Carter out to sea aboard nuclear sub

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — President Carter went to sea today aboard the nuclear attack submarine Los Angeles, one of the nation's deadliest weapons, to inspect first-hand "the capabilities and limitations of our strategic force."

Carter and his wife, Rosalynn, stood atop the high sail (bridge) of the black, cigar-shaped boat as it was nursed from dock by two tugs at 9:15 a.m. EDT for a nine-hour Atlantic cruise — first such trip ever for a President.

"I'm glad to be aboard. I've been looking forward to it," said Carter, a Naval Academy graduate and former submariner. He was accompanied by Navy Adm. Hyman Rickover, the President's hero and chief developer of the nuclear Navy.

Reporters were barred from making the trip on the highly classified, high-speed Los Angeles, which is designed to search out and destroy enemy submarines. It carries special torpedoes, but not long-range nuclear missiles.

"I want to learn first-hand about the capabilities and limitations of our strategic force," Carter earlier told reporters about the trip. No other U.S. president has ever submerged on a nuclear submarine.

The President took off his suit coat and donned a beige windbreaker before his party was piped aboard the sub. Nine-year-old daughter, Amy, had been invited to make the trip, but did not fly here from the Carter Memorial Day weekend retreat at St. Simons Island, Ga.

The nine hours aboard the sub was one of the longest periods in modern times in which reporters have been virtually out of touch with a president. But highly sophisticated communications equipment on the Los Angeles allowed Carter to get in touch with any point in the world — including the Washington-Moscow "hot line" — instantly.

"Hey Jimmy!" shouted a small crowd of civilians and Navy personnel at docks as the two tugs nosed the submarine out to sea with the U.S. and presidential flags flapping from the sail.

It was expected to go about 45 miles out to sea and, after about two hours on the surface, dive to about 600 feet of water.

After boarding the sub, Carter was briefed on nuclear submarines by Rickover and listened quietly.

Immediately after boarding the sub, the Carters went into the wardroom, the officers mess where, a table which seats 10 was laden with coffee cups and a silver bowl of fruit.

As he and Mrs. Carter stood in the middle of the room, Rickover gave a short briefing on nuclear submarines, extolling the capabilities of submarines to win wars. He said the United States now has 108 nuclear submarines and 31 more are either being built or authorized.

Rickover said during World War II the Germans had 42 submarines. "And if they had more they could have won the war."

"A military man has to be conservative," Rickover declared. "He has to look at the lessons of the past."

May rain dampens drought

KIMBERLY — Spring rainfall in May now totals 1.82 inches — by far the highest accumulation of precipitation for any month this year in southern Idaho.

The rainfall is the highest since May, 1957. Officials at the National Weather Service, Kimberly, say if present weather patterns continue, May moisture will be twice the historical average for the month.

Rains Thursday added .18 of an inch in Twin Falls, most of it falling in a sudden afternoon storm which left many intersections flooded in Twin Falls and other communities.

Pedestrians in downtown Twin Falls found themselves stranded by the water Thursday, unable to cross streets to their automobiles without wading ankle deep through overflowing gutters.

Weather Bureau officials say normal precipitation for May is 1.02 inch.

While this year is still above normal at this point, it is not a record.

In 1915, 3.13 inches of moisture fell and in 1957, 2.92 inches.

Last year only 41 ran fell during the entire month.

As of this time there has been more precipitation this month than in the entire previous six months combined.

As one farmer said Thursday, "The drought is getting mighty wet."

Agricultural officials say the moisture is helping range and farm conditions at this point.

Grass on lower elevation areas is far less abundant this year than normal because of the long dry winter, but ranchers say they are now able to move livestock out of pastures and corrals.

Higher elevations should have abundant forage by the time stock reaches those ranges.

Prisoners phone, miss Carter

MEXICO CITY, Mexico (UPI) — Forty-one American women imprisoned for drug offenses tried to phone President Carter at the White House, but he was out of town and no one else would speak to them, the women said today.

Robyn Marie Everman, 31, of San Francisco, made two attempts to get to the president's ear Wednesday, but finally gave up when a White House phone operator told her Carter had left town and nobody else could speak to her.

The women at the Santa Marta prison want Congress to endorse a U.S.-Mexican prisoner exchange pact allowing most of the about 600 Americans in Mexican jails to serve the rest of their sentences in U.S. prisons.

"The Mexican government has said that if the U.S. wants us, all it has to do is ask," Miss Everman told reporters in announcing the women's efforts to phone Carter. "Why doesn't President Carter ask for us?"

"We just want to convince him that we want to come home," reporters were told by Jane Rusk, of Houston, Tex., serving a six-year term for drug offenses.

"We're not criminals," she said. "Almost half of us are first offenders. We're people's children. Some of us are even mothers. We've made mistakes, but we've paid."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The lawn mower industry says proposed new safety rules will mean power mowers that cost more and cut less.

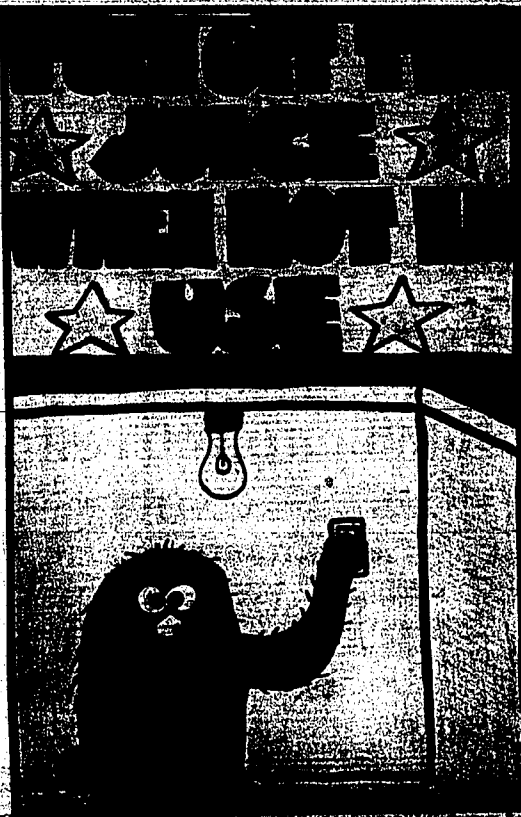

The Outdoor Power Equipment Institute said in a report released Thursday the cost of the cheapest walk-behind mower will go from $69 today to about $184, an increase of 51 per cent, if the rules are adopted.

Average-priced walk-behind mowers will cost 21 per cent more, it said, while the price for riding mowers will be up 36 per cent and garden tractors 14 per cent. Total cost to consumers: $371 million in higher prices.

At the same time, it said, the mowers will not be as efficient as are the current ones, and Dennis Dix, executive director of OPEI, said "the idea of increased cost for decreased performance is going to be rough for consumers to swallow."

The proposed rules, brought recently by the Consumer Product Safety Commission after years of study, cover such things as better protection against foot or hand injury for the user and devices to shut the mower off when the user lets go of the handle.

The Institute said one of the biggest factors in the increased consumer cost would be the

Posters promote wise energy use

DOING THEIR share to promote energy conservation, Twin Falls school pupils competed in a poster contest suggesting methods of saving power and gas. One of the prize winners was this one, the work of Leslie Williamson, eighth grader at Robert Stuart Junior High School. The eight other prize winners are shown on page 8 of today's Times-News, along with their creators.

Top command

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Maj. Gen. John K. Singlaub, relieved as U.S. chief of staff in South Korea for remarks regarded by President Carter as contrary to his policy, today was appointed chief of staff of the U.S. Army Forces Command — the Army's highest command.

Gen. Bernard W. Rogers, Army chief of Staff, announced that Singlaub will assume his new post at Ft. McPherson, Ga., effective June 27.

Contrary to some expectations that he would be relegated to an obscure Army job, Singlaub came out with a plum assignment.

His command of more than 300,000 active personnel stretches 10,000 miles from Guam, through the U.S. Trust Territories of the Pacific, across the continental United States to Puerto Rico and down to Panama. It is the largest single command in the Army.

In addition, the much-decorated, 55-year-old "soldier's soldier" has 111,000 National Guardsmen and 260,000 reservists under him.

Power mowers may cut less, cost more

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The lawn mower industry says proposed new safety rules will mean power mowers that cost more and cut less.

The Outdoor Power Equipment Institute said in a report released Thursday the cost of the cheapest walk-behind mower will go from $69 today to about $184, an increase of 51 per cent, if the rules are adopted.

Average-priced walk-behind mowers will cost 21 per cent more, it said, while the price for riding mowers will be up 36 per cent and garden tractors 14 per cent. Total cost to consumers: $371 million in higher prices.

At the same time, it said, the mowers will not be as efficient as are the current ones, and Dennis Dix, executive director of OPEI, said "the idea of increased cost for decreased performance is going to be rough for consumers to swallow."

The proposed rules, brought recently by the Consumer Product Safety Commission after years of study, cover such things as better protection against foot or hand injury for the user and devices to shut the mower off when the user lets go of the handle.

The Institute said one of the biggest factors in the increased consumer cost would be the shields necessary to protect limbs from getting near the blades.

"Mowers will be more difficult to push and maneuver, will not cut as cleanly, will not bag as efficiently and will likely clog more frequently," said a report released by the OPEI. "Maintenance requirements will probably increase as the new units will be substantially more complex."

The report estimates that consumer demand will fall as a result of the higher prices — by 35 per cent for riding mowers, 20 per cent for garden tractors and 20 per cent for walk-behind equipment.

At the same time, the report said, "mower using public will benefit from improved safety."

"The deadman requirement with engine kill, for example, has a positive cost-benefit ratio for several mower types and has much acceptance throughout the industry as being probably worthwhile," it said, adding, however, "the remaining requirements of the standard do not appear to offer reasonable benefits, to offset their costs."

The rules are scheduled to take effect two years, after they are published in their final form.

Heavy Gem drought loss seen

Joyous reunion

SAFELY ABOARD a bus following their release by South Moluccan terrorists, two of the 106 Dutch school children held hostage are reunited with their father after four days of captivity. They are taken through a window of the bus. (UPI)

Dutch pupils freed

BOVENSMILDE, The Netherlands (UPI) — Moluccan gunmen today freed the remaining 102 children they held at gunpoint for four days in a school swept by sickness. But they still held four teachers in the school plus 56 other hostages on a hijacked train nearby. After a flash intestinal ailment felled child after child jammed into two crowded classrooms at Boven-smilde primary school, the four gunmen called the government's crisis center at nearby Assen before dawn with a long prayer for message. "Come get the children," one of the men said with joy. Premier Joop den Uyl said after the last of 102 captive children left the school at about 7 a.m. Thursday. Four of the children were released Thursday. The gunmen, who demand independence for their former

Spice Islands homeland, of South Moluccans also released one teacher along with the children. A sixth teacher believed to have been among the hostages was disclosed to have been off duty at the time of the takeover of the school Monday. But Den-Uyl and his crisis team immediately redoubled efforts to win freedom for the remaining two men and two women teachers and the train hostages, including a pregnant woman, enduring what an official said must be "sinking" conditions. The hostages, allowed food Thursday for the first time in 48 hours by an estimated 10 hijackers, received water, chocolate milk and sandwiches this morning. But they were given no heat and inadequate sanitary facilities in the forward coach to which they have been confined. As the children came skipping, jumping or walking arm in arm from the school onto a waiting bus, the entire rural town of Boven-smilde exploded in relief and joy. Officials said at least 50 of the children were suffering from an "infectious disease" whose symptoms included vomiting and diarrhea. They described it as "serious but not fatal." At least 25 children more seriously hit by the symptoms of vomiting and diarrhea, which swept the besieged school, remained in a local hospital. But doctors said the symptoms would soon wear off. Justice Minister Dries van Agt, in charge of the government's anti-terrorist strategy, said he is securing the children's release, which he has said from the start was his top priority.

BOISE (UPI) — Despite May showers Idaho still is not "out of the woods" and is headed for income losses of some $113 million in the next three years due to the drought, the Idaho Department of Water Resources said today. The bulk of those losses will be felt this year, Kenneth Dunn, the department's deputy director and the Idaho Legislative Council. Although most state agencies will be affected, the dismal outlook does not necessarily mean they will overspend their budgets, Dunn said. "State agencies are not overspending their budgets. They are foregoing other expenditures," he explained. The Department of Water Resources is spending $5,000 on the drought and the Department of Health and Welfare needs to hire seven welfare eligibility examiners for the influx of migrant workers who work in the fields.

Speeding warning to Evans' driver

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho State police today clocked Gov. Jim V. Evans' official car doing 61 miles per hour in a 35 mph speed area, according to the Lewiston Morning Tribune. The driver of the car was given a warning, but not cited. "The incident happened Tuesday afternoon a few miles west of Glenns Ferry on Interstate 80 in a construction area where the speed limit temporarily had been lowered from 55 to 35 mph." Steve Leroy, the governor's press secretary, acknowledged Thursday he was the driver and was given an oral warning by State Patrolman Richard White. Gerry Pearce, director of the Department of Law Enforcement, said White told him he was giving every speeder a warning.

Assuming normal precipitation — and that's a big assumption — the state will lose $113 million in the next three years, concentrated mostly this year. He said, "We will have sufficient energy to get through the summer but it will be very expensive." Idaho Power Company is buying the most expensive power it can get," Dunn said. The Bonneville Power Administration "is essentially out of water for hydro generation."

It is inevitable that shortages will occur," the deputy director said. "We stand a very good chance of having an energy shortage this winter," he added. Dunn said stream flows in the state "are below all previous low stream flows." There's no question we've got a problem. We're just not going to recover the stream flows this year." Precipitation is 48 per cent of normal, he said.

Kirk Hall, director of the Idaho Energy Office told the legislators. "Even if we return to normal we will have water and energy shortages next year." "From November to March we may be running close and we may be competing with other states with buying power," states such as California that are used to paying more for power, he said.

Sunshine fines set for solons

BOISE (UPI) — Two legislators, including the Speaker of the Idaho House and their campaign treasurers, are the latest to be fined for violating the State campaign finance disclosure law. Magistrate Robert G. Newhouse fined House Speaker Allan Larsen, R-Blackfoot, and his treasurer, Jim Hoskins, $100 for being four days late on their December report. State Sen. Michael S. Black, D-Craigmont, and his treasurer, Stanley Riggers, Craigmont, were fined $25 by Fourth District Magistrate G.D. Carey for being five days late in filing campaign reports last October.

Up in a puff

CALDWELL (UPI) — A quarter-million-dollar worth of heroin went up in smoke Thursday. Narcotics officers burned the drugs after Third District Judge Edward Lodge ordered them destroyed. Kept in a safe deposit box for the past two years the heroin was confiscated in a single case and was used as evidence to convict two men on narcotics charges.

Free for 2 hours

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — A 21-year-old Bannock County jail inmate had a brief fling at freedom Thursday. Lesterne Rodgers, 21, Fort Hall, who was being held in the Bannock County jail in Pocatello after pleading guilty to burglary and escape charges, escaped from the jail late in the morning and was free for about two hours. He was discovered hiding in the bushes at a Pocatello residence about 10 blocks away from the jail. A sheriff's deputy said Rodgers escaped through an open garage door in the jail when a jailer allowed several prisoners in the jail, including Rodgers to leave their cells and use the telephone. After captured police once again charged Rodgers with escape. He previously escaped from officers April 27 while they were returning him to the jail after arraignment on burglary charges. Then, he was captured within about 20 minutes.

Bonds fail

PAYETTE, Idaho (UPI) — Voters rejected a $1 million school bond issue 464-373 Thursday. To pass, the proposal needed a two-thirds majority. It received only 44 per cent support. The money would have been spent on measures to conserve energy and eliminate safety hazards.

Haldeman plans 'challenge'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — H.R. Haldeman, Richard Nixon's loyal and long silent aide, said Nixon's televised version of Watergate was so faulty it provoked him into writing a book to tell what he knows "with the gloves off and no holds barred."

"I feel now I have to challenge President Nixon's explanation of the cover-up and that it's time to deal with many things that have been left unsaid," Haldeman told reporters at brief, hastily-called news conference on the front lawn of his home Thursday.

"So I've made the decision to put aside the book I've been working on the past several years and go ahead full steam on the personal, inside, story of Watergate."

"In a book that will be coming out this fall, I'll cover everything on the subject, with the gloves off and no holds barred."

He may have to finish the work in a federal prison case. The Supreme Court Monday rejected his appeal of a 1976 perjury conviction for lying to the Watergate grand jury, for which he was sentenced to 2 1/2 to 3 years. His attorney is appealing for reconsideration, rarely granted.

Haldeman's two-minute statement was a rare public appearance for one of the most exclusive of Watergate figures. He read his statement and returned to the house, refusing to answer questions.

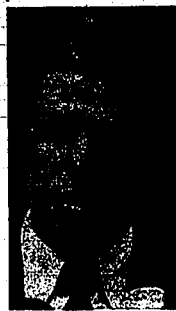

It appeared to be his first public criticism of Nixon, whom he had continued to praise as a great president in his few public remarks even after Nixon asked him to resign as White House chief of staff to appease Watergate critics.

John Ehrlichman, who was second only to Haldeman on the Nixon staff and resigned with him, earlier denounced Nixon's answers to David Frost's Watergate questions as "a smarmy, maudlin... false... rationalization."

Haldeman said he had "avoided any comment" on the Nixon-Frost interviews "because I had the hope they would clear up many of the questions that remain on Watergate."

"Unfortunately, they did not."

A spokesman for Nixon at his San Clemente estate said Nixon "has a high regard for Bob Haldeman" and "recognizes their two perspectives may differ in some respects, but he feels both perspectives are important to a full understanding of that difficult time."

US economic barometer edges higher

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government's barometer of future economic activity rose a moderate 0.5 percent in April, an indication that the economy will show continued growth this summer, the Commerce Department said today.

The April rise in the Composite Index of Leading Indicators was considerably below the revised increases for February and March when the economy was recovering from the effects of severe winter weather.

However, a Commerce Department spokesman said the advance was still healthy.

"It is a pretty good increase," department economist Feliks Tamm said. He said the index for April would probably be revised upward when more complete data is available.

The department also said it had revised its increase for March from 1.4 per cent to 1.9 per cent, the biggest climb since a 2.3 per cent increase in July, 1975.

With the exception of 0.2 per cent declines in both April and September of last year and a 1.2 per cent decrease in January, the index has increased in each month since February, 1975.

Newsmen gave CIA info

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Richard Salant, president of CBS news, said he discovered some CBS reporters cooperated with the CIA in the 1950s and 1960s, including giving the intelligence agency newfilm to help identify participants in foreign riots, it was reported today.

Salant said he ordered an internal investigation of CIA network links after charges were made last year by former CBS correspondent

Daniel Schorr and has severed all links he discovered.

The investigation turned up several CIA contacts who formerly worked in the network's news department and several methods whereby the intelligence agency could obtain information from the network's correspondents, sometimes without their knowledge, he said in an interview with the Los Angeles Times.

Ex-FEC head cleared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department has cleared former Federal Election Commission Chairman Vernon Thomson of charges he illegally leaked information about a major investigation.

In exonerating Thomson, the department said there was not even "probable cause" for the case to have been referred in the first place. The FEC originally sent the case to the Justice Department because one of its own members was involved.

Thomson, who just stepped down after serving a year as chairman of the FEC, still is a member of the commission.

"I have always felt that an impartial review of these spurious and completely unsupported allegations would result in a complete dismissal of the entire matter," he said Thursday.

Lockheed paid $38 million

ROBERT W. HAACK
... outlines payoffs

BURBANK, Calif. (UPI) — In a court-ordered report, Lockheed Aircraft Corp. says it made as much as $38 million in questionable foreign payments to push sales from 1970 to 1975, but did not reveal who got the money.

The report said top Lockheed officials concealed the bribes and other payments from the board of directors and threatened employees who questioned the practice, which dated back to 1952.

Lockheed chairman Robert W. Haack said "We are making no improper payments abroad now." He added that the company's overseas profits have increased since the payments were publicly disclosed and halted in 1975.

The new $30 million-$38 million estimate of Lockheed's payments was contained in a "special review committee" report released Thursday following a 14-month investigation.

The report was filed with the U.S. District Court in Washington, D.C., which requested it, and the Securities and Exchange Commission. The review committee was chaired by J. Wilson Newman, former chairman of DuPont and Bradstreet.

Haack and Newman defended the report's failure to name names of recipients and the amounts they received in a news conference Thursday.

"We decided not to," Newman said, so as "not to needlessly injure innocent people."

The report pinned the blame mostly on former board chairman Daniel J. Huntington and former president A. Carl Kitchin, saying the two appeared "willing to distort such a primary principle as integrity for short-term expediency."

Both men resigned in February 1976, but were retained as highly paid consultants. Haack said he expected "reconsideration" of the arrangement.

Others mentioned included L.O. Kitchin, current president, and R.A. Anderson, chief financial officer. The report said the two "must share responsibility" but were not involved deeply enough "to bar continued usefulness."

The report said Lockheed paid total fees of $165 million from 1970 to 1975 to obtain foreign sales of about $2.3 billion. Of that amount, $30 million to $38 million were "questionable" payments.

Newman said many payments resulted from extortion from foreign government officials.

JFK land site secured

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter, amidst that Sunday would have been John F. Kennedy's 60th birthday, has signed legislation securing land on which a permanent library for the slain 35th president will be built.

The bill permits the federal government to accept land at the University of Massachusetts at Boston Harbor for construction of the John F. Kennedy Presidential Library.

The land was described as a gift to the people of the United States from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The Kennedy Library has been operating in temporary quarters in Waltham, Mass. The permanent library will be the sixth in the presidential library system — all built with private funds.

Controls said unlikely

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bert Lance, director of the federal Office of Management and Budget, says the Carter Administration has no intention of imposing wage and price controls to curb inflation.

Lance told iron and steel executives Thursday the Administration instead is looking for "voluntary cooperation" from industries like the recent rollback by steelmakers from 9 to 6 per cent in steel prices.

"The President means it, and I mean it, when we say wage, and price, controls are out," Lance said in prepared remarks for a dinner at the American Iron and Steel Institute general meeting.

Bradshaw replies

Editor, Times-News:

In order to clarify my misunderstanding regarding my views on energy, I want to restate "my thinking on the problem."

At the present time there are in Idaho several water storage reservoirs which do not have power generating facilities, such as Arrowrock Dam, Lucky Peak, etc. These and any other present water storage energy should have power generating machinery installed. Furthermore, all other electric power sites in the state should be checked out, and if found economically sound, we should permit utilities to install the necessary generating equipment, as hydro power is the least expensive and the cleanest.

It is an established fact that in our area we will be short of electric energy by about 1981 or 1982. This position is recognized by all the utilities in the North West, including Bonneville Power, Idaho Public Utilities Commission, and Idaho Electric Co., the independent firm sponsored by Idaho Public Utilities Commission to make an independent study of our future energy needs.

Since we are short of oil and gas power generation, we should go on record to permit utilities to construct coal fired power plants to meet our future electric energy requirements, with the provision of course that the plants would have the necessary pollution controls for clean air. We have available in the nation coal supplies for hundreds of years, and furthermore in dry years and drought conditions, when hydro power is short, it would be beneficial to have the coal fired facilities available.

My position on energy has not changed since last fall, when prior to election I was asked by the radio and press how I stood on the energy problem. This letter restates what I said at that time: In fact, the problem has become more acute as time goes on, and if we don't start making decisions soon, business and agriculture will feel the pinch, resulting in curtailment of business activities, loss of jobs, and citizens freezing in the dead.

IWY criticized

Editor, Times-News:

I found it interesting to learn that six members of the Illinois legislature filed suit in Federal District Court at Peoria, Ill., on March 31 to enjoin White House employe Mark Siegel and the Commission on International Women's Year from lobbying for ratification of ERA by state legislatures. Count 1 of the complaint charges that White House lobbying for ERA is unconstitutional because Art. 5 of the Constitution gives the ratification power solely to state legislatures. Furthermore, federal law specifically prohibits the IWY Commission from engaging in lobbying activities. The complaint recites numerous acts of lobbying by both defendants.

Count 2 states that the U.S. comptroller general reported that the IWY Commission improperly received from six federal agencies and spent $295,234 for which there was no congressional appropriation or proper federal authorization.

Count 3 charges that the IWY Commission is in violation of the Federal-Advisory Committee Act because its state Coordinating Committees are not "fairly balanced in terms of the points of view" represented. The Illinois Coordinating Committee, for example, consists of 58 pro-ERA and only one against ERA. It's ironic that Idaho's Coordinating Committee consists of 32 pro-ERA and one against ERA.

This same ratio of about 25 to 1 is being followed in the other states. In some states the identity of the Coordinating Committee is being kept secret until all plans are made. Most of the state conferences will be held from May through June. Large amounts of federal money have been allocated to put on these state conferences, ranging up to $100,000 per state. Idaho will spend $25,000.

The lawsuit asks that the IWY Commission return the $295,234 and all other funds that are in violation of federal laws. The lawsuit also asks that the court order the IWY Commission to appoint its committees and conduct its forthcoming $5 million worth of state and national conferences in compliance with federal law that requires that they be "fairly balanced in terms of the points of view represented."

Idaho taxpayers should take a close look at this waste of tax money.

Cannot support woman's league

Editor, Times-News:

Recently I read a brochure from the League of Women Voters which stated: "All (local) Leagues study every aspect of a new issue, and report their recommendation for federal action. The League's national position developed from its findings. It is thus an expression of a well-informed, nationwide, grass roots membership."

The leaders of the League want us to believe that their 1,300 individual leagues are polled on every major issue on which the national league takes a position. If this is true, the League's 160,000 members are a good indeed.

History shows that over the past 50 years the League has led fights for federal control of electric power, federal aid to (eventually) control of education, federal takeover of Public Employment agencies, a federal housing agency, federally aggrandized budget of children, continuation and expansion of the Economic Opportunity, federal day-care centers, greatly expanded federal Welfare, continued funding of the Communist-dominated United Nations and redistribution of income.

In an official League pamphlet entitled "Documents: Background On National League Program 1974-1976," we find such statements as: "The role of the federal government should be expanded" in the area of solid waste management; "the federal government should have the major role" in setting standards for air quality; "The federal government shares with other levels of government responsibility to provide equality of opportunity for education... employment and housing for all persons in the United States." And, in its discussion entitled "Alternatives To Welfare," one reads: "Members of the League of Women Voters of the United States believes—the federal government bears a major responsibility for Welfare." Emphasis is mine.

Sounds to me like they don't believe in the republican form of government which has provided the incentives that has made the United States of America the greatest on the face of this earth. Sounds to me like they believe in total federal control, which is totalitarianism or call it socialism or whatever you like, it's anti-American. They also promote the Equal

Questions plant

Editor, Times-News:

An open letter to residents of Magic Valley:

A major battle is brewing over the location of a coal-fired power plant in the Magic Valley. Idaho Power Company is considering several sites for a plant after the Idaho Public Utilities Commission (PUC) denied their proposal for the Pioneer Plant near Boise.

A future election ballot may have a spot where you can vote on this issue. Even if the issue does not reach the ballot, your opinion will have an important part of a decision prior to the final decision by the PUC.

You should answer the following questions when deciding whether to oppose or support a coal-fired plant in YOUR valley:

1. Why would a coal-fired plant here be any more acceptable than a similar plant near Boise? The PUC stated that "After carefully reviewing the evidence and considering the consequences of a decision pro or con, we have concluded that the application for the Orchard site must be denied."
2. Are YOU willing to pay increased rates? Projections are that YOUR rates will double in about four years if the coal-fired plant is built.
3. Are YOU willing to pay the associated "hidden" costs, such as more schools, larger police and other services, fees, adding to overloaded city water and sewer systems, etc. due to rapid population growth? What about the economic impact on permanent residents maintaining these expanded facilities when the construction phase is over?
4. Are YOU willing to pay the social costs associated with the increased urbanization and industrialization of the area? The PUC stated that "many people who reside in Idaho because of the opportunity to enjoy a relatively simple, rural lifestyle would find their

Skyscraper scaler cheered by crowd

Roy Rogers honored

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Cowboy Roy Rogers was honored Thursday as West Coast father of the year. Rogers and his wife, former costar Dale Evans, have four natural children, five adopted children, 10 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Rogers was chosen by the West Coast Father of the Year Committee to mark the observance of Father's Day, June 19.

Liz may do sequel

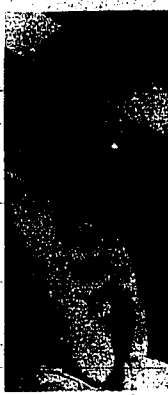

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — English-born actress Elizabeth Taylor may saddle up again to do a sequel of the movie "National Velvet," but she's not sure she likes the new title, "International Velvet." Miss Taylor told UPI in a recent interview that in the sequel she will again play Velvet Brown, but as a middle-aged woman. "I played Velvet when I was 12 years old. I am now 45," she said.

Shelley Winters sued

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actress Shelley Winters is being sued for $300,000 by a woman she allegedly beat up in a health club. Ellen Obern charged in a Superior Court suit Wednesday that Miss Winters assaulted her in the restaurant of the Beverly Hills Health Club Feb. 2 and sued her repeatedly with hands and fists and inflicting "great emotional distress." The suit did not state the cause of the fight.

GEORGE WILLIG ... faces lawsuit

NEW YORK (UPI) — Having put the world's second tallest building behind, or rather below him, George Willig — toy maker, mountain climber and skyscraper scaler extraordinaire — says he's not sure what his next stunt will be. "It was a lot of fun," Willig, 27, said Thursday as he met reporters after being booked for trespassing, reckless endangerment and disorderly conduct.

His alleged crime was mounting the 110-story World Trade Center with only a couple of homemade climbing devices and his determination not to be denied his conquest. "The only time I was scared was when I started, because I was afraid I'd get caught before I got going," he said. With his arms and legs played against the sheer face of the 1,350-foot building, Willig made the ascent in about 3 1/2 hours along the window washing tracks cut into the northeast corner of the south tower.

When he cleared the parapet and was hauled atop the roof at 10:04 a.m., thousands of subterfuges below, many of whom had watched the entire climb, let out a thunderous cheer heard-throughout-lower-Manhattan.

A quarter mile above them, the 5-foot-11, 155-pound Willig, wearing a blue bandana and a multicolored, striped shirt, waved blistered hands at his admirers who clogged the streets below. "He's up there! He's on top and he's safe!" one man shouted in the street. Life in the nation's largest city returned to normal.

Police intelligence sources said Willig, who works as a toy designer for the Ideal Toy Co., was a member of an "adventure club" that "has a list of daring exploits they plan to perform." In addition to the criminal charges, the city's corporation counsel slapped Willig with a $250,000 lawsuit to pay for police and, as it turned out, unneeded rescue expenses.

But a high-ranking official at City Hall said, "There's not a jury in the world that would rule against this guy." Four other persons were arrested — for helping Willig. One of them, Ronald T. DiGiovanni, 23, was also arrested last Dec. 23 for soaring over Manhattan in a red, white and blue, hot air balloon that led police on a zigzag chase by land, sea and air.

On several occasions, Willig refused the aid of police officers who offered themselves from the roof in a chest-high rescue bucket.

"I don't want to risk a tricky transfer," Willig said during a chat with the officers that included several digressions on the weather. "They (the police) talked about the nice girls working in the building, but I couldn't see any of them," Willig said. Daredevils at the World Trade Center, second highest building in the world after the Sears Tower in Chicago, seem to go together.

Three years ago, high wire artist Philippe Petit stretched a tightrope across the 131-foot chasm separating the twin towers and walked between the buildings. He, too, was arrested but a lenient judge sentenced him to give a free exhibition of his daredevil skills for children in Central Park.

Asked about the "adventure club" he and his friends had formed, Willig said, "There's a group of us. I started climbing and I took them climbing. And they liked it. We're all from the same family. It must be in our blood." "What's next?" "I don't know. I don't know," he said after his booking. Why climb the World Trade Center? "Because it's considered by some to be an ugly building, but it's very appealing just by the fact it's two of them," Willig said.

Couple 'blown' from bed to lawn

MALDEN, Mass. (UPI) — A gas leak from a newly installed main apparently caused an explosion that literally blew Herbert Arbo, 58, and his wife Ann, 51, out of bed and onto their front lawn. "They were blown right out of their house along with the walls, windows and doors." Fire Chief Norman Clough said Thursday. "They were very lucky indeed. They both landed on the lawn outside their house. "There's nothing left of the house. It was completely destroyed," Clough said. "The front door was in the middle of the street and interior drapes from the house were on a tree about 40 or 50 feet away. The place was literally blown apart." Arbo, unharmed by the early morning blast, rushed back into the burning home and rescued his son Edward, 16. The couple's 18-year-old daughter managed to jump to safety from a second-floor window. Mrs. Arbo was listed in satisfactory condition at a nearby hospital with possible fractured ribs. Firemen fought the flames for five hours before dousing the fire.

Installation set

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls First Church of the Nazarene official board and department heads will be installed Sunday at a communion service at 11 a.m. The pastor will speak on "The Church and You." Music for the service will be provided by Ron Silvers. An all-music special will be presented at the 7 p.m. service. All interested persons are welcome. The vacation Bible school will run from June 5 to 10 and will be under the direction of Pastor Tim Clarkson.

MICHAEL BABEL

Goes on mission

TWIN FALLS — Michael W. Babel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Babel, Twin Falls, will serve a two-year mission for the LDS Church in Hamburg, Germany. Babel will leave June 2 for two-months training at the Language Training School in Provo, Utah, before going to Germany. Babel was graduated from Twin Falls High School in 1976 and spent the past year at Brigham Young University. He will be honored at a sacrament meeting service on Sunday at the LDS Chapel on Harrison Street. Services will begin at 3:30 p.m. and the public is invited.

Impact rally set

TWIN FALLS — The Church of God, 511 Second Ave. E. Twin Falls, will hold a Spiritual Impact Rally today and Saturday at 7:30 p.m., each day. Rev. Jessie Boyd, state overseer of the Idaho and Utah Churches of God, and Charles LaFoy, youth and evangelism director of the Churches of God in Idaho, will be featured speakers. Church members from Idaho Falls, Pocatello, Rupert, Jerome, and Twin Falls are expected to attend. The public is invited.

New minister arrives

TWIN FALLS — The Rev. Lyle Arnold and Mrs. Arnold have arrived to minister at the Twin Falls First United Brethren Church. The new Twin Falls pastor and his wife came from Spokane, Wash., where he ministered in different churches and was chaplain at the Washington State Mental Hospital. Services at the church, located at 302 3rd Ave. E., are geared toward the family, Arnold says. Sunday school is at 9:45 a.m., morning worship at 11 a.m., evening services at 7:30 p.m. and Wednesday evening service at 7:30 p.m. The membership is having a "Welcome" potluck dinner in the Arnolds Sunday morning at the church.

REV. LYLE ARNOLD

Work camp slated

TWIN FALLS — The First Baptist Church, Twin Falls, will hold a Memorial Day weekend camp work project at Cathedral Pines. Projects planned for improvement of the church camp include cement work around the Easley swimming pool, painting, carpentry and plumbing in the general camp area. Members are asked to bring tools and participate in the three-day weekend of service, fellowship, good food and worship. For further information interested persons may call the church office, 733-2036.

Scholarship given

FILER — Norman Wright received the Conrad Edwards Outstanding Senior Scholarship award from Mrs. Frances Wells, Sunday school superintendent, at the Sunday service of the First Baptist Church, Filer. Wright is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Wright, Filer. He plans on attending Boise State University this fall.

Bible school to open

FILER — The Filer Mennonite Church will hold its summer Bible school from May 31 through June 10. The school will run from 9 to 11:30 a.m. daily Monday through Friday after Memorial Day. All children four years of age through the eighth grade will be accepted. There is no charge for the school. Superintendent of the program will be Carol Schweitzer. For more information call 326-9210.

Accepts pastorate

REV. R. J. SCHOLZ leaving

Buhl — Rev. R. J. Scholz, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Buhl, and Redeemer Lutheran Church, Kimberly, will leave his ministries there to accept a new pastorate in a Portland, Ore., suburb, Parkrose. The pastor has been in the community for six and a half years. His new ministry will bring him to a congregation of 600 members in a large church. While in Magic Valley, Pastor Scholz served as the circuit counselor of the Lutheran Churches. He recently completed four years as chairman of the South Idaho (Lutheran) Pastors Conference. His final services in the Buhl and Kimberly churches will be on June 19.

2 churches join in summer project

TWIN FALLS — Our Savior's Lutheran and Valley Christian Churches are joining this year in sponsoring a "Summer Adventure" program for children from age three through the eighth grade. The Bible school will begin June 6 and continue through June 10 with a registration deadline of June 1. This is the first time the two churches have combined efforts and the classes are open to all interested youngsters as well as members of both congregations.

Each age group will have a separate program and will be under the direction of a separate teacher and assistant. In addition, Carolyn Pietz will teach crafts to all age groups. Classes will begin at 9:30 a.m. each day in the church building shared by the Lutheran and Christian Church congregations. Each child is asked to bring a sack lunch as the program will continue until 2 p.m. each afternoon.

EARLY registration for the Bible school program at Our Savior Lutheran and Valley Christian Churches combined summer session includes Aaron Thatcher, Karl Price, Eric Falk and Sara Falk, from left, who test out some of the clay and coloring material which will be used.

Included in the "Summer Adventure" program will be story telling, with children forming drama groups to act out many of the stories. There will also be all types of crafts, music and games. Donations of paper, tempera paints, glue and costumes for the story productions will be accepted. Marilyn Falk, assisted by Denise Robertson will teach the three and four year old children with Katie Hieb assisted by Anna Bowyer in charge of kindergarten age groups.

Other teachers include Claude Van Patten, assisted by Kathy DeKramer, first and second grades; Laura High assisted by Lorie Dey, third and fourth grades; Beverly Claiborn, fifth and sixth grades; and Pat Helmmann, seventh and eighth grades. Kool Aid and cookies will be served each day in addition to the sack lunches. Registration should be made by calling the church office, 733-3774.

"Charity" group makes West Point date

HASKELL D. YADON Former TF pastor returns

Delegates asked

TWIN FALLS — Eight delegates are eligible to represent the Twin Falls First Baptist Church at the biennial meeting of the American Baptist Churches to be held in San Diego, Calif., June 22-26. Any person interested in attending the meeting should contact the church office. In other activities, the annual vacation Bible school and day camp have been scheduled for Aug. 1 to 5. Classes will be held daily from 9 to 11:30 a.m. for children three years through the third grade. The day camp is planned for fourth, fifth and sixth grade students from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day. Help is needed with these projects and anyone interested should call Elizabeth Myers, 734-5440.

Summer plan begins

TWIN FALLS — Sunday the First-Presbyterian Church here will begin its summer schedule. Worship services will be held at 10 a.m. instead of 11 a.m. during the remainder of the summer. There will be the usual Sunday church school, but a special time for children has been set aside during worship services. There will also be child care available. Rev. Robert Van Nest will speak this Sunday on "Who is Your Lord?", the final sermon in a series on the confessional statements of the United Presbyterian Church. Marty Mead will be featured soloist.

Lesson title given

EDEN — "Model of Sociability" is the title of the lesson study this week at the Eden Seventh Day Adventist Church. The study deals with the social life of Jesus Christ and is based on Luke 2:52. Sabbath school begins at 9:30 a.m. with the worship hour at 11 a.m. Speaker this week is Pastor

High Cowles, Jerome. The public is welcome at all series and is invited to listen to the church's radio broadcast, "The Choice of Prophecy," with H.M.S. Richards Jr. each Sunday at 8:30 a.m. over KLLX Radio. The "Voice of Prophecy" consists of gospel singing and Bible-based preaching.

Iowa trio will sing at Wendell

WENDELL — "Charity," a girls trio from Northwestern College, Orange City, Iowa, will sing at the New Hope Community Church in the West Point Grange, Wendell, June 2 at 8 p.m. Members of "Charity" are Leanne De Vos, Hull, Iowa; Elsie Madson of Oostburg, Wis.; Karen Wiersma, Fulton, Ill.; Rod Anderson, Bloomfield, Neb., accompanist; and Kevin Mur, Thomas, Ill., sound man and featured soloist. "Charity" sings a variety of music ranging from a selection from the "Messiah" to old familiar hymns to songs by "The Second Chapter of Acts."

Hypnotism denounced

TWIN FALLS — The latest sermon Sunday at the Christian Science Church will be "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alms Memoriam and Hypnotism, Denounced." Sunday school begins at 9:45 a.m. and church services begin at 11 a.m. Sunday and 8 p.m. Wednesday at the church, 160 Ninth Ave. E. The reading room, 352 Main Ave. S., is open from noon to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Cash to sing

TWIN FALLS — The Gospel Road, a story of Jesus sung and told by Johnny Cash, will be presented by Way Station Ministries at the Christian Center on Saturday at 8 p.m. The Christian Center is located at 181 Morrison St., Twin Falls.

Fellowship hall dedication set

EDEN — The Eden Trinity Lutheran Church will dedicate its new gymnasium-parish fellowship hall on Sunday. The morning worship service at 11 a.m. will include the confirmation of the young people: Hank Buschhorn, Becky Ehlers, Brenda Grant, Julie Pohl and Doug Schwarz, formal dedication of the new building, a confirmation day potluck dinner and a dedication program beginning at 2:30 p.m. Pastor Gary Benedix will also preach his farewell sermon "Lord of Your Life," during the morning service. He and his family will move to the San Diego area on June 1 to begin a new ministry in Tijuana and Mexicali, Mexico. The Trinity congregation decided to build the new gymnasium-parish fellowship hall last year to provide more teaching space for the Christian educational program and to add community recreational facilities. The public is invited to all activities for the day. Trinity Lutheran Church is located three miles south of Eden.

Speaker

Rex D. Pinger, member of the First Quorum of Seventy of the LDS church, will speak at the Richfield LDS conference this weekend in Carey.

Richfield confab slated

CAREY — Elder Rex D. Pinger, a member of the First Quorum of Seventy of the LDS Church will speak at the Richfield Stake Conference Saturday and Sunday in Carey. Elder Pinger, a member of the quorum since October 1976, received his doctorate degree in education from the University of Southern California in 1967 and has served on the general board of the Sunday School and was chairman of the department of educational psychology in the College of Education at Brigham Young University. All adults are invited to attend the Saturday meeting at 7 p.m. and the general session Sunday at 10 a.m.

Classes begin at Buhl

BUHL — Vacation Bible School classes will be held from 8:30 to 9 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday, at the First Church of the Nazarene, Broadway and Maple Avenue here. Officials plan a picnic for about noon, June 5, at the Eastman park following worship services at 11 a.m. in the church. The school theme is "The Family of God." For transportation, call Pastor Russell Martin at 543-4493 or Darlene Spaniel at 543-4566.

Kids offer novel ideas

TWIN FALLS — When the chamber of commerce launched a poster contest on energy saving, officials didn't know they were going to come up with a number of novel ideas never dreamed of by utility company experts.

For example, one young grade schooler suggested "The Family That Bathes Together, Saves Together." With a "bathing scene" depicting his poster, the youngster left contest judges wondering if many area families practice that Japanese custom.

Another child, who probably hates hot cereal and soup, thought eating cold snacks at mealtime would save a lot of electrical or natural gas energy.

"Turn off the lights, turkey" was the theme of still another prize-winning poster from the lower elementary grades. Another young man went all out and "Turn off Everything." "Unplug Everything."

Teachers in the various grade schools found youngsters are well aware of the need to save energy. As one teacher said, "I think they are more apt to remind their parents of the need to watch lavish use of power and water than what we normally think will be the case with the parent having to remind the child."

About 100 youngsters from the elementary and junior high schools in Twin Falls entered the chamber of commerce contest. Nine were selected to receive the $10 first place and $5 second place awards in five age categories.

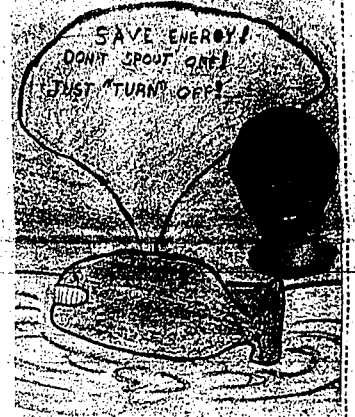

The poster contest is all part of the chamber of commerce effort to call community attention to the need of cutting back on electrical and water uses wherever possible in view of pending shortages.

Five of the winners came from the Harrison School while Morningside and Sawtooth had one each and the Robert Stuart Junior High School had two winners.

Dr. Thad Scholes, chamber president, and James Newton, energy committee chairman, said the posters will be displayed in downtown business windows and anyone wishing one for display should contact the chamber office.

First and second place winners by category include Lee White and Sheila Scheel, both Harrison, first grade; Jeff Scheel, Harrison, and Lorraine John, Morningside, second and third grades; Sheri Fraelich and Steve Kidd, both Harrison, fourth and fifth grades; Launa Kleinkopf, Sawtooth, sixth and seventh grades; and Mark Farmer and Leslie Williamson, both Robert Stuart, eighth and ninth grades.

Each school selected winners in each category and submitted them to the contest judges. In the sixth and seventh grade category, only one entry reached the judges so no second place award was made.

diamonds from dummy. — Maybe the defender, with three diamonds will hold all of them. If he has we are likely to go down to defeat and will look mighty silly if a simple attack in diamonds would succeed due to the presence of the king in the West hand. We have set up East-West holdings that will defeat the contract against any line of play. Of course, if South draws trumps, leads the queen of spades and lets it ride East must refuse to win the trick. But anything is possible when you see all the cards.

Ask the Jacobys

A Missouri reader wants to know if it is your legal right to pass your partner's forcing bid.

It certainly is perfectly proper in a legal sense. It is rather dangerous if your partner is not to get really mad at you for doing it.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

By Oswald & James Jacoby

An unkind reader sent us the North and South hands and asked us the best percentage play to make six hearts.

Our reply was that we would try to get some diamond discs from our opponents by simply leading out six trumps while chucking three diamonds from dummy. Somewhere there may be a couple of players who won't fall for this swindle, but it sure looks good to us. Just suppose we run-off those six spades while discarding a spade, a club and then all four FILER — Commencement exercises for the Filer High School class of 1977 began at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Filer school gymnasium.

The processional and recessional marches were by the Filer High School under the direction of Ron Kofoed. Teresa Cristobal, senior class secretary-treasurer, gave invocation. Salutatory addresses were presented by Faith Rupprecht and Terri McCollum. A girls' trio presented a musical selection.

Faults Pierce gave the valedictory address, and J. Howard Moon was in charge of the presentation of awards and the announcement of scholarships. Helen Wilson, Northwest Nazarene College, was speaker of the day.

Lawrence Knigge, chairman of the school board of trustees, offered comments, and Edwin Marshall, principal, presented the class for their diplomas which were distributed by Superintendent Ray Baker and school board members.

Kathy Wood, senior class president, gave the benediction.

Motto for this year's class is "The past forever gone, the future still our own". The class colors are light blue and dark blue, and the class flowers are the rose and carnation.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD BULLERS

Hunt miss, Bullers exchange promises

JEROME — Angela Colleen O'Connor was married to Richard C. Bullers, in rites May 7 at St. Jerome's Catholic Church with Father Francis DeNardis officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Connor, Hunt. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cy Bullers, Eden.

Reception assistants were Eva Melnie, Burley, aunt of the bridegroom; Peggy Davis, Boise, sister of the bridegroom; Rose Fogerson,ritchland, Wash., sister of the bride; Steve and Chris Wood, sister and brother-in-law of the bride; Middleton, and Lola Fitzpatrick, Eden.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bullers. A bridal shower was given by Nona Baldwin and Patty Vinyard, friends of the bride.

The bridegroom is employed at Russ' Auto Repair, and the bride is employed by S. M. Kern, D.D.S., both Twin Falls. The couple resides south of Hansen.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a full-length polyester, satin gown with a high, laced neckline and long sleeves with lace cuffs. She wore a veil featuring an orange blossom headpiece from her mother's bridal veil and carried a cascade of blue and green carnations accented with baby's breath.

Nona Baldwin, Hazelton, was maid of honor, and Tonya Davis, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl.

Tom Bullers, Eden, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Jon Bullers, Eden, brother of the bridegroom, was ring-bearer.

Uisers were Tim Bullers, Eden, brother of the bridegroom, and John O'Connor, Hunt, brother of the bride.

Sandy Hammond, Twin Falls, sang and played the guitar. Willis Elder, Twin Falls, was organist; Lora Hasselstrom, Twin Falls, was in charge of the guestbook.

A reception was held in the parish hall. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with kissing angels and decorated with blue and green flowers.

Ragland speaks to Jobies

TWIN FALLS — Bethel No. 19, Twin Falls, of the International Order of Job's Daughters held their last stated meeting of the spring term Monday evening at the Masonic Temple in Twin Falls.

Dr. Ernest H. Ragland, Junior Warden of Twin Falls Lodge No. 45 A.F. and A.M., spoke on "The Principles and Meanings of Masonry."

Honored Queen Nancy Jones, presiding over the meeting, presented officers with gifts. Barbara Bybee, Cassie Steen and Julie Willis presented the Honored Queen with gifts on behalf of the Bethel members.

Librarian Lori Tomnerup read a poem written by her entitled, "A Dream Come True."

The Bethel received invitations for installations at the following Bethels: Bethel No. 14, June 6, 7:30 p.m.; Jerome Masonic Temple; Bethel No. 21, June 12, 3 p.m.; Buhl Masonic Temple; and Bethel No. 15, May 29, 2 p.m.; Gooding Masonic Temple.

Bethel No. 19 will hold open installations on May 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the Masonic Temple with a practice at 10 a.m. the same day. Honored Queen-elect is Holly Jones.

A book sale was held after the meeting with proceeds going to the educational and promotional fund.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 53-year-old man who is very much in love with a 22-year-old girl. I know you think I'm crazy, but this girl really loves me. She even broke up with a young, good-looking man just for me. She worked for me for a short time, but we didn't want any talk around the place, so I had her quit.

My problem is my wife. She won't give me a divorce. Our children are grown, and I offered my wife a very good settlement, which she refused.

Abby, my girlfriend is the sweetest, most unspooled girl in the world. She is just the opposite of my wife. She appreciates every little thing I've given her, like a small, inexpensive car, some clothes and taking care of her mother's hospital bill. I would gladly give up my last dime to be free to marry this girl. How can I get my wife to give in?

LONG ISLANDER

Wants freedom

DEAR ISLANDER: Make her a better offer. She might surprise you. But don't give up your last dime for your freedom because that "sweet, unspooled girl" might also surprise you and disappear when she discovers you're broke.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 28-year-old, college-educated man who takes a ping-pong ball to bed with him every night and keeps bouncing it off the wall and catching it until he gets tired enough to fall asleep? That's my husband.

He claims it "relieves tension." We have been married for two years, and he started this foolishness about six months ago. I have even considered leaving this nut!

PING-PONG PROBLEM

DEAR PING: Your husband is inconsiderate to relieve his tension in a manner that adds to yours. Suggest that he tell his troubles to a doctor before you tell yours to a lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and our daughter were too close to suit me. They were cutting me out, so I solved it by telling my husband a few things about her, and they are no longer close.

Then he developed a closeness with our son, and I used the same method, and our son left home.

Someone in our family who knew how I solved this problem sent me an article in which there was a similar situation. It said the wife was jealous of her own children.

Abby, because I want to be first in my husband's life, does that mean I am jealous?

I admit I'm jealous where other women are concerned because when he has had to go out of town on business, I always go with him. I trust him in town, but not OUT of town. I think that kind of jealousy is normal, but I don't think it's possible to be jealous of my own children, do you?

JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: Yes. And from where I sit, I would say that you are. I would also say that the "method" you used to break up the "closeness" between your husband and your children was underhanded and nothing to be proud of.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Carter envoys head home

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — President Carter's special envoys on the proposed pullout of U.S. ground troops from South Korea ended their four-day visit to Seoul today. But South Korean government officials remained skeptical about the plan.

Gen. George Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Phillip C. Habib, undersecretary of state for political affairs, reaffirmed the U.S. commitment to the security of South Korea before flying to Tokyo on a military plane.

However, spokesmen for the Seoul government appeared unconvinced by assurances from the Carter administration.

"We will be considering the proposed withdrawal because the United States has made a political decision to carry it out," a South Korean spokesman said. "However, we don't understand what merits it has and why it has to be done since tension and the danger of war still exist on the Korean peninsula."

In Tokyo, Brown and Habib met for two hours with Japanese Foreign Minister Ichiro Hatoyama. Japanese sources said Hatoyama pressed the Americans to make sure that nothing was done to threaten peace on the Korean Peninsula.

Habib reportedly told Hatoyama that details of the troop withdrawal will be negotiated in late July or early August at scheduled talks between the American and South Korean governments.

"In Seoul, Brown told a final news conference that various "compensatory measures" sought by South Korea in connection with the withdrawal of 33,000 American ground troops were "eminently sensible."

Soviets attack Chinese

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has made a stinging new attack against China today. One analyst calls the strongest in almost 10 years.

"The blunt rhetorical broadside was contained in a formal letter of protest addressed to the Chinese embassy here May 19 by the Soviet Foreign Ministry. The text of the note was published Thursday by the government newspaper Izvestia.

The note implicated high Chinese officials in a campaign of "lies and slander" against Moscow. It accused Peking of "preaching that a world war is 'inevitable and ever-desirable.'"

"There are some in China who hypocritically represent the deliberately mounted anti-Soviet campaign as some principled argument. But what can there be in common between an ideological argument and actions that cannot be qualified as anything but malicious slander, abuse and provocation?" the note said.

"(The Chinese Communist) newspaper People's Daily warned today of 'unbridled and ominous Soviet moves' in a drive for domination of the seas and said they would lead to war.

"One Western analyst said the Soviet protest appeared to be "just short of threatening action" against the Chinese. He said it was the strongest such attack since the Soviet-Chinese border clashes of the late 1960s.

Angola troops stage mutiny

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — Mutinous troops attacked the presidential palace in Luanda today to win the release of two military leaders purged from the Marxist government of Angola, Radio Portugal said.

The radio, quoting sources in the Angolan capital, said fighting broke out at early today and raged around the palace for four hours until the two purged men were released from prison.

It said the capital was being patrolled by armored cars and tanks and that civilians were not venturing into the streets.

The broadcast said Radio Luanda was calling for a mass demonstration to show support for President Agostinho Neto's Angolan, Popular Liberation Movement government.

Tension within the MPLA has been rising since the pro-Soviet wing purged army chiefs Nito Alves and Jose Van Dunen from the central committee.

The move was announced last week after Alves and Dunen publicly complained about the growing Soviet and Cuban influence at all levels of government.

Dayan choice reconsidered

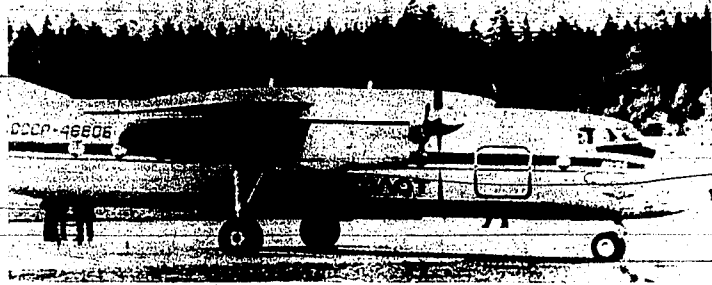

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Menachem Begin's right-wing Likud bloc will reconsider the decision to appoint one-time hero Moshe Dayan as foreign minister because of growing widespread opposition to the former defense minister, Likud sources said today.

The Likud's executive committee scheduled a meeting for Sunday, at which, the sources said, it may take a formal vote on whether to stick to Begin's decision to appoint Dayan. It stocked the political establishment and created a crisis for the right-wing leader.

Rhodesian raps 'nerve war'

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — A top Rhodesian official says U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young and black leaders are waging a "war of nerves" against the white minority government.

and housing, made his remarks Thursday as representatives of his government met with a British-American diplomatic team to discuss proposals for black majority rule.

Hijacked airliner sits on Stockholm tarmac

Sweden may grant Soviet asylum

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — A hijacked Soviet Aeroflot AN24 plane forced to land in Sweden, left for Riga, Latvia, today without the hijacker.

The plane left Arlanda International Airport with 17 passengers and a crew members aboard. Police questioned them at the airport before departure.

The hijacker who told crew members Thursday that he carried explosives under his jacket remained in police custody, but Swedish officials said they probably would not expel him. The Soviet Union has asked for his return.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said no formal decision on whether Sweden will expel the 37-year-old Soviet engineer was expected until next week after police investigations were completed. "But it is very, very unlikely that we will expel him," the official said.

Even if he is granted political asylum in Sweden, authorities will charge him with hijacking — a crime which in this case could result in four years imprisonment.

'Wait and see,' Young says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young says the United States should adopt a "wait and see" attitude with regard to a Cuban presence in strife-torn Ethiopia.

"Cubans are people," he said, they might help.

As he returned from a long four of Africa Thursday, Young told reporters the question of Cuban military advisers in Africa should not scare the United States.

"We ought not just be afraid of Cubans. I mean Cubans are people," Young said. "And they might do good things, they might do bad things. Let's wait and see what they do before we jump to conclusions."

"I don't know whether they are there yet. I don't know what they are going to do when they get there. I think we ought to wait and see what they do before we decide."

"People are killing people all over there," he said of the fighting between Ethiopians and Eritrean rebels. "If they (the Cubans) stop the killing, I think that would be sensible. If they contribute to the killing, the blame and shame would be theirs," Young said.

Noting other African nations are steering clear of the Ethiopian clashes, Young said, "I don't know why anybody in his right mind would go in there."

Vice President Walter Mondale, taking a harder line earlier Thursday, said the administration would consider it "very serious" if Cuban troops follow the military advisers.

"Even now it is not exactly clear what those 40 or 50 persons are doing there," Mondale said.

Constitution OK'd

MOSCOW (UPI) — The leadership of the Supreme Soviet, the Soviet Union's parliament, approved the draft of the proposed new national constitution today and ordered it published on June 4 for public discussion.

Radio Moscow announced that the president of the Supreme Soviet heard a report on the new constitution from party General Secretary Leonid Brezhnev and then passed a decree approving it.

Radio Moscow said that in the course of the discussion of the new draft constitution the president voted to convene a special session of the Supreme Soviet in October of this year.

Radio Moscow said Central Committee secretary Mikhail Suslov delivered a report on the proposed new Soviet national anthem — which was approved by the president and adopted for use beginning next Sept. 1.

The new draft constitution prepared by a special commission headed by Brezhnev would replace the 1936 Stalin constitution.

He'd talk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Saudi Arabia's oil minister, Sheikh Ahmad Zaki Yamani declines to rule out the use of oil as a weapon against the West — but says he would rather talk peace and cooperation.

Yamani's remarks in a UPI interview Thursday were not in full agreement with his country's Crown Prince Fahd.

ANTAGONISTS Darryl Dawkins, left, and Portland's Maurice Lucas come to blows during fourth-quarter action in the NBA playoff finals Thursday night. Both were ejected from the game, which Philadelphia won 107-89 (UPI)

THIS REBOUND, in which Philadelphia's Darryl Dawkins twisted both the ball and Blazer Bob Gross into a pretzel, started the madness in Thursday night's NBA game. Gross and Dawkins had words after which Dawkins and Blazer Maurice Lucas squared off and eventually were ejected. (UPI)

Second from ejection

Philadelphia goes two-up in NBA championship series with Portland

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia 76ers demonstrated an artistic fast break to take a 2-0 lead in the NBA championship series that turned into not-so-artistic fistcuffs before the final buzzer.

Unheralded Henry Bibby joined the more publicized duo of Julius Erving and Doug Collins in the Sixers' explosive second quarter attack Thursday night that led to a 107-89 victory for Philadelphia over the Portland Trail Blazers.

"We are able to control the game and fast break," said winning Coach Gene Shue. "We controlled the game so well that we ran as well as you ever can. We played as well as you can play under stress."

The 76ers used a 30-17 quarter to take a 61-43 halftime lead as the Blazers shot a poor 22 percent from the floor.

A fight began in the fourth quarter when 6-foot-11, 257-pound Darryl Dawkins squared off against Portland's 6-8 Maurice Lucas. Both benches cleared and also a few fans came onto the playing floor.

After the two players da'ced around looking to throw a punch, they were pulled apart by other players and ejected from the game.

"The playoffs are very emotional," Shue said. "There were a few calls players didn't like and they started to get a little rough. It was just one of those things that can happen."

Portland Coach Jack Ramsay was hit while trying to pull the enraged Dawkins away from Lucas.

"I went out after Dawkins to stop that kind of thing," Ramsay said. "I went out to stop the fight — that's my responsibility."

Collins had 27 points to lead four Sixers in double figures. Erving had 20, Bibby 15 and Caldwell James 10. Bill Walton had 17 points to lead the Blazers.

The best-of-seven series returns to Portland for Game 3 Sunday afternoon.

The last tie of the game came with 1:26 to play in the first quarter when Walton hit a jumper, but the 76ers scored five straight points to take a 31-26 lead at the end of the period.

Collins got the Sixers moving in the second period with two baskets. George McGinnis then sank two layups and Ted Lloyd Free for another for a 45-31 lead with 6:08 to play.

Portland stayed close, cutting the lead to nine; 47-38, on a jumper by Johnny Davis with 4:11 left.

But the Sixers scored 14 of the next 19 points to open their big lead.

Bibby sank two jumpers and a pair of foul shots and Erving added a twisting underhand layup to make the score 55-39 with 2:05 left.

Bibby hit two more fouls. Steve Mix drove for a layup and Erving rammed in a dunk for the halftime margin.

The Sixers shot 54 percent in the period.

The Blazers never seriously threatened the 76ers in the second half. The closest they could get was 13 points, 80-76, on a basket by Walton with 6:48 to play.

However, Collins hit a foul, Erving a jumper and McGinnis a dunk to increase Philadelphia's lead to 94-76 with 5:40 to play.

With the score 96-76 and 4:52 to play, Dawkins and the Blazers' Bob Gross crashed to the floor and came up swinging.

Lucas then punched Dawkins and the two big men squared off at midcourt as both benches emptied and fans came onto the floor.

During the disturbance, Collins was hit in the eye and Portland assistant coach Jack McKinney was jumped from behind by angry fans. Once the court was cleared, the 6-foot-1 Dawkins hit a foul shot to make the score 97-76.

Rutherford paces final Indy tuneup

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Johnny Rutherford, the defending champion who must start in 17th position, Thursday set the pace in final carburetor tests for the rich Indianapolis 500.

Half a dozen of the top favorites in Sunday's holiday classic were clocked at practice speeds of 190 miles per hour or better, but there was unanimous agreement they will have to slow down considerably when the 200-lap auto race begins.

Rutherford, the Speedway champion in 1974 who repeated last year by winning the shortest race in history — 255 miles — was timed at 194.5 m.p.h. in his British-made McLaren.

"I'm very happy with the workout," said the sandy-haired Texan said.

Rutherford had the third fastest speed in time trials, but must start in the middle of the sixth row because he did not qualify until the second day.

A. J. Foyt, a three-time Speedway champ starting from the inside of the second row, was clocked at 192.5, just a shade ahead of two-time winner Bobby Unser at 192.3.

The others at better than 190 m.p.h. were pole-sitter Tom Sneva and former race winners Mario Andretti and Gordon Johncock. Sneva and Andretti are teammates for Roger Penske.

Thirty-one of the 33 starters took advantage of the final two-hour testing period conducted under a bright sun with the temperature in the mid-80s.

The only cars not on the track were those to be driven by rookies Cliff Hucul and Bobby Jones.

Crews for both machines reported mechanical problems.

There were no accidents, but the car of veteran Mike Mosley broke a piston, necessitating a major engine repair.

Janet Guthrie, making race history as the first woman in the million-dollar chase, said she was not satisfied with her final practice.

"We were trying to break in a new engine and could have used a lot more time on the race track," she said as she was besieged by autograph seekers. Guthrie will start in 26th position, in the middle of the ninth row.

Sneva said he was not "super satisfied" with his car's handling, "but we'll be close."

"You are never satisfied with your performance," he added.

Andretti, just back from the Grand Prix of Monte Carlo, wore a worried face in the pits but had no complaints.

"You're always worried," he said. "The car feels good and we were running consistently at 190 m.p.h. or better. For the race, though, we'll all slow down."

If they don't slow down, the machines face the danger of running out of fuel. Each car is limited to 280 gallons.

The long-range weather forecast was not encouraging for high-speed driving. It called for sunny and hot conditions and temperatures may hit the 80-degree mark. If the forecast holds, the weather will be demanding on engines, tires and drivers, necessitating more pit stops than normal.

Cycle noise violation tests offered riders

TWIN FALLS — Motorcycle riders will have the opportunity to have their bikes tested without the risk of being cited for violations to see if they meet off-road noise standards from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday.

The Idaho Trail Machine Association has arranged with the Forest Service to set up a testing station at Bear Gulch Campground, 26 miles south of Twin Falls on the Nat. Soc. Path Road.

To find the Campground, follow Nat. Soc. Path to the Shoshone Basin and continue on four miles beyond where Shoshone Creek begins to parallel the road. Turn left at the Bear Gulch sign and follow the dirt road about one mile to the end of the road.

Bear Gulch National Forest rangers will check cycles to make sure they do not exceed the 82 decibel maximum noise limit, and no citations will be issued in the event violations are found.

Finley to spring new surprise

OAKLAND (UPI) — Oakland A's owner Charlie Finley, saying he has an announcement to make which "will be accepted enthusiastically by Bay Area sports fans," has called a news conference for 11 a.m. EST Friday.

"I'd like very much to say something about it now," Finley said, "but I better wait until the news conference. I haven't even said a word about this to my baseball associates because they are worse than the people in Washington — they leak everything."

Finley said his announcement would be the most important of any he has made since bringing the A's West to Oakland.

"Everyone is going to like this announcement," he teased.

Pressed if it had anything to do with the possibility of his moving the franchise elsewhere in the face of poor attendance this year, Finley said "no, nothing like that. I'm staying, as I have insisted all along."

The news conference will be held in the Edgewater Hyatt House.

Meanwhile, the A's were tale Tuesday, following a two-game sweep of Toronto it, they play in Cleveland Friday night in the first of a three-game weekend series with the Indians. Two games in Detroit and two more in Seattle complete the current road trip with the club coming home on June 3.

Lucchesi only seeks vindication

NEW YORK (UPI) — One of the first things Texas Rangers' Manager Frank Lucchesi did after some of the uproar over the Lenny Randle escapee had died was have a little talk with Bump Willis, the rookie second baseman who innocently triggered Randle's tury by taking his job.

"You're gonna prove me right in the long run," Lucchesi said to him. "People are saying I'm handing you the job. It isn't so at all. You're gonna have to earn it."

"That's the only way I want it," answered Willis. "I wanna earn it."

He certainly has been doing that, particularly the past four weeks when he has bastered the ball at a .414 clip to bring his average from .215 to .309, and with Randle hitting .360 and playing so well for the Mets, maybe all that trouble this spring in Orlando will wind up with some redeeming aspects yet.

Lucchesi still feels some soreness in his back from the incident but doesn't talk about it. He'd much rather talk about Willis.

"The thing I like most about him is his makeup and his attitude," says the Rangers' manager about his 24-year-old second baseman. "He has good baseball aptitude and is a good listener. He picks up things in a hurry. Little things like getting the jump on the pitcher and taking the extra base where some other guys would lay back and play it safe."

In that regard, Bump Willis is his father's son.

Although he doesn't have the speed of his old man, Maury, who stole 194 bases for the Dodgers 15 years ago and still looks as if he could steal at least 50 for them now, Bump has many of the mannerisms of his father. He's built a little more compactly, but he has the same quick reflexes, the same sharpness upstairs and the same capacity for hitting from either side of the plate.

He isn't the threat on the base paths his father was, but by no means does he clog up the base paths. He can run, and has stolen seven bases already for the Rangers.

Early scouting reports on him said he was a better hitter than a fielder, which, curiously, was pretty much what the scouts reported when Maury Willis broke in. In his first year out, Bump hit .307 with Philadelphia in the Eastern League and last year he did even better with Sacramento in the Pacific Coast League for whom he averaged .324 and hit 28 homers.

"We heard reports he was just an adequate fielder but he has done everything you could ask defensively and he makes the double play exceptionally well," says Lucchesi. "You have to remember that after everything that happened, the kid was under a little pressure, too. He handled it like a professional."

Even though this is Willis' first year in the big leagues, Lucchesi isn't coddling him. Once in awhile when Willis gets a little down on himself over having a bad day or night, Lucchesi will apply a pat on the back or an encouraging word or two, but that's it. There's no special treatment.

As for Randle's performance with the Mets so far, Lucchesi says he's happy about it.

"I wish he does well," says the Texas manager. "What am I gonna say—I hope he does bad? When the Mets got him from us, I told Don Grant 'this guy will give you 110 per cent on the field.' AM I surprised how well he has done? No. I think it's a normal thing that he wants to prove to people he's a good ballplayer. I hope he keeps doing well for the Mets. What he's doing for them is one thing. All I can tell you is I'm very happy with the job Bump Willis is doing for us."

Safety measures while boating

The Red Cross says that most people who drown never intended to be in the water but fell from a boat or dock. Don't overload your boat or canoe, and provide a life preserver for every person aboard. Keep passengers from sitting on the decks or gunwales while the boat is underway. As a general rule, stay with your boat if it has capsized. Most small craft will float, even filled with water or overturned.

It is noted that many men fall overboard while fishing or boating because they attempt to urinate over the side of the boat and a sudden move or wave will throw them into the water.

In fact over 75% of the male drowning victims, who drowned while fishing were doing just this thing. Go to shore get a 3 lb. coffee can.

If you accidentally fall into cold-water get out as soon as possible — even if it means swimming to a point of safety away from your capsize boat. Cold water exposure victims should be given a warm bath, 105 to 110 degrees and warm water added continuously.

Area anglers connect on salmon run leaders in Stanley basin area

STANLEY — At least three Twin Falls fishermen already have taken salmon in the Stanley basin area and it is obvious that some will be available for area anglers this weekend.

The Idaho Fish and Game Department's Kent Ball, Fisheries biologist at Salmon said the run is "coming fast but is not here in good numbers yet."

Still the department conducted a series of checking stations from Corn Creek on the main Salmon to a point just below Smiley Creek over Galena summit.

The numbers were not impressive but definitely indicated the run leaders now are throughout the main stem of the river.

The department checked out 319 anglers last week who caught 22 salmon. However, they spent 2,986 hours fishing and the take average out to 132 hours per fish.

"It is the front end of the run, and anglers are catching fish from the Middle Fork all the way to Sunbeam," Ball confirmed.

Action has been pretty good at the Sunbeam Dam although anglers are having trouble landing the fish due to extreme low waters. Five were hooked there Wednesday morning but only a 12-pounder pulled ashore.

Dr. Richard Smith and Gary Hawkins of Twin Falls had three trophies to show for their weekend effort — but not the way they planned. They jet-boated down below Corn Creek and spent two days of fruitless casting.

On the way back, the duo came through Stanley, noticed some action up that high and tried their hand. Smith hooked a 25-pounder.

Saturday, Dr. Bill Hawkins hooked and landed a 20-pounder on his first cast and his third cast of the day netted a 22-pounder.

Dale Crist of Twin Falls pulled out an eight-pound Jack salmon Wednesday.

"I looked at a couple of the fish the other guys here in town caught and, of course, this little one I got. They're all really in nice shape, pretty fish. Smith's was 37 inches long and weighed 25 pounds so you know that was a beauty. Usually, a fish that length caught that high in the Salmon River will run about 18 pounds," Crist said.

Crist said he wasn't sure this weekend would be too successful, due to his Wednesday experience. "There were four of us and we kinda think we know what we're doing," he said. "We fished awfully hard for one eight-pounder. I think I might wait another week before going back."

Dugout jockey

UMPIRE BAITER Lou Brock of St. Louis tries to get to umpire Doug Harvey from the dugout during the Cards' game with the Philadelphia Phillies. Harvey went along with the gag and Brock later entered the game as a pinch-hitter to help St. Louis win 4-3 in 10 innings. (UPI)

No game tonight

NOBODY'S COMPLAINING but the Twin Falls slowpitch league hasn't much action this week due to access like this. Diamond No. 1 in Harmon Park looked more like a duck nesting area than a baseball field Thursday night just before the scheduled start of action.

Ace helps Graham share tourney lead

ATLANTA (UPI) — David Graham offset his failure to make four short birdie putts with the third hole in one of his career to grab a share of the lead with three other golfers Thursday in the rain-abbreviated first round of the $200,000 Atlanta Golf Classic.

A thunderstorm which crossed over part of the course in late afternoon suspended play with 57 players in the field of 156 being forced to complete their opening rounds early Friday morning before second-round action begins.

PGA officials said all Thursday 18-hole scores would count and said those who had not finished their first round would resume at the point they left off at 7:30 a.m. EST Friday. Second round play will begin as scheduled at 8 a.m.

Graham, who missed birdie putts of six feet or less four times but had a hole in one on the par-3 8th hole, shared the lead — at 4-under-par 68 — with Dave Eichelberger, Mac McLendon and John Schroeder among those who did finish.

Dave Stockton, a two-time PGA champ, also was at 4-under but still had one hole to play and former U.S. Open champions Hale Irwin and Lou Graham were both at 4-under with three holes to play. Lou Graham had been on top of the leader board at 5-under before suffering a bogey 5 at the last hole he completed before the siren sounded calling the golfers in off the course.

The rain hit only the north side of the Atlanta Country Club course, but it was the lightning that cracked in the vicinity that forced the suspension.

Irwin won this tournament when it was last played in 1975. It was not held last year because the U.S. Open was held just a few miles away a couple of weeks after the date this tournament would have been played.

"I really wasn't doing anything special until I made that ace at 13," said Graham, a 31-year-old Australian, winner of two U.S. tournaments last year and 15th on this year's money list with more than $65,000 despite no victories.

"I used a wedge because it was a downhill shot that played only about 120 yards. The ball hit about eight feet past the cup and hooked back in."

"My only other holes in one were both in 1974 — at the British Open and at Akron. It's like getting an eagle on a par-5 hole. You make a big jump in just one hole. It gives you a whole different outlook. I was just coasting along and suddenly I was battling for the lead."

The ace helped Graham's score but not his putting. He missed an 18-inch birdie putt on the very next hole and then missed a one-footer two holes later.

"The first one was a tough putt, it really broke sharply," said Graham. "But the second one was ridiculous. I should have been able to kick it in."

Among the 99 finishers, Duke Butler and Gary McCord were a stroke behind the leaders at 69.

Floater warned of low waters

SALMON, Idaho (UPI) — An average of one boating party per day has been floating the Middle Fork of the Salmon River, a forest ranger at Challis said today.

Sam Warren, "wild river" ranger at Challis, said water is low from Dagger Falls to Indian Creek and while that section is still navigable the U.S. Forest Service recommends boaters start at Indian Creek.

The forest service has its boat crews organized and should be near full operation on the river by June 1. That is three weeks earlier than usual.

Warren said water conditions later in the season are unpredictable but he doubted if the river will get so low downstream from Indian Creek that it can't be floated all season.

He said Middle Fork traffic to date has been fairly light. Fishing for salmon is open this spring on the Middle Fork except for a closure at Dagger Falls.

Precipitation creates slick, muddy conditions in forest

TWIN FALLS — Continuous rain and snow storms in Sawtooth National Forest areas have created extremely slick and muddy conditions.

Approximately 4 1/2 inches of rainfall have been recorded in the Ketchum area during the month of May.

Construction has now begun on the Rock Creek Road south of Hansen, according to Velda Lawrence, Information Specialist for the Sawtooth. During the summer months, the road will be closed from 8 a.m. Monday morning to 5 p.m. on Friday evening. It will be opened for weekend and holiday traffic.

Free use of firewood permits for the South Hills will not be available until areas have dried out enough for vehicle travel.

The road between Big and Little Smoky is presently very slick because of the recent rains. A mud slide has occurred on Trail Creek summit making this road quite dangerous.

Other areas that continue to be inaccessible because of soft road beds include: areas around the Cleveland Lake area, Big Creek and Bear Hollow roads in the South Hills, Warren Springs Road beyond Weyfield Creek out of Ketchum and Elk Meadows.

Fisher Creek, Fourth of July Creek and Pole Creek in the Sawtooth National Recreation area. The Mayes Creek Road is now open.

The majority of campgrounds on the Sawtooth are now open, but water systems in some campsites have not been turned on because of the possibility of freezing pipes.

Most high mountain divides still have at least a foot of snow and are considered hazardous for either foot travel or pack and saddle stock. Visitors are advised to inquire about day hikes at various NRA offices.

The fishing should be quite good this opening weekend as most streams have quite low water levels and quite a few of the streams have been stocked. The level of the Salmon River is 2-foot above the mean low level.

TEN HIGH The bourbon that won the west.

The flavor of the west. Remington captured it then. Back when cowhands busted broncs for sheer pride. Ten High's captured that flavor today. The straight honest taste of corn mated. Aged in oak 'til it's smooth and easy going down. That's why in the west, where bourbon is the drink, Ten High is the bourbon.

Police seek boxer's slayer

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Homicide detectives today sought a girlfriend for questioning in the slaying of Tyrone Everett, top-ranked contender for the junior lightweight boxing crown.

Everett, 24, was shot in the face Thursday inside the South Philadelphia home of his girlfriend, identified by police as Carolyn McKendrick, 24.

Police refused to say whether the woman was home at the time of the slaying but said neighbors told them an unidentified man and woman were seen leaving the house shortly after the shooting.

Everett, ranked No. 2 by the World Boxing Council, was discovered by police at 11:20 a.m. in a second floor bedroom of the home. He was pronounced dead 10 minutes later at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital.

Police Inspector Arthur Matthews, said police were directed to the home by neighbors who reported hearing gunshots, apparently at least two. Everett's cream-colored 1976 Cadillac was parked in front of the house.

Matthews said no suspects had been arrested and no weapon was found.

Everett, a Philadelphian who first started fighting when he was 18, had a 36-1 record. His only loss was a bitterly contested, 15-round decision to junior lightweight champion Alfredo Escalera at the Spectrum here last November.

Everett, about 5-foot-5 and 133 pounds, did not fight again until May 16 when he stopped Delfino Rodriguez at 1:26 of the fourth round, in a preliminary fight as part of the Muhammad Ali-Alfredo Evangelista heavy-weight championship card at Landover, Md.

Everett learned only Wednesday that as a result of that victory he would meet Escalera again in June in another title bout, it was reported.

After the Rodriguez fight, Everett and his manager, Frank Geib, talked about moving up in weight to the "super" lightweight class and fighting Esteban DeJesus, holder of the WBC lightweight title.

Everett was noted as a skilled, rather than overpowering fighter, but he did have a good left hand.

Geib said he "had a clean record. He never hung in the corner."

"Never in the six years we've been together has he ever caused a problem to anyone," Geib said.

Cubs tip Expos 1-0 on bases-loaded walk

CHICAGO (UPI) — Winning pitcher Mike Krukow scored the only run of the game Thursday on a bases-loaded walk to Bobby Murcer to give the Chicago Cubs a 1-0 victory over the Montreal Expos.

It was the first shutout and the first complete game in nine major league starts for Krukow, who allowed only four hits and struck out six. Steve Rogers went seven innings for the Expos and lost for the fourth time in nine decisions.

George Mitterand walked to start the Cubs' sixth and was forced at second by Krukow. Ivan DeJesus struck out, but Greg Gross loped a single to left field and Larry Blittner beat out an infield single to load the bases before Murcer's walk.

It was the 18th win in the last 23 games for the Cubs.

on a fielder's choice by Darrell Evans. Then Whitfield singled to score Harris as the Giants took their fifth victory in the last six games, the club's best showing of the season.

Lavelle worked two innings and was rewarded with his third victory in four decisions. Pedro Borbon, who pitched only the eighth, took the loss; his third in as many decisions while Randy Moffitt, who closed out the game in the ninth, grabbed his fourth save.

Whitfield also drove in a run in the first while Thomas Willie McCreary, Tim Foli and starting pitcher John Montefusco had an RBI each. Cesar Geronimo had two RBIs with a triple homer, Joe Morgan hit a solo homer and George Foster had a single for Cincinnati.

the 10th inning scored pinch-runner Lee Inay to bring the Los Angeles Dodgers a 4-3 victory over the Houston Astros Thursday night.

Ron Cey led off the 10th with a walk and Rick Monday singled him to third where Lacy took over the pinch-running. Baker then hit a fly to right field to drive in the winning run. The victory went to Mike Garman who took over in the 10th inning in relief of Burt Hooton and the win raised his record to 2-4. Ken Forsch, who relieved starter J.R. Richter in the ninth, was the loser.

The Astros rallied for three runs in the seventh to tie the game at 3-3 after having trailed from the first inning. In the seventh, Jose Cruz singled, Cliff Johnson doubled and Joe Ferguson walked filling the bases. Bob Watson singled in

Cards edge Phils in 10th

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Garry Templeton singled home Tony Scott with the bases loaded and two out in the 10th inning Thursday to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 4-3 win over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Scott doubled to lead off the inning. Jerry Humphrey walked, Keith Hernandez walked and was walked intentionally with two out to load the bases. Templeton's smash off reliever Gene Garber hit second baseman Ted Simmons' glove and fall to the ground for the winning hit.

Giants take fourth in row

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Terry Whitfield, with his fourth single of the game, scored Vic Harris from third with two out in the eighth inning Thursday night to give the San Francisco Giants a 6-5 victory over the Cincinnati Reds and extend their winning streak to four games.

Harris beat out a tap in front of the plate pinch-hitting for winning pitcher Gary Lavelle, went to second on a sacrifice by Darryl Thomas and to third

Jet lands in cemetery

A TWIN-ENGINE Lear Jet leased to Chrysler Corp. crashed through a fence and into a Detroit cemetery on Thursday while attempting to land at City Airport. Two pilots were injured. Police said they understood that former President Gerald R. Ford had left the airport only minutes earlier in another Lear Jet. (UPI)

Bill provides jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today approved a bill to provide jobs and employment training for about 200,000 young people, mainly between the ages of 16 and 23, during the next 18 months. The bill, drafted in a cooperative effort between the administration and a number of Senate offices, now goes to conference with a different version recently passed by the House. The Senate version would: — Set up a new Young Adult Conservation Corps in which youngsters would be hired for outdoor projects in national parks and forests. — Launch a program in which young people would work on community improvement projects such as insulating and improving low-income housing. — Provide for a broad range of job programs specifically aimed at low-income youth, including training, counseling, transportation assistance and on-the-job training.

Batt says Idaho should sue for land

BOISE (UPI) — Senate President Frank R. Batt, Jr. said Thursday if Secretary of Interior can't resolve the conflict between Idaho and federal government over in-lieu land selections, the state had better plan to sue. At a meeting of the legislative Land Grant Committee, Batt said if the former Idaho governor makes his mind up, the problem probably could be settled in two weeks. "If the former governor can't do it, then we better get to suing," the senate legislative leader said. Earlier this week, the State Land Board said it was prepared to go to court to settle the battle with the federal government over the delays in obtaining in-lieu lands. But the board said it would defer such action until it discussed the matter with Andrus. Committee members had hoped to meet with Andrus and Idaho's Congressional delegation June 17 to discuss the in-lieu land problems, but Andrus had to cancel the meeting because of other commitments. Instead, the committee has scheduled a meeting with the congressional delegation June 14 while members are in Washington, D.C. for a national legislative meeting. Commissioner Gordon

Trombley of the Idaho Department of Lands told the committee the land board members tentatively had scheduled a meeting with Andrus July 12 to hash over the problems on obtaining land parcels which the federal government owes Idaho. House Speaker Alan Larsen, R-Blackfoot, committee chairman, said he hoped that representatives of the Interior Department could be available for the meeting with the congressional delegation. He said while Andrus knew the problem, it would be well for his lieutenants to acquaint themselves with the hassle. Larsen said the federal government "actually" stole these lands from us and have had them for 70 years." Sen. Walter Yarbrough, R-Grand View, said politics were involved in the actions of the general agencies over the in-lieu lands. He said they wanted to keep every acre under their jurisdiction. Yarbrough said the only ones the agencies would listen to was the congressional delegation, which sets "the budgets and writes the guidelines." He said the problem would be resolved with politics; but if this wasn't successful then the only other way was to go to court. He added, however, a legal battle would take several years.

House approves school aid fund

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee today approved an $800 million appropriation for impacted school aid, twice that requested by President Carter. even as the President hinted on national television he might veto the proposal. The committee action was part of a $61.3 billion bill to fund the Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare in the 1978 fiscal year that starts Oct. 1. The big measure, second in size only to the defense money bill, was vetoed by Republican presidents five out of the last eight years, mainly because of the impacted aid issue. The aid goes to school districts heavily impacted by children of federal workers.
