

Carter signs major truck deregulation bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)— President Carter Tuesday signed legislation he said will save consumers up to $3 billion annually by reducing government restrictions on the $47-billion-a-year interstate trucking industry.

The legislation, signed a year after Carter proposed it to Congress, joins administration laws deregulating airlines and banks. A railroad deregulation bill is expected to pass Congress later this year.

"We've had notable success with this Congress during the last three and a half years in getting the federal government's nose out of the private lives of American people and the private enterprise system," Carter said during a Rose Garden signing ceremony.

The legislation "will eliminate the red tape and the senseless over-regulation that have hampered the free growth and the development of the American trucking industry."

The new law will make it easier for new competitors to enter the industry and existing firms to expand; remove or ease regulations that restrict routes or limit the type of goods carried; and allow rates to be raised or lowered 10 percent in any one year without Interstate Commerce Commission action.

A key provision will end, by 1984, the antitrust immunity carriers currently enjoy to get together and set rates involving individual trucking companies over a given route.

Wilderness bill wins final OK

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The House Tuesday gave final congressional approval to legislation establishing a new wilderness area in Idaho despite opposition from an Idaho congressman.

The bill would declare 2,239,000 acres in central Idaho — largest stretch in the 48 contiguous states — to be the "River of No Return Wilderness" and would add 125 miles of the Salmon River to the Wild and Scenic Rivers System.

Saturday mail delivery wins House backing

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The House Office Committee Tuesday recommended cutting $46 million from public subsidies for the Postal Service during fiscal 1981 while requiring at the same time that Saturday mail deliveries be continued.

Rep. John Selberling, D-Ohio, said the bill would increase the availability of timber and would allow cobalt mining unless the Interior Department finds that it interferes with sheep.

JEROME — A meeting to resolve a split in the Jerome Police Department ended quickly Tuesday night.

Had he been chosen chief, Coats said he would have met with the senior officers and then the whole department within days after taking office. McGowan has been criticized for dealing individually with the men and for not holding department meetings.

When the council reconvened, Mayor Marshall Everheart formally asked McGowan to meet him at City Hall at 10 A.M. today to discuss goals and the structure of the department.

After approval of the minutes, Councilman Ralph Peters moved that the council reaffirm its support for McGowan on a roll call vote and end all further discussion of the controversy.

McGowan said after the meeting he was gratified at the council's show of support. He said he will resume work on defining procedures to help make the department more professional.

Peters said after the meeting that he made his motion to cut off debate because the mayor scheduled a session last Saturday to gather information from the public.

Garwood says secret MIA informer tortured POWs

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. (UPI) — Marine Pfc. Robert R. Garwood claimed Tuesday a "Vietnamese mortician" who appeared before a congressional panel last week was the North Vietnamese secret police chief, who presided over the torture and murder of American POWs.

Garwood, who is charged with desertion and collaboration with the enemy in Vietnam, said the man who testified before a congressional panel looking into the possibility some Americans still are in Vietnam was the former chief of security of North Vietnam and was in charge of security at POW camps.

He spoke through his civilian attorney, John C. Lowe, who said the man could clear Garwood of the charges against him.

The man wore a hood and was identified only as a Vietnamese mortician. But Garwood said after the man testified he was certain of the man's identity because of his obesity, balding head and because of the type of testimony he offered.

Col. R.E. Switzer ordered military prosecutors to seek the identity of the man and said Garwood should be given the chance to identify him through a lineup or some other means.

The man told the congressional subcommittee he had seen the bodies of 400 Americans at a former Hanoi POW camp and had seen three Americans alive.

Lowe said Garwood had observed the execution and torture of American prisoners and that the man was in charge of the death warrants and torture.

"Pfc. Garwood pleaded with him to send him home," Lowe said.

Volcano's lava dome grows

VANCOUVER, Wash. (UPI) — A glowing red crack in the crust of Mount St. Helens' potent explosive lava dome has swelled to 400 feet. A short burst of tremors caused by the movement of molten rock briefly undulated the volatile volcano, which was belching steam 12,500 feet into the air.

Clear skies Tuesday enabled U.S. Geological Survey scientists to take a good look at the volcano. They reported that the dome swelling out of the jumbled rocks in the crater-floor had apparently stopped rising after reaching 220 feet in height.

Molten rock welling up from inside the earth apparently swelled the 600-foot-wide dome, spilling open a 400-foot-long jagged scar across the top, exposing the reddish glow of superheated rocks.

Gases pressing up inside the dome could cause an explosion at any time, scientists said.

Seismologists at the University of Washington Geophysics Department reported that a "small burst of harmonic tremor" undulated the crater floor for six minutes about mid-morning.

Harmonic tremors differ from earthquakes in that they are caused by the underground movement of molten rock and can signal the start of another eruption.

However, the seismologists said the latest tremors were not as strong as the activity recorded around the time of the mountain's last major eruption June 12.

Seismologists also reported that an early morning earthquake, measuring 2.0 on the Richter scale, rocked the mountain. Their sensitivity machines were also picking up the sounds of numerous avalanches cascading off the steep walls onto the mile-wide crater floor.

Lawsuit filed to block Reagan groups

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Common Cause, the citizens lobby, filed suit Tuesday to block the controversial plans of independent groups to raise and spend up to $5 million to get Ronald Reagan elected president.

In a move criticized as "divisive" by Republican Chairman Bill Brock, independent conservative and GOP groups have pledged to raise the money on behalf of Reagan — in addition to the $2.8 million in federal funds his official campaign will spend.

Common Cause Chairman Archibald Cox called the independent effort illegal and said it would return campaigns to the "bad old days of Watergate."

But the groups say a Supreme Court decision allows such independent expenditures as long as they are not coordinated with the candidate's official campaign.

Common Cause filed suit in U.S. District Court against Americans for Change, a group headed by Sen. Harrison Schmitt, R-N.M., which has pledged to raise up to $3 million on Reagan's behalf. A second conservative group also has pledged to raise $25 million for the same cause.

Schmitt said the law is explicit, and the burden of proof in determining whether his committee is or is not in concert with Reagan lies with Common Cause.

He said most of the money will be spent on radio advertising and direct mail and despite Brock's fear that such efforts could embarrass Reagan, "We will not do anything to harm the campaign."

Congress urged to enact stiffer drunk driving laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., citing the deaths of two of his staff members in 18 months due to drunk drivers, appealed to Congress Tuesday to enact minimum punishments for driving while intoxicated.

"While there is much emphasis placed on the fact that some 20,000 Americans were murdered last year, very little outrage is expressed over the loss of at least 25,000 of our citizens annually in accidents involving drunk drivers," Pell told a Senate commerce subcommittee.

He said another million Americans are injured each year in accidents involving drunks, and the figures may be much higher since single-car fatal accidents are seldom counted in statistics as attributable to drunk driving.

Pell's bill would require states, as a condition of receiving federal highway safety funds, to enact minimum criminal penalties of 10 days' imprisonment or 10 days' alternative community service for any convicted drunken driver.

It also would require participation in an alcohol treatment or safe driving program.

States would be required to set a minimum one-year suspension of driver licenses for anyone convicted of drunken driving two or more times within a three-year period.

The legislation would require improved state record systems to better identify repeat offenders, and maintain records to indicate whether defendants actually comply with the court-ordered sanctions.

"The real tragedy of this crime is that we all share the attitude of the vast majority — until we experience first-hand the consequences of drunk driving," Pell concluded.

JACK POTTS — under cloud of death.

Will divorce husband — Potts' girlfriend offers marriage

ATLANTA (UPI) — Diane Nicholson, who dated condemned killer Jack Potts a dozen years ago, announced she would divorce her husband and marry Potts, who had been scheduled to die Tuesday in Georgia's electric chair.

State prison officials said, however, the marriage could not be permitted under current prison regulations.

Potts, whose planned execution Tuesday was put off indefinitely by an appeal to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, was removed from the "death watch" cell and put back on Death Row with 45 other condemned men at the Georgia Diagnostic and Classification Center at Jackson, about 50 miles south of Atlanta.

Mrs. Nicholson, who dated Potts before he went to prison, said she and Potts "love each other very much and want to marry."

She had visited Potts frequently in the past month, at the state prison at Reidsville where he was first scheduled to die June 5, and at Jackson, where he again escaped death as the result of an appeal.

"This whole situation has been very hard for me and on my family," the 33-year-old woman said. "My family can't accept my feelings for Jackie. Things have just gotten to be too much, and I've left home, and I'm filing for divorce..."

Sara Enghade, spokeswoman for the Offender Rehabilitation Department said, however, that a convict is only permitted to wed if the intended bride was pregnant before he was incarcerated.

Potts' mother, Carolyn Potts, had opposed Mrs. Nicholson's reappearance in her son's life, claiming she was using his case for publicity.

Waldheim attacks S. Africa

FREETOWN, Sierra Leone (UPI) — U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim made an unexpected impassioned attack on South Africa Tuesday at a summit conference of black African presidents and prime ministers.

Waldheim denounced the South Africans for preserving their system of racial segregation by apartheid and for the ongoing raids into southern Angola aimed at destroying camps of guerrillas from Namibia (Southwest Africa).

"In recent weeks, there has been a dangerous heightening of tensions and escalation resulting in death and injury to many," Waldheim said of the South African situation.

Activist sues FBI, LAPD

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Black political activist Emily Gibson Tuesday filed a $15 million civil suit against the FBI and the Los Angeles Police Department, charging them with a conspiracy that included burning down her garage and getting her fired from jobs.

The suit alleges that in 1974, Los Angeles FBI Agent Will Heaton ordered an informant to burglarize and burn down Ms. Gibson's garage, which contained personal effects and the doctoral dissertation of black communist activist Angela Davis.

It would also allege that the FBI and police disseminated allegations to Ms. Gibson's employers that she was a communist subversive, allegations she claimed cost her a job as an administrator at the Central City Community Mental Health Center.

Defense strength cut blocked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Tuesday deflected a move to cut Army strength by 25,000 men, a parliamentary tactic designed by hawkish senators as a ploy to force the service into recruiting fewer but higher quality personnel.

The Senate instead adopted a compromise between Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., the primary advocate of the cut, and Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich., who lead the effort to defeat the reduction. It calls for the Army to seek higher quality personnel and was adopted 89-0.

The action came during consideration of the $51.9-billion weapons procurement bill.

The Senate earlier voted to buy back 150 Phoenix missiles originally intended for Iran, and at the same time voted to block any repayments to the Tehran government until the U.S. hostages are released.

Egypt acts on Jerusalem

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Egypt's parliament passed a resolution Tuesday declaring East Jerusalem the "capital" of the Palestinians, a move made in response to pending legislation in the Israeli parliament declaring the Holy City the indivisible capital of the Jewish state.

But while the Israeli government has the power to enforce the new law, once it is approved by its parliament, known as the Knesset, the Egyptian resolution was only a gesture of moral support for the Palestinians and an affirmation of Cairo's stance in the autonomy negotiations.

Today's weather

Weathermen predict scattered thundershowers

Twin Falls, Burley, Rupert, Jerome — Gooding areas — Variable clouds and mild with widely scattered afternoon and evening showers or thundershowers through Thursday. Highs 75 to 80; Lows 55 to 60.

Chamberlain, Halley, Wood River valley: Variable clouds and mild with widely scattered afternoon or evening showers or thundershowers through Thursday. Highs 70 to 75; Lows 45 to 50.

Synopsis: Moist, unstable air over southern Idaho produced scattered showers and thundershowers Tuesday afternoon and evening. More of the same appears in prospect for the next few days.

The heaviest shower was reported at Burley where visibility was cut to a half mile by the rain, which was accompanied by wind gusts to 32 miles an hour. Other showers fell over southeastern Idaho, while the remainder reported clear to partly cloudy skies.

Mid-afternoon temperatures were generally in the low to middle 70s across Idaho. Those levels are 5 to 10 degrees below normal. Winds were generally light except in the vicinity of thundershowers. The warmest temperature in Idaho Tuesday was 88 degrees at Lewiston, while Dixie reported the low of 53.

The haying outlook for the Magic Valley calls for near-normal temperatures with an increasing chance of showers through the weekend.

Forecast at 30 inch today and 33 inch Thursday. Winds of 2 to 5 miles an hour early today are expected to increase to 10 to 15 miles an hour by noon.

The extended forecast for southern Idaho for the July 4 weekend calls for "mostly" warm and dry with a few showers likely at times. Temperatures will range from highs in the 80s to lows in the 50s.

Elsewhere in the nation Tuesday, the hottest temperature was 113 degrees at Wichita Falls, Texas, and the coolest was 40 at Cut Bank and Great Falls, Mont.

Family dies from mom's suicide try

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — Carbon monoxide from the running car engine that let Nancy Sbarro kill herself in her garage was sucked into an air conditioning duct and spread through the house — killing her husband and two children, police said Tuesday.

"We are classifying it a suicide and three accidental deaths," said Hollywood police spokesman Fred Barbeta.

Mrs. Sbarro left a note to her husband Sunday night, pulled her 1979 Cadillac into the garage of their new house, turned the engine on and put her head on a pillow on the front seat, Barbeta said.

Monday, her body and the bodies of her husband, Jack Sbarro, 41; daughter, DeEtta Maynes, 18; and son, Brian Maynes, 14, were found by DeEtta's fiance, Donald Liberman, Barbeta said.

Liberman came to the house, got no answer when he pounded on the door and spotted his fiancée's body through a window. He broke in.

"He knocked on the door and got no response so he went to another window and saw the brother," Barbeta said. "He broke a window and found everybody dead."

"The car was still running. The central air conditioning pulled in the carbon monoxide and circulated it through the whole house," he said.

Poultry, deaths to boost prices

Heatwave deaths rise to 86

By United Press International

A relentless killer heat wave that held the Sun Belt in its grip for the ninth straight day was blamed Tuesday for as many as 86 deaths, a skyrocketing crime rate and a likely jump in poultry prices with millions of chickens and turkeys killed.

Authorities in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas and Missouri reported 42 deaths directly attributable to the intense heat and another 44 believed to be related.

In Texas, 62 deaths were reported linked directly or indirectly to the heat — 58 of them in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. Oklahoma reported 13 heat-related deaths, Arkansas nine, Kansas one, and Missouri one possible death. Throughout the Southwest, only New Mexico and Louisiana were spared casualties.

Temperatures reached or exceeded the 100-degree mark in many parts of north Texas Tuesday afternoon. The most sweltering reading — 113 degrees — was recorded in Wichita Falls.

A spokesman for the Dallas Police Department said crime had risen markedly because of the heat.

On June 25 and June 26 of 1979, when temperatures were considerably cooler, 895 crimes were reported to Dallas police. On the same dates this year, with temperatures rising as high as 113 degrees, more than 1,800 crimes were reported.

"I think that's very significant," said police spokesman Bob Shaw. "I think the jump is startling. I think it's the heat that makes people's tempers short."

"Maybe it's because never before are walking around in the heat, or maybe because robbers aren't willing to stand in hot alleys waiting for them," he said. "I tell you this, though, when it's too hot for hatching — boy, it's hot."

Massive poultry kills were reported in Arkansas, Texas and Louisiana. Livestock officials were worried about the deaths of more cattle and other valuable animals.

In Arkansas, 2.2 million broilers died, along with 300,000 breeders and 55,000 turkeys. Judy Kimbrell of the Arkansas Poultry Federation said, "There definitely will be a shortage and it will push the price up." She could not estimate the extent of impending price increases, however.

Elderly citizens, most susceptible to heat stress, were being urged to stay indoors throughout the Southwest.

"We've been encouraging them to stay in the buildings," said Debbie Pollock, administrator of the Bender Terrace Nursing Home in Lubbock. "We're having them take their walks in the mornings, instead of the afternoons."

In Dallas, the Salvation Army was jammed far beyond capacity with transients and others seeking relief. The city of Dallas invited anyone with heat-related problems to come to any recreation center for relief and promised to provide a ride for those lacking transportation.

Dallas Transit System officials told reporters many buses were breaking down and could not cool inside temperatures below 98 degrees, when it was 113 degrees outside — although each bus is equipped with nine tons of air conditioning.

Carter signs Vietnam vet memorial bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter Tuesday signed a resolution authorizing a two-acre site for the nation's first Vietnam memorial, saying it will symbolize the healing of a nation deeply divided over the war.

The resolution, which had the Senate's unanimous support, authorizes construction of a memorial in Constitution Gardens, not far from the Lincoln Memorial.

Private donations will raise the $2.5 million needed to build the memorial. It is sponsored by the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Fund and spearheaded by Jan C. Scruggs, who said he found on his return from Vietnam "that being a veteran of the war was a dubious distinction at best."

"A long and painful process has brought us to this moment today," Carter said during a Rose Garden ceremony.

"I think that's very significant," said police spokesman Bob Shaw. "I think the jump is startling. I think it's the heat that makes people's tempers short."

Potts, whose planned execution Tuesday was put off indefinitely by an appeal to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, was removed from the "death watch" cell and put back on Death Row with 45 other condemned men at the Georgia Diagnostic and Classification Center at Jackson, about 50 miles south of Atlanta.

Mrs. Nicholson, who dated Potts before he went to prison, said she and Potts "love each other very much and want to marry."

"She had visited Potts frequently in the past month at the state prison at Reidsville where he was first scheduled to die June 5, and at Jackson, where he again escaped death as the result of an appeal.

"This whole situation has been very hard for me and on my family," the 33-year-old woman said. "My family can't accept my feelings for Jackie. Things have just gotten to be too much, and I've left home, and I'm filing for divorce..."

Sara Engdole, spokeswoman for the Offender Rehabilitation Department said, however, that a convict is only permitted to wed if the intended bride was pregnant before he was incarcerated.

Potts' mother, Carolyn Potts had opposed Mrs. Nicholson's reappearance in her son's life, claiming she was using his case for publicity.

Waldheim attacks S. Africa
 FREETOWN, Sierra Leone (UPI) — U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim made an unexpectedly impassioned attack on South Africa at a summit conference of black African presidents and prime ministers.

Waldheim denounced the South Africans for preserving their system of racial segregation known as apartheid and for the ongoing Angola aimed at destroying camps of guerrillas from Namibia (Southwest Africa).

"In recent weeks there has been a dangerous tightening of tensions and escalation of repression resulting in death and injury to many," Waldheim said of the South African situation.

Defense strength cut blocked
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Tuesday deflected a move to cut Army strength by 25,000 men, a parliamentary tactic designed by hawkish senators as a ploy to force the services into recruiting fewer but higher quality personnel.

The Senate instead adopted a compromise between Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., the primary advocate of the cut, and Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich., who lead the effort to keep the reduction. The Army is to seek higher quality personnel and was adopted 89-0.

The action came during consideration of the $51.9 billion weapons procurement bill.

The Senate earlier voted to buy back 150 Phoenix missiles originally intended for Iran, and at the same time voted to block any repayments to the Tehran government until the U.S. hostages are released.

Activist sues FBI, LAPD
 LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Black political activist Emily Gibson Tuesday filed a $15 million civil suit against the FBI and the Los Angeles Police Department, charging them with a conspiracy that included burning down her garage and getting her fired from jobs.

The suit alleges that in 1974, Los Angeles FBI Agent Will Heston ordered an informant to burglarize and burn down Ms. Gibson's garage, which contained personal effects and the doctoral dissertation of black communist activist Angela Davis.

It was also alleged that the FBI and police disseminated allegations to Ms. Gibson's employers that she was a communist subversive, allegations she claimed cost her a job as an administrator at the Central City Community Mental Health Center.

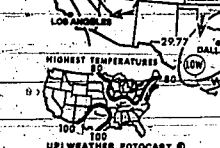

Egypt acts on Jerusalem
 CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Egypt's parliament passed a resolution Tuesday declaring East Jerusalem the "capital of the Palestinians," a move made in response to pending legislation in the Israeli parliament declaring the Holy City the indivisible capital of the Jewish state.

But while the Israeli government has the power to enforce the new law, once it is approved by its parliament, known as the Knesset, the Egyptian resolution was only a gesture of moral support for the Palestinians and an affirmation of Cairo's stance in the autonomy negotiations.

Family dies from mom's suicide try

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — Carbon monoxide from the running car engine that let Nancy Sbarro kill herself in her garage was sucked into an air-conditioning duct and spread through the house — killing her husband and two children, police said Tuesday.

"We are classifying it a suicide and three accidental deaths," said Hollywood police spokesman Fred Barbeta.

Mrs. Sbarro left a note to her husband Sunday night, pulled her 1979 Cadillac into the garage of their new house, turned the engine on and put her head on a pillow on the front seat, Barbeta said.

Monday, her body and the bodies of her husband, Jack Sbarro, 41; daughter, DeEtta Maynes, 18, and son, Brian Maynes, 14, were found by DeEtta's fiancé, Donald Liberman, Barbeta said.

Liberman came to the house, got no answer when he pounded on the door and spotted his fiancée's body through a window. He broke in.

"He knocked on the door and got no response so he went to another window and saw the brother," Barbeta said. "He broke a window and found everybody dead."

The car was still running. The central air conditioning pulled in the carbon monoxide and circulated it through the whole house," he said.

Poultry deaths to boost prices

Heatwave deaths rise to 86

By United Press International

A relentless killer heat wave that held the Sun Belt in its grip for the ninth straight day was blamed Tuesday for as many as 86 deaths, a skyrocketing crime rate and a likely jump in poultry prices with millions of chickens and turkeys killed.

Authorities in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas and Missouri reported 42 deaths directly attributable to the intense heat and another 44 believed to be related.

In Texas, 62 deaths were reported linked directly or indirectly to the heat — 38 of them in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. Oklahoma reported 13 heat-related deaths, Arkansas nine, Kansas one, and Missouri one possible death. Throughout the Southwest, only New Mexico and Louisiana were spared casualties.

"Temperatures reached or exceeded the 100-degree mark in many parts of north Texas Tuesday afternoon. The most sweltering reading — 113 degrees — was recorded in Wichita Falls.

A spokesman for the Dallas Police Department said crime had risen markedly because of the heat.

On June 25 and June 26 of 1979, when temperatures were considerably cooler, 895 crimes were reported to Dallas police. On the same dates this year, with temperatures rising as high as 113 degrees, more than 1,000 crimes were reported.

"I think that's very significant," said police spokesman Bob Shaw. "I think the jump is startling. I think it's the heat that makes people's tempers shorter."

Sgt. John Adamczyk of the Crimes Against Persons Unit said most crimes were up significantly — except robberies, which decreased by 37 percent.

"Maybe it's because fewer people are walking around in the heat, or maybe because robbers aren't willing to stand in hot alleys waiting for them," he said. "I tell you this, though, when it's too hot, for hickacking — boy, it's hot."

Massive poultry kills were reported in Arkansas, Texas and Louisiana. Livestock officials were worried about the deaths of more cattle and other valuable animals.

In Arkansas, 2.2 million broilers died, along with 300,000 breeders and 35,000 turkeys.

Judy Kimbrell of the Arkansas Poultry Federation said, "There definitely will be a shortage and it will push the price up." She could not estimate the extent of impending price increases, however.

Elderly citizens, most susceptible to heat stress, were being urged to stay indoors throughout the Southwest.

"We've been encouraging them to stay in the buildings," said Debbie Pollock, administrator of the Bender Terrace Nursing Home in Lubbock. "We're having them take their walks in the mornings, instead of the afternoons."

In Dallas, the Salvation Army was jammed far beyond capacity with transients and others seeking relief. The city of Dallas invited anyone with heat-related problems to come to any recreation center for relief and promised to provide a ride for those lacking transportation.

Dallas Transit System officials told reporters many buses were breaking down and could not cool inside temperatures below 88 degrees when it was 113 degrees outside — although each bus is equipped with nine tons of air conditioning.

Carter signs Vietnam vet memorial bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter Tuesday signed a resolution authorizing a two-acre site for the nation's first Vietnam memorial, saying it will symbolize the healing of a nation deeply divided over the war.

The resolution, which had the Senate's unanimous support, authorizes construction of a memorial in Constitution Gardens, not far from the Lincoln Memorial.

Private donations will raise the $2.5 million needed to build the memorial. It is sponsored by the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Fund and spearheaded by Jan C. Scruggs, who said he found on his return from Vietnam "that being a veteran of the war was a dubious distinction at best."

"A long and painful process has brought us to this moment today," Carter said during a Rose Garden ceremony.

Helms runs afoul of Byrd's obsession, suffers defeat

By CHERYL ARVIDSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the facts of political life in the Senate is that the person who has the most votes doesn't necessarily win.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., is the latest victim of this maxim, having a near certain victory on a proposal to reinstate the federal death penalty turn into a crushing defeat.

Helms had introduced an amendment reinstating the federal death penalty for capital crimes to a Justice Department authorization bill.

Helms told UPI in an interview, "He's paying a price right now with his own people. Six Democratic senators came to me afterwards and said they're through, they're done with the tactics of the majority leader."

Helms is known for having a long memory when it comes to folks who cross him. But in the coming months, as the Senate faces the crush of legislative business that always accompanies the push for final adjournment of a Congress, Byrd may find his dismay that Helms has a long memory, too.

Helms appears to mean business. A short time after the death penalty battle, he was observed ducking into the classroom so he would not be on the floor as Byrd proposed — and won — a unanimous consent request for a time agreement on a relatively non-controversial higher education bill.

The phantom strikes again

Anybody who's tried to buy or sell a home during the past few months knows just how difficult and frustrating that task has become. But those stories pale next to the case of Chicago's Carlos Rodriguez, the man who bought a run-down dump, spent 16 months of his time and $22,000 of his money repairing and restoring it — only to have someone demolish it by mistake.

The bottom line involves more than a man and a demolished house. It involves a national disgrace: of incompetent officials, of buck-passers, persons holding jobs only by virtue of political payoffs, and of administrators who'll do anything to protect their own behinds.

War on energy bill

WASHINGTON — Real emotion might be the stuff of good theater, but it is not appreciated on Capitol Hill.

But Weaver's first day speech was nothing to compare with the dramatics of the second day's subcommittee work on the bill. Responding to allegations that he was out to filibuster the energy bill, Weaver asked for and gained a unanimous consent agreement that the final subcommittee vote on the energy bill occur July 22, with three days of work on the bill to occur before that time.

Pope calls for revolution of love

Pope John-Paul II ... most traveled in history

BELO HORIZONTE, Brazil (UPI) — Warning that Latin America's youth was being seduced by doctrines of "hate and violence," Pope John-Paul II told a cheering, chanting multitude of Brazilians Tuesday that love makes for the only true revolution.

The pontiff delivered his message to an open-air mass held especially for young people on the second day of his 12-day tour of Brazil.

An estimated 500,000 people — a crowd so big that it filled a valley tucked between the majestic mountains overlooking Brazil's third largest city — turned out to greet the pope on the second stop of his 13-city tour of the world's largest Roman Catholic country.

"Hey, hey, hey, John Paul is our king," they chanted under the bright sun. "We love you."

"I know you are resolved to build a free, just and prosperous society. In my youth I lived those same convictions," the pontiff told the youth.

"But many young Christians stop being young and certainly stop to be Christians when they are seduced by doctrines that preach hate and violence. You cannot build a just society on the basis of injustice," he said.

"The only revolution that does not betray man is that built by real love."

As has been his custom since the start of the visit Monday, John Paul spoke in Portuguese, interrupted frequently by the chants of "Hey, hey, hey, John Paul is our king."

Visibly moved by the enthusiastic response, John Paul said, "The pope will never forget you." And then he improvised several songs with the throng. "I sang in Poland and in Mexico," he said, referring to earlier trips in his 20-month-old pontificate.

On Monday in the federal capital of Brasilia, John Paul told Brazil's military junta that it had a "special" duty to eliminate injustices and poverty as the pillars of the largest Catholic nation in the world.

In Belo Horizonte, he elaborated on that theme, applying it to the young. "In this immensely rich country, the young people are the rich hope of the country. You are the beautiful horizon of Brazil," he said.

"You do not hide your desire to change injustices in society. You rightly say it is impossible to be happy when thousands of people live in lack."

But he warned them also "not to be manipulated by... materialistic ideologies."

Before leaving Brasilia, the pontiff visited a model prison and spoke to 238 inmates. He recalled that while Christ "always rebuked sins, he always loved the sinners."

Criticizes Soviet Afghan policy

Schmidt sees missile talks

MOSCOW (UPI) — West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt said Tuesday he found little hope of a shift in the Soviet position on Afghanistan but thought negotiations on medium-range nuclear missiles were likely to take place.

Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev, who met with Schmidt for five hours over the last two days, promised to consider the German leader's proposals on Afghanistan, which included a timetable for complete Soviet withdrawal. But noted "our viewpoints differ substantially."

The 61-year-old chancellor delayed his departure for a two-hour session with Soviet Defense Minister Dmitri Ustinov, during which they discussed NATO's plan to deploy 572 medium-range U.S. nuclear missiles across Western Europe to counter the Soviet network of SS-20 nuclear warheads.

Asked if he thought it would be possible to open negotiations with the Soviet Union on this sensitive issue, Schmidt said, "I have always believed it would come to negotiations and these conversations have made this belief firmer."

Schmidt, the first Western leader to visit Moscow since the Soviet Union invaded Afghanistan last December, bluntly told Brezhnev "during a

State Department satisfied with Schmidt's Soviet talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department said Tuesday that it had "with great satisfaction" the remarks by West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt in Moscow.

U.S. officials had been concerned that the Schmidt visit would give the Soviets the impression that there was disunity among the western allies, and that the Soviets would try to exploit differences over the response to the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan and the plans for a modern missile force in Western Europe.

State Department spokesman John Trittner said the United States was pleased with Schmidt's insistence on a total withdrawal of Soviet forces from Afghanistan and his apparent continuing support for the new missile force, some of which would be based in West Germany.

Khrenin dinner Monday night that the West wants Soviet forces to leave Afghanistan.

The Soviet-Tass news agency carried a 2,500 report on Schmidt's visit but never once mentioned his Afghan comments.

By contrast, it printed Brezhnev's dinner speech verbatim. Brezhnev did not mention Afghanistan either.

During Schmidt's two-day visit, the two sides reached agreement on the signing of a 25-year bilateral trade accord, preliminarily agreed upon in 1978, a West German spokesman said.

The Soviets, apparently seeking to deflect attention from Schmidt's position on Afghanistan, indicated they wanted the accord to be signed with great pomp by Brezhnev and Schmidt personally.

But the West German spokesman said it would be signed by Hans-Georg Wiese, West Germany's ambassador in Moscow, and Vladimir Semyonov, the Soviet ambassador in Bonn.

U.S. Jews denounce Begin

JERUSALEM (UPI) — More than 50 influential American Jewish leaders publicly denounced Prime Minister Menachem Begin's political "extremism" Tuesday and said Israel must make more concessions in the occupied West Bank in return for peace.

The statement, which reflected a growing schism between American Jews and Israeli Jews over the peace process, was the group's first public denunciation of Begin, who one of the signers of the statement described as "a disaster."

The statement also came in the middle of another dispute between the United States and Israel, which said it was disappointed with the U.S. abstention on a Jerusalem resolution passed by the U.N. Security Council Monday.

Deputy Prime Minister Yigal Yadin said he was disappointed with the 14-0 vote condemning Israel's moves to declare Jerusalem as its official capital and "not particularly satisfied with the abstention of the United States."

"We wanted them to veto the resolution," he said.

There was no comment on either development from Begin, who was resting in the Hadassah Hospital after suffering a mild heart attack in parliament Monday.

One of the signers, editor Leonard Fine, said it was a painful decision to go public with the dissent but that the group felt it had no choice because Begin was trying to portray American Jews as being supportive of his policies.

"It's getting harder to raise money (for Israel)," said David Gill, a fundraiser for the United Jewish Appeal in Los Angeles.

"We want to start explaining the distinctions between the Israeli government and the people."

Soviets warned in Iran

By United Press International
Iran's powerful Islamic fundamentalists warned the Soviet Union Tuesday that its diplomats may be treated the same way as the 53 captive Americans unless they stop "spying" on Iran.

The warning, contained in the official newspaper of the Islamic Republican Party, came as Tehran Radio reported what appeared to be President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr's toughest attack on his fundamentalist critics to date.

In a speech made on Monday but not carried by the radio until a day later, Bani-Sadr said Iran was "endangered from within" by fundamentalists whose excesses are just as bad as those of the deposed shah.

"It is possible to mention numerous examples which illustrate how our revolution is endangered from within," Bani-Sadr said.

"In the past regime (of the shah) it was possible to attack the life and property or position of anyone illegally. It is also possible in this regime."

"In those days (it was done) in the name of the shah, and today in the name of the campaign against counter-revolutionaries," he said.

"Censorship rules this country," the president declared.

"When the people are kept ignorant, they do not understand. When they do not understand, they do not obey. When they do not obey, they are thought of as rebels. Then you begin using force... and when force is used, you get addicted to it," he said.

Smile does it for Mr. Wonderful

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) — Where else but in Illinois — with a Legislature famous for its often ridiculous antics — could a spindly-legged, knock-kneed, 6-foot-1, 135-pound, weakling sporting a nice smile win a beauty pageant?

Where else could that contestant use oversized play money to bribe the judges for a trophy, but complain that his zipper was open during the talent show phase of the pageant?

At the General Assembly's second annual Mr. Wonderful Contest Sunday night, only surprise contestant Harold Katz — a Glenwood Democrat known for his long-winded wisdom — was able to charm his way past all 15 female judges for the 1980 title.

The tongue-in-cheek affair was held poolside at a local hotel within peck-a-boo distance of the Capitol. The contest, sponsored by the Illinois Conference of Women Legislators, was held to raise money for counseling of pregnant teen-agers throughout the state.

For $25 the curious swallowed fried chicken and beer while watching all 10 contestants — nearly all of them up for re-election this fall — prance and preen for the dubious honor.

As they strutted around the pool, a tape recording of Peggy Lee singing "Mr. Wonderful" waited through the balmy night air. A bouquet of plastic flowers and a blue felt crown trimmed in tin foil was the grand prize.

Katz, when asked who he would appoint as the Illinois Legislature's ambassador to Iran and why quipped, "Julius Caesar, who said, 'I came, I saw, I ran.'"

Although the skinny Katz said his winning asset was his legs, most agreed part of his success formula was his impersonation of Abraham Lincoln complete with a black top hat and a phony black beard.

Male strippers arrested after women fans 'went nuts'

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Two male strippers — "The Hulk" and "Jay Jay" — have been arrested because their women fans "went nuts" and tore off the dancers' G-strings.

Jeffrey S. Gaylor, 21, and Jay N. Gurwell, 30, were charged with indecent exposure Monday night while performing before 100 women at the Inspiration Point Lounge. They were freed on $55 bond.

"We're entertainers, not flashers," said Scott Baumann, 21, the show's manager, in explaining the incident. "The arrests resulted because of a little temporary insanity. The women went nuts."

He said they ripped off the men's

G-strings.

Baumann said the show opened about seven weeks ago at the lounge and Monday night was the first time there had been trouble at the women-only, "once-a-week" performance.

The show was being watched by two women police observers at the time.

Sadie's latest family — wolf cub, small tiger

RACINE, Wis. (UPI) — Sadie, a sad-faced English bulldog, is a foster

SADIE THE BULLDOG ...with 'kids,' master mother to the "babies" brought home by her master, Racine Zoo Director Louis Rhoades.

At present, her foster children are a bengal tiger cub and wolf cub. She has nursed them as she has the other wild animals — lion cubs, bear cubs and other critters.

She's a patient and long-suffering parent.

The other day, Wilbur the wolf cub rushed up to Sadie and began chewing on her nose. She could have creamed Wilbur on the spot, but she's too kind, said Mrs. Rhoades.

"When they get to be too much for her, she comes to me for help," Mrs. Rhoades said. "I take them away from her for awhile."

Even when Sadie does not have any milk, she will mother any tiny visitor her master brings home.

Sadie has raised 14 of her own puppies but lost four pups about two weeks ago despite a Cesarean section. That, Rhoades says, will be her last litter.

"The vet recommended that we not breed her again," Rhoades said.

Sadie had one failure.

She couldn't nurse a baby guanaco, a smaller cousin of the llama. Guanacos stand up to nurse, and Sadie found out she was too low-slung for the job.

Refund approved on '48 sales slip

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The customer is always right — even though it took him longer than usual to make up his mind whether to keep the merchandise.

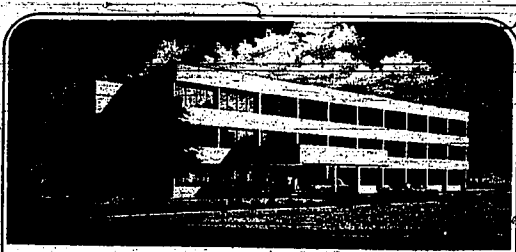

A man entered a hardware store the other day and produced a sales receipt for $1.03. It was dated Oct. 26, 1948. He got his money back.

Store manager John Lisowski said it could be as long as the customer could produce a sales receipt and that the merchandise was in good condition.

What's what

Honolulu's air remains clean by federal rules

Only two major metro areas in the United States consistently have met the health standard for air pollution set in 1971 by the Federal Government—Spokane and Honolulu. That was before Mount St. Helens blew her top—how appropriate the yearbook! Goodbye to Spokane's record; temporarily, Honolulu remains clean, though she, too, is in the nearorbit of volcanic action. It's a minor matter, I guess, to note that the loveliest of landscapes lie where lively mountains boil.

Remember, it's illegal in Duncan Okla. to wash your underwear in your bathtub.

NOGGIN

Q. Where'd we get the word "noggin" to mean head?
A. A sort of drinking mug in the 18th century was called a noggin. It was shaped in the form of a human head with a grotesque face.

Only after age 20 was the Aztec man permitted to marry, and even then, he had to get permission from his former schoolmaster. Men who hadn't graduated weren't allowed to marry.

The man said he and his wife had argued so much that they'd become used to it, that the habitual friction was familiar. Then when they finally called a truce, the ensuing peace was quiet and seemed odd. He concluded, therefore, that truce is stranger than friction. You don't like puns? No? Never mind.

MAGICIANS

How come there aren't any female stage magicians? Female assistants to stage magicians there are, aplenty. But they never seem to apprentice up to the top billing. Odd.

The soil in Kenya's Taru area is red. Elephants like mud baths. At one time or another you'll find them about; if you look long enough, approximately 25,000 pink elephants.

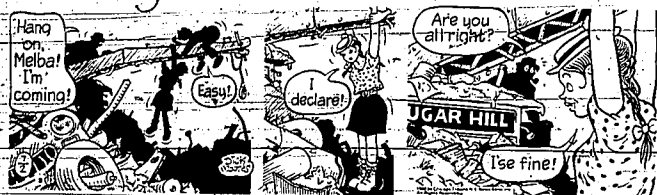

Wolves threaten with a snarl. Coyotes threaten with a gaping mouth. That's another way you can tell the difference when confronted by one or the other.

Some areas of U.S. feeling recession more than others

By United Press International

The recession is affecting all regions of the United States but some more severely than others. The Conference Board's second annual Regional Economic Forum said in a report issued Tuesday.

The Forum, which met in April, says its analysis of different regions by its eight economic experts showed the current recession is centered in the nation's industrial core.

It also said less industrialized, fast growing regions should suffer slower growth instead of outright decline; and the current slump in agricultural states likely will continue into next year.

"In some regions of the country, a national recession shows up not as a shrinkage in jobs and production but (as) a slowdown in growth," Lora Collins, director of business conditions analysis for the Conference Board, observed.

"For a fast-growing region, however, the slowdown sometimes marks a deviation from the normal trend that is every bit as significant as the outright declines—traditionally associated with recession and felt in the older industrial regions," she said. "Viewed this way, no region is recession-proof."

On the whole, the Forum said, the nation's "industrial arc" of durable goods manufacturers—Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland—will experience losses of output and jobs exceeding the national average for 1980.

Although the recession will be severe in the industrial arc, the Forum noted that the region is becoming less sensitive to changes in cyclical industries, such as steel and autos.

The six-state New England region is expected to weather the current downturn considerably better than it did the 1974-75 recession.

The fast growing Southwest, and Rocky Mountain regions will feel the recession "through slower growth, rather than through outright declines in economic activity," the report said. It said the Southwest's strong energy base should cushion it from the recession.

The "breadbasket" states, caught between record harvests that drove prices down and declining demand, are in a severe slump that should continue well into 1981, the Forum said.

The Pacific region is expected to do as well as other than their major regions, chiefly because its economy is less dependent on basic goods, the Forum said. But a growing problem is inflation, which in California is expected to top the 1980 national average by 2 percent.

Algeria hikes price

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI) — Following Kuwait's lead, Algeria raised the price of its oil Tuesday by nearly $2 per barrel in its fourth major price increase since December, oil industry sources said.

The increase in Algerian crude, from $35.21 to $37 per barrel, came as the Kuwaiti increase announced Monday went into effect.

Algeria will apparently also continue to impose a $3 surcharge for exportation of oil for the next several weeks, oil industry sources said.

What shapes up as the fourth major oil price hike since December should track another 2 cents onto the cost of a gallon of gasoline in the United States — and more, if a reluctant Saudi Arabia joins in.

Besides Kuwait, oil industry sources said Iraq, Qatar, Indonesia, Venezuela, Gabon and Ecuador will hike prices by about $2 this week.

Saudi Arabia, the world's largest exporter at 9.5 million barrels a day and provider of nearly 24 percent of U.S. oil imports, says it intends to maintain its price at the present OPEC low of $28 a barrel.

Judge mulls BPA lawsuit

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — U.S. District Judge Owen Panner has taken under advisement a suit filed against the Bonneville Power Administration by two private utilities and Oregon Public Utility Commissioner John Lobdell.

Pacific Power & Light Co. argued Monday the federal power marketing agency has no legal authority to charge higher rates to private utilities than it charges to consumer-owned utilities.

The suit by Lobdell, PP&L and Portland General Electric Co. involves rates that took effect last December. The rates are called "interim rates" pending final approval by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

PP&L contended that BPA should not be allowed to charge interim rates, which affected utilities have no means to contest.

PGE and PP&L recently were allowed to increase their rates 4.4 percent and 3.3 percent, respectively, to pass on the higher BPA charges to their customers.

Bank keeps its stagecoach

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A 4-foot-8-inch computer expert, a record holder of Small Claims Court actions, has been reimbursed by Wells Fargo without the bank losing its famous 19th Century stagecoach.

Lou Gary won an action against Wells Fargo after the bank assessed him an $83 prepayment penalty on a car he bought last February. However, the bank didn't pay the claim as Gary obtained a writ ordering the sheriff to seize the company's stagecoach—so it could be sold at auction to pay the claim.

Rather than lose the rare stagecoach, Wells Fargo finally paid the $83, Gary said Monday. In addition, the bank had to pay $550 more in court costs incurred by Gary.

"I hope this will make Wells Fargo and other banks think twice before messing with the little guy," said the 40-year-old Gary.

Gary, who lives in Loma Mar in Santa Cruz County and in San Francisco, has twice in the past held liens against Pacific Telephone Co. headquarters because of disputes over service charges.

Gary estimates he's been in Small Claims Court over 100 times — just about every County and in San Francisco. A friend has been "ripped off" in a business transaction.

Watch for deductions

Field Enterprises Inc. (Eight in nine-part series)

Summer is when your local charitable organizations traditionally schedule many activities.

Some civic organizations have outdoor (festivals planned for your community; others have outings scheduled for local youngsters.

The flurry of activities at this season of the year underscores the wide variety of ways you can pick up a charitable deduction. You may be under the costly — and mistaken — impression that the only way to get a charitable deduction is by making a cash donation to charity. Not so.

In reality, there are many other ways to contribute to charity and claim a deduction — and now is when to concentrate on these unexpected and valuable deductions.

For instance, if you perform volunteer work for a local charity, you can't deduct the value of your personal services. But you can deduct any out-of-pocket expenses you incur while donating those services. And these expenses may mount up to a hefty deduction.

Here's a quick rundown of possible deductions you may otherwise overlook this summer and in the future:

- Auto travel. The cost of traveling to and from meetings, campaigns and outings is deductible. You can deduct your actual cost for oil and gas if you keep detailed records of where you travel for the charitable purpose.
- Meals and lodging. If you're away from home overnight while rendering volunteer services, the cost of your meals and lodging is deductible.
- Vehicles and equipment you loan. If you permit a charity to use your boat, aircraft, electronic equipment or other equipment, you cannot deduct the value of its use. But you can deduct any operating expenses you incur in providing the vehicles and equipment for charity.
- Tickets you buy. The cost of tickets to a benefit performance is deductible to the extent the purchase price exceeds their fair market value. For instance, if 100 tickets usually sell for $20, but two tickets to a benefit performance are $50, you can deduct $30. (Note: You cannot deduct the cost of traffic tickets you buy.)
- Donating property. These are popular months for cleaning out attics and garages. Instead of throwing away things you can't use any more — old toys, old books, used clothing, furniture and curtains, give them to charity. You can deduct the fair market value of property at the time it is donated. Ask the charity to give you a written estimate of the value of your contribution — and by so doing, lessen the chance of your getting into an argument with the IRS. In any case, you'll need a valuation of any property you donate that's worth more than $200.
- Whether you get a statement of value from the charity or not, keep a record of your donations. It should contain the quantity, a brief description, original cost, age, present condition, date of gift. Be sure you get a receipt from the charity's agent when you deliver the items. (And if you give property worth more than $200, get an appraisal; if the charity won't give you a statement of valuation, the cost of the appraisal is a deductible expense.)

These records at least prove what you donated — a valuable plus for you. Both the IRS and the courts take a close view of estimated charitable deduction. If you rely on your own estimates on how much clothing, furniture, etc. you donated, you may find yourself stuck with a rock-bottom deduction.

Weather helps cool western forest fires

By United Press International
Firefighting crews in Arizona and Colorado received help from natural allies — cooler temperatures and light rain — in trying to control forest fires under control Tuesday but more than 15,000 acres of public land in Arizona burned on.

fire, which was started last Wednesday by an unattended camp fire, was the largest in the state's history. More than 8,000 feet of fire hoses were pumping water from streams into hot spots. Firefighters began mop-up operations, even before the fire officially was declared under control. Helicopters were ferrying firefighters to remaining hot spots within the forest and work also was under way to assess restoration of the damaged areas.

Hot, dry conditions had made the forests fuel for fires but, late Monday and early Tuesday, weather conditions were favorable for firefighters in both Arizona and Colorado. "We had some light precipitation last night and it helped a lot," said Eric Martin of the Forest Service in Colorado. "It settled the dust, and cooled things off. The humidity remains high, which will allow things to burn cooler."

Forest Service spokesman Jerry Chonka said Colorado officials felt they were gaining the upper hand on their fires, which charred more than 11,000 acres of timberland, but were concerned about the July 4th holiday. With the help of rainfall, Bureau of Land Management fire crews controlled the 1,000-acre blaze near Aravaipa Canyon west of Safford, Ariz., and progress was reported against the 1,300-acre fire near Lake Pleasant.

H. Ford II calls for gas tax, import quotas

DETROIT (UPI) — Retired auto magnate Henry Ford II called Tuesday for a 50-cent federal gasoline tax and restrictions on imports of foreign autos to help solve the nation's deep-rooted industrial and financial problems. "Funds derived from the tax could be used to beef up military spending, avoid Social Security tax hikes and provide help for financially ailing cities and businesses," Ford said. "I have no illusion that any part of my suggested remedies will be popular," Ford said in remarks prepared for delivery to the Swiss-American Chamber of Commerce in Zurich, Switzerland. "But the problems are extremely serious. "Perhaps unpopular remedies are the only ones that will work." Ford, in his self-appointed role as elder statesman and roving ambassador for the U.S. auto industry, offered the proposals as cures for inflation, high trade deficits caused by oil and automotive imports, weakening national defenses, lagging industrial productivity and financial problems of some cities and large corporations. The 50-cent federal gasoline tax could be levied gradually, beginning with a 10-cent increase in September, rising 10 cents a gallon every six months for two years and increasing with inflation thereafter. Any-inflationary impact would be eased by phasing in the levy. If oil imports and the nation's trade deficit were reduced, the U.S. dollar would gain strength and drive down the price of other imports, helping moderate inflation, Ford said. In addition to boosting military spending and rescuing the Social Security system, the new funds also could be used to create a Reconstruction Finance Corporation — similar to a 1930s predecessor — to help ailing business and cities.

Revenue sharing revived

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Government Operations Committee, bucking earlier votes in the House and Senate, voted Tuesday to revive federal revenue sharing for the states in 1982 and 1983. The committee also approved a three-year continuation of revenue sharing for local governments at the present annual level of $4.6 billion. The budget, now ready to be passed by Congress eliminates revenue sharing for the states beginning with the 1981 fiscal year, a move backed by the administration. But state officials have been lobbying hard to restore the federal funding program for the states. The committee action does not guarantee the states will again receive revenue sharing in 1982 and 1983, since the appropriations and budget committees would also have to approve that decision when considering spending programs for those years. Several other amendments to the revenue sharing bill were expected and the committee delayed final action on the bill until Congress returns from its two-week recess July 21.

Thai aid airlift set July 23

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States will send Thailand millions of dollars worth of American military equipment beginning July 23 to counter the Vietnamese incursions. White House press secretary Jody Powell announced Tuesday. Powell said President Carter made the decision in response to urgent requests from the Bangkok government, which sought help after the Vietnamese crossed the Thai-Cambodian border last week. Officials said the airlift will cost $1 million, which the U.S. government will pay, but Thailand will pay for the weapons. They said the airlift will begin July 23, giving Carter time to notify Congress of the decision. State Department spokesman John Trattner said the emergency shipments will involve six or seven flights of C-141 transports. While most of the weapons and ammunition will be drawn from Army stocks, some will be taken from shipments to other nations, including South Yemen, U.S. officials said. Trattner said Thailand will receive 18 105mm howitzers, 38 106mm recoilless rifles and 1,000 M-16 rifles, as well as ammunition for each. In addition, a sea shipment of 35 M-48 A5 tanks will be speeded up, he said. Officials said the airlift was a "deliberate, measured response" to the Vietnamese incursion eight days ago. Trattner said there still are "a significant number of Vietnamese troops in the area," and U.S. officials estimated 10,000 Vietnamese remain in the border area.

FIRE AT 634 B AVE. DAMAGING GARAGE

An example of message that could save a deaf person's life and property appears on a TDD screen

Keeping in touch

Gooding hooks up telephone for the deaf

By BRUCE HAMMOND
Times-News writer

GOODING — "House fire at 634 8th Ave, East Gooding."

The report was only a test, but its existence will carry far-reaching impact for deaf individuals living in Gooding County.

By Friday, a telephone system for communicating with the deaf will be operating in the Gooding County Sheriff's office.

"This allows the deaf to have the same services as anyone else in Gooding County," explained Gooding County Commissioner Will Thomas. "It means they can call in any type of emergency, requesting an ambulance, the fire department or police protection."

"This is especially important in our community since we have the State School for the Deaf and Blind and so many deaf individuals living in the area," Thomas stressed. "It's a service that's long overdue."

The new phone system, which includes a small typewriter with visual display and a printer to provide sheriff's deputies with printed copy, arrived Tuesday at a cost of about $1,000.

One catch in the system is that the deaf person has to have a similar telecommunications device (TDD) at home. Because of an introductory program sponsored by the State School for the Deaf and Blind last year, about eight or nine Gooding homes are already equipped with TDDs and more are expected this year.

"I guess we're really fortunate that some sort of tragedy hasn't happened in our community because of not having this type of system," said Joan Sigdestad of Gooding. "Until now a deaf person could be at home alone, having a heart attack, and have absolutely no way to call for help."

Sigdestad presented the telecommunication proposal to Gooding County Commissioners last week on behalf of several Gooding residents.

Monday morning, Sigdestad's 12-year-old son, Lance, used his own TDD to call his buddy Roddy Cabbage, also of Gooding.

"Roddy, how about going swimming this morning? I can have my brother drive us to the pool," Lance wrote over the phone system.

Cabbage, whose entire family is deaf, quickly wrote back "Yes."

"This type of use is what the system is primarily designed for," Sigdestad explained. "It enables Lance to call his friends just like his brother and sister do, rather than having to be driven over to friends' homes for a chat."

"But what is really important now is that people like my son can call to a sheriff's office for help if he's home alone and needs help," Sigdestad stressed.

"It's a special help that our sheriff's department is getting this unit because they can contact anyone at any time of the day," Sigdestad said.

Gooding County Memorial Hospital will also receive a TDD unit this year.

According to Thomas, sheriff's deputies in the past have relied on pencil and paper to communicate with the deaf. "While this practice will continue for in-person interviews, the new phone system will make the sheriff's office more able to work with Gooding's deaf population."

Sigdestad will begin giving instruction on the TDD

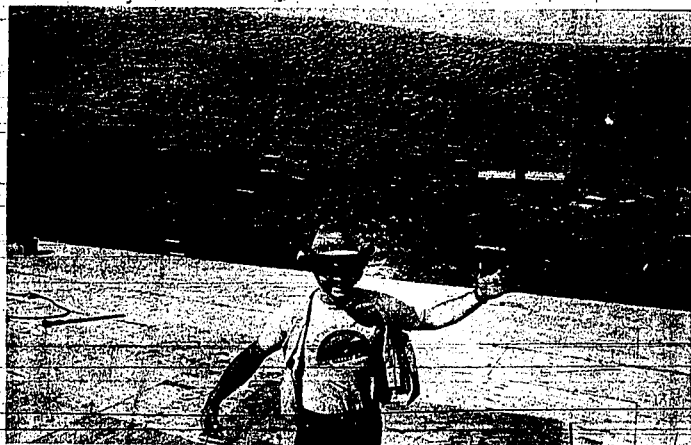

Joan Sigdestad of Gooding watches her deaf son, Lance, 12, talk to a friend about a swimming trip Monday on a telecommunications device for the deaf. The portable system operates with any phone to each shift in the sheriff's office later this week. She will also provide the department with a complete list of all TDD units in the area in case interpreters are needed in an emergency.

A home unit costs about $325, according to Sigdestad. However, discount phone rates are available for all TDD calls.

"The reason a half-price discount is available is because it takes at least twice as long to complete a conversation on one of these devices as a regular phone conversation," Sigdestad explained. "But people have to sign up for the special rate through the Vocational Rehabilitation Center in Twin Falls and it only applies to TDD calls."

Concert promoters praying for sunshine

Promoter David Simon dances on stage of Ketchum Concert's "Sun Valley Bowl."

If Saturday's country-rock program succeeds, it might open the way for more of the same

By RON ZELLAR
Times-News writer

KETCHUM — Promoters of a July 5 country-rock concert in Blaine County are praying for sunshine.

Ranya Tucker and the New Riders of the Purple Sage will headline the concert, which is scheduled to begin with local bands at 1 p.m. on a hillside southwest of Bellevue.

Other name acts include Steve Goodman and the Flying Burrito Brothers.

Weather and crowd size will be among the deciding factors in whether more big-name concerts are scheduled at the newly developed Sun Valley Bowl, say promoters David Simon and George Kyle.

Kyle, who owns the concert site along the Sawtooth foothills, said a natural basin provides excellent acoustics and the area will accommodate an audience of 20,000 or more.

Ketchum Concerts, which consists of Kyle and Simon, received approval for this concert only from the Blaine County Commission. The commission required several health and safety measures, including the placement of portable toilets, the presence of a fire truck and dust control measures.

Traffic guards will be stationed on both sides of a bridge crossing near the site, and one-way traffic lanes will be established.

The promoters also were required to purchase a $1 million liability insurance policy holding the county blameless in the event of problems.

Timing of the concert was initially criticized by organizers of the annual Days of the Old West celebration in Haily. But Kyle and Simon agreed to withhold the name acts until after 5 p.m. to accommodate rodeo spectators.

"I think they kind of worked that out. The rodeo should be over by 4:30," agreed Wally Young, chairman of the Old West celebration.

Advance tickets for the concert cost $10 and are available at Budget Tapes and Records outlets around the state and at Mountain Host A-frame in Ketchum.

The site is situated 16 miles south of Ketchum on a country road west of mile marker 109 on state Highway 75. The first 2 1/2 miles of the country road are paved. The remaining two miles have been graded, and will be watered the evening before the concert.

The promoters emphasized that no dogs or glass will be allowed onto the site for safety reasons. Seating will be on an alfalfa field moved earlier this week.

Wood River Beverage will operate the beer concession. Groups planning food booths include the Wood River Jaycees, Blaine County Gifted Kids and the Junior Suns Hockey team.

Simon said they tentatively plan to promote a second concert at the site during Labor Day weekend. No bands have been announced, and approval from the county commission may depend on how smoothly the first concert goes.

The duo also has offered the site for other concerts and festivals in the Wood River Valley.

Lincoln sets queen contests

SHOSHONE — Contestant entries for the Lincoln County Rodeo Queen contest are due by July 20.

Two categories are set up, separating age groups into a junior princess contest for girls 14 to 18 years of age, and the rodeo queen contest for women 18 to 24 years of age.

The Lincoln County Rodeo Queen must be also enter the Miss Rodeo Idaho contest in Twin Falls this September. Contestants will be judged on both personality and horsemanship.

Contestants in both age groups will meet with judges and perform arena events July 27; application forms are available at Macy's or Peterson's in Twin Falls, Rose Western Wear in Jerome or by calling Jerri Shively in Shoshone.

Dentists open Shoshone office

SHOSHONE — Two dentists are setting up practice in this Lincoln County farming community.

Joseph H. Lyman and Gary V. Dixon have opened an office at 114 Apple in Shoshone for practicing general dentistry.

The two men decided to open a branch office in Shoshone last August, to expand their Twin Falls practice. Dixon will serve in Shoshone on Tuesdays and Lyman on Thursdays, but a full-time receptionist, Deanna Mendola, will be on call five days per week.

Dixon, a native of Carmichael, Calif., attended Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, and Northwestern University in Chicago, Ill. He served as a public health dentist on the Arizona Navajo reservation before moving to Twin Falls in 1973.

Lyman attended dental school at the University of the Pacific in San Francisco, Calif., after also attending BYU. He has practiced in Twin Falls since 1973.

Both dentists already had several Shoshone area patients before opening the local office.

$600 goes to Wendell pool fund

WENDELL — Over $600 has been donated to the Wendell Swimming Pool Fund by local 4-H members hoping to build a community pool.

Chairman of the pool fund, Phyllis Bunn, accepted the check from Wendell's Little Rascals 4-H group last week. She said the money raised the pool fund total to $36,464.35. The 4-Hers are hoping to reach a goal of $40,000 this year.

The money was raised by the Little Rascals in several ways, including a live-a-lion, an outdoor recreation show and special M & W Mart sales.

The money is being raised to construct a resident swimming pool in Wendell. This summer many Wendell youngsters are being bused to Silgar's pool between Hagerman and Buhl for swimming lessons and recreation.

Bunn said that 10 years ago the proposed pool was estimated to cost about $100,000, but that the figure has greatly increased since then.

Sawtooth headquarters adds hour

KETCHUM — The Sawtooth National Recreation Area office at the headquarters north of Ketchum is now open an additional hour Monday through Thursday.

Al Ashton, SNRA superintendent, said the office will be open from 8 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and until 4:30 p.m. Fridays. He said the new hours should allow the public more time to conduct business involving SNRA office personnel.

The visitor center portion of the office will remain open daily from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Center personnel can dispense firewood permits, maps, tape tours and recreation information for the area.

Roller skate trip planned

JEROME — The Jerome Youth Center is planning a field trip to Heyburn Saturday for rollerskating at the Roller King.

All youth between the ages of 8 and 13 will have their skating prepaid, according to Wanda Thime, JYVE center director. Other youth ages 14-18 are welcome to join the group for a $1.50 fee.

Participants are asked to bring a sack-lunch and meet at the JYVE center on East Main at 11:30 a.m. The bus will pick up Hazelton youth at 12:30 p.m. at the Hazelton Housing Authority hall, and will return to the center by 7 p.m.

Interested youth are encouraged to sign up for the summer youth recreation program.

Frings passes engineers' exam

POCATELLO — A Jerome man was among nine recent Idaho State University engineering graduates to recently pass the Idaho Fundamentals of Engineering exam.

Nicholas G. Frings, Route 2 Jerome, will receive an Engineer-in-Training certificate, which is the first step in becoming a licensed professional engineer, according to Albert Wilson, dean of the ISU School of Engineering.

Ice cream sparkles on Fourth of July

ENGLEWOOD CLIFFS, N.J. — During Independence Day celebrations of old band concerts, Sousa marchers or even fireworks couldn't compare to the glorious, patriotic picnics prepared for the occasion. After the parade came games and enormous quantities of food and drink. Each community held its own special celebrations with the best cooks in town trying to outdo the rest. If the picnickers survived the first round of merriment, the harder celebrants joined in tug of war, potato races and ball games. The grand finale was often gallon upon gallon of hand cranked, homemade ice cream.

This is the year to bring back homemade ice cream. Start with the Fourth of July then plan to make it all summer long, and into the winter too. Although hand cranking the ice cream used to be a ritual assigned to the children, the new models of electric ice cream makers now on the market make freezing ice cream real child's play. The newest freezers require using only table salt and freezer trays, instead of rock salt and bags of cracked ice. Lacking an electric ice cream freezer, turn to the refrigerator/freezer compartment: If all else fails, buy ice cream from the supermarket and top it with a Fourth of July Fresh Fruit Sundae Sauce, or make a new and different Independence Day Compo.

In making any homemade ice cream, the smoother the texture, the better the taste. That's where the constant cranking, or multiple beating helps. The corn syrup in the recipe contributes towards a smooth, velvety-textured ice cream by preventing large ice crystals from forming. Each of the recipes that follow were developed and thoroughly tested. Let them be the fireworks at your Fourth of July celebration.

STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy cream
1 cup light cream
2 cups fresh strawberries

In medium bowl stir together sugar, corn syrup, vanilla and salt. Add heavy cream and light cream, stirring until sugar dissolves. Place strawberries in blender container; cover. Blend on high speed 30 seconds or until smooth. Stir into ice cream mixture. Freeze in 2-quart ice cream freezer following manufacturer's directions. Or follow directions for the type of freezer as given here. Makes 1 1/2 quarts.

BLUEBERRY CHEESECAKE ICE CREAM

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup heavy cream
1 cup light cream
1 pkg. 3 oz. cream cheese, cubed

Blueberry Swirl Mixture:
In blender container place sugar, corn syrup, vanilla, salt, heavy cream and light cream; cover. Blend on high speed adding cream cheese cubes a few at a time until smooth. Freeze in 2-quart ice cream freezer following manufacturer's directions. Or follow directions for the type of freezer as given here. Spoon ice cream into 8-inch springform pan or 8x8x2-inch pan; cover with foil. Freeze until slightly firm. Add Blueberry Swirl Mixture to ice cream, and with spoon swirl it for marbled effect. Cover; freeze until firm. Makes about 1 1/2 quarts.

Blueberry Swirl Mixture:
Place 1 pint fresh blueberries, 1/4 cup light corn syrup and 2 tablespoons sugar in blender container; cover. Blend 30 seconds on high speed. Pour into 1/2-quart saucepan. Stirring occasionally, bring to boil over medium heat and boil gently 20 to 25 minutes or until mixture is reduced by half. Remove from heat. Cool to room temperature. Makes about 1 cup.

To freeze in electric or hand crank ice cream freezer that uses rock salt and cracked ice:
10 pounds ice, cracked (about 5 quarts)
1 pound rock salt

Fill dasher into can. Pour in ice cream mixture. Set can into freezer bucket being careful to position it properly in bottom well. Place cover on can and secure motor frame to hand crank cover. Beginning with a 3-inch layer of cracked ice, pack bucket with alternate layers of cracked ice and rock salt, using 8 cups ice to 1 cup salt, filling bucket level with top, but not over cover. If freezer has multiple speeds, begin with low speed, then increase speed. Drain melted ice occasionally through plug hole and add more ice and salt as needed, to keep bucket filled. Keep plug hole open. When machine makes laboring sound or motor slows, unplug freezer. When hand crank becomes difficult for adult to turn, stop churning. Remove can from ice cream freezer. Wipe cover carefully. Lift out dasher. To ripen, pack ice cream down into can, cover and place in freezer. Or spoon ice cream into plastic container leaving at least 1/2-inch headspace; cover with tight-fitting lid and place in freezer. To ripen in ice cream freezer, drain off all water in freezer bucket. Pack ice cream down into can; cover with foil. Replace can cover and plug cover hole. Refill bucket to top with ice and salt, using 2 cups ice to 1/2 cup salt. (Ice mixture will completely cover top of can.) Cover with large folded cloth or towel.

*Additional ice and salt is needed if ice cream is to be ripened in ice cream freezer rather than household freezer.

To freeze in electric ice cream freezer that uses table salt and freezer tray ice:
4 trays ice cubes
1 1/2 cups table salt
2 cups cold water

Place ice bucket onto motor and base assembly so drive socket engages with drive shaft. Rotate ice bucket until it drops down and seats firmly. Pour ice cream mixture into cream can. Place dasher in cream can. Place can lid over dasher shaft and snap into place. Place cream can into ice bucket so drive socket engages with drive shaft. Lock the support arm into place. With motor running pour 1 cup cold water into ice bucket. Add 1 layer of ice cubes. Sprinkle about 5 tablespoons of the salt evenly over ice. Continue layering ice and salt until ice bucket is full. Sprinkle any remaining salt over ice. Pour 1 cup cold water evenly over top. When machine makes laboring sound or motor slows, unplug. (Do not allow machine to operate more than 50 minutes.) Wipe cover carefully. Lift out dasher. To ripen, pack ice cream down into can, cover and place in freezer. Or spoon ice cream into plastic container leaving at least 1/2-inch headspace; cover with tight-fitting lid and place in freezer.

No matter how it's cut, watermelon tasty

By LINDA BOWMAN
Special, Gannett News Service

DEMYSTIFY — Any way you serve it, watermelon awakens the appetites with a cool refreshing goodness.

Just bite into a crisp chunk and you will discover "juicy sweet-flavor" that satisfies. Keep red-rinds watermelons on hand, for they are a most important contributor to summertime picnic fun.

Selecting a quality watermelon challenges the skill of even the most experienced buyer. Although no absolute formula exists, the following clues will increase your chance of success and should prove to be more reliable than the "old methods" of thumping.

Uncut melons — Look for a well-shaped melon with full ends. The outer skin may vary in shade of green according to variety, but it should appear evenly mottled with a dull luster. When you roll over a choice melon you will notice the underside or belly is creamy in color. Avoid those which have turned bright yellow, as they are unburned.

Cut melons — When choosing watermelon slices, look for those that are in refrigerated cases and well-covered in a clear polyethylene wrapper. The flesh of the melon should be firm, crisp and free of soft spots, bruises and discoloration. The color should be deep pink or bright red depending on variety. Seeds should be matured. Avoid white, underdeveloped seeds. These indicate the melon was harvested before it was mature and will not be of top quality and sweetness.

The care of a watermelon from the time it is cut from the vine in the field until it is eaten is important. Rough treatment at any stage of harvesting, shipping or selling may cause internal bruising as well as external damage. Melons keep well from one to three weeks. They may be stored in a fairly cool place instead of the refrigerator, but direct sunlight and excessive heat will cause rapid deterioration. On the other hand, temperatures below 45 degrees cause chilling damage which may appear as soft, water-soaked

New beans are now stringless

By ROBERT W. STRUBE
© Chicago Sun-Times
(Field News Service)

A few years ago when preparing green beans, also-known-as-string beans, we used to snip one end and actually unstring the long part of the green bean.

Today, however, the string bean is gone and we have a stringless variety that is prepared by only snipping each end.

The same holds true for the waxed yellow bean.

Snap beans are believed to have originated in Central America and were distributed widely over both Americas by the Indians, probably along the same routes as were lima beans.

Snap beans can be used as food at various stages of maturity. The beans may be just appearing in the pod or they may be almost mature.

Green snap beans are available all year with more on the market in summer and fall. They have been a very common garden vegetable for hundreds of years. Even the most inexperienced gardener generally comes up with a good stand of green-snap beans and the bush plants are also very attractive.

The variety called the "Kentucky Wonder," a flat variety about 12 inches long, has now been replaced by the new "Improved Kentucky Wonder" the average length of which is now 5 to 6 inches. Other known varieties are called Blue Lake, Contender, Harvester and Wade.

Other types of beans that you will see at markets are the Italian bean - this is a favorite in the Mediterranean countries and is just getting known in our country.

The cranberry bean is a favorite of Mexico and the West Indies, where it is used in all sorts of thick soups and rich stews. The Chinese Long Bean, sometimes called the Yard Long Bean, really does grow long - Fava beans are also green beans that are often called broad beans or horse beans because of their large size. These beans grow up to 18 inches.

When buying any type of snap bean, be sure the beans have a fresh appearance - are clean, firm, well-shaped, tender, crisp and free from scars. Snap green beans should have a velvety green appearance and feel velvety to the touch. A good snap bean does what its name implies - snaps easily. A dull, lifeless or wilted appearance indicates beans have been held too long.

Fresh snap beans make a good contribution to the diet. A pound of green snap beans contains only 143 calories.

One of the best ways to prepare green beans is to snip off the ends and slice in a lightly covered pan with a little butter or margarine. Shake the pan occasionally to keep the beans from sticking. Cutting the beans French-style (in long narrow slices) makes them cook faster.

Main dish salad is popular for summer

Lazy summer days call for eating to match the weather and activities.

That's why the main-dish salad has become so popular across the U.S., whether you are vacationing, staying at home or commuting to a job.

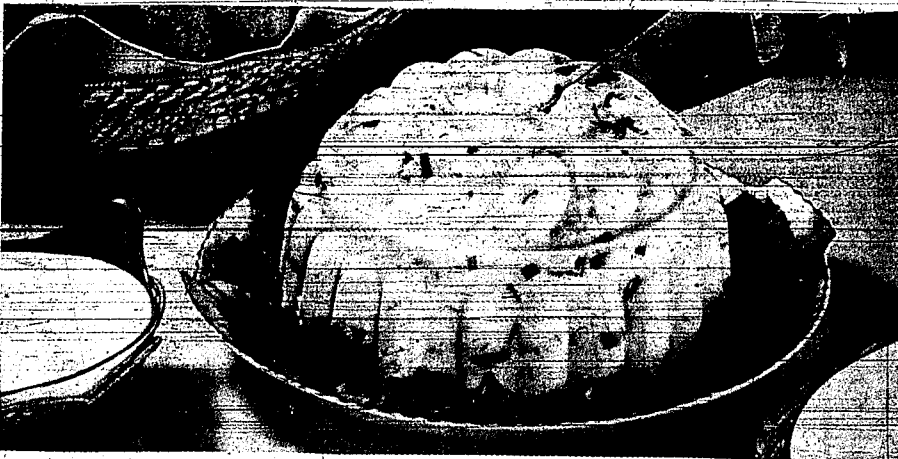

One of the best is a creamy but tangy chicken salad tastefully seasoned with lemon juice, peel and nutmeg. Celery, chopped pimiento and chives provide crunchiness and color.

Sour cream makes a tasty but simple dressing to go with the creaminess of the salad in which the liquid is light cream or half and half. Not only are both types of cream lower in calories than commercial types of dressing, they complement the chicken which is also low in calories.

Tangy Chicken Salad can be quickly prepared in the morning or the evening before so there need be no hassle to get it on the table when suppertime arrives.

TANGY CHICKEN SALAD MOLD

- 2 cups finely chopped cooked chicken
 - 1/2 cup chopped celery
 - 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
 - 1/2 teaspoon chopped chives
 - 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
 - salad greens
 - Dressing: (Yield: 3/4 cup)
 - 3/4 cup dairy-sour cream
 - 1 to 2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 2 tablespoons silvered almonds
- For mold, soften gelatin in light cream in a large saucepan; stir in chicken broth. Heat over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in lemon juice, lemon peel and salt. Chill until jelly-like in consistency. Fold in chicken, celery, pimiento, chives and nutmeg; blend well. Pour mixture in a 5-cup mold. Chill several hours or overnight.
- Meanwhile, for dressing, combine all ingredients in a small mixing bowl. Chill 1 to 2 hours to allow flavors to blend. To serve, unmold salad onto chilled lettuce-lined plate; pass dressing.

Tangy Chicken Salad Mold mixes chicken with celery, lemon juice, nutmeg, pimiento and chives and a sour cream dressing

- Mold:
- envelopes unflavored gelatin
 - 1 1/2 cups light cream OR half and half
 - 2 1/2 cups chicken broth
 - 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
 - 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt

Buckle is moist cake with fruit

SEATTLE — A buckle is an old-fashioned dessert consisting of a moist cake topped with tangy fruit and a buttery crunch topping. This version, featuring luscious canned sweet cherries, is perfect for any occasion.

Sweet Cherry Buckle is at its best served warm, but it is also good cold if some is left for the next day. Top each serving with Cherry Cream Sauce, which combines the thickened cherry syrup with fluffy whipped cream.

Either light Royal Anne cherries or the deep red Bing and Lamberts may be used in Sweet Cherry Buckle. If you choose the light cherries, a few drops of red food coloring may be added to the sauce to tint it a delicate pink.

Sweet cherries, in cans or glass jars, are processed from the pick of summer's cherry crop to prolong the brief season of this cherished fruit.

SWEET CHERRY BUCKLE

- 1 can (17 oz.) dark or light sweet cherries
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 2 cups flour
- 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup milk

Crunch Topping
Cherry Cream Sauce

Drain cherries, reserving syrup for Cherry Cream Sauce. Cream butter or margarine and sugar until light. Beat in egg. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add to creamed mixture alternately with milk, mixing well after each addition. Spread batter in greased and floured 8-inch square baking pan. Top with drained cherries. Sprinkle with Crunch Topping. Bake at 375 degrees 50 to 60 minutes, until cake tests done. Serve warm with Cherry Cream Sauce. Makes 8 servings.

Crunch Topping
Combine 1/2 cup each granulated sugar and brown sugar, 1/2 cup flour, 1 teaspoon cinnamon and 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg. Cut in 1/2 cup butter or margarine until crumbly. Sprinkle over cherries before baking.

Cherry Cream Sauce
Measure reserved cherry syrup, adding water if necessary to make 3/4 cup. Combine with 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon sugar and 2 teaspoons cornstarch. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Cool completely. Fold in 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped. Makes about 1 1/2 cups sauce.

July 4 brings nostalgia

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Fourth of July gatherings bring waves of nostalgia — especially for those past 50.

Remember the homemade ice cream? Remember the local parade with its bands, banners and bunting? Remember when the rocks were sprinkled and everyone ducked under the sawhorse table? Remember...?

This first Fourth of July of the new decade will no doubt produce new tales of fun and lumbies when you join with family and friends for an All-American cookout.

With economy on most minds, what better way to get together than with an old-fashioned covered-dish cookout? The host provides grilled marinated steak and the guests bring the salads, casseroles, desserts and other makings of the star-spangled eating marathon.

Adding to the All-American flavor are the following side dishes from various parts of the country.

Zesty Marinated Steak

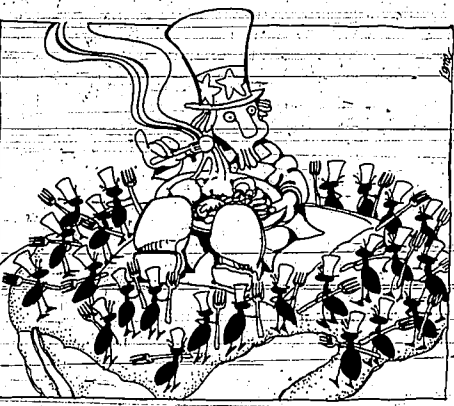

1 1/2 pounds flank steak or London broil
1/2 cup beer
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/4 teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard

1/2 teaspoon salt

Place steak in shallow nonmetal dish. Combine remaining ingredients. Pour over meat. Cover. Refrigerate overnight. Remove meat from marinade. Grill 5 inches from source of heat, 5 minutes per side for rare meat. Heat remaining marinade. Serve with steak. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

Grammy's Barbecue Salad

2 tart, crisp apples, cored and cubed
1 1/2 1/2-ounce can red kidney-beans, drained
1/2 cup chopped sweet pickle or sweet pickle relish
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1/2 cup vegetable oil
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Mark July 4 with cookout using recipes from any parts of U.S.

In medium bowl, combine apples, kidney beans, pickle and onion. In small bowl, beat together oil, vinegar, mustard, sugar, salt and pepper. Stir into apple-bean mixture. Cover. Refrigerate 2 hours or overnight, if possible. Serve with meat, fish or poultry. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 to 8 servings.

Pennsylvania Dutch Potato Salad

2 pounds potatoes (5 medium)
1/2 pound bacon, diced
1 medium onion, chopped
1/2 cup cider vinegar
1/2 cup beef bouillon
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon white pepper
1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley

In large saucepan, cook potatoes in slightly salted boiling water for 20 minutes or just until tender. Drain. Peel while hot. Cut into 1/2-inch slices. Cook bacon and onion in large skillet until light golden brown. Remove from heat. Add vinegar, bouillon, salt, pepper and parsley. Add potatoes. Heat 5 to 6 minutes. Note: 1 cup shredded pared carrot may be cooked with bacon and onion.

Girl of his dreams is rude awakening after wedding

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
 A Universal Press Syndicate
 DEAR ABBY: Six months ago I married a man who I thought was the girl of my dreams. She had the kind of beauty that most men can only dream about. She was cuddly and loving before we were married and until about a month after then Bobby, her 9-year-old son, took over.

She prepares only Bobby's favorite food (mainly hamburgers) and never asks me what I want. When I suggest something, I'm told, "We aren't used to eating that!"

She speaks of her rights and Bobby's rights. Never mine. She buys him any toy he wants. He already has more than 100 in cartons and tires of them quickly.

She allows Bobby to hold and touch her, but I am told it's not "proper" for a husband and wife to show physical affection in front of children. She's 43, I'm 46, but a 9-year-old rules our house. We have to watch his favorite TV shows, and when we eat out, we go where Bobby wants to go.

Abby, I was willing to accept her son; he's part of her. But I feel like an outsider looking in. Until he was 7, he slept with her. He had no bed of his own.

How can I get Bobby to share his mother with me? I'm not even allowed to correct him. If I try, she jumps all over me. So I just pay her bills and get nothing out of our marriage. What is your advice?

—OUTSIDER IN CHICAGO

DEAR OUTSIDER: Tell your bride that you are dissatisfied with your marriage and will need her cooperation (and Bobby's) to improve it. Family counseling, involving ALL members of the family, will be required. If she refuses to cooperate, you can either dissolve the marriage or hang around while the lady "with the kind of beauty most men dream about" continues to use you.

DEAR ABBY: About three weeks ago I met a real neat kid. We hit it off swell together. He asked me for my telephone number and I gave it to him.

The next day he called and we made a date for that Friday night. He never showed up and never called. Yesterday, I bumped into him by accident, and he said he was sorry about what happened last Friday, but something unexpected came up and he couldn't make it.

He asked if he could see me that night and I said yes. Well, he didn't show up and didn't call. Next Saturday night my girlfriend is having a party, and she said me to bring my own guy. Do you think I should give this kid another chance? I still like him.

—HOLES IN MY HEAD

DEAR HOLES: If you do, you should borrow the rocks in HIS head to fill up the holes in YOURS.

DEAR ABBY: Would you care to speculate on why a man would lose three wedding rings in the first four years of his marriage?

—HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: He either consciously or unconsciously doesn't want to a) be married, b) look married, c) feel married. Or a combination of all three.

Do you wish you had more friends? Get Abby's booklet, "How To Be Popular: You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped, (22-cent) envelope to: Abby, Popularly, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Sandwiches answer for lazy cook

By VIRGINIA VAN VYNCKT
 Chicago Sun-Times

When it comes to easy meals, sandwiches really stack up. Versatile and quick to prepare, they're the lazy cook's answer to summer doldrums. They're also a boon to the hostess: Sandwiches are a good way to use up leftovers, to stretch meat or fish by combining it with other ingredients.

Following are some suggestions for common sandwiches. Sandwich them with a light vegetable soup or for a refreshing palate-cooler, the chilled cucumber soup below.

• Peanut butter: Too many people think of this popular spread as a mere companion to a hot dog. Actually, peanut butter goes with almost anything. Grill peanut butter with bacon and tomato on whole-wheat bread. Or spread peanut butter on toast and top with olives, celery, shredded lettuce or thin slices of dill pickle. And don't forget that peanut butter and banana slices are a magic combination.

• Poultry: Mix thin slices of chicken or turkey with plain yogurt, lemon juice, salt and pepper, and dill or basil. Cut pita bread rounds in half (see note) and stuff each half with the chicken-mixture, chopped or sliced tomato and shredded lettuce.

• Note: Pita bread (often spelled pita), a Middle Eastern flat bread, is sold in many grocery stores. It costs about $1.10 for a dozen pita-bread rounds, enough for 24 sandwiches.

For another delicious poultry sandwich, spread cream cheese on thin slices of french or vienna bread and top with thin slices of chicken or turkey; thinly sliced red onions and thinly sliced cucumbers.

• Fish: For each sandwich, mash 3 or 4 sardines with a fork or in a blender. Mix with worcestershire sauce, a dab of ketchup or horseradish, a squeeze of lemon juice and a dash of chopped onion, and enough mayonnaise to moisten. Spread between pieces of toast—or spread on bread, top with a slice of swiss cheese and pop under the broiler.

• Tuna-cheese melt: Drain 1 can of tuna fish. Mix with chopped dill or sweet pickle, chopped, hard-cooked egg; chopped onion and a dab of horseradish or sauce of lemon juice. Mix with enough mayonnaise to moisten, and season with salt and pepper. For each sandwich, dip two slices of bread into beaten egg. Sauté bread in margarine until golden. Turn bread and top one slice with tuna fish mixture; top the other slice with a thin slice of swiss or cheddar cheese. Cook until underside of bread is golden and cheese melts. Assemble sandwiches and serve with dill pickle or tomato wedges. This makes about 4 sandwiches.

• Egg: There's always that reliable standby, egg salad. Spread eggs, make a good open-faced sandwich. Try them atop melted cheese, seasoned spinach (make sure moisture is squeezed from spinach), or thinly sliced ham and green peppers. Use toasted bread or English muffins for the base.

CHILLED CUCUMBER-YOGURT SOUP
 Cost: less than $2
 2 large cucumbers
 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
 1/4-cups plain yogurt
 1 teaspoon oil
 1 teaspoon vinegar
 1 tablespoon fresh dill weed, chopped, or 1-teaspoon dried dill weed
 Salt and white pepper to taste

Peel and seed 2 large cucumbers (do not drain). Combine with remaining ingredients; mix well. Chill at least 2 hours. Makes 4 servings.

Role reversal
 NEW YORK (UPI)—A role reversal is taking place among young couples on the matter of having children, says the director of the Family Research Institute.

In a magazine article, Dr. Charles Figley says husbands are finding themselves in the position of pressuring their reluctant, career-minded wives to have children.

"Liberation aside," Figley says, "the man can be more motivated to have had less to do with most child-rearing responsibilities. Still, it falls to the mother."

This star-spangled hamburger, large enough to feed a crowd, is combined with onion soup mix

Serve stars and stripes burger

ENGLEWOOD CLIFFS, N.J. — July 4th celebration activities usually include flying the flag high, watching colorful fireworks and eating good food at a fun-time barbecue. That all-American favorite, the hamburger, usually makes an appearance on the menu. Hamburgers are simple to prepare and everyone seems to love them. On this day that we honor the birth of our country, fly your flag high by serving the "Stars and Stripes Burger."

This star-spangled hamburger is large enough to feed the crowd, and it's hardly any work to make. Ground beef is combined with onion soup mix, soft bread crumbs, sweet pickle relish and eggs. The onion soup mix provides the perfect blend of onion and seasonings to flavor the ground beef just right without a lot of peeling, chopping and measuring. The beef mixture is then shaped into a 13" x 7" rectangle and grilled until done. (To turn it, you'll probably need the helping hands of a friend.) When the burger is finished, add American cheese — and pimiento "stars and stripes." Cut the "Stars and Stripes Burger" to fit into hamburger or frankfurter rolls, serve with the usual condiments, some refreshing glasses of iced tea... you're set for your July 4th feast.

STARS AND STRIPES BURGER
1 envelope onion soup mix
2 pounds ground beef
1 cup soft bread crumbs

1/2 cup drained sweet pickle relish
2 eggs
American cheese
Whole pimientos or pickles
In large bowl, combine onion soup mix, ground beef, bread crumbs, relish and eggs. Shape into 13" x 7" rectangle. Grill or broil until done. Garnish with cheese and pimiento to form "stars and stripes." Cut and serve. If desired, on hamburger or frankfurter rolls. Makes about 8 servings.

Celebrate Fourth of July with cookout in your own backyard

CHICAGO — The cookout is as American as the Fourth of July, and the back yard is the site that will be selected for Independence Day celebrations by millions of families from coast to coast. Here plenty of food as well as flags and fireworks are included in the festivities of the day.

Whether the feasting is a family affair or to be shared with friends, one thing for certain is that, weather man willing, it will take place outdoors in this "sweet land of liberty." For fresh air and sunny skies foster jubilant spirits, and freedom rings!

The spirit of freedom is shared by the cook when dinner moves outdoors, especially when a boneless smoked ham is the piece de resistance. Easy to roast on the grill rotisserie or in a covered grill, this choice conquers cooking concerns and wins hungry diners' approval. Also important is the fact that this modern, compact, waste-free ham furnishes a maximum number of juicy flavorome and easy-to-serve servings per pound.

A boneless ham is an ideal selection for the rotisserie. Once it is balanced and secured on the rod and placed on the grill, the cook is free to relax while waiting. No basting is required as the ham itself is packed with savory natural juices. Appetites will peak during the slow cooking as the aroma of the roasting ham drifts through the air.

If lacking facilities for outdoor roasting, the ham can be baked unattended in a slow oven prior to carving and serving at the dining table. It matters not whether those flavorome slices are thick or thin for this is a tender cut of meat.

SMOKED HAM
ROTISSERIE-STYLE
A 7 to 10 pound boneless smoked

"fully cooked" ham. Insert rotisserie rod lengthwise through center of ham. Balance ham, tighten split forks so meat turns only with the rod. Insert roast meat thermometer, parallel to the rod so bulb is centered in thickest part of ham, but not touching the rod.

Arrange burning coals around drip pan. Place ham on rotisserie over drip pan, and cook at low to moderate temperature until thermometer registers 140 degrees. Allow 15 to 18 minutes per pound — 2 or 2½ hours. Brush with barbecue sauce or glaze, if desired, during last 15 to 20 minutes of cooking.

To bake in oven, place ham on rack in open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer in the thickest part. Do not add water; do not cover. Roast in a slow oven, 325 degrees, until thermometer registers 140 degrees. Allow 15 to 18 minutes per pound.

Make this an all-American menu by including other traditional outdoor favorites. If isn't a picnic without potato salad, prepared ahead and waiting in the refrigerator, and/or seasonal corn on the cob, cooked indoors or out. Cole slaw, marinated cucumber slices, radish roses and olives require no last minute attention and rye bread may suggest ham sandwiches to hearty eaters.

The family's favorite cake will be a delectable winner, especially when served a la mode. This is the time to use the ice cream freezer, if you have one, to top off the feast with traditional fanfare.

Boneless ham is easy to roast on the grill rotisserie. No basting is required as the ham is packed with savory natural juices.

Commercial mayonnaise fights bacteria

Times-News writer
Tackle picnic food spoilage by using commercial real mayonnaise, say researchers at the University of Wisconsin-Madison's Food Research Institute.

Their recent studies show that bacteria grows in such picnic foods as ham and chicken when not mixed with real mayonnaise.

Mayonnaise can no longer be blamed for warm-weather food spoilage. Their study shows that it actually promotes safety.

In the United States, commercial mayonnaise is a standardized food whose composition is specified by the government. The required quantities of salt, vinegar and lemon juice in real mayonnaise retard bacterial growth. Unfortunately, this applies ONLY to commercial real mayonnaise. The acid content of homemade mayonnaise may be too low to create the same safety level and therefore we advocate preparing all mayonnaise dishes with the commercial stuff if you are planning on taking them to a picnic.

The significance of the University's finding is obvious. For maximum safety, mayonnaise should be added to sandwiches, salads and spreads as early as possible, not held separate until the very last minute. This statement should not be interpreted to mean that a spoonful of mayonnaise in a gallon of chicken salad will provide total and absolute protection against any kind of abuse. Mayonnaise is an effective bacterial growth inhibitor because of its acid content. Food poisoning bacteria can grow in a normal mixture of food and mayonnaise, but they grow even better without it.

Here are a few tips to assure safe picnic food. It is important to take preventative measures from beginning to end. Personal cleanliness is crucial. Scrub hands, but also scrub work surfaces and utensils, especially between each use. Some bacteria can be transmitted from one food to another and scrubbing avoids this cross-over contamination.

Put foods cooked for picnic fixings in refrigerator as soon as they stop steaming. Don't give any bacteria a chance to grow while the foods are cooling to room temperatures. Refrigerator-chill all perishable foods and then transfer them to your picnic cooler. When picnic is finished and there are leftovers which have been standing around for a few hours, they should be thrown out. Following are a few mayonnaise mixtures which make good picnic eating. If you are concerned about food poisoning, don't spare the mayo. And remember, the sooner you add it, the safer the food will be.

GUACAMOLE
(May be used as salad dressing, sandwich spread or a dip for chips or crackers.)

1 large avocado, peeled and seeded
1 tablespoon lemon or lime juice
1/2 cup real mayonnaise
2 teaspoons grated onion
Dash Worcestershire sauce
Dash Tabasco

In bowl, mash avocado with fork. Thoroughly blend in lemon or lime juice, mayonnaise, grated onion, Worcestershire sauce and Tabasco. Cover; chill thoroughly. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

GRANDMOTHER'S POTATO SALAD
1 large Bermuda onion, peeled and minced
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
Generous pinch of white pepper
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1/4 cup real mayonnaise
1 1/2 to 2 pounds potatoes, cooked, peeled and cubed

4 large stalks celery, cleaned and sliced
1 green pepper, stemmed and seeded and minced
Finely chopped parsley or paprika for garnish

In bowl, combine onion, vinegar, salt, pepper, eggs and mayonnaise. Mix well and then gently stir in potatoes, celery and green pepper. Cover; chill at least 4 hours. Sprinkle with chopped parsley or paprika before serving.

Multiply this potato salad recipe as needed for large get-togethers. This recipe makes about 4 cups salad.

TARTARE SAUCE
(This is particularly good with fried fish.)

1 cup real mayonnaise
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley
1 small onion, peeled and finely minced
1 tablespoon finely chopped, drained sweet pickle
1 sliced hard-cooked egg
1 teaspoon chopped, drained capers
A little caper juice or lemon juice to thin if desired
In bowl, combine mayonnaise,

Study claims mayonnaise curbs bacteria mustard, parsley, onion, pickle, egg, capers and juice if necessary. Mix thoroughly. Cover; chill a few hours. Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

Lammers refuses to leave Filer chief's job

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

FILER — Filer City Council members continued to hammer away at the Filer Police Department Tuesday night, calling for the resignation of Police Chief Henry Lammers and transfer of another officer to the city maintenance department.

By a 3 to 1 vote Tuesday night, the council adopted a motion asking the immediate resignation for Lammers. By the same vote another motion passed that would have transferred officer Ron Moore to city maintenance work.

Moore, who would have worked for the same pay rate in the maintenance department, immediately declined the council's offer for the alternative position turned in his badge. He told the council he has an Idaho license as an electrical contractor and would not consider their offer.

The motion for the resignation of the chief was made by Police Commissioner John Glandon and stated that if Lammers would not resign, a meeting would be held July 22, at which time he would appear, with his attorney if he chose, and answer "charges against him," and that Lammers be suspended with pay until the hearing.

The council named Police Officer Gary Cushman, who aside from Lammers and Moore has the longest service with the city, to act as police chief until the July 22 hearing.

The council called an executive session following the regular meeting, asking Glandon to attend.

Moore was charged with disorderly conduct in a recent incident in Twin Falls. Two motorists charged he and a former Jerome police officer with harassing them and court appearance is pending for both.

The motion for transfer of Moore to the maintenance crew stated it would be in effect until cases against him "in Jerome and Twin Falls counties" were completed.

A Jerome County resident filed a claim for damages against Filer charging Moore had injured him when he was arrested by Jerome officers. Moore was allegedly accompanying Jerome police at the time Moore resides in Jerome County.

The council's action failed to make public any complaints or charges against the chief. Lammers immediately announced he would not resign. He said following the meeting he plans to contact his attorney this morning to determine what recourse he has and what his legal position is in the resignation demand.

He said he did not know the council would call for his resignation Tuesday night, although he had heard rumors in the past two days. He said he has no idea what charges the council has against him.

Lammers has been police chief since November 1974 and holds a certificate from the police academy at Idaho State University.

Moore and Lammers have been under fire by some time Lee Alexander and Glandon for some time, but the police department has had the support of Mayor Eldon Shafer and Councilwoman Wanda Ryaal. Tuesday night, Shafer was the only member voting against the two motions. Ryaal votes only to break a tie.

Robert Fort, the other council member, sided with Alexander and Glandon.

Cushman said prior to the executive session he would not make a comment until he heard what the council had in mind, but he said it would be difficult for him to continue police service in Filer with only one other officer, Ron Romaro, who was hired several months ago, is the only other Filer police officer and the department functions on a 24-hour basis seven days a week.

At the June council meeting, Alexander called for turning the Filer department over to Twin Falls Police Chief Tim Qualls until officers completed recommended training. The motion was voted down and Glandon then resigned at the close of the meeting and walked out.

He reconsidered his action the following day and the city's legal adviser stated since the resignation was not in writing and came as the meeting was adjourned by the mayor, it should be considered official.

A large group of citizens attended the Filer council meeting. Most applauded when Lammers said he would not resign.

Alexander, a long-time critic of the police department, survived a recall election attempt June 27. The recall petitions asked that he be removed from office because of his harassment of the police department and violations of his oath of office.

Following the election, Alexander said he believed the vote was a mandate from Filer citizens to force the resignation of Lammers or fire him.

Ekrot resigns post as Buhl police chief

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

BUHL — Ben Ekrot, police chief in Buhl for the past six years, has resigned his position effective immediately.

City Councilman Terry Lechner said the resignation was accepted in a meeting of the council Monday night. He said a council meeting had been planned for Monday, and Ekrot's written resignation was on the desk of Buhl City Clerk Peggy McArthur Monday morning. He said the resignation was addressed to the council and mayor to become effective June 30.

Ekrot joined the Buhl police department 13 years ago and became chief six years ago in August. Ekrot's resignation, the department consisted of the chief and five officers, covering the city 24 hours a day.

Ekrot had opposed the City Council's action at the beginning of the year to eliminate the position of the city's animal control officer. He said the officer also doubled as a parking meter service officer and filled in on extra work in his department and in other departments.

In eliminating the position, animal control was turned over to off-duty street department workers.

Ekrot said Tuesday it was difficult to resign after 13 years with the police department. He said he did not want to enter any controversy with the city officials or to list any reason for the resignation other than to devote time to his private business. He and his wife operate the Country Kountry, convenience food store in Buhl.

Mayor Kelly Houk said council members present were unanimous in accepting the resignation, but he said it came as a surprise to him. Lechner said Raymond Leppay, another member of the Buhl Police Department, was asked to take over as temporary police chief until a new department head can be named. He said the city will probably advertise for applications to fill the vacancy.

Buhl City Council members have been interviewing personnel in all city departments to find out if workers are satisfied with their work or if they have suggestions for improvement or changes. Houk said the fire and police departments were completed some time ago. The Monday night meeting had been called to interview five workers in the public works and water departments.

It was busy Monday for Twin Falls police

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Police said Monday night began quietly enough, but by morning they had apprehended a burglar, arrested a strong-arm robbery suspect and investigated an attempted house burglary.

A 25-year-old Hansen man was arrested on a burglary charge Monday night after Twin Falls police surprised him in the Save-On Drug Store on Filer Ave.

DeWay Dewilder was arrested on charges of burglary and possession of narcotics. Police Chief Tim Qualls said Tuesday morning.

He said entry to the store was gained through the roof of the building. The burglar inside had been made and went into the building at about 4:15 a.m. Tuesday to find a man inside carrying a sack filled with various narcotics.

Qualls said about 10:20 p.m. Monday a man who identified himself as Ivan Stubbs of Twin Falls came to the police department stating he was the victim of a strong-arm robbery at a local motel. The victim reported he had been attacked, knocked down and robbed of about $90 at the Knotty Pine Motel.

Police went to the motel, where they arrested John Sjogren, 28, of Twin Falls. During the arrest attempt, an officer suffered a hand injury and Sjogren was also charged with resisting arrest and assaulting a police officer.

Qualls said while at the motel, officers received a complaint from the management about two individuals who allegedly were causing problems. David Elzie, 21, and Vincent L. Johnson, 18, both of Twin Falls, were also arrested for disorderly conduct.

About 11 p.m. Monday the Willard Rier family, residing on Pole Line Road just inside the Twin Falls city limits, returned home to discover a rear door glass had been broken out.

They went in to check the home only to surprise three burglars in the house. Qualls said Mr. Rier and his son, Fred, met two burglars face to face as the pair ran from one of the bedrooms. In their effort to escape the building, the two suspects knocked the two Rier men to the floor. The third suspect ran out of another bedroom, knocking Mrs. Rier to the floor.

Qualls said apparently the trio did not complete their night's work, as nothing was reported missing from the home.

"Either the chief said residents who entered their homes have been entered should not go inside to check them but should 'back off' and call officers."

"Either the burglars are still in the building, or they have returned to the lives of the home owners, or they have finished their work and gone," Qualls said. "In either event, it is a better idea to let police find out the situation."

One city official is worried that Perrine Coulee's waterfall may be used for generating power.

Perrine Coulee likely site hydroelectric power plant

By MARTY THILLHAASE
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Canyon Springs Golf Course owners say they may install a hydroelectric facility on the Perrine Coulee drop into the Snake River.

The owners applied for a federal loan in May to finance a feasibility study of the site for a one-megawatt plant. The Region Four Development Association board of directors last week voted to endorse the project.

But City Councilman Alan Wubker, who sits on the board, cast a sole vote against the project, saying he felt a power plant could endanger the coulee falls.

"I was just trying to protect the aesthetic beauty of one of the last waterfalls in Twin Falls that hasn't been dammed up for hydroelectricity," Wubker said. "Now that we've got a good road down there, people can go down there and at least enjoy a little."

Wubker said he is not planning any further effort to oppose the project.

Canyon Springs managing partner Joe McCollum said he does not foresee the project diminishing the falls. He added that if a chasm between the project and the falls, he would probably choose to forego the project.

"There is no way I can think that you're going to dam that up and personally I don't think we want that," he said. "We've got more invested in that than anyone else by a long shot."

McCollum said the project is in a preliminary stage. Federal officials are now reviewing the application for the $35,900 forgivable loan while state officials are going over the golf course's application to use the water for electrical generation. Project engineers are also studying the amount of water that flows over the coulee, said project manager Jerry Eggleston of CH2M Hill Engineers Inc. of Boise. Eggleston said that information is crucial to determining if the project is feasible.

The flow studies will be concluded at the end of summer and the feasibility study completed by the end of the year, he said.

Should the study determine the project unfeasible, the Department of Energy would waive repayment, Eggleston said.

McCollum late last year filed for a 50-cubic-foot per second (cfs) water right for electrical generation with the Idaho Department of Water Resources. The golf club now has a three cfs water right for irrigation.

McCollum said he is unaware of any water rights conflicts, adding his plans would not conflict with any downstream water users.

Another factor crucial to the project is the rate which Canyon Springs could sell the electricity to Idaho Power Co. Federal law requires power companies to purchase power from small independent producers. But the Idaho Public Utilities Commission has yet to decide whether Idaho Power Co. must pay as much for the electricity produced by the independents as it would for electricity produced by a new plant.

Eggleston said the one megawatt plant would produce about 3,000 megawatt hours of electricity each year. If the new rate is approved, that would bring in about $120,000 in revenues to Canyon Springs, he said.

Dumps taking holiday, too
TWIN FALLS — Most Twin Falls County landfills will close much of the upcoming July 4th weekend.

All landfills except one will close at noon Friday and remain closed until 8 a.m. Monday, according to D.A. Heider, county director of solid waste.

The Murkay landfill will remain open during normal hours Saturday and Sunday.

This is the first time the landfills have ever closed for an entire weekend, Heider said. In the past they have been closed only four days a year, Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's and the Fourth of July.

Flapjacks being served
BUHL — Buhl Sagebrush Days begins Thursday morning with a pancake breakfast from 7 to 10 a.m. at the Jaycee Hall.

A teen dance will start at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Jaycee Hall.

Suit filed over harvest accident
TWIN FALLS — A Gooding couple is asking $200,000 damages as the result of a potato harvesting accident.

The suit is filed in the 5th District Court here naming Richard Gnetting and Lockwood Corp. as defendants. Also named as defendants are John Doe 1 through 5.

The couple charges Mrs. Parrott was injured Oct. 17, 1979, while employed by Gnetting on a potato harvester manufactured by Lockwood Corp. Inc. The plaintiffs charge negligence and carelessness on the part of Gnetting and his employees, whose names are not known to the plaintiffs. They also charge the equipment was unsafe for operations by workers such as Mrs. Parrott.

In addition to $125,000 general damages for Mrs. Parrott and $75,000 damages for Parrott, the couple also asks benefits for lost wages and medical bills, the amounts to be set by the court.

Illegal alien sweep ban extended
TWIN FALLS — The ban on routine sweeps by the U.S. Border Patrol for illegal aliens has been extended until the end of the month.

The Justice Department halted all sweeps at the beginning of March in order to encourage illegal aliens to allow themselves to be counted in the census.

Bob Schar, chief patrol agent at the Border Patrol regional headquarters in Havre, Mont., said the ban, originally scheduled to expire Tuesday, was extended because the census has been completed.

In March, Border Patrol officers received instructions to enter homes or workplaces in search of aliens only with a search warrant and only in cases where there are good reasons to suspect of crimes like fraud or drug smuggling.

The effort to include illegal aliens in the census comes as a result of a court order. The U.S. Census Bureau admits it undercounted Hispanics in the 1970 census.

3 MVMH emergency room bids weighed

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Board considered three bids to provide emergency room physician coverage in a special meeting Tuesday night.

The contract with the firm presently staffing the emergency room, Travis-Martin of Colorado, expires Aug. 4. Martin's company and two other firms have submitted bids for two-to-three-year contracts.

The firms and their bids are:

- Travis Martin, which has provided coverage for the last four months, would provide 24-hour coverage, seven days a week for $299,808 a year and provide $1 million to $3 million in malpractice insurance. The firm has similar contracts with two other hospitals in Colorado.
- Spectrum Emergency Care of St. Louis would provide full coverage for $216,388, with $6 million to $12 million in malpractice insurance. The firm has contracts with 190 hospitals, making it one of the nation's largest emergency service providers.
- Northwest Emergency Physicians of Bellevue, Wash., would provide full coverage for $258,000. But MVMH would provide insurance coverage, controller Scott Richardson put the total cost at $273,000. The firm has contracts with six northwest hospitals.

MVMH now pays $245,000 a year for emergency room coverage, according to Richardson. He said switching to the Spectrum firm would save the hospital at least $51,000 a year.

However, area physicians attending the meeting voiced support for Martin's firm, citing the quality of its doctors, Carl Bontrager, Kent Pressman and Philip Nelson. The three have worked three years in the hospital's emergency room.

The board will select a bid at a later meeting.

Twin Falls group introduced resolutions

TWIN FALLS (UPI) — Resolutions passed by delegates to the state Republican Convention last week were credited Tuesday to members of the Twin Falls County delegation.

A resolution calling for a lien law, which would allow counties to impose liens on welfare recipients' land in order to obtain reimbursement for county funds was drafted by the Twin Falls County Commission, said Commissioner Ann Cover.

Cover said the resolution, introduced at the Republican convention by state Senate candidate Laird Noh, would help the county commissions combat what they believe is increasing abuse of county welfare programs. She said this would be only an alternative available to county officials in special cases.

She said welfare recipients would be forced to repay the county's costs in the event they sell or transfer ownership of their property or if relatives sell the property upon the death of a welfare recipient.

Another resolution introduced by Sen. John Barker of Buhl would allow the state to penalize individuals for selling their property in order to qualify for public assistance.

Barker said he modeled his resolution after one passed by the Iowa legislature, which has passed court battles and has been determined unconstitutional.

Barker and Loh said they will introduce the measures in the 1981 Legislature of they win their election challenges.

Church protests spud plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, protested Tuesday a plan by the Army and Air Force post exchange service to stop buying U.S. frozen potatoes in favor of spuds from a European processor.

In a letter to the Secretary of Defense and U.S. Trade representative, Church called the action "appalling."

He said the Army-Air Force Exchange Service "is a major outlet for U.S. potato products. I think it must be noted that the Common Market countries maintain restrictive barriers to the entry of U.S. agricultural products and also freely engage in the 'dumping' of their own surplus agricultural products in the United States."

Church said the "potato industry in Idaho and across the United States has been buffeted by low prices to growers and high farm credit costs."

Challis mine hearing approved

CHALLIS (UPI) — The U.S. Forest Service has agreed to a request from the Bureau of Land Management to plan a public hearing on a proposed open-pit mining operation near Challis.

Robert Buffington, BLM manager in Idaho, says the proposal deserves a public hearing because of the pending project's size. Mining company officials say they expect to pull out 500,000 to 1,000,000 cubic yards of material per day at the huge planned mine.

The hearing will be in August, but the day and time has not been set.

Hansen lauds abortion ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. George Hansen hailed the Supreme Court's decision Monday ruling out federal funding for abortions as "a landmark case that upholds the right of the Congress . . . and the courts . . . to set social policy."

Hansen, R-Idaho, said Tuesday he was "proud" of his efforts against federal funding for abortions. He called the abortion case "quite possibly the greatest moral struggle in our lifetime."

"The decision literally means life for countless millions of unborn children, the true victors in a battle which they do not even know they have won," Hansen said.

New laws are in effect

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Legislature's winter decisions on divorce, mobile-home landlords and tenants and brucellosis vaccination for calves took effect Tuesday.

Of 236 laws passed by the 1980 Legislature, however, one has been prevented from taking effect Tuesday as scheduled. It's the law making it illegal to possess or sell drug paraphernalia. Retailers who say the statute is unconstitutional have obtained a preliminary injunction against it.

Included in the list approved by legislators and the governor are laws: •Outlining procedures designed to make Idaho divorce settlements fair to all parties. •Spelling out rights of mobile-home landlords and tenants in an effort to prevent disputes and inequities. •Compelling dentists to submit to jury duty. •Requiring vaccination mandatory for calves for protection against brucellosis infection. •Giving farmers and manufacturers incentives to invest in gasoline production. •Banning consumption of alcohol at public school functions or on school district property.

Post Falls rape rate soaring

POST FALLS (UPI) — Post Falls police are concerned over the high incidence of rape in the community this past month.

A young Post Falls woman was raped early Monday morning, marking the fourth reported rape in the city in the last month.

The 20-year-old housewife told police she was leaving a tavern at 1:15 a.m. when a man "came out of nowhere and got into the passenger side of the car." The report said the man, described as being in his 20s with sandy blond hair, announced he had a gun and ordered the victim to drive to a location east of Post Falls.

National copper strike begins

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Thousands of copper workers in eight states went on strike Tuesday in a dispute over wages and the rising cost of living.

Union workers at Phelps Dodge, Inspiration, Arco, Cities Service, Asarco and Kennecott went on strike at 12:01 a.m. MST. A contract with another union, the Copper Co., expires at midnight Tuesday.

A Kennecott Copper official said the strike would not "affect the man on the street."

Cass Alvin, chief spokesman for the 26-union coalition that has been negotiating with the copper companies, was optimistic that the strike would get the two sides together, although there were not any last minute offers from either the unions and management.

"There'll be no problem settling," said Alvin. "Historically, the union and company always communicate better during a strike." If Magma workers join the rest of the industry on strike, it will bring to 30,000 the number of workers idled at mines and smelters in Arizona, Washington, Utah, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas, Maryland and New Jersey.

Wages and cost-of-living pay hikes were the stumbling block to a settlement with the unions demanding a 11-an-hour hike over a three-year period and the copper companies offering about 70 cents. The current average wage is $10.23 an hour.

On the cost-of-living issue, management wants to follow the lead of the steel industry and give the workers more fringe benefits instead of cost-of-living raises, a proposal the unions have rejected.

Based on past strikes in the industry, Alvin predicted the walkout would last about six weeks.

"There is no way to judge how long the strike might last," said Bob Altko, director of communications for Kennecott Copper. "A strike is something you never look forward to."

He is survived by his wife Elaine of Murray, Utah, and five children. Wayne Lindemood of Vancouver, Wash., Neal Lindemood of Boise, John Lindemood of Twin Falls, Douglas Lindemood of Kimberly, and his mother, Mrs. O.W. Lindemood, also of Scottsdale, Ariz. He was preceded in death by his father.

McClure says Boise missile launch site

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James McClure said Tuesday he has been informed the Army plans to launch Pershing II test missiles from a site southwest of Boise.

McClure said the Pershing II now is in engineering development and the scheduled Army launches from Idaho are not scheduled to begin until January 1983.

He said the basic differences in the new Pershing II system is a guidance system giving it pinpoint accuracy and a longer range.

The Army schedule calls for two over-water test firings of the missiles from Cape Canaveral, four short-range test firings from just north of El Paso, Texas, in July 1983, four medium-range test firings from Green River, Wyo., in October of 1982 and 14 long-range launches from a site southwest of Boise in January 1983.

All the test missiles, except those launched from Cape Canaveral, will be aimed at the White Sands Army Proving Ground in New Mexico, McClure said.

McClure said the Pershing II missile system is truck-mounted and highly mobile, but he said he is not

Minidoka discusses teacher pact Monday

RUPERT — The Minidoka County School Board will meet Monday night to discuss a new teacher contract and an extension of the completion date for the new Paul Elementary School.

Superintendent Wayne Fagg said the construction firm, Mitchell Construction of Pocatello, has asked for an extension from the contracted completion date of July 1.

Fagg said no "big items" are being held up completion of the building and that, he believes, the contractor has reasonable cause to ask for an extension. The new teacher contract was ratified at a meeting of teachers last week. In an earlier meeting, the school board postponed a decision in order to learn the teachers' sentiments and to discuss the settlement with their chief negotiator, who was out of town.

Details of the tentative agreement have not been released. Fagg said completion of the new Paul School has to wait for replacement of 29 doors, which were rejected after delivery, and a faulty heating valve. The faulty valve has prevented installation of a composition floor.

"We don't want to put one thing in the building until it's approved and the board has accepted it," Fagg said. If that happens by Aug. 1, he said there would be enough time to move in before school starts.

Teachers report to work Aug. 22 and school begins Aug. 27.

Borg collects 32nd straight Wimbledon win

WIMBLEDON (UPI) — Undeterred by the cool, misty rain, Bjorn Borg broke the prized record of a former idol Tuesday by winning his 32nd consecutive singles match at Wimbledon.

Borg, striving to prove himself the best player who ever lived, wiped out Balazs Taroczy, Hungary's top player; 6-1, 7-5, 6-2, to break the mark Rod Laver and reach the quarterfinal round in his bid to set still another record by sweeping to a fifth consecutive Wimbledon championship.

"When I started to play, Laver was my idol when I was nine years old," Borg explained when asked why the record was so important to him. "Until I was 15, everybody was talking about Laver. To beat his kind of record, especially when Laver is involved, that's why it means so much to me."

While the cold and rain that has been afflicting Wimbledon for almost two weeks didn't bother Borg, his close friend, Vitas Gerulaitis, wasn't so fortunate, falling victim to the first major upset of the tournament.

Gerulaitis, the fourth seed and twice a semifinalist here, was leading Wojtek Fibak, 6-3, 5-3, when their match was suspended because of rain Monday, but the 13th seed from Poland rallied to win 3-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-6.

Gerulaitis never has been on friendly terms with Fibak, who now makes his home in New York, aided his own demise immeasurably by committing 12 double faults.

Also advancing to the quarter-finals were second seed John McEnroe and his doubles partner, No. 7 Peter Fleming, and both had more problems than anticipated in matches carried over from Monday against the last two qualifiers still in contention.

McEnroe proved superior in the tie-break to beat South African Kevin Curren, 7-5, 7-6 (7-4), 7-6 (7-4), and Fleming, who had needed only three points for victory when play was resumed in the fourth set tie-break, defeated Onny Paron of New Zealand, 6-3, 6-2, 6-7 (8-10), 7-6 (7-4).

Jimmy Connors, the third seed, was leading compatriot Hank Pfister, 6-4, 5-5, when play was halted because of rain and darkness. The match previously had been scheduled for Monday.

Tracy Austin, Chris Evert Lloyd and Evonne Goolagong Cawley, seeded second, third and fourth respectively, all gained the women's semifinals with little incident.

Austin beat No. 11 Greer Stevens, 6-3, 6-3, Evert routed Andrea Jaeger, the 15-year-old No. 14 seed, 6-1, 6-1, and Goolagong beat 4-6, 6-2, 6-2. In seven career meetings, Goolagong has yet to drop a set against her fellow Australian.

Top seed Martina Navratilova won the first set from Billie Jean King, 6-8 when play was suspended. Navratilova was trailing 5-1 in the tie-break but won it 8-6.

In the semifinals, it will be Austin against Goolagong and Evert

Bjorn Borg has secured his niche in Wimbledon history against the Navratilova-King survivor.

Borg, after having his record clinching delayed one day because of rain, raced through the first set against Taroczy in 17 minutes. Although the Hungarian champion put up a fight in the second set, Borg served superbly and won three successive service games without dropping a point, serving six aces in the set.

From 5-3 in the second set, Borg ended the suspense by winning six games in a row. Taroczy survived a match point in the seventh game at 30-40 on his serve, but Borg then held for the victory.

Oddly, even though he was going for a cherished record, Borg was consigned to Court 1. Meantime, on Center Court, where Austin was playing Stevens, the weather was so bad that the dignitaries in the royal box had blankets wrapped around them.

Borg repeated that his next goal was to win the U.S. Open, the one big prize that has escaped him.

"In my life I must always have goals," he said. "I set goals for myself. It's important for me, and to achieve this kind of goal is a big thing for me."

Fibak, who never has played well in a major championship and is ranked 15th in the world, changed his tactics against Gerulaitis in the third set. He moved to the net and used lobs to force his opponent into errors. Fibak evaded the match with key service breaks in the sixth games of the third and fourth sets.

With Fibak serving 5-4 and 6-30 in the fifth set, Gerulaitis saved one match point, and then rallied to stop play with Fibak leading 6-5. Fibak squandered two more match points before ending the three hour and six minute match.

Even down two sets, Fibak said he felt he could win.

"In the first and second sets I had more chances to win than him," he said. "I had five break points and never broke. So I thought I was playing him even and that on grass anything could happen."

McEnroe had to wait 25 hours after the match had begun to dispatch Curren, a former U.S. intercollegiate champion at the University of Texas. Following the postponement from Monday night, when McEnroe led 7-5, 7-6, 8-3, he required only 34 minutes more before winning the tie-break 7-4.

Curren bothered McEnroe with a blinding serve that accounted for 11 aces, and the quick-tempered New Yorker also was upset at varying times with the cold, rain and a breeze which buzzed him as he was about to serve in the eighth game of the final set.

"It was pretty cold out there and raining hard when we started, so I just wanted to get it over with," McEnroe said. "I know I got one break the match would be over, but there were a lot of bad bounces and the court was very soft."

"I feel I haven't played so well yet, but I served better than in any other match."

Holmes will defend title against Ali in Cairo

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Final preparations are being made this week for Muhammad Ali to meet Larry Holmes in Cairo, Egypt in the "Fight For Peace," to be held in late September or early October, promoter Don King confirmed Tuesday.

King in Minneapolis to promote the World Boxing Council heavyweight championship between Holmes and Scott LeDoux, said plans were not finalized, but that "the loose ends just have to be taken care of."

King also said that he expects to hold a news conference within a week to announce the $20 million bout, which he said will be attended by Sadat, Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin and President Jimmy Carter.

"It will be the greatest fight of all time," said King. "It will be a tribute to peace to have three times statesman present at the foot of the Nile in this region where earliest civilization was. It's a giant step forward for mankind — the fight for peace."

King, who promoted the "Thrilla in Manila," said everything is predicated on Holmes successfully defending his WBC championship against LeDoux this Monday.

"Holmes will be going for a record-tying seventh straight knockout title defense," King continued. "If he wins, the Ali fight will be for a record-breaking eighth attempt against a legend in his own time — Muhammad Ali, three time heavyweight champion."

Although many observers have openly expressed concern for Ali's safety and his ability to fight at age 38, King is not one of them.

"I love this man," said King. "I think Larry Holmes will knock him out. But that's what he's always thrived on. He's the only man that likes to see everybody in the other guy's corner. It's a challenge to him. He likes to say, 'Watch me pull another miracle out of the bag. We may allow him the privilege and opportunity.'"

The prestigious Al-Ahram newspaper reported a contract was being signed Tuesday by Al-Ahram's board chairman Abdullah Abdel-Bari and King. Also part of the sporting festivities will be a visit by the New York Cosmos

The newspaper said Ali chose Cairo as the site of his comeback fight "because Egypt is the leader of Africa and the Arab world and the capital of Islam."

All, who retired last year, was supposed to fight Holmes in Rio de Janeiro this summer but the match was called off when negotiations with the Brazilians broke down. Another comeback fight against John Foste was scrapped when Foste lost his WBA crown to Mike Weaver.

The title fight may be held in the first week of October as part of festivities marking the anniversary of what Egypt considers its victory in the 1973 war with Israel. A big military parade is usually held on the occasion.

The visit of the New York Cosmos will take place in the last third of October when they play Egypt's champion, the National Sporting Club, Oct. 21 and the Zamalek Club Oct. 24.

The newspaper said income from the Ali-Holmes fight is expected to top $30 million "and Egypt will get a good share that will be devoted to charity and sports."

It said both President Sadat and Sadat have shown great interest in the fight with Sadat instructing the newspaper to "stage it in a historic manner that will do honor to Egypt and its cultural heritage."

All, in Philadelphia to celebrate "Muhammad Ali Day," said he was going to fight Holmes to try to capture the heavyweight crown for an unprecedented fourth time.

"I want to be the four-time champion," he said at Philadelphia's Afro-American museum, where a bust of him was dedicated. "I know it's risky, but you're not courageous if you don't take risks in life, and besides, Holmes is too ugly to respect us."

"I want a record that can't be broken," he said. "Maybe I'll win four times, that'll give me some insurance on the record. Nobody's gonna win it five times. Plus, 20 million dollars ain't too bad either."

All said he was training at his Camp In Deer Lake, Pennsylvania, and currently weighs between 232 and 235 pounds.

Indians ratify fish pact

FORT HALL, Idaho (UPI) — The Shoshone-Bannock Tribal Business Council ratified an agreement with the Idaho Fish and Game Department giving tribal members a salmon fishing season through midnight July 20.

On a 4-2 vote, the council said it recognized the need for proper conservation and management measures to ensure the continued existence of the spring-chnook-salmon-run. The council also said the seven designated areas of the Salmon River and its tributaries affected by the agreement are considered to be "critical spawning areas of chinook salmon."

Tribal members will be allowed to fish for salmon for the first time in two years with the agreement approved under the 1868 Fort Bridger Treaty.

"I am pleased," tribal biologist Joe Mitchell said. "I thought when we were talking about the agreement that it wasn't that good, but it wasn't that bad either. It at least gives the people a chance to get out and exercise their treaty rights."

"The fishing is going to be bad anyway. It's just that simple."

Mitchell and state biologist Dave Ortmann have been negotiating for the state and the tribe since early April. Mitchell said negotiations this year were kept "low key" to avoid the animosity that built up between the two sides last year.

"We were truthful and forthright as we laid our opinions to each other," Mitchell said. "It worked out okay."

The agreement allows the Shoshone-Bannock to fish the Yankee Fork of the Salmon River, Valley Creek, the Salmon River east and north forks of the Salmon, Panther Creek and the Lemhi River.

Fishing under the agreement begins immediately.

Mitchell also said while there is no harvest limit set under the agreement, daily catches will be monitored.

CSI basketball Signing of final three fresh fills Golden Eagle roster

TWIN FALLS — The last three CSI Golden Eagles are in the fold and incoming Coach Dave Campbell promises the team will be competitive.

"We didn't get the great, big guy inside but this team has a lot of speed and despite the numbers on the program, it should rebound well," he signed.

"We were feeling pretty good about our team and when the last three signed, well, that just made us a very solid team."

The newcomers are 6-3 point guard Frank Baines, Jeffersonville, Ind.; who bosts a 39-inch vertical leap; Brady Taylor, Toledo, 5-10 guard "who can dunk it any way you want him to," the coach said, and George Scott, Louisville, 6-5 wing-center.

With 14 now on the roster, the coach considers the recruiting season over.

"The only guy we'd add right now is the dominating inside tall kid you could win it all for us," he said. "But those kind don't come along very often."

The coach said he considered "shooting the strongest part of this team. I'm not ready to flatly predict this bunch will shoot 50 per cent for the year," he qualified a bit.

Right behind that strength, he lists quickness, jumping ability and depth among the perimeter players.

The weakness that he sees in the team is the lack of depth among the big guys. CSI will be vulnerable to injuries and fouls on the inside.

Rebounding still is considered a question mark because not all of the players have been seen in action. "Some of these guys were in during times we didn't have anyone to play against them. Some of them played against Derick Thomas and Curtis Rayford, guys like that who have been around the campus for summer school. But until you see them trading elbows under the boards and going after the ball, it's hard to say," the coach said.

"We have some candidates," he added. The coach believes that 6-5 Larry Bates, Kalamazoo, Mich., will be a banger underneath along with 6-4 John Swanson from Boise, Tacoma's 6-9 Doug Vieselmeier weighs in at 230 pounds but the coach said a weight program will in the pre-season will improve him immeasurably.

"And I'll tell you something else," Baines will get some bounds," he said of the 39-inch vertical leaper who would have to be the best jumper in CSI history.

The bulk of the team is made up of guards.

One that comes highly recommended is Lamar Dixon, 6-2 from Clinton, S.C., who is described as "an ACC (Atlantic Coast Conference) player." One coach offered the opinion that Dixon could "average 25 a game for you and never take a deep breath."

Campbell said the 6-4 Scott is at home inside or out and has "a very good shooting touch from 15 to 18 feet."

CSI fans will be better acquainted with the rest of the players coming in. These include 6-3 Marshall Cova of Caldwell, the Cougar's leading scorer last year; 5-10 Mark Owens, the point guard who generated Boise to the state A-1 championship; 5-9 Tony Stone, who had 1883 points for Home State in a four-year starting career; 5-10 Marco Perrin who was top gun for Dietrich in his final two seasons and carried better than 20-point per game averages in both; 5-11 Brad Dey, Jerome's best competitor and leading scorer with a 19-point average, and Mike Langren, 6-3; a guard from California.

While the team appears top heavy in guards, Campbell says there will be action for all.

He harked back to CSI's 1976 championship team to illustrate.

"I have never seen guards so completely stop the offense of the other team the way (Andre) Wakefield and (Dwight) Williams did for (Coach Boyd) Grant in that tournament. It was unreal. No one got into the offense."

"We have the depth and the quickness on our guard line that while we might not be able to contain that well with two players, we can always have fresh, quick people available to come in."

The coach said the potential of the team dovetails with his hope to floor a team that presses well defensively and can gear up offensively.

"We didn't get the big girl for center. We wanted Timmy Hatt from Declo very much but she went to Ricks. We had an opportunity to get another 6-3 gal but we didn't get any good altitude reports on her so we didn't offer her anything," Hardisty said.

The truth is a large part of last year's team is returning, headed by leading scorer-rebounder Naomi MacRae of Minico plus point guard Michael Purkin.

Also back are part-time starter Penny Brown of Minico, usual starter Cheryl Probers of Kimberley; guard Lori Garrison of Jerome; forward Laurie Larsen of Butte, Mont., and guard Kim Rembovski.

The coach says the potential of Jarolmeck and Berriochka plus others should make this the quickest team CSI has ever had. He believes rebounding will be okay despite the lack of anyone over six feet.

The CSI schedule also has improved with the addition of home-and-home games with North Idaho and Flathead of Kallispell, Mont.

"We were hurt when NNC decided not to schedule us any more. It's becoming more difficult to get the four-year schools to play us and we need them because they are our closest games," Hardisty said.

The CSI schedule includes one game at CSI, one at BYU, Dec. 11. Big Bend at CSI, Jan. 8. CSI at Idaho State, Jan. 15. Idaho State at CSI, Jan. 22. CSI at Boise State, Jan. 29. Dent powers Yanks past Boston 3-2

BOSTON (UPI) — Bucky Dent knocked in two runs with a bloop single and Reggie Jackson socked his 19th home run of the season Tuesday night to lead New York to a 3-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox for the Yankees fourth straight win.

New York, winning for the 11th time in its last 13 games at Fenway Park, jumped to a 2-1 lead off Joe Dennis Eckersley, 4-6 in the second. Joe Levine led off with a single and moved to third on Rick Cerone's one out double down the third base line. With the infield drawn, Eckersley jammed Dent but the Yankee shortstop looped a Texas-leaguer into right field. Jackson gave the Yankees a 3-0 lead in the third when he belted a 3-0 delivery into the right-field bullpen.

Orioles 2, Jays 0

TORONTO (UPI) — Jim Palmer allowed four hits in 8 2/3 innings and Ken Singleton hit a solo home run Tuesday to pace the Baltimore Orioles to a 2-0 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays.

Palmer struck out four and led in scoring his eighth win with the one-out relief help of Tippy Martinez.

The 37-year-old right-hander allowed only two batters to advance past first.

Angels 5, Chicago 2

CHICAGO (UPI) — Carney Lansford had three hits and two RBI Tuesday night to power the California Angels to a 5-2 victory over the error-prone Chicago White Sox.

The Angels, who had four unearned runs, scored three times in the first inning and twice in the second as the White Sox made a pair of errors in each inning. In the first, Dickie Thon had an infield single and went to second when third baseman Greg Pryor bobbed Rob Carew's grounder. Lansford then singled to score Thon.

Brewers 5, A's 2

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Robin Yount crashed two solo home runs, doubled and scored three runs and Gorman Thomas and Mark Brouhard each added solo shots Tuesday night to power the Milwaukee Brewers to a 5-2 victory over the Oakland A's.

Yount belted an 8-2 pitch off loser Steve McCatty,

4-9, into the right-field seats in the third for his 12th homer and alighted another 8-2 delivery from McCatty in the fifth to tie the score 2-2. Thomas hit his 16th homer off McCatty, who has given up 15 home runs in his last seven starts, in the sixth to put the Brewers on top 3-2.

Indians 8, Tigers 7

DETROIT (UPI) — Joe Charboneau doubled in the tying run, Toby Harrah followed with a game-winning single and the Cleveland Indians rallied from a five-run deficit Tuesday night for an 8-7 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Losing reliever Pat Underwood, 1-5, came on after rookie Roger Weaver gave up a grand slam to Bo Diaz in the sixth. Underwood gave up a one-out single in the seventh to Jorge Orta and walked Mike Harrow before being replaced by Aurelio Lopez.

Charboneau doubled left-field center to score Orta with the tying run and Harrah grounded a single through a drawn-in infield to give reliever Bob Ojwachko, 1-4, his first American League victory. Ojwachko pitched the last 4 1/3 innings and allowed only two hits in relief of starter John Denny.

Long wins trip to national tournament

TWIN FALLS — Bill Long shook off a couple cases of putting yips on the back nine to win the state qualifying for the Junior Golf World classic Tuesday.

Long, just graduated from Twin Falls, missed four short-putts on the final nine but his 71 was still a stroke enough to edge Dave Parkes of Burley. Dave Rasmussen of Twin Falls was third with a 73.

The victory means that Long will participate in "the national tournament slated July 13 at San Diego's Torrey Pine Golf Course. The event is sponsored by the Optimists Club.

While Long could point to the missed short-putts as a reason to worry throughout the "last nine," it was an eagle-two on the par four 13th hole that pumped life into him.

"Yeah, that was nice," he said of the eagle.

"I didn't have any stupid double bogies. I just kept missing putts this long," he said holding his hands about two feet apart.

"Two of them cost me three putts — Nos. 12 and No. 17 — but the others (Nos. 10 and 16) would have been par after I chipped the ball up pretty close," he said.

Sherry Francis of Buhl posted an 88 to lead the girls division.

National League

Phils reduce Expos lead to one game

MONTREAL (UPI) — Pete Rose singled home Greg Gross from second base with the winning run in the top of the 11th inning Tuesday night to lead Philadelphia to a 5-4 victory over Montreal and pull the Phillies within one game of the first-place Expos in the National League East.

Keith Moreland led off the inning with a single off loser Woodie Fryman, 1-3. Moreland was replaced by pinch runner Lonnie Smith, who was forced at second on Gross' fielder's choice, out later. Bob Boone, pinch hitting for winner Randy Lerch, 3-10, singled. Rose followed with a single to left, scoring Gross, and after a play at the plate, Montreal third baseman Larry Parrish failed to hold a throw from catcher Gary Carter and Boone raced home.

Lerch, the first left-hander to beat the Expos since April 27th, was replaced by Lerrin LaGrow in the 11th inning. LaGrow surrendered a solo homer to Warren Cromartie, but pitched out of further trouble to pick up his third win.

Montreal had led the score 3-3 in the eighth on Cromartie's sacrifice fly. Moreland hit his third homer of the year in the top of the inning to give the Phillies a 3-2 lead.

Andre Dawson's 10th homer in the first put Montreal ahead 1-0 and the second Expos' run came in the third on a sacrifice fly by Rodney Scott. Philadelphia scored two runs in the fifth on RBI singles by Mike Schmidt and Garry Maddox.

Pirates 3, Cards 2

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Pinch hitter Mike Easler's grounder with one out in the bottom of the 10th inning scored Phil Garner from third with the winning run as St. Louis failed to turn a double play Tuesday night, giving the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-2 victory over the Cardinals.

With one out, Garner singled off starter and loser Jim Kaat, 2-5, and went to third on Steve Nicola's single. Easler hitting for Grant Jackson, then hit a grounder to shortstop Gary Templeton, who threw to second baseman Ken Oberkell for the second out but Easler beat the throw to first baseman Keith Hernandez.

Trailing 2-1, the Cardinals tied the game in the seventh when Templeton doubled, took third on Kaat was cut down at the plate and scored on Leon Durham's single.

The Pirates had gone ahead 2-1 in the second on Garner's RBI double and Nicola's run-scoring single. Ken Reitz's double had given the Cardinals a 1-0 lead in the second.

Braves 13, Astros 4

ATLANTA (UPI) — Jeff Burroughs drove in four runs with a three-run homer and a double and Bob Horner contributed three RBI Tuesday night to power the Atlanta Braves to a 13-4 triumph over the Houston Astros.

With the score tied 2-2 and two out in the fifth, Atlanta touched starter Joe Niekro, 8-7, for five runs — two scoring on a single by Horner and Burroughs' sixth homer of the year.

In the sixth, the Braves sent 10 batters to the plate and scored six runs to build a 13-2 lead. Chris Chambliss, Gary Matthews and Horner delivered run-scoring singles while Burroughs added an RBI double. Bruce Benedict contributed a two-run single to help the Braves win their third straight game.

The Astros scored a run in the first on an RBI single by Cesar Cedeno and added a run in the third off Atlanta starter Doyle Alexander, 6-3, on a sacrifice fly by Joe Morgan. Houston scored its final runs in the eighth on a two-run single by reliever pitcher Joaquin Andujar.

Cubs 4, Mets 3

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lenny Randle crashed a three-run homer in the seventh inning and Bruce Sutter collected his major-league leading 18th save Tuesday night to spark the Chicago Cubs to a 4-3 victory over the New York Mets.

Dennis Lajoie, 3-5, was the winner for the Cubs despite allowing a two-run homer to Lee Mazzilli that triggered a three-run sixth for New York. Craig Swan, 5-6, allowed only one earned run but was victimized by Randle's fourth homer of the season.

In the seventh, pinch hitter Mike Vail was safe on an error by third baseman Elliott Maddox. Following a single by pinch hitter Cliff Johnson, Randle lifted a 3-pitch over the right-field wall.

Chicago scored in the second on a double by Jerry Martin and a three-base throwing error by Swan. In the sixth, Swan singled and Mazzilli homered for the first two New York runs. John Stearns' RBI single drove in Claudell Washington with the final run.

Sutter relieved Bill Caulliff with two on and one out in the seventh and allowed one hit the rest of the way.

Baseball card monopoly ends the bubblegum baseball card industry — and was ordered to pay triple damages of $3 to a Philadelphia competitor.

Fleer Corp. of Philadelphia filed a lawsuit in 1975 against Topps of Brooklyn, which since 1966 has produced exclusive contracts with virtually every major and minor league baseball player to appear on 2 1/4 by 3 1/4 cards tucked in with a sheet of pink bubblegum.

The Swiss driver, who will be 41 on Sept. 5, will have become accustomed to his new way of life by Sept. 10, the clinic's chief doctor, Guido Zaech, said.

Court protects eagle habitat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Judge L. Oberdorfer has granted a preliminary injunction in Washington, D.C., temporarily halting construction on a highway project in the Wolf Creek Lodge by area east of Coeur d'Alene.

Coeur d'Alene attorney Charles Sherokke had asked the court for a writ of mandamus to force Interior Secretary Cecil D. Andrus to conduct a series of studies on how the construction project would effect spawning grounds of kokanee salmon and involve eagle habitat.

Templeton still upset by all-star vote

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Gary Templeton is singing a second chorus of "If I ain't startin', I ain't departin'."

The St. Louis Cardinals' shortstop, who proclaimed last year that he would not play in the All-Star game if he was not selected as a starter, is planning to skip the game again this year.

"I'm not going," Templeton said Tuesday. "I guarantee that I'm not going. I want the days off."

Templeton, despite leading the major leagues with 102 hits and ranking third in the league with a .322 batting average, finished third among shortstops in the fans' balloting. He was about 50,000 votes behind the Dodgers' Bill Russell and about 175,000 behind the Reds' Dave Concepcion.

"I said I wasn't going to win," Templeton said. "We got off to a bad start and the teams with the best attendance were going to get their players on there."

The Dodgers, who also will have second baseman Dave Lopes, first baseman Steve Garvey and outfielder Reggie Smith in the National League's starting lineup, are averaging about 38,000 a game, more than double the Cardinals' average home attendance.

"What can I tell you," Templeton said, "it's a joke."

The All-Star game will be played Tuesday in Los Angeles, near Templeton's southern California home.

Templeton, whose batting average is .30 points higher than Russell's and .80 points higher than Concepcion's, also told reporters he wished his name would not even appear on the ballot in future years.

"What good does it do?" he asked Pittsburgh Manager Chuck Tanner, who will select the reserves for the All-Star team, said he may not select Templeton as an alternate because of the shortstop's desire not to play in the game.

Templeton was not the only Cardinal unhappy with the voting. First baseman Keith Hernandez, who leads the National League in batting, finished third behind Garvey and Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell, pitcher Ted Simmons, despite leading the race for most of the balloting, finished third behind Cincinnati's Johnny Bench and the Dodgers' Steve Yeager.

Outfielder George Hendrick, who leads the major leagues in runs batted in with 61 and has been among the league leaders in homers and batting average for much of the season, finished a distant 11th in the voting.

Tomatee Bobby Bonds, who has been in a year-long slump because of injuries, finished one spot lower.

"It's a joke," Bonds said. "It's just a popularity contest. I'm right behind George Hendrick. I don't even belong on the ballot."

Simmons, who finished about 200,000 votes behind Bench and Yeager, also said there was a possibility he might bypass the game. He was selected to last year's team but had to miss the game because of an injury.

"Tell Simmons he's going to catch for me," Tanner said. "I gave him the million of those votes. I demand that he be on the team."

England's Ovett drops mile mark to 3:48.8

OSLO (UPI) — Steve Ovett set a world record for the mile Tuesday with a time of 3 minutes, 48.8 seconds — two tenths of a second faster than Sebastian Coe's mark set last summer on the same Bisset International track.

"It tastes terrific," said Ovett after crossing the finish line. "One of the big goals this year was to take the world home."

The 25-year-old Ovett, who is scheduled to race against Coe in the Moscow Olympics, then walked away from newsmen and refused to make any further comment.

Coe claimed his own share of the glory as well Tuesday, setting a new world record in the 1,000 meter with a blistering 2 minutes 13.40 seconds.

"I had no plans of trying a world record, and my aim was to beat the strong Willi Wohlbeck of West Germany," Coe said after the race.

"But when I passed the 800 meter mark on 1:14.4, I realized I could do it, even if I knew I would have problems from there to the finish."

It was Coe's third world record at the Bisset arena in downtown Oslo. Last summer he came in at 1:44.33 in the 800 meters and 12 days later clocked an record-breaking 3:49.0 on the English mile.

"It is hard to compare the 1,000 meter record with the 800 meter and the English mile race. But I think it should be possible to run 1,000 meters at least at 2:13.00 if I start out a little bit more cautiously," the champion said.

STEVE OVETT

revenge against Norwegian Knut Bjelnes by placing first above him with a throw of 67.06 meters. Sunday Bjelnes unexpectedly beat the American.

The javelin event was won by Hungarian Ferenc Paragi with 90.22 meters, a very impressive performance. Former world record holder and Olympic champion, fellow countryman Miklos Nemeth placed only fourth with 80.98. At the end of the event, he showed noticeable signs of a limp in his right leg.

Eight Magic Valley men to play in all-star game

TWIN FALLS — Eight Magic Valley graduating seniors will represent this district in the first annual state all-star football game.

The game is scheduled for 3 p.m. Aug. 2 at Boise State's Bronco stadium, and came 18 years after Idaho went out of the all-state business.

Eight eliminates the area selections with three, including running back Mark Schaaf, tight end John Reinstra and tackle Bob Ekert.

Twin Falls contributes two in halfback Mark Libert and tackle Norm Dowd.

Also on the team will be Gooding quarterback Mike Mann, Declo running back Todd Curtis and Burley defensive back Ken Knapp.

John Billetz of Gooding, although now headed for Burley, will coach the east team, which will be comprised of seniors from Magic Valley and eastern Idaho going against the all-stars from the Boise area and Northern Idaho. Helping will be Gregg Smith of Buhl and Bill Jones of Twin Falls.

The eight Magic Valley graders will participate in four days of preliminary training at Pocatello on July 18-19 and 25-26. The team will travel to Boise July 28 and work out on the BSU campus through the remainder of the week.

The all-star game is part of the Idaho State Coaches clinic held annually in Boise. Also part of the clinic will be the all-state basketball games which will be played in Pocatello and Boise the week of Aug. 4.

Royals' Brett to miss all-star game

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — George Brett, the starting All-Star third baseman for the American League, will not play in July 8 All-Star Game in Los Angeles, the Kansas City Royals announced Tuesday.

Brett was expected Tuesday by Dr. William Benson and was given approval to begin taking batting practice.

Billings against Norwegian Knut Bjelnes by placing first above him with a throw of 67.06 meters. Sunday Bjelnes unexpectedly beat the American.

The javelin event was won by Hungarian Ferenc Paragi with 90.22 meters, a very impressive performance. Former world record holder and Olympic champion, fellow countryman Miklos Nemeth placed only fourth with 80.98. At the end of the event, he showed noticeable signs of a limp in his right leg.

Examination slated on Seaver's shoulder

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Cincinnati Reds announced Tuesday that Tom Seaver, whose painful pitching arm has hurt his performance, is returning immediately from a San Francisco road trip to Cincinnati for a medical examination.

The Reds said Seaver's shoulder is to be examined by team physician, Dr. George Ballou.

The examination was scheduled after Seaver complained the strength had disappeared from his pitching arm and said he was concerned about his future.

"I can't continue to pitch the way I have been," said Seaver, 35. "I'm not helping myself, the people for whom I work or my teammates."

Seaver is the last pitcher out of the Cincinnati Reds — Monday night. He gave up a three-run homer and a two-run homer in the first three innings as San Francisco beat the Reds 8-4.

Seaver, a three-time Cy Young Award winner, has a 3-5 record and a 4.75 ERA. He's already given up 16 homers this season, the same number he surrendered all of last year.

Seaver says his pitching shoulder has hurt since early spring training.

"It's more than just an ache," he said. "And it's not getting any better. I just wish there was some machine that could be used to look inside the shoulder and determine what really is the cause of the pain."

"My control has been bad. I've made an awful lot of bad pitches. The strength seems to have gone from my arm. Now it feels as if there's almost none. There's no quick movement of the ball at the strike zone as there once was."

Bills covet offensive lineman

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (UPI) — The Buffalo Bills Tuesday announced the signing of their second round draft choice, running back Joe Cribbs from Auburn, while New Orleans Saints veteran offensive guard — Conrad Dobler was in Buffalo to take a physical and trade rumors.

A Bills spokesman said Cribbs was signed to a series of one-year contracts.

Meanwhile, Saints Coach Dick Nolan said he had discussed the possibility of a trade with Bills Coach Chuck Knox for Dobler, adding nothing definite had been decided.

Dobler, 28, said he was told by Nolan he would be traded for other players, but added he was told by Knox that the trade, if it takes place, would be for draft choices.

"We'll take a look at him," Knox said of Dobler, "but we have done this with other players. It doesn't mean anything right now and it has nothing to do with Joe Delamietre. We are just exploring."

Delamietre, the Bills all-pro offensive guard, has requested a trade claiming he did not want to play for Knox anymore.
