

Reagan veto delays budget battle

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, wielding the veto for the first time, Monday blocked what he called a "budget-buster" emergency money bill.

He also won congressional approval of a stopgap measure delaying the spending battle for nearly a month.

Reagan signed the revised $400-billion stopgap spending program into law less than 12 hours after using his first presidential veto to derail a $427.9 billion congressional compromise worked out over the weekend.

The president also made the dramatic gesture of beginning to shut down the government on grounds there was no money for anything but essential services — a move that threw the bureaucracy into confusion.

The impasse arose because Congress has yet to approve any of the major appropriations to keep the government running through this fiscal year.

Reagan won a key victory in the long-running battle of the budget by persuading both the House and Senate to continue government funding at existing levels through Dec. 15, instead of Feb. 3 as House Democrats had sought as an alternative to the vetoed measure, which would have run through July 15.

The House passed the measure 357-26 after approving 221-176 the extension until Dec. 15. Then the Senate voted approval, 88-1.

Some 300 members of Congress said approval of the three-week stopgap was a sign of Congress' desire to go home for the Thanksgiving holiday as it was a major win for Reagan.

Reagan's veto against the "continuing resolution," Reagan raised the stakes in the spending battle by announcing his veto in a television appearance Monday morning. The president declared "this would be a stopgap (resolutions) and not a budget buster."

Reagan signed the law just after 4:30 p.m. MST and promptly began his Thanksgiving holiday. He had delayed his scheduled Sunday departure for his California ranch to challenge Congress in what he described as a battle over "fiscal sanity."

Speaking to reporters as he left the White House, Reagan made clear what is already known — that the budget conflict was only taking a holiday break.

"We must go back and do the work all over again," he said, adding he was glad the holiday would not be disrupted for everyone.

Now, he said, "We are going to try to negotiate a (final) bill I can sign."

Tens of thousands of federal workers across the country were sent home Monday after Reagan announced the shutdown of "non-essential" functions. The shutdown even hit the Washington Monument and Statue of Liberty.

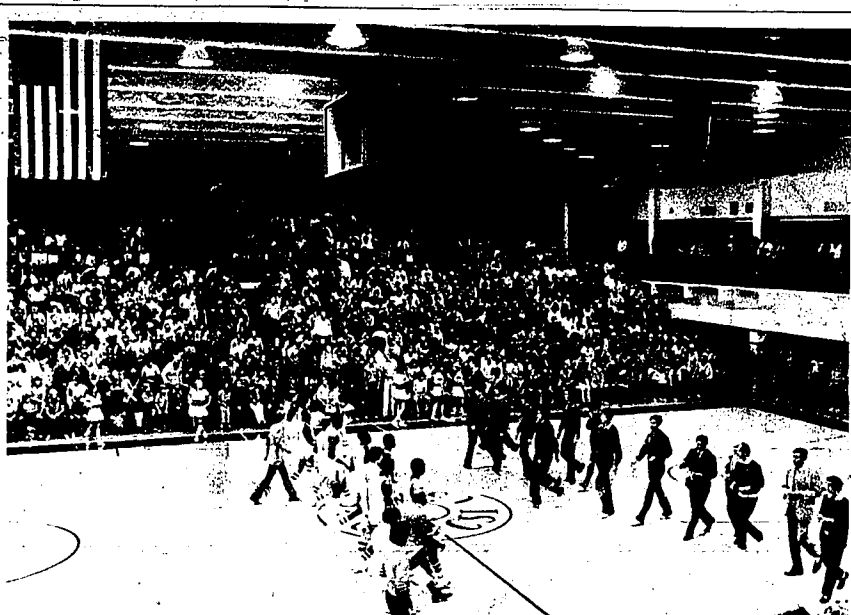

But with final approval of the emergency funding bill, it turned the "furloughs" were short-lived. A spokesman for the Office of Management and Budget said all federal workers were to report for work this morning.

It was first announced that the workers had been "furloughed without pay." But at day's end, a top official said he wasn't sure whether paychecks would be docketed for hours missed.

"That's something that's not so clear," said Donald J. Devine, director of the Office of Personnel Management, adding, "We want to assure to extent we possibly can that people don't lose any earnings."

The scaled-down continuing resolution headed for Reagan's desk in late afternoon, with defuncting House Democrats giving the president one thing he held out for — curtailed spending authority only until Dec. 15.

Students of basketball from China

TWIN FALLS — "They are," in essence, exchange students studying basketball.

The classrooms are huge college arenas seating 15,000 people, sometimes more. The gymnasium they visited Monday night, the College of Southern Idaho's, is a one-room schoolhouse by comparison. Their teachers are U.S. colleagues — honors students, if you will, in the subject of basketball.

Class time is spent playing basketball games and losing them by lopsided scores. These students obviously have a lot to learn.

Yet, defeat does not daunt the select team members from the People's Republic of China. Their 10-game schedule, which has pitted them against the formidable likes of Kansas, UCLA and the University of New Mexico, has been instructive.

The Chinese apparently are interested in incorporating basketball into their athletic culture, and the trip enables them to experience playing the sport against some of the world's best amateurs.

"This is a basketball visit," said Liu Juechou, the team's deputy leader who functions as a public-relations officer. "We're most impressed with the level of basketball in the United States. It would take us a number of years to get closer to you (in playing ability), not to catch up with you.

"We just want to get closer to you. Our next step will be to catch up with you."

The current Chinese tour isn't the first catch-up effort. Teams of U.S. colleagues previously have traveled to China to play exhibitions, most recently during the summer of 1979. And three other Chinese teams have visited the United States, according to Liu.

"In basketball, we are old friends," he said. "Building this athletic friendship has shown the Chinese how they might improve their overall quality of basketball."

"We need to build up our players," Liu said. "Americans are tougher, stronger and have more endurance. Also, we need to bring in more of your good technique. We have invited good coaches to come to China for seminars in the past, and we need more in the future."

Wang Yue, a 19-year-old guard, accounted for some of the difference in talent by citing the discrepancy in ages at which American and Chinese youngsters begin playing the sport.

"In the United States, children play basketball," he said. "In China, the youngest that play are 10 years old — later than the United States."

Already, the Chinese have assimilated a primary aspect of American athletic ideology: the emphasis on winning.

"It's good," he said enthusiastically. "That is the way to bring up the level of the sport.

"But you must keep sportsmanship and follow the rules," Liu added, sounding like an NCAA commissioner.

Liu saw only indirect political implications stemming from this tour.

"Our two countries are now having very friendly relations," he said. "We need to promote further the friendship and understanding between the two peoples. Our visit would be a contribution to this."

The Chinese have helped improve their understanding of the United States through good old-fashioned sightseeing.

The contingent began its trek in San Francisco, which afforded plenty of attractions. And a game against Northwestern allowed the Chinese to tour Chicago, where, Liu said, they were duly impressed by the city's skyscrapers.

But Wang named Los Angeles as the most attractive stop the Chinese have had so far. Anne Scurry, the team's travel representative, explained that they were greeted there by warm weather and a relatively smog-free sky.

Thus situated to the United States, Liu recognized a common American characteristic Monday morning at CSI's gym while the team held a light practice.

CSI coach Dave Campbell had handed Liu a copy of Monday night's game program for his appraisal. Leafing through the program, Liu suddenly stopped, pointed to an advertisement and exclaimed, "Coca-Cola! Everywhere it's Coca-Cola!"

Wasted day for federal office forces

By RON ZELLAR
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Chaos prevailed Monday in federal offices, as supervisors waited for instructions that would interpret a presidential order to shut down non-essential services.

Essentially, it was a wasted day. Christmas tree-cutting permits were still available from U.S. Forest Service offices in the Ketchum area.

But a public information specialist for the Bureau of Land Management in Boise, contacted shortly before noon, said he could not answer questions about a press release issued last week because dispensing news was "not an essential service."

A second call two hours later to the state BLM headquarters was answered by Ted Bingham, the acting state director, who revealed that he was one of only three persons left in the office.

The others, some 480 bureau employees statewide, had been furloughed at 1 p.m. on orders from an assistant secretary of the U.S. Department of the Interior in Washington, D.C., Bingham said.

At another Interior Department office, Don Tracey, the Minidoka Project superintendent for the Bureau of Reclamation, said he thought his agency was not affected by the order.

However by 2 p.m., Tracey, too, was answering phones in his Burley office, explaining the furlough of 15 project employees. Forty-three others remained on the job, he said, because their roles in dam and river operations were considered essential.

And Idaho Sen. Steve Symms dispatched an aide to The Times-News office with a press release that praised President Ronald Reagan for standing firm against a second federal spending extension.

Symms assured recipients of federal retirement checks that payments would be made on time. As for other programs, he asked, "If the services being closed are 'non-essential,' then why is the American taxpayer funding them in the first place?"

Orriette Sinclair, the senator's Twin Falls representative who hand-carried the press release, said "certainly," her job was essential. Besides, she explained, she was not a federal employee.

Phil Reberger, Symms' state office manager, said congressional staffers are federal employees, but they are paid from a legislative appropriation passed previously by Congress and signed by the president.

The appropriation for the 97th Congress, spanning the next two years, was passed in the final days of September, along with the extension of spending authority for other federal employees, according to Tod Neuschwander, press secretary to Sen. James McClure.

Board considers emphasis on concept of regional service

Magic Valley Memorial Hospital may receive new name

By STEPHANIE SCHOROW
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The name of Magic Valley Memorial Hospital may be changed next year.

In a resolution passed Monday night by the hospital's board of directors, the board declared that MVMH is a regional medical center that aims to serve south-central Idaho and northern Nevada, as well as Twin Falls County. In effect, the resolution confirms what has been unofficial policy for the last few years.

To emphasize the hospital's regional character, the board also resolved to consider changing the facility's name.

Administrator William Burns was asked by the board to select a committee, comprised of physicians, board members and county commissioners, to pick a new name.

Noting that "in the health-care field in general, names and titles carry clout," Burns said the name change would reflect the hospital's long-range goal to provide service north to the Stanley Basin, south to Jackpot, east to Burley and west to Glenns Ferry.

A name change also would be advantageous for billing procedures, according to Burns.

"Everything in this valley is named 'Magic Valley,'" he said.

"There is a Magic Valley Radiology Association, a Magic Valley Medical Supply, a Magic Valley Ambulance Service and Magic Valley Drug, none of which, be observed, are connected with the hospital. Yet, the hospital often is confused with them."

"When the bill comes in with 'Magic Valley' on it, no one reads any further," Burns said.

He acknowledged that a name change would take some "getting used to" in the community.

"There's going to be a lot of confusion. People who have lived in the community all their lives calling this Magic Valley Memorial Hospital will probably be calling it Magic Valley Regional Hospital."

But board members felt a name change would reflect the hospital's aim to expand its services and create a better and different image in the community.

St. Alphonsus Hospital in Boise recently changed its name to the St. Alphonsus Regional Medical Center, Burns said.

The name probably will not be changed officially until June, Burns said, when the new wing of the hospital will be completed. He said he hoped this will give the hospital enough time to publicize the change and allow the community to adjust to the change.

Although MVMH's long-range plans have depicted the hospital as a regional medical center, the board had made no formal statement to that effect, according to Burns.

The resolution passed Monday night declared the hospital as "regional medical center and directs the administrator and members of the medical staff . . . to coordinate activities and efforts for step-by-step implementation of the regional center" concept.

The resolution also stated that the "board recognizes the possible need for changing the name of the hospital in order to more appropriately identify the 'mission and goal' of the hospital."

Burns said the idea for the resolution developed during a board "retreat" held Nov. 13 to 15, in which board members, doctors, county commissioners and administrators discussed ways to improve the hospital's services and image.

James Brady gives thumbs-up sign as he leaves hospital

Brady goes home for Thanksgiving

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House press secretary James Brady, carried into George Washington University Hospital 238 days ago near death from a bullet in his brain, left for home Monday on his own two feet.

As a shivering high school band played "Irish Eyes Are Smiling," Brady, nicknamed "The Bear," walked, with help, to a specially equipped van that carried him in a wheelchair to his home in nearby Arlington, Va.

The White House issued a statement in his name, thanking all who helped and prayed for him in his long fight for life and recovery and saying he was returning home "with a true spirit of optimism for the future."

"I am here to say the Bear is back," it concluded.

After almost eight months of difficult hospitalization and four operations since he was shot during the assassination attempt on President Reagan March 30, the 41-year-old presidential spokesman was discharged in time to celebrate Thanksgiving at home.

He will have to return to the hospital daily for therapy to improve the use of his left arm and leg, but doctors believe Brady, now confined to a wheelchair, eventually will be able to walk with a cane.

They also believe he will be able to handle the same kind of press relations work he did for the president, several senators and a Cabinet member before he was shot.

No top White House figures were present when Brady, his wife, Sarah, and a nurse came out of the hospital to be greeted by a phalanx of reporters and cameramen and the Washington and Lee High School band, which set up an ear-splitting din in the windy covered automobile entrance.

The sun shone brightly, but it was about 48 degrees in the outside air.

Brady, wearing a Kelly green sweater, green and blue plaid trousers and brown boots, had his left arm in a sling and held an aluminum arm crutch as he moved slowly out of the hospital to the wheelchair waiting on the van's lift ramp.

He stopped to wave and, turning to the assembled news people, gave several vigorous thumbs-up gestures. He spoke to a few people, his words lost in the noise, and kissed a woman wearing a hospital coat.

The stout and balding Brady was a popular figure in the Reagan campaign and the three-month period when he presided over the White House press room.

Brady's departure from the hospital was not his first public appearance. He has gone home for visits several times and was at the White House on the Fourth of July.

More recently, he cut the ribbon for the dedication of the renovated White House press room. Although showing the physical effects of his wound, Brady demonstrated he had not lost his sense of humor or timing, telling the reporters: "I missed you," and after a short pause, "I missed some of you."

As he left the press room Nov. 9, Brady said, "I'll come back."

FBI says Brink's guard alone in heist

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A bearded part-time Brink's guard hunted for 15 months acted entirely alone in pulling off a near-record $1.85 million heist by driving away in a company armored car, the FBI said Monday.

FBI Special Agent William D. Newmann said George Manuel Bosque, 26, seemed "relieved" when agents seized him Sunday as he stepped from a telephone booth outside a Safeway store.

"As far as we know he did it totally alone," Newmann said of the robbery.

The arrest — about 15 miles from the robbery scene — ended a search for Bosque that reached Central and South America and Europe following the August 1980 robbery at San Francisco International Airport.

The robber — described as "an all-American over-achiever" in his high school yearbook — fled with the cash in the armored vehicle during a delivery run, later commandeered an automobile at Knipfpoint from a maid at a nearby motel and disappeared with the loot in two money bags.

It was the second largest of Brink's heists, exceeded only by a $2 million robbery at a Chase Manhattan bank in New York in 1979. When picked up, Bosque had only $100 with him.

GEORGE M. BOSQUE ... stole $1.85 million

The FBI declined to say if the loot was found or was recoverable. But defense attorney Ray Archuleta told reporters "hundreds of thousands of dollars was unaccounted for."

Bosque, held on $2 million bail, appeared in federal court Monday but arraignment proceedings were postponed until Dec. 3. The tall, stocky suspect, wearing a black beard and mustache, acted manfully and cooperatively in court, replying, "yes, your honor," to questions from U.S. Magistrate Frederick Weoflen.

Archuleta told reporters Bosque was "being cooperative with the FBI." He said Bosque was "tired of running" and "lonely." He said the suspect especially missed the company of a "particular person" during his months as a fugitive. The person was not identified.

At one point Archuleta said Bosque gave him "no indication of why he did it" but elsewhere in a meeting with reporters the lawyer said his remarks should not be construed as an admission of Bosque's guilt.

Allen admits correcting Suspects plead innocent finance statement error

WASHINGTON (UPI) — White House national security adviser Richard Allen said Monday that 10 days ago he discovered, then corrected an error on his financial disclosure statement filed when he joined the administration in January.

A White House aide called the error — involving when Allen sold his consulting business — "just one of those unfortunate screwups."

Allen made the disclosure as Justice Department officials raised questions about an unexplained phone call to him from FBI Director William Webster during the bureau's investigation of Allen's acceptance of a $1,000 honorarium from a Japanese magazine.

In a brief telephone interview with United Press International, Allen was asked about the substance of the call and said, "I wouldn't have any comment on it, sir."

Michael Shaheen, chief of the Justice Department's watchdog unit, declined to comment on whether he felt his office should look into Webster's unusual call. The FBI also declined comment.

Also Monday, Allen released a copy of his original financial disclosure form. On it he reported he had sold his consulting business, Potomac International Corp., to close friend Peter Hannaford in 1978.

Bauman will run

EASTON, Md. (UPI) — Former Rep. Robert Bauman, a longtime conservative leader voted out of office following a sex and drinking scandal, said Monday he will run again for Congress.

Bauman, 44, proclaiming that he was "a damned good congressman" for more than seven years, said he has defeated problems he once described as his "twin compulsions" — alcoholism and homosexuality.

"I sold it in January of 1981," Allen said Monday. "I hand-filled out the form. And in fact, I just looked at it about 10 days ago and found that I had listed my sale as 1978, for some odd reason."

Allen said he corrected the error "immediately" by advising the White House counsel's office of the mistake. An aide in the counsel's office said, "It's just one of those unfortunate little screwups. There are frequently mistakes."

Allen also erred on dates elsewhere in the statement, even dating his signature 1980, rather than 1981. The aide in the general counsel's office said the statement did contain an inconsistency, because Allen reported receiving a salary from the consulting firm in 1980.

Allen's firm did considerable amounts of work for Japanese companies, its sale to Hannaford in January occurred three days before Allen arranged for the Japanese magazine to interview First Lady Nancy Reagan.

Allen reaffirmed his previous statements that he received $1,000 from the Japanese journalists, not $10,000, it has been reported that investigators are looking into reports that the figure $10,000 was written on the envelope he received after the interview and put into his office safe.

"I have stated what the amount of the honorarium was, and it's my understanding that the Japanese have clearly stated what it was," he said.

NEW CITY, N.Y. (UPI) — Two suspects in the Brink's heist pleaded innocent Monday to charges of murder, assault and robbery in the $1.6 million robbery that left two police officers and a security guard dead.

Authorities have said the bloody robbery was staged by remnants of the 1960s radical groups the Weather Underground and the Black Liberation Army.

At the arraignment of David Gilbert and Samuel Brown in Rockland

County Court, District Attorney Kenneth Gribetz revealed that a statement by Weather Underground member Katherine Boudin implicating Brown would be used against Brown at his trial.

Brown, 41, a convicted felon, and Gilbert, 37, of Cambridge, Mass, and a Weather Underground member, pleaded innocent before Judge Harry Edelstein to a 13-count indictment charging them with murder, robbery, grand larceny and assault.

The missile issue: advantage, Reagan

President Ronald Reagan's striking offer to reduce the chances of a nuclear confrontation with the Soviets in Western Europe puts the onus on the Bear's back.

No one expects the Kremlin to accept Reagan's premise for mutual arms reduction on the scale he proposed — the Soviets dismantle 600 if the United States agrees not to deploy 572 — but the president's "zero-option" plan begs an answer from Moscow as to why not.

As such, the style of the speech, if not the substance, can be described as a beautifully timed maneuver.

Any opportunity for mutual arms reductions will come in protracted negotiations. Reagan and Soviet Premier Leonid Brezhnev both know that; the president's proposal now puts the burden of proof at the Kremlin's doorstep.

An answer may be forthcoming: New talks aimed at limiting nuclear-theater weapons in Europe begin in Geneva next week.

Reagan also may have accomplished something else with his speech: redirect the growing dissent in Western Europe over the missile issue.

Brezhnev, on a state visit to Bonn, West Germany, was the target of 50,000 marching, protesting Germans. The timing of Reagan's speech turned the tables on the Soviet leader and the Kremlin's massive propaganda machine, which had been feeding the dissent over NATO plans to deploy nuclear missiles.

It is not hard to understand the European fear over nuclear war. Consider how Americans would feel if Canada and Mexico were the adversary superpowers, bristling with nuclear arms, and the United States was dependent on one or the other.

Many Europeans feel the Soviets are too strong, that a unilateral decision not to match missile with missile is the only way to prevent a holocaust. The protests have grown so large that some nations have begun to think twice about deploying the devastating weapons on their soil.

The United States and NATO both fear that unless Allied defenses keep up, the Soviets could make a move on Western Europe without firing a shot. In this scenario, the threat of a massive Soviet nuclear attack alone would make the Europeans acquiesce.

Saner minds believe the only alternative is to negotiate an arms-limitation understanding. Both sides already have come too far with deployment of conventional nuclear weapons; neither is going to dismantle a defense apparatus already in place. The hope is that a cap can be placed on the expansion and the sheer devastating power of missile-delivered bombs.

But if the United States has learned anything at all over previous arms agreements with the Soviets, namely SALT I and SALT II, it is that an agreement on paper is worthless without verification.

Reagan, who softened his tone in delivering his zero-option proposal, also has changed the name of the game to START — for "strategic arms reduction talks." The intent suggests more than just semantics.

Obtaining the agenda in Geneva may be the biggest stumbling block toward getting down to the nitty gritty. But because the Soviets have not as yet officially precluded what they will or will not talk about, there is at least a sign that the door remains open.

HOW ABOUT A LIMITED NUCLEAR WAR?

A FIRST STRIKE CAPABILITY?

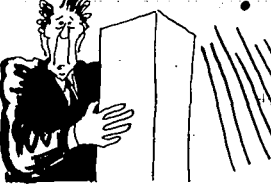

A GLOBAL ARMS RACE?

NO NUKES!

NO NUKES!

YUP—YOU FIGURED IT OUT...

MY REAL POLICY IS NO NUKES

May I have the envelope, please

© Los Angeles Times Syndicate
A Japanese newspaper came into my office the other day, bowed deeply, and said, "Forgive me for this awkward intrusion, but I am doing a story for a newspaper in Tokyo about Richard Allen and the Nancy Reagan interview."
"Ah so," I said, "I would be most honored to answer any of your questions."
"What do you personally think of this situation?"
"I would prefer not to comment on it," I replied, "until the Justice Department finishes its investigation."
He smiled and gave me a white envelope containing $100 in cash.
"Ah so," I said, smiling back. "But I cannot accept a bribe for granting you an interview."
"It is not a bribe," he said indignantly. "It is a tradition in my country to give a small gift of appreciation when someone grants an interview."
"Why didn't you say that in the first place?" I said. I called in my secretary and told her to put the envelope in the safe.
"Do you feel," he continued, "that someone in high position in office should accept a gift from a newspaperman for arranging an interview with the First Lady of the land?"

"Mr. Allen expected nothing but he has great respect for your traditions and would do anything not to insult you. When Mr. Reagan took office the first thing he said to his foreign policy advisers was, 'Under no conditions do I want anyone in my administration to offend the Japanese.'"
The newspaperman smiled and handed me another white envelope. He looked at his notes.
"What do you think Mr. Allen intended to do with the $1,000?"
"He says he intended to give it to charity."
"Why didn't he?"
"Because he forgot about it. You must understand, Mr. Allen is the President's National Security Adviser and he forgets very easily. One day he says a certain country is a threat to the United States and then he forgets all about it."
"Am I taking up too much of your time?" he asked.
"Heck no," I said. "No as long as you keep passing over white envelopes."
"Mrs. Reagan knew nothing about the arrangement?"
"Mrs. Reagan doesn't even remember being interviewed by the Japanese magazine."

"That means she must be very unhappy with Mr. Allen?"
"Well, she's not working on a needlepoint pillow for him for Christmas this year."
"The Japanese newspaperman was writing furiously."
"I don't want to offend you," I said, "but you forgot to give me another white envelope."
"Ah so," he said. "A thousand pardons."
"It's okay. But we Americans aren't used to answering questions for nothing."
"One final question. Is it your opinion that Secretary of State Al Haig is happy or unhappy about the way things are going for Mr. Allen?"
"He looked very disturbed the last time I saw him on television and I couldn't tell whether it was because of Mr. Allen or Nicaragua."
The Tokyo newspaperman handed me my last envelope.
As soon as she left I called Tom Brokaw and said, "The next time you want me to do the 'Today' show it's going to cost you 10 big ones."
"But so," his checkbook journalism, he cried.
"Ah so."

Letters to the editor

Time to renew dissatisfaction
Editor, Times News:
Several of us have continued to stay in touch with King Broadcasting and the Salt Lake stations during the changes on cablevision.
Negotiations have been going on, and up to last week we were assured that everything had been going quite well. Salt Lake felt that they would be back on the air by Jan. 1. However, this past week some problems have arisen so that negotiations that might jeopardize getting the Salt Lake channels back.
I know the public's dissatisfaction is growing daily because of poor reception, programming that doesn't resemble what we had before, even in prime time, and the fact that we could lose even the poor PBS we have now, due to lack of funds.
I'm beginning to feel cable is bogus if this matter drags on long enough, apathy will set in among its subscribers and soon we will all give up and live with the situation.
The time to bring economic pressure to bear has arrived. Anyone who would like to help organize and participate in the cancellation drive may call one of these numbers, 734-5106, 734-8181, 734-3058, and 733-2283.
We also need to call Cablevision and register our complaints. Mr. Rinour told me last week that he was not receiving many calls of protest anymore. Question this! Let him know how unhappy we still are.

Post cards to the FCC, 1919 M Street, N.W., Washington D.C. 20554 and King Broadcasting, PO 2425, Seattle, Wash., 98124 will help. Mr. Richard Shay, who is very involved in the negotiations from King Broadcasting, can be reached at 1-206-343-3000.
The number of people unhappy about this situation appears to be much greater than we anticipated. Because of this we will not even turn the petition of cancellation in unless we have at least 2,000 names.
Cablevision has had adequate time to impress us with their new programming. I for one feel we have definitely been sold short.

Harris' letter out of place
Editor, Times-News:
I was pretty upset by the fund-raising letter which Jim Harris, candidate for attorney general, recently sent me. He enclosed an article very critical of Congressman George Hansen and of Second District voters in general.

We do not need any Boise lawyer sending out campaign material which implies that Second District voters are stupid or that they have low moral standards. We do not need to have him disseminating an article which rakes up and rebashes all of the old charges about George Hansen's taxes and finances. George is a good man and it is time that all of these old charges were laid to rest. Can't Harris leave well enough alone?
Many Second District voters are like me. We think that George Hansen and his opponent, Jim Jones, are both good men. Jim Jones campaigned on the issues when he was running against George and never brought all of these old charges which Harris is now stirring up again in his fund-raising efforts. The only thing that is right about the article is that Jim Jones shares the same sense of honor as his former boss, Len Jordan. We Second District voters would appreciate it if Harris could set aside these questionable tactics and try to run on whatever merits he might have.
Further, I commend Jim Jones and any other candidate willing to use his own personal funds for his campaign. I strictly abhor these bureaucratic leeches who expect the voters to pay for their political campaign and futures.

Measuring the family changes at Thanksgiving time

The Boston Globe writes: "It will be different this year," one friend says to the other.
She is talking about the mathematics of her family reunion. The numbers around her Thanksgiving table have changed from last year to this. There have been additions and subtractions.
Now, on her way home for the holidays, she has done a little figuring on her mental abacus, and has come up with a sense of loss, a list of Missing Persons.
One couple whom she loved equally and inseparably, without noticing which tie was blood and which was law, has split into halves. A favored great-aunt died, and will be remembered only through the immortality of recipes and anecdotes. A brother has remarried and will bring a new wife, while the first is still missed.
It will, as she put it, be different.
The other woman thinks about this a bit. Thanksgiving has always been for her too, a celebration of family, a ritual of belonging, a sense of continuity.

As a child, her family seemed like characters cast forever in one place: a tableau vivante of togetherness. In those days the equations were simple ones: Stability equaled permanence, change equaled loss. Like all kids, she had longed for the rituals that were repeated exactly, with simplicity, without a single change. She wanted the same turkey, the same traditions, the same family.
She has been luckier than most. Her own family has gathered at the same table for every year in her memory. Yet she also has a line of numerical changes to tally up.
At some moment or other, her family, like any other, has been affected by marriage, death, divorce, remarriage, birth, or distance.
She has seen children multiply and marriages divide. Seen one wing split off and start their own table. Seen members who switch their body count from one set of in-laws to the other, one year to the other.

She has also witnessed the slow/invisible shift of the population figures from one generation's column to the next. Once it was the older people who formed the solid core that kept this family together. Now, oddly, it is the young ones who hold the center.
If she looked back over the years of her own attendance, Thanksgiving would look like musical chairs added and deleted across relationships and generations.
Each year would look different. Different than the last year, for the year before that. More different than we planned.
The two friends talk about the family centerpiece for their holiday. They use the word "family" as if it were a single mathematical unit. But it is rather a collective noun that covers a fluctuating membership.
In some ways our families change like our bodies. The surface of our skin changes completely over time, cell by cell, and yet we remain recognizably "us." The people in our family change, inevitably, and yet there remains something recognizable, and yet there remains.

We live most of our lives in families. We are born into some and become part of others at one time or another. We know how these families extend and contract by choice and by chance. And how they survive...
Maybe they change slowly enough over time to be fluid rather than fragile, to create a spine of continuity even in lives full of change.
Or maybe there is something finally more stable about the history of a family than the history of its members. These two friends today are conscious of the numbers game. They are sensitive, hypersensitive, about gains and losses.
But somehow or other they also know that the sum total of their family is still stronger than its parts.
That, at least, remains the same.

Judge sets back sentencing of slayer

BOISE (UPI) — Fourth District Judge Robert Newhouse Monday granted a two-week continuance in the sentencing of convicted killer Thomas Eugene Creech so the defendant could undergo psychological testing.

Creech's attorney Rolf M. Kehne said the defendant had been examined recently by a psychologist who indicated Creech may not have been competent at the time of the death of fellow inmate Dale Jensen because of "organic brain damage."

"We have a real strong indication that he has brain damage," Kehne said.

He said further testing was necessary to determine if Creech was suffering from brain damage.

Creech, 31, pleaded guilty Aug. 28 to the murder of Jensen, marking the fourth time he was convicted for murder.

Jensen died of severe brain damage several hours after he was found on the floor of his cell. His head had been kicked and struck with a sock filled with radio batteries. Ada County Prosecutor James Harris, who has asked that Creech be given the death penalty, said the request for a continuance was "not relevant" because it should have been made before Creech entered his guilty plea.

He said if the continuance was granted, he also would have to ask for additional time to call psychiatric witnesses to rebut the presentation of the psychological tests.

However, he said he would stipulate to the continuance if Creech personally agreed to the delay since the defendant had said he wanted to die in August.

Harris also requested that Creech waive his constitutional rights protecting him from self-incrimination to allow the judge to consider all past and future psychological tests.

Kehne approved Harris' requests and Creech replied, "Yes sir," when asked by Newhouse if he waived his right allowing the judge to review the tests.

Kehne said he wanted to make it clear to the court that he and his client were "at odds" over how to proceed with the case.

"He (Creech) pled guilty without my advice and my consent," Kehne said, adding it was Creech's "preference that he be sentenced today."

Newhouse continued Creech's sentencing until Dec. 11.

Creech, who once claimed to have killed more than three dozen people, has been serving three life terms for two 1974 murders near Cascade and the killing of a Portland, Ore., man the same year.

He was sentenced to death for the Idaho murders, but was taken off Death Row when the Supreme Court struck down the death penalty statute under which he was sentenced.

Under Idaho's 1978 revised capital punishment law, Creech could be sentenced to die by lethal injection.

Coverage of court approved

BOISE (UPI) — The Idaho Supreme Court announced Monday it has approved audio and photographic coverage by the media of proceedings of the Idaho Court of Appeals when the new court begins operation in January.

Live media coverage of appellate proceedings in Idaho began in August, 1979, when the state Supreme Court allowed coverage of its hearings in its Boise courtroom.

Since that time, the Supreme Court has extended coverage to hearings in other locations around the state.

The three-judge Court of Appeals will travel to locations throughout the state to hear oral arguments and appeals of district court decisions. The first hearing will be held the week of Jan. 18 in Boise. Other hearings will be scheduled in locations outside of Boise, including Caldwell, Hatley, Pocatello and Idaho Falls.

Court of Appeals Chief Justice Jesse R. Walters said the three new justices had voted unanimously to recommend that the Supreme Court approve broadcast and photographic coverage of hearings.

"I hope that broadcast and photographic coverage will help educate the public about the judicial process and heighten citizen awareness of their rights and responsibilities," Walters said.

Drug course will expand

BOISE (UPI) — The Boise Police Department says it will expand a program to help parents identify drug use in their teenaged children and to cope with discipline problems which often occur when adolescents get involved in the drug culture.

Police Sgt. Don Jewell said the program would also involve increased enforcement of drug-violations concerning juveniles, and an education program aimed at getting kids to reject peer pressure to try illegal drugs.

The department planted an undercover officer at Capitol High School last spring to investigate an alleged LSD distribution ring. Three non-students were eventually arrested as a result of the undercover work. Police Chief John Church said other agents might be planted in area schools to break up drug dealing.

Officials said education would be mostly emphasized at the junior high level because that is when students get their first exposure to readily available drugs and lessening parental supervision.

Program coordinator Jerry Lister said the presentations would be made to school classes and community organizations. He said the presentation would also be made available to parents as part of the local school district's continuing education program.

Elmore has turn as Gem capital

BOISE (UPI) — Idaho Gov. John Evans will visit Elmore and Canyon counties in early December as he approaches the conclusion of his Capital-for-a-Day program.

The governor said his visit to Elmore County on Dec. 9 will be the 40th in his program of traveling to all Idaho counties, while the Canyon County visit on Dec. 11 will bring the tally to 41.

Evans intends to meet with officials and voters in all of the state's 44 counties by year's end.

The governor conducts town meetings and holds discussions with citizens during his visits.

Idaho's senators back Reagan veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Idaho Sens. James McClure and Steve Symms Monday supported President Reagan's veto of a $427.9 billion emergency appropriations bill, saying it proved that the chief executive was committed to holding the line on government spending.

"The Congress did not meet President Reagan half way, and I'm glad he vetoed the measure," McClure said. "I think President Reagan is exactly right in trying to get government spending further under control, and I hope he'll stick with it."

"It is now up to Congress to respond to his veto, and I think we will be spending the next couple of days trying to work out a permanent solution to the question which the President has raised — and that is how to fund the government in the near future while we grope for a long-term reduction in the growth of so many government programs."

The House Monday afternoon extended government funding at current levels to Dec. 15. Senate approval followed on a 88-1 vote in favor of the proposal. President Reagan planned to sign the measure Monday evening and then head west to his ranch for Thanksgiving.

Symms said it was "unfortunate that the President had to cast his first veto," but added that it proves Reagan "is standing firm and holding the line against government spending."

Retraining aid study slated

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A team from the U.S. Department of Labor will arrive in Kellogg on Dec. 2 to determine if workers laid off due to the closure of Bunker Hill Co. qualify for special trade adjustment assistance.

Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, said the aid would provide for training, job search and relocation for unemployed workers.

"The program can be authorized when workers are laid off due to business competition from foreign markets," McClure said. "I believe imported zinc, silver and lead have contributed significantly to lower market prices, which forced Bunker Hill to close."

Layoffs from the Bunker Hill smelter in Kellogg have been continuing for the past month as the closure date nears.

First flight for EF-111 over Idaho

MOUNTAIN HOME (UPI) — The EF-111, equipped with a radar-jamming system, made its premiere flight Monday at the Mountain Home Air Force Base.

The plane, which essentially is an F-111A equipped with the new system, will be based at only two American military installations — at Mountain Home and in England.

The F-111A has been based at Mountain Home for the past four years. During the ceremony which attracted about 100 area businessmen and military personnel, 366th Tactical Fighter Wing Commander Col. Ernest L. Coleman said the EF-111 had three roles.

Its jamming ability is aimed at confusing enemy radar, he said. The plane also can fly low enough to avoid being seen by the enemy.

In addition, the aircraft can serve as a penetration escort utilizing its ability to fly low and jam enemy radar for itself and the aircraft it is accompanying, Coleman said.

Couple denies pot charges

BONNERS FERRY (UPI) — A Moyle Springs couple pleaded innocent Monday in First District Court to charges of possession and manufacture and cultivation of marijuana.

A court spokesman said a trial date for Robert Schaffer, 40, and his wife, Sara Taylor Schaffer, was set for March 9.

Schaffer was arrested Nov. 6 by Boundary County Sheriff Mike LaBrosse estimated the street value of the pot at $150,000. He said it was the largest marijuana cultivation bust ever made in the county.

Mrs. Schaffer was arrested Nov. 9. A pickup truckload of marijuana plants — some nearly 12 feet tall — were seized during the raid along with several pounds of dried leaves and buds.

Boundary County Sheriff Mike LaBrosse estimated the street value of the pot at $150,000. He said it was the largest marijuana cultivation bust ever made in the county.

What's what

In the last letter that President Andrew Jackson had received from his mother was this advice: "Never bring a suit at law for assault and battery, or for defamation. The law affords no remedy for such outrages that can satisfy the feelings of a true man." You can see how men were trained in that era, even by their mothers, to fight duels of honor.

Seven out of every 10 women in college say they're in love. That's at its most naive was this advice: "Never bring a suit at law for assault and battery, or for defamation. The law affords no remedy for such outrages that can satisfy the feelings of a true man." You can see how men were trained in that era, even by their mothers, to fight duels of honor.

INTELLIGENCE TEST

A standard intelligence test can be fairly useful to a store owner in picking out help. But it does little good in selecting sales people, oddly enough. Studies repeatedly show that the best clerical staffers turn out to be the workers who passed the intelligence test with the highest scores. But the best sales persons out on the floor are rarely those who scored highest on the intelligence test. What do you make of that?

Police display Lindbergh evidence

WEST TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — A baby's pajamas and T-shirt, a handmade ladder, a scrawled ransom note and other shards of evidence in the kidnapping and slaying of aviator Charles A. Lindbergh's son were unsealed Monday, 45 years after the "trial of the century."

State police displayed for the first time since the 1936 trial almost 90,000 pieces of evidence that have been locked inside nine wooden crates and stored in nine metal file cabinets at police headquarters.

The evidence was used to convict Richard Bruno Hauptmann, a German immigrant whose trial ended in a sentence of death.

Gov. Brendan Byrne ordered the files opened Oct. 9, one day after a lawyer for Hauptmann's widow, who hopes to prove his innocence, sued the state for access to the files.

The off-white baby pajamas — worn by Charles A. Lindbergh Jr. when he was swept from his nursery on March 1, 1932 — lay across a table.

Police also removed from a padlocked wooden crate the cream-colored cotton T-shirt found on the 20-month-old corpse two months after the kidnapping. Authorities theorize the baby died of a fractured skull after being dropped by his kidnapper.

The original color had turned to olive-green and the material was discolored.

At a news conference, some of the evidence was displayed in two cage-like rooms. But most of the documents and artifacts are stored in the wooden crates and cannot be viewed without special permission.

Detective Carmel Palumbo, the state police officer who has compiled, sorted and secured the evidence since 1976, said authorities convicted the right man.

Boy starts eye disease treatment

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet doctors agreed Monday to administer an experimental treatment to Todd Cantrell in a final attempt to check a rare disease that is stealing the 12-year-old Georgia boy's eyesight.

A woman ophthalmologist examined Todd briefly and issued a certificate permitting Russian doctors to begin the pioneering technique this morning, said the boy's mother, Betty Cantrell, of Dalton, Ga.

"Everything has gone real well so far," Mrs. Cantrell said as she, her husband Kyle, and Todd spent their first full day in Moscow. They arrived Sunday night.

She said the Russians she had met were "real nice" and said Todd was resting up for the ordeal that involves injections of a serum into the eye's retina.

Todd has suffered since birth from retinitis pigmentosa, a degenerative eye disease that has narrowed his field of vision increasingly over the years and will eventually leave him blind. He sees now through thick bifocals.

American doctors told the family there was no hope he could be cured.

Brezhnev offers to cut back rockets

BONN, West Germany (UPI) — Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev Monday rejected President Reagan's proposal to keep Europe free of nuclear rockets but offered to reduce "by hundreds" the number of medium-range Russian missiles aimed at Western Europe.

HELMUT SCHMIDT ...proposes summit revived debate. The Soviets said a summit might be useful if it is well-prepared.

Brezhnev made the proposal conditional on the United States accepting a moratorium on the deployment of new missiles or the modernizing of existing ones. Such a moratorium would halt U.S. plans to put 572 medium range missiles into Europe to counter the Russian missiles already in place.

Instead, he offered to reduce "by hundreds" the number of medium-range Russian missiles aimed at Europe.

Brezhnev offered what he called a "new, substantial" concession after West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt proposed a summit between Brezhnev and Reagan as a sign of

"As a gesture of good will, we could reduce unilaterally a certain part of our nuclear weapons of medium range in the European part of the Soviet Union," Brezhnev said at a dinner given by Schmidt on the second day of the Soviet leader's visit.

"We could make a reduction so to speak in advance, in the process of moving ourselves toward a lower level, about which the Soviet Union and the United States could agree as a result of negotiations" beginning next week in Geneva, Brezhnev said. "This is a new, substantial element in our position."

But the 74-year-old Russian leader rejected out of hand Reagan's call for the Soviets to retire their giant SS-20 and older SS-4 and SS-5 missiles in exchange for a U.S. ending plans to deploy Pershing II and Cruise missiles in NATO countries beginning in 1983.

"We are being asked to disarm unilaterally while hundreds of land and sea-based missiles, aircraft with atomic bombs on board, this whole threatening arsenal of the United States and other NATO countries directed against our country and our allies remain untouched," Brezhnev said.

"It is clear that the Soviet Union will never agree" to Reagan's proposal, he said.

Brezhnev's argument was a reformulation of the Soviet stance that the NATO planes and missiles on submarines must be counted in any assessment about parity between the two camps. The Soviets assert that there is an existing parity of just under 1,000 nuclear weapons on each side.

He said NATO's deployment plans "constitute a threat such as the continent has never known."

Saudis' Mideast plans on agenda for summit

FEZ, Morocco (UPI) — In a major victory for moderate Arabs, Saudi Arabia won approval Monday to discuss its eight-point Middle East peace plan at this week's Arab League summit.

Foreign ministers who met to plan the agenda for Wednesday's summit of kings, sheiks and other Arab heads of state remained bitterly divided on the proposal's key seventh clause, which hardliners reject adamantly as an implicit recognition of the existence of Israel.

After a four-hour meeting, much of which the foreign ministers spent arguing over the Saudi peace proposal, Saudi Foreign Minister Prince Saud Al Faisal announced the Arab heads of state and PLO leader Yasser Arafat would discuss the plan at the 12th summit of the 21-member Arab League.

Arab League officials corroborated Saudi's statement at a brief news conference after the session held amid extremely tight security.

Delegates said they expected opponents of the plan, proposed in August by Crown Prince Faisal, to voice their criticism before the main debate gets under way at the summit. Conference sources said conservative Persian Gulf states spoke in favor of the Faisal plan at Monday's meeting.

The ministers' decision to talk about the plan at all marked a victory for Saudi Arabia and other moderate Arab states willing to recognize Israel in a compromise that could result in the creation of an independent Palestinian state.

Venezuela boosts prices on fuel oils

CARACAS (UPI) — Venezuela, a major U.S. foreign oil supplier, Monday raised its prices for residual fuel and heating oil to take advantage of stepped-up demand as winter sweeps the United States.

Venezuelan Energy and Mines Minister Humberto Calderon Bertl said the new price increases range from 30 cents up to $1.20 a barrel.

Venezuela's low-sulphur content residuals were lifted by 60 cents a barrel and now sell for $29.35 to $32.40 a barrel. One percent sulphur content residual fuel increased by 30 cents and will now be sold for $27.47 a barrel.

Poles seek free ballots

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Dissidents and Solidarity leaders joined in an appeal to all Poles Monday to work for true democracy, free elections and a more stable relationship with the Soviet Union as the only real cure for the nation's crisis.

The manifesto of the new group, which evidently believes Solidarity's national leaders are not going far enough in their reform demands, said Poland's relations with Moscow are overwhelmed with worries about the possibility of Russian intervention.

The new organization, in which dissident Jacek Kuron and Solidarity officials Zbigniew Bujak and Janusz Onyszkiewicz appeared to be playing leading roles, represents probably the most direct challenge yet to the ruling power of the Polish Communist Party.

Read novel, gain bones, group says

BOLOGNA, Italy (UPI) — A group claiming it stole the 1,700-year-old bones of St. Lucy from a Venice church said Monday it would return the relics only if excerpts from a novel about Nazi concentration camps are read in public schools.

The group, which did not identify itself, made the demand in a letter sent to the Bologna offices of the Italian news agency, ANSA.

The typewritten letter said the bones of St. Lucy, considered the patroness of eyesight, would be returned to the church of San Gerolamo on Venice's Grand Canal if any one page of the novel, "If This Is Man" by Italian author Primo Levi, is read in Venice area junior and senior high schools.

"St. Lucy herself would have agreed" with such a condition, the letter said.

Investigators would not say if they considered the letter genuine.

Dear Abby

Nice smell eludes woman who stinks

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: You are the only person I know who can help me. I have a problem that didn't just start. I've had it all my life, but lately it's really been getting to me. I stink. You, too, body odor. I suspect I should try to find a doctor who deals with this sort of thing, but because of my embarrassment and inability to talk openly about it, I've gotten nowhere.

Abby, I'm a clean person. I bathe twice a day and sometimes three times. I use an antiperspirant as frequently as I bathe, and I change undergarments as well as outer garments every day without fail. I'm almost a fanatic about dental hygiene. I brush my teeth and use a mouthwash several times a day.

I've given up using perfumes or colognes because even though I could smell the fragrance, other people would smell the offensive odor I was trying to cover up, and they'd make nasty comments like "Snoop and water are cheaper and would do you more good."

Abby, if you think I should see a doctor, at least please tell me what kind of doctor I should see.

SMELLS BAD IN KENTUCKY
DEAR SMELLES: See your family physician for a thorough checkup and tell him exactly what you've told me. If there is actually an offensive odor, he will determine the source and prescribe a remedy. If there is none — if you're only imagining it — you have another problem, which can be relieved by treatment. Don't despair. In any case, it's nothing to be ashamed of and you can be helped.

DEAR ABBY: Over the years I have had the problem of telephoning a friend's home, asking for the friend by name, and being asked, "Who is calling, please?" I was even told recently by the wife of a friend that it is common courtesy to identify myself before asking to speak to her husband!

Am I wrong to assume that a conversation is private and privileged communication between two adults and need not be censored by anyone else?

Frequently a small child will answer the phone and persistently ask, "Who is this?"

Please let me know what is common courtesy between two adults.

PAYSON PETE IN ARIZONA
DEAR PETE: The most courteous callers start off with, "This is John Jones calling. Is Mr. Smith available?" Mr. Smith has a right to know who is calling him before he picks up the telephone. Most busy mothers instruct their youngsters to ask who's calling, so don't blame the child for carrying out mother's instructions.

DEAR ABBY: If you have ever addressed yourself to my problem, I've missed it, so here's hoping you'll comment again.

I'm middle-aged and happily married, but for a year now I've had a terrific crush on a man who attends the same church my family and I do. I try to justify it by telling myself that no one is being hurt since I'm the only one who knows it, and it has made my middle years easier to bear as a result of the excitement and anticipation I experience when I know I'm going to see him or talk to him.

It has not interfered with the strong, happy relationship I have with my husband and I don't expect that it will. In a way it has made me feel like a schoolgirl again — very nice.

Can it really be wrong?

GOT A CRUSH IN BIRMINGHAM
DEAR GOT: No harm in fantasizing, Dream on. But don't try to make your dreams come true.

Cook bird in paper bag

By DORSEY CONNORS
Chicago Sun-Times

"A bird in hand is worth two in the bush," said Don Quixote, and many a cook says: "A bird in the bag is worth two cooked the ordinary way."

In response to your requests, I am repeating the simple, effective way to cook a turkey in a brown paper grocery bag.

One of the primary advantages of this method is that you don't have to baste. I especially recommend it for families that have small children who have the tendency to poke their little heads almost into the pan when Mommy pulls out the cooking bird to baste.

When you buy your gobbler, ask the grocer to give you a clean brown bag large enough to hold the bird and to fold over twice at the opening so that it can be stapled shut. When the bird is cleaned and stuffed and the wings are tied, paint it with a pastry brush dipped in melted butter or margerine. Place the bird in the bag. Fold over opening twice. Staple. Rest the bagged turkey on a rack in an uncovered roasting pan. If the bird is 12 pounds or less, bake 25 minutes per pound in a pre-heated 325-degree oven. Allow 30 minutes per pound for birds more than 12 pounds. Before you remove the cooked bird from the oven, cut a slit in the bottom of the bag so that the good juices to be made into delicious gravy run into the pan.

DEAR DORSEY: One morning my daughter's pencil case broke. I gave her a Ziploc bag. She's been using it ever since.

Dr. Lamb

She's too young to live on pain killers

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Association

DEAR DR. LAMB — My back has been bothering me for some time so last week I went to an orthopedic doctor.

After X-rays he said I have osteoarthritis of the spine, calcium deposits and spurs. Also the vertebrae of my spine curves too much, but he says this is a birth deformity and nothing can be done about it.

I would like to know what can be done for the pain in my spine since the doctor did not want to see me again. He just told me to take Tylenol Extra.

Does this mean that my spine will deteriorate as I get older? Do you think taking vitamins would help the pain? I am married, have four children and am 41 years old.

DEAR DR. LAMB: You are too young just to try to live with pain relievers alone.

If we live long enough, we all do have some arthritis — the kind you have, which we call degenerative arthritis. And there are things which can be done to limit the changes that occur and minimize the discomfort.

You need to ask your family doctor to refer you to a medical rheumatologist, a medical doctor or clinic that specializes in arthritic problems, not an orthopedic surgeon. It was good that you saw one, but you need longer treatment.

As you see from the Health Letter No. 4-10, Osteoarthritis, which I am sending you, it is important that you maintain the flexibility of your joints with proper exercise.

Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P. O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N. Y. 10019. It is also important not to exercise too much. Rest is essential.

You may get some help from physiotherapy to relieve muscle spasm and strengthen muscles that will give you more back support. You will not get any help from vitamins if you are already on a well-balanced adequate diet.

If arthritic spurs and changes are sufficiently great, it is sometimes useful to surgically remove bony growths that are causing pressure on nerves and causing pain.

As you get older you may also develop osteoporosis, softening of the bones which is a different disease that can add to your problem.

In general, I believe it is important to have a carefully supervised program individualized to the amount of change a patient has. Don't neglect it and just take simple pain relievers.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Could you please tell me what can be done for hardening of the arteries?

My father cannot take three steps without pain in his legs. He also has osteoarthritis of the spine. Could this be a contributing factor in his leg problem?

DEAR READER — Hardening of the arteries means fatty-cholesterol deposits in the arteries.

If they are in the arteries to the heart, they can cause heart attacks. If they are in the arteries to the brain, they can cause strokes.

They can develop in the large arteries to the legs. If they obstruct the circulation in the legs enough, they can cause severe cramps and leg pain on walking, but the distance is usually more than three steps.

In such cases, if the patient's health permits it and the obstruction is localized, a surgeon may put in a bypass graft to detour the blood around the obstruction. In many cases, however, the obstruction involves the entire artery length and it is not possible to detour it.

Divorce: financial hassle

By ANDREW LECKEY
Chicago Sun-Times

Americans who get divorced must weather the greatest flurry of financial transactions of their lives.

A considerable number clearly botch the tasks of splitting assets and estimating their financial future. They rue for the rest of their lives agreements cobbled together in a haphazard manner, and spend countless hours grumbling about it to anyone who will listen.

"You're alone. You're distraught. It's the pits. So you throw up your hands and say that Harold your lawyer can do it all," explains family economist Susan C. Richards, president of Hawthorne Financial Advisors in Glen Ellyn, Ill. "Rather than first figuring out a lot of your finances yourself and thus benefitting in the long run, you pay a lawyer $60 an hour to figure out for you what it cost to heat your house last winter."

Richards sees cases in which one spouse "obviously gets the short end of the stick." Money is often used as a weapon, and each party is understandably out to get what it can. But more frequently an inability to sit down rationally and project need is the real culprit, she says.

"I was an expert witness in one court case in which the ex-husband testified that he couldn't afford his support payments because it would mean he'd have to give up his private airplane," she recalls. "In another case, a wife who had been judged an unfit mother by the court nonetheless wound up with the kids, the house and was awarded so much money that her ex-husband actually had to live in his car on $10 a month. Divorce isn't always fair, and you must realize what is yours and what your needs are."

It comes as a surprise to many that a family cannot live split up as cheaply as it did together, she points out. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, it can cost as much as 40 percent more to run the two households after divorce. As a result, "class litigation" is a common by-product.

"The basic housing arrangements cost more, and there are legal fees, greater transportation costs, a need for child care and less support from other relatives than before," says Richards, who helps her clients organize the financial trappings needed in court. "There are added costs of maintaining a social life that the two didn't worry about before, and frequently the parent who doesn't wind up with the children spends a considerable amount of money to entertain the children when they visit."

Couples contemplating divorce must realize they will have to take the necessary financial figures with them into court. Richards suggests they should, either together or individually:

- Keep track of their expenditures for 30 days so that they have a basic grasp of the family finances.

- Plug in the costs of items not in that time period, such as seasonal clothing, gifts, utility bills and taxes.

- Develop a household inventory of valuables.

Women often aren't privy to the financial doings of the family and, in such cases, Richards believes they should:

- Request from the Internal Revenue Service tax returns for the last six years. Go over them carefully to get the true money picture.

Repairing window sill explained

By PETER HOLTON
Boston Globe

Q. I have about a dozen windows to replace. The sash in some is rotted, in others are rotted. Can I replace the sash and sills or do I need replacement windows? — K.B.

A. It's easy and inexpensive to replace just the sash. Be sure to weatherstrip the new sash. As for a rotted sill, it is a fair amount of work, but entirely possible, and also inexpensive, to replace. You have to remove the indoor side stops, raise the bottom sash and remove the stool (interior sill) and apron. Then saw the outside rotted sill in two pieces by cutting at right angles to the sill's length. Then wriggle and wobble each piece out. You may have to cut some nails that remain. Buy a new sill and use the old one as a template to cut it to shape. Slip in place, nail onto the horizontal 2x4, prime and paint.

Q. I am having new windows in the kitchen. Should I line them up with the ceiling or the walls? How do you line up kitchen cabinets? — R.W.

A. Ah! Here's a chance for a lesson in leveling and plumbing (not the toilet and other sinks and things, but making sure things are plumb, that is, vertically). All things such as windows, kitchen cabinets and wallpaper should line up on themselves; that is, they should be level or plumb without following the contours of anything else. The tops of all windows on one floor should be even with each other, and they should be level (horizontal) and plumb (vertical). The same goes for kitchen cabinets. Wallpaper should be plumb. No floor or ceiling is perfectly level, nor are they ever truly parallel. An example of the problems you could encounter if you tried to line up wallpaper with a ceiling: If the ceiling slanted just an inch or two in a 10-foot length, and you lined up the top of the wallpaper with the ceiling, the paper would also slant, something you definitely want to avoid.

Q. I have about three inches of soft, white pellets about the size of a nickel or quarter in the attic floor. They were installed in 1948. Can I add insulation on top of this? — D.N.

A. Sounds as if someone got a whole bunch of cotton balls from a hospital and put them in. If that is so, they are doing you little good and are flammable. Remove them and install 6-inch fiberglass batts with a vapor barrier (foil or paper) facing the heated part of the house. Then add another six inches of unbacked fiberglass. If the first layer comes up to near the tops of the joists, you can put the second layer on at right angles to the joists.

Wall Street rally loses punch

By FRANK W. SLUSSER
United Press International

NEW YORK — The stock market fell Monday when an attempt to sustain a pre-Thanksgiving rally ran out of steam.

Investors retreated to the sidelines to ponder the recession and the federal budget.

Takeover issues, which dominated the market last week, were in the spotlight again. But there was little demand for other stocks as many traders sold for tax purposes.

The Dow Jones industrial average, up nearly four points at midday after Friday's 8.18-point gain, lost 1.14 points to 851.79. The Dow, a 2.95-point loser overall last week, operated at a 13-point deficit since American Telephone & Telegraph was trading minus its dividend.

The New York Stock Exchange index shed 0.09 to 70.91 and the price of an average share decreased three cents. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index dropped 0.11 to 221.50. Declines overtook advances 834-715 among the 1,838 issues traded.

Big Board volume on the first day of the Thanksgiving week slumped to 4,250,000 shares from 52,010,000 traded Friday.

Both bonds and stocks faltered late in the day after the Securities and Exchange Commission said the President Reagan-Congress budget battle might delay processing of bond filings.

A confrontation between Congress and the president always tends to act as a market depressant, said Newton Zinder, E.F. Hutton vice president.

"Wall Street didn't react much because they know Congress will come up with the money eventually," William LeFevre, Purcell, Graham vice president, said.

Monte Gordon, Dreyfus Corp. vice president, thought the skirmish made many investors cautious. "This shows Reagan is going to have a tough battle winning his tax cuts," Gordon said.

Institutional investors have stayed out of the action lately because they have not been able to determine how deep the recession is or how long it will last.

Composite volume of NYSE issues traded on all U.S. exchanges and over the counter totaled 52,800,330 shares compared with 62,179,410 traded Friday.

The American Stock Exchange index eased 0.06 to 318.25. There was no change in the price of a share. Declines topped advances 333-261 among the 808 issues traded. Composite volume totaled 4,692,700 shares compared with 5,649,575 Friday.

The National Association of Securities Dealers's NASDAQ index of OTC stocks lost 0.59 to 198.01.

On the trading floor, Marathon Oil, which soared 29 1/2 points last week after agreeing to U.S. Steel's $6.4 billion takeover bid, was the most active NYSE-listed issue, off 2 1/2 to 104 1/2.

Mobil said it had been tendered 23 million shares in its 85-a-share offer for Marathon. Mobil stock added 1/4 to 25 1/2 and USS eased 1/4 to 27 1/2, both in active trading.

Pennzoil jumped 1 1/2 to 54. The Wall Street Journal said there was speculation Gulf Oil would make a bid for Pennzoil after Marathon rejected a $7.2 billion offer from Gulf just before the USS deal was announced.

Gulf stock rose 1/2 to 35 1/2.

American Telephone & Telegraph (ex-dividend) was the second most active NYSE issue, off 1 to 59. Exxon was third, unchanged at 31 1/2.

Milton Bradley dropped 1 1/2 to 19 1/2 after the company announced it was selling its South Bend (Ind.) Toy Manufacturing Co. subsidiary to two South Bend businessmen. Terms were not disclosed.

RCA surrendered 3/4 to 18.

DETROIT (UPI) — Japanese import quotas have backed off because of the foreign automakers' ability to adjust sales allocations to meet American market demands, a leading economic forecasting firm said Monday.

In its first published automotive forecast, Chase Econometrics predicted the 1982 model year will be "very weak" for domestic producers although earmakers may post strong sale of new, small light trucks if they can win an expected price war with the Japanese.

Japanese automakers agreed last spring to a two-year, voluntary quota system set to end in April, 1983. But Chase said the restraints have had a "negligible effect" on boosting domestic sales and profits.

"It is not clear that the perceived initial advantage is going to materialize," said Chase analyst William Pochlik.

"The restraints are likely to result in the Japanese automobile manufacturers adjusting sales allocations to a richer mix to improve profitability and to reduce the vulnerability associated with protectionist measures," the Chase forecast said.

Pochlik said the quotas could prompt the Japanese to enter the full-size and personal car markets "where the domestic producers have held the historical advantage."

The forecaster said quotas likely will be rolled back but only when there is a "sharp acceleration in the domestic market."

He said this upturn will occur next spring if the economy improves.

However, the firm predicted car sales of 9.3 million units for the 1982 model year — 7 million by domestic automakers and 2.3 million by foreign producers. Automakers sold 11 million cars in the peak 1978 model year.

Chase credited the gloomy forecast to the overall economic downturn, high car prices, depressed fleet sales and "the inability of the 1982 new model launch to build early momentum."

Pochlik said economists were surprised most at poor fleet sales.

"In the fall of the year, fleet sales are important. This has been devastating," Pochlik said.

He said fleet purchasers are waiting for interest rates to fall. Chase equates a 1 percent increase in the prime rate to a loss in sales of 150,000 units.

The Chase analyst said domestic automakers can smile about sales of small trucks like the Chevrolet S-10 and upcoming Dodge front-wheel drive Rampage.

"The truck story is the major domestic good news for 1982 model year. It's the right product at the right time. But it is a big plus and a big negative," Pochlik said.

With comparable products, he said domestic and foreign producers are expected to battle for the truck market.

Cut ski vacation costs

Universal Press Syndicate

This is the week that the skiing season opens in the United States. There is no better time to stress to you ski buffs that, with proper planning and flexible travel plans, you can slash your ski vacation costs by a minimum 20 percent to 30 percent.

If you plan your ski vacation for this period, you can achieve significant savings. This is known as an "off-peak" season (early December, January through early February, most of April) and hotel lodging then runs 25 percent to 30 percent less than during holiday weeks.

Colorado's Copper Mountain, the "super season" covers Nov. 24 to Dec. 29, then after April 10, 11 and in addition:

- Shop around for air transportation. There are special fares 20 percent to 40 percent lower than normal if you meet their restrictions.
- Operators who buy seats in bulk or charter their own planes can offer additional savings. Advance reservations are essential. It's not uncommon for busy holiday weeks to be booked six to eight months in advance.
- For instance, lodging at Keystone/Arapahoe Basin was 90 percent booked by July 1, says Fritz Opel, a director of Breckenridge, Key-Steine/Arapahoe Basin and Copper Mountain, all in Colorado. There are always some airline and hotel reservations available at the last minute, but choices are limited and prices are higher.

- 2) Consider off-peak travel. Most vacationing skiers travel from Saturday to Saturday; you can save money by traveling midweek. Airports also are less crowded, ground transportation is easier to arrange, and checking into hotels is swifter.
- 3) Use public ground transportation at resorts. Renting a car that remains idle while you ski is not cost-efficient. In increasing numbers, skiers rely upon public ground transportation to get to and from resorts. Continental Trailways, for example, services "Ski the Summit" — directly from Denver's Stapleton Airport and downtown Denver to Copper Mountain, Breckenridge, Keystone and two nearby towns — Frisco and Dillon.
- 4) Evaluate your lodging choices. You can stay in a single hotel room on a mountain and ski to your door, or save 30 percent to 50 percent by lodging nearby. Slopeside condominiums are at a premium, yet you actually can lower the cost per person. Six people in a two-bedroom condo (with foldout sofas) will cost less per person than two people in a one-bedroom condo. Families are particularly attracted to ski condominiums; kitchen facilities avoid costly restaurant meals.

- 5) Students at many resorts frequently will be issued a discount on a full-day lift ticket. Have proof of your student status with you.
- 6) Many resorts offer discounts to guests who purchase multiple-day lift tickets. Usually the minimum is a two- or three-day ticket.
- 7) A half-day lift ticket may be available if you like to ski, but also enjoy a few extra hours sleep in the morning. This discount begins as early as noon at some areas.
- 8) Group rates are offered at most ski resorts with requirements ranging from 10 to 25 per group. The group will receive discounted lift tickets or a complimentary lift ticket for one person over the minimum requirement — great for family or friends to ski together at a savings.
- 9) Many ski areas have a package rate for a day of skiing, which includes a full-day lift ticket. You can buy discount cards for a small fee that offer a full-day lift ticket, ski rentals and a group lesson.
- 10) If you're over 60, you can ski for practically nothing — and even nothing. Some resorts offer a lift ticket for those 60 and over at major discounts. Don't skip examining all discount offers.

China's oil output could meet Asia needs

CANTON, China (UPI) — China, already one of the world's top oil producers, could double its output to 4 million barrels a day by the end of the century and ease Asia's reliance on Middle East supplies, experts predicted Monday.

If China meets current targets, it may be able to equal onshore production, now 2 million barrels a day, by tapping massive offshore reserves, said R.H. Ho, organizer of China's first oil conference and chairman of a Singaporean firm.

China's offshore oil reserves have been estimated at 74 billion barrels, rivaling Mexico, the world's fourth largest producer. Ho said in an address to the conference.

The meeting coincides with China's preparations to accept foreign bids for offshore oil concessions in the South China Sea.

Most of China's oil is for domestic use but it exports some, primarily to Japan. The world's largest oil producer is the Soviet Union which has been producing close to 13 million barrels a day.

Michael Sandberg, chairman of the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corp., said if China realizes its full oil potential it will reduce Asia's reliance on the Middle East, which he labeled the "erratic" supplier of 70 percent of the region's oil.

McCain said the Boise-based firm opened 17 stores during the nine months. These included six combination food-drug supermarkets in Alabama, Florida, Louisiana and Texas; six "superstores" in California, Colorado, Oregon and Utah; and five conventional supermarkets in California, Washington and Wyoming.

Landmark Smoker Study:

Merit Takes Taste Honors.

Former higher tar smokers acclaim MERIT "Best-tasting low tar I've tried."

The most rigorous MERIT research to date has just been completed.

Result: MERIT smokers confirm taste a major factor in completing their successful switch from higher tar cigarettes.

MERIT Taste Sparks Switch.

Nationwide survey reveals over 90% of MERIT smokers are glad they switched from higher tar cigarettes. In fact, 94% don't even miss their former brands.

Further Evidence: 9 out of 10 former higher tar smokers report MERIT an easy switch, that they didn't give up taste in switching, and that MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried.

MERIT Beats Toughest Competitors.

In the second part of this study, new tests confirm that MERIT delivers a winning combination of taste and low tar when compared with higher tar leaders.

Confirmed: The overwhelming majority of smokers reported MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands.

Confirmed: When tar levels were revealed, 2 out of 3 chose the MERIT combination of low tar and good taste.

Year after year, in study after study, MERIT remains unbeaten. The proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking—is MERIT.

Map indicates site of Sunday crash that killed three.

Plane crash probe begins

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

SHOSHONE — Federal Aviation Administration investigators spent most of Monday in the snow-covered area near Thorn Creek Reservoir, seeking the cause of a Sunday plane crash that killed three people.

An FAA spokesman in Boise, Dale Rice, said investigators left Boise at 8 a.m. Monday and had not made any reports at 5 p.m.

He said they were "in the field," along with National Transportation Safety Board investigators from Seattle.

The results of the investigation probably will not be released for several months, but they will come from the Transportation Safety Board, Rice said.

The on-site investigation probably will be completed sometime today, he said.

Sheriff Harold Lee of Camas County, the first officer to reach the site Sunday morning, said that local authorities generally believe that the plane went down due to weather conditions. He said it appeared the pilot was flying below the storm and crashed into the rim of the small canyon along Thorn Creek, located in northwest Lincoln County.

It was reported that the plane's three occupants left Halley on Saturday for Salt Lake City, and they were returning when the crash occurred.

Lee said the pilot may have swung to the west after learning there was a heavy snowstorm in the mountains around Halley. The Halley airport was open, although it was raining there Saturday night and early Sunday morning.

Local officers believe the pilot may have been trying to reach the Fairfield runway, about 12 miles beyond the crash scene. Lee said it was apparent the plane was flying low when it crashed.

Killed in the crash was Dale Moore, 53, board chairman of Western Broadcasting Co., presently headquartered in Missoula, Mont. The other victims were his father, Rev. Grant S. Moore, 86, of Santa Barbara, Calif., and the pilot, Earl V. Lee, 66, of Ketchum. The Camas sheriff said it appeared all three died on impact.

Lincoln County sheriff's office said it is believed the plane crashed about 12:30 a.m. Sunday. Two Civil Air Patrol pilots from Nampa, who were flying over the area, discovered the crash about 8:30 a.m. when they picked up the plane's automatic emergency signal.

Western Broadcasting, with radio and television stations in several states, is the parent company of KMYT-TV in Twin Falls. The company is in the process of moving its headquarters to Sun Valley.

Ski resorts will open

Rain, snow top holiday outlook

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The only complaints over the weather this week come from outside workers — dampened by the .68-inch rainfall in the past three days — and a few motorists anticipating snowy highways for holiday trips.

A U.S. Weather Service representative in Kimberly, William Galkin, said the lower elevations have been getting rain, with snow falling at higher elevations.

Among those who are not complaining are the skiers, snowmobilers and farmers.

Pomerelle ski resort, located south of Burley, has set Wednesday as the season's opening day.

Resort owner Woody Anderson said Monday that about 15 inches of heavy snow covers the ground at the lodge and the storm is continuing. He estimated that two-and-a-half feet of snow was on the upper mountain slopes. The resort will be in full operation except for night skiing, which will be added later, he said.

Soldier Mountain expects to open Thanksgiving with the storm still continuing there Tuesday. About seven inches of snow was reported at the lodge, with 24 inches on the top of the upper lift.

Sun Valley reported a heavy snowfall, beginning about 5 a.m. Monday, with depths reaching 48 inches at the top of the slopes, 32 at the midway mark and 10 inches on the valley floor. The resort also plans to open Thursday.

Since the beginning of October, the Kimberly weather station has recorded 2.27 inches of moisture, Galkin said. This is 67 inch ahead of normal at this time.

"The farmers are bound to be happy with the moisture," he said.

"Most of the moisture has fallen on plowed ground, so it is replenishing the ground water, especially in the extremely dry south-hills area. This will help the Salmon tract farmers, and water was well below normal there."

Galkin said that Twin Falls-area farmers also are pleased with the present weather. The major source of water for Twin Falls and other Magic Valley irrigation systems is in the Jackson Hole, Wyo., and Yellowstone areas. And he said that reports from those areas also show early snowfall. He said West Yellowstone reported five inches of snow at the airport Monday morning, and it still was falling.

State police officers said that most

Ken Dahl of Twin Falls braves the rainy weather while driving to his job at Blimpies.

Magic Valley-area roads were only wet as of Monday, but should be predicted cooler temperatures arrive, holiday travelers should be prepared for some ice and snow.

Heavy traffic is anticipated for the upcoming four-day holiday weekend. But Lt. Vance Ricks of the Twin Falls state police post, said his staff will be at an absolute minimum on Thanksgiving Day.

"We find on the holiday itself there is very little traffic or activity," he said. "Naturally, everyone will be on call in the event of an emergency, but otherwise, they have the holiday off. On the day before and on Sunday after the holiday, we will have a full crew on the highways."

Most schools will close early Wednesday afternoon and resume Monday morning. Twin Falls, for example, will let students out at 1:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Twin Falls city offices will close Wednesday at 5 p.m. and remain closed until Monday, giving workers an extra day off, but county, state and federal offices will be open Friday.

For those planning on dining out for Thanksgiving, it would be well to check with the restaurant of your choice. A survey of dining establishments around the valley indicates that most, even the fast-food restaurants, will be closed.

However, the Holiday Inn dining room and coffee shop will be open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m., while the Littletree Inn dining room and coffee shop will be open from 6 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Democrats move HQ — but not here

By BRUCE HAMMOND
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A call to move the state Democratic headquarters to Twin Falls sparked curiosity but little support from party leaders during weekend debate.

Instead, it was decided to simply move the office to another part of Boise — the Bush Mansion at the corner of 10th and Franklin streets.

The move, effectively, will cut the party's headquarters' expenses in half, party Chairman Marie Hanzel said Monday.

Following the decision to close the present $800-a-month office on Boise's downtown Eighth Street, a financially attractive offer to locate the headquarters in Twin Falls created dissension within the state organization.

George Anthony, the owner of a Buhl computer business and a member of the party's executive committee, offered to rent a Twin Falls house and supply computer services to the party at a nominal cost.

Supporters of the plan said it would reduce the party's overhead and move the headquarters conveniently closer to the party's prime leader, Hanzel, a Burley legal secretary.

"You could say the proposal did not get a lot of support when the actual votes were taken," Hanzel said.

She said she was divided between Boise and Twin Falls herself, but was closer to the party's prime leader.

"There were a lot of people in the party who were interested (in the Twin Falls plan), but in the end, they were afraid to try it," she said.

Members of the Democratic Standing Committee on Campaigns met in Boise on Saturday to examine three office proposals there. The Bush Mansion site, with its large parking lot, numerous first-floor rooms and attractive yard, easily won, she said.

Hanzel said it is not clear whether the party will rent just three rooms, for about $395 a month, or the entire first floor for about $450 a month. Both rentals include all utilities.

Hanzel said the "real monster" of the Eighth Street office was the heating cost. A move will be made before December, she said.

After saying he was disappointed his offer did not get more consideration, Anthony qualified himself. "I believe everything positive can be gotten out of this circumstance by pointing out the need for broader participation."

To aid Hanzel in leading the party from her Burley home, it was tentatively agreed that a toll-free telephone system will be purchased.

"The Twin Falls committee has already offered to chip in a sizable share for the telephone service," Hanzel said. "I think the Ada County Democrats will be asked to do the same, as an indication of their commitment to the Boise office."

Because of the in-house arguing about locating a new office, both

Anthony and Hanzel said some inner-party changes may come about.

"The past state chairman, Wayne Fuller of Caldwell, and myself will be working on a bylaws reform committee," Anthony said.

He said the goal will be to strengthen the rules governing the party's executive committee so that major decisions cannot be made solely by Ada County representatives.

"The whole executive committee should be involved in the decision-making process, which hasn't always been the case," Anthony said. "The other parts of the state need more of a voice. I think this has been indicated by the interest there was in moving the state headquarters away from Boise."

He said it is too early to know what changes he and Fuller may request.

But unemployment rates and a building within the cost of city government, and planning and zoning requirements are satisfied."

Council urges denial of home for retarded

By STEPHANIE SCHORW
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A proposed intermediate-care facility for the mentally retarded received a vote of disapproval Monday from a local health-planning council.

The Sub-area Advisory Council of the Idaho Health Systems Agency recommended disapproval for a plan to develop a 12-bed medical shelter home in the Twin Falls area.

However, the decision was modified by an attached statement that indicated the council's "unanimous support of the project if areas of finance, availability of a building within the cost limitations, and planning and zoning requirements are satisfied."

Jerry Fowler, the administrator for Gem State Homes, which sought the approval and which runs four similar facilities in Boise and Nampa, told the council that a location for the facility had not been finalized yet. He also said that if a site is located within the city's zoning limits, an eight-bed facility would be built because it would be exempt from planning and zoning requirements.

John Collins, the IHSA facilities review director, raised objections over the uncertainty of the facility's location and bed size, although both he and the council said there was a need for such a facility in this area.

The council's decision and statement will be forwarded to the IHSA executive board. The final decision on the $260,979 project will be made by the Idaho Health Facilities Review Board, which is appointed by the governor.

AIC president encourages cities to boost promotional campaigns

By SUSAN GALLAGHER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — One of the more prominent hats worn by members of city councils these days ought to be that of a salesman.

That's the opinion of Martin L. Peterson, the executive director of the Association of Idaho Cities.

Speaking at the AIC's annual Academy for City Officials in Twin Falls on Monday, Peterson told council members from throughout the Magic Valley, and from as far away as Stanley, that promoting their cities should be a high-priority task. Increasingly, he said, talks among Idaho's municipal leaders have turned to cities' growth potential.

"I guess that has a lot to do with the times. The economy of the state is rough right now."

But unemployment rates and other economic considerations aren't the only reasons to promote one's community. The folks at home, he said, often have little knowledge of what makes their cities run.

"I think you're going to be amazed at what you can do if you get your city who, with respect to city government, know nothing about it," Peterson told the group, which included a number of newly elected council members.

One way to give both local and non-local people more knowledge about city government would be through annual reports, similar to those distributed by scores of corporations, he said. Such reports are produced by only a few Idaho cities.

Peterson said the report would describe the things that went well — and what went poorly — for a city during the year. It could include historical data, employment and other information about the local economy, the state of the streets and municipal coffers, and projects in the works and those anticipated in years to come.

Newspaper supplements, funded through advertising, can be one means of producing such reports, he said. If a comprehensive report isn't feasible, cities could consider producing three- or four-page mimeographed summaries.

A spring tour is another way to acquaint people with a city. Each year, he said, Burley invites "opinion-molders" to a daylong tour of municipal facilities.

Scott will seek Olmstead's seat

By BRUCE HAMMOND
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The first candidate for the Legislature from the Magic Valley area announced Monday.

Donna Scott, a Twin Falls housewife and past president of the Twin Falls County Republican Women, said she will seek Rep. Ralph Olmstead's seat for District 25. Olmstead is running for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

It will be Scott's first political campaign.

"I'm not a token woman candidate," Scott, 47, told a meeting of the Twin Falls Republican Women Monday. "I'm not holding the seat for anyone and won't give it up once I start working for it."

Scott said Olmstead has encouraged her to seek his seat. If, for whatever reason, Olmstead were to pull out of the governor's race, Scott said she was confident he would not oppose her.

"I think he's too much the gentleman to do that now," she said. "Besides, I know he plans to win the governor election."

Candidates don't file for legislative seats until April 1982. The mother of six, Scott was born in Piler and is married to Jack Scott, who operates Scott's Refrigeration in Twin Falls.

She says she is a proponent of "Reaganomics," and she would stress education and law enforcement if elected.

"Of course, funding and taxes will probably always be the key issues facing Idaho," Scott said.

Chinese topple CSI for first win in U.S.

68 percent shooting in 2nd half pulls ROC from 15-point deficit

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — For the true definition of efficiency, refer to the second half of the People's Republic of China vs. College of Southern Idaho, Nov. 23, 1981.

The Chinese scored on 18 of their last 21 possessions to sweep from 15 points down and carry off an 86-79 decision over the Golden Eagles. They did it by shooting 68 percent in the second half, only slightly warmer than their 59 percent for the night. CSI hit 35 of 66 from the field.

They did it with excellent quickness, great outside shooting, limiting turnovers and sending five men to the boards for rebounds.

Finally, they did it by running with the Eagles until CSI grew tired. Then the Chinese stepped up the pace. The anticipated battle of the seven-footers never came off as CSI's Rick Tunstall stayed on the bench for unspecified disciplinary reasons and China's 7-2 Hui Pengshan never entered the game.

For a while it appeared a near capacity crowd was going to see a CSI victory. Late in the first half Gerald Kennedy and Mike Elliott combined to send the Eagles ahead by 15. They held that advantage three times in the second half and still had 13 to spare with just under 15 minutes left.

But at the point, China shifted gears. To that point CSI wasn't having much trouble getting the ball inside and probably owed the lead to follow shots and fast breaks. But not in the last 15 minutes. The Eagles got one follow-up tip by Charles Williams with six minutes left. Meanwhile, China sent all their men to the glass defensively and effectively closed off the inside. It substantiated what Coach Dave Campbell had feared.

"We got tired and stymied in the closing minutes. We played awfully hard. We had an emotional drain — we were so high at the start that the late emotional drain magnified our physical tiredness," he said.

"But we're pleased with the way our guys did some things. Kennedy and Elliott both played especially well in the first half but in the first half everyone played well. Very, very well in the first half."

"China is a very good ball team. They have excellent quickness and, hey, do they shoot the basketball? They are a very disciplined team."

China kept the ball with its scorers throughout the comeback and Xiang Weining, Wang Zongjian and Li Yaguang didn't disappoint their teammates often.

CSI tried to play man and accomplished it for the first 35 minutes. But as the physical toll began to tell, Campbell twice tried a zone in a hope to break up the Chinese tempo.

It didn't help. They simply whipped it into the corner where Yaguang and Zongjian constantly scored.

In the closing stages of the game, CSI tried too hard to hurry in its comeback attempt and ran into a rash of turnovers. CSI also got into trouble whenever one of its big men tried to put the ball on the floor. It never came back up to him.

That factor could well have formed a turning point because after China had rallied into a brief lead at the six-minute mark, CSI replied with a five-point flurry to regain it at 77-75. CSI then rebounded a rare missed shot but when the rebounder brought the ball down low, Yaguang took it away and turned it into a bucket and a tie. CSI didn't score again until 1:19 remained.

CSI had its happy moments in the second 10 minutes of the first half. The Eagles obviously were much more excited about the game than China, committing five quick fouls. Three of them went to Kennedy in the first 1:45. But Kennedy and the team settled down and the teams slugged through a succession of ties with CSI usually holding the two-point advantage.

CSI moved that to six points at 21-15 but China battled back into a 21 tie. At that point, Williams hit two buckets and Ken Moore added a jumper from sidcourt to re-open that six-point lead. Over the next three minutes the Eagles inched ahead and reached an 11-point lead when Elliott converted a three-point play with four four minutes left.

Twice after that Elliott and Kennedy, the last on a break-away slam dunk scored to open up a 42-27 advantage. The Eagles had it going but China wasn't ready to fall apart. At halftime it hung 13 points behind.

In the second half, China's scoring punch largely was provided by Weining for the first 10 minutes. He picked up 10 points to keep CSI within hailing distance while the Eagles got scoring from Kennedy, Lebro Bates, George Scott and Ron Beach. CSI last had its 15-point advantage at 58-43. Weining then tanked four points to start the comeback.

It took a while for it all to take effect as for the next five minutes it was two Chinese field goals to one for CSI. But with CSI leading 66-55, the wheels started coming off.

Yaguang hit a field goal and Weining added two more buckets before Phil Rohr got one for CSI. Yaguang then reeled off seven straight points to tie it at 68 with 8:57 left. Kennedy sent CSI back on top briefly before Libin, Zongjian and Yaguang came up with points to make it 73-70 for China.

After moving ahead 75-79 on another Zongjian bucket, China fell behind when CSI hit the five-point flurry with Scott getting three points and Kennedy two.

The last came with 4:12 left and while CSI battled through a series of missed shots and turnovers, Libin and Yaguang each hit twice. With 1:19 left in the game, Kennedy's two free throws got CSI off 77 but that was it.

Twin Falls will be remembered as THE win

By MARY CLEMENS
Times-News sports editor

TWIN FALLS — The select team from the Republic of China is visiting the United States to learn how to play better basketball.

Monday night our visitors also learned how to win.

Six-foot-1 Li Yaguang tossed in 27 points, including nearly every key basket down the stretch, as ROC handed College of Southern Idaho an 86-79 defeat, the Eagles' first setback in three games.

Zang Zhongshu, ROC's coach was all smiles as he answered questions concerning China's first victory of a three-week tour while on the other side, CSI skipper Dave Campbell kept reporters away from his players.

China trailed 48-35 at the half, a half during which Zhongshu said very little to his players and sat quietly on the bench, just the opposite of CSI's second-year skipper who paced the sidelines yelling frantic instructions to his players. Campbell used most of his roster while Zhongshu stuck with his opening quintet until a couple grew tired of the run-and-gun pace late in the half.

With some strong corner shooting and crowd-pleasing slam dunks, it appeared as if the Eagles were going to tack another loss on China's Northwestern-like record.

Enter Yaguang's clutch performance, some stellar inside scoring by 6-6 Xiang Weining, who scored 16 of his 18 points in the second half and deadly shooting.

China's inspired play trimmed the Eagles' lead slowly. ROC scored on 18 of its last 21 possessions and Twin Falls went down in the Chinese scrapbook as the place of victory.

Zhongshu, speaking through a translator, deputy leader Liu Juechou, admitted his lifetime talk had something to do with the win. "That's the coach's job," he said with a hearty smile, keeping the details to himself.

Twin Falls edges Bonneville for first victory

By MARCUS PRATER
Times-News writer

Girls' basketball

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls used three different players to spark its first victory of the season Monday night.

The Bruins used tough first-half defense and tough off the line to Bonneville to record a 49-43 triumph.

Marcia Depew and Lisa Krahn kept the Bruins ahead throughout the third period and Melanie Taylor's late fourth quarter foul shooting led the victory.

Bonneville tried unsuccessfully to break the Bruins' 2-1 zone in the first 16 minutes of play. The Bees were forced to shoot from the outside and trailed at halftime 26-15.

The third quarter was no different with Krahn getting 10 of her 12 points and Depew's defense putting the Bruins on top by 15 with just eight minutes remaining.

That lead diminished quickly with Bonneville's Tracy Hemming and Pam Ellis combining for 10 unanswered points. With the score at 45-40 at the 3:37 mark Ellis hit two free throws to close the gap.

However, the Bees, in a hurry to get close, became careless and sent Taylor to the charity strip twice. Taylor's converted on three of four and Angela Brady tossed in one more to give the Bruins their first win in four starts.

"It is always nice to get that first one," Bruins Coach Kathy Anderson said. "It was the kids' happy."

Bonneville isn't a real pressure team with the press like we have played so far this year. And the little press that they did throw at us we handled real well," Anderson said.

The Bruins had the definite advantage in the height category and took control of the offensive basket for most of the first half points. The Bruins outscored the Bees for the game 57-26.

Bonneville's Hemming proved she could shoot over the Bruins height with 18 points — most coming from the 15-foot range.

Twin Falls led in scoring by Krahn's 12 points and sophomore Jill Skeen (tossed in eight more).

"We've only had one practice since last Wednesday and that was just thrown together on Saturday. Now that we've won a game and have time for practice we'll start to get going," Anderson said.

The Bees' short and quick guards forced the Bruins into a familiar situation — turnovers. The Bruins committed 32 to Bonneville's 11. Hemming's partner in the back court, Mo McCormick, also found her way over the Bruins height with eight points.

"Our shots are starting to fall a little more and that is because we are shooting more. We did shoot better in the first half than in the second," Anderson said.

The Bruins host Idaho Falls Dec. 1. In the preliminary, the Bruin Junior varsity routed the younger Bees 49-28.

Butte County 48, Wood River 35

HAILY — Suffering a severe cold shooting streak in the middle of the game, Wood River High scored just six points in the second and third quarters and fell to Butte County, 48-35.

The Wolverines grabbed a 14-13 first-quarter lead, but Butte, led by Dana Barnes, switched to a man-to-man defense and stifled Wood River almost entirely.

Wood River Coach Chuck Turner pointed out that the Wolverines shot 46 percent in the first quarter, 16 percent in the second, zero percent in the third quarter and around 50 percent in the final period.

Barnes, who Turner lauded as an excellent all-around player, led Butte with 13 points before fouling out.

"She fouled out too late in the game to help us," Turner said. "She does it all for them."

As usual, Lori Pascoe led the 0-5 Wolverines with 17 points. "They win the game and Lori wins the shooting contest," Turner said.

Wood River will try again for its first victory tonight at home against Butte.

Shoshone 50, Richfield 31

RICHFIELD — Clarin Osborn's 19 points were all the Shoshone Indians needed to take a 50-31 win over Richfield Monday night.

Osborn hit on nine field goals and was one-for-three from the free throw line to give the Indians the needed points.

Shoshone opened up a 34-13 halftime lead and Richfield couldn't catch up. The Tigers outscored the Indians 16-16 in the meaningless final half.

"They scored 20 points on us before we could get on the board. Their three up girls pressed us and that rattled the girls. Plus they shot 50 percent from the field in the first half," Richfield Coach Jim Thomas said.

Richfield was led in scoring by Crystal Hlatt's nine points while 5-9 junior Connie Wolverter added eight more in a losing cause.

The Tigers, led by travel to Hansen Dec. 11 to battle the Huskies.

Shoshone also took the junior varsity game 30-10.

Bartkowski, Falcons battle back for 31-30 squeaker over Vikings

ATLANTA (UPI) — Steve Bartkowski brought the Atlanta Falcons back from the dead Monday night by throwing two of his three touchdown passes in the third quarter and linebacker Rusty Curry provided the last rites for Minnesota by scoring on a 35-yard interception with 4:06 left for a 31-30 victory over the Vikings.

The Falcons, who had to sweat out a fourth-quarter rally by Minnesota, fell behind 21-7 in the first half on Tommy Kramer's three touchdown passes.

But Bartkowski narrowed the margin to 21-14 with 10:28 left in the third period with a 3-yard touchdown pass to tight end Junior Miller and then tied the score three minutes later with a 29-yard touchdown pass to Wallace Francis.

On the next play his 25-yard pass to Alfred Jenkins was nullified by offsetting penalties.

The Falcons, 6-6 and still in the race for a wild-card berth, took the lead for the first time with 12:02 left in the final period on a 32-yard field goal by Mick Luckhurst and Curry applied the crusher when he picked off Kramer's pass on the Viking 35-yard line and raced down the right sideline carrying two tacklers with him the final 5 yards into the end zone.

The Vikings, desperately trying to get back into the game on the passing of Kramer, were undercut when Tom Priderome made the Falcons' fourth interception of the night at the Atlanta 4-yard line with 2:32 left.

The Vikings made a belated effort to win in the closing minutes when they forced the Falcons to take a safety. They then came storming down field after the free kick, scoring on Kramer's fourth touchdown pass of the night to cut the margin to one point with 1:10 remaining.

The Vikings tried an onside kick but the Falcons caught the ball on their 43 and ran out the clock.

Minnesota, dropping to 7-5 but still holding a one-game lead in the NFC Central, opened the scoring with 5:41 left in the first period when Kramer threw a 6-yard TD pass to Ahmad Rashad to cap an 89-yard, 7-play drive.

The Falcons tied the score with 1:07 left in the first period on an 8-yard pass from Bartkowski to Alfred Jackson five plays after Blane Gaison recovered a Viking fumble at the Minnesota 27.

However, the Vikings regained the lead on the next possession by driving 71 yards with the last 42 coming on a bomb from Kramer to Rashad with only 1:08 gone in the second period.

The next time the Vikings got the ball they drove from their 5-yard line to the Atlanta 9 but failed to score when Rick Danmer topped a 28-yard field goal attempt.

Huskies, Hawkeyes make big Top 20 jumps

NEW YORK (UPI) — While the top five college football teams held their positions for just the second time this season, the Rose Bowl participants, Washington and Iowa, made the biggest jumps Monday in the United Press International's Board of Coaches weekly rankings.

Sugar Bowl-bound Pittsburgh, 10-0 with a game on Saturday against Penn State, became the first team to return the No. 1 rating for four consecutive weeks. The Panthers, riding a 12-game winning streak, received 39 of the 42 first-place votes cast by the coaches — six from each of seven geographical sections of the country — on UPI's Board.

Pittsburgh, which posted a 35-0 victory over Temple on Saturday, received 627 points, one less than last week to easily outdistance No. 2 Clemson, which received the remaining three first-place votes and totaled 578 points. The Tigers, who completed their first undefeated regular season in 33 years, will meet Nebraska in the Orange Bowl on New Year's night.

Georgia, with a game against Georgia Tech on Dec. 5 before meeting Pittsburgh in the Sugar Bowl, is rated third followed by No. 4 Alabama and No. 5 Nebraska, the Big Eight champions.

Rounding out the Top 10 are No. 6 Texas, No. 7 Southern California, No. 8 North Carolina, No. 9 Penn State and No. 10 Washington. Washington advanced six places after a 23-10 victory over Washington State.

Iowa, which earned its first Rose Bowl berth in 23 years with a 36-7 triumph over Michigan State while Ohio State was beating Michigan 14-9, also jumped six spots to earn the No. 11 rating.

Brigham Young, the Western Athletic Conference champion, moved up three places to No. 12 followed by No. 13 Michigan, No. 14 Ohio State and No. 15 Southern Mississippi. Southern Mississippi slipped seven notches after losing 13-10 to Louisville.

Also, UCLA is rated No. 16 followed by No. 17 Arkansas, No. 18 Washington State, No. 19 Houston and No. 20 San Jose State.

Houston, which will meet Oklahoma in the Sun Bowl, returned to the Top 20 for the first time since the preseason while San Jose State is making its first appearance this season in the ratings.

Peach Bowl-bound West Virginia and Missouri, which will play Southern Mississippi in the Tangerine Bowl, dropped out of the Top 20.

China

Did his team play better than elsewhere on the U.S. tour? "We played a bad first half and a great second half. That was the difference."

A potential battle of gigantic centers: West Virginia's 7-1 Rick Tunstall stayed bolted on the CSI bench and ROC's 7-2 Han Pengshan, a second stringer, used an Olympus to become the world's tallest team photographer.

But that didn't matter. Yagang and Weiting were up to the test and an overflowing pro-CSI crowd saw the Chinese dominate the last 15 minutes.

"We went to L because they didn't guard him so close," Zhongshu said. "Your style of play is much more physical than ours."

Zhongshu was asked about his calm approach compared to Campbell's constant prancing. "We have different ways," he smiled.

"This is a learning trip for us. It would be good even if we didn't win a game," the deputy leader explained. "This is the team we are working with towards 1994."

Communist China will compete in the 1994 Summer Olympics for the first time in two years and it's likely several of the Chinese on the CSI form Monday night will return to the U.S.

Between now and then the team, which started playing together just a month before coming to the U.S., will probably play as many U.S. teams as possible.

The entourage closes their schedule with games at the University of Utah (Thanksgiving Day night) and at the University of Arizona Saturday night.

ISU to host playoff; Boise St. makes field

By The Times-News and United Press International

Idaho State and Boise State are two of the eight teams in the NCAA Division I-AA football playoffs. Idaho State, which clinched the league title Saturday in a thrilling, triple-overtime win against Weber State, will host one of four opening games, said Big Sky Conference Commissioner Ron Stephenson.

The second-ranked Bengals, boasting a 9-1 record, will host an as-yet-unnamed opponent on Dec. 5 at 7:30 p.m., Stephenson said. He said two other teams, No. 1 Eastern Kentucky and No. 3 South Carolina State, will also host opening-round games. The fourth host team has not been named.

Stephenson said the selection committee also extended playoff invitations to Rhode Island and Tennessee State, but both those teams were told their opening games would be on the road. The commissioner said it is still possible that Boise State, 9-2 after the regular season and ranked fourth in the division, will become the fourth host team.

The NCAA selection committee also said the final two berths in the eight-team playoffs have been narrowed down to Jackson State, Grambling, Delaware, Lafayette and Murray State.

Stephenson said Jackson State would gain an automatic berth (and probable home game) if it defeats Alcorn to win the Southwestern Conference. If Jackson State loses, Grambling would go into the playoffs, as the league winner.

Even if Jackson State loses its Alcorn contest, it might be selected as the final recipient of a playoff invitation, the commissioner said.

Jackson State has submitted a bid to host a quarterfinal game. If it makes the playoffs as a conference champion or as an at-large team, it will most likely be the fourth host team since its stadium can seat 48,000 people.

The other game is the Delaware versus Connecticut battle Friday. A victory for Delaware (8-2) would probably give it an at-large berth.

Idaho State sports information director Glenn Allford said a slight possibility exists that the Bengals could face rival Boise State in the quarterfinal.

Regardless of the opponent, tickets for the quarterfinal match at Idaho State will go on sale for the general public Nov. 30 at 9 a.m. at the Mindome. Reserved seats will be $8, goal line seats $6 and end zone seats $4.

Boise State Coach Jim Criner was elated when informed of the selection to put the defending national champions in the playoff picture. If the Broncos had lost to Idaho last Saturday night (it won 45-43), they could have dropped out of the playoff picture.

BSU did not hold practice Monday afternoon because of a large number of bumps and bruises suffered in the game against the Vandals. BSU sports information director Dave Mendolia said the Broncos will resume practice Wednesday.

Criner said last week there is a good chance the Broncos could host a semifinal game if they win in the first round.

This year's national championship game will be held in Wichita Falls, Texas. Last year the Broncos defeated Eastern Kentucky in Sacramento, Calif., in the title game.

Six-team playoffs to be recommended

Gem State retains same 'commitment' to Boise schools

By LARRY HOVEY Times-News Staff

TWIN FALLS — The Gem State Conference generally received what it wanted in Idaho state A-1 football match Monday.

The conference, maintaining it was a concession, saw to it that the six-team state playoff plan was recommended to the state board for the Idaho High School Activities Association. And it didn't schedule any more games with the "metro" schools (Boise, Borah, Capital and Meridian) than it did last year.

However, the Boise schools did come out of the scheduling situation better than it did last year. That largely occurred because Caldwell, Nampa, Lewiston and (possibly) Coeur d'Alene offered a couple more. However, Coeur d'Alene refused to fully commit.

The Gem State Conference used a letter as its basis for negotiating playoffs and regular season commitments.

This fall, Pocatello declined to let either of its teams participate in the playoffs because of the eight-team format. The Pocatello schools, later backed by Idaho Falls and its three high schools, recommended a maximum of four teams. (Gem State champion, metro champion, Cross State plus Nampa champ, and North Idaho Champ) advance to a four-game, two-week playoff.

In a letter dated Nov. 10, Rulon Ellis, Pocatello superintendent, said he would "propose a further concession from our original proposal" to include a six-team playoff. "In the above proposal, Pocatello and Highland High Schools will play at least four games with the metro league, provided we can match up with the Gem State Conference schedule."

With all but Sandpoint and Coeur d'Alene of the A-1 classification attending the meeting, a preference vote of four, six- or eight-team playoffs resulted in an 11-8 vote favoring the eight-team. The Gem State voted as a block against the rest of the state.

Acree told the group "we (metro schools) could live with a four-team playoff if we got concessions in our regular season schedule. We came down here prepared to go along with that. But we haven't found many concessions. The Gem State schools can't play us late (in the season) and we're no better off than we were last year."

"If we cut back (the number of games) in the playoffs, right now we're looking at Borah with six games and Boise and Capital with seven," he noted. "With the playoffs this year, we were able to get nine and 11 games for our three teams."

That prompted some date changing among the other teams and resulted in Borah getting seven games and Boise and Capital eight (if Coeur d'Alene comes through).

At that point the six-team playoff plan was reconsidered, piling the metro second place team against the North Idaho champion and the Cross State (plus Nampa) representative against Gem State runner-up, North Idaho and Cross State would be hosts.

The North Idaho-Metro runner-up winner would advance against the Gem State champion while the Metro champ would host the other team.

"I don't see," said Caldwell Athletic Director Jim Guy "how you think you are improving the playoffs. They take the same number of weeks to play and the only thing you've done is eliminate the opportunity for two teams to participate."

The six-team faction responded by saying the quality of entry would improve the playoff picture.

With a smile, Capital Athletic Director Francis McDonald suggested another way the Gem State could reduce its commitment to the playoffs in half and perhaps enhance that quality.

"If you only want one team from your league, why don't you give up your second-place spot and vote for a return to the wild card system? We'll give the eighth berth in the playoffs to the most deserving, unqualified team," he said. "If we (Capital) hadn't gotten into the playoffs and lasted two games this year, we would have had an eight-game schedule. You can't expect our students and players to respond to a situation like that."

Prior to the vote on the six-team proposal, Byron Toome of Pocatello explained to the non-Metro and non-Gem State teams that since their representation would remain the same and they would have first-round bye designations, they need not vote "since this doesn't concern you."

Acree suggested that "the way it was explained, it doesn't concern us (Metro) either so why doesn't the Gem State just vote."

Toome said the major difference in a wildcard and point system is the metro teams "don't have to play yourselves (to qualify). We might be able to play two of your teams on consecutive weekends but there's no chance we can play three straight. We don't have the resources to do that."

Dick Fleischmann of Pocatello suggested the Boise schools will have to double up against each other to fill their schedule.

"We have considered that," Acree said. "But with the schedule and dates you've left us with now, it's impossible. We can't even schedule Meridian against Borah. (That later was changed.)"

Fleischmann later said "you can't expect us (other Idaho schools) to do what other schools in other state and the national don't feel they can do (in refusing to meet the Boise teams who last year played teams as far away as California). They won't play you once and you want some of us to play you three times."

Although the schedule for next fall was completed, there was lack of agreement concerning maintaining it through the next several years.

"I have been here seven years," Minico Coach Mike Erving explained, "and we've had to go through this (re-scheduling) every year. We have won eight games in seven years and this year we won seven. We have a commitment to our players to build our program before we start enlarging our schedule. Maybe three or four or five years down the road we'll consider another game or two with a Metro team but right now we'll stick with Twin Falls and commit only one."

Twin Falls Athletic Director Duke Wiseman said Twin Falls would stay with one because "our travel budget is $23,000. It's 300 miles every time we go play a game east or west. Boise teams don't draw well here. So why should we give up a game with a team 15 miles away (Jerome) where we can have a following of local fans and better gate receipts?"

Rose Bowl officials not so happy

Bluebonnet likes UCLA-Michigan match

HOUSTON (UPI) — Bluebonnet Bowl officials Monday say they did not set out to pair Big Ten and Pac Ten conference teams, but now that have an attractive UCLA-Michigan match they are more than pleased despite consternation from Rose Bowl officials.

The New Year's Eve night game in the Astrodome for the first time since the 1950s pits teams from these two conferences in a bowl other than the Rose — a possibility that was outlawed until 1975 and taboo after that.

The Big Ten match with a Pac Ten — or team from the former Pac Eight — may be the first ever.

"It was a fluke," said Lan Bensten, president of the Greater Houston Bowl Association, which sponsors the Bluebonnet.

Sonny Yates, the Bluebonnet's matchmaker, explained that a lack of communication between UCLA Coach Terry Donahue and school administrators early last week led the Bluebonnet to believe UCLA would not give tentative agreement to playing in Houston if the Bruins did not get in the Rose Bowl.

"So we called the Big 10 later Monday," Yates explained, "and they said they were very interested in sending either Michigan or Ohio State down here."

Later Monday, UCLA got back to the Bluebonnet and said it would like to go to the Bluebonnet. At that point, Yates said, "we couldn't drop one in favor of the other."

The Bluebonnet had considered pairing Texas, Arkansas, Missouri or if UCLA officials had agreed initially. The Bluebonnet also had calls from Notre Dame and Penn State athletic officials.

Yates and Bensten said their game might provide interest and television ratings rivaling the Rose, which pairs Big Ten winner Iowa and Pac Ten winner Washington.

Until 1975, conference rules prohibited the second-place teams from attending bowls. When that rule was rescinded, there existed a gentlemen's agreement keeping Pac Ten and a Big Ten teams from meeting anywhere but the Rose.

Yates said he understood Rose officials feel the conferences have let them down by placing a Pac Ten-Big Ten match in opposition to the Rose.

"We're not competing — against them. We're the night before the Rose Bowl," Yates said. "We went into it knowing it was a tender situation. But what are we supposed to do? Both teams wanted to play."

He praised the commissioners of the two conferences for holding together the pairing.

UNLV's Knap will retire following Saturday's game

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — University of Nevada, Las Vegas head football coach Tony Knap Monday announced his retirement, effective following the Rebels' final game of the season Saturday against Texas-El Paso.

Knap, 66, told reporters he plans to go home to Washington to raise apples.

"I'm not just going to vegetate, I'll find something to do," said Knap. "We have 25 acres of apple orchards on a golf course in Walla Walla and we plan to put in about 20 (acres) more."

Knap, who took over the UNLV coaching job from Ron Meyer in 1976, after successful stints at Utah State and Boise State, is in his 19th year of coaching. He has compiled a record of 142-53-4, the seventh winningest major college coach entering this season. He has had only one losing season in his career.

During six seasons at the helm of the Rebels, he has guided the school to 46-20-2 record.

Knap took over a UNLV team that was small college power and developed the program into a respectable major college program. The school enters the Pacific Coast Athletic Association next year.

The Rebels, who have struggled to a 5-6 record this year, started the season with promise, but 40 injuries, including 13 players out for the year — among them the entire defensive line — turned the campaign into a very long fall.

"These six years have been great," said Knap. "I've seen things here that are vital, stimulating and promising."

Mecom says leadership void created by Phillips' firing is Oilers' problem

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Houston Oilers' inability to make the playoffs for the first time in four years is a result of a leadership void left when Bum Phillips was fired, the owner of New Orleans Saints says.

John Mecom Jr. of Houston, who watched his Saints beat the Oilers 27-24 Sunday, said as a true Oilers fan he would suffer a "moral hangover if I wished bad for them."

"But they have to realize," he added, "they need some leadership over there. And I don't mean on the field."

He refused to say whether he referred to Oilers' owner K.S. "Bud" Adams Jr., General Manager Ladd Herzog, Head Coach Ed Biles or someone else.

"Sometimes you can get too excited after a win like this," said Mecom, who for a change is enjoying some success. The Saints had a 1-15 record last season while the 1980 Oilers, under Head Coach and General Manager Bum Phillips, were 11-5.

Mecom verbally hired Phillips within hours of his firing at Houston and then Phillips hired most of the Oilers' assistant coaches, a move which irked Oilers' officials enough to file tampering charges with the league office and seek compensation.

Mecom said Adams, a close neighbor of his in the posh River Oaks section of Houston, has not returned phone calls or responded to messages for five months despite their long friendship.

During pre-game drills Sunday, Mecom said a number of disappointed Oilers visited with him.

"I hate to have 30 of the 45 players come over to me and ask me for advice how can they survive the season," he said. "I've been an Oilers' fan since childhood. I hate to see this happening to them."

He credited Phillips, a coach who was highly popular with Oilers' players, with being the catalyst for spirited play by both teams in the game.

"It's a hell of a note that 'Bum coached for both ballclubs,'" he said.

Phillips was the Oilers' coach from 1975 to 1980, and he was afforded the homecoming of a war hero in the Astrodome. Fans gave him two standing ovations before the game and at least 17 Oilers found him afterward and shook his hand.

Afterward, he beaurghed Biles at midfield and then refused to be drawn by reporters into criticizing the Oilers' front office.

"I felt a little sadness because I know those kids," he said. "I went down Houston's roster before the game and I brought most of them in here. You can't laugh and cry and spend as many hours together as we did and not have some feelings."

Says he made two bad play choices

Vermeil takes blame for loss to NY

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Dick Vermeil blamed himself Monday for the two big plays that spelled the difference in Philadelphia's loss to the New York Giants, but the Eagles' coach refused to second-guess his overall play-calling.

A missed signal on a fake punt call and a sideline pass by Ron Jaworski that was intercepted and returned for a touchdown by Terry Jackson helped the Giants defeat the Eagles, 20-10, Sunday for the first time in six years.

At his weekly news luncheon Monday, Vermeil said if he had it to do over, he would have not called either play.

"It (the fake punt) was a stupid call on my part," he said. "We had a breakdown in concentration and execution. We felt we needed a first down to get something going. You have to take chances as a coach but I probably wouldn't do it today if I had time to think about it."

"On the interception, Charlie (Smith) drove down and the guy (Jackson) started back. He was hanging loose and I thought he'd have to drop back, but he didn't. Instead, if I had to do it over again, I would have called a screen. It wasn't a good call on my part. It was more my fault than Ron's."

On the fake punt, called on fourth-and-inches at the 23, center Guy Morriss was supposed to snap the touchdowned the game.

Vermeil's play-calling in the second half was the subject of much disapproval from the long-dormant boobirds at Veterans Stadium. But the coach said he questioned himself only on one call — a pass play following Dennis Harrison's fumble recovery at the New York 38 in the third quarter.

The drive stalled and Tony Franklin missed a 52-yard field goal attempt.

"Heck, we had the ball on our 4, 6, 12 and 14 (in the second half)," Vermeil said. "When you have a good defensive team in a tight football game, you try to be intelligent with what you do. Against the Giants, you have to be very concerned about what you do in that situation."

Despite the mistakes, Vermeil praised the Giants and coach Ray Perkins for snapping a 12-game losing streak against his team.

"I know we're a better football team than that," he said. "I thought we were a better team than the Giants but we didn't prove that yesterday. They are one of the best defensive teams we play. Their desire to win was a degree or two higher than our football team. I salute Ray Perkins for the job they did. It was a big win for them."

The defeat dropped the Eagles, 9-3, into a tie with the Dallas Cowboys for first place in the NFC East. Their task of overtaking the Cowboys is even more difficult since they play their next three games on the road, beginning with Miami next Monday night.

"They're all big-games," Vermeil said. "The division will not be decided until all four games are played. I know we're good enough to win all four, but still, we can lose all four. That's the way it is in this league."

Dryer sues Rams

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Former Los Angeles Rams defensive end Fred Dryer, cut by the team last month despite his "no-cut" contract, filed a $5 million suit against the Rams Monday.

The suit, filed in Superior Court, seeks $5 million in punitive damages and an additional sum, to be determined later, in actual damages.

Dryer's attorney, Sanford Gage, said the 13-year NFL veteran suffered "severe emotional distress" because of the way in which he was fired.

"They ended my career," said the 35-year-old Dryer, the New York Giants' first-round draft pick in 1969 out of San Diego State. "They cut me and I had a no-cut contract. And they not only fired me once, they brought me back and then they fired me again. I miss the game. I miss playing. That was my life and the Rams hurt me badly."

The suit, naming the Rams' organization as the defendant, cites allegedly improper acts including wrongful termination, bad faith and intentional infliction of emotional distress.

"Punitive damages are requested to make an example of the defendant so that other athletes will be protected," Gage said. "Also on behalf of the public, who has an interest in preserving the quality of professional sports."

John Thomas, another attorney hired by Dryer, said, "At this point, we have gone beyond the point of a settlement with the Rams. They had their chance. Now, there's no turning back. We tried to settle."

Thomas claims the Rams still owe Dryer $500,000 in deferred salary but said the team has refused to give him an accounting of money owed.

The Rams refused to comment on the matter Monday.

Rutigliano: Browns won't give up

BEREA, Ohio (UPI) — Browns Coach Sam Rutigliano turned into a realist at his weekly news conference Monday, admitting the playoffs are just about out of reach but vowing the Browns would play like they still had a chance for post-season competition.

Though Cleveland has not been "mathematically" eliminated from either the AFC Central Division title or a wild card spot, Sunday's 3-20 wipeout by the Pittsburgh Steelers left the Browns with a 5-7 record, four games out of first with four left to play.

"These are the times which prove the character of a football team," said

Rutigliano. "Our responsibility to this community is to those who watch our game. It is to continue just as if we were still in the playoffs."

Sunday, the Browns host the Cincinnati Bengals, who are on the verge of replacing Cleveland as AFC Central champion.

Rutigliano said, as he's often said this season — that he doesn't have any answers to why a team which went 11-5 last season with basically the same personnel is having so much trouble this year.

"It's unfortunate we're in the position we are now, but it's my responsibility," he said.

THEISEN MOTORS ANNOUNCES Greatest Clearance Sale In Almost 30 Years.

We Want November To Be Our Best Month Ever!

Emmett Harrison announced today that Theisen Motors is starting a 7 day clearance sale of all the new and used cars on his lot.

"This will be our biggest sale in almost 30 years of business. Because of the high flooring costs, we must cut our inventory. We will be open today at 7:00 a.m. and for the next 7 days you will never find a better car buy than at Theisen Motors. We have over a million dollar inventory too and all must go. We are passing tremendous savings on to you.
