Education board raises student fees

By MARK WARBIS
The Associated Press

BOISE — The Idaho Board of Education, in an effort to compensate for what members consider inadequate tax support, has imposed the first of three planned cuts in athletic funding and hiked basic student fees at the state's four colleges and universities.

The University of Idaho got the biggest slice of the funding pie. The Moscow college was allotted $46.6 million, or 42.3 percent of the total budget. Boise State University got nearly $31.3 million or 28.3 percent, and Lewis-Clark State College "was given" over $5.7 million, or 5.2 percent of total spending.

In other business, the board set fiscal 1986 funding for Idaho's two state-funded junior colleges. The College of Southern Idaho in Twin Falls was allotted just under $2.7 million, and North Idaho College in Coeur d'Alene received about $2.8 million.

Idaho State University's $26.6 million appropriation comprised over 24 percent of the entire higher education budget. But amid confusion over the formula for calculating fund distribution, officials from the Pocatello school said they were upset about what they saw as a continuing relative decline in their share.

"There's been a significant decrease in the percentage of funds going to Idaho State University, and that has been the case for seven or eight years," said Phil Eastman, ISU financial vice president.

Richard Bowen, the school's newly appointed president, said the relative decline in funding has left him unsure about the future of some programs.

"If we're going to have to make program cuts, let's get on with it," he told the board. "I'm not going to be able to tell you the middle of next week what this means."

The regents finally adopted member Mike Mitchell's proposal to allow ISU more flexibility by allowing it to ignore specific spending guidelines on all but about $1.2 million of its budget earmarked for "critical program needs" and "equity" pay raises for some faculty members.

Overall, the Legislature's $38 million general fund appropriation for higher education was 1.6 percent higher than during fiscal 1985. But that still was $6 million less than the board said was needed just to maintain current services. On Friday, students were tapped to help make up the difference.

Japan eases rules

By SAM JAMESON
The Los Angeles Times

TOKYO — In further confirmation that the Japanese are easing the rules for U.S. companies to enter the telecommunications market, U.S. negotiators Friday announced that Japan has agreed to drop, modify or clarify more than half of the 30 technical standards it demands for equipment that private users attach to its communications system.

The U.S. Electronics Industries Association promptly praised the accord as giving American equipment makers reciprocal access on a technical level to the Japanese market.

American industry sources, who asked not to be identified by name, said revisions in standards will open the doors for the first time to sales of U.S. made integrated voice-data PBXs, or private branch exchanges; voice-mail machines, which record and store voices in digital form; and "smart" modems, which allow computers to place phone calls and transfer data over phone lines.

Donald Abelson, director of technical trade barriers in the office of the U.S. trade representative here, said 18 of the 30 standards will be affected. He also said the Postal and Telecommunications Ministry agreed that private organizations, rather than the government, will be allowed to develop the formulas for ways to interconnect communications equipment.

In addition, the ministry promised that it will order Nippon Telegraph & Telephone and its future competitors to disclose all information about such formulas — or protocols, as they are called here — so that foreign makers will know how to design their machinery to work in Japan. Procedures for testing will be published by June 1, the ministry also promised, adding that it hopes to implement the revisions by July.

"We (the U.S. negotiators) came to get a reduction in the number of standards and to get a commitment about the protocols, and we obtained both," Abelson said.

Although the United States asked that three of the 12 standards that remain in force also be dropped, Abelson said that "it appears that equity will be established in regulatory procedures and that users here will be able to choose equipment and protocols freely."

Unintimidated

The conditions were a bit wintry for golf Friday afternoon, but a few dauntless golfers refused to be intimidated by mere snowflakes.

Steve Kolar was going with two friends at Twin Falls Municipal Golf Course when a snow squall passed through. The three were getting ready for the two man best ball tournament being held today and Sunday at the course. Weather story, Page A5.

Camp visit slated

By W. DALE NELSON
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Holocaust survivor Elie Wiesel implored President Reagan at a White House ceremony Friday to drop a planned visit next month to a West German cemetery where Nazi SS troops are buried.

The White House said Reagan is going ahead with the plan but will skip a visit to the Bergen-Belsen concentration camp.

Wiesel urged Reagan, who presented him with the Congressional Gold Medal, to find an alternative site rather than visit the Bitburg military cemetery that includes the graves of 47 members of Hitler's notorious SS corps.

"That place, Mr. President, is not your place," he said. "Your place is with the victims of the SS."

Wiesel, chairman of the government's Holocaust Memorial Council and a prominent author, spoke to a group gathered in the Roosevelt Room for a presentation ceremony. He turned frequently toward Reagan, who sat with his hands clasped, obviously moved by the appeal.

Wiesel, who as a child was imprisoned at the Auschwitz and Buchenwald concentration camps, painted a vivid picture of the horrors that he witnessed and that Jews and other-Nazi victims suffered.

"One million Jewish children perished," he said. "I spent my entire life recalling their names. I would die before finishing the task. Mr. President, I have seen children, I have seen them being thrown in the flames — alive! Werd, they die on my lips."

Minutes after the ceremony, presidential spokesman Larry Speakes said Reagan would visit the Bergen-Belsen concentration camp to "honor the victims of Nazism" and then would fly by helicopter to the cemetery at Bitburg.

Speakes said the president would visit the graves of concentration camp victims and would lay a wreath at a memorial. He said the wreath-laying already planned at Bitburg would be held as far as possible from the SS graves.

Speakes said Reagan spoke by telephone for 20 minutes Friday morning with West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl and explained his decision to Wiesel during a 26-minute private meeting before the ceremony.

Verbal salvos open Charboneau's trial

By MARILYN HAUKE ESSEX
Special to The Times-News

BOISE — The defense attorney for Jamie Charboneau contended the state's case for first-degree murder is largely built on incoherent and filled with inconsistencies.

But Deputy Attorney General Marc Haws, in opening arguments on Friday, described Charboneau as a jealous man who stalked his ex-wife for three days at her rural Jerome County home before he gunned her down after she spent the night with another man.

Even after they were divorced, Charboneau thought of Marilyn Arbaugh as "his woman." At one time, Charboneau said if he couldn't have her, no man could and he carried out that threat. "Haws said.

Charboneau, 25, is being tried by a six-man, six-woman jury in Boise on first-degree murder in the slaying of his former wife, Arbaugh, 36, who died at El Rancho 93, her home in Jerome County on July 1. The case was moved from Jerome to Boise on a change of venue.

Charboneau was arrested in a field near Arbaugh's residence and pointed authorities to a Remington rifle, from which shots were fired into his former wife.

However, defense attorney Randy Stoker raised questions about whether the fatal shot came from the Remington, and whether Arbaugh's daughters have given a true account of the shooting.

Charboneau also is being tried on charges of kidnapping and grand theft stemming from the alleged abduction of Arbaugh from The Butte, a service station-cafe on state Highway 93 near Jerome. Authorities allege that Charboneau took Arbaugh's Fiat and later burned it in Owyhee County.

Arbaugh told authorities she had also been raped.

Stoker asked the jury not to be overwhelmed by emotion, contending that Arbaugh's daughters, Tira, 14 at the time of the shooting, and Tiffany, then 17, would tell a story "so improbable that only one conclusion could be drawn."

Charboneau will either testify or statements will be admitted as evidence contending that Charboneau saw Tiffany fire the fatal shots, Stoker said.

Pathologists have said 15 or 16 entry wounds were found in Arbaugh's body, but Stoker said the Remington rifle held only 14 bullets, and three remained in the gun when authorities confiscated it.

Stoker also raised the possibility that Arbaugh had a gun-and-threatened Charboneau, triggering a violent reaction because she shot him a year earlier.

'A remarkable mission,' declares NASA

Discovery ends hard-luck flight with a bang

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
The Associated Press

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Discovery's hard-luck journey ended Friday with a thumping touchdown, a blown tire, damage to the ship, and a less-than-steady Ste. Jake Garn, and a satellite drifting in useless orbit, but NASA called the flight "truly a remarkable mission."

When the shuttle's crew stepped down the boarding ramp, Garn gripped the side railing and was helped to a van by a NASA official. Less than four hours later, however, Garn danced a little jig for photographers and said he felt "Great. Great."

"After being in zero-G (weightlessness) for seven days, all this weight is a little bit heavy," Garn said, kicking up his heels. "But it's all back. See?"

The crew of six men and one woman mixed their successes with one major disappointment: the failure, despite a valiant effort in space and on the ground, to turn on the power in the $85 million syncom communications satellite they had launched. The flight had been extended two days for the rescue attempt.

Two tiles, or pieces of tiles, flew off soon after the shuttle touched on the concrete, said Kennedy Space Center launch director Bob Sleek. And, he said, the brakes locked as Discovery rolled down the runway, causing the tire blowout.

During re-entry, a tile apparently became detached and allowed heat to flow into an area where the left flap and the wing come together, Sleek said. It left a hole the size of a dinner plate, said chief shuttle mechanic Ken Colley, but engineers don't know whether there is a structural damage.

There also were two "impact hits" to some other tiles, some of which have to be replaced. Such damage often is caused at launch, but not to that extent.

Shuttle director Jesse W. Moore said the brake problems could delay the launch of Discovery's sister ship, Challenger, set for April 29. Discovery's next flight is not until June 12.

"I've never had a more fantastic experience," said Garn as he and the other crew members left Florida on a plane for Houston. He said that as he watched two other crewmen walking in space Tuesday "I had to turn and say 'Is this really happening? Am I seeing this?' — even though I was there on the spot."

The landing, which blew out one tire and badly frayed another, capped a seven-day, 2.5 million-mile flight that began with one weather delay and ended with another. Discovery waited out a rainstorm and left with 55 seconds remaining in an acceptable launch period a week earlier, and was waved off for one revolution Friday because of clouds.

Blue smoke puffed up from the runway when the 103-ton Discovery banged down on the center line.

Henry's Fork plans on hold

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — Plans to develop hydroelectric power on the Henry's Fork of the Snake River will be put on hold for two years while the U.S. Forest Service studies whether the river should be protected, Rep. Richard Stallings says.

Stallings, D-Idaho, said Friday he requested the study of the 31-mile stretch of river on behalf of sportsmen and businessmen in Fremont County and the Upper Snake River Valley.

The portion of river that will be studied runs from the Island Park Dam south to the river's confluence with Warm River, where developers have proposed building six dams.

Spying defendant 'a pawn'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Soviet couple charged with espionage used gifts and sex to lure an FBI agent into spying for the KGB, a prosecutor said Friday, but an attorney said the defendant was "a pawn caught in the middle of a high-stakes chess game."

Svetlana Gorodnikova was manipulated by U.S. and Soviet intelligence agents and thought she was helping the FBI when she became romantically involved with two of its agents, said her attorney, Brad Brian.

Mrs. Gorodnikova and her estranged husband, Nikolay, 51, are charged with conspiring with former FBI Agent Richard W. Miller to pass classified U.S. government documents to the Soviet Union.

Police surround compound

THREE BROTHERS, Ark. (AP) — Scores of police officers, wearing camouflage clothing and carrying high-powered rifles, encircled the mountain compound of a white supremacist group Friday and demanded that the leader surrender.

The officers ordered news reporters to move back three miles from the 224-acre Ozark Mountain encampment of the Covenant, the Sword and the Arm of the Lord. Roadblocks were set up on dirt roads leading to the camp and officers searched vehicles leaving the area.

Authorities have been searching the Ozarks along both sides of the Arkansas-Missouri line for David Tate, 22, of Ahol, Idaho, since Monday night, when a Missouri state trooper was fatally shot and another wounded.

Clemency sought for Dotson

CHICAGO (AP) — Defense attorneys Friday petitioned the governor to grant executive clemency to Gary Dotson, the man convicted of raping a woman who later said she fabricated the incident.

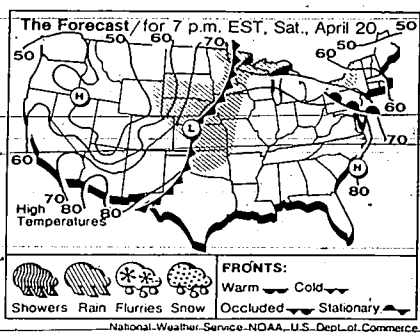

Gov. James Thompson said he will consider the request over the weekend and that his decision probably will be based "not just on innocence, but mercy."

Dotson's lawyers Friday also asked a state appeals court to set bond so he can be free pending appeal of the judge's ruling.

ions from the Legislature," said Jane Freund, student body president at the University of Idaho.

Ms. Freund joined student leaders and university presidents from all four schools in testifying against a $10-per-semester fee increase for full-time students. Institutional maintenance fees for graduate, professional and other students also were increased proportionally. The move was expected to raise an additional $1.5 million in education.

"We may be pricing ourselves out of reach for many Idahoans," said Clifford Trump, interim president at ISU. "I don't think that should be the role of a public institution."

Board member Diane Bilyeu, who along with some other board members said earlier that she would not support a student fee increase, voted for the hike on Friday.

"I guess we understand what the fiscal implications are for the institutions," she said. "Our number-one responsibility is to quality education."

Idaho State also was allowed to impose a one-time $10 student application fee and to raise its student health center fee by $4.75 a semester.

The board approved the University of Idaho's requests for a $10-per-semester hike in associated student body fees. And after initially defeating it on a tie vote, the panel approved Lewis-Clark's request for a $30-per-semester fee increase to finance a planned $800,000 expansion and remodeling of the student union building.

But while students dug deep to help fund those programs, the board spared them the cost of providing additional support for their schools' sports programs.

Boise State had asked the board to approve a student athletic fee increase of $8 for the upcoming semester and another $8 in the spring of 1986, while Lewis State of Idaho asked for $15-per-semester hikes and Lewis-Clark wanted a $10-per-semester increase.

These requests were spurred by the imminent loss of 10 percent from each school's athletic department budget. The board in 1983 voted to cap athletic program budgets at the end of fiscal 1985 and ordered 10-percent annual cuts in funding for fiscal 1986, 1987 and 1988.

The first cut would have hacked $223,489 from athletic programs. But the board on Friday decided to apply the 11.6 percent general funding increase for higher education before taking back 10 percent, leaving the schools with a net gain of 1.6 percent for athletic spending.

Program administrators, most of whom expected the board to approve a fee increase of no more than $6 per semester recommended by its staff, took little solace in the board's action.

"I'm dumbfounded. It's a devastating cut to our program," said Idaho athletic director Bill Belknap. "There's just no way we can do this without eliminating some positions and without eliminating financial aid."

Mrs. Bilyeu had little sympathy. "I'm sure they're hurting, but so are some of the other programs," she said. "If you're going to ask the students to support education, it should be this way."

Also approved was a contract between Lewis-Clark and the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for the Lewiston school to host the NAIA national baseball championships for the next three years.

However, Haws said Charboneau pumped two rounds into Arbaugh's body about 1:30 a.m. July 1 after hiding out in a potato cellar across the driveway from Arbaugh's home. The Remington rifle and two boxes of ammunition were purchased three days earlier at a hardware store in Hagerman, Haws said.

Haws described Arbaugh and Charboneau went through a "brief and stormy relationship." They were married June 2, 1983, and separated the following February. Arbaugh was granted a divorce a week before the alleged kidnapping.

Haws described Arbaugh as an outgoing, friendly woman, but said he didn't want to paint her as being more saintly than she really was. Arbaugh liked to drink, dance and "might even stay overnight with a man."

The chapter in Arbaugh's life began June 21 at The Butte when she finished work, Haws said. She was eating a taco salad when her estranged husband walked in, he said.

Arbaugh claimed her abductor tried to strangle her and she had red marks around her neck. But Stoker said those marks resulted from a skin irritation for which she was being treated by a Twin Falls physician.

Haws said he will present evidence that shows Charboneau went to Nevada following the abduction and later burned Arbaugh's car in Owyhee County near his grandfather's land.

Charboneau caught a ride to Hagerman the week of the shooting, and purchased the rifle the Thursday before Arbaugh was killed on a Sunday morning.

For three days, Charboneau holed up in the potato cellar, Haws said, and confronted his former wife after she got home about 10:30 that Sunday morning.

Democrat asks for benefit freeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senior Democrat on the Senate Budget Committee, in a move highlighting internal party divisions, proposed Friday freezing Social Security benefits for one year as part of an overall plan to reduce federal deficits through spending cuts and higher corporate taxes.

Sen. Lawton Chiles of Florida discussed his recommendation in a telephone interview as Senate Democrats agreed they would vote against it. But while Byrd and Sen. Donald Riegle, D-Mich., were saying they would fight any effort to "stop this steamroller for cuts in Social Security," Chiles said he intended to offer an alternative to the GOP budget that provides for a one-year freeze in Social Security benefits as part of an overall package of spending cuts and tax increases.

The Republican plan provides $295 billion in spending cuts over three years and no tax increases, but Chiles said no package can clear the entire Congress unless some tax hike is included.

He said his approach would provide about $210 billion in spending cuts and $70 billion in higher corporate taxes — with a provision requiring the spending cuts to take effect before the taxes could go up.

Chiles said his proposal would partially offset the effect of the freeze by providing extra money for programs serving the low-income elderly. Even so, his move and Byrd's comments reflected disagreements among Democrats as floor debate approaches on a $52 billion package of spending cuts supported by President Reagan and leaders of the Senate's Republican majority.

That proposal provides for a 2 percent increase in Social Security benefits in each of the next three years, half the expected inflation rate of 4 percent. Any inflation rise over 4 percent would be matched by further hikes in the Social Security benefits. But benefits are normally fully adjusted for inflation, and the change would save the government $22 billion over three years.

Many Republicans have privately expressed reservations about that plan. Chiles said he had a "great majority" of Democrats will fight any changes in Social Security benefits when the Senate begins debating the 1986 budget next week.

"Every Democrat down there will have an opportunity to speak his own conscience," said Byrd, D-W.Va. "I would think we'd get some votes from the Republican side of the aisle."

Modern 'copters grounded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army grounded its entire fleet of modern Blackhawk helicopters Friday, less than 24 hours after the second fatal crash in 40 days.

The Army described the action in a prepared statement as "a precautionary measure to help assure troop safety." It gave no indication how long the grounding would last, saying it was developing "a complete safety inspection plan for the Blackhawk."

The order applies to the Army's entire fleet of Blackhawks worldwide, or about 630 helicopters. However, the Army said in a statement that the "peace-time safety precaution does not affect the Army's ability to react in a crisis."

Rita Lavelle wipes a tear after saying goodbye to relatives

Lavelle starts her 6-month jail term

PLEASANTON, Calif. (AP) — Rita Lavelle, former head of the Environmental Protection Agency's toxic waste Superfund, surrendered Friday at a federal prison while her lawyer asked the Supreme Court to overturn her conviction for lying to Congress.

"We filed a petition with the Supreme Court today to rehear the case," said attorney Jim Bierbower. (Lavelle) is optimistic that the Supreme Court will reverse the conviction.

Mrs. Lavelle, 37, arrived at 12:15 p.m. MST to begin serving a six-month sentence at the minimum security Federal Correctional Institution in this small town about 40 miles southeast of San Francisco.

The prison, completed in 1974, houses 565 inmates, including 365 women. Newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst was incarcerated there after her conviction for taking part in a bank robbery with her kidnappers, the Symbionese Liberation Army.

Associate Warden Gary Driver described the prison as "a fairly open facility... not a San Quentin by any means." San Quentin, the notorious maximum-security prison just north of San Francisco, is home for some of the nation's most dangerous criminals.

"It's not what one would expect a prison to look like," said Driver, who added that inmates are free to move around within the facility.

Mrs. Lavelle was fired from her Superfund waste cleanup post two years ago along with about two dozen other EPA officials, including EPA head Anne Burford.

Mrs. Lavelle was sentenced in December 1983 to six months in prison and fined $10,000 in connection with testimony on the timing of her discovery that her former employer, Aerojet General Corp. of Sacramento was one of the companies dumping toxic waste at Stringfellow Acid Pits near Riverside.

Burmese refugee gets political asylum

HOUSTON (AP) — After 11 years on the run, several brushes with death and nine months in detention, a Burmese refugee this week celebrated his 25th birthday by winning political asylum.

"I am not going to be illegal anymore," Robinson Karen Solgwin said happily. Solgwin was found stowed away

March 1, 1984, on the M.V. Barber Nara, a ship belonging to Barber Steamship Lines, a Swedish carrier.

An attorney hired by the company obtained a court order that allowed Solgwin to leave the ship and remain in the custody of the Immigration and Naturalization Service while the agency considered his request for asylum. He surrendered to the INS in July.

Reagan says firmer hand reduces crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan said Friday that violent crime in America is declining because the nation, with a push from his administration, has ended "a failure to administer prompt and sure justice."

"It's happening because our criminal justice system is responding to the public outcry over crime," he said. "It's happening because we're doing more to protect the innocent and punish the guilty."

He made his remarks in a White House ceremony at which he honored five women who were violent crime victims and the grandmother of a murder victim and signed a proclamation designating this week "Victims of Crime Week."

Reagan praised the six women for rebounding to start or take part in programs supporting crime victims or fighting crime. "You turned terrible moments in your lives into something beneficial and helpful to your fellow Americans."

relating to the trafficking of controlled substances. When they found the substance they believed to be cocaine, agents got a warrant from Fifth District Magistrate Judge Charles Strumbach to allow them to confiscate the paraphernalia and substance they thought to be cocaine, Childichimo says.

In the affidavit filed in support of the federal warrant, IRS agent Curtis G. Gulles says that records of the FBI, Twin Falls Police Department, and the State Bureau of Narcotics and Drug Enforcement indicate that Penagos is a major source of cocaine for the Twin Falls area and that he has supplied Mitchell R. Campbell and Charles Raney of Twin Falls, both of whom are in federal court on cocaine dealing charges.

Gulles says Penagos was arrested in Pocatello on Feb. 10, 1978, for delivery of LSD. The charge was reduced to possession, a misdemeanor, and Penagos was placed on probation.

Gulles' affidavit says Penagos is not a U.S. citizen, but he does have a "green card" that allows him to work in this country. Gulles says Penagos was born in Cali, Colombia. He is married to a U.S. citizen.

Gulles' affidavit says Twin Falls Police officer Howard Elliott was told by Dennis Ragains that Penagos' family in Colombia imports cocaine of a high purity to Penagos.

In the grand jury indictment handed down in Campbell's case April 12, Ragains was named as a person to whom Campbell had sold cocaine.

In Gulles' affidavit, Gulles says that Ragain told Elliott that Charles Raney had bought one pound of cocaine from Penagos shortly after Christmas in 1984 for $25,000.

Gulles also says State Criminal Investigator Greg Harris bought 1.4 grams of cocaine from Patty Hollen Wells of Twin Falls on Jan. 11, 1985, and

Locals tied to cocaine sales

TWIN FALLS — Nine Twin Falls area residents are named as people to whom Mitchell R. Campbell of Twin Falls sold cocaine in the federal grand jury indictment handed down in Campbell's case April 12.

Campbell pleaded innocent Friday to various charges in Federal District Court at Boise.

Though simple possession of cocaine is a misdemeanor, assistant United States Attorney Dan Hawley says those named as people to whom Campbell distributed cocaine will not be prosecuted.

He says the government has a policy not to pursue cocaine use violations and is not prosecuting in consideration of the cooperation those named are showing the government.

Hawley says the nine were identified through various means, including a wire-tap. Hawley said all nine were from the Twin Falls area, but he did not have street addresses for them.

Tom Stephan, a Twin Falls attorney who is named in the indictment as a person to whom Campbell distributed cocaine "on diverse occasions between March 1983 and March 1985," said Friday the Federal Bureau of Investigation told him that they knew he had been at a party where Campbell had distributed cocaine. Stephan says he does not remember the incident.

The indictment also names Beth Maxwell, who police identify as the wife of Dr. Larry D. Maxwell, who lives at 790 Academic Drive. Maxwell was named in the indictment.

Others named in the indictment are Theresa Martin, Clyde Gassart, Ron Cook, Ram Hill, Dennis Ragains, Richard Martin and Marianne Martin. Addresses for all of them were unavailable.

Campbell pleads not guilty

BOISE (AP) — Mitchell R. Campbell, Twin Falls, has pleaded innocent here to federal drug, tax evasion and other charges and is scheduled to appear before a district judge in June.

Campbell, named earlier this month in a 15-count indictment returned by a federal grand jury, was released on bond pending a court appearance June 10 before U.S. District Judge Harold Ryan.

In a brief court appearance Friday afternoon, Campbell pleaded innocent to federal charges that he sold cocaine, including at least one sale to a minor; that he filed false income tax returns between 1980-83, showing less income than he actually had; and that he committed perjury in a sworn statement.

Together, the charges against Campbell, if proven, carry up to $500,000 in fines and up to 68 years in prison. One count alleges that Campbell, a person over the age of 21, sold cocaine to Theresa Martin, a person under the age of 21.

That charge carries a possible penalty of up to 40 years in prison and up to $500,000 in fines.

In a separate Twin Falls prison case, Cleston Raney made a preliminary court appearance on a charge that he "helped" his son, Charles Raney, conceal his assets from the federal government.

Charles Raney is charged in a 38-count federal indictment with conspiracy and selling cocaine.

Cleston Raney and three other people are charged with allowing Charles Raney to purchase numerous automobiles, trucks, real estate and other items in their names, when in actuality, the pro-

Salmon Dam near capacity

By BOB FREUND
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Salmon River Canal Co. will drain water from its 12-mile-long reservoir west of Rogerson for the second straight year to avoid filling the dam beyond its capacity.

Company spokesman Lloyd Webb said the water will be spilled down an emergency channel into Salmon Falls Creek canyon below the dam beginning late Sunday afternoon or early Monday morning. The flow will be a low rate of 200 cubic feet per second — far less than the peak of 1,600 cfs last spring.

"We should be able to get by with some relatively minor spills," he said.

The irrigation company also will release water into its canal system on Wednesday, making it available to Salmon-Farmers for Irrigation, Webb said. Farmers and ranchers will get free water until May 1, when the canal company will start charging water use against their allocations, he said.

"Two things have happened. The gauge (showing reservoir capacity) is pretty high. Just as important, the fields are very dry," said Webb. Farmers can use the early water to start their crops.

The water level in the reservoir has remained high since last year, when huge snowpacks in surrounding mountains melted and filled the dam to capacity. Salmon River Canal Co. officials then averted an overflow by spilling water down the emergency channel for the first time in its history. The high rate of spilling and a plugged culvert washed out an earthen highway bridge at Balanced Rock near Castleford, causing damage downstream.

This year, the snowpack in the mountains is above normal, but is only about half of last year's record levels. However, the reservoir only had about 24 percent of its capacity left on April 1, and it has been filling since then.

The U.S. Soil Conservation Service now estimates the company must use or drain 54,500 acre-feet to avoid an overflow, said Rich Yankee, district conservationist based at Twin Falls. The agency's Snow Survey expects 97,500 acre-feet to come into the reservoir through Salmon Falls Creek by June 30, he said.

The low rate of spilling should not cause any problems at two low road crossings, Lily-Grade and the temporary Balanced Rock road, said Clyde Burney, manager of the Twin Falls Highway District.

A new bridge with a capacity of 4,000 cfs has been built at Lily Grade, and a Balanced-Rocks temporary crossing can handle 1,000 cfs, he said.

City receives new saplings

TWIN FALLS — Slender saplings donated by local civic groups were planted this week to replace 60-year-old elm trees that were felled this spring, the victims of Dutch elm disease.

There are a few trees still to be removed, says parks and recreation director Chad Browning. Five will come out in the fall and an additional five will be removed the following spring, all at City Park.

There were more than enough donated trees to replace all the trees that had to be destroyed this year, Browning says. Two trees in the children's play area at Harmon Park were not replaced "because children have a tendency not to let them grow," Browning says.

Among the trees donated are an ash and a maple from the Board of Realtors; an ash from Snake River Canyon Kennel Club; a tree from the Twin-Falls Garden Club; a linden from Helen Porterfield; and a weeping birch donated by Ruth Finley in memory of Lois Finley.

Other donations include a maple from Marjorie Rainbolt and family in memory of Jess Rainbolt; an ash from the Cub Scouts; a spruce from the Audubon Society; an ash from the Snake River Alliance; a blue spruce from Lescoe Patton with Edward D. Jones and Co.; and an ash from Carl Miller in memory of Mary Miller.

Wednesday the RaBoNI Adventure Group of Camp Fire met at City Park to help plant a honey locust. The tree was donated by Jack Wright to the girls in Nancy Wallace's group, who then decided to donate it to the city. Bessie Peir's Camp Fire Sparks group were also at the park to help plant rose bushes furnished by the city.

'Hustler' comes off shelf at third store

TWIN FALLS — A third Twin Falls convenience store, the Stinker Station, has banned such magazines as Hustler from its shelves, following complaints from Determined Citizens Against Pornography.

"I didn't know they were on the shelves," said Kent Johnson, executive vice president of the company in Boise. "When it was brought to our attention, we removed them."

He said the magazines were purchased for resale by the local store without the knowledge of executives in the state office. "I think it was pushed on the manager by the magazine dealer," he said.

The magazines that the anti-pornography group is calling "soft-core pornography" will remain on the shelves in some other Stinker Station stores in the region, however, Johnson said.

The local store will also continue to sell Playboy and Penthouse, Johnson said.

"It's a compromise," said Scott Fife, spokesman for the anti-pornography group. "We would rather Playboy and Penthouse were not there."

Sudden cold weather forces 2 cancellations

TWIN FALLS — Friday's sudden cold weather caused the cancellation of Special Olympics and of the yard sale fund-raiser for Tessa Ann Fuller.

Special Olympics officials said a new Special Olympics date had not yet been set. The games were to have been held at Robert Stuart Junior High School.

The yard sale for Fuller, the 2-year-old Twin Falls girl whose face was mangled by her uncle's Doberman Pinscher March 21, will be held May 3-5 instead of this weekend.

Ronda Hernandez, Fuller's godmother and the organizer of the fund-raising effort, said Friday the sale was re-scheduled in anticipation of bad weather this weekend. The rescheduled sale will be held at the Sevey store parking lot on Main Avenue West.

Hernandez says a trust fund has been established at First Security Bank to collect and hold funds to help Tessa Ann's family pay her medical bills. Called "Helping Hands for Tessa Ann," the fund now holds about $1,000, says Hernandez.

Tom Rockwell and Robert McMullen have announced that they will operate their "Allan Smart Scope" — a diagnostic machine for automobiles — at the Lynnwood Shopping Center on April 27 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. All donations from people bringing their cars through the machine will be donated to the trust fund.

Health district's nutrition program given a boost from feds

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — With a new office in Jerome, the South Central District Health Department will be able to help about 100 more people through a federal nutrition program.

Cheryl Juntunen, the district's physical health director, announced Wednesday at a board of health meeting that an office will open in mid-May to provide the Women, Infants and Children or WIC nutrition program.

With the full-time office and one staff member, the health department will be able to increase the number of cases in the WIC program from 225 to 350 in the Jerome area, Juntunen said.

The WIC program provides low-income families with vouchers for nutritional foods, as well as education courses on nutrition, special diet counseling and follow-up assessments. Pregnant women, nursing mothers, infants and children under 4 years old who show nutritional problems are eligible for the WIC program.

The health department already has an office in the Jerome County Courthouse for its physical health, environmental and other services, but there was no room for the WIC program, Juntunen said.

For more than a year, staff from Twin Falls held WIC clinics four times a month at the Jerome office of the South Central Community Action Agency, located in Pioneer Hall on Lincoln Street. The community action agency provides service programs to low-income families.

The community action agency, however, will leave Pioneer Hall and the opportunity arose for the health department to share the agency's new office at 117 First St., said Mary Lee Pfeiffer, the Jerome community action agency specialist. Negotiations for the building, however, still have not been finalized.

In other business, the health board voted to give an additional day of paid vacation to any employees who has been with the department for more than five years.

The proposal was made by department director Gerald Hurst, who said the long-term employees should be rewarded. A day of leave was the least the board could do because the employees hadn't received a raise in two out of three years.

"At least it says, 'thank you for being here,'" Hurst said.

According to Hurst, about 50 percent of the department's 54 employees had worked for the program for four years or less. About 30 percent had worked between five and nine years and only three percent or two employees had worked 20 years or more.

Under the proposal, any employee who worked more than 10 years would receive two days and a 15-year or more department employee would receive three additional days of vacation.

The proposal wouldn't cost the district money because the employees are on salary anyway, Hurst said. The supervisor and supervisor would be added on when the extra time would be taken.

Board member Russell Howell of Jerome said he thought the employees should even receive more days for their dedication to the department.

Another board member, Dr. Charles Parker

Hearing planned in gun threat
TWIN FALLS—A preliminary hearing will be held April 30 in Twin Falls for a 64-year-old Flor woman who allegedly threatened a couple with a loaded gun Tuesday.
 Eunice Williams of 716 Yakima St. was charged Wednesday with aggravated assault, a felony.
 According to a complaint filed in Fifth District Magistrate Court, Williams threatened Terry and Gary Horsley with a gun at 4:45 p.m.
 Williams was released on $3,000 bond.

Wynia charged in stolen goods
TWIN FALLS—Janet Wynia, 21, was charged Wednesday with possession of stolen jewelry, cash and antelope steaks.
 The items, which were valued at over $150, were reported stolen Feb. 2 from the 267 Polk St. residence of Henry Al Robinson of Twin Falls.
 Wynia, 21, was being held in Twin Falls County Jail in lieu of a $10,000 bond on a felony charge of grand theft. A public defender was appointed to represent him.

Jennings given OK on home
HANSEN—The Hansen City Council has granted Elifora Jennings, Hansen, a special use permit to place a mobile home on her property at 320 Walnut Street.
 Following a hearing by the Hansen Zoning Commission, the council approved Jennings' request, pending approval by the building inspector and compliance with setback ordinances.
 Jennings first came before the zoning commission March when a legality in the application process prompted City Attorney William Hoffstedt to recommend Jennings republish her affidavit for public hearing and come before the zoning commission in April.
 Jennings' 14-by-70 foot mobile home will be placed on the same location that the Jennings' home has been for more than 55 years. The existing home, moved in 1922 from the Froelich farm across the street, was the home of Lewis Jennings since 1922.

 Jennings hopes to sell the old house for relocation or have it torn down.

Hansen sets maintenance hire
HANSEN—Hansen City Council voted recently to hire a high school student for part-time help with city maintenance.
 Working under city maintenance worker Dennis Weeks, the employee will be hired at minimum wage to work not more than 20 hours a week. Jobs will include mowing, watering, and other odd jobs.
 Applications for the position should be filed with City Hall.

Evans OKs recreation choices
GLENN'S FERRY—Three appointments to the new Glenns Ferry Recreation District Board of Commissioners have been approved by Gov. John Evans, said Elmore County Commissioner John Shrum. Karl Koch Jr., Hammett, Dennis Smith, south of Glenns Ferry and Dick King, Glenns Ferry, are the new commissioners.
 Shrum said the board now must organize, elect a chairman, propose a budget and hold a public hearing to approve a budget. After the budget is adopted, a tax will be levied on next year's taxes, he said.
 Shrum said the county will be chipping in funds to help the district get started on its project, including possible construction of a city swimming pool.

Glenns Ferry posts on ballot
GLENN'S FERRY—The Glenns Ferry School District election will be held May 21 to fill trustee positions in zones 1, in King Hill, and zone 5, south of Glenns Ferry.
 The seats are currently held by Lee Presley and Ward Rullen. Both men said they will seek re-election.
 Nominating petitions for the three-year posts must be filed with the school district clerk by noon on May 1.

Aryan leader files complaint Over search following arrest

BOISE (AP)—Neo-Nazi Keith Gilbert, awaiting trial on 36 welfare fraud and evasion counts, has filed an $8 million civil rights complaint in connection with a search of his home the night he was arrested.
 Gilbert, claiming he's being held unconstitutionally in the Shoshone County Jail and should be released immediately.

The former Aryan Nations member, who now heads the white supremacist Restored Church of Jesus Christ, remains in custody in lieu of $50,000 bail. He faces trial Sept. 16 in 1st District Court in Coeur d'Alene on a charge of failure to file an income tax return and 35 counts of welfare fraud.

punitive damages each from Kootenai County, Prosecutor Glen Walker, the state and Frank Levering of the Idaho Tax Commission.
 Walker said he was not over-concerned about the suit.
 Gilbert contended in a telephone interview that the search warrant was "obtained on a bad-faith statement to a judge" by Levering.

In a third request, he contends he is indigent, so any proceedings stemming from the documents he filed in U.S. District Court in Boise should be handled without cost to him.
 Gilbert, of Post Falls, acted as his own attorney in filing the petitions by mail this week, said Joe Langfield, clerk for U.S. District Court Judge Harold Ryan.

Gilbert was home March 31 when heavily armed officers from the county sheriff's office and Post Falls police served a search warrant on his house to look for tax records.
 The judge's clerk said the documents are not public yet and won't be a lawsuit until Ryan approves the filing without fees.
 The complaint seeks $1 million in compensation and $1 million in

"He doctored the figures to show a tax liability where there was none," he said.
 Gilbert said he told officials he would surrender himself on the welfare fraud charges, but they ignored his plea. What they wanted to do was invade my home."
 Levering, of Boise, was unavailable for comment.

 that Elliott and Harris are of the opinion that Penagos was the source of the cocaine sold in the undercover buy.
 In the affidavit, Gultes says Childchimo has three confidential informants who tell him Penagos made two trips to California for cocaine and that Penagos buys all his personal assets in currency.

 Gultes says the IRS investigation indicated Penagos had filed no federal income tax returns since 1977.
 Gultes says Penagos told IRS investigators he earned his living from a sliding business and had earned $39,153.65 in the years 1980 through 1983.

 Records and testimony gathered by police during the investigation indicate Penagos' expenditures in the years 1982, 1983, and 1984 add up to $67,170.14, Gultes' affidavit says.
 Gultes' affidavit says a third confidential informant says he once worked for Penagos and was occasionally paid with cocaine.
 The Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization alleges that Penagos is in this country illegally, Gultes' affidavit says. At the time of his arrest by Immigration agents Dec. 16, 1984, Penagos was carrying $8,224 in currency, Gultes says.

 Williams said he would supply Cleston Rany with a court-appointed attorney pending another court appearance on Tuesday.

 Charles Rany has pleaded innocent to a June 10 district court appearance.
 Assistant U.S. Attorney Dan Hawley said the charge of conspiracy to conceal assets against Cleston Rany carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a fine up to $10,000.

 Currently, water from Roseworth Reservoir is running down Cedar Creek at about 125 cfs, and the flow from Devil's Creek is unknown, but is not large, Burney said.
 "If it's only the 200 cfs and what Cedar Creek is spilling, I don't anticipate any problem at all," Burney said.

The Salmon Falls dam remains in strong shape, according to a recent structural examination, Webb said.
 The 1985 officers of the Salmon River Canal Co. are president Tom Griffith of Twin Falls, first vice president Bill Matney of Twin Falls, second vice president Sam Skinner of Hollister and secretary Maurice Humphries of Twin Falls. Former president Keith Fuller of Twin Falls is the remaining director on the board.

Webb said the canal company has contacted the president of the main irrigation pumping station downstream, Magic Water Co., and he said the small spill would not damage their pumps.
 However, downstream pumps should watch the situation, particularly if hard rains appear.

Also, the board formally voted to distribute full allocations of water to Salmon Tract farmers during for 1985.

Webb said the company expects to continue spilling until at least May 1, when farmers will start paying for water.
 This growing season, Salmon Tract farmers will be paying close to 50 percent more for their water because of filtration costs and some equipment replacement. The Salmon River Canal Co. board this week raised the price to $6.20 a share from $4.20 in 1984, Webb said. The average farmers own two shares of water for each acre of land, he estimated.

The canal company is fighting a multi-million-dollar lawsuit filed by farmers whose pumps were damaged last year when the bridge across Salmon Falls Creek was washed of Blaine County, said the extra duty was only a token, but the health department could afford more benefits for its employees.

 Besides the extra day off, the eligible employees will receive a letter of appreciation from the board and a certificate.
 In budget matters, the board announced it will hold a public meeting July 17 on the department's proposed $1.5 million budget for fiscal year 1985-86.
 The budget proposal, which already has been adopted by the board, must be approved by a committee composed of the chairmen of the boards of county commissioners in the Magic Valley. The counties in the Magic Valley help fund the district through county taxes.
 In more immediate budget concerns, Hurd reported that 49 percent of the 1984-85 budget of $1.4 million was spent in the first half of the fiscal year.
 It was an "optimistic" report for the department, Hurd said.
 Board Chairman Bill Chancy announced that Dan Hohnhorst has been appointed to the board by the Gooding County Commissioners as a replacement for Robert Thackeray.
 The Twin Falls County Commissioners are reappointing Chancy to represent the county on the board.
 Before Hohnhorst and Chancy are seated, however, a majority of the county commissioners in the Magic Valley, which is the department's service, must approve the appointment.
 Hohnhorst and Chancy will serve five-year terms.

LDS leader McConkie dies

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Elder Bruce R. McConkie, a member of the Mormon Church's quorum of the Twelve Apostles, died after a year-long struggle with cancer. He was 69.

McConkie died shortly after 2 p.m. at his home in Salt Lake City. He had undergone surgery for colon cancer Jan. 20, 1984, but returned to church duties shortly afterward while undergoing chemotherapy.

Funeral arrangements were pending. In recent weeks, McConkie's condition worsened. He was confined frequently in prayers delivered at the church's 155th annual general conference two weeks ago at Salt Lake City's Temple Square.

McConkie made his last public appearance during that conference, speaking April 6. He appeared frail and was unable to attend the closing sessions the next day.

What proved to be McConkie's final address to the Mormon faith's 15.5 million members emphasized the Eastern theme.

"The most important doctrine I can declare, and the most powerful testimony I can bear is of the atoning sacrifice of the Lord Jesus Christ. The atonement is the most transcendent event that ever has or ever will occur from creation's dawn through all the ages of a never-ending eternity." McConkie had served on the Twelve since Oct. 12, 1972, when he was named to the late church President Harold B. Lee. Earlier, McConkie had served 26 years as member of another governing body of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, the First Council of the Seventy.

Prior to becoming a general authority of the church, McConkie had a law degree from the University of Utah, served as assistant Salt Lake County attorney and then Salt Lake County prosecutor.

During World War II, he served in the Army as a security and intelligence officer. He left the service with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

He briefly served as a member of the editorial staff of the church-owned newspaper in Salt Lake City, the Desert News, and was called in 1946 to join the Seventy.

He wrote several religious books, among them "Mormon Doctrine," "Doctrines of Restatement Commentary" — and a multi-volume work on the life of Christ.

Effort set to boost anti-nuke stance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of Reform Judaism and U.S. Roman Catholic bishops this week launched plans for a joint program of "action and dialogue" to broaden support for the bishops' 1983 pastoral letter condemning nuclear war.

It was believed to be the first time a Jewish group formally has put its resources behind a teaching document of the National Council of Catholic Bishops. However, numerous religious groups, both Jewish and Protestant, previously have commended the letter.

Officials of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, representing 150 Reform synagogues, and the high-secular Secretariat for Catholic-Jewish Relations said members of both faiths will be encouraged to build alliances of a world of peace with justice.

A new, 97-page discussion guide, called "The Challenge of Shalom for Catholics and Jews," jointly published by the two groups, notes that the bishops' letter and the Jewish body share "many common concerns," including support for a verifiable freeze on nuclear weaponry.

Various groups speak against anti-terrorism conference

BOISE (AP) — Anti-nuclear, peace and religious groups say they haven't decided what will come next in their campaign against Ada County's plans to stage an anti-terrorism training session here starting April 29.

The groups staged a news conference Friday over Ada County's decision to pick up sponsorship of the controversial training session, designed only for law enforcement officers.

At this point, said the Rev. Paul Kessell, a Presbyterian minister from Ontario, Ore., civil disobedience is not planned. Others said they hoped to talk with Ada County officials about the conference.

Ada County officials on Thursday said they would pick up sponsorship of what is billed as an anti-terrorism training session for police officers, in preparation for the August National Governors' Association convention in Boise.

Snake River Alliance, American Civil Liberties Union and other peace groups protested. They contended they don't support terrorism, acts of violence or the philosophies of such groups, and don't appreciate being listed as topics of discussion at an anti-terrorism conference.

Two northern Idaho police agencies also criticized the agenda for the training session.

But Sen. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, issued a statement praising the training school, calling terrorism "a world-wide problem that only can be met on by the plan ahead and are prepared to meet the challenges posed by terrorists groups."

At Moscow, Police Chief David Cameron said he saw little value in the session and didn't plan to send his officers for the $150 per person training.

"In my mind, much of the training involves the beginning of what might be called siege mentality... and I'm not interested in developing officers in Moscow with a siege mentality or the seeds of a siege mentality," Cameron said.

Tom Biewell said he saw the brochure promoting the session and noted it listed for discussion peace and anti-nuclear groups. He said he considers them "legitimate protest organizations" and sees little connection between them and terrorists.

That was a point made in a news conference staged by several organizations in Boise. They contended they are peaceful organizations and should not be listed for discussion in a police training session, on terrorists.

"We are not a Communist front group," said one speaker. One discussion session in the anti-terrorism conference is listed as "Communist Front Groups, sanctuary and railroad activity." Kessell said his church conducts sanctuary activities.

Several of those involved bristled at the suggestion they had anything to do with terrorism or violence. They alleged that Ada County officials agreed to sponsor the session for political reasons.

"Politics and police don't mix," said Kerry Cooke, of the anti-nuclear Snake River Alliance.

Tax officials say lawyers' bid violates state law, Constitution

BOISE (AP) — State tax officials are looking for a court ruling saying the way two Couer d'Alene attorneys are trying to collect a $142,000 judgment against the state violates both state law and the Idaho Constitution.

Stephen Lord, a deputy state attorney general representing the Idaho Tax Commission, on Friday sent a claim of exemption to the Bonner County clerk's office.

Couer d'Alene attorneys Bill Nixon and Ray Givens in 1984 won a $113,000 judgment for attorney fees against the state. The award was made by the Idaho Supreme Court in lengthy court battles over Idaho's 1982 legislative redistricting plan.

Givens represented by the attorneys won the case. The 1984 and 1985 legislative sessions refused to pay the judgment, although legislative leaders did approve paying $58,000 in legal fees to the Legislature's attorney in the case.

Since then, interest has been piling up at the rate of more than $55 per day, making the original $113,000 bill now a $142,000 debt.

Givens and Nixon filed an attachment on sales taxes collected by Albertson's, a Boise-based nationwide supermarket chain of more than 400 stores.

The attorneys argued that Albertson's volume of Idaho tax collections would be large enough to satisfy their bills.

But Lord said he has asked 1st District Court to quash or vacate the attachment.

His claim argues that all of the sales tax revenue collected by Albertson's is exempt from such garnishment.

It also claims that the Idaho Supreme Court is the court of original jurisdiction on claims against the state, and a district court therefore cannot act first.

Ada County jail receives federal grant

BOISE (AP) — The Ada County Jail has received the first part of a $251,300 federal grant awarded because the facility provides space for federal prisoners.

The money will pay for surveillance equipment, new toilets and kitchen appliances.

Ada County Sheriff Vaughn Kilteen, who accepted $7,000 of the grant from the U.S. Marshal's office on Thursday, said the intended purchase of audio-visual equipment will more than triple surveillance capabilities at the Boise jail.

He said that if the equipment had been in place earlier, the suicide of Eugene Kinerk could have been avoided. The 22-year-old inmate had tied himself against the neo-Nazi Aryan Nations two months ago when he was found hanged in his isolation cell.

The U.S. Marshal's office awarded the grant under a 10-year contract requiring that the jail reserve a minimum of 12 beds for federal inmates. The marshal's office sets up contracts with county jails because it has no jails of its own.

Stallings may support president on giving Nicaraguan rebels funds

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — Rep. Richard Stallings, D-Idaho, says he may support President Reagan on giving $14 million in aid to the Nicaraguan rebels.

The 2nd District congressman said at a news conference here Friday he has not made a decision on how he will vote, but "I'm leaning toward supporting the president."

Stallings said he visited the White House Wednesday to talk with the president and said the president has sent "signals" that he might be willing to compromise.

Stallings said he felt "a little resentful" that House Speaker Thomas "Tip" O'Neill was making a partisan test of the issue. "I don't pass those tests very well," he said.

On another matter, Stallings said he would work with the House Agriculture Committee to block raising grazing fees.

He said he has been told by his advisory group that raising grazing fees by $2 to $5 per animal per month would "bankrupt most livestock people."

Stallings said "we may be outnumbered" if the administration makes an issue out of needing more money from public lands, "but I think we have a chance of having the grazing fees stay pretty close to what they are."

Stallings visited an elementary school, and was to receive petitions bearing 1,000 signatures from parents, teachers and school employees against cuts in the school lunch program.

"I would hate to see the federal budget balanced on the backs of children," Stallings said. "School lunches are a worthwhile, legitimate use of federal commodities. For the dollar spent, you're getting a tremendous return."

Proposed cuts would "essentially end the hot-lunch program in a number of school districts, and I don't think we can afford that."

Firm claims bank misled it

BOISE (AP) — An Oregon wood products firm has filed lawsuit asking nearly $800,000 damages against a Boise bank, claiming the bank misled it about the financial stability of a timber company.

Dolphin International, Ltd., Lake Oswego, Ore., filed the lawsuit against Idaho First National Bank.

The company claimed that when an agent made inquiries about the financial status of Hodge Lumber and Supply Inc., a bank officer "advised" that the lumber company had cash flow problems, it was financially stable.

Based on that, Dolphin contended, an agent went to Australia and made a sale of logs to sell lumber it was to purchase from Hodge Lumber.

A short time later, the company contended, it found that Hodge Lumber had gone into receivership under Chapter 7 of the federal bankruptcy law and couldn't supply the lumber.

It asked $200,000 damages for what it claims were misrepresentations by the bank; $500,000 for loss of good will and business reputation when it had to cancel the Australian contracts and about $90,000 in lost profits, sales expenses and related items.

Reinstatement order given

BOISE (AP) — An arbitrator has ordered Envirosafe Services of Idaho Inc. to reinstate with full back pay the president of its union who was not recalled to work last year after the company resumed operations at its Owyhee County hazardous waste dump after a temporary safety shutdown last April.

"The company argued and still believes that for the remaining 11 positions it called back the best qualified workers," Envirosafe attorney Merrill Muther said in reacting to the Friday ruling by arbitrator Charles Phillips.

But while she said Don Boeger has been offered reinstatement, the company will make a decision in the next several weeks on whether to appeal Phillips order to the federal courts.

Boeger, a heavy equipment operator at the controversial dump site near Grand View, was the president of the local Idaho Service Employees union formed in 1983 in response to employee concerns over safety conditions at the dump.

What's what

"How many cows can one man milk in one hour?" asks a client. About 350, now. No old dairy hand recalls anything like it. Forty or 50 or 60 was tops even until recently. But in a couple of places, cows one by one amble into and out of a slow merry-go-round contraption, a "carousel" where they're fed and milked with much machinery operated by one man in the middle, a sort of ring master.

Q—General—George—Armstrong—Custer has been characterized as every sort of a fool. Did he ever do anything right?
A. Must have. His widow Elizabeth loved the man deeply and continued after his death to devote more than half a century to the defense of his honor. How's that for a memoirist?

Q. In bygone days, what was the difference between an abled-bodied seaman and an ordinary seaman?
A. Experience versus no experience. Or reliable versus not so reliable. Or — troubleless versus troublesome.

Q—What's the insect that cooks its food?
A. You mean the Dalmatian ant? It chews grain, forms it into patties, and bakes them in the sun. Pretty close to cooking.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today's full new moon brings most everyone right-down to earth about what they can do to have better relations of a practical and material nature. Use a down-to-earth approach.

LIBRA (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You want to run off to some new place or activity, but important duties would suffer thereby. Be happy at home tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You think you can handle some financial affair and thereby get out of the red, but it could make matters worse.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have a chance to get fine arrangements made in the outside world and should not permit family to interfere.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have work to do that requires your careful attention since slovenliness could cost you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You want to put across some fine talents. Although your ideas work well in the morning, be careful in the afternoon.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have to have the education of kin for whatever you have in mind concerning family interests.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Listen to the questions of others, but don't answer any definite replies as you until you have given them your thought.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be interested in practical affairs from earliest youth and therefore the education should be more along the academic and philosophical lines, with foreign languages added since it will be easy to make money.

South African president asks for racial harmony

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — President P.W. Botha asked the opposition on Friday to join in negotiating with blacks for an end to the racial violence that has claimed more than 300 lives since August.

"I am pleading for a national team effort," he said.

A police spokesman reported no serious incidents Friday, but said there were some brief clashes with blacks in the huge Soweto ghetto outside Johannesburg. He would not let his name be used, in keeping with a new policy of the white-minority government.

Extra police patrolled a white area near Port Elizabeth where Erasmus Jacobs, 19, was reported set afire by blacks Thursday night. Jacobs, a white unemployed auto mechanic, was hospitalized with severe burns over 50 percent of his body.

According to initial police reports and Jacobs' companion, Carel van der Mescht, Jacobs was pulled from his car by a black mob in the white neighborhood, doused with kerosene and set on fire. Van der Mescht said he had left Jacobs in the car and gone into a store for a loaf of bread.

Police Lt. Col. Gerrie van Rooyen said Friday, however, that the initial version of the incident had not been substantiated and authorities still were not certain what had happened.

The South African Press Association quoted a witness it did not identify as saying the victim was seen running in his underwear, his body aflame, from an illegal tavern inside the nearby black township of Langa.

The police spokesman said police searched Langa for suspects in the burning. The township, outside the town of Uitenhage near Port Elizabeth, lies next to the white neighborhood and is the site of a police shooting March 21 in which 20 blacks were killed.

A government inquiry into the March shooting heard testimony Friday that as many as 43 people may have been killed. On Thursday, autopsy reports on 20 victims were submitted to the commission. Before that, police had said 19 blacks died.

Mali Ruckhurn, a member of the eastern Cape provincial Council, told the commission that black leaders in the township contended at least 43 were killed when police fired into a group of blacks who approached the white area on their way to a funeral.

Many Langa residents have told reporters police took bodies to outlying mortuaries and buried them secretly. Ms. Blackburn is to appear as a witness Monday, when she said she would provide documentation on the other alleged victims.

In remarks to Parliament in Cape Town, Botha asked opposition leaders to join a special Cabinet committee on black constitutional questions. He said this could form the nucleus for a forum that would negotiate with blacks.

Botha said he would open discussions with black leaders who reject violence. Five million whites rule the country, the white-minority population of 22 million.

Most black leaders say they would lose the support of their community if they negotiated with the white government.

Nihato Mollana, a physician and community leader in Soweto, said blacks would not be "seduced" into another "talk shop" with whites.

Honduran planes hit Nicaraguan crafts

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Honduran warplanes strafed two Nicaraguan coast guard vessels about to intercept an intruding fishing boat off the Atlantic coast, sinking one and killing a crew member, the government said Friday.

It said four crewmen were wounded and one was missing.

Nicaragua said in its version of the incident, which occurred Thursday, that the Nicaraguan vessels were harassing the fishing boat and two Honduran warplanes drove them off. Nicaragua said three aircraft were involved.

The incident occurred in a remote jungle area off the Cape Gracias a Dios peninsula that straddles the border.

In communications issued by their respective foreign ministries, each country claimed to have acted in self-defense and accused the other of violating territorial waters.

Each said it sent an "energetic" note of protest.

The Honduran communique said the fishing boat Tropik radioed from Honduran waters that it was being harassed by a Nicaraguan coast guard vessel and two air force planes sent in, "repelling the attack" and "causing grave damage" to another Nicaraguan vessel that arrived on the scene.

Crewmen still missing

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — Military divers on Friday located some wreckage of a U.S. Air Force jet that crashed off the Honduras coast, but there were no signs of the two crewmen, the U.S. Embassy said.

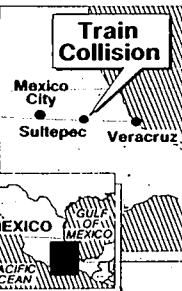

"We believe the crew members of the aircraft died, although we have still not found the bodies," said Embassy spokesman Arthur L. Skop.

Skop said in a telephone interview that pieces of the wreckage were found 40 to 50 feet deep in Diamond Lagoon by U.S. military divers. The site is near a bay on the western edge of Punta Sal, a small port 217 miles north of Tegucigalpa.

In Washington, the Pentagon identified the crewmen as Capt. Ronald B. Schatz, 34, of New Hope, Pa., and Capt. Donald F. Benton Jr., 35, of Aberdeen, N.J., and said they were officially listed as missing. It said both men were married, that Schatz had two children and Benton had one.

The plane, an OA-37 bomber, crashed Thursday while on a training mission near Honduras' northeast coast, south of Belize and far from the Nicaraguan border.

Syria to aid Lebanon?

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Prime Minister Rashid Karami indicated Friday that Syria was prepared to help Lebanon's uneasy government end the bloody power struggle between Muslim militias in West Beirut.

Karami, who threatened to bring down Lebanon's unity government Wednesday by resigning, went to Damascus to confer with President Hafez Assad of Syria on the fighting between Muslim militias.

Karami, back in Beirut Friday, issued a statement thanking Assad for "positive brotherly determination to undertake all the necessary steps" to end the Muslim street battles in which police said 38 people have been killed and 167 wounded since Tuesday.

But he neither disclosed the terms of any settlement nor said whether he will withdraw the resignation of his Cabinet he submitted to President Amin Gemayel.

"Karami, a Sunni Muslim, said he resigned to protest the assault by Druze and Shiite Muslim militias on the Sunni Moujahidoun movement. He called the Sunni defeat a "horrific nightmare."

15 killed in train collision

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A freight train on a siding backed onto a main line—and struck—a crowded passenger train Friday, killing 15 people and injuring more than 30, police reported.

Edmundo Espinoza Mota, police chief at Apizaco in Tlaxcala state, said earlier that initial reports indicated 18 people were killed, and the revised death toll was given later by officials at the scene. He said in a telephone interview that the crash occurred outside the Sultepec station, 94 miles east of Mexico City.

"The freight train was off to the side to let the passenger train go by, but it didn't give the other train time to pass," Espinoza Mota said.

He said the conductors of both trains, who could face criminal charges if found negligent, had fled the scene of the accident.

The passenger train, bound from the Gulf coast port of Veracruz to Mexico City, had just left the Sultepec station, Espinoza Mota reported.

He said the freight train backed onto the main line and its caboose rammed the passenger train at about midpoint, derailling and heavily damaging two cars.

Red Cross headquarters in Mexico City said it dispatched 15 ambulances to the site of the crash to help evacuate the injured.

Workers were still trying to clear the tracks hours later, and police and soldiers were at the scene to investigate the accident and prevent looting.

Institutions key to Turner bid

By COTTEN TEMERLAKE
The Associated Press

NEW YORK — The fate of Ted Turner's hostile, multibillion-dollar bid for CBS, lies with the financial institutions, who control about three-fifths of the network's stock.

But what these institutions — brokerage firms, insurance companies and bank trust departments — think won't matter until the broadcast entrepreneur passes numerous regulatory and other hurdles, including getting Federal Communications Commission approval to transfer ownership of CBS' broadcast facilities.

"It will be some time before anyone really will have to make a decision," said Fred Ansel, an analyst with Dunn Witter Reynolds.

with the same terms offered to the shareholders who had not tendered their shares. He also said he would sell CBS' non-broadcast operations, its radio stations and its Philadelphia station.

The nation's two major debt-rating agencies, Moody's Investors Service Inc. and Standard & Poor's Corp., said Friday they were reviewing and might downgrade their ratings of CBS and Turner Broadcasting System.

The package of securities Turner is offering would pay a dividend of $21.70 a year compared with the $3 a share CBS currently pays. But the larger dividend likely would not sway the institutions, analysts said, because of other aspects of the deal.

An important point, they said, is that Turner, who owns 80 percent of Turner Broadcasting and currently holds more than 1 percent of CBS, would retain 73 percent of the voting power in the merged company.

Investors held 61.8 percent of CBS at the end of 1984, according to CDA Investment Technologies Inc. in Silver Spring, Md.

On average, 51.8 percent of the broadcast industry is held by institutions, while the percentage for companies generally is 36 percent, said Spero Kripos, executive vice president at CDA.

CBS' largest institutional holder as of Dec. 31 was State Street Research of Boston, which held 2 million shares.

Ansel said, "One key thing to focus on, in my opinion, is the fact that before anything else happens, Turner Broadcasting has to get FCC approval for the broadcast ownership transfers."

"That's where the initial skirmish will be fought," Ansel said. "That will take six to 12 months, if he's lucky. You can assume that he will not be speeded along that process by CBS. This is uncharted territory and it will get highly politicized and I don't think it's going to be easy."

CBS reporting has said it intends to remain independent.

Anne Luzzatto, a CBS spokeswoman, said Friday the company had no further comment on Turner's bid.

Dunn new phone director

BOISE (AP) — The J.H. Simplon Co.'s president and chief executive has been elected to the Mountain Bell board of directors.

A. Dale Dunn's election and the retirement of three directors were announced by the telecommunications company.

The retiring directors are John Breckenridge, president of L.L. Breckenridge Co. of Twin Falls; Luitwin "Beiter," consultant to the Englewood, Colo., public schools; and J. Merrill Bushnell, a former officer and manager for Pacific States Cast Iron Pipe Co., Provo, Utah. Bushnell now is a consultant.

Dunn, a native of Idaho, also serves on the boards of First Security Corp., Idaho Power Co. and the University of Idaho Foundation. He chairs the Boise State University Business Advisory Board and is a member of the Ore-Ida Council of Boy Scouts executive board.

Stocks score slight gains

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced slightly in quiet trading Friday, closing a week of narrow fluctuations.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial rose 1.43 to 1,266.56, finishing the week with a net gain of 10.25 points.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange slowed to 811.1 million shares from 100.61 billion Thursday.

Advancing issues and declines ran about even in the daily tally on the Big Board. The exchange's composite index gained 1.43 to 1,266.56.

Nationwide turnover in NYSE-listed issues, including trades in those stocks on regional exchanges and in the over-the-counter market, totaled 90.2 million shares.

Tigers hit the ground running

By HARRY ATKINS
The Associated Press

Detroit — Nobody works his troops harder during spring training than Detroit Manager Sparky Anderson, and for two successive years now the toil has paid off in quick starts for the Tigers.

In 1984, the Tigers won their first nine and were 25-5 after 40 games. After that record beginning, Detroit fell far away and hid the rest of the season, winning the American League East by 15 games before sweeping the AL playoffs and winning the World Series.

This year, the Tigers won their first six games before a 2-0 defeat by Milwaukee Wednesday and a 9-2 loss to Kansas City on Friday. They are in first place in the AL East, a spot they have occupied since the start of the 1984 season, and Anderson said this year's edition of the Tigers is better than the world champions of a year ago.

"It's just a better team, I can't give you reasons," he said. "I can't compare them. We're just a good team." A comparison of the first seven games shows many similarities between the Tigers' current start and their 1984 getaways.

Both years, the Tigers have had a tendency to score early. In six of the first seven games last year, they scored in the first three innings, a feat they've accomplished four times this season.

The Tigers had hit nine homers through seven games in 1984 — two each by Kirk Gibson, Alan Trammell, Chet Lemon and Darrell Evans. This year they had hit three, with Gibson, Trammell and Lou Whitaker getting two apiece.

"This is a new season," Trammell said. "To keep bringing up 1984 isn't really fair because this is a whole new club. We're playing good baseball. We're in first place and that's where we want to be." Well, it isn't an entirely new club.

The Tigers start rookie Chris Pizarro at third base now — he's hitting .261 — and Lou Terrell, 1-0, has joined the pitching staff.

Otherwise, they are exactly the same club that started the 1984 season — on the field, at least. The Tigers also have a new pitching coach and new batting coach, with Billy Muffett and Vada Pinson replacing Roger Craig and Dade Brown, respectively.

"What reminds me of last year is the way we're playing, the plays we're making and the type of pitching we're getting," Trammell said. "We have a long way to go. We're playing good ball and if we continue to play that way, who knows?"

Tiger pitchers allowed an average of 1.57 runs for every nine innings pitched through the first seven games of 1984; the team ERA was 2.25 this year after the loss to Milwaukee, and the Tigers were the only team in the majors not to have allowed a home run in that stretch.

It's important to remember, though, that Jack Morris had thrown a no-hitter by this time last year and was a perfect 3-0 with an ERA of 0.39. Morris was brilliant against Milwaukee, but lost when Danny Darwin fired a two-hitter for the Brewers. Morris is 2-1 this season with a 2.42 ERA.

"The statistics I see in the two starts is that, again this year, we're playing hard," Morris said. "We come back in games when we were behind and won."

"We've got a saying on this club: If you're going to beat the Tigers, you're going to go nine innings."

Through the first seven games of 1984, however, that wasn't enough.

Detroit takes licks vs. K.C.

DETROIT (AP) — George Brett hit two homers while Darryl Motley, Steve Balboni and Jim Sundberg hit one each — the first given up by Detroit pitchers all season — as the Royals beat the Tigers 9-2 Friday night.

Coming into the game, the Royals had hit only three homers all season and their five tied a club record set on two other occasions.

It was the second successive defeat for the Tigers, who won their first six games.

BSU drug tests

For athletes

BOISE (AP) — Boise State University is preparing to test its football and basketball players for drugs, and the school already has the players participating in a 10-hour "drug awareness seminar, the BSU athletic director said.

"We are hoping to initiate some drug testing before the end of school," Gene Bleymaier said Thursday, but he added the program still is being developed.

"Drugs are a problem everybody has to deal with," Bleymaier said. "It's a societal problem, and I don't think anybody is immune."

He said a committee of coaches, athletes, academic counselors and others was formed to study the problem of drugs and to develop a program after examining drug education efforts at other universities.

"All those details such as how to do it, who will know about it, what kind of notice we'll give students, what will happen if somebody fails, we know all of those details we'll have to answer before we actually begin testing," Bleymaier said. "We'd like to have those answers and have a model in place by the middle of next month."

Cost is another factor.

Ron Stephenson, commissioner of the Big Sky Conference that includes Boise State, said a "very basic" test used at the University of Nevada-

Whistling in the dark grows louder in USFL

By DAVE GOLDBERG
The Associated Press

The midpoint of this season has just passed another routine week for the United States Football League.

To wit:

- For the third time this season, members of the San Antonio Gunslingers failed to get their paychecks on time. General Manager Roger Gill told his players not to worry, that the checks were in the mail.

- Rumors continued, and were hotly denied, that the Los Angeles Express would fold.

- Tampa Bay owner John Bassett, who says his team will play in the spring even if it has to play itself, again urged the other owners to rescind their votes to go to the fall in 1986. Meanwhile, Myles Tanenbaum, owner of the Baltimore (nee Philadelphia) Stars and the last anti-fall holdout last summer, came down vehemently on the side of the autumn.

- George Shinn of Charlotte, N.C., who's been seeking a USFL franchise for a year, cast covetous eyes at the Houston Gamblers and Birmingham Stallions, both in serious financial trouble.

- Network executives continue to say no, they won't give the league a fall television contract for 1986.

- The USFL, meanwhile, plays seven games this weekend, reaching the middle of its 18-game regular season. And the league's top officials say things will improve.

"We are not a model of stability, but no other sports league is either," Commissioner Harry Usher says. "I think that once we decide on our course, we'll do fine."

For those guys who started out in 1982 to bring the nation's football fans a little spring diversion, USFL III has been an experience.

"I'd love to be sitting in a boat where everybody is paddling in the same direction," says Usher, who took over from Chet Simmons as USFL commissioner in January after being deputy to Peter Ueberroth with the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee. "Unfortunately, we have a lot of guys paddling in different directions, and we're not going anywhere."

As the USFL reaches mid-season, there are some developments to ponder.

Attendance, which grew from 25,000 a game in 1983 to 27,000 in 1984, is down 6.7 percent compared with the eight-week figure a year ago. This year's eight-game average was 27,115; last year at this time it was 29,079. The Denver Gold, who averaged 44,000 to lead the league in 1983 and 33,000 last year, have drawn just 14,599 per game to Mile High Stadium.

The problem feeds on itself.

"When a fan sits at home and watches a game and doesn't see a full stadium, then he says 'Nobody else is watching, why should I?'" says Jerry Argo, part-owner of the Houston Gamblers.

Television ratings are off 29 percent on ESPN cable and 24 percent on ABC, where some major affiliates prefer showing movies to the USFL. After eight weeks, six of them featuring Doug Flutie and the New Jersey Generals, the ABC ratings is 5.3, less than the 1984 full-season average of 5.5, with the normal warm-weather television decline still to come.

Some franchisees are showing signs of financial impoverishment that have in past years heralded the collapse of other leagues.

The San Antonio Gunslingers, who play in a 25,000-seat high school stadium, had a lien slapped on them by the Internal Revenue Service earlier in the season, had one set of paychecks bounce and have had trouble meeting other paydays.

The Birmingham Stallions, tied for first in the Eastern Conference with a 6-2 record, are in dire need of a cash transfusion following the pullout of majority owner Marvin Warner, a principal in the Ohio savings and loan collapse.

"We need money by next week," said Stallions president Jerry Starr, and Mayor Richard Arrington said the team would be unable to finish the season without about $3 million more.

Los Angeles, which spent millions on talent last season, is averaging just 12,595 a game in the 92,000-seat Los Angeles Coliseum, including an all-time low of 5,637 two weeks ago.

The team is being run with a contingency fund to which the other 13 USFL teams contribute, but Usher calls the constant rumors that it will fold "malicious and totally false."

The Houston Gamblers, with record-breaking quarterback Jim Kelly, are drawing 25,371 a game, a figure which Argowith, one of three sometimes quarrelsome co-owners says: "That isn't enough, not with the kind of team we have in a city like this that is so sports-oriented."

Nonetheless, the publicly stated opinion in the USFL hierarchy is that the league is troubled, not fatally ill.

One hope is the $1.32 billion antitrust suit against the NFL, which owners hope will open the way for the million more.

NCAA softens new anti-cheating rules

By STEVE HERMAN
The Associated Press

Proposals by an NCAA presidents' commission to severely punish cheaters in college sports may be softened before final action is taken. Notre Dame athletic director Gene Corrigan said Friday.

FOUNDED 1906

"My guess is that by the time we get to the June meeting, some of the things will be modified, probably tempered a bit," said Corrigan, a member of the policy-making NCAA council that endorsed the series of measures drawn up by the commission of presidents from NCAA member schools.

The proposals, which would identify major and secondary violations and give the NCAA enforcement staff broad powers to punish violators, will be voted on at a special NCAA convention June 20-21 in New Orleans.

The severest penalty, which could be imposed for two major violations within a five-year period, would prohibit intercollegiate competition in the sport involved for up to two seasons and prohibit the coaches in that sport from any coaching activity for two years.

"Some of the things, like the idea of closing down a football program for two years... effectively, if you do that to a Division I football program, is like shutting down the program forever," Corrigan said in a telephone interview from his office at Notre Dame.

"But if there are two infractions in five years, probably they enforce them as close to close forever."

As for other proposed penalties, including curtailment of recruiting visits by coaches and by high school athletes to the colleges, suspension of staff members for at least one year and sanctions against post-season competition and television appearances, Corrigan said "those things should be done, absolutely."

"The fact that a student athlete accepts money or illegal inducements, the coach who cheats and then moves on should not be allowed to coach. All those things I think are proper," said Corrigan.

Purdue football coach Leon Burdett said the "get-tough measures would be great if the NCAA can really enforce them. I think the rules the NCAA already have are fine if the NCAA would just back them up with proper enforcement."

"They have to stop talking about rules and start enforcing the rules they have. The NCAA is a weak organization right now. It has sur-

Hot-shooting Jazz overhaul Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — The Utah Jazz came into The Summit running scared Friday night and finished just missing behind the 34 points by Adrian Dantley, who helped the Jazz to a 115-101 first round National Basketball Association playoff victory over the Houston Rockets.

"We were scared coming into this game," Dantley said. "We knew Houston was favored and they have all that talent and fresh young legs to throw at us," Dantley said.

The Rockets outbounded the Jazz 65-48 with Ralph Sampson grabbing 24 for the Rockets, but it was Dantley's shooting that made the difference.

"I had to adjust my game a little for Olajuwon and Sampson, I had to drive quicker and stronger than usual," Dantley said. "We're got to run to win against them, we know that. We executed well on offense and the shots just fell for us."

The Rockets hit only 38 percent from the field and 55 percent at the free throw line.

"You've got to be able to shoot from the outside," Houston Coach Bill Fitch said. "The only outside shots were hand checked by John Lucas after we were out of it."

"I can't say too much because I get mad when I think about it," rookie Akem Ojajuwon said. "We just didn't get the job done."

The second game in the best-of-five series will be played in The Summit Sunday before the series moves to Salt Lake City for games Wednesday and Friday. A fifth game, if necessary, Thurl Bailey added 25 points for the Jazz.

Eric McMillan scored 26 points before fouling out with 2:08 to play to lead Rockets scorers after rallying the Rockets in the third quarter.

Sampson hit 11 third quarter points as the Rockets erased a 17-point halftime deficit. They outscored the Jazz 28-11 and knotted the score at 71 with 2:30 to go in the quarter.

But the Jazz refused to fold and scored eight unanswered points for a 79-71 lead and held on for an 81-76 lead going into the fourth quarter.

Milwaukee 109 Chicago 100

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Sidney Moncrief scored 30 points and Terry Cummings added 22 to lead the Milwaukee Bucks to a 109-100 victory over the Chicago Bulls in the opening game of their first-round National Basketball Association playoff series Friday night in Chicago.

Game 2 of the best-of-five series is scheduled Sunday at Milwaukee.

The game was close much of the way, but the Bucks outscored the Bulls 10-4 to lead 90-78 with 8:46 left to play. The Bulls made it 90-82 on Quinn-Diller's long jumper before the Bucks came back with five points for a 95-82 lead with 6:42 remaining.

Generals ease past Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Running back Herschel Walker ran for 164 yards and a touchdown Friday night as the New Jersey Generals fought to a 21-18 victory over the Memphis Showboats.

Pro football

Quarterback Doug Flutie added a touchdown with a 37-yard pass and ran for another as the Generals collected their sixth victory in nine United States Football League games this season.

The Showboats, who handed the Generals their third touchdown on a pair of sacks and a fumble deep in Memphis territory, fell to 4-5 for the campaign.

The Generals scored all their touchdowns in the second half after trailing 3-0 at intermission.

New Jersey took the second-half kickoff and moved 65 yards in five plays to take a 7-3 lead with Flutie's pass to Walter Broughton.

The Showboats regained the lead with a 65-yard drive of their own. Tim Spencer carried the ball the final five yards.

USFL

USFL in the fall via a court order prohibiting the older league from showing games on all three networks.

This league will last as long as the owners want it to, says Tannenbaum from Philadelphia to Baltimore where the fall switch was voted. "My feeling is that there is a stubborn enough group among the owners that we'll stay with it as long as we can. The reason we'll persevere is that we feel we're getting a support that will get the others guys off at least one network."

Usher says he believes fans don't support spring football and says the answer is playing in the fall, albeit with more franchise shifts and a cut-back to at least 12 teams. The USFL began with 12 teams in 1983, expanded to 18 last season and now has 14.

"This season for playing football is never going to totally capture enough people because not enough people watch," he says.

Others believe the problems themselves have turned fans off, particularly where the team is perceived as a lame duck. In Denver and other cities, a USFL team uses an NFL stadium, the USFL team will be the one to go.

"I think the feeling among fans is 'When you guys decide what you're gonna do and do it, then we'll support you. But until then, get your act together,'" says Tannenbaum, whose team will go to Baltimore in the fall but for now is in College Park, Md., closer to Washington.

Says Steven Ehrhardt, president of the Memphis Showboats and a former USFL player, "I think the perception in USFL cities with NFL teams is that 'they're gonna leave town anyway, so why should I support them?'"

League officials also complain they're being done in both by their inability to get a fall television contract and by what they perceive as the inadequacies of ABC's spring telecasts.

"The inability to easily move to the fall because of the television contract

Tigers

The Tigers were so powerful that they had the game safely salted away by the seventh inning in six of those contests. This year, the Tigers trailed in four of the first seven games.

"They know when they win, they've earned it against us," Whitaker said. "It's hard to compare the two seasons, though. I wasn't hitting that well last year (.214 compared with .391 this year). We scored many times in the early innings last year."

Three times during the first seven games of 1984 the Tigers scored first-inning runs. This year, they've only scored once in the first inning.

The team batting average, however, has improved, from .234 to .258.

"We're still hungry this year," Trammell said. "It seems like 1984 in a lot of ways to me."

AL: Lowly Tribe cools Yanks

NEW YORK (AP) — Julio Franco leads the American League with a .516 batting average, perhaps the result of a new batting stance, he says.

Frango, who batted .286 last year, led a two-run homer in the first inning. Eric Snee, leading left-hander Neal Heaton and the Cleveland Indians to a 2-1 victory over the New York Yankees.

"The only thing I'm doing now different is that I changed my batting stance a little bit," Franco said. "It seems like it's working."

Frango said the change consisted of a more relaxed stance in which he holds his hands slightly lower.

"I just got back tomorrow and do the same thing over," Franco said of his hitting tear.

Heaton, 1-0, scattered eight hits in 7 1/2 innings, walked one and struck out one for the Indians, who have won three of their last four games after losing both games of a two-game weekend series to the Yankees.

Waddell gave up a two-out double to Butch Wynegar in the Yankee ninth, but pitched out of trouble.

Otis Nixon led off Cleveland's first inning, with a single, but he was thrown out trying to steal second.

Eric Butler followed with another single, and Franco then homered on an 8-1 pitch from Ron Guidry, 1-1, who had given up three straight hits to start the game.

Guidry, who halted the Yankees' season-opening, three-game losing streak by beating Cleveland last Saturday, then settled down to retire seven in a row before walking Butte in the third inning.

The Yankees got one run back in the bottom of the first on a pair of infield hits and a throwing error by Franco at shortstop. Heaton led off with a single deep in the hole, and Franco's throw sailed into the stands as Meacham went to second.

A single by Juan Bonilla off the glove of first baseman Pat Tabler scored Meacham, but Heaton avoided further damage when Don Mattingly popped out and Dave Winfield grounded into a double play.

The Yankees wasted two-out doubles by Mattingly in the third inning and Don Baylor in the sixth, then failed to score with runners at the corners and two out in the seventh when Bonilla grounded out.

Texas 4 Milwaukee 1

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Toby Harrah singled three times and drove in the winning run Friday night to break the combined five-hit pitching of Dave Ruzema and Dave Stewart in the leading Texas Rangers to a 4-1 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

The Rangers snapped a 1-1 tie in the eighth against reliever and loser Ray Searge, 0-1. Don Slaught and Curtis Wilkerson lined back-to-back singles with one out. Harrah then singled to left, scoring Slaught from second with the go-ahead run. Gary Ward followed with an RBI single to score Wilkerson, and Harrah came home on an infield single by Buddy Bell.

Ruzema recorded his first win against two losses by scattering four hits over seven innings. Stewart earned his first save, holding the Brewers to one hit over the last two innings.

Toronto 6 Baltimore 5

TORONTO (AP) — Jesse Barfield's three-run homer capped a four-run sixth inning and powered the Toronto Blue Jays to a 6-5 come-from-behind victory over the Baltimore Orioles Friday night.

With Baltimore winning 4-1, Lloyd Mosby started Toronto's rally with a double off starter Mike Boddicker, and the Blue Jays linked the bases on walks to Willie Upshaw and George Bell.

Sammy Stewart, 1-1, was forced on the Orioles and Eric White to pop out. Mosby then was called on home when Willie Alkens grounded to the mound, but catcher Rick Dempsey's throw to first for the inning-ending double play sailed down the right-field line, allowing Upshaw to score.

Barfield then sent Stewart's 1-2 pitch deep into the left-field bleachers for his third homer of the season.

Chicago 8 Boston 1

CHICAGO (AP) — Carlton Fisk and Luis Salazar cracked two-run homers and Rudy Law and Harold Baines hit solo shots Friday to lead the Britt Burns and the Chicago White Sox to an 8-1 home-opening victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Burns, 2-0, pitched a complete-game six-hitter, walking one and striking out seven. Mike Trujillo, 0-1, was the loser.

Law, the second hitter for the White Sox, cracked his first homer with one out in the first inning, then Fisk hit his second after a single by Greg Walker to give the White Sox a 3-0 lead.

Daryl Boston doubled with two outs in the fourth and Salazar, who had been knocked down by a Trujillo pitch, hit his first homer into the left center field seats.

Oakland 4 Minnesota 2

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Dwayne Murphy and Mike Heath hit home runs in the fourth inning to erase a Minnesota lead, and the Oakland A's beat the Twins 4-2 Friday night behind the combined 4-11 pitching of Chris Codrill and Jay Howell.

The A's won their fifth straight game, matching their best streak of last season. The Twins suffered an eighth consecutive defeat, with pitcher Frank Viola taking the loss.

NL: Another one-run Met win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — New York Mets first baseman Keith Hernandez said he was hired to drive in runs, and he disappointed no one except the Philadelphia Phillies and their fans Friday night.

Hernandez sliced the ball into short right field to drive in pinch-hitter Wally Backman in the ninth inning, giving the Mets a 1-0 victory over the Phillies and first place in the National League East.

Dwight Gooden pitched a three-hitter for eight innings, striking out seven and walking one in earning his second victory of the season against no losses. Jesse Orosco retired the Phillies in the ninth for his first save of the season.

Hernandez said he couldn't fault Don Carman's inside fastball but felt in control after the rookie left-hander threw two pitches away for balls and three three of the next four inside.

"I got to protect the plate and foul off inside pitches with the count 1-2," Hernandez said.

Hernandez said Phillies starter Steve Carlton, who has caused consternation in Philadelphia with a poor start, had a good breaking ball.

"It's just a matter of time for him. As the game progressed, he got more pop on his fastball."

"He's 40 and it might take him longer (to be sharp). It's been cold and tonight was warm."

Phillies catcher Orzle Virgil said Carlton, who allowed two hits while striking out two batters and walking one, was putting the ball where he wanted it.

"He was moving it in and out real good. He stayed away from the slider because that's been giving him trouble. He threw mainly fastballs with a few changeups."

Atlanta 9 Houston 5

MONTREAL (AP) — Pinch-hitter Jim Wolford belted a three-run homer in the sixth inning as the Montreal Expos defeated Chicago 5-3 in their National League home opener Friday and ended the Cubs five-game winning streak.

The Montreal victory, in front of 30,930 fans also snapped a streak of 16 straight regular season triumphs by Cubs right-hander Rick Sutcliffe, dating back to June 29, 1983.

The Cubs held a 6-1 lead in the sixth after Ron Cey belted his second homer of the season, a two-run shot off Bryn Smith, 2-0, in the top half of the inning.

Montreal 5 Cincinnati 3

CINCINNATI (AP) — Eric Davis singled home the go-ahead run in the fourth inning Friday night as the Cincinnati Reds beat the San Francisco Giants 4-2 for their fifth consecutive victory.

Ron Oester added three hits and scored twice to help the Reds continue their mastery of the Giants at Riverfront Stadium. The Reds have won 14 of their last 16 home games against San Francisco.

Reds starter John Stuper allowed six hits over the first six innings for his second victory in two starts.

Cincinnati 4 San Francisco 2

ATLANTA (AP) — Dale Murphy drilled a three-run homer, his sixth of the season, and also had a run-scoring double as the Atlanta Braves snipped a three-game losing streak with a 9-5 victory over the Houston Astros Friday night.

Rick Cerone and Rafael Ramirez also homered in Atlanta's 15-hit attack that helped Rick Mahler coast to his third victory of the season in as many decisions.

Murphy belted his homer over the center field fence in the sixth off reliever Ron Blalock after Mahler and Claudell Washington singled. The four RBI lifted his season total to 18 in nine games.

St. Louis 5 Pittsburgh 4

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Rookie Vince Coleman snapped his fourth hit of the game, a two-out triple in the eighth inning, knocking in Ivan DeJesus from second base and giving the St. Louis Cardinals a 5-4 victory Friday night over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The hit by Coleman, playing in his second major-league game, came off Pittsburgh reliever John Candelaria, 1-2. It made a winner of St. Louis Joaquin Andujar, 1-0, who left for a pinch-hitter as the Cards were snapping the 4-1 tie.

Right-hander Nell Allen recorded the final three outs for St. Louis for his first save.

Masters champion challenges Heritage

Golf

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — West German Bernhard Langer, the upset winner of last week's Masters, shot a 6-under-par 66 and climbed to within one stroke of the co-leaders Friday in the second round of the $400,000 Sea Pines Heritage Classic.

Langer, 27, who scored his first

American triumph last weekend in Augusta, Ga., completed two trips over the Harbour Town Golf Links in 134, eight under par and one back of patient Paul Azinger and Journeyman Bobby Winstanley.

Judge delays sentencing of McLain

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A federal judge Friday delayed sentencing former major league baseball star Denny McLain for racketeering, extortion and other convictions, granting his lawyer time to interview victims of a loan-sharking scheme.

U.S. District Judge Elizabeth U.S. Kovachovich postponed the proceedings after defense attorney Arnold Levine objected to portions of a presentence report containing statements from the victims.

McLain, 41, the last pitcher to win 30 games in a season, faces a maximum penalty of 75 years in prison and an $85,000 fine.

THE ACES

BOBBY WOLFF

"Man — a creature made at the end of the week's work when God was tired."

— Mark Twain.

A man too tired to think clearly loses today's vulnerable game. He yields to the temptation of ruffing a loser in dummy.

South wins the first club and leads a diamond to dummy's queen for a losing finesse. East returns a club to West, and West tempts South with another club lead.

If dummy ruffs, the hand goes up in smoke. Regardless of how South plays, the defenders must get two more tricks for down one.

An alert South sees that he has no chance to avoid two heart losers if dummy's diamonds are not established. And it does no good to establish diamonds unless South is able to draw the trumps ending in dummy.

When West leads the third round of clubs, South should discard a low heart from dummy. If West switches to hearts, South wins, cashes dummy's diamond ace and ruffs a diamond. Next come three rounds of trumps, ending in dummy, and South discards his two heart losers on dummy's good diamonds.

It's lucky to find the diamonds 3-2. However, a careless South would never realize that he had been dealt a lucky hand.
