

Inside today

Scholes still trustee - B1

Make a cookie tree for Christmas - C1

New figures look brighter - C11

The Times-News

79th year, No. 354

Twin Falls, Idaho

04 27-85 033
KALVAR 390 E
3322 S 3RD E
SALT LAKE CITY
UT 84115

25¢
Thursday, December 19, 1984

Evans proposes tight state budget

By BOB FICK
The Associated Press
BOISE — Gov. John Evans, refusing to cross his second major state spending threshold in as many years, proposed a 1985-86 general fund budget Tuesday that falls just $1,000 short of $600 million.
"I believe my executive budget is a reasonable and realistic one that most legislators can support," the governor said of the spending plan that exceeds the current budget by just over $50 million.

Labeled one of the most conservative budgets proposed by the Democratic chief executive in his eight years in office, Evans kept his earlier pledge to deal with the most critical of state spending needs without any general increase in taxes.
In fact, the governor's spending plan, outlined in a statewide public television address, calls for no increases in any tax to finance spending above the anticipated $577.3 million in receipts from current tax programs.

The additional $23 million will be raised by requiring corporations and self-employed businessmen other than farmers to pay their state income taxes quarterly instead of just once a year and by intensifying tax auditing to secure tax revenues now going uncollected.
In addition, Evans recommended that the state impose its own eight-cent cigarette tax when the federal tax is cut by eight cents next October, earmarking the $5 million generated by the tax for maintenance of state buildings that have been neglected because of present financial problems.

Calling his budget one that recognizes fiscal realities, Evans said, "It can be funded without a general tax increase. It addresses our most critical needs including commitments made to education, court-ordered improvements at the state prison and the adjudication of water rights on the Snake River. And it provides for the continued delivery of other essential state government services."

The quarterly-tax payment plan, opposed by the Idaho Association of Commerce and Industry and rejected in the past, mirrors federal income tax requirements and was called the most obvious of all state tax loopholes. The governor's plan would accelerate payments that would have been received in the 1986-87 budget year into the coming year that begins July 1.

The proposal would actually create a one-time windfall to the state of $40 million in revenue, but half that money would be put into a reserve account to help finance state spending in the 1986-87 year.
Evans' budget chief, Martin Peterson, denied that the tax collection acceleration program was a calculated
• See BUDGET on Page A2

Board adopts its plan

By DEAN MILLER
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls teachers have a new salary schedule, a new insurance plan and a new contract language while school board and union negotiators have not reached an agreement.
At a special Tuesday night meeting, the board unilaterally adopted its own last offer of a $13,500 salary base and new contract language a week after announcing a new insurance plan the union had not agreed to.
Teachers will be paid retroactively for the salary increase provided for in the board's adopted salary schedule with a second check to accompany their January pay check.
At an afternoon meeting between board members and union negotiators arranged by local union representative Terry Gilbert and Times-News managing editor Stephen Hartgen, the union team offered to
• See SCHOOL on Page A2

Teacher negotiator Jaina Roy, standing in back, expresses her disappointment with the decision and says it can only have negative repercussions

Justice steps out of Hansen recount, Stallings intervenes

The Associated Press
BOISE — Fearing problems with constitutional provisions and due process, the state Supreme Court on Tuesday agreed to hear oral arguments on defeated Republican Congressman George Hansen's request for a general recount in southern Idaho's disputed 2nd District.

"I don't know any other state that's got a similar statute," said Chief Justice Charles Donaldson of Idaho's 1957 recount law being used for only the first time in the Hansen race. "We want to make sure we do it right when we do it."
During a procedural hearing on Hansen's request for the state-financed recount, Donaldson announced that Justice Robert Huntley had disqualified himself from sitting on the matter and that attorneys for Democratic Congressman-elect Richard Stallings would be allowed to join the state Attorney General in opposing the recount.

Hansen, uncovered nearly 70 changes in the certified vote totals that gave Stallings a 133-vote victory over Hansen on Nov. 6. But most of those changes favored Stallings, and when the recount was completed last week, covering precincts in 16 of the district's 26 counties, Stallings' victory margin had grown to 170 votes.
Still, Hansen immediately demanded a state-financed district-wide recount, contending that while he lost ground overall in the partial recount, there were 10 precincts that established a trend favoring him that if carried through the rest of the district would make him the winner by 195 votes.

Hansen attorney John Sutton contended that state law requires only 10 precincts to show the trend favoring the incumbent, but Attorney General Jim Jones denied the request, arguing that the full results of the partial recount must be considered, not just a fraction of them.
Deputy Attorney General Roble Russell said the 10-precinct figure is used in state law only as the minimum number of precincts that must be recounted for a candidate to have a chance at triggering a district-wide recount.

He said the law intends that all recounted precincts must be considered, however, when decided, whether to embark on the complete recount.
Otherwise, Russell said, a candidate could order all but one precinct recounted, claim he was favored in 10 though lost ground overall and still demand a state-financed recount that would still see him lose the election.

An Idaho Falls statistician has said his review of the information suggests that it is virtually impossible for Hansen to reverse the election's outcome.
While acknowledging that it is not impossible for the recount to favor Hansen, Corwin Atwood said the variations found in the partial recount, if spread district-wide, would reverse the outcome only one time in every thousand.

JUSTICE ROBERT HUNTLEY
Linked to past challenges

The oral arguments in the case were set for Thursday afternoon and the Attorney General and Stallings were given until Wednesday to submit their briefs on the issue.
Donaldson gave an explanation for Huntley's decision to step aside in the unprecedented case. But Huntley has been involved in a number of past unsuccessful Democratic challenges to the seven-term GOP incumbent and served as campaign treasurer for former Democratic state senator Stan Kress, who lost to Hansen twice in the 1970s.
A partial recount involving on 45 of the district's 451 precincts, financed

No prosecution intended, court told

By TOM SEPPY
The Associated Press
WASHINGTON — Congress did not intend to prosecute House and Senate members on criminal charges for violations of the 1978 Ethics in Government Act, a lawyer for Rep. George V. Hansen, R-Idaho, told the U.S. Court of Appeals on Tuesday.
Hansen, convicted of filing false financial statements with Congress, sat in the courtroom with his family as his lawyer, Nathan Lewin, said the ethics law stipulates that only civil sanctions be applied.

In oral arguments before a three-judge appeals panel, Lewin said the ethics act "provided a new financial disclosure obligation which prevailed with it whatever remedial provisions Congress explicitly prescribed in 1978."
"It was the job of Congress to say, when a new act is enacted, how it is going to enforce it. Congress did put teeth in the legislation. It said there would be civil penalties."

Reid H. Weingarten, the government attorney who prosecuted Hansen, said it was not necessary for Congress to include criminal sanctions in the 1978 statute because they are provided in the previously enacted False Statements Act.
That law, and its criminal sanctions, can apply to false financial disclosure statements by members of Congress, Weingarten said.
Hansen, 51, who served seven terms in the House but was defeated for reelection in November, said after the hour-long arguments.

"The point was right on target, right at the heart of our briefs. I think they showed not only the case for George Hansen, but for every member of Congress who has to be concerned about this issue."
U.S. District Judge Joyce Hens Green sentenced Hansen to up to 15 months in prison and fined him the maximum $40,000 on June 15.
Hansen, the first elected official prosecuted under the Ethics in Gov-
• See APPEAL on Page A2

Bell proclaims 'academic turnaround' from new scores

By CHRISTOPHER CONNELL
The Associated Press
WASHINGTON — Education Secretary T.H. Bell fired a new volley of statistics Tuesday showing college entrance test scores up and high school dropouts down, prompting him to proclaim "the beginnings of an academic turnaround."
At a news conference on his last day in office, Bell predicted that President Reagan would not try to abolish the Education Department, as he threatened in his 1980 campaign. "I believe, Bell said, "I don't think the Congress is going to enact it."
Reagan says he is delaying naming a successor to Bell while he considers the department's fate. Bell is returning to Utah as an education professor.

Bell displayed the second installment of what he hopes will become an annual tradition in his department, a wall chart of education statistics ranking the states by test scores, high school completion rates, teacher salaries, class size and other measures.
He said the statistics provide "some evidence that we're getting the beginnings of an academic turnaround."
"I don't believe that educators ought to be at all defensive about the data," he said.
Bell's chart showed that between 1982 and 1984, there was:

• A 0.1-point gain in the American College Testing program score to an average of 18.5 on a scale of 1 to 30;
• A four-point gain in Scholastic Aptitude Test scores to 897, on a scale of 400 to 1,600;
• A rise in the percentage of high school students who are graduate after enrolling four years earlier, from 72.8 percent in 1982 to 73.9 percent in 1983.
Bell cited a "dramatic increase" in the graduation rate in North Dakota, where 94.8 percent were graduated in 1983, up from 87.2 percent a year earlier.
Minnesota, at 90.7 percent, was the only other state above the goal set by Reagan and Bell of reducing high school dropouts to 10 percent by 1990.

Georgia officials, who chafed at Bell's first school rankings last January, uncovered a mistake in the new list of teacher salaries, which showed Georgia as last in the nation with a drop in average pay from $15,444 in 1981 to $13,040 in 1983.
Georgia state school superintendent Charles McDaniel said the average salary in 1983 actually was $17,412, which would make Georgia 42nd instead of 51st.
Bell lauded South Carolina, a state traditionally near the bottom of school rankings, for taking his earlier criticisms to heart and enacting comprehensive reforms.

South Carolina's SAT scores rose 13 points — the biggest jump in the nation — to 803, but it still had the lowest average among the 23 states where the SAT is the dominant test.
In 32 states the SAT or ACT test scores went up. They went down in 10 and stayed the same in eight states. Figures were included for the District of Columbia, but not Washington state, because fewer than 20 percent of students take either test there.
Bell's student-teacher ratio showed his home state of Utah last with 24.9 students per teacher, and Alaska was first with 13.2 percent. The national average in 1983 was 18.7.

enacting comprehensive reforms.
South Carolina's SAT scores rose 13 points — the biggest jump in the nation — to 803, but it still had the lowest average among the 23 states where the SAT is the dominant test.
In 32 states the SAT or ACT test scores went up. They went down in 10 and stayed the same in eight states. Figures were included for the District of Columbia, but not Washington state, because fewer than 20 percent of students take either test there.
Bell's student-teacher ratio showed his home state of Utah last with 24.9 students per teacher, and Alaska was first with 13.2 percent. The national average in 1983 was 18.7.

Holdback decision coming in January

BOISE (AP) — Gov. John Evans says he will decide in January whether to hold back the $1.1-billion state spending holdback for the current year.

"I am hopeful that after the first of the year tax collections will have improved enough that we will be able to reduce at least part of the holdback," the governor said Tuesday during his statewide televised budget address.

This summer, the governor ordered a $14.3 million reduction in state spending during the current year, citing a gap between receipts and state tax revenue projections. The holdback, most of it in education funding, will expire Jan. 31 unless state lawmakers vote to continue it through the year that ends June 30.

In recent months, the revenue picture has improved considerably over earlier estimates," state economic analysts said, noting that revenue projections through November were running about $15.6 million ahead of those that prompted Evans to impose the spending reduction. Evans budget director Martin Peterson said the governor wanted the benefit of seeing figures on actual December tax receipts before making up his mind about whether to seek extension of his spending holdback. Since uncertainties continue to cloud the revenue picture, the analysts said, "The possibility remains that revenues may still come in below the levels projected. If that turns out to be the case, there will be a need to retain at least a portion of the holdback." But Peterson and others said that if the current trend continues, it appears Evans will at last lift the order for the $1.7 billion in funds for public education.

School

Continued from Page A1 take the $13,500 salary-base and the new district insurance policy to teachers for an advisory vote if the board would give up the contract language, said teacher negotiator Jana Roy. Roy said the meeting between her, teacher negotiator Reid Pfefferle, and board members Gary Fay and Jack McNeese was "aimed at opening doors of communication."

master agreements, Fay said. The procedural agreement sets up ground rules for negotiation and the master agreement is the yearly result of salary and benefits negotiations. Lamborn said he initially favored the unilateral adoption of the salary and contract language, but abstained from the vote because he thought the teachers should have had a chance to take the advisory vote. "This is a decision with far-reaching and possibly very negative effects in terms of the relationship between the board and teachers," Roy told the board.

Budget

Continued from Page A1 plan to avoid proposing any tax increases during Evans' final two years in office, leaving the problem of future budget financing to whomever is elected governor in 1986.

At that time, Evans said, economic growth coupled with benefits from the federal tax auditing program should begin producing the revenue needed to meet all spending needs without any further tax changes.

"I am confident that as Idaho's economy continues to improve, we will be able to see the kind of growth that will allow us to provide all the necessary state government services at levels that will best serve our citizens," he said in his prepared speech.

But in the 10-page address, Evans conceded that current financial constraints forced him to delay full financing for major improvements in state teachers' salaries, trim some of the money requested by the Corrections Department, reduce the budget proposals from the state's four colleges and limit the general state to the employees pay raise to 3 percent compared to the Personnel Commission recommendation of 5.8 percent.

In all, the governor and his budget analysts rejected $65 million in spending sought by state agencies and departments, and in the end the governor, who recommended and secured the state's first $500 million budget last winter, ordered the new budget to be brought in under $600 million. That forced economists to slash another $120 million from the final proposal before it won Evans' approval.

"While Idaho's economy is improving, the pace of our recovery has been slow and steady rather than rapid and dramatic," Evans said. "Unfortunately, the resources we have available are not enough to meet all the needs..."

As a result, the governor recommended financing only half of the second $15.6 million installment bringing state teachers' salaries up to the national average. He also declined to provide any of the $11 million in state money for a so-called career-ladder program that would provide incentive pay for above normal performance. Both had been promised by the Legislature last winter.

"I continue to support the concept of a career ladder program," Evans said. "However, I also recognize the limited availability of state revenues."

While hoping to finance the program next year, Evans said he would support giving local school districts the revenue options necessary, probably through the property tax, to implement the plan now, but he made no specific recommendations in that area.

The issue of local participation in career ladder funding was broached earlier this month by the governor, and Superintendent of Public Instruction Jerry Evans immediately said such a plan would kill the program all together. Coupled with the basic 3 percent pay raise being recommended for all public workers, teachers would receive a 6 percent pay hike next year. That is also the same amount Evans recommended for the state's university staffs, whose pay the state is also trying to bring up to the national average.

In addition to higher pay, the governor recommended $3.5 million in new funding to upgrade specific higher education programs at the four schools that could lose their accreditation because of financial neglect. That money would be funneled to the electrical engineering and computer science programs at the University of Idaho, the nursing program and Lewis-Clark State College, the business school at Boise State and the pharmacy school at Idaho State.

"We just felt there was nothing to be gained by that," board chairman Gene Champlin said after the meeting. "We feel the contract language is important to the board and to the administration." Champlin cast the deciding vote as McNeese and Calvin Lamborn abstained, while Fay and Robert Knighton voted in favor.

"We can't afford to pay any more and we already decided on the insurance," Fay said. "We're very concerned about the contract language," said Fay.

With five sections of the contract language on the table before the board adopted its last offer, the two sections most at issue were a section defining grievances subject to the higher education procedure and a section concerning the maintenance of pay and benefit levels from year to year, said Fay and Roy.

The remaining three sections on the table include the union's rights to information about the district for negotiating purposes, strike settlement language left over from the teachers' strike of 1976, and the separation of the procedural and

The union will take action against the board for bad faith bargaining as a result of this decision, Roy said. Earlier Tuesday, Roy said the negotiating team was collecting documentation for a lawsuit against the district for bad faith bargaining. "That language is of utmost importance to teachers," Roy said after the meeting. "I think on a year that was supposed to be the year for teacher salary equity, the board's refusal to maintain the contract language while they are not providing all the House Bill 475 money and making an insurance cut was really unreasonable."

Gilbert said he and Hartgen discussed the informal teacher and board meeting over a lunch Tuesday and that Hartgen called board members while he called the union team. Hartgen declined to comment on his role in the meeting. Champlin said after the meeting the board has instructed its negotiators to begin work immediately on creating a procedural agreement for next year that will be acceptable to both parties.

Today's weather

Sunny, cold today; some snow possible

Twin Falls, Burley, Rupert, Jerome and Gooding: Mostly sunny and cold today with light winds, then increasing clouds tonight. Highs 15 to 20. Lows zero to 10 above zero. Mostly cloudy Thursday with a chance of light snow. Highs 10 to 20.

Northern Nevada and Utah: Nevada: Snow through tonight, decreasing Thursday morning and becoming partly cloudy by afternoon. Highs both days in the low 20s to mid 30s. Lows 10 to 20 tonight. Utah: Mostly cloudy with a 50 percent chance of snow falling through tonight. Highs 30 to 35. Lows 20 to 25. Periods of snow Thursday with highs 30 to 35.

Idaho: Fair and continued cold through tonight with areas of local valley fog. Highs 15 to 20. Lows 0 to 10 below zero. Partly cloudy Thursday with a slight chance of light snow. Highs 10 to 20.

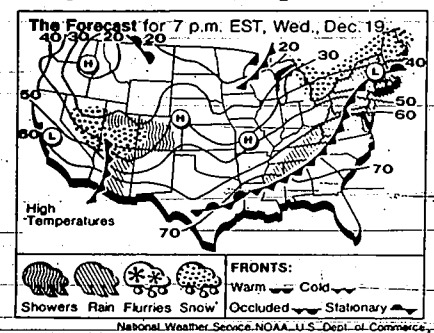

Synopsis: Partly cloudy skies were the rule over Idaho Tuesday with snow showers falling in the north during the morning. A half-inch of precipitation Tuesday morning, while McCall and Lewiston reported just a trace. By midafternoon, only Mullan was still reporting light snow. Valley fog and smoke was also a problem in the southern valleys. Visibility at the Pocatello Airport dropped to 1/4 miles in fog and smoke.

The warmest temperature in the state Tuesday was 30 degrees at McCall and the coldest morning low was 28 below zero at Fairfield.

The extended forecast for southern Idaho Friday through Sunday — the first three days of winter — calls for unsettled weather with chances of rain and snow at times. Highs will be in the mid 20s to the mid 30s. Lows will range from the subteens to the lower 20s.

Idaho road report BOISE (AP) — Ice and snow continued to plague motorists on state highways Tuesday night, the Idaho Transportation Department reported.

Conditions: U.S. 95 — Plummer-Coeur d'Alene: broken snow floor, snow floor; light snow. Coeur d'Alene-Sandpoint: icy, broken snow floor, snow floor; Sandpoint-Canadian border, icy snow floor;

Riggins-Whiter Bird Hill, snow floor, snowing; Orangeville-Whitester, snow floor; Winchester-Lewiston, broken snow floor, snow floor; Lewiston-Moscow, broken snow floor, light snow; Welter-New Meadows, icy, broken snow floor; Marsing-Orion border, wet, icy spots, broken snow floor. Interstate 90 — Four of July Canyon, snow floor; Lookout Pass, snow floor, chains advised on towing rigs. U.S. 12 — Lewiston-Groffline, icy; Orofino-Kooskia, icy, broken snow floor; Kooskia-Lowell, snow floor; Lowell-Lolo Pass, snow floor. Interstate 84 — Caldwell area, icy spots, broken snow floor; Boise-area, icy spots; Boise-Glenns Ferry, broken snow floor, snow floor; Bliss-Twin Falls, icy spots; Twin Falls-Burley, icy spots; Burley-Utah border, icy spots.

Idaho 55 — Horseshoe Bend-Donnelly, snow floor; Donnelly-New Meadows, snow floor. Idaho 21 — Boise-Idaho City, snow floor; Idaho City-Lewiston, snow floor; Grandjean-Stanley, broken snow floor, snow floor. U.S. 20 — Mountain Home-Fairfield, snow floor; Fairfield-Carey, broken snow floor, snow floor, patchy fog; Carey-Arco, icy spots, broken snow floor;

Table with columns for National cities (Albuquerque, Atlanta, Chicago, Denver, Des Moines, Detroit, Honolulu, Houston, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Las Vegas, Los Angeles, Memphis, Miami Beach, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, New Orleans, New York, Oklahoma City, Portland, Me., Phoenix, Pittsburgh, Portland, Me., Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Seattle, Spokane, Washington, Wichita) and Idaho cities (Idaho Falls, Lewiston, McCall, Pocatello, Salmon, Twin Falls). It lists Max, Min, and Pcp (precipitation) for each.

Table with columns for National cities (Albuquerque, Atlanta, Chicago, Denver, Des Moines, Detroit, Honolulu, Houston, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Las Vegas, Los Angeles, Memphis, Miami Beach, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, New Orleans, New York, Oklahoma City, Portland, Me., Phoenix, Pittsburgh, Portland, Me., Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Seattle, Spokane, Washington, Wichita) and Idaho cities (Idaho Falls, Lewiston, McCall, Pocatello, Salmon, Twin Falls). It lists Max, Min, and Pcp (precipitation) for each.

Index

- Business C11-12
Chris Haft D1
Classified D4-8
Comics A10
Dear Abby C10
Features C10
Circulation Jerry Hoyt, circulation director
Circulation phones are manned between 7 and 10 a.m. only. If you do not receive your paper by 7 a.m., call the number by your area:
Jerome-Wendell-Gooding-Hagerman 536-2535
Burley-Rupert-Paul-Oakley 678-2552
Bliss-Castledown 245-4940
Pler-Rogerson-Hollister 733-0931
Twin Falls and all other areas 733-0931

- Food, home C1-9
Idaho B4-5
Magle Valley B1
Nancy Joy Jones C1
Nation A3, A5-6
Obituaries B2
Opinion A4
People A11
Sports D1-4
Valley life C2-6
West A12
World A8-9

News Stephens Hartgen, managing editor
If you have a news tip or wish to talk to someone in the editorial department, call 733-0931 between 9:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. weekdays. To report late news and sports results after 5:30 and on weekends, call 733-0930.

Advertising Bill Blake, advertising director
If you wish to place an advertisement, call 733-0931. Classified ads are taken Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., and Saturdays from 8 a.m. until noon. Information on display ads is available weekdays only.

Appeal

Continued from Page A1 ernment Act, was convicted April 2 of four counts of failing to list nearly $24,000 in profits and loans on his congressional financial reports for 1978-1981, including financial dealings with Texas oilman Nelson Bunker Hunt.

Hansen omitted from his disclosure forms an $87,478 profit his wife, Connie, made trading silver futures with the help of Hunt, a $61,503 personal loan from Hunt to Mrs. Hansen and $135,000 in personal loans to the congressman from three Virginia men, John Meade Jr., Carl McAfee and Odell Rogers.

The ethics act requires virtually all major government officials annually to disclose financial holdings, liabilities and transactions, including gifts, loans and profits for themselves and immediate family members. Also attending the arguments was Sen. Orrin G. Hatch, R-Utah, chairman of the Judiciary subcommittee on the constitution, who filed a brief of the court brief on Hansen's behalf.

CORRECTION NOTICE
The blanket sleepers on page 6 of the Sears Roebuck & Co. circular are not available due to manufacturer's problems. Reinchecks will be issued. We regret any inconvenience this may have caused our customers.
SEARS, ROEBUCK & CO.

Kelley GARDEN CENTER
Gift Certificates For The Hard-to-Buy-For ALL CHRISTMAS ITEMS REDUCED
NOW 1/3-1/2 OFF!
• All Ornaments • All Wreaths
• All Christmas Arrangements • All Garlands and centerpieces in the Loft • All Holly & Mistletoe
• All Pointsettias
CHRISTMAS TREES
Were $19.95 Now 1/2 Price $9.95
ADDITION AVENUE EAST AT EASTLAND, TWIN FALLS • 734-8518
Open Mon-Sat. 9:00-6:00; Sunday 12:00-5:00

At The MERC
Your Family Store in Twin Falls
Christmas is a family affair Thru Dec. 21st
30% OFF
MEN'S and WOMEN'S
LORUS QUARTZ

Reporters, cameramen view first subcompact Nova turned out in Fremont, Calif., plant

GM, Toyota unveil new car produced in California plant

FREMONT, Calif. (AP) — The $400 million joint venture of General Motors Corp. and Toyota Corp. on Tuesday unwrapped the first fruit of an unprecedented union of American workers and Japanese teamwork: the new Nova, a sporty subcompact being built at a long-idle GM plant.

The four-door, front-wheel drive car, painted a light metallic blue with a dark blue interior, was unveiled by Tatsuro Toyoda, president of the joint venture, New United Motor Manufacturing Co. In a brief ceremony, Toyoda handed the keys to the gleaming car to Robert Burger, a GM vice president and general manager of the Chevrolet division.

"Our 5,000-plus Chevy dealers . . . of course cannot wait to get their hands on it," Burger said. "It now provides Chevrolet and its dealers with the means to be the small-car leader in America."

Company officials refused to put a price on the new car, but Burger predicted it will account for one-quarter of the one million small cars Chevrolet expects to sell annually by 1986.

Both Toyoda and Edward Lechtzin,

GM assistant director of public relations, said they had received calls and letters from motorists interested in buying the new Nova, which is expected to be available to the public in late spring.

"Our fate, our success as a company will be decided by the American consumer," Toyoda said. "That is as it should be. It is up to us, the United Motors team members, to make sure we produce a thing of quality as high as any in the world."

The Nova, being built in a 3.1 million-square-foot plant that once made other GM cars, is the product of the union between an American business with union workers and Japanese management and production techniques.

"New United Motors is an experiment in the truest sense of the word," Toyoda said. "As in any experiment, there is no guarantee of success."

The joint venture, limited to 12 years by the Federal Trade Commission, expects to hire 1,900 more workers by 1986 when the company hopes to reach its full-production level of 250,000 cars per year.

The union of the two giant automakers has, however, drawn criticism from the No. 3 U.S. car maker, Chrysler Corp., which has accused GM and Toyota of anti-trust violations in a suit filed in U.S. District Court. A trial of the charge is set to begin in Washington, D.C. on March 4.

The first Nova — a name resurrected from a popular Chevrolet model of the '60s and '70s — resembles the Toyota Corolla. NUMMI has spent a week testing the first Novas at the plant, the former home of Fremont General Motors Corp. Some 2,500 workers lost their jobs when it shut down in March 1982 after 21 years.

Security is tight at the new plant, but the glimpses of life inside offered by employees and managers suggest that the 600 workers — about 90 percent formerly with GM — enjoy the new management and production techniques imported from Japan.

"The emphasis here at New United Motors is not on machinery, is not on automation. It is people, teamwork," Toyoda said. "In order for us to produce a quality product, we must have quality people . . . willing to accept new ideas and new challenges."

Weinberger outlines defense budget cuts of $28 million

By NORMAN BLACK
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger said Tuesday that President Reagan's decision to slow the U.S. military build-up by $28 billion over three years would preserve all major weapons systems and still make a "substantial contribution" to reducing the federal deficit.

Weinberger said he considered the reductions the bottom-line cuts that could be made before presenting the budget to Congress, and said calls on Capitol Hill and elsewhere for a defense spending freeze would have a "very devastating effect on readiness, on sustainability, on modernization."

The defense secretary thus emerged as the winner in a protracted budget battle within the Reagan administration. The president's call for $8.7 billion in reductions in 1986 is slightly larger than what other aides had called for, but the three-year, $28 billion figure is far less than budget director David Stockman said was needed to cut federal deficits in half.

Reagan has tentatively approved $34 billion in domestic spending cuts for 1986, but many members of Congress have called for substantial defense cuts as well.

Initial reaction in Congress to the defense spending announcement was negative. Sen. John Chafee, R-R.I., No. 3 in the GOP Senate leadership, declared the proposed savings were "miniscule" and added, "it's really not a credible performance."

Chafee predicted that Republican leaders would "dramatically rewrite Reagan's budget proposals unless he changes them himself to reduce the defense buildup further."

House Republican Leader Robert Michel of Illinois was said by an aide to be unhappy with Weinberger's announcement.

The defense secretary said the Pentagon would protect major weapons systems such as the B-1 bomber and MX missile, and that Congress should be satisfied with the extent of the Pentagon's 1986 budget slashing.

"We have a very satisfactory budget result and decision announced by the president and one that will enable us to continue regaining the necessary deterrent strength," Weinberger said.

"We have, at the same time, made a substantial contribution . . . to the deficit-reduction effort. And we have budget authority reductions that are substantial but not crippling as some of the proposals would have been."

Stockman had sought a slowdown in Pentagon spending of $8 billion in 1986, $20 billion in 1987 and $30 billion in 1988.

Asked if the Pentagon considered the $8.7 billion reduction the bottom line in presenting a budget to Congress, Weinberger replied: "Yes, we do, and we've made that point to the president."

The defense secretary said the overall spending authority of $313.7 billion will amount to real growth in the Pentagon's budget somewhere in the vicinity of 6 percent.

Weinberger said the size of the national budget deficit was "a worrisome problem." But he added: "It's also a very worrisome thing that we had a 20 percent decline in real terms by anybody's measure in defense during the 1970's."

Reagan has already tentatively approved nearly $34 billion in domestic spending cuts for fiscal 1986. Those reductions, when added to the $8.7 billion slowdown in military outlays, will allow the president to reach his 1986 target for reducing the budget deficit.

But the proposed Pentagon reductions for 1987 and 1988 are far short of those deemed necessary by Stockman to trim the budget deficit in half to $100 billion by 1988.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said Tuesday that Reagan had "not . . . abandoned . . . deficit-reduction goal, but he gave no indication of how the president planned to reach it.

If you can't be there —

Send a Wright's Holiday Reminder! Flowers by Wire

— Anywhere

10-50% OFF
Selected Christmas Items

Just "Wright" for the Holidays

1409 Kimberly Road, Twin Falls, Idaho 83402
Ketchum 724-3309

Mayor wants jobless to get jobs at Mazda

DETROIT (AP) — The mayor of a town that lured a Mazda Motor Corp. auto assembly plant demanded Tuesday that local residents receive a written pledge that their unemployed neighbors get first consideration for jobs there.

Mayor Ted Anders of Flat Rock, south of Detroit, said his meetings with United Auto Workers union officials on the hiring dispute were constructive, but "no agreements have been reached."

Anders said the 12-year, $69 million tax abatement the town offered Mazda would remain in jeopardy until town leaders are satisfied that an estimated 400 local people will get first chance to apply.

The mayor became miffed last week when the union announced that Mazda agreed to give more than 1,000 laid-off Ford Motor Co. workers first shot at the estimated 3,500 jobs the plant will create.

Mazda plans to break ground for the $450 million plant in the spring and is expected to seek official tax abatement at a city council meeting in January.

Anders, a voting member of the council, said the other six members support his demand for a written pledge to Flat Rock's unemployed citizens.

"It must be on paper now," Anders said. "I don't trust anybody anymore and neither does my city council."

Mazda was courted by the state, the union and Flat Rock. Sources, who spoke on the condition that they not be identified, said officials of the Japanese automaker were concerned about the uproar but weren't having second thoughts about building the plant there.

At The MERC

DEPARTMENT STORE TWIN FALLS

PRESENT CO.

by BOBBIE BROOKS

NEW FASHION COLORS

One Group Sizes 5/6 to 13/14

- VESTS
- SWEATERS
- KNIT TOPS
- SHIRTS
- TWILL PANTS

50% OFF

Introducing

The Clarkson Loan

Jim and Carol had talked about a Mexican cruise for years. But something always got in the way. It was getting to look like something would always get in the way.

Then Jim talked to United First. And, to make a long story short, you will see their tons. We're glad we could help. — with loan rates the Clarkson's really like.

Every bank says they're in the personal loan business. But too many of them have forgotten what personal means. To us, it means forgetting the formula approach and listening to each customer's specific situation.

That's what we mean when we say teamwork works. And that's how Jim and Carol got the best vacation they'd had in 20 years.

If you'd like to talk over your upcoming money needs, give us a call or stop in and visit. We'll show you that when we say personal loan, we mean personal loan.

United First
FEDERAL SAVINGS

Twin Falls Office
494 Buco Lakes Blvd. N. (at Filer Ave)
734-8200

Idaho's largest savings association

HICKORY FARMS

TASTY BUSINESS GIFTS

December Specials

Port Wine Cheese Balls

2 for just $5⁹⁹ $3.39 ea.

December Specials

Cheese Balls, Logs or Bars

Any 2 for $5⁹⁹ $3.39 ea.

Try the December Specials and take home a variety of the Bars, Balls and Logs for your guests or as gifts.

NOW OPEN

Lincoln Plaza
Jerome
322-1281

Sears
Twin Falls
733-0821

Choose from over 100 different gifts, in a variety of sizes and prices. We'll gladly handle all the details sending your gifts out.

BLUE LAKES MALL - MAIN STORE
TWIN FALLS
734-8918

©1984 General Host Corporation. *This guaranteed same delivery charge is not used.

Dan Nichols, left, and Don Nichols, right, stand with attorney Steve Ungar after entering pleas in Virginia City, Mont.

'Mountain men' enter innocent pleas

VIRGINIA CITY, Mont. (AP) — A father and son who had hidden in the mountains since July pleaded innocent Tuesday to charges stemming from the abduction and wounding of a female athlete and the killing of her would-be rescuer.

Don Nichols and his son Dan pleaded innocent to charges of deliberate homicide, aggravated kidnapping and intimidation before District Judge Frank Davis, who ordered them held without bond in the Gallatin County jail at Bozeman. No trial date was set.

Don Nichols, 53, is also charged with aggravated assault and Dan, 20, is accused of misdemeanor assault.

Davis also ordered all attorneys, law enforcement officers and witnesses involved in the case not to discuss it publicly.

The Nicholoses were arrested at twilight this past Thursday by Madison County Sheriff Johnny France, who located them in a temporary camp they had made east of Norris.

The capture ended a five-month manhunt that began in the rugged Madison Mountains near the Big Sky resort in mid-July.

Authorities believe the Nicholoses abducted 23-year-old U.S. biathlon team member Karl Swenson of Bozeman as she logged on a mountain trail and then chained her to a log.

Authorities said the Nicholoses wanted Miss Swenson as a bride for the younger man.

When two rescuers showed up the following morning, Miss Swenson was wounded in the chest and Alan Goldstein, 36, was killed, according to sheriff's reports.

The Nicholoses have asked authorities to appoint public defenders on their behalf because they said they couldn't afford attorneys.

During Tuesday's arraignment, Bozeman attorney Don White represented Don Nichols and Bozeman lawyer Steven B. Ungar represented Dan Nichols. Court officials say they don't know if the two public defenders will continue to represent the pair.

Madison County court officials say they've received numerous calls from lawyers across the nation hoping to represent the pair for free.

Both defense attorneys appealed at Tuesday's hearing for a low bond to allow the men to raise enough money to get out of jail.

White said the elder Nichols was a "life-long resident of the area." Ungar said his client was "intelligent, and bail should not be an indication of guilt. He should not be held as a punitive measure."

But Madison County Attorney Loren Tucker responded that "these are two capital offenses that could be punished by death. It's notable that there has been five months of massive effort to locate these defendants."

Tucker has not said whether or not he would seek the death penalty.

Davis said he might consider reducing the Nicholoses' bond at a later court date.

Davis said he imposed the gap order because he was concerned that pre-trial publicity would threaten the Nicholoses' fight to a fair trial.

"That I'm taking notice of all this coverage is an understatement," Davis told the courtroom filled with reporters and photographers. "The last few days the publicity has accelerated."

Snow pelts West; East feeling heat

By The Associated Press

A surprise snow storm closed schools and highways along the West Coast on Tuesday and record cold hit the Northwest, but a heat wave continued along the East and Gulf coasts with records smashed from Louisiana to Rhode Island.

A few snow flakes fell at Las Vegas, Nev., the first time the desert city of casinos has seen snow since February 1979.

A storm that had been expected to remain off shore left rain and a blanket of snow over parts of southern California, closing nearly two dozen schools north of Los Angeles and a section of Interstate 5, the main north-south artery out of southern California, at a point 60 miles north of Los Angeles. Lancaster, north of Los Angeles, got 4 inches of snow during the morning.

"It's like back home in Iowa," said Wendy Billeter, executive secretary at a motel in Palmdale, 40 miles north of downtown Los Angeles.

ed its previous record by 13 degrees with a high of 69 degrees at Dulles Airport, while National Airport's high of 72 tied a 47-year-old record.

"We've been above normal all but five days this month," said David Caldwell of the National Weather Service in Washington.

The high of 72 at Atlantic City, N.J., erased a record of 68 that had stood since 1889.

Other record highs included 79 at Alexandria, La.; 80 at Augusta, Ga.; 69 at the Baltimore airport; 74 at Greensboro, N.C.; 75 at Greer, S.C.; 75 at Norfolk, Va.; 60 at Providence, R.I.; 77 at Raleigh, N.C.; 74 at Richmond, Va., and 66 at Roanoke, Va.

Records were tied at Cape Hatteras, N.C., with 72; Hartford, Conn., with 57; Macon, Ga., with 79, and New York City with 63.

A flash flood watch was issued for northeastern Texas after 5.9 inches of rain fell during the night at Sulphur Springs with 3.65 inches at Hagensport. The rain tapered off Tuesday.

A man was killed at Waco, Texas, late Monday when a roof collapsed under the weight of heavy rain. At Dallas, a 9-year-old boy and his rescuer were swept two miles down a creek.

More congressmen jailed in embassy protest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two congressmen and the mayor of Annapolis, Md., were arrested Tuesday in the latest round of anti-apartheid demonstrations at the South African Embassy, while protest organizers vowed to expand marches to include U.S. firms doing business in that country.

Reps. Howard Berman, D-Calif., Julian Dixon, D-Calif., and Annapolis Mayor Richard Hillman were taken into custody near the front steps of the embassy and were charged with the misdemeanor offense of congregating within 500 feet of an embassy.

"Every day the U.S. government continues its support for apartheid is another day when we look the other way while evil is committed," Berman said.

Berman, who participated with 150 others in the daily protest march before his arrest, said he plans to reintroduce legislation that bans American exports to South Africa's military and police, and halts computer sales to the Pretoria government.

In addition, Randall Robinson, head of the Free South Africa Movement, said his group was planning to "take the protests to (U.S.) corporations" doing business in South Africa. However, he did not specify what companies would be targeted or when the protests would begin. Some 150 American businesses have investments in South Africa, totaling $2.3 billion.

Meanwhile, 22 people, including several religious leaders and elected officials, were taken into custody Tuesday during a peaceful anti-apartheid rally outside the South African consulate in New York City. A similar demonstration was held in Newark, N.J., but no arrests were reported.

The demonstrators are seeking an end to South Africa's apartheid policies of racial separation and greater political rights for the nation's 22 million blacks who are governed by the country's 4.6 million whites.

Actor Peter Lawford in 'serious' condition

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Peter Lawford was hospitalized in serious condition with an "uncertain" prognosis Tuesday, and the suave British-born actor's family began to gather at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center, a hospital spokesman said.

At the request of his wife, Patricia, no further information was being released about the actor, except that he had been hospitalized since Sunday, Cedars spokesman Ron Wise said.

"Peter Lawford is in serious condition," Wise said in a brief statement. "The prognosis is uncertain at this time. His wife, Patricia, has been with him since he came into the hospital on the 16th. It's understood that several of his children are joining him. Any change in his medical condition will be announced by his wife, Patricia."

Wise said Lawford had been in the hospital several weeks before, but declined to indicate what was ailing the 61-year-old actor.

Lawford, whose many film roles include "The Picture of Dorian Gray" and "Ocean's 11," underwent surgery for a pancreatic cyst in November 1972. He has appeared rarely in television and films in the past 10 years.

However, he recently completed a cameo role in the CBS-TV movie "Malice in Wonderland," about rival gossip columnists Hedda Hopper and Louella Parsons. The movie, which stars Elizabeth Taylor, will be broadcast next year.

A bobbysoxer's idol in the 1940s and supporting actor in the 1950s, Lawford gained added fame in the 1960s as the brother-in-law of the late President John F. Kennedy.

TalkNet

SALLY

Sally Jessy Raphael, Warm, Friendly, Down-to-earth. Entertaining as only Sally Jessy Raphael can be. Tonight her special guest is you. And your neighbors. Sharing life's big and little problems. Exclusively on TalkNet. Listen In. Sally's willing for you.

6 P.M. - MIDNIGHT MON.-FRI. 1450 KEEP

Holiday Special!

New to Kimberly Kut & Kurl - Nails by Tamara Sculptured Nails, Manicures for men & women. Try the new Power-Flow Brush Technique.

KIMBERLY KUT & KURL

Call Now For Your Appointment
423-4496
Kimberly, Idaho

Introducing

The Nelson Loan

Marie wanted a kitchen with lots of windows and counter space. Dan dreamed about a little den big enough to hold his easy chair and grandfather's old desk. Andy just wanted a tall tree to climb. And the girls... that big yard a puppy needs.

But Dan and Marie worried. Their housing costs were already high. How could they think of buying a new home?

Well, thanks to United First, finding the right home loan was easier than finding the right house.

United First understands the needs of families. We take time to listen and ask questions. That's how we can tailor a home loan with terms and rates that are affordable.

That's what we mean by United First teamwork. And, it really works. Give us a call or stop by and visit. We'll put United First teamwork to work for you.

United First FEDERAL SAVINGS

Twin Falls Office
435 S. Lakeside N. (at Fior Ave)
734-8200

Idaho's largest savings association

Ask About Eye Center Christmas Gift Certificates. FOR EVERY EYE CARE NEED, LOOK TO EYE CENTER.

Your Vision, Precious Beyond Measure

twin falls · jerome · buhl eye center

844 Shoshone St. E. 734-9800
Jerome 324-4363 Buhl 543-5152

Dr. Charles B. Parker, Wesley G. Rose, John I. Stalle III, Thomas J. Tappan, Robert B. Giff
Eye centers also in Hailu, Challis, Mountain Home

Nation

EDWIN MEESE III
Common Cause target

Lobbyists say Meese poor pick

WASHINGTON (AP) — Common Cause said Tuesday that White House counselor Edwin Meese III is unfit to be attorney general because he "repeatedly acted in violation" of ethics rules for public officials.

The self-styled citizens lobby said its conclusions came from studying the report of independent counsel Jacob Stein, who found last Sept. 29 there was "no basis" for prosecuting Meese.

The organization's leadership promised a big lobbying campaign aimed at scuttling Meese's expected nomination. The group's 250,000 members were asked to write their representatives and senators seeking rejection of the Meese nomination.

The 37-page report entitled "The Case Against Edwin Meese III For Attorney General" was released at a news conference by Common Cause, chairman Archibald Cox, the first Watergate special prosecutor, and organization president Fred Wertheimer.

"The evidence summarized by the independent counsel (special prosecutor), far from vindicating Mr. Meese, clearly shows that he repeatedly acted in violation of the ethical standards that should have governed his conduct, and that he is therefore unfit to be attorney general," said the Common Cause report.

Presidential press spokesman Larry Spokes said Meese had no comment on the allegations.

The trusted presidential ally was nominated last January to succeed Attorney General William French Smith, who is retiring.

The hearings were suspended to await Stein's report, which came too late in the congressional session for a confirmation vote by the committee, according to its chairman, Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.

Aircraft engineer tried to sell 'stealth' secrets to pay debts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The FBI arrested a debt-ridden Northrop engineer Tuesday after he allegedly tried to sell billion-dollar "stealth" technology to shield bombers from radar to undercover FBI men posing as Soviet officials.

According to an FBI affidavit, engineer Thomas Patrick Cavanagh, 40, of suburban Downey received $25,000 from the agents to pay off debts that would prevent him from obtaining top-level government security clearance.

In Washington, Attorney General William French Smith said Cavanagh asked the agents for the money in cash.

FBI Director William H. Webster said the disclosure of these documents would have caused irreparable damage to national security.

The affidavit, filed in Los Angeles federal court along with a complaint charging Cavanagh with trying to sell national defense secrets to the Soviet Union, said Cavanagh was arrested at the Hyatt Hotel in Commerce moments after delivering classified material and receiving the cash.

Cavanagh was charged with attempting to transmit classified national defense information regarding an advanced-military project, which uses low observable technology.

In Washington, FBI spokesman Lane Bonner said low observable technology is the material, known as "stealth" technology, designed to prevent radar installations from detecting aircraft. The United States has had a secret project to build such a plane for several years.

Cavanagh is accused of taking technical manuals, blueprints, drawings, and lists of subcontractors without proper authority from his employer, Northrop's Advanced Systems Division in Pico Rivera. But assistant FBI Director Bill Baker said Cavanagh "never actually contacted Soviet officials," and no information fell into Soviet hands.

The affidavit, written by FBI Special Agent Robert Patten, said that acting on "confidential information," Cavanagh was approached by Special Agents David A. Silva and Daniel P. McLaughlin, who posed as Soviet agents.

The agents arranged to meet with Cavanagh, initially known only as "Peters," on Dec. 10 at the Cockatoo bar in Hawthorne. During the meeting, Cavanagh said he would not get a top-secret government clearance "unless he can get the creditors off my back," the affidavit said.

Telephone calls to Northrop's Advanced Systems Division were referred to corporate headquarters in Los Angeles, where spokesman Tony Cantalfo declined to answer any questions about Cavanagh.

Nuclear dump site selection coming today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three places in the United States — their identities still secret — will find out today whether they are prime candidates to be the first dumping ground for 40 years of accumulated atomic wastes.

The Energy Department is scheduled to formally reveal the three sites it favors most to become the neighbor that virtually no one wants — a permanent graveyard for some 70,000 metric tons of highly radioactive nuclear wastes.

The first ranking of the nine sites in six states — Nevada, Texas, Utah, Mississippi, Louisiana and Washington — is included in draft "environmental assessments" to be released by Energy Secretary Donald Hodel.

Polliticians and interest groups in all six have cited various technical, environmental and sociological arguments why their site or sites should be eliminated and the wastes should go to someone else's backyard.

The Sierra Club, the Environmental Policy Institute and the National Parks and Conservation Association

(filed a suit late Tuesday before the 9th Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals in San Francisco challenging the guidelines used for assessing the sites as being "inadequate.")

Schroeder bounces back

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — tional, said Schroeder's lungs, heart and kidneys were functioning well and he was more alert than the day before.

"He is looking around the room and is aware of everything going on," he said.

Schroeder, whose right side was temporarily paralyzed by the strokes, had regained his physical strength by Monday.

RC Cola
RC 100 or Diet Rite

2 6 packs $2.00
12 oz. cans with coupon below

Without Coupon $3.00

SWENSEN'S MAGIC MARKETS

Weekdays 8-9 p.m.

Note: This ad is not a coupon. Coupon herein price is good only with coupon from ad below.

GET A $100 CHECK WHEN YOU SEW UP A GREAT DEAL ON THE PFAFF TIPTRONIC® 1069

Get a $100 check direct from Pfaff when you treat yourself to the machine that makes sewing push-button easy.

Only the Pfaff Tiptronic® 1069 comes with 48 built-in stitch programs. Plus sophisticated electronics that maintain high needle piercing power even at slow speed and let you stop the needle in the up or down position.

Reg. Price $899.00
Less Rebate $100.00
In-Store Discount $100.00
Pay Only $699.00

Offer Valid on Purchase Made by 12/24/84

HENDRICKSON'S SEWING CENTER
324-2792 123 E. Main Jerome

Merry Christmas Specials

$1.00 Off

Any Two 6-Packs of 12 oz. Cans of RC Cola, RC 100, Sugar Free RC 100, or Diet Rite Cola

SANTA'S TOY & GIFT SHOP

SAVE 20-50% ON SELECTED ITEMS

NOW OPEN EVERYDAY 10 A.M.-9 P.M.

UNIC AM/FM CASSETTE CAR STEREO Model RV909 W/YOUR CHOICE 6x9 or 5 1/4" SPEAKERS ALL FOR $55.00	RADIO CONTROLLED TRUCKS, JEEPS, TANKS, LAMBORGHINI CAR $14.95
2-PC. BEER POOLSTICKS $6.99	"Special Kids" DOLLS by Coloco (Cabbage Patch Design) $19.95
SADDLEMAN VELOUR SEAT COVERS BENCH OR BUCKET Reg. $19.95 $12.95 PAIR	OPTIC FIBER FLOWER LAMPS WITH CLOCK $39.95
MEN'S COATS Reg. $26.95-$29.95 $22.00	KIDS $19.95
RADAR PATROL CAR W/pollcomon, 11 blinking lights, microphone & 3 siren sounds, gun sound, bump, ngo action. Reg. $24.95 $15.95

MANY, MANY OTHER GIFT ITEMS ON SALE, ALSO

Come in today while the selection is good!

DAN'S AUCTION COMPANY
Addison Avenue West, 1/4 mile west of Hospital 733-8822
In the former Surplus Center Building

STORE COUPON

$1.00 OFF Any Two 6 Packs of 12 oz. Cans of RC Cola, RC 100, Sugar Free RC 100, or Diet Rite Cola.

To the Dealer: Our Salesman will redeem this coupon in accordance with the terms of offer stated plus 7 handling. Coupon is good only on the brand specified and must be shown purchase of sufficient stock to cover coupon must be shown upon request. Customer must pay any sales taxes and deposits. Cash redemption values 12/28/84

"Good Only in Mililake, Gooding, Twin Falls, Blaine, Lincoln, Castle, Jerome and Camas Counties."

Mountain States Beverages
126 Locust St., Twin Falls

Expiration Date 1/31/85

MOUNTAIN STATES BEVERAGES, TWIN FALLS

Gas leak delays parliamentary vote in Bhopal

BHOPAL, India (AP) — Election officials on Tuesday postponed parliamentary voting in Bhopal because of the turmoil caused by a gas leak that killed more than 2,000 people.

The operation to rid the city of the toxic gas approached completion.

Life in the city of 900,000 slowly returned to normal, as some of the tens of thousands who fled last week began coming home. But the slum closest to the Union Carbide India Ltd. plant — source of the gas leak Dec. 3 — remained deserted.

The Election Commission announced in New Delhi that parliamentary balloting scheduled for Dec. 27 in Bhopal would be put off to a later date, possibly in late January. The voting will be held Dec. 24 and Dec. 27 in most of India.

The Election Commission said the delay was recommended by the state government of Madhya Pradesh, of which Bhopal is the capital, and the state's chief electoral officer. It said poll workers have not been trained properly, and that candidates had complained they could not campaign properly.

Also Tuesday, hundreds of frightened people fled their homes in the western city of Bhopal after a tanker containing sulphuric acid overturned on a highway and leaked a cloud of acrid fumes. A year-old girl died of suffocation and three other people were treated at a hospital after complaining their throats hurt, the United News of India reported.

Guerrillas acquitted

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The biggest trial of anti-British guerrilla suspects in Northern Ireland ended Tuesday with all 35 defendants acquitted of all the more than 180 charges.

Authorities had based their case on the word of a single informer, Raymond Gilmour. However, Judge Lord Robert Lowry, at the end of the six-month trial at Belfast Crown Court, dismissed Gilmour's testimony as "entirely unworthy of belief."

The charges against the 34 men and one woman included murder, attempted murder, possessing guns and bombs and aiding or belonging to the outlawed Irish Republican Army or its radical offshoot, the Irish National Liberation Army.

Nine defendants were returned to prisons where they had been serving sentences for earlier convictions based on the word of another police informer, and the other 26 went free. They had been held for two years on the charges based on the Gilmour claims.

Venezuela's Arturo Hernandez Grisenti presides over session

OPEC panel asks extended cutbacks

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — A key OPEC committee recommended Tuesday that the cartel indefinitely extend the production cuts it adopted seven weeks ago in a so-far unsuccessful attempt to halt a decline in world oil prices.

The market monitoring committee also proposed that the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, which holds its regular year-end meeting Wednesday, admonish members who are cheating on their production quotas.

With falling revenue from oil making it more difficult for some of OPEC's 13 members to manage huge foreign debts, analysts have said they are skeptical about the cartel's ability to stick to its official production limits and prices. At best, analysts say, OPEC may be able to postpone price cuts until the spring.

"I believe they'll try to do as much cosmetic mumbo jumbo as possible before adjusting to the realities," said Richard Kjeldson, an international economist at Security Pacific National Bank in Los Angeles.

He said a cut of $2 a barrel would put OPEC in line with current market conditions and that another $2 cut might be justified in the spring.

Each $1 reduction in crude oil prices is equivalent of a drop of about 2½ cents a gallon in products such as gasoline, when the cut is entirely passed on to consumers.

In late October, following cuts of up to $2 a barrel by independent producers, Norway and Britain and OPEC maverick Nigeria, the cartel decided to reduce production nearly 9 percent to try to defend its official prices. It cut its overall output to 16 million barrels a day from 17.5 million.

At the time, OPEC ministers said they were counting on the onset of colder weather in the United States and Europe to increase demand for oil, resulting in temporary shortages and rising prices on the open market.

So far, that strategy has fizzled as warmer than normal temperatures and an economic slowdown have combined to hold down demand for oil.

The price of Arabian Light crude oil, OPEC's benchmark blend, was quoted at $27.45 a barrel Tuesday on the spot market, where oil not bought by long-term supply contracts is traded. The official price is $29.

Mana Saeed Oteiba, oil minister of the United Arab Emirates and chairman of OPEC's market watching panel, said Tuesday that the committee recommended retaining the production ceiling of 16 million barrels a day "until some time in the future" when oil markets improve.

In addition to the United Arab Emirates, the committee includes Algeria, Indonesia and Venezuela. The other members of OPEC are Ecuador, Gabon, Iran, Iraq, Kuwait, Libya, Nigeria, Qatar and Saudi Arabia.

Algeria, which failed in October to persuade colleagues to cut production by 3 million barrels a day, repeated its calls for steeper production cuts this week.

ATTENTION SKIERS

Newton's & Sun Valley

SPORTS CENTER

ARE PROVIDING A SKI BUS

TO: BALD MOUNTAIN

BUS LEAVES: NEWTON'S SPORTS CENTER 7:30 a.m. RETURN 7:00 p.m.
ALSO: JEROME HIGH SCHOOL & MOUNTAIN VIEW LANES, SHOSHONE
RUNS: SATURDAYS — STARTING DEC. THRU THE MONTH OF JANUARY

CONTACT: NEWTON'S 733-8371 TO RESERVE SPACE OR FOR INFORMATION
HOLIDAY HOURS: MON.-FRI. 9 a.m.-9 pm; SAT. 9 a.m.-6 pm; SUN. 12-5 pm

NOW WITH OI' RELIABLE I CAN DIAL 16 NUMBERS WITH MY EYES CLOSED

The leased phones in your house really make life a little easier—no worries about repairs or replacements. It's hard to improve on OI' Reliable, but AT&T Consumer Sales & Service has come up with a way to make your leased phones even more useful. Purchase a TeleHelper® 1600 Automatic Dialer* and you can reach all the numbers you call most often—up to 16 of 'em—with the push of one button. That can save you plenty of time and aggravation.

And between now and December 31, you can save some money, too. During our Buy & Fly promotion you can get up to $200 in free United Airlines travel when you buy a TeleHelper® 1600 Automatic Dialer or other selected AT&T products. For details stop by one of our AT&T Phone Centers or call toll-free. We're ready to show you how to add some new excitement to good OI' Reliable. AT&T Consumer Sales & Service

CALL TOLL-FREE
1-800-555-8111

*AT&T products are FCC certified. We provide repair service for all telephones sold at all AT&T Phone Centers. Only telephones equipped with Touch-Tone dialing can access certain long distance services and networks. The promotion is available to AT&T Phone Center customers. The California automatic dialing answering service must be operated only in accordance with Article 14 of the Telephone Act of 1934. The promotion is available for travel through 1985. Subject to limitations and restrictions.

Purchase of the TeleHelper 1600 automatic dialer qualifies for a $25 United Airlines discount certificate.

Twin Falls
 115 3rd Ave. East

Introducing

The Snider Loan

Over time the Snider family had moved in all directions. Spokane, Denver, Omaha, Ballimore, Bock in Idaho, Ron and Marion had invited everyone to come home for the biggest, best Christmas ever. It was a great idea and long overdue.

Then they looked around the house. It needed painting inside. The furniture needed recovering. The carpeting showed its age. Redecorating was also a great idea and long overdue.

We're just as proud of the Snider's "new" home as they are. Plus, Ron and Marion are very comfortable with the loan rates we gave them.

People have differing credit needs. So, besides talking to customers we do a lot of listening. That's how we put together a workable personal loan program.

Give us a call or stop by and visit. You'll find out how personal a loan program can be.

United First
FEDERAL SAVINGS

Twin Falls Office
 294 Blue Lakes Blvd. N. (off Fair Ave.)
 734-6200

Idaho's largest savings association

World

Says USSR ready for cuts in all arms

Soviet seeks 'breakthrough to peace'

By DAVID MASON
The Associated Press

LONDON — Senior Kremlin official Mikhail S. Gorbachev on Tuesday called for a "breakthrough to peace," pledging that the Soviet Union is ready for radical cuts in all types of armaments if the United States and its allies go along.

He stressed what he said was a need for peaceful coexistence and a return to the détente of the 1970s; and said avoidance of a space arms race was "of key importance."

Gorbachev, widely seen as a possible successor to Soviet President Konstantin Chernenko, was speaking to members of Britain's Parliament on the fourth day of a week-long visit during which he has projected an image of reasonableness and affability. On at least two occasions as he went through London Tuesday, the 53-year-old member of the governing Politburo encountered small demonstrations demanding better treatment for Soviet Jews, but he did not seem troubled by them.

He was reportedly close to anger when pressed on human rights issues in a closed door discussion with members of the House of Commons select committee on foreign affairs. But at lunch, later he told his hosts he didn't mind tough questions.

"Truth comes out of heated discussion," he said. Gorbachev, who began his day with a visit to Westminster Abbey, told the members of Parliament that Moscow wants a "radical reduction" in nuclear arms, but also conventional and chemical weapons.

He said of the U.S.-Soviet nuclear arms talks scheduled for Geneva Jan. 7-8: "The Soviet Union is prepared to seek and work out the most radical measures on all these issues, measures which would help advance toward complete prohibition and eventual elimination of nuclear weapons."

He added: "It is now up to the United States to make a move. It is in this time a realistic stand which would make for effective negotiations."

Gorbachev noted that "reducing the nuclear danger" is a major topic in Britain and elsewhere in Western Europe and said any "concrete steps" toward eliminating the threat

Mikhail Gorbachev, wife Raisa leave Westminster Abbey

"will find a corresponding practical response on our part."

But as in other public statements he has made while in London and in talks with British political leaders, the issue of militarization of space topped Gorbachev's priorities.

He said that while the Soviet Union is willing to discuss both strategic and medium-range nuclear arms following a yearlong boycott of such talks — "of key importance in all this is prevention of a space arms race."

With him as he spoke with members of the select committee was Yevgeny P. Velikhov, second-ranking member of his delegation and a leading Soviet space weapons expert.

Committee members quoted Velikhov as saying in reference to U.S. plans to test an anti-satellite weapons systems in March: "From this point of complexities develop and we must conclude a treaty in time to prevent this."

The U.S. secretary of state, George P. Shultz, and the Soviet foreign minister, Andrei A. Gromyko, are to meet in Geneva in January, and a new round of arms talks may then be decided upon. But Western officials have warned that "it will be a long haul" before any agreements are reached.

Gorbachev, in a generally conciliatory speech notably free of anti-Western invective, gave the Soviet Union credit for its "initiative" in setting up the Geneva discussions. The United States and its NATO allies have been trying to get Moscow back to the negotiating table since the Soviets abandoned missile reduction talks late last year.

The Russians said they wouldn't come back to the medium-range missile talks until the North Atlantic Treaty Organization dismantled cruise and Pershing 2 missiles that were first deployed in November 1983. At least 93 of a projected total of 572 have been installed, NATO officials say.

Gorbachev mentioned no such condition in his speech Tuesday. He said Moscow was willing to start "entirely new talks," which would include the medium-range missiles.

He said, "We all agree that ours is a vulnerable, fragile yet interdependent world, where we must coexist, whether we want this or not. For all that separates us, we have one planet and Europe is our common home, not a theater of operations."

Conservative lawmaker Sir Anthony Kershaw, chairman of the select committee, told reporters Gorbachev forcefully denoted Soviet human rights policies when asked about religious freedom in his country.

Kershaw said Gorbachev pointed to Soviet laws allowing the practice of religion by churches officially registered.

According to Kershaw, the Soviet said: "When the West raises human rights, it nearly always comes down to one or two names. You govern your society, you leave us to govern ours."

Bloc threatens Israeli government

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Likud bloc threatened Tuesday to pull out of Israel's ruling coalition, bringing Prime Minister Shimon Peres' three-month-old government to the edge of collapse. But Likud leader Yitzhak Shamir, the foreign minister, later agreed to postpone action for 48 hours so Peres could try to solve the crisis that arose when a Cabinet member allied to Likud resigned. Rabbi Yitzhak Peretz, whose Sephardi Torah Guardians Party represents Orthodox Jews of Middle East origin, resigned in a dispute over the control of religious affairs. Peretz quit his post as minister without portfolio Sunday and his resignation took effect Tuesday.

GRAND OPENING

December Special ... Perms 22.50
Haircuts 8.00
Shampoo & Set 7.00

CALL NOW FOR YOUR APPOINTMENT
CORNER OF CENTO & DORM DRIVE • 734-5305

"Last year, at my husband's company party, I was too embarrassed to mingle."

This year, I'll dance up a storm.

JOIN NUTRI/SYSTEM NOW AND ENJOY THE HOLIDAYS!

THERE'S STILL TIME FOR YOU TO LOSE UP TO A POUND A DAY.

- No counting calories; no diet pills or injections; no strenuous exercise.
- Professional supervision provides you with total support while losing.
- Behavior Education classes retrain eating habits and our maintenance program teaches you how to stay slim.
- Enjoy our exclusive No System Cuisine™ gourmet meals.

nutri/system
weight loss centers

CALL TODAY FOR YOUR FREE, NO OBLIGATION CONSULTATION.

734-0405
525 Blue Lakes Blvd. N., Twin Falls

678-9781
1201 Normal, Burley

Poland welcomes latest U.S. act

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Poland's government spokesman said Tuesday that the United States realizes its sanctions have failed, but the end of U.S. opposition to Poland's membership in the International Monetary Fund does not warrant restoration of normal diplomatic ties.

U.S. officials also must end a freeze on new credits and denial of most favored nation trading status — the two remaining sanctions imposed by the United States to protest a December 1981 military crackdown that crushed the Solidarity free trade union, spokesman Jerzy Urban said. Lech Walesa and two other Solidarity leaders, meanwhile, issued a statement accusing police of brutality at attacking marches in Gdansk on Sunday "for no reason." They also called for creation of an independent commission to investigate the incident.

Poland has refused to accept the appointment of a "new" U.S. ambassador until all the restrictions are lifted. The previous ambassador, Francis J. Meehan, left Poland in February 1983.

"The United States has said it would not grant most-favored-nation status before a new ambassador is appointed to Warsaw.

Easing of U.S. sanctions on IMF membership, new credits and most-favored-nation trading status could help Poland pay its large foreign debt.

"We treat this decision as a step in the right direction," Urban said in a prepared statement at a news conference. "It is also proof that U.S. authorities are becoming aware of the failure of the policy of restrictions against Poland."

Urban also said the United States should end its "attempts to interfere in Polish internal affairs" and "propaganda aggression."

SHARP

OPEN EVERY NIGHT 'Til 8:00 p.m. Thru-Saturday

CHRISTMAS Sale & Party

Auto-Touch® Carousel® II Microwave Oven With Probe...

- Auto-Touch Controls guide fingertip selection of all cooking functions
- Automatic Temperature Probe accurately measures internal food temperature
- Space Saving Design holds up to a 12 lb. turkey

Reg. $389.99
Sale Price: $339.00
Save $60

Carousel® II Microwave Oven

- Turns the food so you don't have to
- 25 Microwave Items
- Variable Cooking Control
- Over Light
- Space Saving Design

Reg. $249.95
SALE PRICE: $299.00
SAVE $50

Compact Carousel Microwave Oven

- Slim line exterior for compact use in small spaces
- Control Cooling System releases the heat
- 15 Minute Quick Timer
- Interior Cooling Door Touch Bar
- Oven Light to view foods as they cook

Reg. $249.00
SALE PRICE: $189.00
SAVE $70

Carousel® Convection Microwave

- Circulating hot air to brown, bake & crisp
- 4 way cooking by convection, microwave, conventional microwave or broil
- Control Cooling Door Touch Bar
- Large digital display

Reg. $799.00
SALE PRICE: $699.00
SAVE $100

SHARP CAROUSEL® MICROWAVE OVENS

TURN THE FOOD SO YOU DON'T HAVE TO.

LIMITED WARRANTY
7 years on Magnetron Tube
3 years on control panels
2 years on related labor and in-home service
See Operation Manual for complete details.
Prices effective thru Dec. 31, 1984

FROM SHARP MINDS COME SHARP PRODUCTS

BANNER

127 2nd Ave. West 733-1421

New Hope Centers Inc

Now There is Hope

Alcohol or Drug Problem?

TREATMENT AVAILABLE AS CLOSE AS BOISE

Call Toll Free 800-843-2207

Chemical dependency is a disease that brings heartbreak and despair to the family and loved ones of the victim. But there is a way out.

New Hope Center is a specialized facility where hospital accredited treatment for the chemically dependent is available at reasonable cost. In fact, most major medical insurance policies will cover the cost. Family members will also receive treatment by our family therapist while the patient is in residence at New Hope.

Among the services offered are:

- Intervention training
- Medical detoxification
- Structured inpatient treatment
- Public education classes
- Consultation on financial arrangements
- After-care follow up

Our professional staff is on duty 24-hours-a-day-to receive your phone call. There is no cost or obligation.

Now There is Hope

New Hope Centers, Inc.
141 Warm Springs Ave.
Boise, Idaho

Planting help replaces some food aid

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — A major Western relief agency, satisfied that famine has been averted in three areas of drought-stricken Ethiopia, is to replace emergency food aid with long-term crop planting projects, a spokesman said Tuesday.

He said sacks of corn, millet and wheat seed and simple hand tools, such as hoes, will be transported by plane and truck to about 115,000 peasants in the south and northwest of the country starting this week.

The spokesman was Peter Philip, from Australia, who is media director for World Vision International, a non-denominational Christian charity based in Monrovia, Calif. The charity has worked in Ethiopia since 1975, distributing aid from the United States, Canada, Australia, Britain, New Zealand and West Germany.

Both Philip and officials of the government's Relief and Rehabilitation Commission stressed that recovery in the three areas does not mean an overall improvement in the plight of the 7.7 million Ethiopians facing food shortages.

Hundreds of thousands of tons of emergency food aid are still needed around the country, they said.

Philip told The Associated Press: "We're moving out of emergency relief supplies to rehabilitation to coincide with the 'short rains' due early in the year.

"We've seen hopeful signs of recovery in these areas, and our development projects — rather than emergency relief."

Ethiopia has two growing seasons, the "short rains" from January to mid-April, and the "long rains" in the summer. It was failure of the rains this year which helped push millions of Ethiopians to the brink of starvation.

World Vision International is to move seed and tools to the Wolaita and Menz Gische areas of the south and Gondar in the northwest.

Many peasants have been forced to eat seed stocks and sell their hand tools for food.

The charity is also sending a three-man team, two Australians and an Ethiopian, to the areas to drill boreholes, fit pumps and repair storage tanks to ensure regular water supplies for the peasants.

"One of the biggest problems drought victims face is the shortage of clean water," Philip said.

Philip said World Vision will also soon set up a new emergency feeding center in northern Ethiopia's Degan area for about 90,000 people, many of them starving.

About 30 relief agencies, most of them Western, already run 211 feeding centers in Ethiopia, mainly in the north, which is worst hit by the effects of a three-year drought.

World Vision plans to open a soup kitchen at Degan, Philip termed it "another effort to reach the most vulnerable."

The charity already operates nine feeding centers in Ethiopia, one of 21 African countries faced with grave food shortages.

The Rome-based Food and Agriculture Organization, a United Nations agency, estimates that about 1.2 million metric tons of food are needed in the next year to avert mass starvation in Ethiopia alone.

Of this, some 800,000 tons are still to be delivered or pledged by foreign governments and international aid agencies.

Ethiopia's main backer, the Soviet Union, has donated 10,000 tons of rice and sent air-transport, helicopters and trucks to move food aid to the countryside.

At the United Nations in New York, Sudan's U.N. ambassador, Omer Birlo, said Tuesday that Sudan has refused the U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees in Geneva for additional aid to deal with a continuing flow of refugees from the famine in Ethiopia and Chad.

He said 200,000 new refugees have arrived in his country recently in addition to the 400,000 already there.

Trade official recovering

LONDON (AP) — Trade Secretary Norman Tebbit said Tuesday he is recovering from the broken ribs and deep gash in his side suffered in an IRA bombing two months ago, and expects to return to full-time work in the New Year.

"I'm pretty fit. Just the odd tatty edge which is not quite right, you know," he said in a television interview at Stoke Mandeville Hospital near London. "I'm up, going walking, and looking forward to being back in the office in the New Year."

Tebbit was injured in the Irish Republican Army bombing Oct. 12 at a Brighton hotel that killed five people and injured 32 — including Tebbit's wife, who was partially paralyzed.

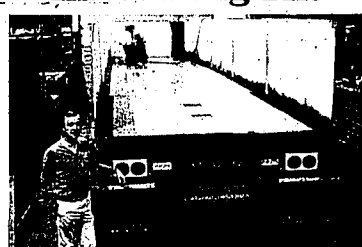

The Conservative Cabinet member said he has resumed some ministerial work. "If you are suggesting that question 'Can he cope?' the answer is 'Yes, he can.' You just watch," Tebbit said.

Hungary fills post

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Lt. Gen. Jozsef Patesek, the deputy defense minister, has been named chief of staff of the Hungarian army, the national news agency MTI reported Tuesday.

Introducing The

Western Trailers Loan

Western Trailers had been building truck trailers in rented space since 1958. Then, in 1981, partners Jerry Whitehead and Dick Williams decided it was time to build their own plant.

Western Trailers needed 30,000 square feet of manufacturing space with an additional 3,000 square feet of offices. That's no small venture. So Jerry and Dick wanted to shop around for just the right financing.

They found it at United First. No other financial institution put together a package that met Western Trailers' needs better than United First. That's because we listened, asked questions and tailored a package specifically for them.

That's teamwork. And it works. Next time you need a business loan, give us a call. We'll put United First teamwork to work for you.

United First
FEDERAL SAVINGS

Twin Falls Office
1000 Main Street, N.E. (at Elmer Ave.)
734-6200

Idaho's largest savings association

Vatican disciplines nuns over statement

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican on Tuesday sharply rebuked 28 nuns for dissenting from the Roman Catholic Church ban on abortion and threatened them with expulsion from their religious orders unless they issue public retractions.

The call for a newspaper advertisement sponsored by Catholics for a Free Choice — a group that advocates the availability of abortion and asserts that Catholics hold diverse views on abortion. Ninety-seven people, including the nuns and other clerics, signed the statement in the diocese.

A brief Vatican communique said the Vatican's Sacred Congregation for Religious and Secular Institutes asked the nuns' religious superiors "to demand that each single member who signed the statement produce a public retraction."

The same Sacred Congregation stressed the duty, in case of a refusal, to take the measures provided by the canon law, without excluding the threat of expulsion on grounds of obstinate insubordination, said the communique, which was issued in Italian.

It was the first public Vatican admonition involving U.S. nuns on the abortion issue since the Vatican forced the resignation of Sister Agnes Mansour, head of Michigan's welfare department, from her order last year. The Vatican pressured her to resign her state job or leave the order because the welfare department funds poor women's abortions.

The communique did not name the nuns or other clerics who signed the advertisement, which appeared in the New York Times on Oct. 7. Vatican officials told reporters they could check the ad for the names of the signers.

The ad did not make clear the religious affiliation of all the signers. However, some signers did give religious affiliations indicating they are nuns. They are: Barbara Ferraro, Sisters of Notre Dame, West Virginia; Jeannine Gramick, School Sisters of Notre Dame, New York; Kathleen Hebbeler, Dominican Sister of the Sick Poor, Ohio; Patricia Hussey, Sisters of Notre Dame, West Virginia; Caridad Inda, Council of Women Religious, Maryland; Jeanne Noble, National Assembly of Religious Women; Margaret Nutty, Sisters of Charity, New Jersey; Margaret A. O'Neill, Sisters of Charity, New Jersey; Donna Quinn, National Coalition of American Nuns, Illinois; Marilyn Thie, Sisters of Charity of New Jersey, Colgate University, New York.

Rose Dominic Trapasso, Lima, Peru; Margaret Ellen Traxler, National Coalition of American Nuns, Illinois; Judith Vaughn, National Assembly of Religious Women, California; Ann Patrick Ware, National Coalition of American Nuns, New York; Sallie Ann Watkins, National Coalition of American Nuns, Colorado.

The Catholic Church says abortion is a sin, and Pope John Paul II has condemned it repeatedly since his election in 1978. U.S. bishops recently have taken a tough stand to advance the church's policy.

Vatican officials, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the Sacred Congregation's order amounts to "severe admonishment" — of the nuns for taking an unauthorized public stand questioning church policy.

WHEN ALL SHE REALLY WANTS FOR CHRISTMAS IS A DAY TO HERSELF

Make that day a special one with a custom designed Day of Luxury at Escape.

It's a day when the staff at Escape dedicate themselves to make her look and feel like the lady of leisure she's only dreamed of.

Gift Certificates may include manicure, pedicure, hair styling, tan, and facial makeup application.

ESCAPE
Hair and Skin Atelier

733-6282 347 Main Ave. E. Twin Falls, Idaho

The Sauce Server Bouquet for Christmas

A fabulous holiday floral gift.

Filled with fresh flowers, greens and two candles.

Made of solid, polished copper with a heat-resistant wood handle.

Sauce Server is perfect for warming and serving sauces.

PRICES START AT $17.50

Teleflora

fox floral

733-2674
647 Main Ave. W.

Your ID Store
160 Main Ave. So.

SALE STARTS WEDNESDAY, DEC. 19 3 HOURS ONLY 6:00 P.M. TO 9:00 P.M.

HUNDREDS OF ITEMS SLASHED! WE'RE REDUCING

RED-LINED SALE MERCHANDISE

SAVE AN EXTRA 30% OFF SALE PRICE

EXAMPLE • SAVE 13.00 TO 26.91 LADIES SPORTSWEAR GROUPS
CRICKET LANE, PYKETTE, COS COB
Reg. 20.00 to 50.00 Was 10.00 to 32.99 NOW $7.00 TO $23.09

30% SALE DOESN'T APPLY TO PRIOR LAYAWAYS & SALES

SAVINGS IN EVERY DEPARTMENT! LOW, LOW PRICES, GREAT SAVINGS! RED-LINED MERCHANDISE REDUCED!

SAVE 50% to 70% SALE MERCHANDISE REDUCED 30% EXTRA! TODAY ONLY FROM 6:00 P.M. TO 9:00 P.M.

EXAMPLE • SAVE 7.11 TO 12.11 GIRLS SWEATERS
REG. 10.00 TO 24.00 WAS 7.99 TO 11.99 NOW 5.88 TO 11.89

SAVE ANOTHER 30% OFF THESE ITEMS

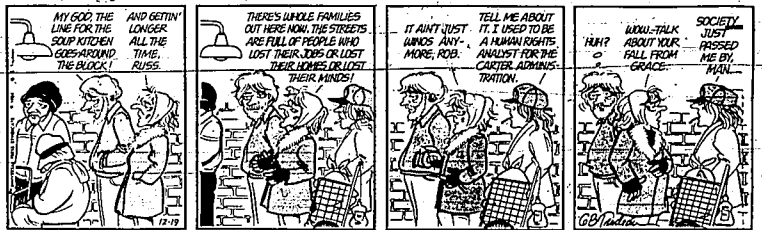

LADIES SHOES	LADIES SPORTSWEAR
LADIES DRESSES	WASH CLOTHS
LADIES TURTLES	HAND TOWELS
LADIES TOPS	LADIES SHAWLS
LADIES BLOUSES	RUGS
LADIES SLACKS	GIRLS DRESSES
LADIES ROBES	JR. COATS
PANTY HOSE	LOGGERS
COSMETIC BAGS	LADIES BLAZERS
JEWELRY	ROBE AND GOWNS SETS
GIFTS	GIRLS SLEEPWEAR
BEDDING	BOY'S TUBE SOCKS
GIRLS WEAR	MEN'S VELOUR SHIRTS
INFANTS WEAR	SPORT COATS
BOY'S WEAR	TABLE CLOTHS
TOTE BAGS	KNITWEAR
MEN'S SHIRTS	WOOL SCARF
MEN'S PANTS	LADIES SWEATERS
BOY'S PARKAS	LADIES BELTS
TOWELS	LADIES PANTIES
COMFORTERS	LITTLE BOY'S SWEATERS
HANDBOAGS	BOY'S LEVIS CORD JEANS
LADIES DUSTERS

Comics

Frank and Ernest

Doonesbury

Hagar the Horrible

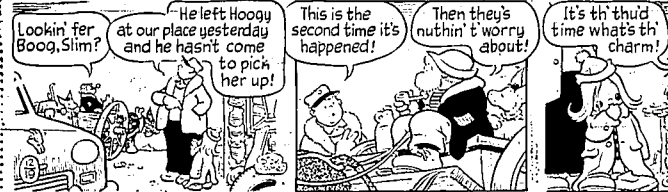

The Born Loser

Beetle Bailey

Gasoline Alley

Peanuts

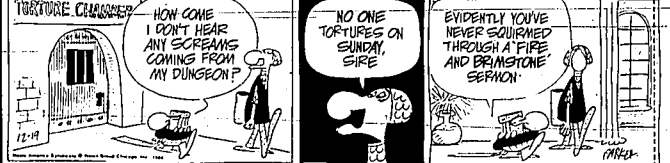

Blondie

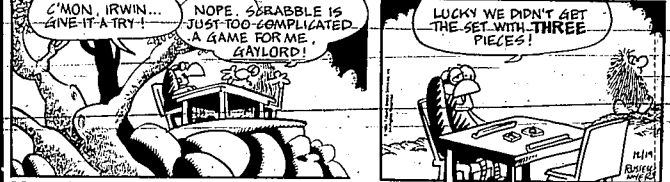

Andy Capp

Wizard of Id

Broom-Hilda

Hi and Lois

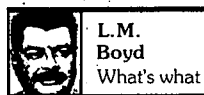

ACROSS

- Weather word
- Monks
- Antelope's playmate?
- Lily plant
- On mother's side
- Ultimate word
- Push
- Dvorak of music
- Kismet
- Pinch-pennies
- Like cloisonne
- Small reals
- School on the
- Theme
- Mastermind
- Golfer Lee
- Neighbor of Fr.
- Palatable
- Doctrinal
- Acted like copy-cat
- Violent one
- Great review
- Pass
- Fragrant bush
- Actor's hint
- Adios alcohol
- Pilot
- Encourage
- Send
- Traffic feature
- Projecting rim
- Aide; abbr.
- Biblical mother-in-law
- Underdone
- Rock hair
- Go manthe
- Malificent
- Sandacac tree
- Lat up
- Cartain bills

DOWN

- Large scale struggles
- Writer Waugh
- Leoline sound
- Reins andancer ruler
- Wine bottle
- Thin
- Something owed
- Jillion of TV
- One of a pair
- Explosive
- Washington group
- Certain lawyer
- 1st. airline
- Alberto Azto's family
- Yellow fever combatant
- Inhumanity
- Cast off
- Flower-part
- Mild oath
- Where Everest
- Garbo
- Sift
- Pass laws
- Type of show
- Food stores
- off
- (Caprimand) ruler
- Wine bottle
- Thin
- Something owed
- Cubic
- Rag session?
- Red wine
- Crowning
- Hub
- Household member
- Glacial ridges
- Mil. monogram
- Dissenting votes
- Happy-face
- Morry and lamprey
- Fr. Mtz.

©1984 Tribune Media Services, Inc. All Rights Reserved. 12/19/84

L.M. Boyd
What's what

In Albania's Shkoder was a great cathedral, one of 2,169 places of worship in that land, Albania outlawed religion in 1967, closing them all. The Shkoder cathedral is now a basketball arena.

Ground level in California's San Joaquin Valley is 30 feet lower than it was 60 years ago. Pump out the water to irrigate, and the land sinks.

group "O" seem to be more susceptible than other men to ulcers? The medical researchers don't know, either, they say, but such be the case. Something else they don't know is why four times as many men as women get those ulcers.

If you want to grow a beard, sir, figure on an inch every eight weeks.

Are there any "Dial-a-Bird" telephone numbers still in service? Doubt it. In numerous U.S. cities a dozen years ago, you could dial certain advertised numbers to hear nothing but bird calls plus the voice of a scholar to identify same.

ULCERS
Do you know why men in blood increased by almost one inch in the last 10 years. Or so report the bra makers. They can't explain this phenomenon.

Reliefs, please note: Not just a few but many podiatrists claim the best thing you can do for your feet in your later years is rock, rock, rock in a rocking chair.

TAPE MEASUREMENTS
The average female breast measurement in West Germany has

What, you can't name the state with the largest number of national parks? Arches, Bryce, Capitol Reef, and Zion. Say Utah.

Another superlative credited to the Rolling Stones is "Loudest Rock Band of All Time." Sound tests show another 20 decibels and they'd match the noise volume produced by the supersonic Concorde jet.

What you can't name the state with the largest number of national parks? Arches, Bryce, Capitol Reef, and Zion. Say Utah.

Daily Horoscope

the minutiae and concentrate on big issues and on the policy level. dawn brighter for you. Listen carefully and follow.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A good day to add new members to your circle of good friends and to be more gregarious. Be careful in discussions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Contact the person who has the greatest control in your affairs and show your finest capabilities. You can accomplish a very great deal.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Find the right philosophy under which to live and prosper and gain happiness now. Think along very constructive lines.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get all of your affairs on a firmer foundation so that the future will

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you will have considerable inspiration to go after your most worthwhile aspirations, and especially in placing, into motion your own social creativities. Be outgoing.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You can improve your finest talents by getting others interested in them so that you gain more popularity.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Let family be more aware of your true capabilities by doing something very practical around the house that will please you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have an opportunity today to contact those individuals you want to be in your life for some time to come.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make the plan that will gain you much of the good things of life that you like so much. Study your real estate well.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get busy and rightly arrange fun appointments for the days ahead and you can then have the good time you like so much.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You need to widen your horizons so forget

What's what

Yesterday's Puzzle Solved:
ROITS BEARS ARIO
ANET LEGIT LEDA
MIRE ALENE KEEN
STRJAMEED WHALIES
OLLES HAIL
OILLERS CARDINAL
AMORY HORDE ILE
RAGS WELDS FOOT
EGIO FORTY SABOT
DEISILINES CHILIES
GLDS TGOIT
PLICKER DOLPHINS
ALLEE ORONO FOL
STEN UTTER UNDO
TOISIS SEIERS LAIST

Astronaut wants to go aloft with wife

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Astronaut Steven Hawley, who was aboard the maiden flight of the space shuttle Discovery, wants to orbit the Earth with his wife as the first husband-wife team in space.

His wife — astronaut Sally Ride — has already made the trip twice.

"I would simplify the scheduling a lot," Hawley said Monday night as keynote speaker at the fifth annual Wright Brothers Celebration dinner held by the Wichita Aeronautical Historical Association. The dinner marked the 81st anniversary of the Wright brothers' historic airplane flight.

Hawley, 33, was a mission specialist on Discovery's inaugural six-day mission.

"I didn't do this job in order to become famous," Hawley said at a news conference. "I'm honored to be a part of it. I don't think I fooled myself into thinking that I'm the only one in the country that can do this."

SALLY RIDE Could be part of team

Walters says husband has to support her

NEW YORK (AP) — Barbara Walters, who signed a $1 million-a-year contract with ABC television eight years ago, says any man she married would have to support her. She said in an interview in the current McCall's magazine that she could not imagine leaving her work as a television interviewer unless she were married. She added: "I would not marry anybody who would not support me."

A divorcee with a 16-year-old daughter, Miss Walters said she has never been attracted to actors or to the "very handsome and sure-of-himself ladies' man."

An exception would be someone like Paul Newman, she added, who is "complicated and uncomfortable with being a star."

"I sort of like businessmen," she said. "I like the waters to run still and deep."

Actor Sheen donates blood in Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — American actor Martin Sheen is visiting this Central American nation at the invitation of President-elect Daniel Ortega, who visited California in October seeking support for his leftist Sandinista government.

Sheen donated blood to the Nicaraguan Red Cross on Monday, and Tuesday's edition of the Sandinista newspaper Barricada quoted him as saying: "With this donation we want to compensate symbolically the blood which Nicaraguans have spilled because of the policy of the American administration."

Sheen and a delegation accompanying him also visited several provinces and met with women whose sons have died in combat against U.S.-supported rebels.

Ortega, currently coordinator of the ruling junta, will be inaugurated as president on Jan. 10.

Activist returns key to protest pot bids

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Nuclear freeze-activist Dr. Helen Caldicott has angered Mayor Dianne Feinstein by returning a key to the city, given to her for her work opposing nuclear war, to protest plans to bring a battleship with nuclear capability to San Francisco.

"It's the first time the key has ever been used politically," said Ms. Feinstein, adding that she "could not recall a time in my 15 years when anyone has given back a key."

Ms. Caldicott turned the key over to San Francisco Supervisor Richard Hongisto at a news conference Monday to protest Ms. Feinstein's efforts to permanently station the battleship USS Missouri in San Francisco. The ship is expected to carry nuclear-armed cruise missiles.

The supervisors had presented Ms. Caldicott with the key for her anti-nuclear war efforts two years ago.

Deborah Steel, actor's secretary, goes free

Actor Keach fails in cocaine appeal

LONDON (AP) — A judge on Tuesday rejected Stacy Keach's appeal of a nine-month prison sentence imposed after the American actor pleaded guilty to bringing cocaine into Britain.

His secretary, who also had pleaded guilty, was freed.

Keach, who plays the tough-talking detective in the television series "Mickey Spillane's Mike Hammer," looked pale as Lord Chief Justice Lord Geoffrey Lane declared the sentence was "correct in principle and cannot be criticized as being too lenient."

Keach, 43, was ordered returned to Reading Prison, where he began serving his sentence Dec. 7 after pleading guilty in Reading Magistrates' Court to smuggling 1.3 ounces of cocaine through London's Heathrow Airport.

The Court of Appeal, however, threw out a three-month sentence for Keach's secretary, Deborah Steele, 41, who had pleaded guilty to the charge of illegal possession of drugs. She was instead given a two-month term that was suspended.

"Her involvement was minimal," Lord Lane said. "It was only by accident that she was there at all."

Defense lawyer Richard Du Cann said Keach began taking cocaine regularly last January to try to alleviate exhaustion but had not used it since his arrest in April.

"It is said that because of his involvement with the drug he may never work in television again," Du Cann said.

He said Keach had pledged to speak out in public against drug abuse and to work in a drug rehabilitation center to help other addicts.

But Lord Lane said the sentence could not be faulted, however worthy. Keach's intentions, he noted that the maximum sentence for smuggling cocaine was 14 years.

Keach's American attorney, Sidney Feinberg, said the actor was "obviously disappointed" about the outcome of his appeal.

"The effect of this sentence will be devastating on his career," Feinberg said. "There is a danger that the series will be canceled completely."

A fearful Miss Steele, released about an hour after the decision, told reporters she was "very concerned" about Keach. She was then ushered by police through a large crowd that had gathered outside the court.

Wyoming teenagers trying to put lives together, look toward future

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — Two teenagers convicted in the 1983 shooting death of their abusive father have been spared prison terms by the governor's intervention, and their mother says "we finally can breathe and they have a future."

Ed Herscher commuted 19-year-old Deborah Johnke's sentence Monday and had commuted her 17-year-old brother Richard's sentence last June. She is in a private institution and Richard remains in reform school.

"They want to make something of themselves," their mother, Maria, said in a telephone interview from her Cheyenne home Tuesday. "They've never been free. Now, they'll eventually be free to do what they want to do."

"After two years of pure hell, we finally can breathe and they have a future, thank the Lord and thank the governor," she said.

Deborah's therapy rules out speaking with reporters and Richard has decided he has granted enough interviews and "enough is enough," according to directors of their institutions.

Richard was convicted in February 1983 of voluntary manslaughter and was sentenced to 5 to 15 years in prison for the shooting death of his father, Richard C. Jahнке, outside their suburban Cheyenne home Nov. 16, 1982. He was 16 at the time of the shooting.

A month later Deborah, who was 17 at the time of the shooting, was convicted of aiding and abetting voluntary manslaughter and was sentenced to 3 to 8 years in prison.

Their cases as abused children received national attention. Pleas for clemency poured into Herscher's office, but he waited to act until the Wyoming Supreme Court rejected their appeals. "I thank him from the bottom of our heart and all the people who have been supportive of us," Mrs. Jahнке said. "I'm so grateful. How can I repay him?"

"This is the best Christmas present anyone could have," she said. Deborah has been at the Excelsior Youth Center in Denver for 1 1/2 years, where "she's made excellent progress," according to center Director Bill Gregory.

He said the center would immediately begin a 30-day evaluation of Deborah so Herscher can decide if she should stay at Excelsior or be placed elsewhere. The private institution offers residential treatment and schooling for adolescent girls up to age 21 with severe emotional and behavioral problems, he said.

Deborah finished high school at Excelsior and has just completed a second semester at Metropolitan State College in Denver, while she undergoes "intensive" therapy with the center's staff of psychologists, psychiatrists and counselors, Gregory said.

He said there's "a lot of optimism" about Deborah. "She had many issues that required some pretty strong therapy."

"We're not exposing her to the (news) media at all," for fear of jeopardizing her progress, he said. Richard "chooses not to give interviews," Buck Kueckel, superintendent of the state Industrial Institute in Worland, said Tuesday. "He has said, 'Enough is enough.' He's trying to put all this behind him."

Richard went to the reform school when Herscher commuted his sentence in June. He will stay there until he is 21 or until the institute decides "he has received maximum benefits" and that nothing would be gained by keeping him. Kueckel said. He said Richard is doing well with his classes and "fits in very nicely," but declined to describe his daily activities.

KLIX & TWIN FALLS BANK & TRUST SKI REPORT CALL 733-2SKI FOR LATEST SKI CONDITIONS

PG-13 Rating Introduced. A new rating category is in place as of July 1. This new category is inserted between the current PG and R ratings. It is designated as PG-13. Parents are strongly cautioned to give special guidance to attendance of children under 13. Some material may be inappropriate for young children.

School bans mistletoe after pupil eats some

FAIRVIEW, Tenn. (AP) — School officials confiscated mistletoe from classrooms and burned it after a third-grader ate some of its poisonous plant and became ill.

"I directed all of the teachers to collect any they had, and I burned it in the furnace," said Robert Cantrell, principal of Fairview Elementary School. "I'm just not going to allow any mistletoe in the school. That seems the best thing to do."

Shane Pate, 10, was hospitalized overnight after eating the plant on Friday. The boy said one of his classmates passed some mistletoe around, and he put some in his mouth while he was "playing around," according to the principal.

"I've asked our teachers to use this constructively to teach the children a good safety lesson," Cantrell said Monday. "You don't put anything in your mouth unless you know what it is."

Superintendent Ken Fleming sent a memo to all Williamson County teachers, warning them about the dangers of mistletoe and poinsettia plants, but he added there was no plan to ban the colorful plants from every school. Both plants are used as traditional Christmas decorations and are poisonous. Mistletoe sprigs, with their waxy, white berries, are hung on doorways and men are by custom privileged to kiss women standing under it. The poinsettia is characterized by tapering red leaves resembling petals.

Wally's Steak Place. DECLO, ID. 654-2621. FAMOUS FOR WESTERN FLAVOR. COOKED ON AN OPEN PIT OVER A CHERRYWOOD FIRE! TOP SIRLOIN 16 oz. $10.95. LOBSTER • TIGER SHRIMP • LAMB CHOPS. ROCKY MOUNTAIN OYSTERS. OPEN TUES. - WED. - THURS. - FRI. - SAT. 5 p.m. - 11 p.m. WOLF LODGE INN. COULF of Atlanta, ID. 208-664-6665. Y-N RESTAURANT. DENVER, ID. 208-875-1313.

Coins back again

CRYSTAL LAKE, Ill. (AP) — An anonymous "incurable romantic" has dropped five gold coins worth more than $1,600 in a Salvation Army school for the third year in a row in this northern Illinois community.

The phantom Santa is probably not a rich philanthropist, but "just the average person down the street, who somewhere along the line, has benefited from the Salvation Army," said David Schneider, kettle campaign director for the Crystal Lake area.

Barton's 93. WEDNESDAY Crispy fried chicken. $1.93 ONLY. EXCITING ENTERTAINMENT IN THE TROPHY ROOM TUESDAY THROUGH SUNDAY. CALL TOLL FREE 1-800-234-1313. OPEN 24 HRS.

LAST MINUTE GIFTS AND CERTIFICATES. WE WILL BE CLOSED ALL DAY DECEMBER 24. Re-open at 10 a.m. Dec. 26. HAVE A HAPPY HOLIDAY. THE COUNTRY TRUNK. Campus Commons. 677 Filer Ave. 734-3698. Twin Falls.

2010 THE YEAR WE MAKE CONTACT. DAILY 7:00-9:15. MALL CINEMA. TWIN CINEMA. JEROME CINEMA. Eddie Murphy BEVERLY HILLS Cop. BOTH TOWNS DAILY 7:20-9:25. JEROME CINEMA TWIN CINEMA. CHUCK NORRIS MISSING IN ACTION. DAILY 7:20-9:20. TWIN CINEMA. Meryl Streep Robert De Niro Falling in LOVE. DAILY 7:15-9:20. TWIN CINEMA PG-13. OH, GOD! YOU DEVIL. DAILY 7:30 ONLY. GOODING CINEMA. DAILY 9:30 ONLY. BODY DOUBLE. JEROME CINEMA BOTH TOWNS DAILY 7:00-11:15. OH, GOD! YOU DEVIL. DAILY 7:30 ONLY. GOODING CINEMA. DAILY 9:30 ONLY. BODY DOUBLE. JEROME CINEMA BOTH TOWNS DAILY 7:00-11:15. Meryl Streep Robert De Niro Falling in LOVE. DAILY 7:15-9:20. TWIN CINEMA PG-13. THE TERMINATOR. DAILY 7:15-9:20. JEROME CINEMA.

Neo-Nazi ties started in prison term

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Gary Lee Yarbrough, an avowed neo-Nazi arrested after a shootout with police, apparently joined the white supremacy movement while in prison in Arizona, according to a published report.

Yarbrough, 29, was reprimanded for having "white-power" literature in his cell in the Arizona State Prison in 1978, authorities told The Arizona Daily Star on Monday.

In his three years in the Florence prison, Yarbrough also was reprimanded for threatening or assaulting other inmates and guards, possessing a variety of homemade knives, and tearing apart a rabbit with his teeth and smearing the blood on his bare chest, authorities said.

Neo-Nazi literature was confiscated from Yarbrough in March, 1978, and prison intelligence sources began to link him to the activities of the Aryan Brotherhood, a prison gang whose members correspond with a neo-Nazi group called the Aryan Nations church, the Star said.

Yarbrough apparently moved to Idaho to join the Aryan church and its community of white-supremacist supporters about a year after his release from prison in 1979, the newspaper said.

He currently is in custody in Idaho on charges of assaulting a federal agent.

sentenced him to a maximum of eight years in prison.

Records provided by Mike Arra, spokesman for the Corrections Department, indicated Yarbrough received 23 written reprimands from 1976 to 1978, the Star said.

Offenses included possession of contraband and money, gambling, repeated straying into off-limits areas, disobeying direct orders, arson and being under the influence of narcotics or intoxicants.

In June 1977, Yarbrough and another inmate killed a rabbit with their teeth and rubbed the blood and intestines on their chests, according to prison records.

On Feb. 20, 1979, Yarbrough was given a "discretionary release" — a standard attempt to allow monitoring of an inmate's adjustment to life on the streets.

Wife denies shots fired by Yarbrough

SANDPOINT (AP) — The wife of Gary Lee Yarbrough, who is accused of shooting at federal agents from his Sandpoint area home in October, says her husband didn't fire at anyone.

"He didn't fire shots," said Betty Yarbrough.

Mrs. Yarbrough said that she's had enough bad press and that she is being victimized, "for what purposes we don't know."

She also said she knew nothing of Denver police statements that the gun used to kill radio personality Alan Berg was recovered from her house. "I don't know what's going on. We've had enough news coverage," she added.

According to Mrs. Yarbrough, she broke off from the whitiz Church of Jesus Christ Christian (Aryan Nations) in Hayden Lake the same time as her husband did. "But we're still friends with them," she said.

The church is being badly misrepresented, she added.

Yarbrough was arrested in Portland last month after a shootout with FBI agents at a motel. His companion escaped.

A Colorado investigator planned to interview Yarbrough about the killing of Denver talk show host Alan Berg. The murder weapon was discovered at Yarbrough's home in Sandpoint, Idaho.

In March 1976, Yarbrough was convicted in Pima County Superior Court in Tucson of three burglary counts and unlawful possession of marijuana. Judge Richard Royston

Threats of slides close BLM offices

ST. GEORGE, Utah (AP) — Facing a threat of rock slides along the benches here, the federal Bureau of Land Management has closed its local headquarters and moved 38 employees.

The workers were transferred to the federal building in downtown St. George from their one-story headquarters on Dec. 10. They will share the crowded offices there with other federal employees until a new location can be found, said Frank Rowley, Dixie resource area manager.

Rowley said some administrative tasks are being handled from managers' homes, while other employees have been assigned to field work.

"I feel satisfied that it is a temporary situation, and as soon as it is resolved we can once again provide full service to the public," he said.

Rowley said the structure was built atop the bench after studies indicated it would be a safe location.

Final plane crash victim identified

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — The last of four victims of a plane crash north of the Grand Canyon was identified through fingerprints Tuesday as a 25-year-old Phoenix man, authorities said.

The victim was identified as Thomas Peter Van Horn, who lived at the same address as Michael Daniel Corey, another victim, said Daria Melcher of the Coconino County Sheriff's Department.

Coconino County sheriff's deputies on Monday recovered the four victims' bodies from wreckage of the plane, which crashed Sunday morning during a severe winter storm.

The pilot was identified Monday by sheriff's officials as Dr. Garry Baumann, 42, of Mesa. Two passengers were identified as Deborah Jean Rabez, 21, of Tempe, and Corey, 23, of Phoenix.

Accents
for the home

Stocking Stuffers
From 50¢

Free Gift when you purchase $10.00 or more until Dec. 24

In The New Blue Lakes Plaza
820 Blue Lakes Blvd. North
Twin Falls • 734-2525

THIRD DIMENSION CUTS
Precision Haircuts & Styling for guys & gals

Holiday Hair!

Perms, braiding, frosting, gold dusting, shampoo/set, cuts...
Long hair slightly more

Shampoo & Set Special $5.95

NO APPOINTMENT NECESSARY

BLUE LAKES MALL
PHONE 733-4733

HOURS: Mon.-Fri. 10-9;
Sat. 9-6;
Sun. Noon-5

Make Us Your Christmas Store!

Special Handmade Decorations

We make it — or we can help you make it
— New Shipment Fresh Preserved Cedar

Now 10% off
— Large Selection of Willow Baskets

Natural Treasures

"Magic Valleys Most Unique Craft Shop"

In The Rogerson Mall
149 Main Avenue East
Twin Falls • 733-1907
Open This Wed., Thurs., Fri. 'til 8 p.m.

The Paris

Misses and Junior Blouse Sale

1999

Famous brand blouses in a huge variety of dressy and casual styles. Misses sizes — Street Level and Junior sizes — Top-of-the-Stair. Regularly 40.00-64.00. Now

Street Level and Top-of-the-Stair
124 Main Avenue North,
Twin Falls • 733-1506
Open 'til 8:00 P.M.
Through Friday
For Your Shopping Convenience

Lawmakers eye cuts in Evans' budget plan

By RICK SHAUGHNESSY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley lawmakers seated on the Legislature's budget-setting committee say Gov. John Evans' proposed $600 million budget for the next fiscal year is probably too high.

Rep. Jack Nelbaur, vice chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and a noted fiscal conservative, says he expects the budget battle will end with expenditures from the state general fund set at a level closer to $580 million.

The budget battle begins in earnest next month with the convening of the newly elected 48th Idaho Legislature.

"It's going to be kind of hard, but with a few adjustments we could get the budget to $575 to $580 million," Nelbaur says. The Paul Republican adds that a revenue-raising component of the governor's budget proposal, imposing quarterly collections of income tax payments from corporations — will be unpopular.

"When you've got to prepay your taxes that's a hardship on business," Nelbaur says.

Rep. Lawrence Knigge, a Filer Republican known as one of the more moderate members of the Legislature's budget-setting panel, says he would be reluctant to add "one-time money" into the base of an annual budget.

"I doubt that would happen," Knigge says of the proposed quarterly collections of income tax. "It appears to me whenever you throw one-time money into an ongoing budget you have problems.

"I certainly feel the needs are there. . . . But I think we're going to end up with a $580 million budget or a $585 million budget instead of $600 million," Knigge adds.

The quarterly collection of income-tax payments from corporations would cause a one-time windfall increase of $10 million for state tax coffers. Evans' proposal would use half of the windfall in the next budget year, FY85, and save the other $20 million for use in the following budget year, FY87.

The quarterly collections are an important part of Evans' no-tax-increase budget.

The governor proposed an 8.4 percent general fund increase for state-supported education budgets but proposed an increase for junior colleges which, at 7.5 percent, is less than that average. It is also lower than the 13.6 percent budget increase Evans proposes for the state's four-year college and three universities.

"It's better than was first indicated we might get," says College of Southern Idaho President Jerry Meyerhoefer, adding: "We're not happy with it. We feel we should be tied closer to higher education."

Meyerhoefer says state support for community colleges has remained unstable, because the state has not established a policy towards the two-year schools and their place in the state's system of higher education.

Knigge says he doesn't think higher education institutions will actually realize the 13.6 percent increase proposed by Evans but adds that the 7.5 percent increase for community colleges may be realistic. He says he will support the Evans proposal.

Nelbaur says Meyerhoefer and "his counterpart in Coeur d'Alene," North Idaho College President Barry Schuler, are in an unenviable position for funding because they are forced to finance their schools' operations with property taxes.

"We got a lot of benefit out of our junior colleges," says Nelbaur. "I would like to help them more than we have. But overall it will be hard. Most people put a priority on our universities."

"I still think our universities may be the place where we've been shorting our educational system," Nelbaur says.

Another Magic Valley educational institution.

• See BUDGET on Page B2

Donations brighten holiday

Food baskets go to needy

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Salvation Army — with donations and volunteers from several community groups and businesses — again will brighten Christmas for the needy with food baskets, toys and clothing.

The Salvation Army will provide more than 400 food baskets, 2,000 toys and clothing to families in the Twin Falls and Burley area, said Lt. Doug Tollerud, the corp's commander.

Filling some of the food baskets will be trout donated by the Idaho Trout Processors in Buhl, homemade rolls from Jim Bob's Bakery in Twin Falls and loaves of bread furnished by Wonder Bakery, as well as canned goods, rice or beans.

The food donations, however, are only part of the many items given to the Salvation Army for its annual Christmas effort for the poor.

The Twin Falls Fire Department donated $250, assorted toys, canned goods and clothing. KMYT television in Twin Falls helped collect toys.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Twentieth Century Club in Twin Falls also donated money to the Salvation Army. One group, which wished — to remain anonymous — donated $2,000 for the purchase of new clothing for children, Tollerud says. Children older than 11 receive clothing, while those younger receive toys.

Besides the material gifts, service clubs also give of their time. Women's groups from several churches will be working at the Salvation Army's Toy and Joy Shop where parents can choose gifts for their children, Tollerud says. The Salvation Army also will see to it that toys are provided to the children of inmates at the Twin Falls County Jail or state prison.

A group from the Episcopal Church in Twin Falls will help fill the food baskets, which will be distributed this week.

Civic organizations also help make the annual Salvation Army kettles, which Tollerud predicts will yield

• See DONATIONS on Page B2

Kyle Leuze was one of many volunteers helping put together food baskets Tuesday night

Scholes re-elected in CSI trustee vote

TWIN FALLS — Incumbent College of Southern Idaho trustee Dr. Thad Scholes defeated challenger Jay Hamilton Smith 799-351 in the CSI trustee election Tuesday.

"I think most of this community is pleased with how this college is run and where it's going," Scholes said, following the announcement of the vote totals.

It was Scholes second victory over Smith. The Twin Falls dermatologist defeated Smith first in 1982 when the Kimberly research scientist and three other candidates sought to unseat Scholes from an appointed spot on the five-man board.

Asked whether he would seek a CSI board seat in the future, Smith said: "That's two years away. There's no telling what will happen in those two years."

"Incumbency has its advantages," he added.

Smith is a research scientist with the Snake River Research Center of the U.S. Department of Agriculture outside Kimberly. He said during the campaign he would like to see the vocational agriculture program strengthened so that CSI course credits could be applied towards four-year degrees.

Scholes, who was appointed in 1981

THAD SCHOLES Beats challenger

to fill the seat of retiring trustee Lloyd Hamilton, has served as team physician to CSI athletic teams for the number of years. He says he would like to see the state funding more favorable to community colleges and favors the expansion of the CSI taxing district beyond Twin Falls and Jerome counties.

Energy firm faces fraud complaint

By The Times-News and The Associated Press

BOISE — State officials are charging a geothermal energy business from Boise and its officers, which include a Kimberly man, with securities fraud and violations of the racketeering law.

The Idaho Department of Finance has filed a civil complaint against Power Pump International Inc., a geothermal energy company doing business with the state. It also lodged charges against company president Kenneth E. Ford, vice president and secretary Byron B. Jolly, both of Boise, vice president and director Clark Higley of Kimberly and former chairman of the board Marvin L. Judd of Provo, Utah.

Jolly declined comment Tuesday on behalf of the company. "At this point our position is we do not have any information on the matter because we have not had an adequate time to review the content of the suit," he said.

Higley was out of town and could not be reached by phone on Tuesday, according to a family member.

The state complaint alleges that the company sold unregistered stock and misrepresented the securities in dealings with at least 75 investors. The state department charges that the officers sold stock by claiming it would show a phenomenal increase in value within a few months and by misrepresenting contracts it had with the city of Boise, the state and a Canadian company.

Power Pump International — and

• See SECURITIES on Page B2

Judge says no to using school's staff for remodeling plan

By KAREN MAIN
Times-News correspondent

TWIN FALLS — In a memorandum decision issued Friday, Judge Daniel Hurbutt ruled against the Filer School District's plan to use staff carpenters on a $1 million remodeling project at the high school.

A contractor, four contractors' associations and a Filer resident had filed the lawsuit two months ago to stop the district from acting as its own contractor instead of soliciting competitive bids.

The contractors, White Plumbing and Heating, Inc., Association of Plumbing and Heating Contractors of Idaho, Inc., Sheet Metal Contractors of Idaho, Inc., Idaho Mechanical Contractors, and the Idaho Chapter of the National Electrical Contractors Associations, Inc., originally asked for a preliminary injunction against the district to prevent any construction without bids and later stipulated to accept a declaratory judgment setting out the court's opinion of an Idaho statute.

The Idaho code that is in dispute deals with a school board's "powers and duties" to contract for construction of real property and solicit bids for projects that cost $10,000 or more.

Attorneys involved in the case said that the lawsuit had far-reaching implications because the Filer School District challenged whether the law's intent was that districts must bid projects over $10,000, or if they had the option of using their own employees.

Because the architect's estimate of the high school project exceeded the funds available, the school board members decided to use district employees and hire additional labor, because they said it could save 20 to 25 percent of the cost.

The high school and gymnasium addition is part of an overall remodeling project paid for with a district bond.

Besides a regular maintenance crew, the district in early 1984 had hired 12 employees as carpenters, electricians, plumbers, bricklayers, and other construction workers who had worked on the other school remodeling projects.

In September, the district also hired Paul Stettler, who previously headed a citizens advisory committee that evaluated the schools for the bond issue, as a construction supervisor.

But in his decision, Hurbutt wrote that Idaho law does not permit a school district to undertake the construction of improvements to real property in excess of $10,000 under its own direction and with its own employees without first soliciting public competitive bids as required.

Although Hurbutt's decision favored the contractors' position, it was not entirely based upon their reasoning.

The contractors contended that school boards not only have the power outlined in the Idaho code dealing with buying and selling school property, but they also have the duty to follow all procedures set out in the statute.

The contractors also argued that school districts are only empowered to hire labor to maintain and operate the schools, not act as their own general contractors to construct new facilities.

"On the other hand," the district interpreted the code as giving the board the power to contract for construction and the discretion to decide whether to place a project up for bid, in which case school boards would have the power to follow the statute's bidding procedure.

The school-district further argued that as a state agency, it has the implied power to interpret statutes it

• See FILER on Page B2

Board wants to end illegal flow of drugs for livestock use

By HAL BERTON
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho Board of Pharmacy wants to crack down on the illegal flow of prescription drugs from feed supply houses to the state's livestock industry.

In the past, these efforts have run into stiff opposition from ranchers and dairy farmers who say they can't always afford the time and extra money often required to consult a veterinarian before administering prescription drugs.

During the 1984 Legislative session, livestock industry lobbyists made an unsuccessful attempt to weaken state laws regulating prescription sales of veterinary drugs.

A truce, however, is likely to be called in 1985 — as livestock industry lobbyists, veterinarians and state Pharmacy Board officials hammer out a compromise package to reform state veterinary drug laws.

The current state law requires that all prescription drugs be handled by veterinarians, with feed supply firms limited to the sale of over-the-counter drugs. But law enforcement has allowed some prescription drugs to be handled by feed supply houses, state pharmacy officials say.

The reform package — developed this fall by a Senate interim study committee — will try to keep a restricted group of dangerous drugs in the control of licensed veterinarians.

But — in a bow to industry lobbyists — the bill would create a broad new category of more loosely regulated prescription drugs. These drugs could be freely sold by feed supply companies to customers, once the customer had obtained a prior veterinarian prescription.

The details of the compromise are of vital interest to feed supply firms, which have built a multi-million dollar sales industry based on the use of vans and trucks that provide home-delivery of livestock drugs to stockmen and dairy farmers.

The feed supply companies are often able to purchase so-called "lay drug lines" from pharmaceutical companies and offer them to ranchers at discounts of up to 20 percent below the "professional drug lines" available only through veterinarian pharmacies.

By changing the labeling of these lay-line offerings, drug companies can even legally transform some professional line drugs available only through a veterinarian's prescription into an over-the-counter drug.

says Lay Lloyd, director of the state Board of Pharmacy.

Many state stockmen patronize the feed supply houses and don't want to see tighter state controls on veterinarian drugs. They say veterinarians are trying to keep control of the lucrative livestock drug market, at least in part, to protect their own profits.

Jerome veterinarian L.V. Ruebel admits that the compulsion offered by feed supply houses sometimes cuts into his pharmacy sales. However, too many potent drugs are now available without prescription, he says.

"These trucks that go to the ranches are big business," says veterinarian Dr. E.V. Ruebel of Jerome. "But somewhere along the line, there must be some controls on the drugs."

Lloyd and state Agriculture Department treasurer Greg Nelson agree. They say that some state feed supply houses have illegally offered home-delivery of prescription drugs to state ranchers and dairymen.

"Complaints came into this office that prescription drugs were being sold without a drug order from a veterinarian. And we did make an effort to tighten up and restrict the availability of these drugs," Lloyd said.

• See ANTI-BIOTICS on Page B2

available only through veterinarian pharmacies.

By changing the labeling of these lay-line offerings, drug companies can even legally transform some professional line drugs available only through a veterinarian's prescription into an over-the-counter drug.

says Lay Lloyd, director of the state Board of Pharmacy.

Many state stockmen patronize the feed supply houses and don't want to see tighter state controls on veterinarian drugs. They say veterinarians are trying to keep control of the lucrative livestock drug market, at least in part, to protect their own profits.

Jerome veterinarian L.V. Ruebel admits that the compulsion offered by feed supply houses sometimes cuts into his pharmacy

By BOB FREUND
Times-News writer

Residents named to city boards at council meeting

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls City Council expanded its Golf Advisory Board and appointed new members to the city's Planning and Zoning Commission at its regular meeting Monday.

In a strand of committee appointments, Mayor Emery Petersen also gave several council members new responsibilities.

Councilman John Peterson was selected the city's first public safety commissioner, a consolidation of the fire and police commissioner posts. Councilman Erik Anderson was placed on the library board as a voting member. Councilwoman Mary McClusky becomes alternate council representative to the Planning and Zoning Commission. Councilman Doug Vollmer was named to the city budget committee.

The golf board, which will have the job of building a new clubhouse next year, was reorganized and enlarged from five to seven members.

The three newest members are: Lowell Willis, an associate broker for American Real Estate & Appraisal, which is operated by city councilman Doug Vollmer; Gary Koutnik, owner of Western Appraisal Co. of Twin Falls; and Milo Pearson, owner of General Building Supply of Twin Falls.

Willis and Koutnik were appointed to one-year terms, as was current member Phyllis Taylor, the president of the Women's Golf Association.

Selected to two-year terms were: Pearson, Larry Whittle, who is 1985-86 president of the Men's Golf Association, and current member Julie Blanford. The seventh member of the advisory board is city council member Gale Kleinkopf.

The council also named new members to the Planning and Zoning Commission. Tom Moore was appointed to a full, three-year term after having filled the unexpired term of councilman Jack Miller last year. Greg Ruddle, insurance agent for The Travelers Companies, also will serve a full term.

Contractor Gary Bond was named to a two-year term, finishing the term of Bill Koch who resigned for business reasons. Chris Valance, district coordinator for the downtown Business Improvement District, was selected as the alternate member.

The council recommended that the county commissioners appoint Les Poe to the planning and zoning body to represent the city's area of impact. They also suggested that Gary Cluser, who farms and works for Sears Roebuck & Co., replace Poe as alternate for the area of impact. The planning and zoning appointments become effective Jan. 1.

Briefly

Jerome break-ins reported
JEROME — Two businesses were burglarized in Jerome during the weekend, according to city police reports.

About $1,800 in cash and checks was taken in a break in at the Wood Cafe on Main Street in Jerome. Police said the building was broken into Saturday night or early Sunday morning. A door was also broken to gain entry to the office area where the checks and cash were found.

Officers said it is believed the cafe burglar and a break-in at about the same time at the Northern Tavern, 200 West First St., may be connected. Burglars broke into the tavern building and then forced a door inside the building to reach the office area. Only a small amount of change was taken in the second burglary, officers said.

School program held today
HAGERMAN — Hagerman School Christmas program will be held today at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gymnasium.

The elementary school students will sing traditional and contemporary carols and the elementary school band will play.

The junior high and high school bands will present various holiday selections. Pamela Buckland and Joel Anderson will play piano solos. A special guest appearance will conclude the program. The program is under the direction of Mike Thomas, Hagerman's schools music director.

Christmas program slated
HAGERMAN — The Hagerman School of Performing Arts will present a Christmas program Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Hagerman High School gym.

The program will feature various dances from the students of Sally Sims and Debby Glauner. Admission is free.

Suspects arrested for thefts
TWIN FALLS — City police detectives in Twin Falls arrested two young male suspects Monday in connection with thefts of nearly $900 in merchandise.

Public Safety Director Tim Qualls said Noel E. Rawson, 18, of Filer and Gary-Jon Fisher, 22, of Walsley were in custody Tuesday charged with thefts at Video West and Scott's Refrigeration.

Robert G. Watts of Video West, 705 Blue Lakes Blvd. N., told police that between 7 p.m. Saturday and 1 p.m. Monday a video camera, valued at $382, disappeared from the store display.

Both Rawson and Fisher are charged with grand theft in connection with the missing camera at Video West. Fisher is also charged with first-degree burglary. The second charge involves a break-in at Scott's Refrigeration on Sunday in which $296 in materials and tools were taken. Bond was set at $1,500 for each of the men, pending court appearances.

Qualls said most of the stolen items were recovered in the investigation.

Officer injured in incident
JEROME — A city police officer in Jerome suffered a fractured thumb and another Jerome man was charged with battery as the result of an incident Friday at 412 East J. St.

Officers were called to the Bryces Sauer home on J. Street in Jerome about 4 p.m. Friday.

Officer Dan Chatterton, who was making the investigation, heard shouting as he approached the house. He was talking with the woman who was in the house when Sauer appeared and ordered him to leave the property, officers said.

When the officer attempted to talk to the suspect, a struggle followed and Chatterton suffered a chipped bone in his thumb. He was treated at St. Benedict's Family Medical Center and released.

Sauer was arrested on a battery charge and later released from custody on bond.

Trade association sets party
TWIN FALLS — The Idaho World Trade Association will have a no-host, cocktail Christmas party from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Thursday at the Canyon Springs Inn. People interested in import or export trade are invited. Cost is $3.

Gooding students make honor roll

GOODING — The following students at Gooding High School were named to the honor roll for the first nine-week grading period.

Students who earned all A's were: Laurie Faulker, Gene Gibson, Christine Lison, Matt Blirnie and Ben Yore, seniors; Paul Riggin, Junior; Wendy Anderson, Vicki Holland and Kelli Skabronski, sophomores; and Bret Bryant, freshman.

Students who earned A's and B's were: Tina Fugan, Rhonda Gerdas, Mellinda Jones, Glenda Knight, Julie Oberle, Lynn Pence, Karla Skabronski, Susi Wartluft, Doug Rogers, Mike Vestal, Kevin Young and Sherrl Pauls, seniors; and LeAnn Bartlome, Leah Bradley, Sherrl Brown, Dawn Bryan, Lori Fossecce, Danee Peters, James Corio, Dean Metzger, Todd Smith and Sven Swenson, Juniors.

Steve Blirnie, Hal Brown, Jack Faulkner, Nich Gonzales, Roby Hoyt, Terry Lowman, Marshall Major, Gavin Moody, John Nelson, Darren Rechel, Michelle Arkooshi, Carrie Bradshaw, Sherrl Brooks, Angela Cheney, Jan Gibson, Tammy McCulloch, Lora Mink, Trisha Novinger, Vicki Paul and Lelloni Reed, sophomores; and Jonathan Cheney, Harlen-Hutcheson, Darren-McFadden, Kirk McTae, Scott Muchow, George Oberle, John Sackman, Allison France, Carol Grover, Christy Hatfield, Honey Lynn Heiker, Susie McLaughlin, Dena Metzger, Kim Pence, Belinda Rowland, Tina Stockton and Trudy Turner, freshmen.

Man charged in wreck

JEROME — Donald Grove, 25, of Jerome was in custody Monday in Jerome County facing five separate charges after a vehicle he was allegedly driving, crashed into a power pole in Jerome Sunday.

State and county officers reported Grove was charged with driving while intoxicated, driving while his license was suspended, obstructing officers, fictitious display of licenses and failing to have proof of insurance.

The accident occurred one mile north of Jerome Sunday morning. When officers went to investigate they found an abandoned vehicle had struck a power pole. License plates had been removed from the vehicle and there was blood at the scene. A short time later officers received a call from St. Benedict's hospital personnel stating four intoxicated male subjects were at the hospital and one had been injured.

Grove, who was treated for minor injuries, at first denied having been in the accident, officers said, but later said he was driving the vehicle and that he lost control on the ice and skidded into the pole. He originally refused an intoximeter test but later agreed and took the test.

A witness told officers he saw the four get into another vehicle at the accident scene. The other vehicle was found at the hospital. Police said license plates were also found in the second vehicle.

The three others were not arrested.

Holiday Savings
$5 OFF ON A WASH & WEAR PERM
CUP & SAVE THIS COUPON EXPIRES 1/31/85
Ann's His & Hers
527 Main Ave. E. Twin Falls
734-8212

Fabricland

"The Most Complete Fabric Stores in the Northwest"

HOLIDAY SAVINGS!

December 19-24, 1984
Closed CHRISTMAS DAY

ENTIRE STOCK

PRINTED FABRICS

Choose from beautiful fashion prints, calico prints, and holiday prints... in easy care blends, 100% cotton and 100% polyester!

1/3

OFF THE MARKED PRICE!

The LARGEST selection of prints to choose from!

72" FELT

10 colors to choose from $4.99 yd.

Reg. 15.99 yd.

FELT SQUARES

Lots of colors to choose from 5/$1.00

Reg. 25¢ each

Coats & Clark

RED HEART Yarn

- Wintuk variegated & solids
- Sport yarn • Baby yarn
- 100% Cotton yarn

99¢

Reg. to $1.49 Skein

Skein

GIFT CERTIFICATES

Available in any amount!

all items limited to supply on hand

840 BLUE LAKES BLVD. N.
TWIN FALLS • 733-0335

HOWDY PARDNER!

Looking for a unique and useful gift? Send your friends and relatives a sample of our World Famous Idaho Potato... ideal for holidays, Birthdays, or any other special occasion. You'll get all the credit and we do all the work. Just send us the names and addresses and we'll ship a 15-lb. gift pack of hand selected, carefully packaged Idaho Baking Potatoes anywhere in the continental United States.

For Only $15.95

15 lb. Gift Pack

Send Check, M.O., M.C. or VISA - include No. & exp. date to:

MAX HERBOLD INC.
P.O. Box 533 Rupert, Idaho 83350 (208) 436-6396

HOLIDAY FAVORITES

Give delicious Falls Brand Old-Fashioned Meats and Gift packs to your friends and family this holiday season and help Magic Valley Rehabilitation Services continue its programs to rehabilitate disabled individuals of the area.

Free delivery of items in Twin Falls City Limits. Any of the Gift Items can be shipped for an additional charge.

FALLS BRAND

Old-fashioned smoked hams, boneless ham, thick cut new York steaks, beef bacon, Canadian bacon, smoked pork loin and three special gift packs.

AVAILABLE FROM OUR BOOTH INSIDE THE NORTH ENTRANCE TO LYWOOD PLAZA (BETWEEN PENNY WISE AND KING'S) NOW THROUGH DEC. 24

MAIL ORDERS WELCOME

Magic Valley Rehabilitation Services
Businesses and Individuals wishing Catalogues or to place orders may call 734-4112

Idaho

Yarborough possessed, didn't own, gun

By SUSAN GALLAGHER
The Associated Press

BOISE (AP) — Former Aryan Nations member Gary Yarborough says he possessed but didn't own the gun police claim was used to kill a Denver radio talk-show host, and he has no intention of cooperating with authorities who suspect him in the June slaying.

"Why should I help them?" Yarborough, 29, said Tuesday at the Ada County Jail, where he is being held on federal assault and weapons charges.

He said authorities investigating the shooting of radio host Alan Berg told him to do the dirty work of the Jews, Berg, gunned down outside his townhouse, was Jewish and spoke against extremist groups.

"I know nothing about Alan Berg, except that he was a Jew," said Yarborough, a red-haired Caucasian who crosses his index fingers to form what he calls "the sign of the cross of Jesus."

He said Jews' lineage make them the "enemy of God," but he said people of the Jewish faith are not his personal enemies.

He made his remarks after jail authorities approached by reporters seeking interviews admitted them to the jail visiting area. Yarborough, dressed in orange jail coveralls, was separated from reporters and photographers by a window and spoke by phone. He read Bible verses frequently and referred often to notes penned on a yellow pad.

Yarborough is in custody on charges of assaulting a federal officer and possessing firearms as a convicted felon. He is accused of shooting at an FBI officer outside his Sandpoint-area home on Oct. 18, and was arrested in the take-out-of-a-Portland, Ore., motel Nov. 24. A hearing on whether bond should be set will be held before a U.S. magistrate on Friday.

Yarborough's companion at the motel, reported neo-Nazi Robert Matthews, fled from the stakeout and is believed to have died last week when the Whidbey Island, Wash., house from which he held police at bay was ignited.

Denver detectives identified Yarborough as a suspect in the Berg case after determining an Ingram .45 caliber submachine gun found during an Oct. 18 raid at Yarborough's home was the weapon used to kill Berg.

"Somebody gave it to me," Yarborough said in the gun. "I'm not at liberty to say who."

"Just because they (law enforcement authorities) said that it was the gun used, that doesn't mean that it is."

He also said he has kept weapons "because the Bible tells me to prepare for the day of destruction." That day will arrive in about six months, he said.

Yarborough talked for an hour as reporters from Idaho and Colorado huddled in the visiting area, relaying questions and answers over one phone.

"Asked if he was being framed in the Berg case, Yarborough said, "Our whole race is being framed."

Yarborough said violence is not espoused by the Church of Jesus-Christ Christian Aryan Nations, a Hayden Lake-based organization that law enforcement authorities have described as white supremacist, but which Yarborough said holds to a philosophy of white separatism.

"Nobody in Rev. Butler's camp has ever committed a violent act," Yarborough said in a reference to Richard Butler, Aryan Nations leader.

"I am not a white supremacist. I am not a neo-Nazi. I am a Christian," Yarborough said. He also said he is a white separatist.

While supremacists are looking to control the world," he said. "White separatists are seeking only to separate the races."

Yarborough said he arrived at many of his beliefs while serving an Arizona prison sentence. He was convicted on burglary and marijuana possession charges in Arizona.

He said he made his home in northern Idaho "mainly to get away from crime and corruption, and to separate myself from all the races." He said he moved to northern Idaho in 1980 and started working as an Aryan Nations printer in June of that year, supplementing his income with restaurant work.

Authorities said the alleged shooting incident that led to the assault charge against him occurred outside his Sandpoint-area home, where the FBI had gone to seek Yarborough's brother, Steven, wanted in Arizona.

Yarborough said he first came in contact with the Aryan Nations by answering an advertisement in the back of a magazine he identified as "Easy Rider."

He has said in a previous interview that he left the Aryan Nations about year ago for "lack of interest." Yarborough said on Tuesday that there is little difference between his views and those of Aryan Nations members.

Yarborough also has been affiliated with the Aryan Brotherhood, a prison organization with ties to the Aryan Nations. Yarborough called the Brotherhood an organization for inmates who felt they couldn't rely on guards for protection.

Fire burns school at New Plymouth

NEW PLYMOUTH (AP) — A fire that ripped through New Plymouth Junior-Senior High School on Tuesday destroyed the high-school portion of the building and resulted in heavy water damage to the junior-high area.

There were no reports of injuries. The fire was reported at about 11:30 a.m. after a physical education class detected smoke in the school gymnasium. The blaze raged out of control until late afternoon.

Firemen from New Plymouth and six towns in Idaho and Oregon struggled to save the two-story brick structure that served some 340 students.

The students were evacuated immediately after the fire was reported, New Plymouth School District officials said.

Students apparently got an early start on a winter vacation period scheduled to begin this Friday, District Clerk Linda Englesby said.

The fire is believed to have started in the gym on the building's north end and may have been electrically caused, said New Plymouth City Clerk Teddy Jungala.

Firemen were expected to remain on the scene until at least 9 p.m. Tuesday.

VA patient drowned

ROSEBURG, Ore. (AP) — The Douglas County medical examiner has determined that a Veterans Administration Medical Center patient whose body was found on the banks of the Stead Umpqua River died from drowning.

Craig Wormald, 50, of Boise, Idaho, was reported missing from the VA Medical Center on Nov. 26 and his body was "discovered Saturday" north of Roseburg, authorities said.

Dr. John Roos, county medical examiner, determined from an autopsy Monday that Wormald drowned in the river. His body was found among some debris near Umpqua Sand and Gravel.

Police said they believe Wormald drowned shortly after his disappearance and his body was left on shore when the river "receded from its last high water stage."

VA Deputy Director Denny Tepper said Wormald was transferred to Roseburg "from Boise" Oct. 9, apparently because of the availability of psychiatric services. Wormald was granted grounds privileges in mid-October, said Tepper.

Former fire chief sues Boise district

BOISE (AP) — Former Cole-Callister Fire District Chief Jim Macklin said he plans to file a lawsuit against the district's commissioners.

The Monday announcement of his intent to sue the district came just four days after commissioners fired his successor, Wally Peterson.

Macklin was fired in May and replaced by Peterson, who was forced to resign Friday. Former Whitney

Fire Chief Don Laine has been appointed to replace Peterson.

A copy of Macklin's complaint accuses the board of dismissing Macklin because he would not carry out the board's wishes that he perform "improper" activities.

Macklin's attorney, Patricia Bridge Urquhart, said the lawsuit would be filed Tuesday in 4th District Court in Boise.

Fine wines for your holiday don't have to be expensive!

Let Safeway's large wine varieties add to the pleasure of your days. Enjoy wine with foods and in foods. The art of cooking with wines has it's own rewards, for relaxing with friends, savoring it with cheese, all you need to remember is Safeway, where fine wines are at your fingertips.

Ste. Chapelle Table Wine	California Cooler	Gallo Table Wine	Andre Champagne	Celia Table Wine
Johannsborg Riesling. Fine Idaho Wine. Serve With Cheese Or Special Meals	Light Tasting & Refreshing Sparkling Wine Punch Flavor In A Bottle	Rhine, Chablis Blanc, Vin Rose, Pink Chablis, Red Rose, Burgundy, Hearty Burgundy	Pink, White Or Gold Duck Sparkling Refreshing	Lambrusco, Rosato, Bianco, Great Chilled Serve With Fruit & Cheese
750 ml. $5.49	4 Pack, 12-oz. Btl. $3.79	1.5 liter $3.85	750 ml. $2.99	1.5 Liter $5.69

Blue Nun Liebfraumilch

Delightful Light White Wine $5.09 (750 ml.)

Inglenook Fine Wines

Chablis or Rose $8.49 (3 liter)

Lancers Imported Wines

Rose Or Vlnno Branco $5.09 (750 ml.)

Hanns Kornell Champagne

Brut And Extra Dry $8.79 (750 ml.)

Pepsi Products

$1.39 Plus Deposit

SAVE $1.06
8 Pack, 16-oz. Bottles

Stroh's Beer	Heineken Beer	Budweiser Beer
Regular Or Light 12 Pack 12-oz. Cans	Light Or Dark 6 Pack 12-oz. Bottles	Regular Or Bud Light 12 Pack 12-oz. Cans
$5.39	$6.09	$5.79

Celebrate the Holidays with a FREE Bottle of Champagne from Ste. Chapelle and Golden Beverages!

BUY 4 BOTTLES OF ANY STE. CHAPELLE WINE IN THE 750 OR 1.5 LITER SIZES DURING THE MONTH OF DECEMBER AND WE'LL GIVE YOU A BOTTLE OF THE NEW STE. CHAPELLE CHAMPAGNE FREE!

Just bring us the labels (or empty bottles with labels still intact), along with proof of purchase receipts from store or restaurant, to either of our warehouses in Twin Falls or Rupert, and receive your FREE bottle of Ste. Chapelle Champagne.

RULES: You must be nineteen years of age or older. Employees and their spouses of Golden Beverages, Coors of Magic Valley are ineligible, as are wine retailers and their employers and spouses. Bring the labels for bottles with labels and proof of purchase to either of our locations.

OFFER ENDS DEC. 31, 1984 AND MUST BE REDEEMED BY JAN. 15, 1985

Golden Beverages

A Division of Coors of Magic Valley, Inc.

Twin Falls Office:
888 Washington St.
Twin Falls
733-3535
Mon-Fri 9:00-5:00 PM

Rupert Office:
Rupert Industrial Park
(Behind Rupert Elks Club)
436-9595
Mon-Fri 1:00-5:00 PM

Prices Effective Wednesday, December 19 Thru Monday, December 24, 1984-At Your Twin Falls Safeway Store.

1984 Safeway Stores Incorporated

NEW... DIGITAL PAGING

- SILENT, DISCRETE
- VIBRATING or BEEP
- with Memory
- BEEP & VOICE or LIGHT
- NUMERIC DISPLAY with Memory
- Combinations of all the above

From $24.50 TO $29.50 Complete

AUTO-PHONE CORP.

733 OAKLEY TWIN FALLS 733-5470
710 ALBION BURLEY 678-8991

is proud to introduce to its clients new digital paging. Discrete, silent, digital paging for personal retrieval of messages.

Each pages has its own telephone number & can be dialed from any telephone. Pagers come in all sizes & styles.

For 39 years we have been helping the Magic Valley with its communications needs.

- First to service two-way radios in Southern Idaho
- First with Mountain Top Repeaters (Sun Valley & Southern to Eastern Idaho)
- First with computerized 2-way radio trunking
- First with Trunking Telephone Interconnect
- Now... we can offer silent digital paging

For all your Communications Needs, Call
AUTO PHONE CORP. 733-5470 Let us help you

Boise lawyer declares

Disaster chasing 'looks bad'

BOISE (AP) — The man likely to be the next president of the American Bar Association takes a dim view of American attorneys traveling to India on speculation they can pursue litigation over the deadly chemical leakage there.

"It looks bad," Boise attorney Eugene Thomas said Tuesday. Thomas, lone candidate for the ABA presidency, said the matter of attorneys responding to massive disasters raises questions of exploitation vs. a commitment to help the poor.

Press reports indicate American attorneys have rushed to India with intentions of arranging contingency-fee lawsuits over the chemical leakage reported to have killed 2,500 people near the Bhopal plant of Union

Carbide, a U.S.-based corporation.

Thomas said he doesn't object to attorneys traveling to disaster sites to serve clients who already have retained their services. That apparently was the situation of widely known San Francisco lawyer Melvin Bell, who went to India, he said.

"I am concerned about the apparent professionalism of lawyers swooping in on a disaster scene, appearing to be on the lookout for clients who will sign contingency-fee contracts," Thomas said.

But he added that while ABA ethics standards oppose the solicitation of business, American lawyers also are expected to provide services to the poor, and "there is nobody with a more important cry for understanding of their needs and legal assistance than those victims" in India.

"Poor people do need to be helped," Thomas said.

He said he is unfamiliar with India's legal system and any provisions it may make for assisting the poor.

He said the overall impression the public has received concerning American lawyers' response to the India disaster detracts from the image of the legal profession.

"I think it looks bad in the public eye — as though people are being exploited," Thomas said.

Ultimately, he said, massive disasters often are settled through legislation rather than lawsuits. The response to Idaho's Teton Dam collapse of 1976 was handled with relatively little litigation, he said.

"I think it's an example of a mature, sophisticated system in America dealing with a huge loss very effectively," Thomas said.

He said the ethics of pursuing cases is a constant issue before the bar association, of which he hopes to become president in August.

Thomas said an election in Detroit this February will determine whether he is an official nominee. The presidency will be decided in August when the association meets in London, he said.

Meanwhile, Thomas said, he isn't making any assumptions about obtaining the leadership position. "I've had fish not only in the net, but in the boat that got away, so I don't assume anything," Thomas said.

Hepatitis source sought

MOUNTAIN HOME (AP) — State health officials say they will check Mountain Home school's food suppliers if tests on the school's water supply and personnel don't reveal the source of a hepatitis outbreak.

The Central District Health Department is trying to find the cause of the outbreak by testing kitchen personnel and water supplies.

Central District Health Department officials last Thursday confirmed eight cases of viral hepatitis in children attending West Elementary School, said Rick Sager, health educator for the agency.

If those tests prove negative, the investigators will check food suppliers. Viral hepatitis is characterized by jaundice, fever, nausea and loss of appetite, Sager said. The disease can cause mild to severe liver damage.

One child was hospitalized with the disease at the end of November, Sager said, while the others are recuperating at home.

It is spread through close contact with an infected person and is linked to poor sanitation, Sager said. The incubation period is 15 to 50 days.

UP outlines plans for Pocatello facility

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — Union Pacific plans to spend $1 million next year on a new lair for its wheel shop in Pocatello and $600,000 on an infra-red television system to monitor train arrivals, railroad officials say.

Richard Tinchler, Union Pacific public relations director in Salt Lake City, and Idaho Division Superintendent Dave M. Wheeler said the approved expenditures for 1985 underscore the railroad's commitment to its Pocatello operations.

Tinchler and Wheeler said the railroad has no plans to abandon its rural branch lines in Idaho, contrary to rumors circulating since Union Pacific decided to transfer or eliminate some 40 Pocatello timekeeping and clerical jobs.

Union Pacific's Pocatello employment is about 1,800 and its 1983 Idaho division payroll totaled $70 million, making it the largest employer in the state, the spokesmen said.

"As far as the Idaho division is concerned, the division headquarters is going to remain in Pocatello," said Wheeler, adding that $500,000 has been spent to remodel the railroad's depot there.

The first floor of the depot will be revamped to accommodate Union Pacific's computerized "transportation control system," which is being installed at a cost of $19 million, Tinchler said.

Wheeler and Tinchler said the division offices in Pocatello are being reorganized to streamline operations to eliminate duplication between the railroad's division and central offices.

Traffic volume or car loadings in Idaho are up over last year, but revenues are down, indicating a reduction in rates to stay competitive, Tinchler said.

Judge rules out new trial in murder case

COEUR D'ALENE (AP) — A judge ruled Tuesday there are insufficient grounds for Donald Paradis and Thomas Gibson to ask for a retrial or rehearing of evidence in their 1981 murder convictions in the death of Kimberly Ann Palmer.

Paradis and Gibson, former members of a Spokane motorcycle club, had asked for post-conviction relief of their convictions and death sentences.

The ruling by First District Court Judge Dar Cogswell represented the last avenue of appeal in the state court system. Last year, the Idaho Supreme Court split 3-2 on Paradis' appeal and 4-1 on Gibson's.

Gibson, of Josephine County, Ore., and Paradis, of Spokane, contested the expert medical witness testimony of Dr. William Brady, a Portland pathologist.

"There are no material disputed issues of fact which the Court should re-litigate as to the credibility of Dr. Brady or the validity of his opinion testimony," Cogswell wrote.

The judge said new evidence offered by Paradis to substantiate his claim of innocence in the slaying of Ms. Palmer did not meet the state requirement for newly discovered evidence.

Paradis and Gibson had argued that Ms. Palmer's body was cremated before their attorneys could have the opportunity to examine it.

Cogswell ruled, however, that there did not appear to be any evidence of a conspiracy on the part of Kootenai County prosecutors to conceal evidence from the defense.

Ms. Palmer was killed near Post Falls in June 1980. Paradis and Gibson were acquitted of the related murder of Scott Currier, a friend of Ms. Palmer's, by a Seattle jury in 1980.

The prosecution scenario was that Currier, from Huntington Beach, Calif., was killed in Paradis' home in Spokane and that Paradis and Gibson took Ms. Palmer to Post Falls, where she was killed to help hide the Currier slaying.

WE'LL MAKE YOU FEEL TERRIFIC ALL OVER

At our salon, haircare is just the beginning of your total beauty plan.

We go beyond the hairline to skin care, nail care and pedicure services. Even soothing facials, relaxing massages and classes in aerobics and yoga. Our trained experts can help you solve skin and nail care problems by prescribing the right Redken product for your individual needs.

We'll take care of your beauty needs from head to toe. So call us soon. And feel good all over.

New Beginnings HAIR DESIGN • BODY CARE

590 Addison Ave. • Twin Falls • 734-8060

Costello out of party slot

BOISE (AP) — Ada County Democratic chairman Pat Costello has resigned, saying the organization needs new blood in leadership.

Costello, who is senior assistant and counsel to Gov. John Evans, held the post for 2½ years. The county central committee is scheduled to name a successor Jan. 17.

Costello said he told the central committee when he was re-elected last June that he would resign after November's general election.

The resignation will give the new chairman enough time to plan for the 1986 election, he said.

Costello will remain a member of the executive committee and chairman of legislative District 16.

KORET® Spans the Seasons in Style

Desert skies, mesas and Indian motifs are the inspiration for these clean-cut desert shapes in natural and sand with bold Pueblo print accent and the texture of sweating in ramie and cotton.

- (right) Vest, $5.00. Pant, $4.00.
- Shirt Jacket, $8.00. (far right) Short sleeve blouse, $5.00. Skirt, $2.00. (not shown) long sleeve plaid blouse, $8.00. Sizes 8 through 20.

Beautiful Gift Wrap For Christmas! Open Evenings 'til 8:00 through Friday

The Paris
Street Level

124 Main Avenue North, Twin Falls • 733-1506

Give a gift that's merry & bright.

Festive, holiday flowers and glowing candles in a polished, solid copper Sauce Server express your warmest wishes. Call or visit our shop to have the Sauce Server Bouquet delivered anywhere in the U.S. and Canada.

Send Teleflora's Sauce Server Bouquet for Christmas.

CRANDALL'S FLOWERS & HALLMARK SHOP
113 Main Avenue East
Twin Falls • 733-3044

Woolworth

Prices Effective thru Sunday, Dec. 23rd. Quantities Limited to Stock on Hand!

Reg. 27.99
18⁸⁸
Ladies' Sweaters! Choose from a large selection of sweaters in many styles and colors.

Reg. 6.49

4⁴⁷

Infant's Blanket Sleepers. Warm and comfortable. No other cover needed. Sizes 1-4.

UP TO

25% OFF

Ladies' Dressy Blouses. Large selection of ladies' blouses, perfect for the holidays. Long sleeve & 3/4 length sleeve, button front & pullover. Our reg. to $16.99.

UP TO

25% OFF

All Ladies' Queen Size Blouses. Many styles.

Reg. 22.99
15⁸⁸
Animal Blanket Throws. 60x80" size. 100% acrylic. Several to choose from.

8⁸⁸

Reg. 14.99
"Joy of Cooking" Cookbook. The American household classic. All purpose cookbook.

16⁸⁸

Reg. 24.99

YOUR CHOICE:

- All Star Sports Edition
- Silver Screen Edition
- Baby Boomer Edition

UP TO

25% OFF

All Ladies' Skirts! Choose from wool, polyester, cotton, corduroys & pleated styles. Large selection.

$6

Reg. 8.99

Infant's Velvet Dresses and Vest Suits. Several styles in sizes 6-18 months.

Reg. 26.99

19⁹⁹

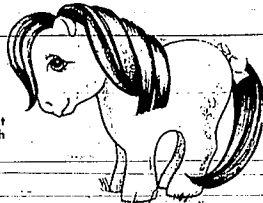

16" Super Big Wheel Bike by Empire. New style! Sturdy construction. With removable training wheels.

Reg. 4.99

3⁹⁹

My Little Pony. Many different ponies to choose from. All with brush and ribbon.

Reg. 19.99

14⁸⁸

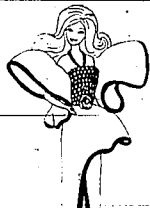

Cabbage Patch Roller Skates. Built in toe stops, urethane wheels, velcro closing.

Reg. to 13.99

8⁸⁸

Barbie Dolls. Choose from "Dream Date" or "Angel Face" Barbie.

Reg. 16.99

11⁸⁸

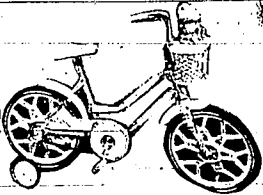

Rainbow Brite Roller Skates by Roller Derby. Wide urethane wheels. Toe stops.

Reg. 69.99

49⁹⁹

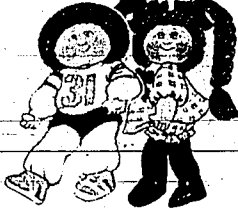

16" Care Bear Bicycle. Steel frame, semi-pneumatic tires, training wheels.

Reg. 12.99

8⁸⁸

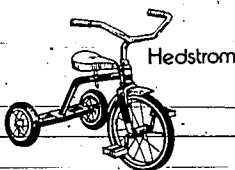

Cabbage Patch Clothes. Baby clothes for your Cabbage Patch kid. For all 16" kids.

Reg. 29.99

19⁹⁹

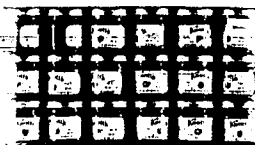

13" Hedstrom Tricycle. Welded frame construction. Semi-pneumatic tires. Red!

6⁹⁷

Reg. 11.49

Knott's Berry Farm Preserves. Gift boxed! Six 8-oz. jars of preserves.

6⁹⁷

Reg. 11.49

Knott's Berry Farm Preserves & Jellies. Eighteen 1 1/2 oz. jars.

3⁹⁷

Reg. 7.49

Knott's Berry Farm Preserves. 3-Pk. of 8-oz. jars.

HOLIDAY HOURS:

Monday-Saturday 9:30 a.m.-9 p.m.

Sunday 11 a.m.-6 p.m.

GIFT IDEAS

$5 Reg. 7.49
Men's Over-the-Calf Tube Socks, 6 pair packages, Striped tops.

$6 Reg. 9.99
Boys' Sweaters, Selection includes V-Neck and Crew Neck styles.

$10 Reg. 16.99
Men's Boxed Velour Shirts, V-Neck style in new luxurious corduroy look velour, S-M-L.

$4 Reg. 6.49
Men's Thermal Heatlok Underwear, Choose 1/2 shirt or ankle length drawer.

Reg. 10.99
$7
Men's Western Shirt, Authentic styling with pearl snaps, Poly/cotton blend.

39¢ Christmas Bows, Pkg. of 25 beautiful assorted bows.

2 FOR $5 Christmas Gift Wrap, 75 sq. ft. roll, 2'6" x 10 yds.

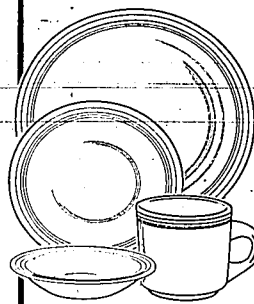

33% OFF

Holiday Kitchen Accessories, Large selection of linen ensembles, towels, pot holders, tablecloths, 3-pc. kitchen sets and aprons.

99¢ Reg. 1.49
1985 Calendar Towels, Attractively printed, ready to hang.

$10 Reg. 14.99
16-Pc. Ironstone Dinnerware, Service for 4, Ovenproof-microwave & dishwasher safe.

2⁹⁷ Reg. 4.29
Demot's Turtles, Milk chocolate, pecan caramel candy, 12-oz. box.

2¹⁹ Reg. 2.99
32-Oz. Lusk Candies, Choose Oldo Tyme Hard Mix or Soft Centers.

1³⁷ Reg. 1.99
Biscuits Danish Butter Cookies, 16-oz. stay fresh tin.

Reg. 1.59
99¢
Christmas Hand Towels, Choose from several holiday designs.

Reg. 2.69
2 FOR $3
Eveready Energizer Batteries, Choose from C, D or AA, 2 per card.

Reg. 17.99
12⁸⁸
Storage Organizers, Choose from 21 or 50 drawer, For home or office.

Reg. 7.99
5⁹⁹
100 Page Photo Album, Magnetic mount, Extra page space for labeling.

Reg. $20
15⁸⁸
Cut Glass Wine Set, Six 8-oz. glasses and 44-oz. decanter.
(Similar to Illustration)

Reg. $20
$15⁸⁸
"Country Bouquet" Canister Set, Fine ceramic co-ordinates for the kitchen, 4-pc. set.

Reg. $7
$5
Punch Bowl Set, 18-pc. set with ladle and cup hangers.
(Similar to Illustration)

Reg. 17.89
$12
Silverson Fry Pan Set, Set of 3 Durable aluminum with non-stick interior, 6", 8" & 9-5/8".

Twin Falls at
705 Blue Lakes Blvd. N.

BUY WITH CONFIDENCE!
SATISFACTION GUARANTEED!
REPLACEMENT OR MONEY REFUND GUARANTEED

New crush-proof box.

MERIT

A world of flavor in a low tar.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined
 That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

8 mg. "tar," 0.6 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette, by FTC method

© Philip Morris Inc. 1984

- Intermountain Gardening: C3
- Dear Abby C10
- Business, markets C11-12

There's a gift for every kind of home cook

You've hit the panic button. It's almost the night before that day and you still need something for that favorite cooker at your house. It could be something little or something big or perhaps a combination — like cookie cutters tied in the bows on the "big" gift box.

Well, here are few ideas. These are all available in Magic Valley right now. I've coded the (1)-under $5; (2)-under $20; (3)-under $50; and (4)-big bucks.

If you have a cook that would like to expand her repertoire in the kitchen, fix up a "theme" package. For example, fix a "cookie package." With one of the new air-cushioned cookie sheets (2), a cookie dropper (1), a wooden oven shelf pusher-puller (1) and a six-sided, dice-shaped cookie cutter (1).

Get a slab of marble (2) and add a marble rolling-pin (2); a package of cloth rolling-pin covers (1), and a couple of the quiche and tart-type pans (2) for the beginning pastry baker.

Quite a few stores have put together these kits for you for under $20. They are attractive in baskets and feature titles like "After-Dinner-Coffee-for-Two" or "Whole Spice Kit" that includes spice graters.

Manufacturers have also prepared some for you that include everything you'll need for specific entrees. There's a shish-kebab cooking set (2), a Sushi (rice cake) set (2), and a Mexican cooking set (3).

If your cook is all ready into these, you can pick up for under $20. They range to help with specific chores; like a tortilla basket maker, a taco rack, a taco fryer, an artichoke steamer, a spaetzel dumpling maker, a french-fry cutter or a ravioli maker. Don't overlook serving pieces as good gifts for cooks. In poking around local stores, I found a good supply of saffle dishes. These are neat for both cooking and serving. Another similar item is an gratin dishes. These are sort of shallow boat-shaped dishes and are great for oven-dishes. Like soufflé dishes, they come in individual sizes or "family-sized" servers.

In one store there was a very large serving platter (2). It would be super for that Christmas turkey. If you have a cook with arthritic hands, a big help is the battery-operated flour sifter (2).

Another item in the medium price range you might like to consider is scissors. Several models are available under $20. Some crunch right through the bones of fowls, while others do delicate vegetable preparation.

One "playing-with-your-food" kitchen gift is a garnishing kit (2). It includes the direction book and the five tools you'll need. There are ideas for glamorous apple birds and watermelon viking ships you can get your favorite cook to make.

When it comes to grinding and chopping, there are lots of helpers on the market this year. Marble or wood mortar and pestle sets are handy for small jobs (2), as is a jar food chopper (2). Don't forget the small coffee-spice electric grinders (2) that bring the freshest aromas to the kitchen.

Every cook can use a good knife or set of cutlery. You can get the knives in a handy wooden block (3) or just get the block for the knives already in the kitchen (2). Some handy utility

• See JONES on Page C3

Watch for calories in holiday drinks

By KAITEN GILLINGHAM
The Los Angeles Times

Those who count, or at least worry about, calories during the holidays probably try to pass on the cookies, fudge and fruitcakes that appear at every gathering. But they may still have just a few drinks, saying no to the party food as their way of surviving the season without putting on the pounds. However, it may be just as prudent (although not very much so) to practice the reverse: nibble a few cookies, a piece of fudge or a slice of fruitcake along with a cup of tea, coffee or a glass of mineral water.

Turning a few hot mulled punches and other typical holiday drinks through the computer turned up energetic contents that did not always return enough nutrient values to justify their numbers, even when the recipes were chosen for their fruitly ingredients. Still, these drinks may be a better choice than high-fat, high-alcohol eggnogs or other alcoholic beverages combined with sugary mixers such as soft drinks.

One that is sure to be different on the holiday circuit is the Golden Mutt-ed Punch, a warm and spicy brew of apple and carrot juices spiked with rum. At 105 calories per serving, this drink is rich in Vitamin A, but it provides little else except a small amount of hard-to-get iron. Those who are on a non-alcoholic drink can omit the rum, along with about 20 calories per serving.

Any of the recipes and their nutritional data here should provide information to guide holiday decisions about eating and drinking. It may not be wise to try to substitute some of these drinks or any holiday foods for the usual foods eaten in a healthful daily diet, but one probably does not have to give up the pleasure of traditional eating and drinking. The key is to eat a variety of foods — in moderation.

GOLDEN MULLED PUNCH

- 1 tablespoon whole allspice
- 10 whole cloves
- 2 cinnamon sticks
- 3 cups apple cider
- 1 (12-ounce) can carrot juice
- 1-2 lemon, sliced
- 1-4 cup light rum, optional

• See PUNCH on Page C3

Spread Christmas cheer with spectacular treats from the kitchen

Snow-capped cookie trees add pizzazz to table decorations

Bake festive holiday treats

The aromas of holiday baking signal to all that the season to be jolly is here! This year, start the holiday excitement with the most festive and flavorful kitchen creations ever.

Add decorative pizzazz to the table with Snow-Capped Cookie Trees, made from an old-fashioned sugar-cookie dough delicately flavored with lemon. Each tree is ingeniously created by sliding together two cookies cut with opposite slots from top and bottom.

Decorate simply, as shown here, or more elaborately, with a thick or thin drizzle of glaze, colorful chocolate candies and shiny silver dragées. Once finished the tasty "trees" make a festive forest for display.

Traditional pumpkin has never tasted better than in Streusel Pumpkin Cake, a moist cake marbled with a brown sugar, cinnamon and chopped nut mixture and crowned with a delicious crumb topping. Served with a hot drink, the cake is a wonderful treat for brunch, after caroling or while waiting up for Santa. Presented on a pretty plate, it also makes a nice offering when visiting friends.

When guests drop in, bring out a tray filled with special holiday goodies. Traditional shortbread takes a new, but familiar shape with Santa's Shortbread Crescents, a delicate buttery cookie with a sprinkling of cinnamon sugar. Caramel Sparkle Bars are a beautiful combination of favorite holiday flavors — chewy caramel, delicious chocolate, toasted oats — with a special touch of orange. Keep your merry munchers singing with Golden Graham Crunch, a surprise twist on traditional brittle. Chopped nuts and multi-colored chocolate candies made a tasty topping on Graham crackers glazed with homemade toffee. Keep some within reach for tree trimming, or gift wrapping breaks.

Holiday Snack Packs are a sweet savory combination of sesame sticks or pretzels, plain or peanut milk chocolate candies and raisins. This handy snack mix is ideal when the helpers and hungry and you're running short on time. It also makes a clever stocking stuffer or tree ornament when wrapped in colored cellophane tied by a snazzy ribbon or an easy gift idea when presented in an attractive glass container.

SNOW-CAPPED COOKIE TREES

Cookies

- ¾ cup margarine
- ¾ cup sugar
- ¾ cup light corn syrup
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ¾ cup flour
- ¾ cup baking soda
- ½ teaspoon lemon rind

Glaze

- 2 egg whites
- 4 cups sifted confectioners sugar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- Hot water
- Food coloring
- Plain chocolate candies
- Silver dragées

For cookies, beat together margarine, sugar, corn syrup and vanilla until light and fluffy. Gradually add combined flour, baking

• See BAKING on Page C2

Cooks from all over Idaho contributed

Book sales to benefit cancer programs

By JOAN BEAN
Times-News correspondent

TWIN FALLS — Proceeds from the sale of The Idaho Sampler Cookbook — a collection of old family recipes and favorites of Idahoans from all parts of the state — are being used to benefit cancer research, says Catherine Haynes, publicity chairman for the Twin Falls County unit of the American Cancer Society.

The book also contains a special section devoted to Idaho vegetables, fruits, wines, game and fish. One of the most unusual recipes is an old-fashioned scripture cake recipe found by Boise resident Beverley Robinson in her grandmother's file. The recipe is written in such a way that you must refer to the Bible in order to find the ingredients.

"They make marvelous Christmas gifts, especially for people who have relatives out of state," Haynes says. There are several lithographs of scenic points of interest in Idaho included in the book, and on the cover is a picture of an 8x12-foot quilt comprised of squares made by American Cancer Society units all over the state.

The quilt is on a statewide tour and will be on display in the Blue Lakes

Mall in Twin Falls December 17 through January 4.

Haynes says there are 750 books available for purchase in this area. "When they're sold — that's it. There won't be any reprints," she says.

The price of the cookbooks is $7, with the profits going into research and education in the Magic Valley. Including a cancer research program in which over 500 families are participating.

Other programs are the Cancer-mother program, Reach to Recovery for women who have had mastectomies, education programs for professionals and lay people, the Candle-lighters — a support group for parents whose children have cancer — and the United Ostomy Association which is a part of the American Cancer Society in Twin Falls.

"The Cancer Society is also involved with the 'I Can Hope' program that is done through the hospital for patients who have cancer and families of cancer patients... living with cancer — helping the family and patient to be able to talk about it, to relate to each other in the day to day, issue of living," Haynes says.

Although The Idaho Sampler Cookbook contains a large variety of tasty concoctions, these are not cancer prevention recipes.

"What we hope to accomplish with the cancer prevention study that is going on right now, is to get definitive information about the relationship between diet and cancer," Haynes says. "We know already that there is a relationship, but we need to determine exactly what that relationship is."

The American Cancer Society does have a list of recommended foods. "They're not saying it will prevent cancer, but they are saying it will improve your chances of not getting cancer," she says.

The Cancer Society advocates eating more high fiber foods, vegetables such as broccoli, brussels sprouts and cauliflower.

The Idaho Sampler Cookbooks are on display in beauty parlors, Judi's Bookstore, and Pennywise Drug. They also are available from Catherine Haynes at 743-7755 or Cathy Williams at 734-4446. They will deliver.

BEVERLEY ROBINSON'S SCRIPTURE CAKE

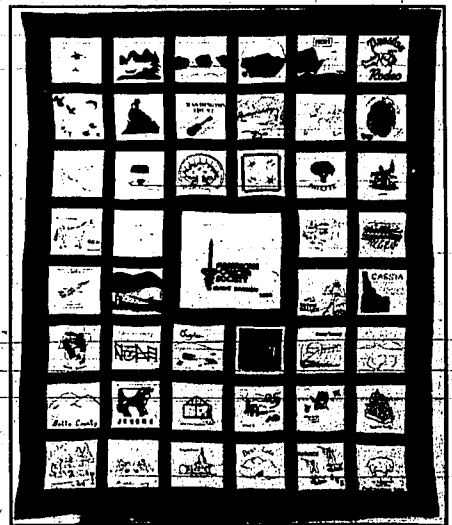

- ¾ cup sifted 1 Kings 4:22
- ¾ teaspoons Galatians 5:19
- ¼ teaspoon Leviticus 2:13
- 1½ teaspoon ground cinnamon

- ½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
- ½ teaspoon ground cloves
- 1 teaspoon 1 Kings 10:2
- 1 cup Judges 5:25 softened
- 2 cups firmly packed Jeremiah 6:20
- 2 tablespoons Exodus 16:31
- 6 Luke 11:12
- 8 ounces Deuteronomy 34:3 pitted and chopped
- 2 cups 1 Samuel 30:12
- 1 cup chopped Solomon 6:11
- 1 cup Judges 5:25
- Combine all ingredients and mix well. Pour into greased and floured tube pan. Bake at 325 for 1½ hours or until the top springs back when touched. Cakes best when served the next day. Serves 16.

MRS. JAMES MCCLURE'S ROQUEFORT SOUR CREAM DRESSING

- 2 cups mayonnaise
- 3 teaspoons chopped chives
- 1 teaspoon garlic powder
- 2-3 teaspoons freshly ground pepper
- ½ teaspoon worcestershire sauce
- ¼ cup sour cream
- ¼ cup buttermilk
- 3 ounces roquefort cheese, crumbled

Mix all ingredients together and refrigerate a few hours before using. Yields one quart.

A quilt is displayed on the Cancer Society cookbook

There's a gift for every kind of home cook

You've hit the panic button. It's almost the night before the day and you still need something for that favorite cooker at your house. It could be something little or something big or perhaps a combination... like cookie cutters tied in the bows on the "big" gift box.

Well, here are few ideas. These are all available in Magic Valley right now. I've coded the (1)-under $5; (2)-under $20; (3)-under $50; and (4)-big bucks.

If you have a cook that would like to expand her repertoire in the kitchen, fix up a "theme" package. For example, fix a "cookie package," with one of the new air-cushioned cookie sheets (2), a cookie dropper (1), a wooden oven shelf pusher-puller (1) and a six-sided, dice-shaped cookie cutter (1).

Get a slab of marble (2) and add a marble rolling-pin (2); a package of cloth rolling-pin covers (1), and a couple of the quiche and tart-type pans (2) for the beginning pastry baker.

Quite a few stores have put together these kits for you for under $20. They are attractive in baskets and feature titles like "After-Dinner-Coffee-Two" or "Whole Spice Kit" that includes spice graters.

Manufacturers have also prepared some for you that include everything you'll need for specific entrees. There's a shish-kebab cooking set (2), a Sushii (rice cake) set (2), and a Mexican cooking set (3).

If your cook is all ready into these, you can pick up separate items in the under $20 range to help with specific chores, like a tortilla basket maker, a taco rack, a taco fryer, an artichoke steamer, a spaetzle dumpling maker, a french-fry cutter or a ravioli maker.

Don't overlook serving pieces as good gifts for cooks. In poking around local stores, I found a good supply of souffle dishes. These are neat for both cooking and serving. Another similar item is an gratin dishes. These are sort of shallow bowl-shaped dishes and are great for oven dishes. Like souffle dishes, they come in individual sizes or "family-sized" servers.

In one store there was a very large serving platter (2). It would be perfect for that Christmas turkey.

If you have a cook with arthritis hands, a big help is the battery-operated food sifter (2).

Another item in the medium price range you might like to consider is scissors. Several models are available under $20. Some crunch right through the bones of fowls, while others do delicate vegetable preparation.

One "playing-with-your-food" kitchen gift is a garnishing kit (2). It includes the directions book and the five tools you'll need. There are ideas for glamorous apple birds and watermelon viking ships you can get your favorite cook to make.

When it comes to grinding and chopping, there are lots of helpers on the market this year. Marble or wood mortar and pestle sets are handy for small jobs (2), as is a jar food chopper (2). Don't forget the small coffee-spice electric grinders (2) that bring the freshest aromas to the kitchen.

Every cook can use a good knife or set of cutlery. You can get the knives in a handy wooden block (3) or just get the block for the knives already in the kitchen (2). Some handy utility

• See JONES on Page C3

Watch for calories in holiday drinks

By KAREN GILLINGHAM
 The Los Angeles Times

Those who count, or at least worry about, calories during the holidays probably try to pass on the cookies, fudge and fruitcakes that appear at every gathering. But they may still have just a few drinks, saying no to the party food as their way of surviving the season without putting on the pounds. However, it may be just as prudent (although not very much so) to practice the reverse: nibble a few cookies, a piece of fudge or a slice of fruitcake along with a cup of tea, coffee or a glass of mineral water.

Running a few hot mulled punches and other typical holiday drinks through the computer turned up calorie contents that did not always retain enough nutrient values to justify their numbers, even when the recipes were chosen for their fruity ingredients. Still, these drinks may be a better choice than high-fat, high-alcohol egg-nogs or other alcoholic punches combined with sugary mixers such as soft drinks.

One that is sure to be different on the holiday circuit is the Golden Mulled Punch, a warm and spicy brew of apple and carrot juices spiked with rum. At 105 calories per serving, this drink is rich in Vitamin A; but it provides little else except a small amount of hard-to-get iron. Those who prefer a non-alcoholic drink can omit the rum, along with about 20 calories per serving.

Any of the recipes and their nutritional data here should provide information to guide holiday decisions about eating and drinking. It may not be wise to try to substitute some of these drinks or any holiday foods for the usual foods eaten in a healthy daily diet, but one probably does not have to give up the pleasure of traditional eating and drinking. The key is to eat a variety of foods — in moderation.

GOLDEN MULLED PUNCH

- 1 tablespoon whole allspice
- 10 whole cloves
- 2 cinnamon sticks
- 3 cups apple cider
- 1 (12-ounce) can carrot juice
- 1-2 lemons sliced
- 1-4 cup light rum, optional

• See PUNCH on Page C3

Spread Christmas cheer with spectacular treats from the kitchen

Snow-capped cookie trees add pizzazz to table decorations

Bake festive holiday treats

The aromas of holiday baking signal to all that the season to be jolly is here! This year, start the holiday excitement with the most festive and flavorful kitchen creations ever.

Add decorative pizzazz to the table with Snow-Capped Cookie Trees, made from an old-fashioned sugar cookie dough delicately flavored with lemon. Each tree is ingeniously created by sliding together two cookies cut with opposite slots from top and bottom. Decorate simply, as shown here, or more elaborately, with a thick or thin drizzle of glaze, colorful chocolate candies and shiny silver dragées. Once finished the tasty "trees" make a festive forest for display.

Traditional pumpkin has never tasted better than in Streusel Pumpkin Cake, a moist cake marbled with a brown sugar, cinnamon and chopped nut mixture and crowned with a delicious crumb topping. Served with a hot drink, the cake is a wonderful treat for brunch, after caroling or while waiting up for Santa. Presented on a pretty plate, it also makes a nice offering when visiting friends.

When guests drop in, bring out a tray filled with special holiday goodies. Traditional shortbread cakes a new, but familiar shape with Santa's Shortbread Crescents, a delicate buttery cookie with a sprinkling of cinnamon sugar. Caramel Sparkle Bars are a beautiful combination of favorite holiday flavors — chewy caramel, delicious chocolate, toasted oats — with a special touch of orange.

Keep your merry munchers singing with Golden Graham Crunch, a surprise twist on traditional brittle. Chopped nuts and multi-colored chocolate candies made a tasty topping on graham crackers glazed with homemade taffie. Keep some within reach for tree trimming or gift wrapping breaks.

Holiday Snack Packs are a sweet savory combination of sesame sticks or pretzels, plain or peanut milk chocolate candies and raisins. This handy snack mix is ideal when the helpers and hungry and you're running short on time. It also makes a clever stocking stuffer or tree ornament when wrapped in colored cellophane tied by a snazzy ribbon or an easy gift idea when presented in an attractive glass container.

SNOW-CAPPED COOKIE TREES

- 2 cups sifted confectioners sugar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- Hot water
- Food coloring
- Plain chocolate candies
- Silver dragées

For cookies, beat together margarine, sugar, corn syrup and vanilla until light and fluffy. Gradually add combined flour, baking

• See BAKING on Page C2

Cooks from all over Idaho contributed

Book sales to benefit cancer programs

By JOAN BEAN
 Times-News correspondent

TWIN FALLS — Proceeds from the sale of The Idaho Sampler Cookbook — a collection of old family recipes and favorites of Idahoans from all parts of the state — are being used to benefit cancer research, says Catherine Haynes, publicity chairman for the Twin Falls County unit of the American Cancer Society.

The book also contains a special section devoted to Idaho vegetables. One of the most unusual recipes is an old-fashioned scripture cake recipe found by Boise resident Beverley Robinson in her grandmother's file. The recipe is written in such a way that you may refer to the Bible in order to find the ingredients.

"They make marvelous Christmas gifts, especially for people who have relatives out of state," Haynes says.

There are several lithographs of scenic points of interest in Idaho included in the book, and on the cover is a picture of an 8x12-foot quilt comprised of squares made by American Cancer Society units all over the state.

The quilt is on a statewide tour and will be on display in the Blue Lakes

Mail in Twin Falls December 17 through January 4.

Haynes says there are 750 books available for purchase in this area. "When they're sold — that's it. There won't be any reprints," she says.

The price of the cookbook is $7, with the profits going into research and education in the Magic Valley, including a cancer research program in which over 500 families are participating.

Other programs are the Consumption program. Research to Recovery for women who have had mastectomies, education programs for professionals and lay people, the Candlelighters — a support group for parents whose children have cancer — and the United Ostomy Association which is a part of the American Cancer Society in Twin Falls.

"The Cancer Society is also involved with the 'I Can Hope' program that is done through the hospital for patients who have cancer and families of cancer patients... living with cancer — helping the family and patient to be able to talk about it, to relate to each other in the day to day issue of living," Haynes says.

Although The Idaho Sampler Cookbook contains a large variety of tasty concoctions, these are not cancer prevention recipes.

"What we hope to accomplish with the cancer prevention study that is going on right now, is to get definitive information about the relationship between diet and cancer," Haynes says. "We know already that there is a relationship, but we need to determine exactly what that relationship is."

The American Cancer Society does have a list of recommended foods. "They're not saying it will prevent cancer, but they are saying it will improve your chances of not getting cancer," she says.

The Cancer Society advocates eating more high fiber foods, vegetables such as broccoli, brussels sprouts and cauliflower. "The Idaho Sampler Cookbooks are on display in beauty parlors, Judi's Bookstore, and Pennywise Drug. They also are available from Catherine Haynes at 743-7755 or Cathy Williams at 734-4446. They will deliver.

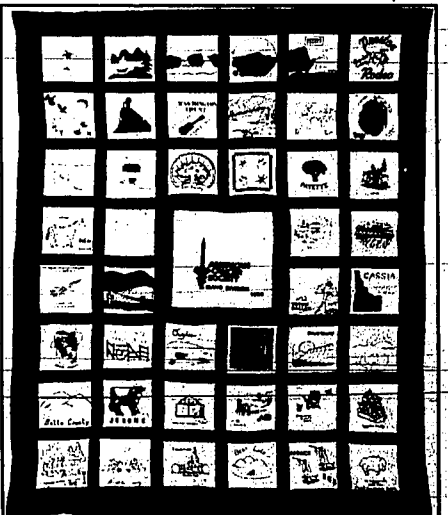

BEVERLEY ROBINSON'S SCRIPTURE CAKE

- 3 1/2 cups sifted 1 Kings 4:22
- 3 teaspoons Galatians 5:9
- 1/4 teaspoon Leviticus 2:13
- 1 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon

- 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
 - 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
 - 1 teaspoon 1 Kings 10:2
 - 1 cup Judges 5:25 softened
 - 2 cups firmly packed Jeremiah 6:20
 - 2 tablespoons Exodus 16:31
 - 6 Luke 11:12
 - 6 ounces Deuteronomy 34:3 pitted and chopped
 - 2 cups 1 Samuel 30:12
 - 1 cup chopped Solomon 6:11
 - 1 cup Judges 5:25
- Combine all ingredients and mix well. Pour into greased and floured tube pan. Bake at 325 for 1 1/2 hours or until the top springs back when touched. Cake best when served the next day. Serves 16.

MRS. JAMES MCCLURE'S ROQUEFORT SOUR CREAM DRESSING

- 2 cups mayonnaise
 - 3 teaspoons chopped chives
 - 1 teaspoon garlic powder
 - 2-3 teaspoons freshly ground pepper
 - 1/4 teaspoon worcestershire sauce
 - 1/2 cup sour cream
 - 1/2 cup butter/milk
 - 3 ounces roquefort cheese, crumbled
- Mix all ingredients together and refrigerate a few hours before using. Yields one quart.

A quilt is displayed on the Cancer Society cookbook

Baking

Continued from Page C1
soda and salt, mixing well. Blend in lemon rind. Divide dough in half. Wrap each portion securely; chill 2 hours. Roll out one portion of dough to 1/4-inch thickness. Using pattern cut out one large tree half. Remove pattern; mark center point by making slight indentation in dough. Remove remaining dough, and knead out tree; chill excess dough reserving for small tree halves.

On separate cookie sheet, repeat with remaining portion of dough, forming a second large tree half. Bake at 375 degrees for 16 to 18 minutes or until edges are lightly browned.

Immediately cut a slot on one large tree half from the center point to the top as wide as the cookie is thick (about 1/4 inch wide). Repeat on the second large tree half from the center point to the bottom. Remove excess dough from center of slot of cookie.

Immediately, gently loosen entire tree halves to form a cone. Cool 3 minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool 20 minutes. To test if slots are wide enough, carefully assemble tree halves by sliding cookie with bottom slot onto cookie with top slot. If tree halves do not fit, trim slot area so cookies will slide together and rest evenly while standing upright.

Separate cookies; cool thoroughly. To make 4 small tree halves, gradually adding confectioners sugar. Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice, beating until glaze is of spreading consistency. Reserve 1/2 cup glaze, covering with damp cloth. Tint remaining glaze with food coloring, as desired. If glaze thickens, add a few drops of water. Glaze top side of each tree half; let dry. Carefully slide tree halves together. Add 1 to 2 tablespoons water to reserved 1/2 cup glaze and drizzle on trees. Decorate as desired with candies and silver dragees.

Makes 1 large and 2 small cookie trees.
*Note: To make a large tree pattern, trace tree half outline onto wax paper. Fold wax paper in half along center line of tree pattern, and pattern. Unfold to form pattern. Using wax tracing paper, cut one pattern from cardboard. Repeat process for small tree. Place cardboard pattern onto dough and cut around with sharp knife.

STREUSEL PUMPKIN CAKE
1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 can (16 oz.) solid packed pumpkin
2 cups granulated sugar
1/4 cups vegetable oil
4 eggs
3/4 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 teaspoons baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
2 tablespoons margarine

Combine brown sugar, nuts and cinnamon in small bowl; reserve. Beat together pumpkin, granulated sugar and oil in a large bowl until smooth. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Gradually add combined 3/4 cups flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and pumpkin pie spice; mix well. Pour half of batter into greased 10-inch tube pan. Top with 1/2 cup reserved brown sugar mixture.

Top with remaining batter. Add remaining 1/2 cup flour to remaining brown sugar mixture; mix well. Cut in margarine until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Sprinkle over top of batter; press lightly. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 1 hour or until wooden pick inserted in center of cake comes out clean.

Cool on wire rack 15 minutes. Remove from pan; cool upright on wire rack. If desired, drizzle with glaze by combining 1 cup confectioners sugar and 5 to 6 teaspoons warm water, mixing until smooth, and of desired consistency. Makes one 10-inch tube cake.

BANTA'S SHORTBREAD CRESCENTS
1 egg white
2 teaspoons water
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
2 cups flour less 2 tablespoons
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup margarine

Mix together egg white and water; reserve. Combine 1/4 cup sugar and cinnamon; reserve. Combine remaining 1/2 cup sugar, flour, cornstarch and salt; cut in margarine with pastry blender until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Work mixture together with hands until dough forms ball. Divide dough into 8 portions.

Roll out one portion of dough on lightly floured board of 1/4-inch thick to form a 6-inch circle. Cut into 8 wedges. Brush reserved egg white mixture over circle; sprinkle circle with 3/4 teaspoon cinnamon-sugar mixture. Roll to 8-inch wedge shape, with wide end to form a crescent shape. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Brush with additional egg white mixture and sprinkle with cinnamon-sugar mixture. Repeat with remaining dough. Bake at 325 F. for 20 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool completely on wire rack. Makes 4 dozen cookies

CARAMEL SPARKLE BARS

32 individually wrapped caramels, unwrapped
3/2 cup (5 1/2 oz. can) evaporated milk
1/2 to 1/4 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 cup flour
1 cup quick cooking oats, uncooked
1 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1/2 cup wheat germ
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup margarine, melted
1 1/4 cups M-and-M plain-chocolate candies

Combine caramels and milk in 1 1/2-quart saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until smooth and blended. Stir in orange rind; reserve. Combine flour, oats, nuts, brown sugar, wheat germ, baking soda and salt in medium bowl. Stir in margarine, mixing until crumbly.

Reserve 1 cup mixture. Press remaining crumb mixture onto bottom of greased 13 by 9-inch baking pan. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 10 minutes. Top with 1 cup candies; pour in caramel mixture, spreading evenly. Top with reserved crumb mixture and remaining 1/2 cup candies; press in lightly. Continue baking 25 minutes or until golden brown. Cool slightly; chill 30 minutes. Cool completely at room temperature. Makes one 13 by 9-inch pan of bar cookies.

HOLIDAY SNACK PACKS

2 cups sesame sticks or bite-sized pretzel twists
1 cup raisins
2 1/2 cups plain or peanut chocolate candies
Combine all ingredients. For each individual gift package, cut a 10x10-inch square of red, green or yellow colored cellophane. Place 1/4 cup snack mix into center of each square. Bring four corners together; secure lightly with 20-inch long ribbon and make decorative bow. Use for gift exchanges, stocking stuffers, at place settings on table or attach ornament hook to ribbon and hang on tree as ornament. Makes about 2 dozen individual packages.

VARIATION: Combine all ingredients. Serve mixture in a bowl as a snack. Store in lightly covered container. Makes about 5 1/2 cups snack mix.

GOLDEN GRAHAM CRUNCH

1/2 cup margarine
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1/4 cup light corn syrup
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 1/2 grams crackers (5 1/2 x 7 1/2 inch)
1/2 cup chopped plain chocolate

BEAUTIFUL NAILS
For The Holidays
Soft Nail, Tip & French Dipping
$25.00
Expires January 1st
GREDKEN
BONNIE'S SALON OF BEAUTY
148 N. Elm, 733-9416 • Twin Falls candies

1/2 cup chopped pecans
Line a 15 1/2 x 10 1/2-inch jelly roll pan with aluminum foil; lightly grease. Combine margarine, sugars, corn syrup and salt in heavy 3-qt. saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium low heat; continue cooking over medium low heat exactly 5 minutes. Remove from heat; immediately pour half of syrup mixture onto bottom of prepared pan, spreading evenly to cover. Immediately press graham crackers into syrup mixture. Immediately pour remaining half of mixture evenly over crackers, spreading evenly to cover.

Bake at 375 degrees F. for 8 minutes. Remove from oven. Immediately sprinkle with candies and nuts; press in lightly. Cool thoroughly. Remove from pan and remove foil; break into pieces. Makes one 15 1/2 x 10 1/2-inch pan of graham cracker crunch.

BEAUTIFUL NAILS
A THOUGHTFUL GIFT!

Give a gift certificate for a manicure, nail decor, or new nail tips by Duke Kodak.

Make her feel extra special this holiday!

NANCY'S HAIR ADVENTURE
116 So. Broadway • Buhl
543-5692

Introducing Sugar Free General Foods International Coffees.

The coffee made for sweet moments is now available with NutraSweet.

The rich, creamy flavor of General Foods' International Coffees can now be yours without sugar.

Six of our rich, creamy flavors—Irish Mocha Mint, Cafe Vienna, Suisse Mocha, Cafe Amaretto, Orange Cappuccino—are now also made with NutraSweet*.

Try them, for moments every bit as sweet and satisfying as original General Foods' International Coffees.

*1984 General Foods Corporation
NutraSweet is a registered trademark of GD Searle & Co.

DISCOUNT COUPONS

Newspaper Co-Op Couponing, Westport, Connecticut 06880

1000 LABELS 99¢

NAME AND ADDRESS LABELS PRINTED WITH SHARP BLACK INK ON CRISP WHITE PAPER. 2" x 1/2" (Available in Rainbow)

MAIL THIS AD W/CHECK, ARTISTIC GREETINGS, INC. Dept. #1324, 409 William St., Elmira, N.Y. 14901

1000 NAME LABELS
#774 White 99¢ #775 Rainbow $1.24

TOTAL
ADD $56 PER SET POST/HAND ENCLOSED $

NAME _____ ADDRESS _____ CITY, STATE _____ ZIP _____

Save 40¢
when you buy any flavor of regular or sugar free GENERAL FOODS' INTERNATIONAL COFFEES

MANUFACTURER'S COUPON. OFFER EXPIRES 4/30/85. 40¢

NOT GOOD ON VARIETY PACK GENERAL FOODS CORPORATION 40¢

CHECK THE FACTS:

diet pepsi
ONE CALORIE*

Now NO SACCHARIN 100% NUTRASWEET BRAND SWEETENER

This product contains no saccharin.

This product contains saccharin.

100% NUTRASWEET* 100% TASTE!

So if you want the taste of 100% NutraSweet and not the taste of saccharin, choose new Diet Pepsi, Diet Pepsi Free and Pepsi Light!

That's because in most areas Diet Coke, Tab and Caffeine Free Diet Coke still contain saccharin—in fact almost twice as much saccharin as NutraSweet. Check the facts and compare the taste. We think you'll choose Diet Pepsi, Diet Pepsi Free and Pepsi Light!

*NOT AVAILABLE IN ALL AREAS
DIET PEPSI, DIET PEPSI FREE, DIET PEPSI LIGHT, PEPSI COCA COLA FREE, PEPSI COCA COLA LIGHT ARE TRADEMARKS OF PEPSICO, INC.
NUTRASWEET AND THE NUTRASWEET BRAND ARE TRADEMARKS OF GD SEARLE & CO. FOR 15 YEARS OF SWEETENING INGREDIENTS.
DIET COKE, TAB AND CAFFEINE FREE DIET COKE ARE REGISTERED TRADEMARKS OF THE COCA COLA COMPANY.

SAVE 25¢ ON 100% NUTRASWEET*
DIET PEPSI, DIET PEPSI FREE OR PEPSI LIGHT

Good on any 2 liter bottle or multipack of Diet Pepsi, Diet Pepsi Free or Pepsi Light.

TO THE RETAILER: To receive payment, mail this coupon to Pepsi Co. Company, P.O. Box 1778, Canton, Iowa 52524 for each coupon you accept as per authorized agent as indicated with the terms of this coupon offer. We will pay you 25¢ per 2 liter bottle of this product which may only be redeemed by you upon the Customer's purchase of the product and package indicated, and the face value of the coupon to be deducted from your retail selling price. Invoices proving purchases 50¢ and above to substantiate redemptible stock to cover coupons presented must be shown upon request. Cash value 1/2¢ per 2 liter. Consumer must pay any sales tax and/or coupon value. Offer void where prohibited, restricted, taxed or where required by law. Offer may be extended, substituted or discontinued. Offer limited to one coupon per purchase. Any other restrictions apply. ©1984 Pepsi Co. Company.

Diet Pepsi, Diet Pepsi Free, Diet Pepsi Light, Diet Pepsi Caffeine Free, Pepsi Light, Pepsi Free, Pepsi Caffeine Free are trademarks of Pepsi Co. Company.

Plentiful wine makes gift buying easy

By NATHAN CHROMAN
The Los Angeles Times

Wine gifts should be easy to choose this year. Stores are overflowing with interesting selections at prices so low that wine lovers will be tempted to buy a bottle or two for either their own cellars or for drinking. Higher tabs will probably show up in 1985, so next year's holiday wine shopping picture may not be as rosy.

Older, rarer California reds always make excellent choices provided they are at least 8 to 10 years of age. Still available in some stores are Martha's Vineyard Cabernet Sauvignon 1973 and 1975 at about $80 to $50, respectively. Also available are Beaujeu, Cabernet Sauvignon Private Reserve 1974 at $50 and the rare "VV" Special Burgundy 1973 at $25. Some other Elated Napa wines do not require the same degree of aging as Cabernet, may be around. Look for Hanzell 1979 at about $15 to $20.

Keep in mind that locating well-kept California reds may require considerable searching. The 1982 and 20-year-old claret is much easier to find but, of course, in a good, popular vintage can be expensive. Fine "Grand Crus" such as d'Angludet, Beycheville, Lynch-Bages, Margaux, Lafite and Cheval Blanc can be found but be prepared to pay anywhere from $100 to $200 per bottle.

Some older vintages are available, such as a magnum of '45 Talbot at $300 and '23 Latour (a superb wine) also in magnum at $600. The latter could well be the ultimate wine gift. Lesser-priced claret from the respected but not heralded vintage of 1978 is likely to be the easiest to find. The 1978 vintage of Philippe at less than $15, Chateau Neulin at less than $20 and La Lagune at about the same price. I recommend several more years of aging.

Delicious, luscious Sauternes, from the now gloriously maturing vintage of 1971 make for especially sweet gift-giving for virtually any palate, seasoned or neophyte, such as Coulet at $35, Rulleusec at $30, and, of course, the marvelous once-in-a-lifetime taste of white Burgundy at $15.

A relatively inexpensive French Champagne Leclere Briant is new to the wine market. Try the current Blanc de Noirs Brut Non-Vintage, which is most satisfactory considering its price at $15. The family-owned winery in Epemay that produces it was founded in 1872 and claims that no chemicals are ever used in the vineyards.

An inexpensive, simple white wine, Macon Villages, Blancchev, 1982, has good flavors in a fat, somewhat flabby style characteristic of the vintage. It is 100 percent Chardonnay and a blend of several vineyards. Although it lacks a bit of acidity, it drinks well for a wine in the $5 to $6 price range. A better bottle in the $11 to $12 price range is Chardonnay Clos du Chateau 1980, which could well be labeled as Mercaut. This is a nicely developing wine, round and buttery with fine flavor. Though a bit wet, especially for its labeled 12.5 percent alcohol, it shows a hint of wood because of six months in French Troncais barrels.

Beaujolais from the extraordinarily fine vintage of 1983 is still very good, even at this late date: Try Chantenais; Beaujolais Villages 1983 at about $5. Here is charming fruit with a trace of spice and flavors that persist. Even better and fuller is Chateau des Tours Brouilly 1982 which may provide more pleasure than some of the same vintage's credentialled Burgundy. At less than $10 (in some stores as low as $6) the wine should continue to do well for at least an additional six months to a year. It is "perfect for today's drinking."

German wines from the heralded vintage of 1983 have arrived in some stores. For those seeking the newest of the new arrivals, from Germany, try several of the Piesporters such as Michelsberg, Kabinett and Spatlese, and Goldtropfen Kabinett and Spatlese. Also check out Trittelheimer Altarthen, Auslese and Flomhiner Adelberg, Auslese.

Although wine shops are brimming with California Chardonnay, the taste range is so wide that a sample taste is mandatory to enable you to zero in on a specific gift. If the wine is attractive, then a six-bottle pack or a case of 12 is a good gift indeed; try Hanzell 1982. It is far superior to that bottled last year. If unavailable, try two '82 that are respectable: Shiner and S. Anderson.

A rarely considered gift is marvelous vintage Port. The range currently available is good at acceptable prices, such as Ferreiro 1970 at $28.25, 1975 at about $20, both of which require years of aging. Others available are Cockburn and Croft 1983 for today's drinking at about $40.

Give someone you love a tan for Christmas!

You don't need a beach to tan safely and comfortably in our Klafsun Tanning Machine. Get brown in town!

12 visits for $34.95 Present this coupon for 2 extra visits.

THE Main Fitness Center

319 Main Ave. W. Twin Falls, Idaho 734-0281

Port is cold weather wine, good for holiday meals

By TOM HOGE
The Associated Press

I have always liked port, but I became still more interested in this noble wine after I visited its homeland of Portugal a couple of years ago.

I learned more about it recently after talking with David Sandeman, whose family has been making port since 1790.

For one thing, he told me, port used to be a robust table wine. "We later added brandy to it, bringing the strength up from about 15 percent to 20 percent, and it became a fortified wine."

Port, he said, is consumed both as an aperitif and after dinner.

The French and Belgians drink it before the meal and the British and Americans usually take it at the end of dinner.

For many years, Americans were fairly apathetic about port, but over the past few years consumption has soared more than 40 percent.

There are several kinds of port. The best is said to be vintage, which is aged in its own bottle for up to 50 years. This is specially treated. Other ports are aged in wooden casks and eventually attain a depth of flavor. The wine is made mainly from grapes grown along the banks of Portugal's Douro River.

As the wine begins to work, the natural sweetness of the grape is reserved by adding brandy, which arrests fermentation. The young wine is placed in vats in September and kept there until spring, when it is placed in oak casks to mature.

Several years before port goes on the market it is blended from the wine of different grapes, different vineyards and different years to assure a pleasing taste.

"Port is mainly a cold weather wine and is at its best now during the holiday season," said Sandeman. He noted that port is good in cooking and gave me this family recipe for fruit pie.

- 1 cup sugar
 - 1 cup water
 - 1/2 cup grated orange rind
 - 1-3rd cup port
 - 1 pound assorted dried fruits
 - 1/4 cup apricot preserves
 - 1/4 cup crushed macaroons
 - Walnuts, shelled, about 1/2 cup
- Pastry crust
- Place sugar, water and rind in saucepan and simmer for two minutes. Add dried fruits, cool and pour port over mixture. Let steep for three days. Prepare and bake pie crust. Cool and brush crust with apricot preserves. Crush macaroons and sprinkle onto pie crust. Drain fruit mixture and arrange in pie. Place nuts on top. Brush tart with a glaze made by heating a few tablespoons of apricot preserve. Keep in refrigerator and serve with vintage port or a port punch.

MONEY SAVING COUPONS

The Taste I Like... The Fiber I Need!

Post 40% Bran Flakes gives me both.

With my active lifestyle I can't afford to sacrifice nutrition for good taste. With POST® 40% Bran Flakes, I don't have to. POST® 40% Bran Flakes gives me the fiber I need with a crisp, hearty flavor I prefer to the other 40% bran flake.

So don't compromise. Try Post 40% Bran Flakes Now and SAVE 25¢.

25¢ MANUFACTURER'S COUPON - EXPIRES JUNE 30, 1985

SAVE 25¢ on Post 40% Bran Flakes

GENERAL FOODS CORPORATION

Here's nitty-gritty tips for making good gravy

By MINNIE BERNARDINO
The Los Angeles Times

Q. Making gravy is always a hang-up for me on Christmas Day. Will you please give me a recipe large enough to supply 20 people. Please include all the nitty-gritty. What is the best method to skim grease off drippings? Must the flour really be browned? Which thickener is best, cornstarch or flour? Is there such a thing as a "quickie" recipe?

A. Most of the time I believe I try to rush the process for the whole operation. Thank you for any help you can provide.

A. A perfect gravy always looks smooth, shiny, has a creamy consistency (slightly thinner for turkey and dressing) and a delicate flavor that is free of any raw starch taste. Flour is sometimes browned lightly before adding to the fat to obtain a darker gravy with a richer taste. If the meat, however, is browned to a dark color, the juices will be dark enough to provide the desired final color. Otherwise, a commercial liquid gravy browner may be added to achieve the proper color. If the pan juices lack flavor for the gravy, bouillon cubes or seasoned stock base may be added.

For thickener, all-purpose flour is most commonly used although cornstarch, arrowroot, potato starch, waxy maize and rice starch may be used. If a much more translucent gravy is desired, to substitute for the flour, use half the amount of the other mentioned thickeners. The amount of cake flour, which is highest in starch and gives the most thickening (and is the least cloudy of the flours) also should be slightly reduced when substituting for all-purpose flour.

The only quick or short-cut gravy recipe I know is to use butter or bacon drippings for the fat, canned broth or bouillon cubes in place of the stock or meat juices. Some people use a condensed mushroom or chicken soup to the meat drippings. Here's a basic brown gravy recipe for 16 to 20 portions.

(As the meat needs to be served on time, usually there is no time to completely separate fat from drippings by skimming meat. Measure 1/2 cup fat and set aside. Dissolve any meat extracts left in pan with small amount of hot water, stirring to loosen any particles in pan. Add to remaining drippings with enough stock to make 4 cups.

Heat reserved fat in saucepan. Blend in flour. Cook until frothy, stirring constantly. Add liquid (this should not be hot) all at once, whisking constantly. Bring to boil, stirring, then simmer 3 to 5 minutes, or until thickened and raw starch flavor is gone. Season to taste with salt and pepper. For silken smooth gravy, strain through fine sieve. Serve immediately or reheat before serving. Makes 16 to 20 servings.

Note: Amount of fat may be rounded out with butter or bacon drippings as needed. For thin gravy, reduce flour to 1/4 cup. For giblet gravy, use giblet stock and mix in minced cooked giblets and neck meat, if desired, just before serving.

Like sauces, gravies may be "finished" with other flavorings such as wine or other alcoholic beverage, cream or in the case of game or goose, a little plum or red currant jam for sweetness. When adding wine, a harsh flavor may be eliminated by reducing the gravy first through a vigorous boiling. If adding onion, mushroom or herbs, saute them in the fat before adding flour. Seasonings that go well with beef are savory, marjoram and thyme; with lamb or veal, use tarragon, mint or rosemary; and with poultry or pork, try sage, thyme or garlic.

Address questions on food preparation to You Asked About, Food Section, Los Angeles Times, Times Mirror Square, Los Angeles, 90035. Personal replies cannot be given.

Dyp i Royal Danish Dips og spar 15¢!

(Translation: "Dip into Royal Danish Dips and save 15¢!")

What could be better than a chip in a dip? Easy—a chip in a tasty, tangy Royal Danish Dip!

Royal Danish is the crowning taste for chips, crackers and fresh vegetables. Choose French Onion or any other delicious Royal Danish flavor. Bet it's the thickest, richest dip you've ever tasted.

And right now, the price has taken a dip, too. You can save 15¢ on any Royal Danish Dip with the coupon below. And that's good news in any language!

French Onion Dip ROYAL DANISH

Spar 15¢ on any Royal Danish Dip

(Save 15¢ on Royal Danish Dips)

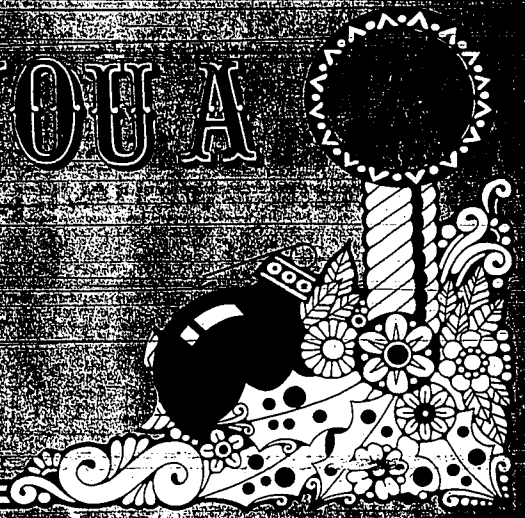

Dealer: Recheck this coupon on the specified product only in each coupon for the face value plus the handling charge. Any other applicable restrictions apply. Expires showing purchase of sufficient stock to cover all coupons redeemed must be shown upon request. Coupons void where prohibited, taxed, or otherwise restricted. Customers must pay sales tax. Cash value 1/20¢. For details visit Royal Danish Dips, P.O. Box 7299, Mt. Prospect, Illinois 60056-7299. Coupon Expires 3/31/85.

15¢ Beatrice STORE COUPON 9-06-1284

- BASIC BROWN GRAVY
- 1-2 cup fat from meat drippings or stock
 - 1-2 cup flour
 - 4 cups liquid (drippings and enough stock to make 4 cups)
 - Salt, pepper.
 - After roasting meat or poultry, pour drippings or stock (fat and juices) into bowl. Let stand a few minutes then skim off fat with spoon.

When they need help, let them know You're available Advertise your Specialty in the Times-News Service Directory Call one of our Classified Ad-visors for full information 733-0931

WISHES YOU A MERRY CHRISTMAS

SAVE 41*

Whole Ham
Boneless
Janet Lee
SAVE 30* lb. 1.79

SAVE 51*

SAVE 27*

SAVE 58*

SAVE 71*

SAVE UP TO 50*

SAVE 10*

SAVE $1.09

Alderton
Twin Falls, Idaho

WISHES YOU A MERRY CHRISTMAS

Albertsons WE HAVE QUALITY FOODS, LOW PRICES AND A FINE SELECTION OF ITEMS FOR YOUR CHRISTMAS DINNER NEEDS.

Fresh Turkey
Norbest, Grade A
20/22 lb.

SAVE 20%
Fresh Norbest Turkey
12-14 lb. 119 lb.

Rib Roast
Large End, Albertsons
Supreme Beef

SAVE 41%
Small End or Whole
SAVE 40%
lb. 229 lb.

Walnuts
Diamond

SAVE 59%
16 oz. 198

Yams
Princella

SAVE 22%
29 oz. 67¢

Pumpkin
Libby's

SAVE 16%
29 oz. 69¢

Celery
Crisp

3 Stacks For 1

Meat & Meat Deli Specials

Whole Ham
Janot Lee Boneless 93% Lean

SAVE 50%
Half Ham
SAVE 41%
lb. 179

Christmas Meat Specials

Round Steak
Full Cut, Bone-In, Family
Pack, 3 Steaks or More

SAVE 71%
Single Pack
SAVE 40%
lb. 149 lb.

Christmas Grocery Savings

Miniature Marshmallows
Kraft

SAVE 10%
10.5 oz. 2 For 1

Save On Groceries

Pineapple
Janot Lee, Sliced, Chunk, Crushed

SAVE 6%
20 oz. 69¢

More Grocery Specials

Olives
Janot Lee Small Pitted

SAVE 24%
6 oz. 89¢

Fresh Produce

Jumbo Yams

5 lbs. For 1

Turkey Breast	Louis Rich, 3 Varieties	12 oz.	3 ⁹⁹
Ham	Armour Star, 1877 Whole or Sliced	12 oz.	2 ⁴⁹
Lunch Meat	Louis Rich, Variety Pack, Turkey	12 oz.	1 ⁹⁸
Link Sausage	Ferrisland Skittles	12 oz.	1 ²⁹
Sliced Bacon	Stacy's	1 lb.	1 ⁹⁸
Turkey Ham	Louis Rich Sliced	8 oz.	1 ⁵⁹

Round Steak	Full Cut Boneless Single Pack	1 lb.	1 ⁵⁹
Rump Roast	Boneless, Lean	1 lb.	1 ³⁹
Tip Roast	Boneless	1 lb.	1 ⁹⁸
Boneless Turkey	Norbest	1 lb.	1 ⁵⁹
Orange Roughy	Protein Filler	1 lb.	3 ⁹⁸
Shrimp meat	Oregon Solid Size, Frozen	1 lb.	2 ⁹⁹

Dressing	Mrs. Cibbion's Seasoned Corn Bread Herb	1/2 qt.	SAVE 40%
Peanuts	Albertsons Roasted	1/2 qt.	SAVE 20%
Fried Onions	OAC	1/2 qt.	SAVE 20%
Fire Starter	Lite-A-Log	1/2 qt.	SAVE 10%
Bar Soap	1 Free With 3	3 1/2 oz.	4
Seafood Flakes	Imitation Crab Meat Blend, Frozen	3 1/2 oz.	4

Aluminum Foil	Albertsons Economy	12" x 75'	SAVE 25%
Plastic Wrap	Albertsons	12" x 200'	SAVE 10%
Turkey Bags	Janot Lee	2 ct.	89¢
Dinner Napkins	Chilton 2 ply	50 ct.	89¢
Bar Soap	Dial, 40% OFF on 4	6 oz.	4 20¢

Onion Soup Mix	Light	1/2 qt.	85¢
Clams	Depue's, Mixed	6.5 oz.	89¢
Sweet Pickles	Garrett Whole	22 oz.	1 ³⁹
Potato Chips	Albertsons 200	9 oz.	89¢
Mayonnaise	Best	32 oz.	1 ⁹⁹

Navel Oranges	Medium California	3	$1
Brussel Sprouts	Fresh	1 lb.	59¢
Radishes or Green Onions	Fresh & Clean	4	$1

More Meat Deli Specials

Turkey Breast	Louis Rich, Sliced Reg. or Smoked	6 oz.	1 ⁵⁹
Thuringer Chub	Armour Star 1877	3 lb.	7 ⁴⁹
Salad Dressing	Albertsons 3 Varieties	16 oz.	1 ³⁹
Chip Dips	Nalley's 3 Varieties	8 oz.	79¢

Cooler Specials

Whipping Cream	Albertsons	1/2 pt.	49¢
Egg Nog	SAVE 21%	qt.	98¢
Sour Cream	Albertsons	1 pt.	78¢
Pie Crust	Pillsbury Ready	15 oz.	1 ⁴⁹
Butter	Janot Lee	1 lb.	1 ⁷⁹

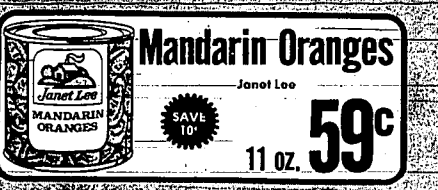

Seven-Up
Reg. or Diet

SAVE 66%
2 Liter 99¢

Sugar
Albertsons, Powdered or Brown

SAVE 66%
2 lb. 99¢

Mandarin Oranges
Janot Lee

SAVE 10%
11 oz. 59¢

Avocados
California

6 For 1

Joy Liquid
40% OFF Label

48 oz. 269

Orange Juice
Citrus Hill

12 oz. 129

Wine & Beer Specials

Budweiser Beer
12 Pk. Cons

SAVE $1.20
489

Frozen Food Specials

Whip Topping
Janot Lee

SAVE 10%
8 oz. 59¢

Variety Specials

Almond Bark
Short, White or Chocolate

SAVE 40%
159

Christmas Specials

Fruit Baskets
We Will Be Making Fruit Baskets To Your Specifications.

1/8 Bu. 549

Spic & Span
Liquid Pine Cleaner

15 oz. 129

Pasta
Golden Grain, Elba, Mataroni, Long Spaghetti

24 oz. 119

Ste. Chapelle Wine
Idaho Riesling

SAVE 120%
750 ml. 479

Pumpkin Pie
Mrs. Smiths

SAVE 30%
26 oz. 199

Instant Film
Polaroid or Kodak SX-70, 600, PR144, HS144

SAVE 30%
769

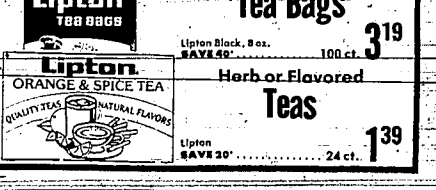

Flower Arrangements
Cut Flower Christmas

699 & Up

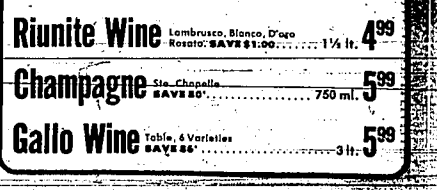

Snack Crackers
Nabisco

SAVE 20%
119

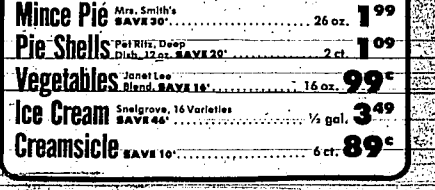

Tea Bags
Lipton

Lipton Black, 8 ea. 319

Riunite Wine
Lambrusco, Bianco, D'oro

1 1/2 lt. 499

Ice Cream
Mrs. Smiths

1/2 gal. 349

Color Print Film
Kodak, Kodacolor 126, 110, 35-100ASA

SAVE 30%
249

Decorated Plants
Assorted Christmas Fall... 4 in. Pot

199

Lights Up Your Holidays

Bakery Specials

Old Fashioned Cake Donuts

Glazed
 SAVE $1.00
12 For 1.99

Dinner Rolls

Butterflicks
 SAVE 30¢
12 For 1.69

Pies

6 inch
 SAVE 50¢
2 2.99

Dressing Bread

Albersons
 SAVE 70¢
99

Deli Shoppe Specials

Fried Chicken

2 Drums, 2 Wings,
 2 Thighs, 2 Side Breasts
 SAVE 99¢
8 pc. 2.99

Crabapple Sauce
 Fruit Delight

SAVE UP TO 40%

Baked Ham

Smoked 1/2 or Whole
 Unsliced

SAVE UP TO $1.50
lb. 2.99
 Random Sliced lb. 3.49

Christmas Trees

Plantation Grown

Your Choice

14.99

Seven-Up

Regular or Diet

2 liter
 SAVE 66¢
99

Supermarkets unhappy with expense of double coupons

By MARTIN SLOANE
United Feature Syndicate

Is there a reason why local supermarkets are cutting back on double coupons? The stores in this area had been printing special "Double Coupons" in their newspaper advertisements.

When a manufacturer's coupon was attached to the special store "Double Coupon" I received double value. The stores used to put four of these coupons in the newspaper. Now some of the stores are down to two coupons and some have eliminated them entirely. Do you believe that double coupons will be eliminated entirely and become a thing of the past? — Jocelyn Hebert, N. Hollywood, Calif.

Dear Jerrylin — There are several reasons why most supermarkets are not using double-coupon offers.

First, they are very expensive for the stores. The store pays the second part of the double coupon and this cost may exceed 3 percent of sales. That may not sound like much, but the most stores make a profit of about 1 percent, so double coupons may mean losses to the store.

Many supermarket executives feel the double coupons put them in a promotional straitjacket. Because of the high cost they have to pay for promoting double coupons, they can't offer better savings on specific products. For instance, under normal circumstances they might put ground beef on sale at $1.19 per pound and Duncan Hines cake mix at 69 cents. But if they have to pay for double coupons, they might only lower the price of the ground beef and the cake mix by 10 cents.

Supermarket shopper

Double coupons are really a form of price war, and like all price wars, they come and go.

Dear Martin — My husband, Denizil — like most men — thought couponing and refunding was a waste of time. I wanted to write you this note to report on his rehabilitation.

I took Denizil to the supermarket on double-coupon day and showed him how I could buy $100 worth of groceries for just $60. When I got home, I sat him down at the kitchen table and he watched me take the box tops and labels off the packages and send for more than $20 worth of refunds.

I knew Denizil was finally rehabilitated when he built me a new coupon room in our house. He put up new shelving and shelves, installed a new carpet and gave me my own desk and filing cabinets. It is all very beautiful and I clip and file in luxury.

— Betty Garmes, Charleston, W.V.

Dear Betty — You may have given an idea to those readers whose spouses have been asking, "What do you want for Christmas?"

CLIP 'N' FILE REFUND

Cereals, Breakfast Products, Baby Products (File No. 1)

Clip out this file and keep it with similar cash-off coupons — beverage refund offers with beverage coupons, for example. Start collecting the needed proofs of purchase while looking for the required forms at the supermarket, in newspapers and magazines, and when trading with friends. Offers may not be available in all areas of the country. Allow 10 weeks to receive each refund.

The following refund offers are worth $11.60. This week's refund offers have a total value of $21.04.

This offer does not require a refund form:

QUAKER "Simply Great Cookies Cookbook Offer," P.O. Box 8545, Clinton, IA 52736. Receive a Cookie Recipe Booklet and $5 in coupons; Send one "Simply Great Cookies" purchase seal from a Quaker Quick or Old Fashioned Oats package, your name, address, ZIP code, apartment number, and 50 cents for postage and handling. There is no expiration date on this offer.

These offers require refund forms:

BABY MAGIC $1 Refund. Send the required refund form and the Universal-Product-Code number from the 9-ounce size of either Baby Magic Baby Bath or Baby Magic Baby Lotion, plus the register tape with the purchase price circled. Expires Feb. 28, 1985.

CHEX Free Bananas Offer. Receive a coupon good for up to 80 cents worth of free bananas, plus two 35-cent Chex brand cereal coupons. Send the required refund form and two Chex brand cereal proofs of purchase and one special Chex banana sticker seal found on bananas. Expires Feb. 28, 1985.

HUNGRY JACK $1 Refund Offer. Send the required refund form and one Universal-Product-Code symbol from Hungry Jack Pancake Mix (21-pound or larger), plus the register tape with the syrup and pancake prices circled. Expires Dec. 31, 1984.

LUCKY CHARMS General Mills Offer. Receive two 30-cent coupons. Send the required refund form and the Universal Product Code symbols from three boxes of Lucky Charms. Look for the form on the package. Expires March 31, 1985.

QUAKER Corn Bran $1 Refund Offer. Send the required refund form and three Universal Product Code Purchase Seals from Quaker Bran Cereal. Expires March 31, 1985.

Here's a refund form to write for: Free 1-pound package of your favorite dry pasta product. FREE PASTA REFUND, P.O. Box 4712, Monticello, MN 55365. This offer expires Jan. 31, 1985. Requests must be received by Dec. 31, 1984. While waiting for the form, save the Universal Product Code symbols from Prego Spaghetti Sauce and Kraft 100 Percent Parmesan Cheese and the neck label from any variety or size of Fabeloni wine; plus the cash register tape with the purchase price circled.

Hamoneer

99¢

Regular Price $1.40

Cooked just for you.

At Red Steer, we don't cook a Hamoneer for just anybody — we cook it just for you. So when you get it, the ham's nice and juicy. And the cheese is still melting. And we even add a fresh-sliced tomato to an extra cost.

Special price good thru December 31.

Red Steer 1984

Instant cereals popular fast food fare

By CAROL SUGARMAN
The Washington Post

Call them the Pop Tarts of the '80s. Microwave-flavored hot cereals have become the fast-food generation's quick-at-home breakfast.

Hot cereal fits today's marketplace, one where speedy, nutritious-sounding fare is dangled in front of health-conscious people on the run.

Instant products in such flavors as raisin spice, honey graham or apples and cinnamon are reviving the hot-cereal market.

minutes. Instant oatmeal, or the mix-in-the-bowl variety, is rolled from groats cut into even thinner pieces. They are precooked, dried and processed with salt.

THINNERS

Similar to pizza eaters who are divided about the virtues of thin versus thick crusts, hot-cereal eaters differ about how thick or thin the cereal should be, as well as whether milk or cream should be poured around the rim of the cereal bowl. So for those in favor of "the rim," here are a few alternatives, enough for 1 to 2 servings:

• Make a warm apple butter sauce by combining 1-4 cup unsweetened apple butter in a saucepan with 1-4 cup water, stir and heat until warm.

• In a small saucepan, heat 1-4 cup nut butter such as cashew or almond with 6 tablespoons water. Stir into cereal.

• Make fruit syrup by using unsweetened frozen raspberries, blueberries or strawberries. Thaw and puree in a food processor or blender.

According to Advertising Age magazine, the $420-million hot-cereal category has grown 10 percent in dollar volume over the past year due to the "more expensive cook-in-bowl products."

Last year was the most successful year for Quaker Oats, which leads the instant segment, according to Advertising Age.

This year Quaker Oats introduced two new flavors to its 10-flavor line: strawberries 'n cream and raisins, dates and walnuts. Ralston Purina has just introduced a line of instant cereals under the Sun Maid label, and in 1982 Nabisco reformulated its Mix 'n Eat Cream of Wheat and added four new flavors.

The cereals, say company spokesmen, are targeted either to the busy professional who has neither the time nor inclination to prepare a steaming pot of oat groats, or to children, as a cold-weather alternative to sugary cold cereals. (Flavors such as strawberries 'n cream or hot chocolate indeed have their appeal among old cereals such as Strawberry Shortcake or Cocoa Puffs.)

In fact, like many cold cereals, the majority of the instant, flavored hot cereals list sugar as the second most dominant ingredient, some containing two kinds of sugar (sugar and corn syrup, for example). In addition, some contain artificial flavors, and all list some kind of preservative.

The fact remains, however, that you can still buy unsweetened, fiber-packed cereals in supermarkets in either the natural-flavor section or the regular hot-cereal section. (Quaker Oats, for example, has a relatively new product marketed under the "Mother's" label in Oat Bran, Oat and Whole Wheat, and there are a variety of other plain, packaged whole-wheat cereals or whole-grain cereal mixtures.)

In addition, there are a host of grains available in bulk at health-food stores — without the preservatives, the artificial flavors and the fancy packaging. Here, then, are some suggestions beyond Mayo on how to make your own flavored hot cereal the "old-fashioned" way. It's a cold-weather comfort food that should never go out of style.

GRAINS

When cooking with bulk grains, the following are some hints on cooking times and procedures. Remember that instead of using water to cook hot cereal, you can substitute half or all of the liquid with milk, preferably skim. This will make the cereal creamier in taste and texture. Figure about 1 cup of raw cereal for 4 generous servings.

Oatmeal. The difference between the various kinds of oatmeal and their cooking times has to do with the size anyway they are cut.

Hot groats are the whole, hulled grain. Simmer 1 cup whole groats in 2 cups water or milk in a covered saucepan for about 1 hour.

Steel-cut oats are hot groats that have been sliced not cut lengthwise.

Cook 1 cup steel-cut oats in 3 cups water for 45 minutes.

Rollled oats come in three varieties: old-fashioned, quick-cooking and instant. The old-fashioned oats are made by cooking, toasting, steaming and rolling oat groats; they take 5 minutes to cook. Quick-cooking oats are made from groats that have been cut into pieces before they are rolled, producing a thinner flake and thus reducing the cooking time of the old-fashioned variety by three or four

Merry Meadow Gold

Start a new holiday tradition with an old-fashioned family favorite — Meadow Gold Egg Nog Butter Cake made with lusciously rich Meadow Gold Egg Nog and creamy Meadow Gold Butter. And for your other favorite holiday recipes, there's Meadow Gold Sour Cream, Sour Cream Dips, Meadow Gold Whipping Cream, and rich Meadow Gold Buttermilk, an old favorite for baking.

For cooking, dipping or baking, Meadow Gold always makes the holidays merrier.

A taste close to home.

Meadow Gold Egg Nog Butter Cake

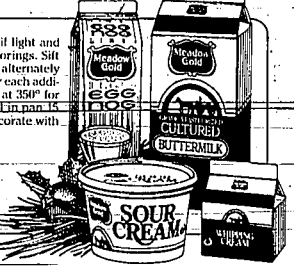

- 1/2 cup (1 stick) softened Meadow Gold Butter
- 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 large eggs
- 1 tsp. ea. cum extract and vanilla
- 3 cups sifted cake flour
- 2 tsp. baking powder
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 cups Meadow Gold Egg Nog
- 2 Tbsp. water
- Candied red and green cherries

Beat butter until creamy. Gradually add sugar, beating until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well. Blend in flavorings. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add to butter mixture alternately with combined egg nog and water, beating until smooth after each addition. Turn into greased and floured 10-inch tube pan. Bake at 350° for 30 to 35 minutes, or until cake tests done with pick. Cool in pan 15 minutes. Remove from pan. Cool, right side up, on rack. Decorate with candied red and green cherries after icing.

Egg Nog Icing:

Combine 3 Tbsp. Meadow Gold Egg Nog, 2 Tbsp. light corn syrup and 1/2 tsp. rum extract. Gradually add 2 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar, beating until smooth.

High Altitude Directions: (5000 to 6500 feet) — Cake — Decrease baking powder to 2 1/2 tsp. Bake at 375° for 40 to 50 minutes. Icing — Add 1 to 1 1/2 tsp. egg nog.

Features

Jewish observance of Hanukkah begins

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israelis lighted candles at sundown Tuesday for the start of Hanukkah, the festival of lights that commemorates an ancient miracle and a Jewish victory over the conquerors of the Holy Land 2,000 years ago.

The eight-day holiday marks the success of Jewish fighters in overthrowing their Syrian rulers in 164 B.C. The Syrians tried to force the Jews to adopt the ancient Greek culture, which dominated the area, and placed Greek idols in the Jewish temple in Jerusalem.

After their victory, the Jews smashed the Greek idols and sought to rekindle the eternal flame that once burned there. According to Jewish tradition, there was only enough oil to last the flame for one day, but miraculously the fire burned for eight days.

Many Israelis draw parallels between the historic victory of a handful of rebels against a mighty empire and the modern-day Jewish fight against Soviet persecution of its Arab enemies. Because of its national character, Hanukkah is celebrated by most Israelis, secular as well as religious.

In Tel Aviv's Dizengoff Circle, a mass rally was convened to light the first candle of Hanukkah and begin a week of solidarity with the 2 million Jews in the Soviet Union. Israeli activists are trying to enlist international pressure on Soviet authorities, whom they accuse of persecuting Jews and refusing them permission to emigrate to Israel.

Holiday plans make widow feel left out

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow who has been going with a man for nearly a year. He's been divorced for seven years. He still delivers the alimony check to his "ex" every week and spends a few hours visiting with her. He says he has a right to see his children, who are grown but still living at home. He also spends some weekends making repairs on the house.

Abigail VanBuren
Dear Abby

I say his children could meet him somewhere else, and all those adults should be able to take care of the house without his help. Also, I think he should mail the checks to his ex.

My friend announced that he always spends Christmas Eve with his children (at his ex's house, of course) and Christmas Day with his "lady." If he asked me, I would have preferred that he spend Christmas Day with his children and Christmas Eve with me, but he didn't ask me.

When my husband was living, there was no problem, but this Christmas Eve will be all alone.

Am I wrong to be hurt, and to wonder what my status would be if and when I should decide to marry this man?

— SECOND BEST

DEAR SECOND: Are you wrong to feel hurt? Feelings are neither right nor wrong — they're honest reactions. Do I blame you for feeling hurt? No. And as for your status should you marry this man, you answered your own question in your signature.

DEAR ABBY: In your pre-that infants take up a great deal of time and our lives will change drastically.

What suggestions can you offer to prepare Mimi for the stiff competition awaiting her? We're really worried that she will be crushed.

— NO BONES ABOUT IT

DEAR NO BONES: Handle it exactly the way parents handle bringing a little brother or sister home when there's a firstborn in the house. Don't ignore "No. 1." Let him/her share in the joy and excitement of the new family member. Gradually No. 1 will become accustomed to the new arrival and feel less threatened. But don't turn your back on No. 1 until you're sure No. 2 can defend him/herself.

DEAR ABBY: My stomach makes a terrible growling noise whenever I kiss my girlfriend. She tells me it's all in my head, but my stomach tells me to write to you.

What do you say? — NOISEMAKER

DEAR NOISEMAKER: Listen to your stomach. Calm down, and never kiss on an empty stomach. You're either hungry or nervous. Or both.

CONFIDENTIAL TO J.P.M.: My rules for survival:

Never order seafood in a restaurant that has dirty menus.

Never romance a woman who has more problems than you have.

Don't tell a redneck you love her until you intend to marry her.

Don't open unless you have Jacks or better.

(Problems? What's bugging you? Unload on Abby, P.O. Box 6969, Hollywood, Calif. 90038. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Son irked by editing of dad's death notice

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The paid death notice of an old sailor named Charles J. Evans told mourners just what to expect after the funeral: a drunken brawl.

"A drunken brawl will immediately follow the services," read the last line of the notice in Monday's Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

By Tuesday, the "drunken brawl" had been edited into an "old-fashioned Irish Wake," but Evans' son, Timothy, was irked at the change.

"That was appropriate for an old sailor," Evans said. "He wanted it that way, simple, time for people to pay their last respects and then get on with their living."

The elder Evans, 74, belonged to the U.S. Merchant Marine for about 30 years and once sailed on the Booker T. Washington, a ship that Timothy Evans said had an all-black crew.

The Gannett Rochester Newspapers deleted the last line of the death notice in Monday afternoon's Times-Union after it came to the attention of executives in the classified advertising department.

Timothy Evans objected. "I called and told them I wanted a reprint at least. They got a lot of gals," he said.

Eventually, he went along with changing the "brawl" to a "wake," he said.

A somewhat inexperienced clerk took the original death notice by telephone from the funeral director and didn't think to question it according to Thomas Flynn, the newspapers' director of promotion.

"This is very rare," Flynn said. "Death notices are not something to be taken humorsly."

safeguards your future productivity

The electronic typewriter you will never outgrow!

Interfaces easily with most computers.

brother Electronic Office Typewriter

The Brother EM-200 has just taken a giant step ahead of the state of the art. The advanced technology has achieved a new plateau for high performance and productivity. See it, test it, compare it...you'll invest in the EM-200 today to safeguard your future productivity.

REG. $1495
DECEMBER SPECIAL $1152.00

Exclusive Cassette Daisy Wheel Printer Easily snaps in and out to give you a wide choice of type styles.

NEW TO THE TYPE The EM-200's 16 character display visually presents the text you have typed before it's put on the paper.

Quality Features:

- 16-Character display for text editing and commands
- Direct memory response keyboard with standard international and symbols
- 500-character memory for automatic correction
- 72-hour residual power supply for memory
- Cassette daisy-wheel for one-touch interchangeability
- Cassette for easy ribbon changes
- Automatic paper sensing (programmable)
- Automatic paper end indicator (programmable)
- Ribbon end indicator
- Bold typing
- Stop code for type-out control
- Step code for easier letter writing
- Repeat function for all keys
- Automatic centering
- Right margin justification
- Automatic underlining
- Automatic carrier return
- Decimal tabulation
- Automatic relocation
- Super-and-super-script
- Automatic column layout
- Line and paragraph indentation
- EXPRESS backspace
- Block tabulation
- Automatic page format
- Impression control
- Stencil cutting capability

G.&R. OFFICE PRODUCTS
138 2nd Ave. South 1247 Oakley Ave.
Twin Falls Burley
734-8617 678-0931

Make Your Sprites Sprite.

STORE COUPON EXPIRES 1/31/85

Save 30¢
on Sprite® or diet Sprite® in a 2-liter bottle or any multi-pack of bottles or cans.

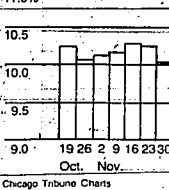

LIMIT ONE COUPON PER PURCHASE. NOTE TO DEALER: For each coupon you accept as our authorized agent, we will pay you the face value of this coupon, plus 3¢ handling charges, provided you and your customer have complied with the terms of this offer. Any other application constitutes fraud. Inventory showing your purchase of sufficient stock to cover all coupons must be shown upon request. Void where prohibited, taxed or restricted. Your customer must pay any required sales tax or deposit. Cash value 1/20 of 1¢. This coupon will be redeemed by our salesperson.

OFFER GOOD ONLY IN AREA SERVED BY: Twin Falls Coca Cola Bottling Co., Twin Falls, Idaho 83301

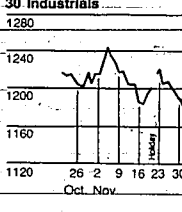

Bond Buyer index

Index of 20 municipal bonds; 20 year maturities, various ratings

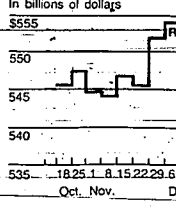

Dow Jones average

30 Industrials

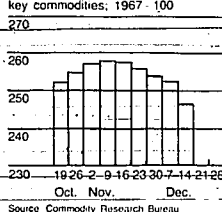

Money supply [M1]

In billions of dollars

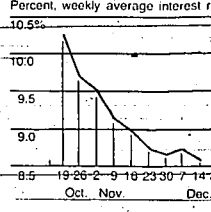

Commodity futures-index

Index of weekly closing prices of 27 key commodities; 1967-100

3-month-Treasury-bills

Percent, weekly average interest rate

Business

Wednesday, December 19, 1984 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho C-11

Income, housing reports bolster economy

By MARTIN CRUTSINGER The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Americans enjoyed a healthy gain in personal income last month and increased their spending even more, in gains that Reagan administration and private analysts said were signs of a rebounding economy.

The Commerce Department said in Tuesday's report that personal income rose 0.7 percent in November. Personal consumption spending, which includes virtually everything but interest payments on debt, rose at an even faster 0.9 percent last month.

The spending gain followed a 0.2 percent decline in October, a 1.4 percent increase in September and no change in July and August.

In a separate report, the government said housing construction dipped 0.7 percent in November as homes were built at an annual rate of 1.53 million units, the slowest pace in almost two years.

But even these observers found cause for optimism, noting that building permits, a barometer of future activity, were up 10.7 percent. It was the first increase in permit authorizations since June and analysts said it showed that the sharp drop in mortgage interest rates was beginning to spur demand for houses.

The 0.7 percent gain in personal income in November compared with a 0.4 percent October increase. Wages and salaries rose $14 billion in November, compared with a $2.5 billion October gain. Analysts said this reflected in part the drop in unemployment in November, to 7.2 percent of the workforce, the biggest decline since June.

Included in the wage gain was a $3.2 billion increase in manufacturing payrolls, compared with an $800 million advance in October. Farm proprietors' income increased $200 million in November compared with a decline of $400 million in October.

Personal interest income was up $1.6 billion in November compared with an increase in October of $2.2 billion. This compared with gains of more than $8 billion earlier in the year when interest rates were rising. Disposable, or after-tax, income rose 6.6 percent in November, double the October increase of 3.0 percent.

With Americans spending more, personal savings dipped to an annual rate of $16.4 billion. That left the national savings rate — savings as a percent of disposable income — at 6.2 percent, down from 6.5 percent the month before.

The increases put total personal incomes at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $2.10 trillion while personal consumption spending rose to an annual rate of $2.40 trillion. The income total in November translates to $11,146 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said the gains in income, spending and housing permits pointed to "continued growth in most sectors of the economy, particularly housing."

Private analysts agreed. Many predicted overall economic growth as measured by the gross national product, would increase to around 2.5 percent in the final three months of the year. The GNP slowed to a 1.9 percent rate from July through September. The government will release its preliminary estimate on fourth quarter growth on Wednesday.

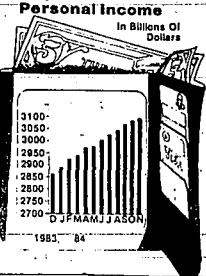

Roger Brinner, an economist with Data-Resources-Inc., a private forecasting firm, said the gain in incomes and spending confirmed reports showing November increases in retail sales and employment.

"Retailers are very aggressively pushing the goods 'out' of their stores, through price cuts in some cases."

Edward Friedman, a senior economist at Chase Econometrics, predicted a "modest re-acceleration of the economy over the next several months before other factors — such as continuing high real interest rates — pull it back."

The slowdown in consumer buying has been cited as the chief reason economist at Chase Econometrics predicted a "modest re-acceleration of the economy over the next several months before other factors — such as continuing high real interest rates — pull it back."

The slowdown in consumer buying has been cited as the chief reason economist at Chase Econometrics predicted a "modest re-acceleration of the economy over the next several months before other factors — such as continuing high real interest rates — pull it back."

"Incomes are growing, inflation is staying down and consumer confidence is still high," he said. "But consumers have caught up with some of the pent-up demand they have carried over several years."

Averaging income a help at tax time

If you had income that increased substantially in 1984 over previous years, you can save by using income averaging.

Up to 1984, the computation was made by figuring any current income in excess of 120 percent of the average taxable income for the previous four years as though spread over five years.

But for 1984, the computation is made by figuring the current income in excess of 140 percent of the average taxable income of the previous three years as though spread over FOUR years. You lose.

You could elect in 1983 to deduct each year a total of up to $5,000 of personal property such as a car, machine, etc., bought for use in a trade or business, instead of claiming an investment credit. This total was slated to increase to $7,500 for 1984. Instead, the law was changed to freeze the $5,000 annual amount through 1987. You're "frozen" at $5,000.

In 1984, for charitable-contribution deductions based on contributing property that is overvalued, the penalty is a flat 30 percent of the underpaid tax if the contributed property is valued at 150 percent or more of its current value.

Sylvia Porter

Seventh in a series

Previously the penalty for overstating the basis or value of property on an income-tax return was 10 percent of the underpayment or the tax that resulted from the overstated value if the overstatement was between 150 percent and 200 percent; 20 percent if between 200 percent and 250 percent; and 30 percent if more than 250 percent.

And the Internal Revenue Service can't waive this penalty unless (in addition to other usual requirements) the claimant value was based on a qualified appraisal by a qualified appraiser and the donor made a good-faith investigation of value. The penalty is not imposed if your underpayment of tax because of overvaluations is less than $1,000. You're penalized for being too "generous" to yourself. Proceed with caution.

Real estate you acquired before March 15, 1984, can be depreciated on an accelerated basis over a 15-year period. However, generally, for real estate you placed in service after March 15, 1984, new or used real property (other than low-income housing) can be depreciated over no less than 18 years.

The IRS has issued tables showing how this is to be done. You're still here, too.

For 1983, you, an individual under 65 who retired on disability and were permanently and totally disabled when retired, could exclude up to $100 per week of the disability payments received. But the excluded amount was cut by the amount that your adjusted gross income exceeded $15,000. For 1984, there is no disability exclusion allowed. But the old credit for the elderly has been liberalized, and extended to apply to disability income received by those under 65 who retired with permanent and total disability. You've lost an important exclusion.

The total exemption from income taxes for Social Security benefits ended for many of you in 1984. You must include in your '84 gross income an amount of your Social Security (or Tier I Railroad Retirement) benefits equal to the lesser of:

- 1) Half of the Social Security monthly benefit you received in 1984.
- 2) Half of the amount by which your 1984 adjusted gross income, plus any 1984 interest you receive on your tax-exempt bonds and notes, plus half of your 1984 Social Security benefits, exceeds $22,000 if you are married filing jointly or $25,000 on an individual return, or zero for married persons filing separately.

The solid front of Social Security has been pierced. Look out. Next: How to use an IRA.

Sylvia Porter writes on financial matters for Universal Press Syndicate.

Truck terminal sale brings IML $4 million

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — IML Freight, the one-time Utah trucking giant which filed for bankruptcy last year, has sold its Salt Lake terminal for $4 million in cash.

Bankruptcy Court Judge Glen F. Clark on Monday approved the sale of Double J Express-Western Inc. The buyer company was formed in Utah by a sister trucking firm in Houston — Double J Express Inc. — specifically for the purchase, said Steven H. Gunn, attorney for the new company.

An auction was held in Clark's courtroom and Double J's opening bid was unchallenged. The judge then approved the transaction.

Trustee attorney Robert D. Merrill said the deal for the terminal included more than 41 acres at 1900 Industrial Rd. The $4 million transaction represents 90 percent of the property's appraised value, he said.

Although the price was below the appraisal, Gunn said the amount was "a little high" for a distressed company in bankruptcy court.

The deal also included IML's operating authorities and customer list, although no specific value was assigned to those assets.

Operating authorities give a motor carrier the right to do business. Merrill said the customer list is a computer printout of past customers. Following the hearing, Merrill said IML's old customers have probably employed other trucking firms since the July 1983 Chapter 11 filing by IML. But Double J Express may be able to entice those customers back, he said. Clark ordered the cash sale to close by Dec. 20. Gunn said Double J Express-Western Inc. intends to begin business immediately after that date and will conduct both interstate and intrastate trucking.

Closing prices

Table with multiple columns listing stock prices for various companies and indices, including NYSE, AMEX, and various individual stocks like IBM, GE, etc.

OSU still interests Erickson

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — Although he withdrew from consideration for the Oregon State head football coaching post last week, Idaho football coach Dennis Erickson says he's still interested in the job.

Erickson told the Corvallis Gazette-Times on Monday that he would "still be willing to listen" if Oregon State officials wanted to talk to him — about the "Beavers" head coaching job.

"But I haven't talked to them," Erickson said. "I haven't talked to them since last Friday."

Erickson said he issued a withdrawal statement Friday because of the delay in the Oregon State President John Byrne's decision was making it impossible for him to recruit for Idaho.

"It had nothing to do with Oregon State. They have to move at whatever pace they think is right," Erickson said. "But I sat in my office all last week and got nothing done, and so did my coaches. It got to the point where

DENNIS ERICKSON
"Willing to listen"
he had to go on."

issued his statement Friday, but he tempered his remarks Monday.

"Like I said from the very beginning, I'm very, very interested in the job and I'm very impressed with Dee Andros and the president," he said. "It was just lingering on too long for me. It was no fault of anybody. They have to do what they have to do."

Erickson, who was interviewed by telephone while on a recruiting trip in Anaheim, Calif., is one of three finalists who were flown to Corvallis for interviews. All three have made statements that they have withdrawn their names from consideration.

The other two are Dennis Rietz, the head coach at Indiana State, and Gene Murphy, the head coach at Cal State-Fullerton. Murphy is waiting until Wednesday to see if he'll be hired as the head coach at Missouri.

Rietz was recruiting Monday — making a visit to the home of a high school athlete — and could not be reached for comment.

One other candidate was interviewed in Corvallis — Booker Brooks, offensive coordinator, at Oregon State last season and a long-time assistant at Penn State. Brooks said he is still available, but had not talked to Oregon State officials recently.

"I'm just going to have to sit it out and be patient, and let everyone else fight it out," Brooks said. "And maybe they'll come back to me. Who knows?"

Byrne was scheduled to leave today for business in Washington, D.C., and an alumni gathering in Hawaii. He was to return to Corvallis Saturday.

Athletic Director Dee Andros, who has urged that Erickson be hired, said he doesn't think Byrne will reopen the process.

"I would think he is negotiating with some of the people we have already talked to," Andros said, "including the three who withdrew. We talked to some good people who didn't come to Corvallis for an interview and haven't been named by the media."

Grant returns to coach Vikings

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Bud Grant, who led the Minnesota Vikings to four Super Bowls, accepted a lifetime contract to return as head coach of the National Football League team, Vikings General Manager Mike Lynn said Tuesday night.

Grant's surprise appointment came a day after the Vikings fired Les Steckel, who led the team in 1984 to its worst season ever with a 3-13 record.

"I missed the Sunday afternoons," Grant said in accepting an offer to coach the Vikings for life, "but I admit I never missed the training camps."

"I can coach as long as I like under the terms of the contract," Grant said.

Lynn and team owner Max

Winter made the announcement at Twin Cities International Airport Tuesday after a day of speculation on who would be the Vikings.

Grant, who coached the Vikings for 17 seasons, said he was approached by Lynn twice last week before accepting the job.

"Last Wednesday Mike asked me and I said no. I went pheasant hunting. He asked again Friday and I said no. Max entered the picture, and when Les was actually released I accepted," Grant said.

Grant said the first thing he will do as head coach is to begin building a coaching staff.

"I have no staff now," Grant said. "But it takes time, and I don't expect to be making any announcements tomorrow night."

Wendell nips Jerome in OT

WENDELL — Richard Schraft hit a three-point goal with two seconds left in overtime to carry the Wendell Trojans to a 56-48 victory over Jerome's Tuesday night.

Schraft's long rainbow stymied a Jekyll-and-Hyde trick by the Tigers, who fell behind by 18 points in the third quarter but rallied back into a tie when Torrey Sheets hit a free throw with two seconds remaining in regulation play. Bryan Bolch and Sheets then provided the points that made Jerome look like a comeback winner.

But with three seconds remaining in overtime, Wendell, after a timeout, put the ball into play from sidcourt. The pass went in to Schraft, who was uncontested as he let fly with the winner.

For most of the night it looked like a comfortable Wendell win, particularly in the third quarter. The Trojans consistently beat Jerome's defense downcourt for a rash of fast-break layups. That allowed Wendell to explode a 30-28 halftime lead into a burgeoning 50-32 advantage.

The only thing that kept Jerome in a semblance of offense was Bryan Martens. But he was almost gone. Held scoreless through the first half, Martens blazed for 14 points in the first 13 minutes of the second half to spark the Jerome comeback.

Wendell's woes mounted in the early fourth quarter when three starters went to the bench with five fouls.

Meanwhile, Sheets pulled the Indians to within two with just over two minutes left and about 40 seconds later Jeff Burnham's follow shot caught the Tigers up at 61.

Eric Weimelsel re-established Wendell's lead with a pair of free throws and with 43 seconds left (another to make it 61-61).

Jerome was upset when Shawn Black's long shot was ruled a two-point rather than three-pointer but the Tigers got the ball back when it fouled and Wendell was whistled for a lane violation. Jerome regained possession with eight seconds, leading to another foul. Sheets hit the first free throw but, after a timeout, missed the second to set up the overtime.

When it came to the final dramatics, Coach Larry Gwartney said, "Schraft did it on a designed play. I ran him down the sideline, hit him with a job and let him shoot from the corner. Golly, I couldn't believe it worked."

Gwartney said Jerome's comeback impressed him "because I think it was more Jerome's tough 'D' than our coming apart. They really got after us. That and the fact we fouled out those three starters. We didn't have any big men left underneath."

Jerome 10 28 38 64 68
Wendell 13 20 32 64 68
Jerome — Burnham 2-4, Black 4-6, Sheets 7-8, Martens 4-7, Bolch 2-3, Dey 0-1, Amundson 1-2, Kuhn 1-2, Paris 0-1, Totals 31-56, Fouls 20
Wendell — Schraft 9-25, Keho 2-9, 4, Weimelsel 7-13, Burke 0-1, Hope 1-2, Thackeray 1-2, Totals 25-30-60, Fouls 26

Bo, LaVell meet
Brigham Young football coach LaVell Edwards, right, shakes hands Tuesday with his Michigan counterpart, Bo Schmebchler, in San Diego where their teams will clash in Friday night's Holiday Bowl. Schmebchler's Wolverines will be seeking to upset top-ranked BYU, the nation's only undefeated and untied team. For more on the game, see Page D3.

Wildcat matmen beat TF

By FLYNN McROBERTS
Times-News writer

FILER — Twin Falls wrestling Coach Andy Barron summed up his squad's performance Tuesday night in one frustrated statement.

"I have illusions of grandeur," he said after Twin Falls' 39-27 non-conference loss to Filer.

Except for pins by three Twin Falls wrestlers and one decision, the Wildcats dominated the match, forcing the Bruins into mist-wit situations in the final two weight divisions.

Twin Falls' hope in the 185-pound division was senior Mike Smith, the Bruins' perennial struggle. Smith quickly staked Filer's Bruce Huett for the pin in 40 seconds, narrowing Filer's lead to 27-33.

That put the pressure on Twin Falls' Scott Watson in the unlimited division against Steve Crown. Watson took the upper hand early, but Crown managed a quick turnaround and pinned the Bruin 49 seconds into the first round, icing Filer's victory.

"They did not come over here to wrestle," Barron said. "I told them they would be wrestling a good team... (but) their minds weren't in it until the last couple rounds — then it's too late."

Wildcat Coach Steve Parr pointed to Tom Huett's pin of Twin Falls' Andy Lomen as the match's decisive point. Huett pinned Lomen with just eight seconds left in the first round.

"That was a real important pin," Parr said. "From there, all they could do was tie it."

Filer's effort was boosted by the decision wins of James and Kevin Schroeder and Toby Kaster, all of whom remain undefeated at 8-0 as the Wildcats improved to 2-0 in dual meets.

Twin Falls took the lead at 9-6 after Governor Beglan captured an 11-5 decision over Jesse Sutherland, but forfeits at the 112- and 119-pound divisions doomed the Bruins to their fourth loss in six dual meets.

Filer 30, Twin Falls 27
105 — Double forfeit.
105 — Homer Beglan (TF) dec. Jessie Sutherland.
112 — Charlie Blackwood (F) won by forfeit.
119 — Ron Carey (F) won by forfeit.
125 — David Steffens (TF) pinned Mark Jeron, 3:12.
132 — Kevin Schroeder (F) dec. Tom Young, 7:2.
135 — Tyler Carter (F) dec. John Dehman, 4:1.
145 — Tom McJim (TF) pinned Brian Rice, 2:5.
155 — James Schroeder (F) dec. John Leedom, 6:0.
167 — Tom Huett (F) pinned Andy Lomen, 1:52.
185 — Mike Smith (TF) pinned Bruce Huett, 4:0.
195 — Steve Crown (F) pinned Scott Watson, 4:0.

Castleford outlasts Bliss again, 56-48

By BRAD BRELAND
Times-News writer

BLISS — It was the same teams that battled three nights ago, and it was the same outcome.

Ron Owen scored 17 points here Tuesday night to lead third-ranked Castleford to a 56-48 non-conference boys' basketball victory over Bliss on Saturday. The Wolves did the same thing — 53-49 — in the championship game of the Castleford Christmas Tournament.

The two setbacks are the only losses of the season for Bliss in six games. Castleford is now 6-1.

"It's been 15 days since we've had a full-court practice," said Castleford Coach Kelly Murphey, noting that after school the Castleford boys', girls' and junior high basketball teams share the same court. "We were shooting well before the season, but the shots aren't there any more. We'll have to tune up during Christmas break," he said, pointing out that the Wolves only shot 30 percent from the floor Tuesday night.

The Bears took an early 6-2 lead, but Castleford battled back late in the quarter to take a 12-8 first quarter advantage. In the second period, the Wolves built up a 16-8 bulge, but Bliss went on a 12-4 spurt that gave it a four-point lead.

With Castleford's big man, Mark Twardy, on the bench in foul trouble, the Bears went to 6-foot-3 center

See CASTLEFORD on Page D2

White, Taylor repeat as All-Pro

NEW YORK (AP) — Defensive tackle Randy White of the Dallas Cowboys and linebacker Lawrence Taylor of the New York Giants were named Tuesday to The Associated Press' All-Pro team for the fourth consecutive year.

But otherwise the 27-member team consists mostly of new faces — only eight players are repeaters from last year.

They include Taylor, an All-Pro in all four of his National Football League seasons, and White, who has made the team in six of the past seven years, along with Eric Dickerson of the Los Angeles Rams, who in his second season smashed O.J. Simpson's single-season rushing mark with 2,105 yards.

Dickerson is joined in a record-smashing backfield by quarterback Dan Marino of the Miami Dolphins, who set single-season marks with 48 touchdown passes and 5,084 yards, and by Walter Payton of the Chicago

Bears, who broke Jim Brown's career rushing mark of 12,312 yards and finished the season with 13,247 yards.

The team was chosen by the votes of three writers or broadcasters representing each of the NFL's 28 teams.

On offense, Marino, Dickerson and Payton were joined by wide receivers Roy Green of the St. Louis Cardinals and Art Monk of the Washington Redskins. Light end Ozzie Newsome of the Cleveland Browns, tackles Joe Jacoby of Washington and Keith Fajohnsthor of the San Francisco 49ers, guards Russ Grimm of Washington and Ed Newnam of Miami, and center Dwight Stephenson of the Dolphins.

In addition to Taylor and White, the defense consisted of ends Mark Gastineau of the New York Jets and Howie Long of the Los Angeles Raiders; tackles Dan Hampton of the Bears, nose tackle Joe Nash of the Seattle Seahawks, outside linebacker Rod Martin of the Raiders, inside linebackers Mike Singletary of the Bears and E.J. Junior of the Cardinals, cornerbacks Mike Haynes of the Raiders and Mark Haynes of the Kansas City Chiefs and Kenny Easley of Seattle.

The specialists were placekicker Norm Johnson of Seattle, punter Reggie Roby of Miami and kicker returner Henry Ellard of the Rams.

The repeaters, besides Taylor and White, from last year are Gastineau, who made it for the third time in a row; Dickerson, Green, Jacoby, Grimm and Easley. It was also the fourth time that Payton has made the squad in his 10-year NFL career and the second time that Mark Haynes has made it.

But the other 17 players all are first-time members of the first team.

"The Dolphins — who had four first-time members — had the largest delegation on the first two teams with six. The Bears, Raiders and Seahawks had five each.

Prep games aren't enough — now he calls NFL playoffs

STILL intoxicated over my success in predicting the whys and wherefores of the Raiders' victory over Washington in last January's Super Bowl — you may not remember it, but I certainly do — I've decided to court embarrassment this season and forecast the week-by-week outcome of the NFL playoffs.

If I'm correct, or even come close, we can attribute a better luck. If I'm incorrect, I'm wrong. It'll truly be the 48-47-62nd time. But conceiving hunches is as fun as it is foolhardy, so here goes:

Saturday — Los Angeles Raiders at Seattle
The Seahawks have a better regular-season record than the Raiders, the home-field advantage, a better coaching staff and the distinction of having defeated Los Angeles in the Kingdom in their most recent meeting.

The natural choice, then, is the Raiders.

Two factors dictate this selection. First, we all know how well the Raiders perform in big games. This won't be an exception. Second, I looked him in the stadium by himself for 16 Sundays. However, John Robinson is a better coach than Bill Parcells, if only because Robinson helps minimize Kemp's shortcomings and maximize his assets.

The Rams blocked a sillion punts and turned them into touchdowns during their 33-12 victory over the Giants Sept. 30. Stuff like that usually doesn't happen twice in a row, but at least the Rams know they're capable of turning New York. Also, they're at home.

Take Los Angeles.

Conference semifinals, Dec. 29-30
I'll be (10-10) correct. This leaves the Raiders at Miami in one AFC game. Los Angeles came through with a superlative effort in defeating the Dolphins at the Orange Bowl Dec. 2, but what happened again? The Raiders' offense sputters too much.

Writing the Pittsburgh-at-Denver script is easy. Denver Coach Dan Reeves won't let John Elway throw enough. Of the passes Elway does attempt, one or two will be intercepted. But the rested Broncos' defense, tolling before its maniacal fans, will make Mark Malone wish he were Tom Seleck, his look-alike, and not the Steelers' quarterback. This low-scoring encounter will conclude in Denver's favor.

In the NFC, the half-baked confrontations are Chicago at San Francisco and the Rams at Washington. Once upon a time, when Jim McMahon was healthy, the Bears could have given the 49ers a definite battle. Chicago's excellent defense would have stowed the 49ers' offense, even this time the 49ers probably won't recover their customary 28-13 points-but-with their quarterbacks either injured or inept, the Bears will need a 400-yard rushing game from Walter Payton to win. They won't.

Neither will the Rams, who will perform their obligatory swan dive at RFK Stadium.

The Redskins annihilated Los Angeles in last season's playoffs, and though Dickerson's one year better, the Rams aren't.

Conference championships, Jan. 6
The media will love the Miami-Denver final: Marino vs. Elway, the two great young quarterbacks. Yet Marino is substantially better right now, which is why Miami will win, despite the best efforts of Denver's defense.

When the 49ers and Redskins meet in the regular season Sept. 10, San Francisco quickly built a huge lead and spent the second half frittering most of it away in a 37-0 victory.

Now, however, the 49ers have pass-rush specialist Fred Dean back, strengthening their already superb defense. The Smurfs, the Fun Bunch and all those cute little bands of Redskins will have Conledstick Park looking like Caesar's Roman Dwarfs.

Super Bowl, Jan. 9
Playing at Stanford Stadium in Palo Alto will be virtually a home game for the 49ers. But Marino and his gifted receivers will give San Francisco's talented secondary the test of their careers. The 49ers' offense will have to be at its best. Joe Montana hasn't disappointed me yet, however. Here's a vote for the 49ers to emerge as champions of Super Bowl XIX.

Chris Haft is a sports writer for The Times-News.

Chris Haft
Denver's 'D' Los Angeles' offense isn't all that great — Marcus Allen can't do everything — but its defense should carry the

By The Associated Press

As the National Football League's second season begins, the Chicago Bears have two sets of flight tags on their bags. They have to wait a week to find out if they'll appear in a divisional playoff game at Washington or San Francisco.

That's the only uncertainty following 16 weeks of the regular season and several weeks of tie-breaking torture, usually starting with something like, "If the Cowboys win..."

Well, the Cowboys didn't win. Miami defeated Dallas 28-21 Monday night in a wild finish. The loss knocked the Cowboys out of the playoffs for the first time in a decade, but the New York Giants in them as a wild-card team and left the Bears; the National Conference's Central Division champions, up in the air, so to speak.

The Giants, whose worst defeat of the season was a 39-12 pounding by the Los Angeles Rams at Anaheim Sept. 30, visit them again Sunday in the opening round of the National Conference playoffs. The winner will advance to the divisional round.

Normally, the wild-card team plays the winingest division

TOM FLORES
'We're still in this thing'

champion — but under the NFL's scheduling format, that doesn't happen if they're both in the same division.

Which brings us back to the Giants-Rams game.

If the Giants win, they'll head north to San Francisco; if they lose, they'll play the 49ers, the NFC West champs and, at 15-1, the league's best team. And Dec. 30, the Bears, 10-6, will play at Washington against the 11-5 Redskins, the NFC East champs.

If the Rams win, they won't play the 49ers. They'll play at Washington Dec. 30, the day after the Bears play at San Francisco.

To avoid a time problem — two games on the West Coast — the NFL is starting the playoffs a day earlier than planned with the American Conference wild-card game Saturday at Seattle between the Seahawks and the defending Super Bowl champions, the Los Angeles Raiders.

The winner of that game will play the Dolphins, the AFC East champs and the conference's best team at 14-2, at Miami Dec. 25. The following day, the Pittsburgh Steelers, the AFC Central champs at 9-7, will play the AFC West champion Broncos, 13-3, at Denver.

The Bears, who went through five quarterbacks — Jim McMahon, Steve Fuller, Bob Avellini, Rusty Lisch and Greg Landry (plus Walter Payton) — expect to have Fuller back by the time they play. McMahon has a lacerated kidney, Fuller a shoulder injury.

The Giants, although they swept their two-game series with Dallas this season, in effect still backed into their wild-card game, needing the Dolphins' victory over the Cowboys to reach the playoffs for the second time in four years but only the third time since 1963.

"I hope the guys realize we just got a second chance," Giants punter Dave Jennings said after Dan Marino's four touchdown passes — three to Mark Clayton and two of those in the closing 2 1/2 minutes — had beaten the Cowboys. "From here on in, there are no more second chances." The Giants lost their final game of the season, 10-3 to the New Orleans Saints.

The Raiders also finished the season on a down note, losing 13-7 to Pittsburgh. That forced them into a road game at Seattle, where they lost 17-14 during the season.

"It would have been nice to win this one (against the Steelers) and play here next week (Saturday)," Raiders Coach Tom Flores said, "but that's history. We have to travel next week. We're still in this thing. We're in the playoffs and now all we have to do is gear up for next week..."

Miami's record-setting Marino named top offensive player

NEW YORK (AP) — Dan Marino of the Miami Dolphins, who set a new standard for quarterbacks in only his second year in the National Football League, was named Tuesday as The Associated Press Offensive Player of the Year.

Marino's 48 touchdown passes in 16 games was 33 percent better than the previous record, 36 in 14 games by Y. A. Tittle of the New York Giants in 1963 and George Blanda of the Houston Oilers in 1961. There was no asterisk involved there — Marino had 40 after 14 games.

He also threw for 5,084 yards (almost 318 yards per game), breaking Dan Fouts' 1981 record of 4,892. He also set records with 362 completions and nine 300-yard passing games; helped one of his receivers, Mark Clayton, establish a season record for touchdown receptions with 18, and led Miami to the American Conference East title with a 14-2 record, the second best in the NFL.

Big Olympic profits yield embarrassment

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Olympics were heralded as the "Spartan Games," to be run by private enterprise on a bare-bones budget. Now, four months after the flame was extinguished atop the Memorial Coliseum, organizers find themselves defending a surplus that seems to grow day by day.

The final profit sum for the private Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee is to be made public today, with the spiraling total now expected to top $160 million.

Much of the surplus — more than 10 times the estimate the committee was staking up to the start of the Games July 28 — can be attributed to budgeting for "worst-case scenarios" that failed to occur, according to Harry Usher, LAOCO general manager.

The surplus is designated to benefit U.S. amateur sports and youth groups. But the announcement last September that it would reach $150 million and perhaps go higher still was met with amazement and some criticism.

An administrative assistant to Juan Antonio Samaranch, president of the International Olympic Committee, said IOC officials were "shocked" when they learned of the surplus. Alain Coupat, a Samaranch assistant, said IOC officials may decide to keep a closer watch on the finances of future organizers of the Games. Samaranch has asked that $7 million of the profits be used to reimburse visiting nations for their teams' expenses at the Games.

Some scattered complaints came from those who struck contracts with the LAOCO to provide such services as security. The complaints said that, during negotiations, the organizers asserted that they had little money to spend.

Even high-ranking officials in the LAOCO apparently were unaware of the impending windfall. Charles Kale, a senior vice president of the committee, was quoted as saying he might have ordered air-conditioned buses to transport the athletes had he been budgeted more money, and that, despite having a "bare-bones staff," he was hesitant to ask for more help.

Usher, overseeing the dismantling of the committee now that Peter Ueberroth, the LAOCO president, has become commissioner of major league baseball, said he was not surprised at the negative reactions to the size of the surplus.

Schembechler glad to be confronting BYU

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Brigham Young, the nation's only unbeaten team, will be playing for a possible national championship in the Holiday Bowl Friday night. What is 6-5 Michigan doing here?

"We're playing because we're Michigan and we have a chance to beat No. 1," Coach Bo Schembechler said Tuesday shortly after arriving in San Diego. "There's a lot of pride involved here. A lot of bad things have been written about us and it's got our chander up."

BYU Coach LaVell Edwards, standing alongside, supplied another needle. "Bad things have been written about YOU," he told the often hot-tempered Schembechler, "not about your team."

When the laughter subsided, Schembechler conceded that he was "very much surprised" at being invited to play BYU. But he noted that he "had one undefeated team that didn't go to a bowl game (10-1 in 1973) and too many great teams that didn't have a chance to go (9-1 in 1970, 10-1 in 1972 and 1974), so I'm not going to apologize for being here."

"As I look at you, when there's only one unbeaten team in the nation it's an unbelievable circumstance, and when they offer you an opportunity to play them, as a competitor and a coach you jump at that opportunity. That's an opportunity you're not going to turn down — anywhere, any time, any place."

Schembechler refused to be drawn into the ongoing debate over whether BYU deserves to be No. 1.

"I'm not going to get into that," he said. "But when you have the opportunity to fight the heavyweight champion and you beat him, you're the champ, aren't you?"

Just when it appeared that Schembechler might be about to make a pitch for the national championship with a victory over BYU despite those five losses, he detoured.

"I'm not going to make that claim," he said. "I don't give a damn about the national championship. I've always been one who liked to read about all the controversy—I think it's great. It creates interest."

"But a lot of people who are making judgments about who's the best team in the country haven't seen Brigham Young play. From my judgment, any team that can win 12 consecutive games and be the only unbeaten team in the country is the hottest team in the nation right now."

Michigan is anything but. Until this season, Schembechler's worst record in 16 years at Michigan was a pair of 6-4 teams.

"We had a struggling season and a rather frustrating one," he said. "I felt going in that we had enough stuff to contend for the (Big Ten) title. But we lost our quarterback, our best lineman and our free safety, we had periodic injuries and we didn't have a fallback like we're accustomed to having because he (Rick Rogers) had a bad knee all year."

"Usually, when we've run into a situation like that, our defense has carried us. This defense is not as good as some of our past ones, but we've got some guys who can play. (Cornerback) Brad Cochran is as good a defensive back as there is in the country."

Flutie earns Maxwell Award

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Doug Flutie, the Boston College quarterback who became the leading passer in college football history, is the winner of the Maxwell Club award as 1984's outstanding player, the club announced Tuesday.

Flutie, the first player from Boston College to win the award, was the unanimous choice of the Maxwell

Board of Governors. Others given consideration were Keith Byars, Ohio State; Bernie Kosar, Miami; Robbie Bosco, Brigham Young; and Bill Fraley of Pitt.

Flutie, also winner of the Heisman Trophy as player of the year, was the 12th quarterback to win the Maxwell Award, first given in 1937 to Clint Frank of Yale.

Extra Copies Available
Individuals, clubs, organizations, schools extra copies of this edition available at The Times-News Office, 132 3rd St. West, Twin Falls, Idaho.

25¢ each
MAILED ANYWHERE IN U.S.
(Postage, plus minimum handling charge)

The gift fit for a king!

$69.95
Suggested retail price

TAKE HOME THE BOOTS, OR AN ATTRACTIVE GIFT CERTIFICATE.

RED WING SHOES

OPEN EVENINGS TILL CHRISTMAS

Bank Cards & Charge Accounts Welcome

Hudsons SHOES

Two Locations
1012 S. 2nd St.
Downtown and Lynwood

The Magic of memories and the Magic of imagination.

The Times-News presents a keepsake edition of Christmas stories, poetry and art by Magic Valley authors on December 20.

The gifts under one boy's tree foretell Christmases that might be, and the Shoshone-railway station provides an immigrant's first Christmas in a new land. An area historian traces the roots of community Christmas trees in Magic Valley towns.

Artists capture Christmas scenes, a poet finds verse in a snowplow and a sports writer recalls Christmas dinner with Franco Harris!

Return with us to bygone Christmases. Explore Christmases that could be. And, most of all, celebrate with us Christmas 1984!

We call it Christmas Magic.

The Times-News
Christmas Magic
It's a special section on Thursday in the Times-News.

By The Associated Press

As the National Football League's second season begins, the Chicago Bears have two sets of flight tags on their bags. They have to wait a week to find out if they'll appear in a divisional playoff game at Washington or San Francisco.

That's the only uncertainty following 16 weeks of the regular season and several weeks of tie-breaking lore, usually starting with something like, "If the Cowboys win..."

Well, the Cowboys didn't win. Miami defeated Dallas 28-21 Monday night in a wild finish. The loss knocked the Cowboys out of the playoffs for the first time in a decade, put the New York Giants in them as a wild-card team and left the Bears, the National Conference's Central Division champions, up in the air, so to speak.

The Giants, whose worst defeat of the season was a 33-12 pounding by the Los Angeles Rams at Anaheim-Sept. 30, visit them again Sunday in the opening round of the National Conference playoffs. The winner will advance to the divisional round.

Normally, the surprising wild-card team plays the winningest division

TOM FLORES
"We're still in this thing"

champion — but under the NFL's scheduling format, that doesn't happen. If they're both in the same division.

Which brings us back to the Giants-Rams game.

If the Giants win, they'll head north to San Francisco and a Dec. 29 game against the 49ers, the NFC West champs and, at 15-1, the league's best team. And Dec. 30, the Bears, 10-6, will play at Washington against the 11-5 Redskins, the NFC East champs.

If the Rams win, they won't play the 49ers. They'll play at Washington Dec. 30, the day after the Bears play at San Francisco.

To avoid a time problem — two games on the West Coast — the NFL is starting the playoffs a day earlier than planned with the American Conference wild-card game Saturday at Seattle between the Seahawks and the defending Super Bowl champions, the Los Angeles Raiders.

The winner of that game will play the Dolphins, the AFC East champs and the conference's best team at 14-2, at Miami Dec. 29. The following day, the Pittsburgh Steelers, the AFC Central champs at 9-7, will play the AFC West champion Broncos, 13-3, at Denver.

The Bears, who went through five quarterbacks — Jim McMahon, Steve Fuller, Bob Avellini, Rusty Lisch and Greg Landry (plus Walter Payton) — expect to have Fuller back by the time they play McMahon has a lacrated kidney, Fuller, a shoulder injury.

The Giants, although they swept their two-game series with Dallas this season, in effect still backed into their wild-card game, needing the Dolphins' victory over the Cowboys to reach the playoffs for the second time in four years but only the third time since 1963.

"I hope the guys realize we just got a second chance," Giants punter Dave Jennings said after Dan Marino's four touchdown passes — three to Mark Clayton and two of those in the closing 2½ minutes — had beaten the Cowboys. "From here on in, there are no more second chances."

The Giants lost their final game of the season, 10-3 to the New Orleans Saints.

The Raiders also finished the season on a down note, losing 13-7 to Pittsburgh. That forced them into a road game at Seattle, where they lost 17-14 during the season.

"It would have been nice to win this one (against the Steelers) and play here next week (Saturday)," Raiders Coach Tom Flores said, "but that's history. We have to travel next week. We're still in this thing. We're in the playoffs and now all we have to do is gear up for next week..."

Big Olympic profits yield embarrassment

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Olympics were heralded as the "Spartan Games," to be run by private enterprise on a bare-bones budget. Now, four months after the flame was extinguished atop the Memorial Coliseum, organizers find themselves defending a surplus that seems to grow day by day.

The final profit sum for the private Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee is to be made public today, with the spiraling total now expected to top $160 million.

Much of the surplus — more than 10 times the estimate the committee was sticking to up to the start of the Games July 28 — can be attributed to budgeting for worst-case scenarios that failed to occur, according to Harry Usher, LAOOC general manager.

The surplus is designated to benefit U.S. amateur sports and youth groups. But the announcement last September that it would reach $150 million and perhaps go higher still was met with amazement and some criticism.

An administrative assistant to Juan Antonio Samaranch, president of the International Olympic Committee, said IOC officials were "shocked" when they learned of the surplus. Alain Coupat, a Samaranch assistant, said IOC officials may decide to keep a closer watch on the finances of future organizers of the Games.

Samaranch has asked that $7 million of the profits be used to reimburse visiting nations for their teams' expenses at the Games.

Some scattered complaints came from those who struck contracts with the LAOOC to provide such services as security. The complaints said that, during negotiations, the organizers asserted that they had little money to spend.

Even high-ranking officials in the LAOOC apparently were unaware of the impending windfall. Charles Kater, a senior vice president of the committee, was quoted as saying he might have ordered air-conditioned buses to transport the athletes had he been budgeted more money, and that, despite having a "bare-bones staff," he was hesitant to ask for more help.

Usher, overseeing the dismantling of the committee now that Peter Ueberroth, the LAOOC president, has become commissioner of major league baseball, said he was not surprised at the negative reactions to the size of the surplus.

Miami's record-setting Marino named top offensive player

NEW YORK (AP) — Dan Marino of the Miami Dolphins, who set a new standard for quarterbacks in only his second year in the National Football League, was named Tuesday as The Associated Press Offensive Player of the Year. Marino's 48 touchdown passes in 16 games was 33 percent better than the previous record, 36 in 14 games by Y.A. Tittle of the New York Giants in 1963 and George Blanda of the Houston Oilers in 1961. There was no asterisk involved there — Marino had 40 after 14 games.

He also threw for 5,084 yards (almost 318 yards per game), breaking Dan Fouts' 1961 record of 4,802. He also set records with 362 completions and nine 300-yard passing games; helped one of his receivers, Mark Clayton, establish a season record for touchdown receptions with 18, and led Miami to the American Conference East title with a 14-2 record, the second best in the NFL.

Schembechler glad to be confronting BYU

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Brigham Young, the nation's only unbeaten team, will be playing for a possible national championship in the Holiday Bowl Friday night. What is 6-5 Michigan doing here?

"We're playing because we're Michigan and we have a chance to beat No. 1," Coach Bo Schembechler said Tuesday shortly after arriving in San Diego. "There's a lot of pride involved here. A lot of bad things have been written about us and it's got our dander up."

BYU Coach LaVell Edwards, standing alongside, supplied another needle. "Bad things have been written about YOU," he told the often hot-tempered Schembechler, "not about your team."

When the laughter subsided, Schembechler conceded that he was "very much surprised" at being invited to play BYU. But he noted that he "had one undated team that didn't go to a bowl game (10-0 in 1973) and too many great teams that didn't have a chance to go (9-1 in 1970; 10-1 in 1972 and 1974), so I'm not going to apologize for being here."

"As I look at it, when there's only one unbeaten team in the nation it's an unbelievable circumstance, and when they offer you an opportunity to play them, as a competitor and a coach you jump at that opportunity. That's an opportunity you're not going to turn down — anywhere, any time, any place."

Schembechler refused to be drawn into the ongoing debate over whether BYU deserves to be No. 1.

"I'm not going to get into that," he said. "But when you have the opportunity to fight the heavy-weight champion and you beat him, you're the champ, aren't you?"

Just when it appeared that Schembechler might be about to make a pitch for the national championship, with a victory over BYU despite those five losses, he deloused.

"I'm not going to make that claim," he said. "I don't give a damn about the national championship. I've always been one who liked to read about all the controversy. I think it's great. It creates interest."

"But a lot of people who are making judgments about who's the best team in the country haven't seen Brigham Young play. From my judgment, any team that can win 12 consecutive games and be the only unbeaten team in the country is the hottest team in the nation right now."

Michigan is anything but. Until this season, Schembechler's worst record in 16 years at Michigan was a pair of 8-4 teams.

"We had a struggling season and a rather frustrating one," he said. "I felt going in that we had enough stuff to contend for the (Big Ten) title. But we lost our quarterback, our best lineman and our free safety. We had periodic injuries and we didn't have a tailback like we're accustomed to having because he (Rick Rogers) had a bad knee all year."

"Usually, when we've run into a situation like that, our defense has carried us. This defense is not as good as some of our past ones, but we've got some guys who can play. (Cornerback) Brad Cochran is as good a defensive back as there is in the country."

Flutie earns Maxwell Award

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Doug Flutie, the Boston College quarterback who became the leading passer in college football history, is the winner of the Maxwell Club award as 1984's outstanding player, the club announced Tuesday.

Flutie, the first player from Boston College to win the award, was the unanimous choice of the Maxwell

Board of Governors. Others given consideration were Kege quarters State; Bernie Kosar, Miami; Robbie Bosco, Brigham Young; and Bill Fralie of Pitt.

Flutie, also winner of the Heisman Trophy as player of the year, was the 12th quarterback to win the Maxwell Award, first given in 1937 to Clint Frank of Yale.

Extra Copies Available

Individuals, clubs, organizations, schools
extra copies of this edition available at The Times-
News Office, 132-3rd St., West, Twin Falls

25¢ each (Postage, plus minimum handling charge)

MAILED ANYWHERE IN U.S.
(Postage, plus minimum handling charge)

The gift fit for a king!

$69.95

Suggested retail price

TAKE HOME THE BOOTS, OR AN ATTRACTIVE GIFT CERTIFICATE.

Red Wings

TWO Locations to serve you Downtown and Lynwood

Hudsons SHOES

OPEN EVENINGS TILL CHRISTMAS

Bank Cards & Charge Accounts Welcome

The Magic of memories and the Magic of imagination.

The Times-News presents a keepsake edition of Christmas stories, poetry, and art by Magic Valley authors on December 20.

The gifts under one boy's tree foretell Christmases that might be, and the Shoshone railway station provides an immigrant's first Christmas in a new land.

An area historian traces the roots of community Christmas trees in Magic Valley towns.

Artists capture Christmas scenes, a poet finds verse in a snowplow and a sports writer recalls Christmas dinner with Franco Harris!

Return with us to bygone Christmases. Explore Christmases that could be. And, most of all, celebrate with us Christmas 1984!

We call it Christmas Magic.

The Times-News

Christmas Magic

It's a special section on Thursday in the Times-News.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"I KNOW THAT RICH KIDS GET MORE PRESENTS THAN POOR KIDS, BUT HOW DO YOU KNOW WHERE THE RICH ONES LIVE?"

140—Trucks

1981 FORD Custom 150, 4 spd, good mps, dual tanks. Real nice! $4500. P/m. Call 733-7208.
1981 1/2 Ton Chevy, p/r, p/b, a/c. Call 543-6023.
1983 Ford 4x4 Diesel: 1978 Chevy 2 ton: 1978 Ford 2 ton: 1972 Chevy 2 ton: 30 KW Onan Skyway Scissor Lift. Call 734-2492.
69 CHEVY 1/2 Ton, Long-Horn. 1/2 ton, with or without camper. $1450. Call 734-3228.

141—Vans

1971 CHEVY VAN: Corroded, excellent shape, $3000 or best offer. 324-4414.
1972 FORD VAN, aluminum, a/c, dual tanks, cruise, 4 cuplin chairs, excellent condition. Call days 723-4476 ask for Ron or Kathie or evenings 438-2149.
1979 GMC VAN (Conversion) Uses gas or propane, 1500 miles, Mint condition. Call 423-6865.
1980 DODGE Utility Van, 4 spd, 1200 miles, good heater, near new tires. 734-2940

142—Import Sports Cars

VW DASHNER WAGON: AM/FM AC, new tires, good gas mileage, clean, asking $10,000. Call 672-2711.
1983 VW BUG: New paint, tires, exc. cond., $1500/best offer. 723-2222 after 5:30.
1983 CAMARO: new paint, runs good, ALSO, 1974 CAMARO Custom paint, new interior & new engine. See to appreciate. Call 423-4544 after 5pm, weekdays.
1972 TOYOTA Corolla Wagon: Good cond., Radial tires, radio, power heater. $1000. Call 734-0377.
1972 2400 Datsun Metallic Glass: wire wheel, heat-1000 on back window. Sharp. $2750. Call 423-4863.
1975 HONDA CIVIC: 50,000 miles, 4 brand new radial tires 1 owner, AM/FM cassette, 30 mpg MPG, 4 speed, newly rebuilt engine. $2000. 423-9338.
1977 TOYOTA CELICA Lift-back: Exc. Christmas present. 0000 condition. $2850. 723-2222 after 5:30 p.m.
1979 PEUGEOT 504 Sedan: AC, AT, AM/FM stereo. Runs great. 734-9011 or 733-9091.
1980 VOLKSWAGON RABBIT: Diesel, Low mileage, AC, engine heated, priced to sell. 438-0442 after 5pm.
1981 505-S PEUGEOT Turbo Diesel: Power, 3000 miles, stereo, 5 speed, new tires. $10,000. 734-7087 days or 733-9411 evenings.

144—Wheel Drives

1984 FORD BRONCO XL: Package 351 engine, AT, white & red, running boards, air cond., tinted glass, PS, PB, AM/FM stereo, 8 spd, 18995. Larson Sales, Hwy 24, Rupert. 438-9001 or evenings Rick 438-6431.
CJS JEEP: Excellent condition, 1978 Southern Car Sales, Phone 4460.
FORCED TO SELL: 1978 Dodge Club Cab 4x4, Auto, air, dual tanks, new wheel base. Perfect cond. $3150. 724-8542 or 724-1968 even.
LEAVING TOWN: Must sacrifice! 1980 Ford F-150 4x4, 1972 Chevy 4x4 350 4 cyl engine, dual tanks, cold weather equipped, good tires. 725-0234. Kenneth SUPERB 1971 Jeep Wagoneer, Michelin radials, mechanically outstanding. $2100. Call 324-3874 before 8:00 a.m. or after 6:00 p.m.
1979 GMC VAN (Conversion) Uses gas or propane, 1500 miles, Mint condition. Call 423-6865.
1980 DODGE Utility Van, 4 spd, 1200 miles, good heater, near new tires. 734-2940

152—Autos—Buick

1970 BUICK SKYLARK: 4 door, very good transportation, low miles. $401. Call 734-9567.
1977 BUICK REGAL V-6: good condition, $1650 for quick sale! Call 324-5141.
1982 Buick LeSabre V-6: 7 spd, automatic, vinyl AC, ill wheel, power seats, very nicely unsmashed, exc. mileage, $1500. 326-4232.
1980 RIVIERA, Exc. Cond. Low miles, AC, PS, Load! 8500. Call 734-9200.
1982 BUICK REGAL 2 door, V-6 engine, 38,000 miles, excellent gas economy, $2800. Call 672-7379 Burley.

162—Autos—Fords

1973 FORD LTD, 4 dr, Excellent condition, $1100. Call 733-1828 after 5pm.
1978 FORD Futura: Low miles, 733-2297 after 5pm, 733-1575 days.
65 MUSTANG: Freshback good condition, $1900. Call 423-5841.
1978 FORD LTD, p/b, a/c, air, Run great, needs paint. $500/best offer. 934-4161.
100—Mercury Lincoln
1981 COUGAR, 4 dr, 6 cyl, automatic, cruise & air. Excellent condition, $2200. 734-2553.
63—LYNX, 3 door—rear defrost, stereo, 12,000 miles. $3000. Fountain Automotive; 324-5553.
168—Autos—Oldsmobile
1986 2 door Oldsmobile, Runs good, as is, $150. Call 733-9517 after 5pm.
1978 Oldsmobile, Oldsmobile, Good condition, $600. Call 734-3869.
1978 TORONADO Diesel, 40,000 miles, fully loaded with all options, great car, great price! $2500. 732-4025 evenings or weekends.
1983 OLDS CUSTOM Cruiser: Power seats, tilt doors and door locks, AM/FM stereo, luggage rack, tilt steering cruise, wire wheel covers. 19975. 726-3010 before 9:30 am or after 5:00 pm.
172—Autos—Pontiac
1974 PONTIAC Granville, Excellent condition. $500. Ask for Ray, 423-5161.
1979 FIREBIRD Formula, Very nice car, AM/FM radio. Call after 6 p.m., 733-2872.
173—Autos—Plymouth
There's a great job in your future. Get it by locking in classified's...employment section.
175—Auto Dealers

Bonanza Motors is proud to introduce Howard Ross as their new sales consultant

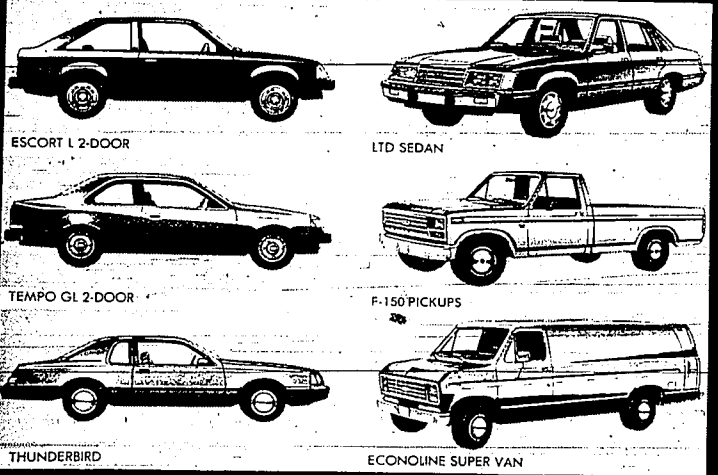

Howard has sold cars & trucks in the Magic Valley for over 10 years! "I'm glad to be back in the new car business," says Howard, "and I invite all my friends, relatives & acquaintances to buy a new car or truck, and I'll fill it with gas just for you!" See Howard Ross for your next Plymouth, Buick, Dodge, Chrysler or GMC at:

325 OVERLAND • BURLEY, ID. 83318 • 678-9486

175—Auto Dealers

ROY RAYMOND FORD OFFERS A FULL LINE OF CARS AND TRUCKS THROUGH FORD CREDIT'S RED CARPET LEASE PLAN FOR QUALIFIED LESSEES.

CONSIDER LEASING YOUR NEXT CAR OR TRUCK.

1. Leasing is convenient. You only pay for what you use, not the full price of the vehicle.
2. There is no used-vehicle to dispose of at lease end.
3. Leasing frees your cash and you can use your available bank line of credit for other purposes.
4. Lessees leasing for business purposes will have the benefit of simplified tax records.

FORD
SEE YOUR FORD DEALER, NOW
ROY RAYMOND FORD
1243 Blue Lakes Blvd. N., Twin Falls

Ford Motor Credit Company
Ford
733-5110

DECEMBER CLEARANCE Specials!

See These Clearance Priced Specials From Wills Motor Company... Our Big Inventory & Low Prices Will Please You!

- 1980 PLYMOUTH ARROW 2 DOOR 4 CYL. V-6, AM/FM cassette $2999
- 1975 CHEVROLET MALIBU 4 DOOR, V-8, power steering, power brakes $1399
- 1979 BUICK CENTURY 4 DOOR, FASTBACK, V-6, power steering & brakes, air, cruise $3699
- 1981 CHEVY CITATION 4 DOOR 4 cylinder, automatic, power steering & brakes, air, cruise $3899
- 1978 CHEVROLET MALIBU 2 DOOR, V-6, automatic, power steering & brakes $2799
- 1971 AUDI 100SL 4 DOOR, 4 cylinder, automatic $999
- 1977 CHEVROLET IMPALA 4 DOOR, V-8, power steering & brakes, air, cruise $1999
- 1984 CHEVROLET S10 PICKUP 4 cylinder, 4 speed, power steering & brakes, AM/FM cassette $7499
- 1981 TOYOTA COROLLA WAGON 4 DOOR, 4 cylinder, 5 speed, AM/FM cassette $4899
- 1975 FORD PINTO 2 DOOR LIFTBACK, 4 cylinder, 4 speed, roof rack, deluxe trim $1399
- 1977 SUBARU WAGON 4 DOOR, 4 cylinder, 4 speed, AM/FM, front wheel drive $1599
- 1981 CHEVROLET 1 TON 4X4 V-8, 4 speed, power steering & brakes, AM/FM cassette $8799
- 1976 CHEVROLET MONZA 2 DOOR HATCHBACK 4 cylinder, automatic, power steering & brakes $1999
- 1976 MUSTANG COBRA II 2 door, V-6, 4 speed $3499
- 1974 MERCURY MONTEGO MX 4 DOOR V-8 automatic, power steering & brakes, air $999
- 1978 HONDA ACCORD 5 speed, 2 door, hatchback $2799
- 1982 DODGE RAM PICKUP 6 cylinder, 4 speed, AM/FM cassette, shell and inserts $5799
- 1984 MAZDA 2 DOOR LIFTBACK 4 cylinder, 4 speed, AM/FM cassette, like new $5999
- 1981 CHEVY BLAZER Silverado, V-8, power steering & brakes, air, cruise, tilt $7999
- 1981 CHEVY CAMARO Power steering & brakes, automatic, small V-8, AM/FM $5999
- 1976 DATSUN PICKUP 4 cylinder, 4 speed, long bed $1899
- 1982 CHEVY CAVALIER 4 DOOR 4 speed, 4 cylinder, power steering & brakes, air, tilt $5499
- 1983-RENAULT FUEGO Turbo, 5 speed, air conditioning, AM/FM, like new $8999
- 1980 TOYOTA CRESSIDA 4 DOOR Luxury Sedan, fully equipped, low miles, like new $7499

WILLS MOTOR COMPANY
340 SHOSHONE STREET WEST 734-9233