After the blaze

Fire empties county jail

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News Staff
TWIN FALLS — Fire in the west portion of the Twin Falls County Courthouse about 1 a.m. today caused extensive damage and resulted in evacuation of 44 prisoners from the jail.
A police officer noticed smoke curling from the roof and notified the sheriff's office about 7 a.m.
County Commissioner William Wiseman who was called to the scene immediately said the 44 prisoners were evacuated via the stairway and were brought to the lobby of the courthouse. From there they were taken to other county jails around Magic Valley by bus.
The jail is on the fourth or top floor of the building.
Wiseman said Gooding took 16 of the prisoners and Jerome, Buhl, Twin Falls city, and Bufley and Rupert jails were able to accommodate the remainder.
Fire did not enter the jail and it did not break through the ceiling of the courthouse but appeared to be confined to the space between the roof and ceiling.
A large section of the roofing burned and fire spread under the roofing in a wide area. It was confined to the attic area, however.
Wiseman said he believed the fire started in wiring and added there is no indication it was started by prisoners.
Firemen said they received the call at 1:05 a.m. and responded with three fire engines and crews. The department remained at the scene until 3:18 a.m. with two firemen staying on the roof until daylight to guard against any additional outbreaks.
The department's ladder truck was used to gain access to the four-story building and to get water above and into the burning area.
A hole was cut in the roofing to ventilate the fire and get water between the roof and ceiling. By getting on the fire and properly, firemen said they were able to contain the fire in the attic area and prevent it from spreading into the main building.
Firemen said they had the fire under control shortly after arriving at the scene. The firemen listed the cause of the fire as unknown.
Sheriff's officers said this morning the prisoners will have to remain in other jails around the area until insurance and fire inspector investigations are complete and they are given approval to move them back to their cells. As soon as it is pronounced safe for use they will return, officials said.
County Commission Chairman William Chancey said it is too early to estimate damages but said it could run anywhere from $10,000 to $20,000 from first-hand inspection. Arrington Construction Co. will begin making repairs as soon as possible, he said.
Merritt Shotwell, who inspected the building this morning, said his fire crew completed a re-wiring contract on the building only recently but did not work on the area where the fire started.

Quash subpoenas, Nixon counsel ask

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former President Richard M. Nixon today formally asked Judge John J. Sirica to excuse him from testifying at the Watergate cover-up trial, apparently because of ill health.
Motions to quash both prosecution and defense subpoenas for Nixon's testimony were delivered at 11 a.m. to the closely guarded chambers where Sirica was interviewing prospective jurors for the trial of five of the former president's associates.
Herbert J. Miller Jr., Nixon's lawyer, refused to say what the envelope contained. But Sirica disclosed the contents about 45 minutes later.
"They will be filed under seal until the court has had an opportunity to review them thoroughly," Sirica said.
The subpoenas would require Nixon, one of 20 indicted co-conspirators in the cover-up, to answer questions about the alleged conspiracy for the first time since he resigned his office and received a full pardon from President Ford.
The motions to quash the subpoenas were believed to have argued that Nixon, who has been hospitalized with a new flare-up of phlebitis, is too ill to travel to Washington from his home in California and too weak to endure the rigors of attending a trial that may last as long as three months.
Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski suggested last week that Sirica might wish to consider sending a team of doctors to California to examine Nixon before ruling on whether he must comply with subpoenas for his appearance.
Sirica had started the long process of individually questioning prospective jurors for the trial to five former Nixon associates.

Miller's actions came as sources disclosed that another of his clients, Richard A. Moore, a former Nixon aide, had been added as an undicted co-conspirator in the cover-up case on the basis of "newly discovered evidence" found in the Watergate tapes.
Sources close to the case identified Moore, 60, whose resignation as White House special counsel was announced Wednesday, as the unidentified 20th name which Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski had added to list of undicted co-conspirators. Nixon had been listed as one of the original 19 undicted co-conspirators.

Moore, who had contradicted the testimony of Nixon's chief accuser John Dean in testimony before the Senate Watergate Committee, said he did not know "anything new" other than being named as an undicted co-conspirator or being subpoenaed to testify.
In the third day of the trial, Sirica began questioning in detail 14 prospective jurors who had been selected during the first two days from a group of 315 candidates. It proved to be a slow, arduous process.

SV meet examines economy

By BILL LAZARUS
Times-News writer
SUN VALLEY — About 33 prominent bankers and economists from throughout the nation are holding a closed meeting here today to discuss inflation and United States fiscal policy.
The bankers are members of the US Chamber of Commerce Banking, Monetary and Fiscal Affairs Committee, which for the first time is holding its semi-annual meeting in the west, according to J. Grant Blockmore, president of Idaho Bank and Trust Co., Pocatello.
Chairman Beryl Sprinkel, a Chicago banker, said the committee will consider recommendations to make to the Ford administration on fiscal measures needed to control inflation.
Dr. Sprinkel said that since policies of restraint are likely to create more unemployment, the committee will also probe "ways of sharing the burden" such as liberalization of unemployment benefits.

Quake jars Lima

LIMA, Peru (UPI) — A mighty earthquake hit southern Peru today, and amateur radio operator reports from the town of Canete 100 miles south of Lima told of fires raging there out of control.
Lima itself rocked for a full minute and residents fled into the streets, wailing prayers. There was no immediate estimate of casualties or damages and the city of Lima appeared to have escaped the brunt of the temblor. Most communications within the country and to the outside world were knocked out by the strong quake which struck at 9:28 a.m. (8:28 a.m. MDT.)

Gem gas firm appeals

BOISE (UPI) — Intermountain Gas Co. has filed an appeal with the Idaho Supreme Court to protest a ruling of the State Public Utilities Commission on a rate increase request.
The PUC refused a request from the company for a rehearing on its rate increase request which would have boosted company revenues by $2.8 million.
The commission June 26 ruled in favor of a rate increase totaling $3.4 million a year for the company, 40 per cent less than had been sought.
The commission at that time also ordered that within a year of the order the company would halt its retail sales and promotion of natural gas appliances.

The company has a retail appliance store in Boise and stores connected with its division offices in five other Idaho cities. It also operates appliance-ordering facilities in almost all communities within the company service area.
The commission order denying the petition for rehearing said the company has operated the sale of appliances at increasing losses during the past three years, which necessarily means that such sales are being subsidized from other revenues being provided by the ratepayers.

The full alert was called Friday at the start of the weekend political unrest in which the conservative President Antonio de Spinoza lost a power struggle with Gonalves and resigned.

Crash kills TF girl, 14

TWIN FALLS — Tammy Allred, 14, Twin Falls, was killed in a car-train accident at 7:15 p.m. Wednesday at a crossing one-half mile south and one mile west of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.
Miss Allred was a passenger in a car driven by Arlene Allred, 38, which was southbound on the county road. Idaho State Patrolman Jim Withers said witnesses reported the Allred vehicle stopped, then pulled into the path of an on-coming eastbound train.
The car was struck on the right front by the engine and the vehicle then spun 180 degrees. It rolled over once and came to rest on the north side of the tracks, east of the county road.
Injured in the mishap were Shavna Allred, 17, and Lisa Allred, 12.

Engineer of the train was W. J. Trammer, 56, Jerome.
County Coroner Cloyce Edwards said Miss Allred was pronounced dead at the scene. He said she suffered severe head injuries.
Magic Valley Memorial Hospital officials this morning said Mrs. Allred is listed in fair condition as is her older daughter, Shavna. Both were treated for shock and concussion. Lisa is listed in good condition today, also with concussion and a fractured wrist.
Hospital officials said the Allreds are not allowed visitors outside of the immediate family and are not receiving telephone calls. Shavna Allred was crowned homecoming queen at the Twin Falls High School.

Plant permit required

BOISE — The Idaho Department of Health and Welfare will have to grant a building permit before Idaho Power Co. can begin construction of its proposed coal-fired power plant, according to an IAW environmental official.
Idaho Power Co. President James Bruce said Tuesday the company is planning to file a construction permit application with the Idaho Public Utilities Commission within two weeks.
Even with IPUUC approval, the power company will still have to apply to HAW before it can start to build the plant, Murray Michael, director of the department's air pollution control division, said.
Michael said HAW will conduct an extensive review of the power company's environmental impact statement, and may demand more data. He said public hearings may be held on the case but that this would have to be decided by HAW Administrator Dr. James Bax or by Dr. Lee Stokes.
According to Ken Smith, administrator of the IPUUC, the commission will consider the cost, location, environmental impact, necessity and reason for the proposed location of the plant in considering Idaho Power's application.
"This is quite an issue. I kind of have the idea there might be several (public) hearings involved before the commissioners reach a decision on Idaho Power's proposal," he said.
Smith did not know if the power company will have to complete its environmental impact analysis before the commission decides on the application. "That would be a decision for the commissioners to make," he said.
Power company news director Bob Brown said Wednesday that environmental testing would be conducted for a year after the building permit application is made with the IPUUC.

Nixon's release may come soon

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—Richard Nixon does not have cancer and will be released from the hospital later this week, the former president's doctor says.

Nixon's fight with plebitis, and the lengthy convalescence urged by his physician, were expected to keep him out of the witness stand at the Watergate cover-up trial for a month or more, possibly preventing any appearance.

Dr. John Langren reported Wednesday that an extensive battery of tests since Nixon was admitted to Long Beach Memorial Hospital 10 days ago "have failed to reveal any hidden malignancy" cancer as the cause of the plebitis.

The doctor had never indicated public concern over cancer, which is connected with plebitis only in rare

CINCE About 2 per cent of the plebitis cases in the United States turn out to be caused by cancer of the pancreas, medical sources said.

Nixon's treatment continues to go satisfactorily, Langren said in a written statement to newsmen, and he will be released "at the end of this week." The doctor did not say what day.

Langren made no mention of Nixon's convalescence, apparently standing by his statement earlier this week that Nixon would travel or fly lengthy periods sitting up for at least a month and possibly for three months.

The court prevented Nixon from coming to Washington in compliance with Watergate trial subpoenas until after the trial has ended.

Shoshone mulls driving rules

SHOSHONE—A city ordinance regulating driving and parking within the city of Shoshone was given its first reading by the City Council Tuesday.

Purpose of the ordinance is to give law officers authority to control some of the traffic problem which has become a nuisance.

Specifically the ordinance states that all drivers of vehicles shall confine said vehicle to the right hand side of the streets, with reference to direction they are moving, and shall not overtake or pass another vehicle unless the left side is clearly visible and free of on-coming traffic.

It further states that no vehicle going on the right hand side of the street shall turn to the left or park on the left side thereof, and no U-turn shall be made on streets except at intersections where such U-turns are not prohibited by signs.

Any person convicted of a violation of this ordinance shall be fined a sum not to exceed $50.

The council discussed with the city police officers the problem of youths of all ages running the streets after the regular curfew hour. There is a city ordinance requiring minors be off the streets when the curfew blows each night.

In conjunction with this problem, the officials voiced concern over vandalism at the city park, which is destroying public property and causing expense to taxpayers at large.

Mrs. Raymond Oneda met with the council to discuss drainage problems on her property. The matter will be further studied by the council.

Mrs. Paul Jacobson from the Civic Club presented two checks, one in amount of $300 to help finance improvement made last week at the tennis court and another of $29.76 to be spent for a sand box playing area at the city park.

Mrs. Jacobson stipulated that the money for the sand box is not to be spent for any other purpose in event the council decides such boxes are not feasible or desirable.

Mrs. Jacobson suggested that the old wading pool area be filled with sand when the new swimming pool is complete, but if the idea is not carried out, then Civic Club members request a vote in deciding how this money shall be spent.

She announced the Civic Club is disbanding because women of community do not find time to support the club.

The council commended the club for the many projects of improvement it has rendered to the community over the years.

H.L. Corrigan was officially appointed a city maintenance crew member, having worked on a trial basis since July 1.

Victor Barcler permits were issued to Mark Rehbreck, Vivian Marckus, Nadeen Hildebrand and Mary Roessler.

Building permits were issued to Melvin Larraway to remodel a carport to a garage; Virginia Larsen, remodel a carport; Frank Carothers, move in a mobile home; Carlos Hahn, frame storage shed, and John Davis, place a mobile home.

First Lady noting get well messages

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Betty Ford is feeling well enough to start taking note of the thousands of people who have sent her get-well messages.

President Ford, who visited his wife at the Bethesda Naval Medical Center Wednesday night, said she was "feeling much better."

"She felt well enough in fact today to read the three or four boys, Mike in Boston, and Jack and Steve who are both in Utah," Ford told reporters.

Doctors reported Wednesday that Mrs. Ford was feeling strong enough after her breast cancer surgery to read, watch television and answer some mail.

The White House has received about 10,000 letters and cards from well-wishers, according to her press secretary, Helen McCain Smith.

Most of the notes are from women who also had a breast removed and most are comforting, assuring Mrs. Ford she can live a "normal, long life," Mrs. Smith said.

"Today the wives of four congressmen will get together at the White House to organize a volunteer force to answer the mail. A printed "Thank you" card will be sent to each letter, and the envelopes will be hand addressed.

Navy Show Band sets TF concert

By LORAYNE SMITH
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — No matter your musical tastes, you'll hear something you appreciate Friday night when the US Navy's Show Band West performs at CSI auditorium at 8 p.m.

The show band, the contemporary unit of the larger 12th naval district band, also will present two high school concerts Friday, at 9 a.m. at Burley and 1 p.m. in the Twin Falls High School.

All the performances are free to the public, according to CWO Hal Hessler, who is director of the navy bands in the San Francisco area. George Ball, senior chief musician, conducts Show Band West.

Hessler said the group was formed about three years ago and plays "modern, up to date" music, "indicative of today's modern navy." He and Clyde (Brad) Bradley, Twin Falls navy recruiter, point out the specialized stage band serves to illustrate to the public how this branch of the armed forces has changed and the "quality, professionalism and expertise the band exhibits extends to the 70 job specialties offered potential recruits."

Show Band West is on the road about 50 per cent of the year but the tours usually are only two weeks long, with the intervening time spent in practice and giving the musicians time to arrange current popular music.

The stage band plays jazz, country-western, rock, pop and "easy listening" as well as some of the big band theme songs in its tour concerts.

The previously all-male domain has been invaded by female navy personnel, with a flute player and drummer in one of the San Francisco groups. Show Band West will have a female vocalist as of Oct. 15.

All jobs, except combatant posts, are open to both sexes, according to Gretchen Dahm, "advance man" who coordinates media and personal appearances for navy bands.

Two girls from Twin Falls were among the first engine room class which included females, recruiter Bradley said.

Navy Band on tour

TELLING the story of the US Navy through the media of music is the purpose of the tours of Show Band West, a jazz contemporary group of the US Navy Band, according to recruiter Clyde Bradley, from left; Gretchen Dahm, media representative, and CWO Hal Hessler, director of San Francisco navy bands.

Probe findings reported

POCATELLO — All but one of the 21 George Hansen campaign contributions being investigated by the Justice Department came from personal and not corporate funds, the Associated Press reported today.

Documents supplied the AP by Hansen campaign sources show that officers of 20 corporations involved in the 21 questionable contributions have signed statements declaring their contributions to the second district congressional candidate were made from personal funds, AP newsmen Quane Kenyon reported.

Kenyon also reported that, although the Justice Department will not acknowledge that it is investigating Hansen's campaign financing, other Washington sources have indicated that Hansen's financial records are so complicated the investigation may extend past the Nov. 5 election.

The documents supplied by Hansen sources show that the lone contribution, said not to have come from the personal funds of corporate officers, was a check for $10 from Shuler Brothers Inc., Soda Springs, Kenyon reported, and in that instance a letter from Don H. Shuler indicated the corporation involves only two persons, Shuler and his brother.

Under the Federal Elections Campaign Act of 1971, which became effective in 1972, it is against the law for a political candidate to accept contributions from corporations, although officers of corporations and other persons may contribute.

Hansen said weeks ago that the alleged corporate contributions were at the heart of the investigation into his campaign financing although there have since been reports that investigators are looking into alleged secret funds and the passage of large sums of unreported campaign funds through several bank accounts as well.

Hansen has denied these charges, claiming that his campaign to date has expended only about $33,000, which has been reported, and that it has operated from a single account since the organization of the Hansen for Congress Committee.

Prior to the organization of that committee, Hansen said last week, campaign funds were lodged in a "Partners for Congress" account which was phased out when the committee was organized.

According to the AP, documents supplied by Hansen campaign workers on the 21 questionable contributions show that most came from officers of corporations in the Pocatello, Idaho Falls and Soda Springs areas. Only two of those listed by the wire service came from the Magic Valley and both of those from Burley. One from Joe Preston Agency Inc. and the other from Banana Motors Inc.

Of all the contributions, the largest was $250 from John D. Hatfield of Soda Springs Phosphate Inc. and the smallest the $10 contribution from Shuler Brothers, the AP reported.

Attorneys for George Hansen have indicated, the AP said, that if the candidate is ever charged with a violation of law, they will have their defense on a lack of criminal intent, since Hansen himself voluntarily disclosed the alleged corporate contributions.

Defining consumer interest job for business

WASHINGTON - By refusing to close off debate, the Senate on Sept. 19 killed a consumer protection bill for this session of Congress. It is cause for rejoicing. But it is not cause for much rejoicing. This bill will be back at the next session of Congress...

joining senators who opposed cloture also are older men in retirement. Eight opponents of the bill face re-election in November, and two of the eight - Dominick of Colorado and Young of North Dakota - have tough campaigns ahead. The fourth and final vote on cloture needed 66 votes to end the filibuster. The motion got 64 votes. If Sen. Edward Kennedy had made it to the floor on time - he was one minute late in arriving - the margin would have been reduced to one vote. Sen. Alan Cranston of California, a leading proponent, already is boasting that "we'll win it next year, absolutely."

The object of the bill is to create a new Agency for Consumer Advocacy, headed by an administrator with sweeping powers to intervene in both the formal and informal proceedings of every other federal agency. The administrator would represent "the consumer." By his own fiat, the administrator would define "the consumer interest." Whatever the name of the actual administrator might be, the effective administrator would be Ralph Nader. This is the prospect that has to be faced.

How did this bill manage to marshal such impressive support? One reason, based in congressional custom, is that many members of the House and Senate had not found the time to read the bill carefully or to think soberly on the bill's implications. They were mesmerized by such enchanting words as "consumer," "protection," and "advocacy." The expedient thing to do was to get on the side of the angels. But there is another reason, and it ought to be faced squarely by my friends in the business community. Let me talk like a Dutch uncle to them. If business leaders had channeled one-tenth of the energy they devoted to fighting this bill into improving products and services instead, they would not find themselves in this fix. Too many retailers and manufacturers have lost too much of the confidence they once enjoyed.

Why the loss of confidence? By coincidence, on the day the Senate was taking a cloture vote, the House subcommittee provided food for thought. The subcommittee had analyzed the warranties of 51 leading manufacturers. Only one of them - the Corning Corporation - provided customers with a warranty free of loopholes, catch-words, gimmicks, and take-backs. Fifty of 51 provided warranties containing such phrases as "the manufacturer will fix the sole judge of whether the part is defective." Is it any wonder that many, a disgruntled consumer, have turned to Nader to support the Nader bill?

The business community will have to do better. For the short haul, a crash program has to be undertaken toward educating Congress and the public in the bureaucratic pitfalls of a "consumer protection" bill. For the long haul, business and labor, working together, will have to pursue the ideal goals of American industry - to make good products, and to stand behind them. We might not need a bureaucracy to define and protect "the consumer interest." This is the job of business and it cannot be neglected.

Pardon testimony

President Ford wisely has decided to testify before a congressional subcommittee about the circumstances surrounding his pardon of former President Nixon.

The subcommittee hearing, to be televised, would be the first such appearance by a president before a Congressional Committee.

There are two good reasons for Ford's decision. First, the nation is still perplexed and suspicious about the Nixon pardon. Ford may be able to present his case convincingly. He will have a forum to tell the people what considerations and negotiations led to the pardon.

Secondly, the new president's decision to testify before the somewhat hostile subcommittee demonstrates his intention to make his administration an open one in contrast to his predecessor's. It suggests he was serious when he said repeatedly that he takes Congress seriously and will try to work with and through its members toward some kind of national consensus.

The President is on the right track. Hopefully he will provide some needed answers at the Oct. 10 hearing.

The economic summits

Christian Science Monitor

Mr. Ford has emerged from his economic summits with generally high marks for bringing a difficult and highly partisan area of public policy into the open. But he faces strong pressure, now that the summits are over, to show what he and his staff can do in the backroom work of specific proposals.

The "town hall" approach of the final summit this weekend gave the representatives of labor, industry, government, and to a noticeably lesser degree the consumer, the chance to argue their cases. All the proceedings looked and sounded like a political conference, with votes to be cast for or against certain types of economic action.

But out of the summit did come a kind of consensus. Perhaps economist Paul Samuelson was nearest right in his definition of the problem as not just inflation, but inflation plus recession, or "stagflation." The remedy for stagflation is not recovery, a moderate easing of monetary and credit conditions combined with a slow rate of expansion of the economy. An inflation that was years in building, he argues, cannot be shut off overnight.

To gain the time - perhaps two or three years - to quiet the engines of inflation, some kind of social contract will have to be struck on the wage and price front. Mr. Samuelson and others suggested that tax relief for lower and moderate income Americans may be offered in return for wage restraint. On the price side, the public will have to be assured that unjustified price increases will not be permitted. And government will have to hold its own budget in line.

Mr. Ford's announcement of a new White House labor-management committee indicates the first step in seeking a voluntary wage-price pact. His promise to cite specific budget-cutting items should soon show in Congress a response how he will fare with the federal side of his compact for moderate growth and restraint on inflation.

Mr. Ford may have about used up the wait-and-see period of his young presidency on the economy. True, many economists look for a moderate recovery of the economy by the middle of next year and a halving of the inflation rate by the end of 1975. But signs indicate business is starting to raise prices in anticipation not just of inflation, but of government controls. Last month wholesale prices climbed at a 15.6 percent yearly rate - public and congressional patience may erode fast.

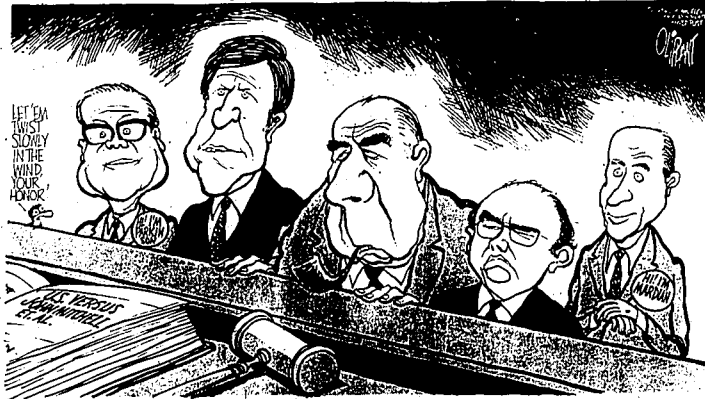

The President's appeal to Americans "to become energy fighters and energy savers" is correct in sentiment and could be effective. It encourages the spirit of accommodation which surfaced at times at the summit conference, such as the proposed conversion of some business leaders to the idea of higher taxes for the rich to balance tax concessions for those hardest hit by inflation.

We hope the President continues to exercise leadership along these lines of accommodation and self-sacrifice, and that the American public backs him.

We trust that Mr. Ford's forth-coming full-scale blueprint for a war against inflation and recession will merit that spirit of cooperation.

Antitrust action, a program for energy conservation and development, ending unwarrented federal protection of industries or labor groups, inflation-impact studies for federal legislation in areas like health care - these are targets for White House economic leadership.

In short, the economic summits have shown Mr. Ford to be a good listener. But if he does not act decisively, specifically, and fast, the clamor for tough wage-price controls or other steps he doesn't like could wrest the initiative from him.

'YOUR HONOR, CAN WE JUST TAKE THE PARDON AND GO? WE'VE SUFFERED ENOUGH ALREADY!'

Berry's World

My home canning project works out to around three dollars per jar, but who knows - maybe we'll still come out ahead.

BRANDON, S.D. - The mood of despair here on the Great Plains has reached such a point that an economic depression of the scale of 1929 is now seen as a "real danger" by nearly one-half the voters we interviewed in this barometer community.

President Ford's much-publicized economic summit was dismissed by one voter as "just another way of doing nothing." Indeed, only 15 of 50 voters interviewed in this small eastern South Dakota community feel "more optimistic" over the future now that Ford is in the White House.

South Dakota is the battleground between Sen. George McGovern, and Vietnam war-hero Leo Thorness, his Republican opponent for the Senate. It is an measure of voter fear over the future that McGovern, not Thorness, now holds what looks like a commanding lead.

McGovern benefits because cattle farmers are especially worried about the possibility of foreclosures due to the high price of feed and the low price of beef-on-the-hoof. Thus, voters who rejected McGovern's presidential bid in his own state by a percentage points are turning back to him to preserve their interests in the Senate. In what may be the trend nationally, economic fears are intimidating concerns of social ideology on the plains.

EVANS AND NOVAK

"We don't need a war here in the Senate," said a butcher who voted for Richard Nixon against McGovern. "We need experience." Thorness, who spent six years in a Communist prison camp after being shot down over North Vietnam in 1967, was thought by national Republican strategists to be just the ticket to take on the Democratic party's top dove. But our voter sample indicated the ar-hero vs. war-critic scenario has gone awry.

The 50 voters interviewed gave McGovern only a bare margin of 23 with a "favorable" reaction to 19 who regard him "unfavorably." Yet McGovern demolished Thorness in present voting intentions: 30 to 13, with 6 undecided.

The clear reason: McGovern's experience as a 12-year Senator and Thorness' lack of it. "Tomorrow, our door-to-door survey in this community of 1,400 gave McGovern high marks for having 'learned from his mistakes' in 1972. Those willing to express an opinion said McGovern "is back on the right track now" by a margin of 27 to 6.

Thus, McGovern ran almost 6-to-1 ahead of Thorness in voter perception of his "ability to get things done in the Senate." In only one category - preserving a strong national defense

- did Thorness emerge over McGovern. But national defense is sadly distant as a paramount issue in this campaign. There is only one issue: the economy, and President Ford's ability to stop inflation and recession.

Ford continues to hold an extremely high approval rating among voters here. By a score of 77 to 4, Ford is still "favorably" regarded, despite angry criticism of the Nixon pardon.

Given President Ford's continuing procrastination on how to deal with the economy, only 6 of 50 voters believe the economy is going to be better a year from now. Far more ominous for Ford, those who had an opinion said by a 6-1 margin that the Democrats "can do a better job" of managing the economy than the Republicans, even though we interviewed slightly more Republicans than Democrats. For Ford, this means time is running out. But for McGovern, it suggests the calamity of 1972 is behind him. That is due in no small part to the inexperience of his war-hero opponent.

Another liberation due

It is everywhere said that with the withdrawal of Sen. Edward Kennedy from the presidential race, the Watergate drama has come to a complete cycle, crushing with the same juggernaut that impaled Richard Nixon, the Democrats' principal contender for the Presidency, Edward Kennedy.

You cannot, we are told, remove the Republican Nixon for his failure, among other things, to come clean about his misbehavior - and then elect the Democrat Kennedy notwithstanding his failure, among other things, to come clean about his misbehavior.

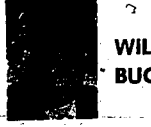

Richard Nixon's public declaration to the effect that he deeply regrets his mistaken judgments greatly annoyed people who wanted him to appear in sackcloth and ashes, regretting the day that he was born. In fact, politicians use euphemisms, wherever possible. When Edward Kennedy renounced the race for the presidency, he talked not about Chappaquiddick, but about his obligations to his family. I don't doubt that he feels sincerely his obligations to his family. But then I don't doubt, either, that Richard Nixon feels sincerely his regret at his mistaken judgments. After all, when you attempt to obstruct justice and fail to do so, among other things, you have been mistaken in your judgment.

I wish that we would take the opportunity at this point to reflect less on the need of an American president to have been born without sin, as to be born with outstanding qualifications to serve as president of the United States. The question arises: How come Richard Nixon was considered the top Republican in the country, and how come Edward Kennedy was considered the likely Democrat to be elected?

It is easier to answer the second question than the first. Senator Kennedy is the surviving brother of a publicly illustrious breed, and the martyr's blood one longs to avenge, runs only in his veins. That in itself would substantially account for his popularity, and you then add, of course, his good looks and his youth. In the case of Richard Nixon, he got to where he got by a combination of extraordinary luck (the need of Dwight Eisenhower to capture the California delegation in 1952), and dogged and intelligent perseverance. But Nixon never distinguished himself as a man of extraordinary gifts or capacity.

Here is the trouble with the presidency. People are laughed at for merely mentioning as a possible president someone who is not heavily steeped in a ritual which tends rather to vulgarize than to ennoble. It is safe nowadays to say, for instance, that you think Senator Jackson should be president. But it is ludicrous to say that you think Frank Stanton should be president. Why? This has nothing to do with any question of sharing or not sharing Jackson's or Stanton's views on public policy. But a wall lifts up, as impregnable as Berlin's, between the two categories of men. Stanton's executive experiences is far greater than Jackson's. His views on all matters are well known, inasmuch as he has given almost as many speeches as Jackson. His position on foreign policy is not much different.

Surely this is a direction we should consciously turn to: increasing the list of Americans who should be considered for the presidency. The mere mention of someone as a possible president has the effect of getting his name thought about.

It's not the policy but the reminder that's odd

(C) New York Times Service WASHINGTON - The odd thing is that we are in the business of overthrowing other peoples' governments, but that we can still be surprised when somebody reminds us of it.

In Asia, Latin America, Africa, the Mediterranean and the Middle East we have been propping up and knocking down governments more or less openly for the past 25 years.

It is an established policy. Everybody knows it. It is supposed to be done "covertly," since publicly to do it would make the natives resentful and defeat the project. Imagine the chauvinistic rallying around President Ford that would occur if Canada, say, announced that its agents were going to destabilize United States society so that 10 dissident Democrats would leave the present government out of office.

We have been so active in the field, however, that a number of our projects have come to light. Iran, Indonesia, South Vietnam, Greece, the Congo, Guatemala, Cuba - all have had their domestic policies secretly interfered with by the Central Intelligence Agency in ways that made headlines.

The difficulty may be that we prefer not to know ourselves. How else can we explain these cries of shock that follow each fresh disclosure that the C.I.A. has done it again? Professional moralizers of press and television are outraged by the blood shed induced by the new U.S. - approved dictatorship in Chile, although it has been slight compared to the mass murders which outraged them in Indonesia with the overthrow of Sukarno.

Where have these people been for the past 25 years? They always seem to be hearing it for the first time.

It is not a difficult paradox to explain. We have listened to our own publicity for so long that we believe it. Since 1945 our publicity agents have been telling us are the good guys, the white hats, the idealists struggling for democracy and freedom along dark streets swarming with the kind of thugs who overthrow other peoples' governments and put their own axe men in charge.

Overthrowing other peoples' governments is a habit of great imperial powers. Romans and Britons did it openly, as do the Soviets today, and we differ from them only in insisting that we are as pure today as we were when we bedded down with empire 30 years ago. Our publicity preclaims it and when truth threatens, we deflect self-recognition by blaming C.I.A., which, goes the self-deception, is out of control and amok.

In fact, C.I.A. has been operating with tacit public consent from the beginning. The policy was never publicly adopted. To have done it publicly would have been too embarrassing for us. It would have required us to admit that we were not who our publicity said we were.

The government is sensitive about preserving our illusions. It does its best to keep the drearier realities from intruding upon us. Typically, the exposure of the Chilean subversion has resulted in a move by the House Armed Services Committee to punish the House for trying to tell us what we did not want to hear.

If we are becoming the enemy we set out to thwart, the latest Congress can do it punish anybody who threatens to let us know about it.

Some accomplishments credited to economic summit, 'foothills'

By PETER S. NAGAN
(C) Newhouse News Service
WASHINGTON — Now that the first of the President's much-publicized economic summit conferences is beginning to settle, it's possible to at least start to assess its accomplishments and implications.

Both were considerable — if you keep in mind the limited objectives the president initially set in calling the conference. The assembled experts were supposed only to explore the avenues for curbing inflation and even up with recommendations on such fire-cures were promised or expected.

Analysis

Beyond this, the White House was hoping for psychological gains in what is heavily a psychological problem. And there was a need to lay time for the new federal administration to organize its own economic policy-making team.

Well, the summit, and the 12 "foothill" meetings that proceeded it, did give the President a much-needed month to get rolling. And the final conference sessions that wound up over the weekend ended on an upbeat note that exceeded many observers' expectations.

Here's what the conference can be said to have accomplished:

It conducted an exhaustive review — and came to some surprisingly broad consensus on the nature of the problems we face. Congress, the business community, labor leaders and economists participated in a process of touching on possible solutions, and voicing out the divergent views were at least partially reconciled — that is, gains were narrowed.

— The series of discussions brought home to the White House and the public the need for greater recognition of the dangers of a serious recession. By the time President Ford made his closing remarks, the threat of a slump was ranking as a virtually equal in importance with the need to deal with inflation.

— The near-unanimous feeling that the credit restraints were in fact too tightly credited with influencing the Federal Reserve to speed up or extend the moderate lowering of interest rates which the federal reserve had already begun.

— The program the President will present to Congress in the wake of the summit findings, is now likely to include some tax relief for those hit hardest by inflation and the business slowdown, along with revenue-raising from oil and other groups. His package also probably will contain some incentives for savings and investment — and special aid for special industries — as well as a spending cuts he was plugging before.

— In time, the summit operation may prove to have given business and consumer confidence a worthwhile lift. This psychological plus, if it develops, could turn out to be the biggest dividend from the entire affair.

It's a notorious thing, of course. But the public's decisions to save, buy, invest in stocks or push for higher wages are, to a considerable degree, a function of popular feeling about the future — about whether the government has things under control and can make things better. The same holds true for business decisions to invest and to hold up — or push ahead — on price increases.

For the time being, though, the jury is still out. The summit was a useful exercise. Whether it proves a plus for the economy only the next year or so will tell.

Funds eyed to create jobs

(C) New York Times Service
WASHINGTON — States and localities with substantial unemployment will receive $50 million with which to create an estimated 23,000 public service jobs, Peter J. Brennan, secretary of labor, announced Wednesday.

Under the combined basic and discretionary allocations, New York, New Jersey and Connecticut will get a total of $37,224,463 — sufficient to provide about 11,500 jobs although higher pay scales in these states may reduce this potential somewhat.

Brennan said that distribution of the $50 million had begun and that hiring by the eligible localities and program agents could start immediately. The funding was authorized by Title II of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, which is aimed at giving the unemployed transitional public service employment.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Liniment useful if reasonably used

By GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: Concerning analgesics, "muscle-rub" preparations and such liniments — are they useful? Worthless but harmless? Or harmful?

I have used some of them for many years to relieve aching muscles and they have definitely helped me.

But now I have been informed by somebody that he was "killed" by a shi doctor in the Navy back in '41 that they are worthless and perhaps harmful. — E.D.

Liniments "for man or beast" have been around a long time. Most contain some ingredient classed as a "counterirritant" which creates a warmth of the skin. Used to excess, this could cause skin irritation.

It is doubtful if this surface warmth penetrates deep enough to affect muscles and joints, but there is some stimulation of circulation.

Any form of heat is soothing for aches and pains, but in the case of liniments the massage action in applying the liniment probably is as helpful as anything in the stuff.

The same message and a hot bath, plus rest, usually will do as much good as the liniment — but if the liniment bottle is hunder and quicker, and it serves the purpose for you, go ahead and use it.

In a word, I can't call these liniments either useless or harmful when used within reason.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My 4-month-old baby insists on having his pacifier for naps during the day and throughout the night although he rejects it immediately in waking hours.

I am at a loss as to how to break his habit of sleeping with the pacifier when he was a few weeks old and colicky. Then he was in the hospital for surgery and they let him have it during the night also. When we brought him home he was hooked on it.

The problem is that he wakes up around 6 a.m. and discovers he has lost it. I get up and replace it but he loses it again and this goes on every 10 or 15 minutes until I finally get up.

I seem to walk around in a daze. I hate being an early bird! — Mrs. R.S.

Why not let it dangle from a ribbon tied to his crib, so he can find it, if he wants it? At four months I wouldn't try to break him of liking the pacifier, since he doesn't want it during the day, he's not "hooked" on it. Give him a little more time and he'll abandon it.

DC disbars Dean

(C) Washington Star-News
WASHINGTON — The District of Columbia Court of Appeals Wednesday ordered former White House counsel John W. Dean 3d barred from practicing law here.

Dean, who pleaded guilty to one count of conspiracy to obstruct justice in connection with the Watergate cover-up, presently is serving a one to four-year prison sentence. He is expected to be a key witness in the cover-up trial here.

The District of Columbia is the second jurisdiction in which Dean has been disbarred.

No effect in aid cut

ANKARA (UPI) — Turkey's top military man said today the U.S. Senate vote to cut aid to Cyprus and to this country is not going to affect its position of strength on Cyprus.

"There are reports that the Cyprus issue was used by U.S. politicians for partisan polemics," Gen. Semih Sançar, the armed forces chief of staff, told UPI. "But such actions will not affect the military situation in Cyprus."

The Senate voted Tuesday to cut off aid on grounds Turkey had used American-supplied weapons in its invasion of Cyprus in July.

Sançar said the decision to cut off American aid still was not final, an apparent reference to President Ford's threat to veto the Senate measure.

Rocky says Arabs new world capitalists

PROVO (UPI) Nelson Rockefeller, whose grandfather built a billion-dollar fortune on petroleum, says today's Arab oil barons are becoming the world's new capitalists.

The vice presidential designate told 2,000 Brigham Young University students Wednesday that in one year, the Arabs have accumulated more money than is produced by all American investments abroad.

"They don't realize it yet, but the Arabs will end up as the new capitalists of the world," said the former New York governor, who was in Provo for President Gerald Ford at a BYU Forum Assembly.

The President sent Rockefeller as a substitute on a western speechmaking tour after Mrs. Ford underwent surgery for cancer.

Rockefeller described the inflationary impact of recent Arab oil price hikes as "the most revolutionary change that's taken place in the world without war."

"It's had an impact on every aspect of life all over the world," he added. "The action of the Arab countries is that might well be described as a $63-billion-per-year—that's in addition to the cost" of the oil.

Rockefeller arrived at the Marriott Activity

Center with Mormon Church President Spencer W. Kimball and, received a warm polite greeting from the students and townspeople who packed the fieldhouse to the very last row.

The BYU fund played a lively version at "America the Beautiful" as the two walked to a platform to join other dignitaries including Utah's two senators—Republican Wallace F. Bennett and Democrat Frank Hess—and Gov. Calvin L. Hampton, a Democrat.

Political candidates including Salt Lake City Mayor Jake Garn, hopes to replace the retiring Bennett, were also on hand, along with other Mormon leaders.

Rockefeller read a short message from the President expressing Ford's regrets at missing the BYU appearance.

The Presidential message commended the Mormon-owned university for "its high standards of scholarship, morality, integrity and patriotism."

"The international food shortage, he said, is one of the biggest problems to be resolved in curbing inflation, adding that the United States could help by increasing production and building storage facilities to meet it.

"But we can't do it alone," he said. "Other nations must be helped to producing enough to feed their own people."

"The Arabs are going to have to help finance this," he added. "They've got the money and it has to be done under the auspices of the United Nations to give the Arabs the security they need for their investments."

The vice presidential nominee wrapped up his three-hour stopover having lunch with Kimball, BYU President Dalhin Oaks, other Mormon leaders and Utah politicians.

Rockefeller emerged from the luncheon wearing a "Garn for Senate" lapel button, but made no verbal comment about Utah politics.

President Ford has scheduled a trip to Salt Lake City Nov. 2 specifically for campaign for Garn, who is vying with Democratic Rep. Wayne Owens for the Senate.

Rockefeller flew to Provo from New York by private jet. He then flew to San Francisco to address an editors meeting.

Utah anti-abortionists had threatened to stage demonstrations during Rockefeller's visit to protest the former governor's signing of New York's liberal abortion law. But the only sign of protest was one man at the airport with a sign reading: "Welcome Big Brother."

Water, inflation, crime, staffing top campaign

By United Press International—The First Congressional District Democratic candidate's staff, water, inflation, the education support staff and crime were major topics Wednesday on the Idaho political scene.

Ken Miller, who ran against J. Ray Cox—the Democratic candidate for First District Congress—has agreed to help Cox in his campaign against Rep. Steve Symms.

Miller will work in an advisory capacity and assist in preparation of press and speech material.

"With Ray Cox," Miller said, "we can rest assured there will be no dams in Hell's Canyon, and students, veterans and senior citizens alike will get a fair shake."

John Evans, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, considers water the prime natural resource on which Idaho's economic future depends.

"In order for Idaho to fulfill its future demands, we must make every effort possible to conserve and better utilize our available water supplies," Evans told Blackfoot high school students.

Victor told a gubernatorial campaign class at Boise State University, "Those political leaders in both the Democratic and Republican parties have created inflation through reckless government spending and bureaucratic harassment of the free enterprise system which stifles both the spirit and the ability to produce."

"Only by curbing wasteful and unproductive spending and the removal of strangling restrictions and requirements on the free enterprise system can the cost of producing goods be reduced to a competitive level."

Archivist transferred to new job

(C) Washington Star-News—Mary Walton Livingston, a Nixon archivist who played a key role in exposing the huckaback of a deed for Richard Nixon's donation of his vice presidential papers to the National Archives, has been transferred out of her politically sensitive job in the archivist's Office of Presidential Libraries.

Mrs. Livingston, a supervisory archivist and the third highest worker in the small office for five years, reportedly made the shift because the presidential libraries' office will soon begin working with Nixon on arranging his papers for the proposed Nixon library.

There were reports that Mrs. Livingston, a key figure in last year's investigation by the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation of Nixon's use of the donation for a tax deduction, was pressured to leave her job before she began working personally with Nixon on his library.

But James B. Rhoads, archivist of the United States, the agency's top administrator, said Mrs. Livingston changed jobs voluntarily and was not influenced in any way by her superiors. Mrs. Livingston refused to comment.

School secretaries and other members of the education support staff generally are underpaid and unappreciated, said Roy Truby, Democratic candidate for state public instruction superintendent.

Truby said if elected, he would assist in providing a series of workshops to upgrade the skills of all educational office personnel "because it is important that we attract and keep quality people in our schools at all levels."

Republican Wayne Kiddwell believes his background as a military policeman and a prosecuting attorney will help him with the responsibilities he would face as Idaho attorney general.

Kiddwell told the Rise and Shine Club of Pocatello's Chamber of Commerce an overall crime increase of 15 per cent and a town crime increase of 29 per cent nationally demonstrates the need for competent and efficient handling of the law enforcement duties of the attorney general's office.

Newsprint prices climb

NEW YORK (UPI)—Some North American paper producers of newsprint have announced $25 increases, bringing the U.S. price for 30-pound newsprint to nearly $26 a ton.

The price hikes, announced within recent days, will be effective next Jan.

The companies are Boise Cascade of Boise, Idaho; Domtar Ltd. of Quebec; Price Paper and Pulp Co. of Quebec; and Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Co. of Toronto.

Other companies said they are considering higher prices.

Ex-Nixon aide named conspirator

(C) New York Times Service—WASHINGTON—A White House lawyer who worked as special counsel to former president Richard M. Nixon has been added by the prosecution to its list of co-conspirators in the Watergate cover-up trial, sources familiar with the case said today.

The prosecution reportedly added Richard A. Moore to the list—a list that includes Nixon—apparently after reviewing presidential tape recordings.

The 60-year-old Moore's resignation was announced by the White House.

Moore's office at the White House issued a statement last night from his attorney, Herbert J. Miller, who also is the attorney for Nixon, in which the attorney said:

"Mr. Moore has not been named as unindicted co-conspirator either by the grand jury or by the special prosecutor and on the basis of all the information available to me I do not believe he will be so charged."

"He has testified voluntarily and fully in the past and stands ready to do so again if requested," the statement said.

Canadian industry sources said the $20 price will just keep up with increases for production and labor. The price would have to reach about $30 a ton if the industry can justify expanding facilities and equipment.

Most Canadian companies said no decision on whether to increase the price for Canadian customers was made yet. About 70 per cent of Canada's output of newsprint is exported to the United States.

Another major producer, Great Lakes Paper in Thunder Bay, Ont., has not yet decided if it will hike its price, now at $24.65.

Company president C.J. Carter said "We're thinking about it. It's a matter of internal discussion now and we'll be making an announcement very shortly."

Ontario Paper CMO Ltd. of Thorold, Ont., which is controlled by the Chicago Tribune newspaper group, said it sells comparatively little newsprint on the open market.

A spokesman for the company said, "we usually follow the going rate. Right now, however, nothing has been decided. But you can say our rate usually reflects what the market is paying."

On the West Coast, spokesmen for Crown Zellerbach and MacMillan Bloedel said no newsprint price increases for Western U.S. or Canadian customers had been announced. They declined to speculate on possible future increases.

In Saint John's, New Brunswick, MacMillan Bloedel issued a statement Wednesday saying they were studying the situation in the wake of cost increases for labor and material.

Jerome council eyes change in garbage pickup

By CHARLOTTE BELL

Times-News writer CHARLOTTE BELL writes that the city of Jerome is considering a proposal to transfer garbage pickup from the alleys to city streets.

Councilman Walt Bentzinger said during a City Council meeting Tuesday night that Idaho Disposal Inc. look over the city's garbage collection from LaGrange on July 1, and has requested that all garbage pickups be made in the streets soon.

The company is in the process of acquiring new and larger trucks which the alleys will not accommodate unless they are widened, trees removed, power lines raised and ditches tilled," Bentzinger said. He said that because of the weight of the new trucks, the alleys would have to be backstopped in some cases to keep the trucks from miring down in the mud. Bentzinger said Idaho Disposal is preparing a special pamphlet that it wants to distribute to its customers. The pamphlet explains why the change from the alley to the street is needed and the company's rate schedule.

The council agreed that the proposal should be brought to the attention of the public and possibly a special hearing should be held before any decision is made on the matter.

The Jerome Humane Society is once again in financial trouble and is now without a permanent humane officer. Mrs. Jean Wilder and Mrs. Connie Cunningham met with the council Tuesday night and received approval for a $500 advance from the city.

Mrs. Wilder said the society is not able to pay its monthly bills. "At the present time, we are one or two months behind and need the $500 to bring the bills up to date and keep the bill collector away from the door and the service companies from cutting off our service," she noted that she and Mrs.

Cunningham are now working without a salary and that she is also serving as the humane officer, going out on animal complaints and picking up dogs.

The council agreed to the $500 advance with the stipulation that after the first of the year, the contract with the society would be renegotiated and an effort made to obtain some help from the county commissioners since the humane society also is handling animal calls for the county.

Howard Duflos, chief of police, said that the city now has a problem with people from the county dumping dogs in town. He said the Humane Society has done a better job of handling the animal problems than the police department could. He said he feels that every effort should be made to help the society maintain its operation.

David Hiett, was appointed replacing Mike Sullivan, who was transferred to Boise.

Ed Evans, city works director, reported that the irrigation water will be turned off Friday.

The traffic flow direction in the alley behind the city hall, police department and Hamilton Drug has been reversed. Hiett said the sign that traffic going off South Lincoln into the alley was creating a traffic hazard. The traffic reversal in the alley makes the entrance off Adams, with a right turn only allowed onto South Lincoln from the alley.

Middle Fork trips decrease

CHALLIS—The number of persons floating the Middle Fork of the Salmon River in the 1974 season was 4,030, approximately a seven per cent decrease from 1973.

Sunn Warren, Middle Fork ranger district ranger, said three factors contributed to the decline in use.

"These are the high water in June and July which shortened the normal boating season, the publicity about the drownings and the hazards of floating the Middle Fork and the main Salmon and the general state of the economy and high gasoline prices."

One significant change was an increase in the number of kayakers on the Middle Fork. He said there are no exact figures but kayaker use is increasing each year.

Warren also added, "We had very good cooperation from both the outfitters and the non-commercial parties this year. The camps were all in good condition and almost everyone is hauling their own garbage out of the area."

"One problem we did have this year was people not completely extinguishing their campfires. We found 10 fires along the Middle Fork that had been started by boaters or fishermen which we had to take some type of action on."

A breakdown of the 4,030 Middle Fork visitors as to number of persons launched by site shows: Danger Falls, 2,951 persons compared with 1,827 in 1973; Indian Creek, 1002, compared with 2,481 in 1973; Little Creek, 41, compared with 7,473 in 1973, compared with 57.

The forest service boat crew made nine trips during the season as did the kayak patrol. Commercial boaters took 2,749 persons down the river compared with 1,287 in private parties. There were 173 commercial and 127 private parties issued.

There were 1,188 craft on the river including 931 boats, 239 kayakers, one canoe and 17 inner tubes.

In 1973, 4,372 persons floated the Middle Fork which was an all-time high, in 1964, 10 years ago, the total was only 733.

Reinecke term suspended

(C) New York Times Service
 WASHINGTON — Senate Judiciary Committee during its probe into the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation affair in 1972. He told the committee that he had not discussed a pledge of $400,000 from ITT with former attorney general John N. Mitchell. The funds were to help underwrite the 1972 Republican National Convention in San Diego. The convention was subsequently shifted to Miami Beach.

Reinecke's wife, Jean, and Donahue all portrayed the former lieutenant governor as a man runned politically and financially by the case. Again and again, he asserted that his trouble was his frank answers and openness when talking to law enforcement officers and to the Watergate special prosecutor's office. "Just don't talk to cops," he said as he hugged a young admirer after the sentencing. He advised another always to have a lawyer present when being questioned. Walking down the marble courthouse halls toward waiting reporters and cameramen outside, he commented on the case: "As Cicero put it, the arrogance of officialdom is resigning supreme."

ED REINECKE

Jaworski given voice

(C) New York Times Service
 WASHINGTON — The Watergate special prosecutor has been given a voice in the disposition of White House tapes and papers left behind by former President Nixon, as a result of negotiations between the prosecutor's office and the administration. The negotiations conducted over the last two weeks resulted in a temporary agreement between Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski and White House attorneys that give Jaworski a voice in continuing negotiations with Nixon's attorneys for a permanent settlement of the question. The White House earlier announced it had temporarily suspended the controversial agreement signed Sept. 6 between Nixon and Arthur F. Sampson, head of the General Services Administration. That agreement provided for the tapes to be turned over to Nixon's control and for their eventual destruction.

Philip A. Lacovara, former counsel to Jaworski, noted in a letter filed in connection with two civil suits that are also seeking tapes that President Ford's counsel, Philip W. Buchen, had agreed to temporarily suspend the agreement.

The agreement was, Lacovara wrote, "that, until the pending discussions are concluded, none of the tapes or files compiled during the Nixon administration will be moved from their present locations and no steps will be taken to implement the agreement between former President Nixon and Administrator Sampson date Sept. 6, 1974."

Resigns

FATHER John McLaughlin, a Jesuit priest who defended former President Nixon's handling of Watergate on moral grounds, has resigned as a White House speech writer effective Oct. 15. In his letter of resignation, McLaughlin said that Nixon's "achievements for the nation and world will live on in history at a time when he was suffering personal adversity." (UPI)

Streaker blamed

MERCED, Calif. (UPI) — Merced County coroner Kenneth Riggs believes a heart attack that killed a 71-year-old man was brought on by seeing a naked man run through his house.

J. P. Mello collapsed and died at his home Tuesday after a man described as husky and around 50 years of age burst through the rear door without any clothes on, ran through the living room and out the front door.

Riggs said Wednesday that he felt the shock of the incident probably induced the fatal heart attack.

Transition $ cut by House

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House that was ready to impeach Richard Nixon has decided that his resignation does not entitle him to $50,000 in public funds for the transition to private life.

It voted 417 to 72 Wednesday for a supplemental appropriations bill which would give Nixon only $20,000 and insisted that no taxpayers' money be used to transport the White House tapes to California.

The House appropriations committee proposed giving Nixon $38,000, but by a 342-17 vote, the full chamber subtracted $45,000 by the $245,000 request for the first six months out of office and by a 321-62 margin, removed $53,000 from the $154,000 earmarked for his second six months.

Both amendments were offered by Rep. Joseph Addabbo, D-N.Y.

The action was likely to have an effect on the Senate. Its Appropriations Committee scheduled a meeting behind closed doors on its subcommittee recommendations to give Nixon $39,000 in transition money.

The House had little patience with appeals not to punish Nixon for his actions in office. As Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., asked, "What services can a president who left office under less than honorable conditions provide to the United States?"

The House also adopted an amendment by Rep. Sidney H. Yates, D-Ill., to prevent any of the appropriated funds to be used for transporting Nixon's tapes and documents.

They are now in government custody but destined for San Clemente, Calif., unless the courts or Congress decided otherwise.

Yates' provision would allow transportation of the material if the possession issue is resolved in Nixon's favor or has not been resolved at all by next June 30.

The House rejected amendments to completely cut off Nixon's funds, to eliminate the remaining $55,000 of his $92,000 presidential pension and to leave him nothing but that pension.

Opponents of the amendments argued that past presidents received health care and that Congress should not deny Nixon equal treatment just because he resigned in disgrace.

Bonita Lowry, Neu exchange promises

SHOSHONE Bonita Lowry, daughter of Mr. and Manfred Lowry, Shoshone, and Gary Neu, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Neu, American Falls, were married at Christ Church Episcopal, Shoshone, Sept. 21.

The double-ring ceremony was performed before the altar decorated with white candles and blue and white spider and sun pom-poms.

The church pews were marked with blue and white bells with satin bows and tall white 'candelabras' with blue bows lined the church walls.

Mrs. Charles Hansen, Shoshone, played organ music for the occasion, and Leo Braun, Cambridge, was soloist.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown made by her mother. The gown was accented with white hand-beaded lace made by the bride. Her full-length tulle veil, train and beaded lace cap were also made by the bride.

Her bouquet was a cascade of a Phalaenopsis orchid accented with fern and leather-leaf on her white confirmation Bible. From which white satin streamers flowed.

She carried an antique lace hankie belonging to her grandmother Schmidt.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Justine Miller, Shoshone.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Nancy Mikesell, Pocatello, and June Hensbury, Idaho Falls.

Chris Hansen, Shoshone, was candle-lighter and flower girl was Cindy Lowry, Castleford.

Bobbie Vinyard, Buhl, carried the white satin and blue ring pillow made by the bride's mother of the same material as the bride's attire.

Best man was Roger Neu, Los Angeles, Calif., a brother of the bridegroom.

Ushers were Steven Neu, American Falls, brother of the bridegroom, and Charles Edwards, Cambridge.

Special guests were the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Flarina Schmidt, Wendell, and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lowry, Wendell.

The reception was held in the Catholic Parish Hall after the ceremony with the women of Christ Church Guild assisting.

Guests were received by the bride party before blue and white backdrop with white candle-holders and blue lighted candles marking the receiving line.

The bridal table was covered with white lace and blue undercloth and blue floodlights. The three-tier white wedding cake was accented with white decorations, blue rasehuds and a lighted blue fountain topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Guests were seated at quartet tables which were covered with white lace and blue undercloth. Centerpieces were blue and white bells tied with blue velvet bows.

Guestbook attendant was Mrs. Elma Neu, American Falls, a sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

The cake was cut and served by Mrs. Judy Lowry, Castleford, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Kenneth Colter, Shoshone, aunt of the bridegroom, poured coffee, and tea was poured by Mrs. Harold Schmidt, Hatley, aunt of the bride.

Punch was poured by Mrs. William Varin, Gooding, an aunt of the bridegroom.

Gifts were carried by Shawanna Schmidt, Hatley, cousin of the bride, and arranged by Mrs. Tom Lowman Sr., Gooding, aunt of the bridegroom.

The rehearsal buffet by the bridegroom's parents was held at the home of the bride's parents in Shoshone.

A shower was hosted by Mrs. Nancy Mikesell at her home in Pocatello on Sept. 17.

After a honeymoon trip to Utah, the couple will reside in Idaho Falls where both are employed at First Security Bank of Idaho.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from American Falls, Shoshone, Cambridge, Gooding, Hatley, Wendell, Buhl, Castleford, Twin Falls, Pocatello, Idaho Falls and Los Angeles.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by The Chicago Tribune

DEAR ABBY: I am a fairly intelligent, nice-looking woman of 33, who is getting married for the fourth time. Before you jump to the conclusion that I am fickle or a poor judge of character, let me tell you that I am marrying the same man for the fourth time.

Wouldn't have any kids, so that's not why we keep going back to each other.

But I can't tell me to a shrink. I've been to one. We've also seen marriage counselors. They have all told us the same thing: We NEED each other.

We've read living together without marriage and even living with others. It didn't work. We fight a lot, but when we kiss and make up it's better than ever. When he hits me, I hit him back, and believe me, I can take care of myself. It's not a meal ticket and neither am I. We could both make it on our own.

She'll marry him 4th time

Abby, have you ever heard from couples who married each other more than once, and learned the secret of making that marriage work?

If so, please let me know. I can't live WITH him and I can't live WITHOUT him. Thanks.

FOURTH TIME AROUND

DEAR FOURTH: All right, I'll try. Readers? Is it really more wonderful the second time around—with the same partner, that is?

DEAR ABBY: As far back as I can remember, I've wanted to be a school teacher. Now my dream has come true.

I would like to make a lasting impression on my students. What should I stress that will be truly helpful to sixth graders? I want to inspire them to learn. NEW TEACHER

DEAR TEACHER: Tell them to read, read, read and read some more! There is a treasury of knowledge—free for the taking on the shelves of our public libraries. The person who DOES NOT read has no advantage over the person who WILL. NOT read.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it's all right for a bride to do the Polish apron dance at her reception if neither one of the couple is Polish?

This is the dance where the male guests throw money into the bride's apron for the privilege of dancing with her.

I know of one wedding where nobody was Polish, but they did the dance anyway because every little bit helps when a young couple is just starting out. GETTING MARRIED

DEAR GETTING: If you want to take up a collection at your wedding reception, this is as good a way as any.

DEAR ABBY: When I graduated from high school, a well-to-do uncle who lived in Portland sent me a check for $100. I put it in my billfold intending to bank it. I failed to write and thank him for it immediately as I should have. I didn't get around to banking it (or trying to) until three months later.

When I tried to bank the check, I found that he had stopped payment on it! Then I received a letter from my uncle saying that since he didn't hear from me for three months, he assumed the check had been lost. In a sense, it was. I "lost" 100 bucks, but I learned a lesson about promptness I'll never forget.

Isolation bubble

DAVID climbs from one part of his sterile isolation bubble to another at Baylor School of Medicine, Houston. The 3-year-old, placed in isolation half a minute after birth, has an inherited defect which robs him of the ability to produce immunity against the billions of germs in the environment (UPI)

Plastic sterile bubble home for 3-year-old Houston boy

HOUSTON (UPI)—A 3-year-old boy who has lived all but thirty seconds of his life inside a plastic, sterile bubble but doctors are optimistic that he may live a normal life someday.

"He's not sick—in fact he's never been sick, not even a cold," so I think we have time to figure out the precise way to help him," said Dr. Raphael Wilson, professor of pediatrics at Baylor College of Medicine and the child's godfather.

"I remain optimistic that he will one day be perfectly normal in the regular world."

An inherited defect prevents David's body from producing immunity against the billions of germs in the environment. If he caught a cold he would probably die.

He has never left human skin other than his own.

He was placed in his isolator within a half-minute after his birth and has remained there since, learning to sit, stand, and coordinate use of his hands while a team of Baylor scientists watched.

"He is a superbly healthy, happy and headstrong little boy who is doing very well," Dr. Wilson said.

David's adaptability is forcing doctors to revise ideas about what is necessary for normal personality development. Doctors, once thought human touch and the chance to cling to parents were vital to personality development.

"Now we know that is not true," said Dr. David A. Freedman, a psychiatrist. "He demonstrates—at least for now—that perhaps body touch and odors and other sensory experiences may not be all that relevant after all."

David gets to visit his parents in a special traveling container at times and in the hospital he has three connecting units, including a toy-filled playroom. The hospital has withheld the identity of the

It's chic again to 'tie one on'

(c) Chicago Sun-Times
Simperscarl is back. Decades ago the striped muffler in school colors was the rage on campuses across the country. Men as well as women wound woolly scarves around their necks, to show school spirit as well as to protect themselves from a chill. They took the idea from fashions of the past. Mufflers were also a craze in 1950-century England.

This season, it is chic again to tie one on. The muffler is one of the accessory revivals in women's fall fashions. Designers in France and Italy as well as America decided to make the long, flowing scarf in wool, mohair or synthetic blends. Snaky knitted scarves, some of them stretching as long as 9 or 10 feet, dangle down the front, side or back of capes, coats and jackets of all kinds. Some of them come with matching knitted caps, mittens or gloves.

A bright colored muffler can enliven this season's deep colors—forest green, brick red and plum. And for after 5, the long scarves are shown in silver or gold braid and black knits, as well as dark or pale, childlike and elegant satin.

Most of the wider mufflers have to be looped over to tie, but some of the narrower ones can be knotted at the neckline. All are designed to add a soft touch to fashion.

PHILIP GILLIAM
... to speak

MURFREESVILLE, Tenn. — Philip Gilliam, Beaver, Colo., will be guest speaker for the Oct. 3 meeting of the Burley-Rupert Knife and Fork Club. Gilliam is one of America's most famous juvenile court judges, having been elevated to the bench in 1940, where he has served continuously since. He has shown his popularity by polling more votes in elections he has run in than presidents Roosevelt, Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson in the Democratic. He is considered the nation's outstanding authority on juvenile delinquency and his handling of cases and administration of his court has brought visitors from all over the world to study his institution, the Denver Juvenile Hall, Clatskanie said. The Oct. 12 meeting of the Knife and Fork Club has been designated guest night.

Cadillac, Lincoln and Chevy—all with welfare checks

CHICAGO (UPI) — For Linda Taylor, welfare checks are a way of life. They help her pay bills on her 1974 Cadillac, Lincoln and Chevy station wagon. The four buildings she claims to own on the South Side, and anything else her lifestyle has helped her to own. Two police burglary unit detectives, Jack Sherwin and Jerry Kush, stumbled onto Miss Taylor and her extraordinary network of aliases, addresses, phone numbers and husbands when she came into the station Aug. 8 to report a $14,000 apartment theft that police believe never happened.

"She is a small person with nondescript features," Kush said, "her skin is sallow—like a medium yellow—and she has no features that make her peculiar to any racial background. So she passes as a Filipino. She puts on a black wig and becomes a Negro and with other makeup and wigs, she passes for white."

Kush said during their month-long investigation, they discovered Miss Taylor receives welfare checks and food stamps at two different addresses, and under two different names; that she has at least 27 aliases, uses 31 addresses; has 23 different phone numbers; has three social security cards, and owns stocks and bonds under a variety of names.

She claims to have had several husbands, all now dead, and was married last month to a sailor at Great Lakes Naval Training Center who is 20 years her junior.

In addition to Mrs. Taylor's own aliases, evidence indicates she may have been part of a well-organized scheme in selling welfare checks and stocks, bonds and real estate to the welfare system.

A Lovelier You

THE MONOTONOUS VOICE

By Mary Sue Miller

One of the most damaging handicaps a voice can have is chronic monotony. The tone, the pitch, and the expression are always the same. To a listener, the sound becomes dull and boring. You try to escape it.

A person with such a voice may very well be bored, or perhaps deeply fatigued, or recovering from an illness. But, the cause most often lies in unconscious habit. If only we would listen, really listen, to the sounds we make, we would be able to correct a bad vocal trait before it becomes habitual. For monotony the cure is:

1. Sing! (To yourself if other object.) This increases your range and flexibility.
2. Practice saying a sentence up the scale and then down the scale; then up in the middle and down at the end. This improves inflection.
3. Try to emphasize important words. Make them louder, softer, higher or lower. Thereby your expression gains color.
4. Most important, be interested in and believe what you are saying. Otherwise your listeners will not be interested. T-h-n-k what you are saying. Your voice will then match your thoughts.

Practice is fun and lifts you out of monotony's groove.

WILLOW GROVE, Pa. (UPI) — The woman motorist did a double-take when she saw the unit price on the gasoline pumps in a service station in the suburb of Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 2.

But her surprise and pleasure quickly turned to anger when she discovered the attendant explained the gas was being measured, pumped and priced — in liters. It takes 3.78 liters to make a gallon.

"That's un-American," she snorted.

Another motorist complained. "It took me 40 years to learn one system and now I will take me another 40 years to learn a new one."

But the two disgruntled motorists were in the minority among patrons of the Sun Oil Co. station which has been cooperating with the state Bureau of Standard Weights and Measures in a three-month experiment that began recently.

The experiment is designed to introduce the American public to the possible future nationwide conversion to the metric system.

"Eighty per cent of the customers really like it," said attendant Sam Wilson, 26, of Philadelphia. "They figure they are getting the same amount, and aren't getting cheated."

"Those who don't like it are mostly older people who find it kind of hard to change."

Kissinger travels extended

NEW YORK (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger announced officially today that his Oct. 23-27 trip to Moscow will be extended to include stops in India, Bangladesh, Pakistan, Afghanistan, Iran, Romania, Yugoslavia and Italy.

The announcement was made simultaneously at noon by Kissinger's spokesman, Ambassador Robert O. Anderson, in New York and by the Department of State in Washington.

The secretary of state will visit India Oct. 27-30 and Bangladesh Oct. 30-31.

He will travel next to Islamabad, Pakistan Oct. 3, Nov. 1 and stop briefly in Kabul, Afghanistan Nov. 1.

He is due to arrive in Tehran, Iran, later in the day Nov. 1, leaving Nov. 2 for Bucharest, Romania.

He will leave Romania for Belgrade, Yugoslavia Nov. 4.

Kissinger will wind up his trip with a major address to the World Food Conference Nov. 5 in Rome.

Kissinger, continuing his diplomatic consultations at the United Nations, met this morning with Archbishop Makarios of Cyprus and the foreign ministers of Israel and Sweden, the latter for the first time.

CBS No. 1 prime-time network

NEW YORK (UPI) — CBS was the No. 1 network in prime time for the week ending Sept. 29, 1974, according to the National Nielsen ratings announced Tuesday.

CBS had seven of the top 10 shows. NBC placed two shows, and ABC one. CBS won Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights — NBC took Friday and Sunday and ABC won Wednesday night.

The ratings for the week were: CBS with a 21.0 rating; NBC 19.7; and ABC 16.8.

The overall ratings for the first three weeks of the new season were: CBS with a rating of 20.2; NBC had 19.5 and ABC had 16.8.

The third week of the rating battle is considered by many TV analysts as extremely important because viewing patterns begin to solidify.

Although CBS is in first place, a spot it has kept for 16 years, NBC has become much more competitive this season while ABC is slipping to one of its worst seasons in recent years.

The top 10 shows for last week were:

1. CBS "All in the Family."
2. NBC's "Santof and Son."
3. CBS' "MASH."
4. NBC's "Chico and the Man."
5. CBS' "Hawaii Five-O."
6. CBS' "Good Times."
7. CBS' "Mary Tyler Moore Show."
8. CBS' "Bob Newhart Show."
9. ABC's Wednesday Night Movie ("California Kid").
10. CBS' "The Waltons."

beside, "it is coming," said Walter Jenkins, director of the state bureau. "Every year for the past five or six years, somebody in Congress has proposed that the country go on metric system."

"It looked like it was going to pass this year, but it was defeated. It will come up again," he added.

George Santuosso, 29, of Brookhaven, Pa., manager of the station, which is a Sun Oil retail center, for sales personnel, said one island of pumps still works in gallons — "just in case anybody rejects" the liter experiment.

"But no one has completely rejected it or driven over to the other island," he said.

"Usually they look two or three times when they see the smaller price," Santuosso said. "But then we hand them a leaflet explaining the conversion scale, and they usually like it as long as they don't have any figuring to do."

"You don't get cheated," said customer George Berringer, 70, of nearby Horsham, Pa. "They're just measuring different."

"It's the universal language," said Elliot Langston, 38, a Huntington Valley, Pa., businessman. "We're the only ones out of step."

Indian giver

BARNESLEY, England (UPI) — A man who threw away $3,000 into the path of bewildered motorists while standing in the back of a speeding truck asked police Tuesday if he can have the money back.

Police said the man, aged 50, told them he drew the money from his savings to give to the woman he had loved for 20 years, but she refused it.

Heartbroken, he humbly rode on a truck and during the trip threw the money away in a fit of pique.

Utah jury charges man with illegal bugging

OGDEN, Utah (UPI) — A federal grand jury Tuesday charged an Ogden, Utah, Chevrolet dealer with illegally bugging salesmen's offices to overhear private conversations between prospective customers.

The indictment against Merrill-Beam Chevrolet Inc. charged the firm with illegal interception of oral communications through electronic devices from 1970 through April of 1974.

A spokesman for the US attorney's office in Utah said the company could receive a $10,000 fine if convicted of violating the federal wire-tapping law.

Slayer denies 8 killings

BOZEMAN, Mont. (UPI) — David McWhorter, 25, the confessed slayer of four persons, denied any connection with eight other killings in a confession made just hours before his suicide.

McWhorter, who took his own life in his Gallatin County Jail Cell Sunday, admitted to the slayings of Susie Jaeger, 7, Farmington, Mich.; Sandra Smallegan, 19, and Bernard Poelman, 13, both of Manhattan, Mont., and Michael Haney, Bozeman, Mont.

But the handyman denied any connection with the apparent kidnap murder of two girls who disappeared near Mirron, Mont., just three days after McWhorter delivered a combine to nearby KallsPELL, and with two Missoula slayings, the death of a couple in Billings, the death of a Bozeman girl and the slaying of a Forsyth woman.

McWhorter admitted to two strangulation deaths in which he carefully dismembered the bodies, constructed funeral pyres from wood, and burned the remains, leaving the head of the Jaeger girl in an outhouse, and placing one of the hands and several fingers from the Smallegan woman's body in his freezer.

The confession according to the transcripts, were made in return for the guarantee of County Attorney Thomas A. Olson that he would "strongly recommend" to the district court judge against the death penalty.

Aide denies connection on profits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The secretary of the House Energy and Commerce Committee denied he had anything to do with a federal rule drafted while Simon was the nation's energy chief — which allowed oil companies to make $40 million in windfall profits this year.

Simon answered what he called "severely derogatory comments" by members of a House subcommittee.

Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the Subcommittee on Regulatory Agencies, said either the government knowingly assisted the oil companies or Simon had shown "the most serious form of lack of leadership" when he headed the Federal Energy Office.

Dingell told Simon that even some oil companies themselves had warned the government that the rule might lead to excessive profits.

"It would appear that on the one hand this provision was a conscious attempt to provide further incentives or rewards to the industry or, on the other hand, that it came about as a result of the most serious form of lack of leadership, mismanagement and undue reliance upon knowledgeable subordinates or subordinates in conflict of interest," the chairman said.

Poster in Spanish

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An FBI "wanted" poster in Spanish is being circulated to capture the Symbionese Liberation Army fugitives Patricia Hearst and two associates.

FBI official John Kelly said Tuesday that his agency rarely issued "wanted" fliers in a foreign language on fugitives. But, he said, this one did not indicate the FBI feels the trio fled to Mexico.

"We don't know where they are," he said. "We have no more information that they are in Mexico, that they are in Canada, or still in the United States."

The others on the poster were William Harris and his wife Emily.

Permit suspended

RUPERT — The vehicle inspection permit of Robert R. Barras, doing business as Bob's Chevron, Rupert, has been suspended.

The Department of Law Enforcement, in announcing the suspension, said it was due to permitting an unauthorized person to make a safety inspection. The suspension period will end Nov. 22.

Prepare events

PLANNING for the Monday visit by Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz are Jack Claiborn, left, and Lawrence Krige. Claiborn is working on the reception to be held at 5 p.m. at the Blue Lakes Country Club. Krige will serve as the chairman for the public rally set for 8 p.m. at Twin Falls High School.

Northwest Indians must plan for water rights

SPOKANE (UPI) — The Affiliated Tribes of Northwest Indians ended their three-day conference today after dealing with problems ranging from the Kootenai Indian nation's "war" against the U.S. and Indian water rights.

The Affiliated Tribes also heard from Bureau of Indian Affairs Commissioner Morris Thompson and Roy Sampsel, a special assistant to Secretary of the Interior Rogers Morton.

Sampsel told tribal leaders Tuesday they must develop long-range planning to insure their water rights.

He said tribes will not make much progress in establishing once and for all their rights to water on Indian land unless they win some related cases now pending in the courts.

"And you must be able to justify your use of your water in order to keep it from being diverted," he said.

Earlier in the conference, tribal leaders discussed the Kootenai Tribe's nonviolent "war" against the United States.

The tiny 67-member tribe of Northern Idaho took that course of action in order to bring attention to its demand for final settlement of 1.6 million acres of ancestral land it contends the government seized without compensation 120 years ago.

The tribe wants that settlement to include a cash payment for the land — possibly $1 or $2 per acre — and a 120,000-acre reservation on land now classified as National Forest.

Most of the 20 or so Northwest tribes represented at the conference voiced support for the Kootenais.

Among them the Quinalts, Shoshone, Bannocks, Shoawaters, Lummi, Squaxin Island Tribe, Spokanes, Calwilles, Makahs, Umatillas and Silliamunish.

Both Thompson and Sampsel, who listened to the several tribal representatives speak in support of the Kootenais, said they would work towards settlement of the tiny tribe's claim.

Sampsel also visited the Kootenais' ranchette community located just outside Bonners, Ferry, Idaho, on the only five acres of land the tribe owns in common.

Thompson also told tribal leaders during the conference that he was "optimistic" about what will be accomplished for Indians during the Ford administration.

"I'm encouraged with what I've seen so far," he said, "and I look forward to seeing a continuation of Nixon policies."

The policies he referred to were those of strong self-determination for Indians established early in the Nixon administration.

Lincoln tax levies lower than '73

SHOSHONE — Tax levies as set by Lincoln County commissioners for 1974 are a little lower than the 1973 figures.

County clerk Mrs. Joy McClure said the lower levies are possible mostly through various taxing units now using their reserve this year.

The overall county levy for 1974 is $2.57 per $100 valuation, compared to $2.77 per $100 valuation a year ago.

In breaking the figures down, that means $1.50 per $100 valuation in the current expense section of the budget (with $1.25 last year's tax in that section); .354 for county school, compared to .2784 last year; 10 cents per $100 valuation both years for the weed control fund; 10 cents per $100 valuation for 1974 in the indigent funding, compared to .236 last year.

The hospital levy is 45 cents per $100 valuation, however, compared to .273 last year, while the fair levy runs .06 compared to .062 last year.

The airport authority levy is .013 for 1974 compared to .0156 in 1973 and the recreation district levy is set at .062 compared to .022 last year.

There were no levies set for the state building bond last year or for the state water pollution control. This year they run .006 for state building bond and .009 for the pollution control.

Under special levies, the amount set for various school districts shows a considerable drop in some, this being because they are using the surplus this year.

The Shoshone School District has a levy of $3.30 per $100 valuation, compared to $3.55 last year; Richfield School District has $3.02 compared to $3 a year ago; Dietrich School District has a levy of $3.71 this year compared to $3.48 a year ago; Gooding School District, $3.71 compared to $3.25 last year.

The levy for Jerome School District No. 26 this year is set at $2.414 per $100 valuation, compared to 2.661 a year ago and there is a Mindoka School District levy this year of $3.71.

The city of Shoshone levy this year is set at $5.37 per $100 valuation, compared to $6.90 a year ago; Richfield is $3.57 compared to $3.96 a year ago, and Dietrich is $2.70 compared to $2.96 a year ago.

Some of the highway district levies are also down, Shoshone Highway District levy is 92 cents, compared to 94 cents a year ago; Richfield Highway District is again '95 cents; Dietrich is $1.00 compared to 92 cents a year ago, and Kinama district is again $1.00 per $100 valuation.

Richfield Library District levy for 1974 is 30 cents, while last year it was .197; Wood River Fire District levy is .30 cents, while it was .43 a year ago and the Richfield Fire District is 29 cents compared to 29 1/2 a year ago.

Lincoln County Cemetery District levy is again .68 cents while the Richfield Cemetery district levy is .12, compared to .116 a year ago.

"Who's going to listen to me? I'm just one voice."

Do you really think God is going to let you get away with that?

Of course, you'd like to help make the world a better place. Maybe you can't do it alone. But there's plenty you can do with others at your local church or synagogue. Example: one religious group helped the Navajos set up a cooperative trading post on their reservation. Now the Indians can purchase goods at a lower price. Even more important, they've learned that other people care about them. The God we worship expects all of us to help our brothers and sisters.

Start treating your brothers and sisters like brothers and sisters.

Jerome meet tonight

JEROME — The Comprehensive Planning Committee will meet at 8 p.m. tonight at Valley High School. Ray Nicholson, Boise, state planning agency representative, will explain the need for a current land status map for the county and will provide suggestions on how the map should be prepared. There will also be a brief explanation of the vocational education programs available for adults and students.

Planning unit sets Bliss meet

BLISS — The third in a series of four meetings on the Goodfellow County Comprehensive plan will be held at 8 p.m. today in the Bliss City Hall. Chairman Wayne Matthews urges all Bliss area residents to attend.

Filer okays annexation

FILER — Filer City Council members approved annexation of the Aslett property south of the elementary school at a meeting Tuesday evening. There were no protests on the public hearing concerning rezoning of property to commercial status on Main Street. Jack Armstrong plans to build a chinder block cabinet shop. The council decided to send patrolman Handy Lammers to the police academy in Pocatello Oct. 20 through Nov. 22. Routine bills were paid and business transacted.

$537,000 loan approved

WASHINGTON D.C. — Sen Frank Church, D-Idaho, announced Wednesday that the Rural Electrification Administration has approved a loan of $537,000 to the Lost River Electric Cooperative. The cooperative serves customers in Blaine, Butte and Custer counties. The loan, being made at five per cent interest, will help finance services for 97 additional customers, 33 miles of distribution line and system improvements, including substation facilities.

Rupert man charged

RUPERT, Idaho (UPI) — A 26-year-old Rupert man was charged with robbery and grand larceny as a suspect in the holdup of the Al Fresco drive-in theatre north of Burley. Philip Vilg was arrested by the Minidoka County Sheriff's department and arraigned before magistrate Leroy Blacker. Bond was set at $2,000.

Gasoline tax eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, believes proposed federal gasoline tax hikes would do nothing to increase gasoline supplies. Tax hikes, Symms said Wednesday in a telegram to President Ford, "would only add a heavy burden to the already overtaxed middle class American." This would have a most disruptive effect on people in the western part of the U.S. who must depend on automobiles for transportation regardless of the cost of gasoline," Symms said.

Caldwell man pleads innocent

CALDWELL, Idaho (UPI) — A Caldwell theater manager has pleaded innocent to exhibiting obscene material. Jason Williams, appearing in court Wednesday in rolled up blue jeans and a red shirt, advising his theater, is charged with the showing of the triple-X-rated movies "Deep Throat" and "The Devil in Miss Jones."

Cassia agrees to share costs

BURLEY — Under protest, the Cassia County commissioners Tuesday agreed to foot part of the bill for the food stamp program, apparently ending a three-year hiatus. The county never stood against the food stamp program with the announcement by the department of Health and Welfare that its extensive welfare programs would be cut back in any county which refused to participate. "Two years ago, Cassia County switched from the food stamp program to the commodities program because of widespread public opinion that the food stamp program was abused by participants. Then last year the welfare department announced that the commodities would be cut off in June, 1974, and all counties would have to adopt the food stamp program. The Cassia County Commissioners refused to return support to the food stamp program this summer, forcing HAW to foot the bill for the welfare program."

Tuesday, HAW said its financing of the food stamp program would end on Oct. 1. Any county not participating in the food stamp program at that time would be on its own and responsible for all residents needing assistance. If the county had tried to assume all the welfare costs, the commissioners said, the costs would probably have exceeded the entire county budget. So, under protest, the commissioners signed an agreement with the state Tuesday to pay for the processing of the food stamps — putting themselves back where they were three years ago.

Canning kitchen closure set

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County Canning Kitchen will close its season's operation Friday. Patrons may pick up their canned goods through Saturday. Oren Hutton, manager, said there are thousands of cans in the kitchen and he urged owners to pick up their produce immediately.

Construction under way on Filer apartment units

MARJORIE LIERMAN
Times-News writer

FILER — Groundbreaking ceremonies for Casa Grande, a new 32-unit apartment complex in Filer, were held Wednesday morning at the site. Paul Shaver, Filer mayor, turned under the first spadeful of dirt with Neal H. B.utsche, Twin Falls land developer, assisting. Watching the proceedings were Gordon Hendrix and Charles Crawford Jr., Filer councilmen; Dennis Kulhanek, construction manager; Barney Carlson, representing the Idaho First National Bank, and Charles Correll, Jerome, public accountant. The apartment complex is being erected on a five-acre site on Highway 30 just north of the Filer High School. It is the first phase of two, which will contain a total of 64 medium-income apartments. Half of the first 32 units will be one-bedroom apartments, with the other half to be two bedrooms. The apartments will have refrigerators, ranges, garbage disposals and built-in dishwashers, and will be fully carpeted and draped. The grounds will contain a coin laundry and a playground designed to match the rustic design of the complex. Casa Grande will be laid out in four, eight-unit, two-story buildings which are to be spaced to provide a view for each unit. Each living room will have a sliding glass door adjoining either a patio or balcony. The one-bedroom apartments will contain 592 square feet of space and the two-bedroom units, 775 square feet. They will contain coat and linen closets, seven-foot wardrobes in the bedrooms and fibre glass tub and shower combinations in bathrooms. The buildings will be of redwood frame construction with rough-sawn cedar trim and will resemble the 22-unit buildings in Jerome which Brutsche recently completed. He plans to build 22 more units in Jerome. Landscaping on the lot will include deciduous and evergreen system. Ample back-topped parking space will be provided between apartments. Mail will be delivered to individual post-office boxes, and there will be a bi-weekly trash pick-up service. Completion date for the first phase of 32 units has been set for February, Brutsche said.

NEIL BRUTSCHE, developer of the new Casa Grande apartment complex, shows plans for the complex at a ground breaking ceremony Wednesday. The complex will be on a five-acre site just west of Filer High School on Highway 30. There will be 32 units built in the initial construction beginning now and 32 later. The complex is planned for medium income renters.

Hatchery repair starts

BUJIL — Officials of the Clear Springs Trout Co. here were working to restore water to a major portion of the hatchery following a canal washout which occurred Monday. Company officials said a canal which carries water to the hatchery via Box Canyon washed out and the canal floor and banks collapsed, leaving many of the hatchery beds without water. John Hepworth, one of the firm's owners, said fortunately a large number of market-size trout had just been moved out. Company officials were unable to estimate damage today. Ted Eastman, president of the company, was out of town today conferring with engineers on reconstruction of the canal. Reports indicated most of the fish lost were small. They died when the canal washed out, leaving them with no water. Losses are expected to be high, company officials said, but repairs will be made as soon as possible and the trout beds restored. Although some persons suspected sabotage because of the high feeing in the Hagerman area over spring water being used for various fish hatcheries in the vicinity of Box Springs, company officials said they have not considered the possibility of Gooding County Sheriff Earl Brown said he had no report of the break, and had not made an investigation. Company officials expect to be back in full operation within about two months when repairs are made on a permanent basis. The hatchery suffering the damage is one of four owned and operated by Clear Springs Trout Co., the largest trout operation in Idaho. Company officials and crews were at the scene at the break this morning making inspections and setting up plans for repairs.

AF Dam costs estimated

BY DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Replacement of American Falls Dam will cost about $40.4 million, according to figures released Tuesday. The new estimate was announced at the regular meeting of the American Falls Reservoir District board of directors. Board attorney John Rosholt stressed that the estimate includes approximate figures for financing costs and assumes that the construction contract will be awarded by April 1, 1975, and construction completed by May, 1977. The contract and completion dates are based on assumptions, Rosholt said. If the April 1 deadline is met, reservoir district voters must approve a bond sale to finance the project no later than Jan. 1, 1975, according to Rosholt. He also told the Times-News that, under the new estimate, water users would pay about $1 per acre-foot per year over a 40-year period in retiring their portion of the bonds. The acre-foot cost includes annual assessments for operation and maintenance of the dam and water quality equipment. It also assumes that the water users' share of bonds, about $20.5 million, would be sold at 7 per cent interest. Idaho Power Co. would pay the other share with its offer of $19.25 million for the new dam. Rosholt gave board members a cost estimate comparison sheet, showing increased costs of the replacement project since the first estimate was made in March of 1973. Specific construction costs have jumped to $20 million from $15 million last year; the allowance for engineering increased to $2.5 million from $1.5 million; the allowance for cost escalations has soared to $4.8 million from $15,000. In July of this year, three new cost factors were added to the total estimate: $875,000 for fish and wildlife mitigation facilities, $600,000 for water quality facilities and $50,000 for scenic overlook facilities.

Hagerman site eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, has introduced legislation creating a Hagerman Fossil Beds National Monument. McClure said the bill is designed to preserve and protect a 5,500-acre area in southern Idaho where many of the nation's most significant animal fossil finds have been made, some dating back three and a half million years. "Unfortunately, the fossil area itself has not received adequate protection in the past. Abuse by motorcycles and off-road vehicles continues to damage fossils," McClure said. Citing construction of irrigation pipelines across the fossil beds in 1968, the Idaho Republican said, "perhaps the greatest potential for damage to the area comes from commercial inter-

Retired teachers conduct 2-day meet

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Services of the National Retired Teachers Association can provide an outlet for keeping busy after retirement, speakers told Idaho retired teachers in a convention held Wednesday. More than 100 retired school teachers and administrators from all parts of Idaho gathered the Holiday Inn Wednesday for the opening of the two-day annual convention which concludes with a wrap-around discussion this afternoon. Willard R. Beck, Sheridan, Wyo., national vice president of area 8, discussed the growth of the national association since it was founded 27 years ago. He also stressed the importance of local units where the programs are implemented. Beck said it is important to have good leaders at the state and local levels to carry out the programs with the people they are designed to serve. He recommended the retired teacher volunteer for work in any one of the many divisions of service the association offers. In this way, he said, some of the time that can lead to loneliness or boredom will be utilized for the benefit of all retired teachers.

Robert J. Utzinger, Salt Lake City, regional representative of the NRTA, outlined programs available through the association to assist retired teachers with specific problems in such matters as medical care, legal questions and tax matters. Edith Nancolas, Jerome, state president, is conducting the annual sessions. New officers will take over at the close of today's meeting. A highlight of the convention was an address Wednesday night by Dr. John Muntone, representative of the NRTA. Others participating in convention sessions include Mary Helen Perry, fourth district president; Mrs. Blanche Peay, district president-elect; Bryan B. Bundy, Lewiston, state director; and Margaret McDowell, speaking on "Error in Maturity." Kenneth L. Hill, "Legislation"; Mrs. Grace K. Ritchey, bicentennial affairs; and Bruce C. Retirement education. Final sessions will include a retirement education seminar under the direction of Bundy. Panel speakers include Dr. Gerald Reed, Boise State College; John K. Carlton, Twin Falls Social Security manager; Robert Venn, Idaho P.R.E.S. boss; and Judge Danier B. Meach, Twin Falls magistrate.

Area school files suit

RUPERT — The Minidoka County School District has filed a $5,000 damage suit against Leslie L. Mitchell of Mitchell Construction Co., Pocatello, and Grant Brower of Grant Brower Associates, formerly Pocatello. The district charges that the $5,000 will pay for uncompleted work at the two county junior high schools which was contracted by the defendants. The schools were built in 1970 at a cost of about $1.6 million. Mitchell Construction Co. failed to caulk the prestress beams at both schools, according to the district, and Brower, who was the project architect, gave final approval of the construction although the caulking work was not completed. The school district used work estimates from other construction firms in settling the $5,000 judgment request, according to Roger Ling, Rupert, the district's attorney. Numerous attempts have been made to get the Mitchell Construction to complete the work, but all have failed, according to school officials.

Thorium pure N reactor fuel

SALMON Over the next 10 to 20 years thorium can be expected to become an important fuel material in the overall nuclear fuel cycle in current trends continue.

I. W. Long, president of Pacific Nuclear Fuels, Inc., Richland, Wash., says that thorium's nuclear cross-section product, uranium 233, is demonstrably the most efficient fuel for the light water reactor plants now being built in the nation.

"Uranium 233 is not just marginally better but better by energy producing factors in excess of 50 percent," he said.

A major undeveloped source of thorium in the United States is located in the Lemhi Pass area of Lemhi County.

Nuclear Fuels and Rare Metals Corp. of Salmon, which holds a major portion of the deposits, says that preliminary tests from its ores indicate the thorium is the purest reactor fuel available.

Analysts showed the content of 232 thorium to be 1.16, equal to 0.02 parts-per-million with respect to the contained thorium.

"This result was based on alpha particle spectrometry of the thorium fraction from the ore. The thorium fraction was extracted and separated from the ore by a combined sulphuric acid leach and liquid extraction process.

"This value confirms our original contention that the uranium content of this material is very low, uranium being the long-lived parent of the thorium. The lower the uranium the better the reactor fuel," the firm stated.

Long, an engineer and nuclear fuel economist, is co-inventor of a new process for testing thorium in present day nuclear power plants.

Long discusses the application of thorium in the nuclear reactor process.

"The naturally occurring fuel isotope, uranium 235, is required as the initial fuel in all cases. Its cost is expected to rise with the addition of new enrichment plant capacity. To the extent uranium 233 short circuits or eliminates the costly enrichment process step its value relative to uranium 235 is further increased.

"The direct competitor to uranium 233 is the present fuel cycle is plutonium. Plutonium is the preferred fuel for the future breeder reactors and some plans for retaining and storing it for that purpose are being considered.

"Its use as recycle fuel for light water reactors is coming under increasing question, for reasons of safety as well as fuel efficiency. By contrast, uranium 233 in uranium cycle can be separated out for possible weapon use as plutonium.

"Reduced costs for storage, security, transportation and insurance thus further enhance the value of uranium 233 over plutonium.

"Finally, fuel optimization techniques based on present technology can be expected to further increase the cost-benefit ratio for uranium 233.

An overall relative fuel value for uranium 233 of 100 per cent or better — that is, twice the value for uranium 235 or plutonium — can confidently be predicted, provided:

1. Uranium 233 is used in all-uranium enrichment corresponding to present day standard fuels; 2. the resulting fuel is used in water reactors now coming into existence; and 3. incorporation of uranium 233 into the present uranium fuel cycle is facilitated through use of the clean fuel production process we are developing.

Thus, a $1624 market value for uranium 233, ready for final fabrication, presents a conservative but solid basis for proceeding with fuel development when contrasted with the costs and complications of the alternative fuels.

Long has 20 years experience in fuel cycle economics and has specialized in the use of thorium-uranium 233 as nuclear fuels. He was previously employed by Douglas United Nuclear.

Poster child picked

SPokane (UPI) — Jamie Weaver, a 9-year-old girl born without eyes due to a rare-birth defect known as congenital anophthalmos, today became the 1975 March of Dimes national poster child.

In that role, she will travel throughout the country on behalf of the March of Dimes program, and will publicize the problem of birth defects.

Because of her defect, Jamie has worn artificial eyes since the age of 2.

But she attends public school, sings in a church choir and takes horseback riding, swimming and skiing lessons.

She is the first national poster child from Spokane.

A trumpet at the municipal golf course should be a very different sound...

apparent to be any sanding or top dressing and there wasn't sufficient time for the greens to "heat" themselves.

Thomson and City Commissioner Paul Ostry have emerged as the protagonists in the mutual...

These fall into the realm of the city's purview. But Thomson becomes the closest complaint listening post.

Ostry disclaims that "I don't want to see Clyde without a job. I don't want to put him out of work."

"Some of the problems definitely are the city's responsibilities," Ostry said.

Ostry said he got into the center of the thing in "mid-summer, although he and Thomson have crossed swords previously."

"So then you spend the day running the place and about five o'clock you've had your day's work. So have the other guys."

"I suggested, I guess in July, that we study this thing, see if we want to keep Clyde, see if we want to change anything in the contract or in the operation — just have the thing brought up to date."

"I don't know what you're talking about. I don't know what you're talking about. I don't know what you're talking about."

"But I feel that Thomson used the city for his convenience. When it was convenient for him to blame something on us, he did."

"This basically is a matter between Thomson and the city council. We are happy to accept input from the public but at a point somewhere, it becomes a decision between ourselves and Thomson."

"Some of these complaints stem from poorly timed things. There was complaint among the players when the cups were changed only twice during the full week of action of the women's state amateur."

"I don't know what you're talking about. I don't know what you're talking about. I don't know what you're talking about."

"Two weeks ago, the city aerated the greens about 10 days in advance of the Cactus Pet's open, one of Idaho's two biggest. There didn't appear to be any sanding or top dressing and there wasn't sufficient time for the greens to "heat" themselves.

"You can't give the ball away as many times as we did and still win." ... ISU's own fresh QB Steve ... Halback Marshall Brentley, formerly of Hicks College in Rexburg, is the top Idaho o-fensive threat with a 6.3 rushing average and 216 net yards. In pre-season polls, Idaho was expected to have a high-scoring offensive machine and be weak defensively...

Richfield finds Musher's major hurdle to playoffs

Richfield and Camas County could settle the eight-man championship while Buhl and Mountain Home face a mutually crucial situation Friday in the highlights of the weekend high school football schedule.

A key Little Five league match finds the once-beaten Shoshone Indians traveling to Valley.

Buhl takes an undefeated record to Mountain Home where the host Tigers face a win or die situation in the South Central Idaho Conference. Buhl could absorb a loss and still keep its hopes alive; but it would mean knocking off Wood River and Jerome to attain it.

Jerome tops the conference with a 2-0 record, with both Wood River and Mountain Home behind it. The Tigers won't lose anything in the SCIC standings Friday because they'll be at Filer for a p.m. date. Filer is not an SCIC member in football, not scheduling Mountain Home.

Camas County is looking for its fourth straight Snake River conference and currently is tied with a 2-0 record with Hihfield.

Richfield put the strong Carey Panthers behind them last week and a win over Camas County would leave Coach Leroy Johnson's charges just a win over Bliss from sole possession of the title.

Camas County must win this one, then follow with a victory over Carey next week to cement its claim. Richfield can clinch at least a tie by winning.

Again the Little Five Conference brings together defensive clubs when Shoshone travels to Valley. Valley is 2-0 and currently leading the league by a half game — but actually tied in the last column by Wendell. Shoshone has one defeat so far and another would probably be fatal in the short chase.

Gooding takes its surprising high school Senators out of the district to play at Emmett Friday night. Gooding has won four straight since bowing in its opener. Emmett is rather an unknown quantity, but believed to have a losing record.

Glenns Ferry will beat Wood River in a non-conference game (3:30 p.m.) that dates back to a traditional rivalry when both were A-3 schools. The Pilots have lost three straight after two opening wins while Wood River snapped a three-game losing spell last week and currently is 1-2-3.

Kimberly where the Bulldogs haven't tasted victory as yet.

In the Magic Valley Conference, the co-competitors, Murrain and Raft River, seem to have the best of the schedule. Raft River is off on a non-conference test against the Minico juveves while Murrain will be home to the sophomore-laden Castelford Wolves.

A banger should develop at Hansen where the Huskies will be hosting the Decio Hornets. Both teams are running two games behind the leaders but both have been improving steadily.

Hagerman, currently in second place with one loss, will be at Olathe where the Hornets are jammed in with three teams at 1-2.

Carey, its title hopes severely cramped last week, will have to defeat Rockland when the Bulldogs come calling Friday afternoon. Bliss, hit by injuries and struggling now, will welcome a week off.

Minico entertains Nampa Friday night

RUPERT — The Minico Spartans begin their "second season" in hosting the Nampa Bulldogs Friday night in the lone Southern Idaho Conference game in Magic Valley.

It's a second season because, as the Spartan coaching staff points out, from now on Minico will be following Capital through the season. This, of course, indicates the Spartans are hopeful the high-powered Eagles can run a little less demoralizing influence in on future foes.

But if the Spartans can come up with play they did last week in beating Pocatello, the Capital influence might not be necessary for a good final record. Minico's title hopes already are badly bent and the SIC standings show a definite three-layer effect.

Four teams remain undefeated, five are running 1-2 and the other three are winless.

Nampa is one of the winless ones but the Bulldogs aren't a pushover. The Bulldogs, after opening with a victory over Lewiston have dropped games to Meridian (16-12), Skyline (15-14) and Capital (14-8). They've had to adjust from the loss of last year's leading ground gainer, Frank News, in a fatal auto accident two weeks into the season. Skyline, one of the undefeateds and perhaps the biggest team in the league, had to secure on a fumble recovery at the Nampa nine-yard line late in the game to pull out its 15-14 win.

Statistically, Mike Albert of Minico jumped into ninth place in SIC rushing with a 135-yard effort against Pocatello and had a 55-yard run killed by a penalty. Junior Kyle Uscola jumped into fifth in passing in that one while Spartan Mickey Hanks stayed second in receiving with 15 catches and in kickoff returns with 214 yards in 10 carries.

Twin Falls, the other Magic Valley SIC team, saw Mike Allison bounce from first to third in rushing when he managed only 59 yards against Skyline. Jeff Turner dropped to second in punting with a 37.8 average, the fraction keeping Jim Fagerholme of Minico in third spot. Handy Harbour made the top seven in receiving and Fred Harris moved into the top five in punt returns.

Passed ball on strikeout lets Pirates claim crown

BY FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates had it coming to them but, really, the St. Louis Cardinals deserved a better fate.

Lasers of a National League playoff series on Bob Moose's wild pitch in 1972 and then torn apart by the tragic death of Roberto Clemente in an airplane crash a few months later, the Pirates struggled through the last two seasons seemingly a team which would never get a break.

And then Wednesday night they got one of the biggest breaks in baseball history and suddenly the National Eastern Division race was over, the Pirates were the winners and the Cardinals were left in Montreal holding their plane tickets.

This is a team which served the tying run with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning on a strikeout. It was the biggest break any team ever got since Mickey Owen of the Brooklyn Dodgers committed a passed ball in the ninth inning of the fourth game of the 1941 World Series, enabling the New York Yankees to win the game and go on to take the Series.

Steve Swisher, the Chicago Cubs' catcher, is the man whose name will be forever linked with that of Owen. It was he who let the game-ending strikeout, which would have given the Cardinals a life, get away. He then compounded the mistake by making a wild throw to first base which let Bob Robertson reach second even as the tying run scored for the Pirates.

Rennie Stennett grounded out to end the inning and leveled the score at 4-4 but Al Oliver tripled with one out in the 10th and the Pirates had the pennant on third base with the help of their lineup coming up. Willie Stargell and Gene Clines were walked intentionally but there was no place to put Manny Sanguillen and he won it by beating out an infield single.

The Cardinals, rained out of their scheduled game in Montreal, could have tied for the Eastern title had the Pirates lost and they beat the Expos in their final game of the season rescheduled for Thursday.

The Cardinals battled their way through the stretch, winning extra-inning after extra-inning game. In the end, they never had a chance to win or lose it for themselves.

Atlanta defeated Cincinnati 13-0, Los Angeles downed Houston 5-4, Philadelphia shined New York 3-2 and San Diego drubbed San Francisco 9-5 in other NL games.

American League results were Cleveland 8 Boston 4, New York 2 Milwaukee 1, Chicago 5 Kansas City 4, Texas 2 Minnesota 1, Baltimore 3 Detroit 4, and California 3 Oakland 2.

One that got away

PASSED BALL on this third strike to Pirate Bob Robertson let Pittsburgh score the tying run in the ninth inning and then beat Chicago in the 10th to nail down the National League's eastern division title. The ball escaped catcher Steve Swisher who then bounced the throw to first base as Robertson's shoulder as Manny Sanguillen scored. (UPI/telephoto)

You also are afforded the protection and convenience of a main disconnect breaker which shuts off the entire panel with a single switch.

This is our recommended service for the average three-bedroom home. In this area where electrical power is one of the most economical energies, it is probable that electricity will be or become the method of heating. This service provides plenty of room for the circuits necessary to accommodate individual room heat and all the branch circuits required to adequately service the modern home. There will be enough free space left to add circuits for future requirements, insuring that you will probably never outgrow this service. If your power needs would increase drastically you can add to this service without replacing any part that exists.

Only one university, so far as I know, was founded with funds raised on the lecture circuit. Do you remember Dr. Russell H. Conwell? He was the fellow that repeatedly delivered that Acres of Diamonds talk. It tells of an ambitious young man who went to South Africa to seek his fortune in the diamond fields, then returned home broke only to find an owl with its back to him. The doctor recited that tale more than 6,000 times on the peav-and-chicken tour. To make $4 million. He put it up to establish Philadelphia's Temple University.

T-N Phones 733-0931 (Or use our toll-free line) Welfare recipients must work WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Labor Department has proposed new regulations which would force some 1.2 million adults on welfare to seek jobs or risk losing their monthly checks. Under the plan, which would take effect in 30 days, all able-bodied adult recipients of federal Aid to Families with Dependent Children must register for the Work Incentive Program at local employment offices. Previously, many of those persons who fall under the new program had only to register at welfare offices - not directly at employment offices. "Registrants would thus be immediately exposed to job opportunities and be involved more quickly in a job search," stated a joint statement issued Monday by Secretary of Labor Peter J. Brennan and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Caspar W. Weinberger. To further simplify and possibly tighten the requirements for welfare checks, hearings on eligibility would be conducted by Labor Department personnel and decisions of the WIN officer would be binding on the welfare agency. Adult recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children who have been exempt from the win program since 1972 included able-bodied persons attending school on a full-time basis, those with children under six years old, persons needed at home to care for invalids or persons too far away from a job training program to take part in it. Each state will decide how the new plan will be enforced and what proof a person must show that he has actively sought a job. Unmarried sex law enforced

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — County Judge Francis said he will continue to enforce a 179-year-old state law prohibiting sexual relations between unmarried couples until the legislature decides otherwise.

Judge Stanley G. Bednarz ruling Tuesday court Newark lawyer Charles Saunders a SA time.

Saunders brought the challenge against the law after he was convicted by a jury last February of committing fornication.

Saunders, 29, and a defendant argued that the 179-year statute was unconstitutional because it was seldom enforced, violated their right of privacy and was established in the "prevailing notions of religious morality" of the latter 18th century.

Defense witnesses filed the court proffered interviews among individuals age 45 and under was on the rise, and that sex among unmarried couples in 10 years will not only be the majority opinion, but the overwhelming one.

The judge, however, said the state has "compelling secular reasons" to enforce the law to prevent birth of illegitimate children and the spreading of venereal disease.

He said it was up to the legislature to determine whether the law should be altered.

Nonsmokers speak out

CHICAGO (UPI) — The American Cancer Society's Illinois Division has come up with a way for nonsmokers to remind smokers that others have a right to breathe smoke-free air.

The society is offering a small black and gold pin or tack available for 50 cents, with the initials "PDS."

When acquaintances ask what it means, the nonsmoker can tell them: "Please Don't Smoke."

The Illinois division says it detects "a growing sentiment among nonsmokers, who constitute a majority of citizens, that their right to breathe clean air is greater than the smoker's right to pollute."

Finnish Santa mail unanswered

HELSINKI (UPI) — The Finnish post office told the world's children today Santa Claus won't answer their mail to him this year.

For the past 10 years, whenever children write to Santa Claus at the "North Pole," "Joululandia," "Trollvarden," "Heidegger Street," or any of his other numerous addresses, thousands of such letters found their way to Helsinki.

There, Ilse Jantunen and her staff at the main post office answered each letter in the child's own language.

But this year the post office said it had a manpower shortage and could not give Mrs. Jantunen any helpers. She said she could not handle the thousands of letters even with two assistants.

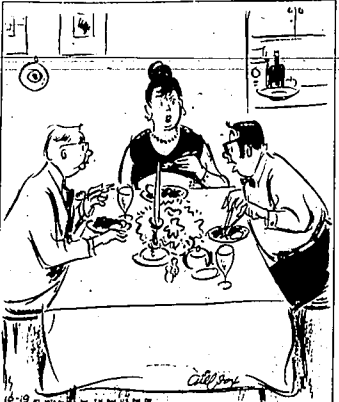

Legend says Santa lives on Korvatunturi, Mountain in Finnish Lapland. His mail has always had a special postmark from Korvatunturi which showed Santa and one of his helpers.

"The lack of manpower in the post office is the only reason to stop this service. I sincerely hope some organization in Finland will take this over," Mrs. Jantunen said.

Heikki Klemfjord, post office information chief, said the news had not gone down well in Finland. "We have decided the system must stop, but we have had so many calls that perhaps we must think again," he said.

Santa's mail already has begun arriving.
