Computer error scuttles launch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Misbehaving computers blocked the takeoff of the space shuttle Columbia in the final minutes of the countdown Friday.

Experts pinpointed the problem later in the day, and said they will announce Saturday whether it can be solved in time for a Sunday launch.

The computer failure, just 10 minutes before astronauts John W. Young and Robert L. Crippen were to blast into space, brought an abrupt end to a Friday countdown that had gone smoothly in the preceding hours under welcoming skies.

Analysts at the space center in Houston announced Friday night they had determined the problem lay in failure of the spacecraft's four primary computers and their backup counterpart to communicate with each other because of an electronic "language barrier."

"We are making very good progress in isolating and troubleshooting the problem at this time," said deputy shuttle program manager Arnold D. Aldrich. But spokesman Terry White said there had been "no firm decisions" on how to solve it.

White said computer experts in Houston and at the Cape will confer Saturday, and that by afternoon, there should be a decision on whether another try will be made Sunday morning to send the astronauts off on their 54 1/2-hour, 36-orbit mission.

"Basically," flight director Neil Hutchinson explained earlier, "the problem was the inability of one of our computing systems to talk to another, which is a requirement" for launch.

So essential is the uncooperative computer, crucial for almost all flight operations, that the Columbia cannot fly without it.

Hutchinson said 50 to 100 computer experts were laboring to solve the problem.

The computer problem abruptly ended a "high" of euphoria that blossomed Tuesday and early Friday when the shuttle was scheduled to launch — the one that failed — weeks — years, really — of nagging problems with Columbia appeared to be broken and the countdown began running smoothly.

Hutchinson said the befuddled electronic brain in Columbia posed a mystery because the computer program looked fine, and an unlikely double equipment failure would have been required for the computer itself to be at fault.

The shuttle, key to America's future in space, relies more heavily on computers than any past spacecraft.

That is why the four main ones aboard the Columbia are backed up by an operating spare — the one that failed — plus an extra stowed in a locker on the lower cabin deck.

The backup computer runs independently, simply monitoring the main computers under normal conditions. But it would have to take over vital guidance and navigation chores should a main computer fail during a critical maneuver, such as orbit raising.

Young, Crippen will try again Sunday

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — With faulty waves and grinning astronauts John W. Young and Robert L. Crippen boarded the shuttle Columbia two hours before dawn Friday morning for 36 trips around the world.

They climbed out of it over six hours later, stuck on the ground at the Kennedy Space Center — a shrug from Crippen and a wan smile from Young.

Space agency physicians estimated their ordeal — strapped flat on their backs to their cockpit seats, their legs slightly raised — lasted about as long as a human can be expected to tolerate such a position under the pull of gravity.

When Young and Crippen emerged from the van that brought them from launch pad 39-A, their faces showed the strain. There were bags under their eyes that didn't show a few hours before, and the lines along their jaws were more sharply drawn.

Hours before, it had been all optimism.

But 10 minutes before the scheduled 6:50 a.m. launch, with Young and Crippen strapped in their seats, it was found the shuttle's spare computer wasn't on speaking terms with the other four primary ones.

Some 27 minutes past 6 a.m., space agency officials told Young and Crippen it might take 90 minutes to restore computer harmony, and were asked about their feelings on the matter.

They remained determined, confident and reluctant to give up on a Friday launch. When the allotted 90 minutes passed, tranquility still had not yet been reestablished between the computers, but their determination remained.

The two astronauts hung on grimly for another hour and 50 minutes before the space agency finally scrubbed the launch.

If all goes well, they'll try again Sunday.

Disappointed, Young and Crippen leave shuttle after last-minute problems scrubbed launch

Education board declares fiscal emergency

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — Citing "dire financial straits," the state Education Board today declared a condition of fiscal emergency for Idaho's higher education institutions.

The action, setting off a process in which administrators will be able to quickly lay off employees to meet budget constraints, applied to Boise State University, Idaho State University, the University of Idaho and Lewis-Clark State College.

Also affected were the state Vocational Education Division and the University of Idaho's agricultural research and cooperative extension services.

Following a public hearing, the board, by resolution, noted available higher education funds of $2.4 million during the next fiscal year — which includes a $100 per-semester student fee increase approved Thursday — still falls about $6 million below the board's request for higher education.

The board and institution officials have tipped the Idaho Legislature for appropriating millions of dollars less than had been requested for fiscal year 1982, which begins July 1.

The declaration of financial exigency triggers a series of procedures allowing officials to fire employees, including tenured faculty members, to remain within revenue.

The president and agency heads are to return to the board May 7-8 with recommended plans for necessary program changes.

Board President Janel Hay, Nampa, said the declaration was a "temporary setback" and she predicted there would be increased support for education as the public realizes the importance of public schools and higher education to the state.

Idaho Public Instruction Superintendent Jerry Evans said he did not oppose the declaration, but would have preferred to wait one month for more detailed information on the impact of available funds. He said he feared the board would be seen as "crying wolf" when there is no wolf at the door, or at least the wolf at the door is no larger than the wolf we have had in the past."

But Milton Small, the board's executive director, said the board already had discussed the problems which would arise even if revenues were sufficient to maintain current operations.

"We are beset with the myth that maintaining current operations is adequate," he said. "I think the crisis has built up because we felt euphoric. We got enough to get along as badly as we had the past few years."

"Perhaps the cart is before the horse. I rather think we've lost the horse and if we don't move quickly, the cart won't be there either."

Wayne Schow, representing the Idaho State University faculty, said perhaps the board should declare "a state of chronic indigency" due to continuing underfunding over the past few years. But he added faculty members were torn between the best route to take.

In other action Cheryl Hymas of Jerome was elected to a one-year term as president of the state Board of Education, replacing Janet Hay of Nampa. The board rotates its chairmanship position each year.

Compromise diffuses debate

Special redistricting session tentatively scheduled July 7

BY LARRY SWISHER
Times-News writer

BOISE — A special session of the Idaho Legislature may start remapping legislative and congressional districts July 7.

Fuss over the date of the 10-year reapportionment dissolved Friday in compromise, after the Legislative Council met here with Gov. John Evans. The council voted to recommend that Evans call the session on July 7.

Press secretary Don Watkins said the governor viewed the date as a good compromise between his proposal and the Republican leadership's date of November or December. A final decision will be made within a few days, Watkins said.

Evans suggested the special session be held in May or June to give potential 1982 election candidates time to make plans based on the new district boundaries.

"A lot of people out there are interested in running for the Legislature," he said.

But he asked the council of 14 legislators, including the top leadership, to "come up with a compromise recommendation."

A special session must be called by the governor, have its purpose stated and can last no more than 20 days.

A May date was ruled out because population counts of the state's 800 election precincts, based on the 1980 U.S. Census, will not be completed by legislative staff for four to six weeks.

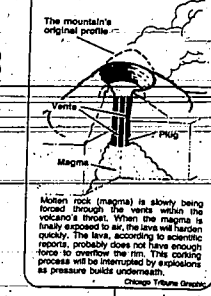

The council, however, directed the staff to release the figures county by county as each is completed.

House Majority Leader Walt Little, R-New Plymouth, said many legislators preferred a session late in the year.

But several council members of both parties claimed they could not understand why the issue of timing had become a political issue.

In proposing the July 7 date, Senate Majority Leader James Risch, R-Cambridge,

Why Mt. St. Helens keeps rumbling

Mt. St. Helens rumbles back to life, spews debris

VANCOUVER, Wash. (UPI) — Mount St. Helens spewed volcanic debris 3 miles into the air and shattered with quakes Friday, prompting scientists to warn that more booming steam and ash pulses were imminent.

"We're having four to five volcanic quakes or seismic bursts an hour," reported Chris Triller from the University of Washington's Geophysics Department earthquake watch headquarters. "There is a strong likelihood of further eruptive activity sometime today — but we don't know when."

"We are getting low frequency quakes as opposed to (earth) plate movement. They're just not dropping down so we're watching really close. It's likely that things are not done yet."

The National Weather Service issued a warning that flash floods might result if the volcano began disgorging fiery materials laterally on the volcano's snow-covered northern slopes.

Ground crews were sent onto the Toutle River drainage system with instructions to monitor stream flow. The alert should the water level change dramatically.

Friday's eruption culminated several days of underground tremors. The USGS issued an eruption alert at 6:30 a.m., and the mountain came to life less than two hours later. USGS scientists monitoring increasing earthquakes and underground rumblings had predicted the volcano would erupt and the area for 20 miles around the mountain was cleared of people, a spokesman said.

Area legislators named to four interim study committees

BOISE — Four interim study committees of the Legislature were appointed Friday, despite charges that one was a waste of money.

Legislative Council members from the House of Representatives won a minor victory by placing six representatives to three senators on a panel to study higher education. Rep. Dan Kelly, R-Mountain Home, was appointed chairman.

Sen. Arnel Merrill, D-Blackfoot, called the committee a waste of time and money, but House Speaker Ralph Olmstead, R-Twin Falls, defended it as potentially constructive.

Olmstead suggested it might lead to a law next year giving the State Board of Education authority to consolidate and transfer programs between institutions.

"Their hands are tied," Olmstead said, referring to Gov. John Evans' veto of such legislation passed this year by the Legislature.

Another interim committee will study Idaho's 1980 election contest law, which was criticized as archaic and unworkable during the challenge of District 21 Sen. John Beawey, D-Carey, last year. It will be chaired by Rep. George Danielson, R-

Cambridge.

Other committees will study and report to the 1982 session of the Legislature on the state's Medicaid and welfare system and on the state-owned Eagle Island property west of Boise. That property was proposed for sale by legislators but opposed by those who urge creation of a state park.

Sen. John Barker, R-Buhl, will head the Medicaid panel, and Sen. Mark Ricks, R-Redding, the Eagle Island group.

The committees, authorized by legislative resolutions, and their members are as follows:

Election contests: Sens. Leon Swenson, R-Nampa; J. Wilson Sloan, R-Glenns Ferry; and Kernal Kiebert, D-Hope; and Reps. Danielson; Larry Harris, R-Boise; and Mel Hammond, D-Redburg.

Post-secondary education: Reps. Kelly; Kitty Gurnsey, R-Boise; Kurt Johnson, R-Idaho Falls; Lawrence Knigge, R-Fluer; Marguerite McLaughlin, D-Oronho; and Ralph Lacy, D-Pocatello; and Sens. Edith Miller Klein, R-Boise; David Little, R-Emmett; and Gary Gould, D-Pocatello.

Medicaid and welfare: Sens. Barker; Terry Swanson, R-Coeur d'Alene; and Vernon Linder, D-Pinehurst; and Reps. Elaine Kearnes, R-Idaho Falls; Darwin Young, R-Blackfoot; and George Johnson, D-Lewiston.

Eagle Island: Sens. Ricks; Atwell Parry, R-Melba; and Norma Dobler, D-Moscow; and Reps. Peggy Bunting, R-Boise; Myron Jones, R-Mallard; and Richard Adams, D-Grangeville.

Murder charge for Franklin

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Self-proclaimed racist Joseph Paul Franklin was bound over to district court Friday on first-degree murder charges stemming from the August sniper slayings of two black joggers.

Franklin, a former member of the Ku Klux Klan and the American Nazi Party, was found guilty in federal court on March 4 of violating the civil rights of the victims by killing them. He was sentenced to serve two consecutive life terms in a federal prison.

Police in Indianapolis, Ind., and Oklahoma City have also filed murder charges against the suspect in connection with the slayings of two persons in each city.

Gray sues his prosecutors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former acting FBI chief J. Patrick Gray, cleared of conspiracy charges, has filed a $5.5 million lawsuit charging Justice Department lawyers distorted evidence against him to a grand jury.

In a suit filed in U.S. District Court, Gray charged that 13 department lawyers and two former attorneys general, Griffin Bell and Benjamin Civiletti, conducted a "negligent and inept" investigation resulting in his indictment in 1976.

He said their actions violated his constitutional rights.

Gray was charged along with his two former top lieutenants, W. Mark Felt and Edward S. Miller, with approving illegal break-ins.

Two and a half years later, weeks after Felt and Miller were convicted, prosecutors asked a federal judge to dismiss the case against Gray because the evidence was unconvincing.

Longmont city workers shot

LONGMONT, Colo. (UPI) — Police said a domestic quarrel apparently caused a secretary's estranged husband to enter a meeting at the Civic Center and shoot to death two city employees.

The victims were identified as Doug Schauer, the city's budget officer, and Gene Decker, a municipal field engineer. The two had just ended a meeting on a water bond issue in which Sally Ann Courtney, a secretary for the city, had taken part.

Garwood faces sex charges

JACKSONVILLE, N.C. (UPI) — Marine Pfc. Robert R. Garwood—who was convicted of aiding the enemy in Vietnam, will go on trial in civilian court May 11 for alleged sex offenses involving a 7-year-old girl, District Attorney William H. Andrews said Friday.

Andrews said the 35-year-old Marine—who faces counts of attempted first-degree rape, first-degree sexual offense, attempted first-degree sexual offense and taking indecent liberties with a child.

Boise man named ABA head

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The American Bar Association has named Thomas H. Gosner of Boise, Idaho, as executive director of its board of governors. His appointment is effective Sept. 1.

ABA president William Reece Smith said Friday. Gosner will succeed R. H. Early of Chicago. Early is retiring after serving as the association's executive director for the past 17 years.

Gosner, 42, is associate general counsel for Boise Cascade Corporation. He was president of the Idaho Law Foundation from 1977 to 1980 and president of the National Conference of Bar Foundations in 1979.

Coal strike talks to resume

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The striking United Mine Workers Union and the soft coal industry agreed Friday night to resume negotiations on a new contract Tuesday to end the 15-day walkout by 60,000 miners.

UMW spokesman Eldon Callen told reporters the agreement was reached between UMW President Sam Church, Jr. and B.R. "Bobby" Brown, chief negotiator for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

Earlier, union president Sam Church Jr. called on the industry to quickly resume talks to avoid a protracted strike. He told reporters his union's "frustrated" bargaining council had decided to stay in Washington "waiting for BCOA to return to the table."

Church led negotiations on a proposed contract agreement rejected by the rank-and-file 10 days ago. He discussed a resumption of talks Friday by phone with Brown.

"Today I publicly ask Bobby Brown and his BCOA negotiators to return to the table. Their refusal will not do anyone any good," Church said. "It will not help the miners and it will certainly not help the image of American coal in the foreign marketplace."

Tommy Gaston, president of western Kentucky's District 22 and a UMW negotiator, made the motion at a bargaining council session to keep the panel in Washington.

"Let's try to get back to negotiations and get this thing resolved so the people can get back to work," Gaston said. "I think it is very possible that if Brown and the BCOA would return to the table, we could have an agreement reached before Easter and at least be in the ratification process again."

Church said the council examined issues that led to the rejection of the previous tentative agreement.

Scattered violence continued in the U.S. and elsewhere.

Church said the council examined issues that led to the rejection of the previous tentative agreement.

Conti and Construction Co. at a non-union strip mine operation in Eastern Ohio was destroyed by fire Friday. Ohio Coal Co. said the fire had blocked an injunction to prohibit striking UMW members from interfering with the operation of the coal company.

An unheeded and unfused stick of dynamite was located at some 25 feet in the mine, after they shrouded at a non-union truck hauling coal into the Narce-Caudill Co. mine, state police said. The dynamite did not explode and no injuries were reported.

Later, two men allegedly emerged from southeastern Kentucky mine waving flags at the pickets, but then ran back to the mine without firing, police said.

Boise said, "I fail to understand why these areas are picked. It has nothing to do with population. I am not aware of them."

Rep. Harold Reid, D-Craigmont, said the most difficult time for most agriculture was July, August and September.

"No matter when, it is a bump time," House Speaker Ralph Olmstead, R-Twin Falls, said.

In arguing for an early session, Rep. Patricia McElmott, D-Pocatello, said the inevitable wounds among legislators caused by reapportionment would have more time to heal before the next regular session in January.

Senate Minority Leader Ron Twigg, D-Boise, served notice he will fight dividing Ada County between the 1st and 2nd Congressional Districts.

"The typical mindset seems to be to merge the line into Ada County a little more," Twigg said, referring to 1980 census figures showing the 2nd District has fewer residents now than the 1st.

"That would diminish the county's political influence and is opposed by county residents," he said. "There are ways to divide the districts so you do not divide counties."

If Evans agrees to the July date, it would apparently avoid legal questions about the timing of reapportionment.

Deputy Attorney General Roy Eiguren said there is a question whether the Legislature could constitutionally reapportion after Nov. 2, a year before the 1982 general election.

Accident victim in stable condition

Laura Jaques, who suffered serious injuries in a two-vehicle accident Wednesday, was reported in stable condition after the accident by Magic Valley Memorial Hospital officials Friday.

Jaques was listed in "guarded" condition at the hospital Wednesday and her injuries reportedly included multiple fractures.

Jaques, 17, of Kimberly allegedly ran a stop at the intersection of Shoshone Falls Road and Falls Avenue East. Her vehicle struck a 1974 pickup truck driven by Lola Prescott, 43, also of Kimberly.

Officials said Jaques' vehicle was propelled in the air by the impact, breaking off a power pole 23 feet above the ground.

Accident victim in stable condition

Jaques was pinned in the wreckage. Others involved in the accident were in stable condition after the accident, but suffered only minor injuries.

Hutchinson said two of four channels in the backup computer refused Friday to take any listening to the main computer. The resulting lack of communication, experts said, could be compared to people on opposite ends of a telephone conversation trying to talk at the same time.

The computer problem struck just before the nine-minute mark in Friday's countdown, making control consoles light up like Christmas trees.

The countdown was halted, recycled and halted again as control teams tried to get the computer working. Finally, three hours after the scheduled launch, time ran out and the Friday morning had to be called off.

"We're going to spend so much time in the cockpit this morning," spacecraft commander Daniel G. Brandenstein told Young and Crippen, who had been in Columbia since 4:19 a.m. "We're going to try harder on Sunday morning."

"Well, Dan, we had everything going for us," Young replied with a wistful air. "You did everything that you could—I thought it was just great."

After crawling out of the capsule, astronauts Young and Crippen spent much of the day assisting in resolution of the computer problem" before retiring to bed just after 4 p.m. Officials said they will follow on Saturday the same launch activities they went through Thursday, including flights in shuttle training aircraft.

Aside from the bulky computer, conditions looked good for a launch at 4:50 a.m. MST Sunday. A preliminary forecast for that day is for the same nearly ideal conditions that prevailed Friday — sunny skies with a few clouds and light winds.

A Saturday launch has been ruled out because the shuttle's 35-story-tall, 526,128-gallon main fuel tank had to be drained and reconditioned before another launch attempt. Draining the frigid liquid oxygen and hydrogen tank at noon and was expected to take almost 24 hours.

Mission directors said launch teams will be summoned at 4 p.m. Saturday to begin the countdown at a point 10 1/2 hours before launch.

Sunday marks the 20th anniversary of the day Soviet cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin soared into orbit aboard Vostok 1, becoming the first man in space. Gagarin's flight on April 12, 1961, beat the Mercury "mercury" mission of America's Alan B. Shepard by just 23 days.

Scattered showers are predicted through Sunday

Twin Falls, Burley-Rupert, Jerome-Gooding areas:
Variable cloudiness through Sunday with scattered showers to night and Sunday. Winds westerly 10 to 15 mph this afternoon. Highs both days upper 40s to upper 50s. Lows 25 to 35 degrees.

Camas-Francis, Halsey, Wood River areas:
Variable cloudiness through Sunday with scattered showers to night and Sunday. Highs both days in the 40s. Lows upper teens and 20s.

Northern Utah and Nevada:
Fair to partly cloudy today with variable clouds and widely scattered showers Sunday. Highs near 60. Lows near 30.

Synopsis:
Water round of stormy weather — clouds, showers, and cool temperatures — appears in store for Idaho this weekend.

The next in a series of storms moving down the Cascade coast on Friday is expected to cross Idaho today, reaching the southeastern part of the state tonight.

On Friday, showers were partly cloudy with a few light snow showers in the north and over the central mountains. Mullan reported a trace of new snow. Afternoon temperatures were mostly in the 40s and 50s, although a few 60-degree readings were reported in southern Idaho. The warmest was 64 at Malheur.

On Friday morning, Stanley's 10 degrees was the coldest temperature.

The extended forecast for the Magic Valley calls for a chance of showers on Monday and Wednesday with cool temperatures. Monday warming to near seasonal normals by midweek. Highs will range from the middle 40s to the low 60s with lows in the 20s and 30s.

The agricultural forecast calls for possible muddy fields resulting from weekend showers, delaying field preparation, planting and fertilizing. Drying should resume on Monday, continuing through Wednesday.

Elsewhere in the nation Friday, the warmest temperatures were at Coolidge, Ariz., and the coldest was 18 at Helena, Mont.

Hundreds honor Bradley

A young soldier pays tribute to Gen. Omar Bradley

EL PASO, Texas (UPI)— They came in groups and alone, some in military dress and others in civilian clothes, to pay tribute to the man who led American troops into World War II's D-Day invasion.

While an honor guard stood watch over the flag-draped casket, hundreds paid their respects Friday to Gen. Omar Nelson Bradley, the last of America's five-star generals, whose body lay in repose in the Fort Bliss Central Chapel.

A 19-gun salute was held for Bradley at noon Friday. About 300 soldiers and civilians stood at attention for the cannon salute befitting someone of ambassadorial rank. Only the chief of state is awarded a 21-gun salute.

"He was the finest general that ever walked," said Warren Van Vorse, a 30-year Army veteran who visited the chapel at midmorning to honor the man who twice was his commander.

"He was a soldier's officer. In my opinion he was the greatest — in World War II or after."

Bradley, 88, died Wednesday in New York City of a heart attack while at dinner at the fashionable 21 Club.

At the request of the general's wife, Kitty, his body was returned to El Paso Thursday for three days of public viewing.

Bradley led American forces ashore at Normandy during the D-Day invasion of World War II and commanded four armies in their sweep across Europe against the German Third Reich.

Albert Boyce — of El Paso — who served under Bradley in the mid-1940s in Europe, said, "He was a hell of a soldier."

"I served under the general in Europe. I was a PFC at the time but I still was one of his soldiers and I admired him greatly."

Two soldiers — a lieutenant and a sergeant — came to the chapel in field dress straight from the recently completed Border Star 81 military readiness exercise conducted in Texas and Mexico.

Lt. Francis Segura, 27, and Sgt. Gary Whit said they had just heard about Bradley's death at the exercises and decided to stop to honor him on their way to Fort Polk, La.

"If you have your chance, pay your respect," said Segura.

Environmentally sensitive waters excluded from offshore lease sale

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Environmentally sensitive waters of California's northern coast will be excluded from the controversial federal oil and gas leasing sale to be held next month, Interior Secretary James Watt said Friday.

But Watt told reporters he would decide in coming weeks whether to include the four northern offshore areas — the Eel River, Point Arena, Bodega and Santa Cruz basins — in a future sale.

He also said the Santa Maria Basin, the only one involved in the May sale, will include 34 tracts that California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. sought to have removed.

"It was my conclusion the national interest was best served if we allow exploratory drilling in the Santa Maria tracts," he said.

A Brown spokesman called the move "outrageous," and three Democrats in the state's congressional delegation said they suspected Watt intended to go ahead and lease the northern basins too.

Rep. Leon Panetta, D-Calif., accused Watt of wanting to scrap the policy of balancing fishery and shoreline protection against the value of oil.

"We're going to fight it legislatively, and if necessary, we'll fight it in the courts," he said, citing support from more than 100,000 California petitioners, 50,000 from his own district.

Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., said all San Francisco Bay area congressmen "hotly opposed" North Coast drilling and said Watt's idea of wilderness is "a parking lot without lines."

Rep. Tom Lantos, D-Calif., said leasing the northern basins would be "a blatant payoff to the oil companies."

Sen. S.I. Hayakawa, R-Calif., said he had reservations about drilling in three of the northern basins but called Watt's move a major and positive step towards increasing our domestic oil and gas supply.

Watt also announced an accelerated five-year offshore leasing plan he said would add at least six more sales — or about one more a year — to the Interior Department's current schedule, as well as boost the acreage covered in each.

Hijacker dies after struggle with crewmen

MIAMI (UPI) — A Cuban who tried to hijack a New York-to-Miami-Eastern Airlines jet to his homeland Friday set a fire aboard the plane, then died mysteriously after passengers and flight attendants subdued him in a violent struggle.

The would-be hijacker was identified by the FBI as Rafael Pellerano, 39. He was dead on arrival at Miami International Airport.

Pellerano's body was turned over to Dr. Roger Mittelman of the Dade County medical examiner's office. Mittelman said he planned to perform an autopsy on the body Saturday to determine the cause of death.

FBI spokesman Welton Merry said that Pellerano grabbed a stewardess and demanded to go to Cuba. He then took a small bottle of flammable liquid, poured it into a water fountain, "then set it on fire," Merry said.

Male flight attendants and passengers put out the fire and had subdued Pellerano when someone noticed he was having trouble breathing. The crew gave him oxygen while another passenger administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation for about 10 minutes, but to no avail.

Granville's earthquake forecast passes without a tremor

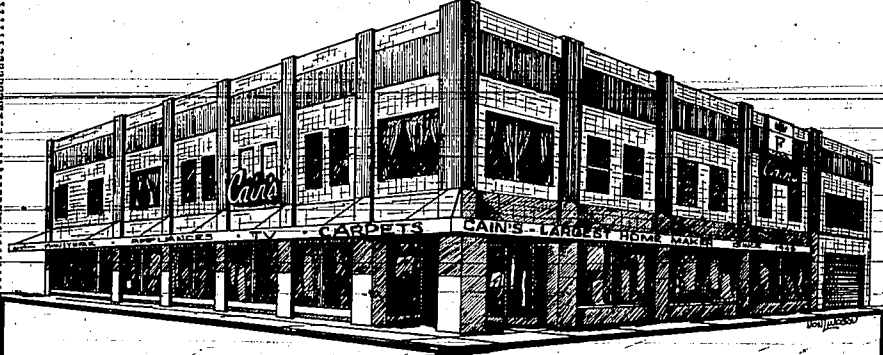

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Wall Street guru Joseph Granville's prediction the nation's third largest city would be flattened Friday morning by a devastating earthquake was an earth-shaking flop.

The deadline for the predicted quake at 4:31 a.m. MST passed with many a yawn.

Southern Californians, accustomed to dealing with quakes, brush fires and mudslides, chalked it up as yet another "Doomsday" prediction the city would split off from the rest of the continent and tumble into the Pacific. Granville, a Florida-based economic forecaster and self-styled soothsayer, warned of a huge quake measuring 8.5 on the Richter Scale, the same magnitude as the Alaska earthquake in March 1964 and bigger than the February 1971 San Fernando Valley quake that killed 65 people. Granville's prediction was taken seriously by some because he made it on Tom Snyder's "Tomorrow" TV show. The prediction was widely ignored in Los Angeles.

Symms' vote helps key surprise defeat of Reagan budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The zeal of first-term Republican senators who want to silence federal spending even more than President Reagan created a serious problem Friday for the administration's 1982 budget.

Assistant Senate Republican leader Ted Stevens of Alaska told reporters that the Senate Budget Committee's stunning and unexpected 12-9 defeat of its own $704.1 billion version of Reagan's budget resolution late Thursday night created something of a headache.

"There's no question that this is a problem," said Stevens.

Chairman Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M., called the situation "serious" and said he would confer with the Senate leadership before deciding what course to follow.

Three staunch conservative Republicans — first-termer William L. Armstrong of Colorado and newly elected Charles E. Grassley of Iowa and Steven Symms of Idaho — joined the Democrats to defeat the Senate committee's budget resolution.

They complained that even though the resolution cut $10.4 billion more than Reagan asked, it would not balance the budget by 1984. It projected deficits of $53.8 billion in 1982, $52.2 billion in 1983 and $44.7 billion in 1984 because of what Stockman dismissed as the accounting dispute.

They said they wanted a balanced budget and they meant what they said.

The two-week Easter recess, which begins this weekend, and the absence of Senate GOP leader Howard Baker, R-Tenn., who is out of the country for a week, complicated matters for the Republicans.

A key observer reported that after the vote, two other freshmen Republicans — Bob Kasten of Wisconsin, and Slade Gorton of Washington state — turned to Symms and said, "You just killed Kemp-Roth," the Reagan tax bill.

"They seem so sure they're right" the observer said. "To see [it] go up in smoke, not because of your enemies but because your allies did you in...."

Congressional sources from both parties said the committee may have to start its tedious work all over again.

But the White House said the Senate committee action should not be considered a defeat.

"We regard the vote as a bump on the wide road to passage of the president's economic package," acting White House press secretary Larry Speakes said. "We do not think the vote should be taken as a long-term defeat but as a tactical dispute on the timing of the budget savings."

Budget director David Stockman told reporters what happened was a procedural "accounting problem" rather than "any setback for our overall economic program."

The dispute, Stockman said, was over how to account in 1983 and 1984 budget projections for the $30 billion or $40 billion in spending cuts needed to meet the goal of a balanced budget in 1984. The administrator said it will make the cuts but not yet said where.

At issue, Stockman said, is whether to put those anticipated savings in the projections — before they are identified — and show a balanced budget or leave them out and show a whopping 1984 deficit.

"It's something that can be resolved," he said. The administration will be pressing legislators during their Easter recess to work it out.

The Democrats went along with many of the cuts, even in social programs, but — sharply — opposed Reagan's plan for an across-the-board tax cut of $51.3 billion in 1982, $57.1 billion in 1983 and $144.8 billion in 1984.

Reagan considers computer to identify welfare cheaters

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Reagan administration said Friday it is considering assembling a computerized list of all welfare recipients in order to detect fraud.

Officials talked about the idea gingerly, and a spokeswoman for the Department of Health and Human Services — in which the welfare bureaucracy is housed — would say only that the idea was under consideration.

"We're taking a look at such a proposal. The exact specific details of it have not been worked out yet," said spokeswoman Laura Genero. "The secretary (HHS Secretary Richard Schweiker) has not signed off on this and given his final approval."

When asked, she would not comment if that meant Schweiker had given his tentative approval.

But the National Recipient Information System is mentioned in official documents released this month detailing proposed 1982 budget revisions.

The idea for such a data bank, which sources said originated at the White House, immediately drew fire from liberals who called it a "massive invasion of privacy."

Map shows location where Japanese freighter sank

U.S. sub rams, sinks ship; leaves survivors

TOKYO (UPI) — A U.S. nuclear submarine sank a freighter in a head-on collision that left the ship's Japanese captain and first mate missing in the fog-shrouded East China Sea, authorities disclosed Friday.

Thirteen crewmen from the freighter were rescued after 18 hours in a rubber dinghy.

The Navy said the U.S.S. George Washington, carrying Polaris missiles surfaced after colliding with the Nissho Maru, but left the scene after a sighting no wreckage or survivors.

However, Japanese officials said the crewmen reported seeing the submarine surface and then submerge again. They did not learn of the accident until the survivors were found by a Japanese destroyer.

"This is something we can't tolerate, this being abandoned by fellow sailors," one survivor said. "The sub may have military secrets but after all it's a matter of humanitarianism."

The Navy denied the submarine's commander had been negligent in reporting the accident or careless in searching for survivors.

But an official conceded that Japanese authorities should have been notified of a possible collision and said an investigation was underway to determine why they were not.

The Navy said fog and rain prevented visual contact with the freighter while the submarine's sonar equipment was rendered useless by the heavy traffic in the sea lane. "We deeply regret this unfortunate incident," a Navy spokesman added.

Heaped for Captain Tazuo Noguchi and first officer Sumio Matsunouchi, who according to survivors did not have time to get overboard. The freighter sank within 15 minutes of the collision.

Major fighting shatters Lebanese truce

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Syrian troops and Christian militiamen plunged into an all-out battle for the strategic city of Zahle Friday as a U.S.-mediated truce collapsed in a thunder of artillery fire.

Meanwhile, Israeli troops and jet-fighters also attacked Palestinian guerrilla bases along the Mediterranean coast for the first time this week from south Lebanon to within 8 miles of Beirut.

Although they did not appear to be related, the Israeli raids and the Syrian-Christian clashes engulfed Lebanon in the most widespread violence since its 1975-76 civil war.

Police said another 20 persons were killed and 43 injured in Beirut and Zahle as the 18th cease-fire in 10 days broke down. The toll since the fighting began April 1 rose to 283 dead and 625 injured.

Another 16 persons were killed in the Israeli raids, including one Israeli commando, authorities said.

The battle for Zahle, a city of 200,000 people 33 miles east of Beirut, raged on into the night, the flashes of artillery shells illuminating the sky.

Police sources said the Syrians threw elite paratroop outfits into the fight in an effort to sever supply routes used by militiamen from the Israeli-armed right-wing Christian Phalangist Party.

The city is strategic to both sides as an elbow connecting south and central Lebanon and as a gateway to the Syrian frontier only 10 miles to the east.

Police sources said Syrian artillery hammered Phalangist tank positions around Zahle while Phalangist artillery bombarded nearby Shoura, headquarters of the Syrian force sent to Lebanon in 1976 to snuff out the civil war.

The cease-fire that Secretary of State Alexander Haig helped mediate also collapsed in Beirut as the two armies swapped rocket and machinegun fire across the so-called Green Line dividing the Christian and Moslem sectors of the capital.

Hours earlier, Israeli jetfighters streaked to within 8 miles of Beirut to pound Palestinian positions around the coastal town of Damour.

Under cover of pre-dawn darkness, Israeli commandos also surprised a Palestinian base 8 miles inside Lebanon and destroyed two Soviet-made tanks, several vehicles and an ammunition dump in fighting that left at least 13 dead, including one Israeli.

A short time later, six U.S.-made Israeli Phantom jets struck Palestinian positions at Dalhamiyeh, 20 miles south of Beirut, and in Damour, only 8 miles south of the capital.

Their strength-boosted by Israeli arms, the Phalangists seemed determined to press their campaign to end Syria's presence in Lebanon and expel the Palestinians.

Hess develops pneumonia

BERLIN (UPI) — Rudolf Hess, Adolf Hitler's former deputy and the only inmate left in Spandau prison, has been hospitalized with pneumonia, a spokesman for Berlin's British hospital said Friday.

The spokesman said Hess was responding well to treatment. But Hess will be 57 on April 26 and pneumonia at his age is considered serious.

Hess is the last of the seven top Nazis sent to Spandau by the Nuremberg post-war International Military Tribunal.

Hess has been a captive ever since he parachuted into Scotland in 1941 with a plan to get the British to fire "war wags" Winston Churchill as prime minister.

Hess has said the Soviets oppose his release because they believe he made the fight to conclude peace with Britain, clearing the way for Germany's assault on Russia six weeks later.

Historians now say the eccentric Hess was in Hitler's disfavor and so far removed from the Nazi inner circle that he was ignorant of the Soviet invasion plan.

Polish boss seeks union strike ban

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Polish Prime Minister Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski announced a series of economic measures Friday and threatened to quit unless Parliament suspended the unions' right to strike for two months.

Warning the economic situation was worse than he realized when he took office Feb. 12, Jaruzelski also called for a renegotiation of last summer's agreement with the Solidarity labor union and hinted at possible bread rationing.

Solidarity's leadership meeting in the Baltic port of Gdansk called Jaruzelski's proposals "unjustified."

"No resolution passed by Parliament will be able to avert a strike if the security of our union is endangered or when violation of the law takes place," Solidarity said in a statement.

Jaruzelski said the economic situation was so bad that the government could not fulfill every point of the agreement signed last summer with the newly formed independent unions, a fact that would require renegotiation of the agreement.

Jaruzelski recalled his appeal for 90 days of labor peace in a truce that was shattered last month following unrest sparked by the police beating of union officials in the city of Bydgoszcz.

He reminded Parliament that, when he took office two months ago, he said he would resign if the government could not meet the challenge of restoring labor calm and shoring up the economy.

"That moment has come," he said. "I want the Parliament to decide on a decree so that the government can work as it should work, and on this and on wide social support depends whether the prime minister will stay and do his duty."

He urged Parliament to declare a two-month ban on strikes — an action the assembly is empowered to take under new, as yet unpassed, labor law.

IRA convict wins election to parliament

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — A hunger-striking IRA convict who says he is close to death won election to the British Parliament Friday in voting Protestants called "a disaster" for Ulster.

"This is the equivalent of 30,000 Catholics standing around the grave of an IRA murder victim and giving three cheers for the killers," said Ulster Unionist Member of Parliament Henry McAdam.

The special by-election in Ulster's Fermanagh-South Tyrone district bordering Ireland gave convicted IRA terrorist Bobby Sands a slim but clear victory over Protestant hardliner Henry West. Sands received 30,492 votes to West's 29,048.

Sands, 27, campaigned from his bed in Belfast's Maze Prison hospital where he was in the 41st day of a hunger strike demanding that IRA prisoners in Ulster jails be given the status of political prisoners rather than common criminals.

He contested the seat to demonstrate Roman Catholic support for the outlawed Irish Republican Army and its campaign to unite Ulster with the rest of Ireland.

Dr. O'Leary describes Reagan's status

Reagan to leave hospital today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan will leave the hospital this weekend, his doctors said Friday, but they ruled out his plan to travel to the West Coast in late April for a presidential conference and his daughter's wedding.

Dr. Dennis O'Leary, spokesman for George Washington Medical Center, said Reagan will be discharged after another X-ray check of a small spot on his lung where it was pierced by the bullet that wounded him March 30.

The president's doctors said they are not concerned about the spot that showed up on the Friday morning X-rays but they want to check it again before Reagan goes home.

A White House aide indicated the attempt on Reagan's life will make him more conscious of security-in-the-future.

Acting press secretary Larry Speakes said Reagan's doctors have ruled out travel for "several weeks," forcing postponement of the meeting on the Mexican border with President Jose Lopez Portillo planned for April 29.

The president also will miss a Republican fund-raiser and the wedding on April 24 of his daughter Maureen in California, which he had planned to attend on the same trip to the West Coast.

Speakes said Reagan's meeting with Lopez Portillo will be rescheduled. The Mexican president has offered to come to Washington.

O'Leary told reporters at the White House that Reagan "is doing extremely well." He said the president's temperature and white blood count are within the normal range.

"He had another excellent day," the hospital spokesman said. "I think he looks really outstanding."

O'Leary said doctors expect the half-inch circle discovered along the bullet track in Reagan's chest to become scar tissue. But he said it will be X-rayed again Saturday morning.

If it "looks stable," Reagan will be discharged, O'Leary said. Otherwise, he will undergo "more sophisticated" X-rays but still could leave the hospital Saturday afternoon.

Reagan awakened early Friday and watched preparations for the launching of the space shuttle on television until the flight was postponed.

O'Leary said he believes the president will be able to work in the White House family quarters for several hours in the morning and several more in the afternoon if he takes a nap between work sessions.

"By and large, common sense will prevail," he said.

Reagan will continue to take penicillin but "is not expected to need medical attention, except for temperature and pulse readings and X-rays about three times a week," O'Leary said.

Eight charged since Monday with threats on Reagan's life

By United Press International

Seven men and one woman were in police custody in separate states Thursday for allegedly threatening the life of President Reagan.

In custody was an ex-convict arrested in Tipton, N.C.; a drifter in Philadelphia; another Pennsylvania man arrested in New York City; a transient arrested in Los Angeles; a man being held on a theft charge in Tilton, Ga.; a man arrested in St. Louis, Mo.; a Hawaiian woman also arrested in Salisbury, Md.

Edward Richardson was arrested Monday on charges of threatening Reagan's life in a letter that promised to complete the work started by John Hinckley Jr. '75, who is accused of shooting Reagan in Washington. Letters he sent to actress Jody Foster, the unwilling target of Hinckley's affection and apparent motive for the assassination attempt on Reagan, also threatened his life.

The suspect in Maryland allegedly told a Secret Service agent he would kill President Reagan by "spitting in his eye." Robert Ekholm, 39, was held for psychiatric tests without bond Thursday.

Ekholm took a bus from Philadelphia to Salisbury, Md., Wednesday night, where he apparently caused a disturbance in the bus station. When police arrived, Ekholm said he was in Salisbury "to kill the president."

In Raleigh, Harold Thomas Smith was held under $200,000 bond Wednesday after he allegedly told an off-duty policeman that he would kill Reagan if he got the chance.

Officials said Smith, 34, has been convicted three times since 1967 for threatening to kill Presidents Johnson, Nixon and Ford. He spent six years in federal prisons for the convictions, said officials.

In Los Angeles, officers arrested Ronald Pepler, 23, while he was on the pay phone of a skid row hotel with police, making threats against Reagan Wednesday night.

Secret Service agents took Pepler to a hospital for observation. They said he apparently was arrested two years ago for making threats against the life of President Carter.

In Philadelphia, Steven E. Seach, 38, a drifter who worked for several days as a kitchen employee at a boarding school for boys, was arrested by federal agents after he allegedly told a co-worker he wanted to go to Washington "to finish the job" on Reagan.

Seach was held on $10,000 bail and was scheduled to undergo psychiatric examinations in Philadelphia within 60 days.

In St. Louis, a man who allegedly said he would buy a gun to kill President Reagan was held on $50,000 bond Thursday. Authorities identified the man as Stephen P. Piper, 32, of Jacksonville, Ill.

Piper told U.S. Magistrate William S. Bahn Wednesday that he had served in Vietnam and has undergone psychiatric treatment. The U.S. attorney's office said it will ask Bahn to order that Piper undergo 90 days of psychiatric testing.

A Hawaiian woman also was taken into federal custody in St. Louis, Mo.,

Friday for allegedly threatening the life of President Reagan.

The Secret Service identified the Hawaiian woman as Adrian Shuford, 41, also known as Okria Shuford, of Honolulu.

Authorities said the woman was arrested by police in suburban Pagedale, Mo., after a "local disturbance." She allegedly made the threat while at the Pagedale Police Department.

The Secret Service did not reveal the threat immediately, and said it was not known why the woman was in St. Louis.

Paul William Lewis Jr., of New York, was being held in Tifton, Ga., for allegedly threatening Reagan's life, police said.

He had originally been arrested on that charge, but during questioning Lewis was asked about a gun in his possession at the time of his arrest Friday.

Lewis told police that he bought the weapon with the intention of killing President Reagan. Police Chief Hugh Smith said the man told officers that he had dreamed of killing Reagan.

Smith said that after Lewis began disclosing his plans, officers contacted Secret Service agents and the man was taken into federal custody.

Brady 'almost certain' to return to press job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — James Brady is "almost certain" to return to his job as White House press secretary but it may take a year for him to sufficiently recover from a bullet wound to the brain.

Dr. Dennis O'Leary, the spokesman for George Washington University Medical Center, said Brady's progress has been "extraordinary," including a rapid return of his personality, although it may be subtly changed.

"Jim Brady is almost certain to be back," said O'Leary, "but he may have some motor impairment... He may have to walk with a cane and maybe not."

O'Leary said "it will probably be a year" before Brady is well enough to resume work.

He said Brady will need months of physical rehabilitation in and out of the hospital.

O'Leary said today Brady, who likes to cook spicy foods, "may have lost some small capabilities and that would affect his taste."

But he said Brady's speech "is pretty good... pretty normal" and that he is speaking in sentences.

O'Leary said Thursday that Brady's mental abilities can now be expected to return to normal, barring unforeseen complications, and he should be able to return to his profession as a communicator.

"acute care" at the hospital.

"We're encouraged by the return of his personality. But his personality may not be as precisely as it was before... there may be some subtle changes."

O'Leary said Thursday that Brady's mental abilities can now be expected to return to normal, barring unforeseen complications, and he should be able to return to his profession as a communicator.

Robbery tied to Hinckley?

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The FBI began a search Friday for a man who allegedly held up a San Diego Bank demanding $80,000 to pay off John Hinckley Jr. in the assassination attempt on President Reagan.

Norman Zigrossi, agent in charge of the San Diego FBI office, said agents were searching for Leonard Anthony Barilana, 38, suspected of robbing a branch of Great Western Saving and Loan Association of an undetermined amount of cash Thursday.

Zigrossi said that the note also contains threats on the lives of other government officials.

Zigrossi said the FBI has no evidence linking Barilana with Hinckley or to the assassination attempt.

"We have no reason to believe that Barilana ever knew Hinckley," the special agent said. "The only thing we know is that the suspect said in a letter that he needed the money to pay him off for the assassination attempt."

 machinery, such as the planned acquisition of a magnetic typewriter. With that machinery, DeHaan plans to produce court documents, such as proposed jury instructions and court case briefs a prosecutor submits to a judge, quickly and efficiently. DeHaan said he plans to obtain copies of all jury instructions given and compiled in Ada County.
 He also plans to utilize the Idaho Prosecutors Association's brief book, relying on that and a "desk book" outlining recent court decisions, in preparing briefs to the court.
 If his plan works, DeHaan says he can prepare quality case briefs in a matter of hours rather than days.
 "In a volume-office like this, you don't have a week to prepare a brief," he said, adding the quality of case briefs submitted by prosecutors substantially suffers because of time demands.
 DeHaan's efforts are directed at increasing the effectiveness of the prosecutor's office. To do that, he acknowledges he must establish a reputation with local defense lawyers and trial judges.
 "My credibility is the most important thing I've got and my credibility is on the line every day with you, the police officers and the public," he said. "I feel like I've got a honeymoon — and honeymoon attorneys are going to try me on. If I get by that hurdle, and that will take three months, then I'll be all right."

 Swisher reiterated his stance, reported earlier this week at a Boise energy conference, that Snake River water users face a serious threat from "thirsty neighbors" in Utah, Arizona and California.
 The commission president said he was told by an oil company spokesman energy developers expect to outbid farmers, if necessary, to obtain water for coal gasification and "slurry" pipelines.
 "Water for energy development is worth $300 an acre foot, compared to $25 to $30 an acre foot in agriculture," he said.
 Idaho Sen. James McClure, who chairs the powerful Senate Energy and Natural Resources committee, is a valuable ally in the fight to prevent interbasin water transfers, Swisher said.
 "But he said the state will have to stand now and face every card we have" to counteract political muscle from eastern and southwestern states.

Fire chiefs' one-day retirements cause policy change

By SUSAN GALLAGHER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Short-lived retirements by fire chiefs in Twin Falls and Boise contributed to a recent change in Public Employees' Retirement System rules, a PERS spokesman said.

Bob Vonn, PERS deputy director in Boise, said the agency resolved on Dec. 19, 1980, to change its rules in connection with brief retirements by Twin Falls Fire Chief Bobby Bopp and Chief Al Gant of Boise's Cole Collier Fire District. The chiefs' actions gave them additional pension benefits. Bopp said he retired for one day in December 1980.

Vonn said the Idaho Legislature merged PERS and the Firemen's Retirement Fund last year. As a result, firemen hired after Oct. 1, 1980, became participants of PERS instead of FRF.

Idaho statutes did not prevent firemen from retiring under FRF, retaining work with the same fire department after Oct. 1 and accruing new retirement credits under PERS, Vonn said. However, he said, the PERS retirement board has passed a resolution which prevents a fireman-or-policeman-from-maintaining-active-PERS membership, retiring and resuming work with the same department unless he waives previous retirement benefits.

Idaho Falls Fire Department Capt. Vern Hutchens, chairman of the FRF pension board, said Bopp's one-day retirement makes him currently eligible for maximum FRF benefits amounting to 65 percent of the average salary paid fire chiefs in Idaho. In addition, Bopp, 55, continues to receive chief's pay, budgeted at $22,716, and is earning credits for an eventual PERS pension.

The city's PERS contribution on behalf of Bopp is about 11 percent below the contribution FRF required, said City Finance Director Bruce Williams. However, all Idaho cities employing paid, full-time firemen pay into FRF on the basis of its anticipated future payroll, Vonn said.

He said withdrawal of Bopp's FRF participation subtracted one of the fund's revenue sources. Bopp disagreed, however, saying that had he retired permanently, his successor would have been a FRF participant.

Bopp, employed by the Twin Falls Fire Department for 35 years, said he was eligible for FRF retirement 10 years ago. Consequently, he said, FRF contributions related to his employment have well exceeded the minimum requirement.

Bopp indicated revised regulations affecting PERS and FRF involve a double standard.

"As I understand it," he said, "I could retire here and go to work as the chief in Jerome, and nothing would be said" with respect to waiver of benefits.

"Frankly, I don't know when I'll retire," Bopp said. He said the city has spent a lot of money training him over the years and he is at the peak of his effectiveness as a chief.

"I'm in good health, and I enjoy my work," he said. "But things can change. Lifestyles can change. It's hard to predict the future."

DeHaan takes office

By MARTY TRILLHAASE
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Harry DeHaan assumed his duties as Twin Falls County's chief law enforcement officer Friday.

The 36-year-old lawyer, appointed Twin Falls County prosecuting attorney last week by the Twin Falls County Commission, took the oath of office during a three-minute ceremony in the commissioners' office.

DeHaan took over the job three weeks to the day after former prosecutor Tom Gray, arrested on a misdemeanor marijuana possession charge earlier this year, announced his resignation.

DeHaan has wasted little time in making changes in office procedures. Among the most significant are modifications in the way charges are filed and cases prepared. The changes will increase the role of the prosecutor's office in reviewing evidence generated by police and in filing charges.

In the past, the Twin Falls Police have filed many of the charges arising from that department's criminal investigations. Prosecutor's office staff members have said the practice has fostered weak cases which are either plea bargained or dismissed outright for lack of evidence.

DeHaan has called on local law enforcement agencies to fill out forms specifying what evidence they possess to justify each element of a charge.

He added the office will question police officers, will include key pieces of evidence in criminal file folders — such as crime reports, victim's statements, tinger print reports, witness statements, copies of the statutes involved, and a copy of DeHaan's evidence-check form.

DeHaan has also called for another key feature in the criminal charge filing process, a weekly review with the district attorneys. From that review, DeHaan said, he will determine if sufficient evidence has been gathered in order to proceed with prosecution.

"If it has not," DeHaan said he will advise law enforcement officers to gather more evidence before proceeding further.

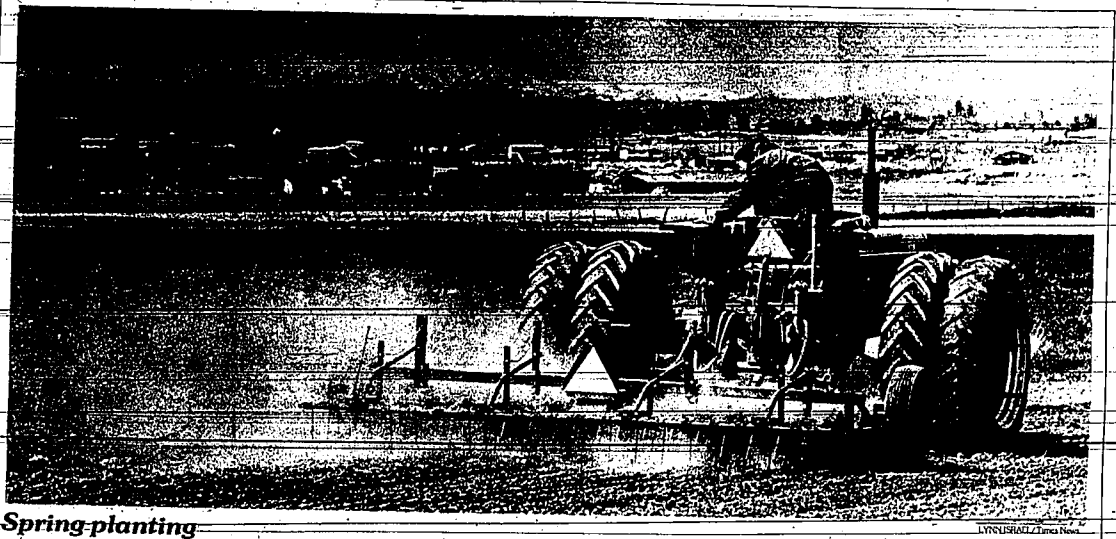

"Of course, this puts more of a burden on us," DeHaan said, saying the changes will bring about additional work for his office.

"My job is to be counsel for law enforcement and as any good attorney will tell you, the best way to help your client is to give them advice before you get into court," DeHaan said.

DeHaan has reportedly said he intends to run the prosecutor's office like a private law firm with law enforcement agencies and the county as his clients. But, unlike lawyers in private firms, he is faced with a heavy workload which could compromise the quality of the office's efforts.

DeHaan believes streamlining routine office procedures is one answer. Key to that is upgrading office equipment.

Spring planting

Snow in the north hills isn't putting a chill on spring planting as Howard Meyers tilled ground for corn plots several miles west of Twin Falls. Warm weather mixed with several good rain showers earlier this month has helped local farmers who were out in abundance Friday.

Escape ends in added time

TWIN FALLS — The woman whose 5th District Magistrate Court case served as the setting for a confrontation between a judge and prosecutor was sentenced Friday to three months in jail.

5th District Magistrate Court Judge Charles Brumbach ordered Debbie A. Balles to serve three months in addition to a nine-month jail sentence she is already serving.

Brumbach conditioned the additional three-month sentence by giving the woman a work allowance for the entire 12-month jail term. Under those terms, she will be allowed to go to work each day and return to jail at night.

In a document filed with the court last week, Balles pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of escape. Twin Falls police said the woman walked away from the city jail while serving as a trusty on Feb. 24 and voluntarily returned about one week later.

The woman was serving a jail term following convictions for willful concealment and failure to pay a court-imposed fine of $202.50.

Once she returned to the city facility, police officers recommended the escape charge be dropped and City Attorney Susan Swenberg, acting as prosecutor, made such a motion in court.

In a highly unusual move, Brumbach denied the motion. The judge said dismissal of the charge was unwarranted in view of Balles' prior record.

The case was then set for trial before a six-member jury last week, but Swenberg did not show up. 5th District Magistrate Court Judge Michael Redman subsequently found Swenberg in contempt of court. A sentencing hearing on the contempt of court citation may be held next month.

Class-action suit filed for indigents

TWIN FALLS — A class-action lawsuit on behalf of indigent persons living in Twin Falls County has been filed against county officials.

The suit, filed in 5th District Court Thursday, alleges County Commissioners Ann Cover, Muri Leonard and Marvin Hempleman, County Clerk Richard Pence and county welfare investigator Susan Eckies have violated the rights of indigents applying for county assistance.

Named as plaintiffs in the action are Billy Joe Ross, 48; William Smith, 65; Anne Patterson, 49; Sarah Hess, 46; and Estery Ek, age unknown.

All were denied indigency payments, according to the lawsuit. The suit, which asks the court to declare the case a class-action, was prepared by Idaho Legal Aid Service Inc.

The indigents allege Idaho's indigency relief laws and the manner in which county officials administer those laws are unconstitutional because the plaintiffs were not afforded due process of law. The suit charges county officials willfully failed to provide indigents with procedural safeguards provided by law.

Among the charges made in the lawsuit are the following:

- County officials fail to give adequate notice of the county's indigent relief programs.
- Officials have not afforded indigents reasonable opportunity to

Coal plant proposal likely in near future

By RON ZELLAR
Times-News writer

GOODING — Gooding County remains the most likely spot in Idaho to house a coal-fired electric generating plant in the next 10 years.

Idaho Public Utilities Commission President Perry Swisher made that observation Friday in a speech to the Gooding Rotary Club.

Swisher said many things are changing in Idaho's energy front, but the fact remains the state will probably need a large steam-generating plant by the beginning of the next decade.

The PUC president said he would not be surprised if Idaho Power Co. asked permission for a coal plant feasibility study before the end of the year.

In the 1970s, Idaho Power began building coal plants in conjunction with other utilities. The company owns portions of plants in Oregon and Wyoming, as well as two generating units under construction near Winnemucca, Nev.

"Our neighbors are saying in effect, 'It's your turn,'" Swisher said. "Coal plants need access to water and isolation from inverted airsheds, he noted. American Falls has been mentioned as a possible site, but its proximity to air pollution problems in Pocatello may rule it out.

Any coal plant proposal will receive careful scrutiny, he said.

Before Swisher's appointment, the IPUC rejected an Idaho Power application to build a coal-fired plant near Bliss. He said the proposal is dormant but not dead.

On another topic, Swisher said the IPUC will hold hearings in six southern Idaho communities including Gooding next month on a proposal by Mountain Bell to upgrade its two- and four-party rural lines to individual service.

The company maintains about 27,000 multi-party lines in its service area and has long waiting lists in some counties to conversion to private lines, according to an IPUC news release.

Hotel?

More kitchens found in Ketchum building

KETCHUM — After an inspection revealed two more unauthorized kitchens at Ted Stevenson's 13-bedroom building, the Ketchum Planning Commission has tabled his duplex application.

Stevenson, who along with two other tenants is originally charged with operating a restaurant in a residential district, built the Lallojo Lane structure in 1978, using a building permit for a single-family dwelling.

Shortly after misdemeanor charges were filed against Stevenson two weeks ago, his representative, Ashley Gilbert, appeared before the planning commission to ask permission to convert the building to a duplex.

Gilbert admitted the building con-

Horizon gaining support

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County's yearly clean-up day May 2 is getting excellent support, Johnny Horizon Chairman William L. Chancey said Thursday.

An organizational meeting Wednesday night brought response from some 15 organizations and agencies for the 11th annual Twin Falls County Johnny Horizon Day, Chancey said.

Sponsored by the Twin Falls Lions Club, the Bureau of Land Management and the Twin Falls County Commissioners, the event will kick-off at 8 a.m. May 2 for a volunteer clean-up of roadways, parks and public rights-of-way.

Chancey said the Lions Club will sponsor lunches for all of the workers, and merchants are assisting by giving wholesale prices to the club.

The BLM is furnishing 500 trash bags and the Lions Club will purchase several hundred more.

The city of Twin Falls will not participate with heavy trucks outside of town this year, but will coordinate a city clean-up with the county event.

Trucks will be available to haul collections to the landfill.

Chancey said a final organizational meeting is planned for 7:30 p.m. April 29 in the Twin Falls County judicial building. Also then, supplies will be issued and final area assignments made. About 15 areas have already been assigned to work crews.

Federal mediator to meet with union, management

By STEPHANIE SCHOROW
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Union and management officials of the Skyview-Hazelde Manor will meet with a federal mediator April 28, but a management spokesman does not foresee a change in the current standoff.

Marvin Montoya of the Idaho Employers' Council, the consulting firm representing nursing home administrator Richard Drake, said Tom Curdie, a Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service commissioner in Salt Lake City, will meet with union and management officials April 28 in Boise at 9 a.m.

Montoya said David Cervantes of the Service Employees International Union, contacted him earlier this week about setting up a meeting with him, he said. However, when contacted later by Curdie, he agreed to meet.

"I don't foresee anything coming out of the meeting. Our position is the same," Montoya said. Curdie has met with both sides on two previous occasions.

Cervantes could not be reached for comment Friday. Early last week he said the union would wait for management to contact them. Management, however, contends negotiations have concluded.

For a week, union workers have been striking at the nursing home in Hazelde Manor. Management has agreed to re-open negotiations for an employee contract. About 30 union members are picketing the home in two-hour shifts.

The final results of a Department of Health and Welfare inspection Wednesday and Thursday indicated the manor's three shifts were adequately staffed by trained personnel, according to Jean Schoonover, DHW supervisor of licensing and certification.

"The surveyors did not observe poor care," she said Friday.

The 10 Commandments

THE SEVENTH COMMANDMENT: Thou shalt not steal. (Exodus 20:15 and Deuteronomy 5:19).

What does this mean? We should fear and love God that we may not take our neighbor's money or goods, nor get them by false dealing, but help him to improve and protect his property and business. (From Martin Luther's Small Catechism).

"HISTORY": This commandment safeguards private property. It went, however, beyond the simple taking of other person's goods.

"There are seven kinds of thieves," according to a saying in the Mishna (the teachings of the rabbis), and the chief of all is he who deceives his fellow."

"To prevent the shopkeeper from cheating his customers with the ancient version of "the thumb on the scales," the Mishna declared that "the shopkeeper must wipe his measures twice a week, and his weights once a week, and place after every weighing."

Quite apart from any criminal penalties, Jewish moral law taught that the thief could not receive God's forgiveness until he had first atoned for his sin to the injured party.

For stealing an ox the reparation was five oxen if the stolen ox had been killed or sold, if the ox was still recoverable when the thief was caught, he had to give it back plus two other oxen.

MEDITATION: Are we becoming a nation of thieves? Some people fear we are. They say if another depression comes it will not be accompanied by people selling apples on street corners or standing patiently in long lines. Angry mobs will storm the stores and take what they feel is theirs.

Already shoplifting costs up to 25 percent of a food store's profits. The Wall Street Journal says shoplifters include many people who would have never thought of stealing three years ago. About one in four is a senior citizen.

Luther said it was not enough that we don't steal from our neighbor or cheat him. We must "help him to improve and protect his property and business."

This was one of those "commandments to right-doing" which Luther found implicit in the prohibitions to wrong-doing found in the commandments.

He was saying that our first concern must not be with getting things but with helping others. This gives a needed corrective to our modern philosophy of getting ahead "by hook or by crook" — every man for himself.

It suggests that each of us is his "brother's keeper" — that we are, in a sense, to keep track of "our neighbor's welfare."

Other people do have a claim on our time and love and when we withhold it from them, we are taking from them something that is rightfully theirs.

One psychoanalyst has estimated that 90 percent of neuroses are caused by a sense of deprivation of love.

None of us succeeds or fails on his own. The joy and happiness we feel, the sadness and failure we experience — these things are usually related in some way to other people in our lives.

Especially with our children when we are too busy for them we are taking from them their most precious possession — our love and our time. This is a kind of stealing which should concern us as much as burglary, shoplifting or cheating.

Coming to C.S.I. May 30th.

QUESTION...
Under what circumstances is an amount for funeral expenses available under the Railroad Retirement Act?
ANSWER...
If an employee who is completely or partially insured under the Railroad Retirement Act dies leaving no survivor eligible for an annuity at the time of his death, a lump sum is payable. This is equal to ten times the basic amount, and is paid to the surviving widow, if she was legally living with her husband when he died.
If there is no eligible spouse, and the funeral expenses are unpaid, the lump sum may be assigned to our funeral home by the person who assumed the responsibility for these expenses. Our costs are paid, reimbursement will be made to the person who paid them. This will be either the amount paid, or the lump sum maximum.
Under certain circumstances the lump sum may be paid to us, without an assignment, if no one assumed responsibility for the funeral costs.

Nicklaus attacks course

Contenders say his 4-shot lead nearly impossible to surpass

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI)—Coming within one shot of his course record, Jack Nicklaus provided another humbling lesson to youth Friday when he birdied seven holes, including a stretch of four in a row, for a scorching 7-under-par 65 and a four-shot lead after the second round of the Masters Championship.

Amazingly, on a shiny, warm day when he could do nothing else wrong, Nicklaus missed three birdie putts of about three feet, costing him the chance to break the Masters low score of 64 he shares with several others.

Still, his 36-hole total of 9-under-135 left him four shots in front of four challengers, including Tom Watson, Bruce Lietzke, Lon Hinkle and Australian Greg Norman, who learned to play golf at the age of 17 by reading Nicklaus instruction books.

Lietzke, although insisting he can't sink a putt and lacks confidence, turned in a sharp 67 that included seven birdies, and Watson, saying he's played his best two rounds of the year here, had a 68.

Norman and Hinkle, who had shared the opening round lead with Johnny Miller and Curtis Strange at 69, both had 70. Miller, suffering his only bogeys of the day on the last two holes, had a 72 for 141, where he was joined by Jim Colbert (68), Peter Jacobsen (70) and John Cook (71).

David Graham and Hubert Green both had a 70 for the second day in a row to remain tied at 140.

The 41-year-old Nicklaus, playing in the Masters for the 23rd consecutive year, maintains he's a better player now than he was in 1959, when he came here for the first time as an amateur.

"I'm not as long as I used to be but I'm a better golfer because I have a much better idea of what I'm doing," he said.

Nicklaus, following a winless spell of almost two years, is well on the way to capturing his third major championship in less than a year, as well as his 20th overall. He already has captured a record five Masters, the last one coming in 1975.

"Nicklaus will be very difficult to beat," said Graham, who was paired with him Thursday. "No one else could play better than the way he played yesterday. If he gets out in front, the only thing he has to watch is that he doesn't think all he has to do is get pars, and he's too smart for that."

Watson said he'd be more concerned if there was only one round left to play but he added, "Four strokes behind Nicklaus is a lot to catch up. Trying to catch up with anyone is difficult to do because if you make a mistake you're that much further behind. Jack doesn't make mistakes when he's in front."

Nicklaus began his string of birdies with a one-foot putt on the fourth hole, and followed with putts of 20, 17 and 20 feet on the fifth, sixth and seventh.

Miller holds the Masters record of six consecutive birdies set in 1975.

After missing the green on the first three holes of the back nine, saving par on No. 12 with a 7-foot putt, Nicklaus birdied the 13th, 14th and 16th holes with short putts.

Powers Invitational track

Distance, hurdles lift Tigers; Bruin girls take open events

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Distance and hurdles provided the power to carry Jerome's boys to the team title in the annual Hank Powers Invitational Friday.

The Twin Falls High girls, again sweeping all the open events, took the distaff crown as the weatherman finally blessed Magic Valley's tracksters with a respectable running day.

Jerome picked up 58 points in its four power events. Robin Mein came up with his career best in at 4:34.9 in the 1,600 and doubled by taking the 3,200 in 9:48.3. Larry Noble and Zane Oster went winging in the high hurdles. Armando Lopez and Oster had a 1-3 intermediate hurdle finish. Jim McKean backed both of Mein's distance wins with four first places.

The Tigers then offed Twin Falls' sweep of the relays by taking second in all four races and scored 158 1/2 points against 147 for

Twin Falls. Minico, scoring well in the distances and sprints, was third at 132 1/2.

Twin Falls accounted for nine of the 18 first places while Jerome had six. But the Bruins had only one power event — taking 20 points in the pole vault as sophomore Scott Scherer and senior Dave Routh went one-two.

"It was our depth in the distances and hurdles," said Jerome Coach Tim Dunne. "But we know one meet doesn't make a season. We still have to beat Buhl and Wood River in district and in the conference there's Caldwell and Madison."

"I thought Armando had a great day in the hurdles and anchoring relays for us and Steve Brannon really helped us in the field event. His 145 in the discus is very good for him and his 19'11" in the long jump is probably his best. And I thought Robin handled the pressure from Minico's distance people very well."

"We had a couple of disappointments but I'm sure they had some, too," said Twin Falls Coach Jerry Kleinkopf, seldom used to losing this meet. "The thing it showed, though, was that we could have a lot of trouble beating Minico in district (Twin Falls has won that every year since 1956). We tried to get some points and displace some of their's and Eric ran well (9:57) but it wasn't quite enough. Minico was very impressive in the distances and the sprints but we expected that."

For Minico it was distance runners Albert Lara, Marty Donaldson and Paul Whittaker and sprinters Robert Lara and Robert Patton. Patton and Robert Lara went one-two in the 200 and two-three in the 100. Albert Lara and Donaldson took 28 points in the longer distances and Whittaker took two minutes by chasing McManaman home in the 800 in 1:59.9.

The outlook for district was not lost on Minico Coach Wes Patterson.

Glenns Ferry sweeps meet

FILER — Glenns Ferry continued its domination of area track meets Friday by winning both the boys and girls divisions of the Filer Invitational.

The Pilot boys won all four relay events and Dan Shrum took first in both hurdle events. The Pilots netted 93 points while Gooding was second with 57 1/2.

Ray Garrison of Castledown was a double winner in the field events, taking the shot and discus to score 20 of the Wolves' 29 team points.

Glenns Ferry's win in the girls division was by a much narrower margin. The Pilots logged 77 points while Filer was a close second at 72 1/2.

Gina Ochsner of Filer was the lone double winner with wins in the mile and two-mile.

All events were run in yards. Times and distances for those finishing out of first place were not available. The results:

'Chocolate Thunder' comes to life for Philly; Phoenix falls

By United Press International

A little chocolate thunder lit up the sky like the Fourth of July Friday night.

With a little help from his teammates, Darryl Dawkins, the original slam dunkin' chocolate thunder man, snappd out of a slump Friday night to score 23 points and lead Philadelphia to a 108-105 victory over the Milwaukee Bucks. The triumph gave Philadelphia a 2-1 edge in the best-of-seven Eastern Conference semifinal with Game 4 scheduled for Sunday at Milwaukee.

"They worked hard to get him the basketball," Milwaukee Coach Don Nelson said, "and he had a pretty good night. They were really looking throughout the game (to him) like never before."

Led by Dawkins, Philadelphia outscored the Bucks 19-5 late in the third period to snap a 64-64 tie and pull ahead for good, 83-69. Dawkins had two baskets and a pair of free throws in the period to break open a contest that had been tied 15 times up to that point.

The Bucks pulled back to 91-90 in the final period but Caldwell Jones hit a pair of free throws for a three-point Philadelphia lead and the Bucks never got closer than that.

Jones finished with 16 points. Julius Erving had 23 and Maurice Cheeks 19. Marques Johnson led the Bucks with 29 points and Bob Lanier had 19.

Boston 113, Chicago 107

In the other Eastern Conference match, Larry Bird scored 24 points and Cedric Maxwell added 19 to lead the Boston Celtics to 113-107 victory over the Chicago Bulls and a commanding 3-1 lead in the series.

The Celtics, who can advance to the conference finals in Chicago Sunday, scored six straight points in the opening three minutes of the fourth quarter to take a 93-87 lead. Chicago was able to close within two points on two occasions but could not overtake Boston the rest of the way.

David Greenwood, who played most of the second half in foul trouble, scored 23 points and Reggie Theus had 26 for Chicago.

Kansas City 98, Phoenix 72

At Kansas City, Scott Wedman hit a 15-foot jumper with nine seconds remaining and Reggie King added 29 points to give the injury-plagued Kansas City Kings a 93-92 victory over the Phoenix Suns and a surprising 2-1 lead in the Western Conference semifinal series. Sam Lacey hit two free throws with 45 seconds remaining to tie it out by Alvan Adams to pull the Kings ahead by a point and set up the eventual victory.

In the second half, King and the Kansas City defense came to life and the Kings held Phoenix without a field goal for almost five minutes to take an 81-75 lead with 5:30 remaining.

Houston 112, San Antonio 99

The streaking Houston Rockets also shocked San Antonio for a 3-1 edge in their Western Conference semifinal with Moses Malone pouring in 41 points in a 112-99 triumph over the Spurs. The Rockets, who hit 35-of-59 free throws, host Game 5 Sunday.

Houston forward Robert Haskins chipped in with 25 points and had 10 rebounds, his best performance in the playoffs, to offset George Gervin's 31 points for the Spurs. San Antonio pulled to within six minutes left but a Malone hook shot, two Malone free throws and two Calvin Murphy free throws put the game away.

The Spurs forged an early lead by hitting their first 10 free throws in the first quarter.

The Rockets countered with 76 percent shooting in the second quarter as Malone scored 16 points, eight of those on dunks. His driving slam dunk over seven-foot center George Johnson gave Houston its first lead of the second quarter at 57-55 with 90 seconds remaining.

Fun runs will be held as scheduled

TWIN FALLS — Despite the closure of the YFCA building, all systems are go with the scheduled Twin Falls Downowners fun runs April 25.

According to Jean Swartling, spokeswoman for the race, the only change in the format is where to send the entry forms.

Before the building closure, forms were to be taken to the Y building. But Swartling said participants can mail the forms to the Y, take them to Donnelly's Sporting Goods or they can still register the day of the race which begins at the fountain at the downtown mall.

The late entry fee penalty has been disbanded and runners can register up until race time without any financial penalty.

Registration for the race starts at 9 a.m. and the five-kilometer race will begin at 9:30. The 10-kilometer run gets underway at 10:45. Registration is $5 an individual and $8 per family. Each finisher receives a t-shirt.

Swartling expects more than 200 runners to enter the annual event.

Special Olympics at Wendell Monday

WENDELL — Special education students in the Magic Valley will compete in the Area Special Olympics Monday at Wendell High School.

Students from Wendell, Rupert, Twin Falls, Gooding, Buhl, Jerome and Burley will participate in track and field events, gymnastics and basketball. Track events include 50-, 200- and 400-meter runs, the standing long jump and the softball throw.

Lyons Archibald announced Friday the signing of two players: Archibald, whose 1980-81 team qualified for the Big Sky Conference playoffs, said national letters of intent were signed by John DeFranco, a 5-10 guard, and 6-5 forward Mike LaValle.

DeFranco averaged 20 points and seven assists per game last season at Bishop O'Dea High, Seattle, shooting 55 percent from the field and 80 percent from the line.

Recruit Mike LaValle, from Cyrus College, Azusa, Calif., averaged 22.8 points per contest and picked off an average 10.7 rebounds last season.

POCATELLO (UPI) — Idaho State University basketball Coach Lynn Archibald announced Friday the signing of two players: Archibald, whose 1980-81 team qualified for the Big Sky Conference playoffs, said national letters of intent were signed by John DeFranco, a 5-10 guard, and 6-5 forward Mike LaValle.

DeFranco averaged 20 points and seven assists per game last season at Bishop O'Dea High, Seattle, shooting 55 percent from the field and 80 percent from the line.

Recruit Mike LaValle, from Cyrus College, Azusa, Calif., averaged 22.8 points per contest and picked off an average 10.7 rebounds last season.

Moses to play at least one more year

DENVER (UPI) — Veteran wide receiver Haven Moses said Friday he has decided to play at least another season with the Denver Broncos, which would be his 10th with the club and 14th in pro football.

Coach Dan Reeves said he welcomed Moses' decision. Moses earlier had indicated he might retire after last season.

"There is no question that he can help our team, both with his ability and with his experience," Reeves said. "I'm pleased that he wants to play."

Seven tie for LPGA event leadership

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Sally Little birdied four holes on the front nine but, bothered by slow play, had two bogeys on the back nine Friday to fall into a seven-way tie for the lead at two-under-par 70 after the first round of a $125,000 LPGA event.

"It seemed like all we did was wait," said Little, who has won two tournaments this year and is fourth on the money-winning list with $56,284.

Tied with Little are 1980 Player of the Year Beth Daniel; Chris Johnson, Jan Alex, Cathy Mant, Alice Miller and Mary Dwyer.

Anthony boosts lead; nears $100,000

NEW YORK (UPI) — Landoner Earl Anthony averaged 223 for eight games Friday and continued to add to his lead after five rounds of the Professional Bowlers Association $100,000 Long Island Open.

Anthony, from Dublin, Calif., totaled 1,785 pins and won all but two of his matches, giving him an 186-pin advantage over Gil Silker, of Washington, N.J., with one more round of match play before today's final round.

Holmes: Berbick may not go 4 rounds

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Veteran trainer Eddie Futch and World Boxing Council heavyweight champion Larry Holmes agree on just about everything.

For the three weeks that Futch has been in Holmes' camp, the two have been in total agreement on everything from how to cook a steak to how to throw a left hook.

Their only disagreement comes in predicting how long Trevor Berbick will last.

"He might not go four rounds," said Holmes.

"I think he'll last a little longer," said Futch, who replaced manager-trainer Richie Glazett in late March. "But I don't look for it to go past seven or eight."

Whether either man will be right will be known today when Berbick, the WBC's No. 5 contender, faces

Holmes for the WBC crown in a scheduled 15-round fight at Caesars Palace. The fight is slated to start at 8 p.m. MST.

"Berbick's a worthy contender," said the 31-year-old-Holmes, making his ninth title defense. "But I don't see him being much of a problem. I don't think there's anything this man can do to me. He's not in the same class."

Holmes weighed in at 215 Friday and Berbick tipped the scales at 215.5. Holmes weighed between 212 and 215 for the past eight days, but was shooting for 215 to 217, Futch said.

Holmes has fought 11 times in the past several months ago after a four-month "layoff," he weighed 225, his heaviest in three years.

Berbick had predicted a weight of 215 since his arrival two weeks ago.

"Holmes is looking awfully good and awfully sharp, considering he laid off for that long," said his physical therapist and athletic trainer, Keith Kleven. "I'd say he's 80 to 85 percent of what he can be."

No one else has measured up to Holmes. He has stopped all eight challengers including former three-time champion Muhammad Ali. The eight straight KOs is a record for the heavyweight division.

Berbick, originally from Jamaica but now living in Hallifax, Nova Scotia, is quick to acknowledge Holmes' accomplishments.

"Larry is a great fighter, there's no doubt about it," Berbick said. "He's my idol. But I think I'm pretty good myself. I think I'll survive."

Berbick has lost just once, that setback coming two years ago against Bernardo Mercado. The only other ranked fighter Berbick has met — former World Boxing Association champion John Tate.

NHL playoffs: Habs, Bruins down 2-0

By United Press International

The NHL playoffs shift to eight new sites tonight and following the first two games of each opening round best-of-five series, the Montreal Canadiens, as well as five other teams, find themselves on the verge of elimination.

The Canadiens, who finished the regular-season with a rush to gain the third spot in the overall point standings, dropped two games at the Montreal Forum to the surprising Edmonton Oilers.

Edmonton, led by record-setting center Wayne Gretzky, defeated the Canadiens 6-3 Wednesday before posting a 3-1 decision Thursday. Game 3 takes place in Edmonton, Alberta, and an Oilers' victory will send the Canadiens home a lot earlier than expected.

"I'm not surprised at what has happened," said Montreal coach Claude Ruel. "Edmonton has a helluva club. We should have won the game Thursday night but their goaltender was tremendous.

"All I'm going to do now is watch the films and prepare for Saturday. That's all I can do."

The fabled Canadiens, who had won four consecutive Stanley Cups from 1975-79, lost to Minnesota in last year's quarter-finals.

"We had to figure we had a chance to win," said Gretzky, who has contributed seven assists in the two games. "If you don't believe you can win, then there's no reason to show up."

"It's everybody's dream to win twice in the Forum, but we can't get cocky."

In Thursday's game, rookie goalie Andy Moog stopped 40 Montreal shots to spark the Oilers.

"It's hard to believe what is happening to me," said Moog. "Way back in September in training camp, my daughter had just been born and I didn't know what was going to happen to me because we have a lot of goals."

The defending champion New York Islanders lead the Toronto Maple Leafs 2-0, rolling to a pair of easy home triumphs. Game 3 is slated for Toronto and the Maple Leafs will have to find a way to stop Bryan Trottier, who has amassed five goals and three assists.

Buffalo travels to Vancouver, British Columbia, in an attempt to sweep its series against the Canucks. The Sabres beat Vancouver 5-2 Thursday after a 3-2 overtime triumph in Game 1.

The Philadelphia Flyers have outscored Quebec 14-9 in winning the first two games at home and hope to clinch their series against the Nordiques Saturday in Quebec.

The Flames, in their first season in Calgary, are on the brink of capturing their first-ever playoff series and seek to turn the trick against the Black Hawks in Chicago. The Flames took a 2-0 lead Thursday as Bob MacMillan scored two goals to spark a 2-0 win.

Minnesota, which won its first game ever — a span of 14 years — in Boston Wednesday night, outscored the Bruins 9-6 Thursday as the North Stars return home for what they hope will be the series clincher.

The St. Louis-Pittsburgh and Los Angeles-New York Rangers series are tied at one-game apiece as the Penguins return home after Thursday's 6-4 win over the Blues, while the Rangers dropped a 5-4 decision to the Kings in Los Angeles.

The Rangers and Kings were involved in a penalty-marred game Thursday, with 15 separate fights taking place at the close of the first period, which saw a record 43 penalties called totaling 227 minutes as well as six game misconducts. In all, 587 minutes in penalties were assessed.

Baker goes easy after spinout, makes Rebel 500 field

DARLINGTON, S.C. (UPI) — Veteran stock car racer Buddy Baker watched three Darlington Raceway newcomers out-qualify him Friday for Sunday's Rebel 500 before he finally nailed down the 22nd spot.

Baker had spun his car out when he attempted to qualify Thursday during pole-position runs. Friday, he turned in a speed of 150.128 mph in his Buick.

"After spinning out Thursday during the pole qualifying session I decided I wouldn't take any chances with the car so I was just shooting for a starting position," Baker said.

"We've made some changes on the car but it still isn't handling just the way I want it to."

"We'll do some more work, and I'm confident it will be right by the time we're through practicing Saturday."

Young Bill Elliott of Dawsonville, Ga., surprised a field of veterans Thursday to take the pole position — his first ever — with a speed of 153.896 mph around Darlington's 1.366 mile oval.

"Nothing like this has happened to me before," Elliott said. The 26-year-old driver's best finish in his career was a second-place to David Pearson in the 1979 Southern 500, also at Darlington.

Berbick is 18-1-1 and carries a powerful right hand that has given him 16 knockouts.

"Berbick's strong and persistent and I'm sure he'll try to press Larry," said Futch. "But after he gets hit with the left a few times, ..."

Holmes, 36-0 with 27 knockouts, has the best left jab in the heavyweight division and also has a three-inch reach advantage over the muscular challenger.

"The right is going to be his best shot," said Futch of Berbick's chance. "As for coming in low, Larry will get him out of that shell with a few uppercuts to the body."

Holmes last fought Oct. 2 of last year when he stopped Ali in the 10th round. Berbick's last fight was Jan. 31 when he stopped Chuck Gardner in four rounds.

The Flames, in their first season in Calgary, are on the brink of capturing their first-ever playoff series and seek to turn the trick against the Black Hawks in Chicago. The Flames took a 2-0 lead Thursday as Bob MacMillan scored two goals to spark a 6-2 win.

Minnesota, which won its first game ever — a span of 14 years — in Boston Wednesday night, outscored the Bruins 9-6 Thursday, as the North Stars return home for what they hope will be the series clincher.

The St. Louis-Pittsburgh and Los Angeles-New York Rangers series are tied at one game apiece, as the Penguins return home after Thursday's 6-4 win over the Blues, while the Rangers dropped a 5-4 decision to the Kings in Los Angeles.

The Rangers and Kings were involved in a penalty-marred game Thursday, with 15 separate fights taking place at the close of the first period, which saw a record 43 penalties called totaling 22 minutes as well as six game misconducts. In all, 267 minutes in penalties were assessed.

Baker goes easy after spinout, makes Rebel 500 field

DARLINGTON, S.C. (UPI) — Veteran stock car racer Buddy Baker watched three Darlington Raceway newcomers out-qualify him Friday for Sunday's Rebel 500 before he finally pulled out the 22nd spot.

Baker had spun his car out when he attempted to qualify Thursday during pole position runs. Friday, he turned in a speed of 150.128 mph in his Buick.

"After spinning out Thursday during the pole qualifying session I decided I wouldn't take any chances with the car so I was just shooting for a starting position," Baker said.

"We've had some changes on the car but it still isn't handling just the way I want it to."

"We'll do some more work, and I'm confident I will be right by the time we're through practicing Saturday."

Young Bill Elliott of Dawsonville,

Ga., surprised a field of veterans Thursday to take the pole position — his first ever — with a speed of 153.896 mph around Darlington's 1.366 mile oval.

"Nothing like this has happened to me before," Elliott said. The 26-year-old driver's best finish in his career was a second-place to David Pearson in the 1979 Southern 500, also at Darlington.

What's what

California eccentric flew ahead of Wrights

On May 15, 1902, Lyman Gilmore seated in a 32-foot span monoplane powered by a 20-horsepower steam engine and flash boiler was launched under a chute 100 yards long into the air, then continued in flight for some distance on its own power. There is convincing evidence Gilmore built and flew his craft 19 months before the Wright brothers made their first flight on Dec. 19, 1903, at Kitty Hawk. This appears in telephone books at Grass Valley, Calif., Gilmore's hometown. Gilmore is described as a red-headed, red-headed, hook-down-to-the-waist, unabashedly eccentric. He died in 1951. Almost everyone in Grass Valley knows about Gilmore's numerous flights—from 100 yards up to a mile—before the Wright brothers' flight. But hardly anybody else in the world knows, evidently. Odd.

BLACK BEARS
Q. You said black bears neither take in food nor pass out waste when they hibernate. Do the females give birth then?
A. That they do. And they nurse their baby bears, too.

You may notice at National Football League games that you never see any photographers working between the 35-yard lines. NFL rules keep them back.

Rapid Reply: No, sir, what you get when you breed cattle with yaks I do not know, but you don't get canteenaks.

Open Question: Where did we get the golf terms "par," "birdie" and "eagle"?

TEENAGE SUICIDE
Q. How do you account for the fact that so many more teenage boys than girls commit suicide?
A. The boys don't know where to go for help. They think there's something wrong with asking for it. In fact, the girls evidently don't feel so inhibited. They learn about the abortion and adoption places, when and if such be needed. When a boy is in trouble, he doesn't much want to talk about it, even to his best friend, if any. Usually, usually, when a girl is in trouble of any sort, her best friend is the telephone.

Burn the skin of a toad and some chemical therein gives off a smoke that intoxicates. Cherokee Indians found out about this 300 years ago. Their experimentalists used sit around, smoking dried toadskins in their pipes, and talk and laugh and get funny looking. Or that's what the scholars now report, anyhow.

Artificial turf is said to add about 20 points over a season to a pro baseball player's batting average.

More on missing king-jack

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Sometimes you will find yourself playing opposite a king. Here are three very similar holdings:

1. A Q 10 9 8 7 6 2 A Q 9 8 7 5 3 A Q x x x x x. Here are the correct plays. You will always lead the ace first. It just might pick up a singleton king.

With No. 1 you should continue with the queen. If either opponent started with a doubleton jack, you will pick it up and lose just one trick. If the suit. Note that if either opponent had started with king-small no play would stop the jack from scoring against you. With No. 2 you should also play the queen at trick two. You still miss K J 10 x. If they split 2-2, all plays lose just two tricks. If they ### split 4-0, all plays lose three tricks.

There are four possible 3-1 splits. 1) K J 10 - x 2) K J x - 10 3) K 10 x - 4) J 10 x - K

Against the first two you must lose three tricks. Against the second-and-third, the queen play bumps off the jack or 10 and you get out with just two losers while a low lead costs you three. Against the last, the low lead catches the king to hold you to two losers, while the queen lead will leave you with three losers.

The two winners out of three is better than one winner out of three.

With holding No. 3 it is clearly correct to lead low at the second trick. This will leave you with only two losers any time - the king must be played if you are the queen. If you have no way to avoid three losers.

HOW TO HAVE MONEY IN THE BANK AND A NEW CAR IN THE GARAGE.

If you're planning to buy a moderately priced new car your initial expenditure is likely to be sizable. So, why tie up your money? Keep the biggest part of your savings in the bank and let First Lease put a beautiful new car in your garage.

PICK A CAR. FIRSTLEASE IT. Just about any make or model car is available through First Lease. Leases are offered for periods of 24, 30, 36 and, in some cases, 42 or 48 months. And when your lease is up, you'll even have the option of buying the car!

GET THE FACTS FROM YOUR FIRSTLEASE DEALER. Most new car dealers are also First Lease dealers. Just stop by any showroom displaying the First Lease emblem. The dealer can show you how to keep your money in the bank and put a new car in your garage!

For something new in banking, look for it first at Seattle-First.
