Escorted by Sheriff Jim Mann and deputies, Keith Rosencrantz leaves the court building after being sentenced. Sentenced for shotgun slayings in 1983

Rosencrantz receives 20-year term

By HAL BERNTON Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Fifth District Judge Daniel Huribut Thursday sentenced Castleford resident Keith Rosencrantz to 20 years in prison for the shotgun-killing of Kathy Alice Gittel and Michael Wayne Lee in June 1983. It is the harshest penalty the law allows for his crimes. "Mr. Rosencrantz appears to be a ticking bomb, set to go off at any time and without warning," wrote Huribut in an unusual 21-page sentencing memorandum. "Is Mr. Rosencrantz generally nonviolent and withdrawn character that belies his danger to society, he said. Rosencrantz's 20-year prison term is two, 10-year sentences for his two-count convictions of involuntary manslaughter by a jury on June 20. The sentences are to run consecutively, but Rosencrantz could be released in 10 years if he earns the maximum amount of time off for good behavior, Huribut said. Rosencrantz sat without emotion throughout the sentencing, his head perched forward as he leaned on a lightly clenched fist. After the sentence was announced, he met briefly with family members and was then escorted from the courtroom. "Let Stoker, Rosencrantz's defense counsel, had argued that his client no longer posed a danger to society since he has recently managed to curb a long-standing drinking problem. This alcohol addiction was a key factor in Rosencrantz's unpremeditated murders of his former girlfriend Gittel and Lee, Stoker argued during a sentencing hearing. "Once this client's drinking was controlled, Stoker predicted that Rosencrantz would not do anything more and not ever go back before a court of law again." Stoker said that Rosencrantz's prison term should not exceed 10 years, a sentence he said would be in line with that of Claude Dallas, a self-proclaimed mountain man who killed two Fish and Game officials. But in a forceful rejection of defense arguments, Huribut declared that "if ever there was a case that was appropriate for the maximum sentence for the commission of the crime of voluntary manslaughter, this is that case. To conclude otherwise would be to disregard the intent of the Legislature in setting the maximum allowable sentence." Huribut challenged Stoker's analogy to the Dallas case and contended that a harsh sentence would subvert the jury's verdict of the lesser crimes of involuntary manslaughter rather than first- or second-degree murder. "The position of the defendant in this regard is entirely without merit and is unsupported in the law," Huribut said. "This court will not be intimidated by such 'imprecise and spurious legal reasoning.'" Huribut's memorandum also dismissed the notion that Rosencrantz's actions could be excused due to his drinking problem. "This court will acknowledge that drinking is a medical problem, but this court cannot and will not excuse criminal conduct on that basis. Although the disease of alcoholism may explain criminal conduct, it in no measure serves as an excuse for such conduct. "The court must seek to deter others who so believe and would similarly act," Huribut wrote. After the trial, a stern-faced Stoker refused comment, as did members of Rosencrantz's family.

Court puts Populists on ballot

BOISE (AP) — The Populist Party's candidates for president and vice president must appear on the Idaho ballot, a panel of federal judges said Thursday. The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruling opens the way for printing of ballots to be used in the Nov. 6 general election. Printing was halted under a temporary court order issued Aug. 27 after the Populists filed a last-minute lawsuit challenging the state's refusal to include their candidates' names on the ballots. The ruling on Thursday came after Idaho Deputy Attorney General Robie Russell told the judges the Populists staged an "eleventh-hour approach" to circumvent deadlines, signature-gathering requirements and other aspects of the state election law. Russell made his statements to judges in California and Washington via a conference call fraught with technical problems that rendered the dialogue barely audible at times. "The judges, who had reviewed the Populists' side of the case earlier, declared part of the Idaho election law unconstitutional and upheld other portions. The judges invalidated an Idaho provision that requires multi-county gathering of signatures supporting candidates of new parties seeking ballot status. The requirements upheld include one that says seekers of ballot status must submit signatures of registered voters equal to 3 percent of votes cast in the last presidential election. Meeting that minimum would have required the Populists to gather more than 13,000 signatures, but they turned in fewer than 400, said Deputy Secretary of State Ben Yursa. The Populists filed legal action Aug. 24 to halt the printing of ballots pending review of the party's exclusion, but a federal judge refused to grant the necessary order. Three days later, an appellate judge reversed the decision. Russell on Thursday told the judges that upholding the temporary order that granted the Populists' relief would strip the state of any control over the ballot system and open it to abuse. Possible abuses included independent candidates masquerading under the guise of party affiliations to obtain taxpayer checkoff funds, he said. The funds are for bona fide party candidates. State officials had said the challenge to the ballot requirements had to be settled quickly for ballots to be printed in time for mailing to absentee voters. The printing must resume by Monday morning for deadlines to be met, Yursa said.

Federal tax bite eases in January

By JIM LUTHER The Associated Press WASHINGTON — The automatic federal income tax cuts due to take effect in January — a major point of contention between the two presidential candidates — would give an extra $1 a week to the typical $25,000-a-year one-earner couple with two children, and $15 a week to the $250,000 family. Assuming inflation forecasts prove correct, a two-earner couple with two children and earning $35,000 a year would take home an extra $2 a week; the $15,000 family, less than $1 a week, and the $100,000 family, an additional $8 a week. A single person making $12,000 a year stands to gain less than 25 cents a week from the tax reduction. A $25,000-a-year single person would realize about $1.25 weekly; a $75,000-a-year earner, about $7.50 a week. The latest tax reduction, which would show up in 1985 tax returns due April 15, 1985, will come from "indexing" the tax system to inflation — that is, adjusting it each year to squeeze out the increased tax burden caused by inflation. Indexing was approved in 1981 when Congress adopted President Reagan's across-the-board cut in individual tax rates and continues the basic idea of those tax reductions: the more tax you pay, the bigger your tax cut in dollars. Democratic presidential nominee Walter F. Mondale has attacked Reagan's tax cuts as unfair to most taxpayers. To reduce the federal deficit, he has proposed delaying indexing for those whose income exceeds $30,000. Reagan, who opposes tinkering with indexing, denies any unfairness in his tax policies. His backers say cutting everybody's tax rates the same 25 percent just assured that the higher-income people who pay most of the taxes and do most of the investing would get their fair share. The across-the-board cuts in tax rates were phased in over four years and became fully effective this year. The indexing system scheduled to take effect next Jan. 1 and each year thereafter would in effect freeze the tax burden at this year's level. See TAX on Page A2

Buhl police hunt for little dog with mean bite

By HAL BERNTON Times-News writer

BUHL — After a late-night break-out from a Buhl veterinarian clinic, a little dog with a mean bite is missing. If city police can't find him before mid-morning today, a trail, canine-plagued child will have to undergo rabies shots. "The dog, a chihuahua-like critter with brown and white markings, bit 10-year old Jeffrey Fleming and 16-year-old Steven Kehoe Wednesday evening while the two were playing tag at the Kehoe family's Buhl residence. Later that evening, Buhl police officer Douglas Gudenaus says he picked up the dog from its owners and impounded it at a Buhl veterinarian clinic for observation. Officials had planned to observe the dog for 10 days to make sure he didn't have rabies, he says. There was no indication the dog had rabies, he says. But someone freed the suspect animal. When the clinic staff opened up for business Thursday morning, they found the dog had been sprung loose from his observation cage by a late-night marauder. The dog hasn't been seen since. "We've been looking all day for the dog," Gudenaus said Thursday evening. Gudenaus noted that the dog could be identified by a nylon collar marked "rabies suspect." Gudenaus said the dog's owners, whose names he declined to disclose, say they had nothing to do with its mysterious evening disappearance. He described the owners as "cooperative," and reports they "voluntarily turned over the dog" for observation.

Laurel Fleming, the mother of Jeffrey Fleming, said that following the dog-bite incident, she went down the block from the Kehoe residence to visit with the couple that apparently owns the dog. She says she didn't find the couple very helpful. They had said the dog had had rabies shots, but then gave her the number when I asked for the name of the vet," Mrs. Fleming said. Connie Kehoe, who also spoke with the dog's apparent owners, said they refused to identify themselves. Leonard Fleming, Jeffrey's father, said that his son has had to endure more than his share of shots while he was undergoing cancer therapy, and that he does not wish the number. "We don't want any problems," Mr. Fleming said. "We just want the dog under supervision until such time as they find out if he has rabies."

Religion, politics mingle in U.S., Vatican

Mondale, Reagan blast bigotry, pursue debate

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Walter F. Mondale and President Reagan each condemned bigotry as they continued their debate on religion Thursday, but the Democratic challenger accused the Republican incumbent of encouraging an "extreme fringe" bent on imposing its religious views on all Americans. "All intolerance is ugly. Whether it wears the sheets of the Ku Klux Klan or spreads the shurs of the Christian Voice," a conservative California group, Mondale told a convention of 8,000 in B'nal B'rith. Three hours later, Reagan told the same Jewish audience, "The ideals of our country leave no room whatsoever for intolerance, anti-Semitism or bigotry or any kind none." It was exactly two weeks ago that Reagan told a prayer-breakfast in Dallas that "religion and politics are necessarily related" and touched off a long-distance debate over the separation of church and state. But the president only addressed that question briefly during his speech, concentrating instead on the Middle East and pledging that "we will never attempt to impose a solution on Israel." Reagan recalled that four years ago peace was eluding the Middle East. It still does. But now we and the state

Brazilian faces doctrinal questions into views on liberation theology

By PETER MUELLO The Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil — Leonardo Boff, a Brazilian theologian who faces doctrinal interrogation at the Vatican today, says he seeks simply to "take seriously" Pope John Paul II's call for the clergy to defend the poor. "But Boff's vision of liberation theology, which has questioned the authority of the hierarchy and condemned the status quo in Latin America, has drawn questions at a time when Rome is chastizing some theologians for applying "Marxist concepts" to the struggles of the poor in Latin America. "If there is punishment, I will accept it, although not without sorrow," Boff said in a recent interview at the Franciscan monastery in Petropolis, a mountain city 40 miles north of Rio where he lives and teaches. "I prefer to go with the church, rather than to walk alone with my theology." Boff, 45, is a leading spokesman of liberation theology, a Latin American movement born in the 1960s which preaches the liberating force of the Gospel against social oppression and says the church should actively side with the poor. Critics charge that liberation theology endorses Marxism. Boff denies it, but says Marxist analysis is "instrumental" in discovering what makes poor people poor, and says

Karl Marx is "typical of great spirits who seriously dedicated themselves to thinking and who unveiled new dimensions of reality." These new dimensions threaten to split the traditional, Rome-centered church and the progressive edge in Brazil and other Third World countries. "On Monday, the Vatican's Sacred Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, formerly in the Institutional Office, released a 35-page critique of liberation theology," explicitly rejecting Marxism as an instrument for analyzing social conditions. "My summons to Rome... is a global judgment of our church; that goes into the cellars of society and attends to the outcasts, the miserable and the poor," Boff said.

Report will clear Meese

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An investigation of the financial affairs of Attorney General-designate Edwin Meese III is expected to find no evidence of criminal conduct, the Los Angeles Times reported in Friday editions.

The newspaper quoted unidentified sources as saying that court-appointed independent counsel Jacob A. Stein will report next week that he found no evidence that Meese arranged federal jobs for several friends in return for money loaned by the friends to Meese or his wife.

The Times also said that Stein's five-month inquiry found no evidence of criminal conduct in Meese's failure to include on his government financial disclosure form of an interest-free loan of $15,000 obtained by his wife in 1981.

The sources, according to the newspaper, said they do not know if Stein will address whether Meese committed improprieties or exhibited poor judgment.

Meese is President Reagan's longtime friend and White House counselor and his nomination to head the Justice Department has been led up in the Senate Judiciary Committee pending the completion of Stein's probe.

Lucas clears up 15 slayings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Henry Lee Lucas, sentenced to death in Texas and linked to at least 175 slayings across the country, cleared 15 unsolved California murders during a recent 4,000-mile tour of the state, the state attorney general said Thursday.

Lucas, during a visit Aug. 19-30, took police to the scenes of 35 of 67 California slayings in which he is a suspect, mainly as a result of his own statements.

"Fifteen of those visits resulted in the confirmation of the crime and Lucas' role in the killing," state Attorney General John Van de Kamp said at a news conference at his Los Angeles offices.

No special terms required

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Despite the scandal that forced Vanessa Williams to give up her title, Miss America contestants are not being required to sign special contracts saying they never have posed nude, paganist officials said Thursday.

There are also no plans to change the contract in future years, paganist Executive Director Albert A. Marks Jr. said Thursday, the eve of the arrival of the first of this year's hopefuls.

The four-page document that every woman must sign as she registers to compete in the national finals already includes a clause stating "I have not been involved in any act of moral turpitude."

Pope condemns euthanasia

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP) — Pope John Paul II, speaking to a 300-member Roman Catholic university group on Thursday, appealed for a fight against euthanasia — or mercy killings.

"The duty which is needed in the Christian community in such a socio-cultural context is more than a simple condemnation of euthanasia, or the simple attempt to block the road toward a possible spreading and legalization of it," the pontiff said.

The opposition to euthanasia "must be taken as a dramatic appeal to all believers and all men of good will to urgently promote with every means and at every level a true cultural choice in the road of our society," he said.

He also called on church members to "oppose every attempt to legalize euthanasia, and also to press forward in the fight against abortion."

Washington man injured

BURLEY A Washington motorist suffered minor injuries Thursday afternoon in a car rollover on I-84 south of Burley.

Idaho State Police Trooper Kevin Winn reported William Carl Wood, 39, was injured, but when available, was traveling south on I-84 about 1:15 p.m. when his vehicle left the highway and rolled over several times.

The accident occurred between Sublett and Innahome. Woodard was transported to the Cassia Memorial Hospital by a passing motorist. He was treated and released later in the afternoon.

Protests in Chile taper off

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Two days of anti-government protests that claimed nine lives ended early Thursday and newspapers called on the military regime of President Augusto Pinochet to resume talks with opposition political parties.

Pinochet, an army general who will celebrate his 11th anniversary in power next Tuesday, has declared he will rule for another five years.

Pro-government newspapers urged him in editorials to open talks with the non-Marxist opposition about a gradual transition to democracy. "If the regime doesn't take orderly steps, the process will escape its control," said one newspaper, El Mercurio.

Meanwhile, the Roman Catholic archbishop of this capital of 4 million people, Monsignor Juan Francisco Fresno, rejected a government appeal to cancel a downtown funeral Mass Friday for a French priest who was shot to death during demonstrations in a slum neighborhood.

Transfusion kills housewife

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mary Richards Johnson was "an innocent bystander" who contracted AIDS from a blood transfusion, her husband said Tuesday, vowing to press a lawsuit in connection with her death.

Although the housewife and mother of three grown children fit none of the high-risk categories of other AIDS patients, she died Tuesday after lapsing into a coma from pneumonia, one of many ailments that can accompany the disease.

Campaign

The nominee was introduced by the Rev. Jesse Jackson, who urged blacks to give their votes to help defeat Reagan.

"If you don't go shopping you'll starve," he said. "If Reagan wins you'll starve. You've got to vote."

Reagan said there was a "new spiritual awareness" in America which extends to people of all religions and beliefs.

He added that "as we welcome this spirit of faith, we must even more fervently attack unjust intolerance. We have no place for haters in America."

Missing from Reagan's remarks was an appeal for a constitutional amendment to permit voluntary prayer in public schools. Many Jewish leaders oppose such an amendment, for which Reagan earlier this week reiterated his support.

After both Mondale and Reagan had addressed the group, Gerald Kraff of Indianapolis, Ind., international president of B'Nai B'rith, said he was "not reassured" by what Reagan had to say on the issue of separation of church and state. He expressed satisfaction with Mondale's remarks.

However, the Rev. Bob Grant, chairman of Christian Voice, said in a statement that Mondale "owes an apology to all conservative evangelicals, Catholics and others who want to protect our traditional values. Mondale should be ashamed of himself for this desperate attack on Bible-believing Christians."

students to "be involved" in politics.

"Your involvement over the future is something that you should never ever allow to dissipate," Ms. Ferraro told about 700 students in the Truman High School auditorium. "You should be concerned, you should be going on because only then can you determine what is right."

When Ms. Ferraro, a former schoolteacher, asked a student how he felt about the nuclear arms race, he replied: "I don't think much about it."

"Why not?" she asked.

"Too busy with homework," he said.

"I would suggest that you register as a Republican," she responded.

Meanwhile top aides to Reagan and Mondale met again to negotiate arrangements for campaign debates and said later that "some progress" was made.

James Johnson, Mondale campaign chairman, said "We still have differences. We have differences on the number of debates. There are some differences on the format. We certainly have differences on the timing of the debates. But these we hope will be able to resolve before too long."

James A. Baker III, White House chief of staff, agreed on the differences and said, "It's safe to say there will be at least one presidential debate. We're giving serious consideration to more presidential debates and a vice presidential debate."

The two campaigns plan to meet again today.

The accident occurred between Sublett and Innahome. Woodard was transported to the Cassia Memorial Hospital by a passing motorist. He was treated and released later in the afternoon.

The former vice president named the Rev. Jerry Falwell, head of the Moral Majority, as among those who were part of "an extreme fringe poised to capture the Republican Party and tear it from its roots in Lincoln."

He added that "they are not disappointed in the performance of their Republican candidate."

Mondale appeared later at a meeting of the National Baptist Convention and told the 10,000 delegates that Reagan planned to "undo the work of a generation" in civil rights.

Democratic vice presidential nominee Geraldine Ferraro was in Harry Truman's hometown of Independence, Mo., urging high school separation of church and state. He expressed satisfaction with Mondale's remarks.

Tax

The first-year indexing tax cuts will be tiny because the rate of inflation on which they are calculated is expected to be about 4 percent. Although few people would be hurt if the 1985 reductions were taken away, the results over an extended period would be much more obvious.

For example, if prices rose 4 percent a year from 1985 through 1989 and a $25,000-a-year one-earner family of four received a 4 percent cost-of-living raise each year, that family's tax burden would rise by 30 percent — by $855 — without indexing. The family's purchasing power would decrease by $855 even though its income had kept pace with inflation.

That family of four, assuming it has average itemized deductions of 23 percent of income, will pay $2,160 this year. With indexing, it will pay $2,168 next year.

On the other hand, the $9.4 billion revenue loss because of the tax cut next year is another $9.4 billion the gressive nature of the personal income tax. The more income a person has subject to taxes, the greater the share of each dollar that will be taken by taxes. Bracket creep occurs when a cost-of-living raise to offset inflation pushes a worker into a higher tax bracket and the tax burden rises.

The Senate Finance Committee calculates that without indexing, a person who receives a 10 percent raise will have to pay 16 percent more in taxes.

Fight far from over, Nancy Reagan says

Youths turning from drugs, alcohol

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — First Lady Nancy Reagan agreed Thursday with adolescent drug abusers that American youth are turning away from drug and alcohol abuse, but she said the fight is far from over.

Mrs. Reagan, here to formally dedicate the Nancy Reagan Care Unit at Deaconess Medical Center, said more programs and more people are needed in the fight.

During a "rap" session with 10 adolescent drug and alcohol abusers, Mrs. Reagan asked them how the drug fight was going.

Kevin, a 17-year-old Spokane youth who went through the program last year, said drug abuse is falling off as youth become "turned off" by drugs and, in many cases, look to sports.

"I agree it's falling off," said the first lady. "It all comes from the 60s when the whole thing hit. Nobody knew about it. We were all so unprepared."

When she asked what she could do to help fight substance abuse, several youths said more school programs were needed, especially in high school.

Mrs. Reagan agreed, "I've been to schools where they start drug courses in the second grade," she said.

Substance abuse "just tears the family apart," she added.

Bobby, a 15-year-old boy from Airway Heights, Wash., said his parents used to fight continually about his drug habit. Now that he's in a treatment program, he said his father has stopped using alcohol.

At the dedication ceremonies, at led by about 600 people, Mrs. Reagan said a new Gallup Poll, released Thursday, showed that two-thirds of all American children use alcohol and one in eight uses marijuana before his 16th birthday.

"Even now, though I've heard it so many times, I find it hard to believe my ears when kids tell me how young they were when they first tried pot, or booze, or pills."

"And, of course, the wreckage this creates in families is really, truly heartbreaking," the First Lady said.

The hospital ceremonies were held in an undercover parking area converted to an auditorium for the occasion. Winds gusting to about 25 miles an hour and temperatures in the low 50s forced Mrs. Reagan to put on a rain slicker after only a few minutes on the podium.

"I've just come from where it's 104 degrees. I'm not used to this," she said.

A man carrying an unloaded rifle in a carrying case was stopped by police several blocks from Deaconess while Mrs. Reagan was speaking. Spokane police Lt. Larry Freeman said the man was known to police as a local gun collector and apparently was in the area only by coincidence.

Police kept the rifle until Mrs. Reagan left the area, then returned it to its owner, whom Freeman did not identify. The man was not detained.

The Deaconess unit is the first such program to be named in Mrs. Reagan's honor. White House staff members said.

Karen Porter, community services coordinator for the 38-bed unit, said the idea of naming the program in Mrs. Reagan's honor came from staff members aware of her interest in the problem.

Wire service reporters back in handshake pool

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House agreed Thursday to include reporters from the top major wire services in the press pool that accompanies President Reagan when he shakes hands with citizens at airports.

Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes notified The Associated Press and United Press International of the decision "to expand the press pool to include AP and UPI reporters."

The decision followed protests from the news organizations, whose reporters traditionally have been included in press pools that cover major wire services in the press pool.

Under a new rule issued by Speakes last week, the pool covering Reagan as he walked along a security rope to shake hands with citizens excluded wire-service reporters and was limited to five people: a television camera operator, a television soundman, a television correspondent and two photographers.

Chamber reveals names included on 1981 federal agency 'hit list'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Chamber of Commerce on Thursday revealed the names of federal employees appearing on what a congressman characterized as a chamber "hit list" of people it wanted fired in the early days of the Reagan administration.

Chamber vice president declined to call the names a "hit list."

In the Environmental Protection Agency, it appeared that only one of 10 employees on the list was fired. She has since been rehired.

Four others on the list are at the EPA. One of those four was provoked into quitting, a colleague said.

A Justice Department lawyer, an Energy Department official and six Labor Department officials also were on the list.

The chamber also disclosed a 3-year-old letter from chamber president Richard L. Leshar to Pendleton James, then the White House personnel director. It was dated Aug. 26, 1981 and referred to a lunch "recently" where "we offered to give you the names of Carter administration members that we think are unsympathetic to the objectives of this administration's economic recovery programs." The letter made requests about the people.

The Energy Department official on the list, Maxine Savitz, was fired in 1983 for refusing a transfer. The Justice Department employee, Anthony Roisman, is no longer with the department. It could not be immediately determined why.

Existence of the EPA section of the list, and one of the names on it, was disclosed Wednesday by John Daniel, who was chief of staff for Annie Burford when she was EPA administrator.

Daniel said the list was sent to Mrs. Burford by James, and thrown out by her when she spotted the name of Walter Barber, whom she valued highly.

James said he did not recall the incident.

Daniel, D. Mitchell, chairman of the House Energy and Commerce Committee and its oversight subcommittee, asked the chamber for all documents it had on the incident.

The EPA employee who was fired was Barbara Bankoff, a special assistant to Douglas Costle, who was EPA administrator under President Carter.

Mrs. Bankoff noted Thursday that after Mrs. Burford took over as administrator in March 1981, "she had every legal right to fire me" since she was in a personnel category called "administrator's discretion."

Another target, Paul Stolman, said he had no idea why he was singled out as head of the policy office for air programs. He said he was scheduled for a demotion under Mrs. Burford when "Joe Cannon rescued me" as an assistant in the agency policy office. When Cannon became assistant administrator, he put Stolman back in his old job.

Bar, or himself, now vice president of Was's Management Inc. in Chicago, said Wednesday he was not forced out but felt "it was time to do something else."

Fight far from over, Nancy Reagan says

Youths turning from drugs, alcohol

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — First Lady Nancy Reagan agreed Thursday with adolescent drug abusers that American youth are turning away from drug and alcohol abuse, but she said the fight is far from over.

Mrs. Reagan, here to formally dedicate the Nancy Reagan Care Unit at Deaconess Medical Center, said more programs and more people are needed in the fight.

During a "rap" session with 10 adolescent drug and alcohol abusers, Mrs. Reagan asked them how the drug fight was going.

Kevin, a 17-year-old Spokane youth, went through the program last year, said drug abuse is falling off as youth become "turned off" by drugs and, in many cases, look to sports.

First Lady. "It all comes from the 60s when the whole thing hit. Nobody knew about it. We were all so unprepared."

When she asked what she could do to help fight substance abuse, several youths said more school programs were needed, especially in high school.

Mrs. Reagan agreed. "I've been to schools where they start drug courses in the second grade," she said.

Substance abuse "just tears the family apart," she added.

Bobby, a 15-year-old boy from Arway Heights, Wash., said his parents used to fight, and he learned about his drug habit. Now that he's in a treatment program, he said, his father has stopped using alcohol.

tended by about 600 people, Mrs. Reagan said a new Gallup Poll, released Thursday, showed that two-thirds of all American children use alcohol and one in eight uses marijuana before his 18th birthday.

"Even now, though I've heard it so many times, I find it hard to believe my ears when kids tell me how young they were when they first tried pot, or booze, or pills."

"And, of course, the wreckage this creates in families is really, truly heartbreaking," the First Lady said.

The hospital ceremonies were held in an undercover parking area converted to an auditorium for the occasion. Winds gusting to about 25 miles an hour and temperatures in the low 50s forced Mrs. Reagan to put on a rain slicker after only a few minutes on the podium.

"I've just come from where it's 104 degrees. I'm not used to this," she said.

A man carrying an unloaded rifle in a carrying case was stopped by police several blocks from Deaconess while Mrs. Reagan was speaking. Spokane police Lt. Larry Freeman said the man was known to police as a local gun collector and apparently was in the area only by coincidence.

Police kept the rifle until Mrs. Reagan left the area, then returned it to its owner, whom Freeman did not identify. The man was not detained.

The Deaconess unit is the first such program to be named in Mrs. Reagan's honor. White House staff members said.

Karen Porter, community services coordinator for the 38-bed unit, said the idea of naming the program in Mrs. Reagan's honor came from staff members aware of her interest in the problem.

Wire service reporters back in handshake pool

WASHINGTON (AP) — The by the news organizations, whose White House agreed Thursday to include reporters from the two included in press pools that cover the president.

Under a new rule issued by Reagan when he shakes hands with citizens at airports, a security rope to shake hands with citizens excluded wire service reporters and was limited to five people: a television camera operator, a television soundman, a television correspondent and two photographers.

Chamber reveals names included on 1981 federal agency 'hit list'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Chamber of Commerce on Thursday revealed the names of federal employees on what a congressional committee characterized as a chamber "hit list" of people it wanted fired in the early days of the Reagan administration.

A chamber vice president declined to call the names a "hit list."

In the Environmental Protection Agency, it appeared that only one of 10 employees on the list was fired. She has since been re-hired.

Four others no longer are at the EPA. One of those four was provoked into quitting, a colleague said.

A Justice Department lawyer, an Energy Department official and six others also were on the list.

The chamber also disclosed a 3-year-old letter from chamber president Richard L. Leshar to Pendleton James, then the White House personal director. It was dated Aug. 26, 1981 and referred to a lunch "recently" where "we offered to give you the names of Carter administration holdovers that we think are insympathetic to the objectives of this administration's economic recovery programs." The letter made no requests about the people.

The Energy Department official on the list, Maxine Savitz, was fired in 1983 for refusing a transfer. The Justice Department employee, Anthony Roisman, is no longer with the department. It could not be immediately determined why.

Existence of the EPA section of the list and one of the names on it was disclosed Wednesday by John Daniel, who was chief of staff for Anne Burford when she was EPA administrator.

Daniel said the list was sent to Mrs. Burford by James and thrown out by her when she spotted the name of Walter Barber, whom she valued highly.

James said he did not recall the incident.

Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., chairman of the House Energy and Commerce Committee and its oversight subcommittee, asked the chamber for all documents it had on the incident.

The EPA employee who was fired was Barbara Bankoff, a special assistant to Douglas Costle, who was EPA administrator under President Carter.

Ms. Bankoff noted Thursday that after Mrs. Burford took over as administrator in March 1981, "she had every legal right to fire me" since she was in a personnel category called "administrative services."

Another target, Paul Stolman, said he had no idea why he was singled out as being the pony office for air programs. He said he was scheduled for a demotion under Mrs. Burford when "Joe Cannon rescued me" as an assistant in the agency policy office. When Cannon became assistant administrator, he put Stolman back in his old job.

Barber himself, now vice president of Waste Management Inc. in Chicago, said Wednesday he was not forced out but felt "it was time to do something else."

McDonald's donates property

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The McDonald's Corp. on Thursday donated to the city the site where a gunman killed 21 people, saying it was confident San Diego officials would pick a "sensitive and meaningful" use for the property.

Mayor Roger Hedgecock said he was gratified by the donation of the property, which McDonald's spokesman Chuck Rubner said was worth hundreds of thousands of dollars.

In a 77-minute shooting rampage on July 18, James Oliver Hubery killed or fatally wounded 21 people and wounded 19 others before being killed by a police sharpshooter. It was the worst one-day mass killing by a lone gunman in the nation's history.

The mayor said he will form an advisory committee of San Ysidro residents to offer suggestions for the site, located along the main street in the primarily Hispanic community, which is a part of San Diego.

Change in waste plan vowed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House approved legislation Thursday that sponsors say will save consumers millions of dollars by easing restrictions on approval of cheap generic drugs while granting an extended patent life for new drug discoveries.

The bill, already passed by the Senate, was approved by a unanimous House vote of 362-0. "This legislation will do more to contain the cost of health care than anything else Congress has done," said Rep. Henry A. Waxman, D-Calif., chief author of the bill.

Generic drugs are identical to brand-name drugs but usually are sold more cheaply. Currently, the Food and Drug Administration has the authority to approve generic copies of only brand-name drugs approved before 1982.

House OKs generic drug bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sixfold expansion of the "superfund" toxic waste cleanup program was passed by the Democratic-controlled House last month "as a political gambit in a political year" and faces major changes in the Senate, a Republican member of the Senate Environment Committee said Thursday.

Sen. Alan Simpson, R-Wyo., said the Republican-controlled Senate supports the goal of cleaning up abandoned hazardous waste sites that threaten public health, but it will refuse to approve expensive and unrealistic programs the House attempted to attach to the law.

"The House sent us the greatest rafting pile of trash that has ever been conceived, as a political gambit in a political year," Simpson said in a speech to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

Strike at Disneyland hinted

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Disneyland's workers are threatening to go on strike, saying their boss is acting more like Scrooge McDuck than the Fairy Godmother by asking many of them to take a pay cut because of sagging attendance.

"I know it sounds like it's against motherhood and apple pie, but we could be going out (on strike) against Mickey and the boys," said Robert Tierman Jr., spokesman for Local 399 of the Service Employees International Union.

The pioneer theme park, which has proposed a 17 percent pay cut over three years, has been hurt by small crowds, especially during the Summer Olympics.

Disneyland's contract with five unions representing 1,844 people from janitors and ride operators to bakery and hotel workers expires at 12:01 a.m. Sept. 16.

Cadets weather hazing death

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Morale is good among Texas A&M University's military Corps of Cadets despite a shuffling of upperclassmen ordered after a member's hazing death, a corps official Thursday.

Col. Donald Burton said he decided to reassign 17 juniors and seniors in the dead student's unit to change leadership.

Bruce Goodrich, 20, of Webster, N.Y., died Aug. 30 after he was rousted out of bed at 2:30 a.m. by three corps members in his unit and forced to perform "motivational" exercises. He collapsed from heat prostration and later died.

Burton, who is conducting his own investigation in the case, said an action he takes will not change whatever punishment the students involved might receive from the university or civil authorities.

Heat wave in Southern California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A searing Southern California heat wave has topped three temperature records in two days, knocked out power to almost 100,000 people and hospitalized several people with heat exhaustion.

Officials said Thursday the worst may be over.

As the temperature reached 100 in downtown Los Angeles, thousands fled to the beaches, classes were shortened in overheated schoolrooms and air conditioners cranked up to high speed drew record amounts of electricity.

Two men were in comas Thursday after being taken to County-USC Medical Center for treatment of heat stroke, emergency room Dr. Linton Bayless said.

"Amazingly enough, we usually don't see much of any (heat cases) at all," he said. "But the past couple of days, we've had two very severe ones."

Paradees have handled a number of heat-exhaustion calls, said Jim Wells of the city Fire Department, but he said complete reports on the numbers were not yet available.

A wind-driven fire spread quickly over 100 acres of suburban Topanga Canyon on Thursday, burning one home and threatening others, fire officials said.

A Red Cross observer saw at least one home on fire in the canyon 20 miles west of Los Angeles, and "there were some threatened," said county fire inspector Ted Burton.

A third temperature record crashed early Thursday — an overnight low of 83, highest low for the date. Wednesday's low of 82 was the highest low for Sept. 5, and that day's high point was a record 105.

By contrast, the eastern half of the nation was far chillier with record lows for the date in 18 cities from the Canadian border to the Gulf Coast.

Country music legend Tubb, 70, dies

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Country music pioneer Ernest Tubb, the "Texas Troubadour" whose distinctive baritone and songs like "I'm Walking the Floor Over You" made him a legend, died Thursday. He was 70.

Tubb, a lanky Texan who always wore a cowboy hat in public, died in Baptist Hospital, where he had been since Aug. 10. He suffered from emphysema and had been in poor health for about two years.

Hospital officials said his wife and their children, three sons and four daughters, were at Tubb's bedside when he died. His son Justin is a singer-songwriter who performs on the Grand Ole Opry.

Funeral services will be 2 p.m. Monday at Two Rivers Baptist Church, across the street from the Grand Ole Opry House.

Tubb pioneered the "honky-tonk" sound of country music, a style that developed in the rowdy Texas beer halls of the 1940s and featured forceful guitars and earthy lyrics.

His biggest hit was "I'm Walking

ERNEST TUBB
"Honky-tonk" sound pioneer

the Floor Over You," a woeful, love-lorn ballad that became a trademark and sold a million copies in 1941.

Tubb, known for his folksy friendliness, angular grin and a Texas drawl, first sang on the Grand Ole Opry in 1942. His last Opry appearance was Aug. 14, 1982.

Tubb's hits included "Walk Across Texas," "Let's Turn Back the Years," "Rainbow at Midnight," "Tomorrow Never Comes," "Filipino Baby" and "Little Ole Band of Gold." He had often acknowledged that his rough, nasal voice had some ragged edges.

"I don't care whether I hit the right note or not," he once said. "I'm not looking for perfection of delivery — thousands of singers have that. I'm looking for individuality."

He helped country music singer Loretta Lynn early in her career by recording duets and playing concerts with her. Tubb played himself in the 1980 movie "Coal Miner's Daughter," based on her autobiography. The movie is to be shown on ABC-TV Sunday night.

"To me, country music is from your heart and soul. It's your life," Tubb, who was affectionately called "ET," said in a 1980 interview.

"He epitomized country music," said Jo Walker-Meador, executive director of the Country Music Association. "He was the most gentle and most loved of all the stars. He was a real gentleman. In the 26 years I worked with Ernest, I never heard him utter an unkind word."

Tubb was famous for the word "thanks" which he had painted on the back of his guitar. As he walked off stage-to-applause, he would turn the guitar over and flash his gratitude to the amused audience.

Born Feb. 9, 1914, in Crisp, Texas, Tubb never finished grammar school, but that didn't hurt his music career. He recorded more than 250 songs and sold at least 30 million records. He was elected to the Country Music Hall of Fame in 1965.

"Ernest was a fine man and wonderful showman," said 72-year-old bluegrass giant Bill Monroe, also in the Country Music Hall of Fame. "I went to see him a couple of nights ago. We shook hands and talked a lot. He was so happy I came to see him."

S.F. restaurant workers on strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Restaurant owners are taking orders, managers are busying tables, and many tourists are passing by some of the city's most popular and expensive dining spots when they see the picket lines outside.

They're not going to turn around and go home. However, Frank Pompel, owner of Pompel's Grotto, said his business is off 25 percent for lunch and even more at dinner when tourists normally would show up.

More than 300 bartenders, food servers and kitchen helpers have walked off the job since Saturday in a contract deadlock between restaurant owners and negotiators for Local 2 of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees and Bartenders Union.

No talks have been scheduled with either the 56-member Golden Gate Restaurant Association or a group of 17 restaurants represented by attorney Mark Montoblo. Nearly 2,000 union employees work at the 73 restaurants.

The main issues are health and welfare benefits union employees say the upscale restaurants can afford, and which some owners say are too costly at a time when business is slow.

More than a third of the regular customers who usually jam Tarantino's, a popular seafood restaurant, are staying away, but tourists haven't been discouraged, said manager Gary Burns. "Whether it's pickets or a mob, they're going to come in."

Montoblo's group has offered wage increases of 4 percent to 6 percent over a three-year period, with a two-tier system under which new employees would be paid up to 40 percent less — a major stumbling block in negotiations.

Hinckley seeks ballot

DENVER (AP) — Officials are considering an absentee ballot request from John Hinckley Jr., who says he would "very much like to vote" from the hospital where he was held after the assassination of President Reagan.

Hinckley sent a typewritten letter to the Denver Election Bureau asking that an application to vote and an absentee ballot be returned to him at St. Elizabeths Hospital in Washington, D.C.

Hinckley said he would "very much like to vote in the November general election."

"Although I am physically living in Washington, D.C., I have been told by the local elections board that I am not considered a resident here since I did not come here voluntarily," he said.

"Therefore, I must vote in the state in which I live."

The request was forwarded to Jefferson County clerk and recorder Norm Allen, who said he hadn't seen it, but that a person cannot be denied the right to vote because he is in a mental institution.

Utah prison employees reprimanded

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah (AP) — Five Utah State Prison employees have been disciplined in connection with the escape last month of three inmates, corrections officials say.

State Corrections Director William Vickrey said Thursday that two employees were given letters of reprimand, two were suspended without pay for five days, and a deputy warden was transferred to another part of the prison.

Convicted murderers Wesley Allen Tuttle and Walter Wood and convicted kidnapper Darrell Eugene Brady escaped by walking through the prison's business office and out the front door.

The trio had open two metal doors and were working a third when overheard by a business office employee. The inmates convinced her they were civilian workers, walked out her office and escaped, authorities said.

Wood and Brady were recaptured within hours of their escape, but Tuttle remained at large Thursday. For a time, the search for Tuttle centered in the Minidoka County area of southern Idaho.

Vickrey said none of the employees was charged with criminal wrongdoing, but that security at the prison's medium security section had been lagging.

Killer resists parole conditions

VACAVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Theodore Strelski, convicted of killing a Stanford University professor with a hammer, says he still refuses to agree to parole conditions that would allow his release Saturday.

The refusal, which would be his second violation of parole, could postpone his release another six months, prison officials said Thursday.

Strelski, 48, received national notoriety in the past year when he refused to promise he would not return to the Stanford campus and kill again.

He had been sentenced to 5 1/2 years in prison for beating popular Stanford professor Karl de Leeuw to death with a hammer in August 1978. Strelski was a graduate student at the time.

Mt. St. Helens due for eruption

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — Scientists say signals from Mount St. Helens indicate the volcano may be building toward another quiet eruption which will add to the towering lava dome in the mountain's crater.

The U.S. Geological Survey said the eruption may begin within the next two weeks and could be accompanied by minor explosions near the dome.

Since Aug. 20, the number of small earthquakes at the volcano has been increasing as has the rate of swelling of the dome. Sulfur dioxide gas emissions also have been increasing slowly.

The pattern is similar to activity seen before previous dome-building eruptions.

"Seismicity has picked up. There are a lot of small earthquakes," said Mike Raney of the University of Washington geophysics center in Seattle, where earthquake activity is monitored.

Raney said there are dozens of small earthquakes an hour under the lava dome, ranging from below 1 on the Richter scale to as large as 2.5.

"It's the pattern of a dome-building eruption," he said.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one number means a tenfold increase in magnitude. Thus a reading of 7.5 reflects an earthquake 10 times stronger than one of 6.5.

Commissioners need more help

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Cache County commissioners say they fear that under a proposed change in the form of government, the elected county executive would be given responsibilities "too great for one person to handle."

The proposal to appear on the November ballot would change the three-member commission form to a seven-member council with an elected county executive. The proposal was backed by the Cache County Mayors Association and opposed by the commissioners.

Hagerman to re-approve new budget

By TERRELL WILLIAMS
Times-News correspondent

HAGERMAN — The Hagerman City Council has to go through all the steps again to approve its 1984 budget, since the council failed to pass the budget properly the first time.

Because the new Hagerman budget was not published before it was passed, the figures must now be published and another public hearing on the budget must be held.

"We didn't publish our property tax figure and our revenue sharing figure, and that is supposed to be done," Mayor Merle Owsley explained

Wednesday.

"And it has to be published in the paper so they'll understand, so everybody will see it. What we did, we published our budget in the paper but we didn't put in the figures."

The required public hearing was held prior to the council meeting Aug. 21, when the budget was approved.

"All we're doing now is doing it the legal way so that we'll get our revenue sharing funds," the mayor said.

"During the week before the budget was passed, Owsley said, City Clerk Lee Graham quit without notice, leaving city officials in some confusion and busy finding a qualified replacement.

The error in procedure was discovered when Owsley checked to make sure everything had been done properly.

"So, we goofed, to put it bluntly," Owsley said. "So we called the county clerk and she told us what we'd have to do in order to make it legal. So that's what we're doing."

The new budget must be published in its entirety before the hearing on it, Owsley said, or else the hearing is not valid.

"We didn't put in the amount of the budget or anything, which is absolutely wrong," he admitted.

After the new budget is published this week in the Gooding County Leader, another public hearing will be held Sept. 12 at 7 p.m. at City Hall.

This is the first time Owsley and the mostly new council has had anything to do with the budget publication, the mayor said. The same mistake, he added, will not happen again.

"She's all written down in my little file. What I have to do on the budget from now on."

Auto collision delays fair traffic

FILER — Traffic to the Twin Falls County fairgrounds was blocked Tuesday afternoon by a two-vehicle traffic accident a mile east of Filer on U.S. Highway 20.

Two people were treated at Magic Valley Regional Medical Center and released.

Idaho State Trooper Steve Hopkins reported a 1976 car driven by Thad Howard Jones, 17, of Twin Falls, crashed into the rear of a 1978 pickup truck towing a horse trailer. The accident occurred at 5:51 p.m. near the Astrop Research Center.

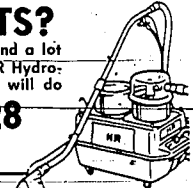

The pickup truck was driven by Harold D. Peterson, 47, of Filer. The Jones vehicle was demolished and damaged to the Peterson trailer was estimated at $500.

Officers said Jim Lessler, a passenger in the Jones vehicle, and Jones were taken to the hospital by ambulance. Traffic on the highway was blocked for about 15 minutes before officers were able to reopen one lane.

Hurlbutt hands out probation

TWIN FALLS — Fifth District Judge Daniel Hurlbutt sentenced four defendants to probation this week; he ordered three of them to help pay the costs of their probation services.

Each was ordered to pay $30 per month, as allowed under new court procedure, to help defray the cost of the probation and parole programs in the district.

Steven Craig Webster changed his plea to guilty to a charge of manufacture of a controlled substance. He was fined $850 and given a two-year prison sentence, which was suspended for three years of probation. Hurlbutt set terms of the probation to include the $30 monthly fee and payment of the "public defender" service.

Kathy Mae Lombard, who entered a guilty plea to forgery charges, was given a two-year prison sentence, suspended to two years probation with payment of $50 per hour to the public defender, the $30 per month fee and $20 in transportation costs. She was charged with forging and cashing a check for $150 at the Safeway store in Twin Falls.

Gary Clymers was placed on two-year probation with similar terms. He pleaded guilty to second-degree burglary of a vehicle on the Twin Falls High School parking lot last March.

Kevin Hammond, who pleaded guilty to grand theft involving a break-in last spring at the Filer High school agriculture building and the theft of a camera, was placed on three-year's probation. He was fined $500 and ordered to pay the public defender costs. A sentence of four years in prison was suspended. The defendant requested probation rather than a retained jurisdiction sentence in the North Idaho Correctional Institute.

In other cases, Steve Hall, 45, of Twin Falls pleaded innocent to lewd and lascivious conduct with a 5-year-old girl. The judge will set the case for trial in the new Judge-Hall courtroom this week.

Pre-sentence investigations were ordered for four other defendants who entered pleas in court. Jimmy Lewis O'Dell of Twin Falls, who faces four counts of delivery of a controlled substance, will be sentenced following investigation and report.

Similar action was taken in the case of Jim Coats, charged with two counts of grand theft. He pleaded guilty to the theft of motorcycles and auto parts from Barth Bovig last February. The thefts included $1,000 worth of vehicle upholstery items. He was released on his own recognizance.

Wayne P. Meyer pleaded guilty to forgery. He was also released pending the pre-sentence investigation.

Delbert L. Newman admitted to second-degree burglary and was free on $500 bond, pending the pre-sentence report.

GOP opens headquarters

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls Republicans will celebrate the grand opening of their campaign headquarters Friday at 3 p.m. with appearances from Rep. George Hansen and other Republican candidates.

The headquarters, located at 540 Blue Lakes Blvd. N., in the Lynnwood Shopping Center, will be co-managed during the 1984 campaign by Kandace Kemp and Pam Bowman.

Idaho jets head to Norway

BOISE (AP) — Nine RF-4 Phantom jets of the Idaho Air National Guard will take off from here beginning at midnight Friday in a military deployment to Norway.

Col. Robert R. Corbell, commander of the 124th Tactical Reconnaissance Group, said the Phantoms and their crews are part of a contingent of 230 Guard personnel that will spend two weeks in Europe on temporary duty.

Five jets will leave Gowen Field at midnight, Corbell said. Four more will take off at 12:30 a.m. Tuesday.

"The reason for the midnight departure is to minimize the amount of night flying required," Corbell said. The jets will fly non-stop to Bardufoss Air Station in Norway, he said.

The 10-hour flight to Europe will require 17 aerial refuelings by tankers of the Air Force's Strategic Air Command, Corbell said. Air Guard support personnel will travel to the Norway base via C-141 transport planes and a DC-8 charter.

IPC seeks deadline extension

BOISE (AP) — Idaho Power Co. wants to lengthen the time customers have to recoup the cost of extending power lines to their new homes or businesses.

Customers have been required to pay the costs of the line extensions since 1981, Idaho Power spokesman Larry Taylor said.

They have been allowed to recover some of their costs from other new customers who connect to the same extension during the ensuing two years, he said.

But customers have complained to the company and to the Idaho Public Utilities Commission that two years isn't long enough to recover costs.

Idaho Power said it will propose to the PUC that the period be extended to five years.

Extra phone charge halted

BOISE (AP) — State utility regulators have blocked a 25-cent charge for "time-of-day" calls by customers of Pacific Northwest Bell and ordered the utility to explain why the service should continue to be charged.

Pacific Northwest Bell, which serves about 20,000 customers in northern Idaho, had planned to turn over the time-of-day service to a private business last weekend in a deal that would have netted it 60 percent of the calling charge.

But the commission, in blocking implementation of the plan, set a Nov. 8 hearing in Lewis and Clark County.

Company officials have said that under guidelines of the recent court order breakup of the Bell Telephone System, services like "time-of-day" cannot be offered by the local telephone company alone but must be opened to competition.

The PUC, however, has pointed out that those guidelines also allow a waiver of the competitive requirement for small telephone companies.

Until the commission makes a final decision on the plan, the company must continue offering the time-of-day service to its customers free of charge although it can contract with another company to provide it.

Kootenai deputies file suit

BOISE (AP) — A class action civil lawsuit claiming more than $300,000 in back pay for at least 20 Kootenai County sheriff's deputies and non-sworn personnel has been filed in U.S. District Court.

Harvey Richman, attorney for the deputies and other personnel, said the suit, filed with the court on Thursday, was prompted by the refusal of county officials to discuss a back-pay claim filed last month.

"They don't seem to want to talk," Richman said, referring to the county Board of Commissioners.

Commission Chairman Glenn Jackson said he was "shocked" by the lawsuit.

Jackson claimed Richman, during a hearing before the commission last month, agreed to a 30-day negotiation period, during which attorneys for the county would investigate the claims.

"My understanding is that we had an agreement," Jackson said. "I'm surprised (Richman) hasn't lived up to his word."

Members of the Kootenai County Deputy Sheriff's Association filed a joint claim last month, demanding back wages they said have been illegally withheld since January 1981.

Ada County rejects ballot

BOISE (AP) — The Ada County Commission has done exactly what the Boise City Council did the night before — It rejected, by a 4-0 vote, an attempt to put the Boise downtown issue on the November ballot.

Lezlie Ellard, coordinator for Citizens Majority, the group which made the request, said she would continue the effort to place on the ballot the question of restricting development of a regional shopping center. "I'm just going to get busy," she said.

As she had at the council meeting, Ellard brought a black bag full of 10,200 petition signatures to the commission meeting on Wednesday. The petitions call for ending "restrictions currently prohibiting the development of a regional shopping center outside the Boise downtown area."

"I can see no valid reason or earthly good to place it on the ballot," said Commission Chairman Bill Gratton. He voted with Commissioner Vern Emery and against Commissioner Ed Riddle to deny the request.

MOSCOW (AP) — The University of Idaho will join in a week-long observance against literary censorship by setting up displays of books that have been challenged or banned in the United States or abroad.

"The university library and bookstore plan to participate for the fourth consecutive year in Banned Books Week, which has several national sponsors, including the American Library Association and the American Society of Journalists and Authors.

The theme for Banned Books Week, which starts on Saturday, will be patterned after the book "1984," by George Orwell.

A list of books some people consider dangerous includes "Doris Day: Her Own Story," "The Catcher in the Rye," "American Heritage Dictionary" and "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," the university said in a news release.

In Moscow, the UI bookstore has received complaints about some of the selections it offers, said Judi Lyons, manager of the store's general-book department.

Targets of the criticism were the magazines "Playboy" and "Playgirl," and a book titled "The Marijuana Grower's Handbook," she said.

"We aren't judges," said Ms. Lyons, who has become a one-person clearinghouse for information about censorship in Idaho. She gathers news clippings and other information on the subject, and produces a newsletter.

"It's not my job to decide what someone should read," Ms. Lyons said.

But she added that overall, she feels little pressure to withdraw material from the university bookstore's shelves.

"There is normally less censorship in a college community than (in) others," she said.

Elsewhere, there have been efforts to restrict access to works ranging from "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland" to "The Diary of Anne Frank."

In 1931, "Alice" was banned in China on grounds it was "disastrous" to put animals and humans on the same level, the university said.

University of Idaho officials also said that last year, the Alabama State Textbook Committee called for rejection of "The Diary of Anne Frank" after declaring the book a "real downer."

The book presents the reflections of a Jewish girl, Anne Frank, who hid from the Nazis during the occupation of her native Holland.

In addition to focusing on access to material for general reading, the sponsors of Banned Book Week say they hope to call attention to President Reagan's proposed policy called the "National Security Decision Directive."

The proposal, currently in suspension, would require that federal agency officials with access to sensitive information agree to submit for pre-publication review any proposed writings.

Meridian teachers reject contract settlement

MERIDIAN (AP) — Members of the Meridian Education Association apparently have rejected a tentative contract settlement, saying it failed to reward experienced teachers adequately.

An actual ballot count was not available Wednesday night, but MEA spokesman Joyce Raasch said it appeared that 70 percent of the teachers voted to turn down the offer.

"Veteran teachers don't feel well-appreciated," Ms. Raasch said. The Meridian Education Association reached tentative contract settlement with the Meridian School Board on July 1, but teachers did not learn details of the agreement until a meeting last Friday.

Teachers had until Wednesday to turn in their ballots.

The tentative contract would have increased teachers' salaries by an average of 12 percent, with less experienced teachers getting higher raises than veterans.

A teacher with a bachelor's degree and one year of experience would have received $22,792 a year under the proposed 1984 contract, a 12.2 percent increase from 1983. However, a teacher with at least 12 years' experience and 65 continuing education credits or a master's degree and 20 credits would have received $24,650, an 8.9 percent raise.

The proposed contract would have cost the district $1.4 million more than last year — not counting salaries of 30 additional teachers funded with money from a $71,000 override tax levy approved in May.

Every other school district in the Treasure Valley has a higher top salary than the Meridian School District, Ms. Raasch said.

The most experienced teachers in Boise — those with 10 years of experience, a master's degree and 30 additional credits — will receive $30,285 a year under a contract ratified in April.

Post Falls contract settled

POST FALLS (AP) — Post Falls teachers will earn more and work longer hours under terms of a 1984-85 school year contract.

The one-year agreement gives teachers of 14 percent boost in base pay, raising the district's entry-level salary to $14,776, according to Superintendent Anne Fox.

The salary for a teacher with 15 years experience would increase from $22,647 to $25,414.

"It gives an incentive for people to go back to school," said Gladys Kosty, president of the 49-member Post Falls Education Association.

Teachers will work a seven-hour, 35-minute day, an extension of about 20 minutes per day, Mrs. Kosty said.

Top Soviet official relieved of duties

By ROXINNE ERVASTI
The Associated Press

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union announced Thursday that Marshal Nikolai V. Ogarkov has been removed as chief of the general staff and first deputy defense minister, and replaced by Marshal Sergei Akhromeyev.

The Tass announcement said Ogarkov had been "relieved ... in connection with a new appointment," but did not say what his new post would be. The Tass announcement focused on Akhromeyev's appointment and its wording could mean Ogarkov had been dropped from the Soviet military leadership.

NIKOLAI OGARKOV
Has been highly visible

Western experts have speculated that the 66-year-old Ogarkov might eventually succeed Defense Minister Dmitri F. Ustinov, 75. But there has been no indication that Ustinov is ready to retire.

Ogarkov has been highly visible in the last year — conducting a rare news conference to present the Soviet version of the shooting down of the South Korean jetliner Sept. 1, 1983, and speaking for the Kremlin on the stalled negotiations with the United States on nuclear weapons.

Akhromeyev, 61, has for the past 10 years been a deputy and the first deputy chief of staff. Like Ogarkov, Akhromeyev is considered an expert on nuclear disarmament issues.

Ogarkov was appointed first deputy defense minister and chief of the general staff in January 1977. He functioned as Ustinov's second-in-command.

Ogarkov was an army engineer who served as a troop commander in East Germany and in two military districts in the Soviet Union before he joined the general staff in 1968 at the age of 50 to oversee weapons programs.

He is considered a strong advocate of increasing technology in the military and as most knowledgeable in the field of nuclear weapons and strategy. He was part of the Soviet team that negotiated strategic arms limitation treaties with the United States.

In an interview in the Armed Forces newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda Red Star on May 9, Ogarkov said neither the Soviet Union nor the United States could ever be capable of delivering a disabling first strike to the other side.

He said further nuclear buildups were "senseless" and he seemed to suggest, according to Western analysts, that investing in more nuclear warheads at the expense of new technologies in conventional

Explosives in Red Sea

ADABIYA BASE, Egypt (AP) — A multinational force of minesweepers combing the Red Sea has found a torpedo and a World War II bomb but no mines, and their mission will continue, an Egyptian navy officer said Thursday.

Minesweepers from the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Egypt have been searching for mines in the Suez Gulf and the Red Sea since explosive devices damaged at least 18 ships during July and August.

Egyptian warships began the minesweeping operation on July 30, and the rest of the force joined the search in August.

Libya places troops on alert

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP) — Libya placed its troops on alert Thursday and accused the United States of staging "huge military maneuvers" off its coast, the official news agency reported.

U.S. Navy officials, in telephone interviews with The Associated Press, said they did not know of any U.S. naval maneuvers taking place in the Mediterranean near Libya.

Skin graft surgery for artist Dali

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Surrealist painter Salvador Dali, 60, will undergo skin graft surgery for burns today in hopes of averting infection.

Dali, who was admitted to Pilar Clinic after being burned on his upper legs and groin in a fire in his bedroom Aug. 30, agreed to the operation Thursday, doctors said.

Dr. Ramon Benedito was to head a team of surgeons for today's surgery. A medical bulletin signed by Benedito and Dali's personal physician, Dr. Juan Garcia San Miguel, said the artist has recovered sufficiently from his chronic malnutrition to undergo surgery.

During the operation, doctors plan to graft skin to the burned areas of Dali's legs and groin. Skin for such grafts is generally taken from other areas of the body, as skin from a donor only affords temporary protection.

East German conciliatory

BERLIN (AP) — Disarmament, detente and peaceful coexistence of states with differing social systems are primary goals of East German policy, the communist nation's leader, Erich Honecker, said in an article published Thursday.

Honecker's article made no new policy statements, but its timing was an indication the East German government wanted to show that Honecker remained interested in improving relations with West Germany, observers said.

Nations forget rancor

TOKYO (AP) — Japan and South Korea moved toward a new relationship Thursday with the historic visit of South Korean President Chun Doo-hwan and a statement of contrition by Emperor Hirohito for the "unfortunate past" that has divided the two Asian neighbors.

Chun, the first Korean leader ever to visit the former colonial master of the Korean peninsula, arrived Thursday afternoon for a three-day visit amid the tightest security measures ever taken by Japanese police.

Several hours after his arrival, Chun held a private 90-minute meeting with Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone. Foreign Ministry spokesman Shiro Amase said the Japanese leader praised South Korea both for its defense efforts and its attempts to initiate a dialogue with communist North Korea.

But the climax of the day, and probably of the trip, came Thursday evening at a state banquet when Hirohito, 83, delivered an anticipated expression of regret for Japan's past domination of Korea.

Daytime TV part of 'Days of Our Lives'

Soaps, games, news shows provide a variety for viewers

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — People who work during the day don't begin to appreciate the variety of daytime television. While on a leave of absence to have a baby, I had an opportunity to tune in while my daughter took a nap. Surprisingly, the day starts off with promise with news-information programs such as "Today" and "Good Morning America." These offerings mix confectionary features, movie clips, interviews with analysts of Central American upheaval. After an hour of smiles, idle chatter between the hosts and that happy-go-lucky theme music, however, it was time to move on to the game shows.

One program named "Body Language" turned out to be nothing more than charades. Others had rules that ranged from the tic-tac-toe simplicity to the complex playing of advanced tic-tac-toe. I began to wonder if "Hollywood Spin the Bottle" was on the other channel. Most featured third-rate celebrities. If Ronald Reagan had remained an actor instead of entering politics, he and Nancy would have been a regular on "Tattle Tales." Gone are the programs where contestants from Bangor, Maine, or elsewhere really made fools of themselves. Give me the days of "Let's Make a Deal" when people dressed up like chickens and screamed in agony when they chose curtain No. 1 that shielded a year's supply of SOS soap pads.

You know you're watching too many game shows, however, when you facetiously shout answers back at Richard Dawson. At that point, it's time to tune to the soaps. After being at work for so long, the relief is immediate. Tomorrow's "Search for Tomorrow" and "Ryan's Hope" are lost among a troop of new characters, most of whom are beautiful — and that's just the men. I recall when Dr. Hardy of "General Hospital" was the hottest thing since Paul Newman and Nurse Jessie Brewer had more boyfriends than the Dallas Cheerleaders. Now Dr. Hardy is chattering and Jessie's going on her third facelift. Meanwhile on the other network, Don and Maggie have broken up on

"Days of Our Lives." Maggie is not ready to return to her former husband Mickey, who's recovering from the old daytime drama ailment — resurrection from the dead. Mickey's competition on cable television is a Three Stooges movie.

Wait a minute, the original Curley is missing so it's time to try something uplifting like public television. Let's see, Mr. Rodgers is not my type. I don't want to build my own house. Ah, ha, a documentary on fossils in the desert. Somehow, that doesn't fit as I eat my bowl of Cheerios. I know, the real answer to anytime doldrums is Phil Donahue. Nope — his topic today is depression in women aged 30 to 50. I'm 30 and depressed after watching all those soaps and games shows. At least it's a program I can relate to. Oh, oh. The baby's up and it looks like I'll just have to start again tomorrow. Let's see, Maggie is supposed to call Mickey.

Musicians to boost club rolls

By TERRY RICH HARTLEY
Times-News correspondent

KIMBERLY — Seeking to add music lovers to its rolls, the Twin Falls Music Club is holding its Fall Membership Program Monday at 7 p.m. The get-together is scheduled as a patio gathering at the home of Jack and Elaine Wright at 824 Main North in Kimberly. But, with the fickle southern Idaho weather in mind, the Christian Church at 807 Madison E., Kimberly, has been reserved as a secondary meeting place in case of rain.

Elaine Wright, first vice president of the club, says the meeting is for anyone who enjoys music. "Many of our members do play in symphonies and stage bands," she says, "but we welcome listeners as well as performers into our club." Wright says a musical program is slated which will include much local talent.

Included is the O'Leary Chamber Group directed by Vanessa Ryall with members Julie Deavis, Brad Stanerson, Randy Cox, Michelle Rasmussen, Whitney Smith, Sonya Lundgren, Tammy Egbert, Debra Swanson and Anthony Wright. Joell Silvers, better known locally as "Annie" from last year's Distant production, and Andy Durham, who played "Oliver" in the Northdale Players production, will present vocal numbers.

"I'm not sure what numbers they'll perform," Wright says. "But, it's going to be something they want to do. Neither one wanted to do anything from 'Annie' or 'Oliver' ever again," she says, indicating the two have had enough of that.

Also slated is a preview of the upcoming "Snoopy," directed by Marty Mead. Several selections will be presented by Shelley Watson, Andy and Paul Durham, Todd Swanson, Maureen Evans, Janet Everett and Melanie Lamborn, all of Twin Falls. Elaine Fenwick will accompany the young performers. Wright says the Twin Falls Music Club presently has 80 members but can always use more.

"We're a service club," she says, adding "some of our dues go to the state branch and some stay locally. They're used for summer camps and college scholarships to further musical education for students."

Linda Wharton and William Wharton will play Sunday

Arts academy hosts cello, piano music

By TERRY RICH HARTLEY
Times-News correspondent

TWIN FALLS — The Renaissance Academy of the Arts at 302 Second Av. E. will be bringing cello and piano music Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

Linda Wharton and Dr. William Wharton are scheduled for the recitals.

Linda Wharton is well known in the Pullman-Moscow area as principal cellist and soloist with the Washington-Idaho Symphony. A performance graduate of the Interlochen Arts Academy and the University of Wisconsin, she has served as cellist in the Tucson Symphony, Youngstown, Ohio Symphony and the Spokane Symphony.

William Wharton is a native of New Orleans where he graduated from Tulane University. He is currently professor of cello at the University of Idaho. Wharton was principal cellist with symphony orchestras in Fort Wayne, Ind.; Spokane, Wash.; Tucson, Ariz. and Youngstown Symphony Orchestra as well as principal cellist of the Oklahoma City Symphony.

He has been active as a teacher and performer, serving on the faculties of the University of Oklahoma, Eastern Washington University and the University of Wisconsin, while concerting for both radio and TV.

Prizes awarded him include a William Perry Award from the Louisiana Music Teachers Association, a Holcombe String Award from the Oklahoma Block Competition and a Congress of Strangers Award from the American Federation of Musicians.

Their program for the local performance includes Suite No. 1 in G Major — Bach, and pieces from Boccherini, Bazzalire, Kodaly and Tchaikovsky. Reservations are advised and can be made by calling 734-7110 or stopping by the Renaissance Academy. Tickets are $5 adults, $3 senior citizens and students. In February, the Whartons will be returning to the Magic Valley to appear with the Magic Valley Symphony performing the "Concerto for Two Celli and Orchestra" by Handel.

Tea Dance to help library

By DAVE LEWIS
Times-News correspondent

SUN VALLEY — Close flappers and gigolos will come out of hiding this weekend in Sun Valley.

The occasion is the annual Tea Dance to raise funds for the Community Library in Ketchum. The seventh annual dance, which celebrates the traditional afternoon ritual of the young in the 1920s, will be held from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. Sunday in the Horizon Room of the Elkhorn Resort hotel to raise money for the non-profit library that does not use any tax money for support.

The tea dance was the common entertainment of young people who lived in the city in the 1920s. It began in the afternoon at about 4 p.m. and was over in time for dinner.

Those who went to the events danced the one-step, two-step, fox trot and tango. The dance began to die out after the stock market crash in 1929.

The Sun Valley event tries to recapture the atmosphere of the era as close as possible, says Sharon Harwell, publicist for the Community Library Association.

Authentic costumes are encouraged by the group and a contest for the best costume will be held for the first time. Cloche hats, dripping pearls and long cigarette holders are recommended for the event, Harwell says. But, if you want, come as you are, she adds.

The Hap Miller Band will perform as usual at the dance, Harwell says.

Although Miller, who has performed in Sun Valley since the 1930s, is ill, his past musical associates will play. Gershwin, Cole Porter and other tunes from the "Big Band Era" are featured.

Tea and traditional tea foods will be served. A wet bar also is available. Because it is a fund raiser, there will be gigolos available for dancing at a fee, which will go to the library.

Tickets at $12 per person must be bought in advance. They are available in Ketchum at the Community Library, 415 Spruce Ave. N., The Gold Mine, 331 Walnut Ave. N. and in Sun Valley at the Sun Valley Sports Information Center on the Sun Valley Mall and the Elkhorn Resort hotel.

Jesse Jackson to host TV show

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. Jesse Jackson, who finished third in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination, will be guest host of Oct. 20 "Saturday Night Live," the network announced Thursday.

"SNL" premieres Oct. 6, but hosts for that show and for Oct. 13 have not been announced. Dick Ebersol, executive producer of the late-night series, approached the top pastor, said Jackson's agreement to host the show, less than three weeks before the Nov. 6 election followed more than a month of negotiation. He will be paid the standard $5,000 fee.

"I'd say this is the most exciting job we've ever had since I've been with the show," said Ebersol, who helped develop "SNL" in 1975 and returned as producer in 1981. "Here's someone vitally active in current events."

Former senator George McGovern, like Jackson a candidate for the presidential nomination won by former Vice President Walter Mondale, appeared as a host of "SNL" several months ago after he had dropped out of the race.

The Rev. Gerald Ford may have been the best-known personality to appear on the show, but Ford's participation was limited to segments told in the White House and broadcast in April 1976 as part of a program on which Ron Nessen, the president's press secretary, was host.

Ebersol said Jackson's remarks as host of "SNL" could not include commentary on the current presidential campaign. Jackson has announced his support for Mondale over President Reagan.

"We're subject to the equal time provision," Ebersol said, referring to the law that requires broadcasters to provide equal opportunities to opposing candidates.

"I think he will talk, hopefully comedically, about the value to all Americans of voting," Ebersol said.

TV season features female leads

By FRED ROTHENBERG
The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Call it equality of the sexes if you like or recognition that women are controlling the dial more, while men opt for sports and cable movies, but for the new television season offers an impressively greater number of female lead characters. And many of them have headed the macho world of crime-fighting.

TV's emerging women may not do it better — they'll probably be canceled as often as male cops and gumshoes — but they'll do it a bit differently, solving mysteries and investigating murders — with wiles, wits and wiggles rather than weapons.

Consider the following: • Angela Lansbury in CBS' "Murder, She Wrote" is an eccentric mystery novelist who talks to the audience, offering clues as she ties up all the loose ends by the final commercial.

• Lindsay Wagner is "Jesse," a police psychiatrist who believes in fighting crime non-violently. But ABC, concerned with the show's dwindling pace, ordered one action sequence per quarter hour. In the season opener, Jesse is threatened by a hostage-taker with a rifle, rides a shotgun in a high-speed car chase and gets attacked by a knife-wielding nut case.

• Loni Anderson and Lynda Carter play detectives in NBC's "Partners in Crime." Elegant and stylish, they wouldn't be caught dead in Columbo's sedy raincoat or, ever worse, looking like Chris Gage or Mary Beth Lacey. They don't carry guns. "Glamorous can be wonderful," said

Miss Anderson. The professions of Miss Anderson and Miss Carter aside, one irony of the upcoming TV campaign is that "Cagney & Lacey," the CBS show that came back from the dead last spring, has helped Hollywood modify some attitudes.

"Female leads in TV have not been hugely successful," said Peter Fisher, co-producer of "Murder, She Wrote."

But now, if a woman can run for vice president, she can be a ratings success or failure. "Cagney & Lacey" paved the way," said Harvey Shephard, CBS' senior vice president for programming. One result is that male-female roles are becoming more interchangeable. On ABC's "Who's the Boss?" ex-boxer Tony Danza plays a male

What's what

- Q. What's the largest moving object built by man?
- A. An oil tanker. Tipped on end, one of the biggest would stand higher than the Empire State Building.
- Ten-thousand-year old skeletons found in Pakistan indicate humans thereabouts then had no dental cavities. Scientists credit prehistoric fluoride.
- Q. What's the tip of the Washington Monument made of?
- A. Aluminum.
- Tears for lubrication are called basal. Tears of sadness are called reflex. They're quite different chemically.
- Q. What killed Alexander the Great?
- A. Six quarts of wine downed in a rapid manner while weak with malaria. He was 33.

No struggling writer aggrieved by the need to work for wages ought to forget the plight of Cicero, that great Roman author and orator. He was a full-time government bureaucrat. He wrote during off hours.

Q. What made the white whale in "Moby Dick" white?

A. Barnacles, probably. Herman Melville patterned Moby Dick after a real whale called Mocha Dick, and theorists think the aged Mocha Dick was so encrusted.

Daily Horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is an odd day but one in which you are able to get considerable information and data about new ways to produce results in whatever interests you.

AIRBS (March 21 to April 19) Get advice from good friends about how best to handle important matters, and then follow through.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Use a more modern method for handling your career duties and get better results at this time.

GEEMINI (May 21 to June 21) There is a possibility of taking a trip, so be on the alert for it, since it could bring good results.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 22) You plan something special for your mate, the weekend will be memorable, being more romantic brings results.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 21) Have a more modern method for handling your views for the future and gain better results by sure you carry through with matters of policy.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be more enthused about your work and this will also impress and inspire co-workers to do likewise.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Study the most advanced methods for whatever your field of endeavor may be, and make use of them to your benefit.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) The rather unusual types of persons that come into your home today can prove very interesting.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can express yourself very well today with associates and come to a fine meeting of minds.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) A good day to get a new perspective where your interests and activities are concerned and to confer with experts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A day to do whatever you like most and to expand your personal interest. Sit down with a good friend and plan the future.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Fine day for planning just how to gain your secret longings and then start on this worthwhile campaign.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TO DAY, he or she will be alert to modern activities and will know how to send to modern schools and to place your progeny where he or she can best observe what is going on. There is a dramatic flair to this nature which should not be curbed.

Magic Valley Symphony sets plans for 26th season

The Magic Valley Symphony begins its 26th season with a concert Nov. 13 featuring trumpeter Stephen Butts.

William and Linda Wharton, cellists from the University of Idaho, will appear with the Symphony on Feb. 26, and a third pops concert will be held at the Holiday Inn on May 3.

Vocalists Robert Newman and Carol Bassness will participate in the latter concert.

The first two concerts will be performed in the College of Southern Idaho's Fine Arts Auditorium, and all three concerts will be at 8 p.m.

$30 sponsor and $20 patron tickets, which will admit entire families to all three concerts, are available by calling business manager Patty Hadley at 733-1079.

A new "trustee" ticket is now offered with a contribution of $100 or more. All trustee, sponsor and patron tickets are tax deductible.

Tickets at the door will be priced at $5 for adults and $3 for students.

Three Stooges returning to the screen

By BOB THOMAS
The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — The Stooges are coming! The Stooges are coming!

Not in reruns. Not in 30-year-old movies. Larry, Moe and Curly are scheduled to return in a brand-new comedy for theaters, "003" — a cut-rate, slapstick version of the James Bond spy capers.

"How is that possible? The three original Stooges have died: Curly Howard in 1952, and Moe and Larry Fine in 1975.

They produced four Stooge features and directed two of them. He is also Moe Howard's son-in-law.

Columbia Pictures, which made millions from the Three Stooges since they started making shorts for the studio just 50 years ago, has given the go-ahead for "003." If the new movie is a hit, more will follow.

George Gallo is writing a screenplay, which Maurer expects in a week.

"Then we'll launch the talent search and work up a budget," said the producer in an interview. "I expect the cost will be in the medium range — $2 to $10 million. That will allow us to make the last Stooges-features for under $400,000."

Filming is expected to take place next year in England and Mexico, where the spy adventure takes place.

If "003" comes off, it will mark another chapter in the ongoing saga of the three knockabout comics who have had an irresistible appeal for two or three generations of Americans.

It all started with a vaudeville comic named Ted Healy, a wild Irishman with an original comic style. In 1922, he hired a two brothers, Moe and Shemp Howard, as victims of his violent comedy. In 1925, a violinist named Larry Fine joined the act. Later Shemp left to be a single performer and his place was taken by the melon-headed brother Curly.

Ted Healy and His Three Stooges moved on to Hollywood, then in 1934 Healy went off on his own (he died in 1937). Moe, Curly and Larry began their long association with Columbia.

After Curly's death, Shemp rejoined the Stooges. He died after three years, and his place was taken in turn by Joe Besser and Joe DeRita.

PG-13 Rating Introduced

A new rating category is in place as of July 1. This new category is inserted between the current PG and R ratings. It is designated as "PG-13: Parents are strongly cautioned to give special guidance for attendance of children under 13. Some material may be inappropriate for young children."

The revised live-category system of the voluntary film industry rating program is now as follows:

- G General Audiences, all ages admitted.
- PG Parental guidance suggested: Some material may not be suitable for children.
- PG-13 Parents are strongly cautioned to give special guidance for attendance of children under 13. Some material may be inappropriate for young children.
- R Restricted, under-17 requires accompanying parent or adult guardian.
- NC-17 No one under 17 admitted.

All films rated after July 1 will be given ratings under the new live-category system.

Mother enjoys right to silence phone

DEAR ABBY: Concerning "Mother," who complained that her inconsiderate son takes the phone off the hook when he wants his privacy—bully for him!

I am—the mother of two small children, and my days are hectic. One day I counted 17 telephone calls! Only five were for me. The others were wrong numbers, hang-ups and sales pitches.

I know that phone companies recommend telephones that can be "unplugged" whenever people don't wish to be disturbed. I don't like that idea because often burglars will telephone a home they have targeted for a robbery, and if the phone is unplugged, they hear it ringing and assume nobody is home. Easy prey.

So for my money, I'll take the phone off the hook whenever I choose. I get my privacy; pests and burglars get a busy signal; and I get my housework done. Don't use my name. My husband works for "Ma Bell."

DEAR OFF-THE-HOOKER: You're on your own conscience, but here's a message from the friendly folks who beseech us to reach out and touch someone:

DEAR ABBY: I work for the telephone company, so before you approve of taking the phone off the hook, please consider these facts: R.O.L.s (receivers off the hook) decrease service and increase everybody's phone bill.

Repairmen are often dispatched to locate the trouble when people phone to say their telephone must be out of order. It's been busy for hours.

Also, taking the phone off the hook ties up the equipment for others.

DEAR ABBY: My girlfriend and I are getting married in a couple of months. She and her mother set the wedding date without even consulting me.

Don't you think this was rude of them? I have a large family and they all live 800 miles away. Most would not be able to attend on the date.

college and my sister is a school teacher, so it's impossible for them to get away before the Thanksgiving holidays.

I feel that since my parents were asked to help pay for the wedding and agreed to go 50-50, it should be held when my family can make it. What do you think?

—NOT CONSULTED.

DEAR NOT: I think you should tell your girlfriend that the date she selected is unacceptable. Then insist on one that's mutually convenient.

P.S. You're lucky. Not every young man about to be married gets a preview of what his married life will be like.

Abigail VanBuren Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, "Hungry in St. Paul," a pregnant woman, stated that she is eating Purina Dog Chow as a protein source because she can't afford other protein foods.

As a registered dietician, I suggest that this woman eat dried beans, powdered milk, eggs and peanut butter for protein. They are sure to taste better and are safer for human consumption than dog food.

Furthermore, "Hungry" should contact the WIC program (special supplement food program for Women, Infants and Children) through her local public health department.

Many people either do not know about this program, or they assume it's for welfare recipients only. Not true. A family of four can have a gross yearly income of up to $18,870 and still be eligible.

Writing obsessed Hemingway

By PHIL THOMAS
 The Associated Press

ERNEST HEMINGWAY ON WRITING. Edited by Larry W. Phillips (Scribner's, 140 Pages, $12.95).

Writing was Ernest Hemingway's obsession. All of his working life he tried to write truly and well, and if sometimes he failed he still had the satisfaction of knowing that he had done his best.

As he observed in a letter to a friend "... writing is something that you can never do as well as it can be done. It is a perpetual challenge and it is more difficult than anything else that I have ever done — so I do it. And it makes me happy when I do it well."

Larry W. Phillips gathered up that quote as he went through Hemingway's books, correspondence, stories, etc., to collect the material needed to put together a book that contained Hemingway's thoughts on writing.

And Phillips has done a good job. The book he has assembled should be of interest not only to writers but to those curious as to what this American man of letters had to say about his craft.

The book is divided into 13 categories, dealing with such aspects of writing as "What Writing Is and Does," "The Pain and Pleasure of Writing," "What to Write About," and Hemingway's thoughts on "Other Writers."

In the first category, Hemingway observes in a 1933 letter that, "I am trying to make, before I get through, a picture of the whole world — or as much of it as I have seen."

In the second, he confides in another letter that, "There's no rule on how it is to write. Sometimes it comes easily and perfectly. Sometimes it is like drilling rock and then blasting it out with charges."

"... whatever success I have had," he writes in the third, "has been through writing what I know about."

As for other writers, he sums up his view with "All modern American literature comes from one book by Mark Twain called 'Huckleberry Finn.' All American writing comes from that."

Cubs expand lead with win over Montreal

By The Associated Press

Chicago Cubs Manager Jim Frey figured that Thursday's 4-1 victory in Montreal over the Montreal Expos was just the thing his team needed to get ready for an important weekend of baseball.

"I'll make the place a lot nicer," Frey said after the Cubs won their fifth game in six starts and increased their lead in the National League East to seven games. The second-place New York Mets, who host the Cubs in a three-game series starting Friday, lost 2-0 at Pittsburgh.

The Cubs "didn't play textbook baseball, but the bottom line is that we won," said Chicago center fielder Bob Dernier, who scored the deciding run in the eighth on Ryne

Sandberg's sacrifice fly. "It was definitely a momentum builder for us."

Dernier opened the inning against Expos starter Charlie Lea, 15-10, by lining a triple into the gap in left-center field. Sandberg followed with a fly ball deep enough to center field to allow Dernier to coast home with the winning run and send the Expos to their 34th one-run defeat.

In the ninth, the Cubs loaded the bases on singles by Moreland, Dave Lopes and Jody Davis. With two outs, Expos' shortstop, Argenis Salazar threw wildly after fielding Dernier's grounder, allowing Moreland and Lopes to score. George Frazier, 5-2, who worked two hitless innings in relief of starter Dennis Eckersley, earned the victory. Lee Smith pitched a hitless ninth for his 30th save.

Held to four hits by Lea, Chicago led the score 1-1 in the seventh before he could retire a batter. Leon Durham led off with a double to left and scored on Keith Hernandez's single.

Houston 14, San Francisco 2 — In San Francisco, Craig Reynolds' grand slam homer capped a six-run first inning and left-hander Bob Knepper fired a seven-hitter as the Houston Astros ripped the San Francisco Giants.

Knepper, 14-9, also had two singles and three runs batted in. The Astros belted 16 hits.

Cincinnati 10, San Diego 3 — In San Diego, Eric Davis and Wayne Krenchick homered, player-manager Pete Rose had three hits, and the Cincinnati Reds used a six-run sixth inning to defeat the San Diego Padres. Davis' homer, his eighth of the season, was his fifth in his last four games and provided the Reds with a 2-1, first inning lead.

Pittsburgh 2, New York Mets 0 — Pittsburgh's Rick Rhoden and Rod Scurry threw a combined five-hitter and Jason Thompson hit a two-run home run as the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates handed the New York Mets a costly defeat.

The setback, coupled with Chicago's 4-1 victory over Montreal, left the Mets seven games back of the Cubs in the National League East standings with 22 games left in the season. The Mets host the Cubs in a crucial three-game series beginning Friday. St. Louis 6, Philadelphia 5 In St. Louis, pinch-hitter Mike Jorgensen's two-run triple in the eighth inning drove home the winning run as the Cardinals beat Philadelphia to win their fifth straight victory.

Cardinal relief ace Bruce Sutter increased in National League record for saves to 39 as St. Louis nailed down its ninth victory in 10 games.

In Chicago, Greg Luzinski slashed a pair of two-run doubles and Vance Law added a two-run home run to lead the Chicago White Sox to a victory over the Oakland A's. LaMar Hoyt, 12-15, picked up his second consecutive complete game victory, striking out seven and allowing six hits, including two homers.

In a late game, it was Atlanta at Los Angeles.

Kimberly, Ketchum, Dietrich capture early volleyball victories

By The Times-News

KIMBERLY — Serving and spiking by Teresa Wright and spiking by Zaty Bortlesse led defending District A Class A-4 champion Kimberly to a 15-11, 15-12 Canyon Conference dual volleyball victory over Glens Ferry here Thursday night.

In junior varsity action, the Bulldogs beat the Pilots 15-13, 16-14. Shoshone 15-15, Valley 10 SHOSHONE — Sharon Petersen scored nine consecutive points in the first game and teammate Julie Hibbard scored 10 straight in the second to give Shoshone a 15-11, 15-0 Canyon Conference victory over Valley here Thursday night.

The Indians missed just one serve in their varsity action, Shoshone also prevailed, 15-5, 5-15, 15-5. KSV SAYS RICHFIELD — Ketchum/Sun Valley Community School, in its first season of Northside Conference competition, swept a triangular match with Richfield and Carey here Thursday night. KSV beat Richfield 15-6, 16-14, then topped Carey. No score was available on the latter match. In the other varsity contest, Carey beat Richfield 15-9, 14-16, 15-10.

In a JV game, Carey beat Richfield 15-8, 15-13.

Dietrich sweeps BLISS — Dietrich dominated Wendell and Bliss in a non-conference triangular volleyball match here Thursday. The defending District 4 Class A-4 champion, Blue Devils dumped Wendell 15-5, 15-12, then beat Bliss 15-4, 15-9. In the other varsity match to the tri-meet, Bliss topped Wendell 15-3, 16-14. In JV matches, Dietrich beat Bliss 14-16, 15-9, 15-13; then lost to Wendell 6-15, 15-13, 6-15. The Trojans then topped Bliss 15-6, 15-12.

Nebraska locker room closed off

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The University of Nebraska said Thursday it would close the locker room to all reporters after football games writers than allow women sports reporters inside. The school said it would set up a special postgame interview room. Assistant-Athletic Director Don Bryant said he didn't want women in the locker room. "I'm just old-fashioned," he said. University officials promised all players would be available for interviews after games. The decision to close the locker room was in response to a request from Michael Wegner, sports editor of the Des Moines Register and chairman of the Great Plains chapter of The Associated Press Sports Editors Association. He wrote all Big Eight schools requesting special access for reporters regardless of sex. Wegner, told of the university's decision, said that while he was pleased that "schools are taking some steps to assure that everyone is treated equally ... I'm personally disappointed this is the step. Wegner said in his letter that he

Borah

Continued from Page C1 Two plays later, Crowe hit Youghblood on a 35-yard pass to the Bruin 6. With 8:09 showing on the clock, Russ Stackler scored from a yard away. Stackler then began a perfect conversion night. A short punt set Borah up on the Twin Falls 40. On the second play, Stackler took an option pitch, outran the Twin Falls defenders to the sidelines and scored on a 39-yard dash. After another Bruin punt, a Crowe-to-Youghblood combination punted for 35 yards again, setting Stackler's 4-yard scoring launch. Two plays after the kickoff, defensive tackle Ken Colt picked off a Twin Falls screen pass at the Bruin 12 and within three plays the Lions' Edith George scampered across from the 3 for Borah's fourth touchdown.

assessed four penalties in their first four-play series and had to punt. Borah scored eight minutes into the second half after a Youghblood reception accounted for gains of 44 and 20 yards. Youghblood then gathered in his second touchdown pass for the night, a 12-yarder. In the fourth quarter, Borah scored on an 18-yard run by George and then added a meaningless TD after both teams had emptied their benches. With 29 seconds left in the game, Jim Herrick, a 5-7, 138-pound junior, broke out of a knot of Twin Falls tackles and rambled 63 yards for the Lions' eighth touchdown.

BYU puts nation's longest win streak on line Saturday

By JOHN MOSSMAN
The Associated Press

The nation's longest winning streak among major-league football teams is owned by top-ranked University of Miami at 13 games, but the second- and third-longest streaks belong to Western Athletic Conference teams, and both are on the line this week.

Brigham Young has won 12 straight games, and the Cougars will seek to extend it Saturday against the team that last beat them, Baylor, which knocked off the Cougars 40-36 in last year's opener. Visits Provo for a rematch, and BYU Coach LaVell Edwards says his team remembers.

"I think it's fair to say that most of our players remember that game," said Edwards, whose team vaulted to 13th in the national rankings after upsetting Pitt 20-14 last week. "Baylor has as much team speed as we'll see, but I think we'll be ready for them."

Air Force, meanwhile, has a nine-game winning streak, and the Falcons, fresh from a 34-16 rout of San Diego State, will look to make it to a 10th year when they entertain Northern Colorado, a Division II team.

"I'm happy to be in that position," said "AFA" first-year Coach Fisher DeBerry of the Falcons' streak. But DeBerry isn't giddy over it. When he coached at Wofford College in 1969-70, his team won 21 in a row.

The rest of the WAC also is involved in non-league games this weekend. Two WAC teams face nationally ranked foes; Wyoming is at second-ranked Nebraska and San Diego State plays host to fourth-ranked UCLA.

Colorado State opens its season at Mississippi State. New Mexico gets underway by hosting in-state rival New Mexico State. Hawaii kicks off its season at home against Fullerton State, Utah visits Washington State, and Texas-El Paso plays host to Idaho State.

Wyoming Coach Al Kincaid, whose team bowed to Nebraska 56-20 last year, said he didn't want his players to lose their perspective.

"Our season doesn't depend on beating Nebraska by any means," said Kincaid. "There's one thing I want our kids to remember: If we lose, we've got to come back and play Air Force (in a key conference game); if we win, we've still got to come back and play Air Force."

"Wyoming's wishbone presents some unique problems," said Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne. "If you blow an assignment on an option play, you're giving up six points pretty quickly. Wyoming came on and played well after we played them last year. They've certainly improved on defense since then."

If there is such a thing as catching Nebraska at a good time, this may be the week. The Huskers figure to be somewhat tentative in their first game without stars Mike Rozier, Turner Gill, Irving Fryar and Dean Steinkuhler.

seems a possibility now — that would include a "set-aside" liquor lounge. Its size evidently is open to debate. Some would like a dinner-type lounge in a new clubhouse that would include lockers, showers and other amenities. A country club-type setting at many prices.

This overlooks the fact that demand already has been more than adequately met by Joe McCollum at Canyon Springs. But Joe's course is a little tougher.

Regardless, the idea of a liquor bar at the clubhouse doesn't meet with a lot of endorsement, even among the guys who consider cooling an integral part of their golf equipment.

To accomplish something like that would require a cooperative professional and/or restaurateur. Someone other than Hamblin might already be in someone's mind, although we don't know it.

Still for the reasons listed — course profitability, course condition, clubhouse services, etc., we find little substance in any complaint that should lead to a change at the city links.

Twin Falls JVs dump Hansen varsity, 42-0

HANSEN — Fullbacks Curtis Hansen and Chris Brose combined to score five touchdowns as the Twin Falls Junior Varsity thumped the Hansen Huskies 42-0 Thursday night.

Hansen notched the Bruins' initial score on their opening possession on a 5-yard run. After Hansen got his second touchdown in the second quarter, Brose collected his first of three scores late in the period on a 7-yard jaunt.

Quarterback Rick Horne, teamed with Dave Ostyn for Twin Falls' next touchdown, a 33-yard pass play on which Ostyn scampered through the Huskies' defense for some 30 yards.

Brose added his and the Bruins' last two touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

"Obviously, with fullbacks scoring five of six touchdowns, the offensive line did an excellent job," Twin Falls assistant Coach Sam Wiseman praised.

that is, the considerable speed Howard displayed, particularly on his scoring dash but also throughout the evening in gaining 185 yards on 19 carries. The junior running back excelled despite performing with a bruised sternum which he had suffered last Friday against Gooding.

"I told him all week that if they (Filer) run that 4-4 (defense), he'll pop one," Mietzner said. "There's not a kid in the district — well, Jerome has one — who can stay with him if he breaks loose. And if he did, he'd have to have an angle on him."

Following Howard's touchdown, Filer twice moved from its 39-yard line deep into Buhl territory — the 17- and 15-yard lines, respectively — but couldn't score. The Indians took over on downs after the second aborted drive with 6:03 left in the game and generated two first downs, working the clock down to 1:51 before Filer regained possession.

Overall, the contest was mostly well-played, but both teams' dismal records last season when Buhl finished 1-8 and Filer went 2-6.

After a hard-fought but scoreless first quarter, Filer drove from its 20 to Buhl's 23. But on first-and-10 Buhl's Alan Thornberry, intercepted a Sackett pass and returned it 74 yards up the right sideline to the Wildcats' 15. Howard swept left end for 12 yards, then Atkinson took care of the remaining 2 with 9:27 left in the half. Howard bulled through for the conversion, putting Buhl on top 8-0.

Filer answered with a painstaking but effective 59-yard, 15-play journey that ended with Sackett throwing to David Hartman coming out of the backfield for a 6-yard touchdown play with 1:56 to go. The Indians stopped Wildcat fullback Steve Crown barely short of the goal line on the conversion.

Hartman set up Ainsworth's third-quarter touchdown by picking off Buhl quarterback Gary Brown's pass near midfield and returning it to the Indians' 24. From there the Wildcats needed just four plays to score.

Moments later Buhl required just one play to regain control.

- Filer 0 5 6 0-12
Buhl 0 8 8 0-12
- B — Atkinson 7 run (Howard run)
F — Hartman 6 pass from Sackett (run failed)
F — Ainsworth 10 run (pass failed)
B — Howard 73 run (Atkinson run)

Don't get mad... get even at the Twin Falls County Fair!

So you think you've got a bone to pick with some of the folks at the Times-News. Here is your big chance.

The people on this page will be at the Twin Falls County Fair conveniently and precariously suspended over the County Search and Rescue Squad's dunk tank — Sept. 8. Just pick out your favorite target and show up at the appointed time for a little sweat-rain.

Take a little fun at the Times-News and help a good cause by making a point about that editorial you just couldn't stand all at the Twin Falls County Fair on Sept. 8.
