Another WPPSS plant mothballed

By MARTIN HEERWALD
United Press International

SEATTLE — Washington Public Power Supply System's executive board Friday ordered its No. 3 nuclear plant mothballed until the system can raise the nearly $1 billion needed to finish it.

Board members, saying they had investigated every conceivable way of raising the money, approved a resolution instructing the system's staff to implement "an immediate extended construction delay" at the Salpog, Wash., plant.

About $2.2 billion already has been spent on the project, which is more than three-fourths completed.

The board also told WPPSS Managing Director Donald Meaurio to begin an arbitration process — on the disagreement — between the supply system, the Bonneville Power Administration and four private utilities over the mothballing.

BPA, a federal power marketing agency, has underwritten the plant to the extent of guaranteeing to sell 70 percent of its electrical output. It proposed a three-year mothballing and refused to underwrite — through higher electricity rates — a $360 million bank loan to complete construction.

The four private utilities own 30 percent of the project and have invested $600 million in it. They have threatened to sue WPPSS and the BPA over the work stoppage.

More than 1,200 workers were idled when WPPSS put the brakes on construction June 1. Another 1,500 workers, both contractors' employees and WPPSS staffers, will lose their jobs over the next several months.

Board members stressed they remain committed to completing the plant but were forced to mothball it for lack of construction funds.

Michael Berry, a former bank executive, abstained from the vote, saying he had "serious questions" about Bonneville's refusal to guarantee funds for plant No. 3 after agreeing to provide the money to finish WPPSS plant No. 2 at Richland, Wash.

A spokesman for Puget Sound Power & Light Co., one of the four private utilities, said WPPSS should immediately sue the BPA for failing to live up to its legal obligation to underwrite construction of the project.

"We know there is money out there," said Chris Curtis, "Bonneville needs to meet its obligation."

Bond houses have closed their doors to WPPSS because of the impending default on the $2.2 billion in bonds sold for terminated plants No. 4 and No. 5 at Richland and Salpog.

And major banks won't loan the money to complete No. 3 unless they are guaranteed the debt for the terminated plants can be separated from the three WPPSS plants under construction or in mothballs.

Chemical Bank of New York, trustee for WPPSS 4-5 bonds, is preparing lawsuits going after all WPPSS assets once the system is in default.

Administrator Peter Johnson of BPA said he has been assured by legal counsel that WPPSS 1, 2 and 3 can be separated from the woes of 4 and 5.

Carl Halvorson, the Portland, Ore., contractor who chairs the key WPPSS executive board, said "until that wall is built by some federal or state legislation — or both — no one is going to lend WPPSS anything."

"When we go walking down the street, the guys with the money cross over and walk down the other side," Halvorson said.

The board chairman said the mothballing order should help expedite the process of getting the vital legislation.

Prison: Doing the job

Budget altered

By ANN D. KIRKWOOD
United Press International

BOISE — The Idaho Corrections Department will operate within its budget this year — while also expanding programs and boosting salaries — despite predictions the agency would experience up to a $300,000 deficit, department Director Al Murphy said Friday.

Murphy during a two-day Corrections Board meeting discussed item-by-item the agency's budget, showing the three-member panel where he has ordered cutbacks to keep the department within its legislative appropriation.

But he said he also has ordered salary increases, new equipment and money set aside for overtime wages with cash saved through budget cuts, he told the board.

"We haven't stolen money from one program or the other," Murphy said in an interview following the board meeting. "We've just balanced our budget. We are doing a lot more with the same money."

Murphy — who assumed his post this spring after former Director Bill Crowl resigned for personal reasons — said officials predicted a $200,000 to $300,000 shortfall for fiscal year.

But after assuming his post, Murphy said he ordered all agency administrators to reassess their planned expenditures.

Appeals court scraps birth control 'squeal rule'

By BARBARA ROSEWICZ
United Press International

WASHINGTON — A federal appeals court Friday struck down the Reagan administration's controversial "squeal rule," which would require federally funded clinics to tell parents when their teenage daughters get birth control aids.

In the highest court ruling so far on the issue, the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia declared the "regulations are unlawful" because they "contravene congressional intent."

The three-judge panel unanimously upheld a lower court injunction that kept the regulations from going into effect Feb. 23.

Judge J. Skelly Wright, writing for the court, noted the regulations "are at the center of a great whirlwind of public controversy."

"No doubt the moral and political wisdom of the secretary (of health and human services, who issued the rule) will remain in dispute for some time to come," Wright said. "The legality of those actions, however, should not."

"This inescapable conclusion," he said, is "that the secretary exceeded the bounds of statutory authority by promulgating regulations that contravene congressional intent."

Congress clearly wanted teenagers to be able to seek birth control advice in confidence, the court said. To require that parents be notified, Wright said, would "undermine both Congress' specific policy of confidentiality and its overriding concern about the escalating teenage pregnancy rate."

Judge Robert Bork dissented in part from the ruling, saying he is not sure Congress prohibited HHS from ever drafting such regulations.

"We're disappointed," HHS spokesman Russell Mack said. "When we've had a chance to review the opinion, we will consider ... what further action to take."

The regulations, branded a "squeal rule" by opponents, would have required federally funded family planning clinics to notify parents within 10 days if girls under 18 are prescribed birth control pills, diaphragms or intrauterine devices.

They also would have forced teenagers in some states to get their parents' permission to receive birth control and based the cost of services on the parents', not the teenagers' financial resources.

Reagan orders aides to talk on Carter leak

By HELEN THOMAS
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan said Friday he will take whatever action is necessary, including firing aides, if "any evidence of wrongdoing" is uncovered in the investigation of how his campaign got papers from the Jimmy Carter camp.

Reagan made the remark during a brief question-and-answer session as he and his wife, Nancy, headed for the presidential Camp David retreat for the weekend.

"I've said we want the truth," he said. "If there is any evidence of wrongdoing we'll take whatever action that we take at that time."

Asked if it included firing an official, he said, "Yes."

But Reagan refused to retreat from his earliest assessment of flap over the 1980 Carter strategy papers as "much ado about nothing."

"If, when the investigation is over and the truth is known, it is necessary to correct that statement, I'll correct it," he said.

Reagan earlier paid a surprise visit to the regular morning meeting of his senior staff at the White House.

"I told my staff that I wanted everyone there to hear directly from me that they were to make themselves available and any information whatsoever to take it and tell it to the FBI, to the Justice Department investigation which I ordered (in) this entire incident," he said.

"And I further said that this message would be conveyed to the rest of the administration, to the Cabinet officers and others and I told Mr. (Fred) Fielding (the White House counsel) to tell the FBI that everyone in our administration, including myself is available for questioning because there is only one thing, we must get the truth."

Asked why it was necessary to emphasize his earlier statements that

Area jobless rate falls 1 percent during June

By The Times-News and United Press International

TWIN FALLS — Unemployment in the Magic Valley dropped sharply during June, to 6.8 percent, according to figures released Friday by the state.

State labor analyst Lon McDonald describes the decline as a welcomed, but delayed, improvement.

The jobless rate for Twin Falls, Jerome and Gooding counties was a full percentage point better than Idaho's statewide figure of 7.8 percent. It also was 1.1 percentage points better than the 7.9 percent recorded in the three counties for May.

The local rate represents 2,888 people unemployed out of a seasonally adjusted work force of 42,000. But the trends are encouraging, said McDonald, an Employment Department analyst based in Twin Falls.

The number of people in the work force increased from May to June, and the job market absorbed more than 2,700 of them. At the same time, the number of unemployed decreased by 225, he said.

McDonald traces the improvement to increased confidence in the agricultural and national economies. Employers normally take on workers for the growing season throughout the spring months, but this year, unemployment figures had indicated they were not hiring at anywhere near the normal pace, he said Friday.

"We've kind of looked at this bean pricing as a key to our situation, and while the actual improvement in that area probably of itself hasn't done a great deal, the improvement in the attitude because of that probably was positive and helped in some farms and farm-related businesses," McDonald said.

The declining Magic Valley figures were the reverse of the state's situation. Idaho's jobless rate increased .3 of a percentage point from May's level of 7.5 percent, to 7.8 percent in June.

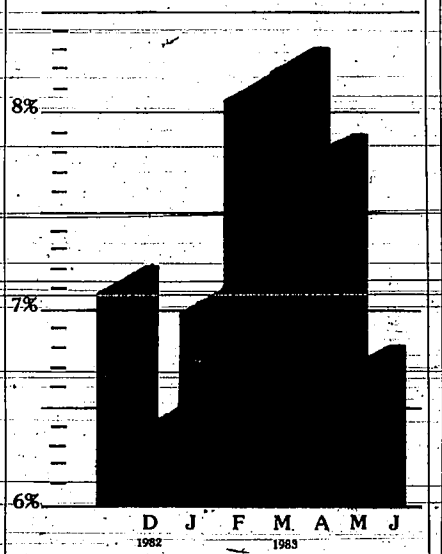

But despite the apparent rise in the number of jobless workers, state officials refused Friday to lose faith in Idaho's economic recovery.

Employment Department director Scott McDonald cited an historical upturn in the number of unemployed in June as a basis for saying, "The economy continues to gradually improve, and projections point to an upturn in long-term employment opportunities."

'Superfire' continues in Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Gusting winds and sizzling temperatures fed giant rangeland fires in Utah Friday, but several smaller blazes were contained, leaving 300 blackened acres.

Three blazes in the western desert merged into a horseshoe-shaped "superfire," and firefighters were "sitting tight" Friday night as a huge thunderhead rolled above the blaze.

The storm was expected to whip up 60 mph winds and drive the fire across more of the tinder-dry desert.

The perimeter of the "superfire" is about 250,000 acres near the Nevada border, U.S. Forest Service spokesman Barry Worth said.

"But only about 150,000 acres have been destroyed. If the wind dies down and we get cooler temperatures, maybe we can save the land inside the fire's perimeter," said Worth.

The fire had threatened the small truckstop town of Delle, near the Nevada line, but firefighters started a control fire that burned sagebrush and grass in the path of the larger blaze, slowing its movement.

"Delle is no longer threatened," he said.

Papal gunman accuses Soviets

ROME, Italy (UPI) — Turkish terrorist Mehmet Ali Agca, convicted of shooting Pope John Paul II, said Friday the Bulgarian secret police and the Soviet KGB were behind the plot to assassinate the pope.

All Agca, convicted of spreading the pope in St. Peter's Square May 13, 1981, said he received training in international terrorism in Syria and Bulgaria.

He also directly implicated three Bulgarians in the plot against the pope.

All Agca, 24, who is serving a life sentence in a Rome prison, spoke briefly to reporters after he was questioned at police headquarters about the apparent kidnaping of the 15-year-old daughter of a Vatican employee by a group demanding his freedom.

"I have nothing to do with the kidnaping of Emanuela Orlandi," Agca said as he climbed into a police van to return to the Ascoli Piceno prison. "I refuse any charges."

Under questioning by reporters in Italian and English about the attempt to kill the pope, he said the Bulgarian secret police and the KGB hired him and he received his training from "specialists in international terrorism" in Syria and Bulgaria.

Rep. Larry Craig gets married

MIDVALE (UPI) — Rep. Larry Craig, R-Idaho, was married Friday morning to Suzanne Scott in a ceremony his ranch attended only by immediate family members.

The religious service was attended only by the couple, Craig's mother, father and sister, and the parents of the bride.

Karmen Larson — administrative assistant for the 1st District congressman — said the couple plans to release details of his immediate plans, but intends to hold a large reception Sunday in Boise.

Board denies McGuire parole

BOISE (UPI) — The Pardons and Parole Commission made a "very unusual" decision Friday when it reversed an earlier vote to parole Timothy William McGuire, who was convicted of fatally stabbing a Boise girl and mutilating her body, commissioner Eille Kiser said.

She said commissioners Thursday decided to parole McGuire in December, then agreed to reconsider the matter at the request of someone whom she would not identify.

Ms. Kiser would not say why the commissioners changed their minds, but she called the case "very difficult, very complicated."

McGuire was convicted of second-degree murder nine years ago in the stabbing death of 15-year-old Pamela Waldman, whose body was chopped into pieces and dumped into the Payette River at various places, Gem County Prosecutor Cy Rood said.

$1.58 million paid for cabinet

LONDON (UPI) — An American collector paid $1.58 million Friday for a French king's ebony cabinet, breaking the world auction record for the price paid for a piece of furniture.

The auctioned item was a "magnificent ebony and lacquer cabinet," once in the private study of King Louis XVI at Versailles, an official auctioneer Sotheby Parke Bernet said.

Accused killer called unstable

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The man who confessed to killing Vicki Morgan, mistress to the late millionaire Alfred Bloomingdale, told detectives he beat the woman to death in her sleep to end her misery over mounting financial problems, it was learned Friday.

Two sources close to the case, who spoke on the condition they not be identified, told UPI that Marvin Panocest, 33, who had shared a condominium with Miss Morgan for three weeks, suffered from mental problems and "thought he was doing the right thing in his confused state."

Panocest, taken into the North Hollywood police station about 3:20 a.m. Thursday and told officers he had just beaten Miss Morgan, 30, to death with a baseball bat as she slept.

Samantha arrives in Russia

MOSCOW (UPI) — Eleven-year-old Samantha Smith arrived from Maine Friday with a surprise present for her pen pal, Soviet President Yuri Andropov, who invited her to visit the Soviet Union after they exchanged letters on the arms race.

"He promised me he wouldn't start a war, that the Russians wouldn't start a war, and America says they won't start a war either, then how come we keep making bombs for a war if there's no one to start it?" she asked.

Samantha, a sixth-grader from Manchester, Maine, said she felt "great" about fulfilling her dream.

Sudan: U.S. hostages freed

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — Sudanese troops staged a helicopter rescue Friday on a rebel camp in north Sudan, freeing five hostages including two Americans, and killing 18 guerrillas in a fierce four-hour battle, officials reports said.

The official Sudan News Agency said army troops conducted the successful operation at the remote Borna National Park, against the rebels who were heavily armed with machineguns, light mortars and automatic rifles.

During the operation to free the Western aid workers, 18 of the guerrillas were killed and an unspecified number were wounded, the agency said. Army troops were pursuing other rebels who tried to escape.

The two army sons of one of the troops died and two others were wounded in the battle.

The reaction in Nairobi from Western aid workers involved in the negotiations with the guerrillas aimed at freeing the hostages was ecstatic.

"Praising the lord, praise the lord," said Paul Fiewelle, a relief agency financial controller. He then burst into tears.

The five hostages were safely freed after 15 days of captivity with the guerrillas. They are safe and in very good condition in Juba, the capital of the equatorial region of southern Sudan, the agency added.

Those rescued were John Haspels, 36, of Lyons, Kan. Ron Poutler, 29, of Clermont, Fla.; Alois Tscheldt, a West-German missionary, Martin Olsrud, 36, a pilot from Kamoko, Ontario and Willem Noort, a Dutch overduin.

"I told every manager, 'I'm not interested in what your appropriation was,'" Murphy said. "I've had them identify every man they need, every car of parts. We started from ground zero and built up to every single thing."

"People a lot of times don't know what they're spending money for, and that's not an effective way of doing things."

Murphy said salaries for department employees have been increased despite predictions that action would be prohibited this year due to low funding levels.

He said money also was found through cutbacks to pay overtime wages due from last year, order computers for North Idaho Correctional Institute at Cottonwood, add a position at the work center, start full-week, live-in training academy for 800 inmates, and begin yearly firearms training programs for officers at a bill of $10,000.

"And, we've put enough money aside to, if all the officers decide to completely rearm them," he said.

In other action, Idaho prison guards will be issued state-issued handguns under a program designed to reduce legal liabilities resulting from officers carrying a "bizarre" assortment of personal weapons, Murphy announced.

Murphy told the Corrections Board he planned to spend $3,500 for up to 30 state-issued handguns that will be issued to officers at all state institutions.

caution in rehiring, while waiting to see if the recovery will be sustained, he said.

"Many companies are still at the point of recalling previously laid-off workers and they're not sure what week of current employees back to the 40-hour levels," the state director said.

Layoffs in the food-processing industry and the normal influx of college youth looking for summer jobs also boosted the jobless rate, he said.

While the rate was up from May, it was significantly below the 9 percent recorded last June.

There were 33,800 people unemployed last month in Idaho, out of a work force of 421,600, according to the state agency.

After a couple of questions were put to him, an aide gave the signal to start up the helicopter engines, nearly drowning out other shouted questions.

Other aides stood by watching anxiously as the president, somewhat grimly answered the questions, while holding his wife's hand.

Earlier, deputy press secretary Larry Speakes said Reagan strode into the regular morning meeting of his senior staff in the White House Roosevelt Room at 6:15 a.m. MDI took chief of staff James Baker's seal at the head of the table and told his top aides: "We want the truth."

he said Reagan told Fielding to inform the FBI "everybody is cooperating fully and will be available for questioning, including me."

Reagan, top advisers huddle

By IRAR ALLEN
United Press International

WASHINGTON — President Reagan huddled with his top advisers Friday on Middle East problems, the MX missile and arms control, but was still dogged by the controversy over documents filed during the 1980 campaign.

Secretary of State George Shultz reviewed his trip to the Middle East, including fruitless attempts to convince Syria to join the withdrawal of foreign troops from Lebanon.

Reagan also met with the presidential MX missile commission headed by retired Gen. Brent Scowcroft, and earlier in the day, personally told his top aides to cooperate with investigators concerning fished campaign documents.

As he left for Camp David in the late afternoon, Reagan told reporters he would take any necessary action, including dismissal, against anyone found guilty of wrongdoing in the case.

"I've said we want the truth."

Reagan said, as the helicopter engine started at the signal of presidential aides — began drowning out his words. "If there is any evidence of wrongdoing, we'll take whatever action that we take at that time."

Asked if it including firing an official, he said, "Yes."

Shultz reported to Reagan on his trip to Asia and reportedly failed attempt to judge Syria and Israel toward mutual withdrawal of their troops from Lebanon.

Shultz did not speak with reporters on his way into or out of the White House, but on his departure from Cairo Thursday he said, "I wish I could report that somehow we see a movement in the direction of simultaneous withdrawal. But I can't give any such report."

Attending the Oval Office meeting with Shultz were Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, national security adviser William Clark, presidential counselor Edwin Moses, Deputy Secretary of State Kenneth Dam and CIA director William Casey.

National jobless rate declines to 10 percent

By DREW VON BERGEN
UPI Labor Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Major job gains in manufacturing caused the nation's unemployment rate to drop for the fourth straight month in June to 10 percent, the lowest since last August, the government reported Friday. President Reagan said he was "heartened by the news" of more Americans getting jobs in June.

"Day by day, month by month, America is gathering strength and moving forward," Reagan said. "We still have a long way to go. But the recovery is spreading."

The number of unemployed people fell by 46,000 to 11,746,000. The Labor Department said seasonally adjusted data showed a 0.1 percentage point slip from May's jobless rate of 10.1 percent.

There was a substantial drop in the jobless rate for adult men, especially those in the mining, construction and durable goods manufacturing fields.

The rate for adult men fell from 9.6 percent in May to 9 percent in June. Among adult women, unemployment rose slightly from 8.5 percent to 8.6 percent.

Total employment increased by 1.2 million over the month to 100,786,000, as the civilian labor force was swelled by a like number as many youths who finished school entered the job market.

Non-agricultural payroll employment rose by 245,000 during the month and by nearly 1 million during the second quarter.

Unemployment in the manufacturing sector fell from 12.3 percent in May to 11.5 percent.

Since the recession high of 10.8 percent last December, the nation's unemployment rate has declined steadily.

It declined to 10.4 percent in January, remained at that level in February, then dropped to 10.3 percent in March, 10.2 percent in April, 10.1 percent in May and 10 percent in June.

66 cult children taken from religious camp after murder

ALLEGAN, Mich. (UPI) — Sixty-six children who live in a religious camp where a 12-year-old boy was beaten to death for refusing to do his chores were ordered removed Friday and placed in protective court custody.

The order was issued at a closed preliminary hearing in Allegan County Probate Court conducted by court referee Myrna McNitt. Judge George Greig will hear further testimony at another hearing next Tuesday.

Ms. McNitt, who also serves as assistant court administrator, said the 66 children will be placed either in medical facilities or foster homes pending a final custody determination by the judge.

The children, ranging in age from two months to 16 years, lived in the House of Judah religious compound of Black Israelite Jews run by William Lewis, a self-described prophet who cites the Bible as his authority for strict discipline of children and adults alike.

"He (God) is going to make everything all right, Lewis said after the hearing. "God tells me to put my trust in him. In the cities, all they're doing is bringing up a bunch of killers and murderers — and they say I'm wrong. I know they're crazy."

Authorities went to the 22-acre trailer camp earlier this week to investigate the beating death of 12-year-old John Yarbrough. The boy's mother, Ethel Yarbrough, 33, has been arrested on a manslaughter charge.

Lewis has insisted that children are not abused at the camp. He said "God killed the (Yarbrough) boy" because the youth's persistent disobedience.

Sixteen of the children, including five siblings of the dead boy, were removed from the camp in nearby Grand Junction earlier this week. The remaining 50 rode a school bus from the camp to the courthouse Friday morning.

Judge: Halt Aspercreme ad

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is insufficient evidence to support advertising claims that the medication Aspercreme relieves minor pain caused by arthritis and rheumatism, a federal administrative law judge ruled Friday.

In upholding a 1981 Federal Trade Commission complaint against Aspercreme's seller, Thompson Medical Co. Inc. of New York, the judge said the ads are false and deceptive and ordered them halted unless disclaimers are carried.

Thompson defended the product and said it will appeal the ruling.

Montgomery K. Hyun, an administrative law judge for the FTC, said Aspercreme's name alone misleads consumers into believing the over-the-counter medication contains aspirin.

Hyun ordered Thompson to halt false advertising and, in future spots, use disclaimers such as "Aspercreme does not contain aspirin."

The order is subject to review by the full commission. If not appealed by Thompson or independently reviewed by the FTC within 30 days, it becomes final.

Marcos threatens to oust U.S. military

By RON REDMOND
United Press International

MANILA, Philippines — President Ferdinand Marcos Friday threatened to throw out U.S. military bases and seek a defense pact with the Soviet Union if Congress blocks $90 million in rent for the facilities.

Marcos issued his warning at a meeting with a delegation of six U.S. congressmen, one of whom later dismissed Marcos' threat as "cutting off his nose to spite his face."

"I found somewhat implausible his comment that the Philippines would establish a pact with the Soviet Union," said Rep. Jim Moody, D-Wis.

President Reagan has expressed support for a five-year agreement that was signed in Manila June 1, but it is expected to meet stiff opposition among congressmen concerned about Marcos' human rights record.

"If you feel that it (the agreement) is too heavy for you, just let us know," Marcos was quoted in an official palace press statement. "Pull out and we will know how to take care of ourselves."

"We would have to enter some kind ofmodus vivendi with the Soviet power which would mean that all of Southeast Asia, perhaps all of Asia, would be under the control of the Soviet Union," he said.

Moody said Marcos' statement "came during a 'no-holds-barred' exchange and could be taken by some members of Congress as a threat. 'But I wouldn't (construe it as a threat),' Moody said. "It was not said in a hostile way."

"We found his comments interesting and somewhat unexpected," he said. "If that's how he feels, it's probably news to most of us in Congress."

Street riot in Israel for Arafat

By United Press International

HELMETED — Israeli police, hurling tear gas and firing shots into the air, charged a crowd of rock-throwing Palestinian demonstrators showing their support for PLO leader Yasser Arafat Friday after Moslem prayers in Jerusalem.

In Damascus, Palestinian sources said Arafat rejected all three demands made by rebels who have mutilated against his leadership of the Palestine Liberation Organization and accused him of cooperating with Washington.

The violence on Jerusalem's Temple Mount, venerated by both Moslems and Jews, flared hours after military authorities fired the Palestinian mayor and city council of Hebron, and clamped a round-the-clock curfew on the West Bank town.

The Palestine Press Service, a news agency based in Arab East Jerusalem, said the clash was not linked to events in Hebron, where Jewish seminary student Aharon Gross, 19, was stabbed to death Thursday, triggering a settlers' riot.

The agency said the demonstration in Jerusalem's Old City was intended to show support for Arafat in his fight to retain control of the PLO.

Eight Israeli border police were injured by stones hurled by the crowd, which waved Palestinian flags and chanted slogans in support of Arafat, battling rebels for control of the Palestine Liberation Organization, Israel radio said.

Helmated Israeli border police charged the crowd with batons, firing shots in the air and hurling tear gas canisters to break up the protest, reports said.

Police arrested 40 Palestinians for inciting the violence following Moslem sabbath prayers in the Al-Aksa Mosque in the Old City. Six demonstrators were also injured, authorities said.

Walesa called troublemaker

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — A Communist Party newspaper Friday accused Solidarity founder Lech Walesa — "Mr. Worker" — of being a tool of the West and said his militant advisers were using him to make trouble for Polish authorities.

A commentary in the newspaper Glos Szczeciński said Walesa was "prompted" by his advisers to go on an art vacation to provoke reprisals from the authorities.

It was the first official reaction to what authorities have called Walesa's unauthorized leave from his electrician's job in the Lenin Shipyard in Gdansk. Walesa said approval for the vacation was given by his foreman but later rescinded.

"It would be fine if some reprisals were made against him but this ought to be organized somehow," the paper said. "Probably not without prompting, he took leave he was not eligible for."

Glos said that Walesa should have "disassociated himself" from his advisers' advice but "it seems that Lech does not know how to do it and the advisers continue to think for him."

Ancient find thrills science

PEKING (UPI) — Archaeologists in northern China have found 7,200-year-old Neolithic building sites with rare wood carvings and other valuable relics in the northern outskirts of Beijing, in northern Liaoning province.

The official Xinhua News Agency Friday reported that the foundations of 10 buildings were uncovered over an area of 24,000 square yards, the largest about 115 square yards and the smallest 24 square yards.

Carbon-14 dating tests placed the site in the early period of the Neolithic Age, 7,200 years ago, the agency said.

"The excavated carbonized wood carvings and black amber products are the first of their kind discovered in China, and considered rare in the world," Xinhua said.

"A number of other valuable relics unearthed included stone and bone artifacts, pottery and jade objects," it said.

Citizens involved in arrest of arson suspect

By KELLY EVERITT
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Rodney Tucker, 20, of Buhl, is being held in lieu of $25,000 bail, following his arraignment Friday in Fifth District Magistrate Court on two counts of first-degree arson.

Tucker is alleged to have set two fires at homes in Buhl. Neither of the fires caused significant damage.

Nearly a dozen fires of suspicious origin were reported in Buhl during June. All of the fires were set at night, and seven destroyed vehicles.

Tucker gave his address as 423 Eighth Ave. in Buhl, during his arraignment before magistrate Judge Michael Rodman. Initial reports, following his arrest Thursday by Buhl police, had listed his address as 202 12th Ave. N. in Buhl.

Tucker was not represented by a lawyer during his arraignment, and no decision was made on whether he would request a preliminary hearing, or waive the hearing and be bound over to district court. No formal plea to the charges will be entered until that decision is made, and no date for a future hearing was set Friday.

But Tucker did request, and was granted, the services of the public defender, before being sent back to the Twin Falls County Jail. In a matter related to the case, The Times-News has learned that Tucker was detained by three citizens late one night in Buhl nearly a week before his arrest.

At about 2:30 a.m. on June 30, three men — Fred Krehmeyer of 810 N. Eighth St. in Buhl; his brother, George Krehmeyer of Madras, Ore.; and Larry Covey of Route 2, Buhl — spotted Tucker in an alley in the area near where the previous arsons had occurred, according to Fred Krehmeyer.

Krehmeyer said Friday that the three men began chasing Tucker, eventually grabbing him after a chase of several blocks.

Krehmeyer said they then took Tucker to the police station and turned him over to officers, but they made no request that he be booked on any charge, as is required when making a formal citizen's arrest.

Tucker, who apparently injured his knee in the chase, was taken to Magic Valley Regional Medical Center, where he was treated and released, and then returned to the police station for questioning.

At that time, he attempted to explain his presence in the area by telling police that he had intended to siphon some gas from city vehicles, says Buhl police Chief Dave Hartway.

Hartway said Friday that Tucker had no hose or gas can, and since police lacked probable cause for an arrest, he was released.

Krehmeyer claims that he and his two companions are not being given credit for information leading to the arrest of Tucker, which might qualify them for the reward. "They (police) told us we'd split the reward."

However, Krehmeyer says that he primarily is concerned about why the police released Tucker after he and his friends caught him.

Hartway says he has not talked to Krehmeyer about the incident, and any decision on the $1,000 reward offered by the city would have to be made by Buhl City Council, not by his department.

Hartway also notes that Tucker already was under constant surveillance by the department at the time — including the night of June 30 — and that the detention of Tucker by the three men occurred before the reward was offered.

No suspicious fires have been reported in Buhl since Tucker's detainment by the citizens.

Tucker was questioned several times by Buhl police in the week leading up to his arrest.

Hartway says he gives primary credit for breaking the case to Officer Craig McCoy, who is now on vacation and "getting a well-deserved rest for all the hours he's put in."

Carpenter Ralph Jones banged away at some tie-down bolts Friday, as the new JB's eatery in Twin Falls starts to take shape

Town expansion

Twin Falls restaurant planning to move into 120-seat complex

By BOB FREUND
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — JB's Big Boy Family Restaurant in Twin Falls will be serving its breakfasts and burgers at a new location by September.

The local store, one of 75 in the JB's regional chain, will move into a new, 120-seat restaurant now being built on the west side of Blue Lakes Boulevard North, just south of Falls Avenue, store manager Gary Dick said Friday.

The $750,000 facility is a joint project with landlord AAA Development of Twin Falls, he said. JB's Big Boy chain is updating its restaurants generally, Dick said.

The new store will be about 20 seats larger. It also will present a much different look than the current restaurant, at 508 Blue Lakes Blvd. N. in the Lynnwood Mall.

The building is being built with a low-profile design, much like its companion buildings in the Blue Lakes Office Complex, says Dave Armstrong, a partner in the development company. It will have a stucco exterior and the roof, extensive landscaping and a berm sloping up to the window-walk height. The interior will feature oak decor with brass highlights and etched glass windows, he says.

The restaurant floor plan will include open seating, as well as two areas of semi-private booths, Dick says.

The staff at the restaurant also will be increased — from 50 to about 70 employees, but two stores will not be taking applications until later this summer, the manager says.

"We're in the process of changing our image of the past two or three years," Dick says of both the local JB's and the chain.

Like others, the restaurants are stressing their lighter, healthier lunches, he says. A serve-yourself breakfast bar also is being incorporated into JB's menus, the manager says. It will cater to morning customers who are in a hurry to eat.

But basically, JB's full-service menu and its prices will remain the same when the restaurant opens in September, he says.

"We've done a good business at Lynnwood," he says. The Twin Falls restaurant normally is among the top 10 stores in the six-state chain, which includes Utah, Montana, Wyoming, Arizona, New Mexico and Idaho. It also is in the process of acquiring Nebraska, Kansas and South Dakota territories. JB's is one of a number of Big Boy regional chains in the country, Dick says.

"We think with a new building ... we'll have a lot more to offer," Dick says.

JB's first opened for business in Twin Falls in August of 1967.

Developers plan to double the size of Blue Lakes Office Park

By BOB FREUND
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The developers of the Blue Lakes Office Park will double the size of the professional office building this fall, David Armstrong, one of the partners, said Friday.

"We are 95 percent full in the first phase, and it's time to start a second, he said. The second stage, a $550,000 project, will add 11,000 square feet to the south side of the building, he says. The complex currently houses about 20 renters and condominium office owners in 13,000 square feet of space.

Half of the space in the planned addition already has been sold to three professional clients, he says. However, Armstrong said he could not reveal the names of the buyers yet.

The Blue Lakes complex is part of a planned-unit development involving 5.5 acres around the southwest corner of Blue Lakes Boulevard North and Falls Avenue. Also planned for the development is a restaurant, to be occupied by JB's Big Boy Family Restaurants.

Armstrong is one of three partners in AAA Development, the builders of the complex. The others are Harold Armstrong and Dr. Ed Allison, both of Twin Falls.

David Armstrong also said Friday that his own firm, Armstrong and Co., will start construction in August on an 18-unit apartment complex in the 300 block of Blue Lakes Boulevard North.

The project, which will cost approximately $600,000, will be luxury apartments catering to professional tenants, couples with grown children and single people, he says.

"It will blend with the architecture of the old homes in the neighborhood," Armstrong says, describing the style as "more of an inn feeling."

A two-story complex with basement parking and extensive landscaping is planned, the developer says. The project is expected to be finished next March.

Armstrong's company also has been active in restoring buildings such as the Cedarquist Home, at Locust Avenue and Addison Avenue East, which recently was converted into office space.

"I'd like to see a lot of the old architecture saved and emphasized," says Armstrong, whose company also has restored Just-A-Mere-Inn, one of the city's original hotels, and other historical buildings.

Down to 3 finalists

CSI board closer to a new president

By HARRIET GUTHERTZ
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho board of trustees has moved closer to selecting a new president for the junior college.

Thursday, the board narrowed the field of candidates to three.

Interim President Jerry Meyerhoeffer is still in the running. The identity of the other two candidates will be made public as soon as the board secures their permission, board Chairman Leroy Craig said Friday. He expects that to happen in the next few days.

The board will invite the two non-Twin Falls finalists to visit CSI during the last week of July, Craig said.

The visits will give the board a chance to take a closer look at the applicants, as well as the opportunity to speak with the college.

The move to narrow the field was made with the help of information provided by the Association of Community College Trustees, a Washington, D.C.-based professional group.

ACTT was hired to help the board and a 17-member citizens committee sort through the approximately 150 applicants through the college received.

Eleanor Nettle from California and Jim Tatom from Missouri, two ACTT

JERRY MEYERHOEFFER Still in the running consultants visited the school twice during the search process.

The members of the citizens committee that has advised the board are: Chairman Joan Edwards, Charles L. Harrison, John Ford, Bill Howard, Dean File, Benny Blich, Thoralf Rangen, Miriam Breckenridge, John Rosholt, Dick Burwell, Kathy Elliott, Jack Muldoon, Jim Herrell, Camden Sawyer, Tony Mannen and Dave Chadwick.

BLM crews finally are beating stubborn fires

By The Times-News and United Press International

TWIN FALLS — Fire crews in the Shoshone District of the Bureau of Land Management could see light at the end of the tunnel Friday.

They began containing and controlling a series of fires that had erupted in the district following lightning strikes Tuesday and Wednesday.

Friday morning, crews controlled a 13,000-acre blaze that started at a 1,000-acre fire at Star Lake and a 3,000-acre blaze south of Richfield. At about noon Friday, crews were pulled off a controlled fire that had burned 11,000 acres near Mindokka. That about eight hours later, a 5,000-acre fire north of Norland was declared under control at 8 p.m.

Fire officials predicted weary crews would be sent home by today from most of the blazes. Since Tuesday, more than 35,000 acres of desert rangeland in the Shoshone District has been burned by nearly a dozen fires.

Officials said crews were able to control the blazes because they worked throughout the night and were aided by cooler temperatures.

Shoshone District dispatcher Carlos Mendolia said he expected that about 60 remaining firefighters would be chafed since the Tuesday night storm. Firefighters had completed mop-up duties Friday night on two blazes — one near Mountain Home totaling 10,000 acres and another between Invoce and Mountain Home, which involved 8,000 acres.

don't think so. When we pull them off tonight, we're going to declare the fires out."

Paul Werth, a National Weather Service fire weather forecaster in Boise, said he expected some isolated lightning strikes during the weekend, but I think the heaviest lightning is over."

A dramatic thunderstorm Tuesday night ignited fires across Idaho's tinder-dry grass and sagebrush deserts. Flames sparked by the storm had blackened a total of about 85,000 acres in southern Idaho by Friday.

"The cooler temperatures and the firefighters," Werth said. "One of the big helps they will get is there will be quite a bit of humidity at night (over the weekend)."

BLM Shoshone District dispatcher Dale Chatterton said firefighters on the lines in his district had received little rest since the Tuesday night storm.

"They're doing pretty well, considering," he said. "It's tough when you've got only three to four hours of sleep, and then you're up and at it for 15 to 18 hours."

Elsewhere in the state, in the Boise area, BLM spokesman Fred Corey said a total of 55,000 acres had been charred since the Tuesday night storm. Firefighters had completed mop-up duties Friday night on two blazes — one near Mountain Home totaling 10,000 acres and another between Invoce and Mountain Home, which involved 8,000 acres.

Court date still not set in Simmons' pension-violation case

By HAL BERTON
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Two months have passed since the U.S. Labor Department filed a lawsuit charging the owner of the Amalgamated Sugar Co. with violating federal pension laws in his investments of $25 million in corporate pension funds.

But a lawyer involved in the suit reports that a federal court date for the trial, scheduled to take place in Fortia, Ill., has not been set yet.

According to J. Landis Martin, a Denver attorney representing owner Harold Simmons, the trial probably will not begin until sometime this fall. He predicts a firm trial date will be set sometime in mid-August.

In the meantime, Simmons and Labor Department lawyers are trying to work out the details of a court-ordered injunction approved by federal Judge Roy Minn in mid-May.

That injunction sharply restricted Simmons' trustee power to invest the $25 million belonging in Amalgamated Sugar and six other pension plans. And it requires the appointment of two new trustees to help manage the plans.

Simmons and Labor Department attorneys have agreed to let Security Pacific, a Los Angeles-based bank, act as the first court-appointed trustee. But Simmons and the Labor Department attorneys still are negotiating to determine who a second court-appointed trustee should be: Martin says.

The broad-ranging suit, filed May 9 by the Labor Department, alleges that Simmons, a Dallas-based corporate financier, violated the federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act when he used the $25 million in pension-plan funds to further his own interests.

Federal labor laws forbid a pension-plan trustee from using fund assets "in his own interest or for his own account."

The complex suit involves Amalgamated Sugar, an Ogdon-based sugar refiner, which employs some 250 workers in the Twin Falls area, in two ways.

First, it charges that Simmons' use of Amalgamated Sugar pension funds to buy $3 million of stock in the New Jersey-based Interpace Corp.; and $4 million of stock in the Pittsburgh-based Cyclope Corp. were risky investments, when were not in the best interest of Amalgamated workers.

Simmons has said that he sold the Amalgamated pension plan's Interpace stock for a healthy profit in early May. The Amalgamated plans, however, continue to hold interest in Cyclope.

Secondly, the suit charges that Simmons illegally used $15.6 million worth of pension-fund money from his Florida-based Keystone Corp. to aid in his controversial November 1982 takeover of Amalgamated Sugar.

According to Martin, Security Pacific is making a study to determine whether Keystone pension plans should try to sell all or part of their interests in Amalgamated Sugar.

There is still a chance, Martin says, that the Labor Department and Simmons could arrive at an out-of-court settlement.

Farm accident kills Hazelton boy

HAZELTON — A 9-year-old Hazelton boy was crushed to death by a backhoe Thursday evening at a farm about six miles south of Hazelton.

The victim has been identified as Cory Duane Cooper, the son of Jack and Diane Cooper.

According to Jerome County Sheriff Eliza Hall: "About 7:30 p.m., Mrs. Cooper was pulling a fence post with the backhoe, and Cory was standing nearby. When Mrs. Cooper looked away to back up, the boy apparently ran to the piece of equipment. He got caught between the bucket and the machinery that moves the scoop up and down. The boy died instantly," said Gerald Cooper, the county coroner.

Mrs. Cooper was working in the area when the accident occurred.

Kimberly picks top neighbors

KIMBERLY — Kimberly's two-day Good Neighbor Days Festival began Friday night with a potluck dinner in the city park. The highlight of the evening was the announcement of this year's "Good Neighbors."

The 1983 recipients of the annual award — given to the couple who most exemplify the festival's theme — are Kimberly residents Bob and Minnie Pressell.

According to the festival's organizers, Ed and Naomi Thompson, the Pressells are active in American Field Service, a foreign student exchange program, hold community benefit auctions and "are always at the local nursing home visiting people."

"I've never done anything to deserve this," said Minnie Pressell during the award presentation. "But thank you anyway."

The Pressells will ride through the streets of Kimberly in a 1914 Hudson during the parade today. The 60-entry parade will begin at 10:30 a.m. at the grade school and end at the city park.

Accident injures New Yorkers

TWIN FALLS — Three New York residents were injured in a two-car collision Friday morning at Blake Street and Addison Avenue West in Twin Falls.

Doreen Valencia, 38, Melissa Valencia, 8, and Theresa Hoffman, 69, all of Levittown, N.Y., were treated and released at Magie Valley Regional Medical Center, according to a nursing supervisor.

The three were the passengers of Alan Valencia, 40, also of Levittown.

According to Twin Falls police, Valencia was turning left onto Blake Street at 8:22 a.m. when he drove in front of another vehicle, driven by Kevin Gooch, 24, of Mountain View, who was called "the driver."

Gooch's Valencia and his other two passengers were not injured.

Valencia has been cited for failure to yield. There was $400 damage to Gooch's car and $1,500 to Valencia's.

Martin Street reopens today

TWIN FALLS — Martin Street, between Addison and Shoup avenues in Twin Falls, will be reopened to motorists this afternoon.

The street, near Magie Valley Regional Medical Center, was closed earlier this week for a city reconstruction project.

Schoonover draws 2-year prison term

BOISE (UPI) — Murderer Donald Schoonover, who lived quietly under an assumed name in the Seattle area for nearly 10 years after fleeing from Idaho authorities, was sentenced Friday to a two-year term for escape.

Fourth District Judge Robert Newhouse told the 59-year-old defendant that he had had a difficult time determining whether a stiff sentence should be imposed before eventually deciding not to hand down the maximum five-year sentence.

The judge said he took into account the relatively low-key life led by Schoonover after he hitchhiked to Seattle, began living under the alias of Joseph Rodriguez, got married and worked as a cook.

Schoonover must serve the escape term after completing the terms of a life sentence he received 23 years ago for slaying his mother-in-law in Twin Falls in 1959. Schoonover was both sentenced for parole on the life sentence this October, court officials said.

Newhouse said he hoped the state Pardons and Paroles Commission will review Schoonover's years in Washington carefully while considering whether to grant him parole.

Friday accident injures three outside of Rupert

RUPERT — Three persons sustained minor injuries Friday when their car hit the support wires of a utility pole, three miles west of Rupert.

The car was driven by Jesse Beltran, 15, who lives at the Paul Labor Camp, according to Bob Nevezar, Minidoka County's chief deputy sheriff.

Beltran was driving east on Highway 25 at 6:05 a.m. when he claims to have lost control of the vehicle. The car then hit a pole near through a fence and struck the wires of another pole, causing it to break in two.

Beltran, and his passengers — Connie Beltran, 12, and John Beltran, 10, were treated and released at Minidoka Memorial Hospital.

There was $2,400 damage to the car and $2,500 to the pole and fence, Nevezar said.

When the construction is completed, Martin Street will meet Morrison Street at Addison, at a single signalized intersection.

QUESTION . . .
My dearest friend has just lost her husband. How can I help?

ANSWER . . .
Religious leaders and psychologists appear to agree on six ways you can help:

1. Assure your friend her situation is not unique.
2. Don't pretend nothing has changed — it has!
3. Encourage her to talk about her loss.
4. Remind her of the relationship of her husband had with his family and the contributions he made to his community.
5. Don't try to do this alone. Enlist the aid of family, friends and professionals.
6. Remember your role is that of a friend — not a counselor.

Results may surprise

Documentary will examine Russian church

By DAVID E. ANDERSON
UPI religion writer

The National Council of Churches has had its troubles with television networks, and it still is smarting from its encounter with CBS's "60 Minutes." But sometimes, church agencies and the networks cooperate and the results can be impressive. And impressive is what church officials promise from the council's cooperation with NBC in the network's two-part documentary "The Church of the Russians," a wide-ranging look at the life of the Russian Orthodox Church in the Soviet Union. The Rev. D. Williams McClurken, the executive director for broadcasting and film for the national council, says the documentary will be the most comprehensive look at the church in television at the world's second largest Christian church. "This is an effort to let the American people see what the lens of the camera saw, an effort to let the Russian Orthodox Church be itself in front of the cameras," says Bruce Rignold, who served as a consultant to NBC about the Russian church and who serves as narrator of the documentary. Rignold, a professor at Chicago's McCormick

Theological Seminary, chairs the National Council of Churches' Committee on U.S.-U.S.S.R. Church Relations. He says the program will surprise many U.S. viewers. "Too many Americans are under the impression that there are no active churches in the Soviet Union. It may be a surprise to learn that there are hundreds and hundreds of people worshipping in active churches, to discover that the church is not just a small, persecuted community, to learn that millions of people are in church every Sunday and on weekdays, too," Rignold says the program is not a critical analysis of the Russian Orthodox Church. "Nor is it an analysis of the human-rights situation in the Soviet Union or the state of religion there."

But he says that through the camera's view of worship services and personal interviews with church members and leaders, the viewer has had a chance to learn that "there are millions of faithful Christians in the Soviet Union." The Oxford World Christian Encyclopedia estimates that there are between 91.3 million and 96.7 million Christians in the Soviet Union, with about 60 million Russian Orthodox Church members. Communist Party membership, which is limited, is about 18.5 million people. "It's absolutely appalling how little Americans know about the Soviet Union in general," Rignold says. "Anything the churches or the media can do to help Americans know that the people are like in the Soviet Union is important."

While the program does not stress the humanization, McClurken says, "the underlying questions raised in the documentary 'is how a church survives in the kind of political climate that exists in the Soviet Union.'" Council officials say the documentary is a result of efforts to stimulate media interest in the Russian church, made by the U.S.-U.S.S.R. church relations committee. Claire Randall, the general secretary of the Interfaith church body, discussed the idea with Russian church leaders. "After we learned that they were receptive to the idea, we helped clear the way for NBC to begin production," he says. McClurken also praises NBC for the extensive coverage it is giving the program. "NBC found that it had so much new and unique material that it expanded the documentary from one to two hours," he says.

Gallup poll shows Britons place little faith in God

LONDON (UPI) — Britons are losing faith in religion because of boring, sermons dull, and services old-fashioned, a Gallup survey reported this week.

The survey, conducted for the Bible Society, found that 67 percent of Britons believe in God, but only 15 percent of the British population attends religious services once a week. Of the 1,136 people interviewed, about 56 percent either never go to church at all, or they go only for weddings, christenings and funerals. Eighty percent said they had a Bible but half had never opened it. Sixty percent had never read a Bible. More than 30 percent said they found Christian churches dull, uninspiring and old-fashioned. About 20 percent said they found services "boring, sermons too serious and congregations pompous and uninteresting." Of the church-goers, 5 percent said God was unimportant in their lives. On the other hand, a third of the non-attenders said "God was important." About 20 percent wanted less dogmatism, especially in matters such as divorce, contraception and suicide. Bible Society director Tom Houston said his conclusion was that the church should "fall in line with the pedestal of its own unflinching orthodoxy and take steps to whet the appetites of people for the Bible." For Britain as a whole, 30 percent suggested belief in God is declining, but he said there is a better church effort to attract the young and get its message through to non-church-goers. Houston said the study revealed London as "a religious desert."

Evans asks for farming of public land

By ELLEN MARKS
Valley Press International

BOISE — A national policy on agriculture must be based on wise use of public lands and an emphasis on developing international trade, Gov. John Evans said Friday.

The Democratic governor reiterated his concern for the government's public land-sale program during a congressional hearing in Boise.

"Evans, a frequent critic of the plan to raise revenue by selling public land, said the livestock industry and other food producers rely on multiple-use management of federal property.

"The federal government must develop future agriculture policy that is based on wise multiple use of the land," Evans said in written remarks.

"Again, this is an issue of particular concern to the western states because most of the public lands are in the West."

The hearing, chaired by Sen. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, was one of a series conducted around the country by the Joint Economic Committee of Congress.

In other comments, Evans also advised national leaders to help western states improve trade with Pacific Rim countries.

"He said Idaho's best interests are not being served by trade decisions that have been made without consulting state officials.

For example, the Gem State must conduct its business under the jurisdiction of the Chicago customs district, despite the proximity of offices in Portland and Seattle, Evans said.

"International trade can be a successful and profitable venture for American farmers, particularly in the western states, but we need the support of the federal government in formulating policy," Evans said.

Idaho labor lashes out at right-to-work group

BOISE (UPI) — The president of the Idaho AFL-CIO charged Friday the Idaho Freedom to Work Committee does not release the names of contributors to its fund because it is "ashamed" to name the people sponsoring the group's anti-union lobbying.

Louise Koonitz, a Kimberly resident and co-chairwoman of the committee, responded that the labor leader was putting up a smoke screen to hide the fact that his group gets no voluntary contributions, raising money instead "by force."

Appearing on a television talk program, AFL-CIO chief Jim Kerns said the Association of Manufacturers and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce organized the National Right to Work Committee, "and they're the ones that are, for the most part, funding it."

"I find it very interesting that when the Sunshine report came out from the Idaho Right to Work Committee, most of the money that they raised and was spent in the state came from two sources — Utah and New Mexico," Kerns said.

"I would think the reason it was done that way is that we have a Sunshine (public-disclosure law) and if you raise money, you have to report where you get the money. If they get it out of Utah, all they have to say is, 'We got it out of Utah' — from the Utah right to work committee or the

New Mexico right to work committee.

"It would be interesting to see who contributed that money, but you'll never find out because Utah and New Mexico don't have the same kind of Sunshine law," Kerns said.

Ms. Koonitz said, in a written statement, "the real issue" is that the AFL-CIO "raises its funds by force, from workers who are forced to pay union dues at the threat of being fired."

Police seek help in solving babysitter murder

POCATELLO (UPI) — Eastern Idaho law enforcement authorities and government officials put out a call Friday for even the smallest lead to help them solve the case of a 14-year-old babysitter apparently abducted from her employer's home.

The body of a girl was found Thursday in an isolated area southwest of Pocatello, and officials said clothing found on the corpse closely resembled that worn by Cindy Brington last day she disappeared from the home where she was babysitting.

An autopsy was begun late Friday to positively identify the body and determine a cause of death. Officials said they believed foul play was involved in the death but declined to elaborate.

Police Chief Norm Probst said the body was recovered by a teenager who was fishing with his father in the Mink Creek area southwest of Pocatello. The identity of the youth was not revealed.

"The body was a female, who had been in the water for a period of time and was in a high state of decomposition," Probst said at a Friday news conference.

Asked if authorities could solve the case, he said they "have a chance."

State cracks down on letter writing of inmate

BOISE (UPI) — A letter-writing spree by an Idaho State Penitentiary inmate allegedly threatening to kill about 20 southeastern Idaho residents will be curbed under a policy adopted by the state Corrections Board Friday.

Murphy said in an interview following the board meeting.

He said they threaten the recipients' lives "and use real slimy language in the process."

"People on the street don't have to put up with that," he said.

circumvent Murphy's demands, other states have been upheld by the courts.

Murphy said similar policies in other states have been upheld by the courts.

Corrections Director Al Murphy asked board members to adopt the policy, which Murphy said would allow him to screen the inmate's mail.

He refused to identify the prisoner, saying only that he had received "a ton of complaints" from 15-20 southeastern Idaho residents who have received the correspondence.

"The letters are bad, real bad."

He said he could require to see the letters, require that the prisoner submit a name of all his correspondents in advance and take action against the inmate if he were to pass the exam.

Board adopts alcohol tests, approves funding for farms

SANDPOINT (UPI) — The Idaho Health and Welfare Board adopted standards Friday for those who will be evaluating violators of the state's new drunken driving law to determine if offenders have chronic problems with alcohol.

Board spokeswoman Doris Schneider said the emergency rules were approved to open the way for full implementation of the statute, which went into effect July 1 and requires that persons convicted of driving under the influence of alcohol be evaluated to see if they suffer from serious drinking problems.

All physicians will be automatically certified as qualified to conduct the evaluations, she said. Others must pass a state examination. Ms. Schneider said the first tests will be administered July 14 and 15 in Boise, Coeur d'Alene, Lewiston and Pocatello.

Although no nursing or social service training is specifically required, the spokeswoman said "you will have to have some training in alcohol evaluation and the new law" to pass the exam.

Idaho Falls golfers pace at Idaho Am

By RON BENNETT
Special to The Times-News

BLACKFOOT — Idaho Falls golfers Jerry Rose and Kurt Thomsen battled gusty winds to card 1-under-par 71s Friday and claim the first-round lead of Idaho Men's Amateur Golf Championship being held at the Blackfoot Municipal Golf Course.

Rose, a former Brigham Young University player, and Thomsen, an Idaho Falls attorney, held a one-stroke lead at the end of Friday's first round over Boise's Jerry Troy and Blackfoot's Scott Hildner in the 6,534-yard course, considered to be one of the toughest in the state.

"I feel good with my score, especially considering I haven't played in any tournaments for two years," said Rose, a newcomer to the Idaho Falls area.

The 24-year-old, a darkhorse in this tournament, has won amateur tournaments in California and in the East.

Burley's Dave Parker had the lowest score among Magic Valley golfers, a 74.

Generally, scores were higher on the front nine, apparently for two reasons: first, golfers had to battle 25-mile-per-hour winds on the first and second holes, and the back nine has only been open for two years, thus having fewer trees and other hazards.

The lowest Twin Falls golfer's score in the opening round was turned in by David Rasmussen, who carded a 75, mainly on the strength of an even-par performance on the back nine.

"I played a bad front nine," Rasmussen said. "I double-bogeyed number 2 and number 5. The wind was really strong on those two holes. Other than that, I played pretty steady."

Another Twin Falls golfer, Perry Hanchey — considered by many as a strong contender for the title — ran into trouble early, but salvaged a 79 for the round.

"I got a bad start, and simply couldn't get it back," Hanchey said. "I hit it out of bounds on the first hole, then buried it in a sand trap to the point I could barely see the top of the ball. I ended up with a triple bogey on the first hole, then bogeyed the second and third. The wind really bothered me the first five or six holes."

Defending champion Rich Hutchins of Boise and Dave Molitor of Pocatello, who won the tournament two years ago, both scored 78 to stay well within contention for Saturday's and Sunday's rounds.

Scott Massingill of Payette scored a 73 for fifth place in the opening round. Massingill said he was pleased with his round as he was in a good position for the final two days of play.

Four players were tied for sixth with 74s, including Idaho Falls's John Lewis, Gary Lounsbury, Boise's Drew Wilson and Parker.

Rasmussen was among four players at 75.

Jim Purves of Twin Falls had a 76 along with five other golfers.

In the first flight, Pocatello's Greg Albright scored a 74 to hold a two-stroke lead over Mountain Home's Bruce Conners. Gordon Barry of Twin Falls was among four golfers tied for sixth place with 78s.

Another Pocatello golfer, David Reynolds, was leading the second flight. Reynolds' score of 75 was one stroke better than Idaho Falls' Walt Coombs.

What would USFL playoffs be without Allen?

By DONNA BALANCIA
United Press International

It may not be the first playoff dance for coach George Allen of the Chicago Blitz, but for his team, the first step toward the playoff championship may amount to nothing more than an awkward shuffle.

The Blitz, a wild card entrant to the USFL's inaugural playoffs, will take on the Philadelphia Stars, owners of the league's best record, Saturday at Veterans Stadium in hopes of a berth in the July 17 title game in Denver.

Michigan entertains Oakland Sunday in the other semifinal.

The beat to which Allen's players will waltz en route to the laurels remains the same: the odd-7-3.

"That's how you win," he said. "The first rule of winning is how you

Broadcast time on ABC-TV is 11:30 a.m. MDT

stop them. And the second rule is you give your offense field position. You do that with your kicking game. And the third rule is: have an offense that doesn't make mistakes."

In the only meeting between the teams this year, the Stars rallied from a 14-point deficit with three touchdowns in the fourth quarter for a 31-24 victory May 15.

Jim Mora, as a fledgling first-year head coach with the Stars, couldn't agree more with Allen's theories.

"He's a good coach," Mora said. "I have a lot of respect for him. Most coaches have a philosophy. You believe in certain things, the things that are going to win football games for you. So there are a lot of similarities there."

The Stars, 15-3, finished first in the league against the rush and in point yield while the Blitz, 12-6, was the USFL's best against the pass and in total defense.

The Blitz led the league in interceptions (37), with free safety Luther Bradley picking off 12, while the Stars were right behind (34). The Stars, meanwhile, claimed a total of 62 turnovers while losing the ball only 37 times.

The teams also have a key offensive weapon. Kelvin Bryant, rushed for 1,442 yards for the Stars and scored 17 touchdowns. Wide receiver Trumaine Johnson of the Blitz caught a league-leading 81 passes for 1,322 yards and 10 TDs.

The Blitz has incurred injuries at quarterback. With Greg Landry and backup Tim Koegel out for the season, Bobby Scott, who began the season with New Jersey, has emerged as the starter.

Stars' quarterback Chuck Fusina ran Mora's controlled offense, finishing fifth in league passing. Three of Philadelphia's receivers — Scott Fitzake, Bryant and Willie Collier — had more than 50 receptions.

On Sunday, the Pacific Division champion Invaders, 9-9, will take on the Panthers, 12-6.

"We'll play a Michigan team this week that has made a lot of strides since we played in the third week," said Invaders' coach John Ralston.

"But, we've come a long way, too."

The game will match the league's top quarterbacks, Bobby Hebert and Fred Besana in the ratings, but Besana led the league in completions (345), passing yards (3,980) and a 67.7 completion percentage. He also was second in pass attempts with 550 and threw 21 TD passes.

Jim Stanley's Panthers will base their attack around the abilities of wide receivers Derek Holloway and Anthony Carter.

"The main reason we're here is to win," Holloway said. "It doesn't matter who we're against."

Carter caught 60 passes for 1,181 yards and nine TDs while Holloway caught only 39 passes — but 11 went for touchdowns and he had 811 yards with his receptions.

USFL isn't a hit, but networks don't complain

By BARRY BOESCH
Dallas Morning News

Despite glowing ratings and a prime-time disaster, ABC and ESPN have pronounced the inaugural season of the United States Football League a success.

However, modest the new league's achievements were, they met or exceeded the expectations of league officials, ABC and ESPN and the advertisers who bankrolled the telecasts.

"Yes, we are satisfied," an ABC spokesman said.

"We are extremely happy with the results," ESPN vice president Scotty Connal said. "I've been pleasantly surprised at the overall results of the league. The ratings have been excellent."

The ratings are "excellent" because everyone's projections were so conservative. ABC and its major advertisers predicted the Sunday afternoon telecasts would average a 5 rating. Not counting the final game of the season, ABC's average was 6.1.

The USFL did better than ABC's sports programming during the same period last year, which drew a 4.8. And the USFL did better than ABC's coverage of the American Football League's inaugural season in 1960, which drew a 5.8.

ESPN predicted its Saturday and Monday night games would draw between a 3 and 5 rating. Not counting the first weekend, ESPN averaged a 3.5 over-all, including a 3.0 on Saturday nights and a 3.5 on Mondays. Only the NCAA basketball tournament has gotten higher ratings on the cable sports network.

For advertisers, the USFL not only delivered the size audience expected, but the type of audience as well.

"We have two demographic targets. One is the male 25-54 and the other is the male 18-49," said David Martin, senior vice president of broadcast advertising at Campbell-Ewald. His firm represents Chevrolet, Goodyear, Eastern Airlines, Delco, and GMAC.

"In the case of the 25-54 category, the football has performed above our estimates," he said. "They've done better than we've anticipated. We're reasonably pleased with what they've done."

Riding a crest of curiosity and controversy over the signing of Georgia running back Herschel Walker, the league debuted March 5 with a 14.2 rating and 35 shares, meaning approximately 12 million homes and one of every three U.S. homes were watching the game.

BRIDGER-TETON NATIONAL FOREST, Wyo. — A white-tailed doe, started from a clearing, lopes away into the mist of an early summer rain. Mountain-town. A few hundred yards uphill, two mule deer rise slowly and meander across a meadow atop a ridge.

Higher still, a grouse, flushed, glides away. Alop the ridge an elk raises its head to the breeze, then resumes grazing.

The first helicopter takes off at 10 minutes.

It starts up sounds, coming from an oil-drilling platform hidden by the oil-drilling rig as weak as a lantern's. But as the machine lifts into view, carrying explosives, and seismic testing gear to a nearby blasting line, the beating of its blades becomes the dominant sound for miles into the wilderness.

nounced grow-yaunt) Range. This wilderness and others are to be taken in the intensifying struggle over who will use the least-protected lands of the national forest system, and for what, over the next few years.

While the U.S. Forest Service as recently as 1981 recommended both the Gros Ventre Range and the Little Granite Creek for protection as roadless wildernesses, the 24,000-acre Little Granite area apparently will remain general-use national forest land — land on which Getty Oil Co. proposes to build a heavy-duty road and drill for oil and gas.

Success, according to the Forest Service and Interior Department documents, could mean a dozen wells, hundreds of trucks and perhaps a processing plant and pipeline.

It is a classic confrontation: What some see as critical wildlife habitat vs. what others see as high-potential oil and gas land. In addition, it illustrates the nature of some con-public land battles and the role the Reagan administration is playing in them.

The struggle is important for several reasons.

For one, more public recreation occurs in national forests than anywhere else in the public lands system. (According to National Park Service figures, 42 percent of all recreation uses on federal lands occurred in public forests last year, more than twice the amount in national parks.)

For another, officials at all levels of the Forest Service acknowledge that natural-gas processing plants in areas like Little Granite have implications for national air and water quality far beyond the boundaries of the forest system. (In the Bridger-Teton area, for example, plans for natural-gas processing plants are raising fears of acid rain.)

The administration's intentions have been made clear by Assistant Agriculture Secretary John B. Crowell Jr., a former official of the timber giant Louisiana-Pacific Corp., who was named by President Ronald Reagan to oversee the Forest Service.

"We intend to generate increased receipts to the U.S. Treasury by emphasizing revenue-producing activities such as timber management, and oil, gas and minerals development," Crowell said in a speech this spring in Portland, Ore. Only congressionally designated wilderness preserves are exempt, he said. "The nub of the whole matter is fulfillment of productive capability," he said in a recent interview in Washington.

Foresters, conservationists and political officials recently interviewed said Reagan appointees have effectively moved forest management back toward the aggressively pro-development direction it had for two decades before being pushed in the other direction by the environmental movement of the 1970s.

Attempts by Crowell and Interior Secretary James Watt to sell off some forest land — in the interest of what they see as better management — and to encourage development in pristine wilderness areas have largely been stymied so far, primarily by public outcry and the withholding of congressional authorizations.

legislation that would authorize such sales, Forest Service spokesmen say, and officials close to the situation acknowledge that changes in regulations and the budget already have made the 191 million acres of national forest more attractive to would-be developers and less hospitable to the general public.

As funds for recreation have been cut, the forests have grown more littered, and disappear in a mist along the trail systems. Timber and grazing prices have been cut, and funds to promote oil, gas and mineral development have been increased.

Of 191 million acres in the national forest system, Congress has given 25 million acres wilderness-preserve designations. Only 10.3 million — about 5 percent — is land that could have readily been put to commercial use had it not been protected.

The number of designations is unlikely to increase in the current administration. Crowell last winter ordered the Forest Service to restudy its recommendations to Congress that an additional 12.5 million acres be protected, and Reagan in March crit-

F&G mulls restricting Middle Fork

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — State fish and game commissioners say Idaho Treaty fishing in the Shoshone River might have to be restricted because spawning salmon have been moving upstream in a dangerously low number this year, an agency spokesman said Friday.

Representatives of the Shoshone Tribe, a federal agency, and the commission's meeting Friday to ask that state officials set up a special session with tribal leaders to discuss the fishing regulations.

Bob Parker, a federal official of the Idaho Fish and Game Department, said the agency "probably will honor" the request, but schedule a meeting sometime next week.

"Salmon runs have been a open river along the Middle Fork (of the Salmon River) and, of course, we (commissioners and department administrators) have a concern," Parker said. "We have very low numbers of fish."

Earlier this year, state officials and leaders of the Nez Perce Indian Tribe in northern Idaho initiated an agreement to restrict treaty fishing at Eagle River to help preserve depleted salmon spawning runs.

ized supporters of major additions for seeking what he called "wholesale amounts" of protected land.

"Instead, the administration "has gone forward very quickly" in encouraging development projects, producing "almost a doubling of activity" in oil, gas and mineral exploration, according to Howard Banta, director of minerals and geology at Forest Service headquarters in Washington.

The upsurge in activity, Forest Service Chief Max Peterson said in an interview, is being felt throughout the extensive mountain-forest lands of Montana, Utah, Wyoming and Idaho. He acknowledged it is exerting particular pressure on the Bridger-Teton because of the high recreation use there.

"We had so many helicopter crews on the Bridger-Teton last year, that the Forest Service was kind of fuming for the lives of some of those people, there were so many rolling around in the air," Banta said. "It was kind of like gold fever... and the hunters were threatening to shoot them down."

Newcomer O'Meara battles into tie with Pooley after second round of Milwaukee Open

By MICHAEL EISEN
United Press International

FRANKLIN, Wis. — Mark O'Meara, shot an even-par 72 for a two-day total of 7-under-par 137 to tie Don Pooley at the end of the second round of the $25,000 Greater Milwaukee Open here Friday.

Their two-day totals of 137 gave him them a one-stroke lead over five other players: Morris Hatalasky, Walter Armstrong, Buddy Gardner, Roger Maltbie and Clarence Rose.

Hatalasky shot a 70 after his opening 68, while Rose, Gardner and Maltbie had 69. Rose had one stroke off the pace after the first round, shot a 72.

Dennis Tiziani and Payne Stewart were tied for third at 139.

Lon Hinkle, who finished the first round tied for the lead with O'Meara, shot a second-round 78 and was six strokes off the pace at 143.

O'Meara, starting on the back nine, began his round with four pars and two birdies, but he bogeyed the new two holes and finished the nine holes at par-36. His 36 on the back nine a birdie and a bogey.

"I think the course played a little tougher today but I felt like my round should have been better than it was," O'Meara said. "I felt confident. It just seemed when I hit a moderately poor shot today, it got me in more trouble than I needed."

"It feels good to be leading now, but I'd rather be leading Sunday when it's over."

The tournament is being played at the Tuckaway Country Club in the Milwaukee suburb of Franklin.

In Syracuse, N.Y., Jim Ferree, winner of only one PGA tournament and a non-winner on the Senior Tour, fired a 5-under-par 66 Friday at Bellevue Country Club to take the second-round lead in the $150,000

Greater Syracuse Seniors' Pro Golf Classic.

Ferree stood at 7-under-par 134, three strokes in front of two-time U.S. Open champion Billy Casper, who also shot 66 Friday.

Rod Funseth, with a 68, and Gene Littler, with a second-straight 69, stood at 138.

Trevino clings to CPGA lead, in spite of woes

BOISCHATEL, Quebec (UPI) — Lee Trevino slipped into a two-stroke lead with a 7-under-par 65 between rain showers Friday at the $100,000 CPGA championship on a day dominated by underled Canadian pro Graham Gunn.

The championship is sponsored by John Labatt Ltd.

Trevino, who started the second round tied with Daniel Talbot of Beletol, Quebec, at 5-under, birdied six of the last seven holes in the rain to fall to 12-under for the tournament.

Dan Hallidorsen of Brandon, Manitoba, shot 66 to take over second place at 10-under and Japan's Tommy Nakajima fired a 67 for third place at 9-under.

well in the last month. This is a good ego-boosting course because it's not too difficult. You can get good scores."

Gunn, who plays out of the Summerlea club near his home town of Pickering, Ontario, chipped in a 15-footer with a pitching wedge shot for a birdie on the 19th hole and followed with a hole-in-one with a 5-iron on the 170-yard 13th hole. He then scored birdies on four of the last five holes for a 28 on the par-32 back nine and a 65 overall.

"I thought it was going long at first," said Gunn of his ace. "Then it hit and bounced against the flag and my caddy yelled that's $5,000."

Gunn, who shot a 71 Thursday and finished his round before the rain, won the $5,000 prize put up by a sponsor for the first hole-in-one of the tournament.

"I was just trying to get it close," he said.

Barr, who matched the 68 he shot a day earlier, one-putted his first six greens and used only 11 putts on his first nine holes to stay on the lead.

Nakajima, who topped his 68 Thursday with a 97, sank putts of 20 and 50 feet to take third place.

Speaking through a French-speaking "Japanese" interpreter, Nakajima said the trick to putting on the rain-damaged Royal Quebec greens was to "find the sweet spot on the putter."

Nakajima, a veteran of two Masters tournaments—who plays most of his golf in Japan, said he would play seven tournaments in North America this year and 15 in 1984, mostly on the U.S. tour.

Mark Shushack of Thunder Bay, Ontario, fired a 71 to tie Venezuelan Ramon Munoz and Robble Phillips of Jackson's Point, Ontario, at 4-under.

F&G wants to study federal sales

IDAHO FALLS (UPI) — The Idaho Fish and Game Commission requested Friday that the federal government consult the agency before selling public lands in the state.

The five-member commission unanimously approved the position paper in response to the government's controversial "asset management" plan being carried out by the Interior Department and the presidential Property Review Board, said Rod Parker, a regional Fish and Game Department official.

"(Commissioners) ask) before any public land is listed for sale or disposal, that a determination of wildlife, fish or other recreational values be made, that those lands be disposed of only if such lands lack significant fish, wildlife or watershed values, and that the proposed disposal of public land be planned with the full cooperation and opportunity for evaluation" by the state, the resolution said.

The commission also adopted a five-year water fowl management program proposed by the department.

"It's the same as management plans for other species, such as deer and elk," Parker said. "It basically guides the department's operations."

Parker said commissioners placed special emphasis in the plan on protecting and improving waterfowl nesting areas, including more involvement in water management and flood control.

Commissioners also ordered the immediate closure to anglers of Wolf Lodge Creek, a prime trout stream east of Coeur d'Alene that was contaminated by a major gasoline spill in early June.

The five-member panel also legislated the dove-hunting season by 15 days, ordering that it run from Sept. 1 through Oct. 1. Parker said the change was made due to a decision by the federal government to relax restrictions on falconry season lengths.

The panel also adopted 1863 cottontail regulations and named Gary Copeland, of the department's Pocatello region, as the agency's outstanding enforcement employee this year, Parker said.

Lethargy leads stocks lower

By GAIL COLLINS
United Press International

NEW YORK—Stocks were slightly lower Friday after a day of lethargic trading as a "punchy" Wall Street-awaited news on interest rates.

The Dow Jones industrial average ended down 3.21 to 1,207.23. Declines led advances 943-626 among the 1,986 issues traded. The New York Stock Exchange index finished down 0.31 to 96.98 and the price of an average share fell 12 cents.

Dow Jones industrial average

Note: Chart shows Friday closes except for Dec. 23 and March 31; both Thursdays that preceded holidays. Chicago Tribune Chart. Source: Dow Jones.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index dropped 0.48 to 167.08.

After a modest and brief morning rally, the New York Stock Exchange appeared to go into hibernation, with little change in the market barometers and low volume.

NYSE turnover was 66,740,000, down from 97,130,000 Thursday. Composite volume of NYSE stock traded throughout the country was 79,646,080, down from 114,385,500.

The report is sure to relieve many investors, who sent the market down after the Fed reported an unexpected rise in the money supply a week ago.

The American Stock Exchange index closed down 1.19 at 245.72. The price of an average share dropped 8 cents. Composite volume was 9,218,725, down from 11,938,000 Thursday. Declines led advances 332-273 among the 824 issues traded.

The National Association of Securities Dealers NASDAQ index of over-the-counter stocks dropped 0.46 to 319.57.

On the NYSE, Chrysler was the most active issue, down 1/4 to 29 1/2. A block of 250,000 traded at 30 1/2.

AT&T was second, up 1/4 at 62 1/2. District Judge Harold Greene said he will approve the company's reorganization plan once certain changes are made to help keep down the cost of local telephone service.

Energy stocks, which attracted investor interest all week, continued active although some were hit by profit-taking.

Baker International rose 1/4 to 20 1/2. Exxon dropped 1/4 to 26 1/2. Natoms fell 1/4 to 2 1/2 and Standard Oil of Ohio dropped 1/4 to 53 1/2.

Diamond Shamrock rose 1/4 to 23. On the Amex, Imperial Chemical was the most active issue, up 1/4 at 8. Dome Petroleum was second, down 5/16 at 4 11/16. Dunlop Holding was third, unchanged at 11-1/16.

Monopoly claim by Stokely

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Stokely-Van Camp Inc. fighting a Pillsbury Co. takeover attempt, has accused the giant food producer of trying to capture the market for canned beans produced by a subsidiary.

Stokely has action pending in two courts, with at least a temporary victory in a state court.

In Marion Superior Court, Judge Richard L. Milan barred Pillsbury from buying more Stokely stock until it complies with Indiana's corporate takeover law.

In Federal Court, Stokely sued Pillsbury to block the takeover try, saying the proposed acquisition would violate federal antitrust law.

Stokely charged Pillsbury's move would violate antitrust law by reducing retail competition for canned beans in a market already highly concentrated among few competitors. Pillsbury entered processing of small white beans last year with purchase of the Wickes Co. agricultural division.

Stokely contended "the apparent purpose of Pillsbury's attempt to acquire Stokely is to obtain a captive customer" for Wickes' small white beans.

Money fund assets decline

NEW YORK (UPI)—Assets of money market mutual funds fell $29.9 billion in the latest week, the second smallest weekly decline since December. Yields rose on both money-market funds and on bank money market deposit accounts.

The Investment Company Institute, Washington-based mutual fund industry association, said total assets of money market funds were $165.82 billion in the week. Institutional-only funds were up modestly while general purpose and broker-dealer funds fell.

An ICI spokesman said, however, that 165 funds, or more than half of the total 315, either went up or stayed unchanged in the week.

The Donoghue Organization, Holliston, Mass., said its index of money market funds rose to 8.22 percent from 8.11 percent the previous week. Thirty-day average yields were 8.07 percent, up from 7.90 percent last week.

Auto builders lower forecast

DETROIT (UPI)—A major survey of auto industry leaders predicts unneeded gasoline in 1990 will cost $1.75 a gallon—far less than the $3 a gallon prices they had predicted just two years ago.

The Delphi III study by Arthur Andersen and Co., an international consulting firm, predicted General Motors will continue to be the nation's No. 1 automaker but said Ford will lose a share of the market to Chrysler.

The study, the third in a series conducted every two years, was based on answers from nearly 300 management officials at auto companies and suppliers.

The industry leaders predicted gasoline prices will increase about 5 cents a gallon annually to a high of $1.75 for unleaded fuel by 1990—far lower than the $3 per gallon prediction they made in the 1981 study.

Participants said auto and economy will increase to about 35 miles per gallon in 1992. In the 1981 survey, they predicted the companies would reach that mark by 1990.

Trucking firm purchase set

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—A California-based non-union freight company will take over operations Saturday of 12 terminals in Oregon and Washington owned by financially-troubled Silver Wheels Freightlines Inc. under a $400,000 purchase agreement.

Randy Bangham, vice president of Viking Freight Systems of Santa Clara, Calif., said the sale is still subject to final approval by the public utility commission involved.

Bangham said Viking, which has a payroll of 1,620 employees and operates 16 terminals in California, Nevada and Arizona, opened interstate terminals in Medford, Portland and Seattle earlier this week.

Rail workers ratify contract

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—A railroad workers union ratified the collective bargaining agreement with Kennecott Copper Co. Thursday, bringing all 42 unions operating within the Utah copper division under contract.

United Transportation Union Local, which had been the lone union holding out on the contract, ratified the agreement after resolving local issues at the mine, said Bob Alkire, communications director for the Utah Copper Division.

Judge wants lid on local phone costs

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. District Judge Harold Greene said Friday he will approve the reorganization plan for American Telephone & Telegraph Co. once certain changes are made to help keep the cost of local telephone service down.

Greene, presiding over the breakup of the world's largest private company, said certain modifications must be made to encourage competition in the telecommunications industry and preserve universal service.

Under the agreement reached between the Justice Department and the company last year, AT&T agreed to spin off its 22 local operating companies in exchange for being allowed to enter lucrative new telecommunications markets.

Greene approved the divestiture last August, but has been considering the company's reorganization plan for several few months.

The target date for the breakup of the company is next Jan. 1.

"One of the court's principal aims throughout the public interest process has been to ensure that divestiture would not bring about or contribute to local telephone rate increases," Greene said in a 160-page opinion.

He said the modifications he is requiring in the proposed plan of reorganization should help in "moderating the pressure for local rate increases, whatever their source."
