Iran rejects Islamic peace mission

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI) — Iraq mounted fierce tank and air attacks on the vital Iranian port of Khorramshahr Friday, and Iran's Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai Friday rejected a bid by the 40-nation Islamic Conference to mediate a cease-fire in the five-day-old war.

Earlier, the secretary general of the Islamic Conference Habib Chaltly told reporters both Iran and Iraq agreed after an hour-long meeting to receive a two-man mediation team.

Habib and Pakistan President Mohammad Zia Ul-Haq were to leave for the Iraqi and Iranian capitals this weekend to begin talks.

The peace initiative, however, did not end the fighting that escalated fiercely on the fifth day of the war with Iraqi tank, artillery and air assaults on besieged Khorramshahr. Iraq admitted its announcement yesterday of the fall of that city had been "premature."

An unusually frank communique from Tehran said Iranian forces were joined by the citizens of Khorramshahr in defending the beleaguered city "on all sides, in the streets, on rooftops."

Iran claimed that Iraqi forces were retreating from the areas of Qasr-e-Shirin and Sar-pole Zohab, about 300 miles north of Khorramshahr. Sar-pole Zohab is 20 miles inside Iranian territory.

Soviets promise restraint

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The Soviet Union has promised not to intervene in the Persian Gulf war between Iran and Iraq, but only so long as other countries do not become involved in the conflict, U.S. officials said Friday.

The officials said the promise was delivered to Secretary of State Edmund Muskie by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko when the two met Thursday for 3 1/2 hours of talks on the Persian Gulf crisis.

Muskie said after the meeting that both sides had pledged to stay neutral, but he did not mention the condition Gromyko had added.

The officials quoted Gromyko as saying: "The Soviet Union will not intervene, so long as other nations do not do so."

The Muskie-Gromyko conversation, the officials said, was general and Muskie did not probe to see if the Soviets would regard an international effort to keep the crucial Strait of Hormuz open as "interference."

The United States has been exploring that idea with its western European allies and also has it with Australia.

H & W to review renovation plan

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer
TWIN FALLS — Two Idaho Department of Health and Welfare staffers are expected to complete a detailed review of proposed renovation and expansion of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital today.

Hospital Administrator William Burns said the two include a senior staff assistant to DHW Director Milton Klein, who makes the final decision on state approval of the proposed hospital renovation and expansion.

The Idaho Health Systems Agency responsible for reviewing all hospital expansions in the state did not recommend approval, saying the expansion would add more beds to the local area than are needed.

The successful contractor will serve as construction manager of the project. Barkdale also came to Twin Falls to assist in selecting the successful bidder, who will be chosen by himself and other HAI officials.

Proposals for the improvement include increasing the hospital capacity from the present 145 to 190 beds. The HSA report said the added beds would create a costly surplus.

Manhunt begins for sniper suspect

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Police searching for Joseph Franklin, a suspect in the sniper killings of two black men in Salt Lake City, believe he may have cut and changed the color of his hair since his escape from a Kentucky authorities Thursday.

About 5 1/2 hours later, according to police, Franklin escaped from a window in the interrogating room when the officer who was questioning him was called out for a period of only about 30 seconds.

6 found guilty of rustling

VICTORIA, Texas (UPI) — A Calhoun County grand jury Friday indicted five men and a woman for leading about 130 cattle, apparently to raise money for college.

The rustling began in January after a rodeo in Victoria and spread to eight area ranches. Preston Stifer, director of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, said the six were rodeo hands trying to raise college money. Stifer said groups of three would steal the cattle and sell them at auctions.

Bomb kills 9 at Oktoberfest

MUNICH, West Germany (UPI) — At least nine people, including one child, were killed and up to 100 more injured when a bomb exploded in a waste basket near the main entrance to the Munich Oktoberfest late Friday just before closing time, police said.

Rescue services raced to the scene in their biggest operation since Israeli athletes were killed in a guerrilla attack at the 1972 Munich Olympic Games. A spokesman for Munich's fire brigade said "at least" 100 people were injured. A police spokesman said four hours after the blast he knew of only 87 people injured in the bomb attack.

Citizens reported feeling the force of the blast several miles away. Police said it was not known what caused the explosion, the first such catastrophe ever to strike the Munich Oktoberfest that regularly draws tens of thousands of American and other tourists to the city.

Suspect arrested in beating

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — A suspect was arrested Friday in the beating of a 1942 Bataan Death March survivor who was walking from Indiana to Nevada to raise money for muscular dystrophy.

George R. Jennings, 21, of Mesquite, Nev., was caught on Sunday Local 10 on charges of robbery and battery with intent to commit robbery. He was ordered held on $25,000 bond. He was accused of beating Delbert Beem, 62, of Knox, Ind., early this week, shortly after Beem started on his route to Las Vegas. Police said a juvenile local authorities he witnessed the beating.

Beem left Starke County, Ind., June 16 on an 1,800-mile trek to Las Vegas in hopes of reaching southern Nevada in time for the Labor Day Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon.

Mt. St. Helens 'burps'

VANCOUVER, Wash. (UPI) — Mount St. Helens spewed a couple of steamy "burps" skyward Friday, sending a plume up to 15,000 feet, but geologists said it was not an eruption.

Meanwhile, the crater's north side, swelling at the rate of approximately half an inch a day, has expanded nearly 2 feet in about a month. Don Peterson, U.S. Geological Survey scientist in charge at the volcano watch-center, said the steam blasts and gradual swelling inside the crater "means the mountain has plenty of life." However, he said it was expected that should another major eruption occur, it would be preceded by several hours of warning signals—such as major earthquake activity, a high rate of harmonic tremors and a change in the types of gases—issuing from the volcano.

Cult deprogrammer gets jail

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Religious cult deprogrammer Ted Patrick, praised by a federal judge and a police chief, was sentenced to a year in jail and was placed on probation for five years and fined $5,000 Friday for the kidnaping of a Tucson, Ariz., woman.

A jury convicted Patrick on Aug. 8 of kidnaping and conspiracy in the March 1980 abduction of Victoria Riefke, 26, of Tucson, Ariz. Ms. McElfish was suspected by her family of being a member of a small, obscure Tucson cult known as the "Wesley Thomas Family." She testified she was never a member of that cult and was, instead, a practicing Roman Catholic.

Never argue with a cabbage

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (UPI) — A passenger who argued with a taxi driver about a $80 fare probably wishes he had kept quiet. Police became suspicious and arrested the man for possession of 126 pounds of hashish.

William R. Barrett of the Illinois Division of Criminal Investigation said it was the biggest hashish bust in the St. Louis area. "We estimate it has a wholesale value of about $200,000 and a street price of up to half a million," Barrett said. "The DEA (Drug Enforcement Administration) agent says it appears to be from Afghanistan or Lebanon."

John Wilhelm, 31, was charged Friday with possession of hashish with intent to sell. Barrett described Wilhelm as "something more than a messenger or carrier."

Jenrette denies taking bribe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. John Jenrette, D-S.C., his voice sometimes quivering, took the witness stand Friday to deny he ever got $50,000 to introduce a private immigration bill for a fictitious Arab sheik.

Jenrette and Stowe were charged with conspiring to accept $100,000 in exchange for introducing a private immigration bill for a fictitious Arab sheik. Jenrette said he got a "package" two days later.

Jenrette said he left the Dec. 4 meeting very "nervous." "I thought I was into something I couldn't handle," said Jenrette, who spent two hours testifying Friday and is expected to testify Tuesday. "I did not" take telephone calls, Jenrette asks undercover agents about investigating in the resort.

between a rock and a hard place." The rock, as it turns out, was a recent unwritten agreement by Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill, D-Mass., and House members, banning roll-call votes after 6 p.m.

"By doing this we made sure Carr was shown to be at blame," Swift said Thursday. The bill has been shifted for early consideration Monday. The next available full day of work in the House.

Today's weather

Windy weather but pleasant temperatures forecast

Twin Falls, Burley-Rupert, and Gooding-Vernonia areas: Variable clouds, mostly high, through Sunday. Local brisk westerly winds to 15 mph during the afternoon. Overnight lows in the 40s; daytime highs in the 70s to low 80s. Halley, Camas Prairie, and Wood River Valley: Variable, mostly high, clouds through Sunday. Local brisk west winds across the prairie today and Sunday afternoon. Overnight lows mostly in the 30s, daytime highs in the upper 60s to mid 70s. Sprague: A high pressure ridge continued to dominate the Gem state Friday afternoon as fair weather prevailed. There was some middle to high-level cloudiness in western Idaho Friday, which gradually moved into eastern Idaho in the afternoon.

Satellite and radar both indicated non-significant low level cloudiness or showers associated with the middle to high level cloudiness over the state. There are no reports of rainfall in the entire northwest Friday. Spraying forecast shows winds increasing to 10 to 15 mph by this afternoon.

Pan evaporation is expected to be .22 today and .18 Sunday. The harvest outlook, including hay and potatoes, Monday through Wednesday, shows mostly dry, with near normal temperatures. Good curing conditions. Light to moderate morning dew. The four-inch soil temperatures will be all above 45 degrees.

Radioactive gas leaks from nuclear underground test

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Radioactive gas from a nuclear test explosion leaked from a huge underground cavern on the Nevada Test Site northwest of Las Vegas Friday and drifted five miles south of the blast area, a government spokesman disclosed.

Scientists identified the radioactive gas as xenon — a rare gas produced by nuclear fission.

Department of Energy spokesman Dave Jackson said xenon does not combine with other elements or form acids. A seepage of iodine, which gets into milk supplies, or tritium, which combines with water, would have been considered more serious a threat to the environment.

The last leak of the gas into the atmosphere occurred at 4:30 a.m. Friday according to David Miller another DOE spokesman.

"We have not determined the cause of the seepage nor the exact amount, but it is extremely low," Miller said.

The radioactive gas by late Friday was measurable within a 3,000 square foot radius of ground zero, the DOE said.

"We will keep monitoring the area for several days. We routinely would monitor for 48 to 72 hours following any nuclear detonation," said DOE spokesman Dave Jackson.

"We feel certain the radioactive gas eventually will dissipate," said Jackson.

The radioactive gas was detected near ground zero about 12 hours after scientists triggered two underground tests in close succession Thursday morning.

The leak came from a weapons test codenamed Riola, which was detonated at 8:26 a.m.

The plant used the Environmental Protection Agency, equipped with special radiation monitors, flew over ground zero collecting air samples.

The radioactive xenon 131 and 132 was found within a five-mile radius of ground zero and remained well within the boundaries of the sprawling Nevada Test Site located 90 miles northwest of Las Vegas, officials said.

Riola was the second of two announced underground nuclear tests within a 45-minute period. Each test had a yield of 20 to 100 kilotons, the maximum equivalent of 150,000 tons of TNT.

The tests are within the limits of the threshold treaty negotiated between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The last announced leak from a test was Nov. 24, 1971, when a small amount of radioactive gas was measured off the Nevada Test Site.

Buffalo police baffled by senseless murders

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Police seeking a white man who killed three black men and critically wounded a fourth in execution-style shootings said Friday there was a possibility the killer might have been motivated by the movie "Death Wish."

"Whether we are dealing with a psychopath or someone with a death wish, we don't know," said Donovan, a veteran homicide investigator. "All the victims have been black males. Whether or not he has a grudge or a hate for black people, we don't know at this time."

A radio station posted a $1,000 reward for information leading to the man responsible for the shootings, which occurred over a 36-hour period in the Buffalo area.

In the four Buffalo-area shootings, the gunman walked up and shot his victims in the head from point-blank range.

The four victims did not know each other and did not have obvious criminal backgrounds. In at least one of the attacks, the gunman fired the gun through a paper bag.

"I was hoping we'd see some work from him," said Buffalo homicide chief Leo Donovan. "If he would talk, maybe we could get him to realize that he's not going to come to any harm here, but he has to stop hurting innocent people."

Ballistics tests confirmed that the same .22-caliber automatic handgun was used in the killings of Gordon Green, 32, of Buffalo, and Joseph McCoy, 43, of Niagara Falls, police said.

Authorities said the gun was also used in the wounding of Harold Jackson, 32, of Buffalo, who was in critical condition.

The first victim, Dunn, was shot Monday night as he sat in a stolen car in a supermarket parking lot Buffalo's East Side. Thomas was shot the following night as he walked on a street, about seven blocks from where Dunn was slain.

Green was wounded Tuesday while sitting in his car eating lunch in the parking lot of a restaurant in Cheektowaga. McCoy was gunned down in broad daylight Wednesday as he walked along a street in Niagara Falls.

The movie police was advanced by the movie police mainly because the Charles Bronson movie "Death Wish" was shown on television last weekend and the first attack occurred Monday.

But Donovan said the shooting spree "doesn't fit with the movie. In the movie he set himself up as a decoy and then shot his victims."

"If he has a death wish, will he stop? Does he think he has satisfied himself or what? Donovan asked."

Reactor leaks gas

HADDAM, Conn. (UPI) — Radioactive gas leaked from the Connecticut-Yankee nuclear power plant for more than three minutes Friday. Officials said the leak posed no health hazard.

Northeast Times spokesman Anthony Nerello said a small quantity of gas was released into the atmosphere when a chemical technician taking water samples accidentally opened the wrong valve and gas seeped from the plant for 3 1/2 minutes.

Nerello said the leak exceeded environmental limits for instantaneous gas release, but an audit of the level of radioactivity at the plant's boundary did not exceed federal safety limits.

Nuclear 'source' lost

UPTON, N.Y. (UPI) — The Brookhaven National Laboratory said Friday an inventory has revealed the loss of a small "nuclear source" similar to the kind used in atomic heart pacemakers.

The loss posed no health hazard because of the very low radiation levels the material gives off and scientists at the federal laboratory believe the source is on the Brookhaven grounds, a spokesman said.

To avoid federal bankruptcy

Senate budget slashing cuts CETA

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Debating a stopgap funding measure to prevent the government from going to a halt, the Senate agreed Friday to reduce a public service jobs program by about 100,000 jobs.

The Senate agreed by voice vote to reduce the amount of federal money for the Comprehensive Education and Training Act — a program of federally-funded temporary jobs left over from the 1974-75 recession from about $1.3 billion to $750 million until new legislation can be considered later this year.

The job amendment was attached to legislation that will allow the government to continue meeting its financial obligations and paying its employees until Congress resumes work in mid-October after the presidential election.

Although the government is funded on an October-through-September business year, Congress has not yet approved spending levels for the fiscal year that starts Oct. 1.

The House last week agreed to continue federal funds at next year's proposed appropriation levels until Dec. 15 or until Congress can approve more permanent funding legislation, whichever comes first.

The Senate will complete action on its continuing funding resolution Monday, although its proposed spending levels are much lower than those approved by the House.

The Senate version would continue funding at current levels, with a few exceptions. Interim defense spending, for example, would be continued at the higher appropriation levels proposed for fiscal 1981.

Once approved by the Senate, differences between the two bills will have to be worked out in a conference with the House next week before the two chambers recess for a month and a half. Without the interim funding legislation, the government would be temporarily bankrupt.

under a Carter-Reagan-Anderson confrontation. Mondale and Lacey also have accepted.

But James Baker, who heads Reagan's debate team, said in a letter to the league that Bush "feels as Governor Reagan does, that your proposal for presidential debates is unfair — under the circumstances, it would be inappropriate for him to participate in a debate under your sponsorship other than as a part of a series of presidential debates."

"I'm just being consistent with what my position was," Reagan said. "I feel that it's only fair to include with Reagan first."

Baker called Carter's record on debates one of "arrogance and broken promises."

Powell noted that while Reagan says it is not fair to leave Anderson out of a debate, Anderson himself has accepted the latest league offer.

"They (Reagan and his aides) have up until this point been attempting to hide behind Mr. Anderson to avoid a face-to-face debate with the president," Powell said. "Their duplicity is obvious in the extreme."

Powell also said that Carter is willing to take part in a five-way debate involving Reagan, Anderson, Citizens Party candidate Barry Commoner and Libertarian party candidate Ed Clark — if the president gets a one-on-one with Reagan first.

Baker called Carter's record on debates one of "arrogance and broken promises."

Negotiations with the Met break down

NEW YORK (UPI) — Negotiations between Metropolitan Opera musicians and management broke down Friday under the threat the entire 97th season would be canceled Monday.

No new contract talks were scheduled, said I. Philip Speer, lawyer for Local 802 of the American Federation of Musicians. The last meeting was Thursday.

"I think cancellation would be unfortunate. It is considered a threat and non-conducive to negotiations," he said. "I think it would be unfortunate."

Speer said the only item agreed upon so far is a four-year contract.

The Met failed to open the season Monday because of a continuing dispute over the number of performances in a week.

The musicians currently perform five times a week, but that has been reduced to four, which they say is common among other orchestras.

Thieves take $1.5 million in gems

MILLINOCKET, Maine (UPI) — Diamonds and assorted jewels valued at $1.5 million were stolen late Thursday or early Friday from a jewelry store in the U.S.-Canadian border town of Millinocket by thieves police described as "professionals."

Police said evidence showed several men tore through the wall of the adjoining Beeline Cable T.V. outlet overnight to enter Ferland's Jewelry Store on the town's major thoroughfare.

Owner Melvin Ferland discovered the burglary when he opened the store at 9 a.m.

The thieves smashed an 16-foot-wide sheetrock wall, shoved aside a wood and glass jewelry showcase and tipped off the steel doors of two safes containing "hundreds of diamonds, gold rings and sapphires," Det. John C. Picard said.

Investigators believe the thieves used a crowbar to pry open the safes, which were in the jeweler's work area in the rear of the store.

Picard said the burglars rewired the alarm systems attached to the jewelry store's doors and escaped through the back entrance.

"It's the biggest theft we've ever had around here," Picard said. "We know it was done by professionals."

"We have no idea how many people pulled this off, and we have no idea where they are," he said. "We don't believe they're in this vicinity."

Picard said Ferland estimated the jewels' worth at $1.5 million.

Leon said the hidden room smelled of feces and urine, lacked any light fixtures, five boxes or laundry facilities and the residents' personal belongings were kept in cardboard boxes or paper bags on the floor.

The surprise inspection of the home was staged after health inspectors received an anonymous telephone call.

Found behind secret panel

Inmates hidden in home for retarded

BRANCHVILLE, N.J. (UPI) — Officials are trying to revoke the license of a home for the mentally retarded where unauthorized residents allegedly were hidden in filthy conditions in crowded rooms behind a false wall panel, authorities said Friday.

Mitch Leone, spokesman for the state Department of Health, said a hearing was being held by an administrative judge in Newark on the state's proposal to remove the sheltered care license of the Blair Haven home.

The home, owned by Thomas and Bertha Coover, is licensed to accommodate 62 residents.

But when state inspectors conducted an unannounced visit to the home Aug. 22, they found a false wall panel on the third floor, behind which was a hidden room where nine unauthorized residents were kept in squalid conditions, Leone said.

One resident had a fused spine and had to be carried through the door, he said. All were wearing filthy clothes and were forced to "sleep on mattresses on the floor, one of which was so worn the coils were showing."

Leone said previous inspections of the facility failed to uncover the chamber.

A lemon

EPA memo says steel industry not worth saving

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An internal Environmental Protection Agency memo made public by Pennsylvania's two Republican senators Friday describes the U.S. steel industry as "a lemon industry" unworthy of government subsidies.

The memo, written by EPA planning chief William Drayton and sent to the agency's administrator, Douglas Costle, was obtained by Sens. John Helms and Richard Schweiker and released to the press.

The administration plans to announce next week a program of relief that includes relaxed and relaxation of pollution regulations to "revitalize" the ailing domestic steel industry.

The memo, which the senators said was written July 10, suggests that Costle raise questions within the administration about the value of helping the industry raise $2 billion in capital. It says it needs over the next five years.

The document was prepared for Costle before he was to meet with Commerce Secretary Philip Klutznick, Labor Secretary Ray Marshall and Treasury Secretary G. William Miller — who were instrumental in drawing up the new administration policy, the senators said.

"There was no evidence the administration is acting, or failing to act, on the basis of Drayton's memo."

It did, however, contain some blunt language about the future of the steel industry.

"To offer subsidies to an industry in which the United States no longer has a competitive advantage would be the worst possible economic policy," it said. "It would drain our resources and put us firmly on the path toward lemon socialism."

"A rational policy would allow the industry to gradually decrease in size, to inaugurate programs to provide treatment of relief to displaced workers and decreased communities and to provide incentives for diverting our resources to more promising industries."

The EPA issued a statement saying the memo "reflects but one perspective of the future of the industry, the perspective which is not shared by either the agency or the administrator."

"Among economists, there is a wide divergence of opinion on the economic future of the steel industry. The staff memorandum falls within the speculative range of opinion. At EPA, we encourage such free expression of opinion, none of which in particular may reflect agency or administration policy," it said.

Drayton's memo said: "The steel industry is obviously in trouble, but the solution is not to provide the industry with a guaranteed market. Except for that portion needed for our defense purposes the industry should be left to compete with our other industries for capital resources."

Such a policy will most likely lead to the gradual decline of the industry and the unfortunate unemployment and community impacts that result. The transition will be painful, but not nearly as painful as the depressed state of the economy that would result from continually having to prop up a lemon industry."

admitted to two attacks on Mosul three on Kirkuk and one on Al-Qayyarah... Iraq claimed its warplanes hit Tehran's oil refinery and inflicted "heavy damage" without losing a plane.

In Basra, where a major Iraqi oil installation has been under constant Iranian air bombardment, the city's three hospitals were jammed with wounded and flung at a petroleum storage facility.

Hospital officials told UPI that 150 civilians had been killed and 50 wounded since Monday, when 18 missiles of border-clashes erupted into full-scale war.

Iran admitted that Abadan with its huge oil refinery was under Iraqi bombardment.

A BBC correspondent reporting from just outside Abadan said its huge oil refinery "lies in ruins" and the war had caused "enormous economic damage."

He said "heavy clouds of smoke hang" over the city and "explosions of parts of the refinery were" exploding. "But he said Iranian forces still desperately defended the city and the battle for Abadan is far from over."

In an apparent Iranian propaganda bid to run down Iranian morale, reported Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini had died and said "to hell with him" in a broadcast.

The report and broadcast Khomeini's vociferous proof he was still alive.

Tehran Radio broadcast an "address to the nation and the Iranian and Iraqi armies" by Khomeini who said he was fighting "like the soldiers of early Islam" and had Allah on their side.

He gave them "the glad tidings that if you kill the enemy you will go to Heaven, and if they kill you, you will still go to Heaven."

Tehran announced a virtual total ban on road traffic during daylight hours to save fuel. It said all motorized vehicles except buses, taxis, emergency vehicles and trucks carrying food and medicine would be banned from all roads for a week starting Saturday between 6 a.m. and 11 p.m.

Ship traffic was reported still to be moving through the strategic Strait of Hormuz vital to the West—as the passage for most of its Persian Gulf oil.

But the flow of oil from Iraq through two pipelines to the West ceased for the first time since the start of its undeclared war with Iran five days ago. Export officials said that all of Iraq's 3 million barrel daily exports were now cut off.

Officials at the International Energy Agency said pipeline terminals in Iraq, Turkey and Syria had shut down. It was not immediately known if pipelines had been damaged or if Iraq shut them off.

A precautionary measure, the officials said.

Japanese reports said President Carter has proposed that the world's major powers meet to discuss ways to ensure safe navigation in the crucial Strait.

Iraqi armor advances against the Iranian port of Khorrammahar

Report from the front Basra burns, but city lives

By JOSEPH P. REAVES
United Press International

BASRA—Iraq—Of the dozen oil tankers at Basra, four have been destroyed and one is burning as this dispatch is being written. The thick smoke darkens the sky over this city of legend. An Iraqi soldier rides off to war on a bicycle, a rifle slung casually over his back.

If there is a bulwark for the war, it is Basra. Squatting on the Iraqi side of the Shatt al-Arab waterway, it has borne the brunt of the Iranian retaliation for the destruction of Abadan and the siege of Khorrammahar just across the waterway in Iran.

You can hear the thunder of that battle from here. Basra is also a "strategic" target, Iraq's main oil port leading to the Persian Gulf. Tell that to its civilians who crowd the creating beds of its hospitals.

The doctors say 150 civilians have been killed since Basra since the war began Monday. There are three hospitals in Basra and they are all full.

Iranian jets still occasionally swoop from the sky to strafe and destroy, as one just did moments ago. But the bombs have not fallen since Wednesday, giving Basra's citizens some respite.

Some have used the lull to get out. Kuwait is just a dusty road and a few sand dunes away and refugees have set up a tent city in the one-mile-wide stretch of no-man's land between the Kuwaiti border. They are the best fed (fashioned from blankets and pieces of rusty metal) still here, blowing in the wind and sand.

Material damage to Basra itself is light. The giant oil drums on the outskirts of the city have taken a beating. But the flat, drab buildings still stand, or rather squat along the dusty streets.

To its 311,000 residents it is home. And many have chosen to stay despite the threat of more Iranian air raids. They go about their daily business, occasionally glancing up nervously at the skies and trying to ignore the sounds of small arms and sporadic artillery fire heard across the waterway.

They mark their news from the radio. A young man was listening to Tehran radio broadcasting a venomous denial of a Baghdad radio report that Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini had died.

"Well, he is an old man," said the young one. "He will die soon anyway."

Many of the troops going across the strait to war leave from here. Convoy of flatbed trucks carry supplies and ammunition to the front, passing lines of green fire engines and red and silver water trucks parked along the roadside.

Soldiers in a hurry race down the road in camouflaged trucks and Japanese-made jeeps. Others go off to war the way an American kid might ride to school on his bicycle.

One soldier did just that, peddling casually down Basra's dirty main street on his battered bike, an AK-47 assault rifle swaying from his back.

In fact, the only ones who seem really excited about the war are the children, who stop in their tracks to wave at the soldiers until their mothers come to fetch them, scolding them all the way home.

War strikes 'Garden of Eden'

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI) — The battlefields of the 20th century's latest war are also the lands of legend, traditional sites of the Garden of Eden, the fiery Furnace of Daniel, Sinbad and the Arabian Nights.

The modern names are strange in Western ears—the beleaguered Iraqi port of Basra; Kirkuk, Mosul and Arbil in the northern Iraq oilfields the Iranians are trying to bomb; the western Iranian city of Hamadan with its own vulnerable oil base.

Under different names they were the birthplaces of some of man's most ancient history, legends and Biblical tales.

Basra, on the banks of the contested Shatt al-Arab waterway, is Iraq's lone link to the Persian Gulf, a city of so many canals that it is often called the "Garden of Eden."

Some 35 miles from the Gulf, Basra was the port from which Sinbad of the 1,001 Nights supposedly embarked on his seven journeys.

Just to Basra's north, where the Tigris and Euphrates rivers join to form the Shatt al-Arab, is a Quana, where man first constructed settlements 9,000 years ago.

It is at al Quana that tradition places the site of the Garden of Eden. Baghdad, sits atop some of the Kirkuk, north of Baghdad, sits atop some of the wealthiest oil deposits in the world. Oil was not discovered there until 1927 but indications of its existence can be found in the Bible.

Near Kirkuk are the mysterious "eternal fires" — in fact the smoldering remains of a frequent companion of oil deposits — believed to be the fiery furnace of the Old Testament that Daniel had to face.

Kirkuk's sister town in the northern oil fields is Mosul, once famous for the manufacture of muslin, which derives its name from the word for silk.

Arbil is also in the north and is considered by some historians and archeologists to be the oldest constantly inhabited city in the world. It is first mentioned in 2,000 B.C. as Arbilium.

Hamadan, with its Keremshah and Khorramabad, formed the center of Iran's "golden triangle" near the embattled border with Iraq. Hamadan has played its role in history as summer capital for Cyrus the Great, site of the Treasury Mounds of Nush-e Bab.

Over the centuries, these cities and towns have figured in the wars of Cyrus, Darius, Alexander the Great, Persians and Turks and Meides, the Assyrians, Parthians and Selucids.

Things haven't changed much. Only the names and the methods of making war.

Castro abruptly halts further sealifts to U.S.

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — The five-month-old ragtag sealift of small pleasure craft and shrimp boats that Cuba brought north last year to help the United States was abruptly shut down Friday by Fidel Castro.

The order followed a Cuban warning last week to disgruntled refugees who had been hijacking planes to return to Cuba. Last year hijackers would be imprisoned in Cuba or sent back to the U.S.

The next day, two refugees hijacked a plane to Havana but in less than 24 hours they were returned to face air piracy charges in the United States.

Castro ended the sealift simply by closing the embarkation port of Mariel and kicking the remaining boats out.

Rep. Bill Nelson, D-Fla., said the White House told him early Friday Mariel had been closed as a result of direct Cuban-American negotiations at "the highest levels of government."

But a State Department spokesman said the Cuban government order was a unilateral action by Castro and there had been no communications between Havana and Washington.

"We have made clear all along we hoped this would happen," the spokesman said. "We have not negotiated for the sealift."

Reports from the first arrivals of some 60 boats expected to reach Key West Friday said Cuban military officers had ordered them Thursday to leave Mariel immediately without passports.

Post captain Romy Stuart of Key West and Carlos Casero of Tampa, Fla., said skippers of U.S. boats were told "they wanted us out immediately because the only refugees that would be allowed to come now would come by air."

In the five-month sea migration, the "Freedom Sealift" of some 3,000 boats transported 125,344 Cubans to Key West.

N. Korea cuts hotline

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — North Korea cut its hotline telephone link with South Korea Friday in an abrupt move that sent relations between the two Koreas plummeting to their lowest point in years, officials said.

The move came one day after the North just as abruptly broke off the long-standing reunification talks with the South to protest the repressive policies of new South Korean strongman President Chun Doo-Hwan.

South Korean officials said the two direct telephone circuits linking Seoul and Pyongyang, the two Korean capitals, stopped functioning at 11 p.m.

Before disconnecting the telephone lines, North Korea announced cancellation of unification talks and attacked Chun as "more vicious than the late president Park Chung-hee."

"Our relations are more chilled than before, maybe the most chilled in many years," a South Korean official said.

In a broadcast aired in Tokyo, North Korea said South Korea troops fired scores of rounds of ammunition from automatic weapons at a Northern outpost in the eastern sector of the 155-mile border Wednesday afternoon.

South Korean officials denied the charge.

Turkey dismisses all mayors

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI) — Turkey's military rulers Friday disbanded all city councils, dismissed 1,700 mayors in a single sweep and ordered all Turks to turn in their weapons during a 15-day grace period.

The moves were part of the junta's bid to assert unchallenged control over the nation and its provinces by shifting municipal administrations and keeping them on tight leash.

But in the capital, suspected leftists attacked two brothers and shot and killed one of them in an outburst of the kind of terrorism the junta has pledged to wipe out.

Bustards of soldiers and police rushed to the area to search for the killers whom security forces claimed to have identified.

Armed forces commanders who make up the ruling National Security Council dismissed about 1,700 local mayors and their councils because of accusations of corruption. The council already had ordered a purge of the tightly politicized civil service.

The leaders of the bloodless coup Sept. 12, which deposed Premier Suleyman Demirel, also decreed that all unregistered guns, knives, daggers, "strange" clubs and other lethal weapons should be surrendered to authorities within 15 days.

Anyone found with weapons after that time will be liable for a 10-year jail sentence, the junta said.

Private arsenals are common in Turkey, where 1,200 people have died in political violence this year.

Pope appeals for unity on Church policies

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John Paul II opened the Fifth Bishops Synod Friday, appealing for Roman Catholic unity on the Church's unchanged positions against artificial birth control, abortion and divorce.

The pope — assisted by archbishops from Argentina, India and Africa — said mass in the Vatican's Sixtine Chapel to pray for the success of the synod, which will break the 175-day spiritual leader of the world's 760 million Catholics in 1978.

"We seek today the unity which we should bring about during the assembly of the Synod of Bishops," the pope said during his homily.

The month-long meeting, titled "The tasks of the Christian family in the contemporary world," opened in the modern Paul VI auditorium with a brief invocation in Latin by the pope and an address by Czechoslovak Archbishop Jozef Tomko, the synod president.

Among the 218 bishops, 45 auditors and 100 non-religious experts invited to participate in the synod was Mother Teresa of Calcutta, who won the 1980 Nobel Peace Prize for her work among the poor of India and it is very right that lay people have been invited to participate," she said.

Mother Teresa said the meeting would be the first time that the child had come and let the child find peace.

Cardinal Terence Cooke, of New York, one of the church leaders in a country where most practicing Catholics overlook the ban on artificial birth control, said "the synod will encourage the Catholics in the United States to live in the way of the gospel."

Dr. Richard McBride and his wife Barbara, of Long Beach, Calif., who will report to the synod on their marriage counseling work, said the decision to allow lay Catholics to participate in the discussion was long overdue.

"Bishops can't know about married life, and that's only to their detriment. So the fact that people like us are here is very good," Mrs. McBride said.

The pope is expected to attend many of the sessions of the synod, which will also discuss drug addiction, the status of women, immigration and human rights.

Cosmonauts return to earth

MOSCOW (UPI) — A Cuban cosmonaut and his Soviet counterpart returned to Earth Friday, ending a week-long mission on the orbiting Salyut space laboratory, Soviet radio reported.

Arlando Tamayo Mendez and Yuri Romanenko left behind Soviet cosmonaut Leonid Popov and Valery Ryumin, who will break the 175-day manned space flight endurance record next Wednesday.

Tamayo and Romanenko landed in the Soviet republic of Kazakhstan about the Soviet Soyuz 33 capsule they went up in a week ago. An earlier crew's Soyuz-37 capsule will be used for future flights back to Earth.

A spokesman for the presidium of the Supreme Soviet said both cosmonauts will be declared Heroes of Socialist Labor, the nation's highest award.

The cosmonauts returned with data related to their space experiments in solar photography, the cultivation of "monocrystals of organic combinations" and physiological reactions to space flight.

Tamayo is the seventh non-Soviet cosmonaut sent into space as part of the Intercosmos program. Previous missions included spacemen from Hungary, Vietnam, East Germany, Poland, Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia.

Schmidt plans trip to U.S.

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, confident of victory in the Oct. 3 national election, said Friday he would visit the United States and possibly East Germany before the year is over.

Schmidt met reporters just two days after his opponent, Franz Josef Strauss of the Christian Democratic Union, announced his 11-point program and put relations with Washington at the top of the list.

Strauss accused Schmidt of neglecting "the trusting relationship" built up with Washington during conservative rule and said his first trip as chancellor would be to the United States to restore relations.

Schmidt said he would go to the United States Nov. 18 and would meet "with the American president."

Schmidt said it was unlikely his Social Democratic Party would poll enough votes to gain an absolute majority in the Bundestag. But he was confident that it would win by enough votes to allow him to continue as leader of the coalition government with the Free Democrats.

Schmidt said it was "possible" he would travel to East Germany this year for talks with Communist leader Erich Honecker.

Dr. Lamb

Eat less with a hernia

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Association

DEAR DR. LAMB — Do you have any diet for a person with hiatal hernia?

I've been getting terrible pains in my chest and went to the doctor to check for a gas bladder. He gave me an upper GI series X-ray and electrocardiogram. It seems like everything I eat either comes up and I have to retch it or else I have a sour stomach and I need to burp all the time.

I waited for several weeks and called my doctor's nurse and she checked the results of my tests and said the only thing I had was a small hiatal hernia that most people have and are not aware of. She said it would never go away unless operated on and that I just had to not eat spicy foods. I asked about coffee as I drink a lot of it, and she said that it was OK.

I asked if she could send me a diet and she said they didn't have one, but just to watch what I eat and if I got any pain to take some Domnamal tablets that they gave me. They didn't say anything about antacid pills which I just about live on.

I spent this money on X-rays and still don't know what to do. She said to lose weight but I don't know what type of diet to go on. I am overweight. I'm 5 feet 2 and weigh 150 pounds. Could you give me some information which would help?

DEAR READER — It sounds like you need quite a bit of help.

To start with, there's no special diet for hiatal hernia other than not to eat very large meals. You may need to eat frequent small meals to satisfy your nutritional requirements.

Any time you overload the stomach it's apt to leak back into the lower esophagus and cause the problems that you're describing.

I'm sending you the Health Letter No. 48, Hiatal Hernia, to give you more complete information on what you can do to control your symptoms. This includes keeping the head of the bed elevated, not wearing a tight belt or girdle and not lying down for at least two hours after eating.

Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1531, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Now I disagree entirely with the comment that coffee is OK. It certainly is not. It will increase the acid digestive juice formation by stomach and can even cause burning in the pit of the stomach in people who don't have a hiatal hernia.

I think you should stop at once and I would encourage you to avoid the decaffeinated products as well. The same goes for tea, colas and any beverage that contains caffeine.

You're absolutely right about the importance of losing weight. Anything inside the abdominal cavity that occupies space or creates pressure can help to push a small amount of the stomach through the hole in the diaphragm. That, in turn, can lead to symptoms.

As you'll see in the health letter on hiatal hernia that I'm sending you, antacids are frequently used to help relieve symptoms of burning associated with the hiatal hernia.

Roman Polanski is in Israel, seeking possible film subjects, his new $30 million film, "Pirates," and since Robert De Niro is in Tel Aviv as well, the Israeli press is speculating that he's a prime candidate to star. Both men were guests at a reception at the home of former Defense Minister Ezer Weizman, but Weizman is the first to admit he never heard of De Niro. Says he, "I never saw one of his films. He received 'Taxi Driver' and 'The Deer Hunter'."

SMOKED OUT

It wasn't much of a Rocky Mountain welcome for Rosemary Clooney. She wound up on the business end of an oxygen tank. She'd just finished doing her "4 Girls 4" revue with Helen O'Connell, Rose Marie and Margaret Whiting and had retired to her room at Denver's Brown Palace Hotel when a grease fire broke out in the kitchen. Smoke filled her room through the ventilation system and she had to be given oxygen. She recovered, with nothing worse than a sore throat.

COLLECTORS

Talk about inflation! Ronald J. Gillo just paid $180,000 for a dime

ROSEMARY CLOONEY
... oxygen in the Rockies

recently sold at auction for $145,000 — and he plans to sell it for $200,000. It's no ordinary dime. It's an 1894-S Liberty dime — one of only 24 ever minted. Historian James Johnson says the minting was a scam on the part of then San Francisco Mint Superintendent J. Daggett, out to reap a collector's bonanza. He gave three of the dimes to his daughter. She spent one of them on a dish of ice cream.

THE HUMAN FAMILY

The Roman Catholic church is preaching its concern for the family in terms of music these days. Spencer Cooke, archbishop of New York, has commissioned world-renowned religious composer C. Alexander Pedgley to write a musical liturgy for the Year of the Family. Pedgley says his aim is to show that the human family includes "the young and the old, the nameless, the sick, the poor and the neglected." He'll debut the new work Oct. 5 at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

FLAT DOGS

Susan Baker isn't really a revolutionary — but she is out to upset a hallowed American tradition. The Johns Hopkins University researcher says between 1970 and 1978, six Maryland children choked to death on hot dogs, because hot dog weenies are cylindrical. She'd like to use them flat. Instead — says, "Given the inventive mind of American manufacturers and inventors, they might find a solution to this problem." Besides, she adds, flat weenies would stay on the grill.

Pair discovered to be twins, now find out they are actually triplets

NEW YORK (UPI) — Eddy Galland, Robert Shafran and David Kellman said Friday that they have found out they are triplets. It is beautiful.

For Shafran, who pleaded guilty to charges in connection with the murder of an 83-year-old New Rochelle woman and is now on probation, the revelation that he had two twin brothers came at an added incentive in his efforts to rehabilitate himself.

It all started about two weeks ago when Shafran left his home in Scarsdale, N.Y., and went to Eddy Galland's home in New Hyde Park on Long Island to see his look-a-like.

Shafran, 19, found not only what he was looking for but that he and Galland, both adopted, were twins. Then, David Kellman, also adopted, saw their pictures in the newspaper, realized the similarity and got in touch with Shafran and Galland. That's when they found out they were triplets.

"I could not believe it," Eddy said on finding out he was a triplet. "I could not comprehend it. I sat there with my jaw hanging down for about 10 minutes. I was in total awe."

The reunion sequence started with Shafran going to Sullivan County Community College, a school Galland had attended the previous year. There, he was constantly called Eddy and this irked him.

Former friends of Eddy Galland at the school told Robert Shafran how to get in touch with the lookalike.

That's what prompted the journey to Long Island.

After their meeting they found they were born the same place on the same day, July 12, 1961, at Long Island Jewish Hospital. They also found out they were actually born quadruplets. The fourth died in childbirth. Subsequently they were adopted by separate families.

Shafran was charged in the 1978 slaying of Elodie Henschel at her Robbins Road home in New Rochelle and testified at the trial of his accused accomplice, Morgan Goodman, 19, that Goodman had killed the woman to get a diamond ring off her finger, which both later pawned.

Goodman was acquitted on a technically resulting from the judge's instructions to the jury and the judge, John Walsh, sentenced Shafran to five years probation providing he spends weekends working at a school for retarded and disabled children. The sentence was approved by Mrs. Henschel's family.

The triplets do not know their biological parents and say they are not particularly interested in who they were.

Inmate may have set record for sentences

NORFOLK (UPI) — An inmate accused of being a ring leader during an uprising at the city jail may have set a Virginia record for amassing prison sentences, a prosecutor said.

Thomas Moore, handcuffed and escorted by armed guards, walked out of Circuit Court Thursday with another sentence to bring the total to two life terms plus 1,056 years.

Despite the total, Moore will be eligible for parole in 29 years because the sentences are concurrent.

Circuit Judge Joseph E. Baker handed Moore a 30-year term for his role in the May 14 takeover of the city jail. Moore, 25, pleaded guilty to three abductions, attempted extortion of $100,000 and attempted escape from the jail.

Earlier this year, he received two life terms and 1,000 years for murder during commission of an armed robbery. He also had been sentenced to 26 years for robbing a restaurant.

"If it doesn't make a record, it should," said Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney William Rutherford.

Watch those arguments, disagreements over money, make longrange plans

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day for you to avoid arguments and disagreements over money and property matters. Look over your environment and make longrange plans for improvement.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Be more considerate of the needs of family members and establish more harmony at home. Avoid one who goes.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Do whatever will improve your health and appearance today and then you can accomplish more. Engage in favorite hobby.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Use wisdom in handling private affairs now and you keep out of trouble. Show that you are a capable person.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't rely on friends helping you during the day, since they are busy with own affairs. Improve your appearance.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be careful of your reputation today, especially in your own neighborhood. Be more willing to cooperate with others now.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study a new venture carefully before making any definite plans. Think along more constructive lines. Be happy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A good day to improve your surroundings. Go to influential persons who can give you important data you need.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be clever in handling anything of a civic nature today and gain added prestige. See that your personal life is well organized.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get busy attending to regular chores so you'll have more time for recreation later. Spend your money wisely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Good day to be of assistance to those who are having a difficult time. Find better ways of using your talents.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Show family members you have poles and avoid any arguments. A talent you have can be expressed at this time.

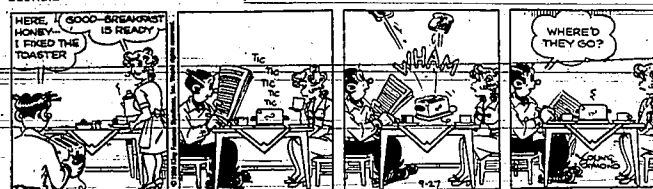

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Much care and caution has to be exercised in motion to avoid possible accident today. Put your talents to work.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who for young persons who can easily solve difficult problems; so be sure to send to schools these modern methods are taught in order to make the most of this ability. Teach good manners.

Divorce costs fathers more in Southern state

Divorced fathers in the South still generally are required to pay more child support money than divorced fathers in the North, research reveals. A reflection back to an earlier times, maybe, when it was a lot harder for southern women than northern women to get work.

Rule 46 of the Oxford Union Society in London decrees that no dog may be brought onto its premises. That rule also stipulates that any guide dog for the blind is a cat.

From the education of Leo Rosten: "I have learned that it is the weak who are cruel and that kindness is to be expected only from the strong."

FIRST ELEVATOR

Q. Who had the first elevator?
A. King Louis XV of France. In 1743, he put it in between his second-floor bedroom and barn on the first floor. By "barn" I mean whoever she was at the moment. There was another royal fellow over in Austria, who had something of the sort built for his chambers upstairs and the kitchen below about then, but that was more like a dumbwaiter. The help downstairs set his table and just hefted it up through a hole in the ceiling. He ate with his fingers and kicked the bones back down through the hole.

Q. In what country do the most people commit suicide?
A. Hungary has the highest rate. About 4,500 people kill themselves every year there; and as many as 20,000 by bat tail. Nobody yet has explained the why of this.

Q. What animals, if any, normally outlive human beings?
A. The lake sturgeon and the tortoise. That's all I can think of.

LARGER MOON

Can you explain why the moon looks larger near the horizon than high in the sky? Neither can I. Every school talk about refraction, bent rays and atmospheric clutter. But some experts claim the exact reason remains unclear.

The city of Toledo in Spain was one of the earliest centers of Christian culture. And it is the fact about that place which originally prompted the enduring exclamation: "Holy Toledo!"

A colony of honeybees when gathering nectar on a good day gains weight—altogether as much as 25 pounds, in fact. Among college students, hear in mind, it's the older women who get the best grades. By far.

Missouri Synod leader to step down

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Dr. Jacob A.O. Preus, leader of the nation's second largest Lutheran body during a decade of controversy, will seek a fourth term as president of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

The surprise announcement was made Thursday in the October issue of the Synod's official publication, "The Lutheran Witness."

"My reason for this decision is that, after 12 years and three terms in office, I believe the Synod needs a change in leadership, a new face, new directions and new interests," Preus said.

Preus, 60, was the target of liberal criticism that threatened to divide the 2.7 million-member church during the 1970s. The church became embroiled in a doctrinal controversy resulting in a splinter group breaking away to form the Association of Evangelical Lutheran Churches.

The controversy came to a head in 1974 when the conservative-controlled board of Concordia Seminary, at the time the largest Protestant theological school in the world, suspended the Rev. Dr. John H. Tietjen as Concordia's pastor for heresy and teaching false doctrine.

The issue involved the interpretation of such Biblical teachings as "Jonah and the Whale." So-called "moderates" insisted the story could be taken allegorically or symbolically while "conservatives" backed by Preus insisted on literal interpretation.

After Tietjen was dismissed, more than half of Concordia's 700 students followed dissenting faculty members in forming Seminary in Exile — which became the teaching arm of the new association.

When Preus later ousted from office four district presidents who adhered to the liberal stance, church leaders predicted a schism would divide the seventh largest American Protestant church.

However, the schism never fully developed. Preus described the controversy in 1977 as "sad and unfortunate, certainly of minimal compared to the dire predictions of the size of the split from the synod some made a few years back.

A statement from the synod said only about 100,000 members left, adding: "Many church denomination observers noted that the LCMS is the only church body in recent times to turn back the trend to a more liberal doctrinal stance."

"That accomplishment is largely attributed to the pastoral leadership of Dr. Preus."

Preus, who will remain in office until September 1981, said he would not back a successor to his post — "I believe the synod should have a completely free and open election."

Falwell says Reagan is 'the lesser of three evils'

ROANOKE, Va. (UPI) — The Rev. Jerry Falwell, broadcast evangelist and founder of a conservative political action group, said he will vote for Ronald Reagan because the GOP presidential candidate is "the lesser of three evils right now."

During an interview aired Friday on WERA-TV, a Roanoke public television station, Falwell said his decision is a personal choice and not an endorsement.

"I plan to vote for Mr. Reagan," he said. "Not because he's ideal. I think he's far from it. But I think he's the lesser of three evils right now."

Falwell has often lashed out at President Carter's stances on a wide range of issues, but has had little to say about the third major candidate, independent John Anderson.

He is founder of Moral-Majority Inc., a conservative lobbying and fund-raising group that claims 400,000 followers, and supports conservative candidates across the nation.

FILER — The Filer Missionary Church has received a Charter from the Christian Service Brigade.

Eric Nelson, a young man who spent seven years in the program will be directing this ministry. He will be assisted by Joe Jones and Jim Devall.

Boys from 5 to 11 will be in "Stockade" which meets Tuesday at 7 p.m. The 12- to 18-year-old boys will meet Thursday at 7 p.m.

Minister considers filing lawsuits

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — The Rev. Thomas Keefe, who says police pushed him to the ground and handcuffed him in front of dozens of parishioners, is considering filing federal and civil lawsuits.

But police officials said Thursday they consider the incident closed with the resignation of the officer who allegedly pushed the Congregational minister shoved his face into a gravel driveway and handcuffed him.

Mark Spangenberg, 24, resigned Thursday from the Oklahoma City Police Department after a meeting with top-level police officials.

Keefe said Spangenberg, who had just ticketed a motorist near the Mayflower Community Congregational Church parking lot, wrestled Keefe to the ground in the church parking lot late Wednesday.

Police investigators said the confrontation between Spangenberg and Keefe began when the officer tried to leave the church parking lot through an "entrance" driveway.

"I kindly asked him (Spangenberg) to use the exit because of vehicles coming into the lot," Keefe said. "He gunned the car, almost running me down, and called me a gravel driveway and handcuffed him. The officer also called other police units for assistance."

Six patrol units and a police helicopter arrived at the church to help Spangenberg arrest the minister. Dozens of spectators gathered around the parking lot, including many members of Keefe's congregation who were arriving for a church dinner. Police officials reported receiving several complaints about Keefe's treatment.

"This was a totally irrational, unbelievable thing," Keefe said. "The man was obviously out of control for some reason."

Keefe said he suffered facial-cuts and swollen wrists from the arrest.

"Police are responsible to the public and we are obviously not just shocked over the whole thing," Keefe's secretary late Thursday said the minister would initiate civil and federal court action against the officer and department.

"He is going to file federal and civil suits," she said. "We could file a complaint with the police department, but that gets you nowhere."

Groups meet

CHICAGO (UPI) — Major superiors from Anglican and Roman Catholic religious organizations have met together for the first time in history and opened a dialogue aimed at "making us people who can't stay apart."

The historic meeting of the heads of religious orders from 12 denominations also proposed establishment of an Ecumenical Consultation of Religious to maintain and continue the joint efforts of Anglican and Roman Catholic religious orders.

In response to fed discount rate hike

Banks take prime rate to 13%

NEW YORK (UPI) — Most major banks raised their prime rate for business loans to 13 percent from 12 1/2 percent Friday as the Federal Reserve tightened credit to suppress an unexpected "bubble" in credit and money.

The increasing volatility in interest rates has led some analysts to speculate the Fed has lost control of the money supply, an argument that one said is "not new."

Chase Manhattan, the nation's third-largest bank, paced the latest increase in the prime and was immediately followed by most of the nation's banks, including the largest — Bank of America and No. 2 Citibank.

The Fed late Thursday, saying its action was intended to hold down the growth in the nation's money supply, increased to 11 percent from 10 percent the discount rate it charges on loans to member banks.

But the Fed had signaled its intention earlier Thursday by tightening up on bank reserves, pushing the federal funds rate that banks pay to borrow from each other "distinctly" above 11 percent, according to David M. Jones, economist for Aubrey G. Lanston & Co.

The latest discount hike "clearly is tied to the Fed's earlier-tightening aimed at the huge, unexpected bubble in credit and money growth," Jones said. "It's symbolic of a renewed Fed determination and could freshen other increases in short-term rates."

Many banks indeed did raise their broker loan rate later Friday, an action that often portends further increases in the prime rate.

A number of analysts have criticized what they see as a disrupting volatility in the money supply and interest rates. Some have speculated that the substantial growth in bank reserves in the last month, over which the Fed has direct control, was a deliberate "easing move" to which it now is reacting.

But Jones disagreed with that argument. "The money and credit growth went up first and now the Fed is recognizing that it was getting away from them, is trying to slow it down."

Jones said he felt the theory that every movement in bank reserves and money growth happens "because the Fed ordained it" is overstated.

"It's what the public did in August and early September that caused the bubble in the money supply," Jones said. "Either people got nervous and started spending again in anticipation of higher inflation, or they were catching up on spending they deferred when credit controls were in effect."

He also said he felt the Fed "faces the worst of both possible worlds right now. They've been unsuccessful in controlling money — although they're trying — and they've caused increasing volatility in interest rates."

"If the Fed perhaps did 'commit a sin,' it was earlier when they overreacted to the sharp drop in credit and money," Jones said.

OPEC reconsiders cutback Iraq closes pipelines

By United Press International

Iraq closed its two oil pipelines to the West Friday for the first time since war broke out with Iran, but an OPEC member said the cartel is reconsidering plans to reduce oil production because of the fighting between the two oil powers.

In Washington, Energy Secretary Charles Duncan was informed that Venezuelan Energy Minister Humberto Calderon Berti has indicated OPEC is reassessing its recent agreement to lower output by 10 percent in view of the Iraq-Iran war.

The OPEC cutback was designed to dry up the world oil surplus, estimated at 2.5 million barrels a day before the Persian Gulf war erupted.

In Strasbourg, France, Venezuelan vice president Goodrich Gonzalez said Venezuela and the other Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries would raise their oil production "as far as possible" to cover any eventual shortages caused by the Iraq-Iran war.

As Iraq and Iran continued to pound each other's oil installations, an Arab expert predicted the first war between two OPEC members would politicize the 13-nation cartel and affect its future decisions on oil prices and production.

In Paris, International Energy Agency officials said pipeline terminals at Iraq's frontiers with Turkey and Syria had shut down and halted the flow of between 800,000 and 1 million barrels a day of Iraqi oil to the West.

IEA officials said it was not immediately known why the Iraq pipelines were closed because of war damage or as a precautionary measure.

U.S. oil traders said prices on the international spot market, where crude is sold to the highest bidder, soared by about $5 a barrel in reaction to the total stoppage of exports from Iraq, OPEC's second largest producer after Saudi Arabia.

Earlier this week Iraq and Iran were forced to suspend oil exports totaling 2.7 million barrels a day that had been moving out through the Persian Gulf.

The White House said the United States has offered to host an Allied meeting on measures to keep shipping lanes open during the war in the Persian Gulf, which supplies the Free World with 40 percent of its oil needs — or about 17.3 million barrels a day.

The IEA's executive director, Ulf Lantze, told reporters in Washington there were no indications "anybody at this time wants to interfere" with the movement of oil tankers through the Gulf and said the war posed "no immediate danger" to world oil supplies because of high petroleum stocks in industrialized nations.

"The first shooting war between two OPEC members will have some impact on the cartel's pricing and production decisions at its December meeting in Indonesia," said David Mizrahi, editor of the Middle East Report in New York.

"We are going to witness a sharp division among the OPEC countries, with the moderates Arabs, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and the United Arab Emirates siding with Iraq and the hawks — namely Algeria and Libya — supporting Iran," he said.

"Iraq will replace Saudi Arabia as the most influential member of OPEC because Iraq went to war with Iran, which is a fierce enemy of the Arab world," Mizrahi said.

"OPEC, which has kept oil its foremost concern since it was founded 20 years ago, will be politicized."

Basic money supply leaps by $13 billion

NEW YORK (UPI) — The nation's basic money supply known as M-1A soared $1.5 billion in the week ended Sept. 17, for a "mind-boggling" $13 billion jump in cash and checking accounts since the end of July.

The broader measure of money — M-1-B — which includes M-1A plus NOW accounts and other checkable deposits and on which analysts are beginning to focus as a more accurate measure of money available to the public for immediate spending, soared $2.7 billion in the latest reporting week.

The money report, which far exceeded expectations on Wall Street, shows that M-1-A has jumped "a mind-boggling $13 billion since the end of July" according to figures from Aubrey G. Lanston & Co., the big government securities house.

"It's little wonder the Fed has seen fit to take countering actions," David M. Jones, Lanston's chief economist, said.

The Federal Reserve signaled its intentions early Thursday when it let the federal funds rate exceed 11 percent; this key rate, that banks charge each other for loans, went past 12 percent Friday.

The Fed reinforced those market operations late Thursday when it boosted the discount rate it charges member banks for loans to 11 percent from 10 percent.

Kelly recalls 220

CUMBERLAND, Md. (UPI) — The Kelly Springfield Tire Co. will recall 220 workers Monday, nearly half the number laid off of this summer because of declining production.

Tire plant manager William Spieglburg said Friday the recalls were made possible by an increase in the demand for light truck tires, which are a large part of the Cumberland plant's production.

Another 50 employees returned earlier this month.

U.S. exports surge to cut trade deficit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. trade deficit narrowed to $1.06 billion in August as the country posted its best trade performance in more than four years, the government said Friday.

Exports, particularly for metals and farm products, surged 3.7 percent, while imports rose only 1.2 percent even though oil imports rose slightly.

The United States has not had a trade surplus since November 1975. But August trade deficit was the smallest since May 1976 when the trade gap was only $309.8 million.

The Commerce Department said exports climbed from $18.0 billion in July to $19.1 in August, marking the largest one-month jump since March.

Twenty of 28 export categories were up, with particularly large increases in wheat — soybeans — nonferrous metals and gold.

On the import side, the United States increased the amount of foreign oil it was bringing in from July's massive and low $4.4 million barrels a day to 6 million barrels in August.

Nevertheless, other imports fell significantly, holding down the overall price tag—the United States paid for foreign products. Imports of foreign passenger cars showed the largest drop, falling $242 million.

On the whole, 14 import categories were down, while only 12 were up.

The United States has now managed to narrow its trade deficit for three consecutive months; a good omen for the American dollar abroad. When the nation has large trade deficits, it tends to weaken the dollar overseas and fuel domestic inflation.

A Commerce Department analyst said August figures indicate that the United States may be able to finish the year with a trade deficit of only about $37 billion, which would be just about what the nation had last year.

For a time experts were worried that the U.S. recession would spread to other nations, thereby curbing their appetite for American-made products and widening the U.S. trade deficit.

But Commerce economist David Land said it appears now the global recession may not be as bad as originally thought.

Commerce officials were also encouraged by the oil import figures. Even though imports were up, they remain well below last year's level when the nation was importing 8.3 million barrels a day.

Idaho's '79 spud crop dropped 15% from '78

BOISE (UPI) — Final statistics on Idaho's 1979 potato crop showed farmers harvested 85.1 million hundredweight, a 15 percent decline from the record 1978 crop, the state Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said Friday.

The service said last year's crop also was a 4 percent below that recorded in 1977.

The 1979 crop was valued at $250.9 million, up $25.2 million from 1978, according to the service.

It said 78.1 million hundredweight of the 1979 crop was sold, while the remaining 9 million hundredweight was used on farms or lost through shrinkage and culling.

Farmers harvested 330,000 acres of potatoes in 1979, 35,000 less than in 1978, and average yield dropped to 256 hundredweight per acre last year from 275 in 1978, the service reported.

Rockwell settles employment dispute

DALLAS (UPI) — Rockwell International, one of the country's largest defense contractors, has agreed to a $1 million equal employment opportunity settlement at its Dallas plant, Labor Secretary Ray Marshall said Friday.

Marshall said in Washington the agreement would expand job opportunity for 42 qualified minority and female applicants. They allegedly were screened out of positions at the facility.

The settlement will increase the company's affirmative action program, Marshall said. The company has agreed to spend about $700,000 in salaries and incentives to set aside 53 job slots for which the rejected applicants would have priority if interested and qualified.

Kraft, Dart agree to merge companies

GLENVIEW, Ill. (UPI) — Shareholders of Kraft Inc. and Dart Industries Inc. have agreed to merge into a new corporation, with each common share of the two firms to be converted to a common share of Dart & Kraft Inc.

"I am proud that two families of shareholders have recognized the unprecedented opportunity that was offered and did not hesitate to grasp it," John M. Richman, chief executive officer of the new company, said Thursday at the Kraft shareholder meeting.

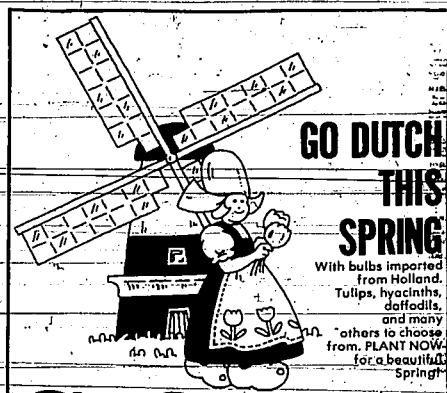

"By today's action, you and the shareholders of Dart have created possibilities for growth greater than either Kraft or Dart possessed as separate entities."

At the Dart shareholders' meeting,

Justin Dart, chairman and chief executive officer of Dart Industries and chairman of the executive committee of the new company, said: "Dart and Kraft will begin its existence on a firm foundation, based on two enormously successful businesses — paperware and Kraft's processed food operation — and several others."

"Importantly, the new company has financial resources ... to make large enough investments in existing or new businesses to impact the overall performance and direction of the company," Dart said.

The combined companies' pro forma net sales were $8.8 billion and their net income was $360 million for the last full year ending in December 1979.

Schwinn to negotiate first contract

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Schwinn Bicycle Co. has agreed to negotiate a contract with its workers for the first time in its 110-year history, spokesmen for both sides said Friday.

The agreement averted a strike set for noon Friday by the 1,400 workers at the North Side plant.

The agreement was reached at a Thursday meeting with the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, Carl Shier, a United Auto Workers international representative to Local 2153 which represents the Schwinn employees, said Schwinn representatives for the first time agreed to begin formal contract negotiations.

Dow suffers one of worst '80 losses

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks suffered one of their worst losses of the year in heavy trading Friday after the nation's banks raised their prime rate and the Federal Reserve tightened credit.

The Dow Jones industrial average, at 87.21 point last Thursday, plunged 13.97 points to 94.19, the worst setback since it skidded 16.08 points on Aug. 22. The Dow lost 24.64 points on Tuesday.

The New York Stock Exchange index dropped 1.46 to 72.99, and the price of a share decreased 71 cents. Declines ranged from 4.86 to 27.78 among the 1,907 issues at 4 p.m. EDT, one of the broadest setbacks of the year.

Analysts noted the Dow industrials gained more than 200 points and broader averages reached all-time highs during the midyear rally and traders cashed in on those profits. The trend could continue.

Big Board volume totaled 49,460,000 shares, compared with 49,510,000 traded Thursday.

The Chicago turnover indicated institutions were taking profits from the midyear rally in which the Dow industrials gained more than 200 points and broader averages reached all-time highs.

The nation's banks, led by Chase

Manhattan, triggered much of the selling when they raised the prime rate they charge top corporate customers to 13 percent from 12 1/2 percent, the fifth boost in as many weeks.

The night before, the Federal Reserve set the stage for these hikes by boosting the discount rate it charges member banks for loans to 11 percent from 10 percent to combat a surge in the growth of the nation's money supply.

Investors worried about the five-day-old Iran-Iraq war, Iraq launched fierce tank and air attacks on the important Iranian port of Khorramshahr and Iran admitted suffering "very heavy" casualties.

The situation could become critical if one of the warring nations blocks the crucial Hormuz Strait, through which some 40 percent of the Western world's oil supplies move.

Composite volume of NYSE-listed issues on all U.S. exchanges and over the counter at 4 p.m. totaled 54,371,348 shares, compared with 54,950,590 traded Thursday.

The American Stock Exchange index dropped 4.17 to 334.86 and the price of a share skidded 46 cents.

Teachers learn a lesson

Discipline topic of conference

By LARRY SWISHER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls educators went to school Friday to learn about discipline.

It was not, however, a class on how to punish and control wrong-doers.

Instead, Doug Naylor, director of the Educator Training Center, advocates the positive idea of discipline as the strength to follow through and do what has to be done in any aspect of life.

"Strong, young people learn better than weak, young people," Naylor says. "It means teaching them to take some risks and work at learning."

Naylor presented and organized a day-long "Discipline Conference: Ideas That Work" for Twin Falls teachers and administrators.

William Glasser, physician-turned-educator, founded the center with Naylor, a former Los Angeles school principal, 12 years ago.

Glasser is the author of two books well-known in education, "Schools Without Failure" and "Reality Therapy."

The subject Friday keyed on the popular national obsession with discipline problems.

But the approach advocated by Naylor and Glasser says the teacher can help himself, and his students by getting them to want to work and succeed.

The effort employs a concept called "reality therapy," which says people have basic needs to belong, gain worth and recognition, have fun and to be free.

The fulfillment of those needs leads to the "success identity" of an individual whose personal world grows larger and who is strong, self-disciplined, rationally motivated and optimistic.

At the opposite end of the human spectrum is a "failure identity" marked by weakness, loneliness, irresponsibility, emotional motivation and finding pleasure in failure.

"Ordinarily, you'll find the most troubled students are not doing well in their subjects," Naylor said in an interview. "It only makes sense to help them be more willing to learn."

The student must first decide to participate and become part of the group.

To get students to obey rules, Naylor advocates allowing them to help make the rules they will live by in the classroom. Although it shouldn't, this frightens some teachers.

"Students have to decide to be responsible, and they have to have the opportunity to do so," Naylor said. "If you don't teach responsibility, the only recourse is oppression, or 'might makes right.'"

Before World War II, he said, "we all used to live by rules. If Mom or Pop said so, that was it."

Now, Americans want some "real control of our lives," although "I don't think any of us" license just to "do our own thing."

For example, children know when they are supposed to be home for dinner.

"Can't that be a rule? Is there any excuse for being late," Naylor asked. "You might be able to stretch it once in a while, but mostly, the child makes the choice."

"Discipline is making the appropriate choices."

The common misconception is that discipline is "spanking you, or to someone who is bad," Naylor said.

Blaine Billman, left, Paula Schriener and other teachers listened to Doug Naylor of the ETC said. "It's a way of getting control."

This is actually punishment, based on the belief it will correct bad behavior.

"That's baloney," he said. "It's not working—it may work with some, but usually they are people who are already responsible."

A student who gets thrown out of class says, "It gets a again." It's his form of success, often supported by his parents.

Teachers should not think discipline is just law and order, Naylor said that is an element of discipline because learning cannot take place without it.

"But if the young do not learn to follow through on their own, by doing their homework for example, there is no real discipline."

Television poses a "very serious problem" to discipline in the schools, he said.

"When a program is over, they're over, too," he noted. That conditioning follows into the classroom. When the teacher stops it's like the TV set going off, Naylor said.

Discipline is "harder now," he said. "It's a new thing we have to take some extra time with. I'm not talking about stopping teaching content. It just needs to be related to these other things."

Teachers have to try to get students wanting to work, not doing "odious tasks" imposed on them, he said.

"I try to convince them—it's sensible to talk about rules in their classrooms."

A high school teacher told Naylor it took him 15 years to be able, on the first day of school, to say to his students, "We will have no rules in this classroom except the ones we make ourselves."

The teacher said it changed his life and brought joy into his class and into teaching.

Before then, the teacher described his work as just managing subject matter and "herding kids."

Naylor was a principal in Los Angeles in 1964 when he was switched to a troubled elementary school in Watts. He said the school no longer had a common purpose.

"Faculty, parents and students were divided into camps where people saw others as 'good guys and bad guys.'"

In a couple of years, the situation was turned around by recognizing the need for dignity and order but fighting those who condoned irresponsibility, Naylor said.

However, students were still not participating, although they were no longer making trouble.

"When he heard Dr. Glasser speak about basic human needs and reality therapy," he realized that was the missing element.

"There must be a way to teach discipline, not just by having a loving parent, a devoted minister or a family background," Naylor concluded.

"A classroom should be a place where good human interaction can take place, where you can be wrong, where — where there are problems — there is still communication."

Hospital top agenda item

By BRUCE HAMMOND
Times-News writer

GOODING — Response to this week's resignation of the entire Gooding County Memorial Hospital Board will be the primary topic when Gooding County Commissioners meet Monday.

"I can't speak for the entire board, just for myself, but I'd just as soon start another board," Commissioner Chairman George Lemmon, an ex-officio member of the hospital board, said Friday night. "I'm sure we're willing to accept applications."

All five members of the hospital board resigned Monday in a dispute over emergency room operation and fiscal management. In a related move, Gooding Memorial Administrator Francis Whorton resigned her position last week.

The resignations will certainly be discussed along with many other things," Lemmon said.

Lemmon added that the commissioners will meet during the 9 a.m. meeting to discuss ramifications of the hospital board's resignation.

Former hospital board vice chairman James Molchan said some of the resigned board members may attend the commissioners' meeting, but that no joint decision was made to do so.

"We've been through everything with them (Gooding County Commissioners) before, so there's no real reason to sit through more talk," Molchan said Friday.

The original problem plaguing Gooding Memorial involved charges that some Gooding doctors have refused to treat patients entering the emergency room on weekends, although follow-up investigations by both county commissioners and the hospital board supported the doctors.

Problems were compounded when hospital occupancy declined to 22.2 percent in June, resulting in the hospital board requesting a $20,000 subsidy from the county.

Gooding County Commissioners approved the support payment, but included a list of six stipulations to be met by the hospital board before the payment was awarded sometime after Oct. 1.

In their resignation announcement, the hospital board members attacked the commissioners' letter containing the stipulations as "inhumane" because the commissioners "requested a number of items, most of which you already have, and should be aware of."

The stipulations were:

- Written plans of operation leading to financial independence for Gooding Memorial.
- Specific financial statements of hospital operation.
- A list of all cost cutting measures implemented in the last 12 months.
- A list of additional cost cutting proposals to be started and a bid schedule for such implementation.
- Plans of operation for weekend emergency room service considering the county's inability to hire an outside emergency room staffing service such as Spang's Inc. of Denver.
- A list of alternatives for hospital management, including leasing an administration firm and hiring an independent consultation group, including both advantages and disadvantages to these alternatives.

In the letter of resignation, hospital board members specifically attacked Lemmon for first saying "the hospital process to be started and bid out" as the wording of the letter (containing the six stipulations), and then being the only commissioner to sign the document.

"We felt we had done these things already in past meetings this year," former board chairman John Varin said earlier this week.

However, Lemmon stressed Friday that the hospital board "has the choice to respond to these requests or take no action."

"My basic goal was to see some sort of financial statement, like any business does on the board's part, and not just the day-to-day listings they've been giving us (the commissioners)," Lemmon explained.

State convention ends

Shoshone commissioner new president

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Idaho's county commissioners and clerks ended a three-day convention here Friday after electing Shoshone County Commissioner Fred Centness as president.

He succeeds Twin Falls County Commissioner Ann Cover.

Also elected was Sidney Pursler, Jefferson County Clerk, as vice president.

The delegates held open a decision on next year's fall convention, naming a committee to study possibilities of combining the convention with the Idaho Association of Counties annual meeting.

Mert Leonard, Twin Falls County commissioner, suggested in the interest of economy and better coordination on legislative matters the commissioners and clerks meet at the same time and site as the IAC.

A committee will study the matter and report back during the IAC convention Oct. 15 to 17. Leonard said because the commissioners and clerks are affiliated with both organizations and are generally interested in the same legislation, he proposed they meet at the same time, but possibly hold separate sessions during the convention as well as meet in general sessions.

"We are planning to change our (IAC's) state convention from October to June in 1991," Leonard said.

"We have found the fall meetings do not give us time enough to formulate legislative proposals prior to the January meeting of the state lawmakers," he added.

Leonard said work to the benefit of both organizations to have the commissioners' and clerks' meeting in conjunction with the IAC because of overlapping of interests. It would allow delegates to attend one convention rather than two and to share transportation to save gasoline costs, Leonard said.

Tornado does little damage

TWIN FALLS — What appeared to be a small tornado whipped through northwest part of Twin Falls Friday night causing a tree fire and minor damage.

Police and sheriff's officers received several calls concerning damage but at a late hour no serious damage was reported. It had been responded to a call at Falls Avenue and Washington Street about 9 p.m. and reported a tornado type storm of rain and winds was in progress.

Ontario man is missing

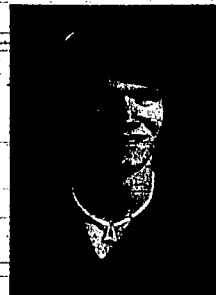

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley residents were Friday asked to help locate Larry Gatley of Ontario, Ore.

Gatley, 20, has been missing since Sept. 19, said Tina Taylor, his fiancée, also of Ontario. It is possible he has been injured, she said.

According to Taylor, Gatley was last seen as he left Ontario to drive to his job in McCall.

Gatley, who is about 6 feet, 3 inches tall, weighs 175 pounds, has shoulder-length brown hair, was driving an olive-green 1974 Datsun B-210.

Taylor asked any Magic Valley resident who might have information about Gatley to contact the Ontario, Ore., Police Department.

Will retire in February

Koontz leaves city clerk's office

By MARTY TRILLHAASE
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls City Clerk Edythe Koontz has left City Hall — although she will remain employed by the city until she retires Feb. 1, 1991.

Koontz, who has been with the city more than 27 years and the City Clerk since 1971, is scheduled to undergo foot surgery sometime next month.

Koontz officially will remain with the city because she has accumulated 90 days of sick leave and 20 days of vacation time. By undergoing treatment while still a city employee, Koontz's surgery is covered by city medical insurance. She will continue to update city records at her home and may return to City Hall after she recuperates, she said.

Koontz has been scheduled to retire ever since the City Council voted to merge her office with the city treasurer's office under one finance director. Last month, Finance Director Bruce Williams arrived from Helena, Mont., to take over the new post.

Koontz has not been at her post since Sept. 18, when she returned from a convention of Idaho city clerks at McCall. Upon her return, she was told to leave City Hall because an audit into the city financial records was under way.

The audit stemmed from the discovery by Williams of a drawer in the city vault containing an estimated $100,000 to $14,000 in cash and checks dating back to the 1950s.

The audit later cleared Koontz of any impropriety. City Manager Tom Courtney said. He said the audit and Koontz's decision to take her sick leave were not related. Koontz had no comment.

Courtney said the funds were not city revenues, but checks made out to the city on bonds used in work agreements with private contractors. Courtney estimated about 95 percent of the checks were for bonds which would later be redeemed when the conditions of the bonds had been met. As such, the discovered checks did not cost the city money because they had been stored in the vault rather than deposited in a bank account, he said.

"What I really suspect happened was they took these checks for bonds or securities for whatever it may be. These records were just stuck in the drawer and forgotten and I suspect it was just a practice that was started many years ago," Courtney said.

"While the practice is something that we can not condone — in my opinion it's not acceptable from a procedural standpoint — I don't think it's done anybody any harm."

Courtney said he asked Koontz to leave during the audit in order to prevent the appearance of impropriety.

"I asked her to go home while we conducted the investigation. It was not a suspension. It was not a forced retirement. I just felt the cleanest way, the proper way, was to have the person responsible for city finances removed from the office," he said.

Courtney added it was not unusual for employees near to retirement to obtain medical treatment under the city medical insurance and to use accumulated sick leave and vacation time. Koontz had been planning to undergo surgery during this time for several months, he noted.

Resigned to leave, Koontz said many of the checks for the bonds had been placed there at the order of various city department heads.

"They were there until they told me to take them out," she said, adding she didn't know why some of the older checks remained in the city vault.

"I feel I've been a loyal and dedicated employee and it has been a standard practice for many years," she said.

Koontz said officials did not ask her for an explanation before conducting the audit.

ABC calls for Senate to investigate Church

BOISE (UPI) — The Anyone But Church Project has sent a letter to the Senate Ethics Committee asking for an investigation into Sen. Frank Church's municipal bond trust holdings.

"As you can see Sen. Church was heavily involved with New York municipal bonds at the time of the 1975 New York City bailout," the letter, signed by ABC Director Don Todd, said.

"It is clear to us that when Sen. Church voted to bail out New York, he was also voting to bail out himself in clear contravention of Senate rules."

Todd said evidence supporting ABC's position was included in the letter. He said ABC will not make any further public comment on the matter while an investigation is pending or under way.

State Democratic Party officials have denounced ABC's accusations as being false. Ada County Democratic Chairman Mark Roby said Church did not vote for the so-called bailout, but did vote earlier in favor of a loan to New York, which he said has been paid back with interest.

Campaign signs destroyed

Two face first-degree arson charges

COEUR D'ALENE (UPI) — Two Coeur d'Alene men have been arrested and charged with first-degree arson in connection with a fire-rioting spree early Friday that left four Steve Symms campaign signs and several private mailboxes damaged.

In custody are Rick Earnest Backman, 18, and Nicholas Leroy Seld, 19, both of Coeur d'Alene. Two juveniles reported to be suspects in the vandalism were released to their parents.

"Coeur d'Alene assistant fire chief Jim Davis said the five fires were reported within two hours and 13 minutes. Davis said he believed the fires related.

The first fire, a 4-by-8 foot Steve Symms campaign sign, was reported at 12:47 a.m. At 1:15 a.m., a Steve Symms campaign billboard was reported burning. Five minutes later, another 4-by-8 Symms sign was reported to be on fire.

Then at 2:19 a.m. the married 4-by-8 sign was reported burning. Finally at 2:55 a.m., the fire department received a report that a cluster of private mailboxes was burning.

City firemen extinguished all the fires except one sign which was put out by city police.

"The men were busy on the fires all night," Davis said.

While extinguishing the burning mailboxes, one of the firemen saw an automobile leaving the scene. He reported a description of the vehicle to police and at 2:54 a.m. police stopped the car.

One of the four people in the car was detained for questioning. The other three were released.

Later Backman and Sand were arrested and charged with first-degree arson. Police Detective Greg Smith, who was investigating the incident, said alcohol was involved and it appeared booze had more to do with the fires than politics.

Smith said police did not know why the mailboxes were burned.

Meanwhile, Dennis Davis, local coordinator for the Frank Church campaign, and Lee Shelman, area coordinator for the Steve Symms campaign, issued a joint statement denouncing the vandalism.

"In an election so crucial as the race of the U.S. Senate between Sen. Frank Church and Congressman Steve Symms there is no place for the type of vandalism that has taken place," the statement said.

CETA program is second

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho ranks second in the list of Comprehensive Employment and Training Act sponsors in the Northwest in the percentage of employees who were employed after completing CETA training and for the low cost of training.

Cheryl Plummer, acting chief of the Idaho Department of Employment's CETA Administration Bureau, told the State Employment and Training Advisory Council Friday, Idaho ranks second among 19 CETA sponsors in the Northwest in the percentage of trainees who were employed after completing enrollment in CETA training.

Ms. Plummer said the latest available annual figures released by the U.S. Department of Labor's Seattle regional office also showed Idaho was second only to Washington for the low cost of training required by each CETA employee placed on the job.

"Idaho has consistently placed high nationally among statewide CETA prime sponsors in both the entered employment and the percent per placement categories," she said.

Kidnapping?

Reporter takes appeal to state supreme court

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho Statesman reporter Ellen Marks' lawyers asked the Idaho Supreme Court Friday to overrule a contempt citation pending against her since Sept. 19, when she spent seven hours in jail before being released temporarily.

Attorney Howard Manweiler said the appeal, filed in 4th District Court, is to be forwarded to the state Supreme Court, which has the case would be argued on the basis that the reporter's refusal to identify her news sources was protected by the First Amendment and that the lower court didn't give her enough time to respond to a subpoena.

The 24-year-old reporter defied a Sept. 18 court order to disclose the location of an interview site conducted with a woman accused of kidnapping her own daughter and reveal the identities of people who helped set-up the interview.

She was sent to jail for seven hours by Magistrate Karen Vehlou, but she went free when the judge granted a seven-day stay to allow time for an appeal to be drafted and filed.

The filing of the appeal with Supreme Court, automatically voided the contempt of court citation for another seven days. Manweiler said he would ask Ms. Vehlou next week to extend the stay indefinitely while the Supreme Court decides whether to hear the reporter's appeal.

Manweiler said the appeal, in addition to attacking the contempt citation itself, would challenge the validity of the subpoena and arrest warrant served to Marks.

"Our opinion is that sufficient time was not given to allow us to respond to the subpoena," Manweiler said.

He said Miss Marks was subpoenaed the morning her story appeared and told to appear in court two hours later.

The reporter arrived at court, but left the courthouse during a recess in the hearing and a warrant for her arrest was issued. She appeared the following morning and was arrested and taken into the courtroom.

The reporter answered some questions, but would not give details about her sources. Ms. Vehlou then imposed the contempt citation.

Manweiler said previous Idaho cases involving confidential news sources "seem to indicate that certain safeguards must be addressed before a journalist can be compelled to disclose a confidential source."

"I think the court has to determine if the information (known by Marks) is relevant and are there alternate sources from which it can be obtained."

"It's a significant case and we want the Supreme Court to take a hard look at it," said Robert Bellow, the Statesman's attorney.

Miss Marks' story was about the disappearance of 8-year-old Alysis Clary and her mother, Geni Gilmore.

The girl's father, Michael Clary, Omaha, Neb., who was granted custody of the child in the couple's 1979 divorce, pressed a second-degree kidnapping charge against his wife.

The reporter Vehlou was called to testify in the case.

"Mrs. Gilmore said in Marks' story that she took her daughter underground because she was afraid Clary's relationship with the Divine Light Mission was harming the girl."

"Randy Gilmore, the woman's current husband, was jailed for nearly two weeks on a contempt citation before gaining his release Tuesday through an appeal to 4th District Judge Jesse Walters. Gilmore had told Ms. Vehlou he didn't know where his wife had gone.

Mother claims she will remain in hiding

BOISE (UPI) — The woman who disappeared with her daughter and sparked a furor about a reporter's undisclosed location that she and her telephone call that she would remain in hiding.

Geni Gilmore told the Idaho Statesman in a call from an undisclosed location that she and her 8-year-old daughter, Alysis, would not surface.

The woman's former husband, Michael Clary, Omaha, Neb., has legal custody of the child and is pushing a kidnapping charge against his ex-wife.

Statesman reporter Ellen Marks spent seven hours in jail Friday for retaining to say where she interviewed Gilmore.

Meanwhile, the woman's current husband, Randy Gilmore, was notified.

Thursday he was waiting for further developments in an assault charge he filed against Clary. Gilmore alleged that Clary tried to run him down with a car Sept. 8.

The woman took the child underground because she said she feared her former husband's relationship with the Divine Light Mission religious group was harming her daughter.

Two utilities get go-ahead for programs

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission Friday authorized Idaho Power Co. and Utah Power and Light Co. to implement utility-financed residential conservation programs within their Idaho service areas.

The commission previously had approved similar programs for areas in northern Idaho served by Washington Water Power Co. and Pacific Power and Light Co.

The main provision calls for the utilities to provide qualified residential customers with a no-interest, free loan to finance weatherization improvements such as caulking, weatherstripping, insulation and installation of storm doors and windows.

Under the provision, customers need not make any payment on the principal amount of the loan for at least ten years or until the house is sold.

To qualify for the no-interest loans, Idaho Power, Washington Water Power, and Pacific Power and Light customers must have electric space heat. Utah Power and Light will offer the program to all residential customers regardless of the type of space heating.

In addition, electric utilities will offer customers free audits to determine which home conservation improvements are warranted, arrange for a contractor to do the work if the homeowner declines to do it himself or make his own arrangements, and inspect the work when it is completed.

The no-interest loan is being offered based on the cost of the financing general plan and transmission lines is more expensive than utilities stretching existing electricity supply by financing conservation measures.

QUESTION...

Can you tell me the source of the symbolism existing between the Dogwood Tree and Christian burial service?

ANSWER...

There is a legend that, at the time of the Crucifixion, the dogwood had been the size of the oak and other forest trees. So firm and strong was the tree that it was chosen as the timber for the cross. To be used thus for such a cruel purpose greatly distressed the tree and soon it collapsed. It sensed this, and in His gentle pity for all sorry and suffering souls it:

Because of your regret and pity for My suffering, I have repented and I have changed and I have become a tree that will be used as a cross. Henceforth I shall be stiffer and firmer and I shall be used in the form of a cross. And in the center of the outer edge of each petal there will be nail prints, brown with rust and stained with red, and in the center of the flower will be a crown of thorns, and all who see it will remember... that it was upon the dogwood tree that I was crucified and this tree shall not be mutilated or destroyed, but cherished as a reminder of My death upon the cross.

Bruins crush Minico, 33-7

By LARRY HOWEY
Times-News sports writer

TWIN FALLS — A pair of two touchdown explosions — punctuated by a 76-yard punt return by Rick Tegan — lifted Twin Falls to an unexpectedly lopsided 33-7 decision over Minico Friday night.

The Bruins struck for touchdowns on their first two possessions of the game and added two more without Minico touching the ball in the third quarter. After Tegan came back three plays later with his punt return, Twin Falls turned to its junior offensive unit for the remainder of the game.

It was billed as and was expected to be a highly emotional game. Both coaches felt that it would be won by the team making the fewest mistakes. For a long while, particularly in the second quarter, the teams were even on miscues. But with one exception when Darel Tracy looked up with Tracy Woodrow for a bomb, Minico couldn't capitalize on the Bruins miscues. In the second half, Minico was simply left down to the depths by the Bruins' quick offensive spurts.

"This was a big game for us. A big win," said Coach Bill Jones afterward. "This one bothered me more than any of the others because it puts us (Twin Falls) in a position where we don't have to hang our heads in the valley."

"We came out running the veer at the start of the game... we felt it would work and that was our game plan," he said.

But despite the 14-0 lead, Twin Falls didn't appear too solid after Minico hit on its bomb. Minico pretty well controlled the ball in the second quarter but couldn't score again.

"In the third quarter we just started blitzing a linebacker because he (Tracy) was getting too much time to throw. Then we got those two big breaks..." the coach said.

Those breaks started midway through the third period. Twin Falls held Minico after the second-half kickoff and Gary Krumm started gaining the Bruins downfield. They survived a fumble by recovering it in midair to keep the drive alive and on the 10th plays, Krumm kept for the final yard. Steve Galley converted.

The ensuing kickoff squibbed to the sideline — the half kickoff went out of bounds — but it bounced around until a Bruin got there to recover it on the Minico 51 yard line. Five plays later Krumm hit Brett Semple with a plant in and the junior tight end beat two Minico tacklers to gain the end zone. Galley converted.

"As you know (senior halfback Greg) Scherer is our kicker but he was injured and couldn't play to night," Jones recounted the circumstances. "After Jose (Salinas) kicked the second-half kickoff out of bounds, I wanted to have Krumm kick for us. But we didn't get it done and Jose kicked again. Probably for the best as it turned out, but no, it wasn't a planned thing at all."

The defeated Spartans lost nine yards on their next possession and punted to Tegan who caught the ball at his own 24. He danced right, then left, then stormed back right. He caught three key blocks, the last a crusher by Kurt Daigh at midfield, and sailed untouched into the end zone.

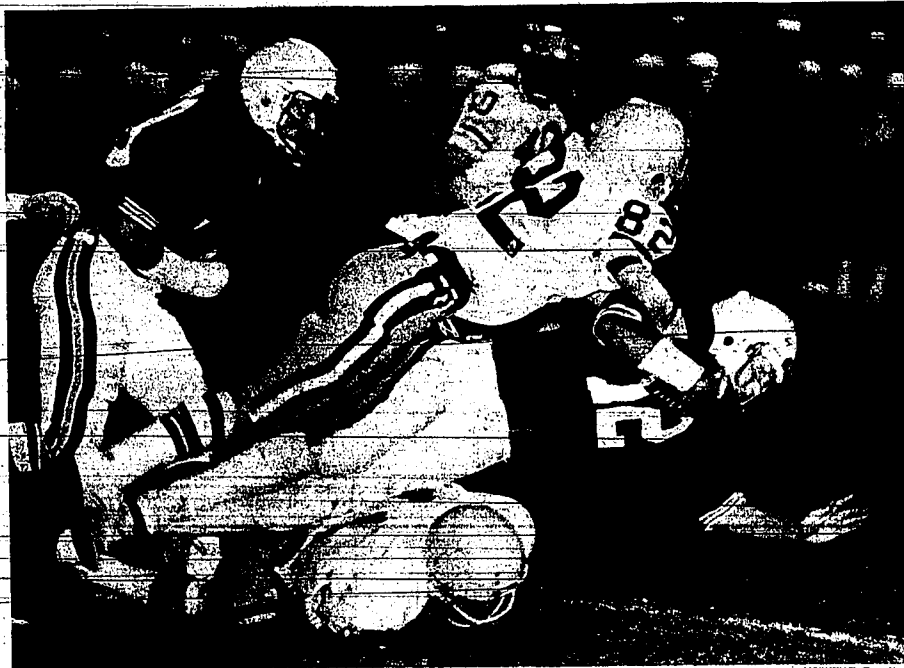

"I know I was going left and right," Tegan smiled. "They (tacklers) were getting closer and I thought I better start running straight up field."

After he got outside he saw the lone defender with a chance — but also saw Daigh coming up with the big block.

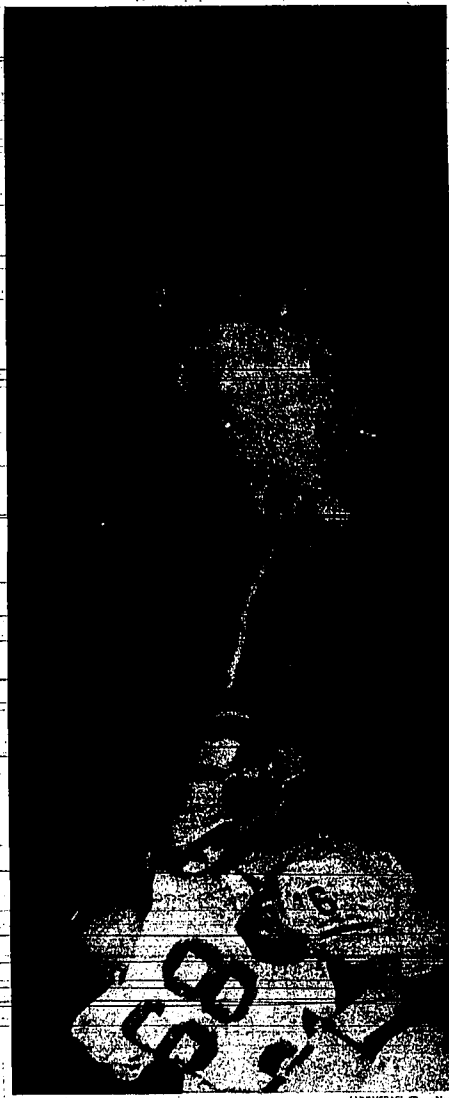

"Yeah, I could see it coming. He really flattened him," Tegan said. "It all felt good."

Houston, Phillies triumph; increase leads

By United Press International

While Bake McBride shook the tie Expos, Vern Ruhle shattered the Reds.

McBride hit the first pitch of the ninth inning off David Palmer over the right field fence for his ninth home run Friday night to lift the Philadelphia Phillies to a 2-1 victory over the Montreal Expos.

The victory moved the Phillies 1 1/2 games ahead of the second-place Expos in the National League East.

Reliever Tug McGraw, 44, took over for starter Dick Ruthven in the eighth inning to pick up the triumph.

The Expos, who didn't get a hit until Rowland Office singled with two out in the fourth, tied the score in the sixth when Jerry White doubled to right and scored on Rodney Scott's single to left.

Philadelphia took a 1-0 lead in the second when Garry Maddox cracked his 11th home run.

Montreal, which had only four hits, threatened in the seventh when Andre Dawson doubled high off the wall in center, but Gary Carter popped out, and after issuing an intentional walk to Warren Cromartie, Ruthven struck out Larry Parrish to end the inning.

In Houston, Ruble tossed a four-hitter in outdueling Tom Seaver to pitch-Houston to a 2-0 victory over Cincinnati.

Jose Cruz knicked in a run in the first inning and Craig Reynolds added an RBI in the second as the first place Astros dropped the third-place Reds 3-1-2 games behind in the NL West with only seven games remaining.

Ruhle, 11-4, struck out two and walked none in registering his fifth complete game. It was his second shutout of the year.

The Astros collected only three hits off Seaver, 10-6, in seven innings but they turned two hits into runs in the first two innings in snapping Seaver's six-game winning streak.

In the first, Joe Morgan led off with a walk, advanced to third on two infield grounders and scored on Cruz's bloop single to left. Art Howe led off the second with a double, moved to third on Alan Ashby's line out to right and scored on Reynolds' sacrifice fly.

Reds' leadoff hitter Dave Collins singled to open the game but was removed when second baseman Morgan fielded Ken Griffey's grounder, tagged Collins and threw to first for a double play.

Bruce wary of ASU despite being favored

By United Press International

The odds-makers figure this one to be a blowout but Ohio State coach Earle Bruce, wary of Arizona State's opportunistic defense and perfect record, figures his second-ranked Buckeyes will have some problems with the Sun Devils today.

"They have great speed at the skilled positions, especially at running back," said Bruce. "They have a finesse array of talent. Their execution... is very, very good."

Arizona State, ranked 18th in the nation and coached by Darryl Rogers, formerly of Michigan State, has registered victories over Iowa, Houston and Oregon State in its first two games, using a ball-hawking defense to pick off seven passes and recover seven of 14 fumbles in its 23-13 victory over the Cowboys and a 42-14 triumph over Oregon State.

"Anytime you allow a team 15 plays and 400 yards but only 14 points," Rogers said of the victory over Oregon State, "there had to be some good defensive plays in there somehow."

Sophomore cornerback Ron Brown leads in interceptions with three, returning one of them 40 yards for a touchdown against Houston. ASU will be the first team this year with the ability to match speed with the Buckeyes, who are 2-0 with wins over Syracuse and Minnesota and a three-touchdown favorite over the Sun Devils.

Halfbacks Willie Gittens, with 140 yards rushing, and Robert Weatherly, 334 yards with quarterback Mike Pagan, who has completed 23-of-48 passes for 283 yards and three TD's, to form a very capable scoring attack.

"Ohio State always, and I mean always, has a good football team," said Rogers. "I just hope we can match up. We've come a long way, but we still have a long way to go."

Ohio State will feature the same lineup it did last week in its 47-0 romp over Minnesota. Art Schlichter will be at quarterback, Cal Murray at fullback, Tim Spencer at halfback and Doug Donkey and Gary Williams, slowed some by an ankle sprain, at the wide receivers.

John Eptropoulos, named the UPI Midwest Defensive Player of the Week for his performance against Minnesota, again will open at inside linebacker, along with Marcus Marek, in place of Glen Cobb, who is still hobbled by a thigh bruise.

Saturday's game will be the first meeting between the two schools, although the Sun Devils are unbeaten in five previous contests against Big Ten opponents.

Wolverines fall to Mt. Home attack

By MARV CLEMONS
Times-News sports editor

HAILEY — For most of the first half Wood River showed signs of upsetting Mountain Home Friday afternoon.

But the visiting Tigers displayed a passing game that would have made Roger Staubach proud and rolled to a 35-0 win over the green-clad Wolverines in a South Central Idaho Conference clash.

Wood River Coach John Hopkins said before the game that Mountain Home was by far the best team his squad would face this season.

For the first 18 minutes his Wolverines were up to the task. A tough pass rush caused problems for Mountain Home quarterback Rich Grimmitt and both teams were locked in a punting battle.

The kicking battle broke when the Tigers put together a drive and overcame two costly penalties to break the scoring tie late in the second period.

Following a punt that Wood River downed off the Mountain Home nine, Grimmitt went to work.

With 4:44 to play, Grimmitt hit Steve Foster for a 21-yard gain to the 30. Wood River sophomore Jeff Osborne sacked Grimmitt for a 10-yard loss on the next play and the next pass was incomplete to bring about a third-and-20. Grimmitt then hit favorite receiver Carlos Tijerina but Mountain Home was called for holding on the play and faced a third-and-25.

Grimmitt then calmly found Tijerina on the left side for a 28-yard gain to bring up a fourth-and-two feet. Grimmitt ran the sneak to get the first down as the clocked moved under three minutes.

An incomplete pass and illegal procedure on the Tigers brought up a second-and-15 and Grimmitt hit Tijerina deep down the right sideline for a 39-yard gain to the Wood River 21.

"Carlos told me he could beat his man deep and so we ran him faking to the inside and then turning down the sideline," Grimmitt said after the game.

Robert Lindsey took the handoff on the next play and cut across the grain to his left and squirmed all the way to the four before Wood River applied the stop.

Mike Leonard made the drive complete when he followed three blockers on a sweep right for the TD. Daryl Ducharme added the kick.

The half was not over for Grimmitt and the Tigers. The Mountain Home defense forced a punt and a late hit penalty on Wood River gave the Tigers a first-and-10 at the Wood River 20.

Grimmitt then found Monte Wells on the left side and he made a 21-yard gain to the four. There were 16 seconds left.

The game a play that nearly switched the momentum back to Wood River. On the first-and-goal Tijerina split wide left and ran a quick slant in. Wood River knew what was coming and Tracy Reynolds intercepted. He took off down the sideline and had a clear path to paydirt except for Grimmitt. The quarterback made the tackle to save a possible TD.

In the second half Mountain Home mixed the run with the pass. Dave Shoop capped a drive early in the third period for a 14-0 lead and just four minutes later Tim Brown handed in a 23-yard TD strike from Grimmitt. Steve Foster scored on a 24-yard pass late in the quarter and Rich Gurley capped a ground drive early in the fourth period with a five-yard romp to complete the Tigers' scoring.

"We used the passing game to open the ground game up," Grimmitt, who passed for 240 yards, said "They were double covering Carlos to the inside but when he went down the sideline and not too deep he was man-on-man."

Tijerina had combined with Grimmitt for six TD passes in the last two games before being blanked by Wood River. But it mattered little in view of the 35-0 win. Tijerina caught six passes for 150 yards and Grimmitt brought his five-game passing total to 1,378 yards.

The closest Wood River came to a score was midway in the second quarter when a roughing the punter penalty on the Tigers put the Wolverines at the Mountain Home 35 before Mountain Home got tough and took over on downs.

Bull gets the task of stopping the powerful Tigers next Friday in Mountain Home while Wood River, shutout in its last two games and 1-3 this season, will try to get back on track against Salmon at home.

Boxing's only undisputed title goes up for grabs tonight

LONDON (UPI) — It action's peak louder than words, today's world middleweight title fight between British champion Alan Minter and American challenger Marvin Hagler, promises to be a bigger bloodbath than a spaghetti western.

The two combatants have been involved in bitter verbal fighting ever since the Wembley conference. Center battle was announced.

The 35-year-old shaven-headed challenger from Brockton, Massachusetts, has tagged Minter a hollow champion, while Minter has accused his opponent of being a crackpot.

Hagler claims he was robbed of the verdict when he was adjudged to have drawn against Vito Antuofermo for the title in Las Vegas 10 months ago.

"All this does is to add to the bitterness in me. In my heart, I believe I am the middleweight champion," Hagler said.

The American was further annoyed that he was not given an immediate rematch. Instead it was Minter who stepped in to take the crown from Antuofermo on a split decision last March and the 29-year Britain stopped the Italian-American in eight rounds in the return at Wembley in June.

Now Hagler is getting another crack at the crown and is determined to take the belt back to the U.S. "My aim is to knock Minter off his high horse and bring him to earth after the things he said about me. I am going to make him respect me. Whatever he can do, I can do better," Hagler said.

Although Minter is the 8-11 odds-on favorite in the betting with Hagler quoted at 11-10, the champion is not making the mistake of under-estimating the American.

Hagler's punching power - he has stopped 40 of his opponents inside the distance in chalking up 49 victories, two draws and two defeats - speaks volumes.

Minter said: "I don't like Hagler, but I accept he's a good fighter. I don't have any tactics for tonight. I'll hit anything that's in front of me. Hagler's winding me up a bit with all that chat. He looks the part; talks well, but all the time I know I'll be champion and he'll be a contender."

The champion and challenger are both southpaws; but Hagler has the habit of switching to an orthodox guard in the middle of a fight with devastating effect.

But Minter is not worried by Hagler's change-about tactic. "I wouldn't notice a change if he made one. I hear he only switches if he's in trouble and when Hagler goes orthodox he doesn't throw punches."

In fact, it would be more in Hagler's interest to stick to his southpaw stance as Minter has had two painless earlier encounters with American southpaws.

Minter collected a face full of gashes and a nasty bump on his forehead before stopping Ray Seales in five rounds in 1978 two months before he knocked out Italian Germano Valeschi for the European title.

But in his next fight, Minter came up against the unbeaten Rommie Harris and was forced into retirement at the end of eight rounds with a badly cut mouth.

The defeat put Minter back at least a year in the world title quest and Harris went on to make an unsuccessful attempt at Argentinian Hugo Carr's world crown.

But Minter said he has learned his lesson about southpaws. "Losing to Harris like that really changed everything. I used to go berserk, like a lunatic when I got caught. I knew I had to think more, be more cautious otherwise I could be finished. I worked and now I'm a different fighter."

Richfield's Greg Marcial desperately tries to hang on to the football while Carey's Brent Tingey does everything to stop him

Tigers finally hold ball, smash Carey

By MAERV CLEMONS
Times-News sports editor

RICHFIELD — Fumbles plagued the Richfield football team again Friday but the Tigers overcame the season-long malady to crush Carey 40-6 in a critical Snake River Conference game.

The Tigers, playing before a sizeable and vocal homecoming crowd, fumbled on each of their first three possessions. All three fumbles came in Carey territory and aborted potential scoring drives.

Richfield scored on a safety to start its scoring binge; Carey runs a single wing offense and a high snap went over halfback Dan Turner's head. He recovered the ball but it was swarmed on the end zone for the two-pointer.

Late in the first period Joe Hendrickson's squad started to ramble. The first scoring drive was set up when another bad snap gave the Tigers the ball at the Carey 32. Six plays later Scott Exon swept left end from 10 yards for the TD. Stacy King added the PAT run for a 10-0 lead.

Following the TD, Richfield went for the onside kick and covered the ball at the Carey 45. The Tigers drove 45 yards in 12 plays to have Exon go to the right for one yard. Shane Gilj pulled for the PAT pass and Richfield had a 18-0 margin.

Carey, which entered the game as a potential contender in the conference, got on the board and back in the game.

Following the TD, Richfield went for the onside kick and covered the ball at the Carey 45. The Tigers drove 45 yards in 12 plays to have Exon go to the right for one yard. Shane Gilj pulled for the PAT pass and Richfield had a 18-0 margin.

stopped most of the day, but got a strong block in the middle and then turned on the speed to race past the Richfield defense. The score made it 18-0 at the half.

Richfield got slippery fingers to start the third period and furnished its first possession away, but the Tigers had little trouble the rest of the half.

Bill Naylor soon broke a trap play for a 40-yard gain and the Tigers scored three TDs in the second half.

Naylor, one of the workhorses in the Richfield offense, finished with an unusual 128 yards in 24 carries to lead the Tigers' charge.

Richfield goes to 2-1 in the Snake River and hosts North Gem next week. Richfield led its season opener at North Gem 16-4.

If Richfield can defeat North Gem, it would definitely be in the title chase with Castletown.

"As for the rivalry with Carey, Hendrickson was pleased."

"I think we took a little of the wind out of their sails," he said. "If Jamie (Peterson) gets going he can be the best runner in the conference, but there isn't much deception in their single wing and we were doing a lot of stunting and overloading plus we had a size edge on the line."

Carey dropped to 1-2 in the league and is likely eliminated from title contention. The Panthers are 2-2 overall.

Crenshaw's lead climbs to 4 over Miller

NAPA, Calif. (UPI) — Ben Crenshaw, playing some of the best golf of an otherwise disappointing year for him, pulled away from the field Friday with a 5-under-par 67 for a commanding lead halfway through a $300,000 PGA event at Silverado.

The 28-year-old Texan, whose last victory came almost two years ago, has banked more than $181,000 this year but it hasn't been all that pleasant for him. He's geared to winning and when he doesn't, he generally thinks something is wrong with his game.

But Crenshaw's fellow pros on the PGA Tour will tell you he is one of the most consistent players around and the fact he hasn't won since the 1979 Phoenix Open has no bearing on his play.

"Ben probably has more top 10 finishes than anyone," said Tom Watson, the year's leading money winner. He shot a 72 Friday to fall seven shots off the lead.

Crenshaw's 67 came on the heels of a first-round

66 Thursday and put him at 11-under-par — four shots ahead of his nearest competitor, Johnny Miller.

Chip Beck, the North Carolina youngster who is desperate to win a check in order to keep his playing card, started the day tied for the lead with Crenshaw and was in the chase for a while Friday. But Beck soon ran into bogey trouble and finished with a 1-over 73 that put him six shots back.

Miller, who has shown flashes of his old form this year, and even more flashes of his shaker side, missed at least a half dozen makeable birdie putts but still had a 69 for a 7-under to stand one shot ahead of Mike Reid, Tom Weiskopf, Lindy Miller and Gary Hallberg. Of that foursome, Lindy Miller made the most progress, shooting a 67, while Reid and Weiskopf had 70s and Hallberg a 71.

Watson was at 140 with a big group, which also included defending champion John Fought. This is the final tournament of the year for both Watson and Crenshaw and the last PGA stop in Napa. This event, under the present sponsorship, moves to Williamsburg, Va. next year.

Crenshaw, one of those worry-warts who always is analyzing his game, said he played well here the first two rounds because he finally relaxed.

"I feel the year is over so I'm not going to create any alibis," said Crenshaw. "I drove the ball very well and I hit some fine iron shots. But the key was I didn't make any bogeys."

Crenshaw's round included five birdies, some from incredible ranges.

He sank a 12-footer on the 16th, which was his seventh hole, then made a 15-footer on the first and a 55-footer on the second.

"It was a pretty solid round," said Crenshaw, who has won more than $1.1 million in six years. "But as well as I played there are some pretty good golfers close enough to make it an interesting final two rounds."

Royle paces Eagles in Pocatello meet

POCATELLO — Englishman Adrian Royle, beat some "super people" to lead a pack of College of Southern Idaho cross country runners in an unsecured invitational meet at a hilly Hillcrest golf course Friday.

Beating out 10 other runners from schools such as Brigham Young, Ricks, Montana State and Idaho State, Royle, a freshman, ran the 10,000-meter course in a scorching 25:32.2, an average of 4:40 minutes per mile.

"Adrian really ran a super race," said CSI cross country coach Karl Kleinkopf. He beat some super people from some of the bigger schools around. I'm glad to see him do it."

Other top 10 finishes for CSI were Hernandez and Henry Carvajal.

Minico's Ralph Lara was 27th, Todd Martin 40th, Terry Lee 42nd, Joe Foster 48th and Greg Walchi was 50th.

In the 5,000 meter girls' division, Jeannie Robinson placed 13th for the Eagles, running the course in 20:46. She was the only CSI girl who placed.

"The meet was a good one for us," said Kleinkopf. "We got to see some of our key people run and the course was very hilly. That will help us out in our regional meet, which is at Cougar Creek. The course up there is also very hilly."

Next week the CSI cross country team will travel to Boise State University for the Boise State Invitational.

Bruin girls shine in Boise

BOISE — The Twin Falls girls and the Borah boys won twin victories at the "fast and furious" Boise City Invitational cross country meet Friday.

Paced by two top five finishers — Julie Yergenson (2) and Tammy Crow (4) — the Bruin girls won their fourth 5K title in an uncontested, scoring only 54 points over Borah's 104. Jerome had 107, Pocatello 123 and Caldwell finished with 137.

Lucia Wanders of Caldwell was the individual winner, Malina Thomson of Boise was third and Elaine Johnson of Borah was fifth.

Other Bruin finishers were Pam Stubbs 10th, Sandy Ford 14th, Nancy McGinnis 24th, Kristy Scott 37th and Keela Thornton was 45th.

The Borah boys placed the Jerome Tigers 43-58 for their win in a race that saw the top seven finishers break the old course record at Ann Morrison Park.

Larry Smilbeck of Kuna now officially holds the record, as he raced the 5,000 meter course in 15:10 for the boys.

Ray Coy of Pocatello was second, Eric Bergeson of Borah third, Jim McKenee of Jerome fourth and Eric McManaman of Twin Falls was fifth.

Harold Joy was 29th for Twin Falls, Sven Miksehl 33th, Troy Clementia 44th and Kevin Wahnt was 45th.

Shane Brewer paced the junior varsity girls to a 21:85 win over Jerome and Capital won the boys' junior varsity race. Twin Falls was fourth, Jerome was fifth.

Lopez-Melton on top in Dallas Classic

DALLAS (UPI) — Nancy Lopez birdied the final hole Friday to post a 3-under-par 69 under windy conditions and take a one-stroke lead over JoAnne Carner and hard luck rookie Myra Van Hoose after one round of the Dallas Classic.

Lopez, returning to the form that has made her the most feared player on the LPGA tour, almost holed a six-iron for an eagle on the 345-yard 18th and the resulting 1-foot birdie putt gave her a start on winning for the second straight year in Dallas.

"That positive attitude I've had in the past is back and that helps me a lot," said Lopez. "I'd like to win the last three tournaments this year. If I do that would give me a chance to be Player of the Year."

Van Hoose shared second place with Carner at 2-under 70 despite being bitten on the ankle by an ant and having that ankle swell rapidly through the rest of the round.

She was rushed to a hospital following her round and the doctor who tended to her ankle suggested that she not compete in Saturday's second round.

"But I'm almost leading the tournament," Van Hoose told the doctor.

"He told me, then, that under any other circumstances I shouldn't be playing," she said. "He told me to keep the ankle elevated all night on three or four pillows. It hurts. But I'm going to play tomorrow. At least I'm going to try."

Van Hoose, battling for Rookie of the Year honors on the tour, had played six holes when she was bitten by the ant and she managed to limp around the rest of the Bent Tree Golf Club course in 3-under.

"Actually I had two short birdie putts on the two holes after I was bitten," she said. "But I missed them because my concentration was ruined. I didn't know I was being hit to anything, but I should have known. I'm allergic to everything that comes down the road."

Twice before this year Van Hoose has been taken to a hospital during tournaments because of acute stomach pains.

Alone in fourth place at Tander 71 was Kathy Postlewait. No one else could beat par — on a blustery, cloudy afternoon. Jane Blalock, Penny Pultz and Lori Garbars shot par 72.

Deana Caponi Young, winner of the last two tour stops and the leading money winner this year, fired a 74 while Beth Daniel, second on the money list, had 74.5.

Trevino enjoys tie at Bob Hope Classic

ESPOM, England (UPI) — Lee Trevino birdied the final hole Friday for a 5-under-par 67 to join a four-way tie for the lead after two rounds of the $200,000 Bob Hope British Classic over the 6,855-yard BAC Country Club course.

Trevino, who finished his U.S. schedule last Sunday with a victory in the Texas Open at San Antonio, had a two-day total of 114-under 133 to share the lead with Germany's Bernhard Langer (67) and Britain's Brian Walton (65) and Gordon Brand (68).

Spain's Severiano Ballesteros, the Masters champion, shot a 68 and stood one shot back along with first-round leader Eamonn Darcy of Ireland, who had lost and Australia's Greg Norman, who fired nine birdies for a 64.

Trevino, out in a 3-under 33, pitched to six feet and holed for a birdie on the 12th hole but still required a birdie on the 521-yard, 18th to tie for the lead.

"I had 224 yards to the green and I knew if I tried to cut a three iron it was unlikely the ball would stop on the green," said Trevino. "So I chose to hook a low shot with a four iron and land the ball short of the green hoping for it to run up close to the flag. It came off just as I wanted — but I missed the seven footer for eagle and had to settle for birdie."

Langer, who led for second in the Tournament Players Championship last week, had one eagle, five birdies and two bogeys in his 67.

Elko team wins Jackpot pro-women's crown

JACKPOT — An Elko team ran off with honors in the annual Jackpot pro-women's golf tournament Friday.

Professional Bert Irish and amateurs Sharon Irish, Hazel Macken, Janet Gillilan and Elaine Sorrenson turned the two-best ball competition with a 35-yard 109.

Jerry Breanu of Boise won the pro sweeps with a two-under par 70 while host Bill Downs and Irish shared second with 71s. Tom Clary of Sun Valley was fourth with 72.

In the amateur sweeps, Tam Reinke of Billings, Mont., won the low handicap gross with an 80 while Penny Jones of Rupert had an 85. Sergene Sorrenson, Burley, was at 85 and Chris Snoddy, Ketchum, had 86. In net, Louis Gingrich of Boise was the winner at 67 while Jackie Gasser, Twin Falls; Fern Paeppehem, Nampa, and Justice

Masserelli, Jerome, all tied with 70.

In the upper division, Gert Sweeney of Caldwell won gross with 86, five ahead of Elko's Janet Gillilan. Marilyn Savvik, Burley, had 92 and Corky Walker, Nampa, had 96.

Sharon Irish led net play with a 62 with Alice Hansen and Betty Tolman tied for second at 65. Marcene Davis, Reburg, was fourth with 67.

Rifle and pistol club gearing up

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Rifle and Pistol club will begin its weekly fall and spring shoots Oct. 3 for January and Oct. 7 for seniors.

The club is located at the end of North Washington Street on the canyon rim. For further information call Marvin L. Fouts at 733-5627.

Campanella files suit for mishap

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — Former-Dodger catcher Roy Campanella, paralyzed in a 1958 automobile accident, has filed a $1 million claim against Beverly Hills charging that city negligence caused him to fall out of his wheelchair and break both legs last May.

His attorney, Richard Oliver, who is representing the former baseball guard, said the accident occurred at the American Pyralis Institute, headquartered at Greystone Mansion, and the claim was filed Sept. 17.

Oliver said Campanella had been the guest of honor at the opening of a movie at the institute May 1.

The attorney said when Campanella left the mansion, which is owned by the city of Beverly Hills and leased to the institute, he was forced to have his wheelchair pushed along a very dark sidewalk.

In the darkness, Oliver said, the chair went off a curb and Campanella was thrown, breaking both legs. He was taken to a hospital but he left the pavement. Oliver said there was a light fixture on the street but it was out of order at the time of accident.

Johnson enters innocent plea

ATLANTA (UPI) — Atlanta Hawks guard Eddie Johnson entered a plea of innocent in Fulton County Superior Court Friday when charged with possession of cocaine and driving violations stemming from his arrest more than two months ago.

His attorney, Marvin Arrington, also entered a number of motions, including a request to suppress the evidence relating to Johnson's arrest because of what the attorney contends was an illegal search and seizure. The motions will be heard Nov. 10.

Johnson said he was arrested on charges of possession of cocaine, driving under the influence and driving with a suspended driver's license.

He was arrested July 13 in a rented car and police said cocaine was found in the vehicle. He was arrested later on charges of stealing a rental Ford but the owner of the car agency decided not to press charges after the car was returned.

Stargell better, but still questionable

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Slugger-Willie Stargell has retained the full range of motion in his left knee, but it was questionable whether he will play in any of Pittsburgh's remaining eight games, a Pirate spokesman said Friday.

Stargell, 38, last year's National League co-MVP, visited Dr. Larry Johnson, a knee specialist in Lansing, Mich., Friday, and was told his leg is much-improved. Stargell was placed on the disabled list in mid-August.

Stargell said the healing process is not fully complete, but Stargell could begin jogging, weightlifting, batting and cycling, then gradually increase his activity, the spokesman said.

"When he returns to active status depends on his progress," she said.

After his examination, Stargell traveled to Chicago to join the Pirates, who have a series with the Cubs.

Yankees hoping for Nettles' return

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees are hoping to have their veteran-third baseman Graig Nettles ready to play should they clinch the American League East Division title and go on to the playoffs.

Nettles, sidelined since July 23 with hepatitis, worked out lightly at Yankee Stadium for the second straight day Thursday and said he feels he is growing stronger.

Red coaches sign 1981 pacts

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Cincinnati Reds have announced that manager John McNamara's entire coaching staff have been signed for the 1981 season.

First base coach Ron Piazza, third base coach Russ Nixon, pitching coach Bill Fischer and bullpen coach Harry Dunlop all have signed new one-year contracts, Reds president Dick Wagner said.

Mariners' sale hanging in limbo

SEATTLE (UPI) — Canadian businessman Nelson Skalbania said Thursday that only "a formality" remains in the way of his purchase of the Seattle Mariners, but Mariners' President Dan O'Brien would not confirm the sale as being imminent.

Hyde claims Kuhn 'off base'

CHICAGO (UPI) — Rep. Henry J. Hyde, R-Illinois, said Thursday baseball Commission Bowie Kuhn is completely off base in attempting to block the sale of the Chicago White Sox to Ohio businessman Edward J. DeBartolo Sr.

"What right does Kuhn, who lives in New Jersey, have to try to block the unanimous wishes of the White Sox Board of directors and, I believe, the overwhelming majority of White Sox fans?" Hyde said.

Kuhn has been less than enthusiastic about the Sox sale to the Youngstown, Ohio, businessman because DeBartolo would be an absentee owner. Kuhn also feared he eventually would attempt to move the Sox out of Chicago.
