Rebels control the north

Chad officials plead for help

By United Press International

Libyan bombers hammered the eastern oasis strongholds of Oum Chalouba and Kalait Friday and Chad's President Hissene Habre appealed to France and the United States to intervene in the fighting.

"The Libyan bombing has led to the occupation of the entire north of our country. We urgently appeal to our allies France and the United States to intervene directly to stop this Libyan aggression," Habre said.

On Thursday President Reagan ruled out the possibility of U.S. military intervention, saying Chad was in France's sphere of influence.

Habre also called on the Organization of African Unity, meeting this weekend in Brazzaville, Congo, to stop "the Libyan aggression against Chad."

His office said Libyan planes bombed Oum Chalouba and Kalait and unconfirmed reports reaching the capital said Libyan aircraft also attacked the village of Koro Toro 350 miles north of N'jamena, Friday morning.

The town is the regrouping point for the "retreating" government garrison overrun at Faya-Largeau by rebel troops loyal to ex-President Goukouni Weddeya.

In an interview with ABC-TV, Libyan leader Moammar Khaddafy denied his forces were involved in the Chad civil war.

"We are not interfering with Chad at all. We are sorry to see other parties like America and Zaïre and so on profit in this civil war."

"We have no soldiers there, military action in the air or on the ground at all. Our borders are closed except for a bag time with Chad... We have nothing to do in this civil war," Khaddafy said.

Meanwhile, Libya appears to be suggesting a compromise solution to resolve the conflict in Chad, where it is backing anti-government rebels, diplomatic sources said Friday.

The state-run news agency JANA reported that "initiatives for the restoration of peace in the Republic of Chad... are underway."

The Paris-delivered dispatch suggested Libyan approval of a plan to replace Chad President Hissene Habre by what it called "new faces," diplomatic sources said.

The dispatch did not make clear what country initiated the plan or who was negotiating with whom but it would give France a major role in a settlement in its former colony in north-central Africa.

Carrier ends exercise, departs Latin America

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An eight-ship battle group headed by the aircraft carrier Ranger departed for the Western Pacific Friday after 19 days of conducting exercises off the Central America coast.

A six-ship force led by the battleship Missouri departed the battle group led by the carrier Coral Sea was steaming westward in the Atlantic Ocean enroute to the Caribbean coast off Central America.

The Ranger originally was to have left the station Aug. 2 but was held up for six days because of official visits to the warship by the leaders of several countries in the region.

The departure of the two battle groups before the arrival of the Coral Sea left a gap of several days in U.S. naval power off Central America at a time when U.S. ground forces were preparing for combined military exercises with Honduran troops in Honduras.

Nearly 500 Americans already were in Honduras for the three-pronged "Big Pine III" exercises that may run until March.

Twin Falls too big for own ZIP code

By BOB FREUND Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The 1,840 box holders at the Twin Falls post office are getting so much mail that they have outgrown the city's ZIP code.

The U.S. Postal Service is informing residents that they now have ZIP code 83303 all to themselves. The code for the rest of Twin Falls is 83301.

"It's no different than any other large city, where you have to break down the ZIP code and have multiple ZIP areas," Bill Brady, the supervisor of delivery, said Friday.

Out of the 315,000 pieces of mail delivered in a typical week, some 85,000 will be tossed into the boxes in the post office's lobby, he says. Including outgoing mail, Twin Falls handles about 825,000 pieces a week.

The new code will route the mail more directly to the boxes and eliminate some sorting errors, Brady says.

The box holders also are getting in on the ground floor of another sorting system that will go into wide-scale use in Twin Falls this fall.

It's called "ZIP + 4." As the name suggests, it will add four digits to the address.

Basically, the number of the post-office box is added at the end of the ZIP code. For instance, the new code for Box 25 will be 83303-0025; the code for Box 702 will be 83303-0702.

But a box-holder should fill correspondence not to drop the box number at its normal place in the address, Brady says. It is still important to include it on the first line after the name.

Reagan blasts Castro, woos Hispanics

By NORMAN D. SANDLER United Press International

TAMPA, Fla. — President Reagan, kicking off a cross-country campaign-style push for Hispanic support, derided Communist Cuba Friday as an "economic basket case" that has betrayed its own people.

Reagan, speaking to the U.S. Hispanic Chamber of Commerce, also delivered a spirited defense of his Central America policies, saying "too much politics has been played with what should be our role" in the region.

"A far-away totalitarian power has set its sights on our friends and neighbors in Central America and the Caribbean. If we don't meet our responsibilities there, we will pay dearly for it," Reagan told the enthusiastic crowd of more than 1,000.

Reagan's stop at the bustling port city of Tampa, where more cigars are manufactured than anywhere in the country, was aimed at courting Hispanics. Reagan's advisers believe their support is crucial in winning a second term.

Reagan got a rousing welcome from the group, which shouted "bravo" and gave him one standing ovation after another. Supporters held up four fingers and yelled "Four more years." Reagan thanked the crowd by saying, "Muchas gracias."

And he hit on an emotional issue for those in the crowd who left Cuba after Fidel Castro took power in 1959.

"The Cuban government tells its young men as Soviet cannon fodder in exchange for a massive subsidy without which it could not survive," Reagan said.

"The Cuban people have been betrayed. They have neither freedom nor material goods. The only things abundant there today are slogans, weapons, repression and shortages."

"No better example exists than Cuba," Reagan said. "Under Castro's rule Cuba has become the economic basket case of the hemisphere."

In a closed-door meeting following the speech with about 30 members, Reagan was asked to See REAGAN on Page A2

Price of goods, inflation motionless

By DENIS G. GULINO United Press International

WASHINGTON — Wholesale prices crept up only 0.1 percent in July, the third consecutive month of price gains, as the annual business inflation rate on a downward trend, the Labor Department said Friday.

The nearly motionless price picture kept 1983's business inflation rate at a minus 0.7 percent so far, when figures on a yearly basis. One forecaster predicted the year will end with the lowest inflation rate in 19 years.

Department analysts said the wholesale price index for the period of July 1962 to July 1983 went up 1.4 percent, the slowest rate of increase for any 21-year-month period in nearly 15 years.

President Reagan took note of the figures in a speech to a convention of Hispanic business owners in Tampa, Fla. "We are launching into a solid recovery," Reagan declared.

The wholesale price trends are expected to restrain consumer price acceleration in the months ahead.

The figures showed businesses paid each other less in July than in December for the same goods, after adjustment for seasonal variations, this during an economic recovery that is generating increased economic demand.

Food prices were down 0.6 percent in July, the third consecutive month of decline and largely the result of sharp drops in meat and vegetable prices.

Meat prices may fall even farther as farmers decide it makes more sense to slaughter than to pay higher feed prices.

But government and private economists agree the trend may get a real challenge later this year when the effects of the current dry spell on the corn crop start to send food prices and particularly meat prices higher.

The report "may be the calm before the storm," Labor Department economist Craig Howells said Friday.

Private economist Donald Ratajczak, who directs Georgia State University's price forecasting project, estimated 1983 will end with the lowest business inflation rate since 1964's 0.5 percent.

But by next year he said food prices could be generating stronger inflation, thanks to this year's heat wave and the government's new feedgrain price support program designed to more rapidly diminish surplus crops in storage.

"While it's nice to have declining meat prices, now it's the sign of a beginning of a problem," Ratajczak said.

"Now the range is dried up and food prices are already going up more than anticipated. Eventually, the late fall is early winter and we will slow up the number of animals going to slaughter."

Then, he said, "Meat prices will rise. We now expect them to rise dramatically next year, in the 8 percent to 9 percent range."

Home heating oil and natural gas got cheaper in the latest report and gasoline prices went up only 0.9 percent, compared to the strong 5.1 percent jump in June and 2.3 percent increase in May.

State board appointee seeks school funding

By STEVEN CHRISTENSEN United Press International

BOISE — Former state Sen. Mike Mitchell of Lewiston was named Friday to fill a seat on the Idaho Board of Education that became vacant earlier this month with the death of another northern Idahoan.

Gov. John Evans said Mitchell, 58, would serve the unexpired term of Neil Solberg of Grangeville, which runs out in 1988. Solberg died Aug. 2 at the age of 52.

The Democratic appointee served one term in the Idaho House, then six terms in the Senate. For eight years, he was a member of the budget-setting Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee.

Mitchell said Friday his legislative experience brings to the education board "the ability with some success to know what legislators want and need, and when they need it."

Prior to his joining JFAC, Mitchell worked on education committees in both chambers. He said his long involvement with education issues has convinced him that Evans and board members are correct in calling for increased support for colleges and universities.

"We're at a critical stage," he said. "We have already had some impact on access as far as students are concerned, their cost and what they get for their money. And we don't have to look any more for isolated instances where we have lost key faculty or college deans. That's almost a common occurrence now."

Last February, Evans named him as acting director of the Department of Corrections — a post Mitchell held until a permanent agency head was named in May.

Mitchell said the similarities between he and Solberg are "almost astounding."

"We were scuttled in the Senate. We both served on the Finance Committee, we both ran for lieutenant governor and lost, we were both from North Idaho and Neil's daughter, Julie, was my legislative intern," he said.

Mitchell chose to run for lieutenant governor last year rather than seek re-election to the Legislature. But he lost the race to then-Attorney General David Leroy.

Park board seeks more money
MOSCOW (UPI) — The Idaho Parks and Recreation Board has voted to seek a $2.9 million budget for 1985 fiscal year beginning next July. The request would add about $1.1 million to the Parks Department's current budget.
 Department Deputy Director Bob Meinen told board members Idaho parks are suffering from serious maintenance problems because the agency's budget has been below a minimum operating level for the past several years.
 "The Legislature has been responsive to many of the department's needs and has the best job they can do to distribute the limited resources," he said.
 "However, it has been almost a fiscal year 1981 that we've been operating under an acceptable level."

Kidnapped general promoted
FORT HOOD, Texas (UPI) — Brig. Gen. James Dozier held captivity for 42 days by Iraqi terrorists last year. Friday took over as second in command of the U.S. Army's biggest base, saying his captivity did the country more good than bad.
 Dozier arrived at Fort Hood Aug. 8 from the Army's Armor School, Camp Knox, Ky., where he served as deputy commanding general of the 42,000 soldiers of III Corps in a modest ceremony at post headquarters.
 Dozier was kidnapped Dec. 17, 1981, by Italian Red Brigades who entered his apartment at Verona, Italy, bound his wife, and took Dozier underground. He was freed 42 days later by Italian police.

No end seen for phone strike
 By United Press International
 Nearly 700,000 striking telephone workers stayed off the job for a sixth day Friday with no indication that serious negotiations with American Telephone and Telegraph Co. will resume until at least next week.
 Sporadic incidents of vandalism and picket line violence were reported as company managers and supervisors filled in for the strikers. Consumers encountered delays on calls requiring the help of an operator.
 "No progress," said AT&T spokesman Charles Dynes. "A long way to go."
 The assessment was the same at the Washington headquarters of the Communications Workers of America, which represents 625,000 of the strikers.
 "The sides are still as far apart as when the strike was called Saturday night and there has been no movement through the week," said union spokesman Duayne Trecker.

Secretary backs off Chrysler
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Treasury Secretary Donald Regan's former connections with the Merrill Lynch securities firm forced him to end his involvement in the acrimonious debate with the Chrysler Corp. over sale of its government-held warrants, the Treasury Department announced.
 On Aug. 8 Regan submitted what is known as a notice of recusal, formally severing himself from any decisions about how the government's 14.4 million Chrysler stock warrants might be sold in the marketplace, delegating that authority to his deputy, R.T. McNamar.
 The warrants were part of the price exacted by the government for the original $1.2 billion loan guarantee, which Chrysler completed repaying this week — seven years ahead of schedule.

Bomb blast directed at pope
LOURDES, France (UPI) — A bomb set by an anti-Church group exploded near the Lourdes basilica Friday just two days before a visit by Pope John Paul II to one of the Roman Catholic church's holiest shrines.
 The bombers threatened to set off more explosions and strict security measures were put into effect, including prohibiting visitors from carrying any packages, including sandwiches.
 The bomb exploded shortly after midnight, destroying a life-size bronze statue of Pontius Pilate in the first of 14 scenes at the ancient shrine depicting the stations of the cross.
 Police said there were no injuries. An anti-clerical fringe group called "Stop priests" said the attack was to protest "the arrival of the boss of the Vatican multinational firm" and warned of further acts.

U.S. takes foreign property
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department said Friday it is taking possession of 15 vacant places of property owned by Iran, Cambodia and Vietnam, including their abandoned former embassies.
 "The United States does not currently have diplomatic relations with any of those countries and the properties in Washington, D.C., California, Texas and New York ... have been standing vacant. According to a State Department spokesman, some are in poor condition and need extensive repair.
 Twelve of the properties belonged to Iran, two to Cambodia and one to Vietnam.

Nuke waste accepted by U.S.
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration has agreed to pay most of the cost of disposing of 23,700 tons of British-owned radioactive residue now stored at two U.S. sites, a State Department official confirmed Friday.
 The material, used in the Manhattan Project that developed the first atomic bomb during World War II, is owned by a Belgian company and has been stored at U.S.-owned sites in Lewiston, N.Y., and Fernald, Ohio, since World War II.

WPPSS seeks compensation

SEATTLE (UPI) — The Washington Public Power Supply System was authorized Friday to file lawsuits to recover damages for any overpayments it may have made because of "bid rigging" by major electric contractors.
 Six big firms were accused in federal indictment of rigging bids and allocating markets for work on four and five WPPSS nuclear power projects and the Marble Hill project in Indiana.
 One firm, Wisner and Becker Contracting Engineers of California, was convicted after entering a no contest plea. Trials are pending for the other five other companies.
 In authorizing civil court actions to recover damages, the WPPSS executive board voted to retain the Seattle law firm of Culp, Dryer, Guterson & Grader.
 In presenting the motion, board member Louis Winard noted that William Dwyer of the firm "is recognized as one of the outstanding anti-trust lawyers in the nation."
 The firm already has done extensive legal work for WPPSS.

The board also voted to protect the 46 past and present WPPSS officers and directors named in the massive suit. Chemical Bank of New York filed a $100 million WPPSS demand on the $2.25 billion in bonds sold to finance construction on its terminated plants 4 and 5. Chemical Bank is trustee for bondholders who have been stunned by the biggest municipal bond default in history.
 Under a motion approved by the board, WPPSS will pick up where insurance coverage leaves off in paying the legal defense costs of the 46 defendants.

emergency meeting to plan strategy to regain control of northern Chad. The loss of Faya-Largeau, Habre's birthplace, represented a significant setback because the town controls the roads east and south to the heart of the desert nation in north central Africa.
 Faya-Largeau was the first town taken when the rebels began their new campaign seven weeks ago. It was retaken by the government before falling to the Libyan-backed insurgents again this week.

 There was no direct comment on the reported plan by Habre, where a French Foreign Ministry spokesman said "France continues to support the legitimate government of Chad under President Hissene Habre."
 A French government official, who could not be identified, said "contacts with Libya are continuing normally, as are relations with all other countries involved in the conflict with Libya."

JANA said a possible replacement of Habre "must be accepted by Chad's neighbors and by the legitimate government of national unity led by Goukouni Weddeye."
 Libya recognizes Goukouni, whose forces are fighting to overthrow Habre as Chad's legal leader. His envoys are accorded full diplomatic status in the Libyan capital, Tripoli.

 Residents and businesses will be informed by mail when the change occurs in Twin Falls, Brady says. In the meantime, box-holders should inform their correspondents about the change.

 Some large companies also have been assigned "ZIP + 4" codes. However, the post office will not give them out to other residences and businesses in Twin Falls until later this year because the city must be mapped and divided into sectors.

Soviet runaway causes row

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Soviet teenager's decision to run away from his diplomat father's Washington area home and letters stating his desire to remain in America Friday touched off a high-level diplomatic tug-of-war.

The State Department said it is insisting that U.S. authorities have an opportunity to interview the boy, said to be back in Washington with his parents, before he leaves country.

A State Department spokesman said that Secretary of State George Shultz was personally involved and stayed late at the State Department Thursday night working on the case.

The White House confirmed that a letter from the boy had been received and that the President was aware of it.

The story began Wednesday when the Soviet embassy notified local police that the Andrei Berezkhov, 16, and his father's car were missing, and an all-points bulletin was issued. The State Department at that point treated the incident as a routine police matter.

Berezkhov is the son of Soviet diplomat Valentin Berezkhov, 67, a first secretary at the embassy and career diplomat.

Thursday, it became known that The New York Times and the White House had received letters in which "Andrei Berezkhov" announced that he hated the Soviet Union and its rules and wanted to stay in the United States because "I love your country."

When the State Department became aware of two letters the routine police matter became an incident between the major powers.

Airline mechanics prepare strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The union representing 2,000 Continental Airlines mechanics and other workers said Friday contract talks with the airline had failed and announced the union would go on strike at 12:01 a.m. EDT Saturday.

The union's representatives broke up, federal mediators continued talking to both sides throughout the night in an effort to reach a settlement and prevent the strike.

At press time, no solution had been reached.

The union negotiating team met at union offices and company negotiators remained at the Federal Mediation Board building.

Ex-EPA official pleads innocent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rita Lavelle, acquitted 22 days ago of contempt of Congress, pleaded innocent Friday to new charges she filed about her management of the Environmental Protection Agency's toxic waste cleanup program.

At a six-minute arraignment hearing, Miss Lavelle stood silently as her attorney entered a plea of not guilty to five felony counts, including perjury and obstructing a congressional proceeding.

The former chief of the EPA's $1.6 billion Superfund toxic waste program promised U.S. District Judge Norma Holloway Johnson she will return to court Aug. 25 for a hearing where a trial date will be set.

Without objections from the government, the judge released Miss Lavelle on a personal recognizance bond but ordered her fingerprinted by the FBI.

Ms. Lavelle, 35, appeared cheerful as she spoke with reporters outside the courtroom. She said she will be staying "with some friends — the few I have left" while in Washington pending her trial.

Miss Lavelle, who was fired from the EPA by President Reagan Feb. 7, has a home in California.

Briefly

More Chileans die in unrest

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — Chile's military regime, rocked by four months of protests that have left 25 people dead, met in emergency session Friday to quell rising opposition.
 Chief opposition leader Gabriel Valdes accused the regime of President Gen. Augusto Pinochet of using unnecessary force with soldiers firing into homes on Thursday — the most violent national protest yet against military rule.
 Minister Alfonso Mansuy de la Pinta, the government's secretary general, said 17 people including at least three children, were killed during the protest Thursday and early Friday. He said nine soldiers were wounded.
 Eight people were killed in the previous three anti-government protests — one in each of the previous three months. Another 128 were reported arrested and 62 people were wounded, he said.

Germans nab Hell's Angels

HAMBURG, West Germany (UPI) — A Joint West German, Swiss and U.S. police swoop netted 34 Hell's Angels suspected of running an international white-slavery ring and drug and protection rackets, police said Friday. Also seized was a cache of arms, including a crossbow and samurai sword.
 More than 500 armed police converged on a Hamburg bar Wednesday, arresting 24 gang members in a top-secret operation that "wiped out" a Hell's Angels chapter involved in kidnaping women and selling them as prostitutes in three European countries, a police spokesman said.

Lebanon sees more fighting

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Druze militiamen ambushed Lebanese army posts in the Shouf mountains for a third day Friday and gunmen fired at a patrol of Italian peace-keeping troops but caused no casualties, a military spokesman said.
 "The patrol, composed of three military trucks, was fired upon by one burst of automatic rifle fire," said a British spokesman attached to Lebanon's international peace-keeping force.
 Lebanese army troops equipped with small tanks and armored personnel carriers rushed to the scene, the Galerik Semann area linking the Christian and Muslim halves of Beirut, and began a search for the attackers.
 The Druze militiamen also held 52 Lebanese soldiers taken prisoner earlier in the week and the government was seeking their release, the authoritative newspaper An Nahar reported.

Political prisoners released

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Nearly 800 people — half of them political prisoners — have been pardoned and released from prison some two-thirds of the way through a scheduled 30-day amnesty period, the Justice Ministry said Friday.
 Officials said most cases had been decided but there was no word how many more people would be freed, or how many political prisoners would be denied amnesty.

State OKs diversion of Deep Creek

By HAL BERTON
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS—The Department of Water Resources tentatively has granted the Twin Falls Canal Co. the right to divert Deep Creek waters into the Salmon Falls Creek basin to power a small hydro plant.

The "proposed" decision, announced Thursday by the agency, will allow the canal company to divert up to 50 cubic feet per second of Deep Creek water to a proposed 1.2-megawatt hydro plant.

The power plant will be built and owned by Cogeneration Inc., a Twin Falls-based hydro-development group, with the canal company receiving royalty payments.

The project has been opposed by some Melon Valley residents, who fear that it would have an adverse impact on Deep Creek fish, spawning grounds and wildlife below the diversion point.

Doris and Roy Couch, whose farmland borders Deep Creek below the diversion—the canal company's No. 10 Lateral—filed a formal protest against the proposal last spring. At a May 19 hearing, Mrs. Couch, acting as her own counsel, called at least 12 Melon Valley residents to the stand.

All of the witnesses testified against the project.

When contacted Friday, Mrs. Couch said that she has not decided whether to protest the proposed decision.

If the decision is not protested by Aug. 24, it probably will be approved by Kenneth Dunn, the director of the Department of Water Resources.

A Cogeneration Inc. agreement reached with the state Department of Water Resources would require the hydro project to leave a minimum stream flow of at least 20 cubic feet per second below the diversion point during the winter months and a 15-cubic-foot-per-second flow in the summer months.

"As long as we have these flows, they there will be enough flow to maintain the fishery,"

Bill Webb, a Jerome-based state Fish and Game Department official, said Friday.

Mike Preston, a Cogeneration Inc. engineer, had stated last spring that since the Twin Falls Canal Co. previously had diverted water from Deep Creek through Lateral No. 10, "these rights would take precedence over any minimum stream flow."

But in a Friday interview, Preston said the company will comply with the minimum stream flows.

"The fish come first, we come second," Preston said. "I think this will relieve the concerns of downstream users and owners. We were only requesting water above their needs."

Preston said that his company hopes to begin construction of the plant in the fall, with a projected completion date of fall 1984.

Mrs. Couch had said that she was concerned about the Department of Water Resources decision to allow the 50-cubic-foot-per-second diversion to be measured at the power plant, rather than the diversion point. She said that the actual diversion figure could be considerably higher, since Lateral No. 10 would lose water through leakage and evaporation.

She also has expressed concerns over whether the Fish and Game Department would have sufficient manpower to adequately monitor the minimum stream flow.

School grants raises Surprise move

By HARRIET GUTHERTZ
Times-News writer

KIMBERLY—In a surprise move, the Kimberly school board has granted its teachers a $545-a-year increase in base pay, in addition to incremental raises, which are based on further education and experience.

Contract negotiations between the teachers and board began in January and have proceeded with great difficulty. This week's offer was made outside the arena of formal negotiations, and it will remain in effect until the teachers and the board sign a master contract.

The board's action will move the $366 pay for a beginning teacher from $11,665 to $12,200 a year, for a 4.7 percent increase, says board Chairman Keith Jensen. The raise will be retroactive to July 1.

Kimberly Education Association President Allison Trillhaas said Friday that she was pleased by the action. "It shows a spirit of cooperation by the board," she said.

Because contract talks had become stalled, it looked like the teachers were not going to get a raise, Jensen said. "The board wanted to do something for them, he said.

The increase will make Kimberly's pay schedule competitive with that offered by Twin Falls, Jensen said. The base pay in Twin Falls is $12,500 a year.

Talks between the KEA and the board have been deadlocked over negotiating procedures.

The KEA first set out to work out negotiating guidelines at a May meeting with Jerry Gates, a professional negotiator representing the district. "Because the KEA is negotiating for the first time, the two sides have to work out the ground rules for future talks."

The talks in May and June failed to progress and were recessed for the summer.

Trillhaas said she expects another negotiating session after school starts.

Lou Sterling gets a big hug from Bill Burns after receiving the Dr. Thomas Frist Sr. Humanitarian Award

Therapist's concern for her patients lauded

By HARRIET GUTHERTZ
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS—Lou Sterling, a physical therapist at Magic Valley Regional Medical Center, has won the Dr. Thomas Frist Sr. Humanitarian Award for her work with patients.

The $250 prize is named after the senior vice chairman and founder of Hospital Corporation of America. It is given annually to a MVRMC employee who shows unusual concern for patient welfare or makes a significant improvement in patient care.

The employee chosen for the award best represents the image of the hospital to other employees and to the community, says Sue Summers, the hospital's director of community relations.

Sterling received the award at a hospital luncheon Friday. She was one of 10 employees nominated for the honor. The announcement that she had been chosen left her speechless.

Sterling has worked at the hospital 12 years. She was born and raised in Maryland, and is a graduate of Duke University in Durham, N.C.

She moved to Twin Falls in 1962, after traveling around the country as the wife of a Navy officer.

Sterling's name will be forwarded to the district competition. The winner of the national contest will travel to Nashville, Tenn., to personally receive the top award from Frist.

HCA is the largest hospital management firm in the world. MVRMC, which is owned by Twin Falls County, is one of 130 hospitals operating under an HCA management contract. The company also owns 212 hospitals in the United States and is moving into foreign countries.

At Friday's luncheon, Bill Burns, the hospital administrator, termed Frist the conscience of HCA. "Those that know him know he stands for everything we like to strive for," he said.

During a speech in Twin Falls in May, Frist, 73, attributed HCA's success to providing high-quality care in a humanitarian environment.

The other MVRMC employees who were nominated for the award were: Ramona Sallor, of the cardiopulmonary unit; Mitch Barsman, the director of support services; Beverly Heltz, of nursing; Joanna Craven, of surgery; Nancy Henley, a ward secretary; Ruth Malone, of nursing; Sheren Dolezal, of support services; Peggy Miller, the purchasing manager; and Kent Alexander, the director of pharmacy.

Fat Woods, a long-time nurse at the hospital, won the award last year.

Rapist sent to prison Gets 24 years

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS—A Twin Falls man will go to prison for at least eight years for the rape of an 18-year-old woman in her home last winter.

On Friday, Fifth District Judge Theon W. Ward sentenced Thomas Livingston, 37, to spend 24 years in prison for the rape conviction. And for two connected counts of burglary and grand theft, he ordered sentences of 14 years each.

Livingston was convicted of all three crimes earlier this summer by a 12-member Fifth District court jury.

Ward ordered the three sentences to run concurrently, and he said it still be an indefinite sentence. This leaves the decision of how long Livingston actually will spend in prison up to the state Commission for Pardons and Parole, Ward said.

But at the minimum, the judge said Livingston will not be eligible for parole until he has served a third of his sentence. "This will mean a minimum eight-year prison term."

Ward could have sentenced Livingston to life in prison for the rape conviction alone.

Livingston was convicted of breaking into the elderly woman's home on Dec. 16, rapping her and taking her car and jewelry. He was arrested later in Jackson, where he was found in possession of her car.

Throughout the lengthy trial, his attorney, Mike Powers, had argued that the evidence against Livingston was inconclusive, saying it failed to prove the defendant was at the crime scene. He said the only proof the state established was that Livingston had the woman's car in his possession at Jackson two hours after the crime was committed.

Powers asked the court to overturn the jury's verdict, but Ward rejected that defense motion in June.

History, ethnicity distorted view of women

By PAT BEAN
Times-News writer

SUN VALLEY—The overriding view of the Women's West Conference, which concludes today in Sun Valley, has been that history has distorted women's role.

The 55 conference participants have been in general agreement with one speaker's statement: "History is a mess... and needs to be rewritten."

The accepted reasonings for the distortion have been male-dominated viewpoints and portrayals of the West being settled by the lone hero.

Friday's keynote speaker, Rosalinda

Gonzalez, threw another theory into the air—one that was not as wholeheartedly endorsed. She said that "ethnicity and classes nurtured distortions."

Gonzalez, an associate professor of Mexican-American studies at San Diego State University, strongly suggested that the research available on women of the West comes only from upper- or middle-class white women.

"Women of the poor, slave or laboring classes do not leave diaries," she said, noting that these have been a primary item used in modern research.

"The most obvious, but often ignored condition, is the existence of classes in the West," she said.

Gonzalez disagreed with viewpoints that there was no class distinction in the West.

"As an example of differing viewpoints of two women," she cited a "slave-milky" which reveals the bitter feelings of black mothers who had to leave their own babies to watch over their white charges.

"The elite perspective is biased, myopic and class-centered... tending to take the world as their standard," she said.

"The majority laboring class is critical and all-encompassing," she added.

Gonzalez talked of exploitation of the poorer classes, the Mexicans who were used for labor by the railroad tycoons who underpaid them and kept them in their places, and of the government that used the Army to let the white settlers gain a foothold.

She asked—what perspective—historians would find if they looked closely at the lives of women involved in the exploitations.

"The exploitation of the Mexican woman in super exploitation of the Mexican women, who had to work arduously to have the bare necessities of life," she said.

As for the settlement of the land itself, Gonzalez said the poor could not do it.

"It was not the ordinary American who could pack up and head West. It took capital of about $1,500... an impossible sum for most working class to come by."

"Without distracting from the courage and endurance from these pioneer women, we have to ask what did the labor-oriented settlement of Western land really represent for the majority of native American, Mexican and immigrant women of the West," she said.

"The history of the West is based on repeated exploitation of the labor, the land, the Indians, the indentured servants, black slaves, farmers, immigrants, and not the least, the exploitation of the women in the home."

Zoning commission grudgingly approves farmland split

By MARTY TRILLHAAS
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS—Twin Falls County Planning and Zoning Commission members have given reluctant approval to a division of farmland that already has occurred.

The zoning board's approval Thursday night of Harold Peterson's request came after Peterson repeated his position, that he previously divided his 40-acre parcel unaware of the fact that he needed approval from the board first.

And it came after the zoning board concluded that it could not strike a middle ground by fining Peterson.

"It appears to me we have two choices. We either leave this man in limbo for an indefinite period of time, which isn't fair to him, or we either approve it or deny it," said board member Lyle Frazier of Twin Falls.

Frazier, along with Florence Pierce of Buhl, cast the only votes against the request. Five zoning board members voted to approve it.

Peterson first divided his 40-acre parcel, located off U.S. 30, about two miles west and a quarter-mile north of Magic Valley Regional Medical Center, in April. He sold a 35-acre parcel to a neighbor.

only when he put his five-acre homestead up for sale did he learn of the requirement for zoning board approval, Peterson said.

Under the so-called "20-acre limitation," passed in 1973, the zoning board's approval is required for all divisions of agricultural land to parcels smaller than 20 acres. Until that time, land owners were allowed to divide their land even without seeking the approval of the zoning board. Moreover, the county allowed divisions of agricultural land down to five acres.

"If I did wrong, I'm sorry. That's how it came about," Peterson said.

The problem is not uncommon, said Blair Osterhout, of North West Realty of Twin Falls. Osterhout represented Peterson at the hearing.

"You would be surprised by the number of people who think they are allowed a one-time split, even among those who are aware of the 20-acre limitation," he said. "You're aware of it, I'm aware of it. But we work with it every day."

His use of the word "split" was a public hearing Thursday. But the board did receive a letter from one landowner, who objected to the use of the 35-acre parcel. County zoning administrator Ervin Wilkins said the objection stemmed from the disposal of livestock waste on the parcel.

Earlier this year, zoning board members voted to impose fines against two property owners who had divided their land without receiving permission first. However, it later turned out that the board lacked the authority to impose the fines without first going to court. The fines then were rescinded.

For shotgun slaying Murder suspect will stand trial

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES Times-News writer

JEROME—A Washington man will stand trial for the first-degree murder in the May 7 shotgun slaying of a young Jerome woman on the Snake River Canyon rim near the Hansen Bridge.

Thomas Franklin Guthrie, 36, of Glenside, Wash., was bound over Friday to stand trial in Fifth District Court in Jerome by magistrate Judge Daniel Hurlbut of Shoshone, who conducted the preliminary hearing.

The hearing was closed to the public and press shortly after it began Thursday morning. Court officials said the hearing ended at noon Friday, after reconvincing at 7:30 a.m.

Guthrie remains in jail—the Jerome County Jail without bond, pending his arraignment in the county jail. He is being represented by John Hezler, the Jerome County public defender.

Hurlbut closed the hearing at the request of the defense, and he removed the witnesses from the courtroom after warning them not to discuss the case with other witnesses or individuals.

Guthrie was returned from Boise to Jerome, when they were picked up by the suspect and driven to Jerome. Guthrie, 44, and a brother, were killed. Her son later walked to a nearby highway, where he flagged down a truck driver and reported his mother was dead.

Officers linked Guthrie to the crime through a medical prescription found at the death scene by an Idaho State Police officer.

Jerome County Sheriff Eliza Hall said earlier that the defendant had confessed to the murder to Washington officers. An officer from Chehalis, Wash., came to Jerome to testify at the preliminary hearing.

No date for Guthrie's district court arraignment has been set.

QUESTION...

Can I plan my estate to avoid the red tape my friend went through when her husband passed away?

ANSWER...

Estate planning is a complicated and exciting science. Everyone who owns anything—a car, home, bank deposits, credit union shares, insurance, business interest, retirement benefits, etc.—has an estate. This estate, regardless of size, represents the most important money in the world to those left behind. The care, maintenance and conservation of this estate is not simply desirable, but absolutely essential.

As you would not trust a member of your family for a serious illness, do not attempt to be a "do-it-yourself" estate planner. Contact your attorney or the Trust Officer of your bank. These professionals can be certain the most important people in your life will be provided for.

Jerome residents protest payment of state taxes

JEROME—Richard Staples, one of several Jerome County residents who have failed to pay state income taxes under a "free man" protest, has been given until Mon. to make a payment or his 1981 taxes.

The Idaho Tax Commission brought suit against Staples, charging that he failed to file a tax return for that year.

In a court hearing earlier this month in Jerome, Staples testified that he is a "free man" and has a right to be free of any direct state tax. He argued that the U.S. Constitution grants that right.

He also alleged the state has failed to identify what is "legal tender" in Idaho, and without such declaration, he could only pay in gold or silver coins, the accepted legal tender, of which he has none.

Judge Daniel Meehl rejected Staples' arguments and ordered to make a payment by Monday.

James Payton, another Jerome-area resident who has declined to pay state taxes, using the same arguments, also has been ordered by the court to pay the amount. The Tax Commission has declared war.

Payton has filed notice that he intends to appeal his Fifth District Court decision to the Idaho Supreme Court.

Several similar actions brought in Jerome County by the Tax Commission still are pending.

Lutherans to mark school's finishing

By HARRIET GUTHERTZ Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS All of the boxes have not been unpacked and the gym does not have a floor yet, but the Immanuel Lutheran Church school in Twin Falls will be ready for classes on Aug. 24.

The $650,000 school, located at 2035 Fluer Ave. E., will be called the ChristLife Center. The building, which was started last June, will be dedicated this Sunday at 3 p.m. Merle Radke of River Forest, Ill., will head a list of speakers that will include Mayor Chris Felling, Rep. Lawrence Kudage, Pastor Dr. Grant VanHouten and Judge Melvin Edwards.

The dedication ceremony will be followed by a supper at 5 p.m. for church members and guests. Tours of the school will be conducted from 7 to 9 p.m. They will be open to the community.

The parochial school expects to enroll around 200 students this year from pre-kindergarten through the eighth grade, says Principal Gary Gable. Ten teachers will work at the school.

The new brick building contains nine classrooms, an audio-visual room, a library and offices, as well as a cafeteria and gym.

The new building is much bigger than the old building, located at 272 Shoup Ave. W., and will allow the congregation to expand its educational and social activities, says pastor A.J. Croemer.

When the gym is completed, it will house a regulation high-school basketball court suitable for adult games, Gable says.

The school also will have room for youth and Scouting programs, Croemer says.

Gable, who has been teaching for 18 years, says the school offers an ungraded, reading program. Math and language arts classes are other strong areas in the instructional program, he says.

About half of the students are church members, and they come from Twin Falls, Jerome, and Kimberly. However, the school is open to all religious denominations. Bus service is available.

Tuition varies, according to the number of children in a family that attends and whether the family is a member of the church.

For more information, call 733-7820.

Taml Pearson, who teaches seventh and eighth grades, unloads a mountain of books in her new classroom.

No charges in racing probe

By MARK SHENEFELT
United Press International

BOISE — Idaho Horse Racing Commission officials said Friday they lack evidence to pursue allegations that trainers and owners ordered jockeys to use electrical prods on quarterhorses during races at the Pocatello Turf Club.

But the steward who lodged the claim said he is disappointed the people who work at the track will not come forward with the proof necessary to warrant a continued investigation.

"We know what's going on, but I try to prove it," said Walter Culbertson, the commission's agent at the eastern Idaho track and the steward who told his "superiors" he believed jockeys were pressured to use prods on their mounts.

"You have to find the evidence," he said in a telephone interview. "You have to penalize just what you find. To get the others, you have to have the jockeys stand up and be counted. They won't do it, but I don't understand why."

Turf Club jockeys Harold Kent, 29, and Bob Fagan, 18, were suspended for one year, given two years' subsequent probation and fined $500 by the commission Wednesday after admitting they were in possession of illegal prods before racing July 4.

Culbertson, who testified at the disciplinary hearing, told commissioners he agreed the jockeys were responsible for their conduct, but added he believed trainers and owners of horses ridden by the pair put them up to it.

"I am a firm believer that the trainers were the culprits, not the jockeys," Culbertson testified. "If the jockeys don't do what the owners and trainers tell them to do, they won't ride anymore."

But Russell Westerberg, Boise, acting commission chairman, said Friday he viewed Culbertson's claim as "at best, innuendo" and did not warrant further attention by the state panel.

"We have no evidence or testimony giving dates or names," Westerberg said, calling the issue moot because of the lack of evidence.

Woman accuses 3 men of torture

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI) — A North Idaho woman who claimed she was "beaten, beaten and burned" for more than three hours has filed suit against her three alleged assailants after the trio escaped felony convictions.

Nola May Heath, 51, is seeking $790,000 in damages after she was allegedly tortured for more than three hours last year at the Kootenai County home she shared with two of her accused attackers.

Ms. Heath claims Darrell Hansen, 44; Woodrow Hansen, 26; and Jerry Grypess, 26, bound her hands and feet with heavy chains, hung her from a tree, kicked her with electrical wires, burned her and fired a gun at her.

The woman, who lived with the two Hansen men, claims she has suffered "severe mental anguish and great physical pain" because of the alleged incident May 15, 1982, the suit says.

Kootenai County deputies arrested the three men July 28, 1982, on felony charges of aggravated battery in connection with the incident.

Criminal charges against Darrell Hansen, and Grypess later were dropped due to a lack of probable cause because the two men allegedly watched the incident rather than participating. Kootenai County chief deputy prosecutor Peter Erbland said.

Firm searches Idaho for oil

LEADORE (UPI) — A Denver oil exploration firm is conducting seismic studies to determine if petroleum and natural gas reserves are present beneath the Salmon National Forest near the Idaho-Montana border.

Officials at Sefel Geophysical Ltd. said the tests were being conducted in Big Eightmile Canyon, Mollie Gulch and Bates Gulch in Lemhi County.

The tests involve shaking the ground and monitoring shock waves to determine the "type" of rock structures beneath the surface, they said.

Charges of dynamite weighing three to five pounds are detonated about a yard above the ground to produce the shock waves.

Award buckle gives a shock

CAIDWELL (UPI) — A handmade silver and gold bell buckle celebrating Caldwell's centennial has turned out to be a "little different" than city officials expected.

The buckle, made by New Plymouth resident Kenny Hanson, bears the inscription "100 years, Caldwell, Idaho, Centennial, 1883-1983."

The problem is the word "centennial" as engraved on the buckle is jacking an "n."

Mayor Al McCluskey, a self-proclaimed spelling expert, said he noticed the error three days before he held a news conference this week announcing the $1,200 buckle will be given to a Caldwell Night Rodeo fan

Man survives mauling by bear

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — Jim Hunter couldn't stop a charging brown bear with a whiskey bottle, so he decided to play dead.

The play worked, and now Hunter is recuperating in an Anchorage hospital with three broken ribs and several puncture wounds on his leg and arm.

"It was a pleasant surprise that when I was down on the ground and stopped moving he didn't bother me anymore," Hunter said.

"All the things I've seen and read, I was trying to remember what to do," he said. "After he hit me I went down on my face and covered up."

"The last thing he did was pick me up in his mouth. That's how my ribs got broken. I just tried to play dead."

Anniversary session produces solid gains

By FRANK W. SULLISER
United Press International

NEW YORK — Stocks scored a broad-based gain Friday on the first anniversary of Wall Street's bull market of the 1980s with the help of a report of lower inflation.

Blue-chip, financial services and selected energy issues were precursors in the rally, but trading was restrained because of the recent hike in interest rates.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which lost 1.59 Thursday, climbed 8.44 to 1,192.63, completed the first year of its unprecedented surge with an overall gain of 465.91 points.

The Dow average of 30 blue-chip stocks representing about a quarter of the value of all New York Stock Exchange issues hit an all-time high of 1,248.20 on June 16 and successfully challenged that mark two weeks ago.

For the week, however, the Dow shed 0.46 despite a three-day rally worth 12.92 points. In the two weeks prior to Tuesday, it had plunged 80.63.

On a broader scale, the New York Stock Exchange index rose 0.46 to 238.24 and the price of an average share increased 16 cents. Standard & Poor 500-stock index rose 0.61 to 182.16. Advances topped declines 945:76 against the 1,934 issues traded.

Big Board volume, which averages 86.6 million shares a day the past year, totaled 71,570,000 shares compared with 70,630,000 traded Thursday.

The Federal Reserve reported after the market closed the nation's money supply rose $400 million in the latest statistical week. A surge the past several months has forced the Fed to tighten credit, which has driven interest rates up.

Composite volume of NYSE issues listed on all U.S. exchanges and over the counter totaled 82,370,370 shares compared with 81,917,380 traded Thursday.

The American Stock Exchange index added 1.12 to 229.73 and the price of a share rose eight cents. Advances topped declines 372:250 among the 983 issues traded. Composite volume totaled 6,461,850 shares compared with 7,256,830 Thursday.

The National Association of Securities Dealers index of OTC stocks gained 2.02 to 299.58.

On the trading floor, Brunswick Corp. was the most active NYSE-listed issue, up 1/4 to 99 1/2 after G&W and Western sold a block of 2,490,000 shares at 39. The block represented G&W's entire holding of the issue.

Brunswick bought 1.2 million of the shares for general corporate purposes.

Hospital Corp. of America was second on the active list, up 1/4 to 46 1/2 after a block of 1.7 million shares crossed at 40.

On the Amex, Wang Laboratories class B led the actives, up 1/2 to 3 1/2. Amhad followed, up 1/2 to 19 1/2. Dome Petroleum was third, unchanged at 19 1/2.

Americans set record for borrowing in June

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Americans increased their monthly loan payments by a record $14 billion in June, Federal Reserve System economists said Friday.

They called it a resounding sign of confidence in the economic recovery.

Nearly half of the new installment borrowing, $1.7 billion, was in the automobile category in June.

At the end of June Americans were making monthly payments of a total of $33.3 billion of debt, not counting mortgage payments, 6.2 percent more than a year earlier.

Now that the unemployment rate is declining confidence is returning and borrowing is up, analysts say.

"It is much stronger than I would have expected," Marilyn Siegel, an economist for the business analysis division of Sears, Roebuck and Co. in Chicago.

"Consumer confidence has been pretty strong in the last two months until it fell off slightly in July," she said. "People have been starting to come back to work. Income has been good."

The Fed's report, abbreviated by budget cuts since the beginning of the year, no longer gives details on how much debt was repaid and how much credit was extended, only the overall expansion or contraction of outstanding installment debt.

In May debt expanded by $2.7 billion, again with almost half devoted to automobiles.

The Fed said the June interest rate for a new car loan from the auto companies averaged 11.57 percent, down from May's 11.94 percent.

A used-car loan averaged a rate of 10.56 percent.

Grain futures

CHICAGO (UPI) — Wheat was lower, corn and oats higher and soybeans mostly higher at the close of trading Friday on the grain futures market. Wheat was unchanged to 1 1/4 cents, corn up 1/2 cent to 2 1/4 cents and soybeans up 1/2 cent to 1 1/4 cents. The soybean market was quiet on the weather and possible damage to the crop.

Analysts said the higher futures prices for corn and soybeans would be the primary reason for the gain in the grain futures market. Analysts said the higher futures prices would be the primary reason for the gain in the grain futures market.
