Security up for officials

U.S. fears Khadafy hit squads

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Four cars loaded with police and Secret Service agents accompanied Secretary of State Alexander Haig to the Pentagon Friday, part of an apparent increase in protection for officials.

The heavy security was observed amid warnings that Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy had issued orders to assassinate high-ranking U.S. officials and ambassadors abroad.

"The Reagan administration has increased security protection of senior officials to an all-time high because of new intelligence warnings of Libyan assassination plots," ABC News reported.

"Suspected Libyan agents are reported to have crossed from Canada into the United States in recent weeks, while known Libyan assassination teams have been detected moving about in Western Europe."

Most U.S. spokesmen declined comment. But one senior official, asked about the possibility of hit squads operating in the United States, said earlier this week, "With all the stories going around about it, there is bound to be some fire behind the smoke."

Reporters said Haig, en route for one of his regular breakfast meetings with Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, drove through the Pentagon grounds with a convoy of police and Secret Service cars, before and after his limousine.

The network said the FBI, the Secret Service and State Department security experts were investigating reports of Libyan hit squads with FBI Director William Webster as the coordinator.

"We're not making any comment," an FBI spokesman said.

"We're skirting it all the way," said a Secret Service spokesman.

"I just can't say anything about potential threats," said a White House official. But a presidential aide said, "You can never be sure... There are threats every day."

ABC said "Additional manpower and security devices have been ordered for President Reagan and top-level Cabinet officials."

"Other officials report that special jamming equipment has been installed in presidential planes to ward off any SAM-7 missiles which Libyan assassins are reported to carry."

"In Washington, Secretary Haig and even Mrs. Reagan have been assigned additional agents for lead and backup cars which enable motorcades to pass through traffic lights without stopping anywhere where they might be misdirected targets."

"Believing he is inadequately protected," said the network report, "one ambassador in Europe has offered to spend thousand of dollars of his own money to pay for a private British security force to guard him and for a German-made armored limousine..."

"These unprecedented countermeasures went into effect secretly after U.S. intelligence picked up reports that Colonel Khadafy has boasted privately that his agents will kill Reagan and his top officials and that the assassins will not necessarily be Libyan."

"A Secret Service official told ABC News tonight that American agents are tracing a trail of money from Libyan business interests which allegedly is intended to pay Libyan hit men in the United States."

Administration sources reported Oct. 25 that Maxwell M. Rabb, the U.S. ambassador to Italy, was recalled two weeks earlier, partly because of a threat by terrorists to kidnap and assassinate him.

Israel delays decision on Sinai truce force

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Alexander Haig succeeded in delaying an Israeli vote on European participation in a Sinai truce force, a source said.

After the seven hours of talks Friday with Israeli Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir at the State Department ended, Haig and Shamir were guarded but optimistic about the prospects for narrowing the gap between the two sides.

The issue is whether four European countries should take part in the truce force even though they have expressed reservations about the Camp David peace process.

An Israeli source said Shamir expressed readiness to come to some understanding that would prevent a breakdown of the peace process, and that the Israeli cabinet would not take a vote on the issue of European participation when it meets Sunday.

The source said the Israeli cabinet will focus its attention on the second draft of a memorandum of agreement that is being carried back to Israel by Shamir. That memorandum deals with the issue of strategic military cooperation between the United States and Israel.

Israel wanted extensive military cooperation; the United States wanted only limited, temporary naval exercises.

Shamir used the word "cooperation" rather than the phrase Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin had used in September — "strategic alliance." The difference in phrasing appeared to mean the Israelis have accepted a lesser degree of military cooperation.

The Israeli source said the cabinet will discuss the draft and if it is acceptable, Israeli Defense Minister Ariel Sharon will be sent to Washington late Sunday to meet with American officials on Monday.

If the draft is not acceptable, Sharon will not come to Washington.

"It was a worthwhile and important visit," the Israeli foreign minister later reported. "I will bring several ideas and the cabinet will decide."

Haig described the meeting as "very extensive, constructive, and valuable."

Shamir, speaking in Hebrew to Israeli reporters, indicated the talks may alter Israel's firm opposition to the four European nations that do not support the Camp David peace process and have urged Israel to negotiate with the Palestinians.

The foreign minister said he will report to a meeting of the Israeli cabinet.

Snow no match for highway crews

By GLEN WARCHOL Times-News writer

SHOSHONE — The Magic Valley's first real snowfall Friday was little more than a dress rehearsal for well-prepared state and county highway crews.

"We haven't had any unusual problems," said Bill Thomason, state District 4 maintenance supervisor when contacted Friday evening in his office in Shoshone. "We were prepared for it."

Soon after the snow began blanketing the valley at about dawn Friday morning, the state snowplow crews went to work. Thirty-three trucks, mounted with plowing and sanding equipment, moved out from strategic locations throughout District 4.

The district encompasses a tangle of state roads and highways, roughly from Stanley in the north to the Nevada and Utah state lines in the south, and from Glens Ferry in the west to the Craters of the Moon National Monument in the east.

But this imposing chunk of roads, sugared by mid-morning with two inches of snow in the Twin Falls area to four inches in Sun Valley, gave plowing crews no exceptional problems, Thomason said.

With their front-mounted blades, the trucks remove the bulk of the snow from the roads, then the bed-mounted sander scatters a mixture of salt and sand onto the pavement.

"The trucks are manned, Thomason said, by 70 to 80 trained, and usually veteran, drivers. New drivers are given training in snow plowing and diesel truck driving before the snow ever flies. They also make dry runs on the routes they will be responsible for keeping open in the winter.

"We run them over the roads or let them ride with a seasoned man," Thomason said. "Familiarity is important; it's difficult to plow a road you don't know."

Most of the roads in the lower elevations were clear by 3 p.m. Friday. But in the higher elevations the state trucks were hindered by continuing snowfall.

"That's the value of the sand and salt mixture," Thomason said. "If the storm continues, the brine keeps the snow from laying on the surface." The same snow-removal efficiency held for the county highway districts as well.

"We were fairly well prepared," said Carolyn Jones, the secretary-treasurer of the Buhl Highway District, echoing reports from county districts throughout the valley. "The sanders are in full force, and everything is pretty well under control."

Magic Valley motorists, for the most part, used their snow-driving savvy to avoid serious accidents.

During the morning, the Idaho State Police reported only one minor accident with no injuries.

"Everyone is really driving carefully," said an ISP dispatcher.

Twin Falls City police records listed only a handful of minor fender-benders during the day. In the county, icy conditions were a contributing factor in an accident at 10:30 a.m. in which a semi-truck jackknifed near the intersection of U.S. 20 and 30.

Winter prediction: Lots of snow for Northwest

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The winter will be colder than normal east of the Mississippi River and warmer than usual west of the Rocky Mountains, the National Weather Service predicted Friday.

Donald Gilman, chief of the agency's prediction branch, said it will be stormier and wetter than normal along the southeastern rim of the country, from Cape Hatteras, N.C. to the Texas Gulf Coast. Stormy, wet weather also is predicted for the Pacific Northwest and an area in the Northeast from Pennsylvania to Maine.

"The mountains of the Northeast will have a good chance to pick up snow for slides," Gilman said. "The same for the Pacific Northwest, but we're not looking for the same in Colorado, another big ski area."

The Northwest will be influenced by air flows originating over Japan and the mid-Pacific, which should bring greater than normal precipitation, he said.

The National Weather Service, part of the Commerce Department's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, said based on past experience, the temperature outlook has a 65 percent chance of being accurate.

"The precipitation figures carry a 55 percent chance of accuracy. "A cold winter is expected for the Northeast, the South and the Midwest (east of Minnesota)," the weather service said.

"The outlook that we have for this year bears a fairly close resemblance for the winter of 1969-70," Gilman said. "That was a fairly harsh winter for the eastern part of the country."

Gilman offered no prediction of temperatures for a broad area in the nation's midsection, from North Dakota south through the Missouri Valley into Oklahoma and Texas, but said an area extending from Arizona to the western Great Lakes will be drier than normal.

"The dryness should not be a major factor for farmers, however, because they received higher than normal rainfall this fall, Gilman said.

The 90-day outlook, covering December through February, has been unusually difficult to prepare because of great fluctuations in weather this fall, Gilman said.

"The fall outlook was terrible," he said. "I believe the score will be about 40 percent right, which puts the forecast among the worst 10 percent (in terms of accuracy). That was a real clinker."

Two major bands of cold air — one from the Arctic Circle heading toward Minnesota, and the other from Greenland directed toward the Great Lakes — will influence the weather for the eastern half of the country.

No prediction was made for the extent of precipitation in a zone extending from Southern California through the northern Rocky Mountains into the northern Great Plains, or for the Ohio-Valley and the mid-Atlantic states, Gilman said.

9 arrested in 'Reaganville'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Park Police arrested nine protesters near the White House Friday, most of them members of a social action group.

The group set up a "Reaganville" on Thanksgiving to dramatize the plight of the homeless.

Police said they took two women and four men into custody at the tent city in Lafayette Square across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House and arrested one woman and two men on the sidewalk outside the executive mansion.

All were charged with demonstrating without a permit and unlawful camping and held for action by District of Columbia Superior Court.

They were released on personal recognizance Friday night and ordered to appear in court Jan. 5. As they were leaving the jail, one member shouted to reporters the group plans "to return to Lafayette Park next week with tents" and would hold a news conference Monday to elaborate on their plans.

Earlier, Wendy Bobbitt, a member of the Community for Creative Non-Violence, said the group had not decided whether to return to the park. They had planned to camp there through the winter but federal authorities denied them a permit.

She identified those arrested as Mitch Snyder 38, organizer of the group; members Richard Miller 23, Justin Brown 21, Carol Fennelly 33, and Patty MacDonell 22; and Robert Duncan, Elizabeth Ternay and William Thomas, Herman Antoine, who have been demonstrating separately in front of the White House since June 2.

Park Police arrest demonstrator across from White House

The protesters modeled their "Reaganville" on the "Hoovervilles" erected by victims of the Great Depression, during and after the presidency of Herbert Hoover. "Welcome to Reaganville — Reaganomics at Work. Growing every day," said a sign next to the 10 tents.

"The safety net is nothing but a bunch of holes through which millions of people are falling," Snyder said. "We know, who are down there serving the people who suffer the indignities of absolute poverty."

Both sides appear serious for East-West nuclear talks

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — The United States called on the Soviet Union Friday to turn the upcoming negotiations to reduce nuclear weapons in Europe into a blueprint for a "new era" in East-West relations.

Veteran arms control negotiator Paul H. Nitze, arriving in Geneva for the talks that open Monday, said the negotiations will be "complex and delicate" and he warned against "unrealistic expectations."

But "the present state of anxiety and the imperatives of establishing peace give the United States and the Soviet Union every reason to be sincere in their efforts," Nitze said.

"I feel that there are prospects for reaching a fair, equitable and verifiable agreement which could be the blueprint for a new era of East-West relations," he said.

Nitze's remarks came as a senior Western diplomat in Moscow said Kremlin leaders now believe President Reagan is serious about arms control and are ready to talk in good faith.

"I have raised this question with Soviets and the private response I get is 'We're serious, we think you are serious, how let's get to talking,'" said the diplomat, who asked not to be identified.

Nitze, a former deputy secretary of defense and negotiator at earlier SALT talks, said he would be "reasonable and tough" at the new round of talks.

Chief Soviet negotiator Yuli A. Kvitsinsky arrives Saturday when Nitze flies to Hamburg for a briefing from West-German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt on his talks this week with Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev.

Reagan, in a speech Nov. 18, offered to cancel the planned deployment of 572 American nuclear missiles in Western Europe if the Soviets agree to dismantle all 630 missiles they have deployed in Eastern Europe.

Moscow countered with an offer of "substantial" reductions in its nuclear missiles if the United States cancels deployment of the Cruise and Pershing II missiles.

Differences over what kind of nuclear missiles and delivery systems should be included in the talks kept the two sides apart.

Allen rumors continue to grow

WASHINGTON (UPI) — National security adviser Richard Allen did not have a key to the government office or the combination to the safe where he left $1,000 given him by a Japanese magazine for an interview with Nancy Reagan, White House sources said Friday.

And both presidential counselor Edwin Meese and deputy press secretary Larry Speakes denied a report by the Wall Street Journal the White House has begun looking for a replacement for Allen as national security adviser.

"We're just waiting for the results of the Justice Department review," Meese told UPI. "I will also deny it."

Speakes told reporters in California, where President Reagan is spending the holiday weekend.

Allen is under investigation for accepting the cash from the Japanese reporter who met Mrs. Reagan in the White House Jan. 21. He has said he put the cash in an office safe, meaning to turn it over to the proper authorities, but "forgot" about it until it was found in September.

The Justice Department is expected to recommend by mid-December whether a special prosecutor should be appointed in the case.

The Japanese newspaper Mainichi reported in its Saturday editions the magazine, Shufu No Tomo (Housewife's Friend), also gave Allen a mysterious "big present" for setting up the interview.

"I have no comment. I don't know what they're talking about," Allen said.

Mainichi said Japanese police uncovered information Tanotsu Takase, a longtime friend and business associate of Allen's, delivered the present to Allen Jan. 18 — three days before the interview and two days before he moved into his White House office.

Takase's wife Chizuko works for the magazine and served as interpreter at the interview.

Mobil fights for Marathon in court

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — A Mobil Corp. attorney Friday accused directors of the Marathon Oil Co. of rejecting lucrative merger offers from other companies, then engineering a "sweetheart deal" with U.S. Steel Corp.

A hearing on Mobil's request for a temporary restraining order against that deal between the nation's No. 1 steelmaker and 17th largest oil company was to continue today in U.S. District Court.

In three hours of questioning by Mobil attorney John C. Elam, Marathon President Harold Hoopman testified that after Mobil offered Oct. 31 to buy 51 percent of Marathon's stock at $85 a share, Marathon got better offers from Gulf Oil and Allied Chemical Co.

Gulf offered $120 a share, Hoopman said, but was rejected because of several strings attached, including that antitrust action by the government could be avoided and that Marathon would option 10 percent of its best oil field, the rich Yates field in western Texas for $280 million.

The Allied Chemical offer involved Marathon's purchase of Allied's Union of Texas firm, plus $3.5 billion in cash. Hoopman said that Marathon directors rejected that as too much.

In contrast, Mobil Wednesday escalated its original offer from $5.1 billion to $6.5 billion, while U.S. Steel's offer amounts to about $6.3 billion.

But Elam said Marathon's directors, many of whom are also company executives, acted on their own behalf rather than for stockholders, and stacked the deck illegally in favor of the Pittsburgh steel company.

Elam said U.S. Steel got its "sweetheart deal" in exchange for guarantees to the directors that Marathon would remain in Findlay, Ohio, under the present corporate structure and would become a wholly owned subsidiary of U.S. Steel.

In return, he contended, Marathon granted U.S. Steel an exclusive option to buy the Yates field, which he called the "crown jewel" of Marathon's holdings for a cut-rate $2.8 billion, even if Marathon were taken over by a third party.

The steel company also got an option to buy an additional 10 million shares of unissued Marathon stock above the 30 million shares involved in the tender offer for $90 each.

Hoopman admitted "these options put a tilt in favor of U.S. Steel," but that legal counsel had advised that Marathon could win any court challenge of the options.

Power council a waste?

Budge wants Idaho to end participation

BOISE (UPI) — Senate President Pro Tem Reed Budge says he will consider a legislative attempt to make the Northwest Planning Council's Idaho delegation more accountable because he doesn't like the way it is operating.

Budge, R-Soda Springs, said Friday the federal Northwest Power Act — under which the council was created — is "the worst thing that has ever happened to Idaho" and he would like to end Idaho's participation in it.

Although he said in a telephone interview that withdrawing Idaho from the council would not be realistic, Budge said the Legislature should keep a close eye on the council. Budge has been critical of Gov. John Evans and the three appointments he has made to the council, which also includes Oregon, Washington and Montana.

Evans, a Democrat, this fall accepted the resignation of one of the two Democrats who originally made up Idaho's two-member delegation and replaced him with Republican Larry Mills. But Budge said Mills lacked experience in the energy field and that his age — 69 — was a drawback.

Budge, who has said he may challenge the appointments of Mills and Democrat Robert Saxvik when they come before the Idaho Senate for confirmation, said Friday he had several complaints about the council.

Idaho's council-office has "a full-time staff, a full-time staff and full-time expenses," in contrast to the other three member states, Budge said.

He said a preliminary examination has indicated the Idaho council staff is spending thousands of dollars more per year than the council staffs in the other states.

"It looks like they're just building a mini-bureaucracy," Budge said. "I see no reason why they can't operate with a minimum staff and part-time advisers."

Budge said the Power Council's biggest job — drafting a power plan for the Northwest — will be completed within a couple of years and the panel will not need much of a staff after that.

Robert Lenaghen, director of the six-person staff of the two council members from Idaho, said it may appear the Idaho delegation is spending more money than its counterparts in Oregon and Washington, but the expenses are similar.

Lenaghen said each state has been allocated $21,500 for the current fiscal year from Bonneville Power Administration funds. He said Idaho's delegation operates independently of other energy agencies in Idaho and might end up spending that entire sum.

Accident kills Idaho woman

By United Press International

A 20-year-old Cascade woman died in a head-on collision on Idaho Highway 55 near Banks Friday, bringing the state's Thanksgiving holiday traffic toll to two.

Idaho State Police said Vikki Michele Matlock was a passenger in a car driven by Cynda Herrick, age unknown, Cascade, when the accident occurred about three miles south of Banks at 2 p.m.

The vehicle driven by Ms. Herrick was passing a cattle truck in a no-passing zone when it collided with a pickup truck driven by Donald Hart, age unknown, Boise, officers said.

They said passengers in each of the vehicles sustained injuries in the accident — but they did not know how many were injured, and how severely, early Friday night because troopers still were working on their reports.

A 20-year-old Freedom, Wyo., woman died Thanksgiving day in a two-vehicle collision on U.S. 26 about 10 miles west of the Idaho-Wyoming border, state police said.

Allison Izatt was a passenger in a vehicle that was attempting to pass another car when the accident occurred.

Group enters highway flap

WALLACE (UPI) — Officials of the National Advisory Council on Historic Preservation have entered the long-running flap over whether an interstate highway should be extended through Wallace.

The council has scheduled a meeting Dec. 9 in the northern Idaho city to hear the views of residents about the state Transportation Department's plan to build Interstate 90 through the community. Some residents have expressed opposition to the proposal.

Council officials said there is concern on the panel about what effects the project might have on the historical characteristics of the mining town.

Governor plans trip to Kellogg

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. John Evans will travel to Kellogg next week to meet the Silver Valley Economic Task Force for discussions on the state's effort to soften the impact of the Bunker Hill Co. closure.

A spokesman said Friday the governor would be in the northern Idaho city Tuesday morning for the conference and then fly back to Boise that afternoon.

After Gulf Resources & Chemical Co. announced in late August that it would close Bunker Hill — a lead, zinc and silver mine and smelter firm — Evans created the task force in the hope of attracting a buyer for the Kellogg company.

But major potential investors have declined to buy Bunker Hill, and Task Force officials now have little hope that a buyer can be found in time to prevent the total shutdown.

Earlier this month, Evans said the state must "face reality" that a buyer probably won't surface, and he ordered state agencies to prepare to give aid to the Kellogg area to lessen the effects of the closure, which will mean the layoff of 2,100 workers by the time the shutdown phase ends sometime next year.

A gubernatorial assistant Friday said Evans' Kellogg trip was scheduled so he could oversee organization of the work of the state Employment and Health and Welfare departments as they set up special services in the area in preparation for a surge in unemployment.

Task Force and state agency officials will be joined by local officials at the meeting, the governor's spokesman said.

Woman will fight to prove her innocence

BOISE (UPI) — Juanita Iwakiri got out of prison just in time to spend Thanksgiving with her family, but the pain of her conviction on a kidnapping charge remains.

She has vowed to fight until she proves she is innocent.

"I will not give up just because I'm out of prison," Mrs. Iwakiri said at home after she was reunited with her husband, Mike, and their two children. "Only me and God know the truth, and it's unfair that only us two know."

Mrs. Iwakiri, who has appealed her conviction on a second-degree kidnapping count to the Idaho Supreme Court, spent four months at the North Idaho Correctional Institute after she was convicted by a Boise jury earlier this year.

Although she will not have to return to prison unless she violates her probation, Mrs. Iwakiri said she never will be truly free until she clears herself.

She maintained she had no knowledge of Tiffani Wise, the girl she was accused of concealing over a 2½-year period, or her half sister, Brandi Summers. Both girls have been missing since March 30, 1977, when their mother, Beverly Wise, was murdered at her home in San Bernardino, Calif.

Neighbors of the Iwakiris testified during her trial that they saw the girls at the Iwakiri home. Mrs. Iwakiri said she was taking care of two children who resembled the missing girls.

Plea bargain OK without lawyers

BOISE (UPI) — Prosecutors can negotiate pleas from criminal suspects without prior approval from a defense lawyer, the Idaho Supreme Court says in an opinion affirming a murderer's conviction and life prison term.

Larry Allen Ruth had contended that "procedural defects" effectively denied him his constitutional right to counsel leading up to his conviction for killing a man in a Caribou County barroom brawl and shooting in 1978.

But the high court said in its unanimous opinion that prosecutors did not act improperly when they obtained a guilty plea from Ruth in a discussion conducted in the absence of a public defender.

Lawsuit disputes mine ownership

BOISE (UPI) — A Nevada firm said Friday it thought it bought all stock in an Idaho gold-mining company, but later discovered a Texas man claimed he owned another 200,000 shares.

Storm fails to deter Christmas sales kickoff

Clerks at The Homestead gift shop in Twin Falls are into the holiday spirit

Shoppers browse through vast array of gifts

By SUSAN GALLAGHER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Snow-slickened streets didn't deter Christmas shoppers in Twin Falls on Friday, as retailers citywide held sales to launch their busiest season of the year.

Traffic was brisk in downtown stores and at the Blue Lakes and Lynwood shopping centers, and for the most part, merchants had seasonal employees on board to help handle the influx.

"We see the greatest amount of traffic on the day after Thanksgiving, but it's not the busiest day in terms of sales," said Melinda Croghan, the manager of Lerner's, a clothing store in the Blue Lakes Mall.

"Today, we're seeing a lot of people who are out with their children and just looking," Croghan said. It appeared that at Lerner's, Friday's sales volume would be on par with that experienced on the day after Thanksgiving last year.

Other Twin Falls merchants offered the same assessment.

"Our busiest day last year was Christmas Eve," said Donna Orr, the manager of Ann's Hallmark, also located in the Blue Lakes Mall. She said that the greatest demand for Christmas cards at her gift and card store will occur next week. Demand already has been steady, and she doesn't foresee increased postal rates dampening the public's desire to send cards.

Whether they were buying or browsing on Friday, people had a boggling array of items to peruse, particularly in the area of books, toys and novelties.

For the fitness-minded business person, a bookstore is offering "Eat and Run — Your 1982 Diet, Exercise and Engagement Calendar." For $7.95, you can have a place to record your "engagements, feelings," in a column so titled, depending on whether you pursued an engagement or ran on a particular day.

For the stiver, there is "The 365 New-Words-A-Year Calendar." It does what it promises: exposes the owner to a new word every day as he tears a page off of the calendar. The word is accompanied by its definition and pronunciation, and it is used in a sentence that presents the word in context.

Also among bookstore offerings are the hardbound "Invitation to a Royal Wedding," a $10.98 pictorial essay about the extravagant nuptials of you-know-who, and a burgundy-colored loose-leaf binder called "California Wine Label Album." Presumably, one takes it on a trip through the California wine country and fills it with winners' labels, alongside blurbs about acidity and sugar content.

When it comes to toys, television and movies apparently haven't lost any impact.

Pam Stewart, a clerk in the toy department at Pedersen's downtown, said that games, remote-control toys and other gadgetry featuring a Star Wars theme are as strong as ever. The Lone Ranger theme also is popular.

Demand for tea sets and doll carriages is somewhat lacking, Stewart said, but she expects doll sales to be brisk.

Probably the most popular, she said, is the Strawberry Shortcake doll and accessories, a line that has developed a certain allure out of cuteness and pinkness.

Negotiations still continuing

No deal yet on merger of ambulances

By MARTY TRILLHAASE
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Both of the ambulance companies in Twin Falls County continue to talk in terms of wanting to merge.

But as of Friday, no purchase agreement between Magic Valley Emergency Service and Twin Falls Emergency Medical Services had emerged. And both MVES owner Clayton Edwards and TFEMS owner Dennis Brodigan indicated that negotiations have not progressed dramatically in the last two weeks.

Brodigan, who last month obtained an operating license that enabled him to compete with the established MVES, wants to purchase the older ambulance company.

And Edwards indicated Friday that it is still his intention to sell the business.

In the meantime, Edwards said the competition has sliced his share of the county's ambulance market by roughly a third.

While the company operated as a monopoly,

MVES averaged four to five calls per day. That figure has dropped to about three calls per day, Edwards said.

As a result, he has reduced his staff by three full-time positions and dropped his insurance on two ambulances.

That leaves MVES with six full-time employees and three ambulances. He said no further cutbacks are planned.

Brodigan's operation also includes three ambulances, as well as four full-time employees and nine part-time employees.

Although the companies are competitors, the reduction in MVES's operation has required cooperation between the two services to meet the county's needs, Edwards said. For example, while one service stations ambulances at high school football games, the other service may have to remain on call for emergencies.

"There's no problem cooperating with them (TFEMS) that I know of," he said. "They've got employees that used to work for me, and as far as I'm concerned, we'll still cooperate. If we got more calls than we could handle, I'm sure they would cover for us and vice versa."

Both firms receive emergency calls through a rotating assignment system used by area law-enforcement agencies. The number of non-emergency calls each service receives depends on individual preferences.

Edwards believes the present arrangement demonstrates the accuracy of a prediction made by his son, Calvin, who manages MVES. During the debate over whether TFEMS should be licensed, Calvin Edwards predicted that competition would result in leaving the county with two part-time ambulance companies in place of one full-time operation.

"We're running two part-time services instead of one," said the elder Edwards. "That is exactly what he predicted."

But Brodigan disagrees with that assessment, saying in terms of quality of care, he is running a full-time operation.

"We haven't geared up yet in terms of coming in with massive numbers of vehicles until we know we're going to purchase them out," he said. "Our major emphasis now is on quality — good service, quick response."

Sambo's bankruptcy won't close firm's Twin Falls restaurant

By The Times-News
And United Press International

TWIN FALLS — The local effect of Sambo's Restaurants Inc.'s decision to file for bankruptcy may amount to little more than a name change.

According to assistant manager Barbara Jensen, the Sambo's at 180 N. Blue Lakes Blvd. most probably will remain open with a new name on the roof. The restaurant employs 20 people.

"If it is (closing)," she said. "It's news to me."

Jensen said the restaurant will be renamed, probably in January, to No Place Like Sam's, which has been adopted by some of the Sambo's in the Northwest, on a similar name. Hints of the name change came in the current menu, which reads, "Family Sam welcomes you to lunch and dinner," she said.

The local Sambo's has not been without its own problems, however. A few weeks ago the restaurant curtailed its 24-hour service. The restaurant now closes at midnight.

Jensen said the change was ordered by the corporation, which felt that the all-night schedule was a losing proposition due to increased damages and non-paying customers.

Sambo's, falling to secure new money from its creditors, filed for bankruptcy Friday in federal court in Los Angeles. The move came less than two weeks after it closed 44 of its restaurants nationwide and laid off up to 10,000 employees.

Fight ends in shooting

TWIN FALLS — A Filer man injured in a shooting incident was listed in fair condition Friday evening at Magic Valley Memorial Hospital.

Max Eichelberger suffered a gunshot wound to his left hand during an altercation Wednesday night in the parking lot of The Alley bar, 121 Fourth Ave. S.

Twin Falls police are searching for the assailant, but they say they do not know how the male suspect escaped the scene after Eichelberger was shot.

According to police, Eichelberger became involved in a fight with two other men at about 10:30 p.m.

When one of the men pulled a gun on the victim, Eichelberger and the other man grabbed the gun and attempted to take it away.

At that point, the assailant offered to turn over the gun if Eichelberger would release his hold on the weapon.

The shooting occurred when Eichelberger let go of the gun.

The bullet entered the palm side of Eichelberger's left hand near the little finger and exited through the back of his hand.

Police believe the victim was shot with a .22-caliber handgun.

Child hurt in 5-car wreck

TWIN FALLS — Icy bridge conditions led to a five-car accident early Friday evening that left a child injured.

According to the Idaho State Police:

At 6 p.m. Friday, a car driven by James Trappen of Jerome lost control on the ice in the southbound lane of the Perrine Bridge, hit the center divider and spun 150 degrees, beginning a chain reaction of accidents.

Ernest Lee Sadler of Twin Falls, who was behind Trappen, was unable to stop and struck Trappen's vehicle. Then, a car driven by Sue Ulrich of Halley hit Sadler's vehicle.

A car driven by Thomas Gleeson of Las Vegas, Nev., lost control trying to avoid the accident and slid in a complete circle, facing north when it stopped. John Holloway of Wendell then struck both Gleeson's and Ulrich's vehicles.

Holloway's son was taken to the Twin Falls Clinic and Hospital. No one else was injured.

Search made for body

HANSEN — With searchlights crisscrossing under the Hansen bridge, Twin Falls Sheriff's deputies and search and rescue teams searched the cold waters of the Snake River for a body Friday evening.

Sheriff James Munn declined to release details of the incident, saying only that his department had an "indication" that a person could have gone off the bridge and been killed.

Flares and the lights of emergency vehicles were reflected off the bridge's treacherous ice, which made it necessary for searchers to be held by their colleagues as they hung out over the west guardrail, looking for the body. Using binoculars, they searched with powerful, hand-held spotlights, aimed down and under the bridge, into the river.

An ice-covered trail down the south wall of the canyon to the river was deemed too dangerous to be attempted in the darkness, and the search was limited to visual scrutiny.

At about 9 p.m., in a few feet of water along the south bank of the river, the searchers spotted what they thought was a body. However, no confirmation could be made at the time, and the crews waited for more powerful optics.

Police trace footprints to solve theft

TWIN FALLS — A 19-year-old man and two 17-year-old boys, all of Twin Falls, were arrested Wednesday and charged with a string of recent burglaries.

Michael Anthony was arraigned in Fifth District Magistrate Court on a first-degree burglary charge Friday. He remained in the Twin Falls County Jail in lieu of a $5,000 bond.

Juvenile court proceedings were initiated against the two younger defendants, whose names were not released.

Police Chief Tim Qualls said an investigation linked the defendants to a number of burglaries committed in Twin Falls earlier this week. Among these incidents were the theft of two suitcases from a pickup truck owned by Kent Hite of Twin Falls and the theft of a 20-gauge shotgun from a pickup truck owned by Berry Heck of Kimberly.

According to statements filed with the court, police found a set of footprints at the scene of the Hite burglary and traced them back to Anthony's residence at the Pioneer Trailer Court. A search of the defendant's residence uncovered the stolen weapons, police said.

Qualls said that the items stolen in these two burglaries were recovered. In addition, police uncovered items that apparently were stolen Tuesday night from two vehicles parked near Kimberly Road and Eastland Drive. Persons who lost items to burglars on that night should contact the Police Department, Qualls said.

The holiday season began Friday evening at the downtown mall with Christmas-lighting ceremonies and Santa's arrival

Mall's lights go on

TWIN FALLS — Babies in bunting and warmly clad adults braved the cold Friday night to see Santa launch the Christmas season in downtown Twin Falls.

Children scurried — as adeptly as they could on ice-glazed pavement — to catch the candy cane that Santa tossed from both sides of the fire engine that transported him down Main Avenue.

Other Friday-night activities marking the official start of the Christmas season were music by the Snake River Brass and organist Joyce Johnson. The evening also included the introduction of local children who have been selected to perform in an upcoming production of "The Nutcracker." And, of course, there was the tree-lighting ceremony, which Mayor Hank Woodall presided.

The small, white tree lights — about 750 strings of them — lit up uniformly with the flipping of numerous switches, but an apparent electrical malfunction extinguished most lights north of Shoshone Street at about the time Santa's candy-tossing festivities concluded at the opposite end of the mall.

Nine Magic Valley gridders make All-State

BOISE (AP) — Nine Magic Valley football players have been selected as members of the 1981 Associated Press Idaho All-State Football Team.

Eight of the Magic Valley gridders have been named to the first team while one earned an honorable mention berth.

Selections from the Magic Valley include five players from the A-3 division, three players from A-1 schools and one A-2 performer.

Kimberly High landed two players on the team, offensive lineman Bill Nobles and defensive back Rocky Eller.

Other A-3 all-staters include offensive lineman Gary Sears from Valley, wide receiver Brad Tinker from Gooding and Wendell running back Rod Hegt. The voting showed all three players tied other players at their positions.

The lone A-2 selection was Buhl defensive back Charlie

AP All-State Football Team members—B3

Carter, who was one of seven players to tie for honors at the position.

The three A-1 all-staters include Curt Thielemann of Twin Falls, Tim Knight of Burley and Darrell Tracy of Minico. Thielemann, a 5-9, 205-pound senior, was one of seven players tied for two offensive line positions. Knight, a nose guard, was one of five defensive linemen selected outright. Tracy received an honorable mention berth at quarterback.

Borah, Moscow and Homedale — three schools that garnered home state championships — dominated the second annual team.

Borah's undefeated A-1 champion placed nine players on the first team to dominate the big school division. Seven of the Lions' all-staters play on offense.

Moscow, which swept to a lopsided A-2 final win over Madison, placed seven regulars on the honor squad.

The Bears were followed by Bishop Kelly, which landed five players and Shelley, which had four players named to the team. Shelley finished the regular season undefeated and spent much of the fall ranked No. 1.

Homedale, which avenged its 1980 defeat by beating Westside in the semifinals and then thumped Kimberly in the championship game, led the A-3 voting with seven first team players.

West Side had five players named while McCall-Donnelley, Fruitland and Kamlah had four apiece.

Borah's offensive selections included quarterback Bob Wheeler, running backs Mark Tidd and Gregg Harrison, wide receiver Ron Talbot, tight end Jody Griswold, lineman Jeff Hansen and kicker Mark Jensen.

The defensive selections for Borah included lineman R. L. Wood and back Rob Warwick.

Moscow had two players named to the all-state team including quarterback Wynn Mosma, who passed for 14 TDs and 1,865 yards on 51 percent passing.

Three Homedale standouts: Running back Randy DeShazer, linebacker Steve Nash and lineman Stuary Emery received more all-state votes than any other players.

Voters from four of the state's daily newspapers selected the AP's second annual team. One paper from each region of the state voted. The voters included Dan Miller of the Idaho State Journal at Pocatello, Mary Clemons of The Times-News, Scott Peyron of The Idaho Statesman and Paul Ramsdell of the Lewiston Morning Tribune.

Heisman hopefuls

A record 2,324-yard season already accomplished, USC's 'Superman' Allen set to fly away with the Heisman

"You weren't here early enough to see it, but I saw Marcus (Allen) fly into the (Los Angeles) Coliseum before the game. He goes into a telephone booth back there and changes suits. He's Superman."

—Washington State Coach Jim Walden.

"Every once in a long time, God puts an exceptional athlete on this earth. The latest I've seen was Herschel Walker."

—Tennessee Coach Johnny Majors.

"We knew Jim McMahon was a good quarterback from our past games with Brigham Young. But today, he was better than anyone we'd seen. He found a weakness in our pass coverage and after we adjusted, he picked up another. It was an impressive performance."

—Utah Coach Wayne Howard.

By RICHARD ROSENBLATT
UPI sports writer

NEW YORK — Marcus Allen, the Southern California tailback who became the first college player to rush for over 2,000 yards in a season, is set to run away with the most prestigious award in college football.

"I don't want to sound selfish or cocky or anything, but if I was voting, I'd vote for me," said Allen, who accumulated 2,324 yards and must be considered the favorite to win the Heisman Trophy. "I think I have a pretty good year, but I'll probably freak out when I relax and realize what I have accomplished."

The Heisman Trophy, symbolic of the "outstanding college football player in the United States," will be presented Dec. 5 (at 5 p.m. MST) by the New York Downtown Athletic Club.

Allen, in his senior year, broke at least 10 NCAA records in leading Southern California to a 9-2 record and a berth in the Fiesta Bowl. Records set this season by Allen include most carries (403), most 200-yard games (8) and best rushing average per game (212.9).

While Allen, 6-foot-11 3/4 and 200 pounds, appears to be the overwhelming favorite, there are a few other players who enjoyed outstanding seasons.

Sophomore Herschel Walker, the University of Georgia freshman who finished third in last year's Heisman balloting as a freshman, should offer the most serious challenge to Allen. Other hopefuls include Brigham Young senior quarterback Jim McMahon, who fell just short of his goal of 10,000 career passing yards because of a knee injury early in the year, and Pittsburgh junior quarterback Dan Marino, the nation's No. 2-rated passer.

But Allen's performance will be difficult to top.

"I've thought Marcus was the top candidate ever since I got hurt," said McMahon, the nation's top-rated passer with a 345.8-yard average per game. "I felt fairly confident at the start of the season but I missed two and-a-half games with a knee injury early in the year."

"I'll be disappointed if I don't win, but I don't know what else I could have done. There is nobody else that compares to what I did on the field."

Indeed, McMahon passed for 3,555 yards in 10 games (272-of-423) this season to raise his career total to 9,538 — one of 55 NCAA records he has set. In 1981, McMahon shattered 23 NCAA marks — including most completions in one game (44) and most yards accumulated in a three-game span (1,372).

Eagles club Colby

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

CASPER, Wyo. — Although it served the purpose of a workout, the win made it even better.

College of Southern Idaho practiced everything Coach Dave Campbell could think of in scoring 31-51 victory over Colby, Kan., Community College Friday night.

The win evened CSI's record in the Casper Community College T-Bird Classic at 1-1 and raised the season mark to 3-2. The Eagles will wind up the tourney against host Casper at 9 p.m. tonight.

After slipping badly in the second half of their previous three games, the Golden Eagles paid special attention to the final 15 minutes against Colby and exploded an 18-point lead to the final 40-point margin.

Perhaps the most significant aspect of the victory came in the second half when CSI stoked up its fast break, resulting in several easy buckets.

But throughout the game CSI Coach Dave Campbell subbed liberally and used a wide assortment of lineups.

Campbell hesitated to say he had used the game as a practice session, but did admit "once we got into the lead, we tried to do some things we hadn't been doing and we looked at some different combinations."

He said he was especially pleased with the defensive play of Brad Bey, the rebounding of Charles Williams and the transition shooting of Phil Rohr.

Looking at the total team effort, Campbell said, "We controlled the boards on both ends and I thought our man defense was very good. We also got a look at our half-court trap which I thought did a job early, but we had to go out of it because of some breakdowns."

Campbell said he was well aware of the last 15 minutes of the game. "You noticed I called a time out at that point. I thought we just talked about not letting down and maintaining our intensity," he said. "I thought we kept it up very well."

CSI had trouble breaking away from Colby, which lost by 35 to Casper in the tourney opener Thursday night.

The Eagles stayed ahead mainly on the control of the offensive backboards as Gerald Kennedy and Williams picked up eight points on 23 shots in the first seven minutes for a 15-8 CSI advantage.

The 10-minute of the half were very slow-paced as CSI concentrated on getting the ball inside.

All-time leading passer sharing honors once again

You have to feel a little compassion for Brigham Young's Jim McMahon.

It seems as if the entire nation is selecting all-American football teams these days and McMahon must be wondering just what a quarterback must do to make an all-American team.

Earlier this week he was named to the prestigious Kodak All-American team — along with Pittsburgh's Dan Marino. It marked the second straight year McMahon shared the Kodak honor. Last year's Purdue great, Mark Herrmann, and McMahon split the position.

"I'm glad to be honored," McMahon said after the announcement. "But it seems I can't make an all-American team by myself."

That both quarterbacks have had a good season nobody can doubt. According to the Nov. 23 NCAA football statistics McMahon was the No. 1 quarterback in the nation and Marino was close at No. 2.

McMahon passed for 3,555 yards and 30 touchdowns with just seven interceptions while Marino logged 2,348 yards, 32 TDs and 17 interceptions. McMahon had completed 272 of 423 passes for a 64.3 percent completion rate while Marino connected on 178 of 294 for 60.5 percent. Both marks are way above average.

When you look at McMahon's career statistics, there is no way he should share the Kodak honor with anybody. The BYU senior is the all-time leading passer and total yardage leader in college football history. His 9,723 yards of total offense surpass No. 2 Herrmann's mark of 8,444 by 1,279 yards and McMahon did it in three years he had just 83 total yards as a freshman while Herrmann started at quarterback for four years.

In addition, McMahon is the all-time most efficient QB in college football, hitting 61.6 percent of his passes for 94 TDs and only 34 interceptions.

Since Marino made the Kodak team along with McMahon and will probably be named to other all-American teams with or ahead of McMahon, it's got to be assumed that the age-old "they play tougher football in the East and Midwest" is still prevailing thought.

It's an assumption that many coaches, fans and the media make. It's still unproven. Maybe the East and Midwest play better football just because of the numbers factor. Maybe not. Let's face it, the West — outside of California — is not a huge population center and tends to get overlooked when it comes to football.

On Dec. 5 the Heisman Trophy winner will be named before a national television audience. The smart money is on SOUVENIR CAPITALIST MEXUS. And rightly so. The USC senior had a heck of a season with 2,342 yards. He smothered Tony Dorsett's 1976 record of 1,948 yards in a single season. That fact, combined with the tradition and glamour of the USC tailback spot, will likely make Allen the voter's choice. And the choice won't be a bad one.

At the start of the season McMahon said he'd like to win the Heisman and he felt he had a chance — if BYU went undefeated. Nevada-Las Vegas ended those unbeaten plans midway through the season at a point when BYU was ranked among the top 10 in the country.

It's all hypothetical, but had McMahon not missed two and-a-half games with his knee injury, the Cougars might have gone unbeaten and their ranking today would be among the top three or four instead of No. 12 (UPI) and No. 15 (AP).

That would put McMahon in much better position to win the Heisman.

If he doesn't win the Heisman, there will be those who will feel a little sorrow for McMahon — at least for awhile.

But come next spring, McMahon will be one of the top two or three picks in the country — and probably No. 1 if the Baltimore-Globe figure he's been hearing is going to come. That's when those nearly 10,000 yards of collegiate passing will account for plenty of big bucks and that's when any sad feelings, including McMahon's, will probably cease.

There are some 1,075 Heisman Trophy voters and Twin Falls has one such voter, Mike Gray of KEDZ.

With his ballot safely on its way to New York, Gray divulged his vote.

"I think Marcus Allen already has it sewn up," Gray said. "I voted for McMahon because I'd like to see him get second, at least. (Herschel) Walker has two more years to go."

Gray felt if many voters did what he did, give McMahon what amounts to a sympathy vote, the decision could be close.

Allen was No. 2 on Gray's ballot and Walker was No. 3. Each voter must name three players.

Miami disgraces Notre Dame

Faust quiet after school's first-losing season in 18 years

MIAMI (UPI) — Coach Gerry Faust didn't want to talk much about Notre Dame's first losing season in 18 years Friday, but gloomy squad members agreed it's nothing less than embarrassing.

"I'm not a fan," Faust conceded with a forced smile after the Miami Hurricanes trounced the Irish, 37-15, and dropped them 10-5-6 for the season.

Asked if he learned anything from this season, the former high school coach would say only, "I learned that I don't want to lose."

"His players were a little more willing to take a look at the season but no more happy about it."

"I'm personally embarrassed," said senior cornerback John Krimm. "I feel sorry for the seniors especially for myself. There's no way we can make it up. The juniors will come back next year and they can remember this and learn from it. The seniors can only move on."

Sophomore quarterback Blair Kiel, who suffered two of Notre Dame's three interceptions, is one of the underclassmen returning next year.

"We were embarrassed on national television, and that's going to give us added incentive," Kiel said. "One thing we learned this year was that Notre Dame has a great tradition, but games are won and lost on the football field."

Notre Dame quarterbacks Jim Kelly, who set two career passing records and two season marks as he threw for two touchdowns, called it the best game the Hurricanes have played since he arrived on campus.

"The team was really up higher for the game than any other this year," he said. "We were playing this game like it was our bowl game."

The Hurricanes finished at 9-2, but won't go to a bowl because of NCAA sanctions for recruiting violations.

Coach Howard Schnellenberger was jubilant.

"Beating Notre Dame before a national television-audience was more than any coach could hope for," he said. "This is better than a bowl win. This gets the team over the top and to the position of being a national power."

In addition to Kelly, the Hurricanes' other offensive star was Mike

Rodrigue who scored once as a quarterback and once as a wide receiver.

Rodrigue, a senior who was converted from quarterback to wide receiver this year, and Kelly sent Miami to a commanding 39-4 halftime lead.

Rodrigue lined up as a quarterback on the Notre Dame four-yard line just three and a half minutes into the game and rolled to his right for the opening touchdown. Notre Dame's Greg Bell took the ensuing kickoff 98 yards down the left sideline for a touchdown, but the extra point was blocked by tackle Lester Williams.

Rodrigue made it 14-6 on a 18-yard completion from Kelly, Danny Miller booted field goals of 49 and 53 yards and then receiver Rocky Belk gathered in a Kelly pass behind the end zone for a touchdown on the 15-yard line and raced in for a 63-yard touchdown.

Miller added a 24-yard field goal to give the Hurricanes their 24-point halftime lead.

Interceptions by cornerback Ronnie Lippett set two of Miami's scores in the decisive first half. His first pickoff of a Wade Koegel pass on the Notre Dame 49 to set up the Kelly-to-Rodrigue touchdown. Then late in the second quarter he grabbed another Koegel pass and returned it six yards to the Miami 45 to set up Miller's 24-yard field goal.

Rodrigue's four-yard scoring scamper finished off an opening drive of 80 yards — the Hurricanes' most impressive of the day. The big gainer was a 43-yard completion from Kelly to Larry Brodsky.

Notre Dame opened the second half with a promising drive, moving from its own 30 to the Miami 16 on passes of 15 and 12 yards from Blair Kiel to John Mosley and one of 16 yards to Joe Howard.

But Miami's defenders held fullback Mark Brooks to one yard on first down and two incompletions forced a 36-yard field goal by Harry Oliver.

The Hurricane defense, led by Williams, Lippett, safety Fred Marion and linebacker Scott Nicolson, held the punless Irish at bay until it was too late.

Bryant wants victory No. 315

Pitt risks 11-0 mark against Penn St.

By United Press International

Pittsburgh tries to nail down the No. 1 spot for the regular season, Florida and Florida State contest for the final bowl spot and Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant goes after the all-time record for victories today on the next-to-last weekend of the college football campaign.

After today's games, there will be only three major college games left on the regular season schedule, all of which will be held Dec. 5.

Top-ranked Pittsburgh, which will meet third-ranked Georgia in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Night, hopes to take a perfect 11-0 record into that game. But, standing in the way is arch rival Penn State, which traditionally gives the Panthers a very difficult time.

Penn State, 8-2 and headed for the Fiesta Bowl, leads the overall series between the two schools, 39-38-3, and the Panthers miss possession of the "iron" Penn State, which traditionally gives the Panthers a very difficult time.

"Offensively the Nittany Lions are a veteran team, with probably the best offensive line we'll have faced all season," said Pittsburgh assistant coach Pogo Fazio. "The Penn State offense is very capable of controlling the ball, sustaining long drives and scoring lots of points."

Pitt's defensive line coach, Bob Matey, believes the only way the Panthers can compete with the Penn State offensive line is to be quicker off the ball.

"They block very well," said Matey. "They don't just stop you; they knock you down. They outguess us all along the front by 20 to 30 pounds. If we were to play them like we did last year, too-fo-lee, we'd have a tough time. We're going to have to try to come off the football and be on the other side of their neutral zone before they come to us. We'll have to use our quickness to hopefully get some penetration."

Penn State is basically a ball-control type team which relies heavily on the running of Curt Warner. Pittsburgh, on the other hand, has the more explosive offense centered around the passing of Dan Marino, who has thrown for 32 touchdowns.

"He's picked apart eight-man fronts, seven-man fronts, six-man fronts, five-man fronts and two-man fronts," Paterno says of Marino. "He's picked apart everything he's seen. That's a credit to him and to the coaching staff he's had. Nobody's going to stop him."

There's plenty at stake in the Florida-Florida State game, too. The winner will go to the Peach Bowl on Dec. 31 at Atlanta, Ga., to meet West Virginia. Both teams are 6-4, although Florida State has played the tougher schedule.

Florida State has victories over Ohio State and Notre Dame this season while losing to such powers as Pittsburgh, Nebraska, Miami (Fla.) and Southern Mississippi.

An historic game could be contested at Birmingham, Ala., where fourth-ranked Alabama, 8-1-1, meets arch rival Auburn, 5-5. Bryant will be shooting for his 315th career victory which would give him the all-time record.

"I'm really frightened about it," Bryant said jokingly. "Pat Dye (Auburn coach) and his staff have done a very fine job at coaching this year and Auburn has matured into a very physical, very good football team."

Bryant said the record is important because it matters to "the Bryant family," the players and coaches he has left along the way during his colorful 37-year career.

"It means something to them for us to go ahead and win more games than has ever been won in big time college football," he said this week.

"In the last two or three days, for the first time in my life, it's dawned on me that it's very important to all of them because they are part of it and it's very important to me, because they are looking to me to see that it gets done."

In other traditional games today, Boston College visits Holy Cross, Oklahoma State plays host to Oklahoma, Rice entertains Houston, Tennessee plays host to Vanderbilt, LSU visits Tulane and Arizona State entertains Arizona.

Delaware wins, may have berth

STORRS, Conn. (UPI) — John Davis scored one touchdown and passed for two more and Bob Dougherty rambled for 181 yards rushing Friday to lead Delaware to a 26-26 victory over Connecticut for the Blue Hens' fifth straight triumph.

Delaware, recording its ninth victory against two losses and hoping for a Division I-AA at-large playoff berth, rolled up 335 yards on offense in building a 35-7 lead with 10 minutes left in the game.

Connecticut, which ends the season with a 4-7 record, scored 19 points in a span of 5 1/2 minutes of the fourth quarter on Ken Sweltzer's 68-yard pass to Keith Hugger and substitute quarterback Rob Trivella's touchdown passes of 18 yards to Ken Miller and 34 yards to Hugger.

Sweltzer, who was injured in the fourth quarter, was 15-of-35 passing for 207 yards, setting New England records for total career offense, single-season offense and single-season passing.

Davis, who was 4-of-14 passing for 53 yards, scored on a one-yard run in the first quarter and tossed touchdown passes of 17 yards to Kevin Phelan and six yards to Mark Steimer.

Skiers, operators thankful for opening conditions

There was plenty for the outdoor recreationalist to be thankful for this Thanksgiving. Ski resorts reported the best skiing and most snow in recent years.

Claude Hinkle, manager of Soldier Mountain near Fairfield, said the Thanksgiving opening is a first for him. "We always say we hope to be open by Thanksgiving, but this is the first time in the nine years I have been here that it has happened," he said.

Emmerette opened Wednesday and the owners said if they had asked for conditions made to order, they could not have been better.

Some of the skiers managed to find a foot of powder and the others said packed runs were perfect," said Sandy Anderson.

She said the crowd was bigger than anticipated and everyone was happy with the mid-winter like conditions.

Sun Valley, which opened Friday, also had one of the best opening days ever with 50 inches of snow at the top of the ski runs. The Warm Springs side of Baldy is open with three lifts in operation.

There's good news for cross country fans too. Galena Summit has 42 inches of snow and plows had made the road passable by Wednesday. Lorna Bolton, information officer for the Sawtooth National Forest, said the snow depths at Magic Mountain are 13 inches at the lodge and more at the higher elevations.

The Twin Falls Ranger District has prepared maps for use by cross country skiers and snowmobilers. The maps show trails for both uses and are free at the district office, 1061 Blue Lakes Blvd. N. or the supervisor's office, 1525 Addison Ave. E. in Twin Falls.

In Twin Falls there will be another ski swap Dec. 3-5 at College of Southern Idaho. Bob Wright, CSI ski club adviser, said the first session saw a lot of good merchandise change hands and more will be coming in for the next and final session.

Soldier Mountain has been selected for the first United States Ski Association race of the year. The race is a forerunner of the Junior Olympics at Mt. Washington Valley, N.H., later in the year. The Soldier Mountain event is booked for Dec. 14 and 15 and is the first ever held at Soldier by the Intermountain Region of the USA.

The area was selected because it has snowmaking equipment. Skiers will be coming from throughout southern Idaho, Utah and Wyoming.

Word was received this week that a former Twin Falls resident, Phil Jones, 42, of Salt Lake City, has been elevated to the position of president and general manager of Utah's largest ski resort, Park City.

Jones graduated from the Twin Falls High School in 1957 and said he "followed in his father's ski tracks" in making skiing his career. He is the son of the late Claude F. Jones who developed, owned and operated the Magic Mountain resort south of Twin Falls from 1939 until 1973.

Growing up on a ski mountain, Phil attended the University of Denver on a ski scholarship, and began teaching skiing in 1959 at Brighton Ski Area in Utah. He later joined the Sugar Bowl Ski School in California and returned to Utah in 1964.

He came back to the Intermountain region to teach at the newly opened ski area - Park City. He was twice selected on the Professional Ski Instructors of America team to demonstrate teaching technique in Inter ski, the Olympics of the ski teaching profession. He skied in Inter ski events held in Austria, and at Aspen, Colo.

After working his way up to Park City ski school director in 1971, he was named vice president of operations in 1975 by the resort's new owners, Alpine Meadows of Tahoe, Inc. As president and general manager, his duties remain much the same. He will continue to oversee and direct all mountain operations at Park City.

Jones is well known to many skiers in the Magic Valley and Wood River areas, having been active in ski industry and instructor organizations. His mother, Lucile Jones, lives in Twin Falls. He is married to the former Pam Hicken, whom he met when the two attended school in Twin Falls.

Bonnie Baird Jones is a Times-News writer and ski enthusiast who writes a weekly ski column.

Stenmark aiming for unprecedented third straight double world title

VIENNA (UPI) — Ingemar Stenmark, the skiing star from Sweden, will aim at an unprecedented hat trick this winter, hoping to bag his third straight double world title in the slalom and giant slalom.

"I will fully concentrate on the coming Alpine World ski Championships; the World Cup doesn't interest me this winter," Stenmark says. The World Championships take place at Schladming, Austria, from Jan. 27 to Feb. 7 next year, with Stenmark favored to again win the two slalom events as he did 1978 in Garmisch, West Germany, and at the 1980 Lake Placid Winter Olympics.

There have been triple Olympic champions before, like Austria's Toni Sailer in 1958 and Jean-Claude Killy of France in 1968, but no skier has ever won two titles in three consecutive world championships. Stenmark, the undisputed slalom king, is very likely to do it.

"I have started my preparations in such a way that I hope to reach the peak of my form at the time of the world event in Schladming," Stenmark said. "Preparations for World Cup races come only second in my plans."

Stenmark, 25, who won the World Cup three times between 1976 and 1978, has hardly any chance to do it again since he rarely competes in downhill races.

That fact has cost him the World Cup in the last three seasons. Last winter, Stenmark won four World Cup slaloms and six giant slaloms, only to see American Phil Mahre (winner of just three races) nip him for the overall Cup in the very last event of the season by virtue of picking up "paper" points in the downhill-slam combinations. Leonhard Stock of Austria, the reigning world downhill champion, will also be in Schladming to defend his title, but he will face the strongest opposition, not only from his own teammates but also from the Canadians, who dominated the last three World Cup downhill races at Schladming, as well as from American and Swiss downhill specialists.

The Alpine ski circuit is scheduled to begin early in December with the traditional World Cup opening events at Val-d'Isere, France, but all teams agree that the World Cup trophies will be overshadowed this winter by the battle for world titles.

Mahre, the first American ever to win the coveted men's World Cup trophy, is perhaps the only skier who could seriously challenge Stenmark in the slalom and giant slalom events.

"I will go all out and do the best I can with the goal of winning a world title," he said.
