Mondale ticket gaining momentum

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO - Geraldine A. Ferraro, standing proudly where no woman ever stood before, accepted the Democratic vice presidential nomination Thursday. She joined Walter F. Mondale as he launched his campaign with a warning to President Reagan: "I mean business."

Political scene - A3

Ferraro, installed on the ticket by acclamation, predicted, "We are going to prove the experts wrong" and win the election. As the closing gavel fell, Mondale's last rivals, Gary Hart and Jesse Jackson, joined the ticket in a display of harmony with dropout candidates from the arduous primary season. Mondale said he is optimistic the unity can be sustained into the autumn; Ferraro said, "Well, I hope so." "We've laid out a solid, sensible and necessary platform and with our superb vice president we are on our way," he told reporters. "We want Fritz," the convention shouted as the presidential nominee arrived and as he left. Booming cheers of "Gerry, Gerry" resounded when Ferraro gained the vice presidential spot - the first woman ever picked for a major party ticket. The two stood together after Mondale's speech, then greeted celebrating delegates on the floor as thousands of balloons descended from the ceiling. It was an evening timed with exquisite perfection to fill the prime television hours. Taking advantage of exposure, Mondale saluted his running mate and took aim at the president. "I mean business," he said, pledging to cut federal budget deficits by two billion by the end of "my first term." He added, "In my first hundred days, I will stop the illegal war in Nicaragua." To cut the deficit, Mondale said sacrifice was inevitable. "Mr. Reagan will raise taxes, and so will I."

he said. "He won't tell you, I just did." Mondale renewed his challenge to Reagan to debate and said, "If this administration has a plan for a better future, they're keeping it a secret." "We are going to prove the experts wrong" and win the election," Ferraro said earlier. In a poignant personal note, she added, "my heart is filled with pride, and thousands of women delegates gave voice to their own. One hand-scribbled sign - 'Queens Chamber of Commerce for Ferraro' - provided a home town salute. See DEMOCRATS on Page A2

Liberal dress code grabs attention, and business

By BOB FREUND
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS - It's broiling hot, 90 degrees plus, and the sun is baking everything that's not under cover. Debbie Grenz is not wasting all those midday rays. She's got a rag in her hand, a new bikini and a passionate dislike of tan lines. A blonde 20-year-old, is soaking up the sun while she soaks the water off freshly washed cars at Mr. Wash on Falls

Avenue off Blue Lakes Boulevard North in Twin Falls. So is 19-year-old Tawni Beam, clad in her swimsuit. And co-worker Kym Coates, 16, plans to start sunning while she works, too. Drying off cars may not pay a lot. But Mr. Wash has a liberal dress code. General manager Jim Lynch Jr., who runs two Mr. Wash businesses and seven Mr. Gas stations in Burley and Twin Falls, says it's all right with him. Both men and women workers asked for some cooler clothing on the job, he says. The men get to slip into clean-cut shorts and a presentable shirt. The women, well, they can work on their tans if they want. "We figured if they managed to get a little bit of a suntan while they're working, we might have a happier, more contented crew," he says. "It's a blistering job out on the drying line for his summer employees," he says. And the women - among the first to be employed at his car wash - aren't letting their tanning get in the way of their wiping. Customers tell him, Lynch says, that the females clean off the cars with more care than the male dryers do. But have the customers had any other reactions to their casual attire? Well, "We've never heard pro or con yet as to whether people like it or are offended by it," Lynch says. "And since we've hired women, we're not any busier than we have been," Lynch says.

INEL gets nuke fund for reactor
Bill also allots money for Salmon Falls plans

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - An appropriation bill signed by President Reagan contains $9 million to continue breeder reactor research at the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory. Sen. James McClure said Thursday $5 million was added back into the Energy and Water Development appropriation after negotiations to iron out differences between House and Senate versions of the bill. McClure also said the appropriation bill contains $100,000 for studies on the proposed Salmon Falls Irrigation project.

Congress in 1972 authorized construction of a new canal to divert water from Milner Dam, west of Burley, to irrigate nearly 60,000 acres of land in southern Twin Falls County.

Cancer probe at INEL facility questioned - A9

The $100 million project hasn't been started. The $100,000 will study the possibility of providing water for the Salmon Falls project through a canal now operated by the Twin Falls Canal Co. Another $4 million for advanced concept work in breeder reactors will be redirected to fund work at INEL, McClure said. "America cannot afford to skip on energy research and development and a high, great promise for providing low-cost, efficient energy in the years to come," said McClure. Breeder reactors produce more fissionable material than they use up while generating electricity. They are 30 to 60 times more efficient than light-water reactors, the type commonly used to produce electricity. Four research projects are under way at INEL. They include Experimental Breeder Reactor II - a liquid-metal-cooled reactor, Transient Reactor Test Facility which tests fuels for reactors for safety under abnormal conditions; Zero Power Plutonium Reactor, which simulates various shapes for breeder reactor cores and the Hot Fuel Examination Facility; It is used to analyze fuel used in both the EBR-II and TREAT reactors.

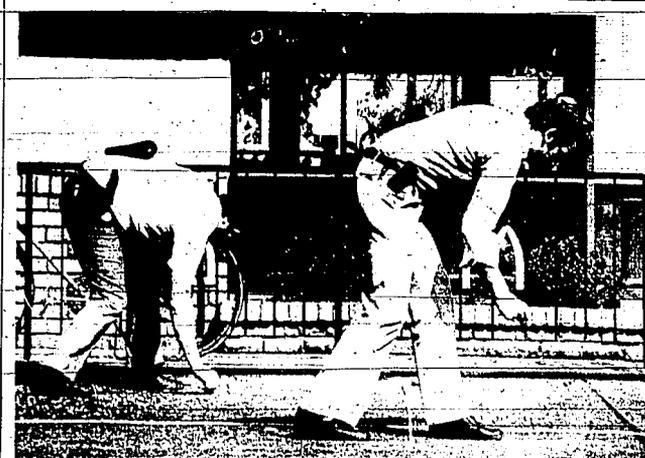

Nation's attention riveted on killings occurring miles apart

SWAT hunting mountain men

By BOB ANEZ
The Associated Press

BIG SKY, Mont. - Members of an assault team armed with high-technology equipment searched the rugged Spanish Peaks area from helicopters Thursday in the hunt for two wilderness-wise mountain men. The men allegedly kidnapped a woman athlete to secure a bride and killed a man searching for her. But the 11-member team returned to base after eight hours without finding a trace of Don Nichols, 53, and his 19-year-old son, Dan. Madison County Sheriff Johnny France said the team hoped to complete searches Thursday at least two of six areas considered the most likely hiding places. The team searched the Cherry Lake area, 10 miles north of where the woman was abducted, and the Jerome Rock Lakes area four miles away. But there was no indication why the search was halted at 1 p.m. If the two men are found, a hostage negotiator will attempt to get them to surrender, France said. Authorities said the two men, who have roamed the mountains for years, may be living in a cave. The two alleged vowed not to be taken alive when they vanished into the timber Monday morning after Alan Goldstein, 36, of Big Sky was shot to death. Goldstein was slain as he attempted to rescue kidnap victim Karl A. Swenson of Bozeman. Miss Swenson, 23, a member of the U.S. women's biathlon team, was abducted Sunday while jogging in the Big Sky resort area several miles from the ranch where she worked. Authorities say Miss Swenson, chained to a tree, was shot in the chest by the younger Nichols, apparently by accident, as Goldstein and another searcher approached the Nichols' camp. She is hospitalized in Bozeman in stable condition. The heavily armed 11-member tactical squad from Billings took off in two helicopters shortly after dawn from a dirt road on the edge of the Spanish Peaks, a high range of rugged mountains about 20 miles north of the Big Sky resort area. They were armed with automatic rifles, night-vision scopes and other sophisticated equipment.

Killings still puzzle police

By ALAN ADLER
The Associated Press

SAN YSIDRO, Calif. - A man who told his wife "I'll see you later," and then walked into a McDonald's restaurant and shot to death 21 people and wounded 19 more in just 10 minutes, may have been despondent over being fired as a security guard last week, police said Thursday. But officials said they still had no motive for the Wednesday afternoon slaughter by James Oliver Huberty, 41, who was slain by a police sharpshooter more than an hour after he opened up with a pistol, shotgun and rifle. It was believed to be the largest one-day mass murder by a gunman in U.S. history. Huberty was described as a survivalist who expected "the end of the world." A man who was "always mad" at somebody, kept loaded guns and talked about shooting somebody. Victims of the attack in this town See SHOOTING on Page A2 See SHOOTING on Page A2

Historic pick for Methodists

BOISE (AP) — The United Methodist Church elected its first female black bishop on Thursday at a Boise convention that earlier said the election of a Hispanic bishop, marking another first.

The Rev. Leontine Kelly, 64, Nashville, Tenn., received 117 votes, surpassing the 94 needed for election at the church's regional conference for members from 12 western states.

She becomes the second female bishop in the United Methodist church. Bishop Marjorie Matthews, Madison, Wis., is to retire this year.

Mrs. Kelly was elected after the Rev. Deanna Blevie, Cheyenne, Wyo., withdrew her candidacy. Mrs. Kelly holds a highly visible position in the national church as the evangelism programs supervisor for the Board of Christian Education.

Bush to campaign in Idaho

BOISE (AP) — Vice President George Bush will visit Idaho to campaign on behalf of Sen. James McClure, a McClure aide says.

Press Secretary Bill Livingston said details of the visit will be discussed by McClure Friday at a Boise news conference.

Livingstone said Bush is expected in Idaho during August, but specific information about the trip was unavailable Thursday.

McClure has been in Idaho during the congressional recess. He arrived in the state June 28 and plans to return to Washington by Monday.

Gas explosion kills worker

HEBRON, N.D. (AP) — An explosion and fire at a natural gas measuring station on Thursday killed one worker and injured five others, one critically, officials said.

The explosion occurred about 12:30 p.m. about 10 miles northwest of Hebron, said Jana Martin, a spokeswoman for Northern Plains Natural Gas Co. in a telephone interview from Omaha, Neb. Hebron is about 60 miles west of Bismarck.

The explosion and fire damaged two of the three buildings at the site, she said, adding that the cause of the explosion has not been determined.

Trick ends hostage seizure

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A gun-toting man who held a hostage on his lap in a television studio was arrested Thursday after being tricked into believing he had read his political statement on the air, police and witnesses said.

The gunman fired one shot, but police reported no injuries during the 20-minute incident at KVUE-TV Thursday morning. The man, identified as Walter Joseph Snader, 39, of Portland, Ore., was later charged with aggravated kidnapping, and was being held at the Austin City Jail in lieu of $25,000 bond, police spokesman Bob Davis said.

Third suicide attempt fails

BOISE (AP) — Convicted murderer Bryan Lankford is in stable condition at the State Corrections Hospital after three suicide attempts forced authorities to transfer him to the state facility, Idaho State Penitentiary Warden Arvon Arava said Thursday.

Lankford, 24, tried to hang himself with a blanket last Tuesday night, Idaho County Chief Deputy Larry Murray said. He was transferred to the Lewis-County Jail in Nez Perce last Wednesday, and tried to hang himself again the next day, Murray said.

Lankford slashed his wrists later that day, Murray said, so authorities had him sedated and flown to the Boise maximum supervision facility.

Lankford also tried to commit suicide before he went to trial for murder.

Lankford was being held at the Idaho County Jail following his first-degree murder convictions this spring in the beating deaths of U.S. Marine Capt. Robert Bravence and his wife, Cheryl.

Postal Service, unions talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Postal Service and the two largest unions representing the nation's mail workers agreed Thursday to resume negotiations today for a new wage and benefit package, a union spokesman said.

Both sides said they agreed to the bargaining table after meeting with key-McMurray, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said Alan Madison, spokesman for the American Postal Workers Union.

Contracts with four postal unions representing 600,000 workers expire at 12:01 a.m. Saturday. A strike against the Postal Service is illegal but officials have made preparations to deliver mail in case of wildcat work stoppages.

Chrysler posts record quarter

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (AP) — Chrysler Corp. announced its second consecutive record quarter Thursday, an $803 million profit for the second three months of 1984.

Chairman Lee Iacocca announced the profits and confirmed that one of Chrysler's two Fenton, Mo., assembly plants would be converted to production of the company's hot-selling Dodge Caravan-Plymouth Voyager minivans.

Chrysler's auto sales were up 18.2 percent in the first half of the year compared with 1983, and truck sales, which include the minivans, also were brisk.

Chrysler's earnings for the second quarter came to $6.48 per common share, that compares with a profit of $10.3 million, or $2.41 a share, a year earlier. Sales for the quarter were $5.25 billion compared with $3.57 billion a year earlier.

The $1.5 billion in earnings for the first half came to $12.12 a share, compared with $4.72 a share last year on a profit of $482.4 million. The increase in earnings was 210.9 percent.

Space agency starts comeback 15 years after landing on moon

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A quarter-million miles from Earth, between a boulder field and a cluster of craters, stands a small memento to one of man's greatest achievements.

The first landing on the moon on July 20, 1969, by three American astronauts.

Bolton to the landing leg of the lunar module Eagle is a steel plaque bearing a map of the world and this inscription:

"Here men from the planet Earth first set foot upon the moon July 1969 A.D. We came in peace for all mankind."

It was signed by President Richard M. Nixon and the three American astronauts who flew man's first moon-landing mission: Commander Neil A. Armstrong, lunar module pilot Edward S. White II, and the command module pilot Michael Collins.

While Collins circled overhead, in the command ship Columbia, Armstrong and Aldrin descended to the surface. With more than half a billion people on Earth watching, enthralled, on television, Armstrong backed down Eagle's ladder and uttered these now-famous words: "That's one small step for a man, one giant leap for mankind."

The visitors stayed less than a day, exploring a "setting described by Aldrin as 'Beautiful! Beautiful! Magnificent Desolation!'"

Fifteen years have passed since that historic day. In the next three years, 10 more Americans walked on the moon's surface, and then the Nixon administration, the public and Congress turned their attention to other national needs. After all, the stated purpose for going to the moon, getting there before the Soviets, had been accomplished.

The budget axe swung, and gone were three additional Apollo moon flights and grandiose National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans for a permanent space station, a moon base and a manned expedition to Mars.

Now President Reagan is pumping new life into NASA, reviving some of its lost dreams.

Congress has given NASA the space station start-up money it asked for, and agency administrator James M. Beggs says "We are on a fast track in space now."

"The space shuttle is flying, and flying well," he said. "The public no longer views space as a place to get to, but a place to work. We're using it to benefit Earth in ways not dreamed of a quarter-century ago."

There is no money yet for projects beyond the shuttle and a space station, but, encouraged by Reagan's words, NASA planners are making long-range plans, ready to move when they finally get the approval for a moon base or a manned flight to Mars.

Democrats

She was Mondale's choice for a running mate, a break with precedent by a traditional politician struggling against long odds to beat Reagan.

Mondale was introduced by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, a rival in 1980, ally now. "A strong and caring man, tempered in the vice presidency, tested in a long and hard campaign," the Massachusetts senator said of Mondale. With Mondale as president, Kennedy said in words that echoed his famous speech at the 1980 convention, "for America and for the world, the dream we share will live again."

Away from the hall, dozens of protesters were arrested during an anti-Reagan protest.

The Democrats leave San Francisco divided by strains developed during Mondale's primary campaign against Hart and Jackson. Both men have endorsed Mondale, but some supporters were clearly torn.

Jackson himself predicted a Mondale victory, saying Thursday, "I am particularly impressed as I see the various elements of the (Democratic) coalition steadily coming together — the progressives who broke away in 1980, the women, Hispanics, the blacks, the Jews, the workers — it's coming together none too soon."

Dropout Alan Cranston said the newfound unity was "Absolutely, honest to God, for real."

In his remarks, Mondale offered the national television audience a frank description of the last presidential

Kennedy turns peacemaker, supporter for '84 campaign

By DAVID ESPO
The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy stole the show at the last Democratic National Convention — stole everything but the nomination.

This time he came to support the star, not upstage him.

It was Walter F. Mondale's convention that Kennedy addressed this year when the Massachusetts senator presented the presidential nominee to the delegates for his acceptance speech Thursday night.

Kennedy's aides say the senator's role reflected his determination to do what he can this fall for the Democratic ticket.

While Kennedy's relationship with Mondale seems tinged with the residue of the rivalry that existed in the 1980 campaign, Kennedy's prominent spot on the convention agenda was an indication of his importance to the general election campaign against President Reagan.

Four years ago, Mondale, then Jimmy Carter's vice president, served as a surrogate in attacking Kennedy, who unsuccessfully challenged the incumbent president for the nomination.

At the New York convention, Kennedy delivered a stirring speech, concluding, "The work goes on, the cause endures, the hope still lives, and the dream shall never die." He was cheered to the rafters for 40 minutes by Carter's convention.

Kennedy avoided the spotlight at this year's convention. He brought nearly a dozen aides with him to do his political business in the convention city, but decided in advance to grant no interviews.

At a cruise party he hosted for the

SEN. TED KENNEDY
Doing what he can

Massachusetts convention delegation Sunday night, he dodged reporters. "We've got a great ticket and we'll be successful in the fall," he said in brief remarks.

At 52, one of the most powerful Democrats in the Senate, Kennedy has perhaps been the nation's best-known liberal politician for more than a decade.

He and talk of the presidency have gone together since the 1968 convention, held after the assassination of her brother, Robert, then a senator from New York who was seeking the nomination.

Kennedy stayed away from convention hall in Chicago that year, sending word from Hyannis, Mass., that he did not wish to run either as president or vice president.

In 1972, he turned down George McGovern's invitation to be his running mate. And by the time of the 1976 convention, he had long since taken himself out of that race.

The only time he chose to run, he challenged an incumbent president and he lost, hampered by what became known as the "character issue" — questions dating from an accident at Chappaquiddick, Mass., in 1969 in which he drove a car off a bridge and a young woman passenger drowned while he escaped and swam to safety.

Yet Kennedy quickly became the early front-runner in the polls for the 1984 race, and stayed out front until he decided not to run.

Even then, he joked of a future race, telling a crowded, nationally televised news conference: "Let me add one last thing. Actually, I enjoyed campaigning in Iowa in 1980. Who knows, I may do it again."

Since that day, he has stayed out of the spotlight of the presidential race.

He declined for months to endorse a contender, even though sources said some of his own aides wanted him to endorse Mondale around the first of the year, and the former vice president sought help for a founding campaign before the Massachusetts primary on March 13.

Kennedy finally decided to support Mondale after the grueling primary fight with Sen. Gary Hart was over, and he did it in a way that cast him in the role of party peacemaker.

Kennedy traveled to Minnesota for a public embrace of Mondale, but only after first talking with Hart, Kennedy carried with him terms of a unity agreement.

Mondale eligible for $40 million in funds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Walter F. Mondale, the Democratic presidential nominee, now is eligible for $40.4 million in federal money to help finance his general election campaign, an election official said Thursday.

Fred Elland, a spokesman for the Federal Election Commission, said Mondale's campaign became eligible for the money the day the candidate was nominated. The campaign will probably get the money sometime next week.

Both Mondale and President Reagan are barred from accepting private donations for the fall campaign; federal funds are supposed to pay the full cost. Federal financing has been in effect since the 1976 campaign.

Mondale must make a formal application to the FEC for the money, a request that the commission could consider as early as its meeting next Thursday, Elland said.

Meanwhile, the National Conservative Political Action Committee said it will file a complaint with the FEC demanding an investigation of Mondale's campaign spending. "After months of exhaustive research... we believe Walter Mondale willingly and flagrantly violated the very laws he helped to enact," said John T. Dolan, chairman of NCPAC. He said the complaint would be filed Friday.

Signal suggested

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Rev. Jesse Jackson and 35 fellow black leaders, including some who had supported Walter F. Mondale for the presidency, urged the Democratic ticket Thursday to send minorities a signal inspiring them to turn out in large numbers for a party victory in November.

No easy answers in latest slaughter

Was he a madman gone berserk, a quiet and unfriendly individual who beat his children and scared off neighbors with gunfire? Was he a crazed Vietnam War veteran whose fantasies of battle he carried into a McDonald's restaurant as he gunned down children and other innocent customers?

Or was he a methodical killer, an angry, bitter and violent unemployed security guard whose rage at the world and other people snapped terribly out of control?

The answers are less easy to state than the questions. James Oliver Huberty, 41, is dead, along with 20 adults and children, in yet another senseless slaughter in the continuing story of violence in America.

This time, the tragedy was in San Ysidro, Calif. In 1966, a sniper killed 16 people at the University of Texas; two years ago, a man gunned down 13 people in Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

It is risky to speculate on such matters. Nonetheless, we notice the following similarities:

All three killers apparently had severely distorted personal lives with either their parents, their spouses, or both.

All of the killers were male, and all apparently had broad experience with weapons. Guns were second nature to them.

Many of the victims were random, innocent people who happened to be at the wrong place at the wrong time. Most were unknown to their killers. They were simply something to shoot at, another creature to be killed.

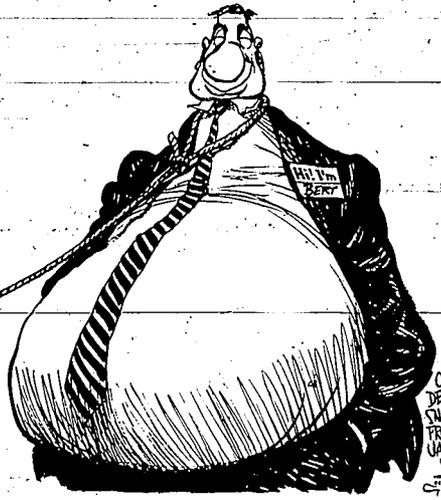

Some defenders of vicious violence in films and on television say it serves as a safety valve for the society at large. They know it is virtually impossible for anyone to tie it to demented acts in real life.

But many people, we would guess, know otherwise. They know that violence can be made common and cheap; that the pervasive presence of guns in the society has a relationship with their violent uses that killing rats at the city dump is somehow connected in the human psyche to the value a society places on human life as well.

None of this is well understood by psychiatrists, whose art is still often little above the level of speculation. Perhaps in a hundred years, we will be able to spot the danger signs early and intercept the potential killers among us. But not now.

WHAT ALBATROSS?

Bargaining table air may be strained

Negotiations between Idaho Power Co. Chairman Jim Bruce, Gov. John Evans and Attorney General Jim Jones on the Swan Falls water rights issue resume Monday but the spirit of negotiation at the bargaining table may be strained.

Individuals on both sides of the issue had exuded optimism that the issue, despite uncertainty among water users which threatens to halt future agricultural development on the Snake River Plain, could be resolved through negotiations.

Reports after the first meeting between the three in May were positive. And even more optimism was expressed last week when staff attorneys for them agreed on a framework.

But there were several notes of discord by Wednesday.

First, Reed Budge, R-Soda Springs — the ousted President Pro-Tem of the Idaho Senate — accused Jones of having a conflict of interest on the issue; that should have caused him to withdraw from the power company negotiations.

Budge, who is facing a strong challenge from Democrat Walter Ward on the issue, has consistently sided with the power company on Swan Falls.

Jones, who had disclosed that particular family interest to reporters as far back as February, responded by calling Budge an "Idaho Power benchmark."

"It's an inept, scummy effort to smear me and it emanates from the Idaho Power board room," Jones said.

Those aren't exactly words that would put a fellow negotiator at ease.

Rick Shaughnessy

Bruce and other Idaho Power executives were probably put even more ill at ease when newspapers and broadcasting stations began calling Wednesday to say Jones' office had assigned a criminal investigator to make inquiries into the company's Swan Falls advertising campaign.

The company opposes the subordination of its Swan Falls water right, which would make its right second in priority to new agricultural development.

Without subordination, the company and the electrical consumers of southern Idaho will retain the low power rates that now result from the company's inexpensive hydropower base, Idaho Power contends.

But proponents of subordination say the issue is neither that simple nor that straightforward. Idaho Power has already been compensated for agreeing to subordinate the water right by being given the rights to build the huge Hells Canyon hydroelectric complex, they say. And subordination proponents add that the power company is not facing power shortages in the foreseeable future and in fact has excess power to sell.

Those two positions polarized the Idaho

Legislature, the forum in which the issue has been argued to a stalemate during the last two years.

The meetings between Bruce, Evans and Jones were intended to minimize the divisiveness that legislative debate and parliamentary maneuvering created.

But this week's events, however, may add to that divisiveness and could bring a breakdown in the talks.

Jones says that to proceed in a spirit of good faith, he suggested a moratorium on the inflammatory comments and media-advertising blitzes which had characterized previous efforts to resolve the situation.

He now says the Budge comments and Idaho Power's refusal to stop its anti-subordination ads violated this moratorium.

But Bruce says Jones also violated the proposed moratorium. He says Jones' efforts to have the U.S. Department of the Interior subordinate three other Idaho Power hydroelectric facilities are not the way to enter into negotiations.

And Bruce now downplays Jones' role as a negotiator. "Evans is really the chief executive of the state, not the attorney general," he says.

Evans, in San Francisco for the Democratic National Convention, has missed this week's Swan Falls fireworks. It is interesting to see whether he can forge a conciliatory tone to the talks when they commence on Monday.

Councilman offers answers to questions about pool plans

Q. Who will own the pool?
A. This facility, as proposed, will be owned and operated by the city of Twin Falls. Cooperative agreements with the school district will allow joint use.

Q. What will the facility include?
A. (1) Covered 50 meter by 60 feet pool with a bulkhead to facilitate muluse activities. The swimming pool will also have training and instructional areas, plus a deep end diving section. The pool is identical in size to the old Harmon Park pool.

(2) Locker rooms will be constructed to provide separation between adult and youth. There will be sufficient numbers of lockers to support the pool during peak usage. (3) The facility will also have areas constructed to provide mechanical support for the pool, concession and administration areas.

Q. What will this program cost?
A. Facility Costs

Pool	$1,239,150
Lockers	$378,400
Other areas	$502,500
Site development	$150,000

Gale Kleinkopf Guest opinion

Contingency & legal fees $355,165
Equipment & furnishings $100,000
Total $2,735,205

Q. How is the pool to be paid for?
A. Facility costs to be paid by $1,085,000 general obligation bond plus $750,000 provided from Twin Falls Capital Improvement budget. The bond will be issued for consideration by registered city voters only.

Q. What will the bond cost the property owner?
A. Home owner cost/month: 44.5 cents/$1,000 of assessed valuation. The following table shows the projected costs for some average market value homes in Twin Falls, including the 50/50 homeowners exemption.

Market Value	$40,000	Bond Cost/Month	$.89
	$50,000		$1.11

Q. How will the pool be heated?
A. One geothermal well will supply heating for the pool building, the Twin Falls High School and Sawtooth Elementary School. The majority of the cost of the geothermal well is supported by a federal grant. This well will result in about a $17,000 savings in heating costs to the school district from the high school alone.

Q. What benefits will the school district see?
A. This facility can be used by high school students at no additional charge. The students will have another activity choice in completing their physical education requirements which have been mandated by the State Board of Education. The facility can serve to reduce the overcrowding in existing school programs.

Q. Can recreational swimming occur during school days?
A. The swimming pool can be used by community residents and the school physical education classes simultaneously. Several separate programs can be carried out concurrently in the pool because of the design and planning.

Q. Why is the pool covered?
A. The pool can be used 12 months of the year instead of three to four as in outside pools.

Q. Will this facility have grass areas for sun bathing?
A. The pool and associated areas will provide a family atmosphere due to planned grass and picnic areas.

Q. Why not replace the pool at Harmon Park?
A. To replace the Harmon Park Pool and locker facility would cost the taxpayers approximately $1.4 million. The city's contribution of $750,000 would only be sufficient to build a pool, well, and lockers of about one-half of the size of the original Harmon facility.

Q. What would it cost to use the pool?
A. The costs for swimming at this new pool would be similar to costs at Harmon. We anticipate income revenues will allow us to hold costs down so all users, including low income families, will have equal opportunities for pool use.

Q. How will the operation costs be shared?
A. The city of Twin Falls and the school district will share equally in the costs of operation. However, our best estimates show the pool to be essentially self-supporting. The costs to each governmental entity at the end of the year will be quite modest and perhaps non-existent. The school district share of the costs will certainly be less than the savings due to the geothermal heating of the high school.

Q. Is it an advantage to share facilities?
A. The city and school district have cooperated in the past in facility sharing. However, this is a chance to expand the concept of joint usage through long-term lease and use agreements.

Certainly an advantage exists to the taxpayer public if combined facilities can satisfy several needs of the community without duplicating services. This is one of the opportunities that we think should be strongly considered.

Gale Kleinkopf, a member of the Twin Falls City Council, has been active in the research and planning stages of the proposed Twin Falls pool. A vote on the pool bond is scheduled for Aug. 14.

Letters/ Few men chosen for vice president have been well qualified for office

Mondale takes the first step

A journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step. Walter Mondale has taken that step in choosing a highly competent woman as his running mate in the forthcoming election. Immediately the news media, with all the omnipotence granted editors, began the "chicken little" squawking, "Is she qualified" to hold the office of the vice president?

Horse feathers. This woman has held office of congresswoman from the Queens district in New York City for three terms, elected by whopping majorities. During her service in Congress she chaired powerful committees, moving from obscurity to national stature.

Now while editors are questioning her qualifications perhaps they should refresh their minds by reviewing past history of that office. Few of those so chosen (all men) were competent to become president. The majority were unknown.

Beginning with Millard Fillmore, we have had a menagerie of drunken sons, druggists and broken down politicians interspersed with a few who were eminently qualified for the presidency. These Roosevelt being the outstanding person so nominated.

Coming down to today's world, was Gerald Ford qualified? The power behind Jimmy Carter's presidency was Rosalyn. The greatest asset of FDR was Eleanor Roosevelt. Was Andrew Johnston, an unknown druggist, a nincompoop who escaped impeachment by a single vote fit to succeed Abraham Lincoln? Competency to operate a business or a nation comes with serving. Woman's suffrage did not end America in spite of the blithering and squawking of the press.

My parents were quiet but forceful supporters of women's voting rights and of being granted equal rights in government and in business. Mother was a firm believer that women had brains to compete with men in any field. Dad quietly agreed saying that women were a part of our nation and of our freedoms, a part of the human race and vital in shaping the lives of their children. So when women suffrage became the great political hassle it was accepted in our home without the dire predictions of the press.

Today's world is filled with examples of outstanding women. Golda Meir of Israel, Indira Gandhi of India and Margaret Thatcher of England. Not one of these great leaders was born with, but acquired their ability by serving.

Let the omnipotent editors and other giants of the news media control their yakking of an assortment of deceit, half-truths, no-truths and outright lies. Let them look America in the face with its regiments of outstanding women in every category of endeavor in science, in religion, in our courts, in our government. Let them think for a moment of the Negro women who have been in the forefront of bringing their people from slavery to high office, to leadership in athletics to the field of medical science; who have faced down segregationists with their water cannon and savage dogs; who have seen their children killed; who fought for civil rights until they were

Let them dare to say that women are unfit to attain the highest office in our land.

Our minds must be conditioned to accept the fact that the business secretary who often knows more about the working of the business than the president and the same can be true in government.

Perhaps our minds are not ready for "Madam President" but the minds of our great-grandchildren will be so conditioned. Perhaps that first step has been taken.

She'd like ring or money

This is to the people that steal things at yard sales. Some people have sales to get rid of stuff, others do it to help raise money. Either for a church organization or even to help themselves to pay on bills or buy food for the family.

I had a yard sale on July 19, and some one took a ring valued at $40. I wouldn't have been selling it if I didn't have to. So who ever took it, I hope you enjoy it — that is if you can live with yourself. I just wonder if you would take stuff out of stores without paying for it. If by chance, you still have it, I would like it back or would like to have the money. If you can't remember the address, I feel that if you sent it to The Times-News that they would get it for me.

"This is for all people, young or old. The ball that you do to others, will be returned a lot worse to you. This I have seen have seen, happen many times again."

McClure risking a backlash

Why is Senator McClure holding Senator Goldwater, his Republican colleague's white dress bill hostage? What has Idaho to gain by angering the Arizona Congressional delegation?

Arizonaans have labored hard to achieve a consensus of their wilderness bill. Isn't Senator McClure's tactics risking a backlash against Idaho when your state has a bill you want passed?

Huberty: Bitter, looking for better life

By ARTHUR S. BRISBANE
The Washington Post

MASSILLON, Ohio — James Oliver Huberty was an angry man who took his family, his private arsenal and his bitterness to search for a better life from this northeastern Ohio town where a distressed economy had cost him his job.

Huberty did not find what he was looking for. Wednesday afternoon, one week after he lost another job as a security guard in San Ysidro, Calif., the 41-year-old man walked in a McDonald's restaurant and killed 20 people and fatally wounded one more before he was slain by a police sharpshooter.

Acquaintances in this area were not altogether surprised when they heard what Huberty had done. One said, "I knew there was something wrong with him." Another recalled that when Huberty lost his job, at the Babcock & Wilcox plant in nearby Canton in October 1982, "he said that if this was the end of his making a living for his family, he was going to take everyone with him. He was always talking about shooting somebody." A portrait of Huberty, drawn from law enforcement officials and those who knew him, reveals an uncertain man who shifted directions several times in his life. One personality trait remained consistent, however: Huberty struck others as a loner who did not much care for other people. In 1965, while attending Malone College in Canton part-time, Huberty became an apprentice mortician at the Don Williams Funeral Home. Williams recalled Thursday, "He was a very clean-cut chap and he was more or less of a loner type. He would rather just be off by himself."

Williams said Huberty was better at embalming bodies than dealing with clients. "I told him that I thought he was pursuing the wrong profession. He didn't seem to have the personality for it," Williams said.

Huberty married his wife, the former Elna Markland, during this period, Williams said, and the couple had two children. According to some reports, it was after an argument with his wife that Huberty went to the McDonald's and opened fire on customers and workers there. In the 1970s, Huberty appeared to achieve some success. He graduated from Malone with a bachelor's degree in sociology after an on-again, off-again course of study there. He went to work as a welder for Babcock & Wilcox, reportedly making between $25,000 and $30,000. He bought a home in this town of 32,000, and a six-unit apartment building next-door, according to James Aslanes, a co-worker at B&W.

Aslanes got to know Huberty there but, before long, he became wary of him. "I met him at work," Aslanes recalled. "We first became friendly when he found out I was studying kung fu. He was inquiring about how to put his daughter into the program, for some kind of self defense."

The two men visited each other's homes. Aslanes, a gun owner himself, noticed that Huberty's house was filled with guns; shotguns, rifles, handguns and an Israeli-made Uzi machine gun. While Aslanes said their mutual interest reinforced their friendship, one incident caused him concern.

McDonald's pulls commercials off air

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) — McDonald's Corp. on Thursday asked advertising outlets nationwide to delay broadcast of its commercials following the massacre at its San Ysidro, Calif., restaurant, a company official said.

suburban Chicago headquarters. "We have asked everyone to delay the ads for several days because we feel it is appropriate given the circumstances." Starmann said company officials do not anticipate any drop in business. "It was a bizarre, isolated and very tragic incident," he said. "Our hearts go out to the victims and their families, and we share in their grief."

Death-row guards foil Bundy's plans

STARKE, Fla. (AP) — Theodore Bundy, condemned for killing two sorority sisters and a child, and another death-row inmate were caught in an apparent attempt to break out of Florida State Prison, a state corrections spokesman said Thursday.

A bar in each of their cells had been cut, and hacksaw blades, a pair of gloves and other escape items were found in Bundy's cell, said the spokesman, Vernon Bradford.

Bundy, considered an escape artist and master of disguise, was still in his cell when the discovery was made late Wednesday, Bradford said.

Each of the more than 200 inmates on death row at the maximum-security prison has a cell to himself. Bundy, 37, escaped from a Colorado jail on Dec. 30, 1977, while awaiting trial in the murder of a Michigan nurse vacationing at Aspen. He got out by way of the jail ceiling, after losing weight so he would fit through a narrow opening in his cell.

FBI mugsshots distributed after the Colorado escape and before his arrest on Florida murder charges showed Bundy was able to frequently change his appearance by adding or shaving his facial hair and changing his hairstyle.

After Bundy's Colorado escape, then acting FBI director James B. Adams said in Washington that Bundy was wanted for questioning in 36 sex slayings in the Northwest. Bradford said the other inmate was Manuel Valle of Miami, who was imprisoned four cells away from Bundy. Valle, convicted of killing a Coral Gables police officer on April 2, 1978, also was in his cell, Bradford said.

A bar in each cell had been cut at the top and at the bottom and were being held together by an adhesive-like substance, possibly using a soap base, Bradford said.

Bundy was hustled away to a disciplinary-confinement cell. A prison report on the incident will be sent to local prosecutors to determine if Bundy and Valle will be formally charged, Bradford said.

Bundy has been on death row since 1978. He is under death sentences for killing two Florida State University sorority sisters on Jan. 15, 1978, and a North Florida schoolgirl who disappeared on Feb. 9 of that year.

Richard Dugger, prison superintendent, said he believed Bundy and Valle didn't plan an immediate escape but rather were plotting to break out within a few weeks.

Bradford said the only known connection between Bundy and Valle was that they both were housed on the same floor of the prison wing and both exercised with the other prisoners four hours a week in the exercise yard.

Robbers flee with 15 bags of money

UKIAH, Calif. (AP) — Six to eight masked men with automatic weapons stopped a Bank of America armored car on a rural highway Thursday and fled with 15 bags of currency after spreading nails along the highway, authorities said.

The robbers opened fire on the armored car from the rear of one of two pickup trucks in the robbery around noon near Redwood Valley, about 120 miles north of San Francisco, said John Holdford, an FBI spokesman based in San Francisco.

One report indicated one or more of the three guards in the truck sustained minor injuries, probably from flying glass, but this could not be confirmed immediately.

Shirley Childers of Marysville, driving behind the three trucks in a car driven by her husband, said the road around the holdup scene was covered with nails spilled by the robbers.

A FAMILY TRADITION

Beginning Sunday, a special series in The Times-News will look at the issue of divorce. We will tell the individual stories. We will tell the story of our society's institutions as they struggle to cope. We will tell the stories of the children.

Whether we like it or not, the foundering of marriages is becoming almost as common as marriage itself. For the most recent year that statistics were available, there were 1,172 marriages in the Magic Valley. During that same period, there were 895 divorces.

Divorce is a family tradition. It indirectly affects all of us. It directly and profoundly affects many of us. Please join us, beginning Sunday.

Famed nun set for surgery

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mother Teresa of Calcutta will undergo cataract surgery on her left eye at Pittsburgh's St. Francis Medical Center, her physician told the hospital in a telegram received Thursday.

"(Mother Teresa) is very thankful and offers her prayers to all of you and wishes to inform you she will come to your hospital as soon as her plans are finalized," Dr. H.M. Shah-of-Calcutta said in the telegram, according to hospital spokeswoman Marti Walsh.

Reagan lauds 'freedom tide'

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — President Reagan on Thursday denounced the upcoming Nicaraguan elections as a Soviet-style sham, but told Caribbean leaders the U.S. invasion of Grenada last fall signaled that the hemisphere's "tide of the future" is a freedom tide.

Speaking on the fifth anniversary of the revolution that toppled Nicaraguan dictator Anastasio Somoza, Reagan said the leftist Sandinista leadership has "worked systematically to establish a dictatorship firmly allied with Cuba and the Soviet Union."

As for Grenada, Reagan said the invasion of that tiny nation by 7,000 Americans reversed "a communist power grab," and he thanked the Caribbean officials for their support. "We saved the people of that troubled island; we restored their freedom, we revived their hope," he said.

"Four years ago, economic prospects were bleak and the forces of tyranny were on the move, emboldened by what seemed to be a paralysis among the democratic peoples of the hemisphere," Reagan said.

"But, by joining together with courage and determination, we've turned that situation around. Now the tide of the future is a freedom tide."

Reagan said the Nicaraguan people have witnessed "a revolution betrayed." The United States would welcome a "genuine" election test in Nicaragua this November, he said, but "no person committed to democracy will be taken in by a Soviet-style sham election. The situation in Nicaragua is not promising."

"If the Sandinistas would keep their original commitment — permit free elections, respect human rights, and establish an independent nation — conflict in the region would subside," he said.

Questioned as to why Reagan would label the Nicaraguan election as a sham before it occurred, presidential spokesman Larry Speakes said: "We think that's what it's going to be."

British dockers end strike

LONDON (AP) — Longshoremen ended their disruptive walkout at Dover port Thursday night, delaying union leaders and heading ranks with a 9-day-old nationwide strike the government said would soon create chaos.

British truck drivers stranded at the French port of Calais, on the opposite side of the English Channel, immediately called off a blockade to protest the dockers' action, and prepared to sail for home.

A statement issued jointly by the Dover Harbor Board and the port's local shop stewards' committee said the "tensions and eruptions" of the strike had become intolerable to staff, freight drivers and the public.

The dock strike, which has paralyzed the import-export trade, continued at Britain's remaining ports.

The longshoremen at Dover, Britain's busiest ferry port, had joined the dock strike on Monday. Negotiations on the national walkout continued in Thursday night in London.

The Dover statement said: "The shop stewards' committee has now concluded that the threat of disorder and serious injuries within the port complex mean that it can no longer wait for the conclusion of talks taking place in London."

Immediately after the announcement, 180 stranded trucks, both foreign and British, started loading onto waiting ferries heading for ports on the European continent.

Within minutes, the 250 British truck drivers at Calais—the main channel gateway to Britain, lifted their blockade, officials said. As the news spread, the blasts of horns rent the air in celebration.

Sandinistas say priest to take post in cabinet

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — The Sandinistas celebrated the fifth anniversary of their rise to power Thursday with a huge rally in downtown Managua at which their leader defied both the Vatican and the political opposition.

Junta coordinator Daniel Ortega declared that a Roman Catholic priest will be education minister despite the Vatican ban on priests serving in government, and a national state of emergency that suspends individual rights will remain in effect until Oct. 21.

Ortega added, however, that some provisions of the emergency would be relaxed to allow greater press freedom and political campaigning for the Nov. 4 elections, in which he is the Sandinista candidate for president.

Under the emergency, the government has heavily censured mention of fighting by U.S.-backed rebels and criticism of the regime by the opposition. The emergency also banned public rallies by opposition groups.

Hartman meets with Gromyko

MOSCOW (AP) — Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko met with U.S. Ambassador Arthur Hartman on Thursday at the American's request, the official Soviet news agency Tass said.

A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy confirmed that Hartman met with Gromyko. But neither the spokesman, who spoke on condition he not be identified, nor Tass provided any details of the conversation.

Hartman meets regularly with Gromyko both on topical issues and as part of the ambassador's effort to maintain high-level contacts with the Soviet government.

Cuts could cause emergency at ISU

BOISE (AP) — If Idaho State University has to cut its current budget by 3 percent, for $577,000, the school will have to declare a financial emergency and lay off employees.

The State Board of Education received that information Thursday afternoon, and voted to seek an audience with Gov. John Evans before the governor decides whether to order all state agencies to cut spending by 3 percent.

Evans is scheduled to decide on Monday whether to order the holdback, because state tax revenue is falling behind the estimate used to prepare this year's budget.

The board of education was advised by Executive Director Charles McQuillen that sort of cutbacks will trim $12.2 million from the budgets of agencies under the board.

It also would mean a $2.3-million reduction in the college and university budgets, McQuillen said. The junior colleges would lose about $130,000 in state funds.

Besides ISU's $577,000 holdback, the cuts would include $638,000 at Boise State, $997,000 at University of Idaho, $123,000 at Lewis-Clark State College and $61,800 for College of Southern Idaho and $67,200 for North Idaho College.

McQuillen said he believes ISU is the only state college that would have to declare an emergency to cope with the funding cut.

Earlier, the board reviewed construction requests from agencies under its control. They totaled $18 million, and would have to be financed out of the Permanent Building Fund.

Board Financial Officer Steve Keto said top priority among the construction requests that go before the next Legislature must go to a massive renovation of the campus at the Gooding State School for the Deaf and Blind.

"That has to be the board's top priority. The board already is committed to it," he said.

Prosecutors want to track DUI drivers

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho State Prosecuting Attorneys' Association is considering a plan to use computers to keep track of people arrested for drunken driving.

Keith Roark, president of the ISPAA, said the major value of the computerized "Criminal Identification Bureau" would be to let prosecutors know whether a person arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol faced similar charges in another county.

"I think a lot of people have gotten off the hook because the courts saw that they didn't have a record when they really did," Roark said. "Right now, a person could have many cases pending and the courts wouldn't know if, or how many, cases were pending."

Roark said the only records the courts have now are of convictions, not arrests. He said the new system, already in use in Colorado and Arizona and just starting in Utah, would provide key information about DUI cases.

Roark said the new system would help identify people who have a long record of DUI arrests but have pleaded guilty to lesser charges. The courts thus could identify people who have had alcohol-related auto accidents, but have been able to disguise them.

Under the Idaho plan, Roark said, computer terminals would be placed in each county seat. The name of any person arrested for DUI would be entered and kept on record, regardless of the case's final disposition.

Roark said he did not know how much the system would cost. He said the ISPAA would first have to find a way to purchase the necessary computer equipment for the 41 Idaho county seats. Then the organization would work with prosecuting attorneys to make certain all DUI cases were entered.

Raptor ring due in court

BOISE (AP) — Two Ada County men accused of protecting an international raptor-smuggling ring will appear in federal court on the charges next week in Great Falls, Mont.

Dennis J. Jeppsen, Kuna, and Ronald J. Rollins, Boise, are to be arraigned before a U.S. magistrate in Great Falls on Monday afternoon, said Joanne Rodriguez, assistant U.S. attorney for Idaho.

Each is charged with two counts of illegal interstate transportation of wildlife and one count of illegal possession of migratory birds, in addition to a conspiracy count for making false statements to authorities.

Jeppsen and Rollins appeared briefly Wednesday before U.S. Magistrate Mikel Williams in Boise, who made the order, Rodriguez said. The men agreed to be present in Great Falls.

Morrison-Knudsen executive dies

BOISE (AP) — Lee R. Abercrombie, vice president of finance and treasurer for the Morrison-Knudsen Co., has died after a brief illness. He was 54.

Abercrombie, who joined the international construction, shipbuilding and engineering company 11 years ago after 18 years with FMC Corp., was well known in international financial circles and active in local civic affairs.

At the time of his death Wednesday, he was vice chairman of the Idaho State Endowment Fund Investment Board and the board of trustees for the College of Idaho.

Youth center calms after troubled year

BOISE (AP) — The Youth Services Center, the subject of unrest and controversy for the last year, appears to be calming down, its director says.

"The campus is calmer than it was one year ago at this time," said Kurt Friedenaur, administrator of the St. Anthony facility for juvenile offenders.

Friedenaur appeared before the state Health and Welfare Board, which wound up a two-day session in Boise on Thursday.

Friedenaur said a new group therapy program, "positive peer culture," is helping ease tensions at the institution. A California-based juvenile justice organization has claimed the center uses improper treatment practices and provides inadequate facilities.

The board scheduled a closed-door session to discuss that litigation, and little was said about the lawsuit in the public meeting.

David Humphrey, administrator of the Division of Field Operations, said a priority in the last year has been to reduce the population at YSC and putting juvenile offenders in less restrictive settings.

Hispanic elected as bishop

BOISE (AP) — A Los Angeles minister was elected here Thursday as a new United Methodist Church bishop.

And a spokesman says that sets a precedent, because the Rev. Elias G. Galvan, 46, is the first Hispanic ever elected a United Methodist bishop.

Delegates to the church's convention here picked Galvan on the 17th ballot Thursday afternoon. He needed 95 votes and received 98.

Today, the western jurisdiction and the entire United Methodist Church has made history, said Rev.

Melvin Talbert, Seattle, in introducing Galvan. Galvan is the administrator of the church's new Southern California-Hawaii conference.

Still among the candidates in the see-saw balloting are the Rev. Deanna Bleyde of Cheyenne, Wyo., and the Rev. Leontine Kelly of Nashville, Tenn. Both are trying to become only the second woman ever elected a bishop by the church.

Rev. Kelly received 70 votes on the ballot Thursday afternoon that resulted in Galvan's election.

Academy questions cancer probe near INEL

By HAL BERTON
Times-News writer

POCATELLO — The Idaho Academy of Sciences has found a study of cancer rates downwind of the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory to be inconclusive due to its use of "questionable" statistical methods and "ambiguous" analysis.

The cancer study, presented in May to the American Academy for the Advancement of Science, "determined that there was an excessive number of deaths from cancer in southeastern Idaho's Clark County, and an excess in cancer-related deaths in Jefferson and Bonneville Counties."

But members of a five-person academy review committee said they don't think the study's data supports its conclusions.

The committee, however, said it wanted to "congratulate the authors for attempting the difficult study and would agree that a more careful and thorough study should be carried out."

The study was co-authored by M.J. Blain, a Boise State University sociology professor, and C.J. Johnson, a Denver-based doctor affiliated with the Medical Care and Research Foundation. It was carried out with the assistance of the Snake River Alliance with funds from the Ruth Mott Foundation of Flint, Mich.

The study's summary abstract said INEL radioactive releases had caused "major environmental contamination...with radionuclides" that had been confirmed by "on-site studies of soil, water, plants and animals."

The study used federal data on cancer mortality and state data on cancer incidence to document excessive cancer rates that might be related to the radioactive contamination.

It found that over a 19-year period there were 17 cancer-related deaths in Clark County, twice the number Blain said could have been expected based on the state's cancer rate. The study also found that during the 1970s, eleven of the county's 900 residents, more than twice the number anticipated, contracted cancer of various organs.

Blain said he worked on the study for nearly a year, consulting with Johnson on the statistical methodology. Blain said that Johnson is a recognized expert in the field of cancer mortality studies and recently presented a paper on Utah cancer rates downwind from nuclear test sites to the Journal of the American Medical Association for publication.

Blain said Johnson adapted a statistical method derived from studies developed at Los Alamos, a federal nuclear research facility in New Mexico. Johnson could not be reached for comment Thursday.

"This was preliminary data and may not be perfect, but it does indicate the need for further research," Blain said. "I think the study, without a doubt, points out that need and that's what I have said all along. There's some suspicious stuff out there."

Blain, a Snake River Alliance member, said he began gathering information for the study several years ago.

"I felt for a long time that this needed to be done. I did my part voluntarily, working with the Snake River Alliance to secure some funding."

Dr. Rod Seely, an Idaho State University physiologist who chairs the Idaho academy, said that cancer studies should only be done with the greatest of care since they have "the potential for profoundly affecting the people in the State."

He said the study did not adequately describe its methodology, that it used inappropriate statistics, and did not involve enough people to "have confidence in the conclusions."

The academy panel concluded that "The small sample in Clark County makes it difficult to generate meaningful statistics. A control group in another area of southeast Idaho might have been more appropriate."

Citizens fighting to save rest area

By TERRELL HAGERMAN
Times-News correspondent

HAGERMAN — A scenic rest area on Highway 30 south of Hagerman will not be phased out if some local citizens have their way.

At a Hagerman City Council meeting Tuesday, Ann Barsuglia presented a 217-signature petition asking the Idaho Highway Department not to "phase out" and close the rest stop as planned.

"I don't think they should," she said. "It's a pretty place down here."

Barsuglia, a longtime local resident, said she learned of the phase out plan from a June 22 Times-News article that said the Hagerman rest stop was not planned for renovation as most others were.

Later, she said, in talking to state transportation official Keith Breme of Boise, she learned there had been complaints about the rest area.

Burt Holmes, owner of a nearby motel and campground, had said the rest area was being used as a free overnight camping area, a situation he could not compete with.

Holmes later clarified his complaint, saying he does not object to daytime use of the rest area.

Barsuglia asked for city support in her effort to save the 15-year old rest area.

"Before I go any further, I want it to be known that I did not do this to be against Burt Holmes or for him or any other way," Barsuglia noted.

In a letter to Breme, she said one of the biggest promotions in Magic Valley is this scenic route "where the fish are always biting."

Court reduces death charge

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

JEROME — A Jerome man whose vehicle struck and killed a Boise woman last April was placed on two-year probation Thursday after pleading guilty to a reduced misdemeanor charge of inattentive driving.

Joel Golder Hess, 54, was originally charged with felony vehicular manslaughter and driving while intoxicated.

He was also ordered Thursday by Fifth District Magistrate Roger Burdick to complete 100 hours of community service work in Jerome County and was fined $300 and court costs. Judge Burdick suspended a six-month county jail sentence in favor of the two-year probation.

Jennie Beers, 82, of Boise was crossing North Lincoln in the 200 block about 8:30 p.m. last April 7 when she was hit by a car driven by Hess. She died about an hour later in St. Benedict's Hospital.

The DUI charge was reduced to inattentive driving as a result of plea bargaining and the prosecution stated the felony manslaughter was dismissed some time earlier.

Following the sentencing, Deputy Jerome County Prosecutor Kay Jones said he had dismissed his felony charge against Hess after his investigation and review of the case indicated there was not enough evidence to support a felony manslaughter charge.

He said the city prosecutor could have reduced a misdemeanor vehicular manslaughter charge. However, there was already a plan to drop the DUI charge, which Jones had reduced in the felony manslaughter charge.

To eliminate the necessity of filing additional charges, the DUI was simply changed to misdemeanor inattentive driving, Jones explained.

Jones told the court he could not make a recommendation on sentencing

JUDGE ROGER BURDICK, Sought prosecutor's input ing although he had given it considerable thought, especially since a life was lost.

Burdick asked twice if his position was that of recommendation, leniency and Jones said it was not. Jones said he was making no recommendation and would leave the decision to the court, since he could not come up with a recommendation he could find comfortable. Burdick said he would then accept that as a leniency recommendation. Hess was represented by Attorney Leon Smith of Twin Falls.

Following the sentencing, Burdick said he had no information as to why the manslaughter charge was dropped and the other charge reduced. He said, however, evidence in the case indicated Beers and her companion were running across the street and may have run into the path of the car rather than away from it. The city accident report showed Beers and Naomi Lavenos of Jerome were going hand-in-hand across the four-lane main thoroughfare in Jerome.

'Oldsters' are a hot attraction in Glenns Ferry these days

By DIANA HOOLEY
Times-News correspondent

GLENN'S FERRY — In the same way the New York Mets in the 60s and the mighty Casey in the mythical town of Muddville fought the odds and emerged winners, Glenns Ferry has a softball team that's coming from behind.

The Over-the-Hill-Gang softball team is made up of men over 35 who, as their coach Eddie Bostic says, "still like to play ball and have a good time."

Bostic and summer softball recreation director Suzanne Pember say city league

Diana Hooley
Country neighbors

baseball after the age of 35 is a rarity in small towns.

"But what does a man over 35 get to do, besides work? Recreational activities are limited for our age group, especially in a small town," Bostic tells me.

Pember says even big towns like Twin Falls and Boise don't have teams in their city leagues to compare with the Over-the-Hill-Gang.

The 16-member team was formed last summer and its members became serious about playing city league ball when they ordered shirts and pants like the other teams — well, they take themselves and their playing seriously, most of the time.

"I think the only time any of the team members got upset is when a bad call is made by an 18-year-old umpire. Most of these men know the rules backwards and forwards and have played for years and years," said Pember.

The Over-the-Hill-Gang doesn't have grueling practice sessions like some of the other teams.

"They're saving their energy for the real thing," laughs Pember, adding the team has a few good home-run hitters who are always on the lookout for the homerun hit.

It's an opportunity to walk the bases instead of run them, or they tell the bases instead of run them.

The Over-the-Hill-Gang team has a real following in Glenns Ferry and draws a bigger crowd than any of the other teams. Most team members are businessmen in town who know how to enjoy themselves and be good sports.

Coach Bostic said he thought age was maybe an overrated concern in community baseball.

"We have some pretty fair athletes on our team. Our minds are as fast as the younger players. It's just our bodies that have to catch up sometimes," Bostic says.

Last year the Over-the-Hill-Gang came in last during the city league tournament — but they're confident they're going to win this year.

But win or lose, even the opposing teams root for the Over-the-Hill-Gang.

"They play city league ball the way it should be played," said Pember. "With a genuine team effort, a lot of spirit and a lot of fun. I think they're a good reflection on the town of Glenns Ferry and we're proud to have them."

Hansen regains form on favored topics

By RICK SHAUGHNESSY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Optimists went easy on Rep. George Hansen Thursday.

At a luncheon meeting of the fraternal organization, Hansen was asked to field only a few questions about his felony convictions and personal finances, subjects which have dominated news accounts of the embattled seven-term congressman's re-election campaign since April.

Instead, members of the organization asked Hansen about the issues he appears to enjoy addressing: a proposed constitutional amendment requiring a balanced federal budget; Hansen's proposed "Fair and Simple Tax" system; eastern banking interests and the electoral-college system of electing U.S. presidents.

On the subject of his personal problems, he declined to answer one question asked of him, namely, how he plans to pay the expensive legal bills he has run up during his felony trial and the pending appeal of his four felony convictions.

Hansen said his method of paying those fees — estimated by his staff

REP. GEORGE HANSEN
No comment on finances

attorney to exceed $250,000 — is a personal matter. He said he will disclose specific information on his method of payment on financial disclosure forms to the extent required by law and when required by law. He repeated his claim that he has been singled out for criminal prosecution under the federal Ethics in Government Act and adds that Congress, in passing the law, never intended it to carry with it criminal penalties.

"My problem is basically spouse disclosure. Ed Meese's problem, which you heard about a little while ago, was spouse disclosure," he said of problems experienced by President Reagan's White House counsel. He added that the Democratic vice presidential nominee, Rep. Geraldine Ferraro, D-N.Y., has also had problems resulting from spouse disclosure.

Ferraro's campaign committee was fined $500 and her husband, John A. Zaccaro, was fined $250 by the Federal Elections Commission after Ferraro's campaign accepted $110,000 in loans from Zaccaro. Federal election laws permit loans of no more than $1,000.

Hansen who was convicted, in part, for failing to disclose loans and silver profits made to or by his wife, Connie, says Ferraro also has failed — for the past five years — to disclose financial information about her spouse, despite the fact she is secretary-treasurer and a stockholder in his company.

"I still consider it a political rigging job," Hansen said of his own legal battle. He added, "some of the people who did the rigging caught some of their own."

"I feel that we did right. I think we'll prove it," he said.

Hansen told the Optimists that the Congressional Leaders United for a Balanced Budget, or CLUBB, an organization started by Rep. Larry Craig, R-Idaho, have solicited the support of almost enough state legislatures to require the convening of a constitutional convention for the purpose of writing a balanced budget amendment.

Hansen said that balancing the federal budget is not as simple as raising taxes or cutting spending or both. He said his proposed tax system would go a long way towards bringing expenditures in line with revenues because it would bring taxpayers in the underground economy back into the tax system.

Hansen said U.S. foreign policy has been dictated by big banks that have extended credit to countries that are poor credit risks.

Utility won't reveal advertising packages

By RICK SHAUGHNESSY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Idaho Power Co. will not authorize newspapers or broadcasters to disclose confidential information to the Idaho attorney general's office about their "anti-subordination" advertising campaign.

A criminal investigator for the attorney general's office requested information on the ad campaign — its cost, frequency and other particulars — in a letter sent Monday to about 20 companies known to have aired or displayed the ads.

The company issued conflicting statements Wednesday when asked whether they would authorize the newspapers and the radio and television stations to provide the requested information.

Larry Taylor, an Idaho Power spokesman, clarified the company's position Thursday, saying it is up to the individual newspapers or broadcasters to decide whether to disclose the information.

"I've asked, we're not going to say go ahead and disclose it," he added.

Representatives for The Times-News and KMYT-TV both said those individual companies treat most of the information requested as confidential and would only be released upon subpoena or if authorized by Idaho Power.

Conflicting reports were attributed to the attorney general's office Wednesday on the nature of the inquiry. Rick Le Gall, the criminal investigator who sent out the letters of inquiry, told The Times-News he was unaware of any possible criminal intrusion on the power company's behalf as a result of the campaign.

An Associated Press report, however, attributed Attorney General Jim Jones as saying the inquiry. • See WATER on Page A10

School board re-elects chief

JEROME — At the reorganization meeting of the Jerome School Board, Nancy Churchman was re-elected board chairman and Alvin Chojnacky was elected vice chairman.

The new board member, Ken Baumgartner, who was elected last year to succeed Ben Joe Sigurd, was sworn into office as Ben Neff who was re-elected in the May election.

Individuals serving in appointive offices were reappointed by the chairman and board members.

Hospital retains ambulances

JEROME — Ambulance service in Jerome County will continue to be furnished by St. Benedict's Hospital in the coming year.

The Board of Jerome County Commissioners accepted a bid from the hospital Monday. Two bids were received including the hospital's bid for $20,000 per year, plus an 8 percent increase for mileage. The hospital will charge a fee of $80 per run during the coming year.

Carl Miller of the Valley Ambulance Service bid $1,250 per month in county subsidy and $75 for emergency patient runs, $125 for advanced life support and $2 to load patients.

College orientation offered

TWIN FALLS — The University of Idaho's Road Show, a new student orientation program, will play in Twin Falls Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Twin Falls High School.

New students can learn about housing, finances, academic advising, registration and student activities from a slide show and a question and answer session.

Six university officials plan to visit Twin Falls, including Registrar Matt Tolin, Dean of Students Bruce Pitman and student organization President Tom LeClaire.

The Tuesday meeting is the only one scheduled for the Magic Valley.

Hearing set on escape charge

JEROME — A preliminary hearing has been set for July 30 at 4 p.m. for Jeffrey Morris, 26, on charges of escape from the Jerome County Jail on May 20.

Morris was returned last week from Springfield, Mo., by Sheriff Eliza Hall after he agreed to waive extradition.

Morris and Timothy Alger, 25, were being held in the Jerome County Jail on charges involving a running gun battle March 21 with Twin Falls and Jerome officers in which one Twin Falls police officer was wounded by submachine gun fire.

While held in Springfield, Mo. following their arrest there, Alger escaped from the Greene County Jail and remains at large.

Morris faces charges in Jerome County and both he and Alger are also wanted in Ada County, and the states of Nevada and Washington on escape and armed robbery warrants.

Jerome police probe burglaries

JEROME — Two house burglaries are under investigation by Jerome city police this week, with thefts of cash and jewelry totaling $1,100.

Sgt. Lenny Meadows of the Jerome Police Department said the Tom Pierson home at 248 East Ave. A was entered through a front window Friday between 9:30 and 11:30 p.m. The owner reported $600 in cash was taken.

Also on Friday night, someone broke into the Kim Jacobsen home at 405 East Ave. D and took jewelry valued at $500, the owners told police.

Range fire blackens 390 acres

CASTLEFORD — A range fire that began about 5:15 p.m. Wednesday blackened an estimated 390 acres in the Balanced Rock area north of the Blue Gulch farm project.

Boise District Bureau of Land Management crews were still on the fire lines at 9:30 p.m., but had completed a line around the fire, expecting to report it controlled at any time.

Boise district fire officers said the blaze was probably man-caused. Three crews including 15 men plus tanker trucks and other equipment were sent to fight the fire that was confined to public land.

BLM advisors reviewing plan

SHOSHONE — The Shoshone District's BLM advisory board will meet on Wednesday, July 25, in Shoshone.

The meeting will focus on a review of the draft Monument Resource Management Plan, which discusses how to manage a 1.2 million acre tract in the district's southeastern section.

The meeting will start at 9 a.m. at the Shoshone district office and last most of the day. Between 1 and 2 p.m., the council will solicit comments from the public. Those wishing to address the council should notify the district manager by July 23.

For more information, contact Jon Idso, at 886-2206.

CSI building request pondered

TWIN FALLS — Two State Board of Education members were appointed Thursday to decide which building education building requests — including the College of Southern Idaho's proposed science building — should receive top priority.

Robert L. Montgomery of Boise and Roberta Fields of New Meadows will study requests for $18 million from the state's schools and recommend to the board which projects are the most deserving of state money.

Area woman named to panel

TWIN FALLS — Governor John Evans has reappointed Eldon Evans of Twin Falls to the Dormitory Housing Commission of the College of Southern Idaho.

His term will run until April 1987. The commission manages CSI dormitories.

Girl eludes attacking bat; rescuer winds up with bite

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The city animal control officer was bitten by a bat that had flown into a Twin Falls residence Tuesday morning.

John Schwartz was placed on medication and may have to take more, depending on the results of a test to determine whether the bat was rabid, said Tim Qualls, the Twin Falls public safety director.

Schwartz, who couldn't be reached for comment, was summoned at about 9:30 a.m. to capture the bat, which had flown inside a house at 604 Wirsching St.

An unidentified 10-year-old girl alone in the house escaped without a scratch or a bite and called for help at a neighbor's house, said Ward Harshman, an environmentalist with the South Central District Health Department in Twin Falls.

Schwartz successfully netted the animal. But as he was transferring it from one container to another, it bit him on the wrist, Qualls said.

The bat was handed over to the health department, where it was killed, frozen and sent to the state Department of Health and Welfare laboratory in Boise, Harshman said. The lab will test for rabies.

Harshman added that this was the first case of a bat attack this year. Two cases were reported last year in the Magic Valley.

The majority of injuries from bats occur on camping trips when the animals sweep down and hit people on the head. A few years ago, a rabid bat flew into a restaurant in Blaine County and scratched a woman on the cheek, Harshman said.

Anyone who has been scratched or bitten by a bat should contact the health department and their physician, Harshman said. If a family pet has been in contact with a bat, a veterinarian should be consulted.

If a bat does make an appearance at your house, "don't mess with it," Harshman advises.

Theft suspect nabbed

BURLEY — Thanks to an observant citizen, a suspect was arrested early Wednesday morning shortly after he allegedly robbed a Burley gas station.

Robert Hernandez, 27 of Burley, was being held at Cassia County Jail on an armed robbery charge, said Lt. Jim Higgins of the Burley police.

The robbery occurred at 2:30 a.m. at the Mr. Gas station, 855 Overland Ave. The suspect had stopped his truck in the alley behind the station and shot off his lights, with the motor still running, Higgins said. He had his face covered when he entered the office and brandished a knife at the female clerk. The suspect then obtained "a small amount of money" from the register and ran out the door. He escaped in the truck.

Ralph Criles of Castleford was outside the building and had observed the truck park in back of the building, Higgins said. Criles became suspicious when the truck lights were turned off, so he noted the license plate number. After the suspect left, Criles turned the number over to clerk who in turn handed it to police.

Minutes later, Hernandez was arrested in Rupert by city police, Higgins said.

The money and weapon were recovered, he added.

Child nearly dies in pool

TWIN FALLS — A six-year-old boy was listed in fair condition Thursday night at Magic Valley Regional Medical Center after he was rescued from a near drowning.

Police in Twin Falls said the accident occurred at the Pull and Plunge facility at 807 Wendell Ave. about 2:50 p.m.

Another swimmer discovered the child lying on the bottom of the pool. In about three to four feet of water, according to Police Sgt. Ron Davis. The swimmer brought the boy to the surface and when officers arrived at the lifeguard and ambulance personnel had been working over the boy and was breathing on his own.

Name of the youngster was not available Thursday night.

He was reportedly from Wyoming and is visiting relatives in Jerome. Davis said it is not known what caused the near drowning.

CAREY — Scott Ray Peck, 35, of Carey, died Monday in an auto accident three miles east of Jerome.

Born May 21, 1949, in Carey, he graduated from Carey High School and attended Ricks College and BYU and graduated from Idaho State University. He filled an LDS mission in Alberta, Canada.

He married Janice Ann Lawlor on June 10, 1972, in the Cardston, Alberta, Canada, LDS Temple.

He taught at Wood River Jr. High in Halley and for the last four years he taught at Carey High School where he was a basketball and football coach. He was a member of the Carey 1st Ward LDS Church and held various positions there. At the time of his death, he was currently serving as Stake mission president.

Surviving are: his father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Russ K. Peck; four sons: Jason Peck, Jared Peck, Joel Peck and Chad Peck; one daughter, Kami Peck; one brother, Bob Peck; and one sister, Candy Mechem, all of Carey. He was preceded in death by his mother.

Surviving are: her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lawlor of Picture Butte, Alberta, Canada; four sons, Jason Peck, Jared Peck, Joel Peck and Chad Peck, all of Carey; one daughter, Kami Peck of Carey; one sister, Mrs. Marilyn Calhoun of Cardston, Alberta; seven brothers, Larry Lawlor and David Lawlor of Provo, Utah; Dean Lawlor, Wayne Lawlor, Keith Lawlor and Joseph Lawlor of Alberta, and Gordon Lawlor of Twin Falls.

The funeral will be held at 1 p.m. on Saturday at the Carey LDS Church with Bishop H. Heber, Kirklund, officiating. Burial will be in Carey Cemetery.

Inez Florence West

EDEN — Inez Florence West, 64, of Eden, died Thursday evening at her home following a long illness.

Born Nov. 1, 1919, in Lewistown, Mont., she came to Jerome in 1934 and settled in the family farm in 1934. She attended Eden schools and later worked as a housekeeper. She married L.F. West Feb. 15, 1944, in Twin Falls.

Surviving are: her husband of Eden; one son, Karl West, of Kimberly; two daughters, Helen Enebo of Caldwell and Burgess Wrigley, 90, of Burley, who died Tuesday, will be held at 11 a.m. today in the View LDS Chapel. Burial will be in the View Cemetery. Friends may call at the church one hour prior to services.

TWIN FALLS — The funeral for Elwood "Woody" Rothol, 58, of Twin Falls, who died Tuesday, will be held today at 1:00 p.m. at the White Mortuary Chapel in Twin Falls. Burial will be in Sunset Memorial Park in Twin Falls. Friends may call at the mortuary prior to service time.

"Every county to bail them out under Uncle Sam to bail them out. If the U.S. doesn't bail them out, the system falls apart," he said.

ry was conducted — to determine whether the ads were of a political nature and should have been reported under Idaho's sunshine law.

A spokesman for the attorney general's office Thursday clarified the office's position, saying the matter was originally brought to the attorney general staff's attention by individuals who believed the campaign may have violated the state's sunshine law. The attorney general's office is not seeking the information for the purpose of leveling criminal charges, he said.

The ad campaign — opposing the subordination of Idaho Power's Swan Falls water right — was criticized by proponents of subordination as unfairly benefiting Idaho Power allies.

Subordination of the water-right would make second irrigation water uses, most notably irrigated agriculture.

Opponents of subordination say diverting additional water from the Snake River would be adverse to Idaho Power customers because it would further deplete the company's base of inexpensive hydro power.

Proponents of subordination say the company already agreed to subordinate its water right to future irrigated agriculture development in exchange for being given the rights to build the huge Hells Canyon complex.

Council accepts bid for streets, sewer

By DAVE MOFFAT
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls City Council Monday accepted three bids for major projects which will get underway this summer and granted a conditional fire code waiver to Henningsen's Cold Storage, which plans to construct an addition to its warehouse behind Idaho Frozen Foods.

The accepted bids were the following:
• $247,150 from PMF, Inc., of Twin Falls for the construction of streets and installation of utilities in the second phase of the Chamber of Commerce Industrial Subdivision. The money for the project, located near the Sugar Factory, comes from a grant received by the city from the state's allocation of federal Community Development Block Grant money.
• $254,500 from Aslett Industries of Twin Falls for sealcoating approximately 10 percent of the city's street system. The low bid on the project of $220,940, submitted by Winn and Co., Inc. of Buhl, was passed over by the council on the advice of city engineer Gary Young, who said the company had failed to provide a one-year warranty on the work, traditionally sought by the city.

• $113,277 from Kloepfer, Inc., of Paul for sealcoating the general aviation areas of the Twin Falls-Sun Valley Regional Airport. The work will be funded with a Federal Aviation Administration grant.

The fire code waiver will allow Henningsen's to use a type of sprinkler—in its warehouse that would normally not be permitted under their plans to stack merchandise to over 26 feet.

The waiver was made conditional on the company receiving letters of assent from neighboring property owners, including Idaho Frozen Foods.

At the meeting Mayor Emery Petersen also awarded plaques to Idaho Frozen Foods president Lee Odeward for the company's sponsoring a fireworks display on July Fourth, and to Larry Christensen of the Bruin Booster Club for organizing the Olympic Torch Parade.

Woman to fill in for absent policemen

JEROME — The Jerome Police Department will employ a temporary woman police patrol officer during the next few weeks while several personnel are in Los Angeles on private security duty during the 1984 Olympics.

City Council members gave Police Chief Darryl Cameron authority to hire Shirley Long of Twin Falls on a part-time basis.

Two Jerome officers, Capt. Milo Alonzo and Sgt. Larry Gold, are in Los Angeles to work as security officers for Occidental Petroleum Company and its owner, Armand Hammer.

Cameron said Alonzo is using his vacation time and said Gold has asked for three weeks leave without pay.

Gold had originally requested and been granted leave following the election, in which he was defeated by incumbent Sheriff Elza Hall for the Republican nomination for that office. However, Cameron said Gold did not take the leave at that time.

He said security demands for the Olympic Games in Los Angeles have left the city with a shortage of law enforcement officers for other duties. Cameron said it is a good opportunity for the two officers to earn good salaries and at the same time to gain experience.

"I'd like to give my men a chance to make extra money on their own time when they can and this is a good opportunity for them," Cameron said last week.

However, he said the vacation period is always difficult for his department when several officers are away at the same time.

Improvement district budget approved via higher funding

TWIN FALLS — After a sparsely attended general membership meeting Tuesday, the board of the downtown Business Improvement District has approved a $220,195 budget.

The centerpiece is a 5 percent increase in assessments from downtown businesses, the district's main source of funds.

At one time, the board had contemplated a 34 percent increase. But a hike of this magnitude was discarded after several business owners complained at a hearing last Wednesday. The largest area of expenditure in the budget is landscaping maintenance and new tree planting at $11,000.

A total of $8,000 is budgeted for special promotions to draw shoppers downtown and $7,000 for advertising.

District coordinator Chris Valence's salary is set at $9,000. A total of $3,000 is set aside for capital improvements such as new benches and planters.

Board Chairman Alan Horner says the budget was approved after those present at the Tuesday meeting agreed with the cuts proposed to the plan containing the 34 percent increase.

Folk festival touched with an ethnic flavor

By DAVE LEWIS
Times-News correspondent

HAILEY — This year's 7th annual Northern Rockies Folk Festival will have a multi-ethnic flavor, says its organizer, Hal Cannon.

The five-day event, beginning Wednesday, will feature workshops dealing with the subject of folklore, speakers and two days of music, which is always the highlight of the free festival sponsored by the Institute of the American West, the humanities division of the Sun Valley Center for the Arts and Humanities.

The festival workshops conducted by state and national folklorists begin Wednesday and will continue through Sunday, with the music events taking place in the afternoons and evenings of Friday and Saturday.

Cannon, regional folklorist director for the Institute, says this year's music will be somewhat different from previous festivals.

"I think what people can expect this year is a multi-ethnic music show," Cannon says.

He says the music will be more diverse this time around and will feature more national and international performers and fewer Idaho and local musicians.

ANNIE JACKSON

An Englishman who sings sea shanties, a group from El Salvador and an American Cajun group popular in Europe are among those scheduled to perform.

JOHN MCDOWELL
Talks on folklorists

All music events will take place in the Hailey City Park. Friday's headline act is Queen Ida and the Bon Temps Zydeco Band, a group that plays traditional Cajun music. On Saturday the main act is The Good Ole Persones, a bluegrass band from San Francisco.

Also performing is Yolosembo Ila, a group of traditional musicians from El Salvador. The group is scheduled to play late Saturday afternoon.

Other performers include:

- Chutzpah, a traditional Yiddish folk music group, on Friday.

- Daglish, Larsen and Sutherland, a group that plays Irish and old-time string band music, on Saturday.

- Bob Brozman, who plays 1920s jazz and Hawaiian music, on Saturday.

- Louis Killen, a singer of British sea shanties, on Saturday.

- Jane Voss and Hoyte Osborne, a New Mexican duet who sing original songs.

- Five Idaho musician and groups, also will play. These are:

- The Mores Creek String Band of Boise who play Western swing and old-time dance music. The group will perform on Saturday and also will play for a "free dance" at the Hailey Armory at 8 p.m. Thursday.

- Los Roscheritos, a Mexican-American band from Twin Falls, plays on Friday.

- The Boulder Brothers, a Hailey band that plays classic folk and Irish music, on Friday.

- Michael Wendling, a Hagerman area guitar player, also on Friday.

- David Sealander, who plays traditional Scandinavian accordion music. From New Sweden, Idaho, Sealander will play on Saturday.

The concerts run from 4 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Friday and from 1 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Saturday.

Although the music is the most visible part of the festival's events, the educational workshops should be of interest to many this year, Cannon says.

"The institute has given scholarships to 25 Idaho public school teachers to attend the workshops, but it also invites other teachers and the public to attend. The workshops will focus on narrative traditions in folklore and can be taken for college credit through Idaho State University.

Featured among the workshop conductors is John McDowell, an associate professor at the Folklore Institute of Indiana University.

McDowell has written numerous articles on verbal art in folklore and is well known for his study of Hispanic and South American Indian narrative traditions. His book, "Childrens Riddling," won the Chicago Folklore Prize in 1979.

McDowell will give the keynote lecture, titled "A Folklorist Looks at Narrative," at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Hailey Grange Hall, 609 Third Ave. S.

Other workshop participants are Steve Sporin, Idaho folk arts coordinator, and Gary Stanton, a folklorist studying cowboy poetry in the West, and Cannon.

Also, many of the musicians will hold workshops on their music, a new twist in the festival this year, Cannon says.

"I don't think there's been enough interaction between the performers and the participants in the workshops," he says.

Another highlight will be the presentation of the third annual Idaho State Folk Arts Award given to an individual who has made an outstanding contribution to the state's folk arts.

This year's award will go to Annie Jackson, a Pocatello quilter.

Jackson was picked because her quilts "exemplify the quiet, undaunted persistence of an ethnic folk tradition against all odds," says Sporin.

The African character of her quilts have survived through two centuries and slavery and are quite different from the Anglo-American tradition of quilt making, Sporin says.

Art exhibition gains diversity

By TERRY RICH HARTLEY
Times-News correspondent

TWIN FALLS — This weekend's silver anniversary for Art in the Park, sponsored by the Art Guild of Magic Valley, is attracting a variety of exhibits, including one artist who will be working on a large woodcut during the show.

"It's a pretty positive thing," says chairperson, Charlotte Kilfoyle. "We've got exhibitors coming from Nevada and Oregon as well as Arco, Pocatello and Idaho Falls," she says, adding that many Magic Valley artists and craftsmen will also be present.

During her five years as chairperson, Kilfoyle notes that the exhibition at City Park has grown about 10 to 15 percent each year, and she expects to see the same for this year's showing.

Gus Flowers, sculptor from Jerome, calls Art in the Park the most enjoyable show he does.

"It's laid back," he says. "It's home. I get to visit with people I haven't seen in a long time, and other people who I only see when I do this show."

Flowers, who specializes in brass and copper leaf sculpture, points out that he's going to have the biggest exhibit at the City Park that he's ever shown anywhere.

"I'm going to bring all kinds of different sculptures: aspen, maples and a new grape-vine. It's in better shape for this show than ever before."

Another veteran of the show is Woodcut artist Gary Stone of Kimberly.

"It's a homey, good atmosphere," Stone says of the Twin Falls exhibit. "I've shown there for the last 10 years."

Stone notes that he'll be showing eight to 10 pieces with the focus of his exhibit being on a single woodcut.

"It's of the Depot Grill corner," he says.

"I'll have the old grain elevator and four mill in the background, but it won't be finished. I want to create a scene in the street, cars and all, with audience participation."

"Some families could be included in it if they have a neat story to tell. My father-in-law, Oll Larson's Lincoln Continental will be in a scene in the parking lot because he's eaten breakfast there every morning for years."

The artist says that the picture will be quite large and he'll probably not be able to finish it in the park, but hopes to at least get ideas from visitors there.

A newcomer to the show, Rex Rathbun of Twin Falls, is going to add a historical note by displaying handcrafted lead soldiers from different eras.

The figures, about the size of a man's finger, are highly detailed both in shape and coloration.

Originally from Bern, Switzerland, Rathbun says that miniature soldiers are very popular in Europe. He refers to research needed before producing one as a "delightful venture into history."

Using molten lead, silver solder and ammoniated tin, Rathbun pours the alloy into rubber moulds to produce the rough silhouette. Then, with jeweler's tools and files, he sculpts detail before committing himself to the arduous task of painting them.

As many as twenty different colors are used on a single figure.

Also on the agenda will be an auction of artwork donated by various artists. Kilfoyle says that the auction will be held about 4 p.m. Sunday and the profit from it will go toward a special workshop held by the Art Guild.

She notes, too, that the musical group, "Desert Song" will stroll around the park while playing for a couple hours Saturday and probably longer Sunday to entertain visitors.

Exhibitors fees are $5 for Art Guild of Magic Valley members; $10 for others, and $35 for concessions.

The show will run from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. both days, and Guild members are asked to meet for breakfast at the Buffalo Cafe between 6 and 9 a.m. Saturday.

Room for dummies

Their voices are quiet; their wooden limbs stilled. But even without animation, a collection of ventriloquist's dummies still draws nostalgic buffs to Vent Haven, a museum dedicated to preserving the art of ventriloquism in Fort Mitchell, Ky.

Bluegrass fans look back at homeland

By DAVID MCCORMICK

ROSINE, Ky. — The blues weren't born in St. Louis any more than rock was born in Liverpool. But bluegrass was born right here.

On Jerusalem Ridge overlooking this Ohio County town of about 350 people, a boy named Bill Monroe grew up listening to his uncle saw the old mountain fiddle tunes. He soon learned to play them himself.

Years later, in the 1940s, Monroe incorporated that old-time string band sound in a music that people named after his band, the Blue Grass Boys, when it turned their name from Kentucky's fields of bluish-green grasses.

"If there had been no Bill Monroe, there would be no bluegrass music," folk music historian Bill Malone of Tulane University has said.

Commonly thought of as a traditional music as old as the hills, bluegrass is considered the personal invention of Monroe. It is a type of acoustic music that took the old mountain string band instruments of banjo, fiddle and mandolin and combined them in a faster, driving sound with its own unique instrumental techniques. It was not widely heard until the early 1950s, making it the contemporary of rock 'n' roll.

Though he moved away in his youth and came back only to visit, Monroe wrote several tunes about the land and people. One of the best-known is about the man who inspired him to play music, his uncle of ventriloquist's dummies still draws dedicated to preserving the art of ventriloquism in Fort Mitchell, Ky.

Silly movies continue as Conan destroys your evening

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The summer of 1984 continues its lineup of commercial and silly movies with "The Destroyer."

As in the first episode, "Conan the Barbarian," muscled-in Arnold Schwarzenegger has the lead role as Robert E. Howard's overbuilt cult hero.

In this tale, Conan is protecting a virgin princess on a quest for a golden jewel. The jewel will unlock a whole lot of treasure and as we find later, a whole lot of trouble.

"Conan the Destroyer" is not as scary or gory as the first film. But that's not saying much because there's still plenty of big-breasted women, blood, sword play and wicked-looking weapons to satisfy any sadist at heart.

Fortunately, the sequel takes itself less seriously than the original film. Comic relief, however, is ready.

Usually follows a scene filled with wacked off heads, open wounds and Conan's flexed biceps.

Though it purports wizardry and wonder, the film's special effects aren't either nor are they particularly special.

Especially boring are the two monsters that plague the good guys. One looks like a poor man's version of "Creature from the Black Lagoon" and the other resembles a large Gummy gone rancid.

The cast is interesting, if for nothing else than its bizarre composition, which includes basketball great Wilt Chamberlain and Amazon-like rock singer Grace Jones as two warriors.

As Conan, Schwarzenegger fits right into the one-dimensional comic-book surroundings. His acting talents have improved since the first film and you actually can understand his few lines through his somewhat thick accent. Even with the refinement, however, Schwarzenegger barely makes it to the level of passable actor.

The key to Conan is action. Grunts and screams from the heat of battle outweigh what little dialogue was set down in the childish screenplay.

But for fans of that sort of empty-headed adventure, this flick will be your cup of tea, or make that blood.

Otherwise, "Conan the Destroyer" will destroy your evening because it's all brawn and no brain.

College workshop offers dancers a challenge

TWIN FALLS — Young dancers from all over Idaho will converge on the College of Southern Idaho Sunday to receive expert instruction from professional dancers from New York, California, Utah and Idaho. For the next two weeks, CSI will host the seventh annual Idaho Dance Arts Alliance — summer — dance workshop, which traditionally draws "the best young dancers in Idaho," says Beverly Hackney, coordinator of the program. The workshop will stress improvement in ballet and modern dance technique, and jazz, pointe, and tap dancing, says Hackney, with a special program on character dancing. "Character dancing is a theatricalized type of folk-dancing and is a marvelous dance form for students to learn, because it helps them percept themselves to an audience," she said. To improve at the workshop, however, students will have to undergo a "very intense" two weeks of dance instruction and practice with instructors demanding five-and-a-half to seven hours of dancing per day, says Hackney. The program requires "a lot of physical stamina," she added. In addition to the personal instruction and practice received during the day, students will also be required to attend seminars on dance-related subjects and films of classic ballets at night, she added. The Idaho Dance Alliance has recruited several top dance performers and some of the best dance teachers in Idaho to instruct the students, says Hackney. Darnen Stevens, an experienced and very talented dancer from New York City, will be the top instructor at the workshop, says Hackney. Stevens has performed as a soloist and company member with the Pearl Lang Dance Co., the Mary Anthony Dance Theatre, and the Hsieh-Tung Chen and Dancers Co. He is also the co-founder and artistic director of the ELFEET Performing Arts Ensemble.

Michael Onstead, a resident of Salt Lake City, will teach ballet and character dancing.

acter dancing. A former soloist with Ballet West, he has taught and choreographed for the Utah Opera Co., the University of Utah Ballet Showcase and opera and television. Onstead was a choreographer for the "John Denver: The Music and Mountains" television special. "Gooding resident Sherri Carpenter will be the head tap dance teacher. A former member of the Gus Giordano Jazz Co. in Chicago, she has also performed and taught at the San Francisco Conservatory of Ballet. Eileen Louise Keen, from Casallo's School of Creative Arts in Salt Lake City, will teach ballet, jazz and pointe. A graduate of the University of Utah, she has worked as a dance critic for several publications. Students participating in the workshop must be at least 11 years old and have a minimum of 2 years dance instruction, says Hackney. "There is no place in Idaho where a dancer can get a college degree and dance at the same time," she says, so "dancers must go out-of-state which costs money." "Dance in Idaho right now "is not enjoying the same popularity that it is in other areas of the U.S.," says Hackney.

Rosemary Clooney: a singer so refined

By BOB THOMAS
The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Rosemary Clooney was leaving New York when she suddenly found herself stranded in a limousine for five hours. A storm had flooded the expressways.

Did she panic? Did she scream? "Not at all," she said. "Since no planes were flying, I went back to New York and had dinner at the Russian Tea Room. If you have to suffer, suffer in style — that's my belief."

"When something like that happens to me, I'm grateful that I have my breakdown behind me."

This is Rosemary Clooney in late-50s, her blond beauty little changed, her smooth voice holding rapt audiences almost 40 years after her musical beginnings. She exhibits an inner calm that was lacking when she was scoring such hits as "Come on a My House" and "Hey There" and starring with Bing Crosby and Bob Hope in Paramount musicals.

The change began 15 years ago when booze and pills contributed to a nervous breakdown that halted her career: She underwent eight years of analysis before regaining her equilibrium.

"One of the great lessons I learned," she remarked in an interview, "was that when things get out of control, don't go to pieces. Step back from the situation, keep control of yourself, and things will work out."

Her life and career have worked out splendidly. She travels 30 weeks a year for appearances ranging from the Atlantic City and Las Vegas casinos to the ballpark in Osaka, Japan. Her Concord albums of the music of Cole Porter and George Gershwin have created a whole new audience. She completed an Irving Berlin album on the New York trip.

—Miss Clooney's children, by ex-husband Jose Ferrer lead productive lives, and she has had a longtime relationship with entertainer Dante DiPaolo, whom she met while filming "Red Garters" in 1954.

She gave a rundown on the Ferrer brood: Miguel, 29, is a musician who often appears with his mother; Maria, 28, designs fabrics; Gabrielle, 27, is a sculptor, husband of Debby Boone and father of three; Monsta, 26, is an actress; Rafael often acts on the stage with his father.

"Bob Hope used to ask me, 'Are you still playing Vatican roulette?'" Miss Clooney laughed. "He and Bing once gave me a present: track shoes and starting blocks."

Rosemary and Betty Clooney began singing duets on Cincinnati's radio station WLW in 1945. Band leader Tony Pastor discovered them while passing through.

"We sang with Tony's band for three years, traveling all over the country," Miss Clooney said. "We were paid $150 a week apiece, which seemed like good money. Except that my Uncle George had to travel with us because Betty was 15 and I was 18 when we started. And we had to send money home to grandmother."

Betty went back home, but Rosemary pursued her own career in New York. Mitch Miller of Columbia Records groomed her for stardom, and the novelty "Come on a My House" did it for her: More hits brought her to Hollywood, and she was starring in films when she married Ferrer at 25.

In the late 1960s, Miss Clooney suffered the death of her sister Betty and a second divorce from Ferrer after a three-year reconciliation had failed.

Pendleton Vandiver, better known as the "Uncle Pen" of Monroe's songs. Vandiver's grave was given a special monument by Monroe in 1973 and has since become a sort of shrine to thousands of bluegrass fans who turn up here year after year to see where it all began.

"That's what helps keep us on the map," said the town's "unelected mayor," Wendell Allen. "We don't have much to interest any tourists unless they're dyed-in-the-wool bluegrass fans."

Allen is a singer himself, and for the past 11 years he has put on a small bluegrass festival in Rossini, some 75 miles southwest of Louisville.

"There are still people in Ohio County who don't know about Monroe and Rosine, but packages of envelopes from all over the country are sent regularly to be postmarked from the home of bluegrass music."

Postmaster Vada Stogner lives on the old Monroe family farm and her husband owns Uncle Pen's fiddle, but that's nothing special as far as she's concerned.

"To me, he's not all that famous," she said. Scarcely a week passes when Mrs. Stogner is not called upon to give directions to the home of Monroe's sister, Bertha, his last close relative here.

"The family's just about died out," said Allen. "Bill gets by here every now and then to visit the cemetery and stop by his sister's, but that's about it."

There are those here who feel Rosine's most famous son should do more for his hometown, and who resent the fact that visitors pay more attention to someone who left a half-century ago than to those who remain.

Monroe, 72, lives outside Nashville, Tenn. He has some land in Ohio County where he holds an annual bluegrass festival in August.

"You won't see a lot of people from Rosine going down there," Mrs. Stogner said.

Monroe, known as "the father of bluegrass music," not only developed this sound but taught it to such disciples as Lester Flatt and Earl Scruggs who eventually became stars in their own right.

Two of Monroe's best-known songs were "Muleskinner Blues" and "Blue Moon of Kentucky" which the late Elvis Presley recorded in the mid-1950s on his way to stardom.

Best known as a mandolin player, Monroe was elected to the Country Music Hall of Fame in 1970 and has played on the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville since 1939.

Allen feels the Monroe legacy is something the town should be proud of.

"So many of the little towns like this have just been forgotten," he said. "Maybe the music will help keep us holding on here."

Smith wins women's am title

By LARRY HOVEY
 Times-News writer

JEROME — For Jean Smith, the extra wait definitely made it sweeter.

The Boise veteran ended a string of near-misses, seconds and thirds to grab her first Idaho State Women's Amateur Golf Championship Thursday, turning back a late charge by Hayden Lake's Connie Guthrie for a two-stroke victory.

"Three times at least," Smith answered the question about finishing second in this event. "Yes, I guess the wait does make it sweeter."

Smith ended the three days with a three-over par 222, followed by Guthrie at 224, Karen Darrington of Twin Falls, 227; Carla Schmidt of Boise, 229; Sue Kushlan of Caldwell, 233; Bev Mullins of Boise, 234, and Julie Hamblin of Twin Falls, 236.

For a while it appeared that Smith was going to blow everyone away early. Guthrie and defending champion Darrington were four strokes behind at the start but when Smith started birdie-putting, she picked up two quick strokes on Guthrie and four on Darrington as she went bogey-bogey.

Most of the gallery was talking about going home at the turn when her lead mushroomed to six strokes over Guthrie twice — after two and seven.

But then the bane of her golfing world — the snap hook — made a sudden appearance on No. 9, leading to a tree styrie and a double bogey. It came back with a vengeance on No. 10, the sniped second shot winding up in the water with another double-bogey, resulting. The runaway had turned into a horse race.

But Smith wouldn't let it get away. She made a gritty six-footer to save par on the elevated 13th green, traded three-putts with Guthrie on 14 and then gave herself the cushion she needed with probably a 17-foot birdie putt on the par three 15th.

Never mind she three putted to allow Guthrie to pull back to within a stroke on the 16th. She had a two-putt par on the 17th and then rolled in a four-footer for another par on 18. That one effectively closed Guthrie out — so she missed her three-footer.

Smith admitted her woes started on the ninth after she hooked her drive over a pond and into a tree line.

"I had an opening," she recounted. "I had a four-iron and I wanted to hit a low shot and run it up on the green. But I just jumped on it."

That one never left the ground and wound up dead against a large elm. "When you get in a position like that, you can't make some dumb decisions," Smith said. "I thought the smart thing would be to take an unplayable and go for the double. If I make a good move on the ball, maybe I can get it close and get out with a bogey."

"Now I suppose you want to talk about No. 10," Smith antcipated with a laugh. "I had trouble with

Wood River waits until district tournament opener for first win of season

By FLYNN McROBERTS
 Times-News correspondent

KETCHUM — Powered by a pair of two-run homers from center-fielder Matt Patterson, the Wood River Wolverines snagged their first win of the season from the Valley Vikings 10-5 in the first round of the Southern District "B" American Legion baseball tournament here Thursday.

Patterson went 4-for-4, with two singles to top off his homers, and took three RBI's to lead the Wolverines to the initial victory.

"Incredible . . . It's almost phenomenal we finally won a game," an elated Patterson said.

"We finally got the team together,"

Wood River coach Bob Shay added. "We've been getting closer the past few games."

The victory put the Wolverines into a second-round contest today against Pocatello at 9:30 a.m. At noon, Jerome will face Buhl. The loser of the Wood River-Pocatello game will meet the loser of the Jerome-Buhl game at 2:30 p.m., with the winners of those two games to play in the tournament semifinal at 5 p.m.

Patterson's home runs, both hammered over the left-field fence, came in the third and fifth innings. The two-run slam in the third pushed the Wolverines ahead 3-1, following Wood River's first run when catcher Dale Montgomery stole second and came in on a series of Viking errors. In the fifth, Patterson's pop broke a three-run tie as it drove in Montgomery from third.

"I was watching both of them . . . they really got in the air," Patterson said.

Valley took the initial lead in the second inning when Viking left-fielder Danny Douglas doubled with a fly to center and John Clausen drove him in with a line drive single. After Viking pitcher Mike Sorrells doubled in the third and batted in Scott Sorenson for a two-run lead, the Wolverines tore back with three runs in the bottom of the inning, capped by Patterson's first homer.

After Wood River starter Jamie

Hjort walked two straight batters in the fourth, Valley third baseman Jamie Johnson's bunt set up a double by Sorenson that drove in Shane Orr to tie the game at 3-3.

Coming back from a scoreless fourth, the Wolverines took advantage of Sorrells' pitching troubles with a four run fifth inning. After walking the lead-off batter Montgomery, who Patterson drove in with his second homer, Sorrells walked three straight hitters. With two of those batters on a wild pitch from Sorrells combined with a third baseman's error sent Wolverine third baseman Jeff Schroeder home and left fielder Sean Moore to third.

With the third walk in a row on Sorrells hurled another wild throw and sent Moore in for a score to put Wood River ahead 7-3.

In the sixth, Orr singled and stole second to set Valley up for a rally, but sliding centerfielder snag to make Sorenson the third Viking out.

Valley mentor Jim Johnson was then forced to bring in Sorenson as a reliever — in the bottom of the sixth, Sorenson didn't fair any better than Sorrells, though, as he allowed four straight singles — the third, by second baseman James Nelson, drove in Tim Rowlan. Then with one out, Clausen smacked a sacrifice fly to center, Wood River . . .

Confusion set in after Sorenson struck out the next two batters. When a Wood River pinch-hitter, following the two strikeouts, singled off a Johnson error at shortstop and drove in Nelson, Patterson followed to third and apparently ran into the Valley shortstop, creating the inning's third out. The umpire then ruled that Patterson had not interfered and allowed him to advance.

Struggling for air in the seventh, Valley loaded the bases as Wolverine starter Hjort walked the inning's first three batters and was relieved by Tim Rowlan. Then with one out, Clausen smacked a sacrifice fly to center, Wood River . . .

Three master becalmed St. Andrew's

By THOMAS BOSWELL
 The Washington Post

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland — The Great White Shark, The Great Imposter and The Great Unknown were tied for the lead after the first round of the British Open Thursday at St. Andrews' Old Course.

Australia's voracious Greg Norman, America's mimic Peter Jacobsen and Scotland's utterly obscure Bill Longmuir all shot five-under-par 67s on this warm gentle day when these links by the North Sea were at their meekest.

Norman, who has terrorized the golfing waters all summer in his own production of Jaws III, gave evidence that his playoff loss in the U.S. Open last month may not prevent him from winning a major title this season.

"All in all, that was one of the best rounds I've played all year," said the streaky Norman, who had birdies at 4, 5, 8, 10, 11, 12, 14 and 15, bogeying the second, seventh and the infamous Road Hole 17th. "I played solid golf. No stupid mistakes. I decided not to be aggressive this week and only attack when I really felt like attacking."

That comment may leave the rest of the field to wonder how many birdies Norman would have had if he hadn't played so "conservatively."

Longmuir, whose favorite club is "a rut-iron" (six-wood), is the definition of a lonjshot. By contrast, the steadily improving Jacobsen, famous for his comic imitation of great players, may prove to be a solid threat.

"Players, come of age at different times," said Jacobsen, 30. "My name belongs on the leaderboard now . . . I expect it to be there."

"I've loved this course since I first saw it in '76. I get caught up in the traditions and all the ghosts."

Big field anticipated for 6th Falls-to-Falls

By CHRIS WALTON
 Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Rim Runners will hold their sixth annual Falls-to-Falls Run Saturday, beginning at 8 a.m. Check in time is set at 7 a.m.

The 5.3-mile course begins at the Twin Falls Park area in the Snake River Canyon and ends at Dierkes Lake. Participants will run out of the canyon at Twin Falls, head west on Falls Avenue and conclude the race down the Shoshone Falls road to the recreation area by the lake.

Bus service will be available after the race to return the participants to the Twin Falls Park.

According to publicity director Dave Capps, the race is held "just for fun."

"It's not really a competitive race. It's just a fun event for anybody," Capps said.

The race is described as "moderate to difficult" by those who have run it in the past. According to Mike Nielsen, who placed second in the 16-19 age division first year and will run again Saturday, "the most difficult part of the course is the final hill before Dierkes Lake."

"That's really the one that gets the most runners," Nielsen said. "The Twin Falls grade is difficult, also, but other than that, it's a pretty good course," he said.

T-shirts will be provided to all runners, along with awards for age-group winners.

Age brackets will be boys' and girls' 12 years old and under, 13-15, 16-19 and men's and women's 20-29, 30-39, 40-49 and 50 and over. "We expect to have about the same number of runners as last year," Bob Donnelly, owner of Donnelly's Sports, said. Donnelly's will be providing gift certificates.

CBS strikes a deal with Big 10, Pac-10

By DAVE GOLDBERG
 The Associated Press

NEW YORK — In the first network agreement since the U.S. Supreme Court invalidated the NCAA's college football television contract, CBS announced Thursday that it has agreed to televise a minimum of 10 college football games this fall involving teams from the Big Ten and Pacific-10 conferences.

But negotiations continued for the larger slice of the college football pie, whose television rights are held by the 63-member College Football Association. ABC also continued its negotiations, reportedly with both groups.

CBS, which with ABC continued to negotiate with the CFA, said it had reached agreement with the two conferences to televise a total of 14 games on 10 weekends this fall. Some of which would be shown to a divided audience. The network said the agreement does not affect the two games it has already committed to —

Boston College-Miami and Army-Navy.

CBS did not announce its schedule, and said it was still negotiating over the sticky issue of "crossover games" — games that might involve a Big Ten or Pac-10 team against a member of the CFA.

Sources said the network paid $8 million for the rights, far less than the $34.5 million that CBS and ABC had agreed to pay the NCAA under the old contract that was thrown out earlier this month when the Supreme Court upheld a lower court ruling that declared the NCAA's exclusive hold on bargaining rights violated antitrust laws.

Neal Pilsion, the president of CBS sports, said that in the new laissez-faire climate, which allows schools and conferences to make deals independent of any central authority, the network was not prepared to make the commitment it had under the old contract with the NCAA.

Cubs close in on first place in East

By The Associated Press

Gary Matthews had been struggling to the point where Chicago Cubs Manager Jim Frey was thinking of sitting him down for a game or two.

"Every time I start thinking of putting someone else in there for him, he comes through with something big," said Frey.

Matthews cracked a tie-breaking, three-run homer in the seventh inning Thursday, powering the Chicago Cubs to a 6-4 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

The victory, combined with first-place New York's loss to Cincinnati, pulled the Cubs to within one-half game of the Mets in the American League West.

Matthews was hitless in his last 12 at-bats when, with two out, he blasted his sixth homer of the season.

"I didn't hit the ball that well," said Matthews, "but I got enough of it and the wind blowing out helped.

"Usually, I try not to force things by swinging at bad pitches but the last couple of weeks I had been trying to force things," said Matthews.

Matthews pounced on the first pitch by Mark Davis after Bob Denner had doubled with two outs and Ryne Sandberg had walked.

The Sandberg walk wasn't intentional but none of the four pitches Davis threw was near the plate.

Pittsburgh 5, San Diego 1

In Pittsburgh, John Candelaria pitched a three-hitter and belted a two-run homer, his first in the major leagues, as the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the San Diego Padres for their ninth victory in 10 games.

Philadelphia 9, Atlanta 1

In Atlanta, Jerry Kosman hurled

a four-hitter and Tim Corcoran drove in four runs with four hits as the Philadelphia Phillies pounded the Atlanta Braves' win to 7-1 hit attack.

Cincinnati 9, New York 6

In Cincinnati, Eric Davis and Cincinnati starter Mario Soto each doubled home a pair of runs and the Reds went on to a victory over the New York Mets that ended their three-game losing streak.

Los Angeles 10, St. Louis 3

In St. Louis, Greg Hershiser pitched a two-hitter for his third shutout in as many starts and German Rivera drove in three runs with three hits, leading the Los Angeles Dodgers to a triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Houston 3, Montreal 2

In Houston, Jerry Mumphrey's single to left in the bottom of the eighth scored Craig Reynolds from second, giving the Houston Astros a victory over the Montreal Expos.

The Cleveland Indians had treated Tom Seaver unkindly the first time the veteran right-hander faced them.

Seaver considered it educational.

"It's a learning process the first time around the league," he said after shutting the Indians out for eight innings Thursday night, pacing the Chicago White Sox to a 3-0 triumph in Cleveland. "You might have a general idea how to approach a hitter, but you still have to find your own way to get guys out."

The win pulled the White Sox to within two games of American League West leader California, which was idle Thursday.

Seaver had thrown up six runs on nine hits in 4 1/2 innings in his first appearance against Cleveland two weeks ago. But he limited them to eight hits, striking out three and walking one, before giving way to Jerry Don Gleaton in the ninth inning Thursday.

Gleaton, called up earlier in the day from Denver, recorded three straight outs for his first major-league save.

"I pitched poorly against them in Chicago, making a lot of bad pitches," Seaver said.

Ron Kittle drove a two-run homer to center in the ninth inning to aid Seaver's cause.

Detroit 9, Texas 2

In Detroit, Kirk Gibson and Lance Parrish belted home runs and Ruppert Jones collected four hits to lead the Detroit Tigers to a victory over the Texas Rangers.

Minnesota 2, New York 1

In New York, Tom Brunansky's sacrifice fly snapped a 1-1 tie in the eighth inning and the Minnesota

Twins turned the first triple play in the major leagues this season ending the New York Yankees.

Kansas City 6, Baltimore 3

In Kansas City, Mo., Hal McRae singled and doubled, driving in two runs, and rookie Mark Gubicza scattered seven hits to lead the Kansas City Royals to a victory over Baltimore.

Oakland 4, Milwaukee 1

In Oakland, Calif., Dave Kingman smashed his 27th home run of the season to open the Oakland A's scoring, and Steve McCatty and Bill Caufield combined on a five-hitter to beat the Milwaukee Brewers.

Toronto 8, Seattle 1

In Seattle, Damaso Garcia collected three hits, including a home run, and scored three runs, and right-hander Dave Stieb pitched a three-hitter over eight innings as the Toronto Blue Jays beat the Seattle Mariners.

that hole the entire time. It's the way the fairway slopes. I tend to come over the ball. On my second shot today I did that and ran it right into the water."

Both Guthrie and Darrington had answered those double bogies with pars.

Smith said she was surprised that she remained "pretty calm" in her attitude toward the game although she was "angry I had dropped four strokes so quickly."

Two holes later, Guthrie was back to within one when Smith hooked an iron left and behind the par three 15th, chipped back short and two-putted while Guthrie, on in one, holed-out with two putts.

Smith then skulled her drive and the turn-around appeared complete. But the gritty Boisean nailed a three-wood pin high right, chipped to within six feet and drained it. Then came the birdie that provided the breathing room and got Smith back on equal footing.

Smith felt that the major hole of the final day was the 16th, however.

After good drives, Guthrie hit her second shot on the back fringe while Smith came up with an ugly situation — a severe downhill lie, 10 feet short of a sand trap and with just 10 feet of green after that before the flag came up.

"I was really worried about the trap of keeping it close. I knew I had to hit it past the flag and get down in two. But I did it again," she said, referring to her proclivity for coming over the top.

"The ball squirted probably 25 feet past the cup, hanging a three-putt bogey on Smith when her first putt came up well short."

"I felt that if Connie got it up and down we'd be even and if she happened to make a good roll on the first putt, she'd go one up," Smith said.

Guthrie's putt off the fringe rolled six feet past and the return putt tipped away.

"I was ready to pick that one out of the cup," Guthrie said to the gallery as she approached the third putt.

It also seemed an ominous note for Guthrie who saw the number of holes dwindling away while she couldn't catch Smith. Using the analogy of "leaving doors open," Guthrie said "it's open only so many times and when it is you have to be there. I haven't capitalized on any of the openings Jean's given me lately."

If the bridesmaid honor leaves Smith's hands now, Guthrie most reluctantly picks it up.

"Bridesmaid?" asked the woman who the golf savants of Magic Valley have officially proclaimed owner of the "best swing in Idaho, man or woman."

"I've been in this five times. I won it the first two times — the first time when I was 16. But since then I've played in it three times, 76, last year and now. I think I was second in all of those."

She said most of her trouble started on "the second nine the first day, I consistently misjudged my clubs then and I had trouble with it every day of the tournament."

Known for "flagging" just about every iron shot, she was consistently left on the closing holes Thursday.

"I wanted to play a fade into the greens," she explained, adding that a couple of the more noticeable she didn't attack the ball well.

She could feel had a roller-coaster day, no one gave and took shots like the defending champion. After her drive on No. 8 landed in a canal, Darrington fell 11 strokes behind. But from then on, she was the hottest player in the tournament, winding up the first nine with a par and then carding a one-under 35 on the

"I really want to congratulate Jean," Darrington continued. "I know what it's like trying to play with this lead and I know what it's like to see that lead disappearing. Jean played with a lot of heart to win it after those couple of rough holes she had."

Last year's race featured 177 runners and was won by Monte Brothwell of Bellevue in 25 minutes, 20 seconds in fair weather. The 1982 winner was Henry Carvalja.

Last year's winner in the women's division was Gabriele Andersen of Kelchum, running her first Falls-to-Falls, who covered the course in 30:20 to place ahead of Cindy Crow, the winner of the 1979 race.

Entry blanks for the Falls-to-Falls are still available at all branches of the Idaho First National Bank, KEEP radio and Donnelly's. Although pre-registration is preferred, entries will be accepted up to race time.

This year's proceeds will go to the College of Southern Idaho track and cross-country teams.

For information, call Dave Capps of KEEP radio at 733-7512.

Jesmer's putt wins assistants' tourney

TWIN FALLS — Jerry Jesmer of completed a day of solid putting by rolling in a little, but tricky, downhill on the final hole Thursday to claim the Northern Chapter, Rocky Mountain Section, PGA assistant pros' title.

Jesmer, who led the first 27 holes of the tournament before falling one behind Twin Falls' Mike Hamblin, outlasted Hamblin and Boise's Ron Placek by one stroke. He had rounds of 64-66 for a six-under par 130 total. Burley's Bob Wright posted a fourth-place at 134 while Tracy Frank ofampa, had a 135. Caldwell's Dee Kressly was even par for sixth with Tom Hutchins of, at 139. Defending champion John Graham of Idaho Falls, had 141 with Barry Platt of Boise; John Steln of Twin Falls, and Rob Ellis of Boise, all 142.

Jesmer had fashioned a two-stroke lead on Wednesday's first round, thanks largely to a pair of chip-ins on the 10th and 17th. But 10 extracted its dues in a way Thursday when Hamblin chipped in from the left side for a birdie two to go one stroke ahead.

From that point on, the Hamblin protected the lead. Both had a chance to make a move on the 16th but wound up with bogies.

Jesmer's tee shot landed on the side of the eighth tee, giving him a difficult position complicated by a tree line. He had to keep it low and the ball bounced over the green. Hamblin's second shot was just off the edge but his chip stayed four feet short and the resulting putt stayed high.

"Easiest chip I had all day and I blew it," Hamblin said.

Hamblin stayed in the hunt with a solid up-and-down on the 17th while Jesmer had a routine three, his birdie putt of about 10 feet fading below the cup.

On the pivotal 18th, Jesmer split the fairway. "It was a cut. A cut," said the man who doesn't ground his club on the address. "It was only five or six feet but it faded."

Hamblin figured he shouldn't be on the right tree line of the fairway "so I jerked it way left. I don't know what was wrong. My legs felt gone. Whiskey legs," he said.

Both were right of the green with Hamblin chipping to within three-four feet and missing the putt on the high side.

"I knew it was a pretty straight putt and I played it inside the hole. I guess I must have pushed it a little," he said. "I had a chance to really celebrate my birthday and I threw up."

"I decided to hit it firm and see what happened. I figured I may finish eighth from here but it went in," the new champion said.

Throughout all this, Placek kept the pressure on, uncorking four straight birdies from the front to the backside.

That ended with a lip-out No. 12 and he flipped perhaps a 35-footer for another bird on No. 15. He dropped a 17-footer on the 18th to pull within one but Jesmer wouldn't let him back.

Two share first-round lead at Quad Cities tournament

COAL VALLEY, Ill. (AP) — Vance Heafner and Dave Stockton each shot a blistering 6-under-par 64 — one stroke over the tournament record — to tie for the lead after the first round of the $200,000 Quad Cities Open golf tournament Thursday.

Heafner and Stockton both finished the day with six birdies and 12 pars. The tournament record of 63 has been tied by 12 players, most recently by Payne Stewart in 1982.

Griff Moody, a student at the University of Georgia, was third after shooting a 4-under-par 66.

Scott Hoch, Jim Hallett, Jim Gallagher, John Chaffee, Brett Upper and Mark Brooks were in a logjam for fourth at 5-under-par 67.

Heafner, who Wednesday picked up $750 by winning the pro-am portion of the tournament with a 5-under-par 65, has been playing with a torn back muscle.

He's been using an 8-inch-wide elastic brace to relieve back pain and to keep his back straight, he said.

"I putted very well, and I feel comfortable playing right now," he said. Heafner's best shot may have been a 40-foot chip shot for a birdie on the 508-yard 10th hole.

Stockton, whose scores of 32 and 32 Thursday were identical to Heafner's, won the QCO in 1974, and is shooting for his first PGA title since the 1976 PGA Championship.

Moody, in his first year on the PGA Tour, racked up seven birdies, but suffered three bogeys to finish 4-over-par.

Defending champion Danny Edwards was at 74. He hit 38 on the front nine and 36 on the back nine during the afternoon, when gusts of wind up to 32 mph were reported.

Roger Maltbie, the 1975 winner, struggled to a 71, tied with eight others for seventh place.

Scores were higher in the afternoon. The top three finishers Thursday all picked up a bogey.

Meanwhile, in St. Andrews, Scotland, where the British Open is taking place; Bill Longmuir suffered through a mystifying six-week slump earlier in the golf season, but a two-week-rebuilding-course-has-him playing in top form again.

After missing the cut in six consecutive tournaments, Longmuir went to Scotland, where he worked with Bob Torrance, a club pro and father of British touring player Sam Torrance.

"I just couldn't understand why I was unable to play any more," said Longmuir.

Harwood slashes the Velvet.

Harwood Canadian is the whisky that gives you more for your money. See for yourself. Compare the price of a 1.75 liter of Harwood to the price of a 1.75 liter of Black Velvet. You won't find a higher price tag on Harwood. What you will find is the smooth, mild taste you enjoy in a fine Canadian whisky. What's more, for a limited time, we'll send you up to three dollars when you buy Harwood. Just follow the directions on the coupon below. So why pay more? Enjoy Harwood Canadian. Toolson & Co. to wrap up prep cage careers tonight

BOISE — Burley High School guard — Greg Boyd — Castleton center Alan Sample; Carey guard Brad Tinney and Twin Falls guard Andy Toolson will all play the final basketball game of their high school careers tonight at the seventh annual Idaho High School All-Star Basketball Game.

They will join 16 other graduated high school seniors from throughout the state, selected by a vote of the members of the Idaho High School Coaches' Association, the sponsor of the event.

Game time is 8 p.m. in the Capital High School gym. The all-star game will be preceded by a scrimmage between members of the Idaho Basketball Congress International team, which includes Cory Woodhouse of Oakley and Doran Duffin of Shoshone. They are in Boise practicing for the BCI tournament, which will begin next week in Tempe, Ariz.

Toolson will attend Brigham Young University this fall, while Boyd will attend Eastern Oregon College.

The West team, representing Idaho High School Activities Association Districts 1, 2 and 3, has never lost this game. The East team represents Districts 4, 5 and 6.

Joining Boyd, Sample, Tinney and Toolson on the East team are Richard Black of Bonneville High School in Idaho Falls, Robert Jensen of Madison High School in Rexburg, Phil Olson of Stelley, Bill Parrish of Highland High School in Pocatello and Todd Peterson and Troy Shippen of Rigby.

The North squad consists of Kurt Lundblad of Coeur d'Alene, Rod Buse of Boise, Steve Halley of Nampa, Frank Ildoge of Moscow, Rob Jane of Meridian, Kip Meyer of Borah High School in Boise, Bobly Sobotta of Lapwai, Don Simons of Caldwell and Jim Worthington of Capital High.

Coaches of the four divisional high school state champions — Borah's Kirk Williams, Rigby's Elliot-Anderson, Lapwai's Daryl Moulton and Highland of Craigmont's John Savage — will team up to coach the game.

Admission for both games is $2 for students and $3 for adults.

The BCI scrimmage is scheduled to start at 6:30 p.m.

IS A HIGH-PERFORMANCE SEDAN LESS PURE BECAUSE IT'S SINFULLY LUXURIOUS?

Mrs. Roy Raymond's Personal Demo is Lapis Blue, carefully driven, and expertly maintained. Offered to you at an attractive price; contact us for a thorough test drive.

The BMW 733i is lavishly appointed with electrically-operated leather bucket seats, richly-grained wood dash and door panels, a sunroof and every other amenity you're entitled to expect of an expensive luxury sedan. Yet none of this opulence detracts in any way from the kind of performance that "can take a limited amount of time and turn it into an experience to be savored for always" (Car and Driver).

LEGAL NOTICE

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Agency: Bureau of Land Management

Action: Notice of Realty Action, 119681. Competitive Sale of Public Lands in Twin Falls County, Idaho.

Summary: The following land has been examined and, through land use planning which included public input, it has been determined that the sale of this parcel is consistent with section 203(a)(1) of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (FLPMA). The land will be offered for sale using competitive bidding procedures.

2. All oil and gas rights (U.S.C. 1719). In-Addition, the patent will be subject to the following condition:

1. All valid existing rights and reservations of record.

Dates: All sealed bids must be received by the District Office, on August 28, 1984.

At this time all bids will be opened at the Bureau District Office.

Addresses: Sealed bids will be accepted at the Bureau District Office, 200 South Oakley Highway, Burley, Idaho 83318.

Additional information concerning this realty action may be obtained from the District Manager, Snake River Realty Specialist, at the above address, or by calling (208) 678-674.

Supplementary information: For a period of 45 days from the date of publication of this notice, parties may submit comments regarding the proposed action. Any adverse comments will be evaluated by the District Manager who may vacate or modify this realty action and issue a final determination. In the absence of any action by the District Manager, this realty action will become the final determination of the Department of the Interior.

The BLM reserves the right to accept or reject any and all offers, or withdraw any land or interest in land from sale if, in the opinion of the authorized officer, compliance with the realty action would not be fully consistent with Sec. 203(a)(1) of FLPMA or other applicable laws.

THE ACES BOBBY WOLFF

"The future is hidden even from the men who made it." - Anatole France.

West bet the future on scoring a club ruff. He got the ruff, South made the game, but West never did realize that a forcing defense would have worked out better.

West's singleton club was won-by South's ace-and South played three rounds of trumps. West winning the third round. A diamond was led to East's ace and East gave West a club ruff.

West would open with his diamond king and continue with the A-K of trumps. The jack of trumps put West on lead. East having discarded two hearts, West now leads the diamond queen. South ruffs and draws the last trump, but he cannot take 10 tricks. East's club stopper prevents the run of that suit and the
