Bolles case defense overruled

PHOENIX (UPI) — A defense effort to halt all proceedings against John Harvey Adamson, the accused slayer of reporter Dan Bolles, until the prosecution's jurisdictional conflict is decided was overruled in Superior Court Thursday.

Valley Briefs

TWIN FALLS — Star Social Club will meet at 1 p.m. Monday for a salad bar luncheon at the home of Grace Durk, five blocks east of the street light at Kimberly in Friendly Village Mobile Home Court.

Meanwhile, Harris told a Phoenix newspaper judge that if the case was returned to his control it would be "resolved" within a week.

Police investigating the bombing death of Bolles last summer have worked under the theory that more than one person was involved, but only Adamson has been charged so far.

Ford seeks ethnic votes in close contest areas

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Seeking ethnic votes in mid-western states where he is in a close contest with Jimmy Carter, President Ford says "America will meet any challenge anywhere, anytime because we are strong."

Ford made the pledge Thursday in appearances in the Cleveland area, telling a Polish-Czech audience that "as long as I am President... the United States will never recognize or acquiesce in the Soviet domination of Eastern Europe."

He was still mending fences after his gaffe in the second debate with Carter when he shocked ethnic groups by saying that Eastern Europe was not Soviet dominated.

He also has been jabbing his Democratic opponent who said in their final debate last Friday that he would not send troops to defend Yugoslavia if it were invaded by Russia.

Looking tired and sounding hoarse, Ford arranged to take his three-plane flying campaign caravan to Houston today in pursuit of Texas' 26 electoral votes. But first he stops in Milwaukee to address a teachers' gathering and in St. Louis for a rally under the Gateway Arch.

Ford's campaign also planned to buy expensive television time in Texas during his overnight stay in Houston to drum up support.

Richard Cheney, White House chief of staff, told reporters Thursday the present margin between the two candidates "is exceedingly close."

"The movement is toward the President, basically. We've got a dead-even race going down to the wire," he told reporters.

He said Ford is returning to Texas because the polls show him slightly ahead there. Ford also intends to touch base with Ohio voters again, with appearances in Warren, Youngstown, Akron and Columbus Monday afternoon before returning to his native Michigan "to campaign in suburban Detroit."

On election eve, he will fly to Grand Rapids, Mich., for an overnight stay and to vote in his hometown Tuesday morning before going back to Washington to await returns at the White House.

'No strings'

ROSALYNN Carter said in Akron, Ohio, Thursday that Jimmy Carter can be the first American president elected "without strings attached" because "he has no obligations." (UPI)

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jimmy Carter, apparently jittery that his lead is becoming thin in crucial northern industrial states, is urging his supporters not to leave him just a few thousand votes short as they did Hubert Humphrey in 1968.

With only four days left in the campaign, Carter aides seem tense over a series of polls indicating that the Democratic candidate's once-impressive lead has eroded in many states.

Carter scheduled two of the last five days of his campaign in Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York, three states which are vital to his election.

After a Thursday swing from Pittsburgh to Erie, Pa., to Cleveland and into New York City, Carter scheduled appearances today in Philadelphia and Toledo before heading to St. Louis.

"This is the time to remember the importance of the last few days," Carter said in several stops.

Time and again, he reminded his audiences that John Kennedy won by only a few thousand votes in 1960 and that Humphrey lost by only a few thousand votes in 1968.

If Humphrey had received just a few more votes in key precincts, he said, "we would not have had Watergate. We would never have had the administration of Richard Nixon."

Both Carter and his top aides claimed they were not losing ground in the polls and made several efforts to elicit favorable surveys, but it was obvious they were worried.

At one point, as reporters urged Carter press aide Jody Powell to allow them to question... Carter about the polls, Powell turned and walked away saying he would not waste Carter's time on such questions.

Carter's swing through the industrial north blew hot and cold — upbeat, enthusiastic throngs in some cities and disappointingly small turnouts in others.

Thursday, for example, he got some of the biggest and most enthusiastic crowds of the campaign in several stops in Ohio but when he returned to New York, there was only a small turnout at Carroll Park in heavily Democratic South Brooklyn although Mayor Abraham Beame, Gov. Hugh Carey and Senate candidate Patrick Moynihan were there to drum up support.

Mondale called ticket aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Walter Mondale's campaign staff believes their man has disproved the old political adage that "the presidential nominee doesn't help the presidential candidate just so long as he doesn't hurt the ticket."

"I think that we have not only avoided the kind of major mistake that could have been an embarrassment to Gov. Carter, I honestly think that we've helped the ticket in a positive way," said Mondale's campaign manager Dick Moe.

In an interview aboard Mondale's campaign plane, "Minnesota Fritz," Moe said the Harris-and-other-political polls show "we brought some strength to the ticket. I'd like to think that's true. We'll find out on election day."

Mondale begins his final campaign swing today with appearances in Wisconsin.

Mondale staffers privately say his presence on the ticket has become increasingly important in recent weeks because President Ford's running mate, Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, has become a minus.

Dole, they say, has himself become a campaign issue and is hurting Ford's prospects.

They believe this began during the televised vice presidential debate in Houston Oct. 15, when Mondale remained cool and addressed the issues while Dole engaged in a continuing barrage of what the Mondale people call cheap shots and glib one-liners.

Looking back over the past two months of campaigning, Moe said he never felt discouraged about the Democrats' chances although "we had some rocky times."

The "frustration" developments, Moe said, included Carter's controversial Playboy interview.

Positive course in Dole speeches

PENDLETON, Ore. (UPI) — Robert Dole is talking about Yalta and Potsdam now, instead of the "Democrat wars" that got him into trouble for a few days.

His staff is scheduling him into mostly Republican areas in the waning days of the campaign, and suggesting he adopt a more positive tone.

Dole campaigns today in defense-oriented San Jose, Calif., and the farm-dominated Napa Valley after morning appearances at Pendleton and Klamath Falls, Ore.

When his plane was snowed in for two hours at Russell, N.M., Thursday morning, an aide cracked, "I hoped it would snow two more days."

But later the Republican vice presidential candidate brought up as issues Yalta and Potsdam, the "Democrat wars" that defined the post-war boundaries in Europe.

Asked in Spokane, Wash., Thursday night if he was blaming the Eastern European situation on the Democrats involved in those conferences, he said:

"Well, I don't know of any Republicans hanging around Potsdam or Yalta... if we want to get into all of these Watergate things — the pardon — and they continue to plow back into these things, the inference is that I'm a Republican, Jerry Ford is a Republican, and Richard Nixon is a Republican, therefore, somehow we've been tainted."

"Well, if that's the case, we can go back and look at what happened in the past..."

In Billings, Mont., Dole asked: "How many Republicans were represented at Potsdam? Whose administration was it when the secret arrangements were made... It wasn't a Republican president."

In between local television interviews that were piped into a nearby press room, national reporters heard Dole chatting with local reporters while technical arrangements were being made.

At one point, he mused, "You have to watch out when you get tired. You might say the wrong thing twice. Once is all right," he joked. "When we make a mistake, they pull the plug."

At that point, the sound was cut off and later, Dole's press secretary, Larry Speakes, said he pulled the plug, claiming that kind of conversation was off the record.

Krishna devotee may file charges

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI) — Hare Krishna devotee Madonna Slavin, 20, who says her family abducted her in an attempt to dissuade her from her religion, must now decide whether to press kidnapping charges against her parents.

Miss Slavin, 20, thanked "His Divine Grace" for her escape and opted to spend the night in jail before her court appearance today.

Found in Northern California Thursday, she was flown here by Arcadia police, and greeted at El Monte Municipal Airport by about 15 of her chanting, robed Hare Krishna companions.

She did not speak to them, but bowed her head and clasped her hands in a prayer symbol.

After meeting with the district attorney at the police station, Miss Slavin, dressed in conventional Western garb and holding a small bouquet of flowers, made a short statement to a small crowd of reporters, cult followers and three members of her family — her brother, Terence, and her sister-in-law and brother-in-law.

"All Glory to His Divine Grace A.C.", the red-haired young woman said, chanting his name. "Bhaktivedanta Swal Prabhupada."

She said she would appear in court but declined to say whether she would press charges against her family.

The woman says she went to her family home last Saturday after receiving a telephone call that her grandmother was ill.

Real witch needed for class project

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Finding a witch was no Halloween gag for Butler University senior Beverly Schnabel. She took on the witchhunt as a class project and she is sure she has succeeded.

She advertised her phone number with a letter to the editor of a local newspaper and got a call from an Indianapolis witch, a college educated witch with six children who is training one of them in witchcraft.

Miss Schnabel is sure she has found the real thing, even though her witch has not divulged her name.

"I know because of some of the information she gave me. She is a witch," said Miss Schnabel, a journalism student.

"Witch is 'white' using her magic for good things like cures and exorcisms."

"I talked to her between an hour and a-half and two hours," Miss Schnabel said.

She said the call was unexpected, even though she sought the letter stated she hoped to write a series of articles for a class on witchcraft and related matters.

"Witchery has been in her source's family for at least three generations," she said.

The witch described herself as belonging to a 13-member coven. She said "all were college graduates with an interest in parapsychology. Even the males are witches — not warlocks."

"They do not use the word 'work.' That's more into the satanism side of it," she said.

Witches' powers can be taught, and Miss Schnabel has learned some herself, but has no desire to become a witch.

"I believe that everyone has the power," she said. "They may not know it. Those who can control it are a lot more aware of what's going on around them."

"My teacher teases me, asking me if she rides a broom or has a wart on her nose," Miss Schnabel said.

Board delays Bunker Hill request

CALDWELL, Idaho (UPI) — A decision on a request by Bunker Hill to lower the clean air standards for the firm's lead and zinc smelter in North Idaho was delayed Thursday by the State Board of Health and Welfare.

Board members delayed a decision until a special meeting Nov. 19 in Boise, saying it was only fair to allow more time because of the volume of material the board must review.

Bunker Hill requested a variance from the state's 24-hour interim ambient air standard for sulfur dioxide, but it was denied by the Department of Health and Welfare in March and the company appealed.

A three-day hearing on the appeal was held last month in Wallace.

Board members said the report of the hearing officer on the three-day hearing was not received until Wednesday night, which did not give them time to study the findings.

Bunker Hill requested the variance, contending the present standards imposed an unreasonable hardship on the company and forced it to shut down more than it could to economically operate.

The board said at the special meeting in Boise next month, it would hear oral arguments from Bunker Hill and the Department of Health and Welfare. Board members indicated a decision would be made at that time.

Endorsement queried

BOISE (UPI) — Rep. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, lashed out at his opponent for running a negative campaign and questioned an endorsement by the New York Times at a campaign rally in Boise Thursday night.

"The campaign being waged by Boise lawyer Ken Pursley is the most negative campaign in recent Idaho history. All he has done is criticize Symms — he has yet to take a firm stand on the issues," Symms said.

"What we do know — and this may offer a clue — is that he has strong backing from powerful eastern liberal groups including a special endorsement by the New York Times," Symms said.

Labor aide puzzled

BOISE (UPI) — Robert Macfarlane, president of the Idaho AFL-CIO, said Thursday he failed to understand incumbent Republican George Hansen's "virulent attacks" on labor.

Hansen has charged that labor is pouring sizeable amounts of money into the campaign of his opponent, Democrat Stan Kretz, a firm educator and one-term Idaho State Senator.

In his final campaign ads, Hansen is asking the voter whether they want him or George Meany, president of the national AFL-CIO, to represent them in Congress.

Macfarlane questioned Hansen's accusations.

He said his organization raised among its membership over $67,000 to aid the victims of the Teton Dam flood disaster, of which $10,000 was authorized by George Meany from the national AFL-CIO treasury.

"I wonder how much money the Coors beer family and the tobacco institute, who contributed to George Hansen's campaign, sent to victims of the flood," Macfarlane questioned.

Fatal fall 'accident'

BILBAO, Spain (UPI) — Tony Scott, 29, son of J. L. Scott, board chairman for A&P Foods, and grandson of food chain founder J. A. Albertson, fell to his death Tuesday from a fourth floor window at the Basque College of Lorenzo on Oñate.

A spokesman for the U. S. Consulate said today that Scott slipped and fell about 30 feet while trying to climb from his window to the window of a neighboring room.

"It happened in the early morning hours and it was clearly an accident," the spokesman said.

It was not known why Scott tried to get to the next window but it probably was "an act of youthful 'boastfulness,'" the spokesman said.

Scott had been at the school, an exchange school with Boise State University, Sept. 7.

Idaho basks in fine fall days

Twin Falls, North Side, Bury-Rupert area. Decreasing cloudiness tonight, turning fair through Saturday. High temperatures Saturday, mid 50s. Overnight lows tonight near 25.

Synopsis: Thursday was another fine fall day over the Magic Valley. Under clear skies daytime temperatures climbed into the upper 50s to the lower 60s across the valley.

Thursday and is now moving slowly southeastward. Moisture associated with this front is limited and so only an increasing cloudiness is expected over the valley. High pressures are expected to rebuild behind this front and should dominate the weather pattern over the weekend.

Global grain-crop outlook shows surplus

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the first time in five years farmers around the world are expected to harvest enough rice and grain to significantly exceed global food demands, the Agriculture Department reported today.

The improved crop this year was attributed to generally good weather despite droughts in some regions, and to a continued increase in acreage. World rice production this year may be down slightly, from last year's record, experts said, but this will be more than offset by bumper 1976 crops of grain, especially wheat.

The close relationship means that wheat, normally used mostly for human food, can be used more widely in many cases as a substitute or supplement for corn in feeding livestock.

That development was significant because officials noted that while wheat supplies are "increasingly plentiful," the world supply of corn and other livestock feeds is still regarded as "tight."

'Once too often' for Butz

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford says Earl Butz, offended him "once too often," and that's why he accepted the resignation of the former agriculture secretary.

Catholic News Service asked Ford why Butz was merely reprimanded for telling an offensive joke about the Pope two years ago, but had to resign after his recent, well-publicized joke about blacks.

Both comments were personally offensive to me and, I believe, equally offensive to most people," Ford responded.

Castelli noted that, in the more recent case, Ford also merely reprimanded Butz at first, and "the official story has been that he resigned of his own accord."

Beef import quotas about same as voluntary levels

Friday, October 29, 1976 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 9

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Beef import quotas for virtually all shipping nations under a new mandatory control program announced Oct. 9 by President Ford will be the same as those used for most countries under an earlier voluntary shipping restraint program—the Agriculture Department disclosed Wednesday.

Ford, in his Oct. 9 announcement, converted the former voluntary program which included formal agreements with 11 of the 15 supplying countries into a mandatory quota system for the balance of the year. He said at the time, however, only that total 1976 imports of fresh chilled and frozen beef, goat and sheep meat would have to be held to 1.233 billion pounds.

Acting Agriculture Secretary John A. Knebel, in a follow-up announcement Wednesday, listed formal quotas for individual shipping countries. All the quotas were the same as amounts previously set under voluntary shipping restraints except in the case of Mexico where a 29.3 million pound voluntary allocation was cut to one quota of 52 million pounds.

Quotas for other suppliers included: Australia - 632.2 million pounds; New Zealand - 259.8 million pounds; Costa Rica - 53.7 million pounds; Dominican Republic - 14.4 million pounds; El Salvador - 11.4 million pounds; Guatemala - 34.3 million pounds; Haiti - 1.9 million pounds; Honduras - 35.8 million pounds; Nicaragua - 48.9 million pounds; Panama - 25.6 million pounds; Others including Canada, Ireland, the United Kingdom and Belize - 86 million pounds.

Knebel said that in setting quotas he considered factors including the historical shipment levels and the fact that Canadian shipments to the United States had been under special restrictions during the 1973-74 period used as a quota base. Also, Knebel said, he considered the voluntary quota agreements negotiated earlier with 11 countries and "the ability of supplying countries to export meat to the United States during this calendar year."

Ford had converted the voluntary restraint system into a mandatory program because of estimates that imports under the voluntary program would exceed legal limits, partly because of an alleged evasion of the program by shipments routed through the United States free trade zone.

Adequate spud supplies forecast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American consumers will have "adequate" supplies of potatoes during the coming year despite a sharp upsurge in exports to drought-stricken Europe, the Agriculture Department said Thursday.

TWIN FALLS — Feeder cattle and calves were uneven, 50 cents lower to 50 cents higher, at the Twin Falls Livestock Commission Co. Wednesday.

The reassurance to consumers, echoing earlier official statements, came in a routine Vegetable Situation report which said that, considering in coming months will pay more than a year ago for most fresh and processed vegetables.

Bulls were steady and cows said 1.00 to 2.00 lower.

Analysis said the fall harvest portion of the potato crop is estimated at a record of 300 million hundredweight. Normally, such a large crop would depress farm prices, but experts said prices would be bolstered by currently-heavy exports.

Good to high choice steers sold 33.00-35.00; standard to low good 32.50-35.00; utility steers 30.00-33.00; no test on fed Holstein steers; good to choice heifers 31.00-33.50; standard to low good heifers 29.50-32.00; utility heifers 27.00-31.00; commercial and standard cows 22.00-24.00; utility cows 21.00-23.00; canners and cutters 16.00-21.00; commercial bulls 31.50-33.00; utility bulls 27.50-30.50; light bulls 25.00-29.00.

strong through the rest of this year and into early 1977," the report said.

In spite of the heavier exports, the report added the record crop will allow supplies "adequate for normal domestic needs" with about 200 million hundredweight available for food and seed use.

Officials said tonnage of vegetables grown for processing will be down about 20 per cent from a year ago because of unfavorable weather in California and parts of the Midwest. But overall supplies for the coming year will be down only moderately and price increases will be "modest," experts added.

Looking at other vegetables, officials said fresh market supplies this fall may be slightly above a year earlier. But they said untimely rains in California and produced sharp increases in prices of some crops.

SJR 109 is an important Proposed State Constitutional Amendment to be Voted On at the General Election . . .

VOTE "YES" for SJR 109

On Tuesday, November 2

SJR 109 will allow local governments to UPGRADE EXISTING ELECTRIC POWER PLANTS to peak operating efficiency.

The cost of these improvements will be paid from power revenue through the issuance of voted revenue bonds . . . not by property taxes.

Without this change in our state Constitution the alternatives are:

- Property Tax Financing
- OR
- Higher Priced Energy

The 1976 Legislature endorsed this amendment to our Constitution without a dissenting vote.

Now, YOUR VOTE IS NEEDED. VOTE YES for SJR 109 for cost and energy saving benefits!

Carter land bid refused

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jimmy Carter tried and failed in 1965 to reclaim some Georgia land being held as loan collateral. He was rejected because of suspicions he intended to raise money for personal reasons and not to expand his business.

The refusal came from the Small Business Administration and the Citizens Bank of America, Ga., which loaned Carter $175,000 in 1962 to build and equip an agricultural warehouse on 200 acres of land in his hometown of Plains, Ga. The bank provided 25 per cent of the loan and the SBA put up the rest.

Details of the 1965 request and its denial are contained in SBA files made available to UPI in response to a Freedom of Information request.

UPI was given additional SBA files by "Spotlight," a conservative publication strongly critical of Carter. UPI verified the authenticity of these files with SBA.

Asked about the matter, Judy Powell, Carter's press secretary, made clear he felt the story had been "leaked" by asking rhetorically, "How did the file get to Washington?"

"Then he went on, 'You're asking me, was he lying?' The answer is no. I'm saying this because this is hardy, and only hardy, worth a record."

The SBA records showed that in 1963 Carter asked that security liens be removed against some of his assets, including 200 acres of land in Plains, Ga. He said he needed the land free of mortgage to borrow more money to expand his business.

The files showed that the president of Citizens Bank, S.R. Hunter, recommended against the request on grounds Carter really wanted the money for reasons unrelated to his business. Two regional SBA officials in Atlanta, John P. Latimer and Max E. Houston, agreed with Hunter's assessment in separate memos and letters.

SBA records show that Hunter said Carter said he needed money to run for the U.S. House seat then held by Republican Howard Callaway. Hunter also was quoted as saying Carter wanted to start a rival bank in America.

For his part, Houston said in a memo dated Sept. 24, 1965, that "Mr. Carter had admitted in Mr. Latimer's office, and the Citizens Bank is also aware of it, that the primary reason was to obtain the necessary funds in starting another bank in America."

(Carter never sought Callaway's House seat, deciding instead to run for governor. He ran third in a three-man race. Not long afterward, he began buying the grantwork for his successful 1970 race for governor.)

Questioned by UPI about the statements in a telephone interview Wednesday, Hunter said the SBA material was wrong about the political race and Carter's intention to start a bank.

Survey cites container savings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumers could save millions of dollars a year in lower prices if soft drinks and beer were sold in returnable containers instead of throwaways, a survey done for the Environmental Protection Agency said today.

Just five days before four more states will vote on whether to ban non-returnable cans and bottles — a policy which EPA supports — the agency released a survey it conducted in conjunction with the League of Women Voters on the issue in 28 states.

EPA said the survey shows that consumers who buy any kind of drink save 20 cents per six pack if they buy 300 bottles — are returned. In addition, it said buyers could save 16 per cent for each soft drink purchased in a 32 ounce returnable bottle.

The survey also showed that soft drinks generally are available in refillable containers but beer is not, and where it is sold that way it comes only by case.

As EPA released the survey, the Consumer Federation of America — the nation's largest single organized consumer group — said voters considering the issue this year should not be misled by claims being made by can and bottle manufacturers that prices will go up when returnables are required.

Card Tucker, Foreman, executive director of CFA, said a study by the Federal Energy Administration "indicates annual consumer savings of $1 billion in retail prices" as well as energy savings and a net increase in jobs if the nation were on returnables by the year 1982.

The four states who will decide Tuesday whether to require deposits on cans and bottles are Colorado, Massachusetts, Maine and Michigan.

"Throwaway containers, in addition to adding to the purchase of beverages, result in increased quantities of solid waste that must be collected and disposed," EPA said.

Iran returns pilot

© N.Y. Times Service
 MOSCOW — The Soviet Union announced Thursday that Iran had returned a Soviet Pilot who had flown a light plane across the border last month in search of political asylum.

The announcement by the Soviet news agency, Tass, said the pilot, Lt. Valentin Zastinov, has been extradited Monday under an anti-lack agreement signed by the two countries in 1973. The plane will also be returned, Tass said.

The pilot's defection took place Sept. 25, just 19 days after Soviet Lt. Viktor Belenko flew an advanced MIG25 jet fighter to Japan.

Lebanon talks sought

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Fighting broke out at flash-points in and around Beirut today, threatening to undermine Lebanon's shaky week-long cease-fire. Highists threatened to resume full-scale warfare.

At least nine persons were reported killed in various incidents around the country in the past 24 hours.

Highist leader Camille Chamoun said that if the situation continued to deteriorate, his forces would consider the current cease-fire agreement nonexistent and "resume our freedom of military action."

Chamoun Thursday night had called on President Elias Sarkis to request intervention by the 2,300-man Arab peace-keeping force to halt fighting that broke out in the Chouf district, southeast of Beirut.

Virus fever cause

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — The mysterious bleeding fever that has killed at least 35 persons in central Africa is the most dangerous virus disease encountered by humans in a quarter century, according to an international group of scientists.

The scientists said the disease — although not the so-called green monkey virus originally suspected — is so dangerous that its victims have not been able to spread it widely because they died so quickly.

"The capacity of the virus for interhuman transmission is extremely serious," the scientists said in a statement released Thursday. "It poses the gravest danger due to a virus disease encountered in public health care in more than 25 years."

The virus damages capillary blood vessel tissue and impairs the body's natural ability to stop bleeding, producing severe hemorrhaging inside the body. It is not known how it is transmitted to humans and there is no vaccine against it.

The statement was issued by American, French and Belgian scientists who have been leading the fight against the fever, which broke out in early September in northern Zaire and southern Sudan. The Americans are from the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta.

The fever death toll from the disease now totals 250 in Zaire and 65 in Sudan, the doctors said.

The only fatalities outside the area were missionaries who had been flown out of the infected areas and members of the medical staff who dealt with them.

Ford OK's computer sale

© N.Y. Times Service
 WASHINGTON — President Ford, approving less than a year ago an executive order mandating an exception to prevailing policy, has approved the sale to China of a computer system with military as well as industrial capability.

High administration officials said the sale of two Control Data Corp. Cyber 174 computers and associated equipment was approved as a gesture of support to the new Chinese leadership.

The officials said the United States did not intend to sell the computer system to the Soviet Union, and the deal was an exception to the policy of selling to one of the Communist superpowers only what would also be sold to the other.

A National Security Council memorandum dated Oct. 12 and obtained by Aviation Week and Space Technology had recommended the lesser safeguards and the policy exception on the ground of overriding foreign policy interests.

A State Department spokesman confirmed the decision to grant an export license. Negotiations to complete the deal are still under way between Control Data and the Chinese government.

American approval, pending for more than a year, was finally given over the objections of the Energy Research and Development Administration. The agency, which is responsible for the nuclear weapons program, said the computer system was used in the United States for making calculations on nuclear tests and could be used by China for the same purpose.

The Pentagon, which has opposed the sale on the ground that the computer system could be used to support radar systems, withdrew its objections after the State Department agreed to press China to accept safeguards.

BOB VAWSER

Independent Candidate for Sheriff

I wish to take this final opportunity before the coming election to say how much I have appreciated being able to meet the many voters and people of Twin Falls County and to acknowledge the courteous reception I have received.

I feel sure nearly everyone has absorbed what they feel is "too much" National, State, and Local political propaganda but on the other hand some of the issues should require your thoughts and consideration.

Without hoping to gain support through any public sympathy, I have stated my qualifications and experience. These should dispel any feelings of my being an inexperienced runner. Also, I am of an age to permit capable handling of future required duties.

To repeat a statement made previously, — Neither myself nor my workers have accused Sheriff Corder of dishonesty. Our contention has had to do with ability which would seem to be supported by some of the statements used in the Editorial endorsement of him appearing in Sunday's Times-News.

The following taken from paragraphs in the Editorial are:

Quote: — An endorsement of Corder is bound to be controversial because the Sheriff is awaiting trial on felony charges that he failed to turn over more than $1600.00 in county funds as required by law.

In a statement by Attorney General Kidwell he wrote, while funds are clearly missing from the Sheriff's office it has been impossible to trace them, so we could not develop evidence upon which to base charges of the theft or embezzlement.

We believe Corder is a man of high integrity and usually uses good judgment in the conduct of the Sheriff's business, but we feel he has been remiss in setting up an efficient tight department.

Even the criminal charges against Corder apparently reflect naïvete rather than lack of integrity, they continue.

It also follows revelations of sloppy management in the Sheriff's office, including a Deputy's detour of hundreds of miles in a county car at county expense to visit his Mother-in-Texas on his way east to pick up a prisoner.

This does not excuse his unwitting failure to follow the rules, and is an indication of loose administration, which should not be tolerated.

To complete the Editorials referenced to the 'Sage of Evol Knowel' no doubt help was provided by Evol being provided with a personal security guard.

Unquote:

After nine years in office which reveals above conditions it would be hard to justify the thought that there would be many drastic changes in policies expected if elected for another four year term.

It seems a bit unusual to see a political sign practically in front of a Precinct Registrar's home but it has happened.

I sincerely would like to be the next Sheriff of Twin Falls County.

Please find my name on the voting machine at the bottom of the panel and in the row above the Republican Party Line. Vote INDEPENDENT, THANKS!

DEAR ABBY: I disagree with your answer to the 47-year-old woman signed PUSHOVER, who described her date as the kind of man she'd like to marry, even though she went to bed with him on their first date. She regretted having yielded so easily, thinking that now she may not be "marriage material."

You said a man may want a pushover for a date, but not a wife. That's upholding a double standard!

I would hope that the man would appreciate her as a sensitive, affectionate woman ready to act on her own basic needs. I would hope, also, that she would have a little more pride than she seems to in her honest desire for fulfillment and closeness. If she did, she might be asking herself whether a man who did not appreciate this in her would be the kind of man SHE wants to marry.

If I were testing for marriage material, I'd score affection, honesty and openness a lot higher than game-playing and holding out.

ALSO 47

Opinions differ

DEAR 47: What I call caution, modesty and restraint on a first date you see as "game-playing and holding out." I prefer the former, and I think most men do, too.

DEAR ABBY: There is a simple, foolproof way to pay your restaurant check when you are consistently ignored by the management and waiter after you are long finished with eating and would like to leave. I first used this method at the Ft. Riley Officers' Club, but it works in almost any kind of establishment from Howard Johnson's to the Waldorf.

You simply draw a reasonable facsimile of your restaurant check on the tablecloth or placemat. If you know what you owe, fill it in. If you don't, write in what you were served, sign your name, print your name and address and note how long you waited.

If the management has the guts to send you a bill instead of an apology, you can then pay it.

W.T. RABE
(P.S. The cavalry officer running the Ft. Riley Officers' Club requested that I pay $2 for the tablecloth, which I did. I then insisted that I owned the tablecloth and asked him to cut out the check, which I framed. He finally thought it was funny, too, and pinned the tablecloth with the hole in it to the wall of his pantry for his help to see.)

DEAR W.T.: That might have worked at the Ft. Riley Officers' Club back in the days when a tablecloth was $2, but I don't recommend that stunt today at the Waldorf or any other posh eatery.

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended the wedding of a dear friend. It was the second marriage for both of them. The bridegroom's married daughter attended the wedding dressed completely in black. She wore no jewelry whatsoever—and all during the ceremony, she wept so uncontrollably she had to be comforted by relatives.

What would you make of such a scene? WEDDING OR FUNERAL?

DEAR WEDDING OR: Were I rating her joy on that occasion, on a scale of one to 10, I'd give her a zero.

Dear Dr. Lamb—
I read your column about the lady who had paroxysmal tachycardia.

I have it too and I'm 31 years old and a mother of two. I felt just as bad as she did until I quit drinking coffee and all kinds of caffeine.

Even though I only drank two cups of coffee, I guess my heart just couldn't handle any kind of caffeine anymore.

Since I have stopped I feel just great and feel like I am born again. If she would try that it could make all the difference to her.

Dear reader—
I have mentioned several times in this column that coffee can stimulate extra beats of the heart, flip-flops and other problems of irregularity of the heart, as regular readers know.

Your letter makes an important point. Some people are more sensitive to caffeine than others. One or two cups of coffee have little effect on all some people. Other people are not so lucky. Yes, anyone who has irregularity of the heart should avoid coffee, tea, colas, chocolate and cocoa. Also they should avoid anything that causes indigestion or acid stomach. Cigarettes should also be avoided. All of these can cause susceptible people to have attacks.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-12, Heart Irregularities, Skipped Beats, Tachycardias for your information. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1531, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10107.

Dear Dr. Lamb—
My boyfriend gets herpes on the inside of his lip quite frequently and they really bother him. I was wondering if you could tell me what causes these and if there is any treatment for them.

Dear reader—
Just to keep everyone from being confused about herpes there are two kinds of herpes: herpes simplex and herpes zoster. The latter is associated with shingles and related to chickenpox virus.

Herpes simplex, which your boyfriend has, exists in two types: Type I and Type II. As one of my colleagues states, Type I is usually found above the waist and Type II is the type commonly mentioned as a "venereal disease," because it can be transmitted that way. That is not the only way it can be transmitted, though.

I am sorry to say the treatment for herpes simplex of the lip, particularly inside the mouth is less than satisfactory. I would suggest that he keep his mouth as clean as possible when he has an infection. Do this by using frequent mouthwashes of lightly salted water—about one-half teaspoon in a glass of water. Or he can make a solution of half Cepacol (a mouthwash) and half water and use that.

In addition he can take antibiotics to prevent secondary bacterial infections. The herpes virus itself is not affected by antibiotics.

Herpes outside the mouth can be treated with a mild drying agent, such as 70 per cent alcohol, during the blister stage. When the crusted scab-like lesion develops he can use a lubricant such as petroleum jelly over it to keep it soft.

Elizabeth's job: Crowd warmer-upper

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Elizabeth Hanford Dole went into her last job lying flat on her back. She was sworn in as a member of the Federal Trade Commission from her hospital bed, where she was recovering from a spinal problem.

But that was December, 1972. She since picked up a new husband, Sen. Robert Dole; and a new job, crowd warmer-upper and general helpline in Dole's GOP vice-presidential campaign.

By all accounts she has been at least as successful in her new role as she was in the old one. But a controversy dogged her to Election Day over whether she should have resigned from the FTC rather than taking a leave of absence.

There were strong suggestions from Capitol Hill that she resign. FTC Chairman Calvin Collier, however, backed her decision, saying she had been appointed to the FTC by the President and only the President could ask her to resign.

In the back of Collier's mind was another factor—the fear that her resignation would further hobble the FTC in its role as a consumer protector and trade regulator.

The agency already has one vacancy among its five seats with no prospect that it—or Mrs. Dole's had she resigned—would be filled any time soon.

On the road, Mrs. Dole introduces the man she married earlier this year with verve and humor. Dole sometimes calls her his "southern strategy"—she was born in Salisbury, N.C., where her father is a wealthy florist.

She told a crowd in her home town that when she and Dole were dating, "some of those lines he gave me were certainly not truth in advertising."

She also has not been reluctant to attack fellow-southerner Jimmy Carter. She told a crowd in Memphis in the closing days of the campaign "while he (Carter) is a Georgia neighbor, he is not a philosophical neighbor."

Once registered as a Democrat but now listed as an independent, her philosophy on the campaign trail appears not much different from her husband's brand of Kansas Plains Republicanism.

"I am an independent myself," she said recently, "but we vote our convictions and let's remember this year the Ford-Dole ticket really does offer us a choice."

Mrs. Dole, 40, came to the FTC from the Office of Consumer Affairs where she was deputy to presidential consumer adviser Virginia Knauer. Before that she worked in other consumer advisory posts for the government.

She holds a law degree from Harvard, a master's from the Harvard Graduate School of Education, a B.A. in political science from Duke and she studied in the Oxford graduate summer school.

The last woman to serve on the FTC was Mary Gardiner Jones, who was outspoken and widely quoted on consumer issues. Mrs. Dole's style is different, but she views herself as a consumer representative on the commission.

"I commit myself to strong and unqualified support of the FTC's renewed consumer-oriented thrust," she told the Senate committee which approved her nomination in 1973. "My view of the FTC's mission to to identify and respond to the concerns of consumers..."

Joan Mondale enthusiastic campaigner

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Joan Mondale, an active athletic woman with a love for the arts, is more comfortable in faded jeans than the dressier campaign garb required as she stumps for the Democratic ticket.

One of the first things she did after her husband, Sen. Walter Mondale, D-Minn., was picked as Jimmy Carter's running mate was borrow a pantsuit from her neighbor to help meet the clothing requirements for the campaign.

She confided early on that she was nervous about speaking "off the top of my head" at campaign rallies and news conferences. Even when she was a volunteer tour guide at an art museum, Mrs. Mondale said, she always wrote out what she was going to say.

But Joan Mondale quickly struck out on her own and proved as enthusiastic a campaigner and active party worker as she has been since Mondale first entered politics in 1969 as Minnesota Attorney General.

She caused quite a stir when, on her first solo outing, she told an audience about the "two scandals" in Washington—Watergate and Waterbed. While the Democrats "are doing it for their secretaries," the soft-spoken woman said, "the Republicans are doing it to the country."

She loves politics, and her oldest son, Teddy, 18, said he thinks his mother is more excited about Mondale's vice-presidential nomination than the candidate himself.

Born Aug. 8, 1930, in Eugene, Ore., Joan Mondale is the daughter of a Presbyterian minister, Dr. Maxwell Adams. The family lived in Pennsylvania and Ohio before settling in Minnesota.

She credits her parents with helping shape her character and her strong religious faith, and says her "growing-up experience" was almost identical to that of her husband, whose father was a Methodist minister.

Mrs. Mondale entered Minnesota's Macalester College in the fall of 1948 and graduated with a major in history and minors in art and French. Mondale was a junior when his future wife entered Macalester, but they did not meet until 1955 when Joan's sister arranged a blind date.

It was a whirlwind courtship—they were engaged in 53 days and married on Dec. 27, 1955.

"We weren't young. He was 27 and I was 25. I had a career and was working. He knew what he wanted, and I knew who I was," Mrs. Mondale said.

After her marriage, Mrs. Mondale gave guided tours and lectures at the Minneapolis Institute of Arts. When her husband was named to the Senate in 1964 to fill Hubert Humphrey's unexpired term, she gave weekly tours at the National Gallery of Art.

She wrote "Politics in Art," a nonfiction reference volume published in 1972 that grew out of the illustrated slide lecture she had been giving.

The Mondales have three children—Teddy, Eleanor, Jane, 16, and William, 14. Teddy has worked as a baggage handler on his father's campaign plane, "Minnesota Fritz," and Eleanor Jane has campaigned with her father on weekends this fall.

They have a home in northwestern Washington and share one in Altam, Minn., with Dr. and Mrs. Adams for their official residence.

Pre-purchase check misses key part

THE National Zoo, Washington, D. C., thought Humphrey, left, was a prized Bactrian breeding camel which would father a herd of the rare animals.

So the zoo bought him and nine other Bactrian camels for $10,000 a year and a half ago. There are only 28 such camels in this country, including the 10 at the National Zoo. U.S. zoos are prohibited by law from importing the animals.

Now it turns out Humphrey is sterile. His problem was diagnosed during experiments in artificial insemination at the Zoo's Front Royal, Va., farm.

Although Humphrey was certified as a proven breeder, zoo officials discovered that Humphrey did not have testicles.

"We checked the animal's teeth and everything," said Dr. Theodore Reed, National Zoo director.

Not exactly everything. "Our hindsight was not so good," he now admits. (UPI)

Nurses schedule November meet

TWIN FALLS—Members of District-1 of the Idaho Nurses Association will meet Nov. 17 to hear an address by Amy Savage, Twin Falls' first president of the Idaho Nurses and a mental health specialist. Ms. Savage has a degree in community mental health and will speak on communications. Nurses are also planning a Nov. 20 luncheon and workshop in the Blue Lakes Inn to honor legislators. Each area legislator will be invited to attend as the individual guest of a member nurse. In the October meeting, a report was given on the annual fall nursing conference in Twin Falls. The conference covered a number of nursing responsibilities. Keynote speaker for the October meeting was Constance Halloran, American Nurses Association executive director of government affairs, Washington, D.C. Carol Brockway was introduced by program chairman Jean Machacek and presented a program on grooming and appearance in relation to the nursing profession.

Food cost hike seen

LONDON (UPI)—By 1986, Britons may get belly dancers, singing waiters, and even party games as an accompaniment to restaurant meals. The reason would be sharply increasing food costs and the need to attract patrons, according to an article by Eve Macpherson in Caterer and Hotelkeeper magazine. She predicted the rising cost of food in the next decade could boost the wholesale cost of Sirloin steak to $16 a pound. To reduce costs and keep prices down, restaurateurs could offer cereal-based alternatives to traditional vegetables and use soybeans and other "substitute" meats in place of bacon, hamburger or steak, she said. Grey fish such as whiting or "flat-fish" could replace more appealing white fish, including cod and halibut, the article said. Entertainment will become an integral part of eating out, Miss Macpherson suggested, since show-business would be cheaper than food and kitchen equipment. She foresees singing waiters, belly dancers, folk singers and even party games as part of the menu.

Cancer victim, 36, won't waste time

MANHATTAN, Kan. (UPI)—Helen Williams, poet and teacher of creative writing, is dying of cancer and learning about living. "I want to do as much, teach as much, write as much and say as much as I possibly can," said Dr. Williams, 36, an assistant professor of English at Kansas State University. "Now there's no such thing as wasted time." Cancer moved from her breast to her spinal cord and she walks with a limp and must use cushions to sit. Her face is pale and her hair is thinning. "I intend to go right on teaching," Miss Williams said in an interview at her home, where she now teaches two classes "because she is too weak for classroom teaching. 'I can't stand that long or walk that far. That's why I got that couch. If I have to lie down and teach, then I will lie down and teach.'"

Clots possible

BOISE (UPI)—Use of certain oral contraceptives may lead to blood clotting, two researchers working at the Mount Sinai Tumor Institute have found. Judy Burrow and Dr. James K. Luce told a group of doctors in Los Angeles Wednesday that they have found the blood of women taking certain contraceptives differs from that of women who do not. They said the difference may be related to why women who take The Pill report more cases of blood clots. They said women taking oral contraceptives show "striking" changes in the structure of platelets, part of the blood that aids normal clotting. Other studies, they said, have shown that the platelets of women taking The Pill are unusually sticky and tend to clump together.

TF Reformed Church to show film

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Reformed Church, 211 Fourth Ave. E., will show the film "The Deceiver" Sunday at 9 p.m. This 70-minute color film tells the story of a family active in church affairs and what happens when teen-agers in the family become interested in the occult.

Satanic interference in the total program of the church shapes the theme of "The Deceiver." Adult Christians point fingers of blame at the church's youth but then reassess their viewpoints when a series of events turns the accusing fingers back to them, according to a news release from the church.

Church plans 'Old Fashioned Day'

TWIN FALLS — The Free Will Baptist Church plans an "Old Fashioned Day" Sunday, the last day of the Fall Sunday School/Entertainment Campaign.

The public is invited for Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. and worship at 11 a.m.

The evening services will be Catacomb Services and will begin at 8 p.m. The public is also welcome.

Last Sunday the church was privileged to have the Jack Griffin Family from Del City, Okla., sing at both morning and evening services.

Kimberly Methodists slate dinner

KIMBERLY — The Methodist Church of Kimberly will hold its annual turkey dinner and "country store" from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the church fellowship hall.

The United Methodist Women of Kimberly will set up booths for home-cooked foods, baked goods, hand-made household and clothing items, antiques, Christmas decorations and macrame wares.

Tickets for the dinner are available at the door at $3.25 for adults, $2.00 for children and $12.50 for family tickets for any size family.

Group sets Halloween get-together

TWIN FALLS — The adult group of Community Christian Church will be meeting at Kaye Wall's barn at 7 p.m. this Friday night for a Halloween get-together.

Harry Ropp will be speaker at a clinic about witnessing the Bible Jesus this Saturday. The clinic will be from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. with a lunch break.

The Junior and Senior high groups will meet Sunday at 6 p.m. at the church for a special project and then on to a hayride and party.

The younger youth will meet at 6 and go in costume to Heritage Manor to treat and entertain there.

Relief Society to convene in TF

TWIN FALLS — A visiting teachers convention sponsored by the Twin Falls LDS Church Relief Society will begin Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in the Twin Falls Stake Center, 421 Maurice St. N.

There will be a special presentation, "Helping the One." Guest speakers will include Barbara B. Smith, General Relief Society representative, Salt Lake City, and David L. Carter, president, Twin Falls Stake.

Refreshments will be served.

Adventists to discuss 'worship'

EDEN — The subject of "worship" will be discussed during the Sabbath school at the Eden Seventh-day Adventist Church.

The title of the lesson is "Isaiah's Concern About Worship" and is based on Isaiah 12:3-6.

Sabbath school begins at 9:30 a.m. and the worship hour follows at 11 a.m. Pastor H. W. Stratton will be the speaker.

The public is welcome at all services of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

'Everlasting Punishment' sermon title

TWIN FALLS — "Everlasting Punishment" will be the title of the Sunday lesson sermon at the Christian Science Church.

Services begin at 11 a.m. Sunday and services on Wednesday begin at 8 p.m. at the Christian Science Church, 160 Ninth Avenue E. Sunday school begins at 9:45 a.m.

The Christian Science Reading Room, 115 Second Street W., is open from 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Everyone is welcome to come in and read or borrow books.

Church of Christ sets series

Buhl — The Church of Christ, 829 Broadway N., will hold a series of gospel messages beginning Sunday.

The public is invited to participate with programs held each evening at 7:30 p.m. through Nov. 5. Jim Sufolk, Bixbie, Okla., will serve as evangelist for the meeting series.

Election day dinner in Shoshone

SHOSHONE — The United Methodist Women will sponsor an election day spaghetti dinner Tuesday in the Methodist Church basement in Shoshone.

The dinner begins at 5 p.m. and everyone is welcome. Prices will be $2 for adults and $1 for children. There will be special family rates.

Music planned

TWIN FALLS — A night of music will be presented at 7 p.m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church of the Nazarene.

Members and friends are reminded to attend the fall revival beginning Nov. 2 and continuing through Nov. 7th. The special speaker will be Rev. Bill Ellwanger of Kansas, City, Mo.

The public is invited to attend the services.

LDS leader urges support of ERA stand

TWIN FALLS — David Carter, president of the Twin Falls LDS Church Stake, Wednesday urged Magic Valley church members to support the church's stand against passage of the Equal Rights Amendment.

The First Presidency of the LDS Church recently issued the following statement concerning the (ERA):

"From its beginnings, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints has affirmed the exalted role of woman in our society."

"In 1942, when women's organizations were little known, the Prophet Joseph Smith established the women's organization of the church, the Relief Society, as a companion body of the Priesthood. The Relief Society continues to function today as a vibrant, worldwide organization aimed at strengthening motherhood and broadening women's learning and involvement in religious, compassionate, cultural, educational and community pursuits.

"In Utah, where our church is headquartered, women received the right to vote in 1870, 50 years before the Nineteenth Amendment to the Constitution granted the right nationally.

"There have been injustices to women before the law and in society generally. These we deplore.

"There are additional rights to which women are entitled.

"However, we firmly believe that the Equal Rights Amendment is not the answer.

"While the motives of its supporters may be praiseworthy, ERA as a blanket attempt to help women could indeed bring them far more restraints and repressions. We fear it will even stifle many God-given feminine instincts.

"It would strike at the family, humankind's basic institution.

ERA would bring ambiguity and possibly invite extensive litigation.

"Passage of ERA, some legal authorities contend, could nullify many accumulated benefits to women in present statutes.

"We recognize men and women as equally important before the Lord, but with differences biologically, emotionally and in other ways.

"ERA, we believe, does not recognize these differences. There are better means for giving women, and men, the rights they deserve."

President Spencer W. Kimball, world leader of the church, and his two counselors, President N. Eldon Tanner and President Marion G. Romney, constitute the First Presidency, the chief governing body of the LDS Church.

Choir slates musical

TWIN FALLS — The 25-voice children's choir of the First Baptist Church of Twin Falls will present the musical "David and the Giants" at the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday.

The choir will also present it to the banquet of the annual Convention of American Baptist Churches, which will be held at the church Nov. 4-6.

The choir is under the direction of Ruth Turner. "David" is being played by Eric Stigall and "Goliath" is played by Eric's father, Duane.

Other characters in the musical are "King Saul," played by Marty Miller; "first Israelite," Kelli Stewart; "second Israelite," Ryan Snow, and "audience voice," Cindy Heppner.

Other youths and adults serving as "giants" are Tommy Aster, Glenn Byles, Jodi Shotwell, Marsha Eden and Dick Chilcote.

Accompanists are Robin Lamb and Debbie Strickland. Rehearsal assistance was given by Teddy Snow.

Costumes were designed and created by Maude Shotwell and Doris Haley.

J. WYLIE Sessions, 92, North Hollywood, Calif., founder of the LDS Institutes of Religion, recently returned to the University of Idaho, site of the first LDS Institute. He was among several previous directors of the institute honored during homecoming weekend. Sharing memories with Sessions, seated right, are UT student Carol Zlatnik, Gooding, and John Lund, director of the Moscow LDS Institute.

LDS urged to vote

TWIN FALLS — A letter to be read in every LDS Church ward Sunday urges members of the church to vote Tuesday in national, state and local elections.

The letter, issued by the First Presidency, the chief governing body of the church, reads in part:

"Under the divinely inspired Constitution of these United States, the choice of leadership in government rests with the governed.

"The choices of government leaders will be better if more of the citizenry vote in the upcoming general election, and if those who vote do so carefully and prayerfully.

"We urge all members of the church, and all Americans who are eligible to vote, to exercise that sacred privilege or duty on Nov. 2, 1976."

The letter was signed by Church President Spencer W. Kimball, world leader of the LDS Church, and President N. Eldon Tanner and President Marion G. Romney, counselors in the First Presidency.

There are about 2.8 million Mormons in the United States and 3.6 million worldwide.

A thought for the day: President Theodore "Teddy" Roosevelt said, "No man is justified in doing evil on the ground of expediency."

Legion ills, mad chemist theory bared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A secret congressional report says the mysterious "Legionnaires Disease" that killed 29 persons may have been "an act of murder," committed by a lunatic using lethal gas.

Evidence for the mad chemist theory is summarized in a confidential House subcommittee staff report which also calls for federal efforts to identify the fatal ailment "a flu."

"It is not inconceivable that a demented veteran or a paranoid anti-military type could have committed an act of murder in Philadelphia's Bellevue-Stratford Hotel," Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y., wrote in the report to other members of his House subcommittee on consumer protection.

The report quotes an expert on nickel poisoning as saying that residues found in the corpses of the victims indicate they could have succumbed to a tasteless, odorless gas, composed of dry ice and nickel carbonyl and let loose in the air conditioning ducts of the American Legion's convention center hotel.

UPI obtained a copy of the report. It is based upon the preliminary work of subcommittee investigators preparing for the panel's own hearings into the causes of the Legionnaires Disease.

Some 180 persons contracted the same puzzling illness at the legion convention in the Philadelphia hotel July 21 through 24. Twenty-nine died of the disease, which was symptomized by chest pains and fever.

In a futile effort to identify the cause of the ailment, federal, state and local health officials pursued a number of theories including the possibility — later rejected — that the victims died of swine flu.

"This concerned what can only be described as a fiasco that has become the new 'Philadelphia Story,'" Murphy said in the report.

He said the investigative effort run by the federal Center for Disease Control resulted in "an exercise in futility."

Murphy reported that independent scientists such as Dr. William F. Sunderman of the University of Connecticut, an expert in nickel poisoning, suggested early on that the symptoms resembled toxic poisoning and noted that nickel carbonyl had been found in the tissue of the victims.

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good day to get together with friends who mean much to you and to work out a plan of action whereby you can see them regularly in the days ahead. Also good for attending social gatherings where you meet interesting persons.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Plan some time to be with good friends who are devoted to you and can give you the relaxation you need. New aims can be gone after with good results following. Avoid one who does not really respect you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Consulting with influential persons can lead to advancement with little effort now, so get at this early. Become more interested in civic matters as this can help you get ahead.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A new plan you have in mind should be discussed with an expert. This can lead to a successful venture.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Find the right formula to carry through with contracts you have made. Show more affection for a loved one and the evening is a happier one.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Study contracts with others and find out how they can be improved. Pick out more satisfactorily. Use your smile more in order to reconcile with one who has opposed you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Doing whatever pleases associates and friends is wise today and tonight. First get some important work completed, though.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Ideal day to have fun at sports that you like and get relief from tension. Do whatever is dramatic in order to gain the affection of your mate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Ideal day to take care of domestic chores. Study into some new projects that interest you. Avoid one who is tiresome and detrimental to your best interests.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Consider how to make your usual interests more successful and put brilliant ideas across nicely. Convincing a co-worker is wise in order to gain cooperation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Put across those ideas that will help you to add appreciably to your present abundance. Make necessary repairs to property. Avoid one who has strange ideas and could get you into trouble.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Try to gain the aid of influential persons you know so that you gain your aims more readily. Attending group affairs is wise since you meet interesting personalities. Avoid being extravagant.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Give some thought to what it is you want out of life and how best to attain it. Listen to what an expert has to suggest.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be most gregarious and will do well in humanitarian and social endeavors and should have many playmates in order to learn to mix well with others and understand them better. There is much ability at solving problems and should be given an opportunity to do so early in life.

L.M. Boyd

The renowned Plymouth Rock on display in Plymouth, Mass., is not as big as it was when the Pilgrims supposedly first set foot on it. Six by eight feet is the estimate of its original measurements. But in 1774, a band of high-spirited citizens broke off a chunk which they dragged to the town square in a flurry of patriotism. Theaoforward, souvenir collectors wheeled chunks out of it. In 1880, what was left was taken back to the main rock. But the whole thing wasn't glued back together until 1921.

Jimmy Carter at last report was paying $9 per session to a lady stylist to have his hair fixed in a manner he at first thought was sort of stultified.

Do you know what captive polar bears eat? Dried fish and bread with boiled horse meat on special occasions.

BREAKFAST FOOD

Q. "How much money do the breakfast food makers spend to put a new cereal on the market?"
A. At least $3 million, sometimes considerably more.

It's illegal in Pacific Grove, Calif., to harm a butterfly. But this odd law is not so mysterious as you might think. Pacific Grove is where the beautiful monarch butterflies winter annually.

During his campaign to win a seat in the U. S. House of Representatives, Abe Lincoln sat on the platform while a minister wound up the customary prayer with the direction, "All who want to go to Heaven, stand up." Everybody rose, except Lincoln. Asked why he remained seated, he said, "I'm going to Congress." Simple enough.

CROC HIDE

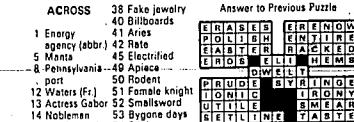

Well intentioned environmentalists bemoan the making of shoes from the skins of India's freshwater crocodiles. But soon they'll need not worry. Report is the crocs now are breeding most prolifically in sanctuaries. They grow to a length of 28 feet, those beasts do. And our Chief Prognosticator thinks India is about to renew for great profit its croc skin industry.

It has been noted repeatedly that scalping did not originate among the Indians, but that they adopted it from the whites. Less widely known is the fact that it was an exceedingly ancient practice among the fall-haired tribes of Europe and Asia. Originally, blonds did not scalp blonds and blacks did not scalp blacks. Honor went to the hunter who brought in the hair of a different color, of somebody obviously from another tribe. It was a racist viciousness right from the outset.

Maybe you've heard that Mickey Rooney is getting ready to put out a book--this is true--called "Mickey Rooney's Guide to a Happy Marriage."

HALLOWEEN TREATS

The word "Halloween" is of Christian origin and refers to the eve of All Hallows or All Saints' Day which falls on November 1. Long ago various methods of divining the future were used on Halloween and the results were accepted with all seriousness. It was a time of mystic rites and solemn ceremonies.

Today Halloween is a time for parties and merrymaking highlighted by the custom of trick-or-treating when children go about the neighborhood wearing masks and fancy costumes and asking at the houses for apples, cookies or candies—under threat of a mischievous trick!

Suggested here are some Halloween party treats. Peanut Caramel Apples, Peanut Carrot Cake and Devil's Fudge are made with Planters Cocktail Peanuts which supply large amounts of protein, niacin, riboflavin and other important food elements.

When the young witches and goblins are sitting around telling ghost stories serve them some delicious concordgrape drinks. Purple Ice Cream Soda, Harvest Punch, Concordgrape Chiller and Grape Witches' Brew are made with convenient, versatile concordgrape juice and drink. Children love the fresh fruit flavor of concordgrape products "as is" or when mixed with other ingredients in a recipe.

PEANUT CARAMEL APPLES

Makes 4 apples

- 4 wooden skewers
- 4 large red apples
- 1 bag (8-ounces) vanilla and chocolate caramels
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup water
- 3/4 cup chopped Planters Cocktail Peanuts

Insert a skewer into each apple; set aside. Combine caramels, sugar and water in a heavy saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil. Cook 5 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Quickly dip saucepan and swirl apples in caramel sauce. Remove apple from sauce; continue twirling to allow sauce to spread smoothly over apple. Quickly roll each apple in chopped peanuts. Place apples on greased baking sheet to cool. Refrigerate until set and ready to serve.

PEANUT CARROT CAKE

Makes 1 large cake

- 2 cups unsifted flour
- 2-1/4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
- 4 eggs, separated
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 cup Planters Peanut Oil
- 1-1/2 cups grated raw carrots
- 1 cup chopped Planters Cocktail Peanuts
- 1/3 cup hot water
- Confectioners' sugar

Combine flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon, ginger and cloves. Stir to blend well; set aside. Beat egg whites in small mixer bowl until soft peaks form; set aside. In large mixer bowl combine sugar and peanut oil. Beat until well blended. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Mix in carrots and peanuts. Alternately blend in dry ingredients and hot water. Fold in beaten egg whites. Turn batter into a greased and floured 12-cup Bundt pan or 10-inch tube pan. Bake at 350°F. about 55 minutes, or until done. Cool in pan on wire rack 10 minutes. Turn out onto rack to finish cooling. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar.

DEVIL'S FUDGE

Makes 36 pieces

- 2 cups sugar
- 3/4 cup undiluted evaporated milk
- 2 tablespoons margarine
- 1 package (6-ounces) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 cup Planters Cocktail Peanuts

In a 2-1/2 quart saucepan, combine sugar, evaporated milk and margarine. Stir to blend. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a full boil. Boil 3 minutes. Remove from heat; immediately add chocolate morsels. Stir until melted and mixture is smooth and well blended. Stir in vanilla extract and peanuts. Spread into lightly greased 8-inch square pan. Chill until firm. Cut into squares to serve.

CONCORDGRAPE CHILLER

Makes 12 servings

- 3 cans (6-ounces each) frozen concentrated concordgrape drink, thawed and undiluted
- 2 cups apple juice, chilled
- 1/2 cup grapefruit juice, chilled
- 2 quarts gingerale, chilled
- Crushed ice

In a large pitcher (3 quart), combine concordgrape drink, apple juice and grapefruit juice. Add gingerale and crushed ice; serve.

GRAPE WITCHES' BREW

Makes 4-6 servings

- 1 can (6-ounces) frozen concentrated concordgrape juice, thawed and undiluted
- 3 cans water
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1 cinnamon stick
- 2 whole cloves

In a saucepan, combine all ingredients. Heat over low heat until liquids are hot; mixture does not have to boil. Let stand 5 minutes; remove cinnamon stick and cloves. Serve hot in mugs.

HARVEST PUNCH

Makes 1-1/2 quarts

- 2 cups concordgrape drink
- 2 cups apple cider
- 2 cups cranberry juice cocktail
- 1 cup orange juice
- Orange sherbet

Chill grape drink, apple cider, cranberry juice and orange juice. Just before serving, combine beverages in punch bowl. Add scoops of orange sherbet.

PURPLE ICE CREAM SODA

Makes 4 servings

- 2 cups concordgrape juice
- 2 cups club soda, chilled
- 4 scoops vanilla ice cream
- Sweetened whipped cream
- Assorted candied sprinkles

Combine concordgrape juice and club soda. Pour into four tall glasses. Top each with a scoop of vanilla ice cream. Garnish each with whipped cream and candied sprinkles, if desired.

Celtics win third in row

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — The Boston Celtics, led by Charlie Scott's 31 points, ran their season's record to 3-0 Thursday night with a 115-95 victory over the Buffalo Braves. The Celtics placed six players in double figures. The Braves, now 2-2, played without pro center Bob McAdoo, who is recovering from a lower back injury.

In addition to Scott's 31 points, Jo Jo White had 17, Kevin Stacom 16, Sidney Viscots and Dave Cowens 13 and Curtis Rowe 12.

Don Adams led the Braves scoring with 25, while Adrian Dantley and Randy Smith each had 18.

Warriors top Blazers

OAKLAND (UPI) — Forward Rick Barry scored 13 of his game-high 34 points in the final period Thursday night to give the Golden State Warriors a 112-92 victory over the Portland Trail Blazers.

The win was the first of the season for Golden State following two losses. It was the Blazers' first loss after four victories.

Golden State held a 27-21 lead entering the fourth quarter, but dominated the final period for an easy victory. In addition to Barry's scoring, the Warriors received a big lift from reserve guard Charles Dudley, who finished with 19 points, four steals and a game-high 12 assists.

Center Bill Walton led the Trail Blazers with 21 points and game-high 17 rebounds.

Cavs upset Knicks

RICHFIELD, Ohio (UPI) — Bobby Smith poured in 23 points and pulled down 10 rebounds Thursday night as the Cleveland Cavaliers breezed to their third straight victory with a 114-90 decision over the previously undefeated New York Knicks.

After the teams battled to a 26-26 standoff in the first period, the Cavs outscored the Knicks 13-3 in the first six minutes of the second period and hit a sizzling 13-of-21 from the field (17-of-27) in 5-43 halting lead. Smith and Austin Carr combined for 16 second-quarter points.

Nuggets trim Bucks

DENVER (UPI) — Center Dan Issel scored 20 points in the first quarter and finished with a game-high 20 Thursday night to lead the Denver Nuggets to a 119-100 victory over the winless Milwaukee Bucks.

Issel, a six-year veteran who leads the Nuggets in scoring with a 28 point average this season, hit his first eighth field goal attempt before his 11-second quarter.

Issel scored 25 of his points in the first half by hitting 10 of 11 field goal attempts and all six free throws.

Prep griddler seeks help

NEWPORT, Ore. (UPI) — Denis Kerr, 18, a talented quarterback with an excellent chance to earn a college football scholarship, wants the courts to declare him an "emancipated minor" so he can play the sport.

Kerr, through an American Civil Liberties Union attorney, Herbert DeSelmis, has filed suit in Circuit Court in Tualatin to gain the status to continue playing against his parents' wish.

Kerr's suit is against Talt High School officials, the school board and his parents, Douglas and Geraldine Kerr, Lincoln City.

76ers retire hierarchy

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia 76ers Thursday announced that Coach Gene Shue and General Manager Pat Williams have signed new multi-year contracts with the club.

The terms of the pacts were not revealed.

"I have the highest regard for Coach Shue and Pat Williams," said Sixers' owner F. Eugene Dixon. "I think they form the best coach-general manager team in the NBA. Their success record is a proven fact."

Shue joined the Sixers prior to the 1974 season after seven years as coach of the Baltimore Bullets. Under Shue's coaching, the Sixers' record improved from 25-57 in 1974-75 to 46-36 in 1975-76.

Cotton bowl fever burns brightly for Texas Tech

By GREG AIELLO
UPI Sports writer

Sure, Texas Tech has played in bowl games before — the Sun he Gator Bowl in 1973, the Peach Bowl in 1974. But those aren't the post-season games the Red Raiders really desire.

Texas Tech longs for the Cotton Bowl, which it never has won. Of course the Red Raiders have been invited only once and that was so long ago, 1939, that their opponent was St. Mary's of California.

That's why there is excitement these days in Lubbock, Texas. The Red Raiders, 5-0 and ranked No. 6 in the nation, are getting close to their goal.

"There is a feeling among the people of this town that they want to go to the Cotton Bowl," Texas Tech coach Steve Sloan says. "That's what they are talking about. And whenever they do that, they get excited."

One of the biggest obstacles blocking Tech's goal is Saturday's game against No. 17 Texas, which knows something about clearing a path to the Cotton Bowl. The Longhorns have been there 15 times. Texas Tech has defeated Texas only four times in 25 meetings and last year was routed by the Longhorns 42-18.

Saturday's game, however, is on the Red Raiders' home field, where they beat Texas two years ago 26-3. Both teams, along with Arkansas, are 2-6 in the Southwest Conference.

"It's probably the biggest game I've ever been in as a head coach," Sloan said. "And the way I feel is that we have a good chance to win the game. Of course I feel like they have a good chance to win, too. That's what makes it interesting."

Interesting, too, will be the Texas Tech offense, averaging 32 points per game, challenging the Longhorns' defense, which has allowed only 12 points per contest. Texas' problem has been its offense, which has scored just 18 points per game. And Texas, 3-11, is coming off its worst game of the season, a 13-12 victory over Southern Methodist.

"We haven't played well," Texas coach Darrell Royal said. "But I said at the beginning it would be hard to have a winning season, and I haven't seen anything to change that."

"Hopefully we are in a better position to do well than we were last year," Sloan said. "I think we were a little nervous. This year I think we will go into it with a little more confidence."

Much of the Red Raiders' confidence this season comes from the success of running backs Larry Isaac and Billy Taylor, plus backup quarterback Rodney Allison, who is filling in for injured

Tommy Duniven.

But the strong performance of Tech's defense has been unexpected. "I'm a little bit surprised about our defense to be honest," Sloan said. "It is 50 per cent better than last year. It has been solid and they have played with emotion."

Top-ranked Michigan (7-0), the nation's highest scoring team with a 43.9 average, faces its toughest test so far against Minnesota (5-2). No. 2 Pittsburgh (7-0) should not have trouble against Syracuse.

In other games involving the top 10 ranked teams, No. 3 UCLA visits Washington, fourth-ranked Southern California hosts California, fifth-ranked Maryland seeks its eighth victory without a loss against Kentucky, No. 7 Georgia faces No. 18 Cincinnati, eighth-ranked Ohio State plays Indiana, No. 9 Nebraska visits Kansas and No. 10 Missouri, following its upset victory over Nebraska last week, plays No. 15 Oklahoma State.

Bulls sign Holland

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Bulls-Thursday put rookie guard Willie Smith on waivers and signed free agent guard Wilbur Holland.

Holland, a Columbus, Ga., native, played in 33 games for the Atlanta Hawks last season averaging 5.8 points while shooting 40 per cent from the field.

The 6-foot southpaw, who attended New Orleans University and was drafted by the Hawks in 1975, was released this fall.

Schlee, Murphy tie in exemption battle

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI) — John Schlee and Bob Murphy, battling for the final qualifying exemption for next year's tour, were among four golfers tied for the first-round lead in the $125,000 Pensacola Open at four-under-par 67.

Defending Pensacola champion Jerry McGee and Tommy Aaron, who has not won a major tournament since the 1973 Masters were tied with Schlee and Murphy.

Schlee stands 60th on this year's PGA money list and Murphy is 61st. The top 60 golfers at the end of the PGA tour get exemptions from qualifying for tournaments the following year.

There were five golfers hunched at 68 and four at 69.

McGee set the pace Thursday morning, firing six birdies and two bogeys on the 6,549-yard Pensacola Country Club course.

"This round was extremely important to me," said McGee, a blond Oklahoman whose only PGA win was here last year. "It's the first title I've ever defended. I was extremely nervous when I started. I wanted to come back and shoot a good round."

Aaron, a soft-spoken Georgian who has won only $23,500 going into this tournament, made five birdies and a bogey in compiling his round.

"It's the lowest opening round I've shot in quite a while, but I'm gonna have to shoot another round tomorrow (Friday) in the 60's if I'm going to pull away from the others."

Schlee and Murphy were battling for the 60th spot on the PGA list, with Schlee holding a $2,500 advantage going into the tournament.

"This is the first time my hand doesn't hurt me since last June," said Murphy, who credited it to a new medicine for a uric acid condition in his right hand and wrist.

"I didn't hit any goofy shots like I've been hitting, except for the 'drive out on No. 6," he said.

Murphy's drive on the par-five sixth hole went into the trees, resulting in his only bogey of the day. He had five birdies.

Murphy said he still can take an exemption he earned as a member of the 1975 Ryder Cup team and use it to play in PGA-sanctioned tournaments through the first six months of next year, but added, "I'd still like to be in the top 60."

At 68 were Lee Elder, who won the tournament in 1974, Tom Weiskopf, Mark Hayes, a 25-year-old Oklahoman who won this year's Byron Nelson Classic, Bob E. Smith, a Californian yet to win a tournament, and Grier Jones, a Kansan who is winless this year.

Dan Sikes, Don Iverson, Frank Beard, Tom Jenkins and Paul Moran were two strokes off the pace at 69. Fifteen others were at 70, and another 19 shot even par 71's.

Hometown favorite Jerry Pate, winner of this year's U.S. Open and Canadian Open, admitted the "pressure" of playing for the first time as a pro in front of his neighbors may have gotten to him. He shot a 75.

Temperatures in the low 50's, an overcast sky and brisk winds played havoc with many of the 147 pros who teed off Thursday.

"It bothers all the players. I think it keeps the scores high," Schlee said.

"I would prefer a little warmer weather," Aaron said, "but if I could keep shooting 67's it would be all right with me."

Too short to matter

OUT-MANNED Monte Towe, 5-7, of Denver can do nothing about this shot by Milwaukee's Mickey Davis (20) during action in Denver Thursday night. Bob Jones of the Nuggets looks on, too late to help. Denver pinned the third straight loss on the winless Bucks 119-100. (UPI telephoto)

Grazing, wildlife and livestock dominate advisory board meeting

BULL — Can a managed grazing system benefit the livestock operator?

Is the rancher being blamed unfairly for declining deer numbers? How many ground squirrels are too many?

These and other topics were discussed at the Humboldt National Forest grazing advisory board meeting held October 4. The board members present included ranchers Charles Van Norman (chairman), Lee Miller, Jack Wallther, Loyd Sorensen, Kent Howard, Bill Swan, Stanley Ellison and Len Hoskins, Fish and Game Department.

The board, Humboldt National Forest representatives and other interested people met at the Charles Van Norman Ranch and toured the Schmeer Creek allotment. Van Norman explained the history of the allotment: "In 1965 the Forest Service was pushing me for a 72 percent reduction of animals on this allotment. Something had to be done and I finally agreed to some roush, assisted in fencing the allotment into two units and I decided to run yearlings and leave them on the Forest for two and one half months instead of four months."

"The average yearling take off weight has increased by 200 pounds per animal. It hasn't been easy, though. The plan was to clear the site spots. The Forest Service sprayed 460 acres to clear some dense stands of sagebrush and we've had to do a lot of riding and fence maintenance. For me, though, it's paid off."

"At first we used a rest-rotation grazing system where one unit a year is not grazed at all," said Van Norman. "Last year we changed to deferred two year rotation system which should provide us with more young seedlings in the few save spots left on the allotment."

Humboldt National Forest Range Conservationist Mow Lewis commented the range studies show that the entire allotment has moved up one condition class. "If it averaged poor and fair condition eleven years ago, it now averages fair and good condition." He said. The group agreed that the allotment looks good. The amount and vigor of the browse species led to comments about the allotment being prime deer habitat. "If this is true, where are the deer, Charlie?" asked Forest Supervisor John Hulterson. Van Norman explained, "You know, I've been watching four does each with twin fawns down by the ranch house all year. Saw them often, and the other morning I heard one crying — coyote got it. There's only four or five of those eight fawns left now that I know of."

"It's the same thing in my country," said Kent Howard. "The coyotes slaughtered the deer in the Brunau River. Now there's lots of deer feed but very few deer." "You're right," said Stanley Ellison, "and how about all the hunters with four-wheel drives, powerful rifles and two-way radios."

"The deer don't stand a chance," said Bill Swan. "There was a question about disease in deer. Allen Floeck from Nevada Fish and Game Department answered, "Not much is known about diseases that affect deer. Tests that work on cattle don't seem to work on deer."

"We're getting tired of hearing that ranchers and livestock overgrazing have caused the deer decline," said Bill Swan. "Actually, the Fish and Game Department advises livestock grazing on deer ranges since proper browsing stimulates forage growth." Len Hoskins commented.

Range staff officer Joe Frazier said, "As far as the Humboldt National Forest is concerned, and we'll go on record this way, at the current deer population number, we have an abundance of deer habitat and forage on the Forest and can support many more deer than are now present."

"We do have some small areas, mostly on the deer winter range, that need improving. Over all, though, grazing by livestock on the forest can't be the cause of the decline in deer numbers."

"What's the matter with the range over there, Charlie?" someone asked.

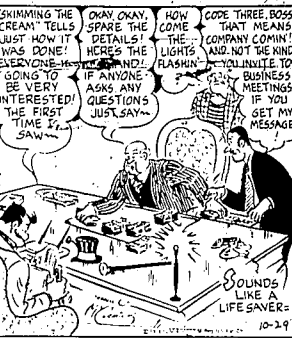

"Well, I'll tell you," Charlie said. "Gophers and ground squirrels have moved in there. The Forest Service and Fish and Wildlife Service are going to look the problem over and try to come up with a solution. The ground squirrels are bad this year. I had a man on the ranch who shot them for sport in my hay and meadow lands. I gave him a tractor and wagon, bought all his powder and bullets and gave him the moon meal and he hunted ground squirrels. He tallied up 3,036 this summer, and the population is still increasing."

Some of the ranchers reported that increasing beaver populations are becoming a problem too. Len Hoskins said the reason for this is the higher price being paid for coyote fur pelts. "If the rancher is having a problem with beavers, he can contact the Nevada Fish and Game Department," Hoskins explained.

Another person asked why the bobcat has been put on the furbearer list. Hoskins answered the price for bobcat fur pelts is up to $300 and the animal is becoming scarce.

Olympic plans hit environmental snag

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (UPI) — The Lake Placid Olympic Organizing Committee unveiled preliminary plans Thursday for a proposed ski jump likely to be a source of environmental controversy in coming months.

Committee officials made public conceptual drawings of a combined 70 and 90-meter jump at Intervale, about one mile south of this Adirondack Mountains village.

The Adirondack Park Agency, which must approve plans for much of the construction for the 1992 Olympics, plans to hold hearings next month on the site, as well as several alternative locations.

Questions have been raised, however, about the facility because it will be clearly visible from the surrounding area.

A spokesman for the park agency said "the visual impact will be considered" as an important factor in the ski jump tower.

Representatives of environmental groups attending a meeting with local Olympic officials Thursday declined to publicly comment on the proposal until the hearings are held.

However, the vice president of the LPOOC criticized the park agency, saying "the APA has set the labor-force back a year. They could have been working all summer" on the ski jump.

"They've been stubborn, especially about the ski jump," said Art Devlin, a Lake Placid resident who was a member of five U.S. Olympic ski jump teams and is now a vice president of the organizing committee.

Devlin criticized the need for a study of the visual impact of the tower, saying "the Washington monument is as tall as a ski jump. Why don't they tear that down? I just can't believe that it isn't going to be a showcase."

The proposal calls for a revamping of the current 60-meter ski jump and the construction of a 90-meter jump with the tower.

memo to advertisers

CONFUSED?

Sometimes it is difficult to find your way through all the claims and counter-claims of advertising media.

But there is one no-nonsense report that tells it exactly like it is—not like we (or anyone else) dreams it to be.

That's the report of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, an advertiser controlled circulation fact-finding and fact-reporting organization.

Next time you question a circulation claim, just ask to see proof—the ABC report.

And that's a fact, for sure.
