

Candidates agree to debate, but specifics still undecided

WASHINGTON (AP) — High-ranking aides to President Reagan and Democratic nominee Walter Mondale agreed Friday that the White House rivals will meet in at least one debate, but said large differences over details remain.

In another campaign development, the Mondale-Ferraro ticket was endorsed Friday by the 1.7 million-member National Education Association, the nation's largest teacher union. NEA President Mary Hatwood Futrell told a Washington news conference that the Democratic nominees "are committed to equity and excellence in education, to improving the quality of life for all Americans and to securing world peace."

Mondale wants substantially more debating than President Reagan.

Johnson said he proposed six debates to be held, while Baker agreed firmly to only one. "We are not just willing but pleased to agree to one debate and have not foreclosed the opportunity for more," Baker said.

The Reagan aide said no dates had been set but that he wants a debate "not too close to Election Day so there is no undue impact on the voters' decision."

He said the question of whether or not there will be a debate between Vice President George Bush and Democratic vice presidential nominee Geraldine A. Ferraro is unsettled.

Sandy Risser, an official of the League of Women Voters which sponsored the 1976 and 1980 debates, said her organization has submitted a proposal to the two campaigns that it sponsor a series of up to four debates.

The Labor Day weekend, traditionally the formal start of the presidential campaign season, will see the Republican and Democratic tickets on the road.

Reagan will fly to California on Sunday for appearances in Anaheim and San Jose on Monday. He will be in Salt Lake City, Utah, on Tuesday and Chicago on Wednesday.

Mondale and Ms. Ferraro will make their Labor Day parade in New York City and Merrill, Wis., then fly to Long Beach, Calif.

Family of athlete shot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The mother, sister and two nephews of former pro football star Kermit Alexander were slain Friday by two gunmen who walked into the family bungalow and opened fire, said police and neighbors. Two others survived.

"They killed my grandmother! They killed my grandmother! My grandmother doesn't hurt anyone," said Ivan Bonner, 13, one of the survivors, as he ran from the house, according to neighbor Lewis Taylor. Bonner is Alexander's nephew.

"They didn't say anything. They just came in shooting," Bonner told another neighbor, who said he took the youth in after the shootings. Bonner told the neighbor he escaped by hiding in a closet.

The other survivor, Alexander's brother, Nell, 33, told the neighbor that he tried to grab one of the gunmen, who punched him as the assailant fled. The neighbor spoke on condition he not be identified.

"I don't have anything that would explain it (the shootings)," Alexander said.

Police are essentially "working in the dark," Alexander said earlier.

Gromyko, Shultz plan U.N. meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is expected to attend the U.N. General Assembly meeting in late September in New York, where he probably will meet with Secretary of State George P. Shultz, a State Department spokesman said Friday.

U.S. officials previously had said that if Gromyko attended the opening of the annual U.N. session, Shultz would want to meet with him.

Gromyko canceled a trip to the United Nations last fall as a result of the outcry over the Soviet downing of a South Korean airliner on Sept. 1, 1983.

Schools improving, Bell says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Education Secretary T. H. Bell said Friday that most of the nation's 44 million public and private school students "are returning to better schools this fall," but teacher competence, textbooks and dropouts remain top problems on the education agenda. Bell cited the fact that 41 states and the District of Columbia have raised high school graduation requirements in the last three years while 23 states and the district have lengthened their school days or years. In addition, 29 states have begun competency tests for new teachers and 12 have raised their teacher certification requirements or improved teacher education programs. "We're very upbeat about the prospects for the academic year 1984-85," Bell told reporters as he offered his annual "back to school" forecast. He noted that American schools have been given flunking grades but said: "I believe that we are fast turning that around." "I think we have had the greatest resurgence in American education that we have had in our history," Bell added. "I'm saying, collectively, we have all done it." Bell said he wants schools to devote more money and attention to updating textbooks. He said there also is a need for "a great, nationwide drive to keep these youngsters in school. We can't afford the 28 percent attrition rate. . . ." But the secretary said he still believes the biggest problem facing schools is teachers; the need to assure that good teacher candidates are recruited for the profession, that they receive proper training and that they are paid competitive salaries so they won't leave teaching. Bell said half of all new teachers leave their jobs for some better-paying work in five years and 80 percent depart within 10 years. His answer is teacher testing combined with some type of merit pay system. He renewed his criticism of the National Education Association, the largest teacher organization, for failing to go along with those ideas.

Court orders county to pay indigent suit

BOISE (AP) — Idaho residents can have assets and still get their medical bills paid under the state's indigency law, the Idaho Court of Appeals has ruled in reversing a decision in a Blaine County case.

The court on Friday directed Fifth District Judge Douglas D. Kramer to order that the county pay a $54,000, uninsured hospital bill resulting from care of premature twins at a Salt Lake City hospital.

The babies were the children of a Blaine County couple claiming medical indigency, even though they had about $20,000 in assets, the appeals court said.

The appeal seeking payment of their bills was filed by Intermountain Health Care Inc. of Utah, operator of the hospital where the children received care.

The case arose at a time when Idaho counties are claiming potential liability for the payment of indigent medical bills.

In a decision upheld by Kramer, the Blaine County Commission denied Primary Children's Medical Center's payment claim after determining the twins' parents had assets, some of them tied up in a Denver restaurant.

But in a 15-page opinion, the Appeals Court said "there is only one limitation in determining the resources of an applicant under our statute — the resources must be available."

The court said that in determining whether the twins' parents, Dan and Carla Pritchett, were indigent, the county board counted as part of their resources a 33 percent interest in a Denver restaurant that had been suffering losses.

Pritchett had testified he would not net any money from the sale of the restaurant. Commissioners said it was not bound by that assertion.

But the appeals court said Pritchett's testimony about the valuation of the restaurant was accepted by the commissioners, yet they rejected the claim he was unable to obtain money from it.

The appeals court also said Pritchett testified his monthly expenses exceeded monthly income, but nonetheless, the commission decided the family was not medically indigent, the court said.

"The applicant is either medically indigent or not — one cannot be partially indigent under the statute, the court wrote.

The judges said critics of their opinion might argue a person could have significant assets, but if his medical liabilities were greater, he could qualify for indigency payments.

But that possibility is covered by a state law that says county boards can require residents to repay part of their medical assistance if an investigation later shows they are able to do so, the court said.

Blaine County Prosecutor Keith Roark was disappointed in the ruling in the case that has haunted the county since 1981. But he said he is not critical about the court's decision but

Battling Barton brothers fight in court

By DAVID MOFFAT
Times-News writer

JACKPOT — As summer has progressed, the claims, counterclaims and motions have piled up in the Elko District Court Clerk's office in the case of Barton vs. Barton.

In some respects, the feud between the adopted brothers, inheritors of Bartons Club 93, has come to resemble the Magic Valley's own millionaire television serial.

At stake is ownership of what has been described as one of the most profitable small casinos in Nevada.

But the disputes, the battling Bartons — as some have called them — are unlikely to settle their differences amicably. And if neither can raise money to buy out the other's equal share, a new owner for "The Friendliest Spot in Nevada" may have to be found.

Analysis

The root of the problem may be as simple as personalities.

Younger brother Bob Barton, named managing partner of the club at the end of 1981, says he wanted to make a number of improvements to the club to expand it and make it more competitive with its neighbor, Cactus Pete's. He says his brother would not agree to any of these improvements, which were needed to keep the casino profitable in the long run.

Older brother Tom Barton, however, has claimed Bob's actions amounted to mismanagement and impaired the profitability of the business. And among other things, he has asked the court to order Bob not only to pay damages but to reimburse the club for lost revenues.

AS the situation now stands Tom has been named temporary receiver of the club. Bob acquiesced to this status as part of a stipulation also providing a former club manager, Guy Keep, be named permanent receiver, until club assets could be disposed of.

Since the signing of the stipulation, however, Keep has declined to serve in the intermediary role. He chose to bow out, on the advice of his attorney, because of Tom's decision to file a second suit that would have placed him in the middle of the crossfire.

Tom claims in the second suit to be setting not a simple stockholder but as receiver. If Keep were to take over receivership, he would be bound to prosecute the existing suit against Bob.

After it became receiver, Tom obtained records

Expect some rain, crowds on holiday

TWIN FALLS — Area residents who are headed for the mountains this Labor Day weekend can expect scattered thundershowers, but temperatures in the 70s should help dry out wet clothes and keep spirits high.

The showers, which lately have been a common afternoon occurrence, have helped keep the mountains unusually green. Larkspur and Indian paintbrush, yellow sunflowers and other wildflowers continue to bloom in abundance, says Gwen Carly of Sawtooth National Forest.

Campgrounds are expected to be crowded for the big end-of-summer weekend, particularly in the popular Sawtooth National Recreation Area.

Kay Beall, an SNRA naturalist, says that late-arriving visitors might try to find camping spaces in some of the less-frequented sites. On the Wood River Valley end of the SNRA, she recommends the North Fork Campground and three primitive sites behind the SNRA information building that lack water but are accessible to motor vehicles.

In the Stanley Basin and Sawtooth Valley, Beall recommends that visitors try the Salmon River campsites north of Stanley and the campsites west of Stanley along Highway 21. The Yankee Fork campsites in the Challis National Forest are also good bets, Beall said.

As of Friday morning, there were still campsites available at Red Fish Lake, but the lake area was expected to be nearly full by Friday evening.

In the Twin Falls Ranger District, all campgrounds are open except for Big Bluff, Trapper Creek and Big Cedar roads are still very rough and recommended for four-wheel drive use only. Big Creek Road is still closed.

The South Hills also boast ripe rose hips and a few elderberries ready for picking.

In the Twin Falls District, recommended woodcutting areas include Buckskin Ridge, Eagle Spruce, Ecklund Creek and Basin Patch north of Bostetter.

In the Fairfield District, all campgrounds will be open this weekend except for Bounds, which is only partially usable.

The road between Baumgartner Campground and Boudis Campground is still closed from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. because of road repair. The road is expected to be open again by Sept. 22.

In the Burley District, Thompson Flat Campground remains closed, but all area trails remain open and clear. Fishing is reported excellent at both Independence Lakes and Lake Cleveland.

In the Ketchum Ranger District, the Chaparral Creek and Box Canyon Trails should be repaired and in good condition by the weekend. The East Fork of the Baker Creek road will be closed effective Aug. 31 to protect an elk herd. Fishing, if good, is in most areas.

For those who remain in town, all banks and government offices will be closed on Monday. But grocery stores and many gas stations will be open.

Twin Falls County dump will be closed Sunday and Monday, but will reopen Tuesday.

Hospital survives evaluation

By ANNETTE CARY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Regional Medical Center should be fully accredited for another three years, following an evaluation this week by the national Joint Commission on Hospital Accreditation.

Commission members declined to talk with The Times-News, but in a note sent to hospital administrator Bill Burns one wrote, "You have a fine hospital, and I hope our visit will help make it even better."

"It was the most benign evaluation we have ever had," Burns said. Commission members made some recommendations while touring various departments, he said, but none were significant enough to mention in an oral evaluation of the hospital. The commission did seem impressed by the nursing care offered and also praised the physical therapy department and the hospital facilities improved in a remodeling project, Burns said.

The commission had cited the hospital for 50 shortcomings at an evaluation four years ago but most were corrected by remodeling and expansion. The hospital had requested an extension last year from the normal three-year evaluation to finish construction.

"Five of the violations have not been corrected," Burns says. But they are relatively inconsequential matters such as items that are stored in stairwells and small discrepancies between bylaws of organizations within the hospital, he says.

"This week's evaluation is the most thorough the hospital has ever undergone," Burns says. Under a pilot evaluation process, hospital administrators answered 300 pages of questions before commission members arrived.

"It was like they had been here for years," Burns says. "They knew specific questions to ask. They were very thorough."

The evaluation also went beyond assuring that the hospital adheres to a comprehensive set of commission standards that range from scope of services to training employees. This visit "the commission also concentrated on how the hospital was solving problems that arose, he says.

The Joint Commission on Hospital Accreditation is a voluntary form of self-regulation for hospitals. The hospital paid $7,110 for the inspection to assure patients shopping for a hospital that MVRMC is a first-rate facility, Burns says.

The commission should issue the results of its inspection within the next three months.

Demos pick Maughan

TWIN FALLS — Dennis T. Maughan, a 29-year-old Twin Falls businessman, was elected chairman of the Twin Falls Democratic Central Committee Thursday.

He replaces Laura Miller who has moved to Boise. Maughan, a Pocatello native, is sales manager for a Twin Falls concrete company. He attended the University of Idaho where he studied political science and was active in the Idaho Young Democrats.

Maughan will become a member of the Idaho Democratic Central Committee and will continue to serve as a committeeman from Twin Falls County's 9th precinct.

Dierkes Park, Shoshone Falls lure record summer crowd

Fee receipts used for improvements

By DAVID MOFFAT
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The city of Twin Falls has collected a record amount in gate fees at Dierkes Lake and Shoshone Falls this summer.

"With the holiday weekend still to come, $46,699 has been collected. In $1-per-car fees since May 11 at what is fast becoming one of the city's most well-used parks.

"To some, the amount collected may seem surprising. "The average person does not realize how much we are taking in down there," says city parks and recreation director Chad Browning.

The average person also may not know that the Twin Falls City Council has earmarked the gate fee money for improving and maintaining the two parks, he says.

variety of projects, he says. None has been approved yet, but it appears a new sprinkler system and a drinking water well are at the top of the list, he says. Others being considered are the expansion of restrooms and the parking lot at Dierkes Lake, and repairs to the road leading to the lake and the falls.

One other possible improvement is the extension of the beach at the lake, which was built two years ago for $23,372. A section of shoreline to the east of the existing beach appears to have been a beach once before, Browning says.

But extending the beach is something the council must approve, he says. In addition to construction costs, an extension might mean having to hire extra lifeguards, he says.

But on some days this summer an expanded beach might have helped with the crowds, he says. City Councilwoman Mary McCusky, who serves as the council's liaison to the parks and recreation advisory commission, says she does not know what the council's position on the beach expansion will be.

She says the city has a number of needs in its parks that ought to be addressed, including adding more soccer fields for a youth soccer program, whose popularity is fast increasing.

Browning attributes the number of people using Dierkes Lake and Shoshone Falls this summer to hot weather in July and August. There was also a good flow of water over the falls earlier in the year, he says, which may have meant more tourists than usual.

Another reason for the increase is certainly that the city still has not completed a new swimming pool, and the park is becoming popular among youngsters.

But Browning points to "one other interesting trend in the development of the park — the increase in the number of group picnics — as an

City officials speculate that this year's hot summer made Dierkes Park an attractive spot

TWIN FALLS — Two University of Idaho graduates have been hired as editors by The Times-News. They are David Newwert, 27, and Susan Whaley, 25.

Newwert attended high school in Idaho Falls and attended the University of Idaho in the mid-1970s. He then worked as a reporter and editor at the Daily Idahoan, Moscow, the Sandpoint Daily Bee, The Blackfoot Morning News and the Lewiston Morning Tribune.

He returned to the University in 1982 and completed his degree in English in May. While at the university, he was editor of The Idaho Argonaut, the student newspaper.

Whaley was associate editor of The Wood River Journal, Halley, and editor of its Roundup section for two years before joining The Civil trial delays sentencing

TWIN FALLS — The sentencing of Keith Rosencrantz, a Castletro resident convicted June 20 on two counts of manslaughter, was postponed Friday because the judge was delayed in making a decision on a civil jury trial.

Twin Falls County Deputy Prosecutor Dennis Voorhees says Fifth District Judge Tanner-Hurlbutt has been tied up with the civil trial and has not prepared a decision on the sentencing. Voorhees says the sentencing will probably take place next week.

A jury convicted Rosencrantz of the June 1983 shotgun slaying of Kathy Alice Gittel and Michael Wayne Lee. He was charged with first-degree murder in the case.

The jury concluded that Rosencrantz, in a heat of unpremeditated passion and acting under the influence of alcohol, killed his former girlfriend and her new boyfriend, Lee.

After last week's sentencing hearing, Hurlbutt said the complexities and implications of the case prompted him to withhold sentencing for at least one week.

Defense attorney Jeff Stoker argued for a single, 10-year indeterminate sentence, which would make Rosencrantz eligible for parole in 3½ to six years.

However, Voorhees asked the court for a two-10-year indeterminate sentence that would run consecutively rather than concurrently.

Buhl man sustains burns in fire

BUHL — A Buhl man was slightly injured and a Forest Service truck was destroyed in a gasoline fire in a Buhl automobile repair garage Friday afternoon.

The fire at Parrott's Garage, 1030 N. Broadway Ave., started when gasoline dripped from the truck and onto a 100-watt light bulb used by a mechanic under the truck. The fire engulfed the truck and destroyed the engine compartment and cab, said Capt. Tom Owens of the Buhl Fire Department.

The mechanic working on the truck was treated at a Buhl clinic. Owens, who said the burns were minor, would not release the mechanic's name.

Owens says firefighters pulled the truck from the garage to extinguish the fire. Heat expanded one of the two gasoline tanks on the truck and forced its cap off, while the second tank was only slightly affected, he says.

Owens said that if the cap had not come off the tank, it might have exploded.

Ceiling rafters also were damaged by the fire, which took about 20 minutes to put out, Owens said. The amount of damage to the truck and garage has not yet been determined.

of the management of the club by his brother for the past year, says one of Tom's attorneys, Zane Miles of Elkco.

The second suit alleges during the first months of fiscal 1984, the club's gross revenues climbed by $300,000, while net revenues fell $150,000.

Among other reasons for the decline, the second suit alleges Bob hired a general manager for the club, Gary Halvorsen, who did not have appropriate experience or training.

The suit also points to an expensive program to bus customers to the casino during the winter instituted by Bob. Bus programs don't work for small casinos and Bob was presented with advice of this, the suit alleges. It also alleges the person hired to run the program, Margo Reitz, did not have the training necessary to run it successfully.

The suit asks for an accounting of the bus program and asks the court to order Bob to restore the club for losses attributable to it. The argument used by Tom's attorneys is one of "reasonable care and ordinary business prudence," a business argument similar to medical malpractice.

Other causes for action in the second suit, filed by Tom as receiver, include Bob's alleged "unjust enrichment" at the expense of the corporation, because he installed non-gaming video machines at the club and took the proceeds for himself.

It also claims Bob spent almost $11,000 for architectural planning for a major addition to the club, without a vote by the board of directors, consisting of Bob and Tom.

And it claims Bob admitted in a

Times-News article earlier this summer he forced the club into receivership in order to terminate the relationship between himself and his brother, a wrongful act against the corporation.

Bob calls all the allegations in the second suit "just picky."

While the second suit may be the most important document filed in the case since the original complaint, it is only one of many.

Another is a counterclaim by Bob against Tom. It alleges, among other things, that Tom used club money and personnel to make improvements to his house and used other club property and personnel for personal ends, and tried to cover up these things through accounting entries.

It further charges Tom determined to prevent Keep from becoming receiver so he could remain in that position and continue these acts.

with the state Legislature failure to deal with the problem.

Roark said Idaho has the most confused indigency system in the nation and if the Legislature doesn't deal with it they may face a tax revolt among property taxpayers for having to fund what is essentially a social welfare program. Such a program should be handled by the state, he said.

"I think the time is at hand when the whole system is going to be challenged through some sort of initiative," Roark said.

Donald Burnett said he objects to the majority's determination that the county is responsible for the Fritchets' entire uninsured bill, even though they had resources to pay part of it.

indication of who is using the park. On average, there were four picnics a week this year compared to about two last, he says.

The groups seeking permission to use the park for such get-togethers have included families, church groups, Scout troops and companies, he says.

Last year the city collected $32,385 at the park, a figure which may be slightly low because a park attendant later admitted he was stealing money from the receipts, he says.

One program that apparently has not worked as well as expected has been the Trans IV bus service to the lake this summer.

Browning says there never was a consistent number of youngsters riding the bus — varying from as many as 20 to 30 per day to only six or seven.

Ketchum man draws jail term

BOISE — Michael Scott, the former owner of Jeans and Things in Ketchum, was sentenced to a one-year jail term Wednesday in 5th District Court for filing a false federal income tax return in 1979.

On July 24, Scott pleaded guilty to one count of filing a false income tax return for 1978 after a plea bargain agreement was reached that allowed dismissal of charges against him for 1977 and 1979.

The government claimed in the indictment that Scott, 46, failed to report capital gains from real estate transactions and other business dealings for three consecutive years.

It also alleged that for 1978 alone he failed to report in excess of $75,000 in taxable capital gains. The Internal Revenue Service presently estimates that his outstanding tax liability, including penalty and interest, is approximately $80,000.

Scott did not appear at the sentencing and is believed to be living in Mexico.

Brought Christianity to California

Sainthood closer for historic figure

By RUSSELL CHANDLER The Los Angeles Times

SERRA, Calif. — Father Junipero Serra, the tireless Franciscan friar who founded the chain of Roman Catholic missions that brought Christianity to California, moved closer to gaining Vatican recognition of sainthood Tuesday during a colorful ceremony here marking the 200th anniversary of his death at San Carlos Borromeo mission here.

The long push toward canonization of one of the West Coast's most significant historical figures formally began 50 years ago. But it was accelerated by the attendance Tuesday of Archbishop Pio Laghi, the papal ambassador to the United States, at the Mass celebrated by nearly 30 Catholic bishops from Mexico and California and Cardinal Timothy Manning of Los Angeles.

Laghi, representing Pope John Paul II, told the crowd of dignitaries, priests and nuns packing the 450-seat mission basilica: "I share a hope that in the very near future he (the Pope) will come here" at a time that will "coincide with the recognition of Father Serra as a blessed."

There are three steps to canonization, or sainthood, in the Roman Catholic Church: veneration, beatification (becoming "blessed") and canonization. The process usually takes many years — even centuries. Although St. Francis of Assisi, the patron saint of San Francisco, holds the record by achieving canonization in "one" year, it required Bode the Venerable 700 years to be declared a saint.

Father Noel Francis Moholy of San Francisco, vice postulator for Serra's Cause for Canonization, said in an interview that the Vatican last year had approved Serra's "Summarium," a long biography designed to establish that Serra, known as the "Apostle of California," had lived a life of "heroic virtues in faith, hope, love, prudence, justice, temperance and fortitude."

Bishop Thaddeus Shubsida of Monterey, former auxiliary bishop of Los Angeles, visited Rome last year and invited Pope John Paul II to visit Carmel to commemorate the Serra bicentennial.

"We have been assured that veneration will occur during the Serra bicentennial — by August of 1985," Shubsida said. "We are closer (to canonization), certainly, because we have finished the historical process which took a great number of years."

Beatification, the second step of sainthood, requires that at least one "miracle" attributed to the candidate be approved by the Vatican investigators. If there is no verifiable record of a miracle being performed during the candidate's lifetime, then one based upon prayer through the name of the candidate must be approved.

A second verified miracle is necessary for canonization. Shubsida said that a team of Vatican investigators now is studying four apparent miracles of healing that took place between 1915 and 1980, and attributed to Serra's intercession.

Catholic parishes throughout California commemorated the bicentennial of Serra's death last Sunday, and the Legislature set aside Tuesday as a day to honor the perpetuate priest for "his vast contributions to California."

"After the Mass here," the white-robed bishops of California and Baja California gathered in the courtyard of the rough-hewn basilica, which is set on a rise near the sea and the Carmel River.

Standing in a garden profuse with blossoms, Cardinal Manning blessed a restored water fountain that once had been a part of the mission during Serra's time but had been abandoned and partially buried in an orchard several hundred yards away.

"We're keeping Serra's memory alive," declared Shubsida, the Monterey bishop, as the mission bells pealed loudly and a folk music group sang.

If canonized, Serra, who was born on the island of Mallorca, Spain, in 1713, would be the first resident of California to become a saint. Two Americans, Elizabeth Ann Seton of Maryland and Cardinal John Neumann of Philadelphia, have been canonized within the last decade.

Serra taught philosophy at the Franciscan college at Palma de Majorca but later volunteered to evangelize the Indians in Mexico. Nearly 20 years later, he was appointed father-president of the 13 missions in Baja California. The next year, he joined the expedition of explorer Don Gaspar de Portola, who had been ordered by the Spanish king to occupy the new territory of Alta California before it could be taken over by other foreign nations.

Serra was 56 before he established the mission in San Diego, the first in a chain of nine he was to build in his lifetime. The number of missions eventually swelled to 21, each built a day's journey apart. Though he was hindered by a lame leg and by his height — 5 feet, 2 inches — Serra was known for his fiery preaching and his zeal for evangelizing the Indians.

In keeping with the preaching of his day, Serra sometimes "mortified the flesh" during his sermons by flogging himself with a chain, beating his chest with a sharp stone until the blood ran or burning it with a lighted torch.

By the time he died at the Carmel mission, on a narrow bed of wooden slats furnished with a single blanket, Serra had baptized 5,000 Indians.

What's what

Our Love and War man is watching the work of a New England darning service in Harvard Square. It's "Gentlepeople, Ltd." To join, you need an advanced degree and $500. No blue collar. Not even-white collar, I guess. Velvet collar maybe. They're genteel. A professor on what he considered a low salary requested a rich date. He got a lady-executive who makes $120,000 a year. Not bad, not bad.

Q. If you go one mile at 30 mph, how fast must you go the second mile to average 60 mph for the two miles?

A. I'm told it's impossible, sir.

Only one person out of four in Montana lives in a city.

Q. What was Erle Stanley Gardner's first mystery story with Perry Mason?

A. "The Case of the Velvet Claws." In 1933, Gardner's publisher suggested Mason might make a good series hero. So Gardner recycled him.

TATTOOS

What prompted cave dwellers to tattoo their skins — and tattoos go back that far — was about the same as what prompts schoolkids to wear letter sweaters. So says a student of human foibles.

LIARS AND TRUTHERS

Riddle: Say you're on an island inhabited only by two tribes, the Liars and the Truthers. The Liars always lie; the Truthers always tell the truth. You come to a fork in the lane. One route leads to safety, the other to danger. A native sits nearby. If you're allowed only one question, what can you ask the native to learn which path leads to safety? Try his: "Which way would another member of your tribe say leads to safety?"

Teachers in Meridian agree to salary hike

MERIDIAN (AP) — Salaries for Meridian teachers will go up an average of 13 percent under a tentative contract settlement reached by district teachers and the Meridian School Board.

The proposed contract starts a first-year teacher with a bachelor's degree in the state's largest school district at $12,285 a year.

A veteran teacher with 15 years of experience, a bachelor's degree and 20 additional credits or a master's degree with 20 additional credits would top the salary scale at $24,260 under the proposed settlement.

That compares with a starting salary of $11,282 a year and a top salary of $22,279 a year in the 1983-84 salary schedule.

The Meridian Education Association reached the tentative settlement with the Meridian School Board on July 31, but explained the details to teachers at a meeting on Thursday.

The proposed settlement will cost the district $1.4 million more than last year — not counting the salaries of 30 additional teachers that will be funded with part of the proceeds of a $771,000 tax override levy approved in May.

The proposed contract will give teachers an 8.9 percent to 17.9 percent pay increase, depending on where they stand on the salary schedule, MEA chief negotiator Eldon Hansen said.

Teachers will have until next Thursday to return ballots specifying whether they want to ratify the contract, MEA President Joyce Raasch said.

If teachers accept the contract, the school board would have to ratify it before it became final.

Deputies chewed out

CALDWELL (AP) — An investigation has determined that a number of Canyon County sheriff's deputies have used county-owned cars during off-duty hours in violation of county policy, outgoing Sheriff John Prescott says.

But Prescott, who has declined to identify the deputies involved, said no disciplinary action is planned, although the deputies were "chewed out."

The sheriff also denied allegations from a Teamsters Union organizer that the investigation into use of county cars was an attempt to harass the deputies for their continuing efforts to unionize. He attempted to gain more job security with the advent of a new sheriff after the November election.

Ruling in labor relations case expected

BOISE (AP) — A federal judge is expected to rule next week on a request for a temporary order restoring jobs at an Idaho Falls firm accused of cutting employment because of union activity.

A National Labor Relations Board attorney argued on Friday that American Laser Corp. is a prosperous company with money to restore full operations at its Idaho Falls subsidiary, South Fork Electronics Co.

Attorney Patrick Dunham charged the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers' Union has been misrepresented as the cause of economic problems at the South Fork plant.

But an attorney for the company told U.S. District Judge Marion Callister South Fork has been making do after being evicted from its Idaho Falls building because the owner was unhappy about reports of union problems.

The business closed on April 2 and reopened on May 14 in smaller quarters because South Fork was unable to lease a replacement building big enough for the company's former work force, attorney Brian Morrison said.

A federal administrative judge in Idaho Falls will hold a Sept. 11 hearing to determine the validity of charges against South Fork.

Maureen stumps for dad at fair

BOISE (AP) — President Reagan's daughter touted her father's economic policies, shook the hands of southern Idaho residents and patting the heads of their children Friday during a short appearance at the Western Idaho Fair.

Maureen Reagan made an afternoon stop at the Boise fair's exhibit building, where a cluster of Republican candidates for state and local offices awaited her arrival at a GOP booth festooned with hula-filled balloons, American flags and a "Reagan Country" banner.

The president's 44-year-old daughter from his first marriage told reporters the election turns on fact the United States has endured "30 years of spending and not solving problems."

Reagan's philosophy for turning around the nation's fortunes outweighs the women's-rights issue in this year's campaign, Miss Reagan said.

She also said she is not concerned about the treatment of women in the Republican Party's national platform. Key women opinionmakers in the party are not letting that stand in the way of the GOP mission in this year's election, she said.

"If they aren't worrying about it, I'm not worrying about it," Miss Reagan said.

She said Democrats "panicked" when questions arose about Democratic vice-presidential candidate Geraldine Ferraro's finances.

Murder bond set

BOISE (AP) — Bond has been set at $25,000 for a young Marsing man charged with first-degree murder in the shooting death of a Boise teenager.

Herman Avedano Jr., 19, had been held in the Ada County Jail without bond since his arrest Aug. 4. He is accused of shooting Richard Julian, 17, during a street fight in a downtown Boise parking lot on Aug. 4.

Bruins hit early and hang on to nip Tigers

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

JEROME — One quarter of domination offset three quarters of being dominated as the Twin Falls High Bruins just escaped an aerial blitz by the Jerome Tigers 21-10 Friday night.

The Bruins roared for all 21 points in the first 11 minutes of the game and then were on the ropes until Curtis Hansen fell on an on-sides kick with 1:15 left.

"It's the Twin Falls syndrome," said Jerome Coach Jon Jund of the early blitz that had him fearing a rout in the opening game of the season for both teams. "It's the same thing every year. Our kids come out tight, make a couple of mistakes and get hangered. But after that, we seem to play pretty well. Tonight I was proud of the way our kids came back."

Most of that comeback rode the arm of Shane Jund, who passed for 237 yards. And while he hit a lot of receivers, most of the key — and deeper — throws wound up in the arms of Todd Amundson. Twin Falls' second secondary kept itself in trouble with four pass interference calls as the school's tradition of being susceptible to passing continued.

"We started running scared in the second half. We had to double cover No. 3 (Amundson) and they started hitting the dump passes across the middle and to the back end," said Coach Bill Jones. "We missed a lot of assignments in the secondary."

Twin Falls' sudden demise as a coherent offensive team wasn't apparent at the outset. "Taking the opening kickoff, quarterback Doug Petersen and Todd Jones looked up on a couple of passes and Jeff Lambert belted for 21 yards in three tries. On the seventh play of the game, Petersen and Jones hooked up on an 18-yard strike and Troy Luetich then started providing the margin of victory with his point-after kicking.

Two plays after the kickoff, Jund's reference to the syndrome hit its zenith. Jerome tumbled and Bruins Randy Lowe recovered at the 25. A pass-to-Jones picked up 15 and Petersen sneaked in from a yard out with 6:26 left in the period.

After forcing a punt, Twin Falls rolled 53 yards in five plays to complete its scoring. But even that came a little harder. It was fourth and five and Jund was standing on the sideline screaming "watch the screen, watch the screen."

Petersen then dropped off a screen to Lambert who legged it into a 35-yard scoring gain, leaving Jund the picture of speechless frustration with arms raised toward heaven.

After that Twin Falls self-destructed on the odd time Jerome's defense appeared beaten. Five penalties in the second quarter stymied any forward movement.

"We just lost our edge and relaxed after the first quarter and there was, nothing we could tell them to get them back up. We warned them at halftime that if Jerome scored in the third quarter they'd be in a battle," Jones said.

But it took the Jerome offense a while to match the momentum building of the defensive.

Just when it appeared the half would end 21-0, Amundson got things rolling with a good punt return from

Champions lead field into Open

SUN VALLEY — Defending open singles champions Mark Scribner of Ketchum and Kathy McRobert of Pocatello lead a field of 200 players into the Idaho Open Tennis Tournament here this weekend.

Action began in men's and women's A singles, the two biggest divisions in terms of participation. Friday afternoon competition in the other events — men's and women's open singles, men's and women's open doubles, men's and women's A doubles, men's and women's 35 singles, men's and women's 35 doubles, men's and women's 45 singles, men's and women's 45 doubles, men's 55 singles, 55 men's doubles, open mixed doubles, A mixed doubles, 35 mixed doubles and 45 mixed doubles — will begin this morning at the Sun Valley tennis center.

The championship and semifinal matches for nearly all of the events will be played Monday with the men's and women's open singles finals slated for 4 p.m.

Scribner, a professional at the Warm Springs Tennis Club in Ketchum who was the third seed in last year's tournament, has been elevated to top spot by virtue of his performance in last year's tourney. He beat second-seeded Eddie Perkins of Boise, last year's second seed, in the semifinals and then dispatched fellow Warm Spring pro Philip Beckman, the fourth seed in 1983, 7-5, 6-2 in the finals.

Second half carries Kimberly past Raft River

By CHRIS HAPT
Times-News writer

KIMBERLY — Merely competent in the first half but dominant in the second, the Kimberly Bulldogs cruised past the Raft River Trojans 32-0 Friday night in a non-conference football season opener.

The schools' difference in classification wasn't much in evidence as the A-3 Bulldogs built a 130 total yardage over their smaller A-2 foes. However, after quashing Raft

River's third-quarter threat to halve the difference, Kimberly exercised total control, rampaging for three touchdowns in less than seven minutes.

"We just sort of fell apart," Raft River Coach Ted Blackman said helplessly.

Meanwhile, Kimberly backs Troy Cochran and Brett Wright came together in displaying their talents. Each scored two touchdowns. Wright added a fourth-quarter interception which set up one of his own scores.

Mirroring their team's effort, Jackman and Wright grew more effective in the second half. Jackman gained 84 of his 124 yards after intermission, Wright 45 of his 74.

Moreover, they supplied much of the power behind Kimberly's second-half knockout punch.

Early in the third quarter, Raft River recovered a fumble at Kimberly's 35-yard line and drove to the 14 in five plays. But Travis Whitaker, the Trojans' best horse, fumbled. The Bulldogs recovered the loose ball with 5:28 left, and thereafter Raft River never got beyond Kimberly's 48.

From their 13, the Bulldogs traveled 87 yards in 10 plays, taking a 19-0 lead on Jackman's 29-yard run with 11 seconds left in the period. Forays of 11 and 7 yards by Jackman for first downs and Kurt Holcomb's 14-yard pass to Troy Foster fueled the drive.

On the scoring run, Jackman burst through the middle, then neatly stepped outside to the left and sped upfield unchallenged.

Following a punt, Kimberly needed just four plays to score. Two plays were long gainers on

Shoshone capitalizes on errors by Richfield

By SCOTT TUDEHOPE
Times-News writer

SHOSHONE — An offense that turned its opponent's mistakes into points resulted Friday in a 24-0 victory for Shoshone over rival Richfield in the Sawtooth Conference opener for both teams.

Typical of the evening was the third play of the game when Richfield quarterback Kenny Preston lobbed an interception deep in Tiger territory. That helped set up an end-around by Shoshone's senior running back Charles Sandy. Sandy tacked on two more points and less than two minutes into the contest, the Indians were up by eight.

Richfield, while not totally ineffective on the ground, found its inside game nullified by Shoshone's interior. Going to the outside was difficult as well for Coach Leroy Johnson's crew, who couldn't manage to complete a pass in the first half. Shoshone quarterback Wade Cooper, on the other hand, finished the night with 6-for-16 for 128 yards total passing.

Cooper tallied the next score by scooting 11 yards on the first play of the second quarter. Sandy added the PAT on the tried and tested up-the-middle number and the Indians made it a 16-0 difference.

Richfield was lucky it wasn't more. Cooper on a third-down effort looped a 12-yard pass to Sandy later in that quarter and the receiver managed to break a tackle into the end zone. The play was called back, however, due to a penalty.

The tempo didn't change in the second half. While the "Tiger" offense was lucky to put together a first down or two, the Indians seemed to be able to strike at will. Altogether, Shoshone netted 165 yards running offense and a total of 283 yards.

Even when the Indians didn't score, they played intelligent football. Offensive drives typically ate three to four minutes off the clock each, while Richfield had trouble averaging two minutes in their abortive drives. On at least one occasion, the Tigers quick-kicked in order to get themselves out of various jams. The finale blow came in the third period when Cooper hit Sandy for a 33-yard score.

"I was really pleased with what I saw tonight," said Larry Bond, Shoshone's coach. "The line provided good protection, particularly the first half," included in that lineup were principles Chris Taber at center and John Hibbard and Curtis Sandy at the guard spots.

The matchup, which was termed as a home game for Richfield, won't end the rivalry. The two clubs meet again here again later in the season.

Boise State faces Cal State-Fullerton in opener

By The Associated Press

Boise State will be looking to avenge a loss to Cal State-Fullerton in last year's opener and Weber State will be out to preserve its unblemished opening-game record against Utah as the 1984 Big Sky Conference football season gets under way today.

The Northern Arizona Lumberjacks, who may challenge for the conference crown after losing their last season, will revive their rivalry with New Mexico Highlands in a benefit game that's the first ever played on the Navajo Indian Reservation at Window Rock High School, Fort Defiance, Ariz.

All eight conference teams swing into action against non-conference foes on Sept. 8 with the University of Nevada-Reno out to defend its 1983 title.

Big Sky roundup

The pressure appears to be building on Boise State, a preseason choice to be in the thick of what is expected to be a wide-open battle for the conference championship.

After finishing last year with a mediocre 4-3 conference mark, BSU is the preseason second-place choice of both the conference coaches and sports writers and broadcasters. Sports Illustrated has picked Lyle Stencich's Broncos as the third best team nationally in the NCAA Division I-A.

Saturday's opener will be a big test for Boise State as it faces the Cal State-Fullerton Titans, defending Pacific Coast Athletic Association champions. It was a 51-yard field goal with nine seconds left in season that lifted the Titans to a 33-7 victory over BSU.

Stencich admits the Titans, with 16 starters returning, are even better than last year. But he credits his own team with improvement as he heads into his second season as head coach. And while the loss of some starters from last year creates a few question marks, Saturday's home field advantage should give BSU a boost.

"There's no question we're farther ahead on offense," he said. "Realistically, we know what we can do on offense. I think our personnel is better placed."

Out to stop the Bronco express before it manages to build up steam will be Titan quarterback Damon Allen, brother of Heisman Trophy winner Marcus Allen.

"We're going into the season knowing that we've got the capability of scoring a lot of points," said Allen. "It will be up to the BSU defense, anchored by 1982 All-America linebacker Carl Keever, to rein in Allen."

"He's always been a good athlete," Stencich said of Allen. "He's a senior and now is the time for him to be their leader. I think he would create more problems just because of experience."

In Salt Lake City, Weber State plans to hold nothing back in only its second meeting with the Vets, and it's a game that Coach Mike Price said will begin the Wildcats on their journey toward constant improvement throughout the season.

Both will see action against Utah in what Price said will be an offense marked by "some new wrinkles that maybe we'll try to surprise them a bit."

'Bread, butter' wins for Thomas

By TIM DAHLBERG
The Associated Press

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Pinklon Thomas called his left jab his "bread and butter" and Friday night he served it up enough to capture the Welterweight title by knocking out the reigning champion with a majority 12-round decision over Tim Witherspoon.

In a lackluster fight highlighted only by occasional flurries, Thomas used his potent left jab to pile up points and take the crown from Witherspoon.

"My job is my bread and butter. My job was working for me tonight," Thomas said. "If it's working for me, I wasn't going to change."

Thomas continually stopped Witherspoon's effort to fight inside by flicking the jab in the champion's face and keeping him away.

"I did what I did my last 25 fights,"

Thomas, who remained undefeated with the victory, said. "I knew if I could go the distance, I'd win."

Witherspoon, who battled with promoter Don King earlier in the week over the size of his purse, showed only flashes of the fighter who led a narrow split decision to Larry Holmes in May 1983 before winning the WBC title vacated by Holmes last March with a 12-round decision over Greg Page.

"I tried to put all that aside," Witherspoon said of his dispute with King. "I don't think I was hungry enough to take it."

Witherspoon, who repeatedly blinked his left eye as if he had something in it, claimed Thomas kept thumbing him in the eye.

"The jab was effective only after he thumbed me," Witherspoon said. "He thumbed me almost every round."

But it was Witherspoon who got the only warnings from referee Richard Steele during the bout. Witherspoon, who was warned once for a low blow, had a point taken away from the judges' scorecards in the fifth round following his third warning for hitting Thomas with the back of his glove.

The point deduction did not affect the eventual outcome of the fight, although it would have swung one scorepoint to Witherspoon's favor and made the bout a split decision victory for Thomas, rather than a majority decision.

Thomas, ranked third by the WBC going into the fight, was able to control the early rounds but Witherspoon became more aggressive after the middle rounds in an effort to pull the fight out.

Judge Duane Ford had Thomas ahead 116-112 and Judge Dalby Shirley also favored Thomas, 115-112. Judge Hal Miller scored it 114-114. The Associated Press had Thomas winning 115-113.

Neither fighter was able to hurt the other in the bout.

Knights' last-gasp try beats Burley, 20-18

By The Times-News

BOISE — Boosted by two last-minute pass interference calls, Dishon Kelly toppled the Burley Bobcats 20-18 in Friday night's non-conference football season opener for both teams.

With just five seconds left in the game, Bishop Kelly quarterback Bryan Moore capitalized on a second consecutive Burley pass interference penalty and connected with fullback Eric Helgeson for a 5-yard touchdown pass for the winning score.

Kicker David Handley nailed the victory down with a one-point conversion.

Trailing 10-13 late in the fourth period, the Knights took a punt from Burley at their own 33-yard line with 57 seconds left. Then after driving to midfield and stuck with a fourth-and-10 situation on Burley's 45-yard line, Moorey completed a 20-yard pass to Helgeson with 29 seconds to go.

At that point Burley was slapped with two crucial penalties as Moore attempted two completions, the second to Jed Prine. The foul on Prine set up Moore's game-winning completion to Helgeson.

Burley took an early 6-0 lead in the first quarter when quarterback Alex Alejandro, who was 9-for-20 for 147 yards—passing on—the night, took advantage of the first of six Knight turnovers and hurled a 7-yard touchdown pass to Steve Petersen before failing two-point conversion attempt.

Bishop Kelly fought back to a tie as Helgeson sprinted 55 yards for a tying touchdown run. That set the score at 6-6 for the halftime buzzer as the PAT attempt failed.

Breaking the tie in the third quarter was Bobcat Shane Beck as he broke a run-wide-open from midfield and dashed 48 yards for a score, and the score was 12-6 after the two-point conversion failed. Beck scrambled 102 yards in 17 carries on the night to bolster Burley's offensive attack.

Beck struck and again with 13-yard run in the fourth, but that wasn't enough as Moorey connected for a 62-yard TD pass to Brian Helfer before the final game-clinching drive.

Continued from Page B1. his own two to the Jerome 37. Jund immediately turned to Torrey Sheets and Tracy Black for gains of 14 and 19 yards and then clinched with Amundson on a 23-yard bomb that carried to the Bruins seven. Jund wound it up with a scoring play to Mark Leavitt but Twin Falls' Gary Elora sacked him on the two-point try.

The Tigers rolled 80 yards to open the second half, the first 55 coming on a bomb to Black and the next 21 on a fourth-and-ten pass to Amundson that carried to the line. Jund snapped over on the next play but Twin Falls' Mark Lee stopped the point-after play.

A pass interception by Shaun Black and good defense kept Twin Falls bottled up and the Tigers then fashioned a last chance to pull it out. They punted Twin Falls into a hole at the Bruin 11 but Twin Falls then went to its running game and Lambert and Jon Sander replied with 39 yards in seven plays — the Bruins' best effort in the final three quarters.

But Twin Falls then tried a pass, Petersen winding up being sacked. Then a clip penalty wound the ball back to the 23 and Cash McCallum quickly made the Bruins pay for those mistakes by blocking a punt.

Glenns Ferry 20 Rimrock 0

GLENN'S FERRY — Juan Luna ran for two touchdowns to spark a second quarter explosion for the Glenns Ferry Pilots, who did all their scoring in that period and blanked Rimrock in a non-conference football season opener Friday night, 20-0.

Luna, who amassed 67 yards rushing on 13 carries, scored on plunges of 2 and 4 yards for the Pilots.

Mike Adamson notched Glenns Ferry's first touchdown with a 4-yard run. Conversion kicks by Jason Simon followed each of Luna's scores.

Each touchdown was set up by passes from quarterback Brian Bunker. Bunker, who finished with 111 yards passing while completing nine of 14 attempts, hit Matt Simons with a 15-yarder before Adamson's touchdown. A 32-yard strike to Bruce Holubetz preceded Luna's first touchdown, and a 16-yard aerial to Travis Crane helped frame Luna's other score.

Obviously, the Pilots performed effectively on offense. "I don't know any one person that did an outstanding job; everybody did a good job," Glenns Ferry Coach Paul Shrum said. Shrum did add that Adamson looked strong at nose guard, while John Solosabal anchored the linebacking corps efficiently.

Gooding 24 Buhl 12

GOODING — Junior fullback Danny Dault rushed for 110 of Gooding's 114 yards as the Senators dumped Buhl 24-12 in the non-conference prep football opener for both teams Friday night.

Dault, who saw only limited action last season, scored the first Gooding touchdown and helped set up the two. A fourth Gooding TD was nullified because of a penalty; the Senators also got a 27-yard field goal from Don Kirtland in the third quarter.

Buhl, in its last season, stayed in the game with a strong third-quarter performance, notably from senior running back Mike Crowley, who scored both of the Indians' touchdowns, and from junior quarterback Gary Brown, who ran the Indians' veer offense effectively in the second half.

Gooding got all of the points it would need in the first half. On their first possession, Buhl sent the march in for a touchdown capped Sunday by Dault's 7-yard and Kirtland's PAT. Then in the second quarter, Senior wingback Jay Curtis hauled in a pass from quarterback Todd Simls for another score from six yards out. Kirtland's kick put Gooding ahead 14-0 at halftime.

The Senators took the opening kick in the second half and ran it back for a touchdown, only to have the play called back because of a penalty. The Indians controlled the ball for the rest of the period, scoring on a 6-yard run by Crowley. The PAT attempt was blocked.

Gooding led off the fourth quarter with Kirtland's field goal before Buhl scored again on a 6-yard pass from Brown to Crowley. But the Senators hit the game-tying 16-yard dive by Simls late in the game. Kirtland's kick made it 24-12.

Simls, Gooding's senior quarterback, completed 11 of 19 passes for 127 yards and one interception, but Gooding assistant coach Ward Stone singled out Murray running back Steve Gibbs and running back Steve Anderson as important factors in the Senators' victory. Matt Irvine, Shawn Gough and Jed Towled the defense.

Cooper leading bronc events

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — Kent Cooper of Declo, who celebrated his 29th birthday Wednesday, continues to dominate the saddle bronc riding events of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association, as he has since March.

In keeping with his upbeat season, Cooper last month scored 91 points on D.A. Swanny Kerby's Velvet Hammer at the Cassia County Rodeo in Burley.

A two-time national finalist, Cooper made the world's second-highest saddle bronc score, 93 points, at a rodeo in Vernal, Utah, in 1980.

In his quest for the 1984 world championship, Cooper has entered 66 rodeos and earned a total of $51,239. His $12,000 lead over 1983 world champion Clint Johnson is the largest lead for any event except calf roping, where five-time world champion Ray Cooper has a lead of more than $25,000.

Mickey Young of Jerome continues to rank fourth in the bareback riding standings, with winnings of $34,498. That puts him $28,000 behind the event leader, Danny Brady of Henderson, Nev., and $3,500 behind third-place Lesie Field of Elk Ridge, Utah.

Top maker of buck branks last week in steer wrestling, with earnings of $16,327. That's $19,000 behind the leader, John W. Jones of Morro Bay, Calif.

Vandals lose defensive end

MOSCOW — University of Idaho defensive end Frank Moreno, a returning starter at left end who was being touted for post-season honors, has been lost by the Vandals for the season because of a knee injury.

Moreno was injured on the final play of a scrimmage held here Aug. 25, tearing ligaments in his left knee. He suffered a similar injury to his right knee in the third game of the 1983 season, missed the remainder of the season and was redshirted.

Moreno was a starter during the 1982 season, when the Vandals finished second in the Big Sky Conference and advanced to the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs.

"The injury to Frank hurts us," said Idaho Coach Dennis Erickson. "He is an experienced player and losing his experience plus his great leadership qualities is a blow."

Spinks' opponent withdraws

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Challenger Dwight Muhammad Qawi withdrew Friday from his Sept. 7 fight heavyweight title fight against champion Michael Spinks, leaving the bout's future in limbo.

Qawi left his training camp after aggravating a chronic shoulder injury, fight promoter Butch Lewis told a hastily-called news conference.

He said it would not be known until Tuesday whether another contender could be substituted. He said he had spoken with the manager of No. 2 contender Willie Edwards, but there had been no negotiations.

If the Spinks fight is scrapped, it will mean cancelling the entire card, including the Carlos "Sugar" Dela Cruz-Matino title fight for Dela Cruz's World Boxing Council championship.

Bubka, the 1983 world champion in Helsinki, had dominated the event this season, cracking the world record three times and carrying it to 19' 4 1/2".

McEnroe, Connors advance in Open

By BOB GREENE
The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Top-seeded John McEnroe delivered a masterful lesson Friday night, crushing Sweden's young Stefan Edberg, and moving into the third round of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships.

It was Edberg, the winner last year of all four Grand Slam junior boys titles, who was the pupil in the $2.55 million tournament at the National Tennis Center. And the lesson he was given was devastating.

McEnroe, in charge from the very beginning, crushed his 18-year-old opponent 6-2, 6-0, 6-1.

Also advancing into the third round in the men's singles was defending champion Jimmy Connors, the No. 3 seed who was a 6-3, 6-3, 6-2 winner over Brian Gottfried.

But sixth-seeded Jimmy Arias of Buffalo, N.Y., and No. 11 Juan Aguilera of Spain were upset on the hardcourts of America's premier tennis event.

Also ousted on the fourth day of the world's richest tournament was Kathy Jordan, the No. 5 seed in the women's singles. A semifinalist at Wimbledon earlier this year, she was eliminated by Helena Sukova of Czechoslovakia 6-3, 6-3.

Gene Mayer, once ranked in the top five in the world, toppled Aris 6-4, 6-2, 6-3 and was joined in the third round by his brother, Sandy Mayer, who halted the dreams of qualifier Kevin Bealer 6-3, 7-6, 6-3.

Aguilera, like Arias much more comfortable on the slow European clay courts than on the fast hardcourts here, fell to Robert Green of Brookline, Mass. Green is making his first appearance in the main draw of a Grand Slam tournament after surviving the qualifying.

Another qualifier reaching the third round was Kevin Moir, who advanced when fellow South African Kevin

Jimmy Connors uses his two-handed grip during his win over Brian Gottfried in Friday play

Current was forced to withdraw with a sprained ankle, while Sweden's Joakim Nystrom, seeded 16th, defeated Ramesh Krishnan of India 7-5, 6-3, 7-6.

In the women's singles, Czechoslovakia's Helena Sukova upset Jordan 6-4, 6-3; 14-year-old Gabriela Sabatini of Argentina ousted Kim Shafer and Peanut Louie eliminated veteran Virginia Wade of Great Britain.

But Pam Shriver, the No. 4 seed, advanced with an easy 6-3, 6-2 victory over fellow American Wendy White. No. 13 Wendy Turnbull of Australia stopped Grace Kim 6-1, 7-5; No. 8 Claudia Kohde-Kilsch of West Germany moved into the third round with a 6-4, 6-2 victory over Kathy Rinaldi; No. 9 Lisa Bonder defeated Debbie Stone 7-5, 6-3; and No. 15 Barbara Potter stopped Sandy Collins 6-3, 7-6.

BYU's quarterback feels the pressure

By JOHN MOSSMAN
The Associated Press

When Gifford Nielsen made his bow, there was equaly talented Marc Wilson waiting in the wings. When Wilson graduated, Jim McMahon took over without a hitch. McMahon subsequently made way for Steve Young.

Now Young is gone, and for the first time in nearly a decade, Brigham Young University does not have a proven player ready to step in at quarterback.

Junior Robbie Bosco feels the pressure. He's the guy who will direct the Cougars' potent passing attack when

WAC preview

BYU kicks off its 1984 football season Saturday at third-ranked Pittsburgh. BYU has captured eight straight Western Athletic Conference football titles, and the team's fate this year largely falls on the untested Bosco.

He follows Young, who may have been "the best of the bunch, establishing a dozen NCAA records and finishing second in the Helmsman Trophy voting, and Bosco has naturally been the subject of comparisons with Young.

"I don't like reading about all that comparisons," says the 6-foot-2, 188-pounder. "I don't want to add any pressure on myself that isn't already there. The thing is, we won eight WAC titles, and I don't want to be the one who breaks it."

BYU Coach LaVell Edwards also must replace his running backs this season, but the corps of receivers, the offensive line and most of the defense is intact from a year ago, when the Cougars went 11-1 and finished eighth in the nation.

"We have the potential to be a very good team," said Edwards.

Four other WAC teams also open their seasons Saturday: Air Force enters San Diego State in the lone conference game, while Wyoming is home against South Dakota, Utah plays host to Weber State, and Texas-El Paso visits highly regarded Texas A&M.

AFA and SDSU both have new quarterbacks, with junior Brian Knorr replacing graduated wishbone wizard Marty Louthan for the Falcons, and redshirt freshman Todd Santos outlasting Jim Plum for the Aztec job vacated by Mark McKay.

Couples leads B.C. Open

By JOHN MOSSMAN
The Associated Press

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) — Fred Couples led a round of 70 for his opening score of 66 to build a two-stroke lead after Friday's second round of the $300,000 B.C. Open golf tournament.

Couples, a 24-year-old Seattle native bidding for his third Professional Golfers' Association victory, recorded two birdies and only one bogey during his early tour of the 6,966-yard Fox-Jolie Golf Club course.

He then watched one challenger after another fail to match his under-par 136 for 36 holes.

Bob Gilder, Larry Mize, Hal Sutton and Wayne Levi came closest, each completing play with 36-hole scores of 141. Gilder and Mize each shot 68 and Sutton had his second 69.

Dan Hall-dorson, Tommy Valentine and Gary Krueger were each another shot back at 139 while first-round co-leader Mike Donald struggled to a 74 for a 140. He was joined by Mark Wiebe, Ken Kelley, Donald, Linty Miller, Russ Cochran, Rex Caldwell, Bobby Clampett, Fred Fri and Tom Purtzer.

Clampett and third-year pro Jodie Mudd shot themselves into contention with 67s, the best scores of the day. Mudd was at 111.

Only 22 players completed 36 holes with sub-par scores.

Among those who failed to make the cut, a 14-over-par 146 were defending champion Pat Lindsey and Don Watson, a native of Pahrump, who had won two of the tour's last three events. Lindsey shot a 72 on Friday for a 36-hole score of 148, while Watson scored to an 80 on Friday and was at 154.

Kuhn nixes Speier return to Cardinals

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn has refused to send injured Minnesota Twins shortstop Chris Speier back to the St. Louis Cardinals, a spokesman for the St. Louis club said Friday.

Speier, 34, was traded from the Cardinals to the Twins and played one game before injuring his left heel Aug. 21 in a game at Milwaukee.

The Twins charged that he had suffered the injury 10 days earlier and asked St. Louis to take back Speier, who was traded for cash and a minor leaguer.

The Cardinals maintained that the Twins knew Speier was injured and refused to take him back. The Twins appealed to Kuhn.

However, Kuhn ruled Friday that both clubs "were acting in good faith" and allowed the trade to stand, said Jim Toomey, a spokesman for the Cardinals. Kuhn's message also said that the Twins were aware of Speier's injury, Toomey said.

THE ACES BOBBY WOLFF Dear Mr. Wolff: After I open one heart and partner jumps into two spades, what are my priorities for finding a descriptive rebid? ANSWER: As opener, your first priority is to raise partner's suit with three-card support... Dear Mr. Wolff: Partner opens one spade, I make a forcing raise to three spades and partner bids five spades. What does the jump to five mean? ANSWER: Since your partner could have Blackwood or initiated a cue-bidding sequence and did not, the most reasonable explanation is that he is concerned about trumps... Dear Mr. Wolff: How about streaks in the way the cards run? Is the cut for cards and seats more important than bidding and play?
