

Living cost climb eases in September

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The cost of living, a key barometer of the nation's inflation rate, rose 0.4 per cent in September, the smallest advance since April, the Labor Department reported today.

The main reason for the slowdown, the report said, was a leveling of food prices. Last month's rise in the Consumer Price Index, which translates into an annual rate of 4.8 per cent, was smaller than the 0.6 per cent increase in May and the 0.5 per cent jump in June through August. The CPI rose an identical 0.4 per cent in April.

Today's report is welcome news for President Ford, whose presidential campaign effort has been hit hard in recent weeks with a series of disappointing economic reports.

The September consumer price figure — the last to be published before the election — indicates that despite sluggish growth in the economy, "inflation slowed somewhat" last month.

'In lieu' bill becomes law

By CHRISTOPHER BOGAN, Times-News writer

WASHINGTON — President Ford has signed into law the "Payment in Lieu" bill which will provide over $2 million to Magic Valley counties in federal payments each year.

Sen. James McClure, D-Idaho, said he received notification from the White House late Wednesday night that the bill had been signed. The Payment in Lieu bill will give Idaho counties with federal land an estimated $7.9 million in payments annually.

"This is a great victory for the Western states with large amounts of federal land within their borders," McClure said.

"Now the federal government will begin picking up their share of the local tax burden by making payment in lieu of tax payments to our counties," McClure commented.

The payment in lieu bill affects more than 100 counties in 48 states. It is especially important to Idaho, which is two-thirds federally owned, containing approximately 37 million acres of federal land.

According to McClure, the amount each county will receive under the bill depends on current timber receipts and mining leases which are factored into a formula which also considers the amount of population of each county and the federal land in each county.

President of the Idaho Association of Counties John Crutcher said there are two formulas for determining the distribution of money to Idaho's counties. A county will use whichever formula brings in the highest revenues, according to Crutcher.

The first formula provides 10 cents per acre of federally owned land to the county minus any revenues that are generated for the county by these lands (federal forest monies or grazing fees in national forests or BLM land), Crutcher says.

The second formula states a county may receive 10 cents per acre of federal land regardless of the amount of money it receives from that land, according to Crutcher.

According to previous figures compiled by Rep. George Hansen's office, the counties of the Magic Valley would receive approximately $2,175,000.

According to Hansen's office, the breakdown for the Magic Valley counties would be as follows: Teton County — $197,427; Lemhi County — $77,424; Gooding County — $196,453; Cassia County — $193,000; Minidoka County — $136,033; Lincoln County — $250,000; Blaine County — $282,000; and Camas County — $250,000.

Twin Falls and Cassia County will receive the highest revenues in the state from the bill. Payments will be as little as $5,644 in Lewis County.

But as McClure said, "In each case, this legislation will mean that all of Idaho's counties will receive more than they are now getting from timber sales."

Toll may hit 100 on ferry

DETRICHIAN, La. (UPI) — A hoisting crane today raised the wreckage of a Mississippi River container ferryboat that collided with a tanker, capsized and sank with heavy loss of life.

Authorities said 22 bodies have been recovered and at least 56 persons were missing. A disaster coordinator predicted the death toll would exceed 100.

Most victims were oil and chemical workers enroute to their jobs. Only 18 persons were known to have survived the pre-dawn collision Wednesday 30 miles upstream from New Orleans.

"It's my feeling that the death toll is going to go over 100," said St. Charles Parish Sheriff John D. St. Amant, director of disaster operations. "It's a very, very tragic thing."

If the death toll is confirmed, the collision will be the worst disaster on the river since 1,000 persons died in an explosion aboard the steamboat Sultana near Memphis, Tenn., in 1865.

The George Prince was rammed broadside by the 66-foot Norwegian tanker Frsta. The 120-foot ferry capsized and sank within 15 minutes, hurling passengers and cars into 90 feet of water.

Thirty-nine vehicles plunged into the river. Some were located a half-mile from the crash site.

Diver Fred Hunt said all victims were retrieved from the ferry Wednesday and the rest were either trapped in the cars or floating in the river where the current is about four knots.

"We went through the whole thing," Hunt said of diving operations into the ferry. "There was no air space anywhere."

He said he could not determine whether the windows were broken by passengers or by the force of the collision with the Baton Rouge bound tanker.

At nightfall Wednesday divers suspended their search to allow crews from a New Orleans shipyard to begin lifting the ferryboat with a twin 60-ton floating cranes. Rescue workers huddled around bonfires to keep warm in 40-degree temperatures during the lifting operations.

Big worker load called 'inexcusable'

By LORAYNE O. SMITH, Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The chief of the Twin Falls regional office of the U.S. Border Patrol said today he felt handling some two dozen Mexican workers in one pickup truck was "inexcusable."

Commenting on the accident south of Wendell Tuesday night which killed one Mexican national and hospitalized 12 others, Jim Stanger said, "I can see no excuse whatsoever for putting that many people in a half-ton truck."

Fidel Vega, an employee of Anderson-Natziger Farms, Tuttle, was fatally injured and 12 other occupants of the truck driven by Ernest Gayogana, 32, Gooding, were hospitalized.

Deputy Bill Bonn reported Gayogana was hauling "between 22 to 24" of the Anderson-Natziger Farm workers home from working in the potato harvest. Gooding Memorial Hospital administrator Frances Whorton reported today six of the men have been released from the hospital with six remaining in good condition. She said the man had requested that their names not be published.

The Border Patrol officer said his office was attempting to check on the status of the injured. He said he had no permits or are illegal aliens.

"We have not interviewed any of the injured," Stanger said. He said he had planned on interviewing some of them Wednesday night but then learned that half of the men had been released from the hospital.

Stanger said his office had asked "that we be notified of their release," but Mrs. Whorton said she was unaware of any such request. "Our job is simply to take care of injured people," the administrator said.

Asked if he had contacted the other occupants of the truck who were not injured, Stanger said he "had no idea where they were."

"It's a good assumption that around share of them are illegal," he said. The official indicated he had not yet contacted the Anderson-Natziger Farm management to see if the men were still working there.

Stanger said many times when something of this nature happens, the men just leave rather than chances being sent back to their own country by the Border Patrol.

He said the matter of hauling so many workers in one vehicle "would be a civil matter not under the jurisdiction of his agency."

SOUTH CENTRAL Health Board members were among the first to receive swine flu vaccinations when they were "shot" Wednesday during their regular monthly meeting. Above, district board chairman William Chaney

Manslaughter ruled in road deaths

BURLEY — A coroner's jury ruled Wednesday that the traffic deaths of a Kimberly woman and her son were the result of an unlawful act.

Following an afternoon inquest, the jury returned a ruling that manslaughter was involved in the deaths of Janice Durfee, 30, and Wade Durfee, 7.

They were killed Oct. 10 in a traffic accident at a dark rural intersection one mile south and one mile west of Declo.

Margaret Aragon was driving the vehicle which collided with the Durfees' small foreign car at the intersection of 750 East and 200 South roads.

Cassia County Deputy Sheriff Billy R. Crystal and State Police Trooper Delon Jones testified that skid marks showed the Aragon car had gone through a stop sign on 200 South Road and struck the Durfee car at a speed of 25 to 28 miles per hour.

Crystal said the left front tire of the Aragon car left 109 feet of skid marks to the point of impact and then skidded another 42 feet to stop against a power pole. The Durfee car was turned sideways and skidded nearly 53 feet before turning over on its top as Wade Durfee was thrown from the car.

Mrs. Aragon denied running through the stop sign. She said she stopped at it, but did not see any lights from the other car until she had pulled into the intersection.

She testified that she recalled no skid and believed there was a slight rise that could have maintained Durfee car's momentum. Crystal testified the car was not in the intersection as far as the eye can see from the intersection.

Mrs. Aragon's husband, Cornelius, told the jury that he had lain his head in his granddaughter's lap and saw nothing.

He quoted his wife as saying, "There's a stop sign."

Under questioning by Prosecuting Attorney Al Barrus, Aragon said, "She just got the words out and bang."

He insisted, however, that his wife had stopped for the stop sign, apparently before she made the remark.

The Aragons purchased their car only the previous evening. They testified they went for a drive and stopped to buy soft drinks at a Declo service station and that mother had been drinking alcoholic beverages.

Crystal testified that the Aragon car had a strong odor of beer and that he found one broken beer bottle and a full bottle of beer in the car.

Soviet nuclear test detected

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — The Uppsala Seismological Institute said today it registered a relatively small nuclear underground explosion in the Soviet Union nuclear test area of Novaya Zemlya Wednesday.

Prof. Markus Raath said the blast occurred at 2 a.m. MDT and had a Richter magnitude of 5.1.

2 Ford Motor plants still closed

DETROIT (UPI) — The Ford Motor Co. has only two key manufacturing plants closed and standing in the way of a final return to normal production following its nationwide 28-day strike.

The inability to reach agreement on local contracts covering 3,700 workers at the Cleveland stamping plant and another 1,200 at the Sheffield, Ala., aluminum casting plant could even force further shutdowns, a spokesman said Wednesday.

Scores sweep

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — American author Saul Bellow today won the 1976 Nobel Prize for literature, giving the United States an unprecedented sweep of this year's series of Nobel awards.

The Swedish Academy said the 61-year-old Chicago-based author was elected "for the human understanding and subtle analysis of contemporary culture that are combined in his work."

Bellow was the 7th American to win a Nobel prize this year — a clean sweep of the 1976 awards.

Alaska pipeline report assailed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressional staff report on the trans-Alaska oil pipeline was blasted, contained at least 17 errors and seemed to be aimed solely at discrediting the project, Interior Undersecretary Kent Frizzell says.

The government official in charge of monitoring construction of the 800-mile line by an industrial consortium said "no substantial delay" in 1977 completion of the pipeline is expected, contrary to what the report indicated.

Levi balks at Ford Gate probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a decision touching off "new coverage" allegations, Attorney General Edward Levi has refused to order a Justice Department investigation of President Ford's role in blocking of proposed 1972 Watergate probe.

Rejecting requests from Congress, Levi said Wednesday that the Justice Department reviewed some evidence relating to the request and found no basis for questioning Ford's claim that he didn't recall discussing the issue with aides of former President Richard Nixon.

Rep. Fitzhugh Hallman, R-N.Y., who had asked Levi for the investigation, said his decision "is irresponsible and smacks of a cover-up."

HAW employes return to 5 day week

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES, Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Some 45 employees in the Department of Health and Welfare (HAW) Region V have voluntarily returned to a five-day work week after working three months on a trial four-day work schedule.

"Nearly all of the workers have now gone back to the five-day week. They found it wasn't as productive for them to work four days," Kent Henderson, director of Social Services, told the regional advisory board Wednesday.

Henderson said the workers in the division were given the option of staying on the 10-hour day, four-day work schedule. Most chose to go back to the traditional five-day work week. Henderson said many of the workers found they were so tired after 10-hour days, they needed the fifth day just to recuperate.

Many had to come in for special problems on their days off, and they found the four-day week was becoming a four and a half-day week, Henderson said.

"Many of our workers have court-related functions and they found the additional day off, especially on Wednesdays, was very important. They would have to prepare to court appearance on the following days," he said.

The experiment was tried, he said, because there is a need to serve the public, especially in the social services field, after normal working hours.

"Some of our workers find this is satisfactory but few needed to set aside time every evening," he said.

"We are still working on a solution because there are some people who need our services, but are not getting them because they cannot come in during the day. Hopefully, we can come up with some accessibility in evening hours for these people without having to keep a full staff after 5 p.m.," Henderson said.

Workers for the state agency would not receive overtime pay if their days extend beyond the regular eight hours; they may take time off to compensate for the time worked.

Henderson said one of the reasons for trying the four-day work week was to reduce some of the overtime. But he said there was no saving because the workers often had to come back on their days off.

"We also found there were so many workers out of the office on Friday and Monday. It was difficult for us to function on a full scale," he told the advisory board.

In the Child Development Center program, several workers have adopted a 10-hour, four-day work week to take care of the special cases. Henderson said the situation is different since the Child Development Center work is all handled at the center, while social service work is mostly done in the field.

He said at one time an evening program was adopted at the center in Twin Falls, with classes from 6 to 9 p.m., but response was not sufficient to maintain a staff during evening hours. The program was abandoned.

WASPs feel brushed off by candidates

Thursday, October 21, 1976
Member of Audit Bureau of Circulation and UPI, Official City and County Newspaper pursuant to Section 49-108 Idaho Code...

NEW YORK — Whenever there is a presidential election, reporters always go to an ethnic bar to see what the workingman is thinking. They wind up talking to Polish-Americans in Chicago, German-Americans in Milwaukee, Italian-Americans in Queens, N.Y., and Mexican-Americans in El Paso, Texas. But no one ever bothers to get a white American Anglo-Saxon bar to find out how the WASP feels about the election.

"I'm from Westport," he replied. "We never see people like you in this bar."
"I'm very interested to find out how the WASPs are going to vote in the election."
Several other men in pin-stripe suits overheard me and gathered around.

and play golf and send our children to private schools. But where would America be without WASPs? We built this country from an agrarian society to the highest industrialized nation in the world. And we did it with private capital which our great-grandfathers invested in every conceivable project from factories to railroads. One becomes very discouraging when one hears both Mr. Ford and Mr. Carter repeating that we don't pay enough taxes.

the heaviest drinking problems, and the largest tax shelters. We're always being accused of wife swapping because we live in the suburbs.
"These are generalizations that do not take into consideration the majority of hard-working WASPs who are happily married, have only one or two cocktails before dinner and watch the John Adams Channel on television."
"Very well put, Waldo," an airlines vice president said. "Every time a white-collar crime is committed, people automatically assume a WASP did it. It's true that a high percentage of WASPs commit white-collar crimes, but that is only because they are in positions of responsibility where the opportunities exist."

ART BUCHWALD

"Our votes are of crucial importance," another man said. "After all, WASPs make up a large segment of the population, and we have many dreams and hopes for our children as the blue-collar working class."
"I know the ethnics look down on us," an advertising executive from Greenwich said. "because we read books and go to the theater stockbroker from New Cannon said, "WASP seem to be the butt of all the jokes these days. We're getting fed up with it. We're as good Americans as any ethnic group in this country, and we're not dumb like everyong maintains."

"Why is it," a banker from Oyster Bay asked, "there are no situation comedies about WASPs on television? And when they use a token WASP character in an ethnic show, why is it always the person who doesn't seem to know the score?"
"Hello," Thomas Richardson, Junior, an IBM sales manager, chimed in. "The WASP image seems to have deteriorated as the ethnic image has improved."
"In what way?" I asked.
"They say we have the highest divorce rate.

As the first reporter ever to visit a WASP bar I came to the following conclusion: WASPs are tired of being ignored by both Ford and Carter, and if neither candidate addresses himself to their problems they may sit out the election in November.
"As one of the executive publishers of the Republic has taken us in for granted for too long. Just because we're overachievers doesn't mean we don't have feelings too."

Snow offers new viewpoint

Acting Twin Falls School Supt. Carl Snow impresses us.

In a remarkably short time, he has built a solid record as a school administrator, culminating with his recent promotion to acting superintendent.

It was like Daniel stepping into the lion's den. He assumed the post at a time when the district's schools were closed and its teachers on the picket lines.

Trustees were bracing their backs for a showdown with teachers over the pace of negotiations, and the teachers were increasingly shrill in their views of the trustees and administration. Parents were fed up. Kids were in the streets.

A bond issue seemed about to be defeated because of lack of preparation and anti-school backwash caused by the strike.

Snow didn't do it by himself, but he and others succeeded in taming that lion's den.

The teachers' strike was settled in rapid order, partly because Snow refused to break off his lines of communication with teachers. He acted as a moderating force when one was needed.

After the strike was settled on reasonably amicable terms, the voters were still willing to give the narrowest of victory margins to the proposal to build a new junior high school. In some sense, that vote had to reflect a newly rebuilt sense of confidence in the school's top administrator which had been lacking with his predecessor.

Snow is at a pinnacle. His career has flowered in a short time. He appears to be the man the district needs to get its house in order, to rebuild a sense of common enterprise in the educational process.

Snow isn't an ordinary fellow, locked into the usual administrative structures which decree that the only kind of real "advancement" in a career is moving to the top of an administrative hierarchy, eventually becoming the boss.

Snow has turned aside from the usual route to career excellence. He has just decided to step down from the superintendency which is his and return to a role closer to the students and teachers as junior high principal.

Such a decision usually is met with a raised eyebrow and suggestions that the fellow just couldn't handle it.

We don't think this is the case with Carl Snow. He has stood in the kitchen when the heat was the hottest. He not only stood it, but he turned the burners down.

We think Snow has his finger on something.

The center of the educational process surely is not in the superintendent's chair. It is in the close personal relationship between teacher and student.

A good educational system needs a good superintendent, and we hope Snow reconsiders and keeps his post.

But even more, a good system needs people who recognize that education doesn't center downtown, but out with the teachers and the kids.

Snow's courageous action again gives us all a needed focus. It is a pleasant change in approach, long overdue.

Snow may already have done more for the district than he knows.

Do spaceships really exist?

Editor, Times-News:
In your paper a few days ago, you had an article about the UFO sightings. There are I believe a few errors.

First of all, my father Gordon Nicholas saw a disc-shaped object. He said nothing about cigars.

There was also a few things left out, such as the fact that when it slowed down over the desert, he noticed a slight misty vapor swirling around the outside. But there was no tail. It pulled within a mile of the highway. He figures that it had to be about 50 feet in diameter.

When it got near populated areas near Hupert, it speeded up incredibly. Made a jet look like it was standing still.

One more important thing. When it speeded up and pulled over the highway, it moved faster than the human eye can move. That's fast. Then it stopped northwest of Burley, directly over the highway. It just froze. The sun had set, but its rays were still above the horizon.

It just sat there frozen motionless, for five to 10 minutes. That's when K-Bar received several phone calls about a UFO. And the radio announcer even said the sun's rays reflected off its belly.

No meteorite or plane of any sort does that. But some people veil the odds are against it, so it can't happen. You check two different astronomers, and you will get two different theories, particularly when it comes to life on other planets.

When you are face to face with a fact, all the educated guesses go out the window.

A lot of reliable people, even our astronauts, have seen things that don't come under normal logic, beyond human comprehension. So we like to state the odds are against it so it can't happen.

There are a lot of theories pro and con on UFOs, but until the facts are known, all we can do is give our best educated guess.

Maybe sometime in the future we will have the answers. I would like to thank the Times-News for letting me have my say.

Hansen assailed

Editor, Times-News:
I am incensed at the recent behavior of George Hansen in refusing to divulge the source of his campaign contributions. Few candidates of stature and respectability refuse. It is obvious that the public has a right to know the persons and corporations to whom Mr. Hansen's support.

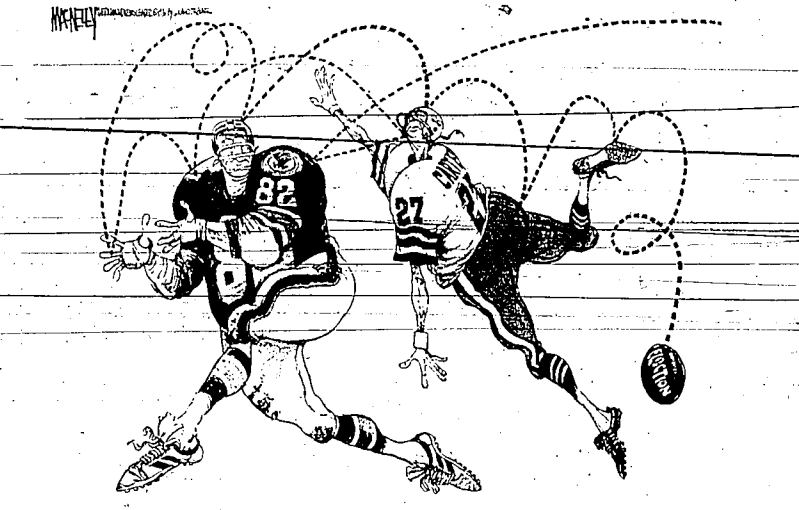

The public is fully aware that many politicians support legislation purely from expectations of continued financial support each election year. To properly assess any candidate it is critical to know the source of his economic support. I want to know the source of his economic support. I want to know to whom he owes his political favors. It is extremely naive to presume otherwise. It is apparent that George Hansen considers voters unintelligent, ignorant sheep.

Even more incredible is the deceptive, underhanded techniques Hansen uses to avoid, cover up, and camouflage this obligation. I am pleased to know that voters are now beginning to see through this.

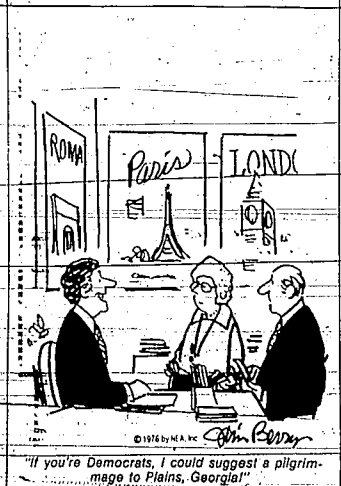

It is time for a change. We need a hard-working, sincere, honest and straightforward candidate. Stan Kress has done a remarkable job in displaying his knowledge, vitality and integrity. His election will be a major advancement for Idaho. I ask voters to analyze George Hansen for what he is, a dishonest showman. George Hansen has displayed his integrity by refusing to reveal his contributions.

Opposing OSMA publicly, yet voting against its amendment, designed to protect the small farmer and businessman. He has taken credit publicly for Tolson Disaster work, yet he was a late-arriver, doing little. He pretends concern for our way of life, yet supports huge phosphate mining expansions which will have severe impacts upon our educational, religious, moral and social status. He pretends concern for the taxpayer, yet allows the Franking privilege by mass mailing of political propaganda for re-election at public expense. There are many, many others too numerous for the limited space here. I'm sick of deception and double talk, and firmly believe this will cease when Stan Kress is elected. I feel that Kress, a farmer standing in a raincoat after several years of drought. Let's put Stan Kress in office.

Corder case labelled political

Editor, Times-News:
The current furor regarding an alleged felonious act by our good sheriff, Paul Corder, is ostensibly nothing more or less than motivated politically. Unfortunately, some persons may lend credence to the suggested dishonesty of a good man and a good sheriff. In this, the post-Watergate aura which still seems to pervade the atmosphere, as is always the case, certain individuals will resort to anything at all to further their questionable ends.

The Times-News seems to assist the above-described individuals by "reporting" the situation in what I consider to be a biased and provocative manner; for example — the entire story was redone on page one the day before the primary election (in which Paul Corder prevailed). This is a major political act, done in a subtly biased manner.

ridiculous to even contemplate. There is no doubt that other capable men are about who could run the sheriff's office, but why discard a known quantity for one that is unknown?

In closing — reviewing the "service to the community" by Paul Corder, how could this man possibly be re-elected in disgrace as a felon under such nebulous and unsubstantiated charges as have appeared to date.

More field time for rangers urged

Editor, Times-News:
The following is an open letter sent to Mr. Joseph C. Greenley, Director, Fish and Game Department in Boise.

Dear Mr. Greenley:
On October 17, 1976, I went on a one day hunting expedition with my son and my nephew which ended up in covering several miles in Unit 48 and 14.

We started in Unit 48 on Deer Creek northwest of Halley, went there up Warm Springs Creek from Ketchikan into the Smoky drainage, over Fleck Summit onto the South Fork of the Boise then home by Couch Summit and Fairfield. As you see, we were primarily road hunting and sight seeing, mostly sight seeing as we did not see any deer.

I had only one hunt. I feel these hunters were aware of the fact that they had taken illegal game, but evidently thought they were going to get away without being caught.

During all our travels, I did not see a single Fish and Game Warden in the field. Maybe it was only coincidence, and that we were at the wrong place at the wrong time, but by comparison, we saw three Idaho State Police Officers going to and from the areas when we were on the highways. We did see four game officers at a checking station between Fairfield and Gooding which I feel could have been doing greater service in the field.

I have no qualms that the data being gathered at the check stations is of great benefit, but all the data in the world pertaining to game management is of no value when there is nothing left to manage. As far as game violators being apprehended at check stations, such as the four illegal doe deer, the possibility is remote. All they would have to do is mark their tags for a legal area and once they reach a male highland they are home free.

Earlier this year there was considerable comment about our Fish and Game suffering from mis-management, but now I believe they didn't quite hit the point. In my opinion, the problem is "poor management" or "no management." I believe too much emphasis has been placed on management by biological data, and too little in the field.

I feel the time has arrived whereby the Idaho Fish and Game Dept. should take stock of current problems and possible remedies and see if a different approach could be discovered. If this cannot be accomplished with current commissioners and management, then maybe they should step aside for some new people with fresh ideas.

Ford denies probe block role

PRESIDENT FORD ... 'no validity'

Chicago Sun-Times
WASHINGTON — "Under the circumstances as I knew them then," President Ford said, there was nothing improper in his meeting in 1972 with Republican members of a congressional committee that was planning the first investigation of Watergate.
 At a White House press conference Wednesday — his second in a week — Ford recalled that discussion had been requested by "responsible" GOP members of the House Banking and Currency Committee.
 Committee Democrats were pressing for an investigation of what Ford called "a very limited part of certain campaign activities." They were trying to trace the sources of "laundered" money found in the possession of the Watergate burglars.

 Although he was in almost daily contact with President Richard M. Nixon's congressional lobbyists as House Minority Leader, Ford said it still was his best recollection that no one at the White House ever asked him to "take a hand" in blocking the probe.
 By "working with" the Republicans on the committee and "getting them together," Ford said, he did not feel he had helped to block an investigation of Watergate.
 In any event, one month before Nixon's re-election in 1972, all the committee Republicans voted with six Democrats to block the inquiry by refusing to authorize subpoena powers.
 John W. Dean, the former White House counsel, charged last week that Ford had met six times with Richard Cook, a White House congressional liaison, to discuss strategy for scuttling the investigation.

 The subject arose when a reporter wanted to know whether Ford had any requests or any remorse about his role in the aborted Banking Committee probe.
 Under the circumstances as he understood them then, Ford said, he would do exactly the same thing again.
 Ford did say he wanted "everybody to know" that he has no intention of pardoning three former top Nixon aides who have been sentenced to prison for the scandal — former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and presidential assistants John D. Ehrlichman and H.R. Haldeman.
 Ford also defended Gen.

George S. Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who said Israel was a military burden to the U.S. of no strategic value.
 "One or two" of Brown's statements in an interview were "improper" and "ill-advised," Ford acknowledged. But he said the excerpts were unfairly taken out of context, that Brown has a superb record, and "I hope and trust he won't do it again."

Ford puts his foot in it

Newhouse News Service
WASHINGTON — President Ford has donated a pair of his shoes to a Illinois store which will display the footwear along with a sign saying, "Step out and vote."
 The White House mailed the shoes Wednesday to C.J. Halsey, operator of Jensen's Boot Shop on Market Square in Lake Forest, Ill., near Chicago.
 But Ford got off his foot in it. The shoes he is sending are a soft leisure shoe manufactured in his home district in Michigan.

Recall set

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration is recalling thousands of pounds of candy made with Red Dye No. 2, the color additive withdrawn this year because of safety questions.
 The largest single batch of candy — 112,429 pounds — was made by G. Seacence and Co., The Bronx, N.Y., and distributed in the Eastern United States. Those products include Licorice Sticks, Cancellini Ricci, Jordan Almonds in assorted colors, Non-Parrel Seeds, Anislin, Conformer, Chick Peas, and Fruit Drops.

New York dinner draws aspirants

By United Press International
President Ford and Jimmy Carter both will attend the annual Alfred E. Smith Dinner for Catholic Charities in New York City tonight — one evening before their final campaign debate.
 The New York dinner, in memory of the famed Democratic governor of New York, is a traditional stop for presidential candidates in election years. Ford is expected to speak and leave before Carter arrives for his talk.

 Carter, at home Wednesday in Plains, Ga., expressed confidence he will do well against Ford in the Friday night debate from Williamsburg, Va.
 "I felt some apprehension about the second debate but I don't feel apprehension about the third," Carter said.
 Ford, in his second White House news conference in two weeks, attacked Carter's vow to end the Arab boycott which forces U.S. companies dealing with Arab countries to avoid trade with Israel.

another Arab boycott," Ford said.
 Sen. Robert Dole, the GOP vice presidential nominee, told a Lubbock, Tex., audience that Carter has "a disgraceful habit of smearing prominent Americans."
 Dole said the Ladies Home Journal will publish an article quoting Carter as saying former President Lyndon B. Johnson "never felt secure inside."
 Dole recalled that Carter apologized to Lady Bird Johnson for telling Playboy magazine that her husband lied like Nixon.

 "Instead of passing out campaign buttons, Carter ought to pass out notes of apology," Dole said.
 Sen. Walter Mondale, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, was heckled by a small but noisy group as he addressed a labor audience at San Jose, Calif. "Don't get angry with them,"

Campaign role rapped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Trade Commissioner Elizabeth Dole, wife of the GOP vice presidential candidate, has violated the non-partisan nature of her post by campaigning for the Republicans, the chairman of the House subcommittee which oversees regulatory agencies charged today.
 Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., head of the House Commerce oversight subcommittee, made his charge in a statement accompanying a report on federal commissions which cites an "overwhelming need" to separate the independent regulatory commissions from partisan politics.
 Moss said that, as an example, the campaign activities of Mrs. Dole, wife of Sen. Robert Dole, "are completely contrary to the non-partisan, quasi-judicial nature of the position she occupies."

"I resent the inference of that," said Ford, who claimed that Carter was suggesting that no president from Eisenhower to Nixon had opposed the boycott.
 "I know they opposed the boycott as much as Mr. Carter does ... I wonder how anybody can be so naive that he can say in one sentence that it's going to do something that four presidents were unable to do."
 Ford added that chances of another Arab oil embargo are "virtually nil."
 "In the current atmosphere, because of the leadership of the Ford administration, you're not going to have

FPC reduces price boost

U.S. Times Service.
 WASHINGTON — In an action that was expected to save consumers $500 million a year, the Federal Power Commission on Wednesday reduced the size of its July increase in natural gas prices by 25 percent.
 At the same time, the commission acknowledged that it had originally underestimated the impact of the increase by $500 million, so even with Wednesday's reduction, the FPC still calculated the additional cost to consumers at about $1.1 billion.
 On July 27 the FPC, in the largest natural gas price increase in history, nearly tripled the price of recently discovered gas, and boosted the price of most gas from established fields.
 That action produced an immediate protest from consumer groups, who contended that the actual impact of the increase would be about $2.2 billion — an estimate that the commission later accepted Wednesday.
 Since the FPC's overall impact estimates remained virtually unchanged, the expected increase in the average residential bill would conform to July projections that a rise from $5.20 a year in Florida to $11.70 in New York to $23 in Ohio. The average predicted increase was $15.60.
 However, Thomas Girard, spokesman for the Energy Action Committee, said Wednesday that based on utility rate filings since the July 27, 1978, he believed that the total cost to consumers was more than $1 billion. "That's an increase beyond the agency's jurisdiction, and it has not attempted to estimate the likely increases."
 Girard also said that no decision had been made on whether to press the law suit that remained in limbo awaiting final FPC action on the entire rate package. That action was expected Wednesday, but because of the lengthy debate over the revision of the increase, it has been put off, probably until next week.
 Meanwhile, the July 27 rates remain in effect until Dec. 1. No rebates on the higher, interim prices were expected to be ordered.

University charged in misuse of funds

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Government auditors have charged the University of California, system with missing millions of dollars in federal money in administering more than $50 million in grants each year, UPI has learned.
 They have asked the university to return the misused money to the government.
 In a series of eight audit reports obtained Wednesday that were made during the past year of operations on most of the nine campuses and the central administration, the university was accused of widespread bookkeeping irregularities.
 They included failure to keep adequate records on how government money is spent and of being unable to explain expenditures when questioned by federal auditors.
 Among the accounting deficiencies and bookkeeping manipulation found were:
 — Arbitrary transfer of charges to federal grants in order to cover deficits in other operations and to use up all the federal money available.
 — Purchasing "general use" equipment such as typewriters, furniture and cameras under government research grants without specific permission. The auditors said such equipment, charged off to a federal project, was sometimes delivered to the project and completed.
 — Charging vacation and leave of researchers in a government grant when the vacations or leave were accumulated previously.
 — Purchasing research equipment with grant money when identical equipment was already available on the campus.

Newest US fighter out

PORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — The United States has unveiled the first model of its F16 fighter plane in an event that underscored the nation's continuing role as the world's number one arms salesman as much as it marked addition of a new weapon to its own arsenal.
 The bubble canopied F16, its tail painted in red, white and blue stripes, taxied in a rollout ceremony at the General Dynamics Corp. plant Wednesday in front of officials from "participating" NATO countries whose flags were painted on its nose.
 There, were speeches in which military officials from Belgium, Denmark, The Netherlands, and Norway spoke of NATO cooperation and unity that brought sometimes difficult negotiations to an agreement under which the F16 will be built in Europe as well as in the United States.
 David S. Lewis, board chairman of General Dynamics, put it another way when he acknowledged that "participating" meant "that they're buying the airplane."
 Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld noted that $1.3 billion in contracts have already been signed with other countries for production of parts of the plane, "reinforcing the spirit of cooperation on both sides of the ocean."
 The cooperation deal was hailed as the arms deal of the century for the United States when it was signed last week. Under it the four European countries will buy 348 planes, and defense sources said at least two more countries also are expected to buy the F16.
 The sales already agreed upon are expected to bring in at least $2 billion to the United States to help offset its own cost of $6.54 billion in developing the plane and getting a fleet of 650 of them.

Hoover entry ban ignored by agents

U.S. Times Service.
 WASHINGTON — Despite a written order from J. Edgar Hoover to halt illegal burglaries by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, agents of the bureau repeatedly broke into a Greenwich Village apartment in the last six months of the life of the agency's director, according to authoritative sources familiar with these burglaries.
 One source said that the entries, which are a major concern of an investigation by the Justice Department's civil rights division, numbered between four and a dozen.
 The target, the source said, was Jennifer E. Dohrn, 32 years old, a sister of Bernardine Rae Dohrn, one of the principal members of the Weather Underground—a collection of fugitive terrorists that has taken responsibility for numerous bombings in this country.
 The apartment occupied by Jennifer Dohrn was at 217 Thompson St. in New York City. The agents also placed a listening device, or bug, in the apartment, the source said. But it, like the bureau's surreptitious searches of the Dohrn apartment, apparently failed to provide any information on the whereabouts of Bernardine Dohrn, who is still at large.
 About 40 former members of the squad, attached to the bureau's Manhattan field office, have been granted immunity by the Justice Department prosecutors in exchange for their testimony about whether bureau agents knew of the burglaries.

Tomcat hunt snags

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Damage to the subsurface Navy planned to use has caused an indefinite delay in the search for the F14 fighter on the ocean bottom near the Scottish coast.
 The Navy said Wednesday that the submarine equipped with CURVE II, the subsurface search vessel, was lowered Tuesday in an effort to identify an object found by sonar, but it developed an electrical failure at a depth of 1,500 feet.
 The three ships of the salvage fleet have now left the area about 100 miles northwest of the Scottish coast for the port of Kirkwall in the Orkney Islands, where repairs are to be made.
 The full extent of damage to the CURVE II and how long it would take to repair it was not yet known, the spokesman said.
 The F14 is believed to be resting in about 1,900 feet of water.
 The plane, carrying a top nose, was reported to be on the deck of the aircraft carrier the USS John F. Kennedy Sept. 6 when the throttle of one of its two engines jammed on takeoff.
 The Israeli sources said each plane, with spares and ground equipment, is expected to cost more than $22 million, or about the same that Israel pays for Boeing 747 jumbo jet for its civil airline.

Heavy metal corset stays trigger alarm at airport

CHICAGO — The party nation, turned and heavily jeweled, rushed to O'Hare Airport on the way to her plush European villa, and was shocked when one of the sensitive metal-detecting devices blew the whistle on her.

A quick search of the flabbergasted passenger turned up an embarrassing note: her corset, with its heavy metal bindings, had triggered the alarm.

"We don't see too many of those things these days," laughed Capt. James Connolly, head of O'Hare's special pre-flight screening, detail, which makes sure no passenger boards a plane carrying a weapon.

"What we do see a lot of," Connolly said, "are such things as knitting needles, sewing-needle files, ice picks and golf clubs."

So far this year, police at the world's busiest airport have arrested 29 persons and confiscated more than 1,800 weapons. Only those with guns were arrested.

"Believe it or not," the captain added, "a disproportionate number of women, especially those living in the inner city, carry guns in their purses or tiny canisters of tear gas or mace."

"They think nothing of it because they carry these things for protection every day," Capt. Connolly explained.

Like the lady's corset, any unusually heavy items, such as thick belt buckles, silver dollars and keys, can trigger the alarm and send policemen rushing to the metal detection devices. "People are shocked when we ask them to step aside for closer inspection," he added.

"We're looking for items that could be used by a potential hijacker to intimidate a stewardess or pilot and take over a plane," Connolly explained.

Sex hotline response great

LONDON (UPI) — It's noon and the first call of the day comes in: "Hello. My wife and I are having some problems. I think I may be impotent."

With such a question, Helpline — a new, experimental sex hotline spun off by a British family planning clinic — is off and running for the day.

And hardly is the question answered and the phone hung up before the next one comes.

"People thought there was a great need for a service like this," said Helpline originator Mary Capello. "Apparently there is. We've been getting a tremendous number of calls covering the whole range of sexual behavior."

Miss Capello, regional Family Planning Assistance director for the area north of London, said Helpline is popular because "the cover of a telephone is a great relief to people."

On its first day of operation early this month, 150 callers asked advice.

Miss Capello estimates that three out of four of Helpline's callers are men. She believes women, who are more likely to visit birth control clinics and physicians, have more opportunities to discuss sexual problems than men.

"There are few places they (men) can go if they encounter difficulties," Miss Capello said.

The difficulties they are telling Helpline about are varied — impotence, homosexuality, marital problems, performance pressures, venereal diseases.

Questions are answered by the all-volunteer staff, reading material is recommended or names of doctors and counselors are supplied.

An Oregon reader wants to know if spades were always the highest-ranking suit.

The answer for contract is "Yes."—In the game of bridge and the early days of auction it was the lowest ranking, but it was then promoted from bottom to top.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

One chapter in Boris Schapiro's book is entitled "No Swing." It covers hands from trump games where so-called "swing" went wrong at both tables.

East's notrump opening was one of those weak notrumps the British like to bid. South's two-heart call was a sub minimum, if you can say that many nice things about it.

West's two notrump was competitive. North's jump to four hearts was based on the expectation that South would hold a better hand. West's double was based on his two aces plus. He opened the queen of clubs and shifted to a trump after it held. East's queen forced South's ace.

South ruffed a club and led a diamond to his jack and West's ace. At this point West "felt uneasy." He led a second trump. South won with dummy's king, came to his hand with the king of diamonds and eventually discarded a spade on dummy's last diamond to make four hearts doubled and score 590 points.

The board wasn't an exact tie. The bidding went the same way at the other table except that North bid just three hearts. West made a hungry double and defended the hand one trick better. He did take his ace of spades and give his partner a trick with the king-club that South wanted.

Polio immunization urged

CHICAGO — Polio has become rare but the American Academy of Pediatrics recommended today that immunization be continued because of the continuing danger of import cases from other countries.

The committee noted that several hundred cases a year occur in Mexico, for example, and some of these cases could spread to the United States if no immunization program existed.

Polio reached its peak in the United States two decades ago with 20,000 to 30,000 cases a year occurring.

With the introduction of the Salk and Sabin vaccines, there have been fewer than 20 cases a year recorded during the last four years. In the first nine months of 1978, only six cases of paralytic polio have been recognized.

"Until other nations have achieved similar success, it is misleading to speak of disease eradication," said Dr. Samuel K. Katz, professor of pediatrics, Duke University.

Gift aimed for rich

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — For a gift that dazzles, Sidney Mobell presents the ultimate temptation — an hourglass filled with diamonds.

The jeweler admits his latest creation is "wild" and aimed at the rich, but adds: "It's a beautiful piece of jewelry."

His pre-Christmas offering to the person who has everything is an actual gold-lined hourglass with tiny diamonds instead of sand inside. Priced near $2,000 for a 2-carat size containing 400 diamonds to a larger $15,000 one containing 3,864 jewels.

The hourglass pieces are about finger length, but small enough to wear as a ring.

"It's a wearable, functional piece of jewelry," said Mobell.

Smith fears new demands may wreck Rhodesia meet

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith said on his arrival today that he fears new demands by black nationalists could undermine the British-sponsored conference on Rhodesia's future.

Smith, first of the five delegation leaders invited by Britain to the conference, arrived aboard a chartered South African Airways Boeing 707 with 30 aides and security officials. He told an airport news conference the talks, due to open formally next Thursday, should confirm the agreement worked out by U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger during his African shuttle in September.

"This should be completely easy and we could return tomorrow," he said. "But there are people trying to change the agreement." The Kissinger plan, accepted by Britain and Smith's white minority government in Salisbury, calls for black majority rule within six years with a mixed interim government beforehand. The whites would keep the vital cabinet portfolios of defense and law and order.

Asked if he could visualize a situation where he would walk out of the conference, Smith said, "I am not an emotional kind of bloke. I don't easily get up and walk out." "I believe that it is possible that in the end we might arrive at a situation when in all honesty we will have to say the whole concept which brought us here has been undermined. It has been defeated — and therefore there is no point in continuing the conference." "That is a possibility but I want to make it clear that I have come here in a positive frame of mind. I and my delegates will be eminently reasonable and patient. We will lean over backwards to try and make the conference succeed."

Scheduled to arrive from London this evening was Ivor Richard, British ambassador to the United Nations and chairman of the conference. There was no information on when the leaders of the four African nationalist delegations would arrive but British officials said they hoped they would turn up by the weekend.

The leader of one of these factions, Robert Mugabe, told a Yugoslav reporter in Lusaka Wednesday that he thought the chances of success in Gaborone were "quite minimal."

Ailing

FORMER king of Sikkim, Palden Thongdup Namgyal, remains in uncertain condition in Calcutta, India, today, after an apparent overdose of sleeping pills. His estranged wife, former New York socialite Hope Cooke, is seeking to fly there from the United States.

Finns order N. Korean envoys out

HELSINKI, Finland (UPI) — Four North Korean diplomats have been ordered to leave Finland, the fourth Scandinavian country to take action against North Korean envoys for alleged black market dealings.

The Finnish Foreign Ministry announced Wednesday that the four had been declared persona non grata only hours before North Korean envoys left Copenhagen, Denmark boarded an express train to Moscow.

Foreign ministry and government officials refused to say why the North Koreans were ordered to leave Finland, but a source close to the investigation said they were expelled for black market dealings in cigarettes, alcohol and, to a lesser extent, drugs. "The embassy officials have been practicing activities contrary to Finnish laws and contrary to general diplomatic relationships," the foreign ministry spokesman said. The North Korean embassy's temporary charge d'affaires, Chung-Dai, and officers Li Chon Sop and Bong In Ueng like their colleagues in Denmark and Norway were given six days to leave.

Latest Lebanon cease-fire takes effect

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The 55th day of fighting in Lebanon's civil war slowly began to take effect today, ending the heaviest barrage of mortar fire across the capital in 18 months of fighting.

Leftist militia sources estimated that nearly 3,000 shells fell on the western sector of the city over the past 24 hours. Newspapers estimated casualties at more than 120 dead and 300 wounded.

west Beirut. Sporadic shooting and shelling also ripped across the green line dividing the capital.

First reports said other fronts were quiet, although there was no news from southern Lebanon, where heavy fighting raged Wednesday.

But both sides said they doubted the other would stick to the truce.

Israelis eye mood

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Authoritative Israeli sources say they are deeply troubled by what they consider to be a growing anti-Israel mood within the Pentagon and the CIA.

The officials think Gen. George Brown's offhand remark — that from a military point of view "strategically, the Israelis are more of a burden than an asset" — was a symptom of a widespread feeling that in the long run will endanger Israel's survival.

Purge backed in Peking

HONG KONG (UPI) — Thousands of people beating drums and drums drummed into Peking's Tien An Men Square today in the capital's first demonstration in support of new Communist party leader Hua Kuo-feng and his purge of Mao Tse-tung's widow and her fellow radicals.

The streets leading to the square were jammed with people carrying banners with slogans reading, "Down with the Gang of Four." Their names were written on the banners and crossed out with large red 'X's'. Peking sources told UPI in Hong Kong by telephone.

prompting diplomats in the capital to speculate that an announcement on major changes in the leadership line might be imminent.

Food processors jobless rolls up

BOISE (UPI) — The Food Processing Industry was almost exclusively responsible for an increase in unemployment in Idaho in September — the third straight month. It has been on the rise, the State Department of Employment reported today.

Unemployment in September reached 7.5 per cent, rising from 7.2 per cent the previous month, the department said in its "Idaho Employment" bulletin.

The agency said the Food Processing Industry has been responsible for a number of ups and downs in the state's unemployment so far this year.

"It is difficult to interpret employment figures for the industry this late in the season," the bulletin said. "However, with the harvest of most crops occurring this month, October's unemployment for the Food Processing Industry should give a good indication of the industry's economic well being."

"At that point, they should have fresh crops in process and should be on more solid ground," the bulletin added.

It noted that most other industries seemed to have held their own during September.

The agency noted that despite the problems the state has experienced the last few months, incomes haven't suffered greatly.

Average weekly spendable earnings in the state have increased over the year, the agency said. The average worker with three dependents earned one-third of a percent more than he was earning a year ago after adjustment for inflation.

"The average worker with no dependents is earning 2.7 per cent more than he was a year ago," the department said. "These increases result from slackening inflation rather than growing wages."

The department also predicted that Idaho's economy "should improve over the course of the next several months."

A-Victoria flu outbreak possible

BOISE (UPI) — State epidemiologist John Mather says another outbreak is possible this winter of the type A-Victoria influenza that killed 16 persons in Idaho last winter.

Dr. Mather said persons considered high risk — flu patients should go to their private physicians or public health clinics for immunization against this type of influenza.

Australia and New Zealand are experiencing a winter outbreak of this disease, he said, and it is being brought into the United States by travelers. He said it is not spreading yet but "we will probably see type A-Victoria influenza occurring in the United States by December."

Last winter, no vaccine was available to protect the public from this type of flu. Dr. Mather said this year, a vaccine is available and is being offered to the high risk population — those 65 and older or those with chronic illnesses — in combination with the type A-New Jersey, or swine flu, vaccine.

Drivers leave victim to die

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (UPI) — Two women drivers struck a pedestrian on a dark road near here and left him to die because they were afraid they were being lured into a trap, police say.

William M. Fross, 29, Kalamazoo, died of massive head injuries suffered when he was struck by two different cars early Monday.

Kalamazoo County Sheriff's Lt. Robert VanStream said an 18-year-old Kalamazoo woman reported Fross stepped into the path of her car as she drove along U.S. 131 at 2:30 a.m. She said she swerved to miss him but Fross stepped forward again hitting the side of her car.

The woman told police she looked through her rear-view mirror and saw the man teetering and falling to the ground but that it looked like "a phony fall" and she thought the man was trying to lure her back. She called police only after she heard radio reports of the fatality.

Moments after the first driver left the scene, a car driven by a 19-year-old Kalamazoo woman hit Fross, who then was lying in the road, Van Stream said.

BPW-week observed

TWIN FALLS Business and Professional Women's Week is Oct. 17 to 23. A district meeting of the clubs will be held Saturday at the Holiday Inn.

Registration will begin at 6 p.m. with dinner following at 7:30. Cost of dinner will be $5.50. The meeting and program will be conducted at 8:30 p.m. and are open to all interested women.

The Magic Valley chapter of the Business and Professional Women's Club welcomes all visitors and interested women to its monthly meetings. The business meeting is held the second Monday of every month, and the social meeting on the fourth Monday. Dinner is served at 7 p.m. for $2.75, meetings which are held at the Colonial House on Shoshone St. N near 10th Avenue.

Candidates face filing deadline

BOISE (UPI) — Secretary of State Pete T. Conrussa and Attorney General Wayne L. Kidwell reminded candidates today they face another deadline, next Tuesday for filing campaign disclosure reports.

This report — the seventh day pre-general report — will cover the period of Sept. 23-Oct. 10, they said, and is due no later than next Tuesday. Reports, postmarked on or before Tuesday, will be deemed timely, they said.

Both officials stressed the reports, required under the Sunshine Act, must be filed on time.

Kidwell said it is unpleasant to file charges against any candidate or political treasurer for being late but the act makes late filing a law violation.

Kidwell filed civil charges against 16 legislative candidates who were more than a day late in filing the last report, due Oct. 17. He said they could be fined up to $250 apiece. Although Kidwell filed only one count against each of the law specifies that each day a candidate is late can be a new count and the civil penalty of $250 could be imposed for each one.

Tanaka denies guilt

TOKYO (UPI) — Former Premier Kakuei Tanaka, now under indictment for allegedly receiving $1.6 million from Lockheed Aircraft Corp., says he is innocent and will run for reelection to the Japanese parliament.

In a statement issued in a monthly newspaper published Tuesday by his political supporters, Tanaka denied involvement in the $12 million Lockheed payoff scandal.

"I have not received political contributions from Lockheed and I would like to seek your stern judgment" in the general election scheduled for December, the 59-year-old conservative politician said.

Tanaka, still a powerful man although he quit the ruling Liberal Democratic party following his arrest last July, said he has regained "my health after being held behind bars for 20 days."

Anti-throwaway 'front' losing national groups

WASHINGTON — Major national organizations are continuing to resign from Keep America Beautiful, Inc., accused by its detractors of being nothing more than a bottling and canning industry "front group" designed to fight laws banning throwaway beverage containers.

KAB is best known for its ads which feature an American Indian weeping over the trash and litter which has so messed up his land. However, the pile of trash which so upsets the Indian does not include throwaway beverage bottles and cans, one of the major sources of litter.

Just last week the National League of Women Voters and the National Audubon Society mailed their letters of resignation to KAB. Late last month, the National Wildlife Federation quit. All three cited KAB's stand on throwaways.

In August, the Environmental Protection Agency resigned from KAB's advisory board and Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., whose state is one of two with anti-throwaway laws, asked that the group's access to free public-interest advertising be re-examined.

The Sierra Club, The Garden Clubs of America, The Wilderness Society and Thezaak Walton League are among major environmental groups which resigned earlier.

The KAB ads are carried free under the sponsorship of the Advertising Council, a move which conservationists say uses up the free time and keeps anti-throwaway groups from getting their views aired.

KAB sponsors "resource recovery" programs to recycle such items as soft drink and beer containers, saying they are superior to laws banning throwaways. The organization's board of directors includes senior officers of firms in the bottling, soft drink, beer and can industries.

Industry spokesmen have said that laws banning throwaways will cost their companies millions of dollars a year and will eliminate many high-paying jobs of workers now involved with one-way containers.

Colorado, Maine, Massachusetts and Michigan have referenda on their ballots this fall to ban throwaways. Backers in all four states say the industry has unleashed a no-holds-barred drive to defeat the questions.

Old design to new heart

RICHLAND, Wash. (UPI) — With an eye to the future, scientists have reached into the past and refined a 100 year old engine design which ten years from now could be the first human implanted artificial heart.

A technical team from Richland Energy Laboratory, part of McDonnell-Douglas Astronautics Co., is developing the device under a $1.75 million contract from the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute.

It's based on a small radioisotope-powered or electric-powered Sterling engine which was developed a century ago. The motor was later developed for use as a spacecraft generator and now has been modified to drive a blood pump.

So far, scientists at the Laboratory have advanced the remaining from laboratory devices to a radioisotope-fueled prototype which has been successfully used for animal implantations.

Fourteen implants were performed at the Texas Heart Institute in Houston and the Children's Hospital in Boston. The last implant in 1974 kept a cow alive for a week.

"Those experiments made it clear animals can't survive all the hardware that was needed," said Dick Johnston, manager of the artificial heart program. "The blood pump was too large and interfered with lung function and the calf died of pneumonia."

He said as a result the pump was redesigned and the engine reduced to half its size for the next experiments.

Johnston said his research is concentrating on a device to assist the left ventricle, the side generally subject to disease.

Research elsewhere is working toward total heart replacement.

Five other laboratories in the nation are working to develop artificial hearts, according to Johnston.

Freed convict charged with murdering 3 persons

LEAVELAND, Kan. (UPI) — John Swindler was released from federal prison before completing his full sentence because of "good time" provisions. He has been charged with murdering three persons in his first week of freedom.

Warden Charles Benson said Tuesday the federal privacy act prevents him from explaining how Swindler could have been released with maximum time off for good behavior despite several reported infractions of prison rules.

Swindler has been charged with murdering a young couple at Columbia, S.C., and a policeman at Fort Smith, Ark. He was captured at Fort Smith Sept. 24.

"I wish we didn't have that privacy act and I could discuss it so you didn't think I was covering something up," Benson said.

The Kansas City Star in a copyrighted story Tuesday detailed Swindler's prison record.

Swindler originally was sentenced to four years for car theft in 1970, and two years later was sentenced to an additional five years for carrying a knife in prison.

Swindler's prison record also included "numerous infractions" such as homosexuality, carrying contraband and refusing to accept cell changes, according to the Star, which quoted a policeman with access to records furnished to police by the U.S. Bureau of Prisons.

Benson said Swindler was credited with 64 days "good time" and 45 days meritorious time, and was released about two years and eight months early.

The Star reported Swindler was put on a bus for South Carolina upon his release and apparently arrived there Sept. 18.

On Sept. 20, Dorothy Rhodes, 38, was seen in her car in Columbia, S.C., on her way to pick up her boyfriend, Greg Becknell, 19. Two days later their bodies were found stripped, and bound to trees in a wooded area on the outskirts of Columbia. They had both been beaten and shot in the head.

Four days later, Fort Smith policeman Randy Basnett was shot to death as he tried to arrest the driver of a car reported stolen from Columbia in the same area where Miss Rhodes's car was found abandoned.

Straying hunter found

MOUNTAIN HOME, Idaho (UPI) — An Air Force sergeant from Iowa went deer hunting for the first time in his life this past weekend, got lost and spent two nights in 13-degree temperatures.

But Sgt. Jim McCold, 28, of Mountain Home Air Force Base, the object of a search Monday and Tuesday by about 70 men using a helicopter, horses, motorcycles and four-wheel drive vehicles, said he wasn't worried.

"I knew my directions and kept heading south," McCold said.

"I didn't scare me out," he said, after a hot shower. "I'd go again this weekend but I have to work."

McCold and a hunting companion drove by pickup truck to the Dismal Swamp area between Rocky Gap and the North Fork of the Boise River Saturday afternoon.

They split up after beginning to hunt early Sunday morning. After walking along logging roads all day Sunday McCold knew something was wrong about 5 p.m. He fired three shots but did not hear any answer. Then he built a fire in the middle of the road and slept the night.

His hunting partner, T. Sgt. Les Hicks, meantime, drove to a hilltop and used a citizens band radio to summon help.

The hunt for McCold began Monday morning. McCold said he met two basque shepherders who gave him an apple and a cup of coffee and showed him a shortcut to Trinity Lakes. He followed the road until it became too rough to travel. He spent the night shivering because he was afraid to build a fire in the heavy brush country.

Tuesday he came to a road and started walking south when a truck with three searchers picked him up and took him to Featherville.

When he walked into the Featherville store late Tuesday morning the owner asked: "Are you one of the searchers?"

"I told him I was the searcher," McCold said.

Flu shots result in cadet ill

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (UPI) — Military officials Tuesday said about 100 cadets who received bivalent swine flu shots had complained of side-effects, but the problem was believed caused by double doses given to military personnel.

Col. Richard Foster, commandant of the academy hospital, said 1,000 cadets together with the entire hospital staff and all three instructors, received the bivalent inoculations Monday. He said about 100 cadets later complained of nausea, fever with headache and a general feeling of being sick.

"They complained of general aches and four cadets had nausea," Foster said. "One had to be calmed down and he received a tranquilizing injection."

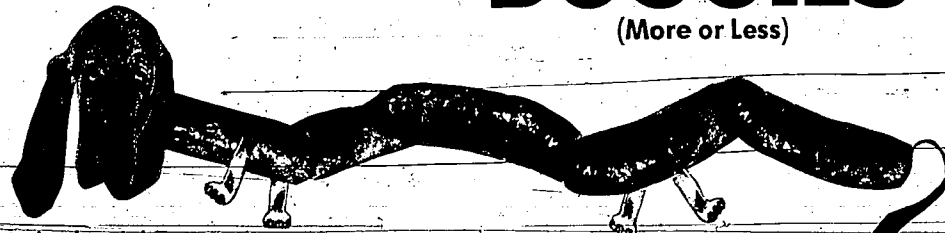

Foster said only 12 cadets were treated at the hospital and the one admitted overnight, were back in class Tuesday.

Foster and Brent Shaw, coordinator of the swine flu inoculation program in Colorado, both attributed the side-effects to the standard double dose administered to military personnel.

"They give them double the dose of the bivalent vaccine at the same time as Hong Kong flu shots," Shaw said. "That's the military recommendation and it doesn't surprise me there are problems."

DEAR ABBY: Our 10-year-old daughter (I'll call her Mary) has been bathing her 5-year-old brother for two years. She does a good job, and it's a big help to her mother's aching back.

Last week Mary's little girlfriend, whom I'll call Amy, slept over. Mary let Amy help bathe her little brother. You won't believe this, but the next day Amy's mother phoned me to say that she and her husband were "furious" because we allowed Amy to see a naked male. She said they had planned on telling Amy the facts of life until she reached puberty, but since she saw a naked boy, she's asking lots of questions they aren't prepared to answer. She also said that Amy could not stay overnight at our home again.

Buying tips given

There's a right and a wrong way to buy frozen fruits and vegetables.

According to the pullout-and-save freezer cookbook in the November, Family Circle, the right way to buy frozen produce packed in bags is to choose bags that make a rattling sound when shaken.

If foods are packaged in a clear wrap, note the color. The more brightly colored foods have fresher flavor. Finally, before purchasing any frozen food items, inspect it carefully. Foods with damaged packages probably have lost quality.

London's cat and mouse game eyed

LONDON (UPI) — London restaurants are plagued by an invasion of "commuter mice" swarming out of the subway to dine on leftover food.

"This is a very serious problem," a community health officer testified in court Wednesday. "There is urgent need for everybody to get together to tackle this."

The testimony came in a case in which the Inn-Centra restaurant was fined $1,199 for hygiene offenses.

"It is an open secret that the whole of that area is infested with rodents," said defense attorney Peter Sheridan.

"They are particularly fond of the Pileodilly tube subway line, probably because of the warmth."

Ice cream barometer

NEW YORK (UPI) — The condition of ice cream is a good barometer of home freezer temperatures, according to the consumer education program of Cornell University.

If the frozen dessert is easy to spoon after a container of 41 has been in the freezer a few hours, freezer temperature probably is in the 20s. If it is hard to spoon, the range probably is 10 to 20 degrees. If it is hard and brittle, when a spoon is bounced on it, the freezer temperature probably is about zero degrees.

Tips on leftovers

Don't freeze leftover cooked egg whites, milk sauces or boiled white potatoes. A pullout-and-save freezer cookbook in the current Family Circle warns that egg whites become tough and rubbery when frozen, milk sauces often curdle and boiled potatoes become mealy. However, do freeze lettuce and green onions.

While these vegetables often become limp when frozen, the magazine adds that it's better to freeze them for later use in soups and vegetable medleys than to throw them out.

FED UP IN PHOENIX

DEAR ABBY: A woman who belongs to my bridge club recently made a needlepoint sampler bearing the following message: "NEEDLEPOINT HAS REPLACED SEX!" She framed it and hung it in her den where we play bridge.

Ever since she displayed it, no one has had the nerve to bring out her needlepoint—even when she's dummy.

FLABBERGASTED

DEAR ABBY: Tell Mary the truth, that not all parents handle nudity and sex education the same way. And without putting Amy's parents down, explain that they prefer the hush-hush, dress-in-the-closet approach, while you take the more casual, open, no-big-deal attitude. (P.S. I think your approach is healthier.)

DEAR ABBY: A woman wanted to know if medical treatment was in order for her husband, who had lately lost all interest in sex. If that letter is from Phoenix, Ariz., it's from my wife, and I'd like to answer her this way:

Dear Wife: No, my dear, medical treatment is not in order for ME, but it may be that YOU could use some. When I married you 10 years ago, you were 5 foot 3 and weighed 117. Today you won't even get on a scale, but I know you must weigh at least 170 and are about six ar handles across the rear.

Since bearing our two wonderful children, you have decided that your job is done, so you feed your face and grow fatter. The housework never gets done unless you're expecting company.

I'm not planning on leaving you. I think too much of the kids. But I must admit that the thought of kicking your fat can all the way back to Le Mars, Iowa, has crossed my mind a couple of times.

your health

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB
Dear Dr. Lamb—

I am 48 years old, weigh 210 pounds and am 5 feet 4. By the time I get to the doctor's office my blood pressure is 180 over 120. My doctor had me on several medicines before trying Ser-Ap-Es. After three weeks on that medicine I had nightmares, severe depression and was thinking of ways to commit suicide. At times I was unable to control my arm muscles, and it felt like a cereal bowl was imbedded in the top of my head. I had a general mental change.

I changed doctors and was put on Naurelin. With the first pill I felt like I wanted to climb the wall. Tranquilizers such as Equanil seem to irritate my nervous system instead of calming me. I've quit taking all medication and am trying to lose weight. But I'm worried that in the meantime the blood pressure may cause more serious problems.

I'm hoping you can come up with some solution for me, because with all these problems combined, some day it just seems like I won't be able to cope with them much longer.

Attention needed

Dear Reader—

Have heart, you are on the right track. The most important thing you can do for yourself is lose weight.

Ser-Ap-Es is a combination medicine that contains Serapast. This medicine is capable of causing the mental symptoms you describe. This can happen in a normal person but is particularly likely to occur in a person who already tends to be depressed.

Some people do not respond as usual to tranquilizers and a number of the medicines used to treat high blood pressure do have major side effects. That is why many doctors prefer to treat elevated blood pressure with the least amount of the most effective medicine. There is always the danger that the treatment may be worse than the disease.

You should talk over your problem with your doctor and tell him you want to try to lower your pressure with weight reduction and salt restriction. He will help you. The reason you have been given medicines is simply that your doctors are also worried about your blood pressure while you are needing to lose weight.

You probably should be taking one of the mild diuretic water pills. I would recommend Diurid or Hydrodiurid and nothing else. These do nothing to your nervous system and act only to eliminate salt and water. They will help lower your pressure some and probably enough to keep you out of danger.

The rest will be up to you. That means a dedicated weight control program. To help you I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-7-Weight-Losing-Diet. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Don't plan on losing too fast. It took a long time to get that heavy and it will take a long time to get rid of it safely. Stay on that diet no matter what. Don't let your friends or family distract you.

Start an exercise program and walk, walk, walk. Walk a short distance that doesn't tire you and then gradually increase the amount every day. Try to build up to walking at least an hour every day. You don't need to walk fast, just every day. Go to a shopping mall to walk of one is nearby if you don't want to do it out of doors.

If you are able to swim you could also begin swimming every day. Don't allow some health club, though, to get you in anything more strenuous than walking or swimming until you have lost a great deal of weight.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Doctor against child spanking

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Psychologist John Valusek has a simple cure for violence in America: Stop spanking children.

Valusek, a psychological consultant and father of three from Wichita, Kan., told the Utah Association for Mental Health Tuesday that parental spanking promotes the notion that violence against others is legitimate.

"Spanking is the first half inch on the yardstick of violence," he told the association's annual meeting. "It is followed by hitting and ultimately by rape, murder and assassination."

"All involve the intentional use of pain against another person against his will."

"The modeling behavior that occurs at home sets the stage. I will resort to violence when I don't know what else to do."

"There is another lesson too: If you're big enough, you can inflict pain and get away with it. Is it surprising that Sirhan Sirhan thinks he can get a gun and blow someone's brains out?"

Valusek, 46, said he started campaigning two years ago on the slogans, "People Are Not For Hitting" and "Children Are People Too."

"Two years ago, everybody thought I was crazy," he said. "Now a few support me in my belief that we're not going to do away with violence and child abuse until we do away with the sanctions for spanking."

He urged parents and society to re-examine the attitudes that permit the use of painful force against children but condemn it when adults are involved.

"I blame nobody for spanking his or her children," he said. "In fact, if you spank your children, I suggest you continue doing it. Consistency is important too."

Dating service tries to please

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — A computer dating service on the Michigan State University campus is offering something for everybody.

For $3.50, its pamphlets say the service will fix you up with "jocks, jerks, junkies, Jesus freaks, spare hangers, tire hangers, modern artists, can artists, the oversexed and undersexed, hippies, nerds, etc."

The matching-up process is quite sophisticated.

Questionnaires prospective customers must fill out, gauge their preferences on everything from pets and punctuality to dirty jokes and newspaper editorials.

"One isn't really a well-rounded person until one has sexual relations with several people," the questionnaire states at one point. The customer may agree, disagree or remain neutral on the point.

The idea is to match persons with similar interests and attitudes, sponsors say.

Two-night show

CORIE Paulsen, program supervisor for adult care and training services of the Adult and Child Development Center, Health and Welfare, stands between Jim Winkler, left, and Ted Winkler, who play with the country and western group, "High Country."

Along with many other country and western artists in the valley, "High Country" will appear at the Country Music Concert to be held at the CSI Fine Arts Auditorium Monday and Tuesday.

Proceeds from the event will be donated to Paulsen's organization to purchase a 16mm sound projector and a Zig-Zag sewing machine as teaching tools. Admission to the concert, which begins at 8 p.m., will be $2.00.

Buffalo's new brick wall generates big controversy

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — This past summer, workmen began erecting a brown brick wall around the McKinley monument in the city's downtown area.

Since the street around the monument was being repaired, the walls received little public attention.

But the street reopened and the wall generated more controversy in this sport-minded city than the return of a Simpson to the Buffalo Bills or the departure of Bills' Coach Lou Saban.

The project all began when the city submitted a request in October, 1975, for $550,000 for a Niagara Square Beautification Plan to the federal Economic Development Administration.

The EDA approved the plan in December.

The idea was to beautify the square, but citizens didn't see it that way.

They said the walls, when completed, would provide a place for muggers to hide and jump out in front of unsuspecting passersby.

And they said the wall would take away from and partially hide the monument, erected in memory of President William McKinley, who was assassinated here in 1901.

When the outcry grew, Mayor Stanley Makowski appointed a citizens' committee to decide the issue. The group voted 8 to 1 earlier this month to dismantle the walls.

It became a major agenda item on the Common Council agenda. What would it cost to bring the walls down?

If it meant removing the brick sidewalks and replacing them with concrete, the council was told, it would cost about $102,000. Leaving the sidewalks and just removing the wall would cost about $16,000.

The city had already committed about $135,000 of its money to the project and the cost of the entire thing, including the dismantling of the walls, was now expected to cost $160,000.

Daily busing available for handicapped

TWIN FALLS — A shaky transportation problem for mentally and physically handicapped clients who report daily to training programs in Twin Falls has been temporarily solved until June, 1977.

Clients of Magic Valley Rehabilitation Services (MVRS) south of Twin Falls now have transportation to the facility as a result of a contractual agreement between MVRS and the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare (IDHW).

IDHW will provide transportation to MVRS clients on the North Side who travel to Twin Falls as part of programs sponsored by Vocational Rehabilitation Services (VRS) and IDHW for training or sheltered employment, according to Jeff Crumrine, MVRS executive director.

Transportation costs amount to $3 per day per client for North Side clients according to Dennis McDermott, region V HAW director.

MVRS provides its own transportation for Twin Falls County clients, according to Crumrine, and operates buses which stop in Buhl, Plover, Twin Falls and Kimberly.

Crumrine said MVRS provides busing for 34 individuals in Twin Falls County, only 12 of whom attend its programs. The remainder of the clients are participants in programs at the Adult Care and Training Unit at the Presbyterian Church in Twin Falls.

Of the clients bused to Twin Falls from the North Side by HAW, only five attend the MVRS facility, according to Crumrine.

During months of negotiations with HAW, MVRS was faced with near extinction because it could not get a sufficient fleet of vans to its facility to remain solvent.

HAW had said it would not provide the transportation after July 1 and MVRS could not fund the busing itself. The present agreement is the culmination of negotiations with HAW, MVRS and VRS.

Crumrine has an eye for the future, when the present agreement will end, and has been requested by the MVRS board of directors to apply for a mass transportation grant to purchase vans for the future transportation of the clients.

Sheriffs delay Corder support

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Idaho Sheriff's Association have sidestepped action on behalf of Twin Falls Sheriff Paul Corder.

Sheriff Earl Brown, Gooding, secretary of the state sheriff's organization, said the state's other sheriffs discussed charges brought against Corder but felt they did not have enough information available to decide a course of action.

Corder has been charged with failing to keep and turn over on a quarterly basis public money from his office copy machine.

George Nourse, Canyon County, president of the association said earlier the association might file a complaint charging Twin Falls County Prosecutor William Hollifield with malicious prosecution.

Hollifield brought the charge against Corder following an investigation by the attorney general's office.

Brown said Thursday the Twin Falls County sheriff did not attend the state meeting in Mountain Home and after a brief discussion several sheriffs called for postponement of action until more direct information was available.

Corder said he was unable to attend the meeting because of conferences scheduled with his attorney. He said he contacted Nourse to provide information requested and to explain he would not be able to attend.

Corder's attorney, Lloyd Welsh, contends there is no basis for charges against Corder as he was following a procedure set up in the office prior to his becoming sheriff, and one which is followed by other counties and other officials in Twin Falls County. He said the revenue from the copy machine was used for petty cash purposes and the purchase of items needed to operate the office.

Welsh says there is no criminal intent on the part of the sheriff.

Brown said he did not know when the association might reconsider the Corder case.

Nourse has been unavailable for comment, attending a meeting of county officials in Twin Falls.

Valley centers gain HAW funds

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Region V Advisory Board for the Department of Health and Welfare (HAW) Wednesday approved contracts with the Alcohol Rehabilitation Center in Gooding and the Magic Valley Rehabilitation Center in Twin Falls.

City Robertson, director of substance abuse for the region, told the board he had tentatively agreed to provide $12,000 to the Gooding center for 11 to 12 beds for department clients in need of rehabilitation.

The Gooding center normally charges about $1,200 for the 28-day rehabilitation and treatment program for each patient, Robertson told the board. He said the center needs some operating funds to begin services but will eventually become self-supporting.

He said the department will attempt to have the individual or the family repay the cost of the treatment under the $12,000 contract.

The other agreement, at a cost of $18,000, is with the Magic Valley Rehabilitation Center in Twin Falls. Robertson said the center was in serious financial condition and in danger of closing. The $18,000 will keep the center operating for a year, he said, and give the department a source of treatment for clients in need of such care.

Board members approved the expenditure, agreeing it would be for this year only and is not to be a continuing appropriation. Robertson said the funds will come from state money allocated under the Alcohol Rehabilitation Act.

Another tax hike seen during 1976

By CHRISTOPHER BOGAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — State and local taxes went up 10 percent in fiscal year 1975 and they are liable to go up even more than that in 1976, according to the head of Associated Taxpayers of Idaho.

Speaking to the first annual convention of the Idaho Association of Counties (IAC), Max Yost of the Associated Taxpayers, Boise, indicated Wednesday that another tax rise can be expected in Idaho in 1976 if the trend of the present state economy continues as it is.

Yost told the Times-News Wednesday that given a continuation of the present economic trend, state and local taxes could increase as much as 12 or 13 percent in 1976.

Those predictions are based on the fact that personal incomes are apparently going to be higher in 1976 in Idaho than they were in 1975, Yost said.

"Because of the Idaho tax system, particularly the graduated income tax which is such that it follows the trend of the personal income as the economy increases, the graduated rates of income tax increase and have a slightly higher rate," Yost commented.

In his remarks to county commissioners, clerks, assessors, treasurers, sheriffs and recorders at the Holiday Inn in Twin Falls, Yost said that "because the cost of government is going up we have to operate as efficiently as possible in order to keep the tax bill from going higher than it ought to."

"A good politician analyzes and relates," Yost said to the county officials at the IAC convention, "and that is what all of you must do."

Yost said to keep state and local taxes down.

Swine flu clinics scheduled in TF

TWIN FALLS — Swine flu inoculation clinics will begin in Twin Falls County on Nov. 10, although Twin Falls residents won't have their mass clinic until Dec. 12.

A schedule for the inoculation program was released Wednesday by the South-Central Health District (SCHD) which is administering the public vaccine.

The vaccine is being provided free of charge by the federal government, but the SCHD is asking for $1 donations from each recipient to cover administrative costs.

The mass clinics scheduled for Twin Falls County will be held as follows:

- Hansen residents will be first to receive the shots when they go to the City Hall from 4 to 7 p.m. on Nov. 10 for inoculation.
- On Nov. 17, Castleford residents will be inoculated at a clinic held from 3 to 6 p.m. at the Castleford School.
- On Dec. 1 Kimberly residents will receive shots from 4 to 7 p.m. at the Kimberly Grade School.

Buhl residents will receive the shots on Dec. 6 from 2 to 7 p.m. at the Moose Hall, and Elber residents will get the vaccine from 11 to 2 p.m. at the Elber High School.

Last on the list are Twin Falls residents. They won't get their shots until Dec. 12 when a mass clinic will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the College of Southern Idaho Gymnasium.

In addition to the mass clinics, those wishing to can get inoculated at public health offices during regular clinic hours.

The Buhl public health clinic is held on the first Thursday of each month from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Buhl Retirement Center.

The Twin Falls public health clinic is open Tuesdays from 9 to 11 a.m. at the old American Legion Hall.

The swine flu vaccine will be given to persons 18 and older, with those over 65 and those in high-risk categories receiving a special vaccine which protects against Victoria as well as swine flu.

Mental health office to move

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Office of Regional V Mental Health Services, Idaho Department of Health and Welfare (IDHW), announces it is moving Friday from its present offices to the HAW Service Center, 638 Addison Avenue N., next to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Dennis Murray, program manager for Mental Health Services, said mental health personnel will move into offices vacated as a result of a recent move of HAW administrative offices to new quarters.

"For the first time," Murray says, "this allows all our Twin Falls staff to be housed in the same building instead of several different ones, and more economically than our present facilities."

Some mental health programs will still be offered in space rented in various community facilities, "but at least the staff will all have office space in the same building," he said.

Space problems will be solved when a new building for Mental Health Services is added sometime in mid-1977.

The building on Addison Avenue is also occupied by HAW's Substance Abuse, Youth Services and Medical Review units, providing integrated service to the residents of Twin Falls and surrounding communities.

Enrollment increase studied in Blaine

By BART QUESNELL
Times-News writer

HAILEY — If district-wide school enrollment here continues to climb, Hemingway Elementary School sixth graders could be bused to Hailey Elementary and sixth grade junior-high students could be sent to the new Wood River High School.

Those two possibilities may soon face the Blaine County School District in the next few years. Although Blaine voters passed a $4 million bond issue in 1974 to add more classrooms throughout the district, another bond is looming on the horizon.

Hemingway Elementary parents are already talking of a bond issue and Hailey a group searching for available land on which to build a new elementary school.

Blaine County apparently is becoming a place to settle and rear children after years of catering to resort trade tourists who come and

Highway setbacks established

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County Commissioners have approved a zoning resolution to establish highway setbacks throughout the county.

The resolution establishes designated setback distances for building on county highways.

The commissioners approved the zoning ordinance declaring that all new buildings must be set back 80 feet from the center line of "arterial highways," 70 feet from the center line of "minor arterial" highways, and 55 feet from the center line of "county roads," according to County Commissioner Merl Leonard.

If the setbacks are made now, it would save the county the expense and trouble in the future of buying up land and houses in case the roads are ever expanded, Twin Falls Zoning Administrator Ed Woods says.

Previously, there had been no setback requirement.

School cheer

RED AND White Day at O'Leary Junior High School aims to a cheery close with a pep rally to muster enthusiasm for the two football games held between cross-town rivals O'Leary and Robert-Stuart Jr. High Schools Wednesday night. Here cheerleaders conduct O'Leary students in shouts claiming that they are No. 1, even though Robert Stuart possessed the Victory Bell trophy.

United Way meet set

TWIN FALLS — Another report meeting will be held at noon Friday by workers and officials of the Twin Falls United Way organization.

As of Thursday, a total of $26,000 had been collected by workers and more is expected by the time of the report luncheon Friday. The luncheon will be held in the College of Southern Idaho cafeteria.

United Way Campaign Chairman James Willis and some 250 other volunteers are attempting to collect $115,000 for the support of the community's charitable organizations. Drive-officials are hopeful of having all of the $115,000 collected or pledged by the end of October.

All United Way supported organizations have trimmed their budgets to the lowest possible operating figure to keep the campaign goal as realistic as possible.

Meats advance, grain futures edge down

CHICAGO — Meats advanced while grains closed unchanged to slightly lower in commodity futures trading Wednesday.

Commodity News Service said live cattle closed higher in a strong trade in which heavier than expected marketings and softer cash prices encouraged long liquidation. Final prices showed December 70 points higher, February 55 points higher, and June 57 higher. Volume was estimated at 17,650 contracts. October expired before noon closing 37 points higher at 33.37 per hundredweight with an estimated 107 contracts traded. Cash prices were in the 30.00-31.50 range.

Feeder cattle closed higher except for spot October which lost 75 points, settling at 38.25. Other months gained 17 to 30 points with the deferreds leading the advance. Gains in live cattle sparked a sharp covering in feeders.

Pork bellies closed with modest gains, the market rallying from a defensive opening to meet resistance at higher levels. Higher cash bellies and higher cattle provided support. February gained 80 points but settled 20 higher while other active months added 27 to 50 points on a trade of 3,633 contracts.

Live hogs closed slightly higher, while October was 40 points lower under liquidation pressure. Trading was dull. Futures rose slightly after October expired, relieving pressure, and nearby strengthening bears spreading the deferred meats while the front months were held lower by consistently large kills. Wheat closed a little easier in a light session marked by lack of interest and direction. Final prices were unchanged to 17 cents off and some traders were left today's grain stacks report. Chicago cash basis remained unchanged at 14. cents under Chicago December for hard winter and soft red.

Reds will go 'wide open' from start against Yanks

- NEW YORK (UPI) - If the New York Yankees thought they had their hands full while losing the first three games of the 1976 World Series, then Cincinnati Reds Manager Sparky Anderson has a warning for them as his club attempts to complete a four-game sweep tonight.

"They cannot afford to lose one more, so therefore, in my opinion, we have to really take the game to them now," Anderson said Wednesday shortly after the scheduled fourth game of the World Series was postponed by rain. "We have to even go beyond what we've done."

"Our strategy now will be just to lay it wide open right from the start. We will gamble on everything and just press 'em and they'll have to do it. Their outfielders will have to throw

"because they're gonna be pressed and if they don't do it, they'll be home soon."

Gary Nolan, a 15-game winner, has been named by Anderson to attempt and complete the 13th World Series sweep and first since 1966 when the Baltimore Orioles beat the Los Angeles Dodgers in four straight games.

New York Manager Billy Martin failed to show for Wednesday's news conference but later stated that rain would not alter his pitching plans and he still intends to go with Ed Figueroa, a 19-game winner and the Yankee starter in the fifth and deciding American League playoff game against Kansas City.

"They're playing well," Martin said of the Reds, "but I'm not over-impressed with their hitting. We're not in a very good position. But we've battled back before and we haven't given up yet. We'll still battle them all the way."

The National Weather Service has predicted clear skies for the start of the game at 6:30 MDT, with temperatures in the low 40s.

A victory by the Reds would enable them to become the first National League team in more than a half-century to win back-to-back World Series and in Anderson's opinion would catapult Cincinnati into prominence among baseball's all-time great teams.

"I would like to win this in four games for one reason," Anderson said. "And that's so you people can sit down and ask: Are they as good as the old Dodgers and Yankees teams? You're the ones who'll have to answer that, I can't."

Anderson, however, refused to compare his current team with great clubs of the past which he did not see. In response to a question, the 42-year-old, white-haired manager gave a position-by-position comparison of the Reds with the Brooklyn Dodgers of the mid-1950s. Anderson broke in with the Dodgers' organization during that period, when they were winning four National League pennants and one world championship in five years shortly before moving to Los Angeles.

And, not too surprisingly, except for pitching, Anderson gave his current team an edge over those last Brooklyn champions at every position except one. The only clear edge he conceded was in center field, where he said Duke Snider's power give him an advantage over the Cincinnati center fielder, Cesar Geronimo.

Someone questioned choosing Joe Morgan over Jackie Robinson at second base, and Anderson said "he's been the finest offensive player in the game the last five seasons."

"I give Morgan a big edge over Robinson," Anderson said, who pointed out that Robinson had the advantage of playing in the National League before many of the clubs moved to new and bigger ballparks. "The player today, if he isn't better than the player 25 years ago, then I'm gonna quit, because everything else has gotten better."

Twin Falls claims volleyball crown

TWIN FALLS - Twin Falls came off the deck midway through the second game to defeat Minico Wednesday night for the district A volleyball championship.

Minico, getting loose and free in a decision over Built to open the final session, appeared a clinch to throw the tournament into the extra playoff. The Spartans stormed to a 15-6 decision in the first game as Twin Falls had trouble with team movement.

The Spartans blew to an 8-2 lead to open the second game when Twin Falls showed its first spurt of life. The Bruins tied it at 8-8 and moved up 11-8 until Minico steeled.

The Spartans gained a 14-11 edge. Just one away from victory, when Twin Falls rallied into a tie. It was tied at 14-15 before Twin Falls put it away 17-15.

The third game saw Twin Falls score three points on the first serve and Minico never was able to overcome that in bowing 15-8.

The victory sends Twin Falls to the first girls state tournament, slated Oct. 30 at Idaho State. In an odd ball bracket, just six teams become eligible, meaning that one of the first round leaders will have a lock on at least second place due to a second-round bye.

The class B girls also will participate. In the one-day event, which offers little chance for errors due to a single elimination format.

Three NBA teams combine for trade

BOSTON (UPI) - The NBA champion Boston Celtics Wednesday sent rebounding wizard Paul Silas to the Denver Nuggets in a three-way deal that brought them the Detroit Pistons' star forward Curtis Rowe.

The Nuggets sent Detroit guard Ralph Simpson to get Silas, who was unable to reach a contract agreement with the Celtics after a month-long holdout.

Rowe, who averaged 16 points and nine rebounds a game with the Pistons last year, played at UCLA with another Boston newcomer, Sidney Wicks. The two, combining with center Dave Cowens and veteran all-star forward John Havlicek, give the Celtics one of the most impressive front lines in the history of the game.

"Rowe was a great All-American at UCLA and a winner. Just like Sidney Wicks," said Celtics General Manager Red Auerbach, who appears to be in the midst of a rebuilding effort accentuating youth.

The Celtics expect Rowe, at 6-foot-7 and 225 pounds, to fit nicely with their fast break style of play.

Stuart retains victory bell

TWIN FALLS - Robert Stuart still has the victory bell.

The ninth grade football teams cemented possession with a pair of shutouts over cross-town rival O'Leary Wednesday night.

Kerry Brown did most of the running as the Stuart lightweights collected a 28-0 decision on the Stuart heaves, getting a couple of long scoring runs from Bradley, polished off the sweep 34-0.

It was the third win in four tries the past two nights for Stuart. The Bears' eighth-grade heavyweights took a 28-0 decision and O'Leary only salvaged the eighth grade light game 16-8.

The victory bell goes to the school winning the frosh heavyweight tussle and since Stuart already owned it, another coat of paint won't be necessary.

Filer advances to volleyball finals

EDEN-HAZELTON - The Filer Wildcats moved into the finals of the southside class B district girls volleyball tournament Wednesday night.

Coach Julie Astorquia's crew became the only undefeated team - and the odds-on favorite to win the lone berth to state - by defeating the Kimberly Bulldogs 15-8, 15-2.

Three other teams still remain as possible challengers to Filer but they will have eliminated themselves due to one by the time the Wildcats take the floor at 8 p.m. Thursday for the finals.

That session opens at 6 p.m. with Valley taking on Hagerman. The winner of that will play Kimberly at 7 p.m. with the survivor going against Filer. If necessary the extra game will begin at 9 p.m.

In loser bracket action Wednesday night, Valley eliminated Castleford 15-11, 15-13 while Hagerman ousted Declo 15-10, 15-5. Valley defeated Hansen 15-15, 15-3, 15-3 and Hagerman thumped Murtaugh 15-3, 15-1.

Aslett has state gutter gussie lead

The tournament will continue Saturday and Sunday and again Oct. 30-31 and Nov. 6-7. It is being played at Salmon Bowl with 488 women participating.

Prize money to be awarded the winners totals $2,275.

Camas and Shoshone remain undefeated

WENDELL - Camas County and Shoshone remained undefeated in the northside class B volleyball tournament Wednesday night.

Those two will clash at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Wendell gymnasium with the winner advancing to the finals Saturday evening.

In the opening round Camas County dropped Dietrich while Glens Ferry topped Carey. In the upper bracket, Wendell followed with a win over Richfield while Shoshone beat Bliss. Carey sent Dietrich to the sidelines while Richfield ousted Bliss in the lower bracket while the winners bracket saw Camas County beat Glens Ferry and Shoshone defeat Wendell.

Action resumes at 5 p.m. Thursday with two juvvy matches. At 6 p.m. Wendell meets Carey and Glens Ferry takes on Richfield. After two more juvvy matches at 7 p.m. the varsities return with Camas County playing Shoshone and the winners of the two 6 p.m. games colliding on the other court.

League runners-up face 'must' games

One co-leader and three chasers face decision time Friday in a 15-game Magic Valley football league.

Although this is the biggest one-day stand of the sport in the area this year, it is actually an off-day for the leaders. Most of them will be playing non-conference games with the big one in that category coming at Eden where the Magic Valley Conference co-leading Oakley Hornets will test the Big Six Conference leading Valley Vikings.

The key games for possible title hopes come to Declo and Glenns Ferry. Declo, now 3-2 in the league, entertains the co-leading Hagerman Pirates (3-1). The kicker being Oakley is away playing for fun with its 4-1 record safely tucked away at least for another week. Action at Declo begins at 7 p.m.

That means neither can afford a loss. Three defeats surely would eliminate Declo from all title consideration and, of course, Hagerman would lose 75 percent of the lead.

At Glenns Ferry, both the home-standing Pifos and visiting Shoshone Indians have one loss and trail Valley by that number of games. The loser here doubtless can equal things over since there remain three teams with one loss records so far. It is difficult to catch one team this late in the year, but passing three seems an impossibility.

Meanwhile, Magic Valley's lone A-2 undefeated team, Buhl, will be at Piner and is heavily favored to run its overall record to 8-0 and its South-Central Idaho mark to 10-0. Piner has had its best season in a long while and the Wildcats have had a history of surprising Buhl in similar situations. But everything points to Buhl.

Jerome risks its undefeated SCIC mark against the Mountain Home Tigers — a game that also counts in the Cross State Conference. Both teams have played all opponents tough thus far, including the losing occasions.

Burley makes a rare daytime presentation at 2 p.m. Friday, entertaining Logan, Utah, on homecoming. The Bobcats, once 3-0, now have evened up and would like to get back on the plus side of 5-0.

Something's going to happen in the Big Six Conference cellar where Kimberly entertains Wendell. Neither has won a conference game as yet and the loser well could be consigned to finish in the basement.

Hansen, its Magic Valley league hopes still alive, will be at Castleford for 7:30 p.m. start. Murtaugh will be seeking its first win in a tough spot, Malta, where the Red River Trojans have won their last three in a row.

In eight-team action, pace-setting and undefeated Camas County will be home to Cascade, a visitor from the Long Pin Conference. Cascade currently is riding about fourth in that alignment. It may be an indication of strength between the two leagues which have their titlists meet for the state eight-man championship, but with the disparity in records, only an indication.

Bliss returns home to entertain the Rockland Bulldogs at 2 p.m. while North Gem travels to Carey where the Panthers are trying to stay within halting distance of the Mushers.

Feeder numbers decline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cattle and calves on feed for slaughter marketing as of Oct. 1 totaled 3,254,000 in the 23 major feeding states, according to a report Tuesday by the Crop Reporting Board of the Agriculture Department.

That amount was 1 per cent below the number on feed a year ago, but 1 per cent higher than in October, 1977.

The number of 5,000,000 steers and steer calves on feed, seven per cent below a year ago, and 12 per cent above 1974. Steers and steer calves accounted for only 64 per cent of the total, the lowest October percentage in seven years.

Heifers and heifer calves totaled 2,324,000, up 13 per cent from October, 1975, and 39 per cent above 1974 figures.

The Crop Reporting Board said it expects cattle feeders to market 5,000,000 head during the October-December period, 11 per cent more than fourth quarter marketings in 1975, but one per cent under the same quarter in 1974.

Gem milk production declining

BOISE (UPI) — Although Idaho dairy cows produced more milk per animal in September, the State Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said today total milk production was down because of fewer cows.

Milk produced on Idaho farms last month was estimated at 138 million pounds, the service said, which was down 1,000,000 pounds from a year ago but 5,000,000 pounds ahead of September of 1977.

The agency said the average production per cow in September this year was 570 pounds, up 20 pounds from a year ago, and a record high for the month. It added, however, production showed a decrease from a year ago because the number of milk cows was down 4,000.

Wyoming ranch up for sale

CODY, Wyo. (UPI) — The Wyoming Horsford Ranch, a 55,000-acre property which is one of the nation's oldest and largest purchased cattle ranches, may be sold within the next few weeks.

Glenn W. Nielson, president of Nielson Enterprises, Inc., of Cody, said negotiations were underway for sale of the property, but said it would be premature to discuss the matter.

"We originally hoped the sale would be completed by Nov. 1," Nielson said. "I am not sure now."

Nielson said 3,000 registered Herefords on the ranch were auctioned at a cattle dispersal sale Sept. 20-23. A ranch and farm equipment auction will be held next week. He said 1,300 acres would be withheld from sale for use as an industrial complex.

When Nielson bought the ranch, located seven miles southeast of Cheyenne, in 1967, reports circulated some of the land might be used as a Husky Oil refinery. Nielson's brother, James, is president of Husky Oil, and their father, Glenn, formerly headed both the oil company and Nielson Enterprises.

Nielson said the 1,300 acres being withheld has access to a freeway and the railroad. His company purchased the ranch at an estimated $1 million from Tom Leavey of Pala, Calif.

The ranch was started in the late 1800s by two English brothers, Alexander and Morgan Swan, who brought in 500 registered cows from their own herd in Herefordshire to graze on the rich Wyoming grassland.

Nielson said the decision to sell the ranch was "made by the board of directors. The board are all family members. I don't know why each one voted the way he did."
