Repair work at state pen under budget

BOISE (UPI) — Reconstruction of the riot-torn Idaho State Penitentiary has cost slightly more than $1.9 million.

But that is about $200,000 less than originally was estimated — prison officials said Friday.

Warden Darrol Gardner and prison operations chief Don Cook cited the figures as they guided reporters and photographers through the virtually restored main compound, which convicts reentered July 23.

"It was the first tour allowed of the prison since a few days following the riot.

Cook, supervisor of the reconstruction project, said work was 85 percent completed. He said the job was costing less than the initial estimate of $2.1 million because of overestimates of the damage in some buildings and because corners were cut with inmate labor.

Gardner said the project would allow the prison to comply with Gov. John Evans' recent order to bring back from other states about 130 inmates who were sent outside Idaho while construction was completed.

Evans issued the order to move the prisoners back by Jan. 15 after Montana State Prison officials complained that Idaho inmates there continuously caused trouble.

The warden also showed the planned location of a new gun tower which he said would allow guards to quickly quell most riots. He said the new tower — to be built in the center of the cell-house area — could have been used to stop the last riot without major damage if it had been there in July.

Gardner said the original construction of the prison was partly to blame for the summer riot, because seven of the 11 towers planned for construction never were built due to budget overruns.

Of 126 Idaho prisoners being housed in other states as of Friday, all but about 12 would be shipped back to Idaho by Jan. 15, Gardner said, including the troublesome two-dozen convicts in Montana.

Many buildings damaged in July sported improved security features. Gardner said many windows broken in the riot were replaced with brick walls. This was done not so much for security, but to curb the cost of any future disturbances.

In other places, such as the gymnasium, smaller windows were installed this time.

"The inmates threw pool balls through all the windows," Gardner said. "There is a next time, it will be twice as hard for them to break all the windows."

In two of the refurbished cell houses, extensive networks of bars were installed to hamper prisoners' access to guard areas.

Gardner said escape hatches would be built atop all cell houses once the new guard tower is built. He said the emergency exits would allow guards to get out of the cell blocks to seek refuge in nearby guard towers.

Fog closes airport, lays ice on roads

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Fog continued to hover over much of Magic Valley Friday, cutting off air travel and leaving black ice on some highways early in the day.

Sheriff's officers investigated four accidents in the west end of the county and Buhl city officers reported one early Friday, all the result of fog and icy highways.

Officers said injuries were minor. Road reports Friday afternoon indicated ice had melted but that night time temperatures could again prove hazardous for motorists. Many highways were reported wet and visibility was poor due to heavy fog.

Traffic on Highway 75 was tied up for about two hours Friday afternoon when a semi-truck with trailer and a farm tractor collided on a narrow bridge.

About 4:30 p.m., the truck driven by Ed Porter, 34, of Shoshone collided with the tractor driven by Richard Robinson, 35, of Jerome, on a bridge three miles north of Shoshone. No one was reported injured.

Both vehicles were destroyed, according to Lincoln County sheriff deputies. The truck, owned by W. R. Cooper Construction Co., of Jerome was valued at $10,000; the tractor's value was put at $40,000.

No citations were issued, and sheriff deputies say the accident was partly due to the fog.

Six police in Twin Falls reported an accident west of Jerome on the Appleton road also occurred Friday morning in thick fog.

Some local area highways still had icy spots by early afternoon, officers said. Republic Airlines spokesman Elwood (Hap) Masoner said visibility at mid-afternoon was about one-sixteenth of a mile at the Twin Falls airport.

"We can't even see the tower from here," he said. "The airport is full of people who want to catch a flight out, but all planes have been overlying the field here today."

He said some were able to land at Boise because of cloud seeding there and the Salt Lake City airport had marginal conditions with planes just able to get in there most of the day.

Masoner said Boise officials report about two planes can land after each seeding but the practice does allow some air traffic in and out. Twin Falls does not have seeding capabilities, he said.

"From what we hear it isn't apt to get better right away. One of the pilots told me the heavy fog begins at about American Falls and covers the whole Snake River Valley," Masoner said.

He said one private pilot took off in the fog Friday but otherwise there were no flights in or out of Twin Falls Friday.

Masoner said the 9:13 p.m. flight to Boise Thursday also flew over but other Thursday flights were able to land and take off without any difficulty.

The place to be Friday was on top of ski mountain.

Ski resorts were reporting clear sunny weather. The U.S. Forest Service's Ketchum ranger station said all was clear, bright and sunny in Ketchum and at Sun Valley with just a few clouds drifting in by late afternoon.

Weedy Anderson, Pomerelle owner, said the resort had bright blue skies, no wind and warm temperatures. He said snow conditions are hard in the morning but soften up for good skiing by 11 a.m.

He said more snow is needed, but the skies are "getting by" with most runs in good condition, thanks to snow grooming efforts.

Plane crash kills four near Rexburg

REXBURG, Idaho (UPI) — Four members of a St. Anthony family were killed Friday in the crash of a light aircraft about a mile north of the Rexburg airport.

Authorities said two people were killed in the crash and the other two died later.

Federal authorities said the pilot of the single engine aircraft was Jerry Remington, St. Anthony, who survived the crash but later died in an Idaho Falls hospital.

Authorities said the other victims were Remington's children. Two were killed in the crash and one died in route to the hospital.

Lynette Remington, about 24, was killed in the crash along with Jeff Remington, 5, Nicole Remington, 2, died enroute to the hospital.

Dale Rice of the Federal Aviation Administration in Boise said Remington made a call to the Idaho Falls airport shortly before the crash shortly after noon and said he was landing at the Rexburg airport because of an emergency.

A witness to the crash said the plane "dropped like a bird falling out of the air."

Madison County Coroner Dale Clausen said the aircraft hit once on the ground and "then bounced about 90 feet." He said the plane crashed into a field just north of the Rexburg airport.

Alaska pipeline leaks goo across the tundra

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — An estimated 210,000 gallons of oil spilled onto the frozen Arctic tundra in what appears to be the largest leak ever from the Trans-Alaska Pipeline, officials said Friday.

The leak occurred when a valve popped off a small bypass section of the pipeline Thursday night about 115 miles south of the Prudhoe Bay oil fields, sending a fountain of black crude gushing several feet into the air.

"If it proves to be as much as the estimate, it's the greatest amount of any leak to date," said John Ratterman, spokesman for Alyeska Pipeline Co. "But I emphasize it's all been contained at the site."

Ratterman said there appeared to be little danger of serious environmental damage from the leak thanks to sub-freezing temperatures.

"It's near a small creek, but all of that land up there, including all the lakes and streams, is frozen," he said. "We think we'll probably be able to just pick up the oil — which is congealed and mixed with the snow — and remove it by truck to a site where we can deal with it."

Ratterman said the 800-mile pipeline was shut down at 6:50 p.m. Thursday, shortly after the leak was discovered. The valve was replaced early Friday and the pipeline resumed pumping oil at its normal capacity of 1.5 million barrels a day by 3 p.m. Alaska time.

There was no leak from the main 48-inch-diameter pipe, he said.

Northern Alaska gets no sunlight in the winter, making it difficult for pipeline crews to determine exactly how much oil leaked on the ground and where it went, said Ratterman.

The oil spilled straight up, like a fountain, out of the line for at least four hours. It left the pipe as a warm liquid, but the 20-degree temperatures cooled it to a jelly-like consistency.

Based on the size of the opening and the pressure in the pipe, "we determined the leak probably would not exceed 5,000 barrels," Ratterman said. A barrel of oil contains 42 gallons.

Ratterman said the problem occurred on a 1 1/2-inch diameter bypass pipe at a junction where a small valve was screwed into the line — similar to the way a garden hose is screwed into a water faucet.

The threat was faulty on either the valve or the line and the valve "popped off," he said.

Bypass lines were built at every point on the main 48-inch pipeline where there is a "check valve." In case the oil flow through that valve has to be stopped for any reason.

Power play

Evans faces Senate battle over power board appointments

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho Gov. John Evans may have trouble with the state Senate over his two pending appointments to the eight-member board charged with administering the new Northwest power law.

"Attorney General David Leroy informed Evans Friday that Senate President Pro Tem Reed Budge, R-Soda Springs, had asked for an opinion on whether the upper chamber will have confirmation power over the appointments.

"It promises to be a hot potato of the first order," one state official said of the apparent brewing battle involving Evans, a Democrat, the Republican-controlled Senate, and the federal government.

Rupert Mayor W. E. "Bill" Whitlitt and Filer rancher/businessman George Anthony are reportedly under consideration for the posts.

At stake are Idaho's two posts on the new board, which will administer the law — signed by President Carter Dec. 5 — to distribute public power in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana.

Should the Idaho Senate get a chance to vote on Evans' appointments, it could shoot them down and, in effect, deprive Evans of his appointment power.

If the Senate were to scuttle Evans' appointments, the governor would be required to submit by June 30 a list of candidates for the posts to the U.S. Energy Department secretary. That official will be a Republican in the administration of Ronald Reagan.

Budge, however, said his main concern was that he was looking for ways to "protect" Idaho from the commission's actions. He said he altogether opposed Idaho's participation in the regional power program.

Budge asked for the opinion last week, and Leroy said Friday the opinion would be ready within a few weeks. The main questions were whether the federal government may treat what could be defined as a state agency — the regional panel — and would the Senate have confirmation power as it now does over most other gubernatorial appointments.

Evans said Friday his staff had determined he has authority to make the appointments and that it was "a matter of judgment" whether the Senate should have confirmation power. He said he was looking forward to seeing the attorney general's formal opinion.

Budge said he believed the Senate definitely should have power to confirm or deny such appointments, but he added that his main concern was about the Northwest power commission itself.

"I'm concerned about whether the state should even become involved with something like that (regional power distribution)," Budge said. "It's a threat to the agricultural community and our irrigation system."

"The chairman would have dictatorial powers over that commission. We (Idaho) just don't have the political muscle to defend ourselves. In a water-short year, the west coast would want all the power. They would force drafts of the irrigation system we have in Idaho."

Rupert mayor actively seeks power post

RUPERT — Mayor William Whitlitt of Rupert said Friday he is interested in a seat on the new Northwest Power administering committee and is actively seeking an appointment.

"I am interested because we (Rupert) are one of 13 public power distributing cities in the state. The citizens of our city and surrounding rural area and adjacent cities are extremely dependent on the hydro power we now use," Whitlitt said.

He said he has the endorsement of the majority of public power cities in the state and is anxious to work to keep the hydro power produced in the northwest protected for the users of the northwest.

The Rupert mayor testified in 1979 before the U.S. House subcommittee on energy, urging the establishment of a northwest power board and approval of the Northwest Public Power Law.

"One of our major concerns was to give Idaho equal representation on the board with other states although those states may be larger states," Whitlitt said.

"We feel fortunate that the power law gives us that equal representation. Each state (Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Montana) will have two representatives on the administrative board," he explained.

Whitlitt said he feels the governor should have the right to appoint the two Idaho members. He said the committee will function as a vital force in keeping northwest produced power available in the northwest at rates acceptable to the western states.

The alternative, he said is a national power grid, or "nationalization of our hydro power facilities." This would probably result in the same rates being paid by Idaho users as is paid in more populated areas of the country where salaries and income opportunities are much higher ours. We have many retired people, young families just starting out and others on fixed incomes that cannot afford higher power bills," Whitlitt said.

Whitlitt said he is not opposed to new sources of power development, such as nuclear plants, but he said he is not in favor of them.

He said he has been interested in alternative power developments for many years and feels there are additional opportunities for power on canals, streams and from wind and sun sources.

Rupert purchases power from the Bonneville Power Administration as do several cities such as Burley, Declo, Heyburn and Albion and as do residents living in surrounding rural communities.

George Anthony of Buhl is also being mentioned as a member of the committee but was in California Friday and unavailable for comment.

Bomb threat grounds plane

DENVER (UPI) — A bomb threat late Friday forced a Trans World Airlines 747 jetliner on a scheduled non-stop flight from New York to Los Angeles to divert to Denver. No explosive device was found on the jet.

A spokesman for TWA said the 239 passengers were evacuated without incident.

An airline official at Kennedy Airport took the call from a male caller who said "There is a bomb on flight 93."

Security personnel used scent dogs to search the aircraft and baggage was removed from the jumbo jet to be put through X-ray machines, but no explosive device was found.

Election turnout was poor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal Election Commission figures show about 54 percent of the nation's eligible voters cast ballots in the presidential election — the worst turnout in more than three decades.

The FEC said its final figures, released this week, were based on reports from individual state election officials.

It had 86,495,678 cast — 53.95 percent of the voting-age population — across — ballots for any of 21 presidential candidates appearing on various state ballots as well as additional write-in choices.

The 1980 turnout compares with 54.4 percent in 1976 and was the lowest since the 1948 presidential election, when only 51.1 percent of eligible voters cast ballots.

City ordered to turn off gas

DAISSETTA, Texas (UPI) — The Texas Railroad Commission Friday ordered the city of Daisetta to immediately shut down its crumbling gas system as a potential threat to life.

The city indicated it would fight the order to buy time to make the necessary repairs.

An even before the official papers were served on the city, the city's gas system was under repair. Crews were working feverishly to lay lines that would correct at least part of the problem with the leaking, 30-year-old system.

"We have crews working around the clock to correct the problem," McCann said. "We're trying to explain to them we're doing everything possible to make the repairs. We're not dragging our feet."

Strike nears on Conrail lines

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — Union and Conrail officials Friday agreed to meet over the weekend in an effort to head off a threatened midnight Sunday strike that could affect 85,000 daily commuters in southern New England and New York.

The dispute centers over what local union officials called an illegal reduction in pay for the 800 members of the New Haven branch of the United Transportation Union.

Local union officials ordered the strike after Conrail announced a $22 daily salary cut.

Conrail officials, in a statement issued in Philadelphia, said they were implementing the conditions of a 1978 agreement with the UTU which the company said had been signed by all the union locals except the New Haven branch.

Pilot's story triggers probe

MONTELEONE, Vt. (UPI) — A retired Navy pilot's story of secret missions to dump nuclear wastes in the Atlantic Ocean off New Jersey in 1947 touched off an investigation Friday by a U.S. House subcommittee.

"The critical question raised by these allegations is, was there a lot of military dumping that was never honestly and fully recorded and reported to the public," said Barry Hager, senior counsel to the Government Operations subcommittee on energy and the environment, in a telephone interview.

George Earle IV, of Reading, Vt., made headlines this week when he broke 33 years of silence to describe three secret missions he flew in 1947.

He said on each occasion he was ordered to drop 55-gallon drums full of radioactive wastes from his B-17 into the Atlantic, about 100 miles from the New Jersey coast.

JFK acidity study ending

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department said Friday that a scientific study of an FBI acoustic record from the 1963 assassination of John F. Kennedy is expected to be completed by April 30.

A spokesman said the Justice Department will not conclude its review of issues raised by House Assassinations Committee, which said there was a "95 percent probability" that a second gunman fired at Kennedy, until it receives the study.

The FBI provided support for its earlier conclusion, accepted by the Warren Commission, that Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone in killing the president — firing three shots.

Deadly holiday

Traffic accident-death toll climbs past 200

By United Press International

The driver of a car carrying eight people tried to race a commuter train through a railroad crossing on Chicago's South Side Friday.

He lost — and four more names were added to the list of New Year's weekend traffic fatalities, pushing the number past 200.

Investigating a bizarre hit-and-run accident after the body of a 33-year-old man was found on the side of a San Antonio road early Thursday.

Police said he apparently had been struck by at least four cars.

With the Holiday half over, a UPI count Friday showed at least 200 people had been killed in holiday traffic accidents since the death count began at 6 p.m. local time Wednesday.

California reported the most traffic fatalities with 35, followed by Texas with 21 and New York with 13.

Georgia and Illinois reported nine deaths each, followed by Alabama, Louisiana and Louisiana with eight each.

The National Safety Council estimated that 200 people could be killed in traffic accidents during the four-day weekend — and as many as 130 more could die later of injuries suffered in the weekend accidents, bringing the toll as high as 650.

Last year, 493 people were killed in traffic accidents during the four-day New Year's holiday and another 127 died later of wounds from the accidents.

It is the highest toll for 1980.

In one of the worst accidents of the weekend, a car loaded with eight people dodged a railroad crossing barrier and tried to race a train through the crossing on Chicago's South Side. The train rammed into the side of the auto and set it aflame.

Three men and a 6-year-old boy were killed. Four other passengers in the car were injured.

A trip home from a New Year's Eve party in Apple Valley, Calif., ended in tragedy. A speeding car, which witnesses said may have been involved in some kind of a race, broadsided another auto at an intersection Thursday. Four died.

Two people, snowmobiling home from a New Year's Eve party, were killed when their snowmobile collided with a car in Wisconsin's Dane County.

Rash of fires continues to claim lives in U.S.

By United Press International

Sixteen-year-old Howard Foster Jr. says he tried three times to call the New Brunswick, N.J., fire department while he was burning his neighbors' house.

Twice, he says, he got no answer and once he heard a busy signal.

The blaze killed seven people and was one of a rash of New Year's weekend fires that left at least 65 dead — many of them children.

New York reported 14 fire deaths, followed by New Jersey with seven, Ohio with six, and California and Illinois with five apiece. There were four fire deaths in Maine and Pennsylvania; three in Texas, Kentucky, Georgia and Alabama; two in Michigan and Minnesota and one each in Arkansas, Louisiana and Missouri.

Police and fire officials in New Brunswick Friday disputed Foster's claims he tried the city's emergency 911 telephone number three times without answer while his neighbors' house burned.

Police said the fire department responded to the call two minutes after it was received and fire officials said whoever reported the fire was "hysterical."

"The first call was a hysterical, anonymous male voice stating that there was a fire on Redmond street," the spokesman said. "They gave no address."

When firemen arrived at the home, all seven occupants were dead. They found the bodies of a 22-year-old mother and her three children huddled on the first floor of the house, just two feet from a window. The others — two adults and a child — were found elsewhere on the house.

A power failure in Norco, Calif., led to the death of a paraplegic woman and her 5-year-old son.

Darrell Wildick, who drives a newspaper delivery truck, tried frequently to reach his paraplegic wife, Mary, while he made his deliveries early New Year's Day in the Norco area.

He became worried when she didn't answer and returned to find his home in flames. Mrs. Wildick, 35, and her son, Darrell Jr., were dead.

A neighbor managed to smash a window and save the Wildicks' 2-year-old daughter, Laura.

Fire officials said Mrs. Wildick died when a lantern Mrs. Wildick apparently lit during a power failure fell from her wheelchair and set fire to the house.

Police get break in killings

By Buffalo, N.Y. (UPI)

A white man on a black man Friday gave police what they felt were solid leads in a probe of similar stabbing deaths in which two blacks were killed and a third was critically injured.

Police said Larry Little was attacked from behind by a white man while he was clearing snow from his parked car on a Buffalo street.

Little told police he knocked his assailant's knife away and repulsed the man again when he came at him with a beard. Little also said he bit the man on the leg as they scuffled.

Police said Little, who was not stabbed, supplied them with a good description of his attacker and the car in which he fled and some numbers from the car's license plate.

Police were unable to find a knife at the scene, but Little's car was being examined for any physical evidence, because the two brushed against it while grappling.

The attack prompted Police Commissioner James Cunningham to warn black citizens to contact police if they spotted a suspicious white in their neighborhoods.

"This attacker is a very, very bold person," Cunningham said. "The black community must certainly be very cautious and worried."

Another black, Calvin Crippen, 23, told police he fended off a knife attack New Year's Day while waiting for a bus. Crippen was not hurt.

Police said the description provided by Crippen generally matched the description Albert Menefee, 32, gave of his attacker.

Menefee, stabbed in the chest Wednesday as he left a Buffalo store, remained in critical, but improved, condition Friday after 24-hour guard at Buffalo General Hospital.

Erie County District Attorney Edward Cosgrove said Menefee's attacker may have been the same white man who fatally stabbed Roger Adams, 31, in Buffalo Monday and Wendell Barnes, 26, in Rochester Tuesday.

Cosgrove names a task force of state, local and federal agencies investigating the killings of six blacks in Buffalo last fall. Four were shot with the same gun, apparently by the same white man, and two were stabbed and mutilated.

Buffalo mayor vows to block nazi rally

By Buffalo, N.Y. (UPI)

Mayor James Griffin vowed Friday there would be "no way" the city would allow the neo-Nazi group to hold a rally scheduled for the birthday of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Griffin, who met with the city's Black Leadership Forum for 30 minutes in City Hall, said the city would also try to block a proposed counter-rally by civil rights groups in Jan. 15 to avoid a confrontation between the two sides.

"In no way will the Nazis be rallying in our city," the mayor said.

The National Socialist Party of America has scheduled a demonstration across from City Hall in Niagara Square on Jan. 15 and a group called the Martin Luther King Day Mobilization Rally Coalition plans a rally the same day. Neither group has been issued a permit to demonstrate.

The city's chief lawyer said if such denials were challenged in court, the city would defend them on the grounds "a climate of fear, a very volatile situation" exists in Buffalo due to the "isolated murders and attacks on blacks by a white man."

The mayor added the Nazi demonstration would be prohibited "because we are not going to let anyone desecrate the name of Dr. Martin Luther King or hurt the progress this city is making."

Sgt. Daniel Tauriello, chief of intelligence and special services, said the neo-Nazi rally might receive support from 3,000 youths who belong to a anti-let organization called the White Student Union of Buffalo and Western New York.

Feds issue search guidelines

By Washington (UPI)

The Justice Department Friday issued guidelines restricting the federal state of search warrants to obtain documentary material from individuals not subjects of criminal investigations.

The guidelines follow passage of the Privacy Act of 1974, which limits the ability of federal, state or local authorities to seize material relating to public communications in books, newspapers or broadcasts.

The law was prompted by a 1978 Supreme Court ruling in the case of a police search of the student newspaper office at Stanford University. The high court had searched copies considered non-suspicious third parties in criminal investigations.

A Justice Department spokesman said the guidelines are not only applied to the news media because the 1980 act limited the use of warrants in such cases.

The law required the attorney general to establish guidelines for search warrants for materials such as written or printed matter, photographs or film held by disinterested third parties.

The guidelines include safeguards against potential confidentiality in the professional relationships of lawyers, doctors, psychiatrists or clergymen.

In addition, federal officials may obtain warrants only if "less intrusive alternative means" would jeopardize obtaining the material.

All warrants must be approved by a government attorney. In an emergency, a law enforcement official may approve a warrant application, but the U.S. attorney must be notified within 48 hours.

"It is the responsibility of federal officers and employees to recognize the importance of these personal privacy interests and to protect against unnecessary intrusions," the guidelines said.

Generally, when documentary materials are held by a disinterested third party, a subpoena, administrative summons, or governmental request will be an effective alternative to the use of a search warrant and will be considerably less intrusive.

In the case of professional therapists or counselors, the guidelines require a U.S. attorney to determine whether a highly confidential information is involved.

If so, authorities must follow rules governing materials held by physicians or psychiatrists, whose right to confidentiality in patient communications is recognized by the courts.

Today's weather

More fog will arrive on cat's feet

Twin Falls, Burley-Rupert, Jerome-Groening areas: Areas of night and morning fog and low clouds, persisting into the afternoons in localized areas through Sunday. Otherwise, variable high clouds with a chance of a few showers Sunday. Highs in the 30s in foggy areas and in the 40s elsewhere. Lows in the 20s.

Camas Prairie, Halley, Wood River valley: Patches of night and morning fog in the valleys, persisting into the afternoons in localized areas. Otherwise, variable, cloudy through today, increasing with a chance of a few showers on Sunday. Highs 35 to 42 by day. Lows 5 to 15 degrees.

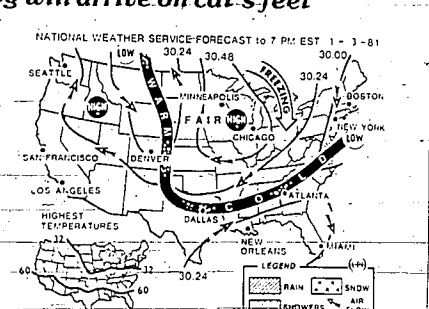

Northern Utah and Nevada: Fog and low clouds in northern Utah—slowly decreasing Saturday with higher cloudiness. Increasing. Mostly cloudy Sunday. Highs middle 30s today and near 40 Sunday. Lows 25 to 35, increasing clouds over Nevada with widely scattered showers today, decreasing tonight. Variable cloudiness Sunday. Highs in the 50s. Lows in the 20s.

Dense fog shrouded the Magic Valley Friday, and appears likely to persist through Saturday.

With the high clouds building, there is a slim chance of showers Sunday.

But prospects for a change in conditions — including snow or rain — by midweek appear to be improving.

Visibility of a quarter mile or less was reported Friday from Twin Falls, Gooding and Malad. Temperatures remained chilly in the fog blanket, but at Pocatello and Idaho Falls afternoon readings were in the middle 40s under partly cloudy skies.

The warmest reading in Idaho Friday was 46 degrees at Lander, while Fairfield's 43 above zero and Galena's 6 degrees were the coldest.

Elsewhere in the nation, the warmest temperature was 87 degrees at Palm Springs, Calif., and the coldest was 16 below zero at St. Ste. Marie, Mich.

The extended forecast for southern Idaho Monday through Wednesday calls for mostly dry at first with scattered snow showers in the mountains and rain or snow showers in the valleys by midweek. Temperatures will remain above normal with highs mostly in the 30s and lows mostly in the 20s.

"We're headed into a straight conflict in a lawsuit with state's rights on water. We'd be a hell of a lot better off without this. We've got the water and if they want it they now have the avenue to take it slight-of-hand. It's a case of the federal government usurping state's rights."

Senate authority over the power-pole appointments could set the stage for yet another battle between the Evans and the GOP Senate over the former Idahoan.

Public Utilities Commission member who has had several jobs in the Evans administration since his re-appointment to the PUC was nullified by the Senate in 1979.

Evans said Lenaghen was a possible nominee for one of the board posts, but, noting that —

Lenaghen's name "raises the hackles of some of my Republican friends," Evans added that Lenaghen was only one of many names on the list, made from recommendations Evans has received about the appointments.

"I think there are better qualified people," Budge said. "I hope the governor takes that into consideration."

Evans said Oregon Gov. Victor Atiyeh had told him he would make no appointments to the commission until a law is passed clearing up the question. Budge said he would support a similar law in Idaho.

Besides Lenaghen, Evans listed some other names he had received in his re-appointment to the PUC: Hall, a former state Energy Office director and Democratic legislative candidate; Chris Carlson, an aide of But, noting that —

U.S. Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus.

Gary Catron, a former Andrus assistant; Ed Schlender, Malta, a former state Water Resources Board member; and Fred Foster, a retired U.S. Bureau of Land Management official; and Peter B. Wilson, a Bonanza Ferry attorney and a Republican Party activist.

Has Iran accepted response?

By United Press International

A Tehran Radio commentary said Friday the United States had "implicitly accepted" all of Iran's conditions for the release of the 52 captives.

But the Tehran Radio announcer was cut off without explanation immediately after he made the remarks. The radio then began recitals of the Koran, the Moslem holy book.

There was speculation among observers of the hostage situation that the Iranian government might have cut off the announcer because his remarks were too conciliatory. Prime Minister-Mohammad Ali Rajai said last month the United States seemed to have accepted Iran's terms for ending the crisis, but later said his country had been "deceived." The Tehran Radio commentary, monitored by the British Broadcasting Corp. in London, said:

"It was follow-the-texts of the two letters sent by the U.S. government to Iran via the Algerian representatives on 12th November and 4th December. We can clearly see that the United States has implicitly accepted all the hostages and produced the U.S. president's signature as a guarantee for the implementation of Iran's demands."

In Washington, the State Department had no comment on the broadcast. The United States has said for some time it accepted Iran's terms "in principle." Iran's official Pars news agency reported that the Algerian intermediaries had arrived in Tehran and diplomats in Algiers said the three emissaries handed over what the State Department has called the outgoing administration's final response to Iranian demands for the release of the Americans, held for 426 days.

Iran has demanded that the United States deposit $24 billion with cover frozen Iranian assets and as collateral for the late shah's wealth. The State Department has refused to say how the latest Iranian proposals differed from the previous ones.

It said Rajai, President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr and other Iranian officials would attend a week-long "seminar" at the Foreign Ministry beginning Saturday to review "the country's foreign policy as well as issues related to the country's affairs in connection with other countries."

In a commentary Thursday, the radio said, "It looks as if the (hostage) matter is somehow nearing its end," but added that if Iran's demands are not met in the latest U.S. response "there would be no option but to put the hostages on trial."

The State Department has refused to say how the latest Iranian proposals differed from the previous ones.

Poles told of policy limits by Soviets

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — A liberal Communist Party newspaper, in an unusually frank assessment of the nation's current crisis, said Friday the Soviet Union would use whatever means necessary to keep Poland in the socialist bloc.

The newspaper Polityka also said Poland has no reason to pursue an independent foreign policy, that the new generation of Poles would prefer bolder reforms and that support in Poland's political system is declining.

It said any attempt to crush the current reform movement would bring even more intense resistance. Such frank remarks are themselves evidence of reforms that have swept the nation since the formation of the independent labor movement.

In a related development, the independent labor coalition Solidarity said a special commission will meet Jan. 7 to work out a formal response to a government decision giving workers alternate Saturdays off starting this month.

Solidarity already has rejected the plan, saying it violates agreements reached this summer between the government and striking workers that stipulated work-free Saturdays would take effect this year.

Solidarity also staged details of the trip later this month to the Vatican by Lech Walesa, leader of the labor coalition. Walesa will meet for private

Rep. Aspin predicts invasion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite the apparent lessening of tensions, the odds still are quite high the Soviet Union will invade Poland by the end of March, Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., said Friday.

Aspin, chairman of the House Intelligence subcommittee, has been looking into the activity of the U.S. intelligence community to forecast Soviet interventions, such as those in Czechoslovakia and Afghanistan. But his comments on the Polish situation were based on his own assessment.

"Contrary to the impression given in most news stories, the Kremlin is still getting its ducks in line," Aspin said.

Aspin said the Soviet military machine "is both precise and plodding. Its procedures require six months for an invasion of this kind, and that preparation time won't be up until mid-January."

The Russians probably have not made up their own minds about an invasion of Poland Aspin added.

But "the odds strongly favor an invasion," he said.

Aspin said the invasion is likely for three reasons: bureaucratic inertia — the fact that many people have invested lots of time, money and effort preparing invasion plans; the apparent inability of the Warsaw government to rein in the trade union movement; and the fact that many Polish Communist opposed to the current leaders would like to see a Russian invasion to sweep out the present Polish leadership.

talks with Polish-born Pope John Paul II Jan. 14.

Polityka, edited by Central Committee member Mieczyslaw Rakowski, has been used for years as a platform for various views and is considered "liberal." The main party newspaper Trybuna Ludu reflects purely the views of the whole party, and articles in it are considered as official.

Polityka said Poland's significance in international relations stems from its membership in the socialist bloc and "Poland has kind of forces at its disposal to implement its political interests independently," the newspaper said.

Polityka said other socialist countries, especially the Soviet Union, feel endangered by the political conditions in Poland.

"The Soviet Union has clearly specified that Poland's presence in the bloc of the Socialist countries is the basic condition for its security," the newspaper said.

The Soviet Union lost 20 million people in World War II and its foreign policy ever since has been based on national security, the paper said.

"The Soviet Union vigilantly watches the developments of events in Poland, reserving for itself the right to protect its own interests by all means at its disposal," the newspaper said.

The paper did not specify what means might be used, but suggested military and economic were available.

On internal matters, the paper said quick economic reforms were essential and that the party should develop new means of leadership "that should be different than divine orders."

It said that the Solidarity labor coalition, which counts 10 million members, has the chance to be a purely labor-oriented organization but could lose its power if it pushed onto the trade of political operation.

Ministerial flap could bring about Begin's fall

JERUSALEM (UPI) — A second cabinet minister threatened Friday to quit in a dispute over wage increases for teachers, endangering Prime Minister Menachem Begin's fragile coalition.

At the same time coalition leaders' support appeared to be slipping, with one minister threatening to resign. Hurwitz not to follow through on his earlier in the week to quit if the cabinet approves teacher pay raises of 30 percent to 60 percent at a crucial Sunday meeting.

Education Minister Zevulun Hammer said in an interview published Friday that he would step down if the teacher pay hike recommendations are not honored.

But while Hammer hinted he would accept a compromise, Hurwitz stood firm.

Hurwitz has demanded spending cuts to fight an annual inflation rate that reached 135 percent in 1980 — the highest figure in the world according to the International Monetary Fund.

If Hurwitz resigns at Sunday's weekly cabinet meeting, he would likely drag his Rafi faction's three Knesset votes out of Begin's coalition, leaving it controlling a minority 57 of 120 parliament seats.

Coalition leaders have lined up the Ahva faction, led by Shlomo Eliahu and also having three votes, to replace the Hurwitz faction in the coalition but there was uncertainty whether a weakened Begin coalition could get parliament approval for the Ahva-for-Rafiswitch.

Hammer and two other cabinet ministers represent the 12-member

National Religious Party in the government. Party leader and Interior Minister Josef Burg said Thursday the party should consider supporting early elections if Hurwitz resigns.

Israeli elections were scheduled no later than Nov. 17, 1981, but could be held as early as this spring if Begin resigns or loses his majority in parliament. Aida said the prime minister had no intention of stepping down.

Red Brigades vow terrorism will increase

ROME (UPI) — The latest victim of Red Brigades' terrorism was buried Friday with the urban guerrilla gang declaring it would stage "more terrifying" attacks in its bid to bring down the government and install a communist regime.

Crowds filling the streets outside the Holy Apostles' basilica shouted "bring back the death penalty!" and "shoot them all!" while funeral services were held in the church for Carabinieri Gen. Enrico Galvagni.

Galvagni, 60, the head of security arrangements for prisons holding terrorists, was shot to death while returning home with his wife on New Year's Eve mass by two youths posing as messengers.

The Red Brigades in a communique published by Rome newspapers Friday took responsibility for the killing and threatened "blows 10 times greater and more terrifying in the ranks of the bourgeoisie."

It said the killing of the general was a reprisal for a police raid that ended a rebellion by Red Brigades prisoners at a top security jail in Trani on Monday.

Syria reportedly executes hundreds in reprisal effort

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — Syrian army units rounded up and executed 200 alleged supporters of an anti-government underground group in a public square in the central Syrian city of Aleppo, Jordanian and Iraqi news agency reports said Friday.

Well-informed sources in Beirut said the reports of the mass execution were accurate, but a senior Syrian official, contacted in Damascus, said they were "so ridiculous that it is not even worth any comment."

Independent sources said said in recent months, Syrian police and special army units have killed "dozens of people in Aleppo because one or two shots were believed to have been fired from their apartment buildings."

Twisting his arm

Burlingame, R.I., officials are getting plucked at Welfare Director John Nolan Jr.'s refusal to collect his $415 pay checks. They may force him to "break" a campaign promise and take the money. Nolan, a retired steamfitter, says the job only takes four hours a week and should be part-time, or eliminated. But Town Treasurer Carlton Brown claims the $10,000 a year allocated for the post by voters must be accepted because of the taxpayers' mandate. The town attorney is preparing an opinion.

Metered eateries

Singer-songwriter Melissa Manchester was in a popular Hollywood restaurant recently when she spotted an intriguing note at the bottom of the menu: $1.50 minimum per hour. "I thought I had mistakenly wandered into a Kinney Auto Park," she said. On the other hand, it's cheap lodgings.

Bonzaiing

Hundreds of thousands of Japanese paid homage to Emperor Hirohito Friday, one of two days the palace gates are open for the public. The 79-year-old emperor and Empress Nagako waved on a balcony behind a bullet-proof window shield as well-wishers shouted Banzai! (long live) and waved paper flags emblazoned with the rising sun. The royal couple was flanked by other members of their family, including Crown Prince Akihito and Princess Michiko. Hirohito observed his 56th year on the throne, making his tenor longest of the centuries-old dynasty.

Chrysler Imperial

Chrysler Corporation chairman Lee Iacocca will be hawking another kind of Imperial later this month, a cigar named after the top-of-the-line Chrysler. Don Diego cigars is using a print ad featuring a portrait of the cigar-smoking auto boss snapped by Richard Avedon. The ad does not mean Iacocca has no faith in the future of his job with the financially ailing auto company — Don Diego has done a series of "A-Man-and-His Cigar" ads using corporate execs.

Pigeons be warned — the former national hang gliding champion plans to become the first person to circle Central Park in a motorized hang glider.

In 8 degree water, these 'Polar Bears' are 'bananas'

'Polar Bears' take a dive

A record 1,840 revelers — some in tuxedos and top hats — welcomed the New Year by plunging into the 8-degree waters of English Bay off Vancouver, British Columbia, in the granddaddy of annual Polar Bear swims. Officials credited the mild, 10-degree weather for the large turnout. As a brass band played popular tunes, New Zealander Brendan Horam took first place in the 100-yard race to a buoy. "My brother stole my clothes as a practical joke," a blue-lipped Horam chattered. Bert Cornwall, 75, won the award for being the oldest human polar bear in the 1981 swim. The annual Polar Bear swims feature individuals plunging into the New Year — and the coldest water participants can find. This year swims involving hundreds of people were reported in New Jersey, and off the much-warmer Ventura, Calif., beaches.

'Miracle' car invented?

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — A Mississippi mechanic claims he has invented an electric car that will run 200,000 miles without gasoline, oil, water or even recharging. Larry Jamison calls the motor "the Jamison Energizer." The 65-year-old Nettleton, Miss., man commutes to Memphis seven days a week to labor on his invention, housed in his one-room shop.

"Two years ago I went to work on the idea full time, and I've been working seven days a night a week ever since," said the slow-talking Jamison.

Jamison says he can wire the dozen or so cylindrical-shaped motors and energizers into virtually any truck or car — at a cost of about $6,000.

"The difference between this motor and all the other electrical cars on the market is that mine never needs to be recharged," he said. "It produces more electricity than it uses and stores it up in batteries."

"Also, those other cars don't have any real power. I've got a motor that will outdo your Cadillacs and your Lincolns. When we get into production, I'll guarantee the motor for 200,000 miles." Jamison Thursday displayed a 1977 Ford Courier pickup equipped with a "Jamison Energizer." He admits it has a couple of "small bugs."

"He said a control switch that acts as an accelerator is giving him problems and keeping him from driving the pickup himself. Jamison's secret is a shiny metal cylinder a little more than a foot long and about 10 inches in diameter. He won't discuss what makes it work.

"This is the only one like it in the world," he said. "I don't care what electrical engineers say, but here, this is different. It's not in the book."

Jamison said no one will believe his idea will work.

"For two years, people have been saying, 'You're nuts — it won't run. I've got a motor just said I was throwing my money away that it wouldn't run a lick,' he said.

"As Jamison talked, an associate drove the pickup back and forth across the shop.

"It's working," he told the onlookers. "You can see that for yourself."

Jamison says he's been contacted by major firms in Germany, France and the United States, but doesn't plan to make a deal. "I am going to let nobody have it," he said. "I want to manufacture it myself."

Man attempting solo Pacific voyage rescued

KAHULUI, Maui (UPI) — A sailor was rescued from a small boat near Maui Friday after a three-month solo voyage from Canada. The vessel was found after emergency signals were heard off Maui Thursday.

The sailor, reported in good condition, said he had hit a Pacific storm two months ago and lost much of his food in the ocean.

City faces near-war over bar closing

NEW ELLENTON, S.C. (UPI) — A recent outbreak of violence that included the burning of the mayor's Cadillac and the firing of a shotgun blast into the home of a city councilman was blamed Friday on a band of young "punks" disgruntled over the closing of a beer joint.

The latest incident occurred shortly after midnight New Year's Day, when someone fired a shotgun blast through the bedroom window of City Councilman Gene Whitman's home. No one was injured, but Whitman said his son and a friend were in the house at the time.

Two days earlier, New Ellenton Police Chief Bill Bledsoe reported an anonymous telephone call threatened to blow up City Hall.

Mayor Carl Langley noted the violence began two weeks ago after officials closed down the town's only beer joint, which was frequented by local youths.

Langley returned home from the Gator Bowl football game in Jacksonville, Fla., Monday night to find the smoldering remains of his burned-out Cadillac growing in his driveway. He said someone had taken off the gas cap and doused the car with gasoline and ignited it.

The mayor responded by clamping a midnight-to-6 a.m. curfew on the town of 3,400, but the shotgun attack on Whitman's home was under the curfew, which applies to all youths under the age of 21.

Officials have no suspects but believe the violence is coming from a band of youths who hung around the beer hall.

"Yes, I do think it's just directed at us," said Langley, who is also the city editor of The Augusta

Herald in nearby Augusta, Ga. "The only motive I can think of is we've refused to renew a business license for a beer joint."

The culprits, who Langley said would be prosecuted "just as hard as we can" — if captured, include "less than half a dozen hoodlums, vandals, punks, thieves, whatever you want to call them," he noted.

The New Year's Day shooting marked the second time the Whitman home has been singled out as a target. The house was burglarized Christmas morning.

Two young men were charged with burglarizing Whitman's house, and most of his valuables were returned.

"If you ask me if I'm afraid, yes, I'm afraid, but not to the point of not prosecuting," Whitman said.

Feuding clans kill one in ambush on highway

KERMIT, W.Va. (UPI) — Nine-year-old Thomas Rose was the innocent victim in a family feud that erupted in gunfire during a highway ambush in southwest West Virginia, a Mingo County law officer said Friday.

Rose had hitched a ride with Marion and Dwayne Brewer Thursday afternoon, unaware that the two Brewers were involved in an ongoing conflict with their cousins.

As the pickup truck rolled up the road along Marrowbone Creek in the heart of the West Virginia coalfields that spawned the notorious Hatfields and McCoys, shotgun and rifle blasts barked out, killing the boy and wounding Marion Brewer in the left arm.

Jailed on murder, attempted murder and malicious assault charges were Paul Brewer, 40, and his twin 18-year-old sons, Brent and Kent, all of Kermit.

"Evidently, there had been alteration a week earlier between Marion and Paul and they've had hard feelings ever since," said Lt. James Gilman. "Apparently Paul Brewer came out on the short end of that fight."

They apparently argued again prior to this thing yesterday and one thing led to another. They waited in front of their house just above the road and when the truck went by they just opened fire with two shotguns and a rifle."

One police officer said trouble may not be over in the community near the Kentucky border.

"There will be more trouble," said Kermit Police Chief Raymond Johnson. "We expect more violence. The people here are very clanish people."

"If somebody hadn't gotten killed, they would never have reported it to police. They'd have just taken care of it themselves."

Second phase of draft registration begins

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Selective Service System is completing its "catch-up" registrations of 18-year-old males, saying it has cut four weeks from the time necessary to put 108,000 additional men in uniform. In the second phase of its effort to update a list of current 18-year-olds, men born in 1962 are being called to register with Selective Service beginning Monday.

Men born the first three months of 1962 are being asked to go to post offices on Monday, those born in the second three months on Tuesday and so on. Friday and Saturday are makeup days.

The penalties for failing to register within the prescribed time — a felony — are five years in prison or a fine of up to $10,000.

After January 10, the system returns to the more familiar one of permanent continuous registration so each man registers as he reaches his 18th birthday.

The first "catch-up registration" — catching up with all current 18-year-old males — was held in late July and early August. A Selective Service System spokesperson says the effort was "95 percent successful."

Of about 3.9 million 18-year-olds

born in 1960 and 1961, 3.7 million went to a post office to sign a registration form and provide proof of identification, social security number, address and telephone number.

Technically the males are not registering for a draft — since no draft authorization exists. They only are providing their whereabouts to the Selective Service System in case a draft ever is authorized.

Virgos should establish better system for doing routine chores at home

GOVERNMENT: You have a lot of time to do as much as possible for you to make plans that could give you added abundance in the days ahead. A day, and evening to do something thoughtful for loved one.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Finish home chores early in the day and then put your finest talents to work elsewhere. Spend your money wisely.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Concentrate on how you can make improvements to your environment. Be more willing to cooperate with others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Fine day to enjoy yourself at recreations you enjoy. Take no risks with your health at this time.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Morning is ideal for pursuing personal goals and gaining them. Arrange social affairs for the future.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Make detailed plans to gain your finest aims and then carry through in a positive fashion. Avoid one who gossips.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Establish a better system for handling routine chores. Become more aware of the needs of family members.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Study your surroundings and make plans for improvement. Handle your duties more efficiently than in the past.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study every angle of a new project that interests you before you enter into it. Strive for increased happiness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Give support to friends who need your assistance at this time. Plan to spend more time with the one you love.

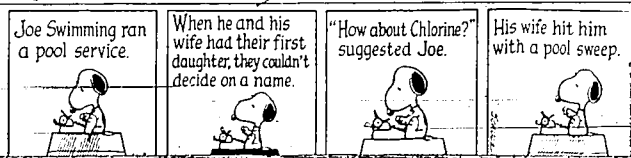

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Take advantage of a situation in which you benefit in the future. Take health treatments to improve your appearance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get busy at routine chores early in the day so you'll have more time for social activities later. Express happiness.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Ideal day to engage in recreational activities with friends. You can easily make this a most worthwhile day.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young persons who will have much devotion for family and home. Give a fine education and direct it toward social services for best results. Don't neglect ethical and religious training.

References to cousins confuse roots tracers

That word "cousin" tends to frustrate those who make serious study of their family trees. After they go back a couple of hundred years, they bump into more cousin references than they can ever count, and it's confusing, because people that many generations ago referred loosely to just about every relative off the homestead as cousin. Aunts, uncles, everybody.

Officer subject of charges, Jerome calls in investigator

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES Times-News writer

JEROME — Jerome County officials are investigating charges made by a Jerome resident against a local police sergeant.

County Prosecutor Eugene Fredericksen said an investigator from the Idaho Department of Law Enforcement — in Boise — will be in Jerome next week to check out the charges made against Jerome Police Officer Del Lowe.

Ron Moore, a former police officer in Filer, told authorities Lowe was responsible for a number of incidents including intentionally running into a young motorcycleist.

Lowe said Friday he is not concerned about the investigation. "It is totally untrue and I'm sure the investigation will show this. Whenever someone is arrested, they feel pretty vindictive and we often are threatened. Moore threatened to sue me and to go to the press with his charges," Lowe said.

Lowe said if the city officials in Jerome think he is not doing a good job they should get rid of him, but he said he has confidence in them and in the investigation.

Moore identified the victim of the alleged motorcycle incident as the son of Les Myers of Jerome. He said the young man committed a traffic violation and took off when the police officer attempted to stop him. When the police car caught up, Moore allegedly ran over the motorcycle, throwing the rider onto the hood of the police car.

Myers said Wednesday he would not comment on the incident and did not want to confirm or deny it.

Moore said he was a witness to this and other incidents. He said he was training to be a police officer at the time and was riding nights with Jerome officers, including Lowe, to learn procedure.

Moore said he stood by without saying anything at the time, but now he wants to clear his conscience.

Moore, who said he is willing to take a polygraph test if investigators request it, charged Lowe committed other acts, such as putting sugar in gasoline tanks and shooting out windows with a pellet gun. These incidents, Moore charges, involved people Lowe did not like.

"I am ready to take my medicine, but I want him (Lowe) to do the same. I even lied once about the motorcycle matter but I am ready to tell the truth now," Moore said. Moore was arrested in Jerome late Saturday night on charges of disturbing the peace by using foul and abusive language within the city limits. He was released on $50 bond pending appearance in magistrate court to enter a plea.

Moore said he was arrested by Lowe after making a remark to a friend as Lowe walked past them in a Jerome bar. Lowe said Moore was arrested and that after being taken in for booking, called out names and used foul language and made various threats.

Moore said he wanted to go to the press so the investigation would not be hushed up.

Police Drugs taken Impounded cars up for bids in robbery

TWIN FALLS — The Professional Pharmacy, 666 Shoshone Street East, was robbed of an undetermined amount of drugs and equipment.

A lone male subject, carrying a gun and wearing a stocking mask, intercepted the pharmacy's attendant at the rear door about 6:20 p.m. as the attendant was closing up.

Twin Falls police say the man forced the attendant back into the store, tied him up, and removed a quantity of drugs. The man then left the area on foot.

Police arrived on the scene at 6:30 p.m. No money was reported taken. The attendant's name was not released.

The investigation is continuing. According to police, the pharmacy was robbed about a year ago and a suspect arrested in connection with the incident.

Control of rodents topic of talk

SHOSHONE — A discussion on rodent control, principally rock chuck control, will be held at the Lincoln County Courthouse Tuesday.

Rock chucks are the major rodent problem for farmers in Lincoln County, says Cooperative Extension Agent Ivan Hopkins, who encourages area farmers to attend the 7:30 p.m. meeting.

Rex Marsh of the University of California at Davis, a world-known expert in rodent control, will be the speaker. Marsh is in the Twin Falls area for a week-long plant protection seminar. At the Shoshone meeting he will present ideas for rodent control, including new chemicals. Hopkins says such chemicals as strychnine are no longer marketed, but alternatives are now available, and Marsh will explain their uses.

Jerome seeks blood donors

JEROME — The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Jerome Monday.

Donations will be accepted from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Jerome Moose Hall. A carnation from Jerome Floral will be presented to each donor, according to Jerome Red Cross representative Jerry Tompiller.

"Because of the holidays there will be a greater need for blood, so please roll up your sleeve and give," Tompiller said.

Tompiller said 100 pints are needed to meet the city's quota.

Bolte to head Gooding panel

GOODING — The Gooding County Planning and Zoning Commission has named Robert Bolte Jr. as chairman.

Bolte, a long-time resident of Gooding and Jerome Floral will be of Gooding and has served on the zoning board since its organization 12 years ago. Bolte replaces Bob Muffley, who is stepping down from the chairmanship to have more time for his real estate business. Muffley will continue to serve as a commission member.

Bolte said the immediate goal of the planning and zoning commission is to complete the proposed zoning ordinance by February.

2 breakins downtown

TWIN FALLS — Nineteen used cars will be auctioned off next Wednesday by the Twin Falls Police Department.

The vehicles are those impounded by the city and unclaimed by the owners.

Police Chief Tim Qualls said the sale will begin at 2 p.m. Interested buyers may inspect them from noon to sale time at the city storage garage in the 200 block of South Park W.

The sale also will be conducted in the city storage garage with Lt. William Stonemeyer of the police department as auctioneer.

The 19 vehicles include several sedans, a van and two station wagons all in various states of repair.

Owner says dog shot

TWIN FALLS — Vince Valence told Twin Falls police someone shot and injured his valuable purebred white Samoyed dog while it was in his fenced yard.

He discovered the animal was injured Wednesday, he told police, and took it to a veterinarian.

He said he was told the dog had been shot in the side as long ago as Dec. 27.

Valence said the dog is kept in a fenced yard and is never allowed to run at large or leave the property on its own.

Store officials said nothing appeared to have been taken except damages in one area of the store. Warehouse from the break-in was estimated at $200.

Another report of damage Wednesday night was made by officials of Pedersen's store, 259 Main Ave. E.

Police said someone broke a door at the rear of the building, causing about $300 damage, but apparently entry was not gained.

QUESTION...

I have recently had my attorney draw a will for me. Should this be put into a safe deposit box?

ANSWER...

There are two conflicting opinions concerning the wisdom of putting your will away in a safe deposit box — the ultimate choice is not easily made.

Usually those who survive you will know that you have a safe deposit box. Their entry into this box may be delayed until legal formalities are overcome — but the will is certainly safe, and time may not be their important.

Frequently funeral instructions are incorporated into a will. When this occurs, the funeral and burial or cremation may have been completed before the box is opened, and the will admitted to probate. Although the executor of your will is normally the person responsible for arranging your funeral, he may actually have nothing to do with it.

News of record

MINIDOKA COUNTY

ACCIDENTS — Slick roads were the cause of two separate accidents Wednesday, according to sheriff's office reports. Isabel Castillo, 25, of Heyburn, was eastbound on 21st Street in Heyburn when she lost control of her car on the icy road and skidded through 36 feet of fence and hit a power house. She was not injured. There was no report on the damage to her car. Damage to the power house and fence was $900.

ACCIDENT — Miltz Keller, 18, of Heyburn, lost control of her vehicle on Highway 25 near 400 West Road and ended up in a roadside ditch. There were no injuries.

GOODING COUNTY

ACCIDENT — Timothy Lomax Carleton, 15, of Hagerman, drove his vehicle through a barbed wire fence southwest of Hagerman, Dec. 22. Gooding County Sheriff Robert Aja reports Carleton took his eyes off the road for a moment and the car went off the left side of the county road. Neither Carleton nor his passenger, Shane Bates, 16, of Hagerman, was injured.

ACCIDENT — Gooding police report an incident Dec. 23 at the intersection of Nevada Street and 11th Avenue West. In Gooding, Steven Shane Stockham of Gooding apparently failed to yield at the intersection and struck a vehicle driven by Kathleen Noel Looper, also of Gooding.

ACCIDENT — Mary Ellen Osterhoud, 18, of Bliss, received minor injuries in an accident on Highway 30 north of Hagerman Dec. 23. Gooding County Sheriff Robert Aja reports Osterhoud was traveling too fast for existing conditions and spun out on black ice striking the railing on the bridge over the Malad River.

CASSIA COUNTY

ACCIDENT — Robert Erving

Gibbish, 39, of Burley, was arrested for driving while under the influence following a two-car accident in Burley. Burley police reported that Gibbish was driving a 1979 car north on Overland in the oncoming lane of traffic when a collision occurred with a southbound 1978 car driven by Max S. Banner, 47, of Burley. The accident occurred near Railroad Avenue Monday. Gibbish was released on $300 bond. No injuries were reported.

ACCIDENT — Marcella L. Ahrendsen, 29, of Burley, was cited for failure to yield at a stop sign and driving on an expired license following an accident five miles south of Burley Tuesday. Cassia Sheriff's office reported that a 1980 pickup truck driven by Bruce D. Blauer, 21, of Burley, was westbound on 500 South when the Ahrendsen vehicle pulled out from a stop sign on 150 East and struck the pickup.

Cascade Airways sets upgrading of planes

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — Cascade Airways plans to purchase six new pressurized airplanes next summer to replace the unpressurized planes which the company has been flying in the Northwest for the past 10 years.

Airline officials say their current fleet of Beechcraft 99s will be phased out by 1982 in favor of the Swearingen Metroliner III, which not only is pressurized but has a larger capacity and is more fuel-efficient.

Steve Gural, vice president and general manager of Cascade, said he and Mark M. Chestnut, the airline's president, will leave early next week for San Antonio, Texas to complete arrangements for purchase of six Metros.

Delivery would begin about mid-July, Gural said, with the planes actually incorporated into passenger service about Sept. 1.

The Metro III is capable of carrying 19 passengers and their luggage 700 miles, but costs about the same to operate as the 15-passenger Beech 99s.

It works out to 25 percent better fuel efficiency per passenger seat, Gural said.

The Metros also are faster, cruising at 330 miles per hour compared to the Beech 99s which are rated about 250 mph or a little less.

One of the disadvantages to be served by pressurized Metros will be the Spokane-Lewiston-Boise run, Gural said.

"We can see the need for pressurization in that area," he said.

With the arrival of the Metro III, Cascade also is contemplating an expansion to Butte, Montana.

Gural said Cascade was approached by a consulting firm, which has hired a consulting firm to study the feasibility of connecting to Cascade's route system.

Two routes to Butte are being considered, probably through southern Idaho, with either a direct flight to Lake or one with stops at Idaho Falls and Pocatello, and possibly a flight between Spokane and Butte.

"It's pretty good possibility," Gural said, adding, however, that he didn't expect a final decision to be announced before summer.

Adventist school fire cause probed

PAYETTE, Idaho (UPI) — The Treasure Valley Seventh-day Adventist School outside Payette sustained heavy damage from a fire early New Year's Day, and investigators still were probing for the cause today.

Payette Fire Chief Larry Dove said three of the school's five classrooms and its library and kitchen were destroyed.

Firefighters from four cities fought the blaze for nearly three hours before putting it out.

No estimates of damage were available.

BSU schedules 3-day conference on lobbying role

BOISE (UPI) — Boise State University has summoned several state officials and various consumer and social-welfare groups to a conference on legislative lobbying and spending Jan. 27-30.

Program directors said the conference would include workshops on consumer and social needs and proposed legislation in Idaho.

U.S. Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus was slated to close the conference with a speech Jan. 30.

Dr. E. Raunio retires as dean of UI college

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — Dr. Elmer Raunio, University of Idaho dean of the College of Letters and Science, announced he will retire at the end of the current school year.

Raunio, 62, a chemistry professor, was associate dean of the college from 1968 to 1970, and acting dean in 1970 before being appointed dean in 1971.

Raunio said the major reason he was retiring is to "have the freedom to do whatever I want to do."

Boise offers air monitor demonstrations

BOISE (UPI) — City officials have bought a portable carbon monoxide monitor and offered to give public demonstrations with the device.

City Planning Director Susan Stacy said the city was inviting residents to request tests of the air in their daily environment: home, school, work or on a city street.

Ms. Stacy said the program is designed to teach people that harmful carbon monoxide concentrations aren't confined to the downtown area.

New forestry station opened

CLARK FORK, Idaho (UPI) — A new forestry field station has been opened at Clark Fork.

School officials say the facility will give the College of Forestry better access to north Idaho forests.

The station is located in the former Clark Fork ranger station administrative facilities east of Clark Fork.

Stardust hotel and police foil extortion attempt

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — FBI agents arrested a Stardust Hotel guest New Year's Eve on a charge of trying to extort $200,000 from the hotel.

Sherman Lonnie Jetton, 36, an unemployed car salesman from North St. Paul, Minn., was taken into custody Wednesday at the Silverbird Hotel, the FBI said.

Jetton is suspected of concocting the extortion plot after he dropped $300 — all of his money — on the floor of the Stardust casino and told the FBI chief Joseph Yablonsky said a man called the Stardust Dec. 26 and threatened to blow up the casino within 15 minutes unless he was paid $200,000.

Hotel executives stalled for time and settled on a drop-off point later in the evening. A dummy package was left there, but was not picked up, Yablonsky said.

The caller negotiated with resort officials over the weekend. Another package was left behind the restaurant Sunday, but a passerby picked up the package instead.

Sleepy drivers irk legislator

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI) — A Laramie County legislator has prefilled a bill that attempts to discourage fatigued motorists from driving.

Democratic Rep. Walter Urbigkit's bill would make it a felony if an overly fatigued driver became involved in an accident that caused bodily injury or death to another.

Urbigkit said the bill is aimed at interstate truckers who drive across the state.

"You know from driving Interstate 80 that a lot of truckers are driving way over hours," he said.

listen to your C.B., you can hear them talking about it," Urbigkit said.

Urbigkit said he believes driving while overly tired is as unexcusable as driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

Urbigkit acknowledged the bill does not have the support of the Wyoming Trucking Association and may not have a very good chance of passage.

"It's one I'd like to see the committee consider and have hearings and we'll take it from there," he said.

Gunman kills himself and his hostage

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Police said Friday they still have no idea why a robber who held a terrified supermarket manager hostage for several hours suddenly shot and killed his victim and then took his own life.

Police broke into the upstairs store office two hours after hearing shots New Year's night. They found both men dead from single shots to their heads.

Officers said Ronald Berryman, 37, foiled in an attempt to rob the busy Ralph's supermarket

Thursday afternoon, suddenly shot Claudio Santi, 29, the store's assistant manager, then turned the gun on himself.

Adriana Santi, the victim's sister, and her father, Angel Santi, were among hundreds of spectators who gathered outside the 24-hour Wilshire District market as police tried to resolve the situation peacefully. They both broke into tears when police told them Claudio was dead.

NEW YORK — The stock market, aided by a late rally, kicked off 1981 with a broad gain Friday.

The advance came as the prime lending rate banks charge dropped to 20 1/2 percent.

Post-holiday trading was slow. The Dow Jones industrial average, which fluctuated throughout the day following Wednesday's 1.96-point gain, rallied in the final hour to rise 8.79 points to 972.78.

The closely watched Dow average gained 6.40 points for the week. It climbed 125.25 points overall in 1980 for a 14.9 percent gain, the best performance since 1976.

The New York Stock Exchange index jumped 0.40 to 78.26 and the price of an average share increased 19 cents. Advances topped declines 1,015-500 of the 1,800 issues traded at 4 p.m. EST.

Big Board volume totaled only 28,870,000 shares, down from the 41,310,000 traded Wednesday. The market was closed Thursday for New Year's and brokers said many investors were taking an extended holiday.

Some buying was sparked when tending Citibank lowered the prime lending rate for blue-chip corporate customers to 20 1/2 percent from the 21 1/2 percent. Most of the major banks, including top-ranked Bank of America, followed.

Investors have been hoping interest rates have peaked since Wells Fargo of San Francisco lowered its prime two weeks ago. Investors were encouraged by the Federal Reserve report at 4 p.m. that New York City bank loan demand plunged $1.16 billion in the last statistical week.

However, some experts have warned that the rates are volatile at any time in the near future.

There is fear the high cost of money will cause business investment to decline and produce a recession.

But government figures are giving off signals that the economy still is in good condition. November construction spending rose 2.5 percent and factory order jumped 1 percent.

Nevertheless, Wall Street believes the picture will darken and is banking on President-elect Ronald Reagan to push a tax-cut program through Congress early in his administration for relief.

Composite volume of NYSE issues listed on all U.S. exchanges and over the counter at 4 p.m. totaled 31,742,000 shares, compared with 47,143,800 traded Wednesday.

The American Stock Exchange index rose 6.61 to 355.50 and the price of a share increased 37 cents. The National Association of Securities Dealers' NASDAQ index of OTC issues gained 1.21 to 203.55.

Cannon Mills soared 8 1/2 to 34 1/2. A group of investors, headed by former ITT chief Harold Gehen, has offered to buy the company for $376 million.

Curtis-Wright rose 1 1/2 to 42 1/2 after the company, in a move to block Kennecott's takeover bid, boosted to $46 a share from $44 its offer for one million of its own shares.

LTJ was the most active NYSE-listed issue, up 1/2 to 20 1/2. The stock has been popular the past month apparently because of improved earnings prospects and hopes the firm would benefit from Reagan's defense spending policies.

Pan American World Airways was the second most active issue, up 1/2 to 4 1/2 after a block of 100,000 shares crossed at 4 1/2. One analyst said the carrier could inherit some Latin American routes if Braniff International fails to resolve its problems.

Union Oil of California was the third most active issue, off 1/2 to 44 in trading that included a block of 100,000 shares at 43 1/2. Texaco, last year's second most active issue, followed, up 1/2 to 49.

Big banks whittle prime rate

By MARY TOBIN
United Press International

NEW YORK — Bank of America, the nation's largest bank, and No. 2 Citibank lowered their prime lending rate Friday to 20 1/2 percent from 21 1/2 percent, as did most other large banks.

Despite the move, an analyst said "We're not out of the woods yet" on interest rates.

"You have to look at the near future with a great deal of caution," said William E. Sullivan Jr., senior vice president at Bank of New York. "The economy continues to surprise us in terms of its relative strength. We're not out of the woods yet."

Citibank initiated the move, which had been expected in view of an easing in most money market rates.

Among the dozens who jumped in behind were most of the 10 not already at the 20 1/2 percent level. Manufacturers Hanover and Bankers Trust, New York, First National Bank of Chicago, and Continental Illinois, Chicago, and Security Pacific, Los Angeles.

Third-largest Chase Manhattan was the first to cut the prime rate 10 days ago and Chemical made the move Monday. Several smaller institutions have moved to even lower levels.

Although most market rates have dropped, the key federal funds rate that banks charge each other for loans, a prime source of funds, has been trading at well over the 20 percent level every day this week.

Many banks raised their broker loan rate earlier this week in response.

But analysts say much of the upward pressure was caused by a sharp drop in bank float and by other year-end factors which reduced reserves. Float is the volume of uncollected checks, which shows up as two deposits until credited and which is added to the balance sheet.

Sullivan said, however, that while there are strong arguments for the belief rates have peaked, "we are worried about federal spending and concerned about the potential for money supply growth in January that could prompt the Federal Reserve to tighten up again."

"If credit demands remain strong, if the business picture does not weaken and if government spending continues to accelerate we could see interest rates turn around," Sullivan said.

Grain futures

CHICAGO (UPI) — Wheat and soybeans were substantially higher and corn also higher at the close Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat was up 1/2 to 11 1/2 cents, corn 1/2 to 10 1/2 cents, and soybeans up 1/2 to 17 cents.

As the situation between the Soviet Union and Poland improved, the price of wheat in the prime rate to 20 percent from 21 percent by several banks was a major supporting movement was limited and the futures market.

There was more concern on the floor over the lack of snow cover in the growing areas, as well as the situation between the Soviet Union and Poland.

The cotton markets were higher.

Economy changes church stewardship

By DAVID E. ANDERSON
UPI Religion Writer

The nation's faltering economy, especially high inflation rates, is hurting church giving and forcing new definitions of stewardship.

Through much of the last several decades, an ever-expanding gross national product had its impact on church growth as well — with per capita giving by church members increasing and most denominations embarking on expensive building and other capital construction projects.

But at a recent National Council of Churches conference for church development and financial management specialists, conferees were told they could no longer plan their futures around notions of spiraling economic growth.

Last year, for example, although per capita giving by churchgoers increased, it did not keep pace with inflation, coupled with a steady, decade-long decrease in membership among mainline denominations, income fell.

Theologians attending the conference stressed that in a world of shrinking resources, the churches must develop new understandings not only of stewardship as it relates to church giving but of ecological and economic development as well.

"When the economy is going well," said Elizabeth Dodson Gray of the Boston Institute for a Sustainable Future in Wellesley, Mass., "giving to the church tends to go well."

"The problem is that if we go on economically growing like that, we will destroy the earth," she added.

"We have a real Catch-22 problem," she added, "because if we in the church affirm that kind of growth we will have problems with our constituents earning a living and with funding the church."

Dr. Bruce Birch of Wesley Theological Seminary, Washington D.C., said the coming period of economie stress in the United States could be compared to the Babylonian captivity of ancient Israel.

He said the churches in the Western world must prepare their members for an "exile" experience like that of Israel and develop a theology of "shalom" (wholeness) to deal with the alienation and discouragement of Christians.

Another theologian attending the conference, Dr. Douglas Hall of McGill University in Montreal, warned the stewardship experts that in troubled economic times, religion is being driven away from the moral and social concerns and focuses almost exclusively on the otherworldliness of God.

He cited the growth of conservative-evangelical Protestantism as an example of that trend.

Within mainline Protestantism, the turning away from the world can be seen in the growing emphasis on "designated" giving as well as a tendency of local churches to keep more and more of their funds at home rather than sending them on to national offices or agencies.

The stewardship officials said that the trend to designated-giving — earmarking funds for special projects — has more than doubled in the past five years in a number of mainline church bodies.

Dr. Leo Waynick, executive director of the National Center for Stewardship Studies in Evanston, Ill., reported on a study he made of designated giving in 19 denominations.

Pointing to increased church costs and a shrinking dollar, Waynick said these economic factors "are causing increased tension between the various levels... within a denomination, from the congregation to the national church bodies."

"The tension increases between maintaining commitments of long standing and permitting congregations to draw new priorities by their designations," he said.

Rev. Moon plays matchmaker to 843 couples

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Rev. Sun Myung Moon has played matchmaker for more than 1,600 people, many of whom never met each other before.

The Unification Church said Friday that over the past two days, Moon performed a mass engagement ceremony for 843 couples in New York City. Church members came from as far away as Australia to be matched up with a spouse.

The wedding day for the 843 couples and the location of the ceremony will be set later by Moon and will be part of a ceremony for 10,000 couples.

"Unconsciously I've always been searching for an ideal lover," said

31-year-old Richard Biddlecombe from London. "I see this as an end to that search."

Biddlecombe, a freelance broadcaster, was promised to Monika Jung, a 23-year-old church member from Essen, Germany. Both were set to return to their homes Friday and did not expect to see each other again until the wedding ceremony.

The couples said they prefer to have the matchmaker suggest their matches for them, and said he has done a good job.

Debbie Thompson, 28, who traveled from Purcell, Okla. for her match to Joe Taylor of Trenton, N.J., said she is pleased with Moon's choice.

"I'm quiet and easy-going and Joe is confident and outgoing," she said.

"It's complementary." Joe, a singer in the church band, had his own explanation. "My teller is much more aggressive and she's more set back. If we're going to spend a day together we have take this into consideration."

Anne Babb, 24, flew in from Melbourne, Australia and left New York engaged to John Bellavance, 24, of Montreal, Canada.

"We consider it a privilege to be involved in such a large ceremony," said Bellavance.

Allowance teaches money lessons

NEW YORK (UPI) — Children's allowances can be used to teach them money management, say experts at a New York-based bank.

An article in Citibank's monthly newsletter says children are ready to begin learning about money as soon as they can make choices and tell the difference between one, two and three. They can be given coins occasionally and helped to decide whether to blow it all on one ice cream treat, say, or two of something else.

Children who buy ice cream, then regret it can't be criticized, says the newsletter article. They should simply be told they made a choice, the money's used up and they'll have to wait a while for more.

Most first graders are ready and eager for a regular weekly allowance, the newsletter says, and the decision on its size should be based on a budget worked out with the child. The budget should include weekly and occasional fixed expenses such as carfare, lunches, gifts and donations; variable expenses such as toys, treats, movies, books and records; savings for special goals; and income other than allowance, including earnings and gifts from others.

Carter may proclaim volcano U.S. monument

LONGVIEW, Wash. (UPI) — President Carter may bow to pressure from special interests by setting aside Mount St. Helens as a national monument before he leaves office, a state official said Friday.

Tom Manning, a member of Gov. Dixie Lee Ray's Mount St. Helens Public Review Task Force, said Carter recently met with representatives of the National Speleological Society, Weyerhaeuser Co., Burlington Northern and the U.S. Forest Service.

Under discussion was a proposal to declare anywhere from 215,000 acres to 90,000 acres around the steaming volcano as a national monument, Manning said.

"My feeling is that they are entering to a special interest group," he said, "but my feeling is that it is too soon to declare that kind of a national monument or national park."

White House staffers confirmed the discussions took place.

"I've met a couple of times with people from the agencies and others," said Tom Lambirth of the White House forest domestic affairs staff. "Yes, there has been a proposal and we're looking into it."

Manning said any decision on Mount St. Helens would be premature and possibly not in the best interests of Washington State.

The review task group has scheduled a series of public hearings for early February on the status of land around the volcano.

Cold Bruins bow to Poky

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News sports writer

POCATELLO — The Twin-Falls Bruins found out what a cold shooting night was like Friday.

The Bruins struggled to shoot 35 percent and fell to the Pocatello Indians 55-44 in the first game of the Gem State Conference basketball race.

The Bruins will try to find the new spark for their offense when they return to Twin-Falls today to entertain the Minico Spartans at 8 p.m.

Pocatello dominated the game and took the lead on 64 percent field goal shooting and perfect free throw shooting in the first half.

In a defensive duel, however, it took the Indians until three minutes into the final quarter before mounting their biggest lead, 43-29.

Twin Falls, headed by the scoring of Clay Mechem, redied off 11 straight points to pull within three. That flurry died with two Bruin turnovers and Twin Falls had to foul to gain the ball.

Pocatello junior Craig Toone foiled that however, by hitting eight straight free throws.

"They just played harder than we did," Coach John Astorquia said. "We just stood around. We had no spark."

"It was like a start of a funeral — and we found out it was ours."

"We had a matchup problem with them," he said, referring to Pocatello's good height and size inside.

In the early moments Twin Falls, getting two field goals from Steve Galley, managed a 6-6 tie. Then Kurt Day hit twice and Dave Romaska added a follow shot. By the end of the period Pocatello had a seven-point lead and Steve Rackow made it 17-8 as the second quarter started.

Lars Hovey and Greg Scherer cut that to four and Twin Falls hung from four to six back until Jerry Collins hit from the baseline at the buzzer for a 29-21 halftime lead.

Collins also opened the second half with a three-point play and the teams' matched baskets. There was little scoring in the opening three minutes of the fourth quarter until Rackow had five points for Pocatello to establish the 43-29 lead.

Bruin Bill Atkinson then collected the first rebound points for Twin Falls and Mechem hit two medium-range jumpers. Hovey converted a steal into a three-point play and Mechem picked off the ensuing throw in for an easy criddle.

With 3:07 left Twin Falls was back to 43-40, but Day beat the Bruin press for a criddle on the back end. After that came to the two critical Bruin turnovers.

Toone then hit his eight free throws. Pocatello swept the triple-header.

The sophomores won 53-52 and the juniors collected a 55-53 decision in three overtimes.

Idaho's best bowlers to collect in Twin Falls

TWIN FALLS — Nearly 140 of Idaho's best male bowlers are in town this weekend for the monthly Idaho Scratch Bowlers Association (ISBA) tournament at Magic Bowl.

Competition starts today at 9 a.m. and each of the bowlers will roll eight games before Sunday's finals.

Sunday afternoon the five bowlers with the best average over the eight games will meet in a rolloff. The No. 5 bowler will face No. 4 in one game and the winner advance to meet No. 3 and down the line until one bowler faces the bowler with the top average for the championship.

Jerry Miller of Twin Falls will be one of the top bowlers to beat. Miller has been consistently scoring in the 235-260 range for the past few weeks and won a recent ISBA monthly tourney at Idaho Falls.

Sunday's rolloff will probably take place around 4 p.m.

Phillips seeks New Orleans post

Biles selected as new Houston Oilers' skipper

HOUSTON (UPI) — Ed Biles was named the Houston Oilers' head coach to replace Bum Phillips Friday and the former defensive coordinator immediately announced there would be changes made in the team's offense.

In another news conference in Houston Friday, Phillips, who wept through his last news conference while in Houston, admitted he was interested in taking over the head position with the New Orleans Saints.

Biles, 49, did not disclose the specific terms of his contract, but he did say the length was "long enough for me to get the job done," and the yearly salary was at least $100,000.

Biles, the team's defensive coordinator the last six years, had worked closely with Phillips to make the Oilers one of the most feared defensive teams in the NFL.

Phillips said he was the first person he sought out when owner K.S.

ED BILES wants 'new game plan'

"Bud" Adams Jr. offered him the job Thursday.

With Adams at his side at an afternoon news conference, Biles said he wanted a more sophisticated offense than Phillips had used. It was Phillips' refusal to hire an offensive coordinator that caused Adams, despite his team making the playoffs the last three seasons, to suddenly fire Phillips Wednesday.

"I don't think we will be a set, two-light end, Earl Campbell offense anymore. There will be a place for that, but we will be more balanced," Biles said.

Biles denied a published report that former Baltimore Coach Ted Marchibroda had been selected as his offensive coordinator. He said finding a man to fill that position was his first priority.

The Oilers hoped by selecting Biles two days after Phillips was dismissed that the staff could be retained intact, but several of them have indicated that if Phillips obtained another NFL coaching job they would go with him.

Adams made his first comment in two days after the unpopular firing.

"Bum's done a great job making us a contender and a solid playoff team. I agonized and had two sleepless nights over this decision," Adams said.

He added that all the team needed to be a Super Bowl participant next season would be a "new game plan. The one we have now is getting old and a change of pace would do good for the Oilers around here now."

The pro coaching job was Biles' first. He joined the Oilers when then-coach Sid Gilman hired him as his offensive coordinator in 1974.

Biles denied the Oilers had a discipline problem under Phillips. Lack of discipline was one reason Adams mentioned as a reason for firing Phillips.

"Discipline on our team wasn't a major problem. There are no major problems. It's just a situation where a few minor adjustments have to be made."

Biles' a close friend and neighbor of Phillips and they frequently rode to work together. He met earlier Friday with Adams Jr. to discuss a contract.

They also met for four hours Thursday.

Oilers' General Manager Ladd Herzog, who was handling the selection process, indicated no one but Biles was interviewed for the post.

Biles played football at Miami of Ohio under Ara Parseghian and was head coach at Xavier in Cincinnati, his only other head coaching experience. He also has served on the staffs of the New Orleans Saints and New York Jets.

Oilers' linebacker Gregg Bingham said Biles could "take the team a long way."

"Biles is a strategist," Bingham said. "The talent is here and he can use talent. He has a special way and I think it will work out for the good."

Bulldogs get past Wildcats

By MARV CLEMONS
Times-News sports editor

KIMBERLY — Nearly 80 percent shooting at the free throw line enabled Kimberly to build a lead and then ice a 60-58 Canyon Conference win over rival Filer Friday night.

The Bulldogs, 3-2 this season and 1-1 in the league, gained a 9-0 edge at the line in the first quarter and finished with 26-12 free throw margin. Kimberly hit 56 of 53 from the line for 78.8 percent.

The win didn't come easy however, as Filer rallied from a 17-point deficit early in the fourth quarter to come within four points before losing.

"Free throws have been a problem for us, and until we learn to stop making those stupid little reaching in fouls and things like that it will continue to be a problem until we gain some experience," Filer Coach Wayne Humphreys said.

In three of five games this season, the Wildcats have been outscored 67-28 at the line.

The lead bounced back and forth for the first four minutes until Filer Crothers and Frank Easley each made a pair of free throws around the turnovers and Kimberly popped into a 15-8 lead.

Dave Wright, who led the Bulldogs with 23, got inside late for two and Crothers hit a jumper for a 21-12 lead at the rest stop.

Kimberly maintained its lead for a 35-25 halftime score and shortly into the third period the Wildcats applied a half-court press.

Filer tried to make a run at Kimberly's lead, but turnovers stopped any quick comeback bid. With Wright hitting back-to-back jumpers and Rocky Eiler making four free throws during the last two minutes, Kimberly moved into a 50-35 margin with eight minutes to play.

Wright made two free throws to start the fourth quarter and Kimberly had its largest lead of the game, 52-35.

Jeff Brewster, a 6-2 senior, hit a pair of fielders and Filer started its comeback effort.

Jess Vipperman got the Wildcats within nine points, 52-41, when he hit a layup after Burt Miller stole a Kimberly pass.

Junior Jay Reinke, who paced Filer with 23 and has been in double figures four out of five games, rebounded for two and a 53-35 margin and Kimberly was starting to worry.

Crothers slowed Filer's charge with yet another pair of free losses before Wright got inside for a criddle and a 57-46 lead.

Filer went to the full-court pressure and as play turned ragged the Wildcats managed to close the gap to 59-54 when Miller hit a rebound effort.

Miller hit a long jumper with 2:08 to play for a 60-56 score, but Filer could get no closer as an offensive foul and missed shots in traffic allowed Kimberly to hold its lead.

"We let them get back in the game when we were ineffective on offense and when we threw the ball away," Kimberly skipper Rich Thompson said.

"I was pleased with our defense in the third period and then we played some shaky offense and compounded it with some defensive mistakes in the fourth period."

Thompson was happy to play at home. Kimberly had compiled a 2-2 record in all road games prior to the Friday break.

Two crucial playoff battles kick off NFL weekend today

By RICHARD ROSENBLATT
UPI Sports Writer

Perhaps the Philadelphia Eagles made a best stopover in Clearwater, Fla., during their three-day workout in nearby Tampa as they prepared for today's NFC divisional-playoff game with the Minnesota Vikings.

Taking a cue from their baseball counterparts, the NFC East champion Eagles might have visited Clearwater in an effort to regain their winning touch. After all, that's where the Phillies prepared for what turned out to be a championship season.

Although the Eagles captured their division with a 12-4 record, they have lost three of the last four games — to San Diego, Atlanta and Dallas, all playoff teams.

And if the Eagles, who allowed an NFL low of 222 points while scoring a club record 384 points, can't regroup, the Vikings appear ready to take advantage.

In today's AFC divisional-playoff, the East champion Buffalo Bills meet the San Diego Chargers, the West winners.

In Sunday's games, the Dallas Cowboys, the NFC wildcard entry, take on the NFC

West champion Atlanta Falcons and in the AFC, the Oakland Raiders, a 27-7 winner over Houston last week, meet the Central champion Cleveland Browns.

Minnesota, which captured the NFC Central title with a 9-7 record, has won six of its last eight games as quarterback Tommy Kramer has established himself as a celebrated passer.

Kramer set a club record by passing for 3,582 yards (299-of-522), threw 19 touchdown passes. He has been intercepted 23 times, throwing just six, however, in the second-half of the season. His receivers, Ahmad Rashad and Sammy Winder, provide the Vikings with a constant big-play threat.

Rashad, who made a "miracle" game-winning catch as time ran out against Cleveland to propel Minnesota into the playoffs, has 69 interceptions for 1,695 yards and five TDs. White has 53 catches for 887 yards and five TDs.

Second-year running back Ted Brown (912 yards rushing) leads the Vikings' ground game but may have a tough time trying to crack the Eagles' staunch defense, ranked second in the league overall and against the run.

Philadelphia, which defeated Minnesota 42-7 earlier in the season, hopes Ron Jaworski, the NFC's top-rated passer, can carry the Eagles' offense into the playoffs. Jaworski completed 256-of-451 passes for 3,329 yards, 27 TDs and a league low 12 interceptions. In Philadelphia's final regular-season game against Dallas — a 35-27 loss — Jaworski threw for a career high of 331 yards. In that game, wide receiver Harold Carmichael saw his record-setting pass catching streak of 127 games end.

The running game will feature a healthy Wilbert Montgomery, who had his best day of the season (169 yards, 2 TDs) in the previous game against Minnesota. Montgomery missed four games this season but finished with a team-high 778 yards and caught 50 passes for 407 yards.

At San Diego, the Chargers hope to avenge a 26-24 regular season loss to the Bills. Buffalo, appearing in the playoffs for the first time in seven years, finished with an 11-5 record and boasts a defense which is rated No. 1 in the league (256.3 yards per game) and tops in pass defense (142.6 yards).

The Chargers, on the other hand, possess one of the most potent passing offenses in NFL history. Directed by Dan Fouts, who set league records for completions (348), attempts (589) and yards (4,715), the San Diego offense totaled 6,410 yards — an NFL record. With receivers Kellen Winslow, John Jefferson and Charlie Joiner — the first trio of receivers on the same team to total over 1,000 yards each in receptions, the Bills face a tough test to stop the Chargers a second time.

Jim Plunkett threw two TD passes and the Oakland defense recorded seven sacks against the Raiders as the Raiders advanced to their game against Cleveland. The Raiders' defense, rated No. 2 in the AFC, recorded 54 sacks and led the league with 35 interceptions, including 13 by Lester Hayes in the regular season and two last week against Houston.

The Browns, 11-5, are led by quarterback Brian Sipe, the league's top-rated passer. Sipe completed 340-of-554 for 4,132 yards and 30 TDs to carry Cleveland to their first playoff appearance since 1972.

The Falcons, who won a club record 12 games to dethrone the Rams as champs in the West, are up against a Dallas team which crushed the Rams 34-13 in last week's wild card game. The Cowboys led the league in scoring with 454 points as the offense, led by quarterback Danny White, produced 342.5 yards per game.

Atlanta is paced by Steve Bartkowski (257-of-463 for 3,544 yards) and running backs William Andrews (1,308 yards) and

Crews remove snow off turf

Lynn Cain (914 yards). Rookie tight end, Junior Seau, was selected to the Pro Bowl team after catching 46 passes for 384 yards and a club record nine TDs.

Indians pull past Gooding

Saturday, January 3, 1981 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho A-11

SHOSHONE — Scott Peterson's 24 points, along with Doug Astle's offensive leadership put Shoshone past Gooding 54-49 Friday night.

The game opened up with Gooding taking a 10-0 lead with one minute left in the quarter when Peterson hit three straight buckets to put the score at 12-6 at the end of the first eight minutes.

The ball game then went the Indians' way and they outscored Gooding 20-15 in the second period. Gooding held a slim 27-26 halftime lead.

Dave Nishimoto grabbed a rebound, scored and put Shoshone ahead 44-33 at the start of the final period. Nishimoto scored nine of his eleven points in the final half.

Shoshone, 2-4; host Declo, 1-6, tonight.

Declo — Declo missed a chance to tie the game late in the game and Dave Simmons made two free throws to give Glenns Ferry a 46-46 Canyon Conference win Friday night.

The Hornets trailed 46-44 and had a chance for a tie but missed a free throw. Dennis Lewis rebounded the missed free throw for Declo, but Glenns Ferry stole the ball.

The Hornets then fouled Simmons and he made two losses for a 48-44 Glenns Ferry lead.

Brett Adams hit a closing fielder for Declo, but it wasn't enough.

Jerome smashes Middleton

JEROME — Jerome's Denise VanderVeg poured in 19 points to lead the Tigers past Middleton 62-39 in girls basketball action Friday night.

VanderVeg, along with Vicki Winder, Jana Van Dyke and Marge Marshall, combined for 50 of Jerome's 62 points to give the girls their seventh win against four losses.

Jerome, despite a Middleton foul-out, carried the entire game, came out and outscored Middleton 26-12 in the first half and coasted in from there.

Jerome also won the junior varsity game by defeating the Vikings 30-20.

Jerome hosts Gooding Tuesday to try to avenge a one point loss suffered against the Senators earlier this year.

Utah 76, UNLV 75

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Karl Bankowski scored 26 points to lead 20th-ranked Utah to a 76-75 victory Friday night over the University of Las Vegas-Nevada.

Bankowski had 14 in the second half, including a pair of free throws in the waning seconds to tie the win for Utah, 70-70.

UNLV center Mike Johnson, the top scorer in the game with 29, tied the score at 70-70 with 4:15 left in play before Chambers hit a layup, Bankowski hit a free throw and

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — Robert Tate, Byron Williams and Dale Wilkinson combined for 59 points as Idaho State defeated Rocky Mountain College 110-59 Friday night.

Tate, who was not in the starting lineup after missing Tuesday's Utah State game fog bound in Midland, Texas, led all scorers with 24 points in 20 minutes. Williams had 19 points; Wilkinson, 16; and Dwayne Carley, 10.

Idaho State approached two Minidome records. The highest scorer ever in the Minidome was the 114 points Idaho State scored against Nevada-Las Vegas in 1971. The Bengals' 48 field goals were two off the Minidome mark for Idaho State of 48, also set in that Nevada-Las Vegas game.

POCATELLO, Idaho (UPI) — Robert Tate, Byron Williams and Dale Wilkinson combined for 59 points as Idaho State defeated Rocky Mountain College 110-59 Friday night.

Tate, who was not in the starting lineup after missing Tuesday's Utah State game fog bound in Midland, Texas, led all scorers with 24 points in 20 minutes. Williams had 19 points; Wilkinson, 16; and Dwayne Carley, 10.

Idaho State approached two Minidome records. The highest scorer ever in the Minidome was the 114 points Idaho State scored against Nevada-Las Vegas in 1971. The Bengals' 48 field goals were two off the Minidome mark for Idaho State of 48, also set in that Nevada-Las Vegas game.

Las Vegas, Nev. (UPI) — Karl Bankowski scored 26 points to lead 20th-ranked Utah to a 76-75 victory Friday night over the University of Las Vegas-Nevada.

Bankowski had 14 in the second half, including a pair of free throws in the waning seconds to tie the win for Utah, 70-70.

UNLV center Mike Johnson, the top scorer in the game with 29, tied the score at 70-70 with 4:15 left in play before Chambers hit a layup, Bankowski hit a free throw and

Jerome smashes Middleton

JEROME — Jerome's Denise VanderVeg poured in 19 points to lead the Tigers past Middleton 62-39 in girls basketball action Friday night.

VanderVeg, along with Vicki Winder, Jana Van Dyke and Marge Marshall, combined for 50 of Jerome's 62 points to give the girls their seventh win against four losses.

Jerome, despite a Middleton foul-out, carried the entire game, came out and outscored Middleton 26-12 in the first half and coasted in from there.

Jerome also won the junior varsity game by defeating the Vikings 30-20.

Jerome hosts Gooding Tuesday to try to avenge a one point loss suffered against the Senators earlier this year.

Georgia Coach Vince Dooley is greeted by fans as the top-ranked Bulldogs arrive at the Atlanta airport Friday afternoon.

Irish, Bulldogs could meet next year

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Don't be too surprised if Georgia and Notre Dame stage a rematch for national college football honors in the Sugar Bowl next season.

Both teams return outstanding talent at the skilled positions and should be in the running for No. 1 again in 1991.

Georgia, which defeated Notre Dame 17-10 in the Sugar Bowl Thursday to complete a perfect 12-0 season and lock up the national championship, returns such stand-out performers as All-America running back Herschel Walker, quarterback Buck Belue and three of its front line defense.

The Bulldogs will be hurt by the loss of defensive backs Scott Woerner and Jeff Hipp and kicker Rex Robinson, but Coach Vince Dooley has some talented underclassmen ready to step in and fill the holes of his graduating seniors.

Notre Dame could well emerge as the nation's best team next season. The Fighting Irish, who went 9-2-1 with a team that started only five seniors, will return nine starters on offense and eight on defense. Moreover, the Irish will have a new head coach in fiery Gerry Faust, who built a reputation in the high school ranks as a strong motivator.

"He's a great salesman," said Irish linebacker Bob Crabbe, who played for Faust at power-rival Moeller High School in Cincinnati. "He's had several offers to go into private business as a salesman. Coach Faust is a verbal, more intense guy than Coach (Dan) Devine."

"His success is based on strict discipline. He gets players to do what he wants them to do. He'll really have to make some changes in the way he does things, but I don't think they'll have to be major changes. He'll have to learn to deal with other people at Notre Dame."

He ran a dictatorship in high school. The sooner he realizes he'll have to make some changes, the better off he'll be.

Besides All-America Crabbe, the Irish will return such talented players as quarterback Blair Kiel, split end Tony Hunter, running back Phil Carter, offensive guard Randy Ellis and linebacker Joe Rudzinski.

Despite its youth and relative inexperience, Notre Dame certainly impressed Georgia with its performance in the Sugar Bowl.

"Notre Dame's blocking was tougher than any team we faced all year," said Georgia linebacker Frank Ross.

"I don't want to single out any Notre Dame player that I thought played especially well because they were all excellent," added Walker, whose two short touchdowns runs sparked the Bulldogs' triumph.

Likewise, the Notre Dame team was respectful of the Georgia club. The Irish were particularly impressed with Walker, who despite playing with a badly bruised left shoulder still managed to gain 150 yards on 38 carries.

"Herschel Walker is a great back," said Devine. "He is greater in person than on film. Georgia has great athletes. Coach Dooley has said all year long that Georgia was a total team, but it didn't get outside of Georgia until this week."

"I think Georgia is as good as anybody we've played," Kiel said. "Georgia is the only team to go undefeated this year and they played excellent against us, so I would have to say they're number one."

The official designation as national champion by the UPI Board of Coaches will come Saturday night. The Bulldogs are expected to be a near unanimous choice as the best team in the nation.

In-Peach Bowl Miami defeats V. Tech

ATLANTA (UPI) — Sophomore quarterback Jim Kelly threw a 15-yard touchdown pass less than three minutes into the game Friday and Dan Miller kicked a second-half field goal to give Miami a 20-10 victory over Virginia Tech in the 13th annual Peach Bowl.

The Hurricanes, six-point favorites, jumped to a 14-0 lead in the second quarter but VPI battled back to 14-10 before Miller wrapped up the victory with field goals of 31 and 37 yards in the final half.

Kelly, who completed 11-of-22 passes for 179 yards, hit flanker Larry Brodsky for the first Hurricane touchdown and junior fullback Chris Hobbs scored on a 12-yard dash up the middle in the second period.

Virginia Tech's Dennis Lauri hit a 42-yard field goal with 29 seconds left in the first half and the Hokies drove 80 yards with the second half kickoff to score on a one-yard dive by sophomore tailback Cyrus Lawrence. The Hokies threatened two other times but the Hurricanes used goal line interceptions to stall both drives.

The victory enabled Miami, now 9-3 with all three losses at the hands of bowl teams, to pick up nine wins for the first time in 30 years. It was the Hurricanes' first bowl appearance in 13 years.

Miami drove 63 yards with the opening kickoff to take the lead on the 15-yard pass over the middle from Kelly to Brodsky with only 2:23 gone in the game. Kelly hit Brodsky with two other passes in the eight-play drive, one covering 12 yards and the other a 29-yarder to the Hokies' 35.

Later in the period, Miami's Fred Marion fumbled a punt on the Hurricane 25 and VPI's John Gambone recovered. On the next play, Lawrence lofted a pass that was intercepted by Marion at the Miami one.

The Hurricanes then started a 99-yard drive for the second touchdown, which came on Hobbs' 12-yard run with 13:47 left in the first half.

The Hokies drove 84 yards after the kickoff to the Miami six, but junior quarterback Steve Casey's pass was intercepted on the goal line by Miami's Ron Lippett to halt the drive.

Virginia Tech got it's only score of the first half on its next series, moving to the Miami 12 before nose tackle Jim Burt sacked Casey for a 12-yard loss. Lauri kicked a 42-yard field goal with 29 seconds left in the half to make it 14-3.

The Hokies, now 8-4, marched 80 yards following the second half kickoff with Lawrence, who gained 134 yards in 27 carries as the game's leading rusher, capping the drive with a one-yard plunge with 8:52 left in the third period.

Brooks resigns as Swiss hockey skipper

DAVOS, Switzerland (UPI) — Herb Brooks, who jumped into national prominence as coach of the 1980 gold-medal winning U.S. hockey team, resigned Friday from his post as coach of the Davos hockey club of Switzerland.

Brooks cited business interests as one of the reasons which makes it imperative that he return to the U.S. His wife, Patty, explained that Brooks has two offers outside of hockey, including one from a television station in Minneapolis.

Brooks accepted the Davos position following the Olympics and had coached the team the past five months before resigning.

The move also leaves Brooks free to accept a coaching position with the NHL's New York Rangers, now coached by his Olympic assistant, Craig Patrick.
