You can't beat this harvest

Walking on top of a man-made mountain destined to become sugar, Santos Solis, a beet dump foreman at Amalgamated Sugar Co. of Twin Falls, inspects several hundred tons of sugar beets. Monday was the first day of beet delivery which is expected to continue for another month to six weeks as Magic Valley farmers truck in their harvests.

Reagan, Carter agree to debate

By United Press International
President Carter and Ronald Reagan will meet Oct. 28 in Cleveland — just one week before election day — for a crucial head-to-head debate.
The League of Women Voters decided Friday to exclude John Anderson and issued an invitation to the Republican and Democratic contenders.
"We accepted this invitation immediately because it's what we've wanted from the very beginning," Carter told reporters.
It was a debate Carter has demanded for weeks when he trailed Reagan by a substantial margin in the polls and a debate the Reagan camp now thinks is necessary because the president is gaining steadily on his GOP rival.
The Carter camp believes the debate will provide a nationwide forum for his message that Reagan is a dangerous conservative who could lead the nation into war and dismantle decades of social programs.
The Reagan camp believes the debate will refocus the campaign on Carter's handling of the economy and the resulting high inflation and high unemployment levels.
The league's decision to exclude Anderson was a blow to the independent candidate who has been suffering from a flounder in the polls and a lack of campaign funds.
"I think it is highly unfortunate that the League of Women Voters has knuckled under to the White House," Anderson said.
Anderson's collapse in the polls has been one thing that has brought Carter up in the past few weeks as disaffected Democrats returned to the fold.
Historically debates have played a crucial role in presidential elections. Most observers say they lifted John Kennedy over Richard Nixon and Carter over Ford in the close elections of 1960 and 1976.
There was further evidence Carter was closing in on Reagan. The weekly analysis by ABC news showed Reagan leading in 26 states with 212 electoral votes, down 22 from last week, while Carter was leading in 13 states and the District of Columbia with 144 electoral votes — up 14. There were 11 states with 182 electoral votes too close to call.

Rajai refuses to discuss hostages at UN visit

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Iranian Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai heaped contempt on Iraq and the United States at a U.N. Security Council meeting Friday, dashing hopes for immediate negotiations on a cease-fire or the release of the 52 American hostages.
Rajai, the highest-ranking Iranian to visit the United States since the hostages were seized 34 days ago, told U.N. diplomats: "Our people are resolute and determined to fight, even if the war must be prolonged."
He denounced Iraq as "aided by the forces of evil playing into the hands of the great satan," and asked why the United States "sees in this attack an opportunity for the hostages to be freed."
Asked at a later news conference whether he would meet with American representatives during his New York stay, Rajai replied categorically: "No, never."
U.S. Ambassador Donald McHenry said later he regretted that Rajai's only mention of the hostages in his speech to the council was a rhetorical question.
He said that the families of the 52 Americans had been listening to Rajai hoping for the release of the hostages. The same principles of law, honor and dignity, under which Rajai appealed lashed out at U.S., Iraq to the council, he said, should be applied to the hostages.

McHenry recalled past U.N. efforts to free the captive Americans and reminded Rajai that "Iran stands in defiance of numerous resolutions of this Council."
At his news conference, Rajai refused to discuss the hostages, but said he would do so at a meeting with the press Saturday.
Before the council meeting, Rajai had spent 90 minutes with Secretary General Kurt Waldheim, who had been expected to raise the question of the hostages, but afterwards a U.N. spokesman would only say they discussed the war and "a number of other issues."
In a brief speech, Rajai denounced "U.S. imperialism" and charged Iraq was committing "open aggression" against his country.
"I come straight from the front," he said. "The spectacle of the dead and the wounded would have moved the most heartless of men. I saw that spectacle with my own eyes. Ground to ground missiles which struck the city of Duzul, destroyed a large part of the city and many of its population."
Rajai and most of his Iranian delegation walked out when Iraqi Foreign Minister Saadoun Hammadi rose for a brief report.
Rajai spent most of the day at the Iranian mission to the United Nations. Ironically, the mission is next door to the apartment building where the father of hostage Morton and Kennedy Jr. lives. "It's a strange situation," said Kennedy Sr., adding he had no plans to try to meet with Rajai.

Gross National Product rises

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's economy grew at a 1 percent annual rate from July through September, the government reported Friday, marking an important turnaround from the record slump.
The rise in the "real" gross national product — which measures the value of the country's goods and service and is adjusted for inflation — follows a record 9.6 percent decline in the second quarter.
The Commerce Department attributed it to a hike in consumer spending, including a $1 billion, or 6.9 percent increase in purchases of durable goods such as cars.
The announcement of one of the last major economic reports before the election was hopeful news for the administration.
Courtenay Slater, the Commerce Department's chief economist, said the GNP rise probably spells an end to the recession.
Friday's figures are preliminary and will be revised in mid-November, but she said: "All of the data we have presently leads me to the judgment that the recession is over."
The department also issued a report on housing construction in September, showing a marked improvement from the previous month. But private analysts warned it reflected a temporary lull in the hard-hit housing industry which probably will weaken later this year.

U.S. and China agree to 4-year grain deal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has agreed to a massive four-year grain sale to China under which American farmers are expected to reap as much as $4 billion, a U.S. official said Friday.
Under the pact, the Chinese are to buy 6 million to 9 million tons of grain a year starting in 1981 and running through 1984.
The grain will be roughly 80 percent wheat and 20 percent corn, said officials in Washington and Peking.
Current U.S. grain sales to China, which have varied from year to year, total about 6 million tons of wheat and 2 million tons of corn. The Chinese also have been buying American soybeans and cotton, which are not covered by the agreement.
Michael Hall, a representative of the National Corn Growers Association, said his organization had "very reserved opposition" because of fears a bilateral agreement would lead to government manipulation of grain trade and to more bilateral agreements with other nations.

No opposition on ballot GOP has a walkover in District 23

By RON ZELLAR
Times-News writer
GOODING — Incumbent Republican have the three District 23 seats locked up prior to the Nov. 4 election.
Rep. Gordon Hollifield of Jerome received opposition in the primary but defeated challenger Neil Weir handily. Rep. John Brooks and Sen. Kenneth Bradshaw were unopposed in the primary.
Hollifield confirmed he will be a candidate for House majority leader when the Legislature convenes in January. He said Walter Little, R-New Plymouth, who now holds the position, has been ineffective in mustering the votes to get key legislation through the house.
Hollifield said he has long advocated a smaller role for state government, and the expected state funding shortfall may convince his more hesitant colleagues to agree.

Despite improvements during the last session, the state aid formula for schools still gives an edge to large school districts, Hollifield said.
He opposes increasing the sales tax to bolster education funding, he said, because state distribution of the funds would add to the disparity.
Hollifield introduced bills in 1975, 1976 and 1977 to offset property taxes by implementing a local income tax. Funding programs at the local level is the best way to assure local control and efficiency, he said.
The funding shortfall may not reach the $60 million being predicted by some officials, he said. State receipts for September were up from previous months.

If additional cuts are needed, the Department of Health and Welfare and the Water Resources Board might be two places to look, he said. Roughly 23 percent of the Health and Welfare budget goes for administration, he noted.
The Water Resources Board has been overly energetic in defining its mission, Hollifield said, adding that in his opinion land development should be left to the private sector.
Lewis and Clark College in Lewiston will also be a target if money is short, he predicted. Many southern Idaho lawmakers believe the four-year school is too close to the University at Moscow to merit continued funding.
Brooks said he too believes the state funding picture will be better than it seems at the moment.
He said education is about as trim as it can get but other departments merit a strong look if the shortfall occurs.

The State Highway Department may have to get by another year without increased funding for maintenance, he said, but highways are not being traveled as much so the wear might not be as great as anticipated.
Bradshaw, who is serving his third term in the Idaho Senate, said highway officials should be able to get by without an increase by forgoing all new construction and spending what money they have on repairs.
"I know there is going to be a cry for additional road maintenance," he said. "But when this recession rights itself, I believe there will be more travel and gas taxes will recover."
Bradshaw said he is reluctant to favor a gas tax increase because "once it gets on there, we'll never get it off again."
Tax incentives for the production of gasoline were necessary to give the fledgling industry a start, he said.

Saturday briefing

More FBI breakins told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department learned after the fact of the FBI's 1972 Dallas break-in that it involved a list of more than 90 members of the Arab Al-Fatah terrorist group, a retired bureau supervisor testified Friday.

The break-in at the office of the Arab Information Center in Dallas was conducted less than 48 hours after Al-Fatah Black September group massacred 11 Israeli athletes at the Munich Olympics on Sept. 5, 1972.

Former FBI supervisor Francis O'Neill Jr. told a jury that when he advised Assistant Attorney General William Olson of the break-in, Olson raised no questions about the bureau's conduct.

O'Neill said acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray was aware of the break-in, and used the use of other so-called "black bag jobs" and electronic surveillance in a hunt for Al-Fatah members.

Bolles' killer found guilty

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — John Harvey Adams was convicted Friday of first-degree murder in the 1976 car-bomb slaying of reporter Don Bolles.

His attorney said Adams will have "a great deal to say" in hopes of avoiding the death penalty.

Adams was found guilty of turning Bolles to a Phoenix hotel and bombing his car June 2, 1976, in a $10,000 murder-for-hire scheme.

Adams's 1977 testimony under a plea bargain that brought him 20 years imprisonment for second-degree murder played a key role in winning convictions against two other men implicated in Bolles' death.

In holding out for a new plea agreement, Adams sought a scholarship for his son, a new suit and his freedom. The state rejected the offer, refuting first-degree murder charges against him.

Baby seller convicted

GOSHEN, N.Y. (UPI) — A gynecologist admitted Friday that he arranged a "baby selling" scheme in which he paid expectant mothers to give up their babies for adoption to couples who, in turn, paid him thousands of dollars.

Orange County prosecutors said that during 1978 and 1979, Dr. Oscar arranged five adoptions in this manner and tried to arrange two others.

Tan had been charged with 26 counts, including several felony charges, but County Judge Angelo Ingleton permitted him to plead guilty to five misdemeanor counts.

Pan Am wins China route

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pan American World Airways, whose China Clippers pioneered air travel across the Pacific in the 1930s, won government approval Friday to provide the first regular service between the United States and China in 30 years.

The Civil Aeronautics Board said it expects to send its formal recommendation to President Carter, who has the final word over decisions involving international routes, within two weeks.

The board said Pan Am offered the best fares and route structure of five carriers that applied for authority to fly to China.

The CAB indicated it expects the new service to begin around Dec. 1, the same date China's national airline, CAAC, is expected to begin flying to the United States.

Hitman sentenced to death

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — A jury Friday recommended a sentence of death by gas chamber for a 20-year-old man convicted of murdering a young art student to prevent her testimony at a rape trial.

In recommending the death sentence for Walter Blair Jr., the jury listed four reasons for its decision: The murder was committed deliberately; it was under for hire; it involved torture and depravity of mind; it was done to prevent a witness from testifying.

In urging the jury to return the death sentence for Blair, Assistant Jackson County prosecutor James Bell described Blair as a "tough guy, a cold-blooded killer" who had given little thought to Katherine Jo Allen-21, when he accepted a $6,000 contract on her life from the man accused of raping her.

Bell also told the jury Blair had not shown the art student any mercy when he shot her to death as she pleaded for her life.

"Now show him no mercy," he said.

Twin blasts mark latest eruption

VANCOUVER, Wash. (UPI) — Mount St. Helens ended two quiet months with twin eruptions 12 hours apart Friday, blasting black ash and steam nine miles into the sky and sending a mass of superhot ash two miles down its slope.

A light dusting of ash covered Portland, Ore., 50 miles to the southwest and other towns in southern Washington and northern Oregon. Nearer the volcano, rocks the size of chicken eggs fell from the blast.

"We have a metal roof on our garage and it sounded like the end of the world was coming," said Obie Lewis of Cougar, Wash., about eight miles from the mountain.

No damage or injuries were reported.

The activity — the volcano's sixth eruption since it stirred awake in March from a 123-year slumber — was much smaller than the first spectacular blast of May 18, which left 63 people dead or missing.

The latest eruption was preceded by warnings from scientists who noted increased seismic activity under the mountain: The Forest Service said 92 people were evacuated safely from the areas surrounding the peak.

The first blast came at 9:58 p.m. Thursday, sending the ash plume more than eight miles high. It was blown to the southwest and fell like a light dust in Portland.

A somewhat larger pulse followed at 9:27 a.m. Friday. Winds blew its 9-mile-high plume to the southeast and the cloud passed beyond The Dalles, Ore., some 65 miles away.

Scientists said a pyroclastic flow of superheated gases and ash flowed at more than 100 mph about two miles down the mountain's north slope, but did not reach any

Cloud of ash rose nine miles into air trees or water and thus presented no threat of fire or flooding.

The eruption blew apart the huge dome of cooling lava that had formed in the volcano's inner crater, David Edging of the Federal Emergency Management Agency said.

Eruptions keep falling on birthdays

WHITF PASS, Wash. (UPI) — For weeks, Nancy Kukkukas was dreading having her son's birthday Friday. You couldn't blame her — she just didn't want Mount St. Helens to erupt again.

Every eruption of the mountain since it first rumbled back to life seven months ago has fallen on or close to the birthdays of her husband and children.

Just a few hours before her son

Jim's birthday Friday, the mountain woke from a two-month nap to blow for the sixth time, shooting a lowering plume of black ash, 42,000 feet in the air.

The trend started with Mrs. Kukkukas's husband, Allen. His birthday was March 27, the day the dormant volcano stirred to life and belched a plume of steam for the first time in 123 years.

Daughter Jenny's birthday was May 16, but the family had decided to celebrate it Sunday, May 18.

The family was stunned when the next three children's birthdays — July 22, Aug. 8 and Aug. 15 — coincided with the next three eruptions of the volcano. — To be exact, the first August eruption came on the night of Aug. 7, which the Kukkukas figured was close enough.

Battle for Abadan heats up

BASRA, Iraq (UPI) — Iraq ceaselessly shelled the burning refinery city of Abadan Friday, but Iranian heart-black-battle raged in the bitter of Khurranshahr in the 26th day of the war.

But both Iranian cities, under intense artillery barrage and air attack for weeks, stubbornly refused to fall to Iraqi forces.

Tehran radio, broadcasting a stream of military communiqués, said it would not allow Iranian forces to leave the railway station and port offices of Khurranshahr on the Shatt-al-Arab waterway whose port area Iraqi forces occupied a week ago Monday.

Iran called the Iraqi soldiers fighting "street by street and trench by trench" repulsed Iraqi forces from the port city of Khurranshahr Friday and said the Iraqis were also thrown back 13 miles on a key northern front. Iran's claim could not be verified, but other reports from the area indicated the Iraqis were digging in and building pressure on their drive toward Abadan.

Iraq's official Pars news agency said Iraqi attackers had been "forced to withdraw to about 20 miles" from Abadan, whose giant refinery was still aflame from end to end. It said Iraqi forces "left behind a number of tanks."

For two days the Iraqis claimed to have cut Abadan off from the rest of Iran, with all roads severed. Oil pipelines were blowing up, the local radio station captured, and its ground forces within a mile of the city, Iraq said.

The report of Iraqi forces pulling back 20 miles sounded improbable but indicated that artillery-battered Abadan was being spared from ground attacks, for the moment at least.

Iran also claimed Iraqi warplanes attacked commercial ships in the Persian Gulf. It said one ship and a U.S. Navy tanker with one crewman killed and 11 missing.

There was no independent confirmation of reports since both sides have refused to allow reporters to go to the battlefield.

Meanwhile, diplomatic sources said France would send Iraq a dozen warplanes and other war materiel, bought before the war erupted, perhaps as early as next week.

Economy

The Commerce Department said the economy, at an unadjusted rate, grew by $6.7 billion or 10.2 percent in the third quarter.

"While noting this year's recession was probably the shortest in post-war history, Slater said another still faces problems of inflation and productivity.

She also warned unemployment may increase slightly from the current 7.5 percent level as people begin looking for work again.

The Commerce Department said housing starts rose for the fourth consecutive month in September, climbing 9 percent over August.

But the increase was due mainly to a sizable increase in government-subsidized multi-family housing units as the administration dumps record amounts of assistance into the troubled housing industry at the close of fiscal 1980.

Hikes in new single-family home construction in September were negligible.

Adding to the reserve over prospects for the housing industry was a further hike in the "prime rate" as Chase Manhattan led several major banks Friday in following the earlier lead of Citibank to 14 percent.

Chase, No. 3 in the industry, said the move up from 13 1/2 per cent was "clearly warranted and appropriate" because "other market rates have continued to increase and loan demand has been growing."

In a related development, President R. Schultz, vice president of the Federal Reserve Board, said Friday high interest rates and inflation will continue this year — and 1981 won't be much better.

He said economic growth will slow down a bit in 1981 and high inflation rates will continue. The policies the Federal Reserve Board implemented last year will take some time to even out, he said.

Despite the 14 percent prime interest rate, Schultz defended the way the economy is going and noted there are still some banks lending below the interest rate.

Schultz reassured bankers who were concerned that a new Monetary

Control Act, which provides for interest-bearing checking accounts, would give financial institutions less flexibility and less chance for competing.

"If you handle business as you should, you should come through in pretty good shape," he said. He advised them to be aggressive in marketing and "stick to what you know."

Rocky Mountain snowstorm peters out

By United Press International

A howling Rockies snowstorm that buried parts of Wyoming and Montana in chest-deep snowdrifts, stranded hunters and killed at least four people, diminished to scattered flurries Friday.

But thunderstorms that refused to relinquish their grip on the Plains spawned tornadoes, killing at least one person and demolishing a truck stop in Arkansas.

Arkansas State Police said the body of an unidentified driver was found 50 yards from where his truck was hit by a twister just north of Lacey.

Tornadoes also hit the communities of Ladelle and Lacey, causing extensive property damage and lifting a tractor-trailer driver, felled trees and power lines blocked streets in both Arkansas towns.

The first big autumn storm of the season ripped through the Rockies Thursday, producing blizzard conditions and dumping up to a foot and a half of snow on the Laramie area.

Several Wyoming highways were closed, including Interstate 80 from Cheyenne to West Junction in Colorado, the snow was confined to the northern mountains but closed many highways and made driving hazardous on mountain passes.

Today's weather

Weather predicted to be fair through Sunday

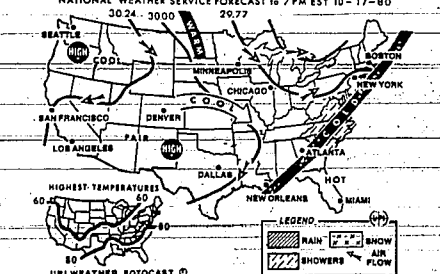

Twin Falls, Burley, Rupert, Jerome Gooding areas: Mostly fair through Sunday. Winds westerly 8 to 15 miles an hour. Highs today 50 to 60 and on Sunday 55 to 65 degrees. Overnight lows upper 20s to middle 30s.

Camas, Prairie, Halley, Wood River valley: Clearing early today and mostly fair through Sunday. Highs today upper 40s to middle 50s. Overnight lows 20s to middle 30s.

Northern Nevada and Utah: Fair through Sunday except patches of ground fog in northern Nevada valleys. Cold nights with frost northern Nevada. Warmer afternoons in Utah. Highs in the 50s and 60s both days. Overnight lows 20s and 30s.

Synopsis: Fair weather for the weekend. That's the outlook for Idaho as a high pressure ridge moves inland from the Pacific coast. On Friday, skies cleared of the drizzle, except in the central mountains and southeastern sections.

Scattered light showers of rain and snow were reported from those areas on Friday morning. Up to an inch of snow fell at higher elevations while Preston reported 2 1/2 inch of rain. Pocatello had .03 and Millard a trace.

Friday morning low temperatures ranged from 20 at Stanley to 38 at Lewiston. The warmest places on Friday afternoon were Weiser and Parma with a 62-degree reading, as most temperatures in Idaho were in the 40s and 50s.

Elsewhere in the nation, the warmest temperature was 87 at McAllen, Texas, while Laramie, Wyo., had the lowest, 12 degrees.

The harvest outlook for the Magic Valley, though, Wednesday, including haying and potatoes, calls for continued dry with above normal temperatures. Good field conditions and normal hay curing conditions for a mid-autumn. Light morning dew.

Church under fire at Ricks as Symms blasts Anderson

By United Press International

Sen. Frank Church and Rep. Steve Symms found and fought trouble in eastern Idaho Thursday as they continued their battle for votes down the stretch in the 1980 U.S. Senate race.

Church, the incumbent Democrat seeking a fifth term, was hit by a barrage of tough questions at Mormon-owned Ricks College at Rexburg.

Four-term Republican Symms, seeking to oust Church from the Senate, fought to recover from an attack by nationally syndicated columnist Jack Anderson.

Ricks College students and faculty members pummeled Church with antagonistic questions for nearly half an hour. Two often-touched topics were abortion and the Senate's 1975 investigation into the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency.

At times the students interrupted

Election '80

Church's answers and once Church broke in on a questioner to respond to the question. The senator appeared irritated and disconcerted by the cool reception he got from the crowd of

But, he said later. "The important thing is that they (the questions) can be answered. Somehow, somehow, we have to penetrate this political smokescreen and set the record straight."

Symms, during an appearance at the Rexburg school a month ago, got a lot better greeting than Church.

The Idaho Republican lashed out Thursday at columnist Anderson, who had written that Symms was Hunt's "man on Capitol Hill."

Symms said at Twin Falls that Hunt "has no influence over me" and that Anderson's column was "a ridiculous bunch of nonsense."

The Senate challenger also charged that Church possibly engineered the column. "Frank has been using everything he can," Symms said. "One of his friends is Jack Anderson."

Later, at Pocatello, Symms was joined by Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., at a campaign rally.

Anderson denies Symms' allegations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Syndicated columnist Jack Anderson said Friday that he strongly disagreed with a remark by Rep. Steve Symms that Sen. Frank Church may have engineered a story that was critical of Symms.

In Thursday's column, Anderson charged that Symms was Texas oil billionaire Nelson Bunker Hunt's

"man on Capitol Hill." Last night in Twin Falls, Symms said the story was "a ridiculous bunch of nonsense."

Symms also charged that Church possibly engineered the column.

Anderson, speaking in an interview from his Washington office, said he stands by his story.

"Frank Church had nothing to do with that column," Anderson said. "I don't consult Frank Church before I write a column," he told. "The story is factually and there is naturally in any story detail that we don't use. These details would just make Symms look worst."

Anderson said he had more information about Symms but has no plans to use it in any future articles, unless "Symms attacks my credibility."

Church and Symms 'Duke' it out

BOISE (UPI) — Trying yet another tactic to pull votes from Idaho's cowboy-country electorate, Sen. Frank Church and Rep. Steve Symms now are jostling for a position beside the ghost of John Wayne.

Church kicked off the competition with a contribution-seeking campaign package which has been mailed to thousands of Idaho voters.

The brochure carries a photograph of John Wayne standing behind Church, both men beaming. The picture was snapped several years ago when the two, dressed in western-style clothes, were in Panama promoting the Panama Canal treaties.

Church has been in hot, deep water with many Idaho voters since he supported the United States' canal "giveaway."

Campaign managers for Symms lost no time in reacting to the Church gambit for the votes both campaigns obviously feel can be linked to the lingering Wayne image.

A newspaper advertisement — financed by Symms and containing a letter to the editor written in 1975 by Wayne in sharp criticism of Church's Senate investigation of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency — appeared Friday in all of Idaho's daily newspapers.

Symms campaign press aide Andrew Schirrmelster said he dreamed up the counter move for the "Duke" vote after he received Church's brochure at his home, adding that the advertisement would be used again later this month.

"We didn't necessarily do it to counter Church," Schirrmelster said. "We just thought the people of Idaho would be interested to know what John Wayne really thought of Frank Church, at least in that letter."

"The letter is a plus for Symms, sure. As far as how popular John Wayne is in Idaho, I think he's popular all around the country. He's a folk hero."

Carl Burke, Church's campaign manager, also was flowing in his praise of Wayne, calling the actor, who died in 1979; "quite a wonderful character and a wonderful American."

Burke said he placed little stock in the assertion that a candidate identified as a friend of the famous western actor would gain votes. "The only thing beneficial in this campaign is the position of the candidates."

But Burke said Wayne agreed with Church on the Panama Canal issue, as did presidents Richard Nixon, Ford and Carter, Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., "and the bulk of the Republicans and many very prominent people."

"I don't see anything at all wrong about using the picture of anyone supportive of the treaty. I still think the issue of the treaty is one that personally I'm very proud of Frank's role in that diplomatic triumph."

"As far as the John Wayne thing goes, I suppose now we're even."

Israel raids into Lebanon as start of 1st-strike policy

By United Press International

Israeli commandos struck Palestinian bases deep in the pines of south Lebanon here on Friday in a lightning attack that Israeli Prime Minister Manachem Begin said was the start of a new policy of search and destroy missions.

The raid behind U.N. peacekeeping lines 7 miles inside the border was the first Israeli thrust into Lebanon in two months and Begin said there would be more.

The attack also underscored the volatile security situation in Lebanon, which took another turn for the worse with a car-bomb explosion at Beirut International Airport that wounded five persons.

Reports of the casualties in south Lebanon conflicted. The Israeli military command-in-Tel Aviv said military and paratroop forces along with a commando unit of the Golan Brigade killed nine guerrillas before being spirited away by helicopters with no casualties of their own.

A Palestine Liberation Organization spokesman in Beirut said four guerrillas were killed and five wounded. He said three civilians also were wounded and claimed the guerrillas killed or wounded 27 Israelis in fierce "face-to-face" fighting through the pine woods.

A military source in Tel Aviv said that claim was "a lot of bull." He said the raiders advanced on foot across the rough, hilly terrain and past U.N. lines under cover of darkness to achieve "total surprise."

Hours later, Begin told an audience of munitions workers the raid marked a departure for "Israel" in its war against the guerrillas.

"Israel has abandoned its retaliation policy, embarking instead on initiated pre-emptive actions," Begin said. "It was not the first such action nor the last."

Both sides reported the Israeli forces destroyed a number of vehicles and buildings in the raid on a Palestinian base near Jarmad north of the Litani River.

The guerrillas admitted losing an ammunition dump and an anti-aircraft emplacement.

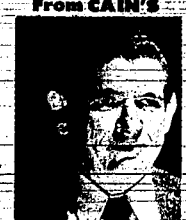

"This was a complicated operation but most successful and all our goals were achieved," said Israeli Chief of Staff Lt. Gen. Raphael Eitan.

The U.N. spokesman in Beirut, Samir Sambar, said Israeli gunners pounded a string of Palestinian guerrilla positions in the central sector of south Lebanon as the raid began.

Israel's Christian militia allies in South Lebanon joined in shelling the port city of Sidon, 25 miles south of Beirut.

The Israeli raid was the first strike against the guerrillas since Sept. 18 and the first ground assault since Aug. 8, when three Israeli soldiers were killed and 12 wounded in a battle in the same region.

Shah's son to name himself king

CAIRO (UPI) — The late shah's son, ex-Crown Prince Reza Pahlavi, 1980, on his date, and in conformity with the Iranian Constitution, the regency of Her Imperial Majesty Farah Pahlavi, Shahbanou of Iran, will come to an end and His Imperial Highness, who will succeed his father, His Imperial Majesty Mohammad Reza Shah Pahlavi, deceased in Cairo on Monday 5, 1980 July 1980.

No public ceremony and no press conference will be held, the announcement said.

Reza came to Egypt last March along with his father and the Pahlavi family.

He has apparently made Egypt his permanent exile home and recently enrolled at Cairo's American University as a political science student. Previously, he studied at Williams College in Massachusetts.

Three days after the outbreak of the Iraqi-Iranian war Sept. 22, Reza released a statement declaring readiness to die for his homeland.

Reza said he was "prepared to join the ranks of the Iranian army and shed my blood for the defense and protection of Iran."

Korean students protest

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — University students staged anti-government demonstrations in Seoul Friday and the government announced a military court will hear opposition leader Kim Dae-jung's appeal against his death sentence next week.

Students at Korea University, one of the nation's largest and most prestigious, tried to carry their protest to the streets but were blocked by riot police armed with clubs and helmets.

A government spokesman said 34 students were arrested and would be questioned about the disturbance in which the protesters called for a boycott of the Oct. 22 national referendum on a government-proposed constitution to form a new administration by the end of June 1981.

There were no reports of injuries in the demonstration, the largest and most serious anti-government action since the bloody uprising in Kwangju last May.

Earlier reports said nearly 1,000 yelling and chanting students participated in the demonstration but the government spokesman said that figure was inaccurate.

The demonstration came on the same day the government ordered a relaxing of martial law, extending it only to certain parts of the country rather than nationwide.

There was another anti-government protest on Oct. 8, when 150 students at Hankuk (Korea) Theological College in Seoul distributed and posted handbills criticizing the government of strongman President Chun Doo-hwan.

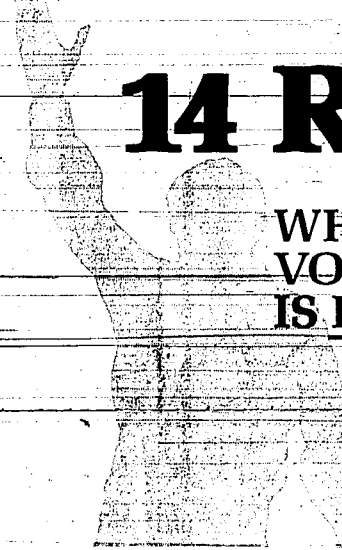

Source close to the government, meanwhile, said Kim's appeal trial would likely start Oct. 24 and be presided over by a five-member military panel headed by an army general.

Kim, 55, the country's leading dissident and a presidential front-runner before his arrest last May, was sentenced to death by a lower military court Sept. 17 for allegedly plotting to overthrow the government.

Kim's appeal is mandatory under Korean law and should he lose his case before the military appeals court, he can go to the Supreme Court for a final hearing.

In addition to Kim, 23 co-defendants who drew prison terms ranging from two to 20 years on similar charges also will have their sentences appealed before the military court.

14 REASONS

WHY THE FRANK CHURCH VOTING RECORD ON DEFENSE IS INDEFENSIBLE.

In Idaho, Frank Church says he is for a "strong, intelligent defense." But in Washington he has voted to cut over $50 billion from defense budgets. Is Frank Church really a "friend" with that record? Fortunately, 43 of his 49 votes to cut America's defense were rejected by his Senate colleagues.

Would you have voted for these cuts in America's military strength?

1964	To cut defense appropriations by $1.9 billion. Rejected ... 5 to 78.	Frank Church voted to cut! — Congressional Quarterly; July 31, 1964, p. 1063	1974	To cut funds for development of a submarine launched cruise missile. Rejected ... 18 to 61.	Frank Church voted to cut! — C. CHARLIE'S BRIDE? A London newspaper that specializes in sensational stories says Queen Elizabeth of England would discuss with Pope John Paul II the possibility of Prince Charles marrying Princess Marie Astrid of Luxembourg. The princess is a Roman Catholic and British law forbids the Prince of Wales from becoming King if he marries a Catholic. Prince Charles will be 31 next month, and people are starting to ask how come a nice boy like that isn't married already.

NO EXPENSE ACCOUNT

The Chinese do not intend to let their public officials fall into any capitalist bad habits. Like forcing a restaurant to pick up the tab for big dinners. Commerce Minister Wang Lei had to make public admission of error for feasting lavishly without fully settling the bills at a top Peking restaurant. An indignant young cook, Chen Aimu, blew the whistle and Wang has to pay bills dating back to 1977.

SOCIETY'S LOSS

The newest edition of the "Green Book" of who's who in social Washington has been published without two of the grande dame names of the past who died within the past year — Alice Roosevelt Longworth, President Theodore Roosevelt's daughter, and Mrs. Robert Lo Bacon, Jean Shaw Murray, who publishes "The Social List of Washington," described Mrs. Bacon as having "an enormous amount of money" and using her home as a "salon for Republicans."

BOND BOUNCED

The monks of the Greek Orthodox Melanourgosia Salina monastery want no part of the latest James Bond movie, "For Your Eyes Only," no matter if the Greek Ministry of Culture is collecting $400 a day to let Roger Moore and Candice Bergen cavort on their premises. "The title alone told us what the film must be like," the abbot of the monastery said. "And they wanted to show women wearing pants in our monastery. Imagine the moral corruption such things will cause in the community around here."

RARELY A PROBLEM

There's good news and bad news about the influx of foreign tourists to Colorado resorts. The good news, according to Steve Coanelli, director of marketing for one resort area, is that Europeans are accustomed to nude bathing. "We had a minor problem with different ladies walking around bare-chested," he said. The bad news: "Americans are very accustomed to bathing daily while that's not customary in Europe, so body odor is apparent."

BEHIND THE NAME: Dorothy Collins was born Majorie Chandler.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (UPI) — Carole Roberts and her three children are suing Santa Claus. And Mrs. Claus, too.

A jury for the Roberts vs. Claus defamation suit was selected Wednesday in Macomb County Circuit Court.

Mrs. Roberts contends Santa and his wife falsely accused her of stealing $40 from a department store cash register while her three children were having their picture taken with Santa during the 1977 Christmas season.

The suit said Mrs. Roberts went about her Christmas shopping at Priests-Department-Store after the picture was taken only to find herself pursued by Santa and Mrs. Claus.

Mrs. Roberts said she denied taking the money but Santa and Mrs. Claus insisted they return to the North Pole section of the store for further questioning. When they got back to the North Pole section, Santa and Mrs. Claus discovered there actually was no money missing from the cash register after all. They apologized, but Mrs. Roberts said she insisted Santa's accusations "were made in a loud and boisterous tone of voice in the presence of other customers... causing great injury to the plaintiff's reputation of honesty, uprightness and truthfulness."

Presiding Judge Kenneth Sanborn asked the attorney for the department store, which is also named in the suit, to identify the Clauses. The lawyer said they are Ken and Sally Krueger. But the Clauses — Kruegers — were not expected to appear at the trial.

New Guinness record book released in U.S.

NEW YORK (UPI) — If there is one lesson to be learned in the 1981 edition of the Guinness Book of World Records, it's that record-seekers never quit trying to break the limits of human endurance and outlandishness.

For example, Dan Cooke of Ohio won a piece of immortality by allowing at least 21,000 bees to swarm on his face, chest and throat, setting a new "Beard of Bees" world record.

Peter Dowdeswell set a new pruned gobbler mark by downing 144 prunes in 53.5 seconds in Paris. The Guinness book's compilers feel some of the lengths may be a little too far out — to the point of becoming dangerous.

To mark the publication of the 19th American edition of the Guinness book Friday, the book's editors have announced especially risky record categories will be retired and no further claims to them will be entertained or published.

So Vernon "Komar" E. Craig of Wooster, Ohio, can rest easy that he will forever hold the "ultimate" record for the "Iron Maiden" feat — lying between two beds of nails with weight put on top. He set the Guinness mark by enduring a bed of nails laden with 1,642 1/2 pounds in 1979.

The new American edition put out by Sterling Publishing Co. is full of new, sometimes mind-boggling marks. A few more:

Alden Chapman of Pioneer, La. caught a grape in his mouth thrown from 319 feet, 9 inches.

Jim Puro of Livonia, Mich., crawled nonstop for 25 miles.

Bedtime stories turn profit for fraternity fund raiser

STORRS, Conn. (UPI) — Members of the University of Connecticut's Kappa Psi fraternity have been cashing in on the demand for a good bedtime story at the Storrs campus.

Teams of two members of the pharmaceutical fraternity have been traveling the campus in pajamas — with teddy bears in tow — the last two weeks reading bedtime stories to women students. At $2.25 a story, they've raised between $100 and $120.

While the woman clutches the teddy bear, one fraternity member reads her choice of four stories — Goldilocks, Sleeping Beauty, The Ugly Duckling or Snow White — while the other provides appropriate sound effects.

One bedtime story reader said the women are tucked into bed before the two leave and "if they want, they even get a good night kiss."

Horoscope

Time right for project of Moon Children found impossible in past days

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a day when you may want to change present plans for an illusionary new appeal, but it would be wise not to discard carefully laid plans of the past. Maintain a cheerful manner.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Establish a new system for your regular work so that it is easier to perform. Be more optimistic about the future.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) State your aims to good friends and gain their support in a new project you have in mind. Express happiness with congenials.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Go to influential persons for the help you need to carry through with your plans. See that your personal life is well organized.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can now put in motion a project that was impossible to do in the past. Take treatments to improve appearance.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Concentrate on how to improve your environment. Discuss practical matters with friends and get their advice.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make sure to improve conditions at home. Not a good day to ask an influential person for a favor. Engage in favorite hobby.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study your surroundings and make plans for improvement. Make new contacts that will be helpful in your enterprise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Ideal day to enjoy yourself at recreations in the company of congenials. A talent you have can be expressed at this time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) It may be difficult to gain your aims in the morning but things will improve later in the day. Spend your money wisely.

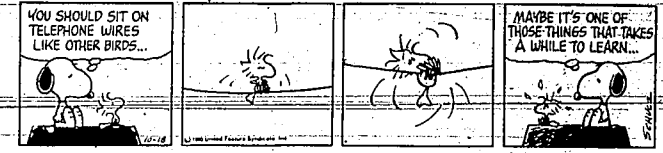

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Take time to consult influential persons who can help you in your career. Be more willing to cooperate with others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Study your monetary affairs well and know how best to improve them. Contact a financial expert and get excellent advice.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Good day to further personal relationships and make big headway. Discuss personal plans with trusted friends.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... He or she will be one who can comprehend both sides of a situation and can whittle any project down to a practical level, so be sure to give as fine an education as possible, and then there can be much success during lifetime.

What's what

Some women never had proposal of marriage

One out of every 20 women tells the surveytakers she has never had a proposal of marriage. Or that's what the surveytakers report, at any rate. Our Love and War man finds the figure surprising. His research suggests that one out of every 100 might be more accurate. Depends on what you call a proposal. Take two people who habitually go away for the weekend. Some Sunday he says, "Honey, will you entertain a novel idea?" And she says, "Why not? I like your short stories." Is that a proposal? Don't know, don't know. Maybe it only counts if the phrasing includes some variation of the word marry.

- AMBER
- Q. What's amber? A. Fossilized resin from leaky trees.
 - Q. In the second Edition of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary is the only word in English, I think, with four sets of consecutive letters... "unbookkeeper." Likewise therein is a word with the same letter repeated consecutively three times: "walless." Could there be any other?
 - Q. Quick, name the only creatures that close their eyes every time they swallow. A. Frogs and toads.

Did I say not one person who came over on the Mayflower in 1620 returned to England? That's not what the historians in England's Plymouth say. Eight went back, according to their records.

WHISTLING LANGUAGE

Original inhabitants of the Canary Island of Gomera were mutilated Africans—their tongues had been cut out—who wound up there after being sold in small boats. They survived as herders of goats. And they developed a fairly sophisticated language by whistling a musical adaptation of the Spanish vocabulary. It was passed down through the generations. Until fairly recent times, the lonely herdsman at some distance carried on lengthy dialogues in the world's only whistled language. Elsewhere, the goat roper did it with CB radios in pickup trucks.

To his list of recycled adages, our Language man has added: "One good turn gets all the corners."

"Bi-monthly" has got to be the most expurgating word in English, what? Means occurring every two months. Also means occurring twice a month. You just don't know which.

Anderson supports new deal with Iran

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) — John Anderson said Friday the United States and Iran have many mutual interests and it is time for the two countries to get the hostage crisis behind them and work together toward peace in the Persian Gulf area.

Anderson said an all-out defeat of Iran in its war with Iraq would also be a defeat for the United States.

Anderson outlined his views on the Persian Gulf area in a foreign policy address to the Hutchins Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions at the University of California Santa Barbara.

Speaking to several hundred students and faculty at the university, with hundreds of others watching on large television screens nearby, Anderson suggested that the only path to peace in the Persian Gulf was "vigorous diplomacy" — with a negotiated settlement of the Iran-Iraq war which might include turning the disputed Shatt-el-Arab waterway into an international zone under the control of a U.N. peace-keeping force.

He also said the United States must be careful not to attempt to make any Middle Eastern country its "Jerdame" for the area. He said specifically that the United States should not provide Saudi Arabia with bombs and rockets and target fuel tanks for their American-built F-15 planes.

Anderson said the United States should take advantage of the current situation to influence Iran to return the hostages and then to re-establish normal relations with Iran.

"We must begin by recognizing that despite our current differences, the United States and Iran have many mutual interests," Anderson said. "We want a strong, united, independent Iran as much as the Iranians do."

"The outright defeat of Iran in the current conflict would be a defeat for the United States as well, Iran's charge that we seek an Iraqi victory is absurd."

Anderson said politicians have tended to avoid discussing the Iranian hostage crisis for fear of making the situation worse.

"But we must now break these bonds of silence," he said. "Our silence has gotten us nowhere. On the contrary, it has reinforced foreign perceptions that we are weak and manipulable."

Ford attacks Carter

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) — Gerald Ford said Friday foreign leaders have told him confidentially they are dismayed by President Carter.

"Our allies no longer trust us and our adversaries no longer respect us," Ford said during a rally for Ronald Reagan at the University of Richmond.

"With every foreign leader I meet, they tell me privately that the United States has lost its leadership role in the world under President Carter."

Ford, who narrowly carried

Virginia against Carter in 1976, branded the president as "weak and ineffective."

"Jimmy Carter's management of our economy is the worst since the 1930s," Ford said. "Repeatedly during the 1976 campaign, he sanctimoniously pointed his finger at inflation and said Jerry Ford should be run out of the White House."

Ford noted that inflation was 4.8 percent when he left the Oval Office, compared with a current rate of 13.6 percent.

Poll says Reagan ahead

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A GOP pollster said Friday Ronald Reagan leads President Carter by 6 percentage points nationally, is ahead in 30 states and has firmer support among voters than the president.

Richard Wirthlin released selected results of a sounding he took in an attempt to rebut opposition data suggesting an erosion in Reagan's lead.

Wirthlin said his poll — conducted at the end of September and the beginning of October — showed Reagan is ahead of Carter in 30 states, but refused to name most of them.

He did say Reagan leads by more than 10 points in California, that Pennsylvania and Michigan are a tossup and that Carter leads Reagan 39 percent to 33 percent in New York.

Who Delivers for Idaho Agriculture?

Frank Church

Steve Symms

For over 24 years in the Senate, Frank Church has built a remarkable record of effectiveness for the farmers of Idaho. Here are some highlights of the past six years:

- Rangeland Rehabilitation Bill: Frank Church wrote the 1978 law to revitalize rangeland and implement a new, flexible grazing fee long sought by Idaho livestock producers.
- Sugar: Frank Church refused to allow the new international Sugar Agreement to be ratified until the Administration raised sugar prices. Because of Frank Church, sugar support prices were raised.
- Reclamation Reform Act: Frank Church wrote the bill that has passed the Senate to overhaul the old law and raise the 160-acre limitation to 1,280 acres!
- Gasohol: This year, Congress passed the major synthetic fuel bill, which sets a goal of producing eleven billion gallons of gasohol a year. Frank Church wrote the gasohol provisions of the new law!
- American Falls Dam: When American Falls Dam was no longer safe, Frank Church led the successful effort to secure funding to pay the cost of rebuilding the dam.
- Wheat Prices: When it appeared our trade negotiators might use wheat exports as a "trade-off," Frank Church threatened to block any new International Wheat Agreement that failed to protect American growers.
- Potato futures: Frank Church, at the urging of Idaho farmers, introduced a bill to put a stop to speculation in potato futures that harms the growers.
- Water: When Idaho was faced with having its water diverted elsewhere, Frank Church led the successful fight with a moratorium on diversion of Idaho water.

In contrast, Steve Symms has been in Washington eight years, was a member of the "Agriculture" Committee during that time and yet, he hasn't passed a single piece of legislation for Idaho farmers. In fact, he hasn't passed a single piece of legislation — Period!

NONE.

Compare the Voting Records:

Before you vote, compare the record of Frank Church and his opponent, Steve Symms. You'll find Frank Church consistently voting "yes" on agricultural legislation that benefits the Idaho farmer — and Steve Symms voting "no."

Idaho Farmers Never Had A Better Friend.

Jury convicts Guerra on cocaine charges

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A 19-year-old Twin Falls woman was found guilty late Friday night on four counts of delivery of cocaine.

A 12-member district court jury deliberated seven hours before reaching a unanimous verdict.

Lisa Guerra burst into tears and wept openly when the verdict against her was read.

Guerra was found guilty of delivering four different packets of cocaine to a narcotics investigator last August. Her trial began Tuesday in 13th District Court before Judge Phillip Becker of Gooding County.

The case went to the jury about 3:30 p.m. Friday following two days of testimony and final arguments.

No date has been set for sentencing. Thursday evening Judge Becker ordered the jury sequestered for the night to prevent members reading and hearing news coverage of the trial after hours covered the day's court proceedings.

The jury consisted of seven men and five women.

In closing arguments before the jury, Chief Deputy Prosecutor Tom Gray asked the members to consider two basic things.

"First, you must determine, 'Did the defendant deliver cocaine?' and second, 'Was there entrapment?'" Gray said.

He argued evidence, even the testimony of the defendant herself, clearly showed she delivered cocaine to Dan Thornton, Bureau of Narcotics investigator, on four occasions. He said by the instructions given by Judge Becker, if the defendant did so of her own volition, and not under pressure of force from anyone, then there can be no entrapment.

In his lengthy instructions to the jury, the judge explained in detail what constitutes entrapment under Idaho law. He said if the jury found the defendant was a victim of entrapment they would have to return an innocent verdict.

Gray said evidence supports the state's content that it was her intent to deliver the cocaine to Thornton.

"She never asked that (Thornton) stop calling her or discouraged his requests for cocaine. In fact, when he did not call her for a period of time, she was the defendant who made the important telephone call to him that lead to the initial sale of the cocaine," Gray said.

Mike Walz, public defender representing Guerra, called on the jurors to pay close heed to the law.

"You have no choice but to do what the law says," he said, "and the law says when an individual is persuaded by agents of the government to commit a crime, then it is entrapment, and this is what happened to Lisa."

Walz questioned the absence of an important witness, Sandy Gross, whom he identified as an agent of the Bureau of Narcotics and who was mentioned in the testimony of a number of witnesses.

"Where is Sandy Gross and why wasn't Sandy Gross here to deny she was responsible for the entrapment?" Walz asked.

He told the jury the 10 to 12 telephone calls Thornton said he made to contact Guerra and attempt to buy cocaine constitutes pressure and persuasion. In addition, he said Sandy Gross, as far back as February persuaded the defendant, "to get involved in drugs."

Walz said one of the problems the defense faced in the trial was the fact it was a "drug case" and carried the emotional tones of young people becoming involved with drugs. He asked the jury to try not to be influenced by this emotional aspect but to look on it as a crime, as burglary is a crime.

Taking the stand in her own defense Friday morning, Guerra said she believed she had done something wrong and she believed she should be punished. She said she did deliver cocaine to Thornton, but after his insistence and after Gross introduced her to the business of cocaine sales.

Judge Becker told the jurors they could find the defendant guilty of possession of a controlled substance if they felt evidence was not sufficient to support the four felony counts of delivery of a controlled substance.

Gray argued the evidence clearly supported the delivery charges, but he said the jury must at least realize there would be no question about proof of possession.

Walz described Sandy Gross as a government agent who was "shooting cocaine," and said he had attempted to bring her to Twin Falls to testify but was unable to do so. He charged the prosecution should have included her testimony in the case.

Earlier in the trial, Thornton testified Gross had been a roommate with Guerra and was at the same time an informant for the bureau.

Idaho Frozen Food sales seminar begins

TWIN FALLS — Idaho Frozen Food will hold its annual sales seminar in Twin Falls this weekend.

The conference is attended by Idaho Frozen salespeople, customers and brokers from throughout the United States and Puerto Rico.

Mayor Hank Woodall was in welcome conference mode at a 7 a.m. breakfast today. The rest of the time will be spent touring potato fields, the Idaho Frozen processing plant and in conferences.

The purpose of the meeting is to give people from around the country, whether they work for the company or buy products from the company, a firsthand look at how the products are manufactured, said Karen Garrell, supervisor of training and promotions for Idaho Frozen.

The seminar concludes Monday.

Airport supporter runs for board

BURLEY — A supporter of the South Idaho Regional Airport Authority won a place on the Nov. 4 election ballot for a seat on the SIRA board Friday.

Baker — Burley farmer presented the necessary petitions just before the deadline lapsed and will oppose Burley accountant Ron Osterhout.

The race between Baker and Osterhout promises to generate discussion among Cassia County residents over their future in the regional airport authority. Osterhout has said he favors either pulling Cassia County out of the five-county authority or disbanding it completely. He is supported by a group of people who say the project represents a waste of tax dollars since the airport cannot be built without the tax base of Twin Falls County. Twin Falls voters have twice rejected joining the regional airport.

The two are running for a seat representing Legislative District 26. The seat is now held by Ed Elliott, a Burley implement dealer. Elliott is not seeking another term on the board.

Jack Gough, a Gooding farmer, is running unopposed for the trustee seat from Legislative District 22. Baker said he was approached by supporters of the airport, but declined to identify them. He said much of the information used to condemn the airport has been incorrect.

"There needs to be both sides to each story. There is one man running in opposition to it so I think there should be one guy running who is not opposed to it," he said.

Although he would prefer to have Twin Falls County included in the airport authority, Baker said he would favor building the airport in any event.

"I think there should be all the urging possible to get Twin Falls in, but if that can't be, I think it still could be a benefit to the entire Magic Valley," he said.

Gough, who was appointed to the board trustees last year, said he also believes the airport can be built without Twin Falls.

"With this 1 percent initiative, we've got a greater bonding power. It's possible it could be built now without Twin Falls County," he said, adding he believes Twin Falls will eventually join the authority.

"Looking down the road, I think the people are going to realize they're going to need this regional airport," he said. "This is going to be one of the hubs of the western United States in a very short time."

Shooting suspect arrested

BURLEY — Cassia County Sheriff's deputies arrested Nestor Sanchez Friday afternoon for a shooting southeast of here earlier this week.

Sanchez, who also goes by the surname of Carranza, was arrested in connection with the Wednesday night shooting of Angel Gonzalez, 27, of Mexico, three times with a .22-caliber weapon. Gonzalez was listed in good condition at Cassia Memorial Hospital Friday night.

The shooting occurred on the John Smith farm southeast of Burley. According to Sheriff Ray Mitchell, the suspect was arrested on the Kent Seale farm adjacent to the Smith farm after receiving a tip he had returned during the night for food and supplies.

Mitchell said Sanchez was found hiding in a haystack. Charges are pending the decision of the Prosecutor Al Barrus.

Public hearing transcripts available to the public

BOISE — Transcripts are available from hearings on the Salmon Falls Division irrigation project held March 12 and 13 in Twin Falls and Idaho Falls.

The Salmon Falls project is "in a state of limbo at the moment," conceded Larry Vinsonhaler, regional planning officer for the Water and Power Resources Service, which conducted the hearing.

Vinsonhaler said WPRS planners are looking for alternative water sources in the face of opposition to a proposal to pump groundwater from the Snake River Plain. Angler to supplement available spring river flows.

Idaho Falls farmers and environmentalists objected to the plan, citing the large volume of water required for the aquifer during dry periods. A bill passed by the 1980 Idaho Legislature also prohibits intra-basin water transfers.

The Salmon Falls Division project called for routing groundwater from near Idaho Falls to a diversion point downriver at Miller Reservoir. From there it would be pumped to canals serving farms in the Hansen and Hollister areas.

Vinsonhaler said hearing transcripts are routinely made available by the WPRS for public review.

In the Magic Valley, copies of the hearing record have been sent to public libraries in Buhl, Burley, Filer, Hansen, Kimberly, Twin Falls and the College of Southern Idaho.

In addition, copies will be available at the WPRS Mindoka Project office in Burley and the Pacific Northwest Regional office in Boise.

QUESTION...

My father was a disabled veteran. He broke contact with my sister and me when we were small children. We don't know whether he is living or not. Can you suggest how we might go about locating him?

ANSWER...

You may get a helping hand from the Veteran's Administration. If your father is still living and receiving compensation, his present address will be on file with them; if he has passed away and was buried in National Cemetery, that information will also be available to you. It is not the policy of the Veterans Administration to release the addresses of veterans from his files. Exceptions are made, however, to legitimate inquiries such as yours. A similar procedure is also possible through Social Security. We are familiar with these procedures. We will be happy to assist you.

Toxic shock fear keys sales of sea sponges

DENVER (UPI) — The incidence of toxic shock syndrome has sparked sales of sea sponges as an alternative to tampons, a nursing practitioner said Wednesday.

But such use of the sponges still lacks Food and Drug Administration approval.

Margaret Norton, said the Women's Health Care in Denver had been selling about 10 of the sponges since the publicity about toxic shock syndrome appeared a few months ago.

"They've been selling for about five years, but usually to young women interested in using natural products," she said. "Now we're seeing all kinds and ages of women" buying the sponges.

Dr. Walter Scott of the Food and Drug Administration's obstetrics and gynecology section, said the safety of the sea sponges as a menstrual product "has not been substantiated."

He said one sea sponge manufacturer that was cited by the FDA's sufficient information for us to arrive at a decision as to the product's safety.

Scott said the FDA was not calling the product unsafe, but rather that they had not been thoroughly tested by the federal agency.

Ms. Norton said the sponges discouraged large amounts of bacteria from growing because they must be removed, cleaned and reinserted every three to four hours. She said the sponge, made of natural fibers instead of chemically treated paper, was softer and less potentially damaging than commercial tampons.

Tampons, particularly the super absorbent variety, have been implicated in the deaths of about 40 women nationwide due to toxic shock syndrome. The disease is believed to occur when waste products from certain bacteria enter the blood stream.

Although tampons do not cause the disease, they can create the environment in which bacteria flourishes if left in place longer than four hours.

Teenage sexuality on rise

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Teen-age American girls are having sex more often and are using contraceptives more frequently, but they are still getting pregnant in greater numbers than ever before, according to a study by Johns Hopkins University.

The survey of 1,700 girls and young women, ages 15 to 19, and 900 young men, 17 to 21, shows that one in every two women and nearly three of every four men have engaged in premarital sex.

The study also concludes that sexual activity among white teens is increasing faster than among blacks; that fewer young women who get pregnant are getting married as a result (15 percent, down from nearly 23 percent in 1976); and that more unwanted pregnancies are resulting in abortions (36 percent vs. 32 percent in 1976).

The 50 percent rate of premarital sexual activity for girls and young women in the 1979 study marks a sharp increase from the 30 percent who said they were sexually active in a similar study in 1971, and the 43 percent in a 1976 study who said they had had sex.

The study involved teen-agers from metropolitan areas of the United States.

The increase in premarital sexual activity among teen-age girls since the 1976 study was attributed to an increase in such activity among white teens, said Melvin Zelnic and John F. Kantner, the two Johns Hopkins' sociologists who conducted the study.

They said sexual activity among black teen-age girls apparently hit a "plateau" in 1976 of about 66 percent, a figure that was unchanged in the most recent study.

Sexual activity among white teen-age girls, however, has risen from 26 percent in 1971, to 39 percent in 1976, to over 46 percent in 1979.

Kids found eating bugs, mom charged

NEW LONDON, Conn. (UPI) — A 21-year-old mother was arrested on cruelty charges Friday for allegedly leaving her three children alone for two days in an apartment where the toddlers fed on cockroaches and drank from a toilet bowl.

Officers found Philip Payne Jr., 3; his brother, John, 2; and sister, Donna, 1, Wednesday in the apartment strewn with dirt, dirty clothes and human filth. Police said one child told them they had used a hammer to catch roaches "so they could eat them."

Officer Odd Krograd said a friend of the family, Donna L. Maine, 16, who occasionally stayed at the apartment, reported the condition to police.

"She told us the two boys had been picking up roaches and eating them and drinking from the toilet bowl," Krograd said. "There was no toilet in the house, muddy food on dirty dishes and no bed linen and clean clothes."

The children were taken to the hospital where they were bathed, given clean clothes and examined. Doctors said the three were undernourished and had failed to grow normally but showed no signs of physical abuse. They were later taken to a state foster home.

Their father, Philip Payne, 23, was arrested Thursday on three counts of cruelty. His wife, Nancy, was arrested on the same charges Friday.

Police said Mrs. Payne didn't show up for work Monday at a downtown restaurant and was last seen picking up her paycheck a day later. Payne had been in and out of the apartment during the two days apparently looking for his wife, Krograd said.

Payne and his wife were held in lieu of $1,000 bond each for arraignment Monday.

Poison may have caused band's illness

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Health officials examined soft drinks, hot dogs and candy apples Friday to determine if poison caused 34 teenagers to suffer abdominal pains, vomiting attacks and other symptoms at a high school football game.

These strikes — students, band members or cheerleaders at predominantly black Carver High School — were taken to three city hospitals for treatment and at least 22 of the 34 were admitted for observation Thursday night. By midday Friday, 19 remained hospitalized, and they were all reported in stable condition.

Most of the students were admitted with severe abdominal pains, cramps, coughing, nausea and most were vomiting.

Health officials said the only common denominator among those admitted was they all had consumed drinks or food from the concession stand.

Phillips Rogers, a pharmacist with the Poison Control Center at Children's Hospital, said it sounds like someone put something in the food or drinks.

"There have been rumors, only rumors, that someone had put something into their soft drinks," Dehrow said. "But right now the situation is up in the air."

The band had just finished a halftime performance at the Carver-Glen football game when one band member fainted on the sidelines. Moments later, others doubled over with pain.

"All of us had something to eat and drink, but only the band members, cheerleaders and staff got sick," said Rosalea Chamblin, sister of one of the victims.

Another of those not affected was Mark Kirkland, a senior trombone player. "It's unaccountable," he said.

Aikens pulls Royals into contention

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — The Kansas City Royals escaping from more jams than the great Houdini, got back into contention in the World Series Friday night by beating the Philadelphia Phillies 4-3 in 10 innings on a two-out, run-scoring single by Willie Aikens.

Despite the loss, the Phillies maintained a 2-1 edge in the best-of-seven series, with the fourth game scheduled for Royals Stadium today. Larry Christenson will pitch for Philadelphia and first-game starter Dennis Leonard will take the mound for Kansas City.

U.L. Washington led off the 10th with a single off reliever Tug McGraw and Willie Wilson walked. The Phillies then got a break when Frank White missed an attempted sacrifice bunt and Washington, who had wandered too far off second, got thrown out attempting to steal third. While then struck out but Wilson stole second and George Brett, who had homered and doubled, was intentionally walked.

Aikens then worked the count to 2-1 and lined a shot into left-center field beyond the rear-center fielder Gary Maddox as Wilson raced home with the winning run.

"I was looking for a fastball outside and I just hit it," said Aikens. "We had a meeting before the game and we knew we had to go out together and win it. I've got a lot of confidence that we can come back and win the Series."

It was an especially frustrating loss for the Phillies, who stranded a record-tying 15 runners and wasted a strong nine-inning pitching performance by right-hander Dick Ruthven.

Six times the Phillies got a runner into scoring position in the first six innings, but they couldn't get a clutch hit until Pete Rose singled with two out in the eighth to score Larry Bowa and tie the score 3-3.

With one out in the eighth, Larry Bowa beat out an infield single off reliever Renie Martin and stole second. Bob Boone filed to center, but Lonnie Smith walked and Rose, who had struck out with a runner in scoring position in the sixth, lined a single to right-center field to score Bowa with the tying run.

The Royals took a 3-2 lead in the seventh when Amos Otis hit a 1-1 pitch off Ruthven over the right-center field fence for his second home run in the Series.

A two-run home run by Mike Schmidt in the fifth inning enabled the Phillies to tie the score 2-2 after the Royals had gone ahead in the fourth on Aikens' first major-league triple and a single by Hal McRae.

George Brett, who left a hospital bed early Friday morning after an overnight stay following a hemorrhoid operation, staked the Royals to a 1-0 lead in the first with a two-out homer, but the Phillies got a gift run in the second inning with the aid of a mental error by Kansas City starter Rick Gale.

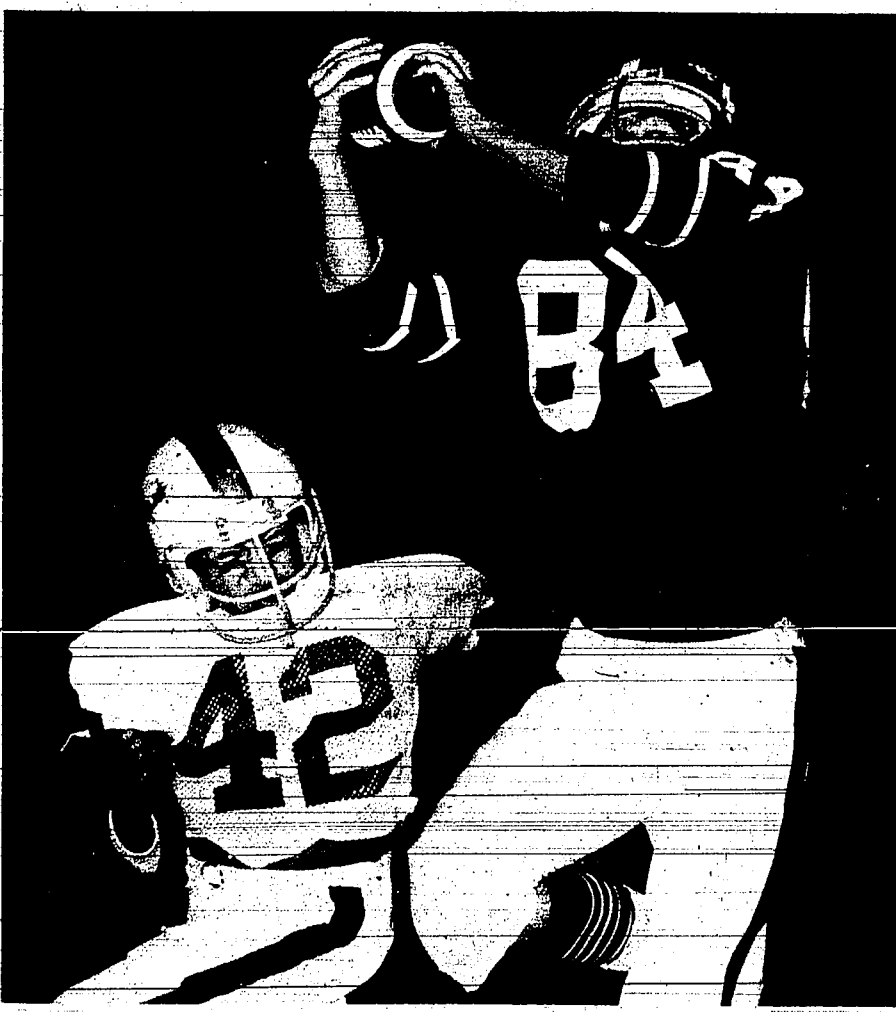

Gale's mistake came when he threw to first base instead of home for a forceout after leading Smith's hard grounder, allowing the tying run to score.

The Phillies loaded the bases with one out in the second on singles by Manny Trillo and Bowa and a walk to Boone. Smith followed with a hard smack back to the mound which Gale knocked down. But instead of throwing to the

Kimberly's Dave Overacre makes a catch in front of Valley's Roy Escabido in part of a drive that led to a touchdown

KIMBERLY — The Kimberly Bulldogs are conference champions and state playoff-bound.

The Bulldogs clinched at least a share of the title and clinched the No. 1 district designation by downing the Valley Vikings 18-6 in another hotly-contested battle between bordering school districts Friday night.

It was a matter of Kimberly making good on two of four scoring chances and Curtis Parma came up with a gift when he rambled 79 yards with a Valley fumble. The Vikings had three good chances in score and collected just once. They also dropped a couple of bombs that looked like six.

"I don't care if we win or lose we're going to play that (playoff) against the third district runner-up game right here," exulted Coach Gordon Hogan after it was over and he had the playoff berth in hand. "It's our choice and it'll be right here," he emphasized pointing his finger at the home turf.

"Oh, this is a great feeling," he went on. "I've never been 8-0 in my life with any team. This is great. These kids are great."

While Bulldog fans zipped in and out to pat Hogan on the back or shake his hand, the coach said the game went pretty much like I expected, except we moved the ball a better than expected we would against their defense but we couldn't score. I guess all the games with this kind of emotion go like that.

The coach said he could think of moments he wasn't really pleased with the performance of his club but "we played pretty good D" when we had to — and they dropped a couple of those long passes that helped, too. The four turnovers helped us, too."

On the other side of the field, Valley Coach Forrest Ponnesebeck found his disappointment where Hogan was finding his happiness.

"Those untimely penalties really hurt," he said. "They took us out of two really good chances to score and that turnover in the third quarter when we were ready to score."

"We didn't play as well as I thought we could. We made those critical mistakes. But they (Kimberly) came out ready to play and hit. They were just a little bit better than us tonight."

The game wasn't a total loss for the Vikings who still have a spot in the A-3 playoffs. But they earn the long trip to north Idaho where they probably will play Prairie.

Valley put the first threat of the game together, taking the first possession and grinding into Kimberly 10-0. In two plays Valley had moved between the two and three-yard line when a guard came up too soon and moved leading Smith's hard grounder, allowing the tying run to score.

The Phillies loaded the bases with one out in the second on singles by Manny Trillo and Bowa and a walk to Boone. Smith followed with a hard smack back to the mound which Gale knocked down. But instead of throwing to the

From there Kimberly put its attack together, moving 89 yards in five minutes. The big play was a 36-yard reception by Dave Overacre from Rocky Eller that carried to the Valley nine. Three plays later, and four minutes into the second quarter, Pat Ferrell belted across from the two. The conversion pass failed.

Immediately Valley was back to threaten again. Baker squatted for 23 yards and Rob Tilly broke a reverse for 22. Kevin Stigle moved to a first down at the 13 but then came a 15-yard penalty. On the next play a pass was dropped in the end zone and then another 15-yard penalty. Even then Valley hit two passes and came back to the 20 before running out of downs.

From there Kimberly, gaining impetus by completing a pass out of punt formation, moved for the clinching points. Eller hit Rich Crothers on an out pattern and the tanky senior turned it into a 28-yard bomb with 53 seconds left in the half.

On the first play after the kickoff, Valley quarterback Gary Taylor reinjured an ankle and was available for spot duty only after that.

But the Vikings didn't miss him early in the third quarter as they rolled up four first downs to the Kimberly 18. Then came the crusher. A Valley runner, on a sweep, was hit from behind. The ball popped loose and Palmer scooped it up at the 21. There was nothing but three friendly faces in the area and he sprinted untouched 79 yards into the end zone.

After that the teams traded three interceptions and a fumble. But in between Valley broke the shutout. The Vikings drove to the Kimberly 35. A touchdown pass was dropped but Taylor hit Tilly with another that carried to the five. On the third play, Baker scored from the three.

Wolves win battle of unbeaten teams

Playoff-bound for second season

DANCING — Specialty teams made a big difference Friday afternoon as Castleford defeated North Gem 32-18 in a battle between two undefeated Snake River Conference football teams.

The Wolves, now 6-0, blocked a North Gem punt to set up their first score and Rob Owen returned the second half kickoff for 71 yards for another TD.

North Gem outgained the Wolves 207 yards to 213 yards but the big plays kept Castleford ahead from start to finish.

"I'd have to say it was definitely a team effort today," elated Castleford skipper Randy Clark said after the biggest win of the season for his team. "North Gem played very well though. I'll tell you, they were the toughest team we've faced in two years."

Castleford blocked North Gem's first punt of the game to set up a one-yard touchdown sneaky by quarterback Dave Ensusna. Dwight Rattick blocked the boot and the Wolves covered the ball just outside the North Gem 10. Five plays later Ensusna got in from just outside the goal. Ensusna hit Rattick on the conversion pass for a 8-0 lead.

With Phil Yost doing much of the ground work, North Gem pounded back on its following possession and Yost swept right for a three-yard TD. The conversion run failed as Castleford stayed ahead by two.

Castleford moved its lead to 16-6 in the second period as John Zamora took a screen pass on the left side and went 15 yards. The score was setup by Owen's 45-yard romp on the play prior to the screen pass. Chris Tverdy threw an Ensusna's PAT pass for the 10-point margin.

Just before the half Castleford intercepted a pass and returned it for a score, but the play was erased by a penalty.

Owen, repeating his act of a week ago, returned the North Gem kickoff 71 yards for six points. Last week the fullback returned the second half kickoff 71 yards for a score against Camas County.

Tverdy again caught the conversion pass from Ensusna and Castleford led 24-6.

North Gem, hoping to gain revenge for last year's loss at Castleford, didn't die however. Yost pounded for yardage and scored from four yards out to make it 24-12.

Ensusna fumbled on the Wolves' first play after the kickoff and the Cowboys recovered. Yost promptly scored from two yards out and when the Wolves stopped the conversion run for the third straight time, Castleford had a 24-18 lead.

"It was pretty much a defensive battle after that," Clark said.

With eight minutes to go Owen broke free off the left side for 25 yards and a victory-clinching touchdown. Ensusna tossed to Rattick for his fourth conversion pass for the final 32-18 margin.

North Gem did threaten a score during the last eight minutes.

"They (Castleford) just played some better football today than we did. They didn't do anything we didn't expect. I think our kids played a real good game," North Gem boss Frank Boone said.

"The difference was in their runbacks. One of our touchdowns hurt us badly but all of their returns set up good field position for them. And they had the blocked punt in the first quarter that set up their first touchdown. They just had better field position than we did most of the day," Boone said.

"I'm depressed and the boys are depressed but we lost to a good, tough team. They deserved it today. They played a little better."

Owen, a big workhorse in the last two games, had 105 yards in nine carries for Castleford while Yost carried 30 times for 183 yards to pace North Gem. Owen has scored seven touchdowns in the last two games.

Ray Garrison, a premier lineman, played most of the game on defense for the Wolves despite a bad ankle. North Gem directed most of its offense clear of the senior.

The defending state eight-man champions must defeat Carey next Friday for the Snake River title; an undefeated regular season and a spot in the playoffs.

"We know we'll have a battle on our hands in that one," Clark said. "They beat Camas County had the other night."

Crane's 81-yard TD romp gives Burley upset of Buhl

BURLEY — Ross Crane turned a third and one-hope-into an 81-yard drive Friday when the Burley Bobcats nipped the Buhl Indians 6-0.

Crane, who has been good for at least one homerun play per game for Coach John Billets, turned in his game-deciding four plays in the fourth quarter. But not until after the Burley defensive unit, which dominated all night, had stopped the Indians on a fourth and one at the Bobcats' eight-yard line.

White Crane was the obvious hero. Burley's defense held up a major share of the spotlight.

With the defense holding Buhl to just one first down in the first half — that on a fourth and inches situation near the goal line — the Bobcats held the ball and field position the first two quarters.

But Burley had only one really serious threat, that coming on a two-first-down drive that suddenly became a threat on a pass interception by Burley's defense.

Don Konrad's interception killed Buhl's offensive hopes on the next possession, the Indians getting the ball back on a punt.

Buhl's fourth-down failure struck on the next play when Crane's plays leading up to Crane's touchdown.

Mt. Home 38, Jerome 19

JEROME — Rich Grinnell put on an aerial show Friday night in passing the Mountain Home Tigers past Jerome 38-19 and into the South Central Idaho Conference championship.

Grinnell hit 25 of 39 pass attempts for 309 yards and four of them went for touchdowns. He hooked up with Brad Tierena for three scores through the air and found Monte Wells for another.

Grinnell picked up his first points on a field goal by Steve Brannon. Tony Dickens turned in the longest play of the night for the tigers.

Bonneville 34, Minico 12

IDAHO FALLS — Denny Dennis scored three times in the first 19 minutes Friday afternoon to point the Bonneville Bees past the Minico Spartans 34-12.

The victory kept the Bees in a deadlock for the Gen State Conference title. But a major penalty and Bonneville's defense killed that thrust and the Bees immediately drove for the lead.

A 21-yard pass from Jeff Widdison to Dennis in the first quarter.

Bonneville scored on its next possession, Dennis plunging in from the two-yard line in the first quarter.

Declo 12, Gooding 6

GOODING — Deelo's Adams brothers Todd and Brett each scored one touchdown on Friday night to give the Gooding Senators 12-6 in a Canyon Conference battle.

Gooding, 3-4, had a chance in the second quarter to move ahead, but Brad Hattler fumbled the ball after the Senators drove downfield 74 yards to the Hornet's 19 to nullify that opportunity.

After a hard fought and scoreless first quarter, Todd Adams broke the ice on a 26 yard scamper in the second period to open the door for his brother.

Gooding will travel to Buhl next Friday before closing out the season in American Falls Oct. 31.

Murtaugh 58, Wendell 6

MURTAUGH — The Murtaugh Red Devils scored in a variety of ways Friday en route to a 58-6 romping of Wendell.

Murtaugh scored on three runs — one coming after a blocked punt — an interception return, a field goal and two passes and put 23 points on the scoreboard in the first period for the victory.

Wendell's only successful drive ended in a 56 yard scamper by Burke McBride. Murtaugh ups its record to 5-2 while the Hornets fall to 4-4.

Rob Nekeyer, who passed for 303 yards in 10 of 17 completions, did most of the scoring for the Red Devils.

His first career interception return in the first quarter before he hit Kyle Gunnel on a five yard pass play in the second.

plate for an easy forceout. Gale went to first base and Trillo scored the tying run. Gale then walked.

The Phillies had numerous chances to knock out Gale in the first three innings, but couldn't come up with the big hit in the clutch and stranded seven runners.

Philadelphia put runners on first and second with one out in the first inning on a single by Smith and a walk to Schmidt, but Gale got Blake McBride on a fly to left and retired Keith Moreland on a fly to center.

The Phillies had Gale in trouble again in the third, but once again McBride led off with a single and after Moreland struck out, Garry Maddox hit into a forceout. Trillo followed with the fourth, but the right-field corner, sending Maddox to third, but Bowa grounded out to end the inning.

Gale settled down and retired the side in order in the fourth, but Schmidt led off the fifth with his home run and one out later, Moreland singled, Kansas City Manager Jim Frey went to his bullpen and brought in Mark Martin also got into trouble in Rose intentionally and Schmidt followed with a liner to the right of second base which appeared headed for a run-scoring single. However, Frank White, considered by many to be the best defensive second baseman in the American League, lunged to his right to catch the ball, then stepped on second-base-to double off Boone.

Relief ace Dan Quisenberry, the eventual winner, replaced Martin and notched the final out of the eighth inning and Aikens saved the Royals in the ninth by making a nice defensive play on Trillo's one-out grounder into the hole.

McBride singled to open the inning and moved to second on Moreland's long fly to left. Maddox was walked intentionally and Trillo then bounced a grounder to the right side which Aikens guided and threw to Quisenberry covering first for the out as the runners advanced. Base-running helps Phillies

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — For the third time in the 1980 World Series, Philadelphia capitalized Friday night on shoddy base-running by the Kansas City Royals, but this time it wasn't enough.

With runners on first and second and no outs in the bottom of the 10th inning, Royals' shortstop L.L. Washington was thrown out attempting to steal third during Frank White's unsuccessful sacrifice bunt that led Washington to a sitting duck for a pickoff throw.

Despite the mistake, the Royals later scored the winning run on Willie Aikens' single to deep left-center.

"You can't really blame Washington on the play," said Philadelphia third baseman Mike Schmidt.

"Frank White is a great bunter and he just bunted through the ball. After that, Boone (catcher Bob Boone) just made a great fake and Washington got hung up. Once he got hung up, he was committed to third and Boone got the throw there in plenty of time."

Royals manager Jim Frey admitted the mental error could have cost the Royals the game, but he defended Washington.

"In that situation, the guy on second base is trying to get a jump," Frey said. "The pitcher threw a slow curve."

But he misses it, they have a good shot at the runner on second base.

"A lot of clubs practice that play on defense when they throw the slow curve. The runner is in jeopardy if the ball is missed."

Phillies shortstop Larry Bowa said Philadelphia indeed had practiced that very situation.

"We felt we had a shot at him," Bowa said. "Boone faked a throw and Washington took the bait. Boone set up the play. There was little alternative for Washington after he committed. He had to go to third."

It was the third base-running mistake for Kansas City in three World Series games.

In Game 1 with the Royals leading 4-0 in the third inning, catcher Darrel Porter was easily thrown out at the plate trying to score from second base on a Clint Hurdle single. Philadelphia capitalized by scoring five runs in their half of the third and went on to win, 7-4.

In the seventh inning of Game 2, Amos Otis was thrown out trying to reach third on a sacrifice fly that ended the inning with Kansas City leading 4-2. The Phillies eventually won 6-4.

Gminski's tip-in gives Nets win

LANDOVER, Md. (UPI) — Rookie Mike Gminski's tip-in with nine seconds remaining gave the New Jersey Nets a 114-112 victory Friday night over the Washington Bullets.

With the score tied 112-112, New Jersey's Mike O'Brien missed a 15-minute foul shot to lead the choice from Duke, positioned himself inside of Washington's Wes Unshelm and tapped in the shot. Greg Ballard and Bob Dandridge both missed at attempts in the final six seconds of the game.

Hawks 113, Knicks 101
ATLANTA (UPI) — Eddie Johnson scored 26 points and Dan Roundtree added 18 Friday night to bend the Atlanta Hawks to their third victory without a loss, a 113-101 decision over the New York Knicks.

Bulls 98, Cavs 79
CHICAGO (UPI) — Reggie Theus scored 19 points and David Greenwood added 18 Friday night to make Chicago's home-epic successful and lead the Bulls to a 98-79 victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers.

Cleveland led the Cavs 41-39 and were paced by Dave Robisch's 42 points and Randy Smith's 10 in the first half.

Kings 103, Mavs 91
DALLAS (UPI) — Otis Birdsong and Scott Wedman combined for 34 points in the first half Friday night to help Kansas City open a large lead and the Kings held on for a 103-91 victory over the Dallas Mavericks.

Rockets 102, Blazers 99
PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Moses Malone scored 33 points, 11 of them in a fourth-quarter surge, to lead the Houston Rockets to a come-from-behind 102-99 victory over the Portland Trail Blazers Friday night. Malone, in addition to his scoring, had 14 rebounds.

Nuggets 129, Clippers 116
SAN DIEGO (UPI) — David Thompson scored 33 points and veteran Dan Issel added 30 Friday night to lead the Denver Nuggets to a 129-116 victory over the Los Angeles Clippers.

The one-sided contest, which saw the winners tirade by as many as 29 points—midway through the second quarter, was never close despite a game-high 35 points by Michael Brooks of San Diego's All-American rookie from La Salle University.

Lakers 116, Suns 109
INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Jammal Wilkes scored 34 points Friday night and Norm Nixon added 30, including 20 in the second half to pace the unbeaten Los Angeles Lakers to a 116-109 victory over the Phoenix Suns.

Jim Chones, starting at center in place of the injured veteran Abdul-Jabbar, had 16 rebounds and 17 points and guard Ervin Johnson had 24 points, including 10 in the final period.

Eagles, potent Cowboys clash with 5-1 records

By IRA KAUFMAN
UPI Sports Writer

Roger Who? When Dallas legend Roger Staubach retired from pro football after last season, some Cowboys fans feared that the team would lose its winning touch. Staubach, the incomparable master of the two-minute drill, left the game as the NFL's all-time top-rated passer, but the Dallas offense is still very much in business.

Dan M. White, carefully groomed as Staubach's understudy, threw a career-high four touchdowns in a 59-14 rout of the 49ers last week as he took over the league's No. 1 spot in the quarterback ratings and helped the Cowboys equal a club record for points in a single game. This Sunday, in Philadelphia, White leads the Cowboys into an early AFC East showdown, with both clubs sporting 5-1 records.

White, who has completed 67.5 percent of his passes for 1,365 yards and 13 TDs—and has been intercepted only four times—is expected to engage in an aerial duel with Philadelphia's Ron Jaworski who hit 60.5 percent of his attempts for 1,386 yards and 12 scores.

The Eagles lead the league in defense, both in total yardage and points, and Dallas Coach Tom Landry says the numbers don't lie. "They're better defensively with the return of people like Bill Bergey and they're a far more confident team now," says Landry. "I'd say Philadelphia is the best defensive team in the NFL right now. They've been in the playoffs and now they're ready to make a run at the Super Bowl."

The Eagles should be bolstered Sunday by the return of All-Pro running back Wilbert Montgomery, who sat out the game from behind 31-16 triumph over the New York Giants last week with a groin pull.

"It will be a knock-down, drag-out battle," Vermell says. "It will be an intense football game. The Eagles and the Cowboys won't allow it to be any other way."

Elsewhere Sunday, Tampa Bay is at Houston, Buffalo at Miami, Los Angeles at San Francisco, Kansas City at Denver, Seattle at the New York Jets—Atlanta at New Orleans, at Detroit and Chicago, St. Louis at Washington, New England

at Baltimore, Green Bay at Cleveland, Minnesota at Cincinnati and the New York Giants at San Diego. Oakland travels to Pittsburgh Monday night.

Houston and Tampa Bay, both major disappointments, meet for the second time—each with each club in danger of dropping out of playoff contention. The Oilers, 2-3, have lost two straight and trail Pittsburgh by a game in the AFC Central, but they acquired All-Pro tight end Dave Casper this week. Houston is averaging only 16 points per game and only an AFC-leading defense is keeping the Oilers afloat as quarterback Ken Stabler has gotten off to a miserable start. Tampa Bay, 2-3, last season's NFC Central champions, is already 2 1/2 games behind Detroit. And last year's league-leading defense battered for 569 yards by lowly Green Bay last week.

Buffalo, 5-1, has not won in the Orange Bowl since 1956, but the Bills snapped a 20-game winless streak against Miami on Opening Day. The Bills try to bounce back after their first loss of the year while Miami, 2-3, comes off a 24-0 humiliation in New England, as the Dolphins were held to the fewest total yards (88) in their history. Buffalo's defense is the AFC's stingiest against the rush (85 yards per game) and Bam's running attack (69 yards per game) is the worst in the conference.

TF female runners win Gem State title

POCATELLO — It's a new conference but it made no difference to the Twin Falls High girls.

After never losing a cross country championship in the defunct Southern Idaho Conference, the Bruins started another string Friday by winning the Gem State Conference championship unchallenged.

The Bruins girls, with six runners in the top 20, and paced by the one-two finish of Tammy Crow and Julie Yergenson, scored just 22 points to beat runner-up Pocatello by 21. The Bruin JV girls were even better, posting a perfect 15 and collecting 11 of the first 15 spots.

Pocatello, headed by individual Jay Ost who set an Idaho State "Red Hill" course record of 15:59, took the boys' championship with 38 points in the JV competition, Highland won with 30.

Ost's time broke the record established by Twin Falls senior Eric McManaman earlier this year by 16 seconds.

"I've had a cold all week and going up those hills I couldn't breathe," McManaman said. "If it weren't for that I think I could have stayed with him better but I don't know if I could have beaten him because he ran awfully well."

It marked the second time that Crow has defeated Yergenson and Coach Duane Stands didn't have an answer for this departure from early season form.

"She's just had two outstanding performances," Stands said. "I don't know why. Maybe they're just keeping the coaches confused."

Tammy is running well and running strong right now. We haven't done anything different in training. Tammy has been ill and has apparently recovered from flu and sore throat—nothing that kept her from running but evidently something that weakened her a little."

"We also have Julie going out a little faster now," he said, referring to the state finals when the Bruin duo will run into at least two challengers for individual honors. "That picks up the pace for Julie and Tammy just finishes a little better. They ran no more than 20 yards apart and then with about 400 yards to go Tammy came up in them and moved ahead to win by 10, maybe 20."

Broncos face charging Chiefs after short week

DENVER (UPI) — The Denver Broncos had another short week of practice to resume AFC Western Division action Sunday against the Kansas City Chiefs.

The Broncos are coming off a 20-17 Monday night win over the Washington Redskins which evened their season record at 9-9 tied with Oakland and Seattle, and pulled them within one game of division-leading San Diego.

The Chiefs trail the division at 2-4, but have two consecutive wins, including a 21-20 upset of the Houston Oilers last Sunday.

The big news from the Bronco camp was signing 5-year veteran cornerback Aaron Kyle, who declared himself a free agent after the Dallas Cowboys attempted to activate him from preseason injured reserve.

Bronco coach Red Miller said Kyle would see action in special teams Sunday but it was doubtful he would be in on scrimmaging plays.

Miller also said Matt Robinson would again start at quarterback, although the veteran Craig

Morton could be expected to play. Miller confirmed he was considering starting Morton in future games.

"I thought March and April. We thought Matt would be farther along at this time," said Miller. "But when you go back over the films, you can find so many things that can make a quarterback look bad."

Miller said "veteran" is more able to read defenses readily and compensate quickly.

"It's not that he is not a good quarterback," said Miller of Robinson. "He is going to be an excellent quarterback. I keep telling you people that. But it's going to take time."

Morton came off the bench in the last two Bronco games to spark wins over Cleveland and Washington. But Miller said Robinson is showing improvement in "getting off his primary receiver, getting into the rhythm of the throws and his judgment is getting keener."

Kansas City coach Mary Levy said he had mixed feelings about seeing Morton, who has led the Broncos in six consecutive wins over the Chiefs.

"I would like to catch 22 for us," said Levy. "I wouldn't like to see Craig because he has done so well against us, but, if Craig does play, it will be because we're playing so well."

Levy said the Chiefs would have to improve their pass rush against Denver no matter who the quarterback is.

Levy also said the Chiefs, with veteran offensive linemen Jack Rudny and Charlie Getty back in the lineup, gained confidence from the wins over Oakland and Houston.

"Winning inspires confidence and you feel better about them," said Levy. "I think that when you have success you tend to play with a little bit more intensity."

The Chiefs' momentum also in inspiration to second-year starting quarterback Steve Fuller, his coach said.

"The more he plays the better he gets," said Levy. "He works a lot on his weakness."

Tampa Bay likely to face big dose of Campbell

HOUSTON (UPI) — Indications are the Tampa Bay Buccaneers will receive a larger dose of San Campbell Sunday than did the Kansas City Chiefs one week ago.

The Chiefs, as the Bucs players were able to see on film during the week, survived a force-feeding last Sunday by a 21-20 score, despite 38 carries of the Houston Oilers' NFL rushing king Campbell.

More of the same can be expected, despite that loss, as the Oilers and Bucs meet in a key game for survival at 2 p.m. MDT in the Astro Dome.

This week in Phillips Pavilion the rumblings of a shakeup coming out the team's headquarters following the midweek acquisition of Oakland Raiders' tight end Dave Casper.

"We don't have to regroup," he said. "Just go on about our business. Just keep loading the wagon."

He hired a horse in Casper, one of the premiere blockers in the league, and the team began working in earnest on a two-tight end offense with Casper and Mike Barber in the lineup at the same time.

Phillips said the deal was made to beef up Houston's running game, and Casper said that was what he wanted to hear.

"We were warned to have a good running game at Oakland, but the past couple of years we didn't have an effort to control the football. The balanced offensive alignment with a tight end on each end of the line will keep defenses from favoring one side. Left guard Leon Gray said,

"It's going to keep the defense honest. We've always got the option of running to either side without tipping it off," Gray said.

Running behind an unbalanced line. Last Sunday, Campbell picked up 178 yards on his 38 carries.

Against Tampa Bay, Casper will line up at left end, Gray at left tackle and another former—all-pro, Bob Young, at left guard.

"With Dave there, you always have the threat of a double-team block," said Gray. "The line blockers will have to hold their positions. You should see the secondary people making more tackles now and that's what we want."

Because only one wide receiver will be used in that scheme, the way is clear for Billy White Shoes' Johnson to move to the kickoff and punt return duties.

"I think the advantage of using two tight ends helps create confusion for the defense," Johnson said. "We can use one back, two wide receivers and two tight ends. We can use one receiver. It'll keep the defense off balance."

Winless Saints meet Falcons in grudge match

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The New Orleans Saints are 0-6, the only winless team in the NFL, and the Atlanta Falcons have beaten them on big closing plays in three of their last four meetings.

But both teams know the past means nothing this week. Atlanta versus New Orleans is the grudge match of Dixie.

"It's always been the biggest game of the year as long as I've been here, and that goes back to 1972," said Saints' linebacker Joe Federspiel.

"It's the type of game where the weaker team makes up with emotion what the better team might have an edge in. Nothing that happened before makes much difference."

"I know anytime these two teams meet it's a real tight fight," said Falcons' Coach Leeman Bennett, "and that's exactly what we're expecting when we get down there. I think the Saints will be doing everything they can to win this game."

The Falcons have a history of being charitable to winless opponents. Last season, they lost to 0-3 Detroit and 0-7 San Francisco, and only last week the New York Jets got their first win of the year when they upset Atlanta 14-7.

"We're bouncing back pretty good in practice right now," Bennett said. "As far as facing the same problem, I don't think it will be the same because of the rivalry we've had between New Orleans and Atlanta."

Kicker just released by Cardinals critically injured in car accident

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Kicker Steve Little was critically injured and left paralyzed in the crash of his sports car during a rainstorm Friday, hours after the St. Louis Cardinals had cut him from the team.

Dr. Frank Palazzo, a neurosurgeon, who was the first to attend to the 24-year-old former collegiate All-American from the University of Arkansas, said Little was conscious and able to understand the extent of his injuries.

"He accepted the news philosophically," Palazzo said. "He has a strong spinal cord and the nearby breathing center. Little was under intensive care in St. John's Mercy Medical Center."

Palazzo said Little lost control of his sports car on wet pavement and stammed into a road sign on Interstate 270. Highway Patrol Trooper Michael Cooper said Little's 1980 Mazda sports coupe apparently "hydroplaned" on the wet pavement for 125 feet because of the rain. The impact threw the player into the dashboard.

"Little was all twisted in his small compact car," said Creve Coeur paramedic Bob Zaitz. "He was unresponsive and he stayed that way."

Little was released by the Cardinals Thursday after he lost a field-goal kicking contest with former Tampa Bay kicker Neil O'Donoghue, who was signed by the Cardinals immediately.

Coach Jim Hanifan said Little, who was the team's No. 1 draft choice out of Arkansas in 1978, declined to attend his job against O'Donoghue.

"I told him he had to outkick the other guy," Hanifan said. "It was a stressful situation. But Little was the guy with the job; the other guy had pressure, too. He was trying to get a job."

Each player got 16 kicks in the 33-yard line, a 42-yard field-goal attempt. O'Donoghue successfully kicked 14 of the 16 attempts—Little converted only nine of 16.

After he learned of his dismissal Thursday, Little told reporters he was "happy." A team spokeswoman said Little commented, "I feel great because now I can go out and start all over. Maybe I'll be the next Mike Wood (who was picked up by San Diego after being released by the Cardinals last year)."

"I know the fans will be happy, too. With all the harassment I go through, I never felt at ease. I gave it 100 percent all the time."

Giants, a third-round pick from Southern Cal, injured his knee in Westwood, Brad Benson and was placed in reserve before the first regular-season game. Giants make changes after loss of all-pro

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — The New York Giants Friday signed free agent rookie tackle John Sinott, released defensive tackle George Stripling and traded two players from the injured reserve list.

The Giants, who learned Thursday that All-Pro middle linebacker Harry Carson had surgery on his right knee surgery next Monday, recalled rookie defensive tackle Myron Lapka and free agent rookie running back Leon Perry from injured reserve.

Sinott, 24, a third-round draft

Stripling, 28, a guard at North Carolina A&T, was in the Pittsburgh Steelers training camp in 1979 and played minor-league football last year. The 6-3, 260-pound free agent was converted to defensive tackle by the

Zimmer mulls offers from Rangers, Yankees and Twins

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Don Zimmer doesn't have to worry about any credit card from an auto rental agency. He's sitting in the driver's seat anyway with offers from three different American League clubs.

Prior to Friday night's third game of the World Series, the deposed Boston Red Sox manager met with Texas Rangers President Eddie Robinson and was officially informed he is being considered for the Rangers' managerial job.

Should that job fall to materialize, Zimmer is likely to accept an offer from George Steinbrenner to serve as third base coach with the New York Yankees next season. UPI has learned the Yankee owner already has offered Zimmer the job and Zimmer asked him for time so he could listen to the Rangers' proposition.

Zimmer also has been offered another coaching position with the Minnesota Twins but is said to be leaning toward accepting the Yankees' job if the managerial one with the Rangers falls through.

"I know one thing," said the former Brooklyn Dodger and Chicago Cubs infielder after his meeting with Robinson, "I'll be back in my uniform and I'm gonna be back on the field next season one way or the other. They (the Rangers) asked me to give them some time to think it over and I said okay."

Zimmer, who managed the San Diego Padres before taking over the Red Sox manager ship in midseason 1976 from Darrell Johnson, guided Boston to winning seasons in the 4 1/2 years he had the club but never was able to win the American League's Eastern title. The asset he has is said to be leaning toward accepting the Red Sox for the division crown on Bucky Dent's home run in a one-game playoff at Fenway Park.

The Red Sox finished in a fourth-place tie with the Detroit Tigers this season, winning 83 games and losing 77.

When the Red Sox fired Zimmer a few days before the end of this past season, he took it well and expressed no recriminations against management although he said it didn't always supply him with the players he needed.

Zimmer's contract, calling for $95,000 a year, has one more year to go with the Red Sox. They offered him a job in the organization but he declined.

Whether he ultimately becomes manager of the Rangers or a coach with the Yankees, some adjustment will be made regarding his contract with his new club, meaning the Red Sox will pay the major portion of his 1981 contract, regardless of which job he takes.

There has been speculation that the Red Sox, looking for a new manager themselves, might offer the job to Dick Howser if he wasn't coming back to manage the Yankees, but there seems little chance of that happening. Howser has said he wishes to return as manager of the Yankees.

Steinbrenner has said he didn't feel that Mike Ferraro was coaching at third base for "New York" and the Yankee owner made his displeasure known on that same subject when Ferraro waved Willie Randolph home in the second game of the AL playoffs against the Kansas City Royals and the Yankee second baseman was thrown out easily at the plate.

Since that time, it has been reported that Ferraro will not be back coaching third base for the Yankees next season if he is back with them at all.

Jeff Torborg, another one of the Yankees' coaches, is leaving to become the head baseball coach at Princeton University.

Morgan played under a one-year, $225,000 contract this past season, taking almost a 50 percent pay cut from the previous season with the Cincinnati Reds. He hit .243 with 11 home runs and 49 RBI during the 90 regular season.

"Houston is where I want to finish my career. The last couple of months I really drove the ball and I felt I was able to contribute down the stretch," he said.

The biggest disappointment to him was the failure to win the World Series.

"I can't get that disappointment out of my mind, no matter how long the off-season is. We should have beaten the Phillies. This is Philly, it's gonna win but they don't deserve it as much as our guys. I know, I can make that statement because I've played with winners before and I know what a better effort it takes. Nobody could have given a better effort than the Astros did," he said.

His decision to play in 1981 was made during the last week of the season, as he played on a weak right knee.

Morgan remains loyal to Houston, Virdon

HOUSTON (UPI) — Second baseman Joe Morgan said he wants to return to the Houston Astros in 1981 and that he will be with the team offer the job to Dick Howser if he wasn't coming back to manage the Yankees, but there seems little chance of that happening.

Reached at his home in Oakland, Calif., Morgan, 36, said "It means everything to me" to play one more season with the "Astros" — a team he has called "the best team in the league" — and "I'm prouder than any other team for whom he's played."

"We fought, we scuffled, we battled together and I'm more proud of our guys for that than I am of our manager," he said.

The comment contradicted a statement he made to a radio sportscaster immediately following the Astros' loss to the Philadelphia Phillies Sunday in the fifth game of the league championship series. It was being replaced in the eighth inning for a defensive replacement.

Morgan declined any comment to most reporters but told the sportscaster he would never again play for Virdon.

"I don't know how he thought those comments were off the record," he said. "I wouldn't play for a losing team next year," he said. "I hope when I get together with Tal pretty soon we can work something out. You got to understand, I don't have a contract."

Red Sox and Dodgers discuss Lynn trade

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Fred Lynn, the Boston Red Sox' All-Star center fielder who has been on and off the trading block for almost a year now, has been offered to the Los Angeles Dodgers again, and this time the chances are he'll wind up with them if the Red Sox can agree on which players to accept in return.

The Dodgers have gotten up a list of players from which the Red Sox can choose for Lynn, who batted .301 for the Red Sox this season, drove in 61 runs and had 12 homers. Among the players on the list were pitchers Burt Hooton, Steve Howe and Joe Beckwith, infielder Mickey Hatcher and outfielders Rudy Law and Pedro Guerrero.

Dodger Manager Tommy Lasorda had been in Kansas City for the World Series but left Thursday for Los Angeles to meet with General Manager Al Campanis. They were to discuss the free agent status of two Dodger players, outfielder Daryl Strawberry and pitcher Don Sutton.

Lasorda was due back in Kansas City late Friday — at which time he was to meet with Boston Vice President Heywood Sullivan concerning the possibility of making a deal for Lynn.

McEnroe vetoes net showdown with Borg

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — The Bjorn Borg vs John McEnroe supermatch in South Africa is off.

The one million dollar tennis spectacle, billed as the "Hebriek" between the two superstars, was due to be played Dec. 6 at the Sun City resort in a South African black "homeland."

But after earlier denials, match promoter Sol Kerner, the owner of the resort, announced Friday that the match is off. I believe it would not be correct to go into the nuts and bolts of the reason why the match is off," Kerner said.

"I believe most people are disappointed that it will not go ahead," he said.

Earlier Friday, Kerner denied the match had been cancelled and said he had a telex confirmation of the deal from New York on behalf of five time Wimbledon champion Borg and U.S. Open Ullist McEnroe.

"I think it would be unfair for everyone concerned to go into the details of the agreement, but it wasn't a loose telex message which brought about the agreement for this match," Kerner said.

The promoter, although insisting he had an agreement, promised that no legal action would be taken against Borg or McEnroe.

"It would do more harm than good to go right now and we hope to talk to the parties involved to revive the match," he said.

The Johannesburg Star newspaper cited McEnroe's father, the whiz kid's business manager, as saying a contract for the match had never been signed.

"I discussed it with my son but we decided it was not the right time or place for the Borg match," McEnroe senior told the Star. "There never was a definite deal."

Soccer loop may not start on schedule

TORONTO (UPI) — The 19 clubs slated to play the North American Soccer League's indoor season must go ahead with plans to complete next month — despite — labor — disputes threatening cancellation of all games, NASL commissioner Phil Woosnam said Friday.

Woosnam said league attorney Robert Rolnick and player representative Ed Garvey were negotiating in Washington, D.C., in an effort to draw up a collective bargaining agreement before the league begins its indoor season Nov. 14.

"Bob Rolnick has informed all clubs that they should plan for the indoor season to take place," Woosnam said in an interview. "Negotiations are going forward and he is confident that an agreement can be reached. Certainly cancellation of the indoor season would be a blow to us."

Temperance Hill nears million-dollar season

BOSSIER CITY, La. (UPI) — Belmont Stakes winner Temperance Hill, the favorite in Saturday's $500,000 Super Derby at Louisiana Downs, could become the third millionaire in a third single-season millionaire.

The 3-year-old colt, owned by J.E. Anthony's Loblolly Stable, has won $230,000 so far in 1980. The $300,000 winner's purse in the Super Derby would put him well over the $1-million mark, a distinction currently held only by Affirmed and Spectacular Bid.

Early odds favored Temperance Hill at 45. First Albert was 7-2, and Cactus Road, to be ridden by Bill Shoemaker, was 6-1.

Temperance Hill's rider will be Eddie Maple, who guided him to his last three victories.

Anthony, who brought his horse to the track on Thursday, said the colt would remain in competition as a 4-year-old and then be retired to stud.

"A portion of the colt has been sold for breeding purposes, and the $8 million (reported purchase price) is being paid for him," he said.

"He will not be retired to stud until after his 4-year-old racing year, however."

Temperance Hill, which had good fortune breaking the No. 3 post position in the Belmont Stakes and the Travers, will run from the same gate in the Super Derby.

Completing the field were The Messenger, Tonka Wakhan, Sids O.J., Cornish Cup and Spruce Needles.

Wild Injun was scratched Thursday.

The Messenger, winner of the Round Table Handicap, got in the No. 1 position and Cornish Cup will be in the No. 2.

Shoemaker was slated to ride Rumbo, Cactus Road's stablemate. However, Rumbo was withdrawn because of a heel infection.

"I would probably have rather ridden Rumbo because he's probably a better mile and a quarter horse than Cactus Road," Shoemaker said.

"Cactus Road has never been farther than a mile and an eighth, but who knows, anything can happen in a horse race."

Cactus Road, winner of the El Dorado at Santa Anita and the Spotlight Handicap at Hollywood Park, has been the pacesetter in most of his starts this year. But he has been idle since the Silver Screen Handicap in July when he finished fourth.

First Albert to be ridden by Francisco Mena, was second to Temperance Hill in the Travers.

Other riders will be Larry Snyder aboard The Messenger, Ronald Aron on Cactus Road, Melvin Holland on Tonka Wakhan, David E. Whitte aboard Sids O.J., Don Brumfield on Spruce Needles.

We've got something totally new and different!

German youngster assumes French golf toumeur lead

ST. NOM-LA-BRETICHE, France (UPI) — Germany's Bernard Langer, the 23-year-old son of a European golfer, shot a five under par 67 Friday for the halfway lead in the $50,000 Lancome trophy on the 6800-yard course.

Langer, who won the Dunlop Masters in Britain two weeks ago, edged one ahead of American Lee Trevino, the first round leader, and Johnny Miller and South Africa's Nick Price with a five under par 36-hole aggregate of 139.

Trevino, winner in 1978, had to settle for a level par 72, but defending champion Lee Trevino, the 25-year-old South African World Cup golfer Price both had 69s.

America's Gary Hallberg and Jack Renner shot 69 for 143 and 73 for 144 respectively to remain in contention for the $25,000 first prize.

Spain's Severiano Ballesteros, found in a one over par 37, holed in for the lead at the 15th and 18th to finish with a 71 for 143.

Langer, who has won more than $50,000 in the last six weeks, had six birdies with the help of putting ranging from 16 to 45 feet.

"I had five birdies, but they ruined my chance of taking the lead when he took seven at the 42-49-12th — where — he — three-putted."

"But," said Miller, "I putted like Tom Watson today. I gripped the putter real tight so my knuckles went white. It's the best I've putted for four years. Now I see how Tom does it."

"Now it wouldn't surprise me if I have the potential to be the best in the world — nobody can deny me that. And I feel that I'm going to have a great season in the States next year," he said.

Baylor pivotal team in Southwest shakeup

By United Press International

Although the results are a long way from being in, there seems to be a little changing of the guard going on in the Southwest Conference.

And the three league games this weekend will provide a clue as to just how serious the palace revolt might be.

The team doing the most-revolting this year, of course, is Baylor, which has put together perhaps its best club ever. The unbeaten Bears will be out to further improve their national image against perennial powerhouse Texas A&M, a team that has struggled throughout the year.

There is also Southern Methodist, which has risen slowly under the guidance of Coach Roy Meyer to the point the Mustangs are a bowl candidate. Despite a tough loss to Baylor last week, SMU appears to have the talent to challenge any team on its schedule.

This week the opponent is Houston two-time defending SWC champion and the preseason favorite to win a third straight crown. But the Cougars have not had a successful season, having lost their 1st quarterback for the year and are only a shell of the team they were a year ago.

The meeting will be regionally televised from Texas Stadium.

Finally, we have the Rice Owls, for this year an also ran in the league. But last year the Owls have defeated LSU and lost week came from 17 points down to defeat an improved TCU club.

Rice hosts Texas Tech on Saturday and the Owls have a decent chance of upsetting a team that has finished above Rice in the standings 14 of the last 15 years.

"The game we played last week was the best Rice-TCU game we have played since I've been here," said Horned Frogs Coach F.A. Dry. "They have more skilled athletes and they have more offense."

TCU, winless in five games, will host Tulsa in the only intersectional game on the schedule.

From a psychological standpoint the most interesting game of the weekend might be the Houston-SMU affair.

The Mustangs are coming off one of their most disappointing losses in years, a 32-28 setback at the hands of Baylor in a game that SMU led 21-0.

"I'm sandy, don't know how our players are going to react," Meyer said. "If we had won the Baylor game we would have been a cinch for a bowl game. Now we're in a tough, tough struggle with Houston."

"Their (the Cougars) defensive team just smothered Texas A&M. Under Bill Yeoman they have become recognized as one of the best football teams in the country."

"They have a couple of losses this year, but they are still the defending conference champions and you just know we will have your hands full with that football team."

"And it's a big one for us. We need to bounce back in a strong fashion this week."

Mexico soccer team hates artificial turf

TORONTO (UPI) — The Mexican National Soccer team staked off the field at Exhibition Stadium after practice Friday with cut feet, bad moods, and a good case of culture shock from playing on make-believe grass.

The Mexican team meets Canada Saturday afternoon on the artificial turf at Exhibition Stadium in its first game of the World Cup qualifying play in North America.

The turf that is driving them to distraction.

Antonio Carbajal, the famed assistant coach whose five World Cup appearances as a player make him a national hero, said his players are not used to playing on plastic turf and wished the team had never agreed to do so.

"It's terrible that it is permitted that a game be played on this kind of surface," the former goal keeper said through an interpreter. "I am not complaining but I wish we complained before we agreed to this match."

Saturday's game is the first in the round-robin series between Canada, the U.S., and Mexico. The top two teams will go on the CONCACAF Nations Central American and Caribbean championships next year. From there two teams go to the 24-Nation 1982 World Cup in Madrid.

The Mexicans have been the dominant soccer power in the Western Hemisphere for the past 30 years, winning seven of the last eight CONCACAF playoffs. This year Canada will field its strongest team ever, a 22-man squad selected from the North American Soccer League.

Carbajal said the artificial surface would be a factor his team can overcome, but he wasn't happy about the way the turf is cut.

"A lot of players who perform on plastic grass."

Cal's Bears could make Rose Bowl with 3-8 record

By STEVE HARVEY
© 1980, Universal Press Syndicate

THE COLLEGES
By stunning Oregon, 31-6, Cal not only blew a chance to become the first team in the school's history to start a season at 0-5 but also probably cost itself a shot at The Bottom Ten title.

However in Pac-10 play, the Bears (1-1) are tied for first among the five, five, those teams eligible to go to the Rose Bowl. They'll probably have to go at least 3-8 overall to make it to Pasadena.

Temple, meanwhile, remained in contention for co-edward-of-the-year honors, having descended from 10-2 in 1979 to 7-5 this season. At Syracuse Saturday, Temple Coach Wayne Hardin pulled his players off the field when fans began to throw things at them.

With Temple gone from the promises, Syracuse then drove for a touchdown in seven plays, enroute to a 31-7 win.

Houston (2-3) left The Bottom Ten with 17-13 victory over Texas A&M in a game that was started in the Astrodome at 11:30 p.m. to provide a more convenient viewing time for football fans in Zaire.

CRUMMY GAMES OF THE WEEK: Oregon State vs. Cal; Northwestern vs. Iowa

ROUT OF THE WEEK: Georgia vs. Vanderbilt
SPECIAL CITATION: Going into last week's games, Vanderbilt had the nation's fifth leading pass defense statically — and an 0-3 record. (The Commodores' rush defense is not so good.)

QUOTE BOOK: From a magazine ad at TCU: "We're building a winner...in only the past six years, football Coach F. A. Dry has sent 44 of his pupils on to star in the NFL." (Huh?)

THE PROS
Talk about ingrates. Here Green Bay Coach Bart Starr has a unique offensive weapon in kicker Chester Marcol, who is an acknowledged expert at recovering his own blocked field goal attempts and running them into the end zone. And what does Starr do? He cuts Marcol and signs school teacher Tom Blaney. Well, Blaney blows two short field goals and the Packers have to go to a 14-14 tie with Tampa Bay in overtime. Serves Starr right — off to the right and short; as a matter of fact.

Still, neither of the Bays was as inept offensively as Seattle, which somehow managed to gain 323 yards and score three points.

And it's a good thing Cincinnati has a natsy like Pittsburgh on its schedule. Otherwise, the Bengals (2-4), but 2-0 vs. Steelers) might be down there jockeying for The Bottom Ten lead with Old Orleans (0-6)

THE RANKINGS
Team Record
1. New Orleans, 0-6
2. St. Louis, 1-5
3. Chicago, 2-4
4. St. Louis, each 2-3-1
5. N.Y. Jets (1-3); 7. St. Louis (2-4); 8. Washington (1-3);
9. Cincinnati (2-4); 10. Kansas City (2-4).

CRUMMY GAME OF THE WEEK: St. Louis vs. Washington
QUOTE BOOK: Green Bay back Eddie Lee Ivey, after the Packers fourth game: "We're 1-3 but the season is still young. We could still wind up 10-3." (And then take the rest of the season off?)

QUOTE BOOK II: Tampa Bay Coach John McKay, after the 14-14 tussle with Green Bay, revealing his team's game plan: "To tumble and throw incomplete passes."

Army not in same class, but tradition remains as it faces Irish today

By United Press International

The game won't have the flair of the old New York "subway series" nor the array of stars on both sides that played in other years, but there's still a tremendous amount of tradition today when Notre Dame meets Army. While specialism has become the watchword in waiting for Notre Dame to name its head football coach for next year, current mentor Dan Devine is busy hatching an unbeaten season for his fifth-ranked Fighting Irish.

serious threat to his hopes of leaving a perfect season's record behind him as a legend of his ability.

Army has proven it can put points on the board. Devine stresses. "And, in a rivalry that dates back as long as this one does, you never know what might happen."

Second-ranked Southern California which has been making headlines of the field, too, with its criticized student-athletic policies — is a good bet to go 6-0 after today's encounter with Oregon in a game that is meaningless for Rose Bowl purposes since both schools are on a one-year Pac-10 probation.

bow consideration — Stanford, Washington, California, Washington State and Arizona State — none is ranked among UPI's top 20 or even has a winning record this season.

No. 3 Texas and fourth-ranked UCLA are idle this week, but No. 6 Georgia seeks to keep pace with No. 1

Alabama in their battle for the Southeast Conference lead. With both at 5-0 this season, the Tide tackles Tennessee and Georgia faces Vanderbilt in SEC games.

Seventh-ranked Florida State, which flexed its muscles earlier this season by handing Nebraska its only defeat, has an inter-sectional meeting with Boston College. No. 8 North Carolina faces neighboring North Carolina State. No. 9 Nebraska clashes with Oklahoma State in a Big Eight scrap and 10th-ranked Ohio State hooks up with Indiana.

At this midpoint of the season, North Carolina has an excellent chance of finishing as Atlantic Coast Conference leader in at least four categories — total offense, rushing offense, total defense and rushing defense. With a 5-0 record, the Tar Heels also lead the AAC in scoring offense and defense.

CONTEST RULES

- 24 football games are placed in the ads on these pages. Pick the winner of each game (not the score) and write the team name opposite the advertiser's name on the entry blank. The entrant picking the most correct winners each week will be awarded $25.00.
- Pick a number which you think will be the most number of points scored by both teams in any one of the weeks games listed and write your answer in the space provided on the entry blank. This will be used to break ties in the event of a further tie no money will be equally divided between the winning entrants.
- Only one entry per week per person. The contest is open to all except employees of the Times-News and their immediate families.
- Contest entrants are eligible to win only once. Super bowl contest (which will be in January) entrants are eligible regardless of previous participation.
- Entries must be in the Times-News office not later than 5:00 P.M. next Friday or post marked no later than Friday 9 P.M. Address entries to: Pick The Winner, P.O. Box 548, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301. (Reasonable facsimiles also accepted)
