By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — All athletic programs at College of Southern Idaho have been restored for the academic year.

James L. Taylor, college president, announced Friday afternoon proposed curtailment of rodeo, baseball and track programs plus five coaching, three academic and two maintenance positions had been waived.

"After reviewing the financial position of the institution and effecting economies for the remainder of this (fiscal) year, I am able to announce today that we will extend our contract to the individuals previously put on non-possible termination."

College of Southern Idaho cleared of age discrimination charge — BI

"All the programs these people are involved in will be continued."

The individuals involved include: Jim Walker, baseball; Karl Kleinkopf, track and cross country; Shawn Davis, rodeo; girls basketball Coach Lloyd Hardesty and his assistant basketball Coach Eric Hovey.

Taylor immediately denied political motivation had led to original announcement of possible cutbacks.

"The agonizing part" for Taylor was the uncertainty "our people had to go through. Not knowing how they'd be feeding their families, making the car payments or the house payments . . . I would not knowingly subject any of my people to that ordeal," he said.

Taylor said "there are all kinds of new rules in the world of administration" and the one that requires notification of termination by Feb. 1 caused the "timeliness" of his announcement of possible curtailment.

Taylor always had said the final determination was contingent on finding proper funding through state or other sources.

Taylor said the economies currently in effect will allow some carryover to next year and combined with an increase of the "amount of taxes from local sources . . . we feel we can run (the school) at approximately the same level as in the past."

Taylor said this increase would amount to about 10 percent of the $5.5 million allowable levy.

Taylor said he had found the situation "very revealing."

"I found a great many who said they were willing to help in securing added funding. We had hundreds of calls."

"I found out we had a lot more baseball support than we thought since we've never taken in one nickel at the gate at any baseball game. We found support for rodeo, volleyball and track for girls."

"From those standpoints, it was a good, healthy experience. We learned some things about our athletic programs and about our public."

Union strikes 'home'

By STEPHANIE SCHOROW
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The final confrontation between union and management at the Skyview-Hazelidel Manor began Friday when union employees went on strike.

Shouldering signs and bundled up against chilling wind, 20 to 30 union members picketed the nursing home in an attempt to force management back to the negotiating table.

Inside the home, business proceeded as usual, with jobs reportedly covered by non-striking staff, replacement workers and volunteers.

Administrator Richard Drake said the strike would not affect patient care nor change his position that negotiations have concluded.

Strikers formed a picket line in the street in front of the home and across access roads into the manor complex. However, union spokesmen said strikers would not interfere with normal traffic.

Drake said he did not know how many employees were on strike. The 135-bed manor has about 160 employees and presently about 170 patients. Union officials say the union has 105 members.

Negotiations between management and Landside Chapter 1 of the Idaho Service Employees Union, an affiliate of Service Employees International Union, ended last December when management submitted and subsequently implemented a "last and final offer" outlining wages and working conditions.

In March, union members voted to strike in an effort to force management back to the table to re-open negotiations.

Marianne Yokom and Florence Mayer were two of about 25 to 30 Skyview-Hazelidel union members who braved chilling winds on the picket line Friday.

YFCA to close down

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls YFCA will close its doors Monday.

In a brief written statement released Friday, the organization's board of directors said "high operating costs and other financial difficulties" forced closure of the facility at 1751 Elizabeth Boulevard.

Sale of the building, which includes a 25-yard swimming pool, will be explored as a means of paying debts, directors said.

They said selected programs will be operated in other facilities. Surviving programs and alternative facilities were not specified in the board's statement.

"The board would like to emphasize that this does not signal the end of the YFCA and that the board hopes to continue as many of the useful YFCA programs as it can on a volunteer basis," directors said in their prepared statement.

They said the closure was decided at a board meeting

Thursday night. A YFCA employee said workers were notified Friday afternoon.

The board refused to make further comment Friday. Board President David Cooper said all statements related to the closure must be made by him, and as an accountant busy with tax work, his schedule precludes interviews until early next week.

The closure follows longstanding fiscal turbulence suffered by the Twin Falls Young Family Christian Association, a YMCA affiliate. It was dubbed YFCA several years ago after the stormy breakdown of an arrangement whereby the YMCA and YWCA shared expenses and space at the Elizabeth Boulevard building.

Recent steps to bolster the YFCA included the May 1980 arrival of Executive Director Jack Doyle, known for his financial finesse in operating the Anchorage, Alaska,

Prosecutor is named but identity withheld

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County Commissioners selected a new prosecuting attorney Friday.

But commissioners say they won't disclose their unanimous choice until Tuesday.

Commission Chairman Ann Cover said the new prosecutor had requested his identity be withheld.

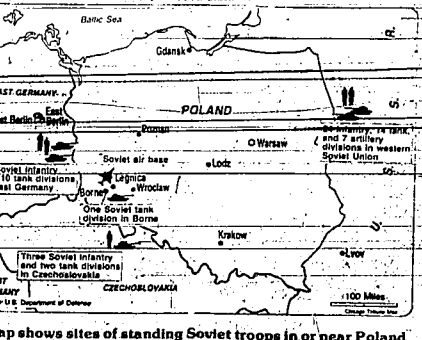

"And if that is the way he would prefer, I think that's the way we should handle it," she said.

Cover said a press conference and swearing-in ceremony has been tentatively scheduled for Tuesday.

The commission's selection followed a move by the Twin Falls County Republican Central Committee Thursday to endorse Harry DeHaan, 36, for the position vacated Tuesday by Tom Gray.

Cover acknowledged the GOP endorsement carried considerable influence in the commission's decision, saying the group represented a cross section of the community.

DeHaan won the GOP endorsement over Robert W. Galley, 50, a former county prosecutor who served in the early 1970's.

Soviet army sparks new Polish crisis

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — News reports late Friday night indicated ominous moves by the Soviet Union that could presage a military invasion of Poland.

The reports came at the end of a day in which Moscow had issued new warnings to the Solidarity union and the Polish government, and had sharpened the tone of its propaganda attacks against Polish dissidents.

CBS News reported that U.S. intelligence "has now picked up the start of a Soviet military airlift into southwest Poland. Sources say large Soviet airplanes have been landing today at Lignica military air base, presumably to deliver helicopters and other large equipment." Lignica is one of several permanent Soviet military bases in Poland.

The Boston Globe, quoting high-placed government sources, reported in its Saturday editions that the Soviets were rapidly readying 12 to 15 army divisions for movement near the Polish border.

State Department and Pentagon officials had no immediate comment.

Earlier in the day, the State Department had said that Soviet military activity around Poland had reached "unusual levels" that would allow the Russians to intervene at any moment.

In Moscow, the official newspaper praised conceded labor calm had returned to Poland but accused Solidarity of waging a "struggle against the party and the state" for control of the government.

Solidarity, its own ranks divided along lines similar to the schism in the Communist Party leadership, announced that activist Anna Walentynowicz had been dismissed from her union post in Gdansk, the labor movement's Baltic headquarters.

Mrs. Walentynowicz was the latest of several pro-Solidarity officials to leave the union after advocating confrontation with the government.

Her departure was especially symbolic because it was her dismissal from the Lenin Shipyard last August that touched off the strikes that led to the establishment of the first independent union in the East Bloc.

At the same time, the union announced the cancellation of a strike alert in the north central province of Bydgoszcz, the only place it had been left in place since Solidarity and the government reached an general Monday averting a planned general strike.

According to Cervantes, the main issues in the strike are wages, sick leave and union membership requirements. On Jan. 1, 1981, the manner's

White House released today photo of Reagan in hospital

President runs fever but prognosis bright

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan had a 101 degree temperature late Friday after doctors used a tube to remove some blood particles he had been coughing up from his wounded lung, the White House said.

Dr. Daniel Ruge, Reagan's personal physician, said the president also was put back on a "broad spectrum antibiotic" that he received following surgery, "pending the results of specific cultures."

Dr. Benjamin Aaron, associate professor of surgery at George Washington University Hospital, disclosed for the first time Reagan was bleeding at an "alarming rate" when he was rushed to the hospital Monday with a bullet embedded in his left chest. Aaron said Reagan lost 2,550 cubic centimeters of blood, 20 percent of his total blood supply, by the time the operation began to remove the bullet. A tube inserted in Reagan's chest continually filled with blood, he said.

O'Leary told reporters Thursday Reagan "bleed steadily, but not vigorously" and was never "molely close" to death when he arrived at the hospital.

Reagan's recuperation has been "remarkable," Aaron said, except for a rise in his body temperature to 102 degrees Friday.

"You have to say this is a bit of a setback," Aaron said, though noting it should not prevent his anticipated release from the hospital next week. "We obviously would have liked to see his temperature go through this low and flat."

Asked if it was dangerous for the president to undergo another surgery, Aaron said, "It's not really know. It is indicative that part of the lung is indeed not functioning as well as it might, which has been the case most of this week."

Aaron said chest X-rays showed there is some "clouding" in the base of the lung. He said that is consistent with the injury and indicates there may be sections of it that are not totally expanded.

Bullet that hit Reagan didn't explode, leak

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI said Friday President Reagan definitely was shot with an "exploding bullet" containing a toxic lead compound, but it failed to explode in his chest and was removed intact without any leakage.

Officials said the FBI laboratory determined a substance known as lead azide — inserted in the hollowest "Devastator" bullet to make it explode on impact — did not leak into Reagan's body before the slug was removed in surgery.

"Our FBI laboratory examination has shown that the canister of lead azide in the Reagan bullet was not ruptured," FBI spokesman Jim Price said.

Thomas Kelleher, chief of the FBI's laboratory division, said even if the lead azide had leaked into Reagan's body, the substance is "not that extremely toxic to the point of causing death."

Kelleher said the FBI "can say with certainty" that "Devastator" bullets, also struck and wounded Secret Service agent Timothy McCarthy and District of Columbia police officer Thomas Delahanty.

And he said a bullet may have exploded upon striking White House

Press Secretary Jim Brady in the head.

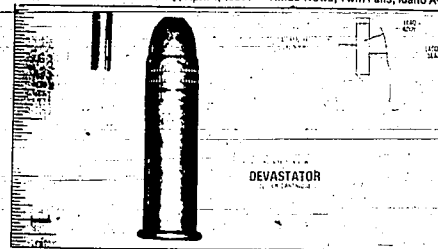

Kelleher said of the six bullets fired at Reagan, all were "Devastator" type, and three of them exploded, hitting a window of Reagan's limousine, a nearby building and possibly Brady.

Until the assassination attempt, the FBI had never seen the "Devastator" bullets, Kelleher said. The bureau examines 3,000 firearms cases a year, but it was not until a search of Hinckley's room discovered an empty cartridge box that the bullets were identified.

The "Devastator" is a 22-caliber, long-rifle cartridge... it was manufactured until about eight months ago under that trade name by Bingham Ltd., a Norcross, Ga., ammunition firm, and sold to law enforcement agencies and federally-licensed gun dealers.

The slugs have a hollowed point containing lead azide — a primer used in blasting caps. The substance acts as a detonator, causing the slug to explode and fragment on impact, under extreme heat or under heavy pressure, Kelleher said.

Late Thursday, chief FBI spokesman Roger Young said it was

Explosive core in type of bullet that hit Reagan is poisonous

"not out of the question" that Reagan's life was spared because the bullet first hit the limousine.

The slug that hit Reagan is believed to have first ricocheted off the president's bulletproof limousine, and Kelleher said it was possible it exploded upon impact with the car or may have been damaged, "possibly closing" the nose of the slug and preventing the substance from leaking out.

The second of the bullets also would have been slowed by the ricochet, reducing chances of an explosion in the president's body.

Brady taken off critical list; brain damage may be light

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Jim Brady, shot in the head during the assassination attempt on President Reagan, Friday was taken off the critical list and told his doctor that he was a "press secretary at the White House."

"He has been moved from the critical list but remains in the intensive care unit," the report said. "His vital signs are stable."

"This afternoon when Mr. Brady's physician asked him what his job was, he replied, 'Press secretary at the White House.'"

Earlier, the doctor who performed the brain surgery said Brady could recover from the gunshot wound to his head without any mental impairment. But Dr. Robert Kobrine said it could take up to a year to determine if there is any impairment in Brady's capacity to function normally.

Kobrine said Brady has "rotten brighter every day since his injury, and is speaking sentences of three, four-and-five-words. He moves his right side very well. He moves his left side very little."

Kobrine said if Brady continues to do well, movement on the left side should improve.

Asked to describe the worst possible outlook for Brady, Kobrine said, "Well, he can still die, but I don't expect that to happen."

Thai loyalist troops take up station along rail line as they re-establish control

Coup put down bloodlessly

Crowds hail Thai loyalists

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — Thailand's sixth coup in a decade ended bloodlessly Friday, with loyalist troops marching into Bangkok to the cheers of jubilant crowds and the rebel leader fleeing into presumed exile two days after seizing power.

Prime Minister Gen. Prem Tinsulanonda declared the rebel commander's nation a state of emergency and after being ousted Wednesday morning and forced to flee Bangkok. He announced a "special committee" will try rebel officers for their part in the short-lived coup.

In an interview with UPI from the headquarters 130 northeast of the capital where he masterminded the counter-coup, Prem, 60, said there would be no reprisals against rank-and-file rebel troops.

"The committee will decide the penalties for the coup makers," he repeated. "We will treat these people as fellow countrymen. Most of them will not receive harsh treatment."

Rebel leader Gen. Sant Chulapimra, faced with mass desertions by his forces, fled Bangkok in a helicopter to an unknown destination. Sant's wife and one of his sons are believed to be in the United States and diplomats said the rebel leader probably would ask Washington for asylum.

Most of the officers who joined him also fled, and the few holdouts were arrested when they surrendered to Prem's troops.

Diplomats said the outcome of the abortive coup was never in doubt from the moment Thailand's revered royal family left the capital and joined Prem.

King Bhumibol has always made a point of not interfering in politics and he made no statement in support of Prem. But in this case his actions spoke louder than words.

The rebellion was smothered almost as bloodlessly as it began as Prem's forces retook Bangkok. The only known fatality was a young motorcycleist hit by a burst of gunfire.

Lebanese truce holds

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — A cease-fire took hold in Beirut and the city of Zahle Friday, ending 51 hours of intense fighting between Christian militiamen and Syrian peace-keeping troops that claimed at least 65 lives.

The cease-fire went into effect at 5 p.m. MST and generally appeared to be holding despite sporadic exchanges of mortar and machinegun fire.

Both the shell-shocked capital and Zahle, 33 miles east of Beirut, were reported relatively quiet following the worst outbreak of violence since the 1975-76 civil war.

The fighting erupted Wednesday when the Syrians tried to drive Christian Phalangist gunmen from Zahle to keep them from building a road linking the city to Christian-controlled strongholds in central Lebanon. That in turn would have allowed the Phalangists, the largest armed force in Lebanon, to surround the Syrians.

Police and Phalangist sources said a total of 89 people were killed and 275 injured in the clashes. Most of the victims were said to be civilian residents of Christian-East Beirut and the Christian city of Zahle, which was subjected to intense Syrian artillery fire.

The cease-fire went into effect after Lebanese President Elias Sarkis spoke by telephone with Syrian President Hafez Assad and dispatched Public Works Minister Elias Hrawi to Damascus to finalize the accord, whose details were not immediately announced.

Heavy artillery duels were reported right up until the cease-fire deadline, when the guns suddenly fell silent.

In Washington, the State Department appealed for "restraint" by all and an end to all acts of violence," and spokesman William Dyess said the United States was involved in diplomatic efforts to end the fighting.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim issued a second plea in 24 hours calling for "utmost restraint." The official Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano Friday urged the battling Arab and Christians to snuff "the new flame of violence" shaking Lebanon.

Before his left for Damascus, Hrawi was quoted as saying, "If the situation continues as it is and things remain as they are, there will be a war of extermination."

Israel's home in Zahle reportedly was destroyed in this week's battles, and Syrian troops and artillery sent into Lebanon as a peacekeeping force to end the civil war five years ago, surrounded the city.

Yugoslav troops crush riots

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI) — Tanks and troops took up positions throughout Kosovo Province and helicopters hovered overhead Friday to put down bloody anti-government riots by Albanian separatists.

In Belgrade, a federal government official said the rioting in the autonomous province bordering Albania was "the worst such an outbreak of separatist demands" in multi-national Yugoslavia since the end of World War II.

The official, who asked not to be identified, said the government would use "all possible means" to put down the latest round of separatist violence.

Faced with their worst crisis since death last year of President Josip Broz Tito, government and Communist Party leaders issued a statement that charged the riots had been organized by groups outside Yugoslavia, "creating instability and endangering the territorial integrity of Yugoslavia."

Student demonstrations over poor food in Kosovo's Pristina University cafeteria and other economic issues beginning in late March led to the string of riots that brought Friday's government crackdown.

The Albanian separatists, also said to be active in Greece, seek unification with neighboring Albania, the tiny communist country on the Adriatic Sea.

Kosovo, economically Yugoslavia's least developed state, has a population of 1.6 million people, 1 million of them ethnic Albanian.

Tanks and armored personnel carriers Friday stood guard at the radio and television building, the post office, hospitals, the city jail and other government buildings in Pristina, a city of 130,000 people 190 miles southeast of Belgrade, residents said.

Residents in Pristina said that during the clashes some rioters used kindergarten-aged children as shields against police as thousands rampaged through the streets, smashing shop windows and factory machines.

Israelis raid into Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Seaborne Israeli commandos Friday stormed ashore in southern Lebanon Friday and killed at least two Palestinian guerrillas in a three-hour battle.

The attack was Israel's third pre-emptive strike against suspected guerrilla positions in four days.

In Tel Aviv, the Israeli military command did not specify if the target of the raid was a Palestinian base, but Israeli military sources said the objective was near Ras Sidait, where a strike last May 7 killed at least six guerrillas.

The command said two Palestinian guerrillas were killed and vehicle blown up in a three-hour battle.

The pro-Israeli Arab Liberation Front said its guerrillas prevented the Israelis from landing about 10 miles north of the port of Sidon during an exchange of fire on the coastal road.

Chinese invite Reagan for a visit

PEKING (UPI) — President Reagan has been invited to be the first U.S. chief executive to visit China since both nations normalized relations two years ago.

Deng Xiaoping said Friday, "An invitation already has been issued." Deng, the dominant Chinese leader who played a decisive role in the reestablishment of U.S.-China ties, said "the case comes at a time convenient to him."

Senior Chinese sources said Peking realized Reagan was wounded in Monday's assassination attempt but the invitation still stood and they hoped the American president would come when he has recovered.

Deng disclosed the invitation was made to journalists traveling with British Foreign Secretary Lord Carrington.

Diplomatic sources confirmed the Chinese have clearly shown they would welcome a visit by Reagan, although they said a formal invitation had not been sent.

One high-ranking diplomatic source said, "Deng has made it clear that Reagan would be welcome to visit."

Deng, 77, apparently decided to use Carrington's visit as an occasion to go public with the invitation.

If he accepts the invitation, Reagan will become the first U.S. president to visit China, since normalization of relations in January 1979.

Deng himself paid a visit to the United States shortly after diplomatic ties were reestablished.

Former President Carter sent Vice President Walter Mondale to visit China in the late summer of 1979.

The invitation comes at a time when it appeared Washington and Peking are seeking break out of doldrums brought on by Reagan's campaign rhetoric of upgrading ties with Taiwan, and talk of arms sales to the nationalists-held island, which China considers part of its territory.

The Chinese ambassador to Washington was received by Reagan, Vice President George Bush, Secretary of State Alexander Haig and other officials last month. The Chinese came away with guarded optimism the general orientation of Sino-American relations has again become clear.

Chinese sources also praised Reagan as a president with the ability to see the overall strategic picture — meaning they thought Reagan would not jeopardize mutual efforts to contain Soviet ambitions by letting the Taiwan question destroy U.S.-China ties.

Dolly Parton opens to riches in Vegas

By United Press International

DOLLY'S PIN MONEY
Dolly Parton, the well-developed country girl who composed and sang her way from poverty to fame, opened an eight-day engagement at the Riviera Hotel-Casino Thursday night for a salary of $350,000 a week. Dolly opened a two-week engagement Feb. 21, but was forced to cut her appearance short because of a throat ailment. "We were here, of course, before, but my voice gave out and I feel like this is my opening night," Miss Parton told the capacity showroom audience. "I'm here for good this time."

SISSY'S FOLKS PROUD

Virginia and Ed Spaack sat alone at their home in Qulman, Texas, Tuesday night with their fingers crossed. It was the second time in four years their daughter, Sissy, had been nominated for the Oscar. In 1977 she lost to Faye Dunaway. "I hated to see Mary Tyler Moore lose because she's always been one of my favorites," Spaack said. "But there she was, gitted against Sissy. We were a little worried there."

EXTRAS WANTED

"Hollywood is coming to Albany, N.Y., next week," Jack Fooks told Kris Kristofferson starting work on the international thriller "Roll Over." "And for those stage-struck types, the company is looking for extras. Miss Fonda plays the role of Lee Winters, a former film star and businesswoman, and Kristofferson plays maverick banker Hub Smith. In a work written by David Shaber, Other New York State sites where the film has been shot include New York City and Long Island.

WOODY WALK ON

Woody Hayes, Ohio State's former football coach, will join a Columbus television station as host and historian for a series of military movies beginning in December. In his first appearance, Hayes, a specialist in military history, will be adding his commentary to the showing of "Tora! Tora! Tora!," slated to air on WBNS-TV Dec. 6, the 40th anniversary of the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941. Hayes left Ohio State in the midst of the war that erupted after he punched an opposing player during the 1939 Gator Bowl game.

BLOCK PARTY CHIC

More than 50 exclusive retailers along Rodeo Drive in Beverly Hills, where celebrities and the "it" crowd in an out of shops such as Gucci's and Tiffany's, recently threw a block party for themselves. Why? To celebrate Rodeo Drive's status as a "showcase of taste and elegance" and to toast one of its most well-known merchants, Dr. Aldo Gucci.

Unemployment stays even

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's unemployment rate held steady in March at 7.3 percent, the Labor Department reported Friday.

But joblessness among black and minority teen-agers jumped nearly two points to 37.3 percent.

The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said overall teen-age unemployment experienced its first decline in several months, however, dropping slightly to 19.1 percent. The rate was 19.3 percent in February.

The bureau placed the number of "discouraged workers" — those who want to work but are not looking for new jobs because they don't think they can find one — at 1.1 million for the first quarter of 1981, up 91,000 from last quarter and 165,000 above a year ago.

Discouraged workers are not included in the unemployment figures. The Labor Department said 367,000 minority youth were out of work and actively seeking employment.

The Labor Department also reported the number of unemployed black men aged 20 years and older went up in March by 0.6 percentage points, to 13.7 percent.

Little change was noted in most other categories and industries from the February figures.

Total employment increased by 485,000 over the month to 98.4 million, and the number of unemployed increased by 10,000, bringing the new total to 7,764,000 out of work.

Unemployed workers line up in front of job center seeking work, a common scene in U.S.

March will remember King

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Saturday marks the 13th anniversary of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., an event being commemorated this year with a new nationwide drive to save the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

The drive opens Sunday in Selma, Ala., with a re-enactment of the start of the famed Selma-to-Montgomery civil rights march, the effort created with getting the Voting Rights Act on the books. The act is due to expire next year.

A "national crisis of violence" prompted Coretta-Scott-King, widow of the civil rights leader, to break tradition and schedule a Saturday news conference at her husband's gravesite in Atlanta. She normally speaks out only on the anniversary of his death.

Referring to Sunday's re-enactment of the start of the Selma march, Rev. Jesse Jackson, head of the Chicago-based Operation PUSH, said: "The point of the marches is to open up our spring offensive against the present anti-black mania in the country. The state of meanness in the country towards blacks is an attempt to take away the rights we have gained in the last 20 years."

Song about apples seeds stirs Meridian mom to complain

MERIDIAN, Idaho (UPI) — The singing of Walt Disney Production's "Johnny Applesseed Song" in a local kindergarten class has prompted protest from one parent who complains the ditty is a form of prayer in public school.

Lake Hazel Primary School Principal Barbara Pease said she received a letter of protest from Sue Rogers, a Meridian parent, prompting her to conduct a poll of all kindergarten parents to determine if they approve, disapprove or have no opinion on their children singing the song in school.

Of the 212 questionnaires sent to parents, she said, about 100 were returned and only a couple parents said they objected to the song.

Miss Pease said the song has been used by three of the school's five kindergarten teachers daily for the past two years.

The lyrics are:
"Oh, the Lord is good to me,
And so I thank the Lord,
For giving me the things I need;
The sun, the rain and the applesseed,
The Lord is good to me."

She said about 120 of the school's 212 kindergartners are affected by the song, which is used to signal the beginning of a class break.

School officials said they are seeking a legal opinion to determine if the children's constitutional rights may have been violated by use of the song.

Illegal, immoral killing had different meanings

By GEORGE R. PLAGENZ
Newspaper Enterprise Association

The 10 Commandments

'THE FIFTH COMMANDMENT: 'Thou shalt not kill. (Exodus 20:13 and Deuteronomy 5:7).

What does this mean? We should lead a chaste and virtuous life in word and deed, and each love and honor his spouse. (From Martin Luther's Small Catechism).

HISTORY: Adultery is not a new sin. Most societies throughout history have had laws and customs to deal with adultery, which is sexual intercourse with someone other than his or her spouse.

However, not all societies have treated adultery as a crime as it was under Mosaic Law.

English common-law held that only the woman was to blame in an act of adultery. But it was not a crime, only a moral wrong.

In the Puritan colonies, floggings and imprisonments were used to curtail adultery. States provided for the death penalty but it was rarely inflicted.

Muslim law allows a man to kill his wife if she is caught in the act of adultery. Mere suspicion that his wife has been unfaithful is grounds for a Muslim husband to divorce his wife.

At the other end of the spectrum, some societies even sanction adultery. In certain Eskimo groups, a husband may lend his wife to a visitor. But if the wife acts on her own initiative, her husband can punish both her and her partner.

The ancient Jews considered adultery a crime. In certain Jewish laws, which was a keystone of the Jewish nation and culture, adulterers, therefore, received the death penalty.

MEDITATION: The Rev. Joseph Beacher, an Episcopal clergyman who is the author of "The Inner City Ethics," added the word "ordinarily" to this commandment — as he did to the others.

"Thus in his version it would read, 'Thou shalt not commit adultery ordinarily.' The idea here is that there may be some situations where adultery is all right, or at least excusable.

Modern society by and large appears to be willing to live with this interpretation which is reinforced by another scripture: 'The love of God is ethics: 'Monogamy is against human nature.'

In its original and unmodified form, however, this commandment was not intended as a term for human nature. It is a term for human nature — to set a high but not unattainable standard which would help mankind to resist the downward pull of his brute nature.

ERA protests scheduled

Mormon General Conference opens

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Meetings, speeches and special services are scheduled this weekend during the 151st Annual General Conference of the Mormon Church.

Mormon officials said a daylong seminar for the church's more than 200 regional representatives was conducted Friday before the General Conference begins at Temple Square.

The regional representatives, part-time church officials, will hear from Mormon Church President Spencer W. Kimball and several general authorities of the church. A church official said that after hearing from their leaders, the representatives will be divided into departments for special training.

General Conference sessions are set to begin at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. More than 3,500 of the more than 4.7 million faithful are expected to crowd into the Temple Square Tabernacle for each session, with the overflow being housed in the nearby Salt Palace.

A general welfare conference session is also scheduled. It will begin at 7 a.m. Saturday. A general priesthood session is scheduled for 7 p.m. Saturday.

President Kimball will preside over the conference with assistance from his counselors, N. Eldon Tanner and Marion G. Romney, both of the Mormon Church's First Presidency.

A church spokesman said the conference will be carried live on radio and television stations throughout the United States, Canada, Spain, Australia and Latin America.

While the Mormon conference is taking place, Equal Rights Amendment supporters have said they plan to protest the anti-ERA stance the Mormon Church has taken in the past.

The ERA supporters said they will walk picket lines and hold rallies, marches and meetings this weekend while the church stages its conference.

Pro-ERA activities in Salt Lake City are scheduled to begin at 5:02 a.m. Saturday with the arrival of a delegation of picketers representing Nevadans for ERA at the Union Pacific Railroad depot.

A rally sponsored by Ex-Mormons for ERA is set for 10 a.m. on the steps of the State Capitol Building. At 11:00 a.m. the group will march along a half-mile route from the Capitol to Temple Square, the site of the Mormon conference.

Ex-Mormons for ERA said its members and members of the Equal Rights Coalition of Utah plan to picket Salt Lake City's two daily newspapers at 1 p.m. Tuesday. If the papers do not give what the organizations consider adequate coverage to the pro-ERA activities.

Prices surge sharply

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Huge price increases for food in March and worsening fuel inflation drove wholesale prices up by more than 16 percent at an annual rate, the highest in a year, the government reported Friday.

Wholesale prices went up 1.3 percent on a seasonally adjusted basis from February to March — an annual rate set by the Labor Department at 16.2 percent.

More than half the total increase reflected enormous one-month surges in energy prices, a bubble of bad news most economists say will soon pass as higher decontrolled domestic oil prices are absorbed.

Temporary or not, the fuel news was spectacularly bad.

Gasoline at the wholesale level rose 6 percent for the single month, largely the result of President Reagan's early lifting of price controls on domestic crude oil. It was the biggest gasoline price hike at the dealer level since March 1980, when a price increase by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries was blamed for a wholesale gasoline price increase of 8 percent.

Fuel oil got 9 percent more expensive in the latest measurement.

While the wholesale fuel inflation was generally expected, the sudden increase in food prices was not. Finished food products ready for market went up 8.6 percent in March, after falling 0.6 percent the previous month. Fresh vegetables, led by a tomato, potato and onion shortage, climbed 19.4 percent in one month.

While beef and poultry prices went down, pork prices started rising again. Sugar was less expensive, down 15.3 percent in March, but fish prices swung upward.

Before seasonal adjustment, the Labor Department's comparative measure of wholesale prices, which it calls the Producer Price Index, reached 265.3 over the 1967 base of 100. This means it cost $265.30 to buy the Labor Department's sampling of wholesale commodities that cost $100 14 years ago.

March auto sales climb on rebates

DETROIT (UPI) — Domestic car sales in March surged 7.3 percent above the same month last year despite a post-rebate sag at the end of the month.

That ended the industry's two-year string of depressed monthly sales reports.

It was the first time since February, 1979, that domestic car sales in any month exceeded the same month in the previous year.

Industry reports Friday showed U.S. automakers, aided most of the month by cash rebates to customers, sold 719,044 cars in March, up 7.3 percent from 670,146 in March of 1980. When rebate offers were toned down in the final 10-day selling period of last month, sales dropped accordingly. In the March 21-31 period, domestic sales of 192,220 cars were off 18.8 percent from 231,073 in the same period last year.

Sales reports from foreign automakers were incomplete, but it appeared likely based on scattered figures—that import sales would exceed their total of 222,688 in March, 1980.

General Motors Corp. said it sold 377,824 U.S.-built cars last month, up 12.2 percent from 339,391 last year. Ford Motor Co. sales of 158,487 cars went down 2.3 percent from March of 1980. Chrysler Corp. continued its streak of favorable reports on March sales of 92,952 U.S.-built cars, up 20.8 percent from 76,969 last year.

American Motors Corp. sales of 35,724 U.S.-built cars in the month were down 15.7 percent from 42,177 last year. Volkswagen of America said it sold 15,997 U.S.-built Rabbits in March, down 15.7 percent from 18,977 in March of 1980.

Toothbrush led English prisoner into new life

The toothbrush was invented in an English prison. By one William Addis. He knew a couple of things: One, that he didn't want any more of that crime life. And two, that he'd need some way to support himself once free. So he decided to invest his own money in the toothbrush. How he came up with the brilliant idea, it had, remains a mystery. At the time, practically nobody else in the world thought it was needed.

PUPIL STATIONS?
Am advised that many teachers now refer to classroom desks not as desks but as "pupil stations." How can you expect your kids to get an honest education from teachers who aren't even smart enough to understand that "pupil stations" is a phony set of syllables nowhere nearly as efficient as the word desks?
