Millions gather to hear pope

By DANIEL DROSDOFF
UPI Latin America Editor

GUATEMALA CITY — Pope John Paul II, exhorting pilgrims at twin services that drew a million people each, rebuked Guatemala's rulers and rebels Monday and labeled the military execution of six men "a very grave offense against God."

The pope also hailed the nation's impoverished Indians as a "blessed race" — in desperate need of protection from government discrimination and leftist pressure to take up arms.

"Do not be used by ideologies that incite violence and death," John Paul told a crowd the Red Cross estimated at 1 million people in Quezaltenango, Guatemala's second largest city in the highlands 120 miles north of the capital.

Inhabited by descendants of the pre-Columbian Mayan civilization, the area has been the target of both leftist rebels seeking converts from Christianity and government troops seeking to extinguish leftist incursions.

As the crowd surged through rope barriers and cheered "Everyone loves you," the pope appealed for an end to "violence, injustice and lack of respect for Indian traditions."

"God has ordained you a blessed race," he told the indigenous group that represents a majority of the population.

"Organize associations for the defense of your rights."

He made his remarks at ceremonies during which he blessed a 200-year-old statue of the Virgin of the Rosary, patron saint of Quezaltenango.

It was the pope's first full day in Guatemala, the fifth stop of his eight-nation tour of Central America and Haiti that ends Wednesday.

In Guatemala City, the pope earlier celebrated mass for 1 million worshippers who repeatedly interrupted his 40-minute homily with "See POPE on Page A2"

Iran wrecks OPEC session

Won't agree to base price cut

By BRIGID PHILLIPS
United Press International

LONDON — OPEC oil ministers Monday resorted to a backroom bargaining on a moderate oil price cut after Iran flatly rejected any reduction.

Iran's move scuttled an informal session of the full cartel on measures to avert a price war.

Sources close to the flurry of new talks said the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries may be ready to lower prices and set new production limits without Iran, the major stumbling block in repeated earlier efforts to reduce the global oil surplus and to prevent its prices from collapsing.

Behind-the-scenes maneuvering intensified when United Arab Emirates Oil Minister Mana Saeed al Otaiba convened meetings between all ministers — sympathetic to the Persian Gulf camp's call for a proposed $5 drop in OPEC's base price to $29 a barrel.

"Nothing has been reached," Otaiba said after Kuwaiti Oil Minister Ali Khalifa al-Sabah met with ministers from Algeria, Iraq and Ecuador. Saudi Arabia Oil Minister Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani exercised his influence, sources said.

"We are still at the beginning of the road," Otaiba said, adding OPEC's 13 ministers would meet before noon Tuesday.

OPEC postponed Monday's summit after Iranian Oil Minister Mohammed Ghazali said Iran would never lower its oil prices and would make "all kinds of sacrifices" to defend OPEC's current $34-a-barrel price.

But analysts questioned whether Iran, which has been overproducing and underpricing its oil at the expense of the Persian Gulf Arabs, was prepared to pull back on production that has helped perpetuate the world-oil glut.

"The situation is much better now than when we started," said Venezuelan Oil Minister Humberto Calderon Bertli, who has spearheaded OPEC's 2-week campaign to put a floor under world oil prices. "We still have much work to reach an agreement."

Iran's hard line increased the odds of another OPEC stalemate at a time when the stakes are the highest in the cartel's 22-year history; a pricing free-for-all that could drive down world oil prices to $25 a barrel or less and spark an OPEC war.

Iran, which has flouted its OPEC production quota of 1.2 million barrels a day, is producing 3 million barrels daily and offering discounts on its oil by as much as $7 a barrel to finance its war against fellow OPEC member Iraq.

Iran agreed to attend the London talks only after eight OPEC oil ministers last week reached what United Arab Emirates Oil Minister Mana Saeed Al Otaiba called an "understanding" on prices and production.

Reliable Arab sources said OPEC's powerful Persian Gulf producers — led by Iran's ideological foe, Saudi Arabia — are pressing for a $5 cut in the cartel's base price to $29 a barrel and a two-year price freeze.

The G 11 producers are prepared to let Nigeria, which broke with OPEC and slashed its oil by $5.50 to $30 a barrel to undercut reductions by non-OPEC Britain and Norway, to charge only $1.50 a barrel more than the base price. OPEC's best African oil usually carries a $5-a-barrel premium.

OPEC's last emergency meeting broke down Jan. 24 because of a pricing dispute between the Gulf producers and Nigeria.

A Venezuelan delegate said the United Arab Emirates, Libya and Indonesia had drawn up a report at the weekend on pricing and maintaining OPEC's production ceiling at 17.5 million barrels a day.

Court gives police lawsuit immunity

By ELIZABETH OLSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON — Police officers who lie on the witness stand to help convict a criminal are absolutely immune from paying damages to the person for claims the perjurer violated his civil rights, the Supreme Court ruled Monday.

The justices, splitting 6-3 in an Indiana case, said a convicted state defendant may not sue a post-Civil War federal civil rights law to win money damages from police officers for alleged perjury at trial.

Justice John Paul Stevens wrote for the majority that while "some defendants might indeed be unjustly convicted on the basis of knowingly false testimony by police officers," that danger is outweighed by the broader public interest in stopping a flood of lawsuits against police by disgruntled criminals.

Stevens also said that opening police officers to such federal liability "might undermine not only their contribution to the judicial process but also the effectiveness of their other public duties."

Other actions Monday began a two-week recess, the justices.

Upheld, 7-2, an environmental ruling bolstering the federal government's power to acquire huge tracts of land for wildlife refuges.

stance to an on-the-spot chemical test.

Turned down, for the fourth time, a case aimed at settling the legal confusion over at what point insurance companies are liable for claims against asbestos companies.

In the perjury case, the high court extended to police officers the same protection from suit under the Reconstruction-era law previously given to judges, prosecutors and others performing official judicial functions.

However, police still may be sued under the law — the 1871 Ku Klux Klan Act — for certain acts other than perjury that violate a person's rights.

Justices Thurgood Marshall, William Brennan and Harry Blackmun dissented.

While the decision appears to foreclose federal avenues of redress, Georgetown University law expert Paul Rothstein said police might be found liable under state law for money damages for injuries stemming from perjured testimony.

The perjury dispute was brought to the high court by three men who wanted federal trials in lawsuits against two Indiana police officers.

One case was brought by Carlisle Briscoe, convicted in Bloomington, Ind., in 1976 with burglarizing a house trailer. His conviction later was overturned because of insufficient evidence.

Briscoe then filed suit against Bloomington police officer Martin LaHue, claiming LaHue testified falsely about a fingerprint found at the scene of the crime.

BLM unveils plans for public land sale

By BRUCE BOTKA
United Press International

BOISE — The Bureau of Land Management released an inventory Monday of 240 parcels of public land in Idaho totaling 14,300 acres proposed for sale beginning Oct. 1.

Idaho BLM director Claire Whitlock said the proposal for fiscal 1984 gives interested persons "something to get their teeth into," and a spokesman for the Idaho Conservation League said the agency appears "to be starting slowly" in implementing the Reagan administration's plan to raise $17 billion over five years from such land sales.

Whitlock said the agency is planning to sell about 60,000 acres in Idaho over the next five years. He said the selling price for some 40-acre parcels ranges from $10,000 to $60,000.

"It just depends on the individual tracts," he said. Most of the land proposed for sale is in southern Idaho. While some parcels are as large as 320 acres, most are between 40 and 100 acres.

"What we've done is to take the overall inventory that was released last summer and lay out a work plan," Whitlock said.

Whitlock said the proposal will be discussed at public hearings and in meetings with state and local government officials before it is finally adopted.

"What we are able to do now is lay out some tangibles for people to really get their teeth into," he said. "There is an opportunity now for people to know what we're talking about."

He said he did not know what effect release of the inventory would have on the controversy surrounding public land sales in Idaho.

Bruce Bocard, research coordinator for the Idaho Conservation League, said the BLM is reducing emphasis on such activities as wildlife, recreation, range and wilderness management to concentrate on selling land.

He said the Reagan administration's proposed fiscal 1984 budget would allocate $20 million for the asset management program. $18 million of which has been shifted from other management programs.

"We feel like we are getting hurt," Bocard said. "They are taking something out of the agency from something we feel is important and transferring it to something that is less important."

Bocard said by pursuing the land sale program, the administration is reducing funding for programs that are far more valuable in the long run.

"We're still a little bit nervous, because there has not been a reduction in the $17 billion target for public land sales established by the Property Review Board," Bocard said.

Bocard said he believed the agency was proceeding slowly with its sale program as a strategic step that would defuse in-state opposition to the program while paving the way for larger sales in the future.

Kohl claims vote was missile mandate

By BARRY JAMES
UPI Senior Editor

BONN, West Germany — A triumphant Chancellor Helmut Kohl warned the Soviet Union Monday he has a "clear mandate" from West German voters to deploy new NATO missiles if Moscow does not negotiate a disarmament pact with Washington.

One day after his sweeping victory at the polls, Kohl urged Moscow to make a "sober assessment" of Western arms policy.

Kohl also called on the West to stick together in support of the U.S. negotiating stance at disarmament talks on medium-range nuclear missiles.

"Only Western unity can bring success," he said.

Kohl's coalition of Christian Democrats and Free Democrats won an overwhelming victory in the election Sunday, defeating Social Democratic Party candidate Jans-Jochen Vogel, whose candidacy had been supported by Moscow.

"We received a clear mandate for our policy of peace in freedom, in the Western alliance and in partnership with the United States," Kohl said.

At the Geneva talks, President Reagan has put forward a "zero option" proposal whereby NATO would call off the deployment of the missiles if the Soviet Union scraps about 600 medium-range missiles aimed at Europe.

Queen ends soggy U.S. visit
 SEATTLE (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II wound up her rain-soaked trip to the United States Monday by waving a black umbrella to a 21-gun farewell salute and then set sail for Canada.
 The queen and Prince Philip were greeted once more by rain, thousands of royalty watchers and a handful of pro-right demonstrators in Seattle, the last stop on their 10-day West Coast visit.
 She thanked President Reagan and the American people for their warm welcome and said her visit will strengthen the friendship between our two nations.
 Before boarding the royal yacht, Britannia, the queen gazed holding her umbrella to ward off sprinkles while an Army band played the national anthems of the United States and Great Britain and the Navy fired a 21-gun salute.
 The queen and prince stood on the covered port deck and waved and the yacht's band played "Auld Land Syne" as the ship steamed away from the pier.

Explosion kills 67 miners
 ANKARA, Turkey (UPI) — Two explosions tore through a coal mine in northern Turkey Monday, killing at least 67 miners and injuring 86 others, officials said. Hundreds more were rescued from beneath tons of crumbling rock.
 The explosions — which occurred four minutes apart — triggered rockfalls, 150 feet underground in a mine near the Black Sea town of Ereğli, 120 miles north of Ankara in Zonguldak province, officials said.
 The provincial governor, Galip Demirel, said that as early Tuesday morning, the death toll had reached 67 and that 86 people were injured.
 Many of the injured were in critical condition and doctors said the death toll was expected to rise. About 30 miners in a coma were flown by helicopter to a hospital in Istanbul, 125 miles west of the mine.
 About 400 miners were working in the mine at the time of the blast, Demirel said.

Craig plans summer wedding
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Larry Craig, R-Idaho, said Monday he and Suzanne Scott, director of the Idaho Beef Council, plan to be married late this summer.
 Craig, who at 37 has never married, said he and Ms. Scott have not yet set a date or location for the ceremony. But he said the wedding will take place in Idaho, probably in August.

Today's weather

Clouds, occasional showers continue

Twin Falls, Burley-Rupert, Jerome-Gooding areas:
 Variable cloudiness today and Wednesday with showery periods and gusty winds at times. Highs 50 to 55 both days. Lows 37 to 42.
Camas Prairie, Halley, Wood River valley:
 Partial clearing early today, then increasing clouds with showers by afternoon, continuing intermittently through Wednesday. Highs 40 to 45 both days. Lows 25 to 30.
Northern Nevada and Utah:
 Cloudy with chance of rain today in Nevada. Decreasing clouds late today becoming partly cloudy and mild Wednesday. Highs in the 50s. Lows in the 30s.
 Partly cloudy in Utah with scattered showers today. Clearing tonight becoming fair Wednesday. Highs in the 50s. Lows in the 20s.

Synopsis:
 A frontal system after another continues to cross Idaho after pushing inland off the Pacific Ocean.
 Although weakening as they move inland, those systems will maintain the pattern of showery conditions alternating with partial clearing for several more days.
 The extended forecast for Magic Valley calls for mild temperatures with showers, mainly cloudy and mild Wednesday. Highs will be in the 50s with lows in the 30s or low 40s. Similar conditions are forecast for northern Idaho during that time.
 A frontal system moved across the state Monday, dumping 20 inch or less of precipitation. Skies cleared partially, but another system reached the state last night and maintained the prospects for showers. After it passed, high pressure began building, producing more partial clearing and shutting off the rain.
 But another weather system approaching the West Coast will produce only a few showers northward from the central mountains today.
 The National Weather Service issued a flood warning for the Weiser River near Weiser on Monday. The river was expected to crest today Monday, causing only minor flooding, although additional heavy rain might send the river to higher levels.

 In Twin Falls Monday, the pollen count was 185 per cubic meter of air.
 On Monday, mid-afternoon temperatures were in the 30s ahead of the cold front in southeastern Idaho but in other sections were in the middle 50s. The state's warmest reading was 59 degrees at Hagerman, and the coldest morning low was 20 at Stanley.
 Somewhere in the nation, the warmest temperature reported on Monday was 90 at McAllen, Texas, and the coldest was 8 degrees at Minot, N.D.

Legislators wary of wolves
 BOISE (UPI) — Never mind that the wolf is classified by the federal government for protection as a dwindling species. An Idaho legislative panel wants to list the fanged mammal as a predator so the state will be discouraged from spending money to protect it.
 The House Resources and Conservation Committee voted by an overwhelming margin Monday to approve a bill classifying the wolf as predatory wildlife. Animals now on the list are the coyote, jackrabbit, skunk, weasel and starling.

Spokesmen for farm and ranch groups said putting the wolf on the list would keep the Idaho Fish and Game Department from spending money to enhance game bird populations.
 But critics of the proposal said federal law that protects wolves from predator-control actions supersedes any state attempts to reduce the protected status of an endangered animal.
 Jay Gore of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's wolf recovery program said the bill might give people a mistaken impression that wolves are no longer listed as protected by the government.
 As a result, he said, someone might shoot a wolf, thinking it legal — then be cited and hit with a fine that under federal law could approach $20,000.

Pocatello has PCB problem
 POCATELLO (UPI) — An Environmental Protection Agency spokesman said Monday an "imminent" danger to public health exists in Pocatello at the Pacific Steel-Hides-Furs Recycling company where authorities fear air contaminated with PCBs may be seeping into groundwater located 25 to 30 feet below the site.
 An EPA spokesperson, Bob Jacobson, said "PCB has been discovered. What we are doing now is using our authority to remove contaminated materials that have already been found and make an assessment whether any of the contaminated materials have caused a release to the environment."
 Jacobson said EPA agents found 500 capacitors in a gravel pit.

FBI unveils rules for internal spying

By JUDI HASSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration issued new guidelines Monday making it easier for the FBI to launch investigations of domestic groups that advocate violence to achieve social change.

Attorney General William French Smith said the new rules clarify the scope of FBI probes into groups at home and will help agents discover terrorist activity before anyone is hurt.

"We are not waiting for the proverbial ticking to start," he told reporters.

"These new guidelines will clarify the standards governing these investigations and reaffirm the importance of gathering criminal intelligence about violence-prone groups, while retaining adequate protections for lawful and peaceful political dissent," he said.

The new rules, to go into effect in 14 days, replace strict 1976 guidelines issued by Attorney General Edward Levi in the wake of disclosures the FBI engaged in widespread spying on Americans in the civil rights and antiwar movements in the 1960s and 1970s. They were criticized by a key House Democrat and the American Civil Liberties Union.

The guidelines, not subject to congressional approval, allow the FBI to open an investigation when there is a reasonable indication that two or more people may be engaged in a scheme to further social or political goals using force or violence.

They also let the FBI use informants at an earlier stage of a probe and permit the FBI to gather "publicly available information" as long as it does not violate the Privacy Act. That law bars the government from collecting information about a person exercising his First Amendment rights unless the person is subject of an investigation.

Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., chairman of a House subcommittee on civil and constitutional rights, said he is concerned because the rules permit the FBI to launch an investigation based solely on what a person advocates. He asked a Justice Department official to appear before his panel to explain the guidelines.

President irritated about EPA reports

By PAULASCHWED
United Press International

WASHINGTON — President Reagan displayed irritation Monday over reports his aides want embattled EPA chief Anne Burford to resign, and a spokesman said the "definitive word" at the White House is that the job is hers to keep.

Reagan told reporters in Oregon Saturday — Mrs. Burford, whose Environmental Protection Agency is under investigation by the Justice Department and six congressional committees, can stay on the job "as long as she wants to."

"What the president said on Saturday is the definitive word," deputy press secretary Larry Speakes told reporters Monday. "It remains the definitive word, it will remain the definitive word you, until you hear differently from me."

Mrs. Burford was informed in a meeting last week that because the department had undertaken a "broad inquiry" into the affairs of the EPA it could no longer provide her with legal advice.

The EPA's top attorney Monday told a House subcommittee Mrs. Burford expected the Justice Department lawyers to "fight with us all the way," EPA Chief Counsel Robert

Robert Perry is sworn in for a House appearance

Perry said Mrs. Burford wants a special prosecutor to investigate charges against her agency.

Perry was accused of being evasive in his testimony, and one member asked that the committee consider sending to the Justice Department charges that he had not been cooperative.

"I am hard put to understand how you've retained your job with the kind of memory you have," Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the Energy and Commerce oversight subcommittee, told Perry after five hours of questioning.

Dingell said he would meet Tuesday with Justice Department officials on disputed EPA documents and elaborate procedures for turning them over to his committee. One member, Rep. Al Gore, D-Tenn., complained there are 37 steps in the screening process before a document can be viewed by a congressman.

During a picture session with members of Congress in the Cabinet Room, Reagan was asked if "it would be OK with you if Mrs. Burford resigned."

Cocking his head and looking toward the reporter, Reagan said he would not answer, but then suggested he be asked the same question "about several dozen other people who are not on my staff."

Asked if he was referring to people "who are talking about this," Reagan said, "Could be." He did not elaborate.

The Washington Post quoted administration officials Monday saying a White House strategy is being developed through a "back-door channel" to urge Mrs. Burford to step down.

Conservatives want Reagan to reveal secrets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A group of conservatives, worried by the popularity of the nuclear freeze movement, urged President Reagan Monday to release secret data about Soviet military capabilities to justify his defense policies.

Members of a group called the Coalition for Peace Through Strength, meeting at the White House, urged Reagan to take new steps to convince the public his policies are justified by a dangerous imbalance between U.S. and Soviet forces.

"The president's probably the best salesman that I know," said Rep. William Dickinson, R-Ala. "But in order to sell something, you have to present the facts. We feel very strongly that the facts have not been presented."

Conservative activist Paul Weirich suggested Reagan make a televised speech to reaffirm his commitment to a military strong enough to meet the Soviet threat.

The meeting with the group of conservative supporters came on the day some 5,000 people were paying their own way to Washington to join a lobbying effort by the Nuclear Weapons Freeze campaign on the eve of a new push in Congress for passage of a nuclear freeze resolution. The National League of Cities also joined the growing call Monday for cutbacks in Reagan's $1.6 trillion military buildup.

During the meeting, Reagan, restating the case for his program, insisted a stronger military posture is the only way to achieve nuclear arms reductions.

"Our modernization programs give our arms proposals greater strength," he said. "We know the Soviets will not negotiate seriously unless they see such programs as the MX and the Pershing (missile) deployment actually under way."

The call for release of more detailed evidence of what Reagan has called "a massive" Soviet military buildup also came as the administration prepared to release a new assessment of Soviet capabilities.

While House aides said Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger will present Reagan with the updated report, "Soviet Military Power," Tuesday.

"There's a general feeling that more information should be made available, and it's an allied view as well," National Security Council staff member Robert Sims told reporters.

Reagan, who contends a freeze would lock the United States into an inferior position, was urged to "win over the hearts and minds of the nuclear freeze advocates" by placing additional facts before the public, Sen. Jeremiah Denton, R-Ala., said.

Deputy press secretary Larry Speakes said Reagan is "of like mind," but cautioned there are constraints posed by the possible disclosure of intelligence sources and methods.

Injured freedom rider scores victory in court

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (UPI) — A Freedom Rider, beaten by Ku Klux Klan members in Alabama 22 years ago when he won a major victory Monday in federal court in his efforts to prove the FBI allowed the attack.

U.S. District Judge Richard A. Ensen ruled the FBI cannot claim it was not responsible for protecting Walter Bergman and his fellow Freedom Riders when they were attacked in Anniston and Birmingham, Ala.

Bergman was severely beaten by Klansmen on May 14, 1961, when his bus arrived in Anniston. He contends his injuries led to a condition that left him confined to a wheelchair for life.

The 84-year-old Grand Rapids man is seeking $1 million in damages from the federal government and FBI, claiming the FBI failed to stop the violence against civil rights activists even though it knew in advance it would occur.

Ensen's decision came after FBI and Justice Department attorneys refused Saturday to obey his order to share secret documents with Bergman's lawyers, who contended the documents would show more than one informant told the FBI the Klan was planning to attack the Freedom Riders.

"I will presume that the undisclosed documents contain certain facts which will corroborate the plaintiff's evidence," Ensen said, adding he also would presume "further evidence in favor of Bergman" would have been disclosed.

Before Bergman can press his claim for the $1 million, Ensen said he still must prove he was crippled as a result of the injuries in Alabama. Bergman also must prove his case — filed in 1977 — was brought within the statute of limitations, Ensen said.

If both criteria are met, Ensen said, another hearing will be held to determine how much the government must pay in damages.

Bergman was among a group of Freedom Riders who went to Alabama in 1961 to test compliance with Supreme Court desegregation rulings.

According to testimony at the trial, Bergman and others were attacked by a Klan mob when the bus arrived at the Continental Trailways bus depot in Anniston. Others were beaten later that day in Birmingham.

Several former Freedom Riders, along with television newsman Howard K. Smith, testified that Anniston and Birmingham police vanished from the scene, apparently to give the Klan time to attack the Freedom Riders.

Bergman's attorneys said the documents in question contain material about FBI informants who infiltrated the Alabama Ku Klux Klan and fed the agency information about Klan activities during the 1961 civil rights Freedom Rides through the South.

Tobacco group lashes at federal pamphlet

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — A new government pamphlet that claims cigarette smoking is the most widespread example of drug dependence in America was described as "baldersdash" on Tobacco Road Monday.

Tobacco industry representatives said the Public Health Service's anti-smoking pamphlet is only the latest of one-sided government propaganda against tobacco, a crop that brought North Carolina farmers $1.2 billion last season.

"They said the claim that smoking results in a drug dependence is not based on fact."

"That is baldersdash," said Reginald Lester, a spokesman for the Tobacco Growers Information Committee. "That is the most highly exaggerated, unsubstantiated claim I've heard in my life."

A spokesman for the Tobacco Institute charged the report was released to coincide with congressional hearings that begin Wednesday on legislation to toughen anti-smoking warnings on cigarette packages.

"This study was published as a dirty trick," said Anne Browder,

"It's a poorly devised stunt to influence the 'hearing' on cigarette-warming legislation introduced by Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif. Waxman heads the subcommittee that will conduct the hearing."

Mrs. Browder said the pamphlet contains no new information and "like the annual Surgeon General's report, it is an update of old information. None of it is new. Most of it cannot be substantiated."

She said the 1964 Surgeon General's report, which first labeled smoking as a health danger, made a distinction between habitual smoking and addiction.

"Smoking should be labeled habituation to distinguish it clearly from addiction," Ms. Browder quoted from the report.

The pamphlet says less than 500,000 Americans use heroin, 10 million are problem drinkers and marijuana is the most widely used illegal drug — but 56 million Americans smoke, which "causes more illness and death than all the other drugs."

Coeur d'Alene slip shouldn't mar event

The first Big Boise Basketball Show is now history. Rigny and Meridian will go down in history as the teams that won the first state championships in Boise State's Pavilion. But it may be a Coeur d'Alene team that is remembered longest for the newest chapter in Idaho high-school sporting events. Ten of 12 members of the Coeur d'Alene team decided to do some drinking after their loss to Meridian in the semifinals Friday night. So they went out and partied and ended up getting back to their rooms past curfew, breaking the school's athletic code of conduct on two counts. Coeur d'Alene officials decided to forfeit the third-place game Saturday and handed the win to Bonneville by default.

Those 10 members of the Coeur d'Alene squad probably didn't do anything worse than what several other high-school individuals do. But that doesn't make their actions correct. "It was just some kids making some poor choices," said Barry Steim, the superintendent of the Coeur d'Alene schools. The decision to forfeit Saturday's game was a proper step—and the 10 members will receive some sort of penalty for their wrong choices. That's as it should be. We also hope that many of Idaho's other school officials don't misinterpret the lesson. There are many who think Boise is trying to hog the show — both the action on the court and the economics of the court — by putting the largest prep sporting event in the largest city.

The plan of rotating the A-1 tourney between Boise and Pocatello is still a possibility, and they may now push for that. There may be some that point to the Coeur d'Alene incident and say, "I told you so. We put the tourney in the big city and look what happens." But the sad incident of Friday night could have happened in any town in the state.

We hope the state's school officials know they've got a good thing going by showcasing the basketball tournaments. If they want to make that good thing even better, it's up to their coaches and teachers to help our young adults learn to make the right choices.

Straightening out FDR record

I have to put the record straight in your eulogy of Franklin Delano Roosevelt a couple of days ago. He stole the election from Herbert Hoover by continuously promising the people that if elected he would cut the cost the government by a least 25 percent. His record shows that he was lying through his teeth he had no intention but to raise the cost of government sky high, but politics is politics.

Why would you print an article like that, not one word of truth in it? I want to believe what I read in my daily paper, but your integrity has hit an all-time low with me. He brought us out of the depression. During his campaign he assured us he had a plan to revitalize the country and get us going. His plan turned out to be raking leaves and we went farther in the red than we ever were under Hoover. Not until Adolph Hitler started eating up Europe, and France and England deluged us with orders for military goods did we come out of the depression. So the credit for bringing us out of the depression must go to Adolph Hitler, but Roosevelt threw out his chest and said "We planned it that way." Those are his exact words.

He saved our banks — let's get the truth about this too. After he succeeded in stealing the election, President Hoover went to him immediately and begged him to go before congress and declare a bank holiday. The congress is democratic and they will do nothing, I ask them to do. You know that. But you can get this done and do it, do it now. Don't waste a minute. This is of the most importance. But Roosevelt, fearing that Hoover might get some credit for it refused to act until after his inauguration. Then with all the fanfare he could muster he did just what Hoover begged him to do but in that interim thousands more lost everything they had, but politics is politics. He set up that target in Pearl Harbor that the Japanese couldn't possibly pass up, that he and his secretary of war hid out and passed all blame on Kimmel and Short. The commander of one battleship refused his orders to join the target. He was immediately replaced. Now that battleship with his new commander are on the bottom of Pearl Harbor. Harry Truman won over Dewey by dragging things out in the Pacific War. Declaring a bombing holiday whenever MacArthur was winning, but politics is politics.

Let waitresses retain tips

I'm writing in regard to the tax our government wants to take from the waitress's tips. Working in a cafe is one of the most thankless jobs there is and the pay has always been a disgrace. The work is hard work: be it cook, baker, waitress, or scrubber and dishwasher.

I spent over forty years of my life working in cafes, mostly cooking. There never were any insurance benefits or overtime pay, unless it's changed a lot in the past few years. I put in more six-day weeks than forty-hour weeks.

Most of the time you work on concrete floors and after a lot of years of that you wind up crippled and draw less than $200 a month Social Security.

I say let the waitresses keep the tips they earn every dime they get at least they are caring for themselves and their families. That is better than so many women do nowadays: they lay around and draw welfare.

These waitresses are helping pay their way as a working taxpayer too. I could say more on this subject. I do want the waitresses to know I'm on their side.

So hang in there and fight for what is right!

Keep newscaster on the hook

It is gratifying to hear the superpatriot with the poor military record, Paul Harvey, finally admit that there are other sources of energy available that are clean and can provide all the energy needed in the future.

Now that the damage has been done concerning the nuclear boogymoo, his national news commentator should not be left off the hook.

He has supported the nuclear white elephant for 35 years and is indirectly responsible for our increased utility bills. When he sounds off with the news every day remind yourself of this. When and if we ever weed out the greed, inconsideration, deceit, selfishness, incompetence and outright lies that dominate every phase of our lives, then and only then can we look forward to enjoying true peace on earth.

To let greedily, selfish individuals and corporations ruin the image of our beautiful country is the greatest crime in the eyes of the world.

Seeks narratives of families

I am collecting family histories from southeast Idaho, and I am writing to enlist your help. The Association for Humanities in Idaho has awarded me a preliminary grant to locate narrative accounts of families, including descriptions of travel to and settlement in the area, daily life, development of economic and social position, and family members' interaction. I plan to photocopy these accounts and collect copies for two identical archives, one in the Idaho State University library and one in the State Historical Society. I will also make a photocopy of each family history that I receive and return it with the original to the history's owner. (The Association for the Humanities in Idaho will fund this project also.) Establishing such archives is important. I think, because it insures that the histories will not be lost and that they will be available to scholars and members of the general public. I am not expecting to find polished literary works; any local family history that is more than a list of names and dates is welcome for consideration.

Owners of family histories may write to me at the Department of English, Box 8216, Idaho State University, Pocatello 83209, or call 238-2198 or 233-7109.

My preliminary grant only runs through the end of March, and by that time I hope to locate chronicles and to travel around the area, glancing through them so that I know how much material is available when I write my grant for the actual

Willetta applauded

May I please take this opportunity to express my deepest appreciation and a big "Thank You" for your paper and Willetta Warberg.

Twin Falls is a wonderful town, a good place to live and offers many things to us if we take the time to support and appreciate.

We have ample opportunity to enjoy music, dance, paintings and drama in our area without having to travel to a larger city, and we now have a very expert art critic in Willetta.

Regardless of the fact that some people disagree with what she writes (a known fact since the beginning of man, when a person makes a public statement, there is always someone who will disagree, I do hope that we all realize how qualified Willetta is and appreciate her opinions and efforts.

Willetta, thanks.

Sharpen aim using target

Hear ye, hear ye, all of you parents of small children who will be going on a picnic soon. Beware of all the broken glass you will find!

I just returned from the canyon where I was sketching a beautiful willow and listening to the song sparrows in full voice. But, I had to make my way around broken glass, beer bottles that had been shot at and left with sharp jagged spines, ready to tap open a knee or lip if a small child tripped and fell.

I remember when I was a kid back in Kansas. We used to have a test of skill every Thanksgiving Day. Right after the big dinner, a target was nailed to a fence post in a safe place and we all took turns trying to hit it. Dad said unless we hit the bull's eye shot. So, we never did. We all became accurate with both a pistol or rifle. And, woe to the rat or ratter that appeared on our place. His life was over.

Dad used to say that that only stupid fools shot at bottles, leaving glass everywhere.

So—I must say to all of you—sharpshooters—Take up a target and put it in a safe place. See how good you are. Think of all the little children who are to be playing in the canyon or hills this summer. Do you actually care about them.

Sale of BLM lands opposed

Well folks, what do think of the scheduled sale of thousands of acres of BLM grounds, the first step toward the sales of our forest lands. We soon won't need a BLM rafter or people to herd us.

Remember these lands will never again belong to us, folks they've been sold.

Rich folks don't even know we're in a depression or so I've been told, why do the middle class, or what's left of them, have to pay so many more kinds of taxes to keep our big boys in the style they are accustomed to. Why pay more taxes to keep the elderly, the judgment, those who are asking for a moratorium on their bills, higher telephone bills, so their stock holders can receive more money—higher power bills and higher wages for our governing powers? So soon, all of us, will be indigents. Are we going to allow them to make us a two class country, either beggars or billionaires?

Folks, you're going to have to lose off your complacency and fight for your rights, I, also, wonder who operates that government economic index, they just have to be kidding.

I wonder if people know what is causing the overcrowding of our public schools? It's a thought, what we don't have the money for those we already have. Also if Russia doesn't stop her nuclear development, how is it going to help us if we do?

Real Americans don't eat quiche; it's cheese pie

BOSTON — Let us be frank about it. Frankness after all, seems appropriate in any discussion about the French. The French are, to put it mildly, sensitive about their language. For some time, they have been the protectionists of the international language trade. They have been perfectly willing to export words to America, but unwilling to import them. The French generally regard Americanisms as the kuzu of the language world. Once you let them in, these linguistic weeds start creeping all over the place, and before you know it, they strangle the sturdy French vines. They have therefore hucked away at Anglo-Saxon intruders as if they were Henry V's troops at Agincourt. The campaign began almost 20 years ago when a French professor named Rene Fieffeille published a 16000-entitled "Parlez-Vous Francais." It warned of the dire consequences to the Republic of France if the people were getting together at "le meeting" or doing "le shopping" at "le supermarket."

The current minister of French culture, Jack Lang, sounded off against Americanism last summer for "this financial and intellectual imperialism that... grabs consciousness, ways of thinking. . . ." Then in February, a meeting of worldwide "intellectuals" who came to Paris called to the agreement that our very own "Dallas" was the greatest threat to Western culture. Now English has received another blow from the High Commission for the French Language. About a week ago, the High Commission (I told you the French take their words seriously) released an official list of French substitutes for English words that have been infiltrating the vocabulary of French communications people.

They have instructed replacements for words like "driveway" and "flashback." They have even ordered that "Walkman," a product that was made in Japan, be renamed "Balladeur." Six months from now, anyone caught saying the word "jingle" on the tube may be in for trouble. I, for one, refuse to simply lie back on my couch and let this act of French aggression. Here at last is true cause celebre, one might even say a debacle. What is at stake is nothing less than the linguistic balance of payments. If they are declaring war on Franglais, I say that it is time for us to declare war on English. No matter what Jack Lang thinks, it is not the Americans who are cultural imperialists, or even imperialists. It's the French. Who, after all, made us wear lingerie when our underwear was perfectly decent? Who turned our cooks into chefs and our dances into ballets? Where was it that a bunch of flowers had to become a bouquet? Or that toilet water had to be cologne, let alone perfume. What was the raison d'etre for turning a decent American kindergarten into a chateaubaud? What the French resent is not our imperialism but our democracy. We gave them McDonald's. They gave us croissant. We gave them the ice-cream cone. They gave us the quiche. The people who invented the very word elite simply have a gripe against mass culture. They cheerfully export the notion that the only proper clothing is their couture and the only proper food is their cuisine. Then they complain about "le jeans."

Through their own largesse, not to say, nonetheless oblige, they prefer to determine what is haute and what is not. They want the exclusive worldwide franchise to separate the chic from the gauche. They want to ban Franglais, we will meet them at the beach with big heads of their own English. If they turn their drive-ins into cine-pars, we shall turn our quiche into cheese pie. If they no longer attend le meeting we will no longer rendezvous. If they make it de rigueur to eliminate Americanisms, we shall refuse to eat our apple pie a la mode and our soup du jour. We shall in fact, hoist them on their own petulant petard.

And if the French decide to give up and return to the old laissez faire linguistics, well, they better not call it detente.

Ellen Goodman writes for the Washington Post Writers Group.

Matthews trial to begin

BOISE (UPI) — Jury selection began Monday in the first-degree murder trial of Sean Matthews, 17, one of the five youths originally charged in the jailhouse torturing-slaying of Christopher Peleman last Memorial Day.

About 50 potential jurors were escorted into a Fourth District courtroom by Ada County Sheriff's deputy Judge Gerald Schroeder said Matthews' trial might last two or three weeks.

Closed court bill clears House panel

BOISE (UPI) — Legislation giving the judge, rather than the defendant, the ultimate authority to decide whether a preliminary hearing in a criminal case should be closed to the public narrowly surmounted its first hurdle Monday.

The House State Affairs Committee voted 11-7 to defeat a motion aimed at scuttling the legislation, then used a voice vote to introduce it.

Backers said the measure would preserve constitutional guarantees of public access to judicial proceedings, while opponents contended added publicity could hamper a defendant's right to a fair trial.

Under a law that has been on the books since Idaho's territorial days a century ago, magistrates are bound to grant any defense requests to exclude the public and media from preliminary hearings on criminal charges.

The law was unsuccessfully challenged last year before the Idaho Supreme Court, but the panel refused to hear petitions by media organizations for a ruling on the statute's constitutionality.

The challenge was initiated after the public was tossed out of preliminary proceedings in the cases of game-warden killer Claude Lafayette Dallas Jr. and Boise embezzler Jack Lee White.

Tuition may go up

BOISE (UPI) — Tuition at Idaho's state-supported junior colleges may go up faster than ever before under a bill allowed 33-0 Monday by the Senate.

The legislation, which now goes to the House, would lift to $350 from $250 per year the maximum amount of tuition that can be charged by the College of Southern Idaho in Twin Falls and North Idaho College at Coeur d'Alene.

Sen. Terry Sverdrup, R-Cataldo, said the bill also would strike a requirement that tuition cannot be hiked by more than $25 per year.

The schools don't plan to raise tuition next year by the full $100 that would be allowed under the bill, said Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl. He said a planned $50 increase next year would raise $125,000 for the schools.

The junior colleges have been seeking enhanced tuition-charging authority to cover escalating costs and offset reductions in the growth of support appropriations from the state.

Harassment bill draws opposition

BOISE (UPI) — A Senate proposal aimed at establishing stiff penalties for acts of racial and religious harassment has been marked for amendment in the House due to protests that it also would outlaw door-to-door preaching.

The senator who steered the Idaho Human Rights Commission bill through the upper chamber called the complaints "insane" and charged they constituted a "smokescreen" put up by those who want to torpedo the measure.

House State Affairs Committee Chairman Walter Little, R-New Plymouth, formed a five-member subcommittee Monday to study amendments to the anti-malevolent harassment bill, which passed the Senate 29-6 last month.

The special panel was formed, however, only after the committee narrowly voted down a objection and headed off one lawmaker's ploy to immediately kill the proposal.

"Some of the ministers are opposed to the bill because they fear they might be charged with malicious harassment for their door-to-door preaching," Little said in an interview.

"That's absolutely insane," Sen. Norma Dobler, D-Moscow said in response. "It's a big smokescreen started by some people who want to plant a few seeds of doubt about the bill."

Mrs. Dobler, chief legislative sponsor of the bill, said the measure was specifically drafted to prohibit only those religiously or racially motivated acts that cause personal injury or property damage, or threaten to do so.

"There's nothing in that bill that says you can't proselytize," she said.

Stolen tree brought back along with advance notice

GENESEE, Wis. (UPI) — The thief who made off with a $500 pine tree for Christmas will have to tuptoe past a faithful watchdog and his owner next year.

A pine tree that was chopped down from Jack Shepherd's front yard three days before Christmas 1982 was returned to the owner during the weekend.

Shepherd said he found the used tree in a plastic bag with a note attached, thanking him and warning him the thief would be back next Christmas.

"At first I thought it was a joke, maybe a friend pulling my leg," Shepherd said. "But it's my tree — there's no doubt about it. . . I don't know why someone would bring it back and rub it in so."

The note said: "Dear Sir, thanks for the use of the tree. Your tree really made our Christmas. I wish you could have seen how we had it decorated up."

"I was looking at all the other trees in your yard and, with a little trimming on your part, one of them could qualify for our tree next Christmas. Thanks again. See you next year!"

The family's insurance company said the tree, which was about 7 1/2 feet tall and 8 years old, was worth $400 to $500.

"I have words for them but I can't repeat them all," Shepherd said. He warned he and his watchdog would be waiting and watching for the tree thief next year.

Watt draws full blame if world ends

SELLS, Ariz. (UPI) — An Arizona Indian tribe warns that Interior Secretary James Watt could bring about "the end of the universe" if the legendary home of the Papago god of creation is desecrated by minerals exploration.

The Papago Tribal Council issued the warning in a unanimous resolution Feb. 14 after Watt dropped Baboquivari Peak from possible wilderness protection.

The tribe believes the peak is the sacred home of I'toi, a jealous god who hurls thunderbolts at those who try to climb it.

"Immemorial tradition of the Papago people establishes Baboquivari Peak and the mountain as the center of mother earth and the dwelling place of I'toi, the creator," the resolution said. "Desecration of the mountain will lead to the destruction and end of the universe."

I'toi — a coyote-like god and the creator of humans: deer, fir and buzzards — hides out in a deep cave leading to the underworld and emerges at times of need, legend holds.

Enos Francisco, tribal vice chairman, said by an historical oversight, only half of Baboquivari Peak is within the reservation and the rest is under the U.S. Bureau of Land Management. By releasing the peak from wilderness consideration, the government opened the door to minerals exploration — assuming any prospectors are interested.

Stand owners to battle General Mills

CHICAGO (UPI) — The owners of a hot dog stand say they will go to court to keep the name "Wee-Dee's Wee-Nees" for their business over the objections of "Wheaties" cereal owner General Mills.

General Mills says "Wee-Dee's" sounds too much like "Wheaties," for which they hold the trademark.

pronounced "Wee-Dee," and his partner, Jerry Morris, said they will fight to keep the name.

"We've got our whole lives in this place — everything we own, everything we worked for from the time we were kids," said Wee-Dee. "We sold our homes and put the money into the business when we opened in September 1979."

Unidentified friend made youth happy

DETROIT (UPI) — Five-year-old Paul — "P.J." — Dragan was buried Monday. He lost a battle with leukemia, but he had a special friend who made his last days more bearable.

A month after his parents learned he had leukemia, P.J. began receiving a series of gifts and cleverly written letters from an anonymous benefactor called the "Magic Dragon."

The letters contained poems of encouragement and humorous drawings. P.J.'s mother, Sharon, said her son was captivated by the Magic Dragon from the beginning.

"We don't know how he found out about P.J.," she said. "After all this, we still don't know who he is. But we know he must live nearby, because he wrote things to him like, 'I saw you in a nice white shirt the other day on your way to school.'"

Throughout P.J.'s long ordeal with painful bone marrow aspirations and spinal taps, chemotherapy and two remissions followed by even more aggressive recurrences, the Magic Dragon sent him letters and left gifts on his doorstep.

P.J.'s favorite gift was a stuffed dragon, which became more and more real to the boy as his disease progressed, Mrs. Dragan said.

All the Dragon's gifts came tied with a big green bow — a secret trademark he shared with P.J.

"The Dragon gave him someone to relate to," Mrs. Dragan said. "When he went into the hospital and the doctors put a bandage on him, the Dragon also had one put on him. The Dragon pulled him through some of the most difficult periods in his illness."

Head injury fatal

FORT MYERS, Fla. (UPI) — A 2-year-old boy who was sold by his parents for $300 nine months ago died Monday of head injuries he received while living in a foster home, officials said.

Oscar Ocasio was brought to Lee Memorial Hospital last Tuesday in critical condition and placed on a life support system for treatment of head injuries his foster mother said were caused by a fall, spokesmen for the Lee County sheriff's office said.

Authorities declined to identify the foster parents.

Greens vow fight against new missiles

BOON, West Germany (UPI) — The new minority Greens party said Monday it will do everything possible to stop NATO's deployment of medium-range missiles in West Germany despite voter approval of the arms buildup in Sunday's election.

"We have a firm commitment to stop paying taxes, block bases and carry out non-violent action inside the Parliament," Greens leader Petra Kelly said, describing a sweeping campaign of non-violent civil disobedience.

"I can see many of our members of Parliament going on hunger strike," said Miss Kelly, the West German born stepdaughter of an American colonel who worked in the 1968 presidential campaign of the late Robert Kennedy.

The Greens, a loose grouping of ecologists, pacifists and anti-nuclear activists, won 5.6 percent of the vote in Sunday's election, giving them 27 seats in the Bundestag or Parliament — their first presence there.

Chancellor Helmut Kohl won the election with a mandate to go ahead with the deployment of Pershing-2 and cruise missiles at year's end if Washington and Moscow fail to agree on a plan to limit medium-range nuclear weapons.

But the Greens, saying the need for disarmament is not negotiable, have planned a campaign to block the deployment of NATO missiles.

The Greens campaign is styled after the non-violent, civil disobedience of the late Mohandas K. Gandhi in India, the U.S. civil rights movement led by Rev. Martin Luther King and the campaign against the Vietnam war by American priests Phillip and Dan Berigan.

"More people will join our mass mobilization for peace than ever before," said Lukas Beckmann, a leading member of the Greens.

American businessman snatched in Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — Gunmen kidnaped an American oil company executive on his way to work Monday, ambushing his automobile and killing two bodyguards with submachine gun fire, police said.

Kenneth S. Bishop, 56, an executive with Texas Petroleum Co., a Texaco subsidiary, was pulled from his car by unidentified gunmen and shoved into one of two automobiles used in the abduction, national police reported.

A Texaco spokesman in Harrison, N.Y., confirmed the abduction of Bishop, assistant division manager for exploration at Texas Petroleum, and said the company "deeply regrets this incident."

Bishop, of Huntington Park, Calif., is the third American — and the second Texas Petroleum executive — to be kidnaped in the past 10 years. A Texas Petroleum vice president was killed while in captivity in 1979.

One of the kidnapers' cars cut off Bishop's vehicle in an exclusive residential area in the north of the city, about a mile from the Texaco office, police said.

Salvadoran soldiers rout rebels from town

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — A 2,000-man army offensive drove rebels out of a key town near a provincial capital in renewed fighting Monday, a day after Pope John Paul II chanted for peace with 500,000 Salvadorans, officials reported.

At the same time, Radio Venceremos, the rebels' clandestine rebel station, announced guerrillas would continue their "Heroic March 2 Offensive," suspended Sunday because of the papal visit.

Guerrillas said they killed at least 60 government soldiers, presumably during the weekend, and destroyed some "armored equipment" in new clashes around the towns of Yolatalquin, Osticala and Delicias de Con-cepcion. The three towns lie just north of San Francisco Gotera, the provincial capital of Morazan province 72 miles northeast of San Salvador.

They earlier claimed to have killed 90 soldiers in the first three days of the offensive.

Insurgents toppled several electricity poles in Soyapango province, 4 miles east of San Salvador. In the apparent start of the sabotage campaign, local officials said.

Radio Venceremos said earlier the offensive would be renewed with attacks on the nation's power system and transportation.

The main thrust of the offensive, named for the date it began last week, is centered on San Francisco Gotera.

Still shocks dry town

OSLO, Norway (UPI) — The upstanding residents of the dry village of Aaseral in Norway's Bible-belt were stunned by the discovery of an illegal liquor still — in the cellar of the local church.

"It is probably some of the younger villagers who have been making the moonshine," Jon Iinjord, chairman of the village's Lay Council, said Monday.

The production of illicit liquor in a small room underneath the church apparently took place during last fall's strike by employees of Norway's state wine and liquor monopoly.

The moonshining was exposed when a fire inspector on a routine visit noticed the smell of alcohol and found two kegs.

Aaseral is one of the many dry villages in the so-called Bible-belt in southern Norway.

Opposition to alcohol in the village is so strong that the story of how Christ turned water into wine always has been viewed with the strongest suspicion.

The revelation that some villagers had taken literally the Bible's command to follow the example of Christ struck the locals with horror and disgust.

But a call from the president of the local church council asking that the police investigate the incident and charge the culprits with blasphemy was dismissed by the local police chief.

Police said they had no suspects and no arrests were planned.

GAS. It makes more sense than ever.

1 Excellent Gas Supply and Service.

Currently, we use only two-thirds of the natural gas that's available for southern Idaho consumption. The delivery system is in place to supply this surplus gas to thousands more residential customers without major capital expenditures. Gas is a clean and highly efficient energy source for heating and statistics show that natural gas is one of the safest fuels available for residential heating. Our gas company responds quickly to service calls with thoroughly trained and experienced people. There is no charge for diagnosing any problems you may have and service lines for new customers are installed quickly.

2 Finance Program.

Our finance program makes it easy for you to buy a new high tech heating system or a new gas furnace and water heater.

- No Money Down
- Low Interest, 10-year financing
- Payments as low as $20.00 monthly

Acceptance of our finance program has been remarkable. Hundreds of southern Idaho residents have taken advantage of it and installed new high tech gas heating equipment. Low interest, low monthly payments and reduced energy bills make high tech heating equipment truly affordable for the average family.

3 High Technology Gas Heating Equipment.

Move up to high tech gas heating and lower your heating cost 25% to 40%. The improved efficiency of new generation gas furnaces can save you a significant amount of money. In fact, the savings will pay for the equipment in a relatively short period.

Some of the now high tech systems available today work on a totally different concept than previous equipment. Examples are the Heat Transfer Module and Pulse Combustion furnace or boiler. Induced Draft and Recuperative models retain heat that is ordinarily lost up the chimney and offer improved combustion efficiency. You'll save money regardless of the model you choose.

4 RS-2 Rate Advantage Water Heater Program.

If you heat your home with gas and your water with electricity, you're paying too much for both. You can lower your gas rate nearly 10% if you change to gas water heating because you will qualify for the lowest residential rate, RS-2. We've made it easy for you to own a new energy-efficient gas water heater.

1. We'll finance the water heater and installation at zero interest, no money down with monthly payments of $45.00.
2. Or if you purchase the gas water heater without financing, we'll give you a $100.00 cash rebate. (To qualify, a gas water heater must replace an existing electric model.)

*Maximum amount for financing, $450

Federal payment drop shorts county budget

By MARTY TRILHAASE
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Revenues to Twin Falls County stand to drop by nearly 17 percent next year, and that means officials either will have to raise taxes or cut services.

County Commissioner Marvin Hempleman brought that word back to his colleagues following a week-long meeting in Washington, D.C., of the National Association of Counties. Hempleman serves on the organization's Rural Affairs Steering Committee.

The culprit is the federal payment-in-lieu-of-taxes — PILT — program, which this year provided Twin Falls County with an estimated $48,579. A recent court ruling apparently has stalled PILT payments for at least one year and possibly two years, Hempleman says.

The PILT program is designed to compensate counties for property-tax revenues that otherwise would be generated by tax-exempt federal lands.

Since PILT payments account for roughly a sixth of the county's tax base, the loss of those funds could spell disaster in the 1983-1984 budget. County officials will form that budget this summer, and it takes effect Oct. 1.

As of Monday, Hempleman said he considers it a virtual certainty that PILT funds will not be available for next year.

"I would write it off, or at least 99.9 percent. It stands a slim chance at this point that we'd ever get it again. I sure hope I'm wrong."

PILT has been something of an albatross around the financial neck of the county since the late 1970s. In 1977, county officials dropped property-tax rates to compensate for the influx of federal dollars coming through the program.

One year later, voters approved the One Percent Initiative, locking the county into those lowered property-tax rates. At the same time, pressure began mounting in Washington to either reduce PILT appropriations or eliminate the program entirely. Against such pressure, PILT payments have declined in recent years.

The newest PILT development stems from a Michigan court case. That state's 1,700 townships filed suit, challenging the PILT custom of channeling funds exclusively to Michigan's 83 counties. The PILT law speaks only of providing the dollars to the lowest governmental entity.

The suit led to a recent federal court ruling that concluded that the PILT distribution formula must include townships.

Hempleman says he was told at the conference that a new PILT distribution formula would take one to two years to devise.

"Until that formula is put together again, there will be no PILT payments," he says.

That situation leaves the county with a round of hard choices.

Working within the national organization, county officials hope they can persuade Congress to change the PILT law to provide for exclusive funding to counties, Hempleman says. But that promises to be an uphill battle in view of the program's critics on Capitol Hill.

"As tough as it is to maintain the appropriation, I would say it's nip and tuck," Hempleman says.

Another possibility is petitioning the Legislature for authority to increase property taxes above the 5 percent yearly increase limit now allowed by the One Percent legislation.

"The only option I can see — is that is strictly something to think about — is that we will have to go to the taxpayers to pick it up," Hempleman says.

No formal drive for such legislation is under way, although Twin Falls County officials say they had been in touch with area legislators.

"Falling that, there is always the budget ax. But cuts required to balance the budget would be severe, says County Commissioner Judy Felton.

"When you say spending cut, we are talking about drastic cuts in all areas," Felton says. "One sixth of every single department. It would be that drastic."

Margaret Grant quietly reads under the watchful gaze of Our Lady of Fatima at St. Edward's Catholic Church

Revered statue visits local church

By PAT MARCANONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The eyes of the Our Lady of Fatima statue are the kind that follow you around a room. And although made of paint and wood, there appears to be a softness in the cheeks of the delicately sad woman whose hands are held in prayer.

With custodian Louis Kaczmarek, the beautiful carving of Mary has traveled thousands of miles. Currently, it is at St. Edward's Catholic Church in Twin Falls through Wednesday.

To Roman Catholics and others, the story of Fatima is as familiar as Moses and the burning bush. In May 1917, three shepherd children claimed to have seen a vision of Mary, the mother of Jesus, in a barren field near Fatima, Portugal.

During several appearances, the children were given a message of hope and peace for the world through prayer. Then in October of 1917, according to accounts, a fireball fell from the sky — it was the final "miracle" the vision had promised the children.

The purpose of the traveling statue, which began its international journey in 1948, is for it "to encircle the world to call attention to all peoples to Our Lady's promise . . . and to bring peace if her requests were heard," says the Rev. Father Perry Dadds, the pastor of St. Edward's.

The "requests," as told to the children, were for prayer and devotion to God, Kaczmarek says.

Although there are 60 other Fatima statues visiting Catholic parishes, the one in Twin Falls is unique and the most famous, says Kaczmarek, 51. This particular statue was carved in 1947 by a Portuguese artist, from a description given by Sister Lucia Dos Santos, one of the surviving children, he says.

Standing about three feet tall and weighing 41 pounds, the statue is "priceless," although there are no precious metals or jewels adorning the silk and lace cape over her head and shoulders, says the soft-spoken Kaczmarek.

The statue, however, is not adored for itself, Dadds says. It is respected and honored for the person it represents, Mary.

"Real images and statues of holy persons is really bestowing respect on the person they symbolize, Dadds says, adding that this is a long, accepted Christian tradition. In reality, it is God who is being honored, because there is "no jealousy in heaven," he says.

The presence of Mary is felt when viewing the statue, Kaczmarek says. And her presence is manifested in other ways.

According to the custodian, there have been 22 documented accounts of the statue "shedding tears, the most recent in Las Vegas in 1978. White doves have been seen gathering to the carving in other visits and there have been other "wonders."

A devoted Catholic, Kaczmarek is paid by the Blue Army of Our Lady of Fatima, a Catholic peace organization. He travels with the statue most of the year, visiting churches, jails, hospitals, convents and schools.

Through his travels, the common denominator is the "awe" the carving elicits from those who see it, he says.

With no wife or family, he has been caring for the carving for 10 years. He left the plastics business to care for the statue and speak about its history all over the nation and world.

"It's my calling," he says.

Special panel to set plan for new pool

By DAVID MOFFAT
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls City Council has decided to get moving on answering some of the tough questions involved in providing the city with a new swimming pool.

After listening to the loss of the Harmon Park pool settle in over the last few weeks — and after listening to unsolicited testimony from a number of concerned citizens at Monday night's council meeting, the city has decided to form a citizens advisory committee to study some of the issues involved.

Specifically, council outlined the issues of whether the community wants a new pool, what kind of pool it wants and how it would like to pay for it.

After individual members of council stated their desire to get moving on the issue, Mayor Chris Talkington directed each member to come to next Monday's council work session with several names of individuals who might want to serve on such a committee.

Council members indicated they would be seeking to involve a broad cross-section of the community — as well as those institutions that might have a special interest in a new pool, such as the College of Southern Idaho and the Twin Falls School District.

Talkington indicated the committee would have close to a month, at least, before it would have to report back to council on size, location and possible funding for a new pool.

In proposing the committee, Councilman Emery Petersen noted that it was not appropriate for city staff members or council members to be required researching technical issues on the pool.

Yet, he said, it was "appropriate for the city to take the lead."

City Manager Tom Courtney said

EMERY PETERSEN Proposes committee that the city needs input from the beginning from those who eventually would have to pay for a new pool.

Several council members expressed caution, however.

John Peterson said "above all else, we have to be reasonable in our approach." He said more than one entity eventually would have to be involved in any funding plan.

Council member Mary McClusky said that the city should not move so fast that it did not have its "thoughts together."

Councilman Alan Wubker volunteered to serve as council's representative on the committee, noting that he had a certain amount of construction expertise.

Idaho Power plans recreation survey

By DAVID MOFFAT
Times-News writer

BOISE — If you live in Twin Falls, Jerome, Mindoka or Cassia counties, you may be receiving a phone call from the Idaho Power Co. in the next few days.

The company is conducting a phone survey of area residents. The survey is part of a procedure for applying for a federal license for the Milner hydro project, which is being proposed by the North Side Canal Co. and Twin Falls Canal Co.

The two canal companies would like to divert water at Milner Dam during the winter months to generate electricity, just as they divert water in the summer for irrigation.

Allan Ansell, an environmental studies coordinator for Idaho Power, says the intent of the phone survey is to assess the amount of recreation activity that is, and potentially could be, dependent on the Snake River basin — dependent on the Snake River dams. That is the area that would be most affected by the proposed project.

Such a study is required as part of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission's licensing procedure.

List of projects may change

Twin Falls details street improvement plan for next year

By DAVID MOFFAT
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The city of Twin Falls has compiled a list of proposed major street improvement projects for fiscal year 1984.

Money for the projects has not been authorized yet, but the list provides an early glimpse of street department funding priorities for the coming years.

The list includes the installation of curb and gutter along sections of Highland Avenue and Lois Street, adjacent to South Park.

It includes two asphalt resurfacing projects — Mindoka Avenue and Blue Lakes Boulevard South, from Kimberly Road to Highland Avenue.

Major street reconstruction and drainage projects on Highland Avenue East, Fifth Avenue West and Wendell Street are on the list.

Also on the list is the installation of a storm drain between Robbins Avenue and Falls Avenue West, where a ditch currently carries run-off water.

In addition, the list provides eight street corners where hazardous storm drainage grates will be replaced by new concrete "valley gutters," such as those on Second Avenue North near City Hall.

The proposed projects have been discussed in sessions of the city's Highway Traffic Safety Committee, says city engineer Gary Young. Each is designed to remedy a particular hazard.

But, Young says, the projects are only proposed at this point. Other projects or specific problems with the municipal street system could take priority if enough interest becomes focused on them later in the year.

Only a limited amount of funding is available each year for street repairs, Young says. Even if all the current proposed projects make the final list for 1984, it is doubtful they all would be funded this year, he says.

The South Park street-and-gutter project was supposed to be completed last year. It is part of the long-term effort to improve the appearance of city property, so that the city is abiding by the same rules it places on new private development, Young says.

The Mindoka Avenue resurfacing project would eliminate bumps and cracks in the concrete, on a street that is near much of the city's heavy industry. Blue Lakes Boulevard South needs to be resurfaced because it is a truck route and the pavement there has disintegrated, Young says.

Over the long run, more of Wendell Street should be rebuilt than just the section proposed, Young says. But there is a big dip in the street grade between Falls Avenue and Lois Street that should be fixed immediately because it falls to drain properly.

The disintegration of the 100 block of Fifth Avenue West, near McCoy Coal, is a holdover from last year's bad winter, Young says. The drainage there is also "icklish" because the grades are marginal.

Highland Avenue also has a drainage problem, where water collects in a hollow near Leonard Petroleum, Young says. To solve it, a storm drain probably will have to be built to Kimberly Road.

The storm drain between Robbins Avenue and Falls Avenue West has been on the board for a long time, Young says. But the project will be expensive because it will require 650 feet of 24-inch pipe.

The street corners that have been selected for valley gutters are: Main Avenue West and Sixth Street West, Sixth Avenue East and Third Street East, Fourth Avenue East and Fifth Street East, Sixth Avenue East and Fourth Street East, Fourth Avenue North and Sixth Street North, and Third Avenue North and Sixth Street North.

Lincoln dairy hearings set
 SHOSHONE — Public hearings for three dairy operations in Lincoln County will be held today at the Courthouse in Shoshone.
 County planning and zoning laws require that all new dairies, commercial feedlots or stockyards in the county apply for a conditional-use permit.
 The permit requires a public hearing, and the applicant is required to furnish proof of notification to all adjoining landowners.
 The conditional permit is a result of amendments to the Lincoln County zoning ordinance adopted in October.

Safe pilots to get awards
 TWIN FALLS — The annual Twin Falls-area safe pilot award banquet, sponsored by the Idaho Transportation Department, will be held next Thursday, March 17, at the Holiday Inn.
 Each year, the Transportation Department's Division of Aeronautics and Public Transportation recognizes pilots who have operated their aircraft safely in the preceding 12 months.
 Those pilots receiving a card and safe-pilot pin at the banquet. Pilots who have flown a million miles safely receive a plaque.
 The department encourages all interested pilots and guests to attend, but reservations must be made no later than this Wednesday, March 9.
 The speaker will be Mike Stockhill, a Federal Aviation Administration operations inspector from Boise. He will speak on the development of ultralight aircraft.
 The cost of the banquet will be $10 per person.

Senior wins oration honors
 TWIN FALLS — Jim Siplon, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Siplon of 611 Cindy Drive in Twin Falls, has won the American Legion's annual area oratorical contest, held last week at the Filer Legion hall.
 The Twin Falls High School senior, who placed second in the contest at the state level last year, now will try again for first place in this year's contest.
 He will compete against the other three area contest winners. The state contest will be held next Monday, March 14, at Blackfoot High School at 10 a.m.
 Contestants must present a brief, prepared speech on some facet of the U.S. Constitution, plus speak extemporaneously on a constitutional topic provided by the judges.
 Siplon's prepared speech will address how special interest groups are destroying the legislative process.
 The winner of the contest will receive a $200 scholarship.

Twin Falls home burglarized
 TWIN FALLS — A home burglary resulted in the loss of $1,260 worth of items Saturday, according to Twin Falls police.
 Police said the burglary occurred at the residence of Oliver Philippe, of 209 Buena Vista St., between 12:30 and 9:30 p.m.
 Police said they found no signs of forced entry into the home.
 Among the items reported missing from the home were guns and jewelry, police said.
 In another incident, a Twin Falls business discovered an estimated $500 worth of firearms have been missing since early this year.
 Blue Lakes Sporting Goods, 1236 Blue Lakes Blvd. N., reported the loss on Friday. The firearms have been missing since Jan. 17.
 The store was to have received two orders of firearms, but apparently, it received only one, police said.

High-speed chase brings arrest
 JEROME — A 100-mph chase Monday night ended in a single-car accident in Jerome County and landed the driver in the county jail.
 Sgt. Jim Howe, of the Jerome County sheriff's office, said Michael Lewis, 23, of Murtaugh, was not injured when his pickup truck went out of control and rolled over, but he has been cited for reckless driving.
 Howe said a sheriff's deputy attempted to stop the Lewis vehicle on Highway 25, east of Eden, about 8:15 p.m., to check for faulty mufflers. However, the driver took off, and the officer pursued until the accident occurred on a county road, three miles south and one mile east of the Ridgeway Road.

Group plans stockmen honors
 TWIN FALLS — The Southern Idaho Livestock Industry Hall of Fame will hold its annual banquet next Tuesday, March 15, at the Holiday Inn in Twin Falls.
 Five inductees have been chosen to be members of this year's 24th Hall of Fame.
 Those chosen are: J. Louis Solosabal of Glenns Ferry, Blain M. Nielsen of Paul, John M. Varin of Gooding, Maurice Curry, Jr. of Castleford and George "Bud" Evan Wilson of Burley.
 A cocktail tour will be held at 6:30 p.m., and the banquet will begin at 7:30 p.m.
 Tickets for the banquet may be purchased at the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce and the First Security Bank, or from Larry McElliot at Globe Seed Co. in Twin Falls.
 The cost of the banquet is $12.50.

PIK signup deadline Friday

By DAVID MOFFAT
 Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Area farmers should remember that the final day to register for the federal payment-in-kind program is this Friday, says a representative of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.
 And Kent Kirk, a spokesman for the service, says there will be no extensions after the deadline passes.
 The PIK program allows farmers to keep a portion of their land fallow, in exchange for payments of grain drawn from the federal surplus.
 Government officials hope this will raise commodity prices without increasing federal subsidies to agriculture.
 The program will help individual farmers determine whether it is profitable for them to participate in the program, Kirk says. The PIK program is not advantageous to every farmer, but data and formulas generated by the service can help most farmers make a determination of profitability for themselves.

 Registration for the program is being handled locally by ASC, a division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.
 As part of the program, farmers normally agree to leave from 20 percent to 50 percent of their land out of production.
 But some farmers have entered bids on the amount of compensation they would require to leave their entire farm base out of production this year.
 Kirk says this is a special section of the program.
 There is only a limited amount of federal grain involved in the PIK program this year, Kirk says. An early closing for the standard sections of the program is needed to allow the government to know, before planting seasons begin, how many of these bids to accept.

 The government will open the special-bids March 18. Then, it will begin to accept them, lowest first, until the program reaches its limits.
 Kirk would not speculate on how the program has been received nationally, but he says interest in the Magic Valley has been "very high."
 Because information on the success of the program is "sensitive," especially for "areas" with large amounts of money invested in commodity markets, the results will be announced simultaneously across the nation—at 3 p.m.—Eastern Standard Time on Tuesday, March 22, Kirk says.
 The deadline for registration is 5 p.m. this Friday. But if too many farmers appear on Friday, they will be allowed to complete the necessary paperwork on Saturday, Kirk says.

Art's view of women topic of slide show

CORLANN BUSH To present program

TWIN FALLS — How American artists have depicted women and men in their paintings will be the topic of a free presentation this Thursday, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Twin Falls County Judicial Building.
 Titled "Cultural Images of Women and Technology," the slide program will be presented by Corlann Bush, the assistant dean of students at the University of Idaho.
 In the program, she will examine the contrasts and comparisons of paintings that show women and men at work, and how artists' cultures influence the way they portray their subjects.

Bush has been named one of the '80 Women to Watch in the 1960s' by Ms. magazine.
 Among her honors and achievements, Bush holds a doctorate in women's studies and technology studies from Columbia Pacific University. She has written several articles for educational publications.
 Thursday's program was made possible through a grant from the Association for the Humanities in Idaho. It is being sponsored locally by the Magic Valley chapter of the National Organization for Women.
 The program is open to the public.

 Funeral arrangements are pending and will be announced by McCulloch's Funeral Home of Burley.
Hollie Dale Clark
 TWIN FALLS — Hollie Dale Clark, 34, of Boise and formerly of Twin Falls, died Thursday at his home of natural causes.
 Born Oct. 13, 1948, in Dearborn, Mich., he graduated from high school in Burbank, Calif., in 1966, and attended California State University at Northridge. He married Sharon Solonka on May 16, 1970, in Reno.
 Mr. Clark became a hearing-aid fitter and dealer in Twin Falls in 1976, later moving his business to Boise.
 He also was a counselor for juveniles through the Twin Falls court system.
 He was a member of the Treasure Valley Full Gospel Church in Boise and the Idaho Hearing Aid Society.
 Surviving are: his wife and three children, Travis, Amberly and Jeff Clark, all of Boise; and a sister, Gay Fagatte, and his parents, Hollie and Doris Clark, all of Mission Hills, Calif.
 The funeral was held in Boise, with Cloverdale Funeral Home of Boise, in charge of arrangements. Burial was in Cloverdale Memorial Park at Boise.

Emil Bohr
 FILER — Emil Bohr, 76, of Filer, died Sunday evening at Magic Valley Regional Medical Center in Twin Falls, after a long illness.
 Born on March 12, 1905, in Poland, he moved to the United States with his mother and two brothers in 1926. He had farmed in the Filer area all of his adult life.
 Mr. Bohr was a member of the Clover Trinity Lutheran Church.
 Surviving are: four sons, Art Bohr, Wilbur Bohr, Walter Bohr and Albert Bohr, all of Portland; two brothers, Ernest Bohr of Milwaukee, Wis., and Karl Bohr of Twin Falls; six grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren. He was preceded in death by his wife, Caroline, and a son, Wallace, both in 1977, and a brother.
 The funeral will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. in the Clover Trinity Lutheran Church, with the Rev. Andrew Loesel officiating. Burial will be in the Clover Lutheran Cemetery.
 Friends may call at Reynolds Funeral Chapel in Twin Falls all day Wednesday and on Thursday morning, and at the church from 12:30 p.m. until the time of the funeral.
 The family suggests that memorial contributions be made to the Clover Trinity Lutheran Church.

Pool

 Several citizens spoke at Monday's meeting in favor of salvaging the Harmon Park pool, at least for the summer of 1963.

Survey

 Because the project is larger than five megawatts, it must receive a full license from the FERC before it may be built. Most of the new small hydro projects that are being built or are under consideration are smaller than five megawatts. They need only an exemption from the permit process.
 Idaho Power has a joint agreement with the canal companies to handle the license-application process, because it has greater expertise in that area, Ansell says.
 The canal companies' project would be one of the biggest private-hydro projects in southern Idaho, Ansell says. The companies want to divert some water through the Twin Falls canyon's canals to a place on the canyon rim further downstream. At that point, it would drop through a pipe to a generator on the canyon floor, where it would generate electricity.
 Potentially, the project could generate between 60 and 120 megawatts, depending on where the site for the drop back into the canyon is located. But, Ansell says, it could produce electricity only in the non-irrigating season.
 The company hopes to survey 1,200 residents of the four counties. Each survey will take from two to five minutes. The calls will be made between 5:30 and 9:30 p.m., through Thursday.
 Those surveyed will be selected at random according to their telephone prefix. That way, the company can be sure it receives a representative sample, Ansell says.

In response, Talkington said there had not been enough information made public on how badly that structure has deteriorated.
 Nonetheless, he directed city staff members to generate some estimates on how much it would cost to put the pool into operation this summer. If only to show the extent of the problem.
 Wulker said it probably would cost more to repair the old pool than it would to build a new one.
 Even if the pool could be opened this summer, Peterson asked whether the public wanted to spend $30,000 to $50,000, with no long-range return, on whether it would rather put that money toward a more permanent facility.

 In other business Monday night, council passed an ordinance change that will give "area-of-impact" members on the city's Planning and Zoning Commission full voting rights.
 The ordinance also allows the city the power of concurrence on county appointments to those two positions, and it eliminates the requirement that area-of-impact members be property owners.

CONFIDENCE

The confidence and trust which a community has in a funeral service is something that takes many years to build. Indeed, the firm foundation upon which our funeral home rests was solidified over a period of generations. The confidence which so many families place in our integrity was inspired by their parents and grandparents.

Hire 2-year-olds for opening bottles

By ERMA BOMBCEK
Field Enterprise, Inc.

There is a notation with my pharmacist that I not only prefer to have my prescription filled in a container where the cap screws on, but it is imperative to my mental health.

The child-proof safety cap combined with my mid-life crisis was just too much for me to handle. (Some say it's redundant.)

I can't think of anything that has caused the older generation more consternation during the past decade than these caps. It's one of the reasons why some women refused to have another child. They didn't mind the long exhausting days and the sleepless nights, the money, the stomach muscles that sagged around the knees. It was the thought of having to go through another period of asking their two-year-old to help them get the top off their Valium.

The biggest complaint came from the elderly who couldn't begin to get the child-proof caps off without running over them with a wheelchair. Now, manufacturers are at work trying to perfect a one-size-fits-all cap.

Good luck.
In 30 years, I have never seen anything that is child-proof. The strength of a two-year-old is awesome. There is no couch that cannot be moved by them, given the incentive of a dust-covered sucker underneath. There is no garage door too heavy that contains Daddy's electric drill and paint brushes that cannot be raised. There is no cupboard too high for them to scale with the promise of a banana on the top shelf.

I have seen small children pull bubblegum machines down to their level, lift an 80-pound dog on the dining room table or bend a roof TV antenna with their bare hands.

I don't think manufacturers will ever be able to serve youth and old age at the same time. It makes more sense for the elderly to Rent-a-Kid.

What a union that would make! The senior group would have the wisdom to know what is safe and what isn't, and the child would have the strength to open their revalving caps; their hermetically sealed combs and laminated bacon packages.

The possibilities are limitless. You could take a two-year-old with you on airline trips to open the package of unsalted peanuts and just think of the lives they could save by being able to start a new roll of plastic wrap without tearing it.

It's rather ironic, isn't it, that the ones who caused the high blood pressure, headaches, dizziness and blurred vision in the first place are now capable of curing them.

Diagnosis doesn't mean the end

How right you were to tell her not to accept her doctor's gloomy prognosis. She was debating whether to tell her 13-year-old about her disease in the hope that she might be more cooperative and understanding — yet she didn't want to frighten or upset her younger children.

I think ALL her children should be told. She should also contact her local MS society. Members will invite her to meetings, put her in touch with other MS-victims and provide her with a lot of helpful information.

"Prepared for the Worst" should also read "The Pursuit of Hope," an excellent and inspiring book by Miriam Ottenberg, a journalist with MS.

I know firsthand about MS because I have it, too. My 8-year-old daughter and 11-year-old son were told what I have and how they can help. They are among my greatest assets.

Without their help and my husband's constant assurance, I wouldn't be able to do the things I do today. I'm a substitute teacher. Brownie leader, team mom for my son's baseball team and active in my church and PTA.

I manage to keep my home going and keep up a moderately active social life. I realize that someday I could be paralyzed and in a wheelchair. But right now I am not, and I intend to use to the fullest everything I have. Every day I fight to keep my body on its feet and worth the effort when I see what I can still accomplish.

—PAT HERMAN, OXNARD, CALIF.

DEAR PAT: Thank you for a wonderful letter. I received hundreds of letters from those with MS, and all were in complete agreement that no one should expect the worst and resign him/herself to a wheelchair.

They also told me that, telling the children and asking for their help bring the family closer together. For those who want more information about MS, write to the National MS Society, 205 E. 42nd St., New York, N.Y. 10017. It is a non-profit organization, so please enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest the letter signed "Prime." She's the

DEAR HIGH: You have a legitimate beef. T would be a pleasure to meet you.

DEAR ABBY: I was married for 28 years, then I got a divorce. He married again but I never did. He just passed away, and I was wondering if I'm a widow now, or am I just a divorcee?

This is very important to me. My husband's wife is still living if that makes a difference.

Charcoal aids blood

By UPI-Science Digest
It doesn't sound appetizing, but a bowl of activated charcoal in a cup of water, taken in multiple doses, can soak up a variety of blood poisons and even combat ingested poisons and drug overdoses.
Activated charcoal has long been known to remove substances from the digestive tract. Now Science Digest reports that research done by Ronald Spector of the University of Iowa Hospital shows charcoal can clear the blood of some drugs and poisons.

The highly adsorptive black powder — which acts like a molecular sponge — soaking up substances ranging from aspirin to barbiturates — is known to remain in the gastrointestinal tract until it is excreted in the stool.

Telescope listens for signals of life

By ANNA CHRISTENSEN
United Press International

HARVARD, Mass. — Scientists switched on a sophisticated computerized radio telescope Monday, beginning the first intensive search for intelligent life among the stars.

An 85-foot-diameter radio telescope at the Oak Ridge Observatory, run jointly by Harvard University and the Smithsonian Institution, began scanning the Northern skies for radio transmissions some astronomers believe could be directed toward earth from deep space.

The project, known as the Search for Extra-Terrestrial Intelligence (SETI) is headed by two of the nation's leading astronomers, Carl Sagan, a Pulitzer Prize winner, and Paul Horowitz of Harvard University. "Now it's up to them," said Horowitz as he punched a small button on a huge control board and put the telescope into operation.

"This is the first sustained, multi-year, highly sophisticated search for extraterrestrial intelligence," said Sagan.

"Life almost certainly exists near many of the 300 billion stars of our galaxy," said Horowitz. "Nature never does anything just once."

Horowitz designed the telescope's special receiver, which can do as much in one minute as equipment used in short-term searches in 1960 could do in 100,000 years. It will monitor 130,000 frequencies simultaneously.

The radio telescope will concentrate on frequencies called "magic waves," those that stand out from random galactic noise. Scientists say such waves are close to the atomic frequency of common elements, such as hydrogen, the most plentiful element in the galaxy.

The search is paid for by private donations, including grants from the Planetary Society, an international group of astronomers.

The receiver, originally called "Suitcase SETI," because it was built for mobility, now takes up half a room at the Oak Ridge facility.

If signals are discovered, the first thing that would be done would be to verify them at other observatories, said Sagan.

Any discovery would "definitely" be public information, he said, and not be classified. "It would be available to the world's scientific community."

After that, however, it is unclear what would happen. The signals would have to be decoded and a decision would have to be made about whether to respond.

Any conversations would be slow in taking place. The telescope can pick up signals sent from as far away as 1,000 light years.

A light year is the distance light waves, moving at 186,000 miles per second, can travel in one year. Since scientists believe nothing can exceed the speed of light, an exchange at the maximum receiving range would take 2,000 years.

"We're listening and not sending on the assumption that a backward civilization like ours has little to say and much to learn," said Sagan.

On Ben, presidents and currency.

PHILADELPHIA — BF-Benj. Franklin Federal Savings and Loan has kicked off a new investment program, offering high-yield, long-term certificates.

But is the program really limited to deposits of currency with pictures of presidents, as the ad to the right states?

Hardly. In fact, Benjamin Franklin — namesake of the Northwest's largest savings and loan — is one of three non-presidents pictured on United States folding currency. Franklin, who is depicted on the one-hundred dollar bill, was a printer, inventor, scientist, statesman, diplomat, sage, charmer, dreamer and doer. He was an admired and beloved genius, who was patriot and godfather of the United States.

Benj. Franklin — the financial institution — was named for this great American who, throughout his life, expounded the virtues of thrift and self-reliance. "A penny saved is a penny got," the great man said.

Besides the presidents pictured on U.S. coins, those featured on U.S. greenbacks are George Washington, $1 bill; Thomas Jefferson, $2; Abraham Lincoln, $5; Andrew Jackson, $20; Ulysses S. Grant, $50; William McKinley, $500; Grover Cleveland, $1,000; James Madison, $5,000; and Woodrow Wilson, $100,000.

"Why did The Benj. Franklin sponsor this text as part of its paid advertisement?" "Because we wanted to provide some additional interesting information," a spokesman said. "Besides, we had to fill up all that extra space that would have been above the picture of the extruded coins. It seemed a shame to let it just stand there empty as could be, merely for the sake of aesthetics."

So who are the two other non-U.S. presidents pictured on U.S. greenbacks? One is Alexander Hamilton, our first Secretary of the Treasury. He's pictured on the ten-dollar bill. The other? Call AccountLine (the phone number in the ad) or stop by any branch to learn the answer. And we'll welcome your deposits, whether there's a picture of a president on your greenbacks and coins, or not!

Houston cagers maintain No. 1 distinction

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Houston Cougars, riding a 20-game winning streak into the Southwest Conference post-season tournament, strengthened their grip on the No. 1 rating Monday following balloting by the Board of Coaches.

The Cougars, undefeated in conference play after topping Arkansas and Baylor last week, boosted their overall record to 25-2 and received 32 first-place votes and 592 points from 40 of the 42 coaches who took part in this week's balloting.

Virginia, which needed a basket by Ralph Sampson in the final seconds to turn back Maryland on Sunday and improve to 25-3, maintained its No. 2 spot with eight first-place votes and 555 points.

UPI releases its final ratings next Tuesday. Louisville, off victories against Virginia Tech and Memphis State, again was No. 3 with 528 points, followed by No. 4 UCLA, which improved three positions from a week ago and No. 5 Arkansas, down a notch after its 74-66 loss to Houston.

North Carolina, 25-3 won twice last week and advanced four places to No. 6, followed by No. 7 Indiana, up five spots from last week. No. 8 St. John's, No. 9 Missouri and No. 10 Kentucky, which dipped four places after losing to Louisiana State.

Nevada-Las Vegas, 25-2, held steady at No. 11, while Villanova, two-time losers last week in Big East Conference games, slipped seven positions to No. 12.

Boston College, 25-5 and the top seed in the Big East post-season tournament, remained at No. 13 despite victories over Georgetown and Providence last week, followed by No. 14 Georgetown, No. 15 Tennessee-Chattanooga, No. 16 Washington State, No. 17 Ohio State, No. 18 Memphis State, No. 19 Oklahoma and No. 20 Illinois State.

Illinois State rejoined the Top 20 after a four-week absence, while Iowa fell out of the ratings.

The Cougars are the seventh team to hold the No. 1 ranking this season. The other teams that have held the top spot were Virginia, Indiana, Memphis State, UCLA, North Carolina and Nevada-Las Vegas.

Once again, the Big East has the best representation in the Top 20 with four teams — St. John's, Villanova, Boston College and Georgetown.

NEW YORK — The United Press International Board of Coaches Top 20 college basketball ratings with first place votes in parentheses, records through March 5 and total points:

Chemeketa wants chance at Hutchinson

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — A community college basketball team that won a regional title is asking its school board to reject a ruling against national tournament participation, saying the competition will not cost the taxpayers any money.

"We have money coming from winning the Region 18 tournament in Idaho and people in Salem also are willing to make good whatever else it is going to cost us," said Rick Adelman, coach of the Chemeketa Community College Chiefs.

Adelman, a former NBA professional player who has been Chiefs' coach for six years, said he was asking the school board to go against an Oregon Community College Athletic Association rule prohibiting competing outside the region.

The OCCAA, in a cost-cutting move, prohibited its affiliate teams from competing in post-season play this year.

Adelman said that his team was financed this season by funds from the vending machines profits on the campus and therefore the OCCAA budgetary concerns did not really apply.

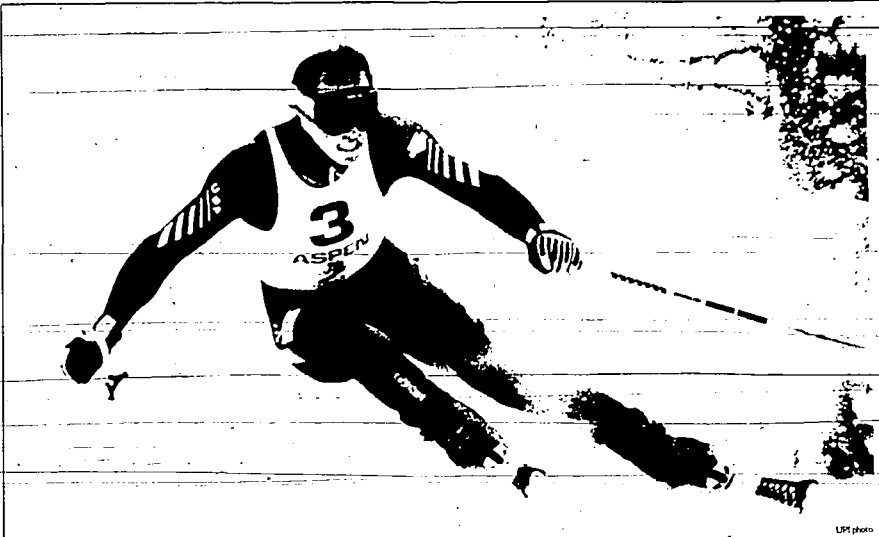

"There was no taxpayers' money involved," he said.

Adelman also noted the OCCAA was disbanding after this season and some of its members, including Chemeketa, were joining a Washington state conference which does not participate in the national competition. Chemeketa, 24-6, ended up in third place in the OCCAA but defeated No. 1 Lane CC, 71-62, in the regional play at the College of Southern Idaho during the weekend.

"This would be a one-time shot for us to take part in the national competition," Adelman said.

He said the first national playoff game for the Chiefs would be at home Thursday or Friday against Mesa Community College, the Region 1 winner. He said he would not want his Chiefs to take on the Arizona squad if his squad was not able to play in the final competition at Hutchinson, Kan., if Chemeketa wins.

Adelman estimated that it would cost $10,000 to $15,000 for air fare and other expenses for his 12-member team and two coaches to compete in Kansas.

America's Phil Mahre zooms down the first run Monday at Aspen, Colo. His time of 1:15.60 was the fastest for that run

Phil Mahre captures giant slalom at Aspen to virtually clinch overall World Cup title

ASPEN, Colo. (UPI) — American Phil Mahre won his first World Cup slalom race of the season Monday, a giant slalom on Aspen Mountain, and laid claim to his third straight overall World Cup title.

"That's it, I won it," Mahre said of the overall title after beating his only challenger, Ingemar Stenmark of Sweden, over two runs on Ruthies' Run.

Stenmark has a mathematical chance of catching Mahre only if the places in a downhill race at Lake Louise in Canada next week while Mahre goes without any points. But Stenmark has in the past refused to compete in the downhill and skiing insiders said it was doubtful he would change.

Mahre can clinch the overall title by finishing in the top 12 in another giant slalom today at Vall.

Mahre, who led Stenmark by 13 of a second after the first of two runs, maneuvered through the second run of the 52-gate course in 1:15.89 for a two-run total of 2:31.39.

Stenmark's total time of 2:32.09 was good only for third place, behind Marc Girardell of Luxembourg, who finished in 2:31.65.

Mahre won 25 World Cup points for the victory, giving him an overall total of 250 points. Stenmark added 10 points for his third place finish to give him a total of 207.

Monday's victory was the first this season in a World Cup race for Mahre, who always has been consistently near the top.

"Everything just came together today," Mahre said. "Everything just came together at the right time. The first run wasn't quite as good as the second. But I concentrated very well and put everything together all the way down the mountain."

"It's been a long time coming. I didn't expect it in this event. I expected it in the slalom before the giant slalom."

Canyon loop nixes bid to eliminate 'bench warmers'

By LARRY HOVEY Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A proposal to eliminate "bench warmers" died at a meeting of the Canyon Conference's semi-annual meeting Monday afternoon.

Under the behest of the Filer school board, Filer Principal Larry Roberts proposed a resolution under which all members of the league would be required to play each player a certain amount of time. The resolution died for lack of a second, ending what could have been perhaps the most spirited debate in the history of Magic Valley athletics.

In other action, the A-3 classification group voted to combine district wrestling finals with other categories. In a one-day face-off at Jerome High School on Feb. 7, that stipulation was contingent on the final adjudication of the A-1 competition. It would be based on where the state athletics association finally located Mountain Home. This year Mountain Home was moved to the Fourth District with Twin Falls and Minico for district purposes.

Also, the Conference voted to hold the basketball game between its All-Stars and the Magic Valley Conference's best game Saturday night at Valley High School. Lynn Payne of Declo (Girls) and Rich Thompson of Kimberly (Boys) were named coaches

All-Star practices

TWIN FALLS — Two Magic Valley all-star games will wind up the basketball season for Magic Valley.

The usual Canyon Conference vs. Magic Valley Conference games will be played at 7:30 and 8 p.m. Saturday at Valley High School. The Magic Valley Easter Seals games are slated to begin at 7 p.m. March 21 at the College of Southern Idaho gymnasium.

First practices for the Magic Valley Easter Seals game will be held March 16.

Meanwhile, the Canyon-Magic Valley conference all-stars will conduct their first get-togethers Thursday afternoon.

for the A-3 stars.

The league also backed away from scheduling basketball games away from Saturday night. That proposal, made by Valley High School, was aimed at precluding the "live night per week-of-activities" currently in vogue.

The basketball coaches of the league named their all-conference selections.

These include, among boys, Art Hovey of Valley; Denny Smyer and Blair Garner of Declo; Earl Molyneux, Jeff Livingston and Kevin Holcomb of Kimberly; Ken Anderson, Gooding; Kim Duffin, Shoshone; Joe Rodriguez, Glenns Ferry and Ben Sackett, Filer.

Since only seniors are allowed to play in all-star games, Scott Dunlap of Filer will replace Sackett, a junior, in Saturday night's battle at Valley.

Girls coaches selected Susie Vincent, Filer; Kelly Pascecco, Gooding; Clarin Ostrom and Lisa Lopez, both Shoshone; Darlene Beach, Wendell; Lynn Darrington and Holly Bortz, Declo; Lisa Crothers, Kimberly; Linda Jensen, Glenns Ferry, and Tracy Agee and Sue Shawver, both Valley, to the all-league team.

Because two members of the all-league team are juniors, Dorothy Fitzgerald, Shoshone, and Jana Burnett, Valley, will play in Saturday's all-star game.

Rout includes inside-the-park grand slam

Rangers pound Yankees in exhibition

By United Press International

Several new New York Yankees pitchers took a pounding Monday courtesy of the Texas Rangers.

The Rangers bombed four New York pitchers for 15 hits, including an inside-the-park grand slam by rookie Pete O'Brien in the eighth inning, to post a 12-7 triumph at Pompano Beach, Fla., in Texas' first exhibition game.

Buddy Bell went 3-for-3, including a two-run homer as the Rangers led off against Shane Rawley, Steve Comer, Clay Christensen and 35-year-old Jesus Hernandez.

With Texas ahead 8-7 in the eighth, Mickey Rivers, Jim Anderson and Bill Stein singled against Hernandez to load the bases. O'Brien, an outfielder-first baseman, lined a shot off the center field wall and circled the bases where the ball bounced past Yankees' center-fielder Jerry Humphrey.

O'Brien opened the seventh against loser Christensen with a single and took second when Tommy Dunbar was safe on an error. Rookie Nick Green singled home O'Brien to tie 7-7, and Dunbar scored on catcher Juan Espino's passed ball.

Wille Randolph, who hit the first pitch of the game for a homer, had three RBI for the Yankees.

Frank Tanana pitched the last three innings to pick up the victory for Texas.

Elsewhere: At Sarasota, Fla., Chris Nyman scored a run in the seventh inning to give the Chicago White Sox a 1-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers in the rainy exhibition opener for both clubs. Nyman's sole run of the game came on a single by Ron Kittle after Nyman pinch ran for Greg Luzinski, who had doubled with two out.

At West Palm Beach, Fla., Montreal scored a first-inning run without the benefit of a hit and then four pitchers, including Bill Guillemin, made it stand up as the Expos blanked the Dodgers 6-0 in an exhibition game. Tim Lincecum reached on an error by third baseman Pedro Guerrero, stole second, advanced on a groundout and scored as Roy Johnson grounded to second.

At Miami, rookie center fielder John Shelby hit a homer, collected two RBIs and scored three runs to lead Baltimore to a 7-3 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

At Dunedin, Fla., rain canceled the first exhibition game of the Toronto Blue Jays' camp. The Blue Jays were scheduled to play St. Leo's College. Dave Stieb will start Tuesday against Minnesota.

At St. Petersburg, Fla., New York Mets' manager George Bamberger named Rick Ownbey and Mike Torrez as his starting pitchers in a pair of exhibition games Thursday. Ownbey is slated to face Toronto at Dunedin, Fla., while Torrez is scheduled to pitch for the other half of the split squad at Lakeland, Fla.

Additionally, outfielder David Green signed a one-year contract with the champion St. Louis Cardinals, meaning all roster players have reached agreement. Green batted .283 in 1982 and is given a chance to win a regular outfield job this season.

Cal Ripken Jr., the 1982 American League Rookie of the Year, signed a one-year contract with the Orioles. General Manager Hank Peters said, Peters said that third baseman Leo Hernandez also signed a one-year pact, leaving pitcher Storm Davis as the only unsigned player.

Philadelphia third baseman Mike Schmidt underwent successful knee surgery in Philadelphia and his doctor said he would be sidelined no longer than two weeks, the Phillies announced.

The Chicago Cubs announced the hiring of Charlie Fox as a special baseball consultant to Dallas Green, the club's executive vice president and general manager. Fox spent 35 years in the New York-San Francisco Giants organization as a player, minor league manager, major-league coach and manager and scout.

Epithets were 'very vicious and very, very personal'

Verbal abuse led to Peete's sudden departure

LAUDERHILL, Fla. (UPI) — Black golfer Calvin Peete, who walked off the course at the Inverrary Classic without explanation Friday, did so because of verbal harassment by a spectator, a spokesman said.

Vince Smith, Peete's publicity director, said Peete told him remarks by a gallery member "were very vicious and very, very personal. Calvin is livid about it, but at the same time, very crushed."

Other spectators said Peete was the object of harassment by a short white man in his 30s.

Milton Stewart, an elementary school teacher in Fort Lauderdale and a friend of Peete's for 20 years, said the abuse became so bad by the ninth hole. Peete's caddy, Bobby Morgan, had to be restrained from attacking the man.

"I kept seeing this same person walk up to Calvin after he left the green at several holes," Stewart said Sunday night. "The guy would get into the roped-off area where the players walk and get close to Calvin. I saw it happen at the fourth hole and the seventh, and on the eighth it was very obvious.

"It seemed like Calvin was trying to ignore him. But on the ninth hole, Calvin's caddy came after the guy and he was really angry. We had to break it up and push Bobby back," Stewart said.

"Calvin called Bobby away and after nine they just left. I could see Calvin was disturbed too. It was a real nasty thing for him to have to go through. I didn't know what the guy said, but it must have been pretty strong. It takes a lot to rattle Calvin," Stewart said.

Peete issued an apology Saturday for leaving the course.

"It's fair that with the frame of mind this put me in, it would be best for me to withdraw from the tournament," said Peete, the most successful black player in the history of golf.

Washington St. rallies to nip UCLA, 70-68

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI) — Brian Pollard scored 21 points and hit 'U' on the buzzer to lift Washington to a 70-68 Pac-10 victory Monday night over No. 4 UCLA.

Washington State overcame a nine-point first-half deficit largely due to the play of Pollard, who scored 17 of his points in the second half.

"WST took a four-point lead with 1:39 to play with Pollard's dunk on an alley-oop pass from Craig Ehlo. But two jumpers from the deep corner by UCI's Art Foster tied the score at 68-68 with 39 seconds to play.

Washington State then ran the clock to five seconds and called a timeout. After an inbound pass was knocked away by the Cougars and a new play, giving the ball to Chris Winkler in the corner with three seconds to go. Winkler's shot rebounded off the rim but Pollard caught the rebound on one hand and tossed the ball through the hoop.

College basketball

Pollard equaled a career-high of 21 points, which he had set Saturday night against Southern California. Aaron Hickman had 14 for WSIU and Steve Harriel had 12. Foster led the Bruins with 26 points and Darren Daye added 14.

The victory kept Washington State's hope for a conference championship alive and moved the Cougars' record to 22-5 for the season and 14-3 in the Pac-10. UCLA dropped to 22-4 overall and 14-2 in the conference.

Georgetown 80, Syracuse 75
LANDOVER, Md. (UPI) — Patrick Ewing scored 26 points and pulled down 11 rebounds Monday night, enabling No. 14 Georgetown to end the regular season with an 80-75 Big East Conference victory over Syracuse.

The same teams meet Thursday night at Madison Square Garden in the opening round of the conference tournament.

Georgetown, 21-8 and 11-5, erased a 38-30 Syracuse half-time lead in less than three minutes of the second half. The Hoyas outscored Syracuse 16-4 in the first four minutes of the second half to take a 46-42 lead.

The Hoyas built their margin to 61-52 midway through the second half on a 20-footer and a tip-in by Anthony Jones, two free throws by freshman Michael Jackson and a jump hook by Ewing.

Syracuse, 19-8 and 9-7, cut the margin to three points three times in the final three minutes but could not get closer.

Notre Dame 53, Dayton 41
SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — John Paxson scored 20 points to enter Notre Dame's all-time top scoring list and lead the Irish to a 53-41 victory over Dayton Monday night, keeping alive Irish hopes for an NCAA tournament bid.

Roosevelt Chapman had 19 points for the Flyers. Including 7-for-7 from the field and 5-for-5 from the free-throw line.

The victory hiked the Irish record to 18-9 with one game to play. Dayton, another Independent in quest of an at-large tournament bid, fell to 10-19.

Paxson's ten field goals lifted him to 1,324 career points, good for tenth on the Irish all-time scoring list and third-best ever by a Notre Dame guard.

Church softballers meet tonight

TWIN FALLS — The softball organizational meeting of the Magic Valley Church League will be conducted at Grace Baptist Church in Twin Falls this evening.

The meeting starts at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. Robert Seaman, league president, said all churches which had teams in the league in 1982 and which wish to have teams entered this year should be represented at the meeting. Other churches interested in participating should be represented as well, he said.

The league, with 24 teams in three divisions, is made up of teams representing churches in Twin Falls, Jerome, Kimberly, Piler and Eden.

Canyon Springs sets scramble

TWIN FALLS — The Canyon Springs Men's Golf Association will hold its opening breakfast and scramble Sunday.

The meal will be served from 8:30 to 9:30 with a blind-draw scramble to follow. All members and prospective members are invited. Jim Ceriello at 734-7200 to sign up.

Babe Ruth signups upcoming

TWIN FALLS — Signups will soon be taken for the city's summer Babe Ruth baseball program for youths of ages 13-15.

Registration will be held at O'Leary Junior High School next Monday, March 14, and at Stuart Junior High Tuesday, March 15, from 7-9 p.m. each night. Parent and player are requested to attend either night. A $20 sign-up fee will be charged.

Early registration is necessary for proper organization of the league. For more information, call Don Harr at 733-8465 (evenings) or Olivia Prater at 734-8936 (evenings).

Paxon tops All-Academic

WORCESTER, Mass. (UPI) — Guard John Paxon of Notre Dame was the top performer to have been named first-team All-American by the College Sports Information Directors of America. It was announced Monday.

Joining Paxon on the first team were Missouri center Steve Stipanovich; Nevada-Las Vegas guard Danny Tarkanian; Indiana forward Randy Wittman and Villanova center John Pinone.

The team is selected by the sports information directors, and all those selected must have at least a 3.2 grade point average.

Paxon, a marketing major with a 3.4 GPA, averaged 17.4 points a game while leading Notre Dame to a 16-9 record. He was a first-team academic All-American last year and was named on 88 percent of the ballots.

Stipanovich, who has led Missouri to four straight Big 12's a 3.35 GPA in marketing education.

Tarkanian, son of UNLV coach Jerry Tarkanian and the first team's only junior, holds a 3.85 GPA as a business and economics major.

Pinone, a second team academic All-American last year, has a 3.21 GPA in commerce and finance while Wittman, also a second team selection last year, has a 3.2 GPA in public and environmental affairs.

Big Sky honors NAU player

BOISE (UPI) — The Big Sky Conference has singled out forward Rick Rodriguez for his role in helping Northern Arizona to its first sweep of a league series in more than three years.

Rodriguez earned the Big Sky's player of the week award Monday — the final award of the 1982-83 season — for his performances in the NAU Lumberjacks' wins over Montana and Montana State last weekend.

The 6-foot-6 senior scored 10 points and grabbed nine rebounds in NAU's 76-70 win over Montana last Thursday night, and he had 13 points and eight rebounds in the Lumberjacks' win over Montana State on Saturday night. Rodriguez also has five assists and two steals in the victories.

NAU, which finished Big Sky play with a 3-1 record this year, had not swept a league series since January of 1980 when the Lumberjacks also beat Montana and Montana State on the same weekend.

Drew wins NBA award

NEW YORK (UPI) — Forward John Drew, who led the Utah Jazz to three victories by averaging 26.3 points over four games, Monday was named the NBA Player of the Week.

After returning from an eight-week rehabilitation program Feb. 7, Drew enjoyed his best game of the season last Thursday when he scored 40 points and grabbed 13 rebounds in Utah's 118-113 triumph over Cleveland.

After returning from an eight-week rehabilitation program Feb. 7, Drew enjoyed his best game of the season last Thursday when he scored 40 points and grabbed 13 rebounds in Utah's 118-113 triumph over Cleveland.

Montana has surgery

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco 49er quarterback Joe Montana underwent successful knee surgery Monday at St. Francis Hospital, a team spokesman said.

Montana, who led the 49ers to a Super Bowl victory two seasons ago, should be fully recovered from the operation in 10 to 12 weeks, the spokesman said.

Doctors used an arthroscope to remove a small portion of the lateral meniscus in Montana's left knee in surgery that took less than an hour. He is expected to begin rehabilitation treatments within two weeks, doctors said.

Boxer emerges from coma

PALERMO, Sicily (UPI) — Italian heavyweight boxer Claudio Cassanelli Monday emerged from the coma he had been in since taking a heavy beating in the ring on Feb. 25, his doctor said.

Dr. Primo Vanadia, director of the intensive care ward of Palermo's Civil Hospital, said the 28-year-old fighter emerged from the coma in the morning and was able to understand questions.

Cassanelli went into the coma following a bout with Italian heavyweight champion Daniele Lajthi.

"We're able to make contact with him and he responds to questions by nodding his head or using the fingers of his right hand," Vanadia said.

But the doctor said Cassanelli was able to move only the right side of his body and that the left side appeared to be paralyzed, at least for the time being.

French golfer wins LPGA event

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Anne-Marie Palli turned a rain-shortened $150,000 LPGA tournament into a runaway Monday, shooting a 5-under 68 and winning by seven strokes.

The event is known as the $150,000 Samaritan Turquoise LPGA Classic.

Palli had a 54-hole total of 205 and outdistanced Lynn Adams, Kingsville, Texas.

The 27-year-old from Ciboure, France — four strokes ahead of Adams going into the final round — saw her lead diminish only once. Adams birdied the first hole to move to within three strokes, but then bogeyed No. 3.

Palli came on to birdie holes five, six and nine. That helped Palli gain her first LPGA tour victory and a check for $22,500.

Adams finished with a 2-under 71 for a 54-hole total of 212, beating Ayako Okamoto by two shots.

The winning check gave Palli, who had failed twice this year when in contention, more money than she has made in her entire LPGA career. She had lost her entire tour card in 1979 but lost it two years later when she earned $2,337 in 22 tournaments.

Haywood quits pro basketball

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Washington Bullets forward Spencer Haywood said Monday he is retiring from pro basketball to spend more time with his wife and because injuries have made him ineffective, the NBA team announced.

Haywood's wife, a fashion model, was in an auto accident last week and was hospitalized since. His playing time and effectiveness have also been reduced by injuries.

"The reason I've reached this decision was because of my wife's illness and the fact I haven't been able to spend a great deal of time with her over the last five years because of our different careers," said Haywood, 33.

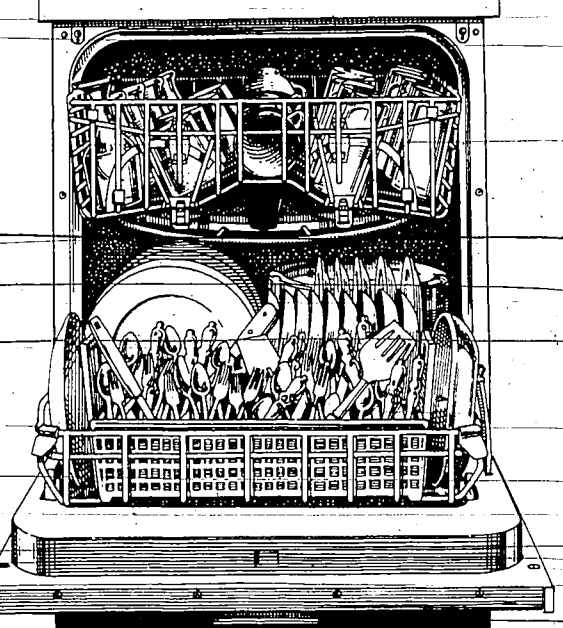

"Injuries have bothered me all year," he added. "I just didn't want to continue to play with nagging injuries that don't allow me to play up to the level I expect from myself."

The 6-foot-9, 225-pound forward played in four All-Star games in 12 years as a professional and scored 14,582 points for a 19.2 average. He was the starting center on the 1968 U.S. Olympic team and left the University of Detroit after his sophomore year to play with Denver in the old American Basketball Association.

USFL's Philly ballclub acquires veteran Bunting

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Stars of the U.S. Football League Monday signed veteran NFL linebacker John Bunting to two one-year contracts.

Bunting, a free agent released by the Philadelphia Eagles at the end of last season, was to begin working out with the team during practice at Veterans Stadium Monday. Financial terms of the contracts were not disclosed.

The Stars' defense was much maligned during pre-season practice but performed well in Sunday's 13-7 season-opening victory over the Denver Gold.

Bunting, a 6-foot-1, 220-pound linebacker, spent 11 years with the Eagles after a five career at North Carolina and called the NFL team's defensive signals.

He was released by new coach Marion Campbell, who said he wanted to move rookie Anthony Griggs into the Eagles' starting lineup and wanted to allow Bunting to make a deal for himself.

Bunting was the team's player representative during last fall's NFL players' strike but Campbell said his union role had nothing to do with his release.

Stars President and General Manager Carl Peterson said Bunting was highly recommended by Campbell and former Eagles coach Dick Vermell.

"He's one of the smartest in the field football players I've ever been around," said Peterson, "formerly director of player personnel for the Eagles." "He has the experience and the leadership our young defense needs."

Both Dick Vermell and Marion Campbell recommended him highly and I'm delighted to have been able to sign him."

Former Penn St. grid coach dies

BELLEFONTE, Pa. (UPI) — Charles A. "Big Red" Engle, football coach at Penn State from 1950 to 1966, died Monday, he was 78.

Engle, a native of Salisbury, Somerset County, compiled a 104-84 record in 16 years at Penn State and took his squad to four post-season bowl games.

Engle also coached for six years at Brown, where he compiled a 28-20 record.

During his last two seasons at Brown, Engle's quarterback was Joe Paterno, who accompanied him to Penn State as quarterback coach and succeeded him when he retired in 1966.

Engle was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1974.

Former Penn St. grid coach dies

BELLEFONTE, Pa. (UPI) — Charles A. "Big Red" Engle, football coach at Penn State from 1950 to 1966, died Monday, he was 78.

Engle, a native of Salisbury, Somerset County, compiled a 104-84 record in 16 years at Penn State and took his squad to four post-season bowl games.

Engle also coached for six years at Brown, where he compiled a 28-20 record.

During his last two seasons at Brown, Engle's quarterback was Joe Paterno, who accompanied him to Penn State as quarterback coach and succeeded him when he retired in 1966.

Engle was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1974.

THE ACES® BOBBY WOLFF

"Honestly, pays, but it doesn't seem to pay enough to suit a lot of people."
— Kin Hubbard.

In today's interesting game, South will fall into the winning line if East makes an innocent and honest play. Only by a bit of honest deception can East hope to lead South astray.

South wins the first heart, overakes a spade in dummy and leads a club to his king. East ducking. South now plays the ace of diamonds and it's all up to East. What card should he play?

If he plays a routine ten, South will know he has no chance to develop three diamond winners so he returns to clubs. The only chance here is to play for a doubleton ace with East, so a low club from both hands gives South three club winners and his nine tricks.

What if East plays the queen of diamonds under South's ace? There's nothing to lose and much to gain. South knows that East holds the missing honors for his opening bid, but if East drops the queen, South may believe the diamond honors are doubtful; if he takes the bait, he leads another diamond in search of three winners and East's K-10 of diamonds provide the rudo shock. South's last heart stopper is removed while East has both minor suit tops and declarer loses a game he might have made.

When declarer knows you have the missing high cards.

ANSWER: Two hearts. Usually unnecessary to rebid a five card major, however this hand is an exception. The weak spades make too no trump unattractive and a club raise in misleading.

Stocks still inching up

By GAIL COLLINS
United Press International

NEW YORK — Stock prices inched to record highs for the fifth time in as many days Monday.

The Dow Jones industrial average closed up 0.78 to 1,141.74, a whisker above Friday's all-time high of 1,140.56.

The New York Stock Exchange index, which also finished last week at a new record, rose 0.03 to 88.66. The price of an average share gained 1 cent.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index also moved above Friday's high, finishing up 0.14 at 172.37.

Advances led declines 900-736 among the 2,002 issues traded. Big Board volume was 84,020,000, down from 90,930,000 Friday.

The Dow had been down most of the day in featureless trading which, analysts said, did not appear to be a sign of the long-awaited pullback in the bull market.

Some analysts said investors were concerned the Federal Reserve Board may move to lighten the money supply, driving up interest rates.

Uncertainty over future oil prices may have encouraged investors to stay on the sidelines, said David Polen of David M. Polen & Co.

OPEC ministers hastily postponed a scheduled meeting called Monday to avert an oil price war after Iran said it would never agree to the terms sought by a majority of the cartel's members.

The American Stock Exchange closed at an all-time high of 386.36, up 1.54 from its previous record, set Friday. The price of an average share gained 6 cents. Composite volume was 9,435,860 shares, down from 10,256,010 Friday.

Advances led declines 345-293 among the 837 issues traded.

The National Association of Securities Dealers' NASDAQ index of over-the-counter stocks, was down 0.62 at 285.32.

Composite volume of NYSE issues listed on all U.S. exchanges and over the counter totaled 98,850,120, down from 105,813,570 Friday.

On the NYSE floor, Citicorp was the most active issue, up 1/4 at 41 3/4. A block of 1,415,000 traded at 41 1/2.

Johnson & Johnson was second, down 1/4 to 46 1/2. The company's stock began dropping Friday following publicity about five deaths due to allergic reaction to one of the firm's prescription drugs.

Zomax, Or Monday, Johnson & Johnson said the temporary worldwide withdrawal of Zomax for relabeling would reduce after-tax earnings by about $20 million this year.

American Telephone & Telegraph, the nation's most widely-held stock, was third, down 1/4 at 66 1/2.

AT&T announced it expected first quarter earnings would be lower than last year's.

IBM was another blue-chip stock high on the session, up 1/4 at 102. Faxon was up 1/4 at 31. Alcoa-Aluminum was up 1/2 at 33 after a series of big block trades.

Stokely-Van Camp was up 1/4 at 59 1/2. Fsmark Inc. announced it had purchased about 6 percent of Stokely's common shares and was considering an acquisition bid.

Court clears suits for building defects

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court, on a 9-0 vote, Monday expunged the government to the threat of lawsuits over building defects overlooked by federal inspectors.

Upholding a lower court, the justices gave a Tennessee woman the go-ahead to sue the Farmers Home Administration for failing to detect faults before she took possession of the house she financed with an FmHA loan.

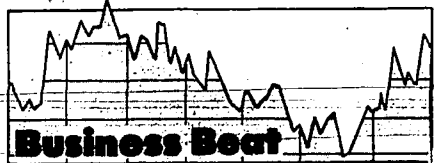

Cautioning that the ruling is a "narrow one," Justice Thurgood Marshall rejected the government's arguments the woman's suit is barred under an exemption for lawsuits alleging government misrepresentation.

"FmHA's duty to use due care to ensure that the builder adhere to previously approved plans and cure all defects before completing construction is distinct from any duty to use due care in community information," Marshall said.

The court left open the possibility that Onelia Neal's suit still may be dismissed under other provisions.

Miss Neal sued two months after she moved into her FmHA-financed prefabricated home in Roane County, Tenn. In 1977 and found the heat pump was malfunctioning.

A subsequent inspection revealed 13 defects, which the private builder refused to correct.

Boise Cascade sets payout

BOISE — Three dividends have been declared by Boise Cascade Corp.

A regular quarterly dividend of 47 1/2 cents a share of common stock will be payable April 15 to shareholders of record March 15.

Dividends of 75 cents a share on the company's $3 convertible preferred stock, Series A, and of $1.25 on the $5 convertible exchangeable preferred stock, Series B, will be paid May 1 to shareholders of record on March 15.

Corn plant goes on market

EMMETT (UPI) — A corn-processing plant which employs more than 400 people each summer will be closed this year unless a buyer can be found.

Ron Wenig, manager of the plant for Stokely-Van Camp Inc., said the firm is trying to sell its facility in Emmett and seven others across the nation.

If no purchaser is found, the company plans to shut down canning activities before summer, Wenig said.

Only 29 people work year-round at the Emmett plant, but another 400 come on the payroll in the summer to help process the corn crop, he said.

The cannery, which started operation in 1945, bought about 15 percent of the total southwestern Idaho corn crop in 1981, a company spokesman said. Emmett Mayor Rod Morgan said the operation's annual payroll is about $1.3 million.

Utility appoints manager

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Bud Rhee, manager of Utah Power & Light Company's Rexburg-Idaho Division since 1968, has been named manager of its Idaho State Division.

Rhee has been a UP&L employee for 33 years. He was manager of the utility's Moab, Utah, District for three years before moving to Rexburg.

Under a UP&L organizational change, Utah's Cache County and the Evanston, Wyo., area have been taken out of the Idaho District.

AMC to drop 2 car models

DETROIT (UPI) — American Motors Corp. -- which last week said it would eliminate the Spirit and Concord models -- will drop the Renault LeCar and 181 this fall as well, a trade publication reported Monday.

Automotive News said AMC is eliminating the two autos because of lagging sales and problems in meeting 1984 emissions standards.

To replace the four car lines, AMC plans to introduce three-door and five-door hatchback versions of the Renault Alliance. They will bear the Alliance's name, the publication said.

AMC will continue to import a station wagon version of the 181 but it will be called the Renault Sport Wagon.

Big car output expanding

DETROIT (UPI) — Domestic automakers are increasing production of big cars in response to the recent declines in gasoline prices, a trade publication said Monday.

Ward's Automotive Reports quoted an unnamed Ford Motor Co. executive as saying the popularity of full-sized models should continue for some time.

Sales of large cars increased in 1982 due to the stability of gasoline prices, which have now begun to fall because of the decision by various OPEC nations to cut the price of crude oil.

The drop in fuel prices will not change future planning at Ford, the executive said.

Ford will add a second shift in late spring at its Wixom, Mich. plant which produces large models. In addition, General Motors Corp. plans to increase production of big cars at its Kansas City, Mo. plant.

Campers try for low rate home loans

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI) — Despite heavy snow in some areas, hundreds of people camped outside banks across Wyoming during the weekend to be first in line Monday for $46 million in home mortgage loans with 9 1/2-percent interest.

The loans were made available through the Wyoming Community Development Authority, which sells bonds to provide loan capital for qualified applicants trying to buy a home.

Merritt and Margaret Benson spent the weekend outside First Wyoming Bank at Cheyenne, despite a storm that dumped 10 inches of snow on the capital city Saturday. Skies cleared Sunday and the state had sunny weather today.

"We've had people tell us we're crazy already," Benson said. "The way we see it, we're making $53,000 for sitting here for a few days."

More than 20 people waited in the lobby of First Interstate Bank at Casper. They considered the "wait worthwhile, because the 9 1/2-percent interest rate was the lowest rate the Development Authority has offered since 1979.

Temperatures Sunday night dropped to the upper 20s at most cities and towns in Wyoming.

The Bensons had a camper full of hot chocolate, coffee, chili and tuna fish sandwiches. Some people were able to wait inside bank lobbies, but others were less fortunate.

At Wyoming National Bank in Casper, people camped out on the sidewalk.

Tamara Fulton and Bill Credit were the 15th applicants in line, hoping to exchange their $495 monthly rent payment for a house payment.

"If we can get in, we are well qualified," said Fulton, an unemployed home economics teacher.

"It's ironic to have a last name like mine and be waiting in line for money," Credit said.

Rod Everett, vice president of First Wyoming Bank in Jackson, said the purpose of the Development Authority loan-money is to "help people get started in their first home."

Most of the loan money should be committed by the end of the week, although it could take several weeks to confirm the eligibility of all the loan applicants. The loans are for fixed-rate, 25-year mortgages.

Big food firm in China market

CHICAGO (UPI) — The giant Beatrice Foods Corp., which has entered into a joint venture with the Chinese to produce snacks and juices, will break ground on a plant in Canton, China, this month.

Beatrice, the city of Canton (Guangzhou) and the China International Trust and Investment Co. signed a 50-50 joint venture last year. The venture, Guangmei Foods Corp., will produce and market canned goods, snack foods and juices in Canton for domestic consumption and export.

Spokesman Bill Jenkins said Monday Beatrice is the first American corporation to enter into a 50-50 joint venture with the Chinese.

"It's a relatively un tapped market," he said. "The potential market in China is staggering."

Jenkins said Beatrice, which owns Tropicana Products, has been negotiating with the Chinese to enter into a joint venture for a couple of years. He said the two parties hope to be making juices by 1984.

Representatives from the Canton City Municipal Light Industry Bureau have been in the United States to observe Tropicana operations in Florida.

Ground-breaking at the Canton plant will be March 15.

Effects of recovery reach small business

By MARSHA TAYLOR
Newhouse News Service

WASHINGTON -- The effects of gradual economic recovery already may be reaching the U.S. small business sector.

Many owners are confident new jobs will open up quickly.

"We should see an improvement in (small business) employment during this quarter or next," says William C. Dunkelberg, chief economist for the 500,000-member National Federation of Independent Business Inc.

Employment in the small-business sector, which traditionally provides jobs for up to 50 percent of U.S. non-government and non-farm workers, should show an increase in the first quarter of 1983 for the first time in three years, Dunkelberg says.

Optimism on the part of small-business owners now is greater than at any time during the past five years, according to the January survey by the federation.

"Amazingly, through this recession we've had small-business optimism all the way," Dunkelberg says. "But we'd ask the owners, 'Well, if you're optimistic, what are you going to do?'"

"And they'd say, 'Oh, nothing.'"

"Now we're into the second phase. Owners say they're optimistic and they're going to hire."

At least 29 percent of small-business owners say they believe they will hire new employees over the next four months, according to a survey released by the Chicago-based Walter E. Heller International Corporation Institute for Small Business. Only 13 percent of the owners, the smallest number since May 1981, say they plan to continue layoffs during that period.

But many small businesses still need help in the form of jobs legislation providing tax credits for companies that hire more workers.

Says Jerry Gulian, vice president for government affairs of the 50,000-member National Small Business Association.

"That would really mean something to the little guys with 10 employees on down," Gulian says.

A tax credit of $3,000 to $4,000 could mean the difference between hiring one additional worker and hiring none at all, he says.

"The government subsidizes capital investment for big business," Gulian says. "But small business is labor-intensive, not capital-intensive. Why not give it a hand creating new jobs?"

Economic recovery should lessen the need of

Neighborhoods, health care profession squaring off

Universal Press Syndicate

First in a series

But don't be too hasty with judgments. What is "winning"?

In the past decade, state lawmakers and mental health professionals throughout the United States have joined together in an effort to "deinstitutionalize" the mentally handicapped and return them, where possible, to a productive and pleasant place in society.

"The trend now is away from commitment to large state asylums and toward housing in smaller, community-based group homes," reports Prentice-Hall's "Equal Opportunity in Housing" service. Many state lawmakers have concluded that the mentally handicapped should be treated outside the asylums where conditions are the "least restrictive."

These lawmakers and psychologists maintain that the mentally handicapped have a right to individualized therapy in a residential home.

"Before you speak out from your 'bleeding heart' that 'of course the mentally and the physically disadvantaged, too, have the right to live in a normal community,' think this problem through. (I've tried to.) What would a 'halfway house' for a small group of mental patients in your neighborhood do to property values? What about the safety of your children? Faced with these problems, would you or would you not join a vigorous campaign against the projects? Actually, Prentice-Hall has shown unusual courage just to be reporting the trend in depth.

Critics of our present system of mental health treatment charge that our state-operated systems segregate and dehumanize the patients and block their recovery.

Legislators and health professionals have tried to have the mentally handicapped placed in "group homes" where they can experience a family-style environment and develop basic social skills.

These residential "homes," many therapists assert, are better suited to provide the special training needed by patients to cope with their individual and unsocialized problems.

The group homes commonly take two forms: The halfway house for the convalescing mental patient, and the residential center for the care and special training of the developmentally disabled. The homes are usually staffed by live-in houseparents and visiting therapists who offer support services and treatment for the residents. All the occupants of the home live as a "single housekeeping unit," sharing in household chores and existing much like a traditional family.

The trend away from large institutions and toward small-group residential treatment is not new. It mirrors a similar revolution in the care of the mentally ill that came just before the turn-of-the-century.

European reformers such as Philippe Pinel (in France) and William Tuke (in England) started movements to free mental patients from inhumane asylums of the 19th century. As Prentice-Hall summarizes it, reformers and their successors developed a new and highly successful form of treatment called "moral therapy."

But later events led back to the rise of the large mental hospitals we have today. Overcrowding and funding shortages soon brought about many of the abuses typical of the old asylums, and moral therapy sank generally into disuse.

Grain futures

CHICAGO (UPI)—Wheat was lower and corn, soybean and soybean meal at the close Monday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat rose 1/4 to 3 1/2 cents; corn 1/4 to 1/2 cent. Soybean meal rose 1/4 cent to 1 1/4 cents. Soybean oil rose 1/4 cent to 19 1/4 cents.

Trading with little news to drive the market. The report that the U.S. will export 1.1 million metric tons of wheat to the U.S. in 1983-84, plus a large professional buy in the corn pit, added to the bullishness of March and buying of soybean futures.

Some weakening of soybean prices occurred early in the morning, but the corn spread remained firm.

The report indicates normal rainfall is expected on Monday, was delayed until Tuesday because of snow flurries at the USDA offices in Washington.
