

President begins reorganizing staff

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter Wednesday named Hamilton Jordan his "chief of staff" in a move one aide said would enable Carter to become a "teaching president" while Jordan and Vice President Walter Mondale "take up the slack."

A high aide said the move giving Jordan power to crack the whip settle quarrels and get presidential orders carried out was designed to give Carter more time to devote to the nation's long-term problems.

As a result, the aide said, Carter will spend more time travelling among the people, and he will spend more time working on problems he expects to confront the nation over the next decade.

The aide said that as Carter shifts away from being a more "manager" of government, Mondale, Jordan, others senior White House staffers and Cabinet members must "take up the slack."

Until now, Carter had emphasized the importance of an independent Cabinet operating free of White House staff intercession, a system that led to some embarrassing in-fighting and policy confusion.

A spokesman for Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus said Wednesday there is little worry among his staff members that the former Idaho governor's resignation will be accepted.

Harman Kallman, assistant director of public affairs for the U.S. Department of Interior, confirmed Andrus offered his resignation along with the rest of President Carter's cabinet and senior staff members Tuesday.

But he added, "There doesn't seem to be any consternation on the staff here."

Carter and Andrus are considered good friends. Carter appointed Andrus interior secretary shortly after the election in 1976, an election during which Andrus supported Carter.

"Let's put it this way — no one here is putting their house up for sale," Kallman said. "I get the impression they are extremely good friends."

Press secretary Jody Powell announced Jordan's promotion one day after 34 senior staffers and Cabinet members — the entire administration high command — offered their resignations in a move to dramatize Carter's pledge to provide fresh, vigorous new national leadership.

"This decision was made to provide more coordination and efficiency in the White House, to ensure better coordination between the White House and the Cabinet and to relieve the president of the necessity of dealing with matters that can be decided at a lower level."

Powell made clear Jordan now stands alone as the president's man, empowered to ramrod decisions, protect him from trivial intrusions and settle troublesome in-house spats in a manner not seen since H.R. Haldeman and Alexander Haig performed those duties for President Nixon.

"The president told members of the White House senior staff that they should no longer consider Ham Jordan as their peer but should act on his decisions as if they were the president's own," Powell said.

an hour. Phoutasine, who works for school maintenance, starts out with wet sandpaper and mild detergent then finishes with brass polish.

1% law may not meet test

BOISE (UPI) — Portions of Idaho law implementing the 1 percent property tax initiative may not stand a constitutional test, the attorney general's office said Wednesday.

In an opinion written for Gov. John Evans, the attorney general's office said a part of the Idaho Code restricting property values for assessment purposes to 1978 market values plus a maximum inflation rate of 2 percent per year may violate the state constitution.

The decision was made in an opinion written by Chief Deputy Attorney General Larry K. Harvey and Deputy Attorney General Michael C. Moore.

The two said the law could be unconstitutional if inflation of actual property values tops 2 percent per year and, as a result, property values in Idaho do not reflect actual current market values.

The opinion held that such a valuation probably violates the "just valuation" provision of the constitution and uniform taxation provisions.

The opinion also said that despite the likelihood the 2 percent inflation cap contained in the law may be declared unconstitutional, persons charged with valuing property for taxation should enforce it until it is declared invalid in the courts.

"I'm not surprised with the attorney general's opinion," Gov. John Evans said Wednesday. "And I agree that efforts should be made to enforce the provision of the statute until it may be declared unconstitutional."

The Legislature should review this problem to make sure property owners are treated fairly and equally by our tax laws."

In their conclusions, Harvey and Moore told the governor "Any statutory scheme which places a ceiling on the amount of increase in the value of individual properties for tax purposes and does not provide for periodic reappraisals based upon fair market value or full cash value eventually would be subject to the same constitutional questions and attacks discussed in the analysis of the first question."

"In addition to the problem of equal and uniform taxation, it is our opinion that the 2 percent limitation may and, with the passage of time, probably would be held to violate the 'just valuation' requirement of the constitution."

Rebels take power in Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — The Nicaraguan national guard Wednesday agreed to surrender to Sandinista guerrillas and interim President Francisco Uruceo, left the country to follow Anastasio Somoza into exile, military sources said.

The Sandinista-backed rebel junta announced the national guard's agreement to lay down its arms and disband in a radio broadcast from Costa Rica.

Later, it was confirmed by military sources in Managua who said that national guard commander Gen. Federico Mejia went to the rebel provisional capital of Leon to negotiate "the mechanism of surrender."

Uruceo, who succeeded Somoza as president on Tuesday, summoned his military commanders to a dusk meeting in the fortified presidential bunker in Managua.

Afterwards, he went to Managua's Las Mercedes Airport and left the country aboard a national guard Cessna plane, reportedly bound for Guatemala.

Four members of the Sandinista Junta sit in their first governing session in Leon

In radio broadcasts heard throughout Nicaragua, the Sandinistas proclaimed their victory in the war to end the Somoza family's 43-year-old dynasty — a conflict that has claimed 15,000 lives in the past 18 months and left the county in ruins.

"Heroic people of Nicaragua, the collapse of the national guard is general. The Somoza dictatorship has fallen," a Sandinista broadcast from Costa Rica said.

His departure came less than 48 hours after Somoza, under pressure from the United States to resign, fled to exile in Miami, giving up the country his family ruled for 43 years.

Uruceo said Tuesday he intended to "write out Somoza's presidential term until 1981, temporarily blocking a multinational plan to transfer power from Somoza to the junta."

The State Department Wednesday recalled U.S. Ambassador Lawrence A. Pezullo to protest Uruceo's betrayal of the plan, and the Sandinistas, who led the civil war that drove Somoza from power, vowed to fight on to a military victory unless Uruceo stepped aside.

The State Department said Wednesday evening "it looks like events are back on track."

A department spokesman said reports from the embassy and other sources seemed to confirm that the national guard was laying down its arms.

The department said negotiations have been reopened between Uruceo and representatives of the victorious junta government.

Canadian paper strike settlement eases crunch

TWIN FALLS — Northwest newspaper owners breathed easier following Wednesday's approval of a new contract between the British Columbia forest industry and the Canadian Paperworkers Union.

The union's 7,500 members voted '82 percent in favor of the contract.

"That in effect eases the newspaper shortage for many northwest newspapers dependent for much of their supply from Canadian mills. The strike had severely cramped supplies for many northwest papers including the Times-News."

"Now that Canadian newspaper shipments will be resumed, the Times-News may return to normal consumption schedules," Publisher William Howard said Wednesday. Howard added newspaper supplies, while no longer scarce, will remain "extremely tight" through the early 1980s.

"Newspaper mill capacity has not grown appreciably through the 1970s, while consumption has risen to meet production. Newspapers must budget their allotted supply until contracts are increased in the early 1980s," he said.

"The Times-News will be closely monitoring its inventories. Adjustment to our consumption levels will be made following changes in the market condition," Howard said.

The CPU was the first of three paperworker unions to approve a contract. The contract extends for two years and the B.C. forest industry described it as the richest ever.

The 6,000-member Pulp, Paper and Woodworkers of Canada last week rejected the industry's two-year offer by a 51.5 percent majority. But industry spokesmen did not expect a general strike because of the slim majority.

Nuclear waste sites Dump closures threatened

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The governor of Nevada said Wednesday he and two colleagues will shut down the nation's only commercial nuclear waste dumps unless federal officials eliminate a "grave peril" to public health.

Gov. Robert List told a Senate subcommittee the problem is sloppy coordination of federal regulations governing dangerous nuclear materials.

He said he and Govs. Dixie Ray of Washington and Richard Riley of South Carolina — whose states have the only commercial nuclear dumps in America — will shut them down unless the situation improves.

Nuclear Regulatory Commission Chairman Joseph Hendrie met with List separately and said afterward, "the governors' concerns are well justified and the actions they propose will be undertaken."

William Dirckx, the NRC official in charge of safe waste transportation, told UPI Hendrie will send a formal letter to the states, promising stepped-up safety enforcement. He said List's denunciation of past NRC "unresponsiveness" and "insensitivity" was justified.

List described two recent accidents that occurred while radioactive wastes were being trucked to a disposal site near Beatty, Nev. In one, the truck caught fire and in the other, nuclear garbage — part of which contained illegal liquid wastes was leaking.

List said federal responsibility, split among four agencies, is confusing and that leads to dangers because "every county in America has facilities that produce nuclear waste" and "it is transported every day on our national highway system."

Much of the waste comes from hospitals and other medical facilities.

"The Nuclear Regulatory Commission has been totally unresponsive to the public with respect to the nuclear waste problem," List said.

"Accordingly, I am convinced that this insensitivity represents a grave peril to the health and safety of all our citizens."

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission and the Transportation Department, which has authority over interstate shipments, have responded to the demands, List said.

But he warned: "Should inaction continue, we three states are prepared to close our facilities. Such closure would cripple the health care delivery systems of this country, wreak havoc with a major source of energy and have ramifications which no domestic summit could solve."

The three governors got together at last week's National Governors Association meeting in Louisville, Ky., and agreed that if dumping is going to continue, the NRC and the Transportation Department must develop new disposal plans — possibly encouraging other states to take wastes.

The governors said they will require signers to certify they are complying with current federal and state regulations or be refused permits to dump.

Thursday briefing

Skylab chunk verified

PERTH, Australia (UPI) — NASA officials needed only about 20 seconds Wednesday to decide the burned-out chunk of metal in front of them was in fact an oxygen tank from Skylab.

Then they took a closer look at 75 of the world's most beautiful girls, who were singing "The Mc Kangaroo Down, Sport," as they pranced around the space relic in their short shorts.

The women were contestants rehearsing for the Miss Universe 1979 beauty pageant, which has adopted the 3,000-pound Skylab fragment as the centerpiece of its hoopla.

Robert Grey is chief of a five-man team sent by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to verify the authenticity of the Skylab debris that showered down on western Australia. He took one look at the 7-foot-tall piece of space junk, agreed it was genuine, then cracked, "Get that piece of junk out of here. We want to watch the girls."

The tank, which was trucked in 650 miles from a saltshush desecr where it slammed down to Earth last Thursday, was the main attraction, however.

SALT loophole?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Harold Brown said Wednesday the United States might repudiate SALT II if the Soviet Union takes advantage of a possible loophole in the treaty to develop a new nuclear missile.

But Brown played down the danger of the Kremlin violating the spirit of the pact's ban on the deployment of more than one new missile by each of the superpowers.

Foes of the treaty questioned Brown at the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's SALT II hearings about the possibility of the Soviets modifying current missiles so extensively as to create a new generation of weapons.

"If we conclude that the changes are significant enough to constitute a new missile, and they test or deploy those missiles, we will consider that a violation and it would be grounds for terminating the treaty," Brown replied.

Brown also assured senators the U.S. would consider breaking the treaty if the Kremlin tried to obstruct American efforts to check on Soviet compliance.

President Carter told Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev at their Vienna summit that the United States would consider ending the treaty if the Russians failed to abide by restraints on the Backfire bomber.

American released

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Zambia Wednesday released American psychology professor James Gardner, held in a Lusaka jail for 15 days on suspicion of spying, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said.

Gardner is head of the applied psychology department at Johannesburg's University of the Witwatersrand and was traveling to the Zambian capital on holiday.

Alien census planned

(C) The Los Angeles Times
SACRAMENTO, Calif. — The California Legislature is poised to grant political representation to illegal aliens in the 1981 legislative reapportionment, and then use the immigrants in a bid for more congressional seats in the 1982 elections and a larger number of presidential electors in 1984.

The illegal aliens, who are believed to be swelling the state's population by hundreds of thousands annually, also could be an important factor in California's claims to a larger chunk of revenue-sharing and other federal funds distributed on the basis of census statistics.

To ensure the fullest possible count of illegal aliens in California, as well as citizen minorities who previously have been undercounted, Gov. Edwin E. Brown Jr. called the Democratic-controlled Legislature have allocated $800,000 in the current state budget to promote participation in the census by these groups.

Kimball goes home

Africa confab erupts

MONROVIA, Liberia (UPI) — A shouting match between the presidents of Uganda and Nigeria over Tanzania's invasion of Uganda broke up Wednesday's meeting of Afro-Arab leaders in calcalis and boss.

Ugandan President Godfrey Binaisa defended the overthrow of Idi Amin, blasted other African leaders and then walked out of the conference hall in disgust.

It was the second time Wednesday that diplomats walked out the 16th annual summit conference of the 49-nation Organization of African Unity — a meeting quickly turning into the stormiest in the OAU's history.

Earlier, a dozen Arab and African nations stalked out of the meeting in protest as speech by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat who, with his clenched fist pounding the lectern, defended his peace agreement with Israel.

Jensen pleads innocent

BOISE (UPI) — Former Democratic U.S. Senate candidate Dwight W. Jensen, entered a plea of innocent today to a charge of battery in Friday's knockout of a 17-year-old little league umpire.

Jensen's team lost the game on a called third strike and he allegedly kicked the umpire, then traded several blows with the youth, leaving the younger combatant unconscious.

Attorney Charles McDevitt represented Jensen, who chose not to appear at his arraignment in 4th District Magistrate Court.

Jensen, 45, who was thumped in the 1978 Senate race by Republican Sen. James A. McClure, also requested a jury trial, which was set for July 30.

Senate building OK'd

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate voted Wednesday, by a narrow margin, to continue construction of a "stripped down" third office building after being assured it will not end up as a new Taj Mahal on Capitol Hill. The estimated cost is $142.5 million.

The partly finished building has been the target of heavy criticism in the Senate because the original design had such luxury features as a gallery and an atrium plus a great deal of marble.

But Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La., seeking $57.4 million for the coming year, said "this is a stripped down version of the building" and added that many of the fancy features have been eliminated.

New rules will mean 1.6¢ rise at gas station pumps

United Press International

The U.S. motorist will foot the bill for the Energy Department's mismanagement of gasoline price controls when new rules giving dealers a maximum markup of 15.4 cents a gallon take effect Aug. 1, oil specialists said Wednesday.

The predicted DOE rule change would add 1.6 cents a gallon to pump prices at some stations around the nation but force others in the New York-metropolitan area to pay, for example, to buy bulk.

The analysts also said the 15.4-cent markup would cause a nationwide shift from full-service to self-service islands because the DOE's single price structure will induce gasoline retailers to cut operating costs at the pump.

Under the new DOE rules, independent service stations — about 88 percent of U.S. gasoline outlets can add a maximum of 15.4 cents a gallon to their wholesale buying price for fuel.

The average dealer markup currently is 13.74 cents a gallon, according to the Independent Lubricant Letter, which means some independent stations can boost retail prices by 1.6 cents a gallon Aug. 1.

Stations below the average margin have even greater leeway, but those above must lower prices Aug. 1. The DOE plans to issue similar rules for refinery-owned stations.

"Once again the consumer will have to pay for the DOE's mismanagement of gasoline pricing regulations," said Bruce Chaffin, editor of Platt's Oilgram Price Report in New York.

"We had extensive hearings and public comment on the new regulations, which will be adjusted in December to reflect the cost of living," a DOE spokesman said in Washington. "But we are asking for further comment Nov. 16 and any problems the industry wants to raise with us will be considered at that time."

Under the old controls, the DOE set up a toll-free number this spring to monitor widespread complaints of gas that 50 percent of U.S. stations were in violation of its legal price ceiling.

But the DOE found enforcement of the ceiling almost impossible because of the complexity of its own regulations, which based each station's allowable markup on its past profit margins.

Congress to wait on energy bills

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress worked on energy bills in earnest Wednesday — everything from rationing to "garbage fuel" — but Senate leaders doubted much of President Carter's program will clear Congress before the August recess.

Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd of West Virginia and assistant Senate Republican leader Ted Stevens of Alaska said Congress may not act on any of the proposals before starting its traditional, month-long vacation.

"We'll be looking at all of those when we come back in September," Stevens said.

Carter asked congressional leaders Tuesday to try and get some bills to him before the recess.

Byrd said the Senate could have completed work before the recess on an energy mobilization board, but the Budget Committee decided it wanted to "evaluate the budgetary impact" of such a creation. Carter wants a board empowered to cut through red tape and get energy projects started in a hurry.

Byrd said no decision has been reached whether to push ahead with the windfall profits tax, already approved by the House. The Senate Finance Committee began hearings on Wednesday.

The House Commerce Committee, meanwhile, worked on a report about a bill it has already approved, giving Carter power to order gasoline rationing in emergencies.

Stevens said Carter told congressional leaders he was unhappy with two aspects of the measure: rationing could be imposed only if there were a 20 percent fuel shortage and Congress could veto any plan the president offered.

In addition, an energy task force named by House Speaker Thomas O'Neill met Wednesday in secret session with Carter's domestic adviser Stuart Eizenstat, Energy Secretary James Schlesinger, and Budget Director James McIntyre.

Afterward, Rep. Mike McCormack, D-Wash., said, "The mood, particularly among the members of the House, was to move aggressively, even more aggressively than the administration."

Rep. Philip Sharp, D-Ind., said House energy legislators think there is a good chance for House action before the Aug. 3 recess on such topics as gasoline rationing, mandatory conservation, and cutting red tape for priority energy projects.

Nevada leading land management rebellion

By MOLLY IVINS
 DENVER, Colo. — Nevada is leading what Westerners call the "brush rebellion" against the federal land-management bureaucracy. While Westerners have not given up trying to influence and dominate the agencies, they are now trying the simpler tactic of making claim to federal land.

The latest skirmish in the rebellion occurred last Friday, as Nevada voters passed emergency regulations governing 49 million acres of land that the state has declared appropriated from the Federal Bureau of Land Management. The state claimed jurisdiction over the land in a law that took effect July 1, although List said he signed the emergency measure that its principal purpose was "to send this decision of land control into the courts."

"Suffice it to say that the Feds do not agree with our position," said Nevada's attorney general, Richard Bryant. Of the state's chances in a court challenge, he said, "To be candid, it's going to be a very difficult piece of litigation."

Guy Martin, assistant secretary of the Interior for Land and Water Resources, said of the Nevada action: "I am not worried about this as to whether we are legally correct. This is not so much a legal challenge as it is a political gesture."

Nevertheless, Nevada's rebellion has provoked considerable interest and sympathy from other Western states, and it is one indication of how disgrusted the states are with federal land management. Alaska considered a measure similar to Nevada's this year, and California has one under consideration now. Bryant has been invited to make a presentation at the next meeting of the Western attorneys general in Juneau.

The federal government owns more than half the West, including 85 percent of Alaska, 87 percent of Nevada, 66 percent of Utah, 63 percent of Idaho, 54 percent of Oregon, 47 percent of Wyoming, 45 percent of California and 42 percent of Arizona.

The largest landowner is the Bureau of Land Management, with 470 million acres, followed by the Forest Service, with 197.5 million acres.

The bureau controls some timberland and all federally owned rangeland, which ranchers may use for fees much lower than those charged by private landowners. It also has authority over minerals, such as phosphate and sulfur, that are not regulated by the Department of Energy.

The Nevada takeover law does not affect Forest Service land, Defense Department property, Indian trust lands or other Federal installations. It simply claims the Bureau of Land Management's 49 million acres.

Under the state's new regulations, ranchers, miners and others who use federal land will still have to obtain leases and permits from the Bureau of Land Management. In effect, the regulations, which expire after 120 days, add another layer to the much-despised bureaucracy by requiring anyone who wants to use public land to get written authorization from the state land registrar and to provide information on fees, rents, royalties or other money paid to the federal government.

In passing the law, the state Legislature was hoping to bring the matter to court by provoking the federal government, which is itself protected from suits in such cases. The state is preparing for a court battle, but while the Interior and Justice Departments have assigned staff members to look into the matter, neither is planning a legal challenge now.

The Bureau of Land Management is heavily criticized in the West, and the Federal Government has generally been considered a poor landlord there. Even Martin of the Interior Department calls the condition of the rangelands "deplorable."

In addition, experts say that Federal farm policies are ruining cropland in the high plains, the Forest Service has been accused of allowing overcutting, and the New-York based Council on Economic Priorities, a nonprofit public Interest organization, produced a report last November calling federal coal-leasing policies in the West "a giveaway."

Federal officials, on the other hand, maintain that state governments cannot adequately manage the land and are more vulnerable to the forces of exploitation — big coal, big oil, and big ranching and mining interests.

The Western rebellion is getting hotter just as the federal land management agencies are turning around a pattern of neglect. One of the things that has Westerners so upset is the new federal policy designed to restore Western lands and to repair some of the damage that has been done. This means cutbacks in all forms of exploitation, which pleases almost no one but the environmentalists.

Even the Bureau of Land Management, which has long been accused of favoring ranching interests in determining the use of public lands, is getting better marks these days from environmentalists.

Congress takes care of business

Congress is hustling right now in preparation for a month-long recess in August.

If the weather in Washington is as hot as in Idaho, the people's representatives are probably anxious to have a vacation.

Most leaders are now admitting quietly that little if any of President Carter's energy program will be passed before recess, contrary to his request.

Meanwhile, Congress seems to be churning out a flurry of appropriation bills for 1980, getting old business out of the way.

House earlier passed a $5-million appropriation.

Sen. James McClure and Church got the higher appropriation by taking funds out of the unused Teton Dam break claim fund.

Also Wednesday, the Senate added a $25 million appropriation for nuclear safety research at the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory.

Sen. Frank Church says the money will be spent on the LOFT program (Loss of Fluid Test), an innocuous name for what happened at the Three Mile Island Nuclear plant.

A senate committee has in addition approved an amendment, sponsored by Church and Sen. James McClure to Northwest regional power legislation. The amendment would require power planners to take into account the needs of the region's salmon and other anadromous fisheries.

Another appropriation is pending before the Senate Appropriations Committee. That would authorize the spending of $10 million to help rehabilitate public rangelands. A number of western senators are pushing for approval as soon as possible so work can begin during the next fiscal year.

This and other programs are long overdue, and the promise of an August vacation seems to have spurred some worthwhile action.

So far this week, at least one house of Congress has approved money for the construction of Southern Idaho, the Raft River regional project and the American Falls River District.

I received a hefty $800,000 to help build a vocational-technical building in Idaho. The Raft River project received $2 million in funding to carry on its work of producing electricity using geothermal water.

Last week southern Idaho water users Wednesday when the Senate approved them $19.2 million for their share of constructing the American Falls Dam. Payment authorization now goes to the house conference committee. The water for south Idaho. I.B. Perrine dug the lower part, and the other man dug the upper part. They met at Shoshone Falls. As Perrine had worked harder and dug deeper, they decided to put in a falls. A research grant might help find whether the other man was lazy or was working for the Idaho Power Company, and who he was.

Farmers apply for your grant. You may know of a better project than those I suggested. Write to our senators and help Idaho's economy and yours.

West Bank distracting

By GEORGE F. WILL
 © The Washington Post Group
 JERUSALEM — The stability of the western world, and therefore the fate of freedom, is linked to the fragile order in the Persian Gulf.

Yet the subject that preoccupies diplomats is a small plot of land that resembles, in parts, the state of South Dakota called the Badlands. The plot of land is the West Bank. It is a preoccupation of the region and the world can ill afford.

Several Gulf states are the Pahlavi family, formerly of Iran. Those states — as well as Jordan, Saudi Arabia, Egypt and Israel have a common interest in resisting radicalism from the Soviet Union, Libya, Iraq and Iran. And Jordan is still irragrd to blame for the fact that the West Bank is a distraction from pressing dangers in the Gulf and an obstacle to collaboration against radicalism.

Of course Israelis argue incessantly about the West Bank as about everything else. Political argument is to Israel what baseball is to America, a pastime that expresses national character. Israeli democracy — confirms — the axiom, "Two Israelis, three factions." But there is a core consensus: No conceivable Israeli government could ban all Jewish settlements or remove all Israeli troops from the West Bank.

The Carter administration believes that Menachem Begin in power is no bargain, but the alternative, which is Begin in opposition, might produce a paralyzed government. The best prospect for wisdom about Israeli politics is this: Begin did not start the West Bank settlements, a Labor government did. And a Labor government did not yield the Sinai, Begin did. But this past is not a simple prolegomena.

Answer Sadat has been charming in public and tough at the negotiating table. Begin has been the opposite — Sadat has stayed in the peace process because he got, almost immediately, a pledge of complete return of the Sinai. But the Sinai transaction is no model for dealing with the West Bank. The problem are Begin is Begin, King Hussein is not Sadat, and the West Bank is not the Sinai in military or ideological significance.

To Begin the Sinai concerns the peace process because he got, almost immediately, a pledge of complete return of the Sinai. But the Sinai transaction is no model for dealing with the West Bank. The problem are Begin is Begin, King Hussein is not Sadat, and the West Bank is not the Sinai in military or ideological significance.

There would be a "security border" along the Jordan river and a political border along the 1967

Sadat ardently wanted the Sinai back. Jordan's Hussein, a non-Palestinian king of a Palestinian state (a state with the Palestinian majority) may be of two minds about bringing into his kingdom 1.1 million West Bank and Gaza Strip Palestinians who feel little attachment to him. Hussein's base of support is among east Jordanians, whose coolness toward Palestinians is resproced.

There is, today, a kind of de facto peace between Israel and Jordan. Tourists and trade flow across the open bridges over the Jordan River. Jordanian forces police the border to prevent terrorist attacks on Israel that might provoke retaliation against Jordan. The Jordanian government administers some social services on the West Bank.

It has been said that the art of diplomacy is to stay "five minutes ahead of the storm." Serious storms in this region are apt to rise, without warning, around the Persian Gulf. The storms could engulf the region, so Jordan is a potential victim of its own refusal to help remove the distraction of the West Bank issue. Until Jordan joins the peace process, Israel's policy can be expressed in Arthur Koestler's words: Pray for time and play for time.

border, somewhat altered. That is, put Jordan's flag on Israel's 1967 borders and put a thin line of Israeli soldiers on the river and on the line of high points between the river and the 1967 borders.

Begin's "autonomy" plan — "autonomy" for "people" but not "territory" — is a jerry-built, trouble-sowing administrative and political nightmare. To borrow a phrase from the folks on the West Bank of the Mississippi, "That dog won't hurt." But the Camp David accords require some plan, and no plan will accomplish much until Hussein comes to the table.

Idaho farmers should apply for federal grants

Idaho News: The price and income report shows farmers are losing more money than ever. Expenses are above income and jumped to 20 points above in the June report.

Idaho has obeyed that order: "Hungry" so will some day be dead.

Whitton, "The Voice of the People" reports that grants to farmers are given for such things as "Why fat people like pigs" or "The Sex Life of Costa Rica," or "Why women grab pink certain shells."

Idaho grants are for from $2,500 to $100,000.

Idaho farmers should apply for grants to study:

"Why farmers are nutty enough to farm," or "How pet rocks or lava rocks could be made edible," or "A feasibility study to teach ranchhands to run tread mills to furnish energy," or "A study to show how environmentalists can work to return Idaho back to the steaks granger than they are now doing, by banking useful pesticides."

All who do not get grants for these should get grants to build perpetual motion machines to provide energy.

It is said that two men agreed to dig the Snake River Canyon to get water for south Idaho. I.B. Perrine dug the lower part, and the other man dug the upper part. They met at Shoshone Falls. As Perrine had worked harder and dug deeper, they decided to put in a falls. ### Plenty of questions, few answers about insurance

Editor, Times-News: About the time the recent proof of liability law was put into effect, evidently there was an article or editorial in your paper regarding auto liability insurance. I did not miss the letter to the editor from a local agent in defense of what his agency was charging policyholders and what violations there would have to be to charge around $500 for this coverage.

What this agent failed to mention was that his clientele are part of a select group such as farmers or judges — men who are able to insure themselves best of care trucks and equipment under one policy (regardless of ownership in the family) for a reasonable sum.

Sometimes smaller and less fortunate clients are charged for one or two automobiles. Also mentioned nothing about the following problems which can come up in auto insurance. (This is not a reflection on local agents — merely the commonest best of care trucks and equipment under one policy (regardless of ownership in the family) for a reasonable sum.)

Columnist balks

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — New York newspaper writer Jimmy Breslin has refused to cooperate with a court-ordered investigation into Breslin's column on actor Lee Marvin, a deputy district attorney said.

Marvin was quoted in the column as saying that "everybody lied" at the celebrated "Marvin vs. Marvin" trial, causing the judge to order a perjury investigation.

Prosecutor John Kildebeck said

Tuesday that Breslin, a columnist for the New York Daily News, "refused to meet with us, talk to us or anything."

Asked what reason Breslin gave for refusing to cooperate, Kildebeck replied: "Something about the constitution."

"Listen, I really don't know why he won't talk," Kildebeck said. "But the bottom line is he won't."

Breslin was unavailable for comment.

Tormented buffalo tosses, injures singer John Davidson

AVALON (UPI) — A buffalo charged and tossed entertainer John Davidson Tuesday, injuring him.

Davidson, who was thrown about 20 feet near his camp on Santa Catalina Island, was rushed to Avalon Hospital Tuesday afternoon with torn rib cartilage and a blood clot in his leg.

His condition was not considered serious, his agent said, but he was held in the hospital overnight.

"It's the most exciting thing that's ever happened to me," the 38-year-old Davidson said.

The entertainer sponsors the John

Davidson Singer Summer Camp for aspiring singers at the Island's Toyon Bay.

"He was taming the buffalo," said agent Sandy Brokaw.

Bankruptcy	$350.00 plus costs
Misdemeanors (through court trial)	$300.00

What's what

Avoid prominent blue eyes if you are seeking placid, peaceful partner

People with pop eyes are said to be highly excitable. What's meant by pop eyes are protruding eyes. And it's believed to be particularly true of such people whose eyes are blue. Their emotions are easily aroused. If you want a placid and peaceful partner, you might want to steer clear of those prominent blue eyes. Understand there's a scientific explanation for it that has something to do with the thyroid, but it's pretty deep and I need to study up on it a little more.

The traditional June marriage is not quite as popular as once it was according to the statisticians. But it's still a fact that couples married in June have a lower divorce rate than couples married in any other month.

Do you know why that polar bear is so sure-footed on ice? It has rough fur on the soles of its paws.

DAMNED YANKEES

Q. Who first characterized northerners as "damned yankees"?

A. Color of that one remains unknown. Can only report it was not first used by southerners against northerners during the Civil War as commonly believed. It goes all the way back to the Revolutionary War when Yorkers so labeled the northern provincial soldiers.

Another way to keep cats and dogs out of the flower beds, it's said, is to scatter coffee grounds around the plants.

Queen Elizabeth I bathed 12 times more frequently than a typical one of her subjects. She bathed once a month.

OCTOPUS

The blue-ringed octopus is a curious little critter so innocent in appearance that it's occasionally picked up for closer examination by people. Play them. Usually, they're not even aware they've been bitten by the beast. Then they begin to feel a tingling around the mouth and numbness in the face and neck. A blocking of nerve impulses paralyzes them. They die. Blue-ringed octopus venom is probably more toxic than that of any spider or snake.

Ray Hayes' flowers brighten T.F. corner

By LORAYNE O. SMITH
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — One of the few esthetic oases left on Blue Lakes Boulevard North is a corner lot across from the Blue Lakes Shopping Mall where Ray G. Hayes has been growing flowers for half a century.

Hayes, a retired businessman who owned Intermountain Fuel Co. here for many years, said motorists used to "slow down or stop and park so they could admire his large expanse of blooms, but now the traffic is so heavy few do so anymore.

Sometimes people would ask to purchase flowers, but Hayes never sold any. He just gives them away.

The large corner flower garden provides blooms from early spring until frost because Hayes concentrates on three hardy perennials: peonies, roses and phlox. A few annuals, such as larkspur and columbine, nestle here and there among the well landscaped beds.

The area was an apple orchard when Hayes and his wife bought the one and a half-acre site in 1928. Starting from scratch he gradually built his flower garden, working on holidays, early mornings and evenings throughout the last 51 years.

Like most flower lovers he added to it every year until he now has the garden organized to give the maximum bloom with a minimum amount of work.

While he has expensive name varieties, Hayes says some of the nicest ones he has he bought for 25 cents apiece years ago.

For anyone who sees even a window box planting as too much work, Hayes' spacious flower beds would seem an impossible undertaking. But, as any true gardener knows, Hayes says the work involved keeping his garden and more than an acre of lawn cared for is "relaxing."

"That's my hobby," he said, "instead of fishing or work outside."

His hobby seems to agree with him for the retired businessman is trim and active at age 76.

"You get old when you quit working," he laughed.

In addition to caring for his flowers he probably walks seven to eight miles weekly mowing lawns on his property which includes six lots and encompasses a rental house plus spacious lawns.

A former teacher in rural Twin Falls County, Hayes came to Twin Retired coal dealer Ray Hayes examines a rose on his showplace on Blue Lakes Boulevard North.

Falls in 1920 with his brother, H.G. (Chick) Hayes, who had a teaching offer here.

"He said he'd go out West if I'd go with him," Hayes said, "so I told him 'Let's go.'"

The brothers arrived here on Friday before school began on Monday. Hayes got a job driving the "school wagon," a horse-drawn covered wagon used to transport students to school.

A native of Purdin in western Missouri where he was born Oct. 9, 1902, Hayes finished high school here, graduating from Twin Falls High School with the class of 1921.

He attended the former Albion Normal School and taught for three years at Maroa, north of Filer. In 1924 he married the former Beryl Calvert.

Other teaching assignments were at Fairview and Poplar Hill in the Buhl and Filer areas.

Then he went into business with his brother who by then had quit teaching and opened a hatchery business on Main Avenue East where Western Realty now is located. Prior to opening the hatchery business Chick Hayes, who still lives in Twin Falls, was superintendent at Castleford and Eden.

Ray Hayes sold out to his brother in 1931 and worked for Intermountain Seed Co. He became manager of the seed department in 1936 for the late Howard Hammond, who handled both seed and fuel.

In 1943 Hayes went into business for himself operating the Intermountain Fuel Co. on Shoshone Street South for 30 years until retiring in 1973.

He has retained his chair and table rental business which "gives him a reason to go downtown" and also provides interest during the non-gardening months.

The Hayes' one daughter, Bethene, lives in Boise. They have two grandchildren.

In addition to his brother, Hayes has a sister, Mrs. Pearl Laswell, who also lives in Twin Falls.

Old parents now seeking new careers

By ELLEN MAY GOLDBERG
Chicago Sun-Times

Parents are supposed to be parents and stay that way, says the middle generation. They are supposed to go down the road of retirement baking cookies, putting in the garden and taking their grandchildren to the zoo.

Confounding their middle-generation children, older parents are now seeking new careers, joining self-improvement groups and, if single, sometimes living with members of the opposite sex without the blessing of matrimony.

Ellen Goodman, Washington Post columnist, wrote of the dilemma of a mother who had difficulty finding a way to talk about the woman her son was living with. Falteringly, she introduced her as "my son's — uh," "Let me tell you," Goodman wrote, "that's nothing compared with introducing your father's 'uh.'"

I know half a dozen of my divorced or widowed friends who are living with their own "uh's" and couldn't care less what their children or friends think. Companionship and freedom from loneliness are the motives.

Seeing the failure of their grandchildren's and children's marriages may well be scaring the prime generation away from the marriage altar.

Parents are taking up some very novel careers. The grandmother of one of my friends counsels girls at an abortion clinic, another has taken to modeling swim suits for seniors and another couple I know are deep into marriage encounters. Still another older couple are attending a sex therapy clinic.

A pair of retired execs have formed a company called the Grandfathers and show older people that their widowed friends are safe even grand-fathers to fly.

Careers in gerontology are offered at many colleges and you may find your own mother or father preparing to work in a field they know a lot about because they have front-row center seats.

Many middle-generation people insist it is inconsiderate of their parents to still be in a state of change after 60.

Dear Abby

Honeymoon precedes wedding

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. Syndicate Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am an old fogey (50), but with the changing times I think we should change some of our customs.

When I was young, lovers had a courtship, then were married, after which they went on a honeymoon. Then they returned to set up housekeeping.

Now the order is backwards. They go off on a honeymoon first. If they still like each other, they decide to live together. If that works, they get married, and friends and relatives are expected to provide them with wedding gifts. In my day, wedding gifts were for the purpose of getting the newly-joined couple started in their new home. Couples who have lived together for two or three years are not entering into a new union. They don't need a toaster, dishes, pots, pans and coffee-makers.

So, I suggest skipping wedding presents for those who have already lived together.

Please give me your opinion.
ASKING IN ALASKA

DEAR ASKING: It won't work. Most friends and relatives are so glad when the kids decide to make it legal that they send gifts anyway.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I and our 4-year-old son live above a retired couple who sit home 24 hours a day. We are not the kind of people who have wild parties. In fact, the last party I had was two years ago, and they were all older relatives.

Well, the man below started to complain about our "noisiness" a week after we moved in. He would bang on his ceiling with a broom handle when I'd shut my cupboard door, walk in my kitchen with shoes on, or slam the refrigerator door.

To top it off, my husband and I were walking out to our car and this man came at my husband with a pocketknife saying we had kept him up until 2 a.m. (We never stay up past midnight).

I think this man must be off balance. Our landlord agrees with us. Any suggestions?
M.C. IN N.Y.

DEAR M.C.: Your neighbor has already broken the law by threatening your husband with a dangerous weapon. If you and your landlord have reason to believe that the man is "off balance," don't wait for a more convincing incident to occur.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BORN TO LOSE": Don't be discouraged by a failure. It can be a positive experience.

"Failure is, in a sense, the highway to success. Inasmuch as every discovery of what is false leads us to seek earnestly after what is true, and every fresh experience points out some form of error which we shall afterwards carefully avoid."

The above is as true today as it was when John Keats, the famed English poet (1795-1821), wrote it.

Alumni group meets Friday

TWIN FALLS — About 150 former students of the Twin Falls High School in 1929 and earlier will be celebrating their annual alumni meeting here Friday.

Committee members say they have had communications from nearly all parts of the country and are also urging local residents to attend and get re-acquainted with their classmates of 50 or more years ago.

Committee members say 125 reservations have already been made and many more are expected from the local area today and Thursday. A 1:30 p.m. luncheon and program is planned this year instead of the evening banquet. There will also be a no-host breakfast Saturday at the Holiday Inn dining hall.

A historical slide show will be held following the Friday luncheon, with the usual reports by graduates and an exchange of information.

Additional information is available by calling Jack Phipps, Twin Falls, secretary and treasurer of the alumni group.

Families change

CHICAGO (UPI) — Today's middle-income family is as likely to produce a school drop-out, a drug abuser or a juvenile delinquent as was the low-income family of the 1960s, says the AMA Handbook for Physicians.

The physicians' guidebook adds that changing family patterns are taking a toll on children at all levels of society. Even those in so-called wholesome traditional families are no longer immune.

As families become less homogeneous and more diverse, the book says, persons working in the children's mental health field need to be more aware of their individual cultural backgrounds.

Merit Changes Smoking.

'Enriched Flavor' cigarette sparks whole new taste era in low tar smoking.

Not too long ago, smokers believed that if a cigarette had less tar, it had less taste too. Low tar cigarettes simply didn't taste very good.

Then along came MERIT and a whole new taste idea called 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. And in three short years, smoking changed:

1. No other new cigarette in the last 20 years has attracted so many smokers as quickly as MERIT!
2. MERIT has swept past over 50 other brands in record time.
3. MERIT is continuing to attract high tar smokers—the most taste-conscious smokers of all!

It's clear: MERIT taste is changing attitudes toward low tar smoking.

CSI hot water heat uncertain

By BEN McKELWAY
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — College of Southern Idaho officials are uncertain whether water from the college's geothermal well will be hot enough to heat the new Norman Herrett Museum as originally planned.
Drilling on the well has reached 1,840 feet, according to CSI President James Taylor. The hottest well measured so far was 107 degrees Fahrenheit, Taylor said.

George Meyerhoff, Taylor's assistant, said the college still has a tentative plan to use the water to heat the museum, scheduled for completion in September. However, the college has called for bids on equipment which could heat the building without geothermal help.
Taylor said he is still optimistic that the drillers will hit a hotter source of water below the layer of red rhyolite which the drill bit has been in for the last 600 feet. When drilling began last fall, Taylor said a consistent flow of 130-degree water would be enough to heat all campus buildings.

Taylor said he has authorized a test which will accurately measure the water temperature at each 100-foot level inside the well. In case the 107-degree water measured was diluted by cooler water.

A group of geothermal experts will meet with Taylor next week to analyze the results of the test and decide whether deeper drilling is likely to pay off.
In late August the college will publish a handbook and host a workshop for Idaho public school superintendents and legislators who want to learn about geothermal well drilling procedures.

Twin Falls school struck by vandals

TWIN FALLS — Six windows were broken at Twin Falls High School, maintenance workers reported Monday.
City police said Luke Rummelt, a maintenance worker, reported the damage shortly before 8 a.m. Monday when he discovered three broken windows in the cafeteria.
Three additional windows were discovered broken in another wing. Damage was estimated at $200.
A small rock had been used to break out several of the windows and others appeared to have been shot out.

Downtown lights may dim

TWIN FALLS — Christmas lights on the Downtown Mall and advertising banners on Shoshone Street may be two casualties of the city's 1 percent budget cutting.
City crews traditionally have hung up the Christmas lights downtown, and the city has also paid for the power to light the thousands of tiny bulbs.
The city also gives free aid to community organizations by using fire department personnel and equipment to hang banners on Shoshone Street advertising community events.

However, a disagreement last week over who should be allowed to hang banners on Shoshone Street prompted city Manager Jean Millar to say that the service may soon become "one of those little luxuries that we can no longer afford."

Only two places to hang banners exist on Shoshone Street, and they are assigned on a first-come-first-served basis.

Last week however three groups applied for the two available spots. The group which applied last had its banner ready to hang before one of the other groups, but the banner was bumped from its spot when the other group showed up with a banner.

In relating the dispute to the city council, Millar said it may be the last of its kind because the fire department "soon may be forced to quit hanging the banners."

Millar said the service involves "some slight administrative effort, plus fuel and time from the fire department, all of which the city may not be able to afford when the 1 percent measures take effect."

Millar acknowledged that the service results in a "considerable savings" to groups sponsoring events because the only alternative to using the city's hook and ladder truck would be to hire a commercial vehicle and crew.

Millar added that the downtown Christmas lights may meet the same fate as the banners.

He noted that the downtown merchants have also sensed that the Christmas lights may be in jeopardy and have asked the city to assure that it will put the lights up, pay for the power, and buy some new lights for the upcoming holiday season.

Millar described the merchants' request as "jumping on the wagon early to make sure they're on top before any 1 percent limiting takes place."

1979 water supply holds its own

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Most irrigation and canal companies in Magic Valley say irrigation water supplies will last through the season in spite of high demands, the extremely dry spring and summer and current high temperatures.

Big Wood River Canal Co. water users, however, are hard pressed by drought conditions this year and may be out of water by mid-September. Other companies anticipate no shortages this season. Most say a good carryover in Idaho reservoirs from last year's abundant water supply saved the 1979 season. Most agree another dry year would be critical.

One official, Larrie Ragain of the Salmon Canal Co., said water users in his system are actually receiving a much larger delivery than anticipated. Ragain said spring predictions, based on snow pack during the current water year and anticipated precipitation were set at 65 percent of normal.

However, the company has been able to deliver in excess of 100 percent, or one acre foot per share, and expects to continue at that rate through the season. Water users on the Salmon Tract are getting 1.02 feet per share. Maximum that Salmon Tract farmers can get in any water year is 1.167 feet per share. There have been years with as little as .10 of a foot available on the tract. The one foot is considered a good delivery.

The most crucial area in Magic Valley appears to be around Shoshone where Big Wood River Irrigation district watermaster Leon Grieve says extreme dry weather and high temperatures make it difficult for farmers on the very end of the system to get adequate deliveries.

Grieve said "tail end" users are not getting their full water allocations some days, but he said the company tries to make it up when there is a full head of water.

While many Salmon Reservoir water sheds were above 100 percent of normal during much of the winter, those on the north side of Snake River were way below normal. Grieve said the snow pack for both Big and Little Wood Rivers was the lowest in the state last winter.

"The demand for water is running about the same, and that's at capacity," he said. "We seem to be losing more in transit than normal and I think that is because the ground is so extremely dry it is seeping out into the desert. Then, too, the high temperatures increase evaporation."

Grieve said about 40,000 acres of land in the Shoshone area depend entirely on Magic Reservoir for irrigation supplies while the remaining area is served by American Falls Reservoir via the Snake River.

Eldrid Bodilly has enough water this year for field near Hansen.

Farmers depending on Magic Reservoir will not have a slim chance at best of having water beyond the end of September and it could be gone by the middle of September, Grieve said. Right now Magic Reservoir is down to less than half full with 90,000 acre feet remaining. This compares to 185,000 acre feet at this time last year and the reservoir capacity of 191,500 acre feet. Carryover from last year was about 96,000 acre feet and the reservoir did not fill this spring. The water users started the season with 165,000 acre feet in the reservoir.

Inflows at the present time total less than 30 second feet, Grieve said, and the reservoir capacity of 25 second feet at normal flow for July and is now down to 2 second feet.

Injection method determined

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho State Board of Corrections has decided that convicted killer David A. Osborn, 30, would be killed by being administered three injections with only one being lethal.

Board chairman Gen. George Bennett said Tuesday that the board was still developing a complete procedure as mandated by the 1978 Legislature. The lawmakers did not specify the lethal substance or the manner in which it is administered.

Last month Osborn, Slaterville, Utah, was sentenced to death in 6th District Court for the slaying of his girlfriend in Pocatello, Idaho. The execution was set for Aug. 12, but the Idaho Supreme Court must review the case first.

Idaho State Prison Warden Ed Dermitt said the board was considering three lethal substances.
Dermitt said the injections would be administered by three staff members chosen by him. He said the warden ask for witnesses from the staff and "believed they would respond in a responsible manner."
The warden said the execution would take place at the prison hospital and that a medical person probably would be in attendance.

The board also continued its review of the school district's policy manual, making some minor changes in the discipline section, according to district clerk Orell Baker.
The board re-elected Alvin Ochsner as chairman.

Cycle collides

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls boy Tuesday escaped serious injury after his motorcycle collided with an oncoming car, Twin Falls Police said.

Daniel K. Lively, 16, of Buhl, was southbound on Blue Lakes when an approaching car turned in front of him onto Falls Avenue.

Lively had switched from the right to the left lane and hit the northbound 1978 Ford driven by Esther K. Young, 66, of Buhl about 5:17 p.m., police said.

Lively was taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital where he was treated and released.
Lively's 1971 Suzuki was damaged beyond repair, police said. Damage to Young's car was estimated at $500.

CSI gets grant

WASHINGTON — The College of Southern Idaho has been awarded an $800,000 grant by the Economic Development Administration through the office of Sen. James McClure announced Wednesday.

The funds will help construct a vocational-technical building on campus, providing shop and classroom space for instruction in the maintenance and repair of farm equipment, plant machinery, and recreational vehicles.
The EDA also awarded $500,000 to the city of Boise for geothermal energy project.

Projects funded

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Senate Wednesday approved funding for several Idaho water projects and continued work on the Raft River geothermal plant.

The appropriations measure would make the funds available during fiscal year 1980, which begins Oct. 1.

Projects approved and their funding include:
• $15 million to begin construction of the Lewiston-Clarkston bridge.

• $2.8 million to rehabilitate the Island Park Dam.

• $7.5 million to complete the Dworshak Dam project and the study further electrical generating capacity.

• $2 million to continue work at the Raft River geothermal project and a 5 megawatt geothermal power plant.

• A $368,000 loan for upgrading work, a new pumping station, and a storage tank in the Lewiston Orchards Irrigation District. The loan is part of a $7.4 million loan.

The funding measure next goes to a conference committee in the House of Representatives.

Woman injured

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls woman was slightly injured Wednesday following a two-car collision, Twin Falls Police said.

Carolyn Ann Briggs, 40, of Twin Falls, was traveling east on Addison Avenue about 4 p.m. when her car was struck by a motorist who failed to yield at the intersection with Fourth Avenue North.

George A. McCormack, 57, of Jerome, was cited for failure to yield.

Ms. Briggs was taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital where she was treated and released.

Damage to McCormack's 1978 Chevrolet pickup and Ms. Briggs' 1971 Datsun was estimated at $1,000 each, police said.

Senate OK's $19.2 million repayment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Wednesday passed a public works appropriation bill which contains $19.2 million to pay the local waterusers' share of rebuilding the American Falls Dam.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Frank Church, sponsored legislation last year authorizing the Bureau of Reclamation to pay the local waterusers' share of the dam's construction costs. Several years ago, local farmers agreed to share the cost of the dam when it became apparent the government would not act.

But in 1978 Congress passed legislation authorizing the Bureau to rehabilitate old dams in the West, and Church argued that as a matter of equity American Falls should be included. The legislation he sponsored was passed on the final day of Congress.

Earlier this year the House agreed to appropriate only $5 million for the project. But Church helped work out a procedure through which the $19.2 million will be made available from funds left over from the Teton Dam claims. Frank Church's entire amount available in the coming year.

Church said the $19.2 million must be approved by a House and Senate conference committee, then ratified by the House and Senate.

Evans backs revenue sharing

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI) — Gov. John Evans told the Association of Idaho Cities Wednesday a local revenue sharing program using funds collected at the state level for distribution to cities and counties "is a sound approach to the fiscal dilemma facing Idaho."

Evans, speaking in Coeur d'Alene, said two other funding alternatives are local option taxes and override levies, neither of which has the support of taxpayers.

Evans noted that the AIC will consider a revenue sharing policy during its meeting and said he believes it is an excellent proposal.

Evans added he believes such money should be limited to cities and counties "and subject to no strings whatever" with state government doing all it can to maintain the integrity of local control.

Band features Souza

TWIN FALLS — Tonight's Twin Falls City Band concert will be a tribute to John Philip Sousa, featuring eight of the composer's favorites. The concert, open to the public at no charge, will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the city park.

Only three concerts remain in the current summer season. They are held each Thursday at 8:15 p.m.

Idaho gets $52,000

Temperature monitoring funded

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho will receive more than $52,000 in federal funds to implement a presidential plan to cut energy consumption by restricting building temperatures, Gov. John Evans announced Wednesday.

President Carter also charged the states with:

- Providing public education and outreach to inform all affected building owners and operators of their obligations under the Department of Energy regulations implementing the plan.
- Distributing to building owners and operators forms and instructions prepared by the DOE.
- Responding to questions from the public on compliance requirements and use of forms.
- Selecting the inspection of buildings for compliance.
- Compliance inspection in response to complaints of violations received from the public.
- Initiation of appropriate enforcement actions.

Power demand sets record

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho Power Co. Wednesday reached a record peak load, the second in two days in the wake of near-record temperatures.

But the National Weather Service said temperatures in the southern part of the state exceeded the 100-degree mark, with Boise's 101 degrees just short of the previous record high of 103.

The weekend with widely scattered showers mostly over the mountains," he said.

Longmuir leads British Open

TWIN FALLS, England (UPI) — Tom Longmuir, a winner of many personality contests as golf professional, overshadowed a tournament by Jack Nicklaus and Tom Watson when he won the British Open on Thursday.

Longmuir, 26, shot a record-breaking 65 Wednesday to lead the 150-man field in the 108-hole tournament. He was the only golfer to shoot under par.

Although he was unknown to most of the golfers he's playing against, the 26-year-old Brit is a real person who managed to turn in an unreal score on a course which yielded only four sub-par rounds in defending champion who faded on the back nine and settled for a 72, where he later was joined by Tom Watson. "I believe it was a flititious person you just put up on the leader board."

U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin, who said of Longmuir, "Incredible, my hats off to the gentleman," turned in a fine 68, helped along by a 23-foot birdie putt on the 11th hole and Pate, with one birdie putt of 30 feet and two more from 15 feet, had a 69.

Of the starting field of 152, the only other player to break par was Japan's Isao Aoki, last year's half-way leader, with a 70.

"Anybody who shot par or better today did very well," said Watson. "Six under is almost beyond reason."

Although he turned professional when he was 15, Longmuir didn't join the smaller tournament circuit until a few years ago, and his only two successes came in 1976 when he won the Nigerian Open and the Southland Classic in New Zealand.

To support himself in the meantime, Longmuir drove a truck and entered personality contests, twice earning prizes of $670. "I treated it as fun," he said. "I knew some chaps who ran a discotheque and they wouldn't let me unless I got on stage. It wasn't any of this muscle-bending stuff. I'd be interviewed on stage and do silly things."

The highlight of his stage career came when he was chosen "Mr. Basildon," the small town where he was born. Among the "silly things" he was asked to do was to give a golf lesson to Fiona Richmond, a vicar's daughter well known for her sexual adventures.

"It was quite nice standing behind her," Longmuir said, "but her swing was lumpy."

As for his golf, Mr. Personality said he "putted fantastically today." He sank eight-foot putts for birdies on the third and fourth holes, followed those with birdie putts of 40 and 20 feet on the fifth and sixth, and then barely missed a 20-footer for an eagle on the seventh.

Three more birdies on the ninth, 10th and 12th holes brought Longmuir to 8-under before he fell back to reality with bogeys on 14 and 15.

Murphy's return imminent

ATLANTA (UPI) — The expected return of hard-hitting Dale Murphy offers promise that the Atlanta Braves, who open a nine-game road trip Thursday in Chicago, may wind up this season with their best record in five years.

The Braves, seemingly headed toward a lock on a fourth straight last place finish in the National League West during the first two months of the season, have played at a league-leading .630 clip the past month, winning 17 of their last 27 games. And, as Manager Bobby Cox keeps saying, "getting Dale Murphy's bat back in our lineup has to make us tougher."

Murphy, who tore a cartilage in his left knee May 23 and underwent surgery May 28, was one of the top hitters in the league before being injured — batting a hefty .348 and leading in home runs with 13 and rbi with 37.

Knight sure of verdict

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — Bobby Knight said Wednesday there was "no chance" he would do as well in a Puerto Rican courtroom next month as his Pan-American Games basketball squad did on San Juan's basketball courts.

The Indiana University coach, who faces charges of assaulting a policeman during the Pan-Am competition, said the "lies" of the officer and witness convinced him he couldn't win the case. "Tonight, my arrest on aggravated assault charges has been postponed until Aug. 22, said he did not know if he would return to San Juan.

Cousineau makes choice

MONTREAL (UPI) — Linebacker Tom Cousineau, the NFL's top draft pick, signed Wednesday with the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League, according to published reports. The French-language daily, Journal de Montreal, said the 6-foot-3 Cousineau signed with the Alouettes after rejecting a $1.2 million five-year contract with the Buffalo Bills.

Alouette officials were not available to confirm the report but Cousineau had scheduled a news conference Thursday to announce which team he had chosen.

Yanks, Dodgers face second-half challenge

TWIN FALLS (UPI) — The New York Yankees and Los Angeles Dodgers face a second-half challenge as they begin their 1979 season.

The Reds' chief hope is that Tom Seaver, who has won seven straight games after a poor start, proves to be their pitching leader in the stretch run.

With another outstanding managerial job by Earl Weaver being given much of the credit, the Orioles lead the Red Sox by two and the Brewers by six. The Angels have only a two-game lead over the Rangers and a five-game margin over the Minnesota Twins.

Magic Valley hosts three golf tourneys

MAGIC VALLEY — Three tournaments, this weekend, headed by the Canyon Springs amateur, will keep Magic Valley fully in golf's control.

The Canyon Springs amateur, third step in the five area amateur schedule, will be played Saturday and Sunday north of Twin Falls, while the Rupert Country Club will host its annual two-man best ball tournament at the same time. The weekend laps into Monday when the pro-scratch four-man bestball tournament is scheduled at Blue Lakes Country Club.

field into flights ran 0-5 in championship, six-nine in first flight, 10-12 in second, 13-17 in third and 18 and over in the net fourth flight.

Rupert Pro Al Jones anticipates between 50 and 55 two-man teams in his tournament and is offering prizes in four flights. With the low handicap in each twosome designating the flight, the breakdown is 0-7, championship flight; 8-13, first flight; 14-20, second flight, and 21 and over, third flight. The total tournament is net.

The Canyon Springs boasts a powerful championship flight, second only perhaps to the state amateur. Host Professional Jim Packard has a 22-man championship flight running from 0-5. Packard said the equitable division of the Monday handicaps mean nothing at Blue Lakes. Each professional from the Northern Chapter will bring three amateurs and that foursome will score them as they fall. It generally boasts the biggest number of low handicappers in any tournament in the state.

Bird stops rumor

BOSTON (UPI) — Labeling as "ridiculous" reports that he intends to retire when his $1.25 million contract with the Boston Celtics expires in 1984, Larry Bird said Wednesday he hopes to play for the NBA club "for the next 20 years."

Through his lawyer Bob Woolf, the former Indiana State forward denied a Providence Journal report that he planned to call it quits after five years. The newspaper said it would stick to its story, however.

"It is ridiculous," Bird said. "I hope I'm with the Boston Celtics for the next 20 years. It's as simple as that."

Oklag tackle quits

STILLWATER, Okla. (UPI) — A shortage of scholarships — the result of an NCAA penalty — has caused Oklahoma State starting offensive tackle Dusty Pruitt to quit the team, Coach Jimmy Johnson said.

Pruitt, a junior walk-on from Davis who won the starting job at right tackle during spring drills, quit because the Cowboys did not have a scholarship for him, head coach Jimmy Johnson said.

The NCAA limited Oklahoma State to 25 football scholarships this season, instead of the normal 30, in imposing sanctions because of recruiting violations that occurred before Johnson was named coach late last year.

Longmuir leads British Open

ST. ANNES, England — Longmuir, a winner of personality contests as golf goes, was the first to hole out on the 18th hole by Jack Nicklaus and a birdie on the 19th hole to shoot a record-breaking under-par 65 Wednesday in the first round of the British Open.

"I don't believe the score or the hole," marveled Nicklaus, the defending champion who faded on the back nine and settled for a 72, where he later was joined by Tom Watson. "I believe it is a fictitious score you just put up on the leader board."

Although he was unknown to most of the golfers he's playing against, the 28-year-old Briton is a real person who managed to turn in an unreal score on a course which yielded only four sub-par rounds in cold, wind-swept conditions.

Longmuir birdied five consecutive holes from the third through seventh, matching the Open record with a front nine score of 29, six under par, and his total of 65 equaled the championship record on the 6,822-yard Royal Lytham St. Annes course.

U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin, who said of Longmuir, "Incredible, my hats off to the gentleman," turned in a fine 68, helped along by a 35-foot birdie putt on the 11th hole, and Pale, with one birdie putt of 30 feet and two more from 15 feet, had a 69.

Of the starting field of 152, the only other player to break par was Japan's Isao Aoki, last year's half-way leader, with a 70.

MONTREAL (UPI) — Linebacker Tom Cousineau, the NFL's top draft pick, signed Wednesday with the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League, according to published reports.

Yanks, Dodgers face second-half challenge

RED DOWNS — The National League pennant races resumed Thursday with the world champion New York Yankees and Cincinnati Reds facing almost even odds if they are to win the title.

The Yankees of the 1970 season, led by slugger Fred Lynn, are 11 games behind the first place in the league's Eastern Division and face an extremely difficult task of catching three teams — the Boston Red Sox, Philadelphia Phillies and Milwaukee Brewers — who are even worse off — 14, 15 and 16 games behind the Yankees.

The Yankees' step in over-coming big deficits has been done in such dramatic fashions as the miracle comeback of 1914 and the 1951 comeback of the Giants as well as the 1978 Yankees, is to catch up where only one game behind.

The Yankees' comeback by that team can be traced to a coaching team to catch up on its own.

Remembered that the Yankees finished the season with a record of 100-68, play six of their last 12 games in Oakland and Seattle.

The Yankees, therefore, must have a sensational stretch of wins which enabled them to finish the season in fourth place and the Dodgers were 14 games behind.

While the Dodgers were hardly worth watching for the likely losers. As the Yankees assume there is a distinct possibility that there will be four National League winners in the NL East and four in the NL West and the Angels in the AL West.
