Maneuvers caused Soyuz failure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Russia's Soyuz 16 space mission was ended prematurely last week because its pilots apparently performed incorrect rendezvous maneuvers with the Salyut space station, according to an American trade magazine.

Aviation Week and Space Technology said in its Sept. 2 issue that the urgency of the Soyuz 15 return was caused by limited electrical battery power in the spacecraft.

FEA blasted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., Monday charged federal energy officials have favored big oil companies by failing to draw up energy regulations, disregarding the law.

Proxmire said the Federal Energy Administration has "failed to justify its price regulations with facts and figures" and that crude oil have rise at least $8.4 billion annually without justification.

Judge declines further orders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr. today refused to order the manufacturer and distributor of a defective household trouble light to buy corrective advertising and said the public had been sufficiently alerted through the news media.

Hart also made permanent a court order which halted the sale and distribution of the product and which required stores to take back or replace lights when they are returned by consumers.

Talks start

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United Mine Workers union, fresh from a recent organizing victory in Harlan, Ky., opened negotiations today on a new contract with coal producers.

UMW president Arnold Miller said "we're hopeful" as he entered the Holy Adam House for the opening round of the negotiations shortly after 7:30 a.m. MDT.

Saigon forces fail to take town

SAIGON (UPI) — Government troops in bitter hand-to-hand combat tried and failed three times to free a Communist-held village 22 miles north of Saigon, the military command said today.

The South Vietnamese forces withdrew after each assault on the village, the last one just before dawn today after a battle that left 19 Communist soldiers killed, the command said.

Blerne dies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Joseph A. Blernie 63, founder of the Communications Workers of America, and its president for 31 years, died Monday of cancer.

Blerne stepped down on May 29 as president of the 575,000 member union, the AFL-CIO's 11th largest. The union reached its goal this year when a contract with the Bell System averted a strike by 425,000 workers. His wife, three daughters and 13 grandchildren survive.

US, E. Germany plan signing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States and East Germany will sign an agreement Wednesday extending diplomatic relations between the two countries after a year of negotiations.

Herbert Suess, a member of the diplomatic corps of the foreign ministry of the German Democratic Republic, and Hans Martin Geyer, head of the ministry's U.S. Department, returned to Washington this week for the signing, which was held up in July.

Reading may have prevented fire

SHOSHONE — If only someone had read the sign, a five-acre range fire three miles north of Twin Falls Saturday might have been prevented.

The fire, believed to be man-caused, was directly across from a "Prairie Range Fire" sign, according to Michael Green, public information officer for the Shoshone Bureau of Land Management office.

Gen. Abrams condition worsening

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the Army chief of staff whose condition has been deteriorating steadily since he was hospitalized more than two weeks ago, showed signs of severe heart strain today and hospital officials said his vital signs had weakened.

A spokesman at Walter Reed Army Medical Center said that Abrams was listed for the third straight day as "very seriously ill," which he described as "the most serious description of condition used by the Army."

FILER — Pre-fair bustle

at the Twin Falls County Fairgrounds peaks today, the last day before the fair opens to the public Wednesday.

Cattle are being scrubbed, trimmed and brushed. Displays are being judged, and merchants exhibits are being assembled.

Tom Shouse, secretary-manager of the fair, said today that the fair board "is shooting for a total attendance of 60,000 this year." He said, other years' attendance figures have come close, but have never hit the 60,000 mark. He said this year with more livestock people on hand for the five big cattle shows, plus visitors vacationing in the area, that attendance figure should be reached.

Shouse predicted that attendance Wednesday will be the smallest of the four-day event, "judging by other years' attendance figures." He said it would be hard to guess now whether Thursday, Twin Falls Day, or Friday-West End Day, will see the largest crowds. For many years, Twin Falls day drew the largest crowds, but more recently it has been surpassed by West End Day fair goers several times, Shouse said.

He said this year, Saturday grand finals day, should bring the greatest single day attendance of all with the fat stock sale, the afternoon horse show, Miss Rodeo, Idaho winner announcement during the rodeo performance and finals of the rodeo competition.

Today, open class judging included swine, poultry, sheep, home arts, produce and fruit and all 4-H club home economics and miscellaneous projects as well as dairy, beef and horses.

Judging in the animal department began at noon Monday and will be completed today. Three judges are examining exhibits in the department which grows each year.

New departments added in recent years are the livestock feeds judging, the junior vegetable gardeners and the junior flower gardeners, all in the produce building.

Kid's out riding eliminations will be at 7 p.m. tonight in the rodeo arena.

Shouse said merchants' exhibits must be completed by 9 p.m. tonight. Displays will be awarded to the merchant's display showing the most originality and for the best display of product on the last day of the fair. The fair board will make the awards.

Fair visitors are invited to come early each day to witness the American flag raising ceremony at 8 a.m. The flag is lowered at 5 p.m. The ceremonies are conducted by the American Legion Post. Shouse said this is the fair board's way of saying "ours is the greatest country in the world."

Horse judging will begin at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday in the show arena. Angus and junior Angus shows will be held in the beef barn at the same time.

Idaho bound

Nixon trial favored

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — A majority of Americans believes former President Nixon should be tried for possible criminal involvement in the Watergate affair, according to a Gallup poll released Monday.

Fifty-six per cent of those interviewed said they thought Nixon should be tried for possible criminal charges, compared to 27 per cent who said he should not and 7 per cent who had no opinion.

Democrats favored prosecution 70 per cent to 25 per cent and Independents 55-36. Republicans, on the other hand, were against a trial, 59 to 33 per cent.

In the survey, 1,500 persons were asked between Aug. 18 and Aug. 19. "Do you think Nixon should or should not be tried for possible criminal charges arising from Watergate?"

Hunt goes on

SMITH'S FERRY — Valley County Sheriff's officers continued to search the North Fork of the Payette River today for a missing Twin Falls couple whose automobile went into the river Friday afternoon.

Sheriff Donald Iversley said a trace of either J. E. Hill or his wife, Tina Hill, has been found. Hill's seeing-eye dog also is missing.

Sheriff's officers said the search probably will continue for several days, although the water is so swift in the area where the station wagon owned by the Hills was recovered that it is not likely they will find them.

TF death ruled accidental

TWIN FALLS — David Lynell Towns, 18, Twin Falls, died Sunday of what city police say they believe was accidental asphyxiation.

His body was found in his parked 1968 sedan on Crestview Drive early Sunday morning. Investigating officers said the motor of the vehicle was still running and there was a strong odor of carbon monoxide gas in the front seat of the vehicle.

Police said the vehicle was found to have a leaky muffler which the driver probably was not aware of prior to the incident. The young man was slumped over the steering wheel and officers believed he pulled the vehicle to the side of the street to sleep and was overcome by the carbon monoxide.

The vehicle was not in the vicinity of the youth's home.

County Coroner Cloyce Edwards said today the youth died of asphyxiation from carbon monoxide gas, autopsy results showed. He said the death has been ruled accidental.

Tough guards

PISTOL-packing guards hired by Evel Knievel chat after turning away visitors seeking to cross Twin Falls City rimland connecting Knievel's jump site and Shoshone Falls. City guard Vic Peterson, Boise, in white hat, said Monday a man with a shotgun would be stationed at the rim to keep people off city land. Later, city and county officials said Knievel's guards had no such authority.

Jump site guard powers on TF rim questioned

By RICHARD G. HIGH
Times-News managing editor

TWIN FALLS — Evel Knievel's armed guards have removed people from city property near Knievel's jump site and threatened to use guns to keep others away.

City and county officials said Monday Knievel's men legally cannot take such action.

Twin Falls Sheriff Paul Corder said he would take action to prevent the guards from operating on the city property and to warn them against using their weapons.

Vic Peterson, Boise, chief of jumpsite security for Intermountain Security, said he had been told by Knievel's promoters and Sheriff Corder to prevent access to city land lying along the canyon rim to the east of Knievel's jump site.

However, Corder said he had given no such instructions, and Peterson could not remember the name of the promoter who gave him the instructions. Later, a top Knievel aide acknowledged the guards had been ordered to remove people from the city land.

On Monday, Peterson personally prevented this writer from entering the city land, saying "You're not going in there. I've got a 38 that says you aren't."

(Related editorials, p. 4)

When asked what he would do if groups of people began walking along the city property to look at the jump site, Peterson said, "There's going to be a man up there with a shot gun to keep them out."

However Peterson said later he did not expect to shoot people. "I've never had to shoot anybody on a thing like this," he said. "I wouldn't need to."

Mike Gray, Twin Falls, coordinator for Knievel, said Monday the order had been given to Knievel's guards "to make sure nobody gets hurt." He said efforts to remove people there would be handled "as strongly as we can."

"We're not trying to sting anyone," Gray said.

Sooner RR brakeman still missing

MUSTANG, Okla. (UPI) — Reports of a stumbling man with a bloodied forehead on his face seen in miles from the Mustang "kreeper" of freight trains spurred new hopes today that a missing brakeman is alive.

A search of weeds at the site of the head-on train collision was called off today as a thick car full of liquefied petroleum gas burned itself out.

Chances continued to slip from the tank car today, and officials said there still was danger that tankers of jet fuel could explode.

Allyce Walker, 26, of Oklahoma City, a brakeman, has been missing since Sunday afternoon when his westbound Prisoner freight train slammed into an eastbound Frisco freight.

Wesley Baker, a longtime friend of Walker, said he saw the trainman stumble off from under a bridge in miles south of the crash site about noon Monday. Baker said the man had disappeared by the time he drove back to the bridge.

The man either fell into a road on the right side of his face and was slumped all over the place, Baker said.

Searchers were hampered by dense, waist-high brush and poor visibility caused by a heavy overcast. The search was abandoned after about four hours.

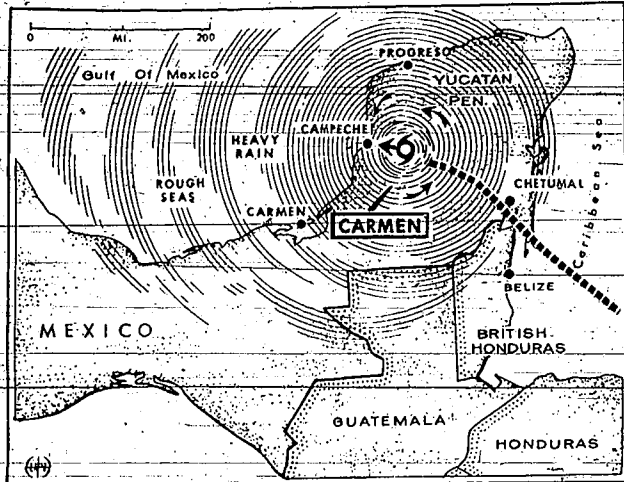

Authorities said footprints found in a ditch where the man was last seen, indicated he could not be traced and confused.

"He was just walking in circles," an official said.

Other witnesses who followed crewmen said Monday Walker jumped from the train before the collision.

Where Carmen batters Mexican peninsula

Weaker Carmen crosses Yucatan

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Hurricane Carmen roared northwest today with 100-mile-an-hour winds across Mexico's Yucatan peninsula jutting into the Gulf of Mexico but diminished as it neared the peninsula's west coast.

The Miami weather bureau put the eye of the hurricane at roughly 30 miles northeast of Campeche, Mexico, which is on the west coast of Yucatan, shortly before dawn today.

The Campeche airport remained closed as a precaution. Airport officials said winds had subsided and light rain was falling. However, Carmen was expected to intensify again as it moved out to sea over Campeche Bay.

A Miami weather bureau spokesman said the hurricane was moving west-northwest at nine miles an hour — a course that could put it south of Brownsville, Texas, in the next 2 1/2 days in the unlikely event that it maintained constant speed and direction.

The Mexican army went on a hurricane emergency alert, setting up mobile communications units, first aid groups and supply areas in five cities in the Yucatan, a 300-mile by 200-mile peninsula in southeastern Mexico.

The hurricane threatened to cause heavy damage to farmers on the height of the ripening season. Rice, fishing and tourism are the area's main industries.

Carmen lashed the east coast of the Yucatan Monday morning, hitting hardest at Chetumal, a port along the Caribbean coast.

The storm cut communications lines, set off flooding and caused extensive damage, officials said. Five persons were reported injured.

The Interior Ministry launched an emergency airlift of food, medicine and food from Mexico City to Chetumal. Officials restored partial telephone service, but not electricity, early this morning.

Weather forecasters predicted heavy rains in Mexico City today and torrential downpours along the nation's gulf coast. Heavy flooding was predicted in the coastal regions of Vera Cruz and Tabasco.

In Miami, Neil Frank, director of the U.S.-National Hurricane Center, classified the storm as four on a danger scale of one to five.

He said Carmen roared in from the Caribbean sweeping across the eastern Yucatan at 50 miles an hour, but slowed down to 10 miles an hour on approaching the peninsula's western Gulf of Mexico coast.

Yucatan's main port, Progreso, was closed, but smaller ports along the western coast remained open, authorities said.

The storm appeared headed for Campeche, with 20,000 inhabitants, and Carmen, with 45,000, authorities said.

It is the Central American colony of British Honduras, and then turned inland at Mexico's Chetumal Bay.

Turkish deaths postpone talks

By United Press International

This discovery of a mass grave of mangled bodies in a small Turkish Cypriot village has postponed peace talks on divided Cyprus and hardened the island's warring communities.

Turkish Cypriot leader Iftikhar Denktash said Monday of the "mass murder" of up to 85 persons in the village of Alaritha along the island's eastern coast.

Denktash said searchers uncovered 35 bullet-riddled bodies in the village and expected to uncover at least 50 more.

Turkish soldiers, wearing handkerchiefs over their faces, kept up digging for more bodies.

"The bodies are definitely Turkish Cypriots," Denktash said. "Their relatives are there now trying to identify them."

He said the killers wired the victims' wrists together and then opened fire on the helpless villagers. He said some of the dead were beheaded.

This added the final nail to a series of alleged massacres reported by both Greek and Turkish Cypriots since the Cyprus crisis broke out a month and a half ago.

Greek Cypriots outnumber Turkish residents 4:1 on the eastern-Mediterranean island of 700,000. The two communities have clashed frequently since independence from Britain in 1960.

A spokesman for Clerides issued a statement Monday saying, "The government condemns with abhorrence the reported crime regardless of which side is responsible for it."

Ford joins rite

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford files to Philadelphia Thursday to take part in the bicentennial reconvening of the Continental Congress of 1787.

The White House Monday said Ford will return to Washington after taking part in the ceremonial event, a prelude to the nation's 200th birthday celebrations.

Telethon produces $16 million

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon against muscular dystrophy received more than $16 million in pledges Monday when the 21st hour of continuous broadcasting concluded.

The nationally televised show originated from the Sahara Hotel-Spa Center on the Las Vegas Strip with segments from New York and Nashville. A total of 174 stations across the nation broadcast the telethon.

When the hour reached its final total, Lewis, who cracked with emotion, thanked all of those who helped in the year long production and sang "You'll Never Walk Alone."

"We might see $16 million in the bank. If we can build six research centers with $13 million, think what we can do with $16 million," said Lewis in the closing minutes of the show. It was referring to the $13.2 million collected last year, almost a million dollars more than was pledged on the telethon.

The $16,129,213 raised by the 1974 Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon against muscular dystrophy is the largest sum of money raised in a 21st hour period, in a single event, for humanitarian purposes.

Deserter's arrest said human error

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Customs Service said today it has ruled out disciplinary action against border guards who accepted U.S. Army deserter Ronald Anderson on Canadian soil.

A spokesman said the border agents who arrested Anderson on Aug. 30 acted out of "zeal for their duty."

"It was a human error," the spokesman said. "There will be no disciplinary action."

Anderson, 31, who deserted the border guards in Canada in 1967 because of his opposition to U.S. involvement in Vietnam, was arrested after he attempted to "cross into the United States" to visit his mother in Pasco, Wash. He was subsequently returned on a formal request received in Washington Friday from the Canadian government.

A customs official said the border guards identified Anderson as a deserter by checking his automobile license-plate number through the National Crime Information Center computer. Anderson then ran back across the border and was arrested "a few yards" inside Canada.

Question...

My husband was a patient in a Veterans Hospital; recently he was transferred to a nursing home. Will he still be entitled to veteran's death benefits if he should pass away there?

Answer...

It is not required that a veteran actually be a patient in a Veterans Hospital to be entitled to benefits payable to hospitalized veterans. The VA has established a domiciliary care program for veterans who do not require the daily attention of a general hospital. Under this program veterans are placed in licensed extended care facilities or nursing homes that occur to a veteran while he is a patient in one of these facilities. He continues to receive the same benefits as if he were in a Veterans Hospital as a death benefit allowance.

If a veteran resident in a domiciliary care facility should die while he is away from the facility a post-mortem leave of 72 hours or less he is entitled to benefits. He is not eligible for 72 hours or absent without leave for over 72 hours no transportation benefit is payable and under certain circumstances neither is the $250.00 benefit.

Evel must control his guard force

The most serious breach of law and order to date in connection with Evel Knievel's jump has come from Knievel's own guards. Those guards are supposed to be keeping order within the confines of Evel's jump site and adjacent camping areas. They have no business whatsoever outside that site.

What has gotten into these people? What is it that makes a hired guard wearing a gold guard badge and a pistol on his hip think he can begin issuing orders to people when he has no legal authority whatsoever to do so?

It is quite another thing, however, when Knievel's organization starts to think it can take the law into its own hands.

It is interesting that both Knievel's security chief and his Twin Falls coordinator, former city councilman Mike Gray, used identical words when questioned about the guards' threats along the rim. Both said, "I don't care whether it's legal or not, we're not going to let people go in there."

We strongly disagree. We do care whether actions by Evel Knievel's armed guard are legal.

National event or not, greatest show on earth or not, law and order must be maintained in Twin Falls County.

There is no place here for a 100-man private army occupying the canyon rim, attempting to mete out arbitrary directives as it sees fit.

This community is not about to become a banana republic, even for the great day of Evel's jump.

Safety first on rim strip

In the interest of public safety the city of Twin Falls temporarily should limit public access to a large piece of city land next to Evel Knievel's jump site.

The city owns a strip of land stretching continuously from Shoshone Falls to within about 100 yards of Evel's take-off point on the south side of the Snake River Canyon rim.

The city land makes a convenient route for people who might wish a closeup look at Evel's jump without paying $25 for an admission ticket. The view from city land could be as good as the best seats inside Evel's compound. And in the event the daredevil should fall into the canyon, the city land would provide a rim's-edge view denied people in Knievel's compound.

However, that is the problem. Imagine a large number of people packed into the city land. Evel drops into the canyon. Everyone wants to see what happened. The crowd pushes forward toward the rim.

The risk is extreme that somebody or even a large number of people would be pushed over the rim to their deaths.

Under the circumstances, the city could take steps to secure the rim, perhaps by sturdy fencing at high cost. Practically, however, it is now too late for such action.

A realistic course would be to close the city property for a day or two to eliminate the hazard.

Should the city decide to close the rim property, enforcement of its decision would be a simple matter. The only entrance to the city property is a narrow strip at the canyon's edge at the top of Shoshone Falls grade which could be sealed easily.

As an alternative, the city could leave the area open but strictly limit access to some reasonable number of people, perhaps 500 on a first-come first-served basis. A small number of people should be able to enjoy the view from city land without the undue danger posed by a huge mass of people pressing at the canyon.

Thought for today

A thought for the day: German philosopher Arthur Schopenhauer said "Hairs comes from the heart, contempt from the head, and neither is quite within our control."

Hanoi's new tactics paying off in S. Vietnam

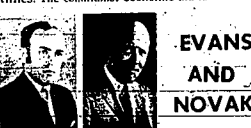

WASHINGTON — Although top strategists here still disagree on the communist timetable for the next offensive against South Vietnam, the political-military warfare now being waged by Hanoi's invaders is having devastating effects with new tactics.

Despite the success of these tactics, Congress is showing more reluctance to finance Saigon's defense, as witness the immense reduction in both military aid and economic aid requests from the Ford administration. When final action is completed, both will probably be slashed by close to 50 per cent.

The highly probable cutback in military aid, from $1.4 billion to around $700 million for the present fiscal year, means precisely what it implies — a 50 per cent decrease in the capabilities of South Vietnam's army.

What makes these threatened cutbacks so perilous is the steadily increasing aid to Hanoi from both China and the Soviet Union. Precise figures on this assistance from Peking and Moscow are beyond the capacity of American intelligence. But experts here know that 1974 economic aid is "far above" the level of 1973. That nonmilitary assistance from Peking and Moscow, if continued at present levels for the balance of the year, will exceed total American economic aid by at least two and possibly three times. The communist economic aid to Hanoi is now estimated at a 1.2 billion-a-year rate — three times the economic aid package approved on Aug. 13 by the Senate-Foreign Relations Committee. As for military help, U.S. officials believe that there is now enough ammunition in communist hands to sustain an offensive at the levels of the WASHINGTON — Those draft dodgers and deserters who consider themselves heroes a/d/r martyrs because the Vietnam War was "wrong" had better forget any hopes of returning to the United States, no matter what the specifics of the policy. President Ford adopts for dealing with the amnesty problem. Despite protests from such organizations as the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion, Ford remains opposed to unconditional amnesty. He has never suggested anything more than some arrangement whereby the offenders would be given a chance to "work their way back" home.

Ford couldn't have made that more plain than in his speech to the VFW convention. "I feel," he said, "but he believes there should be some middle ground between trying all the dodgers and deserters in criminal courts and giving them a general presidential pardon."

Yet, we have Robert F. J. Tolson, national commander of the American Legion, opposing the President's right to "pass a law to give somebody forgiveness for something he did when he violated the law."

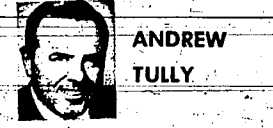

Balderdash, and Balderdash to the so-called "amnesty" bill. He says that the bill is a "deal" of hand. It is impossible to consider seriously the declaration by Harvey Sachs, a draft dodger who is now conductor of a symphony orchestra in Peterborough, Ontario. "The point is that it was the same deal was arranged. The people who avoided serving it," said Sachs.

Whether or not the war was wrong is not the point. The fact is that there is a law on the books that makes draft dodging and desertion from the armed forces a crime.

This may be a harsh law, but so is war harsh for those who fight it. Anyway, it is a law that still offers alternatives for those young men who have conscientious scruples against shooting an appointed enemy. Such objects can serve in the Medical Corps, or they can do time in various forms of public service — in hospitals, for example. A young man need not flee his country to avoid shooting other human beings. He can make a deal with his government to avoid becoming a criminal.

In Toronto, an Army deserter named Alan Kazmer says he has "nothing to atone for," and therefore could not agree to any kind of alternative service. He wants a full amnesty. "You can't negotiate with the Alan Kazmers, because they obviously believe violating the law is a prerogative that should carry no penalty."

Then we have George Mantor, a draft dodger from Minnesota who is in an executive training program in an Edmonton department store chain. Mantor says it is unrealistic to expect a young man like him to interrupt a career in Canada for a "nonproductive" period of public service work in the United States.

Wrong again. It is unrealistic, because a government by law and not by men is perhaps the most realistic fact of life in the American system.

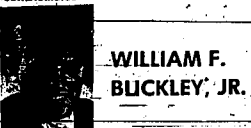

And yet, it is refreshing and warning to know that Ford has laid out a hand to all those who excited themselves in foreign countries rather than take their chances with their peers.

Whatever historians say about the Vietnam War, they can scarcely avoid using the term "statesmanship" when they take up the matter of Gerald R. Ford's opening the door to those offenders who want to come home.

Shrewd move succeeds

The obvious reply is that a) there is no such presumption; b) that the records of the Right Work Foundation amply demonstrate that individual workers initiate their complaints without any prodding whatever from their employers; and that, c) many of the cases taken by the foundation remain to be subjected to an employer-employee forum of reference.

So, said Raah to the judge, "I'll tell you what. The only way we can find out whether you're interested employees are putting up the money to force the RTW to publish the names of its contributors."

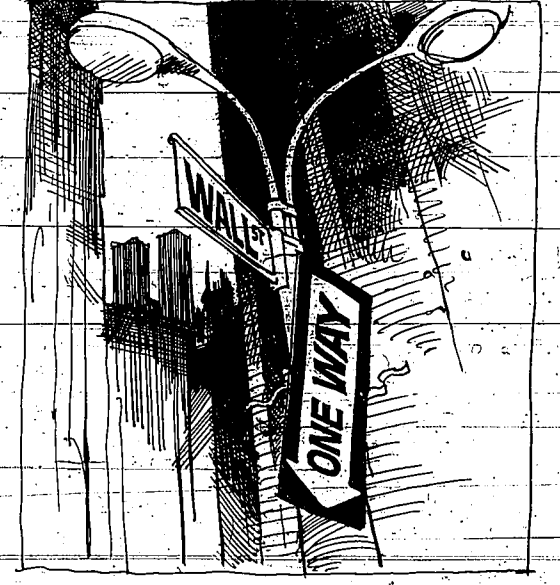

That was a shrewd maneuver, because it is superficially appealing. It is in fact an effort to intimidate donors to the RTW Foundation. Most vulnerable of these, of course, are labor union members themselves.

Many of the 65,000 people who have given money can do so with relative impunity. The labor union member who seeks relief cannot easily defend himself against the charge of conspiring with the enemy.

How much more easily intimidated are those who in opposing union abuses seek the anonymous shelter of a foundation. This court, seduced by Raah and his sophistries, has said — in so many words — yes.

For his pains, Raah at once again jeopardizes his reputation as a true friend of civil liberties. But on the other hand, he has been billing the unions as high as 700,000 claims, which goes to show what inflation has done to 30 pieces of silver.

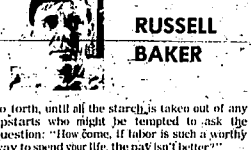

Switching tax loopholes would be good idea

(C) New York Times Service Early in life, most of us probably observe an unhappy relationship between labor and wealth — the heavier the labor, the less the wealth. The man doing heavy manual work makes less than the man who makes a machine work for him, and this man makes less than the man sitting at a desk. The really rich people, do no labor at all.

The economic reasons for dividing the money this way are clear enough. One, it has always been done that way, and it's too hard to change at this late date. But the puzzling question is why, since the money is parcelled out on this principle, young people are constantly being pummeled to take up a life of labor. In this country, labor is talked about as if it were something everybody ought to be dying for a chance to get into, like beach-front real estate. We are forever haranguing each other about the mobility of labor, the dignity of labor, the rewards of labor, honest labor, decent labor and

The answer they would get, of course, is, "Labor is its own reward." In brief, I undertake the joys of labor, joined sundry unions which sent regular mailings extolling my dignity and proclaiming dues increases, and eminently sneaked a swag out from beaver of hundred-pound flour sacks (that's labor) to journalist (that's labor) while denigrating my wealth in proportion to the decreasing my falseness.

The unions' desire to keep us persuaded of the splendor of labor is understandable. If everybody decided to be rich instead of working, the unions would go out of business. What is baffling is the government's attitude in all this. The government cannot afford to have a country made up entirely of rich people, because rich people pay so little in taxes that the government would quickly go bankrupt. Government needs labor to pay its upkeep. It seems to me government could make a case for a new tax system to rigged so salaried income, which is the kind of income labor gets, is taxed at higher rates than rich income.

It would be a simple matter to switch the loopholes. Rich income would be taxed at the high rate, salaried income new pays, and salaried workers would get the kind of loopholes the rich now have — that make it certain that somebody else will have to do most of the tax-paying. I don't expect the government to leap at this sensible suggestion. I expect it to reply that it cannot pay double for them, and anyhow, hasn't government already given us Labor Day?

Arab embargo cuts US output

(C) New York Times Service
NEW YORK. The output of the nation's economy fell in the first quarter of this year by $10 billion to $20 billion as a result of the Arab oil embargo, according to a report released by the Federal Energy Administration.

The report also found that the embargo reduced the civilian labor force by approximately 300,000 people, mostly in the automotive areas, and caused a sharp upturn in the consumer price index through increased energy prices.

"This paper is a preliminary attempt to analyze the impact that energy scarcity problems have upon the United States economy," the report stated.

"It shows that the embargo has potentially damaging effects on the economic system to fully employ labor and capital."

The report, prepared by the FEA's Office of Economic Impact, emphasized that it was "difficult to separate the effects of the embargo from events that would have occurred without the embargo."

One of the purposes was to "serve as a preliminary interpretive guide to the underlying causes and consequences of the oil embargo."

Discussing the "negative" effects of the embargo, the FEA report, in estimating the first-quarter decline in output of $10 billion to $20 billion, declined to draw conclusions regarding the implications of such a downturn in economic output.

Regarding employment, the report cited Department of Labor estimates that about 30 per cent of the industrial layoffs attributed to energy problems could be "traced to the decline in demand for automotive or recreational vehicles." About 15 per cent of the jobs lost were those of semiskilled workers, 5 per cent were clerical and 3 per cent were on the professional level.

The Department of Labor estimated that between November, 1973, and March, 1974, there were 150,000 to 225,000 jobs lost "as a direct result of employers' inability to acquire sufficient supplies of gasoline, principally in gasoline stations and pipelines."

"In addition, a decline of approximately 310,000 jobs occurred indirectly in industries whose products or processes were subject to reduced demand from either real or anticipated fuel shortages," the report stated, such as the auto and automotive parts.

Throughout the embargo, the FEA report continued, the Middle West accounted for approximately two-thirds of all energy-related unemployment, of which Michigan accounted for upwards of 70 per cent.

The report also touched on the loss of state and federal gasoline taxes. Some states use these tax revenues for road maintenance and education purposes. The Department of Transportation data showed an 8.3 per cent decrease in gallons sold in February, 1974, as compared to February, 1973, for 17 reporting states.

The report listed a conservative estimate of $700 million in gasoline tax losses to the states because of a decline in gasoline consumption.

2 ask for credit rating

By BILL LAZARUS
Times Staff Writer
BOCA RATON. At least two persons reportedly asked Mel Morgan, Democratic party state treasurer, for a report on Republican Congressman Hansen's credit rating.

A Hansen campaigner, who asked not to be identified, said Monday Hansen originally obtained his credit rating "from a prominent Democrat" just returned from Washington, Aug. 24.

The Democrat specified two persons who asked Morgan for the credit rating information.

"He (the Democrat) did it out of some indignation because he mentioned that he didn't want to have anything to do with this effort to discredit Hansen. In fact, he used stronger words than that," the Republican campaigner said. But he would not identify either the prominent Democrat or the persons asking Morgan for the credit rating.

Morgan admitted last week that he did obtain a copy of Hansen's credit rating "as a Democrat and as a concerned citizen." But he said he did not distribute the report.

acquiring such confidential information for reasons other than "business" purposes. Penalties for obtaining it willfully "under false pretenses" are up to a year in prison and $5,000 fine.

Hansen confirmed the Republican source's statements. But he also would not identify the Democratic source or the persons who reportedly received copies of the credit information.

He said he had promised not to divulge the name of the Democrat, revealing the names of the persons who apparently received the report.

Public hearing slated Sept. 10

TWIN FALLS — Residents of the Twin Falls Highway District are being urged to attend a public hearing, Sept. 10 at 8 p.m. in the city hall to discuss detachment of a portion of the highway district.

Keith Anderson, engineer for the Twin Falls District, said it is important to determine the district understand the request for detachment.

Hazard following the hearing it will be the responsibility of the Twin Falls County commissioners to determine if there is reasonable interest in detachment to fall an election. If so, he said, they will call an election for voters of the Twin Falls district only.

If this election passes, he said, two courses of action can follow. The commissioners can annex the area to the Buhl Highway District or they can call an election there to determine if annexation is favored by the Buhl district taxpayers.

Anderson said the area involved is in the southwest part of the district and includes the new farm areas, Twin Falls Highway District has provided about $1 million in cost in the past 10 to 12 years, he said.

About $1.25 million in assessed valuation is represented by the area, he said. In addition, to utility valuations for power, gas and water, there are located in part of the area in question.

Charles Johnson of the Blue Lakes Inn told police someone entered the restaurant of the inn and left without paying for their meal. The food was followed outside but ran to a parked vehicle and drove away before he could be stopped.

The vehicle had a Twin Falls County license number, Johnson said.

Former astronaut part of coverage

TWIN FALLS — Former astronaut James Lovell will act as a special commentator for the closed-circuit telecast of Evel Knievel's Sept. 8 Canyon jump.

David Frost will join Lovell as host for the jump coverage from the launch site at Twin Falls.

Lovell, with Frank Borman and William Anders, was on the first manned voyage to the moon, serving as pilot of the Apollo 8 flight in December, 1968.

Lovell held the record for longest time in space, 715 hours and 5 minutes, until surpassed by the recent Skylab flight. In addition, he served as backup spacecraft commander on Apollo 13.

Prior to his Apollo missions, Lovell participated in missions for the Gemini program. A Houston resident, Lovell retired from the Navy to become a senior vice president in a Houston business, the Bay Houston Towing Company.

Steer ride finals set

FILER — The Coca Cola Kids Steer Riding Finals will be held during the Twin Falls County rodeo Sept. 6 through 7.

Local steer riding contests for youngsters in the Magic Valley area will be conducted the first two days of the rodeo. Any youngster between the ages of 12 and 15 may enter by calling Harold or Janette Peterson at 733-5999 or 326-4226.

Friday and Saturday the steer riding finals will be held. Competitors from throughout southern Idaho will try for the championship and the trophy saddles awarded to the top two placers.

Those competing in the finals will be hometown steer riding winners.

The audience will be watching these 80 pound youngsters trying to hand on to an 800 pound steer for 5 seconds in some exciting competition.

The Golden State Rodeo Co. and Coca Cola-USA have been sponsoring the local steer riding contest all summer.

Thefts probed

TWIN FALLS — Two reports of thefts were being investigated by Twin Falls city police.

Lamar Brown, Twin Falls, told officers someone entered her parked automobile while it was in the alley parking lot and took a leather purse from beneath the front seat. It contained a wedding ring and a small amount of cash, she said. She estimated the loss at $400.

Steve Stroberg, 356 Jackson St., told officers someone entered his home Monday and payment on the toilets, according to Swenson, but he would not disclose the amount of the payment.

Swenson said he had to pay over $100,000 insurance for the theft of the toilets at the site.

Whatever the outcome, when the jump is over next Sunday, Swenson will have 200 toilets on his hands.

Toilet problem

TWIN FALLS — What do you do with 200 chemical toilets?

O.K. Swenson, Twin Falls, who contracted with Evel Knievel for 200 single-hole chemical-type toilets to be delivered at a site, River Canyon, the jump site, said Saturday he didn't know what he would do with them after the jump.

Swenson said he thought he might sell them, he was considering keeping all 200 to rent to building sites and large gatherings — which are now required by federal law to supply sanitary facilities.

A Jackpot, a New Casino wants to buy four of the portable toilets for the Jackpot Golf course but no formal negotiations have been made.

Swenson says Otis Engstrom and Elbert LeBrie, both Buhl, constructed the toilets in about three weeks time and all are now installed and operating at the site.

Swenson was going to go ahead Aug. 5 to build and install the toilets by Knievel representatives but no firm contract was ever made, he said. Knievel made a down

Inflation hits car operation

DETROIT (UPI) — Inflation has pushed up the cost of owning and operating a car to 24 cents a mile for the average guy or gal who drives a mid-sized car for three years.

In the same span, the cost per mile drops to 19 cents. Owners of standard-size models pay nearly 20 cents a mile.

That comes to about $2,300 a year for the mid-sized car owner, not including the money he needed to buy the car. For the subcompact owner, the yearly cost is $1,900 and $2,900 for the big car owner.

The figures, released today by the Hertz Corp.'s Car Leasing Division, showed the tremendous effect inflation is having on motorists.

Gasoline prices alone have jumped from an average 35 cents a gallon last summer to 55 cents a gallon now.

Hertz recently inaugurated a computer analysis service for its car fleet customers and said it does not have comparable figures for previous years.

However, the American Automobile Association last year estimated mid-sized cars cost 14.3 cents a mile to operate, small cars 12.4 cents and standard models 16.5 cents.

The figures directly comparable because AAA did not take into account about $230 a year, or 2.3 cents a mile at the 10,000-mile a year level, which the average car buyer pays in interest on a car loan.

Hertz said the driver who uses his car more than the 10,000-mile average benefits from a lower per-mile operating cost.

Those expenses include gasoline, oil, service, parts, repairs, licenses and insurance costs; and interest and depreciation rates.

The owner of a mid-sized car such as a Ford Torino, Chevrolet Chevelle or Plymouth Satellite who pays 24 cents a mile for 10,000 miles a year would pay 18.4 cents if he drives 15,000 miles.

At 25,000 miles a year, the operating costs drop to 14 cents a mile.

Standard-size car costs at the 15,000-mile rate were about 21 cents a mile and just over 17 cents at 25,000 miles a year.

For a subcompact at 15,000 miles, the cost was about 14 cents per mile and this dropped to 11 cents at the 25,000-mile level.

Indian officials ask food deal

(c) New York Times Service NEW DELHI — Indian officials are privately asking the United States for emergency shipments of food.

Although a series of requests has been made in New Delhi and Washington, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi has, by all accounts, been reluctant to ask formally for a food deal or "soft" loan from the United States. Instead, Indian officials are urging the United States to offer help to India.

The delivery of the curragut talks has stirred confusion among Indian officials because the New Delhi government has privately asked for help but at the same time has publicly denied doing so. It is known, however, that the Indian embassy in Washington has asked the United States for a million tons of food on a concessional terms.

The United States embassy has told the station department in recent weeks that the food situation in India is a matter of national security, "desperate" and that widespread hunger and even famine threatened.

the nation. The key reasons for the food crisis here are a poor monsoon season, expected to seriously damage the autumn crop, and the increase in oil prices by Arab countries, which has led to critical shortages of fertilizer.

With oil at a decent price, India would have enough fertilizer and they would not have been in this critical situation, an agriculture expert said Monday.

Last year's autumn crop totaled 67 million tons of food grain. This year's crop is expected to total 60 to 61 million tons. In the meantime, India's population has increased by 14 million.

Some experts predict that over-all production in the 1974-75 agriculture year, ending next June, is likely to reach 10 million tons, or 10 million tons below the government's target.

Converters may cause pollution

RALPHIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Catalytic converters, required on all 1975 cars to reduce exhaust fumes, may cause more air pollution problems than they cure, according to Environmental Protection Agency scientists.

The converters emit a mist of sulfuric acid in quantities that could pose health problems in high-density traffic areas, the scientists said.

"I don't think we should allow catalytic converters until we have enough information to be sure we are not taking chances with anyone's health," scientist John Moran said in an interview.

Moran heads a team of scientist working at the EPA's environmental research facility at nearby Research Triangle Park, N.C.

Despite the findings of the team, EPA Administrator Russell Train said the converters will be permitted until the EPA conducts accelerated research to determine the health hazards posed by the new pollutants and to find other ways to control emissions.

Moran said EPA scientists have been worried for more than a year that the catalytic converters, while reducing dangerous hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide emissions, will cause other air pollution problems.

But until recently, EPA warnings had centered on two substances — palladium and platinum — which are released as small metal particles by the converters.

"We now have enough information to say that while the metals will not cause problems, the amount of sulfuric acid mist emitted will be high enough in cities where there is heavy vehicular travel to cause adverse health effects from two to six years," Moran said.

Dr. Gary J. Love of EPA's Human Studies Division said sulfuric acid inhaled in sufficient amounts can aggravate heart and lung diseases.

The effect, Love said, could be especially hard on elderly persons and children with allergic conditions such as asthma. It could also increase the number of lower respiratory diseases in children and the incidence of chronic bronchitis, Love said.

"I feel the government has a responsibility to be sure that what is done in emissions control will be a benefit to the public health and I'm not sure in this case it will be," said Moran. "The information we now have points in just the opposite direction."

Bitter protests heard

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (UPI) — Thousands of workers and a police force jammed Guadalajara's largest plaza today in bitter protest over the leftist guerrilla kidnapping of the aged father-in-law of Mexico's president.

Police said they had no clues in the abduction and President Luis Echeverria stood by his policy of "no deals" with terrorists.

He said the government would "never talk with criminals" — even if he himself should be kidnapped.

The guerrillas have demanded $1.6 million and the release of 10 political prisoners for the life of Jose Guadalupe Hernandez, 81, kidnaped at a gunpoint last Wednesday as he rode in his limousine through a city slum.

A crowd of more than 10,000 filled Guadalajara's plaza to hear labor leaders' repudiate the abduction of Zuno, a political power in Mexico for over half a century.

Police continued their massive manhunt for seven suspects. Many authorities said they expected a quick solution to the crime, but one official frankly admitted, "We have no clues."

Zuno, a former governor of Jalisco state and strong power in the country since the Mexican Revolution of 1910, suffers from diabetes and a weakened heart.

As the case entered its seventh day, Zuno's family physician warned that the ailing statesman might not survive the ordeal. Fears also increased the guerrillas may have killed Zuno.

A communique from the "People's Armed Revolutionary Forces" was made public late Friday night. The decline for the guerrilla demands has passed.

Guadalajara, Mexico's second largest city, has been plagued with more than a dozen kidnappings of business and political leaders in the past two years.

In May, 1973 U.S. Consul Terence Lounsbury was abducted at gunpoint but later released in exchange for 30 political prisoners who were flown to Cuba. After the kidnapping Echeverria said there would be no negotiations with terrorists.

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (UPI) — Two octogenarians who renewed a youthful romance 68 years later can't agree on what to name their first child.

Arthur Fortner, 88, and Letha McReynolds, 82, last year renewed the courtship he broke off 68 years ago because he wanted to see the world.

The couple was to be wed here today. Fortner says the only dispute they've had is over what to name their first child.

Planners reject plea to reduce oil prices

VIENNA (UPI) — Economic planners for the world's major oil-producing nations have turned down an international plea for reduced petroleum prices.

The economic advisory commission to the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries said today it would recommend freezing crude oil prices at $11.35 a barrel until the end of 1974.

The organization's 12 member states import 85 per cent of world oil products. Their decision last year to quadruple crude oil prices roiled economies around the globe.

Advisory officials said they expected to finalize their price-freeze recommendations today after six days of discussions at the organization's Vienna headquarters.

The officials predicted a call for a general cutback in crude oil production to eliminate a current surplus — estimated at 2 million barrels a day — which has threatened to push prices down.

The commission's proposals will be presented to oil ministers of the member states at a Sept. 12 meeting in Vienna to decide crude oil prices for the final quarter of 1974.

The member states are Algeria, Abu Dhabi, Ecuador, Indonesia, Iran, Kuwait, Libya, Nigeria, Qatar, Saudi Arabia and Venezuela. Gabon is an associate member.

The officials also said the economic commission, composed of financial experts from the organization's member states, would recommend an increase in oil company royalties to compensate for inflation.

Minister Carmelo Lauria said in a recent interview the oil exporting nations were suffering from "economic indigestion" because of the sudden influx of wealth due to high petroleum prices.

Oil industry officials said the exporters now realized that oil under ground was worth more in the long run than dollars in the bank.

Abu Dhabi, Iran and Saudi Arabia already have reduced exports. "Housewives aren't driving as much, more people have small cars," one oil company official said.

The officials also said the economic commission, composed of financial experts from the organization's member states, would recommend an increase in oil company royalties to compensate for inflation.

US-French oil rig threatened

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnam has threatened to use warships to tear down a U.S.-French oil rig erected in disputed waters of the Gulf of Thailand, diplomatic sources said today.

The South Vietnamese Foreign Ministry delivered a tough diplomatic note to the Cambodian Embassy in Saigon last week, ordering removal of the rig by midnight Sept. 12, the source said.

The drilling equipment, owned by a consortium made up of America's Exxon Corp. and France's ELF Co., was erected this summer in the gulf near a barren island 85 miles south of — the Cambodian seaport of Ream.

To back-up the threat, South Vietnam recently moved a small fleet of naval vessels, including a destroyer escort armed with three-inch guns to the big naval base at Phu Quoc Island, 71 miles east of Wal Island.

The consortium — 65 per cent owned by ELF and 35 per cent by Exxon — has been conducting drilling operations around Wal, an uninhabited island, for several weeks, the sources said.

Oil industry maps show Wal in "disputed" territory. The sources said Saigon was caught unawares when the Cambodian government let the ELF-Exxon rig begin drilling.

Saligon and Phnom Penh have traded dozens of diplomatic notes over the ownership of a wide swath of Gulf of Thailand islands.

Girl scales Mt. Hood

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — A 5-year-old girl scaled Oregon's majestic Mt. Hood during the holiday weekend and printed her name on the roster sheet at the 11,235-foot summit.

The feat may have made little Pentecost White the smallest mountain climbing champ of the world.

"If so, she'd be taking the title from her sister, Samantha, who climbed Mt. Kilimanjaro in Africa last year at the age of eight.

The two girls — made — the climbs with their parents, Air Force Sgt. William White and his wife, Michael Jane.

"Wow," Pentecost exclaimed Sunday when she reached the peak with her sister and parents. She then printed her name in a ledger book kept in a metal case, joining thousands of other hardy mountain climbers who have made the same trek.

Questions, answers about pension reform bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Questions and answers regarding the pension reform bill signed by President Ford Monday:

Q: Who is affected?
A: Mainly affected are 30 million to 35 million workers now employed by companies with private pension plans. Government and church plans are not affected.

Q: Are wage-earners the only ones affected?
A: No. Self-employed persons such as doctors, lawyers and farmers get big tax breaks if they have their own individual retirement plan. They may put aside 15 per cent of earnings up to $7,500 a year tax-free, compared with 10 per cent and $2,500 now.

Q: Does the employer now have to give a pension?
A: No. Nothing in the bill forces any employer to do that.

Q: Does it force employers to increase the amount of pension payments?
A: No. The bill does not deal with the level of benefits.

Q: What, then, is the purpose of the bill?
A: To be certain that promised pensions are actually paid at retirement age, and to set minimum government standards for pension plans. It covers funding, management and a variety of other things in this complicated field.

Q: What is vesting?
A: A guarantee that enough money has been set aside to pay your pension at retirement age, and that your benefits cannot be forfeited even if you are fired or your company goes down.

Q: Why is vesting an issue?
A: Because many employers have impossible vesting requirements which can leave a worker without a pension if, for instance, he is laid off just a month before retirement age, even if he has worked under the pension plan for many years.

Q: What does the bill do about vesting?
A: It sets up minimum vesting standards. Employers must choose one of three alternatives—minimum standards for the length of time a worker must work under a pension plan before he is vested partially or fully. The alternatives are: (1) 25 per cent vesting after five years; (2) 100 per cent vesting immediately after 10 years; or (3) the "rule of 45," in which 50 per cent vesting comes after a worker's age and years of service add up to 45. Even under the rule of 45, a worker can work no longer than 10 years before he must be 50 per cent vested anyway.

Q: How soon must I be included in the pension plan, so that my working time counts toward vesting?
A: After age 25 or one year of service, whichever is later. There are some exceptions, however. If you join the company within five years of retirement age, your company is not required to include you in the plan. If you join before age 25, your employer must give you up to three years credit for prior service after you reach 25. Also, an employer can wait three years after age 25 to include you in the plan if vesting is then immediate.

Q: What happens if I am laid off or quit and later return to the same company? Do I lose benefits?
A: The only way you could lose benefits in this situation is if you are not vested when you left and you remain away from the company longer than you were originally employed. For example, if you work three years, quit for two years and then come back, the company would have to give you those three years of credit. If you are vested, it doesn't matter how long the absence is.

Q: What about money I have personally contributed to a pension plan?
A: While you have no control over employer money, you do have a right to withdraw your own contributions when you quit. You lose no vested rights with the company if you are at least 50 per cent vested and you have the right to "buy back" any credits you may have lost if you return to the plan.

Q: Suppose I change jobs frequently and never become vested in any one plan?
A: Sorry, you lose. Unless you have a series of generous employers who will allow fund transfers, you are one of those for whom this bill does nothing.

Q: The bill also does nothing for an employee whose company doesn't have a pension plan. Right?
A: For the most part, that is correct. However, for the first time, such employees can set up their own individual retirement accounts, setting aside 15 per cent of salary to a maximum of $1,500 each year, tax-free.

Q: What if I quit one company with a pension plan and go to work for another company with a pension plan? Can I transfer my years of credit to the new employer and get a new pension?
A: As a practical matter, probably not. The bill allows an employer and an employee to mutually agree to transfer pension funds built up by the first employer, but most employers probably wouldn't do so.

Q: What guarantee do I have that pension benefits will be actually waiting for me when I retire?
A: The government requires your company to have enough money in the pension plan to pay all current liabilities, and it must build up enough money over a 30 to 40-year period to pay your pension when you retire. Government-approved auditors and actuaries will check to see certain trust requirements are met, and companies will be fined 5 per cent of the deficiency if they are not. If the deficiency pension plan and actuary will check to see certain trust requirements are met, and companies will be fined 5 per cent of the deficiency if they are not. If the deficiency pension plan and actuary will check to see certain trust requirements are met, and companies will be fined 5 per cent of the deficiency if they are not.

assess to make up its loss.

Q: Are there any new rules for the people who manage my pension fund? Do I have any say in how it is managed?
A: Yes. There are new rules of conduct to prevent self-dealing, conflict of interest and other fraud in the management of pension funds. Employees have the right to enforce these rules, which carry strict criminal penalties.

Q: But how will I know whether the fund is being mismanaged?
A: You are entitled under this bill to a full disclosure of all the finances and dealings of the pension fund. You are also entitled to a full and simple explanation of your pension plan and its benefits.

Q: What happens to my pension rights if I die?
A: If you die before retirement age, they are simply lost. If you die after you retire, your surviving spouse is entitled to at least 50 per cent of the benefits you were receiving, as an annuity.

Q: How will I know what benefits I am entitled to when I retire?

A: All employees are required to report to the Social Security Administration the vested benefits of all employers when they leave a company or retire. When you then apply for Social Security benefits, you will receive a complete list of all the pensions you are entitled to.

Police enforce calm in Newark

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — Police with shotguns and automatic weapons enforced an uneasy calm today after street violence including sporadic fires set with molotov cocktails broke out for the second night in a Puerto Rican section.

Mayor Kenneth Gibson called the situation critical and appealed to citizens to stay off the streets.

At least 24 persons were hurt and 15 arrested Monday night. This morning in disorders touched off by complaints about police tactics at a Sunday fiesta in Branch Brook Park, that erupted into a rock-and-bottle throwing confrontation.

The 1,500-man police force was put on special 12-hour shifts Monday after windows were smashed at City Hall, while they mowed met inside with Puerto Rican leaders.

At least 400 police officers remained on the streets, some in riot gear.

Gibson conferred with police leaders in the early morning hours but stopped short of proclaiming a formal curfew.

Police cars equipped with loudspeakers cruised the downtown streets, broadcasting the mayor's appeal to get off the streets and stay indoors until further notice.

Although police said there were no reports of shooting connected with the disorders, a hospital reported treating a man for a minor gunshot wound.

During the afternoon City Hall disturbance, and again later at night police blocked off Broad Street, Newark's main thoroughfare. City Hall and police headquarters were heavily guarded.

Police said they confiscated dozens of firearms from cars they stopped in the street.

In one instance, a policeman said, a car carrying seven youths turned out to have 31 small beer bottles stuffed with paper and filled with what appeared to be gasoline hidden under the back seat.

"They were coming from one area where firebombs had been thrown and were heading for another section of town where firebombing had occurred," he said.

At least one building was gutted by fire when a molotov cocktail was tossed from the project roof. Observers said it was apparently aimed at police.

A police spokesman said more than 100 windows in many homes were broken along Broad Street. Looting was most intense on Seventh Avenue, he said, where protective iron gates were ripped down from storefronts.

Lloyd's bank loss stirs new worries

LONDON (UPI) — Europe's financial jitters increased today with the disclosure that the giant Lloyds Bank of Britain lost nearly $20 million because of irregular foreign exchange dealings at its branch in Lugano, Switzerland.

London newspapers reported shock in the city's financial community at the announcement by Lloyds of the $79.2 million loss, the biggest in Swiss banking history.

Lloyds said Monday it had suspended the manager and a foreign exchange dealer at the bank, the smallest of its three Swiss branches, and they could face criminal investigation.

A chance remark during a telephone conversation to a Lloyds executive in London about 2 1/2 weeks ago led to the discovery that some employees apparently speculated in currencies in hopes of making money but lost heavily when their value fell, bank sources said.

Lloyds, one of London's Big Four banks, has no connection with Lloyd's of London, the insurance underwriters.

The bank's statement said an investigation of the Lugano operations uncovered the dealings and that the losses would be covered by Lloyds Bank International Ltd., the foreign arm of the bank group.

Lloyds said the public might be misled by newspaper headlines and uncertainties.

Although the loss was large, the bank said, it would have no effect on depositors or Lloyds operations.

The Lloyds group profit before tax for the first six months of this year was $186.7 million, and the bank's capital and reserves are more than $1,252 billion.

All foreign exchange dealings by the Lugano branch have been suspended and auditors are investigating on behalf of Lloyds Bank International and Swiss banking authorities, bank sources said.

The figure of a $79.2 million loss was arrived at before taking into account possible British tax savings which officials said could cut the loss to about $40.8 million.

Goulash fuels jail rebellion

BONN (UPI) — Because they were served Hungarian goulash for Sunday dinner, 26 of the 28 inmates in the Bonn jail set fire to their mattresses and smashed furniture in their cells, causing an estimated $2,500 damage.

The prison administration said Monday the violence began when prisoners were served the magyar stew instead of traditional roast pork.

"They complained that the goulash was not tasty enough and so the trouble started," an administration spokesman said.

Sculptor places Nikita memorial

MOSCOW (UPI) — A dozen years ago, Nikita Khrushchev said a donkey could create better works of art than sculptor Ernest Nelzvestny.

On Monday, workmen erected a bronze bust by Nelzvestny of Khrushchev's grave—the only monument to the late premier in the Soviet Union.

Nelzvestny, 49, stood by with Khrushchev's son, Sergei, 39, an electrical engineer, as the workmen put up the black and white tombstone and then rested the bronze bust on top.

"Yes, it's quite good," Sergei said as he helped line up the bust in the center of the eighteen-high tombstone.

Raised letters on the monument's bronze base bore the inscription: "Nikita Sergeevich Khrushchev 1894-1971."

The monument was put in place for the third anniversary of Khrushchev's Sept. 11, 1971, death at the age of 77. A small family ceremony was planned on the anniversary to dedicate the memorial.

Shooting wounds 3

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Members of a motorcycle gang fired up to 40 shots at police and members of three black families attending a barbecue Monday night at an east side home, police said today.

Three persons were treated at Mt. Sinai Hospital for gunshot wounds and were later released.

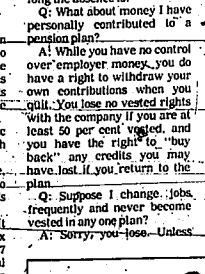

Authorities said 14 members of the gang, including several who had been at a café nearby, were arrested.

Detectives said the shooting began shortly after an incident at the café when a man identified as Andrew Bolden, 27, of Cleveland, came into the café to buy some beer for the barbecue when he saw a sign above the bar containing several racial slurs.

Bolden told police he ripped down the sign and threw it at the bartender who Bolden said then made several telephone calls. Bolden added that he then telephoned his brother, Robert, of East Cleveland, and a friend, James Howell of Cleveland, police said.

When authorities arrived at the scene of the barbecue they found several firearms, none of which had been fired. But before all 18 policemen had left, someone from a house adjoining the bar opened fire, police said.

Solon asks aid slash

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., said Monday the amount of foreign aid is "asinine" and should be cut in an effort to ease inflation.

Eagleton said former President Richard Nixon's recommended foreign aid budget was $4.3 billion.

"We have so many foreign aid programs it is difficult to total them up," he said, "this is asinine. Foreign aid should be slashed."

In fact, the Senate has already voted this year for a $10 billion cut, and I believe with diligent effort, it could be achieved," he said.

Hal would have to discard first one or discard would give Charley the rest of the tricks. Why did Charley bother to ask? Because if East held the queen of clubs or four hearts, the king or queen the squeeze would not develop.

There is a rubber bridge hand played at the old Knickerbocker Club long after it had given up what for contract.

The late P. Hal Sims, one of the all-time greats, pushed his high diamonds and led a trump. Charles Lochridge, another all-time great who sat South, when the trick spread his hand and asked, "I make it, don't I?"

Hal folded his cards and said, "Yes, you do." But East wanted to know why Charley didn't have to lose a club trick.

Charley's claim was perfectly legal since he did not intend to take any finesse. His plan was to cash his ace.

Enjoys Books

'Read to Me' program slated

TWIN FALLS — On Tuesday another "Read To Me" program begins at the Twin Falls Public Library, designed for small children and their parents.

The Read To Me Club meets mornings from 10 to 11 a.m. each Tuesday through the first week in October. The five-week program is designed to help parents and children in selecting the best and most suitable reading material and to present to the children in the best possible way.

Children four and five years of age benefit the most from such a program, library officials say. Each class session will include book lists, talks and a variety of presentation methods. Two new concepts are being included in this year's program.

These include use of "wordless books" in preparing the young child for reading, and the use of literature to promote social sensitivity and fill individual needs of the child.

Interested parents should come to the Children's Room Tuesday for the first session and enrollment.

Research upheld

CHICAGO (UPI)—No legal restrictions should be placed on the use of aborted human fetuses in research work, according to an editorial in the current edition of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The editorial notes that legislation dealing with such research is before Congress and that the National Institute of Health also is formulating regulations on the matter.

"Although we are unalterably opposed to wanton desecration as opposed to decent disposal of human remains, including those of fetuses, we urge that physicians not be forced to cease studying such remains in a responsible and proper manner," the editorial said.

TALKING THROUGH YOUR HAT

By Mary Sue Miller
More heads wear hats. More hats! The feminine set has rediscovered—the long-lost truths about millinery mystique. How a hat provides flattery for your face, a finish for your fashions, a y-o-u touch. How, through your hat, you make a strong personal statement.

This season's crop of millinery goes all out for the individual cause. Shapes cater to the movement in clothes and to facial structures: Felt fedoras, with an all-season flair, reflect popular treatments with a smaller brim, with a soft, lower crown, and understated banding or quill trim. Another grouping features hats that are easy to put on, wear and pack. Included here are jersey turbans, with matching scarves, fold-away felts, berets and knit caps. For moments when you wish to make a splash, designers have created large felt hats pure of line—nothing brash. Veils, jeweled banding, a clutch of feathers subtly bespeak the hat's purpose. And yours!

Colors have a new sophistication, trending toward the neutral as always happens in eras of more elegant fashion. And this makes for beautiful blends and contrasts with the shades on fashion's pallet.

P.S. This, the first shopping day in September, is the day the me thinks to hat yours!

BEAUTY KNOWS NO AGE
Some women age before their time; some retain their youthful beauty and charm. Why? The secrets of non-stop attractiveness are revealed in BEAUTY KNOWS NO AGE. Advice covers ways to a youthful figure, skin and hair; to flattering makeup, hairstyles and fashions. For your copy write to Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin.

Open-house planned to meet director

TWIN FALLS — An open house is being planned for later this month at the YMCA to introduce Karen Prince, newly appointed executive director.

Mrs. Prince has been a youth service worker with the Health and Welfare Department for three years. She worked in the Blackfoot area before transferring to Twin Falls last March.

She is a graduate of Idaho State University in 1971 and has a B.A. degree in sociology. She and her husband, Tim Prince, who works with HAW Youth Services in Twin Falls, reside in Filer.

Mrs. Prince says she has a number of plans for introducing more cultural and fun programs to YMCA members. For the present the existing schedule will be maintained, but several new activities and programs will be introduced this winter.

TF fair set Wednesday

Flower entries must arrive in place by 9 a.m. Wednesday for judging at 10 a.m.

Shouse said persons who are interested in fine horses are invited to attend the free dressing clinic which will be presented at 10 a.m. Wednesday by Albert Eric Ostermaler, trainer of the famous Lippizan horses.

Two other cattle shows to be held the first day of the fair are the Charolais and Shorthorn shows. Both are scheduled for the afternoon and both include junior shows.

A special youth quarter horse performance show is scheduled to begin at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the rodeo arena. It will continue until 5 p.m.

The Roy Carmack Shows is setting up 25 sides this year, featuring two new ones, "Hurricane" and "Roundup." According to officials, both are "guaranteed to thrill riders."

"Lumberjacks" is a new game on the midway this year designed to test the skills of participants.

Dogs entered in the annual dog show were judged this afternoon and will be displayed, with their ribbons, during the fair in the doghouse building.

Judging of art entries has been completed, and Shouse said fairgoers are sure to enjoy the display of fine local art in the art building.

Many church and civic organizations have set up booths to serve fair goers foods traditionally associated with county fairs, such as hot hamburgers, hot dogs, chili and homemade pie!

James Terry of the US Weather Service office at Kimberly said the extended weather outlook indicates that fair goers can look for "perfect fair weather" during the fair's four days.

He said the forecast is for mostly dry conditions with warm days and mild nights. Highs are expected to be in the mid 70s through the 80s and lows are expected to be in the 40s through the mid 50s.

Hunt time said reason guns selling

BY CRICKET BIRD
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Gunshop owners in Twin Falls say there is no unusual rash of firearm purchases, contrary to rumors that area residents are snatching up guns at a record rate.

Most owners said they had been selling more guns in the past month, but attributed the higher sales to the beginning of the hunting season. In addition, people have been buying more guns this year than every before.

"We're selling more guns," said Jarvis Hazen, owner of Blue Lakes Sporting Goods, "but that's natural." Hazen said gun sales for the entire year had been up.

Another owner said some people were buying guns for protection, but maintained there are just a very, very few, who are purchasing guns because of Knievel's planned jump and the expected fireworks.

Jerry Elsenhauer of Jerry's Gun Shop said most people didn't want to admit the guns were being purchased for protection purposes, but added, "I do know that some of them have been sold for that purpose."

Elsenhauer said his sales were up from normal season, but attributed the increase mainly to a growing trend for people to buy guns. He also pointed out that many farmers in the area already have guns for hunting and other uses, and would not be so likely to purchase additional weapons.

All gunshop owners emphasized that most guns were being sold to hunters, and the number of people buying weapons for protection was very small.

"It's a bad time to judge... every year the sales go up," Elsenhauer said, with the advent of the hunting season.

One sporting goods store reported sales of handguns, normally used for home protection, had been down the past several weeks.

Although it had been rumored that gunshops would be blocked during the jump week, most owners said they had no plans to close their business.

"We wouldn't think of it," Hazen said, "if anybody appears to be upset or frustrated, we don't want them a gun anyway." He added,

"He said hundreds of people have been in and out of his store in the past week, with no problems occurring. They're just as nice and courteous as the local people," he said.

Elsenhauer said he would consider shutting down his shop. "It depends on the type of crowd I get. If I get troublesome people, I'll lock the door." But so far, he has encountered no problems.

Ketchum aides await petition

KETCHUM — At least one issue will be handed the City Council here tonight — the petition to close the Crazy Horse Saloon.

The petition bearing 15 names was submitted a month ago. The council reacted by writing a stern letter reminding the saloon owners to keep minors out, close on time, and disallow beer removal from the premises.

Betty Lavory will present the petition again tonight. She said she has employed legal counsel to press the case. The nuisance petition objects to noise from the Crazy Horse located in a business zoned area, but on the fringe near many residential homes.

The council may also discuss the firemen's salary of Mayor Bill Brand. Brand has been told by the council he cannot accept the salary of $225 a month while acting as mayor.

The council's attorney, however, contends Brand may hold both jobs without conflict since hiring of city employees is done by the council. Brand has said if the council gave him the choice to resign his mayoralty or fireman's position he would resign as mayor.

Brand received $100 a month as acting mayor.

Both ordinances will be given second reading, taking in the street and business permit requirements.

Judging proceeds at fair

First jump falls

WEST RICHLAND, Wash. (UPI) — A good friend of motorcycle stuntman Evel Knievel fell Monday when he crashed while attempting his first professional jump.

Gary Edelin, Kennewick, Wash., an experienced dirt jumper, failed to get enough speed and his motorcycle hit the end of a 60-foot ramp and flipped him over.

Edelin fell to the ground just below and was taken to Kaelce Hospital, Richland, where he was reported in serious condition.

AFI-CIO endorsement

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — John Evans, the Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, said Monday he was honored to have the endorsement of the AFI-CIO.

He said the delegates who endorsed him represented 40,000 Gem State workers, "the backbone of Idaho."

Burley firm successful bidder

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Mavofek Construction Co. of Burley, Idaho is the successful bidder at $106,507 for work on 2,003 miles of road on Idaho's Fort Hall Indian Reservation.

The U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs said the work will be done on the Hawthorne Road, about two miles west of Fort Hall and will provide all-weather access to agricultural and range lands as well as a shorter route to the agency's health center. Three bids were received for the work.

Brush fire reported

TWIN FALLS — A small brush fire occurred at 12:30 p.m. Monday at the Shoshone Falls Park.

A fire truck from the station answered the alarm on the city property and returned to the station within 30 minutes after putting out the fire.

Cause of the brush fire was not known.

Burley man treated

BURLEY — A 32-year-old Burley man was treated and released from Cassia Memorial Hospital following a one-car accident about six miles southeast of Burley on a rural road Sunday morning.

Richard Howard Graham was driving south on a county road when he apparently blacked out, according to Cassia County sheriff's reports. The vehicle ran off the roadway and knocked down 75 feet of fence. The vehicle traveled about 300 feet from where he left the roadway.

Larry Taque, 15, Springdale, was a passenger in the vehicle. He was not injured.

Cattle killed

OAKLEY — Six head of cattle were killed by two drivers on Highway 27 north of Oakley about 10:45 p.m. Monday.

About 50 head of cattle belonging to Critchfield Land and Livestock Co. were loose on the road about ten and one-fourth miles north of Oakley when they were hit nearly simultaneously by a truck driven by Tearl B. Bergerer, 19, Oakley, and a car driven by Ronald Jones, 28, Burley.

Neither driver was injured. About $500 damage was done to the Jones car. The truck Bergerer was driving was destroyed.

Both vehicles tore out a fence standing along the sides of the road.

Evel's guards patrol city rimland without OK

He said the decision to close city land had been made at a meeting of Knievel officials which Knievel attended. He said responsibility for the decision was Knievel's.

Gray said authority to clear the city land could be inferred from Knievel's insurance protecting the city from damages.

"In a positive way we've given a bond and also given insurance to the city to protect that property. This is the line I'm hanging my hat on."

"We're entitled and required to take appropriate action."

Later Gray said, "I don't care whether it's legal or not, we're not going to let people go in there."

Twin Falls City Manager Jean Miller said Monday the Knievel guards have "no right" to prevent people from entering the city property. He said the city had not authorized the Knievel guards to take any such action.

Miller said the only agreement between Knievel and the city involved use of an access road adjacent to city land as an emergency exit from the jump site. "There are no further agreements of contracts of any kind," he said.

Miller said any person may cross the city land so long as he does not trespass on nearby private property or use the closed access road. "A person can traverse from Shoshone Falls property and stay on city property," he said.

The strip of land in question was given to the city for use as a park or recreation area. The land hugs the canyon wall from Shoshone Falls to the edge of Knievel's jump site.

Sheriff Corder said Monday he would "take steps" to prevent the Knievel guards from interfering with public access to the city property.

Corder said the guards had no authority to prevent people from entering the city land.

He said he had asked the Knievel guards to block the adjacent access road following an order of the Twin Falls Highway District. "The other part of it, I have no control over," he said.

Corder said he would discuss the situation with city officials in hopes of obtaining legal closure of the rimland.

Corder cited the extreme danger to crowds which might gather along the unprotected rim of the city property as reason for closure.

Corder also said he was concerned about possible use of force by Knievel's guards. "They should use some judgment. The only thing a weapon can be used to protect your own life or someone else as a last resort, but never to protect property. They would be out of line to use firearms."

"I will try to correct it," Corder said.

Races under way

Bradbury defeats Duncan for Valley amateur title

Bob Bradbury, the life Sky Conference golf medalist from Weber State, nipped Gary Duncan, Twin Falls, on the first sudden-death hole Sunday to claim the Magic Valley amateur golf championship.

Bradbury, who appeared out of it about five holes from the cut, finished well to fashion a 202 tie with Duncan. During that time, the gallery "kissed" a series of birdies and bogies and very few pars.

Bradbury was having similar troubles. But Dr. Cutler was moving steadily up the ladder with a succession of pars and occasional birdies.

Duncan, after being caught on the 18th hole stopping a scant couple inches from the hole.

The hole before Duncan appeared in great shape for the birdie, two-up on Bradbury and on one on Bradbury.

But the par three 17th hole, Duncan hooked the ball short and into some tall rough. He got out in good shape but had to try a putt.

Still he made a fine recovery on the 18th to force the decision into overtime. Knowing that Bradbury was in with a 202, Duncan had to have a birdie on the 18th.

His second shot went past the green to the right but he made a fine recovery chip to within about three feet, then sank the putt.

Bradbury outdrew Duncan on the overtime hole but the second shots equalized with Duncan going left and Bradbury staying right on the hole.

Bradbury's chip shot off some hardpan rolled to within a foot of the pin. Duncan's chip rolled past by about four feet.

His come-backer refused to come down until past the hole and Bradbury tapped in for the victory.

The two, who will be teammates at Weber State next week, met for the traditional handshake on the green.

"Well," said Bradbury to Duncan, "you won the derby," referring to Sunday's chip-off victory in the added event.

Bradbury said later he didn't know he'd win it until Duncan missed his putt and his fall in.

Duncan felt he'd halved the hole when he first stroked his birdie putt but it wouldn't come down. "I never birdied No. 1, the Twin Falls grid said. I had two eagles and two pars on it during the tournament."

Duncan, who was a picture of consistency throughout the first 16 holes, "opened" spectacularly with an eagle on No. 1 Sunday. But gave it right back with a double bogey on No. 2.

That marked his first nice run, a series of birdies and bogies and very few pars. Bradbury was having similar troubles. But Dr. Cutler was moving steadily up the ladder with a succession of pars and occasional birdies.

N.Y., Orioles gain on Boston

United Press International The American League East division's pennant race was suddenly in a tight spot after a three-run New York Yankees and Baltimore Orioles game on the Sagging Boston Red Sox.

Southpaw Mike Cuellar and Rick Grimsley sparked with nearly identical 14 shutouts Monday to lead the Orioles to a doubleheader sweep on the Red Sox, whose cast division lead has now dwindled to just one game.

The double victory extended the Orioles' winning streak to six games and moved them to within three games of first place while the Yankees, who split a doubleheader with Milwaukee, are only one game out.

Cuellar two-hit the Red Sox in the first game in out-pitching Bill Lee after Grimsley tossed a three-hitter in the opener to outpitch 20-game winner Luis Tiant.

Bob Grich's fourth inning home run gave the Orioles a 3-1 lead over the Yankees, who gave Grimsley, 16-12, the only run he needed in the first game while Paul Blair's sacrifice fly in the third inning produced the only run Cuellar got to win his 17th game in 27 decisions.

Tim Johnson's two-run single capped a three-run fourth inning that letted the Yankees to a 3-2 victory in the nightcap after the Yankees won the opener 3-1 on a four-hitter by Rudy May.

Ed Rodriguez limited the Yankees to five hits in 6 1/3 innings in the second game to boost his record to 7-4 and Tom Murphy finished up to gain the save.

In the opener, Sandy Alomar doubled to start a two-run rally in the third inning and singled the Yankees' other run in the eighth. May allowed doubles in each of the first two innings but then limited the Brewers to two hits in the rest of the game while boosting his record to 6-2.

In other American League games Oakland topped California 6-4, Minnesota defeated Texas 9-3 and Chicago, led by Steve Carlton, beat Cleveland at Detroit, was postponed due to rain.

New York Stars top Philadelphia 24-16

NEW YORK (UPI)—Quarterback Tom Sherman struck for two touchdowns and ran for a third Monday night, and linebacker Bud Gladieux rushed for 161 yards to power the New York Stars to a 24-16 world football league victory over the Philadelphia Bell.

Sherman led the Stars off to a lead midway through the first period when he connected on a nine-yard scoring toss to Ray Parsons. The TD capped a 14-play 72-yard opening march that was highlighted by three long passes from Sherman to rookie Kreg Kapitan—good for eight, 20 and 14 yards.

Later in the first quarter, a Watt gave the Stars the lead in the Philadelphia 24-yard line and on the very next play, Sherman fired a TD pass to Bert Askison to make the score 14-0.

Then in the second period Sherman climaxed a 69-yard Stars' drive with a one-yard keeper that made the score 24-0, the extra point try once again failed.

Philadelphia finally scored late in the second quarter when quarterback King Goreoran found Watts all alone in the end zone on a six-yard strike that was intercepted by Frank DiMaggio ran over the extra point to make it 21-8 at half-time.

The Bell closed within 21-16 at the end of the third period when it scored on a nine-yard run by Jimmy Joe around right end after interceptions had snuffed out two previous drives.

But the Stars sealed the game, with 4:31 remaining when Moses Lajterman booted a 29-yard field goal.

Memphis beats Sharks 16-13

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—Hurling back while Spencer blasted over for two touchdowns Monday night to lead the Memphis Southern to a 16-13 World Football League victory over the Jacksonville Sharks.

Spencer, leading the WFL's top scoring offense, plunged over from the six with 2:52 left in the second period and from the one in the fourth quarter to give Memphis its seventh win against two losses.

Hardest task for Hank Aaron is leaving professional baseball

NEW YORK (UPI)—Hank Aaron is getting closer and closer to the end now.

You know that old refrain: Thirty days until September, April, June and November.

Hank Aaron doesn't even have that long anymore. He has less than a month left as an active ballplayer, only 23 more days, and then he'll be all through. He's finishing up on Oct. 2 when the Braves wind up the season at home in Atlanta against the Cincinnati Reds.

"It's going to be the hardest thing I've ever done in my life," says the Braves' 40-year-old home run king thinking about that last one of all, scheduled to be played at night on the 23rd.

"You just don't pick yourself up and walk away from it."

There is an alternative for Hank Aaron—the obvious one. He could decide to play one more year.

He could, but he's not.

"I don't want to see him quit playing," says the Braves' Tom Seaver. "He has been my hero since I was a kid. He still can snap those wrists."

"Maybe so," laughs Aaron, "but it gets harder and harder to snap 'em every day."

And so, contrary to some of those rumors which have popped up in the past few days, Hank Aaron is calling it a career in a few more weeks.

By one of those odd twists, he's going out against the same ball club he broke in—as a shy, 20-year-old rookie on April 13, 1953, which was Aaron's first day in the big leagues and his first appearance in a major league boxscore. He went off for five against Chicago that day.

It was against the Reds also that Aaron equaled Babe Ruth's record with the 74th home run of his career in his year's season opener at Cincinnati.

With the days dwindling down to those last precious few now, Aaron can not help but grow increasingly aware of the brief time left to him as an active player.

Other things make him cognizant of that, too, things like the standing ovation he received from the 33,879 at Stadium Sunday when he came up in the ninth inning. New York fans realized they were seeing him for the last time as an active player.

"It didn't matter that he popped out to second baseman Felk Milhan. He had tried to hit one. The fans knew it, and they gave him another ovation as he trotted to the dugout and he acknowledged the applause by tipping his helmet."

There is no question in Hank Aaron's mind how he will feel after the ball game is over the night of Oct. 2. He will not feel good. Al Kaline also is finishing up the same time, and he says that last one, will be the toughest.

Some ballplayers feel so strongly so deeply, about having to leave the game they've been associated with so long, many since they were kids in short pants, in fact, that they sometimes break down and weep walking out the door for the last time.

Ordinarily Hank Aaron isn't a man who shows his emotions. He generally keeps them under pretty good control. He's not that sure he will when he peels off his uniform for the last time. Tears may creep up on his eyes.

"It could happen," he concedes.

"I think I've approached this differently than most. I'm not crying," he says, speaking of his imminent retirement. "I can see the handwriting on the wall as far as my playing is concerned. I've thought about it a great deal."

"People ask me whether I'm going to try to play one more year. The answer to that is no. I've been lucky to have played as long as I have. God has been good to me. I've been very fortunate. I've made a lot of money and I've had 20 good years. I don't think any ballplayer can look at his record and say he's had 20 'good' years."

Hank Aaron leaned back against his locker.

"I've been lucky," he repeated, and I don't want to abuse it. I don't want to go up to the plate one day, look at a fast ball right here," he ran his hand across the letters of his uniform — "and find I can't get out of the way anymore. I don't want people to start feeling sorry for Hank Aaron. That isn't the way I want them to remember me."

Oakland slips by rivals

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Hal Beck Charles Smith ran 23 yards for a fourth-quarter touchdown that clinched a 20-19 victory for the Oakland Raiders over the San Francisco 49ers Monday night.

Smith swept around a right end and scored untouched with 4:42 remaining in the game. The touchdown was set up on a pass interception by Skip Thomas, who returned 40 yards to the San Francisco 21-yard line.

The victory was the fourth in five preseason games for the Raiders, while the 49ers are winless in five games.

The 49ers jumped off to a 6-0 lead with field goals by Tom Wittum from the 23 and 34 yard lines in the second quarter.

Raiders quarterback Ken Stabler connected with Cliff Branch on a 74-yard scoring play late in the second period to put Oakland ahead for good.

Birmingham beats Blazers

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Rookie quarterback Matt Reed, virtually called from the bench by a Labor Day crowd of 36,000, scored a fourth-quarter touchdown Monday night to give unbeaten Birmingham an 8-7 World Football League victory over the Florida Blazers.

Reed, 22, and spurred by repeated chants of "We want Reed," Reed entered the game with 50 seconds to play in the third period only to end a Birmingham scoring threat by blowing an interception.

It was the ninth victory without a loss for Birmingham, the WFL Central Division leader, and left Florida, the Eastern Division leader.

Pirates take pair from Philadelphia

United Press International Bruce Kison allowed only three hits in eight innings as a doubleheader from San Diego, 8-2 and 4-0 New York at Chicago and Montreal at St. Louis were postponed because of rain.

Atlanta supported the strong pitching of Phil Niekro and Tom Reed with a barrage of home runs to sweep the padres.

Niekro, now 16-11, gave up only four hits in the opener and tied 9-8, pitched a three-hitter in the nightcap.

The Braves had five home runs in the twilight. Dave Johnson and Darrell Evans each hit two homers. In the opener, and Ralph Garre, Dusky Baker and Johnson all homered in the second.

In other National League action the San Francisco Giants edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-3 and Houston nipped the Cincinnati Reds 4-3.

In the first game, Teuss, 15, yielded a three-run homer to Schmidt, his 34th, in the first inning but allowed only a fifth inning solo homer to Greg

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Matters that have been long pending are still not ready for action, so avoid difficult problems of long standing today. However, fine new opportunities now drop into your lap which give you the chance to build new success by accepting and using them.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) One at home is not very helpful to you today, but an associate is. Some new aspects of life should be handled now. Avoid time-wasters.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Stick to own work and get it done right; then steer clear of one who annoys you. Drive with utmost care. Keep an eye on your wallet when shopping.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get into creative, happy matters and forget the money part for the time being. Not a good day to get in touch with a money expert, anyway.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You are not thinking as clearly as you should today, so listen to bright ideas that kin can give you. Forget the personal and concentrate on business.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't post, but do something constructive about problems — be active. Contact those who can give you backing for some worthwhile project. Have fun at home tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Investigate facts and figures of some situation well, then handle it wisely. Study financial structure of your life. Avoid pain pretty much, who want to be sociable just now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Your ideas are fine. You can have excellent rapport with others, but keep out of the way of an intruder who is capable of m.m. but avoid business people.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 21) Starting some new project before you are fully prepared for it could be bad now. Enjoy romance with mate and don't go seeking new thrills.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get together with fascinating new friends and plan the future with them. Don't get into the business side of things until later after you get into the good grace.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you want to improve harmony at home, steer clear of one who is a troublemaker. Find the right new articles to add to your home and improve its efficiency.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Your new ideas will make your job easier and more profitable, so work on those during day. Plan time for home and family in p.m. Get out of rat.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get rid of responsibilities and pay important bills, starting work early. Make plans for any kind of travel that is important to your welfare.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will like to be with one person and then another and start one project and jump to another, so be sure to teach early to be more consistent and to finish whatever is once started. A brilliant mind here of a scholastic bent, so find out early what the true forte is and send to right schools for thorough education in such. Give good religious training early to offset the devilry in this nature.

L. M. Boyd

Q. "How much money does Jim Harte earn as host of NBC's 'Today show'?"

A. About $5,769.23 per week, I'm told. Not bad, not bad.

SAY THE AVERAGE working man puts in an eight-hour day. His earnings for one hour three minutes of that time go to pay for his housing. One hour two minutes make him enough money to buy his food and beverages. Exactly 40 minutes supports the cost of his transportation; he needs to work 26 minutes to buy his clothing. Medical expenses require 23 minutes. He can figure 19 minutes for recreation. And his taxes will call for two hours 34 minutes of his day's labor. As for the rest, label it "other."

INSECTS

No insect has ears on its head. Nor has any insect ever closed its eyes.

AT WHAT AGE is a child most exasperating? Scholars studied that query—too. And their extensive surveys among parents showed 2-1/2 won the largest number of votes.

DURING ANY given year you can figure that about 44 percent of all murders are done with handguns, 7 percent with knives; Blame:hammers, axes, baseball bats, broken bottles, whatever for the remaining 17 percent.

"IN THE OLD Anglo-Saxon lingo, the word 'angst' meant 'painful' and 'neep' meant 'nail.' That's the origin of 'hangnail,'" reports our Language man.

LOVE AND WAR

In a recent poll, husbands, exactly 37 percent, told the surveytakers that they thought their wives were even more attractive now than on their wedding days. Our Love and War man finds that sad. It will not be contented, he says, until 97 per cent of the husbands likewise aver. Those husbands merely claimed their wives were still good-looking.

FRITNEAR everybody has heard of the Merchant of Venice, but not one man in 10,000 will tell you his name was Antonio, not Shylock.

ALMOST but not quite five out of 10 psychiatrists who've tried to quit smoking managed to pull it off. However, among other physicians, who've tried to quit, seven out of 10 claim they've beaten the habit. Why is it those mental specialists are no stronger in the anti-smoking cause than the average American man? Most mysterious.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) After opening sharply, stock prices turned mixed Friday on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was light.

The Dow Jones industrial average, about five points higher in the opening hour, had dropped 2 1/2 to 6247 shortly before noon EDT.

Early gains in the average evaporated once investors digested a statement by Roy L. Ash, director of the Office of Management and Budget, that the nation faces a long, difficult battle before inflation is checked.

A market dampener to investors' enthusiasm came when L. William Seidman, the executive director of the Sept. 27 economic summit, said "fundamental" economic decisions by the Ford administration are unlikely soon after the conference.

Advances held a slim lead over declines. PDS in 510, among the 2,500 issues traded.

Sales through noon totaled roughly 3,000,000 shares, compared with 2,000,000 the same period Friday. The market was closed Monday for Labor Day.

Smith society holds meet

HOOLING SPRINGS, Pa. (UPI) — It was one game where you could tell the players without a scoreboard.

Whatever the position, a man named Jim Smith was responsible Sunday in the softball game that christened the fifth annual Jim Smith Society Convention near here.

The game, which might have confused some spectators, did not bother the announcer, Jim Smith, who handled it all night.

"Old City's got what looks like a two-bagger to leftfield and here comes Fairless Hills, Pa., and Indian Hills, N.J., both to score."

"The next batter is Wapakoneta, Ohio, followed by hold up a minute."

Tommy and Jim Smith, the softball-jugglers called and snarled, bustle to in and there is a $20 red-eye charge due.

Some 150 persons showed up this weekend for the Jim Smith festival which brought together leaguers of one of America's most common names.

Oil terminal slated

LONDON (UPI) — Seven-teen oil companies signed an agreement in London today to build a $200 million transportation and delivery system to bring ashore at least one million barrels of crude oil a day from North Sea wells by 1980, they said in a joint statement.

A million barrels of oil a day is nearly half the United Kingdom's total oil consumption last year.

Hula hoop champions

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — Yes, there are still hula hoops and hula hoop champions twisting and gyrating their way to fame; they duck back in the 1950s.

The regloms of the national hula hoop championships were held at the Disneyland Hotel Monday, and two teenagers, a girl and boy, beat out some one million boys and girls aged 13 and under who began the competition.

DeAnn Deluna, 14, Los Angeles, and William Johnson, 15, Indianapolis, outpointed other regional champions in Monday's competition to earn berths in the U.S. Savings Bond.

The contestants were judged on the basis of a 150-minute freestyle routine—witt-judging by three former national champions.

"The national finals will be held in Philadelphia this Friday."
