Recession

Industrial output, housing, deal major blow to Carter's hopes for mild drop

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration's hope for a "short and mild" recession was dealt a severe one-two punch Friday with the announcement that industrial production and housing construction took their worst plunges in five years.

Led by the slumping auto and construction industries, the total output of America's factories, mines and utilities fell 1.9 percent last month. The Commerce Department said housing starts declined 2.1 percent last month to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1,019,000 — the lowest level since August 1975.

The industrial production figure marked the steepest decline since a 2.2 percent drop in February 1975, when the nation was trying to pull out of last year's recession.

April's steep drop in factory output was the third straight month of waning production, following drops of 0.7 percent in March and 0.2 percent in February.

If the trend continues, thousands of American factory workers will pay the price — in jobs.

Despite the gloomy news the administration attempted to project a ray of hope. William Cox, deputy chief economist for the Commerce Department, said inflation should fall off sharply in this summer and consumers may resume a level of spending that can temper the depth of the recession.

"I'm still inclined to believe it will be somewhat milder than the average recession," the Carter administration official said.

Alan Greenspan, who was economic adviser to President Gerald Ford, said the industrial production news and other recent economic statistics "indicate the steepness of the recession will be far greater than anybody had been projecting."

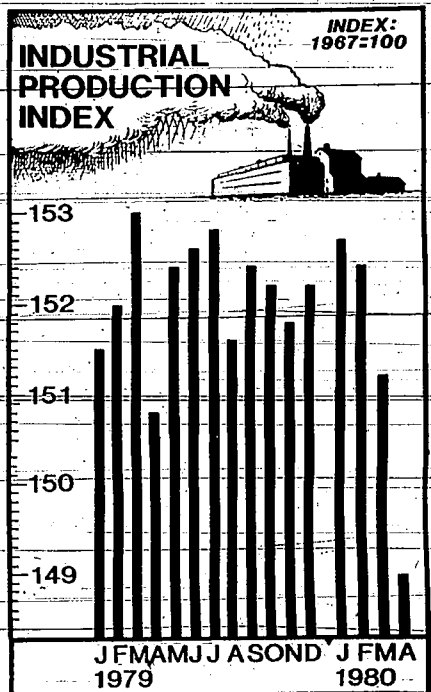

"Certainly steeper than the short and mild recession the administration had been predicting until recently," he said in a telephone interview from his consulting firm in New York.

At this point, Greenspan said, it appears the recession will drag on through the rest of the year and will be only slightly less severe than the 1974-75 recession, which was the worst economic downturn since the Great Depression.

The Federal Reserve said the sharpest production cutbacks were registered in the auto, automobile and construction industries.

But the nation's central bank carefully pointed out reductions were "widespread," if not as deep, in virtually every other manufacturing sector.

Automobiles were assembled at an annual rate of 6 million units — 15 percent below March's level and 30 percent below the rate for the first six months of last year.

Production of materials, most notably steel and parts for durable consumer goods, fell 2.3 percent, the Federal Reserve said. "Business equipment and textiles and chemicals were also off."

Output of construction materials — lumber, stone, clay and glass — plummeted 2.6 percent, further proof the housing industry is taking a beating.

Further reductions occurred in the output of home foods and in consumer, non-durable goods, such as food and fuel," the Federal Reserve said.

The overall industrial production index — which measures the performance of the nation's factories against what they were producing in 1967 — stood at 149.5 in April, down 2.9 percent from its peak in March 1979.

With consumer demand declining, new orders to factories have dropped off sharply, meaning the mills have had to cut back on production and that massive layoffs could be in the offing.

U.S. gets tough with sealfit

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — The Coast Guard began boarding all boats in the Florida Straits suspected of heading for Cuba Friday and turning them back in a new get-tough policy to halt the Cuban refugee sealfit.

The orders "to stop the vessel" flow to Mariel, Cuba, came from Rear Adm. Benedict L. Stable, commander of the 7th Coast Guard District, headquartered in Miami and covering southeast U.S. waters and the Caribbean.

"Coast Guard vessels and investigators will vigorously pursue boaters who seek to avoid the designated processing areas or attempt return trips to Mariel," Stable said. "The first of four chartered boats the U.S. government hopes will take over the sealfit arrived in Key West Friday."

Boarding party officers were armed with enough Coast Guard regulations and federal laws, including one charge of "trading with the enemy," that it was felt no boat would be able to qualify to make the trip to the Cuban embarkation port of Mariel to pick up passengers.

Arriving reinforcements of planes, helicopters, patrol boats and cutters gave the service enough muscle to enforce the sealfit shutdown ordered by President Carter Wednesday.

Stable said the force committed to the Florida Straits operation amounts to 1,500 Coast Guardsmen, plus two large U.S. Navy landing ships now on station there.

"We now have the resources to address the problem," said Cmdr. Samuel Dennis, Key West Coast Guard commandant.

He said patrol boats had been given orders to board any vessel leaving from the 140-mile-long string of Florida Keys and pointed toward Cuba.

Boarding parties inspect each craft for safety violations, attempt to learn its destination, and also "determine if there is any possible violation of the Treasury Department's regulations governing trading with the enemy," Dennis said.

"If they (boat operators) say they are going to Mariel, that's trading with the enemy, and we can detain them if we have probable cause that that is their intent," he said.

Other possible violations that will result in a turn-back order, Dennis said, include a "repeat offender" — someone who already had brought refugees from Cuba and was returning for more — and any vessel failing to clear U.S. Customs.

"Terminated" boats are ordered back to Key West, Dennis said, and if there is any suspicion that the boats would not return on their own, they either will be towed or escorted back.

The Coast Guard Friday showed off a half-million dollar motor vessel called the Impossible Dream. Certified to carry 115 passengers, it is one of four boats contracted by government officials to take over the Cuban refugee sealfit if Fidel Castro agrees.

Officials reported that 37 boats arrived empty of passengers in the 12-hour period ending at noon Friday. That indicated some of the shippers had heeded President Carter's order Wednesday to shut down the sealfit with fines and seizure of all boats transporting Cubans illegally.

However, arriving boat captains reported Cuban gunboats were still blocking exit from Mariel Bay to U.S. craft unless they carried passengers and that Cuban officials were threatening to seize boats and impose $25,000 fines on all captains refusing to load passengers.

Despite these reports, U.S. officials at Key West continued to attach red seizure notices on all craft arriving from Cuba with refugees.

Cuban refugees continue to be processed as federal officials work to halt the unofficial sealfit.

Israel attacks into Lebanon again

By United Press International

Israel troops in armored personnel carriers stormed 10 miles into southern Lebanon Friday while Israeli gunboats traded machine gun and shell fire with Palestinian coastal positions into Saturday, Lebanon's national news agency reported.

The state-run agency said a battalion of Israeli soldiers, estimated to be between 300 to 400 men, crossed into southern Lebanon late Friday and set up positions in the Wadi Slouki.

The Israelis were not reported to have engaged any Palestinians, who hold a string of positions in the foothills a few miles to the north. There were no immediate reports of casualties.

Earlier Friday, Israeli forces struck against Palestinian guerrilla strongholds in southern Lebanon from the air, land and sea and reports in Beirut said at least six people were killed — five by a booby-trapped Israeli radio transmitter.

While Israeli infantrymen rumbled across the border, Israeli gunboats and helicopters crisscrossed the Lebanese coastline firing on Palestinian and Lebanese leftist strongholds in the night sky glow with red flares and tracer bullets, the news agency said.

The Palestinians returned the fire using machine guns and artillery and the battles continued into early Saturday. There were no immediate reports of casualties but several cars and buildings were damaged.

Clashes between Israeli naval units and Palestinian guerrillas were reported along the coastline from Ras Al Ain, 10 miles north of the border to Damour, 50 miles north of the border.

These sort of attacks make the terrorists guard themselves more and attack us less," an Israeli military source said.

Man attacked by goose sues cafe for $1.1 million

NEW YORK (UPI) — A New Jersey man who said he was attacked by a goose while waiting to eat dinner filed a $1-million suit against a Congers, N.Y., restaurant Friday.

Elmer Patzkowski of Hawthorne, N.J., claimed he suffered "severe and permanent injury" from the goose attack in his suit against the Bully Boy Chop House in Congers.

In a complaint filed in U.S. District Court in Manhattan,

Patzkowski said he was waiting outside the restaurant for a friend "when 10 to 15 geese approached me, honking and begging for food and one of them attacked me, pecking at my legs."

"I jumped back, twisting and falling, causing severe and permanent injury to my right leg and knee," he said about the incident last December. He claimed the owners of the Rockland County restaurant "were negligent in allowing the geese to roam at large for handouts."

S. Korean students burn a coffin symbolizing the coup that placed the late Park Chung-hee in power

Korea: President returns to deal with continuing protests

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — President Choi Kyu-hah, cutting short an overseas trip, hurried home Friday in response to violent demonstrations against the slow pace of democratic reforms.

College youths in Seoul, who rocked the capital with street protests for three successive days through Thursday, stayed on their campuses. Students were involved in continuing street violence in provincial towns, however.

The largest street demonstrations of the day were reported from Kwangju, 170 miles south of Seoul, where 30,000 students hit the streets and engaged riot police in rock-hurling battles. There were no immediate reports of injuries and arrests.

Choi had been scheduled to return home Saturday after two nights of rest in Penang, Malaysia, following five days of official visits to Saudi Arabia and Kuwait. He shortened his stay in Penang and came home late Friday.

Political sources said that with Choi now back home, the government may announce a new political timetable speeding up the original reform schedule.

While he was away, student demonstrations began in Seoul and then spread to major provincial towns. In Seoul some 70,000 students tried to march on central government buildings but were stopped by police backed by army troops and armored cars. An estimated 30,000 students raged through the streets of four provincial towns.

Friday morning student leaders of 27 universities and colleges held a meeting and issued a statement saying they would call off street protests and take a wait-and-see stance. Classes resumed at most schools but there were campus rallies.

About 2,000 students at Korea University burned a coffin symbolizing the May 16, 1961 military coup led by President Park Chung-hee, whose dictatorship lasted until his assassination on Oct. 26 last year.

The demonstration was an expression of indignation over the Park system, which the students contend Choi's government is trying to prolong. Students have been demanding an immediate end to the martial law in force since Park's death and a speeded-up transition to fully democratic order.

The student demonstrations caused the death of a 23-year-old policeman who was hit by a city bus commandeered by the youths. The police reported that 338 policemen and 40 demonstrators were injured during the three days of clashes.

A total of 750 demonstrators have been detained, including 75 taken into custody Thursday. How many have been freed was not disclosed by the police.

LeBaron trial

Cult leader's son testifies against father

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The obviously frightened and nervous son of Ervil LeBaron said Friday his father wanted members of his polygamist band to travel to Utah in 1977 to "take care of" rival religious leaders.

Isaac LeBaron, 17, testified at the first degree murder trial of his father, who is accused of ordering the shooting death of Dr. Rulon Allred, leader of about 1,000 Utah polygamists.

LeBaron, also, is accused of plotting to kill his own brother, Verlan, leader of another plural marriage sect.

Isaac told a Third District Court jury his father held a meeting in Dallas in April 1977 and told followers he wanted two women and three men to take care of some "business" — to take care of some false prophets.

Young LeBaron refused to look at his father and repeatedly stammered when Prosecutor David Yocom asked him to be more specific about the phrase "take care of."

At the lunch break, Yocom approached a young, hunched spectator at the back of the room and accused him of coaching Isaac through his testimony.

Yocom contends one of those "false prophets" was Allred, a naturopathic doctor who was gunned down by two women in his Murray, Utah, office May 10, 1977.

The prosecutor alleged the fatal shots were fired by Rena Chynoweth, a plural wife of LeBaron, who was acquitted of the slaying last year.

Yocom said the three men were Don Sullivan, Jack Strothman, and Edward Marston. He said their mission was to kill Verlan LeBaron at Allred's funeral — an attempt which was called off due to the presence of television cameras and a large number of police at the memorial service.

Sullivan, a poly prosecution witness, has already testified he and four other members of LeBaron's Church of the Lamb of God brought carbine rifles, pistols and a Thompson .45-caliber machine-gun to Utah to carry out their leader's orders.

During cross-examination, defense attorney F. John Hill produced a stack of transcripts from early court hearings and police interrogations. He said Sullivan had been inconsistent in testifying about specific dates and circumstances surrounding the alleged murder plots.

Hill also questioned Sullivan's credibility because of a plea-bargaining deal in which the witness received five years probation for his part in the alleged plots. Sullivan denied he was promised probation for his testimony against LeBaron.

ERA scandal

Illinois legislators accused of bribery in deal to change votes

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — The speaker of the House Friday refused to allow an immediate vote on resolutions calling for a House Judiciary committee to investigate alleged bribe offers surrounding the Equal Rights Amendment.

Speaker William A. Redmond, D-Bensenville, said the matter is a "very, very delicate, sensitive thing for us to take up, and quite frankly I'm just feeling my way" on the subject.

Redmond expressed concern an investigation by the Judiciary Committee into charges that certain legislators were offered bribes to change their vote on ratification of the ERA would interfere with the joint investigation already under way by the Sangamon County state's attorney and the Illinois Department of Law Enforcement.

Redmond hinted he did not want to see the House committee get involved. "For everybody in the world to be in on the pot is a very dangerous thing," he said.

The DPE and state's attorney of Sangamon County, in which Springfield is located, began the investigation Thursday into allegations that ERA advocates — specifically the National Organization for Women and television producer Norman Lear — offered direct payments of up to $10,000 to some legislators if they voted for the ERA.

Redmond said a state law giving immunity to anyone testifying before a legislative committee possibly could protect any wrongdoers from criminal prosecution. He said that because persons testifying before the committee would be immune, nothing they said could be used against them in "court" and they "likely would plead the 5th Amendment if subpoenaed by the state's attorney."

"Anyone could go in and testify before the committee, get immunity, and cloak himself from prosecution," Redmond said. "I don't want to be the guy that has to answer the state's attorney's question, 'Who are you trying to protect?'"

Republicans who sponsored the resolutions calling for a legislative inquiry said they were not too upset by Redmond's action because "under House rules" the measure has to be called for a vote within five legislative days. The resolution was introduced Thursday, the day after an expected vote on ERA ratification was called off because the proposal's sponsors felt there weren't enough votes for passage.

Moslem nations summit set

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (UPI) — The conference of Islamic Foreign Ministers will likely soften its tough stand against the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, the conference chairman indicated Friday.

Ahmad Shahi, a Pakistani foreign affairs advisor who will head the three-day meeting beginning Saturday, said he expects "complete unanimity of the participants" and that "the central issue in the Afghan question is the complete withdrawal of Soviet troops."

But he added that the conference must examine events which have occurred since it adopted a tough anti-Soviet resolution in a January emergency session.

Saudi Arabia, Pakistan and Iran shaped the measures in January, which expelled the Soviet-installed government of Afghan President Babrak Karmal and barred all conference members from contact with Afghanistan.

With U.S. sanctions against Iran and the aborted military attempt to free the American hostages in Tehran, Islamic nations now appear to be rallying behind Iran, Shahi said.

He said the mood of the conference is "quite militant" toward the United States and that Washington "can expect harsh criticism for its 'aggression' against Iran and its support of Israel's opposition to Palestinian autonomy."

Shahi said the objective of the conference with regards to the Iran crisis will be to "discuss how best to defuse the situation without further intervention or imposition of sanctions against Iran."

He also hinted that the Afghan government would be allowed a voice in the proceedings. "You can have contact without formal recognition," he said.

Shahi told Pakistani newsmen Thursday that Pakistan had been rushed into taking a strong stance against the Soviet Union at January's meeting and implied a hard line may be difficult to maintain now.

One senior Arab diplomat predicted a strong showing at this session by pro-Soviet Islamic nations, which may polarize the conference.

He said the "steadfast pro-Moscow group" includes Syria, Libya, Algeria, South Yemen and the Palestine Liberation Organization, and that they are well organized to present a strong case to minimize the Afghan debate and shift the conference's focus to the Palestinian problem.

Man sentenced to 1700 years for raping nun

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — A jury Friday recommended sentences totaling 1,700 years for an ex-convict convicted of the rape, robbery, beating and burning of a 51-year-old nun in her residence next to a north Tulsa church.

The seven-woman, five-man jury deliberated only 15 minutes before returning with the sentencing recommendations for Robert Eugene Klug.

The same jury earlier had taken only 10 minutes before convicting Klug of the rape, robbery, assault with intent to kill, first-degree arson and robbery by force in the Dec. 18 incident that led to the nun being hospitalized for six weeks for treatment of her burns.

The combined sentences were the longest prison term ever recommended by a Tulsa district court jury.

"I feel this is a very good example of why there should be a death penalty in a rape case," Judge Jay Dalton told jurors after the verdicts were read. "I am certainly proud of the jury for the verdicts they have returned."

The nun said she allowed her assailant to enter her residence adjacent to St. Jude's Catholic Church in north Tulsa after he asked to use the telephone.

Police said the attacker ransacked the residence looking for valuables and took money from the nun's purse and a ring from her finger before raping her. She was then thrown, bound hand and foot onto a burning pile of clothes ignited by the assailant as he left, investigators said.

39 die in latest Salvador violence

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Thirteen bodies were found in eastern El Salvador Friday, boosting the toll of bloody political violence to 39 dead in the last 24 hours, officials said.

In the latest political slayings, the bodies of 13 male students, workers and peasants were found dumped on the outskirts of San Miguel, a city 85 miles east of San Salvador, local officials said.

Family members said all of the victims had been arrested in recent days by government forces, but there was no immediate indication that the killings were related to a government drive against leftist terrorism.

A military spokesman said 19 members of the leftist Popular Liberation Forces guerrilla group died late Thursday in a shootout with a military patrol in El Trifunio, 60 miles north of San Salvador.

The government recently launched a crackdown against leftist guerrillas in northern El Salvador and unconfirmed reports say between 500 and 1,000 troops are operating out of Metapan, 47 miles north of the capital.

In other clashes with the leftist guerrillas, the spokesman said some 30 members of the group armed with automatic rifles attacked a national guard patrol near the western town of Santa Ana.

No casualties were reported.

Attorney General Guillermo Guevara said Friday he was ordered by the ruling civilian-military junta to disband the military prosecutor's staff following the release of 24 persons accused of plotting a foiled right-wing coup.

Observers said the junta apparently blames the prosecutors for being lax in pursuing the case.

DESIGNER JEANS, BEAUTIFUL PEOPLE AND FITNESS
 The next time you slip into those designer jeans think what exercise expert and beautiful people trainer Suzi Braden has to say about those beautiful baggies. "Sexy people, people who are really fit don't wear them. They wear tighter, hip-hugging, straight-leg jeans," the 36-year-old author of "Spot Reducing Program" told UPI. And what about the "10s" she trains? "They have to work extra hard to keep in shape. Most models have worse muscle tone than average women. They don't move — if they want something, someone jumps up and gets it for them. But they pay for that no-movement way of life. Look at Elizabeth Taylor, she never obeyed the physical rules and now she's paying for it at 5 feet and 165 pounds," she said.

PEARL BUCK'S WILL
 The estate of Nobel Prize-winning author Pearl Buck will be divided among her eight children, ending more than seven years of fighting among the children, charitable foundations and her business associates. Miss Buck, who lived in the southwestern Vermont town of Danby, left three conflicting wills for an estate now worth $84,238. "It was the most complicated estate I ever had, and I hope never to have another," said County Probate Judge Howard Douglas. Miss Buck was the author of "The Good Earth" and 80 other books.

SHAH'S SISTER CONDEMNS KHOMEINI
 The sister of the deposed shah, who lives in Manhattan, said the destruction of her father's tomb in Tehran showed to the world the "bloodthirsty aspect of an ugly tyranny" in Iran. In an ad printed in the New York Times, Princess Ashraf Pahlavi called on the world community to condemn the May execution of Farrokhroo Pارسا, the first woman to be a member of Iran's Parliament and the ex-shah's Cabinet. She said the execution of the former education minister followed "a mock trial carried out at night in secret with no regard to due process."

S. Carolina blonde wins USA crown

BLOXIE, Miss. (UPI) — Shawn Weatherly, a 20-year-old South Carolina beauty who said she "pulled people off the street" to develop her conversational ability, is the new Miss USA.

The blue-eyed blonde was chosen from contestants from all 50 states and the District of Columbia Thursday night.
 An aspiring model from Sumter, S.C., Miss Weatherly is 5-8, 116 pounds, measures 35-25-35, is a member of the women's fencing team at Clemson University, runs eight miles a day and lifts-weights as a hobby.

Miss Weatherly, who dates professional football player Dwight Clark of the San Francisco 49ers, said she prepared for the contest by working on her ability to speak to complete strangers.

"I would pull people off the street and make them talk to me," she said in the nationally televised competition.
 Miss Weatherly will receive an $18,500 cash award, a $10,000 service contract and an extensive wardrobe. She also goes on to compete in the Miss Universe contest in Seoul, Korea, in July.
 The first runner-up was Miss Arizona, Jineane Ford, followed by Miss Florida, Barbara Bowers; Miss Alabama, Pamela Riggs; and Miss Kentucky, Lisa Devillez.
 The twelve semi-finalists also included Miss Maryland, Tonja Walker; Miss Minnesota, Carla Peterson; Miss Nebraska, Rebecca Slabik; Miss New York, Debra Sue Maurice; Miss New Hampshire, Eva Dyer; Miss New Mexico, Kathy Patrick; and Miss Texas, Barbara Buckley.
 In preliminary competition, Elizabeth Kim Thomas, Miss Ohio, won the best home state costume contest and tied Jineane Ford; Miss Arizona, for most photogenic; Miss Montana, Barbara Bowers, for English, was judged the most congenial by the other contestants.

Big Mac target of Swede attack

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — You don't insult Swedish tradition and get away with it.
 Not even if you are Big Mac.
 McDonald's was informed Friday it is being sued by the Swedish cooperative that caters school lunches over a national newspaper advertisement.
 The ad, which ran on a day when school children were being served "Lapskojs" — a traditional dish of mashed potatoes mixed with chopped meat, showed a young boy smiling as he bit into a Big Mac.
 The text said that while Swedish school meals were good, a lot of kids would decide to lunch at McDonald's that day once they found out Lapskojs was on the menu.
 It also maintained that there was as much nourishment in a Big Mac as in a plate of Lapskojs.
 Kooperativa Forbundet, the organization that prepares all the Lapskojs, was not amused. In fact they were so annoyed by McDonald's little ad they decided to sue.
 McDonald's denied that the advertisement was meant as an insult to Sweden's school lunch program and insisted it was not designed to lure the kiddies out of the cafeteria and between the golden arches.

Governor praises Alaska tax cut

NEW YORK (UPI) — Alaska Gov. Jay Hammond said Friday his state's decision to give the average Alaskan taxpayer between $600 and $700 in rebates this year is the "ultimate in grass roots revenue-sharing."

With Alaska's royalties from oil produced within its borders expected to rise to about $3 billion in 1986, Hammond said his major objective in dispersing the state's wealth was to "put a curb on government growth."

"The alternative was to feed more oil money into government programs and vastly oversubmitulate the Alaskan economy," he said.

Under the program, Alaska residents are entitled to a $50 tax refund for each year they have lived in the state. Any Alaskan who has paid state income taxes for at least three years since statehood in 1959 will be exempt from future taxes.

Hammond said the average Alaskan, who has lived in the state for seven years, will be granted about $350 in tax relief and roughly the same amount in oil fund dividends for a total windfall of between $600 and $700 this year.

Hammond said he hoped the rebates would help salvage Alaska's flagging economy.

"The only way Alaskans can get increased dividends is if we can build up the oil fund and counter pressures to make phony distributions by blowing our money on government subsidies," said Hammond, a wildlife biologist who was elected governor in 1978.

"The dividends will make the public more aware of how the government uses its money and keep politicians more honest."

Asked if publicity over the tax bonanza would spur an immigration wave, Hammond said, "With our high unemployment, Alaska over the long term cannot sustain an increase in population and artificially promote the economy by paying for the price of admission of new people."

"Alaska's unemployment rate, which is running 12 percent in urban areas and as high as 60 percent in some villages, is the worst in the nation."

"Small-business enterprises are hurting and people are fleeing the state by the thousands," he said.

LA to draw Utah electricity

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The City Council has given approval for participation in the $4.5-billion Intermountain Power Project in Utah, it was announced Friday.

The project is designed to be the largest coal-fired power plant in the nation.

The project, which has been planned for about 15 years, would provide cheap fuel to participating cities including Los Angeles, Burbank, Glendale, Anaheim, Pasadena and Riverside in California and 29 cities in Utah.

The Los Angeles Department of Water and Power has spent $3.7 million as its contribution to the feasibility study since 1974.

Environmentalists, including actor Robert Redford, have claimed the plant would destroy the air quality of the area at its Utah desert site.

The first phase is to be ready in July, 1986, with completion scheduled in 1988.

Half of the plant's electrical energy output would be sent to Southern California.

EPA to ban campground smoke?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Environmental Protection Agency said Thursday it will propose regulations soon to make sure national parks and wilderness areas remain free of such visual pollution as man-made haze and smoke plumes.

The rules are required by 1977 amendments to the Clean Air Act, and the agency published a list last fall of 156 areas across the country where the visual pollution standards would apply.

It said Thursday the proposed regulations are being issued and will be published soon.

The agency said the 36 states which contain areas targeted for visibility protection "must, within nine months after the proposed regulations become final, submit to EPA state implementation plans that reflect certain control measures for achieving visibility protection."

NASA says solar power feasible

CLEVELAND (UPI) — There is enough space on south-facing roofs across the United States for solar power cells to generate all the nation's electrical energy, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Thursday.

Production of electricity by such solar cells will be commercially competitive within six years, said Dr. Robert R. Ferber, manager of Solar Photovoltaics Technology Development at NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif.

"If energy costs continue to rise, we could become cost competitive (with solar power) before 1986," Ferber explained that solar cells under design for 1986 will generate electrical energy at about the same efficiency as currently operating cells. But the cells themselves will be constructed much more cheaply than current models.

By 1986, Ferber said he hopes the average homeowner could have a five-kilowatt solar unit installed on his roof for as little as $3,500, taking tax credit incentives into account.

Pilots testify to wind problems in bridge crash

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — A veteran harbor pilot said Friday the Summit Venture must have been blown by the wind "like a balloon" shortly before it rammed the Sunshine Skyway Bridge one week ago, plunging 35 people to their deaths.

Capt. John Schiffmacher was piloting the empty tanker Pure Oil when he was hit by the storm less than a mile east of the bridge.

The Summit Venture, was to have made a 90-degree turn to the left shortly before reaching the bridge. Schiffmacher was asked what a pilot could expect making a turn in that type wind with much of the vessel above the water line (34 feet of freeboard).

"It would be like a balloon...You'd just float with the wind," Schiffmacher said.

Capt. Earl Evans was asked what would have happened if he had been piloting an empty inbound freighter as was harbor pilot John Lerro aboard the Summit Venture.

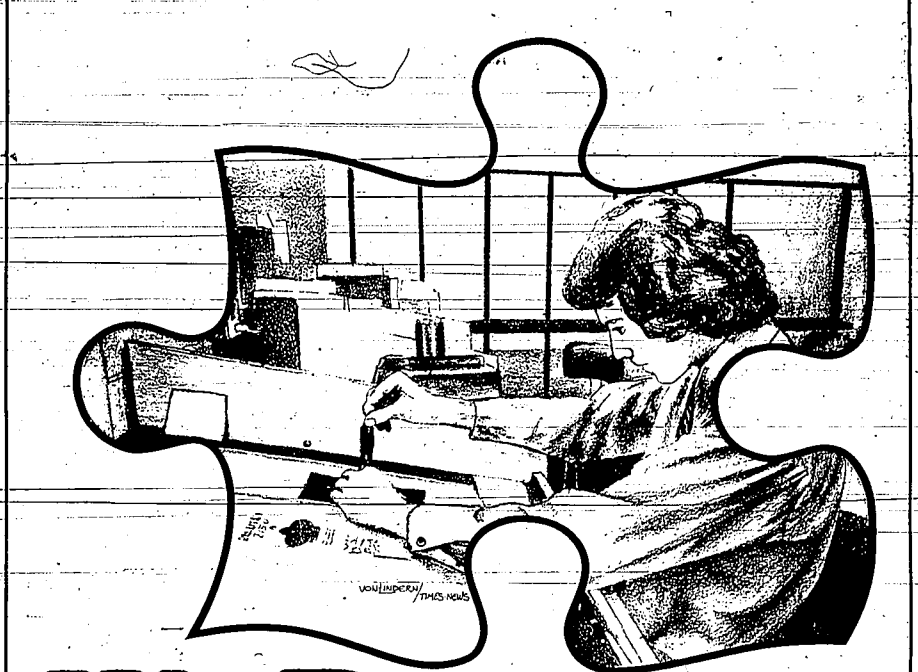

"I would have had plenty of problems," he said.

Close ties will support Virgos in some project meaning much to them

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to consider all the various aspects connected with home, family and possessions, and to make plans for improvement. Take steps to have your fondest dreams come true.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You know how to establish more harmony at home now, so do so. Avoid a temptation to criticize others. Be kind.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get busy attending to routine chores early in the day so you'll have more time for social activities later.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study your financial assets and liabilities and try to balance them more intelligently. Spend only within your means.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take time to plan your environment and make plans for improvement. Make the evening a delightful one.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Analyze how to get rid of any limiting conditions and be happier. Make your personal life more as you want it to be.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Close ties will support you in some personal project that means much to you. Join friends whose interests are similar to yours.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Attend to outside duties without further procrastination and they are soon behind you. Avoid one who talks too much.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study your surroundings and make plans for improvement. Make new contacts of worth. Show that you have an open mind.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Be sure you keep any promises you've made and make real progress now. Take no risks with money or reputation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Have a heart-to-heart talk with a close tie and come to a better understanding. Sidestep one who is a hypocrite.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get busy handling those tough jobs which you've been putting off lately. Attend a group affair and enjoy yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Engage in activities that can bring you added income and better self-expression. Take time for meditation. Be wise.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who can see new ways of making conditions more ideal, so provide with the best education you can and much success will follow. Be sure to give ethical and religious training early in life.

Now it's disco ear muffs at a price of $55 and up

If you haven't experienced the FOOD VIBRANT noise of a discotheque, at least you've heard it on television, no doubt. Medical evidence suggests it can cause ear damage. One Esther Schwartz saw cash for it. She makes feathery, beaded, sparkling disco ear muffs at $55 to $100 a pair. They let in conversation but screen out the raucous raucous din.

That Colonel Sanders was age 65 when he started his Kentucky Fried Chicken business is common knowledge. Less widely known is the fact that he financed that beginning with his first social security check of $105.

Maryland's state seal bears a Latin slogan that translates: "Let women talk and men act."

The human body has 639 muscles, the caterpillar more than 4,000.

DOOR-CLOSE

Q. What does the "Door Close" button in an automatic elevator do? I push it and nothing happens.

A. And so it is with almost all of them. Door close buttons do nothing. That's from an elevator service expert. That button gives you something to do while you're waiting for the door to close. But doors set to close automatically respond to their own internal commands primarily without accepting any overriding signals from the door close buttons.

Q. Where does the pig rank among domesticated animals in intelligence?

A. It's a 10. The Bo Derek of barnyard brains, according to some. Mental tests on mature pigs are not easy to arrange, however. Most of them are slaughtered at an early age.

FARMING

The U. S. Government for almost half a century has tried to lower the output of farmers. But it has failed. The Soviet Union for even longer has tried to raise the output of farmers. It, too, has failed. Clearly, governments can't farm. Also clear: Governments can't learn or they'd get the point after half a hundred years of experience in failure.

Students stage mock trial

Changes threaten Jewish families

By DAVID E. ANDERSON
UPI Religion Writer

The continued rise in the divorce rate and the growing number of women in the job market are taking their toll on the Jewish family. But the result — one experienced by other faiths and groups as well — could have a more profound impact on Jews because it could pose a threat to Jewish identity and existence.

"Jewish life does not fully recognize the gravity of the problem today, either as it affects society in general or Jewish life in particular," Dr. Irving Greenberg told 1,000 delegates for the biennial convention of JWB.

JWB is the umbrella organization for the Association of Jewish Community Centers, the Young Men's Hebrew Association and Young Women's Hebrew Association and Jewish Camps in the United States and Canada.

Failure to confront the problems of the Jewish family, the delegates were told again and again, would produce a declining Jewish birth rate and a

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Adventist School students got a taste of American justice for juveniles May 8 at the Twin Falls County Courthouse.

The students, grades 4-8, witnessed a mock trial played by their fellow students in the main courtroom. Elthegorod Rodney Redfern served as the teen-age defendant, accused of driving under the influence of alcohol. Redfern was defended by Jim Miscrvey, who also played an assistant prosecuting attorney.

Assistant prosecuting attorney Tom Gray organized the mock trial. Magistrate Michael Redmon judged the case.

Students learned what happens in a drunk-driving case, how intoxication is determined and the weight a past criminal record bears on a final sentence.

Magic Valley Adventist School is a parochial school serving grades K-9 and is run by the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Adventist student Rodney Redfern (center) played the juvenile defendant. Real-life prosecuting attorney, Tom Gray, and judge, Michael Redmon, assisted.

Catholic group elects officers

TWIN FALLS — The Council of Catholic Women of St. Edward's Church held its annual Marian Dinner and installation of officers May 6.

Iran dismisses sanctions...

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said Friday that America's European allies can go ahead and slap economic sanctions on Iran but the regime will do nothing to free the 53 American hostages until after the new parliament convenes next month.

Speaking to reporters before flying off to Pakistan for an Islamic foreign ministers' meeting, Ghotbzadeh reiterated Iran's position on the hostages and the sanctions that the European Common Market was to implement on Saturday, the deadline set by the allies for action on the 195-day-old hostage crisis. Ghotbzadeh said the sanctions would not change Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's ruling to allow the new parliament convening next month to decide when to free the hostages.

Asked when the parliament would take up the crisis, Ghotbzadeh replied "in the future." He also denied reports that the EEC was trying to mediate in the crisis to avoid having to impose sanctions and dismissed questions about Iran's reaction to the punitive measures by saying that has been "explained in detail in the past." Iran has warned several times that any nation joining the boycott would be "forever" cut off from Iranian oil. It also said it would turn to the Soviet Union and the Communist Bloc for trade.

Meanwhile, 50 of the hostages held by the Moslem militants who seized the U.S. Embassy Nov. 4 passed their 195th day in captivity at 14 heavily-guarded sites across Iran. Another three captives—including U.S. Charge d'Affaires Bruce Laing—were being held hostage in the Iranian Foreign Ministry.

...as allies set to act today

NAPLES, Italy (UPI) — With the pressure of their own deadline weighing uncomfortably upon them, the foreign ministers of the nine European Common Market nations meet this week to discuss stronger economic action against Iran for refusing to free 53 American hostages.

Last April 22, the market ministers promised to impose strong economic sanctions against Iran if, by today, May 17, it showed no signs of being willing to free the hostages.

The European governments pledged themselves to enact sanctions outlined in a U.N. Security Council resolution vetoed by the Soviet Union last January unless "decisive progress leading to the release of the hostages" had been made.

With no progress to report on the hostages' 195th day of captivity and the situation complicated by the abortive U.S. rescue attempt, diplomatic sources said Friday the ministers meeting today at the Villa Rosenberg outside Naples had no choice but to make good on the pledge, even though many clearly would prefer not to impose sanctions.

The bleak outlook was underscored by Italian-Foreign Minister Emilio Colombo in talks with visiting Portuguese President Antonio Eanes.

"The European Economic Community has a clear position on the matter," Colombo said. "That has not surfaced and the EEC is therefore ready for greater rigor." The Security Council resolution vetoed by the Soviet Union would have halted all exports to Iran from the nine nations except medicine and food, a loss of about $7 billion in annual trade.

The economic tightrope walked by EEC nations has been made more risky by Europe's need for Iranian oil, the desire not to impede Iranian President Bani-Sadr's attempts to resolve the crisis and fear that the Soviet Union is waiting for the wings to help Iran overcome any difficulties.

Now, if they deliver on their promise as President Carter has said he expects, the allies risk losing the $60,000 barrels of Iranian oil they import daily.

They are also worried, according to diplomatic sources, that sanctions might hurt them more than Iran, particularly if they push Iranian trade Moscow's way.

Historically America's first strike force, the role of the U.S. Marine Corps is being re-evaluated

Marines: Changing conditions force Congress to reassess role

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress must consider whether to retain the Marine Corps as a possibly outmoded amphibious force or to give the elite force new missions in the Indian Ocean area or Europe, a budget report said Thursday.

An issue paper published by the Congressional Budget Office said questions about the Marine Corps' future "assume critical importance" in the next fiscal year due to organization of a rapid deployment force and requests by Denmark and Norway for the services of Marines as quick reinforcements in case of war.

The budget office papers, issued periodically, offer options but do not make recommendations. The Marine Corps has long served as the primary, long-distance general-purpose intervention force, this paper said, and principally as an amphibious force.

"Recent developments imply" new roles and missions for the Marine Corps, however, it said. "The administration's rapid deployment force concept, which calls for pre-stocking Marine equipment in the Indian Ocean region, could prompt demands for significantly greater Marine Corps desert warfare capabilities," the paper said.

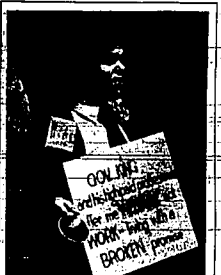

"On the other hand," it added, "changing perceptions of the NATO-Warsaw pact balance in northern Europe have led to proposals that the Marines be designated for quick reinforcement of allied forces in Norway and Denmark."

One option, the paper said, would be to go along with the administration's current budget request, which proposes no major changes for the Marines with the exception of those dealing with the rapid deployment force.

The second option would be to commit nearly two divisions and air wings to reinforce Denmark and Norway, with the remainder of the manpower continuing in the traditional amphibious role. Denmark and Norway prohibit stationing of foreign troops on their soil including pre-stocking and, in the case of Denmark, military construction.

Under a third option outlined by the paper, the Marines would make up most of the rapid deployment force and would be specifically equipped for middle-eastern warfare.

The fourth option would be a mix of land warfare in northern Europe and amphibious activity in the Middle East with the Marines getting specific missions in these areas.

BURTON GUTTERMAN

Dwarf protests rejection for police force

BOSTON (UPI) — Burton Gutterman, who claims his physical handicap makes him a medical liability, flunked his medical examination and allegedly lied on his application by saying he was a Boston resident when he lives in suburban Brookline.

Gutterman, 27, said there is nothing wrong with his legs, as stated in the police department letter notifying him that he had flunked the medical. "They never had any intention of hiring me," claimed the former psychology major.

Police personnel director Michael Gardiner said Gutterman flunked the physical because of "recurring back problems and knee pain" and because he was afflicted with Achondroplasia, an hereditary condition that results in dwarfism. Gardiner said the department has no height requirement.

Now, after a year and a half of job hunting and conferring with state leaders, including the Gov. Edward J. King, he said he has been "reduced to selling pencils on a street corner for lack of something better."

Gutterman paraded around the Statehouse steps with pencils in a tin cup and a placard reading: "Governor King and his high paid professionals offer me welfare, not work." He really just want to show my indignation to this whole system," he said waving his brand new Massachusetts vendors license. He said he resented being on welfare when "I'm completely qualified to work."

He said he has applied for many jobs, and has taken a few temporary positions — "ones that held no future for me." He said he was turned down at state agencies "even though I was just as qualified as the rest but I know I was turned down because of my height." "I don't have a problem," claimed Gutterman. "It's a problem with other people."

Cuba offers apology to U.S. for buzzing rescue chopper

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fidel Castro's government has apologized to the United States for buzzing a U.S. Coast Guard helicopter—the State Department said Friday.

The buzzing, done by two Cuban MIGs, occurred Monday near the Bahama Coast when the aircraft were carrying out a search and rescue operation for survivors of a Bahaman Coast Guard vessel attacked earlier by Cuban jets.

Spokesman Thomas Reston quoted the Cuban foreign minister saying "that a careful investigation had determined that the version of the incident presented by the Department of State is essentially correct. He gave assurances that it would not be repeated."

Officials could not recall the last time the Cuban government apologized to the United States for anything. "We are pleased," Reston said.

Meets with Gromyko

Muskie speech shocks Soviets

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) — Secretary of State Edmund Muskie pointedly accused the Soviet Union Friday of violating the independence of Afghanistan then held a chilly, three-hour session with Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko that apparently failed to narrow the gap between the superpowers.

Muskie looked grim and weary as he emerged from the meeting, which ran an hour longer than expected and was the first high-level, face-to-face contact between the United States and Soviet Union since the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan last December.

Only four hours earlier, Muskie, without naming Afghanistan or the Soviet Union, denounced the Kremlin's actions and declared the United States would not let them go unchallenged. With Gromyko staring stonily into the distance while sitting just a few feet away during a ceremony marking the 25th anniversary of Austria's post-war sovereignty, Muskie charged "the principles of neutrality, independence and territorial integrity, so respected in the case of Austria, are today being violated."

"Today we are faced with a vital lesson from the past—that an act of aggression anywhere threatens security everywhere. "My country and others will oppose such actions... we shall continue to convey the costs of aggression so long as it continues," he said.

The secretary said his encounter with Gromyko "fully justified my belief that it was necessary to hold these talks."

Gromyko left the meeting by a rear door and was not available for comment. At the Austrian celebration at the Belvedere Palace earlier, Muskie ended his formal remarks on a hopeful note.

"We remain optimistic that progress can be made... for the treaty we commemorate today is an enduring reminder. It is a reminder that even in the most difficult time it is possible — indeed, all the more important — to work for a stable and peaceful world," he said.

But Gromyko's delegation apparently took exception to the overall tone of Muskie's speech. "Everyone among us is shocked," a Soviet newsman said. "Why did he make such a strong statement at what was a formal ceremony while all the others were mild?"

American officials said Muskie himself put the final touches to speech at the very last minute. They said Muskie "wants it made clear" that when he referred to aggression against an independent, neutral nation he meant the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan.

Ohira's coalition falls in no-confidence vote

TOKYO, Japan (UPI) — Japan's ruling party lost a confidence vote in parliament for the first time in 27 years Friday.

Prime Minister Masayoshi Ohira, shaken and surprised by the unexpected defeat, called a new general election for next month. Seventy-three members of Ohira's ruling Liberal Democratic Party defected and voted for the prime minister, thus enabling a no-confidence motion introduced by the Socialist Party and backed by other leftist groups to pass 343-187. Analysts laid Ohira's defeat to a number of factors, including the prime minister's political over-confidence in the unity and support of his party.

The Socialists also were dissatisfied with Ohira's strong support of the United States in the Iranian and Afghan crises and his decision to increase defense spending which they saw as signs of a drift to the right.

Prime Minister Ohira ...stunned by vote

New Ugandan rulers win key support from Tanzania

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (UPI) — Ugandan military rulers arrived in the northern Tanzanian town of Arusha Friday to confer with President Julius Nyerere, thus winning key recognition of their regime in the wake of the overthrow of Ugandan President Godfrey Binaisa.

Diplomatic sources in Dar es Salaam reported, meanwhile, that the six-man military commission that toppled Binaisa has agreed to vest presidential powers in a new three-man commission that will be composed of two Ugandan judges and a medical doctor.

Nyerere, whose troops overthrew Ugandan dictator Idi Amin and are still considered to hold the balance of power in Uganda, had not publicly commented on the removal of Binaisa.

But his agreement to receive the military commission for talks on the future of Uganda amounted to recognition of their new government. Binaisa's fall reportedly led to the presidential election in Entebbe under the protection of Tanzanian troops.

The military commission originally announced that it would take over the powers of the presidency itself—in a key concession, Nyerere reportedly won their agreement to appoint outsiders to the presidential panel.

Housing

Starts fall to lowest level in 5 years, but encouraging signs seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New housing construction in April slipped to the lowest level since the damaging recession of five years ago, the government reported Friday. But the troubled industry still saw some encouraging signs.

"We are reaching the bottom," said Michael Sumchra, chief economist with the National Association of Home Builders. "May and June should mark the bottom for the housing recession."

For a time, with mortgage rates rising to historically high levels, only a very small percentage of American families — roughly 5 percent — could afford to purchase homes.

But mortgage rates, like all other interest rates, have declined dramatically in recent weeks and some administration economists are hoping the housing industry can stage a comeback before year's end.

The industry has a long way to go. The Commerce Department said housing starts are running 42 percent below the annual rate of 1.75 million in April 1979.

But Sumchra said if mortgage rates continue falling, "we think some people will enter the housing market again" and make the industry's prospects for 1981 significantly brighter.

The Commerce Department said housing starts declined 2.1 percent last month to a seasonally-adjusted annual rate of 1,019,000 — the lowest level since April 1975 when new housing units were being built at a rate of 1,005,000.

The department also reported that new building permits, an indication of future homebuilding activity, dropped 14.6 percent in April. A month earlier, permits declined 18.4 percent, according to revised figures released Friday.

There were some signs pointing to future improvement in the housing picture, however.

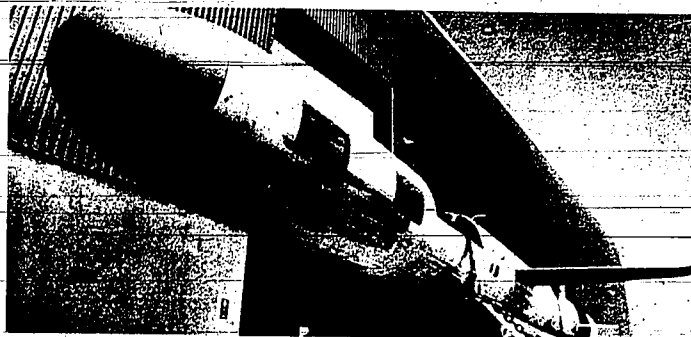

The April decline in housing starts was minuscule compared to the revised 21.7 percent fall-off in March — suggesting the recent string of devastating declines in housing starts may be bottoming out.

This ground-based Tomahawk cruise missile successfully completed its second test Friday at Utah test site.

New cruise missile test goes OK

DUGWAY PROVING GROUND, Utah (UPI) — The U.S. Air Force Friday successfully flew a Tomahawk ground-launched cruise missile in the first of 12 tests aimed at checking out the new weapon's mobile launcher and rocket booster.

The unarmed missile, under development as a nuclear weapon for use in U.S. and NATO defense arsenals in Europe, was launched at 7:25 a.m. from the Dugway Proving Ground's Utah Test and Training Range, said Staff Sgt. Phil Hale.

Information on the duration, length and exact course of the Tomahawk's flight were confidential, said the Dugway spokesman. But Hale said the entire flight path was over either the test range or adjacent military land.

The Tomahawk is produced by the Convair Division of General Dynamics in San Diego, Calif. Hale said the missile itself is identical to a sea-launched missile, also called the Tomahawk, produced by General Dynamics for the U.S. Navy. The sea-launched version has been test-launched more than 50 times.

But, he said, the ground-launched version of the Tomahawk uses a different launching system and rocket booster than the sea-launched missile.

Hale said the Dugway tests are aimed proving the reliability of a combination missile support vehicle, called a transporter-erector-launcher, and a mobile launch control center for the Tomahawk.

Hale said the Air Force estimates the cost of developing and deploying the Tomahawk ground-launched system at $2 billion.

Psychiatrist flown to Nimitz to aid families readjusting

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — A civilian psychiatrist was flown to sea Friday to help crewmen from three Navy warships prepare to be reunited with their children who they haven't seen in nine months.

Dr. Leonard Lexter was to rendezvous Saturday with the carrier Nimitz and cruisers California and Texas, which were scheduled to return to Norfolk May 26 from their duty station in the Indian Ocean off Iran.

"We'll work with the fathers in a preventative way so they can better understand the effects of separation on child development," said Lexter, director of children's services at the local Community Mental Health Center.

"We want the fathers to appreciate that there are different reactions that even display when someone they love very much leaves for a prolonged time," said Lexter, also a staff member at Eastern Virginia Medical School.

Lexter said some children may actually be angry with their fathers for leaving home while others may have embraced another as a replacement, such as a "scout master, neighbor or minister."

Navy will try to investigate sunken U-boat

BEAUFORT, N.C. (UPI) — Navy divers later this month will attempt to enter a sunken World War II Nazi submarine off the North Carolina coast to remove live torpedoes and remains of 11 German sailors.

The primary object of the 17-day project is to remove live munitions that pose a danger to sport divers. But the West German government has given its permission to remove the soldier's bodies for burial in a U.S. military cemetery.

The wreckage of the vessel, U-235, is located in 17 feet of water about 26 miles south of Beaufort where it was sunk by the Coast Guard cutter Icarus on May 9, 1942. The area was a prime hunting ground for German subs during the war.

The project is scheduled to begin May 27 and last for 17 days. It is being conducted at the request of Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn. Weicker is a sport diver who complained about the dangers of the live ordnance after a dive at the wreck site last year.

Navy divers in previous expeditions found six 88-mm rounds near the vessel's conning tower.

Canal treaty implementation gets good marks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The General Accounting Office concluded Friday that America has done a good job of implementing the 1977 Panama Canal treaties but said some improvements are still needed.

GAO said that overall, since the treaty went into effect, "progress has been good in implementing the treaty's provisions, as illustrated by the smooth transfer to Panama of various port and railroad facilities, certain health and sanitation services and other functions."

The GAO said there are a number of areas that still need work done, but it did not note any major problems in them.

Under the treaty, the United States will maintain troops and defense rights in the Panama Canal region until Dec. 31, 1999. After that, the canal becomes fully Panamanian, but the United States retains an indefinite right to protect the canal's neutrality by military means, if necessary.

Carter signs food stamp authority

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter Friday signed an interim $2.56 billion appropriations bill that will keep federal food stamp benefits flowing to 21 million Americans — at least until August.

Carter signed the bill without comment. The White House issued a simple two-line statement saying the bill received the president's approval.

To keep the food stamp program from running out of money, Congress took the unusual action of approving a special spending bill before deciding on the overall federal budget.

Both houses of Congress approved the measure Thursday night, that means there will be money available to keep the food stamp program operating beyond the end of May, when previously appropriated funds were to run out.

But the measure does not contain enough money to carry the program through to the end of the fiscal year Sept. 30, officials said.

They said the new funding may run out as early as mid-August or September.

Good references precede doctor's hiring

By RON ZELLAR
Times-News Staff

JEROME — St. Benedict's Hospital spokesman said Friday the hospital received good recommendations before it hired a doctor accused of sexual misconduct in two states.

Hospital director Bob Campbell said Dr. William C. Donohue produced the names of four persons who gave glowing accounts of his professionalism and competency as a physician.

Donohue pleaded guilty last month to third-degree sexual assault in a Toledo, Ohio, court. He stands charged in Jerome County with an infamously crime against nature of five counts of lewd conduct with a 14-year-old boy. Other charges are pending, according to the Jerome County sheriff's office.

Donohue joined the St. Benedict's staff last November, and Campbell said the hospital was unaware of any charges against him until Jan. 15.

County-law-enforcement officials said they learned about a warrant for Donohue's arrest while checking his license during a routine traffic stop in January.

Campbell said the hospital took prompt steps "to assure the safety of patients" at St. Benedict's, but he declined to elaborate, saying he has been advised by the hospital's attorneys not to volunteer information that might jeopardize Donohue's right to a fair trial.

Asked why Donohue was granted "temporary" privileges when he arrived at the hospital last November, Campbell said the doctor had not completed all of the requirements set forth in the hospital's bylaws.

The bylaws state that a physician seeking to practice at St. Benedict's must provide at least two references who can attest to his competency, as well as references to attest to his ethical conduct and information regarding whether his license or clinical privileges have ever been suspended.

"We got four personal recommendations, and agreed to grant temporary privileges pending receipt of the other information," he said.

No report of clinical privileges at other hospitals was received until after he became aware of the Ohio charge, Campbell confirmed.

The director said he suspended Donohue's hospital privileges upon receipt of legal papers verifying the Ohio guilty plea. Donohue appealed the suspension, as allowed in the hospital's bylaws, and was reinstated "with additional restrictions and requirements" by the hospital's executive committee.

Campbell noted that the hospital has limited jurisdiction over the conduct of a private practice outside the hospital building, and he added that the bylaws regarding suspension are based on nationally established guidelines.

State medical officials in both Idaho and Ohio have refused to discuss the case, Don Deleski, executive director of the Idaho Board of Medicine, referred even board policy questions Friday to the State Attorney General's office.

Deputy State Attorney Jean Uranga said conviction of a felony does not necessarily prompt the board to revoke a medical license.

A review panel would have to consider "what kind of a felony are we talking about — income tax evasion?" she said. "And how long ago — 15 years?"

She said conviction of a felony or a guilty plea involving moral turpitude is grounds for removal of a license, but added that a hearing must afford defendants much the same rights they would be granted in a courtroom.

"They must be allowed to confront their accusers," she said. "There must be corroboration, which is often difficult. We must proceed very cautiously when we're talking about a guy's livelihood."

Campbell said no civil claims have been brought against St. Benedict's, but he conceded the hospital is in a precarious position.

He said he received more than 100 phone calls and 20 visits last Friday after the charges first became public.

River dredging opinion due out early next week

BOISE — An Attorney General's opinion scheduled for release Tuesday could pave the way for opening stretches of the Boise, Snake and Salmon rivers to dredge miners.

The Idaho Land Board has delayed any decision on about 20 applications for dredge mining leases on the three rivers while awaiting an opinion from Idaho Attorney General David Leroy. Leroy, who is also a member of the board, said that he will present the opinion to the board at its meeting Tuesday.

At issue is a dispute between the state and the federal government over who owns certain stretches of the rivers. The U.S. Forest Service disputed the state's right to issue leases for gold dredging on portions of the Salmon River. The Forest Service claimed that the state did not own the streambed and had no authority to permit dredge mining.

The state claims that the Boise, Salmon and Snake rivers are navigable waterways, which gives it legal authority to issue dredge mining leases. The federal government contends that those rivers have never been designated navigable by Congress and the court has ruled against the state.

At a January meeting of the Land Board, Leroy advised members to delay action on dredge mining leases until his office prepared an opinion. He said the opinion would include options open to the Land Board, include a lease, legislation and alternatives to leasing.

Gordon Reid, a planner for the Challis office of the Forest Service, said representatives of the Forest Service are scheduled to meet with state representatives to discuss the dispute later in the week.

About 20 dredge mining applications have been held up by the Land Board while the legal opinion was prepared, according to Gordon Frombiey, director of the state Department of Lands. But the board probably will not discuss those applications at its Tuesday meeting, he said.

Last January, the Land Board had lease applications for about 4,000 acres of the Salmon River, compared to about 900 acres currently leased, and 490 acres of the Boise River and 1,000 acres on the Snake River, compared to about 200 acres already leased.

Under the state leasing statute, Idaho receives 5 percent of the gross profit of all gold dredging mining operations. In 1979 the state received only $100 in royalties.

Reserve center being dedicated at 10 a.m.

TWIN FALLS — The new U.S. Army reserve center in Twin Falls will be dedicated at 10 a.m. today in a public ceremony at the facility.

Featured speaker will be Maj. Gen. R. A. Bresnahan, commanding general of the U.S. Army Readiness Region 8.

The new reserve center is located at the Twin Falls City-County airport and has just been completed at a cost of approximately $800,000. It serves as headquarters for the local unit, Company D, 21st Engineer Battalion.

The public is invited to attend the dedication ceremony as well as inspect military equipment and hardware on display at the center during the morning.

The new facility was named for Maj. James T. Allred, who was the first Twin Falls County serviceman to die in Vietnam. He died in December of 1963.

County and city officials and other community leaders attended a luncheon in the Holiday Inn Friday in conjunction with the dedication and with Armed Forces Day, the date selected for the dedication. General Bresnahan was also the featured speaker for the community luncheon.

Cassia school board hopefuls fret over basics

By SUSAN GALLAGHER
Special to the Times-News

BURLEY — Contenders for two Cassia School Board positions in Tuesday's election say concern about basic educational programs prompted their candidacies.

Zone 1 candidates are Sylvan Morley of Burley and Thomas F. Miller, Richard Hardy and incumbent Ann Woodhouse, all of Oakley. Zone 2 candidates are Ralph Rasmussen and incumbent A. Paul Brown, both of Burley.

Each position carries a three-year term. Territory covered by Zone 1 includes Oakley. Zone 2 includes Burley.

Richard Hardy said his concerns include "the fact that some of our kids in this district are graduating without the skills they should have. I'm not blaming teachers and I don't know enough about what's been done in the past to say what changes should be made. But if I become closely involved with the school system, I can make the right decisions."

Hardy owns The Computer Center in Burley and serves on the Oakley Medical Clinic board of directors.

Pharmacist Sylvan Morley said his daily contact with the public has familiarized him with common feelings about the performance of the school system.

"I know the people of our community and believe the board hasn't represented the general public or the teachers to the best of their ability," Morley said. Public petitions concerning athletics and instructional programs have been ignored by the board, he claimed.

Morley charged also that some teachers have been fired unjustly and others who were outspoken faced budget criticism.

Incumbent Ann Woodhouse said she has allowed Burley district schools have been moving to stagnate in some instances.

"I'd like to see something more progressive happening here," Miller said. "I think that sometimes in our little communities we become so close-knit we forget what the rest of the world is doing."

Miller, a geologist operating a silver mine, said his special concerns include bolstering the athletic program.

Incumbent Ann Woodhouse said hurdles the board faced during her first term included teachers' discontent over the adoption of stricter employee evaluation guidelines.

"Some of the teachers felt it was quite a bit all at once," Woodhouse said, "but I think the resentment is lessening."

She said the school district's overall program of education is sound, but noted that the change in administrators at Oakley "might have temporarily cost us some continuing in programs."

Adequate financing, Woodhouse said, "is always a problem for schools. But I don't think we're in any worse condition than any of our neighbors, and we're probably doing better than some. We recently gave our teachers an 11 percent raise, which I think is a pretty fair-sized increase."

Woodhouse is employed by the U.S. Postal Service at Oakley.

Rasmussen, incumbent A. Paul Brown's lone opponent, said he filed candidacy "because I don't think anyone should run unopposed, and because after a person has been in office a couple of terms, there's a need for change."

A credit manager for J.R. Simplot Co., Rasmussen said also that he is unhappy with some board decisions, among them assignment transfers he claims were unfair to teachers.

Dentist A. Paul Brown is finishing his eighth year on the board and is the current chairman.

Brown said reasons for his re-election bid include the desire to foster greater communication between the board and public. With that goal in mind, he said, he recently instigated day-long board visits to outlying areas of the Cassia district.

He said that when he first joined the board the group's biggest task involved obtaining voters' approval of bond issues to build new facilities.

"Those buildings have been erected, but the question of adequate facilities is surfacing again, according to Brown, who said the Cassia district now faces a rising school-age population in rural areas and a declining number of children in Burley.

Weekly hostage reminders slated

TWIN FALLS — Beginning at noon today the Twin Falls Veterans of Foreign Wars post will conduct a weekly demonstration to keep area residents mindful of American hostages in Iran.

Fred Stecklein, junior vice commander of the local veterans group, said each Saturday from now until the hostages are released, veterans will have a color guard and flag presentation at the memorial monument in Twin Falls.

"We want to show our concern and support for the hostages and for efforts to bring them home. We want all good American citizens to join us. We will have flags for display by anyone who wants to participate," he said.

Sun Valley seeks $18 lift tickets

SUN VALLEY — Sun Valley Co. officials have asked the U.S. Forest Service for permission to raise the price of a one-day lift ticket to $18.

The raise from the $16 rate would be a 12.5 percent increase.

Sun Valley officials submitted the proposal to the Forest Service office at Twin Falls Thursday.

Forest Supervisor Paul Barker said he will take several weeks to review the proposal.

Members of the Methuen-based Skiffition Committee said they will adopt a wait-and-see attitude on the proposal until Barker issues his decision.

The committee has sought previous requests, charging that Sun Valley and other large resorts possess the ability to fix prices for quality skiing.

The proposed rate for a half-day pass — $12 — would be a 14 percent increase.

Prices for holders of Idaho Discount cards would increase from $9.50 to $11. In approving past rate hikes, Barker has noted that the company offers a discount for regular ski customers.

The new rates would take effect next ski season, replacing those used during the 1979-80 season.

Caster ordered to return $20,000

TWIN FALLS — A 6th District Court judge has ordered John L. Caster of Wendell to return $20,000 in insurance benefits he collected on his deceased wife or show why the amount should not be returned.

James M. Cunningham ordered Caster to return the money after setting aside a default judgment in favor of Caster in his suit against State Farm Life Insurance Co.

Caster had brought action to collect insurance from a policy he took out on his wife, Rhonda, who was killed in a traffic accident a short time later.

Caster was charged with manslaughter in the death.

Minidoka school issues are teachers, trust

RUPERT — Curling the loss of good teachers and gaining the public's trust may be among Minidoka School District top priorities in 1980.

Vying for the three-year Zone 3 position Tuesday will be Richard Swensen of Paul and Marva Myers, Esther Knopp and incumbent Alvin Keller, all of Rupert. Candidates for the three-year Zone 2 position are Monte Robinson of Rupert and Maxie Gunderson and incumbent Jim Brown, both of Paul.

Marva Myers said Minidoka teachers do not receive salaries competitive with those offered elsewhere, "so many of the good ones just don't stay with us very long."

Override tax levies have been soundly defeated because the district has insufficiently informed the public of local school needs, Myers added.

She said other factors prompting her candidacy include her feeling that students graduate from Minico High School "with 4.0 (A) grade averages yet aren't qualified for some of our good colleges. Some of the other kids who graduate perform on only a 3.0 grade level."

Myers, a health care worker, said she also is disturbed by inadequate classroom discipline and about the school district's apparent disinterest in paying for valuable programs funded by expiring federal grants.

An active PTA member, Myers said that if she is elected she will open her home one night a month to school district patrons wishing to express their ideas and concerns about Minidoka schools.

Richard Swensen, owner of Swensen's Market in Paul, said insufficient funding is Minidoka schools' main problem. Voters defeated proposed override levies because they lack confidence in the school board and school officials, Swensen said.

Like Myers, he expressed concern about the loss of teachers disgruntled over salaries.

Swensen said that while he realizes there are differences in running a store and a school district, he believes his extensive experience in private business would be an asset to the school board.

Esther Knopp, homemaker and parent of a child who received special education through Minidoka schools, said she seeks election "because I want to be sure we have quality education for all children, including the handicapped. I also would like to see more vocational education for all children."

Knopp observed that sometimes the vocational aptitude of the handicapped is underestimated.

Incumbent Alvin Keller, Minidoka School Board chairman, said his reasons for seeking re-election include his belief that the Minidoka School Board is making strides toward improving communication with the public.

This spring, he said, board members began a citizens' committee to enhance the board's grasp of public thought on school matters and to help disseminate information about board activity.

Keller is a field representative for Almagamat Sugar Co.

Maxie Gunderson said that as a board member she would strive to resolve morale problems she perceives among teachers. Many apparently do not feel comfortable talking to administrators about day-to-day problems, she said.

Gunderson said her goals as a board member also would involve creation of a public kindergarten and restoration of what she says is an ailing home economics program.

Gunderson is employed part-time as a checker at Valley Market in Paul. She has served as a school room mother and is active in 4-H Leadership and PTA.

Monte Robinson maintains he would promote more board say in school affairs. Presently, he observed, "the board is just rubber-stamping what the administration says."

A former Minidoka School District teacher, Robinson said he strongly endorses offering teachers higher salaries and trimming the size of the administrative staff.

He is a representative for a Texas-based roofing products firm and works part-time as an aerial photographer.

Jim Brown is nearing the end of his first board term. Brown, a realtor, could not be reached for an interview.

Sagebrush backer twisting arms on GOP committee

By LAURIE HOLLMAN
States News Service
WASHINGTON — Senate Minority Whip Ted Stevens is trying to arm-twist the Republican Platform Committee into coming down strongly in favor of the rights of Westerners to manage their own affairs.

He leveled one of the most ardent and partisan attacks to date against the Carter Administration, testifying recently before the committee on what ought to be in the 1980 Republican platform.

Stevens said the Republican Party should make clear its commitment to solving western problems with western solutions to ensure that its broad support in the West continues unabated.

If the GOP delivers a Sagebrush-style plank in its 1980 platform, the Alaskan said, "I am confident that our great party will do as well this year as we did in 1976, when the party lost to Texas and Hawaii, west Republican."

After alternately threatening and cajoling, Stevens said in less than four years, this Administration has done more damage to the West and its residents than all the past administrations.

Pointing to Carter's water and timber management policies, Stevens said the federal government has triumphed over state rights.

Observing that the West is "Republican country," the Alaskan senator recommended that the GOP's presidential platform heed the call of Sagebrush states.

To that end, Stevens suggested a GOP platform including:

- A guarantee to continue traditional uses on federal land;
- Assurance that resource exploration and development can take place on federal lands;
- A promise to reflect the needs and concerns of residents in the West; and
- A pledge to respect the authority of states to exercise their sovereign responsibilities on public lands.

The adviser Stevens offered to the platform committee was strongly worded in light of the party's almost certain support for the Sagebrush Rebellion.

Symms says queries on Hunt's interest much ado about nothing

BOISE (UPI) — Rep. Steve Symms said Friday questions about controversial Texas silver speculator Nelson Bunker Hunt and his place on Symms' campaign finance committee were "much ado about nothing."

The Idaho Republican also told reporters on KTVB's "Viewpoint" interview program that too much attention had been paid to contributions from oil company executives to the Symms campaign.

He said Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, who is being challenged by Symms in the senate race, should be asked about his contributions from easterners.

Hunt, who was hesitant to testify to Congress about his speculation in the silver market, was praised by Symms, who called the Dallas multi-millionaire a "victim" of falling silver prices. "He has lost a tremendous amount of money," Symms said.

There was no reason for him to ask Hunt, whom Symms pointed out twice, was a born-again Christian, to drop off the finance committee. He said Hunt was honest and had done nothing wrong.

The senatorial challenger added that he favored high silver prices because they would help northern Idaho's silver mines and economy, and that he had no problems with Hunt's connections with the John Birch Society.

Symms in addition blasted a series of radio commercials being used by Church's campaign to attack Symms' voting record and campaign receipts.

The four-term Republican congressman railed that Church "has the audacity" to criticize Symms for accepting large amounts of money from out-of-state contributors. Symms said he had collected much more money from Idaho sources than had Church.

Symms said Church's radio commercials "alluded to" contributions Symms had received, supposedly, illegally.

Church, Symms said, "is running very scared. They will radio commercials will backfire on the Church campaign."

Army engineers to study Buhl dam site

WALLA WALLA, Wash. — The Army Corps of Engineers will cooperate with the Idaho Department of Water Resources in studying a potential dam site near Buhl.

Corps officials said in a news release this week the study will include surveying, exploratory drilling and geologic mapping at the site, located about a mile upstream from Clear Lake on the Snake River.

The DWR filed for water rights for possible construction of a 56-foot-high, state-owned dam and power plant at the site. Idaho Power Company officials had considered the site, but filed instead for another site several miles upstream near Kanaka Rapids.

News briefs

Possible drowning reported

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — A 18-year-old Memphis, Tenn. man, who missing and presumed drowned Thursday night after the rubber raft in which he and five others were riding spilled over a falls in the Snake River a mile north of here.

At dusk Thursday, Bonneville County Sheriff's river patrol boats still were searching for the body of Orville Mettinger.

Mettinger's five companions survived the plunge into the river's rapids. The survivors were treated at an Idaho Falls hospital for hypothermia caused by their lengthy immersion in the 38-degree water. The girl listed the five as Steven Hollinger, 20; Carl Geiger, 22; and George Tillman, 20.

All, except Mrs. Geiger, are attached to a naval unit currently in nuclear training in Idaho Falls.

Sheriff's deputies said it appeared only Mrs. Geiger was wearing a life jacket at the time of the mishap. Two of the survivors made it to shore alone but three were picked up by rescue teams with boats.

Topless dancers lose

BOISE (UPI) — Topless dancing in Garden City suffered a preliminary defeat Thursday when a Boise judge struck down an argument by a bar owner that a state law being used to close his business was unconstitutional.

The ruling by 4th District Judge Gerald Schroeder means Garden City officials can proceed with a probable cause hearing and trial aimed at revoking the Hunt Club's liquor licenses.

Club attorneys had contended the state law banning sale of liquor where women completely expose their breasts violates the Idaho Constitution, but Schroeder disagreed.

Schroeder earlier issued a temporary order restraining the state Law Enforcement Department's revocation of the club's liquor licenses. The judge said the club ought to have the opportunity to defend itself under the Administrative Procedures Act.

State undercover agents said they attended several of the "burlesque" shows at the club during the past month and on five occasions saw dancers expose their breasts. The club was raided Friday, but Schroeder's temporary order Monday allowed the club to continue operating.

Batt heading to China

BOISE (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Phil Batt will head an Idaho-trade delegation to the republic of China from May 26 to June 1 to discuss trade relations; Gov. John V. Evans announced Friday.

Earlier this year the Republic of China bought $26 million worth of Idaho wheat and barley.

Batt said the delegation will be provided information concerning the economic outlook for the 1980s and business opportunities for American companies with knowledgeable managers of the country.

"We also will discuss opportunities for exports by U.S. firms in the fields of energy, petrochemicals, agricultural and construction machinery and agriculture commodities," Batt said.

Other members of the delegation are Ted Roth of American Falls representing the Poyen Co. Wheat Growers Association, and Frank Higgins of Kamiah, a member of the Idaho Wheat Commission.

Girl, 6, shot in face

TERRETON (UPI) — A 6-year-old Terreton girl died Friday of a rifle blast to the face, Jefferson County authorities said.

Jefferson County Sheriff Joe Potter said Lisa Murphy died instantly from a .22-caliber rifle blast to the face.

Potter said Lisa was at home with four other children when her 8-year-old brother found the rifle behind the door of their mobile home. The children were playing with the gun when the accident occurred about noon while the parents were at work, Potter said.

DHW may know Monday

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho Health and Welfare Director Milton Klein says his department may know Monday whether it will be able to come up with $450,000 to avert a June shortage in the Aid to Dependent Children program.

The money is needed because the Legislature did not grant the extra funding in its special session this week.

Klein says the only program in which the money for the welfare program might be available is in the already strapped Medicaid program.

"The ADC program serves about 13,000 Idaho children and 6,000 adults."

Republic may fly Idaho

BOISE (UPI) — Republic Airlines might be scheduling flights to Idaho later this year, company officials say.

The Minneapolis-based carrier is in the process of acquiring Hughes Aircraft, which already flies in the Gem state.

If the federal government gives final approval to the merger, the yellow Hughes Aircraft jets would be replaced by Republic's blue, green and white aircraft.

Company spokesman Walt Hellman says Republic plans to reduce its in-service provided now by Hughes Aircraft, and that there is hope the merger would be completed by this fall and flights could be scheduled.

Hellman says it was likely Republic would fly to Boise, Twin Falls, Lewiston, Idaho Falls and Pocatello.

5 medical offices robbed

TWIN FALLS — Five medical offices near Magic Valley Regional Hospital were burglarized Thursday night.

Twin Falls Police said a safe was pried open in one of the burglaries, but others mostly involved ransacking filing cabinets and drawers.

In most cases burglars took only small amounts of cash. Police said all of the burglaries occurred sometime between about 6 p.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. Friday.

The first burglary report came from the office of Dr. Wayne Wright, 526 Shoup Ave. W. An office employee discovered the break-in when she arrived for work about 9 a.m., where very little was reported missing, but damage in gaining entry, reached $285.

At the offices of Dr. Max Carver, 254 Martin St., only $2 was found by burglars as they rifled desks and cash boxes.

Another entry was made in the office of Dr. Roy Shaul, 526 Shoup Ave. W., where burglars took $145 in cash from the business office.

Thieves entered the offices of the Magic Valley Medical Group at 284 Martin St., where they found $122 in cash from office desks and also caused $100 damage to the building.

Dr. Harry Brumbach, 238 Martin St., also reported a burglary Friday morning. Thieves pried open the office safe but found only $26 for their trouble. Brumbach said damage to the safe and a copy machine in the office amounted to about $1,000.

Police Chief Tim Qualls said similar methods were followed in all five break-ins, indicating the same individuals were involved.

HANSEN — In an article about candidates for the Hansen Zone 3 School Board seat, the husband of one of the candidates was incorrectly reported to be the manager of a cow-calf plant in Twin Falls. Dan Peak manages the Cal-Gas plant in Twin Falls.

In an article about the candidates for the Hansen Zone 2 School Board seat, one of the candidates was incorrectly quoted as saying 90 percent of the people in the zone live in the subdivision that she lives in. Actually, 90 percent of the school-age children in the zone live in that subdivision. Daylaun Eguasquiza also was quoted as saying that she had taken a problem before the school board several times and was concerned that the board members did not take it seriously enough. She has only presented that problem to the board once.

Carter reaffirms Olympic boycott position

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter, rebuffing appeals for compromise, told International Olympic Committee officials Friday more than 40 nations have agreed to boycott the Moscow Games, and he will try to expand the protest.

In a related development, the administration Friday rejected a request for an additional $4.3 million to help the Lake Placid Olympic Organizing Committee meet its debts for the Winter Games.

Carter met for 30 minutes in the Oval Office with Lord Killanin, president of the IOC, and Monique Berlioux, its director. Killanin met last week with Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev in a bid to salvage the Summer Olympics.

The president pulled America out of the Games to protest the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan, and urged other nations to follow suit. His drive received a major boost Thursday when West Germany refused to attend.

"The president reaffirmed that the United States will continue to urge other governments and Olympic committees to oppose participation in the Olympic Games in Moscow this summer," the White House said in a statement following the Friday session.

The White House said Carter "noted that more than 40 national Olympic committees have already decided not to attend the Moscow games, including Canada, China, Norway, Kenya, Argentina and numerous Moslem nations."

The statement said Carter "made clear that this position does not detract in any way from our support of the international Olympic movement, and that we will welcome athletes from any Olympic nation at the 23rd Olympic Games in Los Angeles in 1984."

"The position of the United States in opposition to sending a team to the 22nd Olympic Games in Moscow results solely from the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan and our belief that it was not appropriate to attend the Games in a host nation that was invading its neighbor."

During his Moscow visit, Killanin convinced Brezhnev to seal down opening and closing ceremonies, including elimination of national flags and national anthems, in hopes of removing overt political symbolism. The Winter Olympics were held at Lake Placid, N.Y., which won the right to host the Games partly because it said the events could be carried out inexpensively. But then the Lake Placid group asked the government to help bail it out of debt, claiming the Moscow boycott hurt contributions.

Friday, Budget Director James McIntyre notified the Rev. J. Bernard Fell, president of the Lake Placid group. "The administration has concluded that it would not be appropriate to provide additional federal support."

He said the federal government has spent $90 million already for the Games and noted the "last time the members of the LPOOC appeared before the Congress and successfully sought funds, they were told that no further federal funds would be available."

He suggested the group, which says its total debt stands at $5.9 million, seek money elsewhere.

NHL playoff on verge of intensifying

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (UPI) — Now that the Philadelphia Flyers and New York Islanders have left each other out in the first two games of the Stanley Cup finals, goalie Billy Smith feels the pace will intensify.

"Going into our building, our guys are going to start retaliating a little more," the Islanders' goalie said following the Flyers' 8-3 Thursday night rout which squared the best-of-seven series with Game 3 scheduled for tonight at the Nassau Coliseum.

"We started tonight in the third period, when we started to get fed up with them sparring. They keep doing that and our guys are going to have to start retaliating."

Smith, who was removed in favor of Glenn Resch after surrendering six goals in two periods, made no excuses concerning his ineffective goaltending.

"My job was to stop them," said Smith. "There's no excuse. I'm supposed to come up with the big saves and I did not do it."

Islander coach Al Arbour has not disclosed whether he'll use Smith or Resch today as New York seeks a 2-1 advantage in a bid for its first Stanley Cup.

Arbour was still seething over Philadelphia's aggressive brand of play which he termed "chippy play and backstabbing."

"If they want to backstab, we've got the best in the league at doing it," said Arbour. "We don't like to play that way, but we can. We proved it against Boston—and we're gonna prove it against these guys."

Dennis Potvin also is bent on revenge.

"They've got a lot of spear carriers out there," said Potvin, who scored the winning overtime goal in Game One. "We'll have some too."

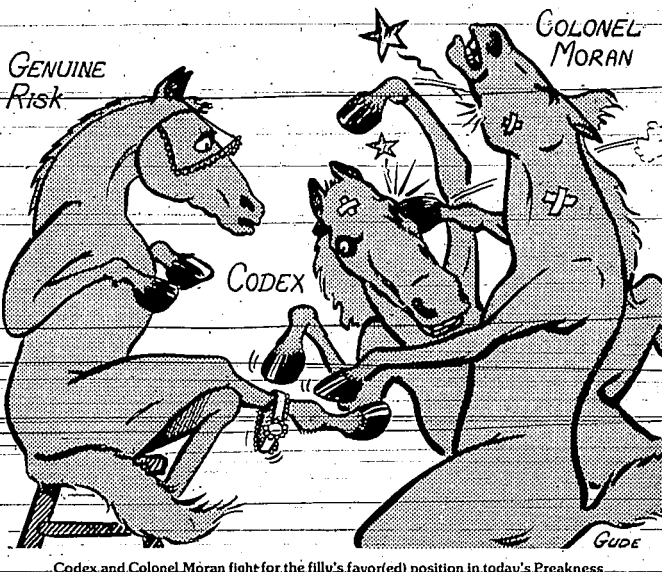

Paul Holmgren, who considered a hatched man on, is disturbed over the Islanders' roughness, allegations and believes there could be trouble brewing if both teams forget finesse and go gunning for each other.

Holmgren, the big gun in Philadelphia's Thursday rout, with a three-goal hat trick, is a 6-foot-3, 210-pound right winger who at one time could have set up residency in the penalty box.

He had a tough time convincing the team brass he could do anything but fight after averaging 206 penalty minutes a season.

But a career-high 30 goals in the 1978-79 season was a start toward changing his image.

"I'm concerning myself with self-control in the playoffs," said Holmgren, who did not pick up any of the 84 penalty minutes called in the second game.

Codex and Colonel Moran fight for the filly's favor(ed) position in today's Preakness

Genuine Risk goes for new glory

BALTIMORE (UPI) — No matter what she does in today's 103rd Preakness at Pimlico, Genuine Risk will always be considered one of the finest fillies ever to walk onto a racetrack.

But today, Genuine Risk has a chance to do more than win a horse race. A victory over her seven male rivals would establish the Kentucky Derby winner as one of the finest racehorses of all time, male or female. Moreover, it would move her into a position that no other filly ever has been in — threatening for the Triple Crown.

"The Triple Crown is so difficult for any horse," said trainer Lefty Jolley of the series, which concludes with the 1 1/2-mile Belmont on June 7 and which has been won by only 11 colts. "A horse has to be in top condition for so long. They're in constant training, and there's no chance for a break. But she's raced pretty lightly (tight starts) and I hope that would be a factor."

Despite her clear victory in the Derby two weeks ago, Genuine Risk is still struggling for the favorite's role in the $250,000 Prudgen, Earl Hart, the linemaster at Pimlico, established her as the early 9-5 favorite, with the California horse, Codex, the second choice at 2-1. Colonel Moran was 3-1 and Jaklin Klugman, third in the Derby and the only horse from Churchill Downs to challenge the filly again, was 5-1. Knight Landing, Samoyed, and Bing were 20-1 with Lucky Pluck the longest shot in the 1.316-mile race at 50-1. All the colts will carry 126 pounds, while Genuine Risk carries 122.

The Daily Racing Form, however, had Codex, winner of the Santa Anita and Hollywood Derbies, as the early 2-1 favorite with Colonel Moran and Genuine Risk the co-second choices at 5-2. Jaklin Klugman again was the fourth choice, at 4-1.

To Jolley, the odds were immaterial. "What's important to the trainer and her owner, Diana Firostone, is getting the filly across the finish line first. "She came out of the Derby better than she came out of the Wood 10 in which she was third behind Blugged Nickel and Colonel Moran," Jolley said. "I thought her Derby was a super performance — I had no idea they would run that fast."

"Her time (of 2:02) was the ninth fastest Derby in 105 years and she snapped back in 24 hours. She's trained just as good for this one as she did for the Derby. She'll have a nice clean shot."

Genuine Risk, who has won seven of eight starts for $399,455, will leave from the No. 5 post under Jacinto Vasquez, alongside the speedy Colonel Moran (No. 3) under Jose Velasquez and Codex No. 4 with Angel Cordero Jr. aboard. Jaklin Klugman, a late closer like Codex, drew the No. 7 spot.

Colonel Moran, who blazed to a season-best 1:34.25 in the Withers Mile on May 10, is expected to set the early pace and depending on how fast the track comes up, may emerge as the favorite. However, there is some doubt as to his ability to go more than a mile.

Owners take steps to assure season without contract

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Player Relations Committee threw another curve ball at the Major League Players Association Friday by proposing that negotiations between the two sides continue through the World Series and that the players continue to play under the old basic agreement.

However, federal mediator Kenneth Moffett expressed concern that no agreement would be reached before the proposed May 22 strike deadline and he indicated "there was some strong antagonism between the two sides."

"We are running out of time," said Moffett. "I'm concerned. Given the present mood of the parties and the present pace of the negotiations it just appears we are going to find ourselves out of time with all of the issues that remain on the table."

Moffett revealed that he and his group were taking a more active part because there was some antagonism between the two principals (Miller and Grebey), but declined to say that it would be a major factor.

The issue is compensation," Moffett said.

Ray Grebey, the director of the Player Relations Committee delivered a letter to Marvin Miller, the Executive Director of the Major League Players Association, which proposes that negotiations continue until a settlement has been reached and guarantees all provisions of the present (1976 contract) until opening day of 1981.

The contents of the management proposal are:

"Although the subject of an impasse in our negotiations has not been discussed at the bargaining table we are aware from press reports that members of the associations have expressed concern about an impasse and the possibility of action by the clubs that will affect their rights so that there will be no misunderstanding with respect to the club's position on this subject."

"We wish to assure the association that in the event that bargaining continues without any interruption of play through the 1980 World Series, the clubs will maintain the conditions of employment in effect at least until the opening of the next season."

"This commitment means of course that in the event that a new agreement is not reached prior to the end of the World Series this year the 1980 re-entry procedure will be conducted in accordance with the 1976 basic agreement."

Miller's reaction to this was, "What advantage is there to the players to work at the negotiating table while the owners are charging 1980 prices? They simply had nothing to talk about and did not wish to negotiate. They called us somewhere around 3:30 and asked us to be here around 4:00. They gave us a copy of the letter and we asked them if they were prepared to negotiate and they said no."

Miller feels that the owners want a strike as a second choice to being able to dictate a new contract which would take away the free agency clause of 1976.

Leonard's foe takes break in training

CROSSINGER, N.Y. (UPI) — Roberto Duran has taken a few days off from training — for his WBC welterweight title bout with Sugar Ray Leonard according to chief trainer Ray Arcel.

Arcel, recognized as one of the best cornermen in boxing, said Duran will resume training at this resort hotel next Thursday.

"Everything is going fine," said Arcel. "Roberto is looking good. He came to fight the fight of his life."

"Leonard is the clown in this act," said Duran. "I came to fight, not to talk."

Duran, who gave up the lightweight title to campaign as a welterweight, has won 69 of 70 bouts, including 55 knockouts. He is regarded as one of the hardest punchers ever to come in the lightweight or welterweight division.

The unbeaten Leonard, an excellent all-around boxer, says he will carry the fight to Duran — a statement, which brings a ready response from the Panamanian.

"I don't care what he does in the ring," says Duran. "Just so he don't jump out of it."

Judge dismisses athletes' suit against boycott

By United Press International
A federal judge Friday dismissed a lawsuit filed by 18 athletes seeking to block President Carter's boycott of the Moscow Olympics.

Denying the "responsibilities of citizenship" fall heavier on some than others, U.S. District Judge John Pratt rejected arguments by lawyers for the athletes who contended the U.S. Olympic Committee couldn't refuse to enter a team in the games.

"We do express our understanding of the deep disappointment and frustrations felt by thousands of American athletes," Pratt wrote in a 22-page opinion. "In doing so, we also recognize that the responsibilities of citizenship often fall more heavily on some than on others."

"These are the simple, although harsh, facts of life and they are immutable," the judge said.

AN ATTORNEY Friday predicted former heavyweight boxing champion George Foreman's treasonous conduct by a rural municipal jury would be voided by a county judge because of a legal technicality.

"It's a fatally defective complaint," attorney Charles M. Kinsey said in a legal document that Acting Police

Briefly in sports

Chief Joe Hairell of Tomball, Texas, filed after arresting Foreman and two other preachers Jan. 17 for failing to stop an impromptu revival on a school parking lot.

Kinsey said the error was minor but would nevertheless cause a Harris County judge to dismiss the case on appeal. Kinsey said he planned to start the appeal process Monday.

NORTHERN DIVISION champion Brigham Young placed six players and southern division runner-up New Mexico got five men on the All-Western Athletic Conference baseball teams selected by the coaches.

The selections were announced Thursday by retiring WAC Commissioner Stan Bates.

Six BYU players, including two repeaters from the 1979 team, were named to the 11-man northern division squad. The repeaters were BYU juniors Cliff Pastornicky and Stan Younger and senior catcher Randy George of Utah.

Pastornicky, Younger and two teammates were among the five unanimous selections to the 1980 All-WAC team. The others were pitcher Mark Huisman of Colorado State, pitcher Dave Bue of Brigham Young and infielder Mark Adamiak of BYU.

NUMBER 5573 has never lost a fight.

Unbeaten light heavyweight James Scott, a convict, makes another pitch for a title shot when he meets Jerry "Bull" Martin of Philadelphia in a 10-round main event behind bars at Rahway State Prison in New Jersey May 25.

Scott is a three-time loser with the law. He was incarcerated the last time on May 27, 1977 while on his way to a press conference announcing his signing to fight John Conch of Britain for the light heavy title.

GEORGE JOHNSON, a 6-7, 205-pound forward who was acquired from the Milwaukee Bucks by the Denver Nuggets last year, has been returned to the Wisconsin club to complete a deal between the two NBA teams, an official announced Friday.

Johnson, the Bucks' first-round draft choice in 1978, was purchased by the Nuggets last October, but the sale included an option which allowed Milwaukee to repurchase the contract at the end of the season.

BILLIE JEAN KING and Martina Navratilova outduelled Wendy Turnbull and Rosie Casals 6-2, 3-6, 6-2 Friday to reach the women's doubles final of a $75,000 International Tennis Tournament at Kolo.

ARIZONA STATE REGENTS, citing the heavy involvement required of collegiate sports, have approved an investigation into scholastic instruction given athletes at Arizona's three major universities.

"The average athlete is not lazy," said committee chairman Tom Chandler. "But, he isn't, athletes often have 'different interests' than other students. Regents must determine whether their participation in athletics interferes with getting an education, said Chandler.

The intercollegiate athletic committee of the Board of Regents will study the scholastic performance of basketball players at Arizona's three state-supported universities.

NCAA ends CSU investigation.

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (UPI) — The NCAA has ended its investigation into an incident involving Colorado State University assistant basketball coach Jerry Kerr last summer and has decided there is no need to take further action, a school spokesman said Friday.

"The announcement was made by C.O. Neidt, acting president of the Western Athletic Conference school. He said as far as he is concerned, the episode is at an end.

The NCAA began an investigation when it learned Kerr played in two games last summer with the university's intercollegiate basketball team during a tour of Australia.

A confidential report issued by the NCAA to Neidt noted the incident was minor, unintentional and was reported by the institution.

"We recognize the important role played by the association in maintaining the integrity of intercollegiate athletics," Neidt said.
