Convinced at last

KERRY: England - (UPI) - Bachelor Johnny Thomas' uncle has finally convinced him that a wife is worth her weight in gold.

David Thomas, 75, has promised to turn his $360,000 Great Claddia farm over to nephew John if he marries.

"I've always enjoyed being a bachelor but I must say it would be nice to have a woman to look after me and, this after my uncle is too good to turn down John Thomas said.

The 40-year-old resident of Kerry, who now lives in a trailer parked on a six-acre lot, says he's looking for a "nice, attractive, homey woman between 28 and 38 with a rural background."

TOCCOA, Ga. (UPI) - Hundreds of rescue workers conducted a systematic search today for more victims of Sunday's earthen dam disaster that flooded a bible college campus in northeast Georgia.

A spokesman for Toccoa Falls College said the final death toll was expected to be 39, but only 37 bodies had been found despite the exhaustive search. Still missing were Dr. Jerry Sproull, 45, and Paul Williams, 76. The spokesman said all other faculty, students and their children had been accounted for.

In past similar disasters, such as the Buffalo Creek flood and the Tetord dam break last year in Idaho, some victims are never found. Officials contemplated dragging a sewage pond south of the campus for possible bodies.

A White House aide said today Congress has appropriated $15 million for a pilot project for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to inspect nonfederally regulated dams, and impoundments such as the one above the campus. However, the project has not yet been put into effect.

Maj. Hugh Hardison of the Georgia Highway Patrol said rescue workers searched areas 1.5 miles above and below a bridge that carries Ga. 17 across Toccoa Creek just south of the campus. The scene was one of mud and muck, twisted mobile homes, strewn boards and trees and smashed automobiles.

Carter received a first-hand report from his wife, Rosalynn, who flew to the devastated mountain community Sunday to view the damage and comfort survivors.

An aide to Georgia Gov. George Busbee said the governor had informed the White House that federal disaster assistance would be sought. However, it is expected to take several days to detail the amount of damage and aid needed. State funds will be made available to repair the college and town's water supply that was knocked out by the flood. Water was still unfit to drink today.

Swelled by five days of steady rain, the waters of 80-acre Kelly Barnes Lake burst through the dam between 7:30 a.m. and 2 a.m. EST Sunday, sending tons of red, muddy water down Toccoa Creek onto the sleeping campus town of Toccoa Falls College.

The swirling water, estimated by some witnesses to be 30 feet high, washed into houses and dormitories and swept away trailers occupied by married students and their families.

"I just stood there and watched the trailers being washed away," said Tom Stacey, 23, a student. "They were banging into each other and being crushed. You could hear people trapped inside screaming."

Nineteen of the victims were children; in many instances swept from the grasping hands of their parents.

"I tell you what got me was the kids," said Busbee, who inspected the area Sunday. "I saw them bring out three little kids and a daddy, and I knew the mother was back up under the debris somewhere."

Valley voters go to polls Tuesday

MAGIC VALLEY - Voters across Southern Idaho will head to the polls tomorrow, casting ballots in mayoral and city council elections — and deciding the fate of several local issues.

-Polls will open at noon, remaining open until 8 p.m.

Twin Falls

Twin Falls residents will vote at one of these 10 locations: precinct one, Twin Falls County Courthouse; precinct two, Twin Falls County Courthouse; precinct three, Twin Falls City Hall; precinct four, Robert Stuart Jr. High School; precinct five, Harrison elementary school; precinct six, Sawtooth elementary school; precinct seven, Episcopal Church of the Ascension; precinct eight, Twin Falls senior high school; precinct 9, YMCA-YWCA building; and precinct 10, Morningside elementary school.

Registration for Twin Falls is higher than was recorded in 1975 elections, but lower than registration in 1973. City Clerk Edythe Koonitz said.

Buhl

Buhl voters will cast ballots at the fire station and the IOOF hall.

According to City Treasurer Lois Henderson, registration is down from two years ago.

Filer

All Filer residents will vote at City Hall. According to Frances Wells, city clerk, $29 persons are registered, an increase from last city elections. Wells said the increased registration is due largely to concern about water and sewage problems.

Gooding

Voters in Gooding first precinct will vote at the First Baptist Church. Second precinct residents will vote at the War Memorial Hall. Registration is "about normal," according to county officials.

Heyburn

In Heyburn, voters will cast ballots in City Hall. Heyburn has seen 580 persons registered to vote this year, an increase from the 376 registered voters in 1975.

According to Ila Despain, the increase in registration is due to interest in proposed general revenue bonds for the financing of a city domestic water system.

Burley

Three precincts will vote in the Burley elections. Precinct one voters will cast ballots at the Episcopal Church. Precinct two voters will vote at the First Christian Church and Precinct Three voters at the United Pentecostal Church.

City Clerk Bud Binegar said 2,133 persons have registered to vote — a slight increase from 1975, when 2,111 persons registered.

Jerome

Voters in Jerome will cast their ballots in precinct No. 1 at Pioneer Hall and in precinct No. 2 at City Hall. The dividing line is Main Street. Those living north of Main vote in precinct No. 1, and those south, in precinct No. 2. City Clerk Marilyn Bragg said approximately 1,300 residents are registered to vote. In the last municipal elections in 1975, about 800 voters turned out while approximately 1,200 were registered, she said. About the same percentage of those registered voted in 1973. Considering Jerome's population growth, this year's pre-election sign-up indicates no extra interest compared to previous elections.

Hazelton

In Hazelton, 145 persons are registered to vote compared to 160 registered in 1975. City Clerk Joan Wolf said this year's mayoral race is attracting the most interest and said there was no particular reason for the lower registration. Only 58 persons turned out to vote in 1975; she said.

Hazelton's polling booths will be set up at City Hall.

Wendell

Wendell's city election has seven men seeking three seats on the council and two, incumbent Otto Lemke and Don O'Sullivan, second hand store operator, seeking the mayor slot.

The council candidates include Bob Thackeray, who was appointed to fill a vacancy earlier this year; Elmer Hansen, Dale Bitterli, longtime incumbent; Roy Rost, Herb Lange and Arnold Runyon. Each is seeking one of the two four-year posts.

Harold Simerli, incumbent, is running unopposed for the two-year term.

Wendell City Clerk Mary Wolford said 539 persons are registered to vote Tuesday. About 272 voted in 1975, a 48 percent turnout, and 274 more registered by the Saturday deadline this year, 119 in the last week.

Residents will vote at City Hall; and the contest for mayor between incumbent Otto Lemke and challenger Don O'Sullivan is the main attraction, Mr. Wolford said. O'Sullivan has been outspokenly critical of the present city government.

Richfield

The Richfield City Clerk said she has registered 126 residents compared to 126 in 1975. That year about 100 voted. The only contested Richfield race is for a two-year term on the City Council between Mary Jane Whitesell and Jimmy Newberry.

Rupert

In Rupert, a large number, 1,667, have registered to vote compared to 1,425 in 1975. That year 840 persons cast ballots. In 1973, 1,323 voted while 1,560 were registered. Apparently more residents sign up and take a trip to the Civic Auditorium to vote when a mayor and city councilmen are to be elected, as is the case this year and in 1973.

Shoshone

In Shoshone where the one contested race is between Norma Hill and George Roesler for a two-year city council seat, 500 persons are registered to vote, 119 in sign-up this year and 389 who voted in 1975. City Clerk Raul Chess said approximately the same number were registered in 1975. Residents vote at City Hall.

Keetchikan

In Keetchikan, four candidates are battling for two seats on the City Council. The field of candidates includes incumbent Phil Puchner, city engineer; building contractor John Gladis, attorney Barry Lebovicki, and welder and mechanic Clifford Noxon.

3 R's make comeback

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Spelling lists, grammar, composition and multiplication tables are getting a lot more attention these days as part of a "back to the basics" movement; a national school survey shows.

The National Education Association's spot survey of teacher groups in the larger states, indicates the movement has recently become national in scope. And there is the recognition that education requires some hard work.

"We're back to telling students that learning may not be all fun," said one Fairfax County, Va., teacher.

"We're keeping some of the best things from the conceptual math, but we have found true what some teachers have been saying right along — there are some fundamentals that require dull work, such as memorization and mathematical computations."

The "40-called modern education approaches" never did hold much of an attraction for many of Iowa's school teachers, said Iowa Education Association President Bob Gilchrist. "Yet, there is a need for more basics due to societal changes and increased pressure on the schools."

Television and, to a lesser extent, brook homes are making it more difficult for youngsters to work on many basic reading fundamentals at home, so they must be learned primarily at school, Gilchrist said.

An NEA official said Gilchrist was referring to the "homework problem." Some teachers now prefer to have students handle their homework in class under their supervision, rather than compete with television at home, he said.

"The 'back to the basics' movement is apparently one more swing of the pendulum in education."

"We went through this in the 1950s. Then, in the 1960s, the biggie, the obsession was whether the curriculum was relevant," said Lyle Hamilton, of NEA. "The concern was in making the subjects interesting and keeping the student happy."

"If the child liked the curriculum, if he felt good about what he or she was learning, that was it, in the extreme," said Hamilton, who talked to more than 50 teachers while conducting the informal survey.

Defense budget cut pledge met

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of Defense Harold Brown says President Carter already has fulfilled his campaign promise to cut the defense budget by $5 to $7 billion.

Brown said Sunday he expects the Pentagon budget for next year (fiscal 1979) to be at least $5 billion less than the $135 to $140 billion Gerald Ford projected for that year before leaving office.

He said the defense budget that emerges from Congress for fiscal 1978, which started Oct. 1, should be about $117 billion instead of the $123 billion proposed by Ford.

During a television interview on ABC's Issues and Answers, Brown was asked if Carter would keep his campaign promise to cut military spending by $5 billion to $7 billion.

"That pledge has in fact been met," Brown said. "The Ford budget for fiscal year 1978 was $123 billion and the Carter budget, as it is finally going to come out of the Congress, will be about $117 billion."

Brown then was reminded that Carter, when pledging the military spending cut, mentioned it in terms of the first budget for which he would have total responsibility — the fiscal 1979 budget for the year starting October 1978.

He was asked: "Will there be cuts in that budget reflecting his economic pledges?"

Brown replied: "Yes, it will probably be less than the projected Ford budget by at least that amount."

After the show, Brown told reporters that Ford's projection for the fiscal 1979 budget was "in the ballpark" of $135 billion to $140 billion.

A Pentagon spokesman said the figures Brown gave would allow Carter to keep both his promises, assuming inflation next year is around 7 percent.

Brown also said:

It is still planned to withdraw U.S. troops from South Korea and it would be "very unfortunate" if the Tongshan Park bribery case prevented Korea from getting needed American military equipment.

— The Soviet Union's proposal to ban all nuclear testing was a "major step" toward an agreement. He said such a ban would not prevent production of the neutron bomb since there already have been a number of tests on it.

— The Soviet Union is not moving ahead of the United States in military strength; in thermonuclear capability, he said, the two nations are "roughly equivalent."

— He does not expect the Soviets to gain military superiority from a new strategic arms limitation agreement.

TOCCOA FLOOD SURVIVORS LEAVE DEVASTATION ... one youth carries puppy from wrecked area

Firemen make final check but no time for warning

TOCCOA, Ga. (UPI) — The three volunteer firemen, worried because of the heavy rains, decided to check Toccoa Creek one last time before going home Saturday night.

They drove by Jeep to the creek that winds from the dam at Barnes Lake some 300 feet down past the small college town of Toccoa Falls.

"I looked up and I saw red water that was really starting to move," said Eldon Elsberry, one of the three.

"We ran and got into the Jeep. We were going to turn the sirens on and water the people up. We didn't get to the bridge."

When he and Bill Erenshorger, 28, and David Fledderjohann, 30, got out of the Jeep, the water was chest high.

"The Jeep was starting to slide and we knew we couldn't get over the bridge," he said. He grabbed a tree. It was swept away by the current.

"The whole time it was rolling me along. I was being tossed like a corn cob. Rocks and stones and limbs were hitting me."

About 125 feet downstream, Elsberry said, he grabbed a little tree.

"I saw a bank, I said, 'This is my chance,' and I made it for the bank," he said.

He grabbed a big tree and tumbled to safety.

But his companions were not so fortunate.

youngest son, Chris.

"The water was 14 feet high. It was enormous. We were just riding it."

Kemp finally crawled to safety on the bank, taking his son, Morgan, 3, with him. His wife, Diane Ann, 28, and mother, Mrs. Ruby Kemp, 71, also survived the ordeal but Chris, 4, drowned.

Later sitting in a wheelchair, his hands clasped loosely, Kemp said and lost everything he owned in the flood.

"We were studying to serve the Lord, to be a preacher and a teacher," he said. "If He so desires, we'll continue whenever we get settled down."

Maryland, Virginia face flood threat

By United Press International

Deadly rains which killed at least 45 persons in two southeastern states Sunday moved north today, threatening the nation's capital and parts of Maryland and Virginia with more flooding.

More than an inch fell in the Washington area Sunday night and the New River in southwestern Virginia was on the rise. Flash flood watches were issued for the eastern slopes of the mountains and westward in Maryland and Virginia.

The heaviest rain was caused at least 37 deaths in Toccoa, Ga., where a creek, dam soaked by five days of rains gave way to a torrent of muddy water that devastated the small college town early Sunday. At least 19 of the dead were children.

It was the worst U.S. dam disaster since 118 persons died in the 1972 Buffalo Creek flood in West Virginia.

Rescue workers pulled the bodies of three youths from a rain-swollen creek near Morgantown, N.C., early today, pushing the death toll from flooding in the Blue Ridge Mountains to eight, five of them children. The latest victims apparently had tried to swim across the creek Sunday night.

Hundreds of persons were driven from their homes in the mountain community, and the National Guard was called out in several areas to prevent looting. Two more earthen dams collapsed in North Carolina, but there were no injuries.

The National Guard was summoned to patrol in upper east Tennessee, where flash flooding overflowed the banks of the Doe and Nolichucky Rivers — Sunday — forcing evacuation of 130 families. About half returned to their mud-covered homes by nightfall. No injuries were reported, and thunderstorms were moving eastward out of the state.

The flooding caused millions of dollars worth of property damage in several southeastern states and officials were preparing to request federal disaster aid.

Meanwhile, only slightly warmer weather could be found in rest of the nation.

Thunderstorms raked portions of the southwest and a winter storm watch was issued for the mountains of Arizona early today.

The storms moved through portions of New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado and produced snow at the higher elevations. The central and eastern mountains of Arizona were placed under the winter storm watch as Flagstaff reported four inches of snow in one hour late Sunday.

Travelers advisories were issued for all the mountain areas of New Mexico above 7,000 feet.

Warnings for strong, gusty winds were posted for the mountains and deserts of southern California.

Residents of the Pacific northwest were told to expect gales off the coast of Washington State and the Strait of San Juan de Fuca. Showers, with snow in the higher elevations, ranged from northwestern Oregon through much of Washington and into northern Idaho.

More showers and thunderstorms covered much of the Midwest and Northeast from Wisconsin to Tennessee and into southern New England.

In Tama County, Iowa, low visibility was blamed for a weekend traffic death. Garvin Town Marshal Michael Smith, 19, died Sunday when his patrol car struck a horse in early morning fog.

Inmate takes life

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Daniel R. Webster, who begged a jury to sentence him to death for the murder of his wife and got his wish, committed suicide in his death row cell by slitting his neck and arms with a razor blade, authorities said today.

Sam Garrison, warden of Central State Prison, said Webster, 51, was found lying in his cell with cuts on his left arm and neck. An autopsy was ordered.

Prison spokesman Ben Runkle said Webster was Too costly

LONDON (UPI) — Few Britons can afford to dine in the nation's top restaurants, Egon Ronay lamented in his latest guide to good eating, which was published today.

"Half or more (customers) are tourists or resident foreign business people," he said. "Japanese businessmen living in Britain are the biggest spenders."

Ronay said the high price of hotel and restaurant services puts Britain in danger of "pricelng itself out of the market."

— A room in a deluxe hotel now serves and breakfast; he said and a meal in a top restaurant costs $36 to $45 per person.

Dam death toll may rise

The pounding water damaged the emergency valve of a 200-gallon propane gas tank that served the trailer, and gas began leaking through the four-foot high tank.

"A crew of firemen was assigned a continuous vigil over the tank.

"There's no danger as long as people stay away and nobody lights any matches or smokes," a spokesman for the Toccoa Fire Department said early this morning. "We're just going to let it escape."

Rescuers gave up the search for more possible victims at dusk Sunday but said it would resume today. Two persons were known to be missing and were presumed drowned.

It was the worst U.S. dam disaster since 118 persons died in the 1972 Buffalo Creek flood in West Virginia.

Col. Frank Walker of the Army Corps of Engineers said there were two possible causes for the flooding — a break in the dam or erosion of the earth at its top. He said "over-topping" of rising waters could cause the dam to break after the flooding started.

Heavy rains had doused much of the Southeast for five days, dumping an estimated 5 inches on the Toccoa area during a 24-hour period ending around 2 a.m. Sunday. Flash flooding occurred in a several states and five persons, including three children, drowned in rampaging waters in the Blue Ridge Mountains around Asheville, N.C., Sunday. Hundreds of other persons evacuated their homes for safer ground.

Busbee said the 40-year-old Toccoa dam had been listed as a "high hazard" structure by the Corps of Engineers, meaning casualties were likely in the event of a rupture.

Three volunteer firemen, worried about the possibility of flooding, had kept check on Toccoa Creek, which runs from the dam, Sunday night.

Legalese.

Some things we accept only because they have been around for years ... like the confusing language of financial agreements.

For instance:

When you last signed a purchase agreement or note, did you understand everything? Probably not ... because most of us would have needed a legal expert to translate it. We don't think that is right for either party. So, why not say it in plain English?

We have simplified the wording of our customer forms. Now, when you come in to talk over a loan, you can better read and understand the agreement.

Here's the old and the new. Check the difference.

OLD: "The undersigned Buyer, hereby buys on the terms and conditions below and on the reverse side, the following-described merchandise, delivery and acceptance of which in good order is hereby acknowledged by Buyer; ..."

NEW: "This is the sale and loan agreement for the merchandise that's described below."

Note the new version. Straight and simple.

It's something we both understand and can feel confident in signing because we know the terms in detail.

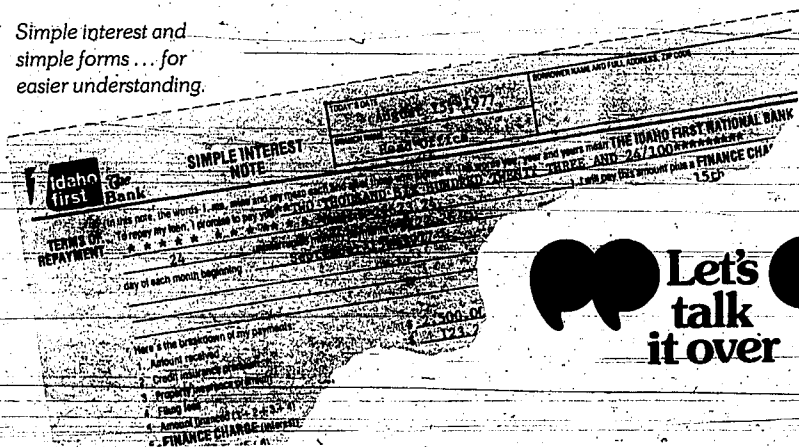

Understandable. Confident.

Although Simple Forms are the latest innovation, the Simple Interest they can also give you is nothing new at Idaho First. You can have more control over your loan interest costs ... and those charges become much more clear and easier to understand.

Our Simple Interest Note tells you how long you have to repay the loan, what your monthly payment will be, a breakdown of costs, total interest to be paid ... everything you want to know about your loan is there in plain English.

Ostyn, Woodall, Carter and Smallwood for Twin Falls

Cities in Magic Valley will elect mayors and city councilmen tomorrow. With a few exceptions, voters in most areas will have a choice for who they will put in their city halls.

These people are not important because they shape national policy or how the state conducts its business. They are important because they make decisions affecting our daily lives, homes and children.

Paul E. Ostyn. Along with the next two candidates Ostyn has experience on city matters. The experience has given him a well-rounded view of Twin Falls.

Henry Woodall. Candidate Woodall has served on the City Council for a number of years and shown his ability to make decisions under pressure.

James C. Smallwood. Architect Smallwood, if elected, would bring a large knowledge of planning, building and zoning matters to the council. He has served as chairman of the Twin Falls Planning and Zoning Commission for the last year.

Stephen M. Carter. Candidate Carter, like the other two persons running for the two-year seat, has little experience in city government.

Henry Woodall, James Smallwood and Steve Carter to the Twin Falls City Council seems to be the best hope for the future of Twin Falls.

By DAN JEDLICKI
Chicago Sun-Times
CHICAGO — The national 55 m.p.h. speed limit is a joke, judging by the number of drivers that I saw exceeding it during a recent 1,200-mile drive on a variety of roads in five states.

I found that the national limit can be downright dangerous. Stick with it, and you often find yourself being tailgated by giant trucks with impatient drivers behind their wheels.

Mental fatigue quickly sets in while traveling for long distances at 55 m.p.h., sometimes causing a lack of attention to what you are doing — particularly on interstate highways.

I had long heard and feared that the national limit is a complete bust, but I decided that the best way to find out was to get first-hand information. A round trip drive to Detroit from Chicago several months ago showed me that practically nobody was observing the limit, but I wanted more information.

The recent trip involved a drive covering the states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky. It was taken on interstate and regular highways, expressways in urban areas and the winding roads of West Virginia.

I soon felt like I was traveling 30 m.p.h. Most drivers of cars, trucks, buses and recreational vehicles were routinely traveling at 65-75 m.p.h. — even through Ohio, which is a notorious speed trap state.

I'm in great physical shape, but three hours behind the wheel of the superb foreign car that I was driving — one designed to keep the driver fresh on a long-distance journey — left me weary. Even with the radio going and a talkative traveling companion, I was tired of trying to keep out of trouble while big trucks and other cars whizzed past me.

My companion, who's also in great shape, had the same experience.

"For Pete's sake," she screamed, "let's at least go 65 m.p.h., like everyone else to save our sanity!"

"No way," I said. "We're going 55 m.p.h. all the way to West Virginia, because I will not be able to accurately write the column otherwise."

"That's stone crazy," she said.

"Think of all the gas we're saving," I said as we neared Chicago.

"Yes, and think of all the time we're wasting on these roads designed for at least 65 m.p.h.," she said. "Time is money, and it's also a valuable resource."

We both wondered what we would have done without the speed-control unit, which forced the car to automatically travel at a steady rate of speed both on flat roads and hilly ones. Keeping the car going at a steady 55 m.p.h. or 60 m.p.h. by constantly keeping the exact amount of pressure on the gas pedal and by continually watching the speedometer would have turned us into complete wrecks.

As it was, we didn't even attempt to drive nonstop in either direction.

A relative large percentage of vehicles that we saw during the trip had CB radios. Safely beating the national speed limit with the help of the CB may be turning into a new, national sport. Grass-roots public opposition to the limit seems to be becoming more widespread, a veteran driver told us.

I even saw a fair number of cars with radar detectors. While a large Chicago, I spotted a giant billboard advertisement for America's most popular radar detector — right at the side of a major interstate highway.

If the national 55-m.p.h. speed limit does not resemble Prohibition, I don't know what does.

Anti-land use group makes plans known to legislators

Editor Times-News: The following is a letter which is being sent out to every legislator in Idaho this week.

Dear Legislators: As you are no doubt aware, our State has been in a growing turmoil since the passage of S.B. 1094 in the year of 1975.

One by one, Counties have been forming into Property Owner's Associations to do whatever they can to try to reverse the damage that has already been done — and promises to be done — with the passage of this law. It is becoming apparent with each passing day, that the people of Idaho will not — simply will not — stand for this blatant infringement upon personal property rights.

We will have a stronger voice, a longer reach, a more organized defense against a law that you may — or may not have — voted for. Whether you did or didn't makes no difference at this point. The question now is — how do you feel about his law now? How will you vote in the next legislative session when a law is introduced that will either amend or repeal S.B. 1094? Are you aware — really aware — how the people of your county feel?

The purpose of the Statewide Organization is to keep everyone informed in the next legislative session how YOU vote on bills concerning private property rights. Our main thrust will be our county and statewide elections as we realize that our real voice — our real power — lies in our vote. If our vote is synchronized with our campaign organized — then it follows that the right people will be elected who believe one very simple thing: that private property rights are the basis, and the only guarantee to freedoms that we as Americans were given by the Constitution...that without private property rights, we have no other freedoms.

We will be coming out with a full page ad in seven of the largest newspapers in Idaho — simultaneously — before the next legislative session. It's contents, at this time, will be kept quiet. After that, we will be coming out with a full page ad in these same seven newspapers — simultaneously — AFTER the next session in which you have had a chance to vote on a law which amends or repeals S.B. 1094.

This ad will report to your constituents how you voted regarding private property rights. Yes...we are aware that should a law to amend or repeal S.B. 1094 pass both the house and the senate, that Governor Evans will be tempted to veto it.

We are most aware of his position on Land Use "Planning". However, next year is an election year. If he vetoes it — he vetoes his political career. It's as simple as that. We are not worried about him or his feelings about Land Use "Planning". Nor are we worried about the liberal editorializing of our newspapers, and the various government bureaucratic boards which are frantically pushing Land Use "Planning". We have a single pointed idea — we will work elections so that we will replace — or retain — those who will protect private property rights. If we fail this year — then there is next year...and the next year...and the next...

You will find enclosed with this letter a copy of the Twin Falls County Property Owner's Association pamphlet entitled, "Zoning — or Free Enterprise...the Choice Ahead for Twin Falls County." We would appreciate your comments regarding this pamphlet and it's contents.

Thank you for printing this letter. For the interest of our membership, we — just this last week — went to Bannock County to help them get organized — into a property owner's association, and it looks like they are going to be very strong. We met with many of those legislators from that area and find that we have gained their support. Attending that meeting were people from Oneida, Power and Bingham counties, who requested that we travel to their areas within the next month to help them get organized also. It is hopeful that by the next legislative session we will have 25 active counties. The more — travel and meet — with people from around Idaho, I see how tremendously strong minded they are when it comes to the whole idea of Land Use "Planning", Regional Government and zoning.

Sincerely, CARMEN TRUSCOTT Secretary Idaho State Property Owners Assn.

Fish and game management plan 'leaves a bitter taste ...'

Editor, Times-News: A Plan for the Future Management of Idaho's Fish and Wildlife Resources Volume 1, subtitled: "Goals, Objectives and Policies" which is in the form of a draft, it leaves a bitter taste in my mouth.

A — This draft was supposed to be presented to the various sportsmen groups, and state-wide by Sept. 1, 1975 and was used to sway the state legislators for the 1975 license fee raises — which it certainly did. Then in March of 1976, the Assistant Director again presented this to the Senate Resources and Environment Committee, with a cost estimate of about $300,000, in which he said there will be three volumes — See after all this time we now happen again to see Volume 1, and again the department is saying they need another license fee raise if they are to continue operations.

B — Volume two is titled: "An Inventory of Fish and Wildlife Populations and Habitat in Idaho."

C — Volume three — Management plans for Fish and Wildlife owned or controlled by the Idaho Department of Fish and Game.

If you will carefully look over these three probationary procedures, as I have, you will without a doubt ask yourself: "Well, what have these people been doing all along?" From where I sit, all they are telling us is that they now intend to do their jobs, for which we've been paying these subjects' good money all these years.

In Volume 1, I read where there is a problem that the F & G calls: "Fawn survival has decreased dramatically in recent years and is a major reason for declining mule deer herds." There STRATEGY is: "increase research efforts to determine causes of decreased fawn survival."

Now, as I recall, where the hell have all these appropriations for study and research been going all these years? What have these employees of the department been doing with this money? Has it been thrown down the "proverbial rat-hole"? Or just what has happened to this money is what I, and many more concerned sportsmen would like to know?

In fact, in my opinion, this whole volume on effort is nothing but a repeat of what they've been saying for years, and haven't done one thing to correct it.

In the Governor hired a new director, and since then all I have seen is the FG personnel's waggas go up, and the worst "Bob-Tailed Dissertation" of a plan that I have ever read...In plain language it's another rip-off...And Mr. Director, if I find I am wrong, I will personally apologize, in print, or whatever way you want me to. But, first you got to prove me wrong beyond a shadow of doubt...Which is doubtful from what I saw happen in Idaho in the past seven years.

EARLETTOR Sr. Jerome

Urban mayor voting tops 1977 vote schedule

By CLAY F. RICHARDS
UPI Political Writer

New Jersey and Virginia elect governors Tuesday in city-year elections that will also see mayoral contests in some 38 big cities across the country.

Voters also will be asked to decide a number of ballot referendums — such items as proposals to ban billboards and buy a hotel in San Francisco, prohibit pornography in Washington, repeal instant voter registration in Ohio and abolish Sunday blue laws in the Kansas City metropolitan area.

New York City, Detroit, Houston, Cleveland, Seattle, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, N.Y., and Minneapolis are the largest of 38 cities with a population of more than 100,000 where mayoral elections are being held.

Late polls favor Republicans retaining the governorship of Virginia and Democrats holding on to the New Jersey statehouse — though neither race is a certainty.

State Sen. Ray Bateman once held a wide lead in the polls over Democratic Gov. Brendan Byrne in New Jersey. But Byrne, whose low rating was tied to his decision to force the state's first-ever income tax last year, has rallied. He led by seven points in an Eagleton Institute poll issued last week.

Virginia Gov. Mills Godwin, a Republican, can't run again and the polls favor his lieutenant governor, John Dalton, as his successor.

"Populist" Democrat Henry Howell is making a third bid for the statehouse.

Democratic National Chairman Kenneth Curtis predicted Democrats would win in both New Jersey and Virginia, although he said the latter would be close.

His GOP counterpart, Bill Brock, said Republicans face an uphill battle in both races because the states traditionally are Democratic. He said Bateman has a tough race since Byrne is the incumbent, but added he is "cautiously optimistic" about both races.

Should Republicans win both and increase their number of governors to 13, they will claim it is a blow to President Carter.

who with his wife campaigned personally for both Howell and Byrne. But polls show that local issues, not White House clout, will decide the elections.

Both New Jersey and Virginia voted for Gerald Ford over Carter last year.

The polls also favor Democratic Rep. Edward Koch to be the new mayor of New York City, replacing the beleaguered Abraham Beame, who was defeated in a tough and crowded primary.

But Democratic Secretary of State Mario Cuomo, who is on the ballot as the Liberal Party candidate, has labor-endorsement and may make a race of it.

Elsewhere:

Detroit — Mayor Coleman Young is expected to win his second term as the city's first black mayor.

Houston — There are a dozen candidates in the non-partisan battle to succeed retiring Mayor Fred Hofheinz and a runoff on Nov. 22 may be needed.

Cleveland — The mayor will be a Democrat and probably the youngest big city mayor in the nation — Republican Mayor Ralph Perk was defeated in the non-partisan primary by two Democrats — Dennis Kucinick, 31, and Edward Feagan, 26.

Seattle — The non-partisan mayors contest features two newcomers — ex-TV commentator Charles Royer and Paul Scheel, an attorney. Running for city council is Chip Marshall, who once was arrested as a member of the anti-war "Seattle Seven" and now has the endorsement of the Seattle Police Guild.

Pittsburgh — Three Democrats — running under different labels — are battling for the seat vacated when Mayor Peter Flaherty went to Washington to join the Carter administration as deputy attorney general.

Buffalo — State Assemblyman Arthur O. Eve may become the city's first black mayor, but faces two tough competitors — State Sen. James Griffin, the Conservative Party candidate, and Republican John Phegan, a lawyer.

Energy cost rise may hit budgets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Education Commissioner Ernest Boyer, promoting President Carter's energy proposals on a government subsidized broadcast service, says energy costs could have a devastating effect on school budgets.

In an interview taped by the U.S. Office of Education, for use by radio stations, Boyer was asked what his agency expects to do about the "energy crisis" in the schools.

"First, it is absolutely essential the proposed energy program set forth by President Carter be enacted," Boyer replied.

If the cost of energy is not controlled and schools' consumption of energy made more efficient, he said, "it's going to have a devastating effect on the cost of education in the country."

The more money spent to heat schools the less there is for classroom instruction, Boyer said.

The Office of Education Service to Broadcasters can be dialed toll free by any radio station in the country. It offers daily recorded announcements that often repeat information contained in government press releases but sometimes feature interviews with educators.

An agency spokesman defended Boyer's promotion of the energy bill on the service.

"It's a subsidized news release we put out, too," he said in reference to printed material regularly distributed to reporters by the government. "No one's being forced to use it."

Alcoholism link to heredity cited

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (UPI) — New research indicates alcoholism might be linked to heredity, according to an authority on the disease that has affected 9 million Americans.

"The cause of alcoholism, in truth, is unknown," said Dr. Donald Goodwin, "but it does run in families and this is a starting point."

Goodwin is chairman of the psychiatry department at the University of Kansas Medical Center and author of the book "Is Alcoholism Hereditary?"

"The notion that alcoholism is hereditary is old, older than theories that alcoholism comes from environmental factors," said Goodwin. "For 75 years or more studies have consistently reported much higher rates of alcoholism in the families of alcoholics than in the general population."

Between 1970 and 1976, Dr. Goodwin conducted a two-part study to determine the influence of heredity and environment on alcoholism. For the first part, he established two groups of men, all of whom had been adopted in infancy.

In one group, each man had at least one alcoholic parent. In the other there was no record of alcoholism among the parents. Results of the project were startling, Goodwin said.

"The children of alcoholics, both daughters and sons, were found to be four times more likely to become alcoholics by their early 30s than were those in the control group," Dr Goodwin said.

Peacemaker heads home

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — The Briton appointed to bring peace to Rhodesia has ended his first visit to the white-ruled nation, unable to find any "preliminary agreement" with Prime Minister Ian Smith.

Field Marshal Lord Carver, appointed by Britain to run Rhodesia during a transition to black rule, met Smith for an hour and 40 minutes Sunday. They emerged with little positive to say other than all sides wanted to end the five-year guerrilla war.

"But most, if not all, of the highly complicated questions of how this is to be achieved remain unresolved. In this respect there is no measure of agreement," Smith said.

Artillery battles erupt along Lebanese border

By United Press International
Israel and Palestinian guerrillas in southern Lebanon fought artillery battles Sunday in the first major flareup of fighting since a U.S.-mediated cease-fire took effect in the volatile border region six weeks ago.

The fighting was accompanied by hard-line statements from both Palestinian and Israeli leaders on Middle East peace efforts. PLO chief Yasser Arafat vowed "fighting until victory."

The fighting began with a rocket attack early Sunday on the northern Israeli town of Nahariya, located on the Mediterranean a few miles from the Lebanese border. Two men were killed.

Israeli military sources said the attack, apparently, was launched by Palestinian guerrillas of the so-called rejection front, which opposes any accommodation with the Jewish state.

In retaliation, Israeli gunners pounded guerrilla positions across the Lebanese border in a cannonade ordered by Defense Minister Ezer Weizman, who visited the families of Shmuel Mintz, 33, and Louis Levi, 45, who were killed by shrapnel.

"Israel will settle the accounts with those who did this deed," he said. "But there is no guarantee it will not happen again."

A Lebanese reporter in southern Lebanon said fighting escalated around the Palestinian-held town of Nabatiyah as guerrillas traded fire with Lebanese rightists backed by Israeli gunners across the border. Three persons, including a 12-year-old girl, were reported killed.

The fighting was the first major outbreak of violence since Sept. 26, when a U.S.-mediated cease-fire took effect in an attempt to halt fighting between Israeli-backed Christian rightists and Syrian-backed Palestinians.

In a separate incident, an Israeli naval craft sank a Lebanese fishing boat.

In Jerusalem, the Israeli cabinet endorsed Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan's rejection of a reported call by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat for a working group to prepare a detailed agenda for a Geneva Middle East peace conference.

The 1917 Bolshevik revolution, which according to the old Russian calendar took place in October, led to the founding of the modern Soviet state.

Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Dmitry Ustinov, reviewing the troops from an open convertible, said "We have achieved great progress in detente and strengthening the security of the people."

"Our nation together with our brother countries resolutely rebuff the attempts of those imperialist circles who promote the arms race and lead a hostile propaganda campaign in the spirit of the cold war."

Cheers of the massed thousands of soldiers echoed from the snow-capped domes of the Kremlin and St. Basil's Cathedral.

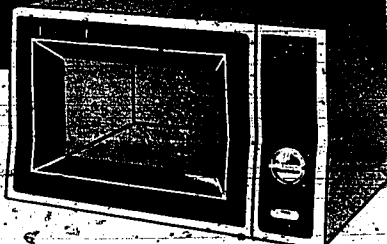

A total of 336 military vehicles were massed to take part in the half-hour spectacular followed by a two-to three-hour civilian parade.

Also being shown for the first time were newly developed SS-12 missile and SS-12 scaleboard and SS-12 short-range guided missiles.

Oil cartel likely to hike price 5%

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The international oil cartel is certain to reject U.S. calls for a 1978 freeze of oil prices and declare an increase of at least 5 percent — an industry newsletter said today.

The Middle East Economic Survey said the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, which meets in Caracas, Venezuela Dec. 29, will ignore appeals from President Carter and Treasury Secretary Michael Blumenthal for price freezes.

"It has already become quite clear that there is no hope of even the most moderate OPEC produce heading the U.S. call for a price freeze through all or part of 1978," the survey said.

The newsletter said even Saudi Arabia, the most restrained OPEC member on prices, had "publicly declared" through its foreign minister "that it considers some increase to be justified."

The American leaders have urged oil price restraint because they fear an increase would seriously damage the economies of both Western industrialized nations and developing countries.

In Kuwait, Iraqi Petroleum Minister Tarek Abdel Karim said Sunday the OPEC countries believe oil prices will ignore appeals from President Carter and Treasury Secretary Michael Blumenthal for price freezes.

"The OPEC countries have severely suffered from inflation in industrialized countries as well as from the sinking dollar," Abdel Karim said in a newspaper interview.

"Accordingly, we feel oil prices must be raised to offset this deterioration in the purchasing power of our oil revenues."

Equality may cut life

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American women have come a long way in their effort to gain equality with men, but two Los Angeles researchers warn this could mean they may also begin to die like men.

Smart Daytimers

Printed Pattern 9165 34-48

by Marion Martin

Dr. Charles Lewis and Mary Ann Lewis, a nurse, say a reduction in sexual discrimination need not pose a risk to the health of women if they learn from past experience to avoid the behavioral patterns that shorten the life spans of men.

Writing in the New England Journal of Medicine, the Lewises suggest it might be better for men to live a little bit like women.

They said benefits of sexual parity should be seen in terms of individual survival as well as equal opportunities for personal achievement.

"If we are striving for a nonsexist society, with equal opportunity for all, it would be better to seek increased opportunities for women in occupation, business and commercial affairs, and a reduction in the morbidity and mortality of men."

The Lewises, with the UCLA Center for Health Sciences, cite statistics and numerous studies to show that males have experienced greater death rates and more illness at all ages in the 20th century. They said there is growing evidence that many of the differences in death and sickness rates between men and women "are related more to their behaviors and roles in society than to their biologic inheritance."

Women are clearly the superior sex in terms of survival—the report said—it suggested this might be explained in part by the fact that women have been expected or permitted by society to be more concerned with health and to assume the role of the patient more frequently.

"In contrast, men, faced with an increased risk of chronic disease and shorter life expectancy, are more reluctant to seek care or to adopt behaviors that would diminish these risks."

"It might be argued that society has created a social environment that is far more hazardous to the health of men."

"Smoking is a prime example. More men than women smoke and one study indicated that the differences in smoking habits accounted for 75 percent of the difference in life expectancies of females and males between the ages of 37 and 67. However, recent studies show that more women are smoking. It also has been found that more women are dying of lung cancer.

In an editorial in the same issue of the New England Journal of Medicine, Dr. Paul Stolley, of the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine noted that as women become more self-sufficient and have greater disposable income, cigarette manufacturers have intensified efforts to induce them to smoke.

"Some of the risks associated with women's expanding participation in American economic life, such as job stress and travel, may be difficult to avoid," Stolley said. "But it is clear, and has been since the Surgeon General's Report 13 years ago, that the increase lung cancer of women can be prevented."

He said it may be necessary to consider legal steps to place barriers between smoking and women. He said prohibition of cigarette advertising might be a good place to start.

Oswald: "It started simply enough. North jumped to four hearts to show a void. South showed the spade ace and North bid five notrump to ask South to bid seven diamonds (he held two of the three top honors)."

Jim: "West yepiped—the queen of hearts. South ruffed in dummy. Ten minutes later he came to his hand with the queen of clubs; ruffed his last low heart; tried to discard the King of hearts on a club and went down one when West ruffed. We have little criticism of this play, but if South had led a low diamond toward the hand at trick two he could have made the slam."

Oswald: "The Italian bidding was really weird. South had been a strong bidder. South raised to two and North jumped to six clubs to tell partner to forget about spades. South's singleton club was the queen and the slam rolled in."

MR. AND MRS. STEVE BREHM

Rairigh, Brehm united in marriage

TWIN FALLS — Christine Ann Rairigh and Steve W. Brehm were united in marriage Oct. 22 at the Immanuel Lutheran Church of Twin Falls.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rairigh and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Brehm, all Twin Falls.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Erwin J. Bernthal. Traditional wedding music was played by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Brehm.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length ivory gown of cotton batiste and eyelet lace. The fitted bodice had a high wedding-band neckline outlined with satin ribbon and pearl buttons. The self-fabric wide ruffle, trimmed with eyelet lace gave the bodice a pinafore look. The batiste full sleeves had wide cuffs of batiste outlined with satin ribbon and closed with pearl buttons. The dress fell into two wide batiste self-fabric ruffles trimmed with satin ribbon and eyelet lace.

She wore an ivory pique bonnet-capped, edged in ivory pearls. The cap held a three-tiered scalloped veil with the middle tier of embroidered, scattered English tulle and a butterfly face motif.

The bride carried a bouquet of fall flowers, yellow daisies, bronze mums and babies breath with yellow and bronze streamers.

Kathy Rairigh, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Kelly Nealon served as best man.

The couple were honored at a buffet reception following the ceremony.

The reception table was covered with white lace over yellow and tied with yellow bows. The wedding cake was three-tiered, decorated with yellow and orange daisies, and topped with a miniature bridal couple.

Attending the guest book was Sherry Rairigh, sister of the bride, in charge of gifts were Scott Rairigh, brother of the bride, and Shane Stastny, cousin of the bride.

Helping with serving were Sandy Brehm, sister of the bridegroom; Libby Swanson, Ruby Stastny, Slava Kalisek, La Verle Stastny, all aunts of the bride; and Claudene Buechter and Jan Carey.

The bride was honored at a shower given by Jan Carey.

The bride is employed with Dr. E. W. Drenker, Twin Falls.

The bridegroom is employed with his father, Bob Brehm, a building contractor.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — What used to be the mecca of country music has become a magnet for practitioners of the world's oldest profession, but a new police tactic and its attendant publicity have hookers singing the blues.

The word is out: Anyone coming to Nashville for a little action should avoid Lower Broadway; otherwise, an arrest for soliciting can get the would-be customer's name on the front page of the papers.

For years, the Grand Ole Opry was housed in the city's Lyman Auditorium just a tavern or two up from Broadway. But about the time the Opry moved to its multi-million dollar digs east of the city, the sex merchants began moving in.

Despite protests from conventional businesses along the street, the parade of hookers and the proliferation of porn shops has made Lower Broadway the city's unofficial red-light district.

All previous efforts to clean up the area have failed, but the new tactic of making policemen posing as prostitutes and then arresting the men who proposition them seems to be working.

Police made 14 such arrests last week. In each instance, the Nashville Banner published the names of those arrested on its front page. Several were out-of-towners prominent in their home communities.

Assistant Police Chief Paul Uetlein says the use of the decoys will continue.

"We don't enjoy pulling

Nashville no longer is hookers' haven?

These men in an embarrassing position, because we realize it must be bad for them and their families, but we reason that it is not our fault they were down there in the first place.

Uetlein said.

Vice Squad Sgt. Carl Davids said the arrests and publicity have slowed prostitution activities in the area.

"I think most of the local boys have seen the news reports and are staying away," he said.

"Two" prostitutes, who regularly work the area, acknowledged that the new developments are hurting business but believe the setbacks only temporary.

A Tribute to... Veterans Organizations

By JACK WARBERG

Among the many groups in America pledged to uphold the ideals of our Republic, there have shown greater force of purpose and inspired character than the Veterans Organizations. Composed of the valiant men in uniform who returned from conflicts abroad, these Veterans, seasoned and responsible are our great pride. Honored, they represent some of the finest and truest Americans that Old Glory ever witnessed. They are helpers... dedicated to making ours a better world in which to live. Their goals, their efforts, their very well-being is pledged to the great cause of these worthy organizations. It is their zeal and fervor which has made these groups so cohesive, and we point to them with genuine pride. It is their joy, knowing they constitute a part of the great and influential forces for good in our nation. We point with justifiable pride to our Veterans Organizations! Long may they carry on!

U.S. world food aid declines

WASHINGTON (UPI) —

During the 1960's the United States supplied 90 per cent of the value of food given to other nations under government aid programs. Now that figure has dropped substantially.

The main reason is increased aid from Canada, Japan, and the European community, rather than a decline in the value of U. S. contributions.

In 1975, the U. S. portion was only 59 per cent, with the principal vehicle being the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act. That act recently was extended by Congress for four more years.

While that program was created primarily as a temporary measure to bypass foreign exchange shortages of other nations and to dispose of U. S. surpluses, several changes have been made. For example, the Food for Peace Act of 1966 emphasized objectives of encouraging agricultural and economic development abroad as well as combating hunger and malnutrition.

Under the overall aid program, domestic requirements, commercial export demand, and adequate carryover stocks must be considered first before the government can determine the volume and type of commodities available for the annual program.

Total government agricultural exports totaled $28.6 billion between Fiscal Years 1975 and 1976, with 90 per cent of it coming under the Agricultural Trade act. Susan A. Libbin, an international economist writing in a current publication of the Agriculture Department's Foreign Trade Service, said the farm aid jumped from $385 million in 1955 to nearly $1.6 billion in 1975, but then again $367 million by 1974 due largely to reduced U. S. stocks. The exports rebounded to $1.1 billion in 1975, but then again slipped about 20 per cent in 1976 due to programming lags and planning for large shipments during the July-September transition to the new fiscal reporting year.

Ms. Libbin added that inflation has been a factor, especially between 1970 and 1975. In 1976, exports of 4.5 metric tons was less than half of that in the early 1970's, yet value was down only 16 per cent.

The main commodities in the program have been wheat, which comprise 40 per cent of the total; rice and cotton—10 per cent each; feed grains, 8 per cent; soybean oil and wheat flour, 7 per cent; and nonfat dry milk, tobacco, and blended food products.

Since 1970, the old exports of cotton, tobacco, feed grains, and nonfat dry milk have declined sharply, while blended food products have risen.

Developing countries receive the bulk of the exports; getting $20.9 billion, or 80 per cent of the total. Shipments went to over 130 countries, of which about 100 were developing nations.

India was the leading recipient, receiving one-fifth of all the aid.

Dr. Kelly M. Harrison, assistant administrator for foreign marketing development at the department, said new directions have been set for the program.

He said the program would put greater emphasis on agricultural and economic development in the receiving countries to help them help themselves to move from poverty and hunger to economic viability and better diets.

One way of doing that, Harrison said, was for the recipient nations to use funds generated by the local sale of the commodities to finance agricultural and economic development projects.

Government officials see the program working.

Almost all major recipients of the aid have substantially increased commercial purchases of American farm products. Five developing countries—Taiwan, Brazil, Iran, Peru, and Columbia—and two developed countries, Japan and Spain—have become good commercial customers.

Registered to vote

'Alfie' proves a point

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Alfred L. Miller has red hair, brown eyes and was born in Buffalo and is also a cat. He is also registered to vote in Buffalo.

The only hitch is that Alfred L. Miller is a cat. Patricia Miller, Alfred's owner, said the cat was registered to vote in Erie County to prove how shoddy the mail registration system is.

"We have no intention of using the (voter registration) cards," she said. "It was only done to prove a point... that registration is so lax it's ridiculous." She said Alfred is not the only quadruped qualified to vote in Buffalo. Other persons also registered their cats and dogs in an effort to illustrate the laxity of the laws. "One cat was listed on the application as an unemployed exterminator," Mrs. Miller said. She said Alfred's registration was taken care of by a friend "as a mail-in" and she did not know about it at the time. His birthplace was given as "The Society For Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in Tonawanda."

She said she found out about the registration when she received it in the mail on Thursday. "I was terribly surprised and upset," Mrs. Miller said. "I don't know what I can possibly do about it. I'm making it public, but I don't know what's going to happen."

She said her friend wanted to show how easy it is for anyone to get a fake registration card through the mails. She said the county Board of Elections uses the Postal Service to screen fraudulent applications. "It puts the burden on the mailman to screen out voters," she said. "It's a terribly unsound practice." She said she feels it proves "the system needs overhauling. It happens in other counties—it sounds ridiculous in a country like this, but other counties have been overthrown by it."

Elections Commissioner Edward Mahoney, a Democrat, refused comment on the matter, but said he and the other commissioners will hold a news conference to explain their quality control.

But Commissioner Arthur Carlsen, a Republican, said he has been opposed to mail registration all along. "I think a person should appear in person with some kind of identification," Carlsen said. "That way you won't have dogs or cats or cows registered."

State sets water plan hearing

BOISE (UPI) — A public hearing on the State Water Plan will be conducted in Boise Nov. 21 by a legislative interim committee charged with studying the subject.

The plan, adopted by the Water Resources Board in December 1976, must be approved by the Legislature before it becomes effective. The hearing will begin at 8 p.m. in Room 420 of the Statehouse.

Earlier, nine public hearings were held around the state. The committee meets Nov. 22-23 to make recommendations about the plan to the next session of the Legislature.

On foreign affairs, Carter meets with Prime Minister Robert Muldoon of New Zealand in Washington for defense and trade talks. Carter also is expected to spend some time with the Congressional Black Caucus, and out of the meeting could come a White House position on the Humphrey-Hawkins jobs bill.

Senate accelerates benefits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate adopted Friday an amendment by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, to provide semi-annual cost-of-living adjustments for Social Security beneficiaries during periods of accelerated inflation.

are increased automatically in July, provided prices rise by 3 percent or more during the previous year. "In periods of accelerated inflation, a once-a-year adjustment can be a real hardship on older Americans struggling on limited incomes," Church said.

"Semiannual increases would keep Social Security benefits more current with steeply rising prices." The Church amendment would authorize cost of living adjustments in January and July, provided the inflationary rate increased by at least 3 percent within six months.

But the watchword will be energy, since the president will be basing his travel plans on the congressional schedule for the energy package. Then asking the people to call their lawmakers and requesting

You Stay in Control From Start to Finish.

Under this approach, you assign the responsibility of your entire building project to one professional source, a Construction Control Group member.

You get the benefit of years of construction experience and proven management ability right from the start. In your dealings not only with suppliers and subcontractors but with architects and engineers as well.

You're assured a clear and constant line of communication. You remain informed and in control through every step of planning, design and construction.

You Save Time, Money and a Lot of Headaches. Being independent, local construction professionals, Construction Control Group members know your area. They're on top of local conditions affecting construction. They know the subcontractors, with essential in the execution of fast track construction, a time and money saving method that allows design to begin before the design is completely finished.

The open communication created by the Construction Control Group approach helps to eliminate contingency pricing. Because subcontractors know exactly where they stand and what is expected, they can bid much more accurately.

In many cases, contracts for each system can be awarded separately as a job moves along. And cost-saving suggestions may evolve from the firms competing for the work. The flexibility of the Construction Control Group approach lets you take advantage of this kind of healthy competition.

Chewing gum may turn into cavity fighter

CHICAGO (UPI) — Dental researchers are trying to see if chewing gum, a villain in many cases of tooth decay, can turn into a cavity fighter with the help of a new sweetener.

Researchers at Loyola University's school of preventive dentistry are testing a theory that the sweetener, xylitol, actually cuts the number of decay-producing bacteria in the mouth. The research is underwritten by William Wrigley Co., producers of Wrigley's gum.

Dr. Kirk Hoerman, a dentist who heads the school, said interest in xylitol-sweetened gum was prompted by a 1974 Finnish study which indicated that people who chewed xylitol gum four times a day had a significant reduction in cavities.

Initial reports from the Loyola study, Hoerman said, "did not see any effect of xylitol that was as astounding" as in the Finnish research. But he said some encouragement was noted.

Whatever the final outcome of the study, Hoerman said, it is important that xylitol alone not be regarded as a cure for cavities.

"The important thing right now is to minimize what could be a high expectation among the public, particularly mothers and children, that xylitol is a miracle, a cure for holes in teeth. It is not a cure for that."

Hoerman's study includes three groups of dental students, who chew seven sticks of gum a day for 10 weeks. One group chews gum sweetened 100 per cent with xylitol, another gum with sugar sweetening and the third given a gum base with flavoring but no sweetener.

Researchers take samples of transparent film called plaque from the students' teeth each week and count the number of bacteria, including streptococcus mutants which are known to cause tooth decay.

"Initially it looks like the count of streptococci (in plaque from xylitol chewers) are less than in individuals chewing gum containing sugar," Hoerman said.

But he said it is too early to tell whether xylitol is actually reducing the streptococcus count.

"It could be the effect we're seeing is nothing more than denying sugar because the control (the flavored gum base) is not much different from those chewing xylitol."

Xylitol is a chemical which occurs naturally in berries, some fruits, tree leaves and bark and mushrooms. It also is produced naturally in some animal tissues and in the human body.

It has about the same sweetness and calorie value as sugar. It cannot be used in beverages, however, because of cost factors and the necessary amounts would produce a laxative effect.

The studies with xylitol and other substances, Hoerman said, point toward a time when dentists can entirely prevent cavities if given early enough access to children.

"Some dentists, of whom I include myself, say today, given a child of 2 years of age with few or no cavities and for whom you would write a prescription of in-office care and appropriate nutritional schedule throughout the years to fit that child, there is no reason he should ever have a cavity," he said.

Until that time comes, he said, "we treat the backlog of the ravages of decay."

Crash hurts Utah women

RUPERT — A Utah mother and daughter suffered broken bones in a two-car accident north of here Sunday night. Ester Heib, 50, of Clearfield and her daughter Ellen Heib Kirk, 28, of Layton, are listed in 'good condition' at Minidoka Memorial Hospital today. They were injured about 9 p.m. on North Meridian Road, four miles north of Rupert. Serablin Salinas, 28, of Burley, driver of another car, and his passenger Jesus Salinas, 21, of Rupert, were treated and released from the hospital following the accident. A Minidoka County deputy sheriff said Mrs. Kirk had pulled into a private driveway in 'good condition' at Minidoka Memorial Hospital today. They were injured about 9 p.m. on North Meridian Road, four miles north of Rupert. Serablin Salinas, 28, of Burley, driver of another car, and his passenger Jesus Salinas, 21, of Rupert, were treated and released from the hospital following the accident.

University band voted support

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — The future of the University of Idaho marching band, said to be one of the top five marching bands in the nation, has been put on solid footing as the result of a recent vote of continued financial support by university students and the selection of a permanent band director, the university announced Friday. Student funding of the band will continue as the Associated Students University of Idaho (ASUI) voted last week to continue the two-dollar-per-student-per-semester fee that provides the band's operating expenses. The ASUI has supported the band since 1975 when university funding was dropped due to budget cutbacks. Dan Bukvich, presently an instructional assistant for the band, will take over next September as band director. His position then as assistant professor will combine duties of marching band director and percussion instructor. The band director positions was previously held by Robert Spaveck, associate professor of music, whose duties with UI Wind Ensemble made it necessary to turn the band over to Bukvich. The ASUI agreed last spring to provide funding for the band's expenses on a continuing basis if the university administration would make marching band responsibilities part of a regular faculty position. Spaveck, UI director of bands, had acted as marching band director as an addition to his full faculty responsibilities. The ASUI action this week approves continued student funding, subject to an annual review of the marching band budget. ASUI President Lynn Tominga said the funding is, in effect, a permanent support, as the budget review is only to provide the students a chance to rescind their financial support if they should wish not to support the band in the future.

Woman killed

COUNCIL, Idaho (UPI) — Mary Lee Moyers, 33, Council, died Sunday when the car in which she was riding overturned on a road along the Middle Fork of the Weiser River. Three other persons, including her husband, John, suffered minor injuries in the accident; Sheriff Jim Humeau said. The driver of the car was Gary Draper, about 30.

ARMAND HAMMER, the American businessman whose exploits are legends, arranged to provide wheat to the Soviet Union in the lean years following the 1917 revolution. In return he received vast amounts of priceless Russian art, including 11 of the gold Easter eggs which were made for the czars of Russia. This one is Regal Red, a color favored by the Russian court.

This grain deal netted gold eggs for US giver

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It must have been the first U.S.-S.R. grain deal, but that time there is no doubt who came out the winner. It was an exchange of Russian eggs for American wheat — but the eggs were made of gold and ornamented with diamonds. Armand Hammer, the American businessman whose exploits are legends, arranged to provide wheat to the Soviets in the lean years following the 1917 Russian revolution. For a return, he received vast amounts of priceless Russian art, including 11 of the gold Easter eggs which had been made for the czars of Russia by master goldsmith Peter Carl Fabergé. Four of the eggs — along with 139 other bejeweled Fabergé creations — now are on display in the National Geographic Society's Explorers Hall through Feb. 23. If that isn't enough to bedazzle the capital of this republic, the Smithsonian Institution says it has been given a big new gem — a pear-shaped, 67.89 carat, champagne-colored diamond called the Victoria-Transvaal Diamond. The diamond, dug up in South Africa in 1950, will be put on permanent display Wednesday at the Museum of Natural History. It is the largest and most valuable jewel given to the Smithsonian since the arrival of the Hope diamond in 1958. It is worth between $1 million and $5 million, according to Paul Desautels, Smithsonian gem curator. At the National Geographic Society's display, each of the Fabergé eggs contains a "surprise." For example, the first egg, which was made in 1884, is of silver and opens up to reveal a yolk made of gold. The yolk lifts and bejeweled hens emerge. One hen opens to reveal a diamond ring. One of the Fabergé eggs sold recently in Switzerland for $250,000. Of the 58 made by the Fabergé shop in St. Petersburg, the whereabouts of 45 is known. Fabergé was a descendant of Huguenots who fled France to escape persecution. According to legend, he made the first

Crossing at Curry repaired

TWIN FALLS — Traffic along U.S. 30 between Twin Falls and Piler will be detoured one mile south along county roads and part of U.S. 92 while the Union Pacific Railroad improves the roadway crossing at Curry, three miles east of Piler. Union Pacific officials say the improvements will take about one week. Workers will remove the existing plank and install new material to provide a smoother, safer crossing. The project is being funded by Federal Highway Safety and state funds.

Cards rip Vikings 27-7

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Jim Hart passed for two touchdowns and Wayne Morris and Terry Metcalf ripped for big gains while scoring twice each Sunday to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 27-7 victory over the Minnesota Vikings.

Hart's TD aerials went to Metcalf and Morris in the first 21 minutes of the game. Morris sprinted 21 yards for a third touchdown shortly before the end of the first half and Metcalf ran 11 yards for the fourth score midway in the third period.

Minnesota didn't get on the scoreboard until six seconds before the end of the third quarter when Fran Tarkeston passed nine yards to Sammy White in the end zone, clinching a 47-yard drive.

Morris and Metcalf ripped through the Viking defense almost at will and the Cardinals ran up a total of 316 yards rushing to 107 for the Vikings. Hart also completed 10-of-14 passes for 143 yards to outdo Tarkeston's 19-of-32 for 139.

The outcome left both teams with 5-3 records. Despite the loss, the Vikings hung on to a two-game lead in the NFC Central Division. The Cardinals' win moved them into the commanding position for the NFL's wild-card berth as the only division runner-up with better than a .500 record.

WINTER IS approaching quickly, as this photo of Neal Humphrey, Sacramento, Ca., shows. Humphrey is enjoying fresh snow in the Sierra Nevada mountains east of Sacramento near Donner Summit. So far this season, nine inches of snow have fallen in the Sierras.

Raiders unload on Seahawks 44-7

OAKLAND (UPI) — Ken Stabler ran his season-touchdown total to 11 and his pass completion average to 58 percent Sunday with three scoring strikes and Earl Mann booted three field goals in leading the Oakland Raiders to a 44-7 romp over the Seattle Seahawks.

The Raiders, in gaining their seventh victory against a single loss, converted Seattle mistakes into 24 points and shut out the Seahawks until late in the third quarter when Sherman Smith ran 16 yards up the middle to account for the only points.

Stabler, completing 14-of-22 passes for 145 yards, threw TD Billinkoff, 12 to Mike Stani and 15 to Dave Casper while Mann booted field goals of 35, 37 and 39 yards.

Clarence Davis ran two yards and rookie Terry Robiskie one to account for the other Raiders points as Seattle absorbed its sixth loss in eight games.

Bengals edge Browns 10-7

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Pete Johnson burst 11 yards for a touchdown and Chris Bahr kicked the winning field goal midway in the third period Sunday as the Cincinnati Bengals upset the Cleveland Browns 10-7 to tighten up the AFC Central Division race.

Johnson scored on the Bengals' first possession in the which quarterback Ken Anderson completed two passes for 49 yards.

Cleveland, which started the drive with a 70-yard punt, led the score in the second period on a 4-yard pass from Brian Sipe to Oscar Roan after a penalty against the Bengals. Reggie Williams gave Cleveland a first down on the Cincinnati 2.

Then at 8:02 of the third period Bahr kicked the game-winner from 47 yards as the Bengals won their second straight game and split the season series with the Browns, who had a three-game winning streak snapped.

The result left Cleveland a game ahead of Cincinnati, with the Browns 5-3 and the Bengals 4-4.

Oilers destroy Bears 47-0

HOUSTON (UPI) — Ken Burrough hauled in two long-distance scoring receptions and Billy "White Shoes" Johnson scored on two long runs Sunday to lead Houston to a 47-0 blitz of the Chicago Bears and move the Oilers within a game of the AFC Central Division lead.

Burrough, a sprinter who has been overlooked in the Oilers' conservative game plans this season, victimized Chicago cornerback Virgil Livers with scoring passes of 85 and 43 yards.

Johnson, the NFL's leading punt returner who has been used infrequently of offense this season, used Burrough's clearing block on Doug Plank to turn an end-around into a 61-yard scoring run. In following the AFC Central lead, Bears' Mike Phipps was tackled in the end zone, by returning Chicago's free kick 75 yards for a touchdown.

Chicago, 3-5, failed to score in the first quarter despite taking the ball twice inside Houston territory and did not threaten again. NFL leading rusher Walter Payton gained 79 yards on 18 carries but the Bears could do little else to keep up with the quick-striking Oilers.

Houston, now 4-4 and one game behind Cleveland in the AFC Central, got eight points from its defense in the fourth quarter with a safety and Greg Bingham's 34-yard run with a recovered fumble.

Dolphins defeat Jets 14-10

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob Griese, 29, threw touchdown passes of 20 and 24 yards to Daryl Harris and Miami's swarming defense bottled up New York's offense Sunday, enabling the Dolphins to defeat the Jets 14-10.

Harris, who had only one touchdown reception entering the game, caught the 20-yard TD pass in the second period to give Miami a 7-3 lead and then took a 24-yarder from Griese in the third period for a 14-3 lead.

The victory was the sixth against two losses for Miami and kept the Dolphins in the thick of the AFC East race. The Jets, who lost quarterback Richard Todd shortly before halftime with a bruised knee, fell to 2-6.

The Miami defense sacked Jet quarterbacks six times, defeated a punt and a field goal attempt to blunt the Jets' offense. The Dolphins' biggest play came midway through the final period when they stopped the Jets four times inside the 5 after New York consumed 8:25 attempting to score.

The Jets finally broke through with 50 seconds remaining in the game when second-string quarterback Marty Domres drilled a 16-yard touchdown pass to Jerome Barkum.

Cowboys win, stay unbeaten

NEW YORK (UPI) — Roger Staubach, the NFL's leading passer, tossed a 5-yard scoring pass to Billy Joe Dupree and Tony Dorsett plunged 1 yard for a touchdown Sunday to carry the unbeaten Dallas Cowboys to their eighth straight victory, 24-10 over the

New York Giants.

Staubach, who completed 14-of-26 passes for 190 yards, connected with Drew Pearson on three long passes to set up three Dallas scores. Reserve tight end Jay Saldi returned a fumbled punt eight yards and Eren Herrera kicked a 35-yard field goal for the Cowboys to drop the Giants' record to 3-5.

The Giants scored on Joe Daneo's 51-yard field goal in the first quarter and Bobby Hammond's 1-yard run, set up by his own 28-yard punt return deep into Dallas territory.

49ers outdefense Falcons

ATLANTA (UPI) — Wilbur Jackson plowed across from 2 yards out midway through the third period Sunday for the first rushing touchdown scored against Atlanta this season, giving the San Francisco 49ers a 19-3 victory over the Falcons.

The 49ers marched 53 yards to break a scoreless defensive battle after Paul Hofer returned the second-half kickoff 41 yards. Jackson scored on the 14th play of the drive.

San Francisco got the ball back at the Atlanta 20 when Wesley Thompson fumbled the ensuing 49er kickoff and Tom Leonard recovered. But the Atlanta defense pushed the 49ers back five yards in three plays and San Francisco got off to a 42-yard field goal by Ray Werschling to go in front 10-0.

The Falcons, with quarterback Steve Bartkowski making his first regular-season start since the first of his two-knee injuries more than a year ago, were unable to reach midfield until late in the third quarter. Andy Spiva recovered a Dale Williams fumble at the Atlanta 45 with 2:30 left in the third period and the Falcons drove to the 49er six yardline before bogging down.

Fred Steinfort, picked up last week by the Falcons-waived placekicker Nick Mike Mayer, kicked his first Falcon field goal — 24 yards.

Eagles whip Saints

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Ron Jaworski passed for two touchdowns to Harold Carmichael and ran for two more TDs, in leading the Philadelphia Eagles to a 28-7 victory over the New Orleans Saints.

Jaworski hit his 6-foot-8 wide receiver on scoring passes of 11 yards in the second quarter and four yards in the fourth. He also sneaked one yard and rolled out from two yards for touchdowns to help the Eagles to their third win of the season against five losses.

The Saints, meanwhile, were bottled up in their own territory throughout the game by the punting of Philadelphia's Spike Jones, who had four kicks either downed or out of bounds inside the New Orleans 10. The Eagles also picked off four passes, two by free safety John Sanders, and recovered a fumble.

The Saints, playing the entire second-half without starting quarterback Bobby Scott, who suffered a bruised thumb, scored their only touchdown on a nine-yard pass from Bobby Douglass to tight end Henry Childs to cap a 62-yard drive. New Orleans is now 2-6.

KC belts Packers

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Ed Podolak rushed for 98 yards and plunged in from the 1-yard line for the decisive points seven seconds into the fourth quarter Sunday to make Tom Bettis' debut as head coach of the Kansas City Chiefs a successful one with a 20-10 victory over the Green Bay Packers.

Bettis, an assistant with the Chiefs since 1966, was elevated to the top job last Monday when Paul Wiggin was fired after guiding the Chiefs to a 1-5 start this season. Bettis' debut came against the team that selected him out of Purdue in the first round of the 1965 draft.

Bettis' first move, as head coach, was to re-instate quarterback Mike Livingston and halfback Podolak into the starting backfield and the presence of the two veterans enabled the Chiefs to play their first game of the season without a turnover.

Livingston responded to his return after a two-week absence by completing 11-of-21 passes for 144 yards and a touchdown, a 3-yarder to Henry Marshall in the second quarter.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, NOV. 8, 1977

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you would be wise to consider your relations with other persons and to do whatever is possible to have more harmony with them. Ideal time for entertaining congenials.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Come to a better understanding with outside contacts and all goes better for you. A civic affair can be helpful to you.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study that work ahead of you and then handle it in a most efficient manner. Be careful of your reputation at this time.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Ideal day to engage in amusements and relieve tensions during spare hours. Try to please the one you love and be happier.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Do some entertaining of people you like, and become a more popular person. Be charming with close ties.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Confer with an expert who can give you the advice you need so that you can advance more quickly in your career. Avoid a troublemaker.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make long-range plans for the future and seek the support of a higher-up who can help you in your line of endeavor.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) The planets are favorable for you going after your cherished wishes and gaining them easily now. Take it easy tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can now figure out what has been puzzling to you and come up with the right answers. Express happiness with mate.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Go after personal goals now and gain them easily. Stop wasting time with one who is a deterrent to your progress.

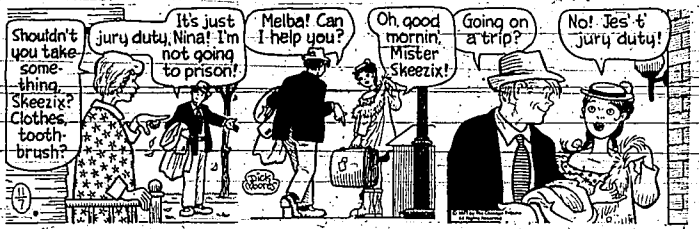

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Consider what should be done to advance in career matters, and then do it. Avoid one who talks too much.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Find a better way to express a fine talent you have. Contact influential persons who can help you in career matters.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make arrangements to improve your financial situation. Show the depth of your devotion to loved one during spare time.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will develop an interesting personality that others will be drawn to, and is bound to be successful in life. Give as much education as you can afford and stress the ethical side of life. There is musical talent in this chart.

Scholars made a study of men's business suits. To learn what sort of costume tends most to give that look of executive authority. They now claim to know it's the classic pinstripe. Wearing it, they say, a man suggests to onlookers that he's a leader. Remember that, young fellow. The suit of a solid color comes in second in this contest. Third is the chalk stripe.

NOBEL WINNERS

Q. "Isn't it a fact that four of the six Americans to win the Nobel Prize for literature were alcoholics?"

A. Either that or exceedingly heavy drinkers, depending on how you define it. William Faulkner, Sinclair Lewis, Eugene O'Neill and Ernest Hemingway each has been so identified. John Steinbeck had some mighty bottle 'bouts in his youth. Pearl Buck didn't.

Q. "How many towns in the United States are called Plains?"

A. Five, at least. In Florida, Kansas, Montana and Texas as well as Georgia. Only one is just plain Plain, and that's Plain, Wash.

Q. "What was the name of Tonto's horse?"

A. Which horse? During the Lone Ranger's 24 years on radio, Tonto rode three horses: White Feller, Paint and Scout.

Q. "You know the 'Charge!' yell heard at so many sporting events? Where'd it originate?"

A. At Southern Cal.

7-ELEVEN

Maybe you didn't realize, the 7-Eleven stores nationwide outnumber the Safeway stores by three to one. In fact, there are more 7-Eleven stores than Kentucky Fried Chicken shops. And more 7-Eleven stores than McDonald's hamburger stands, too.

Armored jeep on market

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — For the security-conscious, an armored truck firm is now offering an armor-plated Jeep that will repel machine-gun bullets, crash through barricades and can be equipped with "retaliation equipment."

R.C. Luebke, president of Moore & Sons, said the $18,000 Cherokee Jeep is being manufactured to meet a marketing demand created by a new surge of terrorism.

The Cherokee, which looks like a station wagon, comes equipped with a plastic armor coating, one and a quarter inches "thick," bullet-proof windows, and a stabilizing system that keeps the vehicle going even after one or more of the tires are shot out.

The extra protection adds about 784 pounds.

If a client has even greater needs, extra armor — designed to bounce off 50-caliber bullets — can be ordered along with what Luebke calls "retaliation equipment."

Luebke was reluctant to give details about the equipment but said common options are two-way radios, firearms and tear gas dispensers.

Machine guns, mini-rocket launchers and "oil and smoke sprays seen in James Bond movies can be arranged, he said.

The first Cherokee was delivered recently to a businessman in South America and several fortified passenger cars to other customers, Luebke said.

Where's my lunch?

CHUMA, a three-month-old snow leopard, is not to be argued with when she is hungry. She is carefully fed six times a day at the Los Angeles Zoo nursery. The snow leopard has been hunted extensively for its beautiful coat and is considered a threatened species.
