Judge commands state redistricting

By The Times-News and United Press International

SANDBOYNE — A First District judge issued a reapportionment plan Friday that would add 21 new members to the Idaho Legislature by creating seven large "floating" districts.

reapportionment boundaries to prevent "contingents from being split" between two districts.

Three of the new legislative members — one state senator and two representatives — would be elected from a new "floating" district comprised of the eight Magic Valley counties.

project a proposal to order a special legislative election this fall. But he will require that his new district alignment serve as the basis for the 1984 legislative runoff.

The suit was filed by five northern Idaho residents who, along with Boise and County officials, were unhappy with the reapportionment plan developed by the 1982 Legislature.

The plaintiffs claim the plan violates the state constitution by creating districts that cut across county lines.

The Idaho Attorney General's office argued that the plan was in full compliance with the U.S. Constitution, which takes precedence over the Idaho Constitution. Thus, there was no need to change it.

Carwell initially struck down the Legislature's plan last fall. The decision was appealed by the state attorney general to the supreme court, which then remanded it back to Carwell for further hearings.

boundaries to create 33 new districts. Some of those districts take in only a single county. The revised District 23, for example, consists entirely of Twin Falls County where as the county has been split between districts 24 and 25.

Two senators and four representatives will be elected from this new district. But it is unclear whether the candidates would declare for specific seats or run as at-large nominees.

Other districts are formed by combining two or more counties. District 22, for example, would comprise Camas, Blaine, Gooding, and Lincoln counties. Due to the relatively sparse populations of these counties, district voters will only get to elect one senator and two representatives.

But District 23 voters will also have a say in electing one senator and two representatives from a floating district. District 25 — comprised of Camas, Gooding, Lincoln, Twin Falls, Jerome, Blaine, Minidoka and Cassia counties.

Carwell wrote in his decision that the new reapportionment plan maintains "the integrity of large, medium and small counties."

Lawmakers call new plan useless

By BRUCE BOTKA, United Press International

BOISE — Legislators from both parties agreed Friday a judge's reapportionment decision creating seven multi-county districts discriminates against rural voters, violates the federal Constitution and almost certainly will be appealed.

But one of the plaintiffs who challenged the Legislature's 1982 redistricting law called First District Judge Dar Cogswell's ruling as a "great victory" for Idahoans.

And Cogswell said his reapportionment plan satisfied both the state and federal constitutions by preserving county boundaries, while also creating roughly equal populations in each electoral zone.

Lawmakers were especially critical of the creation of seven so-called "floating" districts in which seven new senators and 14 new House members would represent multi-county regions.

House Speaker Tom Stivers, R-Twin Falls, predicted voters in such centers as Boise, Twin Falls, Lewiston-Moscow and Coeur d'Alene would dominate the floating district elections.

In the eight-county Magic Valley of southern Idaho, he said, there are enough voters in Twin Falls and the Burley-Rupert area to sway virtually any election.

"Just those two could control the election in all of those eight counties, with just the number," Stivers said. The trouble for voters is that "all those counties are not compatible in social concepts or economic concepts," he said. "I think that's the problem with floating districts around the state."

"I can only assume it (the ruling) is going to be appealed by the state anyway," Stivers said. "It would have been appealed by either side anyway. That's where its going to be decided, in the Supreme Court."

Senate President Eric Tom, James Risch, R-Boise, called the decision "a bunch of baloney." He added that he doubts the judge's ruling can withstand the test of an appeal to the Idaho Supreme Court.

He said federal judges in Idaho ruled in a virtually identical 1972 case that so-called "rotarian" districts were unconstitutional.

House Minority Leader Mel Hammond, D-Rexburg, praised Cogswell for rejecting special elections, but he criticized the judge for turning to floating districts.

"I am very pleased, and I think the judge was very wise not to call a special election," Hammond said in a telephone interview. "It would have been very costly, and no one would have been prepared for candidacy."

However, Hammond agreed with Republicans who said "rotarian" districts would lead to urban domination. But Bill Heiler, a Coeur d'Alene voter, who was a plaintiff in the suit, took a different view of the decision. He said the 1982 law violated the state Constitution and "the courts have once again backed up that position."

"It's time the Legislature realized this and goes on to prepare for the '84 election under a legal reapportionment plan," Heiler said. "I think it's a great victory for the citizens of Idaho."

In each of the current districts, voters elect two representatives and one senator, for a total of 15.

In renumbered court-ordered arrangement, Districts 23 and 24 would elect about two senators and four representatives. District 22 would have one senator and two representatives.

District 25 would be a comprehensive district. Residents in all eight Magic Valley counties would elect two representatives and one senator to represent the comprehensive district. The valley would have 19 legislators.

Reagan battles political fire

By NORMAN D. SANDLER, United Press International

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — President Reagan, fighting a political brush fire set by a former aide, told an enthusiastic, partisan audience of women Friday that economic renewal is more important to women than gender-based issues.

Reagan took aim at the "gender gap" in a speech before about 300 Republican women, most of them conservative and ardent loyalists who chanted "USA, USA" as the president entered the crowded ballroom.

An estimated 400 demonstrators, most of them women, marched in protest outside the hotel as Reagan spoke.

Reagan said he has paved the road to equality with expanded political and economic opportunities and minimized the importance of his stand on specific issues concerning women.

Women's Leadership Forum he has named more than 120 women to executive federal jobs and he supports legislation to help working women and heads of households.

But he insisted his economic program, rather than his position on "what are narrowly called women's issues," will provide "the greatest, most immediate advancement" and will "move women the fastest."

"I think it's time to cut through the fog of demagoguery that surrounds this whole issue," Reagan said. "All of us are interested in one goal: assuring legal equality for women."

As he has in overtures to other political constituencies, the president said his efforts to reduce inflation and strengthen the economy are the greatest source of opportunity and future security.

"I believe the greatest contribution this administration can make to women is to get the economy moving and keep it moving," Reagan declared.

The speech capped nearly six days of touring. See REAGAN on Page A1

If U.S. scraps European sites Russia offers to nix missiles

By United Press International

MOSCOW — In a "good will" move aimed at easing fears the missiles could be moved in Asia, President Yuri Andropov Friday offered to destroy more than 500 rockets pointed at Europe if new U.S. missiles stay out of NATO nations.

Andropov, who also warned Moscow would take unspecified counter-measures if the United States proceeds with its missile deployment, made the proposal in an interview in the Saturday edition of the Communist Party newspaper Pravda.

But at the same time, West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl said Friday that peace demonstrations and public opinion polls will not shape his determination to deploy U.S. missiles in West Germany to counter Soviet SS-20s.

At a news conference after a four-week Austrian vacation, Kohl said he will begin to deploy the U.S. medium-range missiles this autumn if there is no agreement in the Soviet-American nuclear arms talks in Geneva.

"Political decisions will not be taken on the street," Kohl said in a reference to the peace movement's threat to start a "hot fall" of demonstrations, marches and blockades of U.S. military installations Sept. 1.

Kohl rejected a Greek government proposal that deployment of SS-20s would be contingent on Soviet talks continue. He said, "The Soviets have shown no restraint. They deployed SS-20s and the deployment has not stopped."

Kohl said West German voters returned his coalition government to power in a secret ballot March 1 knowing his position on domestic and foreign issues. "I was elected to do the right thing and I will do it," he said.

Though it offered no basic change in Moscow's stand, a Western diplomat said the offer was the first time the Soviet Union has agreed to dismantle or destroy missiles in exchange for concessions from the West.

"Should a mutually acceptable agreement be achieved, including renunciation by the United States of the deployment in Europe of new missiles, the Soviet Union, in exchange for concessions from the West,"

"Should a mutually acceptable agreement be achieved, including renunciation by the United States of the deployment in Europe of new missiles, the Soviet Union, in exchange for concessions from the West,"

"A considerable number of the most modern missiles, known in the West as SS-20s, would be liquidated as well," he added.

In San Francisco, President Reagan Friday said he had not had a chance to see the Soviet proposal but indicated Andropov appears to be moving closer to the U.S. position on reduction of intermediate-range missiles in Europe.

Reagan told reporters that the proposals were "what we're trying to get them to do."

"Trying to get them to reduce their SS-20's," Reagan reported.

"Certainly," Reagan shouted back. Edward Rowney, the chief U.S. negotiator at the Strategic Arms Reduction Talks in Geneva, said in an interview that the offer was a "worthwhile clarification" of an already made Soviet proposal.

"It doesn't change (Andropov's) basic position," Rowney said. "There will have to be some really meaningful changes in the basic proposal that the Soviets have made before it will be acceptable to us, in my opinion."

In London, the British government reserved any snap judgement on the latest Soviet disarmament offer but British anti-nuclear pressure group welcomed it as a "real reduction" in nuclear arms.

The Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament's (CND) vice-chairman, Roger Spiller, welcomed the offer, which he said removes "a powerful argument" in the West that Moscow might relocate its SS-20s in Asia rather than destroy them. Andropov's proposal did not alter the basic Soviet position that their nuclear arsenal be reduced only to the number of missiles in the British and French nuclear systems, he said.

Students riot after Aquino funeral

By FERNANDO DEL MUNDO, United Press International

MANILA, Philippines — About 3,000 students throwing rocks and hurling homemade bombs clashed with club-wielding police in Manila Friday in the first outbreak of violence over the killing of opposition leader Benigno Aquino.

The riot, in which students chanted "Go home to the peace movement's threat to start a 'hot fall' of demonstrations, marches and blockades of U.S. military installations Sept. 1. Kohl rejected a Greek government proposal that deployment of SS-20s would be contingent on Soviet talks

There were reports of injuries in the six-hour riot in Manila. Police detained eight students but later released them.

The demonstrators originally gathered in front of Far Eastern University, about a mile from the presidential palace, to demand lower tuition fees, police said.

But chants of "Long Live Ninoy" — Aquino's nickname — rang out during the slain opposition leader before burial in Manila next week.

His family said the body would be returned to the capital Monday from Tarlac, 70 miles northwest of Manila, Aquino formerly was governor of Tarlac province.

The latest plan was to hold Aquino's funeral on Wednesday, family members said.

In Los Angeles, a White House spokesman traveling with President Reagan said despite calls for him to cancel a planned visit to the Philippines during his Asian tour this fall, the schedule for the trip remained the same.

Free clothing given out today

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Alcoholics Rehabilitation Port of Hope Eggplant has accumulated a large amount of clothing and miscellaneous items which have been donated by community members.

In keeping with the objectives of the organization to provide good used merchandise to the community, clothing, shoes, purses and miscellaneous items will be handed out free from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today.

The emporium assists in the support of the MVARC Port of Hope Alcohol and drug program.

No more lifeguards at Dierkes

TWIN FALLS — The last day for lifeguards at Dierkes Lake will be Sunday, according to the Twin Falls Parks Department.

From now on, lifeguards will be open for picnics and other recreational activities after that date, but visitors will be asked to pay the $1 use fee only between the hours of noon and 6 p.m.

Barry's winds whip up again

MIAMI (UPI) — A hurricane hunter plane spent most of Friday flying through the windy and rainy remnants of Barry, which forecasters said could regenerate into a born-again tropical storm.

"We have a depression in the middle of the Gulf of Mexico and in the peak of the hurricane season," said Dr. Neil Frank, director of the National Hurricane Center. "I wouldn't be surprised if it became a tropical storm."

"But we have a reconnaissance airplane out there and we have indicated it hasn't occurred," Frank said. "We don't know for sure if it will become a storm, but as long as it is over the Gulf, it has the potential," said forecasters Miles Lawrence. "It's a legitimate tropical weather system and that's why we're tracking it so carefully. As long as it moves without strengthening, we'll be in good shape."

Phone unions still on walkout

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A few key bargaining units stuck on local disputes held up settlement of the 20-day-old telephone strike Friday, and workers vowed to press on with the nationwide walkout until the last contract is settled.

Glenn Watts, president of the Communications Workers of America, charged that company bargainers "tried us by telling us there were no problems at the local table" when, in fact, they were seeking last-minute concessions from local units.

"The give-back issues were introduced after the national agreement was reached to block settlement," Watts said. "From the bargaining standpoint, any such concession should have been introduced at the beginning of bargaining."

Watts said the union, representing 525,000 Bell System workers, will not give up gains achieved during successful national contract talks with the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Amtrak train has 4th accident

KENLY, N.C. (UPI) — Amtrak's Silver Meteor passenger train hit and fatally injured a motorist at a crossing in North Carolina Friday, the fourth accident and second fatality involving the New York-Miami train since its launch last year.

The latest accident happened at Kenly, 30 miles southeast of Raleigh, at 12:25 a.m. MDT when, according to police, motorist Walter Earl Blackmore Jr., 34, tried to beat the southbound train through a crossing and drove his car around the lowered arms of a flashing crossing barrier.

The train, traveling at 90 mph, slammed Blackmore's car into a ditch and he suffered severe head injuries. He died about seven hours later at a hospital.

It was the fourth accident involving the Silver Meteor since Wednesday evening. The other three happened on the northward run from Miami.

The first occurred when the train hit and killed a Savannah, Ga., woman who had been fishing from a railroad trestle. Less than two hours later the train struck a pickup truck that had stalled and been abandoned at Ridgecrest, N.C.

Early Thursday, the train derailed at Rowland, N.C., after hitting a disabled tractor-trailer. Twenty persons suffered minor injuries in the derailment, and passengers were transferred to buses to continue their trip.

Amtrak officials stressed Friday that train crews were not at fault in any of the accidents and spokesman Clifford Black, in Washington, said media reports gave an erroneous impression the train was a "violent, wanton killer."

Fire destroys historic building

GALVESTON, Texas (UPI) — An early morning fire, complicated by a spotty telephone service in hurricane-ravaged Galveston, Friday injured two firefighters and destroyed an "irreplaceable" historic building.

The fire broke out at 4:55 p.m. MDT in a four-story wood and brick building named The Strand, the city's historic district. Fire Marshal Willis Wilkerson's forces were 100 feet in the air when firefighters arrived.

The RBM Drug Co., the unoccupied Hotel Washington and the Kon-Tiki Bar were destroyed. The cause of the blaze is under investigation.

Astronaut stops search for Ark

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI) — Former U.S. astronaut James Irwin gave up his second try to find the remains of Noah's Ark on Mount Ararat because of blizzard conditions and has returned to a base camp, newspaper reports said Friday.

Irwin returned to the town of Dogubeyazli, 450 miles east of Ankara, after failing to conquer the snowswept mountain, the newspaper hurriedly said. The mountains close to the Soviet border have had rough weather, including blizzards on the higher slopes of Mount Ararat, the Biblical site where Noah is said to have landed with his ark of animals after the Great Flood.

U.S. Embassy sources in Ankara said Irwin might resume the expedition later this month.

between the White House and Barbara Honegger, who Monday called her Justice Department job reviewing sex discrimination in laws and regulations after assailing the project as "a sham."

White House spokesmen later spoke, after mistakenly saying Honegger had once played Matt Bunn on an egg roll on the White House lawn, appeared to extend an olive branch Friday. "We'd be glad to have her input, as we have all along," said Spokesman.

Ms. Honegger, at a news conference near the hotel, where Reagan spoke, told reporters, "I'm not against any, I did what I did because I had exhausted every avenue available. She offered to sit down with Reagan and go over the list of 114 federal statutes that she said discriminate against women.

Sandra Farha, California Chairman of the National Organization for Women, was among the demonstrators outside the hotel.

"We're saying we've won our case 50 cents to every dollar earned by men," she said. "The gender gap means we will use our vote to change our daily lives."

The demonstrators included a handful of NOW members from Los Angeles, a few pro- and anti-Reagan Cubans and a handful of anti-nuclear protesters.

Reagan was accompanied to the speech by his wife, Nancy, his daughter, Maureen, and Faith Ryan White, director of the White House office of public liaison, who several months ago was stripped of primary responsibility for outreach to women voters.

The GOP audience frequently waved white and red napkins to show approval of Reagan's statements, but not all were saying "USA."

Reagan appeared buoyed by the enthusiasm and said of the signs: "I don't want to be critical — but 947 I'm not that old. I did not hint whether he planned to run for re-election, despite the campaign-style nature of this and other recent speeches."

Reagan and his top advisers assessing prospects for a re-election bid — have acknowledged they have bid "a problem" among women.

The latest Gallup Poll showed a 10-point gap between men and women in their approval of the president, with women holding the potential to swing the outcome of the 1984 election.

Without referring to Ms. Honegger by name, Reagan said during the speech her project to identify federal laws and regulations that differentiate on the basis of sex would go on.

He said the cabinet would issue a legal policy which would accelerate its review of Justice Department findings and "have specific recommendations on my desk for discussion" when he returns to Washington on Labor Day.

The demonstration and rioting erupted when the students tried to force their way inside the campus.

At nightfall, students threw rocks at university building windows and exploded several homemade bombs.

University security men bombarded the students with water cannons and riot police charged into the unruly crowd, swinging their truncheons and ending the demonstration.

Security guard Eleodoro C. Ocampo said unidentified occupants of a speeding car fired three shots at him in front of the university but missed.

At the suburban University of the Philippines, 2,000 students demonstrated against the naming by President Aquino of the United States and present Supreme Court justices to investigate the Aquino slaying. The protest was peaceful.

Aquino was killed at Manila airport on his return Sunday from a three-year exile in the United States with a single shot to the head. His lone assailant, who remains unidentified, was gunned down by soldiers escorting Aquino.

Olivas told reporters that Brig. Gen. Luther Custodio, chief of the National Security Command assigned to protect Aquino at the airport, has been confined to quarters — along with his entire 14-man airport security squad — pending further investigation into the slaying.

The commission appointed by Marcos also came under fire from the former senator's family, opposition leaders and the students — all of whom said the panel could not conduct an impartial investigation.

The panel, headed by Supreme Court Chief Justice Enrique M. Fernando, announced its public hearings would be postponed until after Aquino's funeral.

"I think all of the persons mentioned are Marcos men," said Aquino's widow, Corason, who returned to the Philippines from the United States on Wednesday.

"In that case, I'm asking for an impartial investigation with some members of the opposition to be part of the commission."

Her stand was echoed by Antonio Alano, spokesman for the 12-party United National Democratic Organization, which he said would refuse to take part in the investigation.

Reagan was accompanied to the speech by his wife, Nancy, his daughter, Maureen, and Faith Ryan White, director of the White House office of public liaison, who several months ago was stripped of primary responsibility for outreach to women voters.

Synopsis:

Fair skies and mild temperatures for most of Idaho.

That's the weekend outlook, but it's tempered by the chances for development of isolated afternoon and evening thunderstorms.

Low pressure system off the Pacific Coast is bringing a southwesterly flow of moist, unstable air across Idaho.

As it moves across, showers and cooler temperatures will cover the state from the central mountains northward. Partly cloudy skies and mild temperatures will prevail in the south.

On Friday, the north half of the state was under partly cloudy skies with some light showers over the panhandle. Skies were mostly sunny in the southern third of Idaho. Mid-afternoon temperatures ranged from 66 at Coeur d'Alene to 88 at Burley and Idaho Falls, with the state's warmest mark for the day 90 degrees at Fingerman. The coolest morning low was 46 at Stanley.

In Twin Falls Friday, the pollen count was 60 per cubic meter of air.

The agricultural forecast for Magic Valley and southern Idaho calls for significant precipitation in the valleys for the next five days. Average daily pan evaporation will be from 25 to 30 inch today and Sunday then dropping to near 20 inch through Wednesday. Winds today and Sunday will be light in the morning, increasing to 10 to 15 mph in the afternoon.

Elsewhere in the nation Friday, the hottest temperature reported was 113 degrees at Gila Bend, Ariz., and the coldest was 31 at Winkelman, Ariz.

Nation's productivity attains eight-year high

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The productivity of the nation's 76.8 million workers soared 6.1 percent in the April-June quarter, an eight-year high for business efficiency, the Labor Department said Friday.

The latest figures, which exclude farm laborers, were upward revisions of productivity measurements issued earlier for the second quarter. The new figures showed the economic recovery was being accomplished without significant price increases.

President Reagan, speaking to the Women's Leadership Forum in Los Angeles, said the new figures were evidence "that we've got inflation under control."

A factor that often can be the largest ingredient of inflation—unit labor costs, actually went down in the second quarter at a 1.6 percent annual rate, the first decline since the second quarter of 1975, the department said.

Unit labor costs are basically the portion of the price tag that covers manpower.

The overall productivity measure is the relationship of inflation-adjusted output to the labor time involved in production. The key factors during the second quarter were, at seasonally adjusted annual rates:

—a 12.7 percent increase in output, the largest since the second quarter of 1978's 12.9 percent gain.

—a 6.2 percent expansion in the length of the average work week, the biggest since the 11.1 percent increase in 1978's second quarter.

When last reported on July 29 the department said productivity was up 4.3 percent, a two-year high. The new 6.2 percent seasonally adjusted annual rate for the second quarter is the highest since the 6.8 percent in the third quarter of 1975.

The revised measure for the narrower category of manufacturing alone showed an 8.4 percent gain.

When narrowed further to focus on manufacturing of durable goods the department found productivity up at a 10.1 percent annual rate.

People set for rights rally

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Thousands of people headed to the nation's capital Friday in cars, planes, buses and "freedom trains" for a rally to mark the 20th anniversary of the civil rights march on Washington.

Organizers predict Saturday's demonstration will draw more than the 250,000 people who participated in the 1963 "March on Washington for Freedom and Jobs" that was a turning point in the civil rights movement and signaled the emergence of Martin Luther King Jr. as a national figure.

Borrowing the most famous phrase from the speech King delivered 20 years ago, participants in the commemorative "Jobs, Peace and Freedom" march are rallying under the theme, "We still have dreams."

"We have learned enough in the last 20 years to kind of know what we are doing and that the impossible dreams of the '60s are indeed possible in our time," said Andrew Young, a King associate and now the mayor of Atlanta.

Shuttle countdown to start

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — With weather problems out of the way, the path was cleared Friday for the third launch of the shuttle Challenger, a nighttime blastoff that will test the first American black into space.

Technicians completed routine last-minute preparations on the spaceplane at its oceanic launch pad for the start of the three-day countdown, which is to begin today at 1 p.m. MDT.

Challenger's blastoff, the first nighttime launch of the shuttle program, is scheduled for 12:15 a.m. Tuesday.

The five-member flight crew includes Guion S. Bluford Jr., the nation's first black space flyer. The crew was to arrive at the Kennedy Space Center early Saturday.

QUESTION . . .

I have misplaced my Army discharge papers. Will this cause a problem at the time of my death?

ANSWER . . .

Entitlements to death benefits and to survivors benefits from the Veterans Administration are based upon Armed Service discharge records. The absence of a discharge at the time of death will not cancel these benefits but may delay them for an indefinite period. If you have lost your discharge, come to our office and we will help you secure a replacement.

When you receive your replacement, it should be recorded at your County Recorder's Office. If you have not already recorded your discharge, we suggest you do this. A discharge is a very important document in life as well as at the time of death.

Detention camp secure

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Israel overhauled its troubled Anzar detention camp of Palestinian prisoners in southern Lebanon to renovate, enlarge and make it more secure, officials and Israeli newspapers said Friday.

"The detainees are in areas outside," a military command spokesman said. "We are renovating the camp, so the prisoners will have better conditions. Winter is coming."

But Israeli newspapers and radio said the dusty, barbed-wire compound, located on a plateau near Nabatiye, was being refurbished to thwart breakouts by the approximately 5,000 prisoners.

Built in July 1982 during the second month of the Lebanon war, the camp originally housed about 10,000 detainees from more than 30 countries. The military said authorities released about half after checking for links to the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Last month, in the first successful escape from the camp, 10 Palestinians broke through the security perimeter and disappeared into the Lebanese countryside.

Earlier, seven inmates who tried to flee were killed by Israeli guards at the sprawling facility, the size of 10 football fields.

The Maariv newspaper reported this month the Israeli guards have lost control of Anzar and in some ways have become the prisoners themselves.

"It is no longer clear who is prisoner of whom," Maariv reported. It said guards use armored vehicles and tanks to enter the compound.

At present, there are no permanent buildings. The detainees sit in tents and hang laundry on rope lines.

Soviets tested killer satellite

WONN, West Germany (UPI) — The Soviet Union tested a "killer" satellite system over West Germany last year, hitting a target far out in space over Bavaria, government sources said Friday.

They confirmed a report Friday in the respected Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung newspaper that the Russian test took place in June 1982 and was successful but not technically perfect.

The test was part of a huge exercise involving the complete range of Soviet rocket hardware and was centered on an area above the Bavarian city of Munich.

Death toll on rise from Central America clash

By United Press International

Nicaragua claimed Friday 81 rightist rebels and 10 government soldiers were killed in some of the fiercest fighting of the two-year war. Suspected sabotage by Salvadoran leftist rebels blocked out nearly half of El Salvador.

In Washington, the Pentagon reported the arrival of the west coast of Central America of seven U.S. Navy warships led by the 58,000-ton battleship New Jersey.

A five-ship battle group led by the 62,200-ton carrier Coral Sea arrived off the east coast of Central America in mid-August. Both task forces will participate in land, sea and air maneuvers scheduled in the region.

A State Department spokesman said Richard Stone, President

Reagan's special envoy, will return to Central America Sunday in efforts to promote negotiations between the government of El Salvador and leftist guerrillas.

A State Department spokesman said Stone will be in the region for a week to 10 days with his first stop in Tegucigalpa, Honduras. His other stops were not disclosed.

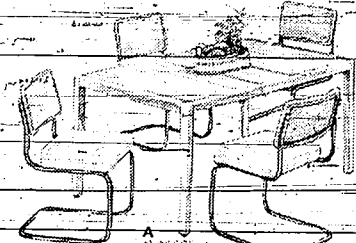

Last month, Stone met with Ruben Zamora, a leader of the Democratic Revolutionary Front, which represents the major guerrilla groups fighting the U.S.-supported government of El Salvador.

The power went out in San Salvador during the morning rush hour, snarling traffic and darkening offices just as they were opening. Residents in four eastern provinces said they lost electricity at dawn.

Law reviewed; cocktails OK'd for groceries

By BOB FREUND
Times-News writer

BOISE — A new interpretation of state law will allow certain types of pre-mixed cocktails to be sold from grocery store shelves like beer and wine.

An opinion by the Idaho Attorney General's office has established that prepackaged cocktails containing less than 14 percent alcohol (28 proof) fit the state liquor law's definition of wine.

That means they can be sold over the counter in any store licensed to sell beer or wine, said Brian Donesley, chief of the Alcohol

Beverage Control Bureau in the state's Department of Law Enforcement.

It also means eating establishments with wine licenses can serve diners some kinds of pre-mixed cocktails on Sundays. State law prohibits liquor licenses to sell any liquor by the drink on Sunday.

The change in interpretation was triggered by a Pocatello wholesaler who asked Donesley's bureau about selling pre-mixed vodka drinks to wine retailers.

Donesley's interpretation, confirmed on Aug. 15 by the attorney general's office, is that cocktails are technically wines if they're less than 28 proof.

State law considers wine to be a fermented product (of grapes) and spirits to be distilled. However, vodka and other spirits also are fermented before they are distilled, Donesley noted in his analysis.

William C. Rodon, executive director of the Idaho Beer and Wine Wholesalers Association, and other state beverage groups, drew up the 1972 liquor law.

"Nothing has changed in the law," he said late Friday. "It's just that new products have come into the market which fit that definition."

Basically, the Legislature set the dividing line between liquors and wines at 14 percent alcohol content, Rodon said. If it's more, it's a liquor or spirits. If less, it's wine or beer.

The definition may fit some pre-mixed drinks, such as margaritas, Blueberry and pina colodas. Those typically are about 12 percent alcohol. But it may not include some stronger pre-mixed drinks now sold in state liquor stores, such as manhattans or martinis, Rodon said.

Officials of the Idaho Liquor Dispensary were not available for comment on Friday.

The new interpretation may be welcomed by some restaurant owners, said Matt Smith, president of Twin Falls Beverage, Inc.

"I think resort areas are really going to come alive with this. They've been fighting for years to serve liquor on Sunday," he said Friday.

But the same tips current liquor license holders are not likely to swap their permits for less expensive wine licenses, he said. Serving the prepackaged mixes will be more costly than mixing their own cocktails from bottles, Smith said.

The local wholesaler says the pre-mixed cocktails should start appearing on supermarket shelves by Sept. 15, after distributors have had a chance to get orders from retailers.

Less fortunate kids target of program

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A new state Health and Welfare Department program looks and sounds a lot like a day care center. Toys and diapers are scattered around and tiny laughter, and sometimes crying, can be heard.

But a closer look reveals wheelchairs among the toys and therapy going on among the playing children.

Called Supportive Treatment as an Alternative to Institutionalization (STAI), the program provides day care and treatment for multiple or profoundly handicapped pre-school age children.

It is offered by the Adult and Child Development Center at 803 Harrison St. in Twin Falls.

STAI is for children who don't fit into other programs. They are either too young, or not functioning at levels required for other aid, like the regular center classes, says Ellen Weekley, the coordinator and a physical therapist.

The seven children who have participated since the program began July 18 couldn't walk, talk or feed themselves.

Because children with severe handicaps need extensive physical care from their families, they risk institutionalization because of the burden they present," says Mary Crane, the development center director.

STAI is an alternative to that route, allowing the children to remain in the community.

The big benefit is the gift of time to the parents. Parents gain freedom during the day to work to help pay bills related to their children's medical condition, Crane says.

"It's a reprieve to parents and gives the kids the idea other people can care for them," Weekley says.

Dianne Clark of Twin Falls agrees. Clark's 4-year-old daughter Leslie, who suffers from cerebral palsy, has been attending the program.

"It's been a relief to know she is here and getting so much attention. Here she has all the interaction with other children she needs," Clark says.

Added to that is instruction from the STAI staff, which includes Weekley, a therapist technician, and volunteers.

"When we first began, all the children were on bottles," she says. They are eating solids now, with the guidance of the adults. Toilet training is the next project.

Weekley describes STAI as "therapeutic day care."

Because the program is so new, there is no cost for parents. The state is in the process of creating a fee for the service. Crane adds that there may be a charge now for treatment sessions. Income, however, will be considered.

Parents are asked to supply lunch and diapers for their children.

The seed for the program was sown by the staff from the state school for the Deaf and Blind in Gooding. They told of a need for a day program for those that didn't qualify for theirs, Crane says.

There will be vacancies in the program this fall when some of the children go to school, Weekley says.

Volunteers are needed to provide more one-to-one attention for the children, she says. STAI will take a maximum of six children. If there were more volunteers, that number could be expanded.

"We have the programs, we just need hands to do them."

For more information about STAI, call 734-9770.

Minor technical delay Problem stalls shopping mall

By MARTY TRILLHAASE
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A minor technical problem has stalled, briefly, Price Development Corp.'s formal application for zoning of its new shopping mall site.

But representatives of the Salt Lake City developer say the application will be filed with the city early next week.

The stumbling block is the development company's lack of documentation showing its ownership or control over the new mall site.

Without that, Community Development Director LaMar Orton said he could not process the company's initial application, filed Thursday.

Price lawyer Rob Falne said he can have the documentation — in the form of a purchase contract between Price and General Growth Development Corp. of Des Moines, Iowa — early next week.

Monday, Price officials announced they had reached a tentative agreement to purchase the Iowa firm's proposed shopping mall site, located northeast of Blue Lakes Boulevard and Pole Line Road on the Orton Boone property.

"The second I get that, and I'm hoping that will be Tuesday or Wednesday, I will be filing that with the city," Falne said.

But that probably will cost the firm one-to-two weeks in obtaining zoning approval. Assuming the application is filed next week, the earliest it could now come before the city Planning and Zoning Commission for a public hearing would be Sept. 27. A subsequent hearing before the City Council would be either Oct. 17 or Nov. 7, Orton said.

Price officials want the General Growth site because it has what they own. Initial mall site lacks adequate zoning. The Iowa company obtained commercial zoning for its site in 1980.

The Price plans to build a mall on a 38-acre site, located off Blue Lakes Boulevard north, north of the Green Acres housing subdivision, were detailed by a lengthy court battle.

The nearly two-year-old court case followed a City Council denial of the developer's request to rezone the site, and that denial was overturned in the original site for commercial use. Now on appeal to the Idaho Supreme Court, the case may not be decided for another year.

While Price's motivation for pursuing the deal with General Growth is obvious, the Iowa company's reasons are not. Jon Balesole, the president of General Growth, declined to shed additional light on the issue when he was contacted Friday.

"The only thing that I can say at this moment is that we are having discussions with the Price organization," he said.

At this point, General Growth still owns the Boone property, he said.

But that's the way things will stand until Price gets zoning approval, says Falne.

"The second the city approves it, then we pay Price," he said.

Although the city approved the Boone site for commercial development, it's approval came in the form of a planned unit development. Under a PUD, the city exercises the right to review and approve a development in detail.

If significant changes are made, such as Price's plan to reduce the scope of the building from the original 750,000-square-foot figure to one of 430,000-square-foot — developers again must secure approval from the city.

"The deal would mean only one firm is out of the running in what has been, until now, a three-way race to build the one shopping mall that all sides say Twin Falls can support.

Representatives of Woodbury Corp. of Salt Lake City secured zoning approval in 1980 to build a mall on the John Brockmeyer property, southeast of the Blue Lakes Pole Line Road intersection. That latest development has not changed their minds.

"The (Boone) site existed as a possibility. It's always existed. It was only the entry of a third party that ever created a new factor that we hadn't anticipated," says Lynn Woodbury, the company's vice president.

But that's the way things will be changed. "We don't think anything has changed."

Woodbury also disputes Price claims of commitments to the critical large department store, or so-called "anchor tenants." Earlier this week, Price's land acquisition executive, Duane Rasmussen of Salt Lake City, said the company will begin construction in 1985.

"We're at the same place that everybody else is," Woodbury says. "We're negotiating with the department stores, trying to get commitments. We frankly are optimistic. We are going to be able to obtain commitments in very short order."

Woodbury said he is confident his 80-acre site is so superior it will attract the stores.

School bonds offered to Elko County residents

By HARRIET GUTHERTZ
Times-News writer

JACKPOT — Elko County residents will get a chance to buy into their school system by purchasing some of the $7.5 million worth of bonds that will be used to expand the school system.

Using a new marketing strategy, Prudential-Bache Securities of Las Vegas will sell the tax-free bonds in $1,000 denominations rather than the usual $5,000 minimum blocks, said David Berkowitz, an associate vice president at Prudential-Bache.

Elko County residents approved the bonds in a June 14 election and will get their first crack at the bonds.

Residents can place advance orders until Tuesday at 1 p.m., Berkowitz said. The bonds will be marketed throughout the county after that time.

The bonds carry the highest AAA rating and are fully insured, Berkowitz said.

The bonds will be used to build elementary schools in Carlin, Wendover and Elko, a middle school in Elko and a high school in Jackpot. Elko High School will also be re-modeled.

The $1-million high school in Jackpot is scheduled for completion in time for the January 1985 school year.

One runaway found

RUPERT — One of three runaways from the Idaho Youth Ranch was in custody Friday after he was arraigned in Fifth District Magistrate's juvenile court on charges of arson, grand theft and burglary.

The youth, identified as a 12-year-old from Coeur d'Alene, was arrested Thursday after a motorist turned him in to the Jerome County Sheriff's Office.

The whereabouts of his comrades, identified as a 16-year-old from Twin Falls and a 15-year-old from Pocatello, remained unknown.

"We're still looking for those boys and we feel that they're probably in, or have recently left, the Bush-Twin Falls-Jerome area," said Minidoka County Sheriff Ray Jarvis. "I think it's just a matter of time before we get them back."

Jarvis said the 12-year-old boy was being held at the juvenile detention center in the Minidoka County Jail.

Joined by a fourth 16-year-old from Burley, the boys walked away from the Idaho Youth Ranch at 8:30 p.m. during the week-end. They are suspected of ransacking and burning the Jerold Schenk home, located 10 miles north of Rupert on Sunday.

The boys allegedly stole guns and other items from the home.

Jarvis said the Schenks returned to find the damage on Wednesday.

The 12-year-old youth suffered stab wounds over half of his body when he was caught in that area. He remained in critical but stable condition Friday at the University of Utah Hospital at Salt Lake City.

A report that the boy apparently used in that getaway was received here Tuesday last week. That was followed Thursday by a motorist who apparently became suspicious when he picked up a 12-year-old boy at the youth ranch.

Interested in the case from the Idaho Youth Ranch, Jarvis said he was contacted by the Sheriff's Office. Jarvis said he was contacted by the Sheriff's Office. Jarvis said he was contacted by the Sheriff's Office.

Roadblock used against DUI

HAILEY — Thirteen state police officers aided by two Blaine County deputies launched a roadblock designed to catch drunken drivers on State Highway 75 near Red Top Meadows.

The road block was set to begin at 11:30 p.m. and continue through 2:30 a.m.

Earlier this month, state police announced they would stage the first of a series of roadblocks in the Magic Valley as a follow-up to implementing the state's stiffer drinking-driving laws. The officers gave a public announcement that they intended to conduct that roadblock in Blaine County.

The press was given one day's advanced notice of the location and six to eight newspaper and television reporters arrived on the scene.

Blaine County was selected for the first ISP roadblock on the basis of its higher-than-average accident problem during the late night hours.

"There is a definite problem here," said Rick Owens, public information officer for the Department of Law Enforcement.

Statistics released by that department indicated that the average nighttime (8 p.m. to 5 a.m.) fatal and injury accident rate per 1,000 population is 3.6 in Blaine County, compared to a statewide average of 2.5. Another statistic released showed that statewide, 7.6 percent of the drinking-driving accidents resulted in fatalities. In Blaine County, that figure is 23 percent.

As a result of the department of law enforcement's legal investigation, officers in the field will stop every car. Then as traffic increases, they may choose to stop every third car, every sixth car, every ninth car, or cut off the traffic stop altogether until the traffic flow ebbs.

Although Blaine County Sheriff Dennis Haynes said he had room for 33 more people in his jail Friday night, he didn't believe that many people would be forced to spend the night in jail. "We don't anticipate that we'll be holding many. We'll try to release most of them on bond or on personal recognizance."

Capote pleads guilty to DUI

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (UPI) — Author Truman Capote pleaded guilty Friday to charges of drunken driving and was scolded by the judge for wearing shorts in court.

Judge Hecator Kendrick told the author of "In Cold Blood" that he can never again drive in New York State.

"The author, 68, dressed in blue shorts which came to the middle of his thigh, a white shirt and a sports jacket, was chastised by the judge for appearing in the courtroom in the casual attire."

A sign posted in a corridor in the courthouse forbids barefeet and wearing shorts in court.

Capote was charged July 1 with drunken driving, driving without a license and failure to keep to the right, Arthur Penny, a spokesman for the Suffolk County District Attorney's office, said.

Southampton Town police stopped Capote, driving a 1972 Buick, when they noticed his car was swerving to the left, Penny said.

The writer has a home in nearby Bridgehampton.

Penny said a breathalyzer test showed Capote had a .14 level of alcohol in his blood. The state considers a driver to be intoxicated at the .10 level.

Capote pleaded guilty to reduced charges of "drunken driving—as a misdemeanor and failure to stay to the right."

Capote had previously pleaded guilty in 1976 to a drunken driving charge.

He faces up to a year in jail and a $500 fine when he is sentenced Oct. 27.

High-ranking black officer retires

FORT MONROE, Va. (UPI) — The Army's second-ranking black officer retired Friday after more than 37 years of active duty, making gains the service has made in stamping out segregation.

1st Gen. Julius Becton, 58, deputy commanding general of the Army Training and Doctrine Command and the Army's inspector general at Fort Monroe for the last two years, was given a "brass band send-off" and named by fellow officers.

Gen. William Richardson, the training and doctrine commander, presented Becton with the Distinguished Service Medal and praised him as a loyal, principled soldier.

"And with all those attributes, Gen. Becton is more," Richardson said.

"He is a leader in the classic sense of the word."

Becton, an Allentown, Pa., native, described himself as "somewhat of a grunt," and said during the ceremony the Army has changed since he signed up as a private in 1944 to join the all-black 888th Central Postal Directory.

Becton joined the Army; it was a segregated Army," he said. "In that division, we had all black enlisted soldiers, black junior officers, and a few, very few black field-grade officers."

Tiny mother bears big baby

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — A tiny mother, a 6-foot-tall dwarf, gave birth to a normal 7-pound, 13-ounce boy who doctors say will tower over his parents by the time he is 12.

Chad Dickson was born to Terri Dickson, 30, and Harry, 33, at Kaiser Permanente Hospital in Anaheim.

Mrs. Dickson's delivery, by Cesarean section, was comparable to an average-size woman giving birth to a child of 13 pounds, obstetrician Dr. Kenneth Bell said.

"This warms my heart. I've delivered thousands of babies, but this one is special," the physician said.

Spill less critical than feared

RIGGINS (UPI) — Last week's diesel fuel spill in the Little Salmon River did not kill as many fish as originally feared, State Fisheries Manager Dave Hansen said Friday. He said many of the threatened gamefish - steelhead trout and salmon - "hid out" in channels leading to and from the stream.

He said whitefish, a non-game fish, suffered the highest mortality rate. "We are finding juvenile fish in the 18-mile stretch of the river we have surveyed this week," he said. Hansen said a final impact statement on the effects of the spill should be completed sometime next week.

Roadless re-study set

BOISE (UPI) — The U.S. Forest Service announced Friday it will re-evaluate roadless areas in Idaho forests as a precautionary measure to keep the process moving toward resolution of the state's wilderness controversy. Service spokesman Dale Dufour said the re-evaluation was felt necessary in light of a recent Ninth Circuit Court decision that struck down portions of a federal study of roadless areas in California. That study, called RARE II, looked into the wilderness potential of federal lands across the nation. But the appellate court said it was legally insufficient in the California case, prompting worry among land managers that the study might also be invalidated in other states.

Cagers lead U.S. to Pan-Am gold harvest

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — Sparked by the men's basketball team, American athletes collected a treasure chest full of gold at the Pan American Games Friday, but the images of two countries were tarnished by the continuing drug investigation.

A Cuban fencer, Mario Durruthy Wilson, and a Dominican-Republic shot putter, Juan de la Cruz, were the latest to be caught using banned drugs, bringing the number of athletes named in the week-long probe to 14.

Both athletes were found by the Medical Commission of the Pan American Sports Organization to have ephedrine in their system. A stimulant that increases the heart rate, ephedrine is the same drug that disqualified American swimmer Rick DeMont and cost him a gold medal in the 1976 Olympics.

Wilson, a member of Cuba's gold medal-winning sabre team, is the third athlete from his country to show up positive in post-event drug testing. The previous two were weightlifters Daniel Nunez and Alberto Blanco.

Another Cuban athlete, volleyball player Lazaro Rizo, also was found by the Medical Commission to have traces of ephedrine in his system but the Commission decided the dosage wasn't severe enough to warrant a punishment.

Seven weightlifters and a cyclist previously were found to have banned drugs in their system, but in all previous instances anabolic steroids was the drug detected.

Wilson's name has been forwarded to the International Pencing Federation for possible sanctions and he will be forced to return his medal.

De la Cruz, who did not place in his event, received a reprimand from the Dominican Olympic Committee and the International Track and Field Federation for possible sanctions.

While it was not a good day for the Cubans off the athletic field, they certainly proved their superiority on the basketball court.

Powered by the 13 strikers' pitching of Garcia, Cuba routed the United States, 8-1, to win the gold medal.

It marks the fourth straight time the Cubans have won the baseball championship at the Pan Am Games. Nicaragua, which beat the U.S. Thursday and the Dominican Republic, 6-5, Friday, won the silver medal while the Americans had to settle for the bronze.

On the whole, the day of athletic competition belonged to the U.S. in addition to winning the gold medal in men's basketball with an 87-79 victory over Brazil, the U.S. won four gold medals in track and field—added to more in women's sambo wrestling and picked up one in cycling.

Unfortunately, the U.S. wasn't so lucky in men's softball. With ace pitcher Dave Scott getting bombed for six runs in the first inning, the U.S. lost the gold medal to Canada, 11-6.

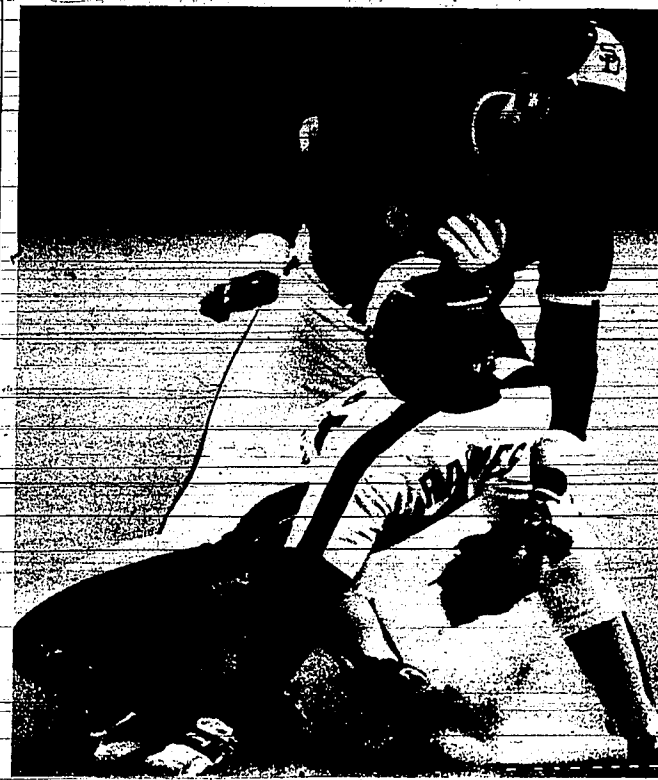

Bolestered by the surprising return of pole vaulter Mike Tully, the U.S. won four gold medals.

Tully, of Los Angeles, defeated heavily favored, teammate Jeff Buckingham of Gardner, Kan., the American record holder, and Brazilian Tom Rintaus with a Pan American record vault of 17-feet, 10 3/4 inches. Buckingham won the silver medal at 17-2 1/2, and Rintaus was third at more minus.

Other gold medal winners for the U.S. were Elliott Quis of New York in the men's 200-meter, Randy Gliven of Amityville, N.Y., in the women's 200-meter and Benita Fitzgerald of Dale City, Va., in the women's 100-meter hurdles.

Tully, one of 12 U.S. athletes to leave Caracas last Tuesday before the start of the track and field competition, said he had left for personal and business reasons. He refused to answer questions after his event.

Arched-back Tom Weiskopf, Expos, evades a tag by Padre Luis Salazar to steal second base

Phillies beat Dodgers for first time in 10 attempts

By United Press International

Bo Diaz doubled in two runs in the first inning Friday night and rookie Kevin Gross notched his first victory since June 30, to help the Philadelphia Phillies snap a futility string against Los Angeles with a 4-1 triumph over the Dodgers.

The decision broke a six-game losing streak for Philadelphia and an eight-game winning streak for the Dodgers. It was also the Phillies' first win over Los Angeles in 10 games this season.

Diaz's double capped the Phillies' two-run first off Fernando Valenzuela, 13-7. The Phillies loaded the bases with one out on a single by Pete Rose, a double by Gary Matthews and a walk to Mike Schmidt, before Diaz hit the wall in left-center, scoring Rose and Matthews.

Philadelphia capitalized on a pair of Dodger mistakes to push across their final two runs in the fifth. Gross led off with a walk, went to second on Juan Samuel's infield single then stole third when third baseman Pedro Guerrero, playing in, failed to get back to the bag in time.

Second baseman Steve Sax booted Rose's grounder for his 30th error of the season, scoring Gross and sending Samuel to third. Samuel came across on Matthews' sacrifice fly.

National

batted around and scored five runs to chase starter Danny Cox, 1-2.

Pirates 9, Braves 1
AL Pittsburgh, Tony Pena capped a five-run, third-inning with a three-run homer that landed in the third tier of Three Rivers Stadium and Larry McWilliams pitched a five-hitter to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Pirates began the third inning off Rascual Perez, 13-5, with consecutive one-out singles by Johnny Ray, Bill Mottick, Jason Thompson and Dave Parker for a 2-0 lead. After Doug Frobel grounded out, Pena smashed his 10th homer of the year.

Expos 10, Padres 4
At Montreal, Manny Trillo, wearing a Montreal uniform for the first time in Olympic Stadium, drove in four runs with a single and a bases-loaded double to lift the Montreal Expos.

The Expos acquired last week from the Cleveland Indians, slaked Bill Gullettson, 12-11, to a 1-0 lead in the first. Tim Lincecum off loser Dave Dravecky, 14-10, stole second and scored on Trillo's single. Trillo tried to stretch the hit into a double but was thrown out at second.

Andre Dawson followed with a single and scored when Al Oliver doubled off the center field wall to make it 2-0.

The Expos made it 4-0 in the second on RBI singles by Raines and Dawson. In the fourth, Lincecum singled, Jaime Lugo Flynn, who doubled, and Gary Carter made it 6-0 with a bases-loaded sacrifice fly.

Astros 1, Cubs 0
At Houston, Jose Cruz singled home a run in the seventh inning and Vern Ruhle pitched five innings in relief of injured Nolan Ryan.

Ruhle, 7-3, centered when Ryan was forced from the game with a groin injury. Ruhle allowed only one hit, a field single by Larry Bowa. He walked Bill Ripstein to end the final 1 1/3 innings to pick up his 13th save. Steve Trout, who allowed four hits and struck out five in seven innings, dropped to 9-12.

With one out in the bottom of the seventh, Dickie Thon singled up the middle and moved to second on Phil Garner's groundout. Cruz singled sharply up the middle for his seventh game-winning RBI of the season.

Ryan pitched 2 2/3 innings, striking out two and allowing one hit. His two strikeouts gave him a career total of 3,625. He trails Steve Carlton, who leads with 3,833.

Giants 12, Mets 1
At New York, Jeff Leonard drove in five runs. Jose Youngblood knocked in four more, and Fred Breining pitched a nine-hitter.

Youngblood slugged a three-run homer in the first inning off Mets' starter Ed Lynch, 9-8, after singles by Johnnie Lestmaster and Max Venble. It was Youngblood's 12th home run of the year and he drove in another run in the Giants' four-run eighth.

Leonard hit a two-run homer in the third, scoring Youngblood, who had singled for a 6-6 San Francisco lead. It was Leonard's 15th homer of the season. Leonard singled in a run in the fifth, when the Giants scored twice off reliever Tom Gorman, and singled home two more in the eighth off Doug Slisk, the fourth New York pitcher.

Price hikes lead in World Series of golf

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — South African Nick Price used an eagle two on the 470-yard ninth hole to shoot a 2-rod on par 68 Friday and stretch his lead after two rounds of the $500,000 World Series of Golf.

Price, who held a 1-shot margin over Bobby Clampett and Jack Nicklaus after the opening round, stands at 6-under par 134 after 36 holes, three strokes better than runnerup Ray Floyd, who also had a second round 68.

Another stroke behind at 138 were Hale Irwin, who had an even par 70 Friday on the 7,180-yard Firestone Country Club course, and Graham Marsh, who had one of two 69s shot during the second round. The other was turned in by Isao Aoki of Japan. Marsh also had an eagle two on the 13th hole, using a 5-iron.

Clampett was among five golfers at 1-under par 135. The others were Fred Couples, Mike Nicoletti, David Graham and Mark McComber. Clampett shot a 72 Friday, Couples and Nicoletti 71s, Graham a 69 and McComber a 68.

Price, who now is a full-fledged member of the PGA Tour but stood only 117th on this year's money list going into this $200,000 event, was even par through the first eight holes but holed out an eight iron from 157 yards out.

"I had hit one of my best drives of the day," Price said in describing his spectacular ninth-hole shot. "When I saw the ball in the air, I said, 'well, it's going to be close.' Then it went into the hole. I couldn't believe it."

Price quickly gave one of those shots back with a bogey on the 10th, but birdied the 625-yard, par-5 "monster" for the second straight day with a 25-foot putt to pad his lead over Floyd, who finished runnerup to Craig Stadler last year.

Floyd, who began the day three strokes behind Price, struggled early and made the turn in 1-over par 36, mainly because of a 3-putt double bogey on the par-3 seventh hole.

But the former Masters and two-time PGA champion rolled in birdie putts of 15, 18 and 18 feet on the back side to battle his way back.

Clampett, who had missed the cut in the last five tournaments he entered prior to this week, was three over par for the day through eight holes, got back to even after the 14th, but then ran into trouble again with bogeys up 15 and 16.

Nicklaus went four under par after a birdie on the par-5 second hole, but that was his only one of the day and a bogey on 18 dropped him to 3-over 73 for the day and even par 140.

Tied with Nicklaus at even par were a half dozen other golfers, including Aoki, who had a 5-under par 90 on the back side. The others at 140 after 36 holes were Fuzzy Zoeller (68), Curtis Strange (68), Johnny Miller (69), Tom Watson (70) and Japan's Tommy Nakajima (72).

King, Clark post low score in best ball

JACKPOT, Nev. — Cay King and Juanita Clark of Mountain Home posted the best overall score and claimed the first flight in the Cactus Pete's two-woman best ball tournament Friday.

The Mountain Home duo carded a 289 for the two-day event which combined the best net and gross on each hole for scoring purposes.

That gave them a two-stroke lead over the Twin Falls duo of Gloria Lee and Joanne Sanderson while Mary Onda and Linda Siale, Twin Falls, carded 293 for third. Marly Manille and Kathy Hanchett, Twin Falls, had a 296 for four, one ahead of Dot McClain and Sue Langdon of Twin Falls. June Olmstead and Rita Detweiler, Twin Falls, were sixth at 312.

Sergene Sorenson, Burley, and Lucille Milton, Rupert, combined to claim the championship flight crown with a 290 with a daughter-mother duo of Nancy Wood and Shirlee Straight, Twin Falls, claiming second at 292. Velma Manigance and Melba Aslett, Twin Falls, were third at 295 while Della Wilson, Buhl, and Kathy Barshard, Wendell, and Penny Jones and Gerry Sapp, Wells, shared fourth and fifth at 296. Shirley Blake, Twin Falls, and Carol Schmid, Idaho Falls, were sixth with a 301.

In the second flight, Nancy Tracy and Shirley Anderson claimed top honors at 314 with Peggy Hodges and Beulah Giallad's four strokes ahead in second. Third was the duo of Ethel Stanford and Mary Kay Gilmore, and American Broden and Clo Davis, Twin Falls. Sammy Martin and Joy Auster claimed fifth at 328 with Verda Pope and Rae Lee Lady giving the home time a winner at 333.

Sampson becomes millionaire

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Houston Rockets signed No. 1 draft pick Ralph Sampson Friday to a seven-year contract that makes the 7-foot-4 center the highest paid rookie in the NBA. Sampson's agent and team officials announced.

The University of Virginia graduate, flanked by his agent Tom Collins and Rockets president and general manager Ray Patterson, announced the pact — reportedly for in excess of $1 million a year — after a day of talks.

"He is the highest paid rookie in this country and the contract goes far beyond that," said Collins, who arrived from Los Angeles to complete the negotiations.

"He is the highest-paid paid player in the NBA," Collins pressed for details. Sampson waffled on the exact salary, saying it would cover "basic necessities of life and a place to be comfortable."

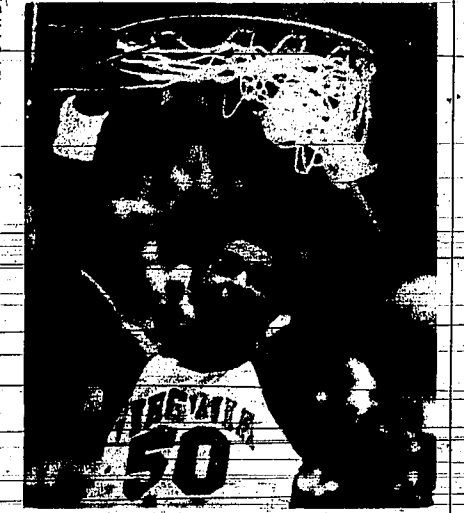

But Collins added: "He won't have to worry about the laundry bill."

Sampson, however, indicated he was not so much impressed by the size of the contract, as by the opportunities it entailed.

"I want to be part of the team," Sampson said. "It will take 10 or 11 other guys to even win a game."

The contract likely includes incentive clauses based not only on Sampson's individual performance, but also on the team performance.

That clause would be similar to one in coach Bill Fitch's contract, under which he will fetch a bonus if the Rockets win 37 games this season — 23 more than the dismal 1982-83 season. Fitch, a agent Tom Collins, who had been in talks all day, described the pact as "one of the most comprehensive and complex contracts I've ever seen."

Chargers break halftime draw to beat Los Angeles 27-17

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Rookie running back Ernest Jackson scored two touchdowns and linebacker Linden King intercepted two passes Friday night, helping the San Diego Chargers to a 27-17 victory over the Los Angeles Rams in an exhibition game.

San Diego broke a 10-10 halftime tie with 7:14 left in the third quarter. Quarterback Ed Luther hit tight end Eric Sleviers for a 17-yard touchdown.

Jackson scored his second TD four minutes later on a 24-yard plunge to make it 12-10.

Rob Benincasa kicked his second field goal of the night, a 37-yarder with 1:12 left in the game.

The Rams scored with 4:37 remaining when quarterback Steve Fuller engineered a 15-play, 69-yard drive that ended with an 18-yard TD pass to wide receiver Duke Ferguson that made it 17-17.

Dolphins 24, Giants 3

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — David Woodley and Dan Marino each directed long first-half touchdown drives and Durland Harris caught four passes for 116 yards Friday night to lead the Miami Dolphins to a 24-3 victory over the puncheon New York Giants.

In evening their record at 2-2 while handing New York its first loss in four exhibition games, the Dolphins grabbed a 14-3 halftime advantage and handcuffed two embattled Giants' quarterbacks with equal effectiveness.

Woodley scored on a 3-yard bootleg in the opening quarter to cap a 17-play drive and Marino Miami's top draft choice, led the Dolphins on a 90-yard march in the second period, capped by a 1-yard scoring run by David Overstreet. Uwe von Schamanna kicked a 39-yard field goal and Woody Bennett added a run TD run in the third quarter as Miami prepared for their season opener at Buffalo Sept. 4.

Woodley hit 20 passes for 188 yards and Marino was a sizzling 9-for-12 for 87 yards.

Bucs 41, Patriots 21

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Jerry Golsteyn threw two touchdown passes and Jack Thompson tossed for another as the Tampa Bay Buccaneers battered the New England Patriots 41-21 Friday night in the final exhibition game for both teams.

The victory gave Tampa a 4-0 exhibition season, while New England fell to 0-4.

Golsteyn, making his first start in his battle with Thompson to see who will replace Doug Williams as quarterback, completed 8-of-11 passes for 120 yards before giving way to Thompson midway in the second period with the Bucs ahead 28-7.

Falcons 10, Colts 7

ATLANTA (UPI) — Gerald Biggs plucked over from one yard out to play for Atlanta's first offensive touchdown in 15 pre-season quarters Friday night, giving the Falcons a 10-7 victory over the Colts.

The Colts had taken the lead for the first time in the night with 1:36 gone in the fourth quarter when rookie defensive end Steve Parker from Northwestern scooped up a William Andrews fumble at the Baltimore 11-yard line and raced 89 yards while the play had been whittled dead.

The Falcons, who scored their first previous offensive touchdown in the opening quarter of the opening pre-season game against Washington, got a break when linebacker Al Richardson intercepted a Mike Pagan pass at the Atlanta 13-yard-line with barely eight minutes left to play, returning 110 to 7.

Browns 20, Raiders 17

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Brian Sipe tossed a first-half touchdown pass and a hard-pressed Cleveland defense hung on to a 17-point first half lead Friday night to lead the Browns to a 20-17 win over the Los Angeles Raiders in an exhibition game before 67,184 fans.

The Browns defense forced four Raiders turnovers and were credited with five sacks.

The Browns, under Sipe's generalship scored 20 points in

Bargain hunters aid rebound by market

By FRANK W. SLUSSER
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market stumbled at the outset but regained its balance with the aid of bargain hunters to score a modest gain Friday.

Trading was extremely slow. Autos, airlines and high-technology issues attracted some attention and defense issues recovered a bit from recent drubbings.

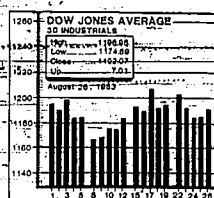

The Dow Jones industrial average, down more than 6 at the outset after gaining 0.81 Thursday, climbed 2.16 to 1,192.07. But it lost 2.14 for the week overall. The Dow-Jones transportation average gained 8.08 to 532.50 for the day to pace the market.

The New York Stock Exchange index rose 0.62 to 93.80 and the price of an average share increased 23 cents. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index jumped 1.30 to 162.14. Advances topped declines 882-626 among the 1,526 issues traded.

Big Board volume totaled only 61,600,000 shares, down from the 70,140,000 traded Thursday.

"This was just a bounce with some of the stocks that got clobbered earlier this week rebounding," said Hildegaard Zagorad of Prudential-Ruhe Securities.

Also, advances were helped by nervous professional traders replacing borrowed shares they had sold earlier. But the slow trading showed there weren't many buyers or sellers

Many investors stayed on the sidelines to await the Federal Reserve's post-market report that showed the nation's money supply decreased a smaller-than-expected amount in the latest reporting week.

The Fed also said its Open Market Committee voted in July to tighten credit but left open the possibility of easing the reins if the money supply growth declined.

There has been a growing conviction among observers that interest rates have peaked after a three-month runup. But there is no certainty the rates will decline in the near future.

Federal funds rate banks charge one another rose to 9 1/4 to 9 1/2 percent after falling to 9 1/4 percent Thursday. The Fed Thursday blunted speculation it had eased credit when it drained funds from the banking system to keep the key rates from falling more.

Composite volume of NYSE issues listed on all U.S. exchanges and over the counter totaled 73,047,650 shares compared with 81,714,930 traded Thursday.

The American Stock Exchange index added 0.68 to 227.17 and the price of a share rose five cents. Declines topped advances 252-286 among the 778 issues traded. Composite volume totaled 5,700,890 shares compared with 7,137,300 Thursday.

The National Association of Securities Dealers' index of OTC stocks gained 0.78 to 290.31.

On the trading floor, Chrysler was the most active NYSE-listed issue, up 2 1/2 to 26. Chrysler warrants gained 2 to 13 1/4. The automaker said it would file with the SEC for a $200 million bond to be sold on behalf of the government which guarantees loans to the company.

Among the other auto stocks, General Motors jumped 1 1/4 to 68 1/4 and Ford to 54 1/4. Ford's 5 1/2 percent convertible preferred stock rose 1 1/4 to 45 1/4. The Federal Communications Commission modified a 1975 consent order to allow Xerox to more easily advertise and promote new copying machines.

GM recalls patrol cars

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. announced Friday it is recalling about 19,000 Chevrolet and Buick police cars to repair accelerator problems.

Involved in the recall are 1980 Impala and Malibu models sold in California as well as 1981 LaSalle and 1981 through 1983 Impala and Malibu models sold elsewhere.

The automaker found that if the cars are operated repeatedly on full throttle, the accelerator linkage may bind and prevent the throttle from returning to idle.

Letters are being sent to police departments requesting that the cars be taken to local dealers for modification of the accelerator linkage. This will be done at no charge.

GM said it has received no reports of accidents or injuries due to the problem.

Franklin's conversion receives board's OK

PORTLAND, Ore. — Conversion of The Benj. Franklin Federal Savings and Loan Association to a federal stock association has been approved by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

Robert E. Downie, president, said the board gave its approval on Aug. 24. The conversion will be completed by mutual agreement.

Saver and borrower members of the association must approve the conversion by proxy or at a special meeting on Oct. 3, Downie said. The approval will be given by members of record on Aug. 15.

Rights to subscribe for shares of stock will first be granted to depositors as of Sept. 30, 1980, then to depositors as of June 30 this year and finally to members as of Aug. 14. Officers, directors and employees, along with residents of the company's service areas in Oregon, Washington,

Idaho and Utah will also have subscription rights.

Any shares of stock remaining after the offering are expected to be sold through a nationwide public offering.

Downie said the conversion will not affect rates or terms of loans or accounts. Deposits will continue to be insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. up to $100,000.
