Right-to-work override vote fails

By BRUCE HAMMOND
Times-News writer
and United Press International

BOISE — Right-to-work may be unconscious, but it's not dead, say most Magic Valley legislators.

In the wake of Friday's unsuccessful override attempt in the Senate, local lawmakers agreed that the union issue probably will surface again next session.

The Senate failed to muster the two-thirds majority needed to override Gov. John Evans' veto on Thursday, effectively killing the measure for the session. The chamber voted 21-14 in favor of the override attempt — the time tally recorded last week when it first passed the bill.

Two Boise Republicans, Edith Miller Klein and Vernon

Brassey, joined the Senate's 12 Democrats to block the override attempt. The House had to vote on the measure on Thursday.

An hour-long debate over the vote focused on the closure of the Bunker Hill mine last year and whether a right-to-work law could have averted the layoffs of the mineral producer's 2,100 employees.

Sen. John Peavey, D-Carey, said the Bunker Hill unions would have violated federal law if they had accepted an offer made by an investors' group that attempted to revive the Silver Valley Co.

And the investors could have overcome that legal barrier by simply gaining an appointment from Bunker Hill's parent company, Gulf Resources and Chemical Corp. of Houston, as the firm's collective bargaining agent under the law, he said.

Because the investors didn't take these steps, Peavey said he believed the group intended to "let the mine shut down and fire those people," and open the facility at a later date when minerals prices rise.

But those comments sparked the wrath of Sen. Kenneth Bradshaw, R-Wendell, who challenged Peavey to produce evidence of his claims.

"I think we've reached a new low in the Idaho Senate if we accuse men (the investors) of that caliber of playing games," Bradshaw countered.

All Magic Valley senators except Peavey favored overriding the governor's veto of the bill, which would have outlawed mandatory union membership as a condition of continued employment.

"The Senate's rejection of the override attempt was a foregone conclusion," said Rep. Gordon Hollifield, R-Jerome. "However, I don't believe for a moment the issue is dead."

Responding to talk of a referendum drive being considered to place right-to-work before the voters in November, Hollifield said, "It think it would succeed if placed before the voters, and if the Freedom to Work Committee did their public-relations work a little better."

"However, I've heard nothing concrete concerning a referendum being put together — just a lot of rumors."

Hollifield criticized the Freedom to Work Committee for calling a California electronics firm to seek support of right-to-work. On Thursday, the governor said managers of that firm had notified him that the committee had urged them not to come to Idaho until Evans signed a right-to-work bill.

"These actions, and some of their advertising campaigns, didn't help the cause for passage," Hollifield said. Sen. Laird Nob, R-Kimberly, also criticized the committee, saying its "campaign tactics" were tough for "some right-to-work supporters to swallow."

U.S. soldiers carrying rifles in El Salvador

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan Friday ordered a "full report" on why a team of American soldiers carried M-16 automatic rifles into the field during a training mission in El Salvador.

Guidelines issued by the State Department last year forbid U.S. troops in El Salvador to carry rifles or to be sent into areas that are not secure.

A television camera crew from the Cable News Network filmed one of the advisers, wearing blue jeans and an olive drab T-shirt, sticking a .45-caliber pistol into his belt and carrying an M-16 automatic rifle of the type used by American forces in Vietnam.

"The only thing I can assume is that they (the rifles) were for personal protection and I think that's understandable. But I'm asking for a full report and we'll have one from the Defense Department," Reagan said on leaving the White House for Camp David, Md.

"The policy is we do not engage in combat. Nor were these gentlemen as far as indicated, doing that at all."

Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said U.S. officials want "to talk to the people" involved before releasing an official report.

The Defense Department issued a statement saying "some of the trainers were carrying M-16 rifles" that were not authorized, but that the Americans "were not and have not been involved in combat activities." It said the matter is under investigation.

Shortly after handing out the statement to Pentagon reporters, the public affairs department tried to withdraw it but some reporters had already put their stories in their offices. Asked if the Pentagon was retracting the statement, a spokesman said only, "It was issued in error."

The U.S. troops assigned to the training force in the Central American nation are forbidden to be placed in a situation where combat is likely. The regulations specify they can carry only sidearms.

About 50 U.S. Army personnel are assigned to El Salvador to train the army. "They are trainers, not advisers," said a Pentagon spokesman.

Speakes said the team filmed, made up of one warrant officer and four enlisted men, was spending three days training Salvadorans in how to build "Bailey Bridges" — a type of small bridge. He said the men were "not part of the U.S. mission," referring to the normal U.S. military complement in the country.

Speakes said Friday morning that "the area they were in was subject to outbreaks of violence and the people there were subject to substantial risk." At a noon briefing, he amended the location and said "it was regarded as a government controlled area."

Wholesale inflation slowest in 5 years

By New York Daily News

WASHINGTON — Despite a sharp increase in food prices, inflation at the wholesale level rose a modest 0.4 percent in January, the lowest annual rate in almost five years — and the Reagan administration seized upon the development to jawbone jittery financial markets.

"This is a strong signal that inflation is going to stay down," Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan told reporters, referring to the producer price index is now down to 5.3 percent, well below the 7 percent rate of 1981.

Regan told a news conference that the improvement will be reflected in lower consumer prices, bringing interest rates down "gradually" this spring. "It should serve to strengthen the backbone of some-of-my-Wall Street friends who have been skeptical about the drop in inflation," he insisted.

At the same time, Regan firmly rejected a proposal by Sen. Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., to scale back huge deficits over the next three years by freezing government outlays at current levels and reducing some of last year's tax reduction.

Regan charged that the Hollings proposal would hike taxes by $200 billion, slash Social Security benefits by almost $100 billion and weaken the administration's defense program.

When President Reagan agreed Thursday to give congressional leaders "running room" to cut budget deficits, he didn't have the Hollings proposal in mind, the Treasury secretary made clear.

"Running room... is not wide enough for tax increases or defense cuts. We will not balance the budget on the backs of the taxpayers," Regan said.

The report on wholesale prices showed that food ready for sale at retail rose a sharp 1.1 percent in January after registering no increase in December.

Pork and eggs were up substantially, and prices also rose for sugar, dairy products, roasted coffee and fish. Poultry, milled rice and fresh vegetables fell.

The energy price index also fell, as gasoline and natural gas prices declined to offset a small increase in home heating oil. Other consumer goods increased 0.5 percent and capital equipment was up 0.8 percent.

Overall, the producer price index reached 277.4 in January, which meant that it took $277.40 to purchase a basket of wholesale items that sold for $100 in 1967.

Alternatives rolling in

Reagan firm on defense, taxes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Phil Gramm of Texas, the Democratic co-sponsor of President Reagan's budget package last year, rejected the 1983 Reagan budget Friday and offered his own alternative.

Republican Sen. Slade Gorton of Washington, a member of the Senate Budget Committee, announced he also will submit an alternative budget proposal to the committee when Congress returns from its Lincoln Day recess Feb. 22.

Both plans envisioned a nearly balanced budget by 1985. Gramm's proposal included a limit on defense spending, while Gorton proposed slicing off half of Reagan's income tax cuts.

Gramm's was at least the third alternative to Reagan's proposal since the president sent his spending plan to Congress Monday, and the first by one of the "Boll Weevils," the conservative Democrats who helped give Reagan his budget and tax victories last year in the Democratic-controlled House.

Many more alternatives are expected from both Republicans and Democrats.

The administration ruled out any tampering with Reagan's proposed $33 billion boost in military spending or the individual income tax cut enacted last year to reduce Reagan's projected $91.5 billion budget deficit.

White House chief of staff James Baker said Reagan is willing to discuss some changes to quiet the outcry that greeted his plan for $26 billion in domestic spending cuts.

But Baker said the defense budget and the tax cuts slated for this July and July 1983 are "the heart and soul of the president's program."

"There's no running room as far as he's concerned on those two points," Baker said on ABC's "Good Morning America" show.

Treasury Secretary Donald Regan reinforced that position later at a news conference. Noting Reagan talked of giving Congress "running room" to consider alternative budget proposals, the secretary said:

"Running room" requires that we define the width of the track. And the Reagan track is not wide enough for tax increases or defense cuts," Regan said.

Gorton said his proposal would freeze spending for domestic programs, indeed entitlement programs and federal pay at 1982 levels; reduce the income tax cut by half, providing a 5 percent chop next year and 5 percent in 1984, and double excise taxes on liquor, cigarettes and gasoline. The plan would lead to a balanced budget by 1985, he said.

In a speech in Fort Worth, Texas, Gramm said Reagan's projected $91.5 billion deficit is "totally unacceptable." He offered an alternative to reduce the deficits by an additional $32.7 billion in fiscal 1983, $48.2 billion in 1984 and $61.5 billion in 1985, producing a near-balanced budget that year.

Pope John Paul II waves to crowd in Lagos, Nigeria, after his arrival for a tour of Western Africa.

Pope begins eight-day pilgrimage in Western Africa

LAGOS, Nigeria (UPI) — Pope John Paul II, on his first pilgrimage abroad since he was shot nine months ago, arrived in the most powerful nation of Africa Friday.

He declared the African continent could "resound the world" if other nations let it chart its own course. The pope's call for an Africa unfettered by outside political interference came in an address to Nigerian President Shugu Shagari at the start of an eight-day trip to Nigeria, Benin, Gabon and Equatorial Guinea. Shagari, a Moslem like the overwhelming majority of Nigeria's 80 million people, led a colorful crowd of about 20,000 well-wishers greeting John Paul as he stepped into the sweltering African heat at Lagos airport.

In places, the surging crush of people had to be held back by guard dogs and mounted police wielding whips.

The pope soon glimpsed a reminder of Africa's dusty poverty on the 14-mile drive into Lagos to celebrate mass as hundreds of thousands of cheering Africans crowded a roadsides lined with shanty-town huts and makeshift shacks.

Reagan honors Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a message commemorating the 250th birthday of George Washington, President Reagan Friday praised Washington for establishing "the chief executive as the president of all the people, not the servant of any single group."

"He spoke to every generation of Americans when he said that 'the preservation of the sacred fire of liberty and destiny of the Republican model of government, are justly considered as deeply, perhaps as finally staked, on the experiment entrusted to the hands of the American people,'" Reagan said.

Reagan said Washington's "unsurpassed contributions to our nation place him first in the hearts of all patriotic Americans."

"As president he unified the hearts and minds of his fellow citizens and inaugurated principles of state that continue to serve us today," Reagan said.

Molasses tanker split in two FALMOUTH, England (UPI) — A "horrendous" gale split a tanker in half Friday and 14 crewmen were presumed drowned. Another 18 huddled on half the sinking hulk until they abandoned ship.

The 18 remaining sailors "abandoned ship at 0229 GMT (7:29 p.m. MST) Saturday. We don't know yet what has happened to them," said a spokesman of the Maritime Rescue Coordination Center at Falmouth, 800 miles north of the battered hulk in the North Atlantic.

Thirteen men were feared drowned when their lifeboat capsized in 50-foot waves that split the 12,487-ton Victory in two early Friday. Another man slipped off the sinking hulk and was presumed drowned. The Greek tanker was carrying 22,000 tons of molasses from Florida to Liverpool.

Guard to airlift hay to elk

BOISE (UPI) — Two Idaho National Guard helicopters will airlift 18 tons of hay into areas along the South Fork of the Boise River today to feed 450 head of starving elk, a Fish and Game Department spokesman said.

The hay will be dropped at barns and feeding areas along the river between the Big Smokey Guard Station and Willow Creek, said public information officer Hugh Wilson.

Wilson said the helicopters "are scheduled to deliver the hay to the feeding areas. The longest flight will be about 40 miles round trip, he said. Wilson said the department has only enough hay left in the area to feed the elk for about three more days. He said the department is attempting to haul the hay to the area before an expected storm front hits on Sunday.

The hay will be dropped off by the helicopters at the feeding areas, where Fish and Game personnel will be waiting to store the fodder in barns and sheds, Wilson said.

Wilson said the department hopes the hay will feed the elk until the worst part of the winter is over. The hay, all of which was donated by Idaho residents, is estimated to be worth between $30 and $50 per ton. He said Fish and Game officers will ride into the feeding areas of snowmobiles every two or three days to distribute the hay to the elk.

On Thursday, Fish and Game Director Jerry Conley and Gov. John Evans joined to urge Idahoans to contribute food and money to supply hay for thousands of starving big game animals.

Polish pilot 'hijacks' own plane

BERLIN (UPI) — A Polish pilot, escaping Poland's martial law rule, hijacked his own airplane to a U.S. air base in West Berlin Friday with six members of his family and 16 other passengers on board, West German police said.

It was the first hijack of a Polish airliner since martial law was declared in Poland Dec. 13.

The pilot, who tricked Polish authorities into thinking his plane had been commandeered by other hijackers, landed at the U.S. Air Force base at Tegel.

Later a West Polish crew of four arrived in West Berlin and flew the Soviet-made LOT An-26 to AN-26 plane back to Poland with 14 passengers. Polish radio reported the plane landed safely in Warsaw late Friday.

Warsaw television said the passengers were interrogated by West German police under a West U.S. suspect, but admitted that nine people had stayed behind in West Berlin.

The copilot and one passenger, a 19-year-old man, asked to stay behind and were granted asylum along with the pilot and his wife, his two daughters aged 2 and 3, his cousin, the cousin's wife and their 14-month-old daughter.

Among those on board were two uniformed Polish security guards and two other armed men in plainclothes, who police said were also probably security guards.

"We don't know what they were doing on the plane," a police spokesman said.

Several Polish planes have been hijacked to the West over the past year. But if the guards were on board to prevent a hijacking, it was not immediately clear why they did not act unless they were unaware of what was happening.

The pilot, identified only as Czeslaw K., 32, was on a domestic flight from Warsaw to Wrocław when he realized that he had been hijacked and was changing course for West Berlin.

"He just flew the plane to West Berlin instead of Wrocław," said U.S. Army spokesman Larry Seals. "It's a good legal question whether it's a hijack or not."

Three East German jetfighters trailed the plane to the border but turned away as it crossed into Western airspace.

Police said the pilot told them he fled Poland to escape the martial law regime and because he feared he was about to lose his job.

"He said Polish authorities had withdrawn requirements allowing him to fly abroad," a police spokesman said.

Authorities said the pilot may be charged for taking the other passengers to Berlin against their will, but there was some doubt if he would face more serious charges.

Crashed jet thrown into reverse

TOKYO (UPI) — Investigators of this week's Japan Air Lines DC-8 crash in which 24 people were killed said Saturday at least one of the jet's engines was thrown into reverse moments before the plane nose-dived into Tokyo Bay.

JAL President Yasumoto Takagi disclosed at a hastily called news conference late Friday that the pilot of the plane was grounded in 1960 for what the company called a psychosomatic disorder and began flying again in November.

JAL flight surgeon said Capt. Seiji Katagiri, 35, injured in the crash and recovering in a hospital, suffered from chronic gastritis.

The investigators said Saturday that on the retrieved flight recorder of the plane started copilot Yoshifumi Ishikawa asked, "What are you doing captain?" just before the plane went down.

They added that the third crewman in the cockpit, flight engineer Yoshiaki Ozaki, had unbuckled his seat belt and apparently tried in vain to avert the fatal course.

Victor Jory dies

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Victor Jory, the chiseled-faced, raspy-voiced actor who played dozens of movie and TV villains including the brutal slave master in "Gone With The Wind," died Friday in his apartment. He was 79.

Police said the actor, found slumped in a chair in front of his television set, may have died as early as Wednesday. An acting student left a note saying he had failed to show for an acting class he taught Thursday, and officers were called to the home shortly after noon Friday.

"It appears to be a natural death," Sgt. Richard Johnson said. "A doctor was there and the body was turned over to the family."

QUESTION...

Is there any difference between a Memorial Service and a Funeral Service?

ANSWER...

Not too long ago the terms were interchangeable.

Now the term "Memorial Service" has come to have a different meaning. It has been defined by the Association of Memorial Societies as the occasion for a religious observance or a philosophical meditation. This service is usually held after the a body has been cremated.

Proposal to encourage new business

By BRUCE HAMMOND
Times-News writer

BOISE — New businesses opening in Idaho would receive a substantial tax credit for each employee if a Senate bill introduced Friday becomes law.

"This is to encourage new businesses that are primarily labor-intensive," said the bill's sponsor, Sen. John Peavey, D-Carey. "It's aimed at putting people to work, not just at putting up new facilities."

Under Peavey's bill, small businesses like hamburger stands, gas stations, packing sheds and cheese plants all would qualify, but only if they involve new buildings or refurbished structures that haven't been used in three of the last five years.

"My bill is not so much designed to bring in out-of-state firms but to entice local entrepreneurs to go ahead and take plunge in starting a new business," he said. "In these cases, we're talking about creating new jobs."

The tax credit available to these businesses for each staff position would be significant. During the first year, businesses would receive a $500 income tax credit for each employee. During the second year, that would reduce to $300 and then to $100 in the third and final year.

On top of these credits, the business could deduct from its income tax 15 percent of the new facility's value.

On the negative side of this plan, Peavey acknowledged that these credits would reduce the state's annual tax revenue. He estimates that his proposal would cost the state $50,000 the first year and $1.7 million by the third year.

"At the same time, however, there will be offsetting additional tax revenues created, as these businesses and new taxpayers are established," he said. "These would come from all types — sales tax, income tax, property tax."

Peavey estimates that state tax revenues would increase $4 million the first year and $12 million the third year, "assuming all these new businesses stay intact."

"Normal tax-credit bills ... consider in the Legislature have just rewarded capital investment and tended to help only large businesses," he said. "This credit would help all new or expanding businesses, and especially the small businesses giving primarily with labor costs."

Rather than giving tax breaks to only large firms that rely on computers and machines to do much of the work, Peavey said his plan aids businesses "that rely on people."

Although much of the research for the bill was done by Gov. John Evans' staff, the senator said he hopes politics won't affect the bill's chances of passing.

"Just based on the merits of the bill, it should succeed."

Public TV resolution printed

BOISE (UPI) — A resolution calling for preservation of the state's three-station public television system was printed by a Senate committee Friday at the urging of Sen. Norma Dobler, D-Moscow.

"The best defense is a good offense," Mrs. Dobler said, referring to her opposition to a move by a majority in the Joint Finance Appropriations Committee to consolidate the system into one major station in Boise and two satellites in Pocatello and Moscow.

Mrs. Dobler said she wanted her resolution to reach the Senate floor before the joint committee's bill, which calls for appropriation of $125,000 for the system this fiscal year and contains legislative intent for the consolidation move.

Marriage fees would fight domestic violence

BOISE (UPI) — A plan to establish a $15-per-license marriage fee to generate funds for an anti-domestic violence program ran into a torrent of criticism from an Ada County legislator Friday.

Rep. Lyman Winchester, R-Kuna, was the House State Affairs Committee member to oppose the introduction of the bill. The vote was taken after supporters of the proposal delivered graphic descriptions of wife and child abuse incidents.

"I fully resent tacking a fee on a marriage license," Winchester said. "We're setting up another bureaucracy that will grow and grow and grow."

Winchester balked at the license assessment on the grounds that all young couples heading into matrimony in Idaho should not be forced to pay for a program that would benefit a small number of people caught in marriages marked by violence.

"We're just coming at this the wrong way," Winchester said. "What we ought to do is charge a divorce fee."

A spouse and child abuse relief program should be funded by charity, Winchester said. He said such an approach would be in tune with President Reagan's plea for the private sector to assume more responsibility for social problems.

The estimated $200,000 annual program was proposed to the committee by the YWCA Women's Crisis Center. The money would be distributed to non-profit organizations by a seven-member state council. Under the program, shelter and other services would be provided to adult and juvenile victims of family violence, said Lou Hamill of the Crisis Center.

Flanking Mrs. Hamill were representatives of women's organizations supporting the proposal and three women whom Mrs. Hamill said were victims of domestic violence.

Rep. Elaine Kearnes, R-Idaho Falls, said Winchester's suggestion about donations was unsound.

"The problem has become too large," she said. "There's no way volunteerism can take care of it."

Reps. C.A. "Skip" Smyser, R-Parma, and Rep. Linden Bateman, R-Idaho Falls, voiced strong support for the measure.

Smyser detailed examples of wife and child abuse he witnessed during his time as a criminal prosecutor.

Bateman said he favored the proposal because a lack of a shelter program in some Idaho cities has left officials with no other choice but to protectively jail women who seek refuge from violent husbands.

In other action, the committee sent to the floor with a "do pass" recommendation a bill to centralize the enforcement of anti-discrimination laws under the Idaho Human Rights Commission. Under current law, the duties are shared by the commission and the state Labor and Industrial Services Department.

Bill would abolish ton-mile tax for truckers

BOISE (UPI) — The House Transportation Committee introduced a bill Friday that would abolish the ton-mile tax paid by truckers and replace the lost revenue by increasing commercial vehicle registration fees.

The legislation would do away with a tax that the Idaho Motor Transport Association has been complaining about for several years. The group contends some truckers cheat on the tax, making it unfair to honest truckers.

The ton-mile tax is paid based on truck mileage. It is collected by the state, which the association says has been unable to do enough auditing to catch tax cheaters.

Committee Chairman Rep. John Sessions, R-Driggs, said after the meeting he wanted the Legislature hold off on the association's proposal until the fiscal impacts of the group's proposal and last year's registration fee increase could be determined.

Smokers won't pay for water control

BOISE (UPI) — Breathe easier, cigarette smokers. A shroud has been draped over a plan to rejuvenate the Idaho Water Pollution Control Account with funds from a proposed state tobacco-tax increase.

The proposal first suffered a severe blow a few minutes after it was unveiled by Gov. John Evans in his State of the State speech in January. Many lawmakers promptly blasted his plan to impose a $5.4 million cigarette-tax boost to replenish the water-projects fund.

Then, the proposal narrowly survived on its vote of introduction in the House Revenue and Taxation Committee late last month and was left to slip into a legislative coma in the chairman's bottom drawer.

Finally, on Friday, Rep. Steve Antonio, R-Hupert, chairman of the committee, delivered a probably fatal shot to the bill when he said he was appointing a subcommittee to explore alternatives to the governor's plan.

"It doesn't have much of a chance that it will be drafted," Antonio said. "They just barely got the bill printed. From what I gather, it has too much opposition."

There was no immediate reaction from the governor's office on the apparent death of the proposal. Steve Seward, a legislative aide to the governor, said he first had to discuss the matter with Antonio.

A subcommittee headed by Rep. Michael Gwartney, R-Boise, will tackle the subject sometime next week — but the cigarette-tax proposal most likely won't be included as a viable option.

Antonio and Rep. Rachel Gilbert, R-Boise, a member of the subcommittee, said the goal will be to find some way of pumping new life into the Water Pollution Control Account, which was drained of $5.5 million by the Legislature in general fund budget-balancing raids last year.

Evans proposed raising the state cigarette tax from 9 cents to $1.37 per carton. The estimated $5.4 million in annual revenue would be funneled into the water fund to finance vital water-treatment projects, Evans said.

Dozens of legislators have expressed a need to keep the fund alive so community growth can be made possible through the expansion of sewage-treatment facilities. But there has been little offered in the way of accomplishing the job.

"I don't think it's fair to put it all on the backs of smokers," Ms. Gilbert said. "It's all of ours' problem."

At Gilbert and other legislators have described the proposed tax hike as discriminatory, and the tobacco industry has opened fire against it with both barrels.

Some talk about allocating surplus funds for the water account surfaced in the Senate earlier this week.

What's what

What's your just-before-bedtime ritual? Almost everybody has one or more of same. The most typical is the doorknob check. Let out the dog or cat is another. Likewise, the close-up-the-fireplace chore, if such you own. The turn-out-the-lighta routine is universal, certainly. That we do these things automatically is assumed. What's noteworthy is the effects of not doing them. Vague discomfort. Something's wrong, but what? A student of such matters says: If you have trouble going to sleep, get up and perform your bedtime routine again.

It's characteristic of the gentleman that he's never rude except on purpose. It's characteristic of the politician that he's never angry except on purpose. So say the experts on such matters.

That CBS peckup of an interviewer Mike Wallace is also a violinist.

PRIVATE BEDROOMS

Q. When were private bedrooms invented?
A. Invented? Nevermind, I get your drift. It was not customary for people to sleep in private bedrooms until about 500 years ago. Before then, family members banded together in a common bedding place.

Q. What prompted the old knights to start wearing armor?
A. The introduction of gunpowder on Europe's battlefields in the 1300s.

WOMAN ON THE KNEE

It wasn't until Maurice Chevalier passed the age of 70 that he said, wistfully, "Eventually you learn that it's almost as healthy to have a woman on your mind as one on your knee."

Horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to stress care and caution in business matters. Showing a diplomatic attitude with others brings fine results at this time. Keep in a sober but firm mind.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Attend to those accumulated duties now instead of becoming involved in something new. Make plans for the coming week.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You may want to contact friends who can assist you but this is not the right day for such. Control your temper at all times today.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Ideal day to engage in civic affairs and gain prestige. New duties crop up which could give you added income.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Fine day for studying new ideas that could lead to more abundance in the future. Think constructively.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Use your own good judgment today and get excellent results. Make a greater effort to please loved ones at this time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Meet with associates and threaten out any misunderstandings and make the future brighter and more profitable.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have many duties to perform and you should attend to them instead of spending time on less important matters.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have creative ideas that could be profitable in the future. A good time to engage in your favorite hobby.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Give more time and thought to improving your surroundings. Follow your hunches which are accurate now.

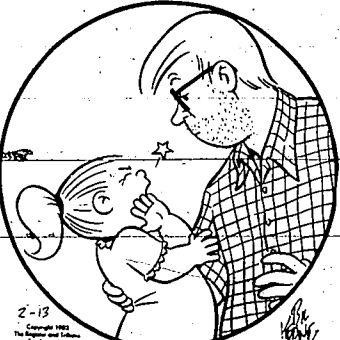

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Using sarcasm with others to prove a point is not wise. A good time to express your true talent.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Give more attention to personal financial matters now so that you can pay important bills. Consult an expert for advice.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Take time to engage in recreational activity with congenials. Take health treatments and improve your appearance.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be a compassionate person who could be a great help to society. The education should be directed along philosophical lines for best results. Give ethical training and much affection early in life.

Today is Saturday, Feb. 13, the 44th day of 1982 with 321 to follow.

The moon is moving toward its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

There is no evening star.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Aquarius. French statesman Maurice Talleyrand was born Feb. 13, 1754.

On this date in history:

- In 1833, the oldest public institution in America — the Boston Latin School — was founded.
- In 1914, the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers — ASCAP — was formed.
- In 1918, Russian troops took Budapest after 49 days of fighting in which more than 50,000 German troops were killed.
- In 1975, The White House announced President Ford would name Carla Anderson Hills as secretary of Housing and Urban Development.

A thought for the day: Broadcast commentator Eric Sevareid said, "Wisdom is essential in a president. The appearance of wisdom will do in a candidate."

French a boon for romance

FREDERICK, Md. (UPI) — Romantic love, the kind that comes to full blossom each Valentine's Day, got a big boost from 11th century Troubadours, a Maryland historian says.

While much of European society at the time was waging crusades and partying in castles, a group called the Troubadours emerged in southwestern France, Dr. Adrienne Mindel, a history professor at Hodel College, explained Friday.

The Troubadours, unlike the rural lords and serfs, were involved in a great exchange of ideas and their intellectual interests extended beyond the martial arts.

"What we had was a kind of an oasis, a very different world in the midst of the feudal society," Ms. Mindel said.

That offer at society produced the concept of romance.

"I think a fairly good definition is that it was a different relationship between man and woman than what had existed," Ms. Mindel said. "It was based not on economics or politics, but on human choice — and that was something new. It was astonishing in the midst of a barbaric society."

"People who fell in love never got married, generally because they were already married to others. The spouses didn't seem to mind much."

"Perhaps — it's because marriage was still something done to get more land or money," she said. "It was based on politics and economics."

"The Troubadours were accepted at courts. Often the husbands were away fighting crusades or else they had their own ladies and didn't care what their wives did," she said.

Sweetheart raffle nets plane fare

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — He called it "a fare of the heart" — a raffle to collect enough money to buy a plane ticket to visit his girlfriend in London. It worked.

Bob Hoffman, a 34-year-old photographer, decided the only way he could afford to get to London, and be with Kathie Greenwood for Valentine's Day, would be to sell $15 raffle tickets. He hoped to sell 50 tickets, pay for the $49 plane ticket and give the money left over to the "winner" of the private raffle.

He even tried, unsuccessfully, to sell a ticket to his ex-wife.

"When you think of all the ridiculous, asinine ways you can drop $15 or $20, I don't think it's such a bad idea," Hoffman said. "If someone else had come up with it, I would have come up with the $15."

"It's a dream that you would like to have happen. I just structured it so that it would happen to me."

Thirty people bought tickets, for varying prices, leaving him with a $25 surplus. That prize went to Monica Dean, a college friend, whose name was drawn from a heart-shaped candy box.

But the real grand prize, the trip to London, went to Hoffman, who left Tuesday night.

Nimitz returns to home port

ABOARD THE USS NIMITZ (UPI) — About 5,000 sailors aboard one of the nation's best-known aircraft carriers sailed into their home port Friday, ending an 192-day cruise that included the first U.S. aerial combat since Vietnam.

Hundreds along the pier cheered as the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Nimitz pulled into its Norfolk port.

The Nimitz with its 5,000-member crew, dressed in their black winter uniforms, returned Friday from 6 1/2 months in the Mediterranean Sea for NATO exercises and stops in Naples, Venice, Haifa, Israel and Palma de Mallorca, Spain.

Officials say El Salvador suit moot

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government argued Friday that congressmen suing President Reagan to force removal of U.S. military aid from El Salvador have no case now that Congress has approved aid to the Central American country.

U.S. District Court Joyce Hines Green put off a decision on a government motion to dismiss the suit brought last year by 29 liberal House members seeking to find Reagan in violation of the 1973 War Powers Resolution by failing to notify Congress he was sending more advisers to El Salvador.

The resolution, enacted toward the end of the Vietnam War, requires a president to notify Congress within 48 hours if troops are sent into a hostile area and to withdraw them in 90 days if Congress does not approve the action.

The government contended that since the United States has been aiding El Salvador since the end of World War II and because Congress has failed to enact proposals to end the aid, Reagan's action is a foreign policy decision solely up to him.

In December, Congress appropriated $55 million in new aid, and Reagan recently certified to Congress that El Salvador was in compliance with human rights legislation that bars aid to violators.

In this case, the court is not being asked to referee a dispute, argued Justice Department attorney Brooke Hodge.

"Instead, the court is being placed in the position of substituting its judgment for that of the political branch of government . . . In essence, Congress has concurred with the president."

The congressman, she said, would have the judge "step directly into the shoes of the president and Congress and decide what our role should be in El Salvador."

Peter Weiss, arguing for the congressmen, said Congress did not act to remove the advisers because the president must trigger the process by notifying Congress, and "the president didn't pull the trigger."

"In this case, you are being asked to decide very simply whether the president has broken the law and what we should do about it," Weiss told Judge Green.

"Are we going to get into a situation six years from now with 500,000 American troops in El Salvador and Congress asking, 'Why didn't we do anything?'"

"When the president commits the flag, even dimly, he must trigger a procedure for Congress to effectively discharge its war-making power," Weiss said.

"The Vietnam experience demonstrates how difficult it is to exercise that power once a war has begun."

Judge raps Reagan for approach to crime

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — One of the nation's leading judges accused President Reagan Friday of taking an "unhealthy" approach to curbing violent street crime and ignoring its chief causes — poverty and discrimination.

David Bazelon, at age 72 the senior circuit judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, charged the Reagan administration's policy of "tough talk" legal changes and more prisons is superficial and ineffective.

In a speech prepared for a criminal justice symposium at Vanderbilt University, Bazelon said runaway crime statistics will not be stemmed without an aggressive and expansive social campaign that "might require us to provide every family with the means to create the kind of home all human beings need."

"Only the blind or the willful can deny the clear association of this kind of crime with the culture of poverty and discrimination still tolerated in every American city," said Bazelon.

"No intelligent effort to deal with street crime can ignore these stark realities. It is in this respect that I disagree fundamentally with the approach of the current leadership."

Bazelon's comments countered Reagan's remarks last fall to the nation's police chiefs. The president said: "The truth is that today's criminals, for the most part, are not desperate people seeking bread for their families. Crime is the way they've chosen to live."

In his 32 years on the bench, Bazelon said, more than 90 percent of the criminal defendants he has seen prosecuted for violent street crimes came from "the bottom" of the socioeconomic ladder.

The judge also criticized recent recommendations by the Attorney General's Task Force on Violent Crime to increase the certainty of punishment by changing criminal statutes and spending up to $2 billion on jails and prisons.

"Those approaches obscure the need for a long-term cure, he said.

Inmate gives up hostages

MARION, Ohio (UPI) — A shotgun-wielding killer who took hostages for the second time in six weeks surrendered Friday to county jail authorities.

Officials promised him prescription drugs and a visit with his wife following his surrender.

Dennis Pounds, 32, of Morral, Ohio, barricaded himself in a cellblock with nine other prisoners after his escape attempt with the smuggled sawed-off shotgun failed Thursday night.

"This was an obvious attempt on his part to get out of jail," said Marion County Sheriff John Buterworth.

In 1968, Pounds was convicted of second-degree murder for the stabbing death of Clifton Hendon in Akron and sentenced to life in prison. He was paroled from the Marion Correctional Institution in 1978.

Pounds was to be arraigned on charges of attempted murder, escape and having a firearm under disability, the sheriff said. The other prisoners were not charged because they were not part of the escape attempt, Buterworth said.

Pounds, jailed last Dec. 31 after he held a woman hostage for 20 hours in a Marion pharmacy following an armed robbery attempt, was placed in a special isolation cell where he was under constant guard by deputies, Buterworth said.

Army claims medic not at nuclear site

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The government said Friday a former Army medic who claimed he helped cover up reports of high level radiation contamination was never at the Nevada test site or South Seas test sites for atomic bombs.

Former Army medic Van Brandon said he attended five atomic tests in the 1955, 1956 and 1957 and kept two sets of records — one false and the other accurate — of radiation exposure to soldiers.

"There is no indication that Mr. Brandon was in any way involved with these tests," the Defense Nuclear Agency said Friday in Washington.

It said "a thorough search into historical archives and an extensive investigation into the allegations reveal that Mr. Brandon was never assigned, either permanently or temporarily, to the Nevada test site."

It also said that there is no evidence of the existence of the Combined Operations Nuclear Medical Evaluation Team in which Brandon said he participated and "it is likely that organization never existed."

Brandon first made his accusations Sunday at a Sacramento news conference sponsored by the National Association of Atomic Veterans.

In Burlington, Iowa, the group's general counsel, Cooper Brown, said he wanted an independent third-party investigation. Brown said he believed such an investigation had been started at the request of Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., and was being conducted by the investigating arm of Congress, the General Accounting Office.

Brandon and the government agree that he was assigned first to a unit in Okinawa, later in Louisiana and later yet in Germany.

Brandon says he was secretly pulled off those assignments to work at the Nevada test site. The government, basing its findings on Army morning reports, says otherwise.

"Records indicate that Mr. Brandon was present in his assigned unit during the times he alleges participation at various nuclear tests," the Defense Nuclear Agency said.

Gold coin recommended

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A prestigious government commission Friday recommended creation of an official gold coin worth its weight in the precious metal but not for use as legal tender.

The compromise proposal by the Gold Commission to President Reagan and Congress fell short of what the most ardent advocates of gold had urged — a dollar fully convertible to the metal or at least partially backed by it.

Dubbed the "American Eagle," the coin would be sold at market prices to compete with gold coins minted by South Africa, Mexico, Canada and other countries.

Top administration officials on the commission, Treasury Secretary Donald Regan and Chairman Henry Wadensbaum of the Council of Economic Advisers — both of whom oppose a return to the gold standard of half a century ago — voted in favor of the coin as a gesture to gold enthusiasts.

Proposed federal land exchange draws cautious reaction

By RON ZELLAR
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Public land users gave mixed reviews Friday to a proposal to consolidate federal lands in Idaho. Officials from the U.S. Forest Service and the Bureau of Land Management outlined the study process that — if approved by Congress — could lead to sweeping land exchanges between the two agencies in Western states.

Paul Barker, the Sawtooth National Forest supervisor, said land managers in 11 states will spend the next month assessing the degree of support for land exchanges and determining whether any changes should be minor or broad-based.

The deadline for the first phase of comment has been delayed to March 15 at the request of land users, Barker said.

If support is evident, additional hearings will be held to draw new boundaries, replacing the checkerboard patterns that now exist in parts of the state, according to Barker.

The 25 persons who attended the meeting at the Sawtooth National Forest dispatch center were about evenly split between ranchers and recreation users. Both groups reacted cautiously to the exchange concept.

"Why not go all the way and combine the two agencies into one?" asked one participant.

Another, Emnis Pickett of Oakley, asked what assurance ranchers had that their views would be heard in the final planning decision.

"This is like playing Russian roulette," Pickett said, reacting to the open-ended nature of the request for new boundary suggestions. He urged the two agencies to prepare a single proposal and provide the public with economic figures to support the contention that a land swap could save tax dollars.

Three maps prepared by an interagency planning task force depict exchanges ranging from a line drawn east to west across the state to an alternative that would place large sections of the Snake River Plain in BLM control but leave forest lands in the north and on the eastern border under Forest Service jurisdiction.

Two of the three maps show all of Twin Falls and Cassia counties under BLM jurisdiction. The third would place all lands south of the Snake River and east of Salmon Falls Creek under Forest Service control.

Recreation advocates attending the meeting said the Forest Service has more experience managing wildlife.

Bob Pettygrove of Hansen, a member of the Twin Falls Fish and Wildlife Club, said he favors a closer look at specific proposals before endorsing or opposing any exchange.

A Twin Falls city councilman, Emory Petersen, asked what impact BLM management of the South Hills would have on the city's work force, assuming that the Sawtooth Forest headquarters would be moved to a more central location.

Barker said at least one federal office probably would remain in Twin Falls, but no plans have been drawn to indicate whether the Forest Service headquarters would move or stay.

He said 20 percent of the forest's land base is in four divisions south of the Snake River. The forest employs 154 full-time people.

At an earlier meeting with Twin Falls County commissioners, Barker and BLM managers Nick Cozokos and Chuck Hassler said reaction to the study has been mixed since it was announced last week.

The most negative response has come from public land users in the Malad area south of Pocatello, Cozokos said. Petitions bearing 264 signatures were given to land managers last week, most of them requesting no change in the boundaries.

Cozokos said the Malad reaction stems, in part, from the history of public grazing in the area, which was once managed by the Soil Conservation Service but has since been turned over to the Forest Service and BLM.

Other public meetings to explain the study are scheduled for next Friday, Feb. 19, at 7 p.m. at the Burley Elks Club; Tuesday, Feb. 23, at 1:30 p.m. in Ketchum's old City hall; and the same day at 7:30 p.m. in the Lincoln County Courthouse.

Sewage facility on 'track'

Twin Falls plant finished by June

By SUSAN GALLAGHER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Engineers expect the $8 million modification of the Twin Falls sewage-treatment plant to be finished by June 20.

Roughly two-thirds of the project is finished, according to Steve Hyland of James M. Montgomery Consulting Engineers. "Roughly," Hyland said, because assessments of completeness depend on the criteria used.

Contractors are measuring progress on the basis of how much of the $5.4 million construction contract awarded in 1980 has been spent. The balance of the $8 million price tag will fund engineering, legal and administrative expenses.

The period allowed for completion of the project has been extended by 15 days, Hyland said the extension resulted from inclement weather and adjustments necessary to adapt the project to conditions encountered in actual construction work. He said 15 days is a small extension, considering the size of the project.

Workers have poured 99 percent of the concrete necessary for the modification of the plant, according to Hyland, who said the remaining work largely involves the installation of mechanical and electrical systems.

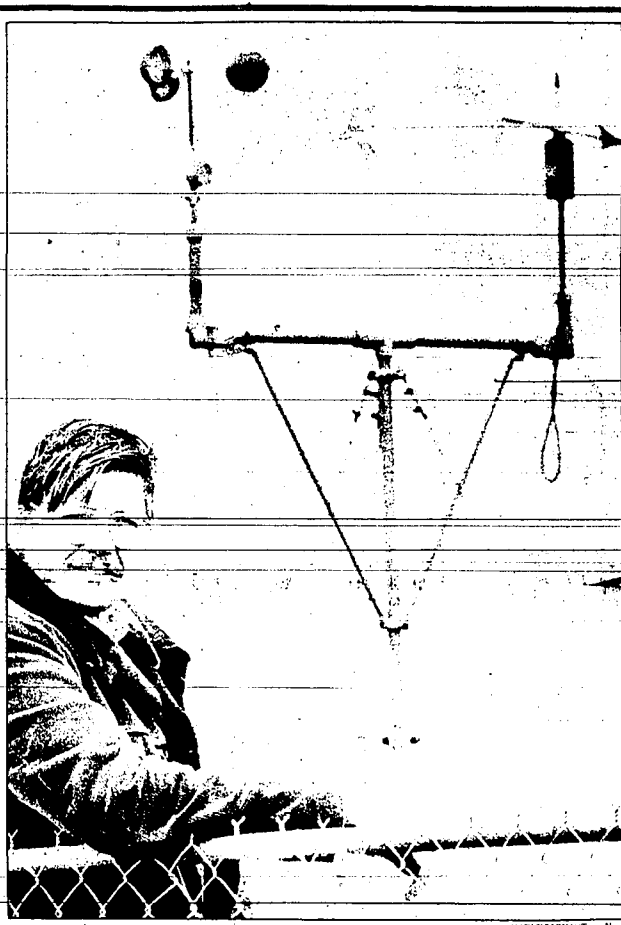

Montgomery Engineers will assist the city, he said, in determining how to adapt the plant to the lower sewage volumes now anticipated as a result of Idaho Frozen Foods' announcement that it will build its own treatment system and leave the city's.

IFF's wastes require 45 to 50 percent of the municipal plant's capacity, and city officials have said withdrawal by the company would require shutting down part of the city facility. IFF has announced it will be off the city system no later than next January, and possibly by Sept. 30. The company expects to give the city written notice in March.

"There's quite a bit of flexibility in the design of the plant," Hyland said. "It may be that we will try different alternatives for different periods of time, and see which will work the best."

For the summer, at least, the municipal plant is expected to handle the full load of industrial and residential wastes anticipated when the modifications were designed.

Hyland said a training period lasting several weeks will be held for city personnel when the plant is finished. Instructors will include representatives from the factories that supplied major equipment for the plant.

Bill Galkin's job could be in danger at the Kimberly weather station

In danger

Budget cuts might close Kimberly weather station

TWIN FALLS — The National Weather Service station at Kimberly is one of 45 that could be closed because of budget cuts proposed by the Reagan administration.

If the station closes, "it would be primarily a go-without situation with regard to weather service tailored for agriculture," said Harry Hassel, a spokesman at the National Weather Service's regional office in Salt Lake City.

Hassel said that if the proposed cutbacks for the 1983 fiscal year are approved, they would take effect Oct. 1.

"Underline 'may,'" Bill Galkin of the Kimberly station said Friday when asked about the closure. Galkin said he has no details concerning the future of the weather station, which Hassel said operates at an annual cost of roughly $40,000.

Hassel said that if the station closes, area farmers would have to get their weather data from National Weather Service stations in Pocatello or Boise. That data is provided for the general public, and farmers would have to interpret it to meet their needs, he said.

Hassel said he doesn't know when to expect a decision concerning the future of the 45 agricultural-based weather stations, located at various places around the country.

"From what we hear in the political arena, that is correct — these could close," he said. The announcement of a decision about the cutbacks hinges partly on the scheduling of various hearings.

Special services of the affected weather stations range from providing data tailored to meeting the needs of southern Idaho irrigators, to providing forecasts for the growers of extremely frost-sensitive fruits.

In the Magic Valley, Galkin also provides general forecasts, and frequently, he is heard on the news broadcasts of radio stations.

Acme zoning wins final OK

Commission gives approval

TWIN FALLS — Acme Manufacturing Co. has won its long-sought zoning change for a proposed industrial site north of Filer.

Ann Covor, the chairman of the Twin Falls County commission, announced Friday the three commissioners had voted Thursday to grant the zoning change.

Representatives of the Filer firm had sought to rezone about 15 acres of land near the city's northern boundary for industrial use.

Acme, which manufactures farm equipment, plans to gradually transfer its operations from a series of buildings inside the city limits to the rural site, which had been zoned for commercial use.

Twin Falls County Planning and Zoning Commission members had recommended approval of the rezoning, but continued opposition to the plan by residents of the nearby Filer subdivision led the county commissioners to delay a final decision, pending review by Filer officials.

Last week, Filer City Council approved the proposal, a position previously adopted by the city's planning and zoning board.

Covor said the Filer decisions were the dominant reason behind the county commission's approval of the rezoning.

"We felt they definitely should have a say-so in it. It's going to affect Filer, and they (Filer city officials) came back with the same opinion as the (county) zoning board," she said. "So we thought it was correct to change the zone."

Judge orders tests on murder suspect

TWIN FALLS — The defense for accused murderer Lawrence James Jenkins formally requested Friday that a psychologist investigate whether Jenkins might have been mentally ill at the time of the killing.

The request was granted by Judge Thoro Ward in Fifth District Court. Jenkins, 43, is scheduled to go on trial on the charge that, with premeditation, he shot and killed Jim Lee Legg, 23, on Sept. 12.

Legg died instantly after he was shot in the head outside the Brand Lounge, 1007 Blue Lakes Blvd. N. the following Monday. Twin Falls police issued a warrant for Jenkins' arrest. The defendant remained at large until Dec. 5, when he was arrested by FBI agents in Sacramento, Ca. subsequently extradited to August 10, Dec. 15.

Since then, Jenkins has been held without bond in the county jail.

Last week, Jenkins pleaded innocent to first-degree murder. No date for a trial has been set.

In filing a notice of his intention to rely on a defense of mental disease or defect, defense lawyer Mike Walz said he was not contesting his client's fitness to stand trial.

Instead, he requested a psychological evaluation of reports that Jenkins was under the influence of LSD at the time of the shooting. Walz said Jenkins took the drug involuntarily.

Wendell's police chief is only 'acting' head

WENDELL — Officer Mike Tambini was appointed as "acting police chief" of Wendell on Thursday, night by Mayor Otto Lemke.

Lemke promoted Tambini, but he qualified it with the word "acting," indicating a temporary appointment. The mayor said the difference added by the word "acting" is "nothing really, we're just trying it out."

Friday's Times-News had reported that Tambini had been appointed police chief, with his appointment confirmed by Wendell City Council.

Tambini said Friday he is "filling the slot" with a temporary title to give the mayor and council the option of giving the appointment to another person if, for example, a third officer should be hired later this year.

Meanwhile, Tambini said, his duties will be same as before, except for some extra paperwork and oral reports to City Council.

"There's no change really," he said, "it's just the same job. I'm not really into titles."

Dan Kennedy, who was appointed as Wendell's second policeman Thursday, said Friday that his previous experience includes three years as a senior military policeman who patrolled both military personnel and civilians in a tourist area.

In comparing his new job to his Army police work, Kennedy said, "About the only difference I've seen is the color of the uniform I wear."

Investment potpourri grows with 'universal life' policies

By STEVE LIPSON
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — In little more than a year, the average wage-earner has been offered an investment menu fit for a king.

First there were NOW accounts, interest-earning checking accounts.

As a result, money-market funds — high interest-earning accounts offered by some of the country's largest stock brokers — soared in popularity by offering high interest and immediate withdrawals by check.

Then came All-Savers certificates, offering interest payments that were exempt from federal income tax.

No one can blame people for being perplexed. And now, just when you thought it was safe to go back in the investment waters, a new kind of life insurance, which offers tax advantages and high-interest earnings, is set to try for a bite of the consumers' investment dollars.

What many in the industry call the "wave of the future" for life insurance has been growing in popularity for almost a year. Recently, Transamerica Assurance Co. was given approval to sell its universal-life policies in Idaho.

The company is not the first to enter the Idaho market; it is unlikely to be the last. "It's the coming thing in insurance," said an official from the state Department of Insurance.

There are 500 to 600 insurance companies selling policies in Idaho, he said, and all probably will offer a version of the plan. Many companies already have received approval to offer the plans. Many more have applications pending.

"What it is, simply, is a better way to buy life insurance," says Douglas Kirchner, the director of marketing for Transamerica Assurance. He was in Twin Falls on Friday to explain the program to local agents.

Kirchner worked for the E.F. Hutton Life Insurance Co., which introduced the first universal-life plan. He returned to Transamerica, where he had worked for about five years, when that company began developing its universal-life policy.

With the Transamerica policy, called "T-plan life," a customer decides how much insurance protection he wants, how much he wants to pay in premiums — above a minimum charge — and when he will pay. All money paid in above the cost of the insurance and the 10 percent fee for administering the plan earns interest at the rate of 13-week Treasury bills. Their current rate is about 14 percent. Plus, the interest earnings are sheltered from income tax until withdrawn.

Transamerica introduced its plan almost a year ago and now offers it in 42 states. It is available locally through Transamerica Occidental Life insurance agent Jay Buhler.

Transamerica Assurance and Transamerica Occidental, both of Los Angeles, are subsidiaries of the Transamerica Corp., which is based in San Francisco.

The universal-life policy, in addition to providing insurance protection in the event the customer dies, builds up a cash value that can be withdrawn later. Through the "magic of compound interests" tied to Treasury bills, the cash value grows more rapidly than in traditional whole-life insurance policies that also combine insurance with savings, Kirchner says.

The new product was demanded by consumers, who were deserting the traditional whole-life policies, he says. The cash values of these policies typically grew at a rate of 3 percent to 5 percent.

Twin Falls police arrest seven for chain of stereo store thefts

TWIN FALLS — Seven persons have been charged with burglarizing a Twin Falls stereo store.

Twin Falls police said the arrests stemmed from a series of burglaries that occurred between Jan. 1 and Wednesday at Century Auto Sound, 307 Oak St.

Taken into custody Thursday were: 19-year-old Chuck Harmon, 519 Third Ave. W.; 20-year-old Kenneth L. North, 515 Third Ave. W.; 18-year-old Dana J. Dade, 519 1/2 Third Ave. W.; 23-year-old Andrea Valencia, 600 Fifth Ave. E.; a 17-year-old male from Buhl; and a 16-year-old male from Jerome.

Detective Garry Corder said further arrests are pending.

Corder said approximately $5,300 worth of auto and home stereo units were taken from the business. Most of the property has been recovered, he said.

The adults have been charged with first-degree burglary.

North was released on his own recognizance Thursday. Valencia remained in the city jail Friday. No decision concerning her bond had been made, Corder said.

Harmon and Dade were arraigned Friday in Fifth District Magistrate Court. Judge Melvin Edwards set bond at $10,000 for each defendant and appointed the public defender to represent them.

Dade remained in the county jail in lieu of $10,000 bond. Harmon, who has pleaded guilty of two prior first-degree burglary charges, was sentenced on Monday to spend 120 days at the North Idaho Correctional Institute at Cottonwood.

According to court officials, the Twin Falls juvenile will remain in custody. The remaining juveniles, who were being held in custody last Friday, could be released to their parents, court officials said.

Kimberly school board OKs buying of track equipment

KIMBERLY — Kimberly High School finally will get to host its own track meets next year. On Wednesday night, the school board allocated $2,000 for the purchase of new track equipment.

"The money will be used to purchase pole-vaulting and high-jump standards and pits, a sufficient amount of hurdles for a meet, and a few miscellaneous items," said Superintendent George Powell.

"We probably won't host a meet this year due to the weather. Work has to be done on the runway for the pole vault and a few of the jumping pits," he said, "but next year, we'll hold some meets."

The board also reviewed the school district's annual accreditation reports at the evening meeting.

Powell said the schools were approved, but the commission in Boise, which reviews the accreditation reports made by the principals, suggested "we add another language class at the high-school level and extend our school day."

"At the moment our school day goes from 8:40 a.m. to 2:45 p.m. Next year, we'll probably go until 3 p.m.," he said.

Jerome monastery offers two classes

JEROME — The monks of the Ascension Priory in Jerome County will be conducting a course titled "Faith and the Sacraments" beginning this Thursday, Feb. 18, at 7:30 p.m.

The 10-week course will stress a better understanding of the sacraments and faith encounters with God.

Courses will be held at the Ascension Priory, located two miles east of Idaho 93 off Priory Road.

A question-and-answer session will follow the one-and-a-half hour lecture that will take place each week.

The priory also will offer a class in beginning calligraphy in March.

Instructors will ask for donations to help cover the costs of each class.

"Anyone interested in either course can register by calling the Ascension Priory at 324-2377."

Witness says Williams was not homosexual

ATLANTA (UPI) — Defense attorneys bent on proving that accused killer Wayne Williams is not a homosexual produced a young black woman who shyly said she had sexual relations with the suspect.

Williams is on trial for the murder of Nathaniel Cater, 27, and Jimmy Ray Payne, 21, two of 28 young blacks abducted and murdered in Atlanta. Testimony has linked the 23-year-old back freelance photographer and frustrated music producer to 10 other victims, and witnesses have said he made homosexual advances to them.

But Gwen Harden, a frail woman in huge aviator glasses, said she was his girlfriend.

"Did he ever kiss you?" asked defense attorney Al Blinder.

"Yes, he did," she said softly.

"Did he ever say he had affection for you?"

"Yes, he did."

"Did you ever say you had affection for him?"

"Yes, I did."

"Were you ever intimate with him?"

"Beg pardon?"

"Have you had sex with him?"

"Yes, I did."

Under cross examination, she was asked if she remembered telling authorities last June that she had never seen Williams with a girlfriend. She said she did not remember saying that. She said she hadn't visited him in jail because his parents wouldn't allow it.

Earlier Friday, Cater's brother and roommate supported defense attorneys' claim that he was dead days before the time during which prosecutors contend he was slain and thrown into a river by Wayne Williams.

Prosecutors say Williams killed Cater on the night of May 21 or early May 22 and dumped his body into the Chattahoochee River. Before his auto was spotted driving slowly from a bridge at 3 a.m. that day.

But Cater's brother, Anthony Cater, testified that he last talked with his brother on May 18 and expected to see him again on the victim's birthday two days later — May 20. He said his brother always came by on his birthday "except" when he was in jail.

John Henley, who roomed with Cater at an Atlanta hotel, testified that he last saw Cater on May 19. He said Cater told him that he was going to visit his brother in prison on his birthday the following day. Cater never showed up.

Henley also disputed the claim on one prosecution witness who said he saw Cater holding hands with Williams soon after 9 p.m. on May 21, just as he was before Williams was stopped at the bridge.

"I disbelieve it," Henley said when asked about the hand-holding incident. "That wasn't his nature."

Subcontracting key to Ford deal

DETROIT (UPI) — The chief United Auto Workers bargainer said Friday the subcontracting of work to non-union and foreign shops would be the "cornerstone" to agreement on a new contract with Ford Motor Co.

Donald Eplhin told reporters the negotiators were making progress on an industry-reviving contract and were prepared to work into the night.

He said subcontracting was the biggest stumbling block facing negotiators.

"It's the cornerstone to a whole agreement and we don't have it yet," Eplhin said. "Either we make it or we don't have an agreement."

He said the UAW wants to keep at union plants all work traditionally performed and to halt to all new subcontracting.

The UAW bargainer said a moratorium on plant closings and profit-sharing for hourly workers also will be part of any agreement reached with the No. 2 U.S. automaker.

"We are seeking a package that is in the best interests of Ford workers and that Ford workers will ratify," Eplhin said.

He said he would not make comparisons of the progress of talks at Ford with those of the last day at General Motors, where talks broke down at the last minute.

Chief Ford spokesman Jerry Sloan said company negotiators were "preparing responses to union proposals and would submit them late Friday."

"We're down to the short strokes," Sloan said.

He said he hoped a settlement would be reached by this morning. Sloan added a settlement still could fall apart but, "we see no reason for it to fall apart."

The UAW and Ford agreed Thursday on the economic portion of the contract. The cuts in wages and benefits will save Ford a reported $1 billion-plus over the 31-month life of the proposed pact — an amount about equal to the automaker's 1981 losses.

Ford workers now earn about $21.50 an hour in combined wages and benefits. A $1 billion economic settlement would mean cuts of around $2 an hour.

Sources said rank-and-file workers were successful in eliminating from Ford's original proposal a one-week cut in vacation time. Senior workers now get up to four weeks off each year. However, they said the union had to give up the 28 paid personal holidays workers receive during the current three-year pact.

New leaks found at Ginna plant

ONTARIO, N.Y. (UPI) — Officials checked newly found damage to a steam generator at the Ginna nuclear power plant near Rochester Friday but stressed the latest problem at the crippled plant posed no danger to the public.

The additional damage was discovered through a process called fiber optics testing, said Richard Peck, spokesman for Rochester Gas and Electric Corp., operators of the 12-year-old facility on the shore of Lake Ontario.

The damage was found in tubes that had already been plugged to prevent leaking, some as long as eight years ago, Peck said. He said that early current-testing performed since an accident at the plant last month failed to show the damage because currents could not circulate through the plugged tubes.

"There is no indication how long the tubes have been like that," Peck said.

Vandals whip Wildcats, now 20-2

OGDEN, Utah — University of Idaho broke a 15-year drought and took another step toward its second Big Sky Conference championship Friday night by downing Weber State's Wildcats 71-62.

It marked the first time since 1968 Idaho has pulled off a victory on the Wildcat court and only the second time in conference history. It also was Idaho's sixth win in 40 tries against Weber and the first time the Vandals have swept a season's series.

The victory gave Idaho a 20-2 overall record and 9-1 in the conference. Weber State's hopes for the fourth berth in the post-season league tournament divided to 6-6.

Idaho had to win it in the final 10 minutes and Coach Don Monson turned to his various spread-offenses and the foul line to build up the final margin.

Through the first 30 minutes, it was a donnybrook as the teams battled through seven ties and nine lead changes — Weber State usually holding the upper hand by a point or two.

But with the score tied at 40, Gordie Herbert tipped in a missed Vandal shot and seconds later Kenny Owens collected on a 25-footer. Idaho got the ball back with 10:30 left and immediately were 90 seconds off the clock with its first spread attempt. That resulted in a pair of Phil Hopson free throws.

Idaho then turned a defensive rebound into a fast break and Owens drove for a crippler that made it 48-40.

But the final eight minutes were the longest of the game, Weber State, knowing Idaho's penchant for the spread, immediately went to fouls and most of the scoring after that came from the line.

Idaho managed an 11-point lead with 4:43 left and over the next two minutes 10 points were scored, 10 of them on foul shots. With 2:45 left, Brian Divicenti cut Idaho's lead to 64-58 but Brian Kellerman and Owens collected free throws and Kelvin Smith added a slam dunk to take the Vandals back out to nine with 35 seconds left.

Owens picked up half of his 26 points in the closing 10 minutes, making the spread work by hitting 10 of 11 free throws.

"The Vandals remain on the road tonight, traveling to the mildclimate where they have won only once since the facility was opened in 1964. Should the Vandals win, they would have a two-game lead in the lost column with three to play — two of those at home.

Bruins topple Tigers

IDAHO FALLS — Chalk up another precedent for the Twin Falls Bruins.

Behind the 22-point production of senior Steve Galley, the Bruins toppled Idaho Falls' Tigers 75-66 Friday night, marking the first time any Twin Falls team has collected the three-game road series in that city.

Earlier the Bruins had downed Skyline and Bonneville. They get a chance to make it a 6-0 sweep against those schools tonight when they entertain the Skyline Grizzlies at 8 p.m.

Galley was the key man in all the situations for Coach John Astorgula as he opened the game with five points as the Bruins took a 7-0 lead. After that, almost every time Idaho Falls made a run at the lead, Galley responded with three or more points.

"He's just playing better every night," Astorgula said of Galley. "He's really starting to attack offensively and he's got some big rebounds. We're trying to put him in some key spots to care of the basketball, especially against the zone, and he's responding."

Astorgula also was pleased with his inside players, singling out Lance Sellers for "getting some important rebounds and making one great save. And, he hit his free throws coming down to the wire when they really counted. Our three big juniors (Bowen Call, Greg Snow and Mark Mumm) played much better than they did in the last four games. If those three guys can keep it together — because I think Lance is on top of his game right now — we're going to be all right," the coach said.

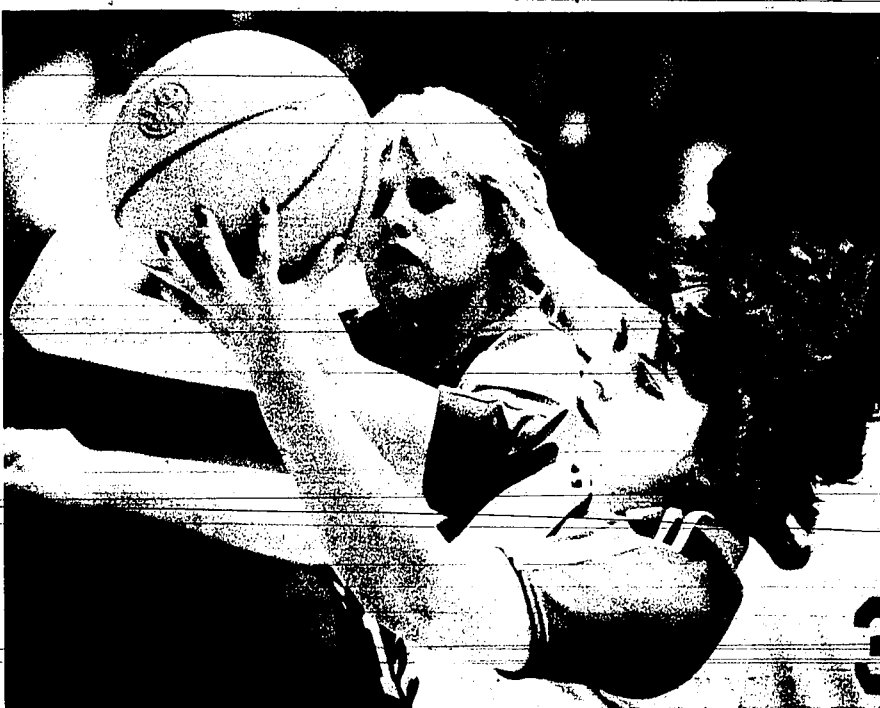

Twin Falls threatened to break away several times in the late second quarter and throughout the second half. But in each instance, Idaho Falls flurried back into contention. Most of that came on the outside shooting of Barry Smith who three times had back-to-back bombs of 20 feet or more.

Galley's opened five points were backed by a Joe Shelby jumper as Twin Falls took that 7-0 lead but it wasn't that easy. With Dave Harker, Smith and Mike Fielding hitting from outside, Idaho Falls closed to 10-11 and was still within one point at 17-16 at the buzzer.

Bowen Call and Steve Meyerhoeffer provided field goals and Galley hit a free throw to give Twin Falls a 24-18 lead early in the second quarter. After Harker and Smith reduced that to 26-24, Lance Sellers and Greg Snow each provided three points for a 35-26 halftime lead.

In the third quarter Galley's follow shot opened up an 11-point lead.

Alta Potter of Midvale pulls the ball away from Hagerman's Kristin McFadden during A-4 semifinal action Friday

Lack of offense dooms Hagerman

Pirates lose, in battle for third place

By CHRIS HAFT
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Sometimes the Hagerman Pirates couldn't shoot the ball. Most of the time they wouldn't, a worse transgression.

Either way, the Pirates rarely displayed aggressiveness offensively, contributing to their 34-21 loss to Midvale Friday afternoon in a winners' bracket semifinal at the A-4 Girls State Basketball Tournament.

Midvale, 15-4, proceeds to the finals tonight at 6:45 against Deary, while Hagerman, 15-8, meets Cambridge for third place at 1:45 p.m.

Everything Hagerman did, or didn't do, with the ball revealed their intimidation. The Pirates simply refused to attack Midvale's box-and-one zone defense. Exact figures weren't available, but the Pirates attempted an inordinately low number of shots, preferring to pass the ball harmlessly around the perimeter.

"They didn't want to shoot. I don't know why," Midvale Coach Dan Warfield said.

When they did venture a drive or short jumper, 6-foot center Trish

Widner was usually there to discourage the effort. Widner was the main reason Kristin McFadden, Hagerman's leading scorer, failed to collect a single basket.

The results: Hagerman didn't score its first points until 2:37 remained in the first quarter, and didn't get its first basket until 3:40 was left in the half. Not until Janine Hulme hit a free throw with 4:34 left in the game did the Pirates reach double figures. Inevitably, 11 of Hagerman's 21 points came on free throws.

The Pirates also failed to sink a field-goal try from late in the second quarter to just before the game ended — a stretch of nearly 16 minutes, the equivalent of two entire periods.

Without a last-minute press and Stacey Pharis' three baskets in the final minute-and-a-half, Hagerman would have certainly lost by 20 or more points.

Pirate Coach Brad Royse was understandably at a loss to explain his team's woeful performance.

"I really don't know. It didn't seem like we were fired up to start out. . . I don't think we went in with a big head, but I don't know what happened."

Royse said. "When we fell behind we just gave up."

The Pirates didn't have to wait too long to fall behind. The Rangers grabbed an 8-2 first-quarter lead and continued increasing it until the late fourth quarter.

A surge of seven consecutive points overlapping the third and fourth quarters — extended — Midvale's lead from 24-9 to 31-9, its largest. Widner, who led all scorers with 17 points, began and ended the Rangers' streak with baskets.

The margin was still 21, 34-13, when Hagerman roused itself to score the game's final eight points. A determined full-court press accounted for four of the points, which came on two Pharis drives following steals.

Tigers tame Parma

By MARV CLEMONS
Times-News sports editor

TWIN FALLS — All season the Kendrick High girls fretted over the possibility of some team using a box-and-one defense against them.

Friday night Parma took that option. Kendrick shouldn't have worried.

Parma's box-and-one held Kendrick's Lisa Vallem to just 10 points, but the rest of the Tigers, especially Jane Glenn, took up the slack as Kendrick downed the Panthers 56-33 in the semifinals of the A-3 Girls State Basketball Tournament.

Kendrick, 24-3, meets rival and defending state champion Prairie to tip off the A-3 crown.

While Vallem and the Tigers were concerned about the box-and-one, Coach Brian Pendleton was not. "There's no way that defense can stop our team," he vowed. "The logical plan is to leave Lisa outside with the girl on her and pass to the wing. Then you cut across with the other wing down low and shoot that box has to make a choice. There's three people to guard on the baseline and only two people to do it."

Glenn was the benefactor of Parma's strategy. The Tigers were able to get the ball along the baseline to her as Pendleton said, "She's automatic from there." Glenn netted 10 points.

Teresa Howerton hit for eight points, mainly from outside or on the break, and Bronwyn Manfull had eight more from the wing.

"(Pat) Golsch is a good defensive player and we went with the box most of the game," Parma Coach Steve Looney said. "We held her (Vallem) down, but they're just too big and physical for us and have too many people who can score."

Kendrick started slow, leading just 7-4 after five minutes, but the Tigers cranked up the break late in the

Kendrick vs. Prairie: No love lost in clash of A-3 titans

Kendrick vs. Prairie for the A-3 state championship of Idaho girls basketball.

It's guaranteed to be a battle.

The two northern Idaho teams were picked by several coaches as the teams to beat before the tournament began and those predictions have come true. Prairie blew away the only undefeated A-3 team in the state, Fruittland, Thursday and then dusted off eastern Idaho's Ririe Friday. Kendrick gave Valley a shooting display in its opener and man-handled Parma Friday night.

There isn't a lot of love between tonight's little combatants and the story goes back two years.

Kendrick and Prairie (the school is at Cottonwood) are in the same district in the panhandle, yet are located a good 60 miles apart. They don't play each other in the regular season, meeting only in the district playoffs.

Over the past two seasons, Kendrick has defeated the Pirates four of five times. The Tigers downed Prairie twice in winning the 1981 district title. Both advanced to state tourney in Twin Falls where Prairie upset Homedale to win the title. Kendrick, which lost to Homedale in the semifinals, went home frustrated despite grabbing third place. The two district wins made the Tigers feel they were a better team, but it was Don Hoffman's Pirates who carried home the state hardware.

This year Prairie defeated Kendrick in overtime by two points in the second game of district. Brian Pendleton's Tigers then came through the losers' bracket and knocked off Prairie twice to win the district title. Teresa Howerton canned a last-second 20-footer for a 37-35 win in the first title game before Kendrick scored a 52-47 victory in the second game.

Both have proven to other A-3 teams that they are the best in the state.

Although they'd settle for playing anybody in the title game, Kendrick wants to play Prairie.

"We know what it takes to beat them," Pendleton said.

"We've beaten them four of five times and we're confident we can do it again. That doesn't mean we're not afraid of Prairie, it's just that we've proven we can do it."

Hoffman would just as soon be playing somebody else.

"We wouldn't mind playing Kendrick, but I'd just as soon like to see another pitcher in there," Hoffman said Thursday.

That brings up the relationship that isn't exactly rah-rah toward each other.

Prairie, despite being a district runner-up, expressed a desire that they'd just as soon take somebody else to state with them. That doesn't sit too well with the district champs.

"It bothers us," Pendleton said. "We come to their games and root for them. They come to ours and show their faces. They're not too far off."

Pendleton recalled a time when Prairie won a game and several of his Kendrick players made an effort to celebrate with the Pirates and were rebuked.

"Hoffman says the teams have a 'good, old-fashion intense rivalry.'"

"We don't like to lose to them (and) they don't like to lose to us. It's nothing major," he said following Prairie's 52-29 crushing of Ririe, the Pirates keeping their part of the bargain in making tonight an all-northern Idaho finale.

Whatever the reasons and the worries, the teams will provide a thrilling contest. Kendrick has the outside punch and speed of Lisa Vallem and the inside ability of sisters Jean and Jane Glenn and Bronwyn Manfull. Prairie has equal balance with Rhonda Terhaar, Donna Van Bergen and Annette Wren.

Talent aside, the record shows that Kendrick and Prairie usually provide close games with the outcome in doubt until the closing seconds.

What more could one ask for, other than an all-southern Idaho title game? Perhaps one of these days.

SHOSHONE — Kim Duffin scored 17 of his 25 points in the third quarter to lead Shoshone past Declo 62-52 Friday night.

Duffin's 25 consisted of six field goals, and was 13 of 14 from the free throw line. Duffin hit on 11 of 12 in the third quarter from the line.

Shoshone held a slim 31-30 lead, but Duffin's offense put the Indians ahead to stay in the third quarter could come from the bench in the final half.

"They (Shoshone) played a super game," Shoshone Coach Larry Messick said. "Rusty Warba had 13 rebounds and 10 points, and he did a super job. Doran Duffins and Chris Sandy are both free throw, and they handle the pressure of bringing the ball down court very well."

Declo was led in scoring by Rodd Butters' 18 points.

Shoshone, 5-12, travels to Halley tonight to battle Wood River while Declo, 3-14, hosts Aberdeen tonight.

Declo defeated Shoshone junior varsity 77-44 in the preliminary contest.

IDAHO FALLS — Defense and balanced scoring played key roles in Minto's 56-52 victory over the Bonneville Bays Friday night.

Close all the way, Minto managed to control the tempo and picked up crucial turnovers in the closing minutes of the game to take the victory.

Leading the Spartans balanced scoring in defense Mike Shockey picking up 14 points while Jeff Schow and Thomas Simpson helped out with 15 points.

Minto, 11-5 overall, hosts Pocatello Tuesday night.

Bonneville took the junior varsity contest defeating Minto 74-60.

G. Ferry 52, Wendell 39

GLENN'S FERRY — Glenn's Ferry used a balanced scoring attack and a defense to defeat Wendell 52-39 Friday night.

Glenn's Ferry had nine people score including Joe Rodriguez' 12 points.

The Pilots opened up a 15-11 lead at the end of the first quarter, and went into the locker room at halftime ahead 28-22. Glenn's Ferry outscored the Trojans 24-17 in the final 16 minutes.

"We played a ball control-type of game," Glenn's Ferry Coach Gordon Brown said. "We slowed it down and took away Wendell's energy."

Fouls also played a key factor. Glenn's Ferry hit 20 of 30 free throws while Wendell hit 11 of 16.

"Our fouls were the big difference. We only had two more baskets than they did," Brown said.

Wendell's Steve Lutzner led the Trojans in scoring with 16 points.

Glenn's Ferry, 6-11, travels to Gooding tonight to battle the Senators, while Wendell, 9-5, travels to Kimberly tonight.

Wendell defeated the younger Senators in the junior varsity contest.

HANSEN — Rick Vull went on a 19-point spree in the second quarter Friday night to lead Castleford Wolves past Hansen's Huskies 80-67.

Except for Vull's outburst — he ended the night with a career high 25 — it was an even game.

Hansen had a one-point lead going into the second period but Castleford came up with 28 points as Vull scored repeatedly on rebounded shots.

In the second half, the Wolves had only a two-point deficit. Hansen cut the deficit to eight midway through the final period but couldn't come close.

Wood River 55, Buhl 40

BUHL — The Buhl Indians just couldn't get it together Friday night as they dropped their 15th consecutive game at the hands of the Wood River Wolverines 55-40.

Up by nine going into the final quarter, the Wolverines applied the delay offense and forced the Indians into foul trouble and proceeded to take the victory. The win topped their overall record to 15 wins against only two losses.

Leading the Wolverine attack was Mike Payne tossing in 12 points while Kyle Broadie helped out with 11 more.

Buhl, 1-17, hosts Filer tonight while Wood River hosts Shoshone tonight.

Buhl took the junior varsity contest defeating Wood River 50-42.

Gooding 63, Filer 56

FILER — Bob Hays and Tim Weaver led a hustling Gooding effort Friday night that enabled the Senators to defeat Filer 63-56.

Hays finished with a game-high 24 points and Weaver added 16 to the Senators, 6-9 overall and 5-5 in the Canyon Conference. Filer fell to 10-5 overall and 9-3 in league.

"They just flat beat us," Filer Coach Al Carberg said. "They showed us how to play. They played four excellent quarters... they wanted it more than we did."

Gooding jumped to an 18-9 lead in the first quarter, causing Carberg to note, "We started out slow and didn't get much better."

Led by Jay Reinkes' 21 points, Filer assumed a four-point lead in the third quarter but couldn't hold it. "We played flat and poorly," Carberg said.

BLISS — Rich took advantage of a two-point third quarter by Bliss and went on to defeat the Bears 40-48 Friday night.

Richfield, after being in a 11-11 deadlock at the end of the first quarter, outscored the Bears 12-7 in the second for a 23-18 halftime lead. However, the Tigers outscored Bliss 13-12 in the decisive third quarter.

"We came out in the third quarter very flat," Bliss Coach Jerry Couch said. "We didn't move the ball and we just stood around. Late in the third and in the fourth we pressed, but it was a little too late."

Richfield was led in scoring by Scott Exon's 15 points while Kelen Robbins added nine more. Bliss senior Dalen Kast led the Bears with 10 points.

quarter and Glenn hit two rebound baskets to start the second period. The Tigers led 19-8 and when they finally shut off the juicers to save some for Prairie, the count was 30-3 with 2:59 left in the half.

Kendrick slowed the pace the rest of the way and played comfortably, albeit hitting seven of 12. Parms was 16 of 33 for 30.2 percent.

"Turning his attention to the rematch with Prairie, Pentleton admitted he felt it easy once the outcome was sealed. "I sure hope so," he said when asked if he saved some for the Pirates. "Our crowd was upset that we didn't blow them (Parms) out and set some kind of scoring record, but that's not what we are here for."

Pentleton said Prairie Coach Don Hoffman, who lost two of three to the Tigers in the Second District playoffs, has been ribbing him about the game. "He said it would be fine with him if we both finish 500 for the year against each other — two wins and two losses," Pentleton said. "I prefer 750 myself."

Both coaches agree rebounding will decide the game. "That's exactly what it comes down to," Pentleton said. "If they rebound us by 10 or 15, they'll win by two or four points. If we stay close with them on the boards, we'll win."

Prairie has rebounded its two toughest foes 116-33, so the Tigers have a tough task. Kendrick owes four wins in five games over the past two seasons.

"Jean and Jane (Glenn) are ready to rebound and Brown is hurting (sprained ankle), I'll be the first to admit that," Pentleton said. "But she's a tournament player and will give us a big rebound."

"It will be nothing less than a good game," the second-year coach forecast.

Free throws give Jerome a victory

BOISE — Jerome High finally won a game at the A-2 Girls State Basketball Tournament.

The Tigers made 20 of 31 free throws to sink Madison 23-22 in consolation play Friday morning and meets Vallice today at 10:15 a.m. for the consolation championship.

"It wasn't very pretty, but we're happy the team managed to break the line (of not winning at state) is off," Jerome Coach Jim Stauffer said.

The Tigers made just four field goals to eight for Madison in the turnover-plagued game, so the free throws were vital. Madison, using a press most of the game, was called for 24 fouls.

Jerome never trailed in the low-scoring game. The Tigers had a 13-6 lead at the half and the two teams played even in the second half.

Madison did trim Jerome's lead to 22-20 midway in the fourth quarter, but the Tigers managed to break the press for a basket and hit some free throws to pull away enough for the win.

Jerome had 21 turnovers in the game compared to 18 for Madison. But the Tigers were able to maintain their 13-6 halftime margin on the strength of rebounding by Vicki Winder as she plodded down 16 errant shots.

Janiese Vander Vegt scored eight points to lead the Tigers, who are 18-3 for the season. April Sessions paced Madison with five tallies.

Preston 58, Post Falls 37 — Preston pulled ahead of a neck-and-neck contest with Post Falls Friday night to clinch a championship playoff berth with Moscow 58-37.

Preston led by one point at halftime and narrowly outscored the Trojans 21-20 in the second half.

The Indians clinched the win at the foul line where they hit 15 points to Post Falls' five.

Preston was led by Sheryl Beckstead who scored 18 points.

Post Falls' top scorer was Teresa Conrad with 12.

Moscow 64, Bishop Kelly 27 — Andrea LLOYD rallied off 27 points Friday to lead Moscow to a 64-29 romp of Bishop Kelly and gain championship playoff berth.

Lloyd was also the top rebounder with 11.

Preston will meet Moscow tonight to vie for the championship while Post Falls will have a chance to win third place in the A-2 division against Bishop Kelly.

Burley loses out, to battle for third

BOISE — "Sixteen teams came here and 10 go away disappointed. It's just a matter of when. Today was our day."

Burley Coach Mac Mills said just watched his Burley Royals slay in Idaho Falls A-1 Basketball Tournament-ended 42-30 by Sandpoint.

Burley will advance to a battle with Highland at 3:30 p.m. today for the third-place trophy while Sandpoint will go against two-time-defending champion Meridian for the championship tonight.

"Our girls are awfully disappointed right now. They know they've gone farther than most people thought they would but they would have liked to have had a shot at Meridian," Mills said.

MURTAUGH — Prati Matthews and Rod Nebeker came up with two points each in the second overtime to lift Murtaugh past Raft River 66-64 Friday night.

In a game of give-away, Raft River was the more generous.

"They just out-played us. I don't know how we beat them," said Murtaugh Coach Jim Anderson. "We just don't seem to have a team anymore. They don't know how to play with each other."

Both teams had terrible quarters. Raft River in the second and Murtaugh the fourth. Murtaugh was up eight at halftime on Raft River (tying a minute from the end and the Red Devils missing an inside shot at the buzzer).

In the first overtime, Raft River took possession and went into a walking game — resulting in a backcourt turnover with a minute left. Murtaugh then wasted the clock to nothing but missed the shot.

Matthews scored off the tip of the second overtime and Jeff Smith tied it from the foul line two minutes later for the Trojans. Nebeker hit what proved the winning points from the foul line but in the last minute both sides were guilty of turnovers and neither could score again.

Champs bounce Ririe

By MARV CLEMONS
Times-News sports editor

TWIN FALLS — Balance and bounce and plenty of both. — Defending state champion Prairie used that mixture to destroy Ririe's state title hopes in a 50-29 win in the semifinals of the A-3 Girls State Basketball Tournament—Friday evening.

The Pirates crashed the boards for 72 rebounds, including 33 offensive caroms, while Ririe managed just 28. The result was a poor shooting percentage for the Pirates but more than enough points to send the eastern Idaho school to today's third place game opposite Payama.

Ririe held a 4-2 lead in the early minutes before Prairie got its defense working properly. Once the Pirates' widely-spread 3-2 zone went to work, Ririe's strength—outside shooting—was negated and the Pirates had made their way from baseline to baseline.

With four of Prairie's starting five scoring, the Pirates led 16-4 at the end of eight minutes.

Pat Harris, Ririe's shot-slinging guard, missed her first seven shots and the Bulldogs didn't have an outside shot until Laurie Smith dropped one from the corner with 39 seconds left in the first quarter.

With Annette Wren especially effective on rebound follows and 10-fifties, Prairie moved to a 25-11 halftime cushion. Wren had 10 points at the half, including a 15-footer at the buzzer of a jump ball.

Ririe couldn't get untracked even after the 10-minute break to regroup. Deanna Kaschmitter hit a 10-footer just 42 seconds into the third period for a 27-11 Prairie lead and Kaschmitter put the Pirates up by 21 leads in the half with another basket.

Harris finished with 14 points to pace the Bulldogs, but her effort was cancelled by Wren's 16 and Rhonda Terharr's 10. Kaschmitter notched nine.

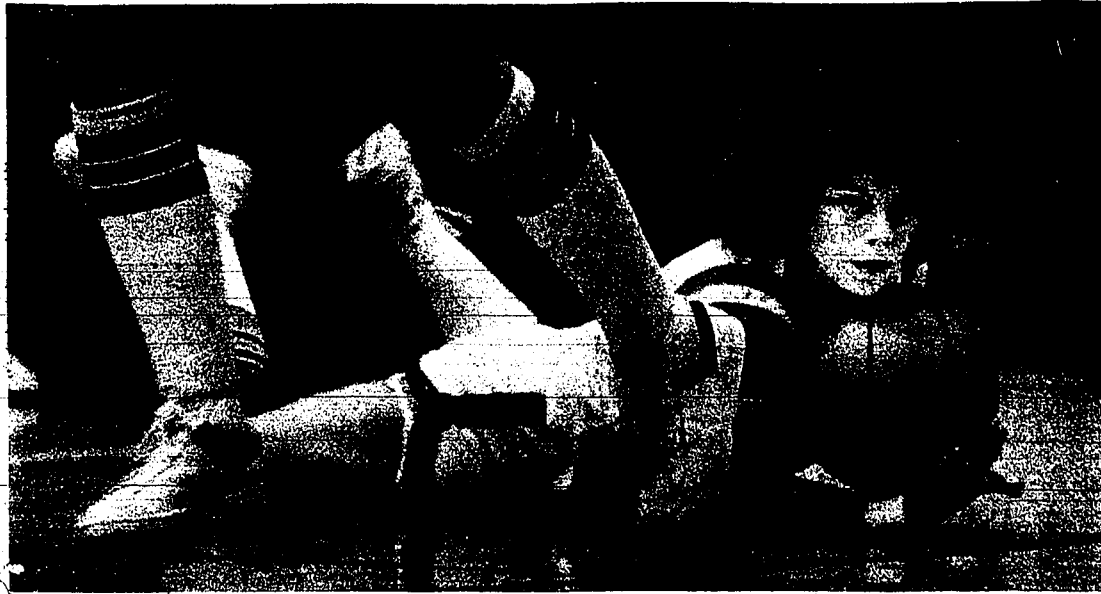

The rebound statistics were telling. Donna Von Bargen grabbed 22 and Terharr had 21.

"The rebounds did it," Prairie skipper Don Hoffman said. "We didn't shoot well (21 of 83) but we put up enough shots to overcome that. Von Bargen was just 2 of 24, but those boards made up for it."

Ririe Coach Reed Williams saw his Bulldogs get one step closer to the state finals after losing in the opening round last year. "Our shots were just off by that much," he said, holding his thumb and index finger an inch apart. Prairie was just too tough on the boards."

Ririe finds itself facing rival Kendrick for the state title.

Teton's Michelle Smith rises from the floor after diving for a ball during consolation play against Valley. Teton started slow before tying the game only to fall to Valley.

Valley finds basket at right time, tops Teton

By MARV CLEMONS
Times-News sports editor

TWIN FALLS — Plagued by poor shooting all during tournament play, Valley High made the shots that counted the most Friday afternoon for a 49-36 win over Teton.

The victory gives the Vikings, now 21-4, a berth opposite Fruitland in today's 12 p.m. A-3 Girls State Basketball Tournament consolation championship game.

Trailing the entire first half, Teton enroached on Valley's lead during the third quarter as guard Karen Price hit four of eight attempts from the outside, giving Teton a 29-28 lead with eight minutes to play.

Shauna Henry put Valley briefly ahead with a corner basket before Michelle Smith hit two free throws for a 31-30 Teton lead. Price struck from 20 feet to give Teton its biggest lead of the game at 33-30.

That's when Valley found the hot hand it has been waiting for. Sue Shawver, on the bench with four fouls, checked in and dropped one from the wing, capping the deficit to one.

After more than two minutes of ragged play, Henry popped one from the baseline some 15 feet out and 34 seconds later Tracy Agee hit from the opposite side of the basket. Valley had a 37-33 lead and with 1:34 to play Henry hit two free throws for a 39-33 cushion.

Teton's Hylin Durtsehl hit a free throw and a short jumper to pull Teton within three, but Rochelle Clark stole a Teton pass with 12 seconds left and the Redskins had no choice but to foul Agee with three seconds left. She made the first of two for the final margin.

"There's something about these girls," Valley Coach Forrest Fonesbeck said with a smile. "Whenever it's gotten down to a white knucker like that, they've come through this year. Shawver came cold off the bench and hit one, Henry hit a couple, Agee made some free throws and we got it."

"We were lethargic, and then that Price just shot the eyes out of the basket," Fonesbeck felt the Vikings were fortunate to win despite shooting better than their 13-of-70 showing against Kendrick in the opening round.

"We got outbounded by their shorter girls in the second half," he said. "Even though we shot better, we stood around and let them hit the boards. We also saw them (the officials) let it get pretty physical last night and we decided we were going to come out and do some reaching in and today we got caught."

Fonesbeck feels Fruitland will be a tough foe.

"Hopefully our girls feel much better about winning in this place," he said. "We've got a couple of girls who know girls in there and we'll go at them."

Fruitland drops Declo from tourney with press, 44-32

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Fruitland's Grizzlies turned to a press to eliminate Declo 44-32 and move into the A-3 Girls State Basketball Tournament consolation finals.

The Grizzlies, pulling away from a four-point advantage going into the final quarter, met Fruitland today for the consolation title. Declo completed its season.

To say Declo had trouble with the press is to say Custer needed more Indians.

"Once after time the Hornets turned the ball over after out-passes which resulted in numerous offensive charges, walking and simply intercepted miscues.

But the Hornets solved it just often enough to stay within contention until the first seven minutes of the fourth period. During that span, the Hornets could muster just two free throws—although they had several more chances. By the time Lyn Darrington picked up Declo's first fourth-quarter field goal with 1:18 to play, Fruitland was coasting at 40-32.

"We knew they'd be coming hard with the press," Declo Coach Lynn Payne said. "And we knew if we could break it we could win. At times we got through it without any problems—when the girls did what they were supposed to do. But the rest of the time it was a disaster for us."

Probably due to the press the game wound up considerably differently than it opened. Declo came out blazing and quickly piled up a pair of six-point leads. But then a couple of turnovers and missed inside shots turned things around and Declo never had it that good again.

Fruitland closed to a tie at 11 two minutes into the second quarter before Darrington hit three points and Teresa Hamby added a field goal for 17-12 lead. By halftime, Fruitland had evened things up as Vicki Boesel and Kim Henegger scored the final points.

Vicki Tesnohildek opened the second half with five straight points, the last two on a crisp cut and steal and Declo's offense began sputtering. Fruitland moved ahead 31-23 as Rhonda Jennings and Tesnohildek collected quick buckets.

In the closing two minutes of the third, Christy Matthews and Holly Burtz pulled Declo back to within four.

It stayed right there for three minutes and three seconds before Fruitland went on a scoring binge that decided it.

"The thing I hope right now," said

Surprise team of tourney ousts Cambridge Deary Mustangs find their game, in battle for title

By CHRIS HAFT
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — At the start of the tournament it appeared Deary would be the misfit. After all, it owned a decidedly unimpressive 8-12 record.

Now the Mustangs are 10-12 and established as the tourney's surprise team, having defeated Cambridge 39-28 Friday night to reach the finals.

Coach John Sutura has sought greater consistency from his Mustangs with each game. Against Cambridge, he received mostly what he wanted: a steady defensive effort and a hard-charging offensive attack.

Deary Cambridge's late, desperate scoring run prevented Deary from winning by a lopsided score. With slightly less than three minutes left the Mustangs led, 37-17, when the Bulldogs' full-court press helped produce 11 points over the final two-and-a-half minutes.

The Mustangs' matchup zone defense was the element that played a Sutura most. It particularly worked against Cambridge's Kristin Richel, who failed to score a point after ravaging Richfield for 24 Thursday night.

"We shut her down really well," Sutura said. "We knew we had to shut her out to win the game."

A-4

Sutura managed to find flaws in his team's effort.

"We played pretty consistently, though we had a little too many turnovers, especially in the last four minutes of the fourth quarter," he said. "We can play better. I know that."

If the Mustangs indeed play better tonight against Midvale at 6:45 p.m., they could be taking home the championship trophy. Leading just 16-13 at halftime, Deary broke the close affair open by routing Cambridge in the third quarter, 12-2.

Four points by Brenda Wood, two free throws by Marie Collins, the game's high scorer with 15, helped Deary assume its 20-point fourth-quarter advantage, which vanished when Cambridge, 16-6, applied its determined press.

Richfield 37, Clark Fork 34

By CHRIS HAFT
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Repeatedly committing one type of mistake invites defeat. Repeating two varieties of errors, however, practically insures it.

Clark Fork fell into double trouble Friday afternoon, negating its positive efforts first with fouls and then with missed layups in a 37-34 loss to Richfield in the losers' bracket of the A-4 State Girls Basketball Tournament at the College of Southern Idaho.

The decision eliminates Clark Fork, 12-7, from any further action and sends Richfield, 18-8, into the consolation finals today at 10:15 a.m. against Nezperce.

Clark Fork began its procession of fouls in the second quarter, when Richfield broke a 7-7 tie and took a 17-12 lead into halftime.

Tiger Coach Jim Thomas explained that a new offensive alignment forced the Wampus Cats to foul his players. Thomas moved Monica Ward from the perimeter to underneath the basket, where she joined Connie Wolverton.

The pair accounted for all but two of the Tigers' points in that period. "That's when they started fouling to get it (Richfield's scoring) stopped," Thomas observed. Clark Fork was whistled so often that the Tigers attempted 37 free throws, with Wolverton shooting 21 of them herself.

Partly because the Tigers made only 13 of their free-throw attempts, Clark Fork came back trailing by 33-20 deficit entering the fourth quarter to within 34-30 midway through the period. The Wampus Cats scored 10 of the first 11 points in the quarter on two baskets by Lois Butler and single hoops by Susie Sutton, Cheryl McLaughlin and Becky Stevens.

"They saw they had a chance to win it," Clark Fork Coach Rich Hanna said. Ultimately the Wampus Cats started playing themselves out of the tournament. Five times Clark Fork missed layups that would have narrowed the difference to two points.

"The layup has probably been our worst shot of the year," Hanna lamented. Clark Fork's other shots weren't particularly effective either—the Wampus Cats made just 13 of 85 field-goal attempts.

The Wampus Cats finally managed to close to within 36-34 on Butler's two free throws with 28 seconds left, but after Wolverton rebounded the fifth and final missed layup she drew a foul from Laura Wing with 15 seconds to go. Wolverton made the front end of a one-and-one, and afterwards all Richfield had to do was avoid unnecessary fouls.

Richfield went on a 14-5 romp that turned a 19-15 lead into a 33-20 cushion. Wolverton, who led all scorers with 19 points, contributed five points, and freshman Jodi Hildenbrand, who finished with 12, scored six.

Nezperce 36, Clark Co. 31

By CHRIS HAFT
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A pair of Kim Lustig free throws blunted a determined Clark County closing rally Friday, lifting Nezperce into a 36-31 win and the consolation finals of the Girls State A-4 Basketball Tournament.

Nezperce will battle Richfield for the consolation crown at 10 a.m. today at the CSI gymnasium.

Lustig's two free throws came with 28 seconds remaining and bolstered a two-point lead Nezperce was hard pressed to protect. Clark County, behind the late shooting of Deb Doschades, had cut an eight-point gap to 33-31 in the final two minutes. After Lustig clinched the victory, Kim Leitch, who was responsible for Nezperce's mid-game lead, led the cake with two charities.

It was the second straight loss for Clark County which came into the tournament with a 19-1 record.

McEnroe recovers, ousts Tanner

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — John McEnroe was challenged early but recovered quickly and pulled off a 7-6, 6-1 victory Friday over Roscoe Tanner to advance to the semifinals of the $225,000 U.S. National Indoor tennis tournament.

McEnroe plays defending champion Gene Mayer today while unseeded Buster Mottram goes against eighth-seeded Johan Kriek.

In earlier quarterfinal action, Kriek beat No. 4 seed Vilas Gerulaitis to advance to the semifinals as he took a 7-6, 4-6, 6-3 victory, his third consecutive win over Gerulaitis.

Mayer dropped unseeded Kevin Curren 7-5, 6-1, and Mottram upset No. 2 seed Eliot Teltscher 6-3, 6-1.

McEnroe, the world's top-ranked pro and No. 1 seed, was forced to a tiebreaker in the first set against Tanner after his hard-serving opponent ran up a 4-1 lead.

McEnroe surged back with two service breaks to tie the set at 5-5, and then both players held serve to force the tiebreaker which McEnroe won 6-6.

Straub keeps St. Louis Open lead

FLORISSANT, Mo. (UPI) — Bill Straub won 6-of-6 matches, rolling a pair of 256s along with a 257, to maintain the lead after five rounds in the $115,000 St. Louis Open bowling tournament.

Straub took a 76-pin lead into the round and saw his first-place margin cut by 20 as defending champion Earl Anthony averaged 256 while posting an 8-2 record to move from 14th place into second.

Straub, of Lincoln, Neb., totaled 8,464 for 34 games, including 30 bonus pins for each of his 12 match-play victories. With one round remaining before the top five bowlers are seeded into the finals, Anthony, of Dublin, Calif., has won 11 matches overall.

Mike Aubly of Indianapolis averaged 258 in the fifth round, including a 300 game, to charge from 12th place to third despite losing three matches. The 21-year-old Aubly is 96 pins behind.

Quisenberry to be paid $300,000

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The Kansas City Royals Friday won their arbitration with Dan Quisenberry and the club's ace relief pitcher will earn $300,000 this season.

Quisenberry had sought $480,000 but arbitrator Joe Gentile ruled in favor of the club after a four-hour meeting in Los Angeles. Quisenberry tied for the league lead in saves in 1980 with 33 but slumped to 19 saves and a 1-4 record in the abbreviated 1981 season.

The Royals are now 1-1 in arbitration cases this month, having lost last week to first baseman Willie Aikens. The Royals offered the first baseman $275,000 but arbitrator Tom Roberts ruled in favor of Aikens at $375,000.

Arguello, Busceme to square off

BEAUMONT, Texas (UPI) — World Boxing Council lightweight champion Alexis Arguello, said to be looking in the direction of welterweight Sugar Ray Leonard, defends his title today against local fighter Bubba Busceme.

Arguello, of Nicaragua, is a 10-1 favorite despite spending the week in a huff over poor training facilities.

Former four-time Golden Gloves national champion Busceme, 29, never had it so good leading to his biggest pro fight in a career which ended twice because of poor management. Now he is handled by veteran manager Hugh Benbow.

The afternoon fight is nationally televised by CBS.

Birds ink Bumby to 2-year pact

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Outfielder Al Bumby has signed a two-year contract with the Baltimore Orioles extending through the 1983 season, Orioles General Manager Hank Peters said Friday.

Bumby, 34, batted .273 with one home run, 27 RBI and 22 stolen bases in 101 games last year.

The three-year contract he signed in January 1979 expired after the 1981 season, and he was eligible to go to salary arbitration prior to the agreement.

2 smash 60-yard time in dead heat

NEW YORK (UPI) — Candy Young and Hightower originally set the standard in the women's hurdles two years ago at the Millrose Games with a time of 7.67. Earlier this year in Dallas, Hightower and Young tied that record in the same race.

This time, Young, of Fairleigh Dickinson, and Hightower, of the L.A. Naturlite Track Club, blazed from the blocks and both were timed in a world best time of 7.38. Young originally was declared the winner but a re-examination of the tape prompted officials to declare the race a dead heat.

Third was Bette Fitzgerald in 7.62. "I got a bad start," Young said. "So I am surprised at how well I did."

"I knew I had a good jump on her since she false started, so I thought I could get out a little quicker. She might have had a false start and she might have to hold a little, so I thought I had a little jump on her."

Nemehiah, who improved on his own world record two weeks ago at 6.82, sprinted from the back and glided to victory in 6.84. Willie Gault of Tennessee was second in 7.06 and third was former world record-holder Rod Milburn in 7.13.

In the long jump, Lewis, like Nemehiah a native of New Jersey, took the lead early with a leap of 26-11 1/2 and was never passed. On his first jump, with nothing to shoot for but his world indoor record of 28-1, he flew down the straightaway and bounded to his winning leap. Lewis' top rival, Larry Myricks, was second at 25-10 1/4.

Sanders leads Hawaiian Open

HONOLULU (UPI) — Young Jeff Sanders of Portland, Ore., one of 72 players caught on the course Thursday when wind and rain forced suspension of play in the first round of the $325,000 Hawaiian Open, completed a 68 Friday, then played his first nine holes of the second round in 1-19 on 35 to take the early lead by a stroke.

While Sanders, who joined the pro tour last year after a brilliant collegiate career at the University of Oregon, was among the early players off the tee Friday when bright sunshine bathed the seaside Waialae Country Club course, first-round leader Bobby Clampett was a late starter. Clampett shot a 67 before the rain Thursday and did not tee off over Sanders and Bob Proben. Like Clampett, Proben was a late starter in the second round.

Closest to Sanders among those already in action in the second round were John Mahaffey, who completed a 72 in the morning, then was 4-under par after 14 holes, and Scott Simpson. Both Mahaffey and Simpson also completed the first round early Friday. Both were at 4-under-par at various stages of the second round to trail by a stroke.

Lee Elder, Rex Caldwell and Chip Beck were 3-under to trail by two shots.

Other late starters in the second round included defending Hawaiian champion Hale Irwin, British Open champ Bill Rogers, Masters champion Tom Watson and Lanny Wadkins and Jim Simons. Wadkins was the Phoenix Open three weeks ago, and Simons took the Crosby Pro-Am last week.

Arnold Palmer was another beneficiary of the improved playing conditions Friday at Waialae, a cosy little course where shooting low scores is common in this tournament. Palmer completed a 71 as did Bob Gilder, Vance Heafner, Rocky Thompson and Rex Caldwell.

Stacy ties club mark, leads by one in LPGA

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — Hollis Stacy tied the course record at the Pasadena Country Club Friday with a 4-under-par 66 to take a one-stroke lead after the first round of a $125,000 LPGA tourney.

Stacy, who won the opening event on the tour in a five-hole sudden death playoff over JoAnne Carner and tied for fifth last week, was in the morning field when the majority of the low scores were carded.

One shot back at 67 was second year player Patty Sheehan, who had nine of 36-33, with five golfers tied another shot back at 4-under-par 69.

Tied were veterans Sandra Haynie and defending champion Carner, Beverly Klais, and second-year players Chris Johnson and Jeannette Kerr, both out of Arizona State.

Kerr made the turn at 4-under 32 thanks to a pair of birdies and a birdie score when she hit a sand wedge into the cup from a bunker 70 feet away on the ninth hole.

The opening round of the S&H Classic featured the first holes in one on the tour this year as well as successive eagles on the same hole.

Second-year pro Kyle O'Brien canned the first ace when she drilled a seven-iron on the par 3, 147-yard third hole. Murie Reber matched that ace later in the day when she hit a five-iron 180 yards for a hole-in-one.

The consecutive eagles came on the 341-yard par 4 fourth hole.

Counting the hand

Books on play are designed to get declarer to a problem contract, not to show how to bid. West is allowed to hold the hand with his king in spades. Since East has played the deuce, West shifts to the king of clubs.

Here is a fairly simple example of counting the hand as followed by Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Opening lead: ♠K. Vulnerable: Both Dealer: South
