The White House welcomed the month's slight increase in consumer prices, following a 0.2 percent drop for February, as evidence of "extraordinary progress over the high levels of inflation foll the past several years."

- The January-to-March increase in prices, figured annually and seasonally adjusted, was a mere 0.4 percent. the lowest for any quarter since July-to-September 1965, the Labor Department said.

Food prices went up 0.6 percent, the most since an identical rise in June and the most of any of the top seven categories of prices more typically dominated by medical care costs. Soaring vegetable prices caused by damaging rains in California and Florida were only part of the increase. Egg prices were up 7.7 percent and decreases for beef and poultry were small.

Medical care was up 0.5 percent, the least in Reagan wants new grain deal with Soviets with the secretary of agriculture and the secretary of state." Reagan declared after the Polish gevernment imposed martial law in December 1981 that he would not negotiate a new long-term agreement "as long as repression continues in Poland." But American farmers, who have large grain surpluses on their hands, have been pressing Reagan for a new agreement selting a higher minimum sales requirement. Farm Belt congressmen from both parties praised Reagan's move. Chairman Kika de la Garza, D-Texas, of the House Agriculture Committee said Reagan made "a sound decision that comes at an appropriate time azd, I hope, can lead to a badly needed increase in exports.

VILLIAM BROCK

WASHINGTON — President Reagan, litting a sanction imposed on Moscow in retallation for Pollish repression, announced Friday he has offered to negotiate a new long-term grain sales agreement with the Kremiln. "We believe this sanction has made its political point." U.S. Trade Representative William Brock told reporters, explaining the administration's bid to recapture a prime share of Moscow's grain market.

The president's refusal since 1981 to regoliate a new agreement "simply had no validity as a too! in that capacity any more." Brock said.

The Soviets have not yet responded—to the proposal Reagan made two weeks ago for a new pact to replace the current contract that has required Moscow to buy at least 6 million metric tons of American corn and wheat each year since 1976, he said. "Negotiation of a new long-term agreement is consistent with United States agricultural export polley and reflects our commitment to restabilish the U.S. as a reliable supplier," Reagan said in a statement. Reagan announced his offer one day after it was disclosed that three Soviet diplomats were caught trying to obtain classified military and high-technology information and have been ordered to leave the country. "If the Soviets agree to grain talks, Reagan said, Brock will conduct the negotiations—"in-close-coordination reaffirm our reliability as a supplier of grain."

"We don't in any way feel this will be misread." Acting Assistant Secretary of State Mark Paliner and.
Reagan's proposal included no mention of how the administration would like to alter the existing agreement, which expires Sept. 30.
Brock said "the flavor of the negotiations" with the Saviets will determine whether the existing minimum purchase requirement is increased.
U.S. farm groups, Farm Belt

Australia joins in wave of expulsions of spies

Australia Friday expelled a Soviet diplomat accused of working as a KGB agent, Joining Britain. France and the United States in a Western crackown on Russia's intelligence network.

Australian Foreign Affairs Minister Bill Hayden said evidence showed Valerty Nitolayevich Ivanov. the first secretary at the Soviet embassy in Canberra, was a KGB agent whose activities had violated rules of conduct for diplomats.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolal Soudarikov said he regarded the charges against Ivanov, given seven days to leave Australia, "far-fetched and groundless accusations."

The Australian action followed a series of recent expusions of more than 50 Soviet.

TRIUMPHS OF A MAN CALLED HORSE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A top federal consumer official raised some eyebrows Friday when her address to a consumer conference was dominated by a big pitch for While House proposals ranging from tuition tax credits to school prayer.

"It was, to say the least, a bit surprising," an official of the Coalition for Consumer Education said following the keynote speech by Virginia Knauer, director of the U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs.

The 2,500-member coalition, composed of repre-sentatives of education, state government, industry and consumer groups, was established in 1981 following Reagan administration cuts in consumer following Heagan summer and the deducation.

Ms. Knauer made only a passing reference to these cuts noting the federal Consumer Information Center remains "alive and well," having issued is million requests for information last year.

But, she said, regardless of how many requests are filled or how many consumer regulations are issued, the public must be able to read and write to protect itself.

combat illiteracy and upgrade schools, Ma. Knauer made her pitch for four administration educational proposals now before Congress.
They include polstering math and science curriculum, tuttion tax credits for parents who sent their children to private schools, educational savings accounts and a constitutional amendment permitting voluntary school prayer.
Said Ms. Knauer. "Perhaps we all ought to say a non-tenominational prayer for the House that its members will allow schools to do what the Congress does every day" — pray.

No note was found.

Although some details had not emerged by Friday evening, officials had pieced together the following scenario: At about 11:30 a.m. Garrison reportedly walked from her car in the southern Perrine Bridge parking, lot onto the bridge's southwest sidewalk. The small-framed woman apparently used a box to climb over the stilling.

"I saw this lady; she was just straddling that rail," said Rick Frantz of Jerome. "As we went on by, we looked at her, and she looked at us."

Frantz and his wife, Sandi, were crossing the Perrine Bridge at the time. He believes he had brief eye-to-eye contact with the woman.

"I'm sure she saw me and the astonishment in our faces," he said. Before he could turn around, Frantz eiready was inside the cityl limits, and he decided to head toward the idaho mile away.

"It caught me totally off-guard. I didn't know what to do," he said. "It's something you read about, but being face-to-face with a situation like that, it catches you completely off-guard." By the time he returned, the woman had hurled 300 feet to the rocks below.

"We were all being careful." said Sgf. Jim Hopkins, a member of the sheriffs department. "You'd put your foot down, and the rocks would move you."

Hopkins, who headed up the initial investigation, acknowledged "a possibility that she was ill, that she was being treated by a doctor." But he declined to elaborate.

Republic's final flight out scheduled today

Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Republic Airlines bids farewell to Twin Falls today, ending its regularly scheduled service at the Twin Falls-Sun Valley Regional Airport.

Republic Flight 3s will take off at 4 p.m. for Boise and Seattle, never to return.

"They may buzz the field, depending on the pilot," asys Paul Shouff, the manager of the airline's Twin Falls station. "But it's not like a grand opening, We're not thrilled about the bing, it's just one of those facts of life." Earlier this year, Republic officials announced that they were pulling out of Twin Falls and six other Western cities, including Boise and Spokane. Today's day of reckoning will leave Twin Falls with two Utah-based commuter airlines. Transwestern and Sty West.

Those affilines will provide service to the hub airports of Boise and Salt Lake City. But It leaves Twin Falls without a major carrier. Efforts to attract a replacement carrier Republic employed about 10 people in Twin Fails, and it plans to reassign them to other airports. As of Friday, half of the Twin Fails Republic employees aiready had left for new assignments, Shoaff said, By Sunday, most will be at their new stallors.

new assignments, Shoaff said. By Sunday, most will be at their new statlons.

"There's a little shock at first, But most of them have been through this before," Shoaff said. "Through the years, that's part of the business." Shoaff will remain in Twin Fails through mid-May to direct the closing of Republic's operation. But for all intents and purposes. Republic's presence—right down to list terminal space—quickly will be replaced by the communiters.

Station manager Steve Beneit added that his company plans an open house next Saturday.
"We're trying to just let them know that we're still here.
that the airport is still here, we're open, and to let Twin Falls know that they can still travel by air out of here." he said. The commuters' effort to win public acceptance has won one major ally. Mike Dolton, the executive director of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, says he now feels better about the service offered by the two companies. "I feel more positive about the two commuters that we have here." And Dolton said Friday that he appreciates the additional number of flights and cheaper [ares offered.]

Commuter air service does not appear to be a disadvantage in attracting new industry to the area, he added.

Earlier this year, Dolton attempted to attract a replacement carrier. None of the three airlines that he contacted — Western. Frontier or Pacific Express — was willing to make a commitment to regularly scheduled flights, however.

Dolton says he will continue his effort, but he concedes that passengers will not feel as great a change as will the airport's finances.

Republic paid an estimated $170.000 each year in landing fees, making up a strable chunk of the airport's total $460.000 in revenues.

In a preliminary report to City Council's budget committee. City Manager Tom Courtney has proposed relatively painless spending cuts and an infusion of $36,006 in airport reserve funds to balance the airport budget next year.

BOR, canal companies working to prevent spring flooding

BURLEY — The Bureau of Reclamation joined forces with the Twin Falls and North Side Canal companies to explain, at a meeting. Thursday algh in Burley, how they mange the Milner Reservoir.

Bureau officials report they are working with the canal companies to both provide enough water in the reservoir to meet summer strigation demands and to minimize the spring high-water periods, which have caused flooding and shoreline erosion in years past. Don Tracy, the Bureau's Minidoka Project superintendent, and he is optimistic that the agency's network of eight Upper Snake River-reservoirs can handle the run-off from this year's heavy snowpack without problems.

In years past, the reservoir has been filled in early March to about an 1t-foot high-water mark to allow for downstream water-flow measurements at Thousand Springs. The 1t-foot high-water mark often flooded out some property owners along the reservoir and eroded fragile stretches of shoreline. Walter Schode, a shoreline rancher, complained that in years past, the high water innundated his grazing lands.
"I've had caives drown down there," and it's all unnecessary." he complained at the meeting. But-this-year. Schodde said. the water-levels have been kept at a lower level, and he has not experienced any major problems. Bureau official Don Travis said that this year, the agency has tried to store more of the water in the American Falls Reservoir during the early spring months, a move that has left Milner at about the 9-foot water mark and prevented any major flood problems. Beginning in early May, the reservoir will begin to move back up to the 11-foot water mark.

Hagerman nixes pay increases HAGERMAN -- City employees in Hagerman will not receive pay increases this mouth.
City Council: reviewing the city payroll this week, decided against granting pay increases because 5percent raises were given six months ago, and because the cost of living had not gone up significantly since hen.

In a discussion following the decision, council mem-ers suggested work incentives to discourage employee urnover that the city could offer, such as scheduled rage increases, Christmas bonuses and increased wage increas vacation time.

Councilman Ron Maxwell said pay increases should be considered by council annually, instead of every six months.

Mayor Karen Yarbrough suggested that council meet with the city's employees to work out the incentive program. Council agreed, but a meeting date was not set and further action on the matter was tabled.

Youth 'serious' after mishap

Undergoing treatment in the bospital's intensive-care unit was 17-year-old Vestal Dean Caudilli of 191 Sidney St.

The accident occurred near Caudill's home.

The accident occurred rear Caudit's nome, when he was struck by a southbound car, driven by Carmen Montes, 35, of 269 Sidney St. in Twin Falls.

Twin Falls police have cited the woman for failure to yield, alleging that she moved her improperly parked car into the path of the motorcycle.

Caudill, who was not wearing a protective helmet, was traveling at 25 mph at the time of impact, police said.

Deputy hurt in accident

TWIN FAILS — A Twin Fails County sheriff's deputy was injured Friday evening, but not in the line of duty.
Deputy Ed Gudgell, about 30, who lives east of Twin Fails, reportedly was riding his motorcycle to be home of a triend, when a dog ran into the side of the vehicle.
The impact caused the machine to evertum, throwing the deputy to the ground. He suffered a double tracture of the ankle and was treated at Magic Valley Regional Medical Center and released.
The accident occurred shortly after 6 p.m., northwest of Twin Fails.

Clarification

TWIN FALLS — In Wednesday's edition of The Times-News, Donna Stalley, a member of the school bond-Issue promotion committee, was quoted as saying, "I'm leaving Twin Falls," after she learned of the defeat of the measure. The statement was made facetiously, and was not intended as a statement of actual, intended action.

Correction

TWIN FAJJS — In an article in last Friday's Times-News about a U.S. Environmental Protection Agency meeting in Burley. Doris Couch was identified incorrectly as a representative of the Magic Valley Snake River Alliance. She should have been identified as a representative of the Magic Valley Aquifer Coalition.

TWIN FALLS — Like other developing artistic movements in the Magic Valley, the theater is being examined — and perhaps for the first time — with exacting curiosity and understanding.

At least it seemed so Thursday night at the production of "Flavors" at the College of Southern Idaho. This was a three act program of contemporary writings read by the college's drama students.

Under Professor Fran Tanner's fine direction — further revealed by technical director Tony Mannen.
lighting experts Ed Reagan and Eric Clar and Barbara Bybee's colorful costumes, which were all excellent — her students rewarded an opening-night auddence of more than 60 persons with a treasurable evening.
There was a sure fire way of telling if the profections and their performers were good, Just looking at the enginessed auddence, the involved actors-readers and the sound in the little theater told the story.

It was a welcomed evening after the recent production of "Man For Ail Seasons." This time, the drama department took on equally difficult material, but everyone's intansainvolvement Thursday night showed that they handled the contemporary

Smales, Karyn Wallon, Randy Wentworth and Bonnle Wright. All of them were first-rate. The CSI attoents gave substantial performances to the demanding work of three contemporary playwrights — Shel Silverstein, Arthur Cavanaugh and Ray Bradbury. The performance opened just right with "The Shel Game" by Silverstein. It was light and full of belly-laugh reminiscences of childhood. At their best, the short pieces exposed the absurditles of being a misunderstood child. This was a good siren for the two more serious pieces that followed. Cavanaugh's "Hanna Fer Hope" was the second act on the program. Cavanaugh was born during the pre-Depression years in New York stata, The group read this number with great projection and managed beautifully to show the furry of Cavanaugh's work, grabbing the feat that existed during those terrible times. times. Walton's reading of Hanna revealed a strong woman housekeeper, who allenated herself from false ideals by functioning no matter what and with such a passion that she was able to surpass the difficult times. This was an impressive rendering. The action and tempo of Tamer's direction of 'Hanna For Hope' were spectacular. How could anyone in audience not identify because of present economic conditions? The final piece by Bradbury was stilling. "The Scythe" is but one example of the many "terrifying" writings of this talented sclence liction writer.

writings of this talented science-fiction writer. In this particular work, his people have no faces. But Bradbury's vivid composition about "the universal killer" and his languid "watchers" was exquisitely performed and directed. His imagery is luminous and penetrating. Tanner's performers squeezed it dry and never wasted a single word.

One advantage that U.S. Communications has enjoyed recently has come about because of the microprocessors it uses in its mobile phones, technician Dean Etherington of Twin Falls says. The microprocessor, which has a features programed by touch dialing, allows the phone to automatically remember and dial numbers, to lock up and even to select one of two melodies that are used like a ring on a conventional phone, he says. A week ago, some other competitors came out with phones offering similar convenience features, company marketing officials say. But that type of technology has many future possibilities that go beyond voice communication and into remote control, of other electronic circuits.

Although most Christians aiready have observed the festival of Easter, marking the resurrection of Jesus from the dead, some 6 million American and Canadian Orthodox Christians will not mark the festival until May 8 — more than a month after the April 3 celebration of Protestants and Catholics.

tholics. The varying dates for Easter tong Orthodox and other Christians The varying dates for Easter among Orthodox and other Christians has been an ecumential concern for a number of years, and various prosals have been floated to fix a single date on which all Christians would mark the holiday.

To date, however, there has been no agreement on how to resolve the issue.

The last time that Orthodox, Catholic and Protestant Christians marked Easter on the same Sunday was in 1980.

marked Easter on the same Sunday was in 1980.

The reason for the differences are centuries old, going back to the first ecumenical council of Christianty, which met in Nicea in 25 A.D.

Orthodox bodies continue to calculate the date of Easter in accordance with norms estimisted at Nicea, while the Catholic, and now-Protestant, calculations were adjusted in 1982.

The determination of the date of the Orthodox Easter is governed by a process dependent—on—be—vernal—equinox and the phases of the moon. In 1977, a conference on a common date for Easter was beld, and it recommended asking a body of astronomers, using the actual equinox, to calculate Easter for many years into the future. The result would be— in most cases—an earlier date equinox, to calculate Easter for many years into the future. The result would be — in most cases — an earlier date in terms of the Julian calendar and one - Usat - would - generally - coincide with the Catholic-Protestant date.

Orthodox leaders generally have een cool to the other major proposal concerning the dating of Easter — fixing it as the second Sunday in April each year.

Too soon to decide Swan Falls issue

By ELLEN MARKS United Press International

United Press International

BOISE — It would make little sense to place the Swan Falls water-right Issue on the Legislature's special session agenda because lawmakers could not resolve the controversy, state Public Utilities Commission member Perry Swisher said Friday.

Swisher said the complex problem of deciding how the water should be divided among a uniber of interests will be "a raging debate for some time." Gov. John Fvans said Friday he is inclined not to place the issue on the special session agenda. But he said he may change his mind before lawmakers gather in Boise May 9.

The governor said his efforts instead are focused on investigating whether the state could purchase or condern Swan Falls and other upstream dams to accomplish the objective of subordinating Idaho Power's water rights for other uses.

Swisher said. "The likelihood of a long-term answer being implemented during a special session is somewhere near zero."

But he said lawmakers may able to resolve some of the problems created by the Swan Falls controversy, such as the rights of existing water users. Swisher warned the water rights battle between idaho Power Co. and irrigators may end up in federal court, which could prompt Indian tribes and out-of-state Interests to lay claim to the Snake River.

"You are exposing a very delicate tradition of-how you handle water to the vagaries of the federal court system." Swisher said during a taping of the KTVB-TV Viewpoint program.

"You're bringing in the thirst of people who want inter-basin transfers. I am confident (tdaho) could never successfully deal in that arena (in a manner) that would put ledaho first."

Swisher criticized a state Water Board proposal to buy Swan Falls Dam, which members say would help reverse the impact of a state Supreme Courtuiling which made Idaho Power Co.'s hydroelectire rights superior to pumping and other uses.

The landmark ruling led to a number of proposal, including an unsuccessful attempt to draft a bill subordinating Idaho Power's rights to upstream uses — a measure strongly supported by the governor.

Swisher said resolving the controversy by purchasing Swan Falls would require the state to also buy several other dams to "really have, a handle" on the situation.

Ironically, devoting the water to pumping ratherthan power-generation would sharply increase rates and harm irrigators. Swisher said.

"You're increasing the rates of existing irrigators' to the point where some land now under irrigations would have to go to dryland" farming, he said.

Swisher, who was appointed to the PUC by Evans, said he thinks the governor has strongly supported subordination of the utility's rights because he enceptates the issue with water battles in eastern idaho.

Evans supported passage of the Description.

laho. Evans supported passage of the Bear River

Evans supported passage of the Beat myself compact outlining water authority among three states because of fears certain interests were losing out to Utah Power and Light Co. Swishers said. But that problem was "colossally different" than the situation in southern Idaho because of the large-number of diversions pumpers are allowed to make from the Snake River. Swisher said.

GOP presses its own probe of Hansen charges

IDAHO FALIS (UPI) — An independent investigation in why the U.S. Justice Department filed charges—against U.S. Rep.—George—Hansen may not be completed until the case is resolved in federal control (Republican state party chief Dennis Olsen says.)—He said the investigation will determine any possible connections between Hanser's outspoker opposition to some of the agency's actions and the reason it filed charges against him.

The seven-term Idaho Congressman faces four counts of filing false financial disclosure reports.

Glsen announced recently an independent investigation would clear up some questions surrounding the case, which Hansen says resulted from selective prosecution.

Olsen said the investigation would offer mount of the charges because. "I think those issues have to be handled in court."

Included in the probe will be why as the country of the charges are the country of the charges in court."

Olsen also denied a newspaper report that the Idaho Republican party is looking for a replacement for the 52-year-old Congressman.

The Portland Oregonian last week quoted an unidentified Republican source in Washington D.C. as saying the state GOP was moving "to find a successor" for Hansen.

Olsen said. "The Idaho party its. done no such thing. George is innocent until proven guilty. I am going to go on that presumption."

Hansen was indicted April 7 for allegedity failing to report three loans totaling $246.503 and $87.475.

Bulls continue charge

NEW YORK - The stock market lorged

NEW YORK — The stock market forged to record helghts on many (ronts Friday with the Dow Jones average pushing near the 1,200 level following the government's report that inflation remained in check.

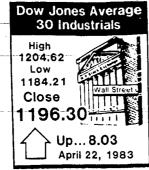

But trading slowed in a session in which investors both big and small swarmed to quality stocks, such as IBM and automobile companies that have posted higher earnings and Improved sales. The rest of the list was flat.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which fell 3.20 Thursday, climbed 8.00 to a record 1,196.30, ecllipsting Wednesday's all-time high of 1,191.7 but it falled to generate the buying power to pierce 1,200.

For the week, the closely watched average rose 23.96 points, which put it by 919.38 since the buil market of the 1980s began Aug. 13.

The New York Stock Exchange index climbed 20.20 to 29.15 and the price of an average share increased eight cents. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index jumped 0.37 to 16.942. Advances edged declines 843-730 among the 1,971 issues traded.

Big Board volume Stumped to 92.270.000 shares om 106,170,000 traded Thursday as investors ited for the Federal Reserve's post-market oney supply report that showed an encouraging $3.1 billion decline.

"Most of the buying today was in quality stocks," said Barry Bertin, Shearson-American Express vice president. "The rest of the market is not being totally ignored, but quality stocks are getting the play right now."

Earlier in the day, the government reported consumer prices rose just 0.1 percent in Marandar reat earnings jumped 0.9 percent. The CPI has risen only 0.4 percent so far this year, the lowest figure since 1965.

Wall Street's historic rally has coincided with the sharp decline in Inflation and interest rates.

Martin Feldstein, Council of Economic Advisers chairman, said the reduced inflation rate of the past two years has cut taxes sharply from 1980 levels.

President Reagan told reporters he would not accept cancellation of the 10 percent tax cut stated to take effect July 1 and pledged to fight the Senate plan for $30 billion in new taxes next year. Composite volume of NYSE issues listed on all U.S. exchanges and over the counter totaled (7,762,060 shares, down from 125,190,350 traded Thursday.) e buying today was in quality

Gold purchases an individual matter

Universal Press Syndicate

Under a most unusual joint effort between the U.S. Mint and private enterprises, announced yesterday afternoon by the Treasury, you — a collector, an Investor and/or speculator in gold—can now buy U.S. medaillons directly from banks, brokers, coin shops, dealers, etc.
This will be your first chance in modern history to buy U.S. gold pleces in the open market and choose among several delivery options.
These medaillons are not playthings! Nor is the purchase to be undertaken lightly, Gold sold on the market at more than $428$ an ounce last week.
The medaillons come in two forms, one half-ounce and one full ounce. The market price for gold plus a small premium that will be competitive with that charged at retail for foreign buillon coins. The premium is the market price to gold and covers the costs of minting and distribution, usually between 4 period content.

by mail order from the Mint itself.
According to the agreement between the Treasury and J. Aron, the primary distributor, the gold in the medallions comes from Treasury holdings — currently 264 million counces — and will be marketled and sold under the name "U.S. Gold."

The market for gold coins has developed rapidly since 1975, when Congress passed a law allowing Americans to buy and sell the precious metal.

Over the past five years, American gold collectors-investors-specu lators-gamblers have bought 15 million ounces of foreign gold colins at a cest of more than $5 billion = an average of $1 billion in sales annually. The Treasury's new markeling plants designed to tap this group so its countiess members spend their money at home.

In sum: This is another way the reasury can earn some money and todestly improve the balance-of-ayment deficit.

Treasury can earn some money and modestly improve the balance-of-payment deficit.

Sales are estimated between $400 million and $590 million a year, depending on the cost of gold. Aron can make this specific estimate — give or take $100 million — because Congress mandated that at least I million ounces of gold be minted each year under the American Arts Gold Medallion Act of 1978. Aron bought the unsold inventory — roughly I million ounces of medallions struck in 1980. 1981 and 1982. The legislation authorizing minting of these pieces runs through 1984.

Under the previous distribution program, buyers had to go through a complicated and lengthy procedure at the post office. Delivery could take several months, during which gold prices would have changed one way or another. Mint Director Donna Pope lold a House subcommilite, according to a recent lessue of Coin World magazine; that 670,000 ounces in turisold inventory from 1980 and 1881 still remained.

But should you buy? What's your purpose? If you had bought gold in the recent past, you would have bought a built-in loss and heartache.

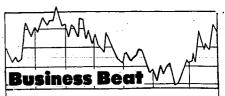

I've never been captivated by gold. Its mystique or its deep-deep appeal to the vast numbers who mistrust all paper money. And the mistrust is justified — for the record of paper money over thousands of years of recorded history is a race (speedy or slow) toward complete extinction. So, you must answer this question about gold on your own.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government said Friday it has purchased more than 1 billion bushels of corn. Wheat and sorptum for use in the payment-in-kild program, which promises to give striplus cropts to farmers who lide their land. The program is intended to use up the big supplies that have been blamed for pushing down prices paid to farmers.

nounced that farmers had agreed to remove 82 million acres of cropland from production. The figure was more than three times that originally expected by department officials.

Since farmer enrollment was so much heavier than expected, the government was forced to buy the additional grain to guarantee it would have enough corn. wheat and sorghum in its warehouses to paylargners who participate in the payment-in-kind program.

THE ACES®

"There is only one rule for being a good talker: learn to listen." — Christo-pher Morley.

South tried to explain why he went set in today's elusive game, but his talk fell on deaf ears. He wouldn't have had to explain at all had he been a good listener. West won his spade king and shifted to a trump went to South's queen to lead a second trump went to South's queen to lead a spade—towards—dummy's west took his acc of spades and exited with a third spade to dummy's queens South discarding a club. Next came two high diamonds and, when these failed to break, South conceded two diamonds while he started his explanations. "After I got rid of my small club, I was a 58 percent favorite to-make my game," he explained. "Any 2-2 diamond break would work."

3-2 diamond break would work."

He was right, of course, but he should still have made the game. After discarding the small club, South should play a club to his ace and then the king and ace of diamonds. This brings the bad new in diamonds but South should know that West must have the club king as part of his opening. bld. Dummy's remaining-club-is-led.while. South discards a diamond and West is stuck. He must lead a black card for a ruff

Wesche runs fastest 100 at Jerome track

Carey boy's dash the highlight

JEROMF. — Todd Wesche of Carey stamped himself "Magic Valley's fastest human" and basically there were few surprises when 18 area schools got together Friday for the Ifrst Jerome Frack and Field Classic. Wesche simply ran away from everyone in the 100-yard dash — which was the only Individual speed test of the day — and basically, his Carey Panthers had to be the most satisfied team in the open classification meet.

Carey remains the open classified team in the open classified team in the open classified in the control of the

with his easy decision at 56-½ in the shotput. But while everything went smoothly, the biggest impression drawn from the event came for those looking, forward, to, the district. A3-clash in a couple of weeks. Carey simply, did well in three of its expected four fortes — eliminating the possibility of Wesche plecking up more honors in un-run individual events. The Panthers collected a second in the 400 relay and ran a strong 3:34.0 in the 1600. They got a pleasant surprise when Neal Parke salled 44-2½ to with the trip lump, easily his best effort of the spring.

Only in the 800 did the Panthers fall on hard times. What appeared to be a good opportunity turned into a deon naru times. The good opportunity turned into a devastating trap.

After two legs Carey was running a distinct fourth. Then coming off the first curve of the third leg, things seemed to open up. The second and third place teams. Valley and Twalfs.

proper exchange lanes and the luck-less Carey Panther saw the inside open up and took it. He sprinted past both runners and then hit the dead end — anchorman Wesche was lined up in the fourth lane. He had to wait for the third- and the fourthlane.

He had to wait for the third- and fourth-place teams to go past and then come out to the fourth lane. In the middle of a handoff, and at virtually a dead stop, another team cut between the betuddled Panther runners.

When Wesche Ifinally did get the baton he brought it home in 1+38-0-but had was only good enough for fourth. Gooding's Ken Anderson wan the high jump at 6-3 and added the intermediate title after a race-long deadlock with Twin Falls sophomore Doug Zakukly. Jerome concentrated its ample distance guns on the relays and walked off with all of them. But that turned Twin Falls losse to with the 200 with sophomore Rod Uribe and the 1600 with Steve Burnners.

Twin Falls also had a reason to cheer with the return of pole vaulter. Scotl Schoper-to the 13-foot class. He'd been in a slump for the past couple does in a slump for the past couple does in a slump for the past couple does in a slump for the past couple does in 15-13 and former's Bob Stope harmers high the Tigers pile up relay victories.

In the glist division, the sprint due between Butts and Bernhagen was to help the Tigers pile up relay victories.

In the girls division, the sprint duel between Butts and Bernhagen was dampened by the lack of the longer dashes. Butts ran off with the 100. The two met again in the opening leg of the mile relay with Butts postling perhaps a five-yard decision. That opening leg, credited at 57.9 by Coach Jerry Kleinkopf, started Twin Falls to a new school record of 4:03.3, some seven-tenths under the previous Bruins standard. "The difference was Mail Jian (11)." Kleinkopf said of the Sophofrom now on. Today we scratched her from the intermediates (where she had the best qualifying time) because of the different agenda. It will take her a while to get used to it. but she's in both starting with the conference (finals next week in Highland."

Wood River had an excellent day in Wood River had an excellent day in the relays with 18 distance corps. The Wolverine girls ran off with the two-mile relay and were within a 1.3 seconds of the Bruins in the 1000. (They beat Twin Falls there in the Bolse relays last week). Bernhagen's strong anchor leg put a 1:51.85 cap on the medley.

Individually, Maureen McGinnis of Wood River ran off with the mile white Bernhagen grabbed the high jump at 5-5 and decided not to try anything higher.

Twin Falls' Nancy McGinnis won the 3200. The Bruins had a double winner in senior Macie Miller who took the long jump at 179 and the high hurdles in addition to providing the biggest lead in the mile relay. Sam Kidner of Shoshone had the big effort in the field events, twirting the discuss 124-11 for a 13-foot plus victory. Lisa Rhoades of Twin Falls was the shot not aween.

Lisa thoades of twin rails was the shot put queen.

Macie Miller, who has been coveting the 19-foot mark, came close on her last long jump but fell back. "One foot was over 19 feet — but 1 don't know where the other one was." she sald with a laugh.

Not many surprises in first-round NFL draft predictions

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stanford quarterback John Elway is an obvious choice as the first selection in Tuesday's NFL draft and here's a forecast of how the opening round may go:

1. San Diego (from Baltimore) — The Chargers, still uncertain about Dan Fouts' status, convince the Colts that Elway will not sign with Baltimore and swap several draft choices to get him to direct Air Coryell. Choice—Stanford QB John Elway.

2. Seattle (from Houston) — The Seahawks had the poporest running game in the AFC last

2. Seattle (from Houston) — The Seahawks had the poorest running game in the APC least year and new coach Chuck Knox loves a big-play runner. Seattle trades up with Houston for several draft picks and takes the league's newest start back. Choice — Southern Methodist Bis Eric Dickerson.

3. Los Angeles Rams — The Rams' committed the properties of the pr

Smith.

4. Denver — The Broncos had only 8 TD passes last year compared to 19 interceptions and they decide to give Steve DeBerg and

Mark Herrmann a push. Choice — Miami QB
Jim Kelly.

5. Baltimore (from San Diego) — Coach Frank Kush is desperate for some quality linement op rooted QB Milke Pagel and he's got plenty of draft pleks to upgrade the front wall.

6. Chicago — The Bears need offensive linemen, too, but they can't believe a particular player is still available. Choice — PennState RB Curt Warner.

7. Kansas City — The Chiefs' offensive line has allowed the most sacks in the league for two of the last three years but new coach John Mackovic loves QBs and can't pass up a possible pro star. Choice — Illinois QB Tony Eason.

8. Philadelphia — New Coach Marion

Desire in the same control of the co

10. New York Glants — Really wanted Chris Hinton but the Glants settle for the best TE prospect in the draft. Cholce — Notre Dame TE-Tony Huntler.

11. Green Bay (from New Orleans) — The Packers know Lynn Dickey, won't be around—much longer and Coach Bart Starr, goes for abrainy QB he can break in slowly. Cholce — Penn State QB Todd Blackledge.

12. Buffalo — With the retirement of Bill Simpson, Buffalo goes for the best safety available. Choice — Clemson S Terry Kinard.

13. Detroit — The Lions could use help at running back and wide receiver so they choose a player who can perform at both spots. Choice — Arkansas WR Gary Anderson.

14. Buffalo (from Cleveland) — Bills still

Choice — Arkansas wat Gary Anderson.

14. Buffalo (from Cleveland) — Bills still skeptical over Shane Nelson's status after continual knee problems and decide to take exciting LB prospect. Choice — Arizona State LB Vernon Maxwell.

1.B Vernon Maxwell.
15. New England — The Patriots wanted either Eason or Kelly but must settle for best WR left. Choice — Tennessee WR Willie Gault, 16. Atlanta — The Falcons will shift from a 34 to a 4-3 alignment under new coach Dan Henning and they're looking for another pass rusher. Choice — Alabama DE Mike Pitts.

17. St. Louis — The Cardinals needed a defensive back desperately even before Roger Wehrli retired. Choice — McNeese State CB Leonard Smith.

18. Chicago (from Tampa Bay) — The Bears haven't opened up inside holes in years and Coach Mike Ditka wants some more protection for QB Jim McMahon. Choice — Nebraska C Dave Rimington.

19. Minnesota — Vikings also looking for

19. Minnesota — Vikings also looking for offensive—ting—help—and—another—Southern California stud is difficult to pass up. Choice— Southern Cal T Dan Mosebar.

20. Baltimore (from San Diego) — Kush means business about rebuilding the offensive line. Choice — Pittsburgh T Jimbo Covert. —21. Pittsburgh — With Lynn Swann-retiref-and Jim Smith in the USFL, the Steelers need and Jim Smith in the USF1, the Steelers need breathing room for John Stallworth, Choice --Mississippi State WR Glen Young. 22. Baltimore (from San Diego thru San Francisco) — The Colts now turn to defensive help. Choice — Southern Cal S Joey Browner.

23. Dallas — The Cowboys aren't happy with Harvey Martin's recent play and don't havelaith in backup Larry Bethea. Choice Arizona State DE Jim Jeffcoat.

23. New York Jets — Club superscout MikeHickey says this is the year of the QB and theJets join the party. Choice — Pittsburgh QB.
Dan Marino. 25. Cincinnati — Ken Riley enters his 15th season and the Bengals had few roars out of the secondary last year. Choice — Pittsburgh CB Tim Lewis.

26. Los Angeles Raiders — Cliff Branch can't go on forever and Al Davis looking for big-play replacement. Choice — Fresno State WR Henry Ellard.

27. Miami — The Dolphins could use some-beef at defensive line and they see an intrigu-ing prospect.—Choice — Texas Tech DT. Gabriel Rivera.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Tom Meyer, son of DePaul basketball Coach Ray Meyer, Friday won at least a temporary victory in his quest to remain coach at the University of Illinois at Chicago.
Meyer was fired as coach April 15 and assigned to other Athletic Department duties. He filed sult in Cook County Circuit Court Thursday, and Judge David J. Shields Issue a 10-day temporary restraining order preventing Meyer's dismissal and scheduled a hearing next month.
Meyer said the university failed to list specific charges against him in his dismissal elter. Several players, however, had complained Meyer ignored their academic problems.
"It think the fundamental right of due process must be afforded to him." Shields said in Issuing the restraining order.
University attorneys argued staff and faculy are routinely reassigned without court involvement. But Shields said Meyer's case is unique because there is only one position of head basketball coach.

The "dinkers and dunkers" face the mental overachievers tonight at Pontiac, Mich.
That's the way Michigan Panthers Coach Jim Stanley views his team's game against the Los Angeles Express. Both teams are coming off upsets, with Michigan upending Chicago 17-12 last week and Los Angeles surprising Tampa Bay 18-13. "They dink and dunk a lot." was Stanley's description of Los Angeles Coach Hugh Campbell's offense. "They're going to complete a lot of short passes on us."

Michigan, 3-4. Is riding a two-game winning streak after losing four straight.

Michigan, 34. Is riding a two-game winning streak after losing four straight.

"Consistency is what you look for." Stanley said. "In this league, everything is so equal if you let down you're going to get beat. You've got to play at least to the level of your ability every week.

"I think last week (agains Chicago) we played over our level o our ability, at least mentally." h
