Poison from X-ray film sought

Chicago Sun-Times — Cyanide-contaminated plastic chips may be stored at more Chicago area sites than originally disclosed and may have been moved within the last two days, authorities said Friday.

As they began tracking down leads to the possible "hot spots" for the highly toxic material, officials urged the public from the toxic plastic chips — residue from reprocessed X-ray film — stored at nine known locations, but left unanswered the problem of disposing of them.

"All the trucks have been moved, who's moving them is the company (that produced the waste) because of function," that's what we'd like to know," Illinois Attorney General Neil P. Hartigan said.

Investigators said they hope that officials of Film Recovery Systems Corp., the suburban Elk Grove Village firm that produced the tainted chips and one of the firms being sued by the state, will help them pinpoint the remaining sites. One suspected site is an unidentified suburban Franklin Park warehouse.

Motorist says he's two people

MOORESTOWN, N.J. (UPI) — State police have twice handed out speeding tickets to a motorist who drives from the passenger seat at speeds up to 90 mph and claims to have a split personality.

"He was originally stopped Monday night up in Chesterfield Township and was clocked going 90 (mph)," Trooper L. Gilbert said Friday.

The trooper stopped him and he was sitting in the passenger seat and he said he had a split personality," Gilbert said. "He said the other guy was driving."

The trooper gave the man, identified as Mario Maldonado, 23, of Philadelphia, two tickets and had the car impounded. Mario Maldonado allegedly was driving without a license.

But Maldonado got the car, a Pontiac Firebird, back and was stopped Friday, again after allegedly whizzing up the New Jersey Turnpike at nearly 90 mph.

"We don't know how he got his car back and he was stopped again today. He got stopped up to him he was already out of the car," Gilbert said.

Rebels chased into Honduras

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Rebels invading Nicaragua from across the northern border suffered heavy losses, with two tank forces fleeing back to Honduras, the official Sandinista newspaper said in its Friday edition.

A Sandinista official, Javier Carrion, said the official Sandinista newspaper carried a news conference that the two tank forces chased back to Honduras in the last two months totaled 400 men.

"They are waiting for instructions to infiltrate the area of operations, which is what the enemies of our people call the valleys and mountains where they have planned the second invasion," Carrion said.

Barricada said the rebel forces of the Democratic Nicaraguan Front, known as the FDN, had suffered 243 dead and 60 wounded. Twelve were taken prisoner in fighting the last two months in northern Zelaya and Nueva Segovia provinces, the paper said.

Nicaragua has accused the CIA of training and supporting the rebels, who two months ago claimed to have sent "thousands" of fighters into northern Nicaragua to topple the leftist Sandinista government.

Soviet paper says U.S. 'cheats'

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Communist Party newspaper Pravda said Friday agreement would be possible at the Geneva arms reduction talks, which resume Tuesday, if the United States would stop trying to "cheat" the Soviets.

In the publicly buildup to the renewal of the talks on medium-range missiles, the newspaper characterized progress to date as "far from heartening."

"There is a chance to reach agreement in Geneva because there is an objective basis for it," Pravda said. "The only thing needed is the desire to work out a mutually acceptable solution rather than to cheat the partner."

The talks broke up March 29 and negotiators went home to consult with their governments. The Soviet delegation returns to Geneva Saturday, followed by U.S. negotiator Paul Nitze and the U.S. delegation Sunday.

Highway 21 open for summer

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho Division of Transportation officials said State Highway 21 has been reopened for the summer between Lowman and Stanley.

Spokesmen said Friday highway crews had finished removing about three inches of ice and slush from the pavement between Banner Summit and Stanley.

The highway is closed annually between Grandjean and the 7,000-foot peak because of 20-foot-deep snowdrifts and rolling debris make the road impassable, officials said. The closure normally extends from December through May.

Spokesmen said the road is in good condition, but motorists were cautioned that rolling rock might pose a hazard between Idaho City and Stanley.

More convicts killed in unrest

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI) — San Quentin's 1,300 inmates were fed in their locked cells Friday during a shake-down at the prison where three convicts were killed and 11 others injured in two separate outbreaks of violence.

A fourth convict was slain by other prisoners at Folsom Prison near Sacramento in what authorities regarded as an isolated personal vendetta.

At San Quentin, guards searched the second tier of a cellblock where two prisoners were fatally stabbed Thursday. They found makeshift weapons used in the attack. Earlier the same day a 24-year-old robber from San Francisco was killed in an exercise yard when he was hit over the head with a 45-pound dumbbell.

Prison spokesman Percy Massey said a tight lockdown was imposed to allow temps to cool off and 80 guards could conduct searches of some cells and individuals for weapons and contraband.

Massacre of civilians denied

By MICHAEL W. DRUDGE

United Press International

TEJUTEPEQUE, El Salvador — Survivors of a fierce guerrilla attack on a pro-government town Friday disputed claims by army officers and the Pentagon that 16 male civilians were executed by the guerrillas.

Rodriguez Murcia had told UPI in a telephone interview earlier Friday that guerrillas "massacred 16 civilians, all of them men," captured after a ferocious rebel assault with automatic rifles, machine guns and mortars on the town of 600 residents.

Pentagon spokesmen Thursday said rebels carried with them a purported "hit list" of victims who were singled out and killed. Rodriguez Murcia said the "executions" occurred in the town plaza on Sunday afternoon after rebels captured Cingquera in a 12-hour battle.

But Vacarcia Molina, 45, a survivor of the attack, said "nothing more happened during the rest of the day" after rebels gained control late Sunday morning.

"All those who died, died in the trenches," said Mrs. Molina, who with about eight other Cingquera families has taken refuge on the sidewalks of Tejuetepeque.

"She said her 25-year-old son Juan was among the about 40 civil defense men in the town who died in the battle."

"They treated us well," she said, referring to the guerrillas. She said the rebels gathered survivors together in the town plaza of Cingquera for a political rally after the fighting stopped.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman said a U.S. military representative who visited Cingquera "was informed that 24 of the 40 male resident members of the local civil defense were killed, including the commander."

"They were armed with only seven weapons," he said.

"At least 10 soldiers and members of the civil defense who surrendered after a six-hour fire fight had their thumbs tied behind their backs and were executed," the spokesman said.

Responses also were "fairly divided" over the question of location. Shaub said "A lot of people didn't think it made much difference," but his main concern, she said, was that a new pool be convenient and centrally located.

The pool advisory committee is due to make a report to City Council before the end of the month.

Council has indicated that if broad support for construction of a new pool were found, it would appoint a finance committee to study particular projects and fund-raising methods.

Pool

Most of those who responded in opposition simply checked the "no" box. Some, however, said they felt the recent failure of the Twin Falls School District bond issue should serve as an indication that a pool is not important enough to raise taxes for, Shaub said.

On other matters addressed in the questionnaire there was less unanimity.

A difference of opinion was evident as to whether taxes or a community fund-raising drive would provide the best method for raising money.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan has pardoned Eugenio Martinez, one of five men convicted for the 1972 burglary of Democratic national headquarters at the Watergate office building, administration sources said Friday night.

Administration officials told United Press International Reagan signed the pardon for Martinez Wednesday. "It was understood Martinez has a clean record other than the break-in and that he is regarded as the least culpable of the original defendants. A pardon would clear Martinez' record and allow him to vote.

There was no indication from the administration sources that Reagan would consider pardoning any of the other Watergate conspirators.

Martinez was sentenced to one to four years in prison for the June 17, 1972, burglary that eventually led to the resignation of President Richard Nixon on Aug. 9, 1974. Martinez served 15 months of the sentence before being paroled in January 1974. He is now sales manager of a car dealership in Miami.

Nixon was given an unconditional pardon for any possible crimes by this successor, President Gerald Ford.

Reached at home in Miami, Martinez told UPI: "I can tell you that I heard that but I don't know if it is true. I haven't been able to confirm it. This is a very important thing in my life, and I don't want to talk about it until it is confirmed.

Martinez, 60, was a locksmith before he was jailed.

His attorney, Ellis Rubin, told UPI he filed the pardon request for Martinez in early 1978 and also petitioned for a pardon for Frank Sturgis, one of the other convicted burglars.

"I'm thrilled for him, because I believe that all the time that he felt he was working for the White House," Rubin said. "I thought his sentence was way out of line. I think the White House should have admitted from the start that they (the Cubans) were working for the White House. Nixon let everybody down by not coming out with the truth."

CBS News reported Reagan is expected to announce the pardon during his trip to Miami next Friday.

Evans criticized on funding move

BOISE (UPI) — Two Republican members of the Idaho Board of Examiners say they are considering using the panel's authority to negate efforts by Gov. John Evans to restore $4.2 million in funding for higher education, vocational training and agriculture research.

Secretary of State Pete Conrussa and Attorney General Jim Jones said Friday they are examining the option of using their two-thirds strength on the panel to override the wishes of his third member — Democrat Evans.

However, both men emphasized they have not yet reached any final decision on action to take when the board meets next Tuesday.

Evans on Thursday said he would restore $3 million to colleges and universities, $600,000 to vocational education and $600,000 to ag research to bolster program spending during the next fiscal year.

The governor withheld funds from the programs earlier in the current fiscal year to ease a state revenue shortfall. But he said recent reports from the Idaho Tax Commission that the state will end FY 1983 on June 30 with an extra $19 million make it possible to return some of the money held back from the agencies.

The restorations would bring program budgets up to the level sought by Evans when he called lawmakers into special session May 9. However, members of the GOP-controlled House and Senate adjourned after passing the same allocations voted earlier by the chief executive.

Conrussa said he is concerned the governor is moving to increase budgets at a time when Idaho faces the issuance of tax anticipation notes to raise revenue.

"Anything we can save and does not have to be spent should be saved and not spent so the state does not have to rely on tax anticipation notes to the full extent," the Republican said.

Swan Falls license waits in wings

BOISE (UPI) — The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission is taking longer than usual to process Idaho Power Co. a request for a Swan Falls Dam operating license while the utility and the state negotiate conflicts over Snake River water rights, an agency attorney says.

FERC staff attorney Don Clarke said this week he does not know when the "federal panel" will issue an extension of the utility's license because of the complex problems raised by water rights at the southern Idaho dam.

FERC initially granted the utility authority to continue operating its hydroelectric facilities near Murphy, but Gov. John Evans later asked federal officials for limitations in the license.

Evans asked FERC to place a "subordination" clause in the license that would have placed the utility's right to water for hydroelectric generation below irrigation needs.

"It's a fairly extraordinary situation where a state has requested to subordinate the water rights of a licensee of a project," Clarke said.

He said federal commission members are "well aware" of the water rights controversy brewing in Idaho but they have not indicated whether they will continue postponing action until the problems are resolved.

"It could take some time," he said. "It's something that requires serious deliberations by the staff and the commission."

Evans made his request to FERC after a state Supreme Court ruling said Idaho Power Co. had the right to 8,400 cubic feet per second at the dam.

WPPSS loan default seems likely

RICHMOND, Wash. (UPI) — The Washington Public Power Supply System executive board agreed Friday it will be in default on its two terminated nuclear projects by May 31 unless money is released from special court-established escrow accounts.

The budget for the abandoned plants, projects 4 and 5, to cover any future administrative costs, including anticipated legal actions against WPPSS.

That would leave virtually nothing left to make the next monthly interest payment of $15.7 million on the $2.25 billion worth of outstanding bonds for the two plants.

revenue fund to the bond fund trustee would violate the resolution under which the bonds were issued "and would almost certainly result in a notice of default by the trustee or bondholders."

Carl Halvorsen, executive board chairman, said it was imperative that the supply system set aside enough money to defend itself against any lawsuits that might be generated over default on projects 4 and 5.

Business leaders question economic signs

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (UPI) — America's business leaders warned Friday that prospects of $200 billion federal budget deficits threaten chances for a sustained economic recovery and make companies reluctant to rehire jobless workers.

Treasury Secretary Donald Regan told reporters after addressing the executives that although huge deficits do not endanger the economy immediately, by 1985 they could force a return to a "very strict monetary policy" and "endanger recovery."

Reagan cajoles congressmen on MX

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan called two dozen congressmen to the White House Friday to try to persuade them to join members of two key committees who dropped opposition to the MX missile and approved $225 million in development funds.

Hunter said the administration's decision to compromise on arms control and to seek advice and support from both Democrats and Republicans on the controversial MX issue has created "a new spirit in Congress."

Reagan is using the same kind of personal lobbying—mixing White House prestige with personal charm well," said Rep. William Hughes, D-N.J., one of about 30 members Congress to meet with Reagan Friday. But Hughes said he remains undecided.

"I plan to vote for the MX as do many Democrats," said Rep. Carroll Hubbard, D-N.Y., who joined in a vote Friday to deny Reagan $50 million for engineering studies and $65 million for flight testing.

With the makeup of the House changed and the GOP margin in the Senate cut by the November elections, Reagan has continued to suffer such legislative defeats. His handling of the MX issue could signal a new willingness on his part to bring Congress closer to decision-making.

The House Defense Appropriations Subcommittee voted 9-3 to approve a resolution releasing the MX funds Wednesday after Reagan pledged in writing to nine House members that he will follow the recommendations of his bipartisan Commission on Strategic Forces and pursue a new and more flexible policy on control of strategic nuclear weapons.

McClure wins votes on payments to counties

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate committee Friday approved an amendment by Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, that would ensure payment of about $36 million in federal revenue to about 1,700 counties or their equivalent local governments.

The money would go to the counties under the payment-in-lieu-of-taxes "PILT" program, which Mc-Clure said became bogged down in confusion because of a recent U.S. Appeals Court ruling.

"This money is desperately needed by local governments who are responsible for distributing PILT money in their areas," said McClure, chairman of the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee. He said the panel's action would "end the confusion." Under the court ruling, the Interior Department would be required to pay the money to the smallest units of local governments in areas receiving a share of revenues from federal lands not included in their tax base.

McClure said the ruling conflicts with a 1976 congressional agreement that the funds should go to county governments or their equivalent rather than to the smallest government units.

The court decision, he said, would make it "impossible" for the department to distribute PILT funds during the current fiscal year ending Sept. 30.

Friday the 13th worries few, intrigues many

By United Press International

Friday the 13th just isn't the same anymore, with folks tampering the joys at the gaming tables and black cats getting free trips to New York.

Even the writer of the horror picture "Friday the 13th" is with the dread date with impunity is laughing all the way to the bank.

The only heurter note "for believers" was a report from the head of the Short Term Psychotherapy Unit at the New York University Medical Center.

"We said the truly superstitious folk still were immobilized by the day."

"Some people develop such a severe case of triskaldekaphobia on Friday the 13th that they refuse to budget from the safe confines of their homes," said Dr. Robert T. London.

"On a bad luck day, people are apt to postpone major decisions and ventures to another day because they are afraid that anything and everything can go wrong."

Officials at Atlantic City's casinos said 1983's only Friday the 13th didn't hurt betting a bit.

"People talk about it, but there's no change in play," said Resorts International spokesman Phillip Wechsler.

Hijack first by lone woman

MIAMI (UPI) — A sarong-clad woman who hijacked a Capitol Air DC-8 to Cuba was the first female to commandeer a jetliner alone, and she used a fatal .516 flare gun that defied metal-detection officials said Friday.

"The Thursday hijacking marked the second time in as many weeks the same Capitol Air San Juan-to-Miami flight was diverted to Fidel Castro's communist island. No one was injured in either incident, but officials said it was unlikely either hijacker would be returned to the United States for punishment.

The barefoot, turbaned woman pointed the flare gun, made mostly of plastic, at "flight attendant" Kathy Lardiere's stomach and announced the weapon would "do the job."

After learning the hijacker was armed, pilot Vincent Brusco headed the big DC-8 for Cuba, and the 48 people aboard made an unscheduled 1/2-hour stop at Havana, where many of them shopped for cigars and souvenirs.

The hijacker, who said she was unhappy with the United States, had given her name only as "Sharon." and the FBI said it has been unable to further identify her. She was described as an attractive, articulate, black woman in her late 20s or early 30s, who spoke unaccented English and some Spanish, and probably was college educated.

Cuban authorities took her into custody immediately after the flight landed in Havana.

Jack Barker, spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration, said it was the first time a lone woman had hijacked a jetliner. In the past, he said, women hijackers worked in groups.

On May 11, the same Capitol San Juan-to-Miami flight was hijacked by a man who claimed to have both a bomb and a gun. That flight, like the one Thursday, returned safely to Miami.

Experts described the 12-gauge flare gun the woman used as effective, inexpensive and easy to smuggle.

"It's a terrific weapon. It would have created quite a havoc if she had used it," said Jim Savall, spokesman for Land'n'Sea Distributing, which sells flare guns to marine dealers throughout the Florida area.

The weapon contains a metal trigger mechanism, metal impact pin and brass-butted shells, Savall said.

Scouts save city funds, toil in weeds

By BOB FREUND
Times-News writer

It's hard, sweaty work, rooting those stubborn tufts of weeds out of the soil, yanking dandelions and plucking up garbage. "We didn't think it would be as big a job as it is," says David Clifton, his hand wrapped around a hoe.

That may be one of the lessons the 16-year-old is supposed to learn on the way to his Eagle Scout rank, the highest a Boy Scout can attain.

Clifton, fellow members of United Methodist Church Troop 67 and a few recruited friends are rooting and yanking on 3,000 square feet of city-owned land at Five Points West, the intersection where Addison Avenue, Washington Street and Main Avenue meet.

Last year, the city spent $300 in wages clearing out the junk—and lending to the low-lying evergreens there, says Arnold Bryson, the city's superintendent of parks and recreation.

This year, Clifton, who lives at 259 Rim View Drive in rural Twin Falls, and his troop are doing the job free. They started work Thursday with a small contingent. Today, reinforcements will arrive to finish off the four parcels of land involved, says Clifton, who is directing the operation.

Frank Mogensen, the troop's Scoutmaster, suggested the project as one requirement for Clifton's Eagle Scout ranking, the blond Scout says. On the way, he has raised rabbits, worked on forestry techniques, learned some personal finance and demonstrated lifesaving lessons, among other exercises. It takes 21 merit badges plus the community-service project to merit the rank, says Clifton, who has been in Scouting for five years.

"You really have to push yourself because it's not easy," he says. And not everybody makes it.

But he says he has stuck with Scouting because he likes being with friends his age, learning new things and being outdoors.

"You'll be able to find him outdoors today at Five Points West with about 11 or 12 friends—some younger and some older. When they're done, the city will have a nicely landscaped entry to the west end of the downtown district. And after earning another six merit badges, Clifton plans to receive his Eagle Scout ranking this summer."

One more note. Even though Five Points West is done, Bryson says there's always another job in the hopper — if any enthusiastic volunteers want to work up a sweat for the city.

Local teacher wins election

Named vice-president of IEA

By HARRIET GUTHERTZ
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Connie Hutchison, a fifth-grade teacher at Morningstar Elementary School in Twin Falls, will serve as the next vice president of the Idaho Educational Association.

Hutchison, 27, beat out Bill Hjort of Coeur d'Alene by a 2,442 to 2,203 vote margin, according to an IEA announcement Friday.

A strong showing in Twin Falls, Boise and Pocatello helped her pull off the narrow victory.

Under IEA election rules, Hutchison will serve as vice president for the 1983-84 school year, before assuming the presidency in September 1984. She will continue teaching during her vice presidential year, and then move to Boise to serve as president.

Hutchison, who is a Wisconsin native, holds a degree from the University of Wisconsin at Eau Claire. She has been teaching in Twin Falls since 1977.

After participating in contract negotiations in 1977, Hutchison served as president of the Twin Falls Education Association from 1979-81. She then became active at the regional and state level.

As IEA vice president, Hutchison expects to be active in political work. She will interview candidates running in the 1984 election to determine their views on education. She will work with Terry Haagard, the incoming president, to develop a public-relations program.

Although the Legislature refused to respond to IEA pleas for higher spending for schools during its recent special session, Hutchison said teachers have to continue with their political activities.

Hutchison says that she doubts that the IEA's political strategy will backfire and set off a negative reaction toward teachers. People realize that activities teachers are also high-caliber professionals, she says. They are working full-time in the classroom in addition to participating in IEA activities.

For the next three years, Hutchison also will sit on the IEA board of trustees and serve as an Idaho delegate to National Education Association events. She will travel to Philadelphia for the NEA convention in July.

Hutchison attributes her victory to a well-organized campaign.

"I wouldn't have run without the strong support of the Twin Falls Education Association."

Stockpiled cheese mostly allocated

TWIN FALLS — The 33,000 pounds of government surplus cheese earmarked for the Magic Valley are almost gone.

The South Central Community Action Agency is distributing the free cheese Tuesday through Thursday to low-income families. And the supply of American-processed cheese was exhausted at most of the distribution sites throughout the Magic Valley.

The remaining scheduled distribution will take place Monday at the Richfield Senior Citizen Center from 1 to 3 p.m. Carol Cllett, the agency's services coordinator, says she does not know how many pounds will be available there.

Also, she has not tallied all the information from the various locations where area residents received the cheese this week. Except for the remaining Richfield allotment, there are approximately 300 pounds of the cheese left in Blaine County, she says. Community Action will disperse the cheese in that area to persons such as homeless senior citizens who were unable to come to the distribution site.

Cllett says there were no problems with the distribution, although some lines may have been longer than last year. This year, there were fewer places where the cheese was given away.

The SCCAA staff enjoys the distribution, Cllett says, because the process is quick, and many low-income families receive good nutritional food.

The agency is not finished giving away food to eligible families in June or July. SCCAA will disperse several tons of rice and instant milk.

The cheese was part of a surplus created by federal price-support programs for dairy products.

School readies for exam

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

JEROME — The Jerome school system will host a junior-high fair Monday evening to give the public an inside view of the workings of the school.

A highlight of the event will be a visit by Walt Disney, the author of "Gentle Ben" and several other widely read children's stories.

He will be in the junior-high library to autograph copies of his books and to meet with educators, students and parents.

Karen Fraley, a staff development consultant for the Jerome schools, says the fair is the first of its type for a junior high in Magic Valley as far as she knows.

She says the fair was undertaken as part of the new image the district is attempting to build for the junior high.

"Not that there was anything all that wrong with the old image," she says, "but this is one of our more visible schools, as it is nearly in the center of town."

"We want to correct the belief of many people that junior-high school students are at a difficult age and are therefore problem students and are nothing more than stepchildren to the senior-high school students."

The fair, she says, is designed to let residents know what goes on in the school and to demonstrate the teaching programs and abilities of the youngsters.

There will be balloons and free popcorn, and refreshments. See FAIR on Page A6.

Zoning commission

Get-tough policy approved for zoning violations

By MARTY TRILJAASE
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — County zoning officials have adopted a get-tough policy toward rural residents who ignore zoning and building-code requirements.

Twin Falls County Planning and Zoning Commission members voted Thursday night to approve an ordinance that would prohibit utilities from installing service to structures that do not have building permits.

The board also indicated it may prosecute a Twin Falls man who placed a mobile home on his rural property without county authorization.

No one spoke against the proposed ordinance at a public hearing held before the meeting. The proposed ordinance requires the approval of the county commissioners, who will hold a second public hearing on the issue.

Zoning administrator Ervin Wilkins said the proposal will enable zoning officials and the county assessor to identify violators prior to the time that the structures are occupied. He said he is aware of at least four or five violators.

The ordinance also will aid the county assessor in developing tax rolls, he said. Both county offices lack the funds to adequately patrol rural areas, Wilkins said.

"It will give us a little more control on this," he said.

Board members had a more difficult time dealing with Marvin Sears' request for permission to do what he already has done — divide one acre from his six-acre parcel, located 1.5 miles southeast of the Amalgamated Sugar

Co plant.

Sears said zoning officials first learned a year ago that Sears had placed a mobile home on the smaller parcel. Sears did so without securing permission from the zoning board and without obtaining a building permit, Wilkins said.

The county's zoning policy requires zoning board approval as a way to control residential encroachment in agricultural areas.

During a public hearing Thursday, Sears told the zoning board that he eventually will build a house on the parcel. No one rose from the audience to speak against the request. But zoning board member Lyle Frazier of Twin Falls said he was concerned that approval of the request might send out the wrong signals to violators.

"This isn't the only one. We have seen this several times in the last few months," Frazier said.

Whatever action the board takes "should be severe enough to get their attention," he said.

Frazier's comments were echoed by board member Max Reeder of Buhl, who contended that "the only way we're going to stem this thing is to make an example of someone and let the word get out."

Board members have three options in the case: attach a penalty to the approval, attach restrictive stipulations to the approval or oppose it entirely.

No final decision was made Thursday, however. Instead, board members tabled the request and will seek a review of the case by the county prosecutor.

Company ponders repairing 75-year-old canals

By HAT BERNTON
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Canal Co. has authorized a new study to pinpoint the best way to begin the multimillion-dollar job of rehabilitating its aging canal system.

The action came at a meeting of the 75-year-old company's board of directors earlier this week.

The study will be carried out by CH2M Hill, the national engineering firm that presented the board in April with a seven-month study that analyzed the current condition of the main and High Line canal systems.

That report concluded that the canal system may require $61 million worth of repair and maintenance work if it is to continue to serve its farm customers in the years to come. And it outlined several different ways to go about fixing the canal.

The new study will single out the best way to begin a long-term canal rehabilitation project and figure out if there are any federal funds that could help finance the massive project.

"The study will identify these things that need immediate attention," says CH2M's Michael Mickelson. "And it will set forth a program that can achieve a certain specific set of goals."

Additional new studies will find out how much water the canal system loses each year, and how much water is recaptured, as irrigation waters from the High Line canal drain down to the Low Line canal. And a final report will prepare a plan for replacing rotted-out spillways at Murtaugh Dam.

Canal company board Chairman Maurice Klaas says a $30,000 maximum has been placed on engineering fees to carry out these spring-summer studies and that "at least for the moment — no water-fee increases are contemplated."

However, Klaas says that over the long run, water fees are near certain to increase. The board must cope both with the costs of maintaining the canal system and also with the costs involved in rebuilding the Snake River's Teton Dam, which stores 30,000 acre-feet of canal company water.

According to Klaas, the canal company probably will have to kick in a share of an estimated $80 million dollar reconstruction job at Teton Dam.

In a separate item of concern, Klaas reports that many farm-shareholders are failing to adequately clean out the weeds from their irrigation ditches. This is making it increasingly difficult to carry out scheduled water deliveries. Klaas urges all shareholders to do their part to keep the weeds under control, and if they are having problems, they should contact the canal company for assistance.

Chamber of Commerce heats up with early morning fire

TWIN FALLS — Betty Zuck got a face full of smoke when she opened the door at the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce on Friday morning.

She slammed it shut and hurried through the alley to turn in an alarm.

"When I went by the window, I saw the flames," she said. She also had to step around glass blown out by the heat of the fire.

It was a disquieting way to start Friday, the 13th for Zuck and her boss, chamber executive director Mike Dolton. He had been out early, trying to impress a scout for an industrial prospect. He arrived to find firefighters airing out the smoke-blacked offices.

"Well, we needed a new office, anyway," he joked before checking the damage.

The fire was confined to one office, but black smoke and soot covered much of the rest of the headquarters, Dolton said later.

The small blaze apparently started in an electrical outlet beneath a blown-out window, said Dale Platt, a battalion chief for the Twin Falls Fire Department. It apparently had smoldered in the wallboard for about an hour before igniting the curtains, burning its way across office manager Nikke Gambrel's desk and scorching the doors, he said. No one was in the building at the time, Platt said.

If the fire had flared earlier in the morning hours, it might have gutted much of the office before being discovered, he said.

The chamber office was closed all day Friday. Dolton said he expects it to reopen Monday morning.

Filer 'impact' hearing set

TWIN FALLS — A public hearing will be held Monday on an "area of impact" for Filer.

Filer is the only city in Twin Falls County without an impact area.

Discussions are at a preliminary stage, and no details have been worked out.

"First, we've got to get them to go along with the idea. Then we can discuss boundaries," says county Commissioner Marvin Hempleman.

The public hearing will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the county judicial building. It will serve as an informational session — as city and county officials attempt to define the scope of the proposed area.

Under Idaho law, cities can exercise zoning control over land outside their city limits if it is designated as an area of impact. Counties must agree to the size of the area, but as a general rule, those areas involve lands within a mile radius of the city limits.

City zoning jurisdiction does not extend to parcels of agricultural land of at least 20 acres.

Port of entry expands office

HOLLISTER — Construction crews are one to two weeks away from completing an office expansion and remodeling project at the Hollister port of entry.

The work, estimated to cost about $15,000 to $20,000, will provide insulation and energy-saving improvements, as well as provide more space for the office.

Port-of-entry employees have been working in a temporary trailer office since construction began a month ago.

State Division of Highway crews are working on the project as time and other projects permit.

"If we don't get other work, we should be out of there in another week," says project coordinator Jack Morris, of the highway division's Shoshone office.

"Otherwise, it could be another two weeks."

Added space for the port of entry reflects the county's increased responsibilities, Morris says. For example, the port now issues truck-overload and extra-wide traffic permits. In the past, state highway officials issued the permits.

Port officials also plan to use the added space to install a teletype machine to give them direct access to state motor-vehicle registration records in Boise, Morris says.

Mishap involves young driver

HAZELTON — A 14-year-old driver was cited for driving too fast for conditions following a one-car accident Friday near Hazelton, which resulted in minor injuries to his passenger.

According to an Idaho State Police officer, James Johnson, 14, of Hazelton, lost control of the vehicle he was driving on a county road, a quarter-mile south and a quarter-mile east of the Valley Cafe in Hazelton, about 1:42 p.m.

Johnson's vehicle left the road, flew 19 feet through the air and rolled over one and a half times, striking a camper shell alongside the road and coming to rest on its side.

The passenger, Charles Cramline, 15, of Paul, was ejected from the vehicle. He was taken to Magic Valley Regional Medical Center in Twin Falls, where he was treated and released.

ISP officials said Johnson's vehicle and the camper shell were demolished. Why the camper shell was located where it was is unknown.

Filer man to be honored

TWIN FALLS — Brian Lancaster of Filer will be honored for his volunteer activities during ceremonies Monday at the Twin Falls County 4-H office.

Lancaster is one of six Idaho citizens to win the 1983 People Helping People in the Northwest Distinguished Volunteer Awards, presented by the Northwest Region of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

Bernard E. Kelly, HIS regional director, says Lancaster was chosen "for his outstanding dedication and voluntary help as a counselor and director to 4-H camp youth. Through his efforts, over 500 economically and socially deprived young people have been helped."

Lancaster served as a camp counselor while a member of 4-H. After turning 18, he stayed on to become adult director of the camp.

Wilma Southwick of the local 4-H office says Lancaster has provided "significant assistance" in the operation of the camp, and she says his enthusiasm for his work was a major factor in the success of the camp.

Two Jerome men plea innocent

JEROME — Two young Jerome men appeared in Fifth District Magistrate Court this week to enter innocent pleas.

Phillip Weeks, 20, of Route 2, pleaded innocent to taking an Easter Seal canister and its contents from the Jerome Safeway store on March 21.

The public defender has been appointed to defend him.

Timothy Jay Davis, 22, of 328 W. G. St., pleaded innocent to two counts of possession of a controlled substance — marijuana and LSD.

Trial dates for the two men will be set later.

Tires, wheels taken in theft

JEROME — Gerald D. Wagner, 61, 10th St. in Jerome, told Jerome police this week that someone entered an unlocked storage building on his property and removed about $750 worth of merchandise.

He said the theft occurred sometime within the past few weeks and was discovered Wednesday morning.

Taken were four studded snow tires and wheels, and one rototiller, as well as a number of smaller items.

Police make arrest for stabbing

TWIN FALLS — A traffic stop has led to the arrest of a Gooding man for a nearly three-month-old stabbing incident, Twin Falls police say.

Charged with aggravated battery is 21-year-old Mario Flores, who gave his address as the Gulley Ranch in Gooding. Flores was arraigned Thursday in Fifth District Magistrate Court.

He remained in the Twin Falls County Jail on Friday, in lieu of $10,000 bail.

Police say Flores stabbed another man on Feb. 26 in the 200 block of Second Avenue South in Twin Falls. The victim was treated at Magic Valley Regional Medical Center.

At the time, police named Flores as a possible suspect. But it was not until May 6, when police stopped one of the defendant's companions on a traffic offense, that they issued a warrant for Flores' arrest.

The companion, an illegal alien, issued a statement to police implicating Flores in the stabbing, police say.

The public defender has been appointed to represent Flores, who is also an illegal alien. Flores has requested a preliminary hearing into the charge.

Handicapped man gets jail term

By MARTY TRILLHAESE
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A handicapped Twin Falls man will spend eight days in jail for violating his probation.

But for his own protection, 32-year-old Larry Ek of 428 Fifth St. W., will serve that sentence in an isolated jail cell. Judge Theron Ward ruled Friday.

Both of the county's two-man cells were filled Friday, so Ek was allowed to go free until a vacancy occurs.

Normally, the cells are used for the detention of juveniles and for inmate isolation. Most jail inmates are housed in dormitory cells.

Sheriff Jim Munn said one of the smaller cells will not be available until early next week.

Ek's predicament presented a dilemma for Munn and Fifth District Court officials. He suffers from cerebral palsy, and officials were concerned he'd be subjected to abuse if placed with other prisoners.

"He'd be an easy prey for whatever reason," his lawyer, public defender Mike Powers, told The Times-News. "He wouldn't be able to defend himself. Maybe not. But I wouldn't want it on my conscience."

One day before his year-long probation was to have concluded last month, Ek admitted that he had violated it. The probation was imposed in lieu of a two-year prison sentence for Ek's 1982 conviction on charges that he assisted in the sale of marijuana to an undercover narcotics agent.

Idaho Division of Probation and Parole officials filed new charges against Ek when they found him possessing a half-ounce of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Ward's decision pre-empted any formal court arguments Friday. The judge had discussed the case privately with lawyers and Munn.

In an unrelated probation violation case heard Friday, Ward went beyond the recommendations of prosecutors and ordered 23-year-old Michael J. Keller of Arco to spend six months in the county jail.

Ward's decision contained one favorable point from Keller's viewpoint. The judge commuted Keller's previous suspended 15-year prison term to the jail sentence.

Prosecutors had recommended only that Keller serve four months at the North Idaho Correctional Institution at Cottonwood. It was the stiffest recommendation they could make under a plea-bargain arrangement with Keller's lawyer.

Keller fled from his probation supervisors in 1981 after serving a third of a one-year probation for burglary. He said he had lived in the Houston area before returning to Arco in late December.

He was arrested last month in Arco for suspicion of burglarizing Eddy's Bread Thrift Store, at 464 Fourth Ave. W. in Twin Falls.

A co-defendant in the case, 18-year-old Ricky Poulngot, of 474 Russell St., Twin Falls, implicated Keller. Prosecutors had granted immunity to Poulngot in return for his testimony.

The case was dismissed earlier this week for lack of evidence. But there still was the matter of the probation violation.

Ministry is a family affair

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Ministry is a family affair in the Seaman family.

Dale Seaman, 28, the son of a minister, will be ordained this Sunday at the Grace Baptist Church in Twin Falls at 8 p.m.

Seaman is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Seaman. The elder Seaman is the senior pastor at Grace Baptist Church.

The younger Seaman currently is serving as assistant and youth pastor at the church. He also serves as a teacher and coach at the church's Christian Academy, a school for students in grades kindergarten through 11th grade.

Seaman graduated from Bob Jones University in Greenville, S.C. There he received a bachelor of arts degree in Bible and a master's degree in church administration and education.

He then worked as youth pastor for two years at the Hazel Avenue Baptist Church in Sacramento, Calif. For the past three years, he has been serving with his father at Grace Baptist.

Seaman and his wife, Jane, have two sons.

The elder Seaman says he has two other sons who also are involved with advanced church studies.

"It's a personal compulsion that they would be interested after having been raised in a paragon," says Seaman, who will participate in the Sunday ordination service.

His son was recommended for ordination by a council of pastors from different churches in the area. Seaman says. The candidate was quizzed for several hours on various subjects.

The service is open to the public. Grace Baptist is located at 736 Eastland Drive N.

On nuclear war National Council of Churches endorses stand taken by bishops

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The National Council of Churches on Friday ended its four-day governing board meeting by praising the Roman Catholics' bishops' pastoral letter condemning nuclear war.

At the same time, the governing board called for a stronger Protestant and Orthodox commitment to peace-making.

The 266-member governing board, following an address by Roman Catholic Archbishop John R. Quinn of San Francisco, passed a resolution praising the bishops' courage in urging a "new theology of peace" which views nuclear war as a most sinful confrontation with our creator.

Quinn, one of the leaders of the "peace bishops" at last week's meeting, ended his address by praising their 44,000-word statement, which was greeted with a standing ovation by the Protestant and Orthodox religious leaders who make up the National Council.

In a brief address, Quinn highlighted the pastoral letter's contents and told the governing board "my own personal conviction is that it is simply impossible to limit nuclear war."

The governing board's resolution specifically praised the bishops' condemnation of the first use of nuclear weapons and their endorsement of the concept of a nuclear "freeze."

"We wholeheartedly join in the struggle to understand and respond to the challenge of peace for Christians so courageously carried forward by the National Conference of Catholic Bishops," the governing board said in its statement.

The board represents 32 Protestant and Orthodox religious denominations with 40 million members. It has been on record in favor of a nuclear freeze since 1981.

But the board did say it found "severe" and "unresolved" questions in the Catholic statement, including the question of the morality of continuing to possess nuclear weapons in the name of deterrence.

Quinn said the bishops' letter was written out of a sense that "we are the first generation since Genesis with the power to virtually destroy God's creation."

"We can not remain silent in the face of such a danger," he said. One of the most serious problems faced by the bishops in implementing their statement, he said, was "making people realize that nuclear weapons are not just 'bigger bombs' that we used in World War II, but that they are qualitatively different weapons."

What's what

During the 100 years after the death of Napoleon, another book about him was published, on the average, every 36 hours. Claim is now there are more than 10,000 such books worthy of inclusion in a good Napoleonic library. Too bad.

If you consider yourself a grow-up, you've lived through an era of more technological advancement than all the generations before you put together.

Whether Christopher Columbus did or did not discover America is unimportant, some say. What's important is the fact that his first trip got the traffic going. Before 1492, neither one food plant nor one domesticated food animal was common to both the Eastern and Western hemispheres.

BURGERS VS. HOTDOGS

People who habitually eat hamburgers differ from people who habitually eat hotdogs. Or so content scholars who studied this weighty matter in New York City fast-food stops. The hotdogs, they say, are louder, more aggressive and less well dressed. The hamburger eaters are slower in their mustard vs. ketchup decisions.

Q. Did any one voice ever do the Tarzan yell?
 A. Yes--after the early experiments where hogcallers harmonized with baritones to get that effect, the studio found a film cutter who could handle the job alone. He was the father-in-law of one of those Tarzans, Buster Crabbe. His name, Tom Held.

In Jane Fonda's Workout Book is a chapter on "Advanced Buttocks."

HORSESHOES

Q. How come people started hanging up horseshoes for good luck?
 A. Can only surmise. Metal had value. Men hated to throw away anything of value. So they tacked up their useless horseshoes until they could figure out what to do with them. Then found it necessary to invent the goodluck superstition to satisfy all the blithering idiots who asked, "What's that for?"

Physical characteristics of Americans differ by national origin. Scholars say classifications are set for those of German extraction, Italian, English, Spanish, so on. But no classifications distinguishes the Irish.

School boards

Wendell

WENDELL — Wendell schools may be coming into the computer age. High school Principal Charles Meyer asked the school board this week to budget $12,000 for computers for his school. And elementary School Principal Robert Kesler asked the board to budget about $7,000 for two computers for sixth-grade students. Meyer says the initial $12,000 will be used to purchase six computers, terminals and display screens, one printer and all the necessary software for programming. With these computers, the high school could offer a basic one-semester computer literacy course and the "Computer II," a two-semester course to teach further computer use and programming, he said. Meyer estimated that 80 students would take the first course and at least 40 would continue on into the second. "Many of the out-of-state colleges now require computer literacy to even enter," Meyer told the board. This is especially true for engineering colleges, he said. "The computers also would be used in advanced math, physics and chemistry classes, he said. Kesler said the computers for the elementary school "would be used in learning tools to get students functioning with computers." He said all sixth-grade students would be exposed to a beginning computer literacy course and would be taught background terminology. "School board Chairman Jim Campbell said the board will consider the requests.

Cassia

BURLEY — The Cassia County school board has approved a $7.72 million budget for the 1983-84 school year. The figure represents a 4.1 percent increase over last year's budget, according to Superintendent Norman Hurst. It includes a $450,000 maintenance and operation levy and a $300,000 plant-facilities levy that residents will vote on Tuesday. If they do not pass, then the board will have to revise the budget, Hurst said. The board also authorized the sale of $200,000 in tax-anticipation notes to help the district pay its June bills. The shortage was caused by a delay in state payments to public schools.

The Legislature shifted the usual May payment until July to help balance the state's budget.

Although the district will have to keep a close watch on maintenance expenses, Hurst said the Cassia schools could live with the $7.72 million budget. However, there will not be much room for salary increases, he said. In other business at this week's meeting, the board voted to apply for a U.S. Department of Energy grant to replace the "Buckley" High School heating system. The district would pay half of the $120,000 cost if the application is approved.

Blaine

HAILEY — The Blaine County school board has approved a tentative $4.2 million budget for the next fiscal year. But because the Blaine County budget will be based on 1983 assessed property values, a final figure will not be available until September, according to Superintendent Richard Jones. The $4.2 million budget is based on the projected market value. Also at this week's meeting, the board reached a tentative contract settlement with the teachers, which includes a 3.3 percent salary increase. In other business, the board accepted the resignation of Don Hazen, the principal of Hemingway Elementary. Hazen is moving to a school in Washington.

Castleford

CASTLEFORD — The Castleford school board has received word that it will have around $600,000 in revenues for the upcoming school year. Although the projection is only $1,000 below last year's level, Superintendent Edward Schenk says that a reduced amount of state funds will complicate the budgeting problems. The district will not be able to offer more than a 3 percent or 4 percent salary increase to its teachers, he said. However, unlike many other districts, Castleford will not have to borrow money to make it through the year, Schenk said. In other business at this week's school board meeting, Schenk reported that the teachers and the district are close to ending contract negotiations. An agreement on the teachers' requests for additional pay for attending extra college classes and a dental plan still has to be worked out, he said. But Schenk expects a settlement before school ends.

Camas

CAMAS — The Camas County school board has approved a requirement that high-school students earn 48 credits to graduate. Starting next year, students will have to take 28 required classes and 20 electives to earn a diploma, according to Superintendent Harold Stroud. Current credits are required. The district will graduate 13 seniors next Wednesday, May 18, Stroud said. In other business at this week's meeting, the board approved a new high-school business curriculum. The curriculum will involve an individualized approach to business education. Students will work on office procedures, business math and business machines in lab sessions.

Dietrich

DIETRICH — The Dietrich school board has hired two teachers. Jack Altomose of Kimberly was hired this week to teach third and fourth grades, and Tracy Sparks was hired to teach at the primary school. The hirings became necessary when three teachers — Ann Clark, Mark Schmitt and Mace Gleave — declined offers of contracts to return next year. Applications are still being taken for a music teacher. Only one had been received by Monday.

Kimberly

KIMBERLY — A policy establishing pay rates for substitute teachers has been approved by the Kimberly school board. The base rate will be $22.50 per day. After five consecutive days of teaching by the same teacher, the rate will increase to $35. If the teacher is certified in the field in which he is teaching, and if a period of 10 days of teaching for the same teacher elapses, the policy allows the substitute to be paid, according to where he falls on the salary schedule.

"All we're really doing here," said Superintendent George Powell, "is saying that after five days, a substitute is assuming full responsibility for a class." Powell told the board, at its meeting this week that substitutes should be compensated for accepting that responsibility.

The board also decided to apply for a U.S. Department of Energy grant to conduct a study on the junior-high school and the gym.

Scott McClure, of McClure Engineering in Twin Falls, told the board the buildings are heated inefficiently.

"The air in there is being circulated through vertical heat shafts to the attic," he said. The result "is that the lower floors are cold, and the top ones hot."

The energy-conservation program provided by the DOE, McClure said, provides matching funds to qualify existing facilities interested in conservation measures.

In other business, the board also hired Margaret Manning of Hailey for the 1983-84 school year. She will teach first grade. Currently, she is teaching in Bellevue.

Hagerman

HAGERMAN — Kindergarten in Hagerman will be held in the morning instead of the afternoon next year. The school board voted this week to hold the kindergarten class from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. on a trial basis. Superintendent Ken Black said parents requested the change. Currently, the class meets from noon to 3 p.m. In other business at the meeting, school board member Kitty Jones was named to present the diplomas at graduation, which will be held this Tuesday, May 17, at 8 p.m. State Attorney General Jim Jones will be the speaker.

Jerome boys, Wood River girls triumph at A-2 district

JEROME — The mixed Jerome boys won a battle but continued to be defeated in the war Friday night.

Coach Tim Dunne's Tigers walked off with the District A-2 Track and Field championship but the two-week plague of injuries and illness continued and was compounded by their strongest event — the 800-yard relay. Meanwhile, the Wood River girls, with Lisa Bernhagen picking up four championships including a competitive best-6 foot in the high jump, stormed to its division title with sufficient power to be considered a strong contender for next week's state runoffs.

"While Wood River was sailing along in the girls class with no problems, Coach Dunne was seeking shelter after a while. Throat infections kept halfmiler Lance Gines and distance ace Kurt Foote from qualifying in their specialties. Foote didn't attempt it and Gines gave it a try that lasted about 600 meters.

In the 800 relay, Jerome dropped the baton and recovered to come in third — only to be disqualified when the frustrated anchorman threw it again. Senior Barrett Craig missed the qualifying time in the mile by less than a second and will not go to state there. Then Jeff Klingler pulled a hamstring to cap it all.

On a brighter note, the first walking wounded, sprinter Paul Schwager and hurdler Bob Stone, qualified in their specialties despite muscle pulls and will have a week to get stronger for a run at state.

For Wood River it was another show of first places quality. Maureen McGinnis and Michelle Jacques went one-two in the 3200 and the 1000-Dan Cherry and Lori Pascoe doubled up in the 800 and Bernhagen then took over to grab everything from the 100 to the 400. She had a 12.6 in the short one, 25.7 in the furlong and 59.1 in the quarter.

Karl Easton of Buhl took seconds in the shorter ones and Joni James of Jerome was second in the quarter.

Buhl's sprint quartet held up in the relays, taking the 400 and the 800 while Jerome claimed the middle and the 1000 — the latter in a solid 4:08.8.

Bernhagen was expected to have a little company in the high jump but she lost it all at 5-4 where Michelle Bonar of Buhl and Paula Pettinelli of Burley went out.

Pat Corra claimed the weights as expected and Burley won both spots in the long jump.

Eric Schrader gave the Tigers both hurdle titles on a day. Because of the threat to recuperating muscle pulls, Dunne sacrificed some points in the interests of doing better at state.

For instance, when Stone bettered the qualifying standards in the preliminaries for both hurdles, Dunne simply scratched him from the finals, along with Scott Cannedy from the quarter and Andy Gunning and Schwager from the 100-meter dash. This also proved a boon to other area athletes as the two top in each event still advance to state along with the Jerome qualifiers.

But there was nothing wrong with junior Gary Hulseby as he took the weight events at 15.2 in the discus and 56.5 in the shot, well below his season bests but comfortably.

Greg Bartholomew picked up the halfmile, breaking under the two-minute mark, and the 1600. Jerome took three of the relays.

Burley had a double winner in Myles Martell in the short sprints and Ted Willcox was the quartermile champion. Dan Egbert of Burley edged Schwager by a tenth second for the 200 crown.

Most hunt permits hiked; not deer

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho hunters will have more chances this year to bag most big game species, but controlled hunt permits for deer have been reduced by 1,000, spokesmen for the state Fish and Game Commission say.

The commission said Friday to increased controlled hunt permits for elk, moose, antelope, big horn sheep and mountain goats, said spokesman Hugh Wilson.

Opening dates were set for September and October for upland game, and the panel also adjusted elk hunting regulations in a northern Idaho unit east of Moscow.

Wilson said.

Permits for deer were reduced to a total of 6,200. "Part of that problem was created two years ago by the very severe winter and heavy fauna mortality," he said.

But for other species, "the increase in game population supports the recommendation for more permits," he said.

Red-hot Evans, Giants beat Reds, 8-5

By United Press International

The fact that Darrell Evans and the San Francisco Giants are each on a tear at the same time is no coincidence.

Evans, who extended his hitting streak to a career-high 12 games, opened an eight-run fourth with a double and then capped the inning with a two-run homer to lead the Giants to an 8-5 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Friday night.

It was the Giants' eighth win in their last nine games and Evans has 15 hits in his last six games. It was the Reds' seventh loss in their last nine games.

Fred Breining pitched the first seven innings for San Francisco and raised his record to 4-3. Greg Minion worked the final two innings. Ex-homer Rich Gale, who gave up six of the eight runs in the fourth, suffered the loss, and is 3-3.

The Giants opened the fourth with back-to-back doubles by Evans and Chili Davis. Davis moved to third on Jack Clark's groundout. Tom O'Malley walked. Max Venable doubled in Davis and O'Malley advanced to third.

Milt May was intentionally walked to load the bases and then Duane Kuiper singled in O'Malley and Venable. Charlie Folsom relieved Gale and Breining moved May to third and Kuiper to second with a sacrifice. Johnnie LeMaster scored, both May and Kuiper with a single and then Evans hit a two-run homer, his seventh of the season.

The Reds scored a run in the second when Johnny Bench walked, went to second on a balk by Breining, to third on Ron Oester's groundout and home on Paul Hrbec's sacrifice.

In the sixth, the Reds scored a run on back-to-back doubles by Ed Milner and Dave Concepcion. The Red's added another run in the seventh when pinch hitter Duane Walker doubled in Duane Bilardello, who had reached on a throwing error.

Padres 6, Dodgers 4

At San Diego, left-hander Dave Dravecky received the help of first-inning home runs by Gene Richards and Sixto Lezcano and scores relief from Luis Delzon to propel the Padres.

Pirates 2, Mets 1

At Pittsburgh, Mike Eastler, who had three hits, singled to short center with one out in the bottom of the ninth to score Dave Parker from second and lift the Pirates.

Cubs 10, Phillies 7

At Chicago, Keith Moreland drove in four runs with a single and a two-run homer and Bill Buckner added a single and a pair of doubles to lead the Cubs. Left-hander Steve Trout, who pitched the first six innings for Chicago but was forced to leave with a blister on his throwing hand, picked up the win.

Astros 5, Braves 2

At Houston, Mike LaCoss pitched a seven-hitter for his second complete game of the season and Terry Pugh ignited two scoring bursts: helping the Astros score a victory over the Braves.

His first homer lifts Yankees

Friday the 13th proves OK for NY's Gamble

By United Press International

There was no need for Oscar Gamble to fear this Friday the 13th.

Gamble slammed out his first home run of the year to help the New York Yankees snap a three-game losing streak with a 5-1 victory over Chicago.

Gamble, in the starting lineup for the first time since April 10, connected in the seventh inning with one out to hand Chicago its fourth straight loss.

The Yankees had four hits off loser Richard Dotson, 4-3, and two of them came on home runs: Craig Nettles, the homer was his second of the season, coming in the second inning to propel the Yanks to a 1-0 lead.

American

New York added an insurance run in the eighth on a single by Andre Robertson, a sacrifice by Rick Cerone, a fly ball and a two-out RBI single by Ken Griffey.

Dave Righetti, 6-1, pitched 7 2/3 innings to gain the victory. Goose Gosage got the final four outs to record his third save.

Gossage took over with the tying run on third base in the eighth and struck out Greg Gandy to end the inning.

Rookie Ron Kittle accounted for the White Sox run with his sixth homer in the fourth inning.

Righetti allowed six hits, walked one and struck out seven.

In other AL games, Kansas City topped Detroit 5-2. Baltimore beat Texas 8-1. Cleveland defeated Toronto 5-1 and Boston at Milwaukee was postponed due to rain.

Indians 5, Blue Jays 1

At Cleveland, Juan Eichelberger, 1-1, picked up his first AL victory. Eichelberger who spent No. 13 while pitching the Indians' 13th home game, struck out one, walked one and scattered eight hits, when Morgan, 0-2, was knocked out. Mike Boga McBride's line drive through the box glanced off his left cheek and sent him to the ground.

Orioles 8, Rangers 1

At Arlington, Texas—Singleton's second homer of the game, a two-run shot, followed a one-out walk to Lowenstein in the fourth and gave the Orioles a 5-1 lead to chase Charlie Hough, 2-0. Storm Davis, 2-0, was the winner. Bucky Dent went 4-for-4 for Texas.

Royals 5, Tigers 2

At Kansas City, George Brett reached base four times on two games, struck out one, walked, scored, two runs and drove in another to carry Dennis Leonard, 4-3, and the Royals. Dan Quisenberry, who picked up his eighth save, Jack Morris fell to 3-5.

Rigby's explosion in third sends Bobcats to 7-4 defeat

MORELAND — Rigby jumped on Burley freshman right-hander Eric Rodriguez for five runs in the third inning, slaying the Trojans to a 7-4 victory over the Bobcats in the semifinal game of the eastern district Class A-2 baseball tournament Friday.

The Trojans picked up that big advantage with the help of five hits and three Bobcat errors after Burley failed to lift starter Jim McCord, who pitched five innings in the tournament Thursday.

Burley got back into the game with a single run in the fourth inning and two more in the fifth, but Rigby right-hander Preston Berry would allow the Bobcats no more.

Both teams had already qualified for next week's state Class A-2 tournament, which will be played in Rexburg. Rigby will play Madison this afternoon for the district championship.

Miller tops seeding for finals

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — U.S. Open champion Dana Miller of Albuquerque, N.M., rolling her lowest tour of the tournament, still had enough Friday to defeat veteran Virginia Norton and claim the top-seeded position in today's finals at a 23rd annual Women's International Bowling Congress Queens Tournament.

Miller, making the finals for the first time in four Queens appearances, turned in a 770 in her four-game match against Norton, outbudge Calli, who struggled to a 698. They were the last of the unbeaten players in the $100,000 double elimination tournament.
