Tornadoes rip swath across Texas

At least 10 people killed during rage of 18 twisters

By BRUCE NICHOLS
United Press International

HOUSTON — A swarm of up to 18 tornadoes cut a 150-mile-long swath across southeast Texas in 12 hours of terror Friday, killing at least 10 people and injuring about 50 others.

Twelve hours after a pre-dawn onslaught killed eight people in five counties, another tornado ripped through two trailer parks in Crosby and killed at least one more person.

A Harris County sheriff's dispatcher said the Chapman Mobile Home Park and Crosby Estates were demolished by the afternoon strike and several people were hurt, but "we have only one fatality so far" at Crosby.

When the first wave of tornadoes struck about 2 a.m., Daniel William Rau Jr., 15, was sucked out of his family's trailer home near Prairie View, Texas. Four-year-old Kelly Handstrom was sleeping in bed with her mother, Frances, when a six-ton tree crushed their bedroom in North Houston, killing the child.

"The thing fell right on top of her (Kelly). The other kids said she was hollering at first but was dead when they got to her," said neighbor Gene Malone, who tried to help. The mother was treated at a hospital for puncture wounds.

Police said they arrested four juveniles and a man on the north side of Houston on suspicion of looting a restaurant.

Houston Lighting & Power Co. and Gulf States Utilities Co. of Beaumont, which together serve most of southeast Texas, reported tens of thousands suffered power interruptions. HLP&P had two giant steel high tension line towers down.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. reported 5,000 people without telephone service. Near New Caney, a fallen tree blocked a Southern Pacific railroad; track and airboats had to be sent to rescue residents of a flooded area.

Four school districts on the north side of Houston closed for the day and damage was heavy from the storm that crossed the city between 1 and 2 a.m. Twelve to 18 tornadoes were reported, officials said.

Houston Intercontinental Airport was closed temporarily and air traffic was diverted to Hobby Airport, the city's other commercial airfield, on the southside of the city.

Man can't wrest friend from clutches of the winds

By OLIVE TALLEY
United Press International

PRAIRIE VIEW, Texas — Scott Thomas tried desperately to keep a tornado from sucking his friend Danny Rau out of a mobile home, but the high winds swept Danny away, flung him to the ground and killed him.

Thomas, 18, who recently moved to Texas from Michigan and was staying with the Raus, said he and Rau, 15, were asleep when the trailer began shaking about 1 a.m. MDT.

"The trailer started rocking back and forth and lifting off its blocks. Danny was holding on to me very tight. The trailer started to slip, and Danny went over the top of me and ripped part of the shirt off me he was so light," Thomas said.

"We were in the trailer. It was rolling. He flew out of the top of the trailer. He was trying to hang on to me as we rolled. I was trying to hang on to him as fast as I could. But we couldn't hold each other."

"He kept crying out and saying 'Stop. Help me. Help me.'" Thomas said, still wearing a portion of the shirt Rau grabbed. "When I woke up I was pinned under the trailer. I crawled out and went looking for him, but couldn't find him."

Thomas received shoulder and back injuries. Rau's father Daniel, 37, said the wind sucked his son out of the metal trailer because he was very slight for his age.

"Danny went flying with the trailer because he was found on the other side of the road," Rau said. "It busted his body all to pieces."

Twenty-five other people were injured. At least 10 trailers in Heeves Trailer Park outside Prairie View were overturned and smashed, including Rau's. Pink insulation and personal belongings were scattered everywhere.

"In the middle of all the disaster, ambulance spokesmen said one woman delivered a baby."

Nearby, Janell Castilow, 37, said she was in her trailer with her three children, 17, 15 and 9, when the tornado struck.

"I grabbed the kids. We pulled a mattress over our head and under that mattress we could hear metal twisting and glass busting," Mrs. Castilow said. "I felt the floor move out from under us."

"I moved off the blocks about three feet. It was horrible. The Lord was just good to us, though. That's what saved us."

Reagan rips spending bill

Promises to fight tax increase

By ROBERT MACKAY
United Press International

WASHINGTON — Declaring "I meant it then and I mean it now," President Reagan reacted Friday to Senate passage of a high-tax 1984 budget plan by repeating his defiant vow to veto any bill that raises taxes or spends too much.

By one vote, the Republican-led Senate Thursday night adopted an $84.7 billion budget that would raise $73 billion in new taxes over the next three years, slow Reagan's military buildup and spend $11 billion more than he wants on non-defense domestic programs. It projects a $178.6 billion deficit.

In a statement issued to reporters aboard Air Force One as Reagan flew to Miami to deliver a speech marking the 81st anniversary of Cuban independence, the president said:

"Last December I said to the nation: 'It is time to draw the line and stand up for the people. I will not support a budget resolution that raises taxes while we are coming out of a recession. I will veto any tax bill that will do this; and I will veto spending bills that would rekindle the fires of inflation and high interest rates.'"

"I meant it then, and I mean it now," Reagan said.

White House deputy press secretary Larry Speakes told reporters aboard the aircraft the Senate-passed budget is "off target in all three areas." Defense spending is "too low, taxes are too high and spending is too high."

"Referring to the president's veto vow and the major elements of the Senate-passed budget, Speakes said, "If it fits this criteria, he'll veto them. Every economist will agree."

The president does not sign or veto a budget resolution, but does sign or veto money or tax bills later that follow the guidelines or targets set in the budget resolution.

Speakes said the House-passed budget resolution was even worse than the Senate plan. "Both of them are bad ... two bad budgets don't make a good one," he said.

A Senate-House conference committee must now split the differences between the two bills and draft a single compromise to be approved by the full House and Senate. The negotiators are expected to begin work Wednesday.

The House passed a $83 billion budget in March that would increase taxes $30 billion next year, increase

Syria signals plans for war

By United Press International

Syria might go to war to stop the Israeli-Lebanese troop withdrawal agreement, Syria's foreign minister hinted in remarks published Friday. He labeled the pact "more dangerous" than the Israeli-Egyptian peace treaty and vowed Syria would never drop its opposition.

"Syria's essential condition for the withdrawal of its troops from Lebanon is the creation of national equilibrium in Lebanon," Syrian Foreign Minister Abdel-Halim Khaddam said in an interview published by the Lebanese weekly magazine An-Nahar, Arab and international.

"If Egypt shared common borders with Syria, a war would have erupted between us this to the (1978) Camp David (Israeli-Egyptian) treaty. Much more links us to Lebanon. Khaddam said in an interview published by the Lebanese weekly magazine An-Nahar, Arab and international.

Ketchum battles major fire

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

KETCHUM — A spectacular fire swept through two businesses in Giacobbi Square Friday night in Ketchum and still was burning out of control at 11 p.m.

The blaze, visible from nearby communities, was defying efforts by all available firefighters from Ketchum, Sun Valley and Hailey.

The fire started in Altkinson's Market, a major Ketchum grocery store, and within an hour, it had destroyed the business. The exterior walls remained standing, but the building was gutted, witnesses said.

The flames then spread from the market to the adjoining Chateau Drug store, and they were racing along the roofs of the other businesses in the mall-type frame and brick complex late Friday night.

Firefighters were expected to remain at the scene throughout the night and this morning.

Witnesses at the scene expressed fear that the entire block would be lost, saying damage already had reached into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Kris Mallone, who said his uncle is an owner of the grocery store, said he had heard that the fire started about 6 p.m. in the electrical system of the grocery.

Another Ketchum resident said there was a power "surge" and then a brief outage in Ketchum about 6 p.m. She said she believed it occurred about the time the fire began.

Mallone said the store was still open when the fire broke out and employees were able to save company records, but little else.

Records also were removed from Chateau Drug before the flames reached it, and Mallone said workers there removed the store's stock of ammunition to prevent injury to firefighters and others at the scene. Several other business owners were removing supplies and valuables from their stores ahead of the spreading flames.

"It's pretty bad. It's the worst fire I have ever seen, and I think it will get worse. It doesn't look like they would get it stopped in the square," said the 17-year-old Mallone.

A dispatcher at the Blaine County sheriff's office said firefighters at the scene still were calling for equipment and all available assistance at 10 p.m. She said "everything available" had been called out.

Witnesses said "everybody in town" was at the scene, but no injuries had been reported by late Friday night.

Other businesses in the complex include Design Concepts, Carol's and Alexander's, all clothing stores, plus several delicatessens and specialty shops. There are also a number of offices in the building.

Explosions rock Andean city
AYACUCHO, Peru (UPI) — More than 40 explosions Friday night blacked out Ayacucho and cut off communication to the central Andean city where the government has waged a 5-month campaign to wipe out leftist guerrillas, witnesses said.
 There were no immediate reports of death or injuries. Witnesses in Ayacucho, 220 miles southeast of Lima, said the blasts and sporadic outbursts of gunfire began at 6:25 p.m., creating panic among the city's 50,000 residents.
 Initial news reports indicated the violence was part of a guerrilla attack on a police barracks on the outskirts of the city, but there was no official confirmation.

Tanker crew rescues refugees
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The crew of a Chevron supertanker Friday rescued 43 Vietnamese refugees aboard a tiny powerboat that was sinking in the South China Sea, Chevron said Friday.
 The ship's master, Capt. Antonio Fantauzzi of La Spezia, Italy, said the refugees — 22 men, 13 women and 8 children — were first seen by the tanker's radar and exposure when their tiny craft waving an SOS flag came alongside the 150,000-ton Chevron tanker SS D.D. Bower.
 "When I boarded their craft I couldn't believe the conditions," said Fantauzzi. "People were all cramped together. At first I thought there were only about 20 men on board, and then I saw the women and children huddled in the bottom of the boat."
 He said their boat had no water and only a few ounces of rice as provisions and was sinking when the rescue occurred.

Suspect linked to more deaths
SANTA ANA, Calif. (UPI) — Hotel records showed Friday a traveling computer consultant charged with strangling a Marine and suspected in 13 other killings was in Oregon and Michigan at the time of similar, unsolved slayings.

County, police attorney — Bryan — said —
 Initial news reports from those states and Orange County were conflicting through hotel registers, charge card receipts and other expense vouchers to trace the path of Randy Kraft.
 "It looks like he traveled for his business to these areas," Deputy District Attorney Bryan Brown said, citing hotel records in Oregon and Michigan. "We're trying to tie all that together right now. There are a lot of things we still have to do to complete our history on Kraft."
 Kraft's roommate, Jeff Seelig, 25, is being considered a "potential suspect in some of the killing," Sheriff Brad Gates said. Seelig, who owns a candy shop in Long Beach, held a news conference Friday and denied any knowledge of the slayings.
 He also described his roommate as a "gentle, kind, giving and considerate" person.

Body sought in Salmon River
RIGGINS (UPI) — Police were searching the Salmon River on Friday for the body of a girl presumed drowned when a boat carrying five youths careened into the water east of Riggins.

The Idaho County Sheriff's Office said the vehicle carrying two girls and three boys went into the swollen river either late Thursday or early Friday.
 The body of one girl was retrieved from the river early Friday. Officers said the boys were able to make it to shore without injury.
 Names of the youths were being withheld, but it was reported they were all residents of Riggins.
 Investigators said the auto had not been found. Cause of the mishap had not been released.

Capitol restoration approved
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate subcommittee approved a plan Friday to restore the crumbling west front of the Capitol, its last original sandstone wall, setting the stage for another House-Senate battle over the building.
 The House Appropriations Committee voted Wednesday to spend $28.5 million to extend the west front 22 feet, covering the original wall. The project would create 70,000 square feet of new office space, including prized "hideaways" for House members jealous of the convenient Capitol offices of senators.
 But the Senate legislative appropriations subcommittee voted Friday to spend $48 million to restore the west front in line with recommendations from outside architecture groups.

The west front, facing the Washington Monument at the west end of the National Mall, is the facade seen by most tourists.
Firm blamed in chemical spill
PARIS (UPI) — The Hoffmann-La Roche company said Friday 41 barrels of highly toxic dioxin from a chemical accident in Italy was lost for seven months because it was "duped" by the firm responsible for disposal of the waste.
 Andre Fuiterschnetz, technical director of the Swiss multinational which owns the chemical plant at Seveso in northern Italy where an explosion in 1976 released the dioxin, said Hoffmann-La Roche accepted full responsibility for disposing of the waste.

Baby arrives during tornadoes
HEMPSTEAD, Texas (UPI) — It's the nature of children to be born at the most inconvenient time to be born, and Clifford Jingles Jr. was right on target.
 The healthy, 6-pound, 7-ounce boy was delivered Friday morning just hours after a deadly swarm of tornadoes ravaged parts of southeast Texas and killed at least 10 people.
 "I never fails," said W. Haggard, a physical therapist at Memorial Hospital of Waller County in Hempstead.
 "A baby always has to be born right in the middle of everything. In every crisis there is always one expectant mother who comes in," Haggard said.
 Barbara Tolver, 20, said she awoke about 3:30 a.m. CDT Friday in bed with her first child, who was named after his father.
 "I didn't even know there was a storm," Miss Tolver said. "The baby was due today anyway. It was the palms that woke me up, not the weather."
 Both the baby and his mother were reported in good condition.

Peevish Evans signs ed bill

By MARK SHENEFEIT
United Press International
BOISE — Gov. John Evans reluctantly signed into law Friday a bill appropriating $37 million in state funds to fund four major education programs for fiscal year 1984.
 The Democrat said he was forced to sign the bill — rather than merely let it become law without his signature — so he could line-item veto one small portion of the measure.
 He nullified a clause mandating that $100,000 of the $215 million public-school appropriation be set aside for "performance" audits in the school districts.

Evans said it would be inappropriate to use general funds for those audits. He said he did not object to those audits being performed with money from accounts dedicated to that purpose, although he said some teachers and administrators fear that legislators who wanted the audits intended to go on a "witch hunt."
 The governor said he would rather have vetoed the entire bill, which was passed by the Republican-controlled Legislature during a three-day special session in early May. He wanted spending increased by $13.2 million.
 "It would serve no useful purpose to veto this bill and call another special session unless there's a substantial change of attitude on the part of the Republican leadership," Evans said.

The omnibus funding bill was rammed through the Legislature in quick order by GOP leaders, who said they would not appropriate any more money that that allocated during the 95-day regular legislative session. The amounts approved in the special session were identical to those voted by Evans after the regular session.
 Other budgets allowed to become law by Evans Friday were $70 million for higher education, $8.5 million for agricultural research and $13.4 million for vocational education.

 Scattered damage was reported from Sequin near San Antonio to College Station, 100 miles northwest of Houston to Naacogoches, where buildings were damaged by uprooted trees, to the Louisiana state line.
 There were no official damage estimates, but observers said it had to be in the millions of dollars.
 "I'm a friend that was a preacher. The preacher said why don't you stay out here because the weather looks bad. He stayed. A tornado came through ... and killed him," Liberty County Sheriff Buck Eckols said.
 Glenda McCoy, 14, was crushed when her family's trailer home was overturned in Brandwynn Trailer Park at Spring in north Harris County.
 Robert Wagner, about 50, and Angela Hawkins Morgan, 22, died in separate instances of trees falling on their trailer homes near New Campbell, 30 miles northeast of Houston.
 Leguesia Vensin, 7, died near Katy west of Houston. A Waller County sheriff's spokesman said she was "found in the middle of a road" after being blown from her home.
 Marsha Mumaw, 22, of Blue Springs, Mo., was killed when a tornado, destroyed an estimated 10 trailer homes at Brenham about 50 miles northwest of Houston.

 Montgomery County Sheriff's spokesman Ed DeForest said damage was heavy around New Casey and Porter.

 defense spending 3 percent, and spend about $30 billion more on Reagan, wants on non-defense domestic programs. It projects a 1984 deficit of $175 billion.
 The Senate-passed budget would raise taxes $9 billion next year and $10 billion in 1985. The president would only a nominal tax increase next year and a defense increase of 10 percent.
 Sen. Lawton Chiles, the senior Democrat on the Senate Budget Committee, said at a news conference Friday adoption of the budget resolution sent a message to the White House "that the Senate is not going to tolerate large deficits."
 "I hope it also sends a message that the president can't completely have his way in the United States Senate now," Chiles said.
 The Florida Democrat said he expects the Senate-House conferees to settle on a defense spending increase of about 5 percent, tax increases similar to the Senate plan, and "a good mix on domestic spending."

 Sen. Slade Gorton, R-Wash., the author of the budget plan the Senate adopted, said at a separate news conference he also feels the conferees committee will approve a budget that more closely resembles the Senate version than the House plan.
 "I think the leadership of the Senate and the president will make peace," Gorton said. "I'll look forward to coordination and accommodation with the president rather than confrontation."
 But Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., chairman of the tax-writing Finance Committee, said, "In my view we should have rejected the entire budget resolution. I'm willing to bet that some of the 50 who voted for the budget resolution would not vote for a dollar of the $73 billion in tax increases they voted for in the budget resolution."

 "There almost no chance that taxes will be increased by $73 billion," he added.
 Asked whether Reagan was misleading Congress, Dole replied: "I think he understands it and he's looking — at the same time — at everybody else is — 1984. He has his own agenda. I think he's running."
 He also predicted, "Congress is not going to do much until after the election. Congress is not going to do much till 1985."
House Budget Committee
 Chairman Jim Jones, D-Okla., said Congress is capable of reaching an agreement. "But we don't know what role the president will play. Will the president be constructive or destructive?"

 Idaho and the Magic Valley appear to be in for the warmest weekend of the year.
 A strong high pressure ridge remains almost stationary along the west coast, bringing dry, warm air over Idaho. Several weak storms are moving across this high, bringing a few clouds and mountain showers to northern and southeastern Idaho.
 No rain was reported in Idaho Friday. Winds decreased considerably, too, with velocities mostly around 10 to 15 mph. However, stronger winds are expected today. In Twin Falls Friday, the pollen count was 31 per cubic meter of air.

 Afternoon temperatures were in the 60s and 70s over the state, with the warmest reported 79 degrees at Lewiston. Yellow Pine's 30 degrees was the coldest morning low.
 Fair skies appear in prospect through next Wednesday for Idaho, with temperatures nearby a little above normal.
 Total precipitation in southern Idaho will be less than .10 inch from isolated showers. Four-inch mean soil temperatures, now in the low to upper 50s, will warm 2 to 4 degrees by Monday. Daily average evaporation rates will be from 25 to 30 inches during the period. Winds of 4 to 8 mph this morning will increase to 10 to 20 mph this afternoon, then decrease to 4 to 8 mph by Sunday.
 Elsewhere in the nation Friday, the warmest temperature reported was 100 degrees at Laredo, Texas, and the coldest was 22 at Fly, Nev.

Actor celebrates 75th by visit to hometown

INDIANA, Pa. (UPI) — Actor Jimmy Stewart celebrated his 75th birthday Friday with hundreds of friends and fans at a homecoming bash in the rural town where the lanky, stuttering star was born the son of a hardware store owner.

The folksy screen legend, who won an Oscar for "The Philadelphia Story" in 1940 and was nominated four other times, was greeted with a chorus of "Happy Birthday" from about 3,000 well-wishers outside the county courthouse.

"This is where I sort of made up my mind about certain things — about hard work being worth it, about community spirit, about the importance of a family, about the importance of God and the church," Stewart said.

Stewart, living his homecoming to "two old friends meeting and getting re-acquainted," said his only Oscar sat for 25 years in the hardware store window in downtown Indiana — at his father's suggestion.

The three-day birthday party got under way in the western Pennsylvania college community of 16,000 with an official welcome and Stewart, staying with old friends during the weekend, accepting a key to the city.

"Welcome Home" banners were draped across Philadelphia Street, Indiana's main drag. American flags hung from every lamppost and pictures of the actor were plastered all over town.

"It's his simplicity and his hometown that makes you identify with a man of this type," Elizabeth Wright, a fan from Philadelphia, said of the star of such film classics as "Harvey" and "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington."

The hometown hoopla, planned for more than a year, will include a parade, dinner-dance, 5-foot, home-made-birthday-cake and Jimmy Stewart film festival.

But the highlight will be Saturday's unveiling of a 9-foot statue of the modest, slow-talking Hollywood idol at the courthouse — right across the street from the hardware store site.

Stewart was born in 1908 in Indiana. His father's store has since been replaced by a bank, but two stone tablets mark his birthplace, his childhood home still stands and the local airport is named for him.

Senate ratifies aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate approved a $251 million emergency economic and military aid package for Lebanon Friday that prohibits President Reagan from expanding the U.S. Marine peace-keeping force without prior congressional approval.

The legislation was routinely approved by voice vote and without dissent and sent to the House where an identical aid package is moving toward near-certain approval.

The Senate-passed bill provides $150 million to help in the reconstruction of Lebanon's economy, $100 million for military sales loan guarantees and $1 million for military training.

A provision, similar to one approved by the House Foreign Affairs Committee, would require congressional approval for any "new, expanded or extended peace-keeping force in Lebanon."

There are now 1,800 U.S. Marines in Lebanon as part of a 3,500-member multinational peace-keeping force. The first group arrived in Lebanon Aug. 25.

Thailand expels convicted Soviet spy

BY JOHN HAIL
United Press Internationals

BANGKOK, Thailand — A Russian trade official was expelled from Thailand Friday after being caught red-handed with what police said were top-secret documents on troop positions along the Thai-Cambodian border.

Victor Barychev, 47, pushed his way angrily through a crowd of reporters at Bangkok's Don Muang airport and refused to comment on the Thai Foreign Ministry order for him to leave the kingdom.

Barychev, a trade official attached to the Soviet Embassy in Bangkok, boarded an Air Vietnam flight to Hanoi along with his wife Maïna, 46, and was expected to catch a connecting flight to the Soviet Union.

He was arrested Thursday in the coffee shop of a second class Bangkok hotel after taking delivery of what were described as highly classified documents and photographs detailing troop positions along Thailand's eastern border.

He was then taken to a Thai police Special Branch detention center for interrogation before being released to the custody of Soviet Embassy officials Thursday night.

The Thai Foreign Ministry issued a departmental order within 48 hours for "behaving in a manner incompatible with his duties."

More than 50 Soviet diplomats and journalists have been expelled from various nations since the beginning of April in a Western "clampdown" on spying.

A Thai Special Branch officer identified Barychev as a lieutenant colonel in the Soviet Army's intelligence unit, the GRU, and said the documents in his possession could damage Thai security in the hands of a foreign power.

He said the Russian had been based in Thailand for three years and during that made frequent trips to the Thai-Cambodian border to spy on Thai military installations.

Chicago council battle continues

Chicago Sun-Times

CHICAGO — An effort to end the City Council civil war floundered Thursday over Mayor Harold Washington's objection to the choice of an alderman allied with the City Council majority of 29 as chairman of the key Finance Committee.

The peace talks bogged down again as the two claimants to the job of finance chairman, Ald. Edward R. Burke, a member of the majority of 29, and Ald. Wilson Frost, now a Washington ally, prepared to square off in Circuit Court Friday on the issue of who should now have the keys and the powers of that office.

Negotiations by six-member teams of aldermen in the Bismarck Hotel Thursday had produced a proposal giving the key committee chair to Burke and putting Frost in a glorified job as floor leader, with staff, offices, limousine and police aides.

The pro-Washington team took the package, which included creation of more leadership posts for blacks, to Washington in a long lunch recess. He directed them to keep up the fight against Burke, and to "keep talking." It was learned. The mayor reportedly took no hard position on Frost's future.

The opposing side, led by Ald. Edward R. Vrdolyak, used the recess to poll its 29-member bloc and returned to the tanks with the word that Burke as finance chairman was non-negotiable. With both sides seeming as entrenched as ever, another round of negotiations was scheduled for Monday.

Protest rally peaceful

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — About 20,000 people protesting the brutality and government repression, marched peacefully Friday night to the capitol led by a Nobel Prize-winning human rights activist.

The marchers jammed a 10-block area, carrying placards that read "The dictatorship will end" and "You took them away from us. Bring them back alive," referring to the disappearance of thousands of Argentines in the 1970s.

"Behind every disappearance, every cadaver, and every kidnapped child, the armed forces have evidence of the cases," said Alfredo Bravo, a leader of the Permanent Assembly for Human Rights.

"They plan to destroy that evidence but they cannot. It belongs to the people of Argentina," he said.

Nobel Peace Prize winner Adolfo Perez Esquivel, weakened by a 10-day hunger strike, arrived at the head of the march in a pickup truck, but they got out and walked at the head of the column.

Consumers' confidence at new high

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Consumer confidence in the nation's economy is at its highest level in six years because of declining prices and interest rates, University of Michigan researchers reported Friday.

U-M's Institute for Social Research, in its quarterly Survey of Consumer Attitudes, said more American consumers answered now is a good time to buy a new car than at any time since the survey began in 1946.

Home-buying attitudes last month were just below the survey's all-time peak in May 1977, the survey director Richard T. Curtin said. The index of Consumer Sentiment — a barometer of several factors — reached 89.1 in April, up from 80.8 in March and 70.4 in January. (February 1966 equals 100.)

The three-month surge of nearly 20 index points has brought consumer confidence to the highest level recorded since the cyclical peak of 89.8 was reached in May 1977," Curtin said.

Curtin noted the gains were recording residents of each major geographic region and people of all age and income subgroups.

The April survey showed 51 percent of families reporting recent improvement in the economy, compared to 16 percent in January. Fifty-three percent of all families expected business conditions to improve during the coming year — the highest level recorded in a quarter century — and just 7 percent expected conditions to get worse.

Among all families, 42 percent expected the unemployment rate to decline during the year ahead, up from just 23 percent in January.

More leading EPA officials resign in agency reshuffling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Four more top Environmental Protection Agency officials have resigned as part of a final housecleaning at the agency, where 20 political appointees have left since February, an EPA spokesman said Friday.

Stepping down on William Ruckelshaus' second day as agency chief were Frederic Eidsness Jr., assistant administrator for water; Kathleen Bennett, assistant administrator for air, noise and radiation; and regional EPA chiefs Peter Bibko of Philadelphia and Lester Sutton of Boston.

White House officials said President Reagan, who appointed Eidsness and Mrs. Bennett, would accept their resignations.

EPA sources said Ruckelshaus, who pledged at his confirmation hearings to "recruit the best people I can find to manage the agency," had meetings with Eidsness and Mrs. Bennett Friday and apparently sought their resignations.

However, he asked both to remain as special assistants during the transition period, and issued a statement praising their "extraordinary competence."

Some ranking EPA officials also said Ruckelshaus was seeking the resignation of Sonia Crow, chief of EPA's San Francisco regional office. An agency spokesman said her resignation letter had not been received.

Officials said that in addition, Ruckelshaus withdrew the nomination of Courtney Rorland to serve as assistant administrator for research and development. Rorland, one of two top-ranking EPA officials to survive the recent shakeups, will remain in the post in an acting capacity while Ruckelshaus reviews the nomination.

EPA officials confirmed Michael

Sawyer, who handled scheduling for former agency administrator Anne Burford and later transferred to EPA's Office of International Activities, was asked to resign Wednesday by Fitzhugh Green, Ruckelshaus' appointee to head that office.

Rep. Mike Synar, D-Okla., chairman of one of a half dozen panels investigating EPA mismanagement, political shenanigans and industry ties during Mrs. Burford's stewardship, cautioned the latest shakeup would not help "if Mr. Ruckelshaus simply appoints a new group of foxes to guard the henhouse."

Friday's resignations came as federal marshals served subpoenas on several agency employees for testimony about evidence of perjury by Rita Lavelle, former chief of the agency's toxic waste cleanup unit, and Robert Perry, the agency's former general counsel, sources said.

Reagan opens F-16 sales to Israel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Reagan administration ended its 11-month embargo on the sale of advanced F-19 fighter-bombers to Israel Friday and granted the Jewish state the right to co-produce some warplane parts.

The decision to lift the ban, which was imposed last year after the Israelis invaded Lebanon and used American aircraft to bomb targets in Beirut, follows Israel's signing Tuesday of an agreement to withdraw its troops from Lebanon.

The State Department said the $2.7 billion sale of 75 of the single-seat fighter-bombers "reflects our long-term commitment to maintain Israel's qualitative military edge in the region."

The lifting was dictated by "heightened concern about the Soviet challenge in the region, particularly the Soviet supply of SA-5 (surface-to-air missiles) to Syria," a State Department statement said.

But the Pentagon said in its letter of formal notification to Congress the sale will not affect the military balance in the region.

The delivery of the F-16s will be delayed by the 11 months the suspension was in effect so that the first plane will arrive in Israel in late 1986 rather in 1985 as originally scheduled.

The Pentagon told Congress the agreement to let the sale go forward includes permission for Israel to co-produce some of the components of the planes, which are manufactured by General Dynamics of Fort Worth, Texas.

Israel has long sought co-production as a means of saving money and building up its own industrial technology, but the Carter administration refused it on grounds it cost American jobs and built up a potential competitor in world aircraft sales.

Fight pledged against spread of communism

MIAMI (UPI) — President Reagan, given a frenzied welcome by tens of thousands of Cuban exiles, declared Friday the United States "will not permit the Soviets and their henchmen in Havana" to spread communism to other Latin American nations.

Thunderous applause again and again interrupted Reagan's hard-line foreign policy speech to about 2,500 people inside the Dade County Auditorium. A crowd estimated by police at 80,000 listened over loudspeakers in the street.

The crowd encircling the auditorium waved blue and white Cuban flags and banners calling on Reagan to support attempts to overthrow the regime of Cuban President Fidel Castro. "We demand the right to fight," one banner read.

Reagan soberly told the audience in ceremonies marking the 81st anniversary of Cuban independence that Cuba "is no longer independent" because of Castro's "new fascist regime."

"But let me assure you, we will not let this same fate befall others in the hemisphere, we will not permit the Soviets and their henchmen in Havana to deprive others of their freedom, and some day Cuba itself will be free," Reagan. The audience rose twice in standing ovations during the single sentence.

Accusing Castro Cuba of peddling drugs and revolution, Reagan warned Congress the American people will hold accountable those who thwart his battle against Marxism in Central America.

"At another point, he brought down the house by joking, 'There are only two places where communism works — in heaven where they don't need it and in hell where they have got it.'"

Still greater applause erupted when Reagan ended his speech with the Cuban exiles slogan, "Cuba si, Castro no," adding, "Vaya con Dios... Go with God."

It was easily the most successful of a series of campaign-style trips Reagan has made in recent weeks, possibly the most successful of his presidency.

Before speaking, Reagan ate a typical Cuban lunch of chicken, black beans and rice at the restaurant La Esquina de Tejas (Texas Corner) in the heart of Miami's "Little Havana."

While Reagan spoke in Miami about 1,000 anti-Castro demonstrators marched in front of the White House with American and Cuban flags. "Better dead than red," one of their placards said.

Conrail sale prepared

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Railway Association made the official determination Friday that Conrail is profitable, clearing the way for sale of the 15,000-mile Northeast-Midwest railroad in one piece to private enterprise.

The determination, by a unanimous vote of the USRA board, prevents a piecemeal sale of the railroad. The Transportation Department once advocated such a breakup, leading Congress to block any sale until the board determined if Conrail could be profitable.

Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole, however, voted with other USRA members Friday for the plan to sell Conrail in one block.

No sale is imminent, although several groups have expressed interest, including Conrail employees. The transportation industry weekly Traffic World said last week that the Norfolk Southern and Santa Fe railroads had expressed interest in forming a holding company to buy the line, although USRA sources said Friday the board is unlikely to approve sale to any holding company.

The official determination caps a remarkable industrial turnaround.

Conrail was formed April 1, 1976, inheriting the rundown track and equipment of seven bankrupt lines including the Penn Central. More than $3 billion in federal funds was poured into its rehabilitation, most of which probably will be written off in any sale. But as early as 1981 it appeared the railroad would be the way or its predecessors into bankruptcy.

However, under president Stanley Crane, the railroad abandoned unprofitable branches, cut costs and improved service to the point that Conrail surprised both its friends and detractors by making a $39.2 million profit in 1981, followed by a $174.2 million profit in 1982.

Crackdown on skyjackings sparked by recent incidents

MIAMI (UPI) — In the wake of three commercial airliner hijackings to Cuba in three weeks, federal aviation officials are considering tightening airline security — possibly by putting more armed sky marshals aboard flights.

"If this is continued we will take whatever steps are necessary to beef up security," Jack Barker, Federal Aviation Administration spokesman in Atlanta, said Friday.

Eastern Airlines Flight 24 from Miami to New York, with 132 people aboard, was commandeered Thursday by a man who claimed to have a bomb and demanded to go to Cuba to see his family.

Cuban officials arrested the hijacker when the Boeing 727 landed at Havana's Jose Marti Airport and then allowed the plane to resume its flight.

The jet was the first Eastern airliner to be hijacked to Cuba since July 1961 and the third U.S. passenger aircraft to be hijacked this month. Capitol Air flights from San Juan, Puerto Rico to Miami were diverted to Cuba on May 1 and May 12.

Armed federal agents have been riding selected flights since the last outbreak of skyjackings by homesteader Marjoe Gornik and his followers three years ago.

"The number of federal marshals riding various flights had been cut back in recent months, but E.A. officials said that more agents would be assigned to hijack duty if the current rash of hijacks continued.

Eastern officials also said they would be taking a closer look at their security arrangements in light of the hijacking.

"We always hope to learn by these things," said Eastern spokesman Jim Ashlock. "And we will examine this very carefully to see that if there is anything we can do to keep people like this off our planes."

Idaho students hurt in bus crash

ARLINGTON, Ore. (UPI) — A school bus driver taking 24 Meridian, Idaho high school students to a choir competition fell asleep at the wheel on Interstate 84 Friday, causing the bus to flip over and injuring eight students.

The injured were taken to Good Shepherd Hospital in Hermiston, where a spokeswoman said seven Nick Van Voorst, 16, Meridian, had been admitted for observation of possible internal injuries.

An unidentified female student suffered a broken collar bone and was released later in the day. The rest of the injured mostly suffered bumps and bruises, the spokeswoman said.

"I'm sure there's some sprains and strains, and we're going to have some sore students," she said.

"It's just a matter of cuts, broken bones and that's the extent of it. We're thankful for that," said Meridian School District Superintendent August Hein.

The bus driver, Alfred Van Paepgen, 25, Meridian, was cited for careless driving as a result of the accident, which occurred at 5:40 a.m. 9 miles east of Arlington.

The students, accompanied by three adults, were en route to a choir competition in Gresham, Ore., officials said. The bus had left Meridian, a small town west of Boise, around midnight, a school official said.

"The bus went off the road onto the shoulder. The driver over-corrected and caused it to flip," said Oregon State Police spokesman Rae An Greiner.

The bus rolled completely over in the westbound lanes and came to rest on its wheels, she said.

Troopers said the highway was dry and clear at the time.

Ambulances were sent to the scene from nearby towns to transport the injured to Hermiston and a bus was sent from Boardman to transport the non-injured.

The hospital spokeswoman said the students were taken to Hermiston High School to wait for another bus dispatched from Meridian to pick them up. They were expected to be back in Meridian late Friday.

Hein said the students still wanted to take part in the competition despite the accident but that school officials decided to bring them home because of "stiff fingers and bruises."

Examiners hold off decision on higher education funding

By STEVEN CHRISTENSEN
United Press International

BOISE — The Board of Examiners listened to two hours of testimony Friday on the state's financial outlook, then postponed a decision on whether the panel's GOP majority will negate fiscal year—1984 budget increases ordered by Gov. John Evans.

Republicans' Pete Conarussa, secretary of state, and Attorney General Jim Jones sought the testimony as part of their inquiry into whether appropriations to vocational training, colleges and universities and agricultural research should be reduced by the same $4.2 million restored earlier this month by the board's third member — Democrat Evans.

Witnesses at the hearing were in general agreement that the state will probably earn about $17 million more in the current fiscal year than was expected. But they differed on whether the extra funds should be used to bolster budgets for select programs next year or to pay off 1983 debts.

State Tax Commissioner Larry Looney told the board his agency predicts earnings for the current fiscal year will be about $15.2 million above expectations.

When other miscellaneous funds are added in — including a $15-million windfall in interest on state investments — the total "surplus" is likely to reach nearly $17 million, said Division of Financial Management Director Steve Seward.

After subtracting from that amount the $4.2 million restored by the governor, the state should have about $12.7 million available, he said.

Seward said there are three viable options for using that money: It could be used to repay the state school system part of the $41.9 million it still owes and would otherwise receive in July; it could go toward returning the state to an "accrual" accounting system at a cost of $5.3 million; or it could be used to provide the $5 million in court-ordered tax refunds owed to Idaho banks.

Jones and Conarussa said they wanted to examine the testimony and documents over the weekend, and would ask Evans to call another board meeting next week so a funding decision could be made.

If the state paid the entire amount due to schools, it would end the current fiscal year with a deficit of about $25 million, said John Anderson, director of the Legislative Fiscal Office.

He noted the state is likely to earn $417.2 million during FY '83.

Official denies Symms' allegation of involvement in alien's death

BOISE (UPI) — Saying Sen. Steve Symms should have been "a little more responsible," an immigration official denied Friday the lawmakers' allegations that federal agents contributed to the death of an illegal alien by chasing the heart-attack victim through a field.

"I would expect a senator to be a little more responsible than to make the comments he did," said Harry Rhodes, Immigration and Naturalization Service supervisor in Boise.

"I want to make it absolutely clear, no one besides Symms has alleged we were in pursuit of that alien."

Symms, during Senate debate Wednesday, accused federal officials of using "Gestapo" tactics when they allegedly chased 20-year-old Benjamin Telex Sanchez, who died of a heart attack Monday.

But Rhodes and Elmore County Chief Deputy Larry Olson said although INS agents were in the Glenns Ferry area, they were not chasing Sanchez when he suffered the heart attack.

Olson said the illegal alien and several others probably were fleeing because they knew federal officials were nearby.

Crech tries to reverse guilty plea to murder

BOISE (UPI) — An attorney for convicted murderer Thomas Crech says the plight of a young automobile accident victim was part of the reason the inmate denied Friday the lawbreaker's guilty plea to the state Supreme Court to vacate his death sentence.

Crech also is trying to reverse his guilty plea in the killing of a fellow Idaho State Penitentiary inmate because he wants a trial so the public can learn more about the incident, public defender Rolf Kehne said.

Kehne followed Crech's wishes and filed motions in state Supreme Court and Fourth District Court Thursday.

"Crech pleaded guilty to first-degree murder last summer for the 1981 slaying of inmate Dale Jensen. Crech also claims he has killed more than two dozen persons from Ohio to California, and has repeatedly requested the death sentence," Kehne said. Crech changed his long-standing desire to die rather than face life imprisonment because he now believes he can lead a valuable life even while behind bars.

"Even when he was saying publicly that he wanted to die, there were days or sometimes only times during a day — when he didn't feel that way at all," Kehne said. "So it was not that dramatic a change at all."

He said Crech recently decided there might be a purpose to his life after he sent a tape "full of hope" to a young girl who faced permanent paralysis after a car crash.

He said Crech wrote and sang the song to help the girl through her crisis. Kehne said he does not know what effect the tape had on the accident victim, but the act of compassion gave Crech a boost that led him to decide he wants to live.

"Since he was sentenced, he found he can do some productive things with his life," Kehne said.

The inmate also is seeking to retract a guilty plea in the Jensen killing because he wants it known that Jensen allegedly attacked him first "without provocation," Kehne said.

Roadless area debate slated

BOISE (UPI) — Sen. James McClure will meet with conservation groups May 31 in Boise to discuss proposals on the future of roadless areas in Idaho which have been under study for possible designation as wilderness, a Senate aide says.

Jim Goller, chief of staff for the Idaho Republican, said the meeting will give environmentalists an opportunity to explain their position versus that of people who want lands opened to new timber and mining activity.

McClure also plans to hold public hearings late this summer to present to the public various management options for the roadless areas, Goller said.

Pat Ford, director of the Idaho Conservation League, said his group expects to attend the May 31 meeting, but is skeptical of McClure's willingness to side with environmentalists in the dispute.

"We think he's not so much interested in a wilderness bill as a bill that would open up areas for timber development," Ford said.

Joe Hinson, director of the Idaho Forest Industry Council, said his organization believes it is time to open some roadless areas to logging.

"The roadless areas have been off-limits to the timber industry while they were being studied," Hinson said.

Off Broadway

Farrah Fawcett, 36, will make her acting debut in New York Tuesday starring in William Mastrosimo's drama "Extremities" at an off-Broadway theater. In her first rehearsal earlier this month, Farrah holds a hammer for use in the event that she attempted rapist, Michael Dineill, left, somehow manages to escape a caged-in fireplace where Farrah and her roommate have managed to trap him.

Two pair end poker match

By DAVID KELLEY
United Press International

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Tom McEvoy yelled "All Right!" upon capturing the World Series of Poker championship Friday, even though he had problems early in the high-stakes tournament forced him to sell off two-thirds of his $540,000 first prize.

money before taxes. Earlier in the tournament, he ran into personal money problems and sold shares of his eventual winnings to seven people for less than $100 per percent.

He collected some $6,000 for the show. Investors received a return of more than $360,000.

McEvoy, 34, of Grand Rapids, Mich., said the distress sale made sense.

"I wanted to come out of this thing with something and it was a longshot that I'd even finish in the money," he said. "You don't come in here as a first-time player and push guys like (former world champion) Doyle Brunson and Bobby Baldwin around. In fact, you try to stay out of their way."

Nine players sat down for the final poker session at noon Thursday. Two hours later three were left: Rod Peate, Brunson and McEvoy. Brunson, who wrote the poker book McEvoy calls his "Bible," was eliminated 90 minutes later and the bragging rights to the title came down to McEvoy and Peate. Both had played in preliminary tournaments to raise the $10,000 it took to buy in to the 14th annual — championship — Binion's Horseshoe Hotel-Casino.

A proposed deal between the two finalists to split the first and second place money was torpedoed by Horseshoe Hotel-Casino executive Jack Binion who said he would not let such an agreement "taint" the annual poker competition.

The players agreed McEvoy, who ate apples and sipped bottled water throughout the evening, slowly whittled away at Peate's stacks of $10,000 chips.

Finally, at 2:35 a.m. MDT, Peate, 35, pushed all of his remaining chips — some $13,000 — into the center of the table and flipped over the two cards dealt to him. He had the King and Jack of Diamonds.

The pot was $238,000. McEvoy turned over his cards to reveal a pair of queens.

The two watched as the dealer turned over five cards, which either player could use to complete his hand.

The dealer turned over a 6 of Hearts, a 6 of Clubs, a 3 of Diamonds, a 3 of Clubs.

At the sight of the final card, McEvoy ripped the black felt cowboy hat from his head, shouted "All Right!" and jumped to his feet. McEvoy's two pair, Queens and 6s, beat Peate's two pair of Jacks and 6s. Peate, who also sold off a large percentage of his winnings in advance, received $216,000 for second place.

Zoo workers surprised

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Philadelphia Zoo officials say they have been taken by surprise by the birth of a four-inch, five-ounce spiny anteater, the first successful breeding and birth of the species in North America.

The unusual Australian member of the Order Monotremata was hatched from a thumb-nail-sized egg that is carried in the mother's abdominal pouch, it was announced Thursday. Zoo officials said pregnancy in the spiny anteater, known as echidna, is difficult to determine.

Like other members of this family of animals, the embryonic youngster remains in the mother's pouch during its early development. After 48 to 60 days, the mother expels it out of the pouch and into a nest.

Second-graders win chance to show up Johnny Carson

HOOPER, Utah (UPI) — The 1983 first prize "GT-UVO" VUELK entrepreneurs who don't stay up late enough to know much about Johnny Carson has won them the chance to trade their product with the talk-show host.

Second-graders Jennie Weston and Susie Hovey are in the business of selling jokes.

The Hooper Elementary School students entered their business. Susie's Punnies for Jennie's Pennies, in the Hooper Elementary Free Enterprise Fair in Utah last month, calling the Carson staff's attention to their penny-a-joke business.

To prove the worth of their product, the 7-year-olds who were scheduled to appear on the Tonight Show Wednesday, provided this sample:

Q: What do you get when you cross a giant with a skunk?
A: A big stink.

During the school fair, they earned $1.52.

If they didn't learn about free enterprise through their project they should understand it after their television appearance. The girls have been offered $200 to appear on the show, and they have to obtain work permits and meet with a studio tutor.

Newman sings; Nixon to speak

By JOAN HANAUER
United Press International

Paul Newman sang a parody of "I've Grown Accustomed to Her Face" and Joanne Woodward chimed in with a version of "I've Got Rhythm" to introduce Newman's Industrial Strength Venetian-Spaghetti Sauce at a party in New York Thursday night. Asked to explain the name, he said, "We were always concerned we had no use for our crankcase oil — that's why it's called Industrial Strength." It's Venetian because the Newmans like Venice. Gene Shalit of NBC's "Today" show, said "Industrial Strength means they will clean up."

Princess Diana, who wasn't old enough to vote in Britain's last general elections, has registered to vote in next month's balloting. Five other members of Britain's royal family also are registered — Princess Margaret, her two children, Viscount Lindley, 21, and Lady Sarah Armstrong-Jones, 19, and Prince and Princess Michael of Kent. Queen Elizabeth, Prince Phillip, Prince Charles and the royal dukes are forbidden from voting by the British constitution.

Richard Pryor, one of the biggest box office draws in Hollywood, has signed a five-year, $40 million non-exclusive production deal with Columbia Pictures. Pryor will produce, but not necessarily star in, four "moderately" priced films over which he has artistic control, plus he will star in at least three Columbia films. Pryor's first film will be the "Charlie Parker Story," and he will reteam with Gene Wilder next spring to "Double Whoopie."

Former President Richard Nixon was having dinner with millionaire friend Bob Roberts in Miami Thursday night when NGRH Miami High School principal Nicholas Borota approached the table and asked Nixon if he would attend the school's journalism banquet that night. "As a former yearbook reporter himself, Nixon couldn't refuse. "He was very charming," said senior Pat Phillips, 17. "He really knows how to please a crowd."

Sen. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., will deliver the commencement address Monday at his alma mater, Providence College. The Rhode Island school also will award an honorary degree to Boston Red Sox great Carl Yastrzemski.

Officials propose warning labels on sunlamps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration Friday proposed expanding its rules requiring warning labels on home sunlamps to include a new type used by commercial tanning parlors, which of skin injury is linked to cataracts and skin injury.

Since May 1980, FDA has required sunlamps that emit ultraviolet-B radiation to include warning labels, goggles, timers and other controls to protect users from radiation injuries caused by overexposure.

The FDA wants to extend those rules to sunlamps that emit ultraviolet-A radiation, and require a more explicit warning label. FDA officials said the ultraviolet-A lamps, a new type of device used by 75 percent of commercial tanning parlors, are "mistakenly being called 'safer' than the earlier type."

FDA officials said more than 7,000 people are treated in U.S. hospital emergency rooms for sunlamp-related injuries each year, mainly skin burns and eye irritations. Ultraviolet-B lamps, used mainly at home, are linked to premature skin aging and skin cancer, FDA said.

Ultraviolet-A is more similar to natural light, but its use is "not without hazard," FDA said, citing reported links to cataracts and skin injury.

Large doses of ultraviolet-A — as much as 1,000 times stronger than other sunlamps — are needed to produce a visible tan, meaning people must be exposed to longer periods of radiation, FDA said.

Ultraviolet-A penetrates the skin more deeply, "attacking the fiber that normally keeps skin resilient," FDA officials said. Some medications and cosmetics, which can make people more sensitive to ultraviolet rays, can result in cataracts when absorbed into the eye, FDA said.

The proposed rule, the result of two years' work with sunlamp manufacturers, professional associations, consumer groups and other government agencies, was published in the Federal Register Friday for 60 days of public comment. It would take effect a year after the final version is published.

The new warning label would read: "DANGER — Ultraviolet radiation. Follow instructions. Avoid overexposure. As with natural sunlight, overexposure causes eye and skin injury and allergic reactions. Prolonged exposure may cause premature aging of the skin and skin cancer. FAILURE TO USE PROTECTIVE EYEWEAR MAY RESULT IN SEVERE BURNS OR LONG TERM INJURY TO THE EYES.

Salvador launches offensive

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Government counterinsurgency troops launched a new offensive Friday to rout leftist guerrillas entrenched in the mountains of northern Chalatenango province, officers said.

Salvadoran army troops were trucked to government posts in the towns of San Rafael and Dulce Nombre de Maria and on the mountain called El Candelero, all in a region about 35 miles north of San Salvador, the officials said.

The Marxist-led Popular Liberation Forces control most of Chalatenango province, the second poorest province in the country, including towns along the main northern highway to Honduras.

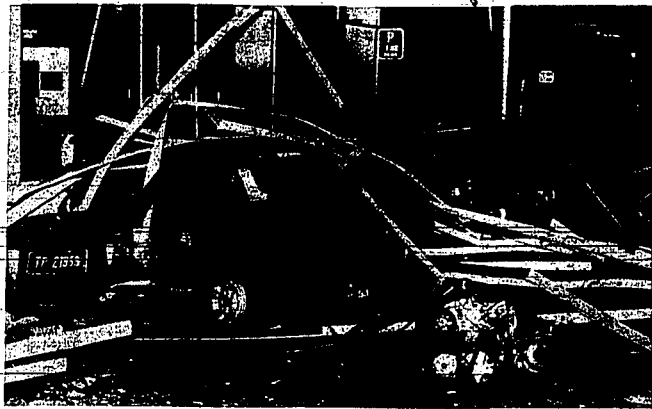

The government has kept the highway open and protected the hydroelectric dams in the province that provide half the country's electricity, but lately guerrillas have encroached on those positions.

Special counterinsurgency forces were being deployed for the operation, which was expected to go into full swing next week, but it was not known how many troops will be involved.

In eastern El Salvador, the guerrillas blew down three electrical power towers in San Vicente and Usulután provinces about 8 p.m. Thursday, blacking out the eastern 40 percent of the country.

Rebels also raided the town of Jitiquilco, 50 miles southeast of San Salvador in Usulután province, battling security forces posted in the center of the town, officers said. The attack lasted for an hour, starting before dawn Friday and no casualties were reported, the officers said.

In fighting late Thursday outside Apopa, 6 miles north of San Salvador, government troops wounded two leftist guerrillas in a clash.

Two cars sit among debris after a bomb blast injured about 150 people in South Africa.

Bomb rips military office, kills 16

PRETORIA, South Africa (UPI) — A car bomb exploded at South Africa's air force headquarters during rush hour in downtown Pretoria Friday, killing at least 16 people and injuring 149 men, women and children, officials said.

No one claimed responsibility for the blast, but authorities immediately blamed three outlawed political organizations — committed to the overthrow of the whites-only Pretoria government — for the bloodshed.

South African Minister of Defense Magnus Malan told the House of Assembly in Cape Town that the blast was "a cowardly criminal deed" against South Africa.

Police Minister Louis le Grange said the bomb ripped through the parking lot of the 22-story headquarters of the South African Air Force and the directorate for military intelligence at about 4:30 p.m. (10:30 a.m. EDT).

"It appears an Alpha Romeo car was parked outside the Nedbank Plaza complex was the bomb carrier and there is evidence to suggest there may have been several bombs inside the vehicle," le Grange said.

Le Grange said at least 16 people were killed by the explosion that shattered windows of nearby buildings and destroyed several parked cars at the peak of rush hour in the South African capital.

He later reported 149 men, women and children were injured. Hospital officials indicated the majority of the victims were non-whites.

Ambulances repeatedly raced back and forth from the area-carrying victims to hospitals. The fire brigade spokesman said most of the fire department units in the capital city had been dispatched to the scene.

"I have no doubt at all that the ANC (African National Congress), the PAC (Pan Africanist Congress), or the CP (Communist Party of South Africa) were responsible for this wanton murder," le Grange said.

The ANC has been the most frequent claimant during the past decade for nearly 600 bomb attacks throughout South Africa in which the majority of victims have been blacks.

Police sealed off the entrance to the downtown block of the headquarters and threatened photographers with arrest if they tried to photograph the scene.

U.S. cautions Japan against lopsided trade

TOKYO (UPI) — Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige warned Japan Friday that its trade surplus with the United States risks fostering protectionist sentiment among Americans.

Baldrige also criticized the Japanese practice of targeting — aiding growth industries through subsidies that facilitate research and development.

The tough-talking commerce secretary told a luncheon meeting of the Japan National Press Club that the $20 billion U.S.-Japanese trade imbalance registered in favor of Japan last year was likely to grow.

As a result, he said, "It looks like the consensus which supports free trade is going to be further eroded."

Baldrige also said American businessmen fear targeting in support of industries such as computer technology may undo the benefits brought by Japanese concessions meant to ease trade friction between the two countries.

In the area of computers, Baldrige said, "It's possible the government is thinking of negating the effects of trade liberalization."

"I know Japan is not the only country with an industrial policy. But when industrial policy reaches out of a country and affects trade," he said, "it becomes a matter of serious concern."

Earlier this week the Japanese parliament ratified measures designed to ease product certification and testing procedures to bring them in line with international norms.

Baldrige said he was happy with recent steps making Japan more accessible to foreign goods, but, "We still have some concerns."

On Thursday Baldrige concluded an agreement with the Nippon Telegraph and Telephone public corporation to promote technology exchange and sales of U.S. telecommunications equipment to Japan.

Japan purchased only about $20 million in telecommunications equipment from the United States last year, compared with about $800 million in U.S. purchases from Japan, Baldrige said.

"We both agreed that has to be expanded substantially," he said.

Tories ignite new plan on re-election strategy

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher opened her re-election campaign Friday as the government announced that inflation had dropped to its lowest level in 15 years. Her opponents charged the good news would not last.

Opposition officials quickly attacked the government announcement that Britain's annual inflation rate, as measured by the retail price index had dropped to 4 percent last month, the best since April 1982.

The Labor Party's Peter Shore said the April figure marked the end of inflation's downward trend and that all "reputable forecasts" predicted it would climb back to 7 percent later in the year.

Liberal Party leader David Steel said the United States, West Germany and Japan all had lower inflation and unemployment than Britain.

At her Conservative Party's first campaign news conference, Mrs. Thatcher repeatedly stressed her policies would lead to economic growth and lower unemployment.

"No one in this government is cynical about unemployment in any way," she said, referring to opposition charges that her inflation success was bought by the unemployment of 3.2 million.

Jail riot hits Isle of Wight

NEWPORT, Isle of Wight, England (UPI) — About 50 rioting prisoners wielding wooden staves, metal bars and broken glass wrecked an entire cell block of a security prison in a three-hour riot Friday.

Seven prisoners and one warden were slightly injured as specially trained squads of prison officers tackled the rioting mob — including Irish Republican army convicts and "hitters" at Albany prison, on the Isle of Wight, 2 miles off the coast of southern England, a prison spokesman said.

Nine prisoners were still protesting on a cell block roof Friday night. Albany prison is a modern jail housing some 230 top security prisoners such as IRA bombers and those serving life sentences, but there was no danger of a mass breakout, a prison spokesman said.

It was not clear precisely how many prisoners were involved in the trouble but one prison source estimated there were at least 40 to 50 troublemakers.

The disturbances started around 11 a.m. during the exercise period when most prisoners were out of their cells, a prison service spokesman said.

A group went on the rampage in "B" block, smashing furniture, breaking windows, ripping out doors a spokesman said. The trouble then spread to "C" block where another riot flared.

Simplot pursues three bankrupt trout farms

KEN ELLIS Owns facilities

By BOB FREUND and MARTY TRILL, HAASE Times-News writers

TWIN FALLS — The J.R. Simplot Co. is negotiating to buy three trout farms placed in bankruptcy reorganization more than a year ago by owner Ken Ellis of Buhl.

Disclosure of Simplot's interest in the Valley Trout Farm, Farrago and Magic Springs corporations came Friday when Ellis's lawyer, Frank Dykas of Buhl, announced that he would go to court Monday to seek a delay in the bankruptcy case.

"I'm going to ask for a continuance for 90 days on the grounds that there is a pending possible sale to the J.R. Simplot Co., and we will provide the court with a letter detailing the negotiations that have been going on for two months," Dykas said. In an interview, he said, there is a realistic possibility of a sale.

A sale of the farms to Simplot could stave off a liquidation forced by the Internal Revenue Service for payment of back taxes. Citing "unreasonable delays" by Ellis, federal attorneys in Idaho have filed motions asking bankruptcy Judge Merlin Young of Boise to reject voluntary reorganization and to proceed with the liquidation of the companies.

Meanwhile, the two law firms that are representing the Ellis corporations also want to withdraw from the case. Roe and Fowler of Salt Lake City and Eberle, Berlin, Kading, Turnbow and Gillespie of Boise are seeking $42,716 in fees due for their legal services, according to filings made May 4.

The papers allege that each Ellis corporation "has repeatedly failed and refused to provide its attorneys with sufficient and adequate financial information" for submitting monthly statements and a plan of reorganization to the court.

Young has ordered Ellis to appear in federal court in Boise this Monday and explain why he has failed to provide the reports on time. A court-mandated liquidation would affect the Buhl area's economy significantly.

Ellis's businesses employ 60 to 70 people. But "when he's processing, he's been up to 400 people. That's a lot of jobs," Dykas says. "If there's a chance of a sale, Ellis won't get any money out of the sale of Valley Trout's assets — but the creditors will."

If there's no sale, Dykas said he expects the bankruptcy and liquidation to be ordered by the court.

Simplot spokesmen were not available at the corporate headquarters Friday to comment on the report. And a Simplot representative at an outlying plant said corporate policy prohibits comment concerning potential acquisitions.

However, a source familiar with the trout industry said the chairman of the company's board of directors, J.R. Simplot, took a helicopter tour of the Magic Springs, Valley Trout and Farrago farms about 60 days ago and then met with Ellis over lunch at Blue Lakes Country Club, north of Twin Falls. If the potato-processing company were to purchase the trout farms, it could ship frozen trout to market efficiently in the same railroad cars it uses for its frozen potato products, the source said.

Ellis reportedly is asking more than $10 million for his holdings, the source said. He has been trying to reorganize the three companies into profitable enterprises since entering bankruptcy court in early 1982.

In another federal lawsuit, now more than two years old, Ellis is charging that a consolidation of the Thousand Springs Trout Farm, owned by the Innot Corp., into Clear Springs Trout Co. of Buhl created a monopoly situation in the trout business. Ellis maintains the company broke a contract with him and left five trout farms owned by himself and his wife, Brenda, without any market for the fish they grew. Thousand Springs had processed those fish.

The companies involved are the three mentioned in the bankruptcy proceedings, as well as Caribou Trout Ranch Inc. and Aqua Life Inc.

YFCA passes one-month memberships

By PAT MARCANTONIO Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — You can join the Magic Valley YFCA now on a month-by-month basis. Instead of making a one-year commitment.

Those who choose the new plan, however, will find it costs more.

Effective immediately, the plan was approved this week by the YFCA board of directors.

Under the arrangement, a family membership will cost $20 a month, or $15 for a single person. The first and last month's payments are due in advance. The YFCA will not send out a billing statement, so it will be up to the members to remember their monthly obligation.

"That is one way to buy a membership."

A family still will be able to buy a one-year membership for $30 down, and $15 a month automatically will be taken from the family banking account for 10 months. For a single person, it's $20 down and $10 a month. Or, families can pay $150 for a one-year membership — $100 for a single person — and save money.

"Using the new plan, a year's membership adds up to $240."

The board began looking for another membership alternative for those who have requested direct billing from the Y and less than a 100-year membership, said Dick Waters, a member of the Y membership committee.

Waters says that some people might consider the new arrangement a ploy. However, the short-term membership costs more because the Y management will have to police those who want to pay only by the month, he says.

The plan will appeal to those living in town on a temporary basis or who do not have a checking account, says John Eschenburg, the Y's executive director.

In another matter at this week's meeting, the board discussed, in closed session, the job performance of Eschenburg, who has been with the Y since January 1982. Eschenburg requested the review, but he was not present for the discussion, according to Jim Tarter, the board chairman.

The board is pleased with Eschenburg and the advances made under his leadership, Tarter said. Later, it will give the executive director a vote of confidence and discuss any suggestions for improvement, he said.

Tarter added that a wage increase for Eschenburg is "still in the works."

The 1984 Olympic torch also was discussed at the meeting. There's a possibility that the traditional torch will be carrying the Twin Falls on its way to Los Angeles, said Donna Stalley, another board member.

The U.S. Olympic Committee, the national YMCA organization and other groups are cooperating on a plan to run the torch through the 50 states before it ends up in Los Angeles. The torch is used in the games' opening ceremonies.

The event would be profitable to the Magic Valley YFCA, which could take pledges for the runners carrying the light.

Stalley said she would have more details later.

Board member Pat Florence reported on the YFCA's agreement with the city of Twin Falls for a summer swim program at the YFCA. The city's Harmon Park pool has been closed.

The city will co-sponsor the swim program on occasion, but never get around to the YFCA. The YFCA will administer the program. Daily swim prices will be kept at the same level as last year at Harmon pool, Eschenburg said. In addition, the Y will offer a coupon book for even lower rates to swimmers.

The program will begin June 6 and last until the end of August, from 1 to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Waters also told the board that the YFCA will write to service groups, like the Salvation Army, and inform them of the Y's availability to low-income families.

No family or individual has been turned away if they could not afford to renew a membership or buy one, Eschenburg said. With the letter, the YFCA is seeking referrals, so it can find scholarships for those who cannot pay for the use of the Y facilities.

Bird's-eye view

John Heck enjoyed a good view Friday as he spent the day replacing mortar in the Twin Falls Public Library's masonry. The library's stone work is being repaired, using some of the $3,000 allocated to the library from a special city maintenance fund.

School trustee expected write-in win

By BONNIE BAIRD-JONES Times-News writer

JEROME — The new Jerome school board member, Walter Deloy Thueson, 38, of Jerome, was elected Tuesday as a write-in candidate, but he is serious about his responsibilities.

Thueson says he did not campaign for the office, but he did agree to accept the office if elected.

"I was approached by a group who wanted to conduct a write-in campaign, and I agreed to serve if they were successful. There was very little campaigning by anyone, but I wasn't too surprised when I won. People just don't have enough concern about school elections. Some of the people I talked with weren't even aware there was an election."

Thueson has had a long interest in education and says he had thought about running for the school board on occasion, but never got around to filing. Alvin Chojnacki, the incumbent representative from Zone 1, who lost to Thueson, and Nancy Churchman, from Zone 5, were both unopposed on the ballot. Only 12 votes were cast in Zone 5. Thueson won over Chojnacki, 22-9.

"There was nothing personal in the campaign."

Thueson says. "I think the incumbent deserves a lot of appreciation for the time and effort he has put into the school board position."

"I am not ready at this point to say I will be seeking changes, but I do have some ideas I would like to follow through on."

He says he hopes to see more emphasis on vocational training in an agriculture area such as Jerome, he says, there should be a sound agricultural training program for high school students, covering the entire scope of the industry, from maintenance of equipment to farming technology.

"I think we want the best academic education possible for the students, but I don't think there has been enough consideration given vocational training. There should be an agriculture vocational building at the high school."

Terminating the new vocational building there "only a wood shop. There was a need for expansion in all areas of vocational training at the high school."

Computers, he says, will touch everyone's lives in the future and training should have started, probably 15 years earlier.

Alternatives for the better use of school buildings and revenue sources in Jerome need to be examined, Thueson says. This is not to say a new building is not needed, he says, but he urges careful examination of all factors before a decision is made.

Thueson currently operates a sub-contracting business in Jerome, handling insulation, siding and other building materials. However, he holds a teaching certificate in speech and English. He says the latter was his major in college, and he also is a licensed real-estate salesman and has credentials to teach at the community-college level in California. Thueson has not used his teaching certificate in Jerome.

He grew up in Jerome, graduated from Jerome High School, the College of Southern Idaho and Weber State College in Ogden, Utah. He left California to return to Jerome to raise his family, he says.

He served eight years as a U.S. Marine Corps captain and a helicopter pilot, including two years as a flight instructor.

Thueson and his wife have four children in the Jerome school system and a fifth that will be entering the system in the near future.

CSI board rejects donation of cabin

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho board has voted not to accept an offer to move the historic Stricker cabin to the junior college campus.

Siting the cabin was not compatible with the Herrett Museum, and that it would cost too much to move and operate, Jerry Meyerhoeffer, the school's interim president, asked the board to turn down the offer. The board agreed, at its meeting earlier this week.

The cabin, located south of Hansen, is the oldest building in Twin Falls County. It was built in 1865 and served as the Rock Creek Store.

By the Stricker Hayes, a son of the original owners, offered the building to the college last month, in the hope that it would remain in the county.

"Although Meyerhoeffer said the building is historically significant, the college is not in a financial position to accept it," he said.

"If the building came with a request for its operation and maintenance, the college might have reached a different conclusion, he said."

Meyerhoeffer said that he hopes the Twin Falls County Historical Society will step forward to preserve the building.

JERRY MEYERHOEFFER Recommended rejection

Also at this week's meeting, the board expanded the number of trustee tuition scholarships, from 72 to 87. Each of the scholarships will be worth $300.

In honor of CSI's revamped agriculture program, Meyerhoeffer wanted to limit the 15 extra scholarships to ag students. However, the board voted to put the scholarship money into the general pool, with the idea that the agriculture department could identify potential recipients.

Tree planting planned

By DAVID MOFFAT Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — When President Reagan signed the $4.6 billion federal public-works jobs bill in March, the flourish of his pen appeared worldwide away from the plight of the unemployed in the Magic Valley.

Few would have expected it might have any bearing on the financial prospects of the city of Twin Falls and its downtown business improvement district, either.

But now, months later, all these factors may come together.

The city and the BID plan to apply for a public-works grant, made possible by the bill, even though the use they envision for the money — planting trees to extend downtown landscaping — may not have been at the top of most congressmen's minds when they voted for the legislation.

The business improvement district was created by the city last year so that downtown merchants could "tax" themselves to provide a common source of revenue. This year's BID budget splits the use of this money between pooled advertising and beautification projects, including tree planting.

So, when it was announced that $168,700 of the federal money would be available throughout the state for parks and recreation rehabilitation projects, it was only natural that BID coordinator Jim Willis and City Manager Tom Courtney would take notice.

The $168,700 comes through an unlikely conduit — the U.S. Small Business Administration.

Wayne Forrey, the head of the planning department of J-U-B Engineering's Boise office, was the business of distributing parks and recreation beautification grants, too.

Forrey gave a seminar here earlier this month to explain how local governments could get their hands on some of the public-works money. As engineers for more than 35 cities in the Northwest, J-U-B is in the business of giving seminars, both as

Students sell cookies to buy subscription

By BONNIE BAIRD-JONES Times-News writer

JEROME — When Jerome librarian Nita Becker explained to a fifth-grade class at Central Elementary School in Jerome why there were no daily newspapers for reference material in the library, she underestimated their reaction.

Becker said the class, under the direction of teachers Connie Heizer and Sandra Thompson, often walks the short distance from school to the public library to use reference material. The students come as a group under the supervision of team teachers.

"They are always well-behaved and respectful, and spend a class period here, then go back to their school," she said.

"One of their latest assignments was on world events, and they had to rely on news magazines for reference and resource material. I explained to them that our budget is too tight to allow us to purchase any of the major daily newspapers available in this area."

The students took up the challenge. After school, they began baking cookies, and they sold them during lunch hours in the school hallways for five cents a cookie.

Thursday, which just happened to be Becker's birthday, the students arrived at the library. But this time they did not ask to use the library's resources.

They were there to present the librarian with enough money for a year's subscription to The Times-News.

Hiker injured by rock

TWIN FALLS — A 24-year-old woman hiker was injured late Friday afternoon when a rock on the Snake River Canyon wall dislodged and struck her in the back. Debbie Doyle, 24, of Twin Falls, was taken to the Twin Falls Clinic and Hospital, after rescue teams brought her from a rugged trail that leads down the south wall of the canyon near the Jerome Memorial Bridge.

Twin Falls County Sheriff James Munn said Doyle was one of a party of five persons who were hiking on the old "Johnny Holland" trail, once used by the Holland family that lived in the canyon for many years. A hiker on the trail above Doyle apparently dislodged a good-sized rock, the sheriff said, and it rolled down striking the woman in the back.

The party was about halfway down the canyon when the accident occurred. The accident was reported to the sheriff's office at 5:29 p.m., Munn said. Twin Falls County Search and Rescue Team members joined sheriff's deputies in bringing the injured woman from the canyon wall to a waiting boat on the river below the trail. She was carried by stretcher, Munn said, and then taken by boat to a waiting ambulance at the boat landing near Canyon Springs Golf Course. The rescue effort was completed at 8 p.m.

Doyle suffered cuts, bruises and back injuries and was still in the emergency room late Friday night.

Wire story was incorrect

BOISE — A recent United Press International story concerning a sentencing hearing in the Christopher Peterson murder case attributed the dismissal of charges against one defendant to a plea bargain.

Peterson was beaten to death in his Ada County jail cell during the 1982 Memorial Day weekend. The story, which appeared in the May 6 edition of The Times-News, incorrectly reported that the dismissal of charges against Joseph Krahn, the fifth of Peterson's cellmates, was dropped in exchange for testimony against the four defendants.

The Ada County deputy prosecutor who handled the case, Jay Rosenthal, said Friday that evidence in the case was the sole reason behind the decision to drop the charge against Krahn.

"We determined there was insufficient evidence to pursue the case against him," Rosenthal said.

Only after the charges were dismissed did the prosecutor call Krahn as a witness during a preliminary hearing in the case.

Robbery suspects assigned

TWIN FALLS — Three of the four suspects in the Dav's IGA robbery in Hansen remained jailed Friday in lieu of $25,000 bail.

Arraigned in Fifth District Magistrate Court in Twin Falls were 21-year-old Terry Traxler, a transient whose last address was given as Fort Lupton, Colo.; 21-year-old Robert Cramer of Kimberly; and 19-year-old Wes Peterson of Route 3, Jerome.

The public defender will represent Traxler. The fourth member of the group and the only woman arrested, 40-year-old Jody Ellis, of 128 Harrison St. in Twin Falls, was released without bail Thursday. She has been ordered to appear next Tuesday in magistrate court for her arraignment.

All four defendants have been charged with armed robbery. That's contrary to Wednesday's announcement that only Traxler actually would be charged with robbing the store.

Traxler is alleged to be the man who pointed a handgun at two employees of the Hansen grocery store on Monday and ordered cash taken from a locked drawer. Sheriff Jim Munn has declined to elaborate on the charge that the three other defendants assisted Traxler.

A telephone call from a confidential source led police to the defendants.

Burglars hit RV vehicles

TWIN FALLS — The loss of $1,795 in electronic and sound equipment was reported Friday at Travel Town, a recreation vehicle firm at 643 Second Ave. S. in Twin Falls.

Twin Falls police said Kelly Peterson, a representative of Travel Town, reported someone entered three motorhomes on the company lot between 6:30 p.m. Wednesday and 8:30 a.m. Friday. He said there was no sign of forced entry, and the vehicles were locked when he discovered the damage.

Stereo cassette players were taken from all three vehicles, as well as a citizen-band radio and a small color television set from one. Damage was caused to the dash panels of all three vehicles as the equipment was removed.

Two Hazelton thefts reported

HAZELTON — Two burglaries in Hazelton were being investigated this week by Jerome County sheriff's deputies.

Elizabeth Werner told officers that someone entered her house earlier this month and removed a camera and case valued at between $700 and $800. Officers said the woman placed the time of the burglary at about May 4.

Another Hazelton resident, Kenneth Newlan, was visited by burglars on May 14. He reported a television and stereo unit taken from his home. The loss has been estimated at $485.

Jerome van loses stereo

JEROME — A stereo system has been reported stolen from a vehicle parked on a Jerome used-car lot. Jerome police said a van parked at the Con Pauls Chevrolet agency was entered sometime Sunday night, possibly through an unlocked rear door, and the stereo equipment was removed. No estimate of loss was available.

Jerome man gets probation

JEROME — Gary Lee Westlake, 21, of 423 N. Garfield St. in Jerome, was placed on a year's probation this week when he appeared in Fifth District Court in Jerome on charges of possession of stolen property.

He was found guilty of being in possession of a telescope mounted on a rifle stock that reportedly had been stolen from the Idaho Fish and Game Department in Jerome. The equipment was valued in excess of $150, making the charge a felony.

Judge Theron W. Ward ordered a five-year prison sentence, but he suspended it in favor of a year's probation.

BLM will sell 20-acre parcel at auction

SHOSHONE — The Bureau of Land Management will offer a 20-acre parcel of public land for sale on July 1.

The land, located southwest of Magic Reservoir and adjacent to Cottonwoods Road, will be sold at an open, competitive oral auction, for a minimum bid of $4,000.

Most of the BLM lands scheduled for sale are small, isolated tracts that are difficult to manage in a cost-effective way, they say.

To beating death

Murder suspect pleads innocent

BY MARTY TRILLHAASE
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — A 20-year-old Twin Falls man will fight charges that he beat to death the deaf mother of two small children earlier this year.

Jerry Pennell, of 567 Gardner St., told Judge Theron Ward on Friday that he is innocent of the first-degree murder charge that has been filed against him.

Pennell is charged with the March 23 beating-death of 27-year-old Carlene Gillespie of Twin Falls. The woman died at Boise's St. Alphonsus Regional Medical Center, following the beating in her home at 1241 N. Ninth Ave. E.

Pennell, whose bond initially was set at $1 million, appeared in county jail over the weekend during his Fifth District Court arraignment.

Ward raised the question of bond, but Pennell's lawyer, Randy Stoker, indicated that even a lesser amount would be out of reach for his client.

"Frankly, anything in excess of a bond of $10,000 to $15,000 is out of the question," Stoker said.

Ward subsequently withdrew bond issue altogether. The judge said he did so to keep the case-record clean.

Both Stoker and Prosecutor Harry DeHaan indicated the trial, before a 12-member jury, should last about four to five days.

But first, Stoker indicated that he plans to challenge magistrate Judge Charles Brumback's decision to bind Pennell over to the district court, following a preliminary hearing.

Stoker told Ward that he will ask that the case be dismissed because prosecutors failed to present sufficient evidence at the preliminary hearing.

In an unrelated case heard Friday, the man charged with embezzling more than $20,000 from the Twin Falls Ida-Best feed store dropped his 14-month-long defense and pleaded guilty.

Ray O. Hamilton, 35, of Shoshone, could serve up to 14 years in prison for his admission.

Hamilton was accused of embezzling $21,272 from January 1980 through January 1982. He pleaded innocent on March 26, 1982, to the allegation that he wrote a series of checks, payable to himself, for $39,225 worth of 150-grain purchases and, $1,977 in merchandise that the company never received.

Ward continued Hamilton's release without bail, pending the outcome of a presentence investigation.

In demolition derby

Scouts will get to be destructive

TWIN FALLS — Thunderbluff Raceway will open its 1983 auto-racing season today with the sixth annual Explorer Scout Demolition Derby.

The raceway is located 16 miles south of Twin Falls, next to the Nat-Soo-Pan hot-springs recreation area.

The demolition derby will feature members of the Snake River Council of the Boy Scouts of America who are members of the Explorer program, 16 or older, the holder of valid driver's licenses and backed by a pit crew of fellow post members.

The 46 crews entered for the event have worked for weeks preparing some old wreck of a car for destruction in the muddy-arena-infield of the raceway.

Several heats will be held, concluding with the "grand-slam" event, which will feature the winners — the survivors — of the other heats.

Each Explorer will race his car singly and then the oval track in an effort to beat the Explorer track record of 27.35 seconds, set in 1979. Three time-trial trophies will be awarded.

The season opener also will feature the regular racing attractions of the raceway. The event will begin at 6 p.m. Tickets are $4 for adults and $2 for children 6 to 14. Children under 5 will be admitted free.

service to their clients and in hope of drumming up new business, he says.

He called the SBA to find out about the money.

It turns out one particular small business association — the nurserymen and landscapers' lobby — was quite interested in the jobs bill.

"When the economy is down, it's a little hard to convince people to purchase shrubs," he says.

Should Twin Falls receive a grant from the SBA, it would have to be spent by Oct. 1. A firm employing fewer than 70 persons would have to be used.

Forrey says Twin Falls may not be eligible for many of the other special funds created by the bill. Many of the largest grants are tied to local-unemployment rates, and some counties in the northern part of the state have seen unemployment as high as 30 percent.

A total of $255,000 in library construction grants already have been handed out by the state, mostly to libraries north of Big Lost, says Twin Falls city librarian Arney Call.

In addition, Forrey says, the bill works by boosting appropriations to existing programs.

One of the largest of these affecting small cities is the community-development block-grant program, and since Twin Falls already has received a large multi-year grant under this program — to construct the new Chamber of Commerce industrial park — it is unlikely it would qualify for any of this money, he says.

Kimberly United Methodist will celebrate its 75th birthday with Sunday ceremonies

By KATE LOPEZ
Times-News correspondent

KIMBERLY — The first attempt at organizing a Methodist Church in Kimberly in May 1908 found a shocking lack of Methodists in the area. In fact, that first organizational attempt—found only three Methodists and five Presbyterians willing to join the church.

Today, 75 years later, as the church celebrates its anniversary this Sunday, membership has grown to almost 400.

The Rev. John Wood is the pastor of the church. According to Wood, there will be a full-day-of-church activities to commemorate the 75-year anniversary.

The Sunday school program will begin at 11 a.m., to be followed by a worship service at 11:30 a.m.

The superintendent for the Eastern District, which reaches from Caldwell to Idaho Falls to Ashton, is Ralph Lawrence. He will speak at the morning service. Lawrence has served Methodist churches throughout Idaho and Oregon.

An afternoon worship service will begin at 4 p.m. Bishop Calvin D. McConnell, of the Oregon-Idaho Conference and the Alaska Missionary Conference, will speak at that service.

McConnell and his wife, Dr. Mary McConnell, live in Portland, where he serves on the boards of the Hill School of Theology, Alaska Pacific University and Willamette University.

A potluck dinner will follow the afternoon service. During the dinner, the junior- and senior-high youth will present a historical pageant of the church.

Helen Connally, an instructor of music at the College of Southern Idaho, will give an organ recital at 7:30 p.m. to close the day's events.

Helen Connally will give a recital Sunday evening to conclude the anniversary party.

Our church news guidelines

The Times-News encourages any church in the Magic Valley area to submit information for our listing of church services, which appears each Saturday.

- To ensure your information is used, follow these guidelines:
- The deadline for church news is Thursday noon.
- "Typeset" or "plainly" printed information is best. It helps eliminate errors.
- Provide full information — complete names, times, locations, day and date. Include the name of the community — we serve many — and a phone number to call if more information is needed.
- If you have questions about church news, call 733-0931 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., and ask for Glenda May or Jan Kinney.

Gooding will dedicate plant

GOODING — The new Gooding waste-water treatment plant will be dedicated today. Mayor Gene Heller says the plant will be open for informal public tours beginning at noon, with dedication ceremonies to be held at 2 p.m. The engineers who designed the plant will be on hand to explain how the system works. Former Mayor Don Morrow and former councilmen who assisted with the plant have been invited to participate in the ceremonies. Light refreshments will be served.

Fiddlers will meet today

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho Old Time Fiddlers will hold a polluck dinner meeting at 1 p.m. today at the Disabled American Veterans Hall, at Shop and Harrison streets in Twin Falls.

Jerome sets summer school

JEROME — Summer school sessions in the Jerome School District will begin June 20 and continue through Aug. 2. The program provides 30 days of instruction for students who are having problems with basic skills problems. Superintendent Stephenson Youngerman says.

Wendell school plans events

WENDELL — Wendell Elementary School will hold several special activities next week. On Wednesday, there will be a track and field meet. The first, second and third grades will compete at the elementary school, and the fourth, fifth and sixth grades at the high-school gym. On Thursday, the movie "Toby Tyler" will be shown at 8:45 a.m. at the elementary school. Students will be dismissed at 12:30 p.m. Teachers will work in their rooms from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. On Friday, buses will operate to take students to school to get their report cards at 9:30 a.m. Students will be returned home on the buses at 10:30 a.m. Students not riding buses may pick up their report cards at 9:30 a.m.

State offers child testing

TWIN FALLS — Free development screenings for children will be held this Wednesday, May 25, at the state Adult and Child Development Center, at 833 Harrison St. in Twin Falls. Children between the ages of 1 and 5 will be screened for delays in physical development, language, speech, motor and self-help skills. Vision and hearing also will be tested. Parents of children showing delays in any areas will be referred to the appropriate resources for professional help. Health officials urge parents who suspect any problems with their children to attend the screening, because treatment is usually more effective at an early age. The screenings will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., by appointment only. Parents may call the center at 734-9770, extension 36, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. for an appointment.

Merchants consider market

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls downtown business improvement district would like to sponsor a farmers market this fall. The market would be held either on Fridays or Saturdays from the end of August through September, says BID coordinator Jim Willis. The key is making arrangements with area fruit and vegetable growers in advance. Those growers would have to be willing to bring their excess harvest downtown once a week. Farmers markets have been successful in other cities, Willis says. Downtown merchants have talked about having one in Twin Falls for a number of years, but they have never been able to line up enough support to guarantee success, he says.

Substitutes will earn more

FILER — Substitute teachers' salaries were raised from $30 to $35 per day recently by the Filer school board. Last month, Superintendent Sheldon Kovarsky had proposed that the wages of the best substitute teachers be increased. "At the time, I thought it was a very good idea," Kovarsky said. But since then, he discussed the idea with some substitute teachers and then decided to ask that the raise be applied to all teachers equally. The increase "will make us competitive with the other school districts," he said.

Top walkers receive awards

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County chapter of the March of Dimes held its awards ceremony recently. The awards went to the top participants in the 10th annual "Walk America," which was held April 23. Ron Victor, the owner of the Sound Company in Twin Falls, awarded the grand prize — an $850 stereo system — to Jane Hawkins. She collected more than $450 in pledges for the walk-a-thon. Other winners were Endura Bartlett, who won a video system, donated by Woolworth's, and David Samson, who received a bicycle, donated by Sears. Chapter officials ask that all walk-a-thon participants turn in their pledges as soon as possible.

Correction

WENDELL — Michael LaRue and Tina Strickland are the co-vice-principals at Wendell High School. It was reported incorrectly in Thursday's Times-News that Strickland was the salutatorian. Both students had 4.0 grade-point averages.

McGinnis triumphs at state track

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Staff Writer

BOISE — It was a great day to be a McGinnis here Friday as senior Nancy of Twin Falls and sophomore Maureen of Wood River discovered during Idaho High School Track Meet.

In fact, it wasn't hard to be a Miller or a Correa either. Both Macie Miller of Twin Falls and Pat Correa of Burley collected individual championships.

On the boys' side, Magic-Vall's hand cooled a little as only Deelo's Rod Butters found his way to a title. Jerome junior Gary Hulseby ran into that "once in a lifetime" effort and had to settle for second in the discus, but he'll be looking for a little revenge in today's shot put finals.

Friday largely was given over to settling the field event championships and qualifying the sprinters and hurdlers down to the final eight for today's race.

It was in the only running final — the girls' 3,200 meters — that the non-related McGinnises moved to the fore.

Maureen took the lead at the outset and simply set the pace for the rest of the way in taking the A-2 title in 11 minutes, 51.6 seconds. She had about an 80-yard lead on runner-up Teresa Becker of Moscow.

"I really started to feel tired in the sixth lap," said the pace-setter. "I knew the other girls were just staying about the same distance behind me and I kept expecting them to move. But I just kept running."

She said she was pleased with her performance, noting

Anderson, Bernhagen set records

BOISE — Wood River's Lisa Bernhagen and Kenny Anderson of Gooding became the all-time best high jumpers in Idaho history Friday.

Highlighting the opening day of the combined girls and boys state track and field championships, Bernhagen not only became the Idaho record-holder with a leap of 6'2 1/2 but also posted the best effort in the nation for a high schooler this spring.

Then winding up nine hours of high jumping that spanned six competitors in three classifications, Anderson, a 6-3 senior-senior, came out of the blue to leap 6-10 1/2 and erase the record set by Jake Jacoby of Borah three years ago.

Bernhagen's performance wasn't unexpected. Anderson's was. He won district last week at 6-2, later missing on three attempts at 6-7.

Actually, Anderson never has been considered a high jumper, largely because last year he missed the entire season due to a broken foot sustained late in the basketball

"This is the first time I've been under 12 minutes since last year when I finished sixth in this event."

The victory also buoyed her hopes for today's 1,600 finals season. His career best coming into today was 6-6, he said. He clinched the state title by clearing 6-7 and then had the bar raised to 6-8 1/2 for not apparent reason: He cleared that on his first jump, then went for the A-3 record at 6-9 1/2, making that on his second attempt. He next tried 6-10 1/2 with success but finally missed at 6-11. His second jump coming within a heel click of establishing that as the next state mark.

While it isn't usual for a high jumper to take an interim height, especially when there's only an inch difference, Anderson cleared up the mystery: "For form," he said of that 6-8 effort.

"I was very relaxed," said the deaf youngster when asked if his nerves were popping through the ordeal. "I wasn't nervous."

The next obvious question is "whether" the Ricks College-bound hooper feels he can clear seven feet.

"Yes," he responded with a vigorous nod of his head.

third-best qualifier, based upon the finals of the Twin Falls Classic two weeks ago and the qualifying times in last week's districts. Nampa sophomore Janne Byron had the best time at 11:28 plus that Classic runner-up spot behind Skyline Junior Becky Hall. Those two, along with defending state champion Cora Bradley of Focatello, figured to be the ones Nancy McGinnis had to beat.

The senior, who has signed with College of Southern Idaho, never was less than second and moved ahead of Byron and into the lead just before the fifth lap. She held leads of as much as 20 yards until the final 500 meters. Then with the officials poised to ring the bell lap, she spurred down the stretch and pulled ahead by 50 yards. Down the back stretch she put together another sprint that increased it to 60 or 70 yards and then coasted home in a personal best time of 11:27.89, two seconds off the state record held by Twin Falls' Julie Yergensen.

"I wanted it so badly," the senior gasped of the victory and the reason for the time.

She said she made a conscious effort to "steal" some yards with that spur before the eighth lap began and again on the back stretch although, "I was trying to sprint the last lap although it might not have looked like it."

Byron closed to take second, while Bradley ended an injury-plagued spring by taking third. "I'm happy with today," she said. "I just never knew what to expect from myself anymore."

Hall was disconsolate with her fourth-place finish. "I

Holmes wins; Dokes draws with Weaver

WBC champ struggles at end

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Larry Holmes, pushed to the limit by a 6-1 underdog, survived a severe beating in the later rounds and successfully defended his World Boxing Council heavyweight title Friday night, gaining a 12-round split decision over little-known Tim Witherspoon.

Hours earlier, Michael Dokes, who won the World Boxing Association heavyweight title in a controversial victory over Mike Weaver last December, retained it in a rematch, gaining a controversial 15-round draw with the ex-champion.

Witherspoon, considered to be just another big payday for Holmes, hammered the champion in the final rounds but could not overcome the lead Holmes built in the early going.

In the ninth, the 25-year-old challenger staggered Holmes with several thundering rights to the jaw and had the champion struggling to stay on his feet in a neutral corner. Later in the same round, Witherspoon hurt Holmes again with a right and the champion barely survived the round.

Judge Chuck Bassett scored it 118-111 for Holmes while the other judges' scores seemed to be more indicative of the tone of the fight. Chuck Minkler had Holmes winning 115-113 while Herb Santos gave Witherspoon the 115-114. (UPI had it 115-114 for Holmes.) Hassett's scores brought boos from the 20,000 fans at the Dunes Hotel.

It was the 15th title defense by the 33-year-old Holmes and it was probably his toughest. When the fight ended, he was exhausted and had a severely swollen right eye.

Witherspoon, the WBC's No. 3 contender, lost for the first time in 16 pro fights.

As the fight ended, an exhausted Holmes turned slowly and walked to his corner while Witherspoon was greeted by his handlers and carried around the ring with his fists raised over his head. Holmes left the ring immediately after the announcement of the decision while Witherspoon stayed for more than five minutes as the crowd cheered him.

The fight was the second lackluster performance in a row by Holmes, following a solid performance against Gerry Cooney last June and a lopsided win over Raulo Eerola last November. In his most recent fight, Holmes went the distance with unknown Frenchman Lucien Rodriguez on March 27.

Witherspoon's 15 pro fights before Friday night were faced with club fighters. His first real test came last June when he won a controversial 10-round decision over highly regarded Renato Snipes.

Holmes, 213, controlled the first two rounds with his left jab but Witherspoon, 219 1/2, won the third round by landing several solid rights to the champion's jaw. Holmes regained control in the next three rounds by moving and jabbing but Witherspoon, who talked to Holmes and mocked the champion throughout the fight, came on in the final round, including his tremendous showing in the ninth round when he almost knocked Holmes down several times.

Holmes, who remained undefeated in 43 pro fights with 30 knockouts, has had in the WBC only two wins since June of 1978 and has held the title longer than any heavyweight since

Joe-Louis. Witherspoon became only the fourth person to go the distance with the champion.

Witherspoon was the fresher fighter at the end and Holmes' title actually may have been saved by the shorter 12-round distance which he has attacked. At 15 rounds, the standard championship distance before the WBC reduced it this year, Witherspoon may have been able to pull out a decision.

In the final round, Witherspoon drove forward and chased Holmes. The tired champion landed a combination to the midsection but Witherspoon connected with a jab to Holmes' swollen right eye and then began to lose, waving Holmes forward and mocking him.

Holmes appeared to have trouble seeing from the puffy right eye and the challenger rocked him with two left hooks. Holmes was exhausted and just holding on in the final seconds as Witherspoon's handlers rushed into the ring at the bell and lifted their fighter off the ground.

Holmes had been in severe trouble in the ninth. Witherspoon had pinned the champion against the ropes, landing a good right to the jaw before Holmes managed away. A flurry of punches midway through the round moved Holmes to the ropes and hurt him.

He threw a quick flurry that slowed down Witherspoon but the challenger continued to be the aggressor and staggered Holmes with two hard rights to the head. Holmes staggered around the ring trying to hang on and seemed "to recover," hammering Witherspoon with several rights to the side of the head as both fighters appeared exhausted. Witherspoon landed another stinging left to the jaw and Holmes came back with a three-punch flurry as the two staggered it out in the closing seconds of the most exciting round of the fight.

Nixon lifts Lakers to NBA finals again

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (UPI) — A free throw by Norm Nixon with 85 seconds remaining Friday night provided the winning point and the Los Angeles Lakers survived a last-second shot by Mike Mitchell to beat the San Antonio Spurs 101-100 and advance to the NBA championship series against the Philadelphia 76ers.

Los Angeles, winning three times on San Antonio's home floor, thus captured the Western Conference championship, four games to two, and for the third time in four years moved into the NBA finals.

Nixon, who halted the San Antonio surge just inside the five-minute mark with a steal and basket, hit one of two free throws that gave the Lakers a 101-96 advantage.

But from that point on, the Spurs rallied. After Gilmore brought the Spurs to within three with 38 seconds left and, after a missed hook shot by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, San Antonio's George Gervin hit a basket that brought his team to within one.

For the second straight time down the floor, the Lakers could not produce a point and a San Antonio rebound gave the Spurs a chance to pull off a comeback victory. After a timeout with 10 seconds to play, guard Johnny Moore took the ball and drove into the lane.

As the Lakers converged, Moore fed off to Mitchell. The Spurs forward, who scored 17 points, went up for a short jumper but was surrounded by three Lakers and his shot was partially blocked.

Gilmore retrieved the loose ball, but before he could do anything with it the buzzer sounded, ending the game.

San Antonio trailed by as many as 13 points early in the second half, but closed the deficit to five by the start of the final period. Los Angeles climbed back to an eight-point lead with 7:56 to play and then Abdul-Jabbar went to the bench for a brief rest. The Spurs quickly closed to within four.

At that point, Abdul-Jabbar came back in and, following a timeout, San Antonio had the ball and a chance to get to within two. Nixon stole the inbound pass and drove for a layup that gave Los Angeles some cushion for the final minutes.

Los Angeles' Michael Cooper had hit two free throws in the Los Angeles its eight-point bulge and then, after San Antonio had moved to within 99-94 with 2:22 remaining, Cooper drove the lane for a layup at the two-minute mark.

Slugging Eagles take two at regionals

ALBANY, Ore. — College of Southern Idaho's baseball team stands one victory away from the Region-18 championship and the NJCAA tournament in Grand Junction, Colo.

The Golden Eagle batters enjoyed their most devastating day this season, crushing 28 hits while whipping first Mt. Hood, 16-4, and then Linn-Benton, 14-4. Both games were shortened by the 10-run rule.

"We were really aggressive the plate," CSI assistant Coach Jim Davies said. "We had so much bat speed that when we made contact the ball fell for us. We swung the bats with authority for a change."

The tournament resumes today at 11 a.m. when Linn-Benton confronts Treasure Valley. The winner of that game faces the Eagles, 39-7, for the Region 18 title. Should CSI lose, a rematch will occur Sunday afternoon.

In Friday's first game, played on the Oregon State University campus at Corvallis, CSI wiped out a 2-0 deficit in the third inning. Jeff Schow, who finished the game with 6 RBI, got the first two when he blasted a two-run homer to right field. After Lynn VanEvery walked, Mike Duncan lined a triple down the left-field line, giving the Eagles a 3-2 lead.

The Eagles held a slim 5-4 lead before ending matters with an 11-run sixth. The big hits included Schow's grand slam home run, VanEvery's bases-loaded, three-run double, Mike Randall's two-run double and Dale Crouse's two-run single.

CSI right-hander Tracy Poulson picked up the win despite an pitching with a sore elbow. His counterpart in the lineup, left Steve Clements, also performed under adversity, pulling a muscle in his shoulder in the second inning. But Clements, with the help of between-inning massages, lasted six innings.

Meanwhile, the Eagles kept hitting. Duncan took over Schow's slugging mantle, going 4-for-5 with 6 RBI. Duncan made his only out when he ripped one through the box and off the pitcher's right foot, the ball caroming conveniently to a Linn-Benton infielder but not before the pitcher had suffered a broken foot.

Phil Braase picked up an RBI single and Crouse swatted an RBI triple to open CSI's scoring in the second. The Eagles made it a three-run inning when Crouse came across on a wild pitch.

Jim Kolkas' two-run homer to dead center field increased CSI's advantage to 5-0 in the third inning. The lead grew further, to 6-0 in the fourth, when Scott Pugmire's single sent home VanEvery.

Duncan pulverized a three-run homer — which traveled an estimated 450 feet — in the seventh inning, helping end the game prematurely after an inning later.

Bruins belt Blackfoot, seek consolation title

By ANDY BULL
Special to The Times-News

LEWISTON — "Lose as a goose" was how Twin Falls Coach Bill Ingram described the performance of his team after it rolled over Blackfoot 13-3 Friday afternoon during the second day of the Idaho Class A-High School Baseball Tournament.

The Bruins, coming off an opening night 11-1 loss to Lewiston that was called after five inning due to the 10-run rule, did the same to the Broncos on Friday. Going into the bottom of the fifth inning leading 10-3, Twin Falls scored three more runs to end the game and the season for Blackfoot, the Fifth District champion and runner-up to Twin Falls in the Gem State Conference.

"Twin Falls will play for the tournament's consolation title today at 9 a.m. PDT, facing Bonnevile. The best Sixth District rival Idaho Falls 8-4 on Friday; Blackfoot ended the season at 16-6.

In the championship bracket, District 3 champion Lewiston blanked Meridian 6-0, Caldwell will play the winner of the Lewiston-Nampa game, which was still in progress at press time, for the state championship today at 3 p.m. PDT. The loser of the Lewiston-Nampa game will face Meridian at noon for third-place honors.

"We were a lot more relaxed today," said Ingram, whose team belted seven hits and played errorless ball against Blackfoot. Against Lewiston on Thursday, the Bruins could come up with only one hit and committed three errors.

"We might have been intimidated, Thursday night," said Ingram. "This is the third time in the state tournament that we have had to face Mr. (Dwight) Church and his team in the opening game."

Equine soap operas end with running of Preakness today

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The final episode of "All My Horses" will be played out today in the 10th running of the Preakness Stakes at Pimlico, and Kentucky Derby winner Sunny's Halo is favored to wind up the hero.

Following a week of soap opera storylines—which included Sunny's fight with persistent rash, the second jewel of the Triple Crown first hand.

Other subplots saw Desert Wine's co-owners—question—and—ultimately win in court a decision that overthrew the Maryland Racing Commission's ruling that prohibited the colt from being treated with Lasix and Marfa having an acrylic patch placed on his left front hoof after suffering a quarter crack.

In Baltimore Circuit Court, Judge Robert Hammerman called the commission's Lasix rule "arbitrary, capricious and unreasonable."

The co-owners of Desert Wine, Fred Sahadi and Dan Agnew, were pleased with the decision that freed their horse for the $348,700 race.

"I'm elated and relieved," Agnew said. "The judge's decision is all the things we were saying."

With $348,700 at stake, on Friday Sunny's Halo was the odds-on favorite at 4-5 with Marfa the second choice at 6-1 and Play Fellow 9-1.

Marfa also was ruled ineligible to use Lasix, while Paris Prince and Flag Admiral, owned in part by former president Jimmy Carter, will be allowed to use the medication. Lasix is an intravenous diuretic used to prevent a horse from bleeding after a race or a workout. All four colts have used Lasix in the past.

The weather may also be a factor in the 1 3/16 mile Preakness. The forecast for today calls for an 80 percent chance of rain, possible thunderstorms, with temperatures in the mid-70s.

A field of 13 3-year-old colts is scheduled to run in the Preakness, which is set to go off at 3:38 p.m. MDT (KIVI-TV, Channel 6), and Sunny's Halo is the horse to beat.

"He's the one we have to go after."

said Desert Wine's trainer Jerry Fanning, who colt finished second to Sunny's Halo in the Derby. "My horse ran well in the Derby and he's trained very well for the Preakness. We'll give him another shot."

The entire field, from the rail out, will be: Play Fellow (Jean Crugnet), 9-1; High Honors (Miguel Rivera), 18-1; Deputed Testimony (Domie Miller), 11-1; Chas Conerly (Kenny Skinner), 15-1; Bet Big (Roger Veletz), 10-1; Marfa (Jorge Velasquez), 6-1; Desert Wine (Chris McCarron) 10-2; Paris Prince (Terry Latham), 65-1; Parfaitement (Herb McCaulley), 11-1; Common Sense (Jack Penny), 108-1; Sunny's Halo (Eddie Delahousaye), 4-5; Flag Admiral (Pat Day), 31-1; and Current Hope (Alex Solis), 25-1.

Deputed Testimony and Parfaitement, trained by Billy Boniface, are coupled in the betting. All will carry 128 pounds. If all 13 go to post, the gross value will be $348,700, with the winner earning $243,700. Second place will be worth $50,000, third Sunny's Halo, the favorite in today's Preakness, receives a bath from his handlers Friday place $30,000 and fourth $15,000. The Lasix controversy that has year, the co-owner of Cupeco's Joy, nothing new to the Preakness. Last his filly from the race be freed by swirled around Pimlico all week is Robert Perez, surprisingly withdrew obtain enough tickets to accommodate his party.

Coaching honor for Kleinkopf

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls High School track coach Jerry Kleinkopf has been chosen District VII track coach of the year by the National High School Athletic Coaches Association.

Kleinkopf, who has headed the Twin Falls High track program for 21 years and coached at the high school for 31 years, was nominated by fellow coaches in Idaho for the honor. He is now eligible for selection as the NISACA Track Coach of the Year.

Kleinkopf has won six state and 21 district championships at Twin Falls High, and been selected state coach of the year five times.

Hot Dog Jog and Cycle today

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Rehabilitation Services will sponsor a Hot Dog Jog and Cycle this morning.

All proceeds from the event will go to the MYRS. Registration begins at 9 a.m. and the first competition is scheduled to start at 10:20 a.m.

There were 5- and 10-kilometer runs and 10- and 20-K cycle races, beginning at the Falls Brand plant on Orchard Drive.

There is a $7.50 registration fee, and prizes will be awarded to the winners in seven divisions: under-12, 12-18, 19-25, 26-30, 31-39, 40-49 and 50-and-over.

Swimming league fills up

GOODING — Six teams and a possible seventh has indicated they will join the Sage Brush Swim League this summer.

The teams will be Magic Valley of Twin Falls, Burley, Rupert, Jewell, Shoshone and Edinboro and probably Piler.

The membership will conduct a dual meet a week with that series Saturday June 21.

Other sanctioned meets that will attract most of the members include June 18 at Mountain Home, June 23-24 at Blackfoot, July 8-10 at Piler (hosted by Twin Falls), July 17-18 at Caldwell and the Snake River Championships at Elko, Nev., on Aug. 12-14.

Softball in Murtaugh park?

MURTAUGH — The Murtaugh City Council has approved a request recently from Robin Wright and Ron Andersen of Murtaugh to use the city park for softball this summer.

City clerk Janice Bennett said the men are in the process of forming a softball association for adults, 16 years and older.

Bennett said those interested in playing softball should contact either Wright or Andersen.

Close competition at pro-am

TWIN FALLS — Groups from near and somewhat far tied for first place in the team competition Friday at the Twin Falls Ladies Pro-Am at Twin Falls Municipal Golf Course.

Mike Certella's and Rich Stanwood's teams were deadlocked at 112 when play ended. Caldwell's Canyon Springs contingent consisted of Don Harman, Bernice Howa, Jackie Schell and Patsy Keney. While Stanwood's Caldwell group included Faye Paulson, Peggy Marchbanks, Georgia Hersh and Marlene Coffey.

Ken Sparks from Boise's Plantation course won the pro sweeps at 66, followed by Mike Hamblin of Twin Falls with a 68. Three golfers, Barry Platt of Plantation, Bob Lance of Rupert and Stanwood were knotted at third with 75.

Individually, Karen Brown was in low gross with a 68 in the 9-23 division, with Sally Harris second at 65. Low net went to Kathy Hanchett, who shot 62, with Marnie Bladaeu and Bess Palmer second at 69.

In the 9-24 class, Alice Hamblin took low gross with an 89. Alice Beauchamp capturing second with a 93. Schell was low net at 62, trailed by Paulson's 63.

Beck on top by 3 at Atlanta

ATLANTA (UPI) — Chip Beck, a journalism grad who has gotten progressively better as a pro golfer in each of his five years on the tour, raced against darkness Friday to post a 7-under-par 65 and take a three-stroke lead in the opening round of the rain-delayed $400,000 Atlanta Classic.

With play suspended for more than three hours because of a thunderstorm, Beck, starting out around 4 p.m. EDT, didn't finish his round until 8:30 p.m.

When play was suspended for the day, 26 golfers were still on the course. They will complete their rounds early today.

Beck three-putted for a par at his ninth hole after missing a 20-foot eagle putt, and settled for a par on his final hole when he missed an eagle putt after pulling back when the siren went off signifying play had been halted for the day.

Calvin Peete, who finished nearly five hours earlier than Beck, was in second place with a 4-under 68 and there were eight golfers at 69, including this year's leading money winner, Lanny Wadkins.

She loses car but shares lead

CLIFTON, N.J. (UPI) — An hour and a half after she learned her car had been stolen, Chris Johnson went out in the rain and shot a 5-under-par 68 Friday to share the opening-round lead with Donna White in a $125,000 LPGA tournament.

"I'm glad it was raining so people would think I had rain on my face, not tears," said Johnson, whose round was highlighted by an eagle on the par-five 18th hole, where she sank a 64-yard sand wedge from the rough.

White, who won this event in 1980, the last time it was played at the Upper Merionette Country Club, then took a year off following the birth of her daughter, went through the round without a bogey and earned a share of the lead with a six-foot birdie putt on No. 18.

Amy Alcott, needing only $4,140 to reach $1 million in career earnings, had an adventurous round of 70 to share third place in this 54-hole tournament with Lori Huxhold.

Mexico, not U.S., will host 1986 World Cup

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — FIFA, world soccer's governing body, Friday awarded the 1986 World Cup to Mexico, triggering a barrage of criticism from the United States and Canada.

The 21-member executive committee of FIFA made its unanimous decision after hearing last-minute statements from Mexico, the United States and Canada, the three candidates eligible to replace Colombia as host. The South American nation withdrew for financial reasons last October, having been awarded the tournament in 1974.

Mexico will be the first country to stage the event twice, having held the finals in 1970.

While offering congratulations to Mexico, the U.S. and Canadian delegations expressed deep criticism of the FIFA special committee for not visiting their respective countries to inspect the stadiums and facilities.

"We regret that the special committee didn't visit us as we requested," said former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, who aided the American delegation in its attempt to bring the finals north of the Rio Grande. "We have the backing of our President and a unanimous Congress, which is more than President Reagan usually can achieve."

Kissinger called his first attempts at soccer diplomacy "disastrously unsuccessful."

"The politics of soccer make me nostalgic for the politics of the Middle East," he said.

George Schwartz, chairman of the Canadian

World Cup Bid Committee, was as critical as Kissinger.

"We were led to believe that nine stadia was enough," Schwartz said. "Naturally we have several more stadia in reserve, but the executive committee would not consider them."

Schwartz held up the 90-page document submitted to FIFA by the Canadians and compared it with the 10-page mimeographed document submitted by Mexico.

"This document is just a joke," he said of the Mexican entry.

Hermann Neuburger, president of the FIFA special committee for the 1986 World Cup, said the same questions were put to all three candidates, but only Mexico answered them fully when the time limit expired.

"It is quite clear that Canada and the United States did a fine job, but they failed to reply to some important details," Neuburger said.

"The only complete document came from Mexico, which was why we unanimously decided to give Mexico the games," he said.

"It was not necessary to inspect their facilities as they had not fulfilled our conditions," he said in reply to the critical voices of Kissinger and Schwartz.

Joao Havelange, the FIFA president, said the two nations had made far better presentations at the meeting in Stockholm, but out of fairness to Mexico they could not be considered.

"There is no time for a further postponement of our decision," Havelange said.

Havelange rejected all criticism of the selection process, which he said was "more than democratic," with all continents being represented on the executive committee.

But Jim Fleming, president of the Canadian Soccer Association, said: "We will have to reassess the process of selection for the World Cup in 1986."

The Mexican delegation, confident from the beginning, was jubilant at the unanimous decision.

"I never thought the decision would be unanimous," said Rafael del Castillo, president of the Mexican Football association.

"Mexico fulfilled all the rules and we were able to give all the necessary government guarantees," he said. "It will give our players opportunities to learn from better players. And for the Mexican people it will be a good fiesta."

The United States has a history of strained relations with FIFA. The U.S. Soccer Federation, America's only official link to FIFA, was almost kicked out of the world body because of controversial rule changes by the North American Soccer League.

USPSF president Gene Edwards, whose delegation included soccer greats Pele and Franz Beckenbauer, said having the World Cup in the United States would have provided a boost for the sport.
