Power panel OKs Swan Falls Dam license

By ELLEN MARKS
United Press International

BOISE — The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission has granted Idaho Power Co. a 40-year license for Swan Falls Dam, despite opposition from Gov. John Evans and other state officials.

The license allows the utility to begin renovating and expanding the 70-year-old hydroelectric project so it will generate 25 megawatts — twice its current capacity — by 1987, according to utility officials.

But the project could be devastating to southwestern Idaho farmers, who would lose irrigation water from the Snake River to the Swan Falls generators, Idaho Water Resources Department Director Ken Dunn said Sunday.

"I think the final result means there will be no further agricultural development upstream from Swan Falls, which means two-thirds of the state," Dunn said. "A substantial amount of existing development will be in jeopardy."

Evans wrote a letter to FERC earlier this month, asking the federal agency to delay action on the license request for 90 days.

He said state officials wanted time to study the effects of a recent state Supreme Court decision which upheld Idaho power's water rights at the Swan Falls Dam.

The ruling said Idaho Power had not relinquished its right to water at Swan Falls although it signed away some of those privileges to build three dams in Hells Canyon. Although part of the issue still must be decided in court, irrigators fear they have lost access to the Snake River, a vital waterway for croplands that line its banks.

State officials were considering asking FERC to insert a provision in the Swan Falls license that would give irrigators water rights as protection from the court decision, Dunn said.

Idaho Power Vice President Logan Lanham said a provision in the license allows the state to submit additional comments, but he said he has little worry the license will be blocked.

"Whenever you get a license, you always hope it's going to be a clean one," Lanham said. "This still puts a little bit of a shadow on it."

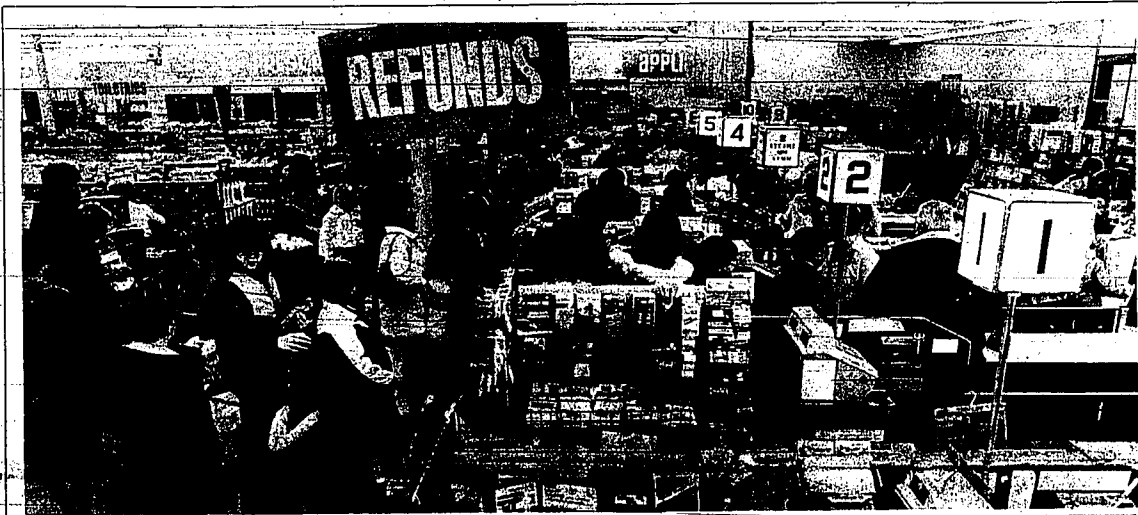

However, he said he did not think the state's objections will provide a serious challenge because they were made toward the end of a long process.

"Their coming in at the twelfth hour really was not all that great," Lanham said. "They had all through the licensing period to make comments like this and no one did. It was an untested license until they stepped in."

He said the project will involve building a new powerhouse and refurbishing of the Swan Falls dam.

Until now, the project was covered by short-term operating licenses that had to be renewed periodically.

'Twas the day after

The day after Christmas is traditionally the big day of shopping for the year and things were really hopping at the K-Mart in Twin Falls. Shoppers who wished to exchange their gifts for some reason or another were bringing them in for refunds, while other shoppers were trying to take advantage of after-Christmas bargain sales.

Storm leaves 3 dead

By BRAD SMITH

DENVER — Residents of eastern Colorado, snowbound for two days, shoveled their ways to freedom Sunday.

They bored through 20-foot drifts stacked up by a blizzard that killed at least three people and stranded thousands.

Authorities said they feared more victims might be found in vehicles still stranded on snow-clogged roads.

Clear skies and record cold settled over the region Sunday on the heels of the region's worst Christmas blizzard. The temperature dipped to 5 below zero Sunday at Denver — a record for the date.

The storm began early Christmas Eve and did not let up for 24 hours. Stapleton International Airport at Denver shut down for 34 hours and all highways in eastern Colorado were closed at the height of the onslaught.

Two feet of snow stacked up on Denver Friday, the most ever in one day, and up to 42 inches fell on the nearby foothills.

Two of the victims of the blizzard were identified as Mrs. Barbara Ann Mals, 58, of Stoneham, and Eugene Orr, 32, of Strasburg. The third — a cross country skier — was not immediately identified.

Authorities said the skier was killed Saturday in an avalanche near the mountain town of Montezuma.

Mals froze to death. Authorities said she got lost in the storm Friday afternoon while trying to check on her sons, who were working in an out-building on their eastern Colorado farm. Her body was found just a quarter mile from her house.

Orr froze to death trying to walk to safety after his four-wheel-drive vehicle got stuck. His body was found Saturday in a field near Bennett, not far from his stranded vehicle.

Air traffic began moving out of Denver late Saturday after crews working 14 hours managed to push clear one of the runways at Stapleton International Airport. Among the first planes out was the one carrying the Denver Broncos football team to Los Angeles for a game against the Raiders. But the Denver Nuggets basketball team was unable to get home from Chicago and postponed their Sunday game with Golden State.

Social Security, trade coming next

By MARY BETH FRANKLIN
United Press International

WASHINGTON — The late 97th Congress will be remembered for the most massive tax changes of any Congress, including the largest tax cut in history, and, a year later, the largest tax increase.

Administration and congressional leaders, in interviews with United Press International, predict the 1983 focus will shift to Social Security reform and international trade problems.

Congress approved the first stage, a $750 billion tax cut for businesses and individuals, in August 1981 after nine months of negotiations with the administration. President Reagan had campaigned hard for it in 1980.

It included a three-year, 25 percent across-the-board tax cut for individuals; a faster, simpler depreciation schedule for business to spur investment; and miscellaneous changes, including an easing of the "marriage penalty," a one-year tax-free "all-savers" certificate and liberalized Individual Retirement Account rules.

Analysis

The second stage, a $38.3 billion tax increase, sometimes characterized as a tax reform bill, was approved in August 1982. It plugged loopholes, repealed some of the excesses of the 1981 tax cut and increased excise taxes on cigarettes, airline tickets and telephone service.

In addition, the House Ways and Means and the Senate Finance committees busied themselves during the last two years with tariff bills, technical correction acts, minor legislation and at the end of the lame-duck session last week, a gasoline tax increase.

The administration-backed gasoline tax hike, initially billed as a simple proposal that would speed through Congress, detained lawmakers until almost Christmas eve because of conservative filibusters in the Senate.

As passed, the bill, slightly weakened from the administration proposal, will finance road, bridge and mass transit repairs, and create 320,000 jobs, mostly for skilled construction workers.

As a result, federal taxes on gasoline and diesel fuel will go up a nickel April one to nine cents a gallon, and heavy trucks, which the administration says inflict the most damage on the roads, will pay significantly higher — but not as high as the administration wanted — user fees to help finance the repairs.

"I can't recall in my time as much tax activity," Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., who chaired the Senate Finance Committee for the first time the last two years. "It's just massive — cuts, raises, reforms. It will take years to unravel."

Dole said the net effect of the two major tax bills was "overall pretty good; balanced legislation."

But Dole's predecessor, Sen. Russell Long, D-La., was not so complimentary.

"There was a lot of good legislation and a lot of bad legislation passed," Long said, adding the 1982 tax cut was "too big. . . It produced enormous deficits."

Dole's House counterpart, Ways and Means chairman Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., agreed with Long.

"I think the first bill was too big, the tax cuts too deep," Rostenkowski said. He added he wanted to be remembered for supporting a smaller, one-year tax cut, targeted to lower-and-middle-income people.

The major complaint of the Reagan tax cut was that its across-the-board design favored the rich, who pay more taxes.

Congressional and administration tax experts agree that Reagan, hot off the campaign trail, was the impetus for the tax cut.

The burgeoning budget deficit, largely a result of the huge tax cut and buildup in military spending, was the source of the second tax bill, the largest piece of revenue-raising legislation in history.

"You have to look at the last two years of tax legislation as a package," John Chapoton, assistant Treasury secretary for tax policy, said.

"The first year was a new approach, a major reform in tax laws. . . the second concentrated on tightening up where tightening up was needed," he said. "In 1981, the president strongly backed tax cuts. The second stage was clearly driven by the budget situation."

As for next year, Chapoton said, "I think we ought to stop tinkering for awhile."

Time selects its 'Man of the Year'

Computer bests 3 luminaries, E. T.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The computer — finally besting its maker — has been selected as "The Extra-Terrestrial" Sunday to become Time Magazine's 1982 Man of the Year.

For the past 55 years, Time's Man of the Year has been either an individual or a group of people. But the current edition bears the image of the machine Time singled out as the year's "greatest influence for good or evil."

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, Federal Reserve Board Chairman Paul A. Volcker and "E.T.," the space alien from the film of the same name, were picked as runners-up.

Their contributions to the news of the year were summarized in a separate article headed "Four Who Also Shaped Events."

"There are some occasions, though, when the most significant force in a year's news is not a single individual but a process, and a widespread recognition that this process is changing the course of all other processes. That is why, after weighing the ebb and flow of events around the world, Time has decided that 1982 is the year of the computer," the magazine said.

A survey conducted by Time by the polling firm of Yankelovich, Skelly and White showed that nearly 80 percent of the people surveyed believed home computers would soon become as commonplace as television sets.

"It would have been possible to single out as Man of the Year one of the engineers or entrepreneurs who masterminded this technological revolution, but no one person has clearly dominated these turbulent events. More important, such a selection would obscure the main point. Time's Man of the Year for 1982, the greatest influence for good or evil, is not a man at all. It is a machine; the computer," Time said.

Gunmen raid Israeli office, leave 4 dead

By United Press International

An attack on a civil affairs office in an Israeli-controlled Lebanese city killed four Sunday and fierce artillery battles raged between local militia near Beirut, only 48 hours before peace talks between Israel and Lebanon were to begin.

A Lebanese security source said unknown gunmen attacked the office shortly before 10 a.m. MST in the southern seaport city of Sidon with rocket-propelled grenades and automatic rifles, killing four Israeli soldiers and wounding about six others, a radio report said.

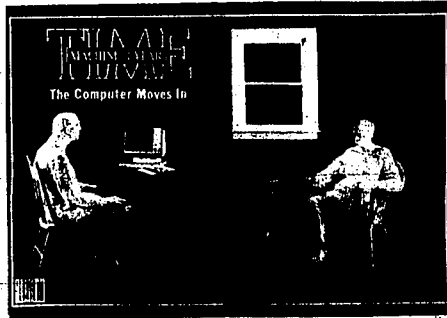

The source said two Israeli helicopters carried the victims from the scene as Israeli troops imposed an immediate curfew on the coastal city, 25 miles south of the capital.

"Security sources had said earlier the building hit was the Israeli governor's residence."

Druze and Christian militiamen, who have been fighting for almost three months, exchanged mortar and rocket fire in the Shuf villages of Fawara, Breeh, Wadi Alet and Mtaheh, about 8 miles east of Beirut, the rightist Phalange Voice of Lebanon Radio said.

The fresh fighting came along with confirmation from several sources Sunday that Lebanese-Israeli talks would begin as expected Tuesday in Khaleel, resuming Thursday in the northern Israeli town of Kiryat Shmona.

The reports followed a four-hour meeting between U.S. envoy Morris Draper and Lebanese President Amin Gemayel.

Holiday toll near 300 mark
by United Press International

The deaths of a New York City boy taking his first ride on a new motorbike and an Illinois family whose Christmas "noble crash" was blamed on vandalism pushed the Christmas holiday weekend traffic death toll Sunday toward 300.

A United Press International count Sunday showed at least 278 traffic deaths nationwide since the Christmas holiday weekend began at 6 p.m. local time Thursday. Texas led the nation with 40 traffic deaths including a family of five, California reported 27, Florida 25 and New York 21. Pennsylvania had 15 deaths, five in one crash, Illinois 13, Michigan 12 and Kentucky 10.

The National Safety Council estimated between 300 and 400 people could die on the nation's highways this holiday weekend. During the 1981 Christmas holiday, 354 people died and 16,500 were seriously injured in holiday traffic accidents.

Coast Guard drops search

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The Coast Guard called off the search Sunday for two New Jersey men who apparently drowned when a 16-foot homemade sailboat capsized 12 miles from the entrance to Los Angeles Harbor.

"If there had been someone above the water we would have found them," said Coast Guard Chief John Dusch. Dusch said three Coast Guard aircraft and three searchers searched a 49-square-mile area under ideal conditions without finding any trace of the two men, Steve Wells, 18, and Kevin Mac Mali, 20, both of Long Beach Island, N.J.

Solidarity 5 challenge ban

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Five Solidarity leaders arrested for sedition challenged Parliament's ban on the union and in a statement obtained Sunday vowed to "continue the fight" to revive Solidarity from behind prison bars.

The statement by the Solidarity leaders came in a hand-written communique smuggled out of Warsaw's Bialoleka prison where the five are being held. The communique was dated Dec. 10 — two days before military chief Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski announced martial law will be suspended Dec. 31 this year.

The communique was also signed by three other Solidarity leaders who were released from internment the same day the charges against the others were announced. All, originally interned when martial law was imposed Dec. 13, 1981, were members of the outlawed organization's 107-member National Commission.

Regan still awaiting rebound

By DENIS G. GULINO
United Press International

WASHINGTON — Despite high unemployment, record deficits and slippery economic conditions, Treasury Secretary Donald Regan says the administration has nothing to apologize for.

And he wishes the rest of the world would show a little more gratitude toward the United States for reducing inflation.

After two years as the top administration spokesman for "supply side" tax incentives that were wiped out by recession, Regan, like the president, is wrestling with troubling questions that defy easy answers.

In an interview with United Press International, Regan could offer no short-term remedies for the economy, unlike when he told reporters last February the economy "is going to come roaring back in the late spring."

"Jobs and unemployment. That's the number one problem in the United States," he says now.

And Regan cannot rule out still more administration tax initiatives in 1983 if top-level budget analyses, ending next month, indicate they are necessary.

"I think that we have to see where we stand with all of the budget before we come down on that side one way or the other," he said.

DONALD REGAN
Seared by recession

Regan, once ebullient and optimistic, seems seared by the stubborn recession but still unwilling to abandon his unrealized vision of growth and recovery.

"I don't think we have to be apologizing. I think it's very unfortunate that we have the recession we're in and the unemployment that we're in," he said. "I think that has to be the theme for the next two years, to change that."

Dangerously high inflation has been subdued, but the victory is both the administration's greatest accomplishment and its biggest difficulty, the treasury secretary said.

As it disappeared, high inflation left behind a crippled economy without nourishment, feeding on itself, getting smaller, generating high unemployment and record deficits.

"We've got inflation down and we've got interest rates down and the world's in difficult times," Regan said.

"Now we're being told that we, the United States, have got to get our economy going in order to help the rest of the world. There's no thanks for bringing inflation down, no thanks for bringing interest rates down."

Turning to a computer terminal behind his desk, Regan called up the latest foreign exchange figures. "We were also accused of having too strong a dollar. Now the dollar has weakened over the last several weeks and it's still very weak today."

That could be good news if American-made goods are restored to a more competitive position in the world marketplace, he indicated.

"I think that if the dollar continues to be this weak, continues going down, we're not going to have the big trade deficit everyone is projecting," Regan predicted.

"It's going to be difficult for the domestic economy to expand terribly much if we can't export," he said. "If we can't export to other countries because the other countries are stagnant, it takes a lot of time to get the whole wheel rolling again. We'll have problems there."

Regan has been stymied in some small initiatives.

Congress forced him to restore the Internal Revenue Service toll-free telephone query service he tried to cut for budget reasons, and it made him abandon plans to merge Treasury's Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms into the Secret Service and Customs Service.

As his personal video screen demonstrates, Regan has been able to begin the computerization of Treasury's immense cash collecting and disbursing machinery. But the process is far slower than Regan, the former chairman of Merrill Lynch, would like.

"It takes time. It takes much longer to do things in the government," he said.

Democrats' election to worsen GOP factional strains

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The election of 26 more Democrats to the House will cause more strain between the conservative coalition that helped elect President Reagan and Republican moderates, a Brookings Institution magazine said Sunday.

The liberal-to-moderate policy research organization, in its winter edition of the Brookings Review, said the Reagan administration must include traditional Republican thought in order to succeed.

"Though his administration has moved the direction of American government sharply to the right, the president continues to stand on a broadly consistent program," the review said on its cover.

"Now the job is to keep that program sufficiently wide and inclusive to maintain social harmony and achieve enduring political success," it advised.

An accompanying article by A. James Reichley, a senior fellow at Brookings, said traditional GOP moderates as well as the conservatives were an important boost to Reagan's election and in the first two years of his administration.

filibustering an unworthy cause

Senate debates degenerate into pettiness, meanness

The unwritten rules by which senators live are those of dignity, graciousness, politeness approaching reverence. No matter what they feel, they treat one another with the respect and deference reserved in other lands for deity, or at least royalty. That's the rule.

No matter how meticulously he adhered to the written rules of the Senate, no matter how polite his language, the judgment of the senators was that Sen. Helms was acting unreasonably, discourteously and unreasonably toward the rest of that body. It was, of course, Christmas time, and they all wanted to go home. This of itself would not be enough to trigger the hostility they

Illinois home fire claims 7

CENTREVILLE, Ill. (UPI) — Fire that started near a pair of space heaters swept a one-story home Sunday, killing seven people including a 79-year-old woman and five of her great-grandchildren, authorities said.

The only survivor was Alma Ayers, 59, the children's grandmother, who suffered burns down the right side of her body as she fled out a kitchen door.

James Radden, St. Clair County coroner, identified the victims as Arnet Morgan, great-grandmother of the five children, who all were cousins; Antonio Carril, 10; Monica Thomas, 7; Lituna Carril, 7; Larry Stanberry, 5; Franco Carril, 2; and Sam Addell, 6.

Addell's relationship to the family and the whereabouts of the children's parents at the time of the fire were not immediately known.

Radden said it appeared the fire started in the living room in an area where a fuel oil heater, an electric heater and a couch all stood "fairly close together." He said two of the children's bodies were found near the couch.

"The couch may have caught fire," he said.

Radden said Mrs. Ayers told authorities she was sleeping in a back room of the five-room house and woke up to find the building filled with smoke.

He said Addell, Antonio Carril and Larry Stanberry had been in the middle bedroom and it appeared they tried to escape out the back door but by mistake entered the bathroom at the rear of the house and were trapped.

The bodies of Mrs. Morgan and little Franco Carril were found in the front bedroom, next to the living room, where the fire was fiercest, Radden said.

Centreville is across the Mississippi River from St. Louis.

Prison security tightened

PRINCE GEORGE, Va. (UPI) — Security was tightened at the Federal Correctional Institution Sunday following a brawl between rival gangs of prisoners which left a jail employee dead and an inmate injured.

"We are questioning all of the inmates and sometime today we're going to make an assessment of the mood to determine if measures we imposed can be lifted," said prison administrator Jim Rich.

Gregory Gunter, 31, a construction and maintenance foreman, was stabbed to death Saturday and inmate Ricky Perrell, 24, suffered multiple stab wounds in a fight involving about 50 inmates. The cause of the melee was not known.

Extra guards were called in and inmates were confined to their cells. The recreation yard and gym were closed; prisoners were led from their cells to breakfast, and visiting hours were suspended for most inmates.

An autopsy was scheduled today at the State Medical Examiner's Office in Richmond, said examiner Dr. Beverly Gates. Gunter is believed to have been stabbed by more than one inmate, officials said.

Fine print in spending bill takes up busing, abortions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The broad spending bill that became law last week prohibits use of federal funds for the MX missile as well as for abortion, school busing and even manual typewriters made in Eastern Europe.

The measure was in the form of a "continuing resolution," later signed by President Reagan, that provides funds to keep federal agencies operating despite lack of passage of fiscal 1983 appropriation bills for them.

The voluminous bill contains several prohibitions on the use of taxpayers' money, the most widely reported being the $988 million in initial production money for the MX nuclear missile that Reagan wants.

The anti-abortion amendment is the rider sponsored by Rep. Henry Hyde, R-Ill., that has been added to various bills each year since 1977. The anti-busing language also has been added in recent years.

Following are a few of the more interesting prohibitions in the measure that now is law.

• Abortions: "None of the funds provided by this act shall be used to perform abortions except where the life of the mother would be endangered if the fetus were carried to term."

• Busing: "No funds ... may be used for the transportation of students or teachers in order to overcome racial imbalance in any school or school system, or for the transportation of students or teachers in order to carry out a plan of racial desegregation of any school or school system."

• Nicaragua: "None of the funds ... may be used by the CIA or the Department of Defense to furnish military equipment, training or advice, or other support for military activities to any group or individual, not part of a country's armed forces, for the purpose of overthrowing the government of Nicaragua or provoking a military exchange between Nicaragua and Honduras.

• NATO troop levels: "None of the funds ... may be used to support active U.S. military personnel stationed on shore in Europe at the end of fiscal 1983 in excess of the planned number of such personnel stationed on shore in Europe at the end of fiscal 1982 (315,000)."

The law also says no Defense Department funds should be used to buy manual typewriters "manufactured by facilities located within states which are Signatories to the Warsaw Pact." No mention is made of electric typewriters.

Other sections prohibit federal agencies from buying autos that get less than 22 miles per gallon, bar the military from buying coal or coke from foreign nations for U.S. bases in Europe when U.S. coal is available, and prohibit the Legal Services Corporation from providing legal aid to an alien who is not a U.S. resident.

Chisholm steps out

NEW YORK (UPI) — Shirley Chisholm, the first black woman elected to Congress, is stepping down after 14 years in the House of Representatives, but says she is not retiring from the public limelight.

Chisholm, who announced last February she would not seek re-election to an eighth term, will begin teaching "pragmatic politics" three days a week next month at Mount Holyoke College in South Hadley, Mass.

As her staff sorted through files and packed boxes in her Brooklyn office, Mrs. Chisholm, 58, who also was the first black woman to run for president, hinted at other projects that will keep her involved in public affairs.

She said she hoped to do some radio or television work, intended to pursue her efforts supporting black colleges and become involved with the National Council of Negro Women, founded by Mary McLeod Bethune, one of her personal heroines.

Mrs. Chisholm also said she would continue to be vocal in international affairs, particularly concerning South Africa and the United States' "racist" immigration policies, which she contended unfairly bar Haitians and African refugees from entering the country.

Stitches removed from Nancy's lip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — First lady Nancy Reagan received what she termed her best present of the Christmas season Sunday: removal of four stitches remaining from treatment last week for a cancerous growth above her upper lip.

Dr. Diane Colgan, the plastic surgeon who performed the biopsy on Mrs. Reagan last Monday, removed the stitches at the White House, a spokeswoman for the first lady said.

President and Mrs. Reagan, joined by daughter Patti Davis, fly to Phoenix, Ariz., today to visit Mrs. Reagan's mother. The president and first lady then will fly to California, where they will remain through New Year's Day.

Hunger-Free Program Helps Mother of 3 Lose 100 lbs., 9 of them in a Single Week!

BY DON DAVIS
Special Writer

"It's really strange," says Marilyn Dryden. "People notice me again. I've even had wolf whistles from men on the street. It's hard for me to believe that they are whistling at me."

Marilynn may find it hard keeping up with the sudden changes in her life, but it's easy to understand why men notice the 29-year-old mother of three.

She is tall, leggy, very shapely and very attractive. None of these adjectives could be used to describe Marilyn just a few short months ago. "Immense" was the cruel but accurate word that fitted her best then.

Marilynn weighed more than 260 pounds! "Her face was so round, you didn't even see her features," says her husband, Ernest. "The change has been tremendous. She looks terrific!"

The reason for the tremendous change: Marilyn has lost 100 pounds!

She's another walking testimonial to the effectiveness of Nutri System Weight Loss Centers. Thousands of successes similar to Marilyn's have made Nutri System one of the nation's largest chains of weight loss centers.

In fact, Marilyn's next-door neighbor is another Nutri System success story. "She lost 100 pounds too. I was so impressed with her that I had to try it," she explains.

In the past decade Nutri System has grown to a chain of more than 530 offices nationwide. The company has revolutionized the concept of weight loss.

It works without pills or drugs. It works quickly without starvation dieting. And it works for people like Marilyn who have tried time-and-again to diet without lasting or meaningful results.

"Yes, I tried many diets, and I tried diet pills. Nothing worked," Marilyn says. "The weight just kind of crept up on me slowly, ever since I left high school."

Obesity is not only a life-threatening health problem. It usually carries with it severe emotional and psychological side effects. Marilyn was no exception.

"I was unhappy with myself," she says. "That made me grumpy with my husband and kids. You

"Immense" was an accurate description of 260-pound Marilyn Dryden, whose weight remained constant despite assorted diets and diet pills.

Her depression disappeared — along with 100 lbs. — when Marilyn discovered Nutri System and lost that weight quickly, easily and without being hungry, leading her husband to comment: "She looks terrific!"

can't be happy unless you're happy with yourself."

Her husband, Ernest, says, "She'd get real depressed, and you just couldn't get her out of it."

"Since Marilyn lost 100 pounds, Ernest says, "There's been a 180-degree turn. She has self-confidence. Her spirits are high. I really can see the change."

Marilynn says that she would have joined Nutri Systems many years ago if she had known how easy the program worked.

How easy was it? "Well, I lost seven pounds the first week," she says. "After that it was a steady loss, and there was even one week when I lost nine pounds!"

Quick weight loss is a keystone of the Nutri System method. Many dieters lose a pound or more a day. "I couldn't have done it slowly," she says. "I wouldn't have the patience to struggle through another slow diet. With Nutri System, I saw real results everytime I went to the center to weigh-in."

As people vary so do their weight losses. At Nutri System each client is evaluated on an individual basis to insure maximum weight loss in the minimum amount of time.

At Nutri System each client is given a goal. With the help of the center's exclusive Weightminder computer — an "ideal" weight — is selected. The computer also gives a target date for attaining the goal.

The client is provided with a written guarantee that he will achieve his weight goal in the predicted number of days or he stays in the program at no extra charge until he achieves his goal.

While there are no pills or medication for the client, the program operates under constant professional supervision.

Throughout the program, the center's staff of nurses checks the client's health and progress.

The reason clients shed pounds at Nutri System while other diets fail, is the center's own line of high-protein, low-calorie foods.

"All I had to do was eat exactly what I was told," Marilyn says. "The decisions were made for me. I followed the diet exactly. It was easy. And the most surprising thing is that I was never hungry!"

Marilynn echoes the words of thousands who have enjoyed the filling Nutri System meals. All dishes all prepared to satisfy a discriminating gourmet's taste. "I love the veal meatballs, cariote sauce, the pepper steaks and pan-cakes," says Marilyn.

But there is much more to the Nutri System program besides good, non-fattening food. All clients attend weekly behavior education classes.

"We have a wonderful teacher, and I just love the classes," Marilyn says. "They have been very, very helpful. You learn to think of yourself as a thin person and how to avoid the pitfalls."

Now that Marilyn has reached her goal, she will join Nutri System's maintenance program. She will return to her regular meals, but she will have the constant help and advice of the staff. Classes will continue for a year.

Nutri System knows that losing weight is meaningless if the client returns to his former eating patterns. In a short time the weight will be regained.

The success rate of Nutri System's maintenance program is without parallel. Nutri system knows that poor eating habits can be broken and new patterns established.

Marilynn feels she has finally lost her craving for junk food. Right now, she and her family are thrilled by the many changes in her life. "I have more energy than ever. I can even jog!"

And she says, "It's wonderful to buy stylish clothing. When you are as big as I was, you can't find clothes. It's very depressing."

"I'm wearing shorts — outside my house!" she declares. "In fact, people tell me I look better today than I did in high school."

"I feel good about myself. My mood is good. I proved to myself that I could do it. It's a real good feeling," she says.

NOTE: Nutri-System-Weightloss Center is located at 525 Blue Lakes Blvd., North, Twin Falls. To arrange for a free consultation about your individual weight problem, phone 734-0405.

GENDER PREFERENCE

Q. What proportion of the men would rather be women and vice versa?

A. One out of every 25 men wish they'd been born female. One out of every six women would have preferred to have been male. Those are the pollsters' figures. It's remotely possible they're correct.

Q. Who's the shortest player in the National Basketball Association this year?

A. Charlie Criss of the San Diego Clippers at 5 feet 8.

Q. I know the Chinese in the Peoples Republic eat dog meat, but do they also eat snails?

A. No, sir, snails they grind up to make sauce for hemorrhoids.

LONELIEST PEOPLE

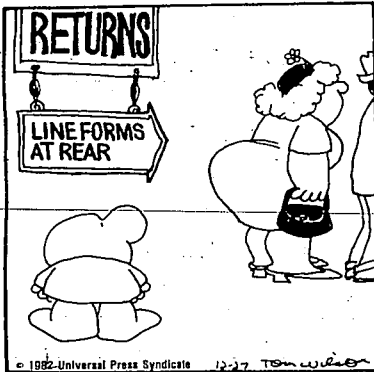

Who are the loneliest people? Evidently not the elderly, as widely believed. Scholars who have studied this matter claim the sad distinction goes to those under age 25.

There are those who have compared the powerful Ismela Marcos, wife of the Philippines president, to the late Evita Peron, wife of the past Argentine president. Ismela doesn't like it. She has banned the musical "Evita."

History buffs try to put Bentley's mark on stamp

Now, 51 years after Bentley's death, some history buffs are determined to put his mark on a U.S. postage stamp.

The Jericho Historical Society recently launched its third attempt to have a commemorative postage stamp issued in honor of "Snowflake Bentley" — who in his lifetime photographed 5,381 snowflakes and found no two alike.

"I'm all for it," said Amy Bentley Hunt, 83, of Hinesburg — who helped her uncle in his work.

Bentley made his first photographic enlargement of a snowflake nearly 98 years ago, and spent much of the next 46 winters expanding on his work.

He acknowledged his research was a labor of love, and once described snowflakes as "gems from cloudland."

"There is need of a greater love for and appreciation of such things, of the beautiful and wonderful in nature," he wrote in a 1929 letter.

Bentley collected snowflakes on a black board, examined them with a magnifying glass, then took pictures with a microscope-equipped camera that could magnify ice crystals up to 3,600 times.

The process was done in an unheated room, and he sometimes used a feather to brush snowflake specimens on to glass slides.

"The day that I developed my first negative made by this method, and found it good, I felt almost like falling on my knees beside that apparatus and worshipping it," he once said.

"It was the greatest moment of my life."

The historical society twice before nominated Bentley for a commemorative stamp, but the 18-member Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee — which receives 4,500 such requests each year and makes recommendations to the postmaster general — rejected both nominations.

Historical society spokesman Blair Williams said the committee did not give reasons for the rejections, but that the society decided to try again, requesting a commemorative stamp be issued in 1985 to observe the 100th anniversary of Bentley's first snowflake picture.

The previous requests were attempts to mark the 100th anniversary of Bentley's birth, and to honor him during the 1980 Winter Olympics.

Bentley died 51 years ago this week. His work is still considered pioneering, and several prominent scientists have written to support the nomination.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — A newspaper photograph led to a double dose of Christmas joy for Don Pape.

It included a reunion with his mother who he believed killed in an Alaska avalanche 46 years ago and a cross-country conversation with a son he hadn't seen since World War II.

"I'm surprised, thrilled, I don't now what to say. It's a miracle," said Pape, 68, from Richmond, Calif., after talking with his son, David D. Jones, 40, of Memphis Tenn., on Christmas Day.

Pape had been looking for his six children since World War II when they were put up for adoption while he was at sea with the merchant marine.

He had located four of them.

On Christmas Eve, Pape was reunited with his 91-year-old mother, Mrs. Eva St. Onge. Pape had not seen her since 1929 when she went to Alaska for a cooking job and he was sent to live with his father's parents in Los Angeles. When he inquired in 1936, Skagway, Alaska, police told him she was killed in an avalanche.

Mrs. St. Onge, who now lives in a retirement home in Vancouver, B.C., and her son were put in touch with each other last October by Social Security officials.

On Christmas Day, the Memphis Commercial-Appeal ran a UPI picture of Pape and his mother together in California. When Jones saw it, something clicked in his memory.

"I saw the reunion picture and the name Pape, which is an unusual name, but which I had known was my father's," said Jones. "I told my wife, 'I believe that's my father.'"

Jones had been adopted by a California couple when he was two years old, and had been searching for his parents for years.

He discovered that his mother had been named Mrs. Jessie Pape, and that she had died in childbirth in 1942. He'd been told that his father had died at sea during World War II.

Jones got in touch with Pape, and asked if he had been married to a Jessie Pape.

When Pape answered yes, Jones said "Well I think you're my father. I've been looking for you for 40 years. He was speechless for a moment, and then said, 'I've been looking for you for 40 years too.'"

Jones said Pape told him that he had tried to keep the family together after the death of his first wife, but that his second wife had put the children up for adoption without his knowledge.

"The only thing I had been told was that my father was lost at sea," said Jones who plans to go to California soon to meet his father. "I spent 22 years in the Navy as a career and everywhere I went, I searched for him to no avail. I'd just about given up."

Afghans split over protest

By United Press International

Western powers Sunday marked the third anniversary of the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan by calling on Moscow to end its occupation of the Asian country, but a protest in India indicated a rift in the Afghan resistance movement.

In Washington, President Reagan reaffirmed U.S. support for a negotiated settlement that would return Afghanistan to the hands of independent, non-aligned nations. "We in the United States," he said, "sincerely hope that the new leadership of the Soviet Union will take advantage of the opportunities the new year will no doubt offer to achieve peace for Afghanistan."

"The American people do not want to see the suffering and deprivation of the Afghan people continue," Reagan said in a written statement. "But we will not grow weary or abandon them and their cause of freedom."

Several Western European nations also called for an end of the Soviet occupation, but in New Delhi, India, a hunger strike by Afghan refugees outside the Soviet embassy mustered only 13 people.

Another 150 Afghans refused to spend the night outside the embassy with their fellow countrymen, saying they were communists.

Afghan activist Sayed Malwand described the 13 hunger strikers "as a group that was pro-Chinese and has now turned into pro-Afghan and pro-Pakistan communists." "It's difficult to demonstrate because there is no unity," Malwand told UPI.

The hunger strikers, who planned to spend Sunday night fasting outside the embassy, denied they were communists and charged that Malwand and his followers feared arrest.

The Italian government condemned the Soviet Union's "continued occupation" of Afghanistan in a statement issued in Rome.

"The strong military repression continues to represent, for its grave violation of human rights, an element of tension in East-West relations," said the statement, released by the foreign ministry.

The statement underlined the need for a "negotiated solution" to the "Afghan problem."

"The Italian government reaffirms its commitment to work to alleviate the dramatic suffering of the Afghan refugees," the statement said.

In Bonn, West German Foreign Minister Hans Dietrich Genscher also appealed to the Soviet Union to withdraw from Afghanistan.

He said in a statement more than 3 million Afghans, about one-fifth of the population, have fled the country while military resistance to the Soviets continued.

Also in Bonn, the Afghan-Social Democratic Party called on all governments to give arms to Afghan freedom fighters and to exert pressure on the Soviet Union to end its occupation.

"We want the new Soviet leader Yuri Andropov not to repeat the mistakes of his predecessor," the statement said. "It is not too late to correct your policy by withdrawing your army from Afghanistan and respecting its territorial integrity."

Leftists seek new controls

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexican money traders said Sunday they were swamped with business from U.S. travelers, but leftist opposition parties called for the government to reimpose exchange controls to prevent foreign firms from taking advantage of Mexico's economic crisis.

In Nuevo Laredo, across from Laredo, Tex., exchange house operator Homero Gonzalez said shops in the Mexican city had their best Christmas season in memory, with "lots of tourists."

Gonzalez said he had been forced to stop trading dollars for three months because of complicated exchange controls, which were lifted Dec. 20 in time for Christmas.

He said most stores in Nuevo Laredo offered 148.5 pesos to the U.S. dollar and had taken virtually all the money trading business away from Texas exchange houses, offering only 138 pesos to the dollar.

"It's much better than before when the exchange controls were in effect," Gonzalez said.

Mexico still has some forms of exchange controls, but for foreign commerce, but dollars are freely bought and sold in banks and exchange houses.

In Ciudad Juarez, across from El Paso, Tex., Banking Center President Arturo Carrillo estimated that exchange house in the Mexican city received nearly $1 million during the Christmas weekend.

Carrillo said the Juarez money traders sold only $373,000 in greenbacks because Mexicans were unwilling to buy high priced dollars and have broken their habit of shopping in the United States.

A close adviser to President Miguel de la Madrid recently conceded the country's experiment in exchange controls was a "complete failure," noting many tourists stayed away from Mexico because of the confused money market.

Bridge, bus fall, 45 die

DACCA, Bangladesh (UPI) — A bridge in rural Bangladesh collapsed under the weight of an overloaded passenger bus Sunday, sending the vehicle plunging 60 feet into a river bed and killing at least 45 people, officials said.

Local residents recovered 40 bodies from the river bed at Brahmanbari, about 75 miles southeast of Dhacca, and 5 others died from their injuries after being admitted to hospitals. Altogether, 80 seriously injured passengers were hospitalized.

Official sources said the bus carried more than 100 passengers, some of them on its roof.

As the vehicle crossed the river, the bridge collapsed and the wooden body of the bus broke into pieces as it struck the river bed about 60 feet below.

Army rescue teams were rushed to the scene of accident.

Twin Falls' open container ban brings few arrests so far

By MARTY TRILLHAASE
Times-news writer

TWIN FALLS — It may have been the climax of the summer's controversy over "cruising," but the city's new open-container ban has led to only a handful of arrests and prosecutions.

However, Twin Falls officials say the ordinance is necessary one, and that it is too early to judge the number of arrests made.

City Council members passed the ordinance in November in an effort to divorce alcohol from the practice of cruising.

The ordinance banned the possession of an open container of beer and wine while driving, or simply occupying a vehicle that is on a public street or other public areas. Violation could be punished by up to a $300 fine and a 30-day jail sentence.

State law already prohibits the possession of an open container of liquor in similar circumstances. But so far, only five people have been arrested, and here's how those five cases break down:

- One did not go to court.
- Two persons also were charged with driving while intoxicated. In exchange for pleading guilty to the more serious charge, prosecutors agreed to drop the open-container charge in both cases.

- Of the two defendants charged solely with violating the open-container ordinance, one has pleaded guilty and has been fined $5. The other defendant has pleaded innocent and will go on trial next month in Fifth District Magistrate Court.

Officials attribute the low number of arrests partially to the fact that the ordinance went into effect just as the cruising season was ending.

They add that the ordinance probably has had a deterrent effect, which may account for the low number of arrests.

"It seems to have had some effect. But the full effect can't be experienced until the summer," says Susan Swanberg, the city's attorney. "I know of people who used to drink a beer on their way home from a fishing trip. They don't do it any more, or they dispose of it before they enter the city limits."

Even though all five defendants ranged in age between 19 and 20, police Chief Tim Qualls notes

'Surprises' in codes may vanish

By STEPHANIE SCHOROW
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A citizens committee hopes to remove "the element of surprise" from the city's building codes.

The committee, which has spent nearly four months studying the 1982 edition of the Uniform Building Code, has submitted to Twin Falls City Council a series of recommendations designed to make the code more accessible to "the man on the street."

Recommendations include the establishment of a pre-application process for those seeking building permits, the publication of a pamphlet detailing the building permit application procedure and the creation of a "plan room," containing necessary building-code information, for use by the general public.

The adoption of most of the 1982 Uniform Building Code also is urged. The committee also suggests that the city rescind its adoption of the national Life Safety Code, because the revised code and additional recommendations contain adequate life-safety features.

City Council was presented a copy of the recommendations last Monday, and it will vote on their adoption at a later date.

Last winter, a group of businessmen blasted city officials, alleging overly strict and arbitrary enforcement of the city's building code. Councilman Emery Petersen also has contended that portions of the UBC are incompatible with economic and other conditions in Twin Falls.

In August, City Council formed a committee to study the newest version of the Uniform Building Code, which sets national minimum building standards. The UBC is updated every three years by the International Conference of Building Officials.

In past years, City Council automatically adopted the updated version of the UBC. But in August, council appointed a committee to study the revisions before the code is accepted.

The committee was composed of Dave Armstrong, a commercial builder; John Bonnett, a commercial and industrial contractor; Lyle Frazier, a home builder; Burke Vanderhoef, a home and commercial remodeler; Jack Muldoon, the owner of Pennywise Drug Store; Rudy Ashenbrenner, the owner of Price Hardware; and Bill Powell, the owner of Troy National Laundry.

Members met weekly with staff from the city building, zoning, fire, engineering and administration departments.

According to a letter to the city from Armstrong, the committee chairman, the committee's scope was expanded from the review of the 1982 UBC code to an overall study of city building-permit guidelines and procedures.

The committee found that "basic problems currently exist in the community with regard to enforcement and enactment of the present code and procedures," the letter said. In a presentation last Monday to City Council, Armstrong said most complaints about building codes stemmed from a lack of knowledge about the code. "So basically, the problem is the element of surprise," he said.

Armstrong said the committee unanimously recommended that council adopt the 1982 UBC code except for chapters 23, 35, 53 and 70, which were deemed unapplicable or unnecessary for Twin Falls. These chapters cover such areas as requirements for earthquake zones, sound-transmission control in hotels and apartments, energy conservation in new buildings, and excavation and grading requirements.

The committee also recommended adoption of a new chapter in the UBC, setting a three-year timetable for

Council ponders zoning panel membership requirements

By STEPHANIE SCHOROW
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Changes in membership requirements for the Twin Falls Planning and Zoning Commission are being contemplated by Twin Falls City Council.

A particular concern to City Council is the voting status of area-of-impact commission members. Two of the nine persons on the commission represent the "area of impact," a section outside the city limits that is subject to city regulation.

Presently, the two area-of-impact members, who are appointed by the Twin Falls County commissioners, can only vote on issues directly affecting the area of impact. This means these members "seldom have anything to vote on," according to Councilman Emery Petersen.

Yet, Petersen contends, area-of-impact residents are affected by decisions on issues taking place within the city limits. Moreover, projects in the area-of-impact are subject to such city requirements as building permits, he says.

This area, he feels, "deserves some representation" in city government.

Area-of-impact residents cannot vote in city elections, although City Council decisions affect them. Petersen says that one way to give these residents representation is allowing area-of-impact members on the "city's most important committee" to vote on all issues.

Other council members agree, and the city staff has been directed to draw up an amendment to the municipal code that would give area-of-impact members full voting rights. Thus, the commission would be expanded to nine, instead of seven, members.

Petersen says this change would encourage attendance by area-of-impact members. Otherwise, "it's hardly worthwhile (for them) to come to every meeting."

One area that remains to be worked out is the selection of area-of-impact members. Presently, they are appointed by the county commissioners.

Petersen and council member Mary McCluskey have been designated to meet with the commissioners after Jan. 1 to work out changes in the agreement about selection of the members.

Twin Falls Mayor Chris Talkington says City Council would like the power to appoint the members. In return for granting area-of-impact members full voting rights.

Another complication in membership requirements for the zoning commission is a 1982 city ordinance that states that "not more than one-third of the members of the commission may reside outside the city."

This means that up to two persons on the seven-member board may live outside the city and still have full voting rights. Currently, a full-voting member of the commission, lives outside the city limits. She recently was re-appointed to the board, despite some concerns about her residency.

"Conceivably, people living in Buhl can serve on the Twin Falls Planning and Zoning Commission," Talkington says.

Talkington says he personally feels that only residents living within the city limits should be considered for zoning board seats representing the city.

His sentiments are not shared by all council members, however. Petersen, for example, feels that the possibility of someone from Buhl being appointed to the Twin Falls board is "ludicrous." He believes that persons who live in the city, but who work and own property in the city, should be allowed to serve on the board if they are qualified.

If area-of-impact members are given full voting rights, their membership would count toward the one-third stipulation, according to Susan Swanberg, the city's attorney.

This means that only one other person from outside the city limits could be appointed to the board, Swanberg says.

Deputies set up own association

By MARTY TRILLHAASE
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — County sheriff's deputies plan to organize a non-profit corporation that will allow each department to accept cash donations.

Incorporation documents for the Twin Falls Sheriff's Office Benefit Association are in the process of being filed with the Secretary of State's office, deputies say.

The move is significant because it will allow the deputy organization to receive donations directly. Until now, donations to the sheriff's office have been virtually meaningless, because Idaho law requires such revenues to be placed in the county's general fund.

"By this being separate and apart from any other part of the county, these funds are controlled by the members," says Chief Deputy Harold Jensen, the organization's president. "The purpose is to collect monies from whatever source that will benefit the officers and the sheriff's office."

And under the organization of a non-profit corporation, contributions may receive tax benefits, he says.

Such organizations are nothing new. For example, the Twin Falls

Police Department has its own benefit association, Jensen says. But deputies apparently decided just recently to form their own organization, which Jensen says had been a source of discussion among officers for some time.

One incentive was the fact that without the organization, the department could not receive a pending donation from operators of the Twin Falls County Fair carnival, he says.

But the action does come at a time when the deputies have been locked in a continuing dispute over pay with the county commissioners. The deputies have fought an unsuccessful court battle against the commissioners, and they now are planning to take the issue to the voters early next year in the form of a special election.

Noting that the county's fringe-benefit program for its employees is limited, Jensen says the association intends to use its revenues to provide additional benefits to officers.

Mormon elevators rising near Burley

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

BURLEY — Looming up like cold gray giants in the winter sky, 10 concrete grain and bean elevators have been built seven miles south of Burley, as part of a Mormon Church program.

Commodities stored in the bins will be processed into bread and other products for use in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints welfare program, says Don LeFevre, the public-relations director for the church in Salt Lake City.

When its members are in need, the church helps by providing basic foodstuffs from one of 75 storehouses across the country, LeFevre says.

Many Mormon districts — called stakes — have a welfare program, LeFevre says. Most are agricultural in nature. The various stakes, which include several wards or congregations, contribute goods to be distributed through the welfare system, he says. Those goods are gathered at the storehouses.

"Grain is the staff of life. We have grain storage areas in Salt Lake City, northern Utah, and in other areas. The (Burley) grain elevators will be part of the overall system," LeFevre says.

The cost of the project has not been released by church officials.

The grain elevators stand 130 feet high, which is "above average," says Wayne Stewart, from Bon Inc., the contractor for the project. His firm, headquartered in Hutchinson, Kan., specializes in building agricultural elevators. Upon completion, the grain elevators will hold a million bushels, Stewart says.

Gene Hansen, from Triple C Concrete in Rupert, says that 3,300 yards of concrete went into the building of the grain silos, with 1,500 yards forming the bases. The bins measure 40 feet in diameter, and their walls are seven-and-a-half-inches-thick, he says.

The elevators were formed in a continuous, "around-the-clock" pour of concrete over a six-day period, Hansen says. That method was required to prevent cold joints or cracks in the material, he says.

Constructed in a similar manner, the bean elevators stand 100 feet high and will hold up to 300,000 bushels, Hansen says. About 1,100 yards of concrete will be used.

The Burley bean storage facility will be the only one of its kind in the Mormon welfare system, LeFevre says.

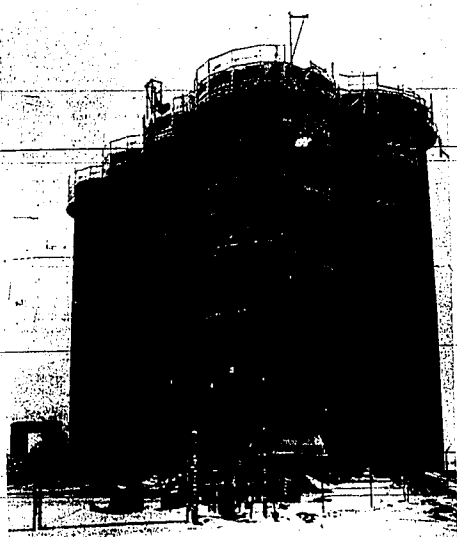

Workers currently are constructing the scales to weigh the trucks delivering the farm products.

A 13,000-square-foot bean warehouse also will be built on the five-acre property, which is owned by the church.

One of the biggest jobs remaining in the project includes the installation of the grain-handling machinery, Stewart says. The machinery will be placed over the next four months.

Stewart expects the entire complex to be completed by summer.

Construction began in September.

Bond review for Castleford

CASTLEFORD — The Castleford school board will hold a special meeting during the first week in January to discuss the bond issue.

The board must decide if it will put a bond issue — to raise money for a new school — before the voters again, said Superintendent Edward Sherk.

The bond issue failed in October, and under state law, it cannot be placed on the ballot before April.

Gilbert picked for IEA post

TWIN FALLS — A committee of Idaho Education Association members from the Magic Valley has chosen a former Idaho teacher as the new IEA regional director for this area.

Terry Gilbert, who began his teaching career in Marsing, will start working in the IEA's Twin Falls office by Feb. 1.

Gilbert currently holds a similar position with the North Dakota Education Association.

Before moving to North Dakota, Gilbert taught in Nampa and Aberdeen, Wash. He also served as the IEA president during the 1977-78 school year.

242 give blood at drawing

TWIN FALLS — A total of 242 donors each gave a pint of blood during drawings held last week in Twin Falls by the Sawtooth chapter of the American Red Cross.

Donors reaching various "gallon" levels were:

Jim Webb, 13 gallons; Curtis E. Smith, 12 gallons; John Thibault, 10 gallons; Ray Willecke, eight gallons; Sylvester Sonnen, six gallons; Will Buhler and Norman Roberts, five gallons; Carlene Heaps, Libby Sheridan and Edna Evans, four gallons; Rose Wetzstein, Dennis Butler and William Draper, three gallons.

Robert Carr, Michael Talley, David Winter and Cheryl Hall, two gallons; and Mark Stevens, Thomas Lewis, Randy Zagata, Marvin Veeder, Mari Sharp, Alvin Kusy, Mary Lou Peter, Virginia Butler and Mike Meyers, one gallon.

Ski mishap results in suit

BOISE (UPI) — A Los Angeles woman is seeking more than $45,000 from the Sun Valley Co. for injuries she allegedly received in a skiing accident at the central Idaho resort, according to U.S. District court files.

Patricia K. Mano claims, in a suit filed last week, that the company did not provide proper instruction for beginners, causing her to crash into a metal pole and suffer a "severely fractured" leg.

Twin Falls boy listed as fair

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — An 8-year-old Twin Falls boy who was injured during an accidental shooting improving and is now listed in fair condition, a University of Utah hospital spokeswoman said Sunday.

Terry Weeks had been on the critical list after he accidentally shot himself with a .22 caliber revolver on Dec. 17.

existing buildings to comply with minimum life-safety requirements.

Presently, the city requires buildings to conform to new life-safety requirements when the occupancy changes, remodeling occurs or, according to Armstrong, City codes set minimum life-safety standards for existing structures, but they give no timetable for compliance, he said.

The committee "recommends" all buildings be brought up to life-safety codes. We have unsafe buildings (in Twin Falls). Those must meet the code in three years," Armstrong said.

Other committee recommendations include:

A regular pre-building application conference between builders and city officials be established to ensure builders are aware of pertinent codes and other factors affecting construction.

The present method being used to calculate building-permit fees be continued.

The city's electrical inspector and the building inspector be "cross-trained" to allow them to perform each other's duties if one is absent.

The city investigate taking over the responsibility for plumbing inspections from the state.

"In all the years I've been building, I've never met the man (the state plumbing inspector)," Armstrong said. "He comes in the middle of the night or in the early morning and leaves a little tag, saying proceed."

But because plumbing inspectors' decisions have sometimes produced controversy, they should be involved in the pre-application process, Armstrong told City Council.

A booklet, explaining the city's building-permit application process, be prepared for the public. The booklet would contain a disclaimer saying the city is not liable for problems in the structure or safety of a building even when a fee for checking building plans is required.

A "plan room" be established for use by the public and developers to research their projects. The room would include current zoning rules, master street plans, flood zone maps and other related documents.

The UBC review committee continue to exist to assist and monitor the implementation of the recommendations.

Committee recommendations on life-safety code recommendations include:

Emergency lighting shall be installed in all stores, office buildings, schools, hospitals, hotels and apartment buildings unless exempted by the building officials. Emergency lights shall be located so that all exits are illuminated during a power interruption.

Corridors in stores, office buildings, hotels and other buildings that do not have the required amount of fire-resistant construction may be continued if smoke detectors are placed in every 30 feet of corridor.

that his department selectively enforced the law against young people.

"You're not dealing with selective enforcement. You're dealing with the people that we ran into, that our officers ran into on their shifts," Qualls says. "If the officer runs into it, they'll issue a citation or a warning. They're not going to ignore it, regardless of what ages or who has been involved with it."

Since so few arrests have been made, officials caution against making generalizations. But they insist that the ordinance is necessary. They note the law gives one more justification for stopping suspected drunk drivers. Police are authorized to stop drivers if they have probable cause evidence that a law is being violated.

"It would give us an opportunity to stop someone where before we couldn't," Qualls says. But he minimizes the importance of that aspect of the law, saying it is no more valuable "than any of the others. It's just a tool to use."

The law also gives Swanberg an additional bargaining chip in plea negotiations involving DWI defendants.

"As long as plea bargaining is going to occur, I'd just as soon have as many chips as possible on the state's side," Swanberg says. "I think it's really a useful law to have, and the message we were getting from the community is that the community did not want to have the behavior that was going on."

But the ordinance's true effectiveness won't be known until summer, when city officials will know whether the community at large wants to observe — or ignore — it, Swanberg concedes.

The ordinance is based on the public's willingness "to have some limitations imposed on their own behavior in exchange for solving some of the problems they saw in the cruising areas," she says. "If the community sends a message to us that they don't care to have it enforced, I think, before the police stop enforcing it, the message will get to the City Council and the City Council will repeal it."

Funds

"There are a lot of expenses that are not covered by insurance," he says. "It's that kind of a thing that will be a benefit."

For example, association funds may be used to pay a portion of a deputy's claims not covered by his insurance policy, or provide funding for dental work not covered by insurance, he says.

The association also would provide assistance to deputies who are injured and unable to work for an extended period of time, Jensen says.

But the funds will not be used to supplement deputies' salaries. "There is no one within this organization that will receive any payment for hours served," Jensen says.

No major fund-raising events have been announced, although the deputies say they will be selling calendars during the holiday season.

All but a handful of the department's full-time employees had paid membership dues as of last week. The membership rolls may be opened later to include the sheriff's reserve officers, Jensen says.

Dear Abby

Hazards in bathrooms

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: On Jan. 17, 1980, our "baby-proof" home was the location of a freak accident — the same freak accident experienced by Mr. and Mrs. J.G. of Phoenix.

Our 18-month old daughter, playing with her toys within 20 feet of us, disappeared into the bathroom. Her death followed five days later in a large city hospital after "she" was resuscitated at our local hospital.

We, too, never dreamed of such a lethal hazard. After a great deal of research and letter writing, we have learned that this is not such a "freak" occurrence. What upset us most was the lack of information we were provided. Constant warnings are given, and heard about household poisonings, electrocution, other types of bathroom hazards, plant hazards, auto safety, but never drowning in a toilet bowl!

Further, we learned that this type of accidental drowning information has been recorded at the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission in Washington, D.C. But why did we not hear or read a word about such a tragic possibility?

The sorry lesson we learned is that without supervision, a bathroom must be totally off limits to infants and small children. Thanks for helping to spread the word, Abby. Our lives have been tragically changed. Perhaps other parents will take heed to the danger their bathrooms hold. Sincerely,

—MR. AND MRS. FRANK DOWNS,
SOUTH CAROLINA

DEAR ABBY: This is to thank you for printing the letter from "Mr. and Mrs. J.G. in Phoenix," whose precious toddler actually drowned in a toilet bowl!

As a water safety instructor for the American Red Cross, I am appalled at my own ignorance in not recognizing the toilet as a safety hazard for children. The bathtub I recognized. The toilet bowl, never!

That mother's letter will be read and discussed in every class I teach from this day forward. Please let Mrs. J.G. know that she opened the eyes of at least one person, and that her tragedy should not occur to anyone I can reach through our water safety program.

—MELISSA DRUFF,
TEXARKANA, TEXAS

DEAR ABBY: My husband had the habit of leaving the toilet seat up until I showed him the letter in your column from "Mr. and Mrs. J.G. in Phoenix." Now he very carefully pulls the toilet seat down so our child will not be tempted to play in the toilet, as she has done in the past.

Please let those parents who lost their child in that freak accident know that because they cared enough to write and share their tragedy, they have changed any husband's habits, and may have saved our precious baby's life.

—THANKFUL PARENTS

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter from the couple who had lost their toddler in a freak accident in the bathroom, I felt very guilty for not having written to warn others of that household danger. You see, the same freak accident happened to a grand-nephew of mine.

Luckily, our toddler was found in time, although he was semiconscious and his lips were blue. He had just learned to walk and was fascinated with the water in the commode. He wandered into the bathroom, evidently pulled himself up and then fell in head first and was unable to get out again.

My heart goes out to the grieving parents who wrote asking you to alert others so that they might be spared the terrible tragedy those parents recently experienced.

Thank you, Abby, for recognizing the importance of their letter and selecting it for publication. And may God forgive me for not writing such a letter myself.

—MRS. S., HOLLYWOOD, FLA.

Winter driving tip

When your view is limited, you have to see danger to react to it, and reduced visibility from darkness, weather, traffic, road or even a dirty windshield can cut your perception time drastically. Regardless of how you look at it, stopping in winter takes more time. Plan on it. This reminder from the Idaho State Police.

Idaho edges Pilots

By The Times-News and United Press International

PORTLAND, Ore. — Withstanding a fiery Portland challenge in the second half, the Idaho Vandals defeated the Pilots in Sunday night's opening round of the Far West Classic, 13-7.

In Sunday night's first game, Oregon rallied from a 14-point deficit in the first half to defeat Montana State 44-35. The Ducks will confront Idaho for a semifinal Tuesday at 8 p.m. MST.

The Vandals and Pilots fought through four second-half ties, the last one coming at 48-48 with about seven minutes to go. But two free throws apiece from Brian Kellerman and Stan Arnold and a Kelvin Smith follow thrust Idaho into a 44-48 lead.

A three-point play by Brian Fundingsland and Tony Gray's steal and layup cut the Vandal margin to 54-53. Buckets by Smith and Kellerman sandwiched another Fundingsland bomb, putting Idaho in front 58-55, but with less than a minute left Dan Hunt tipped in a missed Portland shot to narrow the difference to one.

But in the closing seconds, Arnold coolly sank three of four free throws to keep Idaho in front. Moments later Pete Prigge added two more charity shots to set the final margin.

Portland actually controlled matters at the outset, as Dennis Black's six points enabled the Pilots to build a 14-9 lead.

Then came a fusillade of 12 consecutive Idaho points — while Portland failed to score for more than four minutes — thrusting the Vandals into a 23-16 lead with slightly less than eight minutes left. After a Phil Hopsan basket gave the Vandals their first lead at 17-16, Stan Arnold and Brian Kellerman sank two free throws apiece and Pete Prigge added a follow to expand Idaho's cushion.

Portland mounted a scant minutes later, closing to within 23-21 and gaining possession. The Pilots had three shots at cutting the margin to one, but missed them all. Idaho recovered, scoring the next five points to regain breathing room.

In Oregon's victory, Dave Brantley hit a jumper from the corner with three minutes to play to give the Ducks their first lead, 55-53. Oregon, 3-4, extended the margin at the foul line.

Montana State, 3-5, was held to just two points in the last six minutes and that was an insignificant basket following a steal with 10 seconds left.

Dallas' Butch Johnson stretches to make 1st-quarter TD catch past Eagles' Bernard Wilson

Broncos lose, 27-10

Raiders' half-effort succeeds

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — It's a good thing for the Los Angeles Raiders that football games are determined by final scores instead of strong performances in both halves.

Sunday, the Raiders — with Jim Plunkett throwing two first-half touchdowns passes to Marcus Allen — defeated the Denver Broncos 27-10, scoring all their points in the first half and coasting to the victory.

It figured, Los Angeles has been taking a half off each week. "Since the San Francisco game (a 23-17 Raider victory), we've been able to complete all passes or all runs," said Allen. "Likewise, we've either played well in the first half or well in the second half, but never in both halves."

Los Angeles Coach Tom Flores said the only good thing to come out of the game for the Raiders was the score. "We played some good football," Flores said. "But we missed some opportunities. We dropped two balls that would have been touchdowns and we dropped other passes and missed on some other passes that were thrown a little long."

"But I'm happy to come out of the game with a victory. From now on, it gets a little more exciting with the playoffs coming up."

Plunkett completed 16-of-32 passes for 261 yards as the Raiders improved their record to 7-1, the best in the AFC. The Raiders, who became the first team to clinch a playoff berth two weeks ago, can clinch the home-field advantage for the playoffs with a win over San Diego in their regular-season finale next week.

Denver Coach Dan Reeves, asked to compare the Raiders and Chargers, said, "The Chargers are somewhat better because of their offense but the Raiders have a better balanced game. It should be an interesting game next week."

"Today was a typical game in that we made too many early mistakes that cost us the game. We fought back and won the second half, but we didn't beat in the second half, we got beat in the first half."

Denver's Steve Deberg completed 12-of-23 passes for 173 yards and was intercepted twice as the Broncos fell to 2-4. He was replaced by Mark Herrmann in the second half. Herrmann passed for 23 yards, completing 13-of-28. He was intercepted three times.

The Broncos held Allen to just 15 yards in 12 carries but the rookie showed his receiving talents, catching five passes for 91 yards.

On their first possession of the game, the Broncos drove 55 yards to the Raiders' eight but Deberg's pass was picked off by linebacker Matt Miller, who returned the ball 10 yards to the Denver 41. After receiver Derrick Ramsey dropped an apparent TD pass in the end zone, the Raiders settled for Chris Bahr's 13-yard field goal with 1:48 left in the opening period.

The Raiders made it 10-0 early in the second period on Plunkett's 4-yard TD pass to Allen, who easily beat a Bronco linebacker in the corner of the end zone for his 11th TD. The score capped an 85-yard drive which included a 33-yard Plunkett-to-Malcolm Carnwell pass and a 29-yard pass interference penalty against Denver.

On the Broncos' next possession, rookie cornerback James Davis stepped in front of Deberg's pass intended for Steve Watson and returned it for a touchdown.

Eagles rise in 4th quarter, down Dallas

IRVING, Texas (UPI) — On a dark, dank day that was perfectly made for ghosts and goblins, the Philadelphia Eagles rose up from the NFL dungeon Sunday to haunt the Dallas Cowboys. The Eagles, picking up their biggest win since dumping the Cowboys in the NFC title game two years ago, rallied in the fourth quarter to down Dallas 24-20. It completed a back-to-back sweep of Texas teams, gave Philadelphia a 3-5 record and suddenly brought the Eagles back into playoff contention.

"I'm proud of our guys," Philadelphia Coach Dick Vermeil said in a "joyous Eagles' locker room." "I think they demonstrated that they are a good football team. I've thought we were a good team but we haven't demonstrated it since the end of the strike."

"Dallas is a great team but we didn't hang our head when things were going against us. And that's not easy to do."

A 10-yard touchdown catch by Harold Carmichael put Philadelphia in front with 8:25 to play and defensive end Gregory Brown made two huge plays that resulted in 10 points for the Eagles, who since the middle of last season have been in a continual slide.

Despite the loss, which wiped out a six-game winning streak, the Cowboys clinched a home-field advantage for the first round of the playoffs on the weekend of Jan. 8-9. Dallas, now 6-2, had clinched a playoff spot a week ago.

Both sides turned the ball over four times in the rain-marred game, for which 18,714 ticket buyers failed to show.

"The ball was slick," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "But it got knocked loose from both sides. I just think Philadelphia played better than we did."

"Teams lose. It happens. We have been very fortunate. We had won a lot of games in a row. You don't want it to happen but it does. Now what matters is how you bounce back from the loss."

The Eagles twice lost the lead in a rain-marred first half, trailed 17-14 at halftime and fell behind 20-14 after Dallas' Rafael Septien kicked his second field goal of the day four plays deep in the fourth quarter.

But Philadelphia drove 62 yards to take the lead at 21-20 with 8:25 to play on the 10-yard throw from Ron Jaworski to Carmichael and Tony Franklin added a field goal 10 minutes later after Brown stripped the ball from Dallas quarterback Danny White deep in the Cowboys' end of the field.

Brown scored Philadelphia's first touchdown, forcing a fumble by White at the Dallas five and then falling on the ball in the end zone.

Leroy Harris scored Philadelphia's second touchdown on the opening play of the second quarter with a 1-yard run to finish off a 55-yard march.

Dallas tied the game at 7-7 on a 34-yard pass from White to Butch Johnson with 4:10 to play in the first period and then took advantage of two turnovers to tie the halftime lead.

White threw an 11-yard scoring pass to tight end Doug Cosbie after Jaworski had fumbled the snap at his 41. Septien kicked an 18-yard field goal with two seconds to play in the half following an interception by Dennis Thurman.

After Philadelphia's final points, Dallas had the ball for three possessions but the Cowboys could not drive out of their end of the field.

The Eagles, who turned the ball over four times, began their winning touchdown drive at their 38 with a 22-yard throw from Jaworski to running back Wilbert Montgomery.

Jaworski also threw a 17-yard pass to John Spagnola and three plays later threw a 7-yard pass to Carmichael. That moved the ball to the Dallas 10 and on the next play, Jaworski lobbed the ball to Carmichael, who caught it over cornerback Everson Walls.

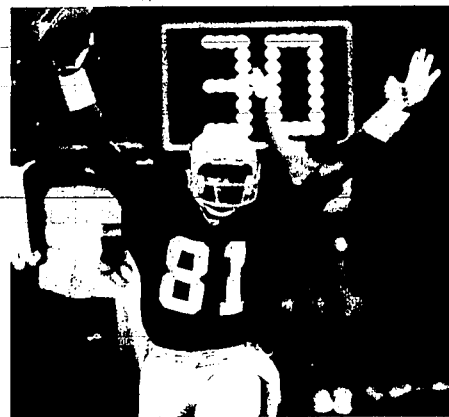

The Eagles seemed to be in control after their second touchdown but as has been the case with the Cowboys since the end of the player strike, the breaks suddenly began going their way — at least for a while.

Not only did Dallas convert two turnovers into 10 points in the second period but guard Herb Scott fell on a fumble by Ron Springs at the Philadelphia 11 which allowed the Cowboys to keep alive the touchdown drive that tied the game for the second time.

The first of the Eagles' second-quarter turnovers came during the midst of the hardest rain of the day — Jaworski losing control of the snap at his 41 and middle linebacker Bob Breunig diving on the loose ball.

It was the first of Dallas' score, having some help "not only from Scott's recovery of the Springs' fumble but also from an interference call on third down against linebacker Jerry Robinson.

The score came on a fourth-and-1 play and it resulted from a play that fooled the Eagles.

St. Louis' Roy Green exults after catching winning TD pass

Lomax leads late Card drive past NY

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Neil Lomax may finally have erased a lot of doubts in the last 17 seconds of Sunday's game between the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Giants.

"The second-year pro stood on the sidelines and watched Scott Brunner rally the Giants from a 17-7 deficit with two touchdowns passes to John Mistle in the final 4:29 to give New York a 21-17 lead with 17 seconds left."

But Lomax, who had been pulled in the fourth quarter of the Cardinals' two previous games, responded by connecting on three straight passes, capped by an 8-yarder to Roy Green with 27 seconds left, to deliver a dramatic 24-21 victory.

The win improved St. Louis' record to 5-3 and virtually assures the Cardinals of a spot in the expanded playoffs for the first time since 1975.

"I know there are a lot of doubts in people's minds about our team and the quarterback situation," Lomax said. "But I knew we could do it if we worked fast. This gives me confidence that we can win in any kind of situation."

After the Giants took the lead, the Cardinals started on their 30 and Lomax hit Green for 29 yards and then passed for 36 yards to Willard Harrell to move the ball to the New York eight.

The next play was designed to go to tight end Greg LaFleur but Lomax, with ample time to look for other receivers, spotted Green as he broke open across the middle for the winning score.

"I was looking at the tight end but they had him covered," Lomax said. "I started running around and I saw that Ollis Anderson was open but then I saw Roy standing there all alone."

Green, who had caught a touchdown pass earlier in the game, said the extra time provided Lomax allowed him to break free.

"My guy had me covered perfectly for the play so I just stopped," Green said. "I was supposed to run all the way across the field but I just stopped and stood there in the middle and Nell found me."

Bill Barcells, the Giants' defensive coordinator, who will become their head coach next season, said the touchdown was a result of a mixup by the New York defense.

"We only rushed three men and we should have rushed four," Barcells said. "That guy thought we were playing a certain coverage and we were playing another."

The Cardinals, who were 0-3 at home and 4-0 on the road before Sunday, will end the regular season at Washington next Sunday. The Giants fell to 3-5 and were virtually eliminated from the playoff chase.

Brunner connected on seven consecutive passes in a 66-yard drive before hitting Mistle with a 13-yard scoring pass with 4:28 left to narrow the gap to 17-14.

The Cardinals were unable to move on their next possession and the Giants got the ball at the 50 with 2:21 to play.

Brunner completed 4-of-5 passes, including a 20-yard throw to Mistle, to move the ball to the six with 1:12 left. The Cardinals' Rush Brown jumped offside of the next play and Brunner then connected with Mistle again for the score with 17 seconds left.

Roger Wehrli ran 18 yards with a fake field goal attempt for a touchdown to start the Cardinals to the victory, their third in their last four weeks. Wehrli announced last week that he would retire at the end of the season, his 14th in the NFL. He was honored before the game along with Mel Gray.

Wehrli received more cheers with 24 seconds left in the first quarter when on a fourth-and-three play from the 18, he took the snap from center and ran untouched around left end for the touchdown. The score was Wehrli's third touchdown of his career with the other two coming on pass interception returns.

The Cardinals increased the margin to 14-0 midway through the second quarter when Lomax found Green for an 8-yard touchdown pass. The pass capped an 80-yard drive and was just the fourth of the season for Lomax, who spotted Green in the back of the end zone after rolling to his right to escape the Giants' pass rush.

New York closed the gap to 14-7 just 18 seconds before halftime when Rob Carpenter plunged one yard for a touchdown.

Both teams try to overcome disappointments

Pittsburgh, Southern Methodist meet for 'consolation' title

DALLAS (UPI) — Even though a playoff system for major college football is an idea for which a time may never come, there appears to be a national championship game available this year.

But if Georgia and Penn State are to play the Super Bowl of college football at New Orleans on the evening of Jan. 1, the Southern Methodist Mustangs and Pittsburgh Panthers will have their own Consolation Bowl.

SMU and Pittsburgh will hook up in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day for their first meeting in 34 years, with both teams having had their hopes for a national crown all but crushed in their final regular-season outings.

The Mustangs, winners of the Southwest Conference championship for the second straight year and one of only two unbeaten teams in the country, had to fight from behind in their last game to tie the Arkansas Razorbacks, 17-17. That deadlocked slipped SMU from No. 2 to No. 4 in the national rankings.

And Pittsburgh, which started the year ranked No. 1 and experienced a wave of criticism from its fans because it did not stay there, lost to Penn State in its finale, 19-10. That left the Panthers with a 9-2 record and a No. 1 ranking.

But no matter what might be at stake, the game has a chance to be one of the more entertaining contests of the bowl season. The oddsmakers say the game is an even pick.

SMU will once again show off the running talents of Eric Dickerson (who finished third in the Heisman Trophy balloting) and Craig James — both of whom will be playing in their last collegiate contest.

And Pittsburgh quarterback Dan Marino, who was one of the preseason favorites to capture the Heisman only to suffer through a disappointing season, will be trying for one last win before moving on to a high-salaried contract in the National Football League.

"Pittsburgh is going to be the most well-balanced team we have seen," said SMU Coach Bobby Collins, who in his first year as Mustangs' coach guided them to their first unbeaten season since 1947. "We are going to have our hands full."

But if SMU can whip Pittsburgh and Penn State beats Georgia, Collins will be screaming loud and long that his team is No. 1 in the country.

"We would be the only unbeaten team and that speaks for itself," said Collins. Pittsburgh, meanwhile, will be trying to make up for a season's worth of turmoil and tragedy.

The Panthers were under intense pressure to perform this year and when they did not roll over teams by large margins they began to catch some flak from the fans.

"You would not believe the atmosphere surrounding our first game (a nationally televised contest against North Carolina)," said Fazio. "It was like a zoo."

"When people build you up so high, they expect great things."

The Panthers lost two of their last four games — to Notre Dame and Penn State — and soon after the season two Pittsburgh players openly criticized the play of star receiver Jason Dawkins.

Then, after that was smoothed over, backup linebacker Todd Becker died in a three-story fall from a dormitory window. The stunned Pittsburgh squad delayed their departure for Dallas for 24 hours because of Becker's death.

Fazio put up his team in Fort Worth, 30 miles from the Cotton Bowl site, for a week before bringing it to Dallas. At while in Fort Worth he secreted his team for three workouts at an undisclosed location.

Like most coaches who send their teams against SMU, Fazio said he was trying to figure out a way to slow down Dickerson — the Southwest Conference's all-time leading rusher.

"You have to stop him in a hurry," said Fazio. "If Dickerson gets one step free you are in trouble."

And Fazio figures Pittsburgh has had enough trouble already this year.

Packer Garry Ellis runs past a Falcon horde

Dickey, Packers blow away Atlanta, 38-7

Triumph puts Green Bay into playoffs; Falcons' 3-game-win streak ends

ATLANTA (UPI) — Lynn Dickey said it's doubtful he has ever thrown the long ball better as a pro, and the Atlanta Falcons were willing to verify that statement after being bombed 38-7 by the Green Bay Packers.

Dickey teamed with James Lofton on touchdown passes of 80 and 57 yards and his 50-yard completion to rookie Phillip Epps set up another score as the Packers clinched a playoff spot with the lopsided victory Sunday.

"This is probably the best day I've ever had as a pro throwing long passes," said Dickey, who completed 10-of-17 for 248 yards in just over three quarters of action.

Eddie Lee Ivey ran for two more touchdowns for the Packers, 52-1, and the Green Bay defense limited the NFC's leading ground attack to only 58 yards rushing.

"It was good to play well after letting one get away last week," said Green Bay Coach Bart Starr, referring to the Packers' disappointing 20-20 tie against winless Baltimore last week. "Dickey had not played consistently the last two weeks but today he was super. He had good protection which resulted in our being able to control the game."

Atlanta Coach Leeman Bennett said his team lost its momentum after clinching a playoff spot last week with a 17-7 triumph over San Francisco.

"We did not have a good week of practice," said Bennett. "Our week is out for us now to get the home field advantage in the first round of the playoffs."

It was only the Packers' second victory in the last five games and snapped Atlanta's three-game winning streak.

The Falcons, 5-3, got their only touchdown on a 3-yard pass from Steve Bartkowski to William Andrews in the second quarter to cut the Packers' lead to 14-7.

But the Dickey-to-Lofton touchdown passes, which came with 1:47 left in the second quarter and with 8:12 left in the third period, ended the Falcons' comeback hopes and the Packers, 4-point underdogs, turned the game into a rout. It was Atlanta's most lopsided loss since a 37-4 loss to New Orleans in 1979.

The Packers drove 80 yards for their first touchdown, with the key play a 43-yard pass interference call on Atlanta's Bobby Butler that put the ball on the Falcons' 25. Ivey got the touchdown on a 2-yard smash off left tackle with 1:31 left in the first quarter.

Dickey hit rookie Phillip Epps with a 50-yard pass down the right sideline to the Atlanta 12 to set up the second Green Bay touchdown which came a play later on Ivey's 12-yard sweep around left end.

"It was good to play well after letting one get away last week. (Lynn) Dickey had not played consistently the last two weeks but today he was super. He had good protection which resulted in our being able to control the game."

Bart Starr

The Falcons then drove 79 yards to their only score when Bartkowski, who hit 24-of-35 passes for 267 yards, completed throws of 18 and 17 yards to Floyd Hodge and 20 yards to Andrews before hitting Andrews from three yards out for the score.

The Packers answered immediately when Lofton got behind Atlanta's Kenny Johnson for an 80-yard score with 1:47 left in the half. The TD pass was the longest of the year for Dickey and Lofton's longest scoring reception in his career.

Capece ignores Lion's growls, kicks Bucs to 23-21 victory

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Heavily bandaged Bill Capece ignored the taunts of Detroit linebacker Stan White and calmly kicked a 27-yard field goal with just 25 seconds to play Sunday for his third field goal of the day.

The kick propelled Tampa Bay to a 23-21 victory over the Lions and put the 4-4 Buccaneers a step closer to a playoff spot.

Capece said White kept screaming, "Remember Oakland last year?" during a time-out as he awaited the "final" kick. White referred to a 31-yard field goal attempt by Capece with five seconds left that was blocked, preserving an Oakland victory.

"He kept screaming at me," Capece said. "He was screaming all kinds of things, but when I went back to the huddle (holder Larry)

Swider laughed and said, 'Just kick it down the pike.'"

Capece's left shoulder was heavily bandaged, a result of a dislocation suffered last week, as was his right thigh — his kicking leg — because of a groin pull.

"The injuries never crossed my mind," he said.

The field goal was the 14th for Capece in 18 attempts this year and made him the Buccaneers' leading career scorer with 129 points.

The Lions dropped to 3-5 and are on the brink of elimination from playoff consideration.

The winning field goal was set up when Lions' cornerback Bobby Wadkins was called for pass interference against Kevin House at the Detroit 13. Capece, who suffered a dislocated shoulder last week against Buffalo and almost was scratched from Sunday's game, clicked on the winning field goal after kicks of 34 and 29 yards in the second period.

Tampa Bay quarterback Doug Williams ran 3 yards for a third-period touchdown and then passed two yards for the final Buccaneers' TD to running back James Owens in the fourth period.

The Lions had taken the lead on two TD passes by Gary Danielson and a 3-yard scoring run by Billy Sims.

Danielson passed for 19 yards to Leonard Thompson in the first period for a score and seven yards to David Hill for a second-period TD. Sims' touchdown came on Detroit's first possession of the third period to give the Lions a 21-14 lead.

Capece said his injured shoulder did not affect his kicking.

"I had the feeling that in the end we would be down there and it would be decided on my kick," Capece said.

Williams completed 21-of-34 passes for 276 yards but Danielson was shut down in the second half. He hit 6-of-12 passes for 81 yards in the first half but was able to complete only one of four attempts in the second half for 15 yards.

Rookie Melvin Carver led the Tampa Bay rushers with 58 yards on 24 carries while James Wilder carried 11 times for 47 yards. Sims carried 21 times for 18 yards.

The Lions twice shut off Tampa threats in the final period. A Lions' rush forced Williams to hurry a pass early in the fourth period and linebacker Garry Cobb intercepted at the Lions' 2-yard line.

With about three minutes to go, tight end Jimmy Giles caught a 22-yard pass from Williams at the Lions' 20 but linebacker Roosevelt Barnes forced a fumble and recovered for Detroit. The ball was moved to the Detroit 35 after Williams was penalized for unsportsmanlike conduct after vigorously protesting the call.

The Buccaneers had their own big defensive play in the final period when defensive end Lee Roy Selmon sacked Danielson at the Detroit 1-yard line.

McDonald, Cleveland beat Oilers

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Cleveland Browns, behind a fresh quarterback, Paul McDonald, have picked themselves up off the mat after looking as if they were a knockout victim.

Fourth-year pro McDonald, who replaced veteran Brian Sipe a week ago, passed for 248 yards and one touchdown Sunday for a 20-14 win over the Houston Oilers.

McDonald did not throw an interception and in the two games since he has started, the Browns have beaten the Pittsburgh Steelers and Oilers.

Cleveland's defense came up with six turnovers, two of them on critical fumbles — by running back Earl Campbell, to provide another key to the game that improved the Browns' record to 4-4.

Afterward it was easy for Oiler defenders to point to the improvement in the Browns' offense since the two games last year between the teams, both won by Houston.

"Paul McDonald played an excellent game," safety Mike Reinhardt said. "He moves around well and did a good job of finding his secondary receivers."

Despite McDonald's performance, however, the Browns needed a Campbell fumble inside his five late in the fourth quarter to win. Campbell fumbled a well-thrown pitch into the backfield and then failed to recover his fumble in the end zone as the Oilers were trying to protect a 14-13 lead.

Browns safety Clinton Burrell recovered — on the 1-yard line — and tailback Charles White went over the top on the next play for a score and a 19-14 lead.

Campbell said the fumble and an earlier costly fumble were entirely his fault.

"I took my eyes off both of them as I was concentrating on getting upfield. I take full blame for both of them," he said.

Dave Logan turned a McDonald sideline pass into a 56-yard touchdown late in the second quarter as the Browns grabbed a 10-7 lead, but Donnie Craft scored on a 3-yard run late in the third quarter as Houston retook the lead.

Moments later, the Browns were forced to settle for Matt Bahr's second field goal.

Houston had scored first when Mike Renfro caught an 8-yard touchdown pass from Nielsen, the backup quarterback who was forced into the game when Archie Manning suffered a hamstring injury in the first quarter.

Nielsen drove the Oilers to midfield in the final minutes but Browns' safety Judson Johnson intercepted a desperation pass on fourth down to stop the Oilers.

Campbell's fumble was his second critical turnover of the game.

With Houston leading 7-3 and facing 2nd-and-goal at the Browns' 1-yard line, Campbell fumbled a handoff and Burrell recovered.

The Browns intercepted three Nielsen passes and one of the thefts allowed Cleveland to retain a 10-7 halftime lead.

Cornerback Ron Bolton caught a tipped Nielsen pass in the end zone as the halftime gun sounded to prevent Houston from scoring. On the play, the Oilers dislodged a potential field goal and went for a touchdown from the 13 with seven seconds remaining.

Jets smash Vikes, clinch playoff berth

Minnesota also makes post season, thanks to tiebreaker rules

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — New York Jets cornerback Bobby Jackson, haunted by a near-interception he dropped in last week's 20-19 loss to Miami, planned to redeem himself Sunday against the Minnesota Vikings.

He succeeded by intercepting two passes, scoring on one and returning a blocked field goal for another touchdown to lead the Jets to a 42-14 victory. New York advanced to the AFC playoffs by improving to 6-2 while the Vikings, 4-4, clinched an NFC berth because of an edge in all six tiebreaker categories.

Jets running back Freeman McNeil also scored two touchdowns but it was Jackson who broke the game open.

"Last week was a nightmare for me and I felt like I owed the team something," said Jackson, who dropped a sure interception in the final minute against Miami that allowed the Dolphins to move into range for their winning field goal with three seconds left.

"Before the game, he told me, 'Coach, I owe you one for last week,'" said Jets Coach Walt Michaels. "Last week, he dropped an interception that could have helped us beat Miami and he felt bad about it."

Although New York secured a spot in the playoffs for the second consecutive year, Michaels said his team has room for improvement.

"I doubt if I'll celebrate this," he said. "In a short season, a team might not look as good as it really is, but we've been fortunate."

The Vikings led in almost every statistical category but the Jets made their breaks. Minnesota quarterback Tommy Kramer admitted.

"We had plenty of opportunities but we didn't make the big plays and they did," Kramer said. "What really hurt us was that at the start of the second half the defense did a great job of stopping them and getting us the ball and we came out and didn't do a thing."

Later in the third quarter the Jets scored on a fake field-goal attempt with reserve quarterback Pat Ryan firing a 20-yard pass to Mickey Shuler.

In the first half the Jets scored twice in less than two minutes on a 1-yard run by McNeil and the blocked field goal attempt. Darrol Ray picked up 11 yards but as he was being tackled, Jackson yelled, "Give it to me."

"I had the ball lodged in my arms and I just tossed it out however I could," Ray said. "The ball was blocked to the side and even if we didn't recover, we could get the ball at the 20. But I figured I might as well take the chance."

Intercepted Minnesota's Tommy Kramer for the second time and raced 77 yards for a TD with 7:18 left in the game. Kramer had three interceptions but completed 32-of-59 passes for 328 yards.

In the second period, Mark Gastineau blocked a 25-yard field goal attempt by Minnesota's Rick Danneberg. Ray recovered the loose ball and ran 15 yards before it was jarred free on a tackle. Jackson picked it up and raced 80 yards for a touchdown to open a 14-0 lead.

McNeil had scored on a 2-yard run in the first quarter to cap an 80-yard drive highlighted by a 51-yard throw from Todd to Lam Jones.

Jets linebacker Lance Mehl intercepted Kramer at the Vikings' 42 in the second quarter and returned to the Minnesota 10. Two plays later, McNeil scored from the one to open a 21-0 lead. The second-year back finished with 82 yards on 18 carries to raise his league-leading season total to 703 yards on 139 carries.

Kramer completed 7-of-8 passes in the Vikings' next possession to move to the Jets' one with less than a minute left in the half. Kramer scored on the next play after taking a lateral from Ted Brown, who was being tackled for a loss.

Jackson intercepted Kramer in the third quarter at the Jets' 13 and New York moved to the Vikings 19, aided by a 51-yard pass from Todd to Shuler, who made a spectacular one-handed grab. The Jets opened a 28-7 lead with 1:12 left in the third quarter on Ryan's fake field goal throw.

Todd fired a 39-yard TD pass to Harper with 11:33 left to push the Jets' lead to 35-14.

Bears win, Payton gets milestones

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — Each time Walter Payton runs with a football, it's a special occasion for purists of the sport. But Sunday was extra special.

Payton ran two yards for his first touchdown of the year and became just the fourth NFL player to rush for over 10,000 yards as the Bears posted a 34-26 victory over the Los Angeles Rams.

"I dedicated this game to my son (Jarrett), who had his second birthday today," an emotional Payton said. "I hope when he's old enough he'll know how much this means to him and to me. I would have liked to have gotten the (10,000th yard) last week but I'm glad the way it worked out, being my son's birthday and all. It means an awful lot to me."

Chicago Coach Mike Ditka heaped praise on his running back.

"Walter owes me nothing. He owes football nothing. He's given to football everything he's got," Ditka said. "I can't say enough about Walter Payton. He contributed over half our offense today. He's a great player. It hurts me more than anybody when he doesn't have a great game."

It took a 10-yard scoring pass from Jim McMahon to Ron Mularum with 4:58 left to give the Bears the victory, just their third of the season against five losses. And the victory came despite the performance of Rams quarterback Vince Ferragamo, who completed 30-of-40 passes for a 1982 NFL season-high total of 509 yards. The previous high this season was 450 yards by Dan Fouts against San Francisco Dec. 12.

"I'm very, very proud of our defense," said Ditka. "We played against a great quarterback today. He's amazing. I've seen him do it before. I saw it when I was at Dallas. And he did it again today."

But Ferragamo said he'd turn in all the big numbers for a win.

"Stats are really misleading,"

Ferragamo said. "They really don't matter anytime you lose the game."

Ferragamo, who was not even a starter until Bert Jones was hurt three weeks ago, became just the third quarterback in league history to pass for more than 500 yards in a game.

Former Ram Norm Van Brocklin set the mark with 554 against the old New York Yankees in 1951 and Y.A. Tittle tossed for 505 yards for the New York Giants against Washington in 1962.

Ferragamo got off to a poor start, connecting on just one of his first seven attempts and throwing two interceptions that led to Bear scores. But he finished with three touchdown strikes, including a four-yarder to Preston Dennard with 10:35 left in the game to cut the Bears' lead to 27-26.

McMahon, a rookie from Brigham Young, also had a hot hand, throwing

Steelers end slump by routing Patriots

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Dismayed by a lackluster offense and two straight losses, Pittsburgh Steelers Coach Chuck Noll Sunday tried to cure his club's ills with a simplified game plan against the New England Patriots.

The prescription worked. Quarterback Terry Bradshaw, probably the most troubled player in the losses, came back with a 282-yard, two-touchdown passing performance that defeated the Patriots 37-14 and put Pittsburgh, 5-3, on the brink of its first playoff berth in three years.

Other offensive players also found new life. Franco Harris rushed for 101 yards, giving him his second 100-yard-plus rushing game of the year and the 41st of his career. And Lynn Swann, little used in recent weeks, became the team's all-time leading receiver with three catches good for 40 yards.

"We played the game the way it is supposed to be played today — all-out," Noll said. "Everyone was after it. We also found the offense we've been looking for."

"I was happy with the execution of our offensive line," he said. "They came off the ball and controlled the line of scrimmage. Terry was his old self."

Bradshaw completed 17-of-27 passes with no interceptions, including a nine-yard TD pass to John Stallworth in the second quarter and a 46-yard TD bomb to Greg Hawthorne in the game's high-scoring fourth quarter.

Rookie Gary Anderson kicked field goals of 21, 25 and 44 yards and four extra points. Although he had not attempted a field goal in the previous four games, Anderson ran his string of consecutive field goals made to nine.

Frank Pollard scored the Steelers' first touchdown on a 1-yard plunge, and rookie Walter Abercrombie scored his first pro touchdown, also from a yard out, in the fourth quarter.

"We executed our simplified offense very well," Noll said. "We started the day wanting to run the football, sort of back to basics."

"Franco had a good game. He had some good holes, and he took advantage of them. When we ran early, it was partly because we wanted to establish the run and also because it would help our protection of Terry. He pretty much called the offense the whole way and was accurate."

FRANCO HARRIS
Rushes for 101 yards

The victory by the Steelers dropped the Patriots to 4-4 and spoiled a classic performance by backup Patriots' quarterback Matt Cavanaugh. Coming off the bench after Steve Grogan suffered a mild concussion and Tom Flik proved ineffective, Cavanaugh passed for 227 yards and two touchdowns in the final 20 minutes of play.

Cavanaugh's touchdown passes were a 23-yarder to L. J. Dawson and a 75-yard bomb to Stanley Morgan, who caught the pass on the 40 and rambled uncontested the rest of the way.

The Steeler offense moved the ball well both rushing and passing from the start of the game. Pittsburgh scored on each of its first four possessions in taking a 20-0 halftime lead.

New England, which shut out its last two opponents, could neither stop Pittsburgh nor get its offense going until late in the first half.

The Patriots, the AFC's top rushing team going into the game, never made a first down until just 4:50 left in the half. They never crossed midfield until after the two-minute warning.

Rather than let down, San Diego rips Colts

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — After watching his high-powered offense take apart both of last year's Super Bowl contenders in consecutive weeks, San Diego Chargers Coach Don Coryell said he was worried that his team would suffer a letdown Sunday against the winless Baltimore Colts.

"We were very worried coming in," Coryell said. "We talked a lot about it all week."

But Coryell's air corps and the legs of Chuck Muncie didn't let him down. With Dan Fouts firing five touchdown passes and Muncie rushing for 126 yards, the Chargers rolled up 510 yards in total offense dismantling the youthful Colts 44-20 to march into the playoffs for the fourth straight year.

Coryell said that after defeating both the Cincinnati Bengals and San Francisco 49ers, the Chargers felt that the Colts were the kind of team a coach is most afraid of — young and with nothing to lose.

"They are a young team," he said. "But don't let that fool you. They come to play."

Muncie credited the blocking of his line — dubbed the "Guardian Angels" — with helping him pick up a 100-yard plus game.

"We came in hoping that we could get a couple long runs," he said. "The offensive line did a great job opening a lot of holes for me."

Fouts hit Kellen Winslow with three scoring strikes and hooked up with Wes Chandler for two more TD passes as the high-powered Chargers' offense helped San Diego improve to 7-2.

With 1:09 left in the opening quarter, the Chargers took a 7-0 lead on a 30-yard TD pass from Fouts to Winslow and they made it 10-0 with 11:03 left in the half on Rolfe Benirschke's 45-yard field goal.

San Diego boosted its lead to 14-0 when Fouts hit Chandler, who battled Baltimore defensive back Larry Anderson for the ball, for a 41-yard touchdown with 7:20 left in the half. Benirschke's extra-point attempt sailed wide.

The Chargers extended their lead to 23-0 on Fouts' second TD pass to Winslow, a 13-yarder late in the half.

But the youthful Colts bounced back to make it 23-3 with five seconds left in the half on Dan Miller's 46-yard field goal, set up by linebacker Greg Bracelin's 31-yard interception return to the San Diego 28.

The late score gave Baltimore, 0-7-1, the momentum at the start of the second half and the Colts wasted little time getting closer.

Baltimore quarterback Mike Pagel drove the Colts 34 yards in just three plays, hitting first-year wide receiver Matt Bouza in the corner of the end zone for the score to cut the Chargers lead to 23-10 with 13:27 left in the quarter.

Miller kicked a 58-yard field goal to pull Baltimore within 23-13 with 9:47 remaining in the period. Miller's kick was the third longest in NFL history.

James Brooks gave the Chargers a 30-13 lead with six minutes to go in the third period when he ran eight yards around end for the touchdown, capping a 75-yard drive.

Big plays propel Redskins past Saints

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The Washington Redskins' defense, known for its ability to steamroll opponents with short passes and powerful runs, turned into a big-play machine Sunday in a 27-10 defeat of the New Orleans Saints.

The Redskins reacted to the Saints' frequent blitzes by throwing bombs to speedy receivers Charlie Brown and Art Monk and the result was 448 yards of total offense and a win that propelled them to the top of the NFC East.

With Dallas' loss to Philadelphia, the Redskins now own the only 7-1 mark in the NFC and can wrap up the home-field advantage for all conference playoff games by defeating St. Louis at home next week.

Washington's Joe Theismann, who completed 14-of-23 passes for 214 yards and two touchdowns to Brown, said he took advantage of the Saints' aggressiveness.

"Our offense is geared to do whatever the defense gives us," he said. "They blitzed a lot, so we went up top. We feel like if anybody presses our players on the corner, we go up top on them."

Theismann threw scoring bombs of 57 and 58 yards to Brown, a first-year speedster who snared four passes for 154 yards.

Mark Moseley kicked field goals of 36 and 45 yards for the Redskins to run his record streak of consecutive three-pointers to 23.

The Saints, now 3-5 and steadily slipping from playoff contention, lost their fourth game in a row. The Louisiana Superdome, with a capacity of 71,000, had nearly 23,000 empty seats.

The Redskins opened the scoring in the first period when Theismann lofted a pass 57 yards into the hands of Brown, who had beaten cornerback Johnnie Poe by a step.

The Saints tied the game early in the second period on a 4-yard run by Jimmy Rogers. The big play on the 58-yard drive was a 19-yard scramble by Merikens, who also threw a couple of key blocks during the contest.

A subsequent Redskins drive ended at the New Orleans 3-yard line when Theismann fumbled after a 16-yard scramble. But the Redskins came back on their next possession to gain a 14-7 lead as Theismann hit Brown on a 58-yard touchdown pass.

Poe pushed Brown out of bounds on the play and then tipped the ball as he was also falling out. Brown recovered the ball in the air and ran untouched for the score.

The Saints claimed Brown was out of bounds when he caught the ball, but the officials ruled otherwise and said he was allowed to return to the field because he had been forced out.

Washington upped its margin to 17-7 near the end of the half on a 36-yard Moseley field goal.

Weather foils Detroit's acquisition

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Pistons' plan to sign Jim Smith of the Wyoming Wildcatters in the Continental Basketball Association has fallen victim to the weather, the NBA team said Sunday.

A Pistons spokesman said Smith was scheduled to sign in Milwaukee before Detroit's game with the Bucks Sunday night. But the 6-foot-8, 225-pound forward he was snowed in at Casper, Wyo., and could not travel to Wisconsin.

Smith was to sign a 10-day contract to help the Pistons on their six games in 10 days that started Sunday. The team said Smith will join the Pistons, weather permitting, when they play the Salt Lake City Jazz in Utah on Tuesday.

Smith is to replace Kelly Tripucka, who has a damaged knee and has been on the injured list since Nov. 24.

Smith played at Ohio State and was a rookie last year for the San Diego Clippers. Smith has averaged just more than 10 points and 6 rebounds game with the Wyoming team.

for 280 yards on 18 completions in 28 attempts for two touchdowns, including the clincher to Margerum after moving the Bears 81 yards in nine plays after Dendard's touchdown.

Los Angeles kicker Mike Lansford missed field goal attempts from 32 and 27 yards in the final quarter.

Payton, in the midst of his most unproductive season, gained a season-high 104 yards in 20 carries to go over the 100-yard mark for the first time this year. He also caught five passes for 102 yards, marking the first time he gained 100 or more yards in both categories in his 8-year career.

He reached the 10,000 yard milestone on his second carry of the game. The game was halted and he was awarded the ball. Only Jim Brown, O.J. Simpson and the still-active Franco Harris have carried for more yards than the Bears' veteran.

Chicago built its 20-14 halftime lead by staying mainly on the ground in its first possession of the second half. The Bears moved 61 yards in nine plays with Matt Suhey going the final three yards off tackle for the score. Payton picked up 43 of the yards on the drive, including a 21-yard rush that was his longest gain of the year.

The Rams, who fell to 1-7, cut the margin by three points when Lansford drilled a 37-yard field goal with 4:21 left in the third period.

The Bears scored the first four times they had the ball, taking early leads of 17-0 and 20-6. But Ferragamo shook off two early interceptions to throw two TD passes, bringing Los Angeles back to just a 20-16 deficit at the half.

On their first possession, the Bears took a 7-0 lead on an 11-yard TD pass from McMahon to Emery Moorehead 4:57 into the game. Gary Fencik picked off a Ferragamo pass on the Chicago 42 the next time the Rams had the ball but the Bears had to settle for a 41-yard field goal by Bob Thomas to take a 10-0 lead.

Jeff Fisher's interception return to the Rams' 25 set up Chicago's third score. From there, it took just four plays with Payton sweeping around right end for the final two yards.

Ferragamo finally got the Rams on track with a 38-yard scoring strike to George Farmer. The Bears increased their lead to 20-6 when Thomas hit a 31-yard field goal at 11:45 in the second period.

The Rams cut the lead to seven points four minutes later when Wendell Tyler caught a 7-yard TD pass from Ferragamo to cap a 77-yard drive. Lansford's 29-yard field goal cut Chicago's lead to four with just 28 seconds left in the half.

Bulldogs, Lions arrive for Sugar Bowl

Monday, December 27, 1982 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho B-7

Announcements 001-002

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — University of Georgia President Fred Davidson received books and clothes for Christmas. Georgia Coach Vince Dooley got a few days with his family. Star rover back Terry Hodge got a break from football.

But all three Bulldogs said they want exactly the same gift for New Year's: "A national championship."

Top-ranked Georgia arrived in New Orleans Sunday to the strains of a jazz band and a small group of fans to begin a week of preparation for the Sugar Bowl game on New Year's Day.

A few minutes before the Bulldogs touched down, the welcoming party greeted a group of young men who came to see Georgia's third consecutive New Year's trip to New Orleans.

The Military Lions of Penn State, ranked second in the nation, were excited about the warm New Orleans weather and the chance to topple Georgia.

"Right now Georgia is Number 1, and we're Number 2, so we don't have anything," said Penn State safety Mark Robinson. "We have to take it from them. We have to go out there and prove something."

It is the first trip to New Orleans for Robinson and many other Lions, but the Bulldogs players are making what seems to have become an annual appearance in the Crescent City.

"I feel honored to be coming back to the Sugar Bowl," said Herschel Walker, who momentarily managed to break free from the entourage of Georgia state troopers and enthusiastic fans.

Play meant for 2 got 6 for Huskies

Conversion set-up succeeds

HONOLULU (UPI) — Now that they've got the Aloha Bowl Trophy safely tucked away, Tim Cowan doesn't mind sharing a secret on how Washington got its winning touchdown Saturday with only six ticks left on the clock.

Amid the clamor of "We're No. 1," chants in the 8th-ranked Huskies' dressing room Saturday, Cowan, who was voted the game's outstanding player, said the 11-yard pass to Anthony Allen was not in the regular offensive playbook.

"The last pass was our two-point conversion play," said the senior quarterback, who completed 33 of 53 passes for 350 yards.

"We got in an area where we thought it could work, so we decided to give it a shot. It worked perfectly because it was the game."

"We had to believe we had a chance. We wanted to get down there, that was the key. If this is the last game I ever play, it's a helluva way to go out."

...get into position, however, the Huskies, 19-2, who stand a solid chance of moving up in the ratings after 7th-ranked Texas' loss to North Carolina in the Sun Bowl, had to march 80 yards in under 4 minutes.

And that opportunity came after Maryland's usually steady placement kicker, Jess Atkinson flubbed a 32-yard field goal attempt that, if good, would have put the 14th-ranked Terrapins ahead by an insurmountable 10 points.

But, given the opening, Cowan took command and drove Washington to the distance in 17 plays with 55 of the yards coming on clutch completions by Cowan.

"The missed field goal gave us a chance," said Washington Coach Don James. "If he (Atkinson) had made it, it would have been the ball game."

The kick by Atkinson did not miss by much and Allen's third TD reception of the day from Cowan — the others went for 27 and 71 yards in the first half — was inbounds by a matter of inches.

"I knew it was close and up to the official," said Allen, who for the day had 8 receptions for 132 yards.

"I knew I had my foot inbounds. Tim didn't give me much room, but he didn't have much room either."

As for Cowan, he said nonchalantly, "I stuck it right where I thought he could get it inbounds."

"It was a wild game," said James. "All victories are good. It is a good way for us to finish the season."

Despite losing the first half fumbles, Washington carried a 14-6 halftime lead. Maryland, 8-4, got its points on a 6-yard pass from sophomore quarterback Boomer Esiason to Dave D'Addio.

A bad snap from center ended Atkinson's string of consecutive extra points at 39 after the TD.

Esiason, whose performance almost matched that of Cowan, took command of the game and put the Terrapins ahead, 21-20, with a 31-yard pass to John Tice and a 2-yard run by John Nash.

For the game, Esiason completed 19 of 32 passes for 251 yards.

Maryland's Bobby Ross, Coach of the Year in the Atlantic Coast Conference in his first season, said a slow start offensively hurt his team's chances.

"We were a little slow getting into the game offensively," he said. "I told them at the half the second half would be the character half."

But I'm very proud of the way the team came back. They showed a lot of character and lost to a fine football team."

He didn't want to lay blame on Atkinson either.

"We had good position, but he just missed it," Ross said. "That happens. Jess kicked some good ones and has won games for us. We won't forget the Miami game for instance."

Horton helps Tar Heels in Sun Bowl

EL PASO, Texas (UPI) — It was bad enough for the Texas Longhorns that it snowed on the Sun Bowl. But even then they didn't expect an avalanche, and that is just what they got in the form of North Carolina's Ethan Horton.

"I always dreamed of playing in the sun," said Horton. "And I guess I got my chance."

Well, sort of.

Horton never actually saw the sun on Christmas Day since it snowed throughout the second half in El Paso and the wind chill factor was around 10 degrees.

But he did see plenty of daylight in the Texas secondary and ran through it for 119 yards, thus keying the Tar Heels' 26-10 come-from-behind triumph over the Longhorns in the 49th Sun Bowl.

Horton, a sophomore, was called into action when star running back Kelvin Bryant turned an ankle in the first half.

Texas wasn't having much trouble stopping Bryant, but the Longhorns never came close to stopping Horton, who was named the game's most valuable player.

"I'm just sorry Kelvin got hurt," said Horton. "He's had a great career and I was hoping he'd got out with a great game. Inside, tackle to tackle, that's where I get my yardage. Being tall (6-foot-4) helps me. I think, get that yardage. It usually takes more than one guy to bring me down."

"It sure was cold out there. My hands got numb and the snow bothered my eyesight."

Horton's running, along with a North Carolina goal-line stand and a successful onside kick, set up three field goals in the final quarter to put the Tar Heels in front 12-10. Then Horton scored himself on a 3-yard run to keynote a 23-point fourth quarter and ice the game for North Carolina.

It was the sixth bowl victory without a loss for North Carolina coach Dick Crum and his second over Texas.

The victory also put a little salve on some late season wounds the Tar Heels had suffered. They whipped a team that had won six games in a row and had advanced to No. 7 in the national rankings.

North Carolina was unranked because of losses in three of its last five games, but the Tar Heels, 8-4, have a chance to move into the final top 20 rankings because of their victory over Texas.

THE ACES®

BOBBY WOLFF

A short-cut is the longest distance between two points. — Murphy's Law.

There are no short cuts to success in the play of today's tough and go game. If declarer's mind wanders at trick one, no amount of catch-up will bring back what was lost.

West leads the spade king and it's time for declarer to make his move. If he wins dummy's ace while he takes time to count his tricks, it will be too late to close the barn door. The defense can counter any play that South might try.

If declarer plays trumps, East wins and the defenders take a trump, two spades and a diamond. If declarer plays a second spade, the defense responds by taking the trump ace and then cashing two spades and a diamond.

The key to the game lies in avoiding the short-cut in the play of the spade suit. Instead of playing dummy's ace at trick one, declarer stymies the defense by refusing the trick.

If West continues with another spade, dummy wins and a club to declarer's jack permits a spade ruff in dummy. Conversely, if West leads a trump to prevent the spade ruff, declarer then has time to draw the trumps, using dummy's clubs to discard whatever losers might be left.
