

Wants condition on SALT

Church faults troop action

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church said Thursday the administration failed to respond adequately to the issue of Soviet troops in Cuba and called on the Senate "to rectify" the problem by adding a new condition on SALT II.

Church, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, urged the Senate to require presidential certification of the 3,000 Soviet troops no longer possess a combat role or pose a threat before the strategic arms limitation pact would become operative.

Church's motion is, technically, "an understanding," which would be attached to the final Senate resolution ratifying SALT II, but it would not require Soviet concurrence or change the text of the pact.

The Idaho Democrat's move was based on hints senators are receiving from top administration officials that the Soviets could quietly alter the character of their combat unit.

Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., the committee's ranking Republican, said the Soviets have told the United States "they blundered into" creating the combat unit, building up its combat potential over years without regard to U.S. reactions.

"They can change it by just snapping their fingers," Javits said. Initial reaction among senators to Church's proposal was mixed. The State Department regretted the move.

State Department spokesman Tom Reddon said: "We believe it's a good treaty, no reservations are necessary."

We are studying the Church reservation and we'll have no further comment at this time."

Assistant Senate Democratic leader Alan Cranston, D-Calif., told the Senate he felt the administration's response was sufficient and the Church move unnecessary.

Cranston went to pains not to offend Church. "Reasonable men can differ and reasonable men can resolve their differences," said Cranston, a firm SALT backer. "I welcome the resolution although I do not believe it is needed."

Sens. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., Walter Huddleston, D-Ky., and James Sasser, D-Tenn., agreed to cosponsor Church's motion. Although Secretary of State Cyrus

Vance sought to discourage him Wednesday, Church took the Senate floor Thursday to recall the administration originally called the Soviet "status quo" unacceptable.

"We must ask," Church said, "how has the status quo changed?"

"The Soviet brigade is still in Cuba. It has not stood down; it's combat configuration remains intact."

"Clearly the status quo in the Caribbean has not been changed by any Russian action." Church continued: "The Senate, then, must rectify and strengthen the American position. If Soviet intrusions into this hemisphere are not counteracted in an adequate manner, the repercussions will be felt for many years to come."

Town with a conscience

FRAMINGHAM, Mass. (UPI) — Most New England town meetings concern themselves with items like the purchase of new sidewalks, new snowplows or new lights.

Framingham is buying a new heart. Dipping into the town treasury, Framingham voters voted Wednesday to spend $90,000 for a transplant operation for a 38-year-old firefighter who doctors say won't live another year otherwise.

With the heart, the doctors said, Fred Kelley, after hearing word of his new lease on life, "I know that people care about others."

March 2, 1979. Kelley, 38, was diagnosed with a heart condition after nearly 10 years with the fire department. He was accepted for a heart transplant at the Stanford University Hospital in Palo Alto, Calif., accepted Kelley for a Framingham, but the town's Blue Cross Blue Shield plan does not cover the operation.

The residents' vote came after six months of discussion. Kelley, who is a widower, has a wife, Evelyn, and six children. Kelley is a member of the Framingham Fire Department and has been a firefighter for 15 years.

Board rejects impact area

By BONNIE BAIRD-JONES

TWIN FALLS — Efforts to establish an area for future expansion around the city of Twin Falls may have suffered a killing blow Thursday night.

After hearing protests from a number of rural residents—whose property would fall within the so-called "area of impact," the Twin Falls County Planning and Zoning Board voted to recommend the county commissioners deny the Twin Falls city proposal.

In a later vote the board agreed to recommend approval of the Bull city area of impact.

Only one of the six zoning board members voting on the issue, Marilyn Miller, was in favor of the Twin Falls city area of impact. If the Twin Falls County Commissioners follow the recommendations, months of meetings and negotiations between county and city officials to reach an acceptable area will have been in vain and the procedure will have to begin again.

The Idaho Land Use Planning Act requires designation of impact areas around all cities as part of county and city comprehensive planning. Larry Harper, a resident of the Thompson Subdivision, southwest of Twin Falls, presented a petition with 107 signatures of residents opposing the area of impact extending to their property. Most of the nearly 100 people attending the public hearing indicated opposition to the Twin Falls or Bull proposals.

Zoning Commission Chairman Corning Laning said the purpose of the area of impact is to give a city some control over development in areas where the city is expected to expand within a reasonable time. He said this would logically mean the area would be annexed in some "reasonable future time."

Those asking questions and making protests all expressed a fear the cities would be able to regulate their land use and some felt the cities even would be able to levy taxes against their property.

County Zoning administrator Ed Woods said any development within the Twin Falls area of impact would require city approval and building within the area would be subject to city code except where the property consisted of 20 acres or more. All parcels of 20 acres or more would be classified as farms and would come under county regulation. This was a provision agreed to by the city and county officials in reaching an agreement on the proposed boundaries of the area of impact.

Residents living near the airport protested the airport area being included in the city area of impact, expressing concern about airway restrictions.

O.A. (Gus) Keiker, member of the zoning commission, opened the meeting with a statement calling for denial of both the Bull and Twin Falls proposals and asking the county commissioners to appeal to the legislators to revise the state law.

Educating residents planned first

Twin Falls holds off on abandoning irrigation system

By MARTY TRILLHAASE

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls City Council members are working to avoid dropping the city's irrigation system. They are also considering a proposal that would leave the city in charge of water diversions but would leave maintenance of the ditches up to water users.

Instead, the council members are pondering a series of educational meetings for "water users" in the system. They are also considering a proposal that would leave the city in charge of water diversions but would leave maintenance of the ditches up to water users.

"What we intend to do is hold two or three educational meetings with the water users. We'll have some maps prepared showing the location of the ditches, the headgates, and the diversion boxes. Then, if necessary, our people could make field trips out with the users to show them what to do and how to do it," Councilman Hank Woodall said.

Councilman Chris Talkington added the details remain to be worked out. "We're tossing ideas around. I think what is emerging is we can not and should not drop this on an uneducated public. It would be unfair and unwise. Unwise because there's going to be a helluva lot of water wasted and damage done."

Councilman Gordon Cox agreed. "I think the whole idea is we're not going to suddenly drop this thing on the people cold turkey. We're responsive to what we hope would be a good transition. When we turn this loose to them, we don't want any blood spilled over who's operating those diversion boxes. We want to make sure they understand how it works," he said.

Councilman Bud Cheney added the city may invest funds into the ditches before turning them over to individual property owners. "We've had some proposals... upgrading the ditches... so they would have something to start with, but we haven't worked that out yet, either," he said.

The councilman are also considering retaining city control over irrigation water diversion boxes and leaving ditch maintenance to individual property owners.

The rationale is water users may require such guidance, possible as a permanent service.

"Very, very, lives have been lost over water in the west and we'll see blood spill unless there is a strong, impartial control of those diversion boxes and the city is the logical agency to control it," Talkington said.

It's the best way I can think of to control the interests of the water share owners and to provide for equal water distribution.

Just how long the city would provide this service, and who would pay for it, remain unanswered.

"I don't know that anything has been set yet," Cheney said. "I know that I'm not personally ready to jump into this thing until I first get an indication of how the people feel on this issue so we are making a decision that the people on line with us as far as the administration of the diversion is concerned," he said.

Maintaining only the diversion boxes while considerably cheaper will still require about $2,000 in addition to revenues generated by fees.

That's a considerable reduction from the 400 percent increase that would be required to operate the system on a permanent basis by water users. That would take a 100 percent increase in fees, he said.

"Frankly I think the administration of diversion boxes is a hopeless task," he said.

Judge denies Schafly plea, allows NOW in ERA suit

HOUSTON (UPI) — U.S. District Judge Marion Callister has rejected Equal Rights Amendment foe Phyllis Schafly's requests and has agreed to receive friends-of-the-court briefs from the National Organization for Women.

Callister simultaneously has ruled to admit no further friends-of-the-court applications other than those that already have been requested in connection with the lawsuit brought by Idaho on behalf of Arizona.

The far-reaching lawsuit asks the court to force the United States government to recognize the states' rejection of their ERA ratification votes. It also asks that Congress' extension of the ERA ratification deadline be declared unconstitutional.

to the court various legal questions about which the judge may not be aware.

Callister, who last week refused to disqualify himself from hearing the case, will not allow SPOC-ERA attorney Mrs. Schafly to participate in the lawsuit but has agreed to receive friends-of-the-court briefs from other anti-ERA groups such as Mrs. Schafly's Eagle Forum organization, the Pro Family Coalition of Nevada, Florida Federation of Women for Responsible Legislation, American Legislative Exchange Council, National Right to Life Committee and various religious organizations around the country.

Similarly, Callister has ruled that legislators from 22 states may participate in the lawsuit as friends of the court. In all cases where he granted permission to participate, Callister has limited the pro-ERA groups and anti-ERA groups to file single sets of briefs.

Slate representatives who may participate in the lawsuit include Idaho's Rep. John H. Brooks, Rep. Wendy Ungrieth, Rep. Percival A. Wesch, Rep. Doyle C. Miner, Rep. Willard W. Stuckert, Rep. Kenneth Stophenson and Rep. William F. Lytle.

The states of California, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Louisiana, Maine, Michigan, Missouri, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming also may participate, Callister ruled.

Callister further ordered he will not allow the issue of whether or not the ERA is justified or right to be admitted in court. He said he will consider "only the (constitutional) issue raised by the complaint in this action and will not treat any collateral issues."

Hill impasse blocks federal funds

WASHINGTON — Senate and House negotiators could not resolve a shouting, table-pounding feud over abortion funding and a congressional pay raise Thursday night, imperiling the next paychecks of nearly 5 million federal employees.

After day-long efforts to reach a compromise, the negotiators broke up and agreed to meet again this morning to try to write an emergency money bill to fund the payrolls and benefit programs of most government agencies.

For nearly a month now, amendments concerning federally-funded abortions and a proposed 5.5 percent increase for members of Congress have bogged the negotiating down in debate that suddenly became rancorous Thursday.

Before the day's bargaining began, House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., said he would not sign a bill unless it included a permanent ban on federal money for abortions. O'Neill said he would not sign a bill unless it included a permanent ban on federal money for abortions.

Spending authority for most government agencies expired Oct. 1, and pay for work performed before and after that date begins to come due Friday.

As a result of congressional inaction, 600,000 civilian employees of the Department of Defense and 85,000 Department of Agriculture employees will receive paychecks Friday for only half the sum they earned, while 22,000 Department of Labor employees will receive only half-pay Monday.

Additional 500,000 employees of other agencies also are threatened with the prospect of only half pay next week if Congress fails to act today.

Friday briefing

Jobs required sterilization

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Labor Department Thursday cited the American Cyanamid Co. for violating federal laws by requiring female employees at a chemical plant to undergo sterilization or lose their jobs.

The Occupational Safety and Health Administration proposed a $10,000 penalty against the firm because of the policy.

No worker must be forced to sterilize his or her right to conceive children in order to hold a job, said Assistant Labor Secretary Paul Bingham.

The firm, which can contest the citation, had no immediate comment.

OSHA said its investigation showed that American Cyanamid announced a policy in January 1976, which, in effect, required women workers to be sterilized to continue working in areas of a Willow Island, W. Va., plant where they were exposed to excessive levels of toxic substances.

The policy, OSHA said, was put into effect in October 1976 for jobs in areas where women had been exposed to lead. As a result, it said five women underwent sterilization to retain their jobs in the lead areas.

OSHA contends occupational exposure to lead can cause damage to the nervous system and to reproductive systems and that studies have linked lead exposure in workers to defects in their offspring.

Scuffle breaks out near Cuban mission

Castro's happy to be here

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fidel Castro, surrounded by bodyguards and Secret Service agents carrying submachine guns, came to the United States Thursday for an address to the United Nations and turned a quiet Manhattan neighborhood into an armed camp.

Castro went into seclusion in the Cuban U.N. Mission.

"I am happy to be in the United States," Castro said on his arrival at Kennedy Airport at 12:53 a.m. In an interview aboard his jetliner later broadcast by NBC-TV, he scoffed at President Carter's plans to increase the U.S. military presence in the Caribbean.

"I think that's very interesting," Castro said in Spanish. "They're spending a lot of money of the U.S. taxpayers and they're not solving any problems. We like movement — troop movement. It keeps us on the alert."

Anti-Castro Cuban exiles promised demonstrations outside the United Nations during Castro's scheduled speech at 11:30 a.m. today, but the scene outside the mission on East 38th Street Thursday was one of calm, enforced by the presence of hundreds of police officers and security men.

Police dogs sniffed garbage cans along the streets for explosives.

A small group of demonstrators sketched anti-Castro slogans outside the mission shortly after the president's arrival at 2 a.m., and one Cuban-bodyguard was restrained by policemen after he drew a handgun.

At 9:40 p.m., police broke up a brief fight between an anti-Castro demonstrator and a Puerto Rican who yelled, "Viva Castro!" as they went by.

Peace plan nears failure

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's peace initiative on Zimbabwe Rhodesia appeared near failure Thursday. Foreign Secretary Lord Carrington recessed the month-old conference indefinitely.

Carrington gave guerrilla leaders one more chance to reconsider the British proposal for a new constitution, but a Patriotic Front guerrilla spokesman said, "There is nothing to reconsider."

A British spokesman said contacts would be maintained between the delegations during the next day or so to try to resolve the deadlock and it was hoped another session could be arranged soon.

Spokesmen for both the guerrillas and the Salisbury government delegation said their leaders had no plans to leave London right now.

Soviets retain superiority

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Pentagon acknowledged Thursday the Soviet Union is reducing the number of weapons targeted on NATO countries but said the Soviets retain superiority by deploying new and more capable arms.

In a briefing for reporters, a high Defense Department official characterized as bad and unequal Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev's offer to reduce the number of medium-range missiles aimed at Europe in exchange for the United States to drop plans for deploying new missiles in Western Europe.

Brezhnev couched his offer made in East Berlin last Saturday with the announcement the Soviet Union would unilaterally remove 1,000 tanks and 20,000 troops from Europe. Soviet diplomats said this was an important signal of Russian sincerity for arms control negotiations in Europe.

Florida caucuses called 'rigged'

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Florida draft Kennedy caucus charged Thursday President Carter's backers have "rigged" Saturday's caucus voting by limiting voting hours and polling places.

State Comptroller Gerald Lewis and Sergio Bendixen, chairman and director of the Kennedy campaign in Florida, told reporters, "Under the circumstances, it is going to be tough" for Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., to win a majority of the 879 delegate races.

The delegate election — to take place at 87 county caucuses — also faced a court challenge in Orlando, where a Hebrew teacher asked a federal judge to postpone the contest because it falls on a Jewish holy day.

The judge made no immediate ruling.

The race has drawn national interest because delegates chosen at the caucuses will join 838 other people — mostly state and Democratic party officials — in a presidential straw vote Nov. 18. None of the votes have any bearing on Florida's March primary, where delegates to the Democratic national convention will be chosen.

Carter pledges no job cuts

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — President Carter told union members Thursday he will not put them out of work to control inflation and said interest rates — soaring because of new Federal Reserve Board "polices" — are "too high."

Carter's speech last days after his and his top economic adviser endorsed the Fed's tight money policy, including higher interest rates, which many analysts predicted will lead to higher unemployment.

However, he said later the recession should not deepen because of the actions.

I reject the notion of those who think the only way to cure inflation is to throw millions of people out of work," Carter told the annual convention of AFL-CIO building and construction workers. "I will not fight inflation with your jobs."

The president got only polite applause when he was introduced but the audience got more enthusiastic as he promised to oppose anti-labor legislation in Congress and help unions get their programs through.

Carter said the Federal Reserve Board had tightened the money supply to "cool inflation," and while he had specifically endorsed the policy on Tuesday, he told the union members, "Interest rates are too high and inflation is too high."

Connally draws most bucks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Texas Gov. John Connally has raised $4.3 million since January for his presidential campaign — far more than any rival — and has more than $1 million in the bank, financial reports show Thursday.

Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan and Rep. Phillip Crane of Illinois have raised about $2.7 million each for their GOP campaigns, but both owe money. Crane reported debts totaling $735,000 and Reagan's camp is reported to owe between $300,000 and $500,000.

Presidential candidates filed their quarterly reports with the Federal Election Commission. Most were by the end of the deadline, but Reagan's was late.

On the Democratic side, President Carter's campaign committee said it has raised $2.4 million since it started operations in March, including $854,000 in the last three months covered by the report.

Congress acts on energy

WASHINGTON — The federal aid program to promote production of synthetic fuels was authorized Thursday by the Senate Energy Committee in a form that President Carter has said would be acceptable to him.

But the Senate Finance Committee appeared headed for a different route. Carter's proposed windfall profits tax on oil, a direction that would make it more difficult to pump money in to the synfuels program.

Meanwhile, the White House announced it appears that its goal of meeting official energy home heating oil supplies next winter have been met. Figures to be reported next week should show producers have met the target of stockpiling 240 million barrels, officials said. If so, production at normal levels should get the country through the winter.

The House, as it began voting on the Energy Department's annual authorization bill, rejected, 135-107, an attempt to reimpose some of the price controls on domestic oil that President Carter has ordered phased out.

Reprehensible conduct

Senate denounces Talmadge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A somber Senate Thursday found Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., guilty of "reprehensible conduct" in his personal and financial affairs.

The Senate voted 81-15 to "denounce" Talmadge, a powerful 20-year veteran, ending the 16-month Ethics Committee investigation into his tangled finances.

Talmadge, who listened to more than two hours of debate and discussion, did not speak in his own defense. But as soon as the vote was over, he rose from his chair to claim the findings were "a personal victory" and to deny again that he was guilty of any wrongdoing.

SEN. HERMAN TALMADGE denies wrongdoing

"I have claimed that the committee's decision is a personal victory," he said. "Some have questioned this assertion, but realistically, I did not engage in or knowingly allow any misconduct," he said, adding he had been found guilty only of "neglect." "The evidence does not show that I did."

Talmadge also said he would "welcome" further investigation of his actions by the Justice Department. "I have nothing to fear," he declared.

As he has before, Talmadge made it clear he will seek re-election next year.

Talmadge's peers, sitting in judgment, listened intently as Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., chairman of the ethics committee, asked for a guilty verdict.

Stevenson asked the Senate to "denounce" Talmadge for his financial conduct. It was the first time the term has been used in disciplining a senator.

In seven previous misconduct cases the Senate used the words "censure" or "reprimand." Only in cases of treason has the Senate ever expelled a member.

Talmadge's punishment is lighter than censure, but Vice Chairman Harrison Schmitt, R-N.M., said the committee was "in full agreement that the misconduct is serious."

Talmadge's punishment is lighter than censure, but Vice Chairman Harrison Schmitt, R-N.M., said the committee was "in full agreement that the misconduct is serious."

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, voted to denounce Talmadge, while Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, opposed the action.

- The committee's resolution of denunciation held that Talmadge:
 - Received $43,435 in 1972-73 in false Senate expense payments.
 - Failed to sign, as required by law, and supervise the preparation of his Senate expense vouchers.
 - Filed "inaccurate" financial disclosure reports with the Senate in 1972-73.
 - Failed to file timely candidate receipt and expenditure reports for 1973 and filed inaccurate reports in 1974 and 1975.
 - Failed to report "in excess" of $10,000 in campaign funds and instead deposited the money in a secret Washington bank account.

ADVERTISMENT

Housewife sells 'glass plate' for $40; worth $1,700

NILES, Ill.—The story of a small fortune, lost because a housewife had no idea her glass-plate was a collector's item, recently came to light.

In a letter to J.R. MacArthur, chairman of The Bradford Exchange, world's largest trading center in collector's plates, a Madison Wis. woman wrote: "I had a Lalique 1965 plate which I sold to a friend for $40. I had not heard of you at that time."

The plate she sold is actually valued at more than $1,700. Although MacArthur points out that this price is exceptionally high, he said, "I'm afraid others may be losing hundreds or thousands of dollars by not knowing what their plates are worth."

To aid in identifying valuable plates, the Exchange issues a report that includes current prices on more than 900 plates, guidelines on what to look for and when to buy, and the plate evaluation checklist used by the Exchange.

To obtain a copy without cost or obligation, send your name, address, and zip code before Saturday of next week to: The Bradford Exchange, Dept. 30741, 9301 Milwaukee Avenue, Niles, Illinois 60648. A postcard will do.

Banned goods dumped abroad

NEW YORK (UPI) — Banned drugs and dangerous intra-uterine devices are among faulty products being dumped in third world countries by U.S. corporations, an investigative monthly magazine charged Thursday.

Mark Dowle, publisher of "Mother Jones," a consumer-oriented magazine based in San Francisco, said the magazine's report would be hand-delivered Friday to every Third World embassy in Washington and to every Third World delegation to the United Nations.

Copies also will go to the State Department, Dowle said. Findings in the 10-month investigation occupy most of the monthly's November issue.

Examples from the report:

- Several million children's pajamas treated with the carcinogenic fire retardant Tris were shipped overseas after the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission forced them off the market.
- Winstrol, a synthetic male hormone found to stunt growth of children, now is sold in Brazil, where it is promoted as an appetite stimulant for children.
- The U.S. Agency for International Development, "is pushing dangerous birth control devices throughout the world." This has included "encouraging and sponsoring the use in the Third World of the injectable contraceptive Depo-Provera." It was banned in the United States after it caused cancer in laboratory animals and birth defects in humans.
- Lomolith, an effective anti-diarrhea medicine sold only by prescription in the U.S. because of its fatal amounts just slightly over the recommended doses, was sold over the counter in Sudan. The package claimed the medicine was "used by astronauts during Gemini and Apollo space flights."

- After the Dalkon Shield intra-uterine device was linked to the deaths of at least 17 women in the U.S., the manufacturer withdrew it from the domestic market. It was sold overseas and is still in common use in some countries.
- 450,000 baby pacifiers of the type that has caused choking deaths have been exported by at least five manufacturers since a ban was proposed.

Dowle said an interagency governmental task force with representatives of 18 federal agencies had been asked by President Carter to report on dumping with its report due by September, 1978. So far, he said, no report had been issued.

Federal consumer and other watchdog agencies have removed more than 500 pesticides, drugs and consumer products from the American market for health, safety or environmental reasons.

"Mother Jones" magazine is best known for its 1977 expose leading to the recall of some two million Ford Pinto cars with defective gas tanks, according to Dowle who directed the investigation on dumping.

Synfuels program needs watching

President Carter's synthetic fuel program will consume Western coal and water to produce fuel mostly for Eastern states. The big question is not the cost of converting the coal to gas and oil but the potential cost in terms of the West's lifeblood, its water. The thinly populated Mountain States do not need the equivalent of 2.5 million barrels of oil a day which Carter wants to be produced by synfuel development by 1990. The coal-rich region can, however, use the economic boost the program promises — but this tempting offer poses dangers. Without safeguards, synfuel production could usurp vital water supplies, pre-empting the present uses on which Westerners depend. It is conceivable interstate warring could erupt over the co-opting of streamflows that cross boundaries. This is the potential threat to Idaho, although no synfuel plant will be located here. Idaho should therefore be on its guard as the synfuel program takes shape. A law to create an Energy Mobilization Board, the agency proposed by Carter to cut through red tape and develop energy projects quickly, is now before Congress. It would have the power to accelerate the granting of permits and environmental clearances for energy projects. The board's override powers might mean state and local laws could be brushed aside. Carter has now promised to a large degree this won't happen. Wednesday he told a group of Western governors in Albuquerque, N.M., he endorses an amendment to the Energy Mobilization Board legislation that would give a state veto power over future synthetic fuel plants. He also pledged his energy projects will not pre-empt state water laws, rights or responsibilities. Yet Carter does not control Congress, and the amendment prohibiting federal pre-emption of state water laws has not been attached to the energy board bill. The amendment is extremely necessary. One synfuel plant — and 20 may be required to meet Carter's goal — would use 30,000 acre feet a year. The total would come to 6 million acre feet, enough to fill American Falls Reservoir almost four times. An Energy Department analysis has concluded new storage, inter-basin transfers, changes in present use or use of ground water will be necessary to some extent to develop the synfuel program. A favored site in Wyoming would tap 300,000 acre feet or more from the Yellowstone River. Such huge diversions have the potential of threatening Western agriculture, hydroelectric power production, recreation and the environment — especially during low water years and dry seasons. Until these issues are addressed, the West cannot support a large-synfuels program.

The sound of authority

© The Boston Globe Newspaper Co. Washington Post Group
BOSTON — Religion is once again off the front page and morality of the evening news. The "people" who followed the pope's trip as if he were a candidate and the people who tracked him as if he were a celebrity will soon be after other stars. Those who care are left to sort out the dashed and renewed hopes. But for a week we witnessed the impressive behavior of a religious incumbent — an age-of-political-transients. For a few days we heard the sound of authority in an age of relativity. People who long for such certainty greeted the embodiment of it, wrapped in splendor and human warmth, with admiration. Or, in envy, John Paul II spoke of eternal truths when most of us are playing catch-up to change. He represented unity when we were so aware of disparities. Americans responded to the pope more than to his programs, and displayed a kind of nostalgia for a world that seems more stable. But in the end, nostalgia doesn't change the way people live. The part of John Paul's message at greatest odds with the daily life of the Catholic, Italy, was his unwavering opposition to birth control. On this issue, his words were as clear and conservative as they are likely to be ignored. As one woman put it: "The pope is in Rome and I am on the pill." But the words of the pope on birth control were, in a way, central to this nostalgic vision. He spoke of a world in which pleasure has a biological purpose and sex is part of nature. It is an intellect and a will and wholeness about this ideal which appeals strongly to people like us who have such mixed feelings right now about the ways in which we have controlled nature. I suspect that the real revolutionaries of the past hundred years have not been politicians, but technocrats and medical scientists. In this century medicine has learned to do something it rarely did before: save lives. Doctors are the ones who have "interfered with the natural order" in the deepest ways — by preventing so many deaths. Today, in the western world at least, far fewer women die in childbirth, as did the pope's own mother. Fewer children die of infectious diseases. Because of medicine, the world eventually will be faced with overpopulation or with birth control. It is a question of wanting to provide each child with a color television set. It is a question of protecting the existing life and exhaustible resources. We have already breached the natural order. The question is how we respond. In the same vein, the sanctity of human life, of which the pope spoke eloquently, is clear as long as we don't define life. Again, science has upset order. It has enabled us to save the most handicapped, and wounded, and to extend "life" in the form of breathing. We are forced every day to make very human decisions about what life is. Is pulling the plug

"euthanasia" or ensuring a "natural death"? We have, to a certain degree, displaced nature in our attempt to soften its rule. Today, biomedical sciences are the greatest challenge since astronomy. In the 17th century, it was heresy, a burnable offense, to say that the earth was not the center of the universe, but just a planet that circled around the sun. In Brecht's famous play about Galileo and old cardinal gnosis: "Mr. Galileo transfers mankind from the center of the universe to somewhere on the outskirts. Mr. Galileo is, therefore, an enemy of mankind and may be dealt with as such." Even his pope, Urban VIII, a man educated in science, allowed Galileo to be arrested by the Inquisition. As the head of the Church he had to defend harmony. If astronomy violated the order of heaven and earth, today biomedical sciences, like technology, change the human place in the balance of nature. At the very end of Brecht's play, the pope cries: "I do not want to hear the battle: 'Church,' 'Church,' 'Church,' 'Reason, Reason, Reason.' Eventually these battles cries died down: The earth moved around the sun and the Church accommodated. Unless we are willing to go back to a world in which people give birth to a child called an embryo, we have to accept birth control. Surly on this issue, too, the Church will accommodate.

The pressure mounts on Sen. Kennedy

© N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — The Federal Reserve Board's stern anti-inflation measures have pleased a lot of people, maybe even President Carter, but with their threat of more unemployment in an election year, they are putting new pressures on Sen. Edward M. Kennedy to get into the presidential race earlier than he had planned. The pressure was building up anyway, with Carter and his wife challenging Kennedy to the battle, but it is coming down on the Massachusetts senator now from two other sources: The first is from many of Kennedy's Democratic colleagues in the Senate who must stand for re-election next year and who fear that they may be defeated with Carter at the top of the ticket and the poor people at the bottom of what is politely called "a corrective economic recession." The second pressure on Kennedy is coming from his native New England, the Middle Atlantic States and the industrial states of the West, which have been losing people, jobs, federal government contracts and political influence to the Sun Belt states of the West, Southwest and the South, and are looking for someone who may be able to stop the bleeding. The Democrats in the Senate are probably more anxious about the 1980 elections than they need be. At the present time, they have a 54-41 majority in the Senate (with one independent), which ought to be fairly safe. But they have a special problem next year. Of the 34 members of the present Senate whose terms expire in 1981, 24 of them are Democrats and 10 are Republicans. Of these 24 Democrats now ending their terms of office, two of the most prominent — Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut and Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois — have decided not to seek re-election; two have endorsed Carter for a second term — Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri and Herman E. Talmadge of Georgia; and two others — Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina and Wendell H. Ford of Kentucky — are leaning toward Carter. But three other senators — George McGovern of South Dakota, Mike Gravel of Alaska and John A. Durkin of New Hampshire — have said publicly that they are looking for another Democratic candidate next year — and all the rest are waiting to see what happens. This is not precisely a demonstration of solid enthusiasm for President Carter. Even the Democratic assistant majority leader in the Senate, Alan Cranston of California, who might have been expected out of party mind to accept Carter, has announced his neutrality. Even when John Kennedy took over the White House at the start of the 1960s, he was concerned about the sickness of many of the traditional industries of his native New England. And while that part of the country has had a partial transition from manufacturing to services such as computers, high technology, and small-scale light manufacturing, it is still a scrappy economy losing edge to the pull of influence to other parts of the nation. So much so that in September 1976, his 213 congressional representatives from 18 Northeastern and Midwest states formed a coalition on Capitol Hill to study their common problem and to seek ways to deal with it. Their studies didn't reassure them. Among their conclusions were the following: • Almost 90 percent of the nation's population growth between 1970 and 1977 has been outside the Northeast-Midwest region between 1975 and 2000. • If current population trends continue, the Northeast and Midwest will lose 10 seats in the U.S. House of Representatives after the 1980 Census. • For every new non-agricultural job gained in the Northeast and Midwest between 1970 and 1977, the South and West gained three. • Northeastern and Midwestern states lost 16.2 to 7.6 percent of manufacturing jobs between 1970 and 1977. • Unemployment in the Northeast and Midwest was as high as 125 percent of the national average in 1977. Despite these figures, Kennedy clearly does not want to run for the presidency as a regional candidate, but the Irish are nothing if not loyal to their native turf, and Kennedy knows where he is strong and where he is weak. He is weak in the South, and like Franklin Roosevelt in 1932 and his brother John in 1960, he needs a coalition of big electoral states, including Texas, if possible. This may be one reason why there is so much talk here in Washington these days about the possibility of Kennedy seeking Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas as his vice presidential running mate as Roosevelt chose Jack Garner and John Kennedy chose Lyndon Johnson, both from Texas, not because they were ideological buddies but because they were different and the Democrats needed the electoral votes of Texas. How the Democrats are going to put all these conflicting ideas and personalities together nobody knows. For President Carter demonstrated in his latest news conference that he is going along with the Federal Reserve Board on the proposition that inflation is the major threat. In 1969, he and Kennedy has lately been making speeches along the same line. But the price of heating oil is going to be high in New England this winter and a lot of people are going to be out of work. Accordingly, Kennedy's friends in the Senate — and he has many more of them than either of his brothers ever had, for he has been there now for 17 years — are urging him to stop the Hamlet act and get going. And the Northeastern and Industrial Midwest states are worried about the future and many of their leaders are urging him to do so. These two pressures from home and the Senate obviously impress him, and he is probably not unmindful of the fact that if he ignores the appeals of his Democratic colleagues in the Congress and the anxieties of the people in the Northeast and the Industrial Midwest, in 1980, he may never get their support for any ambitions he might have in the election of 1984.

Cruel winter cutoffs

Last winter Idaho utilities cut off service to 4,000 Idaho households for failure to pay the bill. This winter, with higher rates, the number could be larger. If someone doesn't pay you, it is reasonable to discontinue your service, in most circumstances. Here, however, the issue is people's health and people's lives. A cutoff in winter may mean: 1. People get so cold that they get sick. If they land in a hospital, society may pay the cost of medical care. 2. People improvise with candles or other makeshift sources of heat. A fireman justified before the Public Utilities Commission that utility cutoffs often result in fires. 3. People die. Utilities need to collect their bills. But, as did a Vermont utility commission said in an opinion on this subject, "... If the customer is unable to pay the bill, then termination would serve no useful purpose except to punish the customer for being too poor to pay."

Under present policy, you can call or write the Idaho Public Utilities Commission (Statehouse, Boise ID 83720) to protest a pending termination. You can get a certificate from a doctor or a public health service. If you have such a certificate, the utility isn't supposed to cut you off. You may be sick in a few days, but you don't have a good reason to avoid termination unless you are already sick. Part of the problem is that energy prices have been rising at an explosive rate. Many working people and retired people don't have the income to keep up with their winter heating costs. There are many people who have worked diligently all their lives, who regularly pay their bills, but who simply don't have the income to cover today's living costs, and pay for heat in the winter. One solution suggested to the PUC would be for utilities to treat unpaid winter bills as an extension of credit. The customer would pay 1 to 1.5 percent interest per month on the unpaid balance, as you do with a credit card. There is a problem of customers who really could pay, but don't. The utilities could retain authority to terminate if they have clear evidence that this is the case. Aside from the fact that you are supposed to be sick to avoid termination, the present policy doesn't work because many people are unaware of it. Our society has laws against cruelty to animals. Cutting off the heat in winter to people who simply can't pay is, in the same league. It punishes people for the high cost of living and the high cost of heating. A termination policy alone is not enough. There are people whose income, or other income, would not allow them to catch up on their winter bills. President Carter has asked for $2.4 billion for an expanded program of grants to help people who can't pay. A key to providing the money is the proposed windfall profits tax. If higher energy prices are required to reduce U.S. dependence on imported oil, a cushion is needed to keep people from freezing. Too much seating at new O'Leary football field

Editor, Times-News: Recently I attended football games at the new O'Leary Junior High School, and then at Robert Stuart Junior High. I was very surprised to see an extremely large seating facility at O'Leary. I felt this was by far too much seating for the people that watch junior high football. Then when I went to a game at Stuart, I noticed there was no seating at all. This gave me a simple idea, that all that had to be done was move one section of seating from O'Leary to Stuart. With both schools in the same district, it would put to use the wasted bleachers at O'Leary, and allow the Stuart field to have seating. My question to the school board, is why not? If it's a matter of expense in moving the fixtures, I would be glad to get a flat bed truck and some kids to help — and we could do the job for nothing by the way, half of the bleachers aren't put together yet and are sitting in the water getting rusted. ED ANDERSEN Twin Falls

Foreign pen pals sought in Korea

Editor, Times-News: It is my great pleasure to have an opportunity of sending this letter in the hope that it will be published in your valuable newspaper. I am a teacher in Hankook High School in Seoul, Korea, and we have around 3,000 students. I teach English at this school. Through my teaching career, I have noticed that many students of our country are crazy about having their own pen friends in foreign countries. They would like to have friendship with the foreign school boys and girls through communication. I think the exchange of letters between the young in different countries would also help them learn much better each other's country. It would also help the students in improving their writing ability. Furthermore, I surely believe that this correspondence will stimulate an interest in international understanding, as well as the true foundation for world peace. If any schoolboy or schoolgirl in your country wants to be a pen friend with a Korean schoolboy or schoolgirl, please inform us of his or her name, address, age, sex and hobby. We will, in turn, pass this information to our students and they will write the letters to their linking. We are sure that it will bring the students involved a great pleasure and a wonderful experience. MISS NAHM GA-JA Saseoham 60, Central Seoul, Korea

NOTICE OF INTENDED ADOPTION
NOTICE OF HEARING
 2-1403 (a) (1) Idaho Code notice is hereby given that the Idaho Board of Health and Welfare, on behalf of the Department of Health and Welfare, Division of Health, has initiated rule-making procedures regarding the adoption of rules. The Department of Health and Welfare is directed by statute to administer the public health and social service programs and to determine eligibility of recipients and the amount, duration, and scope of said benefits pursuant to regulations adopted by the said Department pursuant to law. The adoption of rules and regulations governing public assistance and social service programs has been performed by the Director of the Department of Health and Welfare to meet the financial, medical and social needs of a large segment of the population of the State of Idaho who without said benefits would suffer grave and irreparable injury. The U.S. District Court for the District of Idaho has ruled that the authority to adopt said rules resides in the Board of Health and Welfare and not the Director, and that the Board realizes that in the absence of the rules and regulations adopted by the Director, a large segment of our population who are in need of services of the Department are in jeopardy. The State of Idaho cannot be so served. The action proposed under Docket Number 0214-7900B involves the adoption of rules previously adopted by the Director and promulgated on behalf of the Department. The subject rules are currently in effect as emergency rules of the Board as announced under Docket Number 0214-7900B-C, and govern Medical Social Review and Chapter 14, Mental Health and Welfare, Title and Regulations of the Department of Health and Welfare.

The following is a descriptive summary of the intended action:
 2-1403 GENERAL PROVISIONS. Proposed for adoption without amendment. Citing legal authority, providing statement of title, scope and purpose; providing for definition of terms used in relationship to the Medical Social Review program.

2-1404 TITLE XIX SKILLED AND INTERMEDIATE CARE LEVELS. Provides criteria to be used by the Agency to determine skilled and intermediate care as well as nursing and skilled nursing and skilled care. Proposed for adoption without amendment.
2-1405 CONFIDENTIALITY OF RECORDS. Provides requirements regarding disclosure of Department records. Proposed for adoption without amendment.
2-1406 PERIODIC MEDICAL SOCIAL REVIEW TEAM MEMBERS. Provides responsibility for the physician, nursing care reviewer and psychologist on the team. Proposed for adoption without amendment.
2-1407 TITLE XIX CERTIFICATION PROCESS. Provides a description of process for establishing patient and caregiver in the Medicaid program, includes responsibilities of the eligibility examiner as well as the nursing care reviewer. Necessary Department forms are noted. Proposed for adoption without amendment.
2-1408 ON-SITE MEDICAL SOCIAL REVIEW. Provides a description of the pre-visit and requirements for facility notification, the on-site conference, exit conference, and follow-up visits. Proposed for adoption without amendment.
2-1409 ALTERNATIVES TO INSTITUTIONALIZED LONG TERM CARE. Provides a statement of the Medical Social Review team responsibility for alternatives to institutionalized care. Requires facilities to designate discharge alternatives. Proposed for adoption without amendment.
2-1410 SITE REPORTING SYSTEM. Provides a statement of the contents of the Medical Social Review report that is sent to facilities. Describes physician's letter to patient's attending physician and requires response to patient care deficiencies noted by the team. Proposed for adoption without amendment.
2-1411 REPORT TIME SCHEDULES. Provides for time frames relating to the MSR report as well as for facility responses. Describes submission of records. Proposed for adoption without amendment.

2-1412 MEDICAL SOCIAL REVIEW VERIFICATION. Provides for use of stamp to be placed in patient's chart, documenting review. Proposed for adoption without amendment.
2-1413 TYPE/LEVEL OF CARE CHANGE. Specifies conditions under which a level of care is to be changed. Provides procedures to be followed in the event of a level change, and the forms used. Proposed for adoption without amendment.
2-1414 CARE INDICATORS - ELEMENTS OF CARE. Provides criteria used by the team to verify adequacy of patient records information and adequacy of patient care. General areas covered include physician services, nursing services, social services, rehabilitation, pharmacy, patient nutrition, and recreational services. Sections are devoted to specialties areas such as the care of the mentally retarded or mentally handicapped. Proposed for adoption without amendment.
2-1498B-2-1498D OTHER PROVISIONS. Provides information concerning use of masculine and feminine gender; provides for adoption of provisions for handicapped persons. The public hearing concerning the proposed action will be held on Thursday, the 25th day of October, 1979, at 9:00 a.m. in the East Conference Room, First Floor, State Office Building, 700 West State Street, in the city of Boise, Idaho. Reasonable accommodations will be made at the hearing for handicapped persons who wish to attend. If you require special accommodations at the public hearing, please contact the undersigned in Boise at 209-3445 no later than October 22, 1979. Prior to the public hearing, any person can review the text of the proposed rules in the Office of the Custodian of the Records or in any of the Regional Administrative Offices of the Department or the Offices of the Attorney General, Health and Welfare, Division, located in Coeur d'Alene, Lewiston, Caldwell, Boise, Twin Falls, Pocatello, and Idaho Falls. Copies of the proposed

National PTA tackles schools' problems

By Patricia McCormack
UPI Education Editor

The National PTA, public education's activist helpline, intends to take all the bulls by all the horns during the new school year.

That's the impression given by Virginia Sparling, the PTA's new president from Bellevue, Wash.

Mrs. Sparling, wife of a doctor and mother of two college sons, describes the PTA as "a human network" united by a mutual commitment to children.

"At the start of her two-year term, Mrs. Sparling talked about the PTA being needed 'now as never before.'"

"There is an urgency in the need to find solutions to compelling problems," she said.

She described the No. 1 priority as "moving forward to preserve, maintain and strengthen the public education system."

"Our system of public education is unique," she said. "It provides more people to a higher degree than any other nation in the world."

"Our democracy demands an educated citizenry. The National PTA believes that public schools serving all children are the best providers of a quality education for every child."

The PTA depends on 8.1 million dues-paying members in the human network Mrs. Sparling talked about. In the year ahead that network will continue to focus on problems straight from "Pandora's box," including:

- School discipline: "The Gallup Poll has reported that discipline is the No. 1 problem of our schools as perceived by the public. We will initiate a national dialogue on the issue of discipline, both the public perception of discipline as a problem, and the constructive and destructive approaches to discipline that can be taken by the schools."

- The campaign for quality television programming: "Our successes have been heartwarming, but we cannot rest on our laurels when there are still challenges to be met. We can meet those challenges ...

and we already are, with the ongoing development of a television-viewing skills curriculum for the public schools. Designed to cover 10 subject areas, this effort could create a generation of children who would be selective television viewers." (Mrs. Sparling, when a PTA first vice president, was chairman of the National PTA's TV Project aimed at reducing violence.)

- Problems of poor nutrition, alcohol use and abuse, human sexuality: "The PTA in 1979-80 will run regional conferences focused on these issues. Students will help."

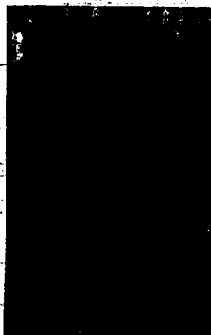

"They should be involved in decision-making that directly affects their lives and welfare," said Mrs. Sparling, once a medical technologist. Some funding of this program will come from HEW's Bureau of Health Education and the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta.

- Improving nutritional quality of school food: "Our organization has joined forces with the U.S. Department of Agriculture and launched a major campaign to improve and expand child nutrition programs in public schools. Twenty state PTAs and PTAs in September will be selected for planning grant awards." (The S in PTSA, by the way, for students — not all PTAs include them as a matter of course but more are.)

- Problems of urban education: Through six nationwide hearings held during the last academic year, the PTA's Urban Education Project identified these tough problems in urban education: Inadequate financing, lack of parental or broad-based community participation in schools, low academic achievement and poor student performance, inability of schools to meet diverse needs of students, general unemployment and youth unemployment.

Mrs. Sparling said the problems of urban education are, in essence, not much different from the problems of suburban education — also suffering from a shortage of dollars in this era of double-digit inflation and out-of-sight fuel prices.

Dear Abby

© The Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 31-year-old divorcee with a 10-year-old son. I desperately want another child. I have noticed that in the last few years more single women are having and keeping their babies. I know I could manage another child myself. I have been the sole support of my son, who is a happy, well-adjusted child despite having no father in his life. I have saved enough money, so another child will not be a financial burden.

The problem is my family. I'm sure they wouldn't approve of the idea, and I hate to hurt them. But I am not getting any younger, and if I don't have another child within the next couple of years it will be too late.

Also, I do not have a special man in mind to father my child, but there are several who would do me the favor. I don't want to marry again, and I have made that plain.

I'm sure my family will think I got "caught" because the idea of having a baby outside of marriage would be totally unacceptable to them. I hate to embarrass them.

I just know that I desperately want another child. Please advise me.

LONGING FOR MOTHERHOOD

DEAR LONGING: A woman sufficiently mature to handle single parenthood as you insist you are, would not (a) seek my advice or (b) need her parents' approval. If I were you, I would scrap the idea.

DEAR ABBY: This letter may be of interest to those who are constantly complaining about rising food costs.

I am a clerk in a chain grocery. Yesterday I spent three hours picking up items off shelves where they didn't belong, because somebody decided they didn't want them after all and just put them down any old place.

Now just who do you think is paying me for three hours labor to do this? — You — the consumer, that's what.

All right, forget the wages. Let's talk about the TV dinner someone left in the cereal aisle. When found, it was partially thawed out and not fit for resale. Or the carton of milk that was left standing out of the cooler for half a day. Or the cellophane-wrapped pork chops someone had put on top of the spices. These items are spoiled and must be thrown out.

But who pays for them? YOU DO! I would guess that about one out of every 10 shoppers has been guilty of the above, at least occasionally.

So, the next time you go marketing, please put those unwanted items back where they belong, and help keep prices down. And it might not be a bad idea for grocery store managers to post this on the cash register. It may help.

Scanner research wins Nobel prizes

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — An American and a Briton Thursday won the 1979 Nobel Prize for Medicine for developing a revolutionary X-ray scanner whose pinpoint accuracy has made some once-incurable diseases curable.

Allan MacLeod Cormack, 55, of Winchester, Mass., and Godfrey Newbold Hounsfield, 60, of Middlesex, England shared the $193,000 award for work in the field of tomography, an X-ray method by which a "slice" of the human body is photographed.

"This is the biggest breakthrough since the invention of the X-ray," said U.S. Ruler of the Nobel Committee of the Karolinska Institute.

Especially remarkable, the Nobel Committee said, was that the two men conducted their research independently of one another.

The Prize for Physiology or Medicine was the first of the Nobel awards this year. The winners of the other five will be announced in the coming weeks.

Cormack was cited for pioneering research into the theory of tomography and Hounsfield for building the first device to put the theory into practice — the computerized axial tomography machine, also known as the CAT scanner.

Both men received the first news of their award when they were called by reporters for their reaction.

Cormack awoke to a ringing telephone in his suburban Boston home and it took him a minute to comprehend the news.

"I'm astonished," he managed to say. "I had no idea. I'm astonished." As the morning wore on, the telephone kept ringing. Cormack said he was mostly looking forward to breakfast with his wife and three children. "If I ever get it all,"

Cormack heads the physics department at Tufts University in Medford, Mass. He was born in Johannesburg, South Africa, but moved to the United States in 1956 and became a U.S. citizen 10 years later.

Hounsfield, a bachelor who has won 25 scientific awards besides the Nobel, is chief of the Medical Division of Electric and Musical Industries (EMI) in Middlessex, England. "That's fantastic," he exclaimed when he was told the news. "You've knocked me sideways. I didn't expect anything like that."

His background is in radar systems and he headed the design team for the first large, solid-state computer to be built in Britain.

Cormack was cited by the Nobel committee as the first person to make an accurate analysis of the conditions for precise X-ray pictures of "entire biological systems."

Horoscope

PEANUTS

Scorpios should lay plans for future, act on them; arrange for next week

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The early part of the week finds conditions dragging, but be patient, and you can accomplish a great deal before the day is through. Be on your best behavior at all times.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Try to have more harmony at home and then you can have more success in business matters without anxiety. Increase happiness.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Mistakes in reports could occur early in the day but then all straightens itself out later. Steer clear of a troublemaker.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Consult a financial expert first and then you can invest wisely later. Keep an eye on your wallet or purse or both.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Avoid temper in morning, whether yours or that of others, then the afternoon runs smoothly. Think conservatively.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get rid of worrisome affairs early in the day and then make long-range plans to be more prosperous in the future.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Analyze why you are failing in gaining personal wishes and rectify errors. Look for quiet pleasure with mate in the evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't miss any higher-ups early in the day and then you get support from them later. Obey all rules that apply to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Figure out the best way to get ahead in the future and then be sure to act upon your plans. Plan the weekend activities wisely.

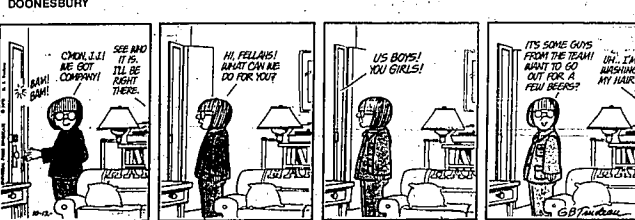

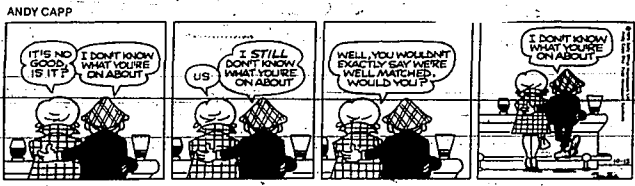

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Study your duties well and know how best to handle them; Don't overlook an important business matter early in the day.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Very good morning to be cooperative with associates and then later you gain their support. Take no risks with your reputation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have to be more precise in handling your duties and then you gain fine benefits from them. Express happiness.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have something in mind that could lead to trouble, so avoid it. Come to the aid of a loyal friend who needs help now.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be most successful in life because of the ability to investigate a problem and following through to a happy conclusion. Use gentle form of rearing and prevent your child from becoming hypersensitive.

What's what

Degree in ceramics field easy but paid off later

An Air Force captain in Utah some years ago was told by his commanding officer he needed a college degree, if he wanted to get promoted. It was a big thing with the brass at the time. The captain went to the nearest university and asked a registrar's counselor to name the easiest possible course to get a degree. The counselor mumbled it, then said ceramics. The captain enrolled. Eventually, the degree was forthcoming. And the captain thought no more about it. A couple of years later, he received orders to go to the Space Center near Houston. A computer had kicked out his name as particularly qualified to manage rocket materials. His promotions came fast. He was almost one of a kind in a significant field he'd thought was a lot of nonsense.

KUNGFU

Q. What does the Chinese term "kung fu" mean?
A. "Striving for perfection." It's not just combat techniques, please note. Kung fu can be practiced in anything. Medicine. Art. Music. Whatever.

Q. What do the English mean when they refer to a car's "wipers"?
A. Fenders.

Q. Did Thomas A. Edison smoke?
A. Cigarettes, yes. About 20 a day. And he chewed tobacco; 100. BUT HE SMOKED CIGARETTES FOR SOME MYSTIC REASON.

Q. How big is the biggest postage stamp?
A. Approximately 3-by-2-inch. China issued such in 1939.

SEE-THROUGH FISH

In the Soviet Union, Lake Baikal is a species of fish so transparent that a newspaper can be read through its body. Or so the correspondents report. Could this be a jellyfish? If so, it's not news. Incidentally, jellyfish evaporate.

ALPHABET

Another sentence popular among beginning typists because it contains all the letters of the alphabet is: "A quick movement of the enemy would jeopardize six gunboats."

A client describes her son in college as a four-letter man: "I hear from him in the fall, the winter, spring and summer."

October Closing prices

selling slackens

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Dow Jones industrial average fell for the fourth consecutive session Thursday but the rest of the market was mixed as the October selling blitz cooled off a bit.

Trading was active but trailed Wednesday's record-setting pace as bargain hunters and seller slugged it out following three of the broadest setbacks in the New York Stock Exchange's 188-year history.

The Dow average seasawed throughout the day before losing 4.70 points to 844.62. That brought its four-day total loss to $2.99 points, including an 8.27-point slide Wednesday.

The closely watched average started off with a 2-point gain at the outset, was off more than 12 points at midday, was nearly even in the early afternoon and finished with the comparatively modest loss.

Volume totaled 47,530,000 shares, down sharply from the 81,620,000 shares traded Wednesday in a session that shattered the previous one-day trading record of 66.3 million shares set Aug. 3, 1978.

The New York Stock Exchange index slipped .02 to 59.51 and the price of a share eased a penny. Advances edged declines, 371 to 718 among the 1,803 issues traded at 4 p.m. EDT.

Brokers attributed the market's moments of strength to bargain hunting and to traders replacing borrowed shares they had sold earlier at a profit. Many top-rated stocks were selling at cheap prices following the market's rout the previous three days.

Henry Wallich, a Federal Reserve governor, encouraged some investors when he said he did not think the board's decision to tighten credit and concentrate on controlling the nation's money supply growth would create a credit crunch.

Credit crunch fear has been one of the main reasons the market went into a tailspin this week. A large number of investors indicated they thought the Fed's restrictive policies would force the nation and the world into a steep recession.

President Carter, who has endorsed the Fed's tightening policies, said he thought interest rates had gotten too high. Banks Tuesday raised their prime rate to a record 14 1/2 percent and other short-term rates climbed, making them more attractive investments than stocks.

Carter also told construction workers in San Diego he would "not fight inflation with your jobs." Traders were disappointed that IBM, one of the Big Board's premier stocks, reported lower third-quarter earnings.

Composite volume of NYSE issues traded on all U.S. exchanges and over the counter at 4 p.m. totaled 50,805,820 shares, down from the 87,381,400 traded Wednesday.

The American Stock Exchange index rose 0.59 to 213.24 and the price of a share added 4 cents. The National Association of Securities Dealers' NASDAQ OTC index gained 0.78 to 140.09.

Dollar mixed as gold skids

Friday, October 12, 1979 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho A-11

By United Press International
The dollar edged down in Europe but was strong in New York Thursday as rumors of credit-control measures by the Federal Reserve fueled late buying.
Gold fell sharply after the IMF announcement and opened lower than expected and the reports of new Fed action.
Gold dropped in the Far East overnight and opened lower in Zurich. It traded in a narrow range to end the day at $398.50 an ounce, down from $408.50 Wednesday.
In London gold opened at $406.50, down $5.50 from Wednesday's close, and at the close of trading was selling at $397 an ounce. In New York gold plummeted to $389.50 an ounce.

In Frankfurt the dollar closed at .78 marks, down from 1.7848 Wednesday, but it rose to 1.7063 in New York; in Zurich at 1.6125 Swiss francs compared with 1.6125, then back to 1.62 in New York.
Other European closing prices with New York in parentheses: Paris, 4.18 French francs against 4.18775 (4.1950); Brussels, 23.75 Belgian francs against 29.25 (28.80); Amsterdam, 1.976 compared with 1.9775 (1.9785); Milan, 824.70 lire; from 825.45 (824).
In London the pound fell to $2.1045 from $2.17 and it closed at $2.1680 in New York.

"Early selling was a result of disappointment over the IMF sale," according to a New York dealer. "Though the price was good, the deal bid was much lower than expected and indicated that big Middle Eastern interests were not buyers."
The International Monetary Fund gold auction Wednesday brought an average price of $412.78 an ounce. "There were 665,000 ounces bid for the 444,000 ounces offered for sale. Dealers had expected the bid to amount to around one million ounces."
Speculation that the Fed may be ready to fire another round of ammunition contributed to gold's sharp drop in New York and also fueled the substantial rise in the dollar.

"There is an assumption that the Fed plans either credit-controls on consumer lending or controls on borrowing in the Eurodollar market," said a New York dealer.
The reports apparently spread after a speech by Henry C. Wallach, a Federal Reserve Board governor in which he speculated on ways the Fed could limit expansion of the Eurocurrency markets.
"Wallach's remarks looked to me like an intellectual exercise, but it's a rumor-filled market," said a New York bank dealer, "and these rumors fueled some buying to cover short positions in the dollar."

Weather leaves Maine potato futures lower

(Courtesy Sinclair & Co.)
CHICAGO Threats of cold weather and snow in northern Maine boosted potato futures 10 to 24 cents Thursday.
Commodity News Service said 756 contracts traded with November finishing 10 cents higher at 6.55 per hundredweight; March up 11 cents at 6.53; April up 23 cents at 10.73 and May gained 24 cents at 11.74.
International Monetary Market gold settled $8.00 to 10.50 per ounce weaker, and at or near the day's lows for all months except March 1980 following a price break attributed to official statements about interest rates and inflation.
Chicago Board of Trade silver gained 40 to 70 cents in thin volume and analysts said much of the present volume consists of traders spreading to get out of the market.
Live cattle sold 130 to 60 points, closing at or near the day's lows on a trade of 31,255 contracts. Much of the trading happened late in the day.
Live hogs spent a quiet day meandering near the session's lows in generally featureless trading, although late short covering shaved some losses. Settlements were off 20 to 60 points with deferreds showing more late strength.

When ended a session of moderate, mixed activity with gains of 1 to 2 1/2 cents remaining after prices were shaved late in the day. Corn finished down 3/4 to 2 1/2 cents with spreads fractionally narrower. Long liquidation left soybeans at position weaker by the close. Beans ended 7 to 3 cents off, all wheat mixed, from 13 points lower to 25 off, and meal lost 50 cents to 100.
New York Sugar 11 slipped lower under commission-house selling and liquidation, ending 15 to 32 points lower on a trade of 21,150 lots.

No Nitrosamines in Coors Beer.

Recently developed laboratory techniques have found nitrosamines—suspected cancer-causing agents—in some beers in minute amounts.

There are no detectable nitrosamines in Coors or Coors Light as determined by the United States Food and Drug Administration, using the most sophisticated analytic techniques.

Here's why: Some years ago, as part of a continuing effort to make the best beer possible, we instituted an unconventional malting process. This special process not only creates a better beer, it avoids the possibility of nitrosamines.

Coors has a tradition of bringing innovative methods to the brewing of beer. Always attempting to brew a better, finer, purer beer. Once more, Coors' dedication to brewing excellence has paid off.

Burley officer demoted, put on probation

By CAROL HOSLER
Times-News writer

BURLEY — Burley Police Sgt. Kirby Harkness was demoted three ranks to sergeant Wednesday by Police Chief Larry Broadbent and placed on three-month probation.

Harkness, whose title is major but who performs the duties of assistant chief, released Broadbent's letter of demotion Thursday.

The letter said, "I have found that during the last six months you have not effectively or efficiently managed the patrol division nor carried out complete instructions, guidelines, or orders of the chief of police. You have been lax in seeing that programs are continued through proper supervision and communications with your subordinates."

Harkness said Thursday he would submit a formal letter of appeal to the city early next week.

A similar appeal was filed Thursday by former Sgt. Gary Smith, who was fired by Broadbent on Oct. 4.

Broadbent explained any aggrieved member of the department may appeal disciplinary or punitive action to the City Council. The council chooses not to let its own members in on the three-member board, one community representative of the legal-justice profession, and one community person at large. The board will conduct a hearing to decide whether the chief's decisions should be upheld or nullified.

On Sept. 23, Broadbent resigned his position as chief of police. At that time he said, "I do not feel I can effectively manage the police department under the restrictions imposed on me for its operation."

When he rescinded the resignation three days later, he said, "We (himself and the City Council and mayor) have made the clarification of the policies and procedures that I was uncertain of between the administration and police department."

Broadbent indicated at the time he resumed office that he would make some changes but did not indicate what they would be.

However, Harkness said Thursday, at that time Broadbent said he had something planned for the assistant chief but didn't care to discuss it.

Broadbent refused Thursday to discuss the reasons for the Harkness demotion or the Smith firing, or whether difficulties between himself and the two men had anything to do with his resignation.

Smith said he was fired because of a dispute over administration of the federally-funded traffic safety program, of which he was task director. Apparently there was disagreement in the department over the use of a clerk who was to be fully paid from the program grant only if her work was related to the traffic safety study.

Lt. Jim Higgins, who was involved in the agreement, had no comment.

"It's up to the appeal board what's right and wrong. I cannot comment until the appeals are completed."

Harkness said he has not decided whether he will remain with the department if his rank is not reinstated. Smith said he doesn't want to rejoin the force, but does want the termination removed from his record.

Anti-nuke alliance organizes

BOISE — Saying it's better to be politically active today than radioactive tomorrow, two dozen Idahoans have formed a group to "build a nuclear-free Idaho."

Included in the anti-nuclear campaign of the "Snake River Alliance" will be lobbying for legislation to ban nuclear waste shipments through Idaho, teach-ins on the effects of nuclear power, and possibly a trip to Idaho by California actress Jane Fonda.

"We have a lot of things planned," said Dorian Duffin, of Boise, one of the organizers of the new organization. "We're sending out literature and planning a teach-in for later this month."

Duffin, a Boise State University geology student, said the group was formed by Idahoans concerned about their state becoming a dumping ground for nuclear wastes, and with the effects of nuclear power in general.

The trip by anti-nuclear activist Fonda is still unconfirmed, Duffin said, and would be sponsored primarily by BSU.

Operating out of Boise, the Alliance is spending much of its time working toward two goals: ending shipments of nuclear wastes through Idaho and storage of nuclear wastes at the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory near Arco.

"We're a group of people concerned about nuclear power," said Bill Chisholm, of Burley, another Alliance member. "One of the main things we're interested in is that nuclear waste is constantly being transported on public roads through Idaho. No one is prepared to handle any accidents, we don't know when it's shipped, people aren't trained to deal with nuclear accidents, and there's a question as to who is responsible if there is an accident."

In an effort to call attention to what they say is "dangerous laxity in nuclear waste shipments, Alliance members met Monday to stage a mock nuclear accident in Boise. For that event, which was a re-enactment of an accident which actually occurred months earlier, Alliance members spilled a simulated dry ice mixture on public street.

According to Alliance members, accidents have already occurred at INEL and other nuclear facilities. Led by the group by the young organization quote Transportation Department statistics listing 228 air, rail and truck accidents involving nuclear materials as having occurred between 1972 and 1978. Of those accidents 118 involved a release of radioactive materials.

Alliance members also claim nuclear waste storage at Arco creates a health hazard. They say that there are 5.7 million cubic feet of buried nuclear waste at the INEL site, Duffin said, 40 percent of which is high-level waste.

INEL is also home to a million cubic feet of above-ground nuclear waste and 5.6 million gallons of high-level liquid waste.

The INEL site also receives 24 percent of the nation's military nuclear wastes, Duffin added.

Canyon bridge 'jumper' reports keep sheriff's officers on edge

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES

TWIN FALLS — Residents of Twin Falls and Jerome counties are jumping on each other's backs, days about high bridge suicides.

Sheriff James Munn said since the three suicides from the high bridges on Snake River Canyon this spring and summer, his officers received a number of calls from people saying they have seen someone jump or someone about to jump.

Wednesday night the sheriff's office received a call stating someone was going to drive off the Hansen bridge into the canyon below. Munn said the call turned out to be a hoax. Anyone making such a call is subject to arrest and misdemeanor charges, Munn added.

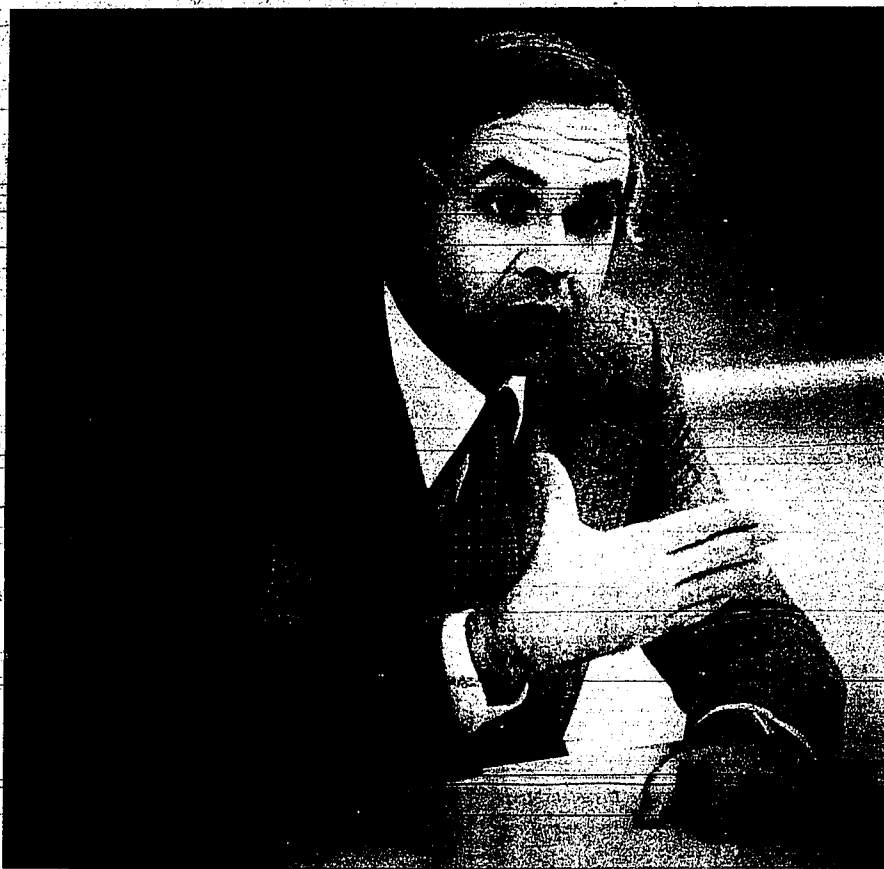

Thursday morning a motorist saw someone on the bridge and believed the man was on the edge of the railing, about to leap into the canyon.

For a second time in less than 24 hours, police and sheriff's deputies sped to the scene hoping to arrive in time to prevent another possible death.

Munn said on arrival officers saw the subject sitting on the railing, not of the bridge, but of the visitor viewing area with head-in-hands. Not wanting to frighten him if he had plans of jumping, officers watched while the man walked onto the bridge, viewed the river and canyon and then walked casually to the end of the bridge. At that point the officers approached and asked the man what he was doing.

"He was just a visitor from Pennsylvania staying with friends. He told us his friends gave him a ride to the bridge to look at the view and he stayed behind saying he would walk back to town for the exercise. He said he had no intention of jumping or even getting too close to the edge," Munn said.

Talk positive Speech course avoids using negative words

By BEN MCKELWAY

TWIN FALLS — John Taylor Dennis calls himself a human communications engineer.

He teaches self-confidence and responsibility through speech patterns.

"The idea is to tie your language into your reality," said Dennis. "Then when you run up against a barrier, it will be one you know is a real one."

Dennis, from Atlanta, Ga., was in town Thursday to check on his program is being taught at the College of Southern Idaho and to "make a videotape which the college can use to promote his "Responsibility Language" course.

In a nutshell, the theory behind the course is that everyday words can affect a person's sense of self-worth as well as the image he or she projects to others.

"Failure language" is what Dennis calls phrases like "I can't," "I'll try," "I should," and "I'm supposed to."

Such phrases are judgmental, hesitant, artificially limiting, and used to avoid taking responsibility for one's actions, says Dennis. Using them can lead to a negative self-image.

"Responsibility language," on the other hand, is straightforward talk which eliminates the "failure words."

CSI study skills teacher Karyl Myers told her class Thursday it is far better to say "I don't know if I'll be there," or "I'm undecided," than "I'll try to make it."

"I hope to make it," is better still, she said.

The class was skeptical, and a brief debate followed.

"Anybody who hasn't been through this class won't know the difference anyway," said student Lonnie Korb.

Nevertheless, studies have shown graduates of the course find jobs, hold onto their jobs longer, and receive more raises, Dennis said. The class ends up with specific advice on how to get a job.

The Idaho Department of Employment is not skeptical about the worth of the course. DOE has contracted with Dennis's Responsibility Language Systems, Inc., whose staff then trained teachers for the program. CSI began a 10-week Responsibility Language class for unemployed vocational students in the federal CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) program.

Idaho is the first state to teach the program in all its vocational schools, according to LaVerne Gueches, DOE training coordinator. Dennis said the DOE is spending a total of $80,000 on the one-year pilot program, which includes teacher salaries and tuition stipends for CETA students.

"I sound more competent and more intelligent now than I did before," said Gueches, who spearheaded the course in Idaho by sending a magazine article to another DOE official. She took the course with the trainers.

Hold put on ranch expansion

By SUSAN MCBRYANT

HAILEY — The Blaine County Planning and Zoning Commission has placed a moratorium on further development of the Board Ranch on Warm Springs Creek until the owners spot information presented to the commission in the past has indicated.

Members of the commission as well as lease holders indicated that some lots may be even smaller than the spot information presented to the commission in the past has indicated.

The commission voted to take a firm stand against continued variances by imposing the moratorium, which will remain in effect until a certified plat allowing for future, one-acre divisions and realignment of existing divisions is submitted.

The commission also discussed the proposed Deer Creek Ranch development.

Discussion centered around the mechanics of dealing with a large multi-phase development. Proposed by John Wedum of Smokey Mountain Associates, this project represents the largest development ever planned in Blaine County.

The original proposal was to consider Deer Creek, Crox Creek and Green-Horn Gulch as one development.

In order to meet county requirements, Wedum presented the Deer Creek phase as the only development for immediate consideration, but he also requested adoption of the entire plan concept.

The commission's response was to establish a subcommittee to review ordinances from other cities and counties in the state that deal with multi-phase development. The findings of that committee will be discussed prior to further hearings on the development.

The commission agreed only to comment on the Ketchum City Council that the city zoning ordinance be changed to allow expansions such as that planned by the Alpenrose as a conditional use in the zone in which the Alpenrose is located.

Action clarified

KETCHUM — The Times-News has taken a report Wednesday that the Ketchum Zoning Commission Monday had assured the Alpenrose Hotel it can proceed with plans to expand its recreational facilities.

Actually, the commission did not give its approval to any such expansion.

The commission agreed only to comment on the Ketchum City Council that the city zoning ordinance be changed to allow expansions such as that planned by the Alpenrose as a conditional use in the zone in which the Alpenrose is located.

Suit filed to collect bill

TWIN FALLS — Empire Brokerage Inc. of Twin Falls has filed action against Commodity Marketing Corp. of Salinas, Calif., to collect $15,484 allegedly due for payment of beans shipped to the California concern.

Commodity Marketing Corp., the parent company of Beans Inc., allegedly purchased two carloads of pinto beans from Empire Brokerage in March 1979.

The shipments were made, the complaint states, on March 15 and 19 and included 900 sacks of pinto beans valued at $19.60 per hundredweight sack. The shipments were made to Calexico and Riverside, Calif.

The plaintiff alleges there is still $15,484 plus $614 interest due on the shipment. The plaintiff is asking payment in that amount and costs of the court case.

Man found guilty of perjury

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls man was found guilty of perjury and another was placed on probation on a check charge in 5th Judicial Circuit Court this week.

A 12-member jury ruled Gerald C. Carey guilty of perjury. He was charged with giving false testimony during a magistrate court case in that he said he had written the words "paid in full" on the back of a check made out to the Sign Co. when in fact he had not.

Judge James M. Cunningham heard the case. The judge also withheld judgment for Ron Wiese, 23, of Twin Falls, charged with two counts of issuing insufficient funds checks. Judge Cunningham placed Wiese on 12 months probation and required that he remain gainfully employed.

Energy topic of meeting

BURLEY — The Burley-Rupert Knife and Fork Club will discuss energy at its dinner meeting Oct. 13 at 7 p.m. at Price's Dining Room.

Alan Pope, a scientist of note and author of 10 scientific books, will be the guest speaker. He has been actively engaged in scientific work since his graduation from Georgia Tech. He will address the subject "The Outlook for Energy."

Members may invite a guest.

Buhl limits bean operations

BUHL — City Council members here feel Buhl residents do not want a bean cleaning and sorting operation on the old Solomon building supply property just south of town.

After discussing the request of AAA Beans of Filer to convert the property to a facility for sorting and storing of beans, the council has agreed it would accept storage, but not cleaning or sorting.

Councilman Cecil Childs said the "electric eye" sorting method amounts to the same as a cleaning process and if the request were approved there would be a bean cleaning and storage business just south of Buhl.

The property is located outside of the city, but because of the close proximity, the county zoning board has asked Buhl city officials for a recommendation.

Another recommendation from the city of Buhl to the county zoning officials is to deny a request from Ivan Miller to locate a mobile home on his property east of the Fallsburg Dairy. The permit would require a zone change from residential low density, to residential agriculture.

City council members said there are other mobile homes on property in that vicinity, but they felt a zone change would create problems in the future.

Plans to remodel the old California Apartments in Buhl into business offices have come up again. Ken Ellis, president of Valley Trout Co., and owner of the building, withdrew his request for remodeling and a zone change to permit the new use. He verbally withdrew his request following a public hearing last month when adjoining property owners protested.

Mayor Dale Christensen said he believed people who protested did not realize Ellis planned to improve and beautify the property in converting it to office space and the improvement would better the neighborhood. City Council members are anxious to have the old apartment building renovated.

Ellis has now advised the county he wants to reinstate the zone change request and another hearing has been set for Oct. 29 at 7 p.m. Councilman Childs suggested a variance rather than zone change, saying this would protect the other property owners in the area should Ellis sell the property at some future time and the new owner wish to carry out more elaborate commercial or business plans.

Paving of Buhl alleys unresolved

BUHL — The Buhl City Council is still debating whether to require businesses, and even the city government itself, to pave alleys for their customers.

Mayor Dale Christensen said a revised ordinance requiring the paving of alleys leading to and from businesses has been prepared because problems have occurred in several areas.

The Buhl Post Office, he said, had an exit from its parking lot into a gravel alley. The Post Office was required to pave the alley after protests from adjoining property owners about traffic, dust and mud during different times of the year.

A car-wash built by Elmo Ford also utilizes an unpaved alley, the mayor said, but Ford refused to pave the alley because of the existing ordinance terminology. It refers to alleys leading from "parking lots." Ford argued, and rightfully so, Mayor Christensen said, that he did not have a parking lot but a car-wash.

The revised ordinance would apply to all businesses or governmental agencies using alleys for business purposes.

Kimberly school fence plan 'go'

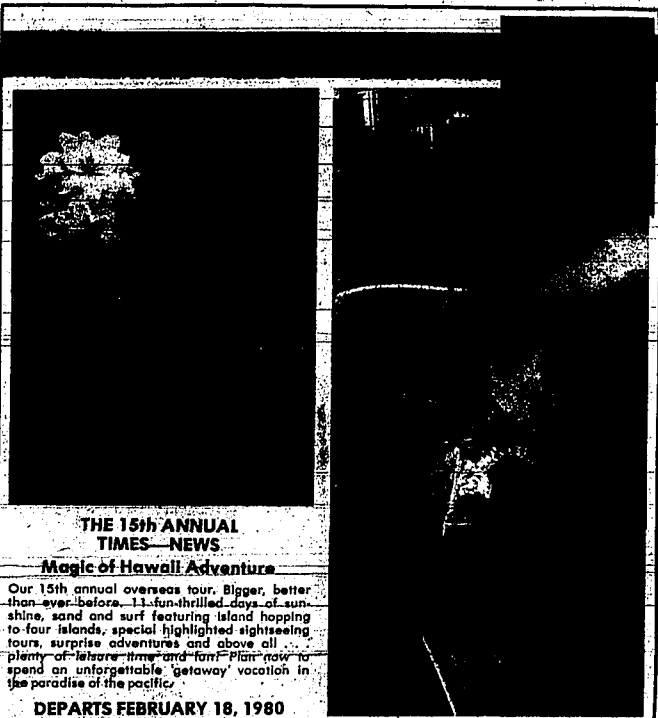

KIMBERLY — The Kimberly school board has approved erection of a fence to control student pedestrian traffic.

Kimberly resident Harold Pringle offered to donate half the price of a new 370-foot fence along Main Street between two parking lot entrances east of the gymnasium, according to Dale Vawser, maintenance supervisor for the school district. Superintendent of schools Vernon Exner said he has been concerned about students who rush into Main street from between parked cars instead of crossing at designated crosswalks opposite the entrances.

The board okayed the project, instructing Vawser to investigate the cost of chain link fencing.

Exner told the board that the parents of the two Twin Falls boys who painted obscenities on the wall of Kimberly High School Sept. 28 have promised to reimburse the district for all costs of removing the paint. Two attempts to remove the paint with acid and lacquer thinner have failed, Exner said, and the next step will be to try sandblasting.

Pirates tie series on Sanguillen's late hit

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Manny Sanguillen, a hero of the Pittsburgh Pirates' last world championship season, reached back in time Thursday night for one of the moments in the World Series spotlight. The 35-year-old Sanguillen, used sparingly by Manager Chuck Tanner during the regular season, was sent up as a pinch hitter for pitcher Don

Robinson with two out in the ninth inning and he delivered a run-scoring single which gave the Pirates a 3-2 victory over the Baltimore Orioles and evened the World Series at one game apiece. The series switches to Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium for the third game Friday night with left-hander John Candalaria pitching for the Pirates — and left-hander Scott McGregor hurling for the Orioles.

"It looked like it (the ball) might have been dying," said Weaver. "Eddie made it close."

The Pirates began as if they would quickly send Palmer to a hot shower when they tagged him for three straight hits and a sacrifice fly in the second inning. Singles by Willie Oriole Eddie Murray is on the receiving end of a rough out, being applied by Pirate catcher Ed Ott.

"I'm putting in a call for Dr. Longball and hope we hit some out tomorrow," said Weaver.

Robinson received credit for the victory by blanking the Orioles in the seventh and eighth innings and Tekulve, the club's top reliever, notched a save by retiring the side in order in the ninth. Tekulve struck out two of the three batters he faced in the final inning.

Palmer, however, survived the inning and regained the form which has made him a 20-game winner three times. Changing speeds often to keep their heavy hitters off stride, Palmer allowed the Pirates only four hits after the second inning before ending the game for a pinch-hitter in the seventh.

"I was just trying to make contact," said Sanguillen, who batted .375 when he teamed with the late Roberto Clemente to lead the Pirates to a world championship over the Orioles in 1971. "I don't think it was a strike. It was a good pitch. I am dedicating the series to No. 21, Roberto Clemente, and it really means a lot to me to have gotten the hit."

"I'm not a strikeout pitcher but I guess the guys at the plate were slipping around as much as I was on the mound," said Tekulve. "Those two strikeouts in the ninth inning may have been my entire quota of strikeouts for the series."

Palmer, pitching perhaps his final game in Baltimore, showed the crowd of 53,730 the kind of gutsy performance that has made him a Cy Young award winner three times by pitching out of a bases-loaded jam in the seventh inning.

"It was surprising to many that Sanguillen was called upon in that situation since he had driven in only four runs all season and had failed in a pinch hitting role in Wednesday night's first game."

After the Pirates took a 2-0 lead in the second inning on three singles and a sacrifice fly by Ott, Murray singled a long home run to right field in the second, then tied the score in the sixth with a run-scoring double after Singleton led off the inning with a single.

Murray, a former American League pitcher, had said Wednesday that he was the one batter in the Orioles lineup he was not familiar with and that lack of knowledge cost him the two runs he allowed in six innings of work.

"I didn't play a hunch," said Tanner. "I knew he could make contact and I knew he would go with Stanhouse's pitches. He came through. If he failed, I'd have second-guessed myself for not using someone else."

Right fielder Dave Parker, who earlier had embarrassed himself by dropping a fly ball for a two-base error, atoned for that mistake and helped get Blyleven out of trouble in the sixth when he threw out Murray at the plate when he attempted to score from third base on John Lowenstein's flyout.

Palmer, grounded to DeCinces and reached second base when the Orioles' third baseman, after falling to the ground, scrambled to his feet and threw the ball into the Pirates' dugout for his third error of the Series. Unmoved by the error, Palmer struck out Ott, and after walking Phil Garner intentionally — and walking pinch-hitter Mike Easler on a 3-2 pitch, fanned Omar Moreno with the bases loaded to end the threat.

"I thought Murray made a good play," said Tanner. "With the mud there around the infield, the ball might have stuck and might not have slid properly."

Except for Murray, however, Blyleven completely caged the Orioles, who managed only six hits in the game. He allowed only three other hits before leaving the game for a pinch-hitter in the seventh.

Palmer was nearly as masterful for the Orioles. He pitched 6 2/3 innings, allowing only two runs on six hits and five walks.

Oriole Manager Earl Weaver backed up Tanner's contention.

Jim Palmer was nearly as masterful for the Orioles. He pitched 6 2/3 innings, allowing only two runs on six hits and five walks.

Texas, Oklahoma featured

By United Press International
Third ranked Oklahoma and No. 5 Texas place unbeaten records on the line Saturday in the 74th renewal of a series noted for each school ruining the other's bid for a perfect season numerous times.

The Sooners have ousted Texas from the unbeaten ranks six times since 1945 and the Longhorns retaliated on a half-dozen occasions during the last 24 years.

Oklahoma, currently 4-0 to Texas' 3-0, has a completely healthy team for the Longhorn encounter. Defensive backs Darrel Ray and Sherwood Taylor have recovered from ankle injuries against Colorado and cornerback Jay Jimerson discarded a leg splint Thursday to prove he's ready for the game.

Oklahoma's 1978 Heisman Trophy winner Billy Sims ranks 16th among the nation's rushers with 436 yards after picking up 118 against Colorado. He leads the nation scoring with 11 touchdowns and has now rushed for over 100 yards in 13 consecutive games.

A.J. Jam Jones, the country's No. 3 ground gainer, represents Texas' main threat with 415 yards rushing in three games.

Oklahoma leads the major colleges in scoring offense on a 45.5 point average which presents an interesting situation since Texas has the best total defense statistics with a 165.0 yard yield per game.

In other games involving UPI's top 10, No. 1 Southern California plays Stanford, No. 2 Alabama meets Florida, No. 4 Nebraska meets Kansas, sixth-ranked Houston tackles Texas A&M, No. 7 Washington clashes with Arizona State, eighth-rated Ohio State hooks up with Indiana, No. 9 Notre Dame plays Air Force and 10th ranked Florida State goes against Mississippi State.

Southern Cal has been awesome in running up 178 points in five games; with quarterback Paul McDonald, the nation's leading passer, accounting for eight touchdowns on an efficiency rating that includes 56 completions in 81 attempts for 695 yards and only two interceptions. The Stanford connection of aerial master Turk Schoenert and receiver Ken Margerum poses a threat to USC. Schoenert, No. 5 behind McDonald, shows 41 in 78 in passing for 702 yards and six touchdowns, Margerum hauling in five of the scoring tosses.

No. 2 Alabama throws a perfectly balanced alignment first in scoring defense and second in scoring against Florida, while Nebraska seeks to present Tom Osborne with his 60th victory as Cornhusker coach in a game with Kansas.

Other key games around the country pit Michigan against Minnesota, LSU vs. Georgia, Arkansas vs. Texas Tech, North Carolina vs. Wake Forest, Missouri vs. Oklahoma State, Brigham Young vs. Utah State, Pittsburgh vs. Cincinnati, Navy vs. William and Mary and North Carolina State vs. Maryland.

Also, SMU vs. Baylor, Kentucky vs. Mississippi, Arizona vs. Oregon, Cornell vs. Harvard, Princeton vs. Columbia, Michigan State vs. Wisconsin, Tennessee vs. Georgia Tech, UCLA vs. Washington State and Brown vs. Pennsylvania.

Bucs want four straight

BALTIMORE (UPI) — As Pittsburgh Pirate catcher Ed Ott sees it, it's one down and three to go.

Following the Pirates' 6-4 loss to Baltimore — in Wednesday's Series opener, Ott says the Pirates got together and decided they were going to take the next four games.

"Thanks in large part to Ott's play Thursday night, the Pirates successfully completed their first step with a 3-2 decision over the Orioles, evening the best-of-seven Series at one game each as it returns to Pittsburgh for the next three games."

"We went into this game, we were going to take four in a row," said Ott, who drove in the Pirates' second run on a second-inning sacrifice fly and scored the winning run in the ninth on a pinch-single by Manny Sanguillen.

"We knew we still had tomorrow," Ott said. "But we didn't want it to be like 1971 (in another World Series against the Orioles) when we went home down two games, 50 we all got together and said well, four out of five ain't bad. And then we went out there and played like that."

Don Robinson, who pitched two innings of one-hit relief, was one of several Pirates who said they felt their ninth-inning victory off Orioles ace reliever Don Stanhouse on the Orioles' home field would indeed turn the momentum of the Series in their favor.

"I think now we've definitely got the advantage going back to Pittsburgh," Robinson said. "We've got three games there. We've got our own fans. And we've got the artificial turf. It was a great big win for us tonight."

Right fielder Dave Parker, who atoned for a third-inning error by throwing out Eddie Murray after catching a long fly by John Lowenstein, concurred with Robinson.

"I'm sure the players (Orioles) know how tough we are at home," Parker said. "It's going to be a hard one to beat us there."

Only Manager Chuck Tanner chose to take a more cautious outlook, saying he felt neither team would run away with the Series.

"Both clubs are equal," Tanner said. "It's going to be a dogfight all the way. There are two great ballclubs in my opinion."

Starter Bert Blyleven, who gave up two runs on five hits before he was hit for a pinch hitter in the seventh inning, asked if he thought the Pirates' victory was a turning point.

"Definitely," he said. "Now we're going home tied. We play very well at home. We'll have the crowd with us rather than against us like it was here and that makes a big difference."

LA, Dallas top NFL slate

By IRA KAUFMAN
UPI Sports Writer

The rematch of last year's NFC title game between Los Angeles and Dallas Sunday night at Irving, Texas, figures to be won where most of the previous Rams-Cowboys clashes have been won in the pits.

The Cowboys tied with Philadelphia for the Eastern Division lead with a 5-1 record, boast the NFL's most potent offense, averaging 405 yards per game. Roger Staubach is the NFC's leading passer and Tony Dorsett is the fourth-leading rusher in the conference.

But the Cowboys go nowhere without their quick offensive line clearing out opposing defensive linemen — and that's where the Rams come in.

The Cowboys' strength is an elegant running game which averages 4.5 yards per rush, but that's the area in which the Rams are the strongest. Los Angeles has allowed only 109 yards per game on the ground and a mere 2.5 yards per attempt.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry is quick to point out the rare blend of talent and experience in the Rams' defense.

"The team that is coming here has excellent personnel," he said. "They have the best defense in the NFC. They may be hurting in the offensive line a little, but overall they are solid."

"When you play defense such as Los Angeles, the thing you worry about is turnovers. We haven't been as good in that area as we have in the past, so it is a concern going into this game."

Los Angeles, 4-2, has a one-game lead over Atlanta in the West entering Sunday night's nationally televised contest, but the Rams' worries aren't confined to the playing field.

The offensive line has been decimated by injuries this year and that may spell doom for the Rams in the Dallas defense — bolstered this week by the addition of former All-Pro end John Dutton from Baltimore.

The Cowboys blanked the Rams 29-0 in last season's NFC championship game after a scoreless first half, but Los Angeles Coach Ray Malvasi doesn't think his team will be out to prove something special.

"I don't look at this as a game of revenge," said Malvasi. "I look at it as a chance to be competitive. We've had 12 people out and it's been very difficult because of injuries."

In other games Sunday, Denver is at Kansas City, Washington at Cleveland, Buffalo at Miami, Houston at Baltimore, Pittsburgh at Cincinnati, Seattle at San Diego, Detroit vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee, New Orleans at Tampa Bay, Philadelphia at St. Louis, San Francisco at the New York Giants, Atlanta at Oakland and New England at Chicago.

Minnesota is at the New York Jets Monday night.

Kansas City hasn't been involved in a game of this magnitude since 1971; the last time the Chiefs won the AFC West title — Kansas City, Denver and San Diego are tied atop the division with 4-2 records and the first Arrowhead Stadium sellout crowd since '73 is expected: The game will match the Chiefs' high-powered running attack against the Broncos' league-leading rushing defense. Kansas City has allowed the fewest points in the NFL, and Denver's No. 1 quarterback, Norris Weese, is questionable with a hyperextended knee.

Both Washington and Cleveland lost shares of the divisional lead last week and gave up 79 points between them.

Middleton keeps Tigers on skids

MIDDLETON — A bomb to open the game and a 62-yard punt return to the second half pointed the Middleton Vikings over the winless Jerome Tigers Thursday night.

The Tigers, stunned by the opening Viking play that saw Scott Hill hit Gordon Hootch with a 75-yard touchdown pass, fought back to lead 14-7 at intermission. But Jerome seemed to wilt when Middleton beat a determined goal line stand move ahead in the first quarter. The Vikings got their other touchdown with four minutes left in the game after Jerome was forced to gamble on fourth down on its own side of the 50-yard line.

After the early touchdown pass — converted on the toe of Reed — Jerome kept the Vikings well out of scoring range. But Middleton's defense was about as tough until a break set Jerome up.

The Tigers punted midway in the second quarter, the ball taking a weird hop and bouncing off a Viking player. Jerome recovered at the 28 and six plays later Willis Robinette boomed into the end zone for nine yards away. Jerome then took the lead when Robinette took a pihout around end for the two-point conversion.

But in the last three minutes Middleton gave Jerome a scare, using the old forward pass and lateral flea-flicker for a 35-yard gain to the Tiger 10. With 13 seconds left, however, John Kaiser ended that bid with an interception in the end zone.

It was early in the second quarter that Middleton's defense had a good chance. Reed provided it with a 62-yard punt return that carried to the Jerome 19. In three plays Middleton moved to a first down at the four yard line. Jerome's defense held three plays but on fourth and one yard, Larry Cleavitt edged into the end zone. Jerome stopped the two-point pass to stay well within contention.

In the fourth quarter Middleton made the old quick kick to put the Tigers in the hole and probably nail down the victory. It nailed the Tigers on their own side of the hole and although Jerome did get out of the hole, it took a lot of time.

Most of it came when quarterback Brian Crossland, just eluding a safety tackle, scrambled for a first down to the 34. Three plays later Jerome was just short to yard away from the first down but Middleton turned back the ensuing punts.

From there Middleton again reached into its gadget bag for a halfback pass from Reed to Cliff Judd that carried to the Jerome 20. Two plays later John Bingham nailed the victory down with a 15-yard sweep. Reed kicked the point after.

In the closing two minutes Jerome controversy when a quick drive that carried to the Middleton five before a fumble killed it with about a half-minute remaining.

Tigers dominate SCIC distance finals

TWIN FALLS — To the surprise of no one, Jerome made the South Central Idaho cross country championship a Tiger affair. Coach Tim Dume watched his Tigers sweep the two varsity divisions and a Jayvee race while junior ace Gerry Leininger maintained his undefeated record.

"It went pretty much as expected," Coach Dume said about the win "except that I thought a couple of other Wood River runners might show up in the top 10."

The Tigers now are pointed toward another district Class B championship when those finals are run on the Sun Valley golf course next Thursday. That should spinboard Jerome into its sixth straight state title defense.

"Valley" the coach quickly answered when asked if he saw a strong challenge for the state crown in two weeks in Boise. "We ran against them in the Boise Invitational and beat them 109-130 but in a meet with that many runners, that isn't many points. They had three in the top ten and we only had two so it's going to be a battle."

But that's all two weeks away. The Jerome boys took the first eight places in posting a perfect 15 in their competition. Wood River had the other two. Doug Ahrens paced Jerome to the 15 score, followed by Wood River at 70 and Mountain Home at 131.

In the girls varsity, Melanie Love of Mountain Home and Robin McDevitt of Buhl took the top two places, but Jerome had six of the next seven places in winning the team title. Jerome had 27, Wood River 75, Mountain Home 78, and Buhl was incomplete.

Following Love and McDevitt across were Marge Marshall, Jane Iretson and Lis Winnell, all Jeromes. Mary Hilland of Mountain Home, Maria Brydies, Jennifer Card and Tammy Blades, all Jeromes, and Karen Butler of Buhl.

In the boys varsity, Leininger and Floyd Tunn of Wood River ran one-two. Rounding out the top 10 were Robin Melin, Jim McKean, Randy Tolmait, Brian Thompson and Doug Robinette, all Jeromes; Thayne Hendricks, Wood River; Denton Bassett, Mountain Home, and Mark Goodman, Jerome.

Tate plans rehearsal

JOHANNESBURG (UPI) — American heavyweight John Tate said Thursday he would hold a full-scale "dress rehearsal" later in the week for his Oct. 20 WBA world title fight against South African Gerrie Coetzee.

But Big John has been refused permission to use the 50,000 seat Loftus Versfeld stadium in Pretoria, so according to his manager, Al Miller they will hold the 15 round sparring session in the stadium parking lot.

Miller said he wanted the "shake-down cruise" to cure his fighter of any drop in fitness.

The South African Boxing Board of Control said Tate would not be allowed to use the stadium so the Tate camp decided on the next best thing — the parking lot.

"We want the parking lot outside the stadium. It looked a pretty big place to me," Miller said.

"Our main aim is to give John the feeling of Pretoria, adjust to the lower altitude and also have a taste for the temperature around Loftus at fight time."

Tate's fight against Coetzee for the World Boxing Association Heavyweight title was announced by Muhammad Ali has proved an explosive issue.

Across town in the Coetzee camp controversy raged following the banning of Coetzee from the country's largest morning newspaper, the Raid Daily.

TF sophs tame Tigers

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls sophomores scored on a 63-yard bomb on their first play of the game and coasted into a 30-0 victory over out-manned Mountain Home Thursday night.

Todd Wigington and Steve Galley looked up on the quick score after Twin Falls scored a 30-yard punt-four-plays-after-the-kick-off. On its next possession, following an interception, Doug Tate scored from the four and 10 seconds into the second quarter John Allison scored from the 11 with an option pitch. Wigington threw to Galley for the two-point.

Just three minutes later Troy Jacobsen picked off a Tiger pass and returned it 40 yards for the score that ended the half-time. Tate had the second period. Twin Falls stopped Mountain Home after a first and goal inside the 10.

Early in the second half quick Larry Hurt cutback on a sweep to score on a six-yard burst and quarterback Doug Bakeman finished the final count with a four-yard run. Galley booted three extra points.

Wadkins, Rogers advance

MARGINA WATER, England (UPI) — Lanny Wadkins, crediting a change of putter for his 3 and 1 victory, and Bill Rogers, making his match play debut with a 4 and 2 win, Thursday reached the quarterfinals of the $240,000 World Match Play Golf Championship.

Wadkins won his 36-hole opening match against Argentina's Vicente Fernandez comfortably after changing his putter following the morning round.

"I felt this morning is when I should have got the big lead, but I three-putted three times," said Wadkins. "Gooding the first seed in the district because the greens were so slow and I used that one which won me the World Series."

Rogers dominated his match against Britain's Sandy Lyle in which he never fell behind. "I really did have fun today. I love this match play. I'm still putting well. I played a match play standpoint I think I played really well," said Rogers, who only had one practice round on the 6,945-yard, par-72 Wentworth West Course.

South African Gary Player, five times winner of this tournament, staged a remarkable comeback just when he looked set to be knocked out in the first round for only the second time in 13 years.

Player, four down with 11 holes to play, stormed down the back nine in the afternoon round to finish 2 up against the little-known Japanese Toru Nakamura.

In the other first round match, Australian David Graham came from two down on the 23rd to beat Britain's Mark James 3 and 2.

In Friday's quarterfinals, the winners will play four seeded players who received byes. The lineup will be Rogers vs. Hale-Ilvins, Wadkins vs. Sevy, Ballesteros, Player vs. Fuzzy Zoeller and Graham vs. the titleholder, Isao Aoki of Japan.

Both Rogers and Wadkins finished the morning, 10 holes, played-in wet and misty conditions, all square with their opponents and both put on the pressure at the start of the second round.

Rogers holed a 20 foot birdie putt at the second and then went two up when Lyle three-putted at the third. The blond Texan got a grip on the match when he needed just two putts from 50 feet on the massive fourth green and Lyle bogeyed the seventh.

Although the Briton pulled a shot back at the 14th when Rogers three-putted, he sent his tee shot into the woods at the 16th and the match was over.

Wadkins had a harder time against Fernandez and fell behind on the fifth with a double bogey. But on the ninth he got all square again despite a bogey. The 450-yard par-4 hole proved a disaster for both players, but the Argentine picked up a penalty stroke when he hit to the right of the green and landed in a ditch.

Wadkins put on the pressure with a birdie at the 10th, but Fernandez replied with his own birdie at the 12th to make it all square again.

Girls volleyball Gooding, Tigers cop prizes

MAGIC VALLEY — Richfield claimed a championship and Gooding the first seed in the district tournament when Magic Valley girls volleyball regular season ground to a close Thursday night.

In addition, Hansen dropped Wood River and Wendell dumped Kimberly.

All of the teams now are pointed toward district playoffs next week at Jerome, Shoshone and Murrough. The Class A teams will go Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Jerome. The Northside B teams (Carey, Richfield, Camas County, Dietrich, Shoshone, Gooding, Ferry, Wendell, Gooding and Bliss) will collide Monday, Wednesday and Thursday at Shoshone. On the outside, teams from Ratt River, Hansen, Oakley, Declo, Murrough, Kimberly, Valley, Hagerman, Filer and Castleford will play Monday through Thursday at Murrough.

The champions of "Good" will advance to state playoffs the following week.

Richfield repeated as the Northside Conference champion by defeating Camas County 15-15, 15-6, 15-7. Sandy Anderson had her best night of the season as she was credited with 24 spikes and 14 blocks. The win gave Richfield an 8-4 seasonal mark. Camas County salvaged the preliminary—15-10, 4-15, 15-3.

Gooding, which lost just once and that to Filer for the difference in the Canyon Conference, overpowered Glens Ferry 15-0, 15-6 to clinch the No. 1 seed for the Northside B tournament.

"It was just a good team effort," said Coach Jolene Toome, whose Senators will meet Dietrich at 5 p. m. in the tournament opener.

The Gooding Jayvees, also 12-1, will play Carey at 4 p. m. in the Twin Falls, running hot and cold through game after game, came up with some good defense and blocking by Jana Thacker in turning back Wood River 15-12, 15-7.

The win gave the Bruins a 7-4 season as Kristie Kravitz and Katy Dornelley each served six points to spark the victory.

The Bruins' Jayvees won 15-4, 16-14 as Cindy Laakso delivered 11 straight points in the first game.

Wendell came up with a surprise, knocking off Kimberly 15-5, 8-15, 15-12 to end the Canyon Conference Season. The 9-4 Trojans didn't fare as well in the preliminary, Kimberly taking that 17-15, 15-13.

Hansen's 15-8, 15-10 decision over Ratt River let the Huskies end the season with a break-even 6-6 mark. Ratt River Jayvees won the first meeting 15-12, 15-13.

Bulls waive ISU's Butler

Lawrence Butler, the nation's leading collegiate scorer last year, was waived by the Chicago Bulls Thursday, bringing the team down to the NBA required 11-man limit.

Butler, a 6-foot-3 guard from Idaho State, was the Bulls' second-round draft pick. He won the national scoring championship with a 30 points per game average.

Chicago announced Wednesday it had cut Randy Ayers and Rickey Williams and had placed guard John Mengert on the disabled list due to a back injury.

The Bulls open the season Saturday night at Golden State.

Tony Dorsett, Dallas Cowboys running back who suffered large abrasions when he jumped off a horse this week, is a probable starter for Sunday's game against the Los Angeles Rams, a team spokesman said Thursday.

Dorsett jumped from the horse Tuesday on a ranch in Mount Vernon, Texas, where he and several other players had been invited for a dove hunt.

Dorsett, who said he rode horses often while growing up in Pennsylvania, said the horse was galloping across a field but then ran across pavement and began losing its footing. Sensing the horse was about to fall, Dorsett jumped.

"If I hadn't done that, the horse might have fallen on me and broken my leg," he said.

U.S. District Judge John V. Singleton has reduced by $125,000 the $3.25 million in damages awarded to Houston's Rudy Tomjanovich from the Los Angeles Lakers for being punched in the face during a game.

Singleton reduced from $200,000 to $75,000 the portion of the jury award given for anticipated future medical expenses. Tomjanovich's lawyer, Nick Nichols, agreed to the change.

Tomjanovich sued the Lakers for injuries suffered when ex-Laker Kermil Washington punched Tomjanovich during a game Dec. 9, 1977.

The blow collapsed Tomjanovich's face, crushed his skull and sidelined the former All-Star forward for the remainder of the season.

Defensive end Mike St. Clair returned to the Cleveland Browns Thursday after a one-day workout, precipitated by his removal from the starting role.

St. Clair, a fourth-year man who attended Cleveland's East Tech High School, left the team just before Wednesday's practice session. He had been told by Coach Sam Rutigliano that Lyle Alzado would be switching to St. Clair's left defensive end position.

Rutigliano told St. Clair he would have to compete with veteran Jack Gregory for the right end slot.

Thursday morning, St. Clair talked with Browns General Manager Peter Hadzazy and then returned to the team's practice facility at Baldwin-Wallace College Thursday afternoon.

St. Clair is expected to be fired for his workout.

Halfback Walter Payton of the Chicago Bears was "running well" at Thursday's practice and will play against New England on Sunday, team officials said.

Payton has been hampered by minor injuries and was kept out of Wednesday's workout.

New England Patriots guard Sam Adams was put on the questionable list with a stomach virus for Saturday's game. If he does not play, he will be replaced by Pete Brock or Bob Cryder.

Officials added there were "few and scattered" single seats left for the Bears' remaining home games, except for the St. Louis game which has 2,500 seats available.

Baseball greats Joe DiMaggio and Willie Mays, basketball stars Bill Russell and Hank Luisetti and football's Ernie Nevers are the first inductees elected into the Bay Area Sports Hall of Fame; it was announced Thursday by chairman Lou Spadia.

The five local sports legends were voted into the hall by a panel of 46 active and retired sports editors, sports directors and selected columnists from throughout the eight-county Bay Area.

"I think the voting panel's selections are outstanding," said Spadia, for many years the president of the San Francisco 49ers. "Few people could question any of these initial enshrinings, as all have roots — or had outstanding careers — in the Bay Area."

The field goal kicking Bahr brothers will oppose each other for the first time in Sunday's Cincinnati Bengals-Pittsburgh Steelers game.

Cincinnati's field goal kicker is 26-year old Chris Bahr, a four-year veteran. Chris' 23-year old brother, Matt, is just a rookie with the Steelers, but he beat out veteran Roy Gerela for the field goal kicking job this year.

Coming into Sunday's game, both Chris and Matt have connected on 5-of-9 field goal attempts this year.

Both brothers played soccer and football at Penn State, where their father is the soccer coach. Both kick field goals soccer-style.

"It's interesting," Chris says of Sunday's matchup, "but both our concerns are with winning the game and not kicking against each other."

Asked how he would feel if Matt lined up to kick a game-winning field goal Sunday, Chris begged off choosing between his brother and the Bengals.

"Maybe," he said, "the holder will drop the snap."

Ike Forte was activated by the Washington Redskins Thursday who then waived former Denver Bronco running back Lonnie Perrin.

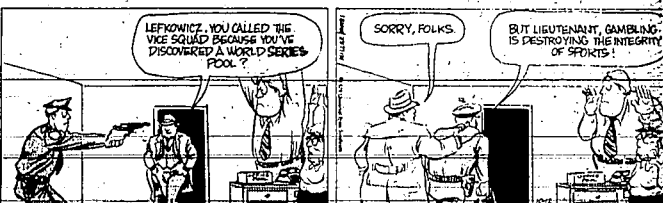

Forte, who played with the Redskins in 1978, was cut by the NFL club before the start of the regular season and was re-acquired after he was not claimed by any other team.

Perrin, who was cut by the Broncos in the pre-season, playing sparingly since he came to the Redskins.

NBA curtain-raiser:

Walton-led Clippers test LA

By United Press International — Viewers of Friday night's nationally televised NBA game between the Los Angeles Lakers and the San Diego Clippers will be treated to a few of the new twists in pro basketball this season.

The NBA's 34th season opens Friday night with a nine-game slate, and two rookies of note, more than 3,000 miles apart, will provide much of the interest. In Boston, Larry Bird, College Basketball's Player of the Year, tries to soar against the Houston Rockets as the Celtics attempt to bounce back from the debacle of a 28-51 record in 1978-79.

Four hours after Bird takes the floor at "historic" Boston Garden, another heralded rookie, the Lakers' Earvin "Magic" Johnson, will be on nationwide display against the new look San Diego Clippers. Besides Johnson, basketball fans will be treated to the sight of Bill Walton firing outlet passes to Lloyd "All World" Free — who will join sharp-shooting backcourt mate Freeman Williams in hoisting up the new 3-point field goal attempt.

Walton has moved down the coast from Portland to San Diego, where he is expected to bring some "Clippermania" to Southern California.

The former Most Valuable Player, who led the Trail Blazers from obscurity to an NBA title in 1977-78 with his subtly brilliant all-around skills, will give San Diego decent rebounding strength. The big question mark, of course, is Walton's health.

Johnson, a 6-foot-8 guard with deft play-making skills and an inspiring presence, will team with Norm Nixon in a fleet backcourt.

Winless Weber St. seeks game plan for ranked NAU

By United Press International
How does a team with an 0-5 record Weber State — get ready to play the likes of nationally ranked and unbeaten Northern Arizona?
"Well, you look at their team and the way they play, and then you try to set up a game plan to beat them," says Weber State coach Pete Richtman. "You've got to do it that way."
Weber State's game plan — at 10:00 a.m. on Oct. 13 — calls for quarterback Bill Kelly to start Saturday night against the defending Big Sky Conference champion NAU Lumberjacks in Ogden.
Kelly — who weighed more than 250 pounds when he reported this summer as a high school player. And in the three games he's appeared in, in a part-time role, Kelly has completed 59 percent of his passes for 324 yards and three touchdowns — that's 60 percent of Weber State's touchdowns through the air this fall.
The Weber State-Northern Arizona matchup is one of four conference games Saturday for Big Sky teams. In the others, Boise State is at Idaho, Montana State at Idaho State, and Nevada-Reno is at home against Montana State.
"In looking at Northern Arizona, the way Weber State must play to win the game is Lumberjack running back Willard Reeves. Reeves is leading the NCAA Division I-AA in rushing, and he's scored seven touchdowns already this year.
"The NAU passing game is barely adequate. But the Lumberjack defense is more than adequate. Just about incredible would be closer to the truth. They're giving up just 15 points per game this year — best in the Big Sky.
"We have been more than pleased with Willard's rushing this fall," says Northern Arizona coach Dwan Falmec. "He's been so consistent this year. One player we've been able to count on."
Painter says preparing for the game is no problem. It is a conference game. They're all important to us. We want to win the conference title again. And, to do it, the best way is to go undefeated."
Boise State is in the conference standings. And the Broncos are hoping not to stumble on the road this weekend at Moscow, Idaho, as they look forward to their November showdown with Northern Arizona and Nevada-Reno.
To win, the Broncos are going to have to outscore 0-1-1. The Vandals have a fairly solid offensive machine. But they've been giving up just about as many points as they were scoring (107-105) over five games.
Nevada-Reno — 3-1 on the season with a win in its only conference game, against lowly 0-5 Idaho State — gets its first real test when the Wolfpack takes on Montana State Saturday in Reno.
"MSU played solidly against Boise State before losing 14-0 at Bronco Stadium this fall — so the Bobcats have some defensive muscle. While the Wolfpack had trouble in beating small college power Cal-Davis, and last week didn't really dominate another minor league opponent —

Simon Fraser.
The betting men will go with Northern Arizona winning at Weber State. And the other game that looks to be a cinch is Montana over winless Idaho State. But then Montana (1-2) hasn't proved it knows how to win, just score.
Last weekend — following the lead set by MSU — the Grizzlies made things tough for Boise State before losing 37-38. And the ISU Bengals are averaging only nine points per game on offense, while giving up 22.
However ISU has looked almost good the last two weekends, losing just 6-3 to powerful Northern Arizona and then 28-23 to Idaho. Maybe this is their weekend. But then maybe neither team can win the Montana-Idaho State game.

Sage coach lauds team

TWIN FALLS — "The Sage girls just out performed themselves," beamed coach Eric Gunnerson after winning eight of his girls qualify for the state meet.
"The girls attained the qualifying marks during an invitational against teams from Utah, Idaho and Oregon."
"The girls in Valley City are at the Academy of Ontario took first in team points with 177.60 followed by Mike Young's Gymnastics Academy of Boise at 169.35 and Sage of Twin Falls at 163.40.
"Ten-year-old Josie Waters scored 35.65 points to lead Sage, followed by Kathleen Leir at 33.35, Macie Miller, 34, had 33.10 and Sue Buck, 10, had 33.05. Other scorers included Angie Carson 31.55, Tracy McGinnis and Lacey Anne Hayes 30.10 and Shawna Sutzman 31.20.
"Miller was second on the bars at 8.25 and Angie Carson was sixth on bars at 8.15. In the 9-11 age group, Hayes tied for four on the beam at 8.65 and Waters had 8.10 in the vault for second place.
"The class 2 team will host Mike Young's Academy in a compulsory routine meet Oct. 19 and the class 3 team will travel to Blackfoot Oct. 20 to meet the Families Pikes.

Nogoya to bid for '88 Olympics

TOKYO (UPI) — The Japan Olympic Committee (JOC) Thursday approved the city of Nagoya's plan to bid for sponsorship of the 1988 International Summer Olympic Games.
Nagoya, a seaport city of two million located 160 miles west of Tokyo, has been campaigning to win official designation as the site for the Games.
Thursday's approval by both the JOC's Standing Committee and its General Assembly was unanimous, officials said.

loser and potential losers in trumps and diamonds. After taking the club queen, he had to attack trumps. He led a small trump to dummy's ace (to see if a singleton queen might drop). Back to his hand with a heart followed by a successful trump finesse. Then he drew the last trump and was ready to go ahead.

At first glance it looks as if South needed a diamond finesse, but as Le Dentu points out in "Bridge Analysis", South found a way to avoid taking it.

He came to his hand with a club and noted happily that both opponents followed. Then he cashed his last high heart to discard a diamond from dummy and played his last club.

West had to win the trick and did the best he could by leading a heart. South ruffed in dummy and discarded one diamond on that trick and turned more diamonds on dummy's good clubs.

The combination of luck and skill had made up for the overbid. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

$1000 FACTORY REBATE

PEUGEOT IS MAKING ROOM FOR THE 1980 MODELS WITH A VERY CLASSY CLEARANCE SALE.

BUY A LUXURIOUS PEUGEOT 604 AND PEUGEOT MOTORS OF AMERICA WILL SEND YOU A CHECK FOR $1000

Here's how it works. Go to your local Peugeot dealer from now until December 31, 1978, and make your best deal. And on top of it, PMA will send you a $1,000 check. Of course, $1,000 in itself may not be enough to convince you to buy a $13,998.00 car! But some of the following may. The luxurious 604 has standards like: 4-wheel independent suspension, power-assisted rack-and-pinion steering, special orthopedic seats, power windows, air conditioning, and Michelin TRX tires.

So go down to your Peugeot dealer. He's making you a deal that's tough to beat on a car that's tougher than it has to be.

PEUGEOT
 It's tougher than it has to be.

Manufacturer's suggested retail price P.O.E. with 5-speed manual transmission. Destination charges, state and local taxes, dealer preparation, if any, and license fees (all of which may vary) extra.

Lincoln/Mercury Division
General Ride-and-Drive Instructions

THANK YOU FOR TAKING YOUR TIME TO HELP THEISEN MOTORS IN THIS EVALUATION

Please complete this form. Answer every question. Be honest.

SECTION 1 Comfort and Convenience

Each of the following points is important to note. Judge them critically, looking for the qualities you would expect from a Lincoln-Mercury car. Think like a customer. Look for detail.

	Excellent	Above Avg.	Average	Below Avg.	Poor
Cougar XR-7
1. Ease of Entry/Exit (Front Compartment)	5	4	3	2	1
2. Comfort (Driver)	5	4	3	2	1
3. Comfort (Front Passenger)	5	4	3	2	1

Lightworks Gallery opens in Burley

BURLEY — Lightworks Gallery will hold a grand opening Oct. 16 at 4 p.m. Ribbon cutting will be performed by Gov. John Evans. The governor and artists will meet the public at a reception at 4:30 p.m.

According to owners John and Elaine Horejs and Ms. Sidney Rehn, all of Burley, there are no other galleries in the Burley area. In addition to being an outlet for artists throughout Idaho, the gallery has a studio for art classes, sells artist's supplies and will soon hold pottery workshops.

The opening will feature the watercolors of Ron Vanek and the oils of John Horejs. Also on display will be several pieces from the private collection of Marc Hayes and Gary Stone's woodcuts.

Media represented in the gallery are oil paintings, watercolors, pottery, bronzes, weavings, graphics and photography.

Following are the artists on exhibit and their specialties:

- Oil paintings. Don Ricks of Rexburg, John Horejs of Burley, Richard Stearns of Boise, Barbara Durier of Gooding, Nadine Conrad of Gooding, Pat Morey of Nat and Vickie Curl of Twin Falls.

- Watercolors. Ron Vanek of Burley, George Wise of Pocatello, Rachel Kirchner of Burley, Robert Moore of Hazelton and Gloria Adams of Burley.

- Weavings. Glenna Treinen of Burley and Tina Gibson of Rupert.

- Graphics. Brad Clark of Oakley and "Miller" Youngman of Twin Falls.

- Pottery. King Pottery of Huhl, Bill West of Jerome, Sidney Rehn of Burley, Fran Beckham of Burley and LaVar Steel of Twin Falls.

- Bronzes. Earl McAdams of Twin Falls.

- Metal Sculptures. Rock Creek Metal Craft.

The gallery is located at 1212 Oakley Ave. and will be open

Murtaugh vocalist wins Utah fair prize

MURTAUGH — Martin Wright won third-place in the Utah State Fair Music Competition's senior division on Sept. 13.

A 1972 graduate of Murtaugh High School, he is currently a vocal performance major and a senior at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah.

He has worked as musical director for several BYU Music Theater productions and was the artistic director and a performer in a recent production, "Music Theater Skewed." He has played lead roles in eight major BYU theater productions. — in addition to being a Maescholar at the university, Wright is the assistant conductor for the BYU A Cappella Choir. He recently placed second in the District Metropolitan Opera auditions.

Wright was one of a group of six BYU students who took all six prizes in the two divisions of the Vocal Competition. The competition is held each year in conjunction with the Utah State Fair.

He is the son of Earl Wright Jr., postmaster of Murtaugh.

U of I solicits slides for advertising posters

MOSCOW — Photography buffs who would like to see their work displayed in about 7,000 different places are invited to contact the University of Idaho Summer Sessions office.

Slides are needed to prepare posters advertising Summer Sessions, and may be used in other ways as well.

Scenes used in previous posters have included forested mountains and blue sky lakes and streams, and at least one or two people. Boating pictures will also be considered. Colored slides are preferred to prints because they can be exacted easily for clarity and color reproduction.

Slides which are used will be given a credit line on posters or other materials on which they are used. Slides submitted should be carefully marked with the owner's name on the border so that they may be returned. Copies of the selected pictures will be made so that the originals can be returned.

Work should be submitted to Klaus, Summer Sessions Office, Education Building, University of Idaho, Moscow, 83843.

Thoreau, played by Steve Brophy (right), listens to his mentor, Ralph Waldo Emerson (Laine Steel), confront him with philosophies on spending a night in jail.

Reading Thoreau by inner nightlight

By SHELLY KINZEL

Times-News writes:

Long before it was fashionable to "drop out," a rebellious young man left society to live beside a small pond. Long before Vietnam, the same young man went to jail—rather than support an unjust war. The man's name was Henry David Thoreau, and his life became an inspiration for men and women everywhere.

On Oct. 18, 19 and 20, the CSI Drama Department and Delta Psi Omega will pay homage to this great American individualist in a stirring drama entitled "The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail," by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee. Observing today's fight against war, pollution and bigotry, the play seems amazingly pertinent to our times and problems.

Discussing the production with director Fran Tanner, CSI professor of speech and drama, I asked why she chose this particular work. Mrs. Tanner replied that while Thoreau lived over 100 years ago, his philosophy is even more relevant today.

Thoreau was the "environmentalist" of his period, and his quest for human rights and dignity is still a modern concern.

The basis of the play is Thoreau's overnight stay in jail, when he refused to pay taxes as a protest against the Mexican-American War. In a fast-paced series of flashbacks which tumble time and space, Thoreau's sometimes seen in his cell teaching an illiterate fellow-prisoner; at other times he is arguing with his idol and mentor, Ralph Waldo Emerson, or picking huckleberries near his beloved "Walden Pond." Whatever the action, the dialogue is witty and penetrating. An example of this is the scene in which the shocked Emerson cries out, "Henry, what are you doing in jail?" to which the indignant Thoreau replies, "Waldo, what are you doing out of jail?"

It is not surprising that the play is so well written. Its authors Lawrence and Lee have had a number of stage successes. Their "Inherit the Wind" has been translated and performed in 28 languages and has won innumerable awards. Their play "Auntie Mame" and their transformation of it into the musical hit "Mame" have also been performed worldwide. Lawrence and Lee are considered not only playwrights but teachers and statesmen. They have been dubbed "the thinking man's playwrights."

Reading the play will be presented in Reader's Theater style, a format which encourages the use of imagination. The student performers, Mrs. Tanner informed me, have done extensive research on Thoreau and Emerson as well as on the period in which they lived. It's particularly exciting to see students grow within a role, she says, "and to see them working together to assemble to create a dramatic entity."

The talented cast of young people is from all parts of Idaho. The title role of Thoreau is played by Steve Brophy of Halley; Laine Steel of Twin Falls, who is also the assistant director, portrays Ralph Waldo Emerson. Other cast members include Teresa Jones of Twin Falls, Susan Emerson of Paul; Bob Ellis of Rupert; Jim Luzzi of Twin Falls, Bret Shields of Mindoka; Brenda Wright of Kimberly, and Scott Stonely and Christopher Green, both of Twin Falls.

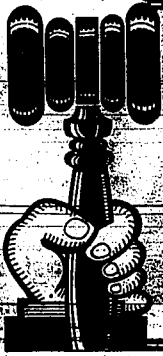

"The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail" will be presented in Theater

119 of the Fine Arts Center. Tickets are on sale at the CSI bookstore or may be reserved by calling 731-9354, ext. 234 or 236. General admission is $2.00 for adults, but a special discount price of $1.00 is available for children, high school students, senior citizens with Golden Eagle cards and all CSI students and faculty. Children under five will not be admitted.

The production promises to be a provocative season opener. Henry David Thoreau is a character with whom the young-at-heart can readily identify. It was he who said, "If a man takes not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music he hears, however measured or far away."

Rx: 'Romance'; Warning: 'Concorde'

By SHELLY KINZEL
Times-News writer

It is probably true that the cost of filmmaking today and the lure of enormous profits have ruined the American film industry. Most of the films we see follow a tried-and-true formula—the motto seems to be "money and safety first."

Now and then some company remembers what filmmaking is really all about and dares to take a little risk. In command Warner Brothers are releasing "A Little Romance," which for me was like a refreshing spring rain. It is worth making the trip to Jerome to see this sparkling little gem.

The setting is the romantic city of Paris. The central characters are two precocious 13-year-olds. Lauren (Diane Lane) is a sensually shy American with an amazingly high IQ, who meets Daniel (Theilenus Bernard), a French boy with an equally agile mind. They discover that they have much in common—a parent with whom they cannot relate and a strong desire to maintain their individuality.

During a secret rendezvous, they accidentally encounter Julien (Laurence Olivier), an elderly gentleman who weaves wondrous stories about his past. Lauren is fascinated by his gregarious and grandiose old charm. She is especially captivated by his tale about two lovers who sealed their eternal devotion with a kiss under "The Bridge of Sighs in the magical city of Venice."

When her father (Arthur Hill) suddenly announces their imminent return to the states, Lauren decides that she and Daniel must run off to Venice to recreate the legend. They trick Julien into accompanying them, and set out on a totally enchanting and whimsical adventure.

"What makes 'A Little Romance' so special is exquisite casting, offbeat situations and the keen insight into human behavior. Laurence Olivier is, as usual, a joy to behold, and the two young people give fresh and convincing performances. Director George Roy Hill manages to extract the most from his actors. Sally Kellerman is perfect as Lauren's spoiled, flighty mother, and Arthur Hill is appealing as the understanding and tolerant stepfather.

"A Little Romance" is not a "steak and potatoes" movie. It is a film for viewers with a refined palate and a fanciful imagination. If you're tired of the same old fare, treat yourself to this refreshing and delectable morsel.

If you're not tired of the same old fare, you might want to see "Airport '79"—"The Concorde," the fourth clone of the "Airport" film series. The film elicits from me a huge "ho-hum!" You have the familiar parade of celebrities, bits and pieces from every disaster movie you've ever seen, and lots of hysteria. The only new feature is the plane.

Believe me, the super-duper Concorde is the only new and exciting element in this hackneyed and trite rendition. The film is most successful in demonstrating the tremendous speed and mobility of this supersonic marvel. Special photographic effects and recently developed motion control special effects made the action scenes even more realistic and thrilling than in the earlier "Airport" movies.

The cast, including popular international stars such as Alain Delon, Susan Blakely, Robert Wagner, Sylvia Kristal, George Kennedy, Eddie Albert, Bibi Andersson, and even Charo in a cameo role, was attractive—and competent. This is where, my commendation ends.

The relationships among characters are so superficial and contrived, the plot so phony and unoriginal, that seeing a magnificent plane in action and some glamorous people in danger is hardly enough compensation. Can you imagine, for instance, that after two attacks on the plane that neither the company nor the government prevents the plane from taking off. It is equally inconceivable that throughout the chaotic happenings no one questions what the cause is or sees a connection between the events. It is this mindlessness that makes the film such a travesty.

I realize that disaster movies make money. I wouldn't object to this highly successful commodity if, at least, a standard of quality were maintained. At times, however, that commercialism is the only incentive for the production of these vacuous films. The only way the consumer can fight back is by boycotting the product. Then, and only then, will producers take a chance on exploring new avenues. It is really up to the filmmaker.

Plunging Concorde illustrates film's artistic quality

Kiddie TV takes small steps

By Bruce Gans
Chicago Sun Times

The new fall television season is just starting, bringing with it that very minor, but very special broadcast genre—Saturday morning kiddie programming.

Saturday morning television has, of course, been taking its lumps in recent years from various parental and professional groups. Critics have charged that the programs present excessive violence and a host of subliminal sexist, racist and otherwise reprehensible messages.

In short, they've maintained that Saturday morning children's TV flatteringly betrays the creeds professed by its superheroes, using its enormous powers in the service of evil.

Children's shows this fall are generally not much better, according to Dr. Karen Crawford, a practicing psychiatrist at the University of Illinois Child Psychiatry Clinic. Their creators, she says, are still primarily concerned with selling products rather than assisting children with emotional development.

Crawford, who is also a Child Psychiatry Fellow at the Institute for Juvenile Research, spent one recent Saturday morning viewing many children's TV offerings. Despite her negative overview, she concluded that in some ways the shows are beneficial—and, in smaller ways, the networks have modified some of their most glaring sins.

Jason of Star Command (CBS) exhibits some of the positive elements, she said. It features a handsome, impetuous space cadet in a futuristic setting that is one part "Star Wars" and a thousand parts droid. He is flanked, on the command, by a sweet-natured, balding, ineffectual but adoring sidekick, whose function is roughly equivalent to that of a younger brother. On the other hand, there's a clearly older, inflexible, authoritarian man with vaguely blue-tinted skin. He is Jason's boss, responsible for the entire operation.

The commander constantly dresses down Jason for his reckless rule-breaking while performing miraculous, heroic feats. The high point of a recent episode involved Jason's entry to an alien spaceship (about to explode) to rescue a woman passenger, who turns out to be a quite attractive blonde woman. After winning her release, Jason is pinned to the floor by a fallen ladder.

He advises the passenger to abandon him and escape herself. "I would take a dozen men to lift this," he says.

"Or," she replies, "lifting it effortlessly," "one good woman!" "Children, especially those 7 and under," Crawford explained, "often use these kinds of shows to help them cope with a variety of impulses—and conflicts—in that particular episode: the child—whether boy or girl—identifies with Jason. And the implicit message is that the impetuous hero who cannot conform to the rules—because he's a much better and more wonderful partner for the woman than the rigid, inflexible, domineering father.

"That is probably a universal God-given sentiment among young kids," she added. "And in some ways it probably temporarily relieves the normal frustrations a child meets in everyday life.

And, of course, when sexism raises its ugly head, it was immediately clibbed into the ground."

One minor reservation Crawford had with Jason was that its cast consisted of real people rather than cartoon versions or, better still, anthropomorphized animals.

"When a young child sees some of the 'Id' impulses acted out on television," said Crawford, "it's far less threatening when it's associated with someone clearly removed from their immediate environment.

Godzilla (NBC) illustrates Crawford's point. The show revolves around the "exotic" adventures of cartoon adults and children and a spritely, ray-poly baby child called Godzilla. The quintessential sweet and stumbling infant, Godzookie invariably finds himself in the midst of some unexpected peril.

In a recent segment Godzookie hovered too near a ferocious, enraged octopus-like monster, which trapped him in an enormous tentacle. From out of nowhere, his parent, Godzilla, arose to simultaneously save him and hurl the monster into oblivion.

"Young children need to have issues clearly defined," Crawford observed. "Godzilla does that. There is no question as to the good guy.

"And the show also reassures children that our all-powerful Mommys and Daddys will always come to the rescue, and keep them from being engulfed by the dangerous world around them. It reassures them of their own clumsiness and 'incompetence' in manipulating their environment does not make them any less lovable or good."

Another twist, which may be seen as either anti-capitalist or pro-environmental, has been introduced by Tarzan and the Super Seven (CBS). The sources of conflict in this series are usually outsiders representing some profit-hungry civilization bent on a killing in elephant tusks or treasures of gold. The message, according to Crawford, is that nature functions in harmony and balance until thrown violently off by "unnatural" and personally unpleasant entrepreneurs.

"Though adults may be immediately struck by the barely pertinent analogy drawn in these shows, Crawford pointed out that elaborate word play is often unnecessary. The very young," she said, "are usually too brightly off by their own blossoming physical abilities. They become most easily involved with characters who also run, jump, bang into things and get up in order to foil some villain executing elaborate and ultimate evil schemes to perth them up."

"That scenario is especially true of the mute Roadrunner (that of The Bugs Bunny-Road Runner Show on CBS). And, to a lesser extent, it applies to the All New Popeye Hour (CBS), which would more accurately be entitled The Somewhat Modified Popeye Hour. The Popeye cast remains the same. Bluto and Popeye are still trading pratfalls over Olive. The modern Popeye, however, takes periodic breaks to instruct his audience, instead of simply cutting speech, for example, in one spot he told kids about the various components (protein, grains, etc.) in a well-balanced diet.

And, as further proof of the creators' attempts to eradicate sexism, one cartoon show Olive freeing herself from Bluto's evil clutches with a throw that would have made Bruce Lee proud. It isn't much, said Crawford, but it's probably a step up from depending on Popeye's traditionally tardy arrival on the scene.

The one feature-length cartoon show that places a higher priority on helping children than on simply entertaining them is the New 51 Albert Show (CBS, hosted by Hill Cosby). Here a group of young black children typically encounter problems real children may face. For example, a recent program centered around Dimitri, a new kid on the block who was ostracized and tormented because he was involved with ballet.
