

STATE OF IDAHO PROCLAMATION

Special weeks, days fill Idaho calendars

By DAVID MORRISSEY
Times-News writer
BOISE — Should you have missed it first time around, last July 8-13 was the Week of the Breastfed Baby in Idaho.

But that's nothing compared with June 11-17. That was Deep Search and Rescue Week.

And then there was February. Remember February? That was Potato Harvest Month.

These events are not make believe, they are actual proclamations of special events by Gov. John Evans. As one of his official duties, Idaho's chief executive honors worthy individuals and organizations by hanging a title on their special day, week or month.

"We do try to encourage legitimate and worthy groups," said acting Evans Press Secretary John Corlett. "That's what the proclamations are for."

Last year there were apparently quite a few of those legitimate groups. A quick check of the gubernatorial files shows 77 weeks, 21 months and 86 days were given special titles in 1979.

All in one year?
"I hadn't realized there were that many," Corlett said. "But now that you mention it, the days have seemed longer recently."

Gubernatorial proclamations are a part of any state administration. They serve both an educational, and a political purpose.

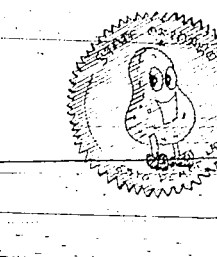

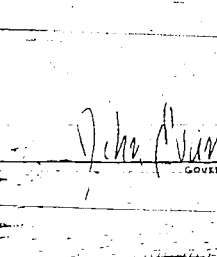

On the one hand, they give the governor a chance to turn the light of publicity on events, persons and organizations — he feels should be honored.

The governor's recognition of May 28 to June 3 as Vietnam Veterans Week is one example of this use of proclamations. Designation of Sept. 15 as Jerry Lewis Telethon Day and May 20 as Shrine Hospital Day are other similar examples.

In that latter announcement, Evans said he was issuing the proclamation because the Shriners have, since 1922, constructed 18 orthopedic hospitals and three burn institutes "without any tax dollars." Such a "labor of love and compassion" deserves the recognition and support of Idahoans, Evans added.

But governors are also aware their proclamations are a relatively painless way of honoring voter blocs or special interest groups. On election day, an otherwise obscure group honored by a gubernatorial proclamation may translate its appreciation into votes.

Continued on page A2

Prison riot ends as police attack

Related stories
on page B2

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI) — Police SWAT teams Sunday stormed the New Mexico State Prison, ending a 36-hour takeover that turned into a blood-bath of convict-on-convict reprisals, brutal mutilations and sexual assaults.

At least 27 inmates died. None of the five hostages — down from the original 14 seized — was killed, and no one among the 250 rebellious inmates died during the final assault. All of the deaths, according to one young inmate, occurred because the rioters "just turned into animals."

Adolph Saenz, newly appointed state criminal justice secretary, said the 27 bodies were found during "a foot-by-foot" search of the ruins of the prison. He and other officials feared there were more victims, particularly in the gymnasium where inmates said the rioters had set fire to a pile of bodies.

Corrections Secretary Felix Rodriguez said a final death count probably would not be released until today.

A volunteer fireman leaving the prison on the back of a fire truck told UPI: "It was worse than anything I ever saw during my combat years in Vietnam." He said there were many bodies scattered in the corridors, but he could not tell for sure (how many) because they were so mutilated. Arms, legs and heads chopped off.

The riot troops, backed up by National Guardsmen, broke through the main barricaded door with a sledge hammer and cutting torch and quickly reclaimed the prison without firing a shot. They fanned out in the five wings and main corridor of the building, searching for hiding and injured inmates.

The interior was virtually gutted, though officials said two cellblocks might be made useable relatively quickly. All doors and windows were broken, ceilings and walls were caved in or buckled away from the foundation due to heat. Water from fountains ripped from the walls stood 3 to 4 inches deep and the equipment and records rooms and the kitchen were totally burned out.

OKEY MARTINEZ ...wails, worries, weeps

"SWAT teams have gone in," said Gov. Bruce King's secretary, Jill Marron, moments after the mid-afternoon assault. "They have retaken the prison peacefully. No shots have been fired."

Within a half hour, King confirmed the gamble had worked.

"We have moved out the (five remaining) hostages and they are in excellent shape," the governor said.

Robert Mosely, a 21-year-old convict, said he and other inmates were forcibly removed from their cellblocks by the rioters, blinded with a black hood and bound with strips of cloth in a fetal position. He said he was then forced to undergo sexual assault by at least 10 inmates.

"They picked on us because of our age and physical build," he said. "I'm in shock. When this started, people just turned into animals. I'm lucky to be here."

The takeover began at 2 a.m. Saturday when two guards making a room check surprised two inmates drinking homemade liquor. The inmates beat the guards, and the riot spread quickly, though the large majority of the 1,200 prisoners in the facility did not follow.

Although officials were uncertain of the precise sequence of events; prison workers familiar with the layout said it was likely the inmates grabbed the guards' keys, then smashed through supposedly shatterproof glass into the room that controls the prison lockup system.

One guard sounded an alarm before he was taken hostage, thus aborting what could have been a mass breakout in the dark hours of the morning.

The inmates began the ordeal as a protest against overcrowded conditions at the prison, and a smattering of negotiating sessions were held. But rapidly — due to drugs, glue sniffing, hysteria and the lack of one leader — it turned into a riot.

Continued on page A3

House ethics chairman says his investigators busy, too

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chairman of the House ethics committee said Sunday his panel has been investigating for months charges of misconduct against some congressmen implicated in a two-year FBI undercover operation.

Rep. Charles Bennett, D-Fla., said he has asked the Justice Department to turn over to the ethics committee information about the congressional investigation by the FBI. He said, however, the committee already had received complaints about some of the same members. He declined to name them.

Official sources revealed Saturday that one senator and seven House members were among subjects in the sting-type FBI operation in which agents posed as businessmen and wealthy Arabs willing to pay bribes. The sources said agents paid out nearly $700,000 in meetings that were taped or filmed with hidden cameras.

According to sources, those who have been investigated by the FBI include: Sen. Harrison Williams, D-N.J.; and Reps. John Jenrette, D-S.C.; John Murphy, D-N.Y.; Frank Thompson, D-N.J.; Michael Myers and Raymond Lederer, both D-Pa.; Richard Kelly, R-Fla.; and John

Related stories
on page A5

Murtha, D-Pa., a member of the Ethics committee. No charges have been filed against anyone, and those who could be reached for comment denied wrongdoing.

"The FBI is not the only organization investigating this matter," Bennett said. "There has been a process by our committee of looking into this."

"I knew nothing until yesterday about the FBI looking into anything. But some of the members are being looked into in regard to that same subject matter," he said in a telephone interview.

Bennett said the House ethics committee investigation has been going on "for some weeks" in months. As far as general allegations of improprieties, these matters have been looked into and are being looked into.

Sen. Howell Heflin, D-Ala., chairman of the Senate ethics committee, could not be reached for comment Sunday. More than 60 Republican governors, congressmen and party officials at the GOP Tidewater conference in Easton, Md., Sunday approved a resolution by Vermont Gov. Richard Snelling calling for an immediate investigation by both House and Senate ethics committees.

Two members of the House ethics committee — Richard Cheney of Wyoming and James Sensenbrenner of Wisconsin — said the probe should not await any possible court action.

"I believe we should begin the investigation tomorrow," Sensenbrenner said at the conference.

Bennett took over as chairman of the House committee in 1978 and is considered by some to be such a strict enforcer of ethics codes and conduct rules that an effort was made to deny him the chairmanship.

He has told reporters the panel is investigating a lot more than the news media know about, but that he does not intend to go public without the facts. Heflin became Senate ethics chairman late last year after the entire panel resigned following hearings on financial misconduct charges against Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga.

Strike slated today by Chicago teachers

CHICAGO (UPI) — Public school teachers late Sunday voted overwhelmingly to strike the nation's third-largest school system to protest the school board's decision to fire more than 1,600 of their colleagues and shorten the school year.

The teachers, voted 7,717 to 2,506 not to return to their classrooms today.

Teachers walked off the job last Monday to protest the board's failure to pay them. They finally received their paychecks during the weekend.

The teachers were angered by the board's decision to eliminate another 833 teaching positions after having agreed with union leaders nearly two weeks ago to eliminate only 992 jobs and not shorten the school year.

There are 24,333 teachers and 472,897 school children in the public school system.

School Board President Catherine Richer vowed to keep city schools open despite the strike. During last week's protest, however, few children attended class and attendance was not expected to improve in light of the strike.

Chicago Teachers Union spokesman Chuck Burden said the strike is the fifth called by the union in the past 11 years.

The CTU held its first general membership meeting in 12 years Sunday, which was attended by more than 11,000 union members who jammed hotel ballrooms to support the strike called for by union officials.

Here's way to shake quake jitters

PLEASANTON, Calif. (UPI) — Jitters San Francisco Bay Area residents, shaken by the recent spate of earthquakes, now can unload their fears at special therapy sessions.

The Valley Mental Health Services opened a special earthquake clinic last week after three powerful tremors and more than 100 aftershocks jolted the area in four days.

"When the earth moves, people start questioning their basic beliefs," said Kathleen McKeown, director of the clinic. "They start asking what is real. We're trying to get these people before their trauma gets worse and tell them that it's all right to be afraid and talk about their problems."

Those who attended a session Friday said they were relieved to find others afflicted with post-quake jitters.

A young mother, one of 60 residents of the Livermore-Amador Valley where the quakes were centered who have attended the sessions, recalled pushing her children to the floor and running out the door.

"My first reaction was to save my own neck. I'm still guilty about that," she said.

Another woman held her throat and said she hadn't been able to swallow food since the 5.5 quake Jan. 24. Two others said they had lost weight since experiencing the nerve-jangling quakes.

The Jan. 24 tremor was followed by Good morning!

Burley's Gordy Kerbs finds college ball different. B3
Telephone lines busy from New Mexico to CSI. B3

Business	A9
Classified	B7-11
Comics	A8
Magie Valley	B1
Obituaries	B2
Opinion	A4
People	A6
Sports	B3-6
Valley life	A11-12
Weather	A2
The West	B2

Pollution not a factor in heart disease

By AL ROSSITER JR.
UPI Science Editor
WASHINGTON — There is little evidence that air, noise, water pollution or even cigarette smoke from a neighbor play important roles in development of heart disease.

That's according to an American Heart Association study committee.

The panel of experts says, however, environmental factors that people can control, such as diet and their own cigarette smoking, do appear to have a significant impact on common cardiovascular disease as has long been believed.

The heart association ordered the task force study because of increasing concern among the public and health professionals about the role of the environment in causing disease.

also is chairman of postgraduate medicine at the University of Michigan, said determining whether the environment is a major contributor to cardiovascular disease — the nation's No. 1 killer — would be important for future research and regulation.

He reported the panel's findings at a heart association symposium. He said the group looked at six factors which have been linked one way or another with heart disease. They are drinking water hardness, trace metals in food or water, occupational air pollution, noise, microwaves and environmental stress.

Harlan said the committee found that the evidence that water hardness has a direct influence on cardiovascular disease is tenuous and inconsistent — and, if there is any effect, it is modest. He said there are no grounds to change water supplies.

Animal studies have suggested trace metals such as antimony, lead, cobalt and cadmium may be associated with cardiovascular abnormalities. But except for a small number of people receiving high exposures on the job, the committee found the evidence is contradictory and fails to support a major effect.

Considerable concern has been expressed about cigarette smoke that a non-smoker inhales in a closed environment containing smokers.

Harlan's report said increased concentrations of carbon monoxide may decrease exercise tolerance and instigate chest pains in people with coronary artery disease. But he said population studies fail to provide convincing evidence that carbon monoxide in non-smokers has a role in the development of artery disease which is the underlying cause of most heart attacks and strokes.

However, the report said, because of the pervasive nature of carbon monoxide, it needs more research attention than it now receives.

As far as noise is concerned, the report said it has been observed to cause temporary elevations in blood pressure. But Harlan said there is no convincing evidence noise has long-term effects on the heart and blood vessel system.

The most controversial area studied, the panel found, was environmental stress. Stress can cause a rapid pulse and pounding of the heart, but Harlan said, "It becomes difficult to blame specifically environmental stress without considering associated factors as individual personality."

Harlan said it was clear from the evidence that personally controlled environmental factors are more important in cardiovascular disease than the outside environment.

U.S. sharpens Pakistan defense agreement

Zbigniew Brzezinski sights along an AK-47 during visit to Pakistan outpost near Afghan border.

ISCAMABAD, PAKISTAN — The United States has sharpened its 1959 defense agreement with Pakistan with a firm commitment to send troops to oppose any large-scale Soviet invasion of Pakistan's territory, senior American and Pakistani officials said Sunday night.

During a series of talks with President Zia ul-Haq and other officials here extending over two days, President Carter's national security adviser, Zbigniew Brzezinski, and Deputy Secretary of State Warren M. Christopher explored in detail the possibilities of further Soviet aggression in the wake of the invasion of Afghanistan, U.S. officials said.

The bottom line was a general agreement that a Pakistan newly equipped with weapons from the United States and its allies would be responsible for repelling any small-scale Soviet incursions. "But if the Soviets escalate — then we are engaged under the 1959 agreement," an American delegation official said.

At the same time, the Americans have agreed to renew Pakistan's request to delay submitting to Congress the proposed $400 million U.S. military and economic aid package until after Pakistan's immediate needs are fully evaluated by a Pentagon team that is now here.

The Pakistani side also wants a clearer idea of how much help it can expect to get from U.S. allies in Europe and Japan and from its own neighbors in the Islamic world.

Brzezinski reportedly said the United States will furnish only the beginning of the United States' response to the threat posed by Soviet troops in Afghanistan.

In an interview with several reporters Sunday night, Zia made clear his own satisfaction with the enhanced level of U.S. commitment to Pakistan's security that he has gained in recent weeks, and especially in his talks here with Brzezinski.

Zia left reporters with a strong impression that he and Brzezinski had hit it off personally. This report, he indicated, plus the repeated public statements of U.S. support for Pakistan.

other U.S. leaders, has combined to allay earlier doubts that the United States would defend its interests and Pakistan's security in this embattled region.

Nevertheless, the specific rifts in the U.S.-Pakistan relationship remain unresolved; in fact, in large part they were touched on only peripherally during the talks here, Zia indicated. U.S. officials later agreed with this assessment.

On the shelf — along with the $400-million U.S. aid package, once dismissed by Zia as "peanuts" and still regarded by him as inadequate, are the disagreement over Pakistan's refusal to renounce exploding a nuclear device and its apparent intention to amass weapons grade uranium. There is also Zia's refusal to consider national elections for "two or three years," as he put it Sunday night.

Press creates doubts about Ali's mission

The Washington Post's DARR ES SALAAM — President Carter's most unconventional envoy, Muhammad Ali, began his five-month African tour here Sunday by announcing that he would quit and go home immediately if Tanzanians could show him his mission is bad for Africa.

Ali, who arrived from India aboard a U.S. government plane, is to visit Tanzania, Kenya, Senegal, Ivory Coast and Liberia in a bid to gain African support for the U.S.-backed boycott of the Moscow Olympics aimed at protesting Soviet intervention in Afghanistan.

But sports officials here indicate there is little likelihood Tanzania will support the boycott, and after Sunday it could be that the independently minded Ali may have in the towel on his diplomatic mission.

Tanzania has been treating Ali's visit largely as a sporting event. News of the boxer's visit — he is extremely popular here — was carried on the sports page of the government-owned newspaper "The Sunday News" under the headline "Haro Comes the Greatest." He is being hosted by the minister of youth and culture, Chedeli Mgonja, and will be holding discussions only with sports officials.

But despite a presidential snub, Ali received a wildly enthusiastic reception from local fans. As he stepped off the plane, hundreds of his supporters broke through a thin police cordon and, amid cheering and hooting, completely surrounded him. All characteristically responded by raising a clenched fist.

Once inside the VIP lounge, however, Ali came under some tough questioning from Tanzanian journalists wanting to know why he was allowing himself to be used in an attempt to draw Africa into a conflict between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Special days cram Idaho calendars

Continued from page A1

How far will a governor go in honoring a special group? "I doubt he actually rode a jeep during that week (Lisp Search and Rescue Week)," Corlett said. But Evans has been in jeeps and feels they are important to Idaho, he added.

Corlett also cautioned against reading too much into proclamations. The fact that Evans declared an Employer Appreciation Month, but only a week to honor those who Employ the Older Worker, should not be seen as a sign the Evans administration is tilting toward big business or against senior citizens, Corlett said.

"Just nasty rumors," he added.

Regardless of the reason for a proclamation, the gubernatorial declaration serves only the purpose of notifying the state that certain groups or individuals are being honored.

Proclamations require no enactment clauses, never go before the Legislature, produce few lasting results and usually cost the state only the price of paper and ink. Seldom more than a dozen copies of each proclamation are ever made, Corlett said.

Here's a list of some of the more interesting proclamations issued by Evans last year:

- Square Dance Week, Sept. 16-22
- Tennis Week, July 1-6
- Toastmaster Appreciation Week, June 18-24
- United Label Week, Sept. 3-8
- Success Day, July 1
- Welded Products Month, April
- Farm-City Festival Day, April 30
- Gold Rush Open Drum and Bugle Corps Championship Day, July 25
- Jogging Day, Oct. 13
- Idaho State Loggers Week, April 2-8
- Lupus Week, Sept. 16-22
- Children's Dental Health Week, Feb. 4-10
- Country Music Month, October
- Dental Assistants' Recognition Week, Oct. 21-27
- Private Property Week, April 15-21

More words from Iran

By United Press International

Iran's President-elect Abolhasan Baneasa Sunday reaffirmed his tough stance that the United States holds the solution to the 92-day-old hostage crisis but he did not specify the return of the shah as a condition for the Americans' release.

Doctors treated Lennan strongman Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, 79, for a heart condition said he should stay in the hospital for some time and would have to limit his political activity, Tehran radio said.

Doctors treated Lennan strongman Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, 79, for a heart condition said he should stay in the hospital for some time and would have to limit his political activity, Tehran radio said.

More heavy fighting was reported in the Kurdistan region as Bani-Sadr appeared on ABC's "Issues and Answers" program. Two ABC correspondents were admitted to Iran for two days specifically to tape the meeting.

American Indian leader John Thomas and the Rev. John Adams arrived in Tehran Sunday with mail

Monday briefing

Basque violence erupts — Bilbao, Spain (UPI) — Police reinforcements, including armored cars, were ordered out during the weekend in northern Spain where the worst Basque violence since the Spanish Civil War took 10 lives in 36 hours.

Basque politicians expressed fear the violence was designed to force a state of emergency in the Basque country, and torpedo the March 9 elections for a Basque parliament.

In an effort to stop the violence that has taken a total of 23 lives this year, police set up roadblocks on roads leading to Bilbao, center of the violence, and beefed up security in the city.

Police patrols were reinforced and a number of armored cars also appeared on the streets of the provincial capital.

Poll standing reverses — The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — In a scant three months, President Carter has undergone one of the most stunning transformations imaginable: changing from a 98-point weakling to the Charles Atlas strong man of American politics.

Carter is trusted, his character admired, his policy decisions supported. Huge majorities think that no one around can do a better job of handling the nation's most excruciating problem: obtaining the return of American hostages in Iran.

Widely regarded last fall as a likely one-term president, Carter now stands in an awesome position in his drive for reelection. He holds a lead of more than 2 to 1 over Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, for the Democratic nomination; he holds similar leads, give or take a little, over the chief Republican contenders.

Refinery strike drags — Golden, Colo. (UPI) — No settlement was in sight Sunday between the nation's major petroleum firms and the union representing 60,000 refinery workers who walked off the job almost five weeks ago.

Jerry Archuleta, spokesman for the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, said agreements reached with a handful of independent oil companies cover only about 1,300 of the striking workers.

Brown cites U.S. speed — WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Harold Brown said Sunday the United States could move military forces into the Persian Gulf area quickly, taking only 10 days to move in an entire division of ground forces.

In an interview published in U.S. News and World Report, Brown said the United States already has demonstrated its ability to move two nuclear carrier task forces into the Arabian Sea within two weeks and land-based aircraft could be moved into the area within 48 hours.

Tremor rocks Samoa — GOLDEN, Colo. (UPI) — A strong earthquake measuring 6.3 on the open-ended Richter scale rocked the Samoan Islands region of the South Pacific early Sunday, the U.S. Geological Survey said.

The survey's Earthquake Information Center reported the quake's epicenter was about 200 miles south of Apia, the capital of Western Samoa and said the tremor occurred at 4:58 a.m. MST.

Carter settles mind — WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter said Sunday he has reached a decision on whether to recommend to Congress the military registration of women along with men, but declined to disclose his position.

Carter was expected to announce his decision on the sensitive issue early this week. He told reporters he had reached a decision when he and his wife, Rosalynn, returned to the White House from a weekend at Camp David, Md., where he had grappled with the issue.

Carter arranged to hold a Cabinet meeting this morning to consider military registration issues, a boycott of the Olympics and a range of other international and domestic problems.

He will meet Tuesday morning with congressional leaders. On Thursday, he will attend a prayer breakfast and later address a national consumer federation. Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., who has challenged him for the Democratic presidential nomination, also will speak to the consumer group on the same day.

Soviet goal unchanged — CHICAGO (UPI) — Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., said Sunday that the Soviet Union's goal was to "go for the jugular and turn off oil" in the Middle East and dominate Iran.

"The Soviets have not changed in their fundamental objectives since the time of czars and the time of Catherine the Great," Jackson told the American Bar Association weekly meeting.

The calling up of selected U.S. military reserve units, Jackson said, "might provide a reasonable signal to our friends and allies that we mean business."

But he said it would be a "terrible mistake" to send American ground forces to battle in the Middle East oil fields.

Iran's President-elect Abolhasan Baneasa Sunday reaffirmed his tough stance that the United States holds the solution to the 92-day-old hostage crisis but he did not specify the return of the shah as a condition for the Americans' release.

Doctors treated Lennan strongman Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, 79, for a heart condition said he should stay in the hospital for some time and would have to limit his political activity, Tehran radio said.

Doctors treated Lennan strongman Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, 79, for a heart condition said he should stay in the hospital for some time and would have to limit his political activity, Tehran radio said.

More heavy fighting was reported in the Kurdistan region as Bani-Sadr appeared on ABC's "Issues and Answers" program. Two ABC correspondents were admitted to Iran for two days specifically to tape the meeting.

American Indian leader John Thomas and the Rev. John Adams arrived in Tehran Sunday with mail

Today's weather

There's a chance of clear sky above Idaho

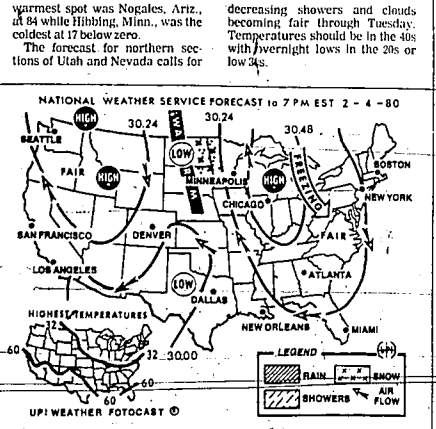

Twin Falls, Burley-Rupert, Jerome-Gooding areas: Cloudy today with patches of morning fog. Mostly cloudy tonight. Sunny and warmer Tuesday. Highs both days in the low to mid-40s. Overnight lows 25 to 35. Camas Prairie, Halley, Wood River valleys: Mostly cloudy today and tonight with patches of valley fog at night and in the morning. Mostly sunny and a little warmer Tuesday. Highs both days low to mid-40s. Overnight lows near 20.

Synopsis: A sliver of clear sky may cross Idaho by Tuesday.

It will provide at least a brief break in the spell of damp, overcast weather which has covered the state for several days. Fog, light scattered snow and rain and mild temperatures prevailed Sunday in the wake of the passage of a weak frontal system.

Temperatures were mild with Grangeville's 49 the warmest and several other stations reporting readings in the 40s. Malheur was the coldest at 17 degrees.

Elsewhere in the nation, the National

City	Max	Min	Pcp
Albuquerque	62	27	0
Atlanta	63	21	0
Boston	29	14	0
Chicago	24	13	0
Cleveland	18	5	0
Dallas	57	21	0
Denver	18	5	0
Des Moines	23	8	0
Detroit	21	7	0
Honolulu	75	68	0
Indianapolis	25	4	0
Kansas City	30	27	0
Las Vegas	62	44	0
Los Angeles	61	34	0
Louisville	27	7	0
Memphis	38	21	0
Miami Beach	59	49	0
Milwaukee	22	13	0
Minneapolis	18	9	0
New York	53	33	0
New Orleans	53	33	0
Philadelphia	29	14	0
Phoenix	51	25	0
Omaha	25	11	0
Portland, Me.	27	2	0
Portland, Ore.	35	22	0
St. Louis	29	18	0
San Francisco	57	37	0
San Diego	71	55	0
San Francisco	63	51	0
Seattle	52	40	0
Spokane	39	30	0
Washington	35	20	0
Burley	42	25	0
Gooding	41	22	0
Idaho Falls	36	21	0
Lewiston	42	29	0
London	37	22	0
Pocatello	36	29	0
Baltimore	33	24	0

Twin Falls

City	Max	Min	Pcp
Washington	35	20	0
Yonkers	41	27	0
Normal	40	21	0
Doyle	30	22	0

Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Monday, Feb. 4, the 35th day of 1980 with 331 to follow.

The moon is moving toward its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury and Venus.

These born on this date are under the sign of Aquarius.

Famed American trans-Atlantic flyer Charles A. Lindbergh was born Feb. 4, 1902. Actress Ida Lupino was born on this date in 1918.

In this date in history:

In 1901, Maj. William Gargas launched a U.S. Army campaign to wipe out yellow fever in Cuba.

In 1938, Adolf Hitler seized control of the German army and put Nazi officers in key posts as part of a plan which was to cause World War II.

In 1974, Patricia Hearst, 19-year-old daughter of San Francisco publisher Randolph Hearst, was spirited away from her apartment in Berkeley, Calif., by urban guerrillas.

In 1977, 11 people were killed and nearly 200 injured when an elevated train jumped the track and crashed into a street below in downtown Chicago.

A thought for the day: American author Mark Twain (Samuel Clemens) said, "Truth is the most valuable thing we have. Let us economize it."

The Times-News
TWIN FALLS, IDAHO

Member of Audit Bureau of Circulation and United Press International

Official City and County Newspaper pursuant to Section 606, Title 18, Idaho Code. Published here by designation on the day of the week on which the greatest number will be published. Published daily at 132 Third Street West from 7:00 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. except on days when the Idaho State Fair is in session. Second class postage paid at Twin Falls, Idaho. Postmaster: Please send address changes to THE TIMES-NEWS, P.O. Box 1000, Twin Falls, Idaho 83401.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

HOME DELIVERY
$13 per week
Collected 4 weeks
Subscriptions are valid only when a certain identity card is enclosed.

BY MAIL:
$13 per week (Only 8 Sundays)

1 MONTH $4.50
3 MONTHS $13.50
6 MONTHS $27.00
12 MONTHS $52.00

SPECIAL RATES:
Students & Servicemen: $8.00 per month
FOR SUBSCRIPTIONS CALL:
8:00 A.M. to 2:30 P.M. Mon. - Fri.
FOR DELIVERY SERVICE:
T.M. DE LA ROSA, News Editor
All other news service contact:
JACK FREEMAN, Business Manager

Paul Centofanti 343-4648
Burley-Rupert 343-4648
Oakley, Horseshoe 678-3652
Hawley 343-4648
Wendell 343-4648
Gooding, Jerome 326-7153

PICTURE YOURSELF THINNER

"I lost weight on the program — so can you!"

Trish Stoker Counselor

DIET CENTER
734-1350

HOW TO WIN AT THE LOSING GAME

1440 Filer Ave. E. 7 a.m. - 1 p.m.

ART BEEM

of Jerome sold his 1974 Chevy 1/2 ton pickup on the 5th day that his ad ran. He knows that Guaranteed Results Ads really work! If you have an item you'd like to sell, call and place your ad today.

733-0931

Herb Eitel, left, uses burning real draft card to light two more symbolic cards with fictitious names

Selective Service criticized many times for inequities

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If you were drafted during the Civil War, you could send a substitute in your place.

And if you had trouble finding one, you could buy your way out for $300.

President Woodrow Wilson signed the Selective Service Act on May 18, 1917, in an attempt to set up a fairer mobilization system than the one provided for in the Civil War Enrollment Act.

It didn't take much to improve on the old Enrollment Act, which had so many loopholes that it could only provide 6 per cent of the Union's forces during the Civil War.

Faced with a law that let the rich buy their way out of military service, draftees had resisted during the Civil War and nasty riots broke out in New York City.

The Selective Service Act, which eliminated many of the most glaring inequities, brought in 2.6 million men in World War I and 10 million in World War II.

Analysis

But Selective Service has been criticized in turn for being unfair. The legislation, for example, permitted deferments for students. The rich, of course, could afford to prolong their education until it was safe to graduate.

Military leaders have been doing the criticizing ever since President Richard Nixon proclaimed the end of the draft — and then registration — after the last U.S. combat troops withdrew from Vietnam.

President Carter announced plans last month to resume registration, a step short of resuming the actual draft, but he has yet to reveal full details of his proposal.

The president, who is scheduled to present his recommendations to Congress Feb. 9, has the task of deciding which loopholes to keep, which to scrap and which, if any, to add.

Sign women if drafting

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., said Sunday he does not believe draft registration should be reinstated — but if it is, it should include women.

He also decried what he called the "talk of war" surrounding the current crises in Iran and Afghanistan.

The Republican presidential candidate, interviewed on CBS' "Face the Nation," singled out for criticism presidential adviser Clark Clifford's warning that a Soviet push into Pakistan could mean war.

"The door to further negotiations (with the Soviet Union) must remain open," Anderson said. He said the stringency of some people is "talking instead of diminishing the level of danger."

Crane backs superiority

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Philip Crane, R-Ill., said Sunday he favors creating U.S. superiority in nuclear weapons — not simple parity as favored, he said, by other Republican presidential contenders.

In an interview on NBC's "Meet the Press," Crane was asked if he did not believe an effort to achieve superiority would be a "formula for an endless and costly arms race."

"No," he said. "When the United States had superiority, the Soviets had no way to close the gap. If we had the real will and determination to achieve it, they (the Russians) would know they couldn't catch us."

Asked if he had, as reported, proposed a 48-hour ultimatum to the Soviet Union to remove its troops from Cuba a few months ago, Crane said:

"Yes, privately. I suggested that such a notice be extended to them privately," he said.

Iranian maintains stand on hostages

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Iran's President-elect, Abolmoussa Bani-Sadr, Sunday reaffirmed his tough stance that the United States holds the solution to the 92-day-old hostage crisis but he did not specify the return of the shah as a condition for the Americans' release.

Bani-Sadr, speaking through an interpreter on ABC's "Issues and Answers" program, reiterated that the release of the hostages is solely "within the hands of the United States government."

tary Harold Brown, Army Secretary Clifford Alexander and first lady Rosalynn Carter all say women should register.

In the end, however, Congress will make the decision. The president has the authority to reimpose registration of men. He is expected to decide this week whether to ask Congress to endorse a move to include women.

PROTECT YOURSELF FROM INFLATION
intruders buy gold and guns

RED'S TRADING POST
215 Shoshone St. So.
RED-3546

CARPET-CLEANING
"STEAM-CLEANED"

LIVING ROOM & HALL..... $24⁹⁵
ANY ADDITIONAL ROOM $9⁹⁵

WITH THIS COUPON THE 3rd ROOM IS FREE!

3' FOOT FURNITURE MOVING CHARGE IF NECESSARY
CARPET GUARD® AVAILABLE
OFFICE HOURS 7 A.M. TO 10 P.M. Ph. 733-3157
Evening Appointments Good Thru Feb. 29th

Using the Hydra-Master Carpet Cleaning Plant

HYDRA MASTER CORPORATION
SERVING ALL MAGIC VALLEY
BEST WAY CARPET CLEANING

Police regain prison control

Continued from page A1

The riot was the bloodiest in the United States since 43 inmates and prison employees died at Attica in 1971. It likely will be the costliest in dollar figures, surpassing by $10 million to $20 million the $20 million in damage done in 1973 at the Oklahoma State Prison at McAlester.

By contrast, the Attica riot was confined to about a quarter of the prison and took about a $4 million emergency appropriation from the state Legislature to make repairs.

The New Mexico inmates initially took 14 hostages, released three because of injuries, then released two more on three occasions to show their good faith in negotiations.

taken from the shoe factory. The inmates who did not participate in the takeover, numbering about 700, spent Sunday night in 20-degree temperatures in a tent city on the southwest corner of the 12-acre prison grounds. About 250 inmates who participated were placed in the northwest corner of the grounds, under close surveillance by National Guard troops.

Rodriguez announced in the early evening that no final death count or identifications would be provided before today, but anxiously from relatives of prisoners and pressure from reporters apparently changed his mind.

As he talked, one woman shouted to hell with the hostages, what are you going to do about our people? We don't care about the hostages.

Archbishop Robert Sanchez walked through the prison Sunday evening, then visited with inmates in the chilly bivouac. He complimented the SWAT teams and National Guardsmen for showing restraint during the showdown.

"The inmates," he said, "are still very upset, but they are quieting down at this time."

OPENSOURCE
THE MAGIC VALLEY'S OWN MAGAZINE

VISIONS

ON SALE NOW

AT THESE CONVENIENT LOCATIONS

TWIN FALLS Book Magic The Leatherman Cios Bookstore Unisex Beauty Salon
Circle K New Beginnings International Gift Shop at Joslin Field JEROME
Golden Rule Ketchum Drug Synergy Bookstore The Sun Valley Center
Doer n' Dan's Pizza The Bookstore BUHL Smith's Food King
Sawtooth Syndicate Sun Valley Valley Center
The Nutrition Center RUPERT
KIMBERLY PERSONS GALLERY
The Man's Room CS 11 Book Store
Man's Hair Salon KETCHUM/SUN VALLEY
The Nutrition Center Judd's Lannon Bookstore

Confused?

ONLY The Blue Lakes Location of Sew-Ciety Fabrics Is Closing! Our Closing Specials Are Terrific!

Our Downtown Location (136 Main Avenue North) Stays Open With The Same Great Selection of Fine Fabrics, Patterns and Notions You've Always Enjoyed!

Sew-Ciety Fabrics

GET A LITTLE BEHIND

AT SOPHISTICATED LADY... we specialize in those areas of figure control which present problems even for sophisticated ladies. More, we help you feel just as great inside as you'll look outside. Your personalized figure and fitness program includes specialized exercise equipment for problem areas such as hips and thighs, plus refreshing whirlpool sauna and a supervised children's playground.

So, if you're not as fit as you'd like to be and your figure needs a little toning, come on in... you too can get a little behind.

A SPECIAL OFFER from the leader in women's fitness and figure slenderizing

5 visits for $5*

We guarantee you'll lose 5 inches by the end of those 5 visits or we'll refund your $5.

CALL NOW
Twin Falls Salon
734-7313
226 Eastland Drive
Next to the Bowladrome

SOPHISTICATED LADY
figure and fitness salons

*Only one per person. Must be 18 years of age and a local resident. First-time guests only. Longer term memberships will be offered.

The Times-News

Editorials

The high days of image-making end

Perceptions and impressions are poor substitutes for knowledge.

For the past few years, Americans have been assaulted by image-makers, pollsters and political analysts who have embraced a theory of politics as perception.

There is evidence, however, that this school of thought has had its day. The idea that what the voter or a foreign government perceives is often as important or even more important than actions now rings like an out-of-date truism.

Still, old habits are hard to break. To wit: Time magazine last week analyzed President Carter's anti-Soviet State of the Union address and concluded by asking, "Is the president perceived to be tough, decisive, realistic? Is the U.S. perceived to be standing up to the Soviet Union?" The magazine answered that, yes, Carter had "made the U.S. sound" that way.

These were not the only questions Time asked, but the throw-back to the perception theory rings hollow.

The need to be prepared in the face of Soviet threats has made Americans begin to want military strength and preparedness, overseas bases, arms aid to foreign countries and dependable allies.

Numbers, figures and commitments, are what matter now, not general perceptions.

The old infatuation with symbols belongs to another era, when Jimmy and Rosalynn Carter walked hand in hand — rather than ride in a limousine — down Pennsylvania Avenue for his inauguration three years ago.

The inspiration for this and the epitomy of the image-maker is Gerald Ralshoon, once rated as one of Carter's most important advisers.

Not much has been heard from the man who got the president to change which side he parted his hair on.

Nowadays, Carter has little time for symbols or Gerald Ralshoon.

It's just as well. The exaggerated importance placed on symbols, images, perceptions and leadership polls seems especially childish now.

And so Americans can look with some nostalgia but not much regret on the passing of the curious reign of the image-makers.

Art Buchwald

Canadians feel good

By ART BUCHWALD
© The Los Angeles Times Syndicate
WASHINGTON — As soon as the news broke about the Canadian rescue of the six American diplomats in Tehran, everyone who had a friend in Canada wanted to pick up the phone and thank them personally.

"I called my pal George in Toronto. On behalf of all the people of the United States, I want to thank you for what you did to save our diplomats. You may have lost an embassy for a while, but you've gained a friend for life."

"Don't thank us," he said. "We thank you."

"How can you thank us when you were the people who stuck your necks out while the rest of our friends kept insisting the hostage situation was an 'American problem'?"

"If you'll forgive me, you Americans don't really understand what makes another nation feel good. For years you people have been going around the world aiding other countries for self-serving or altruistic reasons. All you've got in return is resentment and envy. No self-respecting country enjoys being on the receiving end of someone else's largesse. By doing something for you we have restored our national pride. "I assure you," he continued, "that after our recent adventure, the Canadians are twice as pro-American as the Americans are pro-Canadian."

"But you can't be. Your act of bravery, in one of our darkest hours, has every loyal American — man, woman and child — in your debt."

"Exactly," said George, "that's why we feel so pro-American. For years Canadians have been in America's debt and frankly it's been a pain in the ass. For the first time we don't feel inferior to you."

"I see what you mean," I replied. "But still you people went beyond the call of duty. Did you see Foreign Minister Gholbzadeh on TV? He was fuming and said Canada will pay dearly for smuggling out the diplomats. He called it a 'flagrant violation of international law, a betrayal of Iran and a brutal act of espionage.'"

"It was the icing on the cake for us. Gholbzadeh is a twit."

"All the same, you people didn't have to do what you did. Iran had no quarrel with us."

"For heaven's sake, man, stop being so grateful! A little goodwill can go so far. If you were up here you would realize how happy the Canadian are that they could split in the Appalachians' face. We rarely get a chance to play even a small part on the world stage and, believe me, it feels wonderful. There's nothing better for a Canadian's spirit than to pull an American's chestnuts out of the fire. All of us would have given up three embassies if we had to — for this opportunity."

"When you put it that way I guess we did do you a favor by letting you rescue our diplomats. Well, if I can't thank you, what can I do?"

"Just don't become bitter," George said.

"How can I become bitter?"

"People do when they are held to somebody. We Canadians have felt that way for years. Now you owe us one and we don't want you to sour us."

"There's something wrong with this conversation," I said. "I called to thank you. You say YOU should thank ME. And now you tell me not to become bitter for what you've done."

"That's correct. Just let us enjoy the Iranian caper for what it was. It may be quite a while before we have an opportunity to help out our little brothers to the south again, so allow us to savor the moment as long as we can."

Mike Royko

Tweddledee, Tweddledum

Chicago Sun-Times (Field News Service)
CHICAGO — This city may appear to be having a nervous breakdown, but don't worry. Tweddledee and Tweddledum are going to take care of everything.

That's the name some people around City Hall have given to Michael Brady and Bill Griffin, who are Mayor Jane Byrne's two top aides.

Others refer to them as "the poor man's Haldeman and Ehrlichman."

Nobody's quite sure why Byrne hired these two for such powerful positions. Although the federal government sets standards for hiring minorities, the hands of the mayor and others, there is no legal requirement that Byrne hire the incompetent.

But they are there, God help us, swagging about the city making big decisions, frightening underlings, trying to look smart and knowing, and hoping nobody will realize they aren't.

To illustrate the kind of leadership we now have, here are a couple of their recent achievements.

Not long ago, a beautiful lady named Janet O'Toole had the good fortune to receive a $25,000-a-year contract to do appraisal work for the city.

She was uncommonly fortunate because not every appraiser gets that kind of city contract. And it is rare for the city to give a contract to an appraiser who doesn't have an MAI rating, which is the highest professional rating within the appraisal field.

How did she do it?

The city Planning Department says it gave Ms. O'Toole the contract because she is very good at appraising things, and they want to give women equal opportunity, and they just happened to pick her. Isn't that nice?

And Ms. O'Toole says she got the contract because she did some work for another city department in the past, and they were so pleased with her that they gave her a glowing recommendation for that job. Some cynical Chicagoans might ask: "Who's her clout? City Hall contracts for $25,000 don't just come down the chimney with Santa."

Ms. O'Toole flatly denies that the reason she got the contract is because she had until recently been a partner in the appraisal firm of Brady and O'Toole.

That's right. Until Brady landed his job in City Hall, he had dabbled in the appraisal business. He had dabbled in several other occupations, with little success, until he slithered into politics a few years ago.

When Brady was asked about the fat contract for his former partner and close friend, he also denied that his power had anything to do with it.

"I did not do for her," he declared.

If anything, he said, being his partner hindered Ms. O'Toole's success during the three years they shared an office. That's because Brady was then in the state legislature, and his lofty ethical standards did not permit him to accept appraisal work for his firm from state government.

Well, that's what the man says. Now, let us move on to Tweddledum, also known as Bill Griffin, a former Chicago Tribune reporter who ingratiated himself with Byrne before she became mayor, thus landing a job in her administration.

His job is supposed to be mayor's chief of staff, but lately he has been playing detective.

Sources in City Hall say he's been snooping into the background of — at least one journalist who has been critical of him, Brady and Mayor Bossy. The sources say Griffin is hoping to find a few juicy tidbits that could be used to embarrass the critic.

This, of course, is not a new point tactic. It's often practiced by political amateurs and people who have nothing better to do. During the Nixon years, it became known as "dirty tricks."

"Now, if you are going to play the dirty tricks game, the first rule is that you must be secretive about it. But for days, I've been receiving tips from City Hall about Griffin's ginshee activities."

So I asked a few other people in Byrne's administration about it. I was curious why, when city government is in turmoil, the mayor's chief of staff would spend time looking into somebody else's laundry hamper, figuratively speaking.

One top administration official said: "I'll tell you why. He's doing it because he's a meatball, that's why."

But another source in the mayor's office said: "Yeah, he's doing it, and the reason is because his wife told him to do it."

Griffin's wife is Michael Speed, another Chicago Tribune reporter, who said briefly and with some embarrassment, she said, "We know you folks are against the fish business."

I was surprised and probably should have been. Though hardly qualified as trout fishermen in the Valley the 34 years we have lived here there have been big changes, not all of which we have welcomed. I have been heard to say, loudly, that I've never yet tasted a commercially grown trout that was as good as "native."

What I said to my neighbor is that while we are not against the fish business, we are against fish growers who don't clean up after their ponds.

There has been a rush to take up all the pure, clean Thousand Springs of Hagerman Valley for fish culture, but negligible concern about the fouling of those springs. Hundreds of thousands of trout, crowded into artificial ponds, fed commercially developed, chemically-added, antibiotic-laced pellets, excrete their tons of waste into the public's pure spring water. This isn't like a few native trout swimming around, this is comparable to the people pollution in the city of Delhi if you don't believe me, join me in your really should buy speech writers who can rise above cribbing from that old phrase-maker, Eisenhower.

But speaking of the "military industrial complex" (as we are fated to do until someone notifies Kennedy that he snoozed through the 1970s), consider, as Kennedy does not, the facts. Here is the trend of defense spending as percentage of GNP, beginning with 1948, after the rush of postwar disarmament...

1948	4.5
1952	12.2
1959	8.8
1968	7.2
1970	8.5
1975	7.5
1979	4.6

Astonishingly, Kennedy says the threat to the Persian Gulf is distracting the administration from "more vital interests."

"For example, this nation has an important stake in the independence of Yugoslavia. If President Tito were to die while we were preoccupied in the Persian Gulf, the Soviets could tempt us to launch an attack on Yugoslavia — a country that President Carter as a candidate declared he would not defend."

Kennedy is not exactly saying that he would defend Yugoslavia. He is not willing to register to the Gulf what he criticizes Carter for having done with regard to Yugoslavia. He is signaling to Russia that, as President, he would not defend the independence of the Gulf.

Kennedy says he speaks "for all the Americans who were ignored in the State of the Union Address." That's about right. Carter's State of the Union Address dealt with national security, which concerns everybody. Kennedy speaks for everybody else.

Letters

Ruined springs

Editor, Times-News:
Recently a friend and neighbor told me reluctantly that she and her husband were planning to go into aquaculture. When I questioned her about the fish business, she said, "We know you folks are against the fish business."

I was surprised and probably should have been. Though hardly qualified as trout fishermen in the Valley the 34 years we have lived here there have been big changes, not all of which we have welcomed. I have been heard to say, loudly, that I've never yet tasted a commercially grown trout that was as good as "native."

What I said to my neighbor is that while we are not against the fish business, we are against fish growers who don't clean up after their ponds.

There has been a rush to take up all the pure, clean Thousand Springs of Hagerman Valley for fish culture, but negligible concern about the fouling of those springs. Hundreds of thousands of trout, crowded into artificial ponds, fed commercially developed, chemically-added, antibiotic-laced pellets, excrete their tons of waste into the public's pure spring water. This isn't like a few native trout swimming around, this is comparable to the people pollution in the city of Delhi if you don't believe me, join me in your batting suit next summer and help clean the creek and slivgy, slimy, weed and algae out of local stream after commercial rearing ponds.

As far as I know, the only fish ponds in Hagerman Valley who DO anything about their fish manure are at the Jones-Sandy operation. They catch the fish excrement and irrigate crops with it — sensible and thrifty, as well as ethical.

I feel a lot safer if, when I read articles in the paper about new, improved, food-producing fish farms, I would also find a description of how the fish manure was to be settled, screened or recycled and the clear pure, public water returned to the stream bed.

D BOWLER
Bliss

Oil not worth it

Editor, Times-News:
President Carter has just set America up for a World War III. He has threatened Russia with war if they invade Pakistan. The war with Russia will not be a Vietnam or Korea type but a war of the most horrifying nature. It will be a war in which the United States cannot win. The rulers of Russia may win — they can survive if they attack us first — they have the means of hiding — we do not. The scenario follows:

The rebels who are opposed to the Russians and the puppet rulers of Afghanistan will use Pakistan as a haven. They will carry their war against Russia from Pakistan. The Russians will find it necessary to attack the Afghanistan rebels in Pakistan and inevitably the Pakistan citizens will be involved. The rulers of Pakistan will feel it necessary to use the weapons we have promised them for protection. The Russians will then be caught between the decision to invade Pakistan or the humiliation of not responding. Thus a confrontation with the United States may occur.

Consider the religious/political fervor we have witnessed in Iran — the television screen lately. These same feelings and attitudes are held by most all of the people in the Moslem countries.

The American people should seriously weigh the "advantages" of lying their lives to the irrational emotions of these people. We have enough problems in this country to solve without involving ourselves in the problems of a people who may be our friend today and an enemy tomorrow. The oil in that area of the world is not worth the risk.

C. REX YEAMAN
Jerome

George Will

Kennedy caps fall with re-announcement

WASHINGTON — Jeopercers, not even demagoguery is what I used to be.

The falling away from high standards was apparent in Edward Kennedy's re-announcement speech.

Once upon a time, when a Democrat got all steamed up he sounded like William Jennings Bryan proclaiming "you shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold" (Bryan was partial to silver) or FDR railing on about Republicans being mean to his dog Fala. Kennedy rose to the standards of his party only once: "It is less than a year since the Vienna summit, when President Carter kissed President Brezhnev on the cheek. We cannot afford a foreign policy based on the pangs of unrequited love."

Kennedy's speech did its job: it defined his campaign, which now stands squarely for two things: more statism at home and more appeasement abroad.

Statism? Regarding inflation, "there is only one recourse" — it is, naturally, wage and price controls. Well, he had to say something, and he is not the person to criticize Carter for increasing spending 11 percent a year. (There is enough snickering when he talks how distressed he is about Carter's failing to balance the budget.) But here is a quiz: What industrial nation has most frequently tried what Kennedy favors? (Answer: Britain.)

Appasement? Kennedy lends support to the terrorist line that the United States is somehow culpable for allowing the Shah into the country. He seems ready to accept a terrorist veto over U.S. immigration. Like Carter, Kennedy will not yield to

"blackmail." Unlike Carter, he is not inclined to try ransom. (The administration hints that Iran can expect foreign aid when the hostages come home.) Kennedy proposes — are you ready, America, for Real Leadership? — a U.N. commission to say beastly things about the Shah.

Regarding Russia's geopolitical assault in Southwest Asia, Kennedy accuses Carter of "exaggeration," and seems strangely reassured by the fact that "this is not the first abuse of Soviet power, nor will it be the last." Kennedy is a blessing to Carter's campaign. He says, with a straight face, that Carter's defense proposals are too strong.

Kennedy even includes a ritual punch to the "military-industrial complex." I am not surprised that Kennedy evidently has not opened his eyes or his mind for a decade, but he really should buy speech writers who can rise above cribbing from that old phrase-maker, Eisenhower.

But speaking of the "military industrial complex" (as we are fated to do until someone notifies Kennedy that he snoozed through the 1970s), consider, as Kennedy does not, the facts. Here is the trend of defense spending as percentage of GNP, beginning with 1948, after the rush of postwar disarmament...

1948	4.5
1952	12.2
1959	8.8
1968	7.2
1970	8.5
1975	7.5
1979	4.6

Astonishingly, Kennedy says the threat to the Persian Gulf is distracting the administration from "more vital interests."

"For example, this nation has an important stake in the independence of Yugoslavia. If President Tito were to die while we were preoccupied in the Persian Gulf, the Soviets could tempt us to launch an attack on Yugoslavia — a country that President Carter as a candidate declared he would not defend."

Kennedy is not exactly saying that he would defend Yugoslavia. He is not willing to register to the Gulf what he criticizes Carter for having done with regard to Yugoslavia. He is signaling to Russia that, as President, he would not defend the independence of the Gulf.

Kennedy says he speaks "for all the Americans who were ignored in the State of the Union Address." That's about right. Carter's State of the Union Address dealt with national security, which concerns everybody. Kennedy speaks for everybody else.

Kennedy says he speaks "for all the Americans who were ignored in the State of the Union Address." That's about right. Carter's State of the Union Address dealt with national security, which concerns everybody. Kennedy speaks for everybody else.

Kennedy says he speaks "for all the Americans who were ignored in the State of the Union Address." That's about right. Carter's State of the Union Address dealt with national security, which concerns everybody. Kennedy speaks for everybody else.

Taking money denied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some of the congressmen implicated in a major bribery scandal said Sunday they met with men believed to be Arab investors, but did not take any money in return for promising legislative help.

The Arab investors actually were undercover FBI agents conducting an operation called ABCAM, short for Arab scam. Sources said the agents, one of whom posed as an Arab sheik, paid bribes to public officials in return for promises they would help with immigration and business problems.

Among those believed to have been investigated were: Reps. John W. Jenrette Jr., D-S.C., Frank Thompson (D-N.Y.), John Murphy (D-N.Y.), Richard Kelly (R-Ill.), and Michael Myers and Raymond Lederer, all D-Pa., and Sen. Harrison Williams Jr., D-N.J., official sources said. No charges have yet been filed against anyone.

Murphy, Kelly, Myers and Lederer could not be reached for comment Sunday.

GOP calls for probe at once

EASTON, Md. (UPI) — Republican leaders Sunday demanded an immediate investigation by congressional ethics committees into a bribery scandal involving a senator and several congressmen.

As the final act of business at the Tidewater III Conference, more than 60 GOP governors, congressmen and party officials approved a resolution by Gov. Richard Snelling of Vermont, calling for the probe.

It referred to a sting-type FBI operation, revealed by official sources Saturday, in which some members of Congress and other state and local public officials allegedly were photographed and recorded accepting money from undercover agents posing as Arab businessmen. All but one of the members of Congress investigated were believed to be Democrats.

The voice vote appeared unanimous, and no "no" votes were heard. Two members of the House ethics committee who were present — Richard Cheney of Wyoming and James Sensenbrenner of Wisconsin — said the probe should begin immediately and not wait for any possible court action.

The Republicans at the conference also endorsed former U.N. Ambassador George Bush over Ronald Reagan for the presidential nomination.

In a straw vote late Saturday, Bush received 26 votes or 38.2 percent of the 68 GOP officials taking part, while Reagan got 19 votes or 27.9 percent.

Trailing the leaders were Howard Baker with eight votes, John Connally with four, John Anderson with three, Gerald Ford with two and GOP Co-Chairman Larry "Grip" with one. There were five undecided.

The vote was a blow to Baker, especially since 16 of his Senate colleagues were among the conference participants.

The conference had not planned to take a stand on the presidential race, but was forced to do so by Reagan supporters who complained about an informal Cox newspaper poll taken earlier, which showed a beating for Reagan by an even wider margin.

Kennedy pledges to do his best

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Maine (UPI) — Sen. Edward Kennedy Sunday pledged to do his best to win in both Maine party caucuses, would only say: "We're going to do the best we can."

Last month, Kennedy acknowledged that he had to win in both Maine Sunday and New Hampshire Feb. 26, but recent polls have shown he may lose both states in his native New England.

A report in the Boston Globe Sunday carried the results of Carter organizers who felt the race in New Hampshire was extremely close.

At a county Democratic dinner in Bangor, Maine, Saturday night, a straw poll showed showed Carter with 224 votes, Kennedy with 68 and California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. with 14.

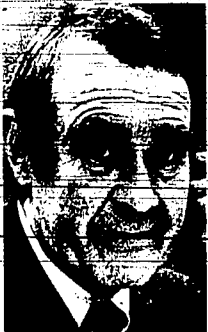

Reagan proud of 69

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Ronald Reagan's political backers, deciding to flaunt rather than ignore his approaching 69th birthday, launched festivities Sunday with a celebrity-packed gala featuring Frank Sinatra and Dean Cain.

Other stars scheduled to fete the actor-turned-politician included Cesar Romero, Jimmy Stewart, Robert Stack, Efrem Zimbalist Jr., Morey Amsterdam, James Darren, and country singers Rex Allen and Marty Robbins.

Reagan's birthday is Wednesday. If elected, he would be the oldest president to enter the White House — turning 70 his first month in office.

His strategists decided to meet the age issue head-on with a giant birthday celebration.

SEN. HARRISON WILLIAMS ... calls his lawyer was helping an associate seek financial assistance for proposed business dealings in the 6th Congressional District, which Jenrette represents.

"I accompanied this person to a couple of meetings with people I now understand to be FBI undercover agents," Jenrette said. "At no time did I engage in any improper or illegal activities."

Jenrette said he went to the meetings "to assist with the project in the district." He said his associate was seeking "financial assistance" for a "significant project in my district," which would have provided 500 jobs. He did not identify his associate or the project.

REP. FRANK THOMPSON ... among implicated

Congressman Thompson said he talked to two men in Washington months ago who said they represented an investor worth a large amount of money. Thompson emphatically denied ever taking money for help with legislation, and said he only suggested the names of some New Jersey banks in his district as possible places for the "sheik" to invest the money.

Murtha, a member of the House ethics committee, issued a statement that said: "I had met with two men who I thought were Arabs ... for the first and only time for just over one hour on Jan. 7, 1979, and tried to interest them in making investments which would create increased employment in the district.

REP. JOHN JENRETTE ... tells his side

"I did not consider that any money was offered and certainly none was taken. And the FBI, who taped the entire conversation, knows damn well no money changed hands."

Senator Williams issued a brief statement that read: "After reading newspaper reports this morning, I felt it wise to retain counsel. I have done so and at the appropriate time another statement will be made concerning these reports."

Earlier Sunday, Williams told reporters: "I'm personally grateful that I have no wrongdoing in my background."

Entrapment claim unlikely to stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Justice Department officials expressed confidence Sunday that members of Congress will be unable to prove they were entrapped into taking bribes in the biggest undercover political corruption probe in FBI history.

The issue of entrapment — in which otherwise innocent officials are lured into breaking the law — is likely to be a burning question at any criminal trials to result from the two-year probe, sources said.

Since the FBI allegedly has videotapes of officials receiving $50,000 payoffs from bureau agents posing as Arab businessmen, those implicated may argue they were lured into taking payoffs by the elaborate FBI set-up.

"However, to argue entrapment would mean making a clear admission that they accepted payoffs for which congressmen could be answerable on election day, and in the Internal Revenue Service if they fail to include the money on their tax returns."

FBI officials said investigators took painstaking care to avoid legal entrapment — consulting regularly with lawyers for the Organized Crime Strike-Force of the U.S. attorney's office in New York on provisions of the law.

One source, who has viewed the videotapes of nearly $500,000 in payoffs to more than 25 public officials, including several members of Congress, said: "I think every one was acting of their own free will."

Jury instructions used in the District of Columbia courts define entrapment as instances in which law enforcement officials have "induced or persuaded an unwilling person to commit a criminal act."

But the instructions stress that "where a person is predisposed to commit an offense — that is, ready and willing to violate the law — the fact that government officials or their agents merely afford an opportunity for him to do so, does not constitute entrapment."

The law says that even if undercover agents induced a defendant to commit a crime, a defendant may be convicted if a jury finds he was predisposed to commit such an offense anyway.

It permits law enforcement officials to use undercover tactics and even to offer money to "afford opportunities" for suspects to break the law.

In one test case, during an FBI undercover "sting" operation in Washington, assistant U.S. Attorney Donald Robinson was caught on film taking a payoff from a police officer.

The sting involved the bureau setting up a fake fencing ring in which undercover agents bought back stolen property, while hidden cameras recorded the transactions and allowed prosecution of dozens of thieves.

ATTENTION HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS!

1st Annual Creative Advertising Awards

by the Times-News and Magic Valley Businesses

The Times-News and selected Businesses are sponsoring a contest just for you!

Design a newspaper advertisement for a business in Magic Valley.

This contest is a way for you to consider possible career paths, and win valuable prizes.

IT'S EASY TO ENTER!

- Either bring in or mail the registration form below to the Times-News (Att. Brenda Weeks), P.O. Box 548 Twin Falls, Idaho 83301 Phone 733-0931.
- You will then receive a packet with complete rules, art materials, and instructions.
- Design the advertisement and return it to your selected business by February 19th.
- If you are then selected by that business as their finalist, you will be eligible for hundreds of dollars in prizes and be honored at an awards ceremony.

PARTICIPATING BUSINESSES LIST

(Your Choices Must Come from this list)

Ace Hansen	L'Herrisons
Banner	Nelsons
Blue Lakes Showkase	New Horizons
Blue Lakes Sporting Goods	Newtons
Blue Lakes Volkswagen	Norm's OK Tire
Bill Workman	North's Cluck Wagon
Bojangles	OK Tire
Bon	Paris
Boranza	PennyWise
Canyon Motors	Roper's
Carpet Corner	Snake River Tire
Clos Book Store	Sherwood Sports
Crowley	Sterling
Dahnkens	Swenson
D&B Supply	Times-News
Dave Monroe	Twin Falls Bank & Trust
English House	Van's
Ernst	Walkers Realty - Burley
First Federal	Williams IGA
Hobby Town Toys	Willis Motor
Hudson's	Woodworth
Hudson's	Boise Cascade - Gooding
Jackleys	Volco Inc. - Jerome
Jensen	Wendell Dept. - Wendell
Mr. Juan	Claxman Togs - Gooding
Judy's Books	Boranza Motors - Burley
J.C. Penny Co.

get a present

Creative Advertising Awards

Yes, I want to be a part of your Creative Advertising Contest. I will mail this completed form by February 19th or bring it in to the Times-News Contact Brenda, the Times-News, P.O. Box 548 Twin Falls, Idaho 83301 or Phone 733-0931 by February 12th and make myself eligible to win.

My first three choices of participating Magic Valley businesses for whom I would like to design an ad are:

- _____
- _____
- _____

NAME _____
 STREET ADDRESS _____
 CITY _____ TELEPHONE _____
 HIGH SCHOOL _____ GRADE _____

All advertisement entered become the property of the Times-News. If your first three choices have already been filled, the Times-News reserves the right to assign a business to you. Decisions of the judges are final.

PACKETS WILL BE AVAILABLE AFTER WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 6th

People

New Orleans police join in plans for better Mardi Gras

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — In the "City That Came Forth," most citizens never will forget it was their striking police force that killed last year's Mardi Gras for the first time ever in peacetime during the 20th Century.

The cancellation was a knockout blow to civic pride — one most thought never would happen.

But one year later, Mardi Gras has returned stronger than ever. With police guaranteeing security for the estimated 1 million parade-goers on Feb. Tuesday, Feb. 19.

"We made a commitment to the community that we will give them a carefree Mardi Gras to the best of our ability," said Peter L. Dale, vice president of the police union that instigated last year's strike.

"I would tell you that the average policeman loves Mardi Gras. It's a part of New Orleans."

The two-week strike in 1979 came down to a faceoff between the police union and Mayor Ernest Morial. Morial refused to bargain with the union and ordered all parades in New Orleans canceled — including the traditional reign of Rex on Mardi Gras.

Some Carnival organizations called "krewes" — made 11th-hour plans to "roll-in" the suburbs — but most just kept their two-story floats wrapped in black paper inside buge storage dens, waiting for next year.

Next year is here, and police will be manning parade routes instead of picket lines this time.

Dale discounted fears that a group of dissident officers would call in sick or resign on Mardi Gras to disrupt the festivities.

"I've heard no talk of it," Dale said. "The commitment was made last week that we were going to give the people a Mardi Gras."

"Everybody works on Mardi Gras," he said. "If you're not working, you're sleeping."

Morial and Police Chief James Parsons also said they have contingency plans if some officers invoke the "blue flu" on Carnival Day.

"We're going to have Mardi Gras regardless," Parsons said, "because we're going to have people here to handle it."

The city's entire 1,300-member police force will be deployed on Mardi Gras — many covering the parade route from St. Charles Avenue to Canal Street and the others covering the residences left empty by the revelers.

Luxembourg princess for Charles?

LONDON (UPI) — The name of Princess Marie-Astrid of Luxembourg cropped up again Sunday as a possible bride for Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, despite earlier denials that there were family discussions on the subject.

The News of the World said the pretty daughter of Grand Duke Jean and Grand Duchess Caroline had a private audience with Pope John Paul II last week. The paper said church circles in Rome believe the problems of a "mixed marriage" were discussed.

Marie-Astrid, 26, is a Catholic. Charles will someday succeed his mother, Queen Elizabeth, as head of the Church of England.

Queen Elizabeth is scheduled to meet the Pope during a visit to Italy later in the year. The News of the World said Dr. Robert Runcie — who will become the archbishop of Canterbury, primate of the Church of England, in the spring — said he would not object to a mixed marriage for Charles.

The newspaper said the queen has favored Marie-Astrid since she was 18 and has a photograph of her in her apartment at Balmoral, the royal home in Scotland.

Marie-Astrid has lately been working in the World Bank in Washington.

Last original member of Ink Spots dies at 59

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (UPI) — Charlie Owen, described by fellow members of his singing group as the last original member of the famed Ink Spots, died Friday night in Klamath Falls.

Owen, 59, suffered an apparent heart attack at the Klamath Falls Airport just after the current Ink Spots group arrived for a weekend engagement at a Klamath Falls motel.

A spokesman said Owen was with the Ink Spots when the group gained national popularity in 1938 with "I'll Be Home for Christmas." Other early hits recorded by the group included "Up a Lazy River," "Paper Doll" and "You Always Hurt the One You Love."

The four remaining members of the current group went ahead with their show at the Wynema Motel.

Ohio's Valentine Lady in her busiest season

LOVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — While December is the busy season at the North Pole, in Loveland it's February and no one's busier than the "Valentine Lady," Doris Pfister, who has dispatched more than 50,000 Valentines over the past eight years.

In her capacity as the Loveland Chamber of Commerce's first Valentine Lady, Doris Pfister, a 67-year-old grandmother, is responsible for remailing thousands of Valentines that are sent to her each year, from around the world.

She stamps the cards with a Loveland postmark and a red-ink picture of Cupid with the message, "There is nothing in the world so sweet as love."

The chamber hatched its idea for putting Loveland on the map by advertising it as the "Land of Love" in the early 1970's, soon after Mrs. Pfister's husband died.

"I lost my valentine, so I try to make Valentine's extra special for as many people as I can," she said.

And the love business is booming, Mrs. Pfister says.

"Sometimes I can't even see my living room rug because it's completely covered with packages of Valentines," she said.

"I did 10,000 Valentines last year and the year before that it was a record — 14,000," said Mrs. Pfister, who sometimes works 18-hour days the week before Feb. 14.

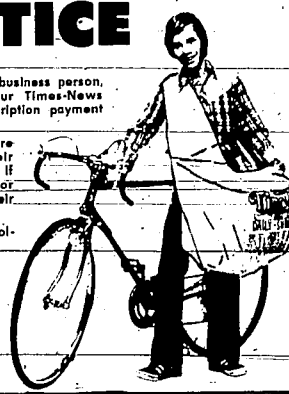

One day a few years ago she worked from dawn to past midnight and had to miss the town's Valentine's Dance, where she was to have been the special guest.

But she insists she loves her work and she often receives Valentines from people for whom she does the remailing.

"I have to confess that each January I get a little anxious, wondering when the first valentine is going to come in. I look forward to it, just like children look forward to Christmas."

Anyone who wants a Valentine remailed should put the cards in addressed, unstamped envelopes along with postage money and an additional 10 cents for each card in a larger envelope addressed to Valentine Lady, P.O. Box 111, Loveland, Ohio, 45140.

NOTICE

To aid a young business person, please have your Times-News newspaper subscription payment ready this week.

Remember, they are paid from their route's profit — if you don't pay for their services, their profit suffers.

They will be collecting $4.60 for the last four weeks; that is $1.15 per week, or 17¢ per day.

Three Days. Three Dinners. One Special Price.

TUESDAY
Kaiser K.C. Oval Steak Dinner

MONDAY
Chopped Steak Dinner

WEDNESDAY
Chicken Fried Steak Dinner

$2.99

Then, each day, you've got your choice of a Baked Potato or French Fries, Toast, any Drink, Soup & Salad Bar.

HOURS: 11 A.M. - 9 P.M. WEEKDAYS & SUNDAYS
11 A.M. - 10 P.M. - FRI. & Sat.
611 Blue Lakes Blvd. - 734-5160

Prime Cut MEAT MARKET & Restaurant

MOVIES

FOX PROGRAM INFORMATION
TWIN FALLS 734-2400
JEROME 324-8876

STAR TREK
THE MOTION PICTURE
MON. - TUE. 7:00 - 9:25 TWIN CINEMA
MON. - TUE. 7:15 - 9:40 TWIN CINEMA

Kramer vs. Kramer
HELD OVER
DUSTY HOFFMAN
MERYL STREEP
MON. - TUE. 7:00 - 9:00 TWIN MALL

A Forbidden Love... DICK VAN DYKE KATHLEEN QUINLAN THE RUNNER STUMBLES STARTS WEDNESDAY
TWIN CINEMA

WHERE EVERYTHING ENDS... BACK HOLE
MON. - TUE. 7:20 - 9:10 TWIN CINEMA
MON. - TUE. 7:40 - 9:20 TWIN CINEMA

Alfred Packer
MON. - TUE. 7:40 - 9:30 TWIN CINEMA
MON. - TUE. 7:00 & 9:10 TWIN CINEMA

OPEN 5 CINE MALL SNACK SHOP
FEATURING
HOT SANDWICHES
HOT DANISH ROLLS
12 OZ. COFFEE .35

STUART WHITMAN GUYANA CULT OF THE DAMNED
MON. - TUE. 7:30 ONLY TWIN CINEMA

SUPER SHOPPER SPECIALS!!

WALDORF BATH TISSUE 99¢ 6 Pack White	OLD FASHION CHOCOLATE DROPS 99¢ 12 Oz.	NESTLE'S COOKIE MIX Oatmeal or Peanut Butter 49¢
CRISCO OIL $1.05 24 Oz.	STERNO LOG Easy Light EACH .79¢	MIRACLE WHIP SALAD DRESSING Quart... $1.19
HOMEMADE SOUP STARTER • Beef Barley, 5.6 oz. • Chicken Noodle, 6.3 oz. • Beef Noodle, 6.8 oz. • Beef Vegetable, 7.2 oz. 89¢	5-PK. CANDY • Mollo Cups • Smoothies • Peanut Butter Cups 79¢ 6 Oz.	PLANTERS MIXED NUTS $1.47 12 Oz.
LUZIANNE TEA BAGS 100 Bags $1.19 8 Oz.	HERSHEY'S SYRUP 99¢ Genuine Chocolate Flavor... 24 Oz.	KNIT STOCKING CAPS 49¢ Assorted Colors
Penny-Wise Drugs LYNWOOD SHOPPING CENTER		TASTERS CHOICE FREEZE DRIED COFFEE 4 Oz. $2.67
NUT LOG CANDY BARS 49¢ Pecan 3/4 Oz. Cashew or Peanut 1/4 Oz.

Soviet dissent target again

MOSCOW (UPI) — In what could signal a new crackdown on dissidents following the arrest of Andrei Sakharov, the Soviet press attacked activist writer Lev Kopelev Sunday for anti-Soviet, chauvinist and "ideological subversion."

The charges leveled by the daily newspaper Sovetskaya Rossiya were similar to those made against Sakharov after his arrest and banishment from Moscow two weeks ago.

Kopelev, 67, a tall, barrel-chested writer who sports a flowing white beard, was expelled in 1977 from the Soviet Union of Writers. He said at the time he believed the action was taken because of his support for dissidents.

The Soviet newspaper charged that Kopelev, an expert in German literature, goes regularly to the West German Embassy to receive food and clothing sent through diplomatic channels.

"These donations are not given free for his charming eyes or bushy beard," the newspaper said. "In exchange, he supplies spiritual food, to wit — anti-Soviet merchandise."

Kopelev denied he had ever been to the West German Embassy and said, "There is not a word of truth in the article."

At the time the writers who issued a document in support of Sakharov after his arrest, Kopelev moved widely in Soviet writing an intellectual circles and has been a supporter of the dissident movement. He was present last week when Sakharov's wife returned from her husband's city of exile to deliver his human rights document on Afghanistan.

"His only occupation now is furnishing our ideological adversaries with anti-Soviet propaganda materials," the newspaper charged. "His Moscow apartment has become a source of ideological subversion and a rendezvous point for Western emissaries."

Kopelev, a one-time Communist party activist, spent nine years in a Soviet prison camp from 1945 to 1954; some of them together with his close friend, the now-exiled Soviet dissident writer Alexander Solzhenitsyn.

In his three volumes of memoirs, including an account of his life with the Red Army in East Prussia, Kopelev described how some Soviet soldiers engaged in drunkenness, looting and rape. When he tried to curb the excesses, he wrote, he was court-martialed and sentenced to prison for pro-German sentiments and an anti-Soviet attitude.

"The newspaper referring to Kopelev's works, said his writing 'abounds in foul insinuations about the Soviet Union, about Soviet servicemen.'

"The story of his life is the story of the steady degeneration of a man who hates his homeland," it said, and accused him of teaming up with fascists and "the most rabid enemies of socialism."

The newspaper said there was a pattern to Kopelev's behavior and that he was being used by the West.

"He smuggles a regular installment of libel abroad where a ballyhoo is stirred up with the author being portrayed as a human rights champion hounded, harassed and victimized by the authorities."

Drought grips Peking area as rains falter

PEKING (UPI) — The Peking area is suffering from one of its worst droughts in nearly 50 years and special conservation measures are planned, the newspaper Peking Daily, official organ of the municipal government, said Sunday.

Between September and January, the newspaper said the Chinese capital and its environs have had only 1.1 inches of rain, about three inches less than in the same five month period a year earlier. It added that the drought poses a "very serious" threat to food production in the Peking area this year.

The newspaper said the Peking government recently called an emergency meeting to adopt measures to deal with the drought, but details were not announced.

"The drought is of a scale rarely seen in the last 45 years," the newspaper said.

Peking gets much of its water from wells and the report said the underground water table around the capital has dropped between three and six feet in many locations.

The drought is drying up cultivated land "and in the hilly and semi-hilly districts, the top soil has eroded to a depth of almost eight inches is dry earth."

"In some areas, the winter wheat crop has already died," the newspaper said.

Foreign economic experts in Peking say it is still too early to predict the effect on China's 1980 harvest, since the situation could be turned around by a revival of good weather.

Camps for refugees menaced by buildup

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — Vietnamese forces Sunday began an "ominous" troop buildup around camps holding 400,000 Cambodian refugees on the Thai-Cambodian border.

International aid agencies ordered emergency evacuation plans prepared and workers were placed on 24-hour alert.

Western military analysts said thousands of Vietnamese troops had formed forward lines near both Nong Samet and Rehou, sprawling refugee settlements where about 400,000 Cambodians live in trampled hut encampments straddling the border.

"The signs and potential significance of the Vietnamese buildup is considered ominous," said one Western diplomat.

Cambodian leaders at Nong Samet, a camp of 75,000 refugees about 200 miles northeast of Bangkok, said Vietnamese lines were only 500 yards outside the settlement's perimeter.

A Western diplomat in the border area said the extent of Vietnamese troop deployment around the camps was not known, but reports indicate the number involved "is a great deal more than what the Vietnamese were used to simply clear out the Khmer Rouge."

International aid agencies, including the Red Cross, ordered field workers to begin an immediate review of emergency evacuation plans for both foreign volunteers and the Cambodian refugees. The Red Cross said its personnel had been on 24-hour standby since Friday.

"The foreign volunteers are being told to keep their walking-talker radios on at all times and to know where their evacuation vehicle is parked," said one relief official.

The officials said the Cambodians were being briefed in detail as to which routes they should use to flee to safety inside Thailand in the event of a Vietnamese attack.

PUBLIC AUCTION

FEBRUARY 6
THOR LUND ESTATE
Bill Estes & Associates, Auctioneers

FEBRUARY 9
GOSCH & JOHNSTON
Farm Machinery, Kugler & Bill Estes and Associates

FEBRUARY 9
JEROME IMPLEMENT COMPANY
Used Auction
Machinery, Boats, Guns, Sporting Goods
Wert, Eilers, Bennett, and Messersmith, Auctioneers

FEBRUARY 11
DEWEY & JOSEPHINE NIPPER
Bull
Masters and Osborne, Auctioneers

FEBRUARY 12
WESTWOOD BUILDING SUPPLY
Filer - Bankruptcy
Masters and Osborne, Auctioneers

FEBRUARY 15
ERHARD & DOHSE
Farm Machinery
Twin Falls
Wert, Eilers, Bennett, and Messersmith, Auctioneers

FEBRUARY 16
LEWIS S. ADAMS
Bull
Wert, Eilers, Bennett, and Messersmith, Auctioneers

FEBRUARY 19
BILL LOUGHMILLER AND NEIGHBORS
Hollister - Farm Machinery
Wert, Eilers, Bennett, and Messersmith, Auctioneers

FEBRUARY 20
JOHN BOHR
Farm Machinery
Wert, Eilers, Bennett, and Messersmith, Auctioneers

FEBRUARY 21
MARK B. SKREM AND LEE SCHMIDT
Kimberly - Farm Machinery
Wert, Eilers, Bennett, and Messersmith, Auctioneers

Begin takes dim view of Palestinian state

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin said Sunday Israel would be putting a "mild-Afghanistan" on its doorstep if it made concessions to the Palestinians that could lead to a Palestinian state.

Speaking to American Jewish leaders in the Knesset (Parliament) building, Begin reiterated his rejection of suggestions by U.S. officials that Israel make concessions to help the West in its relations with more moderate Arab and Islamic states.

"To the contrary," he said, "because of the Islamic revolution and because of the growing danger from Soviet troops and advisers, Israel must be stronger and more careful than ever."

He said concessions to the Palestinians would lead to an independent state that would be "a mini-Afghanistan, not only on our doorstep, but in our homes."

Begin decried the killing of a Jewish seminary student last week in the town of Hebron on the occupied West Bank and a bomb blast in Rehovot, Israel Sunday in which six persons, including a mother and her baby daughter, were injured.

Begin avoided a government crisis at Sunday's Cabinet meeting by gaining approval for a budget cuts requested by the finance ministry to tame Israel's runaway inflation.

The Cabinet met in a crisis atmosphere following resignation threats from several ministers, including Defense Minister Exzer Weizman, over requests for severe cuts in their ministry budgets.

Ailing Gandhi spends day at home

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi cancelled all her engagements Sunday on the advice of her doctors, officials said.

The officials said Mrs. Gandhi had caught a slight cold and her doctors advised her to rest.

Mrs. Gandhi had planned to attend a reception honoring a colleague and a cricket match between the members of the upper and lower houses of parliament.

SAVE AS MUCH AS $100⁰⁰ per set

DURING OUR RESTONIC®

GOLD RUSH DAYS

Restonic® Famous Nationally Advertised Health-Line®

Now At These One Time Low, Low Prices.

Buy Them By The Set And Save Even More At Everton!

TWIN	FULL	QUEEN	KING
 $92 per set Save $40	 $129 per set Save $40	 $169 per set Save $60	 $239 per set Save $100
 $114 per set Save $40	 $149 per set Save $40	 $189 per set Save $60	 $259 per set Save $100
 $136 per set Save $40	 $179 per set Save $40	 $229 per set Save $60	 $299 per set Save $100

RESTONIC® makes the nationally advertised OrthoTonic® mattress

EVERTON MATTRESS FACTORY, INC.

326 2nd Ave. South Twin Falls

ESTATE AUCTION

Wednesday, February 6, 1980

Lunch Will Be Served! Sale Time 11:30 A.M.

The following tractors and machinery will be sold at public auction located 185 South Meridian, Rupert, Idaho.

Trucks

1955 Chevrolet 2 ton truck with bed — Old Diamond-T truck with bed (needs work)

Boats and Camper Trailer

2-Fiberglas-10 ft. boats — 14 ft. camp trailer

Tractors

Massey Ferguson Model 65 diesel with front end loader — Massey Harris ZModel 444 with power steering

Machinery

Farmhand 150 single row beet beater — Massey 2 bottom roll over plow — 7 ft. grain drill steel wheels — 12 ft. double disc grain drill wooden box — Massey no. 10 baler — Massey no. 10 baler for parts — Massey chert type side rake — Massey hang on mower — Field hay loader — Power incorporator sprayer — Alfalfa crowner — 5 shank corrugator — 5 shank spring tooth — Ford 1 bottom plow — 4 ft. Fresno — Pull type spring tooth harrow — 12 ft. pull type disco — 12 ft. till and pack — 8 ft. ft. pull type disc — 3 manure spreader — 6 ft. cultipacker — 4 section steel harrow — Fresno no. 4 wheels — Single front end for Massey — Cultivator — 6 ft. box end scraper — Corrugator.

Miscellaneous Equipment

Hydraulic hoe — Car tires — Electric banjo grinder — Battery chargers — Power drill — 100 amp arc welder — Lots of miscellaneous tools and wrenches — 2 rolls of barb wire — 8-ft. Old lumber — Draw bar — Bucko cattle squeeze chute — Set of harness — 2-300 gallon fuel tanks on steel stands — Wooden stock trailer single axle — Wooden 2 horse open top single axle trailer — Wooden single axle trailer — 50 gallon barrels — Electric fence — Cinder blocks — Scrap iron

Many other miscellaneous items too numerous to mention

Terms: Cash Day of Sale

Owner: Thor Lund Estate

BILL ESTES and Associates
Auctioneers

Home - 554-4941
Main - 536-9754
Fax - 534-3737
Lori Hatch
517-0119

Theories prevail as professor enters restaurant business

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — After years in the classroom, Bill Sligh decided to test his "academic" theories in the harsh reality of the restaurant business. The theories won.

Sligh — known as marketing Professor William K. Sligh to his students at St. Louis University — is the creator of three lettuce leaf restaurants, two in St. Louis and one across the state in Kansas City.

Moving from textbooks on economic theory to menus describing a wide variety of entree salads was not a journey that Sligh made lightly. When political strife upset his plans for a trip to Lebanon a few years ago, he looked for another way to spend his sabbatical.

A love of salads, plus a green thumb that resulted in a bumper crop in his home vegetable garden, drew Sligh and his wife toward the restaurant business. After a year of thinking about it, he decided to take the plunge.

"It took more searching for money than searching my soul," he recalls. "I went to 17 banks for a loan and was turned down every time because in my years as a professor I hadn't had much opportunity to accumulate capital. Banks are skeptical about the restaurant business."

He finally got a $50,000 loan from the Small Business Administration — at 6 percent interest. "I'm paying it off as fast as I can," he laughed.

The first Lettuce Leaf, featuring a lot of plants, soil wood torans and classical music, opened its doors in the suburban Clayton business district on Sept. 12, 1976, with little fanfare but to surprisingly large crowds.

"I'd been in restaurants that opened without knowing what they were doing," Sligh said. "I brought hostesses from customers. So we had what we called a wet run, where all the employees invited four family members to a free meal before the official opening.

"That way we could watch and laugh off our mistakes. Once we opened for real, we couldn't afford to laugh any more. When we opened our doors, people just seemed to know we were there. It was like opening the floodgates of hell."

A second restaurant opened downtown, and Sligh was invited to open his third establishment this fall on Kansas City's Country Club Plaza. More units are planned in the St. Louis area.

Sligh started his restaurant career as the early morning soupmaker, the daytime maitre d' and the after hours bookkeeper. Besides hard work, Sligh also contributed original ideas, including his roasted English walnut cheese cake, which has a closely guarded recipe.

Sligh, who plans to retire from teaching next year, enjoys the restaurant business so much, he has rejected offers by large corporations to expand his operation.

"All large companies are the same," he said. "They take over, and all of a sudden you lose control to young people who come in and tell you what to do. This is too much fun. I don't want to give it up."

One of Sligh's innovations that helped business — and saved time — is a large display case where patrons waiting for a table can see exactly what each entree salad looks like.

"The critical thing in restaurants is chair turnover," Sligh said. "The case lets people decide what they want before they order and saves time. Rather than having a waitress describe every ingredient in every salad."

Business

Sugar futures trade at highest in 5 years

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sugar futures are trading at their highest price in five years as a potential shortage apparently has turned speculative attention from high-priced silver and gold futures.

The unrestricted No. 11 world raw sugar March contract has climbed from a low of 9.12 cents on April 24, 1979, to above 22 cents a pound the past week, the highest level since Feb. 30, 1975, when sugar was trading at 25 cents a pound.

There are 112,000 pounds of sugar in a contract, which means that each cent gain in price is worth $1,120.

Sugar traders say extremely heavy speculative buying has been encouraged by expectations that the 1979-80 crop will fall short of consumption by about 3.5 million metric tons because of crop problems with disease and weather in the Soviet Union and Cuba.

The number of contracts outstanding on the exchange has reached record levels in recent weeks and last week the sugar No. 11 March contract traded a record volume of 104,956.

The New York Coffee, Cocoa and

Sugar Exchange delayed the opening of the sugar market twice this past week because of problems in completing record keeping details from the heavy trading sessions.

There was a one day slump in reaction to an announcement by Coca-Cola Co. that it intends to replace up to 50 percent of the sugar it uses in its soft drinks with fructose.

William Miller of the Royal Crown Co. said that company ranked fourth in soft drink volume by trade publications, also had authorized its bottlers to use up to 50 percent high fructose corn syrup in its cola.

The producers of high-fructose corn sweeteners are planning capacity increases in light of the soda companies' decisions.

However, Kyd Brenner of the Corn Refiners Association said the high-fructose corn sweetener producers currently could not meet the demand. He said the manufacturers' expansion programs could take 9 to 18 months to complete.

Coca-Cola's announced changeover is implemented, it would cut total U.S. sugar consumption by only about 5 percent, and analysts say that this would not alleviate the tight international supply situation.

Coca-Cola said its move was prompted mainly by economic factors — the high-fructose sweetener is 6 to 7 cents a pound cheaper than sugar.

Miller, vice president of technical services of Royal Crown, said his firm's bottlers previously had the option of using up to 25 percent of "first generation" fructose (42 percent fructose, 58 percent dextrose) in soft drinks.

Soft drink industry officials point out that fructose is mainly domestically made so there is less chance of supply interruptions due to overseas weather or political factors.

President Carter's decision to reduce the duty on imported raw sugar to 0.625 cent per pound from 2.8125 cents will have little effect on prices since the move was expected, industry executives said.

Some analysts said they expected that the import duty reduction may have a bearish effect on the market.

New insurance rules proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board Friday proposed new liability insurance requirements for all air carriers serving the United States.

The proposal would, for the first time, require specific insurance minimums for the larger, established airlines. The CAB originally considered those airlines' insurance programs as part of its overall fitness investigation before authorizing them to begin operations.

"We believe that the changes proposed are necessary to keep pace with the increasing value of losses suffered by the public in aircraft accidents," the board said in offering its proposal for public comment.

Car output in January slumps 31% under 1979

DETROIT (UPI) — U.S. car production in January sagged 31.6 percent below the same month last year and truck assemblies were down 52.2 percent, four domestic automakers report.

Ford Motor Co., reacting to the industry's continuing sales slump, trimmed output most drastically among the Big Three automakers, while tiny American Motors Corp. again bucked the trend with robust passenger car production.

The four automakers said they built 523,322 cars in January, down 31.6 percent from 764,938 last year. Truck assemblies were listed at 161,566, down 52.2 percent from 337,990 in January of 1978.

Such figures have resulted in permanent layoffs from 152,000 U.S. autoworkers. Forecasts for February hold little relief, with production expected to remain almost 20 percent below 1979.

AMC, buoyed by strong sales of the Eagle, its four-wheel drive passenger car, said it built 16,688 cars in January, up 106.8 percent from last year. The firm built 12,508 Jeep vehicles, down 38.7 percent from 20,416 last year.

Ford's January car production was listed at only 81,777, down 64.9 percent from 237,229 last year. Ford truck production suffered almost as much with production of 56,000 vehicles, down 54.6 percent from 123,219 last year.

General Motors Corp., whose sales have dropped out of the industry's Big Three during the recent slump, said it built 377,055 cars, down 15.7 percent from 447,245 last year, and 79,672 trucks, down 43.0 percent from 139,866 in January of 1978.

Chrysler production of 47,805 cars was off 37.8 percent from 76,896 last year. The No. 3 automaker recorded a 75.4 percent decline in truck production to 13,406 units from 54,489 last year.

Nobel Prize winner Walter Brattain reminisces about research which produced transistor

Discoverer of transistor has single regret over work

By GAY CAMPBELL
Written for UPI

WALLA WALLA, Wash. — "The only regret I have about the transistor is its use for rock and roll music. I still have my rifle and sometimes when I hear that, noise I think I could shoot them all."

Walter Brattain, 77, sits in his office at Whitman College reminiscing about his experiences as a research scientist and the discovery of the transistor which brought him a Nobel prize and world acclaim.

He was working at Bell Labs in Murray Hill, N.J., on the historic day in 1947 when he, John Bardeen, and William Shockley made the discovery which led to the development of the transistor.

Brattain says the transistor discovery was by chance, that he was in the right place at the right time.

"I was lucky," he said.

"I really started in July of 1947. Bardeen explained why some things had been always assumed were true really were not so, and I was trying to fully understand the properties of semi-conductors."

The day that he and several colleagues watched a tiny piece of treated germanium (with two gold contacts attached) serve as the amplifier in place of an electron tube in a communications circuit, he knew it was a breakthrough of far-reaching significance.

"On the way home that night I told the other riders in our car pool that I had probably taken part in the largest experience I would ever have."

Nine years later, on Dec. 10, 1956, in Stockholm's Concert Hall, Swedish King Gustav VI awarded the Nobel Prize for Physics to Brattain. Sharing the prize were Bardeen and Shockley.

A model of that first transistor sits under a small plastic dome in Brattain's office.

"Before medicine got into using the transistor for so many wonderful things, I think the best use of it was the transistor radio," he said. "Anyone in the world could listen to nomads in Iran, people in the Indies, people living under dictatorships could listen to news from the U.S. and really know what was happening."

In 1967, after more than 37 years with Bell Labs, Brattain retired, but he has been anything but idle.

Although he had many offers, there was no doubt in his mind that he wanted to return to the Northwest and to the college where he had started his career in physics and earned his bachelor of science degree in 1924.

His father had graduated from Whitman College and his mother attended there before graduating from Mills College in Oakland, Calif. His wife, Emma Jane, is also a Whitman graduate.

When he first returned, he taught a senior-level physics lab and a science course designed for liberal arts students.

"When I first got my Ph.D. from the University of Minnesota, I thought I couldn't teach. But when I finally came back to Whitman to teach I realized I was giving those students what most of them wouldn't ordinarily get until graduate school. I taught them that it didn't matter what the books said. In the lab you try things and find out for yourself."

Although he is no longer teaching classes, Brattain makes himself available for work with students. He goes to his office in the Science Building every day and is working on several projects.

"I am piled up with work," he says, pointing to stacks of work on his desk.

He and David Frasco, professor of chemistry at Whitman, have been doing research on phospholipid bilayers as a model for the surface of living cells.

Brattain is also writing the life story of his father, Ross R. Brattain, who was a teacher in China, a stockbroker in Spokane, and a horse trader, cattle rancher, and four miller in Tonasket, Wash.

"My father told me his story," Brattain says. "Now I'm putting it in modern language."

When he finishes that story, Brattain would like to find time for some writing of his own recollections.

Much of his time is taken up with interviews, inquiries, and correspondence. McGraw-Hill Publishing Co. is working on a revision of Brattain's autobiography which he has agreed to edit.

"I had all of these requests since the summer of 1976," Brattain said, pointing to a thick file folder.

Audit shouldn't panic taxpayer

CLEVELAND (UPI) — A former Internal Revenue Service criminal investigator advises taxpayers not to panic when their income tax returns are audited. They may hurt their own case.

If they believe they are right, they should take their case to the Supreme Court if necessary, said Edward Alpern, a former IRS investigator and an accounting professor at Cleveland State University.

In an address before a tax seminar, Alpern said persons called in for an audit should bring with them proof of any claims that are being questioned. If they provide the proper evidence, the matter is closed, Alpern said.

"Too many people panic when they get a letter or a phone call to come in to the IRS office for an audit, he said. They may also reveal information that is not required that may hurt them further, Alpern said.

An IRS computer checks all tax returns for errors and any problems are quickly discovered. This is the most common reason for audits, according to Alpern.

Returns are also chosen at random by a computer for routine audits and Washington selects returns that report unusual taxable events such as mergers and partnerships for special attention, he said.

"In a few cases, persons are reported to the IRS by friends or neighbors who hear them bragging about not paying any tax, Alpern said.

"People can play Russian roulette with their taxes, but I wouldn't give odds on how long it would be before they got called in for an audit," Alpern said.

If the person being audited is not satisfied with the decision of the investigator, Alpern recommends they ask to see the auditor's supervisor so they have a chance to use oral arguments to back up their claim.

Protection of income needed in event of disability

Field Enterprises, Inc.

Do you know that:

• 75 percent of those being unable to work for 90 days or more between the ages of 35 and 65 are far greater than your chance of dying? That if you are age 30, your face odds of 4-to-1 of being unable to work? At mid-life (age 40) the members are 2.5-to-1. At age 50, the odds are 2-to-1.

For millions of aware Americans, the spectre of a disabling injury or illness is a personal nightmare. With the exception of the wealthy, few of us could maintain our basic standard of living during a disabling income loss.

Being ill or injured for a prolonged period can be bad enough. Being hit financially at the same time — particularly if you are burdened with a mortgage or car installments, children in college, the care of an elderly parent, etc. — can be calamitous.

That's why an estimated 90 million-plus Americans now have some disability income protection. If you're not among them, you should be for, what would you do if through some tragic illness or accident you became permanently and totally disabled?

Could your family survive on the Social Security benefits and any life savings alone? Almost surely, THEY COULD NOT.

True, there are state laws that require employers to give some benefits to workers who suffer serious illness or injury not caused by their job. Among the states providing this benefit are: New York, New Jersey, Rhode Island, California, Hawaii. (Puerto Rico does, too.)

Many veterans also get disability payments from the Veterans Administration — for service-related wounds and injuries.

But all of these are only for starters in 1980.

Only about one in three of you has any private disability insurance protection. Even if you do have this insurance, the monthly benefit will may be inadequate. Then, too, the span during which the benefits are paid may be too short to be meaningful.

The fundamental points are: loss-of-income or disability insurance pays you cash benefits which help replace your lost earnings because of disability up to a maximum of about 60 percent of your gross earnings; the insurance starts paying benefits from a week after the disability to six months later; the policies pay from a minimum of 13 weeks to a lifetime; you can buy disability insurance in an individual policy and frequently through your employer or an association to which you belong. Some specific guidelines:

• The individual policy is the most expensive. Its advantage is that it can be virtually tailor-made for you, with you selecting a policy written to the waiting time, size and duration of your preference. The policy can cover you whenever you move or work.

Caution: Work hazards can vary the premiums and conditions. If you change jobs, review your policy with the insurance carrier at once to make sure you are still fully covered. This includes professionals who might suffer income loss through a disability — for instance, a surgeon who injures a hand, a singer who loses her voice.

(2) If you can buy a group policy through your employer, it will be cheaper. The disadvantages are that you can't take the policy with you if you leave your job and you can't readily convert to an individual policy. (In contrast with a group life policy.) Your new employer may have a similar plan, though. Check immediately.

(3) If you are a member of a union or a professional association, you may be able to get an association policy. Premiums generally are higher than on group policies, but less than on individual ones. A limitation in many policies is that the package can be cancelled even though you have been paying premiums for a long time.

(4) To find the best policy, ask whether it is non-cancellable; guaranteed renewable; optionally renewable; cancellable. In a non-cancellable, generally more expensive, policy, premiums cannot be raised. In a guaranteed renewable, the carrier cannot cancel but it can raise premiums for a general risk class. Optionally renewable policies allow cancellation at an anniversary date or dates when the premium is due. Reasons for cancellation must be broad scale, never personal. Cancellable policies can be terminated at any time and generally without cause. Many states prohibit sale of these.

(5) Don't buy more policies or coverage than you need; be cautious about replacing existing coverage; understand maximum benefits and pre-existing condition exclusions; check renewal rights.

Ruling battle to top

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former guard at a Nazi concentration camp has asked the Supreme Court to let him keep his American citizenship.

Last June, a U.S. appeals court stripped Fedorenko of his citizenship on grounds he failed to disclose that he had been an armed guard at the Treblinka concentration camp in Poland when he applied for a visa in 1949.

Fedorenko, 72, admitted at a denaturalization proceeding in June 1978 that he had concealed his service as a death camp guard during the Nazi occupation of Poland.

A former Waterbury, Conn., factory worker, he was granted U.S. citizenship in 1970.

In his appeal to the nation's highest court, Fedorenko argued that because of uncertainties surrounding his wartime conduct and his 29 years of good citizenship, all doubts should be resolved in his favor.

In his application for a visa, Fedorenko portrayed himself as a Polish farmer, forced to work as a laborer for the Nazis.

However, at his 1978 trial, evidence indicated the Ukrainian-born Fedorenko was captured by the Germans in 1941 while serving in the Russian army.

Witnesses said he was trained as a camp guard and assigned to Treblinka for about a year where he won Nazi good conduct awards.

Fedorenko denied testimony by six death camp survivors that he had shot, whipped and beaten prisoners between September 1942 and August 1943. But the testimony that he knew Jews arriving at Treblinka were being murdered.

At the end of World War II, he worked as a laborer in Hamburg, Germany, during the British occupation.

In 1949, he applied for a visa under the newly enacted Displaced Persons Act that lifted U.S. immigration quotas for persons who had been driven from their homelands during the war.

At trial, he indicated that his visa application omitted any reference to his service for the Nazis from 1942 to 1945.

A federal judge in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., ruled in July 1978 that Fedorenko could keep his citizenship, concluding the government had failed to prove him guilty of war crimes.

U.S. District Judge Norman Roetger held that even if Fedorenko hid concealed relevant facts on his visa application, he had been "a responsible citizen and resident for 29 years."

At the request of Jewish leaders who accused the judge of "gross judicial impropriety," the government appealed the case.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reversed Roetger's decision, concluding the evidence "clearly and convincingly proved that, had the defendant disclosed his guard service, the American authorities would have conducted an inquiry that would have resulted in denial of a visa."

Adding more judgeships Burger goal

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chief Justice Warren Burger asked Congress Sunday to set up a new procedure that would make it easier to establish more federal judgeships as they are needed.

With growing workloads in federal courts, the impact of 127 federal judgeships created by Congress last year "will soon be wiped out," Burger warned in his annual "State of the Judiciary" address.

Speaking before the American Bar Association, he suggested that the Judicial Conference — the policy-making arm of the federal courts — evaluate and establish new judgeships.

"Congress should promptly consider authorizing the Judicial Conference to evaluate the need for additional judgeships and, subject to congressional veto, establish new judgeships as the needs require," he said.

"The time has come to find some new method of providing judges for the federal system when they are needed — not eight, nine or 10 years later depending upon whether the same political party is in control of the White House and the Congress," he said.

"People seeking justice in the federal courts should not have to wait upon the winds and tides of the political process to find a judge to hear a case."

In addition to "failing to provide needed judgeships," Burger said, Congress "fell far short of maintaining a level of compensation called for by inflation as was done with virtually all other personnel of the federal establishment."

Burger also called for steps to "restore some measure of deterrence" to the criminal justice system to combat the surge in cases.

Burger also warned lawyers they may be "pricing themselves out of the market" and that unless steps are taken to curb legal fees and costs, it could be "dealt with by external forces."

Pay Less Drug Store

Prices Effective Now Thru February 8th, 1980

Dak CHOPPED HAM
16 ounce can of delicious Dak Danish chopped Ham or Colabarity Sliced Bacon.

Regular ~~$1.66 Ea.~~
While 500 Last

99¢

Hershey's CHOCOLATE SYRUP
24 ounces of the genuine chocolate flavored syrup with a no-drip spout.

Regular ~~$1.39 Ea.~~
While 150 Last

99¢

Downy FABRIC SOFTENER
96 Ounce Bottle

$2.67
Regular $2.99 Each

Delta PAPER TOWELS
125 one ply towels, 65 square feet. While 400 Last

39¢
Regular 67¢ Each

CORNING WARE

2 Pack CORNING SIDEKICKS
Serving Dishes

$3.99
Regular $5.99/2-Pk.

Sunbeam SMOKE & FIRE DETECTOR
Battery Operated

$9.97
Regular $17.99 Each

PRESTO LIQUID SHAMPOO
11 ounce liquid or 5 ounce can, centrate.

$1.67
Reg. $2.39

Sanyo CASSETTE RECORDER
Automatic level control, condenser mike, auto stop and AC adaptor.

$26.99
Reg. $32.88

SWEET DEALS

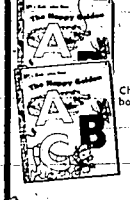

1 Pound HEART CHOCOLATES

Attractively boxed chocolates for your Sweetheart!

Regular ~~$3.49~~
Each

$2.99

Everyone Loves A Deal!

Whitman GOLDEN BOOKS
Choose from assorted "first" books for children.
Regular 59¢ Ea.

3 For 1

Set of 4 TV TRAYS & STAND
Parquetry TV Trays laid out conveniently store.
Regular $27.99

$16.99 Set

Professional CURLING IRON
The Hot Rod with hi-low heat settings in chrome or teflon finishes.
Regular $9.99

$6.99 Each

Torrado or Sunlight KITCHEN ENSEMBLES
Your choice of Torrado or Sunlight patterned Pot Holder or Dishcloth.
Regular 89¢

2 For 1

Stainless Steel QUART THERMOS
Unbreakable, stainless steel quart thermos with the Thermos® brand name.
Regular $23.99

$17.87 Each

Flour Sack DISH TOWELS
Large size, white towels for drying dishes.
Regular 89¢ Ea.

2 For 1
While 250 Last

Pay Less Drug Store all items and prices in this advertisement available only at. Twin Falls, Idaho 1139 Addison Ave. East

OPEN DAILY 9 to 9
OPEN SUNDAY 10 to 6

Each of these advertised items is required to be readily available for sale at the time the advertised price is in effect. Pay Less Drug Store is not responsible for any items not in stock.

Mormon women debate 'equality'

The women's rights issue in the church: is it the ERA or denouncing a patriarchy?

By PETER GILLINS
SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The excommunication of feminist Sonia Johnson by the Mormon Church has touched off a debate in Mormon society that threatens to be more painful than the church's long struggle with the question of equality for blacks.

There were few blacks in the Mormon Church when its president, Spencer W. Kimball, announced a revelation from God in 1978 ending a century-old color ban that prevented men of Negro descent from participating in the all-male Mormon lay priesthood. Not many blacks have joined the church since the revelation.

It's different with feminism and the issue of women's rights in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, as the Mormons are formally known. At least half of the members of the church are women. As one Latter-day Saint feminist put it, "There is one of us in nearly every bedroom."

Mrs. Johnson, a fifth-generation Mormon from Sterling, Va., was excommunicated for making anti-church statements during her campaign in support of the Equal Rights Amendment.

Kimball declared the ERA a moral issue four years ago. He urged church members to work against it because, he said, it posed a threat to traditional family life. Since then, Mormon groups with encouragement and direction from church headquarters in Salt Lake City have campaigned against its ratification in several state legislatures.

But Mrs. Johnson, a former college English teacher and mother of four children, could not accept Kimball's teaching — a difficult thing for her to do since "Mormons" consider the church leader to be a prophet and God's spokesman on earth.

Also, she could not accept in silence the church's lobbying efforts against the ERA.

Mrs. Johnson helped organize Mormons for ERA, a group of Mormon feminists, which set out to counter the church's picketing. Mormons for ERA lobbied for the amendment, sponsored rallies and traveled Mormon lands by hiring airplanes to low-pro-ERA banners over church conferences in Utah and Virginia.

That, in itself, probably wouldn't have gotten her into trouble. Other Mormons have publicly supported the amendment, including Utah's Gov. Scott Matheson, Salt Lake City Mayor Ted Wilson, and women who unsuccessfully sought its ratification in the Utah Legislature.

But Mrs. Johnson went further. She denounced the Mormon patriarchy, telling a meeting of the American Psychological Association in New York that the men of the church treated women as "bootlickers and toadies."

She told the psychologists, "The Mormons, a tiny minority, are dedicated to imposing the prophet's moral directives upon all Americans, and they may succeed if Americans do not become aware of their methods and goals."

"Because the organization of the church is marvelously tight, and the obedience of the members marvelously thorough-going, potentially thousands of people can be mobilized in a very short time to do conscientiously whatever they are told, without more explanation than 'the Prophet has spoken.'"

In another appearance in Montana, she suggested that people tell Mormon missionaries they are not interested in being preached to by a church that does not support equal rights for women.

Her tough talk did not go over well with Mormon leaders, either male or female. Barbara Smith, the highest-ranking woman in the church, president of the 1.5 million-member Relief Society, strongly disagrees with Mrs. Johnson's characterizations of Mormon women.

"We have a basic doctrine that puts men and women together in partnerships rather than power struggles," she said. "I think she (Mrs. Johnson) is trying to promote a cause by making the church look like it has an attitude of uncaring or indifference to women. That just isn't true."

"I don't know of any other society where women have a greater voice or more voting power or more promise or more ideals surrounding the relationship of men and women," said Elaine Cannon, president of the 75,000-member Young Women's Organization.

"The difference between Mrs. Johnson and some of my friends who support the ERA and are still members of the church, is that they aren't tearing down the prophet, the church and its policies."

"It seems very clear to me that the Rotary Club wouldn't put up with a member who went around and said the Rotary is crazy. I think the criticism that was leveled at the institution and people we hold sacred were in very poor taste. I don't think it's a nice way to fight even a political battle."

Even some of Mrs. Johnson's relatives and supporters thought she had gone a bit overboard in her criticism if she expected to remain a Mormon.

"It had to go that way," said Paul Harris, Mrs. Johnson's brother, after the excommunication. "She's been on a collision course with the church ever since she started openly supporting the ERA."

"Some people say she was too honest for her own good," said Teddie Wood, a co-founder of Mormons for ERA.

Marilyn Wareski, an ex-Mormon who analyzed "the plight of Mormon women" in her book "Patriarchs and Politics," said it was logical for Mrs. Johnson to be excommunicated.

"She gave them plenty of grounds by the standards of a male-dominated, authoritarian church which provides no avenue for dissent," said Mrs. Wareski. "It's not surprising to me that she was excommunicated. It is surprising that she ever rose up in the first place."

In many ways, Mrs. Wareski's book served as a catalyst for Mormons for ERA. Many of its themes have been echoed by Mrs. Johnson.

The book has caused a stir in Mormon society because it challenges what Mrs. Wareski calls "myths" about the roles of women in the church. It is not a popular book with Mormon leaders because Mrs. Wareski's interpretation of Mormon history is different from that of official church historians.

Mrs. Wareski notes that Mormon women have long taken pride in a heritage of women's rights. They were the first in the nation to exercise the vote, a privilege given to them in 1870 by the

The excommunication from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints of feminist Sonia Johnson, left, of Sterling, Va., has touched off a debate in Mormon society. Barbara Smith, right, president of the 1.5 million-member Mormon Relief Society and the highest ranking woman in the church, strongly disagrees with Mrs. Johnson's characterizations of Mormon women. The statue behind Mrs. Smith honors motherhood.

Utah Territorial Legislature — a body dominated by Mormon men.

Leaders of the Relief Society were also encouraged to become doctors, lawyers, teachers and businesswomen.

When Utah was admitted to the Union, the state's new constitution included an equal rights clause guaranteeing that "both male and female citizens of this state shall enjoy equally all civil, political and religious rights and privileges."

Mormon women in the last century were encouraged to become doctors, lawyers, teachers and businesswomen.

Nearly every young Mormon girl has heard the story of Martha Hughes Cannon, the fifth wife of polygamist Mormon apostle George Q. Cannon. Mrs. Cannon was a physician who became the first woman elected to a state senate in the United States. She beat her husband for the seat in 1896.

But Mrs. Wareski maintains that the women were encouraged to participate in political and economic affairs in early Utah because the male patriarchs of the church decided that it would be to the advantage of Mormon society.

Women were given the vote to increase Mormon power at the polls during a time when many non-Mormons were moving into Utah Territory and the church was defending its practice of polygamy, she says. They were encouraged to join the national suffrage movement because it gave them a platform to defend the institution of polygamy.

Women were allowed to become professionals because the new territory needed professionals and the men were busy converting the parish to a time.

In nearly all cases, contends Mrs. Wareski, it was men using women to serve the interests of the church.

"There was little concern for women's rights per se," she says. "They were concerned about building up the Mormon kingdom."

But now, she says, the "creative spirit of the early church" which led to some amount of equality for women is being replaced by a conservative trend which stresses the women's place in the home raising children. And Mormon women are doing what the patriarchs have ordered just as they did in the last century, says the writer in an explanation for the massive Mormon opposition to the ERA.

Mrs. Wareski believes much of the conservatism stems in part from the age of the Mormon leaders. Mormon Church founder Joseph Smith was 35 when he was slain by an angry mob and Brigham Young was 43 when he became president of the church and led the Latter-day Saints to the Utah frontier — Spencer Kimball, the current leader, is 84.

The male hold over women stems from the church's lay priesthood, she says. The Mormons have no professional clergy. Instead, all men in good standing are members of the priesthood and eligible to become ward (parish) bishops and holders of other leadership positions. Women receive the benefits of the priesthood through their husbands.

The Mormon view of the afterlife also figures in the equation, says Mrs. Wareski. Mormons believe that only the married can achieve the highest degree of glory in eternity — a state of godhood which the couples can create and populate their own worlds. Others are destined to be servants.

Another factor is the Mormon belief in a pre-existence where spirits are waiting to be born. Therein lies part of the church's opposition to abortion and birth control.

"Women's roles are defined by men and the only acceptable role for the woman is wife and mother," says Mrs. Wareski. "While women are encouraged to develop their talents, the church cannot sanction a woman who chooses a profession instead of marriage and motherhood."

Mrs. Wareski is planning to add a chapter to a revised edition of her book titled "The Martyring of Sonia Johnson."

What happened to Mrs. Johnson, she adds, is the same thing that happened to some Mormons who challenged the church's discriminatory laws against blacks before Kimball's revelation.

Mormons were allowed to disagree with the church's racial stand, so long as they did not make a public issue of it, says Mrs. Wareski. But when they publicly attacked the church leaders for not changing the policy, they were excommunicated for preaching false doctrine.

When Bishop Jeffrey Willis severed Mrs. Johnson from the church, he specifically denied that it was for her ERA activities. He cited her criticism of church leaders and her suggestion that people turn away missionaries.

"He said her public speeches were evidence that she was 'not in harmony with church doctrine concerning the nature of God and the manner in which he directs his church on earth.'"

Mrs. Wareski was also excommunicated at her own request because she could not accept the church's positions on race and women's rights. She suggests in her book that the only way for Mormon women to achieve real equality is if there is another revelation granting them the priesthood.

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Cannon don't like to discuss the Wareski book. "We don't want to promote its sales," says Mrs. Smith.

But the relief society leader says Mrs. Wareski's view of the priesthood and the role of women is wrong. Mrs. Smith says the faith stresses the partnership of men and women, not the dominance of one sex over the other.

"There are no more liberated women in the whole world than Mormon women because they understand who they are," she says. "They understand they have the great opportunity of being partners with their husbands forever."

"If we are going to teach women that they must struggle with men for power, that it is as important for women to have positions of prominence out in the world as it is for men, there is always going to be this contending with one another."

"What we want to do is help our women understand that they have something more significant to offer to the world — the influence of a good woman in a home as she teaches and trains children. Right now it seems to me we are placing very little value on the home. The home has to be protected more than it ever has before."

The ERA, she adds, threatens to pull apart the family and destroy the home. "We believe it will promote a unisex society and encourage homosexual and lesbian activities," she says. "It will invite all kinds of conflicts between husbands and wives..."

"The law is the school master. If the law says women have to be treated the same as men, that there can be no differences, it's going to be a difficult situation. In some ways women need preferential treatment."

Marilee Latta, an active Mormon who is also head of the Equal Rights Coalition of Utah, agrees with Mrs. Smith that the home and family must be maintained and protected.

But she wonders why the church has not sought repeal of the equal rights language in the Utah Constitution if a vague declaration of equality is dangerous.

"It means exactly the same thing as the proposed national amendment," she says.

Mrs. Latta also worries that the extreme emphasis being placed by church leaders on the ideal of motherhood and homemaking has produced undesired feelings of guilt among Mormon women who have to work.

"More and more women are working, not because they want to leave the family, but because of the economy," says Mrs. Latta, a working mother. "And they should be punished by people who tell them they shouldn't work."

"The fact is that any woman who does not fit the church standards of being married and having children and being in the home is looked down upon, and that has got to stop."

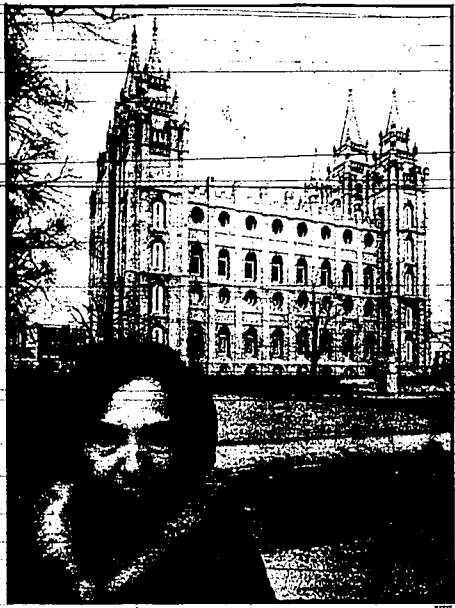

The Utah Job Service Office reports that 48 percent of the women in Utah work and that women make up 40 percent of the state's total labor force. The church says 70 percent of Utah's population is Mormon.

Mrs. Cannon, who is in charge of the Mormon program for girls ages 12-18, says the church is aware of the changing times and is responding. Both the Relief Society and the Young Women's Organization stress the need for women to develop career interests as well as stressing the ideal of the family.

Mrs. Cannon is a vocal supporter of equal pay for equal work. During her 36 years of marriage, she worked as a journalist and raised six children. "I've always had a paycheck," she says. "I think it's a waste of time to sit around and watch soap operas and play bridge when you can be out contributing."

She does not dispute that some men in the church look down on women who work. But her solution is typically Mormon.

"If we don't like the way men are treating us, then rear them another way," she says. "Bring up those little boys another way. Whisper in your husband's ear another kind of thought."

Marilyn Wareski, an ex-Mormon who analyzed 'the plight of Mormon women' in her book 'Patriarchs and Politics,' stands in front of the Mormon Temple in Salt Lake City. The book challenges what the author calls myths about the roles of women in the church.

Valley calendar

TUESDAY, FEB. 5

CSI Assertion Training Class
7:30 p.m. in student conference room of CSI administration building. Six sessions. Call Cherri Briggs at 733-9554 ext. 243 for more information.

Jerome LaLeche League Meeting
10 a.m. at El's Mobile Air Trailer Park #4, 1 mile past Bob Barton Road, 3 miles west and 1/4 mile south of Jerome. Topic: "Nutrition and Weaning."

Madame Butterfly by Texas Opera Theatre
8:15 p.m. in the CSI Fine Arts Building. For ticket information call 733-5444.

Twin Falls Chapter of United Ostomy Association's Tax Information Meeting
7 p.m. in conference room A at the Magic Valley Memorial Hospital. William Fears, CPA-Tax Specialist, will speak on taxes.

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 6
Twin Falls Garden Club
2 p.m. at the YFCA-Program on "Dried Plants and Hobbies."

Madame Butterfly by Texas Opera Theatre
8:15 p.m. in the CSI Fine Arts Building. For ticket information call 733-5444.

FRIDAY, FEB. 8
Licensed Practical Nurses Meeting
7 p.m. Will meet with Evelyn Myers at Lazy J.

Recreational Hall for potluck supper. Drink will be furnished. Bring own table service. All student LPN's, husbands and guests are welcome.

Swinging Sixties Dance
8:30 p.m. in the I.O.O.F. hall in Twin Falls. Music by Floyd White Band.

SATURDAY, FEB. 9
Magic Squares 5th Anniversary Dance and Ham Dinner
8:30 p.m. at the YFCA. Square dancers welcome.

Twin Falls Chapter of Daughters of American Revolution Luncheon
No-host luncheon at Depot Grill. The Good Citizens from the area high schools will be guests.

Magic Valley Christian Womens Club Prayer Coffee in Buhl
1:30 p.m. at the home of Olive Casebeer in Buhl. For information call 543-4275.

Single-ites Club Dance
At the Elks Club in Jerome. The Floyd White Band will play. Donations at the door. The public is welcome.

Special Interest Twin Falls Regional Conference
At the Twin Falls 2nd, 3rd and 7th ward building. Breakfast at 8:30 a.m., opens at 10 a.m.; workshops 1 p.m.; dinner at 6:30 (bring own table service); Dance at 8:30 p.m. For more information call Ruby Durfee at 733-1401 or Martha Bates at 733-6097.

Dear Abby

Sex before mass isn't sinful

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© The Chicago Tribune
N.Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a happily married woman (22), and Mike is a wonderful, healthy, robust, masculine man (25). We've been married a little over a year, and I have a problem I can't ask anyone else about. It has to do with sex. Mike has a big appetite for sex, but I am not complaining. It's his timing that bothers me. He always wants to make love on Sunday morning before Mass. Abby, I know that love within marriage is not a sin, but for some silly reason I just hate to go to Mass right after having had sex. Lately I have been putting my husband off. But I feel guilty about that. Do you think I should postpone the love-making until after Mass? Or keep telling myself I have no reason to feel guilty about it, and just try to get over that feeling? What's wrong with me?

MAGGIE IN MANHATTAN
DEAR MAGGIE: Your problem is rooted in the notion that sex is sinful. You grew up believing it, and even though you're married and there is nothing to feel guilty about, you're still programmed to equate sex with sin. Talk to a priest, or a psychiatrist. (Try the priest first. It's cheaper.)

DEAR ABBY: I have been considering donating my organs for possible transplant at the time of my death. However, I have heard that the family of the deceased is charged for transportation to the special hospital where the organs are removed, and also for the surgery to remove the organs. Is this true?

IF I IS: I would rather not donate my organs since I do not wish to add to the expense of my funeral. Thank you.

DEAR CONSIDERATE: There is no charge for transportation to hospitals for the removal of organs. Time is so important in the removal of organs that a donor almost always has to be in the hospital at the time of death. (Organs must be removed within four hours after death; kidneys within 20 minutes.)

There is no cost to the donor or the donor's family for the removal of organs.

However, when one donates his ENTIRE BODY to a medical school, in some states the medical school bears the cost of transportation. In other states, the estate of the donor must pay for it. Check with your local medical school.

DEAR ABBY: You recently published a letter from a reader complaining about a woman who chewed ice continuously. You commented in a funny vein. She might just be ill-mannered; on the other hand, she could very well be suffering from an iron deficiency.

"Pica" is a medical term for ice eating; it is a form of "pica," which is a craving for unusual substances. It's a well-known symptom of iron deficiency.

The woman needs to be examined and a diagnosis made. She might overcome her ice-chewing habit by taking iron supplements.

PHOENIX M.D.

DEAR M.D.: Thanks for the hard, cold facts. I learned something today.

CONFIDENTIAL TO VICTOR IN SACRAMENTO: Do not teach your mynah bird to "talk dirty," or you will be contributing to the delinquency of a mynah!

WINTER FEVER

Cure ON THE WAY

VALUES

Discontinued CARPET SAMPLES

18" x 27" $1.00 Each.....

27" x 36" $3.00 Each.....

VOLCO
BUILDING MATERIALS CENTER

Twin Falls • Jerome • Burley

WE'LL MATCH YOUR DOLLAR

Present Your KEEP Coupon

at the time of purchase and we'll match your down payment with a discount up to 20% on any item in stock, (excluding appliances, mattresses and sale merchandise).

WILSON-BATES
(Twin Falls Only)
702 MAIN AVE. N.
TWIN FALLS

COUPON

GUARANTEED FOREVER*
Original Type
MUFFLERS
$29.95 installed
Most cars & light trucks
*For as long as you own your car.
One Week Only
734-3383
1811 Addison E. Twin Falls

COUPON

IDEAL VALENTINE GIFT
LAY-AWAY FOR GRADUATION
THIS LANE KEEPSAKE
MINIATURE CHEST IS...
FREE!
WITH THE PURCHASE OF ANY LANE
CEDAR CHEST!
FROM $119.95
JAIL Furniture
1920 KIMBERLY ROAD, TWIN FALLS

COMFORT FOR THE HOME...
ROCKER RECLINERS OR WALLAWAYS

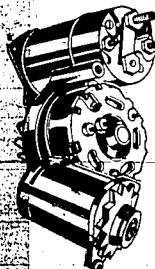

Come see our large selection!
AS LOW AS $119.95

See them all at...

1920 KIMBERLY RD.
TWIN FALLS
"ONE DRIVEWAY EAST TELL"

SAVE MONEY ON CAR REPAIRS!!

REBUILT • Starters • Generators
• Water Pumps
• Alternators
• Fuel Pumps
• Brakes

We Will Install
If You Desire!

ABBOTT'S AUTO SUPPLY
303 Shoshona St. South Twin Falls

SPEED DRIVER

Regularly $8.59
$5.99
Sale Ends Feb. 5, 1980
4 TOOLS IN 1

HOUSTON LUMBER
SINCE 1916

Twin Falls/218 7th Ave S. 733-2214

CARPET SALE!

All carpet 10%-30% off already low prices

Ex. Hi/Low Carpet... Was $11.99
Now $9.99
SAVE $2.00 per sq. yd.

DAN'S CARPET CORNER located behind Van's in the Lynwood.
734-8581
FREE ESTIMATES

Range ecologist says

Ranchers being used in Rebellion

BOISE (UPI) — A range ecologist said Sunday that the western rancher is being "used as an object of romanticism" by the mining and energy industry to gain support for the "Sagebrush Rebellion."

The Sagebrush Rebellion is a move by several western states to take control of federally administered lands.

Speaking at a meeting of the Idaho division of the American Association of University Women in Boise, William Meiners, a resource consultant and former Bureau of Land Management official, called the move a "land-grab scheme" and said it "represented greed at its worse."

Meiners said the mining and energy industries had the "most to gain" by the Rebellion.

"Environmentalists are accused of the lock-up," Meiners said. "I don't know any better 'lock-up' than to turn public land over to state ownership."

He said it would cost the state about $80 million a year to administer public lands at the level they are presently managed by the federal government. The state would not be able to increase taxes enough to raise that amount of money and would be forced to sell the land, he said.

With the sale of the land, "no trespassing" signs would spring up all over the state and the public would no longer be allowed to hike or hunt as it does now, Meiners said. That constitutes the real "lock-up" of public lands, he said.

Meiners said proponents of the Rebellion used "lies, half truths and innuendoes" in furthering their cause. He cited an argument used by livestock owners, range users and others, who threaten that cuts in grazing rights will adversely affect the red meat industry in the United States.

"Poppycock," Meiners said. "You could wipe out western meat production and never know where it went."

He said only 8 percent of the nation's cattle graze on public land and the 11 western states only produce 4 percent of the country's red meat.

But Meiners said he does not advocate the abolition of cattle from the range, just the multiple-use of public land.

Meiners said he is chairman of a group called Idahoans for Public Land, which plans to announce its formation Friday morning prior to a public hearing on legislation officially entering Idaho in the Sagebrush Rebellion.

Magic Valley

Monday, February 4, 1980
Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho

• Obituaries
• Sports
• Classified

B

Castleford bond vote Tuesday

CASTLEFORD — Polls will be open from noon until 8 p.m. Tuesday in Castleford for voting on a proposed $150,000 revenue bond issue for improvement to the city water system.

The local bonds, if approved by Castleford residents, will be used as local matching funds for the $383,000 project. A loan application has been made through the Farmers Home Administration to pay the remainder of the project costs.

The money will be used to extend and enlarge the water system distribution lines and to provide a new storage reservoir. It will also allow the city to install metering equipment for city water users.

Mayor Robert Sample said cost of the project including the bond issue repayment, will be paid for through monthly water fees. Rates will be increased by about $2 to $4 per month per water user. This is an estimate as it will depend on the amount of water used and recorded on the meters for each residence.

The water system has had no improvements since 1954 and without improvements it is impossible to allow new hook-ups or to extend present lines to new building sites.

Voting will be in the Castleford Municipal Building. Any resident of Castleford who is 18 years of age or older and registered as a city voter may cast a ballot Tuesday.

She's shy, Father

Three-year-old Jaime Lee of Twin Falls shyed away from the candles as Father Perry Dodds administered the blessing of the throats in a Sunday Mass at St.

Edwards. A yearly Roman Catholic tradition dating back to the 4th century, the ceremony asks the Lord's blessing for one's well being throughout the year. The ritual is in remembrance of St. Blaise, the Armenian Bishop of Sebaste in Capradocia, Italy, who was beheaded in 316 A.D.

Bob DeJasmond/Times-News

Aquifer proposal to council

By MARTY TRILLHAASE
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls City Council members tonight will be asked to join in a project aimed at increasing the water supply in the Snake River Plain Aquifer.

Concern over estimates that the ground water table is dwindling has prompted discussion about projects aimed at reversing that trend. Twin Falls draws much of its water supply from the aquifer.

"It appears to be a down cycle," John LeMoine of Hagerman said. LeMoine, a former Gooding County commissioner, said the situation is not critical, but added the recharge effort may take five years before any effect is noticed.

The proposed district would support the channeling of flood waters to the aquifer from the Big Wood, the Little Wood, and the Snake rivers. The district would utilize existing canals to divert water to areas where the first water would percolate down to the underground water supply, LeMoine said. The water involved would be spring runoff water, uncontaminated by any farming operation, he said.

"It's the same thing Mother Nature has been doing for years. We've just have to help her along."

Legislation passed two years ago authorized such districts, providing limited borrowing capacity. The districts do not have any bonding authority.

Individuals and entities using more than one cubic foot per second of aquifer water would be levied, LeMoine said. The fees would not exceed $10 per cubic foot per second used. About 600 users would be affected, he said. The district would include Jerome, Gooding, Hagerman, Wendell and Twin Falls.

"The present flow of its kind in Idaho," would direct structural modifications to canals to divert the water, he said.

LeMoine said the group pursuing the district must now circulate petitions to be submitted to the Idaho Department of Water Resources.

The council will also consider a number of truck routing changes recommended by the Chamber of Commerce. The proposed beltway would divert truck traffic from the city core.

The proposed changes were raised last year by Councilman Bud Cheney, but council action was delayed to allow City Engineer Gary Young to present the proposals to the state Highway and Traffic Safety Commission.

A replacement to departing Twin Falls City Planning and Zoning Commission member Diane Ronayne may also be named by the council. The commission has recommended that Randall Morgan of Twin Falls fill the vacancy. Morgan is currently an alternate member of the commission.

Snake River water rights hearings set

BOISE — Public hearings concerning water rights in the Middle Snake River area have been scheduled for Glenns Ferry and Murphy by the Idaho Department of Water Resources.

The hearings will be held at the Glenns Ferry City Hall, Feb. 19 and at Murphy at the county courthouse on Feb. 21. Both sessions will begin at 7 p.m.

The department has received a petition with 74 signatures asking an adjudication of the Snake River from Milner Dam to the Oregon border. An adjudication is a court determination of water rights.

Department of Water Resources Western Region supervisor David B. Shaw said the outcome of an adjudication would be a decree that would allow a watermaster to deliver and measure water at a decreed point that would not be mandatory, however, he said.

Such an adjudication would include only those water rights below Milner Dam and would not include the large diversions at the dam for the Northside Canal and the Twin Falls tract, he said.

Disagree with Carter's request Idaho's solons oppose draft

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's four congressional representatives oppose any plan to draft women into the military and to reinstate the draft as a sign of American opposition to the Soviet Union's military invasion of Afghanistan.

Their reaction follows President Carter's suggestion last week in his State of the Union address that Congress authorize registration of young Americans for the draft as a sign of the country's readiness to counter Soviet expansionism.

Democratic Sen. Frank Church said he favored registration of 18- to 26-year-old males "as a precautionary measure if the evidence shows that it is indispensable to rapid mobilization in the event of war."

Church, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he opposed Congress delegating Carter the authority to reinstate the draft itself.

"At the present, we don't need to draft anybody," Church said. "As long as our military personnel requirements can be met by volunteers, the draft should not be reinstated. Historically, it has been reserved for national emergencies, and I believe that practice should continue to be observed."

Church said he also opposed the conscription of women for combat.

Sen. James McClure said he opposed a peacetime draft because volunteers could provide adequate military manpower.

McClure said he favored basic military training for high school graduates to reinforce an all-volunteer military.

Rep. Steve Symms said he would not support reinstating the draft until President Carter beeps up military hardware projects shelved earlier, including the B-1 bomber.

"We don't have the capability to fight Russians in a conventional war at this time," Symms said. "We're talking about drafting young men to fight with inferior military weapons."

Rep. George Hansen said Carter's call to reinstate the draft was ironic, especially since the president issued a blanket pardon to all Vietnam-era draft evaders in 1977.

Police Injuries not serious

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls man Sunday was released from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital and a Twin Falls woman was reported in good condition following a Saturday auto accident.

Rodney Loder and Vanita Goodson, both of Twin Falls, were injured in a one-car accident in the 106 block of Second Avenue South when the car Goodson was driving collided with a utility pole. The accident occurred about 2:20 a.m.

Arrest follows call

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls man Sunday was being held in the county jail on charges of aggravated assault, Twin Falls Police said.

Police arrested Terry Lowe, 20, of Twin Falls, at the Samba restaurant parking lot, 180 Blue Lakes Blvd. N.

ActionLine

By BEN MCKELWAY

Notify bank if charge card merchandise doesn't arrive

In November I ordered $24.95 worth of diet pills from Contemporary Mission, Inc., in Westport, Conn. I charged them with my VISA card, and I have already paid that bill, but so far I still have not received the pills. I wrote the company in December, but they have not answered. If I ever get my money back, I will certainly never do that again. — Twin Falls reader.

Pat Poe, a customer service clerk at Contemporary Mission, told Action Line she will send you a refund check. But if that hadn't worked, there was one more alternative that other readers should know about.

When you use a "VISA" or other bankcard to order something by mail, and it doesn't come or arrives broken, write to your bank's credit office and tell them. The law says this situation should be treated just like a billing error, so you will not be held responsible for that part of your bill, even if you have already paid it. There are a few other hoops to jump through, the details of which should be on the slip of paper that comes with your monthly statement. For instance, you must write the bank within 60 days of the date the first statement showing the problem bill was mailed to you. And you must have first tried to contact the company yourself, with no success. Enclose a copy of your letter to the company along with your letter to the bank.

I'm trying to locate a new wheel for an Air-Way Sanitizer vacuum cleaner. I got it 14 years ago. For the suction, I've never seen anything like it. — Mrs. Davis, Filer.

The company is still in business and has a toll-free number: 1-800-537-1073. Call them first to tell them the color of the wheel you need, which will cost you $1.08 plus 15 percent for postage. Here's the mailing address: Air-Way Sanitizer, Inc., Parts Department, 228 Wade St., Toledo, Ohio 43602.

For $16.99 I ordered a compressed-air pump from Mass Marketing Association, in North Hollywood, Calif. I saw it advertised in Family Weekly. We sent for it last November, but it still hasn't come. I really need that pump because my tractor has a flat tire. The old, and I've been sick for so long, I'd hate to get look. I've always managed to avoid that, but there are so many schemes around these days that a guy doesn't know what to do anymore. — Paul Hersh, Filer.

Elaine Chaco, of Mass Marketing's customer service office, promises us she will mail you a new pump right away. Her records show that your original order left their fulfillment house in New York Dec. 12, but if that were so you would have it by now.

I would appreciate it if you could find me an address of someone who makes or sells sauerkraut cutters.

They are made out of wood. — Joanne Fredrickson, Rupert.

Price Hardware has them for $8.95 each. The store is at 147 Main Ave. W. in Twin Falls. If you write to them at P.O. Box 333, and enclose enough money for postage as well as the price of the cutter, they will send you one. Their cutters are not all wooden however; hope you don't mind a metal blade.

How can I obtain a copy of hearsay evidence gathered by the federal government on my personal background? In 1980 a routine investigation of my background, just prior to a major promotion, found information so derogatory and vicious as to affect a Military Security Board hearing. A civilian! I needed a higher-level security clearance for a promotion in the Office of Navy Material at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center north of Chicago. But because of the hearsay information, the promotion was denied, and I suffered significant losses in salary and prestige. Freedom of Information Act, which requires the government to divulge the hearsay charges and their sources. I could use those documents to counter the charges and pursue the issue for adequate compensation. — Twin Falls reader.

Don't get your hopes up — that was 20 years ago, and records like that could have easily been destroyed by now. But that doesn't mean it's not worth a try. Write to the National Personnel Records Center, GS-1 (Civilian Personnel Records), 111 W. Wabash St., St. Louis, MO 63101. Identify yourself, including your social security number and your birthdate. Tell the whole story with all the facts and figures you can remember, and explain exactly why you want, mentioning your right to the records under the Privacy Act and the Freedom of Information Act. It would be a good idea to send the same letter (but not just a copy) to the Chief of Naval Operations, Department of the Navy, Washington, D.C. 20350. You may be referred to other agencies, but at least you are on your way.

FREEBIE — The new Women USA Hotline provides instant access to a national women's network, with recorded messages on current events affecting women. Topics range from the Equal Rights Amendment to health hazards in the marketplace. For a "hotline action tip," dial 1-800-221-4945.

Editor's note: This is Ben McKelway's final Action Line column for the Times-News. He is going to another newspaper as a full-time Action Line reporter. He extends his apologies to the '86 of you whose problems I never got to because of other reporting duties.

New Mexico prison riot Gov. King says obviously there was a guard shortage

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI) — New Mexico Gov. Bruce King said Sunday it's clear guards at New Mexico State Penitentiary were outmanned in their battle to stop the outbreak of an inmate riot early Saturday.

"How can you expect 11 or 12 guards to handle 1,300 prisoners," King asked reporters rhetorically.

While King's figures on the number of guards did not agree with figures released earlier by Warden Jerry Griffin, it was clear that the guards were vastly outnumbered.

Griffin said there were 22 guards on duty the night of the takeover, which was "somewhat short of what we normally have."

The governor said the incident had prompted him to meet with the state's legislative leadership about the problem of understaffing and underfunding of the prison.

"They are more than willing to make more money available," King said. "This will be handled in a workmanlike manner to improve the lot of the prisoners and the guards."

Military troops moved into position, helicopters thumped overhead and smoke poured out of shattered cellblock windows as the scene around the outer fence of the New Mexico State Penitentiary resembled a battleground.

But the battle was being waged inside the prison, where as many as 25 inmates may have been killed and scores more injured.

The prison, a drab gray two-story structure located in rolling treeless hills about 15 miles southwest of Santa Fe, bore obvious scars of the battle.

Broken windows and obliterated concrete could be seen from the press area on a two-lane road about a half-mile away from the main entrance to the institution. Smoke still belched from the windows of some sections of the building Sunday.

The cellblocks extend as wings from the main building and the

An injured prisoner is rushed into a Santa Fe hospital after a helicopter ride from the riot-torn prison southwest of the state capital

Hospital scenario not as ghostly now

SANTA FE, New Mexico (UPI) — Military choppers carrying injured and drug-dazed inmates from New Mexico State Penitentiary shuffled in and out of St. Vincent's Hospital Sunday, but the aftermath of the prison riot was more like the result of a wild party.

It was hardly the ghoulish scene that greeted off-duty emergency staffers Saturday night and early Sunday, who treated inmates that were beaten and mutilated by other inmates.

"We just got three more 'ODs,'" said Sylvia O'Keary, secretary to the administrator at the 231-bed facility. "There are two more on the way. One is a National Guardsman kicked in the groin and one inmate who is having seizures right now."

Reports from the prison indicated inmates had broken into the infirmary and a shoe manufacturing plant where they obtained glue to sniff.

A shaken woman who saw them lying in the grass outside the facility sniffed. "They don't even know their own names." People, some apparently relatives of inmates or hostage guards, gathered outside the hospital to watch the arrivals.

On what normally is the hospital's busiest visiting day, friends and family were conspicuously absent. Visitation was canceled. The two-day inmate takeover at the maximum security prison southeast of town had precipitated chaos.

"It's been a madhouse up in the emergency room. That's why we had to call off visiting today," Ms. O'Keary said. "They get in the way, and we can't move patients around because there are people all over the place. We just feel it's more important to save lives than to have these visitors."

The night before, a National Guardsman — M-16 slung across his shoulder — patrolled the hospital entrance, checking IDs of those trying to enter.

Scores of doctors and orderlies, some still wearing civilian clothes, scurried through the hallways. Volunteer aides passed out fruit, soft drinks and sandwiches.

An exhausted physician, his blood-spattered surgical gloves still on his hands, munched a ham sandwich near the emergency room door.

An inmate identified as Rudy Perez arrived on a cot. His face and chest were drenched with blood. Emergency room staff prepped him for surgery.

A corrections officer, Lt. Joe Anyaya, arrived. Hospital staff pronounced him in good shape although he was unconscious and being sustained by oxygen.

Eleven members of the Santa Fe police force were called about 11 p.m. to quell a disturbance in ward 2-A where treated inmates were kept. An inmate in the emergency room received an injection to still his convulsion-wracked body.

Nursing supervisor Madalyn Dunn nodded toward ward 2-A. "They're starting to raise hell up there," she said, trying to suppress her disgust.

This freshman Wyoming senator is bucking traditions

By WARD SINCLAIR
© The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — A senator who finds renewal in curlers and Mencken keeps Western originals by Russell and Hemingway on his walls and sees the Senate as something of a funny farm deserves a closer look.

Actually, the word about Alan K. Simpson, a Republican from Wyoming, got around rather quickly after he showed up in the Senate last year.

The guy is different, they were saying. He talked back to senior senators, always with courtesy and reverence, but he talked back. Don't tell me how to vote, he cautioned committee staffers accustomed to telling senators how to vote.

Simpson, 48, came here last year, labeled as one of those new hard-core conservatives hell-bent on standing big government on its head.

The game of politics, alas, is played with labels and codes and Simpson is stuck with his label. What a yuk.

He is conservative and big government does not enamor him, but his link with the label pretty much ends there. He idolizes some of the liberals he's supposed to abhor, cosponsors their bills and trade ribald stories with them.

Simpson turns out to be one of those refreshing breezes that occasionally gentles their way through the congressional pamp and sustain to remind that all is not lost; it hasn't even been found.

Unlike those who promise great deeds, Simpson says he's not here to turn things around — doesn't expect to, at least. Unlike others averted by the Senate, he says, "I have to look at it and laugh. Unlike those who profess high altruism, he says he wanted to be a senator because the title sounded nice.

Well, now.

Part of this is his wry personal theater, no doubt, but most of it is the expression of a man working mightily to retain his sense of humor and balance in a generally humorless, unbalanced arena of egotists and posers.

"If you don't know who you are before, you'll never find out here," he said the other day. "I'm trying to be the same person I've always been and see how it works in the U.S. Senate."

A Simpson story: He won't deliver a statement someone else prepared for him. He insists on asking his own questions at hearings. The delights in showing a colleague on the Senate floor who has just delivered a wind-canned statement. "I'll ask, 'What did you say?' and they just look back and say, 'I don't know.' It's half-disgusting."

Congress always has had a few of these free spirits, men who are serious about their work, but don't take it or themselves too seriously. They are important because they give the place a human dimension.

In the House, Reps. Andy Jacobs, D-Ind., John Burton, D-Calif., and Richard Kelly, R-Fla., are among that number who use wit as a rapier. Until he retired a year ago, James Abourezk, D-S.D., was the Senate's resident iconoclast.

Al Simpson got here just in time to save the Senate from complete and terminal self-importance.

Another Simpson story: Early last year he had the audacity to propose a 10 percent across-the-board budget cut on environmental programs. Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, who opposed the idea, tore into him. Simpson tore right back.

Muskie prevailed, but Simpson made his point. His one vote from Wyoming counted as much as any other vote and so did his opinion.

"My old neck muscles were pumping and I was scared," Simpson recalled. "I went to these hearings and I saw people I'd read about all my life. But I knew if I got away I'd be totally ineffective."

What if you've, he encountered Muskie on an elevator. "Simpson," Muskie said grudgingly, "I think you're going to do all right here. To get along in the Senate you have to be about one-half somnambulist and I think you are."

That was Muskie's way of saying welcome to the club. Simpson loved it and they became respectful equals.

Obituaries

Dora Maud Nebeker
TWIN FALLS — Dora Maud Nebeker, 88, of Twin Falls died Sunday morning at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital after a brief illness.

Services will be announced by Reynolds Funeral Chapel.

Vernie Osterhout Smith
MALTA — Vernie Osterhout Smith, 83, a longtime Malta resident, died in her home Sunday morning of a lingering illness.

Funeral services are pending and will be announced by Payne Mortuary of Burley.

Services

BUIL — Services for Bryce Johnson, 17, of Buhl, who died Friday, will be held at 11 a.m. today at the Buhl LDS chapel. Final rites will be held in the Gem Memorial Gardens at Burley.

TWIN FALLS — Services for May Elizabeth Popjoy, 81, of Twin Falls, who died Thursday, will be held at 11 a.m. Tuesday in White Mortuary Chapel. Friends may call at the mortuary until 9 p.m. today and until 10 a.m. Tuesday. Burial will be in Twin Falls Cemetery.

Hospitals

MINDOKA MEMORIAL
Admitted
Dora Heurgio of Rupert and Hollie Jelle of Burley.
Discharged
Al Straughn and Vanita Sanchez, both of Hupert.
Births
Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Guillermo Heurgio of Hupert and to Mr. and Mrs. Gary Jelle of Burley.

TWIN FALLS — Services for May Elizabeth Popjoy, 81, of Twin Falls, who died Thursday, will be held at 11 a.m. Tuesday in White Mortuary Chapel. Friends may call at the mortuary until 9 p.m. today and until 10 a.m. Tuesday. Burial will be in Twin Falls Cemetery.

Gooding: Mrs. Jack Frey of Castleford; and Kevin Toner of Burley.
Discharged
Mrs. Shae Klundt and girl, Mrs. Edwin Barker, Mrs. Thomas Switzer, Charles Stein, Ella Orr, Eugene White, and Jamie Ahrens, all of Twin Falls; Robert Givens, Mrs. Paul Funk, and Mrs. Michael Dodge, all of Kimberly; Tammy Severance of Piler; Steve Truoper, Erich Hubert, and Mrs. John Robertson, all of Gooding; Clifford Brown of Buhl; Mrs. Chuck Sears and girl of Jerome; Thurlow Smith of Oakley; Wallace Long of Jacksop, Nev.; Iva Olson and Kevin Toner, both of Burley, and Mrs. Jerry Couch and girl of Hagerman.

Birth
A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Eskridge of Twin Falls. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Frey of Castleford.

Northwest won't avoid mid-decade shortages

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Sterling Munro said that while there were "large opportunities for conservation and renewable resources" they would not enable the Pacific Northwest to escape the energy shortages threatening in the mid 1980s.

"That's when the deficits loom largest should streamflows not be a great deal better than we can safely count upon in prudent planning," the Bonneville Power administrator told the City Club of Portland.

Munro said people were aware of the time required to put coal...

nuclear plants on line and that facilities even if started now would not be producing electricity for the mid-decade crunch.

"But I'm not sure that everyone understands the lead time and development, that must go into conservation and renewable resources, too," he said.

The BPA administrator advocated passage of the Pacific Northwest regional power bill now in the House of Representatives after passing the Senate.

"I am confident that it will be passed and signed into law this year, and that it will provide the mechanisms" and the "institutional framework" — we need to work out solutions suitable for dealing with today's problems — and tomorrow's," he said.

"It is a unique piece of legislation written with the unique character of the Pacific Northwest in mind, and meant to apply no place else."

Munro said the measure deals with the "uncertainties" about future demand and supply. He said it protects local control of public utility bodies and co-ops, while continuing state regulation of investor-owned utilities.

"It faces up to the political realities but not only protecting the consumers served by public bodies and co-ops, but by enabling the residential and small-farm customers of private

Man charged in LDS missionary deaths

MONCKS CORNER, S.C. (UPI) — Berkeley County officials have formally charged a local man with the slaying of two Mormon missionaries whose bodies were found in the parking lot of a North Charleston shopping center.

James Arthur Brown, 24, of the Carnes Crossroads section, was charged with murder in Berkeley County because officials now believe the slayings took place there. He was also charged with raping one of the women.

Brown had been charged in Charleston County for the crimes because all the evidence officials had was that the bodies were found there, said Solicitor Capers G. Barr III.

The bodies of Elizabeth King, 66, of Kaysville, Utah, and Jane Teuscher, 65, of Fish Haven, Idaho, were discovered Dec. 15 in a car parked at Northwoods Mall. The two missionaries had been working out of Moncks Corner for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Barr said Saturday further investigation has determined the killings probably occurred in Berkeley County and the bodies were taken to Charleston, Barr said. Berkeley County arrest warrants were issued Friday for Brown, who was held in the Charleston County jail.

No bond was set on the murder charges, and a bond of $1 million was set on the rape charge during Brown's appearance Friday before Berkeley County Magistrate Ira M. Grady Jr. Barr said he intends to seek the death penalty.

Taylor: Bill Byrne wasn't only UNM caller

By IRWIN CURTIN
Times-News sports writer

TWIN FALLS — Bill Byrne isn't the only person affiliated with the University of New Mexico who's called the College of Southern Idaho over the past few summers to arrange courses through the mail for Lobo athletes.

And David Perkins isn't the only CSI official who's received calls to arrange those courses.

Nor are the summers of 1978 and 1979 the only ones during which the calls were made.

CSI President James Taylor made those disclosures in a recent interview with the Times-News.

The interview, parts of which appear for the first time today, concerned CSI's involvement with the transcript and credit abuse scandal of athletes at UNM.

According to information he gleaned from his staff, Taylor said Byrne, then director of UNM's booster organization, the Lobo Club, and either former-UNM basketball coach Norm Ellenberger or one of his assistants contacted two CSI "staff members" during the summers of 1977 through 1979 to arrange individualized courses for UNM athletes.

On Sunday the Times-News reported that six UNM athletes took CSI courses through the mail without meeting a CSI requirement that a referral on behalf of the athletes be made by a UNM administrator or faculty member. Those courses were arranged during the summers of 1978 and 1979 by Perkins, CSI's director of student personal services, at the request of Byrne.

Taylor said the phone calls generally were of the nature of "We have a student who needs a course. Is it being offered?"

"I can't tell you that students were enrolled or not enrolled as a result of those phone calls," he said.

Asked if the phone calls were received by CSI administrators or facult-ty members, Taylor replied: "The information I have is just not strong enough to tell you who received them. I've narrowed it down, but let's just leave it at that."

Perkins last week told the Times-News he received calls from Byrne during the summers of 1978 and 1979 inquiring about the possibility of UNM football players taking CSI courses through the mail.

Perkins said he had "the understanding" that Byrne was in some sort of executive administrative position at UNM, and learned only last week that Byrne was not an administrator or faculty member.

In order for an out-of-state student to take courses through the mail, Taylor and other CSI administrators have said, the student must have a referral from an administrator or faculty member at his school.

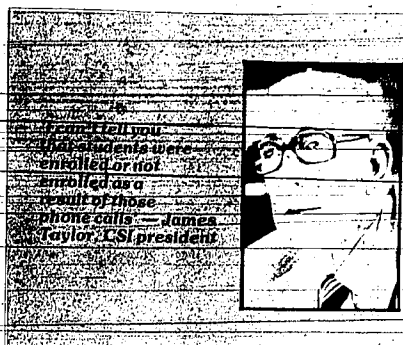

Byrne's position was not that of an administrator or faculty member at UNM.

The calls by Byrne to Perkins resulted in six UNM football players taking CSI psychology, history and political science courses through the mail.

Byrne, a former director of southeastern Idaho's continuing education program, which is administered at Idaho State University, is now an assistant athletic director at San Diego State University. He reportedly testified last week before an Albuquerque federal grand jury about fraudulent credits earned by SDS athletes.

"The Lobo Club" also is reportedly under investigation by a second grand jury for hidden funds allegedly used to subsidize athletes.

Former UNM coach Ellenberger was fired, and one of his assistants, Manny Goldstein, resigned, in the wake of charges they paid to have a junior college player's transcript

CSI president James Taylor says that Bill Byrne, then director of UNM's booster organization, the Lobo Club, and either former-UNM basketball coach Norm Ellenberger or one of his assistants contacted two CSI "staff members" during the summers of 1977 through 1979 to arrange individualized courses for UNM athletes.

Continued on page B4

Sports

Monday, February 4, 1980 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho B-3

Holmes stops challenger

LAS VEGAS (UPI) — World Boxing Council heavyweight champion Larry Holmes said Sunday's technical knockout of Lorenzo Zanon was merely another step towards his goal of becoming the undisputed world champion.

Holmes, 33-0, used a jarring left jab to harass Zanon and set up a powerful right hand that had the Italian challenger down three times in the fight. Referee Ray Solis stopped the fight at 2:39 of the sixth round with Zanon wobbling.

Holmes will defend his crown for the sixth time March 31 against LeRoy Jones in Las Vegas and has a bout with World Boxing Association champion John Tate set for September.

"Every fighter in the world today has a dream," the 30-year-old Holmes said. "My dream is to win the undisputed world heavyweight championship. Tate has a share of it that I deserve."

"This puts me a little closer to what I want. The fight was a good stepping stone toward John Tate."

Holmes was in complete control of the fight from the start and never was in any danger. But he said Zanon "gave it his all."

"He gave me all I could handle. I didn't want no more."

Holmes' left jab continuously found its mark on the challenger, and in the fourth round he used a jab to set up an overhead right that flattened Zanon, who rose to his feet at the count of six.

Zanon hit the canvas again 30 seconds later after a left-right combination from Holmes.

With about one minute left in the round, Holmes swarmed the challenger with an array of blows and referee Solis issued a standing eight-count to the challenger. Nevada State Athletic Commission rules state that eight-counts are illegal.

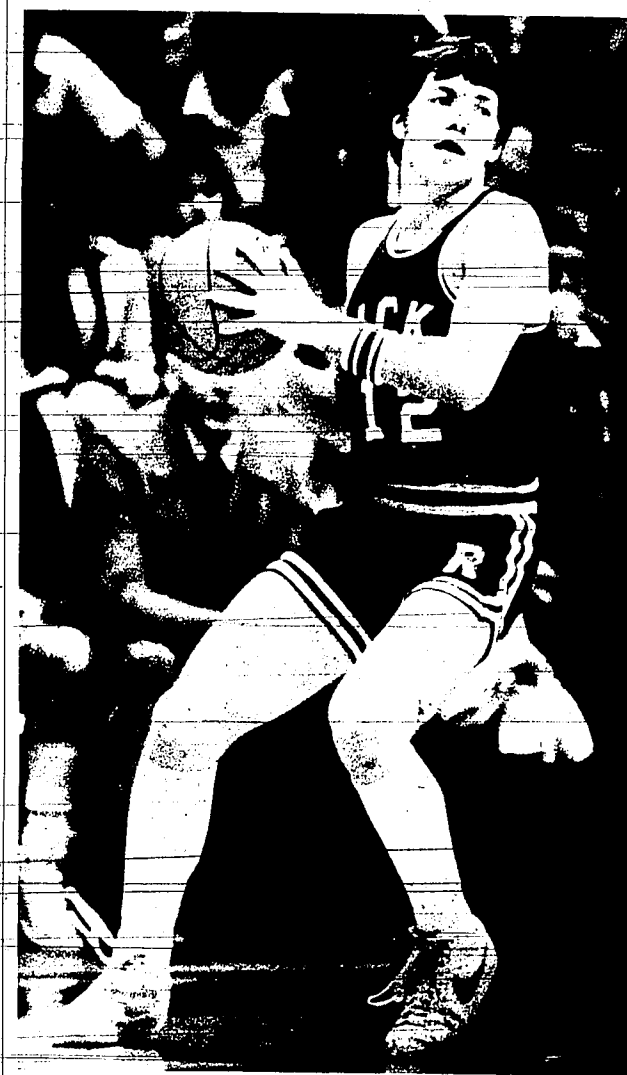

Holmes, 213, continued the assault in the fifth round as Zanon backpedaled and tried desperately to stay out of range of the champion's left jab. Zanon went down at 2:39 of the sixth round from a flurry of punches and regained his feet after a count of eight. But Solis determined the challenger was unfit to continue.

Zanon, 215, fell to 25-5-2 after winning his previous six fights. It was the third time Zanon had been stopped in as many fights in the United States. In 1977, Zanon was knocked out by Ken Norton, and, less than two months later, was KO'd by Jerry Quarry.

It was the first time an Italian-born heavyweight had fought for the title in 47 years, since Primo Carnera won the championship in 1933 by stopping Jack Sharkey in six rounds in Long Island, N.Y.

Zanon won the European heavyweight championship April 18, 1979 with a decision over Alfredo Evangelista, but the title was stripped from him when, against European officials' wishes, he signed to fight Holmes.

Holmes, of Easton, Pa., captured the WBC crown with a dramatic 15-round decision over Ken Norton June 9, 1978. Sunday's fight was his fifth title defense and represented the 24th time Holmes has stopped an opponent.

Former Burley player Gordy Kerbs, now with Ricks College, finds the action tougher in college.

Kerbs finds college ball 'different'

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News sports writer

TWIN FALLS — If you don't think there's a lot of difference between high school and college basketball, just ask Burley's Gordy Kerbs.

Kerbs, a 1979 graduate of RHS; dried off in the locker room Saturday night after he and his Ricks teammates dropped a tight 66-65 decision to CSI.

"First," he said with a wide grin, "they make you play defense."

Of course, the major difference for Kerbs, as it is for all former prep stars moving on to tougher competition, is no longer being "the" man in the lineup.

"You don't get to shoot as often," he said. "They like you to pass the ball a little more."

But he's enjoying the experience of playing. It admits he'd like to enjoy the experience of winning a little more.

"We're 13-10 or something like that now. We just haven't played well since Christmas," he said.

Kerbs is remembered for several instances of last-second heroics during his three years of starting for the Bobcats. He relishes the memory of the halfcourt shot that beat Twin Falls at the buzzer early in the season last year.

"And he duplicated that feat in a Montana holiday tournament just before Christmas."

"It's been kinda funny," he said of his season. "When the team was playing well and winning I wasn't doing that well. I was only shooting 30 percent (from the field) in December and since Christmas I built that up to 45 percent. That was before tonight, of course."

The youngster, playing in front of a lot of Burley fans drawn here to see him play again, said "I really wanted to play well. I suppose I was a little tight."

He missed his first six attempts from the field — three of them going inside the rim and then bouncing back out. He hit a jumper and got inside for another field goal.

But overall it was not the night he'd like to have had in front of the home folks.

"We played tonight like we have been since Christmas," he went on. "We put together a few good minutes of basketball and then we kinda come apart for a while. Before Christmas we had some really good halves and a couple of complete games we played well in."

Kerbs says getting the offensive drive and emotion going that were his trademarks at Burley hasn't been possible in college ball.

"Maybe Coach (Ron) Gillett should come coach me again," he added with a grin.

Spectacular Bid sets new world race mark

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI) — Spectacular Bid set a world record for 1 1/4 miles Sunday by winning the 18th running of the $214,600 Charles H. Strub for 4-year-olds at Santa Anita.

Racing against only three rivals, Spectacular-Bid reserved his speed for the final quarter of the race to finish the 1 1/4 miles in 1:57.45, cutting two-fifths of a second off the world record set by Noor in 1950.

Flying Paster, in his fifth attempt Spectacular Bid was a fast-closing second, but finished 3/4 length behind the winner as Valdez was third and the pace-setting Retaluch was fourth in the short field.

The victory also set numerous milestones for Shoemaker as the world's leading jockey. It was his 7,789th career victory, his 784th stakes win and 149th victory in race worth $100,000 or more, all riding records. It was also the seventh time he had won the Strub Stakes or its predecessor, the Maturity.

The time broke the stakes record of 1:59.3 set in 1964 by Bold Bidder and the track record of 1:58.35 set last year by Affirmed.

Set off at odds of 1-5, Spectacular Bid paid $2.60 and $2.10 Flying Paster returned $2.10, with no show wagering.

At the start of the race, jockey Bill Shoemaker got Spectacular Bid in a leisurely fashion. As Retaluch went to the lead, Shoemaker moved Spectacular Bid over to the rail in the long run past the stands for the first time. Going around the turn, Retaluch held a seven-length lead followed by Valdez and Flying Paster.

Going into the backstretch, Spectacular Bid moved up to third but with no effort to challenge the front-runner.

Girls' basketball action to resume tonight

MAGIC VALLEY — Richfield, Castleford and Minico have the inside track to distinguish themselves in basketball championships this week.

Richfield and Minico start the week needing just one win to clinch district titles and advance to state playoffs next week through the state.

Richfield can get the coveted state berth by winning Wednesday in the Fourth District A-4 tournament at Shoshone. Minico can clinch the A-1 district title Wednesday when it hosts Twin Falls.

Castleford points toward Thursday as the key day in the Fifth District A-4 tournament.

Still battling for positions are the A-3 girls, playing at Wendell, Shoshone and Declo tonight in the semifinals with the winner moving on to the finals to await a Wednesday night challenger.

And finally the A-2 girls come into play, that playoff starting at 8 p.m.

Related story on tourneys page B4 today at Buhl and continuing night by night through conclusion.

The A-4 tournament in Shoshone resumes tonight with a second-place Carey vs. Declo match. Those two divided a pair of seasonal games with Carey bouncing back to win a first-round matchup.

That winner plays Richfield at 7 p.m. Tuesday and Richfield, the defending state champion, must be defeated twice to lose the title and trip to state.

The A-3 tournament has boiled down to the seedings, basically, although Gooding took a fifth seed into the meet and reversed form only mildly in knocking off fourth-seeded Valley.

The pressure is on Filer and Gooding the varsity matchups regardless of won-lost records.

The Buhl-Jerome winner will play Wood River at 8 p.m. Tuesday with that winner moving on to the finals Thursday night. The two losers will square off Wednesday to establish the second finalist. It is double elimination, meaning the tournament could go to Friday if the undefeated team loses Thursday.

Wood River swept two matches from Jerome during the year and split with Buhl. Only the champion will advance to state.

Minico, in the driver's seat in the A-1 tournament after winning a pair on the road, can wrap up its trip to state by beating Twin Falls on the home court at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Minico beat the Bruins by seven in the first time around and another victory would ice it. However, if Twin Falls should derail the Spartans, the extra session will be played Saturday at the neutral site since both would have had the home court advantage once.

In the Southside A-4 conclusion, Castleford is waiting for a challenge to come from Murtaugh or Raft River. Raft River jumped into the swing of things by surprising second-seeded Hagerman 34-33 last Saturday. And the Trojans worry Murtaugh Coach Dick Annala.

"We've played them and beaten them three times," he points out. "But each time it's gotten a little closer."

The Murtaugh-Raft River winner plays Castleford Thursday night. Should Castleford lose that one, the sudden death game is slated for 8 p.m. Saturday at Hagerman.

Girls' Tournaments

Fourth District A-4 (at Shoshone)

Carey vs. Declo, 7:20 p.m. (loser out)

Winner Carey vs. Declo, 8 p.m. (extra session will be played at 8 p.m. Wednesday)

Fifth District A-3 (at Hagerman)

Murtaugh vs. Raft River, 8 p.m.

Castleford vs. Murtaugh/Raft River winner, 8 p.m. (extra session will be played at 8 p.m. Saturday)

Sixth District A-2 (at Wendell)

Filer vs. Gooding, 6:45 p.m. (loser out)

Shoshone vs. Filer, 8 p.m. (championship semi final)

Tuesday

Filer-Gooding winner vs. Shoshone-Declo loser, 8:15 p.m.

Shoshone-Declo winner vs. Filer-Gooding loser, 8:15 p.m. (Should the Shoshone-Declo winner, extra session will be played Thursday)

Fourth District A-3 (at Buhl)

Buhl vs. Jerome, preliminary 6:15 p.m.

Buhl-Jerome winner vs. Wood River, preliminary 6:45 p.m.

Monday and Tuesday night losers, preliminary 6:15 p.m.

Wednesday

Tuesday night winner vs. Wednesday night winner, preliminary, 6:15 p.m. (Should the Tuesday night winner lose, the extra session will be played Friday night)

Region III A-1

Twin Falls at Minico, preliminary at 6:30 p.m.

Should Twin Falls win, extra session will be played at 8 p.m. Saturday at Burley.

Region III A-2

Minico vs. Richfield, 8 p.m.

Murtaugh vs. Raft River, 8 p.m.

Castleford vs. Murtaugh/Raft River winner, 8 p.m. (extra session will be played at 8 p.m. Saturday)

Praise the Lord — and then play basketball

Monday, February 4, 1980 — Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho 8-5

By IRWIN CURTIN
Times-News sports writer

TWIN FALLS — From the opening jump, it was a sort of Holy War.

At stake was first place in the Magic Valley Church Basketball League. But before they went into battle, the two teams lined the halfcourt circle for an interdenominational prayer.

The opponents, as young as their early teens and as old as their mid-40s, were Methodists and Catholics. And although they rarely turned the other cheek, there's little doubt they would approve their well-mannered aggressiveness in combat around the foul line and under the boards.

When a truce was agreed to last Thursday night at the O'Leary Junior High School Gym — after 36 minutes of full-hill boogie, rebound and run, bowl 'em over and pick 'em basketball — St. Edwards emerged victorious, a 51-41 winner against First United Methodist.

The victory was the Catholics sixth in as many games this season — and moved them into first place by a half game over the Methodists, who suffered their first loss after six straight wins.

The two best players on the court were St. Edwards' Tom Ashenbrenner and First United Methodist's Rusty Lesser.

They spent most of the game guarding one another, and jostled continually for position, open shots and rebounds.

You'd have to call their battle a standoff, even though Lesser outscored Ashenbrenner 17-12.

"We enjoy playing each other," said Lesser of the two teams. "It's not usually this rough against other teams. This was a pretty intense game, because we're the two top teams in the league."

"But people are good sports. If you knock someone down, you help him up."

Ashenbrenner said there exists between the two teams a "healthy rivalry."

"For the past couple of years, we've been the two best teams in the league, but nobody gives too much. 'It's alright if it's rough, as long as the game is called cleanly.'"

Did he think the game was called cleanly?

"Sure it was," he said, unable to suppress a wide smile. St. Edwards' coach, Doug Neville, sided further along in the rivalry.

"Last year we went undefeated during the regular season but lost to them in the playoffs. They're tough, and both of us are usually undefeated during the season by the time we play each other."

Dale Stewart, coach of First United Methodist, said his team's slogan for the remainder of the season will be "praise the Lord, pass the ammunition and get ready for the rest of them."

"They were up for us," he said of St. Edwards'. "But then, we always get up for each other."

Twin Falls City Basketball League standings

City League Basketball			TFF First			TFF Second
Team	W	L	W	L	W	L	L	L
House of Beans	10	0	10	0	10	0	10	0
Brinkman Parkers	8	2	8	2	8	2	8	2
Methodist	7	3	7	3	7	3	7	3
St. Edwards	6	4	6	4	6	4	6	4
First Baptist	5	5	5	5	5	5	5	5
First Presbyterian	4	6	4	6	4	6	4	6
First United Methodist	3	7	3	7	3	7	3	7
First Baptist	2	8	2	8	2	8	2	8
First Presbyterian	1	9	1	9	1	9	1	9
First Baptist	0	10	0	10	0	10	0	10

A Division			B Division
Team	W	L	Team	W	L
House of Beans	10	0	Brinkman Parkers	8	2
Brinkman Parkers	8	2	Methodist	7	3
Methodist	7	3	St. Edwards	6	4
St. Edwards	6	4	First Baptist	5	5
First Baptist	5	5	First Presbyterian	4	6
First Presbyterian	4	6	First Baptist	3	7
First Baptist	3	7	First Presbyterian	2	8
First Presbyterian	2	8	First Baptist	1	9
First Baptist	1	9	First Presbyterian	0	10
First Presbyterian	0	10

Briefly in sports

Russians not wanted

WELLESLEY, Mass. (UPI) — About 50 Babson College students demonstrated this weekend outside the skating rink where Soviet Olympic figure skating team members practiced.

The students, who said they were "against aggression in the Afghanistan," demonstrated Saturday outside the school's recreation center.

Inside the center, several hundred students and Wellesley residents gave a warm welcome to the Soviets. The town has had mixed reactions to the Soviets' 10-day stay before they go on to the Olympic Games in Lake Placid, N.Y.

The day after their arrival, the local newspaper ran an editorial saying, "Reluctantly, we'll host them—Relieved we'll be when they leave."

Germans sweep Daytona race

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Holf Stommelen, Reinhold Joest and Volkert Merl proved Germans know best how to drive German cars Sunday, winning the 24 Hours of Daytona endurance race.

The Stommelen-Joest-Volkert team, the only all-German turbo-Porsche entry among 68 starters, led most of the race and crossed the finish line in 33 laps or 126.72 miles ahead of its nearest competitor.

The Germans covered 745 laps or 2,745.6 miles, breaking records set last year by Earl Fickel, Danny Ongalis and Hurley-Haywood of 694 laps or 2,626 miles.

The winners' average speed over the 3.84-mile Daytona International Speedway road course was 114.303 mph, also a record.

Canada sweeps ski jumping

THUNDER BAY, Ontario (UPI) — Steve Collins, in a sensational performance, led Canada to a 1-2-3 sweep against the U.S. Olympic squad Sunday in the Shell Cup 90-meter ski jumping championships.

The 19-year-old local Ojibwa, who has placed four times in the top 10 on the tough World Cup circuit, edged fellow Canadian Olympian Tauno Kaykko for the title.

Collins completed jumps of 110.5 and 117 meters as he earned 247.3 points, judges awarded points for both style and distance.

Kaykko, who represented Finland in the 1972 Olympics before moving to Thunder Bay, picked up 238.9 points with leaps of 109 and 109.5 meters.

Craig Drabik, 16, rounded out the Canadian sweep with jumps of 101 and 115.5 meters for 225.1 points and third place, drawing a round of cheers from the highly partisan Thunder Bay crowd.

Browns name new defensive coach

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Browns named Marty Schottenheimer as their defensive coordinator Sunday, filling a position left void since the departure of Dick Modzelewski at the end of the 1977 season.

Schottenheimer, 35, who spent the last two seasons with the Detroit Lions as a linebackers coach, had served as defensive coordinator of the New York Giants for three years.

Stargell receives player award

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Willie Stargell of the Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday received the Man of the Year in Sports Award at the 44th annual Pittsburgh Post-Gazette Dopper Dan awards dinner.

Stargell's teammate and winner of the 1978 DD Award, Dave Parker, made the presentation.

Golf

Burns makes it three first time winners on tour

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — George Burns, who had a chance to score his first career victory three times last year but backed up on all three occasions in the final round, sank a 15-foot birdie putt on the 16th hole at Pebble Beach Sunday to win the $300,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Am.

Fifteen players were in the running with a half dozen holes left to play in an incredibly crowded field of challengers, but only Burns among them made a move in the closing holes and it added up, finally, to his first victory in five years on the LPGA Tour.

After making the key bird on the 16th, Burns parred in, missing a 15-foot birdie putt try on 17, to complete a 3-under-par 69 which gave him a 72-hole score of 8-under-par 290 and victory by a stroke over Dan Pohl, another long-hitter seeking his first career success.

The final round had started on a brilliant day with 23-year-old David Edwards the leader by two shots but quickly a race developed as Edwards bogeyed the first hole and half a dozen others moved into contention, among them Jack Nicklaus, who played this week for the first time in nearly six months.

Nicklaus had a stretch of five holes in which he made three birdies and an eagle to jump in front by two but the Golden Bear backed up almost as quickly with a bogey on seven, a double-bogey on eight and a busey on nine.

George Burns takes home first big paycheck

He also bogeyed the 12th and 13th holes and fell back.

Pohl played his first nine holes in 1-over 37 but came back in 30, a nine which saw him make six birdies for a 67 and a 7-under score of 281.

He was the leader in the clubhouse when Burns, who edged the sixth and birdied the seventh and 14th holes, went to 16, a par-4-402 yard hole which is not the easiest on Pebble to hit. George, one of the longest hitters on tour, got on in two, then sank the 30-footer, which stood up as the margin of difference.

Burns won a $54,000 check and became the third first-time winner on the tour this year, joining Craig Stadler, who took the Hope Classic, and Jeff Mitchell, who won the Phoenix Open.

Second place was worth $32,400 to Pohl. The highest check he has won since coming on tour last year. Pohl earned his playing card in the spring of 1978, lost it and came back to win it again in 1979.

John Mahaffey with a 68 and Bill Kratzert and Kelli Forgas with 70s and Larry Nelson with a 72 tied for third place at 6-under 282, while Mike Reid, Tom Weiskopf, Edwards and Gil Morgan tied at 5-under 283.

It was a particularly frustrating day for Edwards, as it was for Nicklaus. Edwards recovered from his first hole bogey to make birdies on the fourth and fifth, but then bogeyed four more holes coming back for a 74. Nicklaus finished with a 73 to tie

Carner wins opening LPGA tourney this year

DEER CREEK, Bragg, Fla. (UPI) — Veteran JoAnne Carner shrugged off the wind, the cold, and rival Sandra Post Sunday to shoot an even-par 71 and win the $15,000 first prize in the Championship of Deer Creek — the first event on the 1980 LPGA tour.

The hearty Carner, who claims the cold doesn't bother fat people like her, totaled a 10-under-par 282 for the 72 holes to edge Post by two shots. Post, who had tied Carner with three holes to go, also shot even-par 73 for a 284.

Tied for third at 6-under-par 286 were Beth Daniel, who had gone into the round tied with Carner for the lead, Amy Alcott, Jane Blalock and Jerilyn Britz.

Daniel skied to a 77 Sunday over the 6,260-yard Deer Creek Country Club course. Alcott had a 76, Blalock carded a 74 and Britz shot 72.

Post had trailed Carner by three strokes going into the final nine holes of the tournament and rallied into a tie with birdies on the 11th and 12th holes while Carner was bogeying the par-4 12th hole.

But then Post faltered with a bogey-5 on the No. 12 and Carner sewed it up by coming up behind her in the next three holes and birdying the same hole.

It was the 24th tour victory for the 46-year-old Carner, who is starting her 11th year as a pro. The first prize in the $100,000 event boosted her career earnings to $664,900.

It was also the first victory for Carner since she severely injured both wrists in a motorcycle accident on a Tennessee logging trail last May. After her finest start ever with two tour victories and the Colgate Triple Crown title last season, she was sidelined until last fall, when she finished third in the tour's final event.

Carner, who joked earlier in the tournament that she had dieted off 14 pounds and had "only 31 to go," teed off as the temperatures were edging upward into the low 50s and bitter winds gusting over 20 miles per hour.

It almost looked as if Carner had put it away on the front nine by carding a two-birdie, two-bogey par 36, while all her challengers except Post were dropping quickly off the pace.

Daniel jumped ahead with birdies on the first and third holes but then met with disaster. She posted back-to-back double bogeys on the fourth and fifth holes and added another on the eighth, where she missed the green to the left, clipped all the way over and took two strokes to get down in five.

That left the 1979 rookie in the year with a 5-over-par 41 for the front nine and five strokes behind Carner.

Carner, who joked earlier in the tournament that she had dieted off 14 pounds and had "only 31 to go," teed off as the temperatures were edging upward into the low 50s and bitter winds gusting over 20 miles per hour.

It almost looked as if Carner had put it away on the front nine by carding a two-birdie, two-bogey par 36, while all her challengers except Post were dropping quickly off the pace.

Daniel jumped ahead with birdies on the first and third holes but then met with disaster. She posted back-to-back double bogeys on the fourth and fifth holes and added another on the eighth, where she missed the green to the left, clipped all the way over and took two strokes to get down in five.

That left the 1979 rookie in the year with a 5-over-par 41 for the front nine and five strokes behind Carner.

State will receive funds for wildlife

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho will receive more than $2 million in federal funds for sport fish and wildlife restoration and hunter safety programs in fiscal year 1980 as part of a U.S. Interior Department national apportionment of $27 million.

Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus said the $27 million brings to $117.3 million the amount made available to the states this fiscal year by the federal government. The figure is $7.7 million more than the amount appropriated during fiscal year 1979.

"These funds will be used by each of the 50 states and the governments of Puerto Rico, Guam, the Virgin Islands and American Samoa to finance fish and wildlife programs," Andrus said. "Of the total funds available, $89 million is for wildlife restoration and $28 million is for fish restoration."

Corrections

Two errors were made in recent stories in the Times-News.

It was reported in Saturday morning's sports section that Louis Wilkins, a senior basketball player at Bliss High School, had set a new scoring record in the Magic Valley when he scored 51 points in a game Friday night.

However, further checking reveals that Randy Lee of Dietrich still holds the mark for his 54 points in a game back in 1973.

In another story, it was reported that the College of Southern Idaho girls basketball team had defeated Boise State. The story should have said that BSU team played with a combination varsity-junior varsity squad.

The savings solution.

Six-month Money
11.846%

annual rate on Money Market Certificates.* You'll be nearly $800.00 richer in just 26 weeks with a deposit of $10,000 or more. Eff. Jan. 31 thru Feb. 8. Maximum rate with maximum safety on short-term investment. There's no fee for purchase, and your certificate can be renewed automatically at the rate effective on renewal date. Federal regulations do not permit compounding of these certificates.

2 1/2-Year Certificates*
10.40%

annual rate (Effective during February) This new certificate locks in a high rate for 30 months. Your investment of $1,000 will bring a surprisingly good return paid every 3 months. Next to our popular Money Market Certificate, it's the highest rate we can pay — 3/4 of a percent less than the yield on 2 1/2-year Treasury securities. Rates change monthly.

Short term money
5.75%

annual rate on 90-day certificates* Just $500 is all you need for this new, higher rate on a short-term certificate. Good return on money you want available in 3 months to 1 year.

Remember First Security is the savers bank — with a complete inventory of savings services. Both statement savings and certificates.

Come in to any of our 150 offices and let one of our money specialists help you discover how to make your money work hardest for you. After all, security is our middle name.

First Security Banks

Each individual affiliate bank of First Security Corporation is a member of FDIC. *Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal on certificates.

People in sports

Meyer gets his 'blowout' game

By United Press International
DePaul finally got the "blowout" it was looking for and as a result, Blue Demons' Coach Ray Meyer says the "monkey" is off of his top-ranked team's back.

DePaul got its 19th straight victory of the year without a loss by crushing North Texas State, 102-91, Saturday night. It was the Blue Demons' most lopsided triumph of the year.

Meyer had been looking for a game when his team didn't have to go down to the final minute to win. But he wasn't surprised when he got it.

"We've had some good practices and this team is definitely playing much better now," Meyer said. "We needed a game like this. The monkey is off our back."

Last month, Meyer was critical of his team for not disposing of the likes of Lamar, Ball State and Wayne more handily. At one point, he said his team desperately needed a defeat.

Meyer has changed his mind. "I wouldn't mind going the rest of the season without a loss now," Meyer said.

TOMMY HEARNS, of Detroit, scored his 25th knockout in 24 fights Sunday at Las Vegas when he stopped Jim Richards of the Netherlands at 2:27 of the third round with a crashing right hand.

THOMAS PERKO, former linebacker with the Green Bay Packers and a star defensive end,

RAY MEYER
happy coach

at the University of Pittsburgh, was killed in a car accident near Ambridge, Pa.

CHRISTOPHER CAVANAUGH of California clocked a world best time of 23.66 seconds Sunday to edge out teammate and Olympic champion James Montgomery and win the 50-meter freestyle at an international swim meet in Amsterdam, Holland.

There are no official world records for the 50-meter event but Cavanaugh's time, coming so early in the season, suggests he may break American Jonny Skinner's 4-year-old 100 meter world mark of 49.44 this year.

RAUL RAMIREZ easily defeated Australian Phil Dent, 6-3, 6-2, in the singles finals of the $75,000 San Juan, P.R. Tennis Classic and walked away with $13,125.

Ramirez took a five-game lead in the first set before Dent broke the 28-year-old Mexican on his sixth serve. In the second set, when Dent began showing signs of fatigue, Ramirez took the first two games and won 6-2.

AL FEUERBACH had his longest throw of his indoor track career Saturday, putting the shot 65-feet-5 1/4 to capture first place in the Jaycee Invitational track meet at Albuquerque, N. Mex.

Feuerbach, representing the Athletics West Track Club, beat a throw by Michael Carter of Southern Methodist University in Dallas. Carter heaved the shot 63-feet-11 inches.

Dallas investors not happy but seem set to join NBA

DALLAS (UPI) — Although investors will have to come up with a larger down payment than originally advertised, there were indications Sunday that Dallas investors would accept a National Basketball Association offer and thus bring the NBA its third Texas team.

The NBA board of governors Saturday approved the Dallas bid for a franchise, but said the investors would have to provide a $6 million down payment instead of the $3 1/2 million announced by the NBA's expansion committee.

In addition, the remaining $6 million must be paid with 10 percent interest instead of being interest free. Also, instead of protecting their top seven players in an expansion draft, the existing 22 NBA teams will be allowed to protect their top eight players.

All of these changes were less than popular with Norm Sonju, a former NBA executive who has acted in behalf of the investors for the past year. Sonju said Dallas Mayor Bob Folsom was also unhappy and that Folsom told the board of governors. "I know politicians change their minds, but I expect businessmen to honor deals."

After the initial announcement, however, Sonju indicated he was optimistic that the $6 million down payment could be raised within the 30-day limit imposed by the NBA and that the investors would approve the change in the league's admission price.

"I'll admit I was a little down at first," said Sonju, who was previously president and general manager of the Buffalo Braves. "But I talked with the mayor and he said, 'Norm, we've got the franchise.' Then it hit me.

STOP ANNOYING NOISES AND WASTING WATER
GET THE SERVICE
WATER MASTER
"Through-The-Ball" Toilet Tank Ball
America's Largest Ball
Instantly stops the flow of water after each flushing.
$1.25 AT HARDWARE STORES

Contribute to Achievement

by JACK WARBERG

We salute the young people who are developing a sound knowledge of business on their first jobs. They are among the thousands of members of Junior Achievement... truly one of our most outstanding organizations. With practical education thus obtained, our young people are developing a sound knowledge of business on their first jobs... learning the risks and rewards of competitive enterprise. Our esteem and cooperation may well be extended to the business firms who are giving these young men and women this training in free enterprise. High school boys and girls, meeting one night a week in groups of approximately 15-20, form "mini" corporations. They are directed and helped by adult advisers and choose a product or service, selling shares of stock to friends and neighbors to raise working capital. They then go on to develop and sell the product or service. Here indeed is a step forward in the shining economic future of America. All hail the members of Junior Achievement. We salute the outstanding public-spirited business firms who are giving of their time, effort and money to encourage these worthwhile endeavors!

JACK WARBERG
Hearing Aid Counselors
1061 BLUE LAKES NORTH
TWIN FALLS, IDAHO 83301
PHONE: 735-0601
We Salute Our Town!

Richmond Open goes to McEnroe

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Displaying great confidence, John McEnroe destroyed Roscoe Tanner's powerful serve Sunday to win the $75,000 Richmond Tennis Classic, 6-1, 6-2.

The top-seeded McEnroe ripped through Tanner in just 55 minutes, breaking the second-seeded player four times while never losing a game when serving himself. Tanner registered just three aces and only managed to win eight points off of McEnroe's serve — five of those coming on McEnroe mistakes.

Tanner only reached break point twice, both times in the first set, but the 20-year-old New Yorker, a loser to Jimmy Connors last week in the U.S. Pro Indoor Championship, battled to duce both times and held serve.

Leading 2-1 in the first set, McEnroe forced a duce in the fourth game by smacking a backhand service return down the line. He took the advantage with a blistering passing shot and finished the break when Tanner lunged and hit a shot long.

McEnroe held to go 4-1, then broke Tanner again when, at 30-40, Tanner came in too quickly and was passed by a McEnroe forehand. McEnroe, who won $30,200 for his efforts, then held service to end the first set.

Handling Tanner's service with grace and confidence, McEnroe broke Tanner to open the second set, only allowing Tanner to win one point. The next break came at 42 when he again handcuffed the Tennesseean with low service returns to his feet that Tanner couldn't get over the net with his backhand half-volleys.

10.4%

INTEREST ON THE NEW 2 1/2 YEAR INVESTMENT CERTIFICATE

$1,000 minimum. Maturity of 2 1/2 years. The interest rate is 3/4 % below the average 2 1/2 year yield of treasury notes as announced monthly. Your interest rate is locked in throughout the life of the certificate as of the date you purchased it. Interest may be compounded quarterly for a higher annual yield.

NEW 5 3/4% TIME SAVINGS CERTIFICATE

Now you can earn more than ever before on a 90 day savings certificate. $500 minimum. 90 days minimum maturity. Automatic renewal. Interest may be compounded quarterly for a higher annual yield.

Substantial interest penalty is required* for early withdrawal on all certificates.

We say "Yes" to you!

Downtown 733-1722
Lynwood 733-6538
Kimberly 423-5522

Member: Federal Reserve System
Member: FDIC

EAT AT NORTH'S

7 Days A Week

LUNCH $2.39
Weekdays 11-4 Mon. thru Sat.

DINNER $3.43
Weekdays 4:30-9; Sun. 11-9

Children's Price: 25¢ a year up to 12 years of age

WE DO CATERING

For Your Holiday Parties, CALL US!

1859 KIMBERLY RD., TWIN FALLS 734-1223

Your Complete Financial Center Works Extra Hard For You!

We're not just a place to keep your money. We have a team of varied professionals who can assist you with complete financial counseling and provide you and your attorney with practical ideas on estate planning. Our full complement of banking and trust services includes the administration of Testamentary Trusts, Personal Trusts, Pension and Profit Sharing Trusts, Keogh Retirement Plans, Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA), and Farm and Business Management. Come talk to us. We've got the right professional for your problem.

We say "Yes" to you!

Downtown
Lynwood
Kimberly

Member: Federal Reserve System
Member: FDIC

A LITTLE AD GOES A LONG WAY!

Put Your Guaranteed Results Ad To Work For You Today 733-0931

3 LINES 7 DAYS $7.35

Jobs Special

(For all our readers who are over 50)

During the month of February

3 Lines - 7 Days $5.00

You must come in and place ad & pay for the ad in advance.

(The Money is not refunded if item doesn't sell)

Times-News Classifieds

132 3rd St. W.

733-0931

Announcements

001 Florist
MARJORIE'S FLOWERS for loss; deliveries. All occasions. 545 Sparks. 734-0221.

002 Lost/Found
LOST: EAST of Gooding small black short haired MALE DOG with white spot between front legs. May be needed toward Bliss answers to "T.J." Reward. 538-2502 or 532-4868.

LOST 117780 area Metal parking lot, Twin-leather face-up HIKING BOOT also 1976 V stamped on ankle. Call collector 227-0518.

LOST 1120-21780 14 carat gold chain link BRACELET w/special safety lock. Sentimental value. If found please call 734-0062. Reward!

LOST: Pair Prescription Sunglasses, heavy gold frames, brown leather case. In Twin Falls. REWARD! 733-5459.

LOST: Small GOLDEN COCKER SPANIEL in the vicinity of Addison & Blake. Weaving brown collar. Please call 734-3847 or 733-2010. Reward offered.

LOST: 1975, F-CAT, 4 yrs. old. Long hair, white w/blaze eyes. Reward! Miss who calls much! After 5, 423-4823.

004 Special Notices
TOLE PAINTING. New class starts Feb. 13. For more information 733-0483.

Special Notices

004 HIGHWAY 30 GARAGE
Honest work and prices. General repair—interior automatic transmissions. 2.3 miles west of hospital. Phono Carter Killinger. 734-7054.

ATTENTION
Get into the "swing" of things with the newest personal ad publication in the U.S.A. For information and FIRST AD FREE, in this National publication, write: N.C., PO Box 21510, S. Euclid, Ohio 44121.

005 Memorial Notices

HAIRPIECE SUPPLIES & SERVICE
Hairpieces retailed and reconditioned.

SIAMO CENTER
607 MAIN AVE WEST 733-0839

ARVILLA'S ELECTROLYSIS
for hair removal. Check the yellow pages. 733-5033.

MONEY MONEY MONEY
Get rich quick? Mail order success? Stimulation? Income immediately? WHAT ARE THEY? For answers send $2.00 to Consumer Welfare, 10 East 8th, Box 38, Jerome, ID 83333.

PERMANENT Hair Removal:
Electrolysis & Thermolysis. Call Michele at 734-5970.

Personals

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS
Call 733-8300

AVAILABLE: Private room; Board & laundry for retired persons. Phone 734-7783.

MAGIC VALLEY SINGLES. (single, divorced and widowed 25-40) If you are new to the Magic Valley or just tired of staying home alone...we provide great friendships and activities that will be sure to please everyone. We offer everything from qualified speakers on Home Repair, Single Parenting, Financial Tips to combat inflation and "Men/Women" relationships. PLUS some great recreational activities to keep you in shape. Also some activities include children. For more information, call 733-7023, Monday thru Friday same day.

PROTECTION
For real and/or personal property! Photo's taken for identification, verification of ownership, permanent recorder. Call 324-3821 or 430-Mon-Fri.

Selected Offers

007 Job of Interest
EXPERIENCED Irrigator and farmhand. Nice home, good wages, year round. References required. Kimberly-Hansen area. Write Box F-22 c/o Times-News.

Jobs of Interest

007 ACCOUNTANT: Salary negotiable. Advancement and excellent benefits are found with this prominent, progressive company. Vicki 734-2550 Snelling and Snelling.

ACCOUNTS PAYABLE CLERK with secretarial skills. Working knowledge of accounting & inventory control needed. Pay commensurate with ability. Available for work no later than 2/11/80. Call Mike 428-4701.

AMBITIOUS COUPLE required who would like to add to their present income part time. call 224-6590

ARE YOU WILLING to invest 10 hours per week to earn up to $40,000 a year? If so, you can find out by calling Fuller Bruhn 733-9214.

BUY OR SELL 734-9256

BOYS AND GIRLS WANTED TO DELIVER THE TIMES-NEWS
If interested call 733-0931 between 8 and 5.

PATROLMAN - POSITION AVAILABLE: (1) opening, for the Ketchum Police Dept. Certified or experienced officer preferred. Starting salary between $600-$900 per mo. Contact Chief, Harry Box H H Ketchum, ID 83340, 726-4333.

Jobs of Interest

007 CAREER OPPORTUNITY
MUNICIPAL of Omaha: As much as $1000 to $1500 monthly. Send resume to: 727 17th Timon News P.O. Box 548, Twin Falls, ID 83301. Equal Opportunity Company. M.F.

CLEANING CONTRACTOR needs part-time help. Weekend hrs. only. $3.15 per hr. Call 733-0668.

CLERICAL: Must have a good office background, letter writing, telephone personality. Call Dortha-733-7152, JOB SHOP.

DEPT. SUPERVISOR: Must be experienced and have knowledge of camera. Call Dortha-733-7152, JOB SHOP.

EXPERIENCED Real Estate Secretary: Call 734-0600 for appointment.

MACHINIST - Good tech. background. Desire to progress. Call 734-2550 Snelling and Snelling.

MANAGER: For contracting and excavation business. Must have bookkeeping and be willing to relocate. Call Dortha-733-7152, JOB SHOP.

MATURE SALESPERSON children's department of local apparel store. Part time. Day work. Good salary and benefits. Reply to Box D-22 c/o Times-News, Box 548, Twin Falls.

NEEDED 2 experienced mill men for small "goods" bears. Only those interested in working need apply. Excellent salary & benefits. Apply at Rangone, Inc., 115 13th Ave. South, Boise.

OUTSTANDING opportunity for a "CHARLES ANGEL". Ability to dig out facts and reports—material—$800 D.O.E. Jody 734-2550 Snelling and Snelling.

PIPCO needs an ambitious, hardworking, person to deal in counter sales and yard work. Knowledge of pipe and sprinkler systems desirable. Must be able to obtain chauffeur's license. Applications available at 402 Washington St. Twin Falls, 734-2200.

SALES - Industrial equipment, car or van, home at night. $15,000 base D.O.E. Fee Paid. Doug 734-2550 Snelling and Snelling.

SALES: 73 Year Old Company needs reliable, capable over 18 to earn up to $5 a per hour. Car & phone necessary. Phone 733-9314.

SALES/CLERICAL - Good position for this INTERESTING position. $3.50 hourly. D.O.E. Jody 734-2550 Snelling and Snelling.

SALES CLERK, PART TIME to start, full time possibility. Clean-shaven, likes people. $10 hr start. Doug 734-2550 Snelling and Snelling.

SALES/REP - Good training for proven sales track record. Jody 734-2550 Snelling and Snelling.

SALES-Seasonal: Good for teacher's schedule or oriented person in Burley, Rupert area. Call Dortha-733-7152, JOB SHOP.

Jobs of Interest

007 THE TWIN FALLS School District #411 will be accepting applications from January 28, 1980 through March 28, 1980 for: One (1) Assistant Food Service Supervisor. Should have degree in home economics, institutional management or nutrition. Assist in food cost-analysis, food-service budgeting, safety and sanitation instruction, menu planning and purchasing. Salary open. For information and applications contact: Twin Falls School District #411, Larry Baxter, Personnel Manager, 201 Main Ave. West, Twin Falls, ID 83301, 733-6600. AN AFFIRMATIVE ACTION/EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER.

TRUCK DRIVERS OWNER OPERATOR OPPORTUNITIES

If you are at least 21 years old, can qualify and have or are ready to obtain your own tractor, then call us about a contract - in - the - rapidly expanding household goods moving industry.

We offer a lease or purchase plan, subject to equipment availability and all our owner operators receive maximum fuel surcharge allowance.

Call our representatives toll free at 1-800-428-1234.

Aero Mayflower Transit Co. P.O. Box 107-8 Indianapolis, IN 46208 Equal Opportunity Co.

TIRE OF - NO - FUTURE stock in this position? IF ELECTRONICS is your forte - then look about POSSIBILITIES with this opportunity. $12,000 D.O.E. + BEN. Doug 734-2550 Snelling and Snelling.

Jobs of Interest

007 SECRETARY: several positions with good growth potential for proficient professional. Salaries negotiable. Vicki 734-2550 Snelling and Snelling.

WANTED: Medical Stenographer for supervisory position. Salary commensurate with experience. Call business manager, Twin Falls Clinic 733-3700.

STOCKROOM CLERK WOOLWORTH

Excellent opportunity for person experienced in stockroom operations. Good employee benefits. Apply Personnel Office, 705 Blue Lake Blvd. North, Monday-Friday, 10AM-4PM. Equal Opportunity Employer M/F. NO PHONE CALLS!

DAKING APPLICATIONS for taking sandwich cook at A&W. Resumes also part-time counter girl. Call 733-2550 for appointment after 6PM.

"TELEPHONE INTERVIEWER" WANTED FOR PART-TIME RESEARCH WORK FROM HOME. EXPERIENCE NOT NECESSARY. NOT A SELLING JOB. MUST HAVE PRIVATE LINE MAIL LETTER INCLUDING EDUCATION, ANY WORK EXPERIENCE, NAMES OF REFERENCES AND PHONE NUMBER TO BOX N-22 C/O TIMES NEWS, P. O. BOX 548, TWIN FALLS, ID.

AFFIRMATIVE ACTION M/F.

The College of Southern Idaho is taking applications for a Planner of Aging Resources. Position is responsible for planning, research, coordination, and evaluation of all aging programs under the auspices of the college. Send letter of application, resume, and credentials to: Roy Stowers, Academic Dean, College of Southern Idaho, Twin Falls, ID. Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer.

Jobs of Interest

007 SECRETARY
Attractive opportunity for "TOP SECRET" $600/week. $700 D.O.E. Jody 734-2550 Snelling and Snelling.

WANTED - A "PEOPLE PERSON" Teller position - attractive help. $600/month. D.O.E. Vicki 734-2550 Snelling and Snelling.

SOPHISTICATED
Wanted! Must be caterer/artist, enthusiastic, energetic, physically fit, intelligent, pleasant. Background in nutrition, dietetics, or related field. Salary experience appointment. Call Sherry 734-2550 for your appointment.

008 Sales People
A REAL ESTATE CAREER with Gem State Realty. We are now taking applications for people who would like to join the #1 Real Estate firm in Magic Valley. As real estate sales persons. For interview - contact Dale - Paterson.

GEM STATE REALTY
255 BLUE LAKES BLVD. N. 733-3336

NOW TAKING APPLICATIONS for our new position Auto Sales People. Experience preferred but not necessary. Auto Sales People willing to work hard, and ambitious. Call 733-2891, ask for Karen - Write Motor Car.

009 Employment Agencies

"NEW" HORIZONS PERSONNEL SERVICE

Don't hearing "Ain't about good mining talent" here - an example of our "open opportunities" and YOU can be your own boss! Call 733-0931

OFFICE BACKGROUND $600-1650
We're looking for a career minded person in a position entailing compiling report for tax purposes, payroll, and some bookkeeping. Excellent benefits, covering dental and health insurance, & others.

MANAGERIAL POSITION for an aggressive, successful oriented individual. Training provided for position, which includes compiling information needed for the application, accurate typing, and some computer terminal duties. Great benefits.

SECRETARY $300-$1,000
Training provided by company for a 3000 oriented secretarial position. Some experience/will train is desirable.

AGGRESSIVE INDIVIDUAL NEEDED $1,000+
For a sales position. If you fit this description and are looking for a career with super advancement possibilities, this is for you. Commissions, and outstanding benefits.

HEAVY EQUIPMENT SALES $1,000+
For someone with a background in farm machinery and/or heavy equipment marketing. Relocation necessary. Benefits included.

CAREER OPPORTUNITY $2500
Training provided for potentially managerial position. Bright, outgoing personality and ability to handle responsibility is needed. Paid relocation, sick leave & insurance provided.

Our client companies are the leaders in the communities of Magic Valley.
Virginia Bancroft, Owner
409 Sheoshone Street South
734-8844

COUNTRY STORE: Enjoy the advantage of "country store" while you and the family operate your own business. Includes store, 4 bedroom, 2 bath home with large attached garage on 2 1/2 acres. Unlimited potential. Owner will finance. Call or write CANDID REALTY, P.O. Box 1185, Burley, ID 83318 (208) 678-1751.

TWIN FALLS CLASSIFIED ADS
Phone 733-0931

Babysitters

015 ABBIE CHRISTIAN DAYCARE
State licensed. 7 to 3:30. Ages 3 to 6. 356 Frier Ave. West. 734-2328.

BABYSITTING, my home, days only, Monday thru Friday. Frier Eastland area. Drop-ins welcome. 734-4250.

BABYSITTING in my home. Potty trained. Good Harlow school. 734-6559.

BABYSITTING, any age, hot meals & snacks. Home environment. 734-4071.

BABYSITTING in my home. Drop-ins welcome. In Kim. 734-2550.

BABYSITTING IN MY HOME. Mon. thru Fri. only. 7:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. Call 734-6668.

CHILDREN'S EVENINGS: 2:30pm-12pm: 1 meal & 1 snack. Call 733-3068 evenings.

LAURIE'S PRE-SCHOOL
Learning through activities in an individualized learning environment. Swimming lessons & Story time are included in the tuition. HOURS: 9:00 to 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 to 4:00 p.m. Located in the Methodist Church at 4th & Sheoshone. For further information call 734-2016.

MATURE EXPERIENCED loving care for your children. Home environment. 734-4250.

WILL BABYSIT full or part-time. Own transportation. 733-8759.

OPENING! Personal loving care in family environment. Limited enrollment. 734-2121.

Your skills are in demand! Watch our employment journal. 733-9321.

016 Situations Wanted

CARPENTRY, concrete, sheetrock, any & all related work. Altan 32M 732-2278.

Typing: Long history of typing over/flow at home. Can do 1000+ words per hour. Cassette. 734-5459.

WILL DO housecleaning in West End. 543-6304.

017 Business Opportunities

ARE YOU LOOKING for a sound business proposition? Does the idea of owning a modern specialty camera store in a prime mall location appeal to you? Would you like the support of a company that has been in business for 16+ years? Do you have track record of franchising? Then contact:

FRANCHISE DIRECTOR
KAMERS INC.
101 INDUSTRIY DRIVE SEATTLE, WA 98188.
CALL COLLECT (206) 425-1282

IN RUPERT

The Times-News is in need of a person to deliver the Times-News Motor Route in the Rupert area. Gross profit approximately $600 per month.

For more information please call the Times-News at 733-0931 or 1-800-632-0843.

POSITION OPEN

Written applications will be received for position of secretary manager for Twin Falls County Mutual Fire Insurance Company. Permanent. Good future for right person. Office training or experience required. Application forms available at company office, 123 S. Broadway, in Buhl. No phone calls.

REPORTER!

The Times-News is looking for a half time reporter in the Ketchum-Hailey-Sun Valley Area to cover Blaine County.

Call Jeff Sher or Ray Sullivan
1-800-632-0843

SAVINGS & LOAN CASHIER

If you are career oriented and work well with people, First Federal Savings & Loan would like to talk with you. We have a position available that requires you work well with people and have basic math and speaking skills. College or some college preferred. You will be challenged and rewarded if you work hard and learn quickly.

Send resume or call:
First Federal Savings & Loan
Attn: Jim Dadds
232 2nd St. North
Twin Falls, Idaho

An Equal Opportunity Employer M/F

First Federal Savings & Loan Association of Twin Falls

THE BEST PLACE IN THE WINNER TO CALL

733-0931

HEART STOPPERS

Surprise Your Valentine With a...
Valentine Love Line
in the Times-News

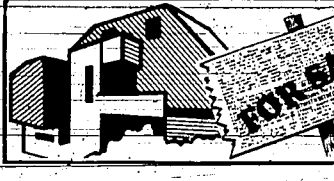

Enclosed Please Find My Special Prepaid...
Valentine Love Line!
COMPOSE Your Own Message Below.

NAME _____
ADDRESS _____
CITY _____ PHONE _____

Mail check & coupon or come in & place your ad today.
Ads must be pre-paid.
Your ad will run on Wednesday, February 14

Just $4.00 to run your Valentine ad for your special person.
The rate is $4.00 for 1 to 15 words, please add 25¢ for each additional word over 15.

TIMES-NEWS DEADLINE FEB. 09th
Box 548 733-0931 6-5

I OFTEN WORRY THAT THE WORLD WILL COME TO AN END.

IF IT DOES WE CRAWLY CRAWLY SURVIVE DOGS.

WHEN I GET OUT OF SCHOOL I THINK I'LL GO INTO MEDICINE.

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO WHEN YOU GET OUT OF SCHOOL, WINTHROP?

A TIMES - NEWS CLASSIFIED ADVERTS YOU IN TIGHT WITH HOME PROSPECTS.

by Dick Cavalli

YOU'RE OUR EMERGENCY FOOD SUPPLY.

THROW THE BIGGEST PARTY THE WORLD HAS EVER SEEN.

WHEN I GET OUT OF SCHOOL I THINK I'LL GO INTO MEDICINE.

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO WHEN YOU GET OUT OF SCHOOL, WINTHROP?

THROW THE BIGGEST PARTY THE WORLD HAS EVER SEEN.

WHEN I GET OUT OF SCHOOL I THINK I'LL GO INTO MEDICINE.

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO WHEN YOU GET OUT OF SCHOOL, WINTHROP?

THROW THE BIGGEST PARTY THE WORLD HAS EVER SEEN.

WHEN I GET OUT OF SCHOOL I THINK I'LL GO INTO MEDICINE.

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO WHEN YOU GET OUT OF SCHOOL, WINTHROP?

THROW THE BIGGEST PARTY THE WORLD HAS EVER SEEN.

WHEN I GET OUT OF SCHOOL I THINK I'LL GO INTO MEDICINE.

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO WHEN YOU GET OUT OF SCHOOL, WINTHROP?

THROW THE BIGGEST PARTY THE WORLD HAS EVER SEEN.

WHEN I GET OUT OF SCHOOL I THINK I'LL GO INTO MEDICINE.

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO WHEN YOU GET OUT OF SCHOOL, WINTHROP?

THROW THE BIGGEST PARTY THE WORLD HAS EVER SEEN.

WHEN I GET OUT OF SCHOOL I THINK I'LL GO INTO MEDICINE.

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO WHEN YOU GET OUT OF SCHOOL, WINTHROP?

HOME FOR SALE

NICE 2 BDR, Family Rm, full basement, carpet, cutout neighborhood. $79,000. Owner: 733-2981.

NORTHEAST LOCATION 3 Bedrooms, 2 baths on 1/2 acre. First line on the market Rustic unique design. Also small home adjacent. You will never buy more. Lot: $85,000. Magic Valley Realty: 733-5050.

THIS ONE'S A WINNER! Like new home with lots of warmth, great view, 3 bedrooms, yard, nicely landscaped, and a wonderful 2nd floor. Good quiet area in Kimberly 4000. $213.

GEM STATE REALTY 625 BLUE LAKES BLVD. N. 733-5336

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

PRICE REDUCED!

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

HOME FOR SALE

NICE 2 BDR, Family Rm, full basement, carpet, cutout neighborhood. $79,000. Owner: 733-2981.

NORTHEAST LOCATION 3 Bedrooms, 2 baths on 1/2 acre. First line on the market Rustic unique design. Also small home adjacent. You will never buy more. Lot: $85,000. Magic Valley Realty: 733-5050.

THIS ONE'S A WINNER! Like new home with lots of warmth, great view, 3 bedrooms, yard, nicely landscaped, and a wonderful 2nd floor. Good quiet area in Kimberly 4000. $213.

GEM STATE REALTY 625 BLUE LAKES BLVD. N. 733-5336

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

PRICE REDUCED!

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

HOME FOR SALE

NICE 2 BDR, Family Rm, full basement, carpet, cutout neighborhood. $79,000. Owner: 733-2981.

NORTHEAST LOCATION 3 Bedrooms, 2 baths on 1/2 acre. First line on the market Rustic unique design. Also small home adjacent. You will never buy more. Lot: $85,000. Magic Valley Realty: 733-5050.

THIS ONE'S A WINNER! Like new home with lots of warmth, great view, 3 bedrooms, yard, nicely landscaped, and a wonderful 2nd floor. Good quiet area in Kimberly 4000. $213.

GEM STATE REALTY 625 BLUE LAKES BLVD. N. 733-5336

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

PRICE REDUCED!

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

HOME FOR SALE

NICE 2 BDR, Family Rm, full basement, carpet, cutout neighborhood. $79,000. Owner: 733-2981.

NORTHEAST LOCATION 3 Bedrooms, 2 baths on 1/2 acre. First line on the market Rustic unique design. Also small home adjacent. You will never buy more. Lot: $85,000. Magic Valley Realty: 733-5050.

THIS ONE'S A WINNER! Like new home with lots of warmth, great view, 3 bedrooms, yard, nicely landscaped, and a wonderful 2nd floor. Good quiet area in Kimberly 4000. $213.

GEM STATE REALTY 625 BLUE LAKES BLVD. N. 733-5336

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

PRICE REDUCED!

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

ON CANYON RIM PROPERTY. This magnificent older home sets in the mid-Magic area. Large beautifully landscaped lot. The park-like atmosphere is enhanced by stream and trees. This gracious home has 6 Bedrooms, 3 baths and 2 sitting rooms. Great location on Pole Line Road East with a marvelous view from the canyon and Ponderosa Memorial Bridge. See this by appointment only. Call the by appointment only. Call TOLBY.

017 - Business Opportunities

BUSINESS & HOME FOR SALE: Especially for Mom! Stay-at-home and still earn your own good income plus the business pays mortgage payment, taxes, insurance and utilities. Dad's paycheck is all clear for fun or investment. Sell your present home and use the equity to start you on your way to financial security. Owner will finance. Contact CANDIO REALTY, Box 1165, Burley, ID 83318 (208) 678-1761.

FOR RENT: 2100 sq ft commercial building, 620 Washington St. Suitable for auto repair-body shop will handle large trucks. (3) 1/4 ft. overhead doors. 734-9990 or 734-4243. Mr. McMurtry.

LOVE FLOWERS? Have your own business for inventory cost. 8 yrs. at same location, downtown Twin Falls. Reason for selling health. Call Roger 733-4010 or Barnes Realty 733-8227.

MEN'S HAIR styling shop. Has potential for Unisex. All new equipment, excellent location. Price negotiable. Super: 614-500-4136.

GEM STATE REALTY 625 BLUE LAKES BLVD. N. 733-5336

PRESCHOOL Day Care Center in Twin Falls for sale or trade. $25-315.

WOODBURNING STOVES Regional distributor of Jotul stoves and fireplaces seeks responsible retailer with a moral commitment to the well being of consumers. For information concerning dealership requirements contact: Denis Anderson, Anchor Tool & Woodstoves, 618 N.W. Davis, Portland, Or. 97209.

OPEN HOUSES

North Park MODELS OPEN:

Mon-Fri: 4:00-7:00 p.m. Sat-Sun: 2:00-7:00 p.m.

IMMEDIATE OCCUPANCY!

CONCORD 3 bedrooms, 1 bath, living room, dining area, dishwasher, range, and patio. This house sets on a large lot.

$43,451

7.85% HOME LOAN LIMITED MONEY AVAILABLE Under This Program.

If you have a family of three and make up to $14,500 or a family of four or more and make up to $15,000, you can qualify for a 7.85% Idaho Housing Loan Plus 1/2 % Mortgage Insurance WHY WAIT!

WILLS INC. 225 Broadway, N.W., Twin Falls, ID 83341-1111 Office 733-2531 Fax 733-2532

023 - Investment

ATTENTION INVESTORS! You worked hard for your money, now make it work hard for you. Earn a minimum of 15 up to 25%. All investments secured by trust deeds or mortgages on good Idaho real estate. Call 528-5323 or 733-1111. Northwest Mortgage, 8163 South Lincoln Road, Meridian, ID 83642.

MUSIC LESSONS Troy Harvey 543-5122

DRUM LESSONS Troy Harvey 543-5122

Real Estate For Sale

029 Open House

030 Home for Sale

NICE 3 BEDROOM, 2 bath home near Sawtooth School and shopping. Large fenced back yard with covered patio. Good landscaping available. $48,500. Call Ed at 1914 Jackson. 733-5556

HANDY REALTY 610 South Lincoln 324-4353

018 Income Property MUST SELL! Large Duplex, $79,900. Excellent cash flow. Call Ed at 1914 Jackson. 733-5556

2 HOUSES, 1 lot. Live in one, rent one, or rent both. Low down and assume, 1/2 on 1914 Jackson. 733-5556

020 Money To Loan

SECOND MORTGAGE 100% points, 2% payment. Penalty. Astia Fin. 733-1066

COMMERCIAL LOANS On Real Property, Equipment, & Business. Flexible terms. Astia Fin. 733-1066.

BEAUTIFUL 3 year old, 3 bedroom, 2 bath, family room, top quality construction throughout. Lovely landscaped corner lot. Twin Falls. Low $60's #128-J.

YOUR VALENTINE WILL LOVE THIS 3 Bedroom home with fireplace, family room, full finished basement on large corner lot in Gooding. Mid $40's #153-J.

THE ASTUTE BUYER can easily distinguish quality features by this 4000 sq ft. home located just 3 miles from Jerome. Call now for your personal preview of all the amenities. #133-J.

GEM STATE REALTY JEROME BRANCH 234-1111

AMERICAN REAL ESTATE & APPRAISAL

(Across from Court House) 734-6650 Doug Wolford, Broker 733-0657

Alda Strong 733-9005 Mason R. Smith 734-4909 Mark Askerman 734-3852 Danla Volmer 733-9190

BY OWNER: New 3 Bedroom built entry, 2600 sq. ft. and garage, 600 sq. ft. on 2 1/2 acres & miles Southeast of Twin. $70,000. 733-1813

BY OWNER: 1400 sq. ft., 3 bdrm, fireplace, low down, 100% financing, $98,000. 733-2187

BY OWNER: 3 BDRM with beautiful wood paneling throughout, new kitchen w/ new carpet, yard w/ new chain link fence. Large 2nd floor & PLenty of storage. Nice garden spot, 3/4 acre. Price: $30,000. For appt: 734-3741.

BY OWNER: 3 Bedroom brick home on 1.75 acre. Excellent condition. BE Twin, Kimberly School District. Excellent terms. Will take mobile home in trade or 2nd home. Carter Homes, 733-7566.

030 - Home For Sale

ALL BRICK HOME GOOD-LOOKING WELL-kept older home in the townsite. Large sunny kitchen - formal dining. Total of 3 Bedrooms. Owner will carry. $44,200

ATTENTION! BUILDERS-INVESTORS... Active financing available... Call for information, 732-5000... Open 7 days per week.

BEAUTIFUL Acre + Lots ready for building... Country Living on 1950's... Call 733-1100.

WEST POINTER REALTY... BEAUTIFUL 2050 sq. ft. home on 3 acres... Call 733-4875.

BEAUTIFUL 2050 sq. ft. home on 3 acres... Call 733-4875.

WE ARE OVERSTOCKED... BROCKMAN'S MOBILE HOMES... Call 733-4875.

RENTALS... EXTRA NICE 1 bedroom washer/dryer, garage... Call 733-4875.

SMALL ACREAGES... STABLE COUNTRY HOME... Call 733-4875.

BAR in Richland with all equipment and liquor license... Call 733-4875.

CONVENIENCE STORE with gas pumps... Call 733-4875.

BEAUTY QUEEN... Invest in a winner... Call 733-4875.

COMMERCIAL... TWO ACRES... Call 733-4875.

MUST SELL... In town lot in McCall... Call 733-4875.

RECONDITORS... TIME SHARE Condominium... Call 733-4875.

MOBILE HOMES... 12599 1/2 bedroom mobile home... Call 733-4875.

12599 1/2 bedroom mobile home... Call 733-4875.

12599 1/2 bedroom mobile home... Call 733-4875.

12599 1/2 bedroom mobile home... Call 733-4875.

12599 1/2 bedroom mobile home... Call 733-4875.

12599 1/2 bedroom mobile home... Call 733-4875.

12599 1/2 bedroom mobile home... Call 733-4875.

12599 1/2 bedroom mobile home... Call 733-4875.

12599 1/2 bedroom mobile home... Call 733-4875.

12599 1/2 bedroom mobile home... Call 733-4875.

12599 1/2 bedroom mobile home... Call 733-4875.

12599 1/2 bedroom mobile home... Call 733-4875.

12599 1/2 bedroom mobile home... Call 733-4875.

051 Unim. House For Rent... 2 BEDROOM, partially furnished... Call 733-4875.

052 Furn. Apt. & Duplexes... VERY SHARP apartment... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... ALL ELECTRIC 2 bdr. duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... ALL ELECTRIC 2 bdr. duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

054 Unim. Apt. & Duplexes... 2 BDR duplex... Call 733-4875.

060 Office & Business Rental... APPROXIMATELY 75 Square Feet... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

061 Miscellaneous For Sale... BRUNSWICK & LANGER Pool tables... Call 733-4875.

CALL US... PHONE 733-0931... Below you will find many services available from Magic Valley Businesses...

RESERVED... KITCHEN CABINETS, ROGERS PAINTING, BUILDING/REMODELING, CHIMNEY DOCTOR, MASONRY & CARPENTRY, MOBILE HOME REPAIR, PAINTING, GRAVEL CRUSHED AND PIT RUN-TOP SOIL, INCOME TAX PREPARATION, INTERIOR/EXTERIOR PAINTING & STAINING, BUILD REPAIR REMODEL, COMMERCIAL & RESIDENTIAL Free estimates...

WANTED! Silver coins pre-1955, Gold coins, Sterling Silver, Scrap gold, Scrap silver... MARY CARTER CENTER 216 4th Ave. E. 733-3493... WOOD DESIGNS... SELF-STORAGE! Are you tired of being hit on the head every time you open the door... U-HAULS... SERVICE GUIDE AND DIRECTORY 3 LINES... 30 DAYS... $170

The Vantage Point

Where great taste and low tar meet

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

FILTER, MENTHOL: 11 mg. "tar", 0.8 mg. nicotine, FILTER 100's: 12 mg. "tar", 0.9 mg. nicotine, av. per cigarette, FTC Report DEC. 79.