Ford drawing economy plans

Nixon rests, awaits more tests
LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Former President Nixon was reported resting comfortably Saturday as he prepared for another week of hospital tests aimed at dissolving his blood clots and finding the cause of his ailments.
For the first time since Nixon entered Long Beach Memorial Hospital six days ago, there were no medical bulletins on his condition and none were scheduled until Monday unless new complications arise.
Possible surgery on the former President to remove a dime-sized blood clot on his lung was ruled out Friday after his physician, Dr. John C. Lungren, consulted with two vascular surgeons who had examined Nixon.

(C) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — President Ford, pledging action to bring balance and vitality to our economy," said Saturday he will offer a "coherent and comprehensive program" in the next 10 days to deal with inflation and recession and announced three institutional decisions to help it implement that program.
In a speech closing the national conference on inflation, the President announced the creation of a new Economic Policy Board to coordinate and consolidate all of the government's economic efforts, domestic and international. The President named William E. Simon, the secretary of the treasury as chairman of the board and said that Simon will be his principal spokesman on economic policy.

Ford named L. William Seidman, who was executive director of the inflation conference to be executive director of the policy board. Seidman, a long time friend of the President, will also be his assistant for coordination and implementation of economic affairs.
The policy board, which will replace what one white house official said was a plethora of economic advisory groups, will be Ford's chief economic policy drafting body.
The official said that it was designed to meet the President's desire that he be accessible to a large number of economic advisers.

Reportedly, ad hoc groups will be formed of members of the board to deal with specific economic problems.
Ford also announced the creation of a white house labor-management committee "whose counsel and recommendations will not only be sought but given to me man-to-man and face-to-face."
The eight business and eight labor leaders on the board would advise him on major economic policies, ways to "assure effective collective bargaining, promote sound wage and price policies, boost productivity, and establish more effective manpower policies."

John T. Dunlop, who was director of the now-defunct Cost of Living Council, was named coordinator of the committee. Many of its members, in fact, particularly the labor representatives, served on wage-price panels in phases two and three of President Nixon's economic stabilization program.
Ford reportedly expects to turn to members of this group when he is looking for quick advice and opinion on policy considerations.

LAWRENCE, Kan. (N. Y. Times) — Supreme Court Justice William M. Rehnquist has urged advocates of the right of privacy to fight expanded government regulation of citizens' lives rather than seek preservation of secrecy that may hamper criminal law enforcement.
In two lectures at the University of Kansas this past week, Rehnquist questioned efforts to limit disclosure of criminal records as an invasion of personal privacy.

Guerrillas hold embassy

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — A group of Castro guerrillas held control of the Venezuelan consulate in the Dominican Republic late Saturday but did not immediately act to threaten to start executing their six hostages, including an American woman diplomat.
Although the U.S. Embassy gave no indication that it was willing to pay $1 million ransom and the Dominican government refused to release 32 political prisoners as demanded by the guerrillas, two deadlines passed without any apparent reprisals against the hostages.
During the night, one of the hostages, Venezuelan Consul Jesus Gregorio del Corral, threw out a bottle containing a message from the American hostage, 47-year-old Delaware native Barbara Hutchison, to the American ambassador.

The message was recovered by a Baptist pastor living next door but immediately turned over to police who declined to discuss its contents.
The number of guerrillas was not known. They claimed they had 22 members, but observers around the embassy counted seeing only six. During the evening, three police combat units moved into the area to reinforce other policemen already on the scene.
U.S. Ambassador Robert H. Tuttle had assured Miss Hutchison in a frantic telephone call earlier that no serious consideration was being given "for the time being" to storming the building where she and the others are being held without light or water, in stifling heat with little food.

"We are hungry," Hutchison said in a telephone interview taped in Spanish by a local radio station. "The lights and water are cut off."
She also said in a strained voice she felt sure the United States would not pay $1 million because paying ransom ran counter to U.S. policy.
One hostage, believed to be a Chinese or a Japanese tourist seeking a visa at the time the consulate was taken over Friday afternoon, managed to escape Saturday, by jumping through a window but was shot in the chest and critically injured.
The first deadline for the execution of the hostages expired at noon and the second at 5 p.m. (EDT). No new ultimatum was immediately set.

MRS. BETTY FORD

AIM celebrates at Wounded Knee
PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — Local Oglala Sioux Tribal President Dick Wilson abandoned efforts Saturday night to stop an American Indian Movement (AIM) victory celebration over the dismissal of charges against leaders of the 71-day Wounded Knee occupation.
"You can't fight the government and AIM, too," Wilson said. AIM security forces joined Bureau of Indian Affairs police on patrol to preserve a peace, and BIA Police Chief Del Eastman credited the cooperation for the absence of violence.

Police rescue wounded hostage

Dominican President Joaquin Balaguer left the capital Saturday for a scheduled tour of the interior. It was not immediately clear if he had left any instructions but he was known to have refused the release of any political prisoners.
The number of prisoners whose release was demanded created some confusion. It was first put at 38, then at 37 and 35 but a list of names handed to a two-man mediation commission contained 33 names.

First Lady recovering

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Surgeons removed Betty Ford's cancerous right breast plus surrounding lymph and muscle tissue Friday and said prospects for recovery seem "favorable," but they could not yet be sure whether the cancer had spread further.
President Ford, shaken and somber, said he was optimistic his wife would pull through. "Our faith will sustain us," he said.
"The general prognosis is favorable," said Navy Capt. William Fouty, one of two surgeons who performed the sudden, three-hour operation on the 66-year-old First Lady Saturday morning after laboratory tests confirmed that a three-quarter inch breast tumor was malignant.
In an evening medical bulletin, the doctors reported that Mrs. Ford's condition had "stabilized nicely."
"Her blood pressure, pulse and respiration are normal. She is experiencing some post-operative discomfort which is quite normal for the operation she has undergone," the report said.
It added that the First Lady would remain on intravenous fluids and under close observation throughout the night, but that her condition is satisfactory and the next report would not be made until 11 a.m. EDT Sunday.
President Ford spent more than an hour with his wife during his second visit to the hospital late Saturday afternoon, and appeared considerably more cheerful when he emerged than after an earlier visit.
"She is a great girl and she's doing very well," Ford said. When asked what Mrs. Ford had said to him, the President quipped, "Well... she listened mostly."
Fouty said he and Dr. J. Richard Thistlethwaite had seen no other cancerous tissue during the operation, known as a "standard mastectomy" at Bethesda.

US, oil users conduct summit
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Finance and foreign ministers of five major industrial powers met for six hours Saturday as guests of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to discuss worldwide inflation and high oil prices.
Treasury Secretary William Simon said the finance ministers would meet again Sunday morning.
The officials from Britain, France, West Germany, Japan and the United States would make no comment about the substance of the talks.

Hoover ordered taps, Henry claims

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In secret testimony released Saturday, Henry A. Kissinger told a Senate panel that J. Edgar Hoover scorned him as "a Kennedy-type Harvard professor" and tapped the telephones of three aides Kissinger had hired over the late FBI chief's objections.
The Senate Foreign Relations Committee released transcripts of hearings last July into allegations that Kissinger had lied during his confirmation hearings as secretary of state, about his role in Nixon administration wiretapping.
Kissinger had threatened to resign unless the Senate panel cleared his name completely. It did so, and the transcripts disclosed for the first time Kissinger's line of defense, his views of the late FBI director and the apologetic reactions of the Senators at the hearing.

In essence, Kissinger said Hoover alone had singled out three Kissinger aides as "security risks" and ordered their phones tapped as part of a 1969 drive by the White House "plumbers" to plug leaks of national security information.
On July 23, Kissinger testified that he had, in fact, ignored Hoover's advice not to hire the three men — whose names were deleted from the transcripts — for the staff he then had as a presidential advisor on national security affairs.
Hoover said the FBI considered them security risks and Kissinger conceded he had probably angered Hoover by hiring them anyway.

The three were later among the 17 officials and journalists wiretapped by the FBI. But Kissinger testified, as he had previously, he had not requested any of the taps and had only joined the April 25, 1969, White House meeting that decided the issue after it was in progress.
"When the decision was made, the Director of the FBI identified as potential leakers the three people he had already previously identified as security risks when I wanted to hire them. I had overruled the objections. It was not necessarily the most flattering thing to me to have those three picked out," Kissinger said.

Bond buyer?
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., Saturday urged vice presidential nominee Nelson A. Rockefeller to divest himself of recent financial holdings and buy $60 million in U.S. Savings bonds.
Mondale suggested that the move would be a symbolic act which would help restore the confidence of the American people in the fairness of the nation's government.

Blaine citizens protest UP line abandonment

By BART QUESNELL
Times News writer
HAILEY — A strong protest is building against the Richfield-Ketchum railroad abandonment by Union Pacific.
Several UP officials talked abandonment plans last week with the four companies involved in rail service in Blaine County. C. R. (Rocky) Rockwell, UP spokesman in Salt Lake City, reaffirmed that the line is considering abandonment of the branch line although no definite plans are made.

"However," a special committee appointed to study the feasibility of passenger train service through Idaho has objected to abandonment of any rail lines in the state.
Burley Mayor Chuck Shadduck, a committee member, said Saturday "We are opposed to any abandonment plans until we have had a chance to study it."
Shadduck said the committee was aware of the abandonment possibility of the Richfield to Ketchum branch as well as another line linking from Boise and Orchard.

In addition, Shadduck said the committee understands UP was going to take out all electrical signals between Nampa and Boise.
Shadduck said the newly appointed committee would protest all abandonment plans and all attempts by UP to force facilities until the committee had a chance to study each proposal.

Although Shadduck said he does not have economic figures on the branch line a letter has been sent to Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, asking for information he has regarding rail passenger service.
The committee probably will have a good idea which routes will offer feasible economic possibilities for passenger service by the end of this year, Shadduck said.

AEC official criticized

(C) New York Times Service
 WASHINGTON — An engineer who resigned from the Atomic Energy Commission is protesting against its safety policies asserted Saturday that a key commission official has opposed the development of new safety measures about nuclear reactor dangers and that he believed the official had done so because he had worked for many years with a major reactor manufacturer.

The accusation against Dr. Long Sun Tong, assistant director for water reactor safety research, was made by Carl J. Hovecar, who last week announced his resignation as a safety analysis engineer at the commission's Idaho Safety Research Center.

Both Tong and his immediate supervisor, Dr. Herbert Kouts, Director of the commission's reactor safety research program, denied Hovecar's allegations.

"I believe that Dr. Tong has displayed an improper loyalty to his company and the industry he long worked with by opposing the development of new safety analysis computer codes," Hovecar, a 34-year-old engineer, said in a telephone interview from his parents' home in Koehler, Wis.

Tong was an official in the reactor division of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation for 17 years before joining the commission about a year ago. Westinghouse is one of the two major reactor manufacturers in the United States.

"Dr. Tong realizes how many millions of dollars have been invested in these machines, and after his years at Westinghouse developing them, I don't feel he should head an effort to question existing safety standards," Hovecar said.

"Dr. Tong doesn't feel any further research is needed and has shifted the emphasis toward using the existing techniques," the engineer said. "He came to believe a long time ago that everything was O.K. with reactors and he doesn't want to develop new analytic tools."

But two other reactor researchers in Idaho, both of whom requested anonymity in telephone interviews, said that they believed Hovecar's allegations were correct.

Tong, asked for comment, denied that he had resisted the research effort to develop the safety analysis codes or that his experience with Westinghouse had improperly influenced his performance.

"Actually," he said, "we have increased the over-all effort in computer code development. And as far as loyalty goes, I don't have any stock in Westinghouse."

Tong was defended by Kouts, who spent last week talking with Hovecar and other scientists at the Idaho research center about Hovecar's decision to resign was announced.

"I have great confidence in Dr. Tong and there have been no indication his years at Westinghouse have in any way influenced his decisions," Kouts said.

The question of the basic safety of the nation's 50 operating commercial nuclear power reactors, and the scores that are under construction and are being planned, has come under increasing scrutiny in recent months.

TWIN FALLS — Election of officers for the Parents Without Partners organization will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Carolyn Turner, northwest of Curry. All members are urged to attend. The Turner home may be reached by going one mile north of Curry Crossing, then west to the first house on the left side of the road.

Youngsters contribute

Car wash proceeds donated

TWIN FALLS — Political volunteers are getting younger and younger.

A group of Young Democrats from Twin Falls, all junior high school age, have been working the past several weeks on behalf of Roy Truby, their choice for the office of state superintendent of public instruction.

Jeff Burdick, chairman of the young group, said the youngsters are "interested in education" and "we are also involved in it."

He and his group have staged two day-long car washes in Twin Falls to earn money to help the campaign of the Democratic candidate. Friday afternoon when Truby's campaign brought him to Twin Falls the youngsters gave him a check for $125, the proceeds of their car-wash programs.

TOO young to vote, but much involved in education, the Young Democrats of Twin Falls contributed $125 to Roy Truby, Democratic candidate for superintendent of public instruction in Idaho. Making the presentation to Truby at left are Dick Burdick and Tammy McCard.

Idaho favor in disguise

A Congressional conference committee's rejection of passenger train service for Southern Idaho may be in the state's best interest in the long run.

For the action came as an Idaho advisory committee on Amtrak was organizing its own effort to secure supporting evidence for the campaign to restore passenger train service to Pocatello, Boise and points between — such as Shoshone, Rupert and Glenns Ferry in the Magic Valley.

The conference committee deleted an amendment to the Amtrak authorization bill which would have ordered the service to start next year. Instead, Amtrak was directed to put the Salt Lake City to Portland run on its "priority" list for "experimental" service when it sets up new routes next year.

Now, with the state advisory committee starting out to formulate a plan for making passenger train service in Idaho feasible and financially sound, that panel will have extra incentive to develop a workable plan.

But any plan will require citizen support. That support will have to be evident in a series of hearings projected across the southern part of Idaho. Persons who want rail passenger service should take advantage of the opportunity to make their support known.

In the long run, if the Magic Valley and Southern Idaho are to once again have rail passenger service of any sort — on even a trial basis — the restoration of that service will have to be based on an economically sound plan and not on charity or nostalgia.

The action on rail passenger service came only a few days after the prospect of the Wood River valley losing what little rail service it still has caught the attention of citizens there.

Interestingly, the answers provided by Union Pacific officials "concerning the study of the feasibility of continuing operation of the branch line serving Bellevue, Ketchum and Hailey sounded pretty much the same as the replies given a year or so ago when the road was asked about the possible abandonment of the line from Twin Falls to Wells, Nev.

Our guess at this point is that the branch into the Wood River Valley will be abandoned and the track removed some time in the not too distant future. That is, it will unless the citizens of Blaine County can muster enough evidence to convince the necessary regulatory bodies that they need the line and that it should be kept in service.

It is ironic that as an official state committee is starting to work for the restoration of rail passenger service, the railroad whose tracks would be used is seriously contemplating removing trackage linking the main line across Southern Idaho with Sun Valley, a widely known attraction with potential to generate some extra passenger traffic.

In both cases, it looks like the parties involved have major tasks confronting them — the Amtrak advisory committee, developing a workable plan for regaining passenger service in the Gem State, and Blaine County citizens who might hope to keep what rail ties to the outside they have left.

Wallace designs drive for Demo party power

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Confounding the hopes of Democratic leaders, Gov. George Wallace is committing himself to a drive for power within the Democratic Party centered on 24 presidential primaries in 1976.

With the power vacuum created by the withdrawal of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the spectre so hideous to the national Democratic Party of Wallace rampant in the spring primaries begins to take threatening shape.

Only Wallace now has a hard-core, dedicated national constituency. At the least, this distorts Democratic primaries across the country. At the worst, it means Wallace may well enter the convention with the largest single bloc of first-ballot votes — largest by far, perhaps.

If so, he would then be a Trojan horse inside the Democratic convention in position to make this demand: Make me your vice presidential nominee — or else.

Charles Snider as a contingency. If the party refused to give Wallace the second spot on the ticket (a refusal which today would be assured), Wallace would then walk out and take his place on state ballots as a third-party nominee.

Here enters the question of when Wallace would bolt. If he left the party in anger after the party's December midterm convention in Kansas City, Democratic leaders would be spared Wallace in the primaries and would expect him to drain conservative votes from the Republicans, as in 1968.

But if Wallace bolts in the summer of 1976

Hired hands hit hard

WASHINGTON — President Ford made a speech on energy and food to the United Nations the other day, but it was left to a couple of his hired hands to get down to the nitty-gritty of U.S. relations with oil-producing nations.

Ford made a point of reminding his audience that "it has not been our policy to use food as a political weapon despite the oil embargo and the recent oil price and production decisions." But he let it lie there, preferring to permit the oil peddlers to contemplate the implications of his remarks.

On the other hand, Federal Energy Administration chief John C. Sawhill in effect spelled out what the U.S. could do if the oil producers continued their policies of squeezing every last dime out of their customers. The U.S., Sawhill told the Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee, did not now contemplate embargoes on food or military supplies to oil-producing countries. Then he added a big, minatory "but."

To wit, Sawhill noted that "there comes a point where the conditions under which oil is supplied lose their commercial character and become issues of national survival. At that point — and we have long since passed it — we must explore the full range of options at our disposal to protect the national interest."

Translated into street-corner terms, Sawhill was telling the oil peddlers that Washington is not without the capacity to do a little blackmailing on its own. Let's have a little cooperation on oil prices and production, Sawhill was saying, or we may have to do some squeezing ourselves.

What Simon meant was the OPEC is getting richer every day — but only in the short run. In the long run, the — as Simon predicted — "even lower prices will not bring it back."

All of which brings us back to President Ford's approach to the oil countries: Ford reminded the UN that "every nation represented in this room" is in this mess together.

Ford was simply stating the obvious when he declared that "failure to cooperate on oil, food and inflation would spell disaster for the whole world."

ANDREW TULLY

Moreover, while he eschewed threats of U.S. retaliation, Ford was properly stern with the oil-producing countries. His speech had the tone of a fed-up parent when he predicted that "by confounding consumers with production restrictions, artificial pricing, and the prospect of ultimate bankruptcy, producers will eventually become the victims of their own actions."

In Main Street language, that means the lime will come — indeed already has come for some consumer nations — when most of the world simply won't be able to afford OPEC's prices. If your merchandise costs two dollars and none of your customers has two dollars, you just can't sell.

All this offers small comfort today for the oil-consuming countries. But were I suddenly elected emir of an oil-rich nation, the statements of Ford, Sawhill and Simon would be a reminder that two can play at the game of blackmail.

Attention on the teeth behind Uncle Sam's smile

It was a long wait, but finally the United States government has spoken in such a way as subtly, but unmistakably, to focus the attention of the world not on our perpetual grin, but on the teeth behind the grin.

President Ford has said it, and simultaneously Secretary Kissinger that we cannot go on indefinitely paying the price for oil demanded by the Persian Gulf cartel. Never mind for the moment that this statement is 10 months overdue. It is now spoken and we see the germination of a doctrine of self-defense against acts of economic aggression.

One notes that when Secretary Kissinger delivered his speech at the general assembly of the United Nations he was not interrupted by applause, as he had been last year when he spoke as a neophyte.

And after the speech was ended, there was only perfunctory applause. But what happened then was significant. Individual delegates came, in substantial numbers, to wring his hand. The month, over at the general assembly, has not atormized. The Third World, backed by the Communist World, continues to act as a bloc. But of course the rise in the oil

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

WASHINGTON — By bowing out of the 1976 presidential race, Sen. Edward Kennedy made the right decision for himself, for his troubled family, and for a nation that has had enough of ugliness.

By his decision leaves the Democratic party like an anthill just toppled by a tractor. Behold the scorpions!

If the senator had decided to seek the nomination, he would have invited one of the most bitter campaigns in American political history. It would have been worse than Cleveland-Blaine in 1884, worse than Smith-Hoover in 1928.

No observer would deny that Kennedy is widely admired. He could have had his party's nomination for the asking. His bid for the White House, had he formally announced, would have burst a boil of virulent hostility. Everything would have come flooding forth, from Papa Joe to Chappaquiddick. Kennedy's wife could not possibly have been spared, as a prospective first lady, her medical record would have had the Eagleton treatment.

By 1980 or 1984, Kennedy still will be in a position to seek the presidency, and by that time the passions may have subsided. Meanwhile, he can afford to bide his time as an active legislator and potent fund-raiser.

What now for the Democrats? With Kennedy's withdrawal, where could they find a winner?

They have one man, Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, who might give Gerald Ford a good run for the money in 1976. Jackson will then be 64, but that is no particular disadvantage against Ford at 53. In paper, at least, Jackson has fine credentials. His trouble, at this distance, is that he will have problems in winning his party's nomination.

Moreover, Wallace can wait that long. Wallace planners say a dozen states have cleared legal third-party ballot positions for November, 1976. The designated party varies, carrying such labels as American Party, American-Independent Party and Courage Party. There will be many others—perhaps in all 50 states by 1976.

Assured of reelection as governor Nov. 5, he is taking more philosophically these days, particularly about the economic crisis. Let inflation continue its present course, he said, and it will lead to a calamity — "the radicalization of the great middle class."

Wallace is searching for a Wallace economic plan. He scorns what is coming out of Washington, both from the White House and take all," Wallace will wind up with plenty of delegates. If Wallace won enough delegates to claim the Democratic nomination, the party would collapse.

JAMES KILPATRICK

Sen. Walter Mondale of Minnesota would like the nomination, but Mondale's record of ultraliberalism would cast him as another McGovern. Sen. Lloyd Bensten of Texas is attractive but he has no national recognition. Such junior senators as Lawton Chiles, Sam Nunn, Adlai Stevenson, and William Hathaway are vice presidential saplings, not presidential timber. Birch Bayh of Indiana is a 100-to-one shot. Could the party make peace with Clean Gene McCarthy, the peerless first baseman?

Kenney was the Democratic party's greatest asset — and greatest liability. Within a national convention, he could have produced the same unity among party workers that is shared by suckers on the back of a shark.

With his departure, the Democrats are left with a school of small fish, and in the prospect of Governor Wallace, with a small but uncomfortable whale.

(c) Washington Star Syndicate, Inc.

after entering the national convention as front-runner following multiple primary triumphs, he could be perceived as a victim of party discrimination. In that case, the Republicans might well be helped in November. So, the Wallace threat is credible.

from Democratic leaders. He sees an evermore powerful Russia, a U.S. unable to affect the price of oil and at least two more years of runaway inflation.

Wallace's plan: an economic recovery program to take to the country. Considering Wallace's skill in offering simplistic, sugar-coated, often demagogic solutions, such a plan could have potent political force.

A new link to Richard Viguerie's rightwing fund raising operations has regularized Wallace's campaign finances. His list of assured contributors, now over 250,000 is expanding at the rate of 100,000 a year. He took in a cool $1 million the last nine months, much of it then rolled over to develop larger (fully computerized) contributor lists. No other Democrat has nearly so broad a money base.

He is constructing his grand design prudently, to the anguish of anti-Wallace party leaders who wish he would go third party well before 1976. "They're afraid of me," he told us. "They're afraid of the people I represent."

prices has had a laxative effect on the bloc. Kenya has calculated that with one stroke, the Arab nations would lose all the foreign aid received by Kenya during an entire year. It is so with other countries in Africa, and Asia, and Latin America.

These countries are not yet ready to defy the Arab states (in point of fact, they don't have much to defy them with, except that feckless parliamentary majority that dominates the general assembly). They are, for one thing, hoping that the Arabs will come up with a two-tier price system. Cheap oil for the poorer nations, expensive oil for the rich nations. Until the Arabs say no to that one, the third-world victims will be docile. Perhaps only then will they not only congratulate Kissinger surreptitiously, but also openly.

Ours is the important initiative. We suffer from a lack of solidarity in Europe. This issues from several considerations. The first is the general disunity of Europe on matters great and small. The second is Europe's direct reliance on Arab oil. A show of Arabian displeasure can result in western industries grinding to a halt not next spring, but next Tuesday.

Nations tend to be sympathetic towards others — in such circumstances: And — then England, that sly old merchant, is on the brink of one of the most luxuriant extraction projects in oil history. If only she can last until 1978 or so, she will have oil to light the lamps in China, and then some. England's hostility to the high price of oil is not, at the moment, Her Majesty's chief complaint against the international order.

If Greece or Turkey possessed nuclear arms, the Cyprus crisis could have shaken the world more than it did.
A few years from now, nuclear arms may be in the hands of about 25 countries, some of them smaller or poorer than Greece or Turkey, some of them ruled by impetuous demagogues, some by weak governments that could not stop military or other bellicose factions gaining control of these arms.
The test that India staged in May showed how easily an explosive device can be made from the plutonium that is a by-product of "peaceful" nuclear reactors.

Less than 20 pounds of plutonium will make a bomb capable of destroying a city. Within 10 years, the world's annual output of plutonium will probably exceed 200,000 pounds. Some of this will be shuttled around in vehicles that could become targets for hijackers. Some of it may be up for sale on a new kind of black market.
There is little time to prevent the 1980s from becoming that sort of nightmare. But only a year or so.

Recent months have seen more ominous developments than India's bang. One is the rush to atomic energy that has instinctively followed the multiplying of oil prices. Another is the demonstration of suppliers' eagerness to meet the new demands for nuclear fuel and equipment with scant regard for the obligations imposed by the nuclear nonproliferation treaty (NPT) that came into effect in 1970.
The treaty forbids any provision of nuclear materials to countries that have not placed all their nuclear activities under the safeguards required by the treaty.
But agreements for the provision of materials, equipment and facilities are being implemented or discussed with such recipients as Iran, where NPT safeguards are not yet in force; Egypt, Israel, Japan, South Africa and Venezuela, which have not adhered to the treaty; and India, which has both rejected the treaty and by building an explosive device, ruled itself out as a legitimate recipient under the treaty.

Actions restore faith

Editor, Times-News:
Every day you read articles written about how people no longer care and do not have time to help his fellow man.
Let me tell you about two people who completely contradict this trend in today's life. It restores our faith in humanity to know that there are still people like this.
The Wendell Boy Scouts, Troop 95, were going to sell coffee, punch and doughnuts at an auction sale this last Sunday. Their leader was to have made arrangements to order the doughnuts and have them there in time for the auction.
After much calling they found to their dismay that he was working at Redfish Lake and had not been home all week.
At 7 on Sunday morning they called Mr. Vielguth in Jerome to see if the doughnuts were ordered. No orders had been made but Mr. Vielguth said he'd check his cafe to see if any had been left from the orders the day before and would call back as he was on his way to church. Not 15 minutes had passed when he called and said that six doughnuts were all that were left. However, he had called Mrs. Ruby, who works for him, and although she was ready to go to church, her comment was "We sure can't let those boys down as they were counting on those doughnuts. You call and tell them I'll go down and start on them right now!"

When I went to pick up those doughnuts at a quarter to 1 there stood this lovely lady dressed in her Sunday dress, with a big white apron on and the biggest smile you ever saw, just lacking the last batch of doughnuts out of the fryer.
Somewhere between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. she had made 12 dozen doughnuts for those boys. She works all week and this was her day of rest but she was still willing to help out a group of boys.
Our hats are really off to this wonderful lady and to Mr. Vielguth of Art's Cafe in Jerome for helping these boys out of their dilemma. "We really can't begin to thank them enough."
And by the way, those boys could have sold 24 dozen if they had them as they were mighty good. They sure didn't last very long.

Dane wants to try his luck

Editor, Times-News:
I am writing you because you are the director of the biggest newspaper in the state of Idaho. This information I have received from the US Embassy here in Denmark.
I do not know who else to contact so I am asking you to put me in contact with who ever has something to do with this I like to try.
It is about Mr. Knievel's attempt to cross the Snake River on his Heaven-Bike X-2. Unfortunately for him, he was not able to. However, I have an idea and would very much like to try it, the idea fascinates me and I just can't miss. In the Danish newspapers the attempt is described as very dangerous, this I like to do. I have a theory about Mr. Knievel's attempt. His start method of the X-2. For this attempt I ask, is there anyone who will pay me?
In the papers I have read that Mr. Knievel received the sum of about $5,500,000 for his attempt but since I do not think it so dangerous this I will not ask for. But my trip Copenhagen, Twin Falls, return, the stay about three weeks, all the expenses with the 4 bicycles (3 for tryouts and 1 for the attempt) also the expense for the start-ramps what ever may be needed.

If my attempt is not successful (the "die" and I reach the other side) I ask for ($75,000-$1,000,000). Do I reach the other side, my asking is for is for $1,500,000 to $2,000,000.
I will be on TV, radio, news, and other income is for the ones who will arrange it. With the hope that you will bring in contact with persons there are interested in a new attempt of crossing the Snake River Canyon, I do this with you.
I do believe in my theory and hope for it will be a success. If someone will help me arrange it.

Endowment board move asked

Editor, Times-News:
Governor Cecil Andrus:
I have hesitated about bothering you about this matter as I know how busy you are, but after the recent decision of Judge Ray Dutsch, I feel compelled to bring to your attention the matter of the Idaho Endowment Investment Board.
As you know, governor, there has been a great deal said about the Idaho Endowment Investment Board and their actions.
I do not know of any misuse of funds as of this date, but I do know that the Finance-Appropriations Committee was requested by Senator Dean Summers to perform both a fiscal and performance audit of the Endowment Investment Board because of so many complaints of handling of school money and because of allegations of there being conflicts of interest among the board.

Some of these board members were appointed by you and some were not, but when the board directly refuses a court order to open up their books, I think it is time some executive action be taken.
I am requesting that you do this, governor, and if necessary, that you remove this board.
As you and I know, all state records are public records and no one should have to go through the courts in order to examine the records. I would hope you would let the sunshine on this board and will take executive action immediately.
I will appreciate hearing from you on this matter at your earliest convenience.

Hopes opinion in minority

Editor, Times-News:
It's a sad commentary on our modern society when people admire the one who is expert at cheating them or pulling the wool over their eyes.
The young woman from Twin Falls made the following comment in the 'Idaho' section of the Sept. 22 Times-News: "Evel is a super salesman and he did a super job of convincing everyone. That's the name of the game, isn't it?"
Actually I believe she is quite mistaken when she said he coned everyone. It seemed very evident that the majority saw through all his phony advertising, else why was the attendance only about one fifth of that which Evel and his promoters predicted?
As for the comment, "that's the name of the game, isn't it?" It depends on whose game you are playing. I personally prefer the one called the "Golden Rule." Therefore all things whatsoever you would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them, for this is the law and the prophets."

Also, "Owe no man anything but to love one another, for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law. For this, love shall not commit adultery, theft, shall not steal, thou shalt not bear false witness, thou shalt not covet, and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly summed up in this saying, namely, thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. Love worketh no ill to his neighbor, therefore love is the fulfillment of the law."
Yes, Evel called himself a Christian but apparently he wasn't familiar with the scripture which says, "He that says, 'I know Him,' and keeps not His commandments is a liar and the truth is not in him."
I certainly hope this young woman's opinion is in the minority.

People want facts, truth

Editor, Times-News:
Re: Candidate George Hansen's suit over his credit rating.
I hope that all papers will reprint the letter of G.H. Carter to the Idaho Statesman as the Lewiston Tribune did.
Mr. Carter gets to the nub of the matter in one fell swoop.

Mr. Hansen is applying for one of the biggest jobs in the United States—a senator. He should be subject to at least the routine checks which are made right down to the minimum wage jobs.
As for myself, I know well how the big special interests of our country go under the senate chairs of low population states. They can buy one for pennies as against the cost of a successful campaign in a densely populated state.
Therefore, we must be doubly vigilant of the man and the campaign money record. We must get a man for all the people.
Surely for we, employers (voters), to make correct decisions about candidates for high office, we need to know something of how they run their own business before we vote them into office to run our very venomous business.
What has estate George Hansen to fear if we know all the facts? If I were candidate Hansen and serious about the coming race, I'd kill the ridiculous lawsuit and give all the people all the information they want so I could get on with the campaign. If some information is not so good, so what?
The people don't expect saints as candidates, but they want and need facts and demand the truth.

Ancient race made gains

Editor, Times-News:
Discoveries being made by students of ancient America are proving ever more stimulating and challenging.
Evidence is now accumulating that the former inhabitants of this hemisphere were a great people—a learned people who made an accurate calendar, performed surgery and other scholarly deeds.
One of the most astonishing things about this ancient race was that it achieved international peace despite the fact that vicious and destructive wars had characterized its history for hundreds of years. Former enemies became friends, war was abolished and crime of all kinds disappeared.
None of our modern wars have been any more bitter than were theirs, but these former enemies became so friendly that they lived together as brethren.

Anti-American material increases in USSR press

(C) New York Times Service
MOSCOW—After a honeymoon with the new administration of President Ford, the Soviet press has embarked on an upswing in anti-American propaganda described by the United States embassy as the strongest in a year or more.
A rash of political cartoons, a staple of Soviet newspapers during the cold-war years, has again appeared.
Pravda published a cartoon showing a lurking, dark-hatted, teeth-gritting agent in dark glasses holding up his fingers to make the initials CIA, which turn into the legs of a gun-toting, hatchet-wielding ruler of Chile.
Another cartoon in the Communist party daily showed the Cambodian leader, Lon Nol, beaten up and bandaged from head to foot, sitting in one hand of Uncle Sam and prayerfully catching a silver dollar from the other.
Last Thursday, Pravda's main cartoon showed an Israeli sailor sending a fat old courtesan, who was standing on a balcony labeled "Pentagon" and was waving a fan made of rockets, while the Israeli held his hat to catch anything that might fall his way.
Another newspaper, Sotitsiaticheskaya Industriya, published a cartoon of a black student in Boston being menaced by the shadow of a hooded Klansman with a submachine gun. Ivestia, the government newspaper, printed an article on the Boston school crisis and on racial problems in New York.
Soviet cartoons, especially if printed in newspapers under the direct control of the party's central committee, are regarded as a barometer of the prevailing propaganda line. It has been a number of months since Pravda has run more than a random anti-American cartoon.

The recent upsurge suggests that the Kremlin no longer feels a need to avoid offending Ford. The attacks on American policy in Cambodia and on Israel, repeated in commentaries, are taken by some Western diplomats as signs of Moscow's unhappiness about Ford's policies in these areas.
There is no indication that the Kremlin's interest in détente or in doing business with the White House has slackened.
The surge of anti-American propaganda is part of a generally more critical treatment of the West by the Soviet press, West European diplomats observe.
One theory is that Moscow now sees little prospect of early completion of the European security conference because of changes in Western governments and therefore sees no need to soften its propaganda.
But the negative portrayal of American society has ranged more widely. In addition to standard items about the economic slump, rising prices and racial problems, the press has reported that educational standards are deteriorating because of financial problems, that some Americans are eating pet food and that industrial accidents and occupational diseases are on the rise.

T-N invites reader letters

The Times-News welcomes letters from its readers. Letters should deal with topics of general public interest.
The writer must sign his name and provide his address. Unsigned letters will be discarded.
In rare cases, letters may be printed with the writer's name withheld if the situation warrants. When such a request for confidentiality cannot be honored the letter will be limited to the author without being printed.
Because space is at a premium, letters will be returned to about 250 words. Longer letters should be edited for length. If possible letters should be typewritten.
Letter writers are bound by canons of good taste and laws governing libel.

Javits backs normal Cuba ties

HAVANA (UPI) — Senator Jacob Javits said Saturday the time seems right to begin some normalization of relations with Communist Cuba and he believed Cuba is reviewing its policy toward the United States, too.

Javits, R-N.Y., and Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., began their first full day in Cuba by visiting a showcase vocational school but then began meetings with political leaders expected to culminate with Premier Fidel Castro on Sunday.

After meeting Foreign Minister Raul Roa, Javits told reporters:

"I am confident that this is an opportune moment to review our relations with Cuba and from what I perceive they seem to be reviewing their relations with us."

He added, "Somewhat, somehow, somehow, somehow, some normalization of relations has to take place and the time does seem to be propitious."

After seeing Roa, the two members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee lunched with Carlos Rafael Rodríguez, vice step up as vice premier in charge of foreign relations and member of the Communist party secretariat.

Saturday afternoon they are meeting President Osvaldo Dorticos, the third man in the Cuban hierarchy.

Javits jokingly remarked,

"We are going to stay up all night" waiting to hear when they are going to see Castro. The Cuban leader was scheduled to address a mass rally at the Plaza de la Revolución Saturday night on the 14th anniversary of the Committees for the Defense of the Revolution, the block-by-block organization set up in 1960 to protect the state from within.

Both Javits and Pell made it clear they were not here to negotiate but to listen, also that Cuba would have to do certain things in order for relations to become more normal.

They have been cut off completely since 1961 and the two senators are the highest ranking Americans and the only members of Congress to visit Cuba since Pell was here in 1960.

Pell confirmed what is already known, that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger tried to discourage them from coming several times since Pell first began asking the State Department last April to validate his passport for the visit. Pell made it a bipartisan congressional trip by asking Javits to come along.

Arms cost secret

(C) New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department has refused to make public its estimates of the potential cost to the United States of a continued strategic arms race with the Soviet Union.

Included are two programs begun this year as a hedge against a collapse of the talks on the limitation of strategic arms — a large intercontinental ballistic missile to supplement the present Minuteman and a missile that could be launched from either a submarine or a ship.

On the basis of experience each would undoubtedly cost in excess of $10 billion to develop, produce and deploy. At a rough estimate, if no arms agreement is reached and the Pentagon proceeds with the weapons, at least $2 billion to $3 billion would be added to the defense budget annually.

Red units push ahead

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — A 3,000-man Communist force pushed to within two miles of a provincial capital northwest of Phnom Penh Saturday, and fighting raged throughout the day as outnumbered government troops tried to stop the advance.

Field reporters said the fighting centered around the small village of Sala Phloev Veay, two miles northwest of the provincial capital of Kompong Chhnang, 57 miles northwest of here.

Elements of the insurgent army began their drive against the important river port town 11 days ago.

Reno holdup clues thin

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Police were left with hardly a clue Saturday to a $1 million bank robbery, biggest in Nevada history, pulled by a three-man team working precisely under cover of a Shriners parade on casino row.

"I hope they got it all, I hope they got it all, I hope they got it all," lauded some women gamblers to the tune of "Farmer in the Dell" as they passed police Saturday outside the main branch of the First National Bank of Nevada.

The robbery occurred in the bank branch, which serves the huge, glittering casinos on the street, Friday night. The getaway was made through a side door while out front everybody was watching the Shriners.

Catholic bishops eye role

(C) New York Times Service

ROME — Bishops speaking for all the Roman Catholic episcopal conferences of the world called on the church Saturday to be faithful to the gospel and also to recognize its own failings.

On the second day of the synod of bishops, five bishops from five continents reported the views of their colleagues. All five expressed hope as well as concern.

"Many reports strongly emphasize that the church must shift its gaze from itself and toward Christ and man," said Archbishop Roger Etcheberry, relaying the ideas of European episcopal conferences. "In fact the church, bearer of the gospel, appears to have become an obstacle to the gospel. Its reputation is damaged, especially because the church seems to use up all its energy dealing with internal matters."

The last synod was held in 1971; 143 of the current members were elected by their national conferences.

Reporting for the African conference, Tanzania's Bishop James D. Sangu recalled that Africans associate Christians with colonialism, and then with rivalry & sects. But he noted that in the past 20 years missions have become dioceses, with evangelization in the hands of Africans.

Lisbon military rulers clamp down on rightists

LISBON (UPI) — The ruling Armed Forces Movement announced arrested 238 persons Saturday, including three former cabinet ministers and 15 officers, in a clampdown on the rightist opposition.

President Antonio de Spínola yielded to leftist pressure in his military-backed government and banned a rightist rally in his support.

A document released by the Armed Forces Movement, dominated by younger officers, said the 238 prisoners were being held in the Caxias Prison 10 miles north of the capital. They included two former defense ministers, Moreira Baptista and Silva Cunha, and Alberto Ferra Nogueira, a former foreign minister.

Among the 15 former military men detained were Kaula de Arrago, once commander of the Portuguese Forces fighting in Mozambique. One of Portugal's most powerful businessmen, António Champalimaud, was also among the arrested.

Spínola announced his decision to ban a rally by a group calling itself the "silent majority" after hours of wrangling among government ministers and efforts by the Communists, who are represented in the ruling leftist-center coalition, to stop access to the demonstration.

Tanks and armored cars took up guard positions at the Belem presidential palace and some of the approaches to the capital.

Convention date set

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho Service Station Association State Board of Directors has announced the state convention will be held Oct. 17-19 in McCall.

New state officers and board of directors will be elected at the convention, and the association's goals for next year will be set.

Guest speakers will include Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy; congressional candidate George Hansen; Scotty MacLeod, distributor relations for Continental Oil Company; Ray Dahl, president of Oregon Gasoline Dealers Association, and Wayne Bowley, executive vice president for Pacific Association of Service Stations.

Plan coming, Ford says

The President's third announcement was the appointment of Albert Rees, an economist at Princeton University, as director of the council on wage and price stability, which was formed by act of Congress in August to monitor wage and price actions throughout the economy.

Ford did not disclose any substantive new measures for dealing with inflation and new recession.

His only specific policy statement was a reaffirmation of his promise to hold the federal budget in the current fiscal year to $300 billion, or below.

But declaring that "councils and committees cannot win this war" against inflation, he called on all Americans "to join me in a great effort—and to become inflation fighters and energy savers."

As part of a voluntary citizens program to help fight inflation, citizens could start "by making a list of 10 ways you can save energy and fight inflation... little things that have become habits but don't really affect your health and happiness."

He asked that families exchange such lists and send him a copy. "The success or failure of our fight against inflation rests with every individual American," he declared.

Ford said he was suggesting these actions because he knew that citizens all over the country are asking "What can I do to help?" This question was brought to his attention at Friday's session of the "summit" meeting by Sylvia Porter, the economic columnist.

Saturday, Ford said Miss Porter would help organize and coordinate a voluntary citizens program to fight inflation and conserve energy.

Questioned immediately after the President's speech, Miss Porter said she didn't know exactly how she would help but added, "the first thing to do is to get it organized, isn't it?"

2nd Suspect held

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — A 36-year-old father of five remained jailed without bond Saturday, charged with kidnapping the young daughter of a Cincinnati broadcasting executive.

Clifford J. Kroger, the second suspect arrested in the case, was scheduled to appear at an extradition hearing Monday, providing he does not waive extradition proceedings. He was picked up Friday night at an Orlando apartment.

At an initial court appearance here Saturday, the engineering consultant was charged with last Monday's kidnaping of a year-old Allison C. Mechem, daughter of Charles S. Mechem Jr., chairman of the board of the Taft Broadcasting Co.

The other suspect, Fran Wichmann, a parole serving time for various armed robbery convictions, was charged with kidnaping after he turned himself in late Tuesday.

Briefs

TWIN FALLS — A pinocle party for Parents Without Partners will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at the Carolyn Turner home, one mile north of the Curry Crossing, then west to the first house on the left side of the road. Reservations should be made first by calling 734-2467.

Naval Medical Hospital, but he added: "One cannot make the statement that she is relieved of all malignancy."

"I don't have microscopic eyes. I cannot tell if there was tumor in the lymphoid tissue."

He said it would take several days of laboratory tests of tissue removed from Mrs. Ford's chest and underarm area to determine whether the cancer had spread to the lymph system.

But both doctors stressed at a news conference that the breast cancer had been caught at an early stage, improving Mrs. Ford's chances of recovery, and said she had come through the operation strong and in good spirits.

"The operation went exceedingly well and absolutely no problems occurred. Fouty said. "Her blood pressure is regular, her pulse is regular and she is stable. She is awake, there is no bleeding and I would say her condition is quite satisfactory."

Shortly after she came out of surgery at 11:15 a.m. EDT, Mrs. Ford had a 10-minute bedside visit with her husband and conversed "easily" with him, doctors said. The President received word at the White House about 8:30 a.m. that preliminary surgery and tests had determined the breast tumor to be cancerous and a full mastectomy was in progress.

Ford flew to the hospital by helicopter at 11 a.m., arriving while his wife was still in surgery. He returned to Washington after seeing her, went to the Hilton Hotel to address the economic summit conference and announced there the outcome of the operation, as it had been explained to him by White House physician Dr. William Lukash.

Seven and one-quarter percent. That's a good one to start with. Our highest-yielding Time Certificate of Deposit. A $1,000 minimum deposit for four years pays a healthy 7 1/4% return, particularly with interest compounded quarterly for an even higher yield.

6 1/2

Six and one-half percent interest is your return on $500 or more deposited in a 2 1/2 to 4 year Time Certificate of Deposit. Again, interest may be compounded quarterly. It may not be as unique as the old soldier bank, but it pays a lot higher return.

6

Six percent interest is our rate on a $500 Time Certificate of Deposit for 1 to 2 1/2 years. Interest may be compounded quarterly. A shorter term "CD" with a very interesting 6% return.

5 1/2

Five and one-half percent interest. The Harvester. A healthy return on a flexible Time Savings Certificate. A 90 day deposit of $500 or more is all that's required. Renewed automatically and compounded quarterly for a hefty harvest.

There. That's a run-down on some very interesting numbers from The Bank & Trust. For details contact your hometown friend at B & T. He has a lot of interesting numbers for you.

Federal regulations prohibit the payment of a certificate prior to maturity unless three months of the interest thereon is forfeited and interest on the amount withdrawn is reduced to the passbook rate.

Watergate coverup trial opens Tuesday; may become historical footnote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some time around 7:30 a.m. EDT Tuesday, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica will bang his gavel to begin the long-awaited Watergate cover-up trial.

Despite all the advance hullabaloo, the trial may turn out to be little more than a footnote in the history books. Less than two months ago, it might have been the trial of the century.

But now the star witness, Richard M. Nixon — named an unwitting co-conspirator in the cover-up by a grand jury — has resigned the presidency and is in the seclusion of a hospital bed 3,000 miles away.

His lawyers suggest he is too ill to testify at the trial of six of his former White House and campaign aides, or to answer questions the lawyers say only he can answer about their involvement or guilt.

The list of defendants is impressive. It includes former Attorney General John N. Mitchell; former White House aides H.L. "Bob" Hallerman and John D. Ehrlichman; former Hallerman aide Gordon C. Strachan; former Assistant Attorney General Robert C. Mardian; and re-election committee lawyer Kenneth W. Parkinson.

More than any of these, the former President, an unwitting co-conspirator in the case, will be the center of attention.

Since Nixon received a full pardon from President Ford on Sept. 8, the trial may provide the fullest airing of whatever his role was.

Both Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski and Ehrlichman have subpoenaed Nixon, for different reasons. Presumably, Jaworski needs him to vouch for the authenticity of the 30 hours of White House tapes the prosecution wants to use, and Ehrlichman wants to show he merely was acting as the President's agent.

Chief trial prosecutor James F. Neal will take six weeks to two months to make his case, and thus the question of whether Nixon will testify will not have to be faced immediately.

Since five burglars were arrested inside the Democratic National Committee at the Watergate complex June 17, 1972, the nation has been confronted with a series of events that added up to one of its most serious internal crises.

It learned of the White House "plumbers" and their 1971 break-in at the office of Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. It learned of allegations that the federal bureaucracy had been politicized and that basic liberties had been undermined. And it learned of scores of illegal corporate political contributions.

Four Cabinet members and several top aides in the Nixon White House and re-election committee were accused — and in 14 cases, convicted — of crime. And the first President in American history resigned as the House neared an impeachment vote.

2 Senators seek Nixon role probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sens. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., and Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., jointly announced Saturday they will ask Congress to order Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski to make a full investigation of former President Richard M. Nixon's role in Watergate.

The senators said they were taking the action because of an agreement between Nixon and the government giving Nixon control of the White House tapes, along with power to destroy them after five years.

They said that because of the agreement "there is a possibility that the American people and the Congress may never be able to reach a final judgment on the extent of the involvement of Mr. Nixon and others in Watergate and related incidents."

"We strongly believe that the truth must come out — to meet the people's right to know and in a way that allows the President and the Congress the opportunity to refocus their energies and attentions on the serious and pressing problems that now beset our nation," Mondale and Brooke said.

Burns list

PRESIDENT of Citizens' Association for Neighborhood Schools, Nolan Wissett, says a U.S. judge's order the anti-busing group refrain from a planned school boycott will apply to only four persons because he has burned the membership lists. (UPI)

British PM confident of election

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson, battling to win a new five-year mandate in the general election he has ordered for Oct. 10, said Saturday at the end of his first week of campaigning he is confident he will win.

But Conservative and Liberal party leaders said they also are satisfied with the way the contest is going.

Asked for his assessment at his daily campaign news conference, Wilson said, "We are confident the country wants a Labor government with a substantial mandate and a working majority."

Wilson said his confidence is not based on recent opinion polls, which have shown Labor between 5 and 14 per cent ahead of the Conservatives.

Summit shows general accord in some areas

(C) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — The White House conference on inflation concluded Saturday with moderately successful attempts to speed out some areas of general, though not unanimous, agreement.
 Chief among these was a consensus that cutting the federal budget will not do much quickly to reduce the rate of inflation.
 The existence of consensus on this point was emphasized by such diverse speakers as Rep. Barber B. Conable, a conservative Republican from upstate New York and Arthur M. Okun, who was chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors in the Johnson administration.
 Despite the widely-expressed belief that budget-cutting will have no rapid effects on inflation, Ford, in his speech to the conference, disclosed that he would shortly send to the Congress a plan to keep federal outlays at or under $300 billion.

 The commitment to budget-reduction was the only specific pledge requiring future policy that Ford made today.
 Other ideas that were mentioned by various speakers as having "garnered" widespread support in the series of 12 pre-summit meetings leading up to the final conference included the following:
 —Here should be some form of tax-relief for low-income persons, who have been hurt the worst by inflation.
 —Stronger government efforts are needed to combat the energy shortage, including maintenance of a tough line against the oil-producing nations, development of greater domestic sources of energy, and stricter conservation measures. There was also a consensus, though apparently a slighter one, for maintenance of price controls on domestic crude oil.

 A program of public-service employment is needed, to aid those who will lose their jobs because of the economic slowdown.
 —Some further liberalizing of credit policy by the federal reserve system would be desirable.
 —Price and wage controls should not be reimposed.
 Many of those who attempted to summarize also mentioned the importance to the world of the success of American economic policies and the importance to all nations of international economic cooperation. But there were few explicit proposals on this point, other than suggestions that a "united front" be maintained against the Arab oil cartel.

 There were some bad-tempered moments at the meeting. Secretary of commerce Frederick B. Dent attempted to silence Rhode H. Karpattin, executive director of Consumers Union of the United States; on the ground that she was making a speech rather than asking a question as was true of most of the other members of the audience who spoke throughout the day.
 She argued that she was trying to make a point that got no hearing at the pre-summit conference of business executives that Dent ran, because consumer spokesmen were underrepresented.

Here are definitions of economic terms

(C) Washington Star-News
WASHINGTON — Following is a glossary of some terms used in discussions of inflation and the economy:
Discretionary income — The amount of a person's income that remains after he meets all his basic needs and commitments, such as food, clothing, shelter, taxes and debt payments.
Disintermediation — Withdrawal of deposits from savings and loan associations and savings banks to take advantage of higher interest rates in money markets, resulting in a shortage of mortgage credit for housing.

Fiscal policy — management of government spending, taxation and the budget deficit or surplus to stimulate or restrain the economy.
Full employment — State of the economy when the unemployment rate is relatively low (conventionally about 4 per cent of the labor force) and production is close to capacity.
G.N.P. — Gross national product; the total value of goods and services produced.
Real G.N.P. is G.N.P. adjusted to eliminate the distorting effects of inflation. Current-dollar G.N.P. does not make such an adjustment.
Income policies — Direct measures by the government to curb inflationary price and wage increases. These measures can include "jawboning" (exhortation and pressure tactics), voluntary "guidelines" for acceptable increases, selective mandatory controls and comprehensive controls on all forms of income.

Monetary policy — Management of the money supply, credit conditions and interest rates, to the degree they can be influenced by the federal reserve through the banking system, to stimulate or restrain the economy.
Money supply — The amount of money in an economy, narrowly defined as the sum of paper currency and coin plus demand (or checking-account) deposits.
Old-time religion — Term used to describe the view that the way to fight inflation is to tighten credit, reduce government spending and balance the budget — accepting some degree of recession if necessary.

Prime rate — The rate of interest charged by commercial banks for short-term loans to the most credit-worthy corporations.
Real wage, real income —

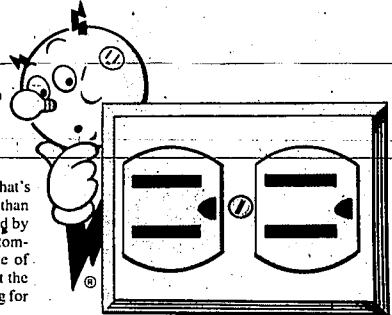

Purchasing power of earnings or income, adjusted for the inflation in consumer prices. Real spendable earnings also subtract tax payments.
Social compact or contract — Idea favored by some liberal economists that, in return for tax relief, workers would agree to moderate their wage demands.

Do we need more power plants?

When someone asks you that question, tell them what's happening to residential electric use in our area. It's up more than 50 percent in five years. Just over half of that growth is caused by new customers, the balance by increased use by existing customers. To a considerable extent this reflects the increased rate of conversion to electricity from other forms of energy. Look at the figures and you'll understand why we do need to keep building for the years ahead.

3 arrested on fugitive warrants

TWIN FALLS — Three persons were arrested by Twin Falls city police Friday on fugitive warrants.

Capt. Tim Qualls chief of detectives, said Larry Rollyson, 33, Gooding, was charged with passing an insufficient fund check in Twin Falls and was arrested on a fugitive warrant from Texas, charging theft and robbery.

Elizabeth Ann Couch, 21, and Sam Randall Couch, 29, both Coeur d'Alene, were also arrested on fugitive warrants from Coeur d'Alene and Spokane, Wash. They are charged with grand larceny and issuing fraudulent checks in the north Idaho and Washington areas.

The arrests were made in lieu of a total of $75,000 on three counts and Mrs. Couch is being held in lieu of $50,000. Bond for Rollyson was set at $35,000. All three are being held for authorities from their local areas.

Golden Age club honors members over 80 years

TWIN FALLS — The Golden Age Club honored all members 80 years and over during a meeting Friday at the DAV hall.

John Henderson and Lewis Smith were in charge of the meeting which opened with a potluck dinner. They were assisted by Ted Steppes.

Lillian Arnsa was mistress of ceremonies. The cake was provided by Emma Stone and the ice cream by Lela Triffin.

Members honored and their ages include John Lundin, 92; Frances Breeding, 90; Emma Stone, 85; Irl and Buehla Bartlett, each 80 and married 60 years; Iva and David Mitchell, married 61 years; and Jack Campbell, Hazel McIlroy, Lewis Smith, Louis Evans and Elva Olson.

Harold and Vena Waggoner, who play for dancing, also were honored. Louise Harral was thanked for her contributions to the club and Elizabeth Harens as Sunshine chairman.

The honored guests each told something of their home state and incidents of their family coming to Idaho. Mrs. Arnsa gave a brief history of the club and Mrs. Griffin read a poem.

Mary Etta Bench, coordinator of the Senior Citizen's Center, was honored as well as Helen Breeding, a volunteer at the center. Both spoke briefly.

Mrs. Olson, club musician, was honored. She played for group singing.

Puppets to perform for TF club meet

TWIN FALLS — The Guignol Puppet Theatre, Gooding, will present the program at the Twentieth Century Club Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the Park Club.

The puppet theater is under the direction of Clare Major, French teacher, and Pat Eisinger, English and art instructor, both at Gooding High School.

The theater was chosen to perform at the Kennedy Performing Arts Center, Washington, D.C., in August. It was so well received there it was given an opportunity to present three performances.

The Twentieth Century Club will hold its annual fall style show in November. Tickets will be on sale at the October meeting.

Governor to talk

TWIN FALLS — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus will be guest speaker at a Welcome Wagon luncheon at 1 p.m. Tuesday at the College of Southern Idaho Cafeteria.

Those who have not been contacted are asked to call Judy Armstrong, 734-5692. Reservations must be made by 10 a.m. Monday.

There will be a barn dance for Welcome Wagon members and new residents in the area from 8 p.m. until midnight Saturday. The dance will be at the Henry Sievers Barn, southwest of Kimberly. Tickets will be sold.

Those attending are asked to bring a plate of hors d'oeuvres. Ice and mixes will be furnished. Reservations should be made immediately by calling Nancy Altman, 734-3216 or Doris Willis, 733-2382.

Other coming events include the student movie, "Jesus Christ Superstar," Oct. 10 in the Fine Arts Auditorium.

Actor honored

Cannon honored at fete

Friday was the television detective's 5th birthday anniversary and when he concluded filming for the day he was greeted at the Holiday Inn with birthday party. Jake Etter who manages the restaurant, coffee shop and bar at the Holiday Inn hosted the event with the assistance of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce.

City and county officials, chamber of commerce board members, leading business officials of the community, members of the Cannon cast and the filming directors and crew of Q M. Productions attended.

Ray Rostron, Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce manager, and Dan Obenchain, chamber president, assisted in making arrangements for the party. Conrad was presented a giant-size fishing fly mounted on a plaque. A large birthday cake was donated by the Holiday Inn.

Quinn-Martin Production representatives were scheduled to complete the second of two programs being filmed here by Saturday night. Crews and cast members are scheduled to leave today for their next location.

The filming was done in the vicinity of Kimberly, in the Snake River Canyon area around Dierkes Lake and at the courthouse in Twin Falls.

Chamber of commerce officials told Conrad Friday night they hope he will find the Snake River area and Twin Falls County suitable for additional television series and return in the near future.

Conrad praised Twin Falls as one of the most hospitable and friendly communities he has visited.

Courtesy month set at Rupert

RUPERT — October will be "Courtesy Month" for Rupert merchants.

The Rupert Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a series of four weekly lectures for merchants and their employees. The lectures are designed to increase courtesy and allow the stores to better serve their customers.

The lectures will be held in two sessions each Wednesday for four weeks, beginning Oct. 2. The early lecture will be given from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m., while a repeat second session will be held from 10 to 11 a.m. All lectures will be held at the Rupert Civic Auditorium.

The lectures are intended for Rupert's merchants and their employees, but the public is welcome to attend, according to Larry Halsted, publicity chairman of the Rupert Merchants' committee of the chamber of commerce.

The first lecture on Oct. 2 will be given by Ray Rostron, manager of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, who will speak on "Selling the Community."

On Oct. 9, Mrs. Donna Kleinkopf of Mountain Bell Telephone Co. will present a film and a lecture on "Telephone-Courtesy," which will be followed by a discussion.

The third lecture will be given Oct. 16 by Tim Brennan of the Idaho Retailers' Association, who will speak on "Shoplifting."

The final lecture, Oct. 23, will be given by an agent from the US Secret Service, who will present a slide series on counterfeit money.

Coffee, punch and donuts will be served at each session by the Rupert merchants.

Gem politicians cover broad topic span

United Press International energy, environment and credit union programs in high schools were major topics Friday on the Idaho political scene.

Second District—Congressional candidate Max Hanson wants a curbing of energy use in conjunction with an immediate nationwide energy study aimed at solving the energy crisis.

Democrat Hanson told the Idaho Falls Kiwanis Club the nation's problem is not strictly what needs to be done immediately to produce enough energy but also what can be done to cut back consumption while desired energy sources are found.

The Democratic candidate for First District, Congress asked his Republican opponent for support on the National Recreation Area legislation.

J. Ray Cox said Rep. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, has adamantly opposed protective legislation for the canyon.

The Republican candidate for state public instruction superintendent advocates the State Education Department encourage credit-union programs in high schools.

Extra Moore, before the board of directors of the Idaho Credit Union League, said such a program would help foster thrift, responsibility and an understanding of good money management through the practical experience of saving and making loans.

Meanwhile, the Democratic candidate for the same office, Roy Truby, says the "forgotten children in our public schools" are those who fall just below average.

"It's been just recently that Idaho and the nation have come to recognize the neglect of the gifted," he said. "We should continue to develop and implement program for those children too."

Democrat John Evans told Preston High School students protection of the resources and environment of Idaho is a major concern of residents of the state.

"Idaho can have good growth and at the same time continue to safeguard its environmental treasures—our agricultural land and natural resources," said Evans, a candidate for lieutenant governor.

Republican Lieutenant governor candidate Vernon Ravenscroft criticized the excess of strengthening local governments being used as a smokescreen to sell state supervision and control of planning and zoning.

He said those who favor total state control of land-use planning have been trying to sell their package under the guise of "state support" for local governments to rely on when carrying out their responsibilities of planning and zoning.

Attorney General Tony Park praised the passage by the U.S. Senate of National Recreation Area as vital to Idahoans.

While campaigning in Caldwell, Park said, "legislation protecting the Hells Canyon trout and developers is of vital importance to the people of Idaho. They recognize that every day the canyon goes unprotected, its future becomes more doubtful."

Wynne Kidwell, Republican candidate for attorney general, says copies of the attorney general's opinions should be made available to the press and public immediately.

Kidwell told the Snake River Homebuilders Association the opinions should go immediately to the courts and to the Idaho Law Library so that members of the press and public can be made aware of legal guidelines that are given on a day-to-day basis.

He said making the opinions available immediately would save money by eliminating the expense of publication.

Idaho's Legislative Land Grant Committee plans to seek legal counsel to help the committee decide how to fight a threat to the future of Idaho's Carey Act projects.

A statement by Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy, chairman of the Land Grant Committee, and Vernon Ravenscroft, chairman of a subcommittee on the Carey Act, said they had determined the Indian Hills project was suitable for transfer to the state for development as a Carey Act project.

The two Republicans said a recent opinion of the solicitor for the Bureau of Land Management dictated that a family could claim no more than an individual—150 acres.

That decision, could effectively kill the Indian Hills project and most other private Carey Act projects in Idaho, they said.

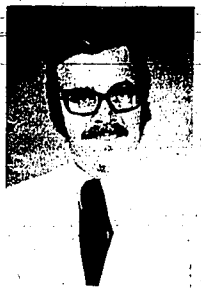

A statement by Lt. Gov. Jack Murphy, chairman of the Land Grant Committee, and Vernon Ravenscroft, chairman of a subcommittee on the Carey Act, said they had determined the Indian Hills project was suitable for transfer to the state for development as a Carey Act project.

Richardson offers services to Ford

BOISE (UPI) — Former Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson said despite his experience in federal administration — President Ford has not asked him to join the administration.

Richardson, who resigned after Special Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox was fired by former President Nixon, has previously served as secretary of health, education and welfare and headed a number of presidential advisory groups.

Richardson told a Boise Press conference Friday, "I have a lot of ideas and views that are available if needed and wanted. I know more about these things than others."

Since he has been without office, Richardson said he has been writing a book covering the problems of big government and what can be done about it.

"It doesn't seem likely that I'll be a candidate," for either any other public office in the 1976 campaign, Richardson said. He said later it is no office he really wants to run for at this time.

Richardson plans on remaining active in the political realm and said, "I'm assuming in 1976 I'll be helping in one way or another to get President Ford elected to a full term."

Questioned on the pardoning of President Nixon, he said that action raised considerable concern on the part of the people of the nation, but that the most part the feeling is that Nixon should not go to jail.

Group navigates mid-fork Salmon

SALMON — The chief of the Forest Service took his first trip down the Middle Fork of the Salmon River in the Idaho Primitive Area in August.

"It's a beautiful and unique area," he commented near the end of his journey.

John R. McGuire, a slender, soft-spoken forest service official, floated the river from Indian Creek to the Flying B Ranch, spending a night on the "wild river."

McGuire, accompanied by assistant secretary of agriculture Robert Long, McGuire's immediate boss in the Department of Agriculture, visited the river to take a look at present management programs and the direction they will need to take in the future.

Accompanying the group were Vern Hamre, region 4 forester from Ogden, Utah; John Emergent, Salmon National Forest supervisor, and Dick Benjamin, Challis National Forest supervisor. Much of the river runs through those two forests.

McGuire commented that the Middle Fork is probably the outstanding example of what Congress had in mind when it set up the wild river classification. "The Middle Fork can certainly serve as an example," he said.

McGuire said he was on the river to see if the forest service in management was on the right course.

He said that the growing need for wilderness could be satisfied by making use of areas in the east that probably would not meet wilderness standards but which, although were farmed and eroded a century ago, produce little evidence of disturbance today.

McGuire said he feels the Idaho Primitive Area, through which the Middle Fork runs, is going to be added to wilderness.

Hamre suggested that the outdoors guide should be looking at a wild river corridor. McGuire tried his hand at fishing at the overnight camp set up at upper Tappan Ranch near Grouse Creek.

Later, around a campfire in the darkening canyon, McGuire discussed his job and programs.

"Most heads of federal agencies serve at the pleasure of the President; I serve under Civil Service. Our effort (forest service) is to be as professional as possible."

"The new mineral regulations are of interest to Idaho. We've long felt we could regulate the use of the forest lands. We hadn't exercised our authority with regards to minerals."

In putting out these regulations we have not denied the miner's rights. In general the small miner is not going to be affected. The fellow who rents a bulldozer for a week will be affected.

McGuire said that authority to regulate the mining industry has been around since 1897.

Hamre noted that because of the increasing costs of livestock feed, the public ranges for cattle grazing are going to become increasingly important.

He said the forest service is seeking to limit the ranges which were deteriorated in the past by overgrazing.

McGuire noted the problem of adequate financing of forest programs, pointing out that in cost of the river, the forest service now is getting about the same funding as in 1962.

"The demand for services has grown by leaps and bounds but all our programs are getting about the same amount of real dollars, while we have the same number of people as in 1962," he said.

He said there is a tremendous opportunity to improve the ranges to grow more livestock to meet the demand without requiring more energy.

The McGuire-Long party floated the Middle Fork by going into Indian Creek from Sawtooth Valley off the Sawtooth City airstrip. After portions of two days and a night on the river, the group flew out of the Flying B Ranch airstrip on the lower Middle Fork for Boise.

TV duplication rule protested

TWIN FALLS — Cable Vision subscribers in the Twin Falls area are being asked to write their congressmen and officials of the Federal Communications Commission expressing views on "non-duplication" regulations.

Officials of Cable Vision here say the non-duplication ruling has outlived its original purpose. It is applicable only in the Mountain Time Zone and therefore is discriminatory against residents of this area.

It prohibits Cable Vision from bringing viewers any program from one of the national networks on a Salt Lake City station if it is being shown within 24 hours of the scheduled time on the local television station.

As a result, Cable Vision officials say, they frequently will show one program on three different stations at the same time because the regularly scheduled shows, listed in the television guides and schedules, will be shown at sometime within the next or preceding 24 hours on KMYT.

"We feel every citizen has the right to watch the three commercial networks and the one educational network at their choosing, not to be dictated to by one local broadcaster. The only cable systems in the United States subjected to this regulation are those in our time zone," officials say.

Viewers are asked to contact their congressmen and the FCC commission asking them to support the rules changes as proposed in the FCC Docket 1995 which includes a petition by the National Cable Television Association asking relief in the area of non-duplication. Local company officials say the alternative proposed in this change would end discrimination in this area.

Frank Church believes his business is your business.

Frank Church believed the people had a right to know long before it became the popular thing to do . . . many years before Watergate was ever heard of . . . a whole decade before the Sunshine Initiative surfaced in Idaho.

The Senator not only believed in full disclosure, he practiced it. And Frank Church didn't limit himself to campaign contributions. He also disclosed his own family income and holdings . . . regularly . . . completely . . . voluntarily.

He was the first public officeholder in Idaho to do it. Until recently, he was the only one to do it. Frank Church sought to lead by his example.

As you know, laws are now being written to require disclosure. Election reform is the issue of the day. But Frank Church . . . ever since 1964 . . . has been leading the way.

He didn't need a law to tell him what's right.

He knew.

County against collective bargaining

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES

Hearing in Camas

FAIRFIELD — The first public hearing on the proposed Camas County subdivision ordinance is set for 8 p.m. Wednesday at the court house here.

Camas County Planning Commission officials said the hearing is the first of two planned on the measure. The hearings will be open to the public. Copies of the proposed ordinance will be available for a $1 fee.

Groundbreaking slated

FILER — Groundbreaking for a new 32-unit apartment complex in Filer will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

The complex, one of the largest housing developments undertaken in Filer, is a unit project, will be located one block west of the Filer High School.

Representatives of various facets of the community have been invited. Neal H. Brutsche of Brutsche Development is in charge of the groundbreaking program.

Potato meet set

BURLEY — The pre-harvest meeting for district V of the Potato Growers of Idaho Inc. will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Ponderosa Inn.

Bob Alfred, district chairman, said local crop conditions will be reviewed.

Smelter owners sued

BOISE (UPH) — Former Kellogg residents have filed suit for more than $1 million against the owners of the Bunker Hill smelter, alleging the smelter caused lead pollution which poisoned their children.

The suit by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Thomas Jr., and children Katrina, Stormy Jean and Alfred Perry III was filed against Gulf Resources and Chemical Corp. and the Bunker Hill Co.

The Thomas family, now of Anacortes, Wash. charged the company with "malicious conduct which threatens the safety of others and has resulted in injuries to...citizens in the community surrounding the lead smelter."

Damage suit filed

FILER — A damage suit seeking $50,000 has been filed in Fifth Judicial District court against the Filer School District.

Lyle and Clara Alley, parents of Lyle Clair Alley, brought the action in a complaint charging negligence on the part of the school district and trustees. Named as defendants are Lawrence Knigge, Dave Chadwick, Everett Andrews, Al Ochsner and Leo Gling, trustees and Lloyd Gary, teacher.

The complaint alleges on Oct. 3, 1972, when Lyle Clair Alley was in the seventh grade, a chair was pulled out from under him and the fall resulted in serious injuries. In addition to general damages, the parents seek $450,75 medical expenses.

government would contravene an elected officials' administrative decision-making powers.

Delegates elected to the 64th annual convention of the Idaho Association of Commissioners and Clerks here Friday, delegates adopted six resolutions including one opposing collective bargaining legislation. New officers for the coming year were also elected and the delegates selected Shore Lodge at McCall as the site for the 1975 meeting.

In adopting the anti-collective bargaining resolution, convention delegates stated elected officials are responsible for the operation of their offices and are accountable to the electorate. They must meet constitutional and statutory obligations regardless of the feelings or attitudes of employees.

Members charged collective bargaining and employee union arrangements in county private land.

Another resolution called for the repeal of the portion of the Idaho election law which permits political parties to have a witness in attendance at the time a shut-in voter marks his ballot.

Clerks assisting deputies assisting shut-ins by taking ballots to their home or hospital are bonded and under oath to maintain the secret ballot law, the resolution stated. Witnesses from political parties are not and may divulge the information to anyone.

Other resolutions expressed appreciation to officials of Twin Falls and Jerome counties for hosting the convention.

A special tribute was paid George Moody, Beneath County member of the executive board for many years and a legislative committee. Moody died just prior to the convention.

Raleigh Bruning, special assistant to Gov. Cecil Andrus, addressed the delegates

Thursday night, representing the governor who is in Washington D.C.

During the convention, entertainment for delegates included special musical groups from the Magic Valley, including the Ward family from Almo and the Jerome High School Chorus Thursday night. A special program of talent from the area county officials highlighted the convention.

Lon Baldwin, Fairfield, cowboy singer who was accompanied by Mannie Shaw, Corral, former president of the state association, was featured during the 1974 national convention in Utah later this year. Harold Lancaster, Twin Falls County clerk and several others also provided musical entertainment.

Members lauded the Snake River Trout Farm guests of Robert Erkin Wednesday and attended a dinner Wednesday night in Jackpot, Nev.

TF commissioners lauded

TWIN FALLS — Outstanding achievement in the management of national resource lands by the Twin Falls County commissioners and Clerks.

The convention which ended in Twin Falls Friday included presentation of special certificates from county commissioners William L. Channing and William Wiseman.

Announcement of the award came at a meeting the previous week in Grand Junction, Colo., attended by commissioner Merl Leonard. He was presented a certificate of appreciation at that time and asked to take individual awards to the two other county officials.

The citations covered six different projects by the county commissioners through their cooperation with the Bureau of Land Management, George Turcott, associate director of BLM, in announcing the awards said the Twin Falls County commissioners worked to support the BLM and to carry out programs of resource management practices in six different areas.

These included the county's annual Johnny Horizon cleanup day chaired by Chancey; the landfill development and elimination of dumpgrounds and promiscuous dumping on public lands in the county; the Salmon Dam recreation area, participation in the Magic Valley Youth Conservation Corps program, extensive land-use planning work and the leadership in developing comprehensive land-use planning in this area.

State 4-H horse fair at Gooding

GOODING — The Gooding County 4-H Horse Club leaders have announced plans for an Invitational Idaho State 4-H Horse Fair to be held Oct. 14.

The event will begin at 9 a.m. in the Gooding County Fairgrounds. All 11 club members who have won top honors at the county or district fairs this year are eligible to compete in the state fair event.

North Side group meets

SHOSHONE — The prospects of getting Antrax through southern Idaho within eight months time are good, according to Dennis Everett, Shoshone, who spoke to the North Side Communities Inc. Thursday.

Everett is the agent for the Union Pacific Railroad in Shoshone. He cautioned area communities to work together, however, as any conflict could cause "no community" to have a train-stop site.

James Muffley, Gooding, president, conducted the business meeting, during which reports on progress of raising funds for improving the West Kings Reservoir were given.

Harrell Thorne, Shoshone, committeeman, said about $600 had been deposited in the bank fund at the Shoshone First Security Bank through sale of stickers this summer.

No actual work has been started on the road construction, however.

The Oct. 24 meeting will feature G.J. Price, Gooding, as speaker, who will report details of his work in connection with the road.

The October meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Manhattan Cafe, Shoshone.

Leaders change

The committee is charged with putting together a plan to provide rail passenger service in southern Idaho that would be a service to the public and no financial drain on the taxpayer.

The organization is supposed to meet with representatives of other organizations and schedule public informational meetings.

State Rep. E. V. Moffat, R-Ketchum, said he will also protest the abandonment plans to the Idaho Public Utilities Commission.

McHan said he has received numerous calls since news articles appeared stating the UP is considering abandoning the line. McHan said is considering abandoning the line. McHan said a group rally such as the one which stopped a four-lane highway through Wood River Valley probably could stop abandonment plans.

One of the hardest hit persons of the four UP now serves here is Doug Sluder who is mining battle west of Clarendon Hot Springs. Sluder has said the abandonment of the rail line would force him to close his operation.

Sluder began his barite operation in July. Barite is a crystalline barium sulfate mineral used in barium x-rays.

According to Sluder, the Union Pacific could receive $1.5 million in revenue over the next five years from his operation. Sluder said he could guarantee UP 30 cars a week for the next five years if the line was kept open.

The only other steady user in Blaine County is Silver Creek Supply at Pico. Owner Bud Purdy said he will probably ship 20 cars of grain from Pico this year. In addition, Purdy often ships carloads of cattle to market from Pico.

He has large quantities of fertilizer and some coal still shipped in on rails.

Sluder and Purdy will protest the abandonment. Purdy has said he will ask UP to truck cattle and grain free of charge to Shoshone if the rail link is abandoned.

The two other users, Anderson Lumber Co. and A. C. Houston Lumber Co., both Ketchum, say their freight business will not be affected that much although truckers' rates will not have to be competitive if the rail is abandoned.

The largest opposition will probably come from Blaine County commuters and parents of school age youngsters.

One firm has plans which it says can make a passenger excursion train solvent in two years. The train would carry school age students and commuters between Bellevue, Hailey and Ketchum for a small charge.

In addition, according to spokesmen for the firm, an excursion may be worked out whereby Son Valley tourists and guests could have the opportunity to ride an excursion train complete with dining cars.

The need for alternative systems of travel were presented this summer at State Highway Department hearings. The consensus among a majority said the state and the nation would soon have to look toward viable alternative travel systems which will conserve energy and money.

Several people said the car is the least favorable, and most polluting form of transportation available.

If UP files abandonment papers with the Interstate Commerce Commission, publication of notices in the local papers and public hearings are required.

Jerome ambulance unit holds 'rescue' in canyon

By CHARLOTTE BELL, Times-News writer

JEROME — The Jerome ambulance service Saturday conducted a mock rescue in the Snake River Canyon using ropes to remove a victim from a ledge in the canyon.

Zane Ostler, 30, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Ostler, was lowered into the canyon to a ledge halfway down where he posed as the alleged victim.

Members of the ambulance crew using ropes rappelled down the side of the canyon to the boy where he was treated for his injuries and then placed into a special basket which was then lowered over the canyon wall by ropes to the ambulance.

Jerome, system of the ambulance service, said they have been training for the past month in the proper methods of rescuing victims who have fallen off the canyon wall. The men are training in an effort to help form a volunteer rescue squad. The squad would be comprised of members of the Jerome Police Department, rural and city fire department and the sheriff's

Man sentenced

TWIN FALLS — Carl Wayne Hiedeman, 22, Twin Falls, was ordered to complete a five year sentence in the Idaho State penitentiary when he appeared Friday before Judge James M. Cunningham, Fifth Judicial District Court.

Hiedeman was sentenced to the five year term and placed on probation earlier this year. Judge Cunningham revoked probation for violation of terms of the probation. The defendant was charged with grand larceny in connection with the theft of 100 radiators from Jansson's wrecking yard June 23, 1972.

Man held

FILER — A Filer man was in custody Saturday, facing six separate charges, as a result of an incident in Filer early Saturday morning.

Sheriff Paul Corrier said his office received a call for assistance from Mike Burgess, a Filer police officer, who was apparently having difficulty making an arrest.

Sheriff Corrier said one of his officers assisted but he did not have details to what happened.

Larry Wilson, 38, Filer, was arrested following the incident and charged with separate counts of assault and battery against a police officer, escape from custody, resisting arrest by means of force and violence, first degree burglary, driving while intoxicated and being drunk and disorderly.

Magistrate court officials set bond at $30,000. Blaine Huddleston, 22, Filer, was also taken into custody at the same time. He was in custody in lieu of $5,000 bond, charged with obstructing an officer.

Hansen charges 'singled out'

SUN VALLEY — Republican congressional candidate George Hansen charged that he is being "singled out as a test case" of campaign financing laws.

Hansen also disclosed that nearly $53,000 has been spent on his campaign so far. He cited reports that up to $132,000 was funneled through pre-campaign accounts opened to handle incoming contributions before the opening of the formal Hansen for Congress Committee account.

"Apparently Hays (Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio) has decided to use me as a test case," Hansen said following a speaking engagement in Sun Valley Friday morning. Hansen charged Hays, who heads the House Administration Committee which earlier asked the Justice Department to investigate Hansen's campaign financing, had singled him out for review from about 8,000 or 7,000 names sent to the Justice Department where nothing ever happens."

He said that he was "sure" other Idaho candidates for national office this year, including his Democratic opponent, Max Hansen, and Democratic Sen. Frank Church, had been "automatically referred to the Justice Department" because of late filings of campaign expenditures and other discrepancies in strict campaign law procedures.

"Anytime there are irregularities there are investigations," Hansen said. "That's the fact that he had been late in filing campaign reports and had inadvertently accepted a number of small corporate contributions could look like a violation," he added.

Hansen said his campaign has been "disrupted considerably" because of the allegations made against him and the Justice Department investigation.

"But apparently it hasn't hurt our situation as far as the voters are concerned," he said. "The three polls that I have been made aware of have had us running at least two to one. I think people are wise enough to understand that there are a lot of politics involved — quite a few politics, too, I might say."

Hansen said he was confident the Justice Department would clear him of any wrongdoing. He added that he was hopeful the investigation would be concluded quickly, before the November elections. "But on the other hand, I know it does take time for these things," he said.

Regarding his campaign financing, Hansen said that previous reports that he had funneled as much as $132,000 through six different banks accounts was not true.

"I don't know how they put these figures together," Hansen said. "I've reported $132,000. I don't know what they are talking about... My figures are accurate, and they reflect somewhere in the neighborhood of $50,000."

Hansen said several times during the early stages of the campaign he had incurred expenses which he had to pay himself. "There were times when I had to pay the bills and you pay them with whatever you have on hand."

At last report, he said, his campaign had expended about $53,000, with some bills still outstanding. This figure included "some money I had to loan to the campaign," he said. He declines to say whether or not some of his personal funds had been included in pre-campaign accounts which he admitted had been set up to handle incoming campaign contributions by trying to try the formation of the Hansen for Congress Committee. He did say that the earlier account had been phased out with the opening of the Hansen for Congress account.

In response to allegations that he had funneled money through as many as six different bank accounts, Hansen said, "That's absolutely ridiculous you can have all kinds of allegations."

"I'm a businessman and I have more than one account for business purposes," the candidate said, "to make anything unusual of it is absolutely irresponsible."

"I'm just not about to justify a handle in irresponsible allegations by trying to try the case before the press," Hansen continued, "to me that's what the Justice Department people are here for is to take care of the matter."

Hansen said he will go to Washington, D.C., Monday to attend a briefing with President Ford on national issues. He said he would meet with House Administration Committee members concerning his case at that time, Hansen said he had no reason to.

"They have referred everything to the Justice Department, where it should be," he said.

Corn futures advance sharply; spuds ahead

CHICAGO — Corn futures posted new "contract" high in active trading Friday. Commodities News Service said nearby contracts reached limit up levels in the more minutes and held those highs for some time before dipping during a midday slump. Futures finished with gains of 1 3/4 cents to 10 cents in the more active trading months. Nearby December held a 10 cent limit gain while the distant December showed a 2 cent loss.

Damage concern continued to be the principal market factor, overcoming expected distress selling of soft corn on the cash market. There were no export sales of corn reported.

In other futures trading Friday: Maine potatoes fell back under profit taking in the afternoon but struggled back to the upside for a few gains at the close. Futures were 6 cents higher to unchanged on a volume of 2,894 carlots. Prices ranged from 8-12 cents higher at the day's best to 7-12 cents under Thursday's close.

VanCasteren heads TF credit unit

TWIN FALLS — Newly-elected officers of the Consumer Credit Association of Twin Falls are announced. President is Gerald VanCasteren of the First Security Bank; vice president, Henry Cardinaline of Intermountain Gas Co.; secretary, Nan Moon of the Paris Co.; and treasurer, George Hughes of the Twin Falls Credit Bureau.

Officers will be installed Oct. 10, with Neil Garrison, vice president of the Idaho Credit Granters Association, the installing officer.

Other new officers include two-year directors Jean Sund, Gem Equipment; Rose Marie White, OK Tire Stores; Neal Garrison, Twin Falls Bank and Trust; and one-year directors, Ray Neal, Full Circle Inc.; LaRue Hortling, Banner Furniture; Audra Lundin, Twin Falls Clinic and Hospital. The CCA is affiliated with the International Consumer Credit Association. Officers state it is an educational organization, with material available to local associations to conduct classes for credit granters, to schools and for talks on consumer credit.

Appointed

red winter and 12 cents under for hard wheat. Soybeans posted limit gains in another active day of trading. Oil futures—opening limit up on speculative demand and closing 65 to 150 points higher. Limit gains showed in 1974 contracts. Meat fat limit highs early and accounted for much of the soybean complex business. Limit high levels stymied bean trading. Chicago cash soybean basis was normally unchanged 15 cents under November. Cash soybean meal was $184 for 44 per cent unrestricted. Soybean oil basis steady 125 points over October.

Feeder cattle futures showed early session signs of strength as fat cattle made uneven upward moves, but late session pressure pared prices sharply. Final quotes ranged from down 42 cents in November to 23 cents up in nearby October. Volume of 221 contracts was the heaviest in two weeks.

Fair, warmer through Monday

Twin Falls, Burley, Rupert, northside areas: Fair and warmer through Monday. Highs today and Monday in the 70's with lows tonight 45. The probability of measurable precipitation near zero. The four-inch soil temperatures will range from high near 60 to overnight lows near 50.

Wood River Valley: Fair and warmer through Monday. Windy afternoons. Highs today and Monday 70 to 75 with lows tonight 45. Probability of precipitation near zero. Synops: Sunny skies were the rule over southern Idaho Saturday as high pressure aloft built over the Intermountain area. Saturday's temperatures began to recover from a cold, dry storm that moved through the area late Thursday and early Friday. This warming trend should continue through today, with little change on Monday. Low temperatures Saturday morning were generally in the 30's in the agricultural valleys and high temperatures Saturday afternoon were generally 10 degrees warmer at most stations, with afternoon readings mostly in the 70's. High temperatures today and Monday will be in the 70's to low 80's in the agricultural valleys with overnight lows in the 30's to low 40's. The extended outlook, Tuesday through Thursday, indicates unsettled weather with a chance of showers Wednesday and Thursday.

Cook Electric into new plant

TWIN FALLS — Cook Electric is now doing business in a new location on the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce Industrial Development site east of the city. John Qualls, general manager of the firm, said the new building, including a shop, warehouse and office all in one structure, was occupied in April.

He said the firm operates primarily in providing electrical control panels for industrial and irrigation operations.

Tuesday the firm trucked giant electrical panel to Pocatello for installation in the J.R. Simplot plant there. It will operate the entire plant's electrical system. Irrigation pump electrical needs have been keeping the firm busy the past several years, Qualls said. The Bell Rapids project and several other new developments which rely on sprinkler or deep well irrigation require considerable electrical services.

For these the firm purchases Westinghouse units which are assembled and refined to include safety and other facilities to guard against and control power surges, power shut offs and over protect against lightning strikes.

Qualls said he has added 50 miles of new underground wire in anticipation of new installations this fall and winter.

Cook Electric also handles electrical contracting and supplies electrical panel units throughout western states, including Montana, Utah, Nevada and Washington. The new building 225 feet by 30 feet, provides storage and an assembly area where about 18 workers are employed during the summer season. Ardith Wheeler is office manager and purchasing agent; Warren Chapman, secretary, treasurer, and Web Malone, sales director. Ron Warmenien is electrical engineer for the firm.

Silver

NEW YORK (UPI) — Handy and Harman quoted silver at $4.255 per fine ounce, up 19.5 cents.

Fuel outlets fewer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tight money and the energy crisis have driven nearly 20,000 gas stations out of business in the past year, but the total number of the country's other retail outlets remained stable after seven years of decline, a survey showed Thursday. The report by Audits and Surveys Inc., a marketing research firm, said the number of gasoline stations fell from 215,889 to 196,130 — a drop of 9.1 per cent. Automotive outlets of all types slipped by 8 per cent, from 322,080 to 302,840, it added.

In a related development, the Commerce Department in Washington reported Thursday that retail sales declined 2 per cent last week.

Coal deposit found

MANAUS, Brazil (UPI) — What is believed to be one of the largest coal deposits in the world has been discovered in the state of Amazonas near Brazil's border with Peru and Colombia. A spokesman for a consortium that made geological studies of the region said the deposit was "a truly gigantic one." There was no mention of the exact size. The consortium is made up of the Mineracao Tropical Co. and Shell of Brazil. The spokesman said the deposit was first detected in the 1950s by an Australian geologist, who alerted Brazilian authorities to the possibilities of the existence of "the largest reserve of lignite in the world."

Promoted

WILLIAM E. Babcock has been promoted to assistant manager of the Twin Falls office of the Idaho First National Bank, effective Oct. 1. He began his banking career in July, 1965, at Fidelity National Bank in Twin Falls and was advanced to installment loan officer when the bank was merged with the Idaho First National Bank in July, 1970. He was named loan officer in December, 1972.

Graduates

MELVIN SWITZER JR., assistant vice president of the Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co., has received a diploma from the Colorado School of Banking at the University of Colorado, Boulder. He began the three-year course of study in 1972 while a bank examiner with the US Treasury Department.

Awaits frost

BUCKWHEAT awaiting a killing frost was grown this summer by a retired Hansen man, Herman Ripley, in his garden. His interest in nutrition and health foods and the fact he could not find any buckwheat flour in the stores some time ago caused him to plant his own plot.

Hansen 'farmer' awaits harvest of buckwheat

By LORAYNE O. SMITH

Times-News writer
HANSEN — Herman Ripley is waging a quiet campaign to promote growing buckwheat in the Magic Valley.

After he was unable to buy buckwheat flour anywhere in the area last winter he decided to grow some in his garden at his home in Hansen.

He got the seed from Laurel, Iowa, and after considerable correspondence with "experts" regarding climatic conditions, it was determined Ripley should plant the buckwheat seed in July.

Since this particular kind of grain has to have a killing frost to mature, Ripley said it is important not to plant it too early in the season. His small garden plot is still standing, awaiting the frost.

But while he waits for his harvest, Ripley a retired power firm employe, has been busy with other gardening projects. One corner of his garden was devoted to Gaines wheat which Ripley not only cut by hand, but is periodically grinding into wheat, which he and his wife use in baking bread.

He feels, like many other health food enthusiasts, that the "enriched" flour and other store purchased foods produced from grain have lost much of their nourishment.

"I harvested his wheat with a jackknife and then tied the fallen grain into bundles and shocked them.

"It was the first time I'd shocked grain in 47 years," Ripley said.

The only concession Ripley made to modern convenience was in getting his neatly tied bundles of wheat threshed.

This was accomplished with the help of a friendly neighbor — Blake Fröehlich — who stopped with his combine in the alley while Ripley and his neighbor tossed the bundles into the machine.

The Hansen man grinds his wheat which was threshed from his 19 bundles as he needs it for baking. He uses a grinder which resembles the ordinary household food grinder except for the addition of a large stone against which the kernels are converted into flour.

Ripley feels that it is important to use the stone because it prevents the kernels from becoming as hot as with other type material. The excessive heat detracts from the nutritional value of the wheat, he says.

Usually Ripley grinds the kernels twice to create a finer grade flour. Before the grinding he pours the wheat back and forth between pans to let the chaff blow away, reminiscent of age-old winnowing, dating back to biblical times.

Ripley, who moved to Hansen in 1970 after retiring from 28 years with the Idaho Power Co., and a total of 42 years with power firms, hopes other people may become interested in raising buckwheat.

He said he has talked to some seed company representatives who expressed interest in the grain, which is considered to be high in vitamin B. Buckwheat, popularly known for its use in hotcakes, also is good for the oil, Ripley says.

According to information the Hansen man has read on the subject, there were some 22 million bushels of buckwheat produced throughout the country in 1866, but this has decreased over the years and in 1969 there were only three-quarters of a million bushels.

The buckwheat in his garden, which stood waist high and had a white flower when in bloom, now stands waiting for Jack Frost to bring it to fruition.

And the Ripleys are looking forward to some buckwheat hotcakes and other nutritious eating.

Time and talent given freely by TF woman

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Mary Moser estimates she has sewn-over 700 quilts in the last three years.

And she gave nearly every one of them away. Mrs. Moser gives most of the quilts, as well as some children's clothing, to Mrs. Julia Campana, Twin Falls, who operates a welfare program for the Twin Falls School district.

"She needed the help and I was more than glad to help her," Mrs. Moser, 58, Twin Falls, said. "It gives me something to do."

Injured in a traffic accident several years ago, Mrs. Moser, a widow, cannot do any heavy work, so sewing fits her life well. And it definitely keeps her busy.

Her living room is filled with a sewing machine, quilting frame, boxes of scraps and half-finished articles. Mrs. Moser spends most of her day sewing. In a week's time, she can put out 12 quilts.

In return for her work, Mrs. Moser gets scraps and thread for more sewing projects. She receives no pay, but lives on Social Security and a small welfare check.

Some of the things she makes go to her own children, but most go to the needy. Her quilts and children's clothing have been donated to the school district, the missionaries of the Nazarene Church and several elderly neighbors. Specially painted pillows and stuffed animals, all handmade by Mrs. Moser, have also found their way into the hands of eager Twin Falls youngsters.

"I make animals for the children for Christmas — the ones that don't have too much," she said.

A welfare recipient herself, Mrs. Moser probably has less materially to give than many Twin Falls residents, but what she does have — time and talent — she gives of freely.

Education energy answer

MARILYN KENDRICK

MCCALL, Idaho (UPI) — Education must get with it if the energy problem is to be whipped and lifestyles changed to meet the decreasing supply of energy, a state Department of Education spokesman said today.

A.D. Luke, a program administrator for the state department, was a speaker at the concluding session of the three-day conference on "Energy and man's Environment". It was attended by 75 science and environmental teachers from throughout Idaho.

He said that schools should be provided assistance necessary from a state level to help our young generation cope with our environmental problems.

"As an example," Luke said, "for four straight years our department has asked the legislature for funding for a full-time staff member to work in environmental education and has been turned down each time. We need such a person to provide the leadership and guidance in the entire area of environmental education and energy."

He added that well planned inservice training programs, designed for teachers and administrators, should be started and that instructional materials need to be obtained and distributed to classrooms. "Idaho schools have gradually been revising their instructional programs to include environmental education, but not nearly at a rapid enough pace. Actually, environmental education should be a part of every discipline, including mathematics, science, social studies, vocational and language arts," Luke said.

DEAR ABBY: Your recent exchange of letters concerning educational living at college prompts me to think you might be amused by this song which I wrote published and copyrighted a few months ago.

RICHARD L. GREEN, NEW HAVEN, CONN

THE OLD FASHIONED CO-ED

(To the tune of "Don't Send My Boy to Harvard, the Dying Mother Said")
 One busy Monday morning in the office of the dean A pretty girl with downcast eyes appeared upon the scene; The dean was brisk and businesslike; her slacks were neatly pressed; She asked the girl the reason why she felt herself distressed.
 "I'm dropping out," the student said, "although I'd... hoped to stay.
 I'm sure that I could never last until Commencement Day; I know that coed living's great, but I cannot conform; I'll try to find some backward school that has a woman's dorm."
 Chorus:
 I did not come to college to lose my maiden flower; I came to work and study hard for every credit hour; For eighteen years I've walked upon the straight and narrow path;
 I do not want a football man to share my room and bath; "I cannot help you," said the dean; "our policy is clear: In rich, mature relationships we do not interfere; If normal, heterosexual life is making you so nervous, I would suggest that you consult our psychiatric service."
 "No, thank you," said the girl; "I know that here I don't belong; I'll try to find some backward place where folks say 'right' and 'wrong'."
 The tears were trembling on her lids; she quickly turned away; And as she closed the office door these sad words she did say:
 Chorus:
 I did not come to college etc.

TF miss weds Texan in garden ceremony

TWIN FALLS — Geraldine Gurley and Joseph Lamonica were married Sept. 18 in a garden setting at the home of the bride's mother.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Bonnie Gurley and the late A. L. (Bud) Gurley, Twin Falls, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Grace Lamonica and the late Augustine Lamonica, Houston, Tex.

Rev. Robert Van Nest performed the double ring ceremony at 3 p.m. in a setting of Grecian columns adorned with floral arrangements in yellow, bronze, coral and white.

Escorted by Joseph Gubser, Gilroy, Calif., her uncle, the bride wore an A-line gown of ivory silk. Strips of French imported lace accented the center front, hem and three-quarter length sleeves.

She wore a hat encrusted with pleated ruffles of ivory silk topped with a motif of french lace. She carried a cascading arrangement of Tropicana roses, stephanotis, bronze daisy pom pom chrysanthemum, baby's breath and trailing ivy.

Susan Conrad, Houston, Tex., was maid of honor. Carol Anderson, New York, was bridesmaid.

David McNeal was best man. Stephen Thorson and Robert Dexter, Gilroy, uncle of the bride, were ushers.

Robert Thompson composed and performed music for the ceremony. Mrs. Mary Mead was vocal soloist.

The couple was honored at a reception immediately following the ceremony in the garden. The reception was catered by Carl's Catering Service, Rupert.

After cutting the three tiered white cake trimmed with roses and topped with handblown glass doves, a gift of a lifelong friend of the bride who had used them on her cake, the couple proceeded to a round buffet table draped in white satin and lace with a large revolving floral arrangement as its main decoration.

Shirley Ann Gurley, sister of the bride, and Gail Mitchell, Berkeley, Calif., cousin of the bride, were in charge of the guest book.

Guests were seated at small quartet tables covered with white embroidered darcen and decorated with miniature attendant bouquets in imported bird's nests.

Out of town guests attended from the states of New York, Connecticut, Missouri, Texas, New Mexico, Nevada, Utah and California.

The couple will reside in Houston, Texas, where the bridegroom is employed by Exxon Co., USA, and the bride is an officer of the Bank of America International, Texas.

Ski patrol elects leaders

FAIRFIELD — Jerry Ostler, Jerome, has been elected leader of the Soldier Mountain Ski Patrol.

Other new officers are secretary Roy Wright, Filer; treasurer Dean Sangrey, Mountain Home; training and testing assistants Sonny Henry, Gooding, and Lowell Ruby, Hill City; equipment and supplies chairman Dale Thomas, Fairfield.

An improvement made this year will be the addition of radios to the patrol's equipment. Most members will carry the radios which they purchased themselves, while patrolling on Soldier Mountain, Ostler said.

Altrusa plans made

TWIN FALLS — Members of the Twin Falls Altrusa Club made plans for the official visit of the second vice-governor, Evelyn Hendrix, Corvallis, Ore., when they met Thursday evening.

The group met at the home of Fayesther Waegelin, with Margaret McCall as co-hostess.

The official visit is set for Oct. 9 at 6:30 p.m. at the Colonial House, with Virginia Bancroft heading a committee, for special reports.

A report was given by Dottie Rowe on a joint project the group is sponsoring and announcements were given by Norma Herzinger, president.

The board meeting is set for Oct. 8 and the evening meeting at 8 p.m. Oct. 24 at the home of Carolyn Comer, with Elaine Nesbitt as co-hostess.

It was announced the Twin Falls Chapter of the American Association of University Women is sponsoring a series of six mini-courses to be given on consecutive Wednesday evenings beginning Oct. 2 and ending Nov. 6. Mrs. Bancroft urged members to make special note of the courses and participate if possible. Two Altrusa members will be part of the AAUW program, Mrs. Waegelin on budgeting and

Ode to segregated college housing

DEAR RICHARD: Beautiful! And bless your sweet wiffenpool for sharing.

DEAR ABBY: If an advertisement on TV or radio is repulsive to me, I refuse to buy the product, even if it's the cheapest of several brands.

For example, the other day there were three different brands of toilet tissue on the shelf in a supermarket. One I had never heard of; another I had seen advertised occasionally, but not often; and a third whose TV commercials were so repulsive to me that I actually have changed the channel so I wouldn't have to look at it. I bought the middle brand.

My wife disagreed. She wanted to buy the brand with the repulsive advertising because she thought it was the best quality.

Who is right? Am I to ignore the repulsive advertising because of quality? Letters to the network don't help. I've written and complained, but the TV advertising gets worse.

FRUSTRATED

DEAR-FRUSTATED: You're complaining to the wrong people. Write to the president of the company whose product you refuse to buy because of the "repulsive" advertising and tell him why! If enough complaints cross his desk, he will inform his ad agency that he wants some changes made.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding the "38-year-old professional woman" who wants to have a child to find her "ultimate fulfillment." I have a few thoughts:

My mother was just such a professional woman. She collected a husband, a daughter and a dog to "enrich" her life. The only one who was not damaged by the "enrichment" was the dog.

Babysitters, housekeepers, boarding schools seemed to be the child's lot.

Abby, I agree with your answer and strongly suggest she acquire a dog and two cats and call it a family. Using other human beings to fulfill oneself is worthwhile only if one can give as well as take.

With sugar prices soaring, try these ideas

NEW YORK (UPI) — The rapidly rising cost of sugar may not be bitter medicine after all.

Many medical authorities say the typical American eats far too much sugar, and in fact, needs no sugar as such in a nutritionally balanced diet.

But few of us are apt to give up sweets altogether. So here are some ideas for making desserts and other sweetened dishes with either less sugar or natural substitutes.

Cook apples in frozen unsweetened apple juice or orange juice concentrate or sweet cider to make applesauce.

Pure naturally sweet fruits such as ripe bananas or prunes and blend into stiffly beaten egg whites to make fruit whips.

Little or no sugar will be needed.

Choose the ripest fruit you can find if you plan to serve it raw. Then sweeten, if necessary, with a little corn syrup. It's better than sugar for this purpose anyway because the syrup makes a less watery mixture because it doesn't draw juices from the fruit.

The consumer service department of C P C International, a major manufacturer of corn syrup, says the price is expected to rise but not in proportion to that of sugar.

It can be substituted for sugar entirely in a variety of foods and beverages. To make good cinnamon toast, blend 2 tablespoons of corn syrup with 3 tablespoons of softened butter or margarine and 1 teaspoon of cinnamon. Spread on toast and broil until the spread bubbles.

Corn syrup can be substituted for simple syrup (sugar boiled with water) for use in cold drinks and punches.

It can take the place of sugar in baked beans, barbecue sauce, dessert sauces and ham glazes.

Shopping on St. Thomas highlights cruise

Bandshell in Emancipation park

By LORAYNE O. SMITH
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — St. Thomas, in the Virgin Island chain, is a shopper's paradise.

The big thing on this island stop during the Times-News Caribbean cruise in January will be to exchange whatever spending money you've taken along for whatever type of items you want to take home.

Travelers consider St. Thomas an excellent place to purchase luxury items such as jewelry, cameras and watches, and especially all types of liquor because the prices are considerably under those in the states and it is a duty-free port.

One highly advertised store, Carlo's, proved to be a mecca for inexpensive items, though upon first entering the place we thought we must be in the wrong store — being so conditioned to typical American floor space and lighting.

Be sure to investigate the alleys for they too are lined with shops. Twin Falls residents, in particular, will be interested to walk another few blocks to Emancipation Park, a neat central square right off the water front where the slaves heard their freedom in 1946.

There is a large bandshell and when I inquired from two native women about anything comparable to our Thursday night city band concerts, they instead told me Lady Bird Johnson had visited the site June 2, 1965, and pointed out a marker commemorating the event.

While many of the stores are air conditioned and as modern as any on the US mainland, there still are enough "hole in the wall" type establishments to make shopping delightful — at least for women.

Husbands nearly always are tired even before they start such a venture, so beware of this problem. (How about pairing up with the girls, leaving the hubbies to amuse themselves aboard ship?)

There are many picturesque places to eat right along the water-front overlooking the harbor and if your legs give out before your money (or even vice versa) you can end your day with something to long remember — a ride in a glass bottomed boat.

For only $4 per person an enterprising seaman appropriately named Capt. Cook takes passengers, 20 at a time, over the rippling waves of the tranquil bay out to where one has excellent views of the marine life through the glass panels in the bottom of the center of his open boat. While he steers the boat the captain delivers an informative dissertation on sealife and the historical aspects of his domain.

The harbor was used by the Confederacy during our Civil War, and the US finally purchased the Virgin Islands in 1917, just a week before our entry into World War I.

In 1931 the islands, whose name is attributed to Christopher Columbus' reference to the 12 virgins in the Bible, became a territorial possession administered by the Department of Interior, the captain said.

He tells passengers the 100-some islands are evenly divided between the US and Britain and the connection with the romance of early day piracy is retained with one of the British Isles called Treasure Island, after which Robert Louis Stevenson reportedly named his famous novel. That island still is believed to have buried treasure, so 'tis said. Charlotte Amalie also was a rendezvous for pirates in the 17th and 18th centuries and if you go on the island tour you'll see the mythical Bluebeard's "castle," now converted to a hotel, in the best capitalistic tradition.

The entire site is commercialized, but tastefully landscaped and the architecture harmonizes with the terrain.

If you prefer to explore the island on your own, taxi fares seemed reasonable, and you'll undoubtedly need a ride back to the ship if you're going shopping.

You'll be back aboard the Mardi Gras in time for dinner which is a real occasion daily. Each night a different country is featured with waiters wearing the appropriate hats for a "Night in Paris" or Vienna.

Ken Beebe of Harrison Travel Service is handling arrangements for the tour and interested prospective participants should contact him.

Now that our tour is but a collage of pleasant memories, one of the best is that day in beautiful Charlotte Amalie, riding over the sparkling bay in the glass bottomed boat and refreshing ocean breeze.

Open house set Oct. 5 in new Minidoka clinic

RUPERT — Plans for the expansion of Minidoka Memorial Hospital will be unveiled at an open house Oct. 5 in the new Minidoka Medical Clinic adjacent to the hospital.

According to hospital administrator Ed Richardson, the construction of the clinic completes the first phase of a three-step program to expand hospital facilities.

Plans for the remaining two phases, expansion of emergency treatment facilities and the addition of a 45-bed nursing home wing, will be on display at the open house, which will be held Oct. 5 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. under the sponsorship of the hospital, the Pink Ladies and the physicians presently practicing in the clinic's new offices.

Richardson said expansion of the hospital's emergency room and the adjacent waiting room, as well as the covering of the ambulance entrance, will begin soon, with final approval from the state expected within a few days. The present emergency facilities are equipped to handle only one patient at a time, the administrator said. Since — most — emergency treatment results from traffic accidents in which there is often more than one injury, the emergency facilities are not adequate, he added.

He estimated that the cost of expanding the facilities will run between $100,000 and $120,000 and will be paid for entirely out of accumulated county tax levies.

The most costly phase of the hospital upgrading, addition of the 45-bed nursing home wing, will be financed only with voter approval of a general obligation bond issue, Richardson said.

He estimated that state approval of the construction will be completed shortly after the first of the year and that the bond issue will be submitted to voters during the summer of 1975, with construction following once the bond issue is approved, if it is approved. Richardson urged Rupert and Minidoka County residents to attend the open house at the clinic and to evaluate — for themselves — the hospital's long range plans.

Speech winner

TWIN FALLS — Charlotte Jones won the blue pencil at the Friday meeting of the Twin Falls Toastmistress Club.

The red pencil went to Frances Hesseholt. President Annette Jenkins presided, and Flo Harper gave the invocation. Table topics were led by Doris Jensen.

Eleanor Burkhart gave the education lesson and introduced Juanita Cox for membership. Shirley Murrell gave a speech, Virginia Eldredge was general evaluator and Louise Koontz was Toastmistress for the day. Retta Potucek was a guest.

Our limousine climbed to the "Top of the Mountain," not to be taken literally, but a convenient tourist facility some 1,000 feet above sea level offering both banana daiquiris to quench one's thirst and a wide assortment of items of every description, many of them less than $5.

Here is a good place to bring home those small gifts for the grandchildren, neighbors or fellow workers.

On route back to the city tourists get a "postcard" view of Magen's Bay on the north coast, a heart-shaped sandy beach described as one of the most beautiful in the world, donated to the people of the island for public use.

The tour ends on the main street, which is right on the water-front and typical tourists, armed with many instructions and even a stenciled map of the shopping

McMillan rallies Boise St. past Montana State 40-37

BOZEMAN, Mont. (UPI) — Boise State quarterback Jim McMillan rallied the Broncos from a 17-10 deficit behind Saturday to a 40-37 win over Montana State University, in the opening Big Sky Conference game for the two teams.

McMillan, who spoiled MSU's dedication of the new, Henp II, Sab Stadium, passed for 343 yards and added another 63 yards in rushing, passing for four touchdowns and breaking the Boise State one-game foul offense record.

Boise State, ranked third in the UPI College Division Poll, leads the nation in total offense and is the defending Big Sky champion.

MSU's quarterback Mike Holder almost matched McMillan, passing for three touchdowns and scoring once himself.

The Bobcats were on the board first with a 29-yard field goal by Pat Bolton, but McMillan quickly got the Broncos in command at 20-10 on two passes to sophomore wide receiver Terry Hutt and on running back John Smith by interception.

MSU raced to a 20-20 lead in the third quarter with three touchdowns, two on passes from Holder to wide receiver Bryan Flagg, and on a 33-yard run by fullback Roscoe Schmidt.

Boise, after going scoreless in the third quarter, tucked 20 points on the board in the final period to overcome the Bobcat lead.

Two blocked punts by the Bronco defense unit set up two scores.

Boise is now 3-0 on the year and Montana State is 2-2.

Villanova nips Idaho 15-7 in final minutes

VILLANOVA, Pa. (UPI) — Linebacker Bill O'Connell trapped Idaho punter Steve Tanner in the end zone for a safety on a 23 yard punt in the game Saturday to supply the winning points in Villanova's come-from-behind 15-7 victory over the Indios.

Villanova, leading 7-6, Tanner received a bad snap from center John Yarno and fumbled in the end zone. He was picked up by the surprised Villanova defense and tackled by O'Connell.

Villanova scored one minute later when Mike Lombardi broke loose on the sidelines and galloped 54 yards for the insurance points.

The Wildcats had taken an early 6-0 lead on two field goals by Dennis Griggs, but Dave Comstock scored on a four-yard run with 1:57 left in the third period to boost Idaho to a 7-6 lead.

Idaho got the ball back one last time, but with 25 seconds left, and Dennis Ballack's desperation pass was intercepted by defensive back Scott Kaufman on the Vandals' 45-yard line.

Villanova, 3-8 last year, is now 2-1. The loss dropped Idaho to 0-2.

Iowa State nips BYU

AMES, Iowa (UPI) — Three field goals by Tom Goedjen and a hard-charging Iowa State defense were enough Saturday to snuff a crippled Brigham Young team, 34-7.

The Cyclone defense, playing in the rain, produced a touchdown and two safeties and kept continuous pressure on BYU quarterback Gary Scheide, the nation's no. 2 passer 1st year. Scheide was sacked four times and completed only four of 11 passes for 25 yards.

Phil Danowsky scored two touchdowns for Iowa State on short runs and then Dave Mike Gnade fell on a blocked punt for a third touchdown.

The Cyclones also got a safety in the first quarter when Scheide was called for intentional grounding in the end zone, and another in the final period when Rex McFarland tackled reserve quarterback Mark Giles in the end zone.

The victory was ISU's first against two losses this season. BYU is now 0-3.

TOUCHDOWN RECEPTION is made by Oakley's Greg Gorringer as Ruff River safety Rick Harper just misses batting it away. Gorringer trotted 20 yards after the catch to complete a 59-yard play but Ruff River was 26-18.

Wyoming stuns Air Force in 20-16 upset

LARAMIE, Wyo. (UPI) — Wyoming's only first-half score came with no time left when freshman quarterback Rick Costello, his 18-play drive stalled at the Air Force 13, booted a 29-yard field goal.

Wyoming cut the Air Force lead to four points in the third period with a 39-yard field goal by Costello and then took the lead in the third period with a 39-yard field goal by Costello and then took the lead in the final quarter with a 19-yard pass from Costello to flanker Doug Wilson to cap a 10-yard drive. The Cowboy drive began when linebacker Joe Marion picked up a fumble by Vaughn at the Air Force 16.

Wood River defeats Filer 35-12

HAILLY — Two long runs by Tim Martin, a fumble and a pass interception lifted the Wood River Wolves past the Filer Wildcats 35-12 Friday afternoon.

The victory was not as lopsided as it seemed as the Wildcats coming out in a shotgun formation moved the ball well and Filer scoring on only two of its threats.

Filer scored on its opening series with Wood River coming back on a 65-yard sweep by Martin, a fumble at the 35 and the Wolves' late in the first half and Wood River hammered at the middle until running out of downs. Then it went without a huddle, the split receive staying side and Filer neglected to cover him with the rest being a touchdown pass from Martin.

Filer went to the shotgun with its second half kickoff and met to the three before fumbling. Wood River replied on a leg pass to Linderman and then the second Martin rollout for the score.

The Wildcats then binned back to fight the margin to 20-12.

A bad snap on center set up a short Wood River run for its fourth touchdown with Filer again moving downhill immediately after. Louie Overholt, head coach, said his interception, returning the ball 102 yards for the final points.

N. Arizona wins as late ISU bid fails

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (UPI)—Quarterback Dan Troup threw two scoring passes to Kevin Riley to lead Northern Arizona to a 20-15 win over Idaho State in a Big Sky Conference game Saturday.

The Northern Arizona defense preserved the victory, stopping the Bengals on the 10-yard line in the closing minutes.

Trailing 14-0 at halftime, Idaho State picked up a third quarter touchdown on a 62-yard pass play from quarterback Steve Tschies to split end, Tom Hoffmann.

With 12:20 left in the game, Rene Garnett picked off a Troup pass and returned it 40 yards to bring the Bengals to within two points at 14-12. Idaho State went ahead 15-14 on a 27-yard field goal by Steve Beller.

Four plays later, Troup hit Riley with a 15-yard scoring aerial.

Bama stops Vanderbilt 23-10

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (UPI)—Sophomore fullback Calvin Culliver scampered 25 yards for a first-period touchdown Saturday to pace third-ranked Alabama to a 23-10 shutout eastern conference victory over stubborn Vanderbilt.

Russ Schaman caught a 14-yard pass from quarterback Richard Todd for another Alabama score. Kicker Berry kicked two field goals from 36 and 42 yards out and Danny Ridgeway, who converted two of two extra point attempts, added three points from 27 yards out.

It was the third straight victory this year for the defending national champions, but the Commodores, 2-0 coming into the game, refused to quit. They scored a touchdown with less than nine minutes to play on a 26-yard pass from Fred Fisher to Walter Overstreet. Kicker Mark Adams hit a 20-yard field goal earlier.

Vanderbilt's first possession of the game ended in a punt that rolled 47 yards to the Alabama 25. Randy Billingsly ran for two yards, then Todd hit George Pugh with an 11-yard pass to give the Tide the ball at its own 15.

Culliver took the handoff from Todd, broke through the middle of the Commodore defense and found himself home free for the final 79 yards of the 65-yard scoring romp. In all, he gained a total of 110 yards for the campus crowd of 58,000.

UCLA batters Michigan State

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Talented John Sciarra ran for two touchdowns and passes for a third in the first half Saturday night to lead UCLA's Bruins to their first victory of the season, a 54-21 thrashing of Michigan State in their home opener.

Sciarra, no. 31 in the nation in total offense after last weekend with 503 total yards in two games, accounted for 237 yards against the previously unbeaten Spartans. The junior quarterback hit nine of 11 passes for 179 yards and carried the ball seven times for 58 yards.

UCLA fumbled a total of 13 times in a 17-17 tie at Tennessee and a 21-10 shocking defeat at Iowa in its two previous starts but it had only one fumble against Michigan State, no. 21. The Bruins recovered that fumble. It was the Pacific Eight's first win of the season in five tries against Big Ten rivals. Sciarra's touchdown runs came the first two times the Bruins took the ball and provided the impetus for new head coach Dick Vermell's first win at UCLA. Sciarra scampered 41 yards after he went back to pass and found his receivers covered, scoring at 1:43 of the first period.

Dodgers thump San Diego 5-2

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—Andy Messersmith became the National League's first 29-game winner Saturday night when he combined with Steve Garvey on a five-hitter and pitched Los Angeles to a 5-2 triumph over the San Diego Padres which enabled the Dodgers to clinch at least a tie for the NL West crown.

The victory, which was the Dodgers' 16th in 18 games with San Diego this season, whittled the Dodgers' "magic number" to one for clinching the division title. Los Angeles and Cincinnati, which trails the Dodgers by three games, each have three games remaining.

Sports

Utah miscues help Oregon win

SALE LAKE CITY (UPI)—Stan Woodfill kicked three field goals and Oregon used three Utah turnovers to score 20 second half points as the Ducks pulled out a 23-16 win Saturday night.

Utah threatened to score a touchdown in the final minute. But a holding penalty moved the ball 60 yards in 11 plays with Don Reynolds going the final three.

Oregon then came up with an interception and two fumble recoveries in the third quarter, scoring on each turnover, to give them the win.

Florida sinks Miss. State

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI)—Florida quarterback Don Gaffney threw for one touchdown and backup quarterback Jimmy Fisher ran for another Saturday to lead the fired-up Florida Gators to a 29-13 Southeastern Conference win over Mississippi State.

The 11th-ranked Gators, with their eyes on a share of the SEC title for the first time in 41 years, turned two State fumbles into a runaway game before 48,843 Florida Field fans.

Gaffney's 15-yard touchdown pass to freshman running back Tony Green came with 46 seconds left.

Pirates reclaim lead; Yankees win pair

NEW YORK (UPI)—A three-run home run by Richie Hebner and a two-run homer by Richie Zisk powered the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 7-3 victory over the New York Mets Saturday afternoon.

The Pirates victory, coupled with the St. Louis Cardinals' loss to Chicago, gave Pittsburgh sole possession of first place in the National League East, one game ahead of the Cards.

Hebner's blast, his 18th of the season, came in the third inning off starter and loser Tug McGraw, 6-11, and broke a 1-1 tie.

With one out, Willie Stargell led off the first inning with a home run into the rightfield bullpen.

Zisk capped his 17th homer of the season in the fifth inning with a two-run homer off reliever Al Oliver, who had doubled, on base. The puke chased McGraw and brought in Bob Miller, the second of four pitchers used by the Mets in a futile effort to pool hot Pirates' bats.

Bloomberg paces Yankees' sweep

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Ron Blomberg hit three two-run homers and Craig Nettles, Roy White and Lou Piniella lead the New York Yankees to a 9-3, 6-7 doubleheader sweep over the Cleveland Indians.

The sweep put New York in a first-place tie with Baltimore in the American League East with the Orioles playing a later night game in Milwaukee.

Blomberg hit two of his homers in the first game to give Pat Dobson his 18th victory of the season and then hammered his third as a pinch-hitter in the eighth, won by Sparky Lyle, who pitched appearing in his 65th game to tie a club record.

Braves split with Houston

ATLANTA (UPI)—Don Wilson pitched a two-hitter in the first game as the Houston Astros beat the Atlanta Braves 5-0 Saturday night and Atlanta's Phil Niekro came back with a two-hitter in the second game to give the Braves a 6-2 triumph.

Orioles take fifth straight

BALTIMORE (UPI)—Don Baylor and Paul Blair each cracked two-run doubles to support Mike Cuellar's seventh straight victory Saturday as the Baltimore Orioles blasted the Milwaukee Brewers 7-1 for their fifth straight win.

Baltimore thus moved four percentage points ahead of New York, 551 to 547, in the race for first place in the American League East.

Cuellar, 22-10, was staked to a 2-0 lead in the first inning when Paul Blair and Bob Grich singled, then came around to score on a throwing error by Brewer catcher Charlie Moore. When Blair broke for third base on the front end of a double steal, Moore threw wildly into left field as Grich followed Blair across home plate.

Red Sox rout Detroit 7-2

DETROIT (UPI)—Bob Montgomery doubled in Fred Lynn to spark a five-run Boston fourth-inning Saturday and propel the Red Sox to a 7-2 rout of the Detroit Tigers.

Luis Tiant and Dick Pole combined to hold the Tigers to just five hits with Tiant going the first five innings for his 22nd win of the year.

Reds outslug Cincinnati 13-6

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Dave Concepcion's three-run homer Saturday broke a 6-6 tie in the seventh inning and the Cincinnati Reds went on to a 13-6 victory over the San Francisco Giants in a game twice delayed by rain.

Concepcion's homer, his 14th of the season, was one of his three—among the 15 hits the Reds collected off six Giants' pitchers.

Joe Morgan hit his 22nd and Johnny Bench hit No. 32 back-to-back in the second inning when the Reds scored three times off loser John Montefusco.

Montefusco, who yielded two runs in the first inning, gave up six of the Red hits in the two innings he pitched.

Expos drop Philadelphia

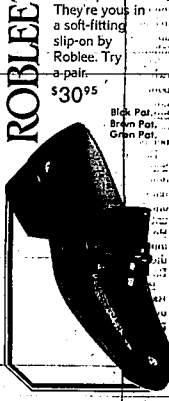

MONTREAL (UPI)—Rookie Gary Carter drove in two runs, including one with his first major league home run, and Steve Renko checked Philadelphia on seven hits Saturday as the Montreal Expos beat the Phillies, 3-1.

Ryan pitches third career no-hit game

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Flaming pitcher Nolan Ryan pitched his third no-hitter of his meteoric career Saturday night, striking out 15 Minnesota batters and winning his 22nd game of the season in a 4-0 victory for the California Angels over the Twins.

Ryan, a wild, undeveloped talent when the New York Mets gave up on him three seasons ago at age 24, became only the fourth pitcher in major league history to throw three or more no-hitters.

He joined Sandy Koufax, the only man to pitch four, Bob Feller and Cy Young in that exclusive company.

Ryan has ahead of him 16 other no-hitters, but he is hardly a long shot that some day he'll probably even pass Koufax.

Already this year, the Angels' righthander had done something even Koufax never did when he surpassed 300 strikeouts for the third season in a row. Ryan has 267 strikeouts this year to go with his major league record 333 in 1973 and 329 in 1972, his first year in the American League. He's the only pitcher in modern major league history to accomplish that.

Acquired from the Mets in one of the most lopsided trades ever—the Angels gave up only aging infielder Jim Fregosi to get him—Ryan pitched the no-hitters last season against the Kansas City Royals and Detroit Tigers and also has thrown three one-hitters in his three-season AL career.

Ryan's last one-hitter was June 27 of this season against Texas, and he also was within two outs of a no-hitter against the White Sox when Dick Allen hit him on Aug. 7.

Chicago then won the game 2-1 on an error on two more singles.

KOKANEE SNAGGERS continue to line the banks of Trinity Creek just above Anderson Ranch Reservoir, taking advantage of unusually fine fall weather. Hundreds of the reddish have been taken from the stream by snagging, allowed by the Idaho Fish and Game Department due to an over population condition. This group was herded back to legal waters.

Baylor surprises Oklahoma State

WACO, Tex. (UPI) — Baylor fullback Steve Beard sprinted 84 yards in a screen pass in the second half Saturday night to lead Baylor to a 14-14 upset over eighth-ranked Oklahoma State.

The Bears, winless against two previous Big Eight opponents, almost fumbled the game away in the third period, but managed to shore up their defenses and drive across a late period score to seal the victory.

Beard's 5-7 junior college transfer, hauled in the third down screen pass from quarterback Neil Jeffrey, sidestepped one tackler and raced 84 yards untouched for the Baylor score.

He had scooped 11 yards for a touchdown on the same play in the second period to give Baylor a 10-7 halftime lead.

Beard scored the final Baylor touchdown with just over a minute left, driving in from four yards out.

The Bears broke a nine-game losing streak.

Quarterback Neal Jeffrey hit end Sam Harper on a six-yard touchdown pass with 4:07 left to end the Cowboys' hope of a third straight victory.

The Bears controlled the game from the outset as Gary Green recovered a fumble at the Cowboy 38 on the opening kickoff and David Hicks booted a 29-yard field goal with less than five minutes gone to put Baylor in the lead.

Oklahoma State tackle Phillip Dokes was the biggest aie to the Cowboy offense, setting up a second quarter touchdown with a fumble recovery at the Baylor 33. Robert Turner took it in from the one four plays later.

Dokes scored the second Cowboy touchdown himself, falling on the ball in the Baylor end zone after Jeffrey had fumbled at the Bear 11 on an attempted pass.

Baylor had previously lost to Missouri and Oklahoma—but Big Eight teams—but shut down the Cowboy running game before a homecoming crowd of 30,000.

Sign? What sign?

Sign? What sign? The Bears controlled the game from the outset as Gary Green recovered a fumble at the Cowboy 38 on the opening kickoff and David Hicks booted a 29-yard field goal with less than five minutes gone to put Baylor in the lead.

LSU ties Rice 10-10 in last 3 seconds

HOUSTON (UPI) — Rusty Jackson kicked a 27-yard field goal against a 20-mile-per-hour wind with three seconds left Saturday night to rally LSU to a 10-10 tie with the upstart Rice Owls.

Rice had caused seven LSU turnovers and capitalized on the mistakes for 10 first half points. But with their first victory over the Tigers in their last eight meetings all but wrapped up, the Owls were the victim of a 71-yard drive directed by quarterbacks Carl Otis Trimble and Billy Broussard.

Until then the Tigers were the victims of their own mistakes.

The Owls got their biggest break early when LSU's Mike Williams mishandled a punt deep in his own territory and Peterson recovered at the nine.

On third down senior quarterback Claude Reed gently arched a touchdown loss to Ken Roy deep in the end zone.

Place kicker Alan Pringle booted the extra point less than six minutes into the game and tacked on a wind-aided 35-yard field goal on the first play of the second quarter.

That score came thanks to another LSU miscue as Rice cornerback Gary Cox belted light end Mark Gomez loose from the ball at midfield and Ron Vaughn recovered.

Held scoreless the first half despite driving five times into Rice territory and rolling up 172 offensive yards, LSU finally scored early in the third quarter on Terry Robiskie's one-yard plunge.

The Tigers had to drive only 39 yards for the score following a short Rice punt as LSU held

Miami rallies late to nip Tampa 28-26

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Defensive back Paul Horschel blocked two fourth quarter field goal attempts and Don Martin rammed over from one yard out in the closing minutes Saturday night as 12th-ranked Miami downed stubborn Tampa 28-26.

The key defensive play was the second blocked field goal by Horschel with 8:47 to play. It came as Kimey Jordan, who earlier had kicked two long field goals for Tampa, tried an 18-yarder after Tampa had stalled at the Miami one.

While Jenkins scooped up the bouncing ball and took it to the Miami 35, The Hurricanes put together a clock-eating drive which led to Martin's second

A-M tips Washington

SEATTLE (UPI) — Halfback Skip Walker scored three touchdowns in the first half and fullback Bucky Sams added an impressive score in the final period as seventh-ranked Texas A&M defeated Washington, 28-15, Saturday to avenge the Aggies' untold record.

Washington, which lost its first game of the season to drop 2-21, had narrowed the gap to 2-15 as Dennis Fitzpatrick's 25-yard touchdown strike to Ken Cooley and Steve Robbins' 25-yard field goal in the third period.

But the Aggies marched 72 yards for the game-clincher, coming on Sams' four-yard plunge.

Washington then drove to A&M's one but the Aggie defenders rose up and hurled reserve quarterback Chris Rowland for two losses and Pat Thomas intercepted a Rowland pass in the A&M end zone.

Texas A&M, now 3-3, took charge in the second period when Walker took a plichot and raced 21 yards for a touchdown to give the Aggies a 14-8 lead. Walker then scored his third touchdown of the game shortly before the intermission on a screen pass from quarterback Dave Walker that covered 61 yards.

Auburn shuts out Tennessee

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI) — Fullback Kenny Burks batted his way through the Tennessee defensive line for three touchdowns Saturday and the Auburn defense shut out 11th-ranked Tennessee 21-0.

Burks capped a 75-yard Auburn drive in the opening minutes of the second quarter with a four-yard touchdown run to put the Tiger ahead, but Greg Gillis' kick was wide.

Neither team scored until the opening minutes of the fourth quarter, when the Tigers drove 43 yards in seven plays and Burks, barreling straight ahead, ran over from the two.

The Tigers decided to gamble on a two-point conversion and sophomore quarterback Phil Gargis completed the conversion toss to tight end Dan Nugent.

The next time Auburn got the ball, with most of the Tigers second team in the game, Tulane nips W. Va.

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Sophomore fullback Don Lemon scored two yards for a touchdown with seven minutes left in the game Saturday night to give unbeaten Tulane a 17-14 victory over West Virginia.

Lemon's touchdown came on a 15-play, 89-yard drive for Tulane. Lemon carried the ball four times picking up the last 17 yards in the drive. It was Tulane's third victory of the season and its first over West Virginia, which fell to 1-2 for the season.

Tulane scored its other touchdown on a one-yard run by Steve Treuting early in the third quarter. David Falgout scored Tulane's other points on a 39-yard field goal in the first period and on two extra points.

Bernie Kitchener scored West Virginia's first touchdown on a 32-yard pass from quarterback Don Williams with 24 seconds left in the first period. Running back Artie Owens scored West Virginia's other touchdown on a 22-yard run with two minutes left in the third period.

Sooners maul Utags

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Oklahoma scored 42 points in the first quarter Saturday for a modern day school record, then went on to crush Utah State 73 with a team of reserves as deep as the fourth string.

The Sooners combined 496 yards rushing with 63 yards of passing to score eight touchdowns, added two more touchdowns on pass interception returns, and scored two safeties.

Linker Owens opened the slaughter with a 26-yard touchdown pass from Steve Davis. Fullback Joe Washington completed for TDs on six and three-yard runs, fullback Calvin Harris scored on a three-yard run and halfback Grant Burget charged four yards for a six-pointer.

Purdue fashions miscues into upset of Notre Dame

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) — Purdue converted two pass interceptions and a Notre Dame fumble into easy touchdowns Saturday to upset the No. 2 ranked Fighting Irish 21-20 and lead the longest current winning streak in college football at 13 games.

The Bollermakers, 28-point underdogs, scored their first win in three games this season and rang up the largest number of points ever scored on Notre Dame in the first period, 24, to put the game on ice early.

But then, it was an old story. Underdog Purdue teams have made a tradition of shooting down the Irish.

The next time Purdue had the ball, fullback Pete Gross bolted 52 yards for a touchdown. And the next time Notre Dame had the ball, on the second play from scrimmage, Bob Mammeli intercepted Tom Clements' first pass and returned 21 yards for a touchdown, giving the Bollermakers 21 points in the first seven minutes and 38 seconds.

Before the first quarter ended, placekicker Steve Schmidt booted a 47-yard field goal to tie a Purdue record in the hole.

Later, the breaks evened out but Notre Dame couldn't take advantage of them.

The first Irish touchdown came on an 80-yard drive in 12 plays with Wayne Bullock plunging from the one. Then, Purdue punter Mark Vitall fumbled the snap from center and couldn't get the kick away, giving the ball to the Irish on the Purdue 26. It took five plays for Bullock to score again on a one-yard plunge and put Notre Dame within 10 points of a tie at 24-14.

Another fumble by Vitall was recovered by Greg Collins on the Purdue 23, but Notre Dame couldn't score. The Irish tally again until less than five minutes remained in the game, when Clements passed to Pete Demmerle for 29 yards and a touchdown.

Tech's passing beats Texas

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Singlet-arm Tommy Duniven, facing his first major test as a college quarterback, stunned Texas' porous pass defense with three touchdown passes to Lawrence Williams Saturday that sent Texas Tech storming to a 26-3 upset over the fifth-ranked Longhorns.

With the win Tech threw the Southwest Conference race—dominated by the Longhorns for the past six years—into a potential scramble.

Duniven, a sophomore, threw only seven times, but completed all seven for 145 yards.

Texas scored on a 40-yard field goal by Billy Schott the first time the Longhorns had the ball, but the Red Raiders went out in front moments later on a five-yard run by Larry Isaac.

That set up Duniven's first pass to Williams, who sped past Longhorn safety Raymond Clayborn and then taunted Clayborn after he caught the pass and dashed toward the goal line.

But Purdue had pulled ahead with another touchdown earlier in the final period after Jim Wood intercepted a Clements pass to give the Bollermakers possession on the Notre Dame 31. This drive ended when Mike Northington went six yards around end on a pitchout.

It was the first loss for Notre Dame to a Big Ten rival in 14 games dating back to 1969.

Michigan shatters Navy 52-0

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Proton Bell scored three times and Chuck Heather tallied twice Saturday to lead fourth-ranked Michigan to a 52-0 trouncing of Navy before 22,225 fans—the second largest crowd in college football history.

Michigan demolished previously undefeated Navy, which set Penn State last week, and its unbeaten streak at home to 31 games and its consecutive undefeated streak to 14 games.

Navy got only nine first downs and the Wolverines won their third straight game of the season by scoring on seven straight ball possessions. The crowd that watched it was exceeded in collegiate history only by the 105,223 who saw Michigan and Ohio State close out last season with a 10-10 tie here.

Tackle Jeff Perlinger intercepted a pass by quarterback Phil Polier on the Navy 10 and three plays later Heather scored from the one. The senior fullback then followed an interception by Dave Brown with a three-yard touchdown run on the second play of the second quarter to give Michigan a 14-0 lead before Bell went to work.

Bell, a junior-tallback who alternates quarters with sophomore Bob Lyle, scored on a three-yard run, a 25-yard run and a two-yard run at the start of the third quarter to run the score up to 38-0.

But Purdue had pulled ahead with another touchdown earlier in the final period after Jim Wood intercepted a Clements pass to give the Bollermakers possession on the Notre Dame 31. This drive ended when Mike Northington went six yards around end on a pitchout.

It was the first loss for Notre Dame to a Big Ten rival in 14 games dating back to 1969.

Hanks and Jensen spark Minico past Pocatello

RUPERT — Mickey Hanks made two key pass receptions and the Minico Spartans battled from behind in the closing minutes to drop the Pocatello Indians 14-10 Friday night.

Minico dominated the game offensively, piling up 374 yards in rushing to 148 for the Indians. But with penalties nullifying two Spartan touchdowns, Minico had to battle right up to the final minute when Chris Jensen's pass interception at the five-yard line killed Pocatello's final bid.

Minico scored on its first possession, moving from its own 44-yard line with the key play being a 30-yard pass from Kyle Uscola to Hanks. The payoff came on a seven-yard flip from Uscola to Doug Nichols and Handy Gillette added the point.

On its next possession Minico shook Albert loose on a 55-yard punt but it was nullified by the penalty and early in the second quarter Minico fumbled away a good chance at the Indian 10. Late in the half Pocatello rolled 64 yards on the ground, largely on keeps by quarterback Doug Collins in the option. He went in from the 15 and Dennis Kerbel tied it with the point after.

UNLOADING a pass under heavy pressure, Rick Harper of Raft River is about to pay the price under a strong Oakley rush. Raft River tipped Oakley 26-18 in the final four minutes to remain unbent in Magic Valley Conference play.

Facing the blitz Raft River rallies past Oakley 26-18

OAKLEY — Raft River struck for two touchdowns in a three-minute span of the fourth quarter Friday afternoon to overhaul Oakley 26-18 and remain undefeated in the Magic Valley Conference.

Junior quarterback Rick Harper of Raft River had the horses on and off all afternoon but wound up with laurels as he averted the tying touchdown pass and then threw two key passes to set up the decisive points.

Wednesday Oakley gave the Trojan fans — although Raft River's fumble troubles in the first half were equally as bothersome.

The first fumble struck three miles into the game, setting Oakley up on the Raft River 40-yard line. Dave Rodriguez immediately went off tackle for 19 yards and three plays later took a pitchout for 19 yards and Oakley's first score.

Raft River came back quickly, Harper hit Ed Robinson on a bomb to the Oakley nine-yard line and then slipped an eight-yarder to Robinson off a play-action fake for the tying touchdown.

The Trojans mounted another drive in the second quarter but it quickly turned around when another fumble was scooped up by Rodriguez and then hit Hansen with an eight-yard scoring strike.

Only 1:30 remained in the half but it was enough. Harper quickly threw to Robinson and Sheridan to moved downfield and then hit Hansen with an eight-yard scoring strike.

After a scoreless third quarter, Oakley, catching a spark off Randy Sharp's interception, moved for its last lead. It came on a 50-yard pass from Sharp to Greg Gorringer who made a good catch as the gambling Harper bolted in front for an interception attempt. He managed to touch the ball, but Gorringer hung on and had an easy romp into the end zone from about the 25.

Raft River tied it within seven plays. Raft River hammered at the line for five plays and threw one short pass on another. Then Harper handed off to Hansen on an apparent sweep — but then kept going downfield. Hansen pulled up and heaved the throwback across the field where Harper tucked it away and completed a 23-yard play. Oakley's last hopes for the upset died on the kickoff when its return man fumbled and Sheridan recovered for Raft River at the Hornet 30.

The first play was a 23-yard pass from Harper to Robinson and the second was a strike over the middle to Hansen that carried to the Oakley four. Two plays later Bruce White cracked in from the two and then spent end for the two-pointer that nulled down the victory with 3:30 to play.

Ali not easing up

KINSHASA, Zaire (UPI) — "I'm not letting up for a minute," said Muhammad Ali after boxing four rounds to prove his point Saturday in his daily training for the world heavyweight title bout with George Foreman, now officially scheduled for Oct. 30.

"I was just reaching my peak when Foreman got his eye out. I got backened off for a few days and now I'm pacing myself," he said, snorting at queries that there was a chance that he might go stale.

"The main thing is the legs," he added, "and I'm running every morning."

Angelo Dundee, Ali's trainer, said, "Naturally we had to change our training program because of the postponement, but Ali has an intuition about his condition and he knows better than anyone when to turn it on and turn it off."

Foreman's camp said Saturday that the champion will return to his headquarters at Las Vegas to resume hard training Monday.

Declo belts Wolves

CASTLEFORD — The Declo Hornets overpowered the young Castleford Wolves 38-0 Friday night in a Magic Valley Conference match-up.

The Hornets struck for two first-quarter touchdowns, the first on a 30-yard off tackle romp by Randy Osterhout and the second on a 47-yard bomb from Webb to Kidd.

Kidd took a 23-yard scoring straight from Osterhout in the second quarter and Chaburn added the fourth touchdown on a 23-yard run after a pass interception in the third.

Hugh Ray, who converted on three two-point plays, got the last one on a 20-yard romp in the fourth quarter with Adams passing to Kidd for the final two points.

Castleford managed just two sustained drives, both ending in fumbles around the 30.

The lifespan of a chicken, if uninterrupted, would be 30 years.

Jerome tips Mtn. Home to stay atop SCIC standings

JEROME — The Jerome Tigers moved to within a victory of clinching at least a share of the South Central Idaho Conference title Friday night when they shut out the Mountain Home Tigers 14-0.

Jerome protected a 6-0 lead from the first period until the final minutes when it added a little insurance. Between time it was a grudging game with Mountain Home collecting eight first downs to 12 for Jerome's 10. The loss was the first in league for Mountain Home which dropped to 1-1 while Jerome and Buhl remained undefeated. However, Jerome has played two more league games than the Indians. They are scheduled to meet Oct. 16, if it comes down to a showdown.

Jerome scored in the first period when Jerry Diehl hit Lee Chapman with a 30-yard bomb after hammering out three first downs on the ground.

The Tigers lost another penalty later then Diehl quarterback sneaked into the end zone but was whistled down for aiding the runner from behind. The ensuing discussion between the Jerome bench and officials resulted in 30 more yards of penalties.

Byron Lyon's 16-yard burst in the fourth period, capping a slum-bang drive based on the up-the-middle running of Bruce Diehl, carried Jerome out of reach in the final period.

One of Jerome's best efforts died in a fumble in the third period after the Tigers had used up nine minutes on the clock getting to the Mountain Home 13.

Mountain Home made a late effort to break the shutout bid, hitting on a 42-yard pass play from Mark Schiller to Nick Schilz but Jerome turned that one back.

Meitzner scores 20 points as Buhl topples Burley by 20-14

BURLEY — Ken Meitzner scored all the points Friday night when the Buhl Indians dropped the Burley Bobcats 20-14 in a non-conference game.

Burley rebounded quickly as junior Jared Williams swept 59 yards after it appeared he had been contained at the line of scrimmage. The extra point sent Burley ahead for the first and last time.

Meitzner ended another Buhl march with 8:22 left in the second quarter when he dived in from the four and Buhl held a 12-7 halftime lead.

That swelled to 20-7 with about three minutes left in the third period when Meitzner again scored from the four — and then came back for the two-point.

Murtaugh edges Hansen 14-12

MURTAUGH — The Murtaugh Red Devils stopped a two-point conversion pass short of the goal line in the closing minutes Friday night to nip the Hansen Huskies 14-12.

Pickett sneaked across from the two-yard line for a touchdown. That was set up on a 40-yard pass from Pickett to Nebecker. Hansen stopped the two-point play.

Hansen didn't draw even until the third period when Cliff Borah rerooped in from the 15 on a reverse.

The Devils regained the lead in the fourth period on a sustained drive which Pickett

Gooding blanks Wendell 14-0

WENDELL — The Gooding Senators scored a touchdown in each half Friday night to drop the Wendell Trojans 14-0 in a non-conference game.

The game was filled with threats and most of them ended in penalties or fumbles. Gooding, after recovering a fumble at the Wendell 42, was held on downs at the 11 by Wendell, which then marched to the Gooding eight before fumbling the ball away. On that one Gooding's Edwards picked it up and ran 90 yards but saw the score killed by a clip call.

Todd Mink's 13-yard punt return served as the springboard for Gooding's second quarter score. Mink carried to the Wendell 39 and, helped by a 15-yard penalty, the Senators moved to the one before Mink bolted across. The kick was blocked.

Early in the second half Wendell had a 40-yard bomb called back by a penalty and Gooding then drove to the Wendell 10 before being stopped. Seconds later, Pat Higgenbotham ripped loose from 62 yards but was run down at the Gooding 18. The Trojans fumbled that away at the 15.

Richfield outscores Carey in key game

CAREY — Mike Robinson scored the decisive touchdown off a blocked punt early in the fourth quarter Friday when the Richfield Tigers downed the Carey Panthers 34-22 in a key Snake River eight-man conference battle.

Robinson's touchdown killed a good comeback try by Carey which saw the Panthers fall behind 20-0 in the first half and then rally into a 22-20 lead.

Richfield scored early on a nine-yard pass from Robinson to Piper and minutes later a Carey fumble set up a 10-yard scoring burst by John Lezamis.

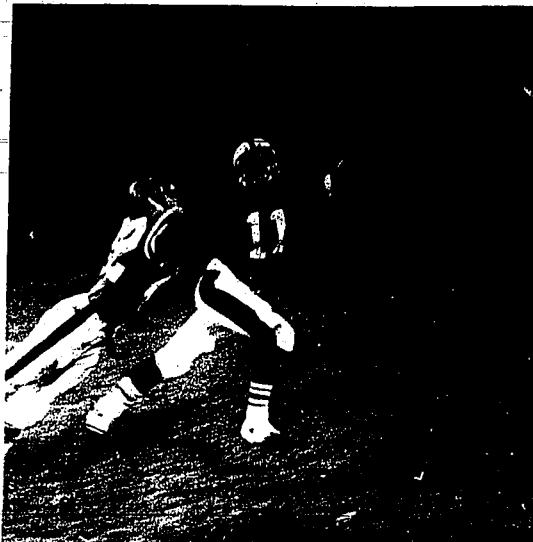

The Tigers pumped their advantage to 20-0 in the second period when Edwards went in from the 13 and Holland added the two-point conversion. A 44-yard sprint by Jim

CSI harriers win

NAMPA — College of Southern Idaho thumped Northwest Nazarene College 17-41 in a dual cross country meet Friday afternoon.

The Eagles travel to a 11-team meet in Walla Walla next week.

Richfield added an insurance touchdown in the waning minutes when Dave Brown quarterback sneaked in from the three.

Interference on Skyline

STRETCHING Bryon Rudd of Twin Falls (11) receives a premature bounce from an unidentified Skyline Grizzley while trying to run down a pass Friday night. Skyline won 13-9.

Skyline shuts out T.F. 13-0

The Skyline Grizzlies capitalized on two early opportunities and then rode their defense to a 13-0 victory over the Twin Falls Bruins Friday night.

A fumble and a pass interception — with the following drives both augmented by penalty yards — carried the Grizzlies into a 13-0 lead just 20 seconds into the second quarter.

After that Twin Falls held the Grizzlies well out of the field but offensively couldn't convert on four chances. Twin Falls couldn't move — with a fumble recovery at the Skyline 18 in the first half and a field goal went away.

Skyline, the strongest physical team Twin Falls has played yet, got its first chance midway through the first period when Stacy Ritchie pounced on a fumble at the 21-yard line. After Twin Falls was hit by a five-yard penalty, they punched to a first down at the four. Three plays later Tony Arehart plunged in from the one and then booted the point after.

Two plays after the kickoff, John Freund picked off a pass near midfield, returned it five and Skyline added 15 more yards on the play on a face-mask penalty. Three plays later another 15-yarder kept the drive alive with a first down at the 15 and an offside penalty negated a third and seven loss. With that helping, Skyline posted its final points on a seven-yard drive by Bruce Rose.

After that Twin Falls made all the threats but couldn't muster a scoring punch.

Shoshone bounces Kimberly

SHOSHONE — The Shoshone Indians dropped the Kimberly Bulldogs 22-14 Friday night to keep their Little Five Conference playoff hopes alive.

Coach Ed Sandy's Indians got an early touchdown and the defense then blunted Kimberly's best shots through most of the second period. In the second half, Shoshone pulled away.

The Indians scored late in the first period on a 30-yard sweep by Mark Anderson and Lee Williams burst over for the two-point.

Through the second period Kimberly kept Shoshone fairly well bottled up in its own territory but couldn't get a score past the Indian defense.

The Indians picked up some breathing room two plays into the second half when Anderson picked off a pass and rambled 30 yards to score. Minutes later, a penalty killed a Shoshone thrust at the two-yard line and a field goal attempt was missed.

The Indians then returned on a drive which died on a fumble at the two with Kimberly coming back with a passing attack that put the Indians in the hole. Shoshone tried to punt out but the Bulldogs then scored on a 20-yard reverse pass from Tom Standley to Tall with three minutes to play.

Ohio State thumps stubborn SMU 28-9

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Top-ranked Ohio State, getting two touchdowns each from All-America Archie Griffin and

Brian Baschnagel, struggled to a 28-9 victory over stubborn Southern Methodist Saturday. The Buckeyes marched 80 yards with the opening kickoff to score quickly in recording their third consecutive win of the season. Griffin went the final 15 yards for the touchdown, but Ohio State couldn't get the game away until late in the fourth quarter. SMU is now 2-1.

Griffin's other touchdown came on a 27-yard dash up the middle in the third quarter. Baschnagel scored on a 44-yard counterplay from his wingback position in the second quarter and took a nine-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Cornelius Green with 4:22 left in the game.

Baschnagel, who gained 138 yards rushing in only seven carries, set up the final Ohio State score with a 64-yard dash to the Mustang II.

For Griffin, who had 155 yards in 24 tries, it was the 14th straight game that the 5-6, 180-pound-junior has passed the century mark in rushing.

The Mustangs got a 29-yard field goal by Clint Hackney after having a drive stopped on the Ohio 14 midway in the third quarter and got their only touchdown with 5:33 remaining when quarterback Ricky Westcott hit tight end Oscar Eason with a three-yard scoring pass.

Ohio State went 80 yards in nine plays with the opening kickoff, helped by a 15-yard personal foul penalty against the Mustangs when Griffin getting 42 of those yards in only five carries.

Ace helps Miller take lead in Kaiser tournament

NAPA, Calif. (UPI) — Johnny Miller, bidding to become the all-time single-season money-winning champion, shot a five-under-par 67 Saturday for a two-stroke lead over Billy Casper after three rounds of the $150,000 Kaiser International Open.

Miller, who can surpass Jack Nicklaus' single season mark of $225,042 by finishing in the first eight holes, started out with three birdies and a hole-in-one on the front-nine of Silverado's north course and it gave him the edge he needed coming back, when he almost fell asleep, for a three-round score of 11-under-par 205.

Casper, who started the day three shots ahead of Miller at 135, shot an even-par 72 and was at nine-under 207 after 54 holes. Billy hasn't won a tournament title since the 1973 Greater Hartford Open, while Miller has won seven titles this year alone and with one more victory can become the first man to win eight in one season since Arnold Palmer turned the trick in 1960. Only Byron Nelson ever won more than eight in a year.

Miller canned a 22-foot putt on the first hole, a par-four, 439-yarder, for his first birdie, then ace the par-three, 103-yard second when his three-iron shot landed in the cup on the fly and almost tore it loose from the green.

The ace enabled Miller to tie Casper for the lead and he went in front to stay on the next hole, a par-four, 405-yarder, when he holed out from 20 feet for Johnny Miller.

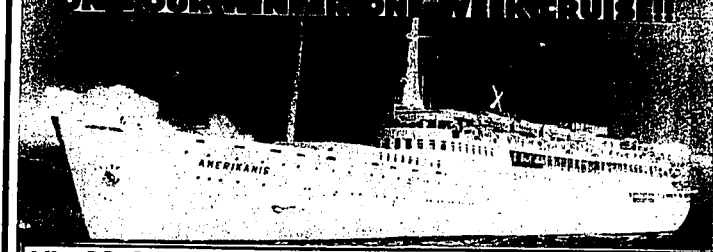

Miller's lead was extended to 135, shot an even-par 72 and was at nine-under 207 after 54 holes. Billy hasn't won a tournament title since the 1973 Greater Hartford Open, while Miller has won seven titles this year alone and with one more victory can become the first man to win eight in one season since Arnold Palmer turned the trick in 1960. USC tops Pitt in last quarter

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Anthony Davis and substitute quarterback Vince Evans scored two fourth quarter touchdowns as Southern California overcame a series of miscues and an alert Pitt defense to hand the previously undefeated Panthers a 16-7 loss Saturday.

Evans, replacing the injured Pat Haden, scrambled 15 yards for the capping touchdown with 1:03 remaining in the game to make up for two fumbles which killed almost certain Trojan scoring chances earlier.

Davis, running effectively inside, outscore Pitt star Tony Dorsett by gaining 159 yards in 33 carries to 68 yards in 15 tries for Dorsett. His two-yard march in which he picked up 23 yards.

The Panthers were kept in the game by blitzing linebacker Mike Bellino and a defense which jelled only when the Trojans got in scoring range.

Bellino dropped Haden for a seven-yard loss with Southern Cal threatening from the Pitt seven early in the game and forced the Trojans to settle for a 25-yard field goal by Chris Limahela.

Nebraska batters Northwestern

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Senior quarterback Dave Humm, injured in last week's one-point upset loss to Wisconsin and doubtful this week, came back Saturday and engineered a 29-0 cushion which sent ninth-ranked Nebraska racing past Northwestern, 49-7.

Humm, taken out of the game in the first quarter last week, with a hip injury, steered a potent ground attack aided by two key Wildcat fumbles in the first quarter, when the

The Heisman Trophy candidate bowed out of the game shortly before the half with six completed passes in nine attempts good for 106 yards, but no touchdowns.

Wildcat substitute quarterback Steve Moor fumbled with Nebraska's Tom Ruud recovering, setting up the first Husker touchdown when Hurman handed off to Don Westbrook from the five three plays later.

After the kickoff, Wildcat fullback Jim Trimble fumbled on the first play, and Husker Jon Lee fell on it at the Northwestern 40. Humm, connected with Westbrook for 24 yards, then called two consecutive running plays, and Jeff Morrison ran for 20 yards from the three for the score.

The other two scores under Humm's guidance were by Dave Gillespie, from a yard out, and a three-yard effort by freshman Monte Anthony. His first touchdown in a Husker uniform. Anthony wound up with 14 carries good for 114 yards in the game.

Missouri stuns Arizona State

COLUMBIA, Mo. (UPI) — Underdog Missouri turned a second-quarter fumble into a touchdown Saturday, on an 18-yard pass from Ben Smith to Mark Miller, and the Arizona Tigers stunned sixth-ranked Arizona State 9-0, in a rain-soaked intercollegiate game.

Rain began about two hours prior to the game, drenched 56,770 fans and turned Faurot Field into a mud bath. That allowed the fired-up Missouri defense led by tackle Mark

Kicker Tim Gibbons put the game out of reach on the first play of the fourth quarter with a 21-yard field goal after Missouri bogged down at the Sun Devil's 3.

The field-goal drive was set up by Tony Gillick's 27-yard punt return to the Arizona State 38. Arizona State linebacker Bob Breung intercepted a Smith pass on the last play of the first quarter, then promptly fumbled the ball back to Missouri, Miller recovering at the Sun Devil's 38.

The play amounted to a 23-yard gain for Missouri, which promptly converted the miscue into a touchdown with 14:14 to go in the half. After Miller ran 18 yards on a reverse play, Smith found the senior dotback in the flat on an 18-yard pass for the touchdown.

Colorado tips Wisconsin 24-21

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — Sophomore tailback Billy Waddy broke loose for 150 yards and a five-yard touchdown run in the opening minute of the fourth quarter Saturday to lead Colorado to a 24-21 upset of 10th-ranked Wisconsin and the Buffs' first win under coach Bill Mallory.

The Buffs also scored on a one-yard touchdown run by quarterback David Williams in the second period and a 10-yard pass from reserve Clyde Cutchmer to Terry Kunz in the third quarter. Tom MacKenzie had a 24-yard first period field goal.

Wisconsin, which fell behind Colorado's field goal, had the game's only touchdown and Williams's keeper, took a 1-10 halftime lead on an 88-yard run by Ken Starch and a three-yard plunge by tailback Ron Pollard six plays after linebacker John Zimmerman made a one-handed interception of a Williams pass on the Colorado 45.

Wisconsin went ahead 21-10 on a 36-yard pass from Gregg Bohlig to tight end Jack Novak to cap a 83-yard drive in nine plays.

That's when Mallory called Cutchmer off the bench to try and move the sluggish Buffalo offense.

Illini nips WSU in last minute

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) — Illinois' quarterback Jeff Hollenback hit end Jeff Christal up the middle for 23 yards and the game winning touchdown Saturday with 34 seconds to play to squeak Illinois' past Washington State 21-19.

With 41 seconds left in the game, an apparent Illinois touchdown on a pass from Hollenback to tight end Joe Spalzer was called back on an illegal use of hands penalty. But on the next play, Hollenback drifted back, spotted Christal all alone in the end zone, and completed the pass that pulled it out for Illinois.

The Cougars, now 1-3 on the season, jumped ahead in the first quarter on a 22-yard field goal by Joe Danelo. In the second quarter Washington State quarterback Chuck Peck capped an 80-yard scoring drive by sneaking over from the one.

Illinois began its comeback in the third quarter when Frank Johnson went in from the one-yard line midway through the period.

On the next series, however, the Cougars drove deep enough for that Danelo to kick a 47-yard field goal, making it 13-7 going into the fourth quarter.

China expected to reap record grain harvest

HONG KONG (UPI) — China will reap a record grain harvest this year. Despite the worst floods in more than 25 years in one key producing area and scattered drought conditions in other regions, analysts specializing in Chinese economic affairs are convinced production will be the highest in the 25-year history of the Communist republic.

Expert visitors who recently toured many agricultural areas in China agree with the predictions. China rarely provides meaningful figures on the production of any commodities, but with the important autumn harvest almost completed, all indications point to a sizeable increase over last year's grain production of more than 250 million tons.

Most sources involved in keeping track of China's — agricultural — production feel certain this year's production will go over the 250-million-ton mark. Some believe it may go as high as 270 million tons.

Flooding was reported in several important grain-producing areas during the past three months. The most severe was in Shantung and Kiangsu provinces on the East coast. Monitored radio reports described the floods as the worst in more than 25 years.

The reports said more than 1 million persons were mobilized to fight the floods along the Yi and Shu rivers and Loma lake in southern Shantung and northern Kiangsu, which is a particularly important grain producer.

Drought conditions were reported in many areas from time to time during the past few months.

Kwanlung province in the south, one of the key rice-producing areas, suffered from lack of rainfall but irrigation and other water conservation measures probably helped overcome this.

The general belief among analysts specializing in Chinese agriculture is that water conservation projects and anti-drought measures developed during the past few nonfarming seasons are now paying off.

Record US rice harvest, lower prices forecast

WASHINGTON (UPI) — This year's domestic rice harvest is expected to set a record and Agriculture Department economists believe the consumer may see some lowering of retail rice prices soon.

The harvest nearly completed in the Southern states, is currently in progress in California. The total crop is now forecast at 113.5 million hundredweight. This would be 22 per cent higher than the 1973 crop and a 28 per cent increase over the average for the past three years.

The new harvest projections, up 6 per cent from the August forecast, have brought about renewed efforts by the Agriculture Department to stimulate consumption of rice — especially with other grains hit by drought and early frosts.

The big question — especially for ethnic group populations which have been hard hit by rising retail rice prices — is whether the consumer will benefit from this year's bountiful harvest.

Frank Gomme, an agriculture economist, says the "conditions are there for rice prices to come down."

The prices paid to the farmer for rice are down rather sharply from what they were a few months ago, Gomme said, and "given everything else the same, if the farm-retail spread stays the same, I would think in time — maybe as soon as October — you should see some lowering of retail rice prices."

The price of rice at the farm hit a record high of $17.30 per hundredweight last March, but by August, USDA figures showed rice at the farm going for about $9.37. So far, there has been no corresponding drop in prices at the retail level.

Looking back, the price of a one-pound bag of rice was only 27 or 28 cents last summer. Rice prices took off in October, 1973, and stabilized in January, 1974, at roughly their current level — 52 to 53 cents a pound.

"Prices haven't gone up since late winter, but they haven't gone down either," Gomme said. "Now rice is cheaper, and hopefully it will be working its way through the system in months to come."

Price tour of US proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The new public relations man at the Agriculture Department suggested a cross-country tour to help clear public misconceptions over food prices.

Steven Laine, the new USDA chief of public affairs, got the brainstrom and sent a memo to Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butts. The way it was discussed with various department public information officers earlier this week, called for the use of music ranging from a hymn of thanksgiving illustrating the pilgrims' start of American food production to "America the Beautiful" representing the modern bountiful harvest.

Sources said Laine also had proposed closing the session with a prayer.

Laine said Thursday, however, any cross-country tour will use a "town meeting" format.

"A road show is not my idea," he said. The concept of a traveling tent show brought immediate criticism from congressional leaders, one suggesting that the Agriculture Department "has lost touch with reality."

Laine said he is now leaning toward "a town hall meeting kind of setting." At the meeting, he said, people would have a chance to ask questions and the USDA could give information on "the real facts about food prices."

He appeared to be considerably less enthusiastic over his idea and said if it used at all, it won't be until late this year or early 1975.

Hopefully, it would be a forum where an invaluable exchange of information could result from all this, Laine said, "but we are doing a lot of things right now, and I guess in terms of priorities, it would be pretty low."

More corn crop woes

PRESSURE from 950 tons of chopped corn caused one of three 70 foot tall concrete silos on farm near Schoeller, Mich., to collapse. A barn was damaged, several silos were feared trapped, and owners of the farm, estimated damage at $30,000. (UPI)

UFW leader Chavez sees success within 2 years

ROME (UPI) — Cesar Chavez, head of the United Farm Workers, predicts California grape and lettuce growers will be forced to sign contracts within two years.

"If this movement were going to be stopped it would have had to be stopped 2-30 years ago. It can't be stopped now," Chavez told a meeting of 150 ranking Roman Catholic clergy and heads of religious orders here Thursday.

"We are prepared to go on for 20 years in the struggle — and I know the growers can't go on beyond another 20 months," Chavez said.

Chavez, touring Europe to enlist support for his union's boycott of table grapes, yellow wines and iceberg lettuce grown in the United States, spoke at the headquarters of the Pontifical Commission on Justice and Peace.

Chavez' union seeks elections by secret ballot to determine if farmworkers want to be represented by the UFW or the Teamsters union. It charges that contracts growers signed with the Teamsters amounted to strikebreaking.

Both Chavez and Magr. George Higgins of Chicago, a representative of the U.S. Bishops' Committee on Farm Labor, said the Nixon administration had backed the growers and the Teamsters.

"In a thoroughly nonpartisan way I want to say this has been involved with national politics," he said.

"I hope that now things will be a little better," Chavez said the growers had "tremendous backing from the White House" when Richard Nixon was president.

Chavez said that the boycott in the United States and Canada and support of the National Conference of Bishops was proving crucial to his cause.

Action by Congress to force the U.S. Immigration Service to send back strikebreakers imported illegally from Mexico would break growers' resistance entirely, Chavez said. At present, he said immigration authorities refused to intervene.

"If we could stop the illegals we could win our struggle in a matter of weeks," he said.

Chavez said U.S. table grapes and lettuce were exported to Finland, Norway, Sweden, West Germany and England. He said in his visits so far to England and Scandinavia he found labor leaders "extremely supportive" and dock workers had agreed to an embargo in Norway.

The union leader will travel to Geneva this weekend to meet with Dr. Philip Potter, president of the World Council of Churches, and Tom Bevin, secretary general of the Plantation, Agricultural and Allied Workers International, with which the UFW is affiliated.

No Gem aid given

BOISE (UPI) — No Idahoans have received federal aid under the Emergency Livestock Credit Act passed in July, federal officials said.

In Idaho, which is allowed $24 million in guaranteed bank loans to livestock producers, only one application has been filed, and it was turned down, Leo York, Farmers' Home Administration Idaho program chief, said.

"It's such a narrow path that you have to walk down to qualify that there hasn't been much interest," York said. "I don't feel that we are going to get too many in the long run."

Fuel price said lower

CALDWELL, Idaho (UPI) — Southern Idaho farmers are not paying as much for gasoline and diesel fuel as their counterparts in other portions of the nation.

Bob Nicholes, owner of Bob Nicholes Oil Co., Caldwell, a major supplier of farm fuel, said Wednesday the price of gasoline is up 16 per cent over a year ago and diesel is 28 per cent above the 1973 price.

These prices are below the 1973 national average

Increases of about 36 per cent for gasoline and more than 52 per cent for diesel fuel.

The USDA figures show that there is no difficulty in obtaining supplies of either fuel nationwide.

SALMON — "Significant scientific findings," were reported here by researchers into a calf disease called "weak calf syndrome."

Dr. Floyd Frank, dean of the Northwest Veterinary College and head of the department of veterinary science at the University of Idaho, said the findings will "help our understanding of the disease."

Dr. Arlan McClurkin of the National Animal Disease Center in Ames, Iowa, told a meeting of some 150 ranchers, university research personnel and state officials that research there has isolated several agents which in turn have been inoculated into calves.

An adeno virus agent has produced a disease in calves that is at least somewhat similar to weak calf syndrome, he advised.

A vaccine has been developed against the adeno virus along the BVD and hemophilus somnus and has been administered in herds in Lemhi and Custer counties.

"We are evaluating these vaccines and in late October and early November will collect blood samples to see the response," Dr. Frank said, "and to determine if additional vaccinations are necessary."

Robert Loucks, Lemhi County agent, advised that 450 animals had been vaccinated in late March and April in the two counties, primarily in Lemhi County, by himself and Dr. P. J. South, Salmon veterinarian.

During the coming year, research efforts will involve checking on how the vaccines worked and doing diagnostic tests on sick calves produced in these herds.

Dr. Frank said "live calves" that show symptoms before treatment will again be flown to the University of Idaho for testing of liver-tissue samples.

The university hopes to have someone in this area full time during the calving season this coming winter to collect samples as well.

Researchers from Idaho, Wyoming, Montana, Washington, California and Iowa as well as state officials, some 35 in all, met here Tuesday and Wednesday on weak calf syndrome research efforts the past year.

A public meeting followed which drew interested cattlemen.

Dr. Jack Howarth, researcher from the University of California at Davis, reported on foalhill abortion which involves animals in California and showed the difference between that and weak calf syndrome.

Dr. Richard Bull, nutritionist with the University of Idaho, confirmed his findings of last year that the incidence of weak calf syndrome is increased by low protein intake.

He recommended that ranchers test their forages and supplement them with adequate amounts of essential nutrients.

Dr. Jim Glasser and Dr. Don Ferlicka, Helena, Mont., and the Montana Livestock Department, reported on a survey conducted last winter which estimated the average loss the past three years from perinatal diseases to be slightly under a million dollars in Beaverhead and Ravalli counties.

Dr. Don Franke of the University of Florida said that a disease similar to weak calf syndrome is affecting 10 percent of the calves in Florida Brahman herds. He said that additional research is needed.

Attulis M. Mullins, dean of the college of agriculture at the University of Idaho, reported that the university is "definitely continuing to make financial commitments to the weak calf syndrome study."

Dr. Frank said that a substantial increase is expected in funding of research from the federal government as well.

Old mode employed

HAND SCOOP method of harvesting cranberries, although centuries old, is still used in Massachusetts bogs when ditch picking is completed. Warren Nichols, Haverich Center, Mass., demonstrates old method used along canals for final picking after level areas are harvested by machine. (UPI)

Plains cash wheat bids trail farm asking price

DENVER, Colo. — Cash bids to wheat farmers registered daily fluctuations during the week of Sept. 20, according to the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Closing bids were mostly unchanged from the previous Thursday's closing bids. Farm selling was relatively light as bids failed to reach the "want price" of $4.

Feed grain markets were weak as demand remained slow and increased supplies of new crop corn exerted downward pressure. Farm bids on corn dropped sharply.

Yellow sorghum followed corn and was unchanged to 25 cents lower in southeast Colorado and 25 to 40 cents lower in southwest Kansas.

Prices paid to farmers for No. 1 hard winter wheat in cents per bushel with comparisons to a year ago are given for Denver, 383, 425-435; nearby Denver cast, 375-385, 410; southeast Colorado, 387-395, 438-451; east central Colorado, 377-384, 405-433; Fort Morgan to Wray, 375-385, 395-425; northeast Colorado-southwest Nebraska, 382-390, 410-433; southwestern Kansas, 394-396, 443-454; western Nebraska-southwest Wyoming, 378-391, 425-427.

Closing cash grain prices are given in cents per bushel at Denver, Kansas City, Fort Worth, Omaha and Portland for ordinary protein domestic wheat, 390, 436 1/2, no quote, 431-433, 457; 12 percent protein domestic wheat, 405-410, 458 1/2, no quote, no quote, 474-13 percent protein domestic wheat, 425-440, 494 1/2, no quote, 478-480;

U.S. No. 2 yellow corn, no quote, 607-609, 678-695, 603-613, 695; No. 2 yellow sorghum, no quote, 555-569, 610-625, 535-550, 650; barley, 510, no quote, no quote, no quote, no quote; white oats, no quote, no quote, 626-634, 541-472, no quote.

Rains slowed seeding of the 1975 winter wheat crop in several states during the week. Seeding was 30 percent complete in Nebraska, compared with 35 percent normally done at this time. South Dakota wheat acreage was 55 percent seeded, versus 50 percent normal.

Texas wheat was 29 percent seeded against 36 percent in 1973. Colorado wheat was 48 percent seeded and 17 percent emerged while Montana seeding was 45 percent complete with good topsoil moisture.

Ervin to campaign for Demos

CONCORD, N.C. (UPI) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., has begun a series of stump appearances for Democratic candidates for the last election before he leaves office.

Ervin, the bushy-browed constitutional authority who gained national attention as chairman of the Senate Watergate Committee, shook hands, signed autographs and renewed old acquaintances Thursday night with some 1,000 persons who jammed the National Guard Armory for a Democratic rally.

"I enjoy people and I enjoy the campaigning," Ervin said in a brief interview. "Ervin spoke in a light-hearted vein during most of his speech and made only occasional references to Watergate and national politics although he had earlier told newsmen that he felt President Ford "let his emotions run away with his judgment" when he granted former President Richard Nixon a full pardon.

"We're living in tragic days," said Ervin. "We must plant our feet on higher ground."

Ervin, introduced as the man who has "done more to protect your freedom than anyone in the last 200 years," was presented a birthday cake following his speech.

Nello McDaniel, dance coordinator for the Western States Arts Foundation, is in Twin Falls organizing activities for the dance company's visit.

The dance company will present cultural enrichment programs in Twin Falls schools through lectures, demonstrations, seminars, workshops, mini-concerts for dance, theater, physical education and other classes. The program's purpose is to broaden the students' understanding of the art of dance and to open possibilities for participation in dance.

A public evening concert is planned for Oct. 30 at the CSI Fine Arts Auditorium. Included will be classic ballet and modern dance numbers. The company's residence at CSI is being sponsored by the National Endowment for the Arts, and the College of Southern Idaho.

Community members helping sponsor the company's visit include Mr. and Mrs. John Roper, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Faulkner, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hackney, Dr. and Mrs. J.

Richard McClure, Mr. and Mrs. Don Jensen, Idaho First National Bank and Twin Falls Bank and Trust.

Grass-fed, baby beef labels slated

(C) Chicago Sun-Times Because of the soaring costs of feed grain and the buildup of cattle herds, we might soon be seeing beef cuts labeled "baby beef" and "grass-fed beef," according to the National Livestock and Meat Board.

The majority of cattle to be marketed in the near future will continue to be grain-fed, but consumers can expect about a 10-per cent nationwide increase of younger, grass-fed animals.

How do baby and grass-fed beef cuts differ from the grain-fed beef Americans are used to? They are leaner and lower in calories, and will probably be lower in price.

The majority of grain-fed beef is graded "choice." Whereas grass-fed beef is usually graded "good" or below, based on U.S. Agriculture Department calf standards, baby beef generally grades good with some choice.

The total absence of grain in the more mature animal's diet reduces the level of fat covering and marbling, which will affect flavor and juiciness, but should not significantly affect tenderness.

Cuts of baby beef resemble veal in size and the lean is pinkish. The thin fat covering is white; the meat is very tender and mild-flavored. Although it has a range of color, it is never as light as veal, which is basically milk-fed. Baby beef comes from 7- to 10-month-old animals, veal from 2-to-3-month-old animals.

Valley Comment: Indian war

QUESTION: What do you think about the Kootenai Indians of northern Idaho declaring war on the United States government in an effort to regain lands they say were promised them in the 1800's?

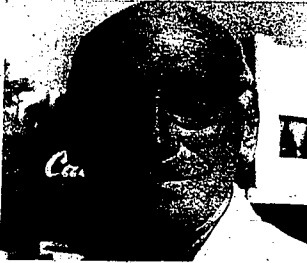

Ruby Whitaker, Twin Falls: "I love our American heritage and our American Indians and I don't want to see them mistreated in anyway, but I don't want to see another Wounded Knee."

Norman Jones, Twin Falls: "I think they've got a legitimate gripe, but I think declaring war is a little far-fetched for 65 people. I'd like to see how they back up the threat. I'm sure they're asking for more than they can get."

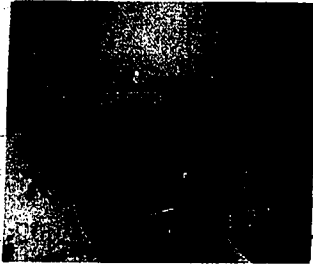

Don Haeffiger, Richmond, Calif.: "The first I heard of it was when I got here. It's hard to say... we probably stole everything from them right from the start."

Helen Breeding, Twin Falls: "I think the government still owes the Indians quite a bit. However, I don't think they should go to war about it. There should be another answer. I really don't think we'll ever get the Indians paid back but I don't think it should come to war."

Floyd Hoffman, Hagerman: "I wouldn't know what to say on it. I've seen too many of the Indian claims—that aren't legitimate. But I wouldn't say for sure."

David Bickart, Casadero, Calif.: "I don't really know enough about it. There was an Indian reservation near where I lived in California and they did a similar thing, putting up roadblocks and charging tolls. For the most part, I was on their side. It's a hard question; the grievances are real but the situation is one where it's next to impossible to redress these grievances."

Rosemary Halley, Twin Falls: "Frankly, I haven't registered too much. I suppose one's first reaction is to smile. But if Russell Means and Kunster the lawyer are coming, I think it will mean the government will lose the case because of the usual funded activists on the Indians side. They have all the ultraliberals on their side and the money that goes along with it."

Debbie Rayl, Twin Falls: "I don't know. They probably deserve it all right. Back in the old days, the settlers just came in and took their lands. I think the government should give them some land to live on and grow things on."

Poison ivy extract builds resistance

By GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M. D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: On reading your answer to the poison ivy question, I surmise that you never suffered the discomfort of this excruciating itch.

For years I endured this torture from one to three times a summer. You say it does not spread. If that wasn't poison ivy that traveled over my body, it was I, win.

My doctor told me I might find relief from catching it by taking poison ivy extract. I started taking this magical drug 10 years ago. I may get one or two bumps that itch for a day. But it never spreads.

It takes five or six weeks to complete the medication so I usually start in February or March.

I realize that a certain medicine does not work the same for everyone, but for me it's wonderful. — A.H.

Of course I've had poison ivy, but am grateful that I am not extremely sensitive to it, as some folks are, including you.

As to its spreading — well, I don't really expect to convince anybody who thinks it does, but here are the facts: A sensitive person is exposed to the sticky ivy resin, which occurs in different amounts in different parts of the body and will break out first where the exposure was heavy. Later, where exposure was light.

He may, for example, walk through a patch of ivy (not picking it, naturally) and break out on his legs. But he'll pick up some of the resin on his clothes, and transfer it thence to other parts of his skin. And presently break out there.

I have seen some cases in which a poison ivy itch (or from poison oak) provided the starting place for a secondary infection which indeed could and did spread.

But the point I'm making about the ivy poisoning not spreading is simply that water in the ivy blisters does not spread the itching. Indeed, if the itch did spread in that fashion, then a sensitive person could "catch" poison ivy from contact with somebody who already had the itch. And that doesn't happen. It's not contagious.

As to your use of ivy extract (poison oak extract also is available for those who need it) it serves to "desensitize" you. It builds up your tolerance for the poison. As you know, it can help even if it doesn't provide a total immunity for you.

T-N Phones 733-0931

(Or use our toll-free lines)

Experience indicates that it works nicely for some, doesn't work for others, so that most doctors are inclined to say that it "may" work without being too positive about it.

For those who do undertake to use it, I advise them to do you do: start taking it well in advance of the ivy season, and don't expect it to be of much help if you wait too long. It takes time to build up its effect. You can't expect to take it the day before you go on a picnic and have any protection.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: When I took a physical for track, my blood pressure was 120-70. I am 11 years old. My great aunt said this was bad but my doctor says it is usual for 11 years old. Who is right? — D.M.

Your doctor is right. That pressure is quite normal for your age.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please settle an argument. Dad says you can get "crabs" from sitting on toilets other than your own, such as public toilets. I disagree. Who's right? — D.J.

Crabs (crab lice, that is) can be picked up from wherever they happen to be — from people, from "soiled" clothing, from bedding. If some of the lice happen to get onto a toilet seat, and you sit on it, obviously you can have them cling to you. But toilet seats are not the most likely way to acquire these pests.

Runaway bacteria create embarrassing pet problem

by Linda Merry, D.V.M.

Question: Our cat keeps his claws out all the time. They're out even when he isn't mad. Do some cats have claws like dogs that they use to scratch?

Answer: Only if they're cheetahs. Of all the cats in the world the cheetah is the only one incapable of retracting its claws.

Question: Could you tell me what makes a Boston Terrier let wind? Is it the food or what? I feed puppy chow only. He is 1 1/2 years old. He doesn't like the food dry. Could you please tell me what to do for him?

Answer: The term for your dog's problem is flatulence. It's a common, annoying, and embarrassing problem for owners, especially those with large dogs.

Basically, flatulence indicates excessive bacterial fermentation and putrefaction in the bowel. Besides its effect on the owner's psyche and nasal passages, the excessive intestinal gas causes more rapid absorption of dangerous toxins from the dog's intestine and slows down movement that would normally eliminate the bacteria and their toxins.

There are a number of reasons for flatulence but the most common is a bacterium, clostridium perfringens, from the same family as tetanus and botulism. This guy is a normal inhabitant of the dog's digestive tract but goes hog wild under putrefactive conditions. He relishes foods high in carbohydrates, cereals, milk, candy and garbage. When clostridia enterch-in the gut they change the acidity to suit themselves and thus kill off the helpful bacteria. With the good guys gone, the clostridial organisms, and replacement of the good guys in the intestinal flora, of course, and they should be considered. One, very common to the boxer, is gulping air along with his food. Another, common to the Boston Bull Terrier and German Shepherd, is poor or incomplete digestion due to pancreatic insufficiency. Any dog may be allergic to or irritated by a given brand or consistency of food.

Merry Pet

Neither you nor your dog needs a gas mask. So tell your troubles to a veterinarian. Let him run the laboratory tests necessary to make a diagnosis.

Catholic priest's dismissal queried

BY REVEREND LESTER KINSOLVING

"And they brought young children to him so that he should touch them:

And his disciples rebuked those that brought them. But when Jesus saw it, he was much displeased and said unto them:

"Suffer the little children to come unto me and forbid them not: for of such is the Kingdom of God."

—The Gospel According to St. Mark, Chapter 10

MARLBORO, MASS. — When his parents brought the young child Nathaniel Ryan Morreale to Immaculate Conception Roman Catholic Parish here to be baptized, they were rebuked by two parish priests.

For Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Morreale — along with what recurrent polls indicate is a probably 25 million U.S. Catholics — disagree with the latest (1969) official prohibition-of-all-abortion decision of their church's hierarchy, which, prior to that date, had often changed. (Both Popes Innocent III and Gregory XV had held for less stringent positions on abortion than Pope Pius IX, in 1869).

Young Nathaniel was therefore denied the sacrament of Holy Baptism, by order of Monsignor Francis X. Meehan.

But the little boy was hurriedly baptized by his parents' heretical views on abortion — because he was only three months old.

If the unbaptized Nathaniel had been killed in an automobile accident just after being rejected by Msgr. Meehan, this little boy would have been forever consigned to Limbo, according to Father Patrick McSorley, of Georgetown University Hospital. And in Limbo, according to the Rev. Joseph Thorning of Mt. St. Joseph's Seminary and College in Emmitsburg, Md., such children "are excluded from the vision of God in heaven."

This is why, explains hospital Chaplain McSorley, all nurses at Georgetown are under orders to baptize all children (Protestant or Catholic) who may be in danger of death.

When Jesuit Father John O'Rourke of New York heard about Nathaniel's parents being rebuked when they asked for their baby's baptism, he was much displeased. So he

This Jesuit, the Rev. John McLaughlin, was until recently rather politically potent — as a Deputy Special Assistant to the President of the United States.

Hence he returned to Washington after an encounter with his Jesuit Provincial in which he apparently overruled his superior. For in late July, Father McLaughlin addressed the National Press Club and evoked howls of laughter from the pro-Nixon clause he brought along when he looked up, in pseudo-benightedness, and declaimed:

"Since my Jesuit superior has raised his eyebrows at my poverty and obedienc...

He went on to defame House Judiciary Committee Chairman F. Rodino as having "lied to the public... tampered with the jury... political bigory" — having already maligned another member of that committee, his fellow Jesuit priest, Congressman Robert Drinan (D-Mass), whom McLaughlin compared to the Sanhedrin.

Moreover, as the Catholic-edited magazine "commonweal" noted, father McLaughlin dates Ann Dore, who hosts the frequent cocktail parties he gives in his Watergate Apartment. (The apartment is one of those $10,000 models — occupied by Father McLaughlin — who is still under the Jesuit vows of poverty and chastity.)

"Father Poverty of Watergate" has not been dismissed. But Father O'Rourke has — because he baptized a little boy.

Society of Jesus?

Would Jesus be pleased with the Society named for him? Or would he, once more, be "much displeased"?

Inside Religion

traveled to Marlboro, where he baptized Nathaniel on the front steps just outside the door of the Parish of the Immaculate Conception.

Father O'Rourke's superior, Father Eamon Taylor, Jesuit Provincial of New York, who forbade the baptism of Nathaniel by Father O'Rourke — has now dismissed the young priest from the Society of Jesus.

Meanwhile, in Washington, D.C. there lives another Jesuit priest, who this summer was also called to account by his Provincial, in the New England Jesuit Province.

Freezing tomatoes quick and easy method

FREEZE YOUR TOMATOES? Getting glass pint and quart jars for canning has been a real problem. One way to get around this problem is to freeze your tomatoes.

Last year some of the freeze tomatoes were disappointed because they expected the end product to be as fresh as those picked off the vines. Frozen tomatoes are not for fresh slicing.

Here's a good recipe for freezing tomatoes: Use firm, ripe tomatoes. Wash, dry and put in a plastic freezer bag, close with a twistier and put into freezer.

When ready to use, take a number of tomatoes needed from the bag, let cold water run over them, and skin will slip off easily with just a rub of the fingers.

Cook as you would fresh tomatoes, allowing time for thawing.

The advantages of this method:

(1) For the back yard gardener with a few plants, you can wash and add a few to the bag anytime, no waiting for enough to ripen for a batch.

(2) No standing while peeling and cooking a bushel at a time, then packing in containers for freezing.

(3) They take less space in the freezer than a number of containers.

(4) Fresh flavor with just one heating period. "Hope you try these and like it as well as we do," a reader writes.

ROOTING JADE PLANTS: One of the best foliage plants we have is the crassula, or jade plant. There are dozens of different crassulas which go under the common names of "propeller plant," "silver beads," "scarlet poinsettia," "string of buttons" to name a few.

All crassulas have the same care: a bright window (not direct sun), average soil such as one part each of sand, peat and loam.

Since these plants somewhat resemble a cactus, many people give them very little water. This is wrong. They like a uniform supply of moisture, with a little dryness between waterings.

Start new plants by taking tip or leaf cuttings and rooting them in peatite or sand. Dip the ends in a rooting hormone powder and you'll hasten rooting quickly.

Dropping of leaves is due to overwatering or too dry a soil. They get a scale which can be stopped by washing the leaves and stems with soap and water and scrubbing with old toothbrush.

Jade plants will flower if cultural conditions are just right.

GUARD YOUR FRUIT TREES: This is a reminder to wrap your newly planted dwarf and standard fruit trees against rabbit and mice injury.

The best tree guards we've seen are called "Almar" protectors, made of pure colored vinyl plastic 26 inches high.

A child can install them, as it takes only seconds, never needing to be removed. The tree guards expand as the trunk grows, protecting your young trees against mechanical injury, rodents or winter sun.

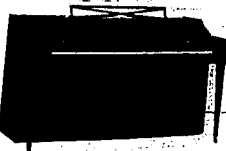

LIVING STONES: There's a group of plants from South Africa which go by the name of "living stones," "stone faces," or "cone plants." Some of these plants grow about one inch or so tall, and look like something made out of concrete or stone.

They have a great resemblance to a small, split stone, and they even produce tiny blossoms. Lithops is a large genus of "living stones."

Culture for these and similar plants is the same: A light, sunny window, with temperature of 72 degrees. Soil mixture should be highly sandy, such as five parts sand, four parts loam and one part finely crushed brick. Do not overwater. Keep soil uniformly moistened from May to November, but dry the rest of the year. Start new plants from seed sown in sand.

HOME MADE HORSERADISH: A reader who makes her own horseradish tells us she digs her roots in spring or fall, during any month with R in it.

Scrape or peel root and grind fine. To each cup of ground root, add 1/3 cup of vinegar, 1/3 cup water and 1/3 cup sugar. Put into small jars with tight-fitting lid.

You can buy horseradish roots from most nursery or seed houses, and generally they recommend ordering in spring. Plant with top one to two inches below the ground level. Horseradish prefers a rich, moist soil.

PICKLE FAILURES: One reason why many have pickle failures is that they soak pickles in water. Never soak pickles in water or they will fill with water and cannot soak up brine.

TOMATO QUICHE: Here's a dandy recipe for making tomato quiche (pronounced "keesh") direct from France. Bake a 9 inch pie shell at 425 degrees for 8 minutes. Cool.

Cut 2 large ripe tomatoes into 6 slices, each 1/2 inch thick. Dip each slice in flour, seasoned with 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 t. coarse pepper, and sautee quickly in 2 T oil.

Arrange 1/2 cup sliced ripe olives and all but 2 T from 1 cup minced scallions in the bottom of the pie shell. Add 3 slices Provoltone cheese and the tomatoes. Stir 2 slightly beaten eggs and 1 cup grated cheddar cheese into 1 cup heavy cream. Pour onto pie.

By ERMA BOMBECK
I bought $52.34 worth of groceries the other day and the carryout boy asked, "Did you want help with this or are you going to eat it here?"

"Things aren't that bad yet," I snapped and as he shifted impatiently from one foot to the other while I fumbled for my car keys he said, "Where do you want 'em?"

"I have some other errands," I said. "Just put them in the glove compartment."

When you think about it, shopping for food is getting pretty absurd. Why I can remember when my station wagon runneth over with $52.34 worth of groceries in it. Today, I can't afford help for my hamburger.

How have the high prices affected consumers? For one thing it has made them better shoppers. Face it, a lot of mothers I know used to shove a banana and a box of cereal through the bars of the baby bed at night and sleep in the next morning. But at 85 cents a box, we want to know what the cereal can do.

I spent the better part of an hour in the cereal aisle the other day trying to find the all-purpose cereal. The manager came by and said, "Look, here's a great all-around cereal. It's crunchy, sounds like World War III when you pour milk over it, fills you up, not out, gives you energy, provides a midday snack, makes you grow strong, solves your irregularity problems... offers you natural vitamins, tastes like hickory nuts, and has a Yo-Yo that glows in the dark."

"Yes... I said suspiciously. "But will it patch the driveway and take puppy stains off the carpet?"

Another thing the consumer crunch has done is to pull shoppers together. Every week, the same people gather at the supermarket where we share a common crisis. Sorta like the Poseidon Adventure.

I've made friends like Lois, who does her shopping for the week and can still get in the express line. And Mrs. Brettock, who was checking out her food one day when the store was robbed and she didn't know the difference. And Marty, a young mother who is going to use her Christmas savings and buy five pounds of sugar. And proud Stephanie who puts plastic fruit in her refrigerator and pretends she's rich.

Checkpoint stop

THREE riders pull in at one of the checkpoints along the route of the Diamondfield Jack Endurance ride. Veterinarians are on hand at all checkpoints to ensure the horses are not overworked.

Finish

FIRST-PLACE winner crosses finish line at the close of last year's Diamondfield Jack Endurance ride. Riders will cross the finish line Saturday afternoon in Jackpot this year and the public is invited to be on hand.

2nd annual Diamondfield Jack endurance ride for Saturday

TWIN FALLS — The second annual Diamondfield Jack Endurance Ride, reenacting the frontier gunslinger's famous ride, will be run this Saturday in the South Hills.

Riders from several states will assemble about 8:30 a.m. Saturday at Crockett Meadows, south of Hansen and just beyond the old town of Rock Creek, for the start of the 55-mile ride allegedly made by Diamondfield Jack—Davis in 1896 when he was believed to have killed two sheepherders.

Magic Valley Appaloosa Horse Club members organizing the event hope to have more local participants this year. About 30 riders, most of them from out of state, participated in the race last year.

The ride will take entrants from Crockett Meadows in Indian Springs Junction for the first rest stop. From there, riders will continue along Deadline Ridge, the historic line which divided the cattle and sheep ranges during the range war days of Diamondfield Jack.

Riders will pass the Deep Creek site where the sheepherders were found murdered on Feb. 16, 1896. The remains of the old cabin in which Diamondfield Jack once hid will also be visible along the trail which then leads to the Bear's Nest Ranch in Nevada and ends in Jackpot, Nev.

Entrants will try to break the 5-hour riding time on the route that witnesses claimed Diamondfield Jack had made in order to kill the two sheepmen.

Davis, hired by the cattle barons in 1896 to "frighten" the sheepherders back to their own territory, was widely believed to have committed the murder. Since he had been seen in Nevada both early in the morning and early in the afternoon on the supposed day of the murder, he would have had to make the ride to the sheepherder's camp in about 5 hours.

The ride became a key issue in the trial which dragged on some seven years before finally ending in Davis' acquittal.

Robert Harney, horse club member and coordinator of the event, doesn't expect entrants to have any trouble coming in under the 5-hour mark. Last year's winner made the ride in about 3 hours and 16 minutes.

First prize comes to $500, with second bringing $250 and third, $150. Three $100 prizes also will be given. Special awards for each breed of horse entered and for the top junior rider — age 17 or under as of Jan. 1, 1975 — will be presented.

The veterinarians, overseeing the length of the endurance ride, will choose a horse to be presented a special award for being in top condition.

Veterinarians will check all horses entered in the race on Friday at Crockett's Meadow. A special barbecue will be held following the pre-ride checks.

The awards will be presented Saturday evening following the race in Jackpot at the convention center.

Persons wishing to watch the end of the ride are invited to be in Jackpot Saturday afternoon and evening.

The race is being sponsored this year by Cactus Pete's, Club 93 and the Horseshu Club.

Anyone interested in entering the race should call Robert Harney at 753-2307 or write Harney at Box 368, Twin Falls.

Nun's room

RELIGION, individuality are reflected in Sister Barbara Jean's room. The prayer corner set up at the right is used for individual worship. On her bed is a stuffed tiger.

'Freaky Freddy'

DRUG Abuse class at St. Nicholas elementary school includes a slide presentation about 'Freaky Freddy,' a creation of the class instructor, Sister Stephanie Marie.

Nun's life not

By ED MITCHELL
Times-News writer

RUPERT — A nun's life is no longer described in black and white.

From the clothes they wear to the opinions they hold, today's Catholic sisters are permitted to have more variety in their lives.

The five Catholic nuns at the St. Nicholas Convent in Rupert dress according to individual tastes in modern fashions. Their rooms — far from the stark cells once associated with convents and monasteries — are bright and individualistic.

Without the religious articles, the rooms of the younger sisters would not differ much from college dormitory rooms.

Some nuns support women's liberation, according to the principal of the convent's elementary school, Sister Barbara Jean. One of the school's teachers is actively involved in the anti-abortion movement, she said. The church does not restrict these activities.

The nuns are not "gods" or "its," but human beings, Sister Barbara Jean said. Though they have chosen a life centered around the Catholic Church, they still have individual tastes and beliefs.

Nuns, for example, may now choose to retain their own given names when they enter the order instead of taking the names of Saints. Sister Barbara Jean chose to keep her given name to avoid legal problems with contracts, life insurance, that come with a change of name.

The nuns at St. Nicholas convent make up a religious community inside the larger parish community in Rupert. They devote their lives to teaching at the elementary school, and to religious life.

The sisters still see themselves as servants of the church although leadership is stressed.

Women who choose to be nuns give up family and the role of motherhood to devote their lives to church work and worship. This is not an easy option, Sister Barbara Jean said. Girls who seek to become nuns to escape the outside world are weeded out before vows are taken.

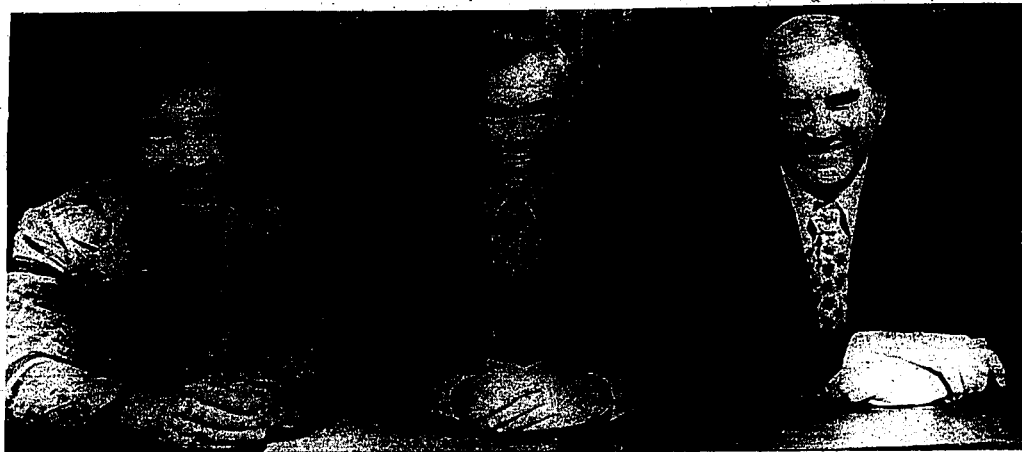

Sister Barbara Jean said she could not explain why she made the decision. Engaged to be married when she chose to devote her life to her church, Sister Barbara Jean said, she "received the call."

The freedoms enjoyed now by members of the holy orders have come in the wake of Vatican II, when many church practices with centuries of tradition were altered.

This Catholic conference was the primary motivating force, rather than outside social movements, in creating the changes, according to Sister Barbara Jean. The purpose of the church has not been altered through efforts to make it work in the modern world, she said.

BARBS
 By PHIL PASTORET
 If they'd recall enough autos, we'd have a lot more room for safety on the highways.

Now that they're listing everything but the truck driver's name, labels on products are a lot more fun to read.

After simmering in a morning traffic jam, one wonders why they call em "throughways".

Pill manufacturers are gulping their own products to ease the pain of the new regulations.

Gossip Column

BY ROBIN ADAMS SLOAN

Q: We know that Marlene Dietrich has a husband but why don't we read anything about him? — R.C., Atlanta, Ga.

A: Marlene and her husband, Rudolf Szeber, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary this year — apart, as usual. Seventy-seven-year-old Szeber lives in virtual seclusion in a ramshackle little house in the San Fernando Valley. Marlene manages a yearly visit and has endeared herself to the locals by supermarket shopping like any other housewife in an old sweater and no make-up. Szeber, who has not been well since he suffered a heart attack last year, has always refused to discuss his marriage.

Q: I've always had a small crush on Diane Cilento, the actress who was married to Sean Connery. She seems to have dropped out of movies or, have I just missed seeing her pictures? — S.C., Ventura, Calif.

A: Diane has really dropped out. She bought a nine-acre farm in England and is selling produce, including eggs and milk from her chickens and cows plus home-baked natural bread and yogurt. That's certainly a different Diane than the one we knew.

Q: Can you tell me something about that place in Rumania that keeps you young? — R.H., Miami Beach, Fla.

A: You are referring to Dr. Anna Aslan's clinic. Nearly 15,000 people from all over the world flocked there last year alone. Dr. Aslan administers a "youth outside Rumania, but many countries are studying it.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Who does Gore Vidal want to play the leading roles when his best-seller "Burr" is done in its six-hour TV people asking about it and yanking on it. Sometimes I go back to the natural style, but I have hard-to-manage hair!"

THE DIVINE GLENDA: Wondering when you'd see the British actress Glenda Jackson again? For a while

Gal. The hilarious book tells all about Lilli's life but carefully skirts the decade during which she co-starred with Sexy Rexy, bore him a son, Carey, and then divorced him so he could marry Kay Kendall. PLAYBOY PLOP: Al's not well with Hugh Hefner's Playboy empire — the clubs are in the doldrums and other magazines are eating into Playboy's readership. So Hef decided to inject life into his domain by beginning a sports mag. He summoned the gruff genius Andre Laguerre, the man who put Sports Illustrated on top, to Chicago for a pow-wow. After Hef outlined his sporting theories and offered Laguerre the paltry sum of $45,000 a year to run such an enterprise, the veteran editor got up and walked out with this zinger: "Young man, you don't know what the hell you are talking about!"

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Why do magazine dealers in Monaco duck when they see Princess Grace

A: Marjorie, whose name has been linked with the late Peter Revson, singer Tom Jones, and soccer player George Best is now singing Berry Gordy, the millionnaire-head of Motown records. Margorie was rumored to have kept a little black book with the track record of all her boyfriends — but somebody stole it.

Q: Has Joan Kennedy ever been cutting her hair to visit Chappaquiddick Island or does she stay far away from Martha's Vineyard? — M.V., Los Angeles, Calif.

A: No. She has never them. The women have hauled together and the lawyer has asked for a full police investigation.

Q: Why did Shirley MacLaine suddenly cancel out her nightclub act? I bought tickets. — C.P., Manhasset, L.I.

A: Miss MacLaine, who opened to brilliant reviews in Las Vegas and elsewhere, has not cancelled out but merely postponed continuing her theater tour so she can film a TV special. She was irritated by the bad sound system in one theater and by several theater promoters who advertised her appearance when she had already asked for a postponement. But she loves the audience experience and will resume the tour soon.

King Features Syndicate, Inc., 1974.

MARLENE & HUSBAND ... in closer times version? Oh, only the best. Vidal's ideal cast will be Richard Burton for Aaron Burr, the U.S. Vice President who killed Alexander Hamilton in a duel and was tried for treason. Then Gore wants Sir Laurence Olivier to play George Washington, Peter O'Toole to try Thomas Jefferson and Albert Finney to be Hamilton. He'd use the city of Dublin to recreate the streets of America in 1800.

OOPS SORRY: The writers of "Open Marriage," Nema and George O'Neill, are certainly NOT divorcing. We were wrong in our item a few weeks ago. In fact, they have let us know that life together has never been better and that their "open marriage" is doing just fine, thank you.

after grabbing off her second Oscar ("A Touch of Class") Glenda was pretty quiet. But now she is going to play the divine Sarah Bernhardt in a screenplay by John Mortimer to be produced abroad by the Reader's Digest. This is after she announced her retirement to be a "social worker." She has agreed now to four more films to follow "Sarah."

Q: Has Charles Chaplin finally retired? — L.W., Glen Cove, N.Y.

A: It doesn't seem that he ever will. Chaplin is now working on a script called "The Freak," which he hopes to direct this spring. "The Freak" is the story of a scientist in Latin America who captures a girl with wings.

Q: Would you have any news of Pat Loud? Has she and her husband gotten back together again? — E.L., Chicago, Ill.

A: Pat has moved to San Francisco where she's working for a cosmetic company. No, she and her husband have not reconciled but Pat does have a boy friend now so perhaps a reunion with Bill isn't in her plans.

FOUL BALL: Baseball lovers are already shuddering over the untitled autobiography — by outspoken pitcher Dock Ellis of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Due to come out in January, the book will reveal a lot of secrets about drug use among some players and even a probe into suspected homosexuality in the big leagues.

Q: Whatever happened to Rex Harrison's former wife, Lilli Palmer? — V.T., St. Louis, Mo.

A: The beautiful Lilli has retired to Switzerland with her new husband, Carlos Thompson. You'll soon be reading her memoirs, titled "Pat Lilli — the Good coming? In her middle years the Princess has become very puritanical. She has, of late, started curbing her own wanton campaign to force magazine sellers to stop displaying sexy publications. When she sees one of these magazines for sale she darts into the store and berates the shopkeeper.

Q: Could you tell this old Ethel Merman fan how the lady is faring in retirement? — E.L., Sarasota, Fla.

A: Retirement? La Merman has just opened a big one woman show at London's Palladium. The 65-year-old star plans to keep on performing even when she'll have to curry her own stage.

injection" called Gerovital H3 and within the next two years the FDA is expected to give its ruling on use or non-use in the United States. The 77-year-old Dr. Aslan believes that her Novocain-based injection, which she began using for arthritis in 1949, slows up the deterioration of tissues and cells. It has not yet been licensed for use.

Q: I really have to ask this. Does teenager Jermaine of the Jackson Five wear a wig? It's so wavy, his "hair." — G.T., Pittsburgh, Pa.

A: Jermaine insists "It's not a wig. It's just the way I comb it that makes it look like one. My wife, Hazel, conditions my hair and gives me permanents, but it's all mine. I get tired of
