Marines seize Grenadian military chief

By JANE BUSSEY
United Press International

ST. GEORGE'S, Grenada — U.S. Marines located and captured Gen. Hudson Austin, a hardline Marxist whose military council took power in a bloody coup that prompted the U.S.-led invasion of Grenada, the state-owned Caribbean Broadcasting Corp. said Sunday.

The government-owned Caribbean Broadcasting Corp. and the privately owned Voice of Barbados radio station said they received the report of Austin's capture from a ham radio operator in Barbados who intercepted a transmission from the military landing forces in Grenada.

In Washington, Pentagon spokesman Maj. Bob Shields said U.S. forces had captured a man claiming to be Austin.

"We have information that units from the 2nd Airborne Division during operations in Grenada have captured and detained an individual who claims he is Gen. Austin, fits the description of Gen. Austin and was carrying identification to that effect," Shields said.

Military spokesmen on Grenada, asked to verify Austin's arrest, referred reporters to the Pentagon statement and refused to give any further details.

No information was immediately available on Austin's current whereabouts or the fate of two hostages he was reportedly holding.

Austin was head of the hardline Marxist Revolutionary Military Council that toppled the government of Prime Minister Maurice Bishop, shot dead Oct. 19 in a bloody coup that led to the invasion last Tuesday by the U.S.-Caribbean task force.

Grenadian Deputy Prime Minister Bernard Coard, a militant Marxist suspected of engineering the coup, Coard's whereabouts were not known on Sunday.

The Pentagon raised the American death toll from the 6-day-old invasion to 16 dead, 3 missing and 77 wounded.

Joyful Grenadians — Sunday streamed from their houses offering food to U.S. troops on the island.

"Tell them Grenadians are happy, we want to thank the U.S. president, Congress doesn't understand, Grenadians are free," said Cary Williams, 40, a resident of St. Georges.

U.S. troops continued to encounter occasional sniper fire, much of it believed to be coming from Cubans fleeing north into the forested mountains that comprise much of Grenada's 133-square-mile surface.

U.S. officials estimated there were up to 750 Cubans on the island, but approximately 600 already have been captured, leaving up to 150 still at large.

"They're still shooting at us out there," said Maj. Mike Cox of Travis Air Force Base, Calif.

Cox warned American journalists not to stray from areas where U.S. military personnel could guarantee their safety — the capital, the Cuban-built airstrip at Point Salines and Pointe à Pitre airport on the northeastern tip of the island.

More U.S. dead home from Beirut

By ROBERT ENGLER

DOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Delaware (UPI) — The bodies of 15 more servicemen arrived from Beirut Sunday.

The first coffins of Marines killed in last week's suicide bombing were shipped to their homes across America for burial.

Col. Michael Lucci, of the Marine liaison team to the military mortuary at Dover, would not give other details about the seven Marines shipped home for burial. Other bodies will be shipped to their homes after they are prepared for burial at the largest military mortuary in the country.

An Air Force cargo jet carrying the bodies of 15 American servicemen arrived at 12:20 a.m. MST, bringing to 30 the number of bodies returned since the terrorist bombing last Sunday that killed more than 220 Americans at a Marine headquarters in Beirut.

The 30 servicemen — along with seven soldiers and one Marine killed in Grenada — were honored in ceremonies Saturday and Sunday.

"My brother was proud to be a Marine. Oh, he was proud of it," a tearful Karen Scenzick said of her brother, Lance Cpl. Richard Morrow, of Clairton, Pa., following Sunday's ceremonies for 22 fallen Americans.

It was unknown when the remains of all the Americans killed in Beirut will be returned to the United States for burial. Military officials would not say why the bodies were being returned only 15 at a time.

"As soon as the bodies are positively identified they are shipped out. There's no policy (for returning them in specific groups)," said a spokesman at the Main Air Force base in West Germany.

There are still 198 bodies to be identified, he said.

"When we first got here last Tuesday they told us we would be here three to seven days, then it was seven to 10 days. We might be here for a month before all the bodies arrive," said a member of the 12-Marine detachment assigned to unload the steel caskets from Air Force cargo jets.

Air Force Lt. James Sahil, Dover's deputy public affairs officer, said each incoming group of casualties will be honored at ceremonies similar to those held Saturday and Sunday.

The ceremonies have been emotional, with Marine and Army honor guards standing watch over the flag-draped coffins containing the dead Americans.

Perrine ordeal

Arrow shot leads to rescue after bid to cross under span fails

By HAL BERNTON
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A 38-year-old Twin Falls man was rescued Sunday morning from a precarious perch on a beam underneath the Perrine Bridge by the archery expertise of a rescue worker.

A tense five-hour ordeal for Bernard "Butch" Ryder ended at about 7:50 a.m. after Doug Cogswell, a Twin Falls County Search and Rescue Unit volunteer, managed to shoot an arrow attached to a fishing line around a bridge beam, about 490 feet above the Snake River.

With the aid of the fishing line, rescue workers were able to pull up a rope that Ryder used to slide down safely to a catwalk.

Ryder was escorted off the catwalk and taken into custody by the Twin Falls County sheriff's office. He has been charged with criminal trespassing.

The rescue effort was necessitated by Ryder's unsuccessful pre-dawn attempt to crawl across a narrow beam of conduit pipe that spans the beams underneath the bridge.

Ryder's decision to try and traverse the underside of the bridge was made at a Saturday night

Halloween party, according to Mike Anthony, a Twin Falls man who also was at the party.

"He started talking about going across the bridge," Anthony said Sunday. "We didn't want to go, so he came out here by himself."

Anthony said that he and a friend were contacted by Ryder's wife, Mary, and asked to go look for the bridge and spotted Ryder "halfway across the bridge, 'trotz' upon a beam."

At 2:55 a.m., as he returned to the parking lot on the south side of the bridge, he met with Twin Falls County sheriff's Deputy Steve Nutting, who was conducting a routine patrol of the bridge area.

Anthony stayed at the bridge as rescue workers from both Twin Falls and Jerome counties conferred at the scene.

After two lanes of traffic were blocked, a rescue team alighted through a manhole in the middle of the bridge and out onto the catwalk below the beam where Ryder was trapped.

The rescue team was composed of Twin Falls County Search and Rescue workers Jim Woods, Cogswell and Lee Helder, and Twin Falls County Sheriff's Deputy Keith Christensen.

At first, the rescuers tried unsuccessfully to toss a weighted rope up to Ryder from the catwalk.

The hours wore on and a pale, gray dawn began to break. Ryder remained perched atop the beam, as Anthony yelled encouragement from the catwalk below.

When the efforts to toss up a weighted rope proved futile, Cogswell decided to try using his bow and arrow.

After several attempts, Cogswell managed to shoot an arrow trailing a fishing line around a sturdy beam near Ryder's perch. A rope then was pulled around the beam, and a rescue worker prepared to scale a vertical beam to place Ryder in a sling.

But according to Anthony and several rescue officials, Ryder decided not to wait for the rescue worker to climb up to him. Instead, he made his way over to the rope and slid down its length to the catwalk.

Several minutes later, a chilled and pale-looking

Hunters straggle out of Idaho quake zone

By BRUCE BOTKA
United Press International

CHALLIS (UPI) — Groups of hunters reported missing following Idaho's killer earthquake straggled safely from remote areas Sunday.

They emerged from a rugged region where trees snapped, the earth cracked and rock slides formed a new lake.

The Cluster County sheriff's office said Sunday that a dozen hunters earlier reported missing emerged from a maze of winding trails and roads in the mountains near Challis, a town where two children died under falling debris.

Other hunters were still believed to be in the central Idaho region and ground parties were formed to search the trails again today, the sheriff's office said.

Officials had braced for a deluge of reports of missing people. But a game warden said hunters on horseback cleared many trails and roads of rocks hurled down by the earthquake and its aftershocks, allowing others to find their way out.

The quake caused an estimated $2.5 million damage in the sparsely populated county, which was declared a disaster area by Gov. John Evans.

Scientists continued to study the drastic alteration of the "underground plumbing" near the epicenter of the tremor. The shifting created a lake and tripled a small town's water supply in the Big Lost River Valley.

University of Utah scientists Sunday counted nine aftershocks severe enough to be felt. Seismologist Harley Benz said hundreds of additional "micro-earthquakes" struck the area. No new damage was reported.

Geologists set up monitoring stations and examined new topographical — features throughout the Big Lost River Valley, where the quake registered 6.9 on the Richter scale.

Spencer Hall, a Boise State University geologist, said the upheaval reconstructed the valley's natural water system.

"The underground plumbing in that whole region near the epicenter has been changed dramatically," Hall said.

On Chilly Butte, overlooking the west side of the wilderness valley, a lake has formed from spring water percolating to the top. The butte was dry, barren range before, Hall said.

Mount Borah, Idaho's highest peak at 12,567 feet, may be even taller because of the earth's shifting, and there is a 10-mile-long gash on the flanks of the mountain and its sister peaks in the Pahsimeroi range.

Orval Caskey, mayor of the quake-stricken town of Mackay, said the volume of water gushing from city wells tripled after the quake.

"These are all Western people," she said. "They're real people. When something like this happens, we'll clean up and rebuild the town. It's that simple."

C.W. Welch, a state fish and game warden, said authorities were investigating reports that as many as a dozen hunters had failed to return home on time and would be stranded by the quake in the wilderness.

Authorities will send deputies into isolated areas on horseback and mpy fly search planes over the vast, wooded region in hopes of spotting any hunters in trouble, Welch said.

"Until we can get back in there on horseback, we won't know what's going on," he said. "There is no way of knowing exactly how many people were back there."

Jackson says he'll go for it
NEW YORK (UPI) — The Rev. Jesse Jackson, followed for weeks by the chant of "Run, Jesse, Run," said Sunday he will seek the 1984 Democratic presidential nomination.

It was the first announcement by Jackson of his intention to make a presidential bid, although he has been acting and has been treated like a candidate, and repeatedly said it would be a good idea for a black to run.

Up to now, except for a "fact-finding" tour of Europe where he conferred with foreign officials like a bona fide presidential candidate, Jackson's travels and efforts have been directed to building a massive voter-registration movement among blacks.

Wounded Marines happy to be back but glad they went

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two Marines wounded in the U.S. invasion of Grenada returned to the United States Sunday and told a hospital news conference they are glad they went and happy to be home.

"If we didn't go other Americans (living in Grenada) may have been hurt," Lance Cpl. Keith Harter, 19, of West Unity, Ohio, said from his wheelchair.

"I hope to rejoin my unit but I just don't know," Harter told the news conference at Bethesda Naval Hospital as he looked down at his heavily bandaged left arm.

Officials said Harter suffered a fractured hand and lost a finger when shot by a sniper while on guard duty with five fellow Marines near an airport on the Caribbean island.

Minutes later, Capt. Tim Howard, 30, of Jacksonville, N.C., held his own news conference from a bed in a hospital corridor with a Purple Heart pinned to his chest and bright television lights shining in his eyes.

"I'm happy to be here," Howard said. His helicopter was shot down last week while he and other aircraft escorted ground troops across Grenada. Howard suffered a fractured right leg and his left forearm was amputated. But the six-year Marine veteran mentioned neither in talking about his days of war.

"When we flew over house tops the people waving flags," he said, his voice choked with emotion. "They were tickled pink to see us."

As eager newsmen crowded Howard's bed and microphones humped his wounds, the military abruptly halted his news conference and rolled his bed away.

Harter and Howard were among 16 American troops flown earlier in the day to Andrews Air Force Base, Md., from a naval station in Puerto Rico. They were among the 77 American servicemen that the Pentagon said of late Sunday had listed as wounded in the six-day invasion. The Pentagon said 10 others were killed and three were missing in action.

Two of the 10 flown to Andrews Sunday were airlifted by helicopter to Walter Reed Army Hospital, a military spokesman said. The remainder were taken by bus to either Walter Reed or the Bethesda facility.

Three of the injured are in the Navy. The rest are in the Army.

U.S. treating 59 wounded Cubans

HAVANA, Cuba (UPI) — The United States informed Cuba Sunday it is treating 59 Cubans wounded in fighting on the island of Grenada during the 6-day U.S.-led invasion.

A Cuban Foreign Ministry communiqué said John Ferch, head of the U.S. Interest Section in Havana, informed Cuba that the United States is coordinating the evacuation of the some 600 Cuban prisoners under the auspices of the International Committee of the Red Cross.

It was the first time an official figure for the number of wounded had been released by either side.

PUZLED???

Buying a home is really a process of weighing alternatives. Manufacture homes are now being recognized as that alternative means of shelter whose main difference over site built homes is the amount of construction done on the site.

Manufactured housing design incorporates all the luxuries such as step over kitchens with built-in appliances, sky lights, built-in buffets with loaded glass, stainless master bedroom suites with large walk-in closets, baths with elegant touches, laundry centers and much more. Yet, manufacturers are able to do it at a more reasonable price due to the efficiency of factory production process.

Education crisis now a portent of future

A crisis is defined as the point at which a change must come for better or worse. Today there is a crisis in education. And, as a result of this crisis, there is a crisis leading to the future of our nation.

As a whole, people are quick to criticize the educational system. They say there is a need for more math and science, and that "Johnny" can't read or write. People claim that standardized test scores in the United States are low in comparison to those of other nations.

And yet, when was the last time these people looked favorably on the educational system?

In all actuality, the United States graduates more of her students from high school than those of her rival nations and sends more of her graduates on to secondary education. Our competing world powers graduate their elite students. Those same elite students gain higher test scores than our students because we have such a large mixture of students taking the tests.

The crisis in education is not so much in the attitude to the students' performance, but in the attitude toward the teachers.

People may think that teachers don't deserve money if they don't earn it by giving the United States a highly learned nation. But, what teacher (or any professional) will work for no compensation? The teaching profession needs money, and a more positive attitude.

Before the crisis in education can be solved, it needs the support of every American individual. There seems to be more support for America's military, than there is for America's educational system. MX missiles will not dictate the future. The people running the missiles will.

Therefore, praise your teachers as much as you criticize them. Write your legislature and ask that more money be given to educational programs (and the teachers).

If the educational system, and the teachers, do not receive support, then the educational system suffers. And if the system suffers, the students, and the entire future of our nation, will only stand to lose.

This editorial by Paula Green, a senior at Twin Falls High School, won first place in the editorial writing category at the Idaho Journalism Advisors Association conference in Sun Valley.

Congress won't join in Ordinarily, we don't think U.S. government workers have much to complain about when it comes to pay. But if they want to squawk about the latest congressional effort to save money at their expense, they're probably entitled to a sympathetic ear.

It turns out that Congress slipped a bookkeeping change into last year's budget reconciliation bill which will result in about 1.4 million white collar workers getting a small pay cut.

These workers are employed at an annual salary. For payroll purposes, their salaries currently are divided into hourly rates based on a total of 2,080 hours per year. Congress decided that beginning Oct. 1, the workers' biweekly checks should be figured on the basis of 2,087 hours a year.

Presto! The hourly rates drop a tad and the workers come up with slightly smaller checks for their 80-hour stints every two weeks.

Gun situation is being handled right

Dabney is not a gun nut. He just hates people who don't love them as much as he does. He was feeling pretty good the other day.

"Did you see the story in the newspaper? The president is asking for major changes in the country's gun laws."

"You mean to make it harder to buy a gun?"

"No, stupid, to make it easier. The gun control act of 1968 was too tough on law-abiding citizens. He's backing a bill now in Congress which will make it possible for you to order a gun through the mail as well as from another state without any red tape."

"You mean I can buy one through the mail this Christmas?" I asked.

"Maybe not this Christmas. But surely by 1984. The bill is now backed by 52 senators and 120 House members. By election time we'll have the others all lined up."

"I can't wait for my gun catalogue," I said.

"Right now there's a slight kicker in the bill. If you order it by mail, the buyer and the seller have to meet face to face before you can make a deal."

"How can I do that, if I live in Washington D.C. and the dealer is in Dallas, Texas?"

"It won't be easy. That's why we're not fighting that part of the bill."

"How else will the law be changed?"

"The bill provides that no records have to be kept when a weapon is sold from one person to a party in another state. A lot of people were reluctant to buy handguns in the past because they were afraid the police would know they had one. Under the new law it will be nobody's business.

"And the law enforcement people won't be able to trace a firearm?" I asked.

"Not only that," said Dabney, "but the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms will need a search warrant before they will be allowed to look at a gun dealer's books."

"What a boon to the gun business in the United States," I said. "Almost anybody will be able to buy a gun now without Big Brother looking over his shoulder."

"The anti-gun lobby is trying to get an amendment attached to the bill that would require a waiting period for gun purchases to allow local police time to check out the buyer to see if he's got a criminal conviction or has a mental disorder. But our lobby will fight that one to the death. When a person wants a gun, he should get it as soon as he forks over his money."

"I should hope so. Someone could try and kill him while he's waiting to be cleared."

"Not only that, but the police would have his name in the computer forever. We don't want anybody in this country to know who has a gun. Look what happened in Poland."

"I forgot about Poland."

"Another good thing that could come out of this bill is that the administration wants to permit licensed dealers to sell their wares at gun shows. Now they can only display them."

"Gun show attendance should rocket."

"We're going to get the whole package through," Dabney said. "The president is really going to bat on this bill. It means as much to him as the MX missile."

"I know it's a good bill, but why is the president so emotionally involved?"

"Because when he ran for office he promised us prayers in school and a handgun under every pillow. He hasn't delivered on prayers in school, and if he doesn't deliver on changing the gun laws in this country he's going to lose the most powerful constituency in the United States."

"I hope you win the battle, Dabney," I said. "I'd love to get one for my wife's birthday. I can't tell you the times she's said she'd like to shoot me when I've done something that drives her up the wall."

Star high jumper sets her lofty goal

Six feet, four inches is taller than most people are, but senior Lisa Bernhagen is aspiring for at least that when she competes at the U.S. Olympic trials for the high jump in Knoxville, Tenn., next June.

"I'm not really expecting to make it, but I'm expecting to be there for the experience," she stated. "If she does make the team, she will be the first high school athlete to do so."

Bernhagen, who holds the national high school record in the high jump at 6 feet, 2 3/4 inches, said she is sometimes started at the height of her jumps.

"When I analyze it, I'm amazed," she stated. "The media exposure directed at her from around the nation, the state and her community has been at times astounding, but she claims it hasn't affected her."

Always an educational crisis

SUN VALLEY -- Director of Region IV Idaho Education Association Terry Gilbert gave a speech on the crisis in education to an audience of high school journalists at the IJA convention at the Sun Valley Inn on Sunday, Oct. 23.

Gilbert, 38, is the son of an upholsterer who graduated with honors and began teaching at Marsing High School in 1967.

"There has always been a crisis in education, but the crisis evolves mostly around the teaching profession," said Gilbert.

He referred constantly to quotes from a publication, "Our Nation at Risk" saying, "The American mind is deeply worried about the school system." He said, that the best way to raise the standard of education is to lobby for money.

"We put more money into bombs than babies," said Gilbert. Gilbert concluded by adding, "The three basic reforms to change the crisis in education are to set up national standards, make teachers the best trained and paid professionals in the country and to turn teaching back to the teachers."

"The tall brunette is also captain of the girls' volleyball team, and she swims and sports competitively. She added that sports takes up most of her time, but she also enjoys Spanish, math and working with computers."

Two-hour-a-day workouts are not uncommon for Bernhagen during the track season, when she also runs sprints, but her high jump workouts are two times per week for around a half hour. Bernhagen began high jumping during the eighth grade, and her "natural ability" took over from there.

She set her first state high jump record in her freshman year at 5 feet 6 inches and by last July she had topped that to her present national record to 6 feet, 2 3/4 inches.

The Wisconsin-born senior feels the possibility of representing the nation is "special," and she added that it does make her nervous at times.

"It's more intense. You feel more pressure," she stated about national competition as opposed to high school competition. "High school is more relaxed," she added.

Bernhagen likes the one-on-one competition of high jumping over the team competition of volleyball, and she stated, "I can motivate myself easier than I can motivate others," and she added, "I like intense competition."

Her training regimen consists of sprint work, and work on technique, which she really didn't begin until last year.

One and one-quarter inches separate Bernhagen from the Olympics, and five and one-half inches separate her from the world record of 6 feet, 8 3/4 inches, but those totals are a long ways from 6 feet, 4 inches.

Here's a Dakotan's view of Idaho in reply to Manning

Editor's note: Although the issue has hardly created much of a tremor here, recent cheap shots by columnist Dick Manning at the expense of the great state of North Dakota created quite a stir there. The following column was published in many North Dakota newspapers. We reprint it on the off chance our readers might find it interesting. Besides, it's a good excuse to not use Manning's column this week.

Ho-hum, another paranoid malcontent of dubious ancestry has taken a cheap shot at North Dakota.

We North Dakotans have grown accustomed to the drivel handed out by jealous out-of-state writers, this one being the 6,538th column penned by ignorant foreigners in an attempt to discredit our good fortune at living in God's Country.

The latest hatchet attempt comes from Dick Manning, news editor of a rag called The Times-News in Twin Falls, Idaho.

Dick Manning is not exactly a household word. Neither is Idaho. Neither is Twin Falls. All three rest in the obscurity they so richly deserve. Manning acquired his expertise on North Dakota by driving through our state on Interstate 94 which, I'm sure, qualifies as in-depth research for news editors such as Manning.

Here's what he says: "I will not rest until North Dakota has been turned into a penal colony, at risk of giving penal colonies a bad name."

Manning's strange and unnatural obsession with our state is the fitness of our terrain. It is apparent that he lies awake nights worrying about it and I wouldn't be surprised if the bites his nails and has developed a nervous twitch; don't think it would be out of order for me to suggest psychiatric help for him.

Manning writes: "The state is painfully, criminally, depressingly and invariably flat. You can cross its western border, gaze to the east and clearly see the opposite border some 350 miles distant.

"I am told that long distance telephone service was slow in developing in North Dakota simply because it was not needed. If someone in Bismarck wanted to get a message to someone in Fargo, he would simply wave at him. This system of sign language was an added advantage because most North Dakotans do not know how to speak."

Manning acknowledges that our vast expanse is broken by lush vegetation arching to the sky, "but the bad news is the vegetation is wheat. The unimproved might think that such a barren, barren land would produce a boring people. The unimproved would be right on the money."

Manning vents his odious spleen further, but you've heard enough. The lad is obviously a real fruitcake.

I don't intend to get into a battle of wits with Manning because it wouldn't be fair to attack an unarmed man.

Perhaps Manning should be forgiven for his provincialism. After all, he lives in Idaho where people rarely see other people because of the mountains. When he emerged from his Rip Van Winkle existence, the Outside World must have, indeed, seemed strange to him.

See, unlike Manning's quickie crossing of our state, I once spent four weeks in Idaho, an interminable sentence that made strong young men crack. It was at an Idaho penal colony called Camp Farragut, a U.S. Navy boot camp. Boot camp training was a breeze, but the Navy figured, and correctly, that any man who could survive the horror of living in Idaho for four weeks was ready for instant combat.

I did stumble onto some people who actually lived in Idaho, but they were uncommunicative and they mumbled a lot—probably because they all had a potato in their mouths. They had a palor because Idahoans see the sun only one hour a day before it sinks behind a mountain. This certainly explains why Manning is so much in the dark.

Some of the Idahoans would come timidly to our barracks so they could see the indoor plumbing.

Some of you folks aren't sure where Idaho is, it's the dark state you drive through on your way to the coast. There is no record of any traveler having ever stopped there.

Idaho's main industry is growing potatoes although they are pulpy and tasteless and not in a class with our Red River Valley potatoes.

The state bird of Idaho is the potato bug and the University of Idaho is located in Moscow, where as much information is disseminated as in that other Moscow. (I understand that some vandal colored in the University's book.)

Twin Falls, where Manning writes with his quill, is a hamlet in the south of Idaho. I remember Twin Falls used to have a good public transportation system until the sled dog died.

Well, maybe some of you readers would like to send Dick Manning a copy of this column. Just mail it to The Times-News in Twin Falls, Idaho. I don't think Twin Falls has a ZIP code. Neither does Idaho.

Still, that might be a waste of postage. Who's gonna read it to him?

Few at Kennedy event

DALLAS (UPI) — Sponsors of a Nov. 22 memorial for former President John F. Kennedy apparently are having trouble garnering widespread interest in the event that will mark the 20th anniversary of his assassination.

Dallas County Democrats, however, said the event will be a success, despite a few national dignitaries confirming that they will attend.

Kennedy's wife, Jacqueline Onassis; his brother, Sen. Edward Kennedy; and Pope John Paul II.

As of last week, Reagan had not responded. Bush, Connally, Mrs. Onassis, Sen. Kennedy and the Pope had declined. No cabinet members had accepted, only a handful of congressmen had agreed to attend.

Democratic presidential candidates Walter Mondale, John Glenn and Reubin Askew have expressed interest in attending, but neither had confirmed.

Among those invited were President Ronald Reagan; Vice President George Bush; the entire Congress; members of Kennedy's cabinet; former Texas Gov. John Connally; "Who comes and who doesn't come doesn't have anything to do with the success of the event," said Bob Greenberg, chairman of the Dallas County Democratic Party.

'Miss Lillian' dies of cancer

AMERICUS, Ga. (UPI) — Lillian Carter, the beloved "Miss Lillian" and matriarch of a peanut-growing family who inspired a son to become president of the United States, died of cancer Sunday. She was 85.

LILLIAN CARTER Dies at age 85

Former President Jimmy Carter and other family members were at her side when she died at the Americus-Sumter County Hospital.

Mrs. Carter had been in declining health for several months, suffering from cancer. She had undergone a recent mastectomy and recently spent some time in the Emory University Hospital in Atlanta.

The former president, his wife Rosalyn, and Mrs. Carter's other children — Billy Carter of Waycross, Ga., and Gloria Spann of Plains, Ga. — had visited Mrs. Carter often during the week before her death.

Besides her children, Mrs. Carter is survived by 15 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

A spokesman for the former president said in Atlanta Sunday that Carter had issued no statement about the death of his mother.

Mrs. Carter had entered the hospital Tuesday, according to James R. Griffith, administrator of Carter died, the former president "obviously was very tired. He had had a long night and a long day. Obviously, the former president and his mother were very close."

One of Mrs. Carter's children, Kullb Carter Stapleton of Fayetteville, N.C., died earlier this fall of cancer.

A graveside service will be at 3 p.m. Tuesday at Lebanon Cemetery in Plains. The Rev. Fred Collins of Plains will officiate at the service. Hancock Funeral Home of Americus is in charge of the service.

Grandchildren Jack Carter, Chip Carter, Jeff Carter, Buddy Scott-Stapleton and Michael Stapleton will serve as pallbearers at the funeral. "I am a small-town person," the white-haired Mrs. Carter said after the defeat of her son in the 1980 presidential election. "I keep the home fires burning. This is where I am happiest. And this is where I find peace — peace of mind and peace of body."

Mrs. Carter was considered to have liberal leanings by some residents in the area of her home town of Plains because of her concern for the welfare of non-white minorities.

Clark hints at possible policy changes

WILLIAM CLARK Hearing starts Tuesday

By ROBERT SANGEORGE United Press International

WASHINGTON — William Clark, who faces Senate confirmation hearings this week, is dropping well-placed hints that he may change some of the controversial environmental policies pursued by Interior Secretary James Watt.

Clark, President Reagan's choice to succeed Watt, must spend the next three days this week testifying before the Senate Energy Committee.

The panel, headed by Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, begins hearings Tuesday, and Clark's confirmation by the Republican-controlled Senate is expected.

Watt, who resigned under fire Oct. 2 for one too many coups, will step down upon Clark's confirmation.

Besides getting a cram-course in policy issues facing the department, Clark has spent the past two weeks opening lines of communication to national environmental groups — communications the often-acerbic Watt never had.

Clark, a longtime Reagan confidant, was the president's national security adviser. Before that he was deputy secretary of state and a California Supreme Court justice.

He has come under fire for a lack of experience for the interior post, but had virtually no foreign policy background before his appointment to the State Department.

Clark held at least three private meetings with top officials of several groups that battled virtually every one of Watt's pro-development programs. The sessions were described as "cordial" — even by those who have declared their opposition to his confirmation.

But more tantalizing for environmentalists were private statements from the former national security adviser to the president that there may be some changes in policy and personnel at the interior Department.

The comment that most startled conservation officials was Clark's expression of discomfort with the many lawsuits pending against the department and his wish to settle as many as possible out of court.

At a meeting this past Tuesday with Sierra Club officials, Clark indicated the administrative team assembled by Watt may not be as firmly entrenched as Reagan administration critics had assumed.

Sierra Club Executive Director Michael McCloskey said Clark told them, "Burford and Arnett don't have responsibility for the department."

McCloskey said Clark also sought to convey the impression he is not necessarily "wedded to the past."

Debt ceiling before Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has until midnight tonight to raise the nation's national debt ceiling to $1.45 trillion, with failure to act meaning the government will not have enough money to pay its debts.

Risking a certain filibuster, the Senate this week also tackles highly controversial natural-gas deregulation.

The debt ceiling and gas measures are on a long list of bills that must pass Congress before adjournment. A top priority is confirmation of William Clark as Secretary of Interior with Senate hearings scheduled to begin Tuesday.

With only three weeks left before the Nov. 18 target date, the Senate and House still face a bar-klog of bills with concerns cropping up that the day of departure could be delayed.

The House plans to finish action on its $247 billion defense appropriations bill with votes on multi-year contracts for B1 bombers and a series of amendment-to-cut-or-kill-money-for-the first 21 MX intercontinental MX missiles.

The House also plans to vote, probably Tuesday, on invoking the War Powers Act for the Grenada operation. A tax measure, designed to raise about $10 billion in revenues, also may get consideration.

The Senate held an unusual Saturday session in an attempt to finish work on the debt ceiling bill. Some bitter arguments characterized debate as some senators attempted to attach unrelated amendments.

The Senate needs to raise the Treasury Department's borrowing authority from $1.389 trillion to $1.45 trillion just to get the government through January.

The decision came despite a warning from Sen. Howard Mitzmanbaum, D-Ohio, that he would "use every tool at my disposal to defeat this bill" and marked a sharp change in Baker's policy of avoiding bills in the final weeks of a session which, face a filibuster.

Rains blind ship hunters

PRKING (UPI) — Blinded by heavy rains, rescuers Sunday searched fruitlessly for survivors from the U.S. oil drilling ship Glomar Java Sea, missing for five days in the stormy South China Sea.

A spokesman for the Western Pacific Search and Rescue Center in Okinawa said Chinese ships failed to find a life raft spotted Saturday by U.S. search planes.

The search also failed to turn up any traces of what were believed to have been two or three bodies seen floating in the water Saturday by a U.S. Navy plane. In one instance, what was first believed to have been a body turned out to be a tree trunk, one official said.

Pope beatifies 3 clergymen

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John Paul II beatified three clergymen from three different centuries Sunday, including the first Romanian ever elevated to the church's highest rank of sainthood.

The pope presided at a two-hour mass before 30,000 people in St. Peter's Square for the beatification of 17th century Romanian friar Giuseppe da Valchiria, 18th century Sicilian Giuseppe Cusmano and 20th century Basque priest Domingo Irujate Zubero.

Romanian and Basque flags flew in the square under an intermittent drizzle during the beatification mass, which the pope consecrated with Irujate's brother Rev. Ignatio Irujate Zubero.

The beatification of a person with close relatives still alive is rare and church officials said Irujate, who died in 1927, was one of a small number to be beatified so soon after death.

Prosecutor seeks videotapes

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The Philippines could be the next Grenada, drawing American troops into an impossible political quagmire, warned a longtime opponent of President Ferdinand Marcos.

"The assassination of Benigno Aquino has awakened the silent majority — the moderates," Charlie Finas told reporters Saturday. "If the army does not give into the people's demands for free elections, there will be no stopping a civil war."

"It is a good possibility the U.S., which already has 15,000 troops in the Philippines, will become involved — either against the rebels or against the army, backing a moderate," she said.

Philippines could be next

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — The prosecutor investigating the murder of opposition leader Benigno Aquino said Sunday he will summon airport officials to determine if videotapes exist of the Aug. 21 killing.

Prosecutor Andres Narvasa told UPI he was looking into reports that military agents using a secret, closed-circuit television system may have videotaped the assassination of President Ferdinand Marcos' chief political rival.

Narvasa said he would issue subpoenas to Brig. Gen. Luther Custodio, suspended chief of the Aviation Security Command, Manila International Airport Manager Louie Tabuena and "whoever was the operator of that closed-circuit television at that time."

UPI has learned that cameras were installed above the tarmac at Gate No. 8, where Aquino was shot moments after he was led by security men from the China Airlines plane that brought him home after three years of voluntary exile in the United States.

Nicaragua fears invasion by U.S.

By FREDERICK KIEL
United Press-International

A top Nicaraguan leader warned Sunday the United States may be planning to use its Central American allies as part of a multinational three-wave invasion of Nicaragua.

"All the signs, all the military intelligence reports we have and all the recent events indicate that there is an aggression of great scale coming against Nicaragua," said Commander Victor Tirado, one of nine directors of the ruling Marxist-Sandinista Front.

"Perhaps in the first moments soldiers of the United States armed forces will not intervene," said Tirado in a speech reported in the official newspaper Barricada.

He said he believed anti-government rebels would compose the first wave of a coordinated attack on Nicaragua.

The Nicaraguan regime has charged often that it believes the incident that would trigger a Central American war.

The next wave would be composed of military forces from Guatemala, El Salvador and Honduras, which would be used to "spearhead" an invasion, Tirado said.

The three Central American nations to the north of Nicaragua are all closely allied to the United States.

On Oct. 1 in Guatemala, their defense chiefs revivified the Central American Defense Council, known as CONDECA, which they said would be used to defend their countries from what they said was subversion coming from "communist Nicaragua."

Nicaragua charged that CONDECA met secretly in Honduras this week to plan an invasion.

Guerrillas capture village

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Guerrillas seized a town just north of San Salvador Sunday after a 10-hour attack launched at midnight, killing at least 10 soldiers and wounding 30 others, military officials said.

The rebels also ambushed a relief column sent to help the town defenders, forcing it to retreat, officials said. There was no immediate word on casualties in the ambush.

Bishop Gregorio Rosa Chavez of San Salvador, meanwhile, attacked the U.S. invasion of Grenada in his

Sunday homily, calling it "detestable."

The guerrillas attacked from midnight into the morning, the military said in a preliminary communique on the fight for Tejutepaque in Sensuntepeque province, 35 miles north of San Salvador.

Troops in the region fought well, with combat going on for at least 10 hours, before the town fell, military officials said.

The Salvadoran air force launched war jets that attacked suspected rebel positions around Tejutepaque.

Argentines jam polls to cast ballots

Argentina's president, Gen. Reynaldo Bignone, casts ballot

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) -- Millions of Argentines voted for the first time in 10 years Sunday in elections aimed at returning Argentina to civilian rule.

The party of the late Juan Peron trailed in early returns. With 4 percent of the votes tallied, the center-left Radical Civic Union party had garnered 416,420 votes compared to only 257,064 for its nearest competitor, the historically dominant, labor-oriented Peronist party.

As the official results were being announced, some 2,000 Radical party supporters holding an early victory celebration at the Plaza of the Republic in downtown Buenos Aires clashed with Peronist party supporters.

One person suffered facial injuries and was seen to be driven away in an ambulance.

In addition to hotly contested presidential and vice presidential races, 46 senate seats, 254 seats in the chamber of deputies and more than 14,000 nationwide posts at the provincial and city levels were also up for grabs.

Nearly 70,000 polling places -- from the tropical river-side settlements of northern Argentina to the isolated military bases in the Antarctic -- were opened for voters aged 18 to 70 who were required by law to vote or be fined up to $38.50.

Officials said most of the nation's 17.9 million voters cast their ballots. At several voting places, relatives of some of the 6,000 people who vanished after being kidnapped by government security squads during the anti-leftist repression of the 1970's, tried to explain why their children would not be voting.

The military government has said the missing people should be "considered dead," but their names appeared on voter registration records anyhow.

U.S. team abandons climb

KATMANDU, Nepal (UPI) -- Inclement weather forced a Colorado team to abandon its attempt to make the first American conquest of Mount Ganesh Himal IV, bringing a dismal close to the U.S. climbing campaign in Nepal this autumn, the Ministry of Tourism said Sunday.

The 74-member expedition from Colorado Springs, which on Oct. 21 abandoned its bid to be the first American team to conquer the 23,268-foot mountain through the southeast ridge, was the last of the four American expeditions to report failure.

The expedition abandoned its climb of Ganesh Himal IV because of "bad weather and a very difficult climbing route" after reaching a high point of 20,660 feet on the central Nepal peak, the ministry said. Only French and Japanese climbers have scaled the peak so far.

W. German protesters break into U.S. base

HEILBRONN, West Germany (UPI) -- Demonstrators carrying banners saying "American go home" broke into a U.S. artillery base Sunday during a four-day protest against cruise and Pershing-2 missile deployment in West Germany.

Police said 15 demonstrators climbed over barbed wire fences surrounding the U.S. Army's Waldheim artillery base at Heilbronn near Stuttgart, while the base was being blockaded by 150 protesters.

They said police at the scene persuaded the protesters to leave the base shortly after they broke in and no arrests were made. Police said the protesters planned to continue their blockade until Tuesday.

At nearby Neckars Ulm north of Heilbronn, police said about 100 protesters blocked off the entrances to the headquarters of the U.S. Army's 84th Field Artillery but agreed to clear one of the entrances after police intervention.

In Friedberg north of Frankfurt, police said more than 150 demonstrators continued their blockade of entrances of the U.S. Army's Ray Barracks for the second day. Authorities said no arrests were made at any of Sunday's demonstrations.

Police said an estimated 400 anti-missile protesters maintained an "hour of silence against rearmament madness" Sunday at celebrations in the city of Worms to mark the 500th anniversary of the Protestant reformer Martin Luther.

A police spokesman said the protest was peaceful and passed without incident.

BEN'S WIT

Footnotes in some U.S. history books indicate one reason Benjamin Franklin was not commissioned to write the Declaration of Independence: His subtle sense of humor was well known. The Declaration was a serious matter. Wouldn't do to conceal a joke in any line of it.

San Antonio's Dennis Gittinger says he so hates trite phrases, he'd give an arm and a leg to stamp them out. He rewrites: "You pays your money and takes your change." That text: it's an exercise in fertility. "Cleanliness is next to impossible."

Daily Horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Except for the very early morning, which is best for thinking out long-range plans, you will find that you would be wise to organize your time and efforts for more effective results.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study every phase of your work and then plan just how best to handle it and without less of time or energy.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Do whatever will make you more charming and then you can impress others more favorably. Resist stubborn impulses.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Begin the weak wisely by doing those errands you promised your family you would handle. Do some much-needed exercises.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Refill the larder early and then get busy with correspondence and other communications which have been neglected.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Analyze well whatever has to do with finances and real estate, and then put them aside for a while. Socialize with friends tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have a feeling of discontent now that can be relieved by improving conditions around you. Concentrate on your home.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You feel bored with all the small tasks you have to handle, so change your attitude and they're soon done.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may go after some personal goal too obviously and forcefully and could lose out, so use more tact.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) This is not a good day to approach bigwigs for backing or other favors you may want, so await a more propitious time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Find better ways of expanding and be sure you have the right facts concerning them, and that everything is on the up-and-up.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Good day to put aside day-dreaming and get into practical affairs so you have a greater income for your needs.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Much conversation with other persons will not get you the results you want today, so try more practical methods.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he or she will be one of those fascinating young persons who can easily fix their eyes on others fall and should have the education slanted along trouble shooting lines for that reason. A career in diplomacy is indicated here.

Halloween: Old tricks back

By MARIE COVIN
United Press International

Safety warnings were issued for trick-or-treaters in a resurgence of Halloween forging from last year's slump caused by product tampering.

Costumed revelers walked dark to haunt the streets of New York's Greenwich Village and the nation's capital.

Parents last year kept children home and entire communities canceled trick-or-treating after seven Chicago area residents died from ingesting cyanide-laced Tylenol capsules. The cases were never solved.

Safety measures were on the minds of many this year.

The candy industry came up with new, "tamper-evident" wrappers and spent $400,000 on public service announcements and brochures offering safety tips.

Last year, there was a tremendous, gigantic, nationwide scare triggered by the Tylenol tragedy," said James Boyle, whose public relations firm represents the National Confectioners Association, the National Candy Wholesalers Association and the Chocolate Manufacturers Association. "This year, things seem to be quieting down and we're hopeful of better times."

The industry set up a toll-free telephone hotline for 14,000 police departments nationwide, manned by industry members to discuss reported cases of tampering.

In cities around the nation, hospitals planned to offer free X-rays for treats in food hidden razor blades, safety pins or other harmful objects. Parents were warned to inspect treats even if X-rays turned up no metallic dangers.

Others suggested giving children items such as comic books, rubber spiders, coupons for discounts at fast-food restaurants and coins.

There were other dangers for trick-or-treaters: Jason Haller, a 5-year-old from Blirbort, Pa., was struck and killed by a car Saturday night while on an early sweets foray with his brother. The driver of the car, Richard Reynolds, 48, of Blirbort, refused to take a breathalyzer test and was expected to be charged, police said.

In New York City, organizers of the 10th annual Halloween parade expected more than 150,000 costumed marchers and spectators at tonight's extravaganza, the nation's largest Halloween observance, which includes 16-foot puppet characters, 10 marching bands, jugglers, mime and still-walkers. A giant black spider traditionally scales the Jefferson Market Library tower.

"The Village Halloween Parade brings playfulness and music back into the streets of the city," said Ralph Lee, who originated the event in 1973. "It helps us urban dwellers find our sanity."

After the parade, an unofficial annual costume parade on Christopher Street, center of the city's gay community, glitters and sinks into the early morning hours.

In the Georgetown section of Washington D.C., police planned to block off roads to traffic to protect revelers emerging for a second night of the bar-hopping and ghoulish-watching street walk that has become an annual tradition. The celebration peaks Monday.

"We are expecting large crowds there again tonight and are sending a full detail out there," police spokesman Mark Mehlman said Sunday. "It was a three-day thing last year too."

In Kentucky, all infants born Oct. 31 at the Methodist Evangelical Hospital in Louisville get treats for being "born on Halloween" — bright orange pumpkin pillows.

Not all around the nation were pleased by the fun-oriented Halloween.

One religious group claims that Halloween has become "anti-Christian" and scheduled an alternative "All Saints Eve" party Monday night. The Concord Missionary Baptist Church in Dallas, Texas, invited children to see films and play Bible games. Street clothes or biblical characters were acceptable; scary costumes were discouraged.

Fletcher cast as another tough nurse

By JOAN HANAUER
United Press International

STRONG WOMAN

Louise Fletcher, who won an Academy Award as best actress in 1976 for her portrayal of Nurse Ratched in "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," plays another outspoken, tough female professional in the new movie "Brainstorm." Did Nurse Ratched typecast her as a hard-bitten woman? "I was afraid of that at first — you know, the first couple of years after the movie," she told UPI Radio. "But, in fact, I don't feel typecast. I just tend to play strong women."

REWARD RENEWED

Bill Adler and Thomas Chastain are planning a sequel to their best-selling mystery novel, "Who Killed the Robins Family?" That's the book that doesn't name the reader but offers a $10,000 reward to the reader with the best solution to who killed the eight Robins. The authors said their publisher, Morrow, will offer an even larger reward for the reader with the best solution to the upcoming "Revenge of the Robins Family" — $10,001.

FAMOUS AMOS

Wally "Famous" Amos, the man behind those chocolate chip cookies, has written his autobiography, "The Famous Amos Story: The Face That Launched a Thousand Chips." As the first black agent at the William Morris agency, he was involved in the careers of such well-known entertainers as Simon and Garfunkel, Diana Ross & The Supremes and Marvin Gaye. He started in the cookie business with a small shop in Los Angeles which has grown into a world-wide cookie corporation.

LEMMON TO EWAY

Jack Lemmon will return to Broadway next spring in Ernst

Thompson's "A Sense of Humor," also starring Estelle Parsons, Polly Holliday and Clifton James. The play by Thompson, who wrote the screen adaptation of "On Golden Pond," is a love story about two people who come together through loss. It will play Denver, Los Angeles and San Francisco before opening in New York on March 29.

MUSIC MAN

Henry Jerome, the former bandleader who is now a record producer, remembers when Alan Greenspan, one of the nation's leading economists, played tenor sax and clarinet in his band in the 1940s. "He also did the books and never made any mistakes," Jerome said. Jerome recently finished producing a record for Page Morton Black, who does the Chuck full of Nuts coffee jingle.

Pumpkin greets returning Reagan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan got some seasonal political encouragement Sunday on his return to the White House.

He found a pumpkin carved with the slogan, "Four more in '84."

Reagan, who has not yet announced he will seek re-election next year, found the pumpkin on a table near the White House door when he arrived at the executive mansion after a weekend at Camp David.

On their day, dogs bark away as medals come their way

MIAMI (UPI) — In a solemn ceremony all but drowned out by barking, three heroic canines were inducted into the Animal-Hall-of-Fame-for-rescuing their masters from a house fire and an armed attacker.

Ben, a 3-year-old Samoyed, trotted down a red carpet Saturday in front of Haleah City Hall to collect his medal. Thorn, a 4-year-old Doberman, bypassed the stroll and leaped directly onto the stage. The dogs were honored for rescuing Lonnie Pollard and his son Robert when an early morning fire broke out in their home in July.

Pollard, 65, could not attend. He is in Palmetto General Hospital, recovering from a broken hip and leg received later when he tripped over Thorn. A fire department honor guard in dress blues stood at attention while Raini Sequoya placed the medals around the dogs' necks. Sequoya is the founder of Animal Rights, Inc., which sponsored the ceremony jointly with the Haleah Fire Department.

"We give tribute to these canines, Muffin, Ben and Thorn," Sequoya said. "Through their devotion and love for man they risked their lives to save others from danger."

The third dog, a 4-year-old male German shepherd named Muffin, subdued the event. His medal was accepted by One-Loeka Mayor Helen Miller, who agreed to pass it along to Muffin and his owner. Muffin was shot twice when he attacked a gunman who demanded his mistress' purse.

But it was a previous award winner, a noisy mutt named Fred, who stole the show. Fred was inducted into Animal Rights' hall of fame last year when he saved Aubrey Sanders and her eight children from a house fire. It was Fred's barking that awoke the sleeping family in time to escape the flames.

Fred did not take kindly to the other dogs. He had to be dragged off to one side and restrained from going for their throats.

Felix the Cat creator dies at age of 91

FORT LEE, N.J. (UPI) — Otto Messner, the cartoonist and film animator whose "Felix the Cat" character was featured in more than 300 short films in the 1920s and 30s, died of a heart attack Friday. He was 91.

Messner, who was born in Union City, began his career in 1915 at the Universal Film Company in Fort Lee, the pre-Hollywood center of the infant movie industry. He worked as a scenery painter until his talent caught the eye of studio executives.

He created Felix the Cat in 1919 at the request of the studio. Hundreds of silent, animated shorts carried the feisty, clever feline around the world, spawning fan clubs and stuffed toys.

Messner, who never owned the rights to the character, stopped making Felix films in 1930, but the character was revived in a television cartoon series in the 1950s. Independently of Messner or Universal Studios.

After Felix, Messner worked as an animator and a print cartoonist, at one time reviving the cartoon for newspapers. He also worked on some of the "Little Lulu" films.

He was honored at the age of 83 when the Whitney Museum of American Art in Manhattan presented a retrospective of his work. Messner lived in Fort Lee until the time of his death at Holy Name Hospital in Teaneck. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, both of New Jersey, and several grandchildren. Services are scheduled for Monday in Cliffside Park, N.J.

DONALD RUMSFELD
May get Mideast job

Rumsfeld choice as envoy?

By NORMAN D. SANDLER
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan is expected to name a new special envoy to the Middle East this week, with speculation centered on former Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld.

Administration officials said Sunday Rumsfeld, 51, president of G.D. Searle & Co., a Chicago drug manufacturer, "discussed" the job in Washington last week with Secretary of State George Shultz and Robert McFarlane, now White House national security adviser, who last held the position.

A decision, the officials said, is expected in the next few days. "Reagan began the search for a new special envoy after elevating McFarlane to the White House post vacated by William Clark. Reagan also is looking to replace Richard Fairbanks as his No. 2 envoy, the officials said.

"Fairbanks wants out," said one official. "He's had enough."

Rumsfeld, a political moderate who held several top domestic and foreign policy posts in the Nixon and Ford administrations, was said by the officials to have the best qualifications for the job as Reagan's Middle East mediator.

"What they're looking for is someone like Rumsfeld who has experience but is not necessarily a career diplomat — someone who can work politically with all the parties," said one official familiar with the search process.

White House officials have described Reagan as anxious to find a successor to McFarlane to ensure there is no lull in diplomatic efforts toward peace in Lebanon in the tragic aftermath of last Sunday's terrorist bombing that killed at least 230 American servicemen.

One administration official said, however, "it's hard to get people like Rumsfeld to agree to such temporary disruptions of their professional and personal lives."

Rumsfeld began his political career as a congressman from suburban Chicago.

Kirkpatrick says she's 'not bitter'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.N. Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick said Sunday recent press accounts depicting her as critical of Secretary of State George Shultz and desirous of a bigger job have been "really hopelessly distorted."

Appearing on NBC's "Meet the Press," Mrs. Kirkpatrick refused to say if she would stay at the United Nations through President Reagan's current term.

"I'm not giving the long-range planning here," she said.

Asked if she is preparing to leave the U.N. assignment, she said, "I'm not preparing anything."

A Washington Post story last Sunday portrayed her as bitter at being passed over for the position as Reagan's national security adviser, and attributed to her a caustic assessment of Shultz as providing "weak and rudderless leadership" as secretary of state.

In response, Mrs. Kirkpatrick said, "I would like to say that about 90 percent of what's been published about me and the secretary of state, or any other figure in our government, or any other post in our government, in the past two weeks has been really hopelessly distorted."

She said she is "not at all" bitter, and added: "This was... a media event that I still don't understand... I don't understand the script of it. I don't understand who pushed it... I consider it behind me."

Warning: Living in Idaho may be 'harmful'

By RICK SHAUGHNESSY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — If you're an Idahoan because the pace of life in this state seems relaxing, researchers at the University of New Hampshire might recommend an alternative.

Of course, you might come to same conclusion, too, after last week's earthquake.

Two professors at the school's Family Research Laboratory have devised a "stress index," that measures 15 factors they believe contribute to, or are evidence of, the level of stress experienced by residents of individual states.

And in the final analysis of their study, Idaho came in as the 18th most-stressful among the 50 states and the District of Columbia.

But before you take off to Alaska or Nevada to escape, you had better consult the study. Those two states ranked first and second in the stress test, with several other Western states not far behind.

Using data from 1976, the researchers — sociologists Murray Straus and Arnold Linsky — gathered data for the states on five economic factors, five family-related factors and five miscellaneous factors. They then combined the results into a single rating. The year chosen for the data may have tilted the results for Idaho because it coincides with the Teton Dam failure. Idaho ranked first among states in 1976 in the category "disaster assistance per capita."

The state also had high-stress rankings for personal bankruptcies per capita, seventh among the states; interstate immigration per capita, seventh; and new houses per capita, ninth.

Idaho also ranked above the national median for divorcees, 11th; business failure rates, 16th; and new unemployment claims, 19th.

Idaho earned low-stress rankings in several areas, including: fetal deaths per capita, 49th; abortions per capita, 46th; and mortgage foreclosures, 44th. Straus says the fact that Idaho rates high in personal bankruptcies and low in mortgage foreclosures is unusual.

"They usually go together. I don't have any idea why they don't in this case."

Straus says the Northwest ranked as the most stressful region among the nine national geographic areas recognized by the U.S. Bureau of the Census. South Atlantic states comprised the next most-stressful region, followed by the other Rocky Mountain states, he says.

The states that earned the lowest stress rankings in the study were Nebraska, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

Other states neighboring Idaho had their positions on the stress scale as were: Washington, fourth; Oregon, fifth; Utah, 44th;

Wyoming, 39th; and Montana, 42nd.

Other factors weighed by the study, and Idaho's rank, were: workers' strikes, 29th; illegitimate births, 36th; infant death, 40th; new welfare cases, 38th; and high-school dropouts, 37th.

Nevada's ranking as the most stressful state resulted in part from its first-place showing among the states in the categories of personal bankruptcies, new houses and divorcees. Straus noted that in the divorce category, Nevada's high rate occurred after the divorcees in Nevada for residents of other states were excluded.

Nevada ranked second for interstate immigrants, fifth for mortgage foreclosures and ninth for abortions in the study.

Prosecutor's office wants to overturn prisoner's release

Judge Meehl's decision brings challenge

BY PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County prosecutor's office wants to stop the release from prison of a mentally retarded man convicted of beating a woman with a pipe last winter.

In addition, Twin Falls County deputy prosecutor Dennis Voorhees is seeking the disqualification of Fifth District Judge Daniel Meehl, who signed an order last week that would release 35-year-old John Howard Johnson to a shelter home in Nampa.

Voorhees says he filed a request Friday with the court to stop Johnson's release. The deputy prosecutor says the release would pose a "grave and immediate danger to society posed by this brutal assailant."

He says "there is inadequate evidence to justify the release of 'this very violent offender.'"

Meehl said Sunday that he had not seen any of the motions filed by Voorhees. And he said he would not comment until he has had time to study the material.

Meehl will hear Voorhees' motions this afternoon in court.

Johnson is in the state prison, where he was sentenced to spend five years by Meehl for an aggravated battery conviction.

In February, Johnson attacked Constance Roberts of Twin Falls. According to the affidavit filed by Voorhees, Johnson had asked Roberts to clean a house, then "bludgeoned" and sexually molested the woman, who required medical treatment for her injuries.

Johnson pleaded guilty to the battery charges.

At the sentencing in July, defense attorney Mike Powers argued that Johnson would be victimized in prison.

In August, Greg Fuller, who took over as defense attorney, asked for a reconsideration of Johnson's sentence.

During a hearing held later that month, a psychologist testified that he could not guarantee that Johnson would not attack anyone again, Voorhees' affidavit states. Also, the manager of the Nampa shelter home said there would be no constant

"gigli" on Johnson should he be admitted.

The matter was taken under consideration.

In a letter dated Oct. 20, Meehl wrote to Voorhees and Fuller, stating he would grant the reconsideration motion, suspend the remainder of Johnson's sentence and release him on probation, to the supervised care of the shelter home.

In the letter, which Voorhees has submitted in support of his motions, Meehl states that he found the testimony of the psychologist and the shelter-home operator "sufficient" to order Johnson's release to the Nampa facility, where he would be supervised and receive treatment.

Meehl also wrote: "If Mr. Johnson remains in ISCI (the prison), he will be subjected to an inhuman environment with a minimum of therapy, resulting in an unwarranted risk that he will be released more dangerous to society than when he was sentenced to prison."

The talk of inhuman treatment is speculative, Voorhees says, because there is no evidence that Johnson has been treated poorly in prison.

At the end of the letter, Meehl asked Fuller to prepare the necessary order for Johnson's release to the home.

Voorhees says he did not receive a copy of the letter until last Thursday, the same day he received a copy of the order releasing Johnson. He then went into action.

Releasing Johnson "could mean a repeat of a August 1974 case, where a shelter-home resident murdered a woman in a Twin Falls store, Voorhees states in his request."

Voorhees says that he is seeking Meehl's disqualification from the case because he believes the judge visited Johnson at the prison and may have done his own investigation into the shelter home, as well as have been in contact with Fuller without his knowledge.

The prosecutor states in his motion that Meehl "intentionally withheld the Oct. 20 letter" so the state could not respond in a "timely and effective manner."

Fuller could not be reached for comment Sunday.

Voorhees also is asking that the state be allowed to submit more evidence on Johnson's motion to reconsider his sentence.

To allow insurance

County considers flood-plain program

By DAVID MOFFAT
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Federal flood insurance will be available in Twin Falls County only if the county commissioners adopt a series of flood zoning maps and an ordinance regulating construction in the flood plain.

Adoption of the maps and the ordinance also would make county residents eligible for federal emergency loans in case of a flood disaster. But a county flood-plain ordinance must forbid new construction in designated "floodways," and it must place severe restrictions on construction in other flood-prone areas.

Larry Basich, a representative of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, which oversees the federal flood insurance program, presented this and other information to commission Chairman Ann Cover and zoning administrator Ervin Wilkins at a meeting last week.

Flood insurance currently is not available in Twin Falls County because the county has not entered the federal program.

But if the county does enter, residents may purchase insurance at an average cost of $150 a year, Basich said. It would be acquired through private companies but backed by the federal government, he said. Maximum coverage would be $245,000 for a single-family residence and its contents.

The flood insurance program was initiated in 1973, Basich said. Before that time, it was virtually impossible to obtain flood insurance from private sources, he said.

The federal government provides two sets of flood maps to all cities and counties in the United States in which flood danger exists.

One set delineates areas expected to be inundated in floods predictable every 10, 100 and 500 years. The other delineates hazard areas for insurance-rate calculation.

Twin Falls County received its first set of maps in 1979, says Fred Eisenharter, the state coordinator for the flood insurance program. It turned down a chance to enter the federal "emergency" program at that time, he says.

The second set of maps, showing risk areas, was received by the county several weeks ago. The county now has a second chance to enter the program, he says.

Under the "regular" second phase of the program, rates will be determined on location in one of three risk areas, Basich said. Insurance rates under the "emergency" phase were uniform, regardless of location.

Insurance would be mandatory only for buildings built or sold in a flood-prone area with a federally subsidized mortgage.

To comply with the flood program, the county must pass an ordinance

Pam Allen's family leaves today to move to Pittsburgh

To wait near hospital for a donor

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Today, the Fred Allen family will fly to Pittsburgh to wait for a liver donor for their daughter, Pam, and to be near the hospital where the operation would take place.

Beverly Kirkpatrick, a transplant-program social worker with the University of Pittsburgh's Children's Hospital, says it is rare that an entire family moves to the city to wait for a transplant. The hospital has accepted the 2-year-old Twin Falls child into its transplant program.

The hospital usually frowns on such a move because of the upheaval it causes a family, Kirkpatrick says. The hospital staff asks that a family "try every other way first."

Only a small advantage is gained by Pam living near the hospital, Kirkpatrick says. She adds, however, that the farther away a potential recipient lives from Pittsburgh, the smaller his or her chance of receiving a liver.

The only way that it becomes an advantage is when a liver "has to be used right away," Kirkpatrick says.

Mrs. Allen says the family is willing to take any chance for Pam.

Earlier this month, their daughter was rejected for a transplant because she lived too far away. It would have taken a jet only about five hours to reach Pittsburgh, but that was too long in that particular case, and the liver was given to another child.

The Allens do not want that to happen again.

The family's airline tickets have been purchased by a Sun Valley resident who had promised to make a private jet available to take the family to Pittsburgh once a donor was found, says Pam Dowd of Twin Falls. Dowd is an administrator of a community-raised trust fund for the child. She will accompany the family to help with arrangements.

In Pittsburgh, they will stay at a home for families who are waiting for transplants. Because the accommodations will be small, the family — which includes Pam, her parents and three brothers, will stay there only temporarily, Dowd says.

The rent and some of Pam's special formula will be paid for by the trust fund, but other expenses, such as food or clothing, will not, Dowd says. Part of her expenses will be covered, but she probably will end up spending her own money on the trip, she says.

Pam's hopes now rest in Pittsburgh

Mrs. Allen says publicity helped

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Life is full of ups and downs, as no one knows that better than Carol and Fred Allen.

For several months, the Twin Falls couple, their relatives and many others in the Magic Valley have waited for a donor for their daughter, Pam, a 2-year-old who needs a liver transplant to survive.

Today, the family will uproot and fly to Pittsburgh, where it again will wait, perhaps for months.

A Pittsburgh hospital has accepted Pam as a potential transplant recipient. And it is in that city that the child either will receive the potential life-saving gift, or her time will run out.

This weekend, Carol Allen talked about the months following her family's decision that a transplant was Pam's only hope — and about the effects that decision has had on the family, whose life has been placed in the headlines and on television and radio newscasts.

Pam was born with a genetic defect that has led to the deterioration of her liver. With a garage sale in Spring, the family began raising money for an operation. Later, a committee joined in and began organizing the efforts of other community groups. After months of dances, chili suppers, raffles and fund-raising events, the trust fund established for Pam had grown to $54,000. In addition, a Sun Valley resident promised to provide a jet to fly the Allens to Pittsburgh when a donor was found.

"It really surprised me. I thought we'd raise (only) a couple of thousand dollars," Mrs. Allen says. "It really gives you a great feeling to have support behind your decision. There are a lot of special people here."

Other special people include the administrators of the child's trust fund, Pam Dowd, a Twin Falls housewife who has become the unofficial spokeswoman for the family, "has done some of the oddest things for us," Mrs. Allen says, smiling. Dowd will accompany the family to Pittsburgh to help them become settled.

It has been this community support that has sustained her over the months, Mrs. Allen says.

While community involvement brought in money, it also generated publicity about the family. People began recognizing Mrs. Allen and asking about Pam.

The inquiries, however, have been mostly requiring the first habitable floor of all new construction to be built above the 100-year-flood level.

No new construction would be allowed in designated "floodways," those areas designed to carry floodwaters.
In addition, any building more than half-destroyed in a flood must be rebuilt above flood levels or torn down, Basch said.
Wilkins says the county plans to adopt such an ordinance in December.
Cover says state law forbids the county from regulating the construction of buildings on farms larger than 20 acres, however. This could prove to be a problem in adopting the management ordinance.

But Basch said that other communities have opted to have the ordinance regardless of state law. However, he said he did not know how they managed this.
Eisenbarth says 136 communities in Idaho have entered the flood insurance program. He says about half of these have approved insurance maps and entered the second phase of the program. Nineteen communities have chosen not to participate in the program, he says.

All counties in south-central Idaho, except Lincoln and Camas counties, where no flood hazard areas were determined, are enrolled, Eisenbarth says.
Most cities in the area also are enrolled, although Filer pulled out of the program, and there are no flood hazard areas identified in Kimberly and Buhl, he says.
The city of Twin Falls adopted in 1975, but it has not entered the insurance-rate map yet, he says.

Allens

"fantastic," Mrs. Allen says. Just a few implied that the family was living on the trust-fund money, which is used only for medical-related expenses. "I myself, was the money to go for her medical expenses, not for a fancy hotel for us. The more money we can save, the more money for her transplant," Mrs. Allen says.
The family also has had to cope with reporters who call regularly. The calls seemed to bother the family, especially when they ask medical-related questions. Mrs. Allen says she does not mind the media. But sometimes, "I really don't know how to answer (their) questions."
Yet, she says, the publicity has helped increase awareness about the need for organ donors.
"It seems like only one person is getting the benefit, but it will help (others) a great deal."
The low point throughout all has been the pressure from Pam's erratic illness to the public eye being on them.

"We've had our share of ups and downs. I take it day-by-day," Mrs. Allen says.
More recently, there's been pressure from Pam's frequent hospitalization for infections. In the past months, she was admitted twice to a Utah hospital and more recently to Magic Valley Regional Medical Center, from which she was discharged Sunday.
"I've been between hospital and home. You feel like a piece of string that is being stretched between two ends."
She says she was anxious about the move to Pittsburgh because of some financial loose ends.
Mrs. Allen, a nurse, does not work because of the special care required by Pam. Mr. Allen has severe medical problems and cannot work. The couple receives Social Security disability benefits. By Saturday, an expected check had not arrived, and that had the couple upset.

"Our financial condition isn't the greatest," Mrs. Allen says.
The family does manage to live comfortably on the disability benefits, she says. And the Allens have insurance and Medicaid benefits, but the programs will not cover the liver operation, estimated to cost thousands.
"Even with a middle income, it'd be a blow. It really would," she says.
The prospect of having to live in a strange city is not pleasant, but it is a move the Allens say they are willing to make. In Twin Falls, there is a better chance of receiving a transplant.
"I'll do anything I possible can," Mrs. Allen says.
Because they did not know how long they would have to wait in Pittsburgh for a donor, it was decided the whole family would go. Mrs. Allen did not want to burden anyone with the care of their three sons for a long time; she says.
"I think everything will turn out all right," Mrs. Allen said Saturday, as she was packing for the trip.

Quartet makes great music

By WILLETTA WARBERG
Times-News arts critic

A review

TWIN FALLS—With eyes closed, one could have been sitting in the front row of New York City's Carnegie, Colorado's Aspen or Massachusetts' Tanglewood and Marlboro performing stages Saturday evening.
Instead, the scene was the Renaissance Academy of the Arts in Twin Falls.
The occasion was a performance by the Idaho String Quartet. This group presented it most sensibly, with grace and refinement. They fully used the beautifully fashioned program.
The talented members of the quartet were: first violinist Karen Kruet, second violinist Laura Arzuena, violist Patricia Frazier and cellist Ned Johnson. The four are presently members of the Boise Philharmonic.
The concert opened with an electrically charged performance of Franz Joseph Haydn's "Ritornello" Opus 74, No. 3, referred to in English-speaking music circles as "The Rider."
The quartet's interpretation of this four-movement string quartet was exceptional. To this reviewer's ears it is one of the most lovely of Haydn's nearly 80 — there is no exact count to this day — compositions for string quartets.

The musicians developed lovely combinations of sounds and interpreted this work with elegance and refinement. They fully used the qualities of their instruments.
In the Haydn piece, the members of the Idaho String Quartet also displayed their suitability for each other.

Of particular beauty was the third movement. This "minuetto" displayed so elegantly Haydn's qualities and his musical reputation as a happy, amiable person with humor, warmth and a love for life.
"The performance of Quartet No. 1, Opus 45, by Dimitri Shostakovich, was some of the finest contemporary music-making we've heard recently.

in the Magic Valley. All four movements were performed magnificently.

In fact, the performance of this work was exceptional. It was hard to single out any performer who was better than the others.
Shostakovich's total conception in this composition is nothing short of miraculous.

The Idaho String Quartet displayed good feeling for and dealt beautifully with the composer's repetition of rhythmic motifs and harmonies which combines song-like melodies with vigorous dissonances, precise composition and often witty and satirical twists of tones.

The quartet seemed totally comfortable with this enormous work.
Anton Dvorak's "Quartet in F major, Opus 96, ended a fine program. The quartet's presentation of Dvorak's luring melodies and intense treatment of what Dvorak considered American harmony was brilliant.
It was an exceptional concert, with fabulous music collaboration by four members of the Boise Philharmonic.

Pastor calls quake deaths a reminder

BY BRUCE BOTKA
United Press International

CHALLIS (UPI) — The deaths of two Challis children in the central Idaho earthquake are a reminder that man is forever vulnerable to a higher force, a pastor told church members Sunday.

"We need to remember that we are in God's hand, absolutely and totally," Ray Anthony said. "I don't know how many of you have tried to lift up Mount Borah recently?"

About 100 people filed into the Challis Mission, a non-denominational church in which members — many of them children — the same ages as the victims — sat on folding metal chairs to hear Anthony's message.

Tara Leaton, 7, and Travis Frank, 6, were on their way to school Friday morning when the quake hit. A building wall collapsed onto the sidewalk, burying the youngsters four feet deep under a pile of rubble.

They were the first earthquake-caused deaths in the United States since a sharp tremor rocked California's San Fernando Valley in 1971, killing 65 people. The intensity of the quake was the worst in the lower 48 states since the Helgon Lake temblor in Montana in 1959.

"It's very important for us to look today at God's integrity," Anthony said. "It's not the easiest thing climbing into bed anymore. It's not like it was two weeks ago."

"But, through it all, God's love conquers everything," the pastor said. "He doesn't insulate us against tragedy and difficulty, but he is with us and he brings us through it victoriously."

The pastor and church members who attended the regular Sunday service offered prayers for the victims, their relatives and the people who tried unsuccessfully to save the youths from the tons of fractured concrete.

The congregation sang the hymns "To God be the Glory" and "Leaning on the Everlasting Arms."

Members of the girl's family belong to the church and the boy's family is known by many of the members, Anthony said.

Witnesses said the children may have survived the quake if there had been no traffic along the street where they died.

The girl started to run into the street when the quake hit, but the boy shouted at her to get back over the curb because a car was coming, witnesses said. Then, the wall collapsed.

A shop owner said the youngsters usually stopped in his store on their way to school, but they didn't Friday.

A funeral for the Frank boy is scheduled for 2 p.m. today, while the Leaton girl's funeral is set for 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, with a rosary at 7 p.m. today at St. Louise Catholic Church in Challis.

Both quake victims are to be buried in the Challis Cemetery, officials said.

Don't laugh about brain transplants

By DOMINIC BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

JEROME -- Brain transplants are not something to joke about, they are a genuine possibility, says Robert Sylvester, a professor of education at the University of Oregon.

Discussing the human brain last week during a workshop for teachers from the Jerome and Valley school districts, Sylvester said it is possible to transplant part of a brain and have it grow into position to take over certain body functions and actions.

"In the case of Parkinson's disease," he said, "it is possible to replace the damaged neuron transmitter system that controls the functions of the body that are lost, so the patient can regain full control of those functions."

Sylvester said brain transplants are being done in Sweden. There is no immune system in the brain, he said, explaining that unlike other organ transplants, there is no body rejection of a brain implant.

It is feasible, he said, that portions of animal brains could be used to replace certain damaged or disabled human brain centers. Another possibility, he said, is that the brain, which develops first in a fetus, could be salvaged in the case of abortions.

"There is a moral and ethical decision to be made here," he told the educators. "It is the students in your classes today who will have to make the decisions as to the moral and ethical issues."

Sylvester also discussed the effects of chemicals, medication and other drugs on the human brain, explaining what causes addiction and how pain-killers keep the brain from receiving "pain messages."

Not all chemicals are bad for the brain. There is no point in suffering a toothache if a pain pill will make an individual comfortable, he said.

Speaking Thursday night, Sylvester addressed parents, teachers and community leaders. He explained brain growth in connection with learning and adopting a school's curriculum to take advantage of peak growth years.

The Oregon educator said it is important that students learn about brain structure and functions. The question is, when to put the study into the curriculum, he said.

Sylvester traced the growth patterns of the brain, saying research shows the brain develops in stages. The major growth spurt, he said, comes prior to birth and in the first year to two years.

During this period, he said a child interacts with immediate surroundings. From 2 to 7 years of age, he said, it is important for a child to be with other children of the same age, an ideal situation that adapts to kindergarten and early school years. This is a time of developing motor skills and language development, he said.

In the next period, from 7 to 11 years of age, children begin to organize and perform variable and reversible operations, use language more broadly and relate to environment, he said. In the next stage, beyond 11 years of age, students begin to ask questions.

Wendell names 'team' for election

By TERRELL WILLIAMS
Times-News correspondent

WENDELL -- Workers for next week's Wendell City Council elections were selected during last week's council meeting.

Council members voted to hire Marjorie Mink, Donna Roe, Lorraine McCLOUD, Ruth Gates and Ruth Barrus as election workers. They will be paid minimum wage for the day.

Gene Barrus was chosen election judge.

Voting will take place at the Wendell Senior Citizen Recreation Hall. The polls will be open from noon to 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 8.

Voters will elect two City Council members from a field of three candidates. Those running are Lloyd Little, Sherry Oliver and incumbent Marshall Howden.

In other election-related business, it was announced that the city clerk, June Holm, will conduct voting at the Magic Valley Manor nursing home and the homes of voters in Wendell who are home-bound on Monday afternoon, Nov. 7.

Those who need this service should contact Holm at City Hall.

Also at last Thursday's council meeting, residents of Behrens held council members that a sewer line by his property plugs up periodically and was plugged now.

The council voted to have the problem fixed. Today, a city crew was scheduled to dig up the old cement line. If it cannot be fixed, then approximately 350 feet of new plastic pipe will be installed.

Twin Falls woman to head McClure's re-election drive

BOISE -- Donna Brizez, a Twin Falls homemaker in her third campaign for Sen. James McClure, will coordinate the senator's 1984 re-election effort in Twin Falls County.

Brizez, a member of the Twin Falls Parks and Recreation Committee, is organizing all volunteer efforts in the county on the senator's behalf and is responsible for an upcoming McClure "appreciation dinner."

Twin Falls is "a strong McClure area," Brizez says, adding that the campaign will probably proceed in a "low-key" manner until organized opposition is mounted.

Only one Democratic hopeful, Pete Busch, a retired Marine colonel from Lewiston, has announced intentions to oppose the state's senior senator. No Republican opposition has been announced.

The upcoming event, a "Scottish Supper" which will be held at the Turf Club on Saturday, Nov. 12, will kick off the McClure campaign in the Magic Valley area, she says.

"It's not a fund-raiser, it's a Twin Falls appreciation day," Brizez says. She said the event is to allow residents "to show their appreciation for the work Jim McClure has done."

In addition to a speech by McClure, the evening will include music by bandleader Joe Turfing Jr. and an exhibition by the Magic Valley Cloggers, performing traditional Scottish dances, Brizez says.

Admission to the event will be $7.50. Reservations should be made by Nov. 8, by calling Brizez at 733-8918, John Hosholt at 733-2885 or Bill Chancy at 733-8910.

Glenns Ferry 'jog' called successful

GLENN'S FERRY -- The Glenns Ferry High School jog-a-thon was a success, says the high school athletic director, Brent Taylor.

Taylor says the jog-a-thon, held recently at the high school track, has netted $630 to $700 in pledges. "And they aren't all in yet."

The Midway U.S.A. Corp. from Kansas City, Kan., initiated the jog-a-thon as a test project for approximately 50 Idaho schools.

Taylor says 80 percent of the money pledged will go to the sponsoring schools, 10 percent to the state's disaster insurance fund and 10 percent to Midway Corp.

Bill Blackbeard of Authentic Journal displays one of original newspapers for sale

Dealers hoping to cash in on American nostalgia bent

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — A million newspapers, some dating back before the Civil War, are stacked in a California warehouse by two Europeans who hope America's hunger for nostalgia will transform the old newsprint into cash.

Christian Berglas and Alain Sarfatti have been collecting the original newspapers for more than a year. Unlike other businesses offering newspaper reproductions, The Authentic Journal offers the real thing.

In June, they threw open the doors to their spotless, hangar-like warehouse and began offering 40 newspaper titles from 25 cities in North America and England. Many are no longer in print and some are older than the Civil War.

The owners say presenting someone with a copy of the newspaper from their birth date makes a wonderful birthday gift.

"While your mother was in labor, your father was in the waiting-room reading that paper and smoking cig-rettes!" Berglas said.

It also helps preserve historical documents that have become an endangered species now that librarians and curators of historical societies are putting their newspapers on microfilm and disencruling the dusty, bulky originals.

"We're trying to preserve these papers by putting them in the hands of people with those birthdays, people to whom they're special," said Bill Blackbeard, the historian for The Authentic Journal.

Idaho traffic mishaps claim toddler, 2 men

BOISE (UPI) — Three people were killed over the weekend in two south-western Idaho automobile accidents, authorities said.

Boise County Sheriff Lynn Bowerman said a 2-year-old boy died instantly Saturday when he was crushed by a truck backing up in the parking lot of the Idaho City apartment building he had lived in.

Bowerman identified the victim as Kenneth Bridwell, the son of Dale Owen and Jacqueline Bridwell. He said the driver of the truck, 21-year-old Michelle Poindexter, Idaho City, did not see the child when the mishap occurred about 3:15 p.m. Saturday.

The accident was still under investigation, the sheriff said. Gem County Sheriff Bill McConnell said two Emmett men were killed late Friday in a two-vehicle accident on State Highway 52 about 2½ miles east of the Black Canyon Dam.

McConnell identified the victims as Tom Slipp, 24, and Donald Surber, no age available. He said Surber was driving the car, which collided with a pickup truck driven by Jeff Seid, 25, and his daughter Brandy Seid, 3, both of Boise.

McConnell said Seid was held for observation Friday night and discharged Saturday from Knox Hospital. The child was treated and released in care of a relative, McConnell said.

He said the car had overcorrected from a curve and then slid into Seid's truck. No citations were issued in the accident, which was reported about 11:30 p.m. Friday, McConnell added.

Slow season

Chuck Overdy and Everett Lundy were trying to prepare for winter one sunny October day on a street corner in Medford, Ore., by offering to sell this load of firewood. They apparently weren't having a rush of prospective customers since the mild autumn weather apparently kept other residents of the area from thinking much about the approach of winter.

Greyhound, unions getting ready as midnight strike deadline nears

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Despite a strike deadline of midnight tonight, it was a quiet weekend for Greyhound Lines Inc. and its union as neither side took action to resolve contract differences.

"We anticipate another meeting before the contract expires tomorrow (Monday) night," company spokeswoman Leslie White said Sunday.

However, she added no meeting was scheduled and there had been no talks formal or informal over the weekend.

She said it was possible the company would make a final offer to the unions on today.

Friday night, federal mediator Sam Franklin met with both sides individually, but neither side would make concessions.

Union membership has authorized a strike by 12,700 workers — including 7,545 bus drivers — if talks fall on the three-year contract.

Greyhound officials say for the company to remain competitive, it needs pay cuts ranging from 30 percent for drivers to 50 percent for terminal and office employees.

The Amalgamated Council of Greyhound Local Unions has rejected the proposed cuts.

Greyhound officials have said a strike might cause a temporary shutdown, but that service will resume with new workers recruited from 40 cities.

The bus company has about 14,000 scheduled stops on its routes and dominates the intercity bus industry with about 60 percent of passenger miles.

Roger Rydell, spokesman for Trailways Inc., reportedly has said his company is prepared to absorb any passengers who might be without transportation in the event of a Greyhound strike.

Boisean won't attend counseling

BOISE (UPI) — A Boise man says he will not comply with a juvenile court judge's order to attend a parent effectiveness training program.

"I do not feel I have done anything wrong, and I'm not about to attend them," said Lenard Parks, a 39-year-old insurance agent.

Parks said Judge Tom Morden ordered him to attend counseling sessions after sentencing Parks' 14-year-old son to 15 days of detention on an assault charge.

"I feel the Judge took some liberties. I don't feel he has a right to take the elder Parks said. "I have constitutional rights, and I haven't done anything wrong, so why should I be punished?"

Morden, however, said the counseling sessions — which usually include both parents and children — can help solve juvenile delinquency problems.

"I'll order a parent to attend these sessions fairly frequently, where I think it will make the situation better at home and keep the kid from coming back to court," the judge said. "I'll do it in any case where I think counseling would open lines of communication within the family."

But Parks said only his son had broken the law. "He's got to be man enough to take the punishment for it, but Judge Morden made me feel like I'm the one on trial, not my son."

Parks claimed juvenile court officials had hinted he might be jailed for refusing to obey the judge's order, but Morden said the man could not be punished for disregarding the order.

Ada County Juvenile Detention Center Director Darrell Holloway said the public outcry that followed the beating death of 17-year-old Christopher Peterman in the Ada County Jail bolstered the counseling program as an alternative to incarcerating juveniles.

"I'd hope most people don't think of this as punishing a parent," Holloway said. "This is something positive."

Mining firm pledges end to pollution

BOISE (UPI) — Superior Oil Co. has agreed to take steps to control erosion and stream pollution from the firm's open-pit gold mining operation at Stribite in Valley County, state officials say.

The company promised the Idaho Health and Welfare Board last week to meet water-quality standards for wastewater discharges and to "take all practicable measures" to prevent pollution from the mine.

State Environment Division officials said the operation — located near the East Fork of the South Fork of the Salmon River — had caused sediment to pollute Sugar Creek and West End Creek for short periods of time after heavy storms.

Company officials said they would limit sediment in Sugar Creek, a potential salmon-spawning stream, to no more than 10 percent of background pollution.

Superior agreed to build a diversion culvert, install a 1,000-foot filter of rock-filled pipe and to remove debris from the area annually, state officials said.

The firm also said it would submit water sampling test results to the state monthly and complete pollution control studies of the mine within the next three years.

Flynt will refuse to hand over tape

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Publisher Larry Flynt said Sunday he will not comply with a federal court order to turn over today a tape he claims is a recording of a government informant threatening the life of automaker John De Lorean for trying to back out of a $24-million cocaine deal.

Flynt, who was served with a subpoena Friday ordering him to produce the tape by 9 a.m. today, said he was refusing to leave his heavily guarded mansion because he feared for his life.

"I'm afraid the FBI is going to kill me because I've also got the Vicki Morgan sex tapes and everybody is on them who I said was on them," he said.

The Hustler magazine publisher said he would be willing to reveal the source of the tapes "if the prosecutor, the defense attorney and the judge will come to my house in Bol-Air."

Flynt said he paid $25 million for the De Lorean and sex tapes, which he claims show Miss Morgan engaged in sex acts with the late-department-store heir Alfred Bloomingdale and various government officials. Miss Morgan was kidnapped to death last July and the existence of the tapes has never been substantiated.

On Friday, Flynt played for reporters what he said was a surveillance tape in which a key government informant threatens the lives of De Lorean and his daughter.

There was no way of verifying the authenticity of the often unintelligible recording but after the news conference, Assistant U.S. Attorney James Walsh, the government's chief prosecutor in the De Lorean case, obtained an order from U.S. District Judge Robert Takasugi requiring Flynt to produce the tape.

De Lorean attorney Howard Weitzman said if the tape can be verified as genuine, charges should be dropped against the former General Motors executive who is charged with setting up the alleged drug deal to raise money for his failing auto company in Northern Ireland.

Walsh said he wanted the tape so it could be tested for authenticity.

A transcript of the tape recording, provided by Flynt, quoted De Lorean as telling government informant James Hoffman he wanted out of a business deal because he had learned drugs were involved.

De Lorean's trial — which was scheduled to begin Tuesday — was postponed indefinitely last week by Takasugi, who condemned the airing of FBI surveillance videotapes supplied by Flynt on national television.

Utah man slain in robbery

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The body of a 70-year-old man who was apparently murdered during a robbery in his home was discovered by a neighbor who went to his house Sunday to check on him, police said.

The victim was identified as Cecil Porter of Salt Lake City.

Salt Lake City Police Lt. Kent Livsey said Porter's house had been ransacked, leading police to believe an intruder or intruders broke into the house and killed Porter during a robbery.

The lieutenant said Porter's death was violent, but investigators could not determine the cause of death. "We don't know if he was beaten or shot or what," Livsey said.

He says an autopsy by the State Medical Examiner would have to determine the cause of death.

Livsey said several neighbors reported noticing suspicious activity in the area last night. He said police were interviewing those people Sunday in hopes of developing some leads in the case.

Mine pollution tests slated

CARSON CITY (UPI) — State environmental engineers and Anaconda Mining Co. specialists are testing for iron and sulfate contamination at the company's old Weed Heights operation.

John Worlund, one of the state environmental engineers, said soil and water test results will be used to work out how the contamination can be cleaned up. He said there is no threat to the health of area residents, that samples from test wells have shown no danger of contamination in domestic water supplies.

The tests were ordered after the two materials showed up in ditches near the Weed Heights mine, just one mile from Yerington. A spokesman said the chemicals, used to separate copper from ore mined by Anaconda, turned the water orange.

The operation was shut down in 1978 after 25 years of mining.

NAU stuns Wolf Pack

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (UPI) — Northern Arizona University survived two late turnovers to hang on for a 41-36 upset victory over the University of Nevada-Reno Saturday night.

The win was the first for the Lumberjacks over UNR since the Wolf Pack joined the Big Sky Conference in 1979.

The Lumberjacks maintained control of the ball in the last 2:30 of the game to preserve the win. The drive was highlighted by a quarterback sneak on a 4th-and-1 situation from the NAU 30-yard line and a clutch pass reception by Ben Richardson on 3rd-and-10 from the NAU 31.

The loss was the first conference setback for the Wolf Pack this season, and left UNR just one-half game ahead of Idaho State in the Big Sky standings with two league games to play. The Pack can still wrap up the league title by winning at Idaho on Nov. 12 and by beating Montana State at home on Nov. 19, or if the Bengals lose any of their three remaining conference games.

After trailing 31-21 at halftime, UNR roared back on a fumble recovery by sophomore linebacker Mark McVeigh on the first play of the second half. The Wolf Pack eventually converted the turnover into a 29-yard field goal by Tony Zendejas.

McVeigh poked up another fumble on the next series of downs, but the ensuing UNR drive backfired. On a 33-yard Zendejas 11th goal attempt, James Gee blocked the kick and Bob Jenkins returned it 86 yards for a touchdown, an NAU record.

The Lumberjacks took a 41-24 lead early in the fourth quarter on a 33-yard field goal by John Wiggins.

But the Pack didn't quit. Sophomore defensive back Patrick Hunter recovered two fumbles after pass-receptions deep in Lumberjack territory. UNR converted the turnovers on a 2-yard plunge by Anthony Corley and a 14-yard run by O'Keefe.

In the first half, NAU exploded for 31 points, including three touchdowns passed by Mike Mendoza, two wide receiver Pete Mandley.

A 42-yard Mendoza-to-Mandley pass tied the game 7-7 and gave Mandley the NAU record for most career touchdowns—23. Allan Clark and Carl Golden held the previous standard.

The Lumberjacks took the lead on a 6-yard Mendoza pass to Ben Richardson on the first play of the second quarter.

Beavers ended the first half with a 15-yard scoring strike to wide receiver Alphonso Williams.

Beavers played the second half with a broken nose, Wolf Pack coaches said.

The victory improved NAU's record to 4-4, 2-3 in Big Sky play. In the previous four conference encounters between the two teams, NAU had scored a total of 36 points against UNR.

All three Idaho schools have shot at playoffs

By United Press International

What a difference a day can make in college football, especially last Saturday in the Big Sky Conference.

First place Nevada-Reno was expected to win easily at Northern Arizona, and at least four other Big Sky teams were trying to earn at-large berths in the 1983 NCAA Division I-AA playoffs.

Idaho and Idaho State followed that scenario, both picking up victories. But Montana and Weber State were both losers. And then Nevada-Reno turned the Big Sky title race into just that — a race — as the Wolf Pack lost 41-38 to the NAU Lumberjacks in Flagstaff, Ariz., Saturday night.

In other conference games Saturday, Boise State beat Weber State 38-27, and Montana State whipped Montana 28-9. In non-league games, Idaho won 31-19 at Pacific, and Idaho State upset Fullerton State 43-10.

Nevada-Reno remains in first place in the Big Sky standings with a 4-1

All three Idaho schools remain in the playoff picture. Idaho State is in the "best shape" after its rout of Fullerton State, which had already clinched a spot of a Pacific Coast Athletic Association championship and a spot in the California Bowl. Even in the Wolf Pack wins its final two conference games, and with them the league title, ISU would be a strong candidate for an at-large berth in the playoffs if it can win its last three games.

Idaho, which like ISU is 6-2 for the season, will host Reno in Moscow on Nov. 12, if the Vandals can beat the Pack in that game and if Idaho State, to whom Idaho has lost twice any of its final three contests, the Vandals could still win the league title or an at-large berth in the playoffs.

Even Boise State, which already has four losses this season, has an outside shot at post-season competition if it can win its final three games — starting with Idaho State next Saturday and finishing with Idaho in Moscow on Nov. 19.

"The Northern Arizona 'win' over Reno was impressive, but Montana State's victory over Montana had to be the Big Sky upset of the season since the Bobcats had lost their first eight games.

Mark Carter kicked a school-record tying four field goals to lead Montana State over Montana, and Bobcat freshman Brian Williams rushed for 191 yards while Mike Godfrey passed for 218 yards.

"I'm just so tickled for the kids," said Montana State coach Dave Arnold. "It was a great win for the entire team. It's no secret we've struggled through this season. But these kids have never given up and that shows."

Arnold said, for the first time this season, "the kicking game came through for the Bobcats. We blocked a punt and recovered it for a touchdown. We've been frustrated all year in the kicking game, but it was a factor in our favor in the Montana victory."

Northern Arizona survived two late turnovers to hang on for its first win ever against Nevada-Reno. And quarterback Mike Mendoza led the NAU offense, passing for three touchdowns — including a pair to Pete Mandley.

The Lumberjacks also turned a blocked punt and a blocked field goal attempt into a pair of touchdowns, and John Wiggins kicked two field goals in the NAU win.

Freshman Eric Beavers passed for two Reno touchdowns and Otto Kelly ran for another pair of Wolf Pack scores.

Ken Hobart completed 30 passes for 356 yards and three touchdowns in leading the Idaho Vandals over Fullerton. Hobart — whose TD passes covered eight, five and 33 yards — went over the 10,000-yard total offense mark for his career. He is only the second collegiate player to top that plateau.

Paul Peterson scored on a quarterback sneak and passed for 337 yards and two touchdowns in propelling Idaho State to its win over Fullerton State. The Bengals also scored by recovering a blocked punt in the 71st and 80th, and Perry Larson scored three ISU field goals.

Freshman quarterback Hazzen Chobacs also passed for two touchdowns and ran for a third score in leading Boise State to its win at Weber State, the Broncos' 12th consecutive victory over the Wildcats.

In the big conference game next Saturday, Idaho State is at Boise State, trying to move into a first-place tie with Nevada-Reno. In the other league game, Idaho is at Northern Arizona. In non-conference games, Montana State hosts Eastern Washington, Montana is at home against Long Beach State; Reno hosts Pacific, and Weber State is at home against Portland State.

Seahawks are L.A.'s albatross

By RICH TOSCHES
United Press International

LOS ANGELES — Chuck Knox's idea of a wild play is to fake a handoff to the fullback before giving it to the halfback. Fake a field goal and throw a bomb? Not with his team you won't.

"I feel you're never too old to learn," a smiling Knox said Sunday after a fake field goal pass by Jim Zorn, who lost his starting quarterback job last week to Dave Krieg, sealed his Seattle Seahawks' 34-21 victory over the Los Angeles Raiders.

It was Seattle's second victory over the Raiders in three weeks and left the Seahawks with a 5-4 record. Los Angeles, which was coming off an emotional Sunday night victory over the Dallas Cowboys fell to 6-3.

"I don't know what it is about Seattle," said Raider Coach Tom Flores. "We always seem to have trouble with them, but they are a good football team. They've beaten some good teams, including us twice. We didn't take them lightly."

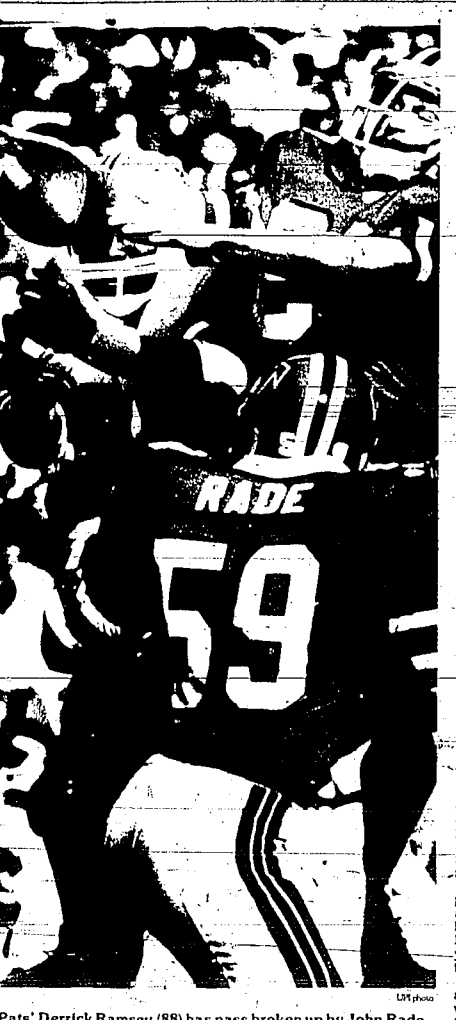

After Los Angeles pulled to within three points, 17-14, in the third period, the Seahawks responded with a 65-yard drive and capped it on a 1-yard sweep into the end zone on fourth down by Curt Warner to take a 24-14 lead. That drive was sparked by a 24-yard run by Warner.

Seattle broke the game open at 3:11 of the final quarter when Zorn, who was replaced by Krieg after two dismal games, kept the ball on an apparent field goal attempt and lofted a 33-yard touchdown pass to a wide-eyed David Hughes, giving Seattle a 31-14 lead.

Two attempts by the Raiders to get back into the game ended on turnovers, with Don Dufek recovering a fumble, and Keith Simpson intercepting a pass with 2:07 remaining in the game.

Krieg completed 13 of 22 passes for 154 yards and was intercepted once. Warner led Seattle's rushing attack with 101 yards on 23 carries, while Hughes had 69 yards on 12 carries. Paul John led the Seattle receivers with 64 yards on five receptions.

Marc Wilson completed 22 of 34 passes for 297 yards and two touchdowns for Los Angeles, but was intercepted four times. Marcus Allen led all Raider rushers but had only 30

TD by rookie from BSU gets Atlanta moving

By DAVID MOFFIT
United Press International

ATLANTA — Despite falling three games off the pace by blowing fourth-quarter leads in four straight defeats, the Atlanta Falcons feel they still have a chance in the NFC West after the way they've played these past two weeks.

The Falcons, who overcame a 21-point deficit to beat the New York Jets last week, made one of their strongest showings of the season Sunday. Steve Bartkowski completed 22 of 33 passes for 252 yards and a touchdown, and rookie linebacker John Rade — a former Boise State University star — scored on a 16-yard fumble return on the final play of the first half to ignite a 24-13 victory over the New England Patriots.

"We played as well offensively today as we have all year," said William Andrews who became the first Falcons runner to top the 5,000 yard career mark with another strong performance. "We're now better equipped to get back in the division fight and I'm sure we'll be a factor for the remainder of the year."

New York starting — to put things together as a team," said Falcons receiver Billy "White Shoes" Johnson. "It started last week against the Jets. We know we dug ourselves a hole early in the season. All our remaining games are tough, but we feel we can win them."

"I feel this team will show its worth in the second half of the season," said Bartkowski, one of the top passers in the NFL. "Good things have happened, even in defeat and I've seen visible improvement week to week."

Atlanta Coach Dan Henning said the Falcons "started out very well today and made very few mistakes in the first half while New England did something they haven't been doing for a long time. They're making mistakes that cost them points."

"We couldn't get our offense going," complained Patriots Coach Don Meyer. "We turned the ball over quickly and we could not get our defense to stop anything. It's hard to shut down that Falcons' offense."

The Falcons, 4-5 after winning two in a row for the first time this season, built a 24-0 lead by late in the third quarter.

They opened the scoring with a 23-yard field goal by Mick Luckhurst with 5:48 left in the first quarter, added a 1-yard touchdown run by Gerald Riggs with 2:12 gone in the second quarter and went ahead 17-0 just as the first half ended when Rene scooped up Steve Grogan's fumble and raced unopposed into the end zone as the horn sounded.

The Falcons widened their lead to 24-0 in the third quarter by Bartkowski's pass to Billy Johnson, but the Patriots, who turned over the ball four times inside the Atlanta 10-yard line, finally got their offense rolling late in the game.

Grogan's last play, a TD of 35 passes for 257 yards, threw a 4-yard

New York's resurgent Jets put 49ers in holding pattern

By JOE SARGIS
United Press International

SAN FRANCISCO — For the New York Jets and their rookie head coach, a 27-13 victory over the San Francisco 49ers Sunday could be the game that turns the season around for them.

The Jets, who had self-destructed in three straight losses before coming to San Francisco, beat the 49ers on both sides of the ball in a fine defensive performance that earned them their fourth victory against five losses and revived their hopes for the remaining seven games.

Richard Todd threw a touchdown pass to Lam Jones, Scott Dierking ran a yard for another TD, Pat Leahy kicked two field goals and Jerry Holmes returned an interception 43 yards for another score to account for the Jets' points.

The 49ers, suffering their third loss against six victories in a game in which they were favored by six points, fell behind 14-3 midway in the second period and never recovered. Joe Montana threw a 69-yard pass to Roger Craig and Ray Wersching fielded goals of 45 and 24 yards to account for the San Francisco points.

New York's defense held San Francisco to only 85 yards rushing, sacked Montana once and intercepted him twice in one of its finest performances of the season.

"Considering the offense we played (against), our defense played the best they are capable of," said Jets Coach Joe Walton. "We've been on the verge all year. The defense shut off the running game and that was our main play."

San Francisco Coach Bill Walsh said the 49ers simply were outplayed by a better team.

"We didn't block them very well, therefore we were constantly looking for something offensively," said Walsh. "They are a great team."

After a seven-game opening quarter, Montana completed 6-of-9 passes for 64 yards in a long drive to start the second quarter but the 49ers had to settle for Wersching's first field goal. New York then went 73 yards in 11 plays, with 4:45 left in the second quarter on five completions and Dierking cracking over to the one for a 7-3 lead. The Jets never trailed after that.

Todd's touchdown throw to Jones came midway in the second quarter with his first field goal from 49 yards, after Montana and Craig had hooked up for San Francisco's only touchdown.

Wersching's second field goal was the only score in the third quarter and then the Jets put the game away with Leahy's second FG, this one from 46 yards, and Holmes' run with the interception on Montana.

Holmes, ironically, has signed to play next year for the Pittsburgh Maulders of the United States Football League, a team owned by Edward DeBartolo, Sr. Edward DeBartolo, Jr. owns the 49ers.

Suddenly, Rangers can't win

By United Press International

Pat Hughes' second goal of the game 76 seconds into sudden death overtime Sunday night lifted the Edmonton Oilers to a 5-4 victory over New York and extended the Rangers' losing streak to three games.

Hughes was set up by former Ranger Pat Conacher, who beat Ranger goalie Steve Weeks from 25 feet on the right side.

The Rangers tied the score 4-4 at 8:58 of the third period on Don Maloney's second goal of the game. Maloney beat Edmonton goaltender Grant Fuhr with a 15-footer on the short side, assisted by Mark Pavlich and Barry Beck. Edmonton took a 4-3 lead 4:03 into the third period when Ken Linseman passed to the corner to Mark Messier, whose backhander beat Weeks.

Don Maloney opened the scoring at 5:30 of the first period on a 20-foot shot and Edmonton's Jari Kurri tied it at 6:58 on a 50-footer on which Weeks fanned.

The teams traded two goals each in the second period. Hughes scored at 1:59 for Edmonton, and Ron Greshner tied it on a power play at 8:14. Mike Rogers' beat Wayne Gretzky on a faceoff and passed back to Greshner, who shot from the point. Gretzky came back by tipping the rebound of a shot by Huddy past Weeks at 15:25 for a 3-2 Edmonton lead. New York again tied it as Kent-Eric Anderson passed across ice to Pierre Larouche, who scored from 10 feet.

Calgary 4, Vancouver 3
In Calgary, Alberta, Ed Beers' third goal of the night with 53 seconds left in

NHL

Hawk goaltender Tony Esposito lost his shutout with 6:56 left when Ritchie Dunne scored from the point.

Rick Preston scored the first Chicago goal at 5:19 of the first period while the Hawks were killing a penalty. Preston outraced the defense for a loose puck behind the Whalers' net, moved to Mike Velsor's left and popped in a backhander for his third goal of the year.

Washington 7, Winnipeg 3
In Winnipeg, Manitoba, Mike Gartner had three goals and an assist and Bob Gould scored twice to lead the Washington Capitals to a victory over the Winnipeg Jets.

Winnipeg's Morris Lukowich opened the scoring with a 10-foot wrist shot to the short side of goalie Al Jensen at 5:22. Gartner countered with an unassisted power-play goal at 12:37 after defenseman Dave Babych failed to clear the puck.

Gartner added two more in the second period to pull the Capitals ahead 3-1. At 9:11 he finished off a 2-on-1 break with Dave Christian by firing in a 50-foot wrist shot from the right face-off circle. Less than two minutes later, Gartner deflected Scott Stevens' slapshot past goalie Brian Hayward. Winnipeg's Brian Mullen narrowed the gap by knocking in a rebound on a power play at 14:08.

Islanders 6, Philadelphia 2
In Philadelphia, Mike Bessy broke a 1-1 first period tie and the Stanley Cup champion New York Islanders defeated the Flyers before a record Philadelphia crowd.

The crowd of 17,191 (40 seats above the ceiling) also saw an NHL mark set when four members of the Sutter family, two on each side, appeared against each other four times in the second period.

The Islanders' Sutters had the best of it as Fred Sutter scored two goals and Duane Sutter assisted on two. The Philadelphia Sutters, Ron and Rich, identical 19-year-old twins, had no points.

Greg Gilbert gave the Islanders a 1-0 lead at 1:12 of the first period, putting a rebound from six feet past goalie Bobby Froese. Brian Propp tipped in a 50-footer by Miroslav Dvorak at 6:54 to tie it for Philadelphia. Bossy then put New York up 2-1 when he lifted the puck over Froese off a 2-on-1 at 12:56.

Pittsburgh 5, New Jersey 3
In East Rutherford, N.J., Rick Kehoe scored the 29th goal of his career and assisted on two others to lead the Pittsburgh Penguins to a victory over New Jersey — the eighth straight loss for the Devils.

Kehoe scored the game-winner 53 seconds into the third period on a 15-footer from the slot for a 3-2 lead. The Devils' pulled to 4-3 on Ken Daneyko's first goal of the season, a backhand from 20 feet at 7:26. Mark Taylor of Pittsburgh made it 5-3 with 6:46 left on a 25-footer.

Buffalo 5, Montreal 4

In Buffalo, N.Y., Real Cloutier scored two goals, including the game-winner on a breakaway in the third period, to lead the Buffalo Sabres to a victory over the Montreal Canadiens.

It was Montreal's fourth straight loss and kept the Canadiens in the Adams division basement with a 4-7 record.

Valley's prep stars to play Thursday

TWIN FALLS — With the state championships decided, Magic Valley's high school volleyball season winds up with its traditional east-west all-star battle Thursday night at Twin Falls High School Gymnasium.

The top 24 graduating seniors, seen by coaches, have been selected to play in the best-of-five exhibition match that will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Jean Emerson of Kimberly and Renee Remaley of Hansen will coach the east team while Gooding's Joleen Toone and Kathy Anderson of Twin Falls High will handle the west squad.

The west will practice at 6:30 p.m. Monday at Gooding and again at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at Twin Falls. The east will get together for the first time at 9:30 p.m. Monday at Kimberly.

Members of the east team include Susie Krieger and Jenny Stark, both Kimberly; Angela Kasseraman of Valley; Carol Perron and Shannon Binham of Dietrich; Jill Perkins of Burroughs; Melonie Wrigley and Paula Pettigill of Burley; Amy Morrill and Laura Gates of Hansen, and Lisa Loggoss, and Angie Carpenter of Shoshone. Deelo's Lynn Darrington is the alternate.

The west roster consists of Jenny Hoyle, Ang Hambari and Julie Clemen, all Gooding; Heidi Hansen, Kris Reynolds, Dena Bensch and Jill Skeem, all Twin Falls; Heather Herrett of Filer; Suzanne McIntosh, Hagerman; Lisa Berrington and Dana Pilgoun of Wood River, and Michelle Bonar of Buhl. Stacy Walker of Buhl is the alternate.

Sage third at Boise

TWIN FALLS — Erin Fillmore of Twin Falls placed second in the all-around competition last weekend in a Class III gymnastics meet in Boise.

Fillmore tied for fifth in the beam competition, placed fourth in floor exercises, finished sixth in the vault and took fourth on the uneven bars to lead Sage Gymnastics of Twin Falls to a third-place finish in Wings' Gymnastics Halloween Classic.

Other placers from Twin Falls included Kris Horner, fourth in the vault and sixth on the balance beam; Kelly Points, second in floor exercise; and Frede Trendle, who tied for fifth on the balance beam.

Fifteen teams from Idaho, Colorado, Montana, Oregon and Washington participated in the meet, which was won by Wings.

Ellis, Aguirre can't equal the Iceman

By United Press International

George Gervin scored 35 points, hitting 16 of 23 shots, and Johnny Moore had 16 assists Sunday night to lead the San Antonio Spurs to a 123-101 victory over the Dallas Mavericks in their NBA home opener.

Forward Gene Banks added 22 and reserve guard Keith Edmondson added 20 for the Spurs. Artis Gilmore scored 10 points, blocked 5 shots and pulled down a game-high 10 rebounds.

Gervin scored 18 points and Moore handed out 7 assists in the first period to take the Spurs to a 37-28 lead. San Antonio ran off 8 straight points early

NBA

The game left both teams with 1-1 records.

Seattle 121, Kansas City 110

In Kansas City, Mo., Gus Williams in the second period to go up 31-28 and held a 68-37 halftime lead. The Mavericks never came closer than 10 points in the second half.

Rookie Dale Ellis led Dallas with 16 points. Pat Cummings and Mark Aguirre, who was shut out in the second half, added 13 each for the Mavericks, and rookie Jon Sundvold combined for 26 fourth quarter points to rally the Seattle SuperSonics to a victory over the Kansas City Kings.

Williams scored 14 of his 31 points and dealt six assists in the final period while Sundvold added 12 of his 18 points and had three assists.

Kansas City led by as many as nine points in the final quarter but Sundvold's goal with 4:28 left pulled the Sonics even at 108-108 and Seattle never trailed again.

The Kings tied the game for the last time at 114-114 before a free throw by Danny Vranes and a layup by Williams on a pass from Sundvold put Seattle ahead 117-114. Sundvold then added a clinching jump shot with 1:22 left for a 119-114 lead.

Jack Sikma added 19 points and Tom Chambers and Al Wood 18 points each for the Sonics, who evened their record at 1-1. Eddie Johnson led the Kings with a career-high 40 points while Steve Johnson added 19 as Kansas City fell to 0-2.

McCumber takes Pensacola crown

By ROD GRIFFITH
United Press International

PENSACOLA, Fla. — Mark McCumber fired birdies on the final three holes to shoot a final round 6-under-par 65 Sunday and win the $250,000 Pensacola Open by four strokes.

Mark Lye, leader for the first two rounds, shot a 65 and Lon Hinkle a 68 to tie for second with 14 under 270 at the par-71, 7,093-yard Perdido Bay Country Club course.

Defending champion Calvin Peete, who won a 65 in the final round to win the Vardon Trophy given the PGA player with the best annual stroke average, took fourth place, shooting a 67 for a 13-under 271.

Mark Hayes shot a 69 and third-round leader Lynn Litt a 72 to tie for fifth with 12 under 272. Tied for seventh at 273 were Gary Hallberg, Jim Simons, Jon Chaffee and Dan Pohl.

"I have mixed feelings," said McCumber of winning the Pensacola Open, last stop on the PGA tour. "In one respect, I'm glad the year is over, but then again the way I'm playing, I wish there was more."

McCumber, also winner of the Western Open, hit his first birdie on the par-3 No. 4, and made four more on the sixth, ninth, 10th and 14th holes before the trio of birdies on Nos. 16, 17 and 18.

McCumber also had bogys on the par-4 No. 7 and par-4 No. 12. He collected $45,000 for his win Sunday.

A 40-foot putt he made on the par-4 No. 14 was his key shot for the day. McCumber said, "I was just going for a two-putt. When it went in, I figured here we go," he said.

Continued from Page C1 — yards on 13 carries. He led all receivers in the game with eight catches for 104 yards.

Neither team generated much offense until the closing minutes of the first period when the Raiders drove 65 yards and capped the drive on a 1-yard TD run by Allen. Seattle tied the score 7-7 in the second quarter when Allen fumbled and Shelton Robinson scooped up the ball and ran 12 yards into the end zone. It was the 25th fumble of the year for Los Angeles.

Seattle went on top 10-7 on a 37-yard field goal by Norm Johnson with 3:49 left in the half, and took a 17-7 halftime lead when Krieg hit Charlie Young with a 5-yard TD pass with only 12 seconds remaining.

The Raiders made it 17-14 early in the second half when Van McElroy intercepted a Krieg pass and six plays later Wilson hit Don Hasselbeck for a 4-yard scoring pass. It was Hasselbeck's first catch since coming to Los Angeles from the New England Patriots a month ago.

The Seahawks sewed up the win on the TD run by Warner and touchdown pass by Zorn before Los Angeles made it 31-21 on a spectacular 50-yard touchdown catch by Dokie Williams. Seattle closed the scoring in the final minutes on a 44-yard field goal by Johnson.

Cleveland 25; Houston 19
Rookie Boyce-Green ran 21 yards for a touchdown with 8:26 left in overtime to give the Cleveland Browns a victory over the Houston Oilers.

After both teams exchanged punts in the overtime period, Mike Whitwell intercepted a pass by Houston quarterback Gifford Nielsen on the Houston 25 and returned to the 21.

Green, who carried 13 times for 108 yards, then broke up the middle on the first play to hand Houston its 16th straight defeat. The Oilers last won Sept. 19, 1982.

The Browns, who led only briefly early in the game on the first of Matt Bahr's four field goals, tied the score at 19-19 with 53 seconds left in the fourth quarter on Bahr's 30-yard field goal.

Only one touchdown was scored in the second half, when Nielsen hit Mike Renfro in a 38-yard scoring pass to give the Oilers a 16-10 lead with 13:21 left in the third period. Florian Kempf missed the extra point try.

Kempf kicked a 23-yard field goal and Bahr added two more to end the second-half scoring.

The Browns, trailing 10-3 with 1:50 left in the first half, marched 58 yards in seven plays and tied the score on a fake fourth-down field goal attempt. Holder McDonald passed to Doug Dieken on a tackle eligible play from 14 yards out with only 25 seconds left in the half.

Jets

The Jets had struggled in recent weeks, particularly since the team's management announced that it was moving the ballclub to the Meadowlands sports complex in New Jersey for the 1985 season. The Jets have played in New York City's Shea Stadium since the inception of the franchise in 1964.

Many members of the defensive unit, particularly Mark Gastineau, will particularly upset with the decision and said publicly that the team's performance since the announcement was partially to blame.

The 49ers, after shaking off an early-season slump, had played well since a loss to the Los Angeles Rams early in the season. Going into Sunday's game, the Niners lead the National Football Conference in offense and were third in defense, rolling up 3,289 yards in the former category and giving up 2,656 in the latter.

Falcons

touchdown pass to Derrick Ramsey with 6:37 left and a 12-yard touchdown pass to Moss Fatsopu with 2:59 left.

The Patriots, also 4-5 after suffering their first loss in three games, were snake-bitten Sunday. They had a pass intercepted at the Atlanta 9 early in the second quarter, lost a fumble at the Atlanta 9 seven minutes later after driving 69 yards, lost a fumble at the Atlanta 7 late in the third quarter and lost a fumble at the Atlanta 4 early in the fourth quarter.

The extra-point attempt after the Patriots' second touchdown was blocked by Earl Jones, but New England got the ball back immediately of their own 48 with a successful inside kickoff. Grogan passed the Patriots to the Atlanta 32 before being stopped on downs with 1:55 left.

The Falcons scored the first two times they had possession, marching 62 yards to the New England 5 before calling on Luckhurst on the first drive and marching 80 yards the second time with Barkowski completing five of six passes for 117 but six yards of that scoring drive.

The Falcons went 72 yards on their final scoring drive with Riggs contributing a 25-yard run in the march.

William Andrews gained 120 yards on 25 carries for Atlanta and Riggs added 64 yards while relieving Andrews.

Bengals whip Packers

By United Press International

A backup quarterback and a returning fullback put the growl back in the Cincinnati Bengals Sunday.

Turk Schonert hit 20 of 29 passes for 244 yards and two touchdowns, while 270-pound Pete Johnson rumbled 112 yards in 26 carries and scored a pair of touchdowns to boost the Bengals to a convincing 34-14 romp over the Green Bay Packers.

Schonert, seldom used in his first three years with the Bengals, started his third straight game for injured Ken Anderson and performed so brilliantly that Cincinnati Coach Forrest Gregg may have a hard time benching Schonert when Anderson is healthy again, he said.

"Every week he gets better," Gregg said of Schonert. "He's confident, poised and a team leader. This was his best game."

Schonert distributed the credit.

"My pass protection gets better and better every game," he said.

"Everybody did a big job today," Johnson, suspended the first four games of the season because of drug use, started his first game of the season Sunday because Charles Alexander was suffering from a mild groin pull.

Johnson didn't know he was going to start until just before the game when Gregg told him, "Get yourself juiced up, big guy."

"I was ready to play," said Johnson. "I'm sorry the whole drug thing happened. I'm glad to be back."

While Cincinnati boosted its record to 3-6, Green Bay slipped to 4-5 and fell below .500 for the first time this season. A frustrated Packers Coach Bart Starr let off a little steam when he saw a reporter smiling in the losing locker room.

AFC Central

"Wipe that smile off your face," Starr erupted. "I don't see a thing that's funny. If you do, then get out of the locker room. This is serious to me."

As for the game, Starr figured it got out of control for good early in the fourth quarter when Green Bay, then trailing 27-14, had a march killed when a Lynn Diekey bomb was intercepted by Ken Riley at the Cincinnati 2.

"We were getting back in the game, but that interception shut our water off," said Starr.

The tough Cincinnati defense also kept the Packers pinned in their own territory much of the day.

"They just shut down our offense," Green Bay receiver James Lofton, who failed to catch a pass. "They took over as far as field position went and really capitalized on it."

Schonert, who had not thrown an NFL touchdown pass until Sunday, had scoring tosses of 10 yards to Steve Kreider and 2 yards to Chris Gilsburgh. He also ran 4 yards for another TD. Johnson rounded out the Cincinnati scoring with TD runs of 5 and 1 yards.

The only scoring Green Bay could manage was an 11-yard halfback pass from Gerry Ellis to Paul Coftman and a 1-yard run by Diekey.

The Bengals scored three touchdowns in the decisive second quarter en route to a 27-7 halftime advantage. Meanwhile, a tough

Cincinnati defense virtually put Green Bay out of the game in the second period. The Packers, on four possessions in the second quarter, were forced to punt from their 17, 3, 7 and 30-yard lines.

Pittsburgh 17, Tampa Bay 12

In Pittsburgh, Frank Pollard bulled over from the 2 with 31 seconds left to cap the Pittsburgh Steelers' fourth-quarter comeback from a 12-0 deficit to a victory over the winless Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

The Steelers, 7-2, began their comeback with a 11-yard touchdown pass from Cliff Stouffer to rookie Wayne Capers with 8:42 left in the game. It was Capers' first NFL touchdown.

Gary Anderson added a 42-yard field goal with 5:49 left to put Pittsburgh in position for the victory. The field goal was set up by a 57-yard punt return by rookie Paul Skansi, bringing the ball to the Tampa Bay 24. Anderson's field goal followed three straight incompletions by Stouffer.

Pittsburgh's game-winning drive, which began with under four minutes left, went 68 yards in 10 plays. The big plays in the drive were an 18-yard keeper by Stouffer, a 21-yard pass from Skansi to Skansi and a 13-yard run by Pollard immediately before his TD burst.

The Steelers' comeback ruined line efforts by Tampa Bay's defense, kicker Bill Capece and running back James Wilder.

The Buccaneers, 0-9, forced seven turnovers, tying the Steelers' previous season-high mark of seven turnovers in their opening loss to Denver.

Capece kicked four field goals of 26, 49, 27, and 28 yards. Tampa Bay had tried only three field goals in the first eight games of the season.

Lions run amok in Chicago

By DENNIS O'SHEA
United Press International

CHICAGO — Eric Hipple threw a 21-yard touchdown pass to Jeff Chadwick and Vince Thompson dove in from 3 yard out, both after first-quarter interceptions of Vince Evans' passes, kicking a 21-0 Detroit Lions' win Sunday over the Chicago Bears.

The win, the Lions' second in three weeks over the Bears, bumped Detroit's record to 4-5. The Bears fell out of the race for second place in the NFC Central with a 3-6 record.

James Jones and Leonard

NFC Central

Thompson added third-quarter touchdowns for the Lions and Jones added another 1-yard run in the fourth. Eddie Murray kicked a 29-yard field goal.

The Bears' only touchdown came in the fourth quarter. Walter Payton, who carried 20 times for 80 yards, scored on a 1-yard dive. Jim McMahon threw an 18-yard pass to tight end Emery Moorehead.

Bob Thomas kicked a 45-yard Bear field goal in the first half after three straight penalties from the tight end position blunted Chicago's only real scoring threat before halftime.

Lions' halfback Billy Sims, playing full-time for the first time since a hand injury earlier this year, carried 19 times for 91 yards. Hipple completed 12 of 19 for 216 yards.

Evans, who was pulled in the third quarter after completing just 11 of 23 for 130 yards, threw interceptions on two of his first five passing attempts of the game.

QB Steve Dilts fumbles as he is hit by St. Louis' Curt Greer

Colts hold off Philadelphia

By United Press International

Raul Allegre was happy to have a chance to redeem himself and he took full advantage of the opportunity.

The rookie free agent out of Texas kicked his fifth field goal of the day—a 30-yarder—with 2:07 remaining Sunday to lift the Colts above the 500 mark with a 22-21 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

Just seven minutes before his game-winning kick, Allegre was barely wide to the right on a 27-yard field goal attempt that would have given the Colts the lead. But he was given new life after rookie teammate Steve Parker recovered a fumbled pylon by the Eagles' Perry Harrington at the Philadelphia 41.

"On the missed field goal, the snap was good," said Allegre, who also kicked field goals of 39, 39, 37, and 42 yards. "I thought it went over the right spot but the officials said no."

"I don't know what happened. I was very mad at myself. You just don't miss those. Then when we recovered the ball, I knew we were setting it up for me again and I was glad to get the opportunity."

The Colts, 5-4, converted a pair of third-down opportunities on their drive, including a 14-yard pass from Mike Fagle to Matt Bouza, before stalling at the 13. Allegre then kicked the winning field goal, his 18th in 21 attempts this season.

The win broke a two-game losing streak for the Colts, who had scored only 14 points in the prior two games.

"I think after today, we're getting back to where we were before the last two games," Baltimore Coach Frank Kush said. "We have a young ball club. We have problems maintaining consistency. But we made some big plays on defense today."

The Eagles, 4-5 after their third straight loss, turned the ball over five times. Derick Hatchett intercepted a Ron Jaworski pass at his own 37 with 1:33 remaining.

On its final drive, Philadelphia got to the Baltimore 44 but Tony Franklin was short on a 62-yard field goal attempt with 15 seconds to play.

"I think the big thing was that in the first half, our defense was not very good," Eagles Coach Marion Campbell said. "We weren't able to put our offense on the field. We did lose the ball but we just didn't give ourselves the opportunity to get going."

Allegre's performance spoiled a big day for veteran wide receiver Harold Carmichael of the Eagles. Carmichael threw the first touchdown pass of his 13-year career—a 45-yard strike to Mike Quick—and caught a 6-yard scoring pass from Jaworski for his club record 78th touchdown, breaking the career mark of 77, held by Steve Van Buren.

Carmichael created the fifth lead change of the game on the 6-yard touchdown pass from Jaworski, which came on an alley-oop throw in the end zone over Hatchett with 12 seconds remaining in the third quarter. The

Lomax & Co. upend Vikings

By United Press International

Nell Lomax has learned a lot in his three years in the NFL, but he found out Sunday there is still at least one piece of knowledge that has escaped him.

"I asked Jim Hart after the game why it seems that some days you can do anything you want and other days you can't," Lomax said. "He didn't have the answer either. That's why this game is so frustrating. But that's why this game is such a challenge."

Lomax and the Cardinals had a day Sunday when they seemingly could do anything they desired and the result was a 41-31 upset of the Minnesota Vikings.

Lomax passed for three touchdowns and Otis Anderson ran 24 times for a season-high 136 yards and another score to help the Cardinals snap the Vikings' three-game winning streak.

The St. Louis defense also got in the act by limiting the Vikings to only 59 yards rushing, intercepting three passes and recording three quarterback sacks.

"That's the way football is meant to be played," Lomax said. "It seems so far every year when the offense has broken down and when the defense plays well the offense hasn't done its job."

Lomax completed scoring passes of 9 yards to Pat Tukey and 4 and 5 yards to Roy Green in guiding the Cardinals, 3-5-1, to their first home victory of the year.

Minnesota Coach Bud Grant also could tell early that it apparently was going to be the Cardinals' day.

"They played well in the beginning and got 14 points on the board and fed off that," Grant said. "It's all timing. When you play a team when they're hot, it's tough."

Anderson, who sat out last Monday night's game because of a shoulder injury, scored on a 10-yard run as the Cardinals beat Minnesota for the fourth straight time, handing the Vikings, 6-3, their first road loss of the year.

The Cardinals, who committed two turnovers, built a 20-10 halftime lead and scored on their two possessions of the third quarter to increase the lead to 34-10 before the Vikings mounted a rally.

Sam McCullum got behind rookie defensive back Lionel Washington and caught a 49-yard scoring pass from Steve Dilts to narrow the lead to 34-17. On Minnesota's next possession, Dilts capped a 49-yard drive with a 2-yard scoring toss to Bob Breur as the Vikings closed to within 34-24.

The Cardinals were faced with a 3rd-and-11, on their own 31, on their next possession, but Lomax got them out of danger by hitting Green with a 49-yard bomb to move the ball to the Minnesota 20.

Lomax' next pass was intercepted by John Swain but the theft was nullified by roughing the passer and unsportsmanlike conduct penalties on Doug Martin that set up Green's second TD reception.

Lomax finished the game 19 of 28 for 241 yards and no interceptions. Dilts completed 27 of 38 for 314.

Dallas 33, New York Giants 20.

In East Rutherford, N.J., Danny Whitfo fired a career-high five touchdown passes and the Dallas defense forced six turnovers to help the Cowboys to a triumph that extended the New York Giants' winless streak to five games.

In ending a two-game losing skid in Giants Stadium, the Cowboys raised their record to an NFL best 8-1 and left New York at 2-6-1.

White capped a pair of long first-half drives with TD passes of 21 yards to Tony Hill and 14 yards to Tony Dorsett. He added 11-yard scoring passes to Doug Cosbie in the third quarter and two fourth-quarter TDs, a 7-yarder to Drew Pearson and a 58-yarder to Hill. Rafael Septien kicked a 36-yard field goal and Dallas rebounded from its first loss of the year.

Jeff Rutledge, who was intercepted three times and lost three fumbles, had his first two scoring passes as a Giant before leaving with a fourth-quarter knee injury and rookie Al Hajj-Sheikh added two field goals.

Rutledge completed 14 of 22 passes for 325 yards but was sacked six times.

White tied a Dallas club record for TD passes in a game in hitting on 15 of 33 for 304 yards behind air tight protection.

Pearson took a quick slant from White on the first play of the fourth quarter to give the Cowboys a 38-30 cushion. The key gain on the 76-yard drive was a 23-yard strike to Tim Newsome as the Cowboys capitalized on the inexperience of rookie free safety Terry Kinard. New York's top draft choice, though, along with two interceptions and a fumble recovery.

DeBerg, Denver shred Kansas City defense

By E.T. McCLANAHAN United Press International

DENVER — Steve DeBerg shredded the NFL's leading pass defense for more than 350 yards and a touchdown and Nathan Poole ran for two more scores Sunday, leading the Denver Broncos to a 27-24 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs.

Rich Karlis added two field goals for the Broncos, who moved into a first place tie with the Los Angeles Raiders in the AFC West. Denver held off a late Kansas City rally to seal the win, boosting the Broncos record to 6-2. Kansas City fell to 4-5.

The Chiefs scored on short touchdown runs by Theotis Brown and Billy Jackson, a 22-yard field goal by Nick Lowery and an 8-yard pass from Bill Kenney to Carlos Carson.

The Chiefs took advantage of a Denver turnover to open the scoring midway through the first period. Starting from the Denver 47, the Chiefs moved to the one in only three plays — one of them a 30-yard pass from Kenney to Carson. Brown punched it in on the next play.

Denver's offense, however, came alive in the second quarter. The defense shut out the Chiefs while the offense scored 17 points. The Broncos' first scoring drive was an unpolished one consisting of 16 plays — six of them penalties.

AFC West

Denver had taken over possession on the Kansas City 27 after recovering a fumble by Brown. The Broncos moved ahead 10 yards but then went into reverse. They were called for offside-once and holding twice and found themselves on the 33, where Karlis tried a 59-yard field goal that went wide-right.

But the Broncos got a break when the Chiefs' Art Still was called for unsportsmanlike conduct for climbing onto a teammate in a bid to block the kick.

The Broncos ended up with the ball back on the Kansas City 17. Defensive holding and encroachment penalties on the Chiefs advanced Denver to the seven and two plays later, Poole scored from 1-yard out.

Denver's Louis Wright intercepted a pass, giving Denver the ball on the Kansas City 48, and five plays later, Karlis kicked a 31-yard field goal.

Denver struck again after forcing the Chiefs to punt. The Broncos took over on the Kansas City 46 and DeBerg threw a TD pass to Steve Watson on the first play from scrimmage.

Make Halloween night of safe treats

DEAR READERS: It's Halloween again and time to remind you that... Somebody's child will be seriously injured, or killed in a Halloween-related traffic accident.

Somebody's child will be badly maimed or fatally burned due to a flammable costume.

Somebody's child will become violently ill or die after eating poisoned candy or an apple containing a razor blade.

Somebody's child will be coaxed into an automobile or lured into a secluded area and sexually assaulted.

To make sure that child isn't yours, here are some tips to ensure the safety of your children:

- Use flameproof costumes only. If costumes are made at home, treat the fabric with a flame-resistant solution.
- Because masks, floppy hats, wigs and veils often interfere with a child's vision, use makeup instead.
- Accessories such as swords, broomsticks, hatchets, wands, etc., should be made of cardboard rather than plastic, metal or wood. Sharp items are dangerous.
- Provide youngsters with flashlights to prevent falls on sidewalks or porch steps. (Positively NO lighted candles should be carried!)
- Decorate your child's costume and trick-or-treat bag with reflective tape to make them highly visible to motorists.
- Remind children that they should NEVER enter the home of a stranger or accept rides.

Abigail VanBuren Dear Abby

Adults can help by keeping their yards well-lighted.
 • Parents should check all "treats" before allowing children to eat them.
 • Very young children should never be out after dark unless accompanied by an adult.
 So, make it a safe Halloween, and some Thanksgiving. You'll have more to be thankful for.

DEAR ABBY: A junior high school girl sought your advice after having told her gym teacher that she "loved" her and asked her to be her "special friend." The teacher told her she felt "uncomfortable" being loved so much by a student, and she urged the girl to get over it.
 You were right to advise the girl not to pursue a special friendship with this teacher.
 Abby, as a representative for the National Education Association, I have seen my share of unsavory student/teacher liaisons gone public, and I can only commend this teacher for seeing the danger in the situation. Every day in every school, some student is falling in love with some teacher. Some of these gestures are reciprocated and, if made public, the teacher stands to lose a career or worse. School boards and the courts do not look kindly on teachers who violate the sacred trust of a student/teacher relationship.

 Teaching is a more difficult job than most of the public realizes, and this letter illustrates just one of the occupational hazards. The gym teacher was correct and proper, even expressing her feeling of being "uncomfortable" with being "loved." I applaud this teacher's sound judgment.

S.L. WICHITA, KAN.
 DEAR ABBY: Please tell people to quit digging the morticians. After all, they are the 1st people in the world to let you down. O-Lay!
 —FRANK BARNHILL, HOUSTON (Problems? What's bugging you? Upload on Abby, P.O. Box 38823, Hollywood, Calif. 90028. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Anniversary

JEROME — Mr. and Mrs. Glen Patheal of Jerome will be honored on their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house on Sunday, Nov. 6, at the Jerome Senior Citizens Center, at First and Adams streets.
 Friends and relatives are invited to attend between 2 and 5 p.m.
 Patheal and the former Helen Beaz were married Nov. 3, 1933, at the old Banbury Ranch near Wendell. They farmed at Wendell until moving to Jerome in 1950.
 Mrs. Patheal grew up in the Wendell area, and her husband, who came to Jerome in 1913, was a carpenter before he retired.
 The event will be hosted by the couple's four children: Wayne Patheal of Jerome, Leroy Patheal of Arco and Ilene Myers and Larry Patheal, both of Jerome.

Alcoholism inherited?

CHICAGO (UPI) — Scientists say their international study suggests children of alcoholics may inherit an increased susceptibility to alcoholism.

The research found differences in brain wave responses after a single low dose of alcohol between the biological sons of alcoholic fathers and a comparison group of men whose parents were not alcoholics.

The study was conducted by Vleki E. Pollock of the University of Southern California in Los Angeles and colleagues in New York and Copenhagen.

"Genetic factors appear to be important in the development of alcoholism," the researchers concluded in a report in the American Medical Association Archives of General Psychiatry.

Mr. Pollock and colleagues studied 48 Danish men between the ages of 19 and 21. Thirty-one men with alcoholic fathers were considered the high risk group and 17 served as the comparison group.

After drinking a mildly alcoholic beverage the men underwent an EEG — electroencephalograph — and measurement of blood alcohol concentration. The high risk group had significantly greater brain wave responses than did the control group.

Overweight sisters need help dieting

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 14 years old and have a bad problem. I'm 30 pounds overweight and it upsets me very much. I'm 5 foot 2 and have a very strong build.

I have four brothers and live on a farm and usually do a lot of lifting and carrying. I love athletics such as volleyball, softball and gymnastics.

My sister is about 50 pounds overweight and my mother is more. When my sister comes home for the weekend she sits in my room and says she hates herself and puts herself down all the time. I also do the same thing, such as telling jokes about myself, but really I'm hurting inside.

I'm known as one of the funniest and friendliest girls in school. But I'm still hurting inside. I've tried two or three diets but nothing has helped. Please help me.

Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

joking about it. But being significantly overweight is not a laughing matter at any age.

However, you will need to make much of the effort yourself. Your home environment is probably not conducive to losing weight. Good farm cooking in a family that apparently likes to eat makes it difficult to diet.

I'm sending you The Health Letter 47, Weight Losing Diet, which will enable you to lose weight if you follow it. It is a balanced diet. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Do not go on any fad diet or any diet that is not a balanced diet. You need to learn about nutrition while you are still young to correct your problem and stay at a healthy weight all your life.

Your exercise habits will help. Daily exercise will enable you to lose weight without having to be on too strict a diet. Do not expect miracles overnight. Count on taking at least 30 weeks to lose your 30 pounds. Slow is best.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 12-year-old girl and very out of shape. I have tried to correct this but it is very difficult for me to stick to an exercise plan.

I have no serious physical problems. I weigh around 115 and am 5 foot 4. Could you please suggest a proper exercise plan for me?

DEAR READER — For people of all ages who are not physically active and are "very out of shape," I recommend beginning with a walking program. Start walking a little each day. Perhaps 15 minutes at a time at first. Gradually build up your walking until you can walk at least two miles twice a day without undue fatigue.

As your walking program progresses, you might also want to start a general exercise program to include sit-ups and push-ups. I'm sure you are in school and have access to some exercise programs or equipment. Ask your physical education teacher to help you with your special program. If a pool is available, swimming is a great exercise for all your muscles.

When you can walk two miles twice a day, then you may wish to start jogging. You can do that by jogging a few steps in the middle of your walk.

The witches and the goblins had something to do with South's wicked trump break. A normal break would have made things easy. As it was, South had to tip-toe carefully to land 10 tricks.

Vulnerable: Both Dealer South. The bidding:
 South West North East
 Pass 2* Pass Pass
 Pass Pass Pass Pass

South won his club ace and played a high trump in smiles. West discarded, and the smiles disappeared. Had trump split, South would have had an easy trump entry and dummy's diamond king and club queen would have held the defenders to only three tricks. South might have even snagged an over-trick.

Opening lead: Club 10
 Don't be surprised when trump break poorly on Halloween night.

As things were, if South tried to speak his diamond queen before drawing trumps, the game would fall. East would win, exit safely with a trump and South would have to play the hearts himself. He would then lose three hearts and a diamond and the goblins would have got the blame.

ANSWER: Club deuce. A club lead will be best if North has any one of three honors (ace, king, or jack). In diamonds, he needs the ace or queen.

At Willis Motor that royal treatment starts early. By accepting and keeping only those cars considered good enough to be "Used Cars."
 Each car is then inspected and tested by expert mechanics. They go over every car from bumper to bumper. From top to bottom. And from the outside in.
 That's why with every good used car we sell, we guarantee customer satisfaction.
 ...and royal treatment. With us it's no joke.

PONTIAC

Fiero

In Stock!

MID-ENGINE DESIGN GIVES IT AN AMAZING COMMAND OF THE ROAD!

Pontiac's Fiero is the very first mid-engine production car built in America! Fiero's mid-engine design places the powertrain unit behind the driver's seat, resulting in excellent weight distribution - and impressive handling performance. Fiero features fully independent suspension, rack and pinion steering and power disc brakes. All standard.

Pontiac Fiero! Test-drive Pontiac's revolution in action today!
