Bomb threat confronts Reagan

Warning telephoned

By JAMES GERSTENZANG The Associated Press

NEW YORK — President Reagan's departure from New York was delayed by a bomb threat Thursday night.

A telephoned bomb warning was received at the Hilton Hotel where he spoke and a search uncovered a suspicious package, which a police squad detective said turned out to contain pencils, pens, books, no explosives.

White House spokesman Mark Weinberg described the incident as a "threat situation" and said the delay was about 10 minutes. The Reagans spoke with New York's new archbishop and then returned to the capital.

After the bomb threat was received, a search was made. A briefcase was found on stage trappers in the ballroom of the Hilton where Reagan attended a dinner, said police Detective Jim Hatcher of the bomb squad. White House Deputy Press Secretary Larry Spokes said the briefcase was found at the hotel about the time the president ended a speech to a federation of Catholic school parents.

The briefcase was moved to a dressing room at 8:45 p.m. by the Secret Service and then was taken out of the building, said Hatcher.

The briefcase contained pencils, pens, books, no explosives, said Detective Robert Noll of the bomb squad.

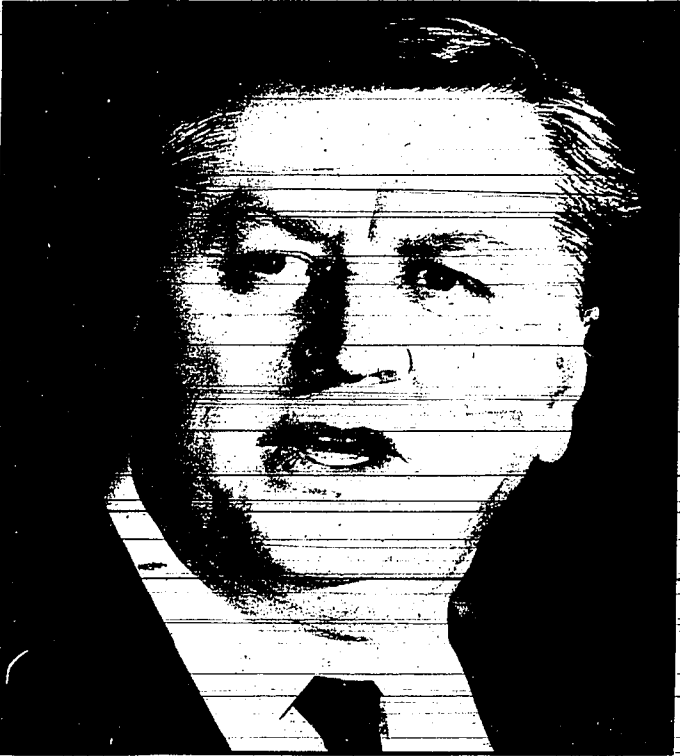

In Washington, Secret Service spokesman Mary Ann Gorton said of the incident: "There was a bomb threat." She said no arrests were made.

"The situation was checked out," she said. "It turned out to be nothing. We get threats all the time—we get them, and if often turn out to be nothing."

Weinberg said that during the 10-minute delay, the president and his wife, Nancy, remained in a "holding court" at the Hilton, where the president had addressed a dinner of the New York State Federation of Catholic School Parents.

"There was a threat situation," Weinberg said. "The president was aware of it." "It was determined best that President and Mrs. Reagan remain at the hotel," he said. Weinberg said that during the delay, the Reagans visited

Rep. George Hansen told Idaho GOP he's ready for re-election bid if party wants him

Decision by Hansen coming up

POCATELLO (AP) — Idaho Congressman George Hansen, convicted of filing false financial disclosure forms, said Thursday it will be two or three days before he decides whether to seek an eighth term.

Hansen, who said he has nothing to apologize for, told a frequently cheering crowd at a state Republican Central Committee meeting in Pocatello that "I am prepared to go on as long as you will support me. If you want us to continue on, it is entirely legally possible."

Hansen had been expected to announce Thursday night whether or not he was in the 1984 race.

The committee went into closed session to face an advisory vote on whether Hansen should run for re-election.

Hansen said no decision has yet been made on whether to release the results of that vote.

But he said that even if the vote is negative, he doesn't plan to base his judgment on just one factor.

Hansen received several standing ovations from the crowd, many of whom wore "I Love George" buttons that carried a small depiction of Don Quixote.

Hansen, who was convicted by a federal jury Monday in Washington, D.C., called his case a "prosecution of innuendo."

He, his wife, Connie, and his three attorneys explained to the crowd what they had done in court.

Hansen warned that any congressman who rocks the boat could face the same problems he's faced.

Jerome County Prosecutor Dan Adamson, who will seek the Republican nomination to Hansen's 2nd District seat in the May 22 primary, was at the meeting, and called Hansen's presentation "a very good pre-campaign speech." But he predicted that Hansen will not be able to turn this latest setback into a victory.

Hansen faces up to 20 years in prison, $40,000 in fines and could face disciplinary action by the House Ethics Committee.

Sentencing will be later. But first, Hansen faces another deadline: Filing for Idaho's May 22 primary election closes on April 13.

Already one challenger has filed for the party nomination—And-Richard Stallings, a Ricks College professor, will file Friday to become the Democratic nominee again.

A political newcomer, Stallings lost to Hansen by 7,000 votes in the 1982 election.

Hansen announced after the trial he planned to appeal and hoped eventually to be acquitted.

But in an interview on Wednesday, Hansen said he considered himself "a populist" and would decide his political future partially on reaction of the public and political leaders.

Hansen said at first the telephone calls and letters to his Washington office were "very strong, very positive," but there also has been adverse reaction.

Trustees of the system assure Congress

Social Security healthy beyond the year 2,000

By CHRISTOPHER CONNELL The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Social Security will be able to pay benefits on time "well into the next century," the system's trustees assured Congress on Thursday.

But the trustees, three members of President Reagan's Cabinet, also reported a slight actuarial deficit over the next 75 years for the old-age, survivors and disability trust funds.

The trustees reiterated past warnings that Medicare, which is funded through the same payroll tax as the other departments, is headed for bankruptcy in the early 1990s and requires corrective surgery.

The annual report card and forecast on the $230 billion-plus social insurance program that supports 36 million retirees and disabled workers, was sent to Capitol Hill after it was signed by Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan, the managing trustee, Labor Secretary Raymond J. Donovan and Health and Human Services Secretary Margaret M. Heckler. Mrs. Heckler said the report reaffirmed that last year's rescue plan "restored the fundamental soundness of the old age and disability programs." "The Medicare program is just as important to us," she said. "This administration will work with the Congress to make sure that the American people will be able to depend upon Medicare now and in the future."

The trustees last summer reported a marked improvement in Social Security's health due to the bipartisan rescue plan enacted last April that raised taxes and reduced benefits by $165 billion over five years and raised the retirement age to 67 in the next century.

Last year's report predicted large annual deficits by the end of the 75-year forecasting period, but it also calculated that for the entire period the system's books were balanced by a net amount equivalent to a payroll tax of 0.02 percent.

Now, "due mainly to projections of more disability awards," the trustees reported an average actuarial deficit of 0.06 percent, based on their middle range of economic and demographic assumptions.

The trustees said beneficiaries will "almost certainly" get a full 47 percent benefit increase next January based on the Consumer Price Index, but under a pessimistic scenario, the annual increases in 1985 and 1987 might be somewhat less than the full CPI.

GOP-driven Senate approves Salvador arms aid

By W. DALE NELSON The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Republican-controlled Senate approved $61.7 million in emergency military aid for El Salvador and $21 million to assist anti-Communist guerrillas in Nicaragua Thursday.

Approval came after a week-long series of Democratic attacks on President Reagan's Central American policies has been back.

The vote was 76-19. The measure now goes to the Democrat-controlled House, which plans to take a long week to return next Tuesday, leaving only three days in which to try to complete congressional action on the bill before a 10-day Easter recess that begins April 13.

In one of its last actions before the final vote, the Senate rejected 50-44 an amendment by Sen. James Sasser, D-Tenn., that would have required congressional action before temporary U.S. military installations in Honduras could be made permanent. The amendment would also have barred use of the installations for anything but training exercises.

Four Republicans joined 40 Democrats in supporting Sasser's amendment. Sasser said several GOP senators indicated they wanted to vote for his amendment or were seriously considering it and changed their minds at the last minute.

"There were, I judge, a number of phone calls going back and forth," Sasser said.

The Senate also rejected amendments to delete or curtail the $21 million for the anti-Nicaragua rebels and to cut the amount for El Salvador or tie it up with restrictions.

The mainly Democratic supporters of the amendments charged that Reagan is trigger-happy and leading the United States closer to war in Central America.

"The Senate has voted for wider war in El Salvador, secret war in Nicaragua and the brink of war in Honduras," Sen. Edward M. Kenedy, D-Mass., said in a closing speech.

Administration supporters said the amendments would make it more difficult to stem a rising communist tide in a region only a few hundred miles from the United States border.

"We are niggling and nitpicking and nipping at the heels of anything that would seem to offer serious resistance to the expansion of Soviet power in our own hemisphere," said Sen. John East, R-N.C.

The Senate rejected by a vote of 51-44 an amendment by Sen. Carl Levin, D-Mich., saying that none of the $21 million for the rebels fighting Nicaragua's leftist government could be spent to support those whose avowed purpose is to overthrow that government.

"It was the third time in two days that amendments to eliminate or curtail the funds for the rebels had been defeated. Critics oppose the aid to the rebels on grounds that the United States should not be seeking to overthrow another government — one that is recognized by the United States," the Reagan administration, however, maintains the purpose of the aid is to stop the Nicaraguans from funneling Soviet and Cuban arms to leftist insurgents elsewhere in Central America.

The Republican-controlled Senate also sent back efforts to cut the funds for El Salvador.

Jawbone find pushes man's history back 1 million years

By DANIEL Q. HANEY AP Science Writer

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — The discovery in Africa of a 2-inch-long jawbone fragment has pushed the history of mankind 1 million years closer to the misty era when human ancestors broke away from the apes, researchers say.

The fossil from a creature that lived 5 million years ago is described as the oldest modern ape yet unearthed of a direct human forebear, or hominid. Until now, the oldest such bones found were 4 million years old.

Scientists generally agree that more than 3.5 million years ago, the ancestors of the modern apes split with humanity's ancient grandparents and went their separate evolutionary way. This period is anthropology's "black hole" as there was no clearly acceptable evidence to fill in the human family tree.

Researchers announced Thursday that they had found in Kenya a piece of a lower jaw, complete with two molars, of a hominid from this period.

"Until the discovery of this specimen, the oldest fossils where everybody would agree that they are hominids were 4 million years old," said David Pilbeam, a Harvard anthropology professor.

"That's Australopithecus afarensis, the species to which Lucy belongs, but she herself is a million years younger than that."

The partial skeleton of Lucy, uncovered in Ethiopia in 1977, is probably the most famous fossil find of recent times.

though far older than Lucy, may be of the same species — a short, small-brained but upright being who roamed Africa a long time ago.

"What is important about this jaw piece is that it is both clearly a hominid and it seems to be reasonably dated at 5 million years," Pilbeam said. "That pushes the oldest undoubted hominids back another million years — not very much, but it's 25 percent more."

The fossil, called the Tabarin hominid, was found Feb. 23 on an expedition sponsored by Harvard and the National Museums of Kenya. It was picked up near Lake Baringo about 140 miles from Nairobi in northern Kenya by Egidio Agena, a fossil prospector on the staff of the Kenya museums.

Pilbeam was director of the Kenyan research and a similar project in Pakistan.

Several species of hominids have been found that help trace human evolution from the emergence of modern Homo sapiens 40,000 years ago to Australopithecus 4 million years ago. But beyond that, the fossil record is confusing and skimpy.

One of the more interesting questions, Pilbeam said, is just when the hominids split with the apes.

"There are a range of possible estimates derived from a variety of theoretical perspectives," he said. "The reasonable range would be anywhere from 3 1/2 million years ago to about 15 million, but most people agree that it's somewhere between 3 1/2 million and 4 million."

One exotic way of estimating the time of this split is genetic analysis. By comparing the blood and genes of people and the apes, some scientists have concluded that the division occurred as recently as 4 million years ago.

"The latest discovery," Pilbeam said, "would show that the last common ancestor of hominids and chimps is at least 5 million years old. It could be 5 million and 1 year old, or it could be 10 million. We don't know."

The fossil — which is still in Kenya — was dated by looking at nearby animal bones and rocks. Pilbeam said the rocks are close to 5 million years old, and that fossils of ancient pigs and elephants in the area are more than 4.5 million years old. Attempts are still going on to make a more precise estimate.

"We are reasonably confident that it's about 5 million," he said, "maybe a little bit more, maybe a little bit less."

Slain singer praised at funeral

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Slain singer Marvin Gaye was praised Thursday as a man of music and love by his brother, his mother and his father.

Gregory, Wonder, Robinson and other friends spoke at Gaye's funeral at the Forest Lawn Memorial Park's Hall of Liberty in the Hollywood Hills.

Gaye, 44, was shot Sunday at the house where he lived with his parents, allegedly during an argument over a misplaced letter.

Child abuse up by 120 percent

DENVER (AP) — The number of child abuse and neglect cases reported nationwide took a sharp increase by more than 120 percent between 1976 and 1982, according to the Denver-based organization that keeps track of such figures.

Better reporting is seen as the main reason for the increase.

The American Humane Association's Children's Division reported that the number of child maltreatment cases jumped from 416,000 in 1976 to 920,000 in 1982, an increase of more than 120 percent.

A total of 494 abuse-related child deaths occurred in the 24 states that record such fatalities, the division said.

Artillery shell found near home

CALDWELL (AP) — A military detonation team was headed for Caldwell Thursday night to detonate a live artillery round found in a Caldwell home.

The team planned to cover the highly dangerous 90 mm anti-tank shell with sandbags and detonate where it stood in the yard.

The neighborhood of about eight homes was evacuated.

Caldwell Police Sgt. Jack Beckman said the shell was discovered Thursday afternoon in a home rented by Doan Miller, 20.

The Canyon County deputy who found the shell brought it outside.

C-130 burns at base in Azores

POPE AIR FORCE BASE, N.C. (AP) — A military aircraft from this North Carolina base burst into flames Thursday as it skidded off a runway after landing at Lajes Air Base in the Azores, but none of the nine crew members were injured, base officials say.

The accident occurred as the C-130 Hercules plane touched down following a flight across the Atlantic Ocean of about eight hours, according to Lt. Walter L. Lacey, base commander.

The plane, which is about 60 miles south of Raleigh.

He said the aircraft was arriving in the Azores off the coast of Portugal from McGuire Air Force Base, N.J., when the accident occurred about 4:30 a.m. MST.

Gibb seeks chief for research

MOSCOW (AP) — Saying they need "someone to ride shotgun," the University of Idaho faculty leaders are lobbying President Richard Gibb to create a vice presidency for research.

A new post would bring the number of vice presidents to four, in addition to current positions for development, finance and academic affairs.

Gibb has promised only to "explore the merits" of the idea, and to make a decision before hiring a replacement for Robert Ferguson, UI vice president for academic affairs and research.

Ferguson is leaving Moscow at the end of April for the academic affairs job at the University of Nebraska.

Lawmaker files for re-election

BOISE (AP) — A 10-term veteran of the Idaho House is among lawmakers filing nominating petitions for re-election.

Petitions on behalf of Rep. Walter Little, R-New Plymouth, were in the latest round that were recorded Thursday, bringing the total number of legislative candidates to 97. Candidates have until April 13 to file for the May 22 primary.

The latest petitions filed with the Secretary of State's office all were submitted by Republicans.

They were filed by incumbents Rep. Christopher Hooper and Rep. Jack Kennedy, Sen. Gary Chapman, Rep. F. Chadband and Rep. Linden Bates, Idaho Falls; Sen. William Moore, Hayden Lake; Rep. M. Reed Hansen, Idaho Falls.

Others Republicans who filed for the House are Brent Brocksome, Boise, M. Reed Hansen, Idaho Falls and Gary Robbins, Dietrich. Republican Michael Crapo, of Idaho Falls filed for the Senate.

Idaho justice seeks new term

BOISE (AP) — Idaho Supreme Court Justice Stephen Bistline, a member of the court since 1976, has filed for another six-year term.

Bistline, 63, known for his eloquent dissents, filed Thursday with the Secretary of State's office.

Idaho Supreme Court candidates run on a non-partisan ballot. If no candidate gets a clear majority, the top two vote getters face each other in the general election.

Meese investigation broadened

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators are questioning the failure of Edwin Meese III to report reimbursements from private groups for more than 30 trips he took as White House counselor, a congressional aide said Thursday night.

The Ethics in Government Act requires that senior federal officials report reimbursements for trips costing more than $250. Meese provided a committee member with a list of more than 40 such trips, but only eight of them were reported on the financial disclosure statements filed in the last three years, said Roy Meyers, an aide to Sen. Howard M. "Bud" Shriver, D-Ohio, Meese's leading critic on the Senate Judiciary Committee.

"It would appear that he knew the law because several of the trips are listed, so the question is why weren't the rest of them?" Meyers said.

Reagan, budget office agree tax cuts help rich the most

By JIM LUTHER
AP Tax Writer

WASHINGTON — President Reagan and the Congressional Budget Office, whose conclusions he has attacked as something worse than "blankety-blank lies," agree that his tax-cut program has provided proportionately more dollars to the wealthy than to the poor.

Reagan and the non-partisan researchers in Capitol Hill also agree on the reason. That is, because about everybody got the same percentage of reduction in their income tax rate, it stands to reason that a person who pays more tax would get a greater dollar amount of a cut than one who pays less tax.

"I don't think there is a basic disagreement," Hy Sanders, a Congressional Budget Office tax analyst, said Thursday.

"These in the highest income groups received the largest tax cuts in part because they had the highest tax liabilities to start with. We are talking about a tax cut that cut everybody's rates across the board."

At his news conference Wednesday night, Reagan was asked about a new CBO report which said the poorest in American have lost more than they have gained from tax and spending reductions recommended by the president since he took office in 1981.

Is it fair, Reagan was asked, that a family making less than $10,000 this year will be about $100 worse off than it would have been without the president's program, while a family over the $80,000 level would be more than $8,000 better off?

"It not only would be fair but I don't think it's true," Reagan replied. "You know as Disraeli once said, there are lies, blankety-blank lies and statistics. . . ."

"We have a tax program that was a 25 percent cut across the board. Now that's a 25 percent reduction in the tax burden of everyone. If you have someone whose tax burden is $20, that cut means they save $5 and they still owe $15."

"Although Reagan referred to 25 percent cut, the actual average reduction from the time the first stage went into effect Oct. 1, 1981, until the final portion took effect Jan. 1, 1984, was 23 percent."

with Archbishop John J. O'Connor, one of their hosts at the federation's dinner, the last event during the president's day-long visit to New York.

Reagan had been scheduled to travel by motorcade to the 30th Street heliport on the West Side of New York and fly by helicopter to Newark for the flight home on Air Force One. But that plan was changed several hours before the motorcade, ostensibly because of bad weather. The weather later cleared.

Reagan made an unusually large number of trips around New York City during the day Thursday.

Reagan went first to Grand Hyatt Hotel, then to a day care center on Manhattan's West Side, then to the Plaza Hotel near Central Park for a meeting with Jewish leaders and to rendezvous with Nancy. Then he came back downtown by motorcade, stopped at St. Patrick's Cathedral to pick up the archbishop, and then went to the Hilton for his speech.

The motorcade took a circuitous route from St. Patrick's to the Hilton, going at least twice the distance of the direct route. There was no explanation given.

In 1981, Reagan was wounded by an assailant outside the Washington Hilton Hotel.

The hotel had been routinely searched earlier before Reagan's arrival by Army demologists experts and bomb-sniffing dogs.

The trustees said the old age and disability trust funds grew by $100 million in calendar 1983 to $24.9 billion, making it "the first year since 1974 that the combined . . . funds increased without resorting to borrowing." The funds, which serve essentially as a revolving account for the pay-as-you-go system funded by taxes on workers and employers, took in $17.3 billion and paid out $17.2 billion in 1983.

The separate Medicare fund, which is still owed $18.4 billion by its obligation lent in 1982 at the height of Social Security's crisis, took in $4.7 billion more than the $39.9 billion it paid out, and closed the year with a balance of $12.9 billion.

The report also noted that if no changes are made in Medicare's long-range, 75-year deficit could exceed 4 percent of payroll under the middle-range forecast. That means it would take an additional 2 percentage point tax on both employers and employees each year to close the gap.

A related fund for Medicare's Supplementary Medical Insurance — which pays physicians' bills and some out-of-hospital expenses — and is primarily funded by general revenues took in $13.9 billion, paid out $15 billion and closed the year with $1.1 billion.

The trustees warned that the Medicare trust fund will be exhausted as early as 1981 under pessimistic assumptions; 1991 under intermediate assumptions, and 1995 under an optimistic forecast. Medicare expenditures would have to be reduced 32 percent to bring income increased 48 percent to balance Medicare's books over the next 25 years, they said.

The old age and disability funds decreased by $12.2 billion in 1982, but the $12.4 billion loan from the hospital fund enabled them to show a $200 million gain that year.

The old age and disability funds' income in 1983 included a Treasury payment of $19.7 billion May 20 to compensate the system for Social Security credits given to people who served in the military before 1957 without paying the payroll tax.

Individuals also gave or bequeathed $197.707 to Social Security in 1983.

The trustees said, "The actuarial estimates indicate that (old age, survivors and disability) benefits can be paid on time well into the next century on the basis of all four sets of economic and demographic assumptions." But they added that the reserves will "remain relatively low through 1987," and if economic conditions are worse than even the pessimistic forecast, the program "could again experience financial difficulties in the near future."

Democrat trio flays Reagan in 'debate' in Pennsylvania

By DONALD M. ROTHBURG
AP Political Writer

PITTSBURGH — The Democratic presidential candidates accused President Reagan of sacrificing human rights in the name of national security as the three debated without intraparty rancor Thursday night — five days before the Pennsylvania primary.

From arms control to Social Security, from ethics in government to taxes, Walter F. Mondale, Gary Hart and the Rev. Jesse Jackson went after the Republican incumbent in the four-hour session.

"This president frightens me to death," said Hart in remarks on the nuclear arms race.

Mondale said he watched Reagan's Wednesday night news conference "and I thought I saw something happening that we've seen happen too often before: That president is getting detached from what's really happening in this country."

Jackson took on Reagan's policies toward the Philippines and his president, Ferdinand Marcos.

"We need our self-respect in the Philippines. If that government remains in a state of tyranny, it does not deserve our support. . . . We cannot maintain our self-respect by embracing dictators," Jackson said when questioned by moderator Elizabeth Drew of The New Yorker magazine.

The candidates aimed their assaults at the Pennsylvania Democrats who will allocate the next big block of delegates — 172 — in next Tuesday's primary.

They didn't attack each other, they didn't interrupt each other and they often found themselves saying "me too" to a previous answer.

But they hammered away at Reagan.

Mondale said Reagan has low ethical standards for his appointees, particularly for Edwin Meese III, whose nomination for attorney general is stalled pending a special prosecutor's investigation.

"Every day now another rotten apple falls out of the tree in Washington and the president isn't looking," Mondale said. "Last night the president seemed to be saying the standard is you can stay in government, you can be attorney general, if you haven't been indicted and convicted of something."

Hart's opening remarks stressed the agreements among the candidates — a far cry from recent campaigning.

"I believe each of us here . . . share the basic goals of the Democratic Party. It has been suggested there are degrees of commitment to civil rights and I don't see that difference. I think Fritz Mondale and Jesse Jackson and I are all equally committed to those goals," he said.

Hart was criticized by Mondale last week for coming late to support the nuclear freeze proposal. Mondale asked him about it again in his only direct question to Hart Thursday night.

"I think it united us; it doesn't divide us," Hart said, calling the freeze "a major contribution," and adding "I think we have to go beyond it, not after it."

Challenger ready for journey

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The shuttle Challenger was set Thursday for its highest and most ambitious space voyage yet, a mission to stalk, capture and restore an ailing satellite to health.

One of the five astronauts had a close call when his training jet hit a flock of birds as he was starting to take off on a practice flight. One engine failed and the flight was aborted, but he escaped injury.

At an afternoon weather briefing, the crew was told that conditions should be "super" for today's 6:58 a.m. MST launch from Kennedy Space Center: scattered clouds at 25,000 feet, light wind, and visibility of more than seven miles.

But Maj. Donald Green, an Air Force weather officer or the shuttle, cautioned that there was some concern about 70 mph winds at 15,000 feet. NASA said if the winds persisted, NASA would send up a weather balloon 45 minutes before launch to make a final decision on whether to go ahead.

The countdown for the 11th shuttle flight was marred only by a failed electronics unit used for relaying information between shuttle computers and its various systems. Technicians removed the "black box" and replaced it with a unit from Discovery — a new shuttle awaiting its first flight in June. Workers hoped to have the replacement completed in time for fueling to begin on schedule early today.

Should any problems force the launch to be postponed, NASA said it would be rescheduled for Sunday morning.

Challenger is scheduled to land on the Kennedy runway after six days and 92 turns around Earth. It will orbit at 300 miles altitude, the highest ever for a shuttle, to snare the satellite and to release it later.

Deluge hits Northeast, rivers overflow banks

By DAVID L. LANGFORD
The Associated Press

A deluge of up to 4 inches of rain in the urban Northeast sent rivers and streams spilling over their banks Thursday, blocking roads and forcing the evacuation of scores of people.

Flood warnings were posted in many areas from New Jersey to western Massachusetts.

More than 250 people fled their homes because of rising rivers in northern New Jersey, and state Attorney General Irwin H. Kimmelman declared a limited state of emergency in five counties, ordering officials to call out the National Guard to help.

Record flooding was reported along the Passaic and Wanque rivers, as at least 10 waterways overflowed their banks. About 40 to 50 homes were evacuated in West Milford and about 100 people had fled along the Pequannock River in Morris County.

Several dozen New Jersey homes were evacuated when a small dam burst just across the state line in Hillburn, N.Y.

At Newark Airport, flights were halted for an hour and a half Thursday morning because of savage winds.

St. Clare's Hospital in Denville, N.J., was surrounded by water from the Rockaway River and National Guard troops in nearby Dover were asked to supply trucks and drivers to shuttle doctors in and out.

Powerful winds from the same storm ripped sections of the roof off a North Carolina shopping mall Wednesday and thunderstorms set a building afire at a Georgia army base.

Two soldiers at Fort Gordon, Ga., were struck by lightning and a third was injured when lightning touched down nearby during a field training exercise in a wooded area. All three were hospitalized in stable condition.

The storm doused New York City with so much rain — 2 to 4 inches in the area — even the city's 24-hour special telephone number for reporting flooded streets and backed-up sewers was knocked out of service.

Several major arteries in the New York City area, especially in the suburbs to the north, were blocked by high water.

In the midst of the storm, a three-story condominium construction project collapsed in downtown Greenwich, Conn., slightly injuring one worker, but officials had not determined the cause.

Bob Clark, director of the office of hydrology at the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration in Washington, D.C., said some flooding was reported in at least 17 states this week "causing a lot of problems for agricultural interests."

The Suwannee River in northern Florida was approaching levels reached in the flood of 1973.

Seat law good idea, but tough to enforce

Idaho's child car seat bill has been signed into law by Gov. John Evans, but while the intent of the legislation may be good, we have doubts that it can ever be adequately enforced.

The law requires parents with children under the age of 4 or weighing less than 40 pounds to strap them in a safety device for travel.

It is not hard to show the positive relationship between "buckling up" and safety in traffic accidents. In a sudden stop or a crash, a child becomes a flying missile and often crashes against the dashboard, resulting in severe injuries or death. So, for that matter, do adults.

Safety experts have recognized the value of seat belts and child restraints for years, but compelling their use has been difficult.

Other protection methods, like passive air bags, have been proposed and the technology is available. But Congress refuses to mandate auto manufacturers to put them into cars.

The debate in the Legislature on the issue centered around the "freedom of choice" question, with opponents arguing that, as with motorcycle helmets, people shouldn't be forced to use the restraints.

That argument is flawed, in our view, by the fact that a child does not make a "choice" to use the restraint; the decision is someone else's and the child's safety is thus dependent on another.

Still, opponents are correct when they say that the law will be difficult to enforce. Unless child restraint seats are provided free to new parents — some hospitals are now renting them at very modest costs — many parents won't purchase them.

A policy by local or state police to enforce the new law could result in some nasty confrontations; law officers may find so many violations they may wonder if enforcement is worth the time.

Ideally, Idaho parents will see the advisability of using child restraint devices in vehicles. Children are safer when they're buckled up.

But, widespread education and availability seem to us to be more important here than a restraint law to which the Legislature can't compel compliance.

Change on issue sometimes too late

BOSTON — For a people who religiously observe the first commandment of modern life — Thou Shalt Grow and Change — we are remarkably critical of politicians who do just that.

We seem to react to leaders the way we once reacted to our parents. We criticize them if they're out of step, and criticize them if they begin to trip the light-punk rock.

Remember what happened to Jimmy Carter when he changed the part in his hair? This year any number of candidates will be judged for changing their minds.

It's begun already. In the "kinship struggle" (as Jesse Jackson calls it) between Mondale and Hart, the two men have engaged in an argument that sounds like the old Abbott and Costello routine, "Who's on First?"

Each has claimed that he was on the "right side" first, and each has chastised the other for being "late" on the issues. In New York, Hart accused Mondale of being "late" on Vietnam and Mondale accused Hart of being "late" on the nuclear freeze.

In Massachusetts, where a number of Democrats have plunged into the race for Paul Tsongas' Senate seat, there's been a similar controversy over abortion between supporters of Rep. James Shannon and Rep. Edward Markey. The curious thing is that both candidates are pro-choice. But Markey is criticized as "late" on the issue. He converted last year. As a Markey supporter says, "The way things look now, you are as likely to get knives shipped as praised for changing to get rich.

Some of this who's-on-first campaign rhetoric comes from men who are trying, sometimes desperately, to highlight differences. A lot of it normalizes the politics of squabbling kinship-struggles may be the most vicious of civil wars.

Out of season, we often allow politicians to change their positions, especially if they are changing in sync with their times or with our own opinions.

George Wallace has made the most heralded trip from segregationist to barn-again populist. Ronald Reagan, a model of rigidity, made a once-and-forever mid-life switch before he got into politics.

But often, the people who were "there" on an issue first have trouble accepting the leaders who followed them. They are more uncomfortable with new allies than old enemies.

Admittedly, someone who is late on an issue may be too late. Once I sat next to a boss who was notorious for keeping women, some of whom I'd known, out of top jobs.

He was, he told me benignly, quite wrong in "the old days" and he had changed. I felt torn between loyalty to those he'd hurt, and understanding. He was later, for sure, but it was too late.

I have a friend whose father was angry and brusque throughout his childhood, only to mellow in recent years. The son forgives him, but not fully. The father was late. In some ways, too late.

So I can imagine how difficult it is for someone who had lost a son or a limb or innocence in the Vietnam War to accept the explanations of those who now say they made "mistakes."

It must be hard for those most intensely involved in any cause, whether it's the nuclear freeze or abortion or civil rights or Central America, to welcome the polls come lately. Where were you when the crisis sounded?

There's also a tendency to trust those who stay the same over time. At least, we tell each other, we know where he stands, even if we don't always like it.

But it makes more sense to welcome a changing mind. Not one that's fickle or fuzzy but one that's open to reason. After all, politics is about change. Political advocates struggle to persuade their opponents. There is something peculiar about turning around and penalizing your own converts.

Ed Markey, for example, lost the right-to-life vote only to be recharacterized as a late bloomer by some pro-choice people. The next politician may worry less about this conscience and more about this consistency constituency.

Not every turnabout is an expedient flip-flop. Not every opinion is formed through polls. On matters as complex as those of war and peace, life and death, many politicians are like the rest of us. They keep on thinking and get stuck in the process. Growing and Changing.

Ellen Goodman writes for The Boston Globe.

Carnival support appreciated

Recently, Sawtooth School held their annual carnival and we had this most successful date. Proceeds from the carnival are going towards the purchase of computers, a VCR and jump ropes for the school.

Many thanks go out to the following merchants who very generously donated prizes: Fayless, Albertson's, Judy's, Kelley Garden Center, Plant-a-gram, Lund's Lights, Schlemmer Taxidermy, Blacker's, Woolworth, Red Hen, Sawney-Lynwood, Newton's, Sounds Easy, Video Shop, Pets and Plants, JB's, The Stylist, Sherwood's, King's-Lynwood, Osco, Hudson's and Clos.

Again, a big thank you for your support.

Senator's comments disputed

This is an open letter to Senator Steve Symms in regard to your newsletter of March 26.

Your comments are a disgrace to this beautiful state. If all you can find to brag about is the INEL, pork barrel project, then you need to be run out on a rail.

Nuclear power supplies only a tiny fraction of American energy, actually less than is derived from burning wood, about 4 percent of the total.

You talk about the American people feeling shortchanged. We have every right to feel shortchanged as far as the nuclear boondoggle is concerned and your support of this dirty, expensive and dangerous method of producing steam is unacceptable.

You are in error when you predict nuclear power to grow and become a part of the future energy source. As of now, no new nuclear power plants have been opened since 1979 and plans for 113 reactors are being cancelled.

I would suggest you subscribe to the newsletter printed by the Union of Concerned Scientists and find the true facts before putting out your kind of propaganda. If only 5 percent of the billion of dollars spent the past years had gone towards developing renewable energy sources, we could now be entirely self-sufficient on all energy needs.

Letters/ Constituents offer their views following Hansen's conviction

Who really worth support?

The Republican Party has called out the faithful of Twin Falls to hear George Hansen explain his felonies. When are they going to call out the faithful to support our own, Dan Adamson, the other Republican candidate for Congress? He has no felonies to account for. Who really deserves the support of the Republican Party?

Contender deserves chance

A few months ago, I happened to turn on the radio to the morning talk show of Mr. Jim Koutnik. He and another gentleman were discussing Congressman George Hansen and

GEORGE CONNIE HANSEN

Meets press following trial

The scrapes that he and his wife Connie had been involved in throughout the years. Koutnik made the statement that "I'll bet ole George will get out of this one too," speaking about his current indignations.

Well, Mr. Koutnik, old George couldn't fool the federal courts and a jury of honest men and women. He didn't beat the rap this time. It is a good thing that our children were in school at the time this program was aired as they would get the impression that it was all right to break the law, "if you can get away with it."

It seems to me that the leaders of the LDS Church would now change their opinion about supporting Mr. Hansen as it is written in their 12th Article of Faith, "We believe in being subject to kings, presidents, rulers and magistrates, in obeying, honoring and sustaining the law." Mr. Hansen has neither obeyed, honored or sustained the law after having been convicted on four counts of felony.

Dan Adamson is also LDS and it seems to me that the hierarchy of the LDS Church would now encourage its members to stand behind Mr. Adamson to elect him to the U.S. House of Representatives. He is an honest, dedicated, honorable young man and deserves your support.

"The verdict is in — the die are cast. Let's get rid of the old and bring in the new. Dan Adamson deserves a chance to lead the Republican Party to victory this November. Let us support Dan Adamson as your candidate for the U.S. House of Representative and elect a congressman that the people of the state of Idaho can be proud of."

Hansen not dragon slayer

The United States is the greatest country in the world. In terms of humanitarian impulse, mobility, freedom, the right to be what we want to be and to do what we want to do is unequalled. We enjoy the fruits of 200 plus years of efforts of all the great Americans before us who strived, sometimes at very great risk, to make America what it is today.

Our system of Justice protects all of us under the same laws. We do not have different laws governing different types of people. We are all innocent until proven guilty.

George Hansen has been found guilty by 12 Americans. Here is a man who totally betrayed a public trust by failing to adhere to the laws he was elected to uphold. A man who attempted to hide several hundred thousand dollars in questionable income.

There is a law governing disclosure of income and George Hansen broke that law. If, for one, am terribly disgusted by politicians who receive righteous platitudes while stuffing their pockets with illicit funds. Fortunately, this is America, and sometimes these trusted public officials are found out and dealt with accordingly.

I guess George Hansen isn't really much of a dragonslayer after all. In fact, as it turned out, he's just a drag.

VINCENT P. DORNISCH
Twin Falls

Backers should come forth

Congressman George Hansen, now more than ever before, deserves the support of patriotic freedom-loving Americans for being selectively prosecuted because he has defended our basic constitutional rights in a liberal dominated Congress, federal bureaucracy and judicial system.

U.S. News and World Report of June 13, 1982, reports that 140 House members had filed amended financial statements after Hansen was charged. Many of us realized that the passage of the Ethics in Government Act was deliberately designed for such selective prosecution. With the trial in D.C., do you really feel that George could receive a fair trial in the midst of the bureaucracy which he has been fighting?

Let us not forget that George's financial "problems" were the result of defending himself against liberals who trumped up accusations, half-truths and out and out lies.

Why has Hansen been the selected target? Because he will not compromise constitutional principle for political expediency. Without George, the abuses of OSHA and the IRS would have gone unchecked as they ran over our individual rights included in the Bill of Rights and the Constitution.

Without George, we very likely would have strong gun control measures which would eliminate the Second Amendment and our right to hunt and defend ourselves.

Without George, the victims of the Teton Dam flood were at the mercy of the federal bureaucrats. He also exposed the WPPSS (Idaho and Idaho citizens were saved millions of dollars in electricity bills by his efforts against the big bankers).

Christians should rally to his support for his stand against the murder of the unborn. George led the national effort to repeal the withholding tax on interest on savings.

Hansen's Taxpayer Protection Act and flat-rate tax proposals are being recognized as needed protection and equity in tax matters. His voting record for less government, a balanced budget, a strong national defense and fight against the give-away of the Panama Canal and technology to our enemy are the reasons he has been the target of liberals, socialist and communists who are out to create another totalitarian country.

Congressman Hansen has been backed against the wall by the enemies of our Republic. Rather than desert George, we should rally to his side as he has been fighting for our freedoms and the freedoms of generations to come.

If we leave him now, then defeat may well be too late. Let us stand and fight along with him because Congressman George Hansen is a true statesman who richly deserves the support of freedom-loving Americans.

Nixon calls break-in, cover-up 'stupid'; will not apologize

By MIKE FEINSLBER
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Reflecting on Watergate nearly a decade after the scandal drove him from the presidency, Richard Nixon says the break-in was "illegal and a lousy, very stupid thing to do," the simplest cover-up stupidity at its very highest, and his failure to destroy the incriminating White House tapes also was "stupid, (they) should have been burned."

But, in a new, paid retelling of his memoirs, Nixon still said he would not apologize to the American people. Asked why during the two-year ordeal he never simply went on television and said he had made a mistake and was sorry, Nixon said he will not utter those words. "There's no way that you could apologize that is more eloquent, more decisive, more finite, or to say that you are sorry which would exceed resigning the presidency of the United States," he told interviewer Frank Gannon.

"That said it all. And I don't intend to say any more." The former president, 71, was interviewed for 38 hours last year by Gannon, a former White House Fellow who helped Nixon write his books. CBS reportedly paid $500,000 for broadcast rights to 1 1/2 hours of the Gannon interviews. A 3-minute segment will be aired Sunday on "60 Minutes," another 3 minutes Tuesday on "The American Parade," and the remaining segment April 15 on "60 Minutes."

Nixon reveals little new about the Watergate episode but he gives some insights into his personal life during those tormented months. He recalled his last night in the White House, the night he made the resignation speech on television. He went upstairs to the family quarters, was embraced silently by his wife, daughters and sons-in-law, "saying nothing and saying everything." He found that his suit was soaked with perspiration but he was suffering a chill.

"Soon the chill went away," he said, "and I went down to the Lincoln room and made a few calls to people. Heard the chanting outside. Reminded me of the Vietnam days, except that this time the chant was, 'Jail to the Chief! Jail to the Chief!'" "Didn't bother me; however," Nixon continued. "You know, after all, I'd been heckled by experts." Nixon described the break-in as illegal and a "very, very stupid thing to do."

House speaker says Reagan making Congress scapegoat

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill accused President Reagan on Thursday of trying to make Congress a scapegoat for failure of U.S. policy in Lebanon. He said Reagan alone was responsible for the death of U.S. Marines there.

THOMAS TIP O'NEILL Discusses Beirut moves

"It's the qualms of a guilty conscience," O'Neill said of Reagan's comments at a news conference Wednesday night that congressional debate had rendered the U.S. role in Beirut "ineffective" and may have encouraged terrorist attacks. Reagan said Congress "must take a responsibility" for any loss of U.S. credibility in the Middle East after withdrawal of American troops from Lebanon.

Byrd, D-W.Va., told reporters that it was the "administration's flawed foreign policy that failed it wasn't the nerve of Congress." Said Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., a member of the Foreign Relations Committee and former contender for the Democratic presidential nomination: "We have a president who is trigger-happy and who commits troops for impossible missions. To suggest we should not debate policy is to suggest a dictatorship." O'Neill said Reagan was trying to make Congress a scapegoat for a foreign policy that didn't work. "The truth of the matter is his policy failed. The ineptness on their (administration) part. They miscalculated. The deaths of the U.S. Marines are the responsibility of the president of the United States. He acted against the wishes of our top military in this country, and now he is looking for a scapegoat." "And now it's qualms of conscience. The deaths lie on him and the defeat in Lebanon lies on him, and him alone... and he can't put it on the shoulders of anybody else," O'Neill said. Reagan was asked about O'Neill's charge during a tour of a New York day care center Thursday. Gesturing toward the children playing around him, the president said, "Everything in here is making more sense than that." O'Neill called the Lebanon policy "the biggest blunder, the biggest mistake" that Reagan has made as president.

When Congress debated withdrawing U.S. forces, Reagan added, "all this can do is stimulate the terrorists and urge them on to further attacks because they see a possibility of success in getting the forces in Lebanon keeping them from having their way." O'Neill denounced that notion. He said Reagan's policy in Lebanon "failed because he tried to work with might and toughness rather than diplomatic smartness." Senate Minority Leader Robert C.

Congress advances in deficit battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress on Thursday took its first major steps this year toward taming runaway budget deficits, with the House adopting a budget blueprint that accommodates a $182 billion Democratic plan for cutting federal tax. The Senate gave final congressional approval to an $8.2 billion package of spending cuts. After a $205 billion plan drafted by Republican leaders, including elements embraced by President Reagan, was defeated on a 311-107 vote, the House voted 250-168 in favor of the package supported by Democratic leaders. There were 229 Democrats and 21 Republicans voting in favor of the plan while 139 Republicans and 29 Democrats voted against it. The budget outline that was adopted contemplates that during the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, the government will spend $918.6 billion, with a projected deficit of $175.4 billion. Rep. James H. Jones, D-Okla., chairman of the House Budget Committee, argued that the GOP plan gave too much to the military, contained elements such as user fees that could not be enacted and was "not real" because it sought $28 billion in savings through improvements in government efficiency. Republican Leader Robert C.

Michel of Illinois argued that the House had been subjected to "a menagerie of meaningless numbers." He attacked the Democratic plan as cutting too much from defense. Despite the arguments, the House action came down to a partisan test of strength, which the Democrats won. "It was a victory for a united Democratic Party and a defeat for Reagan's unfairness," House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., said in a statement his office issued after the final vote. Across the Capitol, the Senate ended a stalemate over how to proceed with its deficit-reduction work and passed 67-26 a measure the House passed last year containing $8.2 billion in spending reductions. That bill now goes to the president for his signature. Those reductions come mostly through delaying the cost-of-living increases for federal civilian and military retirees from May until the end of the year to conform with the Social Security bailout legislation enacted last year. Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., had said he hoped to follow a shortcut procedure this year, forgoing a budget resolution and moving directly to consideration of the elements of a three-year, $150 billion plan Reagan backs.

Soviets pan Reagan plan

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass on Thursday dismissed President Reagan's proposal to ban chemical weapons worldwide as "a propaganda trick" to mask U.S. stockpiling of chemical arms. The official news agency said that the enforcement and verification as envisaged by Reagan made impossible an agreement in such a ban. The news agency concluded that Reagan's initiative "is nothing short of a propaganda trick the White House is going to use to camouflage and justify a program for the speedy buildup of its chemical arms arsenal." Reagan spoke of a "bold initiative," Tass said. But, in fact, he made it clear that the administration is actually going to block any agreement in this field by making patently unacceptable conditions for "verification" and enforcement.

EPA to deflate gas mileage ratings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency said Thursday it will deflate its gasoline mileage ratings for 1985 model automobiles, in an effort to put laboratory estimates closer to gas mileages recorded in actual driving. Starting this fall, when 1985 models are sold, the EPA's "city" rating will be reduced by 10 percent and the "highway" rating will be slashed 22 percent.

The agency also will return to its pre-1979 practice of listing both figures in its annual rankings instead of the city driving figure alone, which is now published. EPA said its deflation percentages are "based on the average difference between the laboratory estimates and the fuel economy data EPA has collected on vehicles in use." It warned drivers that their cars' mileage may still vary from the published figures.

Two men executed on the same day

By The Associated Press

A Florida child-killer apologized to his parents and a Louisiana double murderer begged forgiveness from the father of one victim as they went to their own deaths in the electric chair Thursday.

It was the first execution of two men in one day since the death penalty was restored.

"I bet a lot of those people on death row right now are beginning to sweat," said Walt Verdow, father of one of the Florida convict's victims. Sonnier, 26, was convicted of murdering a 12-year-old girl in 1976. He was sentenced to die at 5:08 a.m. MST at the prison in Starke, Fla. Just before he died, he apologized to his parents and said he was sorry to have killed two boys.

Elmo Patrick Sonnier, still insisting that his brother was the killer of a 10-year-old couple, was pronounced dead at 11:15 p.m. MST at the state prison at Angola, La. The fathers of the victims looked on, their arms folded, as four jolts of 2,000 and 500 volts passed through his body. Sonnier, 26, was convicted of abducting sweethearts Loretta Bourque, 18, and David LeBlanc, 16, from an isolated lovers' lane in New Iberia and methodically shooting them in the head three times each after raping the young woman.

As he was strapped into the polished oak chair, he turned and looked directly at LeBlanc's father, Lloyd. "I ask to have your forgiveness," Sonnier said.

LeBlanc nodded and said, "Yes." Goode, the man executed in Florida, was condemned to death for the 1976 homosexual slaying of a 9-year-old Cape Coral boy, Jason Verdow, and had been sentenced to life in prison for killing an 11-year-old Virginia boy.

On the eve of his execution, Goode said he still wanted to molest little boys. But after being strapped into the death chair, he said, "I'm very upset. I don't know what to say, really."

With a choking voice, he told the execution witnesses he "had remorse for the two boys that I murdered. It's difficult for me to show it."

The former mental patient was the fourth convicted killer to die in Florida since 1979 and the second this year. Sparse crowds demonstrated both for and against the death penalty outside the prison and in Tallahassee.

"I bet a lot of those people on death row right now are beginning to sweat," Verdow, father of the 9-year-old victim, said in Orlando. "Some of them won't act quite as smart now. He (Goode) probably didn't either at the last minute."

Goode's father, Bud, 69, of Pine Island, said he was "disillusioned and disgusted."

"Here you have a system where a guy like John Hinckley goes to the hospital for trying to kill the president and our son gets to die when he is just as crazy," the father said.

Goode said Wednesday he wanted his execution carried out. "I know that I will never be a free person again. I know I will never be able to have sex with any young boys," he said.

Green Beret doctor asks for new trial

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Dr. Jeffrey MacDonald, citing new evidence and witnesses, asked a federal court Thursday to grant him a new trial on charges of slaying his daughters and pregnant wife in 1970, or to release him from his life prison sentences.

The former Green Beret doctor is serving three life terms in the Bastrop, Texas, federal prison for the 1970 slayings at Fort Bragg.

One of four motions filed with U.S. District Judge Franklin Dupree said the defense had "uncovered evidence, corroborated by numerous witnesses, that a group existed which matched the descriptions he provided in his first 'conscious breath' after the assault."

Jury selection winds down for DeLorean

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The publicity phase of jury selection in the John Z. DeLorean cocaine-trafficking trial ended Thursday and attorneys prepared for the final quiz which will produce the automaker's jury.

U.S. District Judge Robert Tuskus called a halt to the four weeks of intensive questioning after 60 of the 129 prospective jurors called had been tentatively seated.

"When we started this process, the issue was not when we would select a jury, but whether a jury can be selected," Tuskus said.

The 60 had survived an often grueling inquiry by defense and prosecution attorneys about their exposure to news media reports on the case and the opinions they had formed as a result. The 32 women and 28 men now face more questions as attorneys will probe their attitudes on drug use and law enforcement officers.

DeLorean, the 58-year-old automaker charged with conspiring to distribute $24 million worth of cocaine, appeared relieved to have one phase of the trial behind him.

On the eve of his execution, Goode said he still wanted to molest little boys. But after being strapped into the death chair, he said, "I'm very upset. I don't know what to say, really."

With a choking voice, he told the execution witnesses he "had remorse for the two boys that I murdered. It's difficult for me to show it."

Band leader Count Basie hospitalized

NEW YORK (AP) — Jazz band leader Count Basie was in a Florida hospital Thursday suffering from a "rather severe" ulcer and will miss a concert scheduled today, his booking agent said.

Wayne Hutchison refused to say exactly where the 78-year-old pianist is hospitalized. Hutchison said Basie's doctor had ordered him not to reveal Basie's whereabouts.

"He's been trying to get well enough," said Hutchison, who added Basie would miss today's concert in Huntington, W. Va.

Sentencing set for murderer

GRANGEVILLE (AP) — Second District Judge George R. Reinhardt on Thursday scheduled the sentencing of Bryan Lankford for 2 p.m. on June 21.

The 23-year-old Lankford, of Cleveland, Texas, was found guilty last week of two counts of first-degree murder in the beating deaths of a Marine captain and his wife, who were killed while camping in Idaho County last June.

Lankford could face the death penalty. He will be sentenced exactly a year to the day that the Braveneces were last seen alive. Their bodies were found by hunters in September.

Lankford's brother, Mark, 27, will go on trial on similar charges on April 23.

Bryan Lankford had testified that Mark dealt the blows that killed Robert Bravenec and his wife, Cheryl. However, Idaho County Prosecutor Dennis Albers maintained Lankford was guilty as charged because the murders were committed in the furtherance of a crime. The Braveneces were killed while the Lankfords were attempting to steal their van.

Both Lankfords are being held in the Idaho County Jail.

Spraying of forests suspended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Aerial spraying of herbicides in Idaho's national forests has been suspended following a court order barring herbicide applications in neighboring Washington and Oregon.

"The court decisions are based on a conclusion that the Forest Service failed to comply with procedural requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act," said Forest Service Chief Max Peterson.

The temporary suspension, applicable nationwide, will remain in effect until the agency resolves questions raised by the rulings and develops procedures to comply.

Peterson said ground application of herbicides in Idaho will continue as will aerial spraying of pesticides in compliance with strict regulations.

The Forest Service uses herbicides in its reforestation program and to control brush and weeds along rights-of-way and to destroy noxious weeds.

Use of herbicides and pesticides, Peterson said, is permitted only after rigorous environmental analysis.

Officials probe dangerous hill

LEWISTON (AP) — Following a succession of serious traffic accidents, including a multiple fatality, state transportation officials have launched a safety improvement project on U.S. 95 on the Lewiston hill.

By mid-July, the Transportation Department hopes to have a concrete guard rail separating north and south bound traffic along five miles of the four-lane highway. An additional truck escape ramp is also being constructed.

The project, under contract with the Alexander Construction Co. of Nampa, is expected to cost $460,000.

Federal agency joins Eagle Rock dam fight

POCATELLO (AP) — Last month, utilities withdrew an application to build a hydroelectric dam at Eagle Rock on the Snake River below American Falls.

Now, the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission has issued a final environmental impact statement urging that the controversial project never be built.

In March, the Pacific Northwest Generating Co. of Portland and the Rait River Rural Electric Cooperative of Malta withdrew a dam application which had been submitted to FERC.

FERC's staff has concluded in a highly-critical environmental impact statement that there are two feasible alternatives to the Eagle Rock proposal — a coal-fired, steam electric plant, or no action.

The staff cited adverse ecological, recreational and cultural impacts. And they said that the current unfavorable economics of the project and the present energy surplus in the Pacific Northwest do not warrant construction of the project at this time.

"Staff therefore believes that no action is the preferred alternative," the EIS says.

The project would have included a 600-foot long, 20-foot high concrete spillway; a 550-foot long, 40-foot high rock fill dam; a reservoir extending 4.7 miles upstream; a 3,100-foot long power canal; a powerhouse at the power canal and one at the spillway; and a three-mile-long transmission line.

The 48-megawatt project would have provided power to 13 rural electric co-ops.
According to the EIS, building the project would have increased erosion, meant a loss of high-quality river fishing, eliminated 5.5 miles of one of the "fast" significant "white-water" reaches in the Upper Snake River Basin, and caused complete or partial loss of 10 or more archaeological and historic sites.

The EIS said that operating the project would have meant the migration of trout out of the proposed reservoir, reduction in the quality of trout, and a potential increase in the frequency of fish kills, along with a reduction of bald eagle foraging habitat and water fowl resting habitat during moderate and severe winters.

Hearing reslated

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission has rescheduled to April 16 a hearing on a Weiser computer company's request to string its service cable along city utility poles.

Weiser Valley Computer Service's request has been challenged by Mountain Bell Telephone Co. which current has the exclusive certificate "for transmission of intelligence by electricity" in its service area.

Sentence delayed

CALDWELL (AP) — A district court judge has delayed the sentencing of Ricky Lee Chilton to give Idaho corrections officials more time to complete plans for imprisoning the admitted robber and kidnapper outside Idaho.

Third District Judge Jim Doolittle postponed sentencing until April 23 after Chilton's attorney John Lynn said it would take another 10 days to work out an arrangement that will keep Chilton out of the Idaho State Correctional Institution.

FBI search for kidnapper centers in Utah, Las Vegas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI launched an extraordinary nationwide manhunt Thursday for Christopher Bernard Wilder, a 37-year-old race car driver charged with kidnapping one woman and suspected in the death or disappearance of six others from Florida to Nevada.

The FBI called reporters to an unusual news conference to announce that Wilder had been added to its "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives" list and to appeal for help from the public in apprehending him.

"We don't normally do this," said Assistant FBI Director Oliver "Buck" Revell of the news conference. "But he represents a significant danger. He's extremely active, very dangerous, and this approach may lead to his apprehension."

"He's making contacts on an almost daily basis, and this is potentially a very prolific situation," said Revell.

Terry Knowles, FBI special agent in charge of the Salt Lake City office, said his agents were investigating "dozens of calls" in Utah about possible sightings of Wilder, but none had proved fruitful.

"We have nothing that would place him in Utah by any means," Knowles said. "All of our field offices in the nation are doing the same thing. We're just investigating to find out if he's been here or is here."

Dave Kohl, assistant special agent in charge, said the Salt Lake City office became heavily involved in the case because of the state's central location and proximity to Las Vegas, Nev.

CHRISTOPHER WILDER

said Wilder identifies himself as a photographer, which he has been, comments on the young woman's appearance and potential as a model and tries to persuade her to accompany him for a photo session.

"If rejected, he has beaten and forced victims to accompany him," the FBI said.

In addition to the Korfman disappearance, the other cases include that of Sheri Bonaventura, 18, reported missing from Grand Junction, Colo., March 29. She was last seen at a shopping mall.

Born in Sydney, Australia, but with dual U.S. and Australian citizenship, Wilder is a 6-foot tall, 180-pound white male with brown hair and blue eyes. He is balding and has a five-inch scar on his right ankle. He was worn a well-trimmed beard in the past but could be clean-shaven, the FBI said.

Revell said the FBI has no information on Wilder's whereabouts since Sunday, when he was spotted in Las Vegas.

On that day, Michele Korfman, 17, who had participated in a beauty contest, was last seen at a Las Vegas shopping mall. Hers is one of the disappearances in which Wilder is wanted for questioning.

Revell said, "We have reports of him approaching three other young females in Las Vegas at that time."

The FBI called Wilder "an extremely aggressive individual... known to randomly approach attractive young females in shopping malls" and "business areas." Revell

Spokane Girl Scout sale proceeding

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Girl Scout officials say they understand concern about a report of alleged tampering with boxes of scout cookies in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, but look forward to continued support of the annual sale.

Judith Edmund, executive director of the Inland Empire Girl Scout Council, said Wednesday at a press conference that sale of about 200,000 boxes of cookies in the council area, covering parts of Washington, Idaho and Montana, accounts for 64 percent of the council's annual revenue.

She said telephones at the Girl Scout office have been busy since reports spread of cookie tampering elsewhere in the nation, and since the report Tuesday that a 7-year-old Coeur d'Alene boy found a straight pin in a scout cookie.

Bishop asks for new trial

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Attorneys for Arthur Gary Bishop, sentenced to execution for the abduction and slaying of five boys, have asked for a new trial, contending their defense was emasculated by the jury instructions.

The motion by Salt Lake legal defenders Jo Carol Nessel-Sale and David C. Biggs said the instructions given the jury regarding manslaughter were "contrary to law and resulted in a total emasculation and nullity of the defense to Mr. Bishop."

Colombian truce produces questions

By TOM WELLS
The Associated Press

BOGOTA (AP) — President Belsario Betancur, against a resentful military and a well-staffed guerrilla movement, will be hard pressed to turn a one-year truce with communist rebels into a lasting peace.

The truce with the 15,000-member Colombian Revolutionary Armed Forces, announced Sunday by Betancur, begins May 28.

The guerrilla group, which follows the Moscow line, apparently has no plans to halt its activity before the starting date. It attacked a police station in western Caldas state only hours before Betancur's announcement.

On Wednesday another police station, in the western town of Corinto, was over-run. There were conflicting reports from army officials, however, on which of Colombia's several guerrilla groups was to blame.

Konte takes presidency of Guinea

DAKAR, Senegal (AP) — Army Col. Lansana Konde became Guinea's president Thursday, two days after leading a coup, and his new government charged that "certain foreign embassies" were backing an effort to disrupt its rule.

The announcement of Konde's appointment, broadcast by the Guinea's state-run Radio Conakry, and monitored by Dakar, was accompanied by "an urgent appeal for vigilance."

It warned that a small group connected with the deposed regime was trying to disrupt the West-African country's new military government "with the complicity of certain foreign embassies." The embassies were not named.

Western diplomats in Conakry, Guinea's capital, said there was no indication of any armed opposition, and Konde, in his first public statement, said there was no chance of a return to the old government. They were contacted by telephone.

The former regime died with President Sekou Toure, Konde declared in an interview on Radio Conakry.

Ahmed Sekou Toure, a ruthless autocrat, was Guinea's president from its independence in 1958 until his death March 26 after emergency heart surgery in Cleveland, Ohio.

Analysis

The scheduled truce could be extended after the year is up, contingent on approval by both the government and the rebels, who have demanded several social reforms.

Several questions linger:

- Are the guerrillas sincere about halting their 34-year struggle against the army, or will they use the truce period to stockpile weapons, recruit and train?
- Will the armed forces, openly critical of any attempt to negotiate with the insurgents, go along with Betancur?
- Can the government afford the cost of reforms necessary to persuade the guerrillas to turn their weapons and disband?

The rebels' current enthusiasm for negotiating is curious in light of the recent growth of their movement. Six years ago, the highest army estimates of total guerrilla strength was about 2,500. Last month the Defense Ministry said there were 30,000 leftist guerrillas in Colombia — about half in the Colombian Revolutionary Armed Forces, and the rest in four other groups.

Only a small proportion of leftist guerrillas — about 1,500 — accepted a generous government offer of amnesty last year. Some were given land and seed, others taxis or jobs. Critics of the program said many of the guerrillas went back to their fighting units.

The government's peace overtures have spawned resentment at the highest levels of the armed forces.

Betancur fired the Minister of Defense, army Gen. Fernando Landazabal, in February for speaking out publicly against negotiations with the guerrillas. Three other generals quit in apparent support of Landazabal.

23 children sold, she says

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — A woman who gave birth to her 23rd child this week says her husband sold 23 of their children to other families, the state-run news agency ANOP reported Thursday.

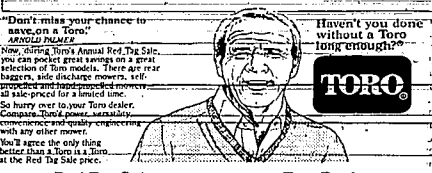

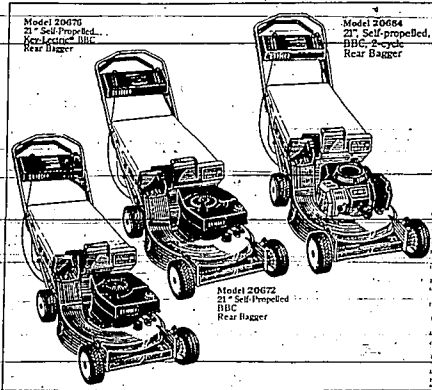

The report quoted Corina da Costa Braz, 38, as saying two of her children are in West Germany and that one, a 6-year-old boy, lives with her and her husband at their home in Sao Bartolomeu de Messines. She does not know where the other children are, ANOP said.

The woman said her farm laborer husband, Jose Coelho da Silva, sold their children for about $7,500 each, ANOP said.

The telephone switchboard operator at the district hospital at Fortim where ANOP reported the woman gave birth to a daughter on Wednesday, confirmed that she was a patient there.

Punjab violence simmers

AMRITSAR, India (AP) — Faced with mounting Sikh violence, the Indian government — armed — itself Thursday with emergency powers to jail suspected-terrorists without trial for as long as two years in Punjab state.

Militant Sikh leader Jarnail Singh Bhindranvale told 400 supporters at the holy Golden Temple, "The government either wants to eliminate the Sikhs or wants the Sikhs to lick the dust of (Prime Minister) Indira Gandhi's slippers."

He said the government and police were conspiring to kill innocent Sikhs, and warned that the paramilitary officers who killed six Sikhs during a riot Tuesday must be repaid in kind.

Militant members of the religious group are waging a campaign for greater religious and political autonomy in Punjab state — the only place in Hindu-dominated India where Sikhism is a majority.

A small group of policemen began a hunger strike outside Amritsar to protest the death of a spleague who was stoned by a mob here earlier this week. Senior police officials rushed to the scene but failed to persuade the sergeants to end their protest.

Five people were seriously wounded in a terrorist bomb attack outside Moha.

A three-day-old curfew in Amritsar was extended until Sunday; Punjab's three other main cities — Ludhiana, Jullundur and Patiala — were reported under night curfew.

An ordinance promulgated by Indian President Zail Singh amended the controversial 1980 National Security Act to increase maximum preventive detention from one to two years. District officials were empowered to imprison anyone for up to six months without obtaining the opinion of a state-appointed detention review board.

Relocation of embassy given nudge

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir says the U.S. Embassy could remain in Tel Aviv indefinitely and now is as good a time as any "to move it to Jerusalem, Oregon," Gov. Victor Atiyeh said Thursday.

An Israeli government communique on Thursday's 45-minute meeting between the two men said Shamir told Atiyeh "we are not involved in the debate in the U.S. over the embassy, but everybody knows our position."

Shamir told Atiyeh that Jerusalem was the Israeli capital "and everyone knows it," Atiyeh and the communique said.

"It is a painful thing for us that our best friends do not recognize Jerusalem as Israel's capital," said the communique issued by Shamir's office.

In a telephone interview, Atiyeh said he raised the subject of moving the embassy during his meeting with Shamir. He said he told Shamir he thought the effort in the U.S. Congress to force the Reagan administration to move the embassy "was ill-timed."

The Republican governor, whose father was born in Syria, said there are "many more important things going on" that require U.S. and Israeli attention. He cited the situation in Lebanon as an example.

Shamir's reply was "fairly firm," Atiyeh said. He quoted the Israeli leader as saying that "effectively there is no good time. Now is as good a time as any."

The communique quoted Shamir as telling Atiyeh "Israel is the only country in the world where foreign embassies are not in the capital."

Air pioneer Antonov dies

MOSCOW (AP) — Pioneer aircraft designer Oleg K. Antonov, who over six decades produced aircraft ranging from gliders to jet fighters and huge cargo planes, died at age 79, the news agency Tass said Thursday.

Antonov died Wednesday, Tass said. It did not disclose the place of death or the nature of the illness.

An obituary signed by Soviet leader Konstantin U. Chernenko and carried by the news agency praised Antonov as a "major scientist and outstanding aviation constructor."

Born in 1906 in the town of Troitsky near Moscow, Antonov built his first plane — a glider — in 1923.

Among his post World War II designs were the An-12 cargo plane and the An-10 passenger plane, which won Antonov a gold medal at the 1958 Brussels World Fair.

The An-22, a giant, long-range cargo jet with an 80-ton capacity, was widely used after its introduction in 1965. Antonov was known to be working on new designs, including modifications in the An-32 and An-72 transports, in the early 1980s.

Flap between taxi firms may end in merger

By DAVE LEWIS
Times-News writer

KETCHUM — A merger between competing taxi companies in Ketchum may end off a lawsuit filed to prevent one of the companies from operating in Ketchum.

The catch is that a local bus service needs to agree to certain terms.

Bill Hayes, owner of Sun Valley Limousine, told the Ketchum City Council Tuesday he will drop a lawsuit against the city if the Ketchum-Sun Valley Transit Authority ends its free bus and taxi operations during non-tourist seasons. He says this would allow his company and Ketchum Taxi to merge and, hopefully, operate profitably.

The owners of the two local taxi companies say they both have operated at a loss for the past year, partially because of the competition from the public system — known as KART — which can get the year-round business, it will make it more profitable for us all the way around," says Dan Carroll, owner of Ketchum Taxi, following Tuesday's meeting of the council.

Last month, Sun Valley Limousine filed suit in Halley's Fifth District Court to stop Ketchum Taxi from operating in Ketchum. Sun Valley Limousine holds an exclusive franchise from the city to operate a taxi service in Ketchum.

The suit also asked the court to make the city of Ketchum enforce the three-year franchise agreement.

But, the two companies have agreed to merge "and end their conflict" if the transit authority will end its "slack" operations and allow the merged companies to take on that business.

Under guidelines from the Urban Mass Transit Authority, from which the local transit authority gets half of its operating funds, KART is required to provide service for elderly and handicapped people on a year-round basis.

The transit authority meets that requirement and also operates an "on-call" service in the spring and fall — free of charge.

Hayes and Carroll say they are willing to contract that service from the transit authority and offer it free to KART riders. The agreement would earn the taxi company, additional money, while probably saving the taxpayers money, they say.

The Ketchum Council told the taxi owners it would consider the proposal. However, any final decision has to come from the transit authority's board of trustees, which is comprised of council members and the mayors of both cities.

Under the pending merger, the taxi operators are offering to provide 24-hour service during the winter and summer seasons and 19 hours of service during slack, from 7 a.m. to 2 a.m.

In a letter to the city council, the operators say they believe the slack KART operation is "unfair governmental competition with private enterprise and not cost-efficient service."

Ex-sailor continues protest

But little progress

TWIN FALLS — David Newman was back picketing the Navy recruiting center on Falls Avenue Wednesday.

It's been two years since the former radioman was discharged from the U.S. Navy, and his case generated considerable interest here.

But time apparently has healed none of his wounds.

After 16 years in the service, Newman alleges he was forced into his discharge with less of veteran benefits by an act of cynicism that has since been lost in the bureaucracy.

But after an official investigation in 1982, the Navy disagreed. They called Newman "inflexible," and said they had tried their best to please him.

In October 1981 Newman received a discharge — four years short of the 20 years required for full pension benefits — as the result of the Navy's decision to turn down his "humanitarian transfer" request.

Newman says he submitted that request — for transfer to the Long Beach-based U.S. Navy shipyard — instead of a San Diego-based cruiser about to leave on a six- to eight-month voyage — after a divorce left him a single parent with custody of three young daughters.

Newman alleges he was discharged because a key Navy chief wanted to make sure his buddies received the prestigious radioman positions on the New Jersey.

And he says he has been the victim of his loyalty to his children and his trust in the Navy's chain of command.

But in response to inquiries by members of the staff of Sen. James McClure, Navy Undersecretary James Goodrich wrote that Newman "was offered every available radioman first-class sea-duty billet in California, and he refused them all."

He wrote that Newman was discharged "after all other avenues to resolve the situation were exhausted."

Little of this history seemed to matter Wednesday, however.

Newman, who now helps write a newsletter for Idaho Frozen Foods, said he has been unable to pay attention to work for three weeks.

Finally, he decided to do something about it at 4 o'clock Wednesday morning. At noon he said he "already felt some relief."

"I believe there is somebody out there that can do something to help," he said. "All I can do is hope."

"I've got nothing against the Navy — I love it, that's why I've got the uniform on."

Newman claims the Navy investigation of his case was sidetracked by two Navy chiefs who conspired to have "his" billet on the U.S.S. New Jersey given to someone else.

But Wednesday afternoon the

But amount in limbo Raises loom at CSI

By ANNETTE CARY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — College of Southern Idaho President Gerald Meyerhoeffer still is set on raising teacher salaries, even if the college did not get as much money from the state as he wanted.

Any raises will be up to the college's board, he says. But he plans to recommend that raises be given, perhaps with the help of money from tuition hikes for out-of-district students.

County-paid tuition for students from outside Twin Falls and Jerome counties now nets the school $650 a year per student. But Meyerhoeffer says the state is permitted, under state law, to charge as much as $1,000 per student.

However, Meyerhoeffer said earlier this year, if a tuition hike is instituted for Blaine, Camas, Cassia, Gooding, Lincoln and Minidoka counties, it will not be to the maximum level allowed.

Meyerhoeffer began considering the possibility of an out-of-district tuition hike early in the legislative session when it became evident that a bill that would have expanded the college's taxing district to include the other six Magic Valley counties would not pass.

But Meyerhoeffer says he is not ready to drop the plan to gather property taxes from the additional

JERRY MEYERHOEFFER

Insists raises will come

He will meet with legislators this spring and summer to discuss the plan, he says.

Meyerhoeffer gave up hope for an expanded taxing district for the coming year months ago. But until the last week of the Legislature, he expected more funding for the college's academic division.

The college did receive a 5.6 percent increase in general fund monies to bring the appropriation for CSI up to $2,059,500, not enough to satisfy Meyerhoeffer.

He would have "felt gratified" if the Legislature had given CSI another $50,000, he says, particularly since the college has had to hire new, part-time teachers to cope with a 22 percent rise in enrollment this year.

He would like to see the college maintain its programs at the current level with less of extra money into instructor salaries, he says, pointing out that teachers received no increase last year.

Money for academic programs is presented to the college in a lump sum from the college's board to spend as it wishes, but money for vocational education is doled out already tagged for specific purposes.

The vocational division instructors will receive a 7 percent raise in pay. And there will be about 5 percent more money to spend on equipment, Meyerhoeffer says.

In addition, Meyerhoeffer expects a check for $75,000 to spend on maintenance projects. The first priority will be a new roof for the vocational building, followed by re-paving portions of the main campus parking lots.

He also thinks the college may receive slightly more money from property taxes this year. Property tax revenues have risen slightly every year, except this year, when a redistribution of property tax levels between cities and business owners was instituted.

Health fair to eye problems

By ANNETTE CARY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — If the high cost of health care is giving you a pain, you may want to stop by Health Fair '84 to be held at the College of Southern Idaho gym from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today and Saturday.

The fair is one of many being sponsored across the nation by the National Health Screening Council for Volunteer Organizations, a group devoted to lower health care costs by preventing illness.

Visitors to the fair will receive free screenings for problems with vision, glaucoma, anemia, blood pressure, hearing, dental health, height and weight, podiatry and muscle flexibility.

For $8, medical specialists will check blood chemistry for indications of diabetes, gout, cholesterol and kidney and liver diseases. But participants need to fast for four hours before the test "water, black coffee and tea are all that are allowed."

For another $6, visitors can sign up for a new type of blood test that produces a cardiac risk profile. If the test is done separately, it costs $10.

That's still a bargain, organizers of the event say. If the blood tests are done individually in a doctor's office or hospital, they cost as much as $60.

A first-time feature of the '84 fair is a special section for children. Kids ages 6 and older can have their blood pressure checked and learn about first aid and fire safety.

Plenty of information will be available for adults, too. Volunteers will man booths to pass out information on drug and alcohol abuse, cancer, the hospice movement, renting infant car seats, diabetes, arthritis.

Library survey favors opening on Mondays

TWIN FALLS — A Twin Falls Public Library survey has shown patrons are most interested in having the library re-open Mondays.

The second choice is to have extended library hours on Saturdays. A third choice is to have the library open Sunday afternoons, according to the survey.

The survey was conducted by the staff of the library in preparation for next year's budget request from the city.

The library would like to open 55 hours per week next year instead of this year's 46 hours, says librarian Arlan Cull. But the request must be approved by the City Council.

The greatest interest among the 54 persons who responded to the survey was that the library maintain regular hours from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Call says.

There was less concern for early-morning and late evening hours, he says. But there was some interest in having the library open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sundays.

He says the library hopes to address at least the Monday hours in this year's request. This could represent up to 20 percent increase in operating costs, he says.

The library is closed Sunday and Monday, open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and from noon to 5 p.m. Saturday.

This year the library had a $285,000 budget from the city.

Potato processing firm seeks revenue bond

TWIN FALLS — The board of the Economic Development Corp. of Twin Falls County Wednesday approved the application of Keegan Inc., a Twin Falls potato processing company, for $600,000 worth of county-sponsored industrial revenue bonds.

The application now goes to the Twin Falls County Board of Commissioners for a public hearing and final consideration.

Keegan, Inc., a family business located on Fourth Avenue South, is cramped and needs to move to new quarters in the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce industrial park southeast of Twin Falls, according to the application.

The new facility will cost approximately $822,000. A total of $320,000 of this amount represents new equipment, $312,000, a new 20,000 foot metal building, and $150,000 land.

The company proposes to pay the balance of the cost of moving from its own funds.

Twin Falls Bank and Trust has agreed to purchase or arrange purchase of the entire $600,000 issue, according to Keegan.

The company predicts the move will result in 10 new full-time jobs.

having the library open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sundays.

Pesticide storage, water quality debated

Environmental protection questioned

TWIN FALLS — Proposed environmental protection priorities for 1985 drew sharp questioning from the audience at a public hearing Wednesday.

The state Department of Health and Welfare's Division of Environment held the meeting to elicit public comment on its plan.

About 25 Magic Valley residents showed up to voice opinions about the Buena Vista pesticide storage problem, injection wells, fish waste in Billingsley Creek and hazardous materials.

Bruce Wenigmann, who lives close to the commercial storage buildings near Buena Vista, asked if new tests would prove more accurate in detecting pesticides in the area.

Ken Brooks, state air quality specialist, answered, "We can't assume anything. We just have to go by what makes the most scientific sense." Brooks said part of the problem is there is no ambient standard for pesticides. "Again, there are no assurances, but there will be a margin of safety in whatever decision comes out," he said.

"You're pioneering a new area, then. We're in a guinea pig situation," Wenigmann answered.

Brooks said that was true, but added, "Every time you eat or drink, you're doing the same thing."

Wenigmann, and others, also complained that the agency was too formal when testing the area for pesticides.

"You give them (the warehouse owners) the date of the tests. Couldn't they be more careful when you tip your hand? That's not random sampling in my mind."

Edna Rains, who lives on Buena Vista, said the pesticide labels clearly state, "Do not store anything close. Isn't 30 feet close?"

State officials said the word, "Close," is actually a matter of semantics that hasn't been judged as any particular or distance by the courts.

Concerning Billingsley Creek, a Hagerman area resident wanted to know what was being done about fish hatchery effluent.

Mike McMasters, water quality specialist, said a good deal of testing had been done on the creek and further 24-hour studies are set for June, July and August. He said there has been very little change in the stream since they began testing.

McMasters did acknowledge, though, that four of the 12 hatcheries located along the waterway have not been in operation, and their re-opening could have an effect on Idaho Springs Hatchery, which doesn't have the proper facilities and something must be done about that.

Also, the Department of Water Resources was harshly criticized by a woman who claims the agency is issuing permits for the injection of septic tank overflow into the Snake River Aquifer.

Bomb scare stops school

FILER — A bomb threat emptied Filer High School, junior high and grade school and the Hollister Elementary School Friday morning.

Eller, Chief of Police, Don Barkley says he suspects a student or a disgruntled former student made the call to the superintendent's office about 8:20 a.m., just before school started. Superintendent Sheldon Kovarsky's secretary answered the call and telephoned the city police immediately, Barkley says.

But police had little information to proceed with their search of the buildings. The male caller said only that there was a bomb in the school and hung up without saying which school or when the bomb was set to go off, Kovarsky says.

Twin Falls County Sheriff James Munn and four of his deputies helped Kovarsky and Filer police search the Filer and Hollister schools from "up in the attics to down underneath the crawl spaces," Kovarsky says. Student lockers were also searched.

But with no sign of a bomb, Kovarsky says the students to begin their day's classes around 9:30 a.m. They had been gathered on the football field and next door at a bowling alley while the school was being checked.

Barkley says this is the first bomb threat for the Filer school system in at least six years. The call is still under investigation, he says.

Man ordered to repay stores

By PAT MARGANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A 23-year-old man was ordered Monday to pay $100 restitution to two Twin Falls stores he had robbed.

Fifth District Court Judge Daniel Meehl also ordered Dennis Lee Major to pay $100 restitution to two Twin Falls stores he had robbed.

Major, already in custody for four months at the North Idaho Correctional Institution in Cottonwood for the robberies. He previously had admitted to holding up a 7-11 store, at 1445 Addison Ave. E., on Aug. 10, and a month later, robbing the Buttrey's grocery store at the Blue-Lakes Shopping Center.

The Cottonwood program report on Major "was one of the best she had ever seen," said defense attorney Kathy Epeldi, a public defender. A few days after Major had been released from the program, he even had found a job, she added.

In other cases on Monday's docket: *

Harry David Parton, 20, 627 Miller Ave., Burley, pleaded guilty to writing bad checks totaling $290 to two Twin Falls stores last fall. In a rare occurrence, Meehl refused to accept the pleas.

During a statement to the judge, Parton had said some of his checks had been stolen and his wife had written checks without his knowledge.

Meehl told Parton that he seemed to have a good defense to the felony charges.

Parton replied he wanted to plead guilty anyway because "it was interfering with my work."

"If you got sentenced to three years in prison that really would interfere," Meehl replied. "This is so serious that I don't think there is any adequate excuse to accept your plea."

The judge then allowed Parton a week to change his mind about the pleas.

* Charles Leon Bailey, no age or address available, pleaded guilty to sexually molesting a 12-year-old girl over a period of three years. The incidents, which took place in the county, began in Jan. 1981 when the girl was 9 years old.

Epeldi, who also represented Bailey, asked for a psychiatric evaluation as a supplement to the presentence report that would be prepared on her client.

* Bobby Cuellar, 19, of 229 Monroe

St. in Twin Falls, denied burglarizing Bickel Elementary School, at 222 Second Ave. E. in Twin Falls, on Nov. 17.

A trial will be scheduled on the charge.

* Rebecca Ann Bethel, 36, of Twin Falls, was placed on a two-year probation for writing a $40 check to a Twin Falls convenience store last July without sufficient funds in her bank account. Meehl also imposed, but suspended, a three-year prison sentence. He ordered Bethel to find a job and make full restitution.

* Gilbert Elmore Calien, 57, of Rogerson, also was placed on probation for changing clothing and equipment to his father without permission. The incident took place last August at Vicker's Saddlery store in Twin Falls.

He thought he was entitled to the items because he wasn't paid much of a salary at the ranch his father operated. Calien said Monday at the sentencing hearing. He realizes now that it was a "gross mistake."

Calien's attorney Rob Williams, and Dennis Voorhees, the Twin Falls County deputy prosecutor, had recommended probation for Calien, who was charged with grand theft.

14-year-old boy dies following car crash

TWIN FALLS — A 14-year-old boy died in a two-car accident just east of Twin Falls, died early Thursday at St. Alphonsus Regional Medical Center in Boise of head injuries.

Justin Aubrey Gull, 14, of Eden, was one of five teenagers in an eastbound vehicle which collided Wednesday evening with a pickup truck driven by James Brockman, 20, of Haberly. Officers said Brockman stopped at a stop sign on 3300 East and then pulled onto U.S. Highway 30 and into the path of the oncoming car driven by Rexann McCalmon, 16, of Haberly.

Brockman and the five young persons in the McCalmon vehicle were taken from the scene by ambulance.

All were treated and released except Gull and Kevin Johnson, 14, of Hanson. She was listed in fair condition Thursday evening.

Gull underwent surgery at Magic Valley Regional Medical Center following the accident and was then transported to Boise for special treatment.

School fire investigated as arson

RUPERT — Arson is suspected in a Thursday morning fire that originated in a laundry cart at Minico High School.

The East End Fire Department was alerted at 11:31 a.m. by an alarm system at the school, says Thayne Taylor, the fire chief. The firefighters found a laundry cart burning in the basement near the gymnasium. The gymnasium, which was located a floor above, had filled with smoke.

Students were evacuated for about 30 minutes until the fire was doused, Taylor said.

A match was found in the cart, leading firefighters to believe that arson was involved, he said.

Damage to the school amounted to about $500. Towels, the laundry cart and the face of two cabinets were burned.

The case is under investigation, Taylor said.

Men bound over on burglary charges

JEROME — Two men, who were arrested by Jerome County officers when they were found, police allege, inside a warehouse at Hazelton, were bound over to Fifth District Court Thursday for burglary charges.

Magistrate Roger Burdick of Jerome ordered Ronald D. Parson of Hazelton and Randy E. Arterburn held for district court on first-degree burglary charges.

Deputy Sheriff Ray Clark of the Hazelton area surprised two suspects inside the Pillsbury Warehouse Inc. building in Hazelton on March 20. He told the court Thursday he found them in the building in the act of attempting to open the firm's safe.

Burdick refused the services of the public defender. Arterburn accepted free legal services. Each is held in lieu of $2,500 bond.

High water posing walleye problem

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

ROGERSON — It appears touch-and-go whether Salmon Falls Reservoir will hit a milestone and spill this spring. If it does, the Idaho Department of Game and Fish is worried about walleye perch migration.

Bob Bell, region 4 fishery manager, says contingency plans for controlling the outmigration of walleye from Salmon Falls Reservoir in case of spill are being formulated because the department does not want the predaceous species in Snake River.

Bell said he has spoken with directors of the Salmon Irrigation District and they feel there is a possibility the dam could spill for the first time since it was completed in 1911.

"We'll have a much better handle on it the first of next week," Bell said. "I'm meeting with the district (irrigation) people and we'll have the April 1 snow report available at that time. From that we should get a pretty good idea of how much runoff to expect."

Bell said the irrigation district has tentatively agreed with a proposal to turn water into the irrigation canals and hopefully divert enough water through the system that spilling won't occur.

The planting of walleye in Idaho has been a continuing battle between immigrants from the Midwest who claim it to be a very sporting species. Native Idahoans have resisted the idea on the grounds that the state is trout country.

The official stance of the Idaho Department of Fish and Game is to provide walleye populations only in "closed systems," which Salmon Falls Reservoir has fallen into for the past 72 years.

The primary consideration of the department is to prevent walleye from entering anadromous fish spawning streams, most specifically the Salmon and Clearwater drainages. Walleye become cannibalistic at a very small size and grow to trophy length. A large walleye population in steelhead and salmon-spawning streams would increase anadromous fish mortality greatly.

It similarly would work against established fisheries of other species in the Snake River and its tributaries.

"Dams can prevent walleye from moving up watersheds but there is very little chance of keeping them from moving downstream."

Bell said there are other fish populations simply have eaten-located fish populations into remnant status.

Because of the threat, Bell said several ideas for carrying out an eradication program are being studied. He was not specific. But because of the depth of Salmon Falls Reservoir, it is believed any eradication project would have to take place near the spill area or more probably in Salmon Falls Creek below the dam.

Salmon Falls Reservoir is about four-fifths dead storage, that much water being needed to fill the canyon to a drawdown point. That volume makes treatment virtually physically and financially impossible.

Treating the outflow in the stream below the dam would be more manageable, although difficult due to the depth of the canyon.

Bell similarly declined to get into the types of toxicants that would be available but a safe guess would be a rotenone-type emulsion that attacks gill-breathing creatures. That type toxicant, which was used in the Magic Reservoir trash fish eradication project in the early 1960s, has been proven safe to warm-blooded creatures.

Bell emphasized that all eradication discusson at this point remained contingent on the safer alternatives. First, the April snow report as applied to the Salmon Falls Creek drainage must be studied in combination with the irrigation district. If the irrigation system can safely carry any expected excess-water, the plans will be dropped.

"And there also is a matter of the weather," Bell said. "If the weather remains fairly cool with cold nights, the runoff will be spread over a longer period of time with reduced volume. Several consecutive hot days and rather warm nights would increase the chance of spill considerably, even if the snow report would indicate a runoff within acceptable limits."

Bell said he would gather all his information together, including the early-week meetings, and present them to the Fish and Game Commission at its quarterly meeting in Boise on Tuesday. On the commission can sanction an eradication program in Idaho.

NBA record topples

Kareem scores

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar became the National Basketball Association's all-time leading scorer when he hit a key hook to break Will Chamberlain's mark of 31,419 points Thursday night with two to spare.

Abdul-Jabbar took a feed from Elmore and made a 10-foot shot with 8:53 left in the Los Angeles Lakers' 129-115 win against the Utah Jazz.

A sellout crowd of 18,389 gave the 7-foot-2 center a thunderous standing ovation after he broke the record as his teammates surrounded him in a circle at midcourt.

The referees stopped the game and NBA Commissioner David Stern went to midcourt to congratulate Abdul-Jabbar.

"I'd like to give thanks to the great Allah for giving me," Abdul-Jabbar told the crowd over the public-address system. "I'd like to give thanks to my parents who are both here tonight for a lot of inspiration and a lot of courage and a lot of support."

"I want to give my best to my family and lastly, I want to thank all of you fans for your tremendous support," he said.

Chamberlain, who had been expected at the game, was not in attendance.

Jabbar's shot, which gave him 22 points for the game, came after he missed a sky hook in the Lakers' previous trip down the court.

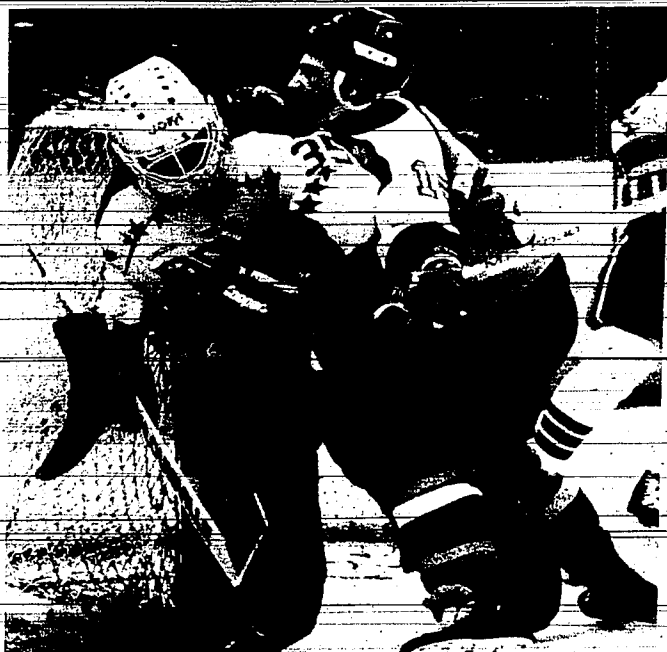

With his parents, Cora and Ferdinand Lewis Alcindor looking on, Abdul-Jabbar wasted no time in going after the record, scoring on a left-handed hook with less than two minutes gone in the game and quickly following it with a dunk.

Abdul-Jabbar hit his first six shots of the game and his sixth with four seconds left in the first half gave him 16 points, five short of the record.

The six-time NBA Most Valuable Player, who had scored 20 or more points in his last 17 games, moved to within three of the record when he hit one of his patented sky hooks midway through the third quarter.

But, with the crowd roaring evermore he touched the ball, Abdul-Jabbar missed his only other shot of the quarter.

With 10:45 left in the game, Abdul-Jabbar took a feed from James Worthy and dunked to tie the record.

Track classic should offer state preview

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

JEROME — It is designed as a scouting tool, a preview of the state finals in Boise next month and a good day of track competition.

Today's Jerome A-2 Classic should accomplish all three goals when possibly as many as 13 teams and a surety of 11 show up for day-long competition. The major track event of the weekend while two others will be run at Bruni Stadium. Twin Falls will entertain Idaho Falls and Blackfoot at 2:30 p.m. today (running finals at 3:30 p.m.) while College of Southern Idaho will host Northwest Nazarene and Treasure Valley in a triangular Saturday.

The college event will start with field events at noon with running finals at 1 p.m.

The Jerome meet kicks off with the 3200-meter finals and six field events at 11 a.m. Sprint and hurdle preliminaries will be held from 11:45 a.m. to 2 p.m. with the remainder of the field events slated for noon.

After a lunch break, the running finals will begin at 3 p.m. girls- and boys-competition alternating by event.

The Jerome boys, thanks to an apparent pit bonanza in the field events, could well rank as the favorite in that division while the Wood River girls will be the high jumper.

High jumper Bernhagen offering the possibility of a sprint sweep and Laura McGinnis a certain big point winner in the distance, could win in that category.

The Jerome boys appear untested in the weights where Gary Husey should win both. Orlin Egbert gives the possibility of big points in the distance jumping and Kevin Reed's pole vaulting could amount to a good Jerome advantage going into the running finals.

Once on the track, Madison will show up in the 100-meter dash. Sideway in the short dash and hurdles and Gerald Henderson in the distances. Sideway clocked an 11.2

100 and a 14.95 high hurdles in an appearance in Twin Falls last week. Henderson should score well in the distance but he'll be bumping heads with Salmon's Barton, who won the B state cross country title last fall.

Rigley's Trent Shipp will rank as the high jumper favorite, being in the 6-6 area fairly consistently. He also could give Sideway a push in the hurdles.

In the girls' division it would appear the teams to watch come from the home district, Wood River, Jerome and Buhl.

Bernhagen's conditioning coming out of the Halley snow country might not be as sharp as that of the lowlanders and hence might not compete in all three sprints, particularly the 400. If she runs in all three, she'll doubtless be facing Jerome senior Joni James who figures to be the Tigers' top pole jumper.

Buhl could score well in the relays, having the state 800-meter quartet.

Pitching trips CSI hitters, brings pair of losses

ONTARIO, Ore. — The hitters never did Thursday when the College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles opened the Treasure Valley Baseball Tournament by dropping a pair of games.

The Eagles were "run-ruled" 12-2 in a five-inning opener against Lewis-Clark junior varsity and then blanked 2-0 by Utah Tech.

CSI will go against Eastern Oregon at 3:30 p.m. today and meet Clackamas at 7:30 p.m. Treasure Valley is the other team in the tournament which will advance the four best records from Thursday and Friday's play to a single-game elimination Saturday. Utah Tech, which run-ruled Lewis-Clark Thursday morning, remained undefeated Thursday.

CSI Coach Jim Walker figured pitching simply threw his hitters out of sync and paid homage Lewis-Clark's Bob Baldwin and Utah Tech's Charles Ciwa.

"The first guy (Baldwin) was throwing a knuckler and getting it over for strikes. He never got behind so we could load up for his fastball," Walker said. "He did a great job. And then we came right back against Ciwa, a lefty, and he's bringing heat. It was quite a change for our hitters. I think he struck out the side in the first inning, and we just never got our batting rhythm."

Walker was the biggest disappointment was having to charge a loss to Tim Peters who matched Ciwa with a four-hitter but gave up simple runs in the first and sixth innings to Utah Tech.

"What worries me," said Walker "is in these close games we're not doing it all. We are a good club that is not playing sound baseball. But we're not panicking yet."

Chris Forner slugged in one run and losing pitcher Bob Matlin walked in another as Lewis-Clark took a 2-0 lead in the first inning of the opener. The Lewiston team led it in the third when Bob Baumgartner unloaded a two-run homer.

Lynn VanEvery scored CSI's first run in the fourth when he opened with a hit and moved around on a single by Jeff Schow, a wild pitch and Shell Scott's groundout. Jim Kotkas belted a solo homer in the fifth.

Utah Tech scored on a single by Brad Spelker in the first, followed by two groundouts and a wild pitch. The Provo team added its second run in the sixth Bill Kendrick doubled and scored on two wild pitches.

CSI managed to get just two men to second base against Ciwa. Van Every on a steal in the fourth and Jeff Teake with a double in the fifth.

Final Game

Coach pleased at facing Talamantez early

By STEVE CRUMP
Times-News sports editor

—IDAHO FALLS — If you have to fight it, it's best to go so early as possible. So Twin Falls High School baseball Coach Bill Ingram feels a little better about dealing with the 90-mile-an-hour fastball of Idaho Falls High School's Greg Talamantez than he might a month from now.

"They're only played one game, and Talamantez didn't pitch. It takes awhile for any pitcher to get into shape, and for a pitcher who throws hard it seems to take a little longer."

The Bruins, 3-1 for the season and 1-1 in the Gen State Conference following last weekend's double-header split with Blackfoot, will visit the Tigers for a conference twinbill, starting Saturday at 10 a.m. A split would put Twin Falls in good shape for its biggest game here of the young season, against Minico at Rupert next Tuesday.

"I'd feel good if we could split with Idaho Falls and Bonneville, as we did with Blackfoot," says Ingram. "Those three teams are definitely contenders, and I feel we are too."

The GSC teams' conference records are more important than usual this year because none of the eight schools will participate in the state-invitational tournament. Instead, the league will hold its own post-season tournament at the same time.

For the purposes of that tournament, the conference has split into northern and southern divisions, with Twin Falls, Minico, Pocatello and Highland in the south and Blackfoot, Idaho Falls, Bonneville, and Skyline in the north. Under the format approved by the league's principals, the two divisions will hold playoffs prior to the conference tournament, with seedings based upon regular-season records against GSC opponents. The two survivors from each of those playoffs will then advance to a four-team conference tourney.

In the past, Gen State Conference records were largely irrelevant in determining which teams went to state; the issue was settled by these district tournaments that involved members of the conference. The three district champions — and occasionally another

GSC team with a good record — were invited to state.

Nelbert Ingram nor Idaho Falls Coach Vince Moll are happy with the new format, but they do concede that it will put a premium on conference games.

"To me, it's kind of an anticlimax," says Moll. "If the kids work hard and win big conference, what's the payoff? They can't even go to state."

Among other things, the state tournament is a showcase for college and pro scouts, but that doesn't figure to much of a problem for Talamantez. The Tigers' first game, held the day before the College of Southern Idaho Invitational tourney in Twin Falls, attracted seven pro and college scouts — and Talamantez played shortstop.

"Greg gets a lot of attention, but we have three starters that we're very pleased with," says Moll. "(Left-hander) Todd Hansen (T-0) has thrown extremely well this spring, and so has our junior, David Byvens."

Moll says he'll start Hansen in the first game and Talamantez in the second on Saturday, but Ingram says he wouldn't be surprised to see all three Idaho Falls starters.

"I've never got in mid-season form yet, so it wouldn't surprise me. Against pitching like that, we've got to hit the ball on the ground and use the bunt and run."

He adds that his impression of the Tigers from last year — the Bruins won both of the games the two teams played — was that they are not a very strong hitting team.

"They've never scored a lot of runs, and they haven't been outside much this spring. So I really don't know how they'll hit."

Southaw Nathan Burke (9-1) will get the chance to find out in one of the games, but Ingram is undecided who else will pitch Saturday.

Scott Matlock (1-0) has been out of school this week with bronchitis but he might be able to throw an inning or two. And Darren Stuart got such a late start because of basketball that he's just getting started with baseball.

Today's game here of the young season, against Minico at Rupert next Tuesday.

"I'd feel good if we could split with Idaho Falls and Bonneville, as we did with Blackfoot," says Ingram. "Those three

North birdies to catch Wood

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Andy North birdied the final hole in a chilly wind, finishing off a four-under-par 68 and tying rookie Willie Wood for the first-round lead. Thursday in the $400,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

"I'm not even thinking about the lead — I don't care if it's four under or three. It's nice to be able to play a little bit better," said North, a non-winner since capturing the 1978 U.S. Open championship.

North, who underwent surgery on his right elbow last year, said he "felt like I was getting close for the last two or three weeks."

"But I was all involved in technical things. When you get so technically oriented, it's sometimes difficult to just go out and play."

Today, I just made up my mind to go out and have fun, try not to try so hard."

His 10-foot birdie putt on the 18th hole at the rain-soaked Forest Oaks Country Club course completed a back nine of 32. Like Wood, he chipped in for a birdie.

Wood, in the first group off the tee, finished before the winds reached their peak and the wind-chill factor sent the "late starters" shivering for foul weather gear. The course was saturated by heavy overnight rain.

Buddy Gardner, who hit all 18 greens, veteran Al Gelberger and Tony Sills were one off the pace at 69.

The group at 70 included David Peoples, Corey Pavin, Peter Jacobson, Jay Haas, George Burns, Mac O'Grady, Mike McCallough, Tommy Valentine, Gary Hallberg and D.A. Weirberg.

Some of the game's more prominent figures had their difficulties, however. Fuzzy Zoeller struggled to an 81. Craig Stadler shot a 75. Cal Peete had a 74. Defending titleholder Lanny Wadkins carded a 73 and Ray Floyd matched par 72.

After an early bogey, North chipped in on the fifth hole. That, he said, was the turning point.

"A couple of weeks ago, I'd have made bogey, gone to two over and been headed for a mediocre round," he said.

He reached the turn even, birdied the 11th from 10 feet, got to three under with birdies on the 14th and 15th, then gained a share of the lead on the 18th.

Wood was one under at the turn, chipped in on 13, and one-putted his last four holes, including birdies from 10 and 15 feet.

Ousted university signs new coach

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two years after dropping its basketball program because of NCAA rule violations, the University of San Francisco Thursday signed respected coach and alum Jim Brovelli to "reestablish a great tradition."

Brovelli, 42, was named coach-of-the-year in the West Coast Athletic Conference this season after leading San Diego to the conference title and into the NCAA playoffs.

He said it was a difficult decision to leave San Diego after 11 years, and a 196-130 record, but called the five-year contract to lead San Francisco back into WCAC competition in 1985-86 an irresistible opportunity.

Brovelli, a basketball standout before graduating from San Francisco in 1964, is a member of the school's Hall of Fame.

Six-week bowling tourney set

BUHL — Sunset Bowl of Buhl will host a six-weekend run of the Idaho State Junior Bowling Tournament beginning Saturday.

The event will kickoff with opening ceremonies Saturday morning.

The tournament includes competitors from ages 5 through 19 and the field boasts averages ranging from 22 to 249.

A total of 734 singles, 367 doubles and 195 teams will compete before the champions can be crowned.

Softball organizing begins

TWIN FALLS — A meeting of the Magic Valley Church League to organize for the coming softball season is scheduled Saturday evening.

The meeting will start at 7:30 p.m. at Grace Baptist Church.

All churches interested in entering teams in the league this year are asked to have representatives at the meeting.

13th annual smoker fires up

TWIN FALLS — The 13th annual Twin Falls Bruin Club Smoker will be held at 7:30 p.m. today at the high school gymnasium.

A total of 12 matches will be fought at various weights. All proceeds will go to the club fund which is used to buy athletic equipment for the high school.

Ticket requests overrun NCAA

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — At least 60,000 tickets for an estimated 60,000 letters had been sent to P.O. Box 1885-B, and they still were arriving.

"Mine's in there, swimming amongst the thousands," said Tom Masse, a clerk at the U.S. Postal Service's main office.

If he did, Masse won't be alone. Officials said that only about 6,000 tickets would be available to the public for the NCAA Final Four at Rupp Arena in 1985.

Under NCAA rules, each letter could seek no more than four seats. Only those postmarked April 3 will be accepted for the lottery to determine who gets tickets.

The 60,000 letters represented just the overnight mail, from a range of 300 to 600 miles from Lexington, said Jim Hughes, director of mail processing in Lexington.

More than one of every three letters had a Lexington zip code.

Racquetball title to be settled

BUHL — The Idaho state doubles racquetball championships will be decided this weekend at the Racqueteers Racquetball and Health Club facilities.

About 100 players from throughout Idaho and most of the surrounding states are expected to participate in the two-day event.

Highlight of the tournament will come at 2 p.m. Saturday when Boise's John Eggeman, four-time national champion and currently ranked in the top 10 internationally, will present an exhibition.

Randy Forsman, manager of the host club, said competition is offered for both men and women.

Golfer recuperating after crash

MAPLETON, Utah (AP) — Golfer Johnny Miller was recuperating at his home Thursday following a traffic accident in which he sustained a head laceration and bruises, said an employee of the former U.S. Open and British Open champion.

Kent Belcher, who works for Miller at his home, said it was too early to determine whether the golfer would be able to compete in next week's Masters tournament at Augusta, Ga.

"He's planning on it and he's hoping to be there," Belcher said. "It's just a question of how he feels."

Payton released from hospital

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP) — Chicago Bears' running back Walter Payton was released from the hospital Thursday following arthroscopic surgery on both knees, a spokesman for the National Football League club said.

Dr. Lanny Johnson, who performed the surgery at Ingham Medical Center at Lansing, Mich., said the procedure was done to "relieve irritation that developed in Payton's knees after nine professional seasons."

Johnson indicated that Payton would need about eight weeks to recuperate, but said the perennial All-Pro should be able to resume conditioning exercises by early June.

McLain's arraignment delayed

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Denny McLain's arraignment on loan sharking and racketeering charges was delayed for a second time Thursday after major league baseball's last 30-game winner told a federal magistrate it would take "lots of money" to hire an attorney.

Track

All-around athlete hurt

BOISE (AP) — All-around athlete Mike Kinney is injured, and that should hurt Idaho's chances of capturing its second national All-Illinois track championship here Saturday.

Last year, Kinney won the 400-meter hurdles and placed in the high hurdles and high jump.

But Coach Mike Keller said Kinney pulled a hamstring last weekend and won't compete.

"That is going to hurt us point-wise this week," Keller said.

Kinney was expected to compete in both hurdles, the long jump and one relay.

"Idaho has a very fine team with good depth," said Boise State Coach Ed Jacoby.

Both the men's and women's teams from Boise State, Idaho and Idaho State will be entered. Jacoby and ISU Coach Jerry Quiller agree the Vandals will be strongly favored. And Boise women's coach Jim Klein said Idaho also should be considered the favorite in the women's event.

John Vandenberg won this season's Big Sky Conference indoor championship at Flagstaff.

"This has become an excellent meet over the last several right years," said Jacoby. "Every year, with the exception of two or three, this meet has been decided on the long relay. It's hard to say if that will happen again this year, but it appears to be a close matchup."

"BSU is strong in the short sprints and Idaho's strength is in the longer events and the javelin. We need to pick up points there," said ISU Coach Dave Nielsen. He said Carolyn Dickinson should be a top contender in the long jump and triple jump.

Idaho won the men's competition last year by 13 points over Boise State and 14 over Idaho State.

It was only the second time the Vandals have won the meet. But both times they did, the track team went on to capture the Big Sky Conference championship.

Bruins net tennis win

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Bruins went to the last match before clinching a 7-5 Gem State Conference tennis win over Bonneville Thursday.

The meet was hampered by rain which caused two changes in format-ting and wound up being very abbreviated.

"It wound up being run kinda funny but everyone agreed to it, we won and it's all okay," said Bruin Coach Clovis Johnson with a laugh.

Johnson and his Bruins will host Wood River at 2 p.m. today and then travel to Nampa and Caldwell Saturday.

Center on arts will serve all state regions

By KARYN RIEDELL
Times-News correspondent

BOISE — The Morrison Center for the Performing Arts, which opens Saturday in Boise with a month-long celebration of Idaho artists, is in a class with the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. and the Lincoln Center in New York.

"We have in Idaho now a major center of unbelievable proportions. You have to see it to believe it," says Fred Norman, executive director of the center.

"It is a center for the entire state, not just Boise," Norman says. "Since the center was opened by the state, the month of April will honor the artists of the state."

Norman also sees the center as a "drawing card for major artists throughout the world."

The center will provide Idahoans with the opportunity to enjoy touring Broadway productions and major operas, symphonies and ballets.

"My Fair Lady," performed by the Morrison Center Musical Theater, which opens Saturday will be the center's first production.

The play features an all-Idaho cast under the direction of Norman and will continue Sunday and April 12, 13 and 14.

On April 11, "Carmen," an opera of the Basque country, sung in English, will be performed by the Boise Civic Opera.

The third production of the month will be the Boise Philharmonic's "Heaven Mass," featuring the Boise Master Chorus and the College of Idaho Choir. Later in the month, the University of Idaho's Jazz and Wind Ensembles and Vandaleers will perform April 26, and the Boise State University choir and orchestra will perform April 29.

The Junior League of Boise is hosting public group tours and open houses are scheduled on Saturdays and Sundays.

The center was made possible by the donations of thousands of people, beginning with Boise construction magnate Harry W. Morrison, who donated land to the city.

After Morrison's death in 1971, Velma Morrison, his widow, donated $3.5 million for the construction costs of the center.

The plan remained "dormant" until 1979 when Boise State University and Morrison Center supporters worked together for state support in the Legislature and private funds from the community.

Within four months, the fund-raising goal was reached — $5.2 million from the state, $7.5 million from the Harry W. Morrison Foundation and $1 million from other contributors.

The center, located on the Boise State University campus, features a 10-story stage hall.

From an aerial view, the $16 million building is shaped like the state of Idaho.

The building also features a lobby with winding staircase and walkway, recital halls, an experimental theater and practice rooms.

Tickets for all April events can be ordered by phoning 385-1110.

Sherri Carpenter, who portrays the lead role, flies through the air during a rehearsal of "Creation"

'Creation' more than ballet

By CHRISTOPHER WILLIAMS
Times-News correspondent

TWIN FALLS — "Creation" is a word of extreme irony for Krista Kelsey. After being chosen to play the part of Eve in a Bible ballet called "Creation," Kelsey became pregnant with her fourth child.

"I thought they would want to find someone else to be in the ballet when they found out I was pregnant," says Kelsey, a Kimberly resident who instructs dance classes in addition to her work as a dance artist and a mother.

"I personally wanted to participate, but I wasn't sure how they would feel."

Kelsey, along with other Dance Synergy Ltd. dancers, will be performing the ballet's premiere April 13 and 14 at the Renaissance Academy of the Arts, 511 Second Ave. E.

Raymond Neph Miller, who wrote the ballet "Creation," says he knows of one instance where everyone "who took part in another ballet" was pregnant.

"It is very timely," Miller says. "It is one of those lucky breaks that you just can't plan in the script."

"We are just elated. I think that we tend to hide birth in this society and it is a neat thing that should be celebrated."

Kelsey says her doctor sees nothing wrong with her taking part in the production as long as her body is used to the physical stress involved in dancing. "Dancing is very good exercise and will help get her in the physical condition she wants to be in after the birth," Kelsey says. She also plans to continue to teach her dance classes up until about two weeks before the birth, she says.

Kelsey, who has danced before while pregnant, but never performed on stage during pregnancy, says she expects no problems in participating in the ballet.

"I think when you get bigger, you may feel somewhat awkward, but I'm only three months along," she says. "I'm not really showing very much yet so I'm not sure the audience will even notice."

"The timing is kind of ironic because my husband and I wanted another child, but we've had the attitude for the past seven months that if we had a child, fine, and if we didn't, fine. It is ironic that it occurred at this particular time when I was involved with the play."

Miller says "Creation" is a lyrical ballet that depicts the events that took place during the seven days of the earth's creation as recorded by the Bible. It combines classical, jazz, romantic and ancient dance with musical and scriptural idioms, he says.

"Our goal is to eventually perform this ballet in churches in the area, Miller says. "We want to expose these people to good ballet. To the best of my knowledge, there hasn't been another play like this one performed."

Dancers for the production include Kelsey, Sherri Carpenter of Gooding; Bonnie Mason of Twin Falls; Kelly Nelson, who studied dance in Houston; and Rebecca Johnson, who recently completed a masters degree in dance at the University of Idaho.

The choreographer is Beverly Hackney and narration will be provided by Robert Hutchings.

"Two songs will be performed in addition to the Bible Ballet," Miller says. They are "Westchester Fair" by Tim Weisberg, and "Western Hoedown," which will be performed to a recording of the Braun Brothers and choreographed by Sherri Carpenter.

There will be three showings: 7:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday and a 3 p.m. matinee on Saturday.

Prices for tickets are $5 for general admission, $7.50 for an entire family and $1.75 for senior citizens, children under 12 and students with valid identification.

Tickets can be obtained at Ann's Hallmark, the Sunshine Corner, the Music Center and Warner Music.

For more information, contact Ray Miller at 734-0719.

Splash: A fantasy for today's world

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Mermaids usually are the stuff of seafaring and fantasy. Director Ron Howard, however, has updated the mermaid legend and set it down in New York City. And, the conception is a sassy, delectable fairy tale called "Splash."

The hero is the somewhat somber Allen Bauer, the owner of a food distribution company. He can't fall in love, Allen tells his brother Freddie, who writes bizarre letters to men's magazines.

After a night of drunken self-pity, Allen heads toward Cape Cod, where he feels at home despite the fact he can't swim. A boat accident, nonetheless, places him in the water and what the thinks is sure death.

Chorale preparing dramatic musical

By LORAYNE O. SMITH
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The stoning of Stephen and the dramatic conversion of Saul from a persecutor of the early Christians to the powerful Apostle Paul will be presented at 3 p.m. Sunday in the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium.

The spring concert of the Magic Valley Chorale will feature Part I of Mendelssohn's oratorio, "Saint Paul," accompanied by the Magic Valley Chamber Orchestra and organist Phyllis Van Nest.

Carson Wong, associate professor of music at CSI, will direct the performance. Soloists will be Melanie Parry of Twin Falls, soprano; Camille Cox of Twin Falls, alto; Fred T. Lewis of Twin Falls, tenor; and Robert Newman of Rupert, baritone.

Harry, the daughter of Keith and Ethel Parry, is a graduate of Ricks College, where she performed with the a cappella choir. She recently was in the CSI production of "Fiddler on the Roof."

Cox, a native of Twin Falls, graduated from Brigham Young University with a bachelor's degree in music education. She has been a soloist with the chorale in several other oratorios and was the witch in the Northwest Opera's "Hansel and Gretel."

Lewis, who has studied voice in New York City and San Francisco, won first place in a military talent show while serving in the U. S. Army in the Panama Canal Zone. He has been active in the opera workshop at the Dominican College of San Raphael, Calif.; sung with the Oakland Symphony chorus and has been soloist in the Magic Valley Chorale's presentation of "The Messiah."

Don Juan faces Satan in Chautauqua show sponsored by museum

By TERRY RICH HARTLEY
Times-News correspondent

TWIN FALLS — The Herrett Museum, continuing its Chautauqua arts and humanities series, will present the stage play, "Don Juan in Hell," Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Very familiar with the role of directing the play, Dr. Bawler of Bliss was also the director a decade ago when the Antique Festival Theatre took it on tour. "We did it a lot, then — 10 or 12 times," she says of the produced reading. "It brought a lot of laughs. It's quite a comedy."

Bawler says this production is more difficult for her because she's also playing the role of Dona Ana. Dr. Paul Kliss will play Don Juan, while Aldrich Bawler assumes the role of the Devil.

All three were in the earlier productions and plan to present nuances this time that were previously overlooked. Also in the cast will be Tony Mannen of CSI's drama department, who will appear as the Statue.

"Don Juan in Hell," though often staged as a separate play, is actually a dream sequence taken from the third act of George Bernard Shaw's four-act play "Man and Superman."

The characters are based on Mozart's "Don Giovanni" and even the very phrasing of the language spoken by Shaw's characters owes its oratorical intonation to operatic arias.

The dream, set in Hell, parrots many of the ideas in Shaw's "Epistle Dedicatory." Women, the Life Force, Heaven and Hell are all discussed. Juan, as it turns out, has a moral rather than an amorous passion; he wishes to improve the world.

Hell, to Shaw, was the paradise of the romantic imagination, while Heaven was the home of the masters of reality. "The playwright equated romance with sentimental illusion, calling it, 'The great heresy to be rooted out from art and life.'"

Shaw, an unpublished novelist, socialist, orator and critic — as well as philosopher-playwright — began this play in 1907 when the institution of marriage was based on the fact that a woman was her husband's property. Any criticism of this institution brought cries of outrage, since an attack upon marriage was also an assault on property.

This daring and outspoken play was but the first of Shaw's many thought-provoking works in confounding the audience.

Wildlife series set for airing

TWIN FALLS "Traditionally, public television has excelled in bringing the best in nature programming to American audiences. Now, a rare selection of spectacular wildlife films premieres Sunday on "Living Wild."

The show will be aired at 8 p.m. on IE/PBS.

Lush tropical rainforests, stark polar icefields and mysterious underwater worlds abound—with wildlife that few have ever seen. The documentary films were shot in remote locations from Australia's Great Barrier Reef to Tanzania's Serengeti Plain, "Living Wild's."

The series opens with "Arctic Summer," narrated by Bernard Hughes. The show was filmed on the desolate shores of Antarctica, where the Adelle penguins return each year to breed, and "Enderby Island," home to a breeding colony of race hooker's sea lions.

On the following Sunday, "Living Wild" goes to warmer waters—to photograph giant whales and sharks off Baja California in "Voyage to the Vermilion Sea."

On April 22, in "Beyond the Edge," Jeremy Irons narrates a film exploration of the dramatic sea cliffs of Britain and Ireland where gannets, puffins, seals and wild goats find refuge from human interference.

"Living Wild" is presented on PBS by WGBH Boston which produces Nova, the award-winning science series now in its second decade on PBS.

Hair styles dividing family

DEAR ABBY: Our two daughters are successful businesswomen in Los Angeles. Both are married to welders who wear ponytails and one earring.

These are men of good character, treat our daughters well, and there is nothing wrong with them except they look like a couple of hippies instead of the good guys they are.

Because of their appearance, we have told them that they are not welcome in our home. Our daughters refuse to visit us because their husbands can't come to our home, and we're certainly not invited to their homes.

We're losing contact with our daughters because of two ponytails and two earrings—how's that for dumb?

We still write to one another and sometimes phone, but there are no concessions or negotiations on either side. What do we do next, Abby?

—ARIZONA PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: What you should do next is call your daughters and invite them AND their husbands to your home—ponytails, earrings and all. Apologize for your inexcusable snobbishness and hope they accept.

DEAR ABBY: In your answer to a recent letter, you made reference to your "Irish" cynicologist, Dr. John A. Haugen. Where did you ever get the idea that Haugen is an Irish name?

Abigail VanBuren
Dear Abby

Haugen is a Norwegian surname meaning "dweller on the hill."

Abby, please correct this error in your column as we Norwegians are rather proud of our heritage.

—S.E. HAUGEN, OREGON

DEAR S.E. HAUGEN: "Uff-da! I'll take 20 lashes with a Norwegian salmum. I just checked with Dr. Haugen, who confirmed that he is not Irish, he's 100 percent Norwegian. He also added good-humoredly that he doesn't dwell on a hill, he's OVER IT."

DEAR ABBY: Your reply to "Irritated Neighbor" could have been more helpful. She wrote: "Over the Christmas holidays, a neighbor asked our 10-year-old son if he would feed her cats and fish and bring in her mail while she and her family were out of town. She promised to pay him, but at this writing he hasn't been paid. Should we just forget about it, or remind her of her promise? Our son is too shy to ask her herself."

Abby, instead of telling the mother to speak for her son, you should have advised her to insist that her son handle it himself. It would have been educational for him to have collected what was owed him. Example:

"Mrs. ( ), would you please pay me for the service I rendered to your household while you were away? As a student, I need this money for my regular expenditures. I hope my work was satisfactory."

It would encourage the youth to settle his own problems and bring to a satisfactory conclusion his first business venture.

—CARROLL H. LUHR, MONTICELLO, KY.

DEAR MR. LUHR: Thank you. Your answer was better than mine.

CONFIDENTIAL TO PATRIOTIC IN CHICAGO: Consider this: "We must face the fact that the United States is neither omnipotent nor omniscient, that we are only 6 percent of the world's population and that we cannot right every wrong or reverse each adversity, and that therefore there cannot be an American solution to every world problem." —JOHN F. KENNEDY

Zoo officials pamper condor eggs

By LAURINDA KRESS
The Associated Press

SAN DIEGO—A California condor embryo due to hatch next week may be dead, but a second chick "looks good" and should break through its shell soon, San Diego Zoo officials said Thursday.

"No. 1 looks good and should hatch on Sunday but egg No. 2 is now showing some signs of life. There is a chance it could be dead in the egg now," said zoo spokesman Jeff Jouett.

He said, however, that the egg is still seven days from hatching and "it could be OK."

Zoo officials noted the lack of movement on Wednesday "but they didn't want to admit it," Jouett said. "Now they've seen it two days in a row, and are reluctantly admitting things may be less than perfect for that egg."

He said the other egg is "alive and kicking and ready to hatch."

Zoo officials are checking the egg status by holding them up to a high intensity lamp, he said.

Four more condor eggs are incubating at the zoo, and four chicks hatched last year are being raised at the San Diego Wild Animal Park.

The hatchings are part of a captive breeding program being conducted by the San Diego Zoological Society, the Audubon Society and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to save the endangered species from extinction.

Only 17 California condors known to exist in the wild, in the 60,000-square-mile range across central California and in Sequoia National Forest.

What's what

Q. What's the greenish color around the yolk of a hard-boiled egg?
 A. Sulfur and iron compounds formed by overcooking.

There was a "time in your life" about four months before you were born — when you had more hair on your back than a grown gorilla.

SKYSCRAPER ROMANCE

These researchers who look into our love lives checked out the action among people who work in skyscrapers. Two out of every 10 people on the lower floors said they were involved romantically with co-workers. Nine out of every 10 people on the upper floors said the same. Our Love and War man cannot satisfactorily explain this difference. Is it possible that upper-floor people get involved simply because they make more elevator stops? Hardly. Still...

In case jargon, a customer who leaves no tip has long been identified as a "George Eddie," not as "George Eddy," as I wrote. A man who identified himself as George Eddie told me that. He said he was deeply disturbed by the term. He said he went straightaway to his credit-card records to prove to his own satisfaction that he was an excellent tipper. Our names are sacred, you know that, don't you?

Send mail to L.M. Boyd in care of this newspaper.

Q. Who wrote the line, "The wheel that squeaks the loudest is the one that gets the grease?"
 A. A drifter who didn't take up writing until he was 50 years old. It was then he adopted the penname, Jost Billings, and became famous nationwide for his misanthropic delivery of common sense. He filled a large need as the common man's humorist. He was born Henry Wheeler Shaw.

Q. Ask your Love and War man, what is the typical frequency of physical romance among married couples between the ages of 35 and 44?
 A. His statistical file indicates 98 times a year is average.

Will you buy the recent claim that a baby only two days old can distinguish between a happy face and a sad one?

SOUND UNDER WATER

Sound travels much further in deep-sea water than through air. Naives at a depth of 3,500 feet have been tracked over the equivalent of 14,400 land miles. Whales know the whereabouts of other whales, you bet.

Area dance pupils set 'Peter and the Wolf'

TWIN FALLS — Dance students from Twin Falls, Jerome and Filer have been rehearsing the production of "Peter and the Wolf," with help from professional dancers of Dance Synergy, Ltd.

The students will be performing Prokofiev's story of young Peter this weekend at the Renaissance Academy of the Arts.

The production has been choreographed by Dance Synergy member Rebecca Johnson, who is also a teacher at Sage Studio of Dance.

Sherry Carpenter, dance instructor from Gooding, dances the wolf along with Bonnie Mason. Both are Dance Synergy members. Kelly Nelson, another company member, dances the bird.

Other adult dancers are Collette Yamaguchi, a pharmacist, Barbara Curley, and Jeanne Brewer, an X-ray technician.

Peter is danced by Shauna Tolman, the duck is Krista Dabnes and the cat is Letha Hurt. All three are students at O'Leary Junior High.

The hunters are high school students Michelle Kerswell from Jerome and Julie Hepworth from Filer. The youngest dancers are Casey Mason, 5, and Lant Johnson, 6.

Also being performed as a sneak preview is the opening movements from Raymond Miller's "Creation." It is choreographed by Bev Hackney and danced by the Dance Synergy troupe.

There will be matinee performances Saturday and Sunday at 3 p.m., and an 8 at 3 p.m., and Saturday evening at 8 p.m. Tickets are $1 general admission or $5 for a whole family.

Tickets are available at the Sunshine Corner, Warner Music and Anne's Hallmark.

Chapter from the Bible to be shown at college

TWIN FALLS — A chapter from the Bible will appear on the screen Friday night when the motion picture "Years of the Beast" is shown at the College of Southern Idaho Auditorium.

The movie will be shown at 7:30 p.m., and there is no charge.

Filmed in 1981, "Years of the Beast" portrays a Biblical period called the "Tribulation." It depicts a struggle between Christ and the anti-Christ in the last days before Armageddon, and takes place in a society where money is worthless, food is scarce and oppression reigns.

The film stars Michael Amber as the anti-Christ. Amber is a New York based actor who has appeared in the soap opera "Another World," and in the stage production of "The Sound of Music," among other roles.

"It is back by popular demand," says Gene Miller, the screening representative for the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, and one of the principle persons involved in getting a return engagement for the film.

"There have been many requests to get the movie back," it was attempted by 850 people last year.

Produced by Skyline Productions and released by Gospel Films, "Years of the Beast" is a special film not to be missed. In the Gospel Films President Billy Zeoli's Zeoli's estimation, the movie focuses on the ultimate triumph.

According to Miller, the movie is in high demand and will soon be shown in American Falls, Idaho Falls, and possibly, Burley and Paul.

Though the show is free, an offering will be taken, and the proceeds will go to prison ministries and local churches, Miller says.

In addition, a musical group from Twin Falls called "Damasus" will minister in song during the evening. Damasus currently ministers to rest homes in the Magic Valley, and has performed at the Idaho State Penitentiary in Boise, Miller says.

The group is available to perform for churches and other organizations in the area, she says. Added information on Damasus can be obtained by contacting Joe Rodney or Peggy Blue at 733-6600.

Screen star returns home

NEW YORK (AP) — Oscar-winning screen star Claudette Colbert returned to the scene of her 1927 movie debut, a Queens studio which will include a building dedicated to her when its renovation is completed.

The 78-year-old actress was given a crystal heart with her initials engraved on it Wednesday by officials of the Kaufman Astoria Studios.

Miss Colbert, who captured the Best Actress award in 1934 for "It Happened One Night," was surprised by cardboard cutouts of her past screen roles as she was honored by the studio executives.

The Queens studio opened in 1920. George Kaufman, president of the studio, said one building on the site would bear Miss Colbert's name in honor of her work there.

Bowler says their version is trimmed somewhat from the original script.

"Where Shaw would make eight to 10 comparisons in each series, we make three or four," she says, adding that they've tried not to cut the sense of it.

"Judicious cutting" is what she calls it.

Noting that this cast has put on the play twice in February at the Renaissance Assembly of the 70s as well as those many times a decade ago, the director says, "This will probably be the last 'Don Juan in Hell' we'll ever do."

Rod Burks, exhibit curator at the museum on the CSI campus, says there will be no charge for the performance. He notes that their maximum seating capacity is for an audience of 60.

Arts council granted $48,000 for show

BOLTON — An unprecedented $48,000 has recently been awarded to the Idaho Commission on the Arts for an Exhibition of Idaho Folk Art. The project is one of the largest ever funded by the National Endowment for the Arts, Folk Art Program, says project director Steve Spiorin.

The exhibition, entitled, "We Came to Where We Were Supposed to Be: Folk Art of Idaho," will open at the Boise Gallery of Art, Aug. 10.

It will then travel to Pocatello, Moscow, Spokane, Twin Falls, Sun Valley, Saff Lake, City, Idaho Falls, Coeur d'Alene and Salmon over a two-year period.

"This award follows a summer of field research made possible by a previous grant that enabled Spiorin and two other folklorists to locate thousands of examples of Idaho Folk Art."

"Similar projects have been carried out in Utah, Oregon, Vermont, Mississippi and Iowa, but what is singular about the Idaho project is the large element of federal funding," said Bess Lamax Hawes, director of the NEA Folk Arts Program.

"The reason for the large award," says Hawes, is that no previous survey has been done in Idaho and thus all the preparation for the exhibit has been done from scratch.

"Folk art has been largely unexplored in Idaho," she said, necessitating a large grant to finance first-time research.

"The purpose of the exhibition is to create an awareness of, and appreciation for, the variety of traditional art and folk artists in the state."

"The National Council was very impressed by the quality of the Idaho folk art and we feel that the project is worth every nickel," said Hawes.

"We are always aware that we are spending taxpayers money and that the projects we fund must be of benefit to taxpayers. This project will be of great benefit to Idaho artists and to the people of Idaho."

Her view is supported by the generous response of Idaho corporations which have contributed to the Exhibition. Private sector contributions have been raised for the publication of a 128-page catalog of the exhibition, which will contain major essays on Idaho Folk Art as well as photographs and descriptions of the objects.

blonde vision, who suddenly disappears.

The girl, we soon find, is a mermaid. She also has been stricken with love and determinedly sets out to find her man. Meantime, a kooky scientist is on her trail.

"Splash" is one of those entertainment films that keeps its pace, humor and heart throughout. The writing successfully combines slapstick and witty dialogue.

Howard, who is best known as the perpetual teen-ager in "Happy Days," has come into his own as a director after some past rigor mortis attempts. His underwater shots especially are well done.

Another reason for the fun is the talented crew. Tom Hanks as Allen has a deadpan-but-funny delivery. He is offset by John Candy as the uproarious Freddie. Candy, in fact, often steals as many as scenes as he can with his pudgy charm on face.

Fans of the "SCTV" and "The New Show" television probably are already fans of Candy and Eugene Levy, who plays the emotional scientist. Levy and Candy are two of the most versatile yet, relatively unknown comics to spawn from television.

The real surprise is Darryl Hannah as the mermaid who names herself after a city street. One would expect to find a Bo Derek in the part. That is, lots of body and little talent. However, is lots of beauty and ability as the woman who takes to this brave new world with disarming naivete and a thirst for knowledge, particularly when it comes to sex and shopping.

"Splash" clicks along like a well-oiled machine. For those who can believe in mermaids, it is a pearl.

Nation's key banks raise prime rate to 12%

The prime rate

By JAMES F. PELTZ
AP Business Writer

Major banks nationwide raised their prime lending rates by one-half percentage point to 12 percent Thursday, the highest level in more than a year.

The increase was the second in the key borrowing rate in three weeks. But some economists said they did not expect the rate to climb again in the next few weeks, and for interest rates overall to stabilize.

While the boost had been anticipated on Wall Street, stock prices nonetheless retreated. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks fell 6.33, to 1,142.17, at midafternoon.

First National Bank of Chicago, the nation's eighth-largest commercial bank by deposits, led the latest round of prime-rate increases. It quickly was followed by second-ranked Citibank and No. 3 Chase Manhattan Bank in New York; and by industry leader Bank of America in San Francisco.

The move lifted the banks' prime, or base, lending charge to its highest level since October 1982, when it also was 12 percent.

The big banks had just raised their prime rates to 11.5 percent from 11 percent on March 19. But credit analysts said the latest increase was warranted given economic conditions.

The prime rate is a lagging indicator. But it usually follows changes in other interest rates. Since rates in general have continued to edge higher in recent weeks, they raised the banks' cost of obtaining funds for lending.

For example, the federal funds rate, the interest on overnight loans between banks, has climbed to nearly 11 percent from 10 percent on March 19 and 9.5 percent at the start of the year.

Also, as robust economic growth has continued, so too has demand for loans. That rising demand, together with the huge credit demands of the federal government, is putting further upward pressure on interest rates.

"Loan demand has definitely picked up in the last six weeks; as the economy expands, business develops a need for external financing," said Elliott Platt, an economist at the Investment Firm Donaldson, Lufkin & Jenrette Securities Corp. in New York.

At the same time, the Federal Reserve has tried to restrict the availability of credit to prevent the economy from overheating and fueling inflation. But the central bank's stance also has prevented a substantial decline in interest rates.

However, some economists now expect the economy's growth to slow in the second quarter, and for the Federal Reserve to avoid a further tightening of credit.

As a result, "I would expect stability in short-term interest rates in the next few weeks," said Ted Gibson, senior economist at Crocker National Bank in San Francisco, which was one of the banks raising its prime rate.

The latest prime-rate increase came one day after Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan predicted interest rates would soon reach a peak and then decline slightly by the end of the year.

In an interview with The Associated Press, Regan said he was "very concerned" about the level of interest rates. He said that if the prime rate did rise to 12 percent, "it will slow the economy but it won't kill it."

The prime rate is the base upon which banks compute interest charges on short-term business loans. Large, creditworthy borrowers frequently borrow at below the prime rate while smaller businesses typically pay one or two percentage points above the prime.

While the cost of an individual's loan might not be tied directly to the prime rate, the prime rate still is an indicator of how lending charges generally are moving.

The prime rate, which reached a record high 21.5 percent in December 1980, gradually worked its way down to 12 percent. In October 1982 and then to 10.5 percent in February 1983, it then climbed to 11 percent last August.

Stock prices tumble to lowest level in year

By CHEST CURRIER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK — An afternoon sell-off sent the stock market tumbling to its lowest level in almost a year Thursday as the specter of rising interest rates continued to haunt Wall Street.

Auto, transportation and retailing issues showed some of the biggest declines in a busy session.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks tumbled 18.71 to 1,130.55, its lowest close since it stood at 1,124.71 last April 8. Over the past six trading days, the index has lost 70 points.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange reached 101.75 million shares, up from 92.86 million Wednesday.

Many banks across the country raised their prime lending rates Thursday from 11½ to 12 percent. It was the second half-point increase in three weeks in the nominal rate banks set for their biggest and best customers.

In addition, there was widespread speculation that the Federal Reserve would soon raise the discount rate, the charge it imposes on loans to private financial institutions.

Analysts noted that the prime rate increase came in response to the recent rise of open market money rates, and had been widely expected.

But they said investors apparently were fearful of rising money rates to come, and the chance that expensive credit would disrupt the expansion of economic activity.

Among the stocks that contributed heavily to the Dow Jones industrial average's decline were International Business Machines, down 2¼% at 108¾; General Electric, down 2¼% at 51¾; Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing, down 1¼% at 69¾; and Merck, off 1½% at 93¾.

In the daily tally on the Big Board, declines outnumbered advances by more than 3 to 1. The exchange's composite index of all its listed common stocks fell 1.38 to 89.33.

Nationwide turnover in NYSE-listed issues, including trades in stocks on regional exchanges and in the over-the-counter market, totaled 121.88 million shares.

Standard & Poor's index of 400 industrial stocks dropped 2.95 to 175.37, and S&P's 500-stock composite index was down 2.90 to 159.94.

The NASDAQ composite index for the over-the-counter market fell 2.77 to 245.74. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index closed at 206.28, down 2.16.

Stable oil prices headed for a skid

By STEVEN P. ROSENFELD
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK — Oil prices, unusually stable for the past year, could nearly double in the next 10 years and increase more than sixfold in 20 years, one big oil company estimates.

Analysts said Thursday that the projections by Shell Oil Co., which has raised prices for the most part oil prices would rise only as fast as the projected inflation rate for the next decade.

"After that, it's anybody's guess," said John Liebhaf, executive director of the Petroleum Industry Research Foundation, a private study group financed by oil companies.

Meanwhile, Conoco Inc., another large oil company, predicted that the non-communist world would become more dependent upon oil produced by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries in the years ahead.

"Complicity about the U.S. energy situation is unwarranted," Conoco said in its annual forecast covering the period through the year 1995.

Shell projected the price of Saudi Arabian Light, a grade of crude oil that is the benchmark for world prices, would remain at $25 a barrel through 1986, then rise to $35 a barrel in 1993 and $192 a barrel by 2005.

Shell's projection was made as part of the strategic forecasts the company makes twice a year for internal use by its management. But it was made public as part of an offering statement distributed Wednesday to shareholders in connection with a $250-million bid by the Royal Dutch-Shell Group of Companies for the 30.6 percent of Shell stock it does not already own.

Shell tempered the projection by noting that planning forecasts in general, and the crude price assumption in particular, are considered highly uncertain.

Oil prices have been notoriously volatile over the past decade.

Late Easter, poor weather cut into March retail sales

By CHRISTOPHER LINDSAY
AP Business Writer

Major U.S. retailers Thursday reported mixed sales results in March, compared with a year ago, blaming a late Easter and miserable weather in many parts of the nation.

Only one week in March had favorable weather conditions, over most of the country, said the analysts.

Sears said sales in the five weeks ending March 31 were $2.10 billion, compared to $2.11 billion a year ago. For the year to date, sales were $3.78 billion, up from $3.59 billion.

K mart said sales were off to $1.54 billion from $1.55 billion. For the year, sales were $2.65 billion, up from $2.54 billion, a gain of 4.3 percent.

THE ACES® BOBBY WOLFF

Dear Mr. Wolff: Some play a one no trump suit bid forcing. Is there a good reason for such deviation?

ANSWER: Yes, for those who play a five card major system: Much of the time they make a rebid over a one no trump response anyway (a 3-3-2 pattern the exception), so the inability to play at one no trump gives little away. It shows heavily in allowing greater definition of responder's hand on the next round.

Dear Mr. Wolff: What is the convention referred to as D.O.P.I. I've seen some use in lieu of Blackwood.

ANSWER: D.O.P.I. is used when an opponent interferes over a NT Blackwood bid. Double shows ace, pass shows no ace, pass shows two aces, etc. Don't use this convention without advanced discussion and agreement.

Dear Mr. Wolff: I open three clubs and partner bids five clubs. What sort of hand should I expect?

ANSWER: Either a strong hand or weak. With the strong hand, partner is bidding for a make. With the weak one, he is continuing the preempt. With a weak one, you're not expected to get again.
