Yule trees aid Easter Seal

TWIN FALLS — Parents and volunteers of the Magic Valley Easter Seal Center are selling five Christmas trees they decorated to raise funds. The trees will be sold during the Christmas Tree Jubilee in Pocatello Thursday through Saturday. Merle Stoddard, director of the center, said the trees and all decorations were either donated or handmade by volunteers to help handicapped children. The trees include a potted live pine, artificial trees, and fresh cut trees in various sizes. Volunteers at the center made tree ornaments ranging from calico and red ribbon bows to leaded glass figures, stuffed toy ornaments and glass and plastic items. The Christmas Tree Jubilee will be held in Pocatello's Mt. Dome and will feature many decorated Christmas trees, cooked foods and other sales items plus special entertainment. Donating trees, lights and decorations to the Twin Falls center were Ernst Home Center, The Homestead, Kimberly Nursery, Kings Department Store of Twin Falls and Jerome, Penny-Wise Hallmark, Wulfrich Nursery, Jerome Floral, Magic Valley Art Guild and Beta Sigma Phi.

Canada breaks grain embargo

CALGARY, Alberta (UPI) — The Canadian grain embargo of the Soviet Union to protest the invasion of Afghanistan ended Friday with the announcement of a 2.1 million ton sale of grain. Senator Hazen Argue, the cabinet minister responsible for grain exports, said the new agreement would raise total grain sales to the Soviet Union in the 1979-80 crop year to 5.9 million tons, the highest in Canadian history. The agreement, pushing Canadian exports 500,000 tons above their previous record sales, will again make Canada the Soviet Union's largest grain supplier.

Argue said normal grain sales were resumed because Canada fell behind other exporters' sales under the embargo. Canada will adopt other measures to protest the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan. "We're not out to embarrass the Americans and embarrass their policy," he said. The United States initiated the grain embargo to protest the Soviet move in Afghanistan. "Exports to the Soviet Union in this crop year will increase over last year's level, but Canadian shipments will not go beyond levels which would have been exported in the absence of the partial embargo," Argue said.

Argue said Canada's initial sale of 2.8 million tons under the partial embargo had dropped Canada to fourth from first position as a grain supplier to the Soviet Union. There were fears Canadian farmers were suffering more than American farmers under the embargo. Under the new sales agreement, shipments worth about $380 million of wheat and barley will begin leaving eastern and western Canadian ports in January. Those shipments will continue until the end of the crop year. "It's a major accomplishment — this is a substantial increase over our previous highest sale," Argue said.

Earthquake rolls through Sierras

No injuries or damage reported in mountains

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — A strong earthquake rocked the mountains of the high Sierra Friday with a sickening, rolling motion felt from the gantling tables of Reno to the Pacific Coast. Seismologists at the University of California in Berkeley said the wide-rippling quake measured between 4.75 and 5.1 on the Richter scale. They said it was centered near Soda Springs, a ski spa in the Donner Pass region of the Sierra and near Interstate 80, the mountain freeway linking Northern California and Nevada.

Residents and gamblers in Reno said the quake came with a dizzying roll and had a nauseating effect. There were no reports of injuries or structural damage, but residents in the quake zone said buildings shook, furniture vibrated and goods toppled from shelves. Officials at a state agricultural inspection station on Interstate 80 near the epicenter said there was no apparent damage to the highway.

At the Royal Gorge recreation area office about a mile from the epicenter, office manager Barbara Brill said she felt two quakes, a smaller one coming about an hour before the other hit with great force.

"There was a very large rumble. It was noisy and it felt like a concussion. I could feel a rumbling and a rolling. It was like a shucking kind of a blow. We're sitting on top of all this granite up here," Ms. Brill said. "I don't like San Francisco and I'm sure it unches."

Frances Wiesel, assistant director of the Royal Gorge facility said when the first, smaller jolts were felt. "We thought it was dynamite because it was sort of a loud noise. We didn't get much of a shaking sensation."

"And then the bigger one came. It knocked over a few things — some boxes of wax were knocked off shelves. It was scary and we got outside. And there were people across the road and they all came outside.

"Some guys were standing on the Lake Van Norden dam and all of a sudden the dust started coming up and the earth started moving," Ms. Wiesel said.

Gamblers in the Reno casinos felt the jolt and said the place "shook like heck," but they kept playing. Mike Curtis, of Harrah's in Reno said occupants of the upper floors of the tower hotel felt the building roll but there was no panic.

Curtis said he was on the 12th floor and the swaying made him sick.

"It really got to your stomach," Curtis said. "People stood around with their mouths open."

The quake was felt at Willows and other California valley cities, and by some residents of the San Francisco Bay Area, 250 miles away on the Pacific coast.

Italy quake toll may be 10,000

NAPLES, Italy (UPI) — Rain, snow and strong winds whipped southern Italy Friday, making a mess of relief efforts and forcing many of the 250,000 homeless survivors of the earthquake to flee their cities.

One official predicted the death toll, still being counted days after the quake, would surpass 10,000.

The official toll still stood at 3,100 dead and 8,000 injured but relief coordinators said the death toll in dozens of towns and villages were still buried beneath the rubble and yet to be counted.

"Almost with disbelief, rescuers who had given up hope of finding more survivors, pulled two young nurses and a 4-month-old baby from the ruins of Sant'Angelo dei Lombardi. They had been trapped without food or water for 108 hours, officials in the town said.

The national radio reported two more survivors were found in other towns, including a pregnant woman in Lioni.

Relief efforts were stepped up with the help of U.S. Air Force helicopters that ferried in food, blankets and medicine. The mountainous 16,000-square-mile region affected by Sunday's quake.

But relief efforts were hampered even further by the weather, which brought still greater hardships to the survivors. After two days of thunderstorms, temperatures dropped and rain turned to snow in many areas.

The winds also increased and forced several thousand refugees to evacuate some of the tent cities set up to house them. Dirt mountain roads turned into a mud and slush.

Refugees in all the tent cities said they lacked food, sanitary facilities and blankets.

Some 150 towns and villages east and south of Naples were either destroyed or badly damaged by the quake.

Holding out little hope of finding more survivors, relief officials said the main concern now was to provide housing for the homeless and prevent the spread of disease from decomposing bodies.

Wearing gas masks, army troops and health workers began the massive task of spraying towns and villages with formaldehyde to disinfect and retard the decomposition of corpses buried beneath the ruins.

"The extent of the disaster is such that we need enormous amounts of disinfectants," said Gen. Mario Sini, overall coordinator of public health operations in the earthquake zone.

"The measures that we are carrying out are preventive. So far there has been absolutely no actual evidence of disease," said Sini.

The army also set up five major medical centers in the disaster area.

Cabinet

Simon and Shultz won't serve with Reagan

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — President-elect Ronald Reagan said Friday former Treasury Secretary William Simon definitely does not want to be considered for a Cabinet post and George Shultz probably does not want a job either.

Reagan, returning from a Thanksgiving Day holiday at his Santa Barbara ranch, told reporters at the Santa Monica airport he spoke with Simon directly and got the word about Shultz indirectly from friends.

The president-elect said he was not disappointed by the decision of either man, though he had considered both for top jobs and both are experienced government officials.

"What you ought to seek," he said, "is a kind of healthy mix" between experienced and new people. "I don't think we're going to have any problem" filling positions, he added.

Both Simon and Shultz advised Reagan on economic policy in the campaign and during the transition, and both had been widely rumored in line for top Cabinet posts — Simon most likely for treasury secretary and Shultz for secretary of state.

Simon, a partner in a New York investment firm, had given no hint of his disinterest in a Cabinet job before Thursday when the first reports surfaced that he might not want a job.

"Bill Simon was very definitely a prospect in my mind for a post," Reagan said Friday, adding that he spoke with Simon by telephone.

Simon told UPI Friday his desire not to join his family was one factor in his decision. There were others, however.

There was a "general reluctance from the beginning" to go back to Washington, said Simon. And he was bitter about a published report that "nearly all" of the seven Republican men present at a recent caucus had expressed to Edwin Meese, Reagan's top lieutenant, their reservations about Simon's alleged abrasiveness.

"Imagine those hypocrites," Simon said. "Isn't that what a Cabinet officer is supposed to do, push his president's programs?"

"The hypocrisy of Republican senators making statements like this absolutely slays me," Simon said. "They're concerned about it is their own interest, not what's good for the country. It's this type of thing that makes it so hard to get anything done in a substantive way."

Sources told UPI that Gerald Ford argued strongly against Simon, who headed the treasury during Ford's 2 1/2-year administration. "Ford was really shooting Simon down," said the source. He said Ford told Reagan Simon had abrasive dealings with other Cabinet secretaries.

As for Shultz, Reagan said he will "check with him," even though he has been told by Shultz "that the former treasury and labor secretary is not interested in leaving his post as vice president of the Bechtel Corp., a multi-national engineering firm. "I can understand that," Reagan said.

"He (Shultz) certainly was under consideration for several positions and I have been hearing for some time he feels he doesn't want this."

Some officials have said Shultz might run into conflicts as secretary of state since Bechtel deals with a number of Arab states.

Reagan declined to discuss other names, but indicated the selection process is not over. "I have some firm leanings in certain directions, but I'm still willing to hear cases that anyone wants to make for others," he said.

Asked whether he made any phone calls during the afternoon to potential appointees, he said, "No."

Woman charged with murder, assault

Idaho couple hurt in Reno driver's rampage

RENO, Nev., (UPI) — Two Emmett, Idaho, residents were among those seriously injured Thursday by a woman who drove her car down a crowded Reno sidewalk, killing five persons and injuring 27 others.

Bob Haun, 44, Emmett, was listed in critical condition today and Shirley Haun, 45, Emmett, was placed on the serious list.

Priscilla Ford, 51, a gift wrapper, was arrested Thursday after her Lincoln sedan roared onto the sidewalk, fronting some casinos and bowled over pedestrians. Police said 26 were injured, eight seriously.

Mrs. Ford was taken to a hospital for tests, then jailed under $500,000 bond. She was arraigned in Justice Court under tight security on five counts of murder, 25 of attempted murder and 26 of battery with a deadly weapon.

Justice Richard Minor read a 40-page complaint. District Attorney Calvin Duntap said the complaint "contains allegations — sufficient — for capital murder," punishable by death in the gas chamber. Police Lt. Dick Kirkland said she muttered vulgarity as she was led to the police station after her arrest. She refused to talk to a lawyer or make a statement.

Police sources said the tests indicated she had not been drinking. Neither Duntap nor police investigators would comment on reports she said she had heard voices telling her to kill and that she was "going to get these sons of bitches." They also declined comment on a report she bore a hatred for gamblers.

Police said the sidewalk rampage apparently was deliberate.

"It would be very difficult to believe this thing could have been an accident," Kirkland said. "Frightened pedestrians tried to jump from the sidewalk. Some were scooped up on the hood and windshield. One witness said victims were fished about 'like mannequins' as the car hurtled through the crowd.

Bodies, purses and debris filled a two-block strip through the casino center. Hundreds of curious onlookers crowded in, and there were reports some picked up purses and fled.

A fellow employee at Macy's described her as an "intelligent, sharp-nice person." She said Mrs. Ford left Reno seven years ago when her 11-year-old daughter was "kidnapped."

Mrs. Ford's store supervisor, Gloria Borden, said Mrs. Ford had worked in a private rest home for room and board for her and the daughter seven years ago. The woman who ran the rest home had her arrested for trespassing. As a result, juvenile authorities placed the daughter in a juvenile detention facility.

Mrs. Ford told fellow workers she left Reno shortly after the daughter was taken away and complained to fellow workers at Macy's that authorities had not helped find her daughter.

After leaving Reno, Mrs. Ford disappeared, but turned up several weeks ago in Maine. In Bangor, Arlene Robinson said Mrs. Ford was her neighbor until about two weeks ago. She said she had the same car as was involved in the Reno case. "She was very pleasant, very quiet and always had a smile," she said.

Iran ready to accept custody of hostages

By United Press International

An Iranian official said Friday preparations for the transfer of the 52 American hostages from the custody of the militants to the Tehran government were underway but first they must find a secure spot to hold them in "absolute safety."

The U.S. State Department said the transfer of the hostages to the custody of the Iranian government would be "a helpful step forward" but could not confirm if the move has already been made.

Citing "conflicting reports" that the militants who seized the hostages 391 days ago relinquished control of the Americans, spokesman John Tritlter said the State Department has made "inquiries through diplomatic channels."

He added, "We have no information on the whereabouts of the hostages or that the student militants have relinquished control of them. There are conflicting versions of this coming from Iran... but we don't have any information to confirm those reports one way or the other."

In London, Mohammad Hashemi Rafsanjani, Iran's deputy minister for agriculture and brother of the speaker of Iran's Parliament, said, "A decision was taken to take custody of the hostages from the students and preparations for this transfer can be noticed."

Rafsanjani, touring Europe trying to win support for Iran in its war with Iraq, carefully avoided reference to the U.S. Embassy, from where the hostages were reported moved after the abortive American rescue attempt last April and then reported returned to the compound after the outbreak of the Iran-Iraq war.

Rafsanjani, who spoke in his native Farsi, was pressed to specify the "preparations" for the transfer. He said, "The preparations mean that the government really must provide for a secure place for the hostages, where they may remain in absolute safety just as over the past year."

His interpreter explained, "A suitable accommodation has to be found for these people so that, from the very beginning they were kept in a safe and comfortable place, the same policy must continue."

Asked to pinpoint location of the hostages, Rafsanjani said, "I unfortunately cannot discuss this to you because there is fear that America itself may cause problems for these hostages and blame it on the Iranians and create conditions for spies."

An Iranian government spokesman told UPI Thursday by telephone from Tehran that the government has taken custody of both hostages and the U.S. Embassy seized by Islamic militants Nov. 4, 1979.

The hostages "are no longer in the hands of the students," the official said, adding that the present whereabouts of the captives was secret.

In an early November, shortly before the U.S. election, the militants said they would hand over the hostages to the Iranian government. But the transfer was delayed as Iran's parliament awaited the U.S. response to its four demands for freeing the captives.

Tritlter said the United States was "concerned... but not anxious" about the current situation. He stressed, "A turnover of the hostages to the government's control would be a helpful step forward... because that would be a step in the direction of their ultimate release."

Two of the three Algerian diplomats who met with U.S. officials this week to negotiate the release of the hostages already have left Washington. Tritlter said there were no "present plans" for Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher to make another trip to Algeria, which is acting as go-between at Iran's request.

"The next step is for us to work on the requested clarification of certain aspects of our response to the (Iranian) proposals for freeing the hostages."

He said the U.S. answer to the latest Iranian request might be ready within two to four days but it had not yet been decided how the U.S. response would be sent.

Three of the 52 American hostages have been under control of the Iranian government throughout the crisis. They are charge d'affaires Bruce Laingen, the top U.S. diplomat in Iran, and two of his aides who were in the Foreign Ministry when the embassy was seized.

Kidnapped Salvador leaders die

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — The kidnapping of seven top leftist leaders and the torture slaying of five of them raised fears Friday of leftist reprisals in El Salvador.

The U.S.-backed ruling junta, besieged by right- and left-wing terrorism, put its 22,000-man armed forces on alert.

Salvadoran church officials said 180 men in military uniforms and in plain clothes raided the Jesuit-run high school Thursday and kidnapped 20 to 24 people, including seven top leaders of the Democratic Revolutionary Front, a powerful coalition of 18 leftist organizations.

Five bodies were found late Thursday and early Friday — Front President Enrique Alvarez Cordova, Popular Revolutionary Bloc leader Juan Chacon, Manuel Franco of the Communist National Democratic Union, Enrique Barrera of the Christian Socialist Party and Humberto Mendoza of the Popular Liberation Movement.

The five victims showed signs of torture and strangulation before they were shot, witnesses said. Cordoba's left arm was cut off.

The murders were claimed by the Maximiliano Hernandez Brigade, an ultrarightist "death squad" named after a Salvadoran president who killed 30,000 peasants to put down a 1932 uprising.

The Catholic Church has blamed the right-wing "death squads" for 80 percent of the 9,000 political slayings reported in El Salvador since the start of the year and accused the junta of covertly backing them.

Saturday briefing

Anderson may run in 1984

CHICAGO (UPI) — Rep. John Anderson said Friday he is considering forming a political organization to help him make another try for the presidency in 1984.

Anderson, who won more than 6 percent of the vote as an independent presidential candidate Nov. 4, said he has made no plans for the future but probably will go into private law practices once his term as a representative from Illinois expires Jan. 3.

During a taping of a television interview on WTTW's "Kup's Show," Anderson refused to discuss the coming Reagan administration, saying he would like to know President-elect Ronald Reagan's Cabinet appointments before making any comment.

Boy shot at stoplight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Police searched Friday for the killer of a 15-year-old youth who was shot point-blank as he sat in a pickup truck at an intersection on Thanksgiving day.

Police said they had no motive for the killing. The youth was shot by the driver of a car that pulled alongside the truck while it was stopped at a traffic light.

The victim, David Seaton, 15, of Prince George's County in Maryland, was a passenger in the truck being driven by Ernest L. Rich, Jr. The two were on an errand when the shooting occurred.

Heath attacks own leader

LONDON (UPI) — Former Prime Minister Edward Heath sparked an angry uproar in Britain's governing Conservative Party by publicly attacking the tough anti-inflation policies of Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, who ousted him from party leadership five years ago.

Lashing out Thursday evening in a House of Commons debate on the government's economic policies, Heath said there is "very, very great danger" that the Conservatives will be branded "the party of unemployment."

Britain's current jobless total is 2,163,000 — more than 8.9 percent of the nation's work force.

Political commentators said it is almost unprecedented for a former British prime minister to attack his successor as leader of the same political party.

Soviets link with spacelab

MOSCOW (UPI) — A space capsule carrying the Soviet Union's first three-man crew in nine years may be computer-aided docking with the Salyut orbiting laboratory Friday, the Tass news agency said.

All systems functioned normally and the cosmonauts were feeling well, Tass said.

It was the first time three Soviets have been sent into orbit since a fatal flight nine years ago.

Latin Americans meet to create energy plan

BOGOTÁ, Colombia (UPI) — Representatives of 23 Latin American countries met in Bogota Friday to discuss common energy problems and a plan to seek OPEC help for oil-poor nations of the region.

Colombian Foreign Minister Diego Uribe opened the 11th Ministerial Conference of the Latin American Energy Organization with a speech calling on strong Latin American nations to join weaker ones in addressing the rest of the world.

"We need a clear, firm voice speaking on our behalf in the north-south dialogue" between industrial countries and underdeveloped nations, Uribe said.

The main business of the two-day conference was to discuss a proposal for a Latin American appeal to the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to help develop the area's energy potential.

Energy ministers Jose Andres Oleyza of Mexico and Humberto Calderon of Venezuela announced a joint Mexican-Venezuelan plan to help Central American nations dependent on oil imports for their energy needs.

Calderon said some of the region's nations have a potential for hydroelectric power and others could develop thermal power from volcanoes, while others have the possibility of producing petroleum.

Muskie will visit Mexico

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Edmund Muskie pays a one-day official visit to Mexico City Saturday to review America's increasingly important relations with the emerging energy giant.

Muskie will meet with Mexican foreign minister Jose Castaneda to discuss the sale of oil and natural gas, problems of illegal aliens and the growing trade between the two countries, estimated at $29 billion annually.

Mexico now ranks in Saudi Arabia's class in energy, with proven oil and gas reserves of 60 billion barrels and a potential of 250 billion.

In 1979, the United States bought 60 percent of Mexico's oil exports and negotiated a major natural gas sales agreement with the government of President Jose Lopez Portillo.

Robert Krueger is serving as President Carter's special ambassador for relations with Mexico, a new post set up to constantly monitor relations between the two countries. His job is to be sure "raw spots don't become rawer."

Krueger's first priority was negotiating a long-term contract with Mexico in which the United States buys 300 million cubic feet of natural gas a day.

Krueger said relations between the two neighbors have been growing in importance for years.

"Oil has changed Mexico's self-conception," he said. "But even if that oil had not been found, the USA would have focused more on Mexico because we are looking more to this hemisphere for raw materials rather than further afield. Events in the hemisphere will force us to."

Reagan chooses to ride, not walk in inaugural parade

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ronald Reagan will stick with tradition and ride — instead of walking like President Carter did — from Capitol Hill to the White House after his inauguration on an aide's Ford limousine.

On the bitterly cold inauguration day in 1977, Carter and his family stepped out of a government limousine and strolled down Pennsylvania Avenue to their new home.

Most of Carter's predecessors rode — either in a car or carriage.

Reagan, 69, will return to that longstanding tradition Jan. 20. "He intends to ride," said inaugural aide John Roberts, adding with a smile, "He will not ride a horse."

In a break from the past, however, the Reagan inaugural parade, with floats and bands representing the nation's 50 states, is scheduled to last only one hour. Roberts said his research shows earlier inaugural parades have run as long as two to three hours and "We don't want people standing out in the cold too long."

The Carter parade, most of which he watched from a solar-heated reviewing stand, lasted three hours.

The theme for the Reagan inauguration, "America — A New Beginning," was selected by the president-elect "as being representative of the spirit of his administration," Roberts said.

An estimated 5,000 people, including volunteers, will be working on the inaugural events between now and Jan. 21, Roberts said and "We'll be working six days a week to get the job done."

The committee plans for an Inauguration Day crowd of between 250,000 and 1 million.

Most brushfires contained

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (UPI) — Firefighters held the line against a home-threatening flareup of the giant Panorama brush fire Friday but fell victim to other foes — flu, colds and smoke inhalation.

The number of homes damaged and destroyed was pared down in late estimates, but dollar and injury figures jumped.

A total of 280 homes have been destroyed in three of the seven Southern California fires, officials said, with a total estimated damage cost of $28.3 million.

A runaway flareup of the Panorama brush fire shot down a canyon before dawn Friday, threatening a quiet suburban neighborhood in Devore Heights north of San Bernardino. Firefighters drove fire engines into driveways to battle the flames in a house-by-house defense.

Great C-130 planes, each carrying 3,000 gallons of chemical retardant, bombed the forward lines of the fire as it moved from the canyons into residential areas.

"They're making one hell of a stand there," said Rick Conover of the U.S. Forest Service.

That battle was successful, a fire spokesman said. The vegetation around the homes was blackened, but the buildings stood.

But firefighters, paying the dues for managing the fires for most of the week, began falling from cold and influenza symptoms.

Los Angeles County Health Board epidemiologist Dr. Shirley Fannin said it could be colds and flu brought on by fatigue or it could be the effects of smoke, or "a combination of the two."

A total of 1,294 injuries were reported, most of them minor, but 36 were treated at hospitals for broken bones, burns, and a few bee-stings.

The Panorama fire was the only remaining serious threat from the brush fires that have killed four people this week and blackened more than 83,000 acres.

Fires in other areas destroyed more buildings but the final count was not completed.

President Carter declared San Bernardino, Los Angeles, Orange and Riverside counties disaster areas, making residents eligible for 3 percent interest loans to rebuild their homes.

Firemen carry victim of 5-alarm fire from burning apartment

Holiday traffic deaths pass 200

By United Press International

Snow, ice and sleet created Thanksgiving weekend nightmares for millions of motorists across the nation Friday and the death toll for the long holiday weekend — the first of the foul weather season — edged steadily upward.

The National Safety Council estimated traffic deaths between 6 p.m. local-time Wednesday and midnight Sunday could total 500 to 600. Last year, 475 people were killed in Thanksgiving weekend traffic accidents.

By evening Friday, about half-way through the 102-hour holiday, a United Press International count showed at least 200 people had been killed on the nation's highways.

California reported 26 traffic fatalities, followed by Texas with 14, Michigan with 11, New York and Ohio with nine each, and Florida, Illinois and Missouri with eight each.

Authorities said snow and ice that swept over the midlands and into the East Wednesday and Thursday made trips to family reunions, parades and football games deadly.

And forecasters said another storm mounting in the West should arrive in the mountains and, perhaps, the Plains in time to make travel miserable and dangerous for homeward bound motorists.

Flames roar from apartment in which 2 died

Arsonist torches apartment, two die in inferno

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A five-alarm fire roared through a four-story apartment in the Polk Street District early Friday, killing two people and injuring six others.

Moments after the start of the blaze a passing scavenger saw a man running from the building and his tip led investigators to arrest John Sheehan, 30, on arson charges.

Firemen said Ping Yui, 56, leaped to his death from a four-floor apartment window to escape the flames. The body of a woman was found later in a hallway in her third-floor apartment.

About 150 firemen responded to the apartment blaze at 4:17 a.m. Another 120 men were pressed into service to battle the warehouse fire.

Fire Chief Andrew Casper said the apartment blaze started in a stairway where firemen smelled "a flammable liquid."

Fire Capt. Bill Cochran said the fire was similar to a suspicious one in a nearby apartment building three weeks ago. "The fire was in the lobby just like the other one," he said of the earlier five-alarm. "It was the same basic M.O. (modus operandi). ... The fire was so intense down low that we couldn't get up (in the building)."

When the first firemen arrived, they found "people hanging out all over the place," Cochran said.

Firemen helped some to safety over their ladders. Lee Blair, 20, a passerby, ran into the building and rescued George Carter, the apartment manager, and his wife. He also alerted other residents. Ray Ryan, 81, a resident, pulled his wife and another woman from the flaming building.

Bailout may be needed to clean up TMI

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Chrysler-style bailout or a tax on atomic power are options for keeping the Three Mile Island utility solvent while it cleans up its stricken reactor, a Nuclear Regulatory Commission report said Friday.

The staff report called for close monitoring of the utility's financial situation and said the cleanup must be completed "regardless of whether the facility is returned to operation or decommissioned."

It listed several steps that might be taken to prevent bankruptcy or to find an outside source of financing for the cleanup, which the staff estimated will cost $300 million.

The Three Mile Island 2 unit, damaged in a 1979 accident, is insured for $300 million. Several factors, including NRC refusal to let a sister unit restart, have sapped the utility's cash flow.

Metropolitan Edison and its parent firm, General Public Utilities, lost all return on their investment in both plants, which were stricken from its rate base. Banks slashed Met Ed's vital credit line and state regulators ruled the government or stockholders may be liable for the cleanup.

power from all U.S. commercial reactors, the report said. The report also raised the idea of a federal loan guarantee for Met Ed, and in doing so included the text of Congress' 1979 Chrysler bailout law.

Predictions

Weather Service issues national forecast for rest of winter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The eastern half of the nation will be drier than normal the winter and most of the West will be warmer, the National Weather Service predicted Friday.

Those of the winters of 1970 and 1969. He stressed, however, that the accuracy rate of the prediction is 65 percent. The accuracy rate for the precipitation forecast — drier than normal — is 55 percent, he said.

"Areas of the Northeast accustomed to having a great deal of snow may have less," he said, but other portions of the East could get more snow than usual, despite the forecast for less precipitation, because "more of what falls would be snow."

Coca-Cola appeals rat-in-bottle lawsuit

SULPHUR, Okla. (UPI) — Oklahoma Coca-Cola Bottling Co. is appealing a court ruling that the company pay $125,065 in damages to a man who said he found a rat in a Coke he had been drinking.

television station in Ardmore produced jurors by making video of the trial began. A state court judge conferring with District Judge W.R. Fulton.

Smoke killed most MGM fire victims

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Toxicology studies released Friday show all but eight victims of the MGM Grand Hotel fire died from carbon monoxide poisoning.

percent, Green said. Green was one of several representatives from the Emergency Medical Services system present at a news conference Friday to recap the events of the fire.

Jurors last week recommended the Oklahoma City-based bottling company pay damages to James Jackson, 53, for medical expenses and mental and physical suffering.

Brad Gibson, a reporter and photographer for KXII-TV, said he made a five-second videotape of jurors in the jury box before the trial began. Gibson said a motion picture was shown through open courtroom doors.

Small quantities of cyanide also were found, but not in significant quantities, the studies indicated. "Cyanides are produced when a variety of plastics are burned," Green said.

Dr. Otto Ravenholol, head of the County Health District, said many victims were found face-down in front of elevators and near stairwells. "The time it took them to get through the hallways apparently was longer exposure than they could tolerate," he said.

Texaco works to prevent pollution on drained lake

JEFFERSON ISLAND, La. (UPI) — Texaco stretched a semicircular oil containment boom Friday to prevent pollution from a bubbling natural gas well at Lake Peigneur, where a salt mine cave-in sucked in tons of water last week.

"Texaco was worried that when it finally extinguished itself or was extinguished there would be some petroleum pollution. We have not discovered any petroleum pollution at all."

Residents of the 15 homes on Jefferson Island, who were evacuated as the land caved in Nov. 20, returned to their homes briefly on Thanksgiving, but were forced out almost immediately by a lack of water, gas and electric service.

The agency will maintain its seismic monitors until at least Dec. 5, O'Gorman said. He said the monitoring has shown "no significant earth shifts at all" during the past few days.

Woman found shot on boat

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Homicide detectives searched Friday for clues in the mysterious slaying of a woman who died of death in the family's cabin cruiser.

Investigators said there were no indications of anything missing from the boat, or Mrs. Nesbitt's purse, which had been rummaged through.

The City Council in their Council meeting of November 17, 1980, passed a resolution requesting the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to delay the approval of an application which would eventually direct Christian Church Homes of Idaho, Inc. to build 60 units of housing for low income Senior Citizens and handicapped persons.

The City Council in the same resolution requested the Community Development Director, LaMar Orton, to review and update the Housing Assistance Plan (HAP) that was established in 1978 to determine if the HAP should be decreased, left as is, or increased.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH HOMES OF IDAHO, INC. IN AN EFFORT TO BE OF ASSISTANCE TO THE COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT DIRECTOR, WISHES TO REQUEST ALL OF THOSE INTERESTED IN THIS TYPE OF HOUSING AND CARE PROGRAM TO MAKE THEIR INTEREST KNOWN BY DIRECTING A LETTER TO CHRISTIAN CHURCH HOMES OF IDAHO, INC., 872 MOUNTAIN VIEW DRIVE, TWIN FALLS, IDAHO 83301.

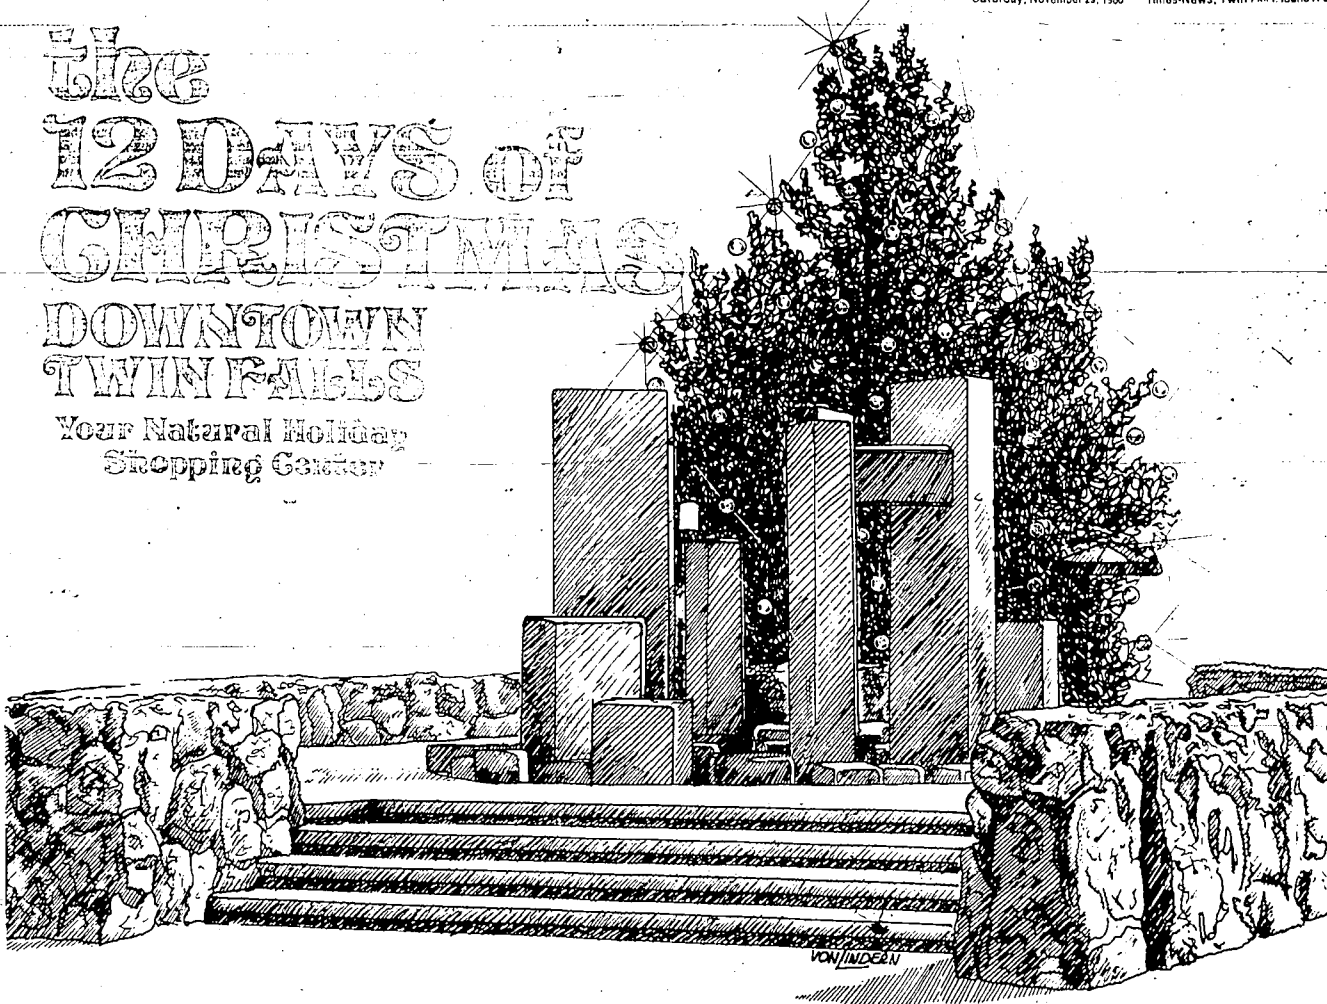

To comply with the contract under which Christian Church Homes of Idaho, Inc. has with HUD, we must state that any letters we receive can in no way be interpreted to be an invitation to make application for residency. At the proper time, not to exceed 120 days, prior to our opening, we will advertise for applications which will specifically request applications from all ethnic and religious oriented persons.

Murder Inc. gangster found guilty

LONDON (UPI) — The second member of a Murder Inc. gang charged with dismembering and burning its victims was found guilty Friday of four killings and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Henry Mackenney, a firearms expert known as Big H because of his height of 6 feet 5 inches, and a half, stood in the dock at the Old Bailey as the verdict was read. But he broke down later and was dragged screaming from the court.

"This is one of the most macabre cases ever heard even in this famous building," said the judge before passing sentence.

A unanimous decision of 10 men and two women found the Mackenney, 48, guilty of murdering four people, including his girl friend's husband and a 18-year-old boy. He was acquitted of two more murders.

Another member of the gang, John Henry

Childs, a 41-year-old underworld contract killer, had confessed to taking part in all six murders for fees ranging from $4,800 to $24,000. He was sentenced last year to life imprisonment.

Mackenney and two others were implicated by Childs in what became known as the "Teddy Bear Murders" because three of the victims were killed in a teddy bear factory and the boy was given a teddy bear before he was shot through the head.

Child thrown from window

CHICAGO (UPI) — A patient on holiday leave from a state mental health institution apparently threw a 6-year-old child from a fifth-floor window Friday, seriously injuring him, police said.

Policeman Gilbert Grimes said the child, Donald Jones, was hospitalized in serious condition with internal injuries.

Grimes said the boy apparently wandered into a bedroom occupied by Mary Jones, 21, not related to the youngster. Miss Jones was released from the Dixon Mental Health Center Wednesday for Thanksgiving and was due back Sunday, a spokesman said.

Miss Jones apparently became angered when she found the boy playing with her dolls and barricaded herself in her room, Grimes said. When relatives broke into the room, they found the screen on an outside window pushed out and emergency vehicles downstairs administering first aid to the boy.

Policeman killed during bank holdup

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — An off-duty Newark police officer was shot to death Friday while trying to stop a bank robbery by three armed suspects at the Howard Savings Bank.

The officer, identified as John Gottfried, 39, was dead on arrival at College Hospital of multiple gunshot wounds.

Newark police said the three armed suspects, two men and possibly a woman, fled on foot following the 1 p.m. shootout.

The person who shot the officer was described as male, about 24, and armed with a handgun and the officer's service revolver.

A second suspect was described as male in his late teens or early 20s, also armed with a handgun. The third, believed to be a teenager, was dressed as a male, though police believe it may have been a female.

The three burst into the bank branch at Raymond Boulevard and University Avenue while Gottfried was inside conducting personal bank business. They ordered everyone to get down to the floor.

Gottfried fell to the floor with the other bank patrons and employees and fired a shot from his service revolver. The oldest male suspect then returned fire nine times, hitting Gottfried in the face, head, back and chest.

Nish Patel, an assistant administrator at the hospital, said Gottfried was shot "between seven and nine" times.

"He had a lot of bullet wounds all over the body," Patel said.

1 Atlanta youth may not be dead

ATLANTA (UPI) — Police say 10-year-old Darron Glass, one of 15 Atlanta black children reported missing or found slain, may have tried to contact his foster parents in recent weeks.

Public Safety Commissioner Lee Brown said Friday police are "optimistic" young Glass, last seen Sept. 14, may have been the person who called the foster parents, and then hung up.

"We are hoping it is him and we are investigating that possibility. We're optimistic and hopeful that he is calling."

His foster parents said the boy had run away before but was never gone for an extended time.

Meanwhile, investigators looking into the disappearances and slayings said laboratory tests conducted on a bloody windbreaker and T-shirt that were found during a search for the children established the stains were not from human blood.

Officials said neither of the articles is now believed connected with the crimes.

Judge rules key letter may be kept

NEW YORK (UPI) — A judge ruled Friday that Jean Harris, charged with killing "Scarlete Diet" author Dr. Herman Tarnower, need not turn over to prosecutors a letter she wrote hours before the killing.

Justice James Hopkins signed a temporary restraining order and a show cause order, ruling that the requirement for Mrs. Harris to turn over the letter was a violation of her constitutional rights.

Mrs. Harris wrote the letter to Tarnower hours before she drove to the doctor's estate on March 10. She told police she went to Tarnower's house with a .32-caliber revolver to have him kill her because she was tired of his affairs with other women. She said they struggled over the gun and she did not remember who had control of it when Tarnower was shot four times.

Only Mrs. Harris — a native of Shaker Heights, Ohio — Arnou and several of his law assistants know the contents of the 10-page letter, which Arnou has kept in his breast pocket during the trial.

Arnou retrieved it from the Scarsdale post office minutes before the Westchester County district attorney's investigators arrived with a warrant for it.

The district attorney sought, but failed, to have Arnou testify before a grand jury about the contents of the letter.

Prosecutors previously sought unsuccessfully to obtain the letter, which they said would give the prosecution insight into Mrs. Harris' "state of mind" on the night of the killing.

Thanksgiving miracle recovers voice of mute

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — A cerebral palsy victim who was mute for 18 years is suddenly able to speak and officials at the Home for Incubables Friday called it "our Thanksgiving miracle."

Doctors believed Lloyd Jeffries, 34, suffered from a paralyzed larynx and would never be able to speak. But on Thursday morning, when he awoke, he soon discovered he could make more than the crowing noise that had been his only utterance for more than half his life.

"The nurse came in and spoke to him," said Mrs. Betty

Dozier, director of nursing at the home. "He started to make his crowing sound and it came out: 'Good morning.'"

Mrs. Dozier said the first thing the excited man wanted to do was call his mother.

"I was making a glass of tea Thanksgiving morning," said Mary Lou Jeffries, his mother. "The phone rang and a voice said, 'Happy Thanksgiving, mother.'"

"It said, 'This is some kind of trick.'"

"It's me," said Jeffries. "I can talk again."

Norma Goforth, administrative secretary for the home, said doctors have not found a medical explanation for Jeffries' sudden recovery.

"They said he'd never be able to talk," she said. "They were wrong. As far as we're concerned, it's our Thanksgiving miracle."

Mrs. Jeffries added, "I was always a believer in God — but now I'm really a true believer."

Mrs. Goforth said Jeffries has been talking almost non-stop since he discovered he was no longer mute.

Broken back cured by Russians

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — A union official Friday hailed Russian medical techniques for his successful treatment in Leningrad of an injured spinal chord after U. S. doctors had told him "we've done the best we could."

James Duffy, 34, of Harrisburg, a $29,000-a-year assistant to the executive director for Council 13 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees union, said he returned from Leningrad this week "in time for a very special Thanksgiving."

He said his two trips to Russia had been discouraged by a high U. S. medical official.

Duffy confirmed a Tass news agency report that after two courses of treatment at Polenov Neurological Institute he is "back at work, driving, walking, swimming crawl-style and dreaming of increasing his swimming distance to a mile."

Duffy also corroborated Tass' report that U.S. doctors had told him "we've done the best we could."

He also endorsed the Tass report quoting him as saying, "It is much easier for the patient to recover when he is treated by doctors who are sincerely interested in his recovery."

Duffy said his medical nightmare began while he was director of AFSCME's northwestern Pennsylvania Council 85 in Franklin, Pa. He said his injury occurred when the car in which he was riding rammed into a house after the driver fell asleep at the wheel.

"I was taken to Franklin Hospital where they didn't discover that I had a neurological deficit that I was becoming increasingly paralyzed — for about eight hours," Duffy said.

"Their first X-rays showed I didn't have a broken neck, but I had a broken neck after I got out of the hospital."

Duffy said the cost of his trips to Leningrad "were paid by the generosity of the Russian Institution Workers Union through the efforts of Dr. Ernest DeMaio, representative to the United Nations for the World Federation of Trade Unions."

Duffy said the cost of his trips to Leningrad "were paid by the generosity of the Russian Institution Workers Union through the efforts of Dr. Ernest DeMaio, representative to the United Nations for the World Federation of Trade Unions."

He said his interest in Russian treatment was stirred by a news dispatch about treatment at Polenov Institute of Texas Christian football player Kent Waldrep, but first checks with U. S. medical authorities were discouraging.

"I called Dr. Murray Goldstein, deputy director of the National Institutes of Health, the man in charge of U. S. research in spinal chord disorders," Duffy said. "I asked him about the Russians' use of hyperbaric oxygen treatments and enzyme treatments."

"He told me the Russians were not accepting any patients over there and said 'they're not doing anything different.'"

Dr. Goldstein told me that hyperbaric oxygen treatments had been tried at Duke University and produced no positive results.

"But when I called Dr. Herbert Salzman, Duke's chief researcher, he told me they had found hyperbaric treatments useful and had suspended tests for lack of funding and fear of medical liability because of uncertain limits on dosage."

Duffy said the Russians "put me in a one-person oxygen chamber and applied up to 2.8 atmospheres of oxygen at first."

"My improvement," said Duffy, "was so good that the Erie Insurance Exchange has continued to pay for the treatment at lower levels in the U.S., even though it is not recognized as treatment for chronic spinal chord injury."

Duffy said a Veterans Administration official, Dr. Immanuel Marinero, recently led a medical team to Leningrad and as a result the VA has started hyperbaric oxygen experiments.

Impotence may be sign of diabetes

CHICAGO (UPI) — Impotence could be an early symptom of diabetes, researchers have found.

"When a man complains of impotence, diabetes must be considered as a possible cause," said Stanley Deutsch, of the medical faculty of the State University of New York at Stony Brook.

Treatment of the diabetes — even when it successfully controls the disease — will not necessarily restore sexual function.

"Instead, what is now stressed is the occurrence of impotence as the initial clinical manifestation of diabetes."

THC shown to aid victims of cancer

CHICAGO (UPI) — Researchers have discovered new evidence that the active ingredient in marijuana — the one that gets pot-smokers "high" — helps relieve nausea in cancer patients undergoing chemotherapy.

The medication also gives the cancer patients a "high" similar to the one induced by smoking pot, though the patients get the drug in capsule form, researchers said.

Nausea is a serious problem for patients receiving strong anti-cancer drugs. The drugs often cause such severe nausea it is difficult to continue the therapy.

JUMBO HUSTLERS

Elephants rank second in intelligence to chimps, according to Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey trainer Axel Gautier. Sometimes, they even outsmart people. "They are very mischievous and great practical jokers; they may even fake sickness if they don't feel like working," Gautier says. After 20 years of working with pachyderms, however, Gautier is quite capable of distinguishing between the real thing and just another elephant joke.

WHICH MAN WINS?

James Schoenecke, 47, thinks his friend did him wrong, and a jury believed the Rochester, Minn., bartender. The man, who is now 47, was the best man at his 1970 wedding. Schoenecke and his wife Nancy were divorced in 1976. Two years later, he married Melroy Romignon, 58. Schoenecke charged that Romignon, his former best man, had "emasculated" his marriage and facilitated the breakup by letting Mrs. Schoenecke move into his home and then lending her $1,000 to get a divorce. Romignon's appealing the decision.

... business trip

"the people around" the Beatles planned to kill her because they saw her relationship with John Lennon, 40, as a terrible threat. In an unusual interview in January's "Playboy," the publicity-hungry couple says the one 18-month break-up in their 13-year marriage occurred when she kicked Lennon out. "Rather than deal with problems in relationships, I've always moved on. That's why I'm one of the very few survivors as a woman."

WOMAN'S WORK

While Britain's Prince Charles spent Friday at Agra, India, site of the famous Taj Mahal, watching parachute jumpers — one of those grueling royal business trips — Lady Diana Spencer, the woman touted as the likely next Queen of England, was back home fending off yet another reporter's question. Lady Di told a British Press Association reporter that she would like to marry "soon." But she refused to confirm or deny that Charles had proposed to her.

Bette Davis will star in a 4-hour made-for-television movie on NBC next April in which her grandson, Ashley Hyman, will make his acting debut. Miss Davis will play the part of a strong-willed career woman who has to retire and return her energies toward rediscovering her family. The movie, "Family Reunion," will be filmed in New York City and Washington, D.C., and on Long Island. The plot also is serving as a pilot for a new, hour-long series.

Miss World crowned—again

AGANA, Guam (UPI) — Kimberley Santos was crowned Miss World in her island home of Guam Friday, heralded by conch shell trumpets and strumming guitars. A crowd of 5,000 Guamanians cheered the 19-year-old Queen-by-default as she was crowned by the 1978 Miss World, Mary Stavin, of Sweden.

Miss Santos was picked for the title because the first choice, Gabriella Brum of Germany, resigned almost immediately after her victory amid reports that she had been photographed in the nude by her American boyfriend.

Musicians blowing conch shells and strumming island love songs greeted Miss Santos as she arrived at the coronation site in a 60-foot catamaran, accompanied by a flotilla of canoes and motor boats.

She was whisked to a side room to "freshen up" before ascending the flower-laden and bejaped coronation pavilion.

"Though it is a win by default, I am still proud," Miss Santos told the crowd, which included flocks of Japanese tourists.

"I will do my best for you, the people of Guam. Wherever I travel I will tell the people to visit Guam because of you, the people, the most beautiful people in the world."

Miss Santos says she hopes to pursue a career in the travel industry, Guam's main source of income next to the U.S. Government.

'Spruce Goose' listed as landmark

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The "Spruce Goose," an unusual seaplane built by Howard Hughes but flown only once, was listed Friday as a national historic site and will begin a new life next year as a tourist attraction in Long Beach, Calif.

The listing of the 140-ton, eight-engine, propeller-driven aircraft in the national register of historic places was announced by Chris Therral Delaporte, director of the Interior Department's Heritage, Conservation and Recreation Service.

Officials of the agency, which seeks to identify and encourage preservation of historic sites, said the plane is expected to go on public display in June 1981.

Holiday season sparks German ads for mates

HAMBURG, West Germany (UPI) — All a lot of Germans want for Christmas is a husband or wife. Tens of thousands of male-wanted ads in newspapers and magazines prove it.

"Wanted for Christmas — a good man," pleaded a 60-year-old widow in a recent advertisement. She added the qualification: "No children, financially independent ... no living-together arrangement."

A cry for help came from across the ocean. "Christmas wish: a gentle woman to help keep my three daughters at home. My wife has left us. I am tired, blind, have blue eyes and teach for a living. I have a new house in New Jersey."

The hopeful lady behind "SOS. Another Christmas alone?" No thanks," described herself as 32, nice figure, divorced, cheerful, willing to live anywhere in the world.

On weekends all year round, West German newspapers devote a half to a page to such advertisements. In November, the volume doubles — a sure sign that Christmas is on the mind of singles.

The ads vary in tone from plaintive to tear-jerking, to come-hither, cheerful, or frivolous. Some are even aggressive.

An ad costs a minimum of $35, averages about $50 to $70, and can run as high as $200 to $250 for a two-column box in a big-city paper.

Women outnumber men two to one in mating calls. Many advertisers are their 30s, but often are ads from women in their 50s and 60s, trying a second time around due to divorce or death.

Men come in all ages, apparently less interested in a partner for themselves than a mother for their children.

Community protects rare albino squirrel population

OLNEY, Ill. (UPI) — Some say this community has the world's largest colony of white squirrels, and thanks to some tender loving care from townspeople and help from the weatherman, they may be holding their own.

John Stencil, a biology instructor at Olney Central College who organizes squirrel counts as a hobby, says this year's squirrel spotters sighted 134 of them in this Southern Illinois town of 9,200 residents.

"It shows the white squirrel count is stabilizing," said Stencil, who uses a computer to check on the population density of white squirrels in different sections of Olney.

The town is divided into 36 sections for the white squirrel count, which produced the same average count of 134 as recorded in 1979.

It ended a skid of 38 percent in the white squirrel population in three years.

Stencil is sure the counters did not see all the white squirrels in town. While city fathers estimate the white squirrel count at about 800, Stencil believes there are no more than half that number within the city limits, where they are protected by ordinance.

Stencil sees a mild winter in 1979-80 on the heels of several harsh ones as a principal stabilizing factor in the white squirrel population.

"We also noticed a reduction in the number of predators," said Stencil. "The dogcatcher caught more dogs than ever before."

"More citizens became interested in putting out bird feeders, and the Boy Scouts built a number of squirrel dens," said Stencil.

Many city vehicles bear white squirrel decals and most city employees wear white squirrel patches on their shoulder in honor of the albino squirrels which first showed up in town in 1902.

"I am optimistic about the future of white squirrels in Olney," said Stencil. "The latest count shows the population has stabilized, and it is important to hold the line."

SMU students live in condos

DALLAS (UPI) — For $2,333 a school year, a Southern Methodist University dormitory offers you a cramped room, strange food and a sloppy roommate who snores.

But if your parents have between $50,000 and $80,000 just across the street a buy a two-bedroom, two-bathroom luxury condominium that undoubtedly will bring a nice profit some day.

Parents of SMU students — and in some cases, students themselves — are buying condominiums in a campus neighborhood not so much for living quarters but as investments.

Condominiums also offer a multitude of extras — like elegance and privacy — that will never be found in a college dormitory.

Tricia Calloway and Adelle Purse, both juniors from Dallas, live in a richly appointed condominium owned by Miss Calloway's parents.

Miss Purse's mother, an interior decorator, helped them furnish it with antique chairs, bronze and ceramic figurines, a plush green-velvet sofa and a six-place dining set.

"My roommate and I were always real sheltered," Miss Purse said. "We never knew anything about paying bills. Now we just rent, know what it's like to be out on our own."

"The bills all come to us. My roommate and I are on allowances so we're very aware of what we cost our parents."

Parents also have realized the wisdom in utilizing condominiums as investments and homes for their student children.

"A great number of them are gorgeous little girls who are dripping in diamonds and their mom and dad provide them with Mercedes," said the manager of one condo complex. "There aren't a great many of them who have any financial problems."

George Raft eulogized as gentle man

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor George Raft, who portrayed gangsters in dozens of movies and hung out with mobsters in real life, was eulogized Friday as a gentle and kindly man at a memorial service attended by men from both walks of life.

About 100 mourners, most of them elderly men associated with the actor in gambling, business and films, attended the brief, cryptic service at Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Attorney Sidney Korshak praised Raft, who died Monday at 85 of emphysema, as a "kindly man and gentleman and a legend in his time."

Korshak said Raft referred to himself as a "lovey actor" who never went to see any of his pictures.

Incumbents both face challenge for CSI trustee seats

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Both vacancies on the College of Southern Idaho board of trustees in the Dec. 16 election are contested.

At the 11:30 a.m. Friday filing deadline, CSI business manager Karl Black said both incumbents have filed for re-election and a Jerome woman and a Twin Falls man had also submitted nominating petitions.

LeRoy Craig of Jerome, chairman of the board, and Dr. Charles Lehman of Buhl, also an incumbent, will be opposed by Linda Robinson of Jerome and Earl Haroldsen of Twin Falls respectively.

Although the trustees are elected at large, the candidates must file for a specific post. Haroldsen has filed against Lehman and Robinson against Craig.

Craig has served seven years, including one year under appointment and one full six-year term to which he was elected in 1974.

He attended high school in Jerome and entered the insurance business in Jerome in 1952. He is a partner in the Press-Craig Insurance Co. He has been active in Jerome community affairs including chairman of the Jerome Library Board, and president of the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club and was a state Jaycee president.

"I think we are providing quality education and have a good faculty at CSI, without imposing a heavy burden on the taxpayers of the two counties we serve," Craig said. "In fact, we were given the opportunity of raising the college tax this year but were able to work without doing that," Craig said.

Dr. Lehman has completed one six-year term on the board. He is a veterinarian but is now employed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture as a meat inspector in Twin Falls. Dr. Lehman, an Idaho native, practiced veterinarian medicine in Rupert for 10 years and in Buhl for a similar period before joining USDA.

He was active in Rotary Club for 15 years, in the Buhl Country Club and the Methodist Church. He is a member of the Magichords singing group, having served as district vice president.

"I would like to see the income base for CSI broadened to give the school more operating funds," Dr. Lehman said. "I am also interested in seeing our energy and geothermal programs continue to progress as they have an important potential."

Haroldsen is the former divisional manager for Idaho Power Co. and a resident of Twin Falls since 1954. He retired in 1976 as manager of the Magic Valley division of the power company. A native of eastern Idaho, Haroldsen graduated from the University of Idaho with a degree in engineering and went to work for Idaho Power in 1943. He served in the U.S. Army Signal Corps and Intelligence Division in World War II, leaving the service as a captain in 1946.

He has worked with the power company in Boise, Nampa, Caldwell and Twin Falls. While in Twin Falls he was active in Rotary Club, serving as local club president and district governor for the Utah-Idaho district. He was Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce president, active in Boy Scouts of America, receiving the Silver Beaver award in 1964.

"I was asked by a number of friends to seek the trustee post open in the coming election, and I strongly feel one should make a contribution to the community in which they live," Haroldsen said.

Robinson, a young Jerome housewife and mother, could not be reached for comment or background information Friday.

The election will be Dec. 16 and all qualified voters of Twin Falls and Jerome counties may vote in the election by signing a voters oath. Each voter may vote for two candidates — one for each vacancy. Black said the board will elect a chairman on the first meeting following the election. The board meets the third Monday of each month.

Elнора Jennings has more than 300 pairs of earrings, including Model T Fords, slot machines, bear claws and sea shells.

Hansen woman has earrings galore

By STEPHANIE SCHOROW
Times-News writer

HANSEN — Lewis Jennings once bet his wife Elнора she had enough earrings to wear a different pair every day for a year.

He lost. She only has enough for 10 months, three weeks and one day.

However, Mrs. Jennings' 300-plus pairs of earrings is remarkable for more than just quantity. It also contains some of the more unusual earrings ever seen to dangle from a lobe.

In addition to her loops, bangles and bells, she has earrings made from bear claws, elk's teeth, sea shells and Apache tears.

She might come to work with tiny silver telephones in her ears. Or nickel-sized slot machines. Or "Cinderella" slippers that could fit the head of a pin.

Miniature green glass elephants may appear the next day, followed by sea horses swimming in a plastic sea, or Model T Fords.

In an intentional mood, she might sport shamrocks from Ireland, delicate landscapes from Japan, wooden shoes from Holland and mosaics from Italy.

Her co-workers at Twin Falls Bank and Trust checked Elнора's day complete until they've don't consider a day complete until they've seen her wear one of her many earrings.

To compliment a blue dress, she may don one of her two pairs of flash bulb earrings. When she wears a yellow dress, one might see teeny P&T Milk cans bobbing above her shoulders, a recipe for chocolate peanut clusters visible on the labels.

Her flea-sized merry-go-rounds even go round and round. And her two mini-thermometers actually tell the temperature.

There was the time when a customer looked at her earrings curiously and asked her, "Am I seeing what I think I'm seeing?"

"What do you think you're seeing?" she countered.

"Rattlesnake rattles!"

"You got it."

Nor is she above putting on a pair of plastic red and white whistles, gleaned from a child's party package.

Mrs. Jennings, a long-time Hansen resident, has collected earrings for about 35 years. "I just started collecting them; I just like them," she explained simply. "I'm a ding-a-ling for jewelry."

She made some of her more unusual items from charms meant for charm bracelets. Others, like the flashbulbs, just appealed to her with their coloring and shape.

The bear claws came from a bear her father, now 88, shot in the 1940s. The elk was shot by her husband who had the teeth mounted for her.

Jail fire arson charges filed

TWIN FALLS — A 28-year-old Buhl woman has been charged with arson in connection with the Monday night fire in the Twin Falls County Jail.

Sheriff James Munn said Margaret Rose LaChapelle is charged with deliberately setting the fire in a mattress in her cell. By the time a jail smoke alarm warned of the fire, the women's cell area of the jail was filled with smoke and fire. Four persons were hospitalized and damage was estimated at $3,000.

Two women inmates, a county deputy and a jailer were all treated and released from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital for smoke inhalation later that night.

A total of 35 prisoners were evacuated during the emergency but are back in the county jail, with only the women's cell block closed.

Baby dies of crib death

TWIN FALLS — A 3-month-old baby was found dead by his parents Friday morning, the victim of a crib death.

County Coroner

Cloyce Edwards said Bo Joseph Clark, was dead when police and ambulance crews reached the family's apartment at 1322 N. Washington St., shortly after 7:30 a.m. Friday.

The parents, Larry J. and Debra Clark, told police the baby had been ill for several days but seemed fine Thursday night.

The doctor had told the parents to let the baby sleep on his stomach. Clark said. Officers said the baby was on his stomach on the couch in the living room when they arrived but was already dead. An autopsy determined the cause as crib death, Edwards said.

Gunshot victim identified

GOODING — Bradley James Robinson, 15, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Robinson of Gooding, died early Thursday of a self-inflicted gunshot wound, police reported.

His body was found by Gooding police on routine patrol about 3 a.m. Thursday. He was a sophomore at the Gooding High School.

Daughters to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Clark of Twin Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Stump of Kimberly.

Senators disagree on challenge

BOISE (UPI) — State Sen. Majority Leader James Risich, R-Boise, said Friday if a Republican challenge to unseat newly-elected Democratic Idaho state Sen. John Peavey is successful, there should be a new election.

Risich and Ron Twiegler, a candidate for Senate minority leader, appeared on the pre-taped KTVB "Viewpoint" program, which was shown by the Boise television station Friday night.

The election to the Senate by Peavey, who previously served in that body as a Republican, has been challenged by Republican Maurice Ellsworth, who lost by fewer than 60 votes in the November General Election for the District 21 race.

Ellsworth contends illegal votes were counted and legal votes rejected in the election and Twiegler noted that under a 1980 state law the Idaho Senate must decide the issue.

In his television appearance, Risich dismissed the theory that Ellsworth should automatically be seated if Peavey is unseated.

Risich contended, however, there should be a new election for the seat or, at least, a Senate committee should investigate the matter.

Twiegler disagreed, saying, "I think the entire Senate ought to hear and see every bit of evidence that is submitted on this election contest. That's the way it would be in a jury trial. The judge would be able to see everything."

"I don't think we want to have a committee of the Senate less than the whole body take up and try to decide and make a recommendation for the Senate," Twiegler said.

Risich rebutted "there is no question that the entire Senate will vote on it. That must be the case."

QUESTION

My husband died recently; he was well insured and I am employed. I would like to put aside our children's Social Security benefits for their education. May I do this?

ANSWER

Payments certified to you on behalf of your children which are not needed for their current maintenance may be invested for them. The Federal Code of Regulations indicates that U.S. Savings Bonds are preferred investments, but that these funds may also be invested in accordance with the rules applicable to the investments of Trust estates by trustees.

Any funds deposited in an interest or dividend bearing account must be deposited in one that is insured by either the Federal or a State government. Any account for your children must clearly show the funds are the children's. There is a special registration form for U.S. Savings Bonds.

Percy says Soviets will negotiate

MOSCOW (UPI) — Sen. Charles Percy said Friday he has convinced the Kremlin it cannot expect the Senate to ratify the present SALT-II treaty and that it must open new talks with the United States if it wants an arms control agreement.

Concluding three days of intensive talks in the Kremlin, Percy also said he told Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in clear terms that a Soviet invasion of Poland would trigger the most massive American arms buildup since World War II.

The Illinois Republican, who expects to become the next chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said President Ronald Reagan on Wednesday, Defense Minister Dmitry Ustinov on Thursday and Gromyko on Friday.

He said he would report to President-elect Ronald Reagan — the presumed willingness of the U.S.S.R. to begin soon "on new arms control negotiations."

"I would be surprised if both sides would not agree to sit down and talk at an early date about arms control leading to, possibly, negotiations for an arms control agreement," Percy said.

He would not predict an exact date, nor did he say the Soviets indicated a willingness to renegotiate SALT-II, which Reagan has said he will not submit to the Senate for ratification as it now stands.

But he said all three of the Soviet officials he saw now understand — "even if they do not accept" — that the present SALT pact cannot be ratified.

The meetings with Brezhnev and Ustinov focused on Soviet perceptions of Reagan and U.S.-Soviet relations, Percy said. In his meeting with Gromyko, Percy added he found and tried to clarify some Soviet misunderstandings.

The use of force, massive troops in Poland, would change the face of the globe. It would call for an armaments buildup the likes of which we have not seen since World War II. It would be catastrophic in scope," Percy said.

The senator did not say whether the Soviets gave any guarantees that they would not use military intervention to quell Polish worker unrest.

Percy was the first U.S. politician to see Brezhnev since the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan last December.

He said he explained the American concern that the Soviets might march from Afghanistan to the oil-producing Persian Gulf area and threaten vital oil supplies to the United States, Europe and Japan.

Percy said he told the Soviets: "We are willing to put $3 billion into this effort to protect (the Persian Gulf) area, an area which we did not have the necessity of having under that protective umbrella before."

"I think there is no question but that we understand ourselves on that," he added.

Chun arrests hundreds in crackdown

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — South Korean authorities arrested 1,210 people in Seoul Friday and banned 67 publications in a massive crackdown on dissent that coincided with moves by President Chun Doo Hwan to form a new political party.

The government said military and police forces arrested 1,210 people in Seoul in a crackdown against "anti-social" elements. It said the crackdown began Thursday and would continue until all social evils are rooted out.

Police and helmeted military guards, toting M-16s fixed with bayonets, were positioned at strategic points in downtown areas of Seoul, stopping youths to check their identification cards.

The government said 579 of the people detained were sent to military units for a "reorientation program" described as "training of ideological drills and 'spiritual reform.'" Another 631 detainees were given warnings and released, the statement said.

In a related move, the government cancelled the publishing rights of 67 publications for failing to meet vague government standards — presumably those enforcing strict censorship.

These actions came as 15 supporters of Chun, the ex-general who seized power and maneuvered himself into the presidency in the wake of the assassination of Park Chung-hee, announced they have formed a committee to set up a new government party aimed at creating a "democratic, welfare and just society."

The new government party, tentatively called the "Democratic Justice Party," will be formally inaugurated early next year, they said.

Walesa warning ends steel strike

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Striking steel workers went back to their jobs Friday, heeding a warning by union leader Lech Walesa that more strikes might provoke action by the army or worse — an invasion by the Soviet Union.

Walesa pleaded with them to end their strike, warning the unions stood to lose all that they gained in the historic Gdansk agreements last summer's nation-wide strikes.

"We must be very, very, careful for our position is not secure," Walesa told a steel workers rally Thursday night.

Bani-Sadr tours front, is shelled

By United Press International

Iranian President Abolhasan Bani-Sadr toured the battlefront at Abadan on a motorcycle in the midst of an artillery duel, visiting the trenches and stopping for lunch with the troops, Tehran said Friday.

"Despite attempts to frustrate him, the president insisted on going by motorcycle to frontline positions only a few hundred yards from the enemy trenches," Tehran radio said, reporting on the president's battlefront tour Thursday.

Abadan, site of the Middle East's largest oil refinery, still remained the focus of the heaviest fighting of the 68-day-old war between Iran and Iraq.

Both sides reported major clashes around the Gulf port with Iraq claiming to have killed 120 Iranians in overnight fighting.

Tehran radio said an artillery exchange was in progress as Bani-Sadr and his party — including the defense minister, the acting chief of staff and the commanders of the air force and the national gendarmerie — toured the battlefronts for more than eight hours.

The radio said Bani-Sadr visited each trench in turn and, over the protests of battlefield commanders, cycled to within 200 yards of the bridge over the Karun River, which Iranian defenders have been holding against Iraqi troops entrenched in the port city of Khurrumshahr.

Do Soviets hold Swedish official?

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — Relatives of Raoul Wallenberg, the Swedish diplomat credited with saving more than 20,000 Jews from the Nazi holocaust, said Friday they believe he is still alive and being held in a Soviet prison camp 35 years after his arrest.

They appealed for his release and alleged that the Soviet Union lied when it told the world that Wallenberg had died.

"We want to appeal to the whole world for my brother who has become a symbol for the world of human rights," Mrs. Nima Lagergren told reporters at the European Security Conference.

Wallenberg used American money and Swedish passports to rescue Hungarian Jews during World War II.

Soviet occupying forces, apparently suspecting he was an American spy, took Wallenberg into "protective custody" in 1945. He was never seen since.

The Soviet government denied any knowledge of Wallenberg's whereabouts until 1957, when then Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko told Sweden that Wallenberg had been arrested mistakenly and died of a heart attack in Moscow's Lyubianka prison.

Wallenberg was 35 at the time. He would be 68 now.

Mrs. Lagergren said his family was convinced he was alive. She said they had received reports within the last five years from fellow prisoners that Wallenberg was living and in good health.

She cited a communication from Jan Kaplan, a Soviet Jew, to his daughter in Israel saying he had met a Swede believed to be Wallenberg in Butyrka prison in 1975. She said Kaplan was sent back to prison immediately.

Four other sources have reported independently since then that they have seen Wallenberg. Mrs. Lagergren said. She said she could not disclose details "because it would endanger lives."

Mrs. Lagergren and her cousin, Grütte Wallenberg, said the Soviet delegation to the security conference rejected their request for a meeting. But a U.S. delegate said the case had been raised in conference sessions by the United States, Sweden, Britain, Switzerland, Ireland, Liechtenstein and Luxembourg.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., a member of a senate committee formed to help the Wallenbergs, said he believed the Soviets continued to hold Wallenberg out of political embarrassment.

"They did something wrong and they haven't figured out how to get out of it," he said.

Penitentiary guards deny prisoner's head put in toilet

BOISE (UPI) — Two Idaho State Penitentiary guards testified Friday an epileptic inmate's head was not put in a toilet as the inmate claimed.

Correctional officers Ron Burley and Watson William Swiderski testified in a continuing hearing being held before 4th District Magistrate Robert MacConnell. Twenty-three inmates claim they were placed in maximum-security housing after the July riot without a proper reclassification hearing. They claim they were not allowed to speak nor to present witnesses in their defense.

Burley said he was on duty in the prison yard on Aug. 10 when he received a call that another guard was having a problem with an inmate in Cellhouse 9, which was being used as a maximum-security unit after the riot.

He said when he arrived at the cellhouse, he was told inmate Byron Stewart would not give the guards his socks. The inmate told guards he flushed his socks down the toilet, Burley said.

Under cross-examination, Burley said at that time, he did not know where Stewart's socks were. Burley said he was the first to enter Stewart's cell. He said when he entered, Stewart assumed a "fighting stance and I grabbed him." Burley said he grabbed Stewart because "I didn't want to get hit."

He said he and Stewart "fell on the bed and we struggled to the floor." He said Stewart was resisting so two additional guards moved in to assist in subduing the inmate.

"Chuck (Anthony, chief of rehabilitation) said something to the effect, 'I think we should make him retrieve the socks with his teeth,'" Burley said.

He said he and the other guards picked Stewart up and Anthony "thought we were going to stick his head in the toilet," and ordered the guards not to.

Burley said the guards placed Stewart on the floor and Anthony began to talk to him. He said Stewart would not look at Anthony, so he tapped Stewart on the head with a notebook and told him to pay attention.

He said two guards had Stewart's blood on their shirts.

Swiderski said he was called to the maximum-security unit during the incident to keep inmates in their cells since all the doors had to be opened to open one cell. He said he was flooded in front of the cell next to Stewart's.

He said he had a difficult time seeing into Stewart's cell because other guards were standing in the way. He said he saw the guards carry Stewart over to the toilet, but "I didn't see it (Stewart's head) go into the toilet bowl."

Swiderski said he saw blood on Stewart's sleeve and chest, but did not know where the blood came from. He said he did not see Burley in the cell.

Burley testified that he did hear Stewart ask for his "medication," but he did not know Stewart was an epileptic. Swiderski said he did not hear Stewart ask for his medicine.

Stewart earlier testified that guards took his medication when he was processed into maximum security. He said he did not get his medication returned until he had a seizure after the incident over his socks.

In another incident, Burley testified that he saw Lt. Dan Mahoney tackle an inmate on Aug. 5, when most of the inmates were processed into maximum security.

Holiday death toll reaches four

By United Press International

A Post Falls man died in a pedestrian-car accident on Idaho Highway 41 two miles outside of Post Falls late Thursday, bringing the state's holiday weekend traffic toll to four.

Idaho State Police officers in Coeur d'Alene said Donald M. McPherson, 50, died at 9:31 (MST) at Kootenai Memorial Hospital in Coeur d'Alene from injuries received when he was struck by a vehicle driven by Clifford

D. Singer, 31, Hermiston, Ore.

They said McPherson apparently stepped on the roadway in front of the car, and Singer did not see the pedestrian in the darkness.

State police in Lewiston said Delbert Gibson, 35, Kootenai, also died in a two-vehicle accident near Orofino Thursday, while officers in Pocatello reported that Anthony Michael Sharp, 34, Montpelier, was killed in a one-car accident outside of Montpelier.

Idaho Falls resident Dennis Mitchell, 23, also died in a one-car rollover east of Idaho Falls Thursday, the Bonneville County Sheriff's Department reported.

Meanwhile, doctors at Riverview Hospital in Idaho Falls said Roger D. Olson, 24, a University of Idaho student, improved from critical to serious condition Friday. Olson was injured in an accident Wednesday, which claimed the life of another UI student, Beverly Ann Flower, 21, Orofino.

Ice hampers driving conditions

BOISE (UPI) — Icy spots and snow hampered driving conditions in many portions of Idaho Friday, while foggy and cloudy conditions decreased visibility.

Here are the road conditions as reported by the Idaho Transportation Department:

U.S. 95 — Oregon line-Bonners Ferry, dry with cloudy conditions and some fog.

SH 55 — Boise-New Meadows, broken snow floor with cloudy conditions.

I-90 — Coeur d'Alene-Lookout Pass, wet with some icy spots and cloudy skies.

U.S. 12 — Lewiston-Lolo Pass, wet with cloudy conditions, snow floor on Lolo Pass.

SH 21 — Boise-Stanley, broken snow floor with cloudy skies.

I-84 — Caldwell-Uliah line, wet with some icy spots, cloudy and foggy conditions.

U.S. 20 & U.S. 30-20-26 — Mountain Home-Arco, icy spots from Mountain Home to Cat Creek Summit, broken snow floor at the junction of SH 75, broken snow floor and cloudy skies through Craters of the Moon.

U.S. 93 — Twin Falls-Lost Trail Pass, mostly dry with cloudy conditions, snow floor on Lost Trail Pass.

SH 75 — Shoshone-Challis, broken snow floor with cloudy skies from Galena to Stanley, rest dry and cloudy.

I-86 — Raft River-Pocatello, dry with cloudy skies.

U.S. 20 — Idaho Falls-West Yellowstone, broken snow floor from Ashton Hill to Montana line.

U.S. 30 — McCommon-Wyoming line, dry with cloudy skies.

Boise charter service sues insurance company

BOISE (UPI) — A Boise company whose chartered plane crashed in the Idaho backcountry last year sued its insurance company Friday, demanding coverage for four lawsuits filed by relatives of those who died in the accident.

A Cessna 210 rented to the Idaho Adventures Inc. outfit fliers by Boise Air Service crashed at the U.S. Forest Service Indian Creek airstrip in the River of No Return wilderness area on Aug. 4, 1979, killing five passengers and critically injuring the pilot, who later died.

Families of four individuals killed in the crash have filed suit in the state's 4th District Court, seeking more than $510,000 each from Boise Air Service.

The relatives of the victims — Patricia Sue Bell, Lewiston; Joan Louise Fulton, Vancouver, Wash.; Jacolyn Junker, Vancouver, Wash.; and Carl G. Torrey, Steamboat Springs, Colo. — contend the Boise company failed to properly maintain the gear box on the craft's landing equipment, resulting in the crash. They also say the pilot — Max Sanborn of Boise, who died at the Utah Medical Center in Salt Lake City — had not received proper training for flying over Idaho's rugged wilderness areas.

Boise Air Service's lawsuit, filed against Proprietors Insurance Co. of Ohio in Idaho U.S. District Court Friday, seeks a court order requiring the insurance company to honor a $1 million liability policy in connection with the other lawsuits. It contends Proprietors has refused to honor that policy, contending the insurance does not apply to claims filed by crash victims' families.

Also killed in the crash was Guy Cook, Garden City.

Forest services have job openings

BOISE (UPI) — The Boise and Payette National Forests announced today they will begin accepting applications Monday from some 215 seasonal jobs.

The Boise forest has between 100-125 positions to be filled through open recruitment and the Payette National Forest plans to fill approximately 90 positions.

Positions being opened include aids and technicians in forestry, range surveying and engineering, timber, forestry, recreation and range fire suppression and prevention.

Forest officials said the majority of the jobs are "seasonal" with the starting date depending on weather conditions and the type of assignment. Applicants must be at least 18 years of age.

Salaries range from $4.30 to $5.90 per hour.

Furniss named to handicap committee

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. John Evans Friday named 34-year-old Randy Furniss, Pocatello, executive secretary of the Governor's Committee To Hire the Handicapped.

"Randy has developed an excellent record of serving Idaho residents during his seven years as the east Idaho field representative for Sen. Frank Church," Evans said in announcing the appointment. "He will continue efforts to develop a statewide educational program for employers, older workers and the handicapped.

"A major objective of the committee is to develop a positive awareness in the employer community about the high, skill and reliability levels of handicapped employees."

Furniss will assume his duties Jan. 5. He replaces George N. Stoops, who retired recently after 34 years of service with the state.

Los Angeles may become nation's top murder city

By MURIEL DOBBIN
© 1980 The Baltimore Sun

California is moving into the 1980s on the crest of the worst crime wave in state history, with Los Angeles about to claim the dubious title of the nation's murder capital.

Over the last decade, the homicide rate has increased by nearly 90 percent, according to George Deukmejian, state attorney general. Los Angeles, the "City of Angels," is acknowledged by its police department to have become a murder mecca, with so many slayings that the coroner's office recently was two days behind in performing autopsies.

The West Coast has a reputation for the bizarre, and that encompasses crime. There have been examples of sensational mass killings in California, the most recent being the case of the so-called "Freeway Killer," who allegedly tortured, sexually mutilated and murdered young male hitchhikers. There was the case in which Los Angeles County Sheriff Peter Pitchess said that as many as 500 young girls might have been marked for death in a rape-torture-murder plot which claimed half a dozen victims.

There were the thirteen murders committed by the "Hillside Strangler" in Los Angeles. And there were the mass murders committed by the Charles Manson sex and murder gang which terrorized one of the most exclusive areas of the city.

In San Francisco there was the Zodiac killer, who claimed at least six victims, and remains uncaptured, and the "Doodler" who preyed on the city's large homosexual community, committed about fourteen murders and is still at large.

But according to police officials, there is now a difference in California crime: more often the murders seem meaningless. As Commander William Booth of the Los Angeles police-department put it, "They are not deterred by the fear of severe punishment any more, so they kill when they rob, sometimes to eliminate a witness, sometimes maybe because the victim didn't have any money, sometimes because the victim screamed. There often doesn't seem to be any reason. It's just become easy for criminals to kill."

According to Commander Booth, in the midst of a record breaking crime wave the LAPD is operating with 1,000 officers less than its peak manpower level and has been hampered by recruitment efforts by strict court rulings on meeting minority-hiring quotas.

"We are comparable in population size to Chicago and we have half as many police," said Commander Booth. The LAPD strength is now about 6,500, he said, compared with 7,500 five years ago. Within those five years, homicides have risen from 574 and is expected to reach a grim new record of more than 1,000 for 1980.

Sheriff Pitchess reported that homicides in Los Angeles county had soared 426 percent over the last two decades. And the FBI annual uniform crime report showed the 1979 murder rate for the Los Angeles area, including the county, at 20 per 100,000, which was more than double the national average.

In 1979, Houston had the highest homicide rate in the country with 30 murders per 100,000 residents, and Los Angeles ranked eleventh. But the past year has witnessed spectacular increases in violent crime in Los Angeles, with increases as high as 186 percent in small communities like Venice. Theories on the reasons for the skyrocketing murder rate seemed to focus on the depressed economy and the rising level of joblessness, as well as a fresh outbreak of gang violence in Los Angeles county.

Last month, an alarmed city supervisor in Los Angeles announced a plan to introduce a $3 million anti-gang bill to cope with what he called a "tidal wave of gang violence." According to Supervisor Ed Edelman, there were 276 gang-related deaths in the county in 1979, and he predicted well over 300 this year.

Los Angeles police chief Daryl Gales has proposed hiring another 1,400 officers in a massive effort to reverse the influx of crime, but apparently there has been little political backing for the kind of funding and tax increase that would be needed.

San Francisco has been struggling to reduce a high rape rate, especially after a report last spring showed a 69 percent increase in rape over the same period of the previous year. Jerry Friedlander, a spokesman for the San Francisco police department, said the rate of increase in rape had dropped to 20 percent by fall. He suggested the statistics may reflect an increase in the number of rapes reported.

But crime has been on the increase for 20 years in California, according to a 1978 study by the state bureau of criminal statistics.

Youths lost on survival adventure

TUJUANA, Mexico (UPI) — Mexicans and Americans combined in a land, sea and air search Friday for two counselors and six youths from a Tucson, Ariz., youth home lost since Tuesday on a "survival adventure" trip.

Their sailboat was lost in a storm Tuesday night in the Gulf of California between Sonora and the Baja California peninsula.

Mexican searchers found the battered sailboat with one body aboard Wednesday night near Punta Chivata, 30 miles south of Santa Rosalia, on the east coast of Baja California. Six lifejackets strewn along the beach fueled hopes survivors may have reached shore.

Four other 25-foot sailboats, one crewed by girls, made the stormy crossing from Sonora state to Baja California safely.

Eleven staff members and a total of 29 teen-agers from Vision Quest in Tucson were on a "survival-adventure." Vision Quest is an eight-year-old program for juvenile offenders featuring military discipline and rigorous exploring activities.

On land, a search team under the command of the Port Captain of Santa Rosalia combed the rugged coastal area looking for possible survivors.

Mexican naval units criss-crossed the 2,000-square-mile search area in the Gulf of California, centered about 400 miles south of San Diego.

Overhead, a far-ranging U.S. Coast Guard C-130 Hercules from Sacramento and a San Diego-based Coast Guard HH3F twin-turbine jet helicopter coordinated in the air search with two civilian Cessnas leased by Vision Quest.

The Cessnas and the helicopter, were operating out of the Hermosillo, Sonora, airport. Two helicopter crews were alternating to keep the search chopper aloft. They were buying Mexican fuel locally, instead of returning to San Diego for refueling, to maximize daylight search time.

Don Johnson, honorary U. S. Consul in Mulege, was coordinating the Mexican-American search effort which was under the command of the Santa Rosalia Port Captain.

Found in the storm-battered sailboat, which had its mast snapped off and was awash near rocks parallel to the Baja coast, was a body identified as that of Bernard Reeder, 19, Baden, Pa. The dead youth wore a lifejacket.

Identities of some of the missing have not been released, but the two counselors were said to be from Tucson, two of the youths were also from Arizona, one from Colorado, and the other three from Pennsylvania.

CSI rebounds to crush Kansas unit, 104-70

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News sports writer

CASPER, Wyo. — The young College of Southern Idaho Eagles may have started the learning process of how to put a team away Friday night.

The Eagles, after twice watching 20-point advantages melt to 12, exploded for 11 consecutive points midway through the second half and went on to crush Johnson County, Kan., 104-70.

It marked the first time that the 4-1 Eagles had destroyed their opponent after moving ahead by 20 points.

The win gives CSI a 1-1 record in the Thunderbird Classic after a loss to Oklahoma City Southwestern in Thursday's opener. The Eagles face Casper Community College in the final game tonight at 9.

"It's all a learning process. We're so young and learning so much that it is difficult for these guys not to relax after getting the big lead," Coach Dave Campbell said. "We had it up to 20 twice and both times let them get it back down to 12. But tonight we had the ability to get it back to 20 and then put it away."

"I think there is a very good possibility that the kids learned a lot about the killer instinct tonight. The killer instinct is nothing more than maintaining your intensity."

CSI never trailed in the game although it was tied three times. Lee Bates hit a three-point play and Mark

Owens canned a short jumper to send CSI ahead 13-8 four minutes into the game. With just over nine minutes left in the half, CSI stretched the lead to 14. That was probably CSI's best stretch of basketball in the yet young season.

Unlike Thursday night, when CSI bowed to Oklahoma Southwestern, the Eagles played the first 18 minutes with just two turnovers. They had 20 in the first half Thursday.

"I thought we played excellent team basketball tonight," Campbell said. "I thought our big lineup did a great job and Doug Vieselmeyer did an excellent job."

The coach made a marked change in the starting five, leaving Frank Baines and Lamar Dixon on the bench. "I felt we had to try something different. We've been lacking something in the early part of all our games. I felt the change might change our intensity and at the same time minimize our turnovers."

"We won tonight because we played with enthusiasm and were aggressive offensively and defensively from the opening tip. It also helped cut those turnovers."

CSI's biggest lead in the first half was at 51-31 on a Baines jumper with 1:59 remaining, but CSI could not score again and Johnson County cut back to within 15. Two minutes into the second half, CSI again went ahead by 20 as Mike Ingram hit four straight points and almost immediately Johnson County started back and CSI ran into three turnovers. Marty Milburn hit six points to reduce the deficit to 12. But CSI's Vieselmeyer and George Scott hit inside points to rebuild the margin with 11:27 remaining. Robert Thurman again pulled Johnson County to within 12 but CSI then hit the clinching flurry.

Scott hit two free throws and CSI came up with a turnover as it switched to a zone defense. Two steals resulted in field goals by Vieselmeyer and Baines and the breakout ended as Scott added four points and Brad Taylor two. After that it was a matter of weather CSI would reach the 100-mark.

Bates rolled the scoreboard at 1:16 with a three pointer and Brad Dey hit the final two CSI buckets.

Kuna heavyweight Jim Reamon strains in an effort to keep his shoulders off the mat as Buhl High grappler Craig Schaal puts on the pressure for a pin

Puts seven in semifinals

Vallivue leads Buhl mat tourney

BUHL — Vallivue is the leader after the first day of the Buhl Invitational wrestling tournament.

The Falcons won 50.5 points after Friday's opening rounds while defending champion Buhl is in second place with 40 points.

The lead may loom larger, however, since Vallivue has seven wrestlers in the semifinals compared to five for the Indians.

Jerome is third with 37.5 points and has two grapplers in the semifinals.

One of the better matches during Friday's action was Jeff Nazer of Vallivue against Roger Randall of Kuna, two of the better 135-pounders in the state. Nazer won the match 5-3.

Buhl has all 11 wrestlers still in competition.

The Indians were minus a 167-pounder when the season-opening meet started. Vallivue also has its full squad left in action.

Scott Brown of Filer, a defending state champion, won both of his matches at 132 pounds to advance to the semifinals as did Vernon Cornish of Buhl. The two are among the better matmen in the Magic Valley and will meet in today's semifinals.

Craig Schaal, Buhl's heavyweight, faced elimination from the championship trail when he trailed Kuna's Jim Reamon but Schaal rallied and won with a pin to gain the semifinals opposite Kelly Riggs of Glens Ferry.

The consolation round will start at 11 a.m. today with the semifinals at 1 p.m. and a second consolation round at 3 p.m. The consolation championship and championship matches will start at 6:30 p.m. on two mats.

The team standings and semifinal qualifiers are:

Tech stands in way of perfect Georgia season

By United Press International

Two deservingly unranked and unheralded teams have a chance to salvage some satisfaction from disappointing seasons today by playing the spoiler role against cross-state archrivals.

Georgia, the only unbeaten and untied major college football squad in the nation, meets Georgia Tech, a team with a 1-3-1 record. After taking last week off, the top-ranked Bulldogs are well rested, possess a 12-4 edge over the Yellow Jackets under Coach Vince Dooley and are 20-point favorites.

It should be a matter of just taking care of a little detail — becoming the second undefeated team in Georgia history — before getting on with the more important business of preparing for a Sugar Bowl showdown with unbeaten, second-ranked Notre Dame that figures to produce a national champion.

There's only one problem: Georgia Tech tied Notre Dame.

"Georgia Tech's won-loss record is totally misleading," insists Dooley in an effort to keep his squad from taking the traditional rivalry too lightly. "After they play us, they'll have played three No. 1s (Tech opened the season against Alabama) and seven bowl teams. They held Notre Dame to a field goal and that speaks for itself."

Tech's only victory was a 17-8 decision over a mediocre Memphis State team but a 33 tie with the then top-ranked Irish has Dooley claiming the Bulldogs will need a peak performance to live up to expectations.

Georgia has seven all-Southeastern Conference players, including dazzling running back Herschel Walker, the first freshman to be a serious contender for the Heisman Trophy in many years. Walker, who leads the SEC in rushing with 1,411 yards and 12 touchdowns, has gained 218 or more yards in three of his last five games and needs 176 yards Saturday to break the NCAA freshman single-season rushing record Tony Dorsett set in 1973.

Tech coach Bill Curry, meanwhile, isn't even sure his passing star, Steve Kelley, can play.

"Our quarterback situation is on a day-to-day basis," said Curry. "We're not trying to be secretive or anything but we don't know if Kelley will be ready and the three people behind him all have some sort of physical problem. We've tried to do the best we can."

Sixth-ranked Oklahoma, 8-2, is similarly a heavy favorite over Oklahoma State and has the compelling incentive of needing a victory to clinch the Big Eight championship and a trip to the Orange Bowl against No. 4 Florida State.

Unlike Dooley, however, Oklahoma coach Barry Switzer is making no pretenses about his team's chances of beating the 3-5-1 Cowboys. The Sooners have lost only two season finales since 1945 and they don't intend to do that this year.

"We aren't going to let them get down," Switzer said of a possible letdown after OIU's emotional victory over Nebraska last week. "When we come down that ramp (Saturday) we're going for the jugular."

And again, the challenging coach doesn't even know who'll be calling the signals.

"We'll decide on the starter Saturday," said Coach Jimmy Johnson, whose most successful starting quarterback, Houston Nutt, is doubtful after being injured last week, "but both of them (reserves John Doerner and Jim Traher) are going to play."

Elsewhere in the Top 20, Auburn is at No. 9 Alabama, No. 13 Brigham Young is at Nevada-Las Vegas, No. 18 Florida hosts Miami (Fla.) and No. 20 Texas entertains Texas A&M. No. 14 UCLA plays Oregon State in Tokyo on Sunday.

No. 2 Notre Dame and No. 3 Florida State are both idle, with the Irish visiting No. 17 Southern California and FSU facing Florida on Dec. 6, while most of the other top teams are already preparing for bowl games.

In a Friday battle between the best in the East, fourth-ranked Pittsburgh beat No. 5 Penn State 14-9.

Southern Cal defeats ISU

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — Southern California will try to defeat Idaho State 77-68 in the season basketball opener for both teams in Pocatello Friday night.

Both teams' shooting stizzled from the field, each hitting 57 percent. But the Trojans won the back-to-back battle 33-18. At half-time, USC had a 22-9 rebounding edge, and it took the Bengals six minutes to get their first second-half board.

Barry Brooks, a late add to the Trojans' starting lineup, hit eight of 11 shots with 18. He moved into the spot vacated when USC star Purvis Miller, who was suspended for the season's first two games.

Rally in 4th powers Pilots

GLENN'S FERRY — An 11-point charge midway in the final quarter pushed Glens Ferry to a 70-53 win over Wood River Friday night.

The Pilots held a slim lead over the Wolverines when a fielder by Bill Stiehl started the charge that put Glens Ferry into a commanding lead.

The rest of the rally included a trio of consecutive three-point plays. John Simons, Stiehl and Tim Black each had a three-pointer and the Pilots had a 34-41 margin with 3:44 to play.

Stiehl led the Pilots with 22 points while Black notched 15. Kip Brower led the Wood River effort with 23 points and Robin Sisman notched 10.

"Denny Shrum did an excellent job on the boards and all over for us tonight," Pilots Coach Gordon Brown said.

Wood River ran into foul trouble late in the game, losing four players. The Wolverines were called for 30 personal to 15 for the Pilots. Glens Ferry made 18 of 36 free throws.

Wood River won the junior varsity game 34-28. The Wolverines will try to extend their record at 1-1 against Kimberly at Halley tonight while Glens Ferry will host Mt. Home next Friday night.

Malad takes Declo by 23

DECLO — Three Malad players hit double figures Friday night as Malad handled host Declo 61-38 in a season-opening boys basketball game.

Brian Cowlishaw led the Malad charge with 16 points while Curtis Arnold notched 13 and Fred Smith added 10.

Malad used a press to force numerous turnovers in the game and the Hornets found themselves on the short end of a 33-15 halftime score.

"We had troubles getting the ball up the floor," Declo skipper Ron Knowles said. "We have to play over at their place next Friday and I'm not looking forward to it. They just weren't very nice to us tonight."

Lamont Kowitz, a 6-foot forward led the Declo effort with 15 points. Most of those came on shots close to the basket.

Declo earned a split on the night with a 39-34 win in the junior varsity game.

Forwards combine for 36 as Utah State wins cage opener

LOGAN, Utah (UPI) — Utah State forwards Brian Jackson and Edgar Wickoff combined for 36 points to lead the Aggies to a 78-47 victory over St. Martin's College of Lacey, Wash., in a non-conference matchup Friday night.

St. Martin's never led in the game, but were trailing the Aggies by only four points at the half, at 32-28. But Utah State held the Saints scoreless through the first four minutes of the second half.

Midway through the second half, the Aggies had outscored the Saints 18-2 for a 50-30 lead. The visitors managed to close to 50-39, but the Aggies countered with eight straight points to put the game out of reach.

St. Martin's guard Pete Deary led the Saints in attack with 12 points, while Tony Willis added 10 points in the losing effort.

Utah State hit 44 percent from the field, but St. Martin's hit a dismal 28 percent.

The victory was the official win for the Aggies, even though they outplayed British Columbia's Simon Fraser College last week in the opening game of the season.

UCLA 99, Virginia Mil. 61

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sophomores Rod Foster and Cliff Pruitt scored 14 points each Friday night to pace UCLA to a 99-61 rout over the Virginia Military Institute in the non-conference basketball opener for both schools in Pauley Pavilion.

Two other UCLA sophomores, Darren Daye and Michael Holton, added 11 points each as the Bruins tuned up for their game Saturday night against Notre Dame.

Wyoming 62, Nebraska 59

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Mike Jackson dropped in a pair of free throws with 22 seconds left in overtime Friday in the season-opener for both schools.

Jackson, who finished with 12 points, sent the game into overtime at 52-41 with a jumper from outside the key with one second remaining, destroying a Nebraska comeback that began when the Huskers were seven points down with 5:41 left in regulation play.

Nebraska played without center Andre Smith, who left the game with 12:42 left with an apparent injured right ankle.

Wyoming built a 60-55 lead with 55 seconds left in the five-minute overtime period, but Jack Moore dropped in four free throws to bring the Huskers back to within one point with 33 seconds left. On the inbound play following Moore's final free throw, Nebraska's Ray Collins fouled Jackson, who then hit his two free throws to preserve the Cowboys' victory.

N.C. 69, Alaska-Ank. 50

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — The 11th-ranked University of North Carolina Tarheels held off the University of Alaska-Anchorage Seawolves Friday night to take a 69-50 opening-round victory in the third annual Great Alaska Shootout basketball tournament.

Paced by a foot-9 freshman Sam Perkins and 6-6 senior forward Al Wood with 20 and 18 points respectively, the Tarheels led 31-26 at the half. Perkins led all rebounders with 10.

University of Alaska-Anchorage, a second-year NCAA Division II school, was led by 6-5 senior guard Al Collins with 14 and 6-8 junior Mark Pitt with 13.

Virginia 64, Bucknell 45

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (UPI) — Ralph Sampson and Jeff Lamp scored 16 points each Friday night, helping seventh-ranked Virginia ease past Bucknell 64-45 in the opening game of the Cavaliers' 1980-81 tournament.

Virginia meets the winner of the Lafayette and Virginia Commonwealth games in tonight's championship game.

The 7-foot-4 Sampson sparked a second-half burst with a three-point play and a seal leading to a slam dunk that put Virginia on top 50-33 with 11:11 to play. Bucknell had stayed within 10 points of the taller Cavaliers, out rebounding Virginia 15-10 in the first half.

Texas A&M 66, Maine 57

BANGOR, Maine (UPI) — Seniors Vernon Smith and Rynn Wright combined for 35 points Friday night to lead 14th-ranked Texas A&M to a 66-57 victory over Maine in the season-opener for both clubs.

Smith and Wright each scored eight points as the Aggies jumped to a 31-24 halftime lead. Texas A&M had held just a 25-22 lead with three minutes remaining in the half.

The Black Bears, giving away nearly four inches per man, rallied in the second half behind Rick Carlisle, who led Maine with 17 points. Maine ran of six straight points with 6:52 left to close the gap to 54-49. But Aggie point guard Tyrone Ladson, who had a game-high six assists, returned to stabilize the Texas A&M attack.

BYU 80, Washington 70

SEATTLE (UPI) — Danny Alinge scored 24 points and Fred Roberts added 23 to lead the 17th-ranked Brigham Young Cougars to an 80-70 win over the Washington Huskies Friday in the season opener for both schools.

The hot-shooting Huskies, paced by guard Bob Frank, held a surprising 44-40 halftime advantage and led through a good portion of the second half as well.

But Roberts had six points and Alinge four during a 12-0 spur that gave the Cougars a 71-60 lead with 5:43 to go. Frank failed 20 points to lead the Huskies, who were bolstered by a BYU zone defense in the late going and went scoreless over a five-minute stretch that proved decisive.

Colorado 77, New Mexico 65

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — Led by Jo Jo Hunter's 18 points, the University of Colorado defeated New Mexico, 77-65, Friday night in the basketball season opener for both teams.

The 6-foot-3 Hunter was joined in double-digit scoring by fellow guard Joe Washington with 15 points and forward Jacques Tuz, who contributed 13.

With their ball control style dominating against a run-and-gun foe, the Bulls held New Mexico star Kenny Page to eight points in the first half and blanked him in the second half until the game was out of reach at 61-47, with 6:25 remaining.

Page finally duplicated his first-half effort and ended up with 16 points, making only 8-28 from the field, well below his average of 28 points and 51 percent shooting last season.

NBA roundup

Suns survive

three-point plays

PHOENIX (UPI) — The Phoenix Suns, led by Dennis Johnson, survived a barrage of three-point goals by Ricky Sobers in the final seconds to edge the Chicago Bulls 102-101 Friday night.

Sobers had a trio of three-pointers in the last 52 seconds to keep the Bulls within striking distance but was unable to get off a fourth after a Chicago timeout with one second left.

Johnson scored 15 of his 23 points in the final quarter, including a 3-point play with 43 seconds left, that gave Phoenix a 7-point margin that offset Sobers' last two shots.

Alvan Adams and Walt Davis had 18 points each and Jeff Cook, a career-high 16, for the Suns, who remained undefeated in 11 games on their home court this season.

Bucks 113, Hawks 108

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Bob Lanier sank four free throws and Sidney Moncrief added two in overtime Friday night to enable the Milwaukee Bucks to score their fourth straight victory with a 113-108 decision over the Atlanta Hawks.

The teams were tied 107-107 when Lanier and Moncrief both hit a pair of free throws to put the Bucks ahead 111-107 and they never lost the lead.

76ers 116, Blazers 103

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Julius Erving tossed in 21 points Friday to lead the streaking Philadelphia 76ers to a 116-103 victory over the road-weary Portland Trail Blazers.

It was the 11th straight win for Philadelphia and its 21st victory in its last 22 games.

Trailing by 59-55 at halftime, the 76ers went on a 19-4 spur and took a 74-63 advantage on a layup by Caldwell Jones with 4:30 remaining in the third period.

Celtics 120, Knicks 106

BOSTON (UPI) — Cedric Maxwell broke open a close with game with nine points in 17-second span in the third period Friday night to lift the Boston Celtics to a 120-106 victory over the New York Knicks.

Maxwell, who finished with 17, reeled off the points after the Knicks had closed to within 66-65 on a Campy Russell layup. New York recovered to move to within five points, 81-76, late in the third period, but a three-point play by Chris Ford triggered a 60 Boston

Knicks come close

run. The closest the Knicks would come was 11 points with four minutes left in the game.

Nets 122, Jazz 95

PISCATAWAY, N.J. (UPI) — Mike Newlin scored 22 points, including 19 in the first half Friday night, to enable the New Jersey Nets to snap their four-game losing streak with a 122-95 rout of the Utah Jazz.

New Jersey held the Jazz to just 32 points in the first half, the lowest total by an NBA club in the first two quarters this season. The Nets never trailed in the game after taking a 27-15 first-quarter lead.

Rockets 124, Spurs 115

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (UPI) — Moses Malone scored 40 points and grabbed 14 rebounds Friday night to lead the Houston Rockets to a 124-115 victory over the San Antonio Spurs.

The triumph moved the third-place Rockets to within five games of the Midwest Division-leading Spurs.

Malone scored 22 points in the second half, including 10 in the third period, as the Rockets broke from a 59-58 halftime tie to take an 85-76 edge into the final period.

Pistons 104, Kings 94

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — Terry Tyler scored 15 of his 23 points in the third quarter Friday night to lift the Detroit Pistons to a 104-94 victory over the Kansas City Kings.

Tyler's scoring punch pulled Detroit from a 58-58 tie with a 2:56 play in the third period.

Kansas City cut the margin to 80-78 with 9:14 left in the game after a three-point play by Hawkeye White and two set Western field goals.

Detroit ran off six straight points to boost its lead to 86-78 with 7:15 to play.

Nuggets 119, Maus 117

DALLAS (UPI) — David Thompson scored 38 points Friday night, including the basket that put Denver ahead with 37 seconds left in overtime, to rally the Nuggets to a 117 victory over the Dallas Mavericks.

Denver had trailed by as many as 16 points in the first half and had to fight off a last-second attempt at victory by Dallas in regulation play. The Mavericks trailed by 16 at the half and owned a 66-55 advantage at intermission.

Members of the rescue team remove the body of one of two skiers killed by an avalanche on Colorado's St. Mary's Glacier

Two skiers killed in avalanche

One who 'does everything right' lives

GEORGETOWN, Colo. (UPI) — A 29-year-old Frenchman, who survived a thundering avalanche which killed two of his skiing companions and left him buried under a foot of snow, survived by doing "everything right," a rescue official said Friday.

The sole survivor, Pierre Champal, who has been staying in the Denver area on business, was able to dig his way out to freedom after the Thanksgiving Day slide and skied to get help by his companions.

Authorities said Champal and two acquaintances, Martin Curral, 41, and Richard Painter, both of the Denver metropolitan area, were skiing on St. Mary's Glacier northwest of Idaho Springs Thursday when the avalanche occurred.

"It's a good ski," said Hunter Holloway, a leader of the Alpine Rescue Group. "On a beautiful day, it's a marvelous trip. But all too many people don't realize a Denver forecast is not applicable at 11,000 feet."

The three skiers were struck by the avalanche during a ground blizzard while they were trying to cross a steep bowl above a lake at the bottom of the glacier. They had been skiing for about an hour.

"Pierre noticed the avalanche conditions and mentioned it to the others," Holloway said. "Almost immediately, the ground gave way under him."

Champal, who suffered shock, told rescuers he was quickly buried, although one hand and a wrist were above the surface of the snow.

"He thought he was the only one trapped at first and he began to waver for help," Holloway said. "But snow settles like concrete and he finally realized no help was coming so he began to dig out with his free hand."

The rescue leader said it took the French skier about 90 minutes to dig his way out and then ski to get help. A rescue team found the missing bodies later in the day, a distance of only eight feet from one another. They were under more than six feet of snow.

"Honest to God, this guy (Champal) did everything right," Holloway said, describing the one skier's survival. "He said he kicked his feet as hard as he could and began to swim backwards (in the snow)."

Duran changes mind, will box again

MIAMI (UPI) — Roberto Duran, who stunned boxing fans Tuesday night by quitting in the eighth round of his WBC welterweight championship fight against Sugar Ray Leonard, said Friday he has reconsidered his decision to retire and will seek a re-match with Leonard.

"After what happened, I've done some thinking and I've spoken to my wife and told her I'm going back to the ring," Duran said in an interview broadcast by Miami Spanish-language radio station WVRG.

"I had thought of retiring but I'm not going to retire because Sugar Ray Leonard is not a man to beat me," he said. "I want to fight Leonard again. I'm going to Panama to talk to my manager and arrange (a re-match). I don't want to be paid a penny. I want all the money to be donated to people suffering from cancer."

Duran explained he walked away in the eighth round of Tuesday's World Boxing Council title fight in New Orleans because of severe stomach cramps.

"I felt a weakening in my arms and I thought I was going to faint," he said.

Duran, 29, a former lightweight champion, handed Leonard his only defeat in their first match June 20 in Montreal.

NFL says Payton films 'inconclusive'

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (UPI) — The NFL office Friday said a review of game films was inconclusive whether Chicago running star Walter Payton fumbled at a critical point of last week's Bears' loss to Atlanta.

Payton was ejected from the game after allegedly pushing an official in a protest of the call. The NFL said Payton's action occasionally would result in an automatic fine but Commissioner Pete Rozelle will study the incident before deciding whether to issue a penalty.

The league statement drew a sharply critical response from Bears' General Manager Jim Finks, who said he had hoped the league would have admitted the officials "blew it."

Jim Heffernan, publicity director for the NFL office, said a review of the films and videotape of the play "proved inconclusive whether a fumble occurred on the play."

Heffernan added Payton definitely grabbed head linesman Ed Marion and jolted him, a type of action that customarily results in a fine.

Finks questioned Heffernan in a telephone conversation from the Bears' training camp.

"Isn't it odd it's called a fumble if it is inconclusive?" Finks asked. Heffernan responded by saying it was a judgment call, adding, "I'm not saying the officials' call was wrong. We support the officials' call."

Navratilova gains tourney semifinals

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI) — Top-seeded Czech exile Martina Navratilova moved into the semifinals of a $200,000 women open tennis tournament Friday with a 4-6, 6-1, 7-6 win over South African Greer Stevens.

Playing in a leg brace to protect the knee following major surgery two years ago, Stevens displayed some of her best tennis to take the first set 6-4 before Navratilova, a two-time Wimbledon champion, stormed back to even the match and then toughed out a third set tiebreaker.

Navratilova will meet Australian Wendy Turnbull in Saturday's semifinals.

Turnbull had an equally rough go in her match against American Pam Shriver before winning 3-6, 6-3, 6-2. Despite winning only three of 17 matches against Navratilova, the fourth seeded Turnbull is confident of reaching the final. She defeated Navratilova in their last match two months ago.

The other semifinal match is between Yugoslavia's Mima Jausovec and rising Czech star Hana Mandlikova.

Jausovec, the unseeded conquer of second seed Evonne Goolagong Cawley in the third round, started slowly in her quarterfinal against American Candy Reynolds, but eventually triumphed 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Struggling WBL starts third season

CHICAGO (UPI) — The fledgling Women's Pro Basketball League, still struggling for survival, opens its third season Sunday when the Minnesota Pillies host the expansion Nebraska Wranglers at the Minneapolis Auditorium.

Four teams, including the league champion New York Stars, suspended operations over the summer, but the addition of the Wranglers and the New England Gulls brings the league total to nine teams. A year ago, the WBL had 12 franchises but the Philadelphia team folded during the season.

Minnesota, buoyed by the presence of three 6-footers on the front line and standout Angela Colman at guard, takes on a smaller but quicker Nebraska entry in the league opener. The Pillies recently traded forward Kim Jordan and guard Josephine Wright to the Wranglers in exchange for center-forward Tantis Shavers and a 1981 draft pick, setting up a natural rivalry between the two teams.

Pitt halfback Joe McCall is pulled down by Penn State's Gene Gladys (89) during Friday's clash between rival schools

Safety turned quarterback leads Pitt

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — Rick Trocano stood on the sideline last year as then freshman Dan Marino riddled the Penn State secondary for 27 yards in Pittsburgh's convincing victory over the Nittany Lions.

This year, Trocano got his moment at Beaver Stadium and the senior quarterback made the most of it.

Trocano passed 16 yards to tight end Benjie Pryor for one touchdown and ran nine yards for another Friday to lead the fourth-ranked Panthers to a 14-9 victory over fifth-ranked Penn State, enabling Pitt to retain an outside chance at the national championship.

Trocano was making his fifth straight start since being summoned from safety, where he began his season after coach Jackie Sherrill named Marino as his starting quarterback. He took the job when Marino was injured and kept it even after he returned.

"We're a strong, two-quarterback team," said Trocano, who passed for 123 yards and ran for 29 more. "It's hard for an opposing team to prepare for us. They never know who's going to be in there. It's very satisfying to beat them two years in a row."

Leading 7-3, the Gator Bowl-bound Panthers, 10-1, got what proved to be the winning touchdown after Sherrill elected to take three points from the scoreboard following David Trout's 33-yard field goal. Trout was hit after the boot by Lion end Rich D'Amico, giving the Panthers a first down at the Penn State nine.

Two plays later, Trocano froze the Penn State line with a fake and outtraced D'Amico into the end zone for the score.

"We had a chance to take the three points or the first down, but I felt we could score a touchdown," Sherrill said. "The (touchdown) play was a typically good play by our offense."

"It was a naked bootleg run," Trocano explained. "It was like a dive in the middle, except the guards pulled and I run around the end."

That drive began after Penn State tailback Curt Warner fumbled on the first play of the third quarter after being hit by end Ricky Jackson and Tom Flynn recovered at the Lions' 36.

The Nittany Lions, 9-2 and headed for the Fiesta Bowl, drew within five points on Todd Blackledge's 13-yard pass to Kenny Jackson set up on an interception by end Gene Gladys late in the third quarter. From then on, however, the vaunted defense of Pitt, ranked No. 1 in the country, rose to stop three Penn State drives into Panther territory.

"I thought it was a great football game," Penn State coach Joe Paterno said. "Pitt deserves an awful lot of credit. They hung in there and made the big plays when they had to. It was a tough game physically and both teams played with a lot of enthusiasm and aggressiveness."

In the fourth quarter, Pitt forced a punt after Penn State marked to their 34 and the Panthers took over on downs after a fourth-and-one play from the 37 lost three yards.

Blackledge directed the Nittany Lions to the Pitt 34 in the last minute but his sideline pass, which was an attempt to stop the clock, was intercepted by strong safety Carlton Williamson and the Panthers narrowed the deficit in the 80-game series to 39-33.

Navy-Army series tied at 37 wins for each

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Navy may have a successful season and a Navy State Bowl bid in hand, but the Midshipmen will put that in the back of their minds for about three hours today.

The Middies, 7-3, clash with Army for the 81st time at Veterans Stadium, where the nationally televised game has been moved after 35 straight years at JFK Stadium. They would appear to have the upper hand on the Cadets, 3-6-1, but it's not that simple.

The game will be broadcast to over 300 stations throughout the world and televised via satellite to eight countries. If that's not enough pressure for the Midshipmen, there's the first chance in 59 years for them to put Navy in front in the series, currently tied at 37-3-6.

"It means a lot more, not only to the fans who go out to the game, because it's heard all over the feet," Navy tackle and co-captain Frank McCallister said. "We have a pretty good season going but if we lose to Army, it would be a disaster."

The contest means just as much to the Cadets, who lost the last two meetings 29-0 and 31-7 but have been rejuvenated this year under the leadership of first-year Coach Ed Cavanaugh.

"It means a lot to go out there and play well against these guys," said Army senior split end Mike Fahnestock, who has picked up 918 yards on 45 catches. "It means a lot to the program, especially since the game is seen on national TV. I'll probably be more ready to play this game than any other."

The Middies have won four of five games since a disappointing 21-20 loss to Air Force. Ironically, Army's last win came against the Falcons by a 47-24 score.

Navy has built its successful season with a defense that is ranked seventh nationally both in yards allowed and points allowed. But the Cadets' offense has come to life this season behind the passing and running of Jerry Bennett, who will play with the aid of a neck jacket to protect his injured back.

Cowboys could spoil OU's plans

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — It's too late for Oklahoma State to salvage a winning season, but the Cowboys still have a chance to spoil the Orange Bowl plans of the cross-state rival Oklahoma Sooners.

However, the sixth-ranked Sooners are favored by about three touchdowns to deny the Cowboys that spoils role in the regular season finale for both teams.

OU needs the victory to claim sole possession of the Big Eight Conference championship and confirm its reservation in Miami on New Year's Saturday.

An OSU win would split the league title between the Sooners and Nebraska, and the Orange Bowl committee has said the Cornhuskers would be the league representative if that happens.

The Cornhuskers go to Miami, the Sooners will go to El Paso, Texas and play in the Sun Bowl.

Coach Barry Switzer has declared his Sooners, 8-2 for the season and 8-0 in the Big Eight, in the best physical condition they have been all season. The only problem would be a mental letdown after big wins against Missouri and Nebraska, but Switzer doesn't think that will happen.

"We aren't going to let them get down," Switzer proclaimed.

Coach Jimmy Johnson says his Cowboys, 3-6 overall and 2-3-1 in the league, have so many injuries he doesn't even know who will start at quarterback Saturday.

Houston Nutt was in charge during the Pokes' tie and three victories, but he injured his knee against Iowa State last week and is considered doubtful Saturday.

John Doerner and Jim Traber split practice time in the Cowboys' final full-pad drill Wednesday and Johnson said he didn't expect "anything decisive" to come from the sweat-soaked workouts Thursday and Friday.

Virgos find it good day to repair property, study ways to improve finances

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day when you would be wise to draw up new plans that could give you more security in the future. Devise a course of action whereby you and associates can gain benefits.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Confering with close ties and planning the future wisely is important today. Attend a worthwhile group meeting.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Plan how to be more cooperative with associates in the future and get better results. Relax and express happiness.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study your environment and make plans for improvement. You can easily make a fine impression on others today.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Use this day for improving conditions at home by adding more comfort. Put your talents to work.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Communicate with associates early in the day and plan how to improve production in the future. Think constructively.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A fine day to study how to improve your financial status and in a most ethical fashion. Make repairs to property.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Study your appearance well and know how to improve it to your own satisfaction. Take time to engage in favorite hobby.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can obtain the data you need that was difficult to get during regular workweek. Strive for increased happiness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A fine day to cultivate new acquaintances. Take steps to make your surroundings more comfortable.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Show more interest in civic affairs and gain added prestige. Take health treatments and improve your appearance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Delve into some new outlet that is appealing and could be profitable in the future. Express your talents.

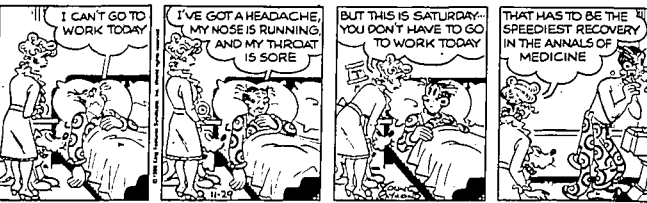

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Study all the promises you have made and keep them to the best of your ability. Take no risks with money at this time.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those clever young people who can understand the motives of others very well, so be sure to give a fine education that includes social science. One here who will have a great interest in religion.

What's what

Finding out secret color assists every romantic

Every woman has a secret color that does something special for her looks, she thinks. Whether it's the tint itself or just the feeling of confidence it gives her doesn't matter. It works when she wears it. Item No. 833C in our Love and War man's file is a recommendation to you, the man, eager to please in matters romantic. Find out what your girlfriend's secret color is and match it with small gifts. Scarves. Flowers. Costume jewelry. If she tells you her favorite color is green, as currency, you know she's onto you, and you can put this item back into the file.

An advised word "homogenous" first showed up in print in a University of Denver student newspaper 12/1973. But apparently it has stuck. Merriam-Webster editors expect it to appear in forthcoming dictionaries.

ANCHORMEN

Q. Do TV anchormen like Walter Cronkite, John Chancellor and Frank Reynolds get to say anything they want to on their nightly news show?

A. At least once, yes. Cronkite is authorized about maybe five minutes of his own air time, Chancellor four, maybe five, and Reynolds three to four. They're so disciplined in experience you can't always guess whether their editorial judgments are personal or corporate. Oddsballs couldn't last long with such authority.

Q. Why are hemlock and spruce said to be more effective than other trees in screening off highway noise?

A. Their foliage is spaced in such a manner so as to baffle most sound wave lengths. Researchers say that.

HAZARDOUS WORK

Nobody under age 18 can be hired for hazardous work, according to Federal regulation, which stipulates now that it's hazardous to drive a vehicle, lift heavy equipment, and operate much machinery, including power saws and the like. Sons of farmers must grin at that one, what?

Am asked why clocks in catalogs almost always are set at 8:20 or 10:10. Because they photograph better with the hands in those positions, that's all.

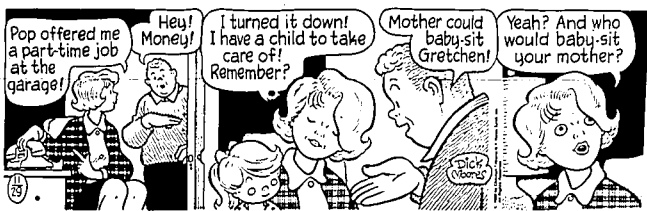

These familiar with the Chinese film industry know it's news to report the movie makers over there now permit on-screen kissing.

Our Language man says both "strait" and "affairs" are singular.
