Autumn rest

UNUSED on one of the few dismal days this autumn, this party swing at City Park stands idle while awaiting better weather. The return of sunshine on subsequent days brought children back to the park to play and to swing. But the approach of late fall and winter, bringing the prospect of clouds and chill temperatures will probably find this swing left alone often. (Times-News color photo by Lou Freeman.)

Smith resigns as GOP chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mary Louise Smith, first woman to head the Republican National Committee, today announced she will resign the party chairmanship. Mrs. Smith said she will step down at the next meeting of the RNC Jan. 14-15.

Fireman dies despite surgery

CHICAGO (UPI) — A fireman's right leg was amputated early today in a desperate rooftop operation to free him from debris that trapped him during a five-alarm fire. He died an hour later of massive injuries. Concrete and steel from a quarter-mile-long burning coal conveyor belt at a Commonwealth Edison plant collapsed on the roof of a building where fireman Walter Watroba, about 38, was helping feed hose to three other firemen. He remained pinned there for nearly seven hours in freezing temperatures.

Utah slayer refuses food

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Condemned killer Gary Gilmore, who has lost eight pounds since starting a hunger strike four days ago, refused again today to eat but Utah State Prison officials said he was "still healthy." "I don't think we'd let him starve to death," said Deputy Warden Leon Hatch, adding that prison officials have asked for a legal opinion on what to do if Gilmore reaches the point of collapse.

Gilmore, 35, in isolation and under the constant watch of guards, has refused food and medication until he is allowed to speak by phone to his fiancée, Nicole Barrett, who joined him in an unsuccessful suicide attempt last week. She was involuntarily committed to the state mental hospital Friday.

"The slayer, who has vowed to give some of the profits from the sale of his biography to the families of two men he killed, has been accepting only coffee and water since last Friday. His lawyer, Dennis Boaz, filed a motion before the Utah Supreme Court today asking that he be allowed "full access" to Gilmore in their interviews at the prison, which have been held over telephones and through a window since last Tuesday's suicide attempt. Boaz charged his client is being denied "effective counsel."

Kennedys pray at JFK grave

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Members of the Kennedy family knelt in prayer today before the eternal flame marking the grave of President John F. Kennedy, killed by an assassin 13 years ago. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, brother of the late president, and Ethel Kennedy, widow of the former President's slain brother, paid their respects at the graves of both the president and Sen. Robert Kennedy.

The two men — 50 close in life — are divided in death by only a few yards on a sloping hillside at Arlington National Cemetery. The visit took place as dawn broke over the city, providing a view of Washington which President Kennedy said was one of his favorites. Kennedy, his sister-in-law and six Kennedy children were the only people at the gravesite when they visited it about 7:15 a.m. They just knelt at the President's gravesite, leaving flowers on the stones encircling the eternal flame and then walked a few yards to the grave of Robert Kennedy — assassinated five years after his brother. Kennedy wore a topcoat and Mrs. Kennedy also wore a coat to protect them from the nearfreezing temperatures. They stayed at the grave site about 10 minutes.

HONG KONG (UPI) — A group of American senators said after a two week visit to China one of the high officials they met asked about President elect Jimmy Carter but low level aides traveling with them showed considerable interest. "They served us a lot of peanuts along the way," Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said at a news conference today following the group's arrival from China.

Buhl boy shot

BUHL — A 17-year-old Buhl boy was shot to death at 1 a.m. Sunday in Olson's Apartments on West Main St., County Coroner Clyde Edwards said today. Nunam Aquilar, 17, Buhl, was killed when struck in the head by a bullet from a pistol, Edwards said. Another 17-year-old boy has been arrested, Buhl police said. He was to be arraigned in Twin Falls Magistrate's Court this morning. Police referred all comments to Mel Edwards in the Twin Falls County Prosecutor's office. He was unavailable for comment.

Moves mullied

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — Britain is weighing several possible moves including a brief adjournment if it is unable to break the month-old deadlock at the Rhodesia peace talks. A fourth state conference sources said today. British conference chairman Ivor Richard went to London for talks Sunday and today with government officials including Foreign Secretary Anthony Crosland on a new effort to get concrete negotiations going.

Cartel aides deny 20% oil price hike

VIENNA (UPI) — The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries denied Monday its Economic Commission will recommend a 20 per cent oil price hike at an OPEC meeting next month.

"Reports about a recommendation for a 20 per cent increase are totally wrong," said Hamid Zakeri, OPEC's chief of information. "The Economic Commission has drawn up a recommendation that will not be released before the ministers meet."

(Earlier story, p. 7)

The Economic Commission met here last week and there was speculation it had decided to recommend a 20 per cent price increase when OPEC meets Dec. 15 in the Persian Gulf state of Qatar.

Zakeri said the recommendation was "definitely not" for a 20 per cent increase, but he declined to reveal the recommendation saying, "it would be misleading."

Zakeri's statement came in the wake of a charge by Kuwait, one of OPEC's 13 member nations, that the U.S. campaign against higher oil prices is "pure camouflage" aimed only at limiting a price hike to about 15 per cent.

"In my opinion, (the industrialized nations) are all raising their voices in the hope not so much of preventing an oil price increase altogether as of limiting it as much as possible," said Kuwait Finance Minister Abdel Rahman Al Ali.

Both Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi of Iran and another top Kuwait official said Sunday a boost in oil prices would not seriously damage Western economies, as the industrialized nations have claimed.

The charge was made by Atiqi after two members of the international oil cartel said they believed an increase in the price of oil was justified because of the inflationary increases in the price of industrialized goods their nations import.

Western nations, he said, are "hoping to keep it down to, say, 15 per cent instead of 25 per cent. As for all the fuss the United States is making, this strikes me as pure camouflage, since the United States itself stands to benefit from higher oil prices."

Atiqi spoke after American, British and other western officials warned that an increase in the world price of oil would severely damage the world's economy. Assistant U.S. Treasury Secretary Gerald Parsky visited Kuwait last week to urge the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to act with restraint in its meeting Dec. 15.

In saying that the U.S. stands to "benefit" from a price hike, Atiqi was apparently referring to the fact that the United States is less dependent on oil imports than other Western countries.

Key Airlines heavy loser

By CHRIS PECK

TWIN FALLS — Key Airlines, the only airline serving the Ketchum-Sun Valley area, has lost $797,000 so far this year, according to records submitted to the Idaho Public Utilities Commission (PUC).

Based on an estimated 36,000 passengers which Key officials think will use the airline this year, the company lost about $28 on each passenger it flew to Friedman Memorial Airport in the first nine months of 1976.

Currently, Key charges $25 for a one-way ticket from Boise to Halley and $32 for a one-way ticket from Salt Lake City to Halley.

The $797,000 loss in 1976 comes even though total passenger boardings are up an estimated 43 per cent this year.

In addition, Key Airlines flights into Friedman Memorial Airport are only 50 per cent full on the average.

Yet the company has purchased three larger Convair 440 planes to service Sun Valley and has asked the PUC to approve a 24 per cent fare increase to finance the new planes and to cover rising labor and fuel costs.

A financial profile of Key Airlines was sent to the PUC in connection with the airlines' request for the 24 per cent increase in fares between Halley and Boise.

The records show Key Airlines operate at about a 15 per cent loss on flights into Sun Valley from Boise.

With the 24 per cent fare increase, the company says it will move into the black and make a modest 6.6 per cent profit overall.

Since Key Airlines has not had a rate increase in two years, the PUC is expected to approve the fare hike.

A portion of the rate increase will be used to pay for new aircraft purchased last year by Key Airlines.

Three used Convair 440 planes were added to the fleet of smaller, 8-passenger Navajo aircraft and the 19-passenger Twin Otters used by Key.

The Convair 440s carry 44 passengers each. The proposed fare increase would be used to help pay the estimated $750,000 total price for the three Convairs.

Key Airlines currently uses the three new planes only one day a week.

Two of the Convairs sit on the ground at the Salt Lake International Airport Monday through Friday or are leased to special groups during those days.

One Convair is used on the Boise to Sun Valley route during the week and all three planes are put into service on Saturdays during peak seasons at Sun Valley.

Until Dec. 11, however, all three of the $250,000 planes are unused by Key Airlines because of a lack of traffic into Sun Valley.

Key Airlines is a wholly owned subsidiary of the Johns-Manville Corporation which also owns and operates Elkhorn at Sun Valley.

An estimated 36,000 passengers will ride Key

Airlines planes into Sun Valley this year, according to Brent Wiseman, a public relations spokesman for the company at Salt Lake City.

The fare increase Key wants will raise the one-way Boise-Halley fare to $31.

United Way drive hits $100,000

TWIN FALLS — The United Way fund drive reached the $100,000 mark in its 1976 march toward a goal of $115,000, according to Det Richards, executive director of the drive.

Hanks said he is optimistic the fund will reach its goal this year because "We still have some fine companies yet to hear from."

About 22 workers collecting funds for the drive have not reported their collections. Hanks added.

The $100,000 represents the efforts of more than 230 people who have been working for more than a month since the kickoff of the drive in October.

Community agencies for whom the funds are being collected include the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, YM-YWCA, Red Cross, arthritis, cerebral palsy, the United Service Organization and Mental Health, Hanks said.

Each agency makes a request for funds. Hanks said.

In addition, a community agency relationships committee chaired by Bill Routh of Idaho Frozen Foods decides what the fund's total contribution should be to each of the 11 agencies.

The contributions are totaled, according to Hanks, and the goal for that year is set.

After about four weeks of collecting, the fund drive is about 87 per cent complete.

"We are cleaning up, now, hopefully, to make our goal and to fulfill our pledge to the agencies," Hanks said.

"If by accident we have missed somebody or if they are new to the area, they should not hesitate to contact us," Hanks said of firms or individuals who may have not been contacted.

Patty preferred security

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Patricia Hearst, free but under guard today at her family's Nob Hill apartment, had-to-let-fellow prisoners she preferred jail to freedom unless her parents could arrange tight security.

"She didn't want to be out there," Karen Arviso, 22, who was with Miss Hearst in a federal prison said of the heiress' first days behind bars at the Federal Youth Center Pleasanton.

Ms. Arviso, 22, said in an interview with the Oakland (Calif.) Tribune that Miss Hearst's fears about living outside prison were so intense she had not wanted to be released on bail.

"She said her parents would have to get really tight security for her to feel safe, and she knew they had the money to do it, but she still said she didn't want to be out there," Ms. Arviso said. Miss Hearst, 22, daughter of San Francisco Examiner President Randolph A. Hearst, was released on $1.5 million bail Friday, pending the appeal of her bank robbery conviction.

Hearst told reporters outside the apartment Saturday that it was not known whether his daughter would remain there or move to another family retreat. If there is a move, he pointed out, it would not be disclosed for security reasons.

The Hearst family reportedly was spending $720 a day to provide security for her. The federal government was not providing U.S. marshals because defense attorneys dropped their request for witness protection.

Gwen Lewis, 21, Portland, Ore., another center inmate who served as Miss Hearst's "big sister" at the minimum-security prison, said, "She was always saying she didn't want to get out on bail."

Both prisoners said that at times Miss Hearst was quite depressed and "banged her head and her knuckles on the wall." And, they said, it appeared she wanted to be placed in isolation.

"She refused to work for a whole week, and I took over her work," Ms. Arviso said. "She kept getting incident reports, but she would just throw them away." She added Miss Hearst was never placed in the special unit.

Miss Hearst, under a seven-year sentence for her conviction, said in a copyrighted interview with the Examiner, that her return to her family was "like I never left."

Vigil marks JFK's death

DALLAS (UPI) — Protests of speculation of services commemorating the assassination of President John F. Kennedy prompted Dallas officials to schedule a public prayer vigil near the site where Kennedy was slain by a sniper 35 years ago today.

John Slossom, who has headed the Kennedy Museum since it opened seven years ago, said he believed there should be memorial services.

"I was a president who had sympathy with the young people of our nation and all foreign nations and had a closer contact with those people than any other president," said Slossom.

Mayor Robert Folsom said last week he canceled the originally scheduled observance at the site near where Kennedy was slain Nov. 22, 1963, because of declining public interest.

Democratic County Chairman Ron Kessler said, however, he could not allow

Appointive Idaho school post goal

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Education Association voted Saturday to seek legislation making the state superintendent of public instruction post an appointive position responsible to the State Board of Education.

The IEA will also seek a salary increase for the post, which now pays $23,000 a year. The resolution acted on by the assembly recommended a "significant" salary increase since $23,000 is "significantly less than many public school and higher education administrators receive."

Other action taken during the meeting of the IEA legislative (delegate assembly) in Boise included a resolution to seek a 75 per cent increase in state support of school funding. The teachers asked for a 15 per cent increase in appropriations for instructional salaries. They also voted to seek school funding equalization, including distribution of inventory phase-out funds through the public school foundation formula, rather than paying the money back directly to the counties.

The teachers voted to investigate the possibility of joining State Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon as a friend-of-the-court participant in her legal action to regain losses of endowment fund principle.

The losses occurred prior to 1975 when the current Endowment Fund Investment Board was established. The assembly also voted to seek a public-school building fund to be administered by the State Department of Education, possibly using general fund surpluses, a real estate transaction tax, a building permit tax or some public school revenue from pari-mutuel betting.

Grizzly habitat region designated

BOISE (UPI) — Some 20,000 square miles in Idaho, Montana, Washington and Wyoming are being considered for potential listing as critical habitat for the grizzly bear, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service said.

A public hearing will be held Dec. 14 at South Fremont High School in St. Anthony to hear testimony about the proposal. The grizzly bear is a threatened species and a critical habitat listing would prevent any changes, destruction or modification that would jeopardize the bears' habitat.

consideration form four zones of about 13 million acres and include the Yellowstone National Park region; parts of extreme northwestern Montana and northern Idaho in the Cabinet Mountains; extreme northern Idaho and northeastern Washington in the Kootenai National Forest; and parts of northwestern Montana.

The Fish and Wildlife Service said the areas contain the only significant grizzly bear populations in the United States.

Written comments can be submitted to the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Washington, D.C., 20240.

Pocatello hospital board clears sale

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — The Board of Directors of St. Anthony Community Hospital announced today it has voted to sell its facilities in Pocatello.

The directors voted unanimously to withdraw from Pocatello and to entertain offers from interested parties for take-over of the St. Anthony Community Hospital Corporation.

"Offers which promote the one-hospital concept for the community will receive the highest priorities," the board's resolution said.

Park cited

BOISE (UPI) — Landscaping of the new Shoreline Park has won a certificate of merit at the National Landscape Awards program for Boise's City Parks and Recreation Department.

The award is presented each year to make the public more aware of the need to develop environmentally clean and beautiful communities in the United States. Seventy such awards were presented this year.

"We've come to the end of what we can do in Pocatello," said Sister Mary Teresa Tracy, president of the board. "The community badly needs to upgrade its hospital facilities."

She said since the board's initial proposal in March, finance construction of a hospital in Pocatello on condition that the new facility would be assured of viability by being the sole surviving medical center.

"However," she added, "the stalemate continues and the only avenue left to us is to withdraw and hope that the entity acquiring our facilities will be successful in finding community cooperation leading to a new hospital which residents need and deserve."

The hospital's financial advisors reported two hospital corporations already have expressed interest in purchasing the Pocatello facility.

The Sisters of Mercy have been involved in health care and hospital operation at Pocatello since 1915.

Corner alarm box moves into limbo

CHICAGO (UPI) — The street corner fire alarm box will soon be a thing of the past in Chicago — the scene, in 1871, of one of the world's worst fires.

City budget director Edward Bedore told the city council finance committee Thursday all 2,000 street corner alarm boxes will be eliminated next year as part of a modernization of the fire communication system.

One of the main ideas is to diminish false alarms. Bedore said the city's new 911-emergency telephone number is making it possible to eliminate the boxes — and cut false alarms by 70 per cent.

Chief fire alarm operator Ken Gallagher said more than 25,000 false alarms were turned in during the first 10 months of this year, and the vast majority of those were turned in from street corner boxes.

The city will be required by law to retain another 1,600 alarm boxes in schools, hospitals, nursing homes, theaters and other institutions.

BLM issues statement on Bruneau

BOISE (UPI) — The Interior Department has issued the final environmental impact statement on its proposal to add the Bruneau River to the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System.

The proposal calls for adding 121 miles and 57,000 acres along the Bruneau River and its Jarbidge River and Sheep Creek tributaries to the national system, under the administration of the Bureau of Land Management.

The Interior Department officials said adding the river to the national system would "protect the unique natural qualities" of the river. Livestock grazing, the major economic activity along the river, would be allowed to continue.

Question . . .

The father of my two children and I were divorced several years ago. He continued to support these children until his death although they were legally adopted by my present husband. Are they entitled to receive Social Security benefits?

Answer . . .

The answer is — yes — your children are entitled to dependency benefits from their father's Social Security earnings up to age 18 if they do not attend college or to age 22 if they are full time students.

Two tests of eligibility are required by Social Security; the children must be deemed to be the legitimate children of the decedent and the decedent must have been contributing to the children's support.

Fed Chairman Burns commands respect in capital

Munday, November 22, 1976 Times News, Twin Falls, Idaho
Soviets top worry

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When Arthur F. Burns goes to Capitol Hill to testify to Congress, he sits alone at the long polished table. He doesn't bring notes: He pulls an ashtray close and for two or three hours, in a high-pitched voice that sounds like W. C. Fields, he delivers views in tones so solemn they sound like they had been chiseled in marble. His words are accompanied by puffs of smoke from his pipe. The ashtray fills with matches as Burns puts forth a conservative economic doctrine, warning foremost and always about inflation. The lecture impresses congressmen, and sometimes seems to intimidate them. Even critics often begin questions with dutiful praise. Without having to call news conferences or the power to hand out favors, he has commanded respect and attention. Today he commands the attention of Jimmy Carter. The outcome of their private meeting could influence the course of the U.S. economy and also determine whether the Carter administration gets under way in acrimony or harmony. Burns is the chairman of the seven-member board of governors of the Federal Reserve System, which he thoroughly dominates. Unless he resigns, and he probably will not, he remains chairman until Jan. 31, 1978. Like it or not, Carter is stuck with him for at least a year.

ARTHUR M. BURNS
... words and smoke

The Federal Reserve is able to multiply congressional and presidential attempts to alter the economy's course. The Federal Reserve can manipulate the money supply — the amount of money in currency and checking accounts. This influences interest rates, prices, employment, production and construction.

Since the election, Burns and Carter have sparred on whether the economy needs stimulation. Carter has said a tax cut to revive the sluggish economy is "a strong possibility." Burns has said, "I see no advantage of a tax cut at the present time." But both say they think they can work together. Both say they want to see the newer economic statistics before deciding what to do. Their disagreement, if one exists, has not been personal. Burns is an economist, too, and he is a skillful politician, too, and he knows who won the election. He is more likely to try to charm Carter than to fight him.

Yielding only when necessary, he resisted attempts by the Democratic Congress to instruct the board on what monetary policies to follow. To audit its operations and to remove some of the total secrecy from its deliberations. "I think Burns dominates that board as few men dominate any board in Washington," says Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Senate Banking Committee. "He is a man of enormous prestige, experience, wisdom and stature." Proxmire says, "I like him a lot. He is an interesting, congenial fellow and a very effective lobbyist. He has been successful in convincing presidents to let him pick the members of the board and that enhances his power."

Born in Stanislau, Austria, in 1904, Burns studied economics at Columbia University. He has served on college faculties and in government all his adult life. Government service started as a statistician with the Railway Emergency Board in 1941. He is the author of nine books.

Navy off target?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy is proposing to spend more than $700 million producing a new ship gun that the General Accounting Office contends is so inaccurate at longer ranges that it would use up its ammunition before hitting a target.

In a recent letter to Defense Secretary Donald H. Rumsfeld, the GAO, which is the investigative arm of Congress, urged that a production decision be delayed until questions about the effectiveness and accuracy of the gun can be resolved.

The Navy denies that the new eight-inch gun is inaccurate, and intends to proceed with production of the weapon for its new destroyers and cruisers. A production decision is scheduled to be made by the Chief of Naval Operations' executive board on Dec. 7.

For the Navy, the new lightweight, automated gun is an integral part of its plan to restore some bombardment power to its surface warships, particularly for use against shore targets. At present, most of the Navy's warships carry one or at most two rapid-firing five-inch guns, which is the same caliber used by destroyers in World War II.

AMC settles suit

DETROIT (UPI) — American Motors Corp. has agreed to a $1.1 million out-of-court settlement in a California lawsuit that charged AMC with failing to meet emission control standards.

AMC officials announced the agreement Sunday, saying it "resolves all open issues" in a $1.3 million suit filed in Los Angeles last September by the California Air Resources Board.

The nation's No. 4 auto firm agreed to pay the $1.1 over a five-year period. In return, the California board will drop the suit, AMC said.

The lawsuit was the culmination of a dispute that began last January when the board filed AMC $1.3 million, charging AMC's 304 cubic inch V8 engine exceeded California's automotive emission standards. State officials also accused AMC of falsifying emission reports.

California officials confirmed a tentative agreement but Tom Quinn, chairman of the antipollution board, said he was reviewing the AMC agreement prior to filing it in Los Angeles County Superior Court Monday.

He refused to confirm the amount of the settlement or any details of the proposed agreement, including those portions dealing with alleged falsification of emission reports.

Future wars in space?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Future wars could be decided in space by orbiting satellites. Newsweek Magazine said Sunday.

Newsweek said a space battle between hunter-killer satellites could determine the outcome of any war on earth by crippling the orbiting early warning and ballistic missile defense systems of the losing nation, forcing it to capitulate under threat of massive nuclear attack.

In what may have been the first blow in an all-out space war by the 1980s, Newsweek said two U.S. reconnaissance satellites, orbiting high over the Indian Ocean last year, suddenly were "blinded" by a powerful beam of infra-red light from Soviet Siberia. Newsweek said the satellites were victims of a Soviet laser attack — a charge the magazine said the Defense Department officially denies.

The magazine quoted Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld as saying the satellites probably had been "dazzled by the glare of nuclear gas fires along a pipeline in Western Siberia." But Newsweek added, "He avoided saying flatly that lasers were not the cause."

The report said that a few weeks after the two U.S. satellites were knocked out of action, the Soviet Union launched an unmanned spacecraft and sent it tracking another Soviet satellite deep in space.

"After a brief pursuit, the hunter closed in and paused to examine its quarry," the magazine said. "Then it moved away to a safe distance and exploded — proving that it could have destroyed the target on command."

The article said chemical lasers, requiring no electrical power, already have been developed by the United States and that such beams have generated pulses of 200 billion watts for one-thirtieth of a second — a speed-of-light burst researchers say "can vaporize metal and produce destructive shockwaves."

ARE YOU GIVING THE GOVERNMENT MONEY IT WANTS YOU TO KEEP?

INCREDIBLE AS IT MAY SOUND ...

In this age of escalating taxes, thousands of Idaho men and women fail to take advantage of a legitimate tax break.

Under a bill passed by congress if you are employed and not covered by a pension plan, you can set aside $1,500.00 or 15% of your income, whichever is less, under the new Individual Retirement Account. (IRA) If employed, your spouse can also participate in the plan.

When you create this special plan for yourself, your annual deposits will be completely TAX DEDUCTIBLE. Earnings on the funds you set aside will compound tax free as well. Only when the money is paid out to you will you owe any federal income tax - probably at a considerably lower rate than you now pay.

YOUR PERSONAL RETIREMENT FUND will grow LARGER and FASTER than an equal investment earning the same return subject to income taxes.

FOR EXAMPLE, if you set aside $1,500.00 each year in an IRA account at IB&T, you might accumulate:

After	WITH the help of a tax-sheltered account with IB&T	WITHOUT the help of a tax-sheltered account with IB&T
5 Years	$ 8,750	$ 6,310
10 Years	21,430	14,680
15 Years	39,820	25,760
20 Years	66,480	40,430
25 Years	105,120	59,860
30 Years	161,140	85,610

NOTE: Table assumes 25% tax bracket and all figures are based on an annual return of 7 1/2% (guaranteed only for 6 years) compounded quarterly - with an effective annual yield of 7.71%.

Poll release irks product panel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two Consumer Product Safety Commissioners are unhappy over the release of a poll showing that many Americans want a ban on aerosol sprays containing fluorocarbon gases.

Both Commissioners, Barbara Franklin and David Little favor such a ban and have been on record that way for some time, but they think the $10,000 survey, released last Thursday, was immaterial to the decision the commission must make on the issue.

Mr. Franklin said it may have been a waste of money this late in the game.

The poll was released at a news conference called by the pollster, Dr. Walter D. Vries. That same day, the commission was meeting in executive session on a petition from the Natural Resources Defense Council for a ban on fluorocarbon aerosols under CFCSC jurisdiction — mostly household cleaners.

The D. Vries survey of consumer attitudes in 37 states showed that more than half of those polled are either willing to ban such products, or have already cut back on their use.

The commission disagreed over whether to turn the matter over to the Environmental Protection Agency and come to a decision. Technically the commission must decide the matter by next Friday.

President-elect Carter visits with newsmen in Washington

Carter, Ford chat at White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jimmy Carter spent the night across the street from his residence for the next four years — and his target for the last two.

Carter, whose discussion with President Ford today is the first face-to-face meeting the two have had since their Oct. 22 debate in Williamsburg, Va. spent Sunday night at Blair House, located across Pennsylvania Ave. from the White House.

The President-elect, who arrived in Washington Sunday night aboard a United Airlines charter jet, also planned a tight schedule of meetings today and Tuesday with administration officials and congressmen.

A White House spokesman said no specific agenda had been set for this afternoon's talks between Ford and his successor. The meeting was expected to be relaxed, with the two men alone unless they called for aides.

Carter's first appointment was with Gen. Lewis Allen, head of the National Security Agency, and Richard Shriver, director of telecommunications, who were to brief Carter on defense communications.

Today was to be taken up mainly with cabinet officers, beginning with James T. Lynn, director of the Office of Management and Budget, followed by Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld, HEW Secretary David Matthews, and Treasury Secretary William Simon.

The meeting with Ford was next on the agenda, followed by a session with Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns, who Carter once hinted he would ask to resign. Carter later said, however, it was likely he would not ask Burns to step down from the sensitive post.

Tuesday was to be spent talking with congressmen at the Capitol, including the expected new House speaker, Thomas P. O'Neill of Massachusetts, Senate committee chairmen, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the chairman of House committees, the House International Relations Committee and the Republican leadership of the House and Senate.

China cloud moves out over ocean

By United Press International
The Environmental Protection Agency says the leading edge of the high-altitude radioactive air mass from a Chinese hydrogen bomb has safely passed over the East Coast and moved out over the Atlantic Ocean.

But the EPA said in a statement Sunday that the "residual radioactive material in the atmosphere will probably remain at slightly elevated levels over the next several weeks due both to the passage of the cloud and from further passages as it goes around the world."

The federal agency said "early measurement of air samples indicate only slightly elevated levels" were recorded at Phoenix, Ariz. and Cheyenne, Wyo. The only other sample stations reporting were at Bismark, N.D., and Seattle, Wash., and both had normal readings.

Whipped along by the high altitude jet stream, the cloud moved southwest across the United States. The chief danger was from rain, which could bring the radioactive particles to earth. If the fallout was eaten by cows, the radioactivity could get into humans who drink milk.

Ford returns for meeting round

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With less than two months remaining before he relinquishes the reins of government, President Ford is holding his first post-election meeting with President-elect Jimmy Carter in a prelude to the transition of power.

Refreshed after a relaxing weekend stay at the lavish and historic family estate of Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, Ford was to hold a series of morning meetings with staff aides today and do some work on his forthcoming fiscal 1978 budget.

After a face-to-face meeting with Carter in the Oval Office at 1 p.m. MST.

Seeing each other for the first time since they last met in their third and final televised debate, the two men will hold what aides say will be an informal and unstructured meeting.

The President and Mrs. Ford returned to Washington Sunday night after an overnight stay at the Rockefeller family estate where Ford dedicated the Rockefeller mansion as a national historic landmark.

So pleased was Ford with the good weekend life in the well-tended Pocantico Hills paradise laid out by the late multimillionaire, John D. Rockefeller, that he stayed to play an unscheduled round of golf before flying back to Washington.

Nineteen painful days after losing the presidency to Carter, Ford obviously was buoyed by the shouts and cheers of "friendship" that greeted him.

He rose at 7:30 a.m. to golf with Vice President Nelson Rockefeller and John D. Rockefeller's other living grandsons, Laurance and David, before attending church.

Later, he dedicated the 63-year-old Rockefeller house overlooking the Hudson — called "Skykull" Dutch for "lookout" — as a national landmark. Fifteen persons across the street attended the eight-minute ceremony.

When the President and Mrs. Ford motored from the fenced 3,000-acre Rockefeller Estate to the Union Church of Pocantico Hills, a crowd of about 300 persons across the street cheered.

Inside the church, the minister mentioned the "fresh winds" that Ford had brought into the White House and talked of a golden future for Ford.

Pity turkey man

FREDERICK, Colo. (UPI) — Most people only spend Thanksgiving with a turkey — a cooked one, at that — so pity poor John Brookman who has live ones for company the entire year.

Brookman, a turkey farmer since 1947, has much the same opinion of the native American birds as the day he got into the business.

"The turkey is the dumbest animal in the world," said Brookman on his 116-acre northern Colorado farm. "The only dumb animal is the person who raises 'em."

Brookman raises about 100,000 turkeys each year, most of them for Thanksgiving Day dinner tables.

"Twelve hundred of 'em got it yesterday," Brookman said — meaning they went to market. "You don't get attached to them birds. It's just a business."

Reagan next GOP head?

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — State Republican Committee Chairman Mike Thompson said

Miami says he has been asked Ronald Reagan will accept a draft movement to become the new GOP national chairman.

Thompson sponsored a resolution presented at the state party's Executive Board meeting Saturday urging the former California governor be named national head of the GOP. The resolution passed unanimously.

"I checked with a person very close to Gov. Reagan, although I did not talk with him directly. I was assured that if there was a legitimate draft movement, he would respond favorably, although he would not seek the job," Thompson said.

Decriminalize heroin?

GARY, Ind. — Perhaps the United States should decriminalize heroin use and put addicts on maintenance programs, Gary Mayor Richard G. Hatcher has suggested.

"We ought to begin at least to look at it, because what we are doing now obviously has failed. The problem is increasing, not getting better," he said.

Hatcher, whose city has had a drug problem for years, is taking a harder look at the problem as chairman of the human resources committee of the National League of Cities.

Hatcher said he will recommend at the league's annual conference that alternatives, such as decriminalization, be seriously discussed. The conference is set for Nov. 28-Dec. 3 in Denver.

Ransom paid

SANT ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Kidnapers released a 70-year-old landowner today after receiving an estimated ransom of $500,000, police said.

Officers said Salerio Lucchino was released in the early morning hours of a deserted road near his southern Italian village. They said Lucchino was in poor health and needed immediate medical attention.

Lucchino was kidnaped Oct. 28 while driving with his wife to visit relatives at nearby Shuppli.

Baby found in can

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Officers called by residents who heard a crying sound in a garbage bin found a newborn baby girl stuffed inside a grocery bag Sunday.

Officers located her mother, a short time later when Pamela Jones, 20, who lived nearby, called for help because of internal bleeding. Authorities said the woman apparently had given birth to the baby at home.

The mother and child were both reported in stable condition after treatment at nearby hospitals. Miss Jones was also arrested on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder.

Mansion commune

LONDON (UPI) — As communes go, the one Bill Evans hopes to establish would be a cut or two above most.

There's the chandeliered drawing room, the portrait-filled dining room easily sitting 16 at the mahogany table, the billiard room.

The rent, Evans says, would be "nominal."

Evans, a 28-year-old town planning official, wants to turn his parents' 1800s mansion, Whitebourne Hall in Herefordshire, into Britain's first stately home commune.

Unusual catch

CASTLER, England (UPI) — Fisherman Richard Saunders, 52, routinely pulled in his nets and stared at his catch in horror.

One net contained a plastic bag holding a man's head.

"I was so shocked I let it slip back into the water," Saunders said.

But he gave a detailed description to Norfolk police, who immediately began a murder inquiry. A spokesman said they had nothing else to go on, not even a missing persons report.

Well-dressed bandits steal jewels, money

NEW YORK (UPI) — Six polite and well-dressed men strolled into the luxury Regency Hotel Sunday as if they owned it. About two hours later, police said, they owned the contents of 41 of the hotel's safe deposit boxes.

Police said they had no idea of the monetary value of the cash, bonds and jewels taken, but one officer said, "It had to be a lot. That hotel don't lock up fast."

The bandits, all dressed in suits, strolled through the revolving doors of the hotel in the early hours Sunday, pulled guns and politely ordered 24 guests and five hotel employees into the Regency Cocktail Lounge just off the lobby.

Police said two of the bandits then waited on the guests, serving them drinks, while the other four punched out the locks of 41 safe deposit boxes. Police said 125 boxes were left intact.

Pollution fighter's plans examined

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Homeowners of the future may drive submarines, wear aquaplanes and flippers and live in undersea cottages if research conducted by a University of Texas architect is successful.

Wolf Hilbertz, associate professor of architecture, is developing technology for producing materials to build undersea homes and storage areas for humans.

Scientists mainly employ land-based technology to build marine structures, but Hilbertz uses processes similar to those of lower marine organisms, which utilize the energy and materials surrounding them to build their protective formations. He literally "grows" building materials as do shellsfish or corals.

In the process, minerals are deposited on the surface of electrically charged submerged metal forms, such as wire mesh. The electrical current sets off a chemical reaction that causes the minerals to adhere to the wire and eventually completely cover the mesh.

"In the past there have been proposals by many architects and planners to expand growing cities into the sea, for example, for Tokyo Bay," Hilbertz said. "All these approaches have been derived from land-based technologies which are improper and uneconomical.

The deposit of calcium carbonate created around the wire mesh, is as solid as lightweight concrete, according to Hilbertz. Hilbertz plans to use computers to "custom tailor" the material and to balance and operate the system, which operates inexpensively using "chicken wire" or wire mesh and low D.C. current.

A computer could regulate the flow of electricity to determine the porosity of the material and could create a layer of very porous insulating material on the inside of the walls.

Some of the early experiments have been used successfully as artificial reefs and he hopes the structures soon may be used for underwater storage facilities.

"It doesn't appear that the electrical current has any effect on seafife in the area," he said.

Deerhunter shoots gunman

RANKIN, Tex. (UPI) — A deer hunter who shot and killed a gunman standing over the body of a slain highway patrolman "ought to be given a medal," a district attorney said today.

Authorities said Department of Public Safety patrolman Sammy Long, 28, was shot at least 10 times by the assailant, who was the driver of a stolen pickup truck. The DPS said Long had stopped the pickup Sunday for an apparent traffic violation.

The gunman was standing over the face-down body of the officer, firing into his back when the deer hunter killed him, the DPS said.

The names of the assailant and the deer hunter were not available.

Upton County District Attorney Aubrey Edwards said no charges would be filed against the deer hunter.

"He came upon an offense being committed and was trying to stop it and he ought to be given a medal in my opinion," said Edwards.

DPS Capt. John Mason said Long stopped his assailant after a high speed chase on U.S. 67, three miles east of Rankin in West Texas.

Mason said the deer hunter and his son, returning to their home in San Angelo, Tex., from a New Mexico hunting trip, saw the trooper's car pursuing the pickup truck.

"As they went by they saw the trooper start running towards the back of the vehicle. They pulled in a roadside park and looked back and saw the officer on the ground with the suspect standing over him, shooting him," said Mason.

"One of them took a deer rifle and fired from 100 to 150 yards away, hitting the suspect at least once."

Mason said the pickup truck the assailant was driving was stolen in San Francisco last week. The DPS said the gunman carried no identification.

Edwards said the gunman shot Long with a .32-caliber pistol and with the trooper's own gun.

"I think evidence will show Long was shot about 10 times, some of them with his own gun," said Edwards.

Long, who lived in McCarney, Tex., had been a DPS officer for 18 years. He is survived by his widow and a son.

Electric chair built

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Dan Hottel, a Junior in Walter O'Bryant's law enforcement class, completed what must be the most macabre project ever at Scarlet Oaks Vocational School.

Hottel built a fullsize electric chair, perfect in every detail to the real one at the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility in Lucasville except for the plug, which is of a type that cannot be inserted into any conventional outlet.

Hottel's chair was displayed during National Law Enforcement Week last month, and now sits covered by a tarpaulin in a classroom corner.

"The Bar Association in Cincinnati asked us to do it for a display at Tri-County Shopping Center," said O'Bryant, a former Warren County sheriff's deputy.

Lebanon's independence marked under Arab guns

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Lebanese celebrated the 33rd anniversary of their independence from France today with appeals for reconciliation and hard work to reconstruct the country from the ruins of a year and a half of civil war.

Beirut newspapers banned the celebration of independence in order to rebuild the nation's shattered institutions and economy.

Sarkis declared the celebration of independence the top concern at the moment, coming seven hours after the independence day was marked in peace — but under an Arab League army whose sweep into the seaports of Tripoli, and Sidon almost completed a total occupation of the country.

Attention, however, shifted to the south near the border with Israel, the only area the peacekeeping troops have not yet entered.

Leftist reports from the south charged that Israeli and Christian rightist forces Sunday shelled southern Moslem-leftist and Palestinian-held villages, killing two persons in the town of Bint Jubel.

Sarkis, meanwhile, was faced with the difficult task of collecting heavy weapons from the rival Lebanese militias.

Arab army has separated them and occupied areas the various groups used to control.

"The coming phase set for the withdrawal of heavy weapons is the most important issue in the series of steps that must be taken now," said the leftist newspaper Al Moutaharrir.

BUCHAREST, Romania (UPI) — U.S. Commerce Secretary Elliot L. Richardson and President Nicolae Ceausescu held a round of wide-ranging talks today just hours before the arrival in Romania of Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev.

The 40-minute meeting with the Romanian Communist leader came less than 24 hours after Richardson signed an unprecedented trade agreement with Romania described as the most comprehensive pact of its kind the United States ever has concluded with an east European country.

The Romanian Communist leader came less than 24 hours after Richardson signed an unprecedented trade agreement with Romania described as the most comprehensive pact of its kind the United States ever has concluded with an east European country.

U.S. officials said they did not attach special significance to the coincidental visits of Richardson and Brezhnev but added the Romanians made it clear Ceausescu wanted to see the Americans stress the importance of U.S.-Romanian relations despite the Russian's imminent arrival.

The Republican cabinet member met earlier with Stefan Andrei, a Communist party secretary for foreign affairs, and among other topics discussed the incoming administration of President-elect Jimmy Carter, a U.S. spokesman said.

Richardson, the spokesman said, was asked about the new administration and "stressed his belief there will be a continuity on the major lines of American foreign policy, especially in U.S.-Romanian relations." He described the talks as cordial.

Iran's shah, Kuwait aide push 15% oil price hike

By United Press International — Two members of the international oil cartel say they believe an increase in the price of oil is justified because of the inflationary increases in the price of industrialized goods their nations import.

Both Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi of Iran and a top Kuwait government official said Sunday they believed a price hike would not seriously damage the world's economy, as Western leaders are warning.

The 13-member Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries is scheduled to meet Dec. 15 in the Persian Gulf state of Qatar and most members are on record supporting price increases ranging from 10 to 40 percent.

In Tehran, the Shah said in an interview with the Middle East Report that Iran will support a 15 percent price increase despite Western fears that such an increase would wreck the global economic balance and spur inflation.

"Because, when we increased the oil price in 1973 four-fold, the effect on American inflation was one half of one per cent, 1.5 percent in Europe, so 15 percent now is just a fraction in one quarter of one per cent," he said.

The Shah said oil prices should be linked to the inflationary increases in the price of industrial goods imported by his country and other oil producing nations.

In Kuwait, State Minister for Cabinet Affairs Abdel Aziz Hussein said oil exporting countries will not allow industrial countries to dictate oil prices to them.

"We have no wish to harm or sabotage the world economy," Hussein said. "Our policy is to balance the increases in the price of industrial goods."

"Why are oil exporters being asked to sell their oil cheaply while the great powers sell their industrial goods at whatever price they want?" Hussein asked.

Hussein said that he was not aware that the Dec. 15 OPEC meeting would be postponed or delayed.

Recent Western reports have suggested that the conference would be postponed for a few days to avoid clashing with the 27-nation Conference on Industrial and Economic Cooperation being held in Paris at the same time.

Arab oil sources have said a final decision on the oil price hike will hinge on the progress of the Paris talks between Third World and industrialized nations.

Hussein asked.

Israel wins seat

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — The U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization overcame Soviet and Arab objections today and admitted Israel to its European region.

The 141-member general conference approved Israel's entry into Europe by acclamation.

A working UNESCO commission also overwhelmingly endorsed proposals, which had firm American and European backing, to establish a new global order for news distribution between rich and poor countries. The vote was 73-0 with three absents.

Although they did not specifically vote against Israel's inclusion into Europe, Communist and Arab nations later read their objections into the official record.

East Germany said that the Soviet bloc objected to Israel because "culturally and geographically" it was not part of Europe. Similar objections were voiced by Syria, Iraq and Cuba.

UNESCO's refusal to admit Israel to its European region two years ago led the United States to cut off its contributions to UNESCO.

New denial

TOKYO (UPI) — Former Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka has declared his innocence of charges that he took $1.66 million in bribes from the Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

Tanaka, who is running for his old seat in Parliament while under indictment on the charges, said in a radio address Sunday he considered the campaign a popular referendum on the bribery case.

It was Tanaka's second public reference to Lockheed since he launched his campaign last week for re-election to the key lower house of Parliament.

Resort attacked

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Palestinian commandos fired Soviet-made rockets across the Lebanese border into the Israeli coastal resort of Nahariya Sunday, breaking an eight-month period of relative quiet in the border region.

The Katyusha rockets damaged buildings and knocked down telephone and electric lines but no one was injured. Israeli artillery returned the fire, the military command said.

Nahariya, a town of 30,000 that sprawls along the Mediterranean four miles from the border, was settled largely by refugees from Nazi Germany who turned it into a honeymoon capital with beachfront hotels and horse-drawn carriages.

Military sources said the army went on special alert along the border.

The exchange came as Defense Minister Shimon Peres warned Syria and the Palestinians that Israel would not tolerate the presence of any hostile force in southern Lebanon, the only part of the nation yet to be occupied by the Syrian-dominated peacekeeping force.

"Israel will not suffer threats on the northern border by any foreign military force and will oppose any military gathering," Peres said in a speech to Jewish fundraisers from Britain.

Cops 'n' robbers drama unfolds

Chicago Daily News
CHICAGO—For 19 minutes, a deadly bank robbery in Criminal Court, Benjamin S. ...
In television dramas, the bad guy will lead police on a fierce chase, exchange a few shots at close range, and eventually get it between the eyes from a determined cop balancing his magnifying revolver on his elbow while steering at breakneck speeds with his other hand.
In real life, it isn't like that. The chase of Homer Lee Collier began at Roosevelt and Walsh, according to Asst. State's Atty. Greg Schlessinger. This, according to Schlessinger, is what happened: Collier gets angry at Craig Few, a newspaper truck driver, for blocking his way. The two men exchange words. Collier produces a pistol. Few runs into a drugstore to call police.

As police pull up, Collier drives off. Few hops in his delivery truck to follow. Police follow. The chase is on.
Few gets in the way of the police, cutting them off. They get angry in the ensuing traffic tangle. Few and police fall behind. New police cars take up the chase.
"Emergency! Emergency! Shots fired at the police!" yells an excited policeman into his radio during the chase, now south of 34th Street on State.

Hearing on docket

JEROME A preliminary hearing is scheduled Tuesday at 10 a.m. for Gilbert Flores, 34, a former charged with second degree murder in the shooting death of Manuel C. Flores, 32, a chamberly. Flores was asked for the preliminary hearing when he was arraigned last week in Jerome. Magistrate (Jesse) ...
He also is charged with assault with intent to commit murder in connection with the shooting of a 37-year-old Wendell woman who was shot in the leg in the same incident which killed Mr. Solis.
The shooting occurred last weekend in the Northern Tavern in Jerome. The Wendell woman was taken to St. Benedict's hospital where she is in good condition.

Solar energy coming right along

BOISE—If you ever magnified sunlight to burn leaves or laid down on concrete to warm up after a swim, you should not be surprised to learn that you can save $100 or more from your annual electric bill by letting the sun be your hot water heater.
According to Idaho Power Co., the Idaho family of four uses electricity to heat water at the average monthly rate of 400-500 kilowatts—or $7 to $8. At this rate, many solar water heating systems will pay for themselves in two to five years, essentially doing their job for free thereafter.

There is really no mystery to this technology. Solar water heaters were common in Florida in the 1950s and are readily found in countries like Australia, New Zealand, Japan, Israel and Saudi Arabia. The technique is tried, proven and available for use in your home.

Some systems are more elegant than others, and consequently more expensive, ranging up to $1,000 or even twice that installed. But persons willing to build their own, reliable systems capable of supplying 90 percent of a typical family's needs are available for one-tenth that cost.

The May 1976 issue of "Popular Science" describes five different home-made systems that range in cost from $150 to $300. Built by Nebraska John Snell, the former includes a collector made from 600 aluminum beer cans and is expected to pay for itself in less than two years. The latter, which started as a do-it-yourself project and grew into a full-time solar distributorship for Ron Hamann of Florida, expects to recover in about three years.

"Popular Science" article includes addresses of the five inventors, to whom one can write for plans or answers to specific questions, as well as a review of several commercial solar water heating systems.

One commercial solar water heating system available locally is the Hitachi, distributed in Boise by Cliff Marchbanks, owner of Sun Glow Alternative Energy Systems. The Hitachi system retails for $532.

For $3 "RAIN Magazine," 1220 N.W. Irving Street, Portland, Ore. 97204 will send a 15-page photo-illustrated manual that lists instructions, tools and materials necessary to build a $50 to $500 solar water heating system which is adaptable to existing gas or electric water heaters.

Members of Seattle's Ecotone Group, a non-profit organization that applies appropriate technology to various renewable energy uses, like solar greenhouses and "dairy farm" methane digester systems, have conducted workshops in Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Nevada and throughout Montana, teaching interested persons how to build the solar water heating system described in this manual.

Persons interested in designing their own system, published in 1974 for $4.50 by the Portland Institute, the same organization that gave us the "Whole Earth Catalogue," gives simple but thorough explanations of the principles and materials involved.

The "Primer" is an access to energy from renewable sources: solar, wind, water and biofuels organic wastes. Besides explanations and instruction, the "Primer" includes selected bibliographies and reviews of existing technology.
As the "Primer" explains, a solar water heater basically consists of a collector and a storage tank. The collector absorbs and traps heat from the sun's rays. Either water or air passing through the collector transfers this heat to the storage tank, from which the home can draw all or most of its hot water on all but overcast, foggy days.

A collector can be nothing more complicated than a sheet of metal roofing, painted black, covered with vinyl, insulated and sealed in a wooden frame. So long as the storage tank is placed high enough above the collector, usually "enough" is when the tank bottom is one foot above the collector top, cool water from the tank will displace by convection the sun-heated water in the collector.

This "thermosiphon" system, the simplest and most reliable, continually circulates water downward from the bottom of the tank and upward through the collector into the top of the tank. With a four-foot by eight-foot collector set in a sunny, shadeless location, this system will heat 60-90 gallons per day, at temperatures ranging from 165 degrees Fahrenheit in the summer to 115 degrees Fahrenheit on a cold winter day.

Glass is usually more effective and durable than vinyl, and in very cold climates, double glazing is preferred. The vinyl or glazing should be spaced approximately one inch from the collector plate, and the collector should face southeast or southwest, tilted at an angle equal to the latitude plus 10 degrees.

For Boise, Twin Falls and Pocatello, this angle is approximately 32.5 degrees and ranges from 32.5 degrees throughout Southern Idaho. In Central Idaho the angle ranges from 35-37 degrees, and in Northern Idaho it ranges from 56 degrees at Lewiston to 59 degrees at the Canadian border.

All piping and the storage tank should be insulated. In an air system, the air-flow space should be between the back of the collector plate and the insulation so that both surfaces can help heat the air. Paint both sides of the metal plate black, enabling the top to absorb heat and the bottom to radiate it, and insulate the tank with river gravel. The rock will absorb the air's heat, store it and radiate it to the water in the tank.

In more sophisticated systems, pumps or fans can force the circulation of water or air, and thermostats will control the flow through the collector, automatically turning the system on when temperatures in the tank are below those in the collector or off when this situation is reversed.

As these forced-circulation systems shut off, gravity drains water back into the insulated tank, where it cannot freeze. Thermosiphon systems can prevent freezing by using a water antifreeze solution.

Parent child's first teacher

By ROY TRUBY
Idaho Superintendent of Public Instruction

BOISE — A child's first and foremost teacher is the parent. That is as it has always been and is likely to remain. Research shows that a child's peers hold second place in influence over his or her life and teachers hold third place. That's not to say teachers don't have a powerful influence — teachers do. But the child is influenced more at home where he or she has received love and affection and guidance since the first day of life. Parents hold sway later, especially during adolescence.

Parents as the primary influence do much to foster a child's success or failure in school. Research on families of children who are successful in school reveals five common behaviors in their parents:

- They read to their children and provide reading materials in the home.
- They willingly talk with their children.
- They allow less TV watching, and never during dinner which is a prime time for conversation.
- They provide stimulating games.
- They use praise and encouragement for reward rather than money.
- I have some guidelines of my own, based more on my experience as a parent and a teacher than on experience as state superintendent of public instruction. I have a dozen suggestions which I believe will help your children and mine to develop both in school and at home:

- 1) Develop an appreciation for books. This can be done in many ways... set up a library shelf in the child's room... make regular trips in the library... visit the bookstore if you have one... have a family rule that books are always included as one gift for Christmas or birthdays.
- 2) Read. Let your child see you read. Children learn by imitation. And read to your child often. Make it a good experience, rather than just a lesson in phonics. It's important to sound out words, but it's also important to read good children's literature in the home to your children, and to read for your own pleasure.
- 3) Accept your children as they are. Seek out strengths and capabilities in your children, and don't forget to praise them when they do well. Avoid comparing your children. Children compare themselves enough without our making additional comparisons.
- 4) Play games with your children that require concentration. Often games can help increase basic skills in math, reading and vocabulary.
- 5) Have good conversations at the dinner table with thoughtful questions, but don't make it a question-and-answer series. Be a good listener.
- 6) Have some private time with each child. Give each child an opportunity to discuss his private thoughts which he may not discuss with other family members.
- 7) Control TV. Limit the time that the TV is on to no more than two hours a night — and assist your child in picking out good TV programs. Talk about the shows.

B) Take your child places with you. Early experience in reading and math can develop from shopping trips. You may also take trips to points of interest such as museums.

planetariums, art displays and sporting events.
D) Let your child make decisions. He can decide how to spend his allowance... how to celebrate a birthday... what to wear.

Fall concert due Tuesday

TWIN FALLS — The annual fall concert of the Twin Falls High School Music Department, featuring choirs, the symphony band and chamber and concert chorale, will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium.

Richard Smack will direct the choral group and Del Slaughter the symphony orchestra and band. Ted Hatley will direct the choir.

Each of the four groups will present four to five selections during the evening. Lisa Savidge and Dennis McCracken will provide accompaniment for the choral group and Zoe Rasmussen for the concert choir.

Numbers by the Choral will include "Choose Something Like a Star from Frostiana" by Randall Thompson; "Ave Verum Corpus K. 618" by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart; "Kum Be Yah," arranged by Ed Lojeski; "American Folk Trilogy," Roger Neuman.

Concert Choir offerings will include "The Loosesome Dove," arranged by Albert Graeder; "Lebenslust (Joy of Living)" Franz Schubert; "Ching-a-Ling" Chou; Aaron Copeland; "Auction Cries," John Biggs.

Symphony band numbers include "Austrian Dance and Military March No. 2," Franz Schubert; "Suite Provencale," Darius Milhaud; "A Wind River Portrait," Jared Spears; "Festa Mora," Joaquin Turina and "Just You 'N Me," James Pankow.

Miss Stites became bride of Eslinger

TWIN FALLS — Suzanne Stites, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Stites, Twin Falls, became the bride of Danny Eslinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Eslinger, Kimberly, in a double-ring ceremony Nov. 7 at the First Christian Church.

Rev. Dorral Campbell performed the ceremony. Lee Ann Harney, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Denise Grant, Deella Arvanstokis and DeAnn Bittel, all sisters of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids.

Jeff Robbins, friend of the bridegroom, was best man. Frank Richter, Carlos Grant and Jeff McIntosh were groomsmen.

Harry Stites, brother of the bride, and Kelly Eslinger, brother of the bridegroom, were candlelighters.

Jamie Earl was ringbearer, Machelie Eslinger was flower girl and Debbie Hall sat at the guest book.

A reception was held at the church following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with white linens over blue. In the center of the table was a bridge cake with a fountain of blue flowing water. The cake was trimmed with tiny blue flowers and topped with white doves.

Penny Earl cut and served the cake while Jamie Lancaster, Pearl Nelson and Helen Wilkins served coffee and punch.

The couple took a ten-day honeymoon to Lake Tahoe and San Francisco. They will reside near Kimberly where the bridegroom is engaged in farming.

Out-of-town guests attended from Seattle and Denver and Boise, Alma, Paul and Blackfoot.

Marcille Nelson, Ellis to be married Dec. 17

PAUL — Mr. and Mrs. DeVon C. Nelson of Paul wish to announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Marcille, to Pvt. L. C. Dave A. Ellis.

The marriage will take place Dec. 17 in the Ogden, Utah, LDS Temple with a reception that evening at the Emerson Ward LDS Church, Paul.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Minto High School and Ricks College. She served a church mission in the Eastern States and is employed at Cassia Memorial Hospital as a medical secretary.

Her fiancé, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Robert Ellis of Eden, graduated from Valley High School and served a church mission in Japan and attended CSI for several years. Ellis is now stationed at Ft. Lewis, Wash., serving in the U.S. Army infantry division.

The couple plans to make their home in Tacoma, Wash.

Ask the Experts

A Florida reader asks about the new skip-bid warning. This applies in duplicate or tournament bridge only. Before making a jump bid the player, so doing, may announce: "I am making a skip bid." If he does this, the next player must wait 10 seconds before acting. If the next player fails to wait, the tournament director may be asked to monitor the hand to see that no advantage is taken by the time of the offender.

IUDs increase miscarriage risk

BOSTON (UPI) — The risk of death during spontaneous abortion is greater among women who wear intrauterine birth-control devices during pregnancy, according to an article in the New England Journal of Medicine.

The article is based upon an analysis of all reported deaths from infectious due to spontaneous abortions between 1972 and 1974. In 1974, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration recommended physicians remove the IUDs during pregnancy because of indications of complications.

Dr. William Cates Jr. of the federal Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, one of the article's authors, said the current study reinforces the wisdom of that recommendation. He said it isn't meant to discredit the IUD as a birth-control device.

"It's a great device," Cates said. "We just want to emphasize that women who have symptoms of pregnancy while wearing an IUD should go to a doctor. If the woman is pregnant, she should have it removed."

The article said 17 deaths during the study period involved spontaneous abortions among women with IUDs in place. It said this is 50 times the death rate among women not wearing such devices while pregnant who suffered spontaneous abortions.

"The increased risk of death for a pregnant woman with an IUD in place supports the current clinical recommendation that the device should be removed when the pregnancy is first diagnosed," the authors said. "If the IUD cannot be removed, interruption of pregnancy should be offered as an option. If the patient elects to maintain the pregnancy with the IUD in place, she should be warned of the increased risk."

Boller to lead Hailey mom march

HAILEY — Mary Boller has been chosen chairman of the Blaine County Mothers March on Birth Defects.

Each year every January for the past 26 years, the neighborhood campaign is sponsored by the March of Dimes. "The voluntary health organization uses the funds for programs aimed at prevention of birth defects — our nation's number one child health problem."

"Alarming for the day when all children can be born free from the threat of birth defects, the March of Dimes funds numerous research programs," Mrs. Boller says. "They also support special maternal/infant health care, genetic services, public and professional health education and community services."

Volunteers are needed for the Mothers March. Anyone interested in helping should contact Mary Boller at 788-4331.

Homemaking tips aid holiday joy

By DORSEY CONNORS
 Chicago Sun-Times

Here are a few tips that will help the turkey cooker better enjoy the holiday.

—If you're having several people risk each one to prepare a vegetable dish, cranberries, or dessert. If you do all the cooking, serve a limited number of dishes in large quantities.

—Start freezing extra ice cubes and store them in plastic bags.

—Sharpen all those carving and paring knives.

—Prepare as much food in advance as you can, and freeze it. Allow 24 hours in the refrigerator for thawing. You can then heat it in the oven after the turkey is done.

—If you're short on time Thanksgiving Day, you can save about 30 minutes by roasting the bird unstuffed. Bake the stuffing in casserole dishes.

—Serve a raw vegetable tray of cauliflower buds, small tomatoes, carrot and zucchini sticks, with the dip of equal parts of mayonnaise and sour cream, laced with curry. By doing this, you can eliminate a salad.

—Serve preheated rolls or bread sticks. Then, you won't need bread and butter plates.

—Serve dessert and coffee in the living room, so your helpers can clear the table. Tell your helpers to scrape and rinse dishes and to place all the flatware in warm, sudsy water to soak.

—Store leftovers in foil pans for easy reheating.

Dear Dorsey: It was suggested in your column that we save those squeeze margarine bottles to use as containers for cooking oil and syrup. I'd like to share my uses for them. I buy shampoo including baby shampoo in large economy sizes. I also buy liquid detergent and catsup in the large sizes. All of these I transfer to the margarine bottles for easier handling. With little effort, many pennies are saved.

Chili featured at Bether 43 meeting

TWIN FALLS — Both 43 of the International Order of Job's Daughters met Wednesday evening at the Masonic Temple.

A chili supper preceded the meeting. Chili makers were Gladys Griffin, Casey Wright, Esta Barlogi and Barbara Fuller. Serving were Lynn Wood, Dorothy Pefferle, Caroline Pence, Barbara Hall, Barbara DePee and Coleen Tickner.

The meeting honored parents, guardians, Masons and Eastern Star members. The mother's, father's and guardian's prayer was given by Julie Pence.

Reports on visits to other Bethels were given by Lisa Pefferle, Jerome, Claudia Van Patten, Halley, Shanna Pefferle, Rupert, and Julie Pence, Glenns Ferry.

"Go to Church Sunday" was reported on by Kelly Long and she reported that after breakfast served at the Masonic Temple by Eastern Star Chapter 42, the girls attended the First Christian Church and an offering was given for the new building fund.

Invitations to other installations were received and read from Gooding, Idaho

Spanish shaking off controls imposed during Franco's 40-year regime

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — Since Generalissimo Francisco Franco died on Nov. 20, 1975, Spain has undergone deep change. As politicians still haggle over the terms of converting the authoritarian structures of the Franco regime into a democracy, events appear to have overtaken them. The 35 million Spaniards are not willing — they already are shaking off the controls imposed during Franco's 40-year rule. The biggest change is that the spoken and printed words is now virtually free. The process has been aided by the government of politically liberal King Juan Carlos, 38. Pledged to setting up a functioning democracy by next year, the government tolerates many activities still banned by Franco era laws. As a result, there has been a tremendous outpouring of ideas and demands. At the last count, political parties number 430 — most of them still illegal and only a few with a substantial following. "A veritable alphabet soup," said former Interior Minister Manuel Fraga Iribarne, himself the leader of two rightist groups known by their initials, RD and AP. Next year's first free elections in 41 years are expected to cut the number down to manageable size, as happened in neighboring Portugal. Spanish attitudes are changing not only in politics, but in fields as diverse as labor relations and sex. Feminist groups campaign for contraceptives, divorce and abortion — all banned under Franco. They also campaign for an abolition of a law, which punishes convicted adulteresses by up to five years in jail, but lets unfaithful husbands go free. Strikes and street protests — most of them illegal, but tolerated in many cases — reflect the growing political militancy of millions of Spaniards and an impatience that often ignores the damage they cause to Spain's ailing economy. Youngsters, in turn, find a new togetherness in open air rock and protest song festivals, which were banned under Franco. There is a new flourishing of the arts, so long hemmed in by Western Europe's once most rigid censorship and the old regime's distrust of intellectuals — Spain's greatest contemporary artists, including painter Pablo Picasso, sculptor Pablo Casals, poet Rafael Alberti and film director Luis Buñuel all lived in exile. Now those who have survived Franco are coming back. Moviegoers flocked to Charlie Chaplin's 36-year-old classic "The Great Dictator," when it was finally released after Franco's death. Now they are queuing to see "Songs for After a War" — a spoof on the regime, which director Basilio Martin Palomo made five years ago and hid for the day it could be shown. "Life has become more interesting and Spain is a better place to live," says former Diez de Rivera who, in his own way, symbolizes the changes that have occurred. "Blonde, blue-eyed Miss Diez, 33. Looks like a top fashion model. She also happens to be

Premier Adolfo Suarez's chief of staff, which makes her the highest ranking woman in the administration. And to round out this — for Spain at least — in a highly unusual combination, she blends an aristocratic background with a frankly admitted espousal of Western European style Socialist ideas. "Now," she says, "Spaniards are more alive, they are not frightened to speak. There is much curiosity, they want to find out. "True, Spain is still full of conflict — but the conflicts are no longer suppressed, they are out in the open. And there is a new solidarity that will help solve the problems." Not everybody agrees with Miss Diez. One look at the graffiti appearing on housewalls and in subway stations show that some Spaniards regard the past with nostalgia. "Under Franco we lived better," says one frequent slogan. "We had peace. And trouble makers were put against the wall," says Juan Navarro, a 35 year-old electrician. "Under Franco, those willing to work could improve their lot. I built up my own business. Now it's all talks and strikes and the economy is going to hell."

There are other changes. El Pardo Palace, from where Franco ran the nation with an iron hand, has been turned into a museum. For the price of an 8-cent ticket the curious can view glass closets full of his uniforms and other memorabilia. Tens of thousands of Spaniards have visited the 17-ton slab of marble under which Franco is buried in the basilica of the Valley of the Fallen, a civil war monument.

Schools ask Carter for more funding

CHICAGO (UPI) — Leaders of the nation's 27 largest school systems called on the federal government Saturday for more funding and a broader approach to school desegregation.

Ending a three-day conference, Nalam Estes, vice president of the Council of the Great City Schools, asked that the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare become "partners in the desegregation process rather than adversaries." The council is asking that desegregation be based on populations in metropolitan areas rather than city populations. With minorities concentrated mainly in cities, the larger population figure would give city schools more leeway in meeting integration guidelines. Estes, public schools superintendent for Dallas, Tex., outlined a tentative council platform which includes a proposal for 10 per cent funding by the federal government of large city school budgets in 1978 and 25 per cent funding during 1979.

"Priority should be given to the funding of mandated programs and those programs which meet the needs of economically, physically or educationally disadvantaged children," the tentative platform stated. It said divvying tax bases should be taken into consideration. The proposed platform also urged relaxing of government controls on local school systems and the creation of a special cabinet position to deal only with education. Council president Paul Tierney, a Boston school board member, said the officials voted to approve the platform "in concept" but that the final writing of the document will not be completed for about two weeks.

A Tribute To Our Dentists

by JACK WARBERG

Wittily it has been said that dentists are the men who put teeth in our longer-life expectancy. How true that is, every man and woman in this community knows. Your dentist is a sincere specialist. Oral hygiene is his life's work. He knows the bone structure and diseases of your teeth as scientifically as your physician knows the most sensitive tissues of your body. Equipment with years of schooling and practice, not to mention his considerable investment in most modern instruments for dental surgery, your dentist is a contributor to your health and happiness. See him at least twice a year!

Solons have 'til Nov. 30 for custom-free gifts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Undersecretary Jerry Thomas said Friday 100 junketing members of Congress have until Nov. 30 to get their gifts back into the country without paying Customs duties. Thomas said he signed an order to repeal a 68-year-old regulation permitting members of Congress to save thousands of dollars in taxes ordinary American tourists must pay on returning to U.S. shores.

"When I discovered through news reports that this privilege seems to have been abused, I wanted to end it immediately," Thomas said. But the undersecretary said he was told by the State Department that more than 100 members of Congress on overseas junkets had already been given duty-free status.

"We couldn't pop it on them," Thomas said. "But we are giving them due notice that Dec. 1 is the deadline." The Treasury Department took action to repeal the regulation following news reports that Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., and William Scott, R-Va., brought $4,000 worth of gifts home from a fact-finding mission to Asia in 1975. On further investigation, Thomas said, he discovered that Thurmond and Scott were not the only junketeering congressmen who had used the loophole to save hundreds of dollars in taxes. Thurmond and Scott denied any wrongdoing in bringing home oriental statuary, rugs and jewelry from their 1975 mission to Asia on business of the Senate Armed Forces Committee. Thomas said members of Congress were not the only ones to use the duty-free regulation adopted in 1908. He said similar privileges were extended to spouses and aides of the congressmen. "I feel members of Congress would agree with the repeal of the exemption. Public officials should not be singled out as a privileged group for special tax exemption," Thomas said. Cabinet officers and other members of the federal government's executive branch had previously been included in the 1908 duty-free regulation. But their privileges were repealed through administrative procedures in 1963. A duty is a form of tax charged on an item brought from a foreign country into the United States, whether by a business or an individual. The amount of duty varies depending on the value of the goods involved.

Rupert seeks delay on impact area development

RUPERT — Rupert will ask for a 12-month extension on development of its area of urban impact.

The city council last week voted to ask for the extension because the city-county comprehensive plan has not been adopted and additional time is needed to consider the city's impact area.

"I don't think we should do anything until they (county commissioners) adopt the plan," Mayor Wendell Johnson said.

Councilman W. F. "Bill" Whitton said he does not believe the city has adequate time for proper planning of its impact area.

The state-mandated deadline for development of an impact area map is Jan. 1, 1977, but an extension can be granted up to Jan. 1, 1978, upon agreement by the city and county.

Minidoka County commissioners now have the comprehensive plan draft in hand and have expressed the hope that they can act on it and the impact area of the cities at the same time.

Paul's impact area proposal already has been presented to the commissioners with city approval and the needs of the county planning and zoning commissions. Heyburn's impact map is almost complete; the council last week decided to meet with its impact committee on possible extension of the southeastern boundary for about half a mile.

As Mayor Johnson pointed out, Rupert attempted two weeks ago to get started on its impact map. However, two councilmen were unable to attend a special meeting called for another public hearing and consideration of the impact areas.

David Abo, county planning coordinator, asked the council to recognize its zoning commission as the city planning body or to establish another body for that purpose.

He explained that "planning is a constant thing that goes on" and the planning body would have to review the city's plan, updating it and making additions to the plan and the city's zoning ordinances.

Contract awarded

WENDELL — Marvia Pierson, Gooding, has been awarded the contract to construct a new Wendell city stop, June Holm said today.

Pierson's bid of $18,155 for the 30-by-80-foot cinder block building was the lowest of four submitted at a special council meeting Thursday.

Other bidders were Clark and Becker, Gooding, $23,888.87; Arrington Brothers, Twin Falls, $22,624; and Jac-Lyn Construction Co., Jerome, $28,800.

Pierson said he hopes to have the project completed in 45 days. Work has already begun on the site, where the old farm labor camp once was located.

Three persons connected with the new Wendell Recreation District, Phyllis Bunn, John Thompson and Bill Groat, asked the City Council for cooperation with the new taxing district. Wendell area voters approved the district Nov. 9.

Councilman Lloyd Little said the council planned to support the group.

Clell Merrill received permission to have a portion of South Gooding Street closed. Vic Eckles, who wanted an entire block of another street closed, was referred to the city planning and zoning commission, the clerk said.

Bid opening today

PAUL — New bids were to be opened today on construction of a Minidoka County Highway District building at Paul.

Bids on the project originally were opened on Oct. 26, but failure to meet provisions of an amendment to the Idaho statutes requires the new call for bids.

The 1973 amendment requires a 10-per cent bond on all highway district construction projects except bridges which need a 5-per cent bond.

Two of the three Oct. 26 bidders posted 5 per cent bid bonds, while the other posted none. On advice of Larry Duff, attorney for the district, commissioners rejected all bids and set the new call.

The highway district also is preparing for improvement of 3.7 miles of the Paul Road. Major design features of the project were approved recently by the State Department of Transportation.

The improvement project would stretch north from the main drain, just north of the Paul city limits, to just north of 300 North Road along the existing roadway.

The road, which links Paul with state 24 to the north, is 22 feet wide. The construction would create a 34-foot width except for the last mile, which would be 28 feet wide.

The width is a compromise between the highway district and federal officials who wanted a minimum 32-foot width on the entire project to the Minidoka Rim.

The grade of the roadbed is to be 1 to 2 feet above the surrounding ground with the existing right-of-way widened from 50 to 60 feet by acquisition of five feet on each side.

Improvements in the existing drainage are planned to eliminate roadway flooding, particularly at the north end of the project.

Irrigation canals, laterals, drains, small ditches and siphons lying within the right-of-way are to be relocated and reconstructed with equal or better facilities.

Two Paul youths arrested

PAUL — Two Paul area teen-agers were arrested early Saturday in connection with a shooting at the Paul Labor Camp.

The victim was Adam Hernandez, 21, who lives at the labor camp. He was treated and released from Minidoka Memorial Hospital.

Minidoka County Sheriff's deputies said the two boys, ages 16 and 17, knocked on the door to Hernandez' apartment about 3:20 a.m. Saturday.

When Hernandez opened the door, the two juveniles began firing with 22 caliber pistols. Several shots were fired, but only one hit Hernandez, deputies said.

The shooting apparently stemmed from an argument which broke out at a party Friday night.

The two boys were arrested about 25 minutes after the shooting at one of the juveniles' homes. They were still in custody this morning.

Planners meet tonight

TWIN FALLS — Plan designers will unveil a more detailed map of the proposed Comprehensive Plan tonight in the planning office in the Old Hospital Building.

Dennis Petrequin, a member of the firm Stevens, Thompson & Runyan, Inc., said he will show the Twin Falls County Joint Planning Council an enlarged version of the map in the Comprehensive Plan document (see diagram) made available to the public last week.

The map shown tonight "will delineate a little more closely" what roads and streets in the county will be borders between different land uses, Petrequin said.

However, he warned, "We're still trying to keep it pretty general." The plan is only intended to be "a framework for development in the next 20 years," and therefore must be "flexible," he said.

The plan and accompanying background document released last week are the result of the spending of an estimated $100,000 and more than 3,000 man hours, according to City Manager Jean Miller, council member.

Hair raising

CASH REGISTER clerk Debbi Stilson went through this rather hair-raising experience Saturday as a part of Minidoka Market's 20th anniversary celebration. The Ketchum store gave away free helium-filled balloons and soft drinks, and sold more than 1,000 hotdogs for 10 cents apiece.

Cow killed

HEYBURN — A cow was struck and killed by a car near here Saturday night.

Beverly B. Clark, 26, Rupert, told a Minidoka County deputy sheriff she was driving along 500 West Road when she encountered the cow.

She said she saw something move on the left side of the road and pulled her car as far as she could to the right, but the cow crossed the road and walked into her path.

The deputy said a ditch on the right side of the road kept the driver from pulling any farther to the right.

Jerome man said fair

TWIN FALLS — Salvador Chavolla, 21, Jerome, was listed in fair condition today at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital where he is undergoing treatment in the intensive care unit following a traffic accident.

The young man suffered chest injuries when the vehicle he was driving crashed into two parked automobiles Thursday night in Twin Falls. He has been charged with involuntary manslaughter in the death of his passenger, Lanita M. Jenks, 18, also Jerome.

Theft reported

RUPERT — Goode Motors reported a theft from its impound lot early Saturday.

Rupert police received a report shortly after 4 a.m. Saturday that a tire, wheel and air cleaner had been taken from an impounded car stored on the lot.

Value of the items taken was listed at $135.

Rupert discusses ski packet

RUPERT — The possibility of an area ski packet is being discussed here.

Woody Anderson, manager of Pomerelle Ski Resort, told the Rupert Chamber of Commerce he would be happy to cooperate in development of a ski packet to include skiing at the resort, hotel rooms, possibly drinks and meals, and other needs of the visiting tourist.

Anderson said he would discuss the matter further with chamber officials.

The proposal was made by Lavonne Colbert, chamber secretary.

"We have things here we can develop," she told chamber members, "even if we only keep people here an extra day or two."

She suggested the area-wide packet for the slack season. She warned that the state tax commissioner is predicting Idaho will have a difficult financial period because of the depressed farm prices.

Anderson, who took over Pomerelle three years ago, called his operation "winter farming."

"We actually farm the snow," he remarked in likening the work to the agricultural production of the Mini-Cassia area.

He said tourists spend about $130 a day in new money for the community. He said skiing is "one of the better industries."

He said there are "no belching smoke stacks" and a need for added fire protection or enlarging of schools when a ski slope is developed.

Anderson urged support for paving of the Howell Canyon Road to Pomerelle.

"The road is in terrible shape," he said, suggesting that federal monies turned over to the counties under recent legislation might be used to help pay paving costs.

He said Mount Harrison receives a lot of summer activity, although it is dispersed and, therefore, not as visible as the congregated activity at Pomerelle in the winter.

He said the mountain draws hikers, campers, picnickers and fishermen and a road would help not only the resort, but "all the other users of Howell Canyon."

Anderson said ski injuries are down from when he took over the resort. He explained the lower injury incidence stems from better packing and maintenance of slopes and from the newer ski equipment of the past five years with shorter skis and more reliable bindings.

He said skiing today is safer than the family bathroom or getting into an automobile.

Despite his interest in attracting tourists to Pomerelle, Anderson said, the resort stresses "public community service participation for young people." He called skiing "good, clean, wholesome activity" that does not enter to drugs and alcohol use.

"Skiing is kind of a natural high," he said.

Board eliminates conflict

RUPERT — The Minidoka County Fair Board apparently has eliminated the long-standing conflict between the county fair and opening of school.

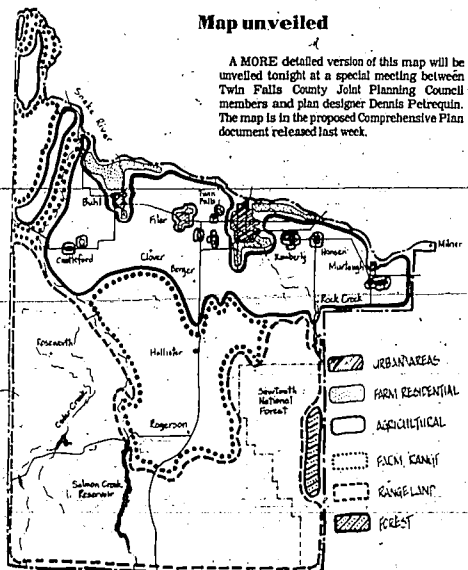

Minidoka board chairman Jude Lowery and board member Clyde Kendall received approval last week for the Minidoka County Fair to be held Aug. 24 to 27. Approval came at the state fair and rodeo association meeting in Lewiston.

The Minidoka County Fair traditionally has been held a week later, immediately preceding a Labor Day weekend horse racing schedule. The board sought the chance to avoid holding the fair during the first week of school in Minidoka County.

It had first asked the school board to open school a week later. Despite a board policy that fair activities be treated like any school activity, Minico High School students this year were charged with absences that counted toward their maximum (the same policy applies at Minico High on school activities).

Kendall said the fair board still must coordinate the date of its fat stock sale with Jerome County, which traditionally holds its fair the same week.

O. J. SIMPSON (32) blasts through the San Diego Chargers for more yards in their game Sunday. Simpson gained 118 yards but the Bills lost the game 34-13. (UPI)

Steelers defeat Oilers for sixth straight win

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Reggie Harrison, substiting for the injured Franco Harris, kicked three field goals Sunday to lead Pittsburgh to a 32-16 victory over the AFC Central Division rival Houston Oilers for the Steelers' sixth straight win. Rocky Bleier also scored a Pittsburgh touchdown on a 10-yard run and the Steeler defense provided a safety when Loren Towns blocked a Skip Butler punt and the ball rolled out of the end zone. The bullish Harrison, who went in when Harris suffered a slightly sprained ankle midway through the second period, scored both his touchdowns on one-yard hursts. Grete's field goals were from 37, 35 and 18 yards out. He added three extra points and his 12-point performance made him the NFL's 16th all-time leading scorer with 743 career points, ahead of Tommy Davis' 738. Rookie quarterback Mike Kruczek, who started in place of injured Terry Bradshaw, completed 11 of 13 passes with one interception for 132 yards to help the Steelers up their record to 7-1.

Raiders clinch AFC West

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Mark and Ken Egegh and Clarence Davis each scored a touchdown Sunday and led a bruising Oakland and rushing attack that gave the Raiders a 26-7 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles and their fifth straight AFC Western Division title. Van Egegh gained 133 yards in 21 carries and scored on a one-yard touchdown in the first quarter that put Oakland ahead for good. Davis added 73 yards in 13 carries and an 8-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter. The Raiders, who moved the ball at will in the first half but only had a 12-7 lead to show for it at intermission, pulled away in the third quarter when quarterback Ken Stabler hit Fred Biletnikoff on a 16-yard scoring pass. The Raiders also scored on Errol Mann's 32-yard field goal and registered a safety when Eagle punter Spike Jones fell on his own blocked punt enroute as Oakland posted its 10th win against one loss.

Dallas loss interesting to Vikings' Fran Tarkenton

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Detroit's 14-10 victory over Chicago Sunday didn't make any difference to Fran Tarkenton. It gave Minnesota the NFL's Central Division title, but Tarkenton said it doesn't change things for the Vikings the final weeks of the regular season. "Teams like the Green Bay Packers would continue to challenge them, and the Vikings would try to meet that challenge and win. The Vikings beat the Packers 17-10 Sunday. The Packers and Vikings were tied 10-10 when Detroit's victory was announced," and the Vikings appeared to gather some momentum after that. Tarkenton and the Vikings marched 100 yards in 11 plays to score on an 11-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Ahmad Rashad in the first two minutes of the fourth quarter.

"I tell you, I wasn't interested in that going whatsoever," Tarkenton said. "I was watching for the score of the Atlanta-Dallas game." Tarkenton said that if Detroit's victory was announced, he didn't hear it. Coach Bud Grant said he didn't hear it. Packer Coach Bob Storr said he didn't hear it. Tarkenton said he had his hands full with the Packer pass rush. "I thought their defense played better than any defense that's played against us this year," he said. "They were exceptionally good. I thought their defensive line was just exceptional. I think everybody tries to earn their reputation against a good team," he said. "You know, Atlanta beat Dallas today. I think the important thing is that we continue to meet the challenge that we continue to win."

When Tarkenton was asked how the NFC Central Division winners would approach their final three games against San Francisco, Green Bay and Miami, he said: "When we go out and play, nobody wants to be embarrassed. Everybody wants to do the best they can because that's what it's all about."

Chargers defeat hapless Buffalo Bills

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (UPI) — Dan Fouts threw first-half touchdown passes of 13 and five yards to wide receiver Charlie Joiner Sunday to spark the San Diego Chargers to a 34-13 victory over the Buffalo Bills in a lopsided game. The game was almost a comedy of errors as each team intercepted three passes, a bad snap from center gave Buffalo its only touchdown and fans chanted for a quarterback who has yet to throw as pass as a Bill. The Chargers are now 5-6, while the Bills fell to 2-9.

four-play drive that was highlighted by Fouts' completions of 29 and 32 yards to Pat Curran and Joiner respectively. Buffalo closed it to 7-3 on a 29-yard field goal by George Jakowenko at 7:29 of the first quarter, but on the ensuing San Diego drive, Fouts drove the Chargers from their own 28 before hitting Joiner for the five-yard scoring pass at 11:59 to put San Diego in front 14-3. Early in the second quarter, Mike Fuller returned a Buffalo punt 43 yards to the Bills' 44 and two plays later Fouts hit Joiner for the 12-yard TD pass to put San Diego in front 21-3. A 35-yard field goal at 12:52 of the second quarter and a

35-yard free kick field goal at the close of the first half by Ray Werseling put the Chargers ahead 27-10.

Blazers top Braves

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Pesky little guard Dave Twardzik scored 19 points as seven Trail Blazers hit double figures to lead Portland to a 121-98 win over Buffalo in an NBA basketball game Sunday.

game in three days. The loss put the Braves at 7-9 on the season.

Twardzik, along with Larry Steele, who came off the bench to score his 12 points in the second period, proved the difference as Portland won its 15th straight home game and ninth at home without a setback this season. The Braves are 9-4 and lead the Pacific Division. A 37-point spurt by the Blazers in the second period allowed Portland to pull away from a 27-27 first period tie to a comfortable 12-point lead at 64-52 by halftime. The contest was marked by a fistfight between Fred Foster of Buffalo and Portland rookie Wally Walker near the game's end. Each had been going at one another on defense and Foster punched Walker and was ejected from the game. The Portland defense swarmed the Braves and held high scoring Bob Stevens to but 14 points and only six of those came in the second half. In addition to Twardzik, other Blazers in double figures were Bill Walton with 16, Maurice Lucas 15, Bob Gross, Lonell Hollins, Herri Gilliam and Steele, all with 12. Randy Smith was high for Buffalo with 15. The Braves were "road weary," playing their third

Bengals-defeat KC Chiefs

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Tony Davis scored from one yard out with 4:28 to play Sunday to lift the Cincinnati Bengals, who lost five fumbles and an interception, to a 27-21 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs. The Bengals fifth straight victory.

Davis' run capped a 62-yard, five-play drive, kept alive when Chiefs defensive back Gary Barbato ran back by roughing the passer on an incomplete pass at the Kansas City 48. On the next play, quarterback Ken Anderson hit Bruce Coslet with a 32-yard pass at the one-yard line to set up the winning touchdown.

On the first play of the game, Archie Griffin raced 77 yards off left tackle for a touchdown to give Cincinnati a 7-0 lead, and the Bengals added a touchdown when Boobie Clark capped an 89-yard drive by breaking three tackles and running 18 yards up the middle late in the first period.

LA Rams stumble by 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Los Angeles Rams converted two pass interceptions and two fumbles into four of their points Sunday for a 23-3 victory over the San Francisco 49ers and a commanding 11-2 game lead in the NFC West.

Jim Youngblood and Monte Jackson intercepted passes by Jim Plunkett, and Rod Perry and Terry Nelson recovered fumbles that figured in the Rams' scoring as Los Angeles improved its record to 7-3-1 and all but eliminated the 49ers from the chase for a wild-card berth in the playoffs. San Francisco suffered its fourth

Broncos nip Giants

DENVER (UPI) — Quarterback Steve Ramsey threw two short touchdown passes, and Otis Armstrong rushed for 97 yards Sunday to lead the Denver Broncos to a 14-13 victory over the New York Giants.

The victory, achieved when the Giants place kicker Joe Danello had an extra point attempt on New York's first touchdown blocked, kept alive the Broncos' slim hopes for a wild-card slot in the National Football League playoff and improved their record to 7-4. The Giants fell further into the cellar with a 1-10 mark.

Browns defeat Bucs

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Brian Sipe hit Paul Warfield with a 15-yard touchdown pass in the third period and Joe Jones recovered a fumble for a fourth period score in leading Cleveland to a 21-7 victory over winless Tampa Bay Sunday, keeping alive the Browns' hope for a wild-card playoff berth.

Denver's first touchdown came on their first possession of the half in the opening quarter after a 42-yard kickoff return by Rick Upchurch. Ramsey then climaxed a 56-yard drive by hitting Haven Moses with a four-yard aerial.

Vikings clip Packers

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Fran Tarkenton threw two scoring passes, including an 11-yarder to Ahmad Rashad 44 seconds into the fourth quarter, and the Minnesota Vikings intercepted three passes to beat the Green Bay Packers 17-10 Sunday and clinch their fourth straight NFC Central title.

Ramsey, who was sacked four times in the game by the Giants' defense, also threw a four-yard scoring pass to Riley Odums early in the second quarter. The touchdown, Odoms' first of the year, followed a 33-yard Ramsey pass to Jack Dolbin and a 28-yard run by Armstrong.

The Browns got their first touchdown in the opening period when Cleo Miller went in from two yards out. The score was set up when Ken Stone was called for pass interference on Warfield at the 16:11 Miller scored on the next play.

The Vikings drove 88 yards for the winning score after the Packers had tied the game on John Brockington's one yard run as Minnesota won its eighth divisional crown in nine years.

Tackle Mike McCoy recovered a fumbled snap to set up Green Bay's only first half score, a 22-yard field goal, by Chester Marcol. Later in the first quarter, Minnesota's Nate Allen picked off a pass at the Vikings 45 and, nine plays later Fred Cox tied the score with a 41-yard field goal.

Dropped passes plagued both teams for most of the first half, although the Vikings penetrated to the Packers 27 midway through the second quarter.

Detroit Lions clip Bears

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — Greg Landry threw touchdown passes to Larry Walton and Ray Jarvis in the final 20 of the first half Sunday and the Detroit defense made it stand up to give the Lions a 14-10 victory over the Chicago Bears.

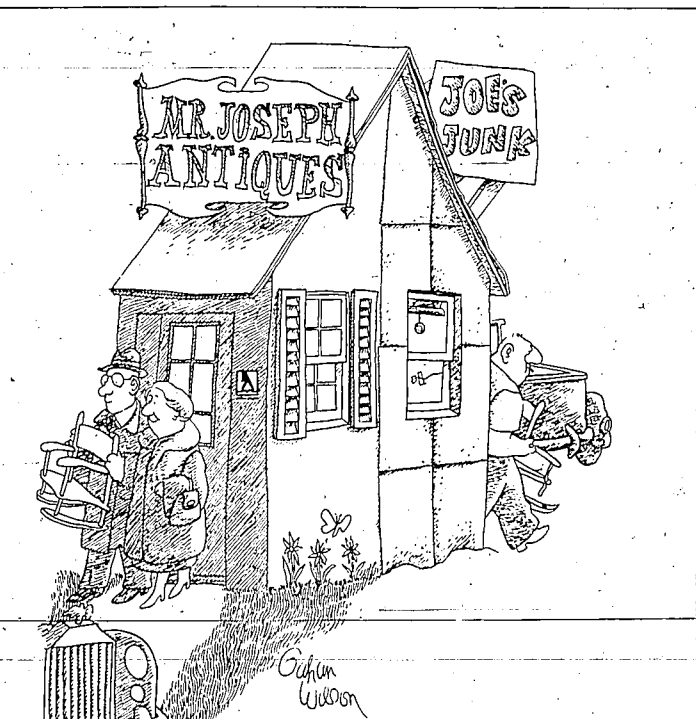

The loss ruined what faint playoff hopes the Bears had and gave them the same 5-7 record as the Lions, who still hope to finish second in the NFC Central Division for the eighth straight season.

Quarterback Bob Avellini, who missed his first eight passes of the second half, tried to mount a last-ditch drive with less than two minutes remaining following an interception by defensive tackle Wally Chambers on the Chicago 31 but a penalty and a deflection in the end zone by defensive back James Hunter saved the win for Detroit.

Landry, who had a string of four straight first-down games broken with a pair of interceptions, completed 15 of 27 passes for 167 yards and the two scores. He entered the game as the top passer in pro football.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

Tests Verify Taste

MERIT was taste-tested against current leading low tar brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of smokers were involved. The majority report: even if the cigarette tested had up to 60% more tar than MERIT, MERIT still delivered as much—or more—taste.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough.

Now smoke the cigarette.
