

Flash fire, smoke kill at least 80 in hours of terror at MGM hotel

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — A flash fire erupted in the giant MGM Grand Hotel Friday, killing at least 80 people and forcing more than 1,000 guests to flee to the roof for rescue by helicopter.

The blaze broke out in the kitchen, roared through the casino's flammable trimmings and sent thick, mushrooming smoke throughout the 26-story tower.

Most of the dead, trapped in their rooms or the corridors, died of smoke inhalation. At least 10 were burned to death by flames that leaped through the casino and three were known to have fallen to their deaths.

Many of those found in their rooms died from smoke that poured in through windows they had broken to get fresh air.

A dozen helicopters, seven of them from nearby Nellis Air Force Base, rescued the heavy smoke to run a rescue shuttle to the roof high above the Las Vegas Strip.

A chief apparently sounded the first alarm about 7:15 a.m., running from the kitchen, shouting "Fire! Fire!" Investigators said it was believed he was in charge of the kitchen at the time. He has not been found.

Hotel guests said they did not hear any fire alarms, and Fire Chief Roy Parrish told a news conference the amplifiers in the basement alarm system were apparently burned up before they could be activated. "We think what happened is the speakers ... were short-circuited," Parrish added.

Bernard Rothkopf, president of the hotel, said, "To the best of our knowledge all safety factors were operational at the time of the fire." He could not estimate the damage, but firemen said it would reach into the millions of dollars.

More than 300 people were treated for smoke inhalation and cuts from broken glass from windows broken by guests in a desperate effort to breathe fresh air.

Firemen, wearing air masks, led guests in single file through the smoke-filled corridors.

Chief Parrish said the blaze, one of the worst hotel fires in history, started in a basement kitchen area, then burst through the ceiling into a construction area and then into the casino itself.

The smoke was so thick in the corridors of the hotel that the guests found it nearly impossible to find their way. The fire escape stairwells, when doors were opened by guests seeking a way out, became choked with smoke and were useless for escape.

"I opened the door and people were shouting, 'What should we do? What should we do?'" said Keith A. Beverton of Woodland Hills, Calif. "It was death, absolute death in there. I closed the door and the air in my room was so thick that I was having trouble breathing."

Survivors

Frightened guests fled in nightclothes through smoky hallways

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Keith A. Beverton, on a pleasure stay at the MGM Hotel, heard the bedlam, opened the door of his 7th floor room and saw an impassable hall, filled with black smoke and shouting people.

"It was death, absolute death there," he said. "People were shouting 'what should we do? I knew people were dying.'"

Beverton, of Woodland Hills, Calif., slammed the door of his room shut again.

"The air in my room was so thick that I was having trouble breathing," he said.

He lay down on the floor to get below the thickest smoke.

"I was twitching. I thought maybe I was going to die. I don't know how long I was there."

He grabbed his checkbook and began scribbling notes on the ordinal on the back of checks until he passed out.

Firemen found Beverton unconscious, carried him down five flights of stairs, gave him some oxygen to help him breathe and sent him to the ground on a fire ladder. He was put on a bus to the hospital.

Up on the 20th floor, Vincent Goodman, of New Orleans, had checked in with his wife late Thursday night but was up watching the early news on television just after 7 a.m. when he heard sirens and saw smoke.

Goodman woke up his wife, didn't bother with shoes and ran down the hall to the fire exit.

"They had gone down five flights, and a lot of other people were in the fire stairs when they realized that they could not get back into the hotel on any of the floors because the doors open only one way."

"We all went back up to the 20th floor," he said. "We went into a room, stuffed towels around the door to keep the smoke out and broke out the window for air."

Firemen saved Goodman, his wife and the others in the room. Many had only nightclothes and blankets around them.

"I just got my wife out of bed and ran," he said. "We saw a lot of unconscious people in the halls. It was awful hard to breathe. I'm shaking now. My knees are shaking," said Goodman.

Robert Spector, of Kansas City, Mo., was attending the Tow Trucks of America convention at the MGM. He and his wife woke up at 7:30 a.m. smelling smoke.

"I was a little panicked," he said. "It was awful black. My wife is afraid of heights, but they brought her down like a little baby on the hook and ladder."

Mrs. John Monoway was also among the hundreds of guests saved from the burning hotel. "Nearly everybody was running," she said. "There was smoke everywhere. They told us there was a fire in the kitchen and that would be a lie. I guess they have to do that to calm the people."

Mrs. Monoway said the fire exit doors were jammed with people. "Thank God there were some sensible people, and we followed them," she said. "We got wet towels and then were on the outside."

Lifesaver constantly went back

LAS VEGAS (UPI) — A college student said Friday she was rescued from the 12th floor of the burning MGM Grand Hotel by a construction worker who also saved one man from jumping to his death and pulled guests, including babies, from their smoky rooms to his scaffold.

"That man inspired complete trust in me," Cathy Goetz, 20, a senior in broadcasting at Western Kentucky University, said after doctors placed four sutures in her lacerated head.

Ms. Goetz said the unidentified construction worker, working from a scaffold to do expansion work on the hotel, made several trips on his scaffold to rescue guests.

She said people were screaming from their windows to attract his attention. "You're OK, don't panic," she heard him shout back. "I've got to get the babies first. I'll be back for you."

Ms. Goetz said that on her trip down from the scaffold there was a 6-year-old boy with her and "a boy 12 or 13 with a 4-month-old baby in his hands." She said their parents had covered them with pillows and blankets to protect them from falling glass.

She said the worker calmed the children by joking with them. "This is a good adventure for you," she heard him say to some children. "You're all right," he shouted to other guests as he rose and descended on his scaffold. "I'll be back up for you."

Ms. Goetz asked him what would happen if he should pass out from the thick smoke. "Well, someone else will just take my place," he said.

She said the construction worker watched one man in a panic leap to his death — "He was upset because he couldn't save him" — but kept another man from doing the same.

Ms. Goetz said it was dangerous descending from the scaffold because of falling glass shards from windows broken by guests seeking fresh air.

Ms. Goetz' father, Gene, 45, of Louisville, said he and his daughter were with a group of 20 people at a convention.

"I last saw those people two hours ago ... Only one is missing. It's very sad to hear about these fatalities, and when one of our group is missing, it makes you very apprehensive. But I believe in having hope. I am hopeful."

Goetz said he learned of the fire when a friend telephoned his room at 7:05 a.m.

Reagan vows Washington with visit

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — President-elect Ronald Reagan, buoyed by his four-day Washington visit, returned to California late Friday to mull over recommendations for Cabinet posts.

During his flight home, Reagan indicated that Sen. John Tower's status as a Republican senator would work against his being appointed defense secretary.

"I think the consideration with anyone who is in the legislature (Congress) would have to be whether you would want to reduce the GOP majority there, he told reporters.

Asked if that would apply to Tower,

Reagan was a Republican who has been mentioned prominently as a potential Pentagon chief, Reagan replied, "Yes."

Republicans will have a 53-47 majority in the Senate when the new Congress convenes in January.

He talked with reporters en route to California at the end of a four-day trip to Washington and appeared buoyed by the friendly reception he got in the Capital.

He said he was "kind of surprised ... how many things I had done were considered unusual," such as his meetings with Supreme Court Justice

Warren Burger, top Democrats and social figures.

"I would have thought they were a natural thing," he said.

As for his Cabinet plans: Reagan said he has not made any decisions yet, but will meet with advisers Saturday and Monday to discuss their recommendations. He said the choices were among his most difficult transition tasks.

Asked if there will be surprises, he said, "Maybe some. I don't know."

Before leaving Washington, Reagan said he felt the visit laid the groundwork for smooth relations with Congress. "I think we established some liaison with the legislature, with Congress, and our transition team and found out that everything is working and working very smoothly," he said.

Reagan spent the morning in meetings with Gerald Ford, Vice President-elect George Bush, transition aides and foreign policy advisers.

His spokesman James Brady said he was given a list of "fifty-plus names" compiled by his "kitchen cabinet."

He said Reagan would return to Washington Dec. 8 or Dec. 9 and that his Cabinet choices would be announced "the first part of December."

Kristin did it

DALLAS (UPI) — The climactic moment, rabidly awaited since March, came at precisely 9:53 p.m. MST Friday on CBS when J.R. Ewing's wife, Sue Ellen, fingered her sister as the trigger person of the year.

Kristin's motive was woman-scorning, and all of Dallas — the series, not the city — may not be able to summon forth a jury willing to convict her, if indeed she's brought to justice.

Kristin's bombshell was the announcement that she's pregnant by the evil J.R. and that if he sends her to jail, his baby will be born there.

Kristin, played by Mary Crosby, is a fallen woman. Lured by promises that good of J.R. would do the honorable thing — divorce her sister and marry her — she engaged in an affair with him, only to be stapped with a phony prostitution rap when she pressed for wedding bells.

buy-back provision. A headline over a story in Friday's Times-News incorrectly said the provision included the dam.

WASHINGTON — In less than two minutes the Senate acted late Thursday to exempt the existing Milner dam, and related facilities, from a federal buy-back law.

The move ratifies action taken by the House of Representatives on Wednesday and gives the Twin Falls and Northside Canal Companies the incentive to build a hydroelectric plant on the Snake River.

The proposed hydroelectric plant would still be subject to the federal

The firms involved were afraid that without the law the project would be jeopardized because investors risked losing not only the proposed hydroelectric plant, but the existing dam, irrigation canals and reservoir under the provision in the Federal Power Act of 1920. Under the law, the federal government could have exercised its buy-back option at the end of 50 years.

Fire

The blaze began about 7:15 a.m. in the basement of the 2,300-room hotel and within five minutes had swept through a one-story casino-showroom wing, fed by the posh draperies, hooked wallpaper and carpeting which furnished the casino area. The fire burned for three hours before it was controlled.

"The crafty, unusual feature of this fire is that the smoke did not come into the hotel rooms through the doors," said Coroner Dr. Otto Ravenholt. "The people broke their windows trying to get fresh air and the smoke came in from below."

Firefighters said the smoke in the stairwells, designed as a fire escape, was so thick they could not be used. Some guests charged that there was no fire alarm and that most of the rooms had no sprinklers. A helicopter with a loudspeaker circled the building, warning guests to go to the roof.

Three Air Force helicopters hovered over the roof, using ropes to lift evacuees, many of whom fled in their night clothes.

Michael Gaughan, owner of the next-door Barbary Coast Casino, closed down his gambling operation, then opened the casino to evacuees. Hotel officials said there were 4,500-5,000 guests registered in the hotel. One of the first fire officials on the scene, Capt. Allan Stump, said the fire was extremely intense at the front door and under the large entrance canopy.

"Fire was lapping the canopy all the way to the front," he said. "The total spread of the fire through the entrance area, he said, led him to believe a fireball rushed through the door splattering the portico with flames."

Stump said he witnessed the fatal fall of a woman from the hotel. "I think she was climbing down a rope and fell," he said she dropped from about the eighth floor.

Fire Capt. Ralph Dinsman said the hotel's indoor stairwell "creates its own atmosphere and acts as a chimney." As soon as its doors are opened, the draft sucks the fire and smoke directly into the stairwell, he said.

Dinsman said newer building codes recommend against that type of fire escape.

He also said fire codes at the time the MGM Grand was built, in the early 1970s, did not require sprinkler systems on every floor at the time. Dinsman said the posh furnishings in the casino area contributed to the quick spread of the fire. He said arson was not considered likely.

Fire Chief Roy Parrish said it probably would take a year before the hotel could be fully reopened.

As the helicopters flew shuttles from the hotel parking lot to rescue those stranded on the roof, firemen and construction workers rescued others from room balconies with extension ladders, rope ladders and a "cherry picker" used to wash win-

Thirty fire trucks, lights flashing, surrounded the hotel, and every available ambulance was lined up in the parking lot. As the rescued survivors landed in the helicopters, they were met by medical personnel who administered oxygen and first aid.

Rescued guests stood stunned watching the resort burn. One unidentified woman stared blankly at the ruins, a fur coat wrapped around her nightgown.

Symms urges return of wilderness

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Idaho Senator-elect Steve Symms told sagebrush rebels today that more than enough wilderness has been set aside in the west for the "psychic profit" of people working in the "concrete canyons of big cities."

Symms urged a return to "the multiple use" of lands included in federal wilderness studies until Congress decides if they should be set aside as wilderness. He also said the next session of Congress must rewrite the Alaska lands bill which designated 100 million acres of wilderness.

"Instead of 2.3 million acres in Idaho, maybe we could have a million and a half," said Symms.

The senator-elect predicted that one side effect of the new Reagan Administration's efforts to cut government costs will be a reduction in Forest Service planning and in the time spent preparing environmental impact statements.

Instead, forest rangers can get back to the field and start "marking and selling timber," the Republican said.

Symms called for implementation of a measure allowing the Forest Service to sell up to $10,000 in timber to small lumber operators without going through bidding procedures.

House approves busing bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Friday ignored threats of a possible veto and overwhelmingly passed a money bill that would prevent the Justice Department from seeking court aid for school busing designed to end segregation.

The anti-busing amendment, attached to a $9.1 billion appropriations bill for the Departments of State, Justice and Commerce, was passed 240-59 and sent to the Senate.

The Senate is expected to give the measure final legislative approval in the near future and send it to President Carter.

Birds of Prey suit upheld

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho U.S. District Senior Judge Fred Taylor Friday denied the government's motion to dismiss a lawsuit challenging an Interior Department's proposal to enlarge the Birds of Prey Natural Conservation Area in southwestern Idaho.

The suit, filed by Sagebrush Rebellion Inc. and the Southwestern Idaho Development Association, contends Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus decided to enlarge the raptor refuge without preparing a proper environmental impact statement.

'Godfather' found guilty

NEW YORK (UPI) — Frank "Fonzi" Tieri, the reputed boss of the Genovese crime family, was convicted Friday on charges he headed the secret national crime syndicate known as La Cosa Nostra — the first defendant to be convicted on such charges.

A U.S. District Court jury in Manhattan found Tieri guilty of using his position as a Mafia chief in Lake Park in racketeering activities and to authorize a "hit" on a California man who owed the mob money.

Pen in pocket saves cop's life

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — A police officer who neglected his routine of donning a bulletproof vest early Friday did remember to stick a pen in his shirt pocket and it probably saved his life.

A bullet fired by a robbery suspect who Officer Lonnie Swanson had stopped struck the policeman in the chest. But Swanson's pen apparently deflected the lead and the policemen fired back and killed his assailant.

Officers said Swanson, 41, was in good condition at a Wichita hospital.

Capt. Kerry Crisp, commander of Swanson's section, said the officer was not wearing a bulletproof vest, which is optional equipment.

"Officer Swanson wears his (vest) religiously and evidently he was in a rush to get to work and didn't wear his last night," Crisp said. "He said it was one of the few days that he didn't wear one."

One siamese twin succumbs

DAYTON, Ohio (UPI) — Siamese twin Valerie Wackler died of heart failure Friday, one week after she was separated from her sister Natalie.

A statement from Children's Medical Center said, "Her death was not entirely unexpected," and noted that Valerie had shown no brain activity in recent weeks and suffered from an inoperable heart disease.

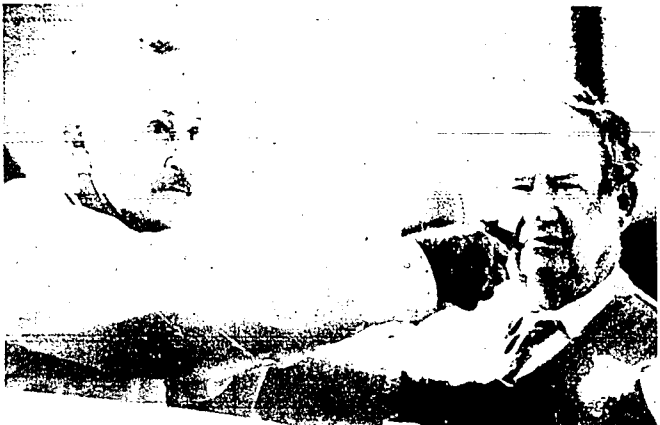

Natalie was reported still in critical condition. "Doctors are kind of pessimistic about her too," said hospital spokesman Neil Sprague, "because she is not improving any."

Weizman to form own party

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Former defense minister Ezer Weizman, threatened with expulsion from Israel's governing Likud bloc, said Friday he will set up a new party and wants Moshe Dayan to run for prime minister.

"I have been negotiating by telephone with some people over the last few days in order to follow a new political road," Weizman said. Elections are scheduled for next November but could come next spring if Prime Minister Menachem Begin loses his majority in parliament.

Key members of Herut, the core of Begin's Likud bloc called for Weizman's expulsion but the decision was deferred until he states his case to the party secretariat Sunday.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — A disgruntled former fireman held a fire chief at gunpoint for almost an hour Friday. He surrendered after being assured he could talk to reporters.

The suspect, Hugh Chambliss, 51, told reporters he seized Fire Chief Zeimar Greenway in the parking lot across from the police station in order to get publicity over the loss of his pension two years ago.

He said he had been prepared to hold Greenway for one or two hours. "But I wouldn't have hurt him," he said.

"I was going to bring a shotgun. I was that angry for awhile," Chambliss said. Instead, he carried a starter's pistol with the barrel bored out and loaded with blanks.

Chambliss said he had been cheated out of a pension by the city.

After Chambliss talked to reporters at the scene, he was "booked" on charges of aggravated assault, use of a firearm in the commission of a felony and false imprisonment.

Greenway, who is retiring Jan. 1 after 34 years with the fire department — the last 18 as chief — suffered only a cut on his hand in a scuffle with Chambliss when he first approached him in the parking lot.

Indiana dunes block return of parks to American Falls

By LINDA SARRIO & MYRON STRICK
States News Service

WASHINGTON — The city of American Falls, Idaho, will have to wait yet another year before it can own its city parks.

The snag can be attributed to Rep. Phillip Burton, D-Calif., the chairman of the House Interior Subcommittee on National Parks, and a leading environmentalist. Burton has been trying to expand the Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore Park on the shoreline of Lake Michigan by 1,000 acres.

To override Senate objections of Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, Burton attached the complex legislation to the routine property transfer legislation of the city parks of American Falls from the U. S. Interior Department's Bureau of Reclamation to the city government.

The federal government had moved the city, lock, stock and barrel in 1926 when the flood basin of the new American Falls dam threatened to put the city under water.

The federal government moved the town to adjacent high ground, but the federal property under the parklands, operated and maintained by the city government for 54 years, remained officially under the Bureau's control.

McClure is not going to cave in on Indiana Dunes because of American Falls parks," said Tod Neuwenschwander, McClure's news secretary. "It's a cheap shot by Burton to get us to knuckle under."

The friends of the Indiana Dunes expansion bill are making a last-ditch attempt to get the legislation to the Senate floor before the 96th Congress adjourns and a more conservative Congress returns in January.

But the Dunes' primary Senate supporters, Indiana Sens. Birch Bayh (D) and Richard Lugar (R) are afraid the measure's opponents, led by McClure, will try to delete both the Dunes bill and the other park acquisition measures — including a measure expanding the Big Sur National Park in California — added by the House when the Idaho lands legislation reached the Senate floor.

McClure and several other Republican senators representing western states object to the price tag for both the Dunes measure ($30 million) and the other park acquisition measures now sandwiched in the Idaho bill. They argue federal funds should instead be used to improve service in the nation's existing national park system.

"We can wait," said McClure's aide. "This won't have any effect on the city parks system in American Falls... it's just another year's delay."

Senate OKs record arms bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Friday voted 73-1 to approve a $160.8 billion Pentagon spending bill — the largest ever and certain to grow even bigger as the Reagan administration submits its defense plans next year.

Before passage, the Senate added $200 million in military pay to the House bill and narrowly rejected an attempt to take the World War II battleship New Jersey out of mothballs.

Only Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., voted against the overall appropriation bill.

The bill now goes to a joint conference committee, expected to be ironing out differences between House and Senate versions of the bill the week of Dec. 1.

The 39-36 vote on the battleship amendment was taken with one-quarter of members absent. But it stirred debate among three powerful lawmakers who have played a role in many of Capitol Hill's decisions on defense spending over the years.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., argued that for only one-seventh the cost of a new ship, $250 million should be spent on reactivating the oil-fired, 16-inch-armor-plated New Jersey. He said the process could be completed in just 12 months, one short year, instead of the decade it would take for a new ship to be planned, built and delivered.

The Senate and House had previously authorized the move. But Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee and the bill manager, replied that the Navy is not willing to give up anything else in the $7 billion ship building fund it is getting.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., contended it would be "utterly impossible" to reactivate the ship in one year. And, he added, with new Soviet missiles that could pierce its armor, "I wouldn't give this ship a chance of survival on the open sea of more than a few weeks, after we went to war."

Goldwater said the money would be better spent on training pilots for planes that are undermanned.

The Senate defense bill was $3.6 billion more than the $157.2 billion approved by the House and $6.5 billion more than President Carter requested.

It did not include $1.5 billion in administration requests for a new Rapid Deployment Force, a mobile attack unit that could be dispatched speedily to trouble spots like the Persian Gulf.

Stennis said there was not enough time for hearings now, but the force will be examined next year and funds probably appropriated in a supplemental measure.

When President-elect Ronald Reagan assumes office, he is likely to recommend further increases in the defense budget. Advisers have predicted they will amount to somewhere between $3 billion and $25 billion.

Witness says he, too, cracked under torture

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. (UPI) — A former prisoner of war, testifying against accusations Tuesday that Robert Garwood, admitted under cross-examination Friday he agreed under torture to join forces with the Viet Cong.

Gustav A. Mehrer testified he signed propaganda statements for the Communists after being beaten, threatened with death, hung upside down for hours and tied to bamboo stakes in a leech pit.

"I found it impossible to adhere to the (Military) Code of Conduct," Mehrer said.

The only Vietnam-era serviceman to stand trial on charges of desertion and collaboration, Garwood has been accused by former POWs of interrogating, indoctrinating and standing armed guard over American POWs. He could be sentenced to life imprisonment and forfeiture of $140,000 in back pay if convicted.

Garwood has pleaded innocent to the charges and defense lawyers contend the Communists tortured him after his capture in 1965 and drove him insane.

Mehrer said he was given increased rations of tobacco, bananas and sugar after he signed propaganda statements for the Communists, but his guilt led him to desert, sue out and eventually renege on his promise to join ranks with the Viet Cong.

Mehrer, a disabled Army veteran now living in Colorado Springs, Colo., told grisly testimony of the torture.

"They (the leeches) would find an artery then they would fill up with blood until they were fat and fell off," he said. "These creatures were not slimy, but they're solid like rubber. They're absolutely repulsive."

Mehrer testified the torture was so severe he begged the Viet Cong to kill him.

"I would try to block out the pain," said Mehrer. "I once challenged a guard hoping he would shoot me."

"As a result of this pain and torture, a time came when you were unable to resist further, isn't that right?" asked John C. Lowe, Garwood's chief defense lawyer.

"Yes that's right," Mehrer replied. Mehrer said he tried suicide when the Communists tried to force him to make a tape recording of a propaganda statement, but his primary motive was guilt over earlier written propaganda statements he made.

"I felt a great deal of guilt for having betrayed my country," said Mehrer, a POW from 1969 until 1973.

Mehrer also said that shortly after his capture, Garwood spent almost two weeks attempting to get him to join the Communists.

Salt mine sues oil firm for dumping lake in mine

JEFFERSON ISLAND, La. (UPI) — A salt company filed a multi-million dollar lawsuit Friday and an oil company responded with charges of negligence in the collapse of a south Louisiana salt dome, which sucked in drilling rigs, tugboats and barges and erupted a square-mile lake.

Diamond Crystal Salt Co. sued for an unspecified amount in federal court in Lafayette, La., saying a Texaco drilling operation punctured the salt dome and caused the accident. A spokesman said damages would run into "many millions of dollars."

The salt company, based in St. Clair, Mich., requested a jury trial.

Geologists and the Army Corps of Engineers worked to determine what caused the giant crevasses in Lake Pelgneur. The lake emptied into the crater like a draining bathtub Thursday, forcing seven workers to abandon a Texaco oil rig and 50 others to flee the mine. No one was injured.

Responding to Diamond's lawsuit, Texaco said the salt company kept its mining operations a secret despite opportunities during the oil rig application process to inform both Texaco and the Corps of Engineers.

"Although the salt company was aware at least 10 months prior to the start of drilling, it failed to notify Texaco that salt mining operations were being conducted in the area where the rig was lost," a company spokeswoman said.

She said Texaco's drilling at the site had met all federal and state safety requirements and had been "prudently conducted."

Before the crater stopped growing, land was falling off the edge of the crater in 35-foot chunks, Iberia Parish Sheriff Errol Romero said. Soil Conservation spokesman Dolan Kleinpeter estimated 50 acres of land had been sucked into the huge crevice.

Susan White, news director of KANA radio in New Iberia, said she was astonished when she flew over the lake.

"It was awesome," she said. "It looks like a great big hole in the ground. There are 10 barges, at least one drilling rig and a tugboat in the bottom of it. They just look like toys."

Girl Scout candy found with glass

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (UPI) — Residents in five counties were warned Friday that cashew caramel candy clusters purchased from Campfire girls may contain bits of glass.

Bee Caspers, product-sales chairman for the Iowa Council of Campfires, said the organization is seeking to recall about 12,000 boxes of the candy, manufactured by the Falcon Candy Co. of Philadelphia.

She said she had no idea how many boxes of the candy have been sold. The sale began last Friday and was ordered halted Wednesday following reports of the glass in the candy.

Record diamond sold

GENEVA (UPI) — The famous "Polar Star" diamond which once belonged to Napoleon Bonaparte's brother sold for a world record $4.6 million for a single gem, Christies announced Friday.

At $112,000 per carat, the diamond also set a new world per carat record price for a white gem, the auction house said.

The 41.28-carat, perfectly symmetrical square diamond was bought by an anonymous Indian collector from Bombay during a late night bidding session Thursday.

The stone was found at the Golconda mines in India, and belonged to Joseph Bonaparte, king of Naples and brother of Napoleon Bonaparte. It later passed into the collection of Russian princess Tatiana Youssouloff, before being acquired in the 1920s by Cartier of Paris on behalf of Lady Deterding, widow of the founder of Royal Dutch Shell.

CBS censors 'suggestive' blue jeans ad

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Calvin Klein jeans commercial featuring teen-age actress Brooke Shields has been banned by CBS-TV and two New York City television stations because they felt it was too suggestive.

"You know what comes between me and my Calvins? Nothing," the 15-year-old says in the commercial.

Censors at CBS and those at New York City stations WCBSTV and WABC-TV rejected the advertisement. They were never broadcast on the outlets; however, similar ones have been aired.

Three Calvin Klein commercials featuring Miss Shields have been restricted by WABC-TV to run only between 7 a.m. and 9 a.m. and after 9 p.m., a station spokeswoman said.

"Last summer we looked at a campaign of 15 or 16 Calvin Klein commercials of different lengths and all but one was accepted," Donn O'Brien, vice president of CBS-TV standards and practices, said Thursday. "There's really nothing new today. It was new last summer."

Jeff Erdell, a WCBSTV spokesman, said the ad "did not meet WCBSTV acceptability standards. It could have been flagged for language or content or both."

The WABC-TV spokeswoman, Leslie Lillian, said the commercial "was rejected on the basis of taste."

In other commercials featuring Ms. Brooks — star of "Blue Lagoon" and "Pretty Baby" — recites from a variety of reclining positions such lines as, "I've got seven Calvins in my closet and if they could talk, I'd be ruined." Other lines include: "Help, I'm going to split my Calvins" and "Reading is to the mind what Calvins are to the body."

Miss Lillian, Erdell and O'Brien said they were unaware of any general public reaction to the commercials being aired. However, Miss Lillian said she did see "one viewer letter" that objected.

Turkey will release U.S. prisoners

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI) — Five Americans serving long sentences in Turkish jails may be coming home soon to serve out their terms in the United States.

The release of the Americans, convicted on drug charges, was expected after Turkey and the United States signed a prisoner-exchange treaty with the United States by publishing it in the national gazette Thursday.

The treaty was ratified by the U.S. Senate last year but, because of Turkey's political turmoil, did not get Ankara's final approval until this week.

Technically, the Americans could be released within 30 days, when the treaty goes into effect.

But legal observers said red tape probably would delay their release until early next year.

Two Americans are now in the notorious Sogmaclar prison (made famous by the movie "Midnight Express"). Michael Ray has been there since April 1973 and, if not for the prisoner exchange treaty, would not be eligible for release until March, 1983.

Barbara Livingston, 29, of Northrup, Michigan, is also being held in Sogmaclar. She was arrested this summer on charges of dealing in narcotics and was not eligible for release for another 9 years.

The other three jailed Americans — Robert Hubbard, 29, of Fort Riley, Kansas, Katherine Zenz, 34, of Lancaster, Michigan, and Jo Anne McDaniel, 35, of Salem, Oregon — were arrested together on charges of smuggling 233 pounds of hashish into Turkey from Syria in 1972.

They were sentenced to death but their punishment was commuted to life imprisonment.

Mao's wife attacked by Chinese press

PEKING (UPI) — China's press stepped up its shrill campaign against Mao Tse-tung's widow Friday, accusing her of displaying "nauseating arrogance" at the opening of the long-delayed trial of the Gang of Four.

At the same time, a spectacular television film of the start of the trial Thursday portrayed Jiang Qing and her co-defendants as frail and elderly — and possibly near death following four years of imprisonment.

Several of the defendants were shown receiving injections of medicine even as the prosecutor was reading the 20,000-word indictment accusing them of mass murder, treason and scores of other crimes carrying the death penalty many times over.

But it was Mao's widow Jiang Qing, leader of the Gang of Four and the most hated woman in China, who came in for the most vitriolic attacks by the government media. Such regards her as the personification of all that was evil and excessive during the 1966-76 Cultural Revolution.

The trial was adjourned after the opening session, probably until Monday, but there was no doubt she and her nine co-defendants would be found guilty as charged. The only question was the sentence they would receive. In Jiang's case, the attacks on her in the Chinese press indicated the sentence would be harsh.

Deep clips of earlier films showing her to be ill and nearly deaf, Jiang, 67, appeared arrogant and proud at her trial, refusing to confess to her alleged guilt. The press seized on that behavior with a vengeance.

The People's Daily referred to Jiang's pre-Mao career as a movie actress, saying she put on a disgraceful performance.

"Using her acting skill from her days as a movie actress, she kept her head up high deliberately under the gaze of the crowd and sauntered slowly through the courtroom. It was a nauseating act," a commentary said.

News of the courtroom drama dominated China. Photographs of the Gang with borders of chains and handcuffs were splashed across front pages together with demands for severe punishment from victims of the Cultural Revolution, the decade of terror in which Jiang reigned as a virtual empress during her husband's declining years.

Iran power struggle intensifies

By United Press International

Iran's powerful clergy, criticized by President Abolhasan Bani-Sadr for meddling and intolerance, went on the offensive Friday and said politicians from the president on down must obey their will.

Bani-Sadr, meanwhile, said in a magazine interview that he was right to call Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai an incompetent.

The exchange of words appeared to indicate that a long and complex power struggle between the clerics and Bani-Sadr's moderates was intensifying.

Rajai, appointed premier by the fundamentalists over Bani-Sadr's objections, took his entire cabinet to the holy city of Qom to confer with religious leaders following an outspoken attack on their influence by Bani-Sadr earlier this week.

The president accused the clerics of instituting a reign of terror in Iran and sending their opponents off to prison "as easily as a man sips water."

In an interview published Friday in London, Bani-Sadr also had harsh words from Rajai, a former math teacher whom he once called incompetent.

Asked if he still held that opinion of Rajai, Bani-Sadr told the London-based Middle East Economic Review that, "my estimation then was correct. He (Rajai) has since shown that I had good reason."

The clerics hit back at a prayer sermon in Qom attended by Rajai and his entire cabinet. Ayatollah Abq Hasan Mousavi, Iran's second most powerful cleric after Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, warned the cabinet against "plots to split the 'progressive clergy'" in remarks clearly intended to refer to Bani-Sadr.

In Tehran, another prominent clergyman, Hojjatolislam Sanei, told a prayer rally that, "respect for the elected president notwithstanding, all should obey" their religious leaders, especially Khomeini.

Polish government shakeup elevates Catholic to key post

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — The Polish government Friday announced its second major cabinet shakeup since the summer strike, in the unprecedented step of naming a Roman Catholic to the senior post of deputy premier.

Four cabinet ministers, including one whose ouster had been demanded by protesting workers in the Baltic port of Gdansk, were dismissed. The shakeup was designed in part to win the approval of Polish workers who, even as the changes were being announced at the end of a two-day Parliament meeting, were threatening to strike the nation's railway and sugar industries.

The railway and sugar refinery workers complained the government was not living up to the agreements it made with their unions and they threatened to go out on strike next week unless government negotiators meet with them this weekend.

The major government change announced by Prime Minister Jozef Pinkowski was the appointment of Roman Catholic politician Jerzy Ozdowski, who is not a member of the Communist Party, as deputy prime minister.

An economist, Ozdowski was believed to be the first practicing Roman Catholic ever to be appointed to the government of a Communist Bloc nation. Although Poland is predominantly Roman Catholic, its Communist regime has never before counted a Roman Catholic among its ranks.

Ozdowski's appointment not only underscored the deep changes Poland has undergone since its summer strikes but also confirmed the Church's powerful role in a nation whose population of 35 million is two-thirds practicing Roman Catholic.

The church episcopate declined immediate comment on Ozdowski's appointment, which western observers viewed as an attempt by the troubled Communist regime to formally enlist Catholics as allies in overcoming the dramatic social, political and economic difficulties facing the country.

Casualties of the shakeup included Edward Barycz, who was replaced by Jerry Broszdek as minister of building and construction materials.

Maria-Milczarek was "fired" as minister of work, wages and social matters and replaced by Janusz Obodowski.

Minister without portfolio Maciej Wlrowski was replaced by Stanislaw Ciose.

Poland's aid request isn't fast decision

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A State Department spokesman said Friday no immediate decision is expected on Poland's request for economic aid, suggesting the matter may remain unresolved until Ronald Reagan is inaugurated as president.

John Trattner said it would take extensive study before a verdict could be made on Poland's recent plea for an estimated $3 billion in loans to support its slumping economy.

Trattner said a decision is not expected for at least three weeks and, even if one is made before Reagan takes office Jan. 20, the new president will have to confront the matter.

"The problem is clearly one the new administration will have to deal with, that is to say Poland's economic situation, but I just can't exclude or include anything that's likely before Jan. 20," Trattner said.

A government official who declined to be identified said the $3 billion figure was unrealistic, but that the administration was considering additional agricultural credits and other aid for Poland.

Poland's economy is burdened by a $21 billion hard currency debt to the West.

One form of relief under consideration is rescheduling $220 million in repayments to the U.S.-backed Commodity Credit Corp., as well as extending new commodity credits to buy American agricultural products.

The United States has asked its allies to consider additional aid to Poland.

Borders close around Poles due to fear

VIENNA, Austria (UPI) — Poland is becoming increasingly isolated within the Eastern bloc by socialist neighbors who are clamping down on travel to the Communist nation.

The restrictions indicate growing concern among Soviet bloc nations over the labor unrest in Poland and fears it may spread.

Czechoslovakia was the latest to impose travel restrictions. Bank officials in Prague said Thursday new rules restrict Czechs to one visit every 90 days to Poland and a maximum stay of 20 days.

Each Czech is allowed to buy a maximum of only 530 Polish zloties per day, the equivalent of $17.

Similar restrictions also were imposed this week by Poland, which now requires Poles to wait at least 90 days between private trips to Czechoslovakia before buying more Czech money.

By tightening the exchange allowances, the government has in effect limited private trips to Czechoslovakia to four times a year.

The toughest regulations of all went into effect this month on travel between Poland and East Germany. The rules, which were said to be temporary, scrapped eight years of visa-free travel between the two countries.

Under the new plan, East Germans wanting to travel privately to Poland will have to produce an invitation from a Polish resident. Tour groups are not affected.

The East German government is nervous, because it does not understand the events in Poland," one editor of the Polish newspaper Trybuna Ludu said recently in Warsaw.

The East Germans, in a commentary that appeared recently in newspapers nationwide, minced no words over the reason for the change.

They said the regulations were worked about between both countries as "an expression of the active solidarity with the efforts to stabilize the situation in Poland, to strengthen the socialist rule of workers and farmers."

The new regulations are clearly designed to keep Poland sealed off as much as possible.

The dangers of cross-pollination were evident at the height of union unrest when reports of Polish strikes filtered across the border and news of sporadic unrest in Czechoslovakia went the other way. Before long, Polish labor groups were talking about solidarity with union brothers across the border, an ominous development for all of Eastern Europe.

The only country bordering Poland that has not tightened its travel rules is the Soviet Union, where, border regulations are tough for everyone all the time.

For many Poles, it is easier to get a visa to go to the United States than next door. With the new regulations, that may soon apply to Czechoslovakia and East Germany as well.

Democrats scorn challenge

By RON ZELLAR
Times-News writer

HAILEY — A Republican party official helping investigate John Peavey's 57-vote margin in the District 21 Senate race said Friday he does not know whether the race will be contested Monday.

Steve Bolter of Hailey said the investigation of alleged voter irregularities in four Blaine County precincts shows "some of the things we suspected." But Bolter said he does not know whether the probe will reveal evidence strong enough to successfully challenge Peavey's election.

Meanwhile, Blaine County Democrats have responded by issuing a tersely worded statement saying the investigation is based on "conjecture and wishful thinking."

Ron Peck, Blaine County Democratic chairman, said Friday the probe is an attempt to disenfranchise a majority of the electorate in Legislative District 21 and an overwhelming majority of the electorate in Blaine County.

Peavey carried seven of the nine precincts in Blaine County, while his Republican challenger carried Lincoln and Minidoka counties.

"Those who threaten to institute the challenge have searched in vain for over two weeks trying to find some irregularity in the conduct of the election. They have found none," Peck said.

Rich Hendricks, who is in charge of ballot security for Republicans in Idaho, said Wednesday he and other party officials were checking poll books and attempting to identify voters who are not valid residents of the district.

Hendricks said many of the voters who registered late in the campaign also had recently established post office addresses. He added that a nuclear referendum on the ballot may have enticed non-residents to register and vote.

Bolter said Friday he is aiding the probe on behalf of the Republican party. To contest the election, he noted, a voter must file a challenge on one of several legal grounds no later than Monday.

He said he does not know if the challenge will be filed.

Bolter emphasized he does not question the actions of election judges on Nov. 4, nor does he believe Peavey did anything improper in his campaign.

Supporters of Democrat Maurice Ellsworth questioned late votes in several Ketchum precincts, but county officials said a heavy turnout forced election officials to accommodate voters standing in line at the 8 p.m. closing time.

If the election is contested, it will be decided in the Idaho Senate under a state law that has been on the books since the 1890s, but which has never been used.

John Sutton, deputy state attorney general, said Friday the State Attorney General's Office plays no direct role in the procedure, although legal questions might be referred to the office if the law is invoked.

Among possible legal issues is what constitutes evidence of "illegal votes." If the election is contested, the election's outcome. Vote fraud is one of a half dozen grounds listed in the state code and on which an election challenge can be based.

Region 4 supports nine projects

TWIN FALLS — Nine community projects seeking federal funds under the A-95 program received support from the Region 4 Development Association Thursday afternoon.

The group gave a "favorable" comment to water system improvement projects for the cities of Malia, Rogerson, Kimberly, Bellevue, and Wendell and also moved to support the proposed Jerome sewer extension, a community development project, and the airport runway extension, both in Twin Falls and a sidewalk, curb, gutter and drainage project in Buhl.

The Regional advisory board tabled action on a request from Greyhound Bus Lines for $122,000 for the intercity service between Twin Falls and Pocatello serving the communities of Kimberly, Hansen, Murtaugh, Burley, Ruppert and American Falls. Board members decided to ask a Greyhound representative to attend a future meeting and explain the need.

A requested $49,000 fund for a feasibility study for hydroelectric power at Magic Reservoir submitted by Cook Electric was also tabled for more information on the Wood River Canal Co. and Cook Electric participation in the project.

Projects given favorable recommendation from the Region 4 board have a better chance of being funded since federal agencies depend on the knowledge of the regional group as a guide in doling out the federal money. John Yeates, regional planning officer, told the board Rogerson, Jerome, Malia and Kimberly already have completed pre-application status on their projects. He said the applications have been submitted to the Housing and Urban Development Agency and Region 4 officials should have information early in January as to funding chances. Bellevue, Wendell, and Twin Falls have submitted applications for their projects on their own, Yeates said.

Executive Director Tom Fleming told the board the special funding to assist elderly and poor has been approved.

Littletree settles suit out of court

TWIN FALLS — A damage suit against the Littletree Inns Corp. of Idaho Falls was settled out of court Thursday.

A 12-member jury had heard testimony for three days in 5th District Court in Twin Falls when the settlement was reached. No terms were disclosed.

Ila and Harold Babbitt of Idaho Falls sued the motel firm after Mrs. Babbitt was injured in a fall on stairs at the restaurant and bar area. The accident occurred March 28, 1979.

The Babbitts charged the firm with failing to maintain the stairway, and failing to warn patrons of its hazardous conditions. They also alleged it did not meet uniform Building Code requirements. She said she suffered permanent disability from the accident and had undergone hospitalization and surgery.

The motel owners argued that Mrs. Babbitt was careless and negligent at the time of the accident and alleged she was guilty of misconduct.

Vandals damage Burley school

BURLEY — A Thursday night burglary resulted in damages of $1,590 at Burley Junior High School.

The damage included five smashed doors and seven broken windows. Officials also said an undetermined amount of money was taken from a soft drink machine and restroom dispensers.

Discovery of the damage forced classes to be held up Friday morning. Students were kept in the gym for 30 minutes while custodians cleaned up broken glass throughout the building.

Burley police said entry was gained through a window in the north of the building.

"It looked like a disaster," said secretary Clyda Carpenter of the school office. "They went through all the drawers except the one with the money."

Papers and broken glass were scattered about the main office. In the adjoining principal's office a door was broken out to gain entry, but Principal Jess Taylor reported that nothing was missing.

At least seven other offices and classrooms also were entered.

Later Friday police declined to comment on reports that a suspect in the burglary had been identified or taken into custody.

QUESTION...

The home in which my wife and I live and the mortgage on it represents our greatest asset and liability. We have an insured mortgage; will this pay the unpaid balance at my death?

ANSWER...

If you have an FHA or VA insured loan this is mortgage insurance guaranteeing payment to the lender only in event of your default. Nothing is paid to anyone when you die. Your wife is still responsible for paying off the loan.

If you have mortgage redemption insurance then any balance payable upon your home loan is paid at your death. This type of insurance is sold essentially two ways: decreasing term insurance and regular life insurance.

Decreasing term is also called Creditors Life — its value decreases with the amount you owe and at your death pays to the lender the amount of your mortgage indebtedness. Regular life insurance is purchased through your family insurance agent for the original amount of your loan and it is payable to the lending company at your death the amount remaining due on your mortgage is paid and the balance of the insurance given to your wife.

Dow average plummets as interest rates continue rising

By FRANK W. SLUISER
United Press International

NEW YORK — The Dow Jones Industrial average, which climbed above the 1,000 level in the previous session for the first time in nearly four years, fell sharply Friday as banks raised their prime lending rate.

Trading was active. The Dow average, which rose 9.13 points to 1,000.17 Thursday for its highest close since Dec. 31, 1976, skidded 10.24 points to 989.93. It finished the torrid week with a gain of only 5.83 points.

Through Thursday, the Dow average of 30 key stocks had surged more than 62 points in a rally that began the day after Republican conservative Ronald Reagan won the presidential election over Jimmy Carter.

Brokers said since the market had risen so sharply in such a short period, they had anticipated some profit taking. But selling intensified after the nation's major banks raised the prime rate they charge top corporate customers for loans to 17 percent from 16 1/2 percent.

Many brokers said the latest rise put interest rates at a near peak, a line of reasoning they have used, a line of reasoning they have used, at its highest level in six months.

Friday's prime boost was the second move within a week and followed the Federal Reserve's decision to raise the discount rate it charges member banks for loans to 12 percent from 11 percent. The news sent other averages, which reached record highs Thursday, skidding.

The New York Stock Exchange index lost 0.73 to 80.17 and the price of a share decreased 35 cents. Declines topped advances, 1,127,478, among the 1,943 issues traded at 4 p.m. EST.

Big Board volume totaled 55,950,000 shares, down from the 60,180,000 traded Thursday. This was one of the busiest weeks in Wall Street history.

Some observers think the setback will be the prelude to a future run on the Dow 1,000 level because Wall Street hopes that Reagan will pursue economic programs that will spur business investment and boost productivity. But other analysts, citing government reports showing the economy is slowing, are fearful the nation is heading into a recession soon. This could create severe problems for the market in January, they said.

Composite volume of NYSE issues listed on all U.S. exchanges and over the counter at 4 p.m. totaled 60,623,440 shares, compared with 62,414,200 traded Thursday.

The American Stock Exchange index lost 1.84 points to 358.44 and the price of a share decreased 11 cents. The National Association of Securities Dealers' NASDAQ index of OTC issues lost 0.43 to 236.07.

In one of the biggest stories of the day, Curtiss-Wright soared 1 1/4 to 37 1/4 after a block trade of 215,000 shares crossed at 37 1/4. Kennecott plans a tender offer of $40 a share for Curtiss-Wright. Kennecott stock lost 1 1/4 to 30 1/4.

At 4 p.m., Texaco, a big winner earlier this week, was the most active NYSE-listed issue, off 1 1/4 to 48 1/4. The stock has risen this week on analysts' recommendations.

General Motors was the second most active NYSE-listed issue, off 1 to 43 1/4 after a block of 100,000 shares at 43 1/4.

Standard Brands was the third most active NYSE-listed issue, off 1/4 to 25 1/4 in trading that included a block of 647,400 shares at 25.

MGM Grand Hotel dropped 2 to 11 in active trading. A fire at the company's Grand Hotel and casino in Las Vegas killed scores of persons and injured hundreds of guests.

J.M. Smucker Co. gained 2 1/4 to 36 1/4 even though the company late Thursday reported its third-quarter earnings dropped to 74 cents a share from 89 cents a year ago.

Gold mining issues were hit by profit takers. ASA Ltd. lost 2 3/4 to 78. Dome Mines 2 1/4 to 100 1/4. Homestake Mining 1 1/4 to 83 1/4 and Campbell Red Lake 1 3/4 to 64.

On the Amex, declines topped advances, 377,253, among the 958 issues traded at 4 p.m. EST. Volume at that time totaled 7,960,000 shares, compared with 9,530,000 traded Thursday.

Gulf Oil of Canada (ex-dividend) was the most active Amex issue, up 1/4 to 18 1/4. Wang Laboratories class B followed off 1/4 to 40 3/4. Houston Oil & Minerals was third, off 1/4 to 46 1/4.

Citibank peg called 'error'

Prime rate escalates to 17%

NEW YORK (UPI) — Many of the nation's major banks pegged their prime rate to 17 percent Friday, but No. 2 Citibank, in what some analysts felt was an "error in judgment," went only to 16 1/2 percent.

Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., the nation's fifth largest bank, moved to 17 percent after Citibank, big Continental Bank lead the way late Thursday. Most of the top banks followed, including Bank of America, the nation's biggest and No. 3 Chase Manhattan.

"This is not a prediction of the future course of interest rates by any means," said William C. Butcher, Chase president and chief executive. "Our policy is to set the prime at an appropriate rate and today 17 percent clearly is an appropriate rate."

The federal funds rate that banks pay to borrow money to lend and to meet reserve requirements were trading between 17 and 18 percent Friday and many analysts feel that based on this alone a 17 1/2 percent prime rate is inevitable within the next week or two.

Citibank, whose usual 10 a.m. announcement time was delayed because a fire drill interrupted the meeting — raised its prime to 16 1/2 percent, a move that an analyst who did not wish to be named called "an error in judgment."

"Wall Street generally feels that Citibank's action is bound to be criticized as political," the analyst said. Citibank Chairman Walter Wriston's name has been widely mentioned as a candidate for the Secretary of Treasury post in Ronald Reagan's administration.

Nevertheless, a Citibank spokesman asked about the criticism said the decision was "our market judgment — that's what makes horse races."

But the quarter-point difference in the prime is small potatoes in the larger issue of the fragile condition of the economy.

The housing industry has already been severely impacted as reflected in the 14.6 percent drop in new building permits last month, he added.

Roger E. Anderson, chairman of Continental Bank, blamed its trendsetting move on "the rapid escalation of short-term rates in the money market as the Federal Reserve attempts to combat inflation through a restrictive monetary policy."

Mortgage rates rise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Veterans Administration Friday simultaneously announced increases in the maximum interest rates allowed on their federally-insured mortgage programs.

HUD's Federal Housing Administration insures mortgages for moderate-income people who otherwise might not be able to afford monthly mortgage payments and provides mortgage insurance for developers of multi-family apartment buildings.

The higher rates, reflecting recent increases in market interest rates, take effect Monday.

The department raised the rate on its single-family and multi-family home mortgages from the current 13 percent to 13.5 percent, effective Nov. 24.

Veterans Administration administrator Max Cleland simultaneously announced a similar change in the maximum rate for VA-guaranteed single-family mortgage loans.

Howser quits Yankees

NEW YORK (UPI) — The question of whether he was pushed or whether he jumped never really was answered by Dick Howser Friday when he "resigned" as manager of the New York Yankees to accept an "excellent opportunity" in private business but he declined to say positively he wasn't fired by owner George Steinbrenner.

General manager Gene Michael was immediately named to replace Howser, becoming the 25th manager in Yankee history and the seventh one since Steinbrenner took over the club in 1973.

At a meeting of only a handful of newsmen held in Steinbrenner's office, Howser made his announcement in the presence of the Yankee owner and Michael. Howser will remain with the Yankees as a supervisor of scouts in the southern section of the country, working out of his home in Tallahassee, Fla.

Howser said his decision to leave the Yankees' managerial post was predicated almost solely on what he called "a tremendous opportunity" in Florida. He refused to go into details as to the nature of the venture, although he did say it had to do "primarily with real estate development."

"I still will work for the Yankees as a supervisor of scouts, but I told George this was something I wanted to do," said Howser, referring to his new opportunity in the private sector. "I'm not ruling out the possibility that I might manage again someday, but as of right now I'm perfectly happy with my situation. I've got the best of both worlds. I'm still in baseball and I can do what I want in the private sector."

Howser said he had not been agonizing over the decision as had been reported in the papers.

"I left a lot of people hanging in air by not answering phone calls and things like that, but that was because I didn't have the answer," he said. "This whole thing was only finalized yesterday morning."

His decision culminated six weeks of speculation as to whether or not he would return to manage the Yankees after he led them to the East Division title in the American League during his rookie season as a manager. Indications that Howser would not return as manager next season became evident after the Yankees lost the AL playoffs to the Kansas City Royals in three straight games. Although the Yankees won more games (103) than any other team, Steinbrenner, who detests coming in second best, was critical of several moves made by his manager during the regular season and did not hesitate to go public with his criticism.

The big question, however, is whether Howser was fired or really did, in fact, resign on his own. Howser shrugged off the question Friday by refusing to comment on it, but Steinbrenner insisted Howser was not fired and could have returned next season if he wished.

"I didn't fire the man. It's a resignation as far as I'm concerned, but Dick is going to remain with us," said Steinbrenner. "No one kept Dick around. The door was open for him to return and he made the decision. Frankly, knowing what is available to him, I would find it myself hard to turn it down and walk away from it."

Howser had been with the Yankees as a player and a coach for 10 years when he left them to accept the head baseball coaching job at Florida State at the end of the 1979 season. Steinbrenner brought him back as manager of the Yankees to succeed Billy Martin on Oct. 28, 1979.

"I went down to Florida State and took him out of job that he could have probably stayed in all his life," Steinbrenner said. "I asked him to help me and he did and I am indebted to Dick. Dick and I have had our differences, why try to hide that?"

No pass thefts for Bell — he'll try again next year

Defensive backs have many duties but only one big desire — to intercept a pass.

That's why Boise State's Chris Bell was looking forward to tonight's football battle in the Mindome at Idaho State. The Bengals are the thirteenth team between Brigham Young and Portland State which means the chances for airborne larceny tonight will be great.

"I'll have to accept the fact that Bell wanted to play against Idaho State, perhaps more than any other game."

He'll have to settle for watching from the stands — with a full-leg cast.

Last Saturday the former Buhl High standout was doing the same thing he has been doing most of the season, defending against the run.

"It was the third period and a third-and-short situation," Bell said. "The ballcarrier went up the middle and I went in to push against him. There were just a bunch of bodies flying around in there and somebody cracked against me."

"I didn't fall all that bad at first and I tried to stand on it but the trainer checked it and the lower part of my leg just flopped around," he said. "They knew I was bad."

The result was torn medial ligaments and Monday night Bell had surgery in Boise to repair the damage.

"The doctor said the cartilage was saveable and he just tucked it back in," Bell said. "The cruciate ligaments (ones that cross in the knee joint and connect the femur and tibia) are okay."

Because the cruciates were not damaged, the doctor said Bell is likely to play next season. Many hours in the weight room rebuilding the knee are ahead for the marketing major.

The full cast will stay on for three to four weeks before a cast with a hinge at the knee will go on for another three to four weeks.

Bell's parents, Dale and Lila, missed the game at Cal-Poly but have seen most games this season.

"It's hard to tell but I think my mom felt I've had enough," Bell said from room 444 of Boise's St. Alphonsus Hospital Thursday afternoon. "But I think they'd like me to keep going too."

The 1980 season, starting with spring football, has been a rough one for Bell. After being named to the all-Big Sky second team defensive unit in 1979, Bell had one of the starting cornerback spots. Then came a shoulder injury which required surgery to repair ligament damage.

CSI's Lee Bates waits for Columbia Basin's Kevin Lewis to come down before trying a shot

Hawks push CSI to limit

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News sports writer

TWIN FALLS — It was a great night to scout College of Southern Idaho.

Coach Dave Campbell had his Eagles using about every trick (offense and defense) in the book to beat back the talented, hot-shooting Columbia Basin Hawks 79-66 and run their record to 2-0.

The Hawks, behind good shooting by nearly everyone but particularly Ken Buntin, had the Eagles on the short end of a 40-28 score late in the first half. Despite everything the Eagles tried to do and they went from man to zone to half court defensively — it wasn't until 13:13 remained in the game that CSI could catch up.

The game had two turning points. The first when the Eagles led by that 40-28 count but although appeared reeling, steadied to score the last nine points of the half.

Then a steady pressure that kept the margin close over the first seven minutes of the second half paid off when Frank Bains brought in for two quick buckets and Mark Owens and Mark Ingram came up with steals that Lamar Dixon and Lee Bates converted into points. That sent the Hawks into a 35-50 lead and they never trailed again.

"It was a great comeback by our guys," said Campbell. "Sixty (team code for the half-court defense) did the job for us. But coming out at 12-point lead to me just before the half was a great effort, too."

"This was an excellent basketball team," he said of the Hawks. "They were much tougher than we expected."

"What did they hit? It seemed like 85 percent in the first half," he answered his own question. "That Buntin, I didn't think he was ever going to miss and 30 (Mark Harris) could play for anybody."

CSI had the best of it in the early going, jumping out to three six-point leads. But five minutes into the game, Buntin hit two quick jumpers to put at 12. The teams battled through three ties before Campbell went to the platoon substitution that had worked well opening night against Utah Tech.

Columbia Basin, looking at a zone, then hit its hottest streak, capping a succession of jumpers in a string that finally culminated in that 40-28 lead.

That came with 2:20 left in the half but the Hawks couldn't score again.

Ingram scored five points — including a three-point play — and Bains and Dixon added buckets to make it 40-37.

It took a while for it to work as Buntin, who had 18 points and was nine-for-13 from the field at intermission, and Harris hit the first two shots of the second half.

Owen then collected twice off the baseline to start the Eagles back. With 15:48 left in the game, Buntin hit his second-to-last field goal of the night — a welcome relief for CSI.

Bains then took the offensive into his hands for three straight CSI field goals, the last one showing the Eagles ahead 51-50 with 13:03 left.

Immediately CSI went to the half-court pressure. Owen picked off the second pass and CSI went to a corners offense. Dixon converted on that steal and Ingram immediately stole the ball back, Bates scoring on that one.

But Columbia Basin soon slyly moved the corners plan ("my fault," Campbell said, "I really didn't have them prepared to run it) and the Eagles switched to a double high spot.

Dixon scored the quick field goal that led to the tie lead to 61-52. Columbia Basin refused to wilt, staying within five with 4:47 remaining. Then Bates got inside for a crumple and Ingram, twice off Bains' feeds, scored inside and added a free throw. That was enough.

Champions trail Houston

Steelers face Bills in bid to stay alive

By IRA KAUFMAN
UPI Sports Writer

More pro football — B3

The Pittsburgh Steelers, who received a last-minute reprieve from playoff extinction last week, try to avoid walking a frozen last mile Sunday in Buffalo.

The NFL champions, 7-4, pulled out a 16-13 victory over Cleveland in the final 11 weeks last week and are tied with the Browns, one game behind Houston in the AFC Central. The Bills, 8-3, sit atop the AFC East by a game over New England and come off a 14-0 shutout of Cincinnati.

Both ground defenses are among the league's stingiest and football will fill the frigid air swirling around sold-out Rich Stadium. The Steelers, winners of three straight, have yielded only five touchdowns rushing all season while Buffalo has allowed the fewest points (16) and yards (257) per game in the AFC.

"People haven't been able to run against the Pittsburgh Steelers this season," said Buffalo Coach Chuck Knox. "The Steelers are the defending Super Bowl champions and, as their win over Cleveland demonstrates, are playing with poise and emotion."

The Steel Curtain has closed a little tighter with the return of veteran middle linebacker Jack Lambert, a perennial all-pro who had been sidelined with an injury for five weeks before returning against the Browns.

"The Buffalo defense has made an impression on Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll.

"They're at the top of their conference and up there in defensive statistics, too," Noll said. "They're moving the ball offensively, and they contribute to it, and they've got some good, aggressive people on defense."

An interesting sidelight will be the estimated 30,000 Pittsburgh-area fans who are expected to attend the game in the 80,000-seat stadium. The unusually large number of tickets were sold in Pennsylvania by the Bills through use of a small order system.

"It'll not only be interesting to see who wins the football battle," said

Bills' defensive lineman Mike Kadish, "but the one in the stands, as well."

Buffalo's Joe Ferguson, who has thrown 16 interceptions, will have to be especially careful against the Steelers' opportunistic pass defense. Pittsburgh has intercepted 22 passes, with safes Donnie Shell and Mike Wagner combining for 13. Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw has thrown a TD pass in 17 straight games.

In a nationally televised game Thursday night, San Diego topped Miami 27-24 on Rolf Benicchie's 23-yard field goal with 7:46 remaining in overtime. Woodrow Lowe's 23-yard interception return of rookie David Woodley's pass set up the winning kick. Dan Fouts threw three TD passes as San Diego improved to 8-4. Woodley hit 22-of-34 passes for 251 yards, but Miami fell to 6-6.

Sunday's game, Detroit is at Tampa Bay, Houston at the New York Jets, Oakland at Philadelphia, Baltimore at New England, Chicago at Atlanta, Cincinnati at Cleveland, Seattle at Denver, Green Bay at Minnesota, the New York Giants at San Francisco, Washington at Dallas and Kansas City at St. Louis. Los Angeles plays in New Orleans Monday night.

Two slumping clubs tangle in Tampa, with the Buccaneers virtually one loss away from playoff elimination after winning the NFC Central last year. The Lions, 6-5 after opening with four victories, still top the league in rushing, led by rookie Billy Sims, but quarterback Gary Danielson has slumped in recent weeks and Detroit is tied with Minnesota atop the Central. Doug Williams passed for 486 yards last week in Tampa. Bay's 38-30 loss to the Vikings, but last year's league-leading defense has collapsed as the Buccaneers, 4-6, have won only two of their last nine.

Houston, 8-3, leads the AFC Central but the Oilers must avoid looking past the lousy Jets; the Oilers play division foes Cleveland and Pittsburgh after New York. Houston has beaten the Jets four straight times as NFL rushing leader Earl Campbell makes his New York debut and shoos for a record 127 yards in his consecutive 100-yard game. The Jets, 2-4, who led the league in rushing in 1979, rank last in the AFC with an average of only 113 yards per game on the ground.

Boise repels Borah

BOISE (UPI) — Boise withstood a goal-line stand by Borah in the last minute to preserve a 7-0 victory in the Idaho A-1 High School Football Championship game Friday at Bronco Stadium.

Borah had four downs inside the 10-yard line with less than a minute to play but could get no closer than six inches even with an off-side penalty against Boise that moved the ball half the distance to the goal line.

The only touchdown in the game came late in the first quarter when tailback Eric Hall ran four yards. The conversion kick by sophomore John Mullins accounted for the winning point.

Boise allowed Borah only 130 yards in offense, while shutting out its cross-town opponent for the second time this season.

start. The injury didn't allow Bell to finish spring practice so this fall he had to earn the job over again.

He won the starting spot back about a week before BSU's 28-7 humbling of Utah that started the season. But the win was costly for Bell. He received a deep back bruise and had to sit out the second game with Southeastern Louisiana and played a little on Sept. 20 against Northern Arizona. Since the final week of September he has been in the starting lineup.

Final BSU team statistics this season will show Bell had 16 unassisted tackles and 23 assisted stops for 39 total tackles. Not bad for playing in slightly under eight full games.

The stats will also show six pass deflections. In other words, six might-have-been pass interceptions. "I'm really disappointed about not being able to play," Bell said. "Idaho State throws so much that the defensive backs would have been in on every play. We really look forward to a team that puts the ball in the air as much as they do."

Bell had two interceptions during his freshman year and two last year. This year the entire Boise State secondary has just three interceptions (the linebackers have pulled seven burglaries) and sophomore free safety Larry Alder, a Boise High product, has made all three.

Bell has been in contact with his teammates this week and what impresses them is his most ISU quarterback back, Mike Mathews, who has thrown for 2,100 yards and 14 touchdowns.

"He is the best quarterback we've seen this year," Bell said. "It will take our best effort to beat them."

A NCAA Division I-AA playoff berth is riding on the outcome.

"I'll really be a challenge," Bell said. "They send five receivers out on nearly every play."

Bell plans to go to Pocatello in an uncle's motor home since travel by car would be difficult with the cast. After Saturday he'll spend the weekend at home in Buhl.

He's making no predictions for tonight's game. Jeff Surpin, a senior from Honesoo, will take Boise's starting spot. He said that his loss will not hurt the BSU secondary.

Jeff has been playing a lot of this season and is the backup for both cornerback positions," Bell said. "The change (in starters) won't give ISU a place to attack."

Weight work to get the knee back in shape will mean Bell will miss spring football, something he's not terribly disappointed about.

It's his intention to be back in the starting secondary Sept. 12 against Rhode Island.

POCATELLO — Twin Falls moved its Gem State Conference mark to 2-0 Friday night with a 43-29 win over Pocatello High.

Sisters Lisa and Kelly Krahn led the Bruins in the scoring column, hitting for 12 and 11 points, respectively.

The Bruins, 2-1 for all games, had little trouble in taking a 16-6 first quarter bulge and a 27-14 lead at the half.

Lisa Krahn had six rebounds to pace a balanced board effort. Twin Falls had a 25-12 rebound advantage.

Idaho Falls team takes gym lead

TWIN FALLS — Gemini Gymnastics of Idaho Falls took the first day lead in the first annual Harvest Day Invitational Friday night.

The Idaho Falls girls, competing against eight other Class II competitors in the two-day meet, wound up their first session with 100.75 points, fractionally ahead of the Wings of Boise which wound up at 100.35.

The meet continues today at 1 p.m. at the Sage Gymnasium with 14 teams from throughout the Intermountain area.

Those two were separated by fractions but held fairly solid advantages over the other competitors.

Today's scores will be combined with those of Friday evening to establish the team champion.

Barbara Founce of the Wings took the individual championship in Friday night's competition with a 35.75 score.

Those two were separated by fractions but held fairly solid advantages over the other competitors.

Today's competition will be open to the public. An admission fee of $1 for adults and 50 cents for children will be charged to help defray tournament expenses.

'Patchwork Orange' Broncos host Seattle; can gain on Oakland

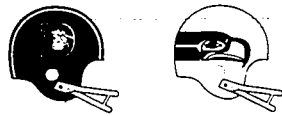

DENVER (UPI) — The Denver Broncos, who were prevented by a trademark infringement suit from capitalizing on the "Orange Crush" nickname, are getting a new reputation as "The Patchwork Orange."

Most of Denver's offensive line will be substitutes for injured starters Sunday when the Broncos host the Seattle Seahawks. And All-Pro cornerback Louis Wright, who suffered a torn retina in his left eye last Sunday, will be replaced by Perry Smith.

"There's no extra pressure on me," said Tom Glasie, considered one of two healthy offensive linemen even though he is playing with a cast on his broken hand. "It's extra pressure on the guys coming in."

Three starters who had only a 50-50 chance of playing against Seattle were offensive tackles Dave Studdard (Achilles tendon), Claudie Minor (groin) and guard Paul Howard (back).

Bronco Coach Red Miller brought up the possibility of moving tight ends Riley Odoms or Ron Egloff to the front line. If there were any more injuries to backup linemen Glenn Hyde, Keith Bishop or Kelvin Clark. "With all of our injuries we'll have our problems getting ready for them (the Seahawks)," said Miller. "The big thing is getting enough people on the field to practice right and get everything down."

A 31-24 victory over the New York Jets last week left the Broncos with a 6-5 record and two games behind first place Oakland in the AFC West. The Seahawks have lost four straight games, including the last three after taking leads into the third quarter. A 19-17 loss to Oakland Monday night effectively knocked Seattle, 4-7, from playoff contention.

Seattle's Jim Zorn, who has thrown 12 touchdown passes along with 15 interceptions, said there would be no giving up, even though the Seahawks also had four players listed as doubtful or questionable for the game.

"If we finish by winning our last five games, it would be a positive note and a good way to go out and a lift for next season," he said. "So we'll continue to try to win every game."

Denver running back Billy Preston, who moved into the starting lineup a week ago with the forced retirement of Otis Armstrong, said he was not worried about running behind "the patchwork orange."

"We practice together all the time, and we know what's happening in different situations," said Preston. "When I run, I know how someone's going to approach a block and maybe get that split second difference."

Preston said he expected the Seahawks to come into Denver "first."

"They came in here last year and had a big lead (34-10), and we came from behind to beat them," said Preston. "That caused them to possibly lose momentum and they feel they can turn the tables on us."

Sixteen-year veteran Craig Morton, who led the Broncos to the phenomenal comeback over Seattle last year, was listed as Denver's starter for Sunday, even though he spent much of the week hospitalized with a flu virus.

Morton was hospitalized last Saturday but played the entire game against the Jets and passed for more than 300 yards for the first time in his four-year Denver career. He was readmitted to the hospital Monday and not released again until Thursday.

Eagles, Raiders put league's longest win streaks on line at Philly

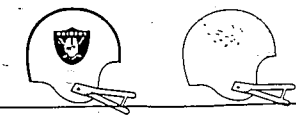

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — There's no place like home for Dick Vermell and the Philadelphia Eagles, and that's a feeling the nomadic Oakland Raiders probably would like to experience about now.

The Eagles return to Veterans Stadium Sunday after a three-game road swing to host the Raiders in a battle of NFL divisional leaders. The contest also matches the two-longest winning streaks in the league this season.

The Eagles, whose 10-1 record is the best in the NFL, have won seven consecutive games to open up a two-game lead on Dallas in the NFC East. The Raiders, meanwhile, have recovered from a 2-3 start in fine style, winning six straight to take the top spot in the AFC West.

Although the Eagles' past road trip was successful, Vermell can't wait to appear again before the home folks.

"We have a big advantage this week playing at home," the Philadelphia coach said. "We don't mind playing on the road. At home, though, you have a coaching staff of 71,000 making decisions for you and motivating your players."

The Raiders, on the other hand, have experienced a tough week. They defeated Seattle, 19-17, on Monday night and then had to fly back to Oakland for a reduced practice week before heading to Philadelphia Friday.

But the Raiders received plenty of satisfaction from their win over the Seahawks after bouncing back from a 14-0 deficit.

"This is the kind of football we played in the past," offensive tackle Art Shell said. "The game was hanging there and things looked difficult. We were frustrated but we didn't get down. You have to hang in there."

"There is no quit on this team. This is a different team in a different year with a different attitude. You add a couple of people and the attitude of the whole team changes. This is a good team, a damn good team."

Although the Raiders have 14 players on this year's roster who were elsewhere in 1979, one of their veterans — quarterback Jim Plunkett — has carried the team after Dan Pastorini went down with a knee injury.

Plunkett, a 10-year veteran, is 6-0 as a starter. Since taking over, he has completed 63 percent of his passes for 1,161 yards and 10 touchdowns.

One man not surprised at Plunkett's resurgence is Vermell, who was an assistant at Stanford when Plunkett played there.

"I hate to say this but that injury (to Pastorini) may have been a blessing in disguise," Vermell said. "Plunkett is a fine football player. He had too much going for him when I was coaching at Stanford for it to disappear all of a sudden."

Plunkett's favorite receivers are wideouts Cliff Branch and Bob Chandler, both with 33 catches. The running game is solid with Kenny King fourth in the AFC with 607 yards and Mark Van Eeghen sixth with 536.

The Raider offense will be running into the league's top-rated defense. The Eagles registered their first shutout of the season last Sunday with a 24-0 whitewash of Washington.

Philadelphia's Ron Jaworski is the NFL's top-rated quarterback, completing 59.5 percent of his passes for 2,371 yards and 22 touchdowns with just nine interceptions. The Raiders, however, boast cornerback Lester Hayes, who leads the league with nine interceptions.

Bruised Campbell, Oilers hope to keep lead; face troubled Jets

NEW YORK (UPI) — Earl Campbell will move into New York for the first time in his NFL career and the rest of the Houston Oilers hope he can help them maintain their one-game lead in the AFC Central.

The Oilers, who lead Pittsburgh and Cleveland in the division, are riding a five-game winning streak and Sunday's game against the Jets marks their first New York appearance since 1974, one year before Bum Phillips took over as coach and four years prior to Campbell's arrival in the NFL.

But Campbell, who rushed for a career-best 206 yards last week in Houston's 16-10 victory over Chicago to increase his league-leading total to 1,300 yards, may see limited action because of an injury suffered in that game.

"I think I'll be able to play," said Campbell, who can tie a record he already shares with O.J. Simpson with seventh consecutive 100-yard game. "I feel good. I will go out to practice and I don't foresee any problems."

The Oilers list Campbell's ailment as a bruised knee and term him questionable, but the two-time rushing king says he suffered a bruised muscle at the top of his calf.

Nevertheless, Phillips isn't taking any chances. "We won't use Campbell any differently. We'll use the same plays," said Phillips. "If he's well, we'll use him. If he's not, he won't play. We won't use him any less. You can get hurt running one play as easily as running 30 plays. I know there's more of a chance when you run it 30 times but that's just the game of football."

If Campbell, who amassed his yardage on 245 carries for a 5.3-yard average, does play the entire game, he has a chance to break Simpson's record for most games (3) in a season over 200 yards. Campbell has rushed for 203 yards against Kansas City and 202 against Tampa Bay before the Chicago game.

While the Jets, 2-9, must concern themselves with stopping Campbell, they must also zero in on quarterback Ken Stabler, who leads the league with a 65.1 percent completion rate.

"Stabler is an old veteran who takes what you give him," said Jets' Coach Walt Michaels. "He can hit you underneath all day if he has to. He did it last year (with Oakland) when he played him but we got five interceptions and bailed out the game."

"We're down one defensive back (Bobby Jackson) and I don't depend on how much we can get from two rookies (safety Darrol Ray and cornerback Jesse Johnson).

In addition, the Jets suffered another blow to the secondary when strong safety Shafer Suggs, currently an injured reserve, blasted Michaels this week and asked to be traded.

"The whole organization has been sliding backwards for years," said Suggs, in his fifth season with the Jets. "We've been rebuilding for five years and we'll probably be rebuilding for another three years. I've been a part of it but I don't want to be a part of it anymore."

While most everyone is trying to figure out what's wrong with the Jets, the offense seems to be rounding into shape.

Wide receivers Wesley Walker and Lam Jones, who caught their first touchdown passes of the year in a 21-24 loss to the Denver Broncos last week, should give the Jets a shot at beating the Oilers, who have not lost to the Jets the last four times they met.

"The Jets could be trouble. They're getting their people back, guys like Chris Ward and Wesley Walker who've been out for a while," said Phillips. "They haven't been hitting on all 11 cylinders but they stay in the game with you."

Kramer says Vikes will correct 'embarrassment' against Packers

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Minnesota quarterback Tommy Kramer says the Vikings were embarrassed by last month's 16-3 loss to the Green Bay Packers and will make up for it Sunday at Metropolitan Stadium.

"I'm sure Green Bay is going to want to win but we're going to be just as hungry," said Kramer, whose team has won three straight.

"They embarrassed us offensively in Green Bay. I know the whole team is definitely looking forward to having them come up here. We're going to be ready to play."

The Vikings, 6-5, grabbed a share of first place in the NFC Central Division last week by outscoring Tampa Bay 38-30. It was their third straight 30-point performance since falling to the Pack.

Coach Bart Starr, whose Packers may be without quarterback Lynn Dickey, realizes Minnesota is hot but sees this as a must-win game for Green Bay. The Packers, 4-6-1, are coming off a 27-21 loss to the New York Giants.

"I don't know what it's going to take to win our division, but we can't afford to lose," Starr said. "It would take a miracle for us if we don't win Sunday."

"Because Detroit got knocked off last week, we stayed only one game back in the loss column. All of us play each other in the next few weeks, so we still have a chance."

But a rash of injuries to key players won't help the Packers cause. Besides Dickey, who has a bad knee, defensive tackles Charles Johnson and Terry Jones and cornerback Mike McCoy are listed as questionable against Minnesota.

The Vikings, meanwhile, have put their injuries behind them. And a healthy offensive line seems to be just what the doctor ordered.

"Everyone here has been playing well and we're not making as many mistakes," said Kramer, who hurt his throwing hand against the Packers Oct. 26. "It makes a lot of difference when you get good field position and have good time to throw the ball. It makes my job easier."

"The offensive line is all healthy again. They've all played together now for a couple of weeks. It's hard when you get people hurt and have to play people at new positions."

Minnesota Coach Bud Grant, downplaying the role of vengeance, said he respects the Packers' win.

"I'll take a good effort on our part to beat them," he said. "Revenge is a poor motivator. We've never used revenge to prepare for a game."

While the Vikings moved the ball virtually at will against the Buc's, Grant says the Packers will pose different problems on defense.

"We're using a 3-4 defense, but not like Tampa, which plays with a three-man rush," he said. "Green Bay will give you all kind of stunts and come at you with their linebackers."

"Their defense has played well enough to win and it quite conceivable could have won a couple of games they lost."

Nevada oddsmakers appear to be going with the hot offense of Minnesota, which has not lost to Green Bay at home since 1974. The Vikings are favored by 5 1/2 points.

Colts, Patriots both need victory to stay in chase behind Buffalo

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — The Baltimore Colts and New England Patriots sport the best records among division opponents, but they're both chasing Buffalo in the AFC East and each team needs a win Sunday to stay in the hunt.

The Colts and the Patriots are 4-1 in the AFC East while the Bills have dropped two games to division opponents. But New England, 7-4, trails Buffalo by one game and the Colts, 6-5, are two games astern.

"One of our many goals this season was to stay representative in the division," said Colts Coach Mike McCormack. "We just have to keep it going."

Baltimore, 5-1 on the road, has won two of its last three games while the Patriots are enduring a mini-swoon, having dropped two straight and three of their last four. New England coach Ron Erhardt stressed a positive approach all week and hopes it pays off.

"I may have stuck my neck out by saying we've got to win our last five but if I don't believe it, who will? And I think we can. We have to learn to take our losses and benefit from them," said Erhardt.

The Patriots beat the Colts 37-21 on Oct. 19 to cap a five-game winning streak. Both coaches suggested the matchup is more one of brains than brawn the second time around.

"There's more studying done by the players and the coaches," Erhardt says.

"It's kind of a guessing game, a chess match," McCormack says. "You look and see what worked and what didn't work. It's exciting to play a team twice a year and it's really a coaches' match."

Baltimore enters the game with the AFC's fifth ranked defense, two notches ahead of New England. As in the past, the Colts rely heavily on the performance of Bert Jones, the AFC's No. 6 ranked quarterback. But McCormack is trying to de-emphasize Jones' importance by an improved running attack with rookie Curtis Dickey and veteran Joe Washington and a slinger defense.

"We're trying to minimize that, to take Bert off the target spot and make it a 45-man effort," McCormack says. "We've been trying to develop and improve our running game and also upgrade the defense. Last week, (a 10-9 win over Detroit) Bert had an off day for him and the defense won it."

New England ranks as the fourth best defense in the conference, with the Colts a lowly 11th. The Patriots defense turned in a solid effort against the Rams last weekend in a 17-10 loss.

"People were all harping about our offensive performance and few paid attention to the job the defense did," Erhardt says. "LA didn't get the ball over midfield in the fourth quarter. And with a break here or there, we'd have won that game."

The Colts expect to be healthy for the contest, but the Patriots likely will go without defensive end Mel Lunsford and reserve linebacker Larry McCormack. Rookie Doug McDougald will be activated if Lunsford can't play.

Helsinki's Viren ends running career Sunday

HELSINKI (UPI) — Athens, the birthplace of the modern Olympics, would have been a more fitting background. But instead, the North-East English industrial city of Gateshead Sunday witnesses the final curtain call for Finnish running star Lasse Viren.

Viren, four-time Olympic medalist and the man who inherited the mantle of "The Flying Finn" from his childhood hero Paavo Nurmi, ends his remarkable career in Sunday's five-mile (8 km) cross-country race at Gateshead.

Viren accomplished a remarkable sweep of the 5,000 and the 10,000 meters at the Munich-Olympics in 1972 and then did it again at Montreal in 1976. He also finished fifth in the Montreal marathon in an incredible display of stamina.

The 31-year-old Finn marked down Munich as the highlight of a glittering career.

"The Munich Olympic games and of course the first gold medal — that was unparalleled," he told UPI. At his last Olympic appearance in Moscow earlier this year he was still able to place fifth in the 10,000 despite previous injury problems. After a falling accident in 1976, only skillful surgery on his ankle saved his career.

The amazing Finn, who has become a national hero, has already made his farewell home appearance in a 21 kilometer race on Sept. 28 in his hometown of Myrskylän, Finland. To show their respect and friendship for the Finn, the 1980 Olympic 5,000 and 10,000 meters gold medalist, Miruts Yifter, of Ethiopia, Britain's Brendan Foster, Belgium's Emil Puttemans, and Finland's Kaarlo Maaninka all participated.

Among them, these athletes hold six Olympic gold medals, two silver and three bronze.

Born in Myrskylän July 22, 1949, Viren started serious training in 1967 when he won the his national A-Junior class 3,000 meters championship in 8 minutes 43.8 seconds.

As well as winning his Olympic goals, Viren set world records of 27:38.4 for the 10,000 meters at Munich in 1972, 13:16.4 for the 5,000 in Helsinki and 8:14.0 for the two miles in Stockholm.

Viren, who is married with a three-year old son, still lives in Myrskylän where he has built a house not far from his childhood home.

Governor's emergency fund dwindling

BOISE (UPI) — Mount St. Helens' May 18 eruption and the Idaho State Penitentiary riot in July shrunk Gov. John Evans' emergency fund so much that bills are piled high and the last $47,646 is being held in reserve.

"We've got a lot of demands upon it now, so we've just cut them off," said Steve Seward, Evans' fiscal assistant.

Seward said the fund contained $152,804 last January, but it had only $47,646 at the end of October after the governor's office paid some of the bills created by the volcanic ash fallout and the prison insurrection.

"It's clear it's woefully short, so we're preserving a little balance in case something else happens," he said.

Seward said the governor's office was planning to ask the 1981 Idaho Legislature to transfer money from the state Water Pollution Control Account to pay about $500,000 in unpaid disaster bills.

Evans announced intentions to tap the water pollution account for that purpose last summer, but a state attorney general's opinion said such action would require legislative authorization.

Seward said some $60,000 from the emergency fund was used to reimburse the Idaho National Guard for its work in the aftermath of the volcanic eruption and to pay the state's 15 percent matching payment for ash cleanup in Idaho's 10 northern counties.

The federal government paid 75 percent of the cost and local governments in the affected region were billed for the remaining 10 percent.

The contingency fund also was used to pay the first $10,000 of the cost that resulted from the riot. Most of the several hundred thousand dollars in damages was covered by insurance, but the state still doesn't know how much extra it will owe to other states for housing Idaho convicts while the prison was being repaired.

Sheriff may be liable for going over budget

CALDWELL (UPI) — Canyon County Sheriff George Nourse overspent his 1980 budget by some $17,000 and may be personally responsible for paying the debt, county Clerk Bill Staker said Friday.

Staker said Nourse recently submitted bills incurred by his office during 1980 totaling $21,352 and that of these bills, at least $17,000 represents over-expenditures of the sheriff office's 1980 budget.

According to Idaho law, Staker said, "Nourse may be responsible for paying the bills in excess of his budget limits for 1980."

Staker said he requested an opinion on Nourse's liability for the excess bills from the Idaho attorney general's office on Nov. 19 and now is awaiting that opinion.

Nourse could not be reached for comment Friday.

Staker said the bulk of the bills were submitted to his office on Nov. 7 and represent everything from food purchases to auto repairs to legal expenses incurred by the sheriff's office.

Nourse requested and was granted permission Oct. 2 to transfer some $7,300 from one category in his budget to cover expenses in another budget category, Nourse publicly said at the time that he knew of no other outstanding claims against his office.

Magistrate orders baby put up for adoption

MOUNTAIN HOME (UPI) — A 7-month-old baby girl allegedly offered for sale for $2,000 by her father will be put up for adoption while her 2 1/2-year-old brother will be returned to his parents, the District Magistrate John Sellman ruled today.

Attorneys for the children's parents, Tech. Sgt. John Raean and his wife, both of Mountain Home-Air Force Base, stipulated during today's hearing that the girl, Shannon, be placed up for adoption while her brother, Sean, be returned to the custody of his parents.

Elmore County Prosecuting Attorney Alan Wilson agreed to the arrangement and the state's part in the case was closed. Earlier, Wilson said he would ask Sellman to grant a state request that the children remain in the custody of the Idaho Health and Welfare Department until the Air Force Office of Special Investigation had completed its investigation into the alleged baby sale.

The children have been in the custody of the Health and Welfare Department since shortly after their father allegedly offered Shannon for sale Nov. 9 in the Raean's quarters on the base.

They were taken into protective custody on an order signed by Sellman after receiving an affidavit from Garth Andrus, Mountain Home Health and Welfare caseworker, telling of the alleged baby sale.

Andrus' affidavit said the couple who posed as buyers had worked with the OSI on the case. Lynn Dakin, base public-affairs officer, said the OSI had been investigating the case five weeks before the sale allegedly took place.

Shannon will be kept in the custody of Health and Welfare until her adoption can be arranged. The boy will be returned to his parents as soon as the necessary paperwork can be completed.

Wilson said the state's part in the case now is completed. He said it is up to the Air Force to determine whether Raean sold or tried to sell the baby. If the OSI findings involved Mrs. Raean in the alleged baby sale, it will be up to the U.S. attorney to take action, Witsms said.

He said his office does not have jurisdiction over any criminal action on a federal base, and therefore does not have jurisdiction over Mrs. Raean.

Christmas tree permits available throughout state

By United Press International

Christmas tree permits will be available from five Boise National Forest ranger districts and four Sawtooth National Forest ranger districts this year.

The permits, which cost $1, are limited to one per family. U.S. Forest Service regulations require the permits be attached to the tree at the time of cutting, that the tree stump must be cut off no more than six inches from the ground, trees can only be taken from national forest land and they cannot be taken from Forest Service campgrounds or picnic areas.

Permits are available at the Boise National Forest Ranger Districts in Cascade beginning Nov. 2, at Emmett beginning Nov. 25, at Mountain Home beginning Dec. 1, at Idaho City beginning Dec. 2 and at Lowman beginning Nov. 29.

In the Sawtooth National Forest, permits may be obtained and trees may be cut in the Burley and Twin Falls ranger districts on Dec. 6, 7, 13 and 14. Permits will be issued in the Kelchuth Ranger District and the Sawtooth National Recreation Area beginning Nov. 22 through Dec. 20. No permits will be issued for the Fairfield Ranger District because trees aren't available in the accessible areas.

Crowl bans pat searches by guards of opposite sex

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho Corrections Department Director C.W. Crowl has issued a memo, banning pat searches of prisoners by guards of the opposite sex in the wake of an investigation into alleged sexual harassment of Idaho's female inmates.

Monday, Gov. John Evans ordered an "immediate investigation" into media reports that the chief correctional officer at the North Idaho Correctional Institution near Cottonwood has sexually harassed female inmates there.

In an article published in Sunday's edition of the Lewiston Morning Tribune, Lt. Glenn House, an 11-year veteran of the Idaho Corrections Department and chief of security at the Cottonwood facility, admitted he had frisked female inmates at the institution even when female guards were available. He also acknowledged having touched the breasts of one inmate, although he claimed he did so inadvertently.

Since then, House has asked for and been granted paid administrative leave from the institution until the investigation into the allegations can be completed.

House also has requested to undergo a polygraph test.

Murder suspect charged with escape

BOISE (UPI) — First-degree murder suspect Michael Allen Parrott, 26, was bound over to 4th District Court Thursday on a charge of escaping from the Idaho State Penitentiary work-release program.

Authorities said Parrott, a state prison inmate, disappeared in late September from his job as driver at the Boise work-release center. He was arrested about a week later for the Oct. 2 multiple-gunshot death of ex-convict Ronald Kay, 42.

Trail dates on the escape and murder charges have not been set. Parrott is being held at the Ada County jail without bond.

THE MOST EFFICIENT NEW HEATING SYSTEM BREAKTHROUGH IN YEARS.

At last, there's a more efficient, more economical way to heat electrically. And it's now available locally—the Sun-Twin Heating System. Most versatile system available. Heat your whole house or business. Use a single unit to warm up that basement or room addition. Easier, less expensive to install. No ductwork, no special 240V wiring, chimney, or piping needed. Easily installed in a closet, in the attic, or as a movable unit in an attractive cabinet. Zone-controlled for economy. Individually controlled units provide heat only where and when it's needed.

Extremely energy efficient. Tests show: More environmental heat using less power. More comfortable, even heat. Heat not wasted near the ceiling as with conventional systems. More comfort at floor level with lower heat settings. Virtually maintenance-free. No burners, pilot light, or main heating element. Assures long, trouble-free service.

Come in for the whole story. Learn how the "unique" Sun-Twin System works to save you money. Do it soon.

Engagement ring formula pretty well ignored

Q. Is there any rule of thumb as to how much money a man should spend on his girlfriend's engagement ring?
 A. The old notion was no more than three weeks' salary or 6 percent of his annual income. But such formulas are pretty well forgotten today. Outcoming couples now tend to question why it should be anybody else's business to make up such rules for them.

Say you're exactly at the North Pole. If you look off in some direction, you know it's south. If you see a bear, you know it's white. But what time is it there?

CONTEST RULES

- 24 football games are placed in the ads on these pages. Pick the winner of each game (not the score) and write the team name opposite the advertiser's name on the entry blank. The entrant picking the most correct winner's each week will be awarded $35.00.
- Pick a number which you think will be the most number of points scored by both teams in any one of the weeks games listed and write your answer in the space provided on the entry blank. This will be used to break ties. In the event of a further tie the money will be equally divided between the winning entrants.
- Only one entry per week per person. The contest is open to all except employees of the Times-News and their immediate families.
- Contest entrants are eligible to win only once. Superbowl contest (which will be in January) entrants are eligible regardless of previous participation.
- Entries must be in the Times-News office not later than 5:00 P.M. next Friday or post marked no later than Friday 9 A.M. Address entries to Pick The Winner, P.O. Box 548, Twin Falls, Idaho 83301. (Reasonable facsimiles also accepted.)
