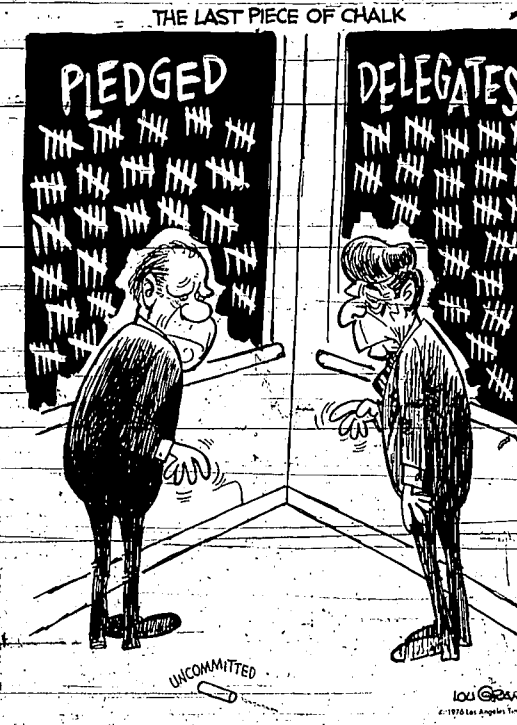

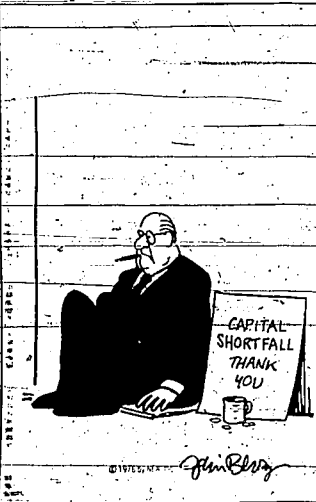

In my time, I cannot recall any serious dam failure and my time is 25 years. When our Bureau of Engineers is obliged to place a dam in a volcanic area it is a hazard that we must go along with. When Mother Nature shrugs her shoulders from time to time, there is very little we can do to circumvent it.

Some of us may cheat a little bit on cement and reinforced steel but, in the main, construction men are proud of their work. Too many honest people are involved in a large construction project.

I have observed that we construct higher dams and taller buildings and more efficient thermoelectric bombs. I could not place the responsibility on any individual or small group of individuals. Our whole attitude doesn't make much sense to me.

New delay in Viking landing

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Scientists scared off by prospects of a rough landing have postponed the proposed Viking 1 Touchdown on Mars for the second time.

NASA officials at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory announced Wednesday night that the landing, originally planned as part of the nation's July 4 celebration, and then rescheduled for July 17, will not occur before July 20.

They also scheduled an orbital trim maneuver late today at 5 p.m. PDT so Viking could take pictures of a proposed new landing site about 200 miles west of the first alternate choice on the Chryse Plateau or "Golden Plain" area of Mars.

Scientists rejected the primary landing site when photographs beamed back to earth by the orbiting spacecraft showed it was gouged with canyons and channels.

The photographs, which do not reveal objects smaller than a football field, suggested that the alternate site was more hospitable, possibly a waste of sand dunes. But a radar scan from earth indicated there might be other hazards on the ground.

Radiation level drops

WASHINGTON — The United States said Wednesday that the Soviet Union had sharply reduced the level of microwave radiation beamed at the American embassy in Moscow in recent months.

But in its first detailed public account of the situation, the State Department nonetheless rebuked the Russians for continuing the radio waves even at the current low level. It said that this showed "a lack of concern for the living and working conditions of our people in Moscow."

Robert L. Farnish, the department spokesman, said at his regular news conference that as the result of official discussions about the microwaves, "the strength of the signal beamed to the embassy in Moscow has been greatly reduced from previous recordings which were themselves well below established U.S. safety standards."

According to Farnish, the level of microwave radiation aimed at the embassy was currently less than two microwatts per square centimeter. The installation of aluminum screens outside the embassy earlier this year has further cut the level to less than one microwatt, he said.

Pipeline survey gaps found

Chicago Daily News

WASHINGTON — A survey, ostensibly made to detect faulty welding on the 800-mile Alaska oil pipeline, was found to contain hundreds of irregularities, according to a report made to the Department of Interior.

The report, made available Wednesday, drew heavily on information developed by the Chicago-based Arthur Andersen & Co. auditing firm, and including among its major disclosures the following:

— The survey of the $7.2 billion oil-carrying tube, by the Alyeska Pipeline Service Co., a consortium of several oil companies financing the project, was "an audit of radiographs (X-rays), not physical welds."

Only a "limited attempt" was made to reconfirm the actual work done on the pipeline in 1975, when reports of the faulty connections began to surface — with the X-rays.

— There is "no assurance" that the X-rays from "all physical welds made in 1975 were accounted for" in the Alyeska audit.

— An absence of written procedures, combined with the "large number" of persons involved in Alyeska's audit "could have resulted in inconsistencies" in the way the auditing job was done.

— An accurate reconstruction of the records, based on the X-rays now available "is not possible due to the absence of documentation and records prior to February and April, 1976" of those radiographs received and issued by the company. No proof exists that each X-ray of the welds was interpreted.

— The 22-page highly technical document, filled with the jargon of statisticians and computer experts, also noted that in a review of records on 501 welds 31 X-rays were "not on hand, but accounted for as stolen or 'checked out' for remedial work per Alyeska records."

— An Alyeska press aide later, Ann Bayville, said a total of 200 X-ray had been stolen from the Alyeska's Anchorage, Alaska, headquarters. The difference in figures was not explained.

Chemical use ban proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration has decided to propose a ban on a potential cancer-causing chemical used in some ground and instant decaffeinated coffee.

The ban also will cover use of the same substance in beer, although government experts said they don't know if it actually is being used in brewery products.

The chemical involved is trichloroethylene, or TCE. A year ago General Foods stopped using it in the manufacture of Brim and Sanka after the National Cancer Institute issued an alert on the basis of liver cancer found in liver-feeding animals.

The agency now says that "as soon as an order can be drafted" it will propose a TCE ban in food and "orders proposing to ban TCE in drugs and cosmetics will follow."

"The proposed bans will be based on a recent NCI-sponsored study which found that TCE causes liver cancer in mice."

TCE was used to help remove caffeine from coffee but, the FDA said it knows of no manufacturer of decaffeinated coffee still using it.

Super-healthy men sought for test

HOUSTON (UPI) — Baylor College of Medicine researchers will spend $100,000 during the next two years testing a male hormone as a possible birth control method for men.

Doctors are looking for 20 super-healthy men between the ages of 20 and 40 to test the birth control method.

Dr. Glenn R. Cunningham says the contraceptive tests in vivo, taking weekly injections of the hormone testosterone for three months, and a nine-month maintenance period during which shots are given every three weeks.

Cunningham and Dr. Peter A. Kolder say the project will try to find out if testosterone is acceptable, feasible and low in toxicity as a male contraceptive.

"The need for an acceptable, reversible and safe male contraceptive is especially apparent for younger men who may still wish to have children and are not willing to consider a vasectomy," Cunningham said.

Testosterone has been recognized as a suppressor of testicular function since the 1930s, "but scientists didn't follow through with those early leads as far as a male contraceptive," Cunningham said.

Schmidt prefers burgers

BOSSA (UPI) — West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, making his first trip to the United States next week, has strong views on American food.

"Asked Wednesday if he intended to meet 'the real America' by stopping at a fast food place 'for a hot dog,' Schmidt said: 'I have been in America about 30 times already, and I know America quite well, and I know hot dogs. I detest them.'"

"But I like hamburgers," he went on after a moment — especially with ketchup and onions."

Governor's daughter weds

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — Teresa Marie O'Callaghan, daughter of Nevada Gov. Mike O'Callaghan, has eloped with a Carson City man.

A family spokesman disclosed Wednesday Teresa, 18, who graduated from high school this year, was wed last week to Michael Ray Holmes, 24, and that neither the governor nor his wife knew of the marriage until the day after it took place.

The O'Callaghans have three sons and another daughter. Teresa was the first of the children to wed.

French admiral dismissed

PARIS (UPI) — Rear Adm. Antoine Sanguinetti, 59, was dismissed from active service Wednesday by President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing because of the naval officer's campaign accusing Giscard of adopting pro-American defense policies.

Giscard, in a statement, said Sanguinetti's activities ran counter to the primacy which the republic gives the political branch over the military branch. This will not be tolerated."

Hamiltons split

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actor George Hamilton has filed for a divorce from his wife, Alana.

Hamilton, 37, and his 31-year-old wife were married five years ago and separated in March. They have one child, George Jr., 21 months old.

The actor was an escort of the late President Lyndon Johnson's daughter, Lynda Bird, in the mid-1960s.

Surprise set for thief

MOSES LAKE, Wash. (UPI) — Whoever made off with a red and blue tackle box and cooler from a pickup truck parked at a local tavern near Moses Lake better have quick reflexes.

Police say the cooler contained several cans of beer and three large, live rattlesnakes caught by the owner.

Doctor indicted

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (UPI) — An optometrist charged in a "band is quicker than the eye" scheme was indicted Wednesday by a federal grand jury for stealing prescription eyeglasses from mail-order C.O.D. packages.

William C. Eppart was named Wednesday in a 16-count indictment accusing him of stealing prescription eyeglasses from packages at the U.S. Post Office.

A federal prosecutor said the glasses were removed from the packages while clerks at the C.O.D. counter had their backs turned.

Eppart returned the packages to postal clerks without paying for them, the indictment alleged.

District judge disqualified

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — District Judge Keith Hayes was disqualified Wednesday from handling Howard Hughes probate matters specifically related to will which named a purported illegitimate son as the sole heir.

Hayes will continue to preside over all other probate cases involving the Howard Hughes estate. More than 30 purported "will" are on file with the Nevada court.

Grover Walker, 37, filed a petition asking that Hayes be disqualified on grounds he was prejudicial last month in remarks from the bench.

Walker, a self-described former aide to the late Howard Hughes and a representative of the billionaire's purported illegitimate son Richard, was arrested in Hayes courtroom June 18 by federal agents.

"I will endeavor to know Richard Hughes also is being sought on a federal warrant. He failed to appear for trial in Sandoval County, N.M., on charges of defrauding a couple of $15,000 by claiming to be Hughes illegitimate son."

District Judge Paul Goldman conducted a hearing Wednesday on Walker's petition to disqualify Hayes in cases involving Walker and Richard Hughes.

"The appearance of impartiality is just as important as the fact of impartiality," said Goldman.

Richard Hughes asked a Nevada Supreme Court judge to legally declare him the billionaire's son. The court denied the petition. During the proceedings, Richard Hughes told how he communicated with his billionaire father through a transmitter implanted in his head.

High bond set

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Evangelina Jimenez, 28, believed to be a major western United States drug supplier attempting to establish a heroin market in this gambling capital, was ordered held on $1 million bond Wednesday.

She appeared before Justice of the Peace B. Mahlon Brown who set bail and ordered that arraignment proceedings continue Friday. The defendant lives in San Luis in Sonora, Mexico.

Mrs. Jimenez' arrest followed the federal court indictment July 1 of Henry Licerio on charges of selling 21 ounces of heroin with a street value of $400,000 to an undercover agent.

State and federal authorities expressed concern that an organized effort was underway to develop southern Nevada into a major heroin market.

Kenya rips Amin over accusation

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — The Kenyan government says it has lost patience with neighboring Uganda, calling unpredictable President Idi Amin a "sadist" and "the world's greatest dictator."

The Kenyan statement Wednesday marked a new low in relations between the two estranged East African nations, whose feuding has escalated sharply since Uganda's ending weekend raid on the Entebbe, Uganda airport.

"Necessarily desirous of shedding blood, sadist Amin has driven the government and people of Kenya to a point where tolerance and willingness to understand are no more a virtue," the Kenyan government said.

"We would like the military government of Uganda to understand that the people of Kenya have lost patience and their spirit of tolerance is wearing out fast."

Uganda accused Kenya of helping Israel stage the Entebbe raid by allowing the planes to refuel in Nairobi.

Question pondered

Japanese airline president jailed

TOKYO (UPI) — Prosecutors today arrested the president of All Nippon Airways, the fifth executive of Japan's largest domestic airlines held in the $12 million Lockheed Aircraft Corp. payoff scandal.

Tokuji Wakasa was charged with giving false testimony before parliament and violating Japan's foreign exchange control laws by taking a $166,000 bribe from A. H. Elliot, a former employee in Lockheed's Tokyo office, in 1974.

Wakasa, 61, has been president of ANA since 1970, when, according to testimony before parliament, he reversed a decision to buy McDonnell Douglas DCW's in favor of Lockheed's TriStar jumbojet.

He was the fifth executive of the nation's biggest domestic airlines arrested in the scandal that has dominated Japanese politics since February, when Lockheed officials told a U.S. Senate committee they doled out $12 million in bribes and illegal commissions to promote aircraft sales in Japan.

Kotchi Fujiwara, ANA director and Wakasa's right-hand man, was arrested Wednesday on charges of

Cosmonauts carry out experiments

MOSCOW (UPI) — Safe in an orbiting laboratory, two Soviet cosmonauts busied themselves today with a lengthy series of experiments that could keep them circling earth for several months.

Boris Volynov and Vitaly Zholobov climbed into the roomy research station Wednesday night after piloting their Soyuz 21 capsule to a docking more than 150 miles above earth.

Volynov, 41, a veteran cosmonaut, and Zholobov, 39, a space roaker, were rocketed into space 25 hours before the linkup — the Soviet Union's first manned space mission since last summer's joint Apollo-Soyuz spectacular.

In the most detailed account of the Soyuz 21 yet released, the Tass news agency said the men would study earth's surface and atmosphere, space and the effects of weightlessness, as well as carry out medical and biological research.

They also had to test equipment aboard their orbiting home, Soyuz 21. Western experts said the ambitious work program appeared to indicate the mission would last for a lengthy period and might even result in an endurance record for manned space flights.

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department is discouraging Saudi Arabia from purchasing advanced fighter planes such as the F14 or the F15 on the ground that they are too sophisticated for the Saudi Air Force to handle. Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
1976 by Chicago Tribune & News Synd Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I know you'll think I'm crazy, but here goes:
I am a 20-year-old college student who has a very strong desire to be babied.

It all started about six years ago when my older sister began telling me how I used to laugh and thrash happily around while my mother diapered me. Now I derive great pleasure out of just thinking of having a woman focus her attention on my genital area. My desire to experience it again has become so strong that I have actually pinned a diaper on myself and wear myself.

I hope some day to marry a nice woman who will go along with this harmless little game of "playing baby," and agree to powder and diaper me.

I'm normal in every other way and have made the Dean's list, so I'm not crazy. Is there anything wrong with wanting to be a baby again? Please advise me, Abby, and try not to laugh.

WANTS TO BE BABIED IN GA.

'Help' advised

DEAR WANTS: I am not laughing. Your strong desire to regress to your baby days and have a woman focus her attention on your genital area could indicate a serious emotional problem requiring expert help—perhaps psychoanalysis.

You can search the world for a woman who will "baby" you and change your diapers, and if you find her, have her see a psychiatrist. Too! A marriage of emotional children is a real bummer. Get help.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's parents were divorced after 30 years of a very bad marriage.
My father-in-law was in business for himself and had an affair with his secretary, who was about my age. After the divorce, my father-in-law married this young secretary.
How do we reduce his now wife? Since we're about the same age, I can't very well call her my "stepmother."
Also, what should my children call her? They now call her by her first name.

PANAMA CITY, FLA.

DEAR PAN: I think you should introduce her as "my father-in-law's new wife." And your children should continue to call her by her first name.

DEAR ABBY: I have a great deal of respect for that man who sniffs his food before he eats it. (His lady friend found it "disgusting" habit.)
I've never known a dog to trust his eyes when it comes to food. He trusts his nose, however, and he's absolutely right.
If human beings would take a good whiff of what they are about to eat, there would be a lot less food consumed and fewer bellyaches.

NOSEY AT MEALTIME

DEAR NOSEY: "Sniffing" food indicates that there are doubts about its edibility, which is no compliment to the host. So if sniffing is in order, it should be done subtly.

Quilt project slated

KIMBERLY—The Senior Citizens of the Kimberly-Murtaugh-Hansen Center worked together under the leadership of Virginia Marshall, Tri-Chem dealer in Kimberly, to make a Bicentennial quilt which will be raffled off on Aug. 1.

Each block of the quilt has a state painted in a pastel color, with the state bird and flower in its own color, the numerical order of its admittance to the Union and a star where the Capital is located.

The border is a map of the U. S. with each state done in the same color as on the corresponding block. Red stripes separate the states and the border is done in red, white and blue stripes. Raffle tickets are being sold on the quilt at $1 each. It will be given away during the awards night at the Kimberly Senior Citizens Center.

Police reluctant to nab women?

BOSTON (UPI) — Statistics show most drunken drivers arrested are men, but a recent study indicates the reason may be because police are reluctant to arrest women.

The current issue of the Journal of Studies on Alcohol, Rutgers University, "While apparently favorable to women in the short run may well be deleterious if it results in undue publicity, drinking women to keep their problem hidden."

The report is based on a study by Dr. Milton Argerio, director for the Services for Traffic Safety Project of Boston, and Donna Pauling, the project's evaluation director.

simple matter for declarer to take successful finesesses in spades and hearts and wind up making six.

Against the unlucky expert, East had led back the seven of hearts.

If ever a lead looked like a singleton, that one was it. Our unfortunate friend decided that he could not afford the luxury of a trump finesse and the almost certain ruff of a heart if the finesse lost. So he wound up making one trick less than anyone else.

Ask the Jacobys

A Wyoming reader wants to know if a player who responds two clubs to his partner's one-heart opening promises another bid.

The answer is that he does not. It is so in standard American or in the very similar Jacoby modern. But some expert pairs play that the two-over-one response does promise another bid and a very few even play it as a game force.

'Screaming Boy Scouts meant a blunder'

Elegant privy dedicated

GENOA, Ohio (UPI) — The Little Building, a large and elegant privy built in 1870, was dedicated in Bicentennial ceremonies here Sunday and turned back to its original use.

The brick and stone structure of Romanesque Revival architectural style was first used as a restroom for the first school in this Ottawa County community. In recent years it had been used as an incinerator.

Through the works of the Genoa Area Bicentennial Committee, local tradesmen, and students in the schools, the building has been restored.

The Little Building is believed to be the smallest facility on the National Register of Historic Landmarks. Restoration began in 1974.

DAKMSTADT, West Germany (UPI) — The lieutenant second in command of U.S. Army infantry unit that attacked an American Boy Scout bivouac, says his outfit mistook the sleeping pads for "aggressors" because the other side in the war games had been playing dirty tricks.

First Lt. Charles Fowler, 25, said in an interview Tuesday the opposing Special Forces unit used such tricks as employing agents with long hair and beards and his men thought the Scout camp was another bivouac.

Fowler said that in the month-long "Alpine

Friendship" exercise involving units from eight nations, his Company B had been assigned to find and capture or destroy "aggressor" special forces units, "similar to what the U.S. Army did in Vietnam."

On the night of May 7, a helicopter pilot reported seeing "fires" his troops might have been built to guide an "aggressor" helicopter.

In fact, the fires had been built by American Boy Scout Troop 21 of Munich. The scoutmaster, Air Force M. Sgt. Larry Groth, had taken his two dozen boys out for a weekend of camping.

Fowler said five of his men crawled close to the bivouac for a look.

"We saw civilian tents and heard English being spoken," he said. "We were not exactly sure what they were. At first, we thought they were a camp of aggressors. As the way the tents were set up."

"But then our Special Forces adviser came up, took a long look and said he was sure this was a guerrilla base camp. We brought in our reserve unit and assaulted the area after we fired a star cluster."

Kringle shipments munched

RACINE, Wis. (UPI) — Someone with a sweet tooth is sneaking a taste of Racine's Kringles.

Kringles, which cost about $1.60 each, are a type of Danish pastry shaped in an oval, filled with brown sugar, butter and other goodies and covered with frosting.

They are a confectioner's delight here. Many bakeries specialize in kringles and some Racine residents send them as gifts to friends and relatives, about the country and overseas.

"But some of the kringles sent by mail or private delivery are arriving half-eaten. And the bakers say it's not the work of mice."

"They're the shipper's fault," said Tom Eisco, owner of Kringleville Bakery.

Ernie Hutchinson, owner of another bakery, said that in 10 of his kringle shipments is munched on before it reaches its destination.

"I've had this problem ever since I started here seven years ago," he said. "I think it's mainly due to the fact that they know what's in the package. They see the label, open it up and eat half the kringle."

"The biggest problem seems to be in the Illinois area. Being close to Racine, they know what kringles are."

Hutchinson said he's going to start using plain white boxes so no one knows what's inside.

Mrs. Clarice Willing said she sent her daughter in Phoenix, Ariz., kringles as a birthday present last month.

"I sent her three, but when she opened the box there were only two and a half," she said.

"She called the United Parcel Service office and a girl said maybe an animal got into it."

Mrs. Willing's daughter had a good question.

"How," she asked, "can an animal get in there, eat half a kringle and wrap the box up again?"

Rupert man hurt by gunshot

RUPERT — A South Rupert man who suffered a gunshot wound was reported "doing well" in Mandala Memorial Hospital Wednesday morning.

David Holstetter, 46, apparently shot himself in the throat early Saturday morning. Rupert police officer said.

The "gunshot" wound was from a .22 calibre pistol and caused minor damage to the throat.

Officials said plans are being made to have Holstetter transferred to a Veteran's Administration hospital.

Holstetter, who has lived alone at his South Rupert home since a separation from his wife, reportedly has been depressed for about 15 months.

The shooting took place at his home about 12:25 a.m. Saturday.

Bar breakage brings charge

BURLEY — A Rupert man built out of jail here Wednesday after being booked on a charge of misdemeanor injury to property.

Gilbert Flores, 29, was arrested by Burley police about 5:30 p.m. Monday on a warrant signed by a local bar owner.

The complaint charges that Flores became engaged in a fight June 22 at the downtown bar and broke up some of the bar equipment.

Albion City Park restroom covered

ALBION — Community volunteers, spearheaded by Mayor Robert Bauck, were putting a roof on the new restroom facilities at the Albion City Park Wednesday.

The city had hoped to have the cement block building completed in time for last Saturday's Cassia County Bicentennial celebration. Work began last Thursday and could not be completed in time for the festivities.

The framework for the roof went up Tuesday. The building has been built around the city well water pump in the park. Councilmen praised celebration co-chairman Mary and Keith Janda and Mayor Bob Bauck, as well as numerous volunteers throughout the community, for their work on the Bicentennial celebration. Albion Chamber of Commerce officials, who sponsored the celebration with aid from the city, joined in the commendations.

A major part of Tuesday night's council meeting was directed toward street improvements.

The city has spent about $12,000 on street work already this year, including seal coating and chipping of two to three blocks, according to city clerk Cathy Adhony.

Some residents told the council Tuesday they were unhappy that other streets had not been seal-coated.

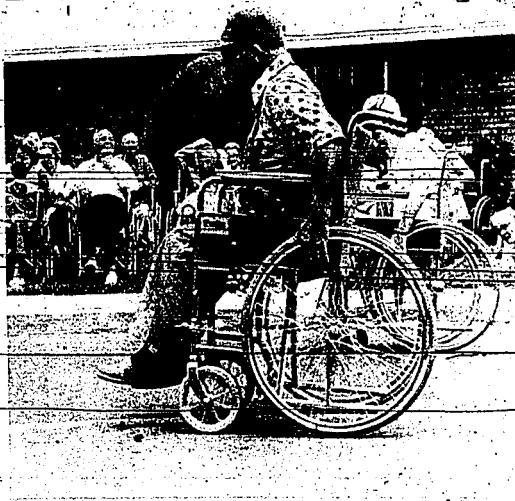

Council members explained it ran out of funds for that purpose, but would continue the project as soon as further funds were available. The money for the seal coating and chipping process was saved from revenue funds and state highway funds.

The council set a special meeting for 8 p.m. next Tuesday to meet with the contractor on the new Albion sewer system.

Gary Marshall of P-M-F contractors, Twin Falls, is to appear before the council then.

P-M-F has completed the lagoon ponds and has the mainlines "pretty well finished," according to Mrs. Maloney. She said the contractor is now cleaning up. Private connections to the sewer line have not been completed.

The council took under advisement a request by Dave Carter for closure of half an alley in the residential section of Albion. Carter explained that he wants to build a garage that would extend across the alley.

Judge grants P. Hearst 90 days for examination

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A federal judge Wednesday granted an additional 90 days of psychiatric examination for Patricia Hearst before sentencing her for robbing a San Francisco bank with the Symbiote Liberation Army.

The extension means she will not be sentenced until October at the earliest. Judge William Orrick Jr. granted the request from the Bureau of Prisons, which asked for the further study of the 22-year-old newspaper heiress at the federal correctional facility at San Diego where she is being held.

Miss Hearst was convicted of the 1975 robbery last March after a sensational two-month trial.

The trial judge, Oliver J. Carter, gave the heiress a tentative maximum sentence of 25 years on the two counts of which she was found guilty, but ordered the further mental tests and said he would reduce the prison term substantially after they were completed.

Carter signed the original order April 12 turning Miss Hearst over for the psychiatric examinations for at least 90 days but saying he would allow up to 100 days for a full study. Carter died of a heart attack June 14.

The first 90-day test for Miss Hearst under Carter's order expiring July 11 Wednesday's extension by Orrick was replaced him, allowing the studies to continue until Oct. 11. Orrick entered the extension without comment.

Naf youth injured

MALTA — A Naf teenager was listed in satisfactory condition Wednesday at Cassia Memorial Hospital, under treatment for multiple fractures of the left leg.

Nathan Moose, 17, underwent surgery Monday night after his motorcycle was sideswiped by a car about 7 p.m. Monday, south of Malta.

The driver of the other car, Lex Tracy, 16, Almo, was driving north on a country road when he hit the southbound motorcycle.

Idaho State Patrol Capt. Robert Connor said Tracy told him dust raised by another car kept him from seeing the cycle. Connor said citations are pending.

Potent bootleg liquor results in 84 deaths

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — A potent bootleg liquor has killed 84 persons in two days in the southern city of Madras, according to Indian officials.

They said many of the nearly 100 others who have been hospitalized were also from the effects of the illicit brew, which police said Monday included methyl alcohol. Those who recover face possible blindness, the officials said.

Among the dead were two bootleggers who sold the liquor. Police said two other bootleggers have been arrested.

Madras is a dry state where only people medically certified as alcoholics can buy a limited quantity of liquor from government controlled shops.

Carter aides move to NY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jimmy Carter's top aides moved their campaign command post here Wednesday to prepare for the national convention, which is certain to nominate the former governor of Georgia as the Democratic presidential candidate.

In a manner reminiscent of his well-organized march through the primaries, the Carter workers were putting finishing touches on the convention operation well before the candidate's arrival.

Although there were signs of hectic activity, Carter's convention headquarters had all the appearances of preparing for a convention. By his own count, Carter now has 1,872 delegates, far more than the 1,200 needed for nomination. The 177 room gives Carter 174.

The Carter entourage, which will number about 450 when the convention opens next week, set up headquarters in the Americana, an opulent, 50-story hotel in the heart of midtown Manhattan.

Preparations for Carter's activities at the convention have been going on for about six weeks under the direction of coordinator Jim Gannett. It is estimated the New York operation will cost his campaign up to $50,000.

The Carter complex began taking shape Wednesday with the opening of press rooms, the finishing touches on a large hall room converted into campaign headquarters and the arrival of top Carter strategists.

Among those shifting operations from Atlanta were campaign manager Hamilton Jordan, pollster Pat Caddell and advertising director Gerald Ruffalo.

Television coordinator Barry Jagoda promptly nicknamed the areas of the Americana hotel being used by Carter troops "Atlantia East."

Carter and his family are expected to reach New York city Saturday afternoon from Plains, Ga., where the candidate has been interviewing prospective vice presidential running mates.

Waiting for Carter and his wife, Rosalynn, is a seven-room suite on the 21st floor of the hotel. Other members of the Carter family, friends and high level aides will have rooms on the suite floor and the two floors below.

The Carter set of sleeping and working rooms, known as the Americana suite, includes a large living room, two bedrooms, dining room, two baths and a balcony.

The living room — where Carter will oversee the operation, meet delegates and party leaders and probably watch his nomination on television — has a light blue carpet, couches on either end, a coffee table and two large round tables.

One bedroom — the one Carter is expected to use — is decorated in red and white with a four-poster, canopied double bed, two armchairs, a dresser and a lounging chair. Prints decorate the walls.

The other bedroom, which aides said probably would be converted into a working room, is decorated in yellow. The dining room can seat eight.

A second-floor hall room has been converted into a press room with a podium, a platform for television cameras and 50 telephones. Several briefings will be held daily.

Little of Carter's convention schedule is firm. He is expected to meet with delegates, attend a variety of social functions and will appear on "Meet the Press" Sunday.

CERTIFICATES and $100 cash awards were presented to Mrs. Carlotta R. Onelda, left, and Mrs. L. Hope Freeman for their work at the Bureau of Land Management, Shoshone. According to district manager, Charles Hester, the women suggested a plan for elimination of duplicate working files of official land cases. Mrs. Freeman is the district legal clerk and Mrs. Onelda is the records manager.

Tornadoes sighted near Liberty Statue

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Weather Service said Wednesday it had received reports of a sighting of a tornado near the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor and another near Jersey City, N.J.

A spokesman for the weather service said "we've received four or five calls from reliable people saying they've sighted a tornado in the harbor near the Statue of Liberty."

The weather service spokesman also said there were "several telephone reports of a tornado sighting between Jersey City and Bayonne, N.J."

However, an officer of the 120th police precinct in Staten Island said he had received no reports of a tornado in the vicinity.

An official of the Federal Lands Administration, with offices in the World Trade Center, said "it looks like a heavy rain storm in the harbor and there are whitecaps on the river but we haven't seen any funnels."

The National Weather Service issued a tornado warning for the New York City and Westchester County areas in New York State and for Bergen and Hudson Counties in New Jersey which was effective until 1 p.m. EDT.

Sherry Linton, a National Park Service employee working at the Statue of Liberty, said two funnel clouds were sighted "across the river" over New Jersey at about noon. "They seemed to touch down somewhere near Newark, they were not at the island," she said.

Ferry service to Liberty Island was halted for about five minutes and visitors on the island were kept indoors briefly during a heavy downpour. Ms. Linton said "Everything was very calm a short time later," she said.

TF man reports items taken from vehicle

TWIN FALLS — C. G. Rominger, 121 Seventh Ave. N., reported the theft of a rifle, scope and ammunition from his vehicle Monday night.

The vehicle was broken into while parked in front of his home. He estimated the loss at about $115.

Several other residents reported broken windows and property damage during the holiday weekend. The Robinson family duplex suffered a broken window after vandals threw a small rock through the glass. Damage was estimated at $100. Officers said the rock was thrown with sufficient force to go through the heavy plate glass.

Dolphia Dotson, 325 Harrison St., told police someone broke the windshield out of her automobile while it was parked at her home during the weekend. Damage was estimated at $150.

Officials at Gem Gas Co., 839 Blue-Lakes Blvd. N., reported a front glass door at the business firm was broken when a rock was thrown through it sometime during the weekend. Damage was about $125, officials said.

Rosalinda Hernandez told police she returned home on Monday to find the front door of her home had been kicked in. She said damage would amount to about $75.

'Hail alley' experiment may have caused problem

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — Scientists who tried to curb hail storms by seeding clouds in the "hail alley" area of Colorado, Nebraska, and Wyoming may have created a problem larger than trying to solve one.

During two years in which a testing program was carried out, the amount of hail falling from "seeded" clouds ranged from three to four times as much as from clouds which were unseeded in one year.

There was success, however. "After fighting this for several years, frankly we got discouraged," said John Firor, director of the National Center for Atmospheric Research. "We don't know if we made more hail, and we don't know if we made less."

Scientists using a method which Soviet officials claimed cut hail fall by 10 to 20 percent for them, had surprising results in 1972 and 1973. In the first year, four times as much hail fell from seeded clouds as unseeded ones. In 1973 it was three times as much.

The "only success" came in 1973 when hail was reduced by half. But scientists aren't sure that would have occurred otherwise.

The greater amounts of hail or the smaller amounts of hail causes an estimated $70 million damage each year in the United States.

Firor said the problem is that one hail storm may naturally produce 10 times more hail than another, but scientists are unable to predict which ones will do the most damage.

"Let's say that we don't seed one storm and it turns out to be a small storm without much hail," he said. "Then maybe we'll seed the next one. Perhaps it started out to be four times bigger than the first one. And we seeded it, and it had down only three times as much hail."

"We would have done a good job, but we have no way of knowing that," Firor said.

NCAR's computer studies show there is a 95 per cent probability the seeds per acre will not reduce hail by more than 60 per cent or increase the amount by more than 500 per cent.

"If we could seed 100 storms, or better yet, 1,000, we could be confident of our results," Firor said.

Firor said the hail storm may have been in the oval-shaped area of Colorado, Wyoming and Nebraska which has the heaviest hail in the nation — there are only 20 hailstorms a year, Firor said. Only half of those were seeded.

"It's back to the drawing boards for us," Firor said.

MV day-time temps slightly cooler

Twin Falls, Northside, Burley-Rupert areas.

Mostly fair through Friday. A little cooler days with westerly afternoon winds to 15, m.p.h. Highs Friday the mid-80s. Overnight lows in the mid-50s. Saturday's outlook, dry and mild.

Spraying and dusting conditions good during the morning and evening hours and becoming poor during the afternoon.

Halley, Camas Prairie, lower Wood River valley: Partly cloudy through Friday. A little cooler days with a slight chance of a few showers. Highs near 80 with overnight lows in the mid-50s. Saturday's outlook is dry and mild.

The ridge of high pressure which has given us hot sunny weather for the past several days is giving way to a series of Pacific cold fronts.

A large stationary low pressure area of the Pacific Northwest coast will cause most air to flow into the intermountain region.

Associated with this low is a weak cold front which should weaken enough to have very little effect on Magic Valley as it moves through the area tonight.

Cooler temperatures and high cloudiness will prevail for the next few days with chance of a few scattered showers over the central mountains.

The extended outlook Saturday through Monday calls for mostly dry weather with temperatures slightly below normal along with light afternoon winds.

Highs in the 80s warming into the 90s by Monday. Overnight lows generally near 50.

Nevada mustang 'adoption' rate lagging

BATTLE MOUNTAIN, Nev. (UPI) — The plight of the wild horses in Nevada evoked national sympathy but it appears now private citizens aren't as anxious to adopt the orphaned mustangs who have been rounded up off the range.

The Bureau of Land Management says it has 148 wild horses fit its corrals here from the latest batch of 211 which were taken of the range in Central Nevada.

"Our adoption program is going quite slow," according to Gene Nollins, District Manager of the BLM. He said Tuesday about 60 per cent of those who previously indicated interest in taking a mustang are now backing out.

"Part of the problem is that most of the remaining animals are adult studs and mares. A lot of people don't want these adults so they're harder to find homes for," said Nollins.

"Most people prefer a young horse that can be more easily gentled and trained," he said.

"He said individuals would be more eager to take a wild horse if the BLM could give clear title to the animal. But the law prohibits this and the horses remain government property."

Despite the problems, Nollins says he does not think any of the present horses will have to be destroyed.

"Eventually, with enough effort, we'll find someone to take them all. I don't think we'll have to destroy any. Sooner or later, that will probably have to be done, when custodians or funding run out, and I sure don't look forward to it. But for now I think we can find homes for all of them."

Horse vaccination advised

BOISE (UPI) — Horse owners have been warned to make sure their stock is vaccinated against a disease known as "sleeping sickness," "brain fever," or equine encephalomyelitis.

Dr. A. P. Schneider, chief of the Bureau of Animal Health of the Idaho Department of Agriculture, recommended that horses be vaccinated as soon as possible since the period during which horses become infected is rapidly approaching as mosquitoes increase.

Schneider said there are three forms of the disease, all spread by mosquitoes. Schneider said 13 cases of the disease were reported last year. He said symptoms to look for are sleepiness, weakness or staggering and an inability to stand.

Washington (UPI) — Rep. James Santini, D-Nev., says a total of 33 members of the house have joined in cosponsoring "his" Sugar Disclosure Labeling Act.

He said the purpose of the act is to require packaged foods with more than 10 per cent sugar to be labeled as to how much sugar is in them. Santini said there is increasing evidence Americans are "eating our lives away on junk foods which are high in sugar content and lacking in any real nutritional value."

"He said the bill does not attempt to limit sugar in foods, just to require the percentage be put on the label."

Ford orders HEW to revoke ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An "irritated" President Ford Wednesday ordered the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to revoke a ruling that bans father-son and mother-daughter events in public schools.

HEW's Office of Civil Rights ruled that such events violate sex discrimination laws and said schools sponsoring such activities run the risk of losing federal funds.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nesson said Ford will ask Congress to act, if necessary, to make certain such "traditional American activities as father and son and mother and daughter school events can continue."

Nesson said, "When he read it in the morning newspapers, the President was really quite irritated."

Ford, telephoned HEW Secretary David Matthews and two other officials, Director James T. Lynn of the Office of Management and Budget and Director James Cannon of the White House Domestic Council, and ordered the suspension.

According to Nesson, Ford said American institutions cannot be wiped out "by some government lawyer or bureaucrat."

The President ordered Matthews to study the matter.

and said he will propose legislation to overturn any law banning such school events if necessary.

In the wake of Ford's action, Matthews said his agency "plans no enforcement action as to these kinds of events occurring during the review period and will advise any school wishing to have such events to proceed."

The HEW ruling dealt with a request from the Scottsdale, Ariz., school district to clarify 1972 amendments to the Civil Rights Act which bar sex discrimination in any educational institution receiving federal funds.

The ruling, which came from the regional office in San Francisco after being cleared by HEW headquarters, also could have applied to PTA-sponsored events if public school facilities were used.

William Randall, Scottsdale Public Schools Superintendent, said, "We requested the ruling as a routine matter of clarification." He said the state's congressional delegation would be asked to look into the matter.

"I can understand the concern that might be expressed over differing treatment of some youngsters, such as those in one-parent situations," he said.

Action receives funds

WASHINGTON UPI — A joint congressional committee has agreed to a request by Sen. Frank Church to increase funds for existing Indian Action Team Programs in Idaho and other states.

Church said the Ford administration's budget request of $14.1 million for fiscal 1977 was "notoriously inadequate."

While this figure maintains fiscal 1976 funding it did not take into account new programs and increased costs. Consequently the existing IAT groups would have been forced to make severe cuts in their programs," Church said.

He said the Senate Appropriations Committee last week voted to increase the 1977 IAT budget to $20 million and a joint House-Senate conference committee has reaffirmed that funding level.

State must strengthen programs for delinquents

BOISE (UPI) — The Governor's Advisory Board on Juvenile Justice has $457,000 right now to work with exclusively for juvenile delinquent programs" in the state, Bob Arneson, director of the Idaho Law Enforcement Planning Commission, told the board today.

Arneson said the council has $170,000 since 1975 which "up to his point we've just sat on." He reported that $75,000 has been available for planning and said the council could get

$170,000, "possibly more in fiscal year 1976."

He warned the board the state could be fined $457,000 if juveniles are not "decriminalized and de-institutionalized in the next 12 months."

Ed Piekma, juvenile justice specialist for Region X of the Justice Department, said the return of money to the federal government if the state does not achieve 100 per cent compliance in the next 12 months, "is of minimal concern and I can provide that in writing."

Fred Grant, compliance officer and planning coordinator for the Law Enforcement Planning Commission, outlined the requirements of the Juvenile Justice Act of 1974 that the board must meet.

Grant said, "this is the most critical meeting we've had in terms of planning."

The requirements include: Provision for adequate research, training and evaluation capacity for the state.

Provision for a plan specifying that status offenders be placed in shelter facilities, not in juvenile detention or correction facilities.

Provision for juveniles who are alleged or found guilty of delinquency should not be confined where they are in regular contact with adult offenders.

Provision for an adequate system of monitoring jails to assure the requirements are met.

Provision for aid to youths who are female, minorities or physically handicapped.

Allan Howe's trial faces week's delay

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A flurry of defense motions seeking dismissal of sex solicitation charges against Rep. Allan Howe, D-Utah, today forced a one week delay in the opening of the congressman's trial.

City Judge Raymond Uno rescheduled the trial July 19 after he and the lawyers for both sides agreed it would be impossible to clear up all the motions by the time the trial was scheduled to begin Monday.

The scheduled hearing Monday on motions to dismiss the misdemeanor complaint on the grounds of pretrial publicity and misconduct by the city prosecutor's office.

Defense attorney Dean Mitchell said someone had told the press that Howe's conversation with two police decoy prostitutes had been recorded the night he was arrested following the state's Democratic convention. It was reported later, he said, that the women were wired and the conversation, in which Howe allegedly offered $20 for sex acts, monitored by other officers. Police later said neither was the case, that the transcript of the alleged conversation had been written from memory by the decoys.

Burley, power firm join project

BY SHANE O'NEILL Times-News writer BURLEY — The city of Burley and Unity Light and Power Co. have become participants in a joint project with other cities and power service companies to develop two-billion-dollar nuclear power plants in Washington.

approval by the city council at a special luncheon meeting. Rupert and Heyburn also have signed participants' agreements with Washington Public Power Supply System on the two planned units at Hanford and Satsop, Wash. Burley is to receive 204 percent of the energy produced under the joint projects.

City Electrical Supervisor John Christian said he had been advised that agreement has been reached with 16 major industries for private companies to pick up any excess electricity for the first five years of power generation. Hanford, with a capacity of 1,250 megawatts, is expected to begin operation in March, 1982, at a cost of slightly over $1 billion.

Satsop is expected to begin operation in April, 1984, at a cost of $1,443,900,000. Its generating capacity will be 1,249 megawatts, but only 1,116 megawatts (90 per cent of capacity) is under the participatory agreement.

With the two plants at an estimated average production level of 65 per cent of capacity, the participants' energy is listed at 1,538 megawatts at a cost of just under $2.25 billion. Burley's share of that cost would be about $4,567,356 for 4,826 kilowatts at any given time. That would mean $2,275,750 kilowatt hours per year at an estimated cost to the city of 23.3 mills per kilowatt, based on 1982 projections.

Frost damages Lincoln wheat

By MELBA THORNE Times-News writer

SHOSHONE — Between 45 and 100 per cent of winter wheat fields in Lincoln County were destroyed by June frost, according to estimates made by a committee of the Lincoln County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

Members held a special session Tuesday afternoon in Shoshone to discuss the problem and ways to help farmers meet the crisis. Killing frost hit twice during the last 10 days of June.

The amount of loss is "hit and miss", according to Ivan Hopkins, Lincoln County Agricultural extension agent, and ex-officio ASCS committee member.

"As an example," he said, "some corn silage fields in the county that would have yielded 22 tons per acre will now, due to frost loss, only yield nine to 10 tons per acre."

Another on which the farmer received a 118-bushel-of-wheat yield last year, with an anticipation of a matching crop this year, will only receive 10 to 20 bushels to the acre, while another field on this same farm—of equal quality, is a total loss," Hopkins said.

Speaking with the extension agent, manager of the local ASCS office, James Pate, and committee members Ed Sheer, Forrest Armstrong and Richard Ward were Roy Turner, from the Farmers Home Administration (FHA) and Harland Blackburn, district ASCS director.

Armstrong, committee chairman, said farmers should not destroy evidence of crop damage, pending determination as to whether they may benefit from government disaster relief programs.

An ASCS farm visit will be made to determine crop loss, he added.

According to Armstrong, a producer who believes he may be eligible or may later become eligible for disaster payments for wheat, barley, corn or grain sorghum should notify the local county ASCS office of intentions to destroy acreage before the actual destruction of any crop acreage.

"If a producer believes that the recent freezes had caused a substantial loss to his program crops, and he chooses not to carry a portion of these crops through harvest, he should not destroy the residue, nor graze, green chop, cut for silage, nor hay the feed crop residue until he has notified his local county office," Armstrong said.

Pate called what he called "built-in" inequities in the disaster program.

The biggest one is that payments are based on the wheat or feed grain allotments for the farm which do not necessarily reflect the number of acres of crop planted on the farm," he said.

For example, he pointed out, "a wheat producer with a 50-acre allotment who plants 150 acres of wheat could suffer as much as 50 to 60 per cent crop loss and not qualify for a payment. On the other hand, a neighboring farm with a 50-acre allotment and only 50 acres of wheat planted, and the same percentage of loss, would qualify."

"So this is in a sense an inequity when related to payments to the allotment to the farm, particularly on those farms where the planted acres exceed the allotment by substantial amounts," Pate said.

Hailey spa cools on drawing board

By BART QUINNELL Times-News writer HAILEY — After more than a year of talk, the possibility of a hot spa being built near the outskirts of town seems no greater.

Interested persons asked the Hailey City Council earlier this year if the council would support such a spa, and the council said it could give no answer until it received a comprehensive study of the project.

Though three studies have been completed, Art Rathburn, Twin Falls County extension agent, said this week none has been found acceptable.

Two previous studies made by previous owners of the property where the hot spa is proposed were "not much good," Rathburn said, because they did not contain enough information. Another study done by one former owner of the property, Merrill Hill, will not be available for another two to three weeks, according to Rathburn. The University of Idaho under the direction of Rathburn is planning to conduct a study of its own in the meantime. Rathburn said the university will make feasibility studies as well as a physical report, containing flow and heat rates from five separate springs is completed.

Gooding presses for sewer grant

By LORAYNE O. SMITH Times-News writer

GOODING — Gooding City officials have taken the first step toward solving the perennial problem of irrigation water overloading the city sewers.

The 16 industries involved in the excess power purchase agreement include Alcoa, Kaiser Industries, Reynolds Aluminum and Martin Marietta, all operating in the West.

The agreement calls for them to purchase all the available power between 1982 and 1987 and a decreasing percentage through 1991. The percentages are 80 per cent of output (if excess) in 1982; 60 per cent in 1989; 40 per cent in 1990 and 20 per cent in 1991.

recommend it, then send the application to the Environmental Protection Agency for review.

The environmental engineers also discussed another water problem with Gooding officials. He said the city is one of about three in Idaho designated to receive federal funds to study alternatives for disposing of storm water.

Shoshone and Idaho Falls also have been designated to receive funds under the Clean Water Idaho project, funded by EPA, but administered through a grant to the Health and Welfare Department.

Gooding now uses drain wells to dispose of water from storms but Von Lindern said the permit for this will not be renewed again by the Idaho Department of Water Resources.

Possible alternatives include using a drain field, similar to that used with septic tanks, or impounding the water and allowing the solids to settle.

Gooding officials agreed to use the designated funds to conduct this study to investigate the quantity of water they have to dispose of and decide on its treatment.

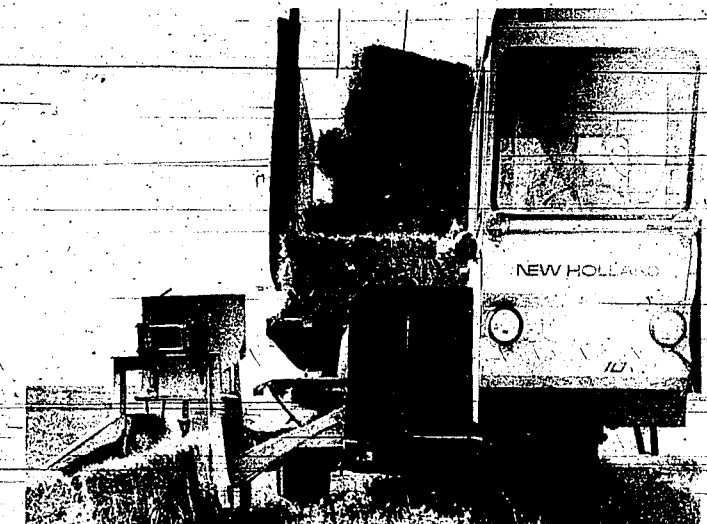

Relocation plan outlined

RUPERT — The A & B Irrigation District has proposed development of some of its extension lands for relocation of Teton Dam flood victims.

Charles Roseberry, chairman of the A & B board, said Wednesday letters have been sent to Senators Frank Church and James McClure, Rep. George Hansen, R-Pocatello, and Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, suggesting some of the 32,000 acres of undeveloped district land be used to relocate homeless victims of the June flood.

The extension lands lie primarily in Minidoka County with five areas completely in Jerome County and another straddling the county lines. The 2,000 acres were included in the original irrigation project developed by the Bureau of Reclamation that eventually became the A & B Irrigation District. The land was never developed because funds ran short. The developed irrigable land in the A & B District is 76,796 acres. The extension lands are those areas within the district on which development was postponed until funds become available. Roseberry said 8,000 to 10,000 acres could be developed by use of sprinkler irrigation.

Long, hard work key to success

DIETRICH — An enterprising young man who isn't afraid of long hours and hard work has a successful business going for himself and his two brothers in Dietrich.

Lloyd Towne, who purchased a tractor-pulled hay stacker when he graduated from high school seven years ago, today owns and operates three $23,000 self-propelled hay stacker-loaders, and manages business five months a year that would stagger the imagination of a 40-hour-per-week worker.

Towne purchased his first self-propelled machine four years ago, he said. With the help of Ralph Towne, his father, he keeps up the vehicles himself, doing major repairs after the summer work period ends.

Working with Lloyd in the business are his younger brothers, Lyle, Ed and Leland, 17. It isn't unusual for them to work all three machines at one time in a hay field. Lloyd said they can, on a good run, handle the loading and stacking of 24 bales every 15 minutes. Their work day begins by 7 a.m. sometimes earlier, and they run the machines until 10 p.m. on the average. They have on occasion, worked as late as midnight, but their usual day runs some 17 hours.

Lloyd Towne said they are about finished with the first crop of hay and expect to start on the second crop around July 15. Their summer work period runs from the middle of June until sometime in October, he said.

SEVENTEEN-year-old Leland Towne, Dietrich, is adept at operating his hay stacker owned by his brother, Lloyd Towne. The $23,000 loader handles 100 bales of hay each load, picking it up, loading it onto the bed and then stacking it where the farmer wants it.

Irish, Japanese, Spain pros lead British open as U.S. falls back

SOUTHPORT, England (UPI) — The American favorites were bunched in the second greens of the Royal Birkdale course Wednesday, but the namesake of a top Irish golfer, a former Japanese caddy and a 19-year-old Spaniard carded 69s to share the first-round lead of the 105th British Open.

Jack Nicklaus shot a 74 over the 7,001-yard, par-72 in the searing heat, as did Hale Irwin.

Ireland's Christy O'Connor Jr. Japan's Nori Suzuki and Spain's Severiano Ballesteros of Spain each overcame the green's backbreak hard by the extraordinary heat wave here to shoot a 69 in the opening round of the $145,000 Trophée Stam event.

Tom Kite, with a 70, was right behind the leaders.

An interpreter, "I'm satisfied with my 69." Ballesteros, the 19-year-old Spanish Open champion. In his first appearance in the British Open last year, the teen-ager failed to survive the 36-hole cut.

Tied with Kite at 70 were Englishman Brian Barnes and Australian Jack Newton, who was beaten in a playoff for the last year's British Open title by Tom Watson.

Watson, who made a disastrous start with a triple-bogey seven on the first hole, finished with a 73, as did two-time British Open champ Arnold Palmer.

"You get the situation of being 10 feet or 15 feet from the hole and being afraid to putt," Welskopf said. "Because you know if you're long by 2', feet or more, you're probably not going to make the putt coming back either."

"The fact is that the people here are not equipped to deal with this kind of weather and the country seems in superb condition. This keeps the greens to have been caught out by the heat. You can't sleep. It's hard to keep cool. You're just not equipped," said Welskopf, longing for the comfort of an air-conditioned room.

Fellow American Bob Murphy, who had a 75, said the heat he could bear, but complained. "As far as I am concerned, the greens were pitiful."

Nicklaus, whose 14-year-old son Jackie caddied for him, quipped, "My caddy performed much better than I did. I hit a lot of good shots, but got off to a bad start with the putter and the key shots didn't come off when needed them."

Masters champion Bay Floyd shot a 75.

Slowpitch tourney drawing slated

TWIN FALLS — All Magic Valley slowpitch softball teams — male and female — participating in the district playoffs should attend a drawing meeting July 15 at Twin Falls city hall.

Chad Browning, district commissioner, said all teams must be members of the Amateur Softball Association and must pay their entry fee at the meeting, which starts at 7:30 p.m.

"The men and women will run a combined playoff to a lesser degree. Women's action will be playing in the district playoffs and then the men's finals Aug. 7. The men's tournament will run July 26 through Aug. 7, with two nights off during that span."

Browning said it appeared 42 teams will enter the men's double elimination competition. The top four will advance to the state finals in Pocatello while the next two teams will become eligible for a re-seeded "A" tournament.

The women will be playing for three team berths in a state playoff slated for Northern Idaho.

U.S. rejoins Davis Cup family

MONTE CARLO (UPI) — The United States, France and Britain bowed to what they called "the friendly pressure" of 70 other countries Wednesday and reversed their earlier decision not to participate in Davis Cup competition.

— In what was termed an unrequited move, the International Lawn Tennis Federation voted against the expulsion of South Africa from the organization.

The United States had announced last week it would "put out" of the Davis Cup, citing the refusal of Mexico to play Apartheid South Africa as the latest example of the intrusion of politics into tennis. Both Britain and France had withdrawn from next year's competition in sympathy with the Americans.

The United States continually has objected to what they felt was the interference of government into tennis. Wednesday's decision still has to be ratified by the board of directors of the U.S. Tennis Association, the American affiliate of the I.L.T.F.

Mexico, along with most communist and Asian countries, has opposed continued South African participation in the Tennis Federation as well as in Davis Cup competition. The United States, the Western European countries, Australia and New Zealand have supported South Africa.

Shortly after the agreement, the federation voted against the expulsion of South Africa by a 25-22 margin.

AL all-star lineup has 6 first-timers

NEW YORK (UPI) — American League Most Valuable Player Fred Lynn heads a group of six first time selections on the AL All-Star team for the annual game being held this year on July 13 in Philadelphia.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced Wednesday.

Lynn was the top American League vote getter with 2,853,664 votes and joins other first time selections Ron LeFlore and Rusty Staub of Detroit in the outfield.

Thurman Munson was named the catcher in the closest race — by 85,702 votes over Carlton Fisk of Boston — with Rod Carew of Minnesota at first base, Bobby Grich of Baltimore at second, Tony Harrath of Texas at shortstop and George Brett of Kansas City at third.

It was Carew's 10th selection to a starting All-Star berth and he earned it with 1,770,998 votes to beat Boston's Carl Yastrzemski by more than 300,000.

The only other player with American League All-Star experience is Grich, who started at shortstop in 1972 when Luis Aparicio came up lame. He was named as an alternate in 1974 and is the first player other than Carew to be named to start at second since Bobby Knopf of California in 1976.

Grich was voted his position over Willie Randolph of the New York Yankees, the first rookie ever to appear on the punch card ballots. Randolph polled 1,582,156 votes with Boston's Denny Doyle third at 1,249,766.

Staub, who was acquired by the Tigers during the offseason for Mickey Lolich, will be making his sixth All-Star appearance but just his first as an American Leaguer, having been named to five National League All-Star teams during his 13-year career. He finished third in the outfield voting behind Lynn and LeFlore with 1,573,703.

LeFlore gained the national spotlight during May when he fashioned a 31-game hitting streak, the longest for an American Leaguer in more than 25 years. LeFlore is in just his second full season with Detroit after being discovered by then Tiger Manager Billy Martin in a Michigan prison.

Harrath won in a tight four-man race over Mark Bolinger, Fred Patrick and Robin Yount, polling 1,481,346 votes to 1,233,755 for Bolinger. Patrick finished with 1,160,094 and Yount with 1,028,183. Harrath was named to the All-Star team one time previously, in 1972, but was replaced because of an injury.

Mickey Rivers of the Yankees was the fourth highest votegetter among outfielders with 1,432,412 and was followed by Amos Otis of Kansas City, Bobby Bonds of California, Reggie Jackson of Baltimore and Hal McRae of Kansas City, all of whom polled more than a million votes.

These eight players join a pitching staff of Mark Fidrych of Detroit, Luis Tiant of Boston, Frank Tanana of California, Jim Hunter and Sparky Lyle of New York, Rich Gossage of Chicago, Bill Travers of Milwaukee, Dave LaRoche of Cleveland and Tottle-Fingers of Oakland.

Canadian Olympic group scores own government

MONTE CARLO (UPI) — The Canadian Olympic Committee, which successfully bid for the Montreal games and is the official host, Wednesday joined protests against the Canadian government's declared intention to ban the Taiwan team, labeling the decision a "serious and unacceptable breach of faith" by Ottawa.

COA President Harold M. Wright said the COA statement of protest "stressed that in the context of the Olympic games the question of politics involved was far more important than the particular facts of the two Chinas which has given rise to the controversy."

Wright said that in seeking assurances from the Canadian government — that it would abide by International Olympic Committee rules insisting on free entry of teams recognized by the IOC, the association made it clear it would not support a bid by any Canadian city — "in the absence of a clear response."

Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau and then Secretary of State Mitchell Sharp gave undertakings which led the COA to support Montreal's application, he said.

Canada's decision to recognize the People's Republic of China in 1978 did not alter Ottawa's "firm undertaking" in 1969 when Montreal prepared its application, he said.

"The underwriting was clear and binding to permit free access to Canada to representatives of all national Olympic committees recognized by the IOC," Wright said.

"No political recognition or judgment is contained or implied in such obligation, which is entirely an Olympic matter."

Wright said the Canadian government had not contacted the COA at any time to indicate there was a problem on admission of athletes from Taiwan, which the IOC officially recognizes as the Republic of China.

"If the problem been raised in 1970 when the People's Republic of China was given official recognition by the Canadian government, the matter could have been brought to the IOC's attention by the COA and the appropriate steps taken at that time," he said.

"To raise the matter at this late date is a serious and unacceptable breach of faith by the Canadian government and reflects badly on both the people of Canada and the COA as the organization which put forward Canada's bid for the games to the IOC, in good faith and in reliance upon the word of the government."

Wright said the COA is not taking any position at present on the merits of the two Chinas, which will eventually be determined by the IOC.

"The fundamental point at issue at this stage is that under the Olympic rules, to which the government subscribed at the time Montreal was accepted by the COA and the appropriate steps taken at that time," he said.

"At all relevant times, the national Olympic committee of the Republic of China has been recognized by the IOC."

"The COA fully supports and endorses the position taken by the IOC in the matter. Political interference in the Olympic games, particularly where access of athletes to the country in which games are being held is denied or interfered with, is unacceptable and contrary to the assurances required and obtained by the IOC when the games are awarded."

IOC tests Chinese mettle

MONTE CARLO (UPI) — The International Olympic Committee, backed into a corner by the Canadian government's stand on the issue of Taiwan, Wednesday held hopes it may have found a way out of the dilemma, but is conceding it will require Kissinger-type diplomacy on the part of Lord Killanin.

A high IOC source told UPI the committee will endeavor to persuade the Republic of China to march as Taiwan "under protest" in the July 17 opening ceremony of Montreal's $1.4 billion Games.

Sheng Chiao-min, president of Taiwan's Olympic committee, was expected to arrive in Montreal late Wednesday. The Taiwanese team, meanwhile, was en route to Canada from Taipei, traveling on identity cards issued by the Olympic Organizing Committee.

The Canadian government announced last week it would not grant the Taiwanese entry visas if they insisted on marching in the parade as the "Republic of China" and behind their national standard.

The team, however, is welcome if it ignores all reference to "China" and recognizes the "People's Republic of China" (Peking) and marches as Taiwan.

In 1960 at the Rome Games, the Taiwanese, then known as Formosa, marched in the parade as Taiwan when ordered to do so by the IOC but unfurled a banner which read "Under Protest" when it passed the saluting stand.

Killanin, looking tired after hours of burning the midnight oil in an effort to find the way out of the dilemma, had no comment on the issue.

Canada is the first government to challenge the IOC's authority since the Games were revived at Athens in 1896.

Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau has called upon the IOC, which for the moment is standing firm in its position that there can be no government interference in its affairs, to follow the precedent established in 1960.

IOC sources said Killanin is keeping this in mind.

The Irish aristocrat, however, knows his problems don't start and finish with Taiwan. Other political issues will be raised at next week's IOC Congress, where committees belonging to the Organization of African Unity are calling for the exclusion of

New Zealand from the Games because it still has sports ties with an out-of-favor South Africa.

An IOC source noted, "Then we could have a problem with Israel. It is quite possible the Arabs will demand Israel's exclusion."

The Africans, who had threatened to walk out of the Munich Games four years ago unless Rhodesia was excluded, won the day in Germany. But sources said Killanin "will stand fully behind New Zealand and this time."

He succeeded Avery Brundage as IOC president after the Munich Games.

The IOC holds one ace in that it could withdraw its patronage of the Games but sources say it is unlikely Killanin will go that far, although he is fully aware Trudeau has lost a lot of popularity with the electorate.

In Washington, Presidential Press Secretary Ron Nessen said the United States would compete in Montreal even if the IOC withdraws its patronage of the Games.

When the crisis first arose, Philip G. Krumm, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said the team would not compete if the Games did not have official sanction.

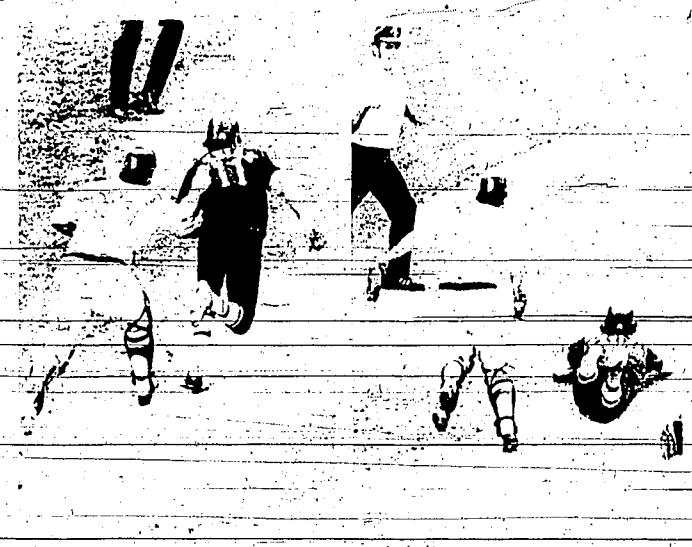

Killanin has three days of meetings scheduled with his name next executive committee prior to next week's Congress. He is taking advice from anyone who has something worth while to say, but for the moment he has no meetings arranged with the External Affairs Department in Ottawa.

An External Affairs spokesman said Chao Cheng-Hung, vice minister of sports and the president of the All-China Sports Federation, will head a Peking delegation here next week for talks with the powerful International Sports Federations.

Tomas Keller of Switzerland, president of the Sports Federations, and the International Rowing Federation, has telephoned Killanin indicating his support for the IOC's stand on Taiwan.

Eight federations now recognize Peking as representing China, but these do not include the glamor Olympic sports of track and field, swimming, basketball, soccer and gymnastics.

The IOC's problem is made more difficult because Moscow is the 1980 host.

Too slow

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have had my gall bladder removed but have had terrible gas pains ever since.

I try to do the things the doctors advocate — eat less at a time, eat slowly without gulping, etc. but I still have a lot of trouble.

My doctor says don't eat roughage. I have ascertained it but need a certain amount so that I don't get constipated.

I wonder if the same diet that helps when your gall bladder is not at peak function would work for me?

I am getting to the point where my social life is curtailed because of this. Could you give me any pointers which could help me?

DEAR READER — Gas pains may not be from gall bladder problems at all. Almost everyone has gas but with normal digestive functions most people are totally unaware of it.

The pain usually comes from the gas being trapped in the colon and associated process of squeezing action of the colon. When the gas is under pressure, where the colon bends, it stretches or expands the colon and causes pain.

If the spasms in the colon relaxes, the gas is no longer trapped and the tension and pain disappear.

Gas pain problems

Your comment about "roughage" makes me think you have an underlying colon problem, specifically a spastic colon.

These types of complaints are often there before a person has a gall bladder operation and may even be confused with symptoms of gall bladder disease.

When that is the case they will still be there after surgery. Symptoms may follow surgery because of the interrupted normal pattern of living.

And symptoms may follow an illness that has affected the bowels, such as infectious gastroenteritis, food poisoning.

Most everyone swallows air. You can't prevent it and swallow food and water. Some people do develop a nervous habit of swallowing lots of air and may not be aware of it.

Air trapped in the stomach then causes burping and an immediate sense of fullness when you eat.

Other people form gas, often because they lack enzymes normally in the intestines. That results in undigested food which ferments.

A loss of tolerance to milk, because of loss of enzymes and inability to digest the double sugar lactose can also cause this problem.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 64 "Controlling Gasousness, to give you a more complete understanding about the problem of gas."

Others who have gas problems and want to know what they can do about it can send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with 50 cents for it. Send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 151 Radio City Station, New York, N. Y. 10101.

You can check to see if you are swallowing too much air by holding an eraser between your teeth.

That will make swallowing more difficult and will alert you to the problem. It is a good way to help break the habit.

Also I think you should eliminate all milk and all milk products (including milk chocolate bars and milk used in cooking) to see if that is your real problem. It may be a temporary problem in view of your recent operation.

You might limit your fat intake in deference to your recent gall bladder surgery. And I am very skeptical that cutting down on bulk, such as bran in cereals will help at all.

I suspect you do need that "softage" for normal colon function which may improve your condition.

Steeler newcomers buoy confidence of Chuck Noll

LATROBE, Pa. (UPI) — Steelers Coach Chuck Noll Wednesday pilled what he called "one of the better crops" of rookies and free agents Pittsburgh has had against a stop watch to kick off a campaign for an unprecedented third straight Super Bowl title.

The usually undemanding Noll, who consistently refuses to speculate on the possibility of a third consecutive championship, was unabashedly enthusiastic about opening training camp.

He dared to compare the 1976 freshman class favorably to the 1974 bunch that produced the likes of Lynn Swann, Jack Lambert and John Stallworth.

"I think it's one of the better crops that we've had," the sun-tanned Noll said shortly before 40 rookies and free-agents along with four veterans took the field at St. Vincent's College for a light workout and liming in the 40-yard dash in intermittent rain.

"The remaining veterans are due at camp Sunday. Now how far that group comes along, I don't know," Noll added, referring to his customary modesty. "The other ones kept going—like Lambert—who, you know, kept waiting for him to fizzle out because you get some of that kind. But he didn't. He kept going. You get a lot of people who are going to start fast. But the true test is time. We haven't had that yet."

Despite his own words of caution and the possibility that the NFL might reduce the player limit from last year's 43 to as low as 36, Noll predicted some of the rookies and free agents "undoubtedly will make the team unless there's a catastrophe of some sort."

Three of the top-rated Steeler rookies will be among the first couple of weeks of camp. First-round pick Bennie Cunningham, a tight end from Clemson, and second-round choices Ray Pinney; a center from Washington, and Mike Kruczek, a quarterback from Boston College, are practicing with the College All-Star squad the Steelers play in Chicago July 23 to kick off their exhibition season.

Noll said one reason this year's group at Steeler hopefuls looks so promising is that former draftees who opted to play in the now defunct World Football League have shown up this year for tryouts.

"Among them is running back Tommy Reardon, the Steelers' 1974 ninth-round pick, who earned Rookie of the Year and Most Valuable Player honors that year as the NFL's leading runner."

Other former WFL players here are defensive lineman Bob Barber, guard Jim Kregel and linebacker Al Humphrey.

Two 1975 Steeler picks who were injured at last year's training camp are back for another try: wide receiver Bob Gaddis and cornerback Brent Sexton. Both were drafted three years ago, but because he had some guys who were drafted earlier who went to the World Football League coming in, some from last year too," Noll said. "...so maybe it's like 1946 when everybody got out of the service."

Veterans attending the first few days of camp are quarterbacks Terry Bradshaw and Terry Hanratty, center Mike Webster and defensive end John Banaszak.

Ironically, the last rookie to check in was the last player chosen in the entire college draft: Kelvin Kirk, a wide receiver from Dayton. Kirk never arrived until halfway through Wednesday's workout because, he said, a foot-up with his plane ticket sent him to Philadelphia.

The players begin two-day drills Thursday.

McTear doubtful

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (UPI) — Houston McTear, a top American Jope in the 100-meter sprint in this month's Montreal Olympics, might not be able to compete.

Head U.S. track and field coach Dr. LeRoy Walker reported Wednesday the 19-year-old sprinter, who has suffered a muscle pull at the Olympic trials, "has not put any stress on it and, therefore, has not been out of the blocks" in training sessions here.

Walker plans to "let him open up in a day or two and then on Monday we will come up with a hard decision whether there will be a substitute for him."

Jimmy Jones, fourth in pre-Olympic trials in Eugene, Ore. with a 10.2 performance, is ready to take McTear's spot on the team. Jones, a high school student who will attend the University of Texas in the fall on a football scholarship, does not have McTear's reputation as a world class sprinter.

Walker, called this year's U.S. squad "one of the best ever."

Cincinnati hates to leave 250-27 court

CINCINNATI (UPI) — University of Cincinnati basketball Coach Gale Catlett has mixed emotions about his team's new "home" court for this coming season.

The Bearcats are leaving their cozy campus Army Fieldhouse, where they have compiled an amazing 250-27 record the past 27 seasons, for the new downtown Riverfront Coliseum, several miles from campus.

"I feel that college basketball should be played on campus," said Catlett. "It should be for the students, faculty, alumni and then the fans."

"I think a student should be able to walk from his room to the game, and if the Army fieldhouse is too small, I think we should think about building coach is to do the best thing for the university," he said. "If this is what the university feels is best, then I'm for it. I'm trying to be diplomatic."

"I've talked to a couple of the players about it and they seem to like the idea. Rebuilding is the move ought to help us. The noise factor won't be the same as it was at the Army team-splitting student body cheering which often brought complaints from losing opposing coaches), but the comfort of the fans will be better."

"But," added Catlett, "we don't have a choice, really. We are moving there."

The shift from campus to Coliseum does not necessarily mean more nationally-ranked teams will be willing to play the Bearcats—here, figured a new facility on campus that can hold 15,000 or 16,000 people."

Army Fieldhouse seats only 7,542, compared with 17,000 at Riverfront Coliseum, home of the World Hockey Association's Cincinnati Stingers.

"The Coliseum is to give the university 4,000 free student tickets and plans also are being worked out for campus-to-downtown transportation for students.

The new contract can be cancelled by either the Coliseum or university after each season, and although Catlett terms this because "the most important thing in the contract," he says he is trying to be "diplomatic" about the move.

Napoles rejects title offer, announces ring retirement

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Jose "Mantequilla" Napoles, considered by many to be the greatest welterweight of all time, announced his retirement from the ring Wednesday, rejecting a chance to recover his world title in the process.

His assessor, Alejandro Murga, told UPI he had deposited two million pesos ($500,000) with the World Boxing Council (WBC) here for Napoles to fight new WBC welterweight champion Carlos Palomino, of Mexico.

But "my best moments as a boxer have passed," the 30-year-old Cuban-Mexican Napoles sadly told a news conference in the restaurant he owns near downtown Mexico City.

Murga said Napoles had been willing to accept just $10,000 for the chance to recover the title he lost Dec. 6 to Britain's John Stracey.

"He wanted to be champion again and the price didn't matter," Murga said. But after weeks of consideration, Napoles reached his final decision Tuesday night.

Napoles first won the title on April 18, 1963, from Curtis

Pacers must pay Daniels

NOBLESVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Mel Daniels, a former most valuable player in the American Basketball Association, was awarded $180,000 Wednesday in a breach of contract suit against the ABA, the former owners of the Indiana Pacers and the corporation which owned the defunct Memphis Sounds.

The award of $180,000 was announced by Hamilton superior court judge V. Sue Shields, who said she made the decision "strictly on contractual grounds."

The suit, which alleges contract violations, she ruled, Daniels was never compensated for a fifth option year, a $10,000 life insurance policy was not continued, payments were not continued into a mutual fund and the Pacers never paid the $30,000 in deferred compensation.

Steve Goldsmith, Daniels' attorney, said he would immediately look to the ABA for the money.

But he said it was unlikely that the former college star could ever recoup what he lost from the league.

Indiana Pro Sports, Inc., which owned the Pacers, and Triangle Sports, Inc., which owned the Memphis franchise before it folded, when transferred to Baltimore, have dissolved.

Olympians not unhappy with Maryland delegate

NEW YORK (UPI) — The U.S. Olympic basketball team wanted very badly to have a University of Maryland player on its roster for the competition later this month in Montreal.

The Olympians wanted guard John Lucas... they had to settle for forward Steve Sheppard.

But being stuck with Steve Sheppard is no great hardship, as Olympic coach Dean Smith already knows. The Maryland senior's board-crashing style is ideal for the international wars that will take place under the baskets in Montreal.

"I saw Steve play against Adrian Dantley in a high school all star game at Kutscher's," recalls Smith, "and that was an international type match-up right there. They went at each other."

"He goes unnoticed except for the coaches his team plays against. He started really strong at the Olympic trials and the coaches were saying, 'where did he come from?'" That "where did he come from?" query was also used at the 1968 Olympic games to address the play of unknown junior college center Spencer Haywood, and was later used at the 1972 games in amazement over the play of little known Illinois State guard Doug Collins.

Both Haywood and Collins parlayed their Olympic successes into sizable professional contracts with Haywood now starring for the New York Knicks and Collins a backcourt regular with the Philadelphia 76ers.

"Ever since I was a youngster I've wanted to play in the Olympics," explains Sheppard. "It's been my dream. I grew up with Tom Henderson and when he played in the 1972 games it was like I'd be following in his footsteps. We both went to the same high school (Dewitt Clinton, New York City) and we both played for the same coach (John Wyles)."

"I was destined to be here."

Sheppard has been overshadowed at Maryland by coach Lefty Driesell's three-guard offense, featuring Lucas, Brad Davis and Molloward — but he has not been overlooked.

Lucas opted not to try out for the Olympic team because he is a major college top collegian, did not want to risk an injury in the games and thus jeopardize his pro career and also because of his desire to play World Team Tennis. Lucas was the No. 1 player taken in the NBA draft and signed a five-year contract with the Houston Rockets and also a pact with Golden Gateers of WTT.

"Sheppard didn't start in his sophomore year but he always came off the bench to get his 21 points," says Smith, who coaches North Carolina in the Atlantic coast conference. "He's strong... he plays a lot bigger than his size."

Sheppard, who averaged 14.3 points per game in his sophomore season, rose to prominence last fall in an exhibition contest against the Russians when he scored 22 points and grabbed a game-high 15 rebounds in Maryland's 100-50 overtime victory.

U.S. cage team begins final tune-ups

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (UPI) — The U.S. Olympic team shifts its preparations for the Montreal Summer Games into high gear at Kutscher's Country Club Thursday night when it plays the first of five games in six nights against a squad of professional all-stars.

It will mark the initial appearance of the complete squad Coach Dean Smith plans to take to Montreal. He began with 15 players last month, but has made the final three cuts, the last of whom to go was forward Mark Landsberg of Arizona State last weekend.

The Olympians will be faced at Kutscher's by the likes of Spencer Haywood of the New York Knicks, Nate Archibald of the Kansas City Kings, Kim Hughes and Al Skinner of the New York Nets, Ron Belongue of the New Orleans Jazz, Chris Ford of the Detroit Pistons and Darryl Dawkins of the Philadelphia 76ers.

"These five games in six nights will be most helpful," explained Smith. "It will accentuate some of our weaknesses. Then we'll have three or four days to work on them before we leave for Montreal."

The Olympians have had creditable success against professional teams during the last four weeks as they have carved out a 5-2 exhibition record. The U.S. team opened with an impressive thumping of the Spanish National team, but lost to the Denver Nuggets in its second outing. That loss was avenged one night later.

The Americans then went on to crush the Israeli national team and a pro star team featuring Bob Love of the Chicago Bulls and Clifford Ray of the Golden State Warriors.

The Olympians posted its most impressive exhibition win, a 116-71 thrashing of another pro all-star team featuring Julius Erving of the New York Nets and Doug Collins in Providence, R.I., but the pros got even one night later in Hartford. The U.S. team has had six days off leading up to the Kutscher's game.

The U.S. team is composed of centers Mitch Kupchak and Tom LaGarde, forwards Adrian Dantley, Scott May, Phil Hubbard, Steve Sheppard, Kenny Carr and guards Phil Ford, Quinn Buchner, Tate Armstrong, Ernie Grunfeld and Walter Davis.

New divisions for NBA proposed

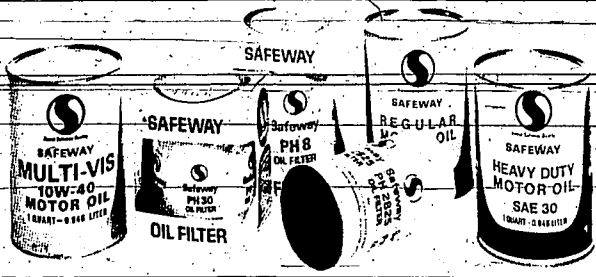

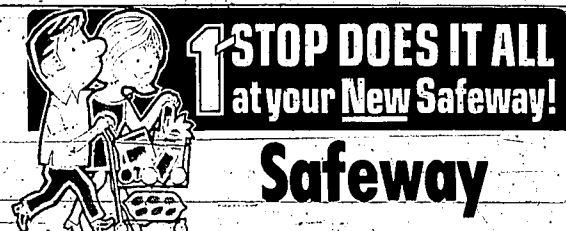

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — The National Basketball Association's Competition / Committee has recommended putting the San Antonio Spurs in the central division with Houston, New Orleans, Atlanta, Washington and Cleveland; a newspaper reported Wednesday.

The San Antonio Light said it learned suggestions on how to fit four former American Basketball Association teams into the NBA schedule were made to the NBA Board of Governors at a meeting in Chicago on June 25.

Committee members also recommended that the New York Nets would be placed in the Atlantic Division with Boston, Buffalo, Philadelphia and the New York Knicks, the Light said, while the other two former ABA teams, Denver and Indiana, would be placed in the Midwest division with Milwaukee, Detroit, Kansas City and Chicago.

The Pacific Division, composed of Golden State, Phoenix, Seattle, Los Angeles and Portland — would remain the same under the reported recommendation.

No meeting of the owners, whose approval of the plan would be necessary, has been scheduled.

N.Y. Giants' roster reads like 1974 all-star squad

The Giants and Bell was one of two players selected in the fourth round. New York is looking for some outside speed to complement Coska; and only Bell and second-year man Marsh White fill the bill among the players New York will take to camp.

But as it stands, the Giants open camp for the 1978 season today as just another football team. Some 40 rookies and free agents were on hand for Coach Bill Arnsparger's third summer session, with the expected 40 veteran players remaining to report for camp Tuesday.

The Giants made several key personnel additions during the offseason, including powerful fullback Larry Coska, wide receivers Elmo Colorado and running back Gordie Bell of Michigan, another was the first round pick of

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JULY 9, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when many changes can be in effect. You would be wise not to instigate them but to go along with them when they arise. There will come from other persons. You have the chance to make the decisions which are best for you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Take time to find out what your position is regarding business and civic matters so you can handle everything more intelligently. Not a good day to discuss important matter with mate.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Listen to what a partner has to say about some mutual matter and think about it before coming to a decision. Avoid taking any risks in public matters or there could be trouble.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have a seemingly difficult job to do, but if you study it well, you find you can handle it efficiently. Will be right before you say it.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 31) Take care; you do not take any risks at this time. Do not take seriously some criticism from your mate and make a big issue of it.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Some situation at home has been troublesome but don't let it bother you. Involve yourself in something you enjoy doing. Don't jump into a new project which is just a flash in the pan. Be cautious.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Criticism of others could cause hard feelings. Take care in motion, driving or handling machines tonight. Do not overwork, either.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Arranging financial affairs better can bring you a greater abundance in the future. Make sure that bill is right before you say it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't take your anger out on others just because you are out of sorts. Take time to improve appearance and then get busy adding to your present income. Find right new outlet.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are wasting too much time on a problem that can be solved easily by studying the main factors of such. Then get busy on chores you have been postponing. Then relax tonight.

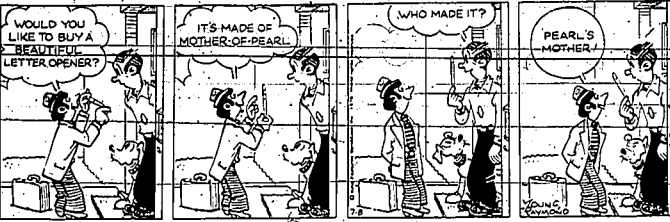

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A pal may be in a strange mood and inclined to argue, so don't take the bait. Try not to be forceful with others in order to gain your aims. Get busy at whatever is of a constructive nature.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be careful where your good name is concerned, since it could come under a cloud of wrong actions. If someone criticizes your work, try to find out why. Coercion may be in the back of the criticism.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Not a good day to get involved in a new undertaking or new surroundings. Wait for a better time to try something new. Find better ways to take care of chores.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... He or she will be one of those delightful persons who will be a problem solver and should have the finest education possible. Success very likely in the fields of science, art and troubleshooting professions. Teach early to stay on the positive side of life and forget the negative.

what's what

L.M. Boyd

Some years ago a client asked how the custom of throwing the bridal bouquet came into being. Research then turned up the fact that an earlier tradition called for the wedding guests to juggle one of the bride's garters. But said garter was so prized that the practice frequently got a little rough. Those guests who were not juggling the garter would sometimes knock her down and, practically ripped her clothes off to get to the token. So it was reported here that one particularly clever bride tossed her bouquet at the onrushers much as a runner might throw out the backseat to slow down the reverent. What I failed to mention was that even before the garter came the bride's stockings. That's what the original wedding-guests went after. And the subsequent scramble for the garter was only a minor tussle compared to the earlier riot over those stockings.

GREAT LOVER

Q. "How did that great lover Casanova operate?"
A. "Slowly, according to his memoirs. He wrote: 'When I became interested in a girl, I simply watched and waited. Sooner or later, her eyes or hands would make some dainty movement of her skirt told me yes and when where.'"

If you want to liven up the party conversation, ask the ladies in attendance to explain the difference in the meanings of the words "feminine" and "womanly." Our Language man says no dictionary does the job quite adequately.

Can you think of any town in the country more appropriately named than the California city of "Long Beach"? Neither can I.

TALKING DOG

As recently as 39 years ago, the national magazines were reporting quite seriously that a woman in Waterville, Me., had a French bulldog that could speak English. The alleged vocabulary included 20 words. This said pup supposedly could string together in intelligent sentences. Now you and I know that no dog can talk. So it's inconceivable that any responsible publication today would print such a report as fact. What's curious, I think, is the story was believed by a large chunk of the population such a short time ago.

Takes 20 cords of hardwood to turn out 15 tons of charcoal. That hardwood—oak or hickory—is not burned, incidentally. It's carbonized in kilns that generate up to 400 degrees F.

If you see the entire "anguilles" on the menu, you can be certain it's grilled or broiled eel. Enjoy.

Don't believe I mentioned the average elephant tusk weighs 55 pounds.

You also are afforded the protection and convenience of a main disconnect breaker which shuts off the entire panel with a single switch.

This is our recommended service for the average three-bedroom home. In this area where electrical power is one of the most economical energies, it is probable that electricity will be or become the method of heating. This service provides plenty of room for the circuit necessary to accommodate individual room heat and all the branch circuits required to adequately service the modern home. There will be enough free space left to add circuits for future requirements, insuring that you will probably never outgrow this service. If your power needs would increase drastically you can add to this service without replacing any part that exists.
