IFF fights fines State may levy

By DAVID MOFFAT Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Idaho Frozen Foods has filed suit in Fifth District Court seeking an injunction against having to pay a series of fines being sought by the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare.

The department is seeking the fines as compensation for violations of a compliance agreement governing the performance of the company's potato waste water treatment system in the Snake River Canyon.

The suit is the company's response to the May 15 filing of a formal complaint against the company by department Director Rose Bowman.

The complaint lists 21 counts, totaling 46 alleged violations of the compliance agreement, and asks for $1,000 in penalties for each, and it leaves the door open for additional fines for possible new violations since March when the state received its last system-monitoring results from the company, says local Division of the Environment director Mike McMaisters.

The suit has been set for trial in front of Judge Daniel Huggbutt June 19.

That is one day before both parties are scheduled to appear in front of a state-hearing-officer-in-Boise. The officer will attempt to develop a record on which the State's Health and Welfare Board can approve or disapprove the penalties.

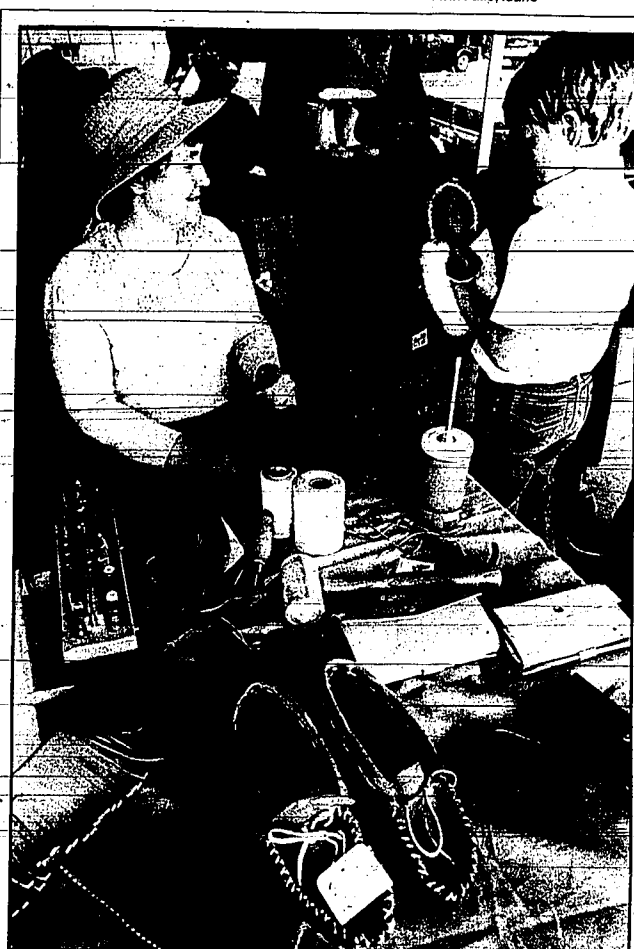

More is involved in the case than the state fining the company and the company seeking to avoid paying, says Steve Tolman, a Twin Falls attorney representing the company.

He says the state has no right to seek the fines under either state law or the terms of the agreement without further procedures at law.

He says the purpose of the suit also is to ask the court to construe state law and the compliance order to determine what these further procedures should be.

But even though the suit limits itself to procedural issues, the company has

Lament war in oil lands

By MAUREEN SANTINI AP White House Correspondent

LONDON — As the leaders of seven major industrial democracies converged for their annual economic summit, President Reagan urged U.S. allies Thursday to plan for joint action in the event the Persian Gulf conflict ignites a new oil crisis.

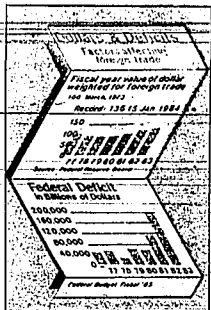

Seeking to avoid what an aide described as "psychological panic" over a disruption of oil supplies, the president told reporters before he met with Italian Prime Minister Bettino Craxi.

"We recognize that we can act better together if faced with such a crisis, I think we would all probably mutually share. Other nations have reserves also."

Apparently anticipating pressure from his summit colleagues to reduce U.S. interest rates and budget deficits, Reagan predicted interest rates eventually would fall, and disputed a suggestion to the contrary by his chief White House economist.

U.S. officials said Reagan also will seek a commitment from the other leaders for joint action to stem international terrorism.

With British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher as host, the 10th annual economic summit started with a reception for the leaders of the United States, Canada, Japan, West Germany, Italy and France at St. James's Palace.

After the reception in the parkside palace, built in the 16th century by King Henry VIII, a motorcade took the seven leaders down The Mall to 10 Downing St., the prime minister's official residence, where they posed for pictures in the ornate Yellow Room, then sat down for a working dinner.

British official sources said after the dinner that the seven leaders

Economic health seen, but analysts fear fall

By SALLY JACOBSON AP Economics Writer

LONDON — Led by the United States, the world economy is struggling off the recession doldrums of recent years, but some analysts worry the rebound has only begun steam to keep going through next year.

Indeed, an American forecasting firm says, "By 1986 there appears to be a prospect for substantial declines in world growth rates."

After several years of gloomy economic news, the world leaders gathered here for the seven-nation summit undoubtedly will be inclined to celebrate the brighter numbers.

The leaders, including President Reagan, are considered likely to win a deal on talks Saturday by stressing the need to keep the expansion flowing.

The rebound, so far, has been strongest in the United States. Indeed, it's the U.S. recovery that has given a push to other-world economies.

Showing surprising strength, the U.S. economy spurted ahead at an annual rate of 8.8 percent in the first quarter of this year. Most analysts don't expect the pace to continue at that strong rate, and recent economic figures point to a slowing of the expansion.

The benefits of the U.S. rebound have spilled over chiefly to Canada, Japan and the Pacific basin countries, including Hong Kong, Singapore, South Korea and Taiwan, according to a recent analysis by the Pennsylvania economic forecasting firm of Chase Econometrics.

Western European countries also have benefited but the less developed countries are still struggling to break out of the lengthy recession.

The clearest sign of the U.S. boost to other countries is the record $69.4 billion U.S. trade deficit posted last year and expected to climb higher this year.

The 25 percent jump in the amount of foreign goods Americans bought last year "is the key to world recovery," said the Chase forecast.

The trade imbalance is blamed by most economists on the strong value of the dollar compared with other major currencies. That makes U.S. goods more expensive to buy than foreign-made products.

The dollar's strength is largely attributed to the high interest rates in the United States.

And it's those high interest rates that worry analysts, prompting some dismal forecasts that the American economy could slip into another recession by the end of next year.

To help forestall such a gloomy prediction, analysts are urging sharp reductions in the U.S. budget deficits expected to run around $200 billion over the next few years unless trimmed.

Liberian freighter rocked by blast

Iran, Iraq swap bomb attacks on cities

By The Associated Press

Iran and Iraq bombed each other's cities on Thursday and shelled border regions, according to communiques issued by the two sides.

Fifty-four people were reported killed and Iraq claimed it shot down an invading plane.

A Liberian-registered freighter was rocked by an explosion, possibly caused by a mine, in the southern Persian Gulf. And Iran protested Saudi Arabia's downing of an Iranian jet this week, saying it expected the Saudis to "refrain from any measure that may set the gulf ablaze."

A foreign diplomat reported in Baghdad, capital of Iraq, on Thursday that the Soviet Union has supplied Iraq with sophisticated missiles capable of striking deep into Iran or the gulf. The diplomat, a retired army colonel, asked that he not be further identified.

In the Persian Gulf, a powerful explosion blew a hole in the side of the Liberian-registered freighter Dashiaki near the Strait of Hormuz on Thursday.

Lloyd's Intelligence Department, a branch of the London insurance brokerage, said the ship's master believed the explosion occurred after the ship hit a mine.

Iraq has tightened its blockade of Kharg by attacking ships calling on the Persian state's major oil port. The attacks are aimed at cutting off Iran's substantial oil revenues and forcing the Tehran government to negotiate an end to the 45-month-old war.

Iran also has attacked ships in the gulf and has threatened to close the Strait of Hormuz, the entrance to the troubled region, through which passes nearly 20 percent of the non-communist world's oil.

In a Radio Tehran broadcast, Iran threatened to make "the entire gulf region 'insureable' if its oil interests are jeopardized."

A U.S. Defense Department spokesman in Washington said America would use "all means possible" to protect American shipping in the gulf, where both Iran and Iraq have attacked vessels.

Iraq's military command in Baghdad said it had carried out bombing raids to avenge Iranian shelling of Basra, which killed 27 people on Thursday and 35 on Wednesday.

The communique said eight people were killed and 42 others wounded during raids by four Iranian jet-fighters against the central border region towns of Jamana and Kifri.

The cycle of retaliation apparently started on Tuesday, when Iran accused Iraq of sending its planes to bomb the Kurdish town of Basra, killing 325 people and wounding 300.

Plan hinged on attacking the Chinese to end the Korean War

Reports: Ike conditionally OK'd A-bomb use

By SPENCER DAVIS The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Dwight D. Eisenhower in May 1953 conditionally approved a plan to end the Korean War with a full-scale military attack that might have included the use of atomic weapons against the Chinese, according to declassified documents released Thursday.

It is not clear from the documents whether the decision to possibly widen the war was a serious intention of the president who was elected on a promise to end the conflict, or a ploy to speed stalled armistice negotiations. One participant in the peace talks says there was no serious consideration of using atomic weapons.

The State Department released some 2,000 pages of previously classified and unpublished documents dealing with Korea from 1952 to 1954. Among them appears the following from the record of the 145th meeting of the National Security Council on May 20, 1953:

"After further discussion of various military aspects of the problem, the president summed up the views presented by the Joint Chiefs as indicating their belief that if we went over to more positive action against the enemy in Korea, it would be necessary to expand the war outside Korea and that it would be necessary to use the atomic bomb."

At the conclusion of the NSC meeting, the president was quoted by NSC Executive Director S. Everett Gleason as follows: "The president stated that if members of the Council agreed, he wished the record to show that if circumstances arose which would show the United States to an expanded effort in Korea, the plan selected by the Joint Chiefs of Staff was most likely to achieve the objective we sought."

"His only real worry, the president said, was over the possibility of intervention by the Soviets. He feared the Chinese much less, since the blow would fall so swiftly and with such force as to eliminate Chinese Communist intervention."

The NSC then agreed that if conditions required more positive action the course recommended by the Joint Chiefs would be adopted as a general guide.

"According to the JCS plan, the United States would undertake a coordinated, large-scale offensive, with a view to the defeat and destruction of the bulk of the Communist forces in Korea and settlement of the Korean War on the basis of a unified, non-Communist Korea."

The documents said, "Each of the suggested courses of action permits but does not require employment of atomic weapons. In each case, the use or non-use of such weapons is left open for future determination." The documents did not specify possible targets.

On the day following the NSC meeting, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who was then on a 12-nation tour, met in New Delhi with Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru. A secret memo by Dulles said in part: "We discussed the Korean armistice. Mr. Nehru urged the importance of concluding an armistice, stating that he feared otherwise the fighting would be extended. I agreed with his estimate, stating that if the armistice negotiations collapsed, the United States probably would make a stronger rather than a lesser military exertion and that this might well extend the area of conflict."

Dulles then added a parenthetical note: "I assumed this would be relayed" to the Chinese. Edward C. Keefer, who edited the document, said it was part of a plan to end the war.

Henry's Fork study sought

ASHTON (AP) — The Federal Energy Regulatory Commission has been asked to conduct a study of the cumulative impact six proposed small hydropower projects would have on the Henry's Fork watershed in eastern Idaho.

The request for the analysis, made by the Interior Department and backed by the Idaho Conservation League, is prompted by concern about the combined effects of the projects on the Henry's Fork, world renowned for its high-quality fishery and recognized for possible addition to the national Wild and Scenic River System.

The evaluation should be done while the projects are still in the preliminary permit stage, said Charles Polityko of Interior's Pacific Northwest Region office.

Jackson outlines party goals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rev. Jesse Jackson on Thursday night said he was not ready to heed calls for Democratic Party unity and instead outlined 10 goals he wants the party to meet.

"Party justice must precede party unity," the Democratic presidential contender told about 1,000 people at the Operation PUSH annual convention in Washington. "Party unity now may cost party victory in November because it will be a unity without substance." Jackson founded PUSH and is on leave from the group, a Chicago-based self-help and civil rights organization.

Jackson clearly implied, but did not specifically say that the 10 goals — he called them "challenges" — were his conditions for agreeing to party unity. Jackson focused on Democratic Party rules, including the use of caucuses.

Kabul forces claim victories

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Afghan government troops scored military victories against Moslem insurgents in seven provinces, Kabul Radio said Thursday night.

The battles occurred in Parwan, Jauzjan, Herat, Kunar, Fajka, Balkh and Kabul provinces, the state-run radio said in a broadcast monitored here. It did not say when the fighting took place.

The Pakistan agency broadcast said rebels were killed in all seven provinces, but it did not give casualty figures. At least 50 insurgents were captured and large amounts of arms and ammunition were captured, the radio said.

Road fund cutoff gains nod

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an attempt to end a "national epidemic" of deaths caused by drunken drivers, the House on Thursday voted to withhold a portion of federal highway funds from those states which refuse to raise the legal drinking age to 21.

The measure passed by voice vote.
Rep. Bud Shuster, R-Pa. said 5,000 teen-agers are killed each year in drunken driving accidents. Calling that a "national epidemic," he said youngsters often drive neighboring states with lower drinking ages.
He called the highways they use to reach bars and liquor stores that can sell them alcohol "slaughter alleys."

Today's weather

More of the same through Saturday

Twin Falls, Burley-Rupert, Jerome: Showers and windy with scattered showers at times through Saturday. Lows mid 50s to mid 60s. Highs mid 50s to mid 60s.

Camas Prairie and the Lower Wood River valleys: Partly cloudy and windy with scattered showers at times. Lows near 40. Highs in the 50s.

Northern Nevada and Utah: Partly cloudy in northern Utah with widely scattered afternoon and evening showers today and tonight.

Mostly cloudy in northern Nevada, with occasional showers mainly in the afternoon.

Synopsis: An upper level low pressure system over the Pacific Northwest has brought cloudy skies, cool temperatures, rain and a few thunderstorms to Idaho. Not much change is expected until late in the weekend as the low pressure is expected to move very slowly east.

Winds across Idaho Thursday afternoon were mostly light and surface reports indicated showers and even a few thunderstorms were scattered over the state. Some of the showers were heavy. Total rainfall recorded in Idaho. Not much change is expected until late in the weekend as the low pressure is expected to move very slowly east.

Temperatures Thursday at mid-afternoon were in the upper 40s and 50s ranging from 46 at McCall, Challis and Grangeville to 60 degrees at Pocatello and Malad. Gusty southwest to northwest winds blow over a great portion of the state. In the southern valleys winds cooled on Sunday. Dry and warmer Monday and Tuesday. Highs Sunday in the 50s warming to 65 to 75 Monday and Tuesday. Lows in the upper 30s to upper 40s.

The pollen count in Twin Falls Thursday was 17 particles per cubic meter of air.

High for the state Thursday was 66 degrees at Emerald, and Hagerman while the Penn Ranger Station recorded the low of 30 degrees.

Extended outlook for southern Idaho calls for a chance of showers and cool on Sunday. Dry and warmer Monday and Tuesday. Highs Sunday in the 50s warming to 65 to 75 Monday and Tuesday. Lows in the upper 30s to upper 40s.

Hunt for escapees goes on

WARRENTON, N.C. (AP) — Lawmen seeking four escaped death row inmates tracked down fruitless leads for a seventh day Thursday, and one Highway Patrol officer said the searchers need "a streak of luck."

"We are not getting very good leads apparently," Gov. Jim Hunt told a news conference in Raleigh. "Maybe they think they can lay low and wait out," said Robert Pence, who heads FBI operations in North Carolina. "It's one of these things where we can't afford to lessen it (the search) until we know for sure they're gone."

The breakout was the largest escape from death row in U.S. history. Two of the six inmates who fled Virginia's Mecklenburg Correctional Center last week were recaptured within a day of the escape.

Minnesota tornado injures 10

ALBERT LEA, Minn. (AP) — A tornado touched down here Thursday night, injuring 10 people and destroying several buildings, including some houses, officials said.

The tornado struck around 6:55 p.m. MDT, the National Weather Service in Minneapolis said. A half-hour earlier, instruments at radio station KATE in Albert Lea had clocked wind velocity at 81 mph.

Nave Hospital in this extreme southern Minnesota town of 19,400 treated 10 people, but none of the injuries was serious, according to Dan McCormick, president of the facility.

Eight of the injured were treated for abrasions, contusions and lacerations, then released. Two were hospitalized, one with chest pains and the other with shortness of breath, McCormick said.

Journal settles libel action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Wall Street Journal acknowledging it cannot prove some allegations it published, will pay $800,000 to settle a libel suit filed by two former federal prosecutors, the newspaper's attorney said Thursday night.

The out-of-court settlement of the $5 million lawsuit was reached in U.S. District Court here 10 days before the case was scheduled to go to trial before Judge Harold H. Greene. Gregory Diskant, the Journal's lawyer, said in New York.

In a statement, Associate Publisher Peter R. Kann said that the decision to settle the case out of court "is an exception to, not a change in," the Journal's policy of not settling libel suits.

No more Central America aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee voted on party lines Thursday to deny President Reagan any additional military aid for El Salvador in the current fiscal year beyond the $2 million already approved by both houses of Congress.

Rep. Jack Kemp of New York, the ranking Republican on the Appropriations subcommittee on foreign operations, said GOP members would ask the full committee to overturn the action "and we think we can win there." No date for committee action has been set.

expressed "total unity of view on the need to maintain strong defenses."

The sources, who asked not to be identified in accordance with British practice, added that the leaders agreed the West must not "give ground" to attract the Soviet Union back to the Geneva-nuclear-arms talks, which the Soviets left late last year.

At the same time, the leaders were said by the sources to favor dialogue with the Soviets "at every opportunity."
An hour before the St. James's reception, six anti-nuclear protesters were arrested after they lay down in a street outside the palace. On Saturday, Britain's Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament is planning a mass demonstration to protest new missile deployments in Europe.

The Downing Street dinner was expected to focus on political topics such as the widening war between Iran and Iraq and U.S. relations with the Soviet Union, which are competing for attention at the summit with such economic issues as high interest rates, budget deficits, the overvalued dollar and the debt burden of developing countries.

Reagan also met with French President Francois Mitterrand and Japanese Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone in advance of the summit opening, and White House aides said the oil question was a prime topic in these discussions, too.

One U.S. official, who spoke on condition he not be identified, said the United States is not seeking a specific oil contingency plan but rather wants new efforts by the International Energy Agency to persuade each nation to use its own oil stocks without hoarding, in the event of a major disruption.

servicing problems with "substantive" questions as well, Tolman says.

Among these was what the company considers the inconsistent positions and intransigent attitudes of the department on the system-monitoring issue, he says.

A June 7 company press release cites President Leo Odemwald as saying he believes technical disagreements over monitoring methods, not the operation of the system, have led to the state action.

It also says the company fears the state complaint could prejudice a hearing on a conditional-use permit for the system, scheduled to be held in front of the Twin Falls County Planning and Zoning Commission later this summer.

The state has maintained two issues are involved in the argument over the compliance agreement.

One concerns the inability of the company's system to perform as set out in the agreement. The other concerns how to modify the agreement to deal with that situation in the future.

The complaint represents an attempt to deal with the first issue.

McMasters says water samples taken from monitors located about eight feet below each of the rapid infiltration basins in the system show a fairly consistent level of violation.

This might indicate the problem is not simply one of shaking out bugs, he says. But the company has not provided the statistics breaking down when the violations are occurring, he says.

He adds deep-monitoring wells, which the company claims are the only true test of the system, have yet to provide conclusive evidence.

The company drilled two deep wells when it began the project, but one hit the geothermal aquifer, and had to be capped.

The company says the one working deep well shows the system is having little effect on groundwater.

But McMasters says one deep well is not enough on which to base such a determination. As part of an amendment to the compliance order currently being negotiated, the state has recommended that five more deep wells be drilled.

The amendment will recognize several new things the company would like to do with the potato waste at the site, McMasters says.

One is to spray waste water over sections of the company's 550 acres on the east and west side of Rock Creek using fixed position sprinklers.

Another is to grow trees with the waste water.

McMasters says the University of Idaho has agreed to join the company in establishing a research station on possible uses of potato waste water at the site.

ments released by the State Department, at this point said in a footnote:

"There has been considerable speculation that at this meeting Dulles passed a warning to the Chinese through the Indian government that unless an armistice was agreed upon, the United States would expand the war."

Retired diplomat U. Alexis Johnson, former undersecretary of state and U.S. ambassador to Japan, played a significant role in the true negotiations at that time as a deputy assistant secretary of state for the Far East. Johnson told The Associated Press that he knew of no serious consideration for the use of atomic weapons in Korea.

"It was a trick of John Foster Dulles to bring pressure on the Chinese through the Indians to reach an armistice and a settlement," Johnson said. He added that he is including this version in a book he is writing on his diplomatic experiences.

In a book on Dulles entitled "Dulles: A Reappraisal," the English writer Richard Good-Adams said:

"The United States was faced with the dilemma that, if the Communists were to be induced to let the truce talks reach a successful conclusion, they must be made to prefer peace to war, and this could only be done by threatening to widen the war."

Describing a meeting at Wake Island that included Eisenhower, Dulles, Defense Secretary Charles Wilson, Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, and Adm. Arthur Radford, U.S. commander in chief-Pacific, Good-Adams wrote:

"Together they agreed in principle that the prospect of greater military effort must indeed be made to look convincing."

"Thus they took the ugly and difficult provisional decision to step up operations, if need be, regardless of the risk that this might lead to the use of nuclear weapons with unlimited consequences and regardless of the attitudes of their allies in the United Nations Command. It was in some ways, as clear as a place of drinksmanship as anything for which Dulles was primarily responsible later on."

June snow covers Colorado; streams flooding in Vermont

By The Associated Press

A late spring storm blanketed northern and central Colorado with up to 18 inches of snow Thursday, while tornadoes and funnel clouds whirled through Louisiana, Kansas and Missouri.

The rain caused the threat of a mudslide and forced the evacuation of 200 to 300 people in Aspen, Colo., while firefighters in Vermont set off flash floods that destroyed six homes, and cut off highways and utilities.

A "Bermuda high" brought hot weather to the Eastern states, with Atlantic City, N.J., recording a record high of 95 degrees.

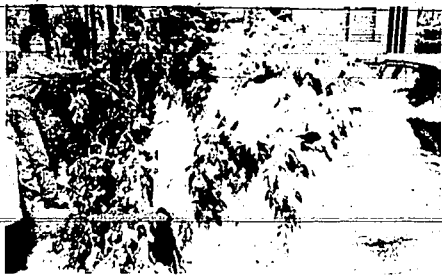

In St. Joseph, Mo., a twister nearly destroyed a duplex and damaged five other homes.

"I have never been in anything like that before," said Phillip Lima Jr., who lived in half of the destroyed duplex. "I got up to close the window and all of a sudden there was glass flying everywhere—I was waiting for the ceiling to fall in on me."

No injuries were reported in any of the flooding.

Temperatures were in the 30s and 40s in the Colorado Rockies, but southeast Colorado had summerlike readings approaching 80 degrees.

Warm, humid weather continued across much of the eastern half of the nation Thursday afternoon, with temperatures in the 80s and 90s. Mid-Atlantic states recorded their hottest readings so far this year, with New York City reaching 90 degrees for the first time since Sept. 20, 1983.

Thunderstorms developed rapidly across sections of South Dakota with additional thunderstorms expected across the central Plains.

Temperatures around the nation at 3 p.m. EDT ranged from 45 degrees at Yellowstone Park, Wyo., to 98 degrees at Richmond, Va.

For Friday, scattered thunderstorms were forecast from the Mississippi Valley across the Great Lakes and Ohio Valley to the Northeastern states. Scattered showers were predicted from the Pacific Northwest into the Dakotas, with additional snowfall possible in the Colorado mountains. Sunny skies were expected across the Southwest states.

High temperatures will be in the upper 50s and 60s from the Pacific Northwest across the northern and central Rockies to the northern high Plains.

People who still smoke puffing more cigarettes

ATLANTA (AP) — The nation's per capita consumption of cigarettes is declining but not as fast as the decline in the number of smokers.

That indicates that people who still smoke are smoking more, federal researchers said Thursday.

The national Centers for Disease Control reported that between 1963 and 1978 the per capita consumption of cigarettes among people 18 and older decreased by 0.6 percent a year, from 4,336 to 3,965 cigarettes per person.

But the proportion of smokers has declined faster — by 1.6 percent a year, from 42 percent of people 18 and older in 1965 to 33 percent in 1980.

The relatively high rate of decline in the percentage of smokers, compared with that of cigarette consumption, indicates that the average number of cigarettes consumed per smoker has increased... approximately 1 percent per year," the CDC said.

The CDC's smoking findings, printed in its Morbidity and Mortality

Weekly Report, accompanied a report on research of international smoking patterns conducted by Canada's Laboratory Centre for Disease Control.

The Canadian researchers found that the United States ranks fifth in the world in per capita consumption of manufactured cigarettes, at a rate of 2,678 cigarettes per person in 1982 among all-Americans — not just those 18 and up. (The report noted that home-rolled cigarettes are a tiny portion of the American market.)

Cyprus had the world's highest per capita cigarette consumption — 3,117 cigarettes for every person — followed by Greece, Cuba, Canada and the United States. Last on the list was Guinea, with a rate of 17 cigarettes per person a year.

The CDC said the decline in the number of smokers in the United States has been at least partially offset by an increase in use of other tobacco products such as chewing tobacco. The use of "smokeless" tobacco products has increased 11 percent per year since 1974, it said.

U.S. to protect ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States would use "all means possible" to protect American shipping from attack in the Persian Gulf, a Pentagon spokesman said Thursday.

Michael Burch, the spokesman, said the U.S. Navy is not under orders at this time to provide escort for tankers or commercial ships flying the U.S. flag, but that the four frigates and destroyers in the gulf waters customarily monitor the passage of U.S. vessels as a matter of prudence. Burch made his comments when asked about U.S. policy in event either the Iranians or the Iraqis should attack U.S. oil tankers or other shipping in the gulf.

So far, Burch said, "there have been no threats" of direct attacks on Navy-operated tankers or other American ships and "there is no reason to believe there would be in the future."

However, Burch stressed that "we would do all possible to protect U.S. assets and interests in that region," including ships operating in those waters.

Jacksons' tour nearly ready

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Not a single ticket has been printed and concert dates are still being settled, but the Jacksons are getting ready to hit the road at the end of this month — a bit later than originally announced.

Tour publicist Howard Bloom said tickets will cost $28 each plus a $2 dollar-handling charge, since tickets will only be sold by mail. Bloom said details on how to get tickets will be announced along with tour dates, perhaps within a week.

The Jacksons now plan on 42 performances, instead of the 40 announced earlier. Bloom said the extra dates were added to keep ticket prices down.

Although none of the dates has been booked, Michael Binkow, a spokesman for tour co-presenter Dan King, said it was all but certain the group will play the New York, Los Angeles, Washington and Boston areas.

Grocery exemption won't mean less tax

The initiative effort to remove groceries from the state sales tax looks like an attractive "consumer" measure at first blush, but before leaping on the bandwagon, we think people ought to remember that what isn't raised here will mean higher taxes elsewhere for many Idahoans.

The supporters of the initiative drive to repeal the grocery tax in effect admit just that. If the state loses the revenue—which the "grocery tax" generates, estimated at $6.3 million a year by the pro-petition forces and higher than that by others, it would have to make up the difference somehow.

Possibilities include raising the state's general sales tax and/or removing the exemption in some other areas of the sales tax. Either way, that means the Idaho consumer will have a tax "repealed" on the one hand and slapped right back on with the other. Where's the fairness in that?

The grocery sales tax is not, in our view, a particularly onerous one, considering that anyone who files a state tax return can get a $15 credit back. For a family of four, that's $60. Initiative proponents argue that the credit doesn't make up for the real cost of the tax on groceries, which for the same family of four, might total $180 in a year.

True enough, but removing the tax and replacing it with another cent in the overall sales tax hardly seems like an equitable way to go.

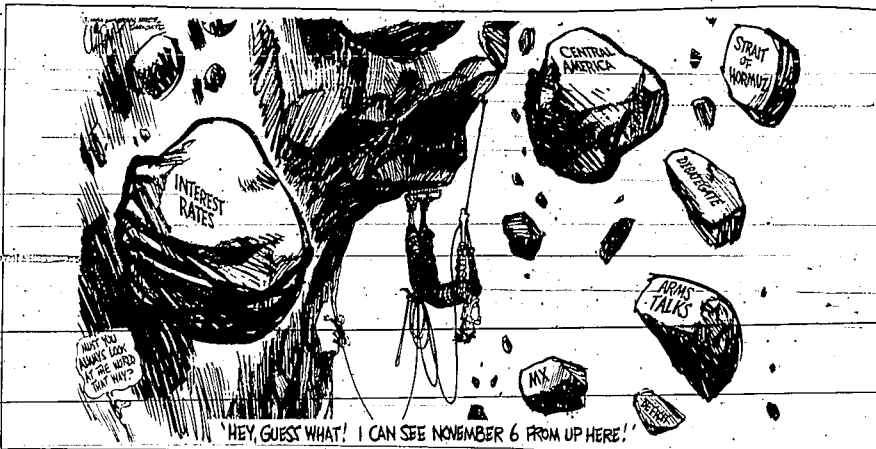

A much better approach, in our view, is for the Legislature to narrow, not expand, the already-too-long list of sales tax exemptions. Today, about two of every three dollars in the state's gross product are exempt from sales taxes at all because they are on services or on sales to groups with special exemptions, including farmers, and we might add, newspapers.

Despite the difficulty in the last session to come up with revenue sources, the Legislature never seriously addressed closing any of those exemptions, although recommendations to do just that came from various study groups.

But that is the way we think the state will need to go to find the revenue to support rising demand. Another exemption to the sales tax will just make it that much harder to do in the long run.

And let's not be fooled into thinking we won't have to pay for the grocery exemption, should initiative get on the ballot and pass. We will. There's no such thing as a free lunch.

Idahoans among extra income leaders

With a restriction looming on outside earnings, Idaho's two U.S. Senators in 1983 showed no signs of reducing their participation in what was once among the most lucrative of moonlighting opportunities.

Sens. James McClure and Steve Symms once again were among the top 20 senators in earnings from the chicken-dinner circuit with 1983 income from honoraria of $56,000 and $37,000 respectively.

But tough times are looming in 1984. As a result of 1983 Senate action, members of the nation's most exclusive club will only be able to supplement their $69,800-a-year salaries from speaking fees by 30 percent, or roughly $30,000.

A year ago, Symms opposed the cap on speaking fees, saying he would have to give resignation "some serious thought" if the cap were not lifted. He later said he wouldn't resign his seat, but nonetheless ryled against the requirement that the moonlighting payments be disclosed.

"It shouldn't be anybody's business how much I get paid outside of my duties in the Senate," he said.

Symms, the state's junior senator, increased his earnings from honoraria by 12 percent in 1983 over 1982, but still fell from 13th to 17th place among the nation's 100 senators in terms of earnings. In 1981, he was the fourth highest paid senator-speaker.

McClure, whose income from honoraria dropped by about $1,000 in 1983, fell from his position among the top 10 senators in earnings from speaking fees to 19th place in 1983. McClure was ninth among U.S. senators in speaking revenues in 1982 and was seventh in that category in 1981.

Common Cause, the self-styled citizens' group that is among the largest spending lobbies on Capitol Hill, led the effort to bring the cap on speaking fees.

"Large sums paid by private interest groups to senators for their personal use dangerously undermine the integrity of the Senate," says Fred Wertliener, president of the organization.

McClure aide Bill Livingstone disagrees with that assessment. If McClure spends 80 to 100 hours a week working as a senator, he should be free to decide how to spend whatever time is left in his week, Livingstone says.

The crux of the issue, Livingstone says, is the inference that receiving speaking fees is paramount to influence peddling.

That is not the case, Livingstone says, citing McClure's now oft-repeated statement that he is not for sale, never has been and never will be.

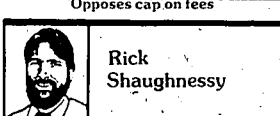

But if he is not peddling his influence, McClure, a conservative policy thinker, nonetheless seems to address and accept speaking payments from those interests that this proposals typically seem to benefit. Perhaps he is not asked to appear before those other, decidedly liberal, interests on the other sides of those same issues.

SEN. STEVE SYMMS
Opposes cap on fees

SEN. JAMES MCCLURE
Oilmen hear him often

Rick Shaughnessy

A case in point is the large number of paid McClure appearances before audiences composed of persons from the oil and gas industry who have an interest in legislation which would affect Idaho's roadless lands-Kyilderness plan, drafted by McClure, avoids wilderness designation for an area within the Overthrust Belt in eastern Idaho—where oil and gas interest is most intense.

McClure has addressed some of the environmentalist or sportsmen's groups who represent the opposing side in the case of this landmark legislation. But none of them have paid him.

Livingstone also says senators' salaries have not kept up with inflation, a situation which makes honoraria vital to many senators, particularly the less affluent ones. More affluent senators are free to make unlimited earnings from stock or other investments, he says.

But apparently, it is not that easy for affluent senators. Symms, who earned his speaking fees from a variety of industry groups and audiences, including commodities trading interests, might have been better off listening than talking. He sustained net losses on the variety of transactions in silver, copper and soybeans he engaged in during 1983.

If they contend that senators' salaries are too low, the two Idaho Republicans have done little to alleviate the situation, beyond supporting unlimited speaking opportunities.

Both have opposed pay increases that would help to restore the spending power eroded by inflation. That position suggests the congressmen believe Americans are unwilling to pay senators and congressmen at a level consistent with their elevated positions, but are not opposed to those same policy makers moonlighting to bring in the necessary cash.

It is likely, despite the cap on speaking fees, that the debate on the issue is far from over.

Letters/Divine intervention helped allow completion of Cassia County diversion

Citizens express gratitude

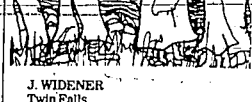

Perhaps only once in a lifetime is one able to experience the total and complete dedication of a community to fulfilling a need or averting a major catastrophe. The citizens of Cassia County were recently faced with threats of impending flood waters from the Oakley reservoir spreading through the city of Oakley and fertile lands leaving in its wake many thousands of acres of inundated ground and possible destruction of homes and buildings—and then continuing on its course through the city of Burley to the Snake River with almost certain severe damage to homes, businesses, schools, hospitals, and other property.

The possibility of tragedy and devastation of this magnitude is foreign to us as citizens of this area. But even so, the likelihood of this phenomenon was real. With the advent of warm weather and a subsequent rapidly rising water level in the Oakley reservoir, time was of essence, cooperation and unselfishness were of paramount importance to prevent a major disaster. Aided by what many feel was Divine intervention in the moderation of the weather to allow a valuable two-days' extension to the estimated time for the water to overflow the spillway, a truly masterful performance took place. The seemingly impossible task of building 42 miles of diversion canal, with the last 23 miles being completed in 3½ days, was accomplished. Without the cooperation and all-out efforts of many people, groups, and companies, failure would have been certain.

- Deep appreciation and heart-felt gratitude are expressed to the following (as well as others who may inadvertently be left off) for their tremendous contributions to a job well done:
- The Army Corps of Engineers
- National Guard
- Construction companies
- Petroleum companies

Individual contributors of light and heavy equipment

Cassia County and City of Burley equipment and personnel
Milner low lift canal
Hundreds of volunteers, working at all hours of the day and night
And most of all to landowners who allowed the construction of the canal through their farms in order to prevent flooding of a far larger number of acres and much greater property damage and loss.
In the words of Sir Winston Churchill, after a heroic effort in World War II — perhaps never in the history of Cassia County have "so many owed so much to so few." A sincere Thank-you to all who contributed.

Too late when it's all gone

The question arises: "How much wilderness is enough?" I say each inch we preserve is of value—but not enough.

A friend once said to me, "If this planet is in fact alive, then we humans may well be a cancer." We humans, the supposed crown of creation or evolution, are out of control. We've become obsessed by our consumption and slaves to our technology. We blunder through life blinded to the wonder and beauty of this good earth just to make a buck. We seem oblivious to the right to existence of the other creatures that share this planet.

I work in the wilderness with youth—who are the victims and orphans of a society that has lost touch with its priorities and is robbing, not only these youth, but all of us of the miracle of being human. The good life is in the full life. In the wilderness you can find yourself—you get a sense of relationships. You can learn far more that is real than you'll ever learn in school or sitting in front of a computer.

Our technological ability is our gift. It is not bad, but we must learn to use it wisely or surely it will destroy us—it already is—mentally, physically and spiritually. Take a look around—every move we make that robs us of that which is natural, which is wild and free enslaves us. We could one day end up like a herd lot full of cattle with about as much spirit and space.

When it's all gone folks—it's too late.

Idaho hospitality praised

We want to let the people of Idaho know that we are very appreciative of the many people (names unknown) who came to our assistance the night of May 24th, 1984. While on vacation from Oregon we became stranded on a desolate stretch between

Jackpot, Nev. and Twin Falls

A young couple passing by were kind enough to relay our distress to your local sheriff's office. Two fine deputies came to our aid, drove to the "Rogerson Place" where a lovely Christian woman got out of her nice warm bed to see us, needed transmission fluid. The deputies returned and waited a few minutes to make sure we were able to get our pickup started and continue on our way home.

Never will we forget the efforts and gracious hospitality of your "Idaho folk."

Good reasons to remember

Usually when you hear from me, I'm usually letting fly at our gifted city council about their intelligent handling of the cruiser "issue" or some other clever blunder that city governments are notorious for, but I'm going to leave them all in peace for now, (I'm sure they're overjoyed!) and leave us with something to think about.

June 6, we marked the 40th anniversary of the Normandy Invasion, a victory for the Allies that helped to bring an end to World War II. While the remembrances were going on, I overheard several times, (unintentionally) the two most often said words of "Who cares?" and "So what?"

It's sad to think that someone thought well enough of me and my friends to die on some faraway beach, just so we could keep the right to gripe at the city council and do what we've all chosen to do.

Maybe we've all heard this little speech but, I hope that we won't forget what others have done for us. It is my hope that the day never comes when someone young says "So what?" about June 6 and other important dates and no one is there to explain what or why we should remember something that happened a long time ago.

Immigration reform offering takes form amid controversy

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats gave notice Thursday they will move ahead with a sweeping immigration reform bill fiercely opposed by Hispanics and tagged a "messy" piece of legislation by Majority Leader Jim Wright.

Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass., said the bill will be taken up on Monday but refused to make any firm predictions about chances for final passage.

He admitted that he was "cool" to the administration-backed legislation, which calls for fines against employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens and would provide amnesty for millions of those who can prove they have been in the country for several years.

"There's a lot of concern out there" about the bill, O'Neill said. "I've not found anyone in my district, except the newspapers, that like the bill."

Backers, such as organized labor, praise the bill as a compromise that will halt the flow of illegal aliens into the American workforce but allow many of those already here the chance to become legal citizens.

Hispanic and civil liberties groups charge the bill would invite wholesale discrimination against minorities by employers fearful of sanctions.

Wright, D-Texas, pointing out that most members of his state delegation objected to some part of the bill, called it a "messy" piece of legislation.

"It's messy because this is a messy issue," he explained. "It's so emotional anything you do to satisfy one faction alienates another."

Wright and O'Neill made their comments after a closed-door meeting of House Democrats. Wright said 140 members, more than half the party membership, attended and that the majority of speakers rose to oppose the bill.

Both acknowledged that an attempt will be made by opponents of the measure to defeat the bill on a technical vote Monday. Neither said they would be "disappointed" if the bill failed to survive.

Two years ago, Hispanic members led by Rep. Edward Roybal, D-Calif., killed the bill by offering dozens of amendments. On Thursday, Roybal pledged to keep up his fight.

He was joined by Rep. Robert Garcia, D-N.Y.

40 senators pressing for nuke ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forty senators served notice Thursday they will press for legislation directing President Reagan to seek an immediate resumption of negotiations with the Soviet Union for a complete ban of nuclear weapons.

The measure, a proposed amendment to a $291 billion defense spending bill, also calls upon Reagan to request Senate ratification of the 1974 Threshold Test Ban Treaty, establishing limits on the magnitude of experimental blasts, and the 1976 Peaceful Nuclear Explosions Treaty.

"We believe that a comprehensive test ban treaty is readily attainable and readily verifiable," said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. "It is an important first step toward a complete freeze on the nuclear arms race. It will halt the race toward ever more dangerous, ever more potent and ever more accurate nuclear warheads.

Republican Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr. of Maryland agreed, saying, "If there is anything I would like to do with my life, I want to make sure that never again will anyone on this earth experience the effects of a nuclear blast."

Kennedy and Mathias were joined by 30 Democrats and eight Republicans in sponsoring the amendment.

Tax bill addresses deficits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators representing the Senate and House reached agreement Thursday on about $1 billion worth of miscellaneous tax increases that are part of a package designed to reduce the federal deficit.

The action increased to about $34 billion the size of the tax increases on which the panel has agreed — more than two-thirds of the three-year goal of $50 billion. Of the 282 provisions that were in dispute when the negotiations began Wednesday, 112 of those on which there has been the least disagreement have been settled.

Among items still in dispute are taxes on liquor, cigarettes and employee fringe benefits; several provisions aimed at reducing accounting abuses; restrictions on tax benefits associated with luxury cars and real estate and a crackdown on private commercial use of tax-free industrial development bonds.

Attached to the bill is an array of provisions granting tax reductions for certain groups of taxpayers.

Among provisions approved Thursday were those to:

- Repeat a reduced tax rate on the first $30,000 of taxable income earned by corporations with income above $1 million a year. The reduced rate would remain available for firms with less than $1 million. This would increase taxes by $657 million through 1987.
- Increase the interest rate charged for underpayment of tax due to investment in tax shelters that the Internal Revenue Service considers abusive. The IRS would have to pay the higher rate if it is found to be wrong in a shelter case.
- Prevent employees who worked only briefly on the Trans-Alaska Pipeline from obtaining a share of the pensions that were set aside for long-term employees of the project.
- Grant a tax break to Californians whose homes were so damaged by mud slides in 1982 that they were required for safety reasons to demolish or relocate them. This provision would permit such people to deduct the loss just as if the homes had been destroyed. This would cost $52 million through 1987.
- Permit a medical expense deduction for lodging costs associated with obtaining medical treatment from an out-of-town doctor or out-patient clinic. The allowable expense could not exceed $50 a day per person. A parent, for example, could claim the deduction for staying in a motel while a child was being treated, each could claim up to $50 a day.

Watt's long gone, Beach Boys stay

WASHINGTON (AP) — After being banned by former Interior Secretary James Watt as "attracting the wrong element," the Beach Boys are returning to headline this year's Fourth of July celebration in the nation's capital.

"We have a very interesting program for the Fourth," William Clark, Watt's successor as interior secretary, told a U.S. Chamber of Commerce breakfast audience Thursday. "We have the Beach Boys and five or six other artists, primarily country singers, who will be on the Mall."

Clark said the show is still "provisioned upon when we get the contracts in," but National Park Service officials said the popular California rock group has agreed to do an early-afternoon show.

Military's invasion triggering violence

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The bloody military invasion of the sacred Golden Temple in Amritsar and the death of radical Sikh leader Jarnail Singh Bhindranwale touched off a string of violent protests and attacks Thursday.

The violence reportedly killed 22 people and injured scores. Sikhs in New Delhi and elsewhere in northern India vowed to avenge the army assault Wednesday night on the 17th-century temple complex, holiest shrine in the Sikh faith.

Bhindranwale, accused masterminding a two-year reign of terror by Sikh assassins, was found dead in his study, reportedly killed with 72 bullets — after the onslaught Wednesday night.

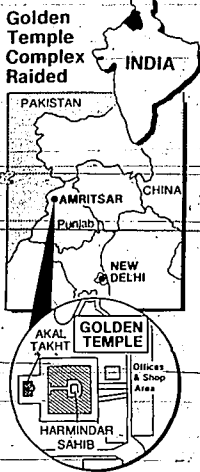

More than 250 Sikh militants and 59 soldiers were killed when a battalion of troops, backed by tank and rocket fire, invaded the fortified complex Wednesday night after a three-day firefight. The government said 450 extremists were captured.

At least 22 people were killed Thursday in Sikh protests and terrorist attacks sparked by the assault, according to reports from the northern states.

Sikh mobs went on a burning and looting spree in Srinagar, summer capital of Kashmir state, and police shot four of the protesters, the United News of India said.

Five more people killed in Srinagar in a clash between Sikhs and followers of the dissident Nirankari sect, the agency said, quoting official reports.

Government forces killed six Sikh demonstrators in Punjab's Ludhiana district, and Sikhs hacked five people to death in a village southeast of Amritsar and gunned down a shopkeeper in Ludhiana, UNI said.

In New Delhi, one young Sikh was killed when police opened fire on a brick-throwing crowd at the capital's biggest Sikh shrine, authorities said. Seventy-two policemen were injured. Police Commissioner Subash Tandon said.

Paramilitary forces were deployed in Srinagar and Jammu city to the south, the state government said.

Soviets say dissident Sakharov remains alive

LONDON (AP) — The United States has been told through official channels that Soviet dissident Andrei Sakharov is "OK," a senior administration official said Thursday.

The official also said the United States believes from unofficial reports that Sakharov's wife, Yelena Bonner, is not "in a life-threatening situation." She has been seen from a distance and appeared to be all right, said the official, who asked not to be identified by name.

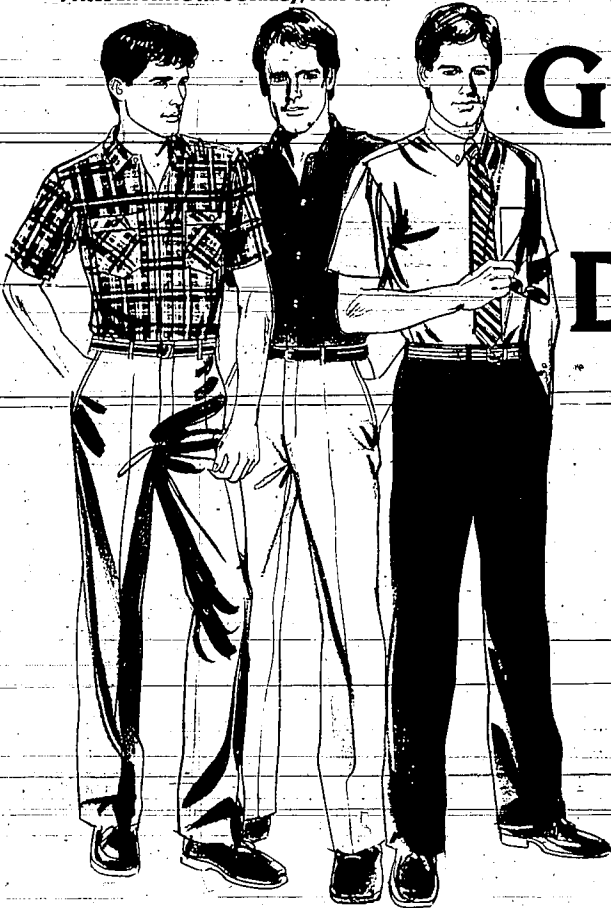

Earlier, another U.S. official said the administration is in "quiet" contact with Soviet authorities over the fate of Sakharov, winner of the 1975 Nobel Peace Prize.

Friends have said Sakharov is in failing health in Gorky, a closed industrial city 250 miles from Moscow, where he has been living in exile since 1980.

Rebel group expands

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — The largest of five guerrilla groups battling the U.S.-backed government announced Thursday it had expanded its command structure to absorb the "massive incorporation" of new fighters.

The statement from the People's Revolutionary Army, known by its Spanish initials ERP, did not list a key commander, Juan Ramon Medrano, prompting speculation that he may have been purged from the high command.

Medrano, who helped found the ERP in 1972, was considered by U.S. intelligence sources the second in command of the rebel organization.

He had been commander of the ERP's southeastern front in the provinces of Usulután, San Miguel and La Unión, where he became known as the "swamp fox" because of ability to strike and then disappear into the marshy lowland.

The 4,000 fighters of the ERP, led by Joaquin Villalobos, have a reputation for being the most aggressive. They control a large section of eastern El Salvador.

The statement, read over the rebels' clandestine Radio Venceremos, said successful "organization work" had enabled the ERP to achieve "the massive incorporation of new combatants into the revolutionary army."

Italian leader on critical list

PADUA, Italy (AP) — Enrico Berlinguer, leader of the Italian Communist Party, suffered a cerebral hemorrhage while delivering a political speech in this northern city Thursday night, hospital authorities reported.

A party spokesman said his condition was critical.

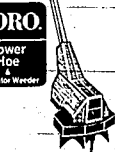

A medical statement issued by Padua hospital officials said Berlinguer, 62, was being taken in for emergency surgery, but did not specify his condition. Communist Party spokesman Antonio Talo told reporters it was "very grave."

The Italian Communist Party is the largest in the West and has run just a few percentage points behind the dominant Christian Democrats in recent elections.

Berlinguer was delivering a campaign speech in connection with the June 17 elections for the European Parliament, the legislature of the European Common Market.

Group pans food-tax repeal

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — Fearing property owners will be forced to make up the loss, the Idaho Property Owners Association is opposing an initiative petition drive to repeal the sales tax on groceries. "I have a lot of problems with that," President Al Brewster said of the initiative, sponsored by Idaho Fair Share and the Idaho Hunger Action Council. "The out-of-state sales would be lost. In Idaho, being a tourist state, we've got a problem with losing that tax." Instead of outright repeal, Brewster called for expansion of the current income tax credit that's intended to offset sales tax on food. The petition backers, claiming the tax is unfair to needy Idahoans, has more than half the signatures needed to place the proposition before voters this fall.

Mud Lake level rises again

TERRETON (AP) — After a period of stable water levels, Mud Lake has begun rising again, and flood control officials expect it to hit the critical 10-foot level within a few days. Elsewhere in eastern Idaho, however, most rivers and creeks appeared headed toward cresting this weekend now that persistent rainfall over the region has eased up. There's not much precipitation forecast for tonight and tomorrow, National Weather Service spokesman Bob Glodo said Thursday, "which means they may be near a crest."

Judges don't have to explain

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Supreme Court says it wants all state judges to know that they don't have to give reasons why they pronounced criminal sentences. It's desirable but not mandatory, the court said Wednesday in a 3-2 decision. The ruling specifically repealed all previous rulings in the area. The ruling came in a Bear Lake County case. David Lamar Nield was sentenced to up to 10 years in prison for sexually assaulting a 10-year-old girl. The late Francis Rasmussen, 6th District Judge, sentenced Nield. On appeal, Nield contended Idaho laws require judges to specifically state their reason for passing sentence. The Court of Appeals upheld the sentence, saying that Rasmussen's oral statements, made at the time of sentencing, satisfied that requirement.

Man injured in fall from cliff

BRUNEAU (AP) — A Boise man was hospitalized in stable condition after falling from a cliff near Indian Bathbuds, officials said. The incident occurred Wednesday night, the Owyhee County Sheriff's office said. Raymond Watson, 34, was flown by helicopter to St. Alphonsus Regional Medical Center in Boise. He underwent surgery for internal injuries during the night for internal injuries, a nursing supervisor said. Meanwhile, the Owyhee County Sheriff's office was continuing its investigation of the accident. A search for a possible second victim was called off late Wednesday night because of the rain and dark. On Thursday, the sheriff's office said it doesn't believe the second person who may have been involved is there, and the search won't be resumed.

Court closes remap case, awards fees

BOISE (AP) — The state of Idaho has won a round and lost a round in the wrap-up of a long-running legal battle over redistricting. The Idaho Supreme Court has officially closed the case that resulted in a new plan for this year's legislative election. But in an order signed Wednesday afternoon, the court approved another $3,250 in attorney fees and costs for two Coeur d'Alene attorneys who successfully challenged the Legislature's 1982 redistricting plan. In a related development, U.S. District Judge Ray McNichols refused to award fees in a federal court lawsuit over the same plan. McNichols ruled that northern Idaho residents failed to show that the state's redistricting lawsuit was "frivolous, unreasonable or groundless" and no fees would be awarded. Coeur d'Alene attorneys Ray Givens and William W. Nixon filed a lawsuit on behalf of several northern Idaho residents. They claimed the 1982 redistricting plan was improper because it violated the Idaho Constitution.

In a series of rulings, 1st District Judge Dar Cogswell and later the Idaho Supreme Court agreed. The result was the plan being used for this year's legislative election. It expands the Idaho House by 14 members, to 84 seats, and adds 7 members to the Senate, making a total of 42. The $3,250 awarded Wednesday afternoon included $5,000 in attorney fees for Givens, $250 in costs and $3,000 in fees for Nixon. The attorneys asked a total of $13,471. Still in court is an award of about $100,000, which went to Nixon and Givens because their clients won the earlier rounds. The state Board of Examiners approved the claim, and asked the Legislature to pay the bill. But at the urging of Sen. James Risch, R-Boise, Senate president pro tem, the Legislature refused to appropriate money to pay the legal bill. That means interest at 18 percent, or about $54 per day, has been adding to the bill.

State certifies primary; no surprises emerging

BOISE (AP) — Secretary of State Pete Cenarrusa has two words to sum up the official results of Idaho's May 22 primary election: "No surprises." Cenarrusa and the two other members of the State Board of Canvassers met briefly Thursday afternoon to accept county voting reports from the primary. There were no changes from the unofficial results reported election night. This time Cenarrusa had no surprises. The turnout was 34.1 percent, as 178,917 Idahoans voted. The vote in the presidential primary was 160,409, lowest in the three times

Idaho has held a presidential primary. The turnout in the 2nd Congressional District was much better than in the 1st District, 36.5 percent to 31.8. Cenarrusa said that was probably due to the George Hansen-Dan Adamson battle for the GOP congressional nomination. Lowest turnout was reported from Clearwater County, which had just over 19 percent of its 5,424 registered voters turn out. The best performance was in Butte County, where 47.8 percent voted, or just over 61 percent.

Judge bans Ada County youth jailing

BOISE (AP) — U.S. District Judge Ray McNichols has signed an order temporarily banning the jailing of most juveniles in the Ada County Jail. The order will remain in effect until after McNichols hears arguments on a lawsuit seeking a permanent ban on the practice. But the order signed Thursday afternoon will have little practical effect. Ada County Sheriff F.C. "Chuck" Palmer last month ordered an end to the practice. The order came in a lawsuit filed on behalf of four Ada County juveniles, seeking to end that the lawsuit termed the holding of juveniles in "illegal, deplorable and life-threatening" conditions. A California-based law center that acts on behalf of juveniles filed the lawsuit in January of 1983. It seeks a ruling that most juveniles shouldn't be held in the Ada County jail, but should be kept in separate juvenile detention facilities. The lawsuit also asks $150,000 damages for a Boise youth, Rick Yelland Jr. He claims he was put in an unsupervised cell with four other juveniles. Yelland, who was 17 at the time the suit was filed, claimed he suffered permanent injuries when his cellmates beat him over a period of several hours. The four juveniles involved were the ones charged with the beating/torture death of Christopher Peterman. The 17-year-old Nampa youth, jailed for refusing to pay $73 in court fines and penalties, died on Memorial Day, 1982, less than two weeks after the incident that's the basis for the Yelland claim.

Senate panel OKs nuclear research

BOISE (AP) — A Senate committee has voted to assure future funding for a nuclear reactor safety research project in Idaho. Sen. James McClure said Thursday action by the Appropriations Committee will guarantee future funding for research at the Power Burst Facility at the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory.

Idaho arts funded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Idaho Commission on the Arts has been awarded a $339,800 federal grant, the state's congressional delegation announced. The grant was awarded Thursday by the National Endowment for the Arts.

Wall Street ends day mixed

By CHET CURRIER AP Business Writer

NEW YORK — The stock market closed mixed Thursday as traders awaited new signs of the future direction of interest rates.

But analysts said high interest rates looked as a threat to the continuation of the market's recent rally. Rates rose in the bond and short-term money markets Tuesday and Wednesday.

quartermly dividend from 15 to 20 cents a share. Airline stocks were weak, apparently because of fears of new fare-cutting competition in the industry.

Mortgage rates climb higher

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mortgage rates continued their upward climb last month with conventional fixed-rate loans hitting 14.34 percent, the third straight increase, the government reported Thursday.

The new rate was up from 14.12 percent in April, the first month that the average mortgage rate for a new home had been above 14 percent since last October.

UAW chief nearer seat on Chrysler board

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Chrysler Corp. Chairman Lee Iacocca said Thursday the workday would feel comfortable with United Auto Workers union President Owen Bleber on Chrysler's board of directors.

Bleber has been seeking the board seat that was officially vacated Thursday by former UAW President Douglas Fraser.

Kennecott slashes vacations

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Uncertainty about future operations and unexpected retirements have prompted Kennecott to cancel vacations this year for hourly and salaried employees at its Utah Copper Division, a company official says.

Hochstetler said the company believed an increasing, but unspecified, number of workers had decided to take retirement at the end of this month because they were concerned they may not receive the same benefits if unions decide to renegotiate contracts.

Sunshine gives boost to area

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Investments by Sunshine Mining Co. in the development of the East Tintle Mining District should boost the region's minerals industry, an over-the-counter firm says.

Thomas A. Henry, president of Salt Lake City's South Standard Mining Co., said Wednesday-Sunshine's infusion of money and commitment to the Juab County mining district justified Sunshine's merger last year with Eureka Standard Consolidated Mining Co.

Soviets set visit to Portland

PORTLAND (AP) — A contingent of Soviet trade leaders will visit Oregon for a conference in mid-October, a Portland business leader says.

Alan L. Cole, chairman of the Chkalov Transport Monument Committee, said he encountered "a receptive attitude and encouraging progress" when committee members proposed the conference to the Soviet minister of trade, Eksterny.

Airline tests games aloft

CHICAGO (AP) — United Airlines will begin testing computer games in the sky Saturday, when its first game-equipped jetliner leaves San Francisco for San Diego, the airline announced.

Game computers have been installed in 122 seats by the airline, which is determining whether to provide them throughout its 329-plane fleet, said Donald C. Moonjian, vice president for market management.

"We will follow passenger reaction with avid interest for the next several months and then make a decision on whether to proceed with the concept," he said.

The computers, complete with small video display tubes, are called "Airplay." They were developed by Altus-Corp. of San Jose, Calif.

Announcing a drastic reduction on the Apple IIe.

Now the world's most popular personal computer comes in a new size: extra small.

Introducing the Apple IIe Personal Computer. It's a serious computer about as big as a notebook. By serious, we mean 128K RAM, a full-size keyboard, and all the reliability of the Apple IIe.

It can run literally thousands of the same programs for business, education, home management, and just plain fun.

Its sleek 2 1/2" pound body houses a built-in disk drive and built-in electronics for printers and modems.

And the IIe comes with everything you need to start computing, including an RF modulator that turns your TV into a monitor, a power pack and a free 4-disk tutorial.

Of course, there are still lots of reasons to take home an Apple IIe. Like its ability to grow with more peripherals and accessories than any other computer in the world.

Our professional sales staff will help you make the right choice.

They'll also help you apply for an Apple Credit Card. If you qualify, you can take either Apple IIe home for as little as 10% down!

Ephraim Swann, 60, ponders testimony during a hearing in his appeal of a decision to end his teaching contract

Teacher defends against dismissal

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

JEROME — Ephraim Swann — a Jerome High School geology teacher whose contract was not renewed — says his problems with the school administration began about three years ago when tax officials began probing his income.

A two-part hearing for Swann, who was advised of his dismissal two weeks ago, concluded late Thursday night. The first phase of the hearing was held Wednesday night and revolved around charges of moral turpitude stemming from his criminal conviction for failing to file state income-tax returns.

Thursday night, testimony presented centered on charges by school officials that Swann has failed — while on probation for the past year — to control his students and has allowed damage to his classroom and equipment.

Fred Decker, a Twin Falls attorney, is acting as hearing officer with Jerome attorney Rob Williams representing the school district and Swann serving as his own legal representative.

Williams called eight witnesses, including Jerome High School Principal Gerald Diehl and Superintendent Stephenson Youngerman, to testify on warnings issued to Swann, his formal evaluations and the district's probation action. All who testified indicated that Swann's classrooms were poorly kept and required higher-than-normal maintenance costs.

Another witness, William Kersey — a substitute teacher who supervised Swann's class — said he believed "the students were in control" of the class.

In his own behalf, Swann alleged the district is "trying to oust him because of his differences in opinion with federal and state taxing agencies."

After IRS officials visited the high school principal, Swann said, "He (Diehl) told me I would never again teach government classes, and I haven't."

Swann formerly taught government and history classes to Jerome students. Regarding allegations about classroom-control and conditions, Swann claimed the school furnishes little of the equipment. Some is donated, some is his own and some is brought by students, he said. Consequently, most is not the heavy-duty equipment needed for constant classroom use, he said.

Swann also argued that the wide range of student-competency levels, and the varied work geology classes involve, make normal supervisory difficult.

Decker said no decision on the dismissal will be made until both sides have filed briefs and he has completed a recommendation to the school board.

Head Start gets big boost

Expands to 58 more families

By ANNETTE CARY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Head Start will serve 58 more families in the coming year after winning a $108,800 federal grant this week.

The Magic Valley organization was awarded nearly a third of the money appropriated in Idaho. The award was based on the ability to stretch the money to serve the most children and having a family-based program, says local Head Start Director Donna Suhr.

She plans to use the money to hire seven new instructors and add classes in Twin Falls, in Jerome or Wendell children, and in either Burley or Rupert, she says. With some juggling of times, the classes can be held in space that Head Start already uses.

Classes will not begin until mid-September, but the group already has a backlog of about 350 children waiting to enter the program. Even with the grant, the agency only has space for 238 children, Suhr says.

The money can legally be used for two years to help new, four- and five-year-old handicapped children or those from families living below the poverty level. But because of the demand in the Magic Valley for the program, Suhr says she is limiting enrollment to one year and to children just about to start school.

The waiting list is the result of a strong recruiting effort on the part of local Head Start officials, she says. Since the Magic Valley has only had the money to help 15 percent of the youngsters who qualify, Suhr says she looks for the neediest cases. Often they are the ones whose parents need to be coaxed into the program, not those who are eager to apply, she says.

Nationally, Head Start emphasizes helping the family as well as the child. • See GRANT on Page B2

'Gleaners' harvest for needy people

TWIN FALLS — Gleaning teams are organizing in the Magic Valley for another season of harvesting surplus fruits and vegetables for low-income people.

"The gleaners are volunteers who harvest surplus fresh fruits and vegetables left in orchards, fields, or small gardens after the regular harvest," says Cyd Dillon of the South Central Community Action Agency.

"The gleaner-picks out a partner, usually a senior citizen or handicapped person, and shares the food that he has gleaned with his partner," says Carol Killeit of the Community Action Agency.

If there is any food left after the sharing between the gleaner and his partner, the Community Action Agency distributes it to other needy people around the Magic Valley," adds Killeit.

With programs in the Twin Falls, Burley and Jerome areas, 63 gleaners last year picked about $12,000 worth of fruits, potatoes, beans, peas, and other vegetables out of cooperating farmers' fields, says Killeit.

"Farmers around the valley have really cooperated well with us," notes Dillon, "as long as we pick where and when we're supposed to pick, they're more than willing to let us do this."

In organizational meetings so far this year, the Community Action Agency has enlisted about 20 gleaners, "but we hope to get as many gleaners as we possibly can," says Dillon.

To sign up as a gleaner or to allow gleaners to harvest your surplus fruits and vegetables this summer, call Cyd Dillon in Twin Falls at 733-9351. Mary Lee Pfeiffer in Jerome at 264-8556, or Candl Brady in Burley at 678-3514.

Would-be kidnapper of governor's son asks cut in jail time

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — "Cloak and dagger and paramilitary fantasies" held Bryan Spurgeon during a crime spree with two other men that ended with the attempted kidnaping of Gov. John Evans' son on May 15, 1981, in Burley.

Now that the publicity surrounding the case has diminished, the 15-year prison sentences Spurgeon received should be reduced or again reviewed, his attorney urged the Court of Appeals Thursday in Twin Falls. The appeal was taken under advisement.

"The publicity generated by the case pressured the Fifth District Court to make an example of Bryan," said Donald Chisholm of Burley Spurgeon's court-appointed attorney

Chisholm said the 23-year-old had been a likeable high school graduate with a few traffic violations on his record and a promising future in the military. Spurgeon's inability to separate fantasy from the reality of the consequences of his actions, however, led to his downfall, Chisholm said. In addition, Spurgeon had adopted an extravagant lifestyle that led him into tough financial straits, he said.

"Bryan really was a delayed juvenile delinquent. There was no reason why he should have been sentenced to 15 years in prison."

Chisholm then requested the judges reduce the sentences to 10 years, which would amply serve the needs of society, he said. The alternative was to remand the case back to district court so it can "disregard the notoriety" for a "more cool dispatched" review of the sentences.

Opponent attorney Steve Berenter of the state Attorney General's office claimed the long sentence was justified. Clear reasons hadn't been provided for relief, he added.

Berenter argued that Spurgeon not only was the one who held a gun during the aborted kidnaping and other crimes, but probably initiated the activities.

Spurgeon already had received leniency, Berenter said. The sentences for the crimes, which included two armed robberies, were running at the same time and he had received less than the maximum of life in prison.

Because the sentences were not fixed at 15 years, Spurgeon was eligible for parole in about two years, Berenter added.

"Though the state recognized Spurgeon was a young man, his serious actions had permanently altered those he victimized, Berenter said.

The sentences should be affirmed as a deterrent to others and Spurgeon, who previously testified that he thought he'd go unpunished, Berenter said.

Spurgeon, 23-year-old Russell Piper and 23-year-old Charles Lopez are currently held by friends and their Burley neighbors as likeable men. Those same people also expressed shock at their arrest for the thwarted attempt to hold John Evans Jr., a Burley bank manager, for ransom at his home outside Burley. The plan was aborted when a then-pregnant Mrs. Evans climbed out the back window and summoned help.

Each will appeal next Friday in Fifth District Court in Burley for a hearing on a request for a reduction in his sentences. Lopez unsuccessfully had sought relief earlier from the Court of Appeals.

Piper was later transferred to Cassia County Jail, where he is being held until February, according to county authorities. His sentences were commuted to jail time because he claimed he was frequently abused by homosexuals in prison.

Lopez will appeal next Friday in Fifth District Court in Burley for a hearing on a request for a reduction in his sentences. Lopez unsuccessfully had sought relief earlier from the Court of Appeals.

Lewd conduct charged

JEROME — A 38-year-old Jerome man was arraigned Thursday afternoon on charges of lewd conduct with a minor child and remanded to the Jerome County jail in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Robert Cahala of Route 6, Jerome, was arrested Tuesday morning on a charge involving incidents alleged to have occurred in September 1982. The lewd conduct charge involves a young girl who was 12 years old then and aided in this crime.

Fifth District Magistrate Roger Burdick approved a request from the defendant for public defender services. Burdick said in addition to information on the application for the public defender services, Cahala had also applied to the county for assistance as a mediator.

Sgt. Larry Gold of the Jerome Police Department, who also has been serving as community diversion coordinator, brought the charges against Cahala. He said the incidents were first reported by the victim to the Department of Health and Welfare and the young girl was removed from the Cahala home some time ago.

Burdick declined to reduce bond, however, after Cahala said he has an 11-year-old girl and a 7-year-old boy, members of his family, now living in his home.

Burdick said a preliminary hearing date will be set and he will reconsider bond after Cahala has had an opportunity to confer with the public defender.

Prosecuting Attorney Darnis Adamson announced he will disqualify himself when the case resumes, because his office was involved in a bankruptcy proceeding for Cahala recently. He asked that a special prosecutor be named to handle the case.

Democrats regroup for GOP assault

By RICH SHAUGHNESSY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Undaunted by past failures, a group of what appears to be energetic and optimistic Twin Falls County Democrats is working to bring an end to Republican domination in county politics.

It is a task for which much optimism is required. It's been more than 40 years since a Twin Falls County Democrat held a seat in the Idaho Legislature. And while Democratic successes in county government positions are not unheard of, they are rare.

Laura Miller, the new chairwoman of the Twin Falls Democratic Party, says she's hoping to use the strong participation at the recent county caucus as a starting point for getting area Democrats involved in the county organization.

"The fact there was a contest brought people out," she said of the presidential race between

Walter Mondale, Gary Hart and Jesse Jackson that provided the caucus. "The best thing I can do is to keep the people who showed up for the party caucus and give them all something worthwhile to do," she says.

As for attracting voters to the Democratic candidates in November, Miller says the Republican Party is in many ways aiding the Democrats. "The Republicans have some embarrassments in office," she says, referring to U.S. Rep. George Hansen and Speaker of the House Tom Silvers. She says those two candidates' opponents — Richard Stallings, a professor at Rich College, and Lee Wilson, a Kimberly teacher — offer voters more qualified and reasonable candidates.

Among the party's new blood that hopes to mobilize support for those candidates is its second in command, Laura Morgan-Renk. She has been active in the party only since March and was elected an officer in the party because of her willingness to work, she says.

She crosses optimism on the possibility of Democratic victories in Twin Falls. "This year we're going for it. This year it's going to be OK to be a Democrat," she says.

"I think every voter is an independent thinker," she says, adding that there are voters in the county who may have leaned Republican in the past who may want to side with the Democrats in 1984. "By and large, if you talk to the guy on the tractor or the guy in the food processing plant, he or she is concerned... they're going to get to the polls."

Morgan-Renk adds that she thinks those voters are "embarrassed and discouraged" with the leadership shown by President Reagan over the last four years.

Both of the new party officials are hesitant to discuss their strategies for succeeding with voters where the party has failed in the past. It appears they are hoping to mobilize at the neighborhood level both party faithful and those who lean Democratic. It is also likely they will seek strong voter turnout in November.

Hospital selects 'hostess' in plan to attract more business

By ANNETTE CARY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Regional Medical Center is adding a patient advocate to its effort to compete for fewer available health care dollars.

The new advocate, Pat Woods, will spend a good deal of her time visiting with patients and their families to try to give the institution the more intimate flavor of smaller hospitals.

"The new position comes at a time when administrative vacancies are not being filled, because the hospital, like many in the nation, is treating fewer patients. Vacant personnel director and volunteer director positions are not being filled, but the hospital managers did

"Studies show that if a patient is satisfied with his care, he tells three friends. But if he is dissatisfied, he tells 11 people."

—Hospital official

think a patient advocate would create enough public good will to attract more patients. "Studies show that if a patient is satisfied with his care, he tells three friends," says publicist Sue Summers. "But if he is dissatisfied, he tells 11 people."

Woods, a registered nurse with the hospital for more than two decades, describes the job she began this week as "just being a good hostess."

She is also available to talk to the families of patients who are brought into the emergency room in critical condition. The hospital has designated a "quiet room," where she can take the families during a crisis to calm them and offer support.

But much of her time is spent chatting with patients and their families brought in under less traumatic conditions. She stops by the patients' rooms in the mornings to say hello and introduce herself if the patient is new. Usually, the patients speak right up about any worries or concerns after a cheerful hello and inquiry about how they slept, she says.

All patients entering the hospital are frightened or apprehensive about what is going to happen to them, she says. She may help by explaining procedures or looking into questions about billing, she says.

Complaints that a patient was taken to X-ray twice in a space of a few hours are typical, Woods says. The patients need someone to tell them what is going on and when after the chemical has worn away, a few hours later.

"With the economy the way it is, the staff is monitored closely," Woods says. "They can't sit at the bedside and just talk like when I started out at the hospital. The staff is busier with more complicated equipment, but they still need time for the basics, which is tender loving care. That's what I do."

The hospital has put large phone listings across each patient telephone, listing the number of a hotline answered by Woods. Patients aren't used to the hotline yet, but she has gotten a few calls this week asking for her help with problems or complimenting the hospital.

The most common comment is surprise that the service is good. Woods says, after publicity about the hospital cutting back on staff.

Water filing fee hiked $100

By BOB FREUND
Times-News writer

BOISE — The state filing fee for claiming a water right will double from $100 to $200 on July 1, the Idaho Department of Water Resources has announced.

The hike will affect large numbers of farmers, businesses, industries and other water users who have not yet claimed water rights under a 1978 state law, said A. Kenneth Dunn, director of the state department.

"If the rights are not recorded, the users could lose all claim to the water they are using to irrigate crops or to run their businesses, he warned.

The agency now estimates that about 9,000 of 34,000 users holding "grandfathered" claims — automatic rights — have recorded them, said Dave Tutthill, supervisor for the water allocation section. They represent people who were using groundwater before March 25, 1963, and those using surface water before May 20, 1971.

But to keep the automatic rights, the users with grandfathered claims must make separate claims for their original uses and for any expansions of the uses by June 30, 1985. If they don't claim them by that date, the state can cancel their water rights, according to the 1978 law.

"We are still certain that many water users do not have all of their water rights fully recorded," said department director Dunn.

"Another 26,000 current users, who started tapping water sources after the 1963 and 1971 dates, must apply for state permission to hold the rights, Tutthill said.

The state agency currently is not granting any applications for consumptive uses of water because of the controversy over subordination of water rights at Swan Falls, he said.

However, water users who apply for the rights will have a better chance of securing them when the subordination question is settled, Tutthill said. Water rights will be distributed on a first-come, first-served basis.

The filing fee was $30 from 1978 through June 30, 1983. It will be $100 until June 30 and will rise to $200 on July 1.

The fees, set in the 1978 law, were gradually increased by the state Legislature to prompt water users to file their claims, he said.

The law imposed filing requirements to give the agency better data for managing water supplies, Dunn said.

Water rights can be claimed at department offices in Twin Falls, Boise and Idaho Falls in southern Idaho.

Tisdale seeks sentence reduction

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — For the second time Charles Tisdale sought a reduction of the 10-year prison sentence he received for the 1973 shooting of a Boise man in Twin Falls County.

Tisdale's attorney, Jon Shindurling, presented his case to the Court of Appeals Thursday during its session in Twin Falls. The judges will issue a written decision at a later date. The court previously had remanded Tisdale's appeal for relief back to a Twin Falls district court for review. It had found the lower court judge failed to provide adequate reasons for the original sentence on the voluntary manslaughter conviction. Fifth District Judge Theron Ward, however, imposed the sentence in 1983. Ward's decision was under appeal Thursday.

Tisdale originally had been charged with first-degree murder in connection with the death of David William Nylander. He pleaded guilty to the reduced charge of manslaughter in a plea agreement.

The shooting occurred the night of Jan. 18, 1979, when Tisdale, a former Salt Lake City resident, found his ex-wife sitting in a car with Nylander. Nylander died at the scene of a single gunshot wound to the neck.

Shindurling questioned Ward's attitude that the shooting was "cold-blooded." He said the judge had based the second ruling on a statement made by an ambulance attendant who quoted Tisdale as saying, "I did it. He was assaulting my wife, so I blew the son-of-a-bitch away."

Other evidence that proved the contrary, however, had been ignored, Shindurling said.

For instance, Tisdale had stated he saw his wife and Nylander "struggling" and picked up the gun in defense of his wife. When Tisdale approached Nylander sitting in the car, the man pulled on his coat and the gun discharged, Shindurling said.

"The man definitely should not have had a gun. But there was no evidence to show premeditation," Shindurling said.

This wasn't a case where a lengthy prison sentence would be a deterrent, he said.

Steve Berenter of the Attorney General's office opposed any reduction in the sentence. He said Ward had not cited the sentence at 10 years as requested by the prosecution. As a result, Tisdale would be eligible for parole after serving a third of the sentence.

The case was alcohol-related, Berenter said. Earlier in the hearing, Shindurling said Tisdale had "conquered his drinking problem."

It's healthy for the children to see that studying and working toward goals are important, Suh says. And maybe it's a lesson that the child and the parents will hold long after Head Start moves on to another group of children.

"Helping the parents is certainly as important as the child's gains," Suh says. "Those are easy. You'd have to shut a 4-year-old in a cardboard box to keep him from learning. But the other part, self-esteem, is trickier."

Although the average child can raise his score on academic tests after eight months in the program, the score starts to fall again 3 to 5 years later without help from parents, Suh says.

Head Start instructors try to teach the adults how to be better parents while the children are learning basic academic skills they will need in school. The parents' lessons include nutrition, communicating with their child and developing the confidence to teach their children simple skills and facts about the world around them.

But the Head Start here goes a step further and spends 30 percent more time with the parents to improve their self-esteem.

"They need a healthy self-concept before they can learn to help develop the child's self-esteem," Suh says.

One way to gain it is by helping the parents set goals and work toward them, she says. Last year 15 percent of the parents with children in Head Start earned high school graduation

Briefly

Enrollment open for classes

TWIN FALLS — Three college courses being offered in the Magic Valley by Idaho State University this summer are still open for enrollment, says Marjorie Slotten, coordinator of the ISU Resident Center in Twin Falls.

One course, Idaho and the Pacific Northwest, will meet from June 11-29 and feature lectures and field trips, says Slotten. This three-credit Idaho history course will cost $142.50 for undergraduates and $130.50 for graduates.

The geology of south-central Idaho, a two-credit class, will meet from June 25 to July 16 and also will use lectures and field trips. Cost for this course is $85 for undergraduates and $127 for graduates, Slotten says.

A "three-credit" graduate class, the management of athletics, will be offered each Tuesday in July from 5-10 p.m., says Slotten, and the cost is $100.50. In an effort to get senior citizens involved in ISU, any person more than 60 years old may take any number of ISU classes per semester for the total cost of $5, says Slotten.

People wishing to enroll in these courses should register as soon as possible at the ISU Resident Center, 140 Second St. E. in Twin Falls, or call Slotten at 734-4478.

Graduate reading program set

TWIN FALLS — The College of Idaho will hold a class titled "Teaching Reading in the Content Area" July 16-20 at Twin Falls High School.

Karen Freley will be the teacher for the class offered for three graduate credits. Cost is $228.

Only the first 25 students registering will be accepted. To register, call Helen Washburn at the College of Idaho, 459-3211, or Nancy Bragg at the Jerome school district office, 224-3382.

Inmate's trial on rape begins

TWIN FALLS — A state prison inmate will go to trial Tuesday in Fifth District Court for the alleged rape of a Twin Falls woman last fall.

Richard Ray Bradley, 34, has been accused of raping the woman Nov. 17 at her apartment on Third Avenue West. The incident took place while Bradley was out on bond awaiting sentencing on a rape charge in Ada County, according to a complaint filed with the court.

Bradley was arraigned on the Twin Falls County charge while he was serving a term in the prison for attempted rape in the Boise case.

Defense motions to suppress some evidence at the trial were denied after a Monday hearing before Judge Daniel Meehl, according to court records. Meehl did approve a request by the prosecution to allow the introduction of Bradley's past criminal record, should he take the witness stand, and the testimony of a Boise law enforcement officer.

Bradley will be represented by Public Defender Mike Powers. Deputy County Prosecutor Kandace Kemp will present the state's case.

Bradley also faces a burglary charge in connection with the incident.

Travel panel debates marketing

TWIN FALLS — The Magicland Regional Travel Committee will discuss its five-year marketing plan for the region and an upcoming session of the Idaho Travel Committee at a meeting scheduled for 1 p.m. Tuesday in the offices of Regional IV Development Association, 1300 Kimberly Road.

Truck rolls over man's legs

TWIN FALLS — A Bountiful, Utah, truck driver summoned help with his citizens band radio after his truck rolled over his legs Thursday morning in Twin Falls.

Ernest C. Madsen, 55, was reported Thursday evening in stable condition at Magic Valley Regional Medical Center.

Madsen was injured when he attempted to hook up a second trailer while it was marked at 1635 Eastland Drive, according to a Twin Falls police report. The trailer brakes released and caused the left rear dual tires to roll over his left foot and right leg.

Madsen crawled to the cab of his truck and summoned help with his CB radio. A woman received the call and summoned police.

Motorcycles collide; four hurt

JEROME — Four people were taken to St. Benedict's Family Medical Center in Jerome after a two-motorcycle collision Tuesday.

Jerome city police reported a 1981 cycle operated by Earl Lamar Lauritzen, 45, was northbound on Hayes Street when it collided with a west-bound cycle operated by Darren Amundson, 16, also of Jerome and owned by Raymond Coates of Jerome.

Both vehicles overturned following the impact and skidded about 40 feet along the street, throwing the operators and passengers to the ground. Lauritzen was cited for violation of the basic rule — traveling too fast for existing conditions.

Both drivers suffered abrasions and were treated and released.

Their passengers, Raymond Coates, traveling with Amundson, and Steven Handy, 9, a passenger on the Lauritzen bike, were also treated for cuts and bruises.

Skills to be matched at 6th District Rodeo

By SCOTT TUDEHOPE
Times-News Staff Writer

RUPERT — The first of two go-rounds of Sixth District Rodeo action begins at 8 tonight at the Minidoka County Fairgrounds.

Cowboys and cowgirls from Twin Falls, Oakley, Minico and schools between will test their skills for the final district rodeo before state. Action continues Saturday, also at 8 p.m. A year-round sport, district rodeo competition began last November at the Twin Falls Western States Junior Rodeo. It moved to Burley in the spring, then ended up in Buhl with one go-round. Competitors completed points at all three rodeos, with final tabulations taking place this weekend.

Twin Falls cowboy Alan Stutzman, who's in contention in three events, looks to have a fair shot at all-around honors. Don't count out Oakley's Will Bedke, who is posing a threat in several events as well. Sisters Shelle and Stacey Hell of Castleford are vying for top honors in two events, giving them an opportunity to carry away all-round cowgirl distinctions.

Although all-round honors are sought by the better riders and ropers, those who finish in the top four in each event are invited to compete at state later this month.

Stutzman, a Twin Falls Junior, is currently leading in bull dogging, while Bedke is right behind. Stutzman's also ahead in bareback riding competition with Jeff Stewart of Buhl next in line.

Bull riding, typically the final event of the card in any rodeo, features Austin Bridges of Burley and Twin Falls' Jo Hernandez, in calf roping. Bedke leads with Jeremy Hutchison of Rati' River right behind. Only two points separate the cowboys.

Dee's Lynn Osterhout and Steve Manning of Oakley are separate by only 10 points in saucier-orc while Bedke and Richard Hunsaker of Dee's lead in team roping. The coed team of Stutzman and Teena Simper of Minico are next.

When it comes to the girls, although the Hell sisters may be current favorites for the all-round buckle, one shouldn't count out Bonnie Simper of Minico. Currently leading in barrel racing, Simper's main competition comes from Sherri Quigley of Castleford.

The fitness event—pole-bending—features Kris Onishi of Minico, who according to district secretary Dorothy Sayers is "way out in front" with a time of 21:00, clocked at Buhl. Shawn Seal of Minico is second thus far.

The Hell sisters have sister Shelley knotted up so far. Older sister Shellie holds first in the district, with the same one-two arrangement going for them in brackets roping.

Cow cutting has Shelle Brewer of Twin Falls leading all, while in the boys' competition, Tim Chabrun, Twin Falls, is out in front.

Nuggets' forward Kiki Vandeweghe, 55, heads to Portland

Blazers swap three for emerging star

DENVER (AP) — The Denver Nuggets on Thursday traded high-scoring forward Kiki Vandeweghe, an emerging superstar in the National Basketball Association, to the Portland Trail Blazers for three players and two draft choices in a deal both teams applauded.

The Nuggets will receive forward Calvin Natt, guard Lafayette Lever and center Wayne Cooper, in addition to Portland's second-round draft choice this year and the Blazers' first-round pick in 1985.

"We've given up an excellent player, but in doing so we feel we've helped our team immeasurably," Nuggets president and chief operating officer Vince Boryla said at a press conference. "We've corrected a lot of our deficiencies.

"Natt is a starting forward, an excellent offensive player and rebounder who should average about 19 points a game in our offense. Lever is an outstanding ballhandler and defender, and is better than any of the guards we have now. Cooper is a good rebounder and shot-blocker who will back up our own center or possibly become a starter.

"We've also restructured ourselves in the draft. We were going into this year's draft with no choice until the fourth round, and that was laughable."

Denver Coach Doug Moe indicated that Natt and Lever likely would move into the Nuggets' starting lineup immediately.

Portland Coach Jack Ramsay called the 6-foot-6 Vandeweghe—who averaged 29.4 points per game to rank third in the NBA last season and 26.7 to rank second in the league the previous year, "the No. 1 or No. 2 best offensive small forward in basketball. I'd say Vandeweghe and (New York's) Bernard King would be rated close together as the best of the small forwards.

"He gives us a guy who can shoot from the perimeter, which we don't have among any of our big men. He is also a very good passer, which is another quality we lacked except for Mychal Thompson. We got a highly productive player, a guy who fits our needs perfectly and is an outstanding player in the league."

The 6-foot-6 Natt has averaged 17.1 points and 7.1 rebounds in five NBA seasons. The 6-3 Lever is a stand-out playmaking guard who excels as a passer and defender. Cooper, 6-10, is a six-year veteran who has averaged 8.6 points and 6.3 rebounds.

"We could have sat here for the next few years moaning and groaning that we had no draft picks and had a few great players," said Boryla, who came to the Nuggets just last month. "We had to look at this team and ask, 'Where are we going to go if we don't make a deal?'"

"There's an old saying: You have to give to get. We knew we had to give up Kiki or Alex (English) to help ourselves. Portland is getting a good ballplayer. They could afford to give up the talent we need. It was a good trade for both teams."

The Blazers have the No. 2 pick in the June 19 National Basketball Association draft and have indicated they probably would select University of Kentucky center Sam Bowie.

Portland lost a coin flip with the Houston Rockets for the top pick in the draft. There was early speculation that the Blazers may have made the No. 2 pick in this year's draft part of the deal. But Denver receiver Portland's second-round draft this year and it's first choice in 1985.

Cowboys sweep up Indians

TWIN FALLS — Bouncing back with a four-run sixth inning, the Twin Falls Cowboys completed a double-header sweep of Buhl Thursday night, beating the Indians 4-2 in the opener, but were held to a 3-3 tie before the decisive four-run sixth in the nightcap to win 7-5.

Twin Falls will travel to Idaho Falls for a key conference game Saturday, and won't return for another home game until June 17.

Buhl pitchers Mark Laling and Darin Strickler pitched well enough to be considered winners in a typical American Legion game. But Twin Falls went with Scott Matlock for five innings in the opener and Matt Harz wrapped it up in the nightcap, lefty Nate Burke nailed down the win for "Tim Crossman" after Kirk Slater threw the first five innings.

Coach Mike Trumayne took the opportunity to use his entire roster and said he was "pretty pleased" with his younger players.

"They didn't do much at the plate in the first part of the game but when it got tight they bowed their necks a little and got the job done," he said. Twin Falls won the opener with single runs in the first three innings. Dave Slatten opened the game with a walk and scored on Slater's triple. Alan Valdez started the second with a triple and rode in on Harz's hit and Rob Ellis drew a walk and eventually scored on the Shawn Humberger sacrifice fly in the third.

The Cowboys added an insurance run in the sixth when Valdez lived on an error, stole two bases and scored on a wild pitch.

Buhl got its two runs in the sixth, when Mike Crowley doubled in Strickler and Hartman, who had walked.

Broncos to tackle the Big Orange football in two contests

BOISE (AP) — Oregon State University of the Pacific-10 Conference will play Boise State in a pair of football games three years apart.

The first contest is scheduled for Oct. 25, 1986, at Corvallis, Ore. On Sept. 23, 1989, the Beavers will travel to BSU's Bonham Stadium.

The home-and-home contract is the second Oregon State has signed with a Big Sky Conference school recently. The agreement was developed after Boise State Athletic Director Gene Blyemaler contacted Oregon State Athletic Director Dee Andros.

"I'd gotten hold of their schedule and knew they had some openings that corresponded with our openings," Blyemaler said Wednesday.

Boise State Coach Lyle Selencich said playing Oregon State will be good for his squad.

"I think it's good exposure for you," he said. "I don't think you can play very many of them when they have 95 scholarships."

State has a Division I-AA classification with a 65-scholarship limit.

Oregon State also has a home-and-home series scheduled with the University of Idaho.

The Beavers will go to Moscow for a game Sept. 29, and Idaho will go to Oregon State on Sept. 7, 1985.

Four other Division I-A schools are on the Broncos' schedule during the next five years.

In 1985 the Broncos play at the University of Utah. The Utes play at Bronco Stadium in 1987. The University of Pacific plays at Boise State in 1986, and the Broncos go to Stockton, Calif., in 1987.

Long Beach State is scheduled to play a six-game home-and-home series with Boise State beginning in 1985, with the opening game at Boise. After a two-year layoff, the series will resume in 1988.

Also in 1988, Fullerton begins a six-year home-and-home contract with the Broncos.

"To make room for Idaho in 1985 and Boise State in 1986, Oregon State dropped Auburn from its schedule because of increasing travel costs. In 1989, Boise State will take the place of Florida State on the Beavers' schedule. "We're still playing the Ohio States and Michigan and our own PAC-10 teams," Andros said.

"But instead of going back to play teams like Bowling Green, we'd like to keep west of the Rockies with some of the teams that are playing good football, and yet we don't have to travel a great distance."

Both Oregon State and Boise State will receive 450,000 or 50 percent of the gate, whichever is larger, when they are the visiting team.

Cyclists to sponsor district tourney

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Cyclists will host the Idaho District Championships on Sunday, the bicycle road race featuring some of the top bike racers in the state.

It is the first time the district championships have been held in Twin Falls.

More than 100 bikers are expected for the race with 10 of those representing Magic Valley.

About 70 of those will tackle the 112-mile course, expecting to average around 20 mph during the race.

The race will start with senior men's competition at 9 a.m. at Poleline Road and Washington Street. At five-minute intervals, the Junior men, veteran men and senior women will leave the starting line.

The senior men will take to old U.S.

Highway 30 and continue to a point four miles east of Buhl. After traveling northwest for five miles, they will guide their bikes onto Clear Springs Road and then into the Snake River Canyon. During their descent, bikers will approach speeds of up to 55 mph.

After the entrants cross the river, they will begin the climb up the Wendell side of the canyon, where they will travel seven miles toward Wendell then turn down Vaucler Grade into the Hagerman Valley where they will travel to the Owsley Bridge.

After crossing the bridge, they will continue along the Snake River to the Banbury Grade. The climb out of the Hagerman Valley will be the longest and most grueling climb of the race.

The bikers will be escorted through

Buhl and will travel the course one more time before traveling back to Twin Falls to finish at Poleline and Washington.

While the senior men will travel 112 miles in the district race, the Junior men will ride 66 miles—or one lap around the course. The veteran men and senior women will ride 50 miles turning back after climbing the Wendell side of the Canyon and returning the same way they rode into the canyon.

Because of the distances involved in the race, it will be hard for spectators to view the action. Fans wishing to watch the race will find the best places are when the racers are climbing the grade at a slow pace and the finish line will also be a good place to watch as the racers finish the course.

Wayne Levi and Ed Fiori shared second at 65. Levi did not make a bogey in the humid, hazy weather and reeled off a string of four consecutive birdies, while Fiori had an erratic effort that included nine birdies, three bogeys and only six pars.

Scott Simpson was next at 66.

Swale called early favorite for Belmont Stakes rally

NEW YORK (AP) — Swale, the Kentucky Derby winner, was made the early favorite Thursday for the 116th Belmont Stakes, the richest event of thoroughbred racing's Triple Crown.

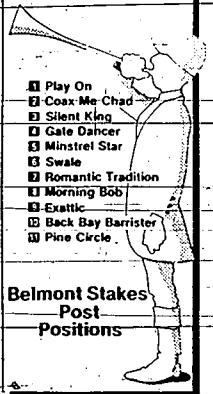

The Claiborne Farm colt, who drew the No. 6 post, heads the field of 11 three-year-olds along with Gate Dancer and Play-On, the 1-2 finishers in the Preakness at Pimlico last month.

Swale, who ran seventh in the Preakness, was made the early 2-2 favorite for the 1 1/2-mile race Saturday, slightly ahead of Kenneth Steinberg's Gate Dancer, 3-1, and followed by Welcome Farm's Play On, 4-1.

"This year's Belmont purse" is $326,700 with $310,000 going to the winner. The field is loaded with come-from-behind horses, all of them outsiders and five who didn't compete in the other previous Triple Crown races.

In trainer Budy Delp's way of thinking, he can get his own Triple Crown if longshot Silent King wins at Belmont.

Delp missed out on the 1979 Triple Crown when Spectacular Bid, a 2.5 shot, finished third in the Belmont. He blamed the disappointing effort and an outside chance at finishing first," said Delp Thursday at Belmont Park. "It'll be my Triple Crown. I won the other two."

Belmont Stakes Post Positions

But Delp admitted, "The race looks like it was made for Woody." It was a reference to the Woody Stephens-trained Swale, a winner of more than $1.2 million and a winner of seven stakes races, more than any colt in the field.

"We can be on the lead if we have to," said Stephens, who was pleased with the son of Seattle Slew's 48.3-5 workout for a half-mile Thursday, saying, "It was just what we wanted."

Swale's fast workout prior to the Preakness was considered a factor in his poor Preakness effort. The colt worked moderate times before the Derby and Florida Derby and came home first both times.

Louisiana's 3-year-old Swale, He and Stephens both won with Caveat and Conquistador Cleo the past two years. No trainer or rider has won three straight Belmonts, this century.

Gate Dancer, who had had a sizzling 48.5 workout Wednesday and a record time for the 1 3/16-mile Preakness, will go from the No. 1 post with Angel Cardero Jr. aboard,

Jones-led Tigers trip Jays

By The Associated Press

Ruppert Jones, who started the season out of baseball and was recalled from the minor leagues just two days ago, smashed a three-run homer to carry the Detroit Tigers over the Toronto Blue Jays 5-3 Thursday.

Jack Morris 11-2, pitched a seven-inning effort as the Tigers regained their American League East.

Jones, an All-Star with San Diego two seasons ago, went to spring training with the Pittsburgh Pirates but was released. The Tigers signed him and sent him to Class AAA Evansville before he was recalled.

never done before," Jones said. "I would have to say this is a big thrill. This homer would have to rank with any I've hit."

Said Detroit Manager Sparky Anderson: "I don't know very much about Ruppert, but I know one thing — he isn't afraid. He isn't a 25th man. He'd be at least a 17th or 18th man on any club."

In another AL game Thursday, Kent Hrbek's seventh-inning single drove in Tim Teufel with the tie-breaking run and lifted the Minnesota Twins over the Texas Rangers 5-4.

In a National League game, Dave Parker, Nick Esasyk and Tom Foley all belted two-out, two-run homers in the first inning as the Cincinnati Reds hammered San Diego 12-1, snapping the Padres' six-game winning streak.

In AL night games, Bob McClure, regularly a reliever but forced into a starting role because of injuries, allowed only an unearned run over six innings and the Milwaukee Brewers finished a 10-8 hit-at-bat-to-throw-over the Boston Red Sox 6-2.

Frank White clubbed a three-run homer in the seventh inning as the Kansas City Royals overcame an early seven-run deficit and beat the Seattle Mariners 9-6.

Three-run homers and the Chicago White Sox rallied from a seven-run disadvantage to nip the California Angels 11-10. Fred Lynn hit a three-run home run and a solo shot for the Angels.

In NL night action, Gary Carter drilled a solo home run in the sixth inning to snap a 1-1 tie and give the Montreal Expos a 2-1 triumph over the Chicago Cubs. Charlie Lea, 10-2, won his sixth straight game despite allowing 10 hits.

Atlanta was in Los Angeles and Houston was at San Francisco in late NL games.

Supreme Court won't clarify grid rights

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court may make it impossible for schools to have a cooperative agreement for televising football games, more than 200 coaches and administrators were told Thursday.

"There is also the prospect of many additional years of uncertainty and some additional years of litigation," Chicago attorney Frank Easterbrook said in remarks to the opening session of the NCAA summer meetings. "I think it is very likely that if the Supreme Court does say the existing (NCAA television plan) is unreasonably broad, that the court will provide little guidance on what other plans would be appropriate."

Easterbrook, who argued the NCAA's case before the high court last March, told the gathering of college sports' policy-makers that only the Supreme Court knows what the law of the land is going to be.

The College Football Association, which first argued the challenge to the NCAA's football television controls in 1981, has come up with a contingency plan in case the Supreme Court rules in favor of Oklahoma and Georgia. Another group of CFA representatives and officials of the Big Ten and Pac-10 have also worked out a similar plan.

Turner bids on USFL broadcast contract

ATLANTA (AP) — One day after announcing his exclusive cable television contract to air National Basketball Association games, Ted Turner was looking at the broadcast rights of the nation's newest professional football league.

Turner has offered $2 billion for a three-year contract for exclusive cable television rights to broadcast the games of the United States Football League.

"It's true," said Arthur Sando, Turner's corporate vice president for communications.

"We're still waiting to hear from the USFL. ESPN has the right of first refusal and there is no deadline," Sando said Thursday.

ESPN's current deal calls for $11 million for two seasons. Latest figures indicate ESPN is the country's most available cable station, reaching a reported 32 million homes. Turner's WTBS-TV reaches 31 million.

"There are some ongoing discussions," said Peter Ruocco, the USFL's chief of broadcasting. "The league is definitely looking to renegotiate for more rights money. So far, it hasn't come to anything."

Wind aids home run parade

TWIN FALLS — The wind was blowing off Thursday night and the hitters look advantage of it in men's softball.

For instance, John Bryant clubbed three homers, Rocky Reecer added two more and Lance Selles, Tracy English and Corky Federico chipped in with one apiece as Falls Brand whipped Hawkins-Kawasaki 20-9. Tony Manner, shaking off the age factor, replied with one for the losers.

In another A-League game, Ken Peterson and Kent Rodseth had a pair of homers and John Miller added one as Bud Lite rolled past R.C. Cola 18-11, despite a grand slammer by Gary Miller.

In a B-League game, Leaning Petroleum thumped Maxway Trucking 19-4.

Slowpitch softball

In the Church League A division, First Nazarene outslugged Trinity Lutheran 15-10 while St. Paul Lutheran won 10-7. Christian St. Paul Lutheran won 10-7. Christian St. Paul Lutheran won 10-7.

The women weren't left out of the homer parade. Coors-Falls Brand got two blasts from Cas Herberster and one each from Carol Counts, Kris Kravtitz and Wendy Counts to beat Dick's Pharmacy 15-10. Sue Fries scored for the losers, Mallin Miller and Tammy Lutz had round-trippers in paeing-Norm's-Cafe-past-Hawkins

That brings action to the second annual Pocket Invitational B, C and D men's slowpitch tournament, which kicks off tonight at Harmon Park. Games are slated to begin at 6:45 p.m.

The 22-team tournament, won last year by Falls Brand of Twin Falls, will feature teams from Twin Falls, Jerome, Wendell, Halley, Burley, Idaho Falls and Pocatello.

Prizes will be awarded to the first through fourth-place teams, as well as an individual most valuable player award.

Stricker got off to a rocky start in the second game, walking Valdez and Nick Baument. Rob Ellis followed with a double to left to score both.

Two innings later, Slater lived on an error and Ellis picked up his third RBI with another two-bagger to make it 3-0.

But in the fourth inning Buhl broke up Slater's no-hitter and shutout bids. Crowley led off with a single and Tom Fleming then lofted a routine fly ball into left field, where it was misplayed into a triple. That allowed Crowley to score and Mark Munroe followed with a shot into left to score Fleming.

Buhl tied it against Crossman in the sixth when Crowley again singled, stole second and third and romped in on Munroe's sacrifice fly to right.

The Cowboys loaded the bases immediately in the sixth when Crossman, Otero singled, Jim Wentworth lived when his fly to center was dropped and Dave Crook walked. Dan Hite plated the decisive run with a sacrifice fly and Baument followed with a two-run triple. Crossman then lined a

Lloyd in 7th French finals

PARIS (AP) — Defending champion Chris Evert Lloyd cruised into her seventh French Open tennis singles final on the rain-swept clay courts of Roland-Garros Stadium Thursday, but it will be another day before she has an opponent.

Minutes after Lloyd's 6-0, 6-0 demolition of unseeded Camille Benjamin, the steady drizzle turned into a driving rain and washed out the second semifinal between top-seeded Martina Navratilova and No. 3 Hana Mandlikova, which was postponed until Friday.

The rain ensured that for the first time in several years, both the men and women would play the semis on the same day.

Navratilova's eagerly-awaited confrontation with Mandlikova — the only person to have beaten her this year — was scheduled to be the first on Center Court Friday, followed by Czechoslovakia's Ivan Lendl against Mats Wilander of Sweden, then the all-American duel between John McEnroe and Jimmy Connors.

The latter battle will give the United States its first finalist on these so-called clay courts since 1960, when Bjorn Borg of Sweden.

Lloyd, bidding for a record sixth women's singles title at the French Open — she is currently tied with five with Australia's Margaret Court Smith — hardly broke into a sweat as her 17-year-old opponent had a nightmare of a debut on Center Court.

Benjamin, who previously had never gotten beyond the third round of a Grand Slam tournament, eliminated No. 43 seed Lisa Bonder on her way to the semis, but could not find the same inspiration when she faced Lloyd. Whatever she tried failed, and Lloyd had to take a sweat back and return the ball, letting Benjamin make all the errors.

"I didn't do anything right. I could not have played much worse," a dejected Benjamin said afterwards. "Chris didn't make any mistakes, and when you play Chris, you can't make the kind of unforced errors I made."

The straight-A high school student from Bakersfield, Calif., constantly missed the lines or netted the ball, winning only 16 points in the one-sided, 39-minute match.

Three times Lloyd, the defending title-holder, was stretched to three sets on her way to the semis, prompting her to say: "They certainly have helped my preparation. But if I'd had another one today, it would have put doubts in my mind about my form."

Lloyd has won a record 51 singles matches at Roland Garros, two more than the mark set by Borg in June 1981 when he won his sixth French Open crown.

Before this year, the previous record by a woman was 49 by Margaret Smith.

Asked who she expected to face her in Saturday's women's final, Lloyd said: "I definitely give Hana a chance. She has the game and the equipment, and if she is inspired, she will give Martina a tough match."

But Navratilova's incentive of win-

Judge frees Colt move, opens opposition

BALTIMORE (AP) — A federal judge Thursday lifted a stay that had temporarily halted the city's efforts to return the Colts football team from Indianapolis to Memorial Stadium, clearing the way for the city's eminent domain suit.

U.S. District Judge Walter Black ruled while the city could proceed with its eminent domain suit, it could not keep the team from preparing for the upcoming National Football League season or carrying on its regular business.

Under a law passed in the General Assembly's last session and signed by Gov. Harry Hughes, the city may condemn the team for public purposes, pay owner

ProFootball

Robert Irsay a fair price for the team and return it to Baltimore.

The city was barred from proceeding with the suit because of a separate suit filed by a creditor against the Colts, known legally as the Baltimore Football Club, in U.S. Bankruptcy Court. The creditor, a filmmaker who produced sports films for the team, charged that the Colts had attempted to remove assets from Maryland without paying its bills.

Bonnie Sons wins foelless race

Track

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Bonnie Sons, running alone, won the women's 10,000-meter race Thursday and became the first 1984 champion in the USA-Mobil Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

Meanwhile, defending champion Karin Smith borrowed equipment to set a stadium record in the women's javelin qualifying.

Sons, 18, who will be a sophomore at Iowa State University in the fall, was the only one of four declared entries to show up for the women's 10,000, the only individual final event of the opening program in the three-day meet.

Sons, the first to ever run a women's 10,000 at San Jose City College, was timed in 35 minutes, 3.36 seconds.

Afterward, she was the focus of attention by a large media corps.

"I never had this many people talk to me," she said. "I was surprised. It didn't seem right (running by herself)."

Sons said she would not have run if she knew she would be running alone.

"I was kind of shocked," she said. "When you get to this level, and you're running alone..."

Track

She said she wanted to run rather than just receive the medal for being the only competitor.

"When I win something, I want to work for it, not just get it," she said.

The time for Sons, who finished 14th in the recent NCAA Championships at Eugene, Ore., was the worst of her career.

But she certainly had an excuse — absolutely no competition.

"You always like to have someone running with you, whether they're running in front of you or behind you," she said.

Smith, also the national champion in 1980 and 1981, hurled the javelin 199 feet, 10 inches, crasing the mark of 197-3 set by Paula Leaksalo of Finland this year.

U.S. enters Cuban baseball

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — The United States will participate in the amateur baseball world series scheduled to get underway Oct. 14 in Cuba, an International Association of Amateur Baseball official said here Thursday.

Association technical director Osvaldo Gil Bosch said all countries slated to participate agreed the Cuban decision to join the Soviet-led boycott of the Los Angeles Olympics should not affect the tournament.

Of the six countries originally scheduled to take part in baseball, a demonstration sport at the Los Angeles Games, the Cuban team has been replaced by one from the Dominican Republic.

More than $700,000 was promised to the center in April — before the council became involved in a dispute concerning the 18-year-old Soledad African-born athlete.

"It would be unfair to withhold that money now. The allocation will go ahead," a GLC spokesman said.

The council threatened to withdraw its $240,000 a-year funding unless Budd made a declaration against apartheid racial policies.

LONDON (AP) — The Greater London Council agreed Thursday to continue its financial backing of the Crystal Palace sports center despite Zola Budd's performance there the previous night.

U.S. women get golfing boost

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — An apprehensive team of American female golfers was handed a psychological boost Thursday on the eve of the 23rd Curtis Cup Golf competition against Great Britain and Ireland.

The British captain, Diane Bailey, fearful that the American collegiate golfers would have an important advantage, succeeded in getting the 11th hole shortened by 27 yards.

The American non-playing captain Phyllis "Tish" Preuss diplomatically insisted the late alteration to the links was mutually agreed upon, but it came after only two members of the British and Irish team had been able to reach the fairway in practice with their drives against a strong sea breeze.

Americans drop from tourney

FORMBY, England (AP) — Kristen Moe, Jim Clipe and Paul Thomas, the United States' last representatives, failed to negotiate their second day hurdles in the British Amateur Golf Championship Thursday.

Moe, 22-year-old Californian amateur champion from San Diego, beat Angus Mair in the morning round, but lost at the 20th hole to Colin Montgomery of Scotland. Montgomery now advances to Friday's quarter-finals.

Last-place manager renewed

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Doug Rader, manager of the last-place Texas Rangers, has a handshake agreement to extend his contract, ending speculation that the controversial skipper's job might be in danger.

Rangers President Mike Stone confirmed Wednesday that he and Rader have a handshake agreement to extend his contract, which was good through the 1985 season.

Dent reunited with Yankees

NEW YORK (AP) — Shortstop Bucky Dent, a hero with the New York Yankees in 1978, has been signed to a minor league contract by his former team, the Yankees announced Thursday.

Dent, who had been released by the Texas Rangers prior to the start of the 1984 season, will report to the Yankees AAA farm team at Columbus in the International League.

Olympic alternates named

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Patty Jo Hedges of Kentucky, La Taunya Pollard of Long Beach and Joyce Walker of Louisiana State were named alternates for the U.S. Olympic women's basketball team.

Kamie Ehrbridge of Texas and Tressa Spaulding of Brigham Young were previously named as alternates for the team.

Showing of 'Oliver' debuts on the Northside

By TERRY RICH HARTLEY
Times-News correspondent

JEROME — Magic Valley theatergoers are in for a rousing musical in the form of "Oliver" presented by the Northside Playhouse tonight through June 10.

Greg Fuller of Jerome is the producer while Terri Wood of Twin Falls directs the play.

Noting that she was expecting headaches in directing the bulging cast of 48, Wood says, "It's surprised me! I've really had a ball."

She does admit it was very difficult to choose the cast, which includes 21 boys. But, not for lack of talent. "An awful lot of really talented people tried out," she says. "We had two nights of auditions and a third night for callbacks that lasted five hours."

Wood, who has worked on the project since November, says this is her first directing task for a large production, but adds she's been involved with musical comedy for 21 years. She also has done pieces of every kind of work involved including choreography, costuming and directing smaller productions.

Appearing in New York in 1963, "Oliver" — the book, music and lyrics — was written by Lionel Bart. Based on the Charles Dickens novel, "Oliver Twist," it is a story with complicated plot, skillful change-of-pace and strict control of dramatic tension and climax.

Oliver, a young runaway, falls into the hands of Fagin, who runs a school for pickpockets. Oliver is arrested and released to Mr. Brownlow, a rich old gentleman. Fagin sends his cohorts, Bill Sikes and Nancy, to bring Oliver back forcibly. They do — but then twists occur in the plot and at least one deserving and one not-so-deserving person are murdered and all sorts of events toss Oliver about.

Of the 16 musical numbers in the play, at least three titles give a strong clue about how desperate life really is for Oliver and his cohorts: "Food, Glorious Food," "Boy for Sale," and "You've Got to Pick a Pocket or Two."

Dickens began publishing "Oliver Twist" in serial form in 1837 in protest of the 1834 Poor Law abolishing supplemental aid to the poor which caused families to be broken up and their members placed in separate workhouses.

Written when the author was in his 20s, the novel depicts the world of poverty and crime in London that forced men, women and children into lives of theft and prostitution.

The story, sentimental where virtue is concerned, lays bare the ugliness of vice. Nancy is a prostitute, Bill is a murderer. Fagin is a fence and the boys are pickpockets. Even the supporting cast includes all manner of human parasites. While some of the petty villains are treated humorously, Bill Sikes is simply unredeemable.

If it takes an arch-villain to make a story plausible, this character has to be the ultimate. Where some crooks have a kind-hearted side, he is entirely practical; a man who will step on anybody who gets in his way — and feel no regrets.

With heavy doses of melodrama, romance and coincidence accompanying violence, the story in novel form and stage drama never fails to spellbind its audience.

Wood says the essence of the story is, "There's hope for anyone. It's the kind of theme where a child seemingly has no hope — he's downtrodden, but gets pie in the sky. It says that everybody can make the best of what they've got to work with."

In the role of Oliver is Andy Durham of Twin Falls, a 12-year-old student — at O'Leary Junior-High School. Matt Erantz plays Bill Sikes, while Ben Flores is Nancy. Others in main roles are Jason Houser and Mike Winterholler. Winterholler also designed the set.

The musical will be held at the Jerome High School tonight and June 9, 11, 14, 15 and 16 at 8:15 p.m. A matinee will be held June 10 at 2:15 p.m.

Tickets are $4 for general admission, $3 for children under 12 and senior citizens, and may be obtained by calling 324-8193 or 734-9001 or 734-8004 after 5 p.m. and on weekends by calling 734-8004 or 324-5774, or the following outlets: The Natural Way Health, Store, Ryan's and The Wrangler in Jerome; Judy's Inc., the Music Center and Valley Schwinn Cvelery in Twin Falls.

Trek still flies, but tad lower

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

Stardale 1124.
Captain's log 89-20: The crew of the Enterprise has embarked on another hazardous mission — It is exploring the unknowns of a third movie sequel. Not since we entered Klingon space two parsecs ago, have I felt such anxiety.

Still, I feel success is at hand... after all, the film is good, the audience guaranteed and then there's those strange creatures called Trekkies.

Even if Captain Kirk hadn't made such an entry, he would have been safe in doing so because "Star Trek III, The Search for Spock" is the best of the sequels based on the successful television series.

It begins where "Star Trek II: The Wrath of Khan" ended. Spock, the ever noble, no-nonsense Vulcan, has sacrificed himself to save the star ship. His body has been left on a planet created by the genesis device that results in "life from lifelessness."

As "Search for Spock" opens, the beleaguered Enterprise heads back to a friendly star port. On board, Admiral James T. Kirk beams the loss of his friend. Yet, Spock is not one to be forgotten and soon Kirk and his crew are off on a mission to retrieve his friend's remains for a kind of Vulcan wake.

The humor, however, includes Star Trek's off-limits order on the planet and a nasty alien captain's interest in the genesis device as an ultimate weapon.

As can be expected, there's no suspense in where Spock's body can be found if one paid any attention at all to "Wrath of Khan." And given the power of the genesis device, it takes no human mind to figure in what condition the body lies.

But that is no insurmountable problem here. Director Leonard Nimoy, also known as Mr. Spock, has other tricks up his sleeve with the aid of a lively, warp-speed screenplay and his old friends Kirk, Uhura, Dr. McCoy and Scotty.

Review

All musters the feel of the old series, which basically was a human drama disguised behind pointy ears and futuristic gadgets. Kirk, played with almost Shakespearean presence by William Shatner, has that old human emotionalism as he ponders the meaning of friendship while displaying the fight of an ancient swashbuckler.

To add to the illusion is actor Christopher Lloyd with an amusing portrayal of the alien commander. He's a Klingon you'll love to hate.

Despite updated language and big-screen special effects, the dialogue and texture is vintage Star Trek right down to the somewhat overinflated moralizing. There's even a tongue-in-cheek appearance of a Tribble, a curious creature featured in one of the old and probably best loved reruns.

For these reasons, "Search for Spock" should delight Star Trek fans and even provide an airy diversion for others.

It should be noted, however, that although the last film was the best, another voyage of the Enterprise crew could be pushing their appeal to the final frontier where plenty of bad movies have gone before.

Ronstadt croons to success

By BOB FREUND
Times-News writer

Linda Ronstadt once again is taking her powerful voice into new musical territory. She's been crossing over to new styles and old ones for past few years.

For the time being, she's left behind the "cheated" and "mistreated" days of country-rock that thrust her into stardom. She's dropped her earlier flirtation with hard-driving rock. And she has jumped back beyond remakes of '60s and '50s hits.

The new Linda Ronstadt appears in concert on the Home Box Office service today, Tuesday and Thursday. The country-rock-pop singer has turned crooner.

Teamed up with the Nelson Riddle Orchestra, Ronstadt glides through the Big Band beats of the 30s and 40s in an hour-long show.

This is NOT Saturday night video, with its mind-warping sets and technological tricks.

It's Ronstadt unadorned, standing on stage trying something new. Her loyal fans will recognize the star's vocal trademarks — her powerful, sometimes pleading deliveries — and they will find them used in a new way.

But Ronstadt really is more likely to appeal to fans of Big Band music

Twists make folk album different

By TERRILL WILLIAMS
Times-News correspondent

HAGERMAN — Michael Wendling describes his latest album as "kind of traditional, non-purist contemporary folk music with a few shades of computerized ragga."

To achieve the unique sound combinations for the album, "Moving Parts," Wendling uses a slide whistle, sandpaper, hand clapping and (for rhythm) a suitcase to accompany his fluted banjo and various guitars.

"It's always a constant experiment," says Wendling, 34, noting that "Moving Parts" is the 10th album he has made or participated in. The album was recorded earlier this year and is on sale at various locations in Hagerman, Twin Falls and Buhl.

One of Wendling's favorite pieces on this all-instrumental album is "Butterdust," composed by Wendling and Steve Eaton for the soundtrack of an upcoming PBS television special about salmon.

MICHAEL WENDLING
Folk music artist

Using a Spanish-style nylon-string guitar — and a snare — but amplified, Wendling creates a flowing mellow tone for this four-minute arrangement. In the background, a synthesizer sounds somewhat like the orchestration by Mason Williams in "Classical Gas."

Local fans of Wendling's 20 years of banjo playing will not be disappointed by "Bully of the Town" — After a swing-dance tempo, this tune picks up speed and the banjo duels with the fiddle of Bruce Aklre, a native of Horseshoe Bend.

When composing "Popsicle," Wendling followed the slide-guitar style of Leo Kottke.

"He's my mentor and has been for a long time," Wendling says, admitting this fast style is quite fun to play. "Amazing Grace" is a song on the album for people to relate to," says Wendling.

This spiritual, he explains, begins in the doleful style of Roy Cooper in the film soundtrack of "The Long Riders."

Then, with the melody at the same speed, the best moves to double-time • See WENDLING on Page C3

Tickets may be purchased by calling 724-9001 or 324-8193, or at the door. After 5 p.m. and on weekends, call 734-8064 or 324-5774.

BOISE — Ray Charles will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday, June 16, at the Boise State Pavilion. Tickets, $10 and $12.50 for reserved seats, may be ordered by calling 385-1766.

TWIN FALLS — "It's a Miracle," a musical featuring the lifestyle of the members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will be performed at 8 p.m. Wednesday, June 20, in the Fine Arts Center of the College of Southern Idaho. Tickets — $6 for adults, $5 for children 12 and under, and $5 each for groups of 30 or more — are available at Bell's Family Books and Crowley's Pharmacy in Twin Falls, The Book Plaza in Burley and The Bookstore in Rupert.

Ronstadt

program. But she also combines with three other singers to replay hits like "Mr. Sandman (Bring Me a Dream)" in Andrew Sisters style. To her credit, she doesn't try to dominate, and the result is four-part harmony that is one of the most pleasing points of the concert. The group also chugs to the boogie woogie beat singing "choo choo boogie." Standing alone, though, Ronstadt doesn't really unleash the powerful, penetrating style that has made her famous. The performance is polished and clean, yet it's not as inspired as some of her work.

That's one reason the Big Band set might appreciate this concert better than some of her country-rock fans. The arrangements of the Nelson Riddle Orchestra are easy to appreciate. They are precise and subtle, never overwhelming Ronstadt. But when it's time to wail — as in several saxophone riffs — they captivate. The Riddle Orchestra is one band that deserves a much better hearing than it's getting.

There's one obvious limitation to pop music concerts seen over the television. The viewer simply isn't in the crowd. The concerts seem smaller instead of bigger-than-life. Ronstadt's HBO performance suffers from that limitation. It comes across as an entertaining in spots, but video itself isn't going to give viewers to their chairs.

Not are they going to get any new insights into Ronstadt's personality. She talks only briefly while switching sets.

The way to enjoy this concert is to immerse yourself in the music. Settle down for an hour or so and let a relaxed mood sweep over you. Otherwise, you're going to find yourself bobbing up of the couch every seven minutes and the music is going to become background music for washing dishes (as one of my less appreciative friends suggested).

Does Ronstadt return to her country-rock tradition at all? Yes, briefly when the audience brings her back for an encore.

But this concert really shows Ronstadt delivering new notes from an era that was waning when she was a youngster. It is a visual reflection of her "What's New" album, now at No. 51 on Billboard's Top 100 albums.

For people who are curious about what's new with Ronstadt's music, the concert is worth the hour-long look.

HBO has scheduled the program, which is part of its HBO only series, for 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. today, 2 p.m. and 11:45 p.m. on Tuesday, and 10 a.m. and 10 p.m. on Thursday.

Artists, craftsmen to meet for 'Art in the Park'

Friday, June 8, 1984 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho C-3

By JIM McPHERSON
Times-News correspondent

TWIN FALLS — More than 150 artists and craftsmen are expected to demonstrate their work for the silver anniversary of "Art in the Park," July 21 and 22 in the Twin Falls City Park.

"We had 150 entries last year," said event chairman Charlotte Kilfoyle. "I assume we'll have growth." Some of the participants will come from other states, she said, with others from throughout the Magic Valley.

The arts and crafts festival, scheduled to run from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. each of the two days, is open to all artists and craftsmen, Kilfoyle said. There are no restrictions on the number of works that may be displayed.

No commercial work will be accepted. All work must be handcrafted and original. Work from kits or commercial patterns will not be accepted, she added.

Entries will be accepted up until July 21, Kilfoyle said. Art Guild of Magic Valley members will be charged $5 each to display their work; other artists and craftsmen will be charged $10. Proceeds will be split between the Art Guild of Magic Valley and the Harry Eaton Memorial Scholarship Fund.

The fund provides scholarships for art students at the College of Southern Idaho. Kilfoyle said the guild would use its share of the proceeds for a juried art show next year.

The Bruin Boosters and the League of Women Voters will sell refreshments during the festival, she said, and live music and an auction may provide extra activity. There will be no admission charge for those not displaying arts or crafts.

For more information, contact Kilfoyle at 734-3822 or 734-1550.

Area pianists set recital in Salt Lake City

TWIN FALLS — Two Magic Valley artists, Georgia Blastock, Filer, and Jed Moss, Jerome, will present a two-piano recital at 8 p.m. June 16 on the Temple Square Concert Series in Assembly Hall, Salt Lake City.

The live performance will be taped for broadcast later on public television. The couple also plans a recital late in June at the Renaissance Academy in Twin Falls.

Moss, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray

Moss, Jerome, studied piano with Blastock for 12 years. He is now a student at the University of Utah and studies piano with Gladys Rosenberg. He was the collegiate winner in the Magic Valley Symphony Youth competition this past year, performing the first piano concerto there May 5.

He has given concerts extensively throughout Idaho, Washington and Utah and was the 1980 IMTA Mason and Hamlin high school competition winner.

Blastock, who teaches piano at her ranch studio in Filer, is a national certified teacher of piano. She is past president of the Idaho Music Teachers Association, past secretary and vice president of the Northwest Division of Music Teachers and member of the national music teachers association and executive board. She is listed in America's Musician's guide and Who's Who in International Music.

Hotel strikers return to jobs

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Four thousand hotel workers who spent 67 days on sun-baked picket lines began streaming back to five Strip hotels Thursday as settlements continued to chip away at a bitter strike.

Striking musicians announced a tentative settlement with four of the resorts.

and an effective key change complements the banjo and bluegrass guitar leads.

Wendling fades out with an abstract echo. "Wendling notes."

In another song, "Run Amok," featuring Alkire on banjo, Wendling harmonizes two slide whistles together.

The whistle, "Just another toy to throw in there," is also played fast and on key in "Landscape," another of Wendling's favorite songs on the album. "That's my raggae tune," he comments.

Kenny Saunders of Twin Falls composed the lively "Pistol Creek."

Several cuts on "Moving Parts" are done in a jam style and are less distinctive than "Butterdust" or "Landscape."

But Wendling is still an artist on his steel and nylon six-string guitars and his 12-string open-tuned bottleneck guitar, which he also uses to replace a bass guitar.

The album ends with "Stare Clear," featuring Pete Weir of Hagerman on bongos. This agreeable tune is led by two guitars an octave apart, backed by bells and orchestration of the synthesizer, and a breath of banjo.

What's what

When your great granddad was a lad, most of his generation believed that people with gray eyes were wise, that blue-eyed people were quick thinkers, and that brown-eyed people were especially passionate.

The nine planets in the solar system revolve around the sun counter clockwise. Eight of these rotate on their axes counter clockwise. One, Uranus, rotates clockwise. What's wrong with Uranus? Isn't there anything we can do?

The official name of the smallest state, Rhode Island, and the Providence Plantations, is almost six-times-longer-than-the-official-name-of-the-largest state, Alaska, which, to go on with the obvious, is nearly 500 times bigger geographically.

GONE FISHIN'

Q-Did you say a woman invented the telescoping fishing rod?
A No, sir, a man named Everett Horton of Bristol, Conn., did that. In 1886. He wanted a rod he could hide under his coat on Sundays when he went fishing while others were in church. It was a woman who rolled the first American cigars, however: Likewise a Connecticut citizen, one Mrs. Proul.

Q. How do you account for the fact that only the baseball players among big-league athletes are constantly splitting?
A. Basketball players play on hardwood, dangerous when wet. Footballers play on turf, and fall face down thereupon with great regularity. Baseball players rarely slip where they slide, please note.

EARTHWORMS

In wide circulation now is one recipe for Pineapple Divine cake, which includes a cup and a half of chopped earthworms. Earth worms are 60 percent protein. Should be nutritious. Try it and let me know how you like it.

Q. What's "fox"?
A. The Russian word for salmon.

The foregoing brings to mind the small report that a bigel has to be made by hand. Can't be done by machine. Is that right?

Fish, too, use body language. Flip a fin, arch the back, change color. They talk to one another that way.

Only the male robin sings.

Daily Horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An unusually good day and evening for you to get in touch with those with whom you want to be allied in the future and to let them know of your interest in them.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A good day to find out what is expected of you by others and to come to some fine agreement with them. Take it easy tonight.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A good day to make your environment more charming, also at your place of work and at the office.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A good day to get surcease from worry. Your mate should be in a good mood and will go along with your desires.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get your home spic and span and then entertain interesting persons you like there. Show more consideration.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be very cooperative today so that you can accomplish a good deal with others, especially co-workers.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Confer with money experts and state your ideas for adding to present assets, and then follow their advice.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are very magnetic and charming today so go after whatever it is you want the most. Take it easy tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Look up to individuals who can give you the data you need and show you will assist them, if you get it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are able to make new friends at this time so go about it wisely and then they can be in your life for some time in the future.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Concentrate on worldly aims that mean much to you and then quickly go to bigwigs who can give you backing you need.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can get into new enterprises easily, so be more broad-minded. Contact a new acquaintance about a problem.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)

Follow your intuition and know how to improve the relationship between you and the one you love. Use more direct methods:

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he or she will be one who will be interested in all kinds of personalities and will double over backwards to please everyone he likes and will have many friends. One who will have a fine artistic sense and like everything to be neat.

Moves by family defended

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "Unhappy in Minnesota," the woman who was so upset about the moving required by her husband's job, really struck a nerve with me. It's a good thing she didn't marry a career Army man (or Navy, Air Force or Marine, for that matter).

My husband is a career soldier. I've always joked that we've stayed married so long because he was never home long enough to fight with. In 15 years, we've moved 11 times. Four of these moves were trans-Atlantic moves, and he was around to help with only one of them. Our daughter went to three different kindergartens, four elementary schools, two middle schools, and she will attend at least two different high schools. (Not unusual for Army families.)

While I'm never thrilled with the thought of another move, I've learned a lot from all the moves we've made. I turned the negatives into positives.

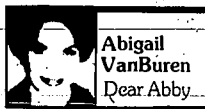

Rule 1: Laugh a lot. No humorist could possibly invent stories as funny as the ones we've experienced. Besides, moving a lot keeps your closets cleaned out.

Rule 2: Don't view it as "leaving." View it as "going to." We have a lifetime filled with friends and experiences we never would have accumulated had we stayed put.

Rule 3: Don't wait for a new community to provide you with what you want. Get out and find it. If it's not there, create it. No job-in-the-community? Start your own business — a nursery school or baby-sitting service. And don't turn your nose up at volunteer work. How about the shelter for battered women, the PTA, a political party, church work or even a car pool? It's a good way to be accepted and welcome in a new community.

Rule 4: Remember, "home" is an attitude. Whoever we are together is "home." My attitude sets the tone of every move. If I am enthusiastic, my family will be. A positive attitude is not always easy to assume, but it's a must.

How are my children doing? Both are straight-A students; our house overflows with their friends, and a list of their combined activities would fill another page.

Abigail VanBuren
Dear Abby

My marriage? Terrific! So tell "Unhappy" to get it together. She's not alone. Nobody claims that moving a lot is easy, but it can be fantastically rewarding.

—NANCY E., ARMY WIFE
DEAR NANCY: Thanks for a wonderful letter. Your husband is lucky, and so are your children.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ONLY ONE PERSON IN WORCESTER, MASS.: I am reminded of a short but meaningful poem from the play, "For Heaven's Sake" by Helen Kromer:
