Snake River fish may be poisonous

TWIN FALLS—Southern Idaho residents were warned Saturday not to eat fish caught in the American Falls reservoir or the Snake River.

Pesticides washed downstream by the Teton Dam collapse and flood June 5 have contaminated water from Rexburg to Twin Falls, health officials fear.

Jim Perry, senior environmental quality specialist for the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare said Saturday chemicals spilled into the Snake River in Eastern Idaho may have contaminated fish as far south as Twin Falls.

Perry said following the collapse of the Teton Dam, water washed away a number of pesticide retail outlets including the Sugar City Coop, U.S. Steel's Farm Service Center, Rexburg, Utah Power and Light sub-station in Rexburg and the Blingham Coop, Blackfoot.

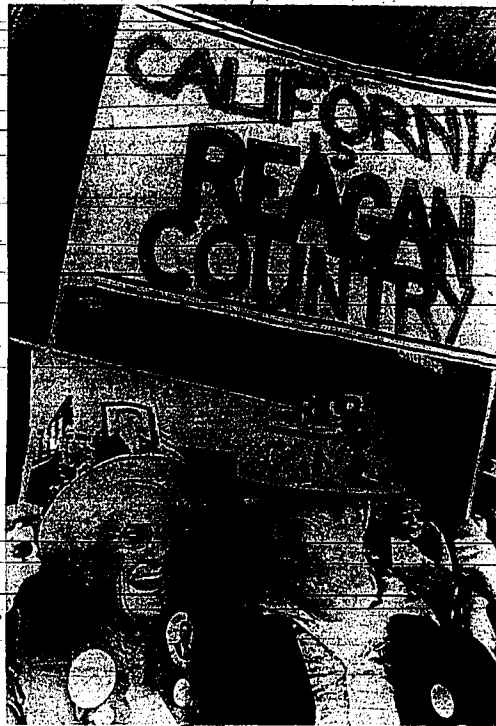

About 200 gallons of Furdan, a highly toxic liquid insecticide was known to have washed away. Another 2,000 lbs. of D-System, a powerful pesticide, washed into the river from one Rexburg source.

Private pesticide storage on farms could be much greater than the commercial outlets, health officials add.

Fish and wildlife along the Snake River may become contaminated by the pesticides in the water and could pass on dangerous doses of the chemicals to anyone who eats a contaminated bird or fish.

Anyone finding a leaking container is urged not to attempt to retrieve it, but to contact health authorities. Perry said a small amount exposed to the skin would be sufficient to cause serious illness or death.

A container opened to check contents could also cause death, simply from the fumes, he said.

Ronnie's friends

SUPPORTERS of Ronald Reagan made a large showing at the Republican National Convention Saturday as both Reagan and President Ford arrived in Kansas City for the decisive final three days before the GOP chooses a presidential candidate. (UPI)

GOP feud enters final skirmish

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The Republican National Convention opens Monday with neither President Ford nor Ronald Reagan assured of a majority of the 2,229 delegates needed to win the presidential nomination on the first ballot.

Ford is very close to the 1,130 mark. UPI's latest nationwide survey shown Saturday that Ford had 1,123 first ballot votes — just seven short of the number needed. Reagan had 1,036 — almost 100 shy — and there were 100 uncommitted.

Although the figures showed Ford the favorite to win the nomination, the situation could be turned around dramatically by a variety of factors that will develop in the convention. They include:

— Whether the Reagan camp can force through a convention rule change that would force Ford to name a running mate before the ballot for the presidential nomination Wednesday. If Ford reveals his choice, it could win him delegates in one region while losing him support in another.

— If Sen. James Buckley allows his name to be placed in nomination, it could draw delegates from both Ford and Reagan, preventing both of them from winning the nomination on the first ballot.

— If the convention was forced to a second ballot the delegate count would be much different from the present count. Many legally bound Ford delegates in Kentucky, Maryland and North Carolina would be free to vote for personal preferences for Reagan, while a significant number of Reagan delegates from Indiana and a small number from other states were seen as going to Ford.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — President Ford's chief backer in Mississippi predicted Saturday the state's delegation will put Ford over the top for the presidential nomination when they caucus Sunday.

Gov. Carmichael said the delegates would vote to abandon the unit rule, which has kept all 30 delegates listed as uncommitted.

"When the unit rule goes, we've got 16 solid votes," Carmichael said. "That will give him (Ford) the nomination."

The UPI delegate poll continued to show only 12 delegates for Ford, with 12 for Ronald Reagan and six uncommitted. Due to the unit rule, UPI has listed all 30 votes as uncommitted.

UPI's total showed Ford with 1,123, just seven votes short of the number needed for nomination, without the Mississippi votes.

Carmichael, an early Ford backer, has been claiming Ford had a majority in the Mississippi delegation since Reagan chose liberal Sen. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., as his running mate.

— Ronald Reagan said Saturday his campaign is planning its hopes for the presidential nomination on the uncommitted delegates to the Republican National Convention.

Reagan told about 200 youthful supporters at a breakfast on the eve of his departure for Kansas City the contest for the nomination "is in limbo." "It is in the hands of the uncommitted, who will decide the outcome," Reagan said. He arrives in Kansas City Monday.

But, he said, whoever wins the nomination must have a united GOP behind him.

Pioneer resident Peters dies, 83

TWIN FALLS — Gerrit L. Peters, 83, a pioneer resident of the Salmon Tract and first postmaster at Amsterdam, died Friday afternoon in a local nursing home.

Mr. Peters came to Idaho in 1910 and was one of the first settlers on the Salmon Tract. He became Amsterdam postmaster in 1912 while still a citizen of Holland. In addition to being postmaster, he operated a country store in Amsterdam and farmed, having taken his farmland out of sagebrush at the opening of the tract.

The first group of settlers from Holland who came to this area were taken to the Salmon Tract by Mr. Peters. They had come here from Montana.

Hughes will divided 19 ways?

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Attorneys for the late Howard Hughes have worked out a secret agreement to split up the Hughes estate among 19 potential heirs should no valid will be recognized, the Philadelphia Inquirer said Saturday night.

In a copyrighted story appearing in its Sunday edition, the Inquirer said the agreement was worked out among opposing factions of the Hughes family. The 19 persons involved are all first cousins.

The Inquirer identified an attorney for three of the heirs as Keith A. Pursel of Los Angeles. When asked about details of the agreement, the report quoted Pursel as saying, "Well, I can tell you that an agreement has been reached, but I don't think I should go into it at this time."

Founder of Boy Scouts dies, 93

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — Stanley J. Harris Sr., 93, credited with organizing the first Boy Scout troop in the United States, died Friday.

Harris had been blind in 1906 but didn't have long to live, so he organized a Boy Scout troop to have someone to rely on while he was getting better strength.

The doctor, he said, "told me to die peacefully and I did not never did anything peacefully."

Bomb rips Alexandria station

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (UPI) — A bomb Saturday shattered a train carriage loaded with workers and passengers at the railway station, killing eight persons and injuring another 51. Egyptian sources charged it was part of "the Libyan scheme of sabotage."

The police said the bomb, hidden on a baggage shelf, exploded 10:45 (4:45 a.m. EDT) while the express train was moving from the yard to the station. But many passengers, mostly poor workers and peasants, had already climbed aboard for the 700-mile journey to Aswan.

Wierd killer disease found a second time

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A priest and a musician, who attended the 41st International Eucharistic Congress of the Roman Catholic Church last week, have been hospitalized with viral pneumonia symptoms that closely resemble "Legionnaires' Disease."

The mysterious illness killed 34 persons who attended the American Legion convention here July 21-24. The official death toll was reduced from 27 Friday after autopsy results disclosed three of the victims died of pneumonia.

City Representative Albert Gaudiosi said Saturday that since the symptoms of the mysterious illness resemble pneumonia—the deaths inadvertently were "lumped in the same category."

"The fact that 'Legionnaires' means nothing," he said. "The key thing is if you can isolate the virus or bacteria. That's what reduced the number of deaths in the case of the legionnaires."

Scientists have ruled out viral or bacterial infections as the cause of the illness and have been concentrating on nickel and lead poisons.

Dr. Jay Weiner, who was treating the musician, Louis Fortunato, 38, White Plains, N.Y., in a Danbury, Conn., hospital, said bacterial tests turned up nothing and he was waiting for Connecticut health officials to complete viral examinations.

Do-it-yourself divorces save money, but not time

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES

TWIN FALLS — About one in every five divorces granted in Fifth Judicial District court in Twin Falls County is now a "do-it-yourself" divorce.

Many of those obnoxious divorces without benefit of legal services say they are satisfied with their efforts and feel it was well worth the time spent.

However, attorneys warn there may be some unforeseen pitfalls in the road to going your own way in the future if any legal technicalities were overlooked.

Those who handle their own divorce proceedings without hiring an attorney say they save about $350 their only expenses being the $35 filing fee for the complaint and the $10 service fee for having the papers served on the spouse.

But self-performed divorces takes longer and can be a more trying experience for the matrimonial women without legal training.

With the assistance of an attorney an uncontested divorce can be final immediately after the 20-day waiting period required in Idaho.

One recent divorcee who handled her own case said she spent just over four months in research, before meeting requirements of the court.

When the attorney advises the prospective divorcee to obtain an attorney, he may be thinking of much more than the $350 in his bank account.

Too often, says Greg Fuller, a Twin Falls attorney who handles a sizeable divorce caseload, individual attempts to obtain a divorce become hopelessly bogged down in legal requirements.

Even those obtaining their own divorces say they would never try if there is any indication the move would be contested by the partner or if an agreement could not be amicably reached out, property, child custody and other matters.

For the individual who wants to try the "do-it-yourself" route to the divorce court, there are some agencies with limited assistance, though Idaho Legal Aid does not make a practice of taking on divorces. In emergency cases they do assist and advise.

Citizens for Justice, Jerome, a group of non-professionals organized some time ago to help several individuals with problems of welfare matters, will advise the individual about specific problems and direct them to sources of information.

Citizens for Justice representatives say they cannot go to court with the individual and assist her or him under threat of court action against the agency for "practicing law without a license."

Citizens for Justice and several other groups say there's pressure from the bar to keep them from entering the divorce field.

Attorney Fuller, however, says legal opposition to do-it-yourself divorces involves more than monetary considerations. First of all, he says those attempting to obtain self-service divorces are slowing down an already overburdened court schedule and causing a great deal of extra work and effort on the part of court clerks and judges.

"What it sometimes amounts to," Fuller said, "is that the judge is having to perform the services of an attorney."

"There are some other very serious ramifications," he said.

"Every couple embarking on a self-service divorce project, should consider these very carefully and determine if their case may fall into some later legal traps which could cost thousands of dollars and severe hardships." (Continued on p. 9)

No clues about Mars life

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — The government's chief planetary biologist Saturday said that the existence of life on Mars has not been ruled out despite a key Viking instrument's failure to find the substance of life on the planet on Earth — in Martian soil.

"The lack of organics, complex carbon compounds is discouraging," Dr. Richard Young, Chief of Planetary Biology at National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington, said.

"But I wouldn't put it any more than that. It certainly doesn't rule out the possibility of biology."

The gas chromatograph mass spectrometer failed to find any carbon-based compounds in the 10th m of soil it tested. On Earth, carbon compounds are the key to all life forms.

The test looks for the organic matter of life.

net life forms as do the biology instruments." "What it tells me," Dr. Young said in an interview here, "is we do have to look a little bit discouraged about the possibilities for life. But we still have a long way to go before we can say we have another, or in quite a different mode of looking for organics."

The location of Viking 1 on a dry plain may have something to do with the results, Young said; Viking 2 is scheduled to land in a more northerly latitude early in September where scientists say there is five times as much water.

"One can postulate the organics have some peculiar distribution between the atmosphere and the soil," Young said.

"We have to recognize the Martian surface is terribly different from anything on Earth," Young said.

No help in here

SIGN in the district court clerks' office in Twin Falls was posted because of the many persons seeking advice and assistance in their efforts to obtain their own divorces without aid of an attorney. The procedure is difficult, takes a long time but less costly, say those who have done it.

South African blacks arrested

—JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — South African security police have arrested between 20 and 50 black leaders in an effort to halt racial rioting which has killed 41 persons in the past 10 days.

The government would not disclose the number of persons arrested under security law provisions, but the Johannesburg newspaper Beld put the figure at 50. Other newspapers reported 20 arrests.

"A number of people have been arrested," Gen. Mike Geldenhuys, chief of South African security police, said. He would not give details.

Most of the arrests were made Friday in Johannesburg—mid—in the Cape—Provincer following nearly two months of violent demonstrations throughout the nation.

The 41 persons killed in black townships around Cape Town and Johannesburg in the past 10 days brought to 217 the number of deaths since the worst racial strife in the Republic's history began nearly two months ago. During bloody rioting in June, 174 blacks and two whites died in a week.

Police reported black townships around the country mostly calm Saturday.

Police minister Jimmy Kruger has blamed the unrest on a "black power" ideology sweeping the country and said it was backed by banned militant organizations.

Dr. Manus Mafhezezi, president of the Black Parents Association of Soweto, said in an interview with the Johannesburg daily, "The Star," "Black consciousness... is an honest attempt by black people to create something positive out of a negative situation. They are victims of isolation under the policy of separate development."

"Blacks are saying that it's no use just folding their arms and hoping for the day when this will be done away with. They are trying to do something even though they are separated."

In Cape Town, three black churchmen have issued a peace plan they believe could restore lasting calm to black townships.

The plan includes giving blacks the right to run their own suburbs, establishing recreational facilities in the areas, equal pay for equal work and changes in the governments, education system for blacks.

One of the churchmen, the Rev. David Gumu, said: "All we want is to be recognized as people permanently living here and treated as such."

What would Levi say?

MOSCOW (UPI) — Blue jeans are so popular in the Soviet Union that they are being claimed as a Russian invention, a government magazine said Saturday.

The weekly Nedelya, a supplement of the government newspaper Izvestia, proclaimed blue jeans "the clothing of the age" but said the Soviet version is only a parody of the real thing.

In an article demanding more and better Soviet-made jeans, the magazine said jokingly:

"Fighters for our priority are proving now that jeans were born in Russia, at least if not jeans themselves the cloth out of which they are made which used to be called devil's skin in Russia."

In a piece of praise to jeans, the magazine said: "If our mental ability matched that of Oscar Wilde we would call jeans the clothing of the age and cite the fact that jeans match strikingly with the dynamism and the businesslike abilities of a modern human being."

Tanks a profitable Chrysler venture

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. can expect to reap a profit of almost 114,000 per cent on production of the M90A1 tank, Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., said Saturday.

Aspin, a member of the House Armed Services Committee, said Chrysler is able to make the huge profit because it is building the tank at an Army-owned plant which is supplying almost all the tooling.

A Chrysler spokesman said Aspin's charges indicate "a complete lack of understanding of the economics of defense contracting in general and the tank contract in particular. He said the company's real profit is about a nickel on each dollar of sales."

Manson girl freed

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Leslie Van Houton, convicted with Charles Manson of the grisly Tate LaBianca murders and sentenced to life imprisonment in 1971, will get a new trial because she did not "have proper counsel," the California appeals court ruled Friday.

Appeals by defendants Manson, Susan Atkins and Patricia Krenwinkel, all convicted of murder, were denied.

By a 2-1 vote, the court ordered the new trial because Miss Van Houton, now 26, was denied "effective representation" when her attorney, Ronald Hughes, disappeared prior to closing arguments in the 1971 trial.

However, the state Attorney General's office said it will file a petition for a rehearing of the reversal within two weeks.

Hughes drowned during a weekend outing in a remote mountain area. His body was found some time after the trial in the Sespe Creek area of Ventura County, north of Los Angeles.

A motion for mistrial was submitted after Hughes disappeared, but Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older denied it, and Maxwell Keith was appointed to replace him.

"It was a denial of due process to have me appointed after his (Hughes') disappearance over her objection and then go on with the case," Keith, who filed the successful appeal, said Friday.

"It was just there to argue the case without seeing any of the witnesses. I imagine that's one of the grounds of reversal. Leslie should have been granted a new trial right then and there."

The Appeals Court said Older's decision was a "reversal error" and ordered a new trial.

The four defendants were sentenced to death in January, 1971, but were given life prison terms when the state Supreme Court declared the death penalty unconstitutional.

Manson was convicted of ordering the slaying of actress Sharon Tate, pregnant wife of Polish movie director Roman Polanski, and three others in the couple's secluded estate in exclusive Benedict Canyon on Aug. 9, 1969. Polanski was in Europe at the time.

What Ford must do to win in 1976

Although the final balloting will be close, President Ford must be considered a slim favorite to win the Republican nomination for President.

Yet the race between Ford and Ronald Reagan definitely will go down to the wire, suggesting Republicans may actually come out of the 1976 national convention with a candidate who doesn't sincerely have the support of the already small band of voters who call themselves Republicans.

Idaho probably is one of the two or three most conservative states in the nation, but voters here also cross party lines to vote for particular candidates like Democrats Frank Church and Cecil Andrus.

Idaho probably cannot be used as a national indicator of voter preferences simply because we are too small and too rural for a national average.

Insomnia, anxiety may go together

©Newhouse News Service

WASHINGTON—Insomnia, particularly in the aged, can be more a result of misperceptions than of a neurophysiologist. The amount of sleep a person needs as a biological necessity varies from individual to individual and decreases sharply among the elderly. University of California psychiatrist Sidney Cohen said in an article in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

deriving cause for sleeplessness, or whether the patient simply doesn't need that much sleep, he said. The elderly often do not know that they have lower sleep requirements, and doctors should explain this before prescribing sleeping pills, Cohen said. Aging also brings with it a reduction of deep, dreamless, sleep stages, which may leave the elderly feeling they have missed real sleep.

The aged usually need only 4 1/2 to 6 1/2 hours of sleep a night, in contrast to the eight hours needed by young adults and the 10 required by infants, Cohen said. "The need for sleep is a biological requirement, but total wakefulness over a two- or three-day period has no known harmful effects," he said. "Attention span, reaction time and complex decision-making may be somewhat impaired, but the major debilitating factor is related to the worry about not having sleep." Physicians are often too quick to prescribe barbiturates or sedative hypnotics to those complaining of insomnia, rather than trying to determine if there is an un-

Students at military academies rank highest in 'brightness'

Students at American military academies rank average to nearly genius — on a brightness scale.

- As a group, the 4,000 are not the most outstanding in the country from a scholastic aptitude point of view.
- Brightness or scholastic aptitude in this instance is measured by scores on the college entrance math and verbal tests.
- Top score in either aptitude test is 800. Students attending Harvard, Yale and Princeton — the most selective schools — score from 900 to 800, with most in the 650 to 800 bracket.
- The scholastic aptitude test — SAT — scores, plus high school grades and leadership qualifications, determine each year who makes it to the National Merit Scholar final list.
- Getting on that list ranks one among the brightest and most promising students. There are many more National Merit scholars at Harvard, Yale and Princeton than at the military academies.
- The College Guide, published by the College Entrance Examination Board, lists median and average SATs for many of the nation's nearly 3,000 colleges.
- Some schools prefer not to list the average or median scores of their freshman class entering in September two years ago, the statistics which such data is available. Most do, however.
- Best SATs in the 500 to 400 region.
- The U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., does not list SAT scores, but there's little chance its freshman class scores on the SAT differ much from those of the other service academies.
- For the other academies, class entering in September of 1974:

- The U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo. — Average verbal and math — 574 and 661, respectively.
- The U.S. Coast Guard Academy in New London, Conn. Middle 50 per cent of students scored 492 in 596, verbal; 545 to 677, math.
- The U.S. Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N.Y. — Middle 50 per cent scored from 500 to 550 on the verbal and from 550 to 600 on the math.
- U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y. — Middle 50 per cent scored from 505 to 625 in the verbal and from 585 to 695 in the math.
- More than test scores and high school grades figure in admission to the service academies — Leadership — qualities, character, plus physical aptitude are other determinants.
- The students also must be nearly perfect physically.
- At West Point that means no acne or a highly disfiguring nature.
- Eighty-nine West Point freshman males and 15 of the women were valedictorians of their graduating class. Fifty-two men and eight women were class salutatorians.
- At the Merchant Marine Academy the education tends to be marine, engineering and nautical science. The students get shipboard training — hands on experience — aboard American flag merchant vessels.
- Annapolis offers a smorgasbord, from zero space engineering to naval architecture. Management and foreign languages are among non-science offerings.
- Instead of listing a range of SAT scores, in The College Guide, the Academy told of its basis for selection.
- "We select students on the basis of their whole person," approach written before women were admitted. The "whole person" approach gives various weights to test scores, grades, activities, sports, character.

It's the Arab way

Chicago Daily News

LOS ANGELES — Sexy Valerie Perrine, actress and Playboy nude, insists she's "very feminine" "though her milligram boyfriend Jamal Kanaflani, a Lebanese industrialist, "I'm sure Women's Lib would be all against it," she told the London Express, "but I love the way he treats me. I consider myself a very liberated lady. I support myself. I'm 32. I'm a free woman. Not the kind who has to burn her bra or wear Levi's to prove it — really free. But when he's around I hardly open my mouth unless spoken to. He makes me feel totally, absolutely female. And if I ever dare utter a four-letter word — which I used to a lot — I get pinched under the table. It's the Arab way. And I like it."

Still aboard

SEN.—RICHARD SCHWEIKER arrived in Kansas City Saturday for the Republican National Convention. Schweiker and his family were greeted at the Kansas City International airport by followers of Gov. Ronald Reagan who chose Schweiker as his running mate. (UPI)

Schweiker scoffs at 'dump' move

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Ronald Reagan's vice presidential candidate, Richard Schweiker, claimed new support from home-state Pennsylvania Saturday and said he was confident Reagan would not dump him.

Schweiker, the liberal senator whose choice stunned Reagan conservatives, arrived at the convention city and said 12 more Pennsylvania delegates would back the Reagan-Schweiker ticket. He said the names would be announced over the weekend or on Monday.

Despite the dismay of hardcore conservatives, Schweiker said he was certain Reagan would not ask him to step aside. Reagan aides also have denied a report Schweiker would be ditched.

"When I first met with Governor Reagan he made it abundantly clear that he was picking a team to go all the way to November," Schweiker said. "I trust Ronald Reagan."

Reagan and President Ford, both claiming enough votes for a first-ballot nomination, planned to arrive Sunday to take personal command of their forces at the 31st National Convention opening Monday.

The latest UPI tabulation showed Ford with 1,123 first-ballot votes—seven short of the 1,130 needed for nomination—Reagan had 1,036, and 100 were listed as uncommitted.

Schweiker's announcement that he was making inroads into the Pennsylvania delegation—a key reason he was chosen—came as Reagan launched a new effort to President Ford's support by forcing him to name his potential running mate.

They took the issue before the Convention Rules Committee Saturday.

Reagan's strategists were confident Ford's refusal to announce his choice before the nomination would cost him a heavy share of the uncommitted votes.

"We think most of them will not vote for Ford blind," a top aide said.

Federal reserve banks charged with having big business bias

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The 12 regional Federal Reserve banks that regulate member banks across the nation are dominated by banking and big business interests, a report by the staff of the House Banking Committee said Saturday.

"The nation would be better served by making the Federal Reserve System truly independent of big business and banking, freed of its built-in conflicts of interest," said Committee Chairman Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis.

Each of the district banks has nine directors to represent three different groups with an interest in the banking system—the banks themselves, big business and the public.

Class A directors are elected by the member banks in the region and, by law, are supposed to represent banks of various sizes. The report said 30 of the 36 such directors now in office have held leadership positions in state and national bankers' associations. Of five districts, it said, the state bankers' associations select them.

Class B directors, also elected by member banks, are supposed to represent borrowers from the world of commerce and agriculture. In practice they are picked from big business, the report said, leaving small businessmen and family-size farmers unrepresented.

Class C directors are named by the Federal Reserve Board of Governors in Washington and are supposed to represent the public. The report said 29 of the present 36 directors in this class are executives or directors of corporations, mostly big ones, and nine are former directors of individual banks.

Among all 109 directors in the system, the report said, only two are members of minority groups. None come from organized labor or consumer groups. It said, and all 109 are men.

No women, according to the report, have held any of the 1,042 directorships that have been available since the system was set up in 1913.

Nude-In draws 125 swimmers

NORTH TRURO, Mass. (UPI)—With about 1,000 persons watching, some 125 protesters stripped to the buff Saturday to celebrate the second annual "Nude-In" at the Cape Cod National Seashore.

Despite stern warnings from park officials that anyone defying the anti-nude park ordinance would be slapped with $25 fines, the demonstration against the ordinance went without a hitch—or a stitch.

Dozens of park rangers, some on horseback, were stationed along the sand dunes of Brush Hollow Beach. But none left their posts to approach the strippers.

"It was up to the rangers to act in their own good judgment," said park superintendent Lawrence Hadley, "and in the judgement of the rangers it was not a prudent thing to try to effect citations on that beach today."

Motorist left dangling

MARKED TREE, Ark. (UPI)—Two hitchhikers tied up John Henry Young and strung him up to a road sign where he dangled for 30 minutes while cars whizzed by on a busy highway. Nobody stopped to cut him down.

"Some people we talked to came by twice and never stopped," said State Trooper John M. Williams.

One motorist did tell Tyrone City Marshal Chester Ford about Young. The marshal cut him down.

Young, 39, of Tyrone was in satisfactory condition Saturday at a Jonesboro hospital, but he had a tough time talking. He had to write answers to police questions about the incident.

Washington Post adds more on Wayne Hays

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Wayne Hays viewed the Foreign Buildings Office at the State Department as a "private duchy" producing jobs, lucrative contracts and free travel for his friends, the Washington Post said Saturday.

An investigative report by Post writers Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein said Hays had a "stranglehold on the department's housekeeping functions abroad through his chairmanship of the House International Operations subcommittee which oversees the Foreign Buildings Office." It said the Foreign Buildings Office was regarded as the Ohio Democrat's "private duchy, a preserve of federal privilege."

Hays also had control of the State Department—operating budget and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, ordinarily a zealous protector of State Department prerogatives against congressional encroachment, was loath to challenge Hays' authority, the Post report said.

It said, Ralston once managed a department store in Hays' hometown, Fushing, Ohio, and Hays once rented an office in the store. Hays and Ralston frequently traveled abroad to "inspect" U.S. embassies, the Post said. It said they went 22 times in London, described as Hays' favorite world capital. Ralston also accompanied Hays on a trip to the Dominican Republic, where the congressman obtained a divorce, the Post said. Hays recently married the former Pat "Pook" who had worked with him as a secretary as did her sister Paula.

Vendors do well at GOP convention

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Free enterprise, as one would expect, is alive and well at the Republican convention. In the Muehlebach Hotel, concessionaires are selling anything that can be embossed with, shaped like or made to resemble an elephant.

For them, it is a convention of "concessionaires." Many haven't seen each other since Miami Beach in 1972. Others travel the circuit, working state Republican conventions and federation meetings.

On Friday, setting up booths, they all greeted one another and looked with envy at the new souvenirs in each other's line.

The new item of the "Muirlin"

Bill Co." — that name comes from Merle and Bill Boller of Milford, Ohio — is a 53¢ hand-made, pocketbasket — a combination handbasket, pocketbook, Merle makes them.

Merle and Bill's first convention was Miami Beach in 1972. They had only one item that year — elephant-shaped key chains that they made of wood. Says Bill: "We hauled 10,000 elephants to Miami Beach and hauled 9,000 elephants back."

Mrs. Constance Watnwright of Indianapolis is selling stuffed pink elephant cushions. She made about 200 by hand. "And it took most of the month of July to do it," she says.

Flood victims urged to mull reconstruction

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church said Friday Teton Dam flood victims should be allowed to decide whether the dam should be rebuilt.

"I believe it ought not be rebuilt without a referendum of the people who inhabit the flood plain," Church said.

"They've been so severely hurt by this failure that they ought to have the right to veto reconstruction of the dam, even if it proves technically feasible to rebuild it," he said.

Church was critical of the closed-door inquiry into the dam's June 5 collapse. "The investigation should have been conducted in the open," he said.

The senator, in Idaho to conduct public meetings with flood victims, supported the dam project when it was approved in 1964. He said his support of the bill must be viewed in the context of those times.

Church said there were no environmental objections to the authorization bill when it was approved. "Those objections came later," he said.

Radioactive waste headed for Idaho

DENVER (UPI)— nuclear weapons plant spokesman says workmen protected by a special shield have collected 4,500 pounds of soil contaminated by plutonium for shipment to a federal waste center in Idaho for disposal.

"We've got a five-man decontamination crew," said Dave Alter of the Rocky Flats plant. "They've scraped an average three inches of topsoil from a 3,500-square-foot area."

Alter said Friday the men worked in a shed equipped with an air filtration system to prevent exposure to the plutonium. He said the crates of the labeled soil will be shipped to Idaho Falls, Idaho, Aug. 23 by rail.

Alter said winter weather would delay removal of the total 600,000 pounds of contaminated soil until next summer.

The plutonium leaked into the dirt from corroded storage drums at the plant in 1968. A contractor was hired to pave the area with asphalt but heavy machinery kicked up dust spreading the radioactivity, Alter said.

"The contractor who put the asphalt down apparently did it in a hurried form," Alter said. "In the process of working machinery over the contaminated area he stirred up sufficient dust so it drifted out toward the lip of the area."

Alter also said minor procedural and equipment changes were required on some of the 43 plant operations shut down in June for safety analyses. He said two of the operations were resumed but no longer handled radioactive mater.

He said the shutdowns were prompted by the minor skin contamination of 10 Rocky Flats workers May 20 and said "since then employees have worked more than 1 million accident-free work hours. We're getting better gradually."

Nuclear plant construction stopped in US

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The Nuclear Regulatory Commission says it will not issue new licenses to build or fully operate nuclear power plants until it completes a study of certain possible environmental risks.

The study, dealing with possible hazards in reprocessing spent nuclear fuel and handling radioactive wastes, is expected to be finished about Sept. 30.

"This will not bring a halt to nuclear power," said an NRC spokesman. "It will cause a delay of several months."

The commission's announcement Friday was in response to a July 21 decision of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, which said the NRC failed to adequately consider these questions when it issued licenses to two plants in Vermont and Michigan.

Commission officials said applications to operate plants at Southport, N.C., and Oak Harbor, Ohio, could be affected by the delay along with construction applications at St. Francisville, La.; Richland and Satsop, Wash.; Burlington, Kan., and Fort Pierce, Fla.

More applications could be delayed if the environmental study takes longer.

The commission said it would turn over to a licensing board the question whether the licenses for those two plants should be modified or suspended. They are the Vermont Yankee Nuclear Power Corp. plant at Vernon, Vt., in operation since 1972, and the Consumer Power Co. station under construction at Midland, Mich.

Both will continue in their present status until the license board rules.

In the Midland case, the board also will decide a second issue which the court said should be taken into consideration—whether energy conservation programs might be an alternative to building a nuclear power plant.

The NRC said some very limited licenses are not included in the delay.

Two licenses were issued Friday for loading nuclear fuel and testing not to exceed one percent of capacity. They were for the Calvert Cliffs No. 2 plant at Lusby, Md., and Salem Unit No. 1 at Salem, N.J.

The commission will begin a public hearing in the fall to develop new rules on how it will consider fuel reprocessing and nuclear waste risks when it issues licenses in future.

Fifty-nine nuclear power plants already have been licensed for full operation. When the study is finished the commission will decide whether any of these should be reviewed.

Do-it-yourself divorces popular

Fuller and Don Ronayne, another Twin Falls attorney who handles many divorces, both warn of the importance of properly negotiated legal steps covering child custody, real estate, other property and child support.

As Fuller explains, omission of a legal move giving concrete control of property to one partner could fade into the background at divorce time but reappear later if the property were sold, causing problems.

An improperly prepared or filed complaint, property or custody agreement or decree could even result in a decree being invalid and a later marriage for either of the couple being illegal, Fuller explained.

Ronayne understands why an individual would undertake the do-it-yourself divorce. But he says anyone planning a divorce should be aware of what could develop if there were an omission in proceedings.

Some states have do-it-yourself divorce kits available for purchase complete with legal information and court proceedings.

Court clerks in some states also give out legal information to help individuals.

Not so in Idaho. In Twin Falls the district court clerk's office contains a sign explaining personnel cannot give out legal advice because staff members are not licensed for this service.

"We have been swamped with questions from people who want to get their own divorces but expect to come into our office and be told the steps that should be taken. We just can't do that without getting into trouble. We need attorneys," said Cleo Robinson, a Twin Falls court clerk.

She said many people are unhappy with the clerk's office when told a document can't be filed because it is not suitable and not in accordance with legal requirements.

"If we took these documents for filing we would be adding to their problems. Papers simply can't be filed unless correct and proper," she said.

A young woman who recently obtained her divorce after several months of effort said it was her second and, therefore, she had some prior experience and documents to follow.

"I couldn't afford the $350 so I had to do my own legal work. It took lots and lots of research. Several times I was told by the judge to go back and do what I had already done again and return. I would definitely say it is worth the effort," the young lady said.

She agreed it would never be possible if her husband had contested the divorce or had not agreed to a division of property.

A witness for the young woman sat through the divorce granting and said she agreed to be a character witness so she could study the proceedings.

With the assistance of her friend, she too, is getting her own divorce. The young woman said they had obtained some help from legal aid services and were advised through Community Action Agency where to seek help.

Mrs. Robinson said many people come to the clerk's office and ask for a divorce file by name, using the name of someone they know who has obtained a divorce, then copy the procedure from the file. There are many things which may transpire in the preparation that do not show in the file and many other things the individual may not understand, she said.

Personnel at Idaho Legal Aid in Twin Falls have their own views on do-it-yourself divorces.

Ben McKelway, para-legal advisor at the agency, says these divorces do work and it is possible to obtain your own.

"The do-it-yourself approach may well be the solution to the divorce problem," he said.

McKelway said the Idaho Legal Aid discontinued divorce cases except in emergencies, because: "we found we were spending 100 per cent of our time on divorces and had a waiting list."

The Post said Hays was instrumental in having a protege, Orlan C. Ralston, appointed as the Department's Deputy Assistant Secretary for Foreign Buildings, the Post

Hays and Ralston frequently traveled abroad to "inspect" U.S. embassies, the Post said. It said they went 28 times to London, described as Hays' favorite world capital.

Radioactive waste headed for Idaho

DENVER (UPI) — nuclear weapons plant spokesman says workmen protected by a special shed have collected 45,000 pounds of soil contaminated by plutonium for shipment to federal waste center in Idaho for disposal.

"We've got a five-man decontamination crew," said Dave Alter of the Rocky Flats plant. "They've scraped an average three inches of topsoil from a 4,500-square-foot area."

Alter said Friday the men worked in a shed equipped with an air filtration system to prevent exposure to the plutonium. He said the 10 crates of the tainted soil would be shipped to Idaho Falls, Idaho, Aug. 23, by rail.

Alter said winter weather would delay removal of the total 600,000 pounds of contaminated soil until next summer.

The plutonium leaked into the dirt from corroded storage drums at the plant in 1968. A contractor was hired to pave the area with asphalt but heavy machinery kicked up dust spreading the radioactivity, Alter said.

"The contractor who put the asphalt down sprayed it in a hurried form," Alter said.

"In the process of working machinery over the contaminated area he stirred up sufficient dust so it drifted out toward the lip of the asphalt."

Alter also said minor procedural and equipment changes were required on some of the 43 plant operations shut down in June for safety analyses. He said two of the operations were resumed but no longer handled radioactive mater.

He said the shutdowns were prompted by the minor skin contamination of 10 Rocky Flats workers May 20 and said "since then employees have worked more than 1 million accident-free work hours. We're getting better gradually."

Nuclear plant construction stopped in US

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nuclear Regulatory Commission says it will not issue new licenses to build or fully operate nuclear power plants until it completes a study of certain possible environmental risks.

The study, dealing with possible hazards in reprocessing spent nuclear fuel and handling radioactive wastes, is expected to be finished about Sept. 30.

"This will not bring a halt to nuclear power," said an NRC spokesman. "It will cause a delay of several months."

The commission's announcement Friday was in response to a July 21 decision of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, which said the NRC failed to adequately consider these questions when it issued licenses to two plants in Vermont and Michigan.

Commission officials said applications to operate plants at Southport, N.C., and Oak Harbor, Ohio, could be affected by the delay along with construction applications at St. Francisville, La.; Richland and Satsop, Wash.; Burlington, Kan.; and Fort Pierce, Fla.

More applications could be delayed if the environmental study takes longer.

The commission said it would turn over to a licensing board the question whether the licenses for those two plants should be modified or suspended. They are the Vermont Yankee Nuclear Power Corp. plant at Vernon, Vt., in operation since 1972, and the Consumer Power Co. station under construction at Midland, Mich.

Both will continue in their present status until the license board rules.

In the meantime, the board also will decide a second issue which the court said should be taken into consideration — whether energy conservation programs might be an alternative to building a nuclear power plant.

The NRC said some very limited licenses are not included in the delay.

Two licenses were issued Friday for loading nuclear fuel and being not to exceed one percent of capacity. They were for the Calvert Cliffs No. 2 plant at Lansby, Md., and Salem Unit No. 1 at Salem, N.J.

The commission will begin a public hearing in the fall to develop new rules on how it will consider fuel reprocessing and nuclear waste risks when it issues licenses in future.

Fifty-nine nuclear power plants already have been licensed for full operation. When the study is finished the commission will decide whether any of these should be reviewed.

Do-it-yourself divorcees popular

Fuller and Don Ronayne, another Twin Falls attorney who handles many divorces, both warn of the importance of properly negotiated legal steps covering child custody, real estate, other property and child support.

As Fuller explains, omission of a legal move giving concrete control of property to one partner could fade into the background at divorce time but reappear later if the property were sold, causing problems.

An improperly prepared or filed complaint, property or custody agreement or decree, could even result in a decree being invalid and a later marriage for either of the couple being illegal, Fuller explained.

Ronayne understands why an individual would undertake the do-it-yourself divorce. But he says anyone planning a divorce should be aware of what could develop if there were an omission in proceedings.

Some states have do-it-yourself divorce kits available for purchase complete with legal information and court proceedings.

Court clerks in some states also give out legal information to help individuals.

Not so in Idaho. In Twin Falls the district court clerk's office contains a sign explaining personnel cannot give out legal advice because staff members are not licensed for this service.

"We have been swamped with questions from people who want to get their own divorces but expect to come into our office and be told the steps that should be taken. We just can't do that without getting into trouble. We aren't attorneys," said Cleo Robinson, a Twin Falls court clerk.

She said many people do unhappy with the clerk's office when told a document can't be filed because it is not suitable and not in accordance with legal requirements.

"If we took these documents for filing we would be adding to their problems. Papers simply can't be filed unless correct and proper," she said.

A young woman who recently obtained her divorce after several months of effort said it was her second and, therefore, she had some prior experience and documents to follow.

"I couldn't afford the $350 so I had to do my own legal work. It took lots and lots of research. Several times I was told by the judge to go back and do what I had already done again and return. I would definitely say it is worth the effort," the young lady said.

She agreed it would never be possible if her husband had contested the divorce or had not agreed to a division of property.

A witness for the young woman sat through the divorce granting and said she agreed to be a character witness so she could study the proceedings.

With the assistance of her friend, she, too, is getting her own divorce. The young woman said they had obtained some help from legal aid services and were advised through Community Action Agency where to seek help.

Mrs. Robinson said many people come to the county's office and ask for a divorce file by name, using the name of someone they know who has obtained a divorce, then copy the procedure from the file.

There are many things which may transpire in the procedure that do not show in the file and many other things the individual may not understand, she said.

Personnel at Idaho Legal Aid in Twin Falls have their own views on do-it-yourself divorces.

Ben McKelway, para-legal adviser at the agency, says these divorces do work and it is possible to obtain your own.

"The do-it-yourself approach may well be the solution to the divorce problem," he said.

McKelway said the Idaho Legal Aid discontinued divorce cases except in emergencies because, "we found we were spending 100 per cent of our time on divorces and had a waiting list."

War dead WITH gaping holes in the wall behind them, two of several hundred bodies lie amid the rubble of the Palestinian Tal Zaatar refugee camp in Beirut Saturday. (UPI)

Mass executions, killing end battle for Tal Zaatar

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Witnesses Saturday reported mass executions and other atrocities in the fall of the Tal Zaatar Palestinian refugee camp to Christian soldiers. Heavy fighting erupted at dusk in what Lebanese predicted would be new Christian onslaughts.

Artillery duels broke out across battlelines in Beirut and heavy fighting was also reported in the countryside, the mountains east of Beirut and in northern Lebanon.

The fighting came at the end of a day of quiet on most fronts but Lebanese predicted the Christians would follow their capture of Tal Zaatar with new attacks to capture more territory from the Palestinian and Muslim forces.

International Red Cross mission chief Jean Hoeltger, whose team has been searching the ruins of the Tal Zaatar camp for wounded victims, refused to confirm any specific massacre reports, saying "the page has been turned on Tal Zaatar." But he spoke bitterly of "regrettable incidents."

Western witnesses reported they had seen "dozens" of Palestinian men taken prisoner by Christian militiamen being lined up and machine-gunned to death at Dikwaneh, a suburb near the camp.

Some of the refugees who made it safely to Muslim-held west Beirut described mass executions of whole families and other atrocities. Their reports could not be confirmed by other sources.

Hoeltger said the Red Cross knew nothing of the fate of more than 100 men taken by the Christians at the end of the 56-day siege of Tal Zaatar.

"We are asking to visit the prisoners and ensure their repatriation," he said. "We have been told by Christian leaders that there are about 100 prisoners, but there were surely many more."

Among those who escaped death at the camp was Mohammed Salim Kanaan, a frail, white-bearded Lebanese Muslim who said he was 111 years old. Kanaan, who left the camp Friday huddled in the back of his son-in-law's van, said he and his wife hid in their basement during the final Christian attack.

Queen stops watering gardens

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth has decided to let all her royal gardens die.

Throughout the English countryside, autumn colors already are appearing on trees in what one forestry expert called "a preview of Armageddon." The playing fields of Kingston are deserted and on the south coast an Englishman donned Mohawk Indian feathers and did a rain dance.

Britain's searing drought, the worst since records began in 1727, seared onward Saturday with no real break in sight. The country has had no rain worthy of the name in 13 months.

The government this week authorized stand-by plans to ban a whole catalogue of water uses — watering parks, public or private gardens, filling swimming pools, mechanical car washers, public fountains.

Queen Elizabeth didn't want to water the 100,000 acres of royal parks, including the cricket ground and bowling greens at Windsor Castle. Tensin whiteplay there cancelled scheduled matches.

John Morley, 39, not only did a feathered rain dance in Bournemouth reservoir, pounding deep footprints in its dry bed. He called for a "national rain dance day" with the BBC playing rain dance tapes he made in five years spent with American Indians.

A billion people in Wales were told they were not saving enough water, despite overnight cuts in supplies to their homes. The local water authority said it may cut water supplies to only 12 hours every other day, or water on weekends only, or for three hours each morning.

The drought was making thousands of miles of roads dangerous, highway authorities said. Some road surfaces were said to be "like glass." On others, heavy traffic wore deep grooves into softened asphalt. On still others, wide cracks appeared because of drying in the subsoil.

But perhaps the costliest damage was to the British countryside.

"Thousands upon thousands of trees are doomed," one forestry expert said.

London parks manager James Kennedy visited a tree nursery and came away in tears.

"I was crying when I left," he said. "So many trees are dying, running into thousands. Next year will come as a shock when people realize the extent of the damage. They will see gaping gaps and dead trees and realize what has been lost."

Minico septic tank rules proposed

RUPERT—The long controversy over regulation of agricultural area residences in Minidoka County received new input Thursday night when the Minidoka County Zoning Commission received health department proposals for placement of subsurface sewer systems.

The rules, proposed by the South Central District Health Department, establish minimum land parcel standards for any land not served by a public sewerage system.

Minimum size of the lot would depend upon the percolation ability of the soil.

Density of residential dwellings in agricultural zoning has been the major point of controversy in development of the Minidoka county land use plan, which goes to public hearing at 8 p.m. next Thursday before the county commissioners in the judicial building here.

Health department criteria have become the primary standard for lot size and location under the proposed plan sent to commissioners by the Minidoka County Planning Commission.

The agricultural section now contains a provision that those seeking building permits for housing "shall be made aware of, and shall be required to adhere to health, highway and utility department's regulations before a permit will be issued."

It also states, in addition to the Uniform Building Code, "adequate area for domestic wells and drainfields need be the only determining factors in deciding individual minimum lot sizes in housing and mobile home developments other than subdivisions."

The provision was adopted into the plan draft on April 16 to replace an earlier proposal stating "Health Department regulations shall be the only restricting factor in determining lot size in farmstead and residential housing development other than subdivisions."

The lot size provision had been the subject of controversy within the planning commission.

The original plan draft junked by a revamped commission last winter in complete revision of the plan, called for a 40-acre minimum for new residential construction in agricultural zoning.

The proposed new health department regulations state that parcel size for any development must be "sufficient to permit the use of a sewage absorption system with adequate area for an alternate system and the size shall be based upon the results of soil percolation test."

Where the percolation rate is one inch in less than one minute, the area "may not be suitable and special considerations will need to be determined by the district."

If the rate is one inch in more than 60 minutes, the area is not suitable for subsurface sewer systems and other disposal methods will be necessary.

The necessary lot size between rates of one minute and an hour to percolate one inch is listed under two situations: where a private water supply is used and where water comes from a public supply system.

required and a percolation rate of 45-60 minutes requires an area of 40,000 square feet. Where a public water system is involved, the requirements are 12,000 square feet at 1-3 minutes, 14,000 square feet at 3-30 minutes, 16,000 square feet at 30-45 minutes and 30,000 square feet at 45 minutes to an hour. The proposals would restrict household density to 10 persons per acre in areas where effective filtering soil depth is less than six feet. That provision would cover urban areas of Minidoka County.

Gum development recalls great baseball spitter era

Chicago Daily News

CHICAGO—A Wisconsin pharmacist has developed a new chewing-gum that he says stimulates the flow of saliva. He says the gum will be useful for athletes in avoiding dryness of the mouth.

The developer, Curt Muller of Prairie Du Sac, sent me a couple of sticks of the gum, which he calls Quench, and I tried it. He's right. After only a few chews I slobbered all over my desk and shoes.

I can recommend the gum to anyone who wishes to salivate more, and especially to baseball players.

It has become rare to see a baseball player who can really spit well. In the past, this talent was highly developed as hitting, throwing, scratching and bench-sloping.

Almost every player used to have a large plug of tobacco in his cheek, which stimulated the flow of the juices, and made high-velocity spitting possible.

In Chicago we were blessed with several of the all-time great spitters. The White Sox and Nellie Fox, who was checked as ardently when he spit as when he hit. And in Cubs Park there was Hank Sauer. In truth, Sauer was not an accurate spitter. He was more of a massive drooler. But he had a great following. They liked getting their feet wet, I guess.

Part of the benefit of spitting was physical. If you didn't spit, with all that tobacco in your jaw, you might drown. But it also had psychological benefits. When a batter stepped to the plate, he would stare balefully at the pitcher for a long moment, then deliberately spit a long, brown stream of tobacco juice in the pitcher's direction.

The pitcher would then stare at the batter and respond with a menacing stream of his own. The battle was then officially joined. (This ritual might very well have had its roots in some primeval instinct of man, but it is probably too embarrassing to explore here.)

Another less visible benefit was that the large wads of tobacco, and the demands all that spitting placed upon the mouth, made talking difficult. Thus, ballplayers were usually silent. And in their silence, they took on heroic stature because the fans did not realize how dumb they were.

In contrast, today's athletes don't chew or spit, so they are free to talk, and they soon became renowned for their stupidity. Had Mark Spitz chewed tobacco he might yet have played Tarzan.

"Possibly the finest spitter" in baseball history, according to Bill Vecek, White Sox president and an expert, was a little-known player named Willis Patrick. He spent most of his career in the minor leagues, however, where he left great brown spots that will never be erased.

"Willis could spit with a combination of power and accuracy that was unequalled," Vecek said.

"Everywhere he went, he left a large brown pool behind. He must have had an extraordinarily large cheek because he carried so big a wad."

But his skill at chewing and spitting almost led to tragedy. One day he collided with a catcher and swallowed his entire chew. It must have weighed two pounds. He retched at home plate, and the way he lay there, we thought for sure he had died. But when he came to, as sick as he was, he popped another plug right back into his mouth, wrapping paper and all. What a competitor!

Vecek regrets the decline of spitting. But he suggests that in today's baseball world, with color TV, it might present problems.

"Those players, when they all got going, caused a fine brown mist all over the place. If this got on the camera lens, everybody's TV picture might be a sort of beige."

One of the lesser-known spitters was Slats Grobink, who began chewing tobacco when he was only 12. In a few years, it had helped make him one of the city's great softball pitchers.

In softball, unlike baseball, spitting on the ball was legal, and Slats would dough the ball thoroughly in tobacco juice before delivering it.

"It had a devastating effect" because when the batter hit the ball, it splattered all over him, including his eyes.

"This caused the batter momentary blindness, and when Slats really had his juices flowing, hitter after hitter would run screaming in panic from the playing field. It was really exciting. In his greatest game, Slats pitched a no-hitter and the entire opposing team had to be led away by their hands."

Twin indoor theaters planned near Rupert

RUPERT—Twin indoor theaters are planned on the same property where the drive-in Alfresco Theater stands.

Bowen Theatre Co., which operates the drive-in theater, plan a cinderblock and brick veneer building with two theaters.

Minidoka County Zoning Administrator William McClung showed plans of the building to the county zoning commission Thursday night.

He said the exits far exceed the requirements for public safety.

The county approved rezoning nearly 40 acres on the north side of Alfresco Road for that purpose last spring, changing the designation from agricultural to general commercial.

The indoor theater will be immediately west of the drive-in screen tower. It will seat 600 and have parking for 200-300 cars.

A septic system has been installed, and the county health department has approved the soil as satisfactory for the septic installation.

Burley officials also have said that the theater can connect to the city's sewer line if and when the line is extended to that area.

Constitution may block Weicker

BOSTON (UPI)—The poor, the uneducated and the unlucky are supposed to have a chance to become president of the United States. But what about a Yale-educated U.S. senator born to two Americans in Paris 45 years ago?

Under a strict interpretation of the Constitution, Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., considered by President Ford as a possible running mate, could be ineligible to serve as president, a Harvard law professor said Thursday.

The constitution stipulates "no person except a natural born citizen... shall be eligible to the office of president." Another section of the document adds: "no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of president shall be eligible to that of vice president of the United States."

"There isn't any clear answer about it," said John Ely, a specialist in constitutional law. Ely said the Constitution was "vague," but it was unlikely a court ever would step in to block Weicker from serving as president.

"It seems to me a good example of a kind of question that a court wouldn't want to intervene in," Ely said. In 1936, Congress conferred American citizenship to children born overseas to "American" parents. But Ely said "if the Constitution clearly meant natural born within the territorial limits of a country, then that wouldn't help."

Two past candidates for president have been born outside the legal territory of the United States.

Former Michigan Gov. George Romney was born in 1907 in Chihuahua, Mexico, and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., was born in the Arizona territory in 1909 before it became a state.

Weicker, who gained prominence and headlines in 1973 as a member of the Senate Watergate Committee, tried to defuse speculation about White House ambitions at the time, insisting his foreign birth made him ineligible for the presidency. White House aides are "well aware" of Weicker's intention to remain in the Senate, aide Doug Cutler said. But he has for-gone health and financial background material as requested, Cutler said.

The question about eligibility to serve should be resolved as part of the background check, Cutler said.

"I'm sure the White House would study that thoroughly," he said. "They would take all those factors into consideration."

Weicker plans to campaign for reelection in Connecticut during the week of the Republican National Convention.

Gem tax appeals board travels to North Idaho

BOISE — The fall schedule of hearings before the Idaho Board of Tax Appeals begins with a trip to Northern Idaho.

Income tax appeals are set for August 30 in St. Maries and Moscow, an property tax appeals in Grangeville on August 31 and September 1 and in Cascade on September 2. The last hearing was held in Challis on July 15.

Chairman of the Board, Don G. Fredericksen, Gooding, is a retired rancher and 18-year member of the state legislature. Other members are Donald W. Osborn of Caldwell, a retired Internal Revenue Service field agent, and Norton B. Handolph of New Plymouth, real estate appraiser and former Payette County Assessor. The Board members serve part time.

Property tax appeals from decision of county boards of equalization—acting on protests—from taxpayers—are filed through the county auditor of the county in which the property is located. The auditor forwards a copy of the appeal to the Board of Tax Appeals with a copy of the minutes of the meeting of the board of equalization. There is a 30-day time limit for filing appeals.

Filer area schools open Aug. 20

FILER — Schools in School District 413, including Hollister, Filer, Elementary and the high school, will open Aug. 20, according to schools Supt. Ray Baker.

Schools will open at 8:30 a.m. that day and will dismiss at 10:45 a.m. At 11:45 a.m., the Filer faculty, trustees and their wives will be served a lunch by the hot lunch administration. This luncheon will replace the annual picnic formerly held at the school beginning for school administration and personnel workshops and principal meetings will be held in the afternoon.

Registration at the Filer Elementary School will be from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3 p.m., Monday and Tuesday. Parents are asked to bring birth certificates for all kindergarten pupils and for first grade pupils who did not attend kindergarten last year. Juniors and seniors at the high school are to register between 9 a.m. and noon and 1-

3 p.m., Monday, Aug. 16, and freshmen and sophomores from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m., Tuesday, Aug. 17.

At time of registration high school students can pay $12 for activity tickets and $8 for school annuals. There will be an initial $5 fee for students taking industrial arts or arts-and-crafts.

Hot lunch tickets at both Filer schools will be 50 cents for students and 75 cents for adults. The bus transportation routes will be the same as last year. Student insurance policies can be purchased at the school.

Any student taking athletics must have insurance.

Hollister School students will register between 8:45 to 10:45 a.m., Aug. 20.

Further information may be had by calling Edwin Marshall, high school principal; Bill Heaps, Filer Elementary principal, or Howard Kin-slafer, Hollister principal.

IRS plans business seminar

TWIN FALLS — The Internal Revenue Service will conduct a small business seminar for new employers Wednesday.

The seminar will be from 10 a.m. to noon at the Internal Revenue Service office, 1061 Blue Lakes N. This seminar is designed primarily for new employers in small businesses interested in learning about federal tax requirements.

Included in the session will be information on employe withholdings, quarterly reports and employer tax returns.

Carter memo mistake

PLAINS, GA. (UPI) — Jimmy Carter said today his staff made "a serious mistake" in revealing a memo that listed CIA Director George Bush among those who Carter has claimed were put on the federal payroll for political expediency.

The Democratic presidential nominee said that, to the contrary, he believed Bush has done "a good job" in correcting defects in the CIA.

"I would not include George Bush among those who are appointed without qualifications. It was also a mistake to allege George Bush was appointed just because of political reasons," Carter said.

Carter made like comments during a news conference held by him and California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. in the old train station which serves as Carter's local campaign headquarters. Brown is visiting Carter in Plains.

Carter was asked about a staff memo given to a reporter to support Carter's charges in a speech to the American Bar Association that the Ford and Nixon administrations had played politics with federal jobs. The memo accused the GOP of using the federal payroll as a "dumping grounds" for defeated candidates and political partisans.

The name of Bush, twice defeated in bids for a Senate seat, was included on the list. At the very beginning of the memo was being distributed, Bush was briefing Carter on foreign affairs.

"That was a serious mistake on some staff member's part to reveal an intra-staff memo," said Carter.

"I've never seen it myself. I never discussed with anyone at any time the qualifications of George Bush. I happen to think a lot of George Bush."

Now you know

A Japanese legend says a princess was taken by force from her lover's arms on the shore of Ago Bay in Japan and the Queen of Night wept tears of mingled at the sight. The teardrops fell into the bay and later were recovered by men as the pearls for which the bay's oysters were noted even before the Japanese learned how to make cultured pearls.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

The surrender ceremony at Yorktown on Oct. 19, 1781, was the last major battle of the British army in bright uniforms marched out between contrasting lines of ragged Continentals and elegantly tailored French troops. Their colors faded and marching to a doleful tune on drums and fife, the British were surrendered to Gen. Benjamin Lincoln, who ordered the columns to a field where they lay down their arms. Yorktown proved to be the conclusive military event that brought England to the peace table. The World Almanac verifies.

Belle floods Vermont

MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI) — Emergency relief is on the way for residents of southern Vermont hit hard by some of the worst flooding in 30 years, brought by tropical storm Belle.

President Ford has signed an emergency relief bill for flood-stricken areas of Vermont late Thursday, according to the office of Sen. Robert Stafford, R-Vt. Stafford said the White House was to announce the signing today.

"The governor is pleased that the President responded," said Norman James, an aide to Gov. Thomas Salmon who had asked Ford for emergency relief earlier in the day.

Officials Thursday said properly damaged due to Belle's brief but violent visit will reach at least $3 million, and could exceed $10 million. Two persons in the state were killed by the storm.

Other Red Cross teams — some walking into rural areas where roads and bridges were swept away by rampaging waters — handed out vouchers exchangeable at local stores for food and clothing.

Four small towns in the West River Valley, near the Massachusetts border, bore the brunt of the storm. Officials estimated damage in Stratton, Winhall, Jamaica and Wardsboro at more than $1 million.

More than 30 miles of road and seven bridges were destroyed, and many homes remained without electric service — by late Thursday because crews were unable to get equipment to the scene.

Moving tips offered to owners of house plant

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

PLANTS ON THE MOVE

Did you know that one out of every five Americans will be moving to a different state this year?

They have some plants of great sentimental value and it's a traumatic experience leaving them behind.

What's the best way to handle these plants that mean so much to people? If you plan to move, here are a few suggestions:

- Unless the plant has great sentimental value, we suggest you give it to a friend as a keepsake. Moving a plant from one state to another isn't always easy. Moving vans aren't heated in winter and most are not ventilated in summer.
- If you must transport your plants, water them thoroughly beforehand. A moist plant will transport easier than one with dry soil.
- Take "slips" or cuttings of your favorite plant if you want to perpetuate one of your favorites. Insert these cuttings into a plastic bag with moist peatite, vermiculite or peat moss. Tie the bag with wire twine, and the cuttings will last for weeks. Some may be rooted by the time you get to your new location.
- Most plants such as schefflera or dieffenbachia should be staked and tied with soft string or piece of old nylon stocking to prevent breaking.

green thumb

- Plants wrapped in a plastic garment bag (clear and perforated) will dry out less quickly than unwrapped plants.
- Spray or wash your plants two or three days before shipment to kill off any insects.
- Obtain an inspection certificate from your Agriculture Dept. to show your plants are not Typhoid Malaris.
- Never feed your plants prior to transporting them. Many people think that feeding helps them on their journey. Not so.
- If you're carrying plants in your car, the trunk is cooler than the inside unless air-conditioned.
- Whether you transport plants in your car or in a moving van, you're apt to run into problems. Don't expect your mover to do the impossible. When the summer heat is up to 110 degrees and winter temperature is near the zero, he can't guarantee safe arrival.
- We think the day will come when moving vans will have a built-in "plantarium" to haul favorite plants. This may minimize the anguish that some people have toward leaving their loved plants behind at moving time.

EAT YOUR DAY LILIES

An herbal from the T'ang and Abou A. D. (59) says that day lilies quiet the "five viscera (heart, lung, kidneys, stomach and liver), reduces worry and benefits the mind."

Over 4,000 pounds of dried day lilies are imported into New York City in a single year. Chop the blossoms and add to scrambled eggs, omelets or other egg dishes.

Or place the buds in the juice of dill pickles and refrigerator.

SOFT TURNIPS FOR FALL CROPS

There's an old saying "On the 25th of July, sow turnips, wet or dry." In spring, turnips are grown for greens; but in fall it's grown mainly for its roots and abundant tops. Just right matures in about 35 days and is a hybrid produced in Japan. The bottoms are about the size of a golf ball and leaves are fine for greens.

It should be planted now for fall use. It's sown earlier if it will produce nothing but seed stalks.

Other crops sown for a fall garden include Chinese cabbage, leaf lettuce, semi-head lettuce (Bibb, or Buttercrunch), radish, beef, spinach and green beans. Bush varieties germinate fast and can produce a crop in two months.

Counting from about the first week in August, you'll still have about 65 days of good growing items such as leaf lettuce (40 days to maturity). Minimum time needed for other crops: semi-heading lettuce, 50 days; radishes, 30 days; bush beans 55 days; turnips, 35 to 60 days.

To prepare for a fall garden, pull up old vines, etc., loosen up the soil, apply some complete garden plant food. Since late summer months are apt to be dry, mulch the garden and water if necessary.

HOBBY GREENHOUSES

If you're interested in greenhouse gardening, you should belong to the Hobby-Greenhouse Association, a non-profit organization which gives advice about greenhouse management.

Membership also includes a "plant swap" service, a library, plus "round robins" whereby members contribute personal experiences concerning greenhouse gardening.

Cost is only $5 for annual membership, and well worth it. Drop us a note if you're interested in joining finicky Greenhouse Association.

WOOD ASHES WORTH SAVING

Wood ashes from your fireplace are worth money. Did you know that wood ashes are twice as high in acid-neutralizing power as ground limestone?

Unless they contain all the mineral elements that were in the original wood, they are a good source of potash, the nutrient that gives stiff stems.

Elements in wood ashes are soluble so don't pile them outdoors. Store them in a dry place in the garage. Hardwood ashes contain more potash than softwood. Both are o.k. to use in the flower garden or vegetable garden.

Do not use wood ashes year after year in the garden, without testing the soil for acidity. Too many ashes will cause potato "scab," a disease, favored by sweet soils.

Wood ashes are useful for dusting on tomatoes, peppers and other plants, which are attacked by beetles and other insects. Apply to the garden at the rate of five pounds per 100 sq. ft.

Coal ashes have no nutritive value, but are useful in loosening up a heavy soil.

QUESTION BOX

Question of the Week: F. R. of Twin Falls: "We have a plant called Lily of the Nile, also named 'Aggie's Panties' which never blossoms. What does it need?"

What you have is Agapanthus (hence the name "Aggie's Panties") or Lily of the Nile, a tuberous rooted plant handled in redwood tubs.

This tropical item is grown in conservatories or in tubs that are placed outdoors for the summer flowering season.

"Aggie's Panties" has strap-like leaves and large clusters of funnel-shaped, light to deep blue or white flowers on two to four foot stems.

Grow in well-drained soil in large tub. In winter withhold water to let plant grow in semi-dormant state. Strap-like leaves remain green in winter. In spring move to bright window or outdoors (after frost). Give liquid plant-food once every four weeks, and keep in sunny spot.

There's a miniature Lily of the Nile (A. orientalis) which drops its foliage in winter and it also needs a rest period.

Failure to flower could be due to trying to force plant to bloom in winter. It shouldn't be forced in winter as it is normal dormant period. Also lack of light, need for repotting or too rich a soil - all will cause failure to flower.

F. G. of Minkota: "I've heard it is possible to dry string beans and eat them in winter. Can you tell us how this is done?"

The name given to drying string beans is called "leather britches," according to a recent article in Organic Gardening (August 1976). "Dried beans taste freshly picked in the middle of the winter. To dry, you thread a large needle with heavy thread, knotted at the end, and string the freshly-picked beans just below the blossom end, as though you were making a necktie.

"Do enough for a meal for your family on each string. Hang them to dry in a warm place - over a wood stove or in your attic. They can be left hanging all winter or stored in large glass jars. Make sure that no moisture can gather in the jars.

"To cook, soak in "britches" overnight; the next day, boil them for three hours - about an hour before mealtime - add a piece of onion or ham. Continue boiling for another hour until there is just enough liquid left to barely cover them in the pot. Don't drain, but serve them as they are."

Barkless Basenji interests humans

By LINDA MERRY DVM

Question: I recently read James Street's book "Goodbye My Lady" to my son. He was fascinated by the barkless dog, a Basenji. Could you tell us more about these dogs? Are they still so rare and expensive? Would one make a good pet for a family like ours (we live in a small city)?

Answer: Can anyone read "Goodbye My Lady" and not fall in love? It's like the infatuation most of us had with "Black Beauty." Luckily, a Basenji is more practical than a horse for most city dwellers.

Merry Pet

People have been enchanted by the "barkless dog" since the first of their kind were brought from the source of the Nile - as presents to the Pharaohs of ancient Egypt.

When Egypt fell the Basenji faded into obscurity. It wasn't rediscovered until 1825 when a British explorer brought a pair to England from the African Congo. There the breed had been preserved and cherished for its intelligence, speed, hunting power and silence.

So courageous are these little dogs that they will attack lions, gorillas and even elephants! Unfortunately, the original pair were no match for distemper and died soon after importation.

In 1937 Basenjis again entered England. In 1939 they were brought to the United States and Canada. They have flourished in all three countries ever since.

The Basenji is about the size and build of a fox terrier. His coat is one of his finest features. The texture is fine, silky and shines like burnished copper in sunlight. It may be red and white, black and white, or tri-colored but he's always clean.

He's a great believer in the daily bath and gives himself the once over as often as a cat, with equal attentiveness to his paws. The fastidiousness coupled with having no body odor makes him the ideal pet for an immaculate housekeeper.

Basenjis don't bark but they do have vocal cords and they can't communicate. Their growl says a great deal; their snarl backs it up. Their scream of terror is almost identical to that of a wounded rabbit. Happiness provokes a chirp or yodel which is infectious.

In fact, the dog's bouncy enthusiasm and intelligence is so infectious that he is no longer really rare. There are many good kennels in the United States (several are listed monthly in "World Magazine"). The price is comparable to that of other pedigree dogs - and most Basenji owners claim it is well worth it.

If you have a question about your pet, send it to The Merry Pet Column, care of the Times-News.

Mini-Cassia schools to open Aug. 30th

BURLEY - Mini-Cassia area schools will open Aug. 30.

Cassia County Schools Superintendent Blauer Monday listed opening day activities in this county.

Blauer emphasized fourth graders and those below that year should register the same schools they attended last year on opening day. Transfers to McIntair View School will then be made.

Registration at Burley High will be for seniors 8:45 to 10:15 a.m., juniors 10:15 a.m. to noon and sophomores 1:30 to 4 p.m.

Trustee Paul Brown questioned placing the inexperienced sophomores last. Blauer and Jugh school principal Tom Grutwell explained seniors must obtain some classes for graduation requirements and other sophomores have two more years in which to pick up desired elective classes.

Kindergarten classes will be held at Springdale, Okaley, Malta and Albion. DeLo area students will go to kindergarten at Springdale.

Busing from Burley to Springdale will be the same as last year, with the district picking up students at Dworshak and Southview and returning them there.

Curriculum Director Norman Hurd said the first week will be for home visits with teachers, and kindergarten students home.

Cassia trustees approve program

T-N Phones 733-0931
(Or use our toll-free lines)

BURLEY — The Cassia County School Board approved a Century Club program for high school athletics Monday, but not without dissent from Chairman Danford Crane.

Crane had his opposition formally noted after explaining that it is based on the complaints of other fans about reserving choice seats sports events.

Burley High School Principal Tom Gruwell made the request for the program explaining projected individual ticket sales will not cover costs of the athletic program.

He reminded the board of its policy that athletes must pay their own way and said basketball and football programs carry the financial burden.

He said the district is now "saddled down" with the requirement for girls' athletics, which do not bring in money to cover their expenses. He added sports officials are demanding higher pay and more money for mileage and that equipment is much more expensive than in previous years.

Gruwell said the Century Club program, with a $100 ticket that admits two people to athletic events worth $67 per individual, brought $4,000 into the program last year.

Trustee Charles Ward, new Burley football coach Larry Findley exchanged words over the financial methods at Ratt River High School.

Ward said the school charged each football player $50 for use of equipment. He said there were only eight to 10 kids that did not run out because of the $50 charge, although he recalled one mother who had a difficult time paying the money for three players.

"If one kid can't play because he can't afford it, it's a real crime," Findley commented.

Findley and Gruwell assure the board no pressure would be brought on businessmen to buy the Century Club memberships.

CLARA BROSE holds a picture of the home in which she lives south of Hansen. Miss Brose is one of the earliest settlers of the area, coming here as a small girl. The photograph of her home is one of several on display at the Twin Falls Public Library which depicts the heritage of Magic Valley. The display is sponsored by the Twin Falls County Historical Society.

Cassia jail facility inadequate for HAW

BURLEY — A local state Health and Welfare Department (HAW) official told the Cassia County commissioners Monday their earlier proposal to have the county jail facility house all HAW offices would not allow expansion.

Ivan Garner, head of the local HAW services, said he surveyed the jail and, even with renovations, the facility could not include the mental health services office or allow for any expansion of programs.

County commissioners had proposed converting the jail facility, in the county court house to house all HAW offices in one place after opening of the new law-enforcement building adjacent to the courthouse.

Garner said he made a trip to the council area a duplication, because of the Mini-Cassia Child Development Center in Rupert. Beck added the Headstart program also is a duplication.

Swastika packer pleads innocent

CARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — A tall blonde with a penchant for Nazi swastikas pleaded innocent Thursday to a charge that she threatened the life of President Ford in a letter written from a women's prison.

Mary Margaret Shelburn, clad in jeans with the red Nazi emblem embroidered on a hip pocket of her jeans, faces trial on the charge Oct. 1.

The 24-year-old inmate at the federal reformatory for women in Alderson, W. Va., allegedly threatened Ford's life in a letter.

Much of the alleged threat was reproduced in the indictment, which said the six foot woman with long, blonde hair penned:

"Hey, you know, you S.S. guys are really amusing," apparently referring to the Secret Service.

"I knew no one was going to press charges against me. I can tell you that I'm going to kill President Ford and anyone else and no one's going to do a damn thing about it."

A Nazi swastika also appeared on the letter, which according to the indictment, posed several questions:

"Why should I show any favoritism to Ford?"

"Why should I be particular who I kill? You get paid to protect Ford, and if you can't protect him, you can dig a grave for him."

Citizen suggestions sought by UI regents

MOSCOW — Idaho residents have been invited to submit nominations for the presidency of the University of Idaho.

In issuing the invitation, A. L. Alford Jr., UI Board of Regents member from Lewiston and chairman of the selection committee, said, "the committee is open to and welcomes suggestions from Idaho citizens who are the rightful owners of their state universities."

Commissioner J. Weldon Beck asked Garner how soon the state could take responsibility for furnishing HAW office space, now paid for by the county under state law. John Clark, chairman of commissioners, said HAW had tried to obtain legislation shifting responsibility to the department but the legislature blocked the measure, which would have required an increase in the HAW budget.

Teachers hired at Filer

FILER — New teachers hired at the Filer schools include Mrs. Tom Ramsay who will teach speech, English and drama, and Rev. Otis Harden who will teach arts and crafts and general math.

Mike Brown, Pocatello, has been hired to do psychological testing, according to Ray Baker, superintendent.

Jerry Kykendall, science teacher at the high school, said the State Department of Schools has asked his Unified Science group to put on a program Oct. 4-5 during the state workshop to be held in Boise. The program will be presented for the science teachers at the workshop.

Carpenters at the Filer Elementary School are finishing the partitions in the former open classrooms and by the time school starts, there will no longer be the open class concept formerly used, but rather all classes will have individual rooms.

"You can still get a lot of home for your money. If you grab one now."

Two things everybody wants: A nice home. And a bargain. But the only way I know to get both is to make your move now.

Because if you wait around for homes to get cheaper, you'll wait a long time. Forever, probably. The way labor and materials are going up, the price of houses has got to keep on going up too. And land prices are going in the same direction. Have been for years.

What about interest rates? Well, the experts say they're already about as low as they're going to get. And likely to start climbing again. Even if they drop a little next year, say—the amount you'd save would be more than eaten up by a higher-priced house and lot. Not to mention a higher down payment.

Another thing. The house you buy today will probably be worth a whole lot more tomorrow. And that's the trick, to get this inflation thing working for you instead of against you.

And I can't think of a better home to invest in than one built by Boise Cascade. They build

This is one of the Countryside series. Has a few of the frills taken out, so it's one of the lowest-priced homes you can buy.

The Jamestown model is Boise Cascade's most popular. Features 1,481 sq. ft. of rooms. Even a walk-in pantry!

A tight house. Build it to last. With first-rate materials, like kiln-dried lumber and copper plumbing. A Boise Cascade Home is economical too. Not just to buy, but to live in. It's all wrapped with insulation. So it's easy to keep warm. Or cool. And every room has its own thermostat to give you just the heat you need. No waste.

There's lots more to a Boise Cascade Home, of course. (Lots of 'em too. Over 30 dandy models to choose from.) You really ought to find out more about what they offer. Just look up the Boise Cascade Dealer nearest you. Or fill out the coupon and send for their brochure!

Hovers low

HOVERING over a field, Bob Lee of Helicopter Ag-Spray demonstrates his technique for flying low and applying chemicals to farm fields. He says his method is safe and accurate and expects his business to continue its growth.

Little-known election law used by two candidates

MAGIC VALLEY — Idaho has a new, little-known election law which for the first time allows candidates to appear on the November ballot listed as independents. A clerk will county clerks offices throughout Magic Valley indicates only two persons so far have indicated they will use the provision...

Thompson said he preferred to run as an independent. Donald Workman received more write-in votes than Thompson, but declined to run, thus making it possible for Thompson to have declared his candidacy as a Democrat if he had wished to do so, the clerk said.

Copter sprayer use increases

By KEN HODGE Times-News Writer TWIN FALLS — In the past, the term "crop duster" conjured up the image of a daredevil pilot flying his bi-plane dangerously low over fields, barely missing wires and trees to spread a dust or liquid over a farmer's field.

segment of the industry, but according to a growing number of helicopter spraying companies in Magic Valley, the whirlybirds have several advantages over traditional airplanes which make them safer, more responsive to the customer and more effective and accurate in getting the same jobs done.

The rotor downwash, which displaces 350,000 cubic feet of air per second, has the added effect of pushing the sprayed material down onto the field so it does not drift away and mixes into the air near the surface of the field better.

TWIN FALLS — School districts are facing a new problem in obtaining insurance coverage. Only a few years ago, insurance companies were bidding competitively for the policies because they carry sizable premiums.

Assault jails TF man

TWIN FALLS — Milton Burje Bridwell, 36, 1761 3rd Ave. E., Twin Falls, was in custody in Twin Falls county jail Saturday in lieu of $10,000 bond on charges of assault with a deadly weapon.

Police charged Bridwell with two counts of assault with a deadly weapon, a baseball bat, after two neighbors, Ronald Schumaker, 42, and Dorothy Ward, 67, Schumaker's mother, 1750 Third Ave. E., were injured.

George Staudacher, superintendent in Twin Falls, said this is clear when you consider the district's liability and fire coverage for the previous policy renewal Twin Falls School District's annual premium was just over $20,000.

There is also increasing vandalism and even arson in school buildings, school officials say. In Buhl, John Barker of the John Barker Agency, said his company did not want to bid this year because companies providing the insurance had quoted about a 50 per cent increase over their quotations of 1975.

Enrollment plans set for Twin Falls schools

a.m., those in N-S at 9 a.m., A-D at 10 a.m., and 7-7 at 11 a.m. Senior National Honor Society students should register Aug. 24 at 6:30 a.m.

Elm varieties dying as Dutch virus spreads

By KEN HODGE Times-News writer TWIN FALLS — Several hundred elm trees have succumbed to Dutch Elm Disease in Twin Falls County and the disease is worsening, according to county agent Don Youtz.

There is no sure cure for it, according to Youtz. "I think that if people have American elm or cork elm," he said, "they should start planting some other trees."

Spud default fines still not decided

NEW YORK — The Board of Governors of the New York Mercantile Exchange (NYMEX) still has not decided what to do about spud defaulters J.R. Simplot and P.J. Taggare.

The highest percentage of spread is caused by the elm bark beetle, a small brown beetle with some red spots or stripes on its elytra. It is the elm bark beetle, another brown beetle, according to Lockwood.

Town of Leesburg will celebrate 110th birthday

By BOB JOHNSON
Special to the Times-News

LEESBURG—What was once a gold-mining town of two to three thousand persons and 150 to 200 houses, Leesburg, nearing its 110th birthday, is down to the remains of a dozen log buildings.

The winds rustle the pines and aspen where once the gravel of Napias Creek yielded gold to the onrush of prospectors who flowed into the basin after the first discovery on Aug. 12, 1866.

Today, Leesburg is a ghost town. The old-time prospectors gone, the gold fever cooled by the breeze and gushing water. What few buildings remain are slipping into dust in the northern corner of Lemhi County, 20 miles from Salmon.

The rutted road up Napias Creek is filled with holes and the water of the melting snow turns the route to mud until the summer sun can turn it to dust.

Leesburg is being left to nature. The creek waters pool through the town, making the once-thriving main street impassible.

During the early mining and settlement of western Montana, the friendly Lemhi Indians intermingled with the whites. These Indians learned the use and value of money and of the heavy yellow metal that the white man so eagerly hunted, dug and washed with water from the ground.

According to the official history of the Salmon National Forest, it was these Indians, probably northern Shoshone, who were responsible for the 1866 gold rush to Leesburg. Indians in Montana had talked to prospectors about the area of "heap Napias" and gave them directions to the Leesburg area.

Leesburg lay to the west of Salmon which didn't come into existence until a year later, and then as a supply center for the gold communities.

In June, 1866, F. B. Sharkey, acting as leader, with Lige Malkey, Bill Smith, Ward Green and Joseph Rapp quietly made their way southward toward and over the Nez Perce Indian Trail that led into the lower end of the Lemhi Valley.

Here they met a man named McGarvey at his fish trap catching fish for the mining towns of Montana.

After leaving Salmon, they continued southward up the river to Lake Creek on the west side and followed an old Indian trail that led them to the summit of the high range at the head of the creek.

They had camped above Williams Lake and prospected as well on top of the mountain range at the head of the drainage.

Here they left the main westward trail and followed the divide north, dropped down into the lower extent of the Leesburg glacier wash. They found gold but this place was not their objective.

The next day the trail led them a few miles through park country to the upper main basin of Leesburg and camp was made.

While some of the men were pitching camp the summer evening of Aug. 12, 1866, discovery was made. Sharkey and Bill Smith sank the usual prospect hole, as soon as they struck bedrock a pan of the bottom gravel was sloshed out.

There in the bottom were many of the sought-after yellow flakes, about a dollar and a quarter's worth. The first panful yielded even more and the men attending to the chores heard the jubilant shouts. "We've struck the biggest digging ever struck!"

They named the creek that drained this large basin "Napias Creek."

Untold millions of dollars of 18 carat gold was taken from this basin.

During the gold rush which lasted from 1866 through the 1870s two towns developed. They were Grantsville or Leesburg and Smithville, names out of the American Civil War. Grantsville and Leesburg were the same.

The greatest years of the Leesburg basin population and production of gold were 1867 and 1868.

When production began to decline, unrest began among the miners and the Chinese found ready employment working for the white miners. They allowed the eager Chinese, through his known mining abilities, unflinching labor integrity and with his own keep to move in and start more patient extraction.

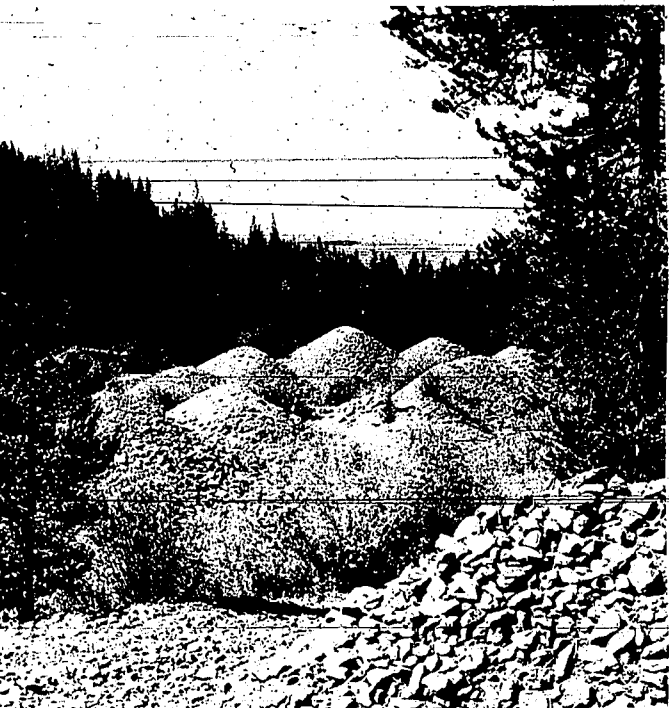

After most of the placer grounds had been worked and lay idle, the Chinese remained, obtained leases and worked over all ground that could be obtained.

The flurry of the white miners left plenty of gold for the experienced careful Chinese.

The gold was essentially gone by 1940 in Leesburg. Even the last-ditch hydraulickers had given up.

An estimated 16 million dollars worth of gold had been panned and sluiced from the gravel bars of Napias Creek. The population soon dropped to less than 100. In 1944 it fell to two, then dropped from two to zero.

In 1952, two young bearded men chose to reoccupy the long deserted town. Squatter's rights seemed adequate, and their quasi-legal status bothered them little. They looked and acted as if they belonged in Leesburg, and their presence was a beneficial deterrent to the erosive effects of eager souvenir hunters.

Old town crumbles

LEESBURG, what is left, turns 110 next month. Gold was discovered in the gravel of Napias Creek by Montana prospectors on Aug. 12, 1866, and the community grew to some three thousand persons in 1867 and 1868. Today, Leesburg is a ghost town, crumbling to time.

Mining memories

AFTER the original prospectors had combed the Leesburg Basin for gold, the Chinese followed and in later times a dredge worked the creeks including Napias Creek hidden here by the huge piles of rock deposited by the dredge.

THE Salmon National Forest sign, also showing signs of time, tells the visitor about Leesburg.

Scenic surroundings

Golden water

GOLD was discovered on Napias Creek which the Indians had talked to prospectors about as "heap Napias" and gave the discovery party of 1866 directions to the Leesburg area west of Salmon.

LEESBURG and surrounding area filled with gold seekers in 1867 after gold was discovered in 1866. Leesburg had upward of 220 houses, 100 business establishments and three thousand persons. Today what remains is empty, falling to time.

DEAR ABBY: I am wondering if other farm families have this problem with city relatives. We almost have to lock on everything when they come to visit. The city folks are so antique-crazy, they tear the boards off the barns, pick up fence posts and go snooping through the cupboards to see if maybe we've got some old, beat-up brass or copper pots they can make into lamps. They are always asking how old things are and if we know where they came from. We wouldn't mind if they walked until we discarded something, but I can be sitting on a rocking chair, and they'll ask if I'm ready to throw it out. They think everything they see at a farm house is an antique. We try to tell them, "Maybe so," but that some things we still use ourselves, and if not, we might want to save them for our children. They make fun of their country cousins, but I wonder what they think if we came to their homes and stood over their belongings like a bunch of vultures.

FROM-IOWA

Country cousins

DEAR FROM: They'd probably think you were snapping hayseeds with bad manners, when in fact they are snapping hayseeds with no class.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law must have at least 200 pictures standing around. They're on her mantle, piano, television and every other flat place. Her walls are also covered with them. All are pictures of her children when they were babies and in various stages of childhood. I have never seen such clutter in my life.

Should I tell her that no one cares to see a baby picture of her 35-year-old son naked and on a fur rug? (The "baby" is my husband.)

Don't tell me that if I don't like the looks of her house, I shouldn't visit her, because my husband is one of those devoted sons who thinks he has to run over there nearly every night, and he drags me with him.

How can I tell her it's time she updated her collection?

ANONYMOUS, PLS.

DEAR ANON: It's your mother-in-law's home, and apparently she enjoys the collection; so if you don't, keep your eyes closed. And your mouth as well.

DEAR ABBY: John and I were married in 1970. It was the second time around for both of us. Because of interfering relatives, including eight children an in-law on both sides, who did everything they could to break up our marriage, we were divorced three years later. The problem is, we still love each other.

Despite all the unpleasantness, we forgave each other and continued what has always been a wonderfully loving relationship. We are in our mid-50s and feel ridiculous speaking around to be together.

John says, "Let's say to heck with everything, sell our house, move 1,000 miles away from all the relatives and enjoy the years we have left!"

Neither of us has to work, and our financial situation is good. Should I put myself first for once in my life and remarry John? Or keep up a house for my remaining unmarried daughter?

TORN

DEAR TORN: Your John is a man after my own heart. Remarry him and move away from both your families. Don't worry about your unmarried daughter. She's obviously due to leave the nest soon anyway. Enjoy your lives. It's always later than you think.

MR. AND MRS. BLESSING Candlelight service unites Loe, Blessing

TWIN FALLS — Roberta Kay Loe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Loe, Twin Falls, became the bride of Charles Victor Blessing, Twin Falls, in a candlelight ceremony Sunday, Aug. 9, in the Salvation Army Chapel, 1114 Lt. Leonard Bldg. of the Salvation Army Church performed the evening ceremony.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vic Blessing, Twin Falls.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her brother PFC Ralph L. Loe, of the U.S. Marine Corps, and given in marriage by her father.

Her gown was a floor-length white gown with fitted bodice. It was accented by long full lace sleeves and a veil. For her bouquet, the bride carried blue and pink carnations, blue daisies, baby's breath and white rose buds.

Attending the couple were Judith Calhoun as maid of honor and Chris Tucker, Hollister, and Jana Blessing, Boise, as bridesmaids, and Greg Hopkins as best man, Mike Blessing, Boise, and Tom Loe, Delmar, Okla., as ushers, and ring bearer was Byron Blix. Tara Holmgvist was flower girl and piano music was played by Judy Wilcox.

A reception followed the ceremony in the recreation hall of the church. Pink and blue decorations were carried out through the hall. The couple cut a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with a miniature bride and bridegroom before a large heart.

Mr. and Mrs. Brad Stewart and Mrs. Del Butterfield assisted in serving guests during the reception.

Following a week's trip to northern Idaho, the couple will reside in the Towercrest Manor in Twin Falls. The bridegroom is employed at the JGA Market in Twin Falls.

Boss and Crumbliss marry in Twin Falls

TWIN FALLS — Terry Louise Boss and William Lynn Crumbliss were united in marriage at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Crumbliss, Twin Falls, July 23.

The Rev. Bennie Wright performed the ceremony in front of the fireplace at 5 p.m.

In the presence of his parents, his brother, Jimmy, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Schab, Twin Falls; her daughter, Donna Louise Boss; and close friends.

The bride selected a long white novelty weave dress of cotton polyester with flowing lace sleeves, for her wedding gown. She wore a wedding eace pendant, a gift from the groom.

She carried a nosegay bouquet of garnet roses and tiny white mums with pink ribbon streamers. The groom wore a pale pastel yellow suit with pink shirt.

Brent Fenstermaker acted as best man and Mrs. Dennis Spensley was matron of honor.

The bride's mother wore a long dark rose polyester dress; the bridegroom's mother wore a long pale pink dress with white pinpoints trimmed with lace.

A buffet supper was served to the wedding party and many other guests following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. A reception was held at the YM-YWCA banquet hall at 8 p.m.

The bride's cake was pink, cherry-flavored, with white icing and pink roses over a blue fountain. Two heart-shaped cakes with "Bill" and "Terry" written on them, decorated alongside.

Nuts and pink and white heart-shaped mints were served in crystal dishes along with pink lemonade punch, Roses and Baby's breath from the rose beds of Mrs. Schab and Mrs. M. Spangler decorated the bride's table. Roses floating in crystal bowls decorated the quartet tables.

Mrs. Clarence J. Hallfield, Hansen, and Mrs. Ivan Becker, Rupert, aunt of the bride, cut the wedding cake, while Mrs. Terry Hollfield, Hansen, and Mrs. Bill Bower poured the punch.

Mrs. Howard Rich of Dietrich registered the guests and Robin Martisch and Kandee Crumbliss listed the gifts.

Special honored guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Schab, Rupert, the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sheen and Mrs. C. L. Crumbliss, all of Twin Falls.

trumps, draw trumps, discard two of dummy's spades on the long clubs and eventually ruff his jack of spades in dummy.

South also saw that irrespective of where the heart and spade kings were located, North could make at least four notrump.

Therefore, South reasoned that his only chance for any match points at all would be to play safe for five diamonds and beat anyone who reached six and found the heart finesse wrong.

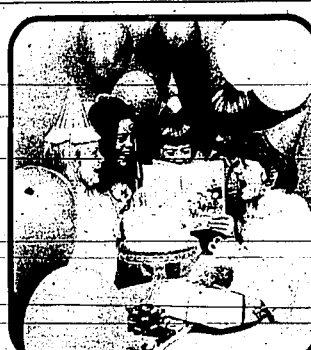

So South called for dummy's ace of hearts, went after trumps and made his contract right on the nose. It didn't do him much good, but at least it worked out better than finessing the heart, losing the spade finesse if East shifted to the spade and winding up in the ash can.

Jerome pair weds in Salt Lake City

JEROME — Janice Lee Thompson and Robert M. Magnelli, both Jerome, were married July 30 in the LDS Temple in Salt Lake City.

A reception honored the couple July 31 in the Jerome LDS Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rulon Thompson, Jerome, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Jeanne Magnelli and the late Howard Magnelli.

For her wedding the bride selected a long gown with V-neck trimmed with lace and long full lace sleeves. The gown had a long train and the bride wore a waist length veil of lace held in place with a white flower tiara.

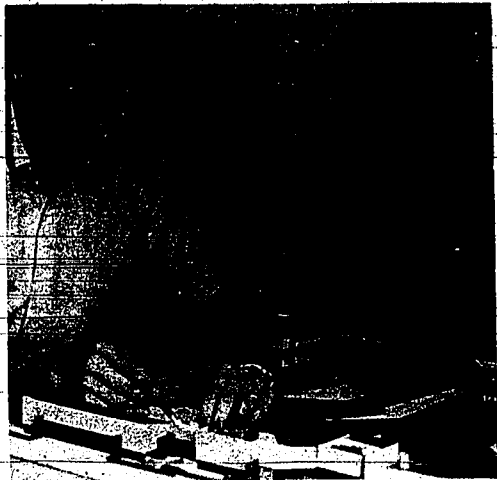

She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and lavender daisies accented with yellow and violet streamers.

Debbie Handy served as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Brenda Thompson, sister of the bride; Sally Tolman, and Tina Thompson, all Jerome. Rick VanderDoes was best man and ushers were Harvey Taylor and Mike Thompson, all Jerome.

The reception room was decorated with yellow and orchid colors. Violet gladioli, yellow roses and a yellow lace table cover were featured.

A dance for guests and wedding party members followed the reception. Music was provided by the VanderDoes musical groups.

Following a wedding trip to the Oregon coast, the couple will reside here. The bride is employed at K-mart in Twin Falls, and the bridegroom at Safeways.

David Bertus, Twin Falls, exhibits work

Student's work on display

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — The student design work of David Bertus, Twin Falls, Idaho is presently featured in a School of Architecture exhibit at the Arkansas Union Art Gallery on the Fayetteville campus.

Bertus is a fifth-year architecture student in the final year of an architectural design program leading to a bachelor of architecture degree. The work exhibited is a design for a regional airport, which resulted from a major study of the design issues of airports. Bertus is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Bertus, Twin Falls.

Syndicated program may be replaced

© N.Y. Times News Service

NEW YORK — "Not for Women Only," the daily syndicated series with Barbara Walters that has been in reruns since Miss Walters left NBC in the spring, will probably be replaced by a similar topical talk program in September, with Polly Bergen and Dr. Frank Fields as hosts.

WNBC-TV, the home station for "Not for Women Only," is in negotiations this week with Grey Advertising for the production and syndication of the new series, which may also take a new title, "Today's Life."

Ketchum, Sun Valley plan "Wagon Days"

SUN VALLEY — Seven historic freight wagons will roll down Main St. of Ketchum to lead the parade celebrating "Wagon Days." Sept. 3 to 5, and Sun Valley joins its Ketchum neighbor to host a two-day oldtime fiddlers' contest highlighting the festivities.

About 50 selected fiddlers will twang for 12 trophies and $1,500 prize money at Sun Valley's Trail Creek Cabin at noon, Saturday, Sept. 4, and 10:00 a.m., Sunday, Sept. 5.

Besides the 55-100 year-old wagons parading at 11:00 a.m., Sept. 4, antique autos will chug along in their own parade at 11:00 a.m., Sept. 5. These motor cars will be on display at Sun Valley's soccer field all day.

Sept. 4 — Wagon Days opens with a dramatization of a wild-west shoot-out at 7:00 p.m. Friday, Sept. 3, followed by dancing till midnight on Ketchum's Main Street where the wagons once traveled to deliver ore to the town's smelter.

The seven wagons are remnants of the Lewis and Clark expedition which plied the rugged terrain over Galena summit, through the Sawtooth Valley and into the Salmon River tributaries' gold mining towns of Bonanza and Sunbeam. The wagons are donated to the city of Ketchum by the family of Horace C. Lewis who founded the line in 1884.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD SETSER

Miss Wasko, Sass married at priory

TWIN FALLS — Mary Wasko, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Wasko, Filer, became the bride of Larry Fries at 10 a.m. July 24.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Sass, Twin Falls.

Father Cosmas White performed the double-ring ceremony at St. Benedict's Priory in Twin Falls.

The bride, who came down the aisle with her parents, wore a white gown of sheer organza with a bell skirt and chapel train edged with a wide chantilly lace flounced ruffle. The bodice of chantilly lace had a lace mandarin neckline trimmed with a lace ruffle. The Victorian sleeves were of chantilly lace.

She wore a matching floor-length chantilly lace veil and a pin belonging to Larry's great grandmother.

She carried a bouquet of dry eucalyptus, stephanotis, sprig fern and a white callistia orchid.

The reader for the Mass was George Sonichsen, Twin Falls, and the flower girl was Ginger Kuykendall, Filer.

Jennifer Kuykendall and Karen Wasko, sister of bride, both Filer, passed out "thank you" scrolls after the wedding.

Betty Wasko, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Pat Wasko, sister of the bride, and Debbie Sass, sister of the groom.

Steve Sass, Murtough, brother of the groom, was best man, and Dore Sass, Twin Falls, and Mike Sass, McMinnville, Ore., both brothers of the groom, were groomsmen.

Bob Fries, Twin Falls, was the soloist, accompanied by Sister Margaret Mary, Sister of the groom-on-the-piano.

A reception was held at the priory following the ceremony.

The table was covered with a lace table cloth over blue satin. There was a four-leafed oak accent with blue daisies and lily of the valley.

Coria and Sisie Wasko were in charge of the guest book.

The ring bearer was John Wasko, the bride's brother, and taper lighters were Mark and Jeff Wasko, bride's brothers.

Debbie Wasko and Carrie Haln were in charge of gifts.

The bride graduated from Filer High School. The bridegroom graduated from Twin Falls High School and Oregon State University.

MR. AND MRS. LARRY SASS

Couple weds in home

GLENN'S FERRY — Nancy Griggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Griggs, was married on July 24 to Jose Rodriguez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Rodriguez of Glenn's Ferry.

Bishop Dayle Messerly performed the double-ring ceremony in the home of the bride's parents.

The bride chose a floor-length gown of blue silk crepe and carried a bridal crown of white carnations and light roses.

Rhonda Swainston, Setser trade vows

RICHFIELD — In an evening ceremony July 30 Rhonda Kay Swainston and Don E. Setser exchanged wedding vows at the Richfield LDS Church.

The double ring service was performed by Bishop Delbert Tree before a backdrop of white organza trimmed with red bows and greenery, with the couple standing under an archway trimmed with greenery and red bows.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. Tim Sanders with Mrs. Glen Reeder singing two selections before the ceremony, accompanied by Mrs. Bill Murray on the piano. Opening prayer was given by Mark Bowers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Swainston, Richfield, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Setser, Shoshone.

Glenn in marriage by her father, the bride chose a Victorian styled gown of sheer organza with a high neckline, a pinelore ruffle over bodice and bishop sleeves with embroidered lace, with a ruffle collar.

She carried a bouquet of cascading white carnations and red roses.

DeAnn Dixon, Hunt, was maid of honor and Kathy Bowers was bridesmaid. Flower girl was Kara Lee Swainston, niece of the bride, Troy Swainston, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer. Darrel Green was best man and Brian Ross was groomsmen. Boyd Setser and Don Setser, brothers of the bridegroom, served as ushers.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the LDS Cultural Hall. Karon Ward attended the guest book and Joy Martin, Nancy Swainston, Norma Tree and Phyllis Swainston were in charge of the gift table.

The three-tiered, white wedding cake was separated with white filigreed pillars with cherubs and Mediterranean cupids. Red roses decorated the tops of the layers. The cake was topped with white doves holding wedding rings and white bells with miniature red roses.

Serving the cake was the bridegroom's Aunt Marion and Aunt Evelyn. Marie Hennefer attended the punch bowl.

Claudette Swainston was in charge of the quartet tables, which were covered with red satin and lace overlay. Galleys holding red carnations centered each of the twelve tables.

Program numbers included two vocal selections by Mrs. Reeder. Miss Dixon and Miss Bowers gave readings.

The young couple left on a trip to Northern Idaho and Canada.

The bride is a graduate of Richfield High School and has been employed at Mae's Western Wear in Twin Falls.

The bridegroom graduated from Shoshone High School and is presently employed as a track machine operator of the Union Pacific Railroad. They will make their home in Pocatello.

Special guests included Mrs. Pauline Setser and Mrs. Rose Perkins, both of Evanston, Wyo., grandmothers of the bridegroom, and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Swainston and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stevens, grandparents of the bride.

Out of town guests attended from Auburn, Calif.; Ogden, Utah; Salt Lake City, Utah; Jerry, Jerome; Twin Falls, Shoshone; American Falls and Ketchikan.

Mr. and Mrs. Setser hosted a rehearsal dinner on July 24 at the Manhattan Cafe, Shoshone.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL BEUS

Cheri Mason bride of Michael W. Beus

TWIN FALLS — Cheri Lynn Mason and Michael Wayne Beus were united in marriage July 6 at the First Church of the Nazarene, Twin Falls, in an evening double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Mason, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Beus, all Twin Falls.

Rev. Joseph Chastain performed the candlelight ceremony before baskets of yellow carnations and white daisies.

The bride wore a white gown of sheer organza trimmed at the plingore bodice with Chantilly lace. The mandarin neckline was of chantilly lace. The sheer organza sleeves were puffy sheer organza trimmed with wide lace cuffs. The demure silhouette skirt and chapel train of sheer organza were finished with a wide ruffle trimmed with lace. Her veil was a white three-pointed chantilly lace caplet, trimmed with scattered seed pearls and droplet pearls and held a three-tiered fingertip veil and butterfly face veil.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses, white daisies and baby breath, arranged on a white-pearl Bible, which was given as a wedding gift to the bride's mother from the bride's father when they were married.

The maid of honor was Debbie Taylor, Twin Falls. Bridesmaids were Gina Mitchell and Lori Mesman, Salem, Oregon, and Cheryl Sumner, Montrose, Colorado, college friends of the bride.

Flower girl was Becky Mason, cousin of the bride. Ring bearer was Layne DeBoard, also cousin of the bride.

Candlelighters were Susan Beus, sister of the groom and Randy Anderson, friend of the bride.

Best man was Wayne Heinemann, Twin Falls. Groomsmen were Jim Mason, brother of the bride, Dan Hens, brother of the groom, and Rocky Mason, cousin of the bride.

Organist was Mrs. Richard Green, Boise. Soloists were Mrs. Royal Heyer, and Richard Smack, accompanied by Jerry Vanderboes at the piano. Steve Pace played The Lord's Prayer, accompanied by Mrs. Gary Evans.

The ceremony was followed by a reception in the church's fellowship hall, which was decorated with the brides colors of lemon yellow and mint green. Guests were seated at quartet tables with yellow overlays with lace cloth coverings. The guest book was attended by Mrs. Doug Freeman.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Deryl Mason and Mrs. Marvin Anderson. The cake was baked and decorated by Jerry Vanderboes as a wedding gift to the couple. Mrs. Larry DeBoard and Mrs. Roger DeBoard assisted with the serving.

The gifts were carried by Sandra Anderson, Glenn, Roseman, and Nancy Donnelly. Mrs. Larry DeBoard attended the gift table. Background music at the reception was played by Jerry Vanderboes.

Special guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt Labate, great-grandparents of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne DeBoard and Mr. and Mrs. Art Mason, grandparents of the bride. Mrs. Violet Debs and Mr. and Mrs. C.A. Pierson, grandparents of the groom.

Pre-nuptial showers were given by Mrs. Doug Freeman and college friends of the bride.

After a wedding trip to McCall the couple will reside in Twin Falls. They plan to continue their education at the University of Idaho in January.

Church leaders await 5 members' resurrection

COWETA, Okla. (UPI)—Leaders of a fundamentalist church are waiting for God to resurrect five church members killed in a car crash while returning from a revival meeting.

"Deep in my heart I know Jesus will raise these people from the dead," David Steele, a former drug addict and one of eight ministers of the New Testament Holiness Church of Jesus Christ, said Tuesday. "I believe if because I know He can do it. He can do anything. He healed me."

Steele said Sister C.E. Washington, the leader of the congregation, told him the five victims would be raised from the dead.

"She told me to prepare a blessed cloth and to take it to the funeral home today," he said. "I'll put it on the faces of our loved ones and pray and then they will be raised from the dead."

The five were killed Monday in an auto that ran off the road and slammed into a ditch.

Killed were Ossie Redden, 25, of Coweta; her two daughters, Sheila Mae, 5, and Patricia June, 2; a son, Columbus Redden Jr., 3; and Ermaline Bradden, about 45, also of Coweta. Injured to the accident were Columbus Redden

Sr., 28, of Coweta, driver of the car and husband of Ossie Redden; a daughter Diane Redden, 5; Olessier Mays, 34, and Ivory Mays, 3, both of Coweta; and John Lee Hughes, 29, of Wynne, Ark.

"Every thousand years the Lord does something to warn his people that they need to love and obey Him," said Brother Grant McCary, a deacon in the church.

"The first thousand years it was the flood. Noah built the Ark and the other people were killed.

"The second thousand years, God sent Jesus to help us. We killed him.

"Now it's the third thousand years and perhaps raising these people from the dead will be the sign. Perhaps when the world sees what we have done here, they will believe and return to God."

McCary said this was a test of faith. "But I won't be discouraged if He doesn't do it this time," he said. "I'll just realize that we need to be more faithful. That we need to do more. That somehow we have failed."

Masterpieces stolen

BEREGALIZ-DE-LESMO, Italy (UPI)—The thief broke into the villa of a wealthy industrialist in this northern Italian town, anesthetized a guard dog and made off with drawings by Dutch, Spanish and Italian masters, worth an estimated $500,000, police said today.

Officers said the loot included drawings and studies by such artists as Titian, Carraresi, Velasquez, Rubens, Raphael and Tiepolo.

The drawings were taken from the ground floor of a gallery of a villa owned by industrialist Angelo Salo, 66, while he was vacationing in the south of Italy, police said.

Laura Butts engaged

Filer girl sets date of wedding

FILER — Mr. and Mrs. Lauren E. Butts, Filer, announce the engagement of their daughter, Laura Marie, to Paul Dee Engstrom, Butts.

Miss Mrs. Paul Dee Engstrom and the late A. Gene Engstrom.

The nuptials will be celebrated on Sept. 26 at the Filer First Baptist Church with Rev. Roy W. Watson officiating.

Miss Butts is a 1974 graduate of Filer High School and is employed at the Hollywood Co., Twin Falls.

Engstrom was graduated in 1972 from Bull High School, graduated in 1974 from the College of Southern Idaho, attended one year at the University of Idaho, Moscow, and is enrolled in the vocational school of registration at CSI.

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb—My husband is 58 years old and has to watch his cholesterol. He also has a tendency to diverticulosis. Many foods that are beneficial for one of these problems are detrimental to the other, making it difficult to provide him with a nutritious and delicious meal.

He takes Atromin-S for the cholesterol and Metamucil to keep his bowels moving, but contains no cholesterol. A breakfast of cereal with fortified skim milk is a good way to start the day for such a diet plan. I can't answer all your questions here so I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-6, Diverticulosis, to give you more information on that problem. GLENNIS FERRY — Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bernt, Glennis Ferry, announce the engagement of their daughter Jane to Jerrold F. Tibor, American Falls.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tibor of American Falls. He graduated from the American Falls High School in 1972 and will graduate from Idaho State University after this fall semester. In Business Management and Organization.

Miss Bernt is a 1972 graduate of the Glennis Ferry High School and is attending Idaho State University.

MISS BERNT

Too much reading?

We would both prefer a more natural and pleasant way of coping. When he asks his doctors about lecithin, bran, vitamins, they accuse his wife of "reading books" and throw the matter back into our laps.

I have been reading books naturally, trying to respond to solving his dietary problems. But I don't know that I am reading the right books and have several questions that perhaps you can answer.

Should we consult a nutritionist or dietitian to help us work out a satisfactory diet?

What about fiber? Salads? Grapefruit and oranges? Bran? Whole grain breads?

Is tongue okay? What about shellfish? Do mushrooms have any food value?

What books should I be reading?

Dear Reader—A diet for diverticulosis can be planned so it will also work for individuals with high cholesterol and high blood fat levels. In fact, the parts of the world free of heart and vascular disease are the same areas, free of diverticulosis and cancer of the bowel. The diet is given credit by many for both of these benefits for these "less advanced societies."

Cereal fiber is the most important element in the diet to provide needed bulk. The cereal foods are low in fat and envelope with 50 cents for it. Just address your letter to me at the care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10109.

You'll need much more information on food in regard to building a diet for the cholesterol problem. My book, "What You Need to Know About Food and Cooking For Health," will give you recipes, food values such as those for mushrooms and shellfish and all other common foods and basic information on foods and menu planning. You should find it in your library.

Yes, I think you should see a dietitian for meal planning. And I do think you can use cereals and whole wheat breads, but you need to watch the calories. Weight control is very important in lowering cholesterol. All I suggest, fat must go. Fat is fairly low in cholesterol but shrimp are moderately high. All shellfish are low in fat.

Mushrooms have very little food value unless you add a rich sauce to them. Salads are fine if you don't add a high caloric, high fat salad dressing. The entire fruit group is fine, but the small seeds such as in grapes might be avoided because of the diverticulosis. Keep on reading. Smart patients live longer.

Group will discuss hypertension causes

FOCATELLO (ISU) — Hypertension will be the subject of a three-hour program to be held this

Wednesday from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. at Cassia Memorial Hospital Auditorium in Burley and from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. at Magie Valley Memorial Hospital Conference Room in Twin Falls.

The program is designed for nurses—and interested individuals. It is presented by the Idaho State University Continuing Education in Nursing Project in cooperation with the Southeastern Idaho Center for Health Resources (SICHR).

The causes of hypertension will be examined through a definition of terms, a brief review of anatomy and physiology and the identification of the "at risk" population.

A study of diagnostic evaluation will include history and physical examination, blood pressure, signs and symptoms—identification and laboratory and X-ray examinations.

Topics concerning treatment to be covered are modification of life style, drug therapy and nursing intervention.

Last meeting

TWIN FALLS—The Happy Go Lucky 4-H club held the last meeting of the year Wednesday at the home of Christine Britt.

The flag salute was led by Angela Grøeger and the 4-H pledge by Terri Hayden. Final plans were made for the mothers' tea and style show to be held at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 18 at the Richard Britt home.

Mrs. Fred Britt, leader, reported record books are to be completed by Wednesday.

Demonstrations were given by Christine Britt on how to make an amplifier and how it works; Debbie Britze on how to match plaids and piece a pattern; Diane Anderson on patching jeans; and a seamstress, Debra Britze, making a tie belt; Kimberly Grooms, finishing seams and using plinking shears; Kim Holbrook, straightening fabrics; and Robin Reynolds, triple fold band.

Groups choose two for special award

Two Magic Valley women have been nominated. In the Outstanding Young Women of America program.

Karen Fraley, Twin Falls, who is curriculum director for the Buhl High School, and Charlene Critchell, Shoshone, home economist for the Extension Service for Camas, Blaine and Lincoln Counties, have been nominated for the honor.

The program is designed to honor and encourage exceptional young women between the ages of 21 and 30 who have distinguished themselves in their homes, profession and communities. The two Magic Valley women will be competing for the top Idaho Young Woman. From winners in the various states 10 national winners will be selected.

Ms. Critchell was born in Twin Falls, and resided in the Idaho State University where she received her BA degree in consumer economics. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Correll, Jerome.

Ms. Fraley was nominated for the honor by the Twin Falls Junior Club. She attended Boise Junior College on a scholarship, graduated Summa cum laude from the University of Idaho in 1963. She received her masters degree in education at the University in 1966. She has received a number of honor awards for her work in community organizations and the field of education and has served as curriculum director at Buhl since 1974.

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. — Skinny-dipping has arrived at Walt Disney World, quite by accident.

It happens at the amusement park's newest attraction, River Country. Here's the scene: a swimming hole in a private, lagoon-like setting.

Here's the action: You and your rubber raft or inner tube ride the rapids, past a waterfall, then down a series of ever-deepening slopes, a swirling 20 feet.

And here's the catch: Unless you're careful, you may wiggle out of your swimsuit. It's not something a body goes around advertising, but it happened to at least two riders in one day.

River Country also has two flume rides, called the Whizzer and Holler Hollow, for modern day Tom Sawyers. The trough-shaped water slides, one 200 feet and the other 100 feet, twist and turn hapless riders before neatly depositing them into the lagoon.

water, they're geared toward older children and adults who know how to swim.

But don't leave the little ones behind. They'll enjoy a wading pool and a kiddie pond with its own waterfall and slides.

All swimming rides are supervised by lifeguards. And there's a first-aid station nearby, as well as lockers and changing rooms.

When you run out of steam, recuperate on the sandy beach, in the sun or under one of several umbrellas. Pop's Place sells the fixings for a picnic lunch. Or, better yet, pack your own.

River Country is done in a rustic theme and blends in with its location at Fort Wilderness Campground. Reached by boat, bus or steam engine train, it's far removed from the loop of the Magic Kingdom and likely to become a popular, third-day stopping-off place at Disney World.

When you've had your fill of the water, you can hike along an elevated nature trail. We chose a scenic loop—100 to 125-acre Island, an 11-acre wonderland filled with lush, tropical plant life and colorful birds.

5 Cassia hopefuls set chamber date

BURLEY — Five candidates for queen of the Cassia County Fair and rodeo will be guests of the Burley Chamber of Commerce Monday.

The chamber resumes its weekly luncheons at Bryan's Café that day after a two-month summer hiatus.

Gary Hollinger said the queen candidates and the fair board have accepted invitations as guests for the first fall membership meeting. The fair board includes two new members appointed recently. They are Bob Severo, Oakley, and Chuck Skaggs Sr., Burley.

Severo fills the position held by Daljen Riquist, Oakley, for six years, before resigning last fall. Skaggs replaces four-year member F.E. "Smookey" Vaunatian, Burley.

Young for the fair and rodeo queen honors this year are Heidi Franks of Oakley and Karen Bedke, Terri Burch, Elvina Seamons and Carrie Walker, all of Burley.

The candidates will begin competition Monday in a fashion show at the annual Queen's Breakfast at 8:30 a.m. in the Ramada Inn. They will be judged on personality and poise, each responding to a question for the judges' consideration.

The girls will compete in horsemanship at 8 a.m. Wednesday at the Cassia County fairgrounds, rodeo arena. They will ride each night at the rodeo, which is set Thursday through Saturday and will assist in moving livestock from the arena.

The new queen will be crowned Saturday night, replacing Cindy Eason of Malta as reigning royalty.

Miss Bedke, 30, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bedke and is sponsored by the Burley Lions Club. She graduated from Burley High School this year with a scholarship to Brigham Young University.

Horsemanship — western English and hunt style — are her hobbies. She won the 4-H Idaho horsemanship award last year and placed second last month in the 4-H state horse judging contest.

She will ride an 11-year-old sorrel gelding, quarterhorse named Skipper's Leo.

Miss Burch, sponsored by the Deelo Lions Club, is the 19-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ormand Burch.

A 1972 graduate of Burley High School, where she was named "Outstanding Athlete," she was first runner-up in the Cassia County queen contest last year and was second runner-up for the 1976 Ruhl Sagebrush Days rodeo queen on July 4.

Miss Burch is a three-year member of the Minkaka Wranglers and enjoys both western and English saddle. She will ride Dusty, a seven-year-old Appaloosa mare, in this year's competition.

Miss Franks, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Franks and is sponsored by the Oakley Vigilantes.

She is a graduate of Oakley High School and will attend the LDS Business College at Salt Lake City this fall. She enjoys all kinds of sports, particularly skiing.

Her horse in the competition will be a seven-year-old palomino named Veller.

Miss Seamons, the eldest competitor at 25, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Seamons. She is sponsored by the Burley Kiwanis Club and will ride a quarter horse gelding named Leo. The horse is owned by Roder Bruner of Burley.

A graduate of Burley High School, Miss Seamons studied interior design at Utah State University and now works as a teacher's aide at Burley Junior High School.

She has fulfilled an LDS mission in Argentina. In addition to horses, she enjoys various types of outdoor sports.

Miss Walker, 18, sponsored by the Burley Rotary Club and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Walker. She plans to continue her schooling and become an airline stewardess.

She competes in horse shows and enjoys both winter and summer sports. She has listed two horses for the Cassia County queen competition. They are Dude's Pal — a sorrel quarter horse gelding and Dolly, a palomino quarter horse mare.

ANN JACKY sets date

Jerome miss sets wedding

JEROME — Miss and Mrs. Robert L. Jacky, Jerome, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Ann, to Charles Schabacker, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Schabacker, Twin Falls.

Miss Jacky is a 1975 graduate of Jerome High School and a 1976 graduate of the Idaho State University Technical Stenography Program. Charles Schabacker is a 1973 graduate of Twin Falls High School and is attending Idaho State University. An August wedding is planned.

Washable hair now popular

Chicago Sun-Times

Washable hair is more important than ever during the summer. It's too hot and sunny to fuss with hair and most women are too busy outdoors to spend time on a complicated style. However, having hair that doesn't go limp or frizz up when the humidity strikes.

Wouldn't it be nice to have a style you can simply shake into place after a swim and let dry naturally smooth and sleek in the sun? Or how about a curly style that you could just run your fingers through after a team sport and shower?

Easy-care hairstyles are what stylists recommend for hot weather. Edwain Costa of the Grimpers says he is giving more short and medium cuts this season. "Women want their hair off their necks," he says. "They want it to move freely. We are doing a lot of simple, precision cuts that can be dried naturally."

Women stop Irish violence

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Two thousand women marching out of the Roman Catholic ghetto of west Belfast have succeeded where police, politicians and British army failed.

They brought an abrupt stop Thursday to five days of Irish Republican Army violence and gave strident Northern Ireland its most peaceful 24 hours in months, according to security officials.

The women, backed by 2,000 more who signed a petition demanding the provisional wing of the outlawed IRA cease its campaign of urban violence, were angered by the killing of three children earlier this week.

Joanne Maguire, 8, John, 2, and Andrew, 2 months, were crushed to death when an automobile driven by a wounded fugitive IRA gunman careened onto the sidewalk and pinned the children to an iron railing. Their mother, Anne, was hospitalized.

As a result of the women's hostility, the provisionals ordered a halt to all further action for the time being.

Police were charging out of their houses earlier in the day chased off a group of teenagers preparing to hijack vehicles and block traffic on an expressway out of Belfast.

In Londonderry, 80 miles west of Belfast, British troops arrested six youths in stone-throwing skirmishes after a two-mile march of protestants and 16 bands in the annual "Apprentice Boys" parade through the city.

Expansion Bucs post first win, beating Saints

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Quarterback Steve Spurrier and halfback Essex Johnson each plunged one-yard for touchdowns and kicker Mirro Roder added a field goal to give the Tampa Bay Buccaneers their first victory with a 17-3 exhibition triumph over the winless Atlanta Falcons.

Only 11,342 fans turned out to watch the Bucs make its Florida debut.

Tampa Bay scored first with 1:55 left in the first quarter on a 40-yard field goal by Roder, a recent acquisition from the Cincinnati Bengals.

The Bucs' first touchdown was set up by a fumble by Atlanta's Bubba Bean as Tampa Bay recovered the ball on the Falcons' five-yard line.

Tampa fullback Vince Kendrick ran for four yards and punter, a favorite in Jacksonville since his days as a Heisman Trophy winner at the University of Florida, scored from the one-yard line to make it 10-0 with 8:11 left in the third quarter.

The Bucs' second touchdown came on a 70-yard drive, highlighted by a 45-yard pass from Spurrier to tight end Bob Moore and a pass interference call against Falcon safety Ray Brown that put the ball on the Falcons' two.

Kendrick bulled for one yard and Johnson took it over for the touchdown.

Griese-led Miami drops Eagles 24-16

MIAMI (UPI) — Quarterback Bob Griese suffered a bloody mouth in his first game since last November, but led the Miami Dolphins to a 24-16 exhibition victory over the Philadelphia Eagles Saturday night before 46,019 fans in the Orange Bowl.

Griese, showing he's fully recovered from a freak big-toe injury which sidelined him Nov. 23, hit six of seven passes for 71 yards in 17 minutes before Eagles end Blenda Gay felled him with a forearm to the mouth. The cut required three stitches, but he did not consider serious.

Griese hit receiver Pat Moore with a 36-yard touchdown three minutes into the game, then engineered a march to the 13-yard line where Gary Yערin made the score 10-0 with 2:20-1 elapsed in the second period.

Third-year man Don Strock, fighting to hold onto the Dolphins' No. 3 quarterback berth, replaid Griese. Strock gave up an interception before throwing a TD pass of 18 yards to fullback Norm Bulaich with 12 seconds left in the first half. Strock also hit Morris Owens with a seven-yard scoring pass with 4:38 left in the third period.

Philadelphia's Mike Boryla connected on 12 of 20 passes for 119 yards, including a 70-yard touchdown throw to Charles Young early in the final period. But he suffered two costly interceptions.

Golsteyn leads NY past Oilers 30-14

HOUSTON (UPI) — Rookie Jerry Golsteyn threw one scoring pass, directed the New York Giants to two more touchdowns and made a strong bid for the team's backup quarterback job in a 30-14 exhibition win over the Houston Oilers Saturday night.

First-string quarterback Craig Morton, who played the first quarter, started the Giants toward their second victory by directing two scoring drives. George Hunt's 36-yard field goal and Larry Coska's one-yard run capped those drives and gave the Giants a 10-0 lead before Golsteyn went to work.

The first-year man from Northern Illinois drove the Giants 36 yards for Larry Watkins' one-yard touchdown run and, after an interception, Golsteyn fired a three-yard touchdown pass to Jim Otradiovich just before halftime.

The Oilers, ineffective in the first half under the direction of John Hadji, scored twice in the first nine minutes of the second half, both on long Dan Pastriani passes.

Houston's Billy Johnson caught a 61-yard bomb 3:10 into the third quarter and Ken Burrough raced behind the Giants' Bobby Brooks four minutes later to catch a 50-yard touchdown pass.

The Giants were scoreless while David Jaynes quarterbacked the team in the second half, but Golsteyn returned in the final quarter for the clinching New York touchdown.

Kickoff run helps Bengals past Lions

CINCINNATI, (UPI) — Rookie Danny Reece returned the second-half kickoff 86 yards for a touchdown and reserve quarterback John Reeves threw two touchdown passes to lead the Cincinnati Bengals to a 20-14 victory over the Detroit Lions Saturday night.

It was the third straight preseason victory without a loss for Cincinnati, while Detroit suffered its third exhibition loss in four outtings.

Reece, drafted out of Southern California, took the second-half kickoff on his 14-yard line, darted toward the right sideline, faked out a final Detroit defender at midfield and ran easily into the end zone.

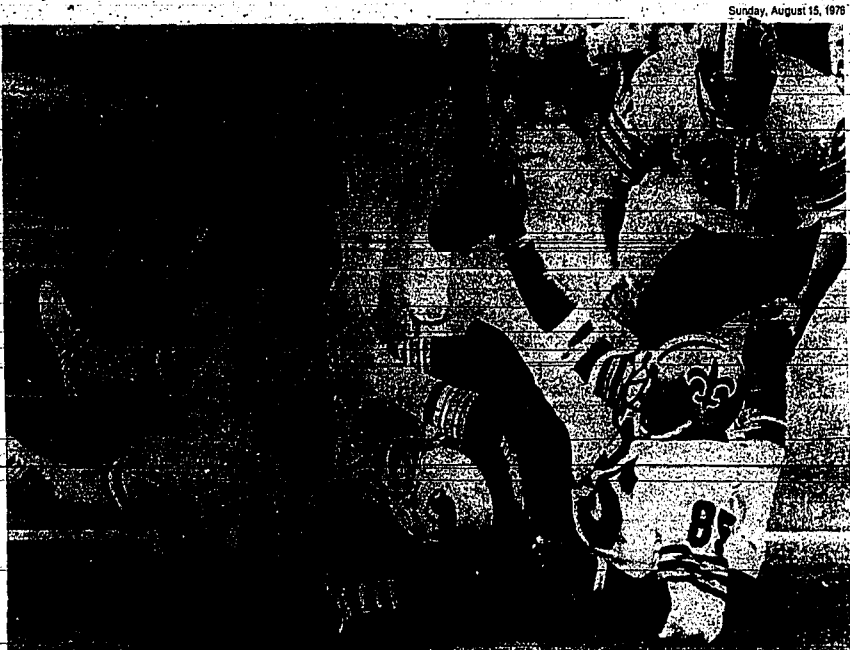

Reeves tossed a 13-yard touchdown pass to rookie Billy Brooks of Oklahoma in the second quarter and then zipped a 70-yard scoring aerial to rookie Archie Griffin of Ohio State in the final period.

Rookie Chris Bahr of Penn State added a 27-yard field goal for the Bengals, who also got a gift of a safety when Detroit center Ed Noll snapped the ball over the head of punter Horrian Weaver and out of the lions end zone.

The brightest spot of the game for Detroit was in the third-quarter when defensive back James Hunter, a rookie from Grambling State, picked up a Griffin fumble and ran 82 yards for a touchdown.

Drut takes hurdles
VIAREGGIO, Italy (UPI) — Guy Drut of France followed up his Olympic gold medal by winning the 110 meter hurdles Saturday at the fifth International Light Athletics meet, beating out two Americans to the wire.

Drut broke the tape at 13.5, edge out Charles Foster and Willie Davenport.
America's Steve Riddick won the 100 meters at 10.3 and Jim Boldin of the U.S. took the 400 meter hurdles event with a time of 48.9.
American athletes also won the 500 meters and 400 meters and women's 1,500 meter competition.

Staubach wants to forget incident

DALLAS (UPI) — It has been five years since the Dallas Cowboys' training camp was disrupted by the saga of Duane Thomas. And when Thomas rejoined the team this year he became the instant subject of possible disruption speculation.

So it was somewhat fascinating that when disorder came to the Cowboys' practice sessions this year, it involved an apple-cheeked youngster who chases rattlesnakes and the veteran quarterback known around pro football as "Mr. Clean."

It usually takes quite a bit to make Roger Staubach angry. And when he returned to Dallas from the Cowboys' Thousand Oaks, Calif., training camp this week, it was obvious the club's veteran quarterback was still pretty irate.

And Staubach seemed most irate about the fact that he had no chance to retaliate last Thursday when backup quarterback Clint Longley felled him with one punch.

"I would never fight a man who did not have a chance to defend himself," said Staubach, who was putting on his shoulder pads when Longley hit him, causing the Cowboys No. 1 quarterback to fall back onto a large set of scales.

"But I'm going to try to forget it about it. After this discussion about it, I'm not going to say another word about the whole thing."

And that is just what coach Tom Landry wants. After the incident, which occurred on the eve of the team's departure from Thousand Oaks, Landry told his players he did not want them discussing the brief scuffle.

"But that is just something you do not have any control over. We are just going to have to put some of these things behind us and get on with the things we have to do."

"One thing Dallas will try to do is to stay away from controversy. And, thus far, the man most expected to provide some, has been noticeably dedicated to his job on the field."

When the charter airliner carrying the Cowboys back to town pulled up to the terminal last Friday, more than a dozen reporters were anxious to visit with Staubach and hear, once again, his version of the trouble with Longley.

Staubach was one of the last players off the plane. Long before his departure, a flyer dressed nattily in a gray business suit had walked through the crowd almost unnoticed. And that was probably just what Duane Thomas wanted it.

"Obviously, we were slowed by the injuries," said Landry.

"We have not made a final decision on Longley," Landry said.

The Longley-Staubach incident finished off one of the least productive training camps in Cowboys history.

Preston Pearson, Cliff Harris, Kyle Davis, Robert Newhouse, Lee Roy Jordan and Duane Thomas have all been bothered by injuries that have kept them out of action.

"Obviously we were slowed by the injuries," said Landry.

Ali, Frazier cited by boxing writers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali and recently-retired former champion Joe Frazier were honored by the Boxing Writers Association Friday night as co-winners of the 1975 Fighter of the Year Award for their epic confrontation last Oct. 1 in Manila.

Other award winners were Eddie Fulc, recipient of the Al Buck Memorial Award as Trainer of the Year; Dan Daniel, 88-year-old associate editor of Ring Magazine, awarded the James J. Walker Award for long and meritorious service to boxing; and New York Times columnist Walter "Red" Smith, singled out for excellence in boxing journalism and given the Nat Fleischer Award.

Olympic light welterweight gold medalist Howard Davis Jr., was presented the Val Barker Award for outstanding skills by an amateur boxer.

Despite being stopped after 14 rounds by Ali, Frazier was named to share the Edward J. Neil Award as Fighter of the Year for his courageous efforts in making the "Thrilla in Manila" what many boxing journalists consider the outstanding title fight in history. He retired from the ring June 15 after being knocked out in the fifth round by George Foreman.

Ali was not present at the dinner, preferring instead to remain in seclusion somewhere in the Arizona desert, where he is undergoing an intensive training regimen for his Sept. 28 title defense against Ken Norton in New York's Yankee Stadium.

During the 1975 calendar year, Ali successfully defended the title he regained from Foreman in October, 1974 three other times, knocking out Chuck Wepner and Ron Lyle and scoring a unanimous decision over Joe Bugner.

Fulch was honored for convincing Frazier to stay in his corner at the start of the 15th round of the Manila fight, a position not normally associated with boxing trainers who are stereotyped as cruel and heartless, interested more in personal benefit than the welfare of their fighters. Fulch also has succeeded in meticulously guiding Duane Bobick to the upper echelon of the heavyweight ranks.

Bears overpower Baltimore 25-14

CHICAGO (UPI) — Walter Payton rushed for 123 yards on 31 carries and scored two touchdowns Saturday night to lead the Chicago Bears to a 25-14 victory over the Baltimore Colts in an exhibition game.

It was the third win of the preseason without a loss for the Bears. The Colts, who had not given up a touchdown previously this season, took their first defeat after two wins.

The Bears never trailed as Bob Thomas kicked field goals of 50 and 42 yards in the first period and Payton scored on a one-yard run before Baltimore managed its first touchdown on a four-yard run by Don McCauley.

But Chicago quarterback Xeb Avellini completed a 56-yard scoring pass to Bo Rafter and Payton scored on a four-yard run in the last period.

Baltimore quarterback Bert Jones passed 24 yards to Glenn Douglas for the Colts' second touchdown.

THE END CAME In the third round for Scott Ledoux, who lies on the canvas after being clipped by former heavyweight champion George Foreman. The official decision was a TKO by Foreman. (UPI telephoto)

Foreman stops Ledoux on easy TKO in third round

UTICA, N.S. (UPI) — Former heavyweight champion George Foreman felled Scott Ledoux near the end of the third round and registered an easy TKO in a dull nationally televised heavyweight fight at Utica Memorial Auditorium Saturday afternoon.

Ledoux, a virtually unknown fighter from Minneapolis crumpled to the canvas with two seconds remaining in the round. Barely getting to his feet as the count continued after the bell, Ledoux was wobbling toward his corner when the referee stopped the bout and awarded the victory to Foreman.

The triumph was Foreman's third in 41 professional fights. Foreman's only loss was in 1974 when Muhammad Ali knocked him out in the eighth round in a bid to regain the heavyweight crown.

Ledoux was cut badly on the left side of his face when Foreman scored the winning punches with a left-right combination. From midway through the third round he had been little more than a punching bag for the former world champ. Foreman scored points easily with rights and lefts.

In the first round, Foreman rarely threw a serious punch, perhaps to extend the length of the mismatch to allow more television commercials. It seemed obvious from the start that anytime Foreman wanted to start swinging he could end the bout quickly.

Foreman again showed reluctance to throw punches in the second round, and until the middle of the third, the bout resembled a sparring session between two heavy bags.

Ledoux's record for his two-and-a-half year old career now stands at 18-2-2.

Foreman went into the fight with six-pound weight advantage at 229 pounds, compared with 223 for Ledoux.

"Ledoux surprised me," Foreman said afterward. "He was too smart and he wouldn't go for nothing so I just tried to put him away." He referred to a second-round tactic in which he shook his right hand at Ledoux in an attempt to get him to defend against it and thus throw a left jab.

Foreman's punches had hurt him with a right punch to the face in the second round and Ledoux required stitches for a cut under his left eye.

While he may have other fights between now and when he goes for the title again, Foreman said that in the title fight he'll just go for the win and not for the knockout.

He also said he doesn't care whether the defender is Ali or Ken Norton, as long as he gets a chance at the title.

"I lost on a mistake," Ledoux admitted. "I pulled down to get away and I went right into something. That's all I remember."

Skinner breaks swim mark

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Jonty Skinner, a South African who tried unsuccessfully to compete in the Summer Olympics for the United States, set a world record Saturday in the 100-meter freestyle at the AAU Outdoor National Championships.

The 22-year-old Skinner, swimming for the Central Jersey Aquatic Club, covered the distance in a time of 49.34, more than one-half second better than the record of 49.99 set by Jim Montgomery in his gold medal effort at the Olympics.

One hour later, Skinner led Central Jersey to a victory time of 3:27.91 in the 400-meter freestyle relay with a leadoff leg of 49.81 seconds.

With a large crowd from his home state cheering him on in the individual race, Skinner pulled away in the final 50 meters to win by more than five yards. Then he walked to the wall, rested his head on his arms and cried for several minutes. "This has been just like a dream," said Skinner, who attends the University of Alabama. "I've dreamt about it all year long. In bed I just like and think about my spills."

Skinner was not allowed in the Olympics because South Africa is banned from the games. Efforts to get to the Olympics as an American competitor with the New Jersey club were rebuffed.

Skinner's effort was the only world record of the meet. Just one American record was set in the competition, coming Friday night in the 400-meter freestyle relay.

Fifteen-year-old Jill Sterkel, a member of the Golden's world record 400-meter freestyle relay team at Montreal, anchored her El Monte Aquatic Club team to victory in the 400 freestyle relay in the time of 3:54.97.

Earlier, Sterkel, of Hablenda Heights, Calif., passed two of her Olympic teammates — Kim Peyton and Wendy Bogliolo — in winning the 100-meter freestyle with a meet-record time of 57.20.

Olympic competitors won both the men's and women's 200 individual medley, an event not contested at the Olympics. Steve Furniss won his race in 2:07.36 while Kathy Heddy won with 2:21.54.

Cisley Converse, the winner of the 400-meter freestyle Thursday, shattered the meet record in the men's 1,500 freestyle by 10 seconds to lead Mission Viejo to a 1-2-3 sweep. Brian Goodell, the world recordholder and gold medalist in the event, finished third behind 14-year-old Jesse Vassallo.

Evie Kosenkrantz, 14, of Seattle, easily won the women's 1,500 in 16:41.77, eight seconds off the mark.

John Naber, winner of four Olympics gold medals and a double winner here, won the men's individual high point award, while Donalace Wenerstrom, winner of the 400-meter individual medley, took the women's award.

McTear, high school track coach part

MIAMI (UPI) — Houston McTear's high school coach says his association with the world record-holding sprinter "is all over" and he believes McTear's glory days are in the past.

In a telephone interview with the Miami Herald from his Clearwater home, Will Willoughby, former coach, confidant and father figure to McTear, said, "He's gone his way and I've gone mine."

McTear tied the world record of 9.8 seconds over 100 yards during the preliminaries of the state high school meet in Winter park, Fla., when he was in 11th grade.

But things turned sour during McTear's senior year in high school.

"He got to where he wouldn't go to school, wouldn't train," Willoughby said. "My personal opinion is that he'll never be as good as he was in 11th grade."

Willoughby last saw McTear during the trials for the U.S. Olympic Team in Eugene, Oregon. "I would say I only served as partially his coach in that meet."

McTear, who pulled up lame after qualifying for the U.S. team, called Willoughby after he felt injured his leg during Olympic preparations in Plattsburgh, N.Y.

"I told him I was sorry he was hurt," Willoughby said. "But that was just the way life is. It was his own fault, he injured himself and I told him so."

Quarrie wins sprints

LONDON (UPI) — Olympic champion Don Quarrie of Jamaica ran away with the 200 meters title Saturday to complete a sprint double in the British AAA track and field championships at London's Crystal Palace.

Quarrie, who won the 100 meters Friday, left his British rivals, Gary Cohen and Adrian Bennett, trailing in his wake as he stroled to victory in a championship heat time of 20.4 seconds.

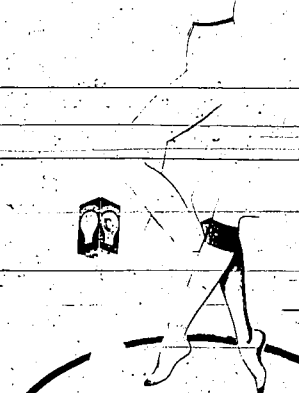

Americans John Powell and Mike Tully also set championship records in their events: Powell won the discus with a throw of 214 ft. 11 inches and Tully cleared 171 ft. 5 inches in the pole vault.

John Walker, New Zealand's 1,500 meters champion and one-time world record holder, finished second behind Steve Ovett in the 800 meters. Walker, looking a tired man after competing in four events in less than a fortnight, was overhauled on the home straight as Ovett crossed the line in 1:47.4 seconds, three tenths of a second ahead of the New Zealander.

With their sweep of the 1,500, the Mission Viejo Nadadores assured themselves of winning the men's competition. Mission Viejo also won the women's and combined team trophies.

Soviet harvest

TWIN PLAGUES of unfavorable weather and bureaucratic inefficiency have apparently joined once again to menace agriculture in the Soviet Union. Western specialists believe the grain crop will fall short again this year.

although the level should be comfortably above the 1975 debacle. Above, combines move through a field at the "Pobeda" collective farm in Chitinskaya Oblast during harvest operations. (UPI)

'Redneck' cult grows

Texas version

HERE'S an honest-to-goodness "redneck" from Denton, Tex. He's decked out in denim, boots and hat and stands alongside his pickup truck. This lifestyle now influences the young and is causing a cult of redneck worship all the way from the Texas honky-tonks to sophisticated parties along both coasts. (UPI)

DENTON, Tex. (UPI) — Rednecks. If you are one of the tribe, enjoy it. If you aren't, fake it. You may have to live with them for awhile.

Americans are making a cult of redneck worship. It's afad stretching from New York to San Francisco, from Chicago to Miami. On the Washington cocktail circuit, it's called "hick chic." Blue denim, western hats and boots are fashionable.

"It's a nostalgic movement," says Dr. James W. Lee, an educator by profession, a folklorist by avocation and a redneck by birth.

Lee, who teaches modern British literature to graduate students and will take the Department of Texas State University in September, grew up as the son of a mail carrier in the small community of Leeds, Ala.

"My parents honky-tonked and I went with them because nobody could afford babysitters." Later, he said, he and the other children shied away from the typical country-style night on the town because it labeled them as rednecks.

"We spent our time trying to get as far away from it as we possibly could," Lee said.

"When the young people do the redneck act, I get interested in it. I've always been interested in folklore," he said.

Lee is a recognized expert and a speaker in demand in the area. One of his talks is about redneck women and is subtitled "Mothers and Others."

While some of those who turn up at sophisticated parties on the coasts wearing light, faded jeans and western shirts have never been near a farm or, a ranch, the scene in Texas is quite different.

"You have the honest-to-God rednecks whose dress — which is now being affected by the young — has been worn by goal-ropers in honky-tonks for as long as I can remember. And then you have the pseudo rednecks," Lee said.

The pseudo rednecks, Texas style, encompass those who have no legitimate claim to the "redneck" title even though the term now includes any member of the working class.

"These are the hippie slash rednecks," Lee said. They joined the movement when the single fad began to fade.

If a cross section could be drawn, the pseudo redneck would be someone who drinks Coors or Lone Star beer, the latter from the foot-tall bottles called "longnecks."

"They listen to Steve Premlator, Michael Murphy and Jerry Jeff Walker. They drive an old pickup — fully restored — wear turquoise jewelry, would like to have boots by Charlie Dunn and a hat from Texas Hatters," Lee said.

The real redneck was born that way and will die that way.

"Every generation had a nostalgia craze, but this won't pass away among the real rednecks," Lee said.

The real redneck, according to Lee's profile, drives a new pickup truck but aspires to a Cadillac. "If he has a second car more than likely it will be a '62 Impala with the doors wired up."

The real redneck also:

- Listens to Willie Nelson or anything that comes over the country music station.
- Drinks any brand of beer.
- It all comes out of the same mouth. Jack Daniels whisky straight or mixed with cola.

- Watches all televised football games.
- Honky-tonks who are going out ("the chances are good greater he'll get 'flat ass drunk'").
- Likes his wife "pure and virginal" even though he is not above to "fooling around" before he decides to settle down.

Regards the CD radio as a status symbol second only to a Cadillac.

The genuine redneck's ultimate hero is John Wayne. Everybody out there is doing John Wayne or, at the very least, champion Larry Mahan, Lee said.

Lee said redneck women also have recognizable traits that mesh with their culture.

"While the redneck male is interested in money, a redneck female is interested in money and femininity."

"They want to be good wives and good mothers. They want to take a wild country boy and settle him down. They want to be good mothers. The feminist movement has no appeal among the working class."

In Texas, the rednecks and pseudo rednecks coexist and even mingle. They go to the same concerts and some of the same bars. But the real rednecks also have their own honky-tonks which the pseudo rednecks seldom visit. They are places where beards and long hair are suspect, although the real rednecks seldom make an issue of the pseudo redneck's fonsorial styles in the mixed bars.

Lee, who has sported a full beard for 10 years, said he never stops him from going into the honky-tonks lining the highways around Dallas and Fort Worth. However, he said the practice is not without its potential for danger.

"Texas rednecks tend to be polite and about 90 per cent of the time there's no trouble. As long as you can say, 'Hi, how you?' you aren't going to get into trouble."

"I just smile and become extremely friendly and everything is fine. That's not to say one won't break your face, but if you're polite..." Lee said, letting the sentence dangle.

Swine entry deadline set

FILER — Entries for the swine department of the Twin Falls County Fair will close at 5 p.m., Aug. 28.

Justin Mills, Twin Falls superintendent, advises swine breeders to make entries early so pens may be assigned.

Judging in this department will commence at 9 a.m., Sept. 7.

Swine must pass all health requirements as outlined in the fair book. All swine must be accompanied by an official health certificate and the copy of the health certificate must remain with the swine at all times.

Wide-Weils-Hoese is judge for the swine department which has six classes including Duroc, Poland China, Berkshire, Yorkshire, Hamp-shire and Chester White.

Premiums will be paid for 15 classes of each breed with a banner to be awarded, the premier sire, rosettes to grand champion boar and grand champion sow, and purple ribbons to grand and reserve champion boar, senior boar, junior boar, sow, senior sow and junior sow.

Animals in the market hog class may be either purebred, grade or crossbred barrows. Each breed will be judged separately for ribbons and overall judging in each weight class for top four winners and grand champion ribbons.

A 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America open modern market swine contest will be held with special cash awards—judges will be Otto Florence, Bill Haren, Gene Gibson and Dr. John Miller, state meat specialist.

Gem spud acreage up

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's potato acreage for harvest this year was estimated today at 363,000 acres or 13 per cent more than last year and six per cent above the 1974 record.

The Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said at the present time there are adequate supplies of irrigation water available for the crop.

Harvested a "age in the 10 southwestern counties is expected to total 35,000 this year or 2,000 more than 1975. Early planting and favorable weather have enabled the crop to make excellent progress to date.

Harvest has begun on a limited scale in early fields compared with last year when the harvest began in late August. Digging is expected to become general the latter part of August.

For other counties, 1978 crop is estimated at 228,000 acres or 13 per cent above 1975.

A late frost nipped fields — particularly in eastern Idaho — and the crop north of Idaho Falls is late.

Campaign Contributions Federal law under the Elections Campaign Amendments of 1974 limits contributions to $1,000 per individual donor for each primary, runoff, special or general election. No donor may give more than a total of $25,000 to all federal candidates and political committees in any one election year. A presidential candidate and immediate family can give no more than $30,000 for that candidate's own campaign. Senate candidates are limited to $35,000 in personal funds and House candidates to $25,000.

Workshop slated on bug problem

MOSCOW — The lygus bug, an unpopular, crop-destroying pest throughout the world, will be spotlighted in a scientific meeting in Washington, D.C., which has been arranged by entomologists of the University of Idaho College of Agriculture.

Donald R. Scott, UI associate research professor, will be chairman of an Aug. 21 lygus bug workshop to be held in conjunction with the 15th International Congress of Entomologists.

Scott says none of the research papers to be presented will show the lygus bug in a truly favorable light. However, two of the three reports Scott is presenting will explore possible benefits in agriculture which might result from knowledge about the destructive lygus bug.

From his research at the Parma Research and Extension Center, Scott has found evidence that lygus bugs may inject a biochemical substance into developing seeds, bringing on higher yields in the next generation. Isolation of this growth regulator would be a big breakthrough for agricultural science, he will tell the workshop.

In another research report, Scott will review existing knowledge about the lygus bug's possible good influence as a pollinator. Research thus far has found little evidence of beneficial effects in this area, he points out.

"Our workshop will investigate all phases of inter-relationships about the lygus bug's possible good influence as a pollinator. Research thus far has found little evidence of beneficial effects in this area, he points out.

THE CENTER PIVOT CENTER

The payoff with a Valley Corner System is profits from idle acres.

You can make more money with a Valley Corner System. That's because total cost per acre is equal to or less than ordinary center pivots and you're getting extra acres into production for profit in a square quarter. 150 acres versus 131 in a long rectangle. 165 acres versus 131. One-way shaped fields may be the only effect was.

Basically, the cost of your land and water system is basically the same whether you're irrigating 150 acres or 131. With the Valley, you spread that budget over more acres. You profit from more acres and you stop waiting valuable land.

Solid-state, space-age reliability. Solid-state controls direct the system, because solid-state reliability has been proven over many years. There are no moving parts and only micro-electrical currents. There is great precision in water distribution and in uniform watering. Guided control are modular, using built-in components, greatly simplifying servicing if needed.

Unmost flexibility. If you want to skip a corner, it's a simple if a field is odd-shaped, the track can be laid for maximum coverage. If you wish to skip both ends of a long rectangle, you can cover up to 165 acres. The system is instantly reconfigurable. It has excellent rough-ground capability — slopes up to 15%.

Long-term leases at low net cost. You don't have to wait to take the benefits of a Corner System. Bank-rate money is available to you for long term leases and a cutting pump power unit with insurance, installation and delivery equipment. Make a minimal down payment and buy on your own. Furthermore, a Chester Dallas Other finance options are in effect including the E.P.S. Fund.

Estate tax reform measure faces tough debate in House

By BERNARD BRENNER
UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI)—

Chairman Al Ulman, D-Ore., remains basically optimistic about prospects for a far-reaching estate tax reform bill approved recently by his House Ways and Means Committee, an aide says.

But the road to possible final enactment of the bill—which includes some features designed to meet top priority demands of farm groups on all sides of the political spectrum—has been complicated by a decision of the House Democratic Caucus to permit debate on two amendments when the bill comes to the House floor.

Ways and Means members had agreed to ask the House Rules Committee to schedule debate on the measure under a "closed rule" procedure. This would have required the House to vote yes or no on the bill with no opportunity for amendments on the floor.

The Democratic Caucus, however, voted earlier this week to instruct the Rules Committee to schedule debate under a "modified closed rule" under which two specified-advance amendments could be offered.

An Ulman aide said the Ways and Means chairman is expected to go to the Rules Committee later this month with a formal request to schedule the estate tax measure. But there has been "some talk" about possibly convening the Ways and Means panel first to review the situation produced by the proposal for floor consideration of amendments, he said.

Ulman himself earlier had been a sponsor of the provisions which now may be re-offered in the proposed House floor amendments. They deal with estate tax exemptions for farmers and others, and with so-called "generation skipping" trusts.

Source said, however, that the Ways and Means chairman fears that any tinkering with the "carefully balanced" set of compromises put together by his committee could weaken support for the measure which backers say is needed because current laws often require heirs to break up family farms in order to raise money for estate taxes.

The bill as approved by the Ways and Means panel would provide a new tax credit replacing present estate tax and gift tax exemptions.

In place of the current exemption of the first $60,000 of any estate from inheritance tax and the current exemption for $20,000 in lifetime gifts, the bill would provide a new unified tax credit. This would have the same effect as a combined estate and gift tax exemption beginning at $20,667 in 1977 and working up to a permanent level of $153,750 in 1979.

Farmers would "share" that benefit with other taxpayers, but would also get additional aid from other portions of the bill. Among other things, they would get long-sought permission to value inherited land for estate tax purposes—at its value for farming rather than a higher price based on potential real estate development.

Other new provisions which have strong farm backing include proposals to liberalize marital deductions used when an estate passes from a husband to his widow, or vice versa. In some cases, the combined new marital deduction and tax credit plans could allow a widow to inherit a $400,000 estate without facing any estate tax, and one provision offers wives a long-sought chance to have part of their family farms considered as belonging to the widow rather than as part of the husband's taxable estate.

Countering these and other benefits, however, the bill includes a so-called "carryover basis" section which would shift capital gains taxes on some heirs—including farmers—who have escaped them in the past. This would be done by requiring an heir who sells inherited property to measure his profit by starting with the value of the property when it was acquired by the person who willed it to him.

The new "carryover basis" plan would not hit a farm heir who continued to farm the land, but would come into effect if the land was sold.

A second amendment would lengthen the section of the bill dealing with generation-skipping trusts.

Doctors to examine 1,000 farmers exposed to toxic chemical in feed

NEW YORK (UPI)—GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—In October, after farmers in this dairy country have gathered their harvest, Kent Community Hospital will become the scene of an extensive health survey of the effects of an environmental contaminant.

Dr. Irving J. Selkoff, director of the Environmental Sciences Laboratory at Mount Sinai Medical Center in New York, and two dozen of his medical associates will spend a week at the hospital examining up to a thousand farmers who were exposed to a toxic chemical that three years ago was accidentally mixed into animal feed.

The chemical, polychlorinated biphenyls, or PCBs, is a close relative of DDT, an industrial pollutant that has become widespread through the environment and has been shown in heavily exposed people in Japan and upstate New York to cause liver and thyroid abnormalities, nerve damage, skin lesions, pregnancy problems and, in laboratory animals, cancer and growth retardation.

Like PCB, PBB is persistent and can be passed on the succeeding generations. It is stored in the body fat, where it can remain for years, perhaps indefinitely. It crosses the placenta to the developing fetus, and it appears in breast milk. However, molecule for molecule PBB is five times more toxic than PCB.

Dr. Thomas H. Corbett, an environmentalist at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, who is a researcher at the Veterans Administration Hospital there, has shown that PBB can cause birth defects in mice and preliminary data suggest cancer as well.

In coming here to explore the health effects of what has been called the nation's worst agricultural disaster, the Selkoff team will try to avoid the explosive controversy that since 1974 has pitted Michigan farmers and their families against the state Agriculture and Public Health Departments. The Michigan Farm Bureau, long considered the farmer's staunchest ally, and in some cases fellow farmers.

Like the situation in northern Minnesota, where the Reserve Mining Co. has continued to dump wastes containing asbestos into Lake Superior despite a six-year-old court battle that is still unresolved, the Michigan PBB episode is a classic example of the interplay of politics and economics with science in determining how much of a health hazard the public must face.

Selkoff, whose studies will be independently financed under the $500,000-a-year grant his laboratory receives from the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences and by the American Cancer Society, said that the Michigan situation was also classic in another sense.

"It is a natural experiment—a paradigm of environmental contamination," he said. "Since PBB was made for a limited time (1971 to 1975) in only one place, and the contamination is still essentially limited to Michigan, we will have the opportunity to properly research the effects of a pollutant, comparing what happened to exposed people to those who were not exposed."

The PBB accident was discovered in April 1974, nine to 12 months after Michigan Farm Bureau feed mills in a deliberately mixed feed inadvertently substituted Nutramaster, a magnesium oxide, into animal feed supplement. Both chemicals were produced by the Michigan Chemical Co. at St. Louis, Mich., and were packaged in similar brown bags.

Before the mixup was discovered, the meat, milk and eggs of tens of thousands of farm animals heavily contaminated with PBB were passed on to consumers and many animals that had died mysteriously were recycled as protein supplements.

FORECAST FOR SUNDAY, AUG. 15, 1978

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning is good for thinking of spiritual outlets by which you can improve yourself. In the evening think in terms of how you can build up your abundance by changes that are apparent.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Look to a wise person you know who can point the way to greater happiness. Plan to extend and expand your activities.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Concentrating on ethical and spiritual values can be most inspiring in the morning. Later engage in recreational activities you like.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Know what your personal aims are in the morning and how best to go after them. Plan how to improve your position in business.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Concentrate on improving your reputation in the morning. Also, plan how to become more successful in business.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Use different tactics where some problem of long-standing is concerned and get it solved wisely. Make the evening a delightful one.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Use good judgment in the morning instead of relying so much on your hunches, which are not too accurate now. Engage in favorite hobby later.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be more willing to make the changes that friends desire of you today. Keep promises you have made to others. Relax at home tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) The early part of the day is fine for doing a favor for one who has been loyal to you. Don't neglect important civic matters.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Engage in creative activities early in the day. Show more concern for mate who is irritated: Visit long-time friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Some new ideas you get in the morning can be put in operation very nicely. Don't neglect important correspondence.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Show more understanding for others. Enjoy spiritual talks that are inspiring early in the day. Take it easy tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Give more time and effort to a practical affair early in the morning. Entertain friends and relatives in the afternoon. Show that you have poise.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those very active persons who can learn a great deal by doing. Direct education along banking or big business lines. Be sure to give good spiritual and religious training to set this life on the right path.

Some scenes in plays in the days of William Shakespeare, even then as now, called for the dull roar of an angry mob in the background. To create this rumble, all hands offstage were directed to chant the word "rhubarb," repeatedly. No other set of syllables seemed to work quite so well to build that ominous noise. "Rhubarb" was written into the stage directions of countless dramas. Our Language man says it was where we got the name for a nose-to-nose argument between a baseball manager and an umpire.

Pretty cool customer, that Hank Aaron. Yogi Berra was catching, and in accordance with his habit of talking to the batters, he told Hank, "hey man, the trademark on your bat is down." Hank replied, "I didn't come to the plate to read."

Q. "How much does Kate Smith weigh, Louise?"
A. Would be inappropriate to report the weight of a lady, sir, and only a hard-nosed, unmitigated sad-would do so. Can quote Miss Smith herself, however, as saying she has lost 85 pounds in the last three years and intends to lose another 25 shortly.
Note it claimed in print that the average American soldier during the Revolutionary War was slightly taller than the average soldier during the Civil War. That's not right. The written records might indicate such; but what they don't show is the fact that Revolutionary soldiers were measured with their boots on, the Civil War soldiers barefoot. Height of the average 18-year-old man 100 years ago was 5-foot-5. Today it's the average 18-year-old man 100 years ago was 5-foot-5. Today it's the average 18-year-old man 100 years ago was 5-foot-5.

And advertising in the Times-News helps us deliver the world to your doorstep.

Consistently, we have presented the unusual, the exotic and the interesting in vacations, for the inexperienced as well as the seasoned traveler, by way of newspaper advertising in the Times-News.

The increased participation and enthusiasm shown by Magic Valley travelers has enabled 4-Ways Travel Service to expand from a one-man shop just a year-and-a-half ago to 6 experienced travel consultants today! And next month, we'll be opening a branch office in Burley.

Our sincere thanks to the people of Magic Valley and to the Times-News, whose very capable staff helped to make our business dream a reality.

QUESTION: Are you excited or frightened by the prospect of life on Mars?

Bill Mansfield, Twin Falls:

"I would be very much excited. We've been trying to prove, for a long time that this isn't the only world...I firmly believe that there is other life, and Mars is a likely planet."

Dennis Miller, Minneapolis, Minn.:

"I wouldn't be frightened, no — not frightened. I have no feelings either way if there is life. I guess it would depend on what kind of life they found."

Mrs. Jeff Cox, Casdell:

"It would be very exciting if there were because then we could get rid of some of our population and I'm serious. We're using up all our valuable farmland here for homes. I would go to Mars if they paid my way, but I wouldn't want to remain there."

Erin Maas, Elko, Nev.:

"Frightened. I don't know. I don't think we should mess around with things like that, really."

John A. Metcalf, Filer:

"I'm neither excited nor frightened. I'm not excited because I don't anticipate life as we know it. I'm not frightened because if it is, the Lord still has the situation in His hands."

Baldomero Casas, Paul:

"For me, you're the truth here. I'm not excited. Why should I? I think it's just a waste of money. I'm a Christian and it doesn't say anything in the Bible about going to Mars. There is life here, why go there? I don't think there is life on Mars. Why go to Mars when Earth is better?"

Ruby Handrook, Twin Falls:

"Such. I think it would be great. If I was young enough, I'd be tempted to go to Mars. We just don't have the technology to go there."

Jim Harris, Twin Falls:

"I think the remote prospect of life on Mars is exciting to say the least. The amazing thing is the ability to send the capsule both the flight and the landing maneuvers. It's really fantastic."

Jerry discreet

California Gov. Jerry Brown is super discreet and demands pledges of silence from his aides and dates. This is the reason his name is never linked with a romantic interest. See page 15.

Double duty

James Couch, a Twin Falls artist who works during the day at the Everton-Mattress factory—says he may spend as much as eight hours at night drawing and painting. Times-News writer Bob Zuckerman talks to him about his work on pages 8 and 9.

NBC plans TV movie on Entebbe incident

With the major film studios falling over one another to film a dramatization of the recent Israeli rescue operation at Entebbe, it may turn out that such a film will be on your home screen long before one of the studios sets up its first shot. NBC just announced plans to produce a TV movie on the incident from an original script by Barry Beckerman.

The program will be a complete chronology of the affair—the hijacking of the Paris-bound Air France flight on June 27th; its landing at Entebbe the next day; the ensuing negotiations for the release of the passengers; and the daring July 4 action by Israeli commandos which freed the 103 hostages.

"Gone With the Wind" is finally making it to television. The Clark Gable, Vivien Leigh classic has been slated for airing over two nights, November 7 and 8 as a Big Event on NBC. Unfortunately, the film will probably be a disappointment on television, since much of the scope and grandeur achieved by a big screen will be lost.

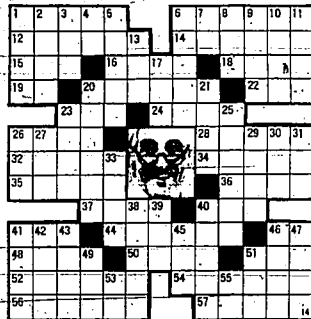

The cast of Captains and Kings keeps growing.

Celeste Hahn, Elizabeth Chesire, Sean McClory, Joe Kapp and John Curran have all been added—Production is currently underway on this nine-hour telecast, based on the Taylor Caldwell novel. The initial three hours of the drama are being directed by Douglas Heyes, who also wrote the entire teleplay.

Tony Musante, who starred in Tom's a couple of seasons back, has been seen roaming the streets of his Greenwich Village neighborhood interviewing shopkeepers. A WNET filmy crew is documenting all of it for a pilot as a possible

Jonnycake show held for honor

JAMESTOWN, R.I. (UPI)—Neither threat of hurricane nor thrashing rains could deter the jonnycake makers. The show down was a matter of tradition.

Eleven men and women widdling metal spoons set to "frying the—traditional cornmeal-griddle cakes—a 17th century hand me down from the Narragansett Indians.

Normally the event is held outdoors, but with the approach of Hurricane Helle the tent rental companies wanted no part of it. Traditionally or no—so the jonnycake makers simply moved inside.

"It was dandy," said Martha Greg, president of the Society for the Propagation of the Jonnycake Tradition in Rhode Island. "Jamestown had hosted it, had the best jonnycakes around, and in December the island community challenged all Rhode Island cities and towns to prove otherwise or admit its superiority."

But a man, Exeter, man handicapped by a sprained ankle, stole the championship title.

"My honor was at stake," said winner Joseph Kent, a computer analyst for Industrial National Bank in Providence. "I didn't care about the hurricane but it was a little hard cooking on crutches."

Midsummer heat and high humidity stink people, tired and tense, and heat and respiratory ailments take their highest toll during that period.

Artist's delights: science fiction, fantasy

By BOB ZUCKERMAN, Times-News writer
 TWIN FALLS — James Couch, 34, is a Twin Falls artist who sometimes lives thousands of years and millions of miles away.

An artist who draws what he calls "fantasy or science fiction art," Couch says he recently spent "four months thinking about and drawing a map of the Hyborian Kingdom." The kingdom, according to science fiction writer Robert E. Howard, existed on Earth about 10,000 B.C.

Couch has also drawn imagined scenes from distant planets beyond the stars. "I enjoy science fiction and fantasy, so I paint it," he says.

When he's working on a drawing, Couch says he thinks about his art all the time. "I'm always thinking about it," he says, "even when I'm at work."

An assistant manager at the Everton

Mattress Co. by day, Couch says he draws an additional eight hours after work on weekends; he says he draws 12 to 14 hours a day.

His art has a mystical, sometimes grotesque air. His pictures often include unusually muscular, detailed figures striking weird poses in spectacular settings.

In one picture an apparent gladiator holds the decapitated head of another unusual figure up to the stars. In another picture Couch calls "Devil's Lake," a seemingly naked woman hangs by her hair from a tree branch. The branch is part of a tree which seems to have grown out of the middle of a gigantic lake or sea.

"I don't see anything obscene about my work," says Couch, a Twin Falls High School graduate. But apparently others have.

families grabbed their kids and took them away when they saw my work. I don't think the people like what I'm doing and half think it's trash," Couch admits. "But it doesn't matter, I paint what I feel, and I don't really care if anyone likes them at all." Couch says he tries to take abstract ideas "and make them as real as possible."

Each picture is "full of painstakingly created details, adding a sense of realism."

Another painting on a wall in his home on Harrison Street depicts a scene described in "Lord of the Rings," a book by J.R.R. Tolkien. In the picture, Aragorn and Arwen are waiting at Gray Havens, "a place where elves go to leave Middle Earth," Couch says.

Another painting with a crucifixion in the background Couch calls "The Temptation of St. Anne."

"It's supposed to show that evil still lives while good dies away," Couch says.

Couch, who's been drawing for three years, says he's never taken an art class for any length of time. He says he flunked out of an art class in an Oregon high school. The instructor "was trying to get us to paint like him, and I didn't want to," Couch says.

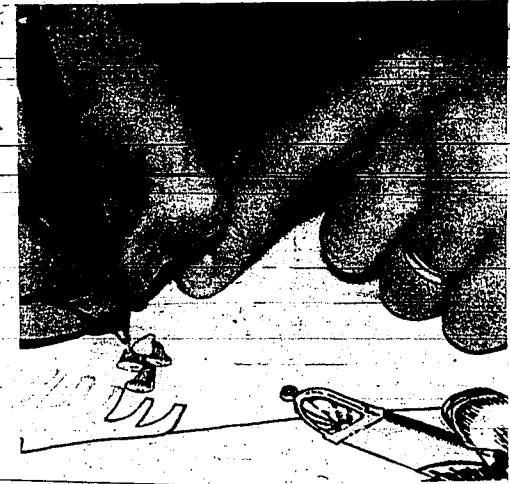

Couch says he draws "straight freehand" with no preliminary sketching. He says he "used to erase a lot," but doesn't anymore.

Couch said marriage is what "settled me down enough so I had time to paint." He and his wife Lori have one daughter, Joni, nine months.

Couch is also an astronomer on the side. He says he has read several books about the stars, knows the constellations "pretty well," and sometimes gazes at the night sky through his three-foot-long telescope.

A dreamer of faraway places, Couch says he sometimes gets his ideas from dreams.

DO YOU SWALLOW EVERYTHING YOU SEE ON TV?

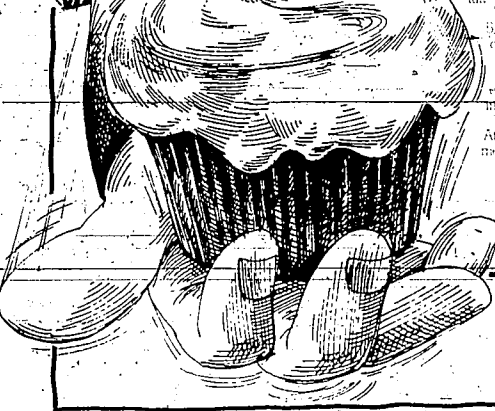

Some TV commercials can creep on you in all the wrong places. So whether you're particularly concerned about TV, a "weight watcher's" product, or you want a business plan, to help change one of your attitudes about advertising.

Teach you how to deal with the TV on the busy water or the "brand" who can't take too far an eye out to have more than 25 years of hard classroom experience to back it all up. But don't swallow everything you see on TV in the newspaper. Prove it to yourself. At a "Weight Watcher's" meeting.

gossip column

By ROBIN ADAMS SLOAN

Q: Here's Jackie O. traveling to Paris, Moscow and Leningrad with Thomas Hoving, director of New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art, and yet there's no talk of a romance. Isn't that a surprise? — S.D., Rochester, N.Y.

A: Not really. Hoving, cultured, well off financially and thought to have political ambitions, is solidly married to Nancy Bell Hoving, and devoted to their daughter, Peter. Jackie went along on the trip in her capacity as a Viking editor. Her publishing

A: The book, called "Scapegoat," seriously questions much of the evidence in that tragic case. Among the author's startling revelations is the information that the infant found was four inches longer than the Lindbergh baby.

The author's theory is that the gigantic search for the kidnaped child, with road blocks everywhere, interfered with rum-running operations in New Jersey, so the Mob stole a baby from an orphanage to substitute for the missing Lindbergh baby.

Q: How are the Concorde supersonic jets making out on their Washington flights? — H.V., Hays, Kan.

A: After six months of operation both France and Britain are quite happy with customer response to their five-day-a-week service to Washington's Dulles airport. Though the two countries have reduced maximum passenger limits below the designed 100 seats, the SSTs are averaging well over a 75 per cent occupancy rate and the operating airlines are eagerly looking forward to the opening of service to New York.

Q: I saw nude pictures of Jayne Mansfield's daughter in a magazine recently. Is she going with anybody, do you know? — O.M., Amagansett, N.Y.

A: Jayne Marie just got married in an importer named Ron Chapman. The far-out wedding ceremony with everyone in bare feet took place at Malibu Beach. The services were conducted by a representative of the Universal Life Church, one of California's more unusual religious movements.

Q: Do you have any idea why Raquel Welch canceled the last part of her cross-country tour? — S.S., Reno, Nev.

A: The strain of the grueling, four-mile-a-hour shock of the recent death of her father brought Raquel to near collapse. She starved her schedule short and went back to Los Angeles, where she checked into a hospital to rest and recuperate.

Q: I gather that since Shirley Temple Black has accepted a new post, this time as Chief of Protocol in Washington, she's really serious about a political career. What next do you suggest? — M.M.D., Newton, Mass.

A: West Coast acquaintances — friends aren't talking — bet that Shirley has her eye on a vice-presidential nomination in 1980. The idea is that by that time the pressure to nominate a woman will have built to irresistible force — and Shirley will be available.

Q: Will Orson Welles ever finish that movie he has been working on for years and years? — E.K., Racine, Wis.

A: The picture, "The Other Side of the Wind," which Welles began shooting in 1970, is finally reported to be near completion.

DAVID BROWN

... a Gurley-girlie issue

house is bringing out a book keyed to the collection of Russian costumes Hoving is planning to exhibit at his museum.

Q: How come the name of California Gov. Jerry Brown never seems to be linked with a romantic interest? And he's so good looking — R.R., Riverside, Calif.

A: Gov. Brown is super disrespected and despised because of stance from his aides and aides. We know 10 instances that he has gone out several times with that tall, irreverent actress, Sally Kellerman. Ignominy of the governor's buddies will admit it. However, the couple were recently seen in an Italian restaurant in Hollywood and the restaurateur, Dan Tana, confirms that Jerry and Sally were in his place together.

CLARIFICATION: Recently I referred to actress Jan Clayton's outstanding work with alcoholics in California. We want to make it clear that Jan herself is a non-drinking alcoholic and in fact participated earlier this year in Operation Understanding, a Washington gathering of 50 former drinkers who are prominent politicians, athletes, and business or professional leaders. Jan's book on alcoholism and Bart will be published in October.

Q: I have always been fascinated by the Lindbergh baby kidnaping and I hear that a new book is coming out that seems to turn all the known facts upside down. What can you tell me? — H.A., Morrisstown, N.J.

SUSIE and SONNY

... a generous, tho

Filed in Hollywood, Connecticut, and Spain, the movie stars John Huston as an aging director facing the challenge of the "new Hollywood." This could be the big comeback Welles has been striving for ever since his early successes of the 1940s.

Q: Do you think that all the fuss about Cher's new baby by Gregg Allman made ex-husband Sonny Bono jealous? — L.T., Tampa, Fla.

A: We doubt it. Sonny has other interests now, namely Susie Coelho, whose parents came from India and who has been going with the diminutive singer for more than a year. Susie, "Same and I really love anything," Susie, "Same and I really love anything."

BENNY GOODMAN

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: When a famous movie producer is asked to name his favorite woman whom does he choose? "Cosmopolitan" magazine editor Helen Gurley Brown asked her husband David Brown, the producer of "Jaws" who his favorite ladies were. Unknown to him she was planning to have his choices sign his birthday card. Among Brown's selections were celebs Jacqueline Bisset, Genevieve Bujolet, Marisa Berenson, Lee Radziwill, and Barbara Walters. And yes they all signed the card he got last week.

Q: I have a record of Benny Goodman's first concert at Carnegie Hall recorded 40 years ago. Would you believe that it sounds as good as many of today's albums? I wonder what the explanation is. — T.R., Naples, Fla.

A: The reason for the clarity of that record is a story in itself. Goodman was so overcome at the honor of playing at prestigious Carnegie Hall that he decided not to have any microphones cluttering up the performance. However a technician, against orders, hid a single mike above the stage. Somehow that one mike produced an extraordinary recording of the Goodman performance.

Q: When will Richard Nixon publish that book about his presidency for which he got a huge advance payment? — F.L., Dayton, O.

A: The advance payment came from 31 paperback company but no hardcover publisher has yet been announced. We hear a rumor that the Book-of-the-Month Club cutters found the first installment of Nixon's manuscript dull and self-justifying, which may indicate that hardcover publishers won't be scrambling for a chance to pick up rights to the long-awaited book.

Q: When those huge money deals take place, how is it done? Do the parties just hand over the checks? — B.Y., Phoenix, Ariz.

A: What else? When George Delacorte Jr. recently sold his publishing house to Doubleday, he received a check for a reported $25 million. The agent who arranged the deal invited Delacorte to his country home for a celebration, but the first check into the bank immediately since every day's delay would cost him $5,000 in interest. The rich, you see, are just like us, only they have more money.

SCANDAL TIME: The reason a famous male night club entertainer is divorcing his wife isn't another woman, it's another male entertainer, equally well known. A certain versatile lye, since between them the two have had three wives, one girl friend and six children.

Q: Will Hayley Mills have time to get a divorce from husband Roy Boulton before she has her baby by her boyfriend, Leigh Lawson? — G.T., St. Paul, Minn.

A: It looks like the streak is moving faster than the divorce proceedings, but Hayley has come up with a novel way of having the baby officially born with his father's name. She's going to enter to have her own name legally changed from Boulton to Lawson.

Q: You earlier praised the eulogy Richard Burton wrote to lament the death of his friend and fellow actor, Sir Stanley Baker. Now I read that Baker's wife was outraged by Burton's memoir. How come? — C.S., Greenville, Miss.

CHARLES LINDBERGH

A: Mrs. Baker is apparently taking exception to Burton's references to her husband's drinking and woman chasing years. Obviously Burton's memories of his friend date from their early days together as struggling actors. Quite naturally a wife and "old buddy" would recall different aspects of the dead actor's personality. We see an real conflict and still think Burton's writing was dramatic and powerful.
