

Colombia releases prisoners

Terrorist demands met

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — Military courts released nine leftists from jail Friday, the first move by Colombian authorities to meet demands of the guerrillas holding 18 diplomatic hostages in the Dominican embassy.

Guerrillas of the April 19 Movement, known as M-19, seized the embassy 52 days ago and demanded the release of 311 jailed leftists and the payment of a $50 million ransom in exchange for freeing the diplomats, including U.S. Ambassador Diego Asencio.

It was not immediately known if the nine leftists freed included any of the seven member M-19 high command, who made up the "non-negotiable" list the guerrillas inside the embassy have issued after scaling down their original demands.

Colombian officials repeatedly told the guerrillas the country's constitution prevented the release of any prisoner outside the judicial process, but offered to speed up the military court trials of the hundreds of jailed leftists accused of violent crimes.

The release of the nine, freed on grounds that there was "no basis" for their participation in a crime, was an apparent result of the government's compromise offer.

The move followed a warning by the hooded M-19 negotiator at the conclusion of the 17th round of talks with government officials earlier Friday that the guerrillas may be forced to "extreme decisions" unless the government agrees to free jailed comrades.

"We will respect the lives of the hostages, as long as the government does not force us to extreme decisions," the woman shouted to reporters at the end of 33 minutes of negotiations with government representatives in a van parked outside the besieged Dominican embassy.

"We will not leave the embassy without our comrades who are in jail," she said. "The government does not want to yield." She then returned to the embassy with diplomatic hostage observer Venezuelan consul Francisco Pacheco, without elaborating on the threat.

While the talks were going on, the leader of the estimated 16 guerrillas holding the embassy and the hostages for the past 52 days told UPI it was "impossible" to end the siege and free the hostages in time for the guerrilla movement's anniversary this weekend.

"Comandante Uno" said in a telephone interview he would like to see the siege end Saturday on the 10th anniversary of the April 19 Movement known as M-19.

"For us it would be a total success to have this whole thing culminate (Saturday)," he said. "But we have seen that it is impossible. And it is impossible because the government has not sought concrete solutions to the problem." Comandante Uno did say the M-19 is studying the release of one diplomatic hostage Saturday to mark the anniversary but has not selected the man yet. He said the choice would depend on "behavior" during the siege and other factors.

The guerrillas were also reported asking for $5 million in cash — a sharp drop from their original demand of $50 million.

Evans may call session on Monday

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. John Evans might announce Monday his decision on whether there will be a special session of the Idaho Legislature this year, a spokesman for the governor said Friday.

Evans had planned to reach a decision this week, but he didn't have enough time to evaluate the situation thoroughly before departing for Washington Wednesday, said Don Watkins, the chief executive's press secretary.

A governor's news conference has been scheduled tentatively for Monday, the morning after Evans' scheduled return from Washington. He went east to discuss energy and economic issues with federal officials, including President Carter.

Watkins said Evans wanted to make sure it would be worthwhile to call a special session before making a decision.

Evans and several state officials say a special session is needed to solve a looming, multi-million-dollar budget deficit in the Idaho Health and Welfare Department; generate more money for the Office of Energy; and raise taxes so the state Transportation Department can get back on construction schedule.

Republican leaders of the Legislature generally are opposed to the idea of a special session, although House Speaker Ralph Olmstead, R-Twin Falls, has acknowledged that Health and Welfare's Medicaid funding crunch needs to be addressed.

Carter wins 8 of 17 delegates from Idaho

President Carter early Friday won a narrow victory in Idaho's Democratic caucuses and expected to add to his commanding delegate lead this weekend with wins over Sen. Edward Kennedy in Oklahoma, Minnesota, Iowa, Mississippi and Virginia.

"Naturally, I would've liked to see the president get a few more delegates, but I feel the split... pretty much—represents the views of Idahoans and will reflect the mood of the state convention next June," Evans said.

Republican front-runner Ronald Reagan, who won 12 of North Dakota's 17 delegates Tuesday, was expected to add to his huge lead in Alaska and Minnesota this weekend.

Begin: U.S. promises mutual defense pact

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin told his associates President Carter is considering a mutual defense agreement with Israel, the state-run television reported Friday.

Carter brought up the issue during their summit talks in Washington, Begin said. He said he welcomed the idea but he proposed that the offer be made formally by Washington. Jerusalem would then accept it, he said.

In another report from its Washington-based correspondent, the network said the secret Israeli position paper handed to President Carter reflects no change in Begin's hard-line stance on Palestinian autonomy and has caused "disappointment" to leading U.S. and Egyptian officials.

"The paper insists that the elected council that will run the autonomous West Bank and Gaza district during the transitory five-year period of self-rule, may have no legislative powers and will have limited functional roles."

It also insists that Israel retain responsibility for internal security and defense and jurisdiction over some 20,000 Israelis who now reside on more than 100 settlements in the occupied West Bank and Gaza strip.

Economy GNP refuses to enter recession

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's economy, flirting with recession, slowed during the first three months of 1980 while energy costs kept inflation on the rise, the government said Friday.
"The statistical picture is one of an economy which peaked in January and then began to slide into recession," said Courtney Slater, the Commerce Department's chief economist.
Mrs. Slater commented after the department announced that the "real" Gross National Product — the total output of the nation's goods and services adjusted for inflation — grew at only a 1.1 percent annual rate in the first quarter of this year to $2.52 trillion.

This followed growth rates of 3.1 percent in the third quarter of last year and 2 percent in the fourth quarter.
Traditionally, economists have held that the country is not in a recession until the GNP declines for two consecutive quarters, and Friday's figures showed the economy was still growing, however slightly.

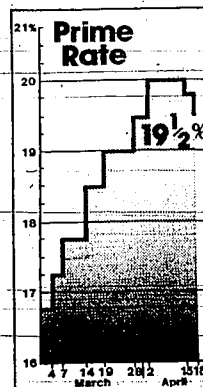

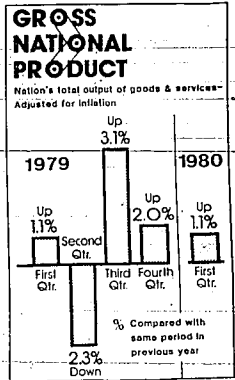

But Mrs. Slater said when economists take a look back at this period sometime in the future, they may well determine that the 1980 recession began during the first quarter.

"My guess is the recession started in February and March," she said.
As President Carter did in his Thursday news conference, she predicted the recession will be "moderate" and relatively short-lived.

Treasury Secretary G. William Miller said in Pittsburgh the nation's unemployment rate, currently 6.2 percent, would rise to 7.25 percent by year's end.
A substantial decline in home buying and net exports accounted for much of the slowdown in the January-March quarter.

Inflation, meantime, continued to pick up steam. The so-called Implicit Price Deflator — used to gauge inflation — rose 9.5 percent in the first quarter, up from last year's fourth-quarter rate of 8.4 percent rate.

Mrs. Slater said most of that increase was attributable to soaring energy prices. But she predicted energy costs will ease in the near future as will the overall inflation rate.

Prime drops again to 19 1/2%

NEW YORK (UPI) — The prime lending rate tumbled to 19 1/2 percent at most major banks Friday, a half point reduction from the all-time high 20 percent.

The drop is expected to give consumers new hope of lower interest rates ahead.
The rate retreat was disorderly: while the big bank majority moved to 19 1/2 percent, No. 2 ranked Citibank made a smaller reduction to 19 3/4 percent and many smaller banks retained the 20 percent rate first adopted two weeks ago.

But Friday's reductions confirmed the upward spiral in interest rates has been broken for the moment, with the major questions now being how far and how fast the lending charges will decline.

"I expect prime to be less than 13 percent by the end of the year," said Jack Lavery, chief economist of Provident National Bank of Philadelphia, one of those adopting the 19 1/2 percent prime Friday.
Still, Lavery cautioned he expected no "dramatic" decline in short-term interest rates for the next few months and he did not rule out fluctuations that might send rates momentarily higher again.

John F. McGillluddy, president of Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. of New York, the fourth largest bank, predicted interest rates this year will follow a sawtooth pattern of ups and downs but that "the general trend line will clearly be down." He forecast a 14 percent prime rate at year end.

The prime is the rate charged on short-term loans to top-rated business customers. As a result, consumers are not directly affected by the reductions but the rollbacks eventually will filter down to the consumer level.

The first major bank to adopt the 19 1/2 percent prime was No. 5 Morgan Guaranty Trust of New York. It soon was joined by No. 3 Chase Manhattan, which Wednesday was alone among major banks in posting a 19 1/2 percent prime, the first significant rollback from the prevailing 20 percent rate.

Outside of Citibank, nearly all the top 20 banks moved to the 19 1/2 percent rate. In a signal that further reductions are on the way, several big banks also reduced their broker loan rates on loans backed by securities as collateral.

Militia executes UN troops

© 1980, The Washington Post
JERUSALEM — Christian militiamen in southern Lebanon Friday ambushed an unarmed United Nations peacekeeping force convoy, abducted two Irish jeep drivers and later executed them and dumped their bodies near a U.N. position, officials of the U.N. headquarters said Friday night.

The murders were described by U.N. officials as vengeance killings for the deaths of two militiamen during a clash with U.N. troops on Saturday near the village of A-Tiri. After the fight, the militias demanded either 40,000 Lebanese pounds reparations or the bodies of any two members of the Irish Battalion of the U.N. peacekeeping force.

A U.N. spokesman here said the peacekeeping force's headquarters in Naqura had been assured earlier in the day by the Israeli army and by Maj. Saad Haddad, commander of the Israeli-supported Christian militia, that the abducted Irish soldiers were safe in the custody of the militias. ... Tensions between Haddad's militias, who are paid, equipped and advised by the Israeli army, and the Irish Battalion have been steadily rising in the past three weeks following a series of clashes in the area of southern Lebanon assigned to the Irish troops.

Must go directly to hosts Castro stalls refugee flights

By United Press International
Cuban President Fidel Castro has banned refugee flights to Costa Rica, posing tough new problems and extra delays for thousands of refugees on the trouble-filled "Freedom Bridge" airlift, Western diplomatic sources said in San Jose, Costa Rica Friday.

boys," one Western diplomatic source said in San Jose.
"I think Castro is very anxious to screw it up (the evacuation) by breaking up what may appear to the Cuban public as an easy way out," he said.

The first plane out of Havana Friday, a Spanish-owned SPANTAX DC-8, was 12 hours late in flying to Costa Rica with 188 refugees. The delay apparently was the result of a melee at Jose Marti Airport, where Costa Rican Consul Oscar Vargas, who was escorting the refugees, was punched through a plate glass window.

Some 746 Cubans had flown out of Havana by early afternoon, leaving 9,634 at the Peruvian embassy which was besieged by 10,388 refugees demanding asylum two weeks ago. The airlift started Tuesday.

No reason was given for Castro's order, but diplomats said they believed the Communist leader sought to disrupt the evacuation and discourage other Cubans from leaving by encouraging violence at Havana airport — where a refugee escort was punched through a plate-glass window Friday.

Anderson readies 3rd party

Saturday, April 10, 1980 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho A-3

By CLAY F. RICHARDS
UPI Staff Writer

While most of the candidates looking toward Pennsylvania — which could hold the last hurrah of the 1980 primaries Tuesday — John Anderson was in Washington plotting an independent run for the White House, Anderson, virtually out of the GOP race and not even on the Pennsylvania ballot, was on the verge of announcing he will run as an independent, liberal-alternative to Carter and Reagan.

"I am leaning strongly towards an independent candidacy, but I have not yet made a final decision," said Anderson. He was expected to make a formal announcement next week — in time to make the deadline to get on the ballot in New Jersey.

UPI learned a former national field director for Anderson's Republican campaign, James Fowler, has left to begin a petition drive to get Anderson on the ballot in Massachusetts.

Massachusetts — is — significant because it is one of two states with approaching deadlines to get on the ballot and one he must have if he has any hopes of winning the presidency.

Anderson's decision was boosted by a New York Times-CBS poll that showed fully half the voters were unhappy about being faced with a choice between Carter and Reagan in November.

Republican National Chairman Bill Brock pleaded with Anderson not to make a run that "obviously will have an enormously negative impact on Republican candidates at all levels."

"We've spent three years rebuilding the Republican Party ... and it is tragic to consider that a person who has been recognized as a leader in the party would consider any action that would endanger those efforts," Brock said.

As front-running President Carter and Ronald Reagan continued to pile up delegates in caucuses held around the nation, challengers Edward Kennedy and George Bush stumped Pennsylvania in what could be a final effort to keep their slumping campaigns alive.

Bush, Kennedy and White House stand-ins for Carter planned a weekend rally in Pennsylvania while Reagan was scheduled to return to the state Sunday for a final two days of campaigning.

While Bush was attempting to block the Reagan steamroller in Pennsylvania, it was rolling freely in just about every other part of the country.

Reagan picked up 42 of North Dakota's 17 delegates Thursday and was favored to add to his huge lead in Alaska and Minnesota this weekend. In addition he was endorsed by Nevada Gov. Robert List and in perhaps the severest blow to Bush, liberal Sen. Jacob Javits and other moderate GOP leaders in New York all came out for the former California governor.

That means Bush is likely to have only six of New York's big 123 member delegation. But he did gain the endorsement of Gov. William G. Milliken of Michigan, who conceded Bush's nomination was a longshot.

"The Democratic contest," Carter Friday won a narrow victory in Idaho's Democratic caucuses and expected to add to his commanding delegate lead this weekend with wins over Kennedy in Oklahoma, Minnesota, Iowa, Mississippi and Virginia.

Entering the weekend Carter had a total of 942 delegates, compared to Kennedy's 479.5 and 30.5 uncommitted. A total of 1,666 is needed for the nomination.

Reagan has 513 delegates, Bush 79 and Anderson 56. A candidate needs 998 delegates for the GOP nomination.

Death 2 sentenced in Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham signed James David Raulerson's death warrant Friday, one of two he signed that day, and the news crackled out over police radios all over Jacksonville.

On April 27, 1975, nearly five years ago, Raulerson shot and killed 23-year-old Patrolman Michael D. Stewart during a 90-second shootout following a Sunday night robbery at the Sallmaker Restaurant.

Stewart's friends on the police force felt so strongly about Raulerson that they had 12 shirts silk-screened last summer after John Spenklink's execution, saying, "Raulerson, You're Next."

Raulerson, 30, and an accomplice, Jerry Tant, robbed Jacksonville's Sallmaker Restaurant in 1975, raped a waitress, and became involved in a gun battle with police. Officer Michael Stewart and Tant were killed.

Stewart's father, Jack Stewart, said he was "real pleased" with the news. He asked the governor's office for permission to witness the execution even before the warrant was signed, he said, and was told it would be granted.

"I want to be there and see him die," Stewart said. "I want to make sure he's gone. Not that I think the state would try to hide it. It's just something I promised my son on his grave."

Brown also signed a death warrant for John Paul Witt.

Witt, 37, and Gary Tillman kidnapped Jonathan Kushner in 1973 in Hillsborough County north of Tampa as the boy walked to a candy store. A sheriff's deputy testified that Witt and Tillman had stalked Jonathan "like a hunter after a wild animal."

They gagged and bound the boy and threw him into the trunk of a car where he suffocated. The men proceeded to sexually assault and mutilate his body.

Tillman pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life in prison in exchange for his testimony against Witt.

Sears promotion gets more than expected

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sears, Roebuck & Co., seeking 20 child models, decided to make the search a contest by inviting customers to submit pictures of their children. But the retailer forgot to consider the enthusiasm of stage parents.

Parents hoping to immortalize their offspring in the pages of a kiddie costume section of the Sears catalog flooded Sears with more than 200,000 pictures.

"We had entry blanks in the stores and expected we'd get maybe 15,000 to 50,000 entries," said Robert Jones, Sears national director of catalog sales.

They got 25,000 the first day.

"We received pictures of kids laughing, crying, sitting, standing, lying down, dressed up, dressed-down and in the buff," Robert Jones said. "We have some sitting on the toilet and in the bathtub — every pose you could think of."

The effort, officials said, was to create customer excitement with the contest.

But the effect may have been more like frenzy.

One Miami Fla. mother called Sears April 10, the last day of the contest, to ask how she could get her child into the act.

"At 4 p.m. (closing time) or just a few minutes before, a courier came into the office with her pictures. She had hired a courier to fly the pictures here to beat the deadline."

Mustard-clad ladies caught

LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Three young women dressed only in mustard made off with a United Parcel Service truck parked on a usually quiet street in Lansing's suburbs, police reported Friday.

"I have to say that only in Lansing Township could something like this happen," township police Sgt. John Dranchuck said.

Township officers Thursday answered a report that three naked women had been spotted outside the home they share on a suburban street.

Upon arriving, officers saw a UPS truck rumbling down the block, its agitated driver giving chase on foot.

"The officers stopped the truck and determined it had just been stolen by the ladies," a township police spokeswoman said.

Inside the truck, they said, were Charlene Roper, 27, Doshaline McCuin, 30, and Sandra Lewis, 25 — all naked and all smeared with mustard.

New CIA charter revamped

WASHINGTON — The Senate Intelligence Committee plans to abandon its controversial charter bill for the CIA and rush into drafting sessions next week with an abbreviated new proposal.

The committee does not intend to hold any hearings on the substitute proposal for fear that any further delay will wipe out any chance for enactment this year.

The original 172-page proposal, introduced Feb. 8 by Sen. Walter Huddleston, D-Ky., after several years of dickerings with the administration, was assailed from all sides. Critics of the CIA denounced the extent of intrusive spying it would permit, along with other provisions that would cloak the CIA with more secrecy than ever. Advocates of a freer hand for the agency maintained that the bill was still too restrictive.

The contents of the new proposal have yet to be disclosed, but they are expected to include some sort of cutback in the Freedom of Information Act, criminal penalties for disclosing the names of CIA operatives, and less reporting in Congress about the CIA's covert actions.

Sources said some provisions designed to reinforce the rights of Americans against intrusive spying also may be included in an effort to allay the fears of civil libertarians.

The administration, with the CIA serving as its spokesman, opposed Huddleston's original bill primarily because it would have required prior notice to the Senate and House Intelligence committees of CIA covert actions and because it would have guaranteed the two committees access to whatever after-the-fact information they might demand to ensure adequate congressional oversight.

Backstage negotiations with the Carter administration over the shape of the new bill, especially the extent of congressional oversight of intelligence activities, were reportedly still under way, but sources said this week that final agreement is expected shortly.

UI Iranians to stay north

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — Seven Iranian university students stranded in Canada since the U.S. broke diplomatic relations with Iran were denied permission to re-enter the country by the State Department Friday.

Five of the Iranians were on a field trip to Canada with a University of Idaho architecture class when President Carter announced the diplomatic break April 7. The students were forbidden the next day to re-enter the U.S.

Two Iranians enrolled at Washington State University also were denied permission to return to the U.S. "From Canada," said Tom Marquis, a State Department spokesman at the American consulate in Vancouver, British Columbia.

Marquis declined to give a reason for the denials.

The seven Iranians will have to leave Canada if the Canadian government does not renew their visas, which expire April 30, Marquis added.

A sixth UI Iranian student originally detained in Canada was allowed to return to Moscow, a north Idaho city, because he was married to an American.

Personal belongings of the UI Iranians will be sent to them in Canada by friends at Moscow.

Maine prison lockdown continues

THOMASTON, Maine (UPI) — Independent observers Friday toured the Maine State Prison for the first time since the start of a "lockdown" and massive cell-by-cell search which has uncovered clubs, knives and other weapons.

Transfer of prisoners to alleviate overcrowding also began.

"An assortment of homemade knives, homemade clubs, razorblade-type knives, blackjacks and nunchucks were found," said Corrections Director and Acting Warden Donald Allen.

A nunchuck is a Chinese weapon consisting of two clubs tied together with rawhide.

Gov. Joseph E. Brennan Wednesday ordered a "lockdown" of the prison for a thorough search for weapons and contraband, claiming the facility was "dominated by 'bullies' and posed a potential for disaster."

CHICAGO (UPI) — Caesar the fire dog, an aging and arthritic Dalmatian who followed his human buddies into burning buildings and loyally joined them in Chicago's first fire strike, has been given the axe.

A lieutenant who worked during the strike and expressed anger over the lack of rapport with strikers complained about the dog and firefighters have until Saturday to get Caesar out of the North Side firehouse. "It's just a form of intimidation," said one firefighter at Engine Co. 22 where Caesar has become a legend. "He's been a faithful, loyal and a good fire dog. He went on strike."

"Now the strike is over and he's sold. They say 'there's amnesty for firemen. How come there's none for a faithful fire dog?'"

Fire Commissioner Richard Albrecht Friday ordered an investigation but Caesar's eviction notice was not immediately stayed. Caesar has given part of an ear in defense of the firehouse and on more than one occasion has nearly given his life.

He was run over by the firehouse ambulance when he fell asleep in front of its wheels.

On another occasion, when he was hit by a car, his paramedic friends took him to a hospital where doctors who knew Caesar — performed life-saving surgery and sent him back to the firehouse to recuperate.

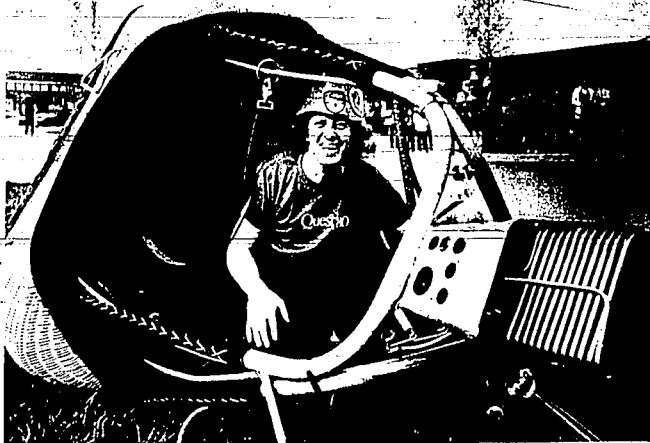

During his nine-year tenure, Caesar has been a working dog of noble reputation — always first on the truck, nose held high and nostrils flaring as the engine raved to the scene of fires. He often would dash into burning buildings after his colleagues — to make sure they came out.

"He's spent his entire life in this firehouse," said Faber. "Where's he going to go? Are they just going to kick the old guy out onto the street or send him over to the Humane Society where they'll put him to sleep? This is Caesar's domain. He has a right to stay here."

One of Faber's colleagues was more emphatic.

"We'll do something to stop it," he vowed. "I personally will throw myself in front of the firehouse door. I'll handcuff myself to the dog — but I won't let him get thrown out."

Lloyd Sumner prepares the balloon that will take him on the first leg of a trip around the world using all possible, and some impossible, vehicles

Unusual world-wide trip set

RINER, Va. (UPI) — An unconventional Virginia man set out in a hot-air balloon Friday on the first leg of a round-the-globe journey in which he plans to use every conceivable means of transportation, and then some.

The balloon took Lloyd Sumner the first two miles of what he expects will be a two-year, 200,000-mile odyssey by air, land and sea. Sumner landed the balloon on a farm in the tiny community of Union Valley northeast of Blair, where more than 100 hometown neighbors saw him off earlier in the day.

He chatted with the farm owner, C.W. Dickerson, hopped on a 15-speed bicycle and began pedaling "in the direction of Houston."

According to plan, the three-week leg to Texas will be covered by bicycle, skateboard, roller skates and private plane. Sumner says he will ride an ostrich in Africa, a camel in the Sahara Desert and a rickshaw in Asia.

He will try to catch a ride aboard a private submarine off California. He also plans to travel by hang-glider, hansom and a wind-powered tricycle. Sumner, 36, who graduated from the University of Virginia with an engineering degree, said he will travel to the Antarctic by ship, across the trans-Siberian railroad, take rails on the tributaries of the Amazon River and go "monkey-style" through the jungles of Africa, hopping tree to tree without touching the ground for 100 miles at a time.

Why? "Why not? I can't think of anything."

I'd rather do for the next two years. If I can make someone laugh and say, 'Look at that dumb guy,' for just one moment so he can forget about inflation or impending war, then it's worth it," said Sumner.

Carter waits on allies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter will decide on the next phase of action against Iran once U.S. allies make their positions clear and the Tehran government responds to his newest sanctions, officials said Friday.

"We will have to make a judgment, at a time of our choosing, about whether or not we go the next step," a White House official said.

The president privately has told allies he expects them to move by mid-May or he will increase U.S. pressure against Iran.

Officials have said the most likely military action would be a blockade of the Persian Gulf or mining Iran's ports. Either move would cut off Iranian oil supplies and goods to the allies as well as hurting Iran.

One high-level White House staff member said of Carter: "It's his belief that there is no other course open to us."

He said that "only in the face of this sort of pressure have they (Iranians) been willing to act."

Ally support seems possible

LONDON (UPI) — Momentum in favor of some action against Iran seemed to be building within the nine-nation European Economic Community despite an Iranian warning Friday that Western Europe would suffer the most from a trade cut-off.

But the outcome of next week's EEC foreign ministers' meeting in Luxembourg was still impossible to forecast. Much depends on France, which so far has been cool to the idea of breaking diplomatic and trade relations.

Both Britain and West Germany have indicated they would support President Carter, but want to act within an EEC framework. However, they have not ruled out unilateral action if the EEC is unable to agree on a joint position.

Japan has said it will align its policies with those of the EEC, but it was not said what it would do if the European nations cannot reach an agreement.

Danish Prime Minister Anker Jorgensen said Friday his government was prepared to join in an economic boycott if the other EEC members decide to impose one.

Denmark relies on Iran for nearly 16 percent of its oil imports.

Portugal, a prospective EEC member, went ahead on its own Thursday and became America's first NATO ally to impose sanctions against Iran. It prohibited all trade and financial links with Tehran until the American hostages are released.

In Brussels, Iranian charge d'affaires Shapur Mohtazeb told reports his government had intended to shift trade from America to Western European nations and Japan in the wake of the U.S. trade embargo, but warned this wouldn't happen if these countries imposed economic sanctions.

"If the Europeans back the boycott, that will be contrary to their own interests," he said, warning that Iran would cut the oil supplies of any country imposing economic sanctions against it.

"The EEC gets almost seven percent of its oil imports from Iran. The proportion is about double that in West Germany."

Hostage's family sets trip

PARIS (UPI) — Determined to visit their Marine hostage son and give him "strength and courage" despite President Carter's ban on travel to Iran, Kenneth and Barbara Timm of Oak Creek, Wis., checked out of a Paris hotel Friday and headed for the airport.

It was not known whether airport authorities would allow the Timms to board a flight for Iran. Carter's order Thursday made their passports invalid for travel to Iran unless they received an exemption from a reluctant State Department.

Such an exemption was sought earlier Friday. At the White House, press secretary Jody Powell said the administration was concerned "this family would be very cynically used and manipulated" by the Iranians. But he added, "We're not going to physically restrain hostage families from going. We couldn't if we wanted to."

The couple Friday obtained visas from the Iranian Embassy in Paris to visit Tehran, where they hope to be permitted to see their son, the youngest of the 50 hostages being held.

Alluding to Carter's of possible military action, Mrs. Timm said: "If he must die as a result of military action, then he must not die with the feeling of abandonment of family and country," she said.

Families ask Europe for support

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Families of the American hostages asked the people and governments of Europe Friday to "go beyond verbal condemnations" of Iran and do their part in pressuring Tehran to free the captives.

The families issued the public appeal at a news conference at the State Department.

Israel attacks PLO

By United Press International
Israeli commandos attacked a Palestinian guerrilla base on the Lebanese coast Friday in retaliation for a terrorist strike against an Israeli frontier settlement, inflicting casualties and heavy damage.

Reports in Beirut, Lebanon, said 17 guerrillas were killed or wounded and heavy damage was inflicted in the raid on the Palestinian camp near Sarafand, 33 miles south of Beirut. The Israeli command said the raiding force killed six guerrillas and suffered two men slightly wounded in the overnight action, which they described as about 20 miles north of the border.

Reports by travelers in Lebanon said Israeli warships shelled the camp, run by the radical Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, after the raiders pulled out.

Although Israeli forces entered southern Lebanon in strength last week, the raid marked the first Israeli action of its kind since Aug. 23, 1979.

Diplomats in Beirut said the Israeli raid was in retaliation for the April 7 attack against a kibbutz at Misgav-Am in which three Israelis and five terrorists were killed.

Khomeini: Arm against U.S. moves

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — In a speech broadcast to his nation Friday, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini scoffed at President Carter's economic sanctions and told Iranians to arm themselves and prepare for a guerrilla war should the United States take military action against Iran.

In Washington, Carter conferred with his advisers to assess Iran's reaction to the additional sanctions he imposed Thursday. In Tehran, Khomeini did the same, meeting with President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr and other aides to discuss the hostage crisis and the increasingly bitter dispute with Iraq.

President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr said Friday that Iran would "resist" new U.S. sanctions and accused President Carter of complicating the hostage crisis by "tomorrow" "more hate" here against the United States.

Khomeini also reiterated his call for the overthrow of Iraqi President Saddam Hussein and said "do not be beset by fears because... we are not afraid of an economic blockade."

More worrisome for the Iranian leadership than the U.S. sanctions is the prospect that Washington's Western allies would adopt similar measures against Iran to bring pressure for the release of the 50 American hostages. Iranians now appear to be taking that prospect seriously, and gone is the self-congratulatory air that Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and his followers adopted when the United States cut diplomatic relations and declared economic sanctions April 7.

"These threats will do him no good," Bani-Sadr said of Carter. "I don't think a wise person would do this sort of thing."

Bani-Sadr added: "Maybe he cares for the 50 hostages, which I doubt. Economic blockade and military attack will make saving them more difficult, not easier."

Of President Carter and America's efforts to line up allied support for the sanctions, Khomeini said: "Carter's main concern is to be president for another four years in order to commit crimes for another four years."

"This is all he wants and it seems that he has failed to realize this goal. He is indulging in impossible economic blockade. You see that nobody has responded to him."

"The great powers know they should not launch an attack 'now' (but), although this possibility is slim, it is still a possibility," Khomeini said.

Tito's health turns for worse

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI) — Doctors said Friday that President Josip Broz Tito's condition has suddenly worsened, with new liver and stomach problems pushing the 87-year-old leader closer to death.

Along with stomach bleeding, jaundice and a bad liver, Tito is suffering from total kidney failure, a persistent high fever, pneumonia and heart trouble.

"It looks like the most serious crisis in weeks," said a Western diplomat, who has been closely following the daily medical bulletins ever since Tito was hospitalized Jan. 3.

What's what

Largest hailstone only one to fall on town

Largest hailstone on record weighed 1 1/2 pounds. The various record books show it fell in Potter, Neb., on July 16, 1938. Weight of the thing was noteworthy enough and widely publicized. But also noteworthy, though less well reported, was the fact that it was the only hailstone to fall in Potter that day.

It's against the law in Zanibar to wear bell-bottomed trousers. Why? Some reason it's against the law there to wear shorts or miniskirts. Such costumes are seen as a corrupting western influence. The specific bell-bottom trouser limitation decrees the pants' bottom must not be more than 18 inches in circumference.

RECORDED POEMS

A recording studio in Belgium's Brussels caters to romantic fellows who want to cut records of their own poetry recitations to be given to their ladyfriends. Included on the disks, as you might imagine, oftentimes are large promises and even matrimonial proposals. The studio assures its clients that nothing said will be binding. The recordings are made on a sort of plastic. The sound waves completely within a year.

Scholars say William Shakespeare thought of himself as a poet, not a playwright. He felt his poems were his art, they say, and his plays just a way to make a living.

PAPER CLIPS

Start with 100,000 paper clips. Only about 20,000 of these will be used to hold papers together. Some 14,163 will be twisted up during phone talks. Another 19,143 will be used as clips in card games. Figure 7,200 will be clipped to garments. About 5,434 will serve as toothpicks or scratchers. Count on 5,308 working as fingernail cleaners. Another 3,916 will become pipe cleaners. And approximately 25,000 will get lost. This forecast is based on what happened to 100,000 paperclips which no less than Lloyds of London traced in a study of the matter.

False burglar alarm total toned down 33%

Qualls points out that employee errors around alarms in six months dropped drastically because of $15 fine

By MARTY TRILLHAASE
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The number of false burglar alarm calls caused by employee negligence at Twin Falls businesses has dropped almost 33 percent in the last six months.

Twin Falls Police credit that drop to a $15 fee charged for such false alarms. The fee, which is charged to alarm contractors who in turn bill their clients, has been in effect since October 1979.

About 70 false alarms caused by employees were reported in October 1979. By March, the number had dropped to 37. The figure does not include the number of alarms immediately reported by businesses as false, a practice that the department encourages by waiving the $15 fee.

The total number of false alarms has dropped, but not as much, with 136 alarms reported in October and 121 reported in March. In all, alarms continue to be false about 55 percent of the time.

Most false alarms are caused by equipment malfunctions. The number of malfunctions during the last six months has remain unchanged, averaging about 70 per month. With the decrease in employee negligence-related false alarms, alarms caused by malfunction now account for 67 percent of all alarms reported. Some of those alarms may in fact be due to employee negligence, Qualls said.

"There's a gray area," Qualls said. "I'm sure in my own mind that a lot of malfunctions are caused by employees or janitorial staff that have left the scene before the officer arrives."

Qualls said his belief is based on most malfunctions occurring when businesses open and close. Employee-related false alarms typically occur during that time, he noted.

Police are increasingly scrutinizing those alarms, but as yet have formed no new plans to deal with malfunctions.

Police had two major reasons in asking the City Council to impose the $15 charge for false alarms, a problem that has grown as more businesses installed the devices. About 150 businesses in Twin Falls now subscribe to the service.

First, each alarm summons at least three police officers to respond. Responses average about 20 minutes, meaning one hour of police time is wasted on a false alarm.

Moreover, a high percentage of false alarms may lead police officers to regard all alarms in a casual light. National statistics show a high percentage of police deaths are caused by false alarms, Qualls said.

CSI women's dean position is being eliminated June 1

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho will no longer have a dean of women as of June 1.

Dr. Adele Thompson, who has held that position since 1956, will end her duties as dean of women with the close of the present school term.

Gerald Meyerhoeffer, assistant to the college president, said Dr. Thompson will remain with the college, however, and will be teaching in the business department.

"We have a vacancy there, and she just happens to be an excellent business instructor," Meyerhoeffer said.

He said most other colleges have long since eliminated deans of women and deans of men. CSI, he said, has not had a dean of men for years. In the future, David Perkins, serving as dean of student personnel, will handle the assignment for all students.

Meyerhoeffer said this is one of the college's economy measures. He said right now the college is holding some 10 faculty contracts and has not determined if they will be continued in the coming year.

"We are like all of the other tax supported agencies," Meyerhoeffer said. "We are suffering an economic pinch."

He said while the college may have some exemption under the 1 percent tax limitations, education as a whole in Idaho has been suffering from funding shortages for several years. These are getting more and more critical, he added.

The requirement for backing up decisions will result in city councils relying increasingly on their city attorneys, he said.

"I don't mind writing down my reasons but how am I to know what's legal without the city attorney and he then is telling me how to vote," Wubker said.

Wubker said he has no plans to challenge the ruling, but added he would change his decision because it is deemed legally indefensible. "I will write down my decisions whether they are legally defensible or whether they are right and let the people judge for themselves our legal process," he said.

Zoning order may weaken council

TWIN FALLS — A recent Idaho Supreme Court decision requiring city councils to justify in print zoning decisions will erode Idaho cities' zoning authority, Councilman Alan Wubker said.

Responding to a Times-News editorial, Wubker Friday said the decision will not necessarily mean better zoning decisions made at the city council level. Instead, it will limit councils in their ability to follow the wishes of the voters, Wubker said.

Although the courts have always had final say in zoning disputes, the decision implies the courts will be in a position to dictate to councils in advance, Wubker said. To deal with that, city officials will be forced to involve city attorneys more in the decision making process, he said.

Wubker said the court decision violates the separation of power between the legislative and judicial branches.

"The City Council is the lawmaker. We make the laws. The judges uphold the laws," he said. "You don't see the state Legislature just writing down their reasons for voting. If a court wants to know our reasons, then we should be subpoenaed."

What's more, by requiring the documentation, the courts are setting guidelines that force councils into a judicial role, he said. If that trend continues, councils may find themselves unable to follow the wishes of the electorate, he said.

"A judge writes down his decision. I don't look at it as being a judge. I look at it as a jury, a jury of our peers," he said.

The state Supreme Court ruling is another in a string of decisions that have limited Idaho city councils' authority in zoning matters, Wubker said. That means more zoning decisions will be decided in terms of what is legal, rather than what is best for the community, he said.

The requirement for backing up decisions will result in city councils relying increasingly on their city attorneys, he said.

"I don't mind writing down my reasons but how am I to know what's legal without the city attorney and he then is telling me how to vote," Wubker said.

Wubker said he has no plans to challenge the ruling, but added he would change his decision because it is deemed legally indefensible. "I will write down my decisions whether they are legally defensible or whether they are right and let the people judge for themselves our legal process," he said.

April water outlook predicts adequate supply south of Snake

TWIN FALLS — Areas south of the Snake River should have adequate irrigation water for the coming season, based on the April Idaho Water outlook report.

The report, prepared by Jack A. Wilson, snow survey supervisor for Idaho, and his staff, shows some northern Idaho areas are below normal in snow and water measurements and reservoirs are low.

However south of the Snake River watersheds are above to well above normal with the Upper Snake River and Wyoming areas near to slightly above. The report shows all reservoirs on the Upper Snake River to American Falls are expected to fill this spring. Snow water equivalents in southern Idaho range from 95 percent of average on the Little Lost River watershed to 133 percent of normal on Jordan Creek drainage, a tributary of the Owyhee River.

For the Wood Rivers, the SCS finds water content of the snow pack on Fish Creek is 123 percent of normal with excellent runoff expected and the reservoir expected to fill. Snow cover on the Little Wood drainage is 115 percent of average with a forecast for the spring and summer months of 112 percent of average water supplies.

On the Big Wood watershed the report shows 97 percent of normal moisture with a forecast of 86 percent of normal summer and spring supply.

Magie Reservoir contains only 38 percent of normal and 26 percent of capacity. Filling of Magie Reservoir could be marginal, the report says, depending on weather conditions and irrigation demands during the runoff season.

The forecast for Raft River is for slightly below average runoff from a snow pack that is just about normal. Goose and Trapper Creeks should have about 105 percent of normal runoff with 110 percent of average snow and water content. These streams feed Oakley reservoir which now has 129 percent of normal. It is 57 percent filled and expected to fill depending on weather and irrigation demands.

Salmon Falls Creek watersheds have a snow pack showing 123 percent of normal. The forecast is for 116 percent of average runoff. Although the reservoir will not fill, there will be an adequate water supply in storage, the SCS says. As of April 1, the reservoir was only 30 percent full and 85 percent of average for this time of year.

The Bruneau River watersheds show 118 percent of average water content with a 109 percent of normal runoff anticipated.

In the Upper Snake River where the principal water supplies for Magic Valley farmers originate, the report shows 95 percent of average water in the snow pack. The inflow for Pallasades Reservoir is estimated to reach about 97 percent of normal during spring and summer months.

The combined contents of the five major reservoirs on the Snake above American Falls is 109 percent of average and 89 percent of capacity. All of these reservoirs are expected to fill.

Tisdale gets 10 years for manslaughter

TWIN FALLS — Charles Patrick Tisdale, 33, of Twin Falls, was sentenced Friday to 10 years in the Idaho State Penitentiary on a voluntary manslaughter charge.

Tisdale was originally charged with second-degree murder in the Jan. 18, 1979, shooting death of David Nylander, 27, of Boise.

A District Court Jury found Tisdale guilty of voluntary manslaughter following a trial last May. The court delayed sentencing for a pre-sentence investigation.

Tisdale was charged with the fatal shooting of Nylander two years ago when he came home and found his wife and Nylander in the latter's vehicle in the driveway of the Tisdale home.

Testimony in the case stated the Tisdales had been in a Twin Falls bar and Mrs. Tisdale became upset and decided to walk home. Nylander offered her a ride and they had arrived at the Tisdale home when the defendant drove in.

Testimony in the trial indicated Nylander was shot through the neck with a .22 caliber bullet and was pronounced dead at the scene.

During the preliminary hearing and District Court trial, taped recordings of interviews with the defendant and his wife, made shortly after the shooting, were played for the court and jury.

Bruce says coal-fired plants will come

Power company president James Bruce emphasizes point Friday

By RON ZELLAR
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Conservation alone will not forestall Idaho's need for coal-fired generating plants, an Idaho Power Co. official said Friday.

Idaho Power will announce plans soon for a conservation program that includes weatherization incentives, company President James Bruce said during a visit with Magic Valley media.

He said the new program is being devised in cooperation with the Idaho Public Utilities Commission, which last week criticized the utility for not directing enough effort toward conservation.

Bruce added, however, that conservation is one of the utility's two biggest problems—population influx and the installation of heat pumps in older homes.

It takes 10 people cutting their power use by 10 percent to erase the additional load required to serve one new customer, he noted. And newcomers have been arriving in Idaho at the rate of 10,000 a year.

Bruce declined to name a target date or a preferred site for a coal-fired plant in Idaho. Both decisions, he said, will depend more on economic and political factors than on engineering requirements.

"I can't promise you this," he said. "The decision will not be made in a vacuum."

The utility recently rejected requests for a 40-megawatt load near Challis and a 7-megawatt load near Elko. Together, he said, the two firms would have consumed the entire output of one of several low-head hydroelectric plants proposed on the Snake River.

Idaho politics

Jones raises, spends more campaign money than Hansen

BOISE (UPI) — Republican congressional challenger Jim Jones is outcollecting and outspending George Hansen, the GOP incumbent going for a sixth term in the House.

Mailed to the Federal Elections Commission — with an April 15 postmark — the last allowable day — Hansen's first-quarter campaign report showed he took in $5,613 while spending $17,394. A copy of the report was received at the Idaho secretary of State's office today.

Jones, a Jerome attorney, attempting for a second time to knock Hansen out of office, listed collections of $13,215 and expenses of $33,230. A copy of his report arrived in Boise Tuesday.

Subtotals of contributions received from individuals showed Jones with a $3,215 to $1,583 edge over Hansen. As part of the total contribution figures, Jones poured in $10,000 of his own money, while Hansen reported receiving $4,030 from a national political committee aiding the re-election efforts of Republican congressmen.

Jones vowed earlier this week not to accept donations from such political action groups, and he blasted Hansen for sending out his two allowed congressional mass mailings just before the 60-day pre-primary deadline. He said this was "electronicering at the taxpayer's expense."

Hansen's campaign, however, is in much better financial shape than that of Jones, according to the reports.

Of the $33,230 Jones funneled into his campaign during the three months, $30,000 came out of his own pocket — $10,000 in direct contributions and $20,000 recorded as a loan to his campaign committee, in effect to himself.

Hansen, meantime, started the period with $13,275 in his coffers and ended up March 31 with $1,508 heading into the last eight weeks of the primary campaign.

He beat Jones handily in the 1978 GOP 2nd District primary.

WRD cannot change water use

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's Water Resources Department lacks authority to grant changes in the nature of water use, the state Supreme Court ruled Friday.

The justices upheld the decision of 8th District Judge Francis J. Rasmussen, who had agreed with Georgetown Irrigation District in its dispute with Beker Industries Inc.

Beker had petitioned the department for permission to change the purpose of use, point of diversion and place of use of its water right in Bear Lake County, Beker acquired the water right through ownership of stock in the Irrigation District.

The district opposed Beker's request, saying the point of diversion and place of use were not within its system and therefore its approval had to be obtained before the change. It also asserted that the department had no power to grant a change in water use.

The high court said the department, as an administrative agency, lacked statutory power to grant a request for change in use. The justices said the Legislature had given the department authority to grant changes only in point of diversion and place of use.

The Supreme Court declined to address the question of whether Beker's application needed prior approval from the Irrigation District — meaning the district judge's decision stood.

Idaho tax payments remain high

BOISE (UPI) — Although the pinch of layoffs, high interest rates and inflation are felt by Idahoans, the number of citizens unable to pay their taxes has not increased, says a state tax official.

Steve Miller, head of the operations office of the State Tax Commission, said Friday about 150 Idahoans have submitted state tax returns without payments.

Miller said the agency receives a number of returns minus payments each year, but the amount this year has not increased to date over previous periods.

He said he does not anticipate the number will increase with the opening of the some 90,000 returns the office receives after the April 15 mailing deadline.

The Oregon state tax department reported the number of taxpayers submitting tax returns without payments has tripled in the past three years.

Miller said the office sends taxpayers who do not submit tax payments a notice and lacks on a 5 percent penalty for late payments. He said the agency used several different legal methods in pursuing payment — from taxpayers who avoided it, but such cases were few.

Church charges Symms with 'politics of deception'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Idaho Sen. Frank Church Friday charged Rep. Steve Symms with "practicing the politics of deception" by trying to link the passage of the River of No Return Wilderness bill with the closure of several Idaho sawmills.

"The lumber companies themselves have acknowledged that layoffs have not been due to a lack of logs, but to the collapse of the housing and construction industry, which is due to record interest rates," Church said.

The Idaho Democrat said the key to re-opening the mills is the lowering of interest rates.

As for the River of No Return Wilderness bill, Church said, U.S. Forest Service statistics show the allowable cut of timber in the six affected national forests will increase by four million board feet as a result of the bill's passage.

Also this week, Church threw his support behind a measure that would eliminate President Carter's proposed tariff on imported oil.

Carter's plan to impose a $4.62 per barrel tariff on imported oil is expected to increase gasoline prices by 10 cents per gallon at the pump.

Church added he would like any legislation offered by Carter to consider the tariff into an outright tax and would seek to exempt farmers and gasoline from such a tax if it shows signs of passing.

North Idaho College student found hanged in county jail

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI) — A 19-year-old Micronesian student at North Idaho College was found hanged by his neck early Friday in a cell at the Kootenai County Jail in Coeur d'Alene.

The student was arrested shortly after 2 a.m. Friday for his involvement in a knife altercation on the North Idaho College campus, police said.

Lack of support forces halt to Lemhi recall effort

SALMON (UPI) — Lack of popular support has forced a group seeking to recall the three Lemhi County commissioners to abandon the effort.

Recall supporters said they collected 560 of the required 906 before the deadline, but were told that "if our goal was made," said recall leader Denis Morgan. "The people want responsive, fair and open government.

"We don't need a Sun Valley-type airport. The people don't want or need a bigger airport with more rules, more government control or another layer of bureaucracy," Morgan said.

The recall proponents were unhappy that commissioners Louie Delnick, James Ellsworth and Don O'Neal had not reappointed the county and fully audited the accounts of Airport Board officers. They also said the commission was unfair in its consideration of the proposed airport expansion project, which has yet to be started.

Flags missing from 30-foot flagpole

TWIN FALLS — An ambitious thief climbed 30 feet up a flag pole to steal two flags, police reported Thursday.

Roger Brothers Seed Co., 606 Washington Street, reported an American flag, 9 feet by 12 feet, and an Idaho flag, 6 feet by 12 feet, were removed sometime during the night from in front of the building. To reach the ropes supporting the flags, it would be necessary to climb the pole for about 30 feet, the company officials said. Loss was estimated at about $200.

Another burglary under investigation Thursday was reported at 148 Austin Ave. Linda Heinrich told police someone entered her former residence and took camping and sports equipment, a tent, bicycle and other items. The owner estimated total value of the missing merchandise at $1,125. Heinrich said the items were taken between April 12 and April 17. Also missing were a number of drug items from the family medicine supply.

OSHA to review Anniversary parade approval tentative

OSHA (UPI) — Housing standards for migrant and seasonal farmworkers now come under the jurisdiction of the U.S. Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration, the department's Seattle office announced Friday.

Requirements for existing migrant housing built to the department's Employment and Training Administration standards remain unchanged, said Don Balcer, Northwest regional administrator of OSHA.

TWIN FALLS — The city got tentative approval Friday from the state highway department to hold its planned parade and to decorate the Ferrine Bridge during the 75th anniversary celebration.

Howard Johnson, from the Shoshone office of the highway department, attended the Friday morning meeting of the 75th anniversary planning committee. He told about 15 people attending the meeting that he saw no problem with the plan to use Blue Lakes Boulevard for a parade, as long as a detour is provided for people who need to drive through town.

Mayor Hank Woodall said city police would be available to direct traffic to an alternate route.

Johnson also said the city could put up a flag display along the Ferrine Bridge but will not be allowed to put up any decorations that would distract drivers.

"Twin Falls' Diamond Jubilee will be held during the first two weeks of June."

QUESTION...

I served in both World War I and World War II. Will a burial allowance for each period of service be paid to my survivors by the Veterans Administration?

ANSWER...

No. The Veterans Administration may pay up to but not more than $450.00 toward the funeral and burial expenses of a wartime veteran whose death was not service connected. Up to $1,000.00 may be paid if death is proven to be service connected. There are no dual survivors rights nor benefits payable because of your service in both wars. You may have retained your World War I U.S. Government Life Insurance as well as your World War II National Service Life Insurance but these are not benefits.

Other benefits in addition to those allowances include entitlement to a grave space in a National Cemetery for you or your wife, or cash allowance of a grave marker in a private cemetery for you alone.

Former mayor of Oakley dies

BLACKFOOT (UPI) — Blackfoot Mayor Arthur C. Bergener died of cancer while sleeping early Friday morning.
Blackfoot Memorial Hospital officials said the first-term Republican mayor was admitted Monday afternoon for treatment of exhaustion and influenza, which "apparently" were spurred along by his cancer.
Bergener, who was 67, first underwent treatment for cancer in August 1979.
During the last few months of his life, Bergener often worked at city business, was strapped to a green oxygen bottle that had been wheeled into his office.
Bergener, elected by a 2-1 margin in November 1977, also was mayor of Oakley in 1964-67.
He was survived by his wife of 46 years, Opal, and nine children.
City Councilman Tedd Lott took over as acting mayor Friday. He said the council would appoint a new mayor Monday following Bergener's funeral.

Devil's Corral vehicle use out

JEROME — 470 acres of public land in the Devil's Corral area "has been closed to all vehicle use."
BLM Shoshone District Manager Charles Haszler announced that the closure will be effective until the Interior Board of Land Appeals makes a decision regarding the Magic Valley Trail Machine Association's appeal of an earlier decision to close the area to off-road vehicle use.
This "action plan" was announced Nov. 12, 1979, to protect cultural and natural values, according to Haszler. Before the closure became effective, the trail machine association filed an appeal, halting the area's designation until the appeals board responds.
Haszler said following a BLM request, the appeals board agreed to allow the area to be closed to vehicle use until the appeal is heard and ruled upon.
Maps and information regarding the vehicle closure are available at the BLM District Office in Shoshone.

Burley, Bruins to 'rematch' after 23 years

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News sports writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls and Burley, two A-1 teams 56 miles apart, will meet on the varsity gridiron this fall for the first time in 23 years.

The schools will get together for the season opener Aug. 28 after both had out of state teams canceled out on them.

They haven't played since the fall of 1957 and that game, too, came about through flu cancellations by teams already on their schedules.

In that one, Twin Falls, behind the running of Mike Slowe, took a 14-0 lead in the first half and Burley bounced back to tie it at 14 in the second half. That's the way the game ended.

The teams have maintained annual schedules on the freshman and sophomore levels but until Athletic Directors Bob Matthews of Burley and Duke Wiseman of Twin Falls reached agreement Thursday, there has been little or no chance of the two, members of different conferences, getting together.

Twin Falls originally had scheduled White Pine, Nev., for its opener but White Pine dropped out when that state forbade any games prior to Sept. 1. Bear River dropped off the Burley schedule, claiming a contract conflict with another Utah team.

Twin Falls, which says it is trying to revamp its schedule by dropping competition against the Boise city schools, also will renew football relations with Jerome.

In a surprise, Twin Falls, which declined to pick up an Oct. 17 open date with Boise, sideliined its senior class by signing for a junior battle against the Oakley Hornets on that date. That means the seniors will play eight games this year and the juniors nine.

Remaining on the Bruin non-conference schedule will be Nampa while the new Gem State Conference offers league competition against Highland, Pocatello, Minico, Skyline, Bonneville and Idaho Falls.

In another announcement, Wiseman said the Twin Falls holiday basketball tournament will include Wood River — providing that district passes a mill override levy.

Elko, Nev., was slated to join Borah and Nampa in the Bruins invitational but cancelled when its athletic department was put on an austere budget that reduced travel. Nevada has no limit on number of games schedule, unlike Idaho which has a 20-game restriction.

If Wood River joins the tournament, the first night will have Borah playing the Wolverines in the first game and Twin Falls playing Nampa in the nightcap. It will be loser-loser, winner-winner in the final session.

Cochin John Astorquia said Nampa will be the only member of the old SIC West Division, the Bruins will play next year unless they happen to meet Borah in the invitational finals.

He said the Bruins will play three games in the ERKO Invitational, featuring top teams from Utah, Nevada and California, two non-league battles with Burley and Nampa two in the Twin Falls tourney and 12 against Gem State foes.

Sonics even Bucks' series

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Lonnie Shelton scored all of his 15 points in the second-half, including a go-ahead basket with 1:10 remaining Friday night, and the Seattle SuperSonics evened the Western Conference semifinal playoff series at three games apiece with an 86-85 victory over the Milwaukee Bucks.

The first game in the best-of-seven series will play in Seattle Sunday afternoon.

Milwaukee trailed by as many as 13 points three times early in the third quarter before fighting back to take the lead for the first time since late in the first quarter. 82-80, on Bob Lanier's drive to the basket with 3:04 remaining.

Shelton scored two baskets and Fred Brown another for an 80-82 lead before Brian Winters hit a three-point shot with three seconds remaining.

Dennis Johnson led Seattle with 18 points. Marques Johnson paced Milwaukee with 22 and Bob Lanier 19.

Milwaukee played without Junior Bridgman who suffered a strained and bruised back in Tuesday night's game at Seattle.

Lanier scored six points to get Milwaukee off to an early 10-3 lead, but Seattle, behind 18-13, scored nine straight points to take the lead, and led 22-20 at the quarter.

Seattle scored the first nine points of the second quarter, four by Fred Brown and three by Gus Williams, to lead 31-29.

The Sonics stayed ahead of the half, 46-35.

Erving paces 76ers' win

BOSTON (UPI) — Julius Erving poured in a game-high 29 points and Darryl Dawkins added 22 Friday night to spark the Philadelphia 76ers to a 96-93 victory over the Boston Celtics and a 1-0 lead in their NBA semifinal playoff series.

The best-of-seven series resumes Sunday in Boston before moving to Philadelphia for Games 4 and 5.

The Celtics had fought back to tie the game at 43-48 on a Larry Bird jumper with 8:27 left. But Dawkins, who had eight points, struck during the Sixers' three regular season points in Boston, scored Philadelphia's next three baskets.

The three hoops gave Philadelphia a 94-90 lead and the Celtics came to within one, 94-93, on a pair of free throws by Dave Cowens. But Henry Bibby, who had 17 lead things with a jump shot with 56 seconds left.

Philadelphia moved to an 80-72 lead early in the fourth quarter on a Dawkins stuff shot, but Bird, who led Boston with 25, had six points in a scoring spree to tie the game at 81-81 with 8:02 to play.

Cedric Maxwell added 21 for Boston and Cowens contributed 14. Lionel Hollins had 12 for the Celtics.

Philadelphia, with Erving scoring 14 points, including 10 in succession, erased a 10-point Boston lead early in the third period to take an advantage it would never relinquish.

The Sixers, behind Erving's 10 straight points, ran off a 16-2 spurt over a 3:38 span to take a 64-60 lead. They maintained a four-point advantage 76-72 entering the final period.

The Celtics moved to a 52-44 lead in a closely contested first half. Boston had led 25-22 after the first half, and opened up a 36-29 spread midway through the second period.

Golden Eagle freshman shortstop George Zaladnik dives safely back into first base during first game action against Treasure Valley

Chukars extend Eagle loss streak

By IRWIN CURTIN
Times-News sports writer

TWIN FALLS — A long losing streak took two games longer Friday afternoon.

The College of Southern Idaho baseball team dropped a doubleheader to Treasure Valley Community College at Frontier Park by 4-3 and 6-4 scores. With the losses, the Golden Eagles' seventh and eighth straight, CSI's record fell to 9-13.

A rematch is in store today, when the two teams meet for another doubleheader starting at 11 a.m.

Friday's games were as close as the scores would indicate. In the opener, CSI led 3-0 through three innings and then the roof caved in, twice.

The nightcap saw CSI, which trailed 6-0 through six and a-half innings, rally for four runs in its last two at-bats. Dreams of a victory, or even of extra innings, died when the Golden Eagles' Kenny McPadden and Perry Byrne, a pair of freshmen, both struck out with the bases loaded in the bottom of the seventh.

The same guys are doing the job for us in the clutch and the same guys aren't doing the job with ducks' rattle on," said CSI Coach Jim Walker. "Little nipping things are doing us in. In years before, we could do that and come back and score four runs in the next inning. But not with this bunch."

CSI's Clay Carter, who went the distance in the opener and lost his fourth loss in five decisions this season, surrendered all of the Chukars' four runs and six hits in the fourth and fifth innings.

In the fourth, he yielded three straight singles to load the bases and was on the verge of escaping from the jam when he struck out the next two Treasure Valley hitters.

But Carter then was tagged for consecutive run-scoring singles by Kevin Pizarra and Leroy Quintana.

In the fifth, he yielded a two-run single to Dave Thielen with runners on second and third that should have been a one-run single.

But freshman Robert Aguilar, playing his first game in nightfield, was unable to get the ball-out of his glove after fielding it cleanly in shallow right. His miscue led to a late throw and enabled the runner on second to score.

The two innings marred an otherwise outstanding performance by Carter, a freshman right-hander. He struck out seven and walked only three, throwing mainly curves and fastballs.

"I thought I threw pretty good. It was just these two innings. But I thought for sure we'd get those runs back," he said. "My curve was sinking a lot. When it gets to the batter, the bottom drops right out of it."

His sinking curve helped him record nine outs on ground balls, and he was helped by two double plays his infield recorded behind him in the first and third innings.

CSI had built its 3-0 lead with a two-run second-inning and a single run in the third. First baseman Art LaGaly's check swing; bloop double down the leftfield line on a 1-0 count knocked in the Golden Eagles' two runs in the second. They scored their third inning run on a double steal with runners at first and third when Treasure Valley's catcher threw wildly into centerfield.

"I didn't mean to swing at it. It was high and outside," LaGaly, a sophomore left-handed hitter who took a .120 batting average into the opener, said of his "big" blow. "It was kind of cheap. I'd been needing hits lately, but I didn't boost my confidence."

Treasure Valley's Worth Nelson, who went the distance in the nightcap and earned the win, blanked the Golden Eagles on five hits through six innings.

But in the fifth, CSI loaded the bases with two outs. A walk to sophomore Roger Farnsworth, who played rightfield rather than his regular position of catcher, knocked in a run.

And then freshman leftfielder Jon Maldonado, batting in the ninth position, worked the count to 3-2 and, with the runners moving on the next pitch, stroked a single to center to knock in two runs. Which was only fitting since, as a leadoff hitter in the opening game Friday, Maldonado went 0-4 and stranded four runners in scoring position, two in the second inning and two in the sixth.

Seventh inning all of the second game's swelter came from behind the chain-link fence along the third-base line. He was ejected by home plate umpire Dan Creek in the bottom of the sixth for too energetically protesting a called third strike on freshman shortstop George Zaladnik, who appeared not to break his wrists while checking his swing on a low and outside pitch.

Zaladnik's strikeout, with runners on first and third, followed Maldonado's two-run single and ended the Golden Eagles' sixth inning rally.

"The kid didn't swing at the pitch. It was a brutal call," said Treasure Valley Coach Bill Taylor, whose Chukars went to an 11-7 record with the sweep. "But that's neither here nor there. The call helped us. They had a rally going and it killed 'em."

"I still think we're ready to break loose. Maybe tomorrow, maybe Tuesday," said Walker, still a little red under the collar 15 minutes after the second game ended, looking ahead to CSI's single game at Snow College.

Doubleheader sweep

Bruins find power, pitching

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News sports writer

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Bruins parlayed power and pitching into a doubleheader sweep of the Skyline Grizzlies Friday afternoon.

All of the power came in the first game when the Bruins ripped two Skyline pitchers for 12 runs — two homers and a 13-3 decision called after four and one-half innings under the 10-run rule.

In the nightcap, Bruin sophomore Todd Wignition outduelled Greg Walters for a 1-0 decision.

The sweep evened Twin Falls' record at 8-8 going into a single game against district rival Minico at noon today at Jaycee Park.

Skyline simply couldn't get the top of the Bruin batting order out. In the opener, as Gary Krumm, Kerry Brown, Lars Hovey and Greg Habel fattened their batting averages.

Habel also fattened his RBI total with a grand slam homer and a two-run single. Greg Tate joined in the homer parade, belting a three-run shot in the fourth.

But all that hitting wasn't there in the second game as Walters limited the Bruins to three hits.

Sophs extend streak

Neither Wignition nor Walters deserved to lose. Walters lost the hat, but it was only the run rule of the game coming in his wild pitch.

That came in the third inning when Krumm led off with his fourth-hit of the day. Brown followed with a routine bouncer to third base and the game turned around when the throw went wide of the Skyline first baseman.

Krumm sprinted to third on the miscue and then home on the wild pitch.

In the opener, Krumm, Brown and Hovey started the game with singles and Habel blasted a grand slammer.

The same foursome came up with one away in the second for nearly a repeat performance.

Krumm singled, and scored on a double by Brown. Hovey chased Brown in with a single and Habel followed with a bad hop single to send Hovey to third. After Pat King walked, Hovey scored on Greg Tate's sacrifice fly and Habel scored on a wild pitch.

In the fourth, Krumm and Brown again delivered back to back hits and scored on Habel's third safety of the contest. King lived on a hunt fielder's choice that retired no one and Tate capped it with his three-run blast.

"I was pretty happy with our hitting in the first game but I was displeased with the way we have done these three runs back to Skyline," Bruin Coach Tom Watson said afterward. "Whenever we happen to get a lead, we seem to lose our intensity and start giving back runs."

"I think probably the best thing about the day was winning a close one," he continued. "We've been losing most of them. I realize we made some base running errors that could have hurt us but we got away with them and got the win."

Ski resorts open for weekend

TWIN FALLS — Skiers in Magle Valley may have to hang up their skis after this weekend.

Both Pomerelle and Sneider Mountain are open today and Sunday, but whether they will be open next weekend depends on crowds and weather conditions.

Sun Valley has announced plans to close after this weekend.

All resorts are reporting excellent spring skiing conditions.

Sandy Anderson of Pomerelle said the temperature reached 40 degrees at the lodge Friday, and it is still cool mornings and late afternoons. She said skiers should bring plenty of sun lotion, their straw hats and spring shirts. All lifts are operating at Pomerelle as are the ski school and day lodge. If this weekend skier response is sufficient, she said, the resort will operate again next weekend.

Tom Watson takes two-stroke lead on Graham in PGA tourney

TOM WATSON

CARLSBAD, Calif. (UPI) — Tom Watson, a wire-to-wire winner of the tournament last year, fired a 6-under-par 66 Friday to open a two-stroke lead over veteran Lou Graham following the second round of the $300,000 Tournament of Champions at the La Costa Country Club.
Watson had an opening-round 65, one stroke off the course and tournament record, and his two-day total of 131, 13-under-par, was one stroke better than the former 36-hole record set by Jack Nicklaus in 1963. Nicklaus set that mark when the tournament was played in Las Vegas, Nev.
Graham had a 5-under-par 67 Friday over the par-72, 6,889-yard La Costa layout for a 133 total.
11-under-par — Another four strokes back at 137, 7-under-par, was Doug "Tewell" with Lee Trevino, Craig Stadler, Jim Colbert, Ed Fiori and Larry Nelson tied at 138, 6-under-par. Veteran Ray Floyd, who was tied

Three top Tallahassee golf play

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Mark-Pelt—Bill Rogers and Rex Caldwell all got hot Friday to take a share of the lead at 9-under-par 135, three strokes in front of their nearest challenger, after two rounds of the $100,000 Tallahassee Open golf tournament.
Pelt shared the top-round-of-the-day honors with Bobby Wadkins with a 6-under-par 66, Rogers notched a 67 and Caldwell shot a 68 on his home course.
Next at 138 was Steve Melnyk, who shot a 2-under-par 70 Friday. Six golfers were another shot back at 139.
Elias—Sound-keeper-honorary Murphy and A. J., sneaking in under par 72 only by scoring his second straight eagle three on the 17th hole.
Former champion Gary Koch, who had gone into the day only two strokes off Murphy's lead, hit the skids with a 76, for a two-day total of 142. Alton Miller, who won here in 1974, was at 142, and also was in the hunt.
Ed Sneed, another former winner here, just made the cut at 144 with a pair of 72s.
Wadkins' 66 brought him back into the contest at 142. He had skied to a 78 Thursday.
Caldwell said he was pleased with his play, except for three errant shots.
"I had the ball pretty well under control — except for those three strangles," he said. "But for the most part I had the ball under control. I only missed two or three greens and those were on the fringe."
"I just wasn't 100-percent aggressive with my puts today as I was yesterday," he said.

Rookie Carolyn Hill leads LPGA

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Rookie Carolyn Hill kept the "knee-knocker" shots to a minimum Friday and scored a 2-under-par 70 to take over the lead in 6-under-par 140 halfway through the $100,000 Lady Cady golf tournament.
The poised 21-year-old golfer from Pico, Calif., stayed a stroke ahead of Janet Coles. Coles had 72 for a two-day total of 5-under 141 over the 6,290-yard, par-73 course at Rio Pinar Country Club.
Close behind her were six golfers who finished at 4-under-142. They were first-round leader Marlene Floyd, Marly Dickerson, Jerrily Britz, Judy Franklin, Cindy Chamberlin and Sandra Palmer. Palmer, who hasn't won a tournament in two years, has earned $596,021 since joining the tour in 1964.

Seventy golfers made the cut at 7-over-153.
"It was an easy day on the nerves," said Hill, who has been swinging a club since the age of 7. "Not too many of those little knee-knockers for par."
Hill played par golf until she hit the back nine, where she carded birdies on puts of 15, 6, 4 and 3 feet. She bogeyed the 14th hole, a 570-yard, par-4.
She had no quibbles about leading the field for the first time since she joined the tour this year.
"These are the best players in the world and I'm just glad to be playing with them," Hill said. "I want to be Rookie of the Year. That's my goal."

Stanley Cup play to resume tonight

By United Press International

The Minnesota North Stars will defend their Claude Rombard trophy tonight by trying to take another step toward a great upset in the making.

The North Stars return to their home rink with a 2-0 lead over the defending Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens.

Conditions are a lead achieved at the expense of the Canadiens in Montreal's Forum.

A Minnesota victory in this semi-final series of the National Hockey League's showcase post-season tournament would give the North Stars a U.S. hockey team over the Soviet Union in the Winter Olympics.

"I guess we've got to have the advantage now," said Steve Payne, who scored two goals and had an assist Thursday night in the North Stars' 4-1 triumph over the Canadiens.

"But it's only two goals and you have to win four."

"No one would have suggested that we might have won two games in a row in Montreal," said Minnesota coach Glen Sonmor. "Sure, I'm surprised. But this is a confident young team and we went into Montreal after three strong games against Toronto."

The third and fourth games of the series will be played in Minneapolis today and Sunday. The fifth, sixth and seventh games are scheduled for April 22-24, with the middle game in Minneapolis and the other two games in Montreal.

Three of the other semi-final series resume tonight with the Philadelphia Flyers, Buffalo Sabres and New York Islanders holding 2-0 leads in their best-of-seven games.

"I want to play a little longer this year," said the Flyers' Bill Barber. "Last year was the first time I'd been down that soon and I sure as hell didn't like it. But we're going to have to work hard to beat them in New York."

The only bright spot for the Rangers in the first two games was the brilliant goaltending of John Davidson. Otherwise, the team was defense-prove and starting weak on offense.

Danny Gare and Ric Selles each notched two goals in the Sabres' 6-1 triumph Thursday night with the third and fourth games scheduled for Chicago.

"We got the two points and that's what we wanted," said Gary Winslow. "It's the measure of success in the playoffs."

The Islanders claim they won their fight-marred game against Boston Thursday night because they "refused to be intimidated. The game was marred by a first-period brawl in which more than 200 penalty minutes were assessed."

"We kept saying we couldn't be intimidated, and we showed it," said Clark Gillies.

"Boston is the best team we've seen this year in our building—better than anyone we have to face," said Bourne.

"I'm really coming in having to win and we're just going to have to forecheck. The fact they're down 0-2 will bother the Bruins less than most teams."

People in sports 'Richest fight' set for Leonard, Duran

Compiled from wire services

The June 20 welterweight title fight between Sugar Ray Leonard and Roberto Duran will be the "richest" fight in history, according to promoter Bob Arum.

"Duran has already signed a contract guaranteeing him $13.5 million," said Arum. "He wants to attend the debut of Eric Terrell's monthly boxing programs to be televised live nationally over cable television."

"Leonard signed a contract that will enable him to make myself for contributions to the charity of $5 million to $10 million," said Arum. "This means that Leonard will earn more than any fighter (including Muhammad Ali) has ever earned for a match and that the fighters' combined purses should be the richest."

"The fight most likely will be held in the Superdome in New Orleans," said Arum.

"The location isn't final yet," said Arum. "But the Superdome is the best because it is close to Duran's native Panama. We expect at least 20,000 Panamanians to attend the fight."

SUGAR RAY LEONARD

The award traditionally is given to two people who have made contributions to the thoroughbred industry but organizers said they were unable to eliminate any of the finalists and decided to give the award to all three.

EDWARD BENNETT, owner of the Baltimore Orioles, has led Washingtonians the nation's economic problems preclude the possibility of building a stadium between the nation's capital and Baltimore.

"Obviously it would be great for Washington if the team were more accessible to the city," the Washington attorney told a Touchdown Club luncheon Thursday.

MASSIMO MANNELLI, 24-year-old former Italian amateur champion, returned a 5-under-par 66 Friday to take a three-stroke lead at the midway point of the $70,000 Italian Open golf championship at Rome, Italy.

Mannelli, encouraged by a local support because he was a member at the Rome golf course for nine years, has a 36-hole aggregate of 189-134.

MARK FIDRYCH had the velocity, but not the control.

"Trying to make a comeback after a series of injuries following an outstanding rookie season several years ago with the Detroit Tigers, he lasted only the fourth inning Thursday night with the Evansville Triplets.

THREE PEOPLE will share the 1980 Dean Eagle Memorial Award for contributions to the thoroughbred industry: trainer Lee Barrera, Racing Form columnist Joe Hirsch and Louisville Times handicapper Mike Barry.

Blackwood — a first rule

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Back in 1934 young Easley Blackwood of Indianapolis, invented a convention. Today that convention is the best-known and possibly the most valuable of all. There may be some beginners who don't know about it and maybe two or three experts who don't use it. But from that it is played from Pole to Pole by all players.

The average player uses Blackwood to bid slams. The expert uses it primarily as a check for ace after his bridge sense and use of point count have told him that he has enough ammunition for 12 or 13 tricks, but he wants to make Change your hand a trifle so you have no spades and two clubs. The dub may still use Blackwood, but unless his partner shows him two aces he gains nothing from his partner's response. The expert doesn't know exactly what to do. But he won't continue. He will probably bid three diamonds. Then his next bid will be five hearts (assuming partner has not made some higher bid in the meanwhile). This will tell his partner just about what he has. Eleven tricks with hearts as trumps and two quick losers in clubs.

Blackwood for at least two more Saturdays, but leave you with the first rule of when not to use Blackwood. It is DO NOT use Blackwood when you have two quick losers in an unbid suit.

Baker's R.V.'s
I have been fortunate enough to obtain the entire stock of the Proctor and Gamble fleet for the entire Northwest at way below wholesale prices. These are some of the sharpest cars I have ever seen, and I have kept the lowest mileage and cleanest cars for my friends-in-Magic Valley, all at TREMENDOUS DISCOUNTS.
