TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — Iran and the United States will go to war if Washington tries to block Iranian shipping routes, a top Iranian official said Friday.

In Washington, Secretary of State Cyrus Vance refused to rule out the possibility of a U.S. naval blockade to support an international economic embargo — a Washington-inspired move aimed at forcing Iran to surrender 50 American hostages, held for a 69th day.

At the United Nations, the United States "hesitatingly" agreed to a 20-hour delay on a vote by the U.N. Security Council to impose economic sanctions against Iran after a hint that Iran may be ready to negotiate the hostages' release.

Iran's Ambassador Mansour Farhang orally told U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim that his government would release the hostages if the deposed shah's extradition would be considered and his funds in the U.S. returned to Iran.

U.S. Ambassador Donald McHenry told the Council during closed-door deliberations the United States "hesitatingly" consented to the postponement until 6 p.m. EST Saturday to allow one last chance to settle the crisis.

The logical focus for such a blockade would be the Hormuz Strait at the mouth of the Persian Gulf, the narrow waterway through which is funneled most of the Middle East oil bound for the world's industrialized nations.

"If the American fleet blocks the mouth of the Persian Gulf, Iranian Commerce Minister Reza Sadri told the official Paris news agency Friday, "that will result in war."

"In such an event," he said, "the issue will become two-sided" and war will be inevitable.

India backs Soviet Union

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Country after country Friday condemned the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan.

Kuwait's Ambassador Abdulla Yacoub Bishara strode first to the rostrum when the General Assembly resumed its emergency debate on the Afghanistan crisis and he rejected the new Kabul government as "window dressing."

No government can claim legality if it is propped up by foreign troops," he said.

Foreign Minister Agha Shahi of Pakistan, Afghanistan's fellow-Muslim neighbor, said the Soviets "massive military intervention" set a dangerous precedent.

"Today, it is Afghanistan which is the victim," he said. "Tomorrow, it may be its neighbors and the small countries of the Middle East."

India's Ambassador Brajesh Mishra, following instructions from new Prime Minister-elect Indira Gandhi, protested the assembly's Afghanistan debate.

Mishra said India "accepted Moscow's explanation for the Soviet military intervention in Afghanistan."

Skirmishes in countryside

Afghans riot outside prison

KABUL, Afghanistan (UPI) — Nearly 1,000 persons stormed the gates of Kabul's main prison Friday in a desperate bid to free their imprisoned relatives but guards drove them back with gunfire and killed at least two of them, witnesses said.

In the countryside, Muslim insurgents skirmished with government forces and planted land mines along key roads to disrupt and delay the advance of Soviet troops trying to extend their supply lines throughout rural Afghanistan, diplomats and travelers said.

Although reports were sketchy and often obscured by the insurgents' improbable claims of enormous Soviet casualties, information available in Kabul indicated that the anti-government rebels were giving the Soviets a hard time in extending their supply lines over the mountainous terrain of eastern and southern Afghanistan. Widely scattered fighting was reported, but the Soviets apparently were using Afghan government troops to do most of it, diplomatic sources said.

The bloody melee at the gates of Kabul's Policharki prison erupted after relatives gathered to await the release of prisoners promised amnesty by the new Soviet-installed regime of President Babrak Karmal.

Prison officials claimed they released 126 prisoners Friday. But from inside the prison walls a voice shouted, "We are still 500 here."

The crowded outside went wild and rushed the gates. Prison guards leveled their guns and fired, sending the crowd reeling back and killing at least two persons, witnesses said.

The crowd had gathered in response to Karmal's promise to free all but a handful of the estimated 12,000 to 15,000 political prisoners in Afghanistan. "Most of them have been the 2-week-old regime installed in the wake of the Soviet invasion, has so far freed only about 2,000 persons."

Evans deplors decision

Nuke waste dump for U.S. put off

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. John Evans said Friday President Carter's decision to postpone creation of a national nuclear waste dump in New Mexico is an "embarrassment for the United States."

Evans told the Idaho Newspaper Association convention in Boise Friday in creating the disposal site mean that nuclear wastes now kept at the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory near Arco will remain in the state.

He said he received word Friday morning the Carter Administration decided to postpone selection of the New Mexico site until 1982 because of opposition from the House Armed Services Committee, which would like to reserve the site exclusively for defense wastes.

"This delay is an embarrassment for the United States, for this administration and for all the past administrations that have ignored the problem," Evans said. He said solid waste at the INEL is "temporarily" stored on top of asphalt slabs and covered with plastic and dirt, a method he described as inadequate.

"Those wastes are going to last 100,000 years or more," he said. "That's not an appropriate site to store these wastes there, over the (Snake River Plain) aquifer and this is the very reason I've been concerned about the injection wells, too."

The INEL injects radioactive waste water into the aquifer as a method of disposal. Evans has gained assurances from the U.S. Energy Department that injection practices will be halted as soon as possible.

The INEL also stores the solid nuclear wastes that would have been sent to New Mexico. Evans said delaying creation of that solid-waste dump, however, creates potentially hazardous conditions. He said an earthquake could cause the solid wastes to seep into the aquifer.

Evans also asked the newspaper publishers and editors to support his call for creation of a state energy department. He said legislators subscribe to a "head-in-the-sand philosophy" when they say such a department isn't necessary.

Idaho's chief executive said last summer he asked the Pacific Northwest Regional Commission for funds to hire seven employees so that Idaho's diesel fuel could be fairly allocated across the state. He said he had no state funds available for the "crisis," and considered calling legislators into an emergency session.

He went to the regional commission, however, because he felt it would cost Idaho taxpayers too much money for an emergency legislative session. If an energy department isn't created this legislative session and other crisis develops, he will turn to the Legislature to solve any funding problems.

White House pushes gasohol development

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House announced Friday it is accelerating its gasohol development plans.

The major element will be a $3 billion, five-year program of loan guarantees and grants to farmers and other small distillers.

Although gasohol is expected to create new markets for corn and the new plan is designed to benefit farmers, Stuart Eizenstat, President Carter's chief domestic adviser, said the program had nothing to do with the Soviet grain embargo and the approaching Iowa Democratic caucus.

The new program will quadruple the current production of gasohol by the end of 1980 and expand domestic alcohol distillation capacity to 500 million gallons during 1981 through tax breaks, loan guarantees and other subsidies, he said.

By the end of 1981, Eizenstat said, 10 percent of all unleaded gasoline would be gasohol, which is nine parts gasoline and one part pure ethyl alcohol.

The United States, which consumes about 7 million barrels a day of gasoline, currently produces only about 70 million gallons a year of ethyl alcohol. The bulk of the alcohol production is concentrated at just one large Illinois distillery.

Eizenstat said gasohol would not be a feasible alternative to gasoline without the federal program, which he said amounts to a total subsidy for gasohol of $6 cents per gallon.

In a statement released at the news conference, Carter noted that his administration already is committed to providing between $9.5 billion and $13 billion in public money to stimulate alcohol production during the coming decade.

Aside from the new subsidies for small gasohol developers, other main elements of the program include:

• A permanent exemption for gasohol from the 4 percent federal gasoline tax.

• A 6-cent per gallon gasohol production tax credit.

• A $1 billion subsidy to encourage the construction of large distilleries.

• Use of some gasohol in government vehicles.

Carter said the production of ethyl alcohol from fiber and agricultural by-products can meet the fuel needs of millions of Americans, including farmers.

The new gasohol program became a top administration priority this week after Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher said alcohol production would absorb 5 million tons of the grain barred from the Soviet export trade.

Carter and company push for public support to boy con summer games in Moscow as great blow to Soviet prestige

Wycott, a prominent figure in the anti-Soviet movement, is seen in a photograph. The text discusses the political implications of the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan and the impact on the 1980 Summer Olympics in Moscow. It mentions that the Carter administration is pushing for a boycott of the games as a response to the Soviet actions. The text also touches upon the broader context of the Cold War and the role of the United States in opposing Soviet expansionism.

Feminist: release of ERA judge 'transparent'

BOISE (UPI) — Sonia Johnson, who was excommunicated from the Mormon Church because of her support of women's rights, said Friday the church's release of a federal judge presiding over Idaho and Arizona's ERA rescission case was a "transparent" action.

Speaking at a news conference in Boise, Mrs. Johnson said the reason for U.S. District Judge Marion Callister's release is still rumor, but she felt the move was made so that Callister's impartiality in the case could no longer be questioned.

However, Mrs. Johnson said Callister "is the same man he was" with the "same loyalty, the same heart." Idaho and Arizona have challenged the Congress' right to extend the ratification of the ERA on constitutional grounds. The U.S. Justice Department later asked Callister to step down from the case because he was a regional official of the Mormon Church. The church openly opposes the ERA.

Callister refused to step down, saying his religious beliefs would not affect his sense of justice, but late last year, reports said the church had released Callister from his office.

Mrs. Johnson said Callister probably would rule in favor of the states in the case and the suit would be appealed to the Supreme Court. "The Supreme Court... has already said the extension is good law," Mrs. Johnson said. "It will hold."

Mrs. Johnson also said she believed the ERA would be ratified, but said "it's been tough because there has been a backlash because of the extension."

"There was not one of us that believed we would get the extension — that was a miracle," Mrs. Johnson said. "We will get equal rights under the law."

"I feel wretched. The choice shouldn't have to be made." She said although the church denies that she was excommunicated for supporting the ERA, that is not true.

"I know that I was excommunicated because of the ERA," she said. "Still, although Mrs. Johnson said she is '100 percent opposed to their (the Mormon Church's) politics, I am not opposed to their doctrine. I want to be a member of the church."

She said she thinks her excommunication has had a favorable effect on the relationship between the church and the ERA because it "has put the ERA in their minds. There is not the same surety about the position as there was." "I consider myself an explosion in the church. This is just the beginning."

Mrs. Johnson will be speaking in Boise Saturday at an ERA benefit rally sponsored by the Boise chapters of the American Association of University Women and the National Organization of Women. She will speak on the misconceptions about the effects the ERA will have on the home.

Mrs. Johnson said opponents of the ERA "think they invented the family."

Forlornly waiting

A storm packing powerful winds and pouring rains hit southern California Friday, creating massive traffic tieups and keeping residents busily stacking sandbags. Bruce Kahl of Torrance waits forlornly for a low after his car stalled when he tried to cross a flooded intersection.

Jobless rate stable

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Unemployment edged up slightly to 5.9 percent of the American workforce in December to mark the 17th consecutive month of stability in the U.S. job market, the Labor Department reported Friday.

Despite a growing number of layoffs in the automobile industry, last month's jobless rate was just a notch above November's 5.8 percent level. It was also identical with the December 1979 rate, which meant that as the U.S. workforce expanded over this year the number of persons finding jobs rose at the same pace.

The percentage of jobless Americans has moved in the narrow band of 5.7 percent to 5.9 percent for the past 17 months.

Leftists capture embassy

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Leftist terrorists seized the Panamanian Embassy and took two ambassadors hostage Friday. Police said Panamanian Ambassador David Perez and Costa Rican Ambassador Alejandro Alvarado were held along with at least five other diplomats inside the embassy in eastern San Salvador.

They said the embassy was seized by about 50 members of the leftist Feb. 28 Popular Leagues who walked into the mission on noon Friday. The Costa Rican ambassador and one of his aides were visiting the embassy at the time.

Three armored personnel carriers and two truck loads of troops surrounded the building. The terrorists demanded the release of seven members of their group arrested three weeks ago when troops raided a farm that had been taken over by workers, killing 12 people and wounding eight.

Observers said the embassy occupation appeared to be part of a string of attacks launched to mark the merger of seven leftist groups battling the junta appointed three days ago by El Salvador's military rulers and the moderate Christian Democratic party.

Sextuplets born in Italy

FLORENCE, Italy (UPI) — A 28-year-old woman Friday gave birth to four boys and two girls. The doctors said Rosanna Giannini and the infants, who weighed between 2.7 and 3.7 pounds, were in good condition. The Gianninis reportedly sold exclusive rights to the babies to an Italian magazine.

Doctors at the Careggi obstetrical clinic said Mrs. Giannini, a high school literature teacher from the nearby town of Bibbiena, did not take fertility drugs but they said she had taken drugs to regulate her menstrual cycle and that those drugs may have partially caused the multiple birth.

Longshoremen sentenced

MIAMI (UPI) — Two international vice presidents of the International Longshoremen's Association were sentenced to long prison terms Friday and an IILA organizer drew a shorter term on racketeering charges involving five Atlantic and Gulf coast ports.

They were among eight union officials and shipping executives convicted Sept. 1. The longest prison sentence went to George Barrone, 56, of Miami, president of the IILA's Miami Local 1922. He drew concurrent 10-year terms for corrupt conduct and influence over the waterfront industry in various parts of the United States and for conspiracy. A consecutive five-year term was tacked onto the sentence for a number of extortion convictions and Barrone was fined $10,000.

Castro shakes up cabinet

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Cuban President Fidel Castro reshuffled his cabinet Friday and took direct control over the armed forces.

The moves were an effort to ease the island's worst economic slump since he took power 21 years ago. The shakeup announced by Cuba's official Prensa Latina news agency involved the appointment of seven Politburo members and one high government official to various parts of the United States and for conspiracy. A consecutive five-year term was tacked onto the sentence for a number of extortion convictions and Barrone was fined $10,000.

Analysts in Mexico City said the changes effectively put Cuba's top officials in direct charge of "problem areas" such as the sugar industry, food production, foreign trade and industrial planning and development.

Heating aid for any purpose

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Social Security Administration Friday told recipients of federal emergency checks for home heating aid that they may use the money any way they see fit if they don't need it for heating bills.

The commission admitted many of the 1.9 million persons who received the one-time checks, ranging up to $250, this week live in nursing homes, rented apartments or institutions where they do not pay directly for their own heating.

Commissioner William J. Driwer said when the emergency heating bill was passed last November, "recognizing that a large bureaucracy working over many months would be necessary to tailor assistance to persons in their own homes, the administration proposed to assist everyone receiving Supplemental Security Income."

This includes needy, aged, blind and disabled persons. Driwer noted most of the recipients "pay — one way or another" for higher energy costs.

Evans raps nuke waste decision

"If the Legislature doesn't act (creation of an energy department), then the fuel allocation program we had last summer won't be available this summer," he said. "Our people will be in a crisis situation and I'm not going to pull the Legislature's chips out of the fire again."

Evans also said the important issues confronting Idahoans the Legislature include:

• Gradual implementation of the 1980 property tax law to assure government units adequate funding. Evans said statistics complied by his office show that property taxes when averaged throughout the state, actually are at 78 percent lower than the 1 percent law mandate.

He said Idahoans "should stand up and be proud" that the 1 percent is working, but said legislators should delay, not postpone, but phase in the law.

He said his Management Force Implementation Committee has recommended a delay in consolidating Idaho's Health and Welfare Department Regions. Instead of dividing the districts as he previously announced, Evans said he will go to the Legislature and ask that problems of duplication between those regions and county health districts be solved first.

"Assured the group that an Idaho Law Enforcement Department accountability system will not be used as a quota requirement for officers' arrests."

Said he expects a major oil or natural gas discovery in eastern Idaho very soon. He said the state will consider taxing production of the oil or gas only after discoveries have been made. Moves to lax production before that time would hamper development, he said.

Carter faces uphill battle to boycott 1980 Olympics

"We're not altogether sure it could be done," a Carter aide said. "The games would have to be moved to a site where facilities were built earlier for the games, such as Montreal or Munich. But we're not sure that could be done either."

Roby said, "The idea of moving the games is out of the question at this late date. And if the games are not held next summer, there would be no games until 1984."

The Olympics have been called off for three consecutive years because of war. In 1916, they were scheduled to be held in Berlin, but canceled because of the outbreak of World War I. In 1940, they were first scheduled for 1940 and later, because of the outbreak of war in Manchuria, were rescheduled for Helsinki. But they finally were canceled because of the outbreak of World War II. In 1954 they were scheduled for London and canceled because of the continuing war.

If the United States does decide to boycott the Moscow Olympics, it apparently will have to make up its mind before accepting an invitation to the games or run the risk of having sanctions imposed for withdrawing.

Such sanctions could include the removal of the 1984 Olympic games from Los Angeles. On Jan. 3 the day before Carter raised the Olympics question in his speech on Afghanistan, Lord Killanin, president of the International Olympic Committee, announced that invitations for the Moscow Olympics would be sent to all national Olympic committees before the end of January.

Janu. Saudi Arabia already has announced it will boycott the Moscow Olympics because of the invasion of Afghanistan, and a Carter aide said he expects other Muslim countries to seriously consider following suit when they meet later this month to discuss the Afghanistan situation.

Iran: blockade won't work

Washington's veiled threat and Tehran's not-so-veiled counter-threat were exchanged even as the U.S. Security Council met to consider a U.S. demand for economic sanctions against Iran and the regime of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

There was no immediate comment from the 79-year-old Islamic strongman, who his office said was "absent" and intends to go into seclusion for 15 days starting Saturday.

The Security Council already was four days behind the deadline of Jan. 7 for the United States to refer the matter to the Security Council.

The hostages by Friday had spent 69 days in captivity at the U.S. Embassy and despite the U.N. threat and a report by a Khomeini aide this week that there had been "some movement" for the hostages did not appear imminent.

The war of words between Washington and Tehran erupted as crisis-ridden Iran enjoyed its quietest day in weeks — free for the most part from the demonstrations and violence that have become almost a routine part of daily existence.

The U.S. Navy has ships stationed in both the Persian Gulf and the Arabian Sea off Iran, all within striking distance of the Hormuz Strait, dividing Iran and the Gulf states to the south.

It is not clear whether he would rule out a naval blockade to enforce U.N. sanctions against Iran. Vance replied, "I do not rule it out."

How successful any such blockade would be in hurting Iran was questionable.

Austria already has said it was not prepared to go along with an embargo, and several Eastern European countries, notably Yugoslavia and Romania, have promised additional economic aid to Tehran.

Sadr said Iran also has received offers from Latin American governments to offset the effects of a boycott of Iran-bound ships by U.S. stock workers, who refuse to load them.

"We can meet the shortages with what we have purchased, what we have in reserve and what we produce," Sadr said.

"If America wants to carry out an economic blockade, we shall come out of it as victors."

Canada matches U.S. steps against Soviets

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister Joe Clark Friday announced a strong series of economic measures by Canada against the Soviet Union, including a ban on Soviet relations moves over the invasion of Afghanistan.

Canada has cut off the Soviet Union's credit, halted high-technology exports and reaffirmed its refusal to let the Soviet Union export grain, Clark said.

Clark said cultural exchanges with the Soviet Union had been halted, talks aimed at increasing Soviet flights into Canada had been canceled. He said Canada "will take a lead" in trying to move the Summer Olympics from Moscow to an alternate site.

He also announced that Canada would provide aid for Afghan refugees forced to flee from their homeland to Pakistan.

Following a lengthy cabinet meeting, Clark said further sanctions might be announced later.

Canada's moves — the strongest to date against the Soviet Union by a major Western ally — matched President Carter's sanctions against Moscow virtually step-by-step.

Clark said Canada would continue to sail grain to the Soviet Union at a rate of about 300,000 metric tons annually, but that level would not be increased.

"With respect to the Olympic Games, I have not the suggestion made by Mr. (Walter) Mondale that perhaps there might be some possibility of establishing the Olympic Games or moving them to Montreal," Clark said.

"This is something that we would be ready to consider if there is a request which is made by the International Olympic Committee," he said.

Panel on 1% offers three alternatives

By DAVID MORRISSEY

Times-News writer
BOISE — A legislative interim committee assigned the job of determining how the 1 percent initiative should be implemented was a "failure," because its task was too complicated, one member of that committee said Friday.

"We were charged with finding a distribution formula," Rep. Darwin Young, R-Blackfoot, told the House Revenue and Taxation Committee. "But determining how the monies available under the taxing lid of the initiative should be divided proved to be a 'stumbling block,'" he added.

"From that standpoint the committee was a failure, because we really never did come up with a distribution formula," Young said. Idaho's 1 percent initiative passed by the voters in 1978, limits property taxes to 1 percent of actual market value. The 1979 Legislature, in attempting to fully implement that initiative without destroying local government services, paid for with property taxes, increased property taxes at their 1978 levels. It also delayed the effective date of much of the new law for one year.

During that one year period, the legislative interim committee was charged with determining how property tax revenues could be equitably reduced to fall within the 1 percent limit. It was also charged with determining how the reduced revenues should then be distributed among local governments.

Under Idaho law, almost all local governments and taxing districts must depend on property taxes for the bulk of their revenues. In all, there are some 860 local taxing districts in Idaho, ranging from cities and counties to cemetery, fire and sewer districts.

Young said the committee first drafted a county-wide plan for dividing tax revenues.

But according to Idaho's Attorney General, treating the county as a single taxing district was unconstitutional.

Other plans for dividing tax revenues included giving a tax rebate to areas of the county that didn't receive city services. That was rejected when local government officials said they would be swamped with determining who should get rebates and the size of those rebates.

Young said, however, the interim committee was recommending several possible solutions to the Legislature for implementation.

Continuing the existing property tax freeze without an adjustment for inflation. Because of the tax freeze, during the last year property taxes in most areas of Idaho have decreased.

The new, previously untaxed property was added to local tax rolls. A continuation of that freeze for one additional year would bring most local property taxes below the 1 percent limit. Young said.

Continuing the existing property tax freeze with an adjustment for inflation. This would keep property taxes essentially at the 1978 levels, although local governments would be allowed to increase taxes to replace funds lost through inflation. Young said this step would mean property tax levels would likely fall under the 1 percent limit within two to three years.

A proportional reduction equally affecting all taxing districts. This would take "considerable work," Young said. It would involve determining and assessing the different levels of property taxes charged by each of Idaho's 860 taxing districts, including districts that overlap or cross city and county lines. If this formula for the distribution of property tax revenues can be determined, Young added, the initiative can be fully implemented this year.

Housewife sells 'glass plate' for $40; worth $1,800

NILES, Ill. — The story of a small fortune lost because a housewife had no idea her glass plate was a collector's item, recently came to pass.

In a letter to F. H. MacArthur, chairman of the Bradford Exchange, world's largest trading center in collector's plates, a Madison, Wis., woman wrote: "I had a Lalique 1965 plate, which I sold to a friend for $40. I had not heard of you at that time."

The plate she sold is actually valued at more than $1,800. Although MacArthur points out that this price is exceptionally high, he said, "I'm afraid others may be losing hundreds or thousands of dollars by not knowing what their plate is worth."

To aid in identifying valuable plates, the exchange issues a report that includes current prices on more than 300 plates, guidelines on what to look for and when to buy, and the plate evaluation checklist used by the exchange.

To obtain a copy without cost or obligation, just send your name, address, and zip code before Saturday of next week to: The Bradford Exchange, Dept. A27303, 201 Milwaukee Avenue, Niles, IL 60648. A postcard will do.

Medical services half of Health and Welfare increase

BOISE (UPI) — State Health and Welfare Director Milton Klein topped his presentation to a legislative committee today by defending the department's request for an 18.1 percent budget increase.

"This may sound adequate, even generous, in the year of the 1 percent, but please keep in mind that close to half of that increase goes directly to nursing homes and other providers of medical services to the needy," Klein said.

Klein told the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee, which decides how much money state agencies will receive, that the remainder of the 18.1 percent requested boost "must be spread" among all other human services covered by the department. He said this is less than the forecast inflation rate and therefore represents a funding cut.

Klein suggested the Legislature could help his department cut spiraling Medicaid by allowing tax breaks to people who take care of their own elderly or handicapped relatives.

"The director says most of the people on the welfare rolls don't want to be there, and Health and Welfare are trying to find them jobs."

A big problem faced by the department, Klein said, is "chronic underfunding" of maintenance efforts. He said this trend eventually could lead to "extensive damage to Idaho health facilities and higher maintenance and repair costs."

In all, Klein's agency has asked for $61.8 million in general account funds. "It is critical that we remember that services provided to our mentally retarded, mentally ill, alcoholic and juvenile delinquent populations, if reduced, will not be assumed anywhere else, and we will be guilty of neglect and abuse of these populations in need," Klein said.

He thanked the committee for approving a funding hike last year for the state sewage treatment construction program, and urged the lawmakers to spend additional funds this year to set up state monitoring capability at the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory.

Wage hike denied

BOISE (UPI) — A solid-House Republican bloc voted 46-20 Friday to defeat an attempt by the minority Democrats to increase the salaries of legislative attaches.

Majority Leader Walter Little, R-New Plymouth, was directing a seemingly routine resolution on the floor to allow the payment of the attaches on the 49-year-old rates when Minority Leader Patricia McDermott intervened.

The Pocatello Democrat called for a vote on a general order to allow open amendment of Little's resolution, but the Republicans held together to defeat her move. Then, the legislators voted unanimously to approve the salaries at the present level.

Miss McDermott said the attaches, who make $17 a day, had not been given a raise since 1970, "and that's barely the minimum wage." She also said the chaplain, who reads the opening prayer, has been paid $10 a day for 10 years.

"Under the laws we impose on the private sector, we would be required to pay them time-and-a-half for weekend work," she said.

She complained that the "lovely, gorgeous, red carpet" installed last fall in the Senate chambers for $28,000 got more consideration than the attaches.

Little responded that he had heard no complaints from the helpers, but Miss McDermott responded that if an attaché cried "he knows he would be thrown out on his ear."

In addition, the minority chief said the senior legislative fiscal officer's $39,200 annual salary was too high.

Little said the House should wait until next year to consider the pay hikes when it had more time before the session began.

A myna occasion

BOISE — Idaho's First Bird is dead. But his spirit will be long remembered.

Friday the untimely death of Woodstock Bird, a coal-black myna bird belonging to Lt. Gov. Phil Batt, was mourned by the Idaho Legislature and Gov. John Evans.

Sen. Chick Bilyeu, D-Pocatello, read a public tribute to the sharp-tongued bird, who was known to walk while at secretaries and sing a mean version of "Down in the Valley." Pointing out his tribute was part of a bi-partisan ceremony for "Birdie," (as he was known to his friends and admirers), Bilyeu said Republicans were "appreciative of Woodstock's friendly-spirited complaint that "Andrus is like that," and "Andrus should have known better."

Now Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus, a Democrat, was governor of Idaho when Batt, then a Republican state senator, first purchased Woodstock.

Senators also read aloud a letter from Gov. John Evans, a Democrat, but a bird lover, who said he would miss Woodstock, but that he appreciated that the bird had lived to hear this year's State of the State address.

Woodstock's mimicking of Batt's secretary, his calling "come in" to any person passing by. Frequently the person would then enter the office, legislators said, only to find it empty except for an innocent looking myna bird.

RAISE THE MONEY!
 Novelist Clive Cussler isn't yet in the financial bracket of Mario Puzo and Judith Krantz, but his "Raise the Titanic!" hero, Dirk Pitt, still is serving him well. Cussler has just set an all-time British book-sale record, and he hasn't even written the book yet. Spiera Books in London is paying him $337,500 for Pitt's next adventure. Meanwhile, in a real-life adventure, Cussler still is trying to salvage John Ford Jones' Bonhomme Richard, sunk in 1779.

76 MORE TROMBONES
 Meredith Wilson won the first Grammy Award for his now-perennial "Music Man" in 1958. Thursday, he was handed another one—Wilson was given the special Governor's Award Grammy to mark the Hollywood opening of the show—this time starring Dick Van Dyke, who, with ASCAP director Sammy Fain, joined Wilson at the ceremony. "Music Man," which has gone through more than 8,000 separate productions, now holds the all-time No. 3 record for box office gross.

BEHIND THE NAME: Robert Preston, who played the Mustie Man in the movie, was born Robert Meservey.

NO DEDICATION!
 Samiha Koura may be the most frustrated producer in New York. She's putting the finishing touches on a new review—"Vegas to New York"—to open at the Big Apple's Club 1015. The show contains a "Star Trek" number that has just about everything the real production did—with one exception. Says Ms. Koura, who has eight showgirls signed for the segment, "Not a single one of them will shave her head!"

CHEWS GUM TOO
 Ever try to pat yourself on the head and rub your stomach at the same time? Grady Tate—one of the top jazz drummers in show biz—can top that act. His band played a wedding this week at the New York Explorers' Club—a big, old, pre-empted-the-Pittsburgh Steelers Houston Oilers game. Tate—a rabid Steeler fan—wasn't about to miss it, so while he worked the sticks he listened to-the-game via radio ear plug. Says Tate, "Lucky they won. I might have missed some beats."

ROBERT REDFORD ... not his show

ROBERT PRESTON ... a new music man

REDFORDED OUT

Robert Redford has two horses in Denver's National Western Stock Show, and Arleen Bismark, who handles the phones—is quite huffy about it. Says she, "Robert Redford and Robert Redford. That's all I've talked to people about the last two days. I'm sick of him. This is the stock show, not the Robert Redford show." But Redford's horse-trainer, Noel Skinner, says his boss never shows up at shows. Now if his fans will just believe it, Ms. Bismark may get a little peace.

JOLLY PEDDLER

Cable Ron Salma says he should have known something was amiss. His fare, in Woodliff Lake, N.J., asked to go to New York to pick up 100 pounds of cheese—which he then tried to peddle to gourmet shops and restaurants all over the big apple. When he finally gave up—Salma's meter read $35. His passenger didn't have it—so Salma got the cheese. Says he, "I think the guy really meant well, but I should have known something was wrong. He was wearing purple tennis shoes."

President, labor mourn him

Meany's body to lie in state; funeral private

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Government and labor leaders Friday mourned the passing of George Meany.

Governors in some states ordered flags down at half-staff until Meany's funeral, which will be held at Tuesday morning in St. Matthew's Cathedral in northwest Washington.

The AFL-CIO said attendance at the requiem mass will be by invitation only. Burial will follow at Gate of Heaven Cemetery in nearby Silver Spring, Md.

"He forged the strongest, the most independent, the most democratic labor movement in the world," Kirkland said, emphasizing Meany's leadership in developing free trade union movements throughout the world.

"Behind the Iron Curtain and in all countries ruled by dictators," he said, George Meany was hated by the oppressors because he was a beacon of hope for the oppressed."

President Carter called Meany "an American institution."

"He changed the shape of our nation for the better in hundreds of ways, great and small, through the force of his character and the integrity of his beliefs," said Carter.

Meany's health had deteriorated steadily over the past several months, and federation officials were astonished at his ability to appear and speak briefly at the November convention when he retired.

Meany grew up in the labor movement as a plumber in New York City. He became head of the New York State American Federation of Labor, then president of the old American Federation of Labor.

In 1955, when the federation merged with the Congress of Industrial Organizations, he was chosen the first president of the AFL-CIO.

Meany died at George Washington University Hospital Thursday night of cardiac arrest following a long illness. He was 85.

Lane Kirkland, who succeeded Meany as head of the 13.6 million-member AFL-CIO in November, said the federation was Meany's legacy.

"George Meany constructed this house of labor out of the same granite that his maker used in creating him," Kirkland said in a statement he read at federation headquarters.

The president recalled the words of Pope John Paul II as he clasped the hands of an emaciated Meany when they met at the White House three months ago: "You do good work for your people. We all want George Meany's people, and the good work he did will continue to serve us for a long time to come."

Sen. Edward Kennedy, campaigning in Iowa, said Meany was "in the forefront of social justice in this country over the period of 50 years."

Meany even won praise from former Teamsters Union president Dave Beck, whose union Meany ousted from the AFL-CIO in 1954.

Horoscope

Libras should secure estimates for repairs, study monetary status

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are able to make a campaign of action whereby you can have much more success than you have had in a long time by carrying through in a thorough manner. Don't try to think too big but get into immediate tasks that need attention.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get your duties handled more efficiently and free valuable time. Be with good friends and make concrete plans for the future.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study your associates' activities so that you know better where you stand with them. Don't do anything you can be criticized for later.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study a new form of activity which would be good for you in the future, give your added income. Establish more harmony with co-workers.

MOON-CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Concentrating on coming to better terms with loved ones is wise now. Get into amusements together that improve relationships.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't start any argument at home and then this becomes a happy day and evening. Do some thorough investigating in a plan offered you.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) Go after the data that helps you handle routine affairs more efficiently. Show partners you are loyal and gain more cooperation.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Study monetary status and hit on right ideas for improving it appreciably. Get various estimates for any repairs you want to make.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Think of yourself and your own wishes so that personal life becomes more ideal. Make worthwhile contacts and add to roster of friends.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Situations are developing that could be to your benefit, so be alert. Do some research work that can be helpful to you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study how to pigeonhole friends as they fit better into your way of life. Avoid a tendency to splurge. Be sensible.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can have better luck with important matters if you gain the aid of a bigwig. Participate more in community affairs.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have many opportunities to expand in your activities, but be sure to come to the right decisions, choose wisely. WORK.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... ...he or she will have much vitality that has to be directed properly early. Otherwise your progeny could get into much trouble instead of being an inspiration to others. One who will be very good at sports also.

Women reach decision to break up before men

Women fall in love less easily than men. And out of love more easily. That's what a couple of scholars decided after following the romantic lives of 231 dating couples for two years. Fifty-five percent of the pairs stayed together while 45 percent split. Quizzes put to all of them indicated it was the man most usually who first declared the affection. And among those who broke up, it was the women most usually who first made that decision.

Those who play Bingo may know it's no simple trick to cover your complete card in 48 numbers or less. But it can be done. And a Las Vegas hotel has offered $10,000 to any bingo player who does it. The hotel has paid off three times in the last three years.

Were you aware that actor Sean Connery once won Scotland's Mr. Universe contest?

TYPIST
Q. Which of a touch typist's fingers do the most work?
A. The first finger of the right hand and the first and second fingers of the left. They handle 63 percent of the typing, in fact.

Q. Quick, quick, name the only American nation whose national sovereignty was not forfeited by revolution.
A. Canada, Canada.

Q. How many golf balls does the average touring professional golfer use every year?
A. About 700.

FUNERAL
A funeral director in Vancouver, B. C. offers a cardboard casket for $6. The departed is placed in the cardboard and the cardboard is placed in a catafalque for the funeral. The catafalque stays put. The cardboard with contents goes on for interment. A funeral there can cost as little as $150.

In the early days of radio hearabouts, it didn't matter much what you wore to work. And most of those who worked on the air showed up in fairly informal costumes. At the same time in England, however, the announcers on BBC radio wore tuxedos on the job. Why I don't know.

Am. asked how many drawings are needed to make a typical animated cartoon. Depends on it's length, obviously. Figure 24 drawings per second.

TWIN FALLS — The annual planning conference of Twin Falls First Baptist Church will be held Sunday from 3:30-5 p.m.

The purpose of the conference is to evaluate the church's program for the past year and to project plans for 1980.

All newly-elected church officers as well as carryover officers, board members and committee members are encouraged to attend by the Rev. Gilbert Myers, pastor.

Church of God revival

TWIN FALLS — Revival services will be held at the Church of God Jan. 13-18, beginning at 7:30 nightly.

The Rev. Dr. Barclay Swartz will lead the services. The public is invited.

Two leave on LDS missions

TWIN FALLS — John Higginbotham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Higginbotham of Twin Falls, will serve a two-year mission for the LDS church in Hamburg, Germany.

He will enter the Missionary Training Center in Provo, Utah, on Feb. 7.

Higginbotham graduated from Twin Falls High School in 1976 and attended Ricks College for one semester.

A farewell testimonial will be held Jan. 17 at 1:15 p.m. in the LDS 3rd Ward on Elizabeth Boulevard.

KIMBERLY — Jed David McKinlay, son of Mr. and Mrs. David J. McKinlay of Kimberly, has been called to serve an LDS mission to the California/Cresno area.

His farewell was held Dec. 30. He will enter the Missionary Training Center in Provo, Utah, on Jan. 17 prior to his departure for Fresno.

McKinlay is a 1978 graduate of Kimberly High School where he was active in football, wrestling and rodeo. He attended Ricks College in Rexburg for one year.

LDS stake conference set

TWIN FALLS — The semi-annual stake conference of the Twin Falls West Stake of the Church of Jesus Christ—of Latter-day Saints—will be held Jan. 19-20.

Leadership meeting will be held on Saturday afternoon and evening and conference sessions will be held Sunday at 8:30 a.m. at the Bull Church center for the Bull, First, Second and Third wards and Piler and Hollister wards.

The Twin Falls wards will meet at 11:30 a.m. at the Stake Center on Harrison Street.

B. Clair Johnson, regional representative of the Twin Falls region, will be the presiding authority.

Visitors are welcome to attend the Sunday morning sessions.

Commissioners stick to guns on hiring mental examiners

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Designated mental examiners for court hearings in Twin Falls County from now on will be hired on an individual basis rather than through the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare.

County Commission Chairman Merl E. Leonard said Friday the county is standing firm on its opposition to paying DHW for mental examinations the agency furnishes at the request of the courts.

He said the county officials feel this is double taxation, with the taxpayer paying the examiners through DHW and then the county reimbursing Health and Welfare for the service rendered.

Leonard said the county decision could change, pending the outcome of a study on the availability of psychologists and psychiatrists to handle the evaluations and the use of general practitioners on many of the cases.

Until the study is completed, the county will hire private practitioners as needed.

The county Friday secured the cooperation of the courts in a meeting attended by county officials, 5th District Administrative Judge Philip Becker of Shoshone, the county prosecutor, public defender and court representatives.

Leonard said it was determined at the meeting that psychologists can serve in the capacity of designated examiners, and so can general practitioners. The examinations need not be restricted to psychiatrists, who charge more for their services.

"We know that Gooding County is using private practitioners or medical doctors with no problems, and we understand Jerome County also uses services outside of the Health and Welfare specialists," Leonard said. "We have the full cooperation of the courts in seeing that these psychologists and doctors are not held up for long periods of time for testimony. Judge Becker told us the courts would always be willing to allow them to leave after giving testimony and to hold the doctors only as long as needed."

"If the individual is needed only 30 minutes, that is how long they will require him to stay," Leonard said.

He said the county has been billed as high as $100 an hour for Health and Welfare psychiatrists' services and the minimum is $30. Leonard and other commissioners believe they can use combined services of doctors and psychologists at a more reasonable rate.

Becker reminded commissioners of the state statute which requires immediate family — such as husband, wife, sons, daughters or parents to pay for the services if they are able. He said in this way the counties can recover some of the costs.

Twin Falls County officials balked at a request from the Department of Health and Welfare for payment on mental hearing evaluations. The DHW in the local region has asked to be reimbursed because 1 percent tax limitations have curtailed department funds.

Regional DHW officials said the law provides for reimbursement by counties, although in richer days the state agency did not find it necessary to enforce this provision and provided free evaluations.

DHW subsequently advised the county that as of Jan. 18 the services would be discontinued unless payment is received from the county commissioners.

Filer mayor feels lawyer hiring is conflict

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

FILER — Mayor Eldon Ryals of Filer said Thursday the City Council's decision to replace the city attorney may constitute a conflict of interest for some council members.

Council members John Glandon, Robert Fort and Leland Alexander voted not to rehire attorney Robert Rayborn of Twin Falls, and the remaining council member, Wanda Shaffer, voted in his favor. The mayor votes only to break a tie.

"It is my understanding that Bob and Alexander are both represented by Fred Decker of Twin Falls and that he also represents the Filer Mutual Telephone Co., where Glandon is employed," Ryals said.

The three voted to hire Decker to replace Rayborn, "and I feel this is a conflict of interest, and if they do employ Decker as their attorney, they should have abstained from voting on the replacement for Rayborn," Ryals continued. He said he plans to do some checking into the matter.

Ryals said he has no complaints against Decker and knows he is an excellent lawyer, but he is completely satisfied with Rayborn.

"His firm, which included his father and grandfather, has represented the city of Filer for 50 years. I have never worked with a more cooperative and efficient attorney, and in my job with the Department of Employment, I work with a lot of attorneys," Ryals said.

Ryals explained the other council members said they felt after 50 years it was time for a change, but he disagrees. He says as long as the service is satisfactory, he sees no need to change from someone familiar with the legal procedures of the city to someone who will have to learn the legalities of city projects and programs.

Councilman Glandon said Friday night he feels there is no conflict of interest on his part.

"Decker is the attorney for the Filer Mutual Telephone Co. and I happen to work there but I am not associated with Decker on my job. I don't know about the other men, but I think Decker did a represent Alexander in one deal," Glandon said.

Fort and Alexander were not available for comment Friday.

Glandon said he has nothing against Rayborn but just felt it was time for a change. He added there is some feeling the city did not obtain the best possible legal advice on awarding a contract for clean-up after the Beans Inc. fire last summer. Some believe Glandon said, that the council should have been advised to call for bids and thereby saved some money. He said he personally doesn't blame only the lawyer.

"There's no question but what the council was to blame, too," Glandon said.

In other business in the Tuesday night council meeting, Ryals announced reappointment of all city department heads for the coming year. Other councilmen did not challenge this, although Ryals said in an executive session Monday to discuss personnel matters, some council members suggested department heads be reappointed — for three months only.

Ryals said the move to replace the city attorney came as a complete surprise to him since there was no mention of changing the city attorney during Monday's executive session.

Glandon and Wanda Shaffer were officially sworn in Tuesday night as new council members.

Accidents result in 2 deaths

MAGIC VALLEY — A Burley woman and a Hailey man were killed in separate traffic accidents Friday, law enforcement officials said.

Mary Jane Davidson, 39, died following surgery at Cassia Memorial Hospital, hospital authorities reported. The extent of injuries was not released.

William Colin Griffin, 56, was pronounced dead at Mortiz Community Hospital shortly was a passenger in a car that failed to stop at a stop sign, according to Cassia County sheriff's deputies.

The report said a station wagon driven by David R. Davidson, 43, went through the intersection of 530 East and 200 South roads about 8 a.m. and was struck broadside by a pickup driven by Dale Harold Bowers, 16, of Burley. The Davidson vehicle spun around on the ice and came to rest on its side.

Mrs. Davidson and one of her daughters had to be extricated from the wreckage. She and daughter, Juanita, 11, and Melvin, 13, underwent surgery at Cassia Memorial Hospital. The daughters were in satisfactory condition Friday, according to the hospital.

The girls' father was treated and released. Bowers complained of some pain but was not admitted.

Sheriff deputies say a citation is pending.

Griffin's car collided with a truck four miles south of Ketchum on state Highway 75, according to Blaine County Sheriff Orville Drexler.

The victim was driving a small pickup south on Highway 75 when he apparently tried to stop for two other cars in his lane, Drexler said.

Some like it white

Darlene Maughan, 42 Braken St. N., shoveled the sidewalk in front of her house Friday in Twin Falls. Mrs. Maughan said she shovels the snow instead of her husband because "I love the snow and I like to be out in it."

Miners may file to dredge

By STEVE LIPSON
Times-News writer

SALMON — Miners can file claims for river beds, including part of the Salmon River proposed for federal protection, if the state refuses to grant mineral leases, a state official said.

Five lease applications for gold dredging in the Salmon River between the mouth of the river and the mouth of Redfish Lake Creek have been filed with the state Department of Lands, Jack Gillette, assistant director of the department, said Friday that if the state refused to grant leases for gold dredging in state waters, miners could file claims on the riverbeds. "If we issue a lease, then we can maintain river control," he said.

But in two cases, the U.S. Forest Service is disputing the state's claim to the riverbed.

The state Land Board will consider four of the lease proposals at its Jan. 22 meeting. Gillette said the board will also review its stand on dredging because of a flood of lease applications.

The fifth proposal for dredging in the Salmon River will probably be heard by the board at its February meeting, Gillette said.

A public hearing was held Thursday in Salmon on the proposal to dredge at two spots near Shoup. All but one of the roughly 50 people who testified at the hearing opposed the proposal.

The strongest challenge came from Dick Hauff of Salmon, supervisor of the Salmon National Forest, who said the streambed is not owned by the state but by the federal government. If a court upheld the federal government's claim, the state streambed could not be mined because of the Wild and Scenic Rivers Act, Hauff said in an interview Friday.

A lease proposal for a stretch of the Salmon River in the Nez Perce National Forest was opposed for the same reason in November. But William Scribner, chief of the state Navigable Waters Bureau, said the state can support its file claim. No court test on the issue is pending.

The Salmon River contains 100 million worth of gold per mile at today's prices, according to a study done in the 1920s by the Colorado School of Mines.

Teachers' march in Boise begins to take shape

By BEN MCKELWAY
Times-News writer

BOISE — Eight Idaho school boards have already given their teachers a day off to march on the Statehouse and lobby the Legislature, Idaho Education Association President William Sullivan said Friday.

On Friday, the leaders of eight IEA chapters had called Sullivan to report that their school districts will shut down Friday, Feb. 1, so that teachers can travel to Boise for face-to-face talks with their legislators about public school funding.

Sullivan said districts approving the day off include Pocatello, Coeur d'Alene, Blaine, County, Minidoka, and Fremont County.

"It's definitely going to happen," said Sullivan, who said reports from local IEA chapters indicate about 2,000 teachers have already committed themselves to attend. There are 9,979 public school teachers in the state, according to state Department of Education statistics.

Most school boards meet next week, Sullivan added. All have been asked to rule on the question by their local IEA chapters.

In Idaho Falls, one of the state's largest school districts, the IEA chapter chose to send their president, Ed Bolso for the day rather than ask the school board for time off. She will bring petitions signed by other teachers. Based on a telephone interview with IEA President William Sullivan and a flyer outlining the IEA program, here is what teachers are asking for:

- A delay in the implementation of the 1 percent initiative to give counties more time to bring property assessments up to 1978 market values.

- Removal of the freeze on property tax revenues that now prohibits local governments from obtaining any more money from property taxes than they received in 1978.
- Raising the 2 percent annual inflation factor on property valuation, which the Legislature tacked onto the 1 percent initiative last year.
- A 1 percent increase in the sales tax.
- Local option taxes which would enable local governments to go to vote on the matter at a special meeting Tuesday night.

Teachers will gather in Boise's Julia Davis Park at 9:30 a.m. Feb. 1, Sullivan said. From there the group will march down Capitol Boulevard to the steps of the Capitol, where a rally is scheduled for about 10:45 a.m. Gov. John Evans has been invited to speak, Sullivan said.

At the end of the day, after teachers have looked up their legislators for some persuasive conversation on funding matters, they will again rally at a location yet to be decided, Sullivan said.

The IEA is calling for a 13.2 percent increase in public school funding, which its leaders say is the bare minimum necessary to catch up with last year's inflation. To provide enough revenue for the increase, the IEA is suggesting the implementation of the 1 percent initiative be delayed another year, Sullivan said, along with some other proposals (see related story).

At its convention last spring, the IEA vowed to call a statewide teacher strike if the legislature "fails to enact legislation to realistically deal with the financial crisis imposed upon the schools by the 1 percent initiative."

IEA leaders say the march and lobbying effort is designed to prevent such a strike by convincing legislators of the importance of the 13.2 increase.

"A lot of us felt it was better to do something before the confrontation stage," Sullivan said. "We'd rather go on a positive note than a negative note."

Sullivan says a funding increase lower than 13.2 percent would not automatically mean a strike, however. The IEA Executive Committee will assess the overall situation toward the end of the legislative session, he added.

"We really need 13.2 percent to maintain the quality of education we have in Idaho now," Sullivan said.

Many school costs are rising faster and higher than the overall inflation rate, he said, citing gasoline, paper, and heating oil as examples.

"And teachers in Idaho have seen their salaries fall from 36th place a few years ago to 39th, to 41st, to 42nd of all the states," Sullivan said.

In per-pupil expenditures, Idaho ranked 48th for the 1978-79 school year, he added.

Jerome trapper pleads guilty

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Former federal fur trapper Atha J. Kriwox, 31, Jerome, has pleaded guilty to two counts of aiding the illegal sale of coyote and bobcat furs.

Kriwox, who admitted Thursday he assisted Donnie Ray-Carter, 36, Fossil, Ore., in the operation, will be sentenced by U.S. District Judge George Juba on Feb. 11. He could receive a maximum sentence of a year in jail and a $10,000 fine on each misdemeanor count.

Carter and Kriwox were charged in a six-count indictment accusing them of selling nearly $40,000 worth of coyote and bobcat furs for personal gain in violation of the state and Wildlife Service regulations. Involved were 76 coyote furs sold to a Twin Falls fur buyer in January 1978 and 65 coyote furs and 32 bobcat furs acquired by Jerome.

Kriwox was reported to have been employed as a trapper by Gilliam County, Ore., until mid-June 1976, and then transferred to Idaho in October.

Hearing closed

HAILEY — Two Kimberly men and a Hailey woman will go on trial here Jan. 29 on charges of conspiracy to commit kidnaping.

The three — Earl W. Doldge, 37, of Kimberly; Douglas W. Doldge, 30, of Kimberly; and Timmy Weidner, 21, are alleged to have kidnaped a 12-year-old boy in Ketchum Dec. 24.

A closed preliminary hearing was held Friday.

A financial incentive for school districts to pay their teachers more.

Teachers' salary levels would become a factor in the formula used to distribute state money to the districts.

Full state funding for driver education programs, now funded partly by student fees.

Limited geothermal developments OK expected for Island Park area

BOISE (UPI) — The U.S. Interior Department is expected to approve a geothermal development plan for the Island Park area in an area adjacent to Yellowstone National Park by the end of March.

John Pruess, mineral specialist for the Targhee National Forest in eastern Idaho, said the final environmental impact statement has been completed and printed by the U.S. Forest Service.

Pruess said the final report approved leasing of 37 percent or 176,000 acres in the Island Park area, but there are "a lot of strings attached."

The Island Park area's east boundary is adjacent to the park, Pruess said.

He said leases will be available on the basis of the following criteria:

- It has been determined that an "exploitable" geothermal area exists based upon research or testing.

—Geothermal development will not adversely affect the "unique" features of Yellowstone.

—Development will not adversely affect the habitat of endangered or threatened species of wildlife.

—The potential for air pollution by hydrogen sulfide or other noxious gases can be controlled so as not to adversely affect soil, water, vegetation or air quality in areas of where people live.

The report also denies leasing on 19 percent of the area or 91,316 acres and defers leasing on 44 percent or 219,095 acres until additional information can be gathered on the areas where leasing is allowed, Pruess said.

Pruess said if the limited leasing recommendations are approved, the decision should not have an adverse effect on the development of other geothermal sites, unless they are situated near areas which are "unique," such as Yellowstone.

He said the study, which has taken about three years, has raised some controversy because of the areas' proximity to the park and the possible adverse effects of development on the park's geothermal attractions.

Although no drilling has been done within the boundaries of Targhee to discover the geothermal potential, Pruess said about 170 applications for drilling have already been filed.

If drilling does produce geothermal resources and the temperature is hot enough, "water can be used to produce electricity," Pruess said.

However, he said a well drilled near Ashton on private land topped only 100 feet, and only a few geysers, only a few warm springs. In the area, indicates any geothermal resources found in the area would not be "very warm," Pruess said.

Breeder reactor aid cut protested

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James McClure and Rep. Steve Symms, both Idaho Republicans, are protesting President Carter's plan to reduce federal funding in the 1981 budget for the breeder reactor program.

The projected 40 percent cutback drew sharp criticism from McClure, who said the plan "blatantly violates the agreement President Carter and I made in August of 1978 to maintain a strong breeder reactor research and development program."

He said the President agreed to support continued research and funding of breeder reactor facilities, but the new plan would drop funding from about $520 million to $320 million, ultimately affecting the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory's operations.

Sawin to speak to Legislature

TWIN FALLS — Dr. James Sawin, Twin Falls superintendent of schools, will address the Joint Appropriations Committee of the state Legislature Tuesday.

Sawin said his remarks will support the 13.2 percent funding increase recommended by the state Department of Education and a statewide coalition of school administrators and teachers. He is one of four Idaho superintendents invited by the committee to speak on public school funding matters for 30 minutes each.

"We're very proud he was one of the four," said Twin Falls School Board Chairman Ruth Day said at Tuesday's board meeting.

In other business, the board approved the final plans for two additional "classrooms" at Lincoln-Sawyer, Morrisville, and Harrison elementary schools.

Don't Blame Your Age For Poor Hearing

Chicago, Ill. — A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

True, all hearing problems are not alike . . . and some cannot be helped by a hearing aid. But audiologists report that many can. So, send for this free model now, and wear it in the privacy of your own home. It is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free — so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 2212, Beltone Electronics, 4301 W. Victoria, Chicago, Ill. 60646.

QUESTION . . .

I was legally married and subsequently divorced from the father of my children. He died recently — are our children entitled to any benefits?

ANSWER . . .

Your divorce has no bearing upon your children's entitlement to any benefits from their father. From our experience we feel you should check your children's entitlement to certain benefits:

1. Right to inherit real and personal property.
2. Social Security benefits through age 22 for college students.
3. Federal Civil Service benefits through age 22.
4. State and Local Public Employees and Civil Service benefits.
5. Railroad Retirement Act benefits, same as Social Security.
6. Veterans Pension benefits.
7. Veterans Compensation benefits.
8. Orphan Education Assistance Program.
9. Workmen's Compensation benefits.
10. Union Dependent's Benefit Program.
11. Pension or retirement program at place of employment.
12. Life insurance policies.
13. Jointly owned government bonds and savings accounts.

Bob Hope Classic

Larry Nelson forges ahead

FALLS-SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—Quiet Larry Nelson, who became a sports superstar in 1972 when he placed second to Tom Watson on the PGA tour, shot a 7-under-par 65 at Eldorado Friday to grab the second-round lead in the rain-punctuated $35,500 Bob Hope Desert Classic.

The 32-year-old Georgian, who rarely says a word above a whisper but plays golf as fine as anyone in the game today, had eight birdies, including three in a row from the 13th to 15th holes, for his 65.

That gave Nelson, who won the Inverrary Classic and the Western Open last year, a 36-hole score of 9-under-par 135 and a one-stroke lead over young Scott Simpson with three rounds left to play in the tour's only 90-hole event.

Simpson, whose last finish last year was a tie for fourth at Westchester, shot a 67, also at Eldorado, to stand at 136, another stroke ahead of Mac McLendon, Vic Regalado and Craig Stadler. McLendon shot 67 at Eldorado, Regalado 67 at Indian Wells and Stadler 67 at Bermuda Dunes in the four-course Hope format.

Barth Baird shot 68 at Hermuda, Doug Tewell had 68 at Indian and Mark Hayes had 69 at Eldorado to tie at 137. Three shots off the lead and another shot ahead of Bill Krutzert and Bob Murphy, both of whom shot 69 at Eldorado, and Ray Arino, who matched Nelson's 65 score with a 65 at Bermuda.

Nelson, who opened the Hope with a 70 at Indian Wells at the start of the season and two 70s (511) 1979 to go with his two victories. With nine top 10 finishes, he was able to win nearly $300,000. Watson, who will make his 1980 debut in San Diego in two weeks, had five victories and $142,000 in earnings last year.

Defending champion John Mahaffey shot his second straight 70 to tie with nine others at 140.

Arnold Palmer, who has won the Hope five times but not once since 1973, stayed in the running with a 71 at Eldorado that put him six shots behind Nelson.

Also at 141 were Jerry Pate, Keith Ferguson and young Bob Proben. Pate shot 73 at Eldorado, Ferguson 73 at Bermuda Dunes and Proben skied to 77 at Indian Wells.

Poll shows support for Olympic boycott

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Chronicle said Friday that its telephone poll disclosed "great support" for the boycotting of the 1980 Olympics in Moscow was an impressive reflection of public opinion.

The Chronicle put the question to its readers, and in a 24-hour period its automatic tabulators received calls from 16,393 people. An overwhelming 75 percent favored a boycott, and 25 percent disapproved of it.

The poll did not employ the scientific sampling techniques used by major public opinion surveys, but the Chronicle said the result had to be considered "a strong show of opinion."

The poll was conducted Tuesday in response to President Carter's bid Friday night that withdrawal from the Olympics might be an appropriate protest of the Soviet's invasion of Afghanistan.

Bruins fall to Borah

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News sports writer

TWIN FALLS— "Holy smoke! If they can play like that every game they'll win it all."

Twin Falls Coach John Astorquia was that impressed by the Borah Lions after he watched them smoke the Bruins 71-54 Friday night.

"I can see how they beat Highland now," the coach continued. "Did you see those guards pass?"

Borah enjoyed a big height advantage with three men 6-4 to 6-6 against the Bruins' tallest of 6-3. The Lions feasted off inside points.

But the big advantage was the play of the Borah guards. Coach Kirk Williams had four of them and they gave the Bruins fits offensively and defensively. They were particularly effective in getting the stop and shutting the ball off to the big guys underneath of easy points.

"They contained Twin Falls' outside shooting, which has been pretty good throughout the year, and allowed even less inside with 6-5 leading scorer Jim Mertle on the bench with an ankle injury."

The Bruins tried to hold the ball on Borah at the outset but a couple of turnovers foiled that attempt. Once the Lions got into the lead, there was no holding them. They scored off 25 points in the second quarter to take command of the game.

"It wasn't only their offense and defense that gave us trouble. We made some bad mistakes," Coach Astorquia said. "We have the lead 6-4 and the ball and just turn it over for no reason. They score off that, then we turn it over again and it goes 6-5. After that we had to play them straight up."

"The other two things that hurt came in the closing seconds of the first two quarters. We turn it over. In the last seven seconds and they get the shot at the buzzer and then just before halftime we climb back to within eight with a chance to get it to six with 16 seconds left and we put up that howler. I was sure we weren't out of bounds sidcourt before the shot."

"In the third quarter I thought we ran the break—pretty well against them. But in the first half we had guys open on the wings-time after time—we bounced the ball up court," the coach ended.

Twin Falls had a lot of trouble in the second quarter when Jake Jacoby, Todd Erickson sent Borah into an eight-point lead.

Norm Dowd hit four points in the first five minutes but that was all the Bruins could find. Borah stretched ahead 25-13 and, three times held 12-point leads after that.

Patrick Sullivan/Times-News

Borah's fast break, led by Kevin Seeger (21), kept the Twin Falls Bruins out of the game in the second half

In the closing 90 seconds, Lars Hovey, Dowd and Jim Crandall got Twin Falls points but Erickson replied with two for Borah, the last one as the buzzer sounded.

The teams matched two field goals each in the third period and then Borah went on a game-clinching blitz.

Twin Falls couldn't get it inside against the Borah height and the Borah pressure started taking the ball away on shucky Bruin passing. Erickson started it with two field goals off good feeds from guards and Steve Warwlich and Todd Erickson added two points each.

In a short-time Borah moved ahead by 22 and that pretty much told the Bruins.

The biggest Lion lead was 71-40 with Twin Falls hitting the last eight points to reduce the margin to 17.

Twin Falls remains home Tuesday night, hosting the Minico Spartans in a non-conference battle.

Bengals roar by CSI girls

By IRWIN CURTIN
Times-News sports writer

TWIN FALLS— Idaho State's balanced scoring and stifling 1-2-3 zone defense proved too much for the College of Southern Idaho's women's basketball team Friday night.

As a result, the Golden Eagles dropped a 67-48 decision, their first loss in four games this season.

The Tigers, whose record went to 3-4 with the victory, placed three players in double figures, led by Sarah Ranes. The 5-11 senior forward scored most of her game-high 16 points on long, graceful jumpers from the wings and top of the key after being freed by her teammates' picks and cuts. ISU also got 13 points from Sue Hollaway, and Mel Bland added 12.

CSI was paced by Naomi Macrae's 10 points. Three Golden Eagles—Val Crawford, Cheryl Crothers and Michelle Durkin—each chipped in with eight points.

"We were just nervous going up against the big guys, a four-year school," said CSI Coach Lloyd Hardesty. "We tried to force the ball into the middle when we ran our offense and that led to many turnovers and points for ISU. Some of them played well; Cheryl did a heck of a job, right? In the half time, we had exception of Cheryl, they were all nervous."

"I've been at this long enough to know they were nervous," he said. "They lost their rest and threw the ball away. But I'm not that disappointed with them. Along with Boise State, Idaho State is one of the top teams we'll play this season. Yeah, 19 points isn't that bad."

"They mistimed a lot and did a good job on the boards despite our big height advantage," said ISU Coach Nancy Shaw. "I was satisfied with our movement, execution on offense and shot selection, but we had a lot of easy shots not go in. They were rimming in both halves."

ISU jumped out to an 8-3 lead within the first half's opening three minutes. CSI climbed to within 18-14 on a basket by Macrae with 7:40 left in the half, but the Tigers then ran off a 19-8 spurt to take a 37-22 halftime lead.

CSI's Michelle Durkin sank a long jumper with about 17 minutes left in the second half to close the gap to 39-30, and ISU's lead remained at eight and nine points for the next several minutes.

But the Golden Eagles could get no closer than 47-38 on another Macrae field goal. Turnovers were the 1980 ISU's outside shooting turned cold but CSI repeatedly threw the ball and any chance at making a serious run at the Tigers' away.

ISU, heartened by the Golden Eagles' erratic passes and sloppy ballhandling, slowly started rebuilding its lead, which twice reached 20 points (62-42 and 64-44) and peaked at 27 (67-44) with less than two minutes remaining in the game.

Idaho State University—Dutton 4, Hobbs 2, Peterson, Vogel, Cassano, Tibbitts, Bennett 2, Hanes 12, Hollaway 19, Bland 12, Hardesty 10, Crothers 8, Durkin 8, Garrison 4, Larson 8, Macrae 10, Richmond 8, Smith 2, Ward 0, Wells 0.

Soldier Mountain to host challenge cup

By KAREN LITTLE PRESSMAN
Alpine skiers from the Magic and Wood River valleys will compete Jan. 19 in the Second Annual High School Challenge Cup at Soldier Mountain.

The races, open to high school students grades nine through 12, are aimed at the recreation skier.

"You don't have to be an expert skier," said Claude Hinkle, Soldier Mountain manager. "We're interested in lots of participation and people having a good time."

Giant slalom races will begin at 10:30 a.m. on the Soldier Mountain slopes 12 miles north of Fairfield. Slalom racing will follow at 1 p.m. with freestyle mogul skiing at 2:30 p.m., a ski movie at 4:30 p.m., and a pizza dinner at 5 p.m.

Entry fee is $10 which includes a day lift pass, one event, dinner and insurance.

Each additional race entered will cost 50 cents.

Students interested in participating in the Challenge Cup can register by completing the entry form printed in the Times-News or by signing up at the Soldier Mountain ski area.

Early entries will assure skiers of getting a better start.

A traveling cup trophy will be presented to the high school collecting the most points during the day. Last year's winner was Minico High School.

Other prizes, donated by local merchants, will be awarded to top skiers.

Wood River skiers led Polebangers Wood River Valley racers, Cliff Cumbaz, Pam Love and Melanie Code, jumped to an early lead in the Sun Valley Ski Club Senior Division (Polebangers) race standings last Saturday.

The steady snowfall, poor visibility and putted course made the skiing difficult but didn't stop an enthusiastic group of local racers from participating in the opening race of the season.

The local club will keep standings this year in the form of a Baldy Cup, similar to the Alpine World Cup standings, where points are awarded for rankings.

At the end of the season, the male and female collecting the most points will win the Baldy Cup.

Last year's champions were Tim Carter and Carol Levine.

After Saturday's races, the women's Baldy Cup rankings show Melanie Code and Pam Love leading with 25 points and Lori Surcott following in second with 15 points.

CHI Cunha heads the men's Baldy Cup standings with 35 points. Jon Joy and Ken Carrook share second place with 25 points and Tim Carter, with 23 points, follows closely behind in third.

The next Polebanger race, a giant slalom, is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. today and Sunday on Lower Warm Springs. A downhill is slated for Jan. 19-20.

Ski team competes

Members of the Expert Division of the Sun Valley Ski Team traveled to the Mission Ridge ski area in Washington last weekend to compete in slalom and giant slalom races.

About 130 skiers from the Pacific Northwest, including racers from California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Alaska, participated in the two-day event.

"This race got them physically and mentally ready for the Nor Am series which starts this weekend at Steamboat Springs, Colo.," said Lane Monroe, coach. "They have more confidence now and know how much faster they need to ski."

In the women's giant slalom, Doni Waldman was the fastest Sun Valley skier, finishing second. Teammate Christy Swanner followed in third with Barbie Patterson taking fourth. Zane's fastest placed ninth.

Pat Savaria was the top Sun Valley finisher in Saturday's men's giant slalom, taking seventh. Brent Bernard placed eighth while Scott Norton finished 14th.

In the men's slalom, Scott Norton placed eighth and Jeff Sarnett 10th.

For the women, Doni Waldman grabbed another second place. Swanner finished fourth and Kim McDonald placed sixth.

Chamber Pot Crosscountry relay today

The Sixth Annual Chamber Pot Crosscountry Relay will be Jan. 19 rather than today on the Elkhorn Trails at Sun Valley.

Three-member teams will be selected by drawing names from a hat. Lead Sean Paschall, race director. "That way it will be the luck of the draw and there won't be any too-abled teams as there have been in the past."

The 3 km. race is aimed for the citizen racer who is out to have a lot of fun. It's a relatively easy course with gradual uphill and gradual downhill grades.

Skiers interested in participating in the event can register at the Elkhorn Touring Center, Jan. 19 from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

Entry fee is $3 which includes a keg party at the awards ceremony following the race.

Gift certificates at the Chamber Pot Bakery in Elkhorn will be awarded to the top three teams posting the fastest times.

North, South matchup even in Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — Mark Malone came to the Senior Bowl expecting to take a back seat to a couple of All-Americans, but fate has vaulted him into the limelight for today's Senior Bowl.

Malone, of Arizona State, became the North's starting quarterback when Marc Wilson of Brigham Young developed a sore arm. And, when running back Billy Sims of Oklahoma decided not to play, it put added pressure on Malone's passing.

"We have no doubt Malone can get the job done," said North coach Bud Grant of the Minnesota Vikings. "He's not a strong arm and is extremely mobile."

Malone threw for only half the yardage and a third as many touchdowns as Wilson, who had 3,720 yards and 29 scores, but he gives the North offense more balance since he ran for 471 yards and a dozen touchdowns last fall.

"I took Wilson to a doctor and he assured us there's nothing really wrong with his arm. It's just sore," Grant said Thursday. "But we have hold him out of practice, letting Malone handle all the quarterback chores every day."

"We didn't want to take a chance with Wilson's arm and we didn't want to give the Senior Bowl a bad name by hurting him."

Although Wilson has not practiced, Grant plans to alternate him with Malone today. "I can't say how much he'll actually play, but we'll get him in as much as possible. That's what we want to do with all our players. After all, the big reason for being in the Senior Bowl is to give the pro scouts a chance to see what you can do."

The withdrawal of Sims for "personal reasons" could also prove to be a break for his replacement Rick Parros of Utah State. Parros, a 205-pounder who rushed for 1,236 yards and scored 15 touchdowns, will be a backup at tailback to Missouri's Garry Ellis, a 222-pounder who rushed for 81 yards in the Heil of Fame Bowl. Starting fullback for the North will be 220-pound Jewel Thomas of San Jose State.

The starting South backfield is smaller. Quarterback Jimmy Jordan of Florida State and fullback Joe Cribbs of Auburn are both 190. However, fullback Steve Whitman of Alabama fits the pro mold at 231.

"The South has more quickness than the North," said Grant. "But they have a little more offense than we have and that could be an advantage since we are, by agreement, restricted defensively in what we can do."

Grant said he kept the North offense simple because "nothing looks worse than a lot of fumbles and other mistakes. I guarantee a better game than you saw in the Heil Bowl."

The Senior Bowl is the first professional appearance for 66 of last season's top college seniors, with members of the winning team getting $1,500 each and the losers $1,250.

Some Senior Bowl officials feel that Sims and Jackson State Perry Harrington, who claim he hurt his foot in the East-West game, turned down their invitations on advice from their agents.

Alabama center Dwight Stephenson, who dropped out of the game when he injured his knee in practice Monday, got the good news Thursday that he will not have an operation.

Perkins said the loss of Stephenson and the late arrival of Rice running-back Earl Cooper—a replacement for Harrington, "has made our practices rugged in spots. We have tried to keep it simple, but put enough in to give them a feel for playing in the NFL."

Perkins said he would like to see a high-scoring game today. "Certainly, we'll throw the ball more than we might if this were two more NFL teams playing a regular season game."

Grand prize Connors reaches semis

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jimmy Connors, riding on the thunder of Roscoe Tanner's blistering serve, rallied from a 4-1 deficit in the final set to claim the last available berth in the semifinals of the Grand Prix Masters with a 2-6, 6-7, 7-6 victory Friday.

Only three survivors. Connors dropped a third-set tiebreak to Bjorn Borg, but this time he persevered to win the tiebreak from Tanner, 7-3.

The field for today's semifinals thus will consist of defending champion John McEnroe, Borg, Connors and Vitas Gerulaitis.

Earlier, Harold Solomon, already eliminated from any chance of a semifinal berth, played the role of spoiler by knocking Guillermo Vilas out of the tournament with a 6-2, 6-2, victory.

The round-robin phase of the competition was to conclude Friday night with Borg meeting Jose Higueras and McEnroe playing Gerulaitis. All that was at stake in either match was bonus money and positioning for the semifinals, with the loser of the McEnroe-Gerulaitis match destined to face Borg today.

Connors took the court only 16 hours after his loss to Borg and teetered on the brink of elimination when he lost the first three games of the final set to Tanner and then rallied 4-1. But Connors got the break back in the seventh game with a backhand pass and then seemed to be the winner when he broke again in the 11th game after Tanner had gone up 30-40.

Tanner, however, got the break back in the 12th game when Connors sent a forehand wide to force the tie-break.

Tanner was brilliant with his service, particularly in the early going, and wound up with 15 aces, seven of them in the opening set. Except for the fifth game, when Connors had a break point, Tanner yielded only two points on his service in the first set. In the meantime, Tanner broke Connors in the fourth and eighth games.

But Connors served the only break of the second set—in the third game and ran out the set. After being on the court for 2 hours and 38 minutes against Borg, Connors had to endure exactly two more hours against Tanner.

Solomon said that although he had no chance of reaching the semifinals, he still had enough incentive against Vilas.

"I was 0-3 last year (in the Masters) and 0-2 this year," he said. "I didn't want to go 0-6."

"You always want to win every time you go out. There's a good chance I'll play him in a tournament next week—and you want the psychological advantage. It also means $70,000 more."

The moving into at least sixth place, Solomon will earn $20,000.

The tournament is sponsored by Chase Manhattan and Colgate.

Robert 'Bo' Rein wears LSU hat recently after he was chosen head football coach. His wife, Suzanne, looks on.

Plane crash kills LSU coach

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (UPI) — A plane carrying Louisiana State University football Coach Robert "Bo" Rein, scheduled to make a 40-minute hop, apparently went on automatic pilot and wandered 1,500 miles off course before plunging into the Atlantic Ocean early Friday. Rein and the pilot, 135, disappeared, were feared dead.

The Coast Guard searched the "crash" area, about 150 miles east of Norfolk, Va., but found no sign of the twin-engine turbo-prop plane or its occupants. The plane crashed at 1:23 a.m. as an Air Force pilot flying nearby watched helplessly, unable to make contact.

Cause of the bizarre accident was undetermined, but authorities speculated the Cessna 441 may have had a problem with its oxygen system, causing Bencosetter, 48, of Baton Rouge, La., and Rein to black out long before impact.

Officials said the plane, which departed from Shreveport, La., at 9:22 p.m. on Thursday en route to Baton Rouge, apparently went on automatic pilot, rose to 40,000 feet and headed north.

"Oxygen may have been leaking from the plane and they didn't even realize it," said Maj. T.W. King, a spokesman for the Air Force North America Air Defense Command in Petersburg, Va.

"We have no idea what did happen, but the scenario we believe may have happened was that they experienced hypoxia (a lack of oxygen) and blacked out and the automatic pilot took over."

The automatic pilot takes over when a pilot's hand leaves the throttle, King said. Shortly after the plane left Shreveport, Federal Aviation Administration officials were unable to make contact and reported the unexplained and fluctuating flight pattern to the Air Force.

Two F-106 jets from Seymour Johnson Air Force Base in North Carolina managed to reach the area of the Cessna at 12:47 a.m., while it was over Raleigh, N.C., but the pilots were unable to make radio or visual contact.

When those two Air Force planes had to turn back because they were running low on fuel, a similar plane from Langley Air Force Base at Hampton, Va., replaced them, but was also unable to make contact.

"Because of the reflection of the moon and the cockpit and the haze, I couldn't tell if there was anyone alive in there or not," said Capt. Daniel Zoerb, pilot of the Air Force plane from Langley.

"It was real unusual to see a plane of that type, at that altitude (40,000 feet)," he said. The Cessna is certified to fly at a maximum of 31,000 feet, a Hampton Cessna dealer said.

Rein, who was visiting Shreveport on a recruiting trip, became LSU's head football coach Nov. 30 after coaching four seasons at North Carolina State University. He got the LSU job after Charlie McClendon retired.

The plane was owned by Nichols Construction Co. of Baton Rouge and Bencosetter was an employee for the firm. An LSU spokesman said it was the first time the plane had been used by any university coach.

Former coach shocked

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Former Louisiana State coach Charlie McClendon, reeling from the tragic airplane death of his 34-year-old replacement, Bo Rein, said Friday he has yet to consider whether he would return as head coach of his old school, if asked.

McClendon, who coached at LSU for 18 seasons before being replaced at the end of the 1979 season, said he was just concerned about Rein's wife and children.

"Right at this time I'm not even thinking about that," McClendon told UPI in a telephone interview from a New Orleans hotel. "I'll just be respectful to the family. The coaching problem right now is LSU's problem, and (Athletic Director) Paul (Dietzel) will handle that."

McClendon, 56, said he was awakened early Friday with news about the crash of Rein's private plane into the Atlantic Ocean. Rein was returning to Baton Rouge from a recruiting trip in Shreveport, La., Thursday night when the pilot had to divert because of bad weather.

The plane continued to gain altitude and fly over the water 40 miles off the Virginia coast. The Coast Guard reported sighting an oil slick—but no wreckage.

"If this is the god-damned thing," McClendon said, "my sympathies are with his family right now. LSU can handle their situation."

McClendon said the plane may have been an automatic pilot because Air Force reconnaissance jets failed to see anyone in the cockpit as it continued climbing over Virginia.

"I might have been an automatic pilot," McClendon said. "I think maybe when you see that the only thing you can think is that they just passed out and fell over (in the cockpit)."

McClendon said it was standard procedure for football coaches to travel in private planes in order to keep up with fast-paced recruiting.

"I'm not sure how to travel. I guess maybe there are (flying) situations I can't imagine. I always had faith in the pilot that he's not going to me into something he can't handle."

McClendon led LSU to 13 bowl games in 18 seasons and compiled a winning record of 137-57. He suffered one losing season in 1976.

In one of his last talks with Rein, Suzanne, was in Portland, Ore., visiting her parents at the time of the crash. He said Rein's children were staying with Rein's parents.

McClendon reminded the young coach from North Carolina State of the cultural diversity in Louisiana and told him to remember that when recruiting in the state.

Boxer stays in coma
HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Welterweight boxer Charles Newell remained in a coma Friday, two days after he was knocked unconscious in a professional bout.

Newell, 26, a prison inmate who was boxing professionally under a special state recreation release program for prisoners, underwent brain surgery Thursday and was placed on a respirator. Doctors said they had removed a blood clot from his brain.

"His condition is the same as it was Thursday, he's still critical and still comatose," correction spokeswoman Connie Wilkes said.

Newell was the third professional boxer critically injured in the last two months.

Willie Classen, 29, a middleweight, died in New York on Nov. 28 after being injured in a Madison Square Garden bout. In Spartanburg, S.C., middleweight Tony Thomas died from a head injury suffered in a Dec. 22 fight.

But Connecticut officials continued to support boxing in their state Friday, saying all precautions possible had been taken to protect Connecticut boxers.

King edges Turnbull
CINCINNATI (UPI) — Fourth-seeded Billie Jean King took advantage of a "bad call" to edge sixth-seeded Wendy Turnbull, 7-6, Friday and advance to the semifinals of the $150,000 Tennis Championships of Cincinnati.

Fifth-seeded Dianne Fromholtz ousted unseeded Carolyn Stan, 6-3, 6-3, to also qualify for today's semifinals.

King won the tiebreaker in the first set, 7-3, and squeezed out a do-or-die, 7-6 triumph in the second set tie-breaker.

In doubles, Mimi Jausovec and Ann Klyomura defeated Sherry Acker and Mary Carrillo, 6-1, 6-1.

Montreal in 1980?
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Clarence Miller, R-Ohio, asked the mayor of Montreal Friday if the city would consider hosting the 1980 Summer Olympics that are planned for Moscow.

In a letter released by Miller's office, Miller told Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau he would introduce a resolution urging President Carter to call upon the International Olympic Committee to relocate the Games to a site other than the Soviet Union. Montreal hosted the 1976 Games.

"I would appreciate your comments on our bill and on the possibility of Montreal — if so approached, again acting as the host for the Games," Miller said. "As you can readily understand, the city of Montreal would have to be one of the viable alternate sites considered by the International Olympic Committee, were the committee to act upon the suggestion of our resolution," Miller said.

Devecka leads nordic
MOUNT ST. ANNE, Quebec (UPI) — Mike Devecka's second-place finish in the 15-kilometer cross-country ski race Friday kept the veteran olympian in first place at the end of the 1980 U.S. Winter Olympic nordic combined trials.

Devecka, 32, of Bend, Ore., finished the trials with 26 points in the combined cross-country skiing and ski jumping event, earning a spot on his fourth U.S. winter olympic team.

The other members named to the nordic combined team were Friday cross-country skiers of Grant Langer, Colo.; Gary Crawford, 22, of Steamboat Springs, Colo.; and Walter Malmquist, 23 of Post Mills, Vt.

Lynch finished the Tryouts with 20 points, Crawford had 14 and Malmquist 12.

Malmquist was considered the top U.S. athlete in the two-event sport, but had to drop out of two cross-country tryout races last month in Colorado due to an asthma problem brought on by the high altitude.

Pat Ahern, 19, of Breckenridge, Colo., won Friday's tryout race in 48 minutes and 48 seconds. But he finished fifth in the overall standings.

Devecka was second in 49:01, followed by Lynch 50:44, John Zideklick of Frisco, Colo., 50:56, Crawford 50:59, and Malmquist 51:58.

Japan Bowl tonight
TOKYO (UPI) — Steadman Shealy, Jim Ritcher, Brad Budge, Junior Miller and Vagas Ferguson will be among the stars competing as the college football season comes to a close with the fifth annual Japan Bowl this weekend.

Thanks to the international date line, the game will begin at 1:30 on Sunday (Tokyo time) but will be seen live on U.S. television at 9:30 P.M. (MST) today. The Japan Bowl is being televised for the first time by Madison Square Garden Television over an independent network in virtually all major U.S. markets.

Shealy, the quarterback of national champion Alabama, will share the direction of the East team with Matt Kupe of North Carolina. Ron Hontas of Tulane and Kevin Scanlon of Arkansas will quarterback the West.

Spinks set for fight
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Former world heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali is expected to fight a "piece of mind," completed a week of light workouts and weighed in Friday ready for his scheduled 10-round bout with former European champion

Alfredo Evangelista.

Today's fight, to be televised nationally from Resorts International Hotel-Casino's Superstar Theater, is a crucial match for both former champions, who are seeking the elusive world-heavyweight crown.

Weighing in at 209 pounds, the 26-year-old Spinks, 7-2-1, has been working on his defensive skills. Seven months ago, he suffered a stunning defeat when he was clubbed in the first round of a fight by South African Gerrie Coetzee in Monte Carlo.

Oregon 'not guilty'
EUGENE, Ore. (UPI) — The FBI found no evidence of fraud or bribery in its investigation of the academic credits scandal at the University of Oregon, but the school's own investigation is continuing, UO President William Boyd said.

"It's still a murky stream so far as I'm concerned," Boyd said Thursday.

It has been assumed that because the school admitted four football players received credits for off-campus classes they did not attend that Oregon will have to forfeit its six victories. A Pac-10 conference spokesman said Thursday no action has been taken on either Oregon or Oregon State.

Schmid wins freestyle
SHAWNEE-ON-DELAWARE, Pa. (UPI) — West Germany's Susan Schmid won the women's aerial event Friday before rain washed out the remainder of the day's competition in the $40,000 World Cup Freestyle Skiing Championships.

Freestyle's second aerial competition — as well as the first and second men's aerial competition — were postponed until Saturday at the Shawnee Mountain ski area in this Pocono resort.

Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Basic bidding principles

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

The first and most important principle is that each bid or pass places a top and bottom limit on your strength. Subsequent action tends to define your limits more closely, but never increases them. The more precise your preparation, the more you have choice of action you should choose the one that is most likely to make future action simpler.

The third is that of risk versus gain. Before you take any action, balance the risk of loss against the prospect of gain. Before you take any action balance the risk of loss against the prospect of gain.

The Opening Bid

This is the corner stone of both attack and defense. There are all sorts of guidelines here, but we will try to give the simplest possible set, temporarily omitting preliminary openings based on a long suit, a stout heart and a desire to make things difficult for your opponents who presumably have more high cards than you.

The first requirement is

ACROSS

- 1 Focal points
- 2 Norwegian
- 3 Capable of flying
- 4 Carrying off

Two Words to the Wise

There is a lot of balderdash about the weaker standards in third or fourth seat. Your bridge life will be sweeter and easier if you just consider that if a hand is worth an opening bid it is worth it in any position.

The fact that a hand meets all requirements for an opening bid does not mean that you must bid with it after an opponent has opened the bidding.
