OPEC hikes oil price by huge 14.5%

ABU DHABI, United Arab Emirates (UPI) — The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries decided Sunday to increase the price of oil by 14.5 percent in 1979, a level that will mean an increase of up to 6 cents per gallon at U.S. gas pumps.

Political leaders and economists around the world were shocked by the size of the OPEC price hike, which will be a four-step process beginning with a 5 percent jump on Jan. 1.

The White House appealed to the oil producers' group to reconsider its decision, which was expected to have a substantial effect on inflation in the United States and the rest of the industrialized western world.

Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani of Saudi Arabia, OPEC's biggest producer and leading moderate, told reporters he was "not very happy" with the big increase, which he said could cause a recession in industrialized countries and rebound against the OPEC countries.

Yamani promised to seek a price freeze in 1980. "This large price hike will impede programs to maintain world economic recovery and to reduce inflation," the White House said in a statement.

As a result of the OPEC decision and a shortage of unleaded gasoline that has already begun, Energy Secretary James Schlesinger said, American motorists will have to pay 5 to 6 cents a gallon more for gasoline next year.

After the Jan. 1 price increase of 5 percent, the OPEC plan calls for three more hikes: 3.809 percent on April 1, 2.204 percent on July 1 and 2.691 percent on Oct. 1.

They will boost the basic price of oil from its current level of $12.70 for a 42-gallon barrel to $14.52 — an increase of 14.5 percent. And the full brunt of the increases will come next winter, when exports to the United States, Europe and Japan are at their height.

"I wanted no more than 5 percent more," Yamani said, "and another dose."

"If it had not been for the Iran crisis, I think we would have come up with lower increases," he added.

"Although the increases amount to 14.5 percent on a compounded basis, OPEC officials preferred to describe them as an average price rise of 10 percent overall of $9.79. The increases will add approximately $4.5 billion to the U.S. oil import bill next year and $5 billion to the rest of the European common market. The United States already is running a trade deficit of approximately $45 billion this year.

On current rates of production, the price hikes will boost income of the OPEC member states from $142 billion this year to $156 billion in 1979.

An 80 percent cutback in production by Iran, which is normally OPEC's second-largest producer, has created a seller's market for crude oil.

If the strike-bound Iranian oilfields stay idle, Yamani said, Saudi Arabia would consider lifting its production ceiling of 8.5 million barrels a day to make up the difference. But he added, "I don't think Iran can consider not exporting for a lengthy period of time."

In Tehran Sunday, officials reported production had increased substantially, but still was only 2.2 million barrels daily, down from a normal level of 5.5 million barrels.

"The price increases refer to Arabian light crude oil, the so-called 'marker crude,'" Yamani said, "and prices of the more desirable light crudes may be higher than the basic level, while heavier crudes, which require more refining, may be lower. Most unleaded gasoline is produced from the lighter crudes."

The United Arab Emirates announced it would slap a premium of 7 to 8 cents on each barrel of the lighter crudes that it sells. Yamani said Saudi Arabia will reduce the price of heavy crude in the hope western refineries will make the investments necessary to handle it. The decision was a compromise between the Saudi position and that of the more militant states, which wanted a 15 percent increase to compensate for the fall of the dollar and inflation in the cost of goods they import.

Some producer states that have large populations and relatively small exports of oil have run into deficit. They claim they have lost up to 50 percent of their oil revenues due to inflation and dollar depreciation.

Despite their dollar difficulties, the oil ministers stuck to the dollar as the basis for their pricing. They had received some suggestions to switch from the dollar to a "basket" approach — a grouping of major currencies.

The 13 OPEC members produce a total of about 31 million barrels a day — half the world's total. The United States consumes about 17 million barrels a day, half of it imported.

The OPEC members are Algeria, Ecuador, Gabon, Indonesia, Iran, Iraq, Kuwait, Libya, Nigeria, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, United Arab Emirates and Venezuela.

A final communiqué said the ministers noted "with great anxiety the high rate of inflation and dollar depreciation in the United States and hence the substantial erosion in the oil revenues of the member countries, and its adverse effects on their economic and social development."

Mitzie Rosen stands by Athena, only legal pet deer in Idaho

Meet Athena, Idaho's only legal pet deer

By DOUG TULLIS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Most people own dogs or cats for house pets with an occasional duck- or chicken thrown in.

Mitzie Rosen of Twin Falls has the only legal pet deer in the State of Idaho.

Mrs. Rosen has a permit from the highest possible source in the state, Gov. John Evans. Although state law strictly forbids the owning or keeping of large game animals as pets, Mrs. Rosen was granted permission to keep the animal because it has become totally domesticated.

She got the deer as a small fawn about three years ago when U.S. Forest Service officials found the animal abandoned in the forests near Kelchum.

"The Forest Service didn't know what happened to the mother so they brought her to me. I owned a goat and she adopted it right away," Mrs. Rosen explained. At the time, Mrs. Rosen lived in the Warm Springs area of Hatchum, away from traffic and crowds, in a fairly natural environment. After caring for the deer, for this time named Athena, for about "three" months, the suggestion was made that she be moved to the Boise Zoo. Three months later, Mrs. Rosen was in Boise to see a doctor and decided to visit Athena at the zoo.

"She was just emaciated and almost starved," Mrs. Rosen said of seeing her pet deer in the children's section of the Boise zoo.

"I asked the zookeeper what he was going to do about it and he said 'nothing,'" she said. Mrs. Rosen told the zookeeper wild deer cannot successfully digest hay and need a special diet of willows to survive in captivity.

"When I suggested that he go to the Boise River and get some of the willows, he said they didn't have any time to do that," she said.

By this time, Mrs. Rosen had her dander up and wouldn't take "no" for an answer. "I asked him what I had to do to get her back and he said I better talk to the mayor. Well, I pulled out on Capital Boulevard and looked up and saw the statehouse and decided, mayor hell, I'm going to the governor."

She was in the governor's office by 11 a.m. and on her way by 11:30 a.m. with the only permit in the state to own a big game animal.

"By 11:30, I left a very astounded zookeeper standing there as I drove away in my van with the deer in the back."

Having a pet deer hasn't been all roses and lollipops, Mrs. Rosen says.

"The Fish and Game has tried to arrest me three times for having her. Twice in Oregon and once in Idaho," she said.

Last Christmas, she was visiting relatives in the Burley area and had Athena tied out on the front lawn.

"A game warden came by and spotted the deer and came back and said I was under arrest for having a big game animal. When I told him I had a permit, he said 'there's no such thing, they don't give them.'"

"I gave the deer a bowl of cereal and a cup of coffee and the game warden couldn't believe it," she said.

The game warden called a regional office and told them, "I'm standing in the kitchen watching a deer eat cereal and drink coffee and I can't believe it."

After seeing the permit and watching the full-grown deer act like a pet animal, the officer left Athena and Mrs. Rosen to themselves.

Mrs. Rosen said the deer has been a wonderful house pet.

"She's even house broken. She'll go to the door and wait to be let outside," she said.

Even though Athena is tame by nearly all standards, Mrs. Rosen said there is really no way she could keep her in town since she now lives in Twin Falls and works at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

"Because of living in town, the deer is now at the Skaggs game refuge near Declo but Mrs. Rosen says there is no way Athena could be returned to the wilds because she is too unafraid of humans and is totally fearless of dogs."

Pro-Taiwanese forces gather

—WASHINGTON (UPI) — Foes of the decision to cut diplomatic ties with Taiwan met Sunday in a bid to set up a broad-based coalition to fight the Carter administration's China policy.

Dante O. Graham, a retired lieutenant general and ex-deputy director of the CIA, said the critics plan to campaign against Carter's China decision in court and in the Senate.

Graham, co-chairman of the conservative-oriented Coalition for Peace Through Strength, said he hopes to get labor, business and conservative groups to join in the campaign.

He said the Carter foes are not opposed to diplomatic relations with the People's Republic of China, just to the abandonment of ties with the Nationalist government on Taiwan.

"Nothing much can be done — or should be done — to tackle the issue of recognizing Red China," Graham said. "What we're concerned about is the abandonment of 'free China.'"

Graham said he met with businessmen, conservative groups and representatives of congressmen Sunday in an attempt to set up a campaign to fight the Carter China policy.

He predicted the campaign would draw the support of Democrats as well as Republicans, liberals as well as conservatives, labor leaders as well as businessmen.

"We've identified the seeds of a broad-based coalition," he said. He predicted Carter would "have a great deal of a problem" in implementing last Friday's China announcement "because of the way he's gone about it."

The president will need the backing of Congress to pay for a U.S. embassy in Peking and Senate approval to send an American ambassador to China.

No peace treaty at hand in Middle East, after all

By United Press International

The deadline established at the Camp David summit for a peace treaty between Egypt and Israel passed Sunday without an agreement and each nation blamed the other for the stalemate.

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance said he was "sad and disappointed" that Israel last week turned down the latest American proposals to break the deadlock, but expressed hope, an agreement still could be reached.

"I feel the proposals that I took to Jerusalem were reasonable proposals," Vance said Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press."

A senior Israeli official said a peace treaty could have been signed if Egypt had not come up with demands supported by the United States that rendered the pact worthless.

Egyptian Acting Foreign Minister Butros Ghali countered by saying "The treaty was not signed by the target date because of Israel's intransigence and inability to understand Egypt's Arab commitments."

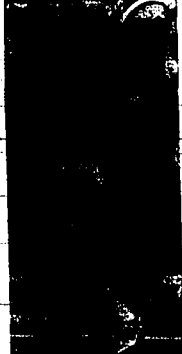

The dispute centers on Egypt's demand for a timetable for Arab autonomy in the Jordan West Bank and Gaza Strip and its previous commitment to lend military assistance to other Arab states if they came under attack.

"I think that the suggestions that I took with me to Jerusalem were constructive suggestions," Vance said. "Two were simply clarifications."

"The question with respect to the West Bank-Gaza letter is one which has as its most difficult issue and really the only substantive issue — whether or not there will be the specification of a target date ... for the accomplishment of the elections and the inauguration of the self-governing authority."

Peoples Temple left USSR $7 million

GEORGETOWN, Guyana (UPI) — The Peoples Temple of the Rev. Jim Jones directed that more than $7 million be left to the Soviet Communist Party to help "the oppressed peoples all over the world," according to evidence presented at a coroner's inquest Sunday.

The inquest into the mass suicide-murder of more than 900 people at the cult's jungle commune and the slaying of Rep. Leo Ryan, D-Calif., received a letter signed by Arnie G. Moore, a nurse and the cult's financial secretary.

That letter, addressed to Soviet Embassy official Fedor Timosevich, and other letters instructed him how to draw the money from the banks.

"The letter said, 'I am doing this on behalf of the Peoples Temple because as communists they have money to be a benefit for and to help the oppressed peoples all over the world or in any way your decision-making body sees fit.'"

The letter, one of five given as evidence by Guyanese crime official Cecil Roberts, said the Peoples Temple funds were in two Panama-based banks, the Union Bank of Switzerland and the Swiss Banking Corp.

Another letter, signed by Maria Katsaris, Jones' secretary, told of an undisclosed sum in the Banco Union De Venezuela which was also to go to the Soviet Communist Party.

The letters were found by police in a suitcase which three cult survivors — Michael Prokes, Tim Carter and his brother, Mike — had been ordered to take to the Soviet official in Georgetown along with several hundred thousand dollars.

"I, Maria Katsaris, leave all the money in the Banco Union De Venezuela in Caracas to the Communist Party of the Soviet Union. The person to contact is Mr. Heddach at the main branch of Banco Union, Miss Katsaris wrote. "This is my final will before I die."

Other material already published in the Guyanese government press had indicated that Peoples Temple officials had been in touch with Soviet officials to discuss the possibility of moving of the commune to the Soviet Union.

Also during the hearing, cult survivor Odel Rhodes, 26, testified that during the mass suicide-murder Nov. 18 Jones kept urging his members to bring babies first.

Rhodes said a woman named Rosetta Paul took up her 18-month-old son, Robert, squirted the liquid down his throat, shot some down her own throat, walked to nearby field and sat down to await death.

After that, he said, other women lined up with babies and other children to get syringes.

"It will not hurt," Jones was quoted as saying. "You will just close your eyes and go into a deep sleep."

Ken Kellett files his replica of the Wright Brothers' plane Sunday

Replica of Wright plane takes to the air

KILL DEVIL HILLS, N.C. (UPI) — The forward stabilizers rose from the takeoff track, then the wings lifted above the undercarriage and a reproduction Wright Flyer took briefly to the air Sunday on the 75th anniversary of the historic Wright Brothers' flight.

On Ken Kellett's third attempt to duplicate the Wright flight, he brought the reproduction Flyer two to three feet into the air, though the tail kept dragging the ground. However, the tail was designed that way.

Despite the dragging tail, Kellett called the flight, made 75 years and 16 minutes after Orville Wright opened the era of powered aviation, a success.

"I am tickled silly," said Kellett, 25, of Boulder, Colo. "We came here to fly that airplane and we succeeded in that."

"We rolled about 40 feet before we rotated the airplane and left the track about three feet or so. It was set in a pitch-up attitude with the tail possibly sitting on the track," Kellett said.

"Was it flying?" he was asked.

"Oh yes, it was flying," Kellett said.

"Unfortunately, the plane was off the takeoff track for 2.5 seconds, and covered less than 60 feet. It lifted off its dolly toward the end of the 120-foot track and came to rest just off the end of the takeoff rail."

Orville Wright's flight lasted 12 seconds and covered 120 feet at 10:35 a.m., Dec. 17, 1903.

"I think God meant for us to fly. He gave us Orville and Wilbur Wright," said Kellett.

Belgium elections

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) — More than 6 million Belgians voted in freezing weather Sunday for a new parliament that will have to decide how much autonomy to give to the nation's Dutch- and French-speaking communities.

Former Prime Minister Leo Tindemans called it the most important election since Belgium was founded in 1830.

The 6.4 million people required by law to vote were choosing 212 members of the House of Representatives, 106 senators and new councils for Belgium's nine provinces. The provincial councils later will elect another 50 senators and the 156 then will appoint 25 more for a total of 181.

The new parliament will have to devise new autonomous governments for the French-speaking Flanders region in the north and Dutch-speaking Wallonia in the south.

The future of the monarchy is not in doubt and Belgium's foreign policy is bound to remain unchanged because all major parties are committed to Belgium's allegiance to the European Common Market and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The main question is how much autonomy will be granted to Flanders and Wallonia and what status will be given to Brussels, the officially bilingual but French-dominated capital, which is surrounded by Flemish territory.

Basque gunmen kill

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — Terrorist gunmen struck again in the Basque region of northern Spain Sunday, killing a retired infantry colonel in an early-morning submachinegun attack, police said.

The terrorists, presumed to be members of the separatist organization ETA, gunned down Diego Fernandez at 3 a.m. on a sidewalk outside the ministry of culture office in the Basque city of San Sebastian.

The latest death raised to 34 the number of killings since Oct. 1, all attributed to ETA, whose initials stand for "Basque Homeland and Liberty."

Since his retirement from the army, Fernandez had worked for the government.

Taiwan tries to control protests of U.S. pullout

TAIPEI, Taiwan, (UPI) — The government stopped in Sunday to halt a rising tide of anti-American feeling and ordered police to seal off the U.S. Embassy, the focal point of protests against diplomats tied between Washington and Peking.

Barbed-wire barricades went up around the two-story embassy in the downtown sector of the Nationalist Chinese capital. Police also blocked off a nearby overpass.

Angry student gangs have hurled stones, eggs and bottles near the building, burned the U.S. flag and shouted insults about President Carter in a series of demonstrations since the dramatic announcement that the United States is "recognizing the simple reality" that Peking, not Taipei, is the true Chinese government.

The students fastened Nationalist Chinese flags to the gates of the U.S. commissary and the banners still fluttered defiantly Sunday. Hundreds of strollers watched silently as steelhelmeted riot squads patrolled the area inside the barricades.

Local U.S. military radio broadcasts advised Americans and other foreigners to stay off the streets.

School and military sporting functions were canceled. Dances and games in a number of recreation centers were also called off Sunday evening.

Police guards and two ambulances were stationed next to the U.S. residence of U.S. Ambassador Leonard Unger who stayed elsewhere during the weekend.

President Chiang Ching-kuo and other government leaders kept silent Sunday after issuing an appeal to the nation Saturday to stand united and extending martial law which has been in force on the island nation since 1949.

Editorials in Sunday newspapers took a hard line against the new U.S. policy.

"Carter rushed to his decision through no other reason than he had gambled his political career on the success of the Middle East peace talks — and lost," the China Daily News said in an editorial.

The government suspended "hostilities" parliamentary elections scheduled for Dec. 23 and placed the armed forces on "necessary alert."

President Chiang, who is also head of the ruling Kuomintang Party, called a party central committee plenary session for Monday to discuss the surprise U.S. announcement.

The American Chamber of Commerce in Taiwan said it was "surprised and disappointed" by Carter's announcement and "unhesitatingly" reaffirmed its confidence in the future of nationalist China.

With the impending departure of the U.S. Embassy, only 21 countries will keep diplomatic ties with Taipei. Of these, 12 are Latin American nations, five from Africa — including white-ruled South Africa — plus South Korea, Tonga, Saudi Arabia and the Vatican.

More trouble in Iran

TEHRAN, Iran, (UPI) — An American human rights activist said Sunday he was savagely beaten by Iranian secret police while investigating reports of government brutality toward anti-shah demonstrators.

Production in the southern oilfields, where a strike cost the government $60 million a day in lost revenues, rose to 2.2 million barrels Sunday when threats of mass firings got most oil workers to return to their posts.

But the output could drop again Monday during a nationwide "day of mourning" called by opponents of Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi on behalf of people killed in the weeks of rioting.

Ralph Schoeman, 43, of Princeton, N.J., said he was arrested Saturday when he and three Iranian lawyers went to the southern town of Najafabad to check on reports that proshah tribesmen, troops and Savak secret police agents were killing people who took part in anti-government protests last week.

"It was just a matter of chance that we weren't shot," said Schoeman, former secretary to the late philosopher Bertrand Russell.

Schoeman said the worst reports he heard in Najafabad came from the hospital, where "doctors told us that Savak agents kept storming the wards, cutting tubes, giving the wounded inhuman beatings and dragging the wounded away."

He quoted the doctors as saying police told the arrested wounded, "We didn't shoot you so you could live. We shot you so you would die, and you will die."

"Najafabad is a little town of about 15,000 people," Schoeman said. "Last week at least 100 people died there and more than 1,000 were wounded or are simply missing."

Schoeman, in Iran representing the American Committee for Artistic and Intellectual Freedom in Iran, said his group was arrested and put in police cars when it protested the arrest of a hospital employee by Savak agents.

"On the way to headquarters one agent hit me in the jaw and the side of the head with the butt of his automatic weapon. Then he hit me repeatedly, cursing me in Persian."

Once at headquarters Schoeman said he and three Iranian colleagues were "brutally kicked about for about 30 minutes." The group was released after three hours.

"The worst was the sadism," Schoeman said. "One sergeant kept barging into the room where we were held and gloating about how he was going to kill us."

Flogging ordered

LAHORE, Pakistan (UPI) — A special military court Sunday sentenced four people a flogging and to 14 years of imprisonment each for burglarizing the home of a movie actress.

Two others were sentenced to be flogged and to serve lesser prison sentences.

All six were convicted of stealing jewelry, clothes, a tape recorder, a television and $2,000 from the home of actress Zamurrat. Each was sentenced to 20 strokes of the whip.

Winter coming to the West

By United Press International

Winter storms spawned rain and snow throughout much of the West Sunday, steadily falling snow draped the New England landscape and sunny skies prevailed between the two storm systems.

Freezing rain, sleet and snow fell in the northern mountains of New Mexico and snow fell across Utah and Nevada.

Heavy snow and storm warnings were posted for the mountains in Utah and southern Idaho, for the Tahoe basin in Nevada, north and central Arizona, Montana and the Colorado mountains. Travelers advisories were extended from northern New Mexico into the Pacific Northwest.

At the opposite end of the nation, heavy snow was reported falling at Limestone, Maine, and at Bethel and St. Albans, Vt. up to a foot of snow was predicted for Maine, with 6 to 8 inches expected elsewhere.

Snow flurries extended across northern New York into northeastern Ohio and northwestern Pennsylvania.

A mixture of rain and sleet pelted northeastern New York.

Gale warnings were posted along the Atlantic Coast from Virginia through New England.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening star is Mars.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Sagittarius.

American composer Edward MacDowell was born Dec. 18, 1861. This is American entertainer Dick Van Dyke's 53rd birthday.

On this day in history: In 1865, the 13th Amendment to the Constitution abolished slavery in the United States.

In 1915, President Woodrow Wilson, a widower for about a year, was married to widow Edith Bolling Galt.

In 1965, a U.S. spaceship returned to earth after spending 14 days in orbit.

In 1972, the United States resumed heavy bombing and mining operations against North Vietnam after the Communists refused to agree to end the war.

A thought for the day: American novelist Gertrude Franklin Atherton said, "No matter how hard a man may labor, some woman is always in the background of his mind. She is the one reward of virtue."

IRA bombs rattle major British cities

LONDON (UPI) — Three bombs — two in an underground YMCA hotel garage and one in a car — exploded in central London early Monday, 24 hours after blasts in five English cities that police said bore the hallmarks of the provisional Irish Republican Army.

Scotland Yard said two bombs went off shortly after midnight in the parking garage of the YMCA hotel on Great Russell Street, just off the Oxford Street shopping area.

Hotel security officials immediately evacuated some 1,100 people, two or three of whom were treated for smoke inhalation at a local hospital, police said.

Within seconds, a third bomb planted in a car exploded outside the Oasis Swimming Pool about a block away, turning the car into a blackened hulk and spreading shattered glass across the road.

A 70-year-old security officer standing guard at a nearby hospital was hospitalized, suffering from shock.

Police said they got no warning and no one claimed responsibility for Monday's blasts or the five coordinated explosions early Sunday in shopping centers in Liverpool, Manchester, Coventry, Bristol and Southampton. At least 10 people were injured in those incidents.

Police defused a bomb in Southampton where Investigating officer Richard Stobart said: "These devices bear all the hallmarks of the provisional IRA."

Despite light traffic, police blocked off the areas around the car blast and the hotel and sent the evacuated "Y" residents — many in night clothes and hair curlers — to nearby hotels where they milled in the lobbies for hours, drinking coffee and waiting for an all clear.

Nalya Davila, 23, of Monterrey, Mexico, a student living at the YMCA for a year was among the hundreds crammed in the small lobby of the Ivanhoe Hotel.

"We were sitting at a table in the lobby having coffee," she said. "I heard an explosion, and my car went off."

and the security people at the hotel went from floor to floor to evacuate people."

Eleazar Zundagh, a tourist from Pretoria, a coat thrown over thin pink pajamas, said she was asleep when she heard the first blast. "I didn't do anything at first," she said.

After default, Cleveland faces severe cutbacks

CLEVELAND (UPI) — His city mired in default, Mayor Dennis Kucinich planned an emergency austerity program of massive layoffs this week in Cleveland's police and firefighting forces and union leaders vowed to go to court Monday to fight the measures.

Kucinich said 3,500 municipal employees, or 35 percent of the city's work force, would be laid off. As a result, a cutback in most other basic services is anticipated.

Efforts continued through the weekend, however, to come up with a solution that would lift Cleveland out of default on $15.5 million in bank notes. But Kucinich made it clear he would not accept a state bailout that set stringent conditions, such as creation of a special board of control over city finances.

The city defaulted at 12:01 a.m. Saturday on the short-term bank notes, when Kucinich and the City Council failed to hammer out a compromise on restoring investor confidence by asking voters for an increase in the city's income tax from 1 to 1 1/4 percent.

With layoffs of half the police and fire departments looming — 1,600 police officers and 500 firefighters — union leaders for both groups promised legal action to stop the safety force cutbacks.

"We're already severely undermanned," said Cleveland Association of Firefighters President Jack Gannon.

The bulk of the layoffs would come in the police, fire, garbage collection and streets divisions. Kucinich said the cutbacks would be detailed at 3 p.m. Monday, after a meeting with leaders of the city's 17 unions. These divisions have the fewest number of workers paid by federal grants.

If no settlement were reached to end the default and city expenditures were not slashed drastically, Cleveland's general revenue funds would run out by mid-February and the city would sink into total bankruptcy.

Before then, however, state officials probably would be forced to create a controlling board that would have the power to sell the city's assets, raise taxes and dictate all city spending and borrowing.

Kucinich proposed a compromise on selling the debt-ridden Municipal Light Plant. Sale of the light system to the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. had been the council's condition for calling a special election on the income tax increase.

But the council's attorney concluded the compromise was illegal and the banks also called the plan unworkable. Kucinich had wanted to create a three-member commission to run the light system and decide if it should be sold.

Cuyahoga County Commissioner-elect Edward F. Feighan, whom Kucinich defeated in the last mayoral election, proposed Sunday that the county purchase the Municipal Light Plant from the city for $100 million. A spokesman for Kucinich said the mayor had reservations about such a plan.

It was disclosed over the weekend, meanwhile, that four of the six Cleveland banks which allowed the city to go into default have CEI directors on their boards of directors.

Seven of CEI's directors serve on the boards of Cleveland Trust, National City, Central National Bank and Society National Bank. Kucinich made other last-ditch efforts to avert default, including pleas to Gov. James Rhodes and President Carter.

Ex-cultists

Members don't easily say goodbye to cults; they face flashbacks, depression and stress

By MARGARET THALER SINGER
 Editor's note: The murders and mass suicides at the People's Temple in Guyana have focused attention on two questions: Why does a person join a cult? And what is the aftermath of cult membership for those who have left such groups? These questions are the basis of "Coming Out of the Cults," the first psychological report on the present lives of former cult members. The report is the work of Dr. Margaret Thaler Singer, a psychologist who has interviewed 300 current and former members of such cults as the Children of God, the Unification Church of the Rev. Sun Myung Moon, the Krishna Consciousness Movement, the Divine Light Mission and the Church of Scientology. This is the second article in a three-part series by Dr. Singer excerpted with permission from the January 1979 issue of "Psychology Today."

Many people fear they will never return to full fun following after leaving a cult. Of course, leaving an restricted community can pose problems; leaving the Army for civilian life is hard, too. In addition, it is often argued that people who join cults are troubled to begin with. But the residues that some cults leave in many of their ex-members seem special; slippage into dissociated states, severe incapacity to make decisions and extreme suggestibility. These after-effects, I believe, derive from the effects of specific behavior-conditioning practices on especially susceptible persons. Most ex-cultists struggle at one time or another with some or all of the following difficulties and problems. Not all the former cultists have all of these problems, nor do most have them in severe and extended form. But almost all my informants report that it takes them anywhere from six to 18 months to get their lives functioning again at a level commensurate with their history and talents.

Depression: With their 24-hour regime of ritual, work, worship and community, the cults provide members with a sense of purpose. When members leave, feelings of meaninglessness often reappear, aggravated by the return of family and personal issues that were unresolved at the time of conversion.

In addition, former members have a variety of new losses to contend with. Ex-cultists often speak of their regret for the last years during which they wavered off the main path of everyday life. They regret being out of step and behind their peers in career and life pursuits.

They feel a loss of innocence and self-esteem if they come to feel that they were used and duped, or that they surrendered their autonomy in joining a system whose promises of a better world never came to pass. Loneliness and conflicts about sex: Leaving a cult also means leaving ready-made friends, common interests and the intimacy of sharing a very significant experience. In addition, the ex-cultists now have to look for new friends in an uncomprehending or suspicious world.

Many of our informants had been struggling with issues of sexuality, dating and marriage before they joined the cult. Most cults reduce such struggles by restricting sexual contacts and pairings, ostensibly to keep the members targeted on doing the "work of the master." Even marriages, if permitted, are subject to cult rules.

On leaving the cult, some people respond by trying to make up for lost time in binges of dating, drinking and sexual adventures. These activities often produce overwhelming guilt and shame when former members contrast the cult's prohibitions to their new freedoms.

Others simply panic and avoid dating altogether. One man remarked: "I had been pretty active sexually before I joined. Now it's as if I'd never had those experiences, because I'm more inhibited than I was in junior high. I feel sexually guilty if I even think of asking a girl out. They really impressed me that sex is wrong."

Indecisiveness: Some groups prescribed virtually every activity: what to eat, wear and do during the day and night, showering, defecating procedures and sleep positions.

The loss of a way of life in which everything is planned out creates a void which some former cult members call a "future void" in which they must plan and execute all their tomorrows on their own. Said one, "Freedom is great, but it takes a lot of work."

Certain individuals cannot put together any organized plan for taking care of themselves, whether problems involve a job, school or social life. One woman, who had been unable to keep a job or even care for her apartment since leaving the cult, said: "I come in and can't decide whether to clean the place, make the bed, cook, sleep or what. I just can't decide about anything and I sleep instead."

Except for some aspects of the difficulty with making decisions, these problems do not seem to be unique to the cults. The techniques of behavior modification that some cults apply to their members. But other, often more frightening readjustment problems do.

Jonestown sells books

More cult than asked for

By DON GRAFF
 One complaint the public can never make against the American press is that it has not been kept informed of every horrifying nuance of the Guyana murder-suicide story.

It is highly possible that more words have been expended on the grisly details and motivating circumstances of the Jonestown atrocities, not to mention the social, religious, metaphysical and political — at least as Ronald Reagan sees the latter — implications, than on any other single topic during a comparable period since World War II. As a subject for blanket coverage, one might think it would be approaching exhaustion.

But wait. There's more. Already on prominent newsstand display are two paperbackbacks, rushed into print almost before the body count was in.

One, "The Suicide Cult: The Inside Story of the Peoples Temple and the massacre in Guyana," is the product of a special team of San Francisco-based reporters assigned, the forward informs, "to complete a work of journalism in book form." And, as its advertising warns, soon to be a motion picture.

The other, "Guyana Massacre: The Eyewitness Account," is a singular effort on the part of the super-excitous Washington Post, which we are already indebted for the major chapters of the Watergate story, the inside account of The New York Times' excerpting of the H.R. "Bob" Haldeman memos before even the Times could tell it — and similar services in the interests of an informed public.

This hybrid of journalism and publishing was once something of a British specialty — a feverish treatment of the Profumo scandal of the early '60s comes first to mind — which migrated. The first on recent U.S. record was the 1964 "Warren Report" on the Kennedy assassination inquiry. It was followed by offerings of some significance dealing with Vietnam, Watergate, the Entebbe hijacking and commando rescue. More recently we have had the story of New York's Son of Sam killings, written in large part while the hunt for the killer was still on. What it may have come to is misplaced quotation marks. The productions are certainly instant, but there may be some question as to their nature beyond that. Not, however, as to their purpose. This is not to give a new dimension to journalism or to contribute to a more informed public. It is to realize as many additional bucks as possible from the sensation-aroused public.

In this respect, it might be argued that the difference between the current crop of instant books and forthright pagography is more one of degree than kind.

Cheers for U.S.-China relations

On Jan. 1, the United States finally will open its eyes and establish full diplomatic relations with the 800 million mainland Chinese.

The recognition of China, and the announcement that Taiwan must stand in the world on its own feet, without American defensive protection, represents a major diplomatic breakthrough for this country.

Yes, the die-hard Taiwanese supporters already have denounced the recognition of China as a sellout or the beginning of World War III.

But full diplomatic recognition of the world's most populous nation should not have been delayed any longer. For years, the United States was only fooling itself by thinking Taiwan as representative of the Chinese populace or genuinely important to our international standing.

In reality, free nations around the world have praised the American overture to China.

The diplomatic ties with China have seemed inevitable since the death of Mao. In the last two years, China has, in dozens of ways, shown interest in normalizing its relationship with the United States.

No longer are the Chinese spewing anti-American, revolutionary propaganda or urging the North Vietnamese for a war against the U.S.

The new Chinese leadership, talks in moderation. The nation appears eager to build better trade relationships with the United States, possibly selling oil in return for western technology.

In Idaho, the recognition of China, coupled with the maintenance of trade relations with Taiwan, could lead to a vast new market for Idaho farm goods.

Sen. Frank Church already has called for establishment of an American trade mission to China.

And Taiwan? The U.S. overtures with China will hurt. But Taiwan maintains its access to American markets and the U.S. has armed the Taiwanese to the teeth, assuring the island plenty of fire power to defend itself.

China's entry into the American diplomatic world must be considered a great step forward for our nation.

Hit-and-run parkers on rise

WASHINGTON — One of the most dastardly criminals in America today is the "hit-and-run parker." Almost everyone has been a victim of a hit-and-run parker. You go into a shopping mall or an underground self-parking collar, and the owner or attendant when you return you discover the side of your car has been bashed in, or there is a large gash in the radiator grille, or the bumper in the rear has been pushed three feet into the trunk.

You look around desperately to see if the guilty car is still in the parking lot. Obviously it isn't. The mad hit-and-run parker has struck again!

I went to see Chief Inspector Renfrew at the police department who is in charge of the hit-and-run parking division.

He showed me a chart and said proudly, "Hit-and-run parking is the largest growth crime in the country. It's risen 100 percent in the past three years. There was a time when someone who had smashed into someone else's car in a parking lot or on the street would leave a note on the windshield with his or her name, address and telephone number. But I haven't seen that happen in ages. Now it's smash, bang and 'Let's get the hell out of here.'"

"Have you ever caught a hit-and-run parker?" I asked Inspector

Renfrew. "No, but we've been close a few times," he said. "Once we had a man staked out in the basement of the Kennedy Center who saw a Chrysler smash into a new Buick. The Chrysler took off and my man followed in hot pursuit. Unfortunately, he smashed into a Chevy as he was backing out, so he had to leave by another exit so no one would know he had done it."

"If you haven't made any progress in solving hit-and-run parking accidents," I asked, "why are you still in business?"

"Because we're getting closer all the time," he said. "For example, we now have a profile of the average hit-and-run parker: She's either a man or a woman, middle-class, respectable and usually votes for the law-and-order candidate. Her weakness is getting into a parking space without going over the yellow lines. She has trouble backing up, and panics easily when she sees anything moving in front of or behind her. When she wants to go forward, she will put her car into reverse; when she wants to go backwards, she'll put it in drive. When the car is perfectly positioned, she'll put her foot on the gas pedal."

"You keep saying 'she.' Does this mean the hit-and-run parker is usually a woman?"

"I wouldn't say that, but a recent survey of automobile body shops around the country indicates that more women than men are sneaking in to have their cars repaired."

"But they have more time." "That's true. We find a majority of them tell the body shop owner they'll pay in cash on condition that their husbands never find out about it."

"That's good sleuthing," I told Renfrew.

"The thing that really has us confused," the inspector said, "is that nobody wants to admit that they were in a moving accident any more. Therefore, when someone in the family comes home with a dented fender, that person always says it happened in the parking lot."

"What should a person do if he actually catches a hit-and-run parker in the act of smashing into his car?"

"Look around for a witness. Otherwise, it will be his word against hers."

"But aren't people reluctant to get involved in someone else's hit-and-run parking accidents?"

"Most are, unless you promise to give them your parking space in exchange for testifying in court on your behalf."

1 percent initiative puts legislators on the spot

HOUSE. There are times in any legislative career when a lawmaker decides he must vote his conscience, even if that means opposing the direct wishes of his constituents.

Sometimes history records the moment as a profile in courage, other times the vote gets chalked up on the seamy side of politics. This was a way of shaking off the rationalizations and cutting to the quick of the matter.

More than a few Magic Valley legislators are going this year. How they react will be worth watching.

The cause of the conflict is the 1 percent initiative, a poorly drawn piece of legislation that seems destined to produce far more harm than good for the state. A solid 50 percent of Idaho's voters supported the initiative, which in most books is a landslide. Since the election, many legislators, with the eyes on the next election, have been taking of the initiative's provisions as if they were chiseled in stone.

The problem facing Magic Valley legislators is that their constituents rejected the initiative in some counties by wide margins. Cassia County was the only one of the eight Magic Valley counties that supported the 1 percent initiative. In Blaine, Camas, Gooding, Lincoln, Jerome, Minidoka and Twin Falls counties the measure went down to defeat. In some Magic Valley counties the initiative was voted down by margins of two and three to one.

The legislators from these counties will have to decide which mandate to follow. They can accept the wishes of Idaho voters as a whole, if they truly believe the initiative is best for the state, but in so doing they will be rejecting the voters in their own districts — saving those voters two important to know what's good for them. That message won't be popular and might cost some Magic Valley legislators their seats in 1980.

The alternative is for Magic Valley legislators to believe that if the voters were smart enough to elect them, then maybe their votes on the initiative weren't so dumb after all.

It will be particularly interesting to watch the votes of House Speaker Ralph Olmstead. It's his party and his legislative sidekick Tom Silvers, R-Twin Falls. These two legislators have already told some local residents that while the voters of their district rejected the initiative, they will have to support it in order to benefit the state as a whole.

The argument that the good of the whole state or nation must occasionally transcend the wishes of a particular district is indeed fascinating when made by these two legislators, for they were among the fiercest critics of the House Speaker for using that argument in support of his votes on the Panama Canal treaties. When Church hit the bullet, these two legislators saw it as hypocrisy and a sellout of his state. When Olmstead and Silvers go directly against the wishes of their own constituents, it's very interesting.

Not that the 1 percent initiative will be the only measure making waves in this year's legislature. Also likely to be the subject of a few speeches is the Sunshine Law.

That measure, which incidentally was also passed by Initiative, requires lobbyists and politicians to make limited disclosure of campaign contributions and expenditures, basically listing where their money comes from and where it goes. There are no prohibitions in Idaho's law. No vote is required for the measure, except for spending any money there is only a requirement that the voters should have the right to know who is financing the persons who make the laws under which they must live. The rest is decided by the voters in the ballot box.

Idaho's Sunshine Law is among the weakest in the nation, but it has still been too strong for some legislators. One of its strongest critics has been House Speaker Olmstead. In 1977, Olmstead sponsored and introduced House Bill 244, a measure which was trounced by a vote of 50-18 in the conservative House of Representatives.

Olmstead's bill was an open attempt to destroy the Sunshine Law and the principle of open disclosure for which it stands. It would have gutted the law. So bad was the bill that even his own Republicans abandoned him, reminding Olmstead that 74 percent of all voters supported the initiative in 1974.

In 1977, Olmstead was just another legislator. Now he is the leader of the House of Representatives. It will be interesting to see if he uses his position of power to destroy the law that three out of every four Idahoans thought was worth having.

Asian power triangle seen by Soviet Army newspaper

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet army newspaper Red Star Sunday said an American-Chinese-Japanese military alliance aimed at the U.S.S.R. is developing in Asia, but declared it is doomed to failure.

Despite appearances, the article was not a reaction to President Carter's announcement that the United States and China would open diplomatic relations next year. But it was obviously written in anticipation of such a move and served as a telling indicator of the Soviet position — not yet formally presented — on Carter's announcement.

"The alliance of U.S. imperialists, Japanese revanchists and Chinese great-power chauvinists is directed against the vital interests of all peoples," the military newspaper said.

"It has no future and cannot have any future. The triangle that is being planned causes lawful indignation throughout the world."

Red Star said the "new strategy" developed by the Carter administration will include a U.S. military buildup in Asia as stronger relations develop between the countries involved.

The article warned the Soviet Union has some 75 per cent of its land mass in Asia.

"Three-quarters of the Soviet territory lies in Asia," it said. "And the Soviet people, naturally, are vitally interested in consolidation of security in Asia."

The Soviet Union currently has a million troops stationed along 3,000 miles of Soviet-Chinese border, the scene of violent skirmishes in recent years.

PLO bomb injures 21

JERUSALEM (UPI) — A bomb planted by Arab terrorists Sunday ripped apart a bus crossing from occupied Arab territory to the Jewish sector of Jerusalem, wounding 21 people.

In Beirut, Lebanon, the Palestine Liberation Organization claimed responsibility for the attack, which apparently was planned to mark this day set as a deadline for an Israeli-Egyptian peace treaty.

"It was an operation carried out by Palestinian fighters, by the PLO," a spokesman said. "Our Palestinian patriots are launching operations daily against the Israelis inside occupied territory."

The national radio said 21 persons were taken to hospitals and one person was reported in serious condition. The others were moderately or lightly injured.

A second terrorist bomb was safely dismantled earlier on a busy highway near Tel Aviv at a soldiers' hitchhiking station. There were no injuries or damages, news reports said.

Chaim Katz, 17, a witness to the explosion, said,

"The bus came up to the stop and all of a sudden there was an explosion and flames came out from behind."

The bomb, which went off with a roar heard throughout West Jerusalem, exploded as the bus passed through the Bayit Vegan neighborhood, an area where many orthodox Jews live.

"It was like fireworks," said Katz, who is a student at the nearby Kol Torah religious seminary. "A woman was standing on the sidewalk crying. Her hand was wounded. A man's stomach was wounded, but he refused to be taken to the hospital."

Witnesses said the wounded were rushed to hospitals in private cars before police arrived.

The street was covered with broken glass, torn rubber and other parts of the bus including metal advertising signs. The entire rear half of the bus was torn apart by the bomb, which apparently was planted behind the vehicle's rear seat.

"We only have ourselves to blame," said one resident, recalling that two other bombs blew up in buses in the neighborhood earlier this year.

Nicaraguan talks continue

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — A team of State Department officials has arrived in Managua to plan the plebiscite that would decide the future of the Somoza family's 41-year rule over Nicaragua, diplomatic sources said Sunday.

The team's arrival coincided with the start of negotiations Saturday between representatives of President Anastasio Somoza and his political opponents — and a Sandinista guerrilla attack apparently aimed at scotching the talks.

Diplomatic sources said the U.S. officials would be drafting the mechanics of the plebiscite, to be supervised by an international organization, possibly the Organization of American States, with heavy U.S. participation.

But the key point of the plebiscite — what would happen to Somoza if he loses — is to be settled during negotiations that began Saturday in Managua between the Broad Opposition Front and leader of the president's Liberal Party.

The Front wants Somoza to resign immediately and leave the country if he loses. The 53-year-old president does not want to quit until a constituent assembly, which presumably he could control, elects a successor.

Front negotiator Alfonso Robelo said Sunday the envoys from the United States, Guatemala and the Dominican Republic acting as mediators in the talks have proposed the plebiscite be held Feb. 18.

Robelo said the only agreement reached at the opening round of talks was to change the proposed agenda so the first topic of discussion would be the goal of the referendum rather than its mechanics.

Fifteen minutes after the talks opened, the anti-Somoza Sandinista guerrillas launched a three-hour mortar and machine-gun attack on the town of Pemas Blancas, on the border with Costa Rica 150 miles south of Managua.

Un-marrieds lose court case, jobs

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Fred Philburn and Rebecca Hollenbaugh wonder how far the government should go in involving itself in the private lives of its citizens.

The U.S. Supreme Court has let stand a federal court ruling that upheld the right of the Fayette County Library to fire two of its employees for living together in an "open and adulterous" relationship.

Philburn, 53, and Ms. Hollenbaugh, 38, who were both fired from the Carnegie Free Library in Connelville in August 1973, have shared a home for about six years.

The couple has one child, a 5-year-old daughter.

They sued in 1974, charging that their privacy and equal protection rights had been violated but a district court judge ruled the library board had authority to discharge them because Philburn was an uncontracted employee who could be fired "at will" and Ms. Hollenbaugh's contract had been fulfilled when she received 60 days severance pay.

A few days ago, the Supreme Court refused to hear the case. But Justice

Thurgood Marshall, in a dissenting opinion, said he would have favored a review of the issues.

Marshall said the ruling "permits a public employer to dictate the sexual conduct and family living arrangements of its employees, without a meaningful showing that these private choices have a relationship to job performance."

Pope speaks kindly of skiing

ROME (UPI) — Pope John Paul II said Sunday Alpine skiing is fine, as long as you have a good pile of legs.

"It's beautiful to look at," the pope told a group of boys at a neighborhood athletic club while watching Norwegian Eric Haker win a World Cup downhill on television.

What's what

The redhead's not dead, but hairdressers really know for sure?

The redhead has been the subject of much sardonic derision over the years. Not a little admiration, too. And some odd prejudice. So the historians report. Client asks the why of this. Before the dyeing of hair became so popular, the redhead was suspect, and any seasoned citizen remembers that far. But the special identity of the redhead goes way back. It's recorded that the Biblical Cain was a redhead and so was Judas Iscariot.

Our Love and War man is saddened by the research, which proves that nearly half the men who go to singles bars are married. This figure has risen in recent years. Too bad. No more than a third of the men who go to singles bars should be married.

It has been proved that a good basketball player can practice free throws just by standing still, visualizing the shots.

BATTER UP

Q. "How much time does a batter have to think it over before swinging on a fast ball?"
A. Takes Ron Guilty of the New York Yankees four-tenths of a second to get the ball over home plate. Takes a quick batter two-tenths of a second to swing the bat. This leaves two-tenths of a second for quiet contemplation.

Incidentally, two dramatic orders were delivered by the baseball umpires of yesteryear. One was "Play ball!" The other was "Batter up!" You still hear "Play ball!" at the outset of the big game telecast. But whatever happened to "Batter up?" Haven't heard it in decades.

PARANOID

The last sultan of Turkey, Hamid II, was another of those numerous leaders who were scared stiff that somebody might disagree. Paranooid, that was Hamid II. Once, a British chemistry professor sought to introduce an elementary science book into Turkey. But it was seized because the sultan's men thought "H2O" was supposed to mean "Hamid II equals nothing."

Unfortunately, can't bring to mind the name of the sage who observed some years ago: "A squirrel in a tree is a joy, all right, unless it happens to be your family tree."

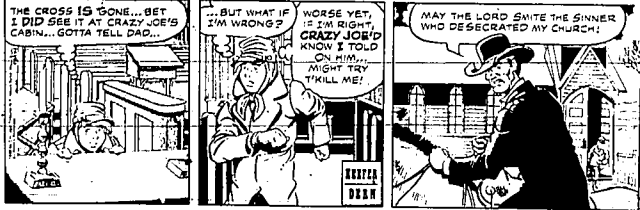

Do you ever get nervous while driving over a bridge? If not, why not? In the U.S. about 150 bridges a year collapse.

Tragedy no deterrent for Dixie Dunn

Instead of feeling sorry for herself, Dixie has used her life as a learning process and keeps involved with speaking dates and flying

By LORAYNE O. SMITH
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Dixie Dunn, an attractive 43-year-old widow from Idaho Falls, has had enough tragedy in her life to crush many people. Her husband died last summer after a long bout with cancer of the tongue. Her only son, a "graduate" of the hippie-drug scene, has been in prison and still has 90 days to go on a work-solo flight before they can be licensed pilots.

"We learn there are four forces on an airplane," she said, "the forward thrust ahead, the bottom weight, the drag in the rear and the upper lift." Applying this recently acquired knowledge to handling life's problems, Mrs. Dunn tells her audiences that she gained spiritual insight when she found herself mistakenly writing cultural emphasis on couples in American social life.

"My friends have all been so great. It has been beautiful," she said. In fact, following her husband's death last June she had so many invitations it was hard to accept them all.

One group of friends came over every two weeks to care for her lawn. They brought food and had a potluck supper after the lawn work was done.

Earlier in her life, Mrs. Dunn also successfully used a new interest to help her over a problem time.

When her husband was transferred by Standard Oil to Salt Lake City from California where her family lived, she was extremely lonely. Upon her mother's urging she took up oil painting.

Going into the scenic canyons around Salt Lake City, she became challenged "to just try and match the beauty God has made."

She grew so fond of the Friends she made there through Bible-study groups that when in 1972 her husband was transferred to Idaho Falls she cried.

She had need of inner strength, for home life was far from tranquil.

"Her son progressed from sniffing glue to other drugs. He stole a car, quit school and had a choice of detention or going into the Army."

"It's almost humorous when you think of it," she said. "Here we were praying he'd choose the Army." He came through service in Vietnam only to return home to more trouble with the law, resulting in the prison sentence.

His mother feels he now has "turned the corner" and believes he will go on to lead a useful life.

She sees this time as a waiting period in her own life, a time to let God heal her sorrow before she launches into new directions.

Meantime she makes use of the morale-boosting habit she and her husband got into during the difficult months of his cancer battle which included two involved surgeries.

"We always looked for the 'encouragement for the day' as we called it. Dick had to write it down because he was unable to talk."

"If we go forward with trust, the down drags will not be such a problem and the lift will take care of itself."

release program.

But instead of sitting around feeling sorry for herself, Mrs. Dunn is taking flying lessons.

She also is continuing her involvement of the last eight years on the speakers circuit—for the Christian Women's Club.

"I had always wanted to learn to fly," she said Thursday in Twin Falls where she came to address the two Christian Women's Clubs, "and now seems like a good time while I'm adjusting."

She acknowledges that while all her life "has been a learning process" trying to become a pilot has called for continuous concentration in the formal ground training which precedes the actual flying.

To date she has flown 11 hours with her instructor from the Queen Bee Airport at Rigby. Students need 20 hours with instructor and 20 hours of "Trust ahead."

"If we go forward with trust," she believes, "the down drags will not be such a problem and the lift will take care of itself."

While her faith obviously is her basic underpinning, Mrs. Dunn comes to grips with what for many people can be a crippling part of her life, no matter what their circumstances—self pity.

"That's the biggest problem after the loss of a loved one," she said "but if you confess that's what's bothering you it's gone."

Her steadfast ability to not succumb to self pity undoubtedly is why she has not experienced the loss of old friends, a complaint of so many widows as evidenced by "Dear Abby," and other newspaper columns.

Mrs. Dunn seemed perplexed at the question if she ever has felt "out of it" since she was widowed because of the loss of a loved one, she said "but if you confess that's what's bothering you it's gone."

Dear Abby

Cheerful attitude good Christmas present

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
 © Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.
 DEAR ABBY: I'm having a hard time deciding what to do for Christmas. I live about 40 miles from my parents' home but I don't want to go home for Christmas because it is a depressing time for me. My parents go to church regularly, but they don't act like good Christians. All Christmas means to them is a pretty tree, lots of presents and good food. But it means so much more to me. I don't want to stay where I live because the people I live with have the same attitude about Christmas. It's all presents and food. Most of my friends are expecting a gift from me and I can't afford any. I was thinking of leaving town for the day, but I can't afford a hotel room.

Can you give me some advice on what to do? I hate this time of year. It's so depressing.
 YOUNG AND UNHAPPY

DEAR YOUNG: Get in touch with a nursing home, a veterans' hospital or a children's institution, and offer to visit those who have no one to visit them. You don't need to bring presents. Just bring a cheerful attitude, a happy face and a willingness to listen and chat awhile. Offer to write letters, read, make a phone call or run an errand.

When you do something for someone else it's impossible to feel depressed. Try it; it really works. Then write to me and tell me what kind of Christmas you had. I care.

DEAR ABBY: Last year I was criticized for handing out my Christmas cards instead of mailing them to the people I work with.

Abby, with postage as high as it is these days, I didn't see anything wrong with trying to save a few pennies. Do you think I was cheap for handing out my cards? That's what I was called.

ELLIE

DEAR ELLIE: How a greeting card is delivered is immaterial as long as it gets there.

DEAR ABBY: I don't have a problem but I do have a statement I would like to make. You said that the sex drive in a person is very strong, and is second only to the desire to survive.

Well, I don't believe I can go along with that, Abby. There are a lot of people in the world who manage to live without sex. For example, monks, nuns and priests. And also some very fine unmarried people.

JEROME IN PINE BLUFF

DEAR JEROME: And some very nice MARRIED people, too!

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple do-your-own thing ceremony, get Abby's new booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212

Toilet seat ruling may be repealed

By JACQUELINE HUARD
 HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — In Connecticut, it's illegal to sit on a toilet seat that isn't horseshoe-shaped. You can be fined up to $100. It's been that way since 1939 when the state decided all toilet seats — in the home and on the road — should have an opening in the front.

That was the year World War II broke out. It was also a time when many people still believed you could catch venereal disease from toilet seats.

Consequently, Connecticut passed a regulation outlawing one-piece, oval toilet seats and imposed a maximum $100 fine on violators. It is believed to be the only restriction of its kind in the country.

But it appears likely the state will join the rest of the nation next week by repealing the regulation.

The rule on open-front seats has not been a big problem in service stations, office buildings or other public places. But it has been for homeowners, especially in towns where regulation-conscious building inspectors go by the book, because most toilet seats made for the home are oval.

"The problem was one of economics," said David Wiggin, head of the Public Health Department's health environmental services division. "In public toilets, you either use black or white seats. That's it."

"But in homes, you get different colors, shapes — designs. To make open-front toilet seats in 10 shades of yellow didn't seem to make sense because you couldn't sell them in any other state.

That was the argument the manufacturers gave when they approached the health agency last summer. Wiggin said the department wholeheartedly agreed and dropped the rule in September, since there was "no public health justification for open toilet seats."

The Legislative Regulations Review Committee, which must still approve the change, is expected officially to repeal subsection (w) of section 19-13-B45 of the state's health regulations next Tuesday.

Dizziness can be caused by various things

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb, Suddenly I developed dizziness. I noticed it first after having a sinus head-cold. The dizziness was particularly bad when I went to bed at night. My head would just swim around. When I'd get up from lying down, I would sit still for several minutes before I started to walk, or I'd walk sideways.

My doctor gave me Antivert which didn't help. Then he said I didn't breathe properly. I'm 64 and have a blood pressure reading of 110/70. I've never had high blood pressure. My doctor said I had good circulation to my head.

It seems this dizziness is worse when I close my eyes. I always feel extremely tired in the mornings upon awakening. I have a thyroid deficiency associated with an enlarged gland determined by scan.

I take a five-grain thyroid tablet daily and a vitamin tablet daily. I also take Valium when extremely nervous, but I have found that I am more dizzy when I lie down if I am not taking Valium than when I take it. I have never taken more than three a day—and generally just take one at night.

Please tell me if you think I should be more concerned about this condition and see a neurologist or just let well enough alone.

Dear Reader,

By the time you hear from me your problem may have resolved itself. Dizziness can be caused by many different things. If you have a true false sense of motion, it is called vertigo. That is usually associated with the balance canal system in the ear, or circulation to the brain or ears. A lot of other people have dizziness which is really an onset of fainting.

The respiratory infection you had may have caused inflammation of the balance canals in your ears. In that case, the condition is usually self-limited and will disappear in time. We call it labyrinthitis. Antivert and other anti-motion sickness type medicines are commonly used in the treatment of such disorders.

If you are continuing to have dizzy spells, ask your doctor to refer you to a neurologist. If you were below 50 years of age, then I might suggest that you see an ear, nose and throat specialist first. There is no rule that applies to everyone, but other people more often have dizziness from problems related to circulation to the brain or ear. Younger people are more likely to have a problem in the ear itself. At any age certain medicines can be a factor.

I am sending you the Health Letter number 9-10, Dizziness and Vertigo. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper; P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. It will explain to you the different forms of dizziness and causes which can occur. As you will see, it is not a simple problem.

I'm concerned about your story of taking thiorid. If your letter is correct, and you are taking five grains of thyroid a day, that is an enormous amount. Usually the most a person needs, even without a thyroid gland at all, is about three-and-a-half grains. Most people with low thyroid disorders do very well on two to three grains a day.

If you happen to be taking an excessive amount of thyroid, that could contribute to your nervousness and dizziness. Also, I'd hate to see you become habituated to Valium.

Sex equality programs top priority

BOISE — Responding to federal legislation, the Idaho Board for Vocational Education plans to make more information available on sex equality programs.

Under Title II of the U.S. Education Amendments of 1976, men and women students must be given equal opportunity to enter occupational fields.

A second goal of the committee is to increase accountability of vocational education programs. The committee wants to require reporting of the number of students enrolled in these training programs.

The committee also agreed to expose students in grades 7 to 9 to trade and craft skills that are "non-traditional" for their sex. For example, cooking, sewing and health courses will be offered to male students, while female students will be allowed to study auto mechanics, agriculture and drafting.

A report released by the committee said this should encourage students to "enroll in their occupational choice based on interest, motivation and talent, rather than on stereo-typed values."

Acknowledge Christmas gifts within 10-14 days

NEW YORK — "Christmas gifts and letters should be acknowledged within 10 to 14 days," says Phyllis Nolan, an expert on seasonal etiquette at Hallmark Cards.

"This means that your response arrives while the act of giving or receiving is still fresh in the sender's mind," she says.

She advises being prepared with a collection of notes and cards that have a space for a short message. Three types of responses may be made easily and quickly:

- Most simple is a short personal note added to the bottom of a seasonal card. One-line notations on cards should be followed up after the Christmas season with a longer, newsey letter.
- Another form of response is the short note. Select a seasonal note or card that can be used throughout the year. Most Hallmark card shops and stationery departments, for example, carry a variety of notes in Christmas and New Year designs, pastoral winter scenes or graphics.

"Finally, for the writer who enjoys sending and receiving holiday letters, your own poem may be appropriate. Nolan suggests "The Night Before Christmas," as perfect for parody. "It is important to put every thank you note and every letter in your own words," Nolan says. "It's not vital that you use complete sentences or perfect punctuation, but rather that you write as you would speak — with affection and concern."

Elegant holiday dessert appeals to all ages

TACOMA, Wash. — Looking for a dessert for your holiday get-together that will please everyone? A rich and creamy Cream Cheese Pie with Strawberry Glaze will fill the bill.

This holiday-themed beauty is sure to appeal to guests of all ages. Part of its universal appeal comes from the mouth-watering berry topping. Use fresh or frozen strawberries — whichever are available.

One taste, though, and everyone will want to know your secret for the smooth cream cheese filling. Surprisingly, Cream Cheese Pie is easy enough a novice to prepare yet so elegant an accomplishment that will take pride in its serving. There are only four ingredients: cream cheese, sugar and vanilla bound together with protein-rich eggs.

Make your own graham cracker crust or buy a prepared one. Or, if you prefer, use your favorite pie pastry recipe. A touch of grated lemon or orange peel in the pastry will make it special.

Whatever crust you choose, do keep Cream Cheese Pie with Strawberry Glaze in your holiday plans. It's a great prepare-ahead dessert for a holiday get-together — the kind of recipe that should be filed under "quick and easy, but fabulous!"

CREAM CHEESE PIE

- 2 packages (8 oz. each) cream cheese, softened
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 to 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
- 4 eggs
- 9-inch Graham Cracker Crust, baked

Strawberry Glaze Topping
In large mixing bowl beat cream cheese until smooth. Beat in sugar and vanilla until fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Pour into prepared crust. Bake in preheated 350°F. oven 40 to 50 minutes or until puffed and lightly browned and center is set. Cool completely on wire rack. Spread Strawberry Glaze Topping over pie. Chill.

GRAHAM CRACKER CRUST

- 1 1/2 cups graham cracker crumbs (about 18 squares)
  - 2 tablespoons sugar
  - 1/4 cup butter, melted
- Mix together crumbs and sugar; stir in butter. Press mixture firmly and evenly on bottom and sides of 9-inch pie-plate, building up slightly around rim. Bake in preheated 350°F. oven 5 minutes. Cool on wire rack.

STRAWBERRY GLAZE TOPPING
1 package (10 oz.) frozen sweetened strawberries, thawed

1 tablespoon cornstarch

In small saucepan blend cornstarch with a few tablespoons strawberry syrup, stirring until smooth. Stir in remaining strawberries. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture comes to a boil. Boil and stir 1 minute. Cool slightly before spreading on pie.

NOTE: For Fresh Strawberry Glaze: Wash and pat dry 1 pint fresh strawberries. Reserving the best-shaped berries for the top of the pie, wash or pare enough berries to fill a 1/2 cup. In small saucepan stir together 1/2 cup sugar and 1 tablespoon cornstarch. Add pared berries and 1/2 cup water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture comes to a boil. Boil and stir 1 minute. Cool. Meanwhile, halve remaining berries and arrange over pie. Spoon or spread glaze evenly over strawberries.

Easy, but exceptional, holiday dessert

Little plumb puddings dress Yule tables

SAN FRANCISCO — Once enjoyed as a medieval harvest dish, the traditional Christmas plum pudding that graces today's holiday table settings is as rich in folklore as it is in flavor and fragrance.

According to legend, the ancient Druid god of plenty mixed the best meats, fruits and spices of the earth to celebrate the winter solstice — thus making this pudding or "plumb cake" older than Christmas itself.

In merry Old England, the pudding was prepared the first Sunday of Advent on "Stir-up Day," aptly named as the family took turns stirring the mixture for luck as it aged and was eventually steamed on Christmas morning. Silver coins and trinkets were customarily hidden in the pudding as surprise gifts.

Fortunately, today's modern housewives can actually enjoy the preparation and eating of this special dessert in a most unique and time-saving fashion. The Dairy Seal A-Meal electric food packager makes it happen with up-to-date style and flair! The recipe offered here combines the customary ingredients and baking procedures to make this long admired Christmas dessert in mini-form. It's complemented by a delectable Butter Rum Sauce. All right food puddings are then used to package the mini puddings and sauce separately. Once sealed by their are ready to store in the freezer — long before the holiday festivities or last-minute guests arrive.

And serving is easy! Simply remove the food pouches from the freezer and reheat in boiling water or a microwave oven.

SUMMER PLUM PUDDING

FOR CHRISTMAS

- 1 cup dried raisins
- 3/4 cup golden raisins
- 1/2 cup currants
- 1/2 cup chopped pitted dates
- 1/4 cup dried candied pineapple
- 1/2 cup dried candied lemon peel
- 3 tablespoons chopped crystallized ginger
- 1 1/2 cups stout or ale
- 1/2 cup dark rum (not Jamaican rum)
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 1/2 cups packed dark brown sugar
- 4 eggs
- 2 tart apples, peeled, cored and chopped
- 1/2 cup chopped toasted almonds
- 1/2 cup ground toasted almonds
- 1 cup dry bread crumbs
- 3/4 cup flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon each cloves, nutmeg and allspice

Grated peel of 1 orange
In large bowl, combine dried and candied fruits (including ginger) with stout and rum; marinate 2 hours. In mixing bowl, cream butter with sugar; beat in eggs. Stir batter mixture into fruit mixture. Stir in apples, almonds and bread crumbs. Stir together dry ingredients and stir into mixture along with peels; mix thoroughly. Spoon batter into 18 buttered custard cups (2 3/4 cup each) filling them a scant three-fourths full. Cover each with a square of heavy aluminum foil and the securely with string. Place on racks in large pots.

Add enough boiling water to cover custard cups two-thirds of the way up sides. Cover, place over high heat; steam 2 hours, adding boiling water as needed to maintain correct level. With tongs, remove custard cups from pots; let stand 5 minutes; remove foil covers. Cool 1 hour. Unmold puddings, loosening with thin-bladed knife, if necessary. Seal 2 puddings each in 18-inch heatable cooking pouch material. Make a second seal 1-inch above first, then fill with 7 tablespoons Butter Rum Sauce and seal. Store in freezer.

To serve: cut pouch apart at double seal. Heat frozen pudding pouch in boiling water 30 minutes. (Begin timing when water returns to boil after adding pouch.) Heat pouch of frozen sauce in boiling water 2 minutes. Remove puddings from pouches; place on individual serving plates. Spoon hot Butter Rum Sauce over each pudding just before serving.

Makes 18 servings.
To Heat in Microwave: Leave pudding and sauce pouches attached. Pierce one corner of each pouch section to make steam vent. Set frozen pouch in center of microwave cavity. Heat on full power 2 minutes.

BUTTER RUM SAUCE

- 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar

- 3/4 cup packed light brown sugar
- 1/2 cup cornstarch
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 1/2 cups boiling water
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1 cup thick rum (not Jamaican rum)

In 3-quart saucepan, combine sugars, cornstarch and salt; mix thoroughly. Add boiling water; stir to dissolve sugar. Bring to boil over high heat, stirring frequently. Reduce heat to medium, boil 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add butter; stir until melted. Stir in rum; return mixture to boiling. Reduce heat; simmer 2 minutes. Cool.

In the teacher education program a new major leading to the bachelor of science degree for interdisciplinary health education is offered. This includes first aid, basic health, nutrition, medical terminology and related courses.

NEW CSI COURSE

TWIN FALLS — For the first time, the College of Southern Idaho will offer a course in cobol programming. The cobol language is particularly well suited for business applications.

The course is called Mathematics 227 and will be conducted Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 to 8:30 p.m. by Professor Ben Pratt.

Ham appetizers for holidays

TWIN FALLS — You'll want to include a variety of ham appetizers on the holiday hors d'oeuvre table. Consider simple cubes of ham served on wooden picks with pineapple chunks or mandarin orange sections. Or use the ham cubes as dippers for cheese fondue.

Another party favorite will be sliced boiled ham spread with seasoned cream cheese, rolled and sliced into pinwheels. Or roll the cream cheese and ham around cooked and chilled asparagus spears or small cherkins. Other possibilities include serving miniature ham balls in a sweet and sour sauce or deviled ham as a dip for vegetables, a spread for crackers or a filling for tiny cream puffs.

End to handouts mandatory in war on inflation

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United States cannot solve inflation and unemployment without a fundamental change in the tax system and ending government handouts, says Dr. Eugene Loeb, a former trade minister of communist Czechoslovakia.

Loeb, who later taught economics at Vassar College at Poughkeepsie, N.Y., spent 11 years in a communist prison after the famous Slansky purge for favoring trade with the west. Five of those years were spent in solitary and although he had an excellent formal education before World War II, nowadays he calls himself "a graduate of the university of solitary confinement."

Loeb is the author of several books and is in demand as a guest lecturer at universities. His latest book, "The Responsible Society" (Regina Ryan-Two Continents, New York), was done in collaboration with his fellow Slovak, Stephen Roman, who controls an $800-million dollar Denzison Mines, Ltd., one of the world's largest uranium producers.

Roman is a Catholic and Loeb a Jew. They are making a joint plea for a return to a more humanistic system of economics and politics based on Judeo-Christian ethics.

They believe passionately, Loeb said, that both capitalism and communism are falling deplorably to meet the needs of the people.

Loeb, a theoretician, and Roman, the practical flinger and industrialist, also are convinced that the west should cease to put its faith in detente and "realize that we are in a fight to the finish with a power as determined to destroy freedom as the East is to destroy it."

It was the failure of western European society to deal with unemployment and the failure of Britain and France to stand up in time to Hitler that drew young Loeb into communism, which he now regards as the worst of all ideas.

He says that in order to fight communism in the world today, the western nations should take the political offensive and strike at the structural weaknesses of Soviet society, which he believes are correct.

One of the most exploitable of these weaknesses, if the West will pluck up its courage and attack it, he said, is the nationalities question.

"Many fewer than half the people of the Soviet Union are Russians and most of them have no effective vote."

But Loeb is an economist. His most arresting ideas are economic. He said, for example, that as far as he is concerned, the chief purpose of the U.S. Federal Reserve Bank System "is to create inflation and unemployment."

He said the Fed's money management policies usually lead to one or the other and sometimes to both simultaneously.

He added that most of his fellow economists because he doesn't believe economics is a natural science but is a social science which makes it like an art — controllable by people.

He told United Press International that Karl Marx, who believed in socialism and communism, mistakenly and passionately believed economics to be a natural science that obeyed the laws Marx described as dialectical materialism.

Ironically, he said, the high priest of modern capitalist economics, Milton Friedman, also appears to believe economics is a natural science. "I greatly admire Friedman and am on the same side he, but his idea that there is a natural science of money is wrong," Loeb said.

Loeb thinks the United States should phase out the corporate income tax and substantially reduce individual income taxes, replacing them with sales and value-added taxes. But that's not the radical side of his views. Some much more orthodox economists and some politicians have been urging such ideas.

The thing about Loeb's views on taxation calculated to scare politicians is that he would deprive the government of its absolute right to levy taxes and of its discretionary powers over spending tax funds. He says taxes should be levied only for specific purposes and, in the main, the money should not be spendable or transferable for any other purpose. This would put federal tax operations rather on the level with those of a local board.

He calls his proposed substitution of sales taxes for income taxes "skimming" and says the rates of sales taxes should be much higher on luxury goods than on necessities. He says this kind of tax system would be less on low income groups and harder on high income groups.

By making the taxes highly visible, the system would make consumers much more aware of how much their taxes actually amount to and less complacent about government expenditures, he believes. Such "skimming" sales taxes also would eliminate most tax shelters and loopholes, Loeb said.

Government lending should replace government handouts, he said, even if the government makes the money available to the banks on an interest-free basis.

"The only condition should be the money be re-loaned for truly productive purposes and every penny repaid."

He said the effect could be to slash prevailing interest rates in half or more, "a clear step towards reducing inflation."

He pointed out that the government is the biggest spender in the country, accounting for one-third of the Gross National Product and one-half of the average household budget throughout the country. Therefore, he says, this lending plan would deprive the federal government of its power "to artificially control the economy through interest rates and permit funds to be earmarked for specific sectors of the economy as viable business loans." He says these loans should meet commercial lending criteria and should not be administered by bureaucrats.

Loeb is one of few people in the world who have had very high-level training in both Marxist and capitalist economics. After leaving prison he was appointed director of the Czechoslovak State Bank under the liberal communist Dubcek government, but had to flee the country when the Russian army marched in.

Finally, Loeb and Roman address themselves to the wage problem. They urge widespread adoption of profit sharing for workers by business and industry. They believe that could create an enormous incentive to increase productivity and that, with good profit-sharing plans, workers would be content to let basic wage scales rise rather slowly and would have little incentive to resist technological advances or create other barriers to raising productivity.

"They would realize the great advantage of maintaining relatively stable prices for goods and even for their own services," Loeb said.

TV monitors put crimp in shoplifting losses

By LEROY POPE
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Television surveillance in retail stores is starting to make a substantial dent in losses caused by shoplifting — employes pilferage and looting by workers, an association of TV equipment dealers claims.

The group is PhotoScan Associates, Inc., which is composed of 44 dealers who design, install and sell or lease such equipment.

So successful is the equipment in curbing theft losses that RCA, Panasonic, American District Telegraph, Vicon Industries, Inc., and other manufacturers of the equipment report their sales are booming.

Wayne W. Winters, an RCA marketing executive, predicts the industry will have closed circuit TV sales of about $77 million this year, up from $50 million in 1977. He says it probably will hit $100 million in 1979.

PhotoScan Associates said almost 75 to 80 percent of the closed circuit TV equipment sold is used for surveillance purposes, much of it in discount and convenience stores, drugstores, supermarkets and variety stores.

Charles D. Olson of Raleigh, N.C., president of PhotoScan, said it is estimated that in recent years shoplifting — and employes — theft have siphoned off 3 to 5 percent of retail sales in such stores. Estimates from trade groups are a little lower.

The dealers expect their sales of the surveillance equipment to grow faster than those of the manufacturers — by 60 percent this year and possibly 100 percent next year, Olson said. He said there are about 21,000 PhotoScan satellites already in use. The satellite is patented housing for a multi-lens TV surveillance camera.

The surveillance equipment is relatively inexpensive and prices have dropped sharply in the past five years or so. A single camera system for a small store can be bought for as little as $600, half the price of six years ago, Olson said.

There are four basic types of equipment: exposed TV cameras linked to monitors, satellite systems, "discreet" systems consisting of a mirrored globe containing a concealed camera and mobile camera systems in which the camera can be moved along a carrier rail. All the systems can be connected to video recorders. The video recorder is being used increasingly because it provides indisputable evidence for use in court.

In addition to curbing shoplifting and pilferage, the TV monitoring appears to improve employe efficiency. A discount store in Connecticut said it believed this was an important factor in a 23 percent rise in sales after the TV surveillance cameras were installed.

A large New Jersey department store cut excessive cleaning costs $2,000 a month when the surveillance cameras began monitoring the cleaning workers on the job.

But the big savings are in theft reduction and curbing vandalism. A supermarket in Tampa cut its pilferage losses 75 percent. A resort hotel in St. Petersburg put an abrupt end to TV surveillance to vandalism and thefts of valuable pieces of furniture and painting. The hotel actually had had a mural painting stolen for which it had paid $1,500.

A large Los Angeles hospital cut crime, including attacks on its nurses, dramatically by installing TV surveillance in its parking lot. A big Colorado baker had losses of $30,000 one year from broken 100-pound bags of cake mix that were lifted by forklift trucks. TV surveillance of the forklift trucks in operation put a stop to the carelessness and the losses.

Walt Murr of the Florida Retail Federation said shoplifting and worker pilferage cost around $291 million last year in the supermarket alone. He said things were so bad that in some stores that expected a profit of $2,700 for every $100,000 of inventory moved, the thefts cut the actual profit to $700, forcing the store to shift to higher markups.

A 1977 study by Supermarket magazine said shoplifting and other pilferage could wipe out a store's profit for up to 30 weeks out of the year. "Since many a supermarket only nets a clear profit of perhaps of $27,000 for the year, these losses are severe."

Norman Jaspas, a Washington, D.C., consultant, claims that 15 percent of the price of most products sold in supermarkets represents the cost of shoplifting and pilferage.

Just a simple check

Using a process called methanol extraction, a technician at the Goodyear fabric development laboratory in Akron, Ohio, measures the amount of finish on polyester tire yarn immersed in a chemical bath. The process is critical in tire yarn analysis because the proper amount of finish is needed to convert yarn into cord to reinforce radial tires.

Some big firms prepare retirees

By EDWARD CRAIG
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lots of workers dread retirement because they haven't the faintest idea when the time comes.

And, as a general rule, the corporate front office doesn't concern itself.

Among the firms which don't feel this way are Pitney Bowes of Stamford, Conn., and International Business Machines Corp., both producers of business equipment.

Each has programs designed to prepare employes for the time when their everyday working life ends.

Pitney Bowes has been somewhat of a pioneer in looking out for its employes. It was among the first to install a profit-sharing program for personnel and its life insurance program was inaugurated in 1928. A noncontributory pension plan was introduced 30 years ago.

IBM also has been a leader in employee benefit programs. Its first was a life insurance and survivors income plan, inaugurated in 1934, and over the years it has made additions, including one providing special care for mentally, emotionally or physically handicapped children of its employes and another reimbursing them for expenses incurred in adopting children.

The pre-retirement programs of both companies have the same thrust: Picking up the tab for expenses spent educating employes for another activity or simply personal fulfillment.

At Pitney Bowes it's available to employes over 50 and their spouses; IBM's starts at 52 for employes with the company 15 years at age 55. The plans are in addition to regular pension and profit-sharing programs at both firms for employes who take educational courses designed to make them more fit for their jobs.

On the retirement preparation program, IBM pays the full tuition costs up to $500 a year and a maximum of $2,500 for each employe. The courses can be taken even through the first two years of retirement.

Pitney Bowes pays up to $300 a year in educational expenses. In addition the company is experimenting with training sessions to familiarize 60-plus employes with the problems of retirement and how to solve them. The sessions cover health, finances, employment in retirement and the legal problems in making a will and selling a house.

When the time for the passage earlier this year of federal legislation raising the retirement age to 70, Pitney Bowes announced it no longer would have a mandatory age limit for employes, permitting them to work as long as they want it.

The strict criterion for employment is ability, not age," according to William Redgate, director of the company's employee relations unit.

"If an employe does satisfactory work he or she doesn't become less satisfactory just because of a birthday. No one gets pushed out who still wants to and can contribute to the company."

"But when retirement does come, Pitney Bowes people will be as ready as we can make them."

One such employe is Joseph Gerardo Jr., who has worked 18 years in the firm's technical and graphic arts section.

Art always has been one of his major interests, and within the past year he began taking regular instruction from a private art school on a full-time basis after he retires.

Norman Jaspas, a Washington, D.C., consultant, claims that 15 percent of the price of most products sold in supermarkets represents the cost of shoplifting and pilferage.

After this, you can check the smaller programs designed for the relative few who meet special requirements.

Your best source of information is almost surely the financial-aid director at the college, for most big financial aid sponsors give out funds through colleges. But no matter where the money comes from, most aid is awarded in grants or scholarships, special interest loans and jobs. Be sure you understand each program how to apply, and your repayment work obligations.

The federal government gives out all three types of aid, with funds totaling more than $3 billion in '78 alone. There are the five big federal programs.

(1) THE BASIC EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY GRANT PROGRAM (BEOG) has the largest, will help more than one million students in '79 with over $2.8 billion. The money will be awarded directly to your child and can be used at any college. Try this

Sylvia Porter

Here's where college funds originate

one first; it's free and colleges want you to apply for a BEOG.

Your eligibility depends on your family's financial circumstances, not only your income. Changes in the system in '78 make eligibility easier, especially for independent students.

The grant may reach $1,800 a year, or half the total cost of attendance (whichever is less). Average grant: $50. You're eligible if you're a college student at any level, a half or full-time student, and with high school equivalents.

You can use a Basic Grant at all types of colleges as well as at private, vocational and technical schools. And now you can use one form to apply for a Basic Grant and many other forms of aid. Check the proper "yes" box on the Financial Aid Form or Family Financial Statement. Make sure the information you report is accurate and complete: The Office of Education has tightened screening procedures, and if it catches any errors, your award may be delayed or you even may be disqualified entirely. The closer scrutiny results from the Office of Education's discovery that colleges and students had abused the Basic Grant program in the past six years and obtained a full $10 million in overpayments.

For details: call toll free (800) 638-6700.

(2) THE SUPPLEMENTAL EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY GRANT (SEOG) PROGRAM has given $770 million to more than 460,000 students in '78. Awards range from $300 to $1,500 a year — up to $4,000 for a four-year program and $5,000 for a five-year program. Grants do not top one-half of total college costs, nor one-half of total aid provided.

Colleges match SEOGs with their own grants, loans and/or jobs. Get details from the college financial aid director.

(3) THE COLLEGE WORK-STUDY PROGRAM helps college aid directors include summer and part-time jobs in students' aid packages. But you might not be paid the minimum wage; CWS is exempt.

If you work about 15 hours a week while attending classes, or more during breaks and summer, you can earn about $1,300 per year. In 1978, about 980,000 students earned more than $400 million through 3,000 colleges.

(4) NATIONAL DIRECT STUDENT LOANS are administered by colleges; but 90 percent of the money comes from the U.S. government. Total in '78 alone: over $10 billion!

If the financial aid director decides you are eligible, you may get a maximum of $2,500 in the first two years; $3,500 for a B.A.; $10,000 for both undergraduate and graduate study.

You can qualify as a half-time student. Repayment and interest (3 percent per year) begin nine months after your studies end. In some cases, all or part of the loan can be cancelled.

(5) GUARANTEED STUDENT LOANS are available to half-time or full-time students through banks, savings & loan associations, insurance companies, pension plans, credit unions, and colleges. You can borrow up to $2,500 a year, or a total of $7,500 as an undergraduate. Recent legislation removes entirely the family adjusted income of $25,000 as a requirement for the in-school interest subsidy.

Repayment begins nine to 42 months after you leave school. Interest is 7 percent. In a few cases, repayment can be deferred.

You also may get guaranteed loans from many vocational, business, trade, correspondence and technical schools.

Interstate completion scheduled

SHOSHONE — Two major uncompleted sections of Interstate highway in south central Idaho are part of a total 14 percent of the state's interstate system that remains to be built.

A six-mile section of I-80N between Hammitt and Glens Ferry is scheduled for completion in the coming year. This section has been under construction for several years and includes a concrete retaining wall above the Snake River next to the present highway. The wall is to stabilize the bank and prevent rock and dirt slides underneath the new interstate lanes. This section of Interstate will open to traffic in 1979, according to state highway officials.

The Idaho Transportation Department reports 612 miles of Interstate will eventually be completed in Idaho with $25 miles, or 86 percent now built to four-lane standards.

Forty-three miles are still two-lane but will be upgraded to four before the total program is completed. Since 1956, transportation department records show, more than $409 million has been allocated for Idaho's interstate system. It is estimated about $150 million more will be needed to complete the system.

Another area in south central Idaho left to be built lies between Raft River and Rockland Junction. A contract was awarded this year and the section is scheduled for completion by 1985.

Congress enacted legislation in 1956 for the National System of Interstate Defense Highways. Highway officials say the original concept was to build 41,000 miles of four-lane highway in the system, at a cost of $1 million per mile.

The national system is now 41,500 miles long and the original completion date of 1972 has been extended by a number of years. The highway system has high-speed safety features, but highway officials say the reduction of the speed limit to 55 mph is probably the major safety factor.

The original $1 billion per mile price tag has also changed. Instead of $12.5 billion, the cost to the nation has already grown to $68.4 billion and is expected to reach $104.4 billion when the final contracts are fulfilled.

TV shows broadcast via satellite

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley cable television watchers who tuned their sets to channel 9 Saturday watched the first satellite program ever broadcast in the area.

Magic Valley Cablevision has installed a new Earth Station Receiving Station and broadcast satellite fare from far-away Virginia Beach, Va., at 11 a.m.

Bouncing signals off a satellite high above the earth, the cable company aired "Christmas in the Mountains" (CBN) programs, such as "The 700 Club" hosted by Pat Robertson, "Hi Doug," with singer Doug Oldham's family entertainment and "Holiday in Melodyland," a fast-paced musical review featuring singer/composer Chico Holiday.

The new list of programs will be available to most, but not all, cable customers in Filer, Twin Falls, Kimberly and Hansen. Valley viewers may have to fine tune their sets for good reception.

From Virginia, the CBN programs are transmitted in the RCA Satcom 1 in geostationary orbit 22,300 miles above the earth and re-transmitted to earth on transponder #8 and received by the Cablevision Center.

"CBN" programming is primarily religious with a non-denominational format. Featured religious celebrities include Oral Roberts, Jimmy Swaggart, Rex Humbard, Norman Vincent Peale and Jerry Falwell.

Potato processing falls behind 1977 rate

MAGIC VALLEY — Cash market prices for Idaho potatoes are sagging under the weight of the biggest spud crop in history, and French fry makers are not using Idaho russets as fast as usual.

Idaho spud growers are still waiting for a federal potato diversion plan to help bail them out by taking the pressure off the market. The potato crop this year reached an estimated 97 million hundredweight in Idaho.

The result could spell disaster for many Idaho potato growers if no use for the spuds can be found.

Alison Mueller and her mother, Bonna, visit with Santa during a neo-natal party

Parents of 'special' babies united by common experience

By LORAYNE O. SMITH
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — It was like any normal children's Christmas party. Santa was there, assisted by the KLIX Klucker, and smartly costumed, small dance pupils entertained for appreciative parents. Small children sat on many laps. The Krahn family presented violin music.

But the party Saturday afternoon in the CSI cafeteria was different. A common bond, not of their own choosing, linked the participants. The guests of honor at this event were infants who had spent time in the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital's Newborn Intensive Care Unit (NICU) in the past year.

The party for these "special" babies — who either were premature or developed problems immediately after birth — along with their parents and brothers and sisters, is held at Christmas time so parents who have shared the traumatic experience can become better acquainted, according to members of the sponsoring group known as Parents to Parents.

This organization was formed a little more than a year ago to provide moral support and encouragement to parents whose baby was in critical condition. The support comes from other parents who have already gone through this harrowing experience.

"You need someone you can talk to," according to Tony Manjon of Filer. "Nice as the nurses are, they are used to these situations. Parents need someone with whom they can share their worry."

Parents naturally are fearful their baby will die, no matter what the circumstances, and it provides great moral support to have the encouragement of someone who has gone through the same experience, he said.

One of the NICU "graduates" at Saturday's party was Andrea, 19-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laren Hansen of Twin Falls. Born prematurely at 6 1/2 months, she weighed 2 pounds 6 ounces upon arrival May 20, 1977.

Andrea did not have respiratory problems — as often occurs in premature babies, but she developed an infection which kept her hospitalized for 52 days. She was allowed to go home when she reached 4 pounds, 8 ounces.

Her daughter has about "caught up" with full term babies in her development now, according to her mother, Elaine Hansen.

Three couples, the Hansens, Mannens and John and Marsha Wood of Burley, currently head the parents group which basically "provides a shoulder to lean on," as Mannen puts it.

"Any parent who has had a child in the intensive care unit is urged to contact any of these couples to participate in the support program. Mrs. Hansen's phone number is 733-3879; Mannen's, 326-5800, and the Woods, 678-0374."

"Mrs. Hansen's ability to easily learn when parents have an infant in the unit since she is employed as a secretary in the hospital.

She and Mannen said they hope soon to have enough "graduate parents" so one couple can be on call as needed for one month at a time.

The Parents to Parents meet monthly and often have a doctor or nurse discuss some phase of infant care.

Garbage dumping now a problem on BLM land

SHOSHONE — Residents of Lincoln, Jerome and Gooding counties have been cluttering up public lands with garbage they do not want to haul to sanitary landfills, according to Bureau of Land Management (BLM) District Manager Chuck Haszler.

"It's quite an extensive problem," Haszler said about the garbage dumping occurring along rural roads in the Shoshone District.

"It's particularly bad in Gooding and Jerome counties. It's bad wherever there is population close to public lands," he noted.

The areas where the garbage is dumped are not only unsightly and unsanitary, but create a health hazard because dead animals usually end up being dumped along with the garbage, Haszler said.

"We can do some enforcement but we're not equipped to do that. We've signed two cooperative agreements with two counties and we are still working on others," Haszler said.

Those who are caught dumping in an unauthorized area are subject to a fine and required to clean up the mess.

Twin Falls schools face 'drastic' cuts

By KEN HODGE
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Budget cuts in Twin Falls prompted by the 1 percent initiative are bound to be "drastic," according to Superintendent Dr. James Sawin.

"Whatever we do it is going to hurt," Sawin said Sunday. "It is just a question of how much (cutting) we will have to do to realize how much it is going to hurt."

After a two-day meeting with school superintendents from all over Idaho in Boise last week, Sawin predicted budget cuts "springing from the initiative will hurt School District 411."

"I don't think there is anything we can afford to cut without hurting the education of Twin Falls youngsters," he continued. "We are already at the bottom of the pile in terms of per pupil expenditures."

About 40 percent of the annual budget in School District 411 comes directly from property tax revenue, Sawin said, but he could not predict how heavy cutbacks in those funds would be.

A group of legislators, government officials and one of the initiators of the property tax relief initiative attended the superintendents' meeting to explain their understanding of the 1 percent initiative, according to Sawin.

"There are probably as many ideas as there are legislators," Sawin explained. "We're looking at a very broad range when we look at the implications of 1 percent." To take away a very large portion of funds has the potential of being very drastic."

Sawin said Don Chance of the Idaho Property Owners Association, the leader of the initiative drive, came to the meet to address school administrators.

Chance and others at the session agreed the popular initiative will mean property tax reductions but could not agree on the amount of such cutbacks.

Before tangible reductions in property tax can be stamped into law, property assessment across the state must be made uniform, according to Sawin.

"In order for the 1 percent to be effective, there will have to be equalization in property assessment," he continued.

Sawin said the final effect on Twin Falls schools could be mollified if implementation of the initiative were postponed until January of 1980, or "we might have a real financial crisis on our hands."

"The amount of money that would not be available as it has been in the past would be very frightening," Sawin explained. "If you were to pull that away in one fiscal year from the schools, it would be very drastic."

"But I don't think the legislature is going to put us in that position," he went on. "I do see the potential for some cutbacks. But if it is a kind of phase-in thing, I think the cutback will be less dramatic."

Sawin could not predict where he would begin paring the budget in the event of budget slashes due to the 1 percent initiative.

He said he would simply wait until the legislature finishes hashing over the matter in the coming session of the state capital.

"We'll just keep talking to our legislators and keep apprised of the situation and where it will finally end," he said. "At that point we will begin looking."

While expending the results of the 1 percent initiative to have a "drastic" effect on Twin Falls schools, Sawin expressed optimism the school district would find some way to handle reduced funding.

"I am optimistic as far as education is concerned," he added. "I feel our elected representatives and senators have a great job on their hands, but I am sure in my mind that with people working with them that somehow we will not do harm to the children of Idaho."

Memorial mall fountain expected by next summer

TWIN FALLS — A drinking fountain to serve as a reminder of the effort that created the Twin Falls downtown improvement program is expected to be installed by next summer.

A group of downtown merchants has begun a project to build the fountain and dedicate it in honor of the late Voy Hudson.

Hudson served as chairman of the local Urban Renewal committee during the construction of the downtown mall and was instrumental in getting off-street parking money to launch to project.

Winston Jones, former mayor of Twin Falls, is coordinating the memorial fountain drive with the help of downtown merchants and friends of the late business leader. He said the Downtowners, an organizer of businessmen, is also responsible for the project.

Jones said the group hopes to raise about $2,000 for the fountain. Most of the expense will be in purchasing a bronze plaque dedicating the structure in memory of Hudson, who died last year. A likeness of Hudson and an inscription will be engraved on the plaque.

The fountain will be located between the Idaho Department Store and the J.C. Penny Store and behind the waterfall fountain, one of the centerpieces of the mall.

Jones said contributions for the drinking fountain may be made to the Twin Falls Bank and Trust where the Voy Hudson Memorial fund has been created or may be given to any fountain committee member or member of the executive board of the Downtowners. Committee members include Jones, James Willis at Sears, John Angerbauer or Ken Stearns at the bank and trust, Paul Fee at Jensen's Jewelers.

Thought on toys offered

MOSCOW—(UPI)—Nancy Wanmaker, an assistant professor of child development at the University of Idaho, says parents can save money and make their children enjoy Christmas more with just a little extra thought.

Ms. Wanmaker says children often are fascinated by principles adults take for granted, such as seeing how magnets work and what objects will sink or float.

She says parents can provide the equipment for such activities at a minimal cost.

"With a little inspiration and a well chosen play area, you can provide necessary messes," Ms. Wanmaker says. "Children can entertain themselves for long periods with something as simple as some water and measuring utensils."

"There are many good creative toys on the market that offer a child an opportunity to learn about sizes, shapes, building, color and other basic skills while having fun."

"Children benefit much more from these and enjoy them longer than they do toys made to do one specific thing."

Ms. Wanmaker says many toys advertised on television do not allow for creativity and she urges parents to be selective.

The professor also says she is disturbed "that toys often perpetuate stereotyped roles for girls and boys."

Computer aids farm studies

REXBURG, Idaho (UPI)—A Ricks College professor of agriculture management says his students are rapidly advancing with new, computerized equipment.

Dr. Phil Rasmussen, who directs a computerized farm crop management program at the college, says he is excited about the work done by his students using computers and programmable calculators.

Small computers containing inventory, tax and accounting packages are much less expensive than many conventional commercial services, Rasmussen said.

"Since most farms handle thousands of dollars of income, expenses and commodity transactions, the use of these tools on the farm seems only logical," the professor said.

"We knew that if we could show the benefits of a student being able to store and manage his farm business records we could convince them it was worth the effort to learn how to use these complex electronic marvels."

"However," said Rasmussen, "we did not expect the overwhelming positive response that we have observed. One student has programmed his father's payroll records from the potato harvest on a programmable calculator."

"The students must learn, however, that it is expensive if they miscalculate."

Plans proposed for Hells Canyon area

BAKER, Ore. (UPI) — Five management alternatives for Hells Canyon National Recreation Area on the Idaho-Oregon border have been released by forest supervisors.

The plans are outlined in "Management Alternatives, Hells Canyon National Recreation Area," a publication available at U.S. Forest Service offices and local libraries in the Idaho cities of Boise, Council, Grandville, McCall, New Meadows, Riggins and Weiser.

In Oregon, the publication is available at Baker, Enterprise, Halfway, Joseph, La Grande, Pendleton, Portland and Wallawa. Copies also are available at the Lewiston, Idaho Chamber of Commerce.

Comments on the alternatives are due at Forest Service offices Feb. 9, 1979.

Each alternative presents solutions for issues identified by the public as important to the area's management, a Forest Service spokesman said.

The Forest Service has not named which plan it favors.

A Comprehensive Management Plan to be compiled with the aid of comments on the alternatives must be submitted to Congress by December of 1980. A draft plan and environmental impact statement on the area will be available for public review and comment in August, 1979, the spokesman said.

The 622,000-acre Hells Canyon area formally was outlined by Congress in 1975, culminating 20 years of controversy over dams in this area on the Snake River.

The river canyon is one of the deepest gorges in North America and forms the border of northeast Oregon and west-central Idaho.

Idaho usury law appeal attempt starts

BOISE (UPI) — A move to repeal the 10 percent legal ceiling on interest rates for home mortgages in Idaho is underway, the Idaho Statesman reported in a copyright story Sunday.

The newspaper said mortgage banks, commercial banks and savings and loan associations have banded together to lobby the Legislature in January.

The lending institutions have joined realtors, home builders and members of the home-building industry on a committee called Homes for Idaho to seek repeal of the state-imposed ceiling, said chairman Robert Glatysier, president of United First Federal Savings.

"It's going to be one of the major issues in the Legislature," said Sen. Ron Twigler, D-Boise. "His fate is probably going to be determined by whether or not the prime rate has turned downward in January, February and March or whether it's gone up."

The committee has decided to seek repeal of the usury limit rather than an increase in the legally allowable rate, Glatysier said.

"What good is an increase?" he asked. "It doesn't serve any purpose. Every time we have one of these increases the economy goes up to a level where the usury rates are once again a problem."

The repeal is seen by the committee

as a way to make money available for Idaho's lending institutions in the tight national money market.

BSU bitter over Big-Sky penalties

Illegal scouting brings probation for college's football program

BOISE (UPI) — Boise State University football fans and players expressed bitterness and disgust over penalties slapped on the Bronco football program Saturday by the Big Sky Conference.

The conference council of presidents, meeting at Salt Lake City, put BSU football on probation for the 1979-80 season because of head coach Jim Criner's authorization of an illegal scouting operation against Northern Arizona University last month.

"It's like sending someone to the electric chair for picking someone's pocket," said Bronco Athletic Association Executive Director Jim Faucher.

"The penalties are too severe." Under the probation, the Broncos are barred from post-season games; competing for the conference championship; or receiving a share of playoff or television revenues.

BSU also will be banned from participating in the conference's film exchange program, a move which will keep the school from scouting any conference teams because the Big Sky does not allow live scouting.

Criner, who was given a one-year extension of his contract after he admitted sending a friend to scout NAU before a crucial game between the schools, Saturday was ordered by the conference to apologize and be severely reprimanded for his part in the scheme.

Criner's friend, Bob Rodrigo, was caught by suspicious NAU officials while posing as a scout for the Pittsburgh Steelers. Criner at first denied any connection with the incident, but later accepted full responsibility.

BSU President John Keiser, in granting Criner a 1979-80 contract recently, said he would be fired immediately if he left the Boise city limits for recruiting purposes.

Keiser said he believed the loss of film scouting privileges was overly severe and somewhat vindictive in nature.

Norm Dahm, BSU faculty representative to the conference, said he believed the television revenue penalty could hurt other Bronco athletic programs. "The school received $107,000 in football television revenue in 1974.

BSU football players were ecstatic over their criticism of the conference's actions.

"I think this could really motivate me. I'm already mad," said Terry Zamora, a running back who will be a junior next season.

Said defensive tackle Doug Scott, "I really have a lot of contempt for the Big Sky Conference, because they see this as a way to get back at Boise State, a team that has dominated the conference for years."

"They can't beat us on the field so they've got to beat us some other way," Zamora said.

"I think it's wrong," said quarterback Huskin Hogan. "The coach accepted full responsibility for the act. Not only has the coach been reprimanded, but the entire team."

"It does punish the players more than it would the coaches or coach Criner," running back Cedric Minter said.

Eagles win playoff berth

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Eagles qualified for the NFL playoffs for the first time in 18 years Sunday but that accomplishment appeared to take a back seat to the team's winning record since 1966.

Wilbert Montgomery scored on two first-quarter touchdown runs and gained 130 yards to set a Philadelphia single season rushing record, giving the Eagles the second NFC wild card playoff berth with a 20-3 victory over the New York Giants.

Following the game the Eagles had to wait three hours before learning they had reached post-season play. The clinching moment came when the Minnesota Vikings lost 27-20 to the Oakland Raiders and the Green Bay Packers went down 31-14 to the Los Angeles Rams. Philadelphia travels to Atlanta next Sunday to play the Falcons in an NFC first-round game.

But for now Dick Vermell's Eagles are savoring their 9-7 record, best since a 9-5 finish for the Runnebow Bowl team of 12 years ago.

"How good are we? I don't know," quarterback Ron Jaworski said. "But the important thing is that we're winners. There's nothing more important than that. Whatever happened after this was gravy."

"It's more than being really excited," linebacker Bill Bergey said. "It's just a feeling of being so relieved that we finally got this winning season. The No. 1 thing is that we wanted a winning season so far ahead of anything else."

"As for the playoffs, if we made it, fine. We'll work our butts off all week to get ready for Atlanta. But the big thing is that we're 9-7."

The Eagles got to be that way by striking for touchdowns the first two times they had the ball to take a 13-0 lead a little more than nine minutes into the game.

With the help of Montgomery's 47-yard run, the Eagles drove 71 yards with the opening kickoff and scored on a 23-yard run by Montgomery. A 43-yard pass from Jaworski to 6-foot-8 Harold Carmichael, who outleaped 6-2 defender Odis McKinley to make the catch, set up Montgomery's 7-yard TD run on the Eagles' next possession.

The Philadelphia defense then took over, allowing the Giants their only points on Joe Damato's 24-yard field goal in the first quarter. The unit held New York to 48 yards rushing and scored a touchdown when linebacker Frank LeMaster ran nine yards with an interception of Joe Pisarcik's pass with 6:18 to play.

Montgomery, selected for the Pro Bowl in his second NFL season, broke Steve Van Buren's single season rushing record of 1,146 yards set in 1949. Montgomery's total Sunday, reached on 25 carries, gave him 1,220 yards for the season.

"My only goal when I came into camp was to try to be a starter," the soft-spoken Montgomery said. "I didn't expect to go over 1,000 yards but I was looking at it during the season. The line did a great job all year."

With the wind gusting to 40 miles an hour, the Eagles relied on their ground game, gaining 238 yards. Montgomery's backfield mate, Mike Hogan, added 100 yards on the ground.

The Giants, 6-10, lost to the Eagles for the seventh straight time. Starting quarterback Randy Dean was knocked groggy in the first quarter and was replaced by Pisarcik, the Giants' regular quarterback who missed last week's game with a knee injury.

Pisarcik drove New York to the Philadelphia 24 in the third quarter with the help of a 33-yard pass to Johnny Perkins, but the march died when Willie Spencer fumbled and Bergey recovered at the 15.

Pisarcik re-injured his knee in the fourth quarter and was replaced by Dean.

Six for Cardinals

St. Louis Cardinals' Terry Steve catches a pass in the end zone for a touchdown as Atlanta Falcons' Rick Byas falls down in the second quarter. The Cardinals went on to score a 16-21 victory over playoff-bound Atlanta. For more on the game and other NFL results see page 11A.

BYU has problems back east

By United Press International

In recent years, Eastern basketball teams have ventured West and found about as much success as a gambler in a Nevada casino.

This week, Brigham Young University, the pre-season pride of the Western Athletic Conference, went East to start off what's supposed to be some of the best talent in the Rocky Mountain region.

But the Cougars found nothing but problems, losing to Rhode Island 85-76 and St. John's 90-84.

The twin losses dropped BYU, the favorite to win the WAC race, to 6-3 overall.

Elsewhere, Texas El Paso, New Mexico and Wyoming all scored victories during the week-end, although the victims aren't likely to make any major college's who's who list.

UTEP and New Mexico took turns beating up on bewildered Central Florida, which just a couple of weeks ago was still known as Florida Tech. First the normally shabby Miners set a Special Events Center scoring record with a 92-64 win and New Mexico followed on Saturday with a 124-92 rout.

The Lobos' fast-break offense created so many fast-break opportunities that senior guard Mark Felix came up with a school-record 16 assists.

Wyoming, which now has the best record in the league at 5-1, downed little Fort Lewis College, 75-52. The Cowboys' impressive start is a little misleading, however, since the only victory over a major college was a 68-65 win over Texas Tech at Lubbock.

Utah, which has alternated between brilliance and inconsistency early in the season, captured its Utah Classic Tournament with victories over Hofstra, 83-71 and Idaho State 64-57.

The Utes, now 5-3 overall, blew a 13-point lead in the title game against Idaho State but hung on behind the combined 34-point effort of Greg Deane and sophomore center Tom Chambers. Deane, who finishes with 16 points, hit a jumper with 5.3 seconds left to give the Utes breathing room after the Bengals had closed to within 1-0.5.

Packers say good-bye to playoffs

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Rams, who reached the Super Bowl, have taken much verbal abuse about their offense this season — or lack of it — but they scored 31 points against the Green Bay Packers Sunday.

Coupled with a defense ranked the best in the NFL, that was good enough to get the Rams over Green Bay, which eliminated the Packers from an NFL playoff berth.

In the Rams' rainy, regular season finale, Cullen Bryant scored two touchdowns on short runs and Pat Haden threw a 21-yard scoring pass to Willie Miller.

"Our team did it when it counted today," said Ram Coach Ray Malavasi, "and I know we're going to do it again in the playoffs."

"I thought we played a good game. The players knew they had to turn in a good performance if they got out and did what they were supposed to do."

"I like our chances," replied Haden when asked about his team's playoff prospects. "They're as good as the chances of anybody else. We need to play well but we need to get a little luck, too. But we sure we'll be ready to play."

The season wasn't an artistic success but we got the job done. This team is hungry going into the playoffs. We want to win and prove that we don't choke. The fashion in which we won this last game was good for us."

Los Angeles Rams crush Green Bay's hopes for central division championship

For the NFC West champion Rams, the win meant they can be the host team for the NFC championship game Jan. 7 if they win their first-round playoff game at home Dec. 31.

The Packers' loss gave the second NFC wild card playoff spot to Philadelphia, which beat the New York Giants earlier Sunday.

Cornerback Pat Thomas came up with Green Bay turnovers to set up two of the four Los Angeles touchdowns. Thomas intercepted a David Whitehurst pass in the first quarter and recovered a Terrell Middleton fumble in the third period.

Bryant, playing in place of the injured Lawrence McCutcheon, had the best rushing day of his six-year professional career and the best day for a Ram running back this season with 121 yards on 38 carries. He scored the first two Ram touchdowns on runs of one and five yards.

A heavy mist fell during the game and only 42,500 fans showed up at the Coliseum to see Los Angeles finish the regular season with a 12-4 record. There were 23,197 no-shows.

The Packers, who came into the game with a shot at the NFC Central title or an NFC wild card berth, wound up at 8-7-1.

Rookie Frank Corral put the game out of reach with a 24-yard field goal with one minute left. Corral's 29th field goal and four extra points gave him the NFL scoring championship with 118 points.

Rod Perry, the Rams other starting cornerback, got the Rams a final touchdown with 46 seconds left when he returned Whitehurst's third interception 44 yards for a touchdown.

Although the Rams won by 17 points, Green Bay was in the game until the final minutes: Packer Coach Bart Starr had David Beverly punt from the Green Bay 35 with 3:21 to go with the Rams in front 21-14.

The Rams looked like they would have to give the ball back but on a third-and-10 situation on the Ram 32, Haden found Ron Jesse for a 49-yard pass with 2:28 to go that gave Los Angeles the ball on the Green Bay 16. The play led to Corral's 24-yard field goal.

Los Angeles, which meets either Minnesota or Philadelphia in two weeks, led 7-0 at halftime on Bryant's 1-yard touchdown run at 13:23 of the first period. The Rams, who have had their offensive problems in the 20 this season, scored the touchdown on their fifth try after a first down at the 4.

Bryant's first score came after Thomas intercepted a Whitehurst pass and ran it back 17 yards to the Green Bay 31.

Los Angeles made it 14-0 on its first possession in the second half on a six-play, 50-yard drive after Nolan Cromwell deflected a Beverly punt. Bryant scored at 3:55 of the third period on a 5-yard sweep around right end.

But the Packers came right back on a 72-yard, 7-play drive with Middleton scoring on a pitchout and a 4-yard run around right end at 7:56 of the third quarter. Whitehurst completed four passes for 61 yards in the march.

Thomas recovered a Middleton fumble that gave the ball to the Rams on the Packer 30 and the Rams went the 30 yards in five plays with Haden finding Miller five yards in front of safety Steve Luke in the end zone for a touchdown that put Los Angeles in front 21-7 at 11:30 of the fourth quarter.

The Packers came back to score on a 22-yard pass from Whitehurst to Middleton at 3:32 of the final quarter. Haden completed only 9-of-26 passes for 140 yards and was intercepted once. Whitehurst was 12-of-23 for 166 yards with three interceptions. James Lofton caught five of the Green Bay passes for 52 yards.

The Ram defense held the Green Bay rushers to 75 yards on 23 attempts. Middleton, who went into the game with 1,078 yards, the No. 4 rusher in the NFC, was held to 39 yards in 17 carries.

Vikes gain playoff spot despite loss

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders got out of the playoffs for the first time since 1971, won the game Sunday but the Minnesota Vikings won a spot in the NFL playoffs.

The Raiders converted three early Minnesota mistakes into a 27-20 victory but about all they had to show for it was a loss to their pride.

The Vikings, meanwhile, got in as the NFC Central champion despite an 8-7-1 record and losses in their final two games. Despite losing, the Vikes advanced while the Raiders, who beat them soundly in Super Bowl XI, went home to think about what went wrong in a 9-7 season.

The Vikings wound up the division champions when the Green Bay Packers lost to the Los Angeles Rams 31-14. That left Minnesota and Green Bay both at 8-7-1 but the Vikes prevailed because of a victory and a tie in their two games against the Packers. The division title was Minnesota's 10th in the last 11 years and sixth straight.

"Who cares about the record?" said Vikings Coach Bud Grant, who now has led his team into the playoffs for the 11th time in the last 19 years.

Cardinals bury Falcons

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The Atlanta Falcons already had a wild-card playoff berth, and the last-place St. Louis Cardinals were just playing for fun.

"It was sort of a Christmas present to each other," Cardinal quarterback Jim Hart said of Sunday's 42-17 win over the Falcons. "We were pretty relaxed. We were having fun."

Hart had the first run of all, throwing three touchdown passes and running for two more scores.

"On the first run, I could have thrown it away because usually there's someone coming right at you by then," Hart said of his 2-yard score. "But there wasn't so I just ran it."

"The second one was a regular drop back pass," he said of his 9-yard run in the final quarter. "It was either throw it right away or take the hole that opened right up in front of me."

Hart hadn't run for a touchdown since 1967, and often has been criticized for failing to run when a hole seems to open up.

"It's got to be a big hole for me to get through it," he said with a laugh.

ran 2 yards for a touchdown and Joe Ferguson set a Buffalo career record with his 78th touchdown pass, a 39-yarder to wide receiver Frank Lewis.

Baltimore scored on a 1-yard run by Don McCauley and a 26-yard halfback pass from Joe Washington to Mike Siani.

Miller, who pushed his season billing total to 1,662 yards, put the Bills in front 21-7 with the 60-yard run — his longest of the season — with 11:25 to play.

Seahawks a 20-3 lead, was a 55-yard sprint on a fourth-and-one. The play was set up when Kansas City went offside on a Seattle punt that Lewis intercepted.

Hunter's first touchdown, a 1-yard pounce, capped an 65-yard drive with 8:56 left in the first half.

Jim Zorn and Steve Largent burned the Chiefs' secondary with a 57-yard touchdown pass early in the third quarter for the game's first score. The victory gave Seattle a 9-7 mark, setting an NFL record for wins by a third-year team.

Lions rely on kicker

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — Dexter Bussey scored two second-quarter touchdowns and Benny Ricardo kicked four field goals Sunday to give the Detroit Lions a 24-14 victory over the San Francisco 49ers in a season-ending game for both teams.

The contest, which closed San Francisco's worst season ever, marked the first meeting between the teams since Coach Monte Clark, who left to coach the San Francisco 49ers, left the club to an 8-6 record in 1976.

Bengals rout Cleveland 48-16

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Ken Anderson passed for two touchdowns and ran for another Sunday to spark the Cincinnati Bengals to a 48-16 rout of the Cleveland Browns in the "Battle of Ohio" that ended the season for both teams.

Anderson, who completed 14-of-22 passes for 256 yards, lofted a 40-yard scoring pass to rookie Don Bass and a 6-yarder to Archie Griffin. The veteran quarterback also ran three yards for a score.

Manning paces New Orleans

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Archie Manning added the Tampa Bay defense with pinpoint passing and hit tight end Benny Childs with a 1-yard touchdown pass in the fourth quarter Sunday to enable the New Orleans Saints to close out their season with a 17-10 victory.

Manning's passes also set up a 21-yard third-quarter touchdown run by Chuck Muncie and a 32-yard first-period field goal by Steve Mike Mayer.

Cowboys gear for playoffs by whipping New York Jets

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Dallas Cowboys are ready for the playoffs.

They showed that Sunday by overwhelming the New York Jets 30-7 in a game marred by swirling winds that gusted to 50 miles an hour and made every pass an adventure.

The Cowboys' major offensive weapon was Tony Dorsett, who carried 29 times for 121 yards, including a 7-yard touchdown run, and broke open the game in the third period by scooping up a fumble and running 54 yards for another score.

Robert Newhouse and Larry Brinson also had TD runs for Dallas.

Danny White, making his first NFL start at quarterback, directed a Dallas attack that managed to control the ball in the swirling winds. The Cowboys ended the regular season at 12-4 while the Jets, falling in a bid for their first winning season since 1963, finished 8-6.

Dorsett's long TD run completed a play that covered 75 yards. On a third-and-five from the Cowboy 25, White threw 20 yards over the middle to DuPre, who made a leaping catch. Jets linebacker Bob Martin jarred the ball loose but Dorsett scooped it up and dashed in for the score.

"B.J. is designed to come across the middle," explained Dorsett. "And he caught the ball — a great catch — but he really didn't have a good grip. I just happened to be in the right place at the right time. I didn't want to fall on it. I've gotten hurt doing that this year. It just took a perfect bounce for me."

"The wind was hellacious out there. I like New York but I don't like playing in Shea Stadium. I don't know how these guys do it," he said. "You didn't know what the wind was going to do. It was gusting every five seconds. The best thing is just to try and throw the ball naturally. I was just hoping I wouldn't get a punt thrown back in my face."

The Cowboy defense, meanwhile, sacked Jets quarterback Matt Robinson six times and held New York scoreless until Robinson threw a 9-yard touchdown pass to Jerome Barkum with 12:40 to go.

"The Cowboys dominated the first half but needed some outstanding defense just before halftime to maintain their 10-0 lead."

White took the Cowboys 79 yards in 13 plays in the first period for a touchdown. He threw nine yards to Dorsett, 10 to Scott Laidlaw and 11 to Tony Hill to set up a first-and-10 on the Jet 25. Dorsett had runs of eight and seven yards and Laidlaw went for three before Dorsett ripped up the middle seven yards for a score.

Larry Keller intercepted White's pass on the Dallas 26 in the second period but two plays later Aaron Kyle intercepted for the Cowboys and returned 17 yards to the Dallas 27 to ignite a drive capped by Rafael Septien's 22-yard field goal.

The Jets had a big opportunity just before halftime when White, under heavy pressure, managed only a 17-yard punt to the Jet 30. But Mike Hegman sacked Robinson and rookie tight end Mickey Shuler fumbled after catching a pass, Kyle recovering on the 25.

Dallas increased its lead in the third period after taking over on the Jet 25 following a 25-yard punt. A pass interference call on third down against Ken Schroy and a holding call in the end zone against Bobby Jackson, also on third down, set-up Newhouse's 1-yard plunge for a 17-0 lead.

Larry Brinson went eight yards for the Cowboys' final TD in the fourth period.

Chargers roll by Houston

HOUSTON (UPI) — Dan Fouts passed for 369 yards and four touchdowns Sunday to spark the San Diego Chargers to a 42-21 rout of the playoff-bound Houston Oilers in the final regular season game for both teams.

Houston's Earl Campbell virtually clinched the NFL rushing title by gaining 77 yards, but the Chargers' powerful passing offense overwhelmed the rookie's running. Campbell will be the first rookie to win the league rushing title since Jim Brown in 1957.

Fouts threw touchdown passes of 33 and 25 yards to John Jefferson, 47 yards to Dwight McNeil and 10 yards to Bob Klein. Running back Don Woods added scoring runs of 3 and 18 yards and Rolf Benirschke booted a 19-yard field goal to complete the Chargers' scoring.

Buffalo drops Colts to last

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Terry Miller rushed for 123 yards, including a 69-yard touchdown run, Sunday to lead the Buffalo Bills to a 21-14 victory over Baltimore, which sent the Colts to a last-place finish in the AFC East.

Rookie fullback Dennis Johnson

Hunter leads Seahawks' win

SEATTLE (UPI) — Al Hunter rushed for 133 yards and his first two touchdowns of the year Sunday to lead the Seattle Seahawks to a 23-19 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs.

Hunter, replacing the injured David Sims, ran for 113 yards and both TDs in the first half. His second touchdown run with 5:12 left in the half, giving the

Kevin Gannon wins first national bowling title

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kevin Gannon, a 31-year-old left-hander from Long Beach, Calif., whose job as an accountant has restricted him to only 29 appearances on the national tour of the Professional Bowlers Association, captured his first title Sunday.

Gannon, who had totaled a mere $20,000 for part-time rolling in his eight years as a member, earned a $2,500 check and an entry into next year's $150,000 "Tournament of Champions."

The California's victim in the competition was Gary Strand, Madison, Wis., who went into the 22nd and final game of the tournament with a 32-pin lead.

Gannon wiped out that deficit with a 246-211 triumph, sweeping to victory on the strength of a 38-pin bonus awarded for the win.

At the end of the 16-game round-robin format, Strand showed a better win-loss record, taking 12 of 16 matches, but Gannon prevailed because of a higher pinfall count. The champion showed a 217 average for 32 games, almost three pins better than the runner-up.

Nastase claims world tennis cup in five sets

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (UPI) — A screaming, cursing racket-waving Ilie Nastase surged back from a two-set deficit Sunday against little-known Peter Fleming to capture the finals of the World Championship Tennis Challenge Cup, 2-6, 5-6, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

At first the flamboyant Romanian appeared a shadow of his old self, playing like an old man in the first two sets that he lost to the 23-year-old Fleming, but he pulled out all stops later and overpowered the surprised and perhaps overconfident newcomer.

A reserve of energy in the fourth set sent Nastase walking away with his third WCT Challenge Cup victory.

Prime minister Michael Manley presented the Romanian with the $100,000 victory check. Manley, a socialist, was unceremoniously booed by the upper crust capacity crowd of 3,000 at the stadium of the Rose Hall Intercontinental hotel.

In the first two sets, Fleming appeared headed for a repeat performance of his upset semifinal victory over top-seeded Bjorn Borg of Sweden, but in the third set he appeared tired and rattled — failing to play back easy hits as the Romanian gathered strength.

Nastase took full advantage of Fleming's falling energy and finished off the three-hour match in spectacular style, but not before he put in his usual routine of screaming, cursing, and waving his racket several times at umpire Mike Blanchard and the linesmen.

Fleming, of Seabrook Island, S.C., said he was rattled by the Romanian's antics.

"If I had complained as often as Nastase, I would be in a better position tonight," he said after the match. "But Nastase played well and maybe I'll be back next year."

Nastase, jubilant with his third Challenge Cup victory, said he won because he deserved to.

"I am $100,000 richer and 10 years older," he said.

The crowd at first rooted for Fleming, but when the Romanian began to look like his old self, the fans rallied to his side and booed his opponent as he lost concentration and form.

Before staging his spectacular reversal, it looked like only a matter of time before Nastase would fall to his opponent — nine years his junior — under the brutal, 90-degree heat.

Bob McAdoo returns to pace Knicks' win

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bob McAdoo, playing in his first game since Nov. 16, scored 41 points to rally the New York Knicks to a 111-105 victory over the Atlanta Hawks Sunday afternoon.

The Knicks gave away 9,000 basketballs to a sell-out crowd for a Ball Day promotion and had a ball in winning their second straight game as McAdoo, returning to the New York lineup after missing 17 games with a bad toe, was two points shy of his best game ever.

McAdoo made his first appearance early in the first quarter with the Knicks trailing 12-2 and scored nine straight Knick points and hit five consecutive shots en route to a 15-point quarter to lead New York back to within three points.

The Knicks, with a nine-point burst midway through the third quarter, grabbed the lead for the first time on a McAdoo basket, 73-71, and took it for good on Mike Glenn's field goal for an 86-83 lead early in the final period.

The Central Division leading Hawks, who had won two straight, were led by John Drew with 24 points and Dan Roundfield with 19. Ray Williams tossed in 28 points for the Knicks.

No decision by Giants

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Andy Robustelli, director of operations for the New York Giants, said Sunday he would speak with team officials before reaching a decision on the fate of Coach John McVay.

Robustelli, interviewed after the Giants ended their season at 6-10 with a 20-3 loss to the Philadelphia Eagles, said he was not ready to make any immediate announcement regarding McVay's status.

Dyrk Godby wins fight

PORTLAND, Ore. — Dyrk Godby of Gooding won by unanimous decision in a middleweight boxing match at Portland, Ore. Saturday night.

It was his 82nd victory in his career against 11 defeats. He has won 27 straight fights over the last three years.

Bucks beat Bulls

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — The Milwaukee bench, paced by Junior Bridgeman's 23 points, outscored Chicago reserves 69-24 Sunday night, leading the Bucks to a 117-101 triumph over the Bulls.

Chicago scored the game's first 12 points, but the strong Milwaukee bench overcame the early deficit and spoiled the first visit for Bulls' Coach Larry Costello since he left as coach of the Bucks two years ago. The Bucks pulled within 29-27, at the end of the first quarter, aided by reserves Norm Van Lier and Ernie Grunfeld, and led 61-50 at halftime. Reserve John Gianelli's jump shot one minute into the second quarter gave Milwaukee the lead for keeps, 31-30.

Starting center Kent Benson scored nine of his 11 points in the third quarter and Milwaukee led 93-73 going into the final quarter. Marques Johnson added 19 for the Bucks.

Artis Gilmore scored 23 and John Mengelt 20 for Chicago.

The victory was the 12th in the last 13 games, for Cleveland against Seattle, and moved the Cavs to within 4½ games of the Central Division lead.

The Cavs, with Russell and Carr each tossing in nine points in a 28-point third period, took a 79-70 lead into the final 12 minutes and scored the first eight points to open up an 87-70 bulge. Seattle bounced back with 10 straight points in the next three minutes, but baskets by Fock Walker and Terry Furlow pinned the Sonics with only their eighth defeat in 28 games.

The Sonics, who were playing without center Tom LaGarde and guard Gus Williams, also lost forward Lonnie Shelton with a sprained ankle at 4:56 of the first period.

Jack Sikma, who also grabbed 21 rebounds, and Dennis Johnson topped Seattle with 17 points each.

Warriors 104-96

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Sonny Parker led five Golden State players in double figures with 19 points Sunday night and the Warriors held off a late New Orleans' surge en route to a 104-96 triumph over the Jazz.

Parker scored 19, Clifford Ray had 16, Phil Smith added 15 and Robert Parish and John Lucas each scored 13 for Golden State, which snapped a three-game losing streak.

Erik Haker races to cup win

By United Press International
Erik Haker, Norway's lone alpine star, Sunday beat the entire field by more than a second Sunday to win the first World Cup downhill race of his eight-year career at Val Gardena, Italy.

Haker, actually, won the race twice, but the first attempt was declared void after the timing equipment broke down and the race was ordered to be re-run.

"I was furious when they canceled the first race," said the 26-year-old Haker, who clocked 2:06.37 in the race that mattered. "The fact that I won again means I was best."

Peter Mueller, the chunky Swiss farmer, finished second in 2:07.63 and Canada's Ken Read, who won the first downhill of the season, finished third in 2:08.45 to move into second place in the overall World Cup standings.

Swiss slalom expert Peter Luescher leads the standings with 65 points while Read and Mueller are next with 40 each. Defending champion Ingemar Stenmark, who still refuses to race in downhills, Austria's Sepp Waechter and rookie Martial Domnet of Switzerland all have 25.

Andy Mill, Aspen, Colo., and Karl Anderson, Greene, Maine, both fell on the same 60 mph curve halfway down the steep course and plummeted into the safety netting. Neither skier was injured.

In Val D'Isere, France, Austria's Annemarie Moser-Proell won the postponed women's downhill to notch her second win in a row and take an 11 point lead in the World Cup standings.

The Austrian plummeted down the 2,238-meter course in 1:40.28. She was a full second faster than West Germany's Evi Mittermaier on the top half of the track but lost time on the lower half and clocked only 0.28 faster than the West German at the finish.

Long Beach State remains unbeaten

Las Vegas had its string snapped, San Francisco faltered once again against a top opponent and UCLA rebounded nicely, but Long Beach State is the team with the best record in West Coast College basketball.

Both the Runnin' Rebels and the Dons were victimized by Texas A&M in the Golden Gate Classic during the weekend while UCLA came back from a loss to Notre Dame to beat San Diego State.

Long Beach State was idle but earlier in the week beat both Oklahoma State and Wichita State on a Midwest junket and now is 6-0.

The 49ers were ranked 18th last week but figure to move up a few notches this week. They have only one game — a home meeting against Kansas State on Saturday night.

Vegas was unbeaten until stumbling into Texas A&M Friday night. Saturday, the Rebels rebounded to beat Pacific, 55-35, for the consolation title in the Golden Gate while USC was bowing to the Aggies 68-65, in the title game. The Dons slipped to 6-3. Texas A&M, meanwhile, improved to 8-1 and undoubtedly is one of the nation's better teams, although unranked at the moment.

UCLA, No. 5 last week, is 4-1 following its 97-73 victory over San Diego State. This week the Bruins host Eastern visitors Fordham and Boston College, while USF hosts San Francisco State and Seattle-Pacific. The way the Dons are going what they need most now is a couple of breathers.

No. 13 Southern California was 5-0 in the Volunteer Classic at Tennessee, losing in the opening round Friday to Xavier but coming back to defeat

Niagara, 75-63, Saturday night. The Trojans host Kansas Thursday in their only game this week.

Washington plays in the Indiana Classic and St. Mary's hosts Creighton in key games involving West Coast teams tonight.

This is holiday tournament week for college basketball and a number of West Coast teams will be playing far from home. One local tournament, though, is the venerable Cable Car Classic. Santa Clara hosts the event with San Jose State, Tennessee and Seton Hall the invitees.

Las Vegas also hosts a tournament with Denver, Nebraska and UC Santa Barbara the visiting teams.

Illini boasts 7-0 mark

CHICAGO (UPI) — Illinois, rated only a contender for first division honors in the Big Ten basketball chase in pre-season, boasts a 7-0 record, the only unbeaten team left in the league.

But Coach Lou Henson's Illini will get a test in the Kentucky Invitational tournament this week. Illinois drubbed Kent. State, 82-44

Saturday night while Michigan State and Wisconsin lost for the first time, the Spartans 70-69 to North Carolina and Wisconsin dropping a 84-78 decision to DePaul.

*During the week the Big Ten won six games and lost three with Minnesota the third club to topple, 72-55, at Marquette.

Lyle hopes to begin new life

GOLDEN, Colo. (UPI) — Heavyweight fighter Ron Lyle silently mouthed "thank you" to the jury that cleared him of second-degree murder charges in the shooting of his former roadman, then turned away to begin a new life.

"The jury has given me a chance to pursue my trade, which is boxing," Lyle said Saturday. "I've been suppressed for a whole year from making a living and providing for my family. Now I'm going to go out and live."

Lyle was in training for a fight with Larry Holmes on Dec. 31, 1977, when his former roadman, Vernon "Rip" Clark, appeared uninvited at his suburban home and demanded money. Clark had been fired six months earlier for misconduct.

During his testimony in the 10-day trial, Lyle said Clark put a gun to his head when Lyle refused to give him money. Lyle said he had paid Clark's back taxes, bought him a car and furniture and been generous with bonuses.

"What I did for you, now you're going to have to do for yourself," the fighter told Clark. He said he struggled for the gun, which discharged, killing Clark.

"Everything I did was because it was him or me," Lyle said. The jury deliberated less than four hours Friday and Saturday to return the innocent verdict, upholding defense attorney Walter Gerash's claim that Lyle acted in self-defense.

One juror wiped away a tear when the verdict was read, and several smiled at Lyle. The fighter's family swarmed around him, enveloping his massive frame in congratulatory hugs.

"Rip was going to end Ron's second chance to become champion of the world," Gerash had said in his closing arguments.

Rose rejected $4 million

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The day before Pete Rose agreed to sign with the Philadelphia Phillies, Atlanta Braves owner Ted Turner offered him $4 million plus $100,000 a year for the rest of his life, a published report said Sunday.

Rose would only have had to play for four years. After that he would have been under no obligation to the Braves and would have been able to collect $100,000 a year, the Philadelphia Inquirer said. If he lived to be 75 he would have made $7.5 million.

Instead, Rose, 37, signed a four-year contract, with an option for a fifth year, with Philadelphia. Including bonus clauses it is worth $3.5 million, according to the newspaper.

Rose, a 16-year veteran who has a career total of 3,164 hits, also turned down last-minute offers from the Kansas City Royals, Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Cardinals.

"There's only one reason I ever smoked. Good taste. So when I switched to low tar, I wasn't about to give that up. If you don't smoke for taste what else is there?"

But there was all that talk about tar. Unfortunately, most low tar cigarettes tasted like nothing. Then I tried Vantage.

Vantage gives me the taste I enjoy. And the low tar I've been looking for."

Aussie beats American

ADELAIDE, Australia (UPI) — Australian Kerry Reid, the No. 1 seed, beat American Beth Norton, 7-5, 6-7, 6-1, Sunday to win an $11,400 women's tennis tournament.

Reid, runner-up to Australia's Dianne Fromholtz in another tournament at Sydney last week, was hard pressed in the first two sets, but the match lacked the excitement of Saturday night's emotion-charged semifinal between Reid and 16-year-old Czechoslovakian sensation Hana Mandlikova.

Jockeys walk off jobs

BOSTON (UPI) — Jockeys at Suffolk Downs walked off the job after the first race Sunday, saying the "sloppy" track was too dangerous to ride on.

Track officials cancelled the rest of the day's schedule and said racing would resume Monday.

Before the first race, the track was posted as "sloppy," and after the race, jockeys decided the oval was unsafe, a spokesman said. The winner, Spanish Pleasure, was timed in 1:17.3.

Czechs beat stars

MOSCOW (UPI) — Czechoslovakia, with a coordinated assault and tight defense, beat the NHL Future Stars of Canada 4-1 Sunday in the Izvestia Ice Hockey Tournament.

The Czechoslovakian attack was spirited by forward Mirian Setastal, who scored with 2:01 left in the first period and with 17 minutes left in the third period into an open net.

Golf series to expand

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Officials of the World Series of Golf said Sunday the field for the 1979 championship would be expanded to include at least 36 players, 10 more than played in 1978.

The 1979 tournament will be played Sept. 27-30 on the Firestone Country Club's South course.

Surgery needed

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Olympic gold medal swimmer Kim Peyton, 21, has an apparent brain tumor and biopsy surgery is planned shortly after Christmas at the Stanford (Calif.) University Hospital, her parents said Sunday.

Peyton, a senior at Stanford, suffered a seizure Tuesday and was taken to the hospital, said Mr. and Mrs. Geyer Peyton of Portland.

"Kim's spirits are extremely high and we're all very hopeful," her mother said.

Peyton has been swimming competitively since she was 6 years old. She was a member of the winning 400-meter freestyle relay team in the 1976 Olympics at Montreal.

Indiana celebrating big victory

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

There are times when, watching the progress of Indiana's basketball squad, one is reminded of a prizefighter with the announcer yelling: "He's up. He's down. He's up — no, he's down."

The Hoosiers, who were voted No. 11 in the pre-season rankings, dropped out of the top 30 altogether with a series of peculiar losses, including a stunner in the opening round of the Seawolf Classic in November.

Then, Saturday night, they turned around and shocked the previously unbeaten NCAA champion Kentucky Wildcats with a rousing 68-67 overtime victory.

Butch Carter hit a layup with 26 seconds left in the overtime and Mike Woodson sank a pair of free throws with six seconds to go to ice the upset of the No. 4 Wildcats.

Woodson led all scorers with 27 points and Ray Talbert, who fouled out with 5:53 left in regulation, had 21 for the 4-3 Hoosiers, who were without three players dismissed earlier in the week for breaking training rules.

Indiana led 33-26 at the half and its biggest lead was nine points early in the second half but Kentucky, 3-1, fought back and twice took three-point leads.

Woodson's three-point play with 1:29 left in regulation had tied the score 58-58.

Top-ranked Duke and second-rated Notre Dame were both idle Saturday but No. 3 Michigan State, upplanted a major reshuffling in the top of the college rankings when it was upset by No. 12 North Carolina, 70-69.

A foul that turned into a five-point play was the key in the Tar Heels' victory.

With North Carolina leading 58-54, a technical foul was called on the Spartan bench with Mike O'Koren at the free-throw line. O'Koren hit one shot of a two-shot foul and then converted both free throws on the technical to put the Tar Heels ahead 61-54.

North Carolina, now 5-1, also maintained possession of the ball and Rich Vonakor scored from inside to give the Tar Heels a nine-point lead, a margin Michigan State never overcame.

In other games involving top ten teams, No. 4 Louisville routed West Virginia State, 106-50, fifth-ranked UCLA defeated San Diego State, 97-73; seventh-ranked North Carolina State dumped North Carolina-Wilmington, 75-61; No. 8 Kansas handled SMU, 71-64, and ninth-ranked Michigan routed Western Michigan, 40-17.

Freshman Derek Smith came off the bench to score 22 points in 18 minutes of action to lead Louisville. Smith, a 6-foot-6, 205-pound forward from Hogsville, Ga., hit 8 of 10 from the floor after entering the contest midway through the first half and leading the Cardinals to a 52-36 advantage at the buzzer.

Roy Hamilton scored 23 points and David Greenwood added 21 to lead the Bruins to their fourth win in five starts.

ACC play set to start

By United Press International

Two Atlantic Coast Conference teams begin playing for keeps this week when No. 7 North Carolina State and Maryland open their regular-league seasons in College Park, Md., Wednesday night.

The Wolfpack will bring a 7-1 record into the contest after Saturday's 75-51 win over UNC-Wilmington. Maryland defeated East Carolina 82-71 during the weekend to improve its record to 5-2.

Redskins asking what happen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With no playoff hopes left, the Washington Redskins quickly turned their attention to possible reasons for eight losses in the last 10 games and an 8-8 record after a 6-0 start.

What slender playoff hopes the Redskins had were washed away in a 14-10 loss Saturday to the Chicago Bears.

Redskin Coach Jack Pardee searched for a turning point in a season which had no level period, only an uphill march and a downhill slide.

"I guess you could go back to the seventh game up in Philadelphia (a 17-10 loss)," said Pardee. "If we had won that, we would've been in for sure. Beyond that, we should've won the Monday night game at Baltimore (a 21-17 loss).

"But the division games were the ones we had to win. The Cardinal game (a 27-17 loss at home) where we got off to a slow start (trailing, 24-0) was bad, too. It's bad when you lose, but double jeopardy when you lose division games like that," he said.

The kicking game, always a Redskin strong point, faltered slightly the last few weeks, giving up touchdowns on two punt returns and a kickoff return.

"The special teams played well overall, but in each of the last few games we always had one terrible play," said Pardee.

Some of the Redskins pointed fingers, and others accepted some of the blame for the mid-season skid which lasted 10 weeks.

"It just seems that a few years ago, the guys would love playing," said 39-year-old defensive end Ron McDole. "Guys in St. Louis and Buffalo (McDole's previous teams) were incredibly de-dedicated. At Buffalo, (Manny) Sestak was still playing after six knee operations. I just don't think we have that kind of dedication today."

McDole said he has no plans to retire, and quarterback Billy Kilmer, also 39, said the same thing. Kilmer came off the bench with eight minutes to play and completed 8 of 10 passes for 91 yards including a touchdown to tight end Jean Fucett.

"I don't feel too good right now," said Kilmer. "I feel sorry for the guys on the club. They worked hard all season. I wish I could've helped more. I kind of feel sorry for a lot of them. We bled with each other, died with each other."

"I have another year (on a two-year, $500,000 contract) and someone has to prove to me I can't play. I want the opportunity to prove that I can't play."

Japan with big lead

Asian games focus on future 'superstars'

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — The individual superstars of the 1980s began emerging from the 8th Asian Games Sunday.

With powerhouse Japan having already clinched the overall Games crown, the focus was on the athletes who will shape Asia's role in the future. Most are still in their teens.

Sunday's competition ended with Japan, the runaway leader with 62 gold medals, 49 silver and 38 bronze, including a near sweep of the now-completed swimming events. China placed second in the medals tally with 40 gold, 43 silver and 34 bronze.

The games are scheduled to conclude Wednesday night at the national stadium in ceremonies to be presided over by Thailand's King Bhumibol, who declared them open Dec. 10.

Some of the more remarkable performances Sunday included:

- A dazzling 3,000-meter women's triumph by Kim Ok Sun, a 19-year-old North Korean coed in a time of 9:24.7.
- A victory in the 100-meter dash by Thailand's Suchart Jasturranarb, 27, which although 4-100ths of a second off the Asian Games record still stamps him as Asia's fastest human.

- A record 400-meter victory for 18-year-old Malaysian schoolgirl Salki Oik Cum, who had never traveled outside her homeland before the Bangkok Games.
- A gold medal in the women's 200 meter... individual... medley... for Mio Hirata, a 15-year-old Japanese junior high school girl who said later through tears she was disappointed because she hadn't been able to top her best previous time.

- A record-shattering 100-meter backstroke victory by Kenji Ikeda, 18, a Japanese high school youngster.
- Ikeda's head shaved like a Buddhist monk, also apologized for not bettering his own best personal time.

The swimming events were concluded with Sunday's action and saw Japan take 25 of the 29 gold medals at stake. The Japanese last week dropped two of the swimming golds to Junie Song, a 14-year-old Singapore school girl.

Chris Evert wins trophy by blasting Navratilova

Chris Evert savors her trophy after victory

TOKYO (UPI) — U.S. Open champion Chris Evert of the United States beat Martina Navratilova, 7-5, 6-2, in the finals of the $200,000 world Women's Tennis championship Sunday.

Evert, showing less emotion than Navratilova, capitalized on her opponent's mistakes en route to her victory over this year's Wimbledon champion.

In another match, Virginia Wade of Britain outclassed Evonne Cawley of Australia, 7-6, 6-4.

Evert won $100,000 in prize money; Navratilova $50,000, Wade $30,000 and Cawley $20,000.

"Well, I think I played excellent today," Evert said. "It's the last match of the year for me and I know Martina's tired."

Evert, who turns 24 next Thursday, said she would spend the next three weeks at home in Florida.

The victory gave Evert her third win in five matches against Navratilova this year.

Fairbanks looking at Colorado

BOSTON (UPI) — To New England Patriots fans it's "Bah-Humburg," kind of news this Christmas season, but the Boston Globe reported Sunday Coach Chuck Fairbanks may not be back next season.

It's not that the team's management wants to see him go, but rather someone is courting Fairbanks.

The University of Colorado is looking for a new football coach, and Fairbanks and the school's Athletic Director Eddie Crowder are close friends. Crowder told the Globe, "I have talked to him (Fairbanks) recently about possible coaches for Colorado."

The newspaper said Crowder and a mutual friend, fellow Oklahoma graduate and oil millionaire Jack Vickers, have combined their resources to present a very attractive package to Fairbanks.

Get a tax break now, and security for your future with First Security retirement services.

There's a smart way to save on your taxes now that'll also help you later. And the sooner you get started, the more you'll be able to save. It's a retirement account at First Security Bank. Depending on which plan you qualify for, you can deposit up to $1500 or $7500 a year — money that earns 8%* continuous interest — and pay no taxes on it until you withdraw the money when you retire. By then, you'll probably be in a lower tax bracket. And the money you save is insured by the FDIC to $100,000.

The Individual Retirement Account is for you if you don't have a qualified pension plan where you work. With it, you can put away up to $1500 a year, tax deferred, or 15% of your income, whichever is less. You can deposit up to $1750 if you have a non-working spouse. You must open your account by April 15, 1979, to get 1978 tax credit.

The Keogh Plan is for the person who is self-employed in an unincorporated business. Under this plan, you can save up to $7500 or 15% of your income, whichever is less. Your Keogh plan must be opened by December 31, 1978, for 1978 tax credit. So open your Keogh account now, even though you make only a token initial deposit.

With either plan, deposits made until April 15, 1979, are tax-deferrable for 1978. So open your account now, to take advantage of as large a deferral as possible. There are no fees for either account. And you can make deposits in any amount you wish, at any First Security office. Or, we can automatically transfer the amount you decide on from your checking account regularly. So don't delay. Ask for full details now, at your nearby First Security office.

*Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal.
