Reagan labels Wall Street a Chicken Little

DENVER (UPI) — President Reagan blasted "Chicken Little" critics of his economic program Friday. He promised to stand by his policy of tax cuts and spending reductions despite a marked lack of support on Wall Street and in some corners of Congress.

In a combative address to the 2,000 delegates from the National Federation of Republican Women, Reagan sought to shore up public confidence in his program and to curry favor in the financial markets that have displayed little enthusiasm so far for the plan that starts Oct. 1.

"I hope the people on Wall Street will pay attention to the folks on Main Street," the president said.

"Now I have listened to those Chicken Littles who proclaim the sky is falling and those others who recklessly play on high interest rates for their own narrow political purposes," Reagan said.

"But this concern about a plan not even in effect yet is nothing more than false labor."

The speech was Reagan's most serious attempt since enacting his economic policy to shore up public confidence in the plan, the success of which is jeopardized by tight money and high interest rates that have stilled investment.

Wall Street has displayed a marked lack of enthusiasm for the president's program, with brokers arguing Reagan will be unable to curb inflation and the budget deficit.

Stocks, concluding a disastrous week, skidded to a 16-month low Friday as institutions sold prior to the end of the third quarter amid fears of federal deficits, a recession and high interest rates.

In the first round of budget cuts, Reagan reduced fiscal 1982 spending by more than $30 billion. But high interest rates have forced him to seek additional cuts so he can hold the deficit to $12.5 billion in 1982 and balance the budget in 1984.

"Yes, the persistence of high interest rates has made our task more difficult," Reagan said. But he quickly added, "We did not sweat and bleed to get the economic package passed only to abandon it when the going gets a little tough."

"We will not practice dilettante economics."

To cut federal spending further, the president plans to defer cost-of-living increases for recipients of Social Security, federal pensions, black lung payments and food stamps.

Reagan defended the new spending cuts as necessary to improve the economy, although he has adamantly refused to make deep cuts in the Pentagon budget.

"There is no alternative to a stronger defense," the president said, adding that the Soviet Union is "spilling over with military hardware."

"The Soviets have not built a society; they have built an arsenal."

To his audience of women, Reagan said his administration will "soon" have appointed more females to substantive jobs than any other administration.

And he said the nomination of Sandra Day O'Connor to the Supreme Court is one accomplishment that makes him "especially proud."

High temperatures set records around Idaho

BOISE (UPI) — Boise set a record high temperature for the second day in a row Friday, but forecasters expected cooler temperatures over the state this weekend.

Lloyd Graybill, a forecaster with the National Weather Service in Boise, said Boise's high temperature of 96 degrees surpassed Thursday's new record of 95 degrees.

Graybill said information on temperatures for other parts of the state was not available Friday evening.

However, he said Grangeville probably set a record for the date with its high of 96 degrees.

The high in Twin Falls Friday was 93 degrees, Graybill did not know if that was a record.

Pocatello recorded 90 degrees Friday, one degree less than the new record set on Thursday.

Graybill said the high temperatures were caused by a high pressure system over the Northwest that had brought dry weather to the state for some time but had recently intensified to create the high temperatures.

Those high temperatures were expected to drop to the 80s this weekend as a trough over the Pacific Coast moved east, Graybill said. The trough brought shower activity to the coastal area but was expected to weaken as it approached Idaho.

Graybill said temperatures were expected to be near normal — in the upper 70s to 80s — early next week.

However, there was "a good chance of temperatures warming up pretty good by mid-week again."

GNP drop leaves experts disagreeing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government economists Friday reported the second consecutive quarterly drop in the gross national product.

But other experts couldn't agree on the economy's future performance.

The 0.5 percent drop in the gross national product from June through September was contained in the so-called "flash" estimate of economic performance based on preliminary data.

The previous quarter GNP dropped 1.6 percent at an annual rate, said a final reading also released Friday.

Two consecutive quarterly declines are regarded by some economists as the first sign a recession may be imminent.

The first quarter was marked by surprisingly strong growth, with GNP moving ahead by 8.6 percent at an annual rate. The administration predicts that when the year is over, the total change will amount to a 2.5 percent increase in GNP and that by the first quarter of next year, an economic recovery will be under way.

Economist Otto Eckstein, head of the private analysis firm Data Resources, Inc. of Lexington, Mass., said the third quarter GNP estimate combined with the latest unemployment insurance claim totals and a five-year low in housing starts for August indicated, "We really are starting into a recession."

Initial unemployment insurance claims for the week ended Sept. 5 were up sharply by 40,000, almost twice the number of new claims for the same period a year ago, according to the Labor Department.

Another economist, Herman Liebling, professor of economics at Lafayette College, Easton, Pa., said his own analysis shows the economy is actually stronger than the preliminary estimate shows.

"I think this number will be revised upward," said Liebling, who was chief Treasury Department economic forecaster through several administrations.

Nevertheless, he said, "I think the bite of interest rates finally has developed." And, he added, "The expected pickup that many had forecast for the fourth quarter does not seem to be on the way."

Unions anticipate 200,000 for demonstration

WASHINGTON (UPI) — AFL-CIO officials Friday estimated a quarter-million protesters will participate in Saturday's Solidarity Day march against President Reagan's economic and social policies.

Reagan plans to ignore the event — the largest demonstration here since Vietnam War rallies 10 years ago — and spend the weekend at Camp David in the nearby Maryland mountains.

A forecast of good weather and reports by bus and rail firms of capacity loads indicated the crowd probably will exceed the conservative 100,000 estimate publicly issued by the giant labor federation.

Privately, federation officials and union leaders talked in terms of 250,000 to 300,000 protesters.

Park Service, which has jurisdiction over the Mall area where the march and demonstration will be held.

Police were put on overtime shifts to handle the crowd.

The federation tried to help the traffic problem and increase its crowd by renting out the Metro subway system for $65,000 and opening it for free to any riders.

The U.S. Weather Service forecast said Saturday should be partly sunny with highs of 68 to 73 degrees and only a 10 percent chance of rain.

Joining in the demonstration, which includes a march from the Washington Monument to near the Capitol and a 90-minute rally, are a coalition of about 200 civil rights, religious, women's rights and social activist organizations opposed to Reagan's budget.

League; Benjamin Hooks, president of the NAACP; Coretta Scott King and Eleanor Smeal of the National Organization for Women.

Popular entertainers will perform, and such groups as the "Look for the Union Label" Chorus of the Ladies Garment Workers union and a 25-piece kazoo band of the Operating Engineers union will help keep a festive air.

Critics accuse union leaders of conducting a protest that the rank-and-file does not support.

"No amount of speech-making, marching, or media grandstanding is going to convince working Americans that a 25 percent tax cut is bad for them, or that next year's $700 billion federal budget cannot provide for the poor as long as the bureaucrats do their job and cut fat instead of services," said Dr. Richard L. Leshner, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

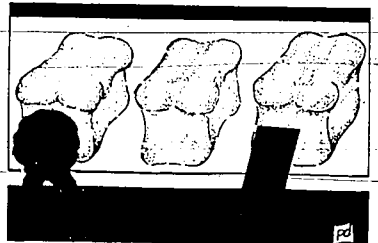

turnout will be organized labor's answer to the administration's contention it received a mandate for such economic change last November.

Top leaders join Ford at dedication

Nancy Reagan and Betty Ford join their husbands at the start of dedication ceremonies

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UPI) — North America's heads of state and the nation's top political leaders gathered on the banks of the Grand River Friday to honor Gerald R. Ford at the dedication of his presidential museum.

Thousands gathered on the grounds of the museum and along bordering streets to witness an event unequalled in the history of Michigan's second largest city.

For sheer pomp, it was comparable only to an inauguration or the funeral of a head of state. Ford himself noted that it was not unusual for a man of his age to be among friends and to be eulogized.

"But what is uncommon is to be alive to hear it," he said.

President Reagan, Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo, Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, former French President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing, Vice President George Bush, House Speaker Thomas "Tip" O'Neill and Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker all were there to honor Ford.

O'Neill spoke of Ford's "honesty, decency and patriotism" during his nearly 30 years in public service. Baker spoke of the presidency as being "distinguished by the integrity of the man himself."

Portillo told Ford, "Your dignity, your simplicity, your dedication to family values, puts you in line with those respected the world over." Trudeau spoke of Ford as a man of "character, of principles, a decent man who inspired trust."

Reagan, once an ideological and political adversary, said Ford was a man who pulled the nation together as a great healer during his presidency, a man able to restore confidence through "the steadiness, the fortitude, the personal ease and quiet confidence" of a great leader.

Reagan cited the decisions Ford made to bring inflation and the nation's fiscal policies under control.

Reagan said that just following Ford's ascent to the Oval Office America was undergoing its worst inflation in peacetime history.

"When he left office the economy was again moving in the right direction with inflation shrunk to a yearly rate of 4.8 percent," Reagan said.

Grand Rapids schools were closed for the museum opening, and thousands of people lined the streets for a parade honoring their former 13-term congressman. They were there for the fun, but for Ford as well.

Senate approves slimmer farm bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate late Friday passed a four-year, slimmed-down farm bill heading off Republican warnings that President Reagan might have vetoed it without the additional cuts.

The 49-32 vote came after five days and 38 hours of debate.

Senate Agriculture Committee staff members said the Congressional Budget Office had estimated the cost of the final bill, which sets the nation's basic farm legislation, at $7.9 billion.

This meant that under persistent threats of a veto, the Senate trimmed about $2.5 billion during the week.

About half of the cuts came earlier in the week when the Senate lowered dairy price supports. The final $360 million was cut Friday when the Senate trimmed the largest prices for various commodities, mostly rice.

The House Agriculture Committee has passed a bill that would cost $3.4 billion for one year alone — far above the administration's budget — but the House has not yet acted on it. Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., predicted a Senate-House conference eventually will have to work out the differences between the two bills.

During the debate, Dole triggered an outcry from Democrats when he introduced an amendment to reduce target prices for farm commodities and suggested the provision was needed to avoid a presidential veto of the entire farm bill.

"I want to make certain we have a farm bill and not something President Reagan will veto," Dole said.

"Americans don't like blackmail and don't like to be threatened and that amounts to what is happening," Sen. Edward Zorinsky, D-Neb., fired back.

Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Ill., shouted the administration was making "all or nothing" demands in the last minutes of the five-day Senate debate.

With some farm state Republicans voting with the administration, the Senate approved Dole's amendment 46-39.

Senate Agriculture Committee staffers, quoting the Congressional Budget Office, placed the price of the bill at $7.9 billion over four years.

Dole's amendment would cut $360 million from the target prices during the five crop years covered by the bill, including $270 million by lowering the target for rice, and $87 million by lowering the target for wheat from $4.10 to $4.

Only $1 million would be cut from the targeted feed grains and cotton would not be affected. In addition, the loan support for corn would be lowered from $2.60 to $2.50.

Reagan sweetens AWACS pot

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration Friday came up with a new argument for its proposed sale of AWACS planes to Saudi Arabia: the aircraft and their landing fields would be available for American use during a Mideast crisis.

Opposition to the proposal has been mounting in Congress, which can reject the sale if both the House and the Senate pass resolutions of disapproval. The administration considers the House a lost cause and is pinning its hopes on the Senate.

Fifty senators so far have signed a resolution of disapproval of the $3.5 billion arms package for Saudi Arabia, which includes five sophisticated Airborne Warning and Command System planes and new equipment to extend the range and effectiveness of Saudi Arabia's U.S.-built F-15 jet fighters.

Israel and many members of Congress fear the sale of the sophisticated radar planes to Saudi Arabia would threaten Israel's security.

"I am not concerned that we have 50 votes against us," a senior administration official joked, "because today we have received a firm commitment of support from Vice President Bush."

He joked that Bush would vote in case of a tie in the 100-member Senate. But the proposal to kill the sale needs the votes of 51 senators to pass and would automatically fail on a 50-50 motion.

The official, speaking to reporters at an Overseas Writers luncheon on the basis of no further identification, said the presence of American-built planes, ground personnel and spare parts in Saudi Arabia would mean U.S. aircraft would find a ready-made base for use in case of an emergency.

"Saudi Arabia emerges as the most important player in our plan for security relationships in the Middle East," the official said.

"This is not only because of the Saudi role as a major supplier of oil, he said, but also because in the event of a Middle East crisis, "U.S. planes will be able to land on hospitable shores."

The senior official dismissed the possibility of a compromise plan in which the United States and Saudi Arabia would share the cost and command of the AWACS. He said such a plan would suggest to the Saudis they are not regarded as reliable defense partners.

The official said the AWACS' on-board hardware dates from the 1960s and is not particularly sophisticated, but its software — the instructions given to the computer to make sense out of the signals detected by its radar — is highly advanced.

Anti-nuclear blockaders held their arms up in gesture of unity as they were arraigned on charges of trespassing.

Arrests thinning out Diablo crowd

AVILA BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — More than 50 anti-nuclear protesters, including rock star Jackson Browne, were arrested Friday at the Diablo Canyon power plant.

The arrested joined nearly 1,000 of their comrades jailed trying to block operations at the $2.3-billion reactor.

The four-day "human blockade" at the plant appeared to be running out of steam, however, with most of the protesters behind bars or released only after promising a judge not to return to the 735-acre Pacific Gas and Electric Co. nuclear reactor site.

The arrests Friday morning were peaceful and the protesters sang and chanted as they were taken away by sheriff's deputies.

Browne, a popular singer-songwriter whose songs include "Take It Easy," "Rock Me on the Water" and "Doctor My Eyes," was arrested for attempting to block busloads of construction workers arriving at the plant.

"I hope they don't break my hand," the handcuffed musician said as he was led away by sheriff's deputies.

Browne, who arrived at Abalone Alliance base camp Thursday and took the required eight-hour non-violence training course, is one of several popular musicians who perform to sellout crowds throughout the country to raise funds for the anti-nuclear movement.

Those music-loving crowds, however, failed to join the planned "human blockade" at the controversial plant, and the arrest of 555 protesters has left no more than 200 demonstrators to continue the unsuccessful attempt to block operations at the plant.

Abalone Alliance spokesmen insisted, however, that more protesters were expected to arrive at the plant, on the coast about halfway between Los Angeles and San Francisco, over the weekend—and the blockade would last for a month.

Officials said they hoped to arraign another 300 protesters Friday and those arrested have been told backpacks and other gear confiscated during arrests would be held for 10 days.

About 200 demonstrators were arraigned Thursday. Those released were warned that they would be jailed if they returned to the protest.

Democrats battle for Social Security

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats escalated their attack on President Reagan's proposed Social Security cuts Friday.

House leaders urged quick Senate action to restore the minimum benefit for America's "oldest and poorest."

House Democratic leader Jim Wright urged "prompt action" by the Senate to restore the minimum payment eliminated as part of the summer's budget bill. The House later voted to restore it.

"Unless the Senate takes action on this bill, these benefits — the meager $122 a month guarantee — will expire for 3 million Americans, among them the oldest and the poorest," next February, Wright told a news conference.

He urged the Senate to "allay their fears," saying many minimum benefit recipients have no other income. Senate leaders have indicated they want to restore the benefit for some, but hope to include it in a major reform bill.

A source familiar with Senate deliberations estimated there is a 50-50 chance the Senate will restore the payment for all beneficiaries, depending on "the level of hysteria."

The minimum benefit goes to those who did not earn enough to qualify for the standard benefit. The administration, which calls it a windfall, says its elimination will save $7 billion over five years.

Wright said Democrats will fight Reagan's plans to propose a three-month deferral in next year's scheduled cost-of-living increases in Social Security payments.

Asked whether the deferral will pass the House, Wright replied, "I don't think so," unless, like the minimum benefit, it is "lumped together in some huge nebulous package."

Administration officials are considering including it in a debt ceiling bill, making it harder to defeat.

From the Grand Rapids, Mich., festivities for the new Gerald R. Ford Museum, House Speaker Thomas O'Neill warned that Democrats will not allow Reagan to "meat-ax" Social Security.

"We're not going to let the president meat-ax it, we're not going to let him destroy it and we're going to hold his feet to the fire to keep the promises that he made during the campaign to the American people on Social Security."

Opposition appeared to be building among House Republicans to Reagan's cost-of-living proposals. The president proposed a Social Security cost-of-living deferral last spring, but retreated amid a barrage of criticism.

In a letter to Reagan, Rep. C.W. Young, R-Fla., said, "Conflicting statements by your administration concerning the Social Security system have caused a great deal of concern among the 35 million Americans who receive Social Security checks."

Michel on Reagan: No overnight miracles

DENVER (UPI) — President Reagan's economic program is taking the country in the right direction, but no one should expect any overnight miracles, House Minority Leader Bob Michel, R-Ill., said Friday.

"He (Reagan) didn't promise a quick fix and we didn't promise that all the ills could be fixed overnight," Michel told 2,000 delegates attending the 21st biennial convention of the National Federation of Republican Women.

Michel and other speakers preceded a speech later in the day by President Reagan. Vice President George Bush was the scheduled banquet speaker.

Michel warned that Democrats would be spreading a "gloom and doom" outlook about the future of the nation's economy, but he said the "overwhelming majority of Americans have confidence in the president."

"There is a confidence gap," the GOP leader said. "But it is not between the president and the people. It is between the people and the Democratic leadership."

Democrats have "navigated the ship of state into an iceberg," Michel said, and now the people have called on Ronald Reagan to be the skipper to rescue it. He blamed much of the problem on the "fallures, follies and fiascos of past Democratic administrations."

Republican National Chairman Richard Richards also told delegates not to expect any quick solution to problems like inflation, the high cost of living and soaring interest rates. He said it would take more than six months to solve problems the Democrats spent 48 years creating.

"The problems we're finding in the country today are still the Democratic problems because our program hasn't started yet," Richards said.

"We're going in the right direction. We adhere to the right principles. We need to be optimistic about our program. It's right. We've been going 180 degrees in the wrong direction (under Democrats)."

Richards said the American people realized the magnitude of the problems facing the nation in 1980 and elected Republicans to "deal with them in an honest heads-up way."

Oswald's widow agrees to delay exhumation

FORT WORTH, Texas (UPI) — The widow of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald promised Friday she would delay exhuming his body for five days if a judge would agree not to issue a temporary order blocking the action.

Following a lengthy court hearing, attorneys for Marina Oswald Porter told State District Judge James E. Wright she would refrain from having the body exhumed before noon Wednesday to allow Wright time to review legal briefs in the long-running attempt to open Oswald's grave.

"I believe I have every right to open the grave, as the Court of Appeals ruled," Mrs. Porter told UPI from her home in Rockwall, Texas. "I am getting very weary waiting, but I agreed to delay the exhumation for five days at the court's request."

Wright agreed not to issue a temporary restraining order and directed attorneys for Oswald's older brother, Robert, to file legal briefs by noon Monday. Mrs. Porter's lawyers must respond to those briefs by noon Tuesday, and Wright said he probably would make a ruling Wednesday.

Earlier Robert Oswald, brother of the assassin suspect, argued an exhumation would have a devastating effect on his family.

"I consider it my duty and responsibility to take care of my brother's remains," Oswald said.

The open court hearing was to consider an application by Oswald for a temporary restraining order blocking an exhumation pending further legal appeals. The application for a restraining order named Mrs. Porter, two of her children, and the cemetery where the body was buried.

Michael Pezzulli, one of Mrs. Porter's attorneys, said Oswald had no legal right to block an exhumation, citing a Thursday decision against him by an appeals court.

Pezzulli also argued Oswald was unable to demonstrate how an exhumation would cause him immediate irreparable harm, nor did he demonstrate that he, as the alleged assassin's brother, had a paramount right over the widow to control the remains of the body.

An attorney for the cemetery, Tommy Boswell, said his client would not allow an exhumation unless presented with "an appropriate court order."

Meanwhile, he said, the cemetery had hired around the clock security guards to protect against an unauthorized exhumation.

In a five-page ruling Thursday, the Court of Appeals dissolved a lower court injunction preventing the opening of the grave.

The temporary injunction had been issued a year ago by Wright, banning British author Michael Eddowes and all persons in active concert or participation with him from seeking to exhume and re-autopsy the remains of Lee Harvey Oswald.

Eddowes contends a Soviet secret agent assumed Oswald's identity after Oswald's defection to the Soviet Union in 1959, then returned to Dallas and shot Kennedy.

Mrs. Porter has filed her own lawsuit against her former brother-in-law, charging Oswald's body had been illegally removed from the grave.

Layton jury will continue deliberation today

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The jury in the trial of former Peoples Temple aide Larry Layton, charged with plotting the death of Rep. Leo J. Ryan, deliberated for seven hours Friday without reaching a verdict.

The seven women and five men were ordered to reconvene Saturday. The panel received the case Thursday and deliberated for one hour before breaking for the night.

During the month-long trial the prosecution presented testimony from survivors of the Nov. 18, 1978, attack on Ryan and a group of temple members fleeing the cult's Guyana commune.

Ryan, D-Calif., three journalists and one of the defunct temple members were killed when his investigation party was bushwacked by temple loyalists angered by the defections.

U.S. diplomat Richard Dwyer was wounded in the attack along with more than a dozen others were caught in the crossfire of rifles and pistols aimed from a tractor-trailer and a dump truck driven onto the Port Kaituma airstrip.

Ryan, a popular San Mateo, Calif., politician, was the first congressman in the history of the United States to be assassinated while conducting an official congressional investigation.

Layton, 35, is specifically accused of conspiring with the Rev. Jim Jones and five other cultists to murder Ryan and Dwyer to prevent deteriorating living conditions at the jungle outpost from coming to light.

Layton is the only member of the now-defunct cult to be tried in the United States because the other members of the alleged gun squad returned to the colony called Jonestown — and died that night with more than 900 others in a mass rite of murder and suicide.

Jones was found at the center of the piles of corpses with a bullet in his head.

Officials deny preparations for cutbacks in air traffic

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government officials Friday denied reports they are preparing to order major cutbacks in airline operations next month because of fears the air traffic control system is becoming strained.

Friday's editions of the Wall Street Journal carried a story that quoted industry sources as saying airline operations, now about 75 percent of normal, may be cut back to 50 percent at the 22 biggest airports.

But Transportation Department spokeswoman Linda Gosden said any reductions would be "minimal" and would be due mainly to complaints that some airlines are now getting more flights than others.

"There was never any discussion of strain on the system, never any discussion that we can't handle it" at the hearing, she said.

She said Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis and Federal Aviation Administrator J. Lynn Helms called the meeting to alert airline presidents that although there is now increased capacity in the system, that "cushion" will be used to reduce controllers' workweeks, give some vacations, "and plan for the winter when we need more manpower."

An industry source said the meeting focused on the possibility of reductions in flights due to weather conditions.

Most civilian controllers are working six-day, 48-hour weeks; military controllers work five-day weeks.

More than 11,000 controllers who went on strike Aug. 3 were fired, and their jobs are being filled by about 9,500 nonstriking civilians, supervisors and military controllers. The FAA employed more than 17,000 controllers before the walkout.

"We were fortunate just about the whole of August... to have had very good weather," the industry source said. "We can't expect that through the fall and winter. That was one of the points that Lewis made."

Meanwhile, the Air Transport Association, representing 33 of the nation's largest airlines, released statistics showing airline traffic decreased 7.8 percent last month compared to August 1980.

For the first eight months of 1981, traffic decreased 5.6 percent from the same period last year.

What's what

Do you have some decorative touch of red in every room in your house? If not, why not? More than one interior designer claims that's a good notion. They warn against too much red, however. The color is associated with fire and blood, neither of which you'd want all over the place. It's said people who prefer red more than other colors tend to be intense, impulsive and vigorous.

Q. Is suicide common among convicts?
A. It's three and a half times more prevalent in prisons. That makes it pretty common. Overall nationwide, somebody commits suicide every seven minutes.

There are computerized robots which can duplicate the action of the human wrist or of the hand or of the fingers. But there are no robots yet that can duplicate the combined action of the wrist, hand and fingers.

Q. What is the average chest measurement among 17-year-old girls?

LEPROSY

Q. You said no doctor or nurse has ever been known to catch leprosy from a patient. Maybe not, but it's not contagious; what about those U.S. soldiers who caught it in the South Pacific during World War II?
A. Special cases, those. They got it from needles while being tattooed by an artist who had it. It's contagious, all right. But not easily transmittable.

Q. Which U.S. President used the slogan, "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party"?
A. No President. It was devised solely as a typing exercise. In 1867. By a Milwaukee court reporter, Charles E. Weller.

MURDER

In about two-thirds of all murder cases, the suspect is in custody within 24 hours. Speedy police work? Sometimes. Often, though, after a spur-of-the-moment tragedy, the killer phones in the report, and waits for the officers to show up.

Q. Did you say John Paul Jones died in disgrace, penniless and despised?
A. Am now certain I got that one all wrong. Scholars who've looked deeply into the hero's record say he wasn't wealthy at the time of his death in France, but neither was he a pauper. And he was respected by many who had some understanding of his place in history.

Colorado schools bribe students

DENVER (UPI) — Some Colorado school districts will offer free ice cream, movies and cartoons, prizes and even tacos to their students Oct. 7. A new state law rewards school attendance on that day with state dollars.

Schools in Westminster will have $3,000 to spend to entice the students to come to class. Another district in eastern Colorado will have free lunches and parties. And another district on the Western Slope is offering bonuses to the schools.

Under a new state law, state aid to local school districts will be based on the number of students in class in each district on Oct. 7. The old state law counted attendance during an entire month.

The districts are guaranteed funding based on 96 percent of their total enrollment. If they have higher than 96 percent attendance on Oct. 7 they will collect extra dollars.

As school opened this fall, administrators and teachers began urging students and parents to make sure the children were in class on Oct. 7. Messages were sent home; speeches made at "back to school" nights.

Since the state aid amounts to between $2,000 and $4,000 for each student in class on Oct. 7, it is easy to see why the districts are so interested in high attendance.

In District 50 in Westminster, $3,000 has been allotted to encourage attendance. The district will be offering free ice cream, movies and cartoons, sock hops, special lunches, movies of Denver Broncos games and prizes.

District 29-J in Bennett will offer its 629 students a free lunch featuring tacos, special bus rides for tardy pupils and possibly even parties.

Grand Junction's District 51 will offer its schools a bonus of $1,000 for every percentage point above 96 in attendance. The bonus money cannot be applied to salaries, but can be used to purchase school equipment.

The largest district in Colorado, Jefferson County, probably will serve its 77,000 students their favorite lunch choices on Oct. 7 — spaghetti and burritos.

Silver coin sells for $155,000

By United Press International

SILVER SAVER

It was oil millionaire Nelson Bunker Hunt, known to be a silver collector, who may have paid $155,000 for less than a half ounce of the stuff. The bit of silver is a 2,400-year-old Naxos tetradrachm, a 12.35-gram coin, originally worth about the price of a cow, which was sold at auction in Beverly Hills. The successful bidder was Dorothy Manning, secretary to California businessman Gordon McGleason, acting either for her employer or, more likely, Hunt. The coin, minted in the Siellan-city of Naxos about 460 B.C., shows the head of Dionysus and on the reverse side a nude satyr, with horse's ear and tail lifting a cup of wine to his lips.

$3700 LATE

A crippled merchant seaman who won $2.25 million in the New York state lottery says he wishes he had had the money when his wife was alive. Johan Johansson, 57, a childless Swedish-born U.S. citizen who wears aluminum leg braces and lives in a small Brooklyn apartment on a $521 monthly disability check, said his wife died of diabetes six years ago. "I wish I had the money at that time," he says. He's not planning to move. "I got a life style and I'm going to stick to it. I lived there 28 years and my wife died in that apartment. I'm not going to move." Johansson, twice torpedoed in World War II, will get the $2.25 million in 10 annual payments.

MIKE LOVE(S)

Mike Love, lead singer of The Beach Boys, wed Catherine Linda Martinez in a celebrity-studded out door ceremony at Love's oceanfront home at Santa Barbara, Calif. Wolfman Jack, an ordained minister, performed the ceremony, which featured wedding vows composed by the bride, groom and Wolfman. Guests included Alan Jardine, Bruce Johnston and Carl and Brian Wilson of The Beach Boys, Jan and Dean, Glen Campbell, Tool and Daryl Dragon, Dick Clark and Cory Wells, Chuck Negron and Danny Hutton of Three Dog Night. The couple chose Mexico for their honeymoon.

OVETT'S LOVE

British middle distance runner Steve Ovett swapped his traxsult for a wedding suit Friday when he married model Rachel Walker in Brighton, 30 miles south of London on England's south coast. Ovett, 25, the 1,500-meter world record holder, leading miller and Moscow Olympic 800-meter gold medalist, repeatedly used the TV cameras at the Moscow Olympics to signal the message "I love you" to Rachel, watching back in Britain. Ovett's next race will be the Fifth Avenue mile in New York later this month.

AMERICAN IN PARIS

Grace Kelly, now 61, guest with a brief tap dance in Paris as obliged of honor at a gala to benefit the American Center for Students and Artists. Princess Grace of Monaco (born a Kelly) presided over the gala, which was attended by Rachel Welch, Leslie Caron, Michel Morgan and Yves-Montand. Kelly was hailed by actor Jean-Louis Barrault as "the poet of the human body."

QUOTE OF THE DAY

The new president of the U.N. General Assembly, Iqbal Khatun of Iraq, asked because delegates delayed the opening of Friday's plenary session for 22 minutes: "I hope this is the last time this will happen. If the example is repeated the chair will have to consider some other measures to deal with the situation."

Bruce MacLaughlin of Easton, Mass., takes a practice jump for his world record attempt. He hopes to set the mark for most jump from an airplane in a 24-hour period. The record is 234.

Meets Mississippi governor

Muddy Waters returns home

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — When you work six days a week chopping cotton in the Mississippi Delta, says Muddy Waters, then "Friday or Saturday night is the only time you have for singing, and sometimes only Saturday."

The aging black musician left those cotton fields and the state in 1943 to win fame as a blues man.

Waters returned home Friday to Mississippi, a place he once vowed he'd never visit again. At a Governor's Mansion reception hosted by Gov. William Winter, Waters — born McKinley Morganfield in Rolling Fork — simply said, "I'm proud to be home."

Waters will perform with other artists Saturday at the Mississippi Delta Blues Festival in Freedom Village near Greenville.

The Mississippi Delta was the birthplace for many great blues singers, Waters acknowledged, "because we didn't have anything else to do but go home and get together and get some enjoyment going for ourselves. On rainy days we'd pick up pecans and then shoot dice for the pecans."

Wearing a light blue suit and a bright, flowered shirt, Waters shook hands with the dignitaries and spoke of his Mississippi childhood.

"I'm not much of a talker, but I'm a pretty good singer," he joked, shuffling his feet just a bit on the thick blue carpet of the Governor's parlor.

"I grew up on the Stovall Plantation near Clarksdale," he said. Waters lived with his grandmother, who gave him the now-famous name because he liked to play in the mud as a child.

"How did the blues get started?" Winter asked Waters.

"You've got to ask somebody older than I am to get an answer to that," the 66-year-old blues master upped.

His first "instrument" was a tin can, Waters said, but soon he graduated to a Jew's-harp and then a harmonica. But in his teens Waters heard someone play the bottleneck guitar, and "I threw that harmonica away."

In those early days, Waters' harmonica-playing was so popular he sometimes made 50 cents a night, plus a bonus of a fish sandwich and a half pint of moonshine. But Waters was destined for bigger things.

He wrote the songs the whole blues world sings. Tunes like "I'm Your Hoochie Coochie Man" and "I Can't Be Satisfied" made him the dominant figure on the Chicago blues scene.

Asked to name his favorite blues artist, Waters was as hard to pin down as some of his melodies. "There's so many, so many. You can't forget about B.B. King, though."

Memphis singer Carla Thomas will emcee at the fourth annual festival, where the blues will be played and sung from noon till dark. Other artists to appear include Son Thomas, Sam Chatmon, Eugene Powell, Bobby Rush and Big Joe Williams.

The festival is promoted each year by the Mississippi Action for Community Education, MACE, a Delta-based development group. As many as 15,000 blues fans are expected to attend, according to MACE spokesman Malcolm Walls.

Stuntman shot in mock gunfight

WESTLAKE VILLAGE, Calif. (UPI) — The shooting of a stuntman during a mock gunfight at a shopping center last week was an accident, the Ventura County Sheriff's office said Friday.

Peter Porteous, 22, Simi Valley, a member of the Southern California Stuntman's Association, was hit by about 30 shotgun pellets in what was supposed to be a mock duel with James Stevens, also of Simi Valley.

Both men were taking part in the western-style shootout at West Hills Shopping Center. Porteous was hospitalized and has since been discharged from the hospital.

The pistol was supposed to have been loaded with blank cartridges but one of the cartridges had been reloaded with the buckshot and had been accidentally mixed in with the blanks.

Police: Retarded man only acting

MILLERSVILLE, Md. (UPI) — A 24-year-old man who said his name was "Jimmy Connors" and appeared to be retarded actually was a man of normal intelligence re-enacting a hoax he had perpetrated across the United States, police said Friday.

"It looks like he was trying to make his way around the country," Anne Arundel county police officer Jack Rayhart. He said the man "did the same thing" in Texas, California and Hawaii.

Police first picked up the man on July 1, 1980 at a Glen Burnie fast-food restaurant, Rayhart said. "He appeared to be retarded and was otherwise acting in an odd manner," Rayhart said.

The man was turned over to the county social services agency, which during the last 14 months arranged to house him at a number of private homes and at Crownsville State Hospital, Rayhart said.

"Every once in a while, he'd tell us his parents brought him to Glen Burnie and that they lived someplace in the Washington area," Rayhart said. "We took him to Washington and drove him around a few times and he would point to government buildings and say his father used to go here and there and wore a badge and had a gun."

Sgt. Richard Davis, an investigator who worked on the case, said police never doubted the man was retarded.

"Nobody had any idea this was a put-on," Davis said.

But on Tuesday, following the administration of a mental test that showed the man had a normal intelligence level, he admitted he was Leonard J. Sprengle and was from Minnesota, Rayhart said.

County social workers then took him to the Helping Up Mission, a Baltimore home for the needy. That action was taken without the knowledge of police, Davis said, and Sprengle left the mission before police could press charges of filing a false report.

The Rev. Wade Dryden, director of the mission, said Sprengle left Wednesday morning. "He didn't say where he was going," Dryden said.

Sprengle said he was from New Brighton, Minn., Dryden said, and listed the name of a "Jackie Horner" as his closest friend. Police said Sprengle told them he grew up in a foster home in Minnesota.

Man loses home due to fine print

HULL, England (UPI) — A weeping father and his family were left homeless Friday by a wealthy lawyer who sold their house to them 18 years ago — with a clause allowing him to buy it back at the same price.

Bailiffs evicted Tom Danby, 43, his wife Patricia 39, and their three teenage children Thursday. Danby bought the semi-detached cottage near Hull from attorney Richard Langdale for $4,500 18 years ago and spent thousands of dollars renovating the property. Today it is worth around $45,750.

But Langdale, who lives in a $275,000 mansion overlooking the property, exercised his right to buy it back at the original price. He offered only $7,300 extra to compensate for renovation.

"We were good friends for years and I thought he was a gentleman," Danby said. "I trusted him so I didn't examine the fine print. Now it's cost me and my family our home."

Soviets issue Poles ultimatum

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — The Polish government held an urgent meeting Friday to discuss a stern ultimatum from the Soviet Union demanding immediate and "radical" steps to crush "anti-Sovietism" in Poland once and for all.

Solidarity union officials also planned an emergency meeting to discuss the Kremlin ultimatum, which characterized Solidarity's increasingly political demands and the government's tolerance of them as a direct, unacceptable threat to the interests of the Soviet Union itself.

The propaganda campaign against Poland swelled as other East Bloc states echoed the Kremlin's stern warning.

In Moscow, a Western diplomat disclosed the Soviets did not withdraw all their troops from positions near Poland's borders when large-scale military maneuvers ended last week.

"I'm not saying this is ominous but their readiness is greater than it was before the exercises. If they have to conduct a military operation, they are in a much higher state of organization," the diplomat said.

Publicly, Solidarity officials refused immediate comment on the Kremlin warning delivered Thursday by Soviet Ambassador Boris Arislov. But privately, they echoed the opinion of another Western diplomat in Moscow who characterized the situation as serious.

"I think they really mean it. I don't think they're prepared to look silly," he said of the latest Soviet ultimatum.

12 Polish students hijack plane

BERLIN (UPI) — Twelve Polish students armed with firebombs and razor blades hijacked a Polish airliner Friday and flew to a U.S. Air Force base in West Berlin.

A Soviet jet fighter pursued but was forced away by two American helicopters.

The hijackers, nine men and three women described as students ranging in age from 17 to 22, were turned over to West Berlin authorities for possible prosecution.

Police said one woman among the 37 other passengers and crew was injured slightly when one of the hijackers held a razor blade to her neck to force the pilot to fly to West Berlin.

The other passengers aboard twin-engine Polish LOT airliner, including one American who was not identified, were not harmed.

But police said eight passengers took the opportunity to immediately ask for political asylum. They remained in West Berlin when the plane took off for Poland with the remaining passengers after an eight-hour stay.

U.S. officials said three Soviet MIG jet fighters scrambled to intercept the AS-24 jetliner after it was hijacked over Poland about 10 minutes before it was due to land in Warsaw on a domestic flight from Katowice.

Egypt police beat demonstrators

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Flailing away with whips and fists, plainclothes police beat and arrested dozens of Moslem demonstrators who gathered outside a Cairo mosque Friday.

The demonstrators protested President Anwar Sadat's arrest of religious leaders accused of fomenting sectarian strife.

The demonstrators, many of them with bloodied faces, bruises and red swollen eyes, were herded into police vans and driven off.

The plainclothes officers were backed up by more than a dozen truckloads of khaki-uniformed police armed with sticks, teargas and automatic rifles.

It was the second Friday Moslem sabbath in a row that demonstrators have gathered outside the mosque in Cairo's eastern suburb of Koubbeh to protest the arrest of a number of Moslem prayer leaders earlier this month.

They were detained along with more than 1,500 Coptic-Christian officials and political dissidents charged with fomenting strife between Egypt's Moslem and minority Coptic Christians.

Iran executions to follow trials

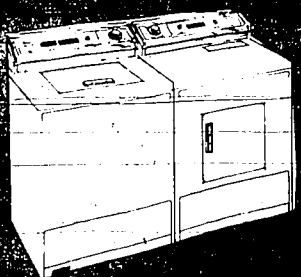

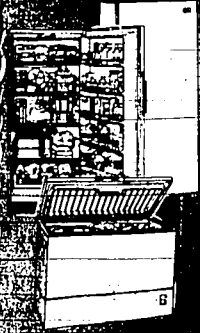

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Iran's chief prosecutor declared Friday that demonstrators and political dissidents will be executed immediately after summary trials requiring the testimony of only two witnesses.

"If they are arrested, we will not wait for them to spend several months in prison and eat and sleep and use up the public treasury. Their trial will be in the streets... and their sentence is death," said Ayatollah Hussein Musavi Ardebili Tabrizi.

The country's revolutionary and spiritual leader, Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, had earlier in the day ordered a nationwide crackdown on armed dissidents.

After working on Broadway, in Los Angeles and many stops in between, Carol and Laried Montgomery live in Hansen

The lights dim

Ex-Broadway performers find a quiet retirement in Hansen

By STEPHANIE SCHOROW
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — From Blue-Lakes Boulevard to Broadway — and back again.

If one was to write a musical based on the lives of Carol and Laried Montgomery, that might be the title.

Laried Montgomery, a Twin Falls native, set out to conquer New York with his voice and became a regular performer on that world-famous theatrical street.

Carol Peres Montgomery danced her way from a studio in Sacramento to the stages of top Broadway productions and the slick floors of Hollywood television shows.

They moved to this area about two years ago, still enthusiastic about the theatrical life but ready to settle for some job security, fresh air and a slower pace of life. They now live in Hansen. Laried works for radio station KLIX.

Carol is organizing a dance class. Their credits, if they were to be shown at the end of a movie, might go the length of the movie. They've been on Broadway, off-Broadway and in other New York productions. They've been on television; they've toured the county in national shows and performed in summer stock productions.

Carol has danced in musicals as "Cabaret," "Camelot," "Sherry," "Showboat," "West Side Story" and "Sweet Charity." She has been on the Ed Sullivan Show, the Andy Williams Show and various specials. She also had a part in the film "Movie, Movie," starring George C. Scott.

Laried's stints have included "Camelot," "Miss Me Kate," "South Pacific," "My Fair Lady," "Finian's Rainbow," "Showboat," "Carousel" and "Bye Bye Birdie." He later acted as stage manager and off-stage singer in the Ann-Margret Act, in which Carol was a dancer and the star's personal assistant.

It's not just the credits that mark the two as "Theatre." They've rubbed shoulders with celebrities, famous producers and choreographers.

Their conversation is punctuated by references like, "At a party at Sammy Davis Jr.'s home..." or "I think of Ann-Margaret as my little sister." They have nothing but praise for some stars, like Sandy Duncan — "She gave me this dress," Carol shyly adds — and some blunt comments about others, like Andy Williams — "Such a creep."

They've seen many changes in musical styles. Laried feels the rough quality of rock-'n'-roll singers is now preferred in musicals to his smoother manner. He remembers sharing a stage in 1957 with the young Elvis Presley and being told, "Kid, you got a beautiful voice." And Laried replied, "Yeah, but you're going to force me out of work."

Woods to face Utah charges for Beans Inc.

By MARTY TRILLHAASE
Times-News writer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Two California men accused of burning the Beans Inc. warehouse in Filer have been ordered to answer criminal charges filed against them in Salt Lake City.

California Gov. Jerry Brown last week signed a governor's warrant ordering former Salinas Mayor Jim Woods and his business associate, Martin Taylor of Madera, Calif., to appear in Salt Lake City.

The Salt Lake County Attorney's Office in May charged Woods, president and owner of Commodly Marketing Corp., which owned Beans Inc., and Taylor, with arson with intent to defraud and insurance fraud.

These charges stem from the July 30, 1979, fire that destroyed one of the Filer operation's bean warehouses. The fire also has sparked an ongoing lawsuit involving farmers who want payment for the beans that were stored in the warehouse. The farmers have accused the defendants of selling beans they did not own.

The governor's warrant, now in the possession of the Monterey County Sheriff's Office, will be served on Woods and Taylor on Oct. 19.

Brown's office became involved with the matter in early June when lawyers for the defendants opted to challenge the Utah prosecutor's jurisdiction in the case.

Utah authorities claimed jurisdiction in the case because the defendant, Glenn Bammerlin, who represented the insurance companies that covered the warehouse, and one of the insurance companies, Fireman's Fund Insurance Co., were located in Salt Lake City.

As far as Brown's office was concerned, that fact was sufficient to establish Utah's jurisdiction in the case. The governor's staff based its decision on the insurance fraud charge and chose not to consider the arson allegation.

According to Brown's extradition specialists, Allen Sumner, officials chose not to confuse the issue with the more complicated arson jurisdiction question.

The decision not to address that question in no way limits Utah prosecutors from pursuing the arson charge, however, he said. Likewise, the decision in no way addresses the guilt or innocence of the defendants, Sumner added.

"It just made our job simpler. All you need is one valid charge for extradition," Sumner said.

Salt Lake County Attorney investigator Jim Ashby said his office received word of Beans' extradition Friday morning. But the office had not received a copy of the document, and staff members had not determined their next move in the case, he said.

In the event Utah prosecutors can not establish jurisdiction on the arson charge, such a charge could be filed in Twin Falls County. County Prosecutor Harry DeHaan in late May started an investigation into the possibility of filing charges in the matter. But no charges have been filed by his office, and DeHaan has not released any information concerning his investigation.

DeHaan was out of town Friday and could not be reached for comment.

Bond may answer hookup problems for Buhl sewers

Buhl mayor says moratorium could end

By SUSAN GALLAGHER
Times-News writer

BUHL — A $50,000 bond issue has been proposed as Buhl's answer to a state-imposed moratorium on sewer hookups for subdivisions.

Mayor Dale Christensen said passage of the bond measure, scheduled to go before voters Nov. 3, would allow rerouting of the storm and irrigation water believed to be overloading Buhl's sewer system. The Idaho Department of Health and Welfare identified the problem of overloading this summer, and on Aug. 4, it imposed the moratorium.

Gary Burkett, a DHW environmental engineer, said the overload is causing Buhl's sewage discharge to violate federal pollution standards for navigable waterways. During part of the year, Buhl's effluent is injected into Mud Creek, which empties into the Snake River. Christensen said that in the summer months, effluent is sprayed onto 180 rural acres.

DHW will consider lifting the moratorium, Burkett said, if the Buhl quads allowing irrigation water to flow into a manhole at 12th Avenue and Burke Street.

Christensen said the moratorium amounts to a lid on community growth, and the city can't act until it can get a bond levy passed. The drainage project does not qualify for federal money, he said.

The bottom line is that the community needs a new sewer system, according to Christensen. City Council retained engineers to complete a first-phase study for a new system, and it was subsequently told that federal money, which was expected to fund 75 percent of the project, no longer was available, he said.

However, there are indications are that Buhl could receive federal assistance in 1982, said Dave Milan, the city's engineering consultant.

As for the more immediate issue of the moratorium, Christensen said he believes it has not imposed a significant economic impact on the community, although plans to annex two mobile-home courts have come to a halt. Buhl has granted special permission for Meadowbrook, a new apartment project at Elm Street and Clear Lakes Avenue, to hook up to the city system, the mayor said.

Meanwhile, council is pinning public information sessions to acquaint voters with the need for the bond issue. Specifics of the $50,000 proposal are being worked out by a Seattle bonding attorney, Christensen said.

Commissioners plot legislative moves

TWIN FALLS — The county commissioners will travel to Boise next week, along with officials from Idaho's other 43 counties, to discuss proposals to be submitted to the Legislature this winter.

The three commissioners will attend both the annual convention of the Idaho Association of Commissioners and Clerks, which is scheduled to run Monday through Wednesday, and the Idaho Association of Counties session, which will run through the rest of the week. Both sessions serve as workshop and brainstorming meetings for county officials who want to submit legislation to Idaho's lawmakers in January.

Proposals backed by the IAC membership are researched and packaged in legislative format by the organization's staff.

The IAC membership will meet again in a winter session to review the proposals to decide which ones to submit to the Legislature.

Commission Chairman Ann Cover said local officials are hopeful of action in two major areas:

- The establishment of a statewide insurance system to cover counties against expensive medical indigent claims. Cover said the state's two most populous counties, Ada and Canyon, so far have shown no willingness to participate in the indigent insurance plan. Without those counties, the insurance proposal can't operate, she said.
- Formulating ways to provide local governments with increased revenues.

Like many local governments, Twin Falls County has suffered from restricted revenues under the 1-percent initiative. During the past two years, the county's revenues have remained frozen. The 1981 Legislature allowed local governments a 5-percent increase for the 1981-1982 fiscal year. But local officials say that increase will be mitigated by a state law requiring counties to reimburse the state for funds the counties collect through a $1.50 automobile registration fee.

No specific proposal has been submitted to IAC, but Cover said she is confident the issue will be discussed.

Burglary charges are filed, then dismissed against two

TWIN FALLS — First-degree burglary charges were filed and then dismissed against two men Friday.

Mark Livingston, 20, of Kimberly and Tim Neuman, 18, of Twin Falls, were arrested Thursday by Twin Falls Police and placed in the Twin Falls city jail in lieu of $5,000 bail each.

Friday, first-degree burglary charges were filed against the two men in 5th District Magistrate Court.

Livingston and Neuman were scheduled to be arraigned later in the day.

According to police statements filed with the court, the two men allegedly removed a stereo, a suitcase, and about $200 worth of records from the residence of Susie Huff, 145 Robbins Ave., sometime between Friday and Saturday nights.

But Twin Falls County deputy prosecutor Jim Meservy dismissed the charges before the two men were to have appeared in court.

Meservy said evidence in the case would not have sustained a conviction. He added the evidence indicated the case should have been handled as a civil rather than a criminal matter.

"I would say it's a civil matter based on the evidence we have at this time.

"If we have more evidence, we could proceed then. But we don't have enough evidence now to sustain a conviction," Meservy said.

Meservy said the investigation is continuing.

Rupert man dies; car hits highway pillar

RUPERT — A Rupert man was killed Thursday evening when his pickup truck struck an overpass pillar on U.S. 30.

According to Joe Larsen, the Minidoka County coroner, James Kent Hemstley, 24, of South Third Street, was killed when he apparently ran off the highway about three miles southwest of Rupert, and his truck glanced off the right-side guardrail. The truck recrossed the highway to the median and struck a pillar of an Interstate 84 overpass.

Hemstley was killed instantly, Larsen said.

NBC tries promo coordination Schools cautious on drug program

TWIN FALLS — Local school and community leaders are taking a wait-and-see attitude toward an NBC alternative-to-drugs campaign ever produced for television.

The campaign, christened, "Get High on Yourself," will begin with a one-hour special with the same title Sunday at 7 p.m.

At that time, according to NBC's press release, more than 50 of America's "drug-free heroes" will unite with a cross section of young people to spread a new spirit of "you can be somebody just by being yourself."

The anti-drug campaign calls for follow-up involvement by private enterprise and the schools. Nationally, several corporations have become involved in distributing campaign information. But beyond an exchange of information in the schools and at a Wednesday information meeting at KMYT, NBC's local affiliate, little has been planned in Twin Falls.

"We just don't have enough information at this point," said Dennis Messenger, director of curriculum for Twin Falls schools. "Our concern is that it's a promotion campaign, so we're going to wait and evaluate it as it unfolds."

Messenger said if the campaign proves effective, the schools will throw their support behind it.

Frank Charleton, principal of Twin Falls High School, said that most of the information being distributed to announce the campaign was being done by students.

"We were told to make it an encouragement thing, not a hard sell," Charleton said. "I think we've covered it well."

The high school's distributive education program worked with KMYT in making public-service announcements with the campaign, including Mayor Hank Woodall and the KLIX "Kicker," a radio station mascot, are shown in the two spots, singing the campaign song, "Get High on Yourself."

Daryll Christian, public service director for KMYT, said she has sent out packets of information on "Get High on Yourself" to church and community leaders. In conjunction with the campaign, the station plans to run 10-second public-service announcements on how to contact the Magic Valley Alcohol Rehabilitation Center, she said.

Church begins defense against newspaper charges

Rally honors Chicago's Cardinal Cody

By CATHY LEWANDOWSKI
United Press International

CHICAGO — Cardinal John P. Cody, the besieged head of the archdiocese of Chicago, Friday altered his schedule and attended a rally staged in his honor by a coalition of black Catholic clergy.

"And the Chicago Catholic, the official weekly newspaper of the archdiocese, published its first defense of the cardinal since allegations he diverted church funds first surfaced.

The U.S. attorney's office is trying to determine whether Cody, 73, diverted as much as $1 million in tax-exempt church funds to Helen Dolan Wilson, a long-time friend from St. Louis whom Cody has called his cousin, even though there is no blood relationship. They are related only by marriage.

The theme of the rally — "What the world needs now is love, sweet love." — About 15 pastors of predominantly black parishes organized the tribute to express their support for Cody — rather than speculate about possible wrongdoing, the Rev. George Clements, pastor of Holy Angels Church, said.

About 6,500 people — most of them black school children, with some dressed in cheerleader uniforms and taping pom-poms — attended the rally.

The tribute to Cody included a procession from Holy Angels Church, past two other Catholic churches, to the International Amphitheatre, the site of the rally. After music and prayers, Cody accepted a plaque, amid thunderous applause and several choruses of "We Shall Overcome."

"If in these sad hours which I am having... I needed any encouragement — I certainly have received it here this morning," the cardinal told the crowd.

Referring to "doubts that might have been cast on me, on my role as a priest or as a citizen of this great metropolitan parish," Cody said, "I ask Almighty God's intervention to give strength, to help me continue in my duties as Archbishop of Chicago as I tend to."

Cody, who was ushered into the Amphitheatre to a high school band's rendition of "Fame," was visibly moved by the tribute. "It is very difficult sometimes to express deep emotional feelings, but I express them to you here. Thank you for this deep feeling of unity," he said.

The Rev. Dominic Carmen of St. Elizabeth's Church presented the plaque to Cody, saying, "On behalf of the 80 parishes in the black community we would like to express our deep gratitude" to the archbishop for the help he has given black Catholics in the last 16 years.

Clements' adopted son, Joey, 13, read to the crowd a speech he had written himself.

"It is the season of winter for our leader and shepherd," he said. "Today we have come together as friends to give strength to the one who love."

The Chicago Catholic said in Friday editions the Chicago Sun-Times "produced a formidable amount of gossip, innuendo and false implications" in its series on Cody.

An editorial in the diocesan newspaper said: "The series was not discussed with the church and no serious attempt was made to provide for an adequate response."

The day before the first article on the Cody investigation appeared Sept. 10 the Sun-Times reportedly called the Archdiocese's public relations office 15 minutes after business hours to get a response to the forthcoming article.

The Sun-Times responded in Friday editions that the articles and editorials in the Chicago Catholic "did not attempt to refute with documents or other information what it contended were '46 individual charges.'"

Cody was named Archbishop of the 2.4 million-member archdiocese, the nation's largest, in 1965 by Pope Paul VI. He became a cardinal in 1977.

The Sun-Times reported Mrs. Wilson, divorced in 1939, was both owner and beneficiary of a $100,000 life insurance policy on Cody and had borrowed almost $60,000 against it. The newspaper also reported Mrs. Wilson's son, David, an insurance salesman, had made at least $150,000 in commissions off insurance programs purchased by the archdiocese.

After robbery, assault Pittsburgh minister vows to carry a gun

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A Pittsburgh radio minister, the victim of robbery on a city sidewalk this week, says he will arm himself against future muggers.

Dr. Jack Munyon, 69, whose radio program takes the airwaves daily, announced his intention to pack a pistol following the robbing and beating by two muggers Thursday.

"The first thing I'm going to do... is register for a gun permit," he said, adding he wants to have good protection from local juveniles.

The weapon would be a piece of assurance for the minister, who recalled how helpless he felt during the attack, which left him stunned and with a badly bruised elbow.

"They came from behind, tackled me and I dropped like an old sack of grain," he said. "One beat me continuously while the other dislodged my wallet."

He lost $43 in the incident. But it was more than the money that the muggers took — they got a piece of the minister's pride as well.

"As a kid I used to be a pretty fair scrapper, but I've just forgotten how old I really am," he said.

The minister expressed anger at society, whom he blamed for creating such a demoralized atmosphere that causes people to act like the attackers.

"They (the police) took the information all right, but they never even asked me how I was. It just seemed like they were in too big of a hurry to really care."

One reason Munyon is steamed about the incident is that he is dedicated to sharing and caring.

Kimball reported recovering; Romney celebrates birthday

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Mormon Church President Spencer W. Kimball, recovering from skull surgery, continued Friday to make "slow but steady improvement," said church spokesman Don LeFevre.

Kimball was listed in fair condition at LDS Hospital. The 86-year-old church leader underwent surgery Sept. 5 to remove blood, fluid and scar tissue from the site of a subdural hematoma.

Meanwhile, Marion G. Romney, second counselor in the First Presidency of the Mormon Church, plans to celebrate his 84th birthday today at a family gathering in Zovro.

Wall Street plunges to 16-month low

By FRANK W. SLUSSER
United Press International

NEW YORK — Stocks, concluding a disastrous week, skidded to a 16-month low Friday.

The slide came as institutions sold prior to the end of the third quarter amid fears of federal deficits, a recession and high interest rates.

Trading was moderate. The Dow Jones industrial average, up a point at the outset following an 11.51-point loss Thursday, dropped 3.90 points to 865.19, the lowest level since it finished at 931.06 on May 21, 1980.

The closely watched average of 30 blue-chip stocks lost 36.62 points for the week and has dropped 170.80 points since hitting 1,011.99 on June 15, that indicates to some observers the market might be ready for a rebound soon.

Brokers said the market may be erratic the next couple of weeks as big investors adjust their portfolios for the fourth quarter. But strong buying is not likely to last as long as interest rates remain at near-record levels.

The New York Stock Exchange index surrendered 0.56 to 67.27, a 1981 low, and the price of an average share decreased 24 cents. Declines topped advances 1,031-300 among the 1,884 issues traded at 4 p.m. EDT.

Big board volume totaled 47,350,000 shares compared with 48,300,000 traded Thursday.

A large number of 100,000-share blocks traded in the early going indicated large institutions were unloading weaker stocks as they accumulated cash and prepared for the approaching fourth quarter of 1981.

Throughout the week investors have said they were worried the economy was headed for a severe recession despite some mixed economic signals. The government Thursday reported housing starts fell at a steeper-than-expected 10.7 percent and factories operated at a capacity of 79.3 percent, down from 79.8 percent. Also, industrial production dropped 0.4 percent.

Yet, Washington was predicting only a 0.5 percent decline in the gross national product in the third quarter. A revised second-quarter gross national product decreased by a 1.8 percent annual rate instead of 2.4 percent previously reported.

Private analysts, however, were predicting the economy would drop sharply in the fourth quarter and produce a worse recession than many administration officials have predicted.

Composite volume of NYSE issues listed on all U.S. exchanges and over the counter at 4 p.m. totaled 53,734,700 shares compared with 53,773,600 traded Thursday.

The American Stock Exchange common stock index dropped 5.34 to 300.33 and the price of an average share dropped 26 cents. Declines topped advances 435-154 among the 786 issues traded at 4 p.m. Volume at that time totaled 5,870,000 shares compared with 5,180,000 traded Thursday.

The National Association of Securities Dealers' NASDAQ index of over-the-counter issues lost 1.44 to 184.27.

On the trading floor, Chicago Milwaukee Corp. plunged 5 1/2 to 47 1/2. The Chicago & Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railroad, 96 percent owned by Chicago Milwaukee Corp., filed a long-awaited reorganization proposal in bankruptcy court that would pare the railroad and help pay off debts in five years.

Relston Purina was the most active NYSE-listed issue, off 1/2 to 11 1/2, after a block of one million shares at 11 1/2. It was the second consecutive day the stock has had a block trade of one million shares or more. Company officials said they could find nothing unusual in the trading.

Exxon followed on the active list, off 3/4 to 31 1/2 in trading that included four blocks totaling 500,000 shares at 31 1/2.

Gulf & Western was the third most active issue, unchanged at 16 1/2 with a block trade of 389,000 shares at 16. Northwest Industries followed, off 1/4 to 50 1/2 after a block of 180,000 shares at 51.

American Telephone & Telegraph, which reported record three-month earnings earlier this week, dropped 1/2 to 55 1/2 in active trading.

Kaiser Steel climbed 4 1/2 to 42. A group headed by Stanley Hiller Jr. has won an option to buy the Kaiser Foundation's 1,188,832-Kaiser Steel shares at $50 apiece.

Shoshone grazing advisory board nominations sought

SHOSHONE — Nominations are being accepted for five two-year terms on the Shoshone District Grazing Advisory Board.

Charles Haszler, the district manager for the Shoshone Bureau of Land Management office, said the grazing advisory boards were authorized by Congress and must be rechartered every two years.

The five-member board is composed of one cattle and one sheep grazing representative from each of the Monument and Bennett Hills resource areas, as well as one at-large representative.

Nominating information was sent to all cattlemen and sheepmen who graze on public lands, and an election will be scheduled before the end of the year, Haszler said. The group meets twice a year, in addition to a range tour. All meetings are open to the public.

Incumbent members of the advisory board are: Al Bauscher and Les Silman, representing Bennett Hills grazers; Wendell Johnson and Jim Campbell, representing the Monument area; and Tom Prescott of Jerome, who holds the at-large position.

Bank calls mortgages with low interest rates

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Buffalo Savings Bank said Friday it has demanded payment in full from 900 owners with mortgage loans "since it would not be prudent" to continue the loans at a relatively low 8 1/2 percent interest rate.

If the homeowners cannot pay off the loans in full, bank officials said they may apply for new mortgages at the bank at an interest rate of about 14 percent, which is about 4 percent below current rates.

The 900 mortgages, all taken out in 1975 and 1976, contain a clause saying that the balance of the loans, plus interest, could "be due and payable at the end of five years."

Although the loans were callable in five years, the mortgages were written with payments scheduled over 25 or 30 years.

Borrowers were told when they signed for the mortgages that the loans were due in five years, but that the bank had not called in one of those mortgages before.

Richard Schuecker, vice president in charge of loan servicing, said "after much soul searching" the bank decided to call in the mortgages "because it is not prudent to allow an unprofitable loan to exist when you can call it in."

Schuecker called the situation "unusual" and the bank was aware that it would prompt "a serious change in the cash-flow situation of the affected mortgage holder."

Bank officials said the new rate would add about $90 to the monthly payment on the balance remaining on a $25,000, 30-year mortgage.

The loans were written at a time when the state's usury law held the limit of mortgages at 8 1/2 percent and adjustable interest rates were not allowed.

In 1975, the bank began inserting the five-year use on the assumption the Legislature would eventually lift the 8 1/2 percent ceiling. It discontinued the clause in late 1976, when the 8 1/2 percent interest rate was competitive nationally.

Only 900 of Buffalo Savings' 40,000 area mortgages are affected and no FHA or VA mortgages are affected, the bank said.

Amoco hikes gasoline prices to offset costs

CHICAGO (UPI) — Amoco Oil Co., the marketing arm of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana), Friday raised the wholesale price of all grades of its gasoline by one-half to one-cent a gallon.

The price hike is effective immediately in a number of major markets throughout the country.

The hike — which Amoco said reflected increased operating costs — came as most major refiners are suffering severely shrunken profit margins amid slackening consumer demand.

Although the pinch may not be immediately reflected in pump prices, U.S. motorists may be paying as much as 6 cents a gallon more by the end of the year as the industry moves toward correction of depressed margins at the retail as well as wholesale level, according to independent gasoline analyst Dan Lundberg.

Amoco said it increased the wholesale price of its gasoline half a penny in Baltimore, Philadelphia, northern New Jersey, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Salt Lake City; seven tenths of a cent in Chicago and Milwaukee; and a penny in St. Louis and most parts of the Southeast, including Atlanta.

"This is the first increase of any scope that we've had since mid-February," Sam Van Sickle, Amoco vice president, said. "During this period our operating costs have risen substantially while our wholesale prices have declined in some markets by as much as 3 cents per gallon."

Sickle said Amoco's domestic refining, marketing and transportation operations have suffered losses for the last three quarters.

An Amoco spokesman declined to say what the effect of the wholesale price increase would be on Amoco's retail outlets. "Ninety-nine percent of Amoco's outlets are operated by independent dealers and jobbers," he said. "They will determine what to pass on to the consumer, depending on their individual competitive situations."

British inflation rate rises to 11.5%

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's annual inflation rate rose from 10.9 percent to 11.5 percent last month, the Department of Employment announced Friday.

It is the first increase in the rate since March, and with a 2 percent hike in interest charges this week prices seem set to move upwards during the winter, financial analysts said.

Higher prices for gasoline, cigarettes and coal were mainly to blame for the price rise in August, but this was partly offset by falls in some food

Mine lead level tests halted after request received from state

BOISE (UPI) — A Kellogg doctor acknowledged Friday that he had received a letter from a state health official, stating he would honor the physician's request that a medical followup of children involved in a lawsuit against Bunker Hill Co. be discontinued.

Dr. Ronald K. Planke, Silverton, said he received a letter in 1980 from Dr. Fritz Dixon of the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare, stating "I acknowledge your request that we decline to offer this service to the children of two families currently in litigation against the Bunker Hill Co."

However, Planke said he did not recall if he had made the request, when or how.

The testimony came in the fifth day of a U.S. District Court trial in which nine former Kellogg children allege they were permanently harmed by lead pollution emitted into the atmosphere by Bunker Hill.

Attorneys for the children have demanded $30 million from Bunker Hill and its parent company, Gulf Resources and Chemical Co. of Houston, Texas.

Bunker Hill attorney John Layman interjected that Planke probably had been advised by lawyers that it would be "inappropriate" to continue medical followup of the children.

Planke said none of the plaintiffs in the case were among the parents of 40 children who were sent letters by the state of Idaho on June 4, 1980. The letters informed parents that their children had lead levels greater than 80 micrograms per 100 milliliters of blood according to the result of a survey conducted in 1974.

Planke is a physician at Doctor's Clinic in Kellogg which analyzed blood and urine samples taken during several lead level tests of Silver Valley children.

Planke also acknowledged that he was a consultant for the Spokane law firm representing Bunker Hill in the case. He said he had done consulting work for the firm on the case and several others.

However, he said he had never been paid as a consultant for Bunker Hill or Gulf Resources.

Planke's testimony is expected to resume Monday.

Inmate's testimony disputed

Franklin 'confession' denied

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A power outage Friday interrupted final arguments for more than an hour in the first degree murder trial of Joseph Paul Franklin.

The lights went out half way through the arguments of defense attorney David Yocum, plunging the windowless courtroom into darkness. Deputies quickly surrounded Franklin and shielded him from the audience.

Third District Court Judge Jay Banks then recessed the trial until power could be restored one hour and 25 minutes later. The jury of seven men and five women were expected to begin deliberating the case at the conclusion of arguments.

Robert Slott told the jury the evidence was circumstantial, but strong, that Franklin, 31, a former member of the Ku Klux Klan and American Nazi Party, was the sniper who killed the two blacks.

But Franklin's defense attorney, David Yocum, said the defendant "was a victim of being in the wrong place at the wrong time." He said if Franklin hadn't escaped from jail in Kentucky, he never would have been charged with the crime.

Franklin has already been convicted in federal court of violating the civil rights of the two men by killing them. He was sentenced to life in prison, but could face the death penalty if convicted on the state murder charges.

Franklin's brother, Gordon Vaughan, an Alabama prison inmate has been flown to Utah to testify during the penalty phase of the trial in case of a conviction. Franklin's sisters, Marilyn Garzan and Carolyn Luster, testified as defense witnesses earlier in the trial.

The defense Thursday presented two witnesses challenging the testimony of star prosecution witness, Robert Herrera, a jail inmate who claimed Franklin confessed the killings to him in a jailhouse conversation.

Fred A. Ford, a convicted robber, was a trustee at the Salt Lake County Jail when Franklin made the alleged confession. He said told the jury "Franklin was up on a barn beef" and Herrera "isn't to be trusted."

Another former jail inmate, Robert

M. Williams, said Herrera told him he would like to make a deal with the FBI to get out of jail.

Williams said Herrera told him he was going to try to get moved into Franklin's cell in order to get a confession and if that failed, "then he just said he would go by what was in the report." The witness said he was referring to an FBI report on the killings which had circulated among the inmates.

Williams said he did not tell the FBI about Herrera's statement "because I didn't think he was serious until after I saw it on TV."

He also said he told Franklin's former federal trial defense council, Robert Van Scher, about Herrera's plans, but he "never called to testify."

Another jail inmate, Michael Colato, told the same story to the jury earlier in the week.

Franklin has said the FBI and Salt Lake Police are trying to pin the murders on him because of his racist views. He has also been charged with similar racist sniper killings in Indiana and Oklahoma.

Endrin sprayed on Montana fields may be entering water supplies

HELENA, Mont. (UPI) — An insecticide sprayed over Montana's wheat fields may be seeping into wells and underground water supplies with "mind-boggling ramifications," the head of the state health department said.

Dr. John Drynan said the pesticide, endrin, attacks the central nervous system of humans, but the triggering levels for that effect are unknown.

Endrin was sprayed on an estimated 120,000 acres in Montana last spring to control cutworms. The poison began showing up in game birds late this summer and earlier this fall were given a day off today.

Drynan said he would recommend next Friday that the Montana Fish and Game Commission abandon the annual waterfowl hunting seasons if sampling continues to show levels of the poison as high as were detected last week in wild ducks.

The season is scheduled to open Oct. 3.

"All I wanted to do this year was shoot my shotgun," one Montana bird hunter lamented. "Now this endrin thing has to come up. It doesn't look like I'll be able to do any shotgun hunting — at least, not without worrying that I'll poison my family."

The levels detected in ducks were up to four times the federal limit for commercial poultry. There are no federal rules governing endrin in game birds.

Waterfowl hunting in 17 states in the Central and Pacific Flyways may be closed if test results show excessive levels, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service officials said.

And the Canadian Wildlife Service is warning hunters not to eat waterfowl until contamination testing is concluded. Canadian officials prohibited the use of endrin two years ago because of its high toxicity.

Montana Gov. Ted Schwinden said most of the current "grave problem" appears to be the result of applications that were considered legal by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Swadley quits as IPEA chief

BOISE (UPI) — Steve Swadley resigned today as executive director of the Idaho Public Employees Association.

Swadley said he needed a change and the group should adopt a fresh approach toward winning better conditions for state workers.

The surprise resignation, effective Nov. 30, came during Swadley's speech to the IPEA's annual delegate convention. The association's 15-member board was expected to appoint a search committee to find a replacement within two months.

"I would say that I'm burned out," Swadley said in an interview after declaring his resignation.

He said he had become frustrated about the "total business" of public employee representation and that he had scored enough gains for workers in his seven years at the helm of the IPEA to feel comfortable about stepping down.

"I've been at this for almost a decade, and I feel it's time for the association to take a fresh approach."

Swadley said the rough treatment of IPEA members by the state Legislature the past couple of years had something to do with his decision to quit. But he did not lash out at lawmakers, saying he had enjoyed working with them.

He said he was tired of struggling to keep factions of the IPEA together in the group's effort to win better pay, benefits and working conditions from state and local government employers.

Swadley said he fell more on the side of IPEA members who wanted to take a "soft" approach to lobbying the Legislature, as opposed to a more militant, aggressive path advocated by other association elements.

Swadley, 32, who came from Maine in 1974 to take control of the IPEA, said he was considering several other opportunities. He said he wanted to stay in Idaho, but wasn't sure whether he would remain in the same field.

He said the association grew in stature during his tenure, acting aggressively to win concessions from state and local officials. He said state employees' salaries increased 65 percent while he led the IPEA.

Swadley also said the association was able to protect its members from severe losses during the past two legislative sessions, in which several proposals were presented to weaken employees' rights and compensation.

The IPEA and Swadley came under attack from various sectors in the past several months, including charges by union organizers that the association was ineffective, and accusations from lawmakers disgruntled with the IPEA's methods.

Swadley predicted the association was in for hard times during the next decade and that the new director would have a heavy responsibility protecting members from further erosion of conditions.

Arizona governor questions Kleindienst's honesty at trial

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Gov. Bruce Babbitt questioned the honesty of former U.S. Attorney General Richard Kleindienst in closing testimony and jurors in Kleindienst's perjury trial were given a day off today as the judge and attorneys can work out final instructions for the panel.

The prosecution Thursday called

Gov. Bruce Babbitt as the last of 48 witnesses in the 5-week-old trial and Babbitt said he had doubts about Kleindienst's honesty.

The defense had rested on Wednesday after calling 15 witnesses, including Kleindienst.

Superior Court Judge Gerald Strick advised the seven-man, seven-woman panel they would hear closing arguments in the case next Monday.

By lottery, the panel will then be trimmed to two alternates and 12 jurors who will begin deliberations late Monday or Tuesday.

Babbitt, who served as Arizona attorney general from January 1975 to March 1978, said his dealings with Kleindienst during a 1976 civil suit gave him reason to doubt the former cabinet official's honesty.

"I do not believe him, based on those incidents ... to be truthful," Babbitt said, responding to a question posed by Ronald Collett, an assistant attorney general handling the prosecution.

The 1976 suit was brought against Kleindienst and an insurance company he represented in connection with the firm's improper dealings.

Babbitt denied a suggestion by defense attorney Michael Scott that he was summoned by prosecutors at the last minute to show up in court "to cast aspersions" on Kleindienst in hopes of shoring up the state's case.

Kleindienst, who resigned in June 1973 rather than handle the Nixon administration's investigation of the Watergate scandal, is charged with 12 counts of perjury.

Land board sensitive to complaints

Review of Henrys Lake lease decision set

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho Land Board members will take another look at whether they should offer Henrys Lake and the Henrys Park of the Snake River for oil and natural gas exploration.

The board was blasted by environmentalists and sportsmen after it decided in August to auction the mineral rights beneath the famed trout fishing waters in eastern Idaho.

State Lands Department Director Gordon Trembley has ordered his staff not to put the area up for auction immediately, and Gov. John Evans — chairman of the Land Board — says he thinks the board should reconsider its plans in light of the complaints.

"It's rather obviously a very sensitive environmental and fishing area," Evans said.

Another board member, Idaho Public Instruction Superintendent Jerry Evans, said he had no criticism of Trembley for delaying the auction.

"That's what we pay him for, to exercise his judgment," the schools chief said. "It's obviously a very sensitive issue from the mail I've received."

Meantime, the state raised an estimated $1.3 million Wednesday and Thursday in its first auction of oil and natural gas rights on state lands, said Thomas Markland, head of the state Bureau of Minerals.

He said the most active bidders were smaller and independent exploration companies and speculators who package and sell leases to oil companies.

The state auctioned off leases for 200,000 acres of state-owned land, most of it in the Overthrust Belt region of eastern Idaho.

The average price an acre for the offering was $6.50 for the first year of a 10-year lease and $1 per acre for each year after that; Markland said

Lease filing fees hiked

BOISE (UPI) — The Interior Department said filing fees for non-competitive oil and natural gas leases on federal land will be hiked to $25 from $10.

Department officials at Boise said Congress has mandated that beginning next month, all applications for non-competitive oil and gas leases will require a $25 fee. The fee had not been charged since 1949.

Under the department's leasing program, the government must lease to the first offerer those lands that are not known to be located in an area proved to have productive oil and gas.

The fee boost is expected to nearly double revenue from the program to $80 million annually, officials said.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

South's bidding of today's hand, as reported by Fred Karpin, could stand a lot of improvement.

The only excuse for it was that the game was rubber bridge, the hour was late and South wanted to get the rubber over with and score his 10 honors.

There are a few well-known principles of play that if you want to be declarer you should be able to play the dummy well.

There are lots of ways to play the hand. South could probably just play out a lot of trumps and watch the defenders squirm to guard against dummy's almost useless spade suit.

Or South could lead a club to dummy's jack at trick two. If West held the king of clubs, South would make an overtrick. As the cards lie that low club lead might leave South one trick short. East could return a trump and South would be one down.

Now, how did South actually play the hand? At trick two he led his queen of clubs. East took his king and led back a trump but South was in no complete control. He drew trumps, entered dummy with the jack of clubs to wind up with six trumps, two clubs and the two other aces. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Foiled PAT pass drops Twin Falls

Skyline High survives Bruins' comeback bid for 15-13 Gem State win

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — It came down to a two-point conversion pass and the Skyline defense was more than ready for it.

Twin Falls quarterback Mike Rice, after zipping a slant pass to Steve Galley for a touchdown with 1:09 left, saw a wobbly high-flyer slammed to the ground by two Skyline Grizzlies. The result was a 15-13 victory for the fast-starting Grizzlies, the first loss of the year for the Bruins and back in a dogfight now to get into a playoff berth.

For most of the first half — and the first quarter particularly — Skyline completely humiliated the Bruins. Tim Andrus romped up the middle for five to 12-yard gains and Ken Carroll rolled put from his quarterback spot for more yardage and variety.

Skyline moved easily to touchdowns on its first two possessions — and a two-point conversion when Twin Falls made what proved the fatal mistake by jumping off side and left the Grizzlies in a one and one-half yard situation.

Through the middle quarters the Twin Falls defense grimly held on and Skyline made some critical mistakes deep in Bruin territory to stay within halting distance.

After Skyline presented Twin Falls with one touchdown — fumbling on its own three-yard line — the Bruin offense started coming to life in the final period and drove 72 yards for the touchdown to lead to the ill-fated conversion play.

"How can you not be ready?" Bruin Coach Bill Jones answered the obvious question about the first quarter. "Who can tell if they're ready or not. We thought they were."

"In the first quarter they just ran it down our throats," Jones said. "They ran that trap play well, down 100 yards in the first half. We were taking ourselves out. Just flying past the play."

"That first half was one we'd like to forget or rather not play again," Jones said. "We just didn't have any offense until the fourth quarter, and not much defense until the second half."

"You can't beat Highland and live on those laurels," Jones said. "Especially if you're playing someone like Skyline the next week. They'll show you they know how to play football."

Skyline Coach Mahlon Rasmuson said "we've had the trap play all year. It wasn't anything new for Twin Falls."

The coach said he was happy to escape with the win, noting "we definitely didn't plan on throwing the ball at the last" when Skyline was trying to wear out the clock after the Bruins touchdown. "I told the quarterback I didn't want the ball in the air and he said he wouldn't. Then he threw on second down."

The game wasn't an artistic gem as both sides consistently came up with mistakes. Never fielded punts well at all and that played a big part in the outcome.

Also, on Skyline's first touchdown drive, it appeared—Twin-Falls—had intercepted at the two. But the Skyline receiver hung with the Bruin defender and the officials made a controversial call of simultaneous catching and awarded possession to Skyline.

"I'm not going to comment on that," Rasmuson said when asked how he saw the play.

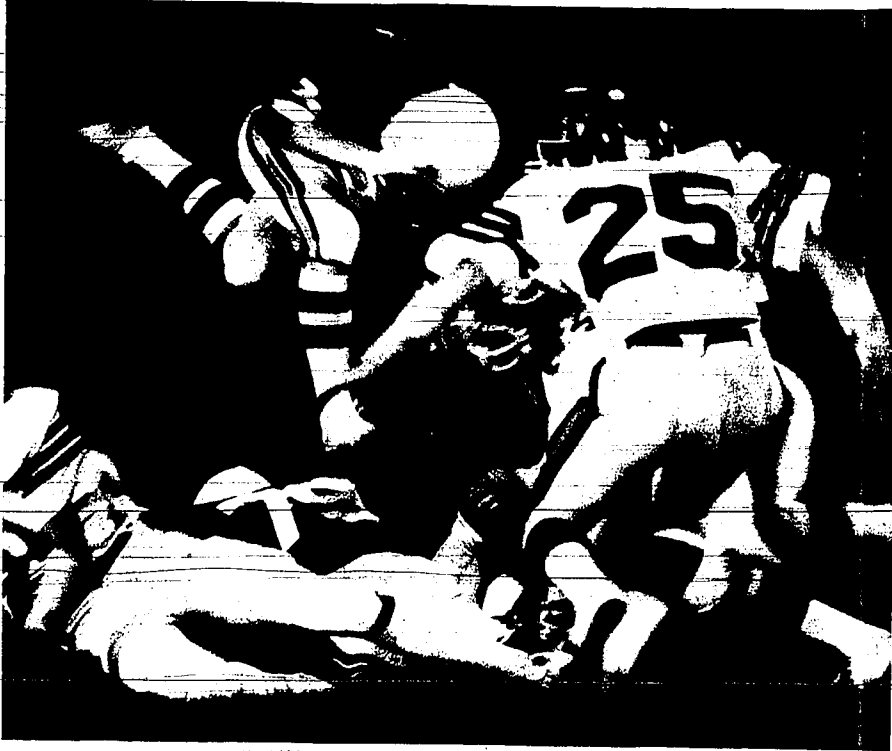

The basic facts started on Skyline's first possession when Andrus and Carroll moved the ball downfield until the controversial catch of the 24-yard pass. Scott Birkenbine belted over two plays later. Twin Falls then jumped offside and the Grizzlies threw the kicking tee to the sideline and sent Carroll across on a two-point rollout.

Twin Falls replied with a three first-down drive that finally wilted — and the Bruins didn't get another first down until the fourth quarter.

On its next possession, Skyline again scored in 11 plays with Andrus going over from the one with 17 seconds left in the first quarter. Mike Arrington booted the point-after.

In the second quarter Skyline fumbled at the Bruin 38 and fumbled again at midfield minutes later. That possession led to a Bruin punt plus a penalty that put Skyline at its own four. Jose Salinas recovered the fumble on the next play and Doug Tate belted Twin Falls' first points across. Brent Standing booted the point after.

The third quarter saw Twin Falls' defense started to build a little more

Bruiin running back Scott Scherer charges headlong into the Skyline defense for a short gain in third quarter action parity with the Skyline offensive line. On the first play of the final period, Paul Dewitt recovered a fumble at the Twin Falls 28. From there Twin Falls came up with a couple of first downs but at the Skyline 28 lost possession when John Tiffany intercepted a deflected pass.

Luck then helped the Bruins as pointing out of a hole, they regained possession on a muffed punt at their own 38. From there Larry Hurt came up with a couple of good runs and Rice hit on a couple of passes to move to the Skyline 15. From there Steve He strengthened up to hit Steve Galley on a glance-in and Galley threaded between two defenders to score standing up.

"We had a 57 yard pass called but we didn't know Skyline was coming with a three-man rush and an eight-man secondary," Jones said of the play selection.

The defense forced another punt with a minute left but Twin Falls muffed it and Skyline let the clock run out deep in Bruin territory.

UCLA better note Badger fight song; Indiana tests USC

By United Press International

The people in Badgerland take their marching song "On Wisconsin" seriously.

Michigan discovered this fact last weekend when Wisconsin upset the preseason favorite, UCLA better lend an ear today.

Ranked 20th, Wisconsin is a nine-point underdog to the 10th ranked Deacons, whom Badger Coach Dave McClain regards "as in the same class as Michigan. They're big, strong and fast. They've dominated us the past two years. We're shooting for two in a row and it's not going to be easy."

Actually, UCLA has beaten Wisconsin in their last five meetings, but McClain is pointing for a second straight miracle win.

UCLA Coach Terry Donahue, although pleased over the Bruins' 35-18 win against Arizona last week, isn't taking Wisconsin lightly.

"Their defense is one of the top two in the Big Ten Conference," Donahue cautions. "They're very stout up front. Michigan was unable to run inside on them last week. We'll try, or we'll go over and around. And if that doesn't work, we'll punt and play defense."

Top-ranked Notre Dame supplanted Michigan as the nation's premier college team and now seeks to dig a bigger hole for the Wolverines in their Saturday clash. The Fighting Irish mauled the LSU Tigers 27-9 in their season opener, spreading their scoring among five players.

Notre Dame Coach Gerry Faust has dragged out the famous crying face used by the late and legendary Irish mentor Frank Leahy before his teams crushed the opposition. Faust is worried that "Michigan's defeat makes them that more overconfident." That loss will be all the additional motivation Michigan needs to get ready to play Notre Dame."

Second-ranked Southern California, which tackles Notre Dame on Oct. 24, takes on another midwestern opponent today, Indiana, and Trojan Coach John Robinson doesn't see a repeat of USC's 44-7 romp over Tennessee.

"We look for a physical game against Indiana, not a high-scoring one," said Robinson, who complains the Trojans didn't play with emotion against Tennessee, but "with exuberance."

"If we play at the level we played last Saturday night, we'll be 6-5 or 7-4," Robinson explained. "Everything lies ahead of us as far as improvement. No team is playing 11-0 football right now."

Among the rest of the top 10, No. 3 Oklahoma is idle. No. 4 Georgia meets Clemson, fifth ranked Penn State is idle. No. 6 Texas tackles North Texas State. No. 7 Pittsburgh engages Cincinnati, eighth-rated Ohio State clashes with Michigan State and No. 9 North Carolina faces Miami of Ohio.

Eleventh-ranked Alabama Coach Bear Bryant tries for his 30th college victory again, this time hoping Kentucky will be the victim. The Crimson Tide was surprised by Georgia Tech last Saturday.

Ironically, Bryant won 60 of career wins while coaching Kentucky from 1946 through 1953.

"A lot of people hated my guts when we left," said Papa Bear. "Some of them are still around and want to beat me more than anything."

Penalty helps Braves

Boise ends Minico win string

BOISE — Minico High's winning streak came to an end Friday night.

Boise High's John Kennedy scored on a 15-yard run with 6:54 left in the game to give the Braves a 14-10 win over the Spartans.

Coach Red Halverson's Spartans fell to 3-1 with the loss while Boise moved its ledger to 3-1.

A roughing-the-punter penalty on the Spartans with just over seven minutes left gave the Braves a vital first down and the eventual winning touchdown.

The Spartans opened the scoring in the first quarter when Dennis Seward capped a long drive with a 22-yard field goal.

The Spartans were forced to go for the three-pointer when they were called for being in motion on a successful fourth-and-inches play that docked them five yards.

Boise drove back late in the half and scored with 21 seconds left as Dan Arnold romped in from seven yards away. John Mullins kicked the point after to put the host Braves up 7-3 at the half.

Minico scored on its second possession of the second half as Kirby Bright took a three-yard scoring pass from Darrell Tracy. Tracy was accurate with his passes on both Minico scoring drives as the Spartans opted to throw the ball often against the Braves.

"The kids took the loss kinda hard, but they're not going to lay down for Twin Falls. That's a big one," Halverson said after the setback.

The Spartans host Twin Falls Friday night in a Gem State Conference game.

Defense helps Burley tip Mt. Home

MOUNTAIN HOME — Receiving an inspired effort from its defense, Burley High Friday outlasted Mountain Home High school night, 15-8, in a non-conference battle.

With the score tied 8-8 late in the fourth quarter, Mountain Home needed just six inches on fourth down from its own 45-yard line to sustain a drive. But the Bobcats stopped star running back David Toy short of the necessary yardage.

From there, Bobcat quarterback Kelly Keiber hit both Don Williams and Barney Greener with 17-yard passes, setting up Dennis Konrad's one-yard run with 1:35 left in the contest.

The ensuing kickoff hit a Mountain Home lineman and bounced into a Bobcat's paws. Pleased at this act of charity, Burley ran out the clock to preserve its triumph and tip its record to 2-1-1.

"Our defense played extremely well all night," Burley Coach John Billezt said. "We came up with the big play whenever we needed it."

Billezt pointed out that the Bobcats held Toy, who had been averaging more than 100 yards per game, to 30.

Defenders Tim Knight, Dave Asher, Jesse Compos and Grenner played particularly strong defense, though Billezt added, "None of the kids really played that poorly."

Despite trailing 8-0 at halftime, the Bobcats remained confident of victory. They had taken the ball to Mountain Home's 20-yard line shortly before intermission, only to be stopped on fourth-and-one foot. But this drive apparently inspired the visitors.

"We knew we could put something on the board," Billezt said.

Alvaro leads Caldwell over Buhl

CALDWELL — Brad Alvaro's arm and legs shined Buhl behind in the first half and the Caldwell defense came up with a shutout and 41-0 Cross State Conference victory Friday night.

The larger Cougars bottled up Buhl's offense most of the night and finally wore the smaller Indians down.

Alvaro came up with two touchdowns passes of 67 and 20 yards to Bob Broadbent and then stunned the Indians for good with an 86-yard punt return in the first half.

The 67-yard bomb came just after a 52-yarder by the same combination was called back on a holding penalty.

In the second half John Thomas scored on runs of 10 and one yard.

Tom Meehl booted four conversions before missing one.

Mushers find running game, net 328 yards as Carey falls

FAIRFIELD—The Camas County Mushers got their rushing game going Friday and rolled past the Carey Panthers 38-14.

The win was the Mushers' first in four games while Carey fell to 2-2. The game did not count in the Sawtooth Conference standings since the two met on Oct. 30 for a loop contest.

Dan Turner, Dave Simon and Dave Lemons accounted for all of the Mushers' 328 rushing yards, Turner leading the way with 144 yards in 18 carries. Simons had 102 yards in nine rushes.

Carey drew first blood, however, as Ottmar Hofstetter picked off a Musher pass and returned it 25 yards to the Camas County line. Three plays later Brad Tingey belted in from the five and then threw to Andy O'Crowley for the two-point conversion.

The Mushers took the lead for good in the second period when Lemons capped a 72-yard drive by getting the last yard and Turner fashioned the go-ahead points with a 30-yard burst to wind up a 77-yard march. Both conversion runs failed.

Carey presented Camas County with a golden scoring chance in the third period when the Panther punter drilled the ball into the back of his own blocking crowd. That gave Camas County the ball at the 32 and Turner capitalized on it with a 10-yard burst.

The Mushers moved completely out of their shells with three fourth-quarter scores. Simon got the first on a 20-yard romp and the defense took over for the final two. Lon Funkhouser scored on a 60-yard pass interception run and Simon went 33 yards after another pickoff. Lemons kicked two of the extra points.

Carey wound up scoring on a 33-yard pass from Jim Shaffer to O'Crowley.

Camas County visits Shoshone Friday for a homecoming game. The affair, at 8 p.m., is a non-conference event. Carey visits Richfield Friday afternoon.

North Gem 36, Shoshone 6

BANCROFT—Clint Straatman twice ran two yards for a touchdown and his Brian Greenwood on a 43-yard scoring drive to pace North Gem to a 36-6 win over Shoshone Friday afternoon.

The loss was Shoshone's third in as many games this season. Straatman scored the first TD of the game in the first quarter after the North Gem defense intercepted a Shoshone pass. His two-yard plunge capped a short drive.

Later in the quarter Greenwood hauled in the 43-yard touchdown pass and Mike Ackerman took the conversion pass from the 6-foot-1 Straatman to make North Gem's lead 14-0.

Shoshone got back in the game with Doug Astle scored from three yards out. The Indians' pass for two points failed, leaving Larry Bond's squad behind 14-6.

Later in the second quarter Shoshone completed an eight-yard pass to Brad Durham, but he was stopped at the North Gem one and the Indians didn't have enough time to possible get a score.

North Gem, 2-1 after the win, did all of the scoring in the second half. Mike Hatch scored on a nine-yard run. Bill Perkins booted a 30-yard field goal and Dennis Reed covered six yards for a TD.

Although his Indians slipped to 0-3, Bond found a "bright spot" in Shoshone's kick blocking effort. Rusty Watkins and Tom Kime each blocked a conversion kick attempt by Perkins.

Shoshone suffered 115 yards in penalties, 95 of the yards coming in the second half.

Astle, the Shoshone quarterback, completed 11 passes in 17 attempts for 73 yards, but had three aerials intercepted. Straatman was six-of-12 for 63 yards for North Gem.

Shoshone hosts Camas County Friday at 6 p.m. in its only home game of the season. It will be homecoming for the Indians. Camas County won its first game of the season by defeating Carey 38-14 Friday at Fairfield.

North Gem is idle next week and plays at Richfield Oct. 2 at 2 p.m.

Cambridge 6, Richfield 0

CAMBRIDGE—Cambridge cemented its claim to the No. 1 spot among Idaho's eight-man football teams by nipping the Richfield Tigers 6-0 Friday afternoon.

Cambridge broke the tight defensive duel with a 77-yard drive that used up some of the latter third quarter and half of the fourth period.

Jeff Crockett got the touchdown on a six-yard run but Richfield refused to stop the two-point conversion play. A key 15-yard penalty on Richfield helped Cambridge on its winning scoring drive.

Cambridge is ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press football poll. Both teams were troubled by mistakes, usually in the form of turnovers.

Cambridge's other solid scoring chance came in the second period when it drove inside the Richfield five. But the Cambridge fullback fumbled into the end zone where Richfield recovered to end the thrust.

Richfield's two best offensive moves ended in turnovers, one on a pass interception and another on a fumble.

The Tigers moved to the Cambridge 20 in the third quarter, but three consecutive penalties moved the "Tigers" back to the 45 and out of scoring position.

"We were called for a clip, then we were offside and finally the center picked up the ball," Richfield Coach Joe Hendrickson lamented. "That really took us out of it."

The Tigers played the game without a knee injury on the first play. Halfback Scott Exon missed the second half because of flu problems. Exon is a key element in Richfield's attack. Both teams struggled in the 92 degree heat as well.

Richfield charts had the Tigers with 109 yards rushing and Cambridge at 160.

UPI John Jefferson will switch uniforms Sunday

Jefferson's taking off to Packers unlikely to ground San Diego — thanks to Joiner

By IRA KALDEMAN UPI Sports Writer

San Diego's Charley Joiner misses the presence of fellow 1,000-yard wide receiver John Jefferson... he just has a funny way of showing it.

Jefferson, the only receiver in NFL history to gain at least 1,000 yards in each of his first three years, hasn't played a down for the Chargers this year due to a contract squabble...

Joiner leads the Chargers into Arrowhead Stadium Sunday against the Kansas City Chiefs in a battle between AFC West unbeaten and San Diego All-Pro quarterback Dan Fouts claims he and his veteran receiver are almost always on the same wavelength.

"His physical abilities haven't deteriorated at all," said Fouts. "I can look at Charlie running down the field and know exactly where he's going and when he's going to get there. I know him better than any receiver I've ever played with."

Joiner has caught 13 passes, ripping the Cleveland Browns for 181 yards in the season opener and then abusing the Detroit secondary for 166 yards last week. He is averaging 27.5 yards per reception for the best start of his 13-year career.

"Dan has confidence in Charlie and goes to him," said San Diego Coach Don Coryell. "If Charlie's open, he's going to get the ball. In the past, Jefferson was such a tremendous receiver that Dan would think J.J. first. But Charlie's the guy now."

The Chargers also boast an outstanding rusher in Chuck Muncie and their suddenly-diversified attack has opponents trembling.

"Jefferson isn't there but it hasn't seemed to slow down their offense any," said Kansas City Coach Marv Levy. "They're the hardest team we have to prepare for. I wish there was a secret I knew that could stop them. If I had it... well, somebody else would have had it a long time ago. You just fight a battle against them and on some Sundays you do better than others."

Fouts has completed an eye-popping 74 percent of his 50 passes for a league-leading 616 yards and four touchdowns. He is averaging 13 yards per pass attempt, by far the best mark in the league. Muncie has rushed for 197 yards and three touchdowns and gives the Chargers their first legitimate 1,000-yard threat since Don Woods accomplished the feat in 1974.

The Chiefs, off to their best start since their 1969 Super Bowl championship season, lead the league in rushing defense and Nick Lowery tops all AFC kickers in scoring, clicking on 7-of-8 field goal attempts.

Elsewhere Sunday, the New York Jets are at Pittsburgh, Baltimore at Denver, Seattle at Oakland, Green Bay at Los Angeles, Miami at Houston, Cleveland at Cincinnati, Detroit at Minnesota, New Orleans at the New York Giants, San Francisco at Atlanta, Tampa Bay at Chicago and Washington at St. Louis. Dallas is at New England Monday night. The Jets and the Steelers are both winless and Pittsburgh has won all five games since the series began in 1970. New York blew a 14-0 lead last week at home against Cincinnati en route to a bitter 31-30 defeat, but Richard Todd played well, hitting 18-of-29 passes for 251 yards and three TDs. The Steelers, off to their worst start since 1970, have given up 67 points in just two games and the defense is still ravaged by injuries to linebackers Jack Ham and Robin Cole and cornerback Ron Johnson.

The Colts and the Broncos, both 1-1, come off losses of a different color. Baltimore, so impressive in a season-opening upset at New England, was trounced 35-3 by Buffalo last week and gained just 147 yards in total offense. Denver, which upset Oakland in the opener, fell to Seattle 13-10 in a tight defensive struggle. The Broncos' 38-year-old Craig Morton needs 123 yards to reach the 25,000-yard plateau in career passing yardage.

In Buffalo's soldout Rich Stadium Thursday night, Ron Jaworski threw TD passes to Keith Krepiec and Harold Carmichael and the Philadelphia Eagles raised their record to 3-0 by shutting down the Bills' offense in the second half en route to a 20-14 triumph. Wilbert Montgomery denied Buffalo's rugged rushing defense for 128 yards as the Bills fell to 2-1. Buffalo's Joe Cribbs ran four yards for one first-half score and Joe Ferguson threw a 20-yard TD pass to Frank Lewis as the Bills took a 14-0 halftime lead.

Raiders face Seattle's potent passer

On paper, Zorn ranks with Namath, Unitas

OAKLAND (UPI) — Mention Joe Namath and Johnny Unitas and you'll get no argument about the former det and ex-Colt ranking among the great quarterbacks in National Football League history.

Throw in Jim Zorn, and you might draw a few raised eyebrows. Yet Zorn, the left-handed thrower of the Seattle Seahawks, is only 23 yards short of 15,000 passing yards in six seasons. Only Namath, 116,749—and Unitas (15,043) have topped 15,000 yards in their first six seasons.

It took Namath 75 games to pass the 15,000-yard plateau and Unitas only

72. Sunday, when Zorn and the Seahawks move into the Oakland Coliseum to play the defending Super Bowl champion Raiders, will be Zorn's 75th pro game.

Zorn has given the Oakland defense fits in previous matchups and this week his task might be made a little easier because of injury to Mike Davis, Oakland's talented strong safety. Davis suffered a fractured leg Monday night while the Raiders were beating the Minnesota Vikings, 36-10.

It's believed Davis will be on the shelf at least a month. But the Raiders have decided to keep him on the 45-man roster in hopes he might come back sooner. Another injured Raider still being carried despite injury is wide receiver Bob Chandler. So, for Sunday at least, the Raiders will be playing with 43 men. Obviously, if they suffer any more injuries, roster shuffling will be in order next week.

Like Oakland, Seattle won for the first time this season last week—the Seahawks—beating the Denver Broncos, who stopped the Raiders the week before, 13-10. The victory snapped a 10-game Seattle losing streak. Zorn passed three yards to Dennis Boyd, an offensive tackle who sometimes doubles up as a tight end, for Seattle's only touchdown against Denver and set up Efren Herrera's winning field goal with a key 21-yard pass to fullback David Hughes.

In two games this season, Zorn has completed 60 percent of his passes (45 of 75) for 429 yards and two TDs. By contrast, Jim Plunkett of Oakland has 25 completions in 48 attempts for 234 yards (42 percent) and three TDs.

The Oakland offense generated only 310 yards against Minnesota but the Raider defense scored a pair of touchdowns to make it a rout.

Falcons favored by 9

ATLANTA (UPI) — The Atlanta Falcons, fresh from one of the NFL's greatest comebacks, are favored to go 3-0 for the first time in their history Sunday when they host the rebuilding San Francisco 49ers.

The Falcons, only 1-2 after their first three games last season when they finished with their best-ever record—12-4, got off to a 2-0 start only once before. That was in 1979 when they won at New Orleans and Philadelphia, then lost their home opener to Denver.

But Leeman Bennett isn't convinced it will be easy. "San Francisco will be a test because it is a young team that gained confidence with the win over Chicago," he said.
