Extortion suspects convicted

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — A federal court jury Friday night convicted John Birgla Sr. and Terry Lee Hall in the 1980 extortion bombing of Harveys Lake Tahoe Resort.

Each faces up to 40 years in prison and $140,000 in fines for the extortion convictions.

A sentencing date was not immediately set.

The jury of six men and six women deliberated 9 hours and 40 minutes over two days before agreeing that Birgla, 60, of Clovis, Calif., and Hall, 25, of Fresno, were the men who tried to extort $3 million from the casino.

The ransom demand was not paid and federal bomb experts detonated a homemade bomb. The device, which had been wheeled into Harveys Aug. 26, 1980, exploded with the force of 650 pounds of TNT.

U.N. calls for ceasefire

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The General Assembly ended a desultory debate on the Iran-Iraq war Friday with a muted call for an immediate ceasefire and withdrawal of troops from both sides to their own boundaries.

Only Iran, which said it rejected a "humiliating cease-fire," opposed the assembly resolution adopted 119-1 with 15 abstentions.

The document merely affirmed "the necessity of achieving an immediate cease-fire and withdrawal of forces to internationally recognized boundaries as a preliminary step towards the settlement of the dispute."

Tylenol copycat suspect held

OTTAWA (UPI) — A 15-year-old boy apparently inspired by the Tylenol poisonings in the United States was arrested by Ottawa police Friday for spiking halloween candy with toilet bowl cleaner.

Staff-Inspector John McCombie said police were tipped off by one of the boy's friends who was given a sample of the poisoned "Halloween kisses."

"He told his friend that he had planned to shoot at kids with a pellet gun, but then decided to spike candy with toilet bowl cleaner," McCombie said. "He got the idea from the Tylenol case."

When police raided the boy's room, they found a bag containing 38 poisoned candies and a container of cleanser.

"They were ready to go," McCombie said. "I don't know if anyone would have been killed, but they sure would have been sick."

Bush to campaign in Idaho

BOISE (UPI) — Vice President George Bush is scheduled to visit Boise next week to campaign on behalf of Idaho GOP candidates, Republican Party officials said Friday.

State GOP Chairman Dennis Olsen said he had been advised by Rep. George Hansen, R-Idaho, that the vice president would swing into the state to speak in favor of the candidacies of Hansen, Rep. Larry Craig, and Republican gubernatorial candidate Phil Balt.

Today's weather

Showers today, decreasing Sunday

Twin Falls, Burley-Rupert, Jerome-Gooding areas:

Variable clouds and scattered showers today, decreasing Sunday. Winds mostly light. Low 55 to 65, high 65 to 75 in the middle 60s Sunday. Lows near 50.

Camas Prairie, Idaho, Wood River valley:

Variable clouds and scattered showers today, decreasing Sunday. High 55 to 65, low 45 to 55.

Northern Nevada and Utah:

Variable cloudiness and widely scattered showers in the states through Sunday. High 65 to 75 in both states. Lows in the 30s.

Synopsis:

Another round of showers today, with partly cloudy skies Sunday.

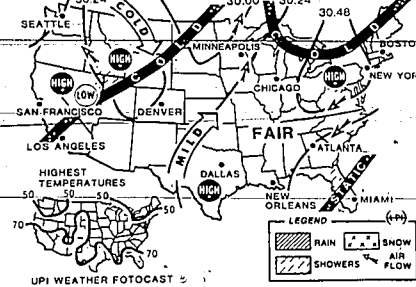

That's the weekend weather prospect for the Magic Valley, as a large storm system in the eastern Pacific will remain offshore for several days. However, a surge of moisture will move inland from the Oregon coast, crossing Idaho today.

Harvest conditions in the Magic Valley will be fair as showers ease. Brief delays for conditions early next week will bring good to excellent conditions. Soil temperatures for potato harvest will dip to near 45 degrees early today.

On Friday morning, a weak cold front crossed Idaho, bringing showers to most of the state. The heaviest rainfall was from the central mountains northward, with standpoint reporting 2.5 inches.

Hagerman's .15 inch was the most in southern Idaho.

In the wake of the front, Friday temperatures were warm and skies were clear to partly cloudy. Autumn marks were in the 60s and 70s with the warmest reading 77 degrees at Parma. Morning minimums were above normal for the time of year with many 40 and 50 degree marks, although mountain area readings were in the 30s. The state's coldest was 28 at Yellow Pine.

In Twin Falls Friday, the coldest count was 59 per cubic meter of air.

The extended forecast calls for mild temperatures Monday through Wednesday with scattered showers in the north and southwest but otherwise dry. Highs will be in the 50s and 60s with lows in the 30s.

Elsewhere in the nation, Friday's warmest temperature reported was 93 degrees at Yuma, Ariz. and Collierville, Tenn. and the coldest was 15 at Gunnison, Colo.

Brazilian congressman shot

BRASILIA, Brazil (UPI) — An opposition federal congressman was shot to death Friday, apparently by plainclothes police, bringing to 30 the number of fatalities in Brazil's national election campaign.

Early reports said congressman Helio Alencar Furtado, 35, who was campaigning for re-election with the center-left Brazilian Democratic Movement, was shot in the chest at close range as he slept in his car in a highway gas station.

The reports said the shooting may not have been political and that policeman Aparecido Andrade Branco, one of three men later arrested in the slaying, may have mistaken the sleeping congressman for a potential robber.

Alencar was Brazil's youngest federal deputy and the son of Alencar Furtado, a former national congressional leader of the Democratic Movement who was stripped of this political rights by the military government in 1978.

Spill forces evacuation

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nearly 40 people were injured and scores others were evacuated from a four-story Queens factory building Friday after a potentially fatal toxic chemical spilled inside the building, officials said.

The factory, located across the street from a school, housed Allomac Industries International, a maker of tri-chloroethane — a chemical used to degrease automobile transmission parts.

Eighteen factory workers and one Emergency Medical Services worker were rushed to local hospitals where they were treated for inhalation of fumes and released. Twenty others were treated at the scene.

Despite early Fire Department reports of a possible evacuation of buildings near the factory, in the Woodside section, neither a parochial school nor any neighboring buildings were affected by the fumes.

A Fire Department spokesman said the accident occurred at 10:25 a.m. when one of four barrels of the chemical being transported across the factory on a fork lift was punctured.

Fire barely under control

EI CAJON, Calif. (UPI) — A group of nudists were battling a fire next to firefighters dressed in their usual garb, but no one at the nudist colony was shocked and neither were the firefighters.

When a fire broke out at the Swallows Sun Island Club, a group of sunbathing nudists jumped in their fire truck, the "Blushing Lady," and rushed to douse the flames.

"Nobody stopped to put their clothes on," nudist camp owner Sue Latimer said Friday.

"At that time of day everyone is out on the lawn in the sun," she added. "The fire got a pretty good start before anyone noticed."

Eight minutes later, the California Department of Forestry showed up and took over the firefighting operations.

O'Neill wounded at home, said to be in fair condition

JENNIFER O'NEILL
Shot in stomach

BEDFORD, N.Y. (UPI) — Actress Jennifer O'Neill was shot in the stomach Friday at her Bedford home and reported in fair condition following surgery, police said.

Miss O'Neill, 34, known for her role in the movie "Summer of '42," was found by Bedford police in the second-floor bedroom of her home with "what appeared to be a gunshot wound to the abdomen," police said.

The actress was rushed to North Westchester Hospital Center in Mt. Kisco, N.Y., where she underwent surgery, said Sgt. Timothy Hanrahan of the Bedford Police Department.

Hanrahan said she remained in the intensive care unit of the hospital. A hospital spokesman said earlier Miss O'Neill was listed in "fair" condition.

Details of the shooting were not immediately available, but Hanrahan said Bedford police received a telephone call from Mt. Kisco police about 6 p.m. and rushed to Miss O'Neill's sprawling home in Bedford, an affluent northern Westchester County community.

Hanrahan said there were other people in Miss O'Neill's home at the time of the shooting, but he declined to elaborate. Police did not say if her husband was home at the time.

"A Mrs. John Lederer was admitted to the hospital with a gunshot wound in the abdomen," said hospital spokesman Armando Galata. "She underwent surgery at 6:36 and is now in fair condition."

Miss O'Neill, who married John Lederer in July 1976, has two children, Almee, 14, and Reels, 1.

A native of Rio de Janeiro, she starred in more than 15 films.

Army tracing leak of nerve gas

RICHMOND, Ky. (UPI) — Army technicians Friday tried to locate the source of an apparent "low grade" release of deadly CB nerve gas at the Bluegrass Army Depot Wednesday two days after two dead cows were found on nearby grassland.

"Trained chemical personnel are currently taking appropriate action to identify the cause of the abnormal readings," said a Pentagon spokesman.

An Army spokesman said there was no danger and there was no evidence that any nerve gas had escaped outside the 15,000-acre central Kentucky facility where rockets and other armaments are stored.

"We are brainstorming the situation now to eliminate all of the possibilities. But we do know there is no danger," he said. "We recorded this particular event and it was at a very, very low grade," said retired Lt. Col. Basil Cole, public affairs director for the depot.

"There would not have been enough nerve gas in the air to kill even a cow, in my opinion," he said.

The Army announced last Saturday it had begun draining chemicals from 138 warheads, of which 104 contained nerve agents at the depot. It had not been determined if the draining had anything to do with the death of the two cows, which were among 3,000 to 4,000 grazing on the military reservation.

An air monitoring device on Wednesday recorded an "abnormal level" of nerve gas in the stockpile area. Army spokesman Cathy Hardman said. The reading "indicated some likelihood of the presence of hazardous material," she said.

The depot remained open and they evacuated the people out of the area where readings of the rockets and projectiles were taken," said Cole. "I have personally been out in the area."

He said only a small number of the estimated 600 people working at the depot left the area of the strategic stockpile Wednesday, but remained on post.

"The suspected hazardous material is a chemical nerve agent commonly called GB," said the Pentagon spokesman. "There was no known exposure to any personnel."

"All GB igloos have been sealed. A 100 percent visual inspection of all GB munition locations was completed with negative results. Each GB igloo will be inspected with extremely sensitive alarms in an effort to identify the source. This operation is anticipated to be completed by noon, Oct. 25."

Cole said that Wednesday's instrument readings could have been wrong.

"The instrument recorded that nerve gas was present in the atmosphere, but we're saying that's what the instrument said," he said. "We are not sure."

The Army discovered the dead cows Monday, two days before the air monitor readings inside the depot.

Hardman said the farmer who owned the cows said one of the animals may have been hit by a truck. A veterinarian was examining the second cow for cause of death.

State police said they were notified of the nerve gas readings Thursday evening. They received a call at 5:54 p.m. Thursday from an officer at the depot who said they had gotten readings indicating nerve gas agents were in the atmosphere.

Burnett, husband agree to separate

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Entertainer Carol Burnett, who said recently her daughter's drug problems were ruining her marriage, has separated from her husband of 19 years, her publicist said Friday.

A spokesman for Miss Burnett, 48, said the trial separation between the actress-comedian and television producer Joe Hamilton, 54, was temporary and involved no legal proceedings.

Miss Burnett said recently that her daughter Carrie's drug problems were "driving a wedge into my marriage."

The couple discovered five years ago that Carrie was addicted to drugs, and Miss Burnett made many appearances on behalf of anti-drug campaigns. Carrie, 18, went through a rehabilitation program.

Spokesman Rick Ingersoll said Miss Burnett will live in the family home in Hawaii, while Hamilton will live at the couple's Beverly Hills house.

The Emmy-winning actress, who is best known for her long-running variety TV series and had a featured role in the movie "Annie" this year, is scheduled to visit southern California next month, when she will be celebrated Nov. 21 as "Woman of the Year" by Variety Clubs International.

Miss Burnett divorced actor Don Saroyan in 1962, and Hamilton divorced his wife, Gloria, in Mexico on the same day he married Miss Burnett in 1963.

Hamilton suffered a mild heart attack last New Year's Eve. The couple has two other daughters, Jody, 15, and Erin, 13.

Stoleson

But people reseed their lawns. We do some things for aesthetics, and to improve wildlife habitat. It's not just to sell boards."

Stoleson's forest career has included a broad range of assignments. While attending the University of Montana, he began working for the Forest Service as a smoke jumper — a member of the service's elite corps of firefighters who reach fires in rugged terrain by diving out of airplanes.

He was aboard a plane that crashed in 1959 while landing at Moose Creek station, a remote strip in the Selway-Bitterroot Wilderness of northern Idaho. The crash killed the Nezperce Forest supervisor, along with two other passengers.

In 1969, Stoleson became a district ranger in the Kanku National Forest in northern Idaho. Barker, during the same period, was the forest's assistant supervisor for recreation.

Stoleson served as district ranger for the Riggins and Slate Creek districts of the Nezperce Forest from 1972 to 1979, when he transferred to the national office as a member of the aviation and fire management staff.

He and his wife, Maureen, have two sons, the eldest of whom graduated this spring from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. The youngest is attending college in Montana.

Smith warns of Japan 'mafia' in U.S.

Saturday, October 23, 1982 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho A-3

Nation

WILLIAM FRENCH SMITH
Concerned with drug traffic

TOKYO (UPI) — U.S. Attorney General French Smith said Friday the penetration of the West Coast drug market in Hawaii and the West Coast by Japanese organized crime was "extensive" and called for a joint U.S.-Japanese program to combat it.

"We do have some concern with respect to Japanese organized crime and its relationship to the drug trade expanding to Hawaii and the West Coast and even beyond," Smith said.

"We feel that it is very important that we develop a close working relationship with Japanese law enforcement officials so we can come to grips with that problem before it grows or spreads further," he said.

The attorney general said he suggested to Japanese law enforcement officials the "possibility of some kind of mutual law enforcement assistance program" between the two countries to deal with the problem.

"That was very favorably received, I believe," said Smith, on the second day of his trip to Asian and European capitals.

Smith, who is in Japan on a four-day trip, leaves Sunday for Hong Kong and will later visit Thailand, Pakistan, Italy and France to discuss stopping smuggling of heroin into the United States and efforts to help the refugees who have fled Indochina in recent years.

He said the Japanese Mafia's activity in the United States was "extensive enough to be of concern." Smith gave no figures or further details of Japanese crime infiltration.

The largest group is the Yamaguchi-Gumi, based in Osaka.

"Here again, we think that the time for both governments to come to grips with this problem is while it is growing," Smith said.

"We in the United States did not fully appreciate the significance of organized crime, that is, traditional La Cosa Nostra-type of organized crime, until it had gained a substantial foothold."

Smith also joined the list of U.S. prosecutors who have come to Japan to assure the government the prosecution of Japanese firms in the United States this year was not a pressure tactic, nor was it politically motivated.

Since June, firms have been charged with stealing IBM computer technology, unlawfully selling steel at less than cost and are under investigation for trading policies on sales of computer chips.

Smith conceded there was "residual suspicion" that the actions "were actually designed not just for law enforcement but were intended to put pressure on the Japanese" because of their trade surplus with the United States.

Weinberger vows strict scrutiny of contractor claims

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger Friday announced a crackdown on defense contractors who have passed on millions of dollars worth of lobbying and legal fees to the Pentagon.

"Our new rules do not mean that a firm cannot lobby legislators nor do they mean that a firm cannot defend itself against fraud charges," he said. "They do mean that the taxpayer does not pay for those costs."

Weinberger, who had a reputation as "Cap the Knife" for cutting government costs when he was budget director during the Nixon administration, announced the new contract regulations in a luncheon address to the International Investors' Conference.

Although he gave general examples of how defense companies have included lobbying and legal fees in their charges to the Defense Department, Weinberger did not identify any of the companies, nor did he specify how much the practice has cost the taxpayer.

Under the new regulations, costs for lobbying activities and legislative liaison are disallowed as well as contacts with state and local legislative bodies and Congress, the Pentagon said.

"Prior to this cost principle, our auditor and contract administrator tried to distinguish between lobbying activities and legislative liaison activities," a Pentagon background paper said. "This led to continuous disagreements concerning what cost should be allowed and what cost should be disallowed."

"It has never been our policy to pay lobbying costs, but in the past such expenses were not always identifiable," Weinberger said. "With our new cost principles, the millions of dollars that contractors spend for lobbying, much of it for Washington legislative liaison offices, will all be identified and disallowed."

DeLorean jailed at least for weekend

By MARK BARABAK
United Press International

LOS ANGELES — Auto tycoon John DeLorean, jailed on cocaine charges, has apparently not succeeded in selling off a luxurious California estate to raise $5 million bail and will try again next week to get the bail reduced, authorities said Friday.

There will be a bail hearing Monday and it is doubtful DeLorean will be released before then, assistant U.S. Attorney Alexander Williams said.

"If someone came in with a fistful of $5 million cash, theoretically he could be released during the weekend," Alexander said.

"This is not our expectation in this case, in part because we have just been given notice there will be a bail review on Monday."

DeLorean's attorney tried unsuccessfully at his arraignment Wednesday to get the bail lowered to $1 million. Federal prosecutors tried to have it raised to $20 million, arguing DeLorean is a wealthy man accustomed to international travel and has reason to fear he may go to prison for years.

A real estate agent acting for DeLorean, who allegedly tried to set up a $24 million cocaine deal to save the financial collapse of his auto factory in Northern Ireland, was pushing efforts Friday to sell his sprawling, multimillion dollar vacation estate.

Betty Vlahos, owner of the north San Diego real estate firm handling

Missed phone call was word on new loan

By The London Daily Telegraph

LOS ANGELES — While John DeLorean was flying to Los Angeles and his eventual arrest Tuesday, a loan brokerage firm was trying to contact him with news of a $200 million deal that might have saved his troubled car company.

"We had the funds on deposit with a leading world bank," Larry Watts said Friday. He is president of the Midwest Funding and Development Co. in Cleveland. "I called Mr. DeLorean's secretary in New York and she told me he was in the air flying to Los Angeles."

On arrival in Los Angeles, DeLorean went to the Sheraton Hotel near the airport, where he was taken into custody in an FBI "sting" as the alleged financier of a cocaine ring.

He never returned Watts' call.

"I don't know if the money would have been in time because we were not aware that the British government was about to shut down the Belfast factory," Watts said. "But we did believe we had a commitment of investment capital from lenders, put together for us by an agent, and we think the deal could have gone through."

Watts said he could not reveal the identity of the agent or those prepared to make the loan.

He said he had known DeLorean for some time and had been talking to him almost daily on the telephone for two weeks prior to the arrest.

"We were very shocked by the charges," said Watts. "Everyone who knew him feels the same way."

sale of the 48-acre, Spanish-style estate in the plush Palmdale Valley, said DeLorean's situation "has made it more urgent."

"For the benefit of Mr. DeLorean, we would like to accelerate all our efforts," Mrs. Vlahos said, adding the price of DeLorean's "La Cuesta de Camelia," which has been on the block for nearly a year, was upped from $4 million to $5.25 million.

She said her firm, Vlahos Properties, was taking for cash and aggressively pursuing a buyer among its wealthy clientele.

To be released from Terminal Island Federal Prison, DeLorean, who was arrested Tuesday night on charges he bankrolled a $24 million cocaine deal, must pay 10 percent of a $5 million bond. Half of the sum must be paid in cash and the rest in property.

DeLorean did not enter a plea in the case at his initial appearance Wednesday, but attorney Bernard Weiss said the former auto executive would probably plead innocent at a Nov. 1 hearing.

Jerry Williford, warden at Terminal Island, said DeLorean "seemed to be adjusting well."

He said DeLorean, 57, who quit his $650,000-a-year vice president's position at General Motors and went to Europe to build his dream car, was working out in the prison recreation yard and writing while in the cell he shares with another inmate.

"He's being treated just like any other inmate," Williford said of both his accommodations and the reception DeLorean has gotten from fellow inmates.

In an effort to beef up his defense team, DeLorean has hired former Warren Commission attorney Joseph Ball, 79, a polished barrister respected in Los Angeles courtrooms for decades for his gentlemanly skills as a behind-the-scenes negotiator.

Ball has served as an attorney for former Nixon administration aide John Ehrlichman.

Police examine Tylenol for prints

CHICAGO (UPI) — Police Friday worked on the "faint possibility" of finding fingerprints on a seventh bottle of cyanide-laced Tylenol, discovered among thousands returned unopened by customers after seven poisoning deaths.

The bottle, found Thursday, had been purchased at a Dominick's Finer Foods Store, located half a block from a drug store where airline-flight attendant Paula Prince purchased the capsules that killed her.

Investigators scanned the Extra-Strength Tylenol container for fingerprints Friday as two prime suspects in the poisoning deaths eluded a dragnet in cities on the East Coast and Midwest.

Investigators unavailable for comment on possible findings, also were trying to locate the customer to determine the purchase date of the bottle, which contained more than 13 poisoned capsules.

Police Superintendent Richard Brzezczek said there was a "faint possibility" fingerprints might be found on the latest bottle.

But Illinois Attorney General Tyrone Fahner, head of the task force investigation exuded more optimism at the find.

"This is the first bottle we've discovered that we know no one has touched the interior of the bottle or its contents, except the person who put them there," he said.

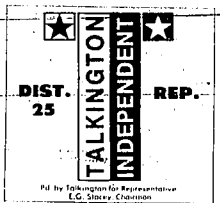

Fahner said the contents were already decomposing because of the cyanide's caustic effect on the gelatin capsule shells.

The laboratory that found the tainted pills has examined more than 150,000 samples of Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules under a private contract from the manufacturer, McNeil Consumer Products Co. At least 13 million capsules are being tested nationwide, a spokesman for the company said, and investigators have been unable to accurately estimate how much longer the task will take.

Brzezczek said an order issued by Mayor Jane M. Byrne on Oct. 2 demanding the immediate removal of all Tylenol products from city stores "undoubtedly prevented some other person from meeting his or her demise."

A ban on sales of all Tylenol products in Chicago remained in effect. The seven deaths occurred between Sept. 29 and Oct. 1.

Court overrules Congress' veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal appeals court Friday struck down Congress' veto of a controversial used car regulation, delivering its broadest condemnation yet of the legislative veto practice.

Voting 8-0, the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington ruled the House and Senate unconstitutionally voted in May to override a new regulation designed to help used car buyers.

The court's action does not automatically reinstate the Federal Trade Commission regulation, which calls for used car dealers to post stickers on automobiles declaring major defects and selling out warranty rights.

The regulation is "in limbo" pending a possible appeal to the Supreme Court, said Ellen Broadman, attorney for a consumer's group that took the case to court.

The ruling marks the second time this year that the Washington-based court — considered the most powerful of the 12 circuit courts across the nation — has declared Congress' use of legislative veto powers unconstitutional.

Citing a January ruling on a gas-pricing case, the court found the congressional veto of the used car rule violated the separation of powers principle on which the government is based and went beyond powers given Congress in the Constitution.

Nixon advises dropping of Begin's 'hard-headed' views

RICHARD NIXON
Tells Begin to bend

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Richard Nixon said Friday Israel's Menachem Begin should drop his hard-headed view and act now to defuse the situation in the Middle East, or his nation will wind up "submerged by 100 million Arabs."

In an interview on ABC's "Good Morning America" program, the former president said Israel has won five wars and will win the next one and the one after that.

"In the end, however, it will be submerged by 100 million Arabs, in my view, and that's why they should make their deal now and defuse that situation," Nixon said.

He added that he believes Israel would not even win its next Middle East war if the Soviet Union entered the area.

That, he said, "is why keeping the Soviet Union out of the Middle East is essential to Israel's survival, because if the Soviet Union weren't not only arms, but the training and the technicians to handle those arms, Israel's going to be down the tube."

Nixon said Prime Minister Begin must be admired for "being a strong leader" and "being bold enough" to go to Camp David in 1978 to reach peace accords with Egypt.

But "as a strong, intelligent leader, he is making, in my view, a disastrous mistake in refusing to say that he is open to the Reagan plan, that he's going to consider it," he said.

Kissinger thinks troops will leave

HENRY KISSINGER
Predicts troop withdrawal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger said Friday he believes Israeli, Syrian and all foreign forces will withdraw from Lebanon "in the next few months."

Speaking at the closing session of a two-day symposium on "U.S. Perspectives," Kissinger said he supports President Reagan's Middle East peace initiative, and warned against the prolonged commitment of U.S. Marines to Lebanon.

Kissinger said he agrees in general with Reagan's Sept. 1 proposals for Palestinian rule of the West Bank and Gaza strip in association with Jordan and an immediate freeze on new Jewish settlements in the occupied territories.

The Reagan proposals "should be seen as the framework of negotiations, not a blueprint," said Kissinger, one of several officials and former officials who spoke at the prestigious symposium sponsored by the American Stock Exchange.

Kissinger, whose travels in the Middle East under the Nixon administration inspired the term "shuttle diplomacy," said he favors "the broad outline of Reagan's plan" but does not agree with every detail.

He said he agrees that Israel should not attempt to annex the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip, but he recognizes Israel's concern with security in the area if Israeli forces pull out.

Arabs threaten expulsion try next year

By JOHN USHER
United Press International

UNITED NATIONS — The chairman of the United Nations' Arab bloc threatened Friday to bring up a resolution to expel Israel from the General Assembly next year if the Jewish state continues to defy U.N. resolutions on Lebanon and the Palestinian problem.

Amr Badayeen, an Arab League spokesman, said that instead of pressing for a vote in the assembly next week aimed at ousting Israel, a letter expressing reservations about its credentials would be sent to assembly president Imre Hollai.

The letter was now being circulated among "friendly nations" for signature and would be delivered today, an Arab source said.

Treiki said the Arab nations had dropped their attempt to expel Israel only at the request of friendly nations of the Nonaligned movement.

Omani Ambassador Mahmoud Abou-Nasr, one of the moderate members of the Arab bloc, said the group was united and that threats "from certain quarters" had no bearing on its decision.

The United States had threatened to withdraw from the assembly and stop its payments to the world body if Israel was expelled.

Treiki emphasized that the decision to move for Israel's expulsion from the assembly had only been delayed.

"If Israel continues to defy U.N. resolutions, to refuse to withdraw from Lebanon and self-determination for the Palestinians, then action will be taken at the next General Assembly," he said.

Treiki said the Arab nations were "very sorry" about the attitude of the United States on the expulsion motion.

"We cannot believe that a big power like the United States would withdraw from the General Assembly. Americans are victims of the Israeli-Zionist lobby."

Asked whether Iran might make a lone attempt to get Israel expelled, Abou-Nasr said, "I think they will be one of the signatories" of the letter.

IRA wins five seats in election

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — The political wing of the outlawed Irish Republican Army Friday won two more Assembly seats for a total of five, placing Britain's self-rule plans for Ulster in grave doubt.

Despite the victory, Sinn Fein, the legal mouthpiece of the IRA, said its candidates would boycott the Assembly, which was proposed by the government of Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher to bring local government back to the province after 10 years of rule from London.

The IRA continued its pressure on Britain, announcing as votes from Wednesday's election were counted it had kidnapped a part-time soldier in South Armagh.

An IRA statement said the man — a member of the predominantly Protestant Ulster Defense Regiment — was "being interrogated in connection with serious crimes against the nationalist population."

Britain's Northern Ireland Secretary, James Prior, who devised the 78-member assembly, said the Sinn Fein's victories would "not make much difference" in his plans.

"Everything in Northern Ireland is a setback," said Prior. "Unless one is expecting miracles, it is difficult to see people who have held contrasting views for 300 years to work together. I don't expect in one year to put it all right."

A former Northern Ireland secretary for the previous Laborite government, Marylin Bass, warned that an IRA with electoral confidence might be more dangerous than one wielding bombs alone.

Four villages fall to rebels

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Military commanders said Friday government troops abandoned four more villages to rebel forces, conceding leftist guerrillas control the northern halves of two provinces.

In another development, Defense Minister Jose Guillermo Garcia refused to rule out the possibility that the military would accept proposed negotiations with leftist rebels.

"First it will be established if we are in favor of them (the negotiations) or not. If we are not, we will continue the policies that the president has outlined," Garcia said.

Catholic church officials have pleaded with the government to accept the rebel offer of a negotiated solution to the 3-year-old civil war.

Rebels staged overnight attacks on five villages near San Salvador, inflicting heavy damage at Mercedes Umana where guerrilla fighters stormed several stores and the local military command, residents reported.

But no casualties were reported in the attacks on Mercedes Umana or on Santiago Maria, about 75 miles east of San Salvador.

Polls predict win for Spain leftists

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — Two public opinion polls Friday predicted a sweeping victory in next Thursday's general elections for the opposition socialist, giving Spain its first leftist government since the civil war brought Gen. Francisco Franco to power.

The polls also predicted the right-wing Popular Alliance would finish a distant second to the Spanish People's Workers Party, and that both the ruling Democratic Center Union and the Communist Party would be virtually eliminated as parliamentary forces.

The government announced the transfer to remote posts of five more high-ranking officers, bringing to nine the total of senior personnel shifted in recent days since it announced uncovering a coup planned for the eve of the election.

Three lieutenant colonels were arrested Oct. 3 charged with plotting the coup in collaboration with Gen. Jaime Milans del Bosch, the convicted ring-leader of the February, 1981 attempt in which civil guards seized parliament for 18 hours.

What's what

Just as wine experts have a lingo all their own — terms like "brilliant," "haughty" — so do the tasters of ice cream. The National Ice Cream Retailers Association in describing its comestible gets specific with words like coarse, crumbly, fluffy, gummy, icy, sandy and soggy. Our Language man would like to contribute to the vocabulary of both the wine and ice cream connoisseurs with a set of syllables possibly unknown to them heretofore. Namely: "It tastes good."

You'd think all the land in New York City would be covered with skyscrapers by this time, but at last report about 15 percent of that big town's surface was vacant lots.

Quick, what's a "roadster"? You said a car, true. Right, but before it was a car, a roadster was an ordinary riding horse.

Historical footnotes indicate Cleopatra took some care daily to daub perfume between her toes.

SECRETS
In that matter of keeping secrets, men seem better able to contain the truth about business deals, women about personal indiscretions. It's just a question of what's most important to them. Further, it's the man in his fifties who is most likely to harbor his sort of secrets while the same can be said for the woman in her thirties.

"Experience shows a very populous city can seldom if ever be properly governed. All well-governed cities have a limited population." Aristotle said that.

A snake sheds the outer film over its eyes, too, whenever it sheds its skin.

COACHES
An asked what proportion of the college football coaches were themselves gridiron heroes in their undergraduate days. About 53 percent.

6T skips out, perhaps on a binge

The wayward 6T probably was robotnapped

DALLAS (UPI) — Nobody knows where Robot salesman 6T went when he disappeared, and when he turned up he wouldn't say where he had lost his black derby.

Rumors that he went on a binge with R2D2 were impossible to prove.

The $9,500 robot, a promotional machine for Robot Factory of Cascade, Colo., disappeared from a trade show Sept. 13 at the ballroom of a local hotel.

6T is about 40 inches tall and weighs 100 pounds. He walks through crowds, talks to people, hands out business cards and tips his derby.

"The last time anybody saw him, he was standing in the aisle where he was supposed to be," said spokesman Debra Garjania of the Crime Stoppers organization.

"For all we know, he may have just said to heck with it and just walked out the front door. Nobody saw said they saw him leave."

Mary Bolner, vice president of the Robot Factory, said Robot 6T received "the best of care" and had no reason to leave.

"I don't think he took a hike. I think he was robotnapped," she said.

After getting a few laughs, police agreed the robot had been stolen.

Crime Stoppers coordinator Bob Belzung said the robot was returned Wednesday after a man called Belzung and opened the conversation with the line, "You're not going to believe this."

Kennedys' servant recalls tragic lives

NEW YORK (UPI) — Matrlarch Rose Kennedy spent hour after hour in her attic looking at mementos trying to remember "only the happy things" after the tragedies of losing her sons, the Kennedys' family's chauffeur said.

And as she grew inward, relying on her fervid Catholic faith and memories to sustain her, she also grew more separate from her chronically ill husband and was unable to communicate her grief or comfort him in his, the chauffeur said.

"The unspoken tragedy in that house was that Joseph Kennedy and Rose Kennedy, father and mother, husband and wife, could not share the burden of grief. They were unable to comfort each other. That was the Kennedy curse, and it marked the whole family," Frank Saunders writes in his soon-to-be-published book, "Torn Lace Curtain."

Saunders served as the Kennedys' family's personal chauffeur at their Hyannis Port and Palm Beach homes during the 1960s. Before working for the Kennedy family, Saunders ran a parking lot in Boston and also "ran numbers" on the side.

Saunders claims Rose Kennedy "stored her memories in her attic" in the Kennedy compound in Massachusetts and had a compulsion to make pilgrimages to there to find a former happier life that was not mired by tragedy after tragedy.

"The night nurses heard Mrs. Kennedy, up in the attic, pacing back and forth from one end of the house to the other. Some nights the pacing continued until early in the morning..."

"She's looking at the things that remind her of when she was young and when they were all together... She told me in the car. There were so many good times to remember. I do not want to think of the bad times," Saunders said.

One of the bad times, Saunders recounts was right after Ted Kennedy's car accident at Chappaquiddick, when "Joan (Kennedy) began drinking."

"Before Ted's accident I never saw Joan with a drink in her hand. I remember that because it was a rarity to see anyone around the Kennedys without a drink sooner or later... From then on that summer, I hardly ever saw her without a drink," he wrote.

Jacqueline Kennedy Saunders claims, hated the notoriety of being the president's wife and once asked Saunders to drive her "anyplace, just out, on a living in a fishbowl," she said. "But I'm inside and all the fish are outside. Oh, Frank, all those fishy eyes. I see them from upstairs. All those eyes just staring..."

The title of Saunders' book comes from an incident with Rose Kennedy in her attic.

After inventorying box after box of old pictures, clothes and what not, Rose Kennedy came upon some torn lace curtains.

"They must be from Beals Street," she said... "Beals Street, in Brookline. Where we lived when President Kennedy was born. Oh yes, I'd forgotten, completely forgotten. She stroked the curtain and began laughing."

"We WERE lace-curtain Irish..."

Turner's bear on the lam

JACKSONBORO, S.C. (UPI) — "Boo-Boo," Ted Turner's missing bruin, is arriving to be a good-news bear, the millionaire owner of the Atlanta Braves and Cable News Network said Friday.

"It's good to see a story like that make the news because it's not a bad story," said Turner, who keeps a menagerie of bears, a buffalo, geese, swans, ducks, a cougar, peacocks and wild turkeys on his 5,000-acre Hope plantation near Charleston.

"Everything that we've got here is indigenous to this part of the world," he explained. "Bears were here before they were all killed off, and so were cougars and bison."

Boo-Boo escaped Oct. 12 from the acre pen which she shares with her mate, Yogi. She has been spotted several times since, but has refused to be lured back into captivity with such goodies as canned peaches, molasses and honey buns.

"Everybody in the county is trying to help us find her," said Turner, who explained the bear's name is Boo-Boo, not Booby, as the folks around Jacksonboro call her. "I guess people just misunderstood, you know with the accent and all," Turner said.

Turner, who paid a visit to his plantation Friday, said he was confident Boo-Boo would be captured or find her own way home. The publicity the bear has received, and the fact that people now know she is a pet rather than a wild animal, he said, may save her from being shot, although the deer hunting season is in full swing in the area.

Turner said there was a possibility that Boo-Boo's wild instincts could surface again if she isn't found soon. "I really don't know what's going to happen," he said.

"We bought these two cubs (Boo-Boo and Yogi) together and they've grown up together and they're real cute. We go in (the pen) and play with them. We used to jump up on me when they were little, but they've calmed down a bit now."

Idaho prisons face problem of growth

By STEVEN CHRISTENSEN
United Press International

BOISE — A report predicting that inmate populations at the state prison and other institutions will nearly double over the next nine years was presented Friday to the Idaho Board of Corrections.

The report, presented to the board by department analyst Michael Reid, also said the number of convicts sent to prison in Idaho this year will rise by 14.5 percent compared to 1981.

By 1991, inmate populations could soar to 1,727, Reid said, compared to the 800 people currently housed at the Idaho State Penitentiary. In community release programs, and at the corrections facility at Cottonwood.

And, if the 1983 Legislature decides to tighten drunken-driving laws and expand the state's fixed-sentencing statutes, the projected figures could be substantially low, said Corrections Department Director Bill Crowl.

He also emphasized the projections deal only with average inmate numbers, and do not include peak populations.

The current rated capacity at the state prison south of Boise is 670, officials said. Even with completion of a new dormitory in 45 days, the capacity will be only 720 inmates, well below the number presently under incarceration.

"We're going to need another prison in five years if these figures are correct," Crowl told the board. "If they are not correct, we could need two more prisons by that time."

But he noted the Legislature, while eager to enact tougher crime laws, has been historically reluctant to appropriate funds to house inmates convicted under the new statutes.

Passage of stricter drunken-driving laws and tighter, fixed-sentencing statutes would flood the prison with new convicts, placing added pressure on bed space and other facilities, Crowl said.

"Fixed sentences are a very popular notion with legislatures right now because it's a 'get tough' policy," the Corrections director said. He noted Idaho currently has an optional fixed-sentencing law, but the 1983 session may decide to make the standard mandatory.

At present, only 84 inmates in the system are under fixed-sentences, Crowl said, and the average length of stay for all convicts is about 30 months.

New regional forester defends relaxing rules

BOISE (UPI) — The U.S. Forest Service's new intermountain regional forester says claims that his agency wants to pollute Idaho streams just aren't true.

"The Forest Service is seeking a relaxation of state water quality standard, but J.S. 'Stan' Tixler said in Boise Thursday that the goal isn't to degrade Idaho waterways.

He said the existing standards should stop all timber harvesting if they were strictly enforced.

At public hearings last month, the Forest Service's proposal to relax the standards drew fire from conservation and environmental groups as well as the Idaho Fish and Game Department, which said the agency's plan would lead to increased pollution from erosion and result in damage to fish life.

"It's really a bum rap, we feel," said Tixler, who's served as regional forester for southern Idaho, Utah, Nevada and Wyoming for three months.

"We're confident we're sensitive enough to water-quality needs to manage the resources, including timber harvesting, in a way that won't be damaging to water quality."

Leroy supports reactor plan

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — Idaho Lieutenant governor candidate David Leroy called Friday for stronger, more direct state support for the Idaho Falls Chamber of Commerce's efforts to bring a new nuclear reactor to the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory.

Leroy, the state's attorney general who is running against Democratic state Sen. Mike Mitchell for lieutenant governor, said state support is needed in the chamber's efforts to bring the government's planned new production reactor to the eastern Idaho nuclear site.

"As lieutenant governor, I would stand strongly and consistently in favor of future development of Idaho nuclear industry and advocate the selection of Idaho over Washington, Nevada and Georgia as the new production reactor site," he said.

"The next lieutenant governor of Idaho can be a coordinator and communicator centrally located at a high level in state government for the purpose of working with both local businessmen and the federal government."

Bell will ask for another rate increase

BOISE (UPI) — Mountain Bell Telephone Co. has notified the state Public Utilities Commission that it plans to seek a rate hike in mid-December, PUC officials said Friday.

The announcement came on the heels of the PUC's granting of a 3.32-percent, $4.24-million rate hike to the utility on Thursday. That "tracker" rate increase, which takes effect Nov. 1, passes on to ratepayers some rising 1982 expenses.

The increase will slightly hike all Mountain Bell services except for coin phones and competitive terminal equipment, officials said. It also will slightly raise the price-of-intrastate long-distance calls.

Any new rate hike to be sought later this year would be classified and considered differently from the "tracker" increase, PUC officials said.

They said another request would be classified as a general rate case and involve a full review of Mountain Bell's rate-of-return-and-earnings, rather than merely passing on costs to customers, PUC officials said.

The utility in March received another general rate increase of $7.20 million.

Mountain Bell did not specify in its notice to the PUC how much of a rate hike it would seek.

Filing notice of its plans to seek the rate increase is part of a PUC system that notifies commissioners of likely issues that will be raised in the case.

Coroner jury rules on rapist shooting

HORSESHOE BEND (UPI) — A coroner's jury ruled Friday that Horseshoe Bend Police Chief Larry Tibbets acted properly in fatally wounding prison escapee David Lee Thompson when the man known as Boise's "North End rapist" tried to flee from pursuing lawmen.

The four-man, two-woman panel listened to testimony on the Oct. 12 shooting of Thompson in a dry canal near Horseshoe Bend, then deliberated only 15 minutes in clearing the police chief of any wrongdoing.

Thompson, 24, was shot by Tibbets four days after he escaped from the Idaho State Penitentiary.

The police chief, taking the stand to lay out details surrounding the incident, said he was notified by a Boise Cascade Corp. worker that Thompson had been spotted near a construction project.

Tibbets and the worker, followed by Idaho State Police Cpl. Mark Klingler, drove to the site and spotted the escapee hiding in the canal bed, he said.

He said the men got out of their cars and each fired a shot at Thompson as the inmate ran down the ditch. Both shots missed.

The lawmen gave chase on foot, he said, and Klingler fired another errant shot. Tibbets said he then sprang Thompson standing in deep weeds, the escapee fired one shot, and the police chief returned the fire — hitting the man in the abdomen.

Thompson died later at a Boise hospital.

The inquest was conducted by Ada County Coroner Mike Johnson because the coroner in Boise County, Devota Tibbets, is the police chief's wife.

Thompson — who terrorized women living in Boise's North End during a rape spree in the late 1970s — escaped from the prison Oct. 8 by hiding in a delivery truck.

Two days later he confronted a startled Eagle couple at their home and stole a shotgun and car.

The following day a bear hunter in the mountains north of Boise reported seeing the inmate behind the steering wheel of a car parked on a remote dirt road.

Belk resigns; Deputy clerk will fill post

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

JEROME — Glenda Belk, the Jerome County clerk, resigned from office Friday morning, during a special meeting of the county commissioners.

Her chief deputy was appointed to serve the remainder of her term, until January.

Commission Chairman Mel Grindstaff called the 9 a.m. meeting after being informed by Belk of the outcome of a court hearing Thursday in Burley.

Belk, who will continue to seek re-election to the office on the Nov. 2 ballot, pleaded guilty Thursday to a misdemeanor charge of presenting a false statement, in connection with travel expenses.

The commissioners unanimously approved Grindstaff's recommendation that chief deputy clerk Alene McDonald be named temporary clerk. She has worked 18 years in the Jerome County Courthouse and 12 years in the clerk's office.

Grindstaff said that he did not even know her political affiliation, but he said he made the recommendation because she was the person best qualified to take over the office.

Commissioner Henry Schutte requested that William Dalling, the county prosecutor, be called to the meeting for advice on making the appointment.

But Grindstaff, the only Democrat on the commission, said that he already had discussed the appointment with the Democratic Central Committee chairman and several committee members, who said they would support his choice.

Legally, the appointment would go to a Democrat, since Belk is a Democrat, Dalling said. In which case, the prosecutor said, a central committee recommendation would be needed.

However, Dalling said that since the appointment is temporary because either Belk or her Republican opponent, Cheryl Watts, will take office in January — he agreed that informal approval, as received by Grindstaff, would be sufficient.

City's workers request dental insurance plan

By SUSAN GALLAGHER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Municipal employees in Twin Falls have voted to have the city provide them with dental insurance instead of supplemental cancer coverage.

The vote, taken last month, came as part of the city's revamping of its insurance program. With its 1983 budget already in final form, the city learned from its insurer early in September that the cost of employee health insurance would be $40,000 above the city's budgeted outlay of $234,500, according to City Manager Tom Courtney.

City officials, acting on the advice of an independent consultant from Boise, switched insurance companies to bring the costs in line with the city's budget. Along with that change, the city's 130 employees were polled to determine their preferences for coverage.

Employees voted about 5 to 1 in favor of dropping supplemental cancer coverage to obtain the dental insurance instead, according to Bryce King, the city's finance director. Supplemental cancer insurance still is available to employees if they pay for it themselves.

The city's overhauling of its insurance program hasn't been without controversy, however, according to Courtney. The city manager says a group of Twin Falls insurance agents wrote a letter of complaint about the city's decision to do business with the Boise insurance consultant. The city, the agents said, should have had its insurance handled locally.

"We do most of our business here in town," Courtney said this week. "Our liability and property insurance is handled through local agents."

But notification about the increased rates for health insurance came three weeks before the city's policy renewal date, Courtney said, making it necessary to study alternatives quickly. Putting the city's insurance coverage up for local bids would have required developing specifications and reviewing them with as many as 100 agents, Courtney said. That was impractical, given the city's deadlines, he said.

Gaibralth and Green Inc., the Boise firm that recently developed an insurance program for the Twin Falls School District, was asked to prepare the city's options and come up with an insurance plan similar to the Association of Idaho Cities package, but at a lower cost.

The insurance companies that receive the city's business pay Gaibralth and Green's brokerage fee, Courtney said.

County asks court to quash lawsuit

By MARTY C. TRILLHAASE
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — County officials have asked the Fifth District Court to summarily dismiss a lawsuit filed against them by Twin Falls County's sheriff's deputies.

A motion, filed on behalf of the Twin Falls County commissioners, asks the court to dismiss the lawsuit because it raises "no genuine issues of material fact, and the defendants are entitled to judgment as a matter of law."

The county also contends that the court is being asked to rule on a political question, not a judicial one, and that any court involvement would "be a very serious departure, indeed, from the principle of separation of powers (of governmental branches)."

The county's response does not address the deputies' claims that their department is underfunded. Instead, it suggests that the issue should be resolved by government leaders or the voters.

When lawyers will argue the motion was unknown Friday because a judge has not been assigned to hear it.

Thursday, Judge Theron Ward disqualified himself from the case and assigned it to his colleague, Judge Daniel Mechl. Mechl disqualified himself Friday.

Judge Douglas Kramer of Halley, the district's administrative judge, has the choice of hearing the case himself or assigning it to another district judge.

Court officials said Friday that they were unable to formally notify Kramer, who reportedly was out of town, and they said they would mail copies of the case file to him.

Twenty-five of the county's 29 sheriff's deputies filed suit last month in a dispute over pay. The deputies want the court to review the county commission's budget-making decisions and the funding of the sheriff's office. Deputies contend the office is underfunded, resulting in too few deputies and low pay.

The lawsuit focuses on two state laws that regulate a county's budget-making process.

The first essentially provides that the budget cannot be increased at the annual public hearing, which is held in early September. Deputies want the court to rule that the prohibition does not forbid county officials from redistributing budget funds as long as the overall total is not increased.

Deputies also want the court to determine whether the county commissioners can be required to provide additional funding for the sheriff's office. They cite a second state law that calls for the expenditure of funds to meet emergencies or for the "immediate preservation of order or public health."

In the motion, filed Wednesday with the court, the county's special counsel, Lloyd Webb, a Twin Falls attorney, argued that the commissioners acted within their discretion. As such, the deputies' request for the court to "second-guess" the county commissioners is not appropriate, he said.

"Unquestionably, the court will not want to engage in what is apparently a 'political controversy,' a question of policy and discretion, rather than a question of law," the brief stated. "This is a question much more appropriately addressed to the county officers themselves, or, if the plaintiffs are there unsuccessful, to the electorate."

Webb also discounted the deputies' efforts to win additional funding under the emergency law, saying courts can only pass judgment after a government has evoked the law.

"While it may be appropriate for a court to determine whether a determination of emergency was appropriately made to justify expenditures outside of the final budget, no law can be found for the proposition that a court can enter into the legislative arena and determine the inception of an emergency," Webb said in the brief.

DENTON DARRINGTON
Wants WPPSS disclosure

Darrington, Newcomb battle it out

District 26 candidates differ on investments

By RON ZEILAR
Times-News writer

BURLEY — A Cassia County farmer and a teacher who attended high school together are competitors for the District 26 Senate seat left vacant when Dean Van Engelen sought another office in the GOP primary.

Republican Denton Darrington, a history teacher who also operates a small farm near Declo, says that he and his Democratic opponent, Bruce Newcomb, played left and right end on the same high-school football team.

Both are 42.

At a joint campaign appearance in Burley last week, the two occasionally seemed to be trying out each other's positions. But they bumped heads on several proposals, notably on whether the state's public employee retirement fund should be invested solely in Idaho.

Newcomb, a farmer and rancher, says that improving the Idaho economy should be the first concern of the 1983 Legislature.

He says the state's $500-million public retirement fund, which derives contributions from the state and its employees, should be "invested in Idaho. An independent board now invests the fund without restrictions."

Last year, the fund had a return on investment of only 3 percent, he says, and could have done better if it had invested with companies in the state.

Newcomb also says that he supports passage of the industrial-revenue bond initiative. He says the measure is needed to attract new employers to the state.

If the Legislature finds that the state needs additional revenue, he says it should look to expanding the sales tax before adding to income or property taxes.

Rising costs for electricity have been devastating to the state's farmers and small businessmen, Newcomb says. He advocates passage of a constitutional amendment, if necessary, to require new, large users of electricity to pay a larger share of the costs of new power plants.

The state Public Utilities Commission, adopted such a split rate last year for new industrial loads on the Idaho Power Co. system. But the PUC order does not apply to public utilities.

Newcomb earned a college degree in psychology, with minors in three subjects: economics, philosophy and sociology.

Darrington holds a college degree in agriculture and a teaching certificate in history.

Blue Lakes Showkase closure a surprise, but all isn't lost

By STEVE LIPSON
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The closing of the Blue Lakes Showkase store, apparently surprised everyone involved with the business.

But perhaps the biggest surprise of all is that all parties seem to be optimistic there will be a happy ending.

Jack Yasaitis, who sold the furniture and appliance business to another company, and then watched that company close it less than two months later, probably will open a new business with a new partner in a new location.

Yasaitis continued to work at the store after its sale.

And the company that bought the business from Yasaitis, which says it took a six-figure "bath" on the deal, hopes to reopen the store, perhaps in a new location as well.

As the dust settles during the next few weeks, customers who purchased items at the store and had not gotten their merchandise before the store closed should be able to get their purchases, say several people connected with the business.

Meanwhile, today is the final scheduled day for customers to take part of the merchandise from the store. The sale is being held at Ford Transfer and Storage Co., 217 Wall St. in Twin Falls.

The closure itself occurred a little more than a week ago. Yasaitis said that he had about an hour's notice before the first merchandise was removed from the store.

"We were totally off guard," he says.

Yasaitis had sold the corporation to Hulsh Distributing Co. in Salt Lake City about six weeks earlier.

"We sold it at a very nominal fee. No profit was made on the sale," he says.

The store's sales were down about 20 percent, compared with last year, Yasaitis says.

"We started feeling the crunch back in April. We had dropped behind every month since April."

He would not say if the business was making a profit this year.

Yasaitis bought the business almost eight years ago. It was nearly four years then that he moved out of his hometown location and into the Blue Lakes Shopping Center.

Last year was his best year for sales.

"We were six times bigger than when we bought the corporation eight years ago," he says.

That was part of the reason Hulsh Distributing purchased the business in August.

"It was in serious financial condition at that point," said Ivan Lines, a spokesman for the company. Hulsh was a supplier of merchandise that the store sold.

"They did a super job for us," Lines said. "We felt it was worth making a stab at keeping it alive."

But shortly after the purchase was complete, "things started to come out of the woodwork," Lines says. "Hulsh Distributing has taken a bath on this thing. We were more surprised than anybody about the problems."

The only way to make a profit on the more than $100,000 the company has invested in the store would be to reopen the business and take the "awfully long road" toward rebuilding it, so it can make a profit, Lines says.

Along with plans now in progress to find a new location for reopening the business, efforts also are being made to get merchandise to the 15 to 20 customers who had not picked up their purchases.

"We are looking — at some alternatives. Hopefully, these people can be taken care of," Lines says.

Part of his problem is that not all the merchandise that was in the store belonged to the Showkase. Some was owned by companies that helped finance stocking of the store. One of those companies was the first to take its merchandise, he says.

Other distributors, including Hulsh, then took possession of their merchandise in a "domino effect" that emptied the store by the end of the next day, he says.

Two of the distributors are holding the liquidation sale to sell some of the merchandise they formerly had in the Showkase.

Ron McMillan, a vice president for Oscar E. Chytrous Co., said the merchandise being sold has been checked to ensure that anything that was in the store for repair or that had been sold was set aside.

Chytrous supplied television sets to the store.

"We are further trying to do everything to help the dealer (Yasaitis) open up under another name with additional backing. He was a good dealer of ours," McMillan says.

Burglars take food and drink

TWIN FALLS — Burglars in Twin Falls this week showed a preference for food and drink.

According to Twin Falls police, the Head Start building and a residence were both entered sometime Wednesday evening or Thursday morning, and a beer truck was entered early Thursday.

Head Start officials said that someone broke into the building, at 296 Falls Ave. W., after 6 p.m. Wednesday. After entering, the intruder apparently attempted to break into the office but failed. So instead, he entered the kitchen area, taking about $81 worth of bread, cheese, milk, ice cream and tuna fish.

At the home of Evelyn Putzler, of 466 Ridgeway Drive, thieves broke into a freezer, taking steaks, roasts, chickens and other meat items, valued at $250.

Thursday morning, police were called when two juveniles were seen leaving a Coors beer truck, which was parked at the 7-11 store, at Filer Avenue and Washington Street.

Officers said two cases of beer were taken but were recovered from a hiding place behind the Tiki Club, off Falls Avenue, after the two youths later were apprehended.

Supreme Court to meet here

TWIN FALLS — Convicted murderer Thomas Eugene Creech's appeal of his death sentence will be heard by the Idaho Supreme Court in Twin Falls next month.

The five-member court, which holds sessions in Twin Falls twice each year, announced Thursday that it would hear the Creech case on Nov. 9.

Creech was sentenced to die for the Ada County murder of Dale Jensen. Both men were inmates in the state penitentiary's maximum-security unit at the time.

Creech pleaded guilty to first-degree murder in the case.

Under Idaho law, any death sentence is subject to an automatic appeal by the Supreme Court. Creech is being held in the Ada County Jail pending his appeal.

Creech's appeal raises procedural and constitutional questions. He alleges that the trial court erred in imposing the death penalty because Idaho's capital-punishment law is unconstitutional.

The hearing will begin at 2 p.m. in the Twin Falls County Judicial Building.

The court also will hear arguments in several other cases during its week-long session in Twin Falls.

Drug dealer wins probation

TWIN FALLS — An 18-year-old Twin Falls man, whose attempts to evade arrest for drug-dealing led to a high-speed chase this spring, won a two-year probation Friday.

Judge Theron Ward, of the Fifth District Court, placed David William Kosen on probation, in lieu of a suspended five-year prison sentence. In making that decision, Ward said he was impressed with the defendant's efforts to change the direction of his life, which have included attending college classes and changing his friends.

Probation was recommended by both the defense and the prosecution.

Kosen pleaded guilty on July 30 to selling marijuana to undercover narcotics agents. The charge stemmed from a May 13 sale.

Following the transaction, police arrived at Kosen's former residence, armed with a search warrant.

But Kosen escaped in a car, forcing police to pursue him until the defendant wrecked his car near Washington Street North and County Road 4200 north. Kosen was hospitalized and subsequently arrested at the hospital.

No charges stemming from the chase were filed against Kosen.

Three injured in 2-car wreck

TWIN FALLS — Three persons suffered minor injuries in an accident Thursday in Twin Falls.

According to Twin Falls police, a vehicle driven by Ruth Ann Johnson, 26, of Jerome, collided with one driven by Peggy J. Hackworth, 43, of Twin Falls. The accident occurred when Johnson allegedly drove into the path of Hackworth at Blake Street and Heyburn Avenue, at 8:33 a.m. She has been cited for inattentive driving.

Johnson was traveling north on Blake Street, and Hackworth was eastbound on Heyburn Avenue.

Hackworth and her passenger, Sandy Hackworth, 23, of Twin Falls, and a passenger in the Johnson car, Tammy Johnson, 9, were all treated for cuts and bruises, and released.

Officer slugged, two arrested

TWIN FALLS — Two Castleford men were arrested, one for striking a Twin Falls police officer, Thursday night in Twin Falls.

According to Twin Falls police, Danny D. Reynolds, 28, has been charged with battery of a police officer, and Michael Reynolds, 25, has been charged with disorderly conduct.

About 11:20 p.m., police were called to a fight at the Windbreak lounge parking lot, off Kimberly Road. Officer Ronald Axtman said Michael Reynolds was fighting with another man, and when another policeman seized Reynolds, Danny Reynolds allegedly struck Axtman in the mouth.

Local man held for cheating

TWIN FALLS — John Savage, 40, of Twin Falls, was arrested Friday by Twin Falls sheriff's deputies on a charge of cheating at gambling. He will appear in an Elko County court on Nov. 12.

Chief Deputy Harold Jensen said Savage was arrested in Kimberly, on a governor's warrant out of Nevada.

He is a former employee of Cactus Pete's casino in Jackpot.

Several other Cactus Pete's employees were arrested last month after an investigation by the Nevada gaming board, and they have been charged with cheating. Their preliminary hearings are scheduled for this Tuesday in Elko.

Savage was released later in the day on $2,500 bond, set by magistrate Judge Charles Brumbach. He appeared with his attorney and agreed to be in Nevada for the scheduled court appearance on Nov. 12.

Hailey sets candidate forum

HAILEY — Blaine County residents can participate in a candidates forum Monday night in Hailey.

About 16 candidates for state, legislative and judicial offices are expected to attend the meeting. It will begin at 7 p.m. in the district courtroom of the Blaine County Judicial Annex.

Candidates will give three-minute statements and then accept questions from the audience.

Also slated to appear will be several candidates for Blaine County offices, including a county commission seat and county clerk.

Car backs over, kills child

WENDELL — A 2-year-old Wendell child died Friday afternoon of massive injuries suffered when a vehicle backed over him Thursday near his home.

Gooding County Sheriff Robert Aja said Stewart Boyer, the son of Lynetta Lehman of Wendell, was injured when Novella Crandall, 20, of Wendell, was backing from a driveway at a home southwest of Wendell.

Crandall told officers that she thought she felt the car pass over something. When she stopped and investigated, she discovered the injured child under the vehicle.

She ran to get the child's mother, and the two placed him in the car and drove into Wendell.

Aja said Mike Tambini, the Wendell police chief, called an ambulance, and the child was taken to St. Benedict's Hospital in Jerome. From there, he was transferred to Magic Valley Regional Medical Center in Twin Falls. He died there about 3:25 p.m. Friday.

The child suffered head, chest and spine injuries, according to reports.

Aja said no charges have been filed. The boy apparently was playing behind the car, and Crandall could not see him when she got in the car, the sheriff said.

Inmate to face charge for using alias to obtain prescription drugs

TWIN FALLS — Prosecutors have won their fight to prosecute a state penitentiary inmate who used an alias when he obtained a prescription drug.

Judge Theron Ward, of the Fifth District Court, on Thursday reversed Magistrate Court Judge Michael Redman's Aug. 12 decision to dismiss the case against 34-year-old Michael James Fields.

Four misdemeanor counts filed against Fields alleged that he gave doctors and druggists a false name, Elmer Theodore Brown IV, when he obtained prescriptions for pain-killers and tranquilizers on April 1 and April 23.

Defense lawyer Mike Walz argued that Fields had committed no crime because he did not rely on the alias in order to obtain the drugs. Instead, Fields was wanted for a parole violation and had been using the alias in all of his affairs, Walz said.

Redman agreed. But deputy prosecutor Dennis Voorhees appealed the decision to the district court, arguing that state law requires persons to give truthful information for prescriptions. The law was designed to protect the integrity of the state's record of narcotic sales and usage, he said.

In his written opinion, Ward concluded that "it becomes apparent that the statute is designed to eliminate the illegal use of legal drugs by promoting accurate record-keeping of use and distribution of those drugs."

Ward ordered the case sent back to magistrate court.

Region IV board meets

Grant review improvements urged

TWIN FALLS — The Region IV Development Association went on record Thursday as recommending improvements in the system that is used to review proposed federal grant projects.

The recommendations resulted from the Reagan administration's plan to phase out the so-called A-95 review process by April 30. Under that process, the Region IV board of directors, which represents local governments and agencies within the eight-county Magic Valley region — issues comments on proposed projects that are seeking federal aid.

In its place, the state Division of Financial Management is attempting to incorporate the review process within the state government's structure. The board's recommendations were sought by the state agency, according to Stan Ferlic, the executive director of Region IV.

Among the board's recommendations were:

• An assurance that the board's opinions will be considered.

• The Region IV board feels the A-95 system, as in-place today, has little or no impact at the decision-making level, the board's statement reads.

"If this assurance cannot be given, or concerns responded to, the review will be an unnecessary effort on our part."

• A requirement that applicants provide more information about proposed projects and provide board members with more time to review the projects.

"Many projects received for review arrive during the week of a review meeting with a due date 30 days hence," the report reads. "A 45-day review period would afford... a two-week time to follow up on issues raised with the reviewing committee."

• A requirement that recipients of grant funds provide the board with updates.

"In order to keep in touch with program successes or failures, a progress report six months after the start of the program would be beneficial."

The board also recommends that the state maintain the six regional reviewing agencies.

In other matters, the board voted to recommend approval of a $152,055 grant to the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare for a state immunization program. The state will contribute another $55,159 for the project.

Judge George Gramata of the Fifth District Court for her arraignment, at which time five bribery charges, all felonies, were dismissed. In pre-arraignment plea bargaining, her guilty plea to the misdemeanor charge was accepted with a stipulation that included her agreement to leave office for the remainder of her present term.

With the felony charges dropped,

Belk is free to seek election to the position she is leaving.

Belk asked the commissioners Friday morning to immediately accept her verbal resignation as of 3 p.m.

"Everything is in good shape. We are ready for the election, which has been my main concern," she told the commission.

Belk said that she would be able to wind up all business matters by the end of the day, but she noted that she had scheduled a training session on Wednesday for election workers and her staff.

"I will leave it up to you gentlemen if you want me to participate. I would like your decision in writing."

Belk said that her only input in the training session would be to explain changes in the county's computerized election system.

But Schutte said, "I don't think you should be here after 5 p.m. tonight."

The commissioners then decided to let McDonald decide if Belk is needed in the training session, and if experienced former employees of the clerk's office should be hired to assist with the election.

District 21

A Deco native whose grandfather homesteaded in the valley, Darrington says that he believes the Legislature should take a larger role in forcing disclosure of the finances of the Washington Public Power Supply System.

Idaho residents, he says, should not have to pay for cost overruns that occurred on WPPSS projects without any opportunity for review by utility boards or the PUC.

Utilities in Idaho also should be encouraged to become more energy self-sufficient, he says.

Darrington favors the development of hydroelectric sites within the region, including the proposed Eagle Rock dam, and promoting the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory site for a nuclear breeder-reactor project that could also generate electricity.

Money from the public employee retirement fund should be invested in Idaho whenever possible, Darrington says. But he believes the managers of the fund should retain the discretion to seek the top return for the fund through broad investment.

He advocates enactment of a temporary 1-cent rise in the sales tax if new revenue is required.

Darrington says that he supports tougher penalties for drunken-driving offenses and for child abuse, especially in cases of sexual abuse.

He favors right-to-work legislation. The filing this spring of articles of incorporation by farm workers in the Treasure Valley brings home the need for such legislation, he says.

Two veteran lawmakers are unopposed for the House seats in District 26.

J. Vard Chaburn, R-Albion, is seeking his 14th term. Chaburn, a rancher, is chairman of the House

Resources and Conservation Committee and a member of the State Affairs Committee.

Ernest Hale, R-Burley, is seeking his seventh term. Hale, a stone-quarry operator, is chairman of the House Printing and Legislative Expense Committee and a member of the Education Committee and the Transportation and Defense Committee.

Courtney named boss of the year

TWIN FALLS — Tom Courtney, the Twin Falls city manager, has been named Executive of the Year by the Twin-Ida chapter of Professional Secretaries International.

Courtney's selection was announced Thursday at a Twin Falls breakfast that PSI members held in honor of their bosses.

An essay that Jody Hall, Courtney's secretary, wrote about the city manager contributed to his selection as the award winner. In her essay, Hall described Courtney as a hard worker who is concerned about the well-being of the city's employees.

Toil and sacrifice went into Heyburn church

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News correspondent

HEYBURN — More than concrete, wood and paint went into the construction of the new Seventh-day Adventist Church in Heyburn.

Sacrifice, dedication and prayers also were the foundation on which the new church was built.

An open house will be held at the church the weekend of Nov. 13-14, according to Pastor Shaun Dresen, a soft-spoken sincere young man who looks more like a college student than a cleric.

He had been in the area conducting services at the older church in Rupert for about a year, when the church's 50 members began wishing for a new place of worship, Dresen recalls.

"Show us the way toward a new church," was the prayer of the church members for three months after, he says. Then, California developer Harlen Jensen, a friend of one of the members, donated an acre of land in Heyburn for the building, Dresen says.

"If we didn't have him, we couldn't do it," Dresen says. The help continued to arrive. A Rupert company donated its surveying services to the effort. And the city and community also were supportive.

Further assistance came from the national Seventh-day Adventist Maranatha organization, which consists of church members who donate their time and labor to the building of new churches and church schools across the country, Dresen says.

"They build up the Lord's work in a physical way," he says.

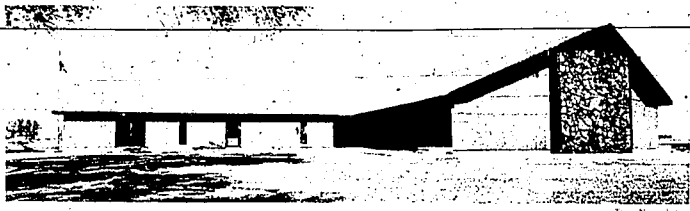

Still, there was the material to purchase, so the small congregation raised $20,000. When asked if they used fund-raisers, like bake sales, Dresen just shook his head and smiled.

"No, it was just sacrifice, no gimmicks: The money came out of our banks and out of our pockets."

The Idaho Seventh-day Adventist Conference in Boise donated more money for the cause. Also, $30,000 was borrowed at a low interest rate from a national church agency.

Funds also were sent from church members around the country who had heard of the Heyburn church building, Dresen says.

Materials were bought locally, at a discount, and work began in July. Church members had laid the concrete foundation, then 30 persons from the Maranatha group arrived and installed windows, hung sheet rock and raised the roof, Dresen says.

Volunteers from across the nation built the new Seventh-day Adventist Church in Heyburn.

"These people helped save us $75,000 to $100,000."

A tent was set up near the building site for meals and prayer. Two meals were provided for the workers each day by the women of the church, Dresen says. The building was 80 percent complete when the Maranatha group left two weeks later.

A short time after that, another church group arrived. This group was made up of 20 young people from California.

"They hung light fixtures and did a tremendous amount of clean-up. They hung doors and blew insulation into the ceiling and even gathered lava rock for the rock face of the church," Dresen says.

After the departure of the California group, the local members were left to finish up. The building was completed in three months. Valued at $300,000, the church was built for $100,000, Dresen says.

The grand opening will be held from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 13. At 2 p.m., singing groups and bell-ringers from the Gem State Academy in Caldwell will perform. The open house will continue on Sunday, Nov. 14, from 4 to 8 p.m. There will be tours of the facility and refreshments.

The finished product is about 6,300 square feet and contains a 200-seat sanctuary, classrooms and a cultural hall with a kitchen.

Participants will be able to share their feelings with other single parents, including those who don't have custody of their children. There is no charge to attend.

A continuing single-parent sharing group also is scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 26, in Room 139 of the Vo-Tech building. There will be eight weekly sessions. An $18 fee will be charged.

For more information, call Rita Larom, the center's director, at 733-9554, extension 212.

Dinner aids children's hospital

JACKPOT — The grand-champion beef of this year's Twin Falls County Fair will be the main course of a dinner on Tuesday, Oct. 26, to raise funds for the Shriners' Crippled Children's Hospital in Salt Lake City.

The $6.50-per-person dinner will be held in the Trophy Room at Barton's Club 93 in Jackpot. No reservations are necessary.

The casino will assist persons who want to attend the dinner by providing buses from both Buhl and Twin Falls. The Buhl bus will leave for the casino from the Idaho First National Bank parking lot at 6:30 p.m. At the same time, a bus will leave from the Sears parking lot in Twin Falls.

Treasury bond options trading

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Board Options Exchange Friday inaugurated trading of interest rate options with the start of trading of options on U.S. Treasury bonds.

Trading of options was begun on the 14 percent Treasury bond expiring November 2011.

"Options on U.S. Treasury bonds are a valuable tool to all investors affected by interest rate fluctuations," said CBOE Chairman Walter E. Auer.

CBOE will trade options on U.S. Treasury bonds with a maturity of more than 10 years at the time of original issuance.

Denver mint starts rolling out zinc pennies

DENVER (UPI) — The last of the copper pennies has rolled off the presses at the Denver Mint.

Superintendent Nora Walsh Hussey said Denver used up its backlog of copper Thursday morning and immediately switched to producing the new copper-coated zinc pennies in the afternoon.

Denver had a backlog of copper to use up before production of the new pennies could begin. The zinc pennies already are being produced at the San Francisco and Philadelphia Mints and the U.S. Treasury office in West Point, N.Y., she said.

Pennies make up 70 to 75 percent of coin production at the Denver Mint and they will continue to be turned out at a rate of 20 million a day.

"I doubt if you could tell one of the new coins from the old after the new one has been in circulation a few days," said Ms. Hussey. "When the new coin is just finished, it may have a slightly more golden look."

The change was announced in Washington a few months ago. Treasury officials have estimated the change of metals can save the government $25 million a year.

"The percentage of the two metals in the penny has been just reversed," Ms. Hussey explained. "It now is 97.5 percent zinc and 2.5 percent copper."

Trus Joist sees better times ahead

BOISE (UPI) — Trus Joist Corp. officials say prospects for building and related industries have improved in recent weeks despite sharply reduced profits for the firm this quarter.

Chairman Harold Thomas and President Walter Minnick said interest rates have hurt sales because builders and developers have postponed many construction projects while they wait for even lower interest rates.

But they said by spring, lower rates should trigger a solid, although gradual, rebound in construction. "If rates were even to stabilize at current levels, they would provide the basis for a substantial increase in construction," Minnick said.

The Boise-based manufacturer of building materials reported quarterly profits of $1.4 million, or 36 cents per share, down 47 percent from $2.5 million, or 66 cents per share, in the third quarter last year.

Sales were $17.4 million, down 26 percent from $23.5 million last year. Meanwhile, he said, Trus Joist has decided to begin building a $6.4-million manufacturing plant to produce residential products at Valdosta, Ga., beginning next summer.

The plant, which originally was scheduled to begin production early next year, has been delayed because of the recession.

Another Trus Joist plant at Stayton, Ore., has been placed on hold indefinitely, Minnick said. He said the company would repay $7.4 million in line bonds that were sold in 1980 to finance that plant.

ATT seeks to drop rate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American Telephone & Telegraph Co. Friday asked federal permission to drop its customer-dial-rates-for-calls-placed between the United States and the Soviet Union.

In a filing with the Federal Communications Commission, the company said the change was necessary to cover the increased cost of handling only operator-assisted calls.

The Soviet Union stopped accepting customer-dialled calls Sept. 2. Since then, the lower dial rate has still been in effect as applied to most calls to the Soviet Union even though the operators are placing them.

AT&T wants the new rates to go into effect Nov. 5. If they are approved, U.S. customers calling the Soviet Union would be billed at the current rate plus a fractional increase for the first three minutes of a call. Rates for each minute beyond the initial period would increase $1.

The current rate for a three-minute operator-handled station-to-station call is $7.05; a three-minute person-to-person call is $12.60.

Numbers up for feeders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department reported a 7 percent increase over the last year in the number of cattle in feedlots in 13 states.

As of Oct. 1, the 13 states that report quarterly had 6.8 million head of cattle and calves on feed for the slaughter market, 7 percent more than last year, but 2 percent below 1980.

The cattle on feed inventory included 5.6 million steers and steer calves, which represents a fractional increase from last year but is down 9 percent from the same period of 1980.

Crop Reporting Board also said cattle on feed in seven states that make monthly reports totaled 7.15 million, which is an 8 percent increase from last year, but a 1 percent decrease from 1980.

The seven states reporting monthly are Arizona, California, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, and Texas. The 13 quarterly reporting states also include Idaho, Illinois, Minnesota, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Washington.

Banks post rates

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Home Loan Banks today announced the following rates for consolidated discount notes:

30-94 days, 5.50 percent; 95-190 days, 7.50 percent; 191-225 days, 8.35 percent; 226-360 days, 7.75 percent.

The six primary dealers for the notes are Discount Corp. of New York, First Boston Corp., Aubrey G. Lanston & Co., Wm. E. Pollack & Co., Bank of America and Goldman Sachs & Co.

THE ACES®

BOBBY WOLFF

"Some people will believe anything if it is whispered to them." — Pierre de Marivaux.

Today's game depends entirely upon how declarer handles the club suit. If he shouts his holding, West is bound to hear; if he whispers, West may well believe.

Declarer wins the first heart with his king. East discouraging with the deuce to suggest nothing of value in the heart suit. Can declarer afford to relinquish the lead?

If he does, the defenders may well find their five defensive winners in spades and diamonds, so the best chance lies with taking six club winners on the run.

Unfortunately, this job is not as simple as it might appear. If declarer plays for a 2-2 split, it will do no good. After the queen falls, his own club honor will block dummy's clubs and by this time, the defenders will know where their tricks are.

If declarer's club ace can drop a singleton queen in either hand, the suit will run, but what about the other 3-1 breaks?

The best hope lies with finding West with the club queen and to try a club ruff in dummy. But instead of shouting with his jack, declarer should whisper with his 10 (a cover by West would prove fatal).

After the club 10 wins, the

Bruins fold, Borah prevails, 19-17

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

BOISE — And the jinx goes on. The Twin Falls Bruins, taking advantage of a couple of breaks and a strong defense, mustered a 17-0 lead over the Borah Lions after three quarters. There were those who hoped to date that maybe the 21-year history of never beating the Lions had finally come to an end.

But it wasn't to be. The Lions scored 19 points in a 4:02 span of the fourth quarter and defeated Twin Falls 19-17.

Of the 21 straight defeats, this one had to be the hardest to swallow. The Bruins dominated in the first half, but began self-destructing immediately in the third quarter. The Twin Falls offense managed just one more first down before Borah had tucked the game away. It managed two after that in a last-minute desperation try to get in field-goal position, but that drive ended near midfield. To put it bluntly, I thought we choked," Bruin Coach Bill Jones said. "We were 17 points ahead going into the last quarter, and I think there were only eight minutes left when they scored the first time. But you have to give Borah credit. They came back."

The comeback was largely built on quarterback Scott Buratto's two long bombs, one for 45 yards to Scott Fitzgerald and another of 65 yards to Vern Mace with 3:59 remaining in the game.

"We knew coming in that we had to double-cover Fitzgerald," Jones said. "They picked that up and sent 20 (Mace) over the middle for the winning touchdown."

Everyone from Twin Falls could see the first cracks in the Bruins' effort coming when they opened the fourth quarter by twice drawing illegal-motion penalties.

The Bruins had a golden chance to ice it midway through the third quarter when Greg Snow pounced on a muffed punt at the Borah 28. Quarterback Mike Rice hit Bob Burwell for 13 yards and a first down to the 17, and the next two plays set up third-and-one.

But Rice was hit for a three-yard loss, and on fourth down, Brent Standing kicked a 27-yard field goal.

Borah rolled 72 yards with the ensuing kickoff, beating a fourth-and-seven at the Twin Falls 16 on a pass to Fitzgerald. He was hit short of the first-down stake, but squirmed and fell a half-yard to the good.

Three plays later Kyle Dana swept 7 yards for Borah's first TD with 8:57 left in the game. John Jones kicked the conversion.

Twin Falls had to punt four plays later. Borah, taking over on its 42, sent Dana for 13 yards on the sweep that plagued Twin Falls all night. On the next play Buratto hooked up with Fitzgerald, who made an excellent over-the-head catch and romped in. The conversion kick was short, giving Twin Falls a four-point lead, 17-13, with 6:59 to play.

At that point the pressure was totally on Twin Falls' offense, but it couldn't answer, although Corky Federico got six yards on the first play. Rice boomed a 70-yard punt — with the wind — into the end zone, and the Lions had 4:20 left to cover 80 yards.

They did it in 21 seconds.

The first was the familiar sweep by Ty Ogata for 15 yards and then the coup de grace from Buratto to Mace. Again the point-after kick was short.

Twin Falls fumbled three plays after the kickoff and didn't get the ball back again until 1:57 remained, with 81 yards to cover.

The game opened like approximately 20 of the past ones — with turnovers. But the switch this time was Borah was giving up the ball and Twin Falls was taking advantage of the gifts.

Borah received the opening kickoff and tried a pass on the first play, but Bruin Steve Benkula had no trouble intercepting the overthrown ball to set the Bruins up on the Borah 40.

Rice, keeping on the option, handled most of the yardage and threw an 18-yard first-down strike to Standing to the Borah 18.

Rice hit for 16 yards on the next two carries and Virgil Hurl plunged in from the 20. Standing added the conversion and with 4:48 gone in the game the Bruins held a 7-0 lead.

On the first play after the ensuing kickoff, Borah fumbled and Curtis Gambrel recovered at the Lions' 43.

After one first down, Federico slashed up the middle on consecutive gains of 21 and eight yards to put the ball on the one. Rice sneaked over from there and Standing added the kick.

Valley 'gun' misfires, Kimberly claims title

By CHRIS HART
Times-News writer

KIMBERLY — Valley High had the shotgun pointed at the Kimberly Bulldogs' heads Friday night, ready to do them in.

Unfortunately for the Vikings, the weapon backfired.

Threatening to score the winning touchdown with less than a minute left to play, Valley lost its chance when the center's snap from the "shotgun" formation — with quarterback Gary Taylor standing approximately eight yards behind the line of scrimmage — sailed far over Taylor's head.

Kimberly's ubiquitous Tim Cordier chased the ball down and fell on it, preserving the Bulldogs' 12-9 victory that gave them the Canyon Conference title.

The triumph was the Bulldogs' sixth in a row. It kept their league record perfect at 5-0 and improved their overall mark to 7-1, Valley, which drops to 5-3 and 4-2, has no chance at making the state playoffs, due to Decia's 28-15 triumph over Gooding Friday night which put the Hornets in second place and gave them the conference's runners-up post-season berth.

Kimberly scored the winning points with 5:19 left in the game, when Troy Jackson burst into the end zone from the 1-yard line. The decision remained in doubt, however, until Valley's shotgun drew a blank.

Taking possession at their own 29 with 1:30 left, the Vikings moved to Kimberly's 25 on Taylor's passes of 31 yards to Marlin Mussmann and 12 yards to Art Henry. Taylor underthrew his pass to Mussmann, but the flanker alertly cut in front of Kimberly defensive back Eric Wanman to make the catch.

After Henry's reception, just 45 seconds remained. Valley called time out, then went into the shotgun formation.

Taylor stretched his 6-1 frame skyward but had no chance to gather the snap. Given this opportunity, the enterprising Cordier hurried from his linebacker position. He smothered the ball at the Kimberly 39, extinguishing Valley's flickering hopes immediately.

Valley Coach Forrest Fonesbeck was visibly upset after the game ended, but managed to explain why the Vikings tried the shotgun.

"The game situation dictated it. We've practiced that all year. At that time, it was the right formation to be in, because you have more receivers to look at," he said. "But kids get excited, and those things happen."

Kimberly Coach Gordon Hogan clearly understood Fonesbeck's strategy.

"He knew we were going to 'stunt.' I'm sure, so he went to the shotgun-to-take that away," Hogan said.

It was an extremely well-played game, Valley's final — mistake notwithstanding. Kimberly displayed its excellence immediately, driving 60 yards in 11 plays after the opening kickoff to score on Cordier's 2-yard run with 6:28 left in the first quarter. Twice during that drive, the Bulldogs kept moving by gaining first downs on fourth-down plays.

Early in the second period, Valley took control at its own 28 and moved the rest of the way to score. Like Kimberly, the Vikings waited until their chances were nearly exhausted, twice gaining first downs on third down and twice more on fourth down.

The most consequential of these conversions was Craig Black's 40-yard sweep around right end on fourth-and-four from Kimberly's 19. Two plays later, Taylor faked a handoff then chugged through the right side to reach the end zone untouched from 8 yards out, capping the 72-yard, 16-play surge with 3:30 to go in the half.

Valley then took an 8-6 lead on the conversion attempt, as Taylor lofted a pass neatly over two Bulldog defenders and into Mussmann's hands.

See BULLDOGS on Page D2

Kimberly Coach Gordon Hogan had reasons to hide his head Friday night, but not early in the 3rd quarter, when Bulldog defensive back Eric Wanman intercepted this Viking pass from quarterback Gary Taylor intended for Dwight Barick.

State to rule against proposed team

By MARV CLEMONS
Times-News sports editor

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho Parks and Recreation Department is going to rule that a proposed professional baseball team may not use Frontier Field in Twin Falls as its home park.

Rueel Smith, a parks and recreation planner with the state department, said Friday that a letter will be mailed to Twin Falls "around the middle of next week" to inform city officials of the department's decision.

"In the first paragraph we will tell them that we are opposed to a professional team using Frontier Field, and then we will spell out the reasons why and document the information," Smith said.

Smith, at the request of Twin Falls recreation director Chad Browning, spent much of this week researching federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation policies regarding the use of the park, which was developed with federal money, by a professional team.

Smith said his findings are that a federally assisted property, such as Frontier Field, must be operated and maintained for use by Twin Falls residents for individual participation in outdoor recreation.

The intent of the federal funds "was to provide outdoor recreation facilities to encourage residents to get involved in outdoor recreation," Smith said. "The policies don't specifically address professional sports, but the guidelines do say the program is not in the business of building spectator facilities."

Frontier Field was developed by the city in the late 1970s with the help of federal matching funds.

A group of undisclosed Twin Falls businessmen are investigating the possibility of owning a franchise in a proposed Class A minor-league circuit, which Dennis Job of West Valley City, Utah, is trying to develop. If Job is successful, the league would have teams in Boise, Twin Falls and Pocatello, as well as Ogden, Provo and Tooele in Utah.

College of Southern Idaho baseball Coach Jim Walker says the potential Twin Falls owners want to use Frontier Field as the team's home park for a tentative 126-game (63 home games) season, starting in early or mid-April 1983.

The potential owners have not made a proposal to City Council to use the diamond. But they did discuss the possible use of Frontier Field with Browning and City Manager Tom Courtney in an Oct. 6 meeting.

Courtney has provided City Council with a memorandum that addresses some of the problems with a professional team using the facility, including the cost of capital improvements, maintenance of the facility, scheduling of other baseball teams that use the field and parking.

The forthcoming letter, Smith said, will be signed by Date Christensen, the director of the Parks and Recreation Department. Christensen has been out of town and will return to work Monday.

"Dale will be informed of the decision the staff has made, and he'll have to approve it," Smith said.

Smith said he reached his decision by consulting the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation handbook and other sources, as well as consulting Glen Baker, a grants-project officer with the National Park Service regional office in Seattle.

"Glen reminded me that the intent was to emphasize individual outdoor recreation," Smith said.

Smith said another consideration was the use of a public facility — Frontier Field — by a commercial venture — the proposed team.

A part of the problem of using Frontier Field's diamond for a professional team involves the use of the diamond by other Twin Falls teams.

Smith said the Parks and Recreation Department feels the use of the diamond by a pro team would prevent other Twin Falls teams from using it on a regular basis.

The CSI team uses the diamond almost daily from early spring until the middle of May. The diamond also is used by the Twin Falls High School team on a sporadic basis during the same months.

During the summer months, the diamond is utilized by the Twin Falls American Legion team, about 45 to 50 times for practice and games, and the Twin Falls Junior League plays games at Frontier Field on Tuesday nights.

"I think the local teams can utilize the ball park to its utmost," Browning said when asked if he felt there would be too many scheduling conflicts. "I'm not saying that maybe we couldn't work around a professional team. It's tough to tell until we see a proposal."

Walker says he feels a professional team could play at Frontier Field without adversely affecting the other teams, and that he and the owners do not want to "fight the city."

"We want the community to be eager to have a minor-league team," Walker said Friday. "We don't want the people around that we're trying to take something away. We have some small mole hills to discuss, but there's no mountains to move. I think we can work the problems out, but if the residents don't want a team, we won't fight it."

Walker says the potential owners probably will wait to see what the letter from the state Parks and Recreation Department says before taking their next step. But, he says, time is critical.

"We've got to let Denny Job know how we stand so at least he has a chance to go somewhere else that wants baseball, so that the other towns don't lose out."

Job says that some Caldwell businessmen have shown interest in having a team.

"I think Twin Falls fits in very well with the proposed league," Job says. "I don't like the idea of going another 20 miles up the road (from Boise), but it would still be close to the other towns in the league."

Boise fisherman lands steelhead

F&G enjoying 10-year high for return

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

BOISE — An unidentified Boisean Friday morning pulled the first steelhead taken out of the Boise River since the Hells Canyon Dam gates were closed in the mid-1950s.

While the steelhead would be a precedent in that regard, it merely signals the Idaho Fish & Game Commission's galvanizing its program to allow Idaho anglers to take part in perhaps the biggest steelhead return to the state in 10 years.

The Fish & Game Commission, holding a one-day hearing and meeting during which it adopted the 1983 general fishing regulations almost identical to this year's, liberalized the steelhead taking on the main stem of the Snake River.

Bob Coon, an aquarium biologist with the department, said as of Thursday more than 59,000 steelhead had been counted over Lower Granite Dam on the lower Snake River. This is the best spawning return since 1971, Coon said, adding, "and it's pushing that record" of slightly more than 73,000.

Coon said the bulk of the run is made up of man-reared fish raised for Clearwater and Salmon River planting. He pronounced returns in both segments as strong, adding the "wild segment appears in better shape, too."

Coon attributed the surplus of steelhead to good downstream escapement three years ago, but more importantly, "fantastic passage over the dams on the Columbia and lower Snake Rivers. The fish barreled right up the river and we had little loss to Indian and commercial fishermen. Passage all year was good to tremendous."

While the returns to the Clearwater and Salmon Rivers were more than adequate to keep the Dworshak and Niagara Springs rearing facilities at capacity, Coon said a major surplus developed on the main stem of the Snake below Hells Canyon. He attributed this to smolt plantings of 550,000 in 1980 and 600,000 last year at Hells Canyon Dam. This has resulted in a return of more than 800 spawners at the Hells Canyon trapping facility. Part of that surplus, 143 adults, were tagged and brought to the Boise River Wednesday afternoon.

Coon said it was felt the Boise area, with its large population, would provide the quickest results on an adult transfer such as this. He said the department wanted to

Glenns Ferry ends 5-game loss streak

FILER — Glenns Ferry snapped a five-game losing streak when it downed the Filer Wildcats 14-8 Friday in an aerial show.

Filer's homecoming was spoiled on passes of 45 and 70 yards from the Pilot's David Bellegante. The first score came two minutes of the opening kickoff when halfback Brian Bunker caught a short throw and ran for the rest.

Glenns Ferry didn't score again until only two minutes remained in the Canyon Conference contest. Tight end Chris Anderson looked over his inside shoulder for the bomb and the winning TD.

Filer got on the board in the third quarter when safety Gregg Hall intercepted a Bellegante pass and returned the theft 70 yards. A Lee Chadwick run tied the score at that point, 8-8. Earlier, Filer had a chance to put itself back into the game when it drove to Glenns Ferry's nine. A tenacious Filer defensive line halted Filer's shotgun offense, keeping the Wildcats passing attack under 80 yards.

"It was a good ball game," said Filer Coach Joe Leach. "The kids enjoyed playing it. It just came down to the wire and they made the plays when they needed to. Our inability to hit a couple of passes hurt us, but our rushing game picked up tremendously."

Glenns Ferry's 2-5 overall and 1-4 in the loop, and their season Friday against Kimberly. Filer, 2-5 and 0-5, concludes against Gooding at home Friday.

Carey 28, Rockland 6

ROCKLAND — Carey High got untracked in the fourth quarter to score 16 points for a 28-6 Sawtooth Conference victory Friday afternoon. The Panthers scored on their first possession and led the entire game, but didn't record the big margin of victory that has been their trademark this season.

Brad Tingey capped the Panthers' opening drive with a 32-yard run for a 6-0 lead as the conversion pass failed.

Mark Conrad's 43-yard pass from Tingey in the second quarter pushed Carey's lead to 12-0.

Rockland's second half kickoff got past the Panthers and Carey had to start from its 10. The Panthers soon fumbled and a Rockland player recovered the ball in the end zone for a touchdown, cutting Carey's lead to 12-6.

"We had our backs to the wall after that," Carey Coach Heber Kirkland said. "It was tight until the fourth quarter when we finally started playing like we have the rest of the season. For three quarters we didn't play well."

Neil Parke scored both Carey TDs in the fourth quarter, running in from two yards out and returning a punt 20 yards. Conrad caught a PAT pass from Tingey on the first score and Kyle Green grabbed a two-pointer from Kendall Peck on the final TD.

Carey intercepted a pass and blocked a punt to continue its season-long tradition of defensive heroics, but neither resulted in a touchdown.

"Rockland has always played well at home and today they came out and passed quite a bit. I think the team learned a lot," Kirkland said. "What we learned will make us a better team and make us ready for next week."

The Panthers, 6-0, visit Camas County Friday at 2 p.m. for the Sawtooth Conference title. Carey has allowed just six points in its four conference victories while scoring 206.

Wood River 16, Buhl 14

BUHL — Wood River finished its season with its third straight win by squeezing past Buhl 16-14 Friday night on two touchdown passes from quarterback Dale Karst.

Wood River overcame a 14-0 deficit to end the season with a 3-4 mark.

Karst, who threw the first score in the second period from 10 yards out to Jamie Collins, followed that with a two-point conversion.

In the third quarter, and still behind by touchdown, Don Karst received a 27-yard pass to even the score at 14. Kyle Warren's conversion run was good, eliminating Buhl's chances of heading into its final conference game with Jerome Friday with a recent win in its memory.

Buhl's scores came early in the game after Coach Al Tammerelli called for an onside kick. Mike Crowley ran 28 yards and a score, setting up John McDermitt's PAT run. Minutes later, Jeff Miller picked off a pass for a score from 40 yards out, but a crucial Indian run after that didn't work.

The Buhl mentor wasn't pleased with his club after they blew a 14-0 lead after the first quarter.

"I guess they figured they pretty much had it won," he said. "We were up and they were down. Well, that changed and we weren't mentally prepared for it. It was like we forgot everything we worked on."

He added that he felt a personal foul call on one of his players was questionable, and moved the ball inside Buhl's 10. It later helped Wood River earn its first TD.

Defensively for the Indians, the coach said, Miller did a fine job, as did defensive standouts Marty Hansen and Barrie Farnes.

Wood River ..... 0 8 0 0-16
Buhl ..... 14 0 0 0-14

Oakley 7, Mackay 6

MACKAY — Oakley stopped Mackay four times inside the 10-yard line to preserve a 7-4 victory in Magic Valley Conference play Friday afternoon.

Sheldon Rosenkrance gave the Indians a 6-0 lead midway in the first quarter when he returned a punt 90 yards for a touchdown. A pass to Rosenkrance failed on the conversion attempt.

"We had the block on and Sheldon just had some good running and broke up the middle and then to the left side," Mackay Coach Blaine McInelly said. "It's the first punt return for a touchdown our team has had in my three years of coaching."

Capping a long drive, the Hornets took a 7-6 lead late in the first quarter when Mike Martin hit Gus Corringe on a 36-yard pass. Rodriguez added the kick for the lead that was to stand for the next three quarters.

"Oakley did a heck of a job on defense," McInelly said. "We played the whole second half in their half of the field. They didn't get past the 30 and four times we got inside their 10 with first downs and they stopped us each time."

Oakley moved to 5-2 overall and 4-2 in the conference while Mackay fell to 4-3 and 3-2.

Turns down '83 offer from Autry

Angels' Mauch won't return

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — After 23 years of frustration as a major league manager, the most recent and most bitter of them with California, Gene Mauch decided Friday to not return to the Angels next season.

A spokesman said Angels' owner Gene Autry Wednesday offered Mauch the job again for 1983. The 56-year-old manager considered it for two days, then turned it down.

"He notified the club this morning of his preference not to return next season," Tim Mead said. "The Angels reluctantly accepted his decision."

Mauch managed the Angels for two seasons and, in his first year, the club finished fifth in the American League

West. But this year, Mauch's powerful Angels captured the AL West title and swept the first two games from Milwaukee in the AL Championship series.

Then the roof caved in. Mauch, criticized throughout the season for over-managing and for his use of "little ball" — bunting, stealing and sacrifice — while blessed with the enormous power of players like Reggie Jackson, Don Baylor, Fred Lynn, Brian Downing, Doug DeCinces and Bobby Grich, was loudly criticized by the media, fans, Autry and even some of his players when California dropped the next three in a row, sending the Angels home and the Brewers to the World Series.

It was the first time in the 13-year history of the major league playoffs that a team won the first two games and then lost a championship series. And the 75-year-old Autry, who invested several million dollars during the offseason to acquire Jackson, DeCinces and others and repeatedly said his one goal was the World Series, was devastated.

On Wednesday, Mauch hinted to Angels' executive vice-president Buzzie Bavasi that he might have already made up his mind about 1983 after hearing the criticism and doubts that surfaced after the Angels were ousted by the Brewers.

know what influences taking the fish from their native production waters might have on their behavior. He said there had been conjecture the fish may "turn tail and head downstream" or become disoriented in some other way and not be recoverable.

However, the confirmed catch by the Boise angler Friday morning and another reported but unconfirmed catch later in the afternoon indicated the department may have flexibility in providing steelhead opportunity in other parts of the state in bumper return years.

Coon said that while the department cannot consistently count on over-capacity runs such as it enjoys this year, it does open a lot of possibilities for the future. Because of the run's line, the commission liberalized seasonal steelhead restrictions immediately.

The bag limit from Dug Bar on the main Snake River up to Hells Canyon was liberalized to 10 per season with two-per-day and four-in-possession limits. Additionally, the commission increased all steelhead season limits to 10, provided at least four of the steelhead are taken from that stretch of the Snake River.

The commission further voted to remove the 100-year closure from Hells Canyon Dam downstream effective Jan. 1. This will allow more space for bank anglers. Coon said the department also would be in touch with the U.S. Forest Service in an effort to open a trail on the Idaho side of Hells Canyon Dam down to the river to provide access for anglers.

In other action:

• Department director Jerry Conley announced that Idaho would host the International Wildlife Association and American Fishery Association conventions in Sun Valley in 1983.

• With the state's other departments severely hurt by budget cutbacks, the department is studying possibilities of assuming permit and inspection responsibilities in stream channelization.

• The commission called for department to have completed public meetings on trophy species and bear and cougar management plans by Nov. 15.

Bulldogs

Midway through the third quarter, Kimberly threatened to regain the lead when it drove inside Valley's 10-yard line. But on its second-down from the 6, Taylor caught Dan Nelson for a 4-yard loss, and on the next play, quarterback Tim Ferrell's pass fell incomplete.

However, Kimberly's defense, which has now yielded just 42 points in eight games, surrendered a little yardage to Valley until the final minute.

Meanwhile, the Bulldogs struck for the winning TD, driving 63 yards in 14 plays after starting from its own 37 with slightly more than 11 minutes left to play.

The Bulldogs' only crisis came when they faced a third-and-13 situation at Valley's 43, but Ferrell coolly found split end Pat Moynieux all alone over the middle for a 18-yard gain.

"It was the same pattern that we ran before (late in the first half, when Moynieux dropped a pass upon getting crunched by a pair of Vikings)," Hogan said. "We had to throw, that was it, because it was third and a bunch," assistant Coach George Arrossa chimed in.

Jackman gave Kimberly the lead seven plays later, on second-and-goal. It was a simple dive play, the kind that the Bulldogs had executed well during the first half.

"We tried some different things, then we went back to the things that had worked the first time," Hogan said.

Deco earns state with critical pass thefts

GOODING — Three key interceptions, two by Devin Powers in the first half, lifted the Deco Hornets to a 25-16 victory over the Gooding Senators Friday night in a Canyon Conference game.

The victory puts the Hornets into the A-3 state playoffs.

The Senators engineered a drive that consumed most of the first quarter and was capped by a 22-yard score by running back Frosty Moody. David Metzger added the extra point.

Deco quickly capitalized on the first of its interceptions by Powers, as Ron Butters scored from 16 yards out on the second play after the steal.

Powers again stole a Paul Childs pass and personally scored the Hornets' second touchdown to end the half.

Another time consuming 70-yard third-quarter drive by the Senators concluded by a 2-yard plunge by Metzger, gave Gooding a 15-12 lead to end the third quarter.

But with only four minutes left in the game, Deco's Lambert Turner scored from the four. And again, with only two minutes left, Dwight Jenkins intercepted the third Gooding pass of the evening, as Ron Butters scored from the 35 on the next play from scrimmage to end the game.

SHOSHONE — Camas County's potent offense, which included a safety and field goal in the first half, overpowered the Mustangs past Shoshone 27-0 here Friday.

The win put Camas County's win-loss record at 7-1, while Shoshone falls to 1-7.

Joe Cox started Camas County's scoring with a first-quarter run from 11 yards. A Kirk Swartz reception in the end zone for the PAT, plus a safety put the Mustangs out in front by ten at the quarter. They later added a 38-yard field goal by Tommie Funkhouser to make it 13-0 at the half.

Mike Faulkner drove a score in three yards out in the third period, with Cox earning the PAT on the ground. Funkhouser later scored on a 61-yard scamper but the PAT run failed.

"We played a little bit better ball game than I expected," said Shoshone Coach Larry Bond. "Camas has a tough ball game, and we turned the ball over a lot."

Richfield travels to Shoshone to finish out the Indians' season, while Carey visits Camas County on Friday in a showdown for the Sawtooth Conference title. Both are undefeated in league play.

CASTLEFORD — Four turnovers and a safety proved to be fatal for the Hansen Huskies as they lost to the Castleford Wolves 31-0 Friday night in a Magic Valley Conference game.

Darrell Howard scored first for Castleford on a one-yard drive after a fumble by Hansen's 73-yard drive by the Wolves.

Senior running back Tracy Vulgamore snared a Rob Owen pass and raced 29 yards to begin the second-quarter scoring for the Wolves.

Alternate quarterback Gary Reynolds threw a 44-yard pass that scored — Rich — Owen — for the third Castleford touchdown of the first half. Castleford's Chad Bilek dumped Hansen senior quarterback Travis Lierman for a safety to end the half.

A blocked Hansen punt by Larry Hanover set up the final Castleford touchdown of the game as Rob Owen scored from only three yards out on the subsequent play.

Castleford gained an impressive 302 yards, 105 in the air.

The loss was Hansen's seventh of the season as the Huskies remain winless in the conference and overall. Castleford's victory improved its conference record to 4-1 and 7-1 overall.

Minico 0

IDAHO FALLS — Wade Sheets' 1-yard touchdown dive shortly before halftime and Mike Biddulph's conversion kick held up for the Bonneville Bees, who outlasted the Minico Spartans Friday night, 7-0.

Sheets' score came with 1:34 remaining in the half. Otherwise, the Bees relied on their defense, which limited Minico to 51 yards total offense, including minus 6 yards rushing.

The Spartans missed two chances to score. With 6:07 left to play, Minico's Von Perleman punted from his own 31-yard line. Bonneville's Mark Walker tried to field the punt, but the ball bounced out of his arms and went directly into the hands of Minico tackle James Preston, who never broke stride as he went into the end zone.

However, the officials ruled the ball had struck the ground. Citing a rule which states that a fumbled punt cannot be advanced after it hits the ground, they called back the Spartans' touchdown.

Still, Minico had the ball at Bonneville's 35, and on the first play from scrimmage David Pena rambled for 20 yards. But a holding penalty — the Spartans had just 25 yards in penalties all night — nullified that gain and stifled Minico's bid.

Burley 24,
Caldwell 22

CALDWELL — Scott Barrett's 5-yard pass to Gary Peterson with six seconds left gave the Burley Bobcats a come-from-behind 24-22 victory Friday night over Caldwell.

The Bobcats, who had been shut out in their last two games, exploded for 12 points in the fourth quarter Friday night to erase a 22-12 deficit. Burley thus avenged an overtime loss to Caldwell last year which cost the Bobcats a state playoff berth.

Trailing 22-18 after Dennis Konrad's 13-yard touchdown run, Burley gained its chance for victory when Shawn Carter recovered a Caldwell fumble at the Bobcat 39-yard line with slightly more than two minutes remaining to play.

On the next play Barrett passed to Konrad for a 35-yard gain. Moments later he found Peterson in the end zone for the winning points.

"They just didn't give up," assistant Coach Larry Oshout said of the Bobcats. "It was a stab in the back from what Caldwell did to us last year."

The Bobcats jumped out to a quick 12-0 lead, scoring the first two times they touched the ball. Mike King returned the opening kickoff 68 yards for a touchdown. Then, after Caldwell punted, Dennis Konrad rambled 80 yards on the Bobcats' initial play from scrimmage.

But two touchdowns from Ray Gabbard and Rick Matheson's 24-yard pass from quarterback Doug Dates temporarily moved Caldwell in front.

Murtaugh 42,

MURTAUGH — The Murtaugh Red Devils racked up 335 total yards Friday night, as they defeated the Wendell Trojans 42-18.

The non-conference win moves the second-ranked Red Devils to 4-0 while Wendell dropped to 3-5 overall.

Senior quarterback Ray Nebeker, who passed for 186 yards, threw for two touchdowns passes in the first quarter. Both aerials were grabbed by Pratt Matthews. The first covered 37 yards and the second went for 34 yards.

Wendell, attempting to win its third straight game, came back when quarterback Matt Bertagnoli scored from one-yard out and threw for a 29-yard TD pass. The Trojans trailed just 14-12 at the end of the first quarter.

Murtaugh managed three trips to the end zone in the second quarter, giving it a 34-12 cushion at the half.

Following a quick Trojan TD in the third quarter, the Red Devils capitalized on James Matthews' 26-yard touchdown run later in the fourth quarter Nebeker hit Matthews on five-yard scoring pass to Pratt Matthews for the victory.

Bruins, Spartans make state

MOUNTAIN HOME — Both of Magic Valley's A-1 cross country teams gained a spot in next week's state meet during the district meet held at Mountain Home Golf Course Friday afternoon.

Twin Falls High won both the boys and girls division with the Bruins girls recording a perfect team score, 15.

The Bruins boys notched a 25 in winning their second meet of the year. Minico, which was paced by Albert Lara's winning time of 16:10 (5,000 meters), was second with 30 points. Host Mountain Home was third.

Nancy McGinnis covered the 3,000-meter division in 12:17 to win the girls division. She had plenty of blue-clad company as Twin Falls girls took nine of the top 10 places.

The course at Mountain Home is semi-hilly and the meet was held during excellent weather conditions.

Mountain Home, which did not field a girls team, did not qualify any runners for the state meet to be held Friday at Boise's Shadow Valley Golf Course.

Kagel: We're spinning our wheels

HUNT VALLEY, Md. (UPI) — Mediator Sam Kagel informed both sides in the NFL dispute late Friday night that he wants to return to his San Francisco home because "we are just spinning our wheels."

Kagel, 73, entered the talks 11 days ago, appointed by the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. A veteran of more than 10,000 arbitration and mediation cases, Kagel informed negotiators of his desires after about an hour and a half after recessing talks at 7 p.m. MDT.

Kagel could not be reached for comment, abiding by the news blackout he placed on the talks when he entered the negotiations.

It is uncertain whether Kagel is attempting to pull out of the negotiations completely or attempting to set up a "cooling-off period."

It was obvious the negotiations, which have progressed very little in eight months, were stalemated beyond immediate solution.

Kagel left the hotel only twice in 11 days. He went to downtown Baltimore on a sightseeing excursion Monday afternoon and had dinner at a nearby restaurant with members of both negotiating teams Thursday night.

Several times, early this week, Kagel compared his stay at the suburban Baltimore hotel to being "in jail," saying at one point, "The only thing missing is the bars on the windows."

Earlier, the striking NFL Players' Association accused league negotiators of refusing to bargain and said nothing will happen to end the 32-day strike until the signal comes from the owners.

"Until the owners and (Commissioner) Pete Rozelle throw the switch up at 410 Park Avenue (NFL headquarters in New York) and give a signal, nothing will happen," a union source taking part in negotiations told United Press International.

"(Jack) Donlan (executive director of the NFL Management Council) is in there hardlining the hell out of things," the source said. "He's back where he was Sept. 8 — nowhere. Any mention of progress is so far wrong I can't describe it."

Well-rested Longhorns attempt to stop SMU's 'Pony Express' today

By United Press International

To SMU's critics, the term "Pony Express" has described the Mustangs' schedule so far, rather than their backfield tandem of Eric Dickerson and Craig James.

Today, however, fourth-ranked SMU faces some full-grown horses in Fred Akers' 15th-ranked Texas Longhorns. Not only is Texas by far SMU's toughest test so far, but the Longhorns — along with sixth-ranked Arkansas — are the Mustangs' major obstacle to the Southwest Conference title and a trip to the Cotton Bowl.

"We are where we wanted to be going into this game as far as our record is concerned," Coach Bobby Collins said of his 6-0 Mustangs. "Texas is an outstanding team with outstanding personnel. We're going to have to gear up, get our people well and get ready to play. It's going to be a rough one."

The Longhorns, 3-1, have lost only to Oklahoma and are coming off an idle week, which gave them time to recuperate from injuries. This week, Texas is faced with stopping the fourth-most potent ground game in the nation. SMU averages 305.3 rushing yards per game, with Dickerson already one yard over the 1,000-yard mark and James more than halfway there with 517.

Texas ruined an undefeated season for SMU last year with a 9-7 victory, in which the Mustangs managed only 143 yards rushing.

"I'd like to beat Texas more than anything else in the world," Dickerson said. "Our most important goal is to go undefeated and to win the Cotton Bowl. Texas stands in the way of that."

Dickerson is closing in on two SWC rushing records set by former Longhorns star Earl Campbell. The senior tailback is 609 yards shy of Campbell's SWC career rushing record of 4,443 yards and he needs 743 to reach Campbell's season mark of 1,744 set in 1977. If Dickerson continues at his 166.8 yards per game pace, he'll break both records by the end of the season.

In other games involving top-10 teams, No. 1 Washington faces Texas Tech, No. 2 Pitt battles Syracuse, No. 3 Georgia takes on Kentucky, No. 5 Nebraska opposes Missouri, Houston challenges No. 6 Arkansas, No. 8 Penn State faces No. 11 West Virginia, No. 9 Alabama plays Cincinnati, and California takes on No. 10 UCLA.

No. 7 North Carolina is idle. The Penn State-West Virginia clash offers an interesting matchup of quarterbacks. Mountaineers' quarterback Jeff Hostetler played two years at Penn State, where he battled current Nittany Lions passer Todd Blackledge — for the starting job. Blackledge won the No. 1 job midway through the 1980 season and Hostetler transferred to WVU the next year. Both are now Heisman Trophy candidates and remain good friends. Hostetler, however, is faced with the job of ending a 26-year Mountaineers drought against Penn State. WVU has managed only a tie since last defeating the Nittany Lions in 1955.

Liebler takes 1-stroke lead over Peete

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI) — Rookie Steven Liebler, who has never finished better than seventh in a PGA tour event, shot a five-under-par 66 Friday to grab a one-stroke lead over veteran Calvin Peete at the midway point of the $200,000 Pensacola Open.

Liebler, who shared the first-round lead with Brad Bryant, posted a 12-under 130 total for 36 holes over the par-71, 7,135-yard Perdido Bay Country Club course.

Peete, dubbed "The Machine" earlier in the day by Tom Watson, also fired a 66 Friday for a 131 total.

Liebler, seeking his first tour victory ever, said he was hoping he could stay calm in the final two rounds.

"Hopefully, I won't get too nervous and will be able to keep it on an even keel," said the Virginia Beach, Va., pro. "This is the best I ever played. In amateur tournaments I've won, I never jumped out fast."

With six birdies and only one bogey on the day, Liebler said he planned to keep out in front. "I like my position. I want to keep it and keep hitting birdies."

Liebler sank birdie putts of 15, 15, 25, 5 and 10 feet in posting his 66.

Garvey denies he's signed pact

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Steve Garvey denied Friday a published report that he had signed a new, long-term contract with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Dodgers had denied the report, published in the Los Angeles Herald Examiner, on Thursday.

In an interview with radio station KFI, Garvey said he "categorically" denied that any agreement had been reached.

"It's unfair to the fans that a rumor like that would be printed when it's not substantiated," the All-Star first baseman said.

The Herald Examiner reported Thursday that Dodgers President Peter O'Malley was expected to inform his staff of the decision to make Garvey the first Dodgers player ever to be paid more than $1 million per season.

Garvey says he wants to remain with Los Angeles and his agent, Jerry Kapstein, was continuing negotiations with the club.

Musial jewelry stolen

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Jewelry commemorating the playing career of former St. Louis Cardinals star Stan Musial, including two World Series rings and a clip honoring his 3,000th hit, has been stolen from Busch Stadium.

Police Friday said the theft occurred after the Cardinals' championship victory Wednesday night in the World Series.

Musial, attending a party Thursday night to celebrate the victory, said he hoped the items would soon be recovered and returned to the stadium's Sports Hall of Fame.

Phil Batt: His Priorities for Idaho

Get Idaho's finances under control

Phil Batt's first priority as governor will be to get Idaho back on solid financial footing. Can he do it? In his first year as Lt. Governor, he cut the cost of operating that office by over 31%, and gave back $20,000 to the General Fund — and he's returned money to the General Fund every year since! He can do it.

Review and reform Idaho's tax system

Early in his campaign, Phil Batt said, "as governor, I will begin a review and reform of our entire tax system, with the objective of lowering property taxes and developing a better way of financing our schools." As governor (and grandfather) Phil Batt will make Idaho's school system second to none — for all our children!

A program to develop jobs in Idaho

Phil Batt has been a pioneering farmer during his career in agriculture. He brought onions and malting barley into prominence for Idaho farmers and shippers — resulting in the creation of hundreds of jobs and millions of dollars in sales.

As governor, Phil Batt will use those same creative ideas to develop more jobs and industry in Idaho. He'll get Idaho working again!

John Evans: His Record for Idaho

A $13 million shortfall

In 1981 Governor Evans was angry when the Legislature appropriated $30 million less than he recommended — then this year, the governor was "surprised" by a $13 million budget shortfall. For the first time in Idaho's 92-year history, millions of dollars of unpaid obligations were held over until the next fiscal year!

Can Idaho afford "surprises" like this?

IDAHO: 92 YEARS OF

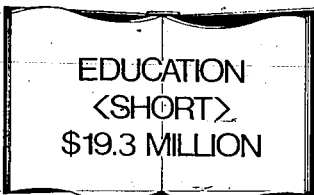

PAY AS YOU GO

Failure to plan and act for the future

Idaho's schools face a crisis right now. The state of Idaho is short $19.3 million for public schools.

The crisis is real, but Governor Evans has refused to deal with the problem until January — and for months, while time to find a solution has been critical, the governor refused even to consult with Legislative leaders on how to solve it!

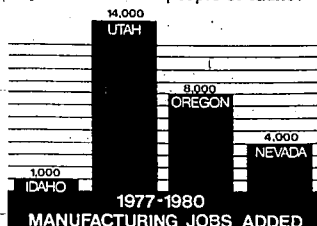

Don't we need a leader who will plan how to solve state problems?

No jobs for Idaho

As governor, John Evans has vetoed legislation that would have provided jobs for Idaho. He recommended a severance tax that would have crippled Idaho's mining industry. And after the governor was surprised to learn that the Bunker Hill mine was being closed, he refused to demand that his friends, the Pittsburgh union bosses, back off and save the 2,100 jobs lost when the mine closed.

Isn't it time we had a governor whose only bosses are the people of Idaho?

A vision of Idaho's future . . .

A plan to make it a reality.

As a native Idahoan and a pioneering farmer-businessman who has developed important new crops and major markets for Idaho, Phil Batt has a clear vision of the huge potential for development that exists in our state.

"The economic future of Idaho, with our rich natural resources and Idaho's energetic, hard-working people, can be one of the brightest in the West," Phil states. "To achieve our potential, we must set in motion a comprehensive program coordinating development of: industry, energy, education, economic incentives, government-labor and government-business relations efforts."

Phil Batt's plan to make this vision of Idaho's future a reality, is achievable, and given his record of accomplishments, it will begin to happen when he is Governor.

The Batt economic growth program for Idaho:

1 Promote a strong economic development department, free of politics, to bring clean, compatible new firms into Idaho; to create jobs; to stimulate tourism and to open new markets for Idaho products.

2 Provide adequate energy for industry, business and agriculture development in Idaho to meet the demand for future economic growth.

3 Improve our educational system to make it more responsive, more in tune with the needs of tomorrow's work force by educating Idaho's youth for Idaho jobs.

4 Provide economic incentives, including tax incentives and protection of the production exemption from sales taxes, to create more jobs in our state.

5 Improve government-labor relations to preserve existing jobs and develop new jobs for Idaho, including legislation to require that Idaho unions prevail over out-of-state union bosses in contract disputes.

6 Improve state government-business cooperation by eliminating unnecessary rules and regulations that restrict business expansion and job opportunities.

Phil Batt is the strong leader that Idaho must have to make progress in the difficult economic climate facing us.

The choice for Idaho

PHIL BATT

As Governor Phil Batt will:

- Get Idaho's finances under control.
- Begin a six-point program designed to create more jobs.
- Start an immediate review and reform of Idaho's tax system.
- Direct the return of former Federal programs to Idaho.
- Develop new sources of funds for education; decrease reliance on property taxes.
- Work on producing adequate energy for Idaho's future growth.
- Strengthen Idaho's anti-crime program.

GOVERNOR

A pioneering farmer who's made onions big business for Idaho!

Phil was born on the family homestead outside of Wilder, Idaho in 1927, and graduated from Wilder High School where he was student body president and football team captain. He is a member of the Golden Gate Baptist Church in Wilder.

Phil and Jacque bought their present 80-acre farm south of Wilder, after returning from two years of homesteading near Rupert. Phil has added to it over the years and now manages a total of 800 acres, growing onions, potatoes, wheat, sugarbeets and alfalfa seed. He employs some 25 workers nearly year 'round with a peak crew of 50 during harvest.

After serving on the Idaho Potato Commission, he helped develop the Idaho-Oregon Onion Promotion Committee, which has been instrumental in doubling the sales of Idaho onions since its creation.

Vote November 2nd

An active, involved Idaho lady; a mother and grandmother.

Originally from Spokane, Jacque adopted Idaho as her home after attending the University of Idaho. In her pre-college days she rode horseback and also taught ballet. She met Phil at Moscow when both were students there. They have been married for 34 years, and have three married children, Bill, Rebecca and Leslie, three grandsons and a granddaughter. Their farming years together include two years of homesteading near Rupert, where they worked to carve a farm out of the sagebrush.

Jacque has been a strong supporter of Phil's political career throughout the years. "He is fair minded, has a real concern for people and an ability to solve problems; I know he would be a good governor for Idaho," she says.
