New EPA top-level team installed

By NORMAN D. SANDLER
 United Press International

WASHINGTON — President Reagan, seeking to contain the Environmental Protection Agency controversy, installed a new top-level management team Thursday but said Administrator Anne Burford retains his confidence.

The White House announced Reagan named successors to three high-level administrators who have been fired or forced to resign, created a new post to handle relations with Congress and elevated another EPA official.

The action was described by White House officials as an attempt at damage control, coming in the midst of investigations by Congress and the FBI of the agency.

Sources indicated there had been discussion at senior levels of the White House about replacing Mrs. Burford, but Reagan was sticking by her.

Reagan, asked by reporters if he retains confidence in the embattled EPA chief, replied, "Yes."

Deputy press secretary Larry

Speakes, announcing the new appointments earlier, said Reagan "absolutely" remains committed to keeping Mrs. Burford on the job.

One aide said the president "hopes to stem the tide of controversy, and the sooner the better."

In San Francisco, Mrs. Burford said she considered resigning but decided against it because of the "solid record of achievement of which I am proud."

"We have a duty to carry on with the responsibilities of protecting the environment. I can promise you we will meet that duty," she told a news conference.

Mrs. Burford also said she did not expect any more dismissals at the EPA and would allow "people to stay forever if they faithfully perform their duties."

Reagan named successors to three top EPA officials who were fired or forced to resign — Rita Lavelle, who he fired as head of EPA's toxic waste cleanup program Feb. 7, and two other officials whose resignations were demanded and received on Wednesday.

Lee Thomas, an associate director of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, was named to succeed Mrs. Lavelle as assistant administrator.

Alfred Zuck, an assistant secretary of labor, succeeds John Horton as assistant administrator for administration; Charles Dempsey, inspector general of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, replaces Matthew Novick as EPA inspector general, and Assistant Transportation Secretary Lee Verstandig assumes the new position of assistant administrator for legislation.

Speakes said appointments were made on an "acting" basis, meaning the officials will start work without waiting for Senate confirmation. All four will be considered during "a wider search" for permanent nominees, he said.

The fifth change was the official nomination of Courtney Rordian as assistant EPA administrator for research and development. Rordian has been serving in the post on an acting basis since 1981.

Horton and Novick were forced to turn in their resignations Wednesday, although Speakes said they may be appointed to other positions in government.

Speakes said Reagan has no plans to fire or seek the resignations of other EPA officials, but cautioned he "would not rule out" such action by the new White House-installed hierarchy.

"The point," Speakes said, "is that the president has put a new team in place. He does think it's an effective team. He does think it gives Administrator Burford the tools she needs to move forward."

Speakes said Reagan made the personnel changes "in full consultation" with Mrs. Burford. But officials said the initiative came from the White House senior staff, with Mrs. Burford merely consulted by telephone.

House votes no on veto

The Senate expected to sustain veto

BOISE (UPI) — The Republican-dominated House voted close to party lines Thursday to override Gov. John Evans' line-item veto of $10 million in spending cuts contained in a fiscal 1983 budget-balancing bill.

The chamber took separate votes on four sections of the bill, which was vetoed in part last Friday. The governor signed the majority of the bill into law.

The veto will come up for override consideration in the Senate today, said Senate Majority Leader Mark Ricks, R-Rexburg. But Minority Leader Kermit Kelbert, D-Hope, predicted the Democrats will stick together to sustain the veto in the upper chamber.

House Republicans have more than a two-thirds majority (51-19), but GOP senators lack such a margin in the Senate (21-14), falling short by three seats.

The House held only brief debate on the override question, which was de-

Not too easy to lose

A map displaying Twin Falls County as it was more than 50 years ago has been found in the Courthouse basement, Mike Miller

When they were removed, Miller discovered that the map revealed property ownership throughout the county, as of Feb. 11, 1930.

Impressed with the find, county Commissioner Judy Felton says the map will be put on display in the Courthouse.

Idaho facing $80 million revenue shortage

By BRUCE HAMMOND
 Times-News writer

BOISE — Idaho is facing an additional $11.6 million deficit this year, bringing the total revenue shortage to more than $80 million, state tax officials warned Thursday.

The unexpected news triggered long groans from legislative leaders, who also are struggling with an estimated $70 million shortage in the state's 1984 budget.

"It makes you wonder what's going to happen next," says House Speaker Tom Silvers, R-Twin Falls.

The extra loss of state funds — which will be added to the previously estimated $69.2 million deficit for 1983 — stems from a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision regarding a Tennessee bank case.

Briefly, that ruling says that if a state grants tax-exempt status to the earnings of municipal and other local bonds, it must grant the same status to federal Treasury bonds purchased by banks.

"What that means is that we now have to refund Idaho banks for these taxes that they have been paying the state since 1979," says state Tax Commissioner Darwin Young. "It also means that we'll lose that anticipated revenue for the 1983 and 1984 filing years as well."

The Legislature's Revenue Projection Committee expected the state to receive about $3 million in 1983, and an additional $3 million in 1984, from Idaho banks for earnings on federal bonds.

Additionally, Young estimates the state now owes these banks about $2 million in tax refunds for the improper taxation.

But the court ruling also sheds doubt on Gov. John Evans' veto of agency and education cuts in the budget-balancing bill for 1983.

Those line-item vetoes would remove about $10 million from the GOP-drafted plan to correct the state deficit. By re-installing those budget cuts, most of the $11.6 million loss from the court decision could be made up, some legislators say.

But Senate Minority Leader Kermit Kelbert, D-Hope, says his party will back the veto today and seek other alternatives to solve the increased deficit, Thursday morning, the House voted to override Evans' veto, but it remains doubtful that the Senate can do the same today, because of the Democrats' stronger position in that body, Kelbert says.

Another option, according to the Tax Commission, is to shift the $8 million in bank refunds into the next fiscal year, by not paying them until after July 1. That action would result in the state owing the banks an additional $200,000 in interest, but it would postpone the dilemma until next year, rather than concentrating it into the four months remaining in fiscal year 1983.

"I think withholding the refunds until next year is a viable alternative," said John Peavey, D-Carey, the Senate's minority caucus chairman. "After all, the banks didn't

Oil producing nations join to avert full-scale price war

Mexico and Britain meet with OPEC

United Press International

Mexico and Britain met with OPEC oil officials in European capitals Thursday in an unprecedented global-campaign to head off a full-scale oil price war.

Mexico, America's largest foreign oil supplier, said it would postpone a price cut that had been scheduled for Friday until after the current round of negotiations.

A Mexican oil expert said the threat of a world oil price crash could propel both Mexico and Britain, which do not belong to the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, into coordinating prices and production levels with the 13-nation oil cartel.

In Washington President Reagan said "avert the long run more realistic market-oriented oil prices will spur economic recovery and free vast amounts of real resources that previously had been devoted to energy."

The frantic shuttle diplomacy between the world's major oil producers began after Nigeria, an OPEC maverick, slashed its crude by $5.50 to $30 a barrel last weekend to match reductions by Britain and Norway. Nigeria also vowed to undercut competitors by $1 a barrel.

Britain held informal talks with a Mexican oil delegation and OPEC delegates from Venezuela in London, but a British National Oil Corp. spokesman said no decisions were reached.

Mexican Energy Minister Francisco Labastida arrived in Paris for a hastily called meeting with OPEC ministers from Kuwait, Venezuela and Algeria.

$1 price cut saves U.S. $2 billion

Newhouse News Service

WASHINGTON — Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige says the continuing drop in world oil prices should strengthen "our moderate, orderly economic recovery."

But he doesn't think it will reverse American automobile buyers' increasing preference for smaller vehicles. And he believes the declining oil prices could encourage some states with severe budget problems to increase gasoline taxes to obtain more revenues, with the federal government unlikely to impose a standby $5-a-barrel import tax unless a flood of foreign oil threatens domestic petroleum development and production.

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, he believes, "no longer is an effective instrument" for controlling oil prices.

In a meeting with reporters Thursday, Baldrige said that since a $1 drop in the price of a barrel of oil means $2 billion in savings to American consumers and business, the impact of a continuing drop in oil prices could be substantial, since it would cushion recovery by dampening inflation.

"But I don't think that with lower gasoline prices, Americans are going to go back to buying those big oversized cars again," he said.

"Consumers' habits don't change that quickly," he said. "Gas was selling for around 30 cents a gallon for a long time, and it took some fairly sharp and sustained rises in gas prices for American consumers to change their car-buying habits. I don't think that a drop to $1 a gallon or 90 cents — from $1.20 — is going to affect many auto purchases."

Four arrested in large munitions theft

20 tons of weapons, mostly 90mm cannon shells confiscated

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A federal grand jury indicted four men on charges of stealing 20 tons of weapons, mostly 90mm cannon shells, from a military base in the desert.

The weapons were taken from a warehouse near the base of the Los Angeles Air Force Station, about 50 miles from the base. The shells had been stored in a warehouse for three months.

The grand jury indicted four men: Michael Scott Cochran, 31, of Hemet, Calif.; Ricky Wayne Bevan, 22, of Ontario, Calif.; Ray Lester Dabra, 25, of Hemet, Calif.; and Ricky Wayne Dewber, 26, of Riverside, Calif.

The four suspects arrested were identified as Michael Scott Cochran, 31, of Hemet, Calif.; Ricky Wayne Bevan, 22, of Ontario, Calif.; Ray Lester Dabra, 25, of Hemet, Calif.; and Ricky Wayne Dewber, 26, of Riverside, Calif.

Drive mounted to fire tattle-tale bill author

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A women's consumer group mounted a petition drive Thursday calling for firing the author of the proposal to require parental notification when teenage girls receive contraceptives from federally funded clinics.

The National Women's Health Network said it may not win the dismissal of Marjorie Mecklenburg, but wants to make a "public statement" on the measure that has been blocked — at least temporarily — by two federal judges.

Ms. Mecklenburg, deputy assistant secretary for population affairs in the Department of Health and Human Services, initiated the proposal that would require clinics to notify parents when they prescribe contraceptives to girls under age 18.

"These policies constitute an unwarranted invasion of privacy, and run counter to the goal of accessible, affordable family planning services for all who need them," said Sylvia Shalmsick.

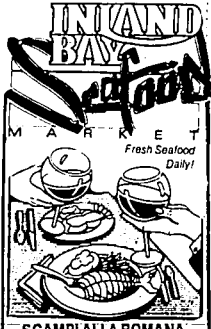

Barney Clark not the only live heart recipient

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Barney Clark may have lived for 85 days on an artificial heart, but Ted F. Bear has made it for a record-tieing 268 days.

Bear has not attracted nearly as much attention as Clark, however, because Ted isn't human.

He is a 220-pound range ram that's part of the animal artificial heart program ongoing at the University of Utah since the mid 1970s. Ted's predecessors, mostly calves, paved the way for the historic Jarvik-7 heart implantation in Barney Clark's chest last Dec. 2 at the University of Utah Medical Center.

The sheep tied Thursday the 1981 record for existence on an artificial heart set by a Jersey calf named Tennyson.

Opponents attack Social Security bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House panel's $165 billion Social Security bill was attacked from two fronts Thursday — the White House criticized its permission to borrow and Rep. Claude Pepper vowed to fight a benefit curb next century.

Rep. Barber Conable of New York, top Republican on the Ways and Means Committee that takes up the subcommittee bill next week, said there are "points of tension" over the measure but he still hopes for bipartisan cooperation.

And Senate Finance Committee chairman Robert Dole, R-Kan., also criticized the provision permitting general revenue borrowing in an emergency, said his hopes are not dampened for a bipartisan rescue package.

His committee arranged to end its Social Security hearings Thursday. "We're not really concerned," Dole said. "I think the Social Security thing is really moving."

Over Republican objections, the Democratic-dominated House Social Security subcommittee Wednesday approved a $165 billion bill, hiking taxes and curbing benefits, patterned after a bipartisan national commission report.

Reagan signals jobs bill agreement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan signaled broad agreement Thursday with a $4.4 billion recession relief package being written by House Democrats, saying it goes "a long way" toward achieving a much-sought compromise on jobs.

Reagan said in a prepared statement he agrees with 75 percent of what the Democratic leaders proposed in terms of new jobs and humanitarian relief, but warned other elements would "unnecessarily increase the deficit."

"These, and other elements of the package that are not fully consistent with the bipartisan framework, could and should be better targeted on higher priority, job-related federal expenditures," he said.

Weinberger wants more troops in Lebanon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger said Thursday it "may be necessary" to expand the multinational force in Lebanon temporarily to cover the withdrawal of foreign troops and guarantee the security of Israel's northern frontier.

After Israeli forces pull back from the hilly region, Lebanese army units accompanied by "trainers working with them in that area" could move into southern Lebanon to ensure Israel's frontier towns and settlements will not come under attack from Palestinian guerrillas, Weinberger said.

"That's essentially what we're trying to work out," he said.

Although U.S. Marines in Lebanon have been teaching tactics to Lebanese units, Weinberger stressed clear of saying Americans would be involved with training them in southern Lebanon. A Pentagon official said trainers could be taken from among the allied troops that compose the multinational force.

The defense chief appeared at an impromptu Pentagon news conference, his third since the beginning of the year, that focused on the Middle East and dealt in part with the U.S. response last week to a Libyan threat to stage an assault against neighboring Sudan.

Committee says 'no' to Adelman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Foreign Relations Committee voted Thursday to send President Reagan's nomination of Kenneth Adelman as arms control chief to the full Senate, but recommended its rejection.

The panel voted 14-3 to report the nomination unfavorably.

Opponents of the controversial nomination joined supporters in the final vote to get it to the Senate floor after Senate Republican leader Howard Baker threatened to introduce a motion of discharge to force it from the committee. A motion to recommend confirmation failed earlier on a 9-16 vote.

Sen. Paul Tsongas, D-Mass., said he will filibuster in order to block a vote by the full Senate. "Tsongas and other critics charge that Adelman lacks both the knowledge and the commitment to arms control needed for the job."

Reagan said in a statement he stands behind Adelman's nomination and is certain of its approval.

"While I would have greatly preferred a positive confirmation vote, I am pleased that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today voted to report to the full Senate the nomination of Kenneth Adelman to head the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency," Reagan said. "I am fully committed to his nomination, and I share (Senate Republican leader) Howard Baker's assessment that the Senate will confirm him."

Agreeing that Adelman has "an excellent chance" for confirmation, White House chief of staff James Baker said: "The key was getting it to the floor. A week ago, there was a question of whether we could get it to the floor."

The Senate probably will begin considering the nomination in mid-March, a spokesman for the Senate leadership said.

Governor vetos flawed bill

BOISE — A plan to protect Idaho contractors from unexpected tax increases has been vetoed by Gov. John Evans with the support of both Republican and Democratic leaders.

The bill, which passed the Legislature last week with overwhelming margins, would exempt some construction firms from the 1-cent sales-tax increase that takes effect Tuesday.

That action was recommended because many contractors already have signed contracts for public work, like bridge and building construction, at fixed prices. A tax increase would increase their cost of materials, and in some cases, render the contracts unprofitable.

"But the State Tax Commission has found out that the bill is flawed," Rep. Steve Antone, R-Rupert, the chairman of the Revenue and Taxation Committee, which sponsored the legislation, said Thursday.

"It was discovered that this bill would create a terrible bookkeeping mess, with retailers having to keep two sets of tax records when dealing with different contractors — those who get the exemption and those who do not," Antone said.

"Instead, the Tax Commission says this problem with the contractors can better be handled by simply refunding them the money that they pay in unexpected taxes," he said.

New legislation to authorize the refunds was introduced by his committee Wednesday.

Antone said Tax Commission officials discovered the flaws after it had passed the Legislature.

Override levies may last 3 years

BOISE (UPI) — Property-tax override levies to fund local school districts could remain in effect for up to three years under terms of a measure approved Thursday by the state Senate.

But lawmakers also said districts must specify the length of time the override will remain effective when seeking voter approval of the special levies.

Senators voted 22-13 in favor of the bill sponsored by Sen. Bruce Sweeney, a Democrat who serves on a Lewiston school board.

Sweeney said the proposal, which now goes to the House, would expand the ability of local districts to plan for long-term needs by seeking property-tax hikes for up to three years. Under current law, override elections must be held annually.

But opponents said the measure might result in tax increases which would turn out to be unnecessary if the economy took an unexpected upturn.

They also said — if the Legislature trims public education funding for the next fiscal year as expected — the bill would permit districts to make up those monies by seeking long-term override levies.

Crech to get new sentencing

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Supreme Court vacated Thursday the death sentence for convicted mass-murderer Thomas Eugene Crech, saying an Ada County judge improperly handed down the punishment while the defendant and his attorneys were not present in court.

Justices ordered Fourth District Judge Robert Newhouse to impose a sentence again on the 32-year-old defendant in connection with the death of Idaho State Prison inmate David Jensen. The judge was to hand down his sentence within 14 days.

If Newhouse again orders Crech to die for the slaying — as the judge indicated Thursday he will — that sentence will receive an automatic review by the high court under terms of the law.

Crech pleaded guilty Aug. 28 to leading Jensen to death with a battery-filled sock while the two were at the state penitentiary.

At the time of the killing, the defendant was serving three life terms at the prison for other murders. Crech — who once claimed he had killed more than three dozen people — was sentenced to life terms for murdering two people in 1974 near Cascade and for a slaying the same year of a Portland, Ore., man.

Proposal is made to crack down on kiddie porn

BOISE (UPI) — New York state's constitutionally controversial attack on purveyors of "kiddie porn" is being copied by the Idaho Legislature.

The House State Affairs Committee agreed without dissent Thursday to introduce a bill declaring it a felony to sexually exploit children — a move New York defended and won in the U.S. Supreme Court, sponsors of the Idaho bill said.

Rep. Gary Paxman, R-Idaho Falls, chief sponsor of the Idaho anti-"kiddie porn" bill, said it should be made a crime to use children as subjects for sexually explicit films and publications.

And another backer, Rep. Tom Cushman, R-Horseshoe Bend, a former county prosecutor, said restrictions on First Amendment freedoms is a price society must pay to protect children from unscrupulous pornographers.

"When we're dealing with the protection of children, the First Amendment will have to give way in some regard," Cushman said.

He said the U.S. Supreme Court used that argument when it upheld the New York anti-pornography law last year.

"That ruling has opened the door for this type of bill in other states, including Idaho," Cushman said.

The bill, patterned after the New York statute, calls for "stiff penalties for any activity which involves the sexual exploitation of minors." Anyone who produced, sold or possessed three or more copies of any sexually explicit materials would be punishable under that law, the measure said.

Hansen schools drop two tests

By KATE LOPEZ
Times-News correspondent

HANSEN — School board officials in Hansen have decided to revise the district's testing procedures.

At the recommendation of Rob Wilson, the Hansen counselor, the board decided Tuesday night to discontinue one aptitude and one achievement test that now are being given to sophomores and juniors.

The Iowa Test of Educational Development (ITED) and the Differential Aptitude Test (DAT) will be discontinued because they failed to show how the Hansen school system rated as a teaching system, Wilson said.

"We really don't need the DAT, because it covers basically what the ASVAB covers," he said. The Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery also is given in the 10th grade.

"The ITED does allow us to rate our students at their current level, but gives us no background on their development in school. We have no way to follow their development with it," Wilson said.

"I would like to see us drop these two tests and pick up an additional test, one called the Test of Achievement and Proficiency. In the ninth and 11th grades. The TAP is a continuation of another test, the Iowa Test of Basic Skills, that we give students in the third, fifth and seventh grades," Wilson said.

Superintendent Dick Smith said the new method would provide educators with background scores, to calculate a more realistic proficiency status.

In addition to the new testing method, scores from tests administered in the spring will be printed on computer printouts. This will allow the district to obtain scholastic averages and school norms. Previously, the district calculated scores by hand.

The cost to the district is expected to be approximately $500.

Shoshone studies students' needs

SHOSHONE — A study of academic needs is under way in the Shoshone schools.

Valerie Churchman told the school board last week that a questionnaire has been sent to parents to assess which students need help in basic skills.

Federal funding is used in the program, which Churchman directs, to improve students' skills in such areas as math and reading.

The results of the needs-assessment survey will be used to plan next year's program, she said.

In related business, high school counselor Walter Baucum reported on the proficiency test recently administered to ninth-grade students.

Baucum suggested that the board include a remedial or other lower-math class in the high school curriculum.

Shoshone High School graduation requirements call for two credits in math. The current curriculum offers general math, algebra, geometry, trigonometry and other higher-math classes.

But Baucum said that some students cannot complete algebra or the other higher-math classes successfully, and therefore, they are unable to meet the two-credit requirement.

The board took the recommendation under advisement.

Dietrich awards contract for annual audit

DIETRICH — Bids for the yearly audit were opened by the Dietrich school board last week.

The accounting firm of Oakley and Jones of Gooding was the low bidder at $1,600, and it was awarded the contract.

Richfield approves three-day ski session

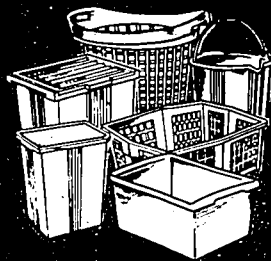

RICHFIELD — Ski lessons are being planned for Richfield Junior- and senior-high students.

At last week's meeting, the school board approved the annual three-day session, which will be held at Soldier

Mountain near Fairfield. The dates for the session will be scheduled when the basketball tournaments are finished. The board also granted permission for the senior government class to observe a session of the state Legislature in Boise.

Date for the trip has not yet been set.

As a person who does an enormous amount of work at home and honestly puts aside spare time for business purposes (I hide the mess), I was dismayed by the 1982 court decision and rulings involving deductions for employee business-connected expenses.

They were generally unfavorable — and thus, I warn you, you may be inviting Internal Revenue Service trouble if you try to deduct expenses similar to those that were actually disallowed.

Eagles face crucial finale at TVCC

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — College of Southern Idaho has one game left and it has evolved into the most important game of the season.

The Golden Eagles will travel to Ontario, Ore. Saturday night to meet Treasure Valley and a victory there would give CSI the host designation for the Region 18 tournament, slated for March 4-5. A loss at Treasure Valley would pull the Eagles back into a tie with Ricks College and move the regional finals to Rexburg under regional by-laws.

The CSI women, with a trip to regional already in hand, will meet TVCC in the first game of the season-closing double-header at 5 p.m.

Coach Dave Campbell expects a loose and relaxed bunch of Chukars to give his under-the-gun Eagles a battle.

"They've got nothing to lose," Campbell said. "I don't expect them to do anything differently. We have to play well and not let them get into their game."

Treasure Valley took the Eagles to a four-point decision on the homecourt last week in what Coach Carlyle Dean described as "our best game of the year." They accomplished that without sharp-shooting guard Mark Pericin due to an ankle sprain.

"The key to beating Treasure Valley is to contain their guards (Pericin and Kirby Ward), Wednesday night against Ricks those two got 38 points — Pericin had 24 — and Treasure Valley was within four points at halftime. In the second half Ricks built up a lead with a lot of free throws." Campbell said. "Our hope is to hold those guards to 20 points or less between them."

On the CSI court, however, Treasure Valley had good success in bringing the ball inside for close-in shots by their big men. Not helping in that area is hyperextension of the right knee Ralph Barreras sustained against Walla Walla Saturday. It has been slow to respond and the freshman center remains a question mark.

However, Phil Rohr, felled for nearly a week by illness, returned to practice Wednesday and should be near full strength. Also, Gerald Kennedy's calf bruise has improved considerably.

"This is a game that you don't really have to talk about. Everyone knows what it means," Campbell said. "If we don't get ready for this one probably we don't deserve to be in it. We are four games away from getting to Hutchinson (for the national tournament) and we have to be ready for all four of them."

Meanwhile, Oregon's possible entries in regional have been established. Lane will be in the field for sure, having nailed down the No. 1 position Wednesday night. Mt. Hood, Chemeketa and Blue Mountain rounded out the top four. That sets the Clackamas gauntlet into motion. Clackamas, an Independent, will play Blue Mountain with the winner advancing against Chemeketa and that winner traveling to Mt. Hood. The survivor of that run will be the second place Oregon team and play the Idaho top seed in the regional's first round.

This region's champ will entertain the No. 1 region champion in a playoff that will send the winner to Hutchinson.

Arizona begins its tournament Friday night with Central Arizona meeting nationally-ranked Mesa and Scottsdale playing Arizona Western at Arizona Western. The playoffs winners will move on to the regional tournament next week, being joined by Dixie and Snow colleges out of Utah. That regional will be played on the Arizona champion's home court.

Record setter doesn't take weightlifting lightly

By CHRIS HAFT
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — It's your first time to compete in an official powerlifting meet. You're nervous.

Moreover, you exceeded your weight limit the night before, so you've spent the hours since denying yourself sustenance. Thus, besides being nervous, you're maybe a little weak.

If you're a normal person, you probably don't perform well. If you're Bob McLauchlin of Twin Falls, you set a national record.

Two Sundays ago at a high school tournament in Ontario, Ore., McLauchlin established a United States Powerlifting Federation (USPF) mark for the squat in the 16- and 15-year-old 181-pound weight class, successfully shouldering 445 pounds to exceed the old standard by five pounds. In that same meet, McLauchlin also set state records with his efforts in the bench press (230) and deadlift (400) and with his lifting total (1,075).

McLauchlin will compete again at the Northwestern America Powerlifting Championships — considered one of the top 10 meets in the nation — at Boise in April. There he hopes to break the other national records for his age/weight class.

Should he continue to advance, McLauchlin would then enter the teenage nationals in August at Phoenix, Ariz.

Lofly goals, these. But McLauchlin's coach, Ray Woolley, believes no obstacle is too weighty for his prize pupil.

"Bob has got the quality to become a world champion," Woolley said. "He's perfectly structured for lifting... his arms, legs and trunk are all perfect for the lifting he does—short arms, big legs, short trunk."

Woolley, no dumbbell when it comes to evaluating lifting talent, should know what he's talking about. The USPF rates him in its Top 20 in the 75-pound class. A five-year veteran of competitive lifting, Woolley has qualified for the USPF's national competition at Charlottesville, Va., in June.

Woolley teaches the subtleties of powerlifting to The Fitness Center's two teams — a teenage group, of which McLauchlin is

Powerlifting meet Saturday

TWIN FALLS — Bob McLauchlin won't be competing, but 70 to 80 of the West's best weightlifters will be in action at the Idaho State Open Powerlifting Championships Saturday at the Twin Falls High School gymnasium.

Top powerlifters from Oregon, Montana, Washington, Nevada, Wyoming, California and, of course, Idaho will be present. Ray Woolley, the meet director, expects some lifters will come up with squats of more than 800 pounds and bench presses exceeding 500 pounds.

The event, co-sponsored by Twin Falls High School and The Fitness Center, will start at 9:30 a.m. with the women's divisions and men's classes up to 181 pounds. At approximately 3 p.m., the 198-pound entrants up to the super-heavyweights take over, with their events ending between 9 and 10 p.m.

Admission is $1. All proceeds will be donated to the Twin Falls High School Athletic Department.

... and an open group. These are all serious lifters, and it wasn't until four months ago that Woolley noticed that McLauchlin had grown serious, too.

Since then, McLauchlin has worked under Woolley's tutelage. When asked how much Woolley has helped him, McLauchlin could only shake his head slowly, a look of wonder on his face.

"Without Ray, I don't think I would be where I am right now," McLauchlin said. "He gives me lots of encouragement, besides just helping out (day to day)."

"I saw he had potential," Woolley said. "Also, his mental aspect was starting to come around to where he wanted to achieve something. Without wanting it mentally, you're already defeated."

McLauchlin wanted the squat record mentally when he traveled to Ontario for his first formal competition two weeks ago, but physically he was wanting. At the weigh-in the night before the competition, McLauchlin checked in at 183 pounds, two over the limit for his division.

So, McLauchlin recalls, "I quit eating and I came in six pounds light (175). I probably could have lifted more than I did if I hadn't lost so much weight and been so nervous."

Indeed, McLauchlin's weight crisis made him more perplexed than he had been.

"He worried it (the excess weight) off," Woolley agreed. "He would have made weight easily, but he worried about making it and you always lose that way... When you get to thinking about a competition, the nerves just burn up four or five pounds overnight."

The nerves stayed with McLauchlin even after he completed his record-breaking squat. "It took a while to sink in," he said. McLauchlin realizes he has arrived at powerlifting excellence with relative ease. He also knows his future tests are formidable. McLauchlin will turn 16 in May, forcing him into a more advanced age class. Should his weight, which fluctuates between 181 and 195, someday stick at a higher figure, he would have to face heavier lifters.

Though McLauchlin is virtually peerless in the squat, he may not gain any total-lift records until he improves his bench press, which even he admits is sub-par. "He needs a lot of work on that," Woolley said. "He's not training it as hard as the other body parts."

Of course, Woolley has taken care of this oversight. "I've just now got him on a program to increase his bench 100 pounds in the next three months," he said.

McLauchlin believes he can meet his challenges. His self-motivation, at least, is beyond question.

"Just getting 'up' for these national records is the main thing," he said. "I'd like to play college football, too (McLauchlin was a defensive tackle for Twin Falls High School's sophomores last season), so that keeps me going."

All the way, perhaps, to Phoenix in August.

ISU upsets Idaho

POCATELLO — Pocatello has never been an easy place for University of Idaho to win.

And Idaho State, behind blistering shooting in the middle minutes and game-long backboard domination, impressed the Vandals with that point once again Thursday night. The Bengals, with Buck Chavez leading with 23 points, downed the Vandals 75-66 and blotted out the last slight Idaho flicker of hope of collecting a third straight Big Sky Conference crown plus the attending right to host the post-season playoff that sends one representative to the NCAA tournament.

Despite the loss, Idaho did cement a berth in the four-team league tournament as Weber State mathematically eliminated Boise State with a 72-63 decision in the other Big Sky Conference game Thursday night.

Idaho's doom was signalled in the closing eight minutes of the first half. The teams had battled through five ties, the last one at 16. But Chavez sent ISU ahead and the Bengals were never headed.

With just under eight minutes left in the half, Idaho State strode to a 30-20 advantage. At that point, Chavez had 15 points and Mike Denkers 13 in an outside-inside scoring display.

Idaho did chip back to within three points as Phil Hopson came up with three quick field goals but the Bengals led a 37-41 lead at intermission.

Jackie Fleury, ISU's only senior, joined the second-half scoring parade with 11 points and the Bengals quickly moved away. With 9:53 left, ISU held a 59-46 advantage and frustrated Idaho Coach Don Monson jerked his starting-five in favor of the second platoon. He left the reserves in for just over three minutes. ISU building its biggest lead at 67-48.

When the first unit returned, Idaho climbed back to within seven points in three minutes. But the Bengals controlled the final minutes. At one point ISU missed three straight free throws — and collected all three rebounds.

The Vandals got within five at two points in the final two minutes but the Bengals then started hitting their foul shots to lead.

Tony Malveaux and Fleury picked up two free throws each to steady the Bengals and rebuild the margin to 75-66. Idaho's Brian Kellerman then got a season's first for the Vandals when he connected on a three-point try but the Bengals scored the final bucket of the game.

Idaho State hit 26 of 59 field goal attempts against 27 for Idaho and claimed the win by connecting on 25 of 38 free throws. Idaho had just eight charity points in 14 tries.

"We got what we deserved the way we played tonight," said Monson. "In five years this is the most disappointing performance we've had at Idaho. They had no pride in what they were doing."

Idaho travels to Weber State Saturday night where it has a chance to spoil — Weber's — right to host the tournament. Idaho State will entertain Boise State.

Castleford gains district title; Murtaugh remains alive for state berth

JEROME — It was Alan Sample right in Jerome Thursday, the lanky 6-2 junior coming up with a career high 32 points to send the Castleford Wolves past Carey's Panthers 75-68 in the Fourth District A-4 Boys Basketball finals.

In earlier action, Murtaugh outlasted the stubborn Camas County Musers 57-53 to earn a second chance at a spot in the state tournament which is slated to open in Twin Falls Thursday. Murtaugh travels to Glenns Ferry to meet Melba at 6:30 p.m. Saturday with the winner claiming that eighth spot.

Castleford 75, Carey 68

With Sample — and Riek Volk dominating the inside, Castleford took the lead from Carey 44 seconds into the second quarter and never looked back.

The victory ended a 17-year drought since the Wolves last visited a state tournament and their coach, Kelly Murphy, was a junior member of that aggregation.

Carey, which had handled Murtaugh about as cavalierly inside in the tournament's first round, refused to wilt under the steady barrage of outside shots and follow points that seemed inevitably to break the game completely to Castleford's side.

The Panthers fell behind by 15 points twice in the first three minutes of the fourth quarter but then, behind Brad Tingey and Mike Shaffer, found a second wind and trimmed that almost in half. But Castleford wouldn't Carey closer than seven in wrapping up the title.

The game opened at a furious pace and got quicker as a 20-second clock wouldn't have been much of a threat.

Attending the fast pace were a boatload of turnovers, particularly in the first minutes when Castleford's errant passing blew three straight, wide-open fast break chances. But the Wolves nullified that by stealing the ball three straight times in return.

Although the turnover pace slackened, it remained a high spirited game but Castleford's inside strength began asserting itself midway through the second period when reserve Paul Jensen hit two quick inside shots to open up a six-point lead.

Sample chimed in with two more field goals as Castleford took the lead to nine points before Carey, Tingey hitting the last two field goals, cut back to within five at intermission.

Sample served notice of his impending big quarter by hitting the first points in the second half. Castleford rebuilt its lead to 45-36 before Sample created it with two more field goals.

The 15-point spread came in the fourth period when Volk scored on a break and again when Rob Owen picked up two free throws.

Throughout that time, Carey stayed

Doomed?

Larry Coffey walks off the New Jersey Generals' practice field in Orlando, Fla., Wednesday afternoon — perhaps one of the last times he'll do so as the team's starting halfback. Coffey will almost surely be demoted to second string once Herschel Walker, the Generals' new acquisition, gets himself into playing shape. "I've got all the competition I need now," Coffey said when asked about the Walker situation. "No thing's for sure: there's going to be a change in the rotation. They can use one halfback. He's a halfback — and I'm a halfback."

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) — Heisman Trophy winner Herschel Walker reports to the New Jersey Generals' training camp this weekend, but the question persisted Thursday whether he's happy or sad over the turn of events that made him an instant millionaire.

Jack Manton, the attorney who negotiated Walker's unprecedented USFL contract, which reportedly calls for $8 million over the next three years, says he believes Walker is "totally happy."

But University of Georgia coach Vince Dooley, whose trust Walker violated when he initially denied signing a contract with the Generals, said Walker "made a mistake, and he admits it."

Walker was nowhere to be found Thursday to resolve the question, but a spokesman for the Generals said Walker will hold a news conference in Orlando Fla., Saturday when he reports to training camp.

Walker, who gave up his final season of eligibility at the University of Georgia Wednesday to sign the 3-year contract making him the highest-paid player in pro football history, reportedly will visit with his family in Wrightsville, Ga., before going to Orlando with his fiancée, Cindy DeAngelis.

A call to Miss DeAngelis' apartment Thursday was answered by a man who said he was "only looking after the apartment and had no knowledge of their plans."

Walker, the three-time All-America and 1982 Heisman Trophy winner who rushed for 5,239 yards and scored 52 touchdowns in three college seasons, will have only five days to practice before the Generals of the new USFL fly to Los Angeles March 4 for their March 6 opening game.

Generals' Coach Chuck Fairbanks said Wednesday it was uncertain whether Walker would be ready to play in the first game.

Walker, slipping away just prior to a news conference announcing he had signed with the Generals, let Manton talk for him Wednesday.

In a statement read by Manton, Walker apologized for earlier denying he had signed with the Generals — asking for "forgiveness."

Manton said Walker received his first-year salary and signing bonus. In cash, in advance and the contract was guaranteed by New Jersey owner J. Walter Duncan, "whose wealth has been investigated and is without question." He said the contract called for all cash and no deferred payments.

"He (Walker) received a check today that contained seven figures, endorsed it, then gave it to his mother and told her to put it in the bank," said Manton. "He has purchased no material things, and I know of no immediate plans to do so."

Dooley said he did not blame any one person for Walker passing up his final season of college eligibility.

"There's enough blame to be shared by many," said the obviously saddened coach. "It's a sad day for college football and a sad day for pro football. . . . He made a mistake and he admits it."

The mistake Dooley referred to was Walker signing with the Generals on Feb. 17 with the understanding that he had 24 hours to change his mind. Walker used that verbal "escape clause" two hours later, but was informed by Dooley Tuesday night that the action ended his college eligibility.

College officials expressed concern over the USFL, violating its own rule and signing a player before the end of his college eligibility. Some coaches reacted by banning the USFL from contact with their players.

An 'all-out effort' by several parties

USFL boss discusses Walker's desire to sign

NEW YORK (UPI) — USFL Commissioner Chet Simmons shed a little more light Thursday on Herschel Walker's signing with the New Jersey Generals, citing the Georgia All-America running back's fear of injury in his senior year that could have "restricted or eliminated" the collegian's future opportunities.

Walker's bid for a hefty money contract was an all-out effort by the player, his parents, his attorney and his financial advisor.

"The League office clearly indicated to Herschel and his representatives that the USFL had adopted a rule restricting league teams from signing players in his category," Simmons said in a statement. "At all times, the NCAA regulations concerning amateur and professional status were thoroughly discussed and understood by all parties."

Walker, Simmons said, continued to press for contract negotiations.

Actually, Simmons says, Walker's attorney, Jack Manton, furnished the USFL with a lengthy legal brief that said the rule preventing Walker's right to pursue a pro career was unfair and illegal.

"The USFL requested legal opinions from two outside law firms," Simmons said. "Those opinions also indicated that an attempt to enforce the rule in this case would be inappropriate. Considering all matters and Herschel's continued expressed desire to play in the USFL — and facing a situation in which the rule prohibiting Walker's rights to seek employment was legally invalid — permission was given by the Commissioner for Walker to meet with the New Jersey Generals."

Simmons said league owners were informed of the situation and of attorney opinions it would be illegal to deny Walker's right to play in the USFL. The owners were also told Simmons would approve a contract when it was submitted.

Simmons calls the Walker signing "an isolated situation" and that USFL eligibility rules remain intact.

Generals' ticket office bombarded with requests for seats

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Even before reaching training camp, Georgia All-America back Herschel Walker is already carrying the payload for the New Jersey Generals of the United States Football League.

The 1982 Heisman Trophy winner Wednesday announced he has signed with the Generals and the phones at the club's ticket offices in East Rutherford, N.J., haven't stopped ringing.

"We sold 1,000 season tickets in three hours yesterday," club spokesman Kevin MacConnell said Thursday from the Generals' training facilities. "When I talked to our office at Giants Stadium this morning, they told me there were long lines at Meadowlands Arena waiting at the ticket windows. We sold 500 tickets this morning alone."

Before Walker lost his eligibility to play his senior season at Georgia and announced his record 3-year contract with the new league, the Generals had been averaging about 1,000-1,200 season ticket sales per week, said MacConnell.

"We had about 20,000 season tickets sold coming into this week and now, with Herschel's signing, I certainly think we'll reach the 30-35,000 figure by our season opener, March 20, against Tampa Bay," said MacConnell.

U.S. Indoor Track & Field Championships set for today

NEW YORK (UPI) — The U.S. Indoor Track and Field Championships, featuring the climax of the $150,000 Grand Prix events, unfold today with Billy Olson looking to wrap up the men's title and a tight battle expected for the women's crown.

The Grand Prix is sponsored by Mobil.

After winning the pole vault at San Diego last week, Olson had amassed 110 points and had clinched a tie for the Grand Prix title, leading hurdler Greg Foster by 40 points. The overall men's and women's winners receive $10,000, to be awarded to their athletic clubs for training purposes.

Olson pried up his points mostly through his string of world records this season which concluded when he became the first man to clear 19 feet indoors (19-1/4) in Toronto on Feb. 4. Before that, he had improved the record twice. World records carry a 20-point bonus.

"The 19-foot vault was my crowning achievement," Olson says. "I had set six or seven world records before that, so the record in itself was nothing special. Now I want to go much higher, and I know I can because I'm sure I've been as high as 19-6 on some vaults."

Olson may face a test from American outdoor record-holder Dave Volz, who is recovering from knee surgery.

Foster will be challenged in the 60-yard hurdles by defending champion Tonic Campbell, veteran Rod Milburn, and Cuban Alejandro Casanas, among others.

Other men's highlights at The Athletics Congress championships should include Carl Lewis, who is entered in both the long jump, where he hopes to break his world indoor mark of 28-1, and the 60 yards, where he set the world record of 6.02 seconds in Dallas on Feb. 5.

Lewis has not doubted in many weeks this season, as he had planned to pace himself in preparation for the long jump at the World Championships in Helsinki, Finland this summer. But he said his world sprint record at Dallas may change his priorities somewhat.

"I thought I would see how I ran in Dallas before thinking about running any more indoor sprints," Lewis said. "Now I guess I will run in the TAC meet. I'm kind of looking forward to this one now."

Steve Scott, American outdoor record-holder, will be favored in the mile as Fiamonn Coghlan moves up to the 3-mile as part of his training for the 5,000 meters at Helsinki. Scott and Coghlan had engaged in a heated mile duel at Cleveland last weekend, with Scott accusing Coghlan of cutting him off on the last turn.

The women's overall Grand Prix crown may be won by high jumper Louise Ritter, who has 65 points, sprinter Evelyn Ashford, who has 60, or hurdler Stephanie Hightower, with 55.

Ritter's stiffest competition should come from Ulrike Meyfarth of West Germany. Ashford, who has broken the world 50-yard record twice this year, lines up in the 60 against arch-enemy Jeanette Bolden. Hightower's two closest rivals, Candy Young and Benita Fitzgerald, are entered in the 60-yard hurdles.

Gove, Fiori fire 65s to share one-stroke Doral Open lead

MIAMI (UPI) — Mike Gove and Ed Fiori led an assault on the suddenly benign "Blue Monster" course with 7-under-par 65 Thursday to take a one-shot lead after the first round of the $300,000 Doral Open.

A wet but mild winter has left the par-72, 7,065-yard Doral "Blue Monster" with greens that are playing like pool tables while the usually troublesome south Florida breezes failed to make an appearance.

"The result was that most scores slipped toward par and lower. The leaders' bogey-free 65s were only one shot off the tournament record held by several pros."

One stroke off the pace with a 6-under-par 66 was Lanny Wadkins. Another shot back of Wadkins was Ken Green, whose best finish in a year on tour was a tie for seventh in this year's Crosby. Tom Kite continued his consistent play with a 68 that put him in a tie with Peter Oosterhuis and Jim Booros.

Fiori has three tour victories in six years on the tour and said the key Thursday was putting.

"I've been playing well all year, but today some putts started to fall," Fiori said. "I'm very pleased with my play right now and I've got all the confidence in the world. I've played well here and I like this golf course. I think I can make a run at them."

Fiori led a chorus of praise for the condition of the course.

"The greens are the best we've putted all year and probably the best we will putt all year," he said.

Fiori started his round with two 6-foot birdie putts and his longest was a 20-footer on the par-3, 225-yard fourth hole.

"I thought the greens were great," Gove said. "I didn't drive the ball as well as I have been but I hit the ball close to the hole and made a couple of putts."

The 26-year-old alumnus of Weber State first joined the tour in 1980, but suffered a stress fracture in his hand in December of the following year and forced him to sit out for five months.

Gove's longest birdie putt was 50 feet and he also pitched in from 40 feet away for another birdie. But it was a 2-iron out of a bunker to within three inches of the hole that he called "the greatest shot of my life." He sank the putt for birdie-3.

Aaron, who trotted around bases, becomes running coach

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Manager Joe Torre said Thursday the Atlanta Braves will get base running instruction this spring from a man who is best known for trotting bases — home run champ Henry Aaron.

"Hank Aaron is going to help us with our base running," said Torre. "I know he was known for hitting the ball out of the park so he didn't have to run, but he was a great base runner. One of the best in the game when he played. Certainly, he was one of the smartest. I never saw him make a mistake on the bases."

Aaron is baseball's all-time home run hitter with 755. He made history by breaking Babe Ruth's record of 714 on April 8, 1974 in Atlanta when he connected off the Los Angeles Dodgers' Al Downing. Aaron had a career total of 240 stolen bases.

He presently is director of player development for the Braves and will begin base running instruction March 5 while awaiting arrival of his minor league teams.

Yanks' Mayberry arrives a little late, much lighter

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — John Mayberry showed up a day late at the New York Yankees' spring training camp Thursday but 15 pounds lighter than a year ago. The 33-year-old Mayberry, who faces an uphill battle to win a job with the Yankees, had been asked by owner George Steinbrenner to trim some weight off his 245-pound frame. He checked in at 231.

Besides Mayberry, Bobby Murcer and Don Baylor, both of whom had permission to report late, arrived in camp Thursday.

Steve Balboni, who will be battling Mayberry for a job, worked out despite having taken two stitches in his eye the previous day when he was hit by a thrown ball off the grass.

Sore-armed hurler Bibby throws batting practice

BRADENTON, Fla. (UPI) — Pittsburgh Pirates' right-hander Jim Bibby Thursday threw batting practice for the first time since undergoing shoulder surgery last April. But Bibby said it would be a few days before he knows how his arm is responding to the workouts. Bibby missed the first four days of spring training because of the death of his father. He said he also had to cut back on his workouts at home during that period.

The remaining pitchers at Pirate City have increased their throwing time from five minutes every other day to 10 minutes, a team spokesman said.

Proud papa Clancy misses Toronto workout

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI) — Jim Clancy, the other half of the Toronto Blue Jays' highly paid pitching tandem with Dave Stieb, was a no-show at the opening day of the club's spring training camp Thursday but his contract had nothing to do with it. Clancy, who enjoyed a 16-14 record and a 3.71 FRA with the sixth-place Jays last season, remained home in Chicago by the side of his wife Kathy who was expecting the couple's fourth child at any time.

Club spokesman Howie Starkman said Clancy has been given permission to stay with his wife until the baby was delivered.

Montreal boss Virdon likes pitching corps

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Six days into spring training, Montreal's new manager, Bill Virdon, feels he has a solid pitching staff — particularly the starting rotation of 19-game winner Steve Rogers, Bill Gullickson, Scott Sanderson and Charlie Lea.

"The pitching is as good as I see in the National League," Virdon said

Thursday. "There are four capable starting pitchers, all with the ability to win 20 games. You can't say that about many clubs in any league."

Pleased with right-hander Jeff Reardon and left-hander Woody Fryman as the nucleus of his bullpen, Virdon says. "Our concern is to fill the other four spots with major league caliber arms."

Sportswriter barred from Giants' camp

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI) — Ken Leiker, baseball writer for the Arizona Republic, is not welcome at the San Francisco Giants spring training camp.

Giants manager Frank Robinson said Leiker Wednesday that he was barring him from the Giants camp.

Twice in recent weeks, Leiker criticized Robinson in print, at one point calling him "a jerk." He also called Jack Mull, the new Phoenix Giants manager, "a jerk." Leiker took exception when the parent Giants fired Rocky Bridges as Phoenix manager and replaced him with Mull.

Robinson caught up with Leiker Wednesday when the writer showed up at the Giants camp to participate in a mass interview of Japanese pitching star, and former Giant, Masanori Murakami.

"Since your mind is made up," Robinson said to Leiker in a level tone, "I don't want you around me or my players. I'm ordering them after this workout that they are not to talk to you."

Leiker's only response was that some Giants, those he knew when they played in Phoenix, would still talk to him. After the brief conversation, Leiker finished talking with Murakami and quietly left the Giants camp.

Elbow woes persist for Mets' catcher Stearns

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — Catcher John Stearns of the New York Mets suffered a setback on his comeback attempt Thursday when his right elbow flared up again and prevented him from participating in a full squad workout.

Stearns did his wind sprints but spent the remainder of the morning in the trainer's room where his elbow was immersed in the whirlpool tub.

Stearns suffered a micro tear of the medial ligament of his right elbow playing third base last July. He continued to play until Aug. 9 when he was placed on the disabled list.

Stearns resumed throwing about 10 days ago and was lobbing the ball for distances up to 150 feet. He continued to take medication for the inflammation, but the dosage was cut in half this week and the inflammation followed.

Pirates, Stargell downplay dispute

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Pirates and retired team captain Willie Stargell are seeking to squelch reports that a money dispute has prevented the team from rehiring Stargell as a coach.

Rather, according to both Stargell and team executive vice president Harding Peterson, a lack of time has prevented the two sides from getting together.

Peterson said Thursday he would meet with Stargell at Pirate City in Bradenton, Fla., on March 7 to discuss job possibilities.

Peterson, in a release issued by the Pirates' publicity office, also sought to clear up what he termed a "misconception" about Stargell's relationship with him and the team.

"Willie and I are great friends and we have a very good relationship," Peterson said. "We want him to remain part of the Pirates, working with our younger players and doing other things within the organization."

"We've had several telephone conversations but have not been able to sit down face to face and talk about the job," Peterson added.

"I want to be sure it's understood that there's no rift between Willie and the Pirates and that we are positive that we will maintain our great relationship."

Stargell was quoted Wednesday as saying he was confused by the initial newspaper reports that money was preventing his accepting a job with the Pirates.

In the first reports, Peterson was quoted as "I'd say money is a factor" when asked about negotiations to hire Stargell as a minor league coach or instructor.

"I never said to anybody what I wanted," Stargell responded. "People have been calling me and asking me what it's all about. I'm a little bewildered, and I'm sure it can be cleared up very quickly."

"I still would like to work for the ballclub — ideally on a part-time basis," Stargell said.

He said he doesn't expect the Pirates to pay him anything close to the salary he received last year.

Stargell, who retired last October, has spent much of his time recently on a symphony concert tour, serving as narrator of words written by Martin Luther King Jr. and others.

Lowenstein signs 3-year deal with O's

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Orioles outfielder John Lowenstein has signed a three-year contract — extending through the 1985 season, General Manager Hank Peters announced Thursday.

No further terms of the pact were disclosed by Peters.

Lowenstein, 36, batted .320 in 1982 with a career-high 24 home runs and 66 RBI in 122 games. Lowenstein's .421 on-base percentage and .602 slugging percentage led American League players with more than 20 at-bats.

The left-handed hitting Lowenstein became a free agent at the end of last season. He was selected by five clubs, including the Orioles.

Lowenstein was acquired by the Orioles in a waiver deal with Texas in November 1978. The 12-year veteran, who has also played with Cleveland, has a career major league batting average of .254 in 1,129 games.

M★A★S★H

An era ends as a class act goes out in style

By BOB WISEHART
Newhouse News Service

"M-A-S-H" was always the television series to watch for people who didn't watch television.

"My favorite quote is, 'I never watch television, but I never miss M-A-S-H,'" says Mike Farrell, who played B.J. Hunnicutt for seven of the show's 11 seasons.

"It's been the most important professional experience of my life," he says. "All of us understood that. It was significant beyond anything we had done before and probably will ever do."

Even Alan "Hawkeye" Alda, a man not inclined to excessive modesty, agrees.

"It changed my life," says the 47-year-old actor who initially balked at the "M-A-S-H" role. "It gave me a chance to develop in all ways."

Monday at 7:30 p.m., "M-A-S-H" ends with a two-and-one-half hour movie, "Goodbye, Farewell, Amen."

This 2½-hr. "M-A-S-H" episode could be the most-watched show in history. Commercials were sold for a stunning $450,000 per 30 seconds.

The National Enquirer offered $35,000 for a copy of the final script and several weeks ago detailed what would happen on the last "M-A-S-H."

Head writer John Rappaport acknowledges the Enquirer got the real thing, but refuses to say more. Referencing the emotional 1975 episode in which the plane carrying "M-A-S-H" commandant Col. Henry Blake (McLean Stevenson) was shot down on its way out of Korea, Rappaport cracks, "We killed before and we could kill again."

Nothing worms its way into the national psyche the way a TV series can. Many series are popular. Few are good. Fewer still are beloved. With its long run and honorable intentions, "M-A-S-H" is just that.

As a book, a movie, a TV series,

Local fans bid farewell with M-A-S-H bashes

By Pat MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Unofficial or not, Monday will be M-A-S-H Day in Twin Falls.

In addition to all the fans who will be bound to their TV sets to watch the last episode, there also will be parties, prizes, contests and costumes.

In all, it will be a collective and warm farewell to a bunch of good friends — Hawkeye, B.J., Margaret, Charles and Klinger.

The students of O'Leary Junior High School in Twin Falls, who were about 4 when the series first aired 11 years ago, will honor the program at school on Monday.

Students will dress as in M-A-S-H, says student Sherry Watson, the Student Council activity director. Prizes will be awarded in each grade for the best costume.

And in the tradition of the M-A-S-H personnel, who often said the mess hall was one of the horrors of war, the students will do some good-natured ribbing of the cafeteria food in the school bulletin.

M-A-S-H Day at O'Leary was the idea of Watson and another student, Stacey Stands.

"We both really like M-A-S-H, and the kids really like it. It's a good show. It should get some recognition," Watson says. The message of the program is that "war is not too fun," she says.

O'Leary is not the only school that will be recognizing the TV show.

"M-A-S-H" always struggled. The 4077th Mobile Army Surgical Hospital was created in a novel by Maine surgeon Richard Hornberger — pen name Richard Hooker — who served in a M-A-S-H unit in Korea. He accumulated 17 rejection slips before he found a publisher.

Movie rights were sold immediately. Several directors turned it down before Robert Altman gave it a try.

The result was a hit film in 1970, a

Beginning at 11 a.m., the original M-A-S-H movie will be shown throughout the day at the Eagles Nest in the Taylor Administration Building at the College of Southern Idaho.

Since Valentine's Day, radio station KREP in Twin Falls has been giving away M-A-S-H calendars to those who can answer trivia questions about the series, says Bob King, the station's operations manager.

Along with the Rock Creek restaurant, the radio station also is sponsoring a M-A-S-H party Monday. Starting at 4:30 p.m., the event will include a Klinger look-alike contest. For non-M-A-S-H types, Klinger is the hairy-chested soldier who wore stylish dresses in an attempt to get out of the Army.

There also will be a large-screen television for fans to watch the finale — a two-and-one-half-hour special. Drinks will be served by waitresses in M-A-S-H T-shirts.

Party-goers are encouraged to wear nurse's outfits, fatigues or other drab-olive Army clothing, King says. Liquor-filled V's and Army foot powder, and a Frank Burns helmet will be the prizes, King says.

King, who doesn't like re-runs, says he will just have to "learn to cope with" them after the "fresh material" ends Monday.

M-A-S-H fever also has spread north of Twin Falls.

Slavey's bar in Ketchum will be holding a M-A-S-H party for Wood River Valley fans, beginning at 7 p.m.

"Everybody's enjoyed M-A-S-H for a number of years. It's (the party) a chance to get some people together who have enjoyed it for a number of years," says Slavey's owner, Doug Betzold.

At the bar, swam juice, better known as martinis, a Hawkeye specialty, will be sold at a special price. At the conclusion of the television program, M-A-S-H-costumed patrons will be able to dance to the music of the early '50s, the era of the Korean War.

The program also will be shown at The Sandpiper restaurant in Twin Falls, with martinis selling for $1, says manager Scott Williams.

The interest in the series also has manifested itself in a call for Army gear.

Randy Gregerson, of Koppels Brownsville, an Army surplus store in Twin Falls, reports a brisk business in fatigues, M-A-S-H T-shirts and other accessories. Army clothing always has been popular, but with the series, it's even better, Gregerson says.

Despite the forthcoming re-runs, Monday will be a goodbye of sorts to some old friends.

When asked about the area M-A-S-H activities, many persons said they had favorites among the crew. Most named Hawkeye, Col. Potter or Klinger.

Betzold says he will miss Col. Flagg, the fanatic intelligence officer, who regularly plagued the hospital unit.

"He's just weird. He sort of reminds me what the real Army was like."

"Because they wanted me to make it funnier."

Both men wanted Alda. "I'd seen him on the stage," Reynolds says. "And I knew he was a fine light comedian. But Alan wasn't interested. He said 'M-A-S-H' was a good film, but would never make it on television. We convinced him otherwise."

Wayne Rogers was cast as McIntyre and Loretta Swit as brittle

Margaret "Hot Lips" Hoolihan, Larry J. Juville became dimwitted Frank Burns as best as Hoolihan's lover as he was at surgery. Stevenson was signed as Blake. Gary Burghoff moved from the movie to the series as "Radar" O'Reilly. Other minor characters — remember "Spearchucker" Jones? — were transferred from film to series, but quickly disappeared.

The pilot is amazing to watch now, almost reverently faithful to the style of the film, though the blood and language were muted for TV. It ran Sept. 17, 1972, between "Anna and the King" and "The Sandy Duncan Show."

And there it nearly died.

It was a slow process for "M-A-S-H" to break away from the influence of the film, which it eventually surpassed in quality. It was not popular at first, and didn't crack the top 30 shows its first year.

Asked if he thought in his wildest dreams "M-A-S-H" would last this long, Gelbart snorts. "Eleven years? Not exactly. I thought 11 weeks in the beginning."

Gelbart had to fight to keep "M-A-S-H" true to his vision. CBS wanted it lighter, the usual TV fare. Gelbart won, of course. Until he left four years later, "M-A-S-H" was what he wanted it to be. In Alda's words, it's about "people standing in other people's blood and hating it, trying to escape the craziness through some insanity of their own."

Toward the end, "M-A-S-H" did weaken and lost some of its urgent pungency. But it was awfully good for a long, long time. One reason is that cast defections forced changes that freshened the show.

When Stevenson left, Harry Morgan was brought in as Col. Sherman Potter — a tough, bandy-legged old warhorse who knew when to pull in the reins and when to let his charges run.

The program wasn't what the real Hawkeye had in mind

By GINO DEL GUERCIO
United Press International

AUGUSTA, Maine — While millions of Americans lament the end of the M-A-S-H television series, the original Hawkeye Pierce says if it weren't for the money he receives from the show he'd be glad to see it end.

"My wife and I were in a hotel room in New Zealand one time and had the choice of watching the 'Dukes of Hazzard,' 'M-A-S-H' or an educational program — on the artificial insemination of cows. I chose to watch the cow show," said Dr. H. Richard Hornberger, the Maine doctor who created M-A-S-H by writing a fictional account of his experiences as an Army surgeon during the Korean war.

"Thirty-two years ago Hornberger interrupted his surgical internship to serve with a Mobile Army Surgical Hospital. When he returned to Maine his medical practice went slowly and while waiting for patients he wrote his book and two sequels.

At first Hornberger had difficulty getting the book published, but once in print its movie rights were quickly bought up.

"They grabbed the movie rights right out of the gallery proofs," he said in an interview with UPI. The first he has ever granted to a member of the daily press.

Not long after the book was published, the movie — directed by Robert Altman — was released.

However, Hornberger said during the transformation from book to television his original intent was altered.

"The M-A-S-H television program just isn't my type of humor," said Hornberger, who wrote under the pen name of Richard Hooker.

"I get paid for it, so I'd like it to go on forever. But I'm certainly not upset that it's ending," said Hornberger, who would not reveal how much he received per episode.

Hornberger, 59, retired from his practice as a chest surgeon last year. He lives on the coast of Maine in an isolated "tiny" town called Bremen and hopes to publish some more books soon. His new books will be nothing like the old ones, he said.

In the television series, ending Monday after an 11-year run, Alan Alda portrays Hawkeye as a liberal anti-war wise guy who joined the Army one step in front of the military police.

In fact, Hornberger joined the Army during World War II as a way of getting into medical school. His Republican outlook is far from the way he is depicted in the show.

"I think we should have been (in Korea)," he said. "If you're going to start a war, you might as well play to win."

"No one in their right mind would be pro-war. But I operated on a thousand or so wounded kids, and I know more about war than a bunch of under-educated actors who go around blithering those sanctimonious self-righteous noises," he said.

Hornberger disdains publicity. He said he considers himself more of a surgeon than an author.

"When the book finally came out I was too involved in my practice to get involved with promoting the book," he said.

Instead of anti-war, a term to which he objects, he prefers to call the book anti-Army.

"The book is only anti-war in the minds of a lot of flaky people," said Hornberger, who today looks and acts more like charter Major Charles Winchester on the TV show than the tall, thin, slightly awkward Hawkeye Pierce in the book and movie.

"You might call the book anti-Army, but then very few doctors like the Army. That is why we were able to survive and have a fairly good time in the midst of a lot of chaos," he said.

High school to stage play

WENDELL — Wendell High School students will present a comedy-mystery play this Monday and Tuesday.

"Off the Track" is a two-hour, three-act play about a group of train passengers who are involved in a minor train wreck.

According to drama teacher Larry Gwartzney, the passengers are stranded overnight at a small train station, waiting for another train. When a valuable pearl necklace turns up missing and is then found on a passenger, a makeshift trial is held immediately at the isolated station.

"There are some really humorous parts in the play," Gwartzney says. "It's a light comedy, nothing too serious. Some definite characters are developed. Actors starring in the play will be: Martin Olsen, Byron Kelley, Marty DeWitt, Kelly Westendorf and Brian Gibson.

The actresses will be: Tami Brown, Melissa Weaver, Michelle Casper, Gerri Thaele, Christie Irace, Rene Predt, Sandra Driesel, Lois Anderson and Kristen Prinz.

"Off the Track," the first Wendell High School play in four years, will be presented in the elementary school multi-purpose room at 1 p.m. Monday and at 7 p.m. Tuesday. Admission will be by donation.

Country star Donna Fargo schedules Jackpot appearance

By DAVID MOFFAT
Times-News writer

JACKPOT — Singer-songwriter Donna Fargo, who broke into national notice in 1972 with the country-music classic "The Happiest Girl in the Whole U.S.A.," will be appearing at Cactus Pete's convention center tonight in Jackpot.

There will be two shows, at 9 and 11 p.m.

Country-music listeners also may remember Fargo for the best-selling single, "Funny Face," and a string of other successful country records. She is coming to Jackpot as part of her first 1983 tour.

Fargo often has said that her best quality as a songwriter has been her ability to bring happiness to others.

And in an interview last week, she reiterated her desire to help people think positively about life.

Her role as songwriter becomes especially evident when she is touring, she says. That's when she can get people involved in her music.

"For that hour I can help them to have a good time and help them forget about the economy and all those things."

Each of her shows usually includes a gospel medley, where she invites the audience to sing along.

Life has not always been easy for Fargo. She grew up in North Carolina and taught high school English in California before becoming one of the best-known female country vocalists almost overnight.

But in 1977, after suffering temporarily from paralysis, she was diagnosed as having multiple sclerosis, a disease of the central nervous system.

Now, she must take life at a slower pace. Multiple sclerosis is recurrent, and although doctors don't know how to cure it, they believe it is brought on by stress.

Fargo said last week that she needs all parts of the singer-songwriter life to "complete the cycle." Unlike many country singers, she writes two-thirds of the material on her albums.

But she spends most of her time on the road, away from her home in Nashville, Tenn. Most recently she has finished recording a new album. She has not selected a name for it yet, she says.

She also has completed a variety show in Canada and a tour through Oregon and Washington in recent months. And she is working on a book of poetry.

But she loves playing Nevada. "It is just a fun-loving place," she says. "People there are interested in having a good time."

Doors will open at 8 p.m. for her two shows at Cactus Pete's. Tickets are $10 per person and will be available at the door. No reservations will be accepted.

Brief Reviews

From Times-News wire services

GANDHI. Richard Attenborough's epic labor of love about the Indian lawyer (Ben Kingsley) who became the beloved spiritual and political leader of India compares with the classic films "Lawrence of Arabia" and "Dr. Zhivago" in its ability to paint a strong human story on a very large canvas. Kingsley's portrayal is done so well that there is a genuine feeling of Gandhi on the screen. With Candice Bergen, Sir John Gielgud and Trevor Howard. Rated PG. 4 stars.

LOVE SICK. A prominent Manhattan psychiatrist (Dudley Moore) and his patient (Elizabeth McGovern) extend their professional relationship in this romantic comedy. Directed by Marshall Brickman. Rated PG. 3 stars.

TOOTSIE. More than the year's funniest film, "Tootsie" also is a celebration of the actor's life and a sly comment on sexual role-playing with Dustin Hoffman in a brilliant double role as an actor so desperate for work he takes a job as actress without anyone on the soap opera knowing he's a man. Of all of the holiday pictures, this is the one to see first. PG. 4 stars.

What's what

Am told that air-passenger ailment known as jet lag results from east-west travel but not from north-south or south-north travel. Strictly a time zone thing, evidently.

Last census showed more people nationwide lived out on acreage than ever before. Was the first time in U.S. history that the rural population had grown between censuses.

In January of 1982, Pete Skinner, the majority leader of the Florida State Senate, delivered a public pledge to help rid that state's roads of drinking drivers, then immediately turned in his own driver's license.

KISS AT THE ALTAR

Q. About that nuptial kiss at the altar, should it be long or short? Hot or cold? Loud or quiet?

A. Our Love and War man insists that ought to be up to the kissers. In these matters, he does not believe in standardization. However, he notes that in "The Taming of the Shrew," Mr. Shakespeare described the following classic wedding kiss which has satisfactorily served as a pattern for centuries: "He took the bride about the neck, and kiss'd her lips with such a clamorous smack that at the parting, all the church did echo."

REAGAN IN TRUNKS

If you were a newspaper editor, would you run a photo of President Ronald Reagan in a bathing suit? A large majority of editors recently told pollsters no, they would not. Would it? Depends. If he wore it to church, yes.

When a parakeet bathes continuously, study an earthquake. At least, scholars who expect animal behavior to predict quakes seem to think that's a significant clue.

Only about three out of every 10 teenagers eat dinner with their folks as frequently as three times a week, according to the pollsters.

You recall Diogenes, the ancient Greek who went out with a lantern in search of an honest man. He lived in a wooden bathtub.

You may have read about Japan's Shinkansen (bullet) train. The 170 miles of track for it cost more than $1,000 an inch.

Not yet clear is why the life expectancy of men in the Soviet Union has dropped from 63 a decade ago to 62 today.

Dear Abby

Does baby belong in wedding?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am going to be married in the wedding of my best friend. (I'll call her Karen.) It will be held in a church and Karen is wearing a gown and veil.

She's having bridesmaids and everything a bride dreams of. The wedding had to be postponed for 5 1/2 months because Karen's fiancé, who's in the Navy, had his leave cancelled due to a mixup. Meanwhile Karen found out she was pregnant.

Well, to make a long story short, Karen's baby came early and will be seven weeks old at the time of the wedding. Karen wants to walk down the aisle with her baby cradled in her arms. My mother thinks it's a dumb idea and she's nagging me to talk Karen out of it. Some think it's a wonderful idea. It's never been done before as far as I know, and I don't think it's my place to take sides either way.

What do you think?
DEAR ABBY: AND BABY MAKES THREE. DEAR ABBY: Since it's going to be a church wedding, I think Karen and her fiancé should confer with the clergyman who will perform the ceremony and abide by his (or her) decision.

DEAR ABBY: Just this last December, I lost my best friend — my mother. Her death was really unexpected. Since it was the holiday season, I had already bought her Christmas presents and had them wrapped, ready to give to her. Among the gifts was your book, "The Best of

Dear Abby:
After she died, I donated her gifts to the church, which I'm sure she would have wanted. I don't know why, but I kept your book for myself. I must say that reading it made the holidays without my mother a little easier to bear.

My mother would have loved it. Just wanted you to know. And thank you, Abby.

— FAITHFUL READER
DEAR READER: My condolences on the loss of your beloved mother. Knowing that my book helped in some small way to comfort you in your time of grief warms my heart. Thank you for writing.

DEAR ABBY: The "Redhead" has been discussed in several of your columns. Permit me to remind you and some of your readers that it's the hair — not the head — that is red.

However, the most apt descriptive term may be "Red" — the commonly used nickname for the PERSON rather than just the part.

— OLD ENGLISH MAJOR IN LONG BEACH.
DEAR MAJOR: A minor correction: My Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary defines "redhead" as "a person having red hair," so let us not split hairs of any color.

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed "Aching Heart," who wants to tell "Tammy" that she is her natural mother, is a situation familiar to me.

I was a happy, well-adjusted young lady in college when I received a birthday card from my "aunt" notifying me that she was really my natural mother! I knew I had been adopted, but I had never asked for nor did I want, this information.

I was so shocked and upset that without the help of a dear friend, I would have been a mental case. I no longer hate my "aunt" for divulging this information, but I would be happy never to see her again. She did a very selfish thing to tell me.

I hope "Aching Heart" takes your advice and goes through a third party to find out first if her natural daughter WANTS to know her natural mother.

Please don't use my town or state, because I never told my mom. I consider the mom who raised me my "real" mom, and I wouldn't hurt her for the world.

— ONE MOM AND I LOVE HER

M-A-S-H

Friday, February 25, 1983 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho C-6

Soon thereafter, Rogers took a walk, steamed at how Alda dominated the show. Enter Farrell as Hunnicutt, who combined Hawkeye's breeziness with a straightarrow love of health and home. Wary of Frank Burns, a character milked dry, Linville walked out, too, and David Ogden Stiers was introduced as the arch Charles Emerson Winchester.

The next disappearing act involved Burghoff. This opened a new world for Jamie Farr's Maxwell Klinger (originally just a walk-on).

"M-A-S-H" will thrive in reruns as long as there is TV. It's estimated that 250 million people worldwide watch it every week.

When oil man Marvin Davis bought 20th Century-Fox two years ago for $700 million, he said that "M-A-S-H" alone will eventually bring in one-third of what he paid for Fox in the first place.

Finally, for three of the characters, there is life after "M-A-S-H." In fact, it'll be called "After M-A-S-H."

As their "M-A-S-H" characters, Morgan, Farr and William Christopher (as meek padre John Mulcahy) will star in a comedy set in a stateside veterans hospital in 1955, with Morgan the hospital administrator, Christopher the chaplain and Klinger working in the hospital, accompanied by a Korean wife.

Each of the other cast members have mapped out plans

Alda will continue acting, producing and directing. Stiers plans, plus produce a TV series based on his hit film, "Four Seasons."

Swill has plans for several TV movies. Another series is possible, "but that's at least a couple of years down the road."

Sliers will return to the theater. Last year, he impressed critics as "King Lear."

TV will be the poorer for its passing. And TV can ill afford it.

LEGAL NOTICE LEGAL NOTICE LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF EMERGENCY RULE-MAKING AND NOTICE OF INTENDED REGULAR RULE-MAKING
In compliance with Sections 67-5203(b) and 67-5204(b)(2), Idaho Code, notice is hereby given that the Department of Health and Welfare, State of Idaho, has undertaken emergency procedures for rule-making. The action, under "Docket Number 67-5203-83," involves the adoption, amendment, repeal, and renumbering of rules governing "STAMP DUTY." Title 3, Chapter 4 Rules and Regulations of the Department of Health and Welfare. The action has been taken under the authority granted in Section 58-203(a) and (g) and 58-106(a), Idaho Code, for the purposes of implementing the provisions of CFR 274.1, 273.2, 273.2, 273.3, 273.8, 273.9, 273.10, 273.11, and 273.13 under Public Laws 97-98 and 97-253, effective February 1, 1983.

Emergency rule-making is necessary because of the failure to implement the February 1983 federally mandated policy changes would have resulted in denial or reduction of benefits to food stamp households and a loss of federal funds and substantial loss of food stamps for eligible households residing in Idaho. These rules are mandated under the 1981 and 1982 food stamp amendments or Public Laws 97-98 and 97-253, effective February 1, 1983.

The rules, which were adopted by emergency procedures on the 28th day of January, 1983, and filed by the undersigned on the 28th day of January, 1983, were effective on the 1st day of February, 1983, and will expire at the end of one hundred twenty (120) days on the 31st day of May, 1983.

In addition, notice is also given in compliance with Section 67-5203(a) (1), Idaho Code, that the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare, Division of Welfare, has also initiated regular rule-making under "Docket Number 0404-8301, prior to adoption of these emergency rules as permanent rules.

The following is a descriptive summary of the proposed action and of the principal issues involved:

Household composition: Elderly or disabled household members; The requirements for a Social Security number for an individual dependent student; Nonexempt resources; Exclusions from resources; Income deductions; Determining household eligibility and benefit levels; Initial non-benefit income; Disincentive standards; Destitute households; Proration of initial month benefits; Certification periods; Treatment of income and resources of disqualified household members; Sponsored aliens; Deeming resources to sponsored aliens; Exempt aliens; Sponsored aliens' responsibility in the correct sponsor information; Collecting claims against sponsored aliens; and immediate reduction or termination of benefits. Within the time limits specified below, any person can review the proposed rules in the Division Administrative Procedure Section or in any of regional administrative offices of the Department of Health and Welfare. Copies of the proposed rules will be made available upon written request specifying the docket number and the amount of a rate of ten cents (10¢) per page. Checks must accompany the request and be payable to the Department of Health and Welfare for the amount of $3.00.

Anyone can submit written comment regarding the proposed rules, and any person or industry who may be affected by the proposed rules is encouraged to submit information concerning the anticipated economic impact of the proposed action, and assistance on technical questions concerning the proposed rules, contact the Director, Department of Health and Welfare, Division of Welfare, (208) 334-4340. Both written comments and data concerning the proposed rules must be directed to the undersigned and must be postmarked or delivered on or before March 17, 1983.

Provisions for public hearings are waived, as allowed by Section 67-5203(b)(2), Idaho Code, since the Department has no discretion as to the substantive requirements of the proposed amendment which is designed solely to comply with the provisions of Public Laws 97-98 and 97-253, 273.1, 273.2, 273.3, 273.8, 273.9, 273.10, 273.11, and 273.13 which reflect the February 1, 1983, changes to the Food Stamp program. DATED this 23rd day of February, 1983. PAT FAWCETT Administrative Procedures Section, Department of Health and Welfare, 450 West State Street, 9th Floor, Boise, Idaho 83720.
