

The war

Iran rejects Hussein's offer of a ceasefire

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UPI) — Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein Monday offered a cease-fire in the week-old Gulf war in return for Tehran's acceptance of all Iraqi claims but Iranian president Abolhasan Bani-Sadr pledged to carry on fighting until the last aggressor is driven from our territory.

The surprise Iraq offer of a cease-fire came after Baghdad claimed its troops pushed 60 miles into Iran in their deepest penetration of the seven-day-old war.

In a nationwide television address, the Iraqi president, dressed in military uniform, said Baghdad was ready to consider a cease-fire "if the other side agrees."

"Obviously, our national interests have to be defended in any negotiations," Hussein said, listing officially for the first time Iraq's claim to sovereignty over the Shatt-al-Arab waterway and the three tiny islands in the strategic Strait of Hormuz.

Hussein also demanded "full democratic rights in Iran" — an apparent call for autonomy in some form for Iran's ethnic minorities such as the Kurds in the north and the predominantly Arab population in oil-rich Khuzistan, the province in which Iraq's invasion force sent its main thrust.

"If the other side does not want to accept a cease-fire it is up to them to accept the consequences," said Hussein.

Iraq's claim to Shatt-al-Arab is at the heart of the conflict between the two oil-rich states and surrender of the disputed waterway will almost certainly prove unacceptable to Iran.

At the United Nations, the Security Council approved unanimously a resolution calling on Iran and Iraq to "refrain from any further use of force" and settle their week-old war peacefully.

Within 10 minutes of convening the meeting, the council approved the resolution, sponsored by Mexico, by a 15-0 vote.

Both sides renewed air attacks on each other's oil facilities, already crippled by sustained bombardments.

Iraq said it captured Ahvaz, capital of the oil-rich province of Khuzistan, 60 miles inside Iran. Tehran denied this claim as a "deranged lie."

Iraqi forces all but captured Khurramshahr,

Iran's major port city on the disputed Shatt al Arab waterway.

UPI Correspondent Joseph A. Reaves, reporting from 500 yards outside the city, said the Iraqis were not yet in Khurramshahr, but that virtually all Iranian forces had left.

Invading Iraqi field commanders said only "15 or 20 snipers" and Iranian civilians still defended the city. Reaves said Iraqi mortars and artillery moved up to within a mile of the city.

Some of the local population from Iran's Khuzistan province, ethnic Arabs who have been hostile to Iran's government, joined the Iraqi forces in fighting around Khurramshahr and Ahvaz, where the huge Iranian refinery lay in ruins.

Hussein added in a speech, which began at midnight, "They (the Iraqis) had to know their role as the policeman of the Gulf is dead and gone."

"We declare we are ready to stop the struggle and willing to negotiate and accept mediators of respectful international organizations," he said.

UN calls for peace

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — The U.N. Security Council approved unanimously Sunday a resolution calling on Iran and Iraq to "refrain from any further use of force" and settle their week-old war peacefully.

Within 10 minutes of convening the meeting the council approved the resolution, sponsored by Mexico, by 15-0 votes.

Iran — which took no part in Sunday's session — and Iraq ignored an earlier council plea to end the fighting issued without a vote by President Teoh Silit of Tunisia.

Other members met behind closed doors Saturday but, at the request of non-aligned members, suspended the public session until today.

Pakistan, one of the architects of the Islamic mission to Iran and Iraq to try to end the fighting, pressured non-aligned delegates to resist a public meeting to avoid undercutting the mission's work.

The Soviet Union and East Germany supported the plea.

But diplomatic success said Pakistan had withdrawn its objections because the two-man mission of Pakistani President Zia ul-Haq and Islamic Conference Secretary-General Habibullah Chahi appeared to have made little headway in Tehran.

Ambassador Porfirio Munoz Ledo of Mexico, speaking after the resolution, said "what is most important now is a cessation of hostilities."

"This is not the first action we have taken, but it is the strongest," he said.

Oil stocks save West, but later?

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The industrialized West's big question in the week-long war between Iran and Iraq is how long it will be before it affects the world's oil supplies and another crucial sea in the Persian Gulf.

All indications are that it will not be long in coming.

After a week of fighting, Iraq and Iran appear to have successfully destroyed each others' multi-billion dollar networks of oil refineries, storage tanks, pumping stations and export terminals built up during the past century.

The industrialized West is temporarily spared the worst effects of this by 100 days' worth of oil stocks presently stored up during the past year.

But the loss of Iraq's 2.8 million barrels per day of exports and Iran's 700,000 barrels effectively wipes out each day a glut of 2.5 million barrels that had been soaking the world oil market and depressing prices for the past three months.

The burden on the market will be eased slightly if Iraq can resume pumping some of its crude through pipelines across Turkey, Syria and Lebanon to the Mediterranean. But Iranian saboteurs and air strikes are doing their utmost to prevent that and for the time being Iraq's exports — 6 percent of the West's daily consumption — are choked off.

The impact of this cutoff will be felt differently in the short and long terms.

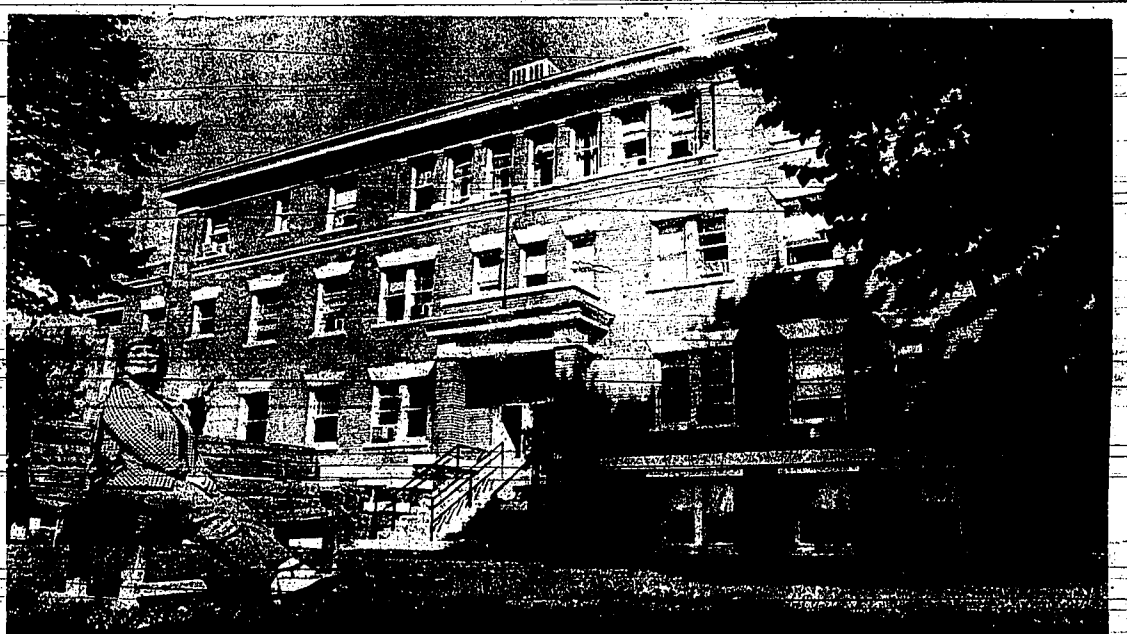

In the short term, those countries that depend most heavily on Iraqi and Iranian exports — France, Brazil, Japan, West Germany, Italy, India and Britain — will have to make up the shortfall by increasing buying odd lots on the spot market or securing new long term contracts with other oil producers.

But Western industrialized nations have the advantage of being able to draw on their stockpiles for the next few months. Most of them also can rely on the International Energy Agency oil sharing scheme.

For the developing countries, the pinch will be felt immediately. Many of them not only received a large percentage of imports from Iraq — in the case of Brazil, half of its daily needs — but also usually on favorable terms. They have no access to extensive stocks or the IEA, and can be expected to launch a world-wide scramble for replacement crude.

Since the United States received no oil from Iran and very little from Iraq it will not be hurt in the immediate future.

The panic oil buying from other countries are already bidding up the price of crude on the spot market, where the cost of an average barrel of Middle Eastern light has risen from $32 to $44 in the past week.

Marian Posey Anderson would like to have an expert assess the old Twin Falls County Hospital to determine if it's worth saving.

Old hospital: Group wants to consider saving as historic structure, county says it's in poor shape and an economic drain

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Fate of the old Twin Falls County Hospital building is being debated by county officials and historical preservation interests.

The building, which has served as an annex office building for the county courthouse for a number of years, is empty except for the University of Idaho Extension offices.

County Commission Chairman Meri E. Leonard said this group will prove as soon as their own new facilities are ready — probably several months.

The commissioners have considered tearing down the old structure to provide additional land space for future growth of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital facilities.

However, the newly organized Historic Heritage Council of Magic Valley wants to save the building as a historic structure and an important local building for restoration.

"In a letter to the commissioners, the council pointed out the structure, built in 1917, is a 'fine example of a neo-classical style public building of native basalt and brick.' The council says it is eligible for listing in the National Register of Historic Places.

Commissioners, however, say the building isn't on the register and is not among buildings selected for preservation in the Twin Falls city master plan.

"We are better informed on the structural condition of the old hospital than any other layman group," says Marian Posey Anderson of Jerome, a representative of the state's Historical Preservation Office.

"All we are asking is that we have some expert assessment of the building to determine if it is worth saving," she said.

Members of the historical preservation council say the expert assessment should involve someone with special knowledge of building restoration and historical values.

Leonard said the county has made no decision as to the future of the hospital. He said it will continue to be available for storage for county, Magic Valley Memorial Hospital and Community Action Agency.

He said the building's boiler has been a serious problem for many years and is costly to maintain.

County Commissioner Tommy Walker Sr., one of the first to recommend the building be taken out of service, said it has been an economic drain for several years. He said in checking records early this year he learned the building brought in $20,106 from rental fees.

"At the same time, we spent $41,337 to maintain and heat it. Our costs included $18,526 for utilities, $22,410 for custodial and janitorial salaries and about $3,000 in insurance and mechanical maintenance. This is a loss to the county taxpayers of $21,832 last year," Walker said.

"On top of that the roof is in critical need of repairs, the wiring needs replacing, as does the plumbing," he added.

Walker and Leonard said they do not want to sell the building to a developer because they want to keep the hospital land resources intact for future hospital needs.

Anderson said proposed preservation involves only the exterior of the structure. The interior could be remodeled in any fashion desired by the owners or developers.

"We can see it as a valuable facility in the future. It could provide office space for health-related agencies and individuals, or even retail outlets. Many old structures have been restored and have become profitable rentals," she added.

There are federal funds available for restoration, she said, and under current building costs, restoration now is more profitable. If the building is sound, than new construction.

Willetta Nail of the historic council said any county expenditures of $2,500 or more for demolition of a county structure requires a call for bids and that letting a firm take the building for salvage is not legal if it circumvents the bidding procedure.

She said Dr. Merit Wells of the Idaho Historic Preservation Office is one of several in Idaho qualified as specialists in rehabilitation and restoring of historic stone and masonry buildings. She said the council hopes the county will work with it in assessing the building. Anderson said the council would be willing to provide information on building restoration that could show a beneficial method of such a restoration.

"We are not going to deny anyone the right to take part in the decision as to the building future, and certainly we will respond to them (the Historic Heritage Council) and will want to have fully qualified people inspect the old building before we make any decisions," Leonard said.

Candidates in spotlight

TWIN FALLS — Voters will have an opportunity to meet their local candidates Tuesday in a League of Women Voters sponsored candidate forum.

The forum will be held at 7 p.m. in the Vo-Tech building of the College of Southern Idaho campus.

All area candidates from both parties are invited to speak and express their positions on local issues, including the implementation of the 1 percent sales tax, education, agriculture, health care and energy policy.

Mountain Home airman among injured 6 neo-Nazis arrested in Oktoberfest bombing

MUNICH, West Germany (UPI) — Police arrested the head of an outlawed neo-Nazi group and five of its followers for the bomb attack that killed 12 Oktoberfest revelers in West Germany's worst terrorist attack, officials said Sunday.

The alleged bomber, Gundolf Koehler, a student with knowledge of explosives, was killed in the blast and probably "had both hands right near the bomb when it went off," Bavarian Interior Minister Gerald Tandler said in announcing the break in the case.

Koehler was a known member of the neo-Nazi Wehrsportgruppe Hoffmann, whose leader, Karl-Heinz Hoffmann, 41, was arrested with five other group members.

The dead included one Briton, one Swiss and three West German children aged 6, 8 and 10. The other victims were West German adults.

Five U.S. Air Force personnel were among 211 people injured in the blast Friday night, authorities said.

Airman 1st Class Cynthia Fox, 22, of Loomis, Calif., lost a leg in the blast and was in critical condition at Munich's university clinic. Her husband, Sgt. John D. Fox, of Mountain Home, Idaho, and three other airmen received minor injuries.

The other injured airmen were identified as Airman 1st Class Denise Fowler, of Sparta, N.Y.; Airman 1st Class Elyse of Montague, Mich.; and Sgt. Mark Kantenberg, hometown not immediately known.

Federal prosecutor Kurt Rebmann said Hoffmann and the five of his followers were arrested Saturday. Four of the group were caught trying to cross the border to Austria on their way to Yugoslavia in a convoy of cars, including six vehicles allegedly destined for the Middle East.

Police said Hoffmann, whose group staged military parades and mock battles in the forests around his private castle at Erlangen, near Nuremberg, has financed his activities by selling vehicles and "equipment" to the Middle East.

Hoffmann's group was outlawed in January.

Koehler could have been alone at the bomb site, Tandler said, but authorities issued an urgent appeal with pictures of the youth and his father, car found near the festival area, asking citizens to report anything suspicious.

Chain snatchers

"One fast yank and they're gone"

NEW YORK (UPI) — Young thieves who tear gold chains from the necks of unsuspecting women in New York have become so brazen that they rip necklaces even as police are in pursuit.

"Can you believe that?" asked police Inspector Edward Cappello. "The 1,200 victims of chain snatchings in July and August can't."

Cappello told how a nimble chain snatcher reached into the window of a 42nd Street crosswalk bus, stalled in traffic, and swiped a possum-necked chain.

"We apprehended that one," said Capello, commander of the city's Street Crime Unit. "Usually, it's a fast yank and they're gone."

So many women have had their jewelry stolen on New York City streets and subways that a special force of 150 plainclothes police officers has been deployed to stalk the thieves, starting this week.

"We want to stop this crime before the cold weather stops it, so if you don't like bulbs planted in the ground, it's a flower again in the spring," said Police Commissioner Robert J. McGuire.

He said the high price of gold, nearly $700 an ounce last week, has spurred an "alarming" increase in chain thefts. McGuire said 1,300 necklace thefts were reported during July and August alone. Such crimes accounted for 70% of arrests during the same period.

Two women have been killed by chain snatchers.

Dora Papanagiotou, 32, was walking along a street near her home in Queens on June 23 when she was called over to a car to give directions. One of the two passengers grabbed Mrs. Papanagiotou's heavy gold chain. It did not break, so the car sped off, dragging her two blocks before she died.

Last week, Colleen Wall, a 21-year-old tourist from Ellicott City, Md., was strolling near Manhattan's theater district after seeing a play with a friend. She was accosted by three chain snatchers. She resisted, a knife was plunged into her back, and she died a few hours later.

Typically, the chain snatchers rove subway stations in groups. Police say the thefts earn them as much as $50 a week. Their average age is 16, although Capello has talked to suspects as young as 13. They wear sneakers that police call "felony shoes."

Congress about to recess for election

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress this week meets for the last time before the November election but Democratic leaders have assigned crucial legislation to the hazards of a "lame duck" session.

House Speaker Thomas O'Neill and Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd, realizing it was impossible to finish work before the end of the week, settled on a "lame duck" session beginning Nov. 12.

In the process, O'Neill and Byrd showed the hectic pre-joint session pace, giving incumbents a chance to hit the campaign trail.

At the same time, the Senate managed to put off some politically sensitive votes until after the election such as the annual go-around on the issue of federal financing of abortions.

The potential agenda for the "lame duck" session, which could technically last until Jan. 3 with time outs for Thanksgiving and Christmas is large enough for an entire year. And controversial enough to threaten any action.

At any rate, "lame duck" sessions historically have been failures with little to show in the way of accomplishment.

All 45 House members — except those who have been whipped in primaries, are retiring or seeking other office — will face the voters. A sizable number of them are going to be back for the fall session as "lame ducks."

In the Senate, 26 incumbents are on the firing line. Five are retiring and three — Sens. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y.,

Donald Stewart, D-Ala., and Mike Gravel, D-Alaska — lost in the primaries.

But the congressional elections probably will have less influence on the fate of the post-election term than the presidential election.

Should Ronald Reagan oust President Carter from the White House, the GOP is certain to make every effort to block administration proposals and Carter nominees until the inauguration. The best Congress could hope for would be a continuing resolution to keep the government operating until Reagan sends his proposals and his budget to Capitol Hill.

If Carter wins a second term, however, and the party lineups remain close to what they are, Congress could tackle such tough issues as a tax cut, the budget, and possibly the fair housing law, in addition to the remaining appropriations measures.

The third possibility affecting the post-election session would be a significant increase among Senate Republicans, now in the minority 50-41. If they win control, Senate members of the GOP might fight to put over legislation until the 97th Congress when they can make the calls.

The House plans to adjourn for the election period late Thursday and the Senate could cut out as early as Tuesday.

The Senate hopes to dispose of several more appropriations bills before leaving.

Silo leaked nitrates into water

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Levels of toxic chemicals in a water well near a blown-off Titan II missile site exceeded maximum safety standards and suggest the devastated silo might be leaking nitrates, the state health director said Sunday.

Dr. Robert Young said weekend tests by his department showed nitrate concentrations of 16 parts per million at a private well about a quarter-mile from the silo at Damascus, Ark. He said the level at the same well after heavy rains showed a nitrate level of 9.4 parts per million.

The maximum safe level set by the Environmental Protection Agency is 10 parts per million, he said. Tests at two other wells within a mile of the silo showed nitrate concentrations of 1.8 and 2.4 parts per million.

Nitrates can be particularly harmful to fetuses and young children if ingested in heavy concentrations, said engineering division director Bruno Kirsch. However, the wells tested did not carry direct water for humans or animals, he said.

Nevertheless, Young said his department plans to watch the nitrate levels carefully in water samples near the silo. High nitrate levels and increases in toxicity could indicate a leak in the silo.

The source of the nitrates is believed to be a fuel oxidizer, nitrogen tetroxide, left from the Sept. 19 missile explosion. Kirsch said the oxidizer is known to break down into nitrates, and the actual fuel material hydrazine — also breaks down into ammonia that later becomes a nitrate compound.

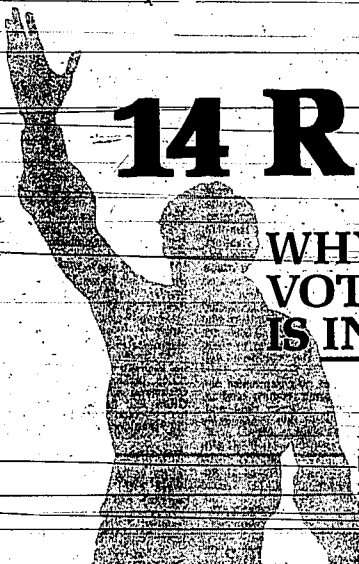

How much — if any — oxidizer remains in the silo is not known, because the Air Force has not been able to assess the damage. Tests indicate high levels of toxic material in the depths of the hole where the Titan II formerly stood, so exploration hasn't begun.

Kirsch said Air Force engineers at the site could not determine if the double-layer concrete walls of the silo were cracked in the blast — but suspected they weren't.

"They compare it to sticking a shotgun in the mud and pulling the trigger," Kirsch said. "That will splinter the top of the blast, but leaves the base in one piece. That's what they think happened at the silo."

Kirsch said civilian engineers at the site don't believe the blast damaged the geological structure near the missile. If it did, he said, polluted water could seep from the silo into the water table.

Young said his office would continue to monitor the toxicity levels in nearby wells.

WHY THE FRANK CHURCH VOTING RECORD ON DEFENSE IS INDEFENSIBLE.

In Idaho, Frank Church says he is for a "strong, intelligent defense." But in Washington he has voted to cut over $50 billion from defense budgets. Is Frank Church really a "friend" with that record? Fortunately, 43 of his 49 votes to cut America's defense were rejected by his Senate colleagues.

Would you have voted for these cuts in America's military strength?

Campaign status

'Win in last 2-3 weeks' — Carter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Approaching the midpoint of the fall campaign, President Carter has been stung by reaction to his pointed remarks about Ronald Reagan, but believes a media and travel blitz in the final two weeks will bring victory.

A key campaign aide said Carter's improved outlook is due to several factors — Carter now can take the offensive on the debate issue, independent John Anderson's impact has declined, and Carter's lead over Reagan is emerging as the candidate of the far right.

"We always have felt we would win it in the last two or three weeks," the aide told UPI. "We'll probably be within striking distance but behind in the polls until then."

Carter will continue his pattern of traveling two or three days a week, supplemented by Rose Garden entertaining of political groups, until shortly before the election, the aide said.

He said the campaign recognized Carter would be "vulnerable to attack" for refusing to join the first debate, but feels now that Reagan's refusal to debate without Anderson appears "not logical or credible."

The Carter camp believes the Reagan-Anderson debate may have given a lift to Reagan, but that this is only temporary.

"It seems to be going as we expected," the aide said. "People are awakening to the fact that Reagan really is the candidate of the extreme right. He can't really deny it."

Carter's own tongue has caused him some of his biggest problems.

Two weeks ago, Carter looked out over an Atlanta congregation of blacks and told a little joke: When a black mayor calls a white president a "Georgia boy," he said, that shows "how far we've come." Laughter shook the rafters of Ebenezer Baptist Church.

With Martin Luther King Sr. shouting aments behind him, an apparently exhilarated Carter tossed aside his prepared speech and ad libbed.

Without naming Reagan, Carter said Reagan's speeches about "states rights" in Mississippi and his reference to the Ku Klux Klan are code words that send a message and create a "cloud on the political horizon."

"Racism has no place in this country," Carter said.

But at a Sept. 16 news conference commented by questions about whether Carter is conducting a mean campaign, the president finally said in exasperation, "I do not think my opponent is a racist in any degree."

Reagan has become very cautious

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A red and white sign held aloft at Ronald Reagan's Sunnyvale, Calif., rally last week had some advice for the Republican nominee: "Reagan," it read, "Keep attacking Carter. AVOID REACTING. Good Luck."

The poster might well have been written by Reagan's staff, because the former California governor, who loved to feed hardline rhetorical red meat to his conservative fans during the primaries, has become a very cautious candidate as election day nears.

And the Reagan staff believes President Carter, by tossing political knockdown pitches at his opponent, has done much to unravel the decency image Carter had cultivated.

Last week, for instance, Reagan pointedly labeled Carter's warmonger charge "beneath decency." Earlier Carter suggestions that Reagan was a racist were termed "shameful" and "harmful."

That has been the tactic throughout the past three weeks of White House broadsides. Reagan is pictured by his staff less defensive than saddened by the attacks.

The voter is supposed to see Reagan as filled with sadness over the kind of campaign Carter is waging. "We're not going to get down in the gutter with him," said Reagan spokesman Lyn Nofziger. As for Reagan's stump speeches, they are now more reassuring than exciting.

He spends a good deal of time explaining past positions on such things as Social Security or national defense — the two concerns that almost always crop up in talks with potential voters.

Virtually nothing Reagan says lately is off-the-cuff. It took him a full day to comment substantively on the Iraq-Iranian dispute, and when he did, he read a prepared statement that blamed the conflict on Carter.

Reagan's change of mind and subsequent acceptance — in a prepared statement — of a White House intelligence briefing on the Persian Gulf dispute was made after day-long talks with advisers.

And his decision to forego the League of Women Voters latest debate invitation was made public — in a prepared statement — after a full day of talks between the candidate and his Washington advisers.

The few questions reporters manage to lob at Reagan are frequently interrupted by anxious aides fearful the candidate, who often is willing to talk, will say something damaging. As Nofziger said Saturday, "We're not here to debate, we're not here to hold press conferences, we're here to win the election."

Anderson's chances faltering — but could still have an impact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John Anderson hoped the tie with Ronald Reagan would be a turning point for his longshot independent campaign, but in the week following it, his chances did not improve — and may have gotten worse.

His poll rating remains in a different ball park than President Carter or Reagan's, and money still is a serious problem.

Anderson had hoped a strong showing in the Sept. 21 nationally televised debate would not only give him a lift to contender ranking in the polls, but would make funds more available.

The failure to achieve those goals is an ominous sign because it is likely that the appearance with Reagan before 50 million viewers was his best chance to reach so many American voters.

Although he did well in the debate, polls show the confrontation has not made any difference in his standing. And there does not seem to be anything on the horizon that can reverse the slide his candidacy is in.

If he is shown to have no chance to win, the slide will accelerate, since many of his supporters will want to waste their vote.

Last spring and summer polls showed Anderson was getting in the low 20s in three-way heats with Reagan and Carter, who were in the low 30s. At that point victory seemed possible, although a longshot.

But after the major party conventions, Anderson fell to around 15 percent — 20 points behind Carter and Reagan. New national polls out this weekend showed no improvement — some even show a decrease — since the debate.

"When it comes to winning, however, it is not the national vote that matters.

The presidential race is really 50 separate state races plus the District of Columbia.

Anderson runs poorly in the South, where polls give him less than 10 percent, but well in key Northeast, Midwest and western industrial states, in Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Michigan and Washington; he is in the vicinity of 20 percent.

Because only 34 percent of the vote in a state might be needed to win electoral votes — which are allotted on a winner-take-all basis — he is still a formidable figure, whose impact on the outcome could be decisive.

So even if he cannot win the White House, few are writing off his impact on the race or the possibility he could carry some states — enough to deny either Carter or Reagan an electoral majority and therefore force the House of Representatives to pick the next president.

Anderson still speaks to small crowds in places Reagan and Carter would never deign to go, and less media attention than either opponent and is now more than ever forced to deal with the constant question of whether he is a serious candidate.

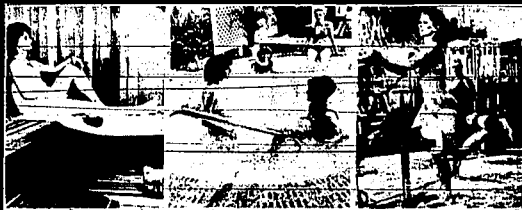

The Illinois congressman began his quixotic quest as an independent April 24 by acknowledging money would be a problem since the government does not give him the $2.4 million that Carter and Reagan get to finance their campaigns.

He said originally he would be able to raise and spend $12.5 million, but so far he has only raised half that and has not been able to afford the television commercials which campaign manager David Garth expected would be the key ingredient of his come-from-behind strategy.

"We had a natural gas furnace installed in our home last winter and we're really pleased."

The Hudsons changed to natural gas because they were concerned about the cost and supply of heating oil. And after the changeover, they found natural gas heat to be cleaner and faster, too. It was a change for the better.

In the long run, balanced use of energy is the only choice we have.

Every home that uses gas instead of electricity for heating and water heating frees up enough power to serve five or six additional homes with electricity for all those other jobs that only electricity can do — lights, television, radio, and appliances. That's the best use of energy... and it's our only choice.

SHAFFER'S SWORD

Solomon had nothing on Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Harry Shaffer. It wasn't a baby the people in his courtroom were fighting over Friday — but emotionally, it may as well have been. David Phillip Rudich and his wife, Stanley Benton-Rudich, were divorcing and their battle concerned ownership of their mutually adored Hollis-Royce. Shaffer's decision split custody. He gets the car for one month — she for the next. Until blown gaskets do their part.

THE BRATS

Royalty is spoiled, and rock stars are royalty. Therefore, when the group Van Halen demands several pounds of M&M candies backstage before each concert, Van Halen gets it. But Van Halen hates the brown ones — likes only the colored ones — so someone has to sift out all the brown ones. But that can't wait until the CBS Van Halen's opening act at the Los Angeles Sports Arena last week, loves the brown ones — can't stand the colored ones. Jack Spratt should be the roader.

EMPIRE BUILDER

Ex-Beatle John Lennon is coming out of retirement for the first time in five years, to become the latest addition in the stable of artists corralled by David Geffen for his new label. Geffen will bring out Lennon's newest album, making him the second superstar to come over. The 37-year-old recording executive also has signed Donna Summer, and next week he'll announce Elton John has left MCA Records to join up.

SUNDAY PUNCH

It takes more lip than the average man can muster to out-talk Muhammad Ali, and while Larry Holmes may not be as articulate as the ex-champ, he's finally found a nerve he can hit. Holmes is training in Las Vegas to defend his heavyweight crown Oct. 2 at Caesars Palace against Ali's attempted comeback. And he's started referring to his opponent as "Porfy." Fight followers say Ali — ever self-conscious about his girth — grinds his teeth every time he hears it.

MAN'S BEST FRIENDS

If you're a horse or a dog you have a good friend in actress Carmelita Pope. But if you are a movie producer or director about to use an animal in an inhumane way, watch out. Miss Pope, who has directed the Hollywood Office of the American Humane Association since 1978, says the tentative agreement aimed at settling the actors strike contains language saying the "American Humane shall be consulted, we shall be given scripts and we shall be on the set when American Humane thinks it is appropriate."

BEHIND THE NAME: Young Desi Arnaz was born Desiderio Alberto Arnaz III.

Actors to be out 3 more weeks

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Striking actors will not return to work until ratification of a proposed new contract with movie and television producers is complete, a process that could take another three weeks, union officials said Sunday.

Regional directors of the striking Screen Actors Guild and the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists recommended that members approve the pact.

But the strike, which already has killed 67,000 actors and 130,000 jobs in related craft industries for 10 weeks, will continue for about two or three more weeks while members vote, union officials said.

The actors will be idle while the American Federation of Musicians attempts to forge a new contract with the producers. About 5,000 members of the Musicians' union struck the producers five days after the actors walked off their jobs July 21.

A bargaining session is scheduled for next Wednesday between producers and musicians.

AFTRA's western section directors voted 25 to 2 for acceptance of the new contract. SAG's Hollywood branch voted 25 to 5.

The proposed contract calls for an immediate 15 percent increase in base pay and another 15 percent hike Jan. 1, 1981, which would boost minimum pay for actors to $297.56 a day.

The contract also raises pay whenever an actor's work is rerun and programs for sharing profits from programs sold for use on pay television networks and for home cassettes and discs.

Wish upon a brick? you got it

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Arleen McCoy of Akron isn't quite a Dorothy who had a Yellow Brick Road to guide her through Oz.

Mrs. McCoy only had one brick, and that one was dead.

Mrs. McCoy often told her four children about the brick close to the curb in front of her home that had a star imprinted in its crusty, treaded face.

She talked how she often sat on the curb near her "magic" brick, making wishes on it.

And she talked of cleaning her brick to make it gleam.

Her eldest daughter Melinda wanted to keep her mother's childhood dreams alive.

She called the Akron Public Works Department a "wizard" by the name of Jim Foeman wanted to help.

Foeman, a highway maintenance superintendent, said the 60-year-old street where Mrs. McCoy grew up, but he couldn't find her brick, so Mrs. McCoy pointed it out to him.

Workers carefully chipped away the cement from around Mrs. McCoy's special brick, and replaced it with an ordinary one.

And this Christmas, under Mrs. McCoy's tree, will be that brick with her star on it — with a special tag: "With Love, Melinda."

Put across ideas during the daytime; future looks good

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime finds it easy for you to put across ideas of considerable scope. An ideal time to be outspoken about your true goals. Be more optimistic about the future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Plan how to advance in career matters. Communications from a distance require that you make prompt decisions.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Engage in a new activity that can help you have added income in the future—something that you have outstanding ability.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have excellent talents and can now put them to work and gain added benefits. Much care in motion is important now.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Try to be more thoughtful of those you come in contact with today. Be more concerned with your health.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Good day to catch up on correspondence you've been putting off for some time. Take on a more optimistic outlook on life.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) Begin the new workweek properly by forging ahead where career matters are concerned. Make plans for the future.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) You have fine ideas that can help you to advance, so waste no time in putting them in operation. Think constructively.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan how to discharge agreements best and in an orthodox fashion, then carry through. Use more common sense.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Give more attention to associates today and help them with their aims. Show more devotion to loved ones.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study your work schedule well and you can then accomplish a great deal today. Stick to the tried and true.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be more encouraging to others and gain added goodwill. Use tact and diplomacy in handling a business matter.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You know what family members expect of you, so try to please them to the best of your ability. Express happiness.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... He or she will be one who can think very fast in an emergency and one who can combine mental ability with physical dexterity. Be sure to send to college where the most can be made of these talents and capabilities.

What's what

Housewives most exploited; can union organize them?

Most exploited of workers in the nation are the housewives. Such is the reported claim of the Service Employees International Union. Maybe so, don't know. That Union intends to organize said housewives, at any rate, and demand on their behalf the right in five weeks of paid vacation every year. Their proposed wage scale, if any, has not yet been disclosed, but it should run pretty high.

A common fly is faster than a jet airplane—in one number of speaking. The fly moves 300 times its body length in one second. The jet at the speed of sound travels 100 times its body length in one second.

ROODEUM

Q. Where'd we get the word "hoodlum"?
A. Debate goes on over that one. It is a fact that there's a word in Germany's Bavarian dialect "Hodulum" meaning ragged beggar. Maybe that's the origin. Or some say it got started in San Francisco a little over 100 years ago when a man named Muldoon led a street gang there. Claim is a newspaper writer chose not to name Muldoon exactly but allude to him only by manufacturing a variation of Muldoon's name spelled backwards to identify street toughs in general.

Q. One and only one pitcher in baseball pitched both to Babe Ruth and to Mickey Mantle. Name him.
A. Al Benton. What, never heard of him? He faced Ruth while with the Philadelphia A's and Mantle while with the Red Sox.

Q. How many equines last year got paid how much by the IRS for trying off the tax collectors about evaders?
A. Such informants numbered 439... and they received an average of $641 apiece.

High school youths can spend year in Australia

WASHINGTON — High school students who want to attend school in a foreign country without having to speak a foreign language have the opportunity under an Australian student exchange program.

The Youth for Understanding International Student Exchange is accepting applications until Nov. 1 for students between the ages of 14 and 18.

The Australia program runs from January through December, 1981, the academic year "downunder." Those accepted will attend high school while living with carefully selected host families, the organization says.

The non-profit exchange has a limited number of openings and applications for financial aid scholarships must be received no later than Oct. 15.

The student exchange also sponsors other programs (summer and academic year) in countries in the Far East, Europe and Latin America.

For an application, interested students can call 1-202-966-6908 or write: Director/ U.S. Programs, Youth for Understanding International Exchange, 3501 Newark St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20016.

Montreal moves into Eastern division lead

By United Press International

Diego staggered Los Angeles 7-6, New York blanked St. Louis 9-0 and San Francisco wailed out at Atlanta.

Even though the Montreal Expos used Sunday's game to move into first place in the Eastern Division, the previous game—may have held the key. They kept saying in their clubhouse after winning Friday that they were going to go 2 1/2 games up because they had Steve Carlton pitching," said Montreal's Gary Carter. "But we battled back and won yesterday and continued playing hard today and won that was a big lift for us."

Diego staggered Los Angeles 7-6, New York blanked St. Louis 9-0 and San Francisco wailed out at Atlanta. Mike Killebrew's two-run triple in the sixth inning broke a 1-1 tie and lifted the Cubs. Killebrew's blast to the right field wall off Bert Blyleven, 6-13, scored Jim Tracy, who singled, and Mark Oliver, who walked.

Steve Rogers, 16-11, walked two, struck out three, and retired 11 batters in a row from the third to the seventh innings in recording his 14th complete game of the season. He is 4-1 in the month of September. In other games, Chicago downed Pittsburgh 3-2 to eliminate last year's champions from the East; San Francisco topped Houston 8-5, San

Orioles get needed aid from Yankees' error

By United Press International

The Baltimore Orioles asked for help in their battle to catch the New York Yankees — and there is no doubt the Detroit Tigers have been helped by an error by Yankees' first baseman Bob Watson with the bases loaded in the 10th inning. Sunday allowed the winning run to score and gave the Tigers a 6-5 victory, their second consecutive victory over New York.

The loss, coupled with Baltimore's 5-3 victory over Cleveland, reduced the Yankees' lead in the American League East to 4 1/2 games. Baltimore has seven games remaining and the Yankees have six.

Watson misplayed a slow grounder by Tom Brookens as pinch runner Lynn Jones scored from third with one out. John Woodhanas doubled leading off the 10th against loser Mike Griffin, 2-3. Lance Parrish was hit by a pitch and Champ Summers walked to lead the bases, setting the stage for Brookens.

The Tigers came from behind twice in the game to send it into extra innings.

The Tigers scored five runs on home runs. Parrish hit a three-run shot, his 24th, in the sixth off Ron Davis to tie the score 3-3. Summers later tied it 5-5 in the eighth with the first home run off Rich Gossage since July 26.

In Cleveland, Doug DeCinces belted a two-run homer and Ken Singleton added a solo shot to lift Baltimore's hopes of making a final run at New York.

In other games, Boston defeated Toronto 7-3, Minnesota outscored Kansas City 8-7, Chicago beat 8-1 Texas, defeated Seattle 4-1, and Oakland nipped Milwaukee 3-2.

Unbeaten Buffalo gets best start since 1975

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (UPI) — Rookie Joe Cribbs ran for one touchdown and caught a 21-yard pass for another score Sunday to lead the unbeaten Buffalo Bills to their fourth consecutive victory, 27-7 over the Oakland Raiders.

The victory marked Buffalo's best start since 1975, while Oakland dropped to 4-3.

Buffalo got a 17-0 lead at halftime and their defense, combined with five Raider turnovers, kept Oakland's offense in check throughout most of the contest.

Buffalo marched 81 yards in 16 plays on their first possession, taking a 7-0 lead when Curtis Brown ran four yards around left end with 15 seconds left in the opening quarter. The drive was kept alive by pass interference and holding penalties against the Raiders.

An ensuing fumble by Oakland running back Kenny King was recovered by Buffalo's Rod Kush at the Oakland 18. Cribbs went over left tackle five plays later at 3:11 of the second quarter to give the Bills a 14-0 advantage.

Buffalo got the ball again with 79 seconds left in the half and marched to the Oakland 13, setting up a 30-yard field goal by Nick Mike Meyer.

Oakland scored at 3:06 of the third quarter when defensive back Lester Hayes picked off a Joe Ferguson pass and raced 48 yards down the sideline.

Later in the period, the Raiders were driving when King fumbled at the Buffalo 10 and Buffalo's Mario Clark pounced on the ball.

Tough loss for Starr

Landry not happy with 28-7 victory

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Dallas Coach Tom Landry wasn't particularly happy with his team's methodical 28-7 victory over Green Bay Sunday, but he had some encouraging words for Packers Coach Bart Starr.

Starr, whose team has lost three straight after an opening victory over the Chicago Bears, has been under fire for his team's poor start.

Asked what he would do if he were in Starr's position, Landry said, "I'd work myself out of it because I was in his position before my first five years in Dallas."

"Bart's a fine person. He's just got to work hard. The press and fans are not very tolerant when you are losing but that's the game."

Landry also insisted the Packers, who have a 1-3 record, "are not that bad a team. They're just getting bad breaks. The game is played with breaks. It's rough when they're going against you."

Landry, whose team is 5-1, said he wasn't overly concerned with his team's "numerous missed plays and missed assignments. We weren't playing with much emotion but we played solid football."

Landry also praised Danny White, who threw two scoring passes and set up another touchdown with a 48-yard run from punt formation in the first quarter.

"Danny made some key plays, obviously," he said. "I thought he played even better in the second half."

Starr, whose 6-year record fell to 27-50-1, didn't want to talk about his shaky job status.

"I don't think I'm going to be coaching on a week-to-week basis," he said. "So you can stop bringing this up. You have to fight the distractions — fight them and put them out of your mind."

White threw a 6-yard scoring pass to tight end Doug Cosbie in the third quarter and a 30-yard scoring pass to Drew Pearson to close out the Cowboys' scoring with 1:41 left. The Cowboys also scored on a yard run by Tony Dorsett and Robert Newhouse. The Packers' only score came on a 6-yard run by Steve Altman.

Dallas put together two long scoring drives to lead 14-7 at halftime.

Briefly in sports

Grid player still critical

TWIN FALLS — Fall River High School football player James Koyl remained in critical condition at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Sunday following broken neck suffered in a Friday night football game at Hansen.

"The patient is still in critical condition and he's showing very slight signs of improvement," a hospital spokesman said Sunday afternoon.

The 135-pound junior was blocking on a kick off play in the third period when he lowered his shoulder into an opponent's stomach, thus causing his neck to snap.

Months of mouth resuscitation was administered following breathing troubles and an ambulance, which was in Kimberly at another football game, transported Koyl and Coach Alan Wallace to the Twin Falls hospital.

Menapace wins title

TWIN FALLS — Velma Menapace captured the top flight of the Canyon Spring's Ladies Club Championships Sunday with a gross score of 183.

The two day total outdistanced second place finisher Bernice Howa by 23 strokes. Sue Langton was third with a 229.

In the net division, Nancy Wood shot a 145 to take top honors, five shots ahead of Kathy Hanchett's 150 and 10 ahead of Margaret Simons' 157.

Dot Grove shot a gross 240 to win the first flight. Racheal McNew shot a 248 for second and Elvina Chistofferson was third with 288.

Connie Langston shot a 144 for top net in the first flight. Dorene Packard was second with a 156 and Doreen Davis shot a 166 for third.

Earnhardt wins 500

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (UPI) — Dale Earnhardt overtook Cale Yarborough 13 laps from the finish Sunday and held off hard-charging Buddy Baker to win the $138,000 Old Dominion 500 NASCAR Grand National race.

Earnhardt, the NASCAR points leader, averaged 99.728 mph in his yellow and blue Chevrolet. He earned $24,375 in winning his fourth race of the season, an event drawing a record 17 caution flags.

Baker, the defending champion who changed tires on the last caution, 16 laps from the end and almost caught Earnhardt, finished 1.35 seconds behind the leader.

Littler gets senior win

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — Gene Littler fired a 2-under-par 70 in a cold, steady drizzle Sunday for a 5-under-par 211 total and a two-stroke victory over Arnold Palmer in the World Senior Invitational golf tournament.

Littler, playing in only his second seniors tournament since reaching age 50 in July, started the day with a one-stroke lead at 3-under-par, and although he had an erratic first 10 holes in the drizzle, he maintained at least a one-shot lead throughout the final round.

Britz holds 1 shot lead

DALLAS (UPI) — Jerilyn Britz, playing through conditions so miserable the officials had to reduce the golf course to only 17 holes, took a one-stroke lead two-thirds of the way through the second round of the $150,000 Dallas Classic Sunday.

Has the lead will still be the Best Two Country Club course when the players run out of daylight.

Those who did not complete their second round will return to the course to play the rest of that round and the field will then be cut to the low 70 and ties. The final round will then be played, weather permitting.

Playing rains forced a temporary suspension of play and left the course waterlogged.

Blast set tone for Cardinals' upset

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Safety Roy Green says his mid-number hit on Philadelphia running back Wilbert Montgomery early in the first quarter Sunday set the tone for the St. Louis Cardinals' 34-14 upset of the Eagles.

"That kind of set the momentum for the game," said Green. "I'm not taking all week about being aggressive. The Eagles are one of the most aggressive teams in our conference. But that's what the game is all about. It's a contact sport."

On the Eagles' second possession of the game, Montgomery led a drive that ended in the first. Montgomery, who leaped in vain for the ball. Before he came back down, Green put his helmet in Montgomery's chest and knocked him backwards. After several minutes on the ground, Montgomery left the field under his own power.

"That kind of set the tempo," Green said.

Philadelphia Coach Dick Vermeil agreed the loss was a physical battle and said Montgomery may miss a few games because of a hip pointer suffered in the fourth quarter.

"I'm concerned about Wilbert," said Vermeil. "That's a very painful injury and it could mean him being out anywhere from one to three weeks."

Vermeil said wide receiver Scott Fitzkee also suffered a broken foot and would be out of action for six to eight weeks. Among the Cardinal wounded was starting defensive lineman Mike Dawson, who has a knee injury.

"Some guys got banged up," said Jim Hanftan, who pitched his first victory as the Cardinal coach. "Right now we're very concerned about one guy, Mike Dawson."

But St. Louis offensive lineman Tom Banks said the intense rivalry between the Eagles and Cardinals was just the tonic to get his team a victory. Philadelphia was 3-0 going into the game while St. Louis was winless.

"All St. Louis-Philadelphia games have been this way since I've been here," said Banks. "We just beat the crap out of each other and see who wins. We don't want to trick anybody, we just go after them."

Jaworski, rated the league's top passer going into the game, said his team didn't take the Cardinals lightly.

"A lot of people were telling us how easy it would be playing the Cardinals, but they're tough," said Jaworski. "We weren't flat when we came here. We just got beat by a better football team."

Offensively, the Cardinals got big plays from Carl Allen, who returned an interception 70 yards for a touchdown in the first quarter, and Otis Anderson, who rushed for 151 yards, including scoring runs of 14 and 37 yards.

But the fired-up Cardinal defense led Jaworski to 16 completions in 36 attempts for 231 yards, with much of it coming in the fourth quarter.

Chargers win fourth over Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Dan Fouts hit tight end Kellen Winslow with two late second-quarter touchdown passes of 15 and 16 yards Sunday to propel the unbeaten San Diego Chargers to a 24-7 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs.

Fouts hit 15-of-30 passes for 194 yards against the porous Kansas City secondary and topped his league-leading total of touchdown passes to 10. Winslow, an All-America two seasons ago at nearby Missouri, caught six passes for 74 yards.

The Chargers had the ball for only 10 plays, totaling 4:27 of the second quarter, but Fouts capitalized with a pair of three-play touchdown drives to snap a 7-7 deadlock and keep San Diego unbeaten through four games.

Pat Strigert returned an Earl Grant fumble 36 yards to the Kansas City 32 and Fouts sandwiched a pair of 15-yard passes to Winslow around a 2-yard run by John Cappelletti to give the Chargers a 14-7 lead with 2:02 left in the first half.

San Diego got the ball back again with 55 seconds left in the half at its 42 and Fouts hit John Jefferson with a 42-yard pass on the first play to move the ball to the Kansas City 16. Two plays later, Fouts found Winslow with his second scoring pass to keep the Chiefs winless in four games.

Cappelletti added a 2-yard first-quarter TD run and Real Benirschke kicked a 32-yard third-quarter field goal to round out the San Diego scoring. Ted McKnight scored Kansas City's lone touchdown on a 1-yard second quarter run.

Seattle holds Washington's offense silent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jim Zorn raced 21 yards on a quarterback draw play—Darrin Dornold scored 33 yards out and the Seattle Seahawks' defense shut out the Washington Redskins Sunday for the first time since Dec. 3, 1978 to post a 14-0 victory.

Seattle, 2-2, moved 30 yards in 13 plays on each scoring drive. Zorn's touchdown came with 11:26 left in the half and the Seahawks got the clincher by using up 7:42 to move to Dornold's score with 1:56 left in the game.

The Seahawks ended four Washington scoring threats with interceptions of Joe Theismann and kept the Redskins to just 55 yards rushing. Dave Brown picked off two passes and Harris and Keith Simpson had one each.

The Redskins, 1-3, got inside the Seattle 20 only twice, getting only a missed Mark Moseley field goal, one of three in the game, and Theismann's third interception.

Theismann, who passed for 205 yards and 10 completions in three previous games, Moseley missed field goal attempts from 33, 50 and 37 yards and has made only two of nine attempts this season.

Zorn passed 19 times, completing 7 for 86 yards, as the Seahawks rolled up 235 yards on the ground.

Colts, Jones blast Jets

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Bert Jones passed for 275 yards and three touchdowns Sunday and the Baltimore Colts handed the winless New York Jets their fourth straight loss, 35-21.

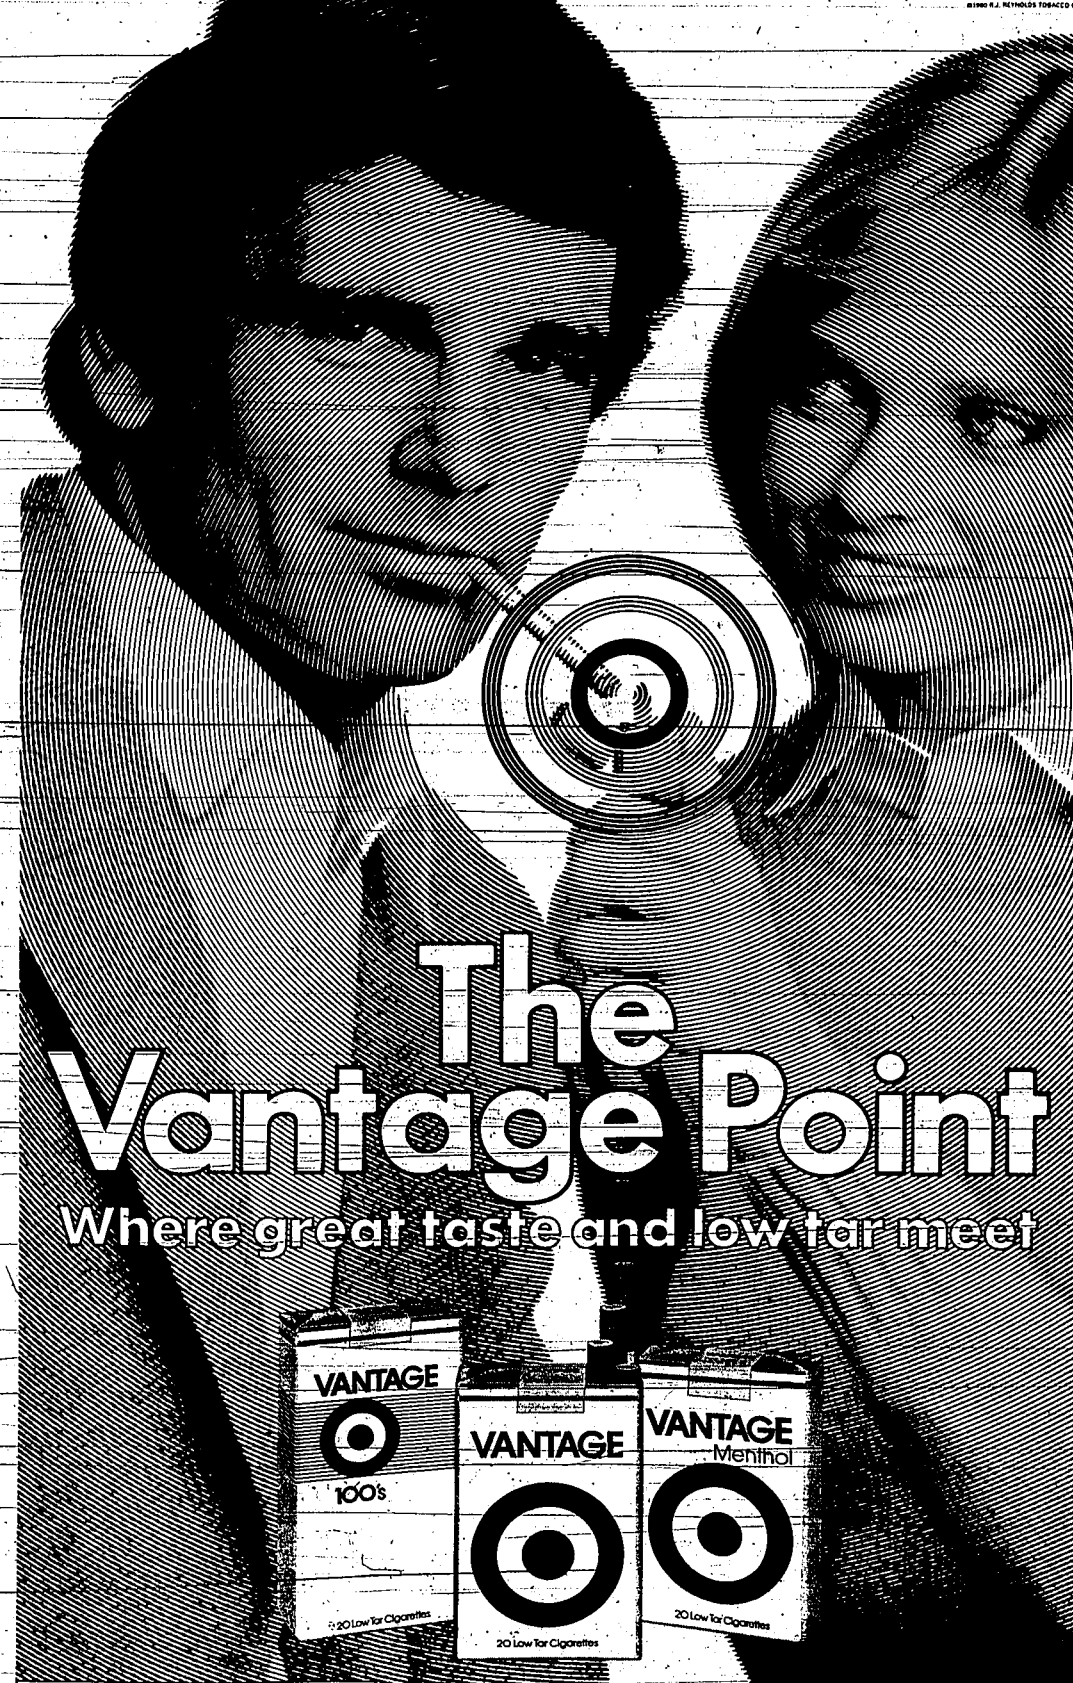

Jones, who completed 18-of-25 passes, threw touchdown passes of 14 yards to Don McCuttle, 19 yards to Randy Burke and five yards to Roger Carr. He also set up Curtis Dickey's 9-yard scoring run with a 43-yard pass to Raymond Butler.

Baltimore, 3-2, also scored on Joe Washington's 5-yard run.

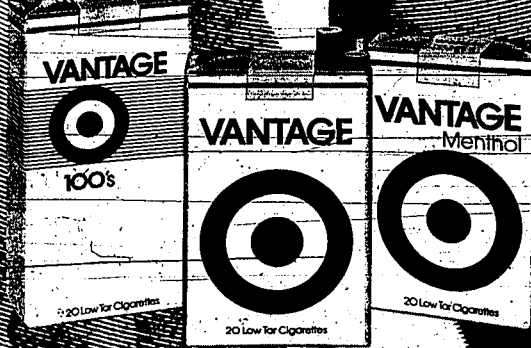

Kevin Long scored twice on 5-yard runs for the Jets, now 0-4 and off to their worst start in years. Richard Todd, who passed for 257 yards, threw a 10-yard scoring pass to Clark Gaines for New York's other score.

Baltimore led 22-14 after three quarters but Long's second touchdown run, set up by pass interference call that gave the Jets a first down on the Baltimore 5, cut the margin to seven points with 7:55 left in the game.

The Jets got the ball back when Baltimore couldn't move in three chances. But Todd, who passed for 447 yards last week, was unable to connect on three passes and the Colts were out of danger.

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Safety Roy Green says his misreading hit on Philadelphia running back Wilbert Montgomery early in the first quarter Sunday set the tone for the St. Louis Cardinals' 24-14 upset of the Eagles.

"That kind of set the momentum for the game," said Green. "The coaches talked all week about being aggressive. The Eagles are one of the most aggressive teams in our conference. But that's what the game is all about. It's a contact sport."

On the Eagles' second possession of the game, Dan Jaworski led a soft pass in the flat to Montgomery who fell into the trap for the ball. Before he came back down, Green put his helmet in Montgomery's chest and knocked him backwards. After several minutes on the ground, Montgomery left the field under his own power.

"That kind of set the tempo," Green said.

Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Fine negative double use of hearts. North went to four spades and after South corrected...

Oswald: "South won the first trick with the ace of hearts and thought for some time..."

Oswald: "Byron Greenberg of Tulsa found a better line..."

Oswald: "West's three-heart call was preemptive. North's double..."

Oswald: "South was interested in an alarm and showed his ace..."
