Title to Eagles

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. — College of Southern Idaho's baseball team won the National Junior College Athletic Association World Series Friday night, defeating San Jacinto North Community College 9-7.

CSI's triumph had a definite Magic Valley flavor. Eagle sophomore Jeff Schow, a graduate of Rupert's Minico High School, lifted a two-run home run over the right-field fence in the top of the ninth inning to snap a 7-7 tie and give CSI the winning runs. On base was freshman Dave Garro, a former Minico teammate of Schow's.

Right-hander Doug Butler preserved the lead for the Eagles in the bottom of the ninth despite visiting two hits, striking out San Jacinto's Richard Halston to end matters.

Shultz seeks Managua thaw

By GEORGE GEDDA
The Associated Press

MANAGUA, Nicaragua — Secretary of State George P. Shultz made a surprise visit to Managua Friday, and he and the top leader of the Sandinista junta announced agreement to hold meetings aimed at easing Central American tensions.

Shultz made the stopover in Managua on the way home to Washington after attending the inauguration in El Salvador of President Jose Napoleon Duarte.

He met at the Managua airport with Daniel Ortega, coordinator of the ruling Marxist junta, for two hours and six minutes.

At a news conference that followed, Shultz said there would be future meetings between President Reagan's special envoy for Latin American affairs, Harry Schlaudeman, and a Nicaraguan official who was not identified by name.

He did not say when or where the meetings would take place.

A senior U.S. official said Reagan had asked Shultz to make the stop in Managua to explore the possibility of improving the frigid relations between the two countries.

Shultz and Ortega held their talks in an office at the Sandino International Airport on the outskirts of Managua.

It was the first high-level meeting between the two countries in 2 1/2 years.

The talks took place against a background of disagreement in Congress over whether to continue U.S. assistance to anti-government rebels battling the Nicaraguan government.

The United States says Nicaragua is aiding leftist guerrillas battling the U.S.-backed government in El Salvador. Nicaragua denies the accusation.

Shultz had been scheduled to visit only El Salvador on the trip.

The official said that the results of the meeting will be passed on to the president.

Reagan in Ireland on sentimental jaunt

By MAUREEN SANTINI
AP White House Correspondent

SHANNON, Ireland — President Reagan began an 8,000-mile European journey of sentiment, patriotism and diplomacy Friday with a visit to Ireland, his ancestral homeland.

"I want you to know that for this great-grandson of Ireland this is a moment of joy," Reagan said upon his arrival at Shannon airport on the Atlantic coast. "I am returning not only to my own roots, but to America's roots."

During his second foreign journey of this election year, Reagan also will attend an economic summit of the United States' major trading partners in London, and visit Normandy for what undoubtedly will be an emotional commemoration of the 40th anniversary of D-Day, the Allied invasion of Nazi-held France on June 6, 1944.

Opponents of Reagan's policies in Central America and toward nuclear arms were threatening a series of demonstrations during Reagan's visit to Ireland. But the welcome the president and his wife Nancy received from the country from which his great-grandfather, Michael, emigrated more than a century ago was a warm one.

The president was greeted by Irish President Patrick J. Hillery and Prime Minister Garret FitzGerald as he alighted from Air Force One onto a long red carpet. Before he spoke, the president was given a 21-gun salute and a rendition of the U.S. National Anthem as he stood with Irish officials under a partly sunny sky.

"In an apparent reference to the expected protests here of Reagan's Central American policies, Hillery said Reagan displayed 'an appreciation of the sincere anxieties of many of our people in relation to world affairs. We feel that it's our duty to express our genuine concern about such matters.'"

But the over-all tone of the ceremony was warm as Hillery bid Reagan "100,000 welcomes to Ireland."

Reagan said, "To be able to begin our journey on this Isle of wondrous beauty... to be able to stand on the soil of my ancestors among all of you... is for me a very special gift."

"We are beginning a mission to strengthen historic ties of friendship and cooperation among the world's leading democracies. It is our deepest hope and our earnest conviction that we can make a safer world."

Reagan also said, "We pray tolerance and reconciliation will one day unite Catholics and Protestants in Northern Ireland in a spirit of communion and community."

Northern Ireland in a spirit of communion and community."

"And that is why, those who advocate violence or engage in terrorism in Northern Ireland will never be welcome in the United States," he added.

When the officials stopped speaking, bagpipes began to play.

Before he boarded a helicopter to the 13th-century castle where he was to spend the night, Reagan shook hands among the select group attending the ceremony on the tarmac.

The third U.S. president to visit the Emerald Isle, Reagan set aside four days to visit Galway, the Ballyporeen town of his forefathers, and Dublin, where he scheduled an address to the Irish Parliament.

Security was intense in the face of the expected rallies, protests and fasts by a wide-ranging assortment of dissidents, and Reagan was expected to do much sight-seeing or mingle with the public.

Reagan was to spend two nights at Ashford Castle near the Atlantic coast, a luxurious hotel that dates back to the 13th century. Sprawling on the banks of Lough Corrib, the nation's second-largest lake, the 27,000-acre estate is owned by Irish millionaire John Murnaghan.

Motorcyclist injured

Gary Boyd, of Twin Falls, is treated by ambulance personnel following an accident at Falls Avenue and Washington Street in Twin Falls shortly after noon Friday. Boyd's motorcycle was struck by a car driven by Kristy Griffin of Twin Falls. Boyd was taken to Magic Valley Regional Medical Center, where he was released after treatment. Griffin was cited for failing to yield.

Prosecutor, Hansen's attorney clash over conviction's validity

WASHINGTON (AP) — A prosecutor and the attorney for Idaho Congressman George Hansen clashed in federal court again Friday.

They argued over the validity of the seven-term incumbent's April 2 four-count felony conviction.

Prosecutor Reid H. Weingarten refused to back away from comments he made during the trial that Hansen attorney Nathan Lewin has claimed are grounds for his motions to either reverse the conviction or order a new trial for Hansen.

U.S. District Judge Joyce Hens Green, who was also criticized by Lewin for comments she made during the two-week trial, promised a decision on the post-trial motions within a week.

Lewin argued that Weingarten went "far beyond the facts in the record to lead the jury to conclude this was a case of political corruption, which it was not. It was not a stench of corruption or (a case of) telling a jury to send a message to Congress."

But Weingarten, arguing that Green should reject the defense motions, said he will "absolutely stand by" his comments that Hansen's financial dealings had the "stench of political corruption" about them and that the jury in its verdict should "send a message" to congressmen that they must follow financial disclosure laws.

Hansen, who eked out a 1700-vote primary victory on May 22 over Dan Adamson, Jerome County prosecutor, was convicted of violating the 1978 Ethics in Government Act by omitting mention of loans, profits from the sale of silver contracts, and other transactions, some of which involved Texas billionaire Nelson Bunker Hunt.

Lewin, in pressing his motions for reversal or a new trial, argued that Hansen had simply followed the advice of two lawyers who told him he was not required to report certain financial transactions.

He said the congressman received advice that financial transactions of his wife, Connie, did not have to be reported on House disclosure forms even though the assets were later comingling.

Weingarten, referring to the "stench" Hansen never mentioned, "I absolutely stand by that. It may have been strong language, but it was totally consistent with the government position."

Americans land 900,000 jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 900,000 Americans found jobs in May, pushing civilian unemployment down to 7.5 percent, the government reported Friday.

But a White House spokesman said that the jobless rate has returned to where it was when he took office.

"There are far more people working... because we have created millions of jobs to take care of the expanding work force," Reagan told reporters as he left the White House for an overseas trip that will include an international economic summit in London.

The dramatic improvement, which evidently took many private economists by surprise, broke a string of three consecutive months of 2.5 percent civilian unemployment. Translated into human terms, the 0.3 percentage-point drop in the seasonally adjusted rate added 890,000 people to the ranks of the employed, bringing the total number of people with jobs to a record 105.3 million.

There is work out there — A5

At the same time, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said, the number of those officially categorized as unemployed shrank from 8.94 million in April to 8.51 million — a net decrease of nearly 330,000.

Since joblessness hit a post-Depression peak rate of 10.7 percent in November 1982, with more than 12 million out of work, total U.S. employment has soared by 6.3 million.

Without adjusting the May labor force figures for seasonal variations, the raw figures showed that the rate fell from 7.6 percent to 7.2 percent, a drop which was comparable to the decline after adjustment, she noted.

Mice indicate smokers often born, not made

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Two researchers say genetic studies of mice suggest that smokers are born, not made.

In addition, they believe that someday a simple test may be devised to find out whether children have a predisposition to become hooked on nicotine when they grow up.

Allan Collins and Michael Marks of the University of Colorado are searching for a genetic clue in the brain that explains why people smoke. They believe their work could lead to a sure-fire treatment for smokers and to a way of identifying children who might become heavy smokers as adults.

"We could come up with a test to give kids a blood test maybe — so we could tell parents this kid has the genes to become a smoker," said Collins. "If we could save kids from starting, we could save them a lot of problems over the long term."

Last week, the U.S. surgeon general said cigarettes are the nation's greatest health risk.

So far, Collins and Marks have determined that some breeds of mice become dependent on nicotine faster than others. They don't know why, but they think it has to do with mental makeup.

"One strain of mouse gets wired (excited) at low doses," says Collins. "Other strains get depressed."

The mice that get most excited have the least tolerance to nicotine, are affected most strongly by it and apparently are the most easily addicted. The researchers are hoping that if mice have different levels of tolerance, the same may be true for humans, helping scientists identify people sensitive to nicotine.

The researchers believe the end of their quest lies somewhere in the area of the brain that receives messages from the nervous system. In mice, these neurotransmitter receptors increase in number as tolerance to nicotine increases, Collins and Marks have found.

After all the tests are run, Collins and Marks take a look at the mouse's brain.

State grants to help groups

BOISE (AP) — Mountain Home and Blackfoot have been added to the list of cities that will benefit from state grants in the next fiscal year for victims of domestic violence.

The 10 grant recipient programs, which will receive a total of about $100,000 in state funds, were announced Friday by Nancy Mejde, chairman of the Idaho Council on Domestic Violence. There were 15 applicants.

Mejde said the Elmore County Family Crisis Intervention Unit in Mountain Home will receive $3,255 and the Bingham County Crisis Center $3,300.

Other programs receiving state grants include the Volunteers Against Violence, Twin Falls, $15,765, and the Mainstay Council serving Challis, Clayton and Stanley, $10,770.

The state funds come from a $15 surcharge on marriage licenses, authorized by the 1982 Idaho Domestic Project Grants Act.

Fighter crash in desert

HILL AIR FORCE BASE, Utah (AP) — An Air Force F-5F fighter aircraft from Nellis Air Force Base in Nevada crashed Friday afternoon during a training exercise in the western Utah desert, but not before the pilot ejected safely.

Gen Barry, public affairs officer at Hill AFB, said the pilot, Capt. Stephen P. Grace, 29, a native of Fort Worth, Texas, ejected before the 1:15 p.m. crash and was picked up by a helicopter.

Grace was in good condition at the base hospital, where he was being held overnight for observation.

Lien filed in tax dispute

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The city filed a surprise lien against the world's fair Friday in a dispute over taxes, causing payments to be stopped on exposition checks, but a compromise was quickly reached so workers could be paid, fair officials said.

"All checks will be honored," said Jeanne Nathan, a Louisiana World Exposition spokeswoman. "The city has agreed to release the lien."

She said meetings would be held next week to determine how much the city is owed and when it should be paid.

The amount and payment schedule of the taxes is the center of the dispute.

Utah flood threat easing

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Torrential rains and high runoff that triggered flash flooding in northern Utah and forced hundreds from their homes are unlikely to be repeated over the weekend, the National Weather Service said Friday.

"We don't anticipate any flooding problems this weekend," said meteorologist Dave Sanders.

Thundershowers raked the Wasatch Mountains east of Salt Lake City Thursday and early Friday, sending the swollen Big and Little Cottonwood creeks over their banks. Floodwaters 2 feet deep forced the evacuation of 175 families from a trailer court in Murray. No injuries were reported.

Clear skies and temperatures in the 65- to 75-degree range prevailed Friday. But while the mercury was expected to stay below the 80s for the weekend, slowing runoff from a record snowpack, Salt Lake County officials worried about some trouble spots.

Bomb explodes in Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Another bomb exploded outside a struck hotel early Friday and hours later, AFL-CIO President Lane Kirkland said the explosions that have rocked the bitter 61-day strike are harmful to the unions.

"Explosives like this work against the interests of trade unions," Kirkland said. "The unions have everything to lose and nothing to gain by violence. Historically, these techniques have frequently been used by employers to bring trade unions into public disgrace."

A telephone call to Vince Helm, executive director of the Nevada Resort Association, for comment on Kirkland's statement was not returned.

Dutch set missile timetable

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — The Cabinet on Friday approved deployment of new U.S. nuclear missiles on Dutch soil, but compromised with missile foes by delaying the installation and linking the state of the deployment to Soviet behavior.

"If the Soviet Union deploys one more SS-20 (nuclear missile), we will deploy all 48 cruise missiles," Minister Ruud Lubbers told a news conference after the Cabinet meeting. The decision requires approval by Parliament.

The Dutch action was announced in a carefully worded letter designed to allow the government to delay initial deployment by up to two years, placate strong anti-nuclear forces in the country and at the same time go along with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's deployment plan.

Duarte becomes president

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Jose Napoleon Duarte said his inauguration Friday as El Salvador's first elected civilian president in 53 years "brings light into the long night of horror" the nation has been experiencing.

With U.S. Secretary of State George P. Shultz in the audience, Duarte promised "a dialogue" with leaders of the various leftist movements fighting a 4½-year-old civil war in this small Central American nation in which more than 52,000 people have died.

Pastora flies to Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Nicaraguan rebel leader Eden Pastora, wounded in a bomb blast at his frontier command post that killed four people, was flown Friday from Costa Rica to Venezuela.

The twin-engine plane carrying Pastora and Roberto Chamorro, an aide who also was wounded in Wednesday's explosion, arrived at the Caracas airport at 8 p.m. Both men were on stretchers and were carried from the airplane to an ambulance and taken to a hospital.

Quadruplets arrive quickly

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman who refused offers to buy her unborn children gave birth to quadruplets in 10 minutes, her husband said Friday.

"They are four healthy girls. Each one looks different," Joseph Rosenberg, 28, an optician in Rockland County, said in an interview. "The doctor really did his job."

Twenty physicians assisted as Sar Rosenberg gave birth to the quads eight weeks prematurely between 11:37 p.m. and 11:47 p.m. Thursday at Presbyterian Hospital, said her obstetrician, Dr. Raphael Jewelweicz.

Candidates cover California

By The Associated Press Writer

Walter F. Mondale challenged Gary Hart on Friday to disavow his support of the so-called build-down approach to nuclear arms control and also accused him of being "wishy-washy" on a controversial California nuclear power plant.

The chief rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination made back-to-back appearances on a call-in radio show in Los Angeles.

There, and in other campaign appearances, Mondale gave a preview of Sunday's debate, which is to be sponsored and televised by NBC.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson, meanwhile, campaigned in the San Francisco area where he told interviewers he plans to return to Central America soon — perhaps Cuba — to push a regional peace plan.

On the Republican side, Frank Fahrenkopf Jr., chairman of the Republican National Committee, announced that U.S. Treasurer Katherine Ortega, a native of New Mexico, will be the keynote speaker for the GOP national convention in Dallas.

He said she was President Reagan's personal choice and will be the second woman to keynote a Republican convention. The first was Anne Armstrong of Texas — in 1972.

The Democrats are counting down to Tuesday's round of primaries in California and four other states that will allocate 48 delegates to the national convention and, perhaps, give Mondale enough to claim the nomination.

Largely because his campaign has been so effective in winning the backing of technically unpledged delegates chosen from among state party and elected officials, Mondale is closing in on the 1,987 magic number needed for the nomination.

Although Hart has won five of the last seven primaries, Mondale actually has widened his delegate lead during that period and now has 1,833 delegates to 983 for Hart and 330 for Jackson.

Mondale needs 284 of the final 625 delegates to be selected to claim the nomination.

Even if Hart won every remaining delegate — plus all those already selected except the ones pledged to either Mondale or Jackson — he still would be 48 short of securing the nomination.

Mondale made clear Friday he will brace Hart at Sunday's debate on the issues dear to California voters: the nuclear build-down, immigration reform and the Diablo Canyon nuclear power plant.

In particular, Mondale attacked Hart on the opening of the Diablo Canyon plant on the California coast. "My opponent has taken a wishy-washy position," Mondale said on a radio talk show.

Nicaragua was expected to be well-received. Press Association, the British domestic news agency, reported that as Reagan arrived in Ireland about 300 demonstrators gathered outside a police cordon to protest American foreign and nuclear policies.

As for his "send a message" remark, Wengarten argued, "The fact that a message would be sent to Congress was obvious. Congress was the body that was defrauded. Congress was the victim in this case."

The Justice Department prosecutor said the legal advice given Hansen plainly was silly — and he contended Hansen never sought advice from the House on reporting requirements after passage of the ethics act — which changed the rules on disclosure of financial dealings.

But Lewin countered that Hansen informed the House that in reporting his financial dealings he was relying on a property separation agreement between himself and his wife.

Firemen evacuate 4 schools after water plant acid spill

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Firefighters evacuated several thousand people Friday, including pupils from four schools, after toxic hydrochloric acid spilled at a water processing plant.

No injuries were reported, but officials closed the nearby Interstate 215-Highway 60 freeway for about four hours as a precaution. The California Highway Patrol reported it was reopened by 4:20 p.m. MDT, and firefighters said residents began returning home within another 30 minutes.

Four firefighters suffered a total of headaches after walking through a cloud of gas, even though they were wearing protective gear. They were treated at hospitals and returned to work, city fire dispatcher Linda Cassell said.

The hydrochloric acid was cleaned up before it could mix with sodium hydroxide, fire officials said.

Initially, firefighters feared the acid might mix with a nearby tank of sodium hydroxide — also known as caustic soda — and form a cloud of toxic gas over downtown Riverside.

The noon MDT spill was from a 3,700-gallon tank at the Culligan Delonized-Water Services plant, fire officials said, but they weren't immediately sure how many gallons spilled.

An answering service for the plant said no Culligan officials were immediately available for comment.

John North High School, University Middle School, Highland Elementary School and the Garden School, a private elementary school, were all evacuated without incident, firefighters said.

The schoolchildren are going to other schools out of the area," fire Capt. Chris Jensen said, while other residents of the area were sent to a civic center.

The evacuation area was a "strip of land a quarter mile wide and a mile long," Jensen said, adding that it might be increased "if the wind changed direction. He estimated the number of evacuees at "several thousand."

Authorities said the spill occurred when a McKesson Chemicals truck delivered hydrochloric acid to a storage tank, which ruptured.

A private company pumped the spilled acid back into the truck, fire officials said.

Bovine nose the last snap

PENOBSCOT, Maine (AP) — A 24-pound snapping turtle with feet as big as "bear claws" was shot and killed after it bit a 1,400-pound cow on the nose.

"I've never seen a turtle that big," said Elaine Dorr.

She said she and her husband, Ed, found the turtle last week after they went to investigate a commotion in a pasture behind their home in this coastal town.

"The cow was in the pasture making this horrid noise" and "bleeding profusely from its nose," she said, adding that another cow and a calf which shared the pasture were extremely agitated.

Officers nab death row escapees in coin laundry, hunt for 4 others

WARRENTON, N.C. (AP) — Officers searching with bloodhounds and helicopters captured two death row inmates on Friday at a coin laundry, but four other convicted murderers who also escaped from Virginia's maximum-security prison remained at large.

Derrick Lynn Peterson, 22, and Earl Clanton, Jr., 30, were caught just before 4 p.m. MDT, said Wes Terry of the Virginia Department of Corrections.

Ron Hawley, an assistant superintendent with the state Bureau of Investigation, said Peterson and Clanton were caught in a store and laundry in Warrenton, about one block from the Warren County Jail.

Clanton, Peterson and four other convicted murderers — briefly took about 12 guards hostage during their escape Thursday night from Mecklenburg County Maximum Correction Facility, about 25 miles north of Warrenton. No one was injured during the escape.

Danny Bland, a witness, said he saw the two men lead the two men out of the laundry and into a yellow van. "They came out peaceful," he said.

Authorities closed in on Clanton and Peterson after FBI "scans" of Virginia telephones revealed a call that was traced to the laundromat.

Shortly after the arrest at the laundry, authorities chased two other escapees down Interstate 85, Terry said. He said the other two escapees were believed to be James and Linwood Briley, brothers who escaped at the same time as Clanton and Peterson.

The two men jumped from their vehicle and fled into a wooded area, Terry said.

Terry confirmed that authorities had surrounded a farm supply store about a block from the laundromat, but said he didn't know whether anyone was inside.

The two inmates surrendered without a struggle, Terry said, but "seemed reluctant to be caught."

Military trying to cut parts costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Steps that Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger ordered last summer to reduce the cost of military spare parts should prevent a repetition of "horror stories" about buying $7 hammers for $436 apiece, internal government studies said Friday.

Companion reports by the Pentagon Inspector General and a White House Office of Management and Budget were released at a news conference two days after the House tacked onto the fiscal-1985 defense authorization bill a series of requirements with the same intent. Officials said the timing was coincidental.

In his report, Inspector General Joseph Sherick said an audit of $291 million in contracts for 2,000 randomly selected spare parts showed that 36 percent of the items appeared to have been overpriced by a total of $17.5 million.

In addition, he said, 17 percent of the contracts were potentially overpriced because the procurements were not made competitively or there were procedural shortcomings in making contract awards. No dollar figure was given in this category.

Nearly all the items in the random survey were bought before the new reforms were ordered.

The Pentagon is spending about $22 billion this year on spare parts, but Deputy Defense Secretary William H. Taft IV and deputy budget director Joseph R. Wright Jr. said the percentage of overpriced items will not necessarily be the same as in the random audit.

A special legislative session?

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — Idaho legislative leaders are considering the possibility of a special session this fall on reapportionment if voters approve a proposed constitutional amendment permitting counties to be split by legislative districts.

Senate Republican Leader Mark Ricks of Rexburg said Friday discussions have already been held by House and Senate leaders on the possible special session. But he said a decision to ask Gov. John Evans to recall lawmakers will depend on what voters do on Nov. 6.

That constitutional ban on splitting counties with legislative districts has been at the heart of the two-year battle over legislative reapportionment that ended this spring with a court-ordered district map that imposes a costly expansion in the size of the Legislature.

Minor flooding reported

LEWISTON (AP) — The Snake River crested about two feet above flood stage at Anatewa, Wash., Thursday night, but only minor flooding was reported, according to the National Weather Service.

The river peaked at 23.35 feet at 8 p.m. Thursday, said Karl Turner, NWS forecaster at the Lewiston-Nez Perce County Airport. The water level had receded to 22.3 feet at 8 a.m. Friday.

The water flow through the Hells Canyon Dam was also reduced to help alleviate any flooding problems, Turner said.

Only minor flooding was reported in northern Idaho and southeastern Washington from the strong Wednesday night thunderstorm and the melting snowpack enhanced by high temperatures early in the week.

FBI to surface in Pocatello

AUBURN, Wash. (AP) — The FBI has selected Pocatello as the location for its second regional data processing center, according to a General Services Administration official.

Although FBI officials refused to confirm the decision, Chuck Guette, director of GSA's real estate division in Auburn, Wash., said the Bureau has "zeroed in on Pocatello" and is now negotiating for the purchase of the Bucyrus-Erie administration building.

Evans to open field offices

BOISE (AP) — Gov. John Evans will open field offices in Lewiston and Pocatello this summer, marking the first time an Idaho governor has assigned permanent field personnel.

The new offices won't increase costs because two positions from the governor's Boise staff will be transferred, said Pat Vaughn, the governor's chief of staff. Vaughn said Evans hopes to situate the offices in state or county buildings to save money. The new offices will open in July or August.

Stallings: Hansen an opportunist

BOISE (AP) — Richard Stallings says Rep. George Hansen is an opportunist, but he is not an evil man. "It's a case of judgment for expediency. We are talking about a pure opportunist here," said Stallings.

He's a Rexburg Democrat who is running against Hansen for the second time this year. Hansen, the seven-term incumbent, barely stayed off defeat in the May 22 primary election, edging political newcomer Dan Adamson of Jerome by 1,665 votes.

Stallings was interviewed Thursday for a television program to be broadcast in Boise this weekend.

He said if elected, he would not grandstand, but would work with members of both political parties to get things done for Idaho.

"I'm a little bit more committed to true service," Stallings said.

And he said he'd rather run against Hansen than Adamson, because Hansen has a record to defend. Adamson couldn't run on a campaign stressing Hansen's legal troubles, Stallings said, because Idaho voters do not like negative campaigns.

Hansen faces sentencing on four counts of violating the Ethics in Government Act. He was convicted by a federal jury in April.

Stallings said he must convince voters to vote for him, and not against Hansen. Otherwise, he said, he might beat Hansen but lose the first time he runs for re-election.

"I've got to be able to do better than kick George Hansen around," he said.

He said he probably would stay in Congress for three or four terms if elected but doesn't want to make politics a career. Stallings is on leave from his professor's job at Ricks College in Rexburg.

He said he's undecided whether to back construction of a big nuclear breeder reactor at the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory. Stallings said he wants to see if the reactor would consume too much water or hurt the environment before making a decision.

Crime Stoppers' haul tops $1 million mark

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The recovery and seizure of more than $1 million in drugs and merchandise has resulted from tips called into the Twin Falls Crime Stoppers program since it began two years ago.

Its success has been such that the woman who helps operate the program has encouraged other communities to begin their own.

But even if other cities don't take them up on the offer, the Twin Falls police are pleased with the local endeavor.

Marion Peterson, the chairwoman of the Greater Twin Falls Area Chamber of Commerce's crime-stoppers committee, sent a letter this month to Gov. John Evans, Atorney General David Leroy, state legislators and other county officials about the effectiveness of the program. She also offered help to other counties to begin their own efforts.

In the letters, Peterson included statistics of the county-wide program in which tipsters can remain anonymous and collect rewards for information leading to arrests.

From March 1982 to February 1984, $1,125,976 worth of merchandise and drugs were recovered. In that same period, 59 arrests were made and 54 cases closed. A total of $3,600 was paid out in rewards.

From the policeman's point of view, the program has helped crime fighting.

"The main objective is to bring this information out," says Jim Kistler, the commander of the police training division that includes crime prevention.

The majority of the tipsters are usually neighbors, relatives or acquaintances of the suspects, who "somewhere down the line" brag about the crimes they have pulled, Kistler says.

"These are the people we want to come out," he says. The possible reward is an incentive to these people, who otherwise might be reluctant.

Often they find the crime-stopper tipsters will be reliable sources for other crimes, Kistler says.

Kistler emphasizes that the type of information they receive through the program is not enough to make an arrest for the most part. It is, however, a starting point for police to build a case, especially if detectives have "hit a brick wall."

Unlike similar programs, the Twin Falls program will pay the reward — which can be as high as $1,000 — when an arrest is made, Kistler says. Other programs will pay only upon a conviction.

The Twin Falls committee, which oversees the program and determines the rewards, believes that the person should be paid earlier because he has done his job, he adds. If the police can't obtain a conviction based on the case they have built, the informant is not paid.

Some of the informants will not even accept the rewards, Kistler says.

The highest reward the committee has paid to date is $500 for two persons arrested for burglary and arson. Their arrest also cleared up other cases, he says.

A Crime Stopper tipster also led to the seizure of $60,000 worth of drugs, he adds.

The program is a joint effort by the police and chamber committee, which solicits funds for the rewards. The biggest problem with Crime Stoppers is not lack of calls, but lack of money, which seems to arrive in "spurts," Kistler says.

On the whole, similar call-in programs are criticized because they pay people for what they are obligated by law to do anyway, that is, bring forward any information involving a crime, Kistler says.

The benefit to society through the arrest, however, may outweigh whether an informant is paid or not, he says.

K. Ellen Baxter was sworn in as Twin Falls County prosecutor Friday by Judge Daniel Hurlbutt

Baxter sworn in as county prosecutor

TWIN FALLS — In a brief, friendly ceremony attended by three generations of her family, by friends and by county officials, K. Baxter was sworn in as Twin Falls County prosecuting attorney Friday.

Baxter, who polled 57 percent of the vote in the May 22 Republican primary, was named to the position by the Twin Falls County Board of Commissioners to replace Harry DeHaan, who is returning to private practice.

She took the oath of office from Fifth District Judge Daniel Hurlbutt at about 4:25 p.m. in courtroom No. 1 of the Twin Falls Judicial Annex. "I do solemnly swear that I will support the constitution of the United States and the State of Idaho, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the prosecutor of Twin Falls County to the best of my abilities," the 28-year-old attorney said.

Afterwards, she promised to work hard and she thanked those who helped her in her campaign.

Baxter has said she expects the office to take on a much less flamboyant character under her direction.

She is taking over a fully-staffed office, which includes deputy prosecutors Dennis Voorhees and Kandice Kemp, but she has promised to re-staff at the end of the summer, keeping those who want to stay and can continue to do good work.

Not guilty, Petersen says

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Mayor Emery Petersen has formally entered a plea of not guilty to a battery charge arising from the mid-May incident in which he allegedly shaved the eyebrow of a 17-year-old.

Petersen filed the written plea through his attorney Leon Smith, and has demanded a jury trial. A date for that trial will be set in Fifth District Magistrate Court June 6.

Petersen allegedly shaved the eyebrow of a friend of his son after the boy had been involved in shaving Petersen's son's eyebrow.

The boys were visiting Sun Valley for a tennis tournament at the time.

Petersen's action is alleged to have occurred in the Petersen garage.

Friday, Smith called criminal prosecution of the case by the Twin Falls County prosecutor's office "ridiculous."

Smith said the office has many more important things to do than persist with the charges.

He added there are avenues in civil law to resolve the case.

"For the prosecutor to stick his hand in and make a big thing out of it is ridiculous," he said.

EMERY PETERSEN
Requests jury trial

Deputy County Prosecutor Dennis Voorhees, said, "It's not your garden-variety battery, but it will be handled much the same as any other battery case that comes through this office."

No postponement in murder case

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The murder trial of Keith Max Rosencrantz will proceed as scheduled on June 11 after a Fifth District Court judge denied a defense request Friday for a delay.

Defense attorney Jeff Stoker of Twin Falls asked for a postponement until the Idaho Supreme Court could rule on an appeal of a civil court matter related to the case. In that action, he claimed there was insufficient evidence at the Oct. 9 preliminary hearing to establish probable cause on two counts of two first-degree murder.

The defense's claim, however, was denied April 25 by Judge Daniel Hurlbutt.

Rosencrantz, 31, of Castleford is accused of the shooting deaths of Cathy Alice Gittel, 30, and Michael Wayne Lee, 28, of Twin Falls at Gittel's Buhl residence on June 18.

At a Friday hearing, Stoker argued on behalf of the delay. He said if the case went to trial his client would lose the civil route they had chosen.

Dennis Voorhees, a Twin Falls County deputy prosecutor, called Stoker's request a "rare bird" and asked the judge to proceed "to go long the case while the appeal was heard might result in witnesses leaving the area and dissipating evidence," Voorhees said.

Hurlbutt denied the request to wait for the appeal. He disagreed that Rosencrantz's right to appeal would be lost if the case went to trial on the judge said.

Following the hearing, Stoker said he would proceed to appeal the issue to the Idaho Supreme Court and also request the justices order a delay to the criminal hearing until the appeal is decided.

Reservoir spillage cut

ROGERSON — Salmon River Canal Co. officials said late Friday they are cutting back the water spilling out of its Salmon Falls Reservoir substantially.

"We're going to hold it at 700 (cubic feet) (a second) and see what happens," said company attorney and spokesman Lloyd Webb. The water had been pouring out of an emergency spillway from the dam at a rate of 1,200 cfs for the past week.

However, the reservoir level also had been dropping slightly because less water was flowing in from Salmon Falls Creek, Webb said. On Friday, the water level was 3.3 feet below capacity.

Although the company slackened the flow of water out of the reservoir, its managers still could not predict when the company could stop spilling water, Webb said. He anticipated the release of water through Salmon Falls Creek bed downstream to the Snake River would continue for at least the next week.

Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Western Days continue into the busiest day today.

Events begin at 8:30 a.m. with two community breakfasts and continue into the night with the Optimist Club Las Vegas Night and the Skateland Western night.

The big event, however, will be the Western parade, which will begin at about 11:30 at the College of Southern Idaho Expo Center and end at about 1 p.m. at the Ranchers Auction yard.

Western Days committee member Jerry Benton expects it to be a bigger parade even than last year. "This could be Idaho's biggest," he says.

The route will take marchers along Falls Avenue, Blue Lakes Boulevard North, Shoshone Street and through the downtown mall.

Schedule of activities for today, Sunday

Saturday: Western Days Parade, 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Western States Junior Rodeo, 2 p.m. and 7 p.m., CSI. Optimist Club Las Vegas Night, 7 p.m., National Guard Armory. Skateland western night, 9 p.m. to 11 p.m. Camp Fire and merchants breakfast, 8:30 to 11:00 a.m., Blue Lakes Mall. DeMolay breakfast and flea market, 7:30 to 10:30 a.m., Masonic Temple. Western mini-concert, 1 p.m., downtown mall. Western music, 1 to 3 p.m., Lynwood Mall.	Sunday: Western Days Barbecue and Jamboree, noon to 6 p.m., City Park.

Afterwards, western music will be provided downtown and at the Lynwood Mall, and a number of events are planned for the Blue Lakes Mall.

Early risers can start the day at either the Masonic Hall or the Blue Lakes Mall at breakfasts sponsored by DeMolay and the Camp Fire organization.

The DeMolay breakfast will cost $3.50, feature trout and be followed by a flea market. The Camp Fire pancake feed will cost 50 cents and include live music.

Two performances of the Western States Junior Rodeo will happen during the day.

Area's employment outlook brightens along with weather

Local jobless rate drops while state's suffers slight increase

Survey says more than 2,000 jobs will open in coming year

By BOB FREUND
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Weather-related factors pulled Idaho's jobless rate up 0.2 of a percentage point and the Magic Valley's down by the same amount, officials from the Idaho Department of Employment reported Friday.

The seasonally adjusted unemployment mark for the entire state rose slightly to 6.4 percent, Department director Scott McDonald said.

However, the rate for Twin Falls, Jerome and Gooding counties dipped slightly to 4.7 percent, said Lou McDonald (no relation), state job force analyst for the Magic Valley.

He said the long-awaited appearance of good weather to southern Idaho had restored normal hiring in agriculture and related industries. Unemployment claims also fell sharply, indicating an improvement, McDonald said.

The situation is much better than it was a year ago, when 7.6 percent of the area's workers were off the job. There are 900 more people employed and 300 fewer without jobs, the Twin Falls-based analyst said.

Statewide, though, the weather also was blamed for a rise in unemployment, McDonald said.

The state's labor force began its normal summer expansion, and some workers found jobs in retail trades and on federal payrolls.

But the expansion wasn't enough to offset declines in logging and farming caused by heavy precipitation in some parts of the state, said Scott McDonald.

Despite a slow start, McDonald said he remains optimistic about employment during the summer tourism season.

The Idaho unemployment rate during May of 6.4 percent compared to a national jobless rate of 7.5 percent.

Statewide, 27,000 Idaho workers were off job rolls during May — 900 more than in April — from a work force of 434,100.

In the three-county area, seasonally adjusted figures show 2,470 people out of work from a job force of 34,410.

By BOB FREUND
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A survey of Magic Valley employers has turned up more than 2,000 job openings during the next 12 months.

Jerry McBratney, who headed a three-month survey for the South Central Idaho Private Industry Council, said owners and executives of businesses throughout the eight-county area had 187 jobs available immediately and were expecting to open up 2,035 more within the next 12 months.

The potential jobs far exceeded the 30 immediate jobs and 169 future ones projected by the Greater Twin Falls Area Chamber of Commerce, which employed McBratney and fielded the survey.

The SCPTIC, a non-profit organization made up of area business leaders, commissioned the survey to find out how best to spend federal job training money. The council this year will have available close to $1.3 million from the federal Job Partnership Training Act, said coordinator Rob Lundgren.

About two-thirds of the immediate job openings were permanent positions. But among the 2,035 future jobs, 1,553 were seasonal.

The future openings included 230 permanent positions at E.F. Johnson Co., a new Twin Falls electronics plant, and 900 seasonal hirings for the sweet corn canning campaign at Green Giant Co. in Buhl.

At the same time, the survey also listed a variety of occupations, McBratney said. Those in most demand were trades skills, such as mechanics and electricians, sales representatives and office occupations, such as secretaries, cashiers and others.

The openings generally were concentrated in cities and towns instead of in rural areas. "It seems to run down the Wood River Valley into the Twin Falls area," McBratney said.

Employers generally were optimistic or didn't know anything about the job-training program or related government tax credits when first

Charges dropped against reporter

GOODING — Gooding County authorities have dropped charges against the last of three men accused in January of stealing fish from a Hagerman-area hatchery.

Prosecutor John Arkoosh Thursday withdrew misdemeanor charges lodged against Times-News reporter Hal Bertillon, saying court documents in the dismissal would be "in the interest of justice."

Bertillon had accompanied Ross Parker, who is an avid sportsman, and Wallace Flournoy — both from Hagerman — to the Magic Springs trout farm along the Snake River. At the time, Bertillon was investigating Parker's letter to the Times-News alleging that trout at the hatchery were starving to death from neglect.

All three men were accused of trespassing and of stealing fish from an authorized hatchery when they were seen by employees in the area.

Parker also faced charges stemming from an alleged earlier incident. He was accused of stealing some golden trout being raised at the hatchery by opening up pond gates leading to the Snake River.

However, Fifth District Court Magistrate Judge Thomas R. Cushman ordered Parker cleared of all charges in mid-April. Those filed against Flournoy also were dropped by the prosecutor shortly afterward.

At Arkoosh's request, Cushman ordered the charges against Bertillon dismissed Friday.

Times-News managing editor Stephen Hartgen said the paper had been prepared to defend Bertillon.

"It was our position that the case was unfounded from the start and should never have been brought," he said. "We are pleased that, despite the intervening five months, the prosecutor's office in Gooding County has apparently come around to that view."

Arkoosh was recovering from an illness and was not available for comment. Deputy prosecutor Lynn Nelson said the office would not issue any statement beyond that in the court record.

Man admits to charges

TWIN FALLS — A 24-year-old man admitted Thursday to exposing himself, peering through a window and placing pages of pornographic magazines in a woman's restroom at a gas station and on the porch of a young woman's house.

Lantz K. Jacobsen of 132 Second St. E. in Twin Falls pleaded guilty at a Thursday hearing to four counts of disorderly conduct, according to Fifth District Magistrate Court records. He waived the right to an attorney.

The incidents took place in Twin Falls in November 1983 and in May.

Jacobsen was released on $1,500 bond until sentencing on the misdemeanor charges.

Burdick to 25 days in the Jerome County jail with credit for five days already served.

Williams declines job offer

TWIN FALLS — Jerome attorney Bob Williams has declined not to take the position of chief deputy attorney general, which had been offered to him by Idaho Attorney General Jim Jones.

Citing financial considerations as "the predominant reason" for turning down the offer, the 37-year-old Northwestern University graduate said it was "a tough decision." He said his ties to the community and his family also were a factor in his decision.

Williams had been offered the position to replace Larry Harvey who died this spring.

Crash causes minor injuries

TWIN FALLS — A two-car crash at Curry on U.S. Highway 30 Thursday afternoon damaged two vehicles and caused minor injuries to one driver.

Twin Falls Sheriff's officers said Melanie L. Coates, 18, of Filer had stopped to turn onto a county road when a vehicle driven by Louie N. Read of Buhl crashed into the rear of her vehicle.

She told officers she did not realize the car in front of her had stopped until too late to avoid the crash. He was cited for inattentive driving and treated for minor injuries. Coates was cited for failure to renew her vehicle license.

The accident occurred at 3:01 p.m.

Open house set for Sunday

CLOVER — The 50th wedding anniversary open house for the Rev. and Mrs. Carl Losser will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday at the Clover Lutheran Church. Information sent to The Times-News incorrectly listed the event for June 4.

Losser is former pastor here and at Filer.

Band practice in Wendell

WENDELL — The Wendell Community Band will have its first practice at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Wendell High School band room.

According to director Sue Walsh, everyone that is high school age and older is welcome to join the band. Some high school instruments will be available to musicians who need them. The band is scheduled to practice every Tuesday and Thursday evening at the band room.

Last year, the 28-member band practiced regularly during the summer and gave a free concert in the city park in August.

This year, the band will perform in July during the 75th Anniversary Celebration in Wendell.

Speaker focuses on agriculture

By DAVID MOFFAT
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Farm columnist and editor Gale Chambers told a meeting of the Sawtooth Press Club that reporters pursuing agricultural topics should spend more time answering the crucial question "why?"

Chambers, who is known for his colorful "Gem State Notes" column in the Idaho Farmer-Stockman, said taking the time to delve into agricultural issues will produce a wealth of stories — and in some cases allow reporters to see stories before they happen.

Chambers urged editors to let agricultural reporters take the time to dig into a subject in order to fully understand it.

"Investment is a key ingredient in agriculture reporting," he said.

Although good agriculture reporting is time-consuming, it provides rewards in terms of follow-ups and side-bars, Chambers said.

As an example, he told of an interview he scheduled with a cattle industry rangeland analyst that once turned into a two-day "short course" on the subject.

With the benefit of this information, it became apparent how foolish certain proposed Bureau of Land Management practices would be, he said. The information allowed him to predict the future the proposals would cause.

Chambers said he must be the "dean" of Idaho agricultural reporters by seniority if not by skill. But he said a man would be a fool to claim he knows everything about agriculture in the state.

"No two farmers are exactly alike" — on any issue — he predicted. There will be those who are for it, those who are against and those "who just don't give a damn."

To complicate matters, over 80 commodities are grown in the state, and growers of each have their particular concerns.

"Learn to identify the group you are dealing with," he counseled.

Chambers said he has acquired "an inborn skepticism of many federal programs," making him a specialist in "squidrels, dung-heaps and wild asses."

Among the great bonodogles has been the federal wild horse protection program, which he said does more harm than good, by failing to specify how many wild horses is enough.

Keeping surplus horses in federal corals may lead to there someday being more wild horses in corals than on the land, he said.

The situation has brought all manner of outrageous plans to the fore, he said — including what he called the "Susan Francisco plan" of creating all-male and all-female herds.

Government officials are not the only ones subject to stupidity, however.

There always will be farmers susceptible to such cons as "Secret Wheat from the Tombs of Egypt" or "Secret Serum" or "Super-Duper Feed."

Generally, however, he predicted the public would be surprised to find how well farmers are learning to use computers, and how much good information can be obtained from such agencies as the Idaho Agricultural Extension Service and the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

approached, he said. But, after hearing them explained, 54 percent showed some interest in getting federal dollars or tax credits for job training, he said.

Ed Prater, general manager of Hemenway and Moser Co., a growing Twin Falls distributor of retail products, recently did hire one clerical worker under the program.

"It will give us a little tax break. Other than that the government will not pay any salary in this particular instance," he said.

If the company had been aware of the job training program earlier, Prater would probably have hired more workers using it, he said.

The Private Industry Council has not yet decided how to use the survey results to train prospective workers for jobs.

However, McBratney and the chamber of commerce are seeking money for a second project to contact between 500 and 700 more area businesses about using job training programs and to follow-up with businesses already contacted.

McBratney estimated Thursday that taking the program further could place between 250 and 300 economically disadvantaged workers in job training for permanent positions.

Churches take tough stand against policy

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

The government has struck its first legal blows against the widespread church "sanctuary" movement for refugees from embattled El Salvador, but churches have rallied in defense of the operation.

Their stand has brought out extraordinary collaboration between Protestants and Roman Catholics; each group chipping in to support work and provide legal funds for the other.

The Rev. Minerva Caracano, a United Methodist pastor in McAllen, Texas, says government prosecution of some parishioners has "made the movement stronger."

Over and over, Protestants and Catholics have opened their premises in 60 cities as asylum in Central America refugees, transporting them through a network of volunteer driver relays, with hundreds of other churches supporting the activity.

Nevertheless, law enforcers have made initial forays against the church tactics, raising prosecution of a widened crackdown. Church groups say border patrol checks have been expanded on roads north of the Rio Grande.

A Catholic social worker, Stacy Merk of Colorado Springs, Colo., has been convicted, and Jack Elder, head of a Catholic refugee center in San Benito, Texas, and Phil Conger, a United Methodist of Tucson, Ariz., are under indictment for transporting Salvadoran refugees.

Disputing the charges, Conger says "It is the government that is breaking the law." He contends the refugees have a well-founded fear of persecution and the law doesn't demand their return in such cases.

But the Immigration and Naturalization Service rarely accepts such claims, insisting on documented evidence, which few refugees have.

Mrs. Merk, scheduled to be sentenced June 27 on charges—carrying a maximum punishment of 15 years in prison and $6,000 in fines, told the National Catholic Reporter, "I'm not a criminal and neither are the refugees from Central America. My head is not bowed."

Her conviction May 14 by a U.S. district court jury in Brownsville, Texas, is being appealed.

At the time of her arrest, she had been helping out, hauling refugees from the Casa Oscar Romero center in San Benito, where refugees are temporarily held, clothed and sheltered until taken to safer sanctuaries around the country.

United Methodist and other Protestant churches give aid to the center, founded by Catholic Bishop John J. Fitzpatrick of Brownsville. Its indirect director, Elder, is scheduled for trial July 2.

He had been arrested for taking three Salvadoran refugees to a bus station. "These refugees have run for their lives, and they need help," he says.

The Lutheran Church in America has provided $18,000 bail for the defendants, who initially also included Sister Dianne Muhlenthall, who had been arrested with Ms. Merk, but the nun's case was separated.

The government wanted her to testify against Ms. Merk, of the religious Biju House in Colorado Springs, but Sister Muhlenthall failed to appear in court, leaving her also subject to prosecution.

Conger, a former United Methodist missionary and director of the Ecumenical Task Force on Central America in Tucson, Ariz., was indicted May 16 by a Tucson grand jury.

He had been arrested near Nogales, Ariz., while driving a van containing four refugees from El Salvador, one of them a Catholic lay teacher who formerly worked with seven American nuns and a lay worker killed in El Salvador in 1980.

Methodist officials said that also in the car were two children—her sisters, who had lived with an aunt and uncle until the uncle was kidnapped, later found murdered, and the aunt raped in front of the children.

The fourth passenger was identified as a former University of San Salvador student leader who worked in a Salvadoran refugee camp until his name appeared on a death list.

Mrs. Merk was convicted of conspiring to bring two Salvadorans into the United States and by illegally transporting two others. They testified at the trial that they fled El Salvador to escape death or torture.

Irene Adame, a United Methodist who does immigration counseling at the Good Neighbor Settlement House in Brownsville, says the new prosecutions indicate the government "is tired of the churches aiding refugees."

Single-parent families grow

NASHVILLE (AP) — Southern Baptist specialists say churches better begin accepting single-parent families as okay because by 1990 nearly half of all households in the United States will be maintained by one person.

Research by Paul C. Glick, an Arizona State University sociologist and former demographer for the U.S.

Census Bureau, was cited, indicating dramatic increases in the 1980's of households headed by single parents.

Ann Smith, single adult consultant with the U.S. Department of Family Ministry department, says churches have found it difficult to legitimize the single parent model because so many single parent families result from divorce.

Bond market helps stocks to best showing in 7 weeks

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK — Stock prices ran up their best gain in more than seven weeks Friday, aided by a rally in the battered bond market.

Auto, oil and telephone utility stocks showed some of the best gains as Wall Street bade a cheerful goodbye to a dreary May.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks jumped 19.50 to 1,243.35, for its biggest gain since it rose 28.17 on April 12.

For the week, the average posted a net advance of 17.25 points. The volume on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 96.04 million shares, against 81.89 million Thursday.

Analysts said the stock market's steady showing in the past few days had prompted many traders to believe that it had found a solid "support level" at 1,100 in the Dow Jones Industrial average.

Investors also apparently were encouraged by signs of life in bond prices Thursday and Friday. In Friday's session alone, prices of long-term government bonds climbed more than $10 for every $1,000 in face value.

A rise in bond prices pushes long-term interest rates lower. High and rising interest rates have been cited as a negative influence on stock prices for the past several months.

The rally in stock prices got a further boost from rumors of a possible impending cut in the Federal Reserve's discount rate, although analysts generally described such a move as unlikely.

Friday's advance recouped some of the Dow's 65.90-point loss for the month of May, which ended on Thursday.

In the auto sector, General Motors rose 2 to 64 1/2; Ford Motor 1 1/2 to 38 1/2, and Chrysler 1 1/4 to 24 1/2.

Among energy stocks, Standard Oil of Indiana gained 1 1/2 to 58 1/2; Mobil 1 to 27 1/2; Exxon 1/2 to 49 1/2, and Superior Oil 1/4 to 41 1/2.

Gains of more than a point were common among the regional telephone companies formed by the breakup of American Telephone & Telegraph last winter. U.S. West, for example, picked up 1 1/2 to 57 1/2, and Southwestern Bell 1 1/2 to 65 1/2.

Takeover developments produced sharp gains in several issues. Jewco, soared 12 1/2 to 67 1/2 as American Stores made a $70-a-share tender offer for the company.

Levitz Furniture rose 2 1/2 to 33 1/2. The company said preliminary talks were being held about its possible acquisition by a group of investors including Dalcor Corp.

Advancing issues outnumbered declines by nearly 4 to 1 on the Big Board, and the exchange's composite index rose 1.44 to 88.15.

Nationwide turnover in NYSE-listed issues, including trades in those stocks on regional exchanges and in the over-the-counter market, totaled 113.11 million shares.

EAGLES WIN JUCO TITLE

Schow's 2-run homer in 9th provides decisive runs for CSI; Edwards, Butler shine in relief

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. — Clear a space in the trophy case. Another national championship trophy is on its way.

Jeff Schow capped five brilliant years of Magic Valley baseball with a two-run homer in the top of the ninth inning to propel the College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles into the national junior college baseball championship Friday night.

The Eagles, getting another great relief job from Bobby Edwards and equally stout pitching from game-winner Doug Butler, beat San Jacinto-Texas 9-7 in what would have to be considered a classic national championship game.

The lead changed hands five times and there were two ties until Schow finally decided it and Butler nailed it down. It was a huge and overwhelming night for the Eagles, the first northern team to ever win this championship.

Shortstop "Shel" Scott, who would have hit for the cycle had it not been for an official scorer's call, was named the tourney's Most Valuable Player and won a $1,000 scholarship for the CSI baseball program. Edwards, who pitched four innings Friday as part of his total 29 innings, was named the outstanding pitcher.

Four other Eagles were named to the all-tournament team, including Scott, second baseball Blake Jensen, Schow and Edwards. Of course, CSI's Jim Walker was named national baseball coach of the year.

About 7,000 fans, the vast majority rooting for CSI, enjoyed—the barmen. But in typical fashion when matters were crucial, Schow was there. He ran the count to 2-1 against loser Steve Bowden and then launched the homer over the right-field fence.

"I was just going for the base hit to keep the rally going," Schow said. "It was waist-high on the outside corner, right in my power alley, and I was expecting a fast ball."

After that established the final score, it was up to Butler to hold the Calons.

"They got two hits while he got two outs and that brought up Rich Halrston. He then ended the game with a flourish, striking Halrston out swinging.

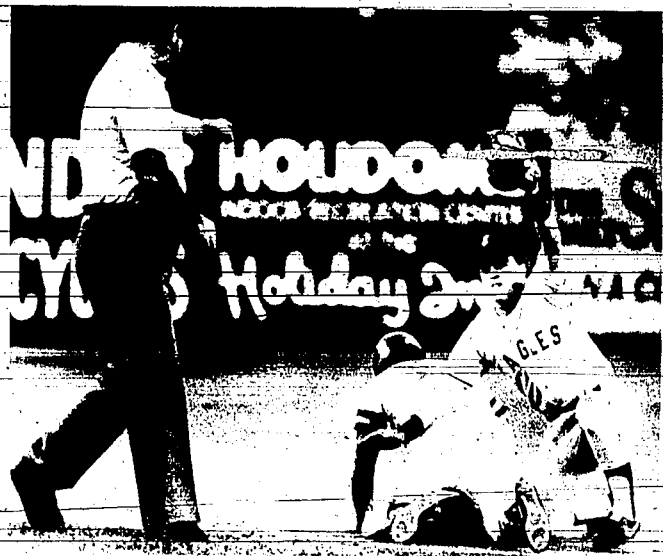

"To tell the truth, I don't know what that last pitch was or where it was," Butler said with a laugh of the curveball that was low and on the outside.

Just moments earlier, Bob Christensen had launched a Butler fastball to the left-field fence, where Dave Garro made the catch against the wall.

"I got that pitch up and I really thought I was going out (of the park)," Butler said. "In that last inning I didn't care what happened as long as I kept the ball in the yard."

For Walker, it was a sweet victory, particularly after hearing a radio interview Friday afternoon in which San Jacinto Coach Wayne Graham said he expected to "coast to another easy victory."

Graham had his unbeaten ace Dody Pasker ready with five days' rest. But the pesky Eagles kept him in trouble virtually throughout. Walker said, "I thought we could win this ballgame because all week and all season we had found a way. Butler did a hell of a job, throwing curves on 1-2 pitches. The biggest problem I had was keeping the dugout calmed down. Our kids were jumping all over and I didn't want Doug to get caught up in that emotion. Here I am, supposed to be the cheerleader and I'm trying to calm the kids down," he said with a laugh. "After the way the kids played with this week, all I had to do was walk out after the games and shake hands."

Getting personal, Walker said, "You always hope in your coaching career that a national championship is there. It's a dream but sometimes reality doesn't turn up until the second Tuesday of next week." The Eagles had several heroes as Scott opened the second inning with a solo home run. San Jacinto bounced.

Morgan's TD off pass theft propels West

By STEVE CRUMP
Times-News sports editor

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls High School's Scott Morgan, who has been busy playing the infield for the Bruin baseball team for the past few months, came up with an easy solution when he found himself on defense for the first time in his life in the East-West Shrine football game Friday night.

He caught a couple of pop flies. "I wasn't sure how I was going to do," said the 5-foot-8 senior after he returned an intercepted pass 54 yards to provide the margin of the West's 20-14 victory in the sixth renewal of the charity classic. "On that play, the flanker started going for the middle and I just waited for it."

Morgan's third-quarter pick — his second of the night — gave the West a victory for only the third time in seven games.

"It felt good," said Morgan, who will walk on at Dixie College next fall trying to make the football and baseball teams. "They hurt us with that halfback option in the first half, but we adjusted to it."

The halfback option from East's offensive coordinator Red Halverson's bag of tricks was hardly unexpected. Valley High senior quarterback Marlin Mussmann also started out of position — at tailback.

"I'd never thrown the halfback option before," said Mussmann, who rushed for 81 yards and passed for 17 more in the first half before spending most of the second half on the sidelines with a pulled muscle in his side. "I hope I'll be doing it some more next year (as a freshman at Western Montana College)."

After the West marched methodcally to its first touchdown on its first possession — 27 yards in that drive by Twin Falls' Corky Federico, 24 more by Jerome's Spencer Tolman — Mussmann got the East out of a hole in a hurry with a 45-yard burst from scrimmage to the West 26-yard line. After moving for a first down and stalling on two more running plays, East quarterback Jax Heaton of Rat River pitched the ball to Mussmann on third-and-11. Mussmann lofted a picture-perfect pass to Burley's Dan Eggert, then did it again on the conversion attempt to give the Eastern stars an 8-7 lead with 4:18 remaining in the first quarter.

The West got nowhere on its next possession, but Federico nailed the East deep in coffin country with a 67-yard punt. "Thus began a 96-yard drive by the Eastern stars that consumed almost eight minutes of the first half. Morgan tried to cut it short at midfield when he intercepted a Heaton pass, but that was nullified by a pass interference penalty that put the ball on the West 38. The Western stars looked to have held again a moment later when Mussmann's 16-yard field goal attempt sailed into the walling arms of Buhl's Bert Farnes, but the official blew his whistle prematurely. Given a second chance, Heaton pitched to Mussmann who in turn found his favorite target — Eggert — two steps into the end zone. Another option pass attempt on the PAT fell incomplete, giving the East a 14-7 margin.

The West came back immediately, thanks again to Federico. The Bruin senior booted 16 yards from midfield before he was stopped by Burley's Darin Wood, but an ensuing personal foul call put the ball on the East 20. On third-and-7, Federico ate up 14 yards for the first down, ran 4 more yards off tackle and finally plunged into the end zone with 2:41 left in the half. Jerome's Gary Hulseley kicked his second PAT of the game, and it was tied at 14.

In the second half, blitzes and stunts by the West rendered the East's halfback option ineffective, while the East's defense concentrated on shadowing Federico. Neither team could crack the other side's 20-yard-line until, with third-and-10 on the East 46, East quarterback Tim Ferrell of Kimberly faked an aimed pass for Kevin Halverson of Minico. Morgan got there first.

"I got a few steps on the offense and headed — for — the sidelines," said Morgan, a running back in high school. "One guy (Ferrell) got in front of me there, but I just sidestepped him."

Hulseley's point-after attempt was short, but it didn't matter. The East never got to midfield again. Hulseley, the 6-6, 205-pound offensive tackle from Jerome, had a lot to do with that, harrrying Ferrell, Heaton and tailback Eugene Chappa — a designated option in the second half — unmercifully. The East, which completed six of 11 passes for 81 yards in the first half, was 3-for-8 for 14 yards and two interceptions in the second.

Federico finished the game with 89 yards rushing in 18 attempts, (followed by Tolman, who was 3-3).

East — Federico 1 run (81 yds) — 14
West — Eggert 11 pass from Mussmann (Eggert pass from Mussmann)
East — Eggert 8 pass from Mussmann (pass failed)
West — Federico 1 run (Hulseley kick)
West — Morgan 54 interception return (kick failed)

Sisters seeking all-around crown in Western Days rodeo

By ANNA WAGNER
Times-News correspondent

TWIN FALLS — When the dust finally settled after Friday night's opening round of the Western Days Junior Rodeo at the College of Southern Idaho arena, the stamina and speed displayed by the young athletes stock paralleled the competitiveness of a professional rodeo performance.

Sisters Stacey and Shellie Hill of Castleford are in contention for the senior girls all-around. Stacey is the leader after the first round of goat tying and Shellie posted the lead barrel run. The sisters posted in the senior team roping for a 17.5 run and second in that event.

Twin Falls cowboy Alan Stutzman took an unofficial early lead in the senior all-around race after posting the top steer wrestling run of 18.3 as well as a second-place finish in the bareback riding.

In the junior boys' all-around contest, Shane West of Buhl and Brandon Dean of Nampa are in a battle for the title, with West leading the breakaway roping and Dean heading the calf tying.

Meridian cowgirl Brook Farris had the top time in the pole bending and a smooth second-place run in the goat tying to move her to the lead for the junior girls' all-around title.

In the rough stock events, Stutzman of Twin Falls rode for 57 points to top the senior boys' bareback competition, followed by Nick Marisch of Paul, who earned a 54. Twin Falls bullrider Gomer Beglan scored 63 points to lead his event, just ahead of Scott Sayers, Twin Falls, who marked 62 on his bull.

Top score in the junior steer riding went to Clement Slimper of Rupert who rode for 59 points. Robert Doan, Nampa, had the next best score of 52.

Senior division calf roping Tom Doan, Caldwell, roped and tied his vealer in 15.3 to lead the event, followed by Parma's Brent Ford who posted a 15.9 run.

West jumped to the lead in the junior boys' breakaway roping with a last time of 6.9. Doan turned in a 15.1 for second, the only other qualified run.

Team ropers Brett Barton of Twin Falls and Pete Jones of Filer faced their steer in 16 seconds to head the senior tandem roping, while the Hill sisters in second with a 17.5 run.

Top run in the senior goat tying went to Stacey Hill, who had a fast 9.3 ahead of the 10.5 earned by Buhl's Gina Quigley. Kristian Barton, Twin Falls, leads the junior goat tying with a 11.6 run, followed by 13.6 posted by Meridian's Brooke Farris.

Kris Onishi, Rupert, weaved through the poles in a quick 20.70 for first in the senior pole bending. Shellie Hill made a 22.38 run for second in the junior pole bending. Farris posted the top run with a 23.33. Glenns Farris' Renate West was second with a 23.94.

Kaylie Atkinson of Filer wowed the crowd with a smooth 3.9 run in the senior girls' breakaway competition. Bonnie Slimper, Rupert, turned in the next best time, 13.4.

Shellie Hill had the fastest run in the senior barrel racing with a 18.46-trailed by Teena Slimper, Rupert, who finished the pattern in 18.32. Junior barrel racer Nikle Stephens of Parma ran for 18.58 to lead that event, with Skeeter Kendall, Paul, clocking 18.60 for a second-place finish.

Seven-year-old Brian McFadden won the trophy in the "Mutton Bustin'", besting four other riders for the award. McFadden said it was the first sheep riding competition he had entered.

Junior rodeo competition continues today at the CSI arena with performances scheduled at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m.

'Bewitched' Mancini loses title to Bramble in 14th round

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Livingstone Bramble brought a voodoo doctor to the fight with him, but all he really needed was his fighting ability to upset Ray "Boom Boom" Mancini to take the World Boxing Association lightweight championship Friday night.

Boxing

Mancini was taken to a hospital after the fight to have cuts around his eyes stitched.

"Oh, I ain't worried," said Mancini. "I'll be back."

But the spell cast Friday night was the steady tidal of punches on Mancini's face and head.

of them good ones in the first six rounds when he was aggressive.

The first round and Denkin ruled it was from a butt. The referee called in a doctor to examine the cut with about one minute left then the action resumed.

Then Bramble took a breather in the 11th and Mancini stole the round simply by being busier.

Routs rampant in women's action

TWIN FALLS — Two blowouts in women's slowpitch play and a mixed bag in the men's division highlighted Friday action.

14, Valley Lift Trucking 3, and in a League, Club 93's Bruce Thibodeau socked two home runs, one in the bottom of the seventh for a go-ahead score, in their 9-8 triumph over Cook's Pest Control.

Ethiopia out of Olympics

MOSCOW (AP) — Ethiopia's national Olympic committee announced Friday that it will not send a team to the Los Angeles Olympics, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

Ethiopia, Moscow's strongest African ally, becomes the 12th nation to join the Kremlin in officially refusing to attend the Summer Games.

According to the Tass dispatch from Addis Ababa, Ethiopia's Olympic committee echoed previous statements on the Olympics by charging that the United States "uses them (the Games) for purely political purposes against socialist and progressive states."

Holmes-Coetzee pact signed

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Heavyweights Larry Holmes and Gerry Coetzee have signed letters of intent for a fight Aug. 17 at Las Vegas, Nev., promoter Bob Arum said Friday.

"These are no formal contracts," said Arum, "but we hope finalize everything next week."

Arum said the total purse money was less than $10 million. He declined to break it down but speculation was that Holmes will receive $6.5 million.

"They'll be fighting for Holmes' International Boxing Federation title, Coetzee is giving up his World Boxing Association title so King won't have any ties to him," Arum said.

Post-Olympics scheduled

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Post-Olympic games, organized for athletes from communist nations boycotting the Los Angeles Olympics, will be staged in six Warsaw Pact countries, Cuba, North Korea and Mongolia, a Hungarian government official announced Friday.

Istvan Buda, secretary of state for sports affairs and president of the Hungarian Olympic Committee, said 37 events would be held.

The Soviets are to stage nine sports events, Poland and Bulgaria five each, East Germany, Hungary, Cuba and Czechoslovakia four each, North Korea and Mongolia one each.

The Soviet Union reportedly will host rowing and basketball tournaments on Aug. 16-26 and track and field events on Aug. 16-18. Boxing and men's volleyball events are to be held in Cuba on Aug. 18-23. Czechoslovakia will organize women's track and field in Prague, Aug. 16-18, men's and women's gymnastics in Olomouc, Aug. 18-26, women's handball in Trencin and Gottwaldov, Aug. 20-26 and archery in Pizen Aug. 21-26.

CFA announces TV plan

DALLAS (AP) — ABC and CBS would retain telecast rights for college football games next season under a contingency plan unveiled Friday at the opening of the annual meeting of the College Football Association.

Delegates from the 60 CFA schools spent most of the day considering two similar national television plans, one put together by a committee from the CFA and another hammered out by a group of CFA officials and representatives from the Big Ten and Pac-10 conferences. These two conferences are the only major college football leagues that do not hold CFA membership. But both sides reached a tenuous agreement to put aside their differences and work together in a television plan that case the U.S. Supreme Court rules that the NCAA's controls of college football television rights is illegal.

The court's decision is expected this summer. If the ruling of two lower courts is upheld, the NCAA's contract with ABC and CBS totaling $140.5 million for the next two years would be thrown out and every school and conference would be free to wheel and deal their own football television rights.

Eisenreich-leaving Twins

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Outfielder Jim Eisenreich, who has battled a nervous disorder during his three seasons in the major leagues, does not want to play baseball any more, Minnesota Twins General Manager Calvin Gardner said Friday night.

Eisenreich, 25, is still struggling with the problem, which causes him to twitch and hyperventilate. Both his first two seasons were cut short by the problem.

Gardner said he would meet with team owner Calvin Griffith and Executive Vice President Howard Fox no later than this morning to decide whether to place Eisenreich on the voluntarily retired list or to give him his outright release.

Pate won't golf in U.S. Open

NEW YORK (AP) — Golfer Jerry Pate, plagued by continuing problems from a pinched nerve near his collarbone, withdrew Friday from the 1984 U.S. Open championship.

"I'm still having problems with a pinched nerve around my collarbone area and it's giving me fits," said Pate, the 1976 U.S. Open champion.

Pate first suffered the injury in mid-1982 after winning the Tournament Players Championship.

Dodger hurler Howe settles grievance

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Howe will serve the remainder of his one-year suspension while undergoing drug rehabilitation and all issues related to a pending grievance involving the Los Angeles Dodgers' relief pitcher have been settled, Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced Friday.

Howe was suspended by Kuhn for one year on Dec. 15, 1983, for repeated drug involvement, and a grievance hearing challenging Kuhn's ruling had been scheduled for Tuesday in Los Angeles.

"With all parties agreeing that he should concentrate for the present on rehabilitation and recovery rather than baseball, all issues related to the grievance have been settled, Kuhn's statement said.

Kuhn said the action was taken after discussions which, including Howe and his attorney, Jim Hawkins, the Dodgers and the Major League Baseball Players Association.

"Steve continues in treatment," said Kuhn, "and there is unanimity of feeling among us, including Steve's medical advisers, that a return to baseball this season would not be appropriate. The most important thing for this young man is his long-range recovery."

As part of the grievance resolution, the Dodgers have agreed to extend financial arrangements covering Howe's treatment and his family's necessary living expenses, Kuhn said.

The commissioner's statement also said probationary terms also will continue, including semi-weekly testing and other requirements "to assure continuance of Howe's rehabilitation program and abstinence from drugs."

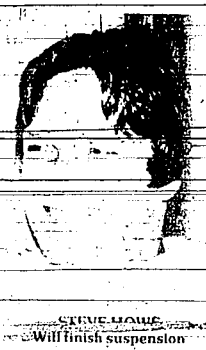

The settlement was announced through the Dodgers, Howe said.

must face up to the reality that if I truly put my recovery first, then I should not return to baseball this year.

"My doctor, my therapist and fellow members of my recovery program have urged me to take more time before subjecting myself to the high emotions and stress of a pennant race," he said.

"I am following their advice and putting my long-term recovery ahead of my natural desire to be on the playing field with my teammates. I therefore will not return to baseball this year but look forward to the 1985 championship season."

Howe, the National League Rookie of the Year in 1980, was suspended for one year along with three former members of the Kansas City Royals — Willie Alkins, Willie Wilson and Jerry Martin.

STEVE HOWE will finish suspension.

Heavy-hitting Norman increases Kemper lead

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Greg Norman, the Australian import who has come to be known as "the Great White Shark," used his awesome length off the tee to advantage in compiling another 4-under-par 68 and moving out to a four-stroke lead Friday in the second round of the $200,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament.

"I'm playing very well," said Norman, who collected 29 birdies in a globe-trotting career before settling in the United States.

"I'm confident, relaxed in my whole attitude."

"But there's 36 holes left. I've got to forget about a good nice, comfortable lead, and go out and shoot as low a score as I possibly can over the last 36 holes."

Norman, 29, reached the tournament halfway point with a 136 total, eight shots under par on the difficult, 7,173-yard Congressional Country Club course in the suburbs of Washington, D.C. It's one of the longest courses the touring pros encounter all year — and that plays into Norman's strengths.

"Everybody who plays the game likes to hit it long and straight," he said. "Fortunately, that's one facet of my game I'm fairly competent at, being hitting 3-irons where other players will be hitting 4's and 5's, and an advantage."

As an example, consider Congressional's 542-yard, par-5 sixth hole. Norman reached the green with a driver and a 3-iron and two putts — birdie.

"The driver was about 320 yards," he said in a matter-of-fact tone, "and the 3-iron about 220."

King ahead of Sheehan by two at LPGA championship

MASON, Ohio (AP) — Betsy King, bidding to become the first three-time winner in women's professional golf this year, parlayed her best putting round of 1984 into a 5-under-par 67 Friday and the midway lead in the LPGA Championship.

King, 28, needed just 22 putts on the Nicklaus Golf Center's Grizzly greens, leading her to a 36-hole total of 139, five strokes better than par in this major tournament.

The member of Furman's 1976 national college champions, second in money-winnings and third in stroke average this year, led defending champion Patty Sheehan by two strokes going into the third round today.

Sheehan shot 70 for a 141 total and said, "I don't think anybody is going to tear this course up. I feel calm, confident and blasé. I like my altitude," she said.

Another stroke back, led her to place at 142, were Alice Ritzman, non-winner Robin Walton and wax Amy Benz. Ritzman and Walton posted 65. Benz matched par of 72.

Increased spawning forces fishing closure

BOISE (AP) — A tripling of the adult cutthroat trout spawning at Henrys Lake in eastern Idaho this spring has forced the Fish and Game Department to impose an emergency closure to fishing for the area around the lake mouth at Hatchery Creek.

Fisheries Specialist-Virgil Moore said the excess numbers of cutthroat should disperse within a week and the area is scheduled to be reopened to fishing June 17.

"Because we've had such a high concentration of returning spawners at our fish trap, those fish were extremely vulnerable to harvest during the opening week," Moore said.

"Because they're important to the trophy trout management at the lake, they needed to be protected until they dispersed," he said.

According to Moore, some 15,000 spawners have been counted so far this spring compared to the 5,500 a year ago, and he said another 3,000 to 5,000 fish are congregating at the mouth of the lake now.

The department needed some 12,000 to maintain its management program at the lake, he said, and another 2,500 have been transplanted in Targee Creek and 1,000 more are to be transplanted into other creeks out of Henrys Lake.

Moore also said fish screens are being erected at key points along the lake.

The increased spawning numbers were expected, Moore said, because of the department's intensified program to build up the trout population at the lake.

Under normal conditions, he said, the excess number of fish would have dispersed before the trout season officially opened last week. But because of high runoff from cold mountain snow pack this spring, the fish have stayed near warmer waters for a longer period.

Strong efforts at NCAA track

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Iowa State's Danny Harris, Weber State's Farley Gerber and Oregon's Joaquim Cruz ran brilliant races in scoring impressive victories Friday night in the NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

The 19-year-old Harris, a freshman from Ferris, Calif., shattered the world junior record in the men's 500-meter intermediate hurdles for the fourth time this year, clocking 48.81 seconds.

In slipping under the 49-second mark for the first time in his young career, Harris broke the previous mark of 49.29 set last month at Lincoln, Neb., and completed an unbeaten freshman season.

The little-known Gerber scored a stunning triumph in the 3,000-meter steeplechase in 8:19.27, the fastest in the world this year and the fastest ever by American collegian.

Cruz, the sensational middle distance runner from Brazil, captured his second straight NCAA title in the men's 800 in 1:45.10, the fastest in the world this year.

Cruz sat in second place, behind William Wuyke of Alabama, for the first 500 meters, before blasting to the front for good.

Cruz, who resembles Cuba's Alberto Juantorena, the 1976 Olympic champion in the 400 and 800 meters, is running style and physique, will try for an NCAA double in today's 1,500 meters.

The "most-affordable" Peugeot

To Peugeot, a low price doesn't mean "stuffed". So even the least-expensive Peugeot is a well-equipped Peugeot.

Power steering and brakes. Vinyl or colour upholstery. Reclining bucket seats. A tachometer.

Michelin steel-belted radials. A fully carpeted trunk. Remote-controlled outside mirrors that device themselves. All standard equipment.

The Peugeot 505 GL.

For about the price of an average American car.
