Grain sale clearance studied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In an effort to protect domestic grain supplies, the government is considering requiring all grain exporters to clear their foreign sales with federal officials. Agriculture Department sources said today.

The proposal is only one of several expected to be raised during a meeting of major U.S. grain exporters, Agriculture Department officials and other government agencies later today.

Exhibit off

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — An exhibition of paintings and prints by Camilla Hall, one of six Symbionese Liberation Army "soldiers" killed in a Los Angeles gun battle, has been canceled.

The show at the Newman Center near the University of California was called off by Rev. Theodore Vierra because "people could easily get the wrong idea of what the center stands for."

Guerrillas, Dominicans deadlocked

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Seven hostages, including a U.S. waman diplomat, wound up a grueling week and a half in captivity today, pawns in a dramatic confrontation between leftist guerrillas and the Dominican government.

A flurry of government activity outside the darkened Venezuelan Consulate Sunday raised suspicions of guerrillas inside the besieged building and led to a new threat against the captives.

Ministers delay fighter pick

BRUSSELS (UPI) — Defense ministers of four European nations postponed for at least two months today their multibillion dollar decision on whether to replace their aging jetfighters with American, French or Swedish planes. Belgium, Holland, Norway and Denmark originally hoped to decide by mid-October. But the ministers met to sum up results of their studies so far and, according to Norwegian Minister Aliv Jakob Fostervoll, decided nothing except to meet again in December.

Due honors

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — President Gerald Ford will come to Burlington tonight to deliver the principal address at a dinner honoring Sen. George T. Alken, R-Vt. Alken, dean of the Senate's Republicans, is retiring at the end of the year after serving 34 years in the Senate. The dinner is a fund raising event in his honor.

L. Superior dumping halt asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department today urged the Supreme Court to stop the dumping of wastes into Lake Superior by Reserve Mining Co. on the grounds that the practice is a cancer threat. At the same time the department asked the court to order a speed-up in the lawsuit so that it can be concluded before the end of 1974. Both the U.S. District Court in Minneapolis and in the fifth Circuit Court of Appeals have to make decisions on certain issues in the case.

Hardliner

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Atty.-Gen. William B. Saxbe declared Sunday that the nation's criminal justice system has to "get tough" with crime. Speaking in a nationally televised interview, Saxbe said an all-out effort must be made to reduce the "atmosphere of violence" by removing career criminals from the nation's streets.

Henry due Algerian visit Oct. 14

Wheat prices plummet in wake of Soviet sale ban

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Wheat prices plummeted today in the wake of President Ford's move to halt grain exports to the Soviet Union. A Twin Falls commodities broker reported today futures prices of "practically every commodity" have dropped the maximum level permitted in one day's trading. Alex Sinclair, president of Sinclair and Co., Inc., said wheat is "limb down," falling to $3.045 per bushel today from $3.245 Friday. The 20-cent drop is the "maximum permissible move per day in the commodity futures markets," Sinclair said. "It looks as though we're in for a couple of days of liml down," he added. A local grain dealer today said "there are no willing buyers" on the cash grain market. Ted Pence, grain sales spokesman for Shields Warehouse in Buhl, said, "All we can do as a dealer is sit tight. Nobody knows where they are. They don't know the value of what they're dealing with." Grain prices "could go down momentarily, but there's a lot of world trading to be done yet," Pence added. "There's no reason to panic anyone because there's going to be a price somewhere." Pence said it will take a couple of days to get "communication established" in the cash grain market. "All we can do is stop all operations and communicate with the federal government and see where we stand." Sinclair said, "It looks like the government is going to try to keep a lid on things in the grain complex." He predicted that the market will "seek its level and everyone will have a chance to adjust to the news." Richard Parrott, president of the Twin Falls County Farm Bureau, today said "I would think the farmers would be resentful" of the export ban.

"It might have a temporary effect as far as wheat prices, but I don't think it's going to make a lot of difference," Parrott said. The ban will have a "temporary effect — we were seeing prices go up but I think it will level off for the time being," he added. "I'm going to see about $3 wheat like we did last year," Pence said. "I think we have to have somewhere in the neighborhood of $4 for wheat-to stay in business. It sounds like, they're trying to hold it at that level," he said.

Autumn activity

Colson asks short term

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Citing former President Richard M. Nixon's pardon, Charles W. Colson today asked for a reduction in his prison sentence in the interest of "even-handed justice." Colson, a former special counsel to Nixon, pleaded guilty in June to obstruction of justice by spreading derogatory information about Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg and by serving a prison term of one to three years.

"President Ford's action in pardoning former President Nixon raises serious questions with respect to even-handed justice for former subordinates of Mr. Nixon who have been prosecuted for offenses in which he was a participant," Colson's lawyer said in a motion filed in U.S. District Court.

"This is particularly troubling in the case of Mr. Colson, who was convicted for disseminating derogatory information about Daniel Ellsberg's attorney, Mr. Nixon's direct request." Colson filed his petition as District Judge John J. Sirica began his fifth day of interviewing prospective jurors in the Watergate cover-up trial. Colson originally had been a defendant in the cover-up trial until his guilty plea.

Colson's motion also cited the death of Colson's father Aug. 19 as a reason for the sentence to be reduced. The motion said Colson's 73-year-old mother was wholly dependent emotionally on her only son.

It also said 7.5. district Judge Gerhard A. Gesell had received erroneous data about the average sentences given other defendants in obstruction of justice cases in fiscal 1973. It said the average sentence was only 13 months. But most of the 10-page memorandum in support of the motion dealt with the treatment that Colson operative received.

"We do not mean to suggest that Mr. Colson's actions were in any sense legitimized by virtue of the fact that they were done at the request of the President," the memo said. "By his guilty plea and his statements to the court at the time of plea and sentencing, Mr. Colson has acknowledged his responsibility for the actions he took. But the problem of even-handed justice remains, where Mr. Colson has been sentenced to a three-year prison term and fined $5,000 while Mr. Nixon enjoys a full pardon."

Dam talks under lid

TWIN FALLS — Idaho Power Co. and American Falls Reservoir spaceholders have clamped a lid of secrecy on all matters concerning replacement of the American Falls Dam. Robert Brown, Idaho Power news director, today said, "The irrigators and Idaho Power have agreed to cease and desist on any publicity on the matter pending the negotiations."

A six-man negotiating panel has been appointed by the irrigators to try to get Idaho Power to raise its offer of $19.55 million for replacement of the dam. Brown said Idaho Power would not discuss its file showing how the firm computed its offer and would not discuss "any other aspects of the American Falls project."

In announcing the news black out, Brown also said a meeting between the Times-News and Idaho Power officials scheduled today on the matter had been cancelled. Earlier, Idaho Power had agreed to provide information the dam replacement at the meeting.

"It's not a matter of ducking the issue of the file," Brown said. "Until negotiations are completed, nobody is saying anything." Roger Ling, a Rupert attorney and member of the negotiating team, confirmed Brown's announcement. "I think it's generally understood that we shouldn't be airing it in the papers," he said. "The place to do it is in the negotiations and not on the paper."

Ling said a "firm date" for negotiation sessions has not been set with Idaho Power.

Rite launches new term for US Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, his left arm in a sling because of a bicycle accident, today opened the 1974-75 Supreme Court term that will face such thorny issues as capital punishment and wiretapping. The opening session was a ceremonial one at which 14 attorneys were admitted to practice. Burger Ling, a Rupert attorney and member of the negotiating team, confirmed Brown's announcement. "I think it's generally understood that we shouldn't be airing it in the papers," he said. "The place to do it is in the negotiations and not on the paper."

Burger came to the bench dressed in the customary black robe but with his left arm in a sling underneath. Burger suffered multiple injuries Sept. 20 in a fall from a bicycle but he is able to use his hand by resting his elbow on the bench. After Marshal Frank M. Hepler entoned the familiar "oxy. oyez," Burger said, "I have the honor to announce the October, 1974 term of the Supreme Court of the United States is now convened."

He is extended a "warm welcome" to the newly admitted lawyers. Then the gravel banged and the nine justices left. Most petitions for review considered in the justices' week-long conferences will be rejected on Oct. 15 at their first public business session, making the lower court rulings final. A few cases will be acted on immediately and some will be accepted for argument.

After two nights of frost, we know autumn's here for keeps.

Idaho Power head says Idahoans lack plant vote data

BOISE (UPI) — Albert Carlson, chairman of the board of Idaho Power Co., believes south-western Idahoans could not be well enough informed to vote on the location of a proposed coal fired steam generating plant. Carlson said on KTVB's viewpoint program Sunday—"You can't decide where you're going to have a power plant by a so-called vote of the people unless the people can be informed."

"This (the proposed plant) is a very technical subject... there's a lot of things that go into it that I don't know how you could adequately inform the public..."

But William Oweiller, a Boise legislator and proponent of the vote of the people idea, disagreed.

State Land Board to sell its property on the Boise foothills which it would exchange for federal land at the proposed site. But the matter has bogged down at the land board, which is composed of the state's highest elected officials. A moratorium on new land applications—until pending applications have been processed may block consideration of Idaho Power's application for another 10 months. Also, "twelve" and Boise to gain public input on the distribability of selling land to the power company.

If the land board declines not to sell, Idaho Power could condemn the state property next to the proposed site about 12 miles south of Boise.

Boston racial squabbles erupt

BOSTON (UPI) — Racial disturbances broke out in the Roslindale section of Boston today as the city entered its fourth full week of classes under a court-ordered busing plan to desegregate its schools.

Officials said a group of 200 whites were dispersed by police when they hurled rocks at buses of black students arriving at Roslindale High School. There were no reports of arrests or injuries.

Following the incidents fighting between blacks and whites broke out inside the school and the situation at mid morning was described as "tense."

Some of the white youths involved in the Roslindale High School incident reportedly went to the nearby Washington Irving Junior High School and threw stones at the building. At the same time, officials said rowing hands of whites in South Boston were causing disruptions in that racially troubled neighborhood and blacks assigned to South Boston High School and its annex were taken to the University of Massachusetts at Columbia Point for their safety.

The decision not to bring blacks into South Boston was made Sunday by Sgt. William J. Leary after consultation with police. Officials said the request that blacks be taken to UMMASS was made by Boston NAACP President Thomas I. Abner.

On Sunday, busing opponents held an ecumenical prayer service and school officials said they expected citywide attendance to increase today.

over Friday when a white citizen's boycott plunged the attendance rate to 51.3 percent. Another group of more than 1,000 whites from South Boston picketed police headquarters protesting the performance of tactical police in quelling a barroom brawl Saturday night. The group demanded that the tactical force, which is a special riot control unit, be removed from South Boston.

As an elected official, I'm working to convince the people in my area we'll benefit from oil drilling and a new refinery near here...
I'm working to make sure that oil industry exploration and development won't damage the environment while helping the energy situation. The environmental scientist is an important man in the oil industry today. The industry is going to have to find and produce twice as much oil and gas in the next 15 years as it did in the past 15. It's his job to see that oil companies meet or surpass reasonable environmental standards in the process.

Hells Canyon bill delayed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A conflict in the schedule of the House Interior Committee has delayed until November consideration of a bill to preserve Hells Canyon.

Hinckley said the LDS church's strict disciplines in a permissive society make Mormons seem peculiar, but that calls attention to LDS members and "allows the lay members to set an example. "As the growing permissive attitude toward sex continues to spread, the doctrine of the church, as consistently taught for more than a century, will become increasingly singular and even strange to many," Hinckley said. The LDS apostle said unless the world changes its course; and if Mormons continue to follow the teachings of the church, "we shall increasingly become a peculiar and distinctive people of whom the world will take note."

Unemployment rate declines

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho's unemployment rate declined to 5.4 per cent in August — the first time Idaho has not exceeded the nation's unemployment rate since Dec. 1970, a publication of the Department of Employment said. The Idaho Manpower Review said Idaho's unemployment dropped in August for the third time in as many months and has declined a full percentage point since January.

Although declining this year, Idaho's level of unemployment has been generally higher than that of the nation, so these trends have been bringing the two rates closer together, the report said. The publication said Idaho's unemployment rate seems to be much more stable than the nation's largely due to Idaho's continuing agricultural base.

Last year 12.5 per cent of Idaho's employed worked on farms, while agriculturally related employment accounted for as many as 150,000 workers — nearly half of the total employed in the state.

LDS end semi-annual conclave

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The leadership of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) — restating the doctrine of their fundamental tenets — called on their 3.3 million members to stay with the goals of righteousness and maintain their singularity.

LDS President Spencer W. Kimball closed the three-day

144th semi-annual general conference of the Mormon Church here Sunday, urging the church's followers to persist against the winds of fashion and sexual temptation. "If we can create in our families a strong, steady current flowing toward our goal of righteousness life, we and our children may be carried forward in spite of the contrary winds of hardship, disappointment, temptation and fashion," Kimball said. "The winds of fashion push those about who are insecure and who require the feeling that they are in." The winds of sexual temptation drive some to destroy themselves.

"Bad companies, adulterous drugs, the arrogance of profanity, pornography, all these and more act as influences pushing us if we are not being carried forward by a steady current towards a righteous life." Kimball said that even righteous parents may not succeed in hiding their children to the ways of the chue. N. Eldon Tanner, Kimball's first counselor in the LDS first presidency, spoke out against "wastefulness."

"Pornography, fornication, adultery and homosexuality are permitted and practiced in the world today to such an extent that we are truly following the ways of Sodom and Gomorrah," Tanner said. "There is too much corruption in the world. "The use of alcohol and tobacco in the home give license to the children to do the same, and to indulge in other drugs and narcotics which result too often in their leaving the home."

Gordon B. Hinckley, a member of the LDS Council of the Twelve Apostles, said the church's own peculiarity sets the religious group apart as an example to the rest of the world. Hinckley said the LDS church's strict disciplines in a permissive society make Mormons seem peculiar, but that calls attention to LDS members and "allows the lay members to set an example. "As the growing permissive attitude toward sex continues to spread, the doctrine of the church, as consistently taught for more than a century, will become increasingly singular and even strange to many," Hinckley said. The LDS apostle said unless the world changes its course; and if Mormons continue to follow the teachings of the church, "we shall increasingly become a peculiar and distinctive people of whom the world will take note."

Patrol set for rustlers

By United Press International
Call them and state fish and game personnel are teaming up again this year with county sheriff's departments to patrol for cattle rustlers in south-western Idaho.

Valley County Sheriff Derold Lynskey said, "We're all working together in this. We will have periodic roundtrips throughout the county to check the rustlers. The situation is not bad here, it is no worse than in the past but it could change momentarily."

"Whenever a hunter is out and doesn't tag an animal there is always a temptation to go after a nice beef if you see one in the brush," said Lynskey. "But as cheap as beef is this year, I don't think the hunter would be very intelligent if he did so."

Patrols from Valley County will work with Gem County in policing the High Valley area on the county line.

In Emmett, Deputy Ron Roman said Sheriff Tony Skoro had deputized four men to work ranches with ranchers and fish and game conservation officers.

He said the upper valley areas around Sweet and Ola and High Valley will be closely watched by patrols on horseback and in vehicles.

In Adams County, ranchers and deputies will patrol in four units. Sheriff Jim Hillen said incidents of rustling and slaughter have fallen off since the anti-rustling campaign last luted there last fall.

The discovery this week of a mass slaughter of eight animals in Boise County has brought new interest among ranchers for road patrols.

Club meets
GLENN'S FERRY — The Home Improvement Club met Friday afternoon at the Baptist Church Fellowship Hall, with Ruth Van Slyke, Elmore County home extension agent, present. The Idaho Extension Home Makers Council convention, to be held in Pocatello October 28-30, was discussed. The convention will be held at the Student Union building on the Idaho State University campus. Mrs. Hugh Sims was elected delegate to the convention. Mrs. James Dean, president, asked members to meet at the Fellowship Hall at 1 p.m. Thursday to work on the quilt the group is making. One guest from Caldwell attended.

Diamond field Jack Ride 'set straight' by TF man

Editor, Times-News:
This letter regards the Diamondfield Jack "endurance race" from Crockett Meadows south of Hansen to "Jackpot," Nev., such route purporting to be "that used" by Jack Davis on his famous ride back in the 1890s.

confess to participation in the fracas that resulted in the killing of the two sheepsman. So, after more than 75 years there really shouldn't be any "remaining doubt" whether Diamondfield Jack rode his famous ride or not — especially since confessions of two men who admitted the killing are a matter of record.

The killers' route didn't go along and over Deadline Ridge either. They left their Rock Creek ranches that morning in February, followed around the foothills near what is now Nat-Soo-Pah, past the Rice Ranch (at the hills east of present day Rogerson) and then to the sheep camp on Deep Creek where the fight began.

After the shooting Bower rode to the Point Ranch and then on to the Brown Ranch, the same ranch that Jack Davis and Gleason had departed that morning for Nevada.

Bower's companion returned to his Rock Creek ranch and within a few days had revealed the true facts about the fracas to his brothers and several neighboring ranchers.

Because of the excitement over the killings and the continued bad feeling generated by the range war the two men did not feel they could safely confess their guilt at the time of the trial.

Governor Steunenberg was a sheepsman, the presiding judge at the trial had sheep interests, the jurors were all from the Albion neighborhood sheep country, there was considerable reward money offered, and the Idaho Daily Statesman was clamoring for a conviction.

It was a difficult time for a couple of men to walk into a hostile court and admit to a killing, even though it reasonably could have been in self defense.

For persons who may wish to know more about this exciting and stormy period of Idaho's early day history there is an excellent book on the subject, "Diamondfield Jack, a Study in Frontier Justice," by David H. Crover. This accurate and scholarly work was only published in 1968.

Complete with footnote references to transcripts of the trial, testimony of witnesses, appeals, etc., the book should lay to rest for all time any controversy over what actually happened the day of Jack Davis' famous ride.

Groups thanked

Editor, Times-News:
I know of no other way to let the Idaho State Police, your Filer fairground group and the Good Sam Club know how much I appreciate their work in getting hold of me at the time of my son's death.
Through them I was able to get there in time for the funeral.
I didn't know there were so many kind and helpful people.
So I thank you and so does the family of Richard Ballard of Roseburg, Ore.
I hope sometime I'll be able to repay your kindness by helping someone else.

GOP stance 'discovered'

Editor, Times-News:
After studying the Republican party for many years I have finally discovered where it stands on major issues. It stands four-square for the American home, but not for housing.

It is strong for the working man, but stronger for restricting the workingman's rights. It favors a minimum wage, the smaller the minimum the better.

It endorses educational opportunity for all, but won't spend money for schools or teachers. Party members think medical care and hospitals are fine, for people who can afford them. They think the American standard of living is excellent, so long as it doesn't spread to all the people.

And they admire the government of the United States so much that they try to buy it.
I suppose I will have to admit Will Rogers' favorite saying: "I belong to no organized political party. I'm a Democrat."

TF candidate questioned

Editor, Times-News:
The general election date is fast approaching and so far I have not heard too much about local candidates. There should be something to stir local interest.
Can this situation be due to local candidates not getting the word out about how they feel about issues, programs or maybe they don't have any issues or proposed programs.
Len Etlinger, candidate for prosecuting attorney, has voiced his intent and proposed programs but so far Mr. Hollifield has kept quiet except for standard, shop-worn political statements.
Mr. Hollifield — do you or do you not intend to offer an appointment of deputy prosecutor to Mr. Calley? So far, each time he has inst an election he has been appointed to that position even though the voters indicated that they were dissatisfied with him.

Do you feel that by making a commitment that it would jeopardize your chances of being elected?
Do you feel that by remaining silent on this issue, it will leave you open to make the appointment without stepping on anyone's toes?
Let's have an answer so that the voters will have an indication of what your intentions are.

Andrus loses 'new' vote

Editor, Times-News:
The incumbent governor of the state of Idaho has just lost a "new" vote come next election.
Any official or his bonifide office personnel who does not have the "decency" to at least acknowledge a letter from a citizen has no right to hold any public office.
I am referring to letter of one Ben McLoughlin of Sacramento, Ca., in your letters section of Times-News, Sept. 30.
Furthermore, and with all due respect for our state highway patrolmen, the fact that the Idaho State Police Department admits its radar units are not consistent, proves that there was a question of possible doubt.

I am not standing for either the guilt or innocence of the party, but I do wish to condemn the actions of our highest official and his departments for not giving an ear to a private citizen, particularly an out-of-state citizen . . . this is unforgivable . . .
It is now the common practice for all politicians to forget that they are the servants of the taxpayers and not god himself, unless, of course you are a criminal and then they will bend over backward to give you every "right" known to the "Nine Old Men" in Washington, D.C.

FTC head blasts costly agencies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chairman of the Federal Trade Commission said today much of the government's regulatory machinery should be dismantled because it amounts to little more than "government sanctioned price fixing" that is costing consumers millions of dollars a year.

In a broad scale attack on the Civil Aeronautics Board, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Agriculture Department and other agencies, FTC Chairman Lewis A. Engman said protected industries are a major cause of inflation — and their right to such treatment should be reassessed now.

"Our airlines, our truckers, our railroads, our electronic media, and countless others are on the dole," he said. "We are in trouble about welfare fraud. But our complex system of intricate regulatory subsidies make welfare fraud look like petty larceny."

"I have no way of knowing what the numerous regulatory measures cost the consumer each year. I have seen private estimates indicating that the annual cost in the transportation area alone may exceed $16 million," Engman added.

He made the comments in a speech prepared for delivery in Detroit but made public in advance in Washington. Alides said it was an unprecedented attack on the bureaucracy by one of its own members.

"The suggestion, perhaps the greatest vogue at the moment is that inflation can be curbed by reducing the government's involvement in the economy," he said specifically, by reducing its regulatory role. "It has received the blessing of Ralph Nader. And it is about to be endorsed by Engman."

"Though most government regulation was enacted under the guise of protecting the consumer from abuse, much of today's regulatory machinery does little more than shelter producers from the normal consequences of fastidious and inefficient," Engman said.

"In any case, the consumer, for whatever presumed abuse he is being spared, is paying plenty in the form of government-sanctioned price fixing," he added. "The fact of the matter is that most regulated industries have become federal protectates, living in the cozy world of cost-plus, safely protected from the ugly specters of competition, efficiency and innovation."

Engman gave these examples:

- The Civil Aeronautics Board, by controlling competition and fares, has made the consumer a "captive buyer" who is never asked "if he would rather have the money than the movie, or if he would like to brown bag it from New York to California instead of having steamship round of beef au jus."
- The CAB recently turned down a British airline's request for a cheap New York to London fare and is about to foster a floor on charter flights that will result in higher overseas ticket prices.
- The Interstate Commerce Commission has given a monopoly to the trucking firms already in existence and allowed them to fix rates with impunity.
- Agriculture price support systems ask "the consumer to pay the farmer to buy with his tax dollars what he does not want, cannot use and will never eat."
- The government's "Buy American" program results in higher prices and state laws that prohibit use of prescription drugs or eyeglasses.

Ford studies lighter taxes on poor

(C) New York Times Service WASHINGTON — President Ford appeared today to be leaning toward proposals to ease tax burdens on the poor while increasing taxes of those in higher income brackets.

The tax revisions would be a key element in the anti-inflation program that Ford will present to a joint session of Congress on Tuesday afternoon.

The President has aid in recent days that his program would include both mandatory and voluntary proposals to check inflation, conserve fuel and restore economic stability to the nation.

Sources close to the President have indicated that he will ask for a surtax of about 5 per cent on persons with higher incomes and on corporations, with the additional funds used to offset tax relief for the poor.

There has been widespread speculation, too, that the President will propose larger investment — tax — credits for businesses in order to stimulate production, and some form of federal assistance for the ailing mortgage market.

Sunday, strolling back to the White House after an early-morning communion service at St. John's Episcopal Church, Ford told reporters that his economic message was taking shape.

Asked if the program would be a tough one, the President replied that it would be "A fair one." Aides have said that Ford's proposals will require "sacrifices from the American people."

Then, before noon, the President went to his Oval Office to resume work on his economic proposals. In mid-afternoon, he reviewed his plans with various economic advisers, including Treasury Secretary William Simon and Alan Greenspan, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers.

Ford reiterated Sunday, during his stroll after church, that he would not propose an increase in gasoline taxes.

Pentagon changes mind on policies

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department appears to have changed its policy on whether deserters will be court-martialed if they sign up for President Ford's "earnest re-entry" program and then refuse to serve their alternative service.

Contrary to earlier statements of spokesmen, the Pentagon now says that under Article 33 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice, a deserter can be prosecuted for accepting an undesirable discharge and then refusing to work.

Three days after the President announced the program, spokesmen for the defense and justice departments said, in widely publicized reports, that there was no law, either civil or military, to force deserters to perform their alternative service.

The confusion arose last week when the Defense Department's General Counsel, Martin R. Hoffmann, told newsmen that "in the requisite intent at the time he agreed to alternative service, he could indeed be prosecuted."

A Defense Department spokesman insisted that there was no change in policy, even though Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger had said, at a news conference a week and a half ago, that the military would "lose legal control of an individual at the time he receives his discharge."

According to Ford's conditional amnesty proclamation, deserters would be given undesirable discharges on the condition that they work in some public service job for two years. Upon completion of this alternative service, deserters would receive a "desirable discharge," which is a new classification, and the "undesirable discharge" designation would be removed from their records.

Revenue sharing figures defective

(C) New York Times Service CHICAGO — A major study of revenue sharing has concluded that the statistics on which federal funds are distributed to the states are defective, inaccurate and inadequate, according to a draft report of the study.

The report recommended that the federal government take steps to correct the resulting inequities in distribution, an action that would cost millions of dollars.

The report said that because of inadequate census data, the formula by which revenue sharing money is allocated discriminates against low-income and minority groups. The money is allocated to state and local governments on the basis of population and income figures provided by the 1970 census.

The Office of Revenue Sharing would "seriously consider the possibility" of making adjustments for cities of more than 50,000, with future funding taking into consideration the undercount of minority populations in the 1970 census, the study said.

That undercount, it was acknowledged by the Census, has been the source of controversy and has led to legal action by officials of the cities of Newark and Baltimore to recover funds because of the undercount.

The Office of Revenue Sharing has refused to make adjustments, and the Census Bureau has said that it does not determine exactly in which cities and states the undercount occurred.

The study is being prepared by the Stanford Research Institute, of Menlo Park, Calif. The final report is due to be made soon.

The draft report said that although general revenue sharing appears to be satisfying many goals envisioned by Congress, a higher level of equity of allocations can be achieved through the use of more accurate and more current data.

"Many of the problems associated with the lack of accuracy and currency (timeliness) of the data for population and per capita income evaluated in the general revenue-sharing statistical study stem from the fact that before 1972 all had been collected for other purposes," the report said.

War eases

SAIGON (UPI) — The intensity of the Indochina war in South Vietnam dropped to its lowest level in three months, but fighting still killed one person every 17 minutes, the Saigon command said today.

Spokesmen reported only 60 Communist cease-fire violations between dawn Sunday and sunset today, the lowest number since last July 6 when there were 52.

But officials said 51 Communist soldiers, 21 government troops and at least 12 civilians died in fighting and shelling attacks.

Wants more

BERLIN (UPI) — Soviet Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev says the Kremlin wants to take new steps with the United States to limit arms and improve East-West relations.

In a speech marking East Germany's 25th anniversary, the Soviet leader said Sunday agreements reached in recent years on arms cutbacks "are not working badly."

"But these agreements are just a beginning," Brezhnev said. "What matters now is to take further steps."

Franco-US set December meet

PARIS (UPI) — French President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing and President Ford will meet Dec. 14-16 in the French Caribbean island of Martinique, the Elysee Palace announced today.

"The Elysee Palace announcement said this meeting will allow the two heads of state to examine questions of mutual interest."

The Franco-US summit will mark the first meeting of Giscard d'Estaing and Ford. The last top level meeting for the two countries came when Giscard d'Estaing, Richard Nixon and the late Georges Pompidou met in Iceland in 1973.

Ford will be meeting Giscard d'Estaing nine days after the French president returns in Paris with Soviet Communist Party General Secretary Leonid Brezhnev.

Upon assuming the presidency last May, Giscard d'Estaing made it clear that sagging U.S.-French relations would improve in tone although France would not change its policy of "interdependence" with what Paris regards as U.S. domination.

Volkswagen responds to FCC proof demand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Volkswagen told the Federal Trade Commission today its advertising has not been designed to cash in on the energy shortage and that if anything—the cars—get more miles to the gallon than the ads have claimed.

The company made the statements in response to an FTC demand for proof to back up its advertising, part of the agency's continuing program to try to keep big advertisers honest. Responses to similar challenges made against General Motors and Ford Motor Co.—were also made public today.

The Volkswagen ad challenged by the FTC included a claim that the 2.0 liter Porsche 914 got 20 miles to the gallon—the Audi—100.5—24 m.p.g.—and the Audi Fox 2.0 m.p.g. The FTC wanted proof that those fuel economies were similar to what the average driver could get.

In response, the company said it ran the cars mentioned from the George Washington Bridge in New York to the Washington Monument in the nation's capital last April. The Porsche averaged 24.4 m.p.g., the Audi Fox 23.3 and the Audi 100LS 27.4 m.p.g.—all higher than the ad had claimed, it said.

The mileage figures cited in the original ad, it said, came from a test called the "Deutsche Industriale Norm" which has been used for 10 years.

"Thus, neither it nor our advertised mileage are creatures of the fuel shortage," the company said. "Gasoline has always been expensive in Europe and the consumer's interest in economical performance has been equally high."

The advertising challenges were made by the FCC last March when the gasoline lines were long and when advertising played heavily on fuel economy. One of the ads challenged—involving the Cadillac Eldorado—has already resulted in an agreement by General Motors to recamp its fuel economy advertising.

That ad claimed tests by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) showed the Eldorado did better than 99 other cars—but it failed to point out that more than one model was tested and that not all did as well.

The FTC asked Ford to show how a TV commercial showing a small TV set being assembled in the back seat of a Mercury Montego driven from 20 to 60 miles per hour proved that the car was superior to others in its class.

"The demonstration shown in this commercial does not make any claim, explicit or implied, that the ride of the Mercury Montego is superior to the ride of any other car in its weight or size class," it said. Nor, it added, was the ad designed to show the demonstration could be performed in another car.

Dempsey loses

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jack Dempsey, the former world heavyweight champion, was kayoed Sunday night in his fight to keep his 40-year-old restaurant open. His partner ruled out a rematch.

"I'm heartbroken and I'm disgusted," Dempsey said. "This is my second home and I've lost it. But what can you do?"

The closing of Jack Dempsey's Restaurant, a Broadway landmark, climaxed a lengthy court battle with the Ineh Corp. After acquiring the Brill Building when the original owners foreclosed on the mortgage, Ineh tried to raise the rent, even though Jack Amiel, Dempsey's partner, said the lease had seven years to run.

The lease called for $85,000 yearly rent, including taxes, but the Ineh Corp. asked $130,000 a year, plus taxes, Amiel said.

"It's a sad thing," Amiel said. "This place has been here so many years and it's wonderful. It's a sad thing."

"We were the only place left on Broadway that's a good, fine place with a touch of the old time," Amiel said.

Korean faces charges

SEOUL (UPI) — A young Korean admitted today he had tried to assassinate President Park Chung-hee but he said he does not remember shooting the wife of the president and regrets that one of his bullets killed the first lady.

Moon Se-kyung, 23, a resident of Japan, went on trial for attempting to kill Park at 10:45 a.m. Aug. 15. Mrs. Park was fatally wounded in the attack but her husband was unharmed.

"All I remember is firing the first shot at the president," Moon said. "What happened after that I don't remember. I don't know how to apologize for the death of the first lady."

Whatever the circumstances it cannot be forgotten that he killed an innocent lady, though I learned of her death only during the investigation," he said.

Tight security arrangements were in force in and around Seoul District Criminal Court during the trial. Some 80 newsmen were subjected to body searches and everything they carried was checked.

Moon allegedly fired four shots while Park was addressing a ceremony commemorating Korea's liberation from Japanese colonial rule on Aug. 15, 1945.

Moon admitted all the charges the prosecution filed against him.

Soup kitchens

DACCA (UPI) — More than 3,000 soup kitchens have opened throughout Bangladesh; combat famine that has already claimed nearly 5,000 lives, according to Food and Relief Minister Abdul Momen.

Momen said Sunday he was unable to give the number of deaths caused by starvation, but said he was sure the number was just under 5,000.

"It is true people are dying of starvation and we are collecting information about the number of deaths," he said.

Momen said the government has opened 3,300 soup kitchens to feed about 2.5 million persons with rationed wheat and bread and may open 1,000 more in the next few days.

The proposed amendment provides that counties may issue revenue bonds upon approval of a majority of electors at a special bond election for the purpose of "acquiring, constructing, installing, and equipping facilities designed for environmental pollution control. Such facilities could then be sold, leased, or otherwise disposed of by the county to private persons or industry."

The proposed amendment further provides that such bonds may not be secured by the taxing authority of the State or its political subdivisions. It intended that the revenue from the sale, lease or other disposal of the facilities will provide the only source of payment of the bonds.

Among the results intended by this amendment is to enable business to obtain anti-pollution equipment at lower cost and in some cases enable some businesses to obtain such equipment which could not otherwise be financed.

Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by The Chicago Tribune

DEAR READERS: If statistics bore you, please read this anyway. The information may come in handy if you're over on a quiz show. It could even save your life.

Q. When was the Chicago fire?
A. October 9, 1871. Exactly 103 years ago this week. But let's get a little more current, shall we? Did you know that last year in the U.S.A. 11,300 people died in 2,918,000 fires? And that in Canada, there were 830 deaths in 78,900 fires? Even more tragically, a large percentage of deaths were children, elderly persons and invalids who had been left alone for just a few minutes.

The chief causes of fires, in order of the toll taken, were: 1.) smoking, 2.) electrical wiring, 3.) heating and cooking equipment, 4.) children playing with matches, 5.) open flames and sparks, 6.) flammable liquids, 7.) suspected arson, 8.) chimneys and flues, 9.) lightning, 10.) spontaneous ignition.

Insure your life

The total fire loss in 1973 was an estimated 3 billion, one million dollars in the U.S.A. and 254 million dollars in Canada.

Now for some tips that could save your life:

- Be sure your cigarette is out. Matches, too. And never leave matches and lighters within the reach of children.
- Don't run cords under rugs or over radiators where they may get damaged. And replace a cord if it is frayed.
- Never leave small children alone in the house. Not even for a few minutes.
- Have your wiring and electrical installations done by a professional.
- Store oily rags and paints in a cool place in tightly sealed metal containers.
- Never use flammable liquids for dry cleaning indoors.
- Never smoke in bed.
- Have a fire drill in your home to be sure everyone knows what to do in case of fire.

Remember, fire extinguishers put out 97% of all the fires on which they are used. Most large fires started as small fires...So invest in a compact, easy-to-use fire extinguisher and keep it handy in your kitchen, or be a sport and buy one for your cottage, car, boat, and the back bedroom, too.

Now, in case of fire:
 Most fires occur between midnight and 6 a.m., so always sleep with your bedroom door closed. If you suspect fire, feel the top of the door. If it's hot, don't open it. Escape through the window. But if it's not, alert the rest of the household. If you can't open the window, break it with a chair. Cover the rough edges with a blanket and sit on the window ledge with one leg hanging outside and one inside, and wait for help.

The phone number of your fire department should be taped on every telephone. If it isn't, don't fumble around trying to call them. Get out—and call from a neighbor's house.

If you live in an apartment building, use the stairway. Don't take a chance on the elevator. If it fails, you're trapped.

Once out, stay out. No treasure—even the family pet—is worth risking a second life.

If you look less than three minutes to read this column...Was it worth it? I hope so. God bless. Have a good day! ABBY

Exchange student awaiting Gem snow

TWIN FALLS — There is at least one person in the Magic Valley who is anxiously awaiting the season's first snowfall.

Maria Herrera, the American Field Service Exchange Student from Costa Rica, has never seen snow and is excited to be making her home in an area where snow is sometimes plentiful.

Maria arrived in Twin Falls Aug. 6 from San Jose, Costa Rica, and will be living with the John Doerr family during the next year. She is attending Twin Falls High School as a member of the senior class learning as much about life in America as she can.

So far, Maria describes her experience as "fantastic." She likes Twin Falls and thinks her American family is wonderful. The Doerrs have 4 children: Kathy, 17; Tom, 16; Michelle, 12; and Marie, 9. They are excited about having a new sister, and are looking forward to winter so they can teach Maria how to ski.

When asked how it was to have an exchange student, Doerr replied:

"Things are going so great, we sometimes forget that Maria hasn't always been with us. We are not looking forward to the time when she has to return to Costa Rica."

Although Maria has only vague memories of her first day at TFHS, she now has settled into her classes and says she is enjoying them. Maria says the schools in Costa Rica are more difficult. There she had 14 different subjects and the classes were more advanced. When she finishes school after her return to Costa Rica, Maria would like to attend college and study business administration or law.

Maria comes from a very "law-oriented" family. Her father is a lawyer, as well as her two brothers and one sister. She also has one other brother and sister.

Maria will be officially introduced to the community at the first general AFS meeting to be held Oct. 15, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the O-wing of the high school. The public is cordially invited to attend.

It is our job to deliver energy to you. It is your job to use it wisely.

GAS SUPPLY
 When you have a choice, choose gas. Natural gas is the most efficient use of energy for the big jobs: heating, water heating, cooking and clothes drying. The natural energy utilization rating of natural gas for space heating is 60%. That figure is the national average. The energy utilization rating of new gas furnaces is 70% or more. The natural energy utilization rating of fossil fuel generated electricity for space heating is 28%. And the cost of gas for space heating is substantially less than electricity.

ENERGY CONSERVATION
 Virtually no energy is lost in bringing natural gas from the wellhead to your home. About 93% of its energy is still intact. Generating electricity with fossil fuel is a wasteful process. It takes 12,200 BTU's of fuel for generation, transmission and distribution of one kilowatt of electricity which contains only 3,413 BTU's for an efficiency factor of 27.8% (Source 1).

Poor nutrition called national scandal

TWIN FALLS — The second mini-course on Family Health Services, sponsored by the American Association of University Women, is scheduled for 7 p.m. Wednesday in Room 115 at College of Southern Idaho.

Dr. Wayne Carte and Mrs. Roy Jacobsen, director and nurse of the South Central District Health Department and Jack Carlson, district manager of the Social Security office in Twin Falls, will be the guest lecturers.

At the opening session last week, Peggy Stanfield, CSI instructor in dietetics, called improper nutrition a "national scandal."

She pointed out that despite the emphasis on nutrition nationwide, middle and upper class families show clinical signs of malnutrition. Although poverty has always been with us, US per capita income has doubled in the last two decades, she said.

At the same time that national incomes have risen, expenditures on fruits and vegetables have dropped by 50 per cent and the consumer has increased his buying of snacks and soft drinks 80 per cent.

In 1974, zinc, a micro-nutrient, was included in the growing list of about 50 nutrients essential to good health. Mrs. Stanfield said poor nutritional habits do affect infant and maternal mortality, reproduction, mental retardation, congenital abnormalities and early aging.

From 1950 to 1974, health service costs rose from $12 billion dollars to $70 billion with no increase in life expectancy for males and little increase for females. Until 1963 nutrition education was not a part of medical studies for doctors, she said.

In a study done in Idaho children from age of 6 months to 3 years, results showed that 57 per cent were deficient in caloric intake, compared to 37 per cent of children nationwide.

These Idaho children are 60 per cent deficient in calcium, 97 per cent in iron, 47 per cent in vitamin A, 80 per cent in niacin and 60 per cent in vitamin C, all higher than the national average.

Luan York, Magic Valley Memorial Hospital dietitian, told the session that nutritional deprivation is so widespread that its actual nutrition has reached epidemic proportions, she said.

Miss York, a "mini-expert" in the interdependence of nations in solving the world's food problem, said the US involvement in world food production began after World War II when the Rockefeller and Ford foundations began research centers to increase grain yield per acre. These research centers promoted the "green revolution" concept to relieve world-wide food shortages.

Mary Decker, dietitian and homemaker, said that meat, a basic protein, consumes 30 per cent of the average food dollar. To insure that the basic food groups are a part of the family diet, weekly meal planning is important.

"The state of your pocket-book should determine your buying habits," she said. To combat inflation which hits the fixed income group hardest, Mrs. Decker suggested once a month buying of non-food items.

her husband's campaign for reelection while he is busy in Washington.

Mrs. Cynthia Sanger, president of the county Democratic Women, has urged all members to attend as well as any other interested persons.

Bear market for birth expectation

WASHINGTON — The bear market in birth expectations among American wives has continued into 1974, the Bureau of the Census says.

A nationwide survey of wives 18 to 39 years conducted in June showed that they expected to have a total of 2,550 children per 1,000 women in their lifetimes which means about 2.6 children per woman.

The survey was one of a series by the Bureau, part of the U.S. Department of Commerce's Social and Economic Statistics Administration.

In a similar survey a year earlier showed that at that time, wives 18 to 39 years expected a total of 2,638 children per 1,000 wives. In 1967, expectations were considerably greater; then, wives 18 to 39 expected 3,118 children per 1,000 women or 3.1 children per woman, on the average.

Bureau population officials have calculated that the difference between 1973 and 1974 expectations would result in about 3 million fewer births among women 18 to 39 if the survey results were applied to single women still unmarried as well as those married, the group covered in the survey.

Nuclear program slashed

(C) New York Times Service
 WASHINGTON — The Ford administration and the Joint Atomic Energy Committee have agreed to a major slash in an urgently requested security program designed to lessen the chances of the theft of nuclear materials.

The new program was proposed by the Atomic Energy Commission last May after the General Accounting Office completed two studies showing that existing commission security measures were inadequate and several scientists published reports concluding that a team of dedicated terrorists could transform a small amount of plutonium or uranium into a home-made bomb.

The sharp increase in overall security was recommended by the AEC in a supplemental budget request for the current fiscal year forwarded to the Office of Management and Budget on May 29. The request included $87 million to hire 300 more guards, install new alarm and detectors systems, construct improved fencing and gates, provide shipping cases and the purchase of additional equipment to track nuclear materials should they be stolen.

On Sept. 3, the Office of Management and Budget sent to Congress a recommendation for an $18 million security program, $9 million less than that urged by the AEC.

"Now the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, according to Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, has agreed to restore $5 million."

Food, clothing pour into Iowa migrants

(C) Chicago Daily News
 MUSCATINE, Iowa — Money, food and warm clothing have begun pouring in from all over the nation to aid 400 migrant farm workers stranded here by the failure of the tomato crop.

Stunned but happy volunteers at the Muscatine Migrant Council are calling the response to the plight of the stranded migrants "the October miracle."

Pledges of cash amounting to more than $4,000 have already been received here, and Juan Cadena, director of the migrant council, said Saturday: "Our people are going to be able to go home now. We are grateful to God and all the good people who have helped."

Sister Irene Munoz, a Spanish-speaking Catholic nun who brought the plight of the stranded migrants to light, said: "I wish we knew some way to say thank you."

Cadena said the phones at the center have been ringing all day with offers of aid for the estimated 400 migrants caught in Muscatine without funds to return to their home in Texas, due to a poor tomato harvest in the five-county Illinois-Iowa area surrounding this town of about 25,000.

The plight of the migrants was carried nationwide by the Chicago Daily News Sun-Times News Service and Cadena said there had been a blizzard of responses from all over the country.

Hundreds of blankets and items of winter clothing for the migrants began pouring in Thursday night and were distributed to the field hands who had spent three numbing cold nights in unheated cabins at scattered tomato farm camps that dot thousands of acres along the Mississippi River here.

All the extra blankets at Sacred Heart Hospital, Ford Madison, Iowa, were rushed to Muscatine Thursday night. Sister Irene said Saturday that she has also had angry reactions from some area tomato growers because of her role in bringing the problem to public attention.

"A lot of them are unhappy. They think it makes them look bad. I think it makes them look bad too."

Cadena said that while he believes enough money will soon be on hand to aid the migrants in their return to Texas, cash advances and money spent for food has left the migrant council still in precarious straits.

JOCKO, white donkey belonging to Dick Cook, Hagerman rancher, has trained peacocks by ear motion to lay-off trying to steal his food; or he'll swat 'em with his nose. Peacock approaches. Jacko's long ears are forward. Jocko pulls his ears back for the mean look that makes peacock pull back.

'Haunted chair' puzzles visitors

CENTRE, Ala. (UPI) — Weekend visitors to Peck's Crossroads near here have multiplied rapidly as word has spread about the "haunted chair" on the porch of Marvin and Marlene Acker.

A haunted chair or an optical illusion? Everyone has his own idea. But Mrs. Acker said it's "the craziest thing I've ever seen."

The chair in question is a wrought iron piece bought at a local auction for $12. As far as anyone knows, it has no history of being "haunted."

The phenomenon was discovered by one of the Acker's neighbors who came to the house claiming the chair had moved as she drove by.

Mrs. Acker watched as the neighbor drove past again and saw no movement from the chair. But when she drove her own car past the house several times, Mrs. Acker couldn't believe it. She "saw" the chair turn.

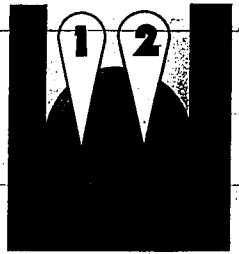

One explanation might be that the vertical bars on the chair back and the horizontal lines on the house form an optical illusion and give the impression the chair is turning as a viewer passes by.

Apparently the more than 5,000 persons who have driven past the Acker's home recently would rather see for themselves. And some have even paid the 50 cents admission the Ackers now charge for a closer look.

TF public hearing tonight

TWIN FALLS — A public hearing will be held at 8 p.m. tonight during the regular Twin Falls City Council on a request for multi-family dwelling construction by Phillip C. Uhlig.

Uhlig is asking for a conditional use in order to build multi-family units on a 10 acre site between Shoup and Heyburn in line with Madrona street if it were to be extended.

An ordinance to rezone the parcels of land involved will be considered following the hearing. The ordinance would, instead of a conditional use, change the zone to medium residential from low density residential.

In other business the city council will discuss cross walk and line striping, grant requirements, issue a call for bids on automobiles, discuss an alley encroachment request from Safeway stores and discuss other routine city business.

Parole violator apprehended

BURLEY — Burley police Friday apprehended a federal parole violator, David J. Buchanan, 25.

Buchanan was picked up at about 6:30 p.m. at the Pandoras Interchange, and a routine NCIC check revealed he was sought for parole violation. His car had Oregon plates.

Burley police officials did not have details Monday on where he was wanted for parole violation.

Jerome GOP meet tonight

JEROME — The Jerome County Republican Central Committee will meet at 8 p.m. today at Wood Cafe in Jerome.

Controlled fire

TWIN FALLS — Smoke seen by many Twin Falls area residents was from a controlled burn, sheriff's officers reported. A controlled fire which was burning to clear brush southeast of Hansen brought a number of calls to the sheriff's office, officials said.

Kuna eyes additional funds

KUNA (UPI) — The growth of Kuna's population in four years by 223 to 916 persons will mean additional money for the community.

Federal revenue sharing funds will be increased to the city according to the additional population.

The city paid the Bureau of Census $723 as a tentative cost for conducting the poll, and will have a balance of about $150 depending upon the official count.

The Census Bureau representative who supervised the county said there probably will not be more than one or two per cent difference in the final count than in the preliminary figure.

Candidate tells inflation cause

POCATELLO (UPI) — The Republican candidate for attorney general says excessive government spending and too much bureaucracy are helping cause inflation.

Wayne Kidwell said here "the child support division and welfare overpayment department of the attorney general's office need radical surgery."

Kidwell said it takes the state five times as many people to achieve similar results with welfare overpayment than it takes the Ada County prosecuting attorney's office.

"This is the type of overwhelming bureaucracy that costs the taxpayers much more than it should and contributes to inflation," the candidate said.

TF burglaries reported

TWIN FALLS — Several burglaries were reported during the weekend in Twin Falls county and city.

Sheriff Paul Corder said burglars took merchandise in burglaries of Daw's Market in Hansen and from Emmen's Food Store on South Blue Lakes Boulevard out of Twin Falls.

He said in both cases entry was gained by breaking glass at the front of the building. At Daw's Market in Hansen, about $150 in merchandise was taken including a wide assortment of items.

At Emmen's, Sheriff Corder said between $150 and $200 in groceries, beer and candy was taken. Included were a number of 40-pound sacks of sugar.

No cash was taken in either of the county burglaries. Both occurred Sunday night.

Twin Falls city police reported a burglary at Boise Cascade Co. Saturday night in which only one bottle of Scotch whiskey was taken, but damages to windows in the building amounted to about $200. Entry was gained by breaking through a door, but once inside the burglars broke out two large glass windows.

At Gem State Oil Co., the building was entered through a window and burglars used tools inside the building to force open soft drink and cigarette machines. An undetermined amount of cash was taken from the two machines.

Burglars then removed a quantity of tools and auto service items such as oil, antifreeze for gas lines and gasoline from pumps. Loss was estimated at $140 by Gem State Oil officials.

Jerry Black, Twin Falls, told officers someone broke into his pickup truck Saturday night in the parking lot of the Arley Bar. Two guns, a rifle and a shotgun, were taken.

Candidate gives views

KETCHUM — One of the greatest threats to Americans today is the totalitarian take-over of private property for vested interests Nolan Victor, American party candidate for Governor, said here Monday.

These government take-overs, as in Obisidian, Hells-Canyon and other areas, should not be permitted, he said. The law of eminent domain should be used only where clearly demanded for public benefit, he said, and should not include the confiscation of private properties for recreational areas and scenic views, or for personal gain by a favored few.

Victor described most proposed solutions for inflation as "preposterous." Idaho and national politicians are circumventing their real cures of inflation, like "sensible government spending, removal of strangulating controls, restrictions and requirements on the free enterprise system, removal of national post-humane international pressures, and controlling the actions of international bankers."

Campaigning in Shoshone Monday, Victor said that Americans are being prepared psychologically for "astronomical rises in the cost of fuel." He charged that much of the blame lies with oil companies in this country and not with the Arabs.

Former Time-Life editor William Forbes said the media shaped the mass consensus in two ways, "approximate and remote."

An example of approximate shaping, Forbes said, was the decision by Ted Kennedy not to run for the presidency. Forbes said Kennedy knew the press would push forward into the events behind Chappquidlick so consequently dropped his candidacy.

Remote shaping, Forbes said, is simply transmission of news which people wish to hear.

Students hear journalists at SV meet

BY BART QUENNEL, Times-News writer

SUN VALLEY — A group of professional journalists told students here "Saturday" the media does shape the news.

Speaking before the seven state Northwest Regional Media Conference, Roger Peterson, former ABC Pentagon correspondent and Saigun Bureau Chief, said the job of the media is to shape the news.

Peterson said the media was responsible for getting the public ready for events so responsible decisions could be made.

Former Time-Life editor William Forbes said the media shaped the mass consensus in two ways, "approximate and remote."

An example of approximate shaping, Forbes said, was the decision by Ted Kennedy not to run for the presidency. Forbes said Kennedy knew the press would push forward into the events behind Chappquidlick so consequently dropped his candidacy.

TF planning meets set

TWIN FALLS — Public planning meetings key to the formation of a comprehensive land use plan for Twin Falls City and County began tonight in Twin Falls.

The first of several of the "planning forums" will be held at 7:30 p.m. in Room 131 of the Votch Building at the College of Southern Idaho.

David Richey, planner for the Joint City-County Planning Council, will outline the public participation program he has designed as the first step in developing a comprehensive land use plan.

The meeting will focus on population and economics and will raise such questions as "What is the present economic condition of Twin Falls? Just where is it now and where does the community want to go?" Richey said.

Richey said Friday in urging the public to participate in the planning sessions that without public input the development of a comprehensive land use plan will fail.

The meeting at CSI is the first of three which will be held this week in Twin Falls County. Similar meetings will be held for west end residents in Buhl at the R and R Cafe Tuesday night at 7:30 and for each end residents at the Kimberly City Hall Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The meetings, covering all aspects of planning, will be held weekly, same time, same place, throughout October, November, December, January, February, March and April.

denied that ABC news selects news for the high ratings it will get.

Duffy was questioned by one reporter if ABC took a middle of the line approach on its news format as opposed to CBS and NBC.

Duffy said "if you think we report news just to get the rating up, you are wrong."

Duffy said the philosophy of the news is to report as clearly and accurately as possible and balance it.

"We consistently have news surveys, he said, "which we have found from other people that ours is more balanced and fair than the other two."

Peterson said the move to replace Frank Reynolds with Harry Reasoner as ABC co-anchor was partially a move to boost ratings. However, Peterson, who is a close friend of Reynolds, said he never really wanted the job as anchorman and was happier in his old position.

Peterson told the 400 students gathered here to get into the media business in any position possible and start at the biggest station that would hire an inexperienced person.

Asked how he reached the position he holds, Peterson answered "by trying, by doing everything you can and trying everything they will let you."

At the Friday morning question and answer period, president of ABC television, James Duffy

Ramp removed

TWIN FALLS — Evel Knievel's red, white and blue steel ramp which launched him into the canyon just a month ago is no more.

The 100-foot-steel structure is gone—leaving the heavy dirt ramp as the main reminder of Knievel's sabotage leap.

Cranes removed the heavy metal structure last week, working for several days to disassemble the sharp, triangular form.

Keith Paulis, back to the regular business of farming, said he wasn't going to request Knievel to remove the dirt ramp.

"I might want to do it again," he said with a grin.

Ed Woods, county zoning administrator, said the removal of the dirt ramp was still relevant.

The topic will be considered at the next zoning board meeting, set on Thursday, he said, at which time he felt a solution or recommendation would be reached.

He declined to predict how the board would rule regarding the dirt ramp, however.

Grain price takes drop

Mel Crosby, Minidoka, assistant grain director for the Northwest for the National Farmers Organization, said the grain export ban "will be a pretty good blow for the farmers."

"It can do nothing else but drive the prices down."

"By taking this cash from the farmer, it won't be distributed to rural America itself," he added, which will hurt the general economy.

"Something has to be done, but it seems like the farmer himself is taking the heat of the blow. He is expected again to produce his product for nothing," Crosby charged, "he cannot survive without a profit."

"It is a blow to the farmers in the Midwest who have already had a disaster and it is a blow to the farmers here who had low yields in wheat."

SHOSHONE city crews keep busy with work in alleys and streets. Here the city grader is being used along the North Dale Street near the John Lallas residence, all part of the upkeep and improvement process of city maintenance crews.

Trio of NFL undefeated teams continues streak

By United Press International
St. Louis and New England, two of the three unbeaten teams in the National Football League, had little trouble staying that way Sunday, but the third — Minnesota needed all 60 minutes.

The Cardinals and Patriots, the surprise teams, both rolled in easy victories, with the Cardinals making use of a 21-point third quarter to bury San Francisco 34 and the Patriots scoring touchdowns in every quarter en route to a 42-14 laughter-over-hapless Baltimore.

But Minnesota wasn't assured of its 40 record until Fred Cox kicked a disputed 27-yard field goal with one second on the clock to edge the Vikings past Dallas, 23-21.

Jim Plunkett passed for three touchdowns, including 62 and 16-yarders to wide receiver Reggie Rucker, en route to New England's victory over winless Baltimore.

The victory marked the Patriots' best start since 1964 when they won their first four American Football League games. New England leads the NFL, in scoring with 124 points, 51 per game average.

St. Louis' Terry McTall and Mel Gray detonated a 21-point, third-quarter explosion that buried San Francisco, the 175-pound Gray, a former college sprint champ from Missouri, caught touchdown passes of 57 and 59 yards from Jim Hart.

McTall ran 24 yards for one touchdown and set up another with a 42-yard punt return.

St. Louis' defensive unit has been the stingiest in the NFL, allowing only 29 points in their four games.

Cox's winning field goal, barely staying within the right upright, came at the end of a desperation Vikings drive after Calvin Hill had punted in front on an eight-yard bolt up the middle with 2:26 remaining.

His kick with one second left appeared to sail directly over the right upright, touching off a brief but loud argument between officials, who ruled it good, and Cowboy players and coaches, who didn't think so.

Tarkenton, who completed 17 of 27 passes for 283 yards, threw touchdown passes of 66 and 13 yards to Foreman and Cox added two other field goals of 46 and 30 yards.

In other games, Atlanta upset the New York Giants 14-7, Cincinnati topped Washington 28-17, Oakland outscored Cleveland 49-21, Buffalo stomped Green Bay 27-

7, Chicago beat New Orleans 24-10, Pittsburgh topped Houston 13-7, Denver squeezed past Kansas City 17-14, Los Angeles held off Detroit 16-14 and Philadelphia defeated San Diego 13-7.

Safety Ray Brown returned an intercepted pass 59 yards for the only touchdown to give Atlanta its first win of the season.

Lamar Parrish returned a punt 90 yards for a touchdown and later scooped up a fumble and scrambled 47 yards for another touchdown to pace Cincinnati.

Ken Stabler threw three touchdown passes in the Oakland victory over the Browns. Spotting the Browns a 10-0 lead in the first four minutes, Stabler hit touchdown passes of 11 yards to Fred Biletnick and 45 yards to Clarence Davis in the first half and 10 yards to Cliff Branch in the third quarter.

Buffalo's Joe Ferguson and Jim Braxton stole the offensive show, from teammate O. J. Simpson in the Bills' win over Green Bay. The Packers put the clamps on Simpson through most of the game, but Ferguson completed 13 of 16 passes for 175 yards, and Braxton scored three touchdowns.

Running back Preston Pearson bulled nine yards for a decisive touchdown early in the fourth quarter for Pittsburgh's victory over Houston.

Rookie Jon Keyworth scored twice on short bursts in the second half to aid Denver's victory over Kansas City. Keyworth plunged over from the three for the go-ahead score with 10:49 left.

John Hadl became the eighth player in NFL history to complete 2,000 passes and guided Los Angeles on three long scoring drives to bring the Rams a hard-fought victory over winless Detroit. Despite the loss, Lions quarterback Bill Munson, who reached the 10,000-yard mark in career passing, was the individual standout, firing two four-minute touchdown passes to keep Detroit from being blanked. Munson completed 21 of 27 passes for 248 yards.

Geiberger wins Sahara tourney

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Slender veteran Al Geiberger, winless since capturing the 1966 PGA championship, ended an eight-year victory drought Sunday when he shot a 67 underpar 69 to win the $15,000 Sahara Invitational golf tournament by three shots.

Scoring the sixth triumph of his 15-year PGA career, the 37-year-old Santa Barbara, Calif., pro finished with a 72-hole total of 273 and captured the top prize of $27,000 to give him $83,561, his top money year ever.

Geiberger started the day in a three-way tie with Dave Hill and Romero Blancas for first place and had nines of 34-35, over the sun-soaked 8,800-yard Sahara-Nevada Country Club course.

There was a four-way tie for second place at 276 among the Hill brothers, Dave and Mike; Jerry Heard and Wally Armstrong.

Casper is winner in France

SAINT-NOM-LE-BRETECHE, France (UPI) — Billy Casper of the United States shot a one-over par 73 Sunday to beat out seven other top pro golfers and win France's fifth Tournament of Champions.

Casper, who opened with a 66 on the opening 66 on the first day of the tournament, which the French call the continent's most prestigious, earned $17,000 for his 72-hole total of 283.

U.S. Open champion Hale Irwin birdied the final two holes for a 70 to overtake South Africa's Bobby Cole with a total of 286. Cole, who had a 71, was another nine back at 297.

Araold Palmer, with a final round 77, was next in the field at 298, followed by Jean Garalde, France, 299. Sam Snead and Ben Crenshaw of the U.S., both at 302, and Manuel Pinero, Spain, 304.

The Los Angeles Rams defeated the New York Giants 23-17 in an exhibition game in 1955 that was the first professional football game to be decided in a sudden death overtime period.

Reutemann drives to triumph

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (UPI) — Emerson Fittipaldi of Brazil won his second world driving championship in three years Sunday when he finished fourth in the United States Grand Prix race that was won by Carlos Reutemann of Argentina.

Fittipaldi, who entered the race tied with Clay Regazzoni of Switzerland, picked up three valuable points to finish with 55 for the year. Regazzoni, who had early mechanical problems, finished out of the top six and was deprived of winning his first world title.

Jody Scheckter of South Africa, the only other driver with a chance for the title, lost ground when his Tyrrell overheated on the 45th lap.

Reutemann, driving a Brabham, scored a 10.7 second victory over teammate Carlos Pace. Reutemann's speed was 112.15 miles per hour for the 59.19, 199-mile race.

James Hunt of England, second to Ronnie Peterson of Sweden here last year, finished third in a Hesketh. Fittipaldi's McLaren was fourth and Irishman John Watson in a Brabham was fifth-to-give Brabham one of its best finishes in recent years.

Mario Andretti, hoping to become the first American to win the U.S. Grand Prix after posting the third-fastest qualifying time, was forced to abandon his No. 3 position at the start of the race because of spark box problems. The courageous Nazareth, Pa., driver made a delayed start at the rear of the 25-car field but was black flagged off the course after two laps when he couldn't get his Parcell to function properly.

Mark Donohue of Reading, Pa., the only other American in the race, was forced out at the 29th lap when his Penske racer developed rear suspension problems.

Reutemann was the pole winner and never gave up his number one spot throughout the race. He was challenged by Hunt for the first 50 laps, but the Briton couldn't maintain the pace and allowed Pace to slip by in the last two laps to take second money.

Reutemann won the richest purse of his career when he collected $50,000 in the $300,000 event, the richest road race in the world.

Fittipaldi, once Regazzoni was forced into the pits for a 60-second tire change, knew he had the title won if he could just keep his car in the top six. The canny driver, often likened to a smooth boxer, never pressed his McLaren harder than he needed, apparently just content to finish up high and grab the championship that Jackie Stewart of Scotland wrestled from him last year.

Patrick Depailler finished sixth in a Tyrrell and Jochem Mass of Germany was seventh in a McLaren, the only other drivers to end the race on the same lap as Reutemann.

Ron Cey leads Dodgers to 2-0 playoff margin

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Ron Cey, so fit the past few weeks the best of his series, made the Pittsburgh Pirates' week ever-worse Sunday with a booming bat that looked anything but sick.

Cey, the diminutive dandy with a beard that belies his 5-foot-9 frame, collected a homer, single and a pair of doubles to lead the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 5-2 triumph over the Pirates in the second game of the National League playoffs.

The triumph was the second in a row for the Dodgers in the best-of-five series and moved them to within one game of clinching their first pennant since 1966.

Cey, who admitted he played one of his worst games over the past Saturday when he committed two errors in the Dodgers' opening game 3-0 triumph, hit a solo homer in the fourth inning Sunday but it was his triple double in the eighth that ignited a three-run rally which proved decisive.

"I've had a virus the last two weeks and was not feeling up to par," Cey admitted. "I didn't miss any playing time but developed an ulcerated tongue and didn't eat. I lost about six pounds. It's hard to say if it's significant, but I pitched to a ligament today, from a 34ouncer to a 32. When you get tired you have a tendency to up/reut. I was much quicker today."

"I was really disappointed in my play Saturday. That's the first time I had two errors in a game. I had a feeling that I was the worst player in the game. I've changed gloves today." Cey, who batted .302 against the Pirates during the regular season, triggered the Dodgers' winning rally in the eighth with a double off reliever Dave Giusti, who was roused up by Los Angeles for the second straight day.

The Dodgers, who had blown scoring opportunities against Rooker in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings, then completed their big inning with successive run-scoring singles by pinchhitter Manny Mota and Dave Lopes.

It was, however, the poor defensive play of catcher Manny Sanguillen which contributed as much as anything to the Dodger rally. After Cey doubled to lead off the inning, Bill Russell bunted in front of the plate and Sanguillen's throw to third was too late to get Cey, who scored subsequently on Crawford's bloop-single to left.

Russell, who advanced to second on Crawford's single, found himself on third moments later. Later when Sanguillen tried to pick him off second and threw the ball into centerfield, Mota, batting for Messersmith, followed with a single to right to score Russell and his glove greeted reliever Larry Demery with another run-scoring hit.

Mike Marshall, Jaseball's top reliever this season, took over and blanked the Pirates over the last two innings to preserve the win for Messersmith. The Pirates, who had failed to score a run in 15 innings in this series, finally awoke from their slumber in the seventh inning with a pair of runs as pinch-hitters Paul Popovich and Richie Zisk came through with key hits.

Popovich, batting for Mario Mendoza, singled to lead off the inning and Zisk, hitting for Rooker, followed with another single. A sacrifice bunt by Rennie Stennett moved the runners into scoring position and Popovich broke the Pirates' scoreless drought by doubling off reliever Dave Giusti. Al Oliver got the tying run home when he singled off Cey's glove.

The Dodgers' came very close to breaking the game open in the first inning but Rooker pitched out of a bases-loaded jam by retiring Cey and Russell. Rooker, who has a history of first inning blues, walked Lopes to start the game and Bill Buckner followed with a single to right sending Lopes to third. Rooker got Jim Wynn of a fly to center but Steve Garvey, the Dodgers' top RBI man this season with 411, came through with a single to center to score Lopes.

Joe Ferguson then walked to lead the bases and the Pirates contemplated removing Rooker as Pitching Coach Don Osborn visited the mound. Given a second chance, Rooker, a hero during and retired Cey on a pop to first and got Russell on a soft liner to second.

Cey's homer in the fourth was the only other run the Dodgers managed until the eighth, although they blew numerous scoring opportunities.

Pittsburgh had runners on base in each of the first six innings against messersmith, but two double plays helped him out of jams.

Cey became only the second man in NL playoff history to collect four hits in one game. Bob Robertson of the Pirates did in 1970.

Other Dodgers also liked their chances of winning it all, if not in Wednesday's third game, certainly by Wednesday or Thursday. "Honestly, said center fielder Jim Wynn, "all we wanted to do was go back to the West Coast with a split. Now, the confidence is overflowing." "I was glad to see Cey come out of it," said a smiling Dodger Manager Walt Alton. "I think he's a better ballplayer than people give him credit for."

Fans wait for homer

BALTIMORE ORIOLES left fielder Don Baylor goes up high in the air as he vainly reaches for ball hit by Oakland A's third baseman Sal Bando in the fourth inning Sunday in Oakland. The ball went into bleacher stands for a homer (arrow points to ball). Note sign on fence saying "Make It Happen," flanked by A's symbols. (UPI Telephoto).

Holtzman stars in A's victory to even series

OAKLAND (UPI) — Ken Holtzman wasn't Manager Al Dark's favorite pitcher during most of 1974, but he had to be Sunday, pitching a 5-0, five-hit shutout for the Oakland A's that evened the American League playoffs against Baltimore at a one-victory apiece.

Holtzman, a 10-year veteran who won 18 games for Dark and the A's this year, didn't see eye to eye with his manager most of the time, and especially when he thought he was being lifted from a game too soon.

"That's something else altogether," Holtzman said Sunday. "These are the playoffs and it's like a different season."

Homers by Sal Bando and a run-scoring triple by Joe Rudi provided Holtzman with the help he needed in stopping the Orioles, a team he lost to three times in 1974.

"I wasn't concerned about going the distance," Holtzman said. "My intention was to throw as hard as I could for as long as I could. You don't think of these games in terms of the end (personal rest)."

Holtzman gave up a single to Andy Elchebarran in the third, then retired 16 batters in order before two-out singles in the eighth by Enos Cabell and Elchebarran got him into mild trouble. But he got out of that jam and another eight one in the ninth for the victory that put the A's 6-3 leads in the Orioles in the playoff opener, back into the picture.

Cabell in the eighth was the only Oriole to get as far as second on Holtzman, who struck out three batters and walked two. Two double plays, including one in the ninth, plus three fine running catches by center fielder Billy North prevented trouble. Bando, who had 22 homers in the regular season, drilled a low liner over the left field fence in the fourth after being given a life by the usually astounded Bobby Grich, who dropped Sal's high foul pop-up behind first for an error.

A walk and wild pitch put North on second with two out in the sixth and Rudi, a 99 RBI man in 1974, followed with a triple off the right centerfield fence. Both these runs came off Baltimore starter Dave McNally, the loser in the second game of the 1973 playoffs as well, also against Oakland. In the eighth, with Bob Reynolds on the mound, Gene Tenace walked and stole second after two out, Claudell Washington reached on an error by shortstop Frank Baker and then Fosse, fighting to regain his form after being sidelined for two months with an injury, rifled a long homer to left off Grant Jackson.

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Improve home and family affairs in a.m. and get basic matters in better shape... Later, sidestep all arguments, take care of your health and avoid trouble.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study into some new outlet, but don't put in operation just yet. Establish more harmony in home and with family.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Set up appointments early and keep them on time; then get caught up on your important correspondence. Do nothing foolish tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Work out a better plan for your practical and more-affair-savvy, then be sure to economize. Follow ideas of a clever business expert.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Handle personal affairs in a.m. Problems may arise that require quick thinking and acting to solve later. Plan future.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Gain the aid of good pals for some project in a.m. since later you have to tend to business exclusively. Postpone action on what you want.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Mornings a best time to make new friends, but the afternoon is not good at all for such, so pretend to be busy. Take a good rest at lunch.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Make a fine impression on a bigwig before you get at your work, then all flows more smoothly and you get more benefits.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Put those new and good ideas to work in a.m. Correspondence can bring the results you are seeking, so get that done, too.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have fine hunches in a.m., so jot them down. Listen to what mate says, then mull over in your mind to know what to do.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Cement bonds with closest ties in a.m., then be active in some new venture. Reconciliation with one who opposes you is possible. Stand up for your rights.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) All those duties ahead of you require careful planning now and wise performance. Stop talking so much and get to work.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Fine morning to make intelligent future plans and to get your hobbies working more efficiently. Not a good evening to get into the limelight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... He or she will be one of those clever young people whose career will start early in life and much progress made before 40. Encourage to work hard, since the latter part of life is apt to be quite slow, and there could be hardship if the nest isn't feathered early. The field of merchandising is fine. A good business head here, and business college would be excellent. Teach to follow own religion for best results.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

What's What

L. M. Boyd

Client asks if anybody ever really faints. It happens. A medical man once told me why. The fainter really wants to run away. So much blood then goes to the muscles to enable such flight that too little blood gets to the brain. Circumstances prevent the would-be runaway from lighting out. And it's too late, anyway. The blackout comes. Or such be the theory.

ODDS AGAINST successful rejuvenation after a vasectomy reportedly now run about 10 to one... IT'S CUSTOMARY for an elderly Eskimo to change his name to make a late new start... TWO THIRDS of the nation's counties have no psychiatrists in residence... CAN STILL find no contradiction to the claim that alcoholics rarely have hair on their chests... "WRITING free verse is like playing tennis with the net down," said Robert Frost.

BRIDAL VEIL. That piece of netting known as the bridal veil has its history too. Started out as a sack over her head, be it known. Those old boys carried off those old girls in rather an abrupt manner sometimes. Or so our Love and War man reports.

Q. "WHAT SORT of military discharge does a person get if kicked out of the service for homosexuality?"
A. Less than honorable. Couple thousand men a year are separated for such cause.

YOUNG FELLOW, if you show up at the Singapore Airport with overlong hair, guards there arc authorized to confiscate your passport, and not return it until you get a haircut.

LINCOLN No, Abraham Lincoln was not particularly conscious of the mole on his cheek. A client asks about that. At age 50, Lincoln wrote of himself as follows: "If any personal description of me is thought desirable, it may be said I am in height 6 feet 4 inches, nearly; lean in flesh, weighing on an average, 180 pounds; dark in complexion, with coarse black hair and gray eyes. No marks or brands recollected."

SIR, YOU HEAR a lot about Switzerland's numbed bank accounts for the sake of secrecy - but in fact only about 4 per cent of all Swiss accounts are numbed, remember.

IT'S CALLED "taresthesia" in medical talk when your foot goes to sleep.
